Conoco Gets More Flowing Oil Pay In Andrews Opener

Continental Oil Company No. 1 McCullum & Weisbusch, East-Central Andrews wildcat, five miles southeast of the town of Andrews found more flowing oil in the Wolf-camp-Permian lime in a drillstem test at 8,978-8,979 feet.

That interval was tested for three and one-half hours. Gas surfaced in seven minutes. Fluid came to the top in one hour and 52 minutes.

It was flowed to pits for 38 minutes to clean and was then turned to tanks for one hour. During that period it flowed 16 barrels of pipe line oil and no water.

The flow was through a three-quarter inch bottom hole choke. The gas was at the rate of 305,700 cubic feet per day.

To Test New Zone
Open flowing bottom hole pressure was between 300 pounds and 1,950 pounds. Shut-in bottom hole pressure, after 15 minutes was 2,475 pounds.

The new field opener has deepened to 9,078 feet and is now taking a drillstem test at 8,978-9,078 feet.

Location is 1,980 feet from north and east lines of section 24, block A-44, psl survey.

This wildcat had its first show of oil in a drillstem test at 8,696-8,716 feet. Recovery from a two hour test was 420 feet of heavy oil and gas out drilling mud.

It flowed oil at the rate of 260 barrels per hour in a test at 8,992-8,993 feet.

The zone at 8,792-8,878 feet was tested for two and one-half hours. No fluid came to the top while the tester was open.

Recovery was 1,000 feet of heavy oil and gas out drilling mud and 4,322 feet of 39-gravity oil. There were no signs of formation water.

This wildcat is projected to 13,500 feet or a test of the Elmberger at a lesser depth. It is due to continue until that program has been completed.

Argo Completes Delaware Opener In C-W Ward Area

Argo Oil Corporation No. 1 John Olson, wildcat in Central-West Ward County, has been completed as a flowing discovery and new field opener from the Delaware sand.

The well was potentialized for a daily flow of 42.2 barrels of 38.2-gravity oil through a three-quarter-inch choke and perforations at 5,011-5,035 feet.

In addition to the oil produced, the well made 41 per cent salt water. Gas-oil ratio was 1.303-1.

Location is 467 feet from southwest and southeast lines of the north quarter of section 191, block 34, H&TC survey.

Pennsylvanian Oil Flow Is Developed On DST In NW Lynn

Flow of oil from the Pennsylvanian reef was developed on a drillstem test in Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1 Timmons, south of Hassle Hunt Trust estate and Dan Auld No. 1 Timmons, recently completed Pennsylvanian lime discovery in Northwest Lynn County.

Test was taken from 9,227 to 9,275 feet. Tool was open two hours and five minutes. Gas surfaced in five minutes, no gauge or estimate made on volume; mud in 20 minutes and oil in 30 minutes. It was flowed to pits five minutes and then turned to tanks where it made 19.3 barrels of 46-gravity oil in one and one-half hours.

Gas-oil ratio was 2.211-1. Operator was pulling tool at last report.

Location is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 142, block 12, EL&RR survey and 14 miles northwest of Tahoka.

Top of the Pennsylvanian reef lime was called from a core to be at 9,788 feet. That is a datum of minus 6,530 feet.

Ohio Gets Oil, Gas On DST In NW Lea Wildcat

Gas and heavy oil and gas-mud was developed on a drillstem test in The Ohio Oil Company No. 1 Trigg-Federal, wildcat in Northwest Lea County.

The test was taken in either the lower Permian or upper Pennsylvanian.

Interval tested was 9,539-9,629 feet. Tool was open two hours. Gas surfaced in 25 minutes. No fluid (Continued on Page Nine)

The Midland Reporter-Telegram

VOL. XXIV—NO. 44 (P) Means Associated Press MIDLAND, TEXAS, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 29, 1953 TWO SECTIONS—TWENTY-TWO PAGES Daily 5c; Sunday 10c

Where's The Wind?
Clear to partly cloudy and cool Wednesday night. Mild temperature Thursday. Maximum temperature Tuesday 79 degrees; minimum Wednesday 67 degrees.

Storms Leave 10 Dead In Texas

WHAT'S YOUR STYLE?—Winds didn't dent the spirit of Walter C. Beardsley, who prepared Wednesday for Midland's Straw Hat Day next Saturday. The young attorney selects a straw to his liking and offers a variety of styles for choosing by other Midlanders.

Straws To Bloom In City Saturday

Midland males who have been waiting patiently for a good show of straw hats on the heads of other men before they would buy their own can relax in cool comfort now because Saturday marks the Midland observance of Straw Hat Day. On this special day, comparable in feeling to the freedom of women suffrage, the male animal can discard that old dirty felt hat and proudly walk the street in his new fashionable straw headgear.

Through some fellows like to retain the same hat several years, there is a certain something about possessing a new hat—it makes a man feel new.

Obviously a hat does more than improve general appearance—it also affords weather protection. When it is stifling hot and the sun just won't quit—well, the straw hat is there to ward off those heat rays. If, repeat, if a sudden downpour of rain beset the city then a good straw will keep the precipitation rolling toward the ground rather than down the neck and around the ears.

Midland stores are well stocked with countless styles and kinds of straw hats in practically any price bracket from $2.50 to $30.

Colors range from white to dark brown with cream colors, grays and light browns being the most popular. There are narrow or wide bands to suit your own taste and banded or bandless ones.

You can have air-conditioning in your hat too, as one salesman said, if you choose one with the perforations in it. These holes, (some hats have many, some few) are ideal for allowing head perspiration to escape into the air.

Just check around the Midland department and clothing stores and you're sure to find the straw hat to fit your personality.

Complete Revision Of City Traffic Controls Proposed

The complete modernization of Midland's traffic signal system, in an effort to slash a costly accident rate and provide for an orderly flow of traffic over the city's busy streets, was recommended Tuesday night to the City Council.

The modernization program, which would include corner traffic lights instead of the present overhead lights, would cost an estimated $100,000, although most of the present equipment would be utilized.

The program was recommended in a report submitted to the council by Jack Keesee, who has been Midland's first full-time traffic engineer since last February 1.

The traffic control recommendation was one of several presented to the council during a two-hour discussion of the city's traffic problem in the first of a series of "Get Acquainted" meetings scheduled by the council with heads of the various city departments.

Other recommendations included: Enforcement of a city ordinance banning all-night parking on streets in the business district—a move that would save the city an estimated $15,000 annually in streetcleaning costs.

One-Hour Parking
A tighter control over the granting of reserved curb space in the business district, including freight-loading zones and personnel loading zones.

Provision of one-hour parking—instead of the present 30-minute limit—in the four blocks surrounding the Midland County Courthouse and a periodic resurvey to determine the need for altering the time limits in other areas of the business district.

Continuation of the policy of permitting no right turns on a red traffic light in the business district.

Changing the present traffic signals from a double-alternate system to a single-alternate system with a shortening of the complete cycle from 60 seconds to 35 seconds.

The last recommendation was the only one approved Tuesday night by the council, while the other proposals will be studied more thoroughly at a special meeting to be set at the next weekly meeting on May 7.

Accident Rate Cited
In presenting the recommendation for signal modernization, Keesee asserted that the number of accidents at traffic signals emphasizes the need for modern signals providing progression speeds.

He pointed out that since January 1, Midland has had 246 accidents—a day—accidents which are causing an average daily loss of $833, not to mention the 61 persons who have been injured.

The proposed system would include a master controller, with which the signals could be changed during the day to meet peak traffic demands.

It would be identical to the system now being installed in Odessa, and which is used in Lubbock, Dallas, San Antonio and other larger cities throughout the state.

While the cost of modernizing the traffic control system in the entire business area would cost an estimated $100,000, the program is (Continued on Page Twelve)

NO. FUNDS PROVIDED— House Approves Teacher Pay Hike

AUSTIN—(P)—The House Wednesday passed the $600 teacher pay raise bill, sending it to the comptroller to see if there's enough money to pay for it.

The vote was 99-38. Rep. Max Smith, San Marcos, holding the speaker's chair at final passage, declared the bill passed according to the provisions of the Constitution that requires appropriations bills to go to the comptroller.

"Wait a minute, there," Rep. Doug Crouch, Denton, stopped him. "You're ruling now that this bill is an appropriation bill. Where do you get that authority?"

Rep. Fred Niemann, Yoakum, made the motion to put the question on the bill immediately after the speaker laid it out. It carried, 67-54. That meant no amendments could be offered.

The Senate approved the teacher pay raise weeks ago and sent it over to the House.

Smith replied that all appropriations bills are subject to the constitutional provision.

That was a blow to the ardent backers of the teacher pay raise, who had hoped to get a tax bill passed to put money in sight to pay for it before the bill had to go to the comptroller.

Tornadoes Hit In Six Areas; Rivers Flood

A wild storm front growled goodbye to Texas Wednesday, leaving 10 dead.

The front's deadly weapons were tornadoes, lightning, high winds and driving rain. More than a dozen persons were injured.

At least six tornadoes struck during the black hours of Tuesday night and early Wednesday.

Lightning stabbed from thunderstorms that poured up to 10 inches of rain on tender Spring crops.

The twisters killed two persons—one near Gonzales and one near San Antonio. Lightning-set fires killed five persons at Kilgore. Two youths were killed in a collision in blinding rain near Dublin. A boy drowned in wind-whipped Lake Corpus Christi.

Water Closes Roads
Floodwaters from heavy rains closed many roads in East and South Texas. Streams also rose in North Texas. The U. S. Weather Bureau warned that the Trinity River would be 17 feet above flood stage at Dallas by midnight.

The squall line that had pounded the eastern half of the state moved into Louisiana Wednesday. Showers continued in extreme East Texas.

Blowing sand drew a dirty mask over West Texas for the second straight day. Visibility dropped as low as 300 feet at Snyder.

Beesides striking at Gonzales and San Antonio, twisters pounced on the community of Helotes near San Antonio, Zavalla in East Texas, Smithville in Central Texas, and Mansfield, south of Fort Worth.

Daisy Jackson, 42-year-old negro, was killed by the tornado that struck near Odessa, about 18 miles north of Gonzales. Her husband, Belton Jackson, said they were in their house when the twister hit about (Continued on Page Twelve)

Crash Kills 10 Airmen

SAN ANTONIO—(P)—A B-29 bomber simulating combat caught fire and crashed six miles south of its home base Wednesday, killing 10 fliers.

Five parachuted to safety. A witness, Charles Smith, Jr., said he saw the crash from a mile and a half away. He said one engine in the right wing was afire. The big, four-engined bomber wobbled crazily, nosed down into a near-somerset and plowed into the ground.

Wreckage was scattered over a wide area. Nine bodies were found in and near the debris when rescuers reached the scene. Later a tenth body was found under the tail section.

The B-29 was from Randolph Air Force Base here. Authorities there withheld names of the dead until next of kin could be notified.

Randolph officers identified the survivors as:

Second Lt. T. I. Olson, co-pilot, San Antonio.

Capt. A. H. Thoms, bombardier, San Antonio.

Capt. B. F. Elliott, bombardier instructor, San Antonio.

Appeal For Type AB Blood Sounded Here

An appeal for donors of blood, type AB negative, was sounded Wednesday to be made available for Ernest Faust, Midland carpenter featured in a recent Reporter-Telegram story on the cabinet war he accomplished while confined to his hospital bed.

Faust will undergo surgery Friday morning, and donors should report to the Midland Memorial Hospital laboratory before 10 a.m. Thursday. At least three pints will be necessary, the surgeons advised.

Midland's Symphony Schedules Children's Concert On Saturday

A children's concert will be a featured attraction in connection with the second full concert of the Midland Symphony and Chorus Association.

The performance for children is to be held at 10:30 a. m. Saturday in the San Jacinto Junior High School Auditorium, preceding the public concert at 8:30 p. m. Saturday in the same auditorium.

A highlight of the children's concert will be "Peter and the Wolf," to be narrated by Mathys Abas, the symphony director. Wesley May will be guest conductor for the number. "Peter and the Wolf" is an old Russian folk tale set to music by Serg Prokofiev, telling the story of Peter, who wanders into the woods with a duck, a bird and a cat and captures a wolf.

Adding interest and individuality to the interpretation of the story, each person and animal in the tale has its own musical theme and instrument. For example, the strings represent Peter, the oboe the duck, the horns are the wolf and the trumpet signifies the hunter.

"Peter and the Wolf" is being substituted in the children's concert for George Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue," that will be featured in the evening program.

Other numbers to be played by the orchestra in both performances include "Hungarian March," Berlioz; "Allegro," Tartini; "Pavanne," Mor-

House Passes Court Redistricting Bill, Faces Problems Of Teacher Pay, Taxes

AUSTIN (AP)—The House had teachers and taxes on its schedule Wednesday.

The Senate had a hearing on whether to adopt a resolution calling for an investigation of South Texas District Judge C. Woodrow Laughlin.

And both houses showed signs they were working hard, with some of the members trying to finish up and go home within two weeks.

Rep. John Crosthwait, Dallas, had 47 signatures on a resolution calling for final adjournment at noon on May 12. That would be the end of the 120-day period suggested by the Constitution. Both the House and Senate would have to approve it by simple majorities.

New Up To House

The teacher pay raise bill was on the House calendar.

The Senate already has approved a $600-a-year pay raise for teachers, guaranteeing the beginning teacher a minimum salary of $3,000. The House took up that same bill last week and got it up to the final vote.

When that time came, Rep. Lamar Zivley, Temple, yelled "Whoa," and said "We've got to pass a tax bill."

Estimates of the teacher pay raise cost to the state range from $66,000,000 to $75,000,000 every two years.

All tax bills go first to the House Revenue and Taxation Committee. That committee was meeting at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday, with a hearing scheduled on a natural gas tax bill and a report due on a proposed increase on taxes on beer, oil, gas and other earth products.

With a tax of two cents per 1,000 cubic feet on natural gas under long term contract, Rep. George Hinson, Mineola, figures his bill would bring in $60,000,000 a year.

The proposed increased tax on natural resources would bring in $4 million dollars a year, its author, Rep. George Berry, Lubbock, announced.

The House Tuesday took up revision of the state election code and quit in the midst of debate on cross-filing. First they voted, 60-75, not to kill an amendment repealing present cross-filing provisions. Then they voted, 79-61, to recess before a vote was taken directly on the amendment.

They also argued whether to allow all persons over 20 to get permanent exemption certificates for voting, then decided to leave the law as it is, allowing permanent exemptions only in the small towns. Old persons in the larger cities have to get them every year.

'Scratch' Voting Approved

The House adopted without discussion a provision putting the "scratch" method of voting into operation. That would allow the voter to scratch all the names except those for which he wants to vote.

Earlier, the House passed and sent to the Senate a bill redistricting the district courts of the state. It actually adds only three new courts—one in the lower Rio Grande Valley, one in the Midland-Odessa area and one in the Snyder area. But it makes permanent some other courts that have been set up as temporary, emergency action.

The bill also divides up the politically warfaring 79th Judicial District of South Texas.

The Senate passed two proposed constitutional amendments. One would require jury service for women and the other would allow members of the armed forces to vote. Both have been approved by the House but have to go back there for approval of some Senate changes.

The proposal to set up a Texas Alcoholics Commission to study, recommend and carry out plans for treatment of alcoholics won approval of the House Revenue and Taxation Committee. But the group took out the provision increasing the cost of beer and liquor dealers' permits to pay for the program. The commission was left with the power to receive gifts and grants.

West Texas Restauranters Slate Spring Round-Up Here

The Spring Round-Up of the West Texas Restaurant Association will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday in Hotel Scharbauer, L. D. Christian of Fort Stockton, association president, announced Wednesday.

Scores of cafe operators from over West Texas are expected to attend the function.

W. E. King of Midland, program chairman, said a lively program has been arranged for the banquet-meeting.

W. Price, Jr., executive vice president of the Texas Restaurant Association, will be the honor guest and principal speaker.

Delbert Downing, manager of the Midland Chamber of Commerce, will give the address of welcome.

Other speakers and their subjects are: John Kattmann of Lubbock, "What the Association Can Do for You;" Harry Foster of Pecos, "What's in Store for You at the State Convention;" Bill Collins, editor of The Midland Reporter-

Telegram, "Press Relations."

Dance numbers and music will be furnished by the Arthur Murray Danco Studio of Midland.

"The Sticky Six-Minus One" of Midland High School will be presented in special entertainment numbers.

GRADE SCHOOL MOVIE EXPERTS—Midland youths such as Mike Scobey, left, and Sandy Kubic, both sixth graders at North Elementary School, will be in action Thursday during Education-Business Day in all Midland schools. The two lads ready the school projector for showing a movie in their school.

Schools Ready To Welcome Midland's E-B Day Visitors

Midland schools were ironing out plans Wednesday for Education-Business Day Thursday.

The event, to be climaxed by a service award banquet at 7 p.m. Thursday, will begin with visitors meeting in the High School Auditorium for a get-acquainted session. Superintendent of Schools Frank Monroe will welcome the visitors and Chamber of Commerce Manager Delbert Downing will handle introductions during the short program.

Downing and Wesley Martin, public schools director of special services, then will aid in dividing the visitors into groups and turning them over to their host principals. Visitors may spend the morning in the school of their choice, and will be taken to the schools in school buses.

While at the various schools, the visitors will get a glimpse of a normal school day—a chance to see their school system in action.

Lunch in the schools will end the visiting and then the groups will return to the High School Auditorium for a movie, "This Is Your High School," a color film showing life in and around Midland High School. A school publication, "Midland Public Schools from A to Z" will be handed out to the visitors.

Then school is out for the visitors until 7 p.m. when some 750 are expected to attend a service award banquet honoring teachers with five, 10, 15 and 25 years of service in the Midland school system. Two retiring school board members, R. W. Hamilton and John Cornwall, will also be honored.

Principal speaker at the banquet will be Dr. J. A. Hill, author and president emeritus of West Texas

State College in Canyon, Hill, who was president of the college 30 years, began his teaching career in 1898 and has become one of the top educators of the state. He is the author of three books, "American History for School," "Your Country and Mine" and "One Man's Faith."

Carver Elementary Choir Sets Concert

West Texas Flying Service Buys Globber Aviation Firm

Sale of the Globber Aviation Company, operating at Midland Air Terminal, to the West Texas Flying Service was disclosed here Tuesday night.

The disclosure came as the City Council approved the transfer of the lease on three flight-line hangars to Hal Rachal and Norman Hoffman, operators of the West Texas Flying Service.

Southwestern Chain Leases Dallas Hotel

DALLAS (AP)—The 400-room Jefferson Hotel, located near the Union Terminal and Dallas News building here, has been leased to Alcomett Hotel for 25 years. Terms of the lease to the group operating 32 Southwestern hotels were not released.

HERE FROM LUBBOCK

Warren Beaman of Lubbock, president of Baby Bonds of Texas, Inc., was a Midland business visitor Wednesday.

Rachal explained that Bill Globber, operator of the company bearing his name, was selling out because of ill health.

The change will become effective Friday.

The transfer was authorized after an objection had been voiced by William Miller, one of the owners of the Southwest Air Rangers, which operates out of the fourth flight-line hangar at Midland Air Terminal.

The West Texas Flying Service has been operating at Midland Airpark since 1948 and will continue its operations there.

Miller told the council that the transfer of the Air Terminal leases would tend to create a monopoly and explained that his company was interested in acquiring at least one of the three hangars now being held by Globber.

SO UPSET BY "CHANGE OF LIFE"

"I SCREAMED AT MY HUSBAND!"

writes Mrs. A. W. of New York, N. Y.

"Now I don't suffer from hot flashes and nervousness . . . I feel fine!"

HOW TRAGIC that change of life makes some women so irritable they offend those they love! How tragic—when it is often so unnecessary!

Those terrible "hot flashes"—those nervously unstrung feelings—those clammy sweats and feelings of weakness—are all too common to women who are going through the "change"!

Such functional distresses—in clinical tests conducted by doctors—were stopped or strikingly relieved by Lydia Pinkham's Compound and Tablets in 63% and 49% (respectively) of all the cases tested!

And that is good news for you!

Scientifically Modern in Action

Actually, Lydia Pinkham's Compound and Tablets are extremely modern in action. They exert a definitely soothing—calming—effect.

If you experience the sinking sensations, suffocating flashes and irritability of this time of life—why not benefit by the experience of thousands? See if you, too, don't find relief from your suffering by taking these famous Lydia Pinkham medicines. Take either the Compound (liquid) or new, improved Pinkham Tablets with added iron (trial size only 50¢). You'll particularly welcome the convenience of the Tablets that you can carry with you. But . . . whichever you decide to try—don't delay seeking this medically-tested form of relief!

Pinkham's is wonderful, too, for the functional cramps and other distresses of monthly periods.

Ex-Prisoners Found Victims Of Red Lore To Get Mental Care

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Defense Department has decided that U. S. soldiers instilled with communism by Red techniques while held prisoner need mental treatment. It is therefore flying a "small group" of these men, returned under the prisoner exchange agreement, to an Army hospital for "special consideration as well as medical treatment in their preparation for return to society."

The men, who have shown symptoms of having succumbed to Communist indoctrination while they were held captive in North Korea, are enroute from Tokyo to the big Valley Forge Army Hospital near Philadelphia, the department said in an announcement Tuesday night.

Top-level discussions among Pentagon officials and between them and other government agencies were held before it was determined a formal public announcement would be made that "psychical" as well as medical treatment would be given the group.

The announcement contained no indication of how long the men involved might require treatment. It said families of the soldiers would be notified immediately upon their arrival and would be "encouraged to visit them."

Reds Build Tanks Faster Than U. S.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The United States will have on hand by the start of this summer about 13,000 medium tanks, still far short of the estimated 40,000 of all types generally credited to Russia.

But, an Army spokesman said Wednesday, there is no intention or desire to match Soviet armor, tank for tank, any more than there is attempt to match the huge Russian-satellite force man-for-man. Several factors are involved in this planning. If a war should start tomorrow, the spokesman said, "current tool-up production lines could be accelerated to keep up supplied in quantity with superior tanks."

Moreover, Army tacticians do not subscribe to the theory the only way to beat an enemy tank is with another tank. The spokesman said that "under certain circumstances, it is true that the best—and, incidentally, the most expensive—way to fight a tank is with another tank."

Other Weapons
But the Army also relies on other antitank weapons, including the recoilless rifle with its "shaped" charge for penetrating tank armor by a burning action, and the familiar bazooka and rifle grenade launcher for close-in fighting.

Another apparent factor, unmentioned by the Army spokesman, is that the 13,000-tank figure shown in Defense Department information consists only of medium gun tanks. It does not include either the new light tanks, which have been in volume production for well over a year, or heavy tanks just going into production. The 40,000 estimate for the USSR is presumed to include all categories of tanks, including obsolete ones.

Circus Lion Roams Among Fans As Tent Falls, Hurting Eight

BENTON, ARK.—(AP)—A lion roamed for 30 minutes among 2,500 spectators when wind tore down a circus tent during an animal act here Tuesday night.

Eight persons were injured by the falling tent, but none by the lion, Sheriff Pat Berry said.

The lion was one of eight entering the main arena of the Diano Brothers Circus through a wooden passageway from a truck when the tent began to sway. Seven of the animals scampered back to the vehicle, but the eighth bounded to freedom among the crowd.

As the canvas whipped to the ground, spectators flung aside purses, coats and hats and crawled over fallen bleachers and poles to escape the tent and the lion.

Sheriff Berry said the animal was lassoed "between 30 and 40 minutes" later and dragged to the truck without harming anyone.

Brazilian Senate Okays Security Pact

RIO DE JANEIRO, BRAZIL.—(AP)—Brazil's military aid agreement with the United States needed only President Getulio Vargas' signature to become law Wednesday. The Senate approved the pact Tuesday night by a 37-7 vote.

Campaign To Reduce Budget Nears Tenth Of GOP Target

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A Republican drive to cut as much as 10 billion dollars from new appropriations for fiscal year 1954 was near the billion dollar mark Wednesday, with two annual money bills cleared by the House.

The second departmental appropriation measure skimmed through Tuesday, to be followed later this week by House action on another budget measure to finance the State, Justice and Commerce Departments.

None of the bills has been acted on by the Senate, which could, of course, restore some of the cuts or trim even deeper.

Tuesday's action was on a bill carrying $406,130,343 for the Interior Department for the fiscal year starting July 1. This is $201,206,057 less than former President Truman requested in his budget in January.

Last week the House sent to the Senate a bill to appropriate $451,020,430 for 23 independent agencies. This was a cut of $721,423,697 from the Truman figures.

In both cases, the House sustained generally the money recommendation of its appropriations committee.

This committee, headed by Chairman Taber (R-NY), has set an informal goal of 10 billions to trim from the Truman appropriation requests.

Devoted Stepmother Gets 'Mother Of 1953' Honors

BELLEVILLE, ILL.—(AP)—A stepmother who successfully reared four motherless children has been named the American Mother of 1953.

The American Mothers Committee selected for its annual honor Mrs. Ethlyn Wisegarver Bott, 55, marking the first time in its almost 25 years it gave the award to a stepmother.

Mrs. Bott is the wife of Dr. Anthony E. Bott of Belleville and for 20 years has been mother to his four children, two sons and two daughters. All spoke of her proudly when announcement of the honor was made in New York Tuesday.

At her home here, Mrs. Bott said: "I am very, very happy and very humble. The ideals which I have followed will continue to be followed. Our family really is no different from the family next door."

A national jury of prominent women, in announcing Mrs. Bott's selection, said one testimonial in her behalf read:

"Mrs. Bott has given each of the four Botts children a mother's interest, love, encouragement and inspiration to become responsible citizens in the home, church and community."

When she married Dr. Bott five years after the death of his first wife, his children ranged in age from five to 14 years. All four are college graduates. Commenting on the award, Mrs. Bott's youngest stepdaughter, Mrs. John J. Davis, 24, of Morehead City, N. C., said: "Children Praise Her"

"She is in reality a stepmother. I guess, but she never has been or ever will be anything but a real mother to us."

The other stepdaughter, Mrs. Stanley T. Shaw, 26, of Kansas City, Mo., said: "She has done more than is required to be a good mother and she is now tops as a grandmother. She has five grandchildren."

Mrs. Bott's oldest stepchild, Anthony, 34, a veterinarian and president of the Greater St. Louis Veterinary Medication Association, said of her selection: "We all love her very dearly and I sincerely thank God that she came to us for she has been, and is, a most wonderful mother."

Her other stepson, Edward, 30, executive vice president and business manager of the Corn Belt Laboratory at East St. Louis, Ill., said: "There is nothing in my life or a day so important as that day when

LIKE CHRISTMAS IN APRIL—

End Of Filibuster Pleases Senate Stenographers Most

WASHINGTON (AP)—The folks who take down everything said in debate on the floor of the Senate were just about the happiest people in Washington Wednesday.

The agreement to vote next Tuesday on the submerged lands bill, bringing an end to night Senate sessions and the most talk many of them ever listened to, was like a Christmas present in April.

And, just as important, recognition was coming in.

Vice President Nixon, for instance, called the official Senate reporters "the unsung heroes of the recent filibuster."

"I don't know how you stood it," he said.

Eight-Man Team

Along with his note was a box of California fruit, including avocados and tangerines, with the suggestion:

"Maybe some of this good California fruit will help restore your health."

Earlier, there was a basket of candy and fruit from Senator Morse (Ind-Ore), who almost exhausted the eight shorthand experts and five typists, if not himself, when he set a record last week by talking 22 hours and 26 minutes in opposition to the bill.

The men who take down Senate debate are no run-of-the-mill stenographers, as John D. Rhodes and James W. Murphy, under whom they work, will testify.

Two-Year Debut

Murphy, who's been an official reporter 50 years, and Rhodes, who came to work at the Senate in 1919, are both lawyers by training, and all their men have been through the grind of trial reporting.

"We have to select our men very carefully," Rhodes explained. "And it takes a couple of years for a man to get to where he feels at ease on these jobs."

"We never take anyone who has not been an official reporter of trials and other court proceedings. He must, of all things, be familiar with legal language so often used by senators, most of whom are lawyers," said The Record.

The reporters work in relays. A man stays on the floor 10 minutes at a time. His book full of shorthand notes, he returns to the workroom and dictates to a recording device all that he has taken down.

The typists take over and return the typewritten transcript to the reporter, who then reads copy on it and get it into order for sending to the Government Printing Office, which prints the Congressional Record.

Friday, when Morse spoke all night, the reporters worked all night, keeping up the relays.

"Overtime pay? There's no such thing. They are paid a yearly salary. Rhodes wouldn't say how much.

Young Alpine Climbers Tell Of 80-Hour Ordeal On Ledge

TRENTO, ITALY (AP)—Two young Italian mountain climbers, recovering from frostbite and exhaustion after four days and three nights on a blizzard-swept mountain ledge, told Wednesday of their 80-hour ordeal.

The climbers, Arturo Brunet, 32, and Saverio Scalet, 22, were brought down Tuesday night by two Alpine guides from their narrow perch on Sasso Moro, a 9,186-foot peak in the upper Tyrol's Dolomite Alps.

The two had set out Saturday to open a new route to the mountaintop. They almost reached the top when fog, a strong wind and snow trapped them on a 12-inch-wide ledge. They anchored themselves to nails they pounded into the rock.

The weather cleared slightly Sunday and they climbed 328 feet higher to a safer, 40-inch ledge. Then a new storm struck and Brunet's hands began to freeze.

Snow hampered searchers on Monday and the youths suffered through another night on their narrow ledge.

Early Tuesday, the two Alpine guides reached the mountaintop above the marooned pair. Scalet climbed up to them and helped lower a rope to Brunet, whose hands were numb. The guides, then led them down into the valley, where they received medical treatment.

Formosa Flouts Invasion Danger

TAIPEH, FORMOSA (AP)—Nationalist China's armed forces now are so strong that "supported by the U. S. Seventh Fleet, we have no fear of Communist invasion," Maj. Gen. William C. Chase said Wednesday.

New Irish Emigrant Is Connemara Pony

DUBLIN, IRELAND (AP)—A new kind of Irish emigrant leaves for the United States in April—a four-year-old Connemara pony. The pony, a roan mare, is believed to be the first of this graceful breed ever sold to the United States. Frank Tierney of Ridgefield, Connecticut, saw it running wild on Connemara bogland and bought it on the spot.

Former owner R. T. Curley now has had the pony trained for children's riding and hopes it may start a demand for Connemaras among American youngsters.

Young Husband Tells How Best Friend Tried Poisoning Him To Win His Wife

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Four incidents, says a young husband, led him to suspect his best friend was trying to poison him.

Husky Robert Hayden described them calmly Tuesday as Richard La Force went on trial on charges of attempting to poison Hayden so he could try to win the love of the latter's pretty wife.

Hayden, a contractor's helper, said La Force was a frequent visitor at his home. The two youths and Hayden's red-haired wife Joyce had been friends since high school. All are 19.

Arsonic Symptoms

Hayden said he first became ill after La Force gave him a soft drink on a visit to the California Institute of Technology, where the defendant was a brilliant physics student.

"I got dizzy. I got sick to my stomach. I felt heavy," Hayden said.

Prosecuting Attorney Joseph Carr told the jury Hayden had symptoms of arsenic poisoning.

The next three incidents occurred in his apartment last January, Hayden testified.

More Argentinians Jailed In Bomb Plot

BUENOS AIRES, ARGENTINA (AP)—Police Tuesday night upped to 20 the number of persons arrested for investigation in connection with the April 15 bombings of a mass meeting addressed by President Juan D. Peron. Six persons were killed in the blasts and the crowd stampeded that followed.

Among those newly listed were former Congressman Juan Antonio Solari and Isodoro Gabriel, both Socialists, and Gerardo Redondo, identified by police as a Radical party member and co-owner of a Buenos Aires auto sales agency.

"It smelled like the other one. I took some in my mouth, then spit it out. It was just like I'd been eating persimmons. It sort of puckered up my mouth."

Fuckery And Bittery

Next, Hayden testified, his wife poured two glasses of milk.

"I started to drink mine. She already had tasted hers and said 'Don't drink it. It smells bad.' But I already had the glass to my mouth."

"What did it taste like?" Carr asked.

"Fucky and bittery," the witness answered. "I spit the milk out."

Carr said an analysis indicated the milk contained potassium cyanide in a lethal dose.

FORT ORD, CALIF. (AP)—A court martial review board has agreed with Sgt. I. C. Earl Jones, 33, that 20 months without pay is enough to make a man go AWOL.

A Fort Ord spokesman said Tuesday a dishonorable discharge imposed on Jones last month has been rescinded and his sentence of six months imprisonment is being suspended.

Jones, a decorated veteran of nine and one-half years service and the World War II European campaign, went AWOL from Fort Bliss, Texas, last June. He said he hadn't been paid for 20 months because of a mixup in records and was having a hard time supporting his wife and child.

SPORTS PARLEY

By CHARLEY ESKEW

We doubt if the song hero, "Mexican Joe," who ain't got no peso, would put up his life earnings against a million bucks on the truth of the latest Midland Indian revelation:

That Pitcher Freddie Rodriguez would fly in by plane to join the club some time Wednesday morning.

Joe, you see, just like you and me has been told a dozen times how Rodriguez a veteran hurler from Havana, was on his way to the U. S. And after a month of such reports, the Indian pitching staff still remains in a manpower shortage—only five form the current corps.

Nevertheless, the Midland club crossed its fingers Tuesday and announced Rodriguez boarded a plane—allegedly—and started flying here. No Indian, we think, has volunteered so far to make the trip to the airport to meet him and Manager Jay Haney has not re-reserved his waiting post by the exit.

There's no telling exactly why Rodriguez, a winner in the Class B Florida-International League last season, hung around Havana when the good American dollar awaited him in Midland. Perhaps one explanation covers it; Rodriguez, when he first contacted Midland about his contract, said this: "I found out I was to Class C. I thought I was being sent to the Washington Senators."

Despite his ambitions, his presence here is necessary for Midland has only two sure-fire starting-finishing pitchers, Ralph Blair and Eddie Jacome. Ben Quintana has encountered troubles. Bud Sisk, as a rookie, has a long way to go and Romario Soto hasn't been under much fire—all as a consequence being in a trial-and-error stage in Midland's games. At that rate, you can imagine Haney's quandary Sunday.

His problem burst forth when Quintana was rocked for five runs in three and two-thirds innings.

Haney, looking over his bench, had to consider that Blair pitched Friday and was due again Tuesday, that Jacome pitched Saturday and was scheduled again Wednesday and that Soto would be Monday's Spring game, to work the Indians out of a hole. Then bring on Jacome to wind up the last two or three innings if Midland had a chance to overcome a 5-1 deficit.

Sisk, though, encountered his wildest effort, walked eight and allowed Big Spring to sew up the game.

The results weren't so hot but it solved a problem. Jacome could wait to play another day.

Meanwhile, taking quick glances around the Longhorn League: Do you suppose that when Odessa Manager Pepper Martin was hit by a pitch in Sunday's game at San Angelo if he had any connection with his fight against a Colt player Saturday?

John Musculin, loser of three games in four Lamesa outings, is a rookie from Wichita Falls who helped hurl the Class B Spudders to their 6-4 Spring victory over Midland. His Longhorn League record won't bear out how well he looked against the Indians. But there's a tip-off to his promise.

Harold Webb, the Lamesa skipper, knows talent and, when he claims a player with it, is subject to overwork him. You recall how Ralph Blair once toiled long and hard for Webb when both were with the Indians in earlier years. Musculin is in that slave boat now.

Webb, incidentally, remains the Webb of old although several years have separated him from his younger antics as Midland manager.

He took the mound as a pitcher when Lamesa lost to Rowell, 20-4, last week and lasted until the fifth before arguing his way into an ejection. The thumbing wasn't enough to oust him, neither was a policeman, for Webb broke loose from the strong arm of the law and, closely pursued, sprinted around the outfield.

He won his race but not his debate by leaping over the center-field wall.

Bruce Blumenthal, a 1952 Indian, has been called the hardest thrower on the Odessa team. If he keeps as steady as in his relief work against Midland last week, Blumenthal may be the answer to Manager Martin's current pitching problems.

With three victories to his credit, Jockey Albert Schmidt leads all riders in winning Delaware Park's Leonard Richards for three-year-old.

Tago Palazzi of Holy Cross was the only unanimous choice on the Notre Dame all-opponent basketball team of the recently concluded campaign.

Bad Weather Tribe Prove Victors, 14-8

Whoever said "the show must go on" apparently left a vivid lesson in tenacity with two Longhorn League umpires and the Midland baseball club.

It's either that—or no excuse—for the Indians' sticking through thick sand and a thin crowd to win over San Angelo, 14-8, Tuesday night.

Probably because it was the home opener, Midland played while around the league others feared to tread in the tough—all-over-West-Texas sandstorms of Tuesday.

Braving gusty, blinding, blowing sand, Midland won its reward, though, grabbing half a share of first place in the race with a 5-1 record.

Carlsbad (5-1) couldn't weather its home game against Rowell and called it off. Big Spring at Odessa and Lamesa at Artesia also were postponed.

Some 2,000 fans attended Midland's opener but only about 200 stuck around through the three-hour program—opening game ceremonies, 28 hits equally divided by the teams, a total of 22 runs and two 30-minute intermissions called to let the sand settle. The ump, though, always ruled for play to continue at the end of the breaks.

Despite the hit total, the two pitchers, Midland's Ralph Blair and San Angelo's Ben Bonine, went the distance. It was with extra base hitting that Midland proved tops.

Hayden White drove in four runs, homered and tripled, Roger Dalla Betta homered also, and Blair singled twice and doubled for four RBIs.

The teams square off here at 8 p.m. Wednesday with the Indians' Eddie Jacome due to face San Angelo's Parks Thomas.

But back to the opener. Midland trailed 2-0 after John Jeandron tripled in a run and scored on an error in the first inning.

But the Indians bunched eight hits in the bottom half of the first to lead, for good, 7-2. Bill Brown plated the first run, Scooter Hughes, with a single, Jim Prince drove in another with a hit, Julio de la Torre another and White produced the big clout of the spree with a two-on-home run over the right field fence.

Blair then singled in Tex Stephenson with the seventh tally.

Midland went hitless against Bonine the next five innings, all the while seeing San Angelo pull within a run of catching up.

Andy Morales singled and Glen Burns walked with the bases loaded to get back two runs of the deficit in the second inning. A grounder by Dick Stone got another in the third, while Rudy Briner trimmed it to 7-6 with a run-producing one-bagger in the fourth.

Neither scored again until Blair drove in two runs in the seventh with a double and Dalla Betta followed with a homer over the right-center field wall for two more.

Hits by Briner and Malgarini trimmed that 11-6 margin by two runs in the eighth, but Midland spurted into safety again with a three-run eighth.

Brown singled and Jim Prince sacrificed to set up the rally, with rays by De la Torre. White and Blair plating a run apiece afterwards.

AT THE GAME— Flag Gets Frayed— —Just Like Fans

Midland's Indians unfurled their 1952 pennant and a 14-8 victory over San Angelo Tuesday night amid blowing sands that marred their home opener for the smaller-than-expected 2,000-odd fans that attended.

Burvin Hines of the Chamber of Commerce introduced the players and then Mrs. Jay Haney, wife of the Midland manager, unfolded the flag Haney brought to Indian Park in a down-the-stretch drive last season.

Although there was plenty of applause for Haney and the entire Indian roster, there were many more "oohs" and "ahs" for the vivacious, blonde-haired Mrs. Haney.

The ceremonies were cut short so the game could get underway before the sands could cross the game out of the books. As it was, there was a short interlude in the opening inning and again in the seventh.

Each time, the players re-capped what had happened in the playing interval and moaned about the sand storm.

OVERHEARD IN THE STANDS—Midland certainly has loyal fans, but they're all fools to be out here in weather like this. I'm going home" . . . The balls and strikes umpire received such epithets as "come on, muscle head" . . . "He wasn't no good last year and he ain't no good this year" . . . "Wipe the sand out your eyes and maybe you can see"

One veteran baseball observer and former player noted that the ump was out of position to see balls which were on the outside or outside corner, but that doesn't account for the ones the players and fans thought were over the middle.

San Angelo's attempt to pull the hidden ball trick on Scooter Hughes in the seventh inning was a failure.

Hayden White picked up $83 for the home run he hit over the right field fence in the opening inning. But there were only 200 fans left when Roger Dalla Betta cracked one far over the right-center field fence in the seventh. He made far less than his teammate.

Midland's 1952 pennant is already frayed. The high winds frayed about six inches of it before it was pulled down.

Retiring GM Extends Job With Indians

General Manager Horace Busby, scheduled to quit his post with the Midland Indians Friday, will remain with the ball club two extra days.

Busby submitted his resignation, 12 days ago, to become effective May 1. But because of Midland's current home stand and the absence of club President Marion Plynt, he will continue with the team until Sunday, May 3.

President Plynt at present is on a short vacation in Mexico and will resume his duties Sunday.

Busby retires from baseball that day after being connected with the Indians since their Longhorn League beginning in 1947. He and club secretary-treasurer J. C. Smith both submitted their resignations at the same time, April 18.

Since then, Phillip Minear has been appointed to take over the Indian front office duties and A. D. McCain named to replace Smith as director and secretary-treasurer.

NEW SEASON, NEW HOPES—The Midland Indians break out of the dugout as they open their 1953 home Longhorn League baseball season with hopes for a new pennant to replace the 1952 they flew for the first time Tuesday night. Sunset High Trackmen Team To Beat In Conference AA

Sunset (Dallas) will be a top favorite to win the Class AA school-boy track and field meet at Austin next week.

The Bisons, with Eddie Southern running the hurdles and a lap on the mile relay team; Carl Self showing the shot into the next county, and with a leading high-jumper in Tommy Kelly, appear the strongest team to compete in the state meet, May 8-9.

San Benito, featuring its great sprinter and broad jumper, Bobby Morrow; Baytown, with a crack mile relay team and a tremendous quarter-miler in Eddie Gray; Wichita Falls, Abilene, Odessa, Ray (Corpus Christi), and Amon Carter-Riverside (Fort Worth) are other schools that should contend mightily for the title.

At least one overall record and one class record appear due Southern has run the 100-yard low hurdles in 19.1, which is nine-tenths of a second under the overall record for all classes, and Morrow has run 100 yards in 9.8, which ties the Class AA record.

Morrow is quite some trackster indeed. He also runs the 220 in under 22 seconds and he has broad jumped 22 feet, 3 inches this season.

Gray, the Baytown 440 star, did this event in the regional meet in 49.9, seven-tenths of a second over the record. Ronald Credit of Harlingen did the 880-yard run in 2:00.9. Leonard Penny of Harlingen skipped the mile in 4:35.3. Self flipped the shot 56 feet 1 1/2 inches. Kelly leaped six feet in the high jump and Winton Thomas of Abilene pole vaulted 12 feet, 4 inches among other good marks for the regional meets.

Austin of Houston and Ray of Corpus Christi 440-yard relay teams registered 43.2 in the regionals.

Derby Trial Winner Fails To Dim Hopes Of Two Favorites

LOUISVILLE, KY.—(AP)—A Dark Star cast a shadow over the Kentucky Derby horizon Wednesday but failed to dim prospects of Native Dancer and Correspondent as the two horses most likely to succeed in Saturday's seventy-ninth running of the $100,000 added three-year-old turf classic.

When Dark Star from Harry F. Guggenheim's New York-owned Cain Hoy Stable came pounding down the stretch to win Tuesday's mile derby trial in the fine time of 1:36, there was much talk among trainers and owners.

But it was mostly talk for it was difficult to find anybody who would predict the Cain Hoy colt might be able to give the Dancer or Correspondent a serious argument when the distance lengthens to a mile and one-quarter Saturday.

Yankees Win Game, Fights In Riotous Tilt At St. Louis

By The Associated Press
 Baseball was recovering from a hangover Wednesday following a wild and woolly night as ever took place in the major leagues.

In St. Louis, the Browns and Yankees engaged in a free-for-all, and the fans bombarded the players with pop bottles and beer cans in the most riotous diamond scene since the final game of the 1934 World Series. After order was restored, the Yankees tripped the Browns, 7-6, to regain the lead in the American League.

In Philadelphia, the St. Louis Cardinals snapped the Phillies' eight-game winning streak with a 6-3 victory as the Redbirds' Penna Lowrey came through for the fifth straight time in a pinch-hit role. Each side used five pitchers.

In Cleveland, Bobby Shantz proved he was back on the beam, pitching and batting the Philadelphia Athletics to a 3-2 triumph over the Indians. Shantz spun an eight-hitter and drove in two runs to end the Indians' five-game winning streak and knock them out of first.

In Chicago, Washington Outfielder Paul Busby racked up his second straight four-hit day but it failed to prevent the White Sox from nipping the Senators, 5-4.

Lefty Maurice McDermott pitched a three-hitter as he twirled the Boston Red Sox to a 2-0 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

In Brooklyn, Southpaw Kenny Raffensberger of Cincinnati tried for the twentieth time since 1944 to defeat the Dodgers in a starting role—and failed for the twentieth time—as Preacher Roe hurled the Brooks to a 5-1 triumph over the Redlegs.

In New York, the Giants collected 10 hits and drew four walks off Righthander Max Surkont but could score only one run as the Milwaukee Braves whipped Leo Durocher's darlings, 4-1.

In Pittsburgh, 43-year-old Dutch Leonard, oldest player in the National League, retired three run-faceted Pirates in a brilliant ninth-inning relief job to preserve the Chicago Cubs' 5-3 win.

The Yankee-Browns free-for-all developed when St. Louis catcher Clint Courtney, an ex-Yankee, singled in the tenth, tried to stretch it into a double and slid hard into Phil Rizzuto, upsetting the Yankee shortstop. Yankee Second Baseman Billy Martin, an old antagonist of Courtney's, followed by slugging the Browns catcher. Players from both benches swarmed out on the field and a free-for-all followed.

The game was delayed 17 minutes as numerous fans among the 13,463 cash customers began hurling bottles, cans and other missiles, most of them directed at Yankee left fielder Gene Woodling, their nearest target. It took an appeal from St. Louis Manager Marty Marion over the public address system to quiet the fans.

No player was ejected but Chief Umpire Bill Summers threatened to forfeit the game to New York unless order was restored.

The Yankees won the game in the top of the tenth when McDougald, on second following a double, raced all the way home on a force play at second. The throw from Bill Hunter to the plate had him beaten but McDougald crashed into Courtney, knocked the glasses off the catcher's face and the ball out of his hands.

66ers Set Tucker For Top Cage Job

Frolicking Gerald Tucker, perhaps the foremost athlete ever to play in Midland sports, will be serving only an apprenticeship when he takes over as assistant basketball coaching job with Phillips 66 of Bartlesville, Okla., next season.

Tucker, leading scorer for the Midland 66ers in 1952, was named the Bartlesville side last week. A subsequent announcement by Phillips 66 said the former collegiate and AAU all-American would become head coach of the national industrial team in 1954-55.

Next season, though, Tucker will serve under Bud Browning, Phillips athletic director, who is coming out of retirement to replace last year's coach, Tom Scott. Scott resigned to join a Phillips office in the South.

In a statement Tuesday, Tucker said he was being placed under Browning for just one year. He would have complete charge of the 66er cagers the following season after the "apprenticeship."

Until he joins the Bartlesville team, Tucker, a six-foot-four forward as a player, will remain in Midland through the Summer, moving up, he said in August or September. The 66ers open drills sometime in October.

While with the Midland 66ers as a player last season, Tucker averaged 19 points in 10 or 13 games.

In past years, he earned all-American honors at Oklahoma University and became the Player of the Year with Bartlesville at the outset of three years with that team. He was an AAU all-American and an alternate on the U. S. Olympic championship team in 1948.

Yakima Nine Shipping Two To Join Tribe

Midland held hopes of a working agreement with Yakima, Wash., Wednesday when that Western-International League notified the Indian baseball team it was sending a pitcher and catcher here.

Manager Jay Haney of Midland's nine said he expected Rookie Jim Hartford, catcher, and limited service player Don Dalley, pitcher, to arrive by plane either Wednesday night or Thursday.

Midland accepted the pair on an option agreement.

Dalley will be the first left-handed pitcher to join the Indians this season.

City Tourney Golfers Eye West Texas Pro-Amateur

Midland golfers—and visitors as well—have two features Wednesday to add to their picture of the first annual Reporter-Telegram City Championship tournament.

One is Thursday's West Texas Pro-Amateur tournament which begins at 9:30 a.m.; the other is the expected display of the huge championship trophy which the winner will receive following Sunday's final.

Pro Abe Beckman of Ranchland Hill Country Club, the tourney director, said Wednesday the 29-inch championship award was due in by plane and would be placed on display as soon as possible. Along with it will be the smaller trophy which goes to the champ as a permanent possession.

The huge cup will rotate among the annual winners until one has captured it three times. It then becomes a permanent keepsake of the three-time titlist.

While the cup was due in, a field of about 100 golfers, both from Midland and other West Texas points, ready their bids for other stakes, the pro-am awards of Thursday.

Beckman expects about 75 from the 184 city tournament field to join around 12 pros and other visiting golfers in the Thursday play. No deadline has been set for the last group to tee off, but the Ranchland pro urged most of the competitors to get on the tee early to avoid a rush of others who will be on the course to practice for the city meet's first matches set Friday.

The pro-am is the fifth this Spring, Midland's first, and should attract at least one or two of the earlier winning team captains. One would be Gene Mitchell of Lubbock,

Representative Champion Assured

One thing is certain about the City Championship Golf Tournament, even preceding the matches which decide the titlist—whoever wins will be a truly representative champ.

You can take the word for that from Abe Beckman, Ranchland Hill Country Club pro who is the director for the first annual Reporter-Telegram tourney.

Beckman broke down the list of 184 entries and found that members from Ranchland Hill Country Club claim the largest player list, 88, besides 11 who are members of both Midland clubs.

Thirty-one of the field, beside the 11 two-club members, play from Midland Country Club. The independent Midland golfers number 64.

Beckman pointed out that such a representation from all three sources is a good indication of interest in all competitive golf hereabouts.

Steers Nudge Bulldog Nine By 16 To 15

BIG SPRING—The Big Spring Steers handed the Midland Bulldogs their sixth District 3-AAA loss here Tuesday in a game as weird as the Texas weather.

The Steers outthit the Bulldogs by a wide margin but barely nudged the visiting nine, 16-15. The game produced everything from a home run to a hit batsman and ended when Wayne Medlin singled in Ted Scott with the winning run in the bottom of the seventh after the umpire had admitted he blew a decision which cost Midland three runs and the ball game.

Big Spring opened up on Boyce McKnight in the opening inning with six runs including a two-run home run by Bobby Hayworth. Before the inning was out, Leftfielder Jesse Hatfield was pitching for Midland.

The Bulldogs pecked away at the lead for two runs in the second and third and then rallied for six in the fourth to go ahead, 10-7. Big Spring made it, 13-12, with a run in the fourth and five in the fifth after Midland had scored twice in the top of the fifth. Both clubs scored three times in the seventh.

Hatfield, who gave way to J. N. Steels and Snooky Roberts in the fourth, came back in the fifth and was the losing pitcher. Walt Bingham led the Midland attack with three hits.

City Traffic Controls—

 broken down into four phases, which could be undertaken from time to time.
 The cost would include "Walk" and "Wait" signals for pedestrian traffic as well as the customary vehicular controls.
 Keese recommended that, if the work is done in stages, North Front Street be converted first, inasmuch as that route is the highest traffic accident incidence.
 The program would be carried subsequently to Wall Street, Big Spring Street and then to the entire central business district.
 In urging the enforcement of the all-night parking ban—at least, after 3 a.m. daily—Keese pointed out the enforcement was relaxed when it became apparent there was no available off-street facilities during the night for hotel guests and other transients.
 "The situation has changed, however," he said, "and I believe we have enough facilities to permit the enforcement of this provision of the traffic ordinance."
 With the streets cleared, the city would be able to clean the streets with motorized sweepers, eliminating costly manual work.
 In asking for the tightening of loading zone permits, Keese asserted that a great amount of parking space now is being lost to these reserved spaces.

Annual Re-Survey
 His recommendation asked the elimination of all freight-loading zones on the face of any block where an alley intersects the street. Where there is no such alley, loading zones would be established "upon request and upon proof of the need of such zone."
 Keese, in asking for one-hour parking around the courthouse, pointed out that some businesses demanded more than 30-minute parking for customers.
 "The person who plans to spend more than 30 minutes shopping," he said, "would not object to walking the extra one or two blocks from the courthouse."
 "The zones should be re-surveyed annually and altered to meet the demand."
 Although numerous requests have been received asking for right turns on red lights, Keese said he was opposed to it.
 He pointed out that it would not be advisable after the signals are changed to a shorter cycle. The shorter cycle would permit a more steady flow of traffic and the entry of turning vehicles would disturb this flow.
 The short cycle, he added would provide through speed of 15 to 17 miles an hour and will reduce the amount of time a vehicle "out of step" is required to wait at a traffic signal light.

San Jacinto Band Presents Program For Midland Lions

The San Jacinto Junior High School Band, a crack musical organization under the direction of Ted James, presented the program at the regular meeting of the Midland Lions Club Wednesday noon in Hotel Schaubauer.
 The concert opened with "The Star Spangled Banner," following which a wide variety of selections were heard.
 Program Chairman Carl Hyde said the San Jacinto concert was the second in a series of three school band programs to be presented this year. The High School Band played for the club recently and the Cowden Junior High Band is scheduled next month.
 A report on the district convention held last weekend in Odessa was given by Robert H. (Bob) Pine.

Storms Leave 10 Dead—

 7:15 p.m. Tuesday, Jackson said the storm knocked him out until early morning.
 The Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation for polio treatment is at Ottine, but the storm barely touched it. Damage to the sturdy buildings was estimated at a maximum of $200.
 A number of farm houses and barns in the area were reported damaged, and telephone lines were blown down.
 Mrs. Alwine Rittmann, 72, was hurled 300 yards and killed by a tornado that demolished her home on the edge of San Antonio.
 Lightning stabbed out of a rainstorm at Kilgore and set fire to an oil tank. Five persons were burned to death.
 A boy drowned as he swam in choppy, wind-swept Lake Corpus Christi, near Mathis.
 Two youths were killed in the collision of their auto and a trailer-truck during a rainstorm near Dublin early Wednesday.
 In addition to the dead, at least six persons were injured in the San Antonio twister, seven were hurt at Helotes and three at Smithville.
Sand in West Texas
 Sand swirled Wednesday over Midland, El Paso, Salt Flat, Big Spring, San Angelo, Cotulla, Laredo, Marfa and Lubbock. Lowest visibility was one mile at Marfa.
 Rain fell at Beaumont, Lufkin, Galveston, Houston and Texarkana.
 Paris measured 6.30 inches of rain in 24 hours, the heaviest since June, 1928. The North Sulphur River was reported out of its banks, and the Red River was rising at Arthur City.
 In Central Texas, the San Marcos River was reported high but dropping. Approaches to a bridge between Martindale and Lockhart washed out Tuesday night, but repairs were expected to be made by Wednesday night.
 The Weather Bureau predicted the Trinity River would reach a 35.5 foot crest at Dallas by midnight. Flood stage at Dallas is 28 feet, but levees protect the city.
Highway Closed
 The State Highway Department closed Highway 87 from Sabine Pass to Galveston because of high tides and debris. South winds up to 35 miles an hour were reported by the Navy at Orange.
 Killed in the collision near Dublin were Kenneth Charles Jenkins, 18, of Brownwood and Dwaine Farrell, 18, of Blanket. Jenkins was the driver of the car. The truck driver escaped injury.
 Kilgore's deadly bolt of lightning hit an oil tank near a group of negro homes. Killed were Mrs. Christine Beck, 34; her two children, Lorenzo, six, and Elizabeth, four; Brenda Alexander, four, and an elderly woman believed to be the Alexander child's grandmother.
Dallas Welcomes Rain
 Rosendo Cruz, 18-year-old high school senior from Corpus Christi drowned as he attempted to swim in choppy, wind-swept Lake Corpus Christi near Mathis.
 At Smithville, the injured were Mrs. Leon Smith and her two sons. The Smith home and its outbuildings were demolished by the tornado winds.
 Dallas, its reservoirs down, welcomed the rains but suffered some damage, too. Lightning struck a school in suburban Oak Cliff and knocked a huge chunk of stone-work from the building. Nobody was injured, chiefly because the principal had just called the children inside because of the threatening weather.
 Lightning also struck an oil tank at Hawkins and set it afire. The flames quickly spread to three more tanks and all were burned, but nobody was injured.
Airline Hampered
 High winds with gusts up to 60 miles an hour kicked up the swirling, blinding sand in West Texas. The sun was obscured and visibility cut to a half-block at Plainview.
 Airline flights were held up at Dallas, Fort Worth, Wichita Falls and Oklahoma City by the roving thunderstorms. Pilots said "hail and heavy turbulence existed aloft."
 Creeks and other streams were rising rapidly wherever it rained. Bonham, Greenville and Dallas streets were flooded. Some danger of local flooding was reported in Fort Worth by the Weather Bureau. But Clear Fork and West Fork of the Trinity were expected to handle the runoff.
Rains Up To 10 Inches
 The squall line which produced most of Tuesday's weather had moved on out of the state but the Weather Bureau said a "high level cold front" was causing additional precipitation.
 As much as 10 inches of rain was reported in Martindale, near San Marcos, and at Red Rock, near Smithville. Staples, in Guadalupe County, reported seven inches. Lockhart reported 6.10 inches. Bastrop five inches, and Lagrange, Denton, and Greenville, four inches.

Brown's Wife Backs Murder Trial Alibi, Says Hubby At Home

DALLAS — (P) — Mrs. Donald Hawkins Brown took the witness stand in her husband's trial for murder and testified that Brown spent the late afternoon and evening of December 31 with his family.
 Brown is accused of having shot to death Edwin Joe Campbell, 25-year-old finance company collector and leaving his body in his flaming automobile New Year's Eve night.
 Mrs. Brown, corroborating her husband's earlier testimony, told Tuesday how Brown broke a tooth and cut his lip while changing a tire and getting blood over his trousers.
 The state had offered as evidence a pair of bloody trousers which they said they found in an apartment which Brown had occupied on the night of the slaying.
 Dr. Morton F. Mason, toxicologist, has testified earlier that the blood found on the trousers was type O, the same as Campbell's. The doctor said that blood found in Brown's driveway was also type O.
 Prosecution attorneys protested when the defense lawyer asked Brown what type of blood he had. In reply to a question from his attorney, Brown said he would be willing to have a test of his blood made.
Reports Paying $50
 During the two hours Brown spent on the witness stand Tuesday, he related that Campbell called on him to collect delinquent payments on his car. He said he paid Campbell $50 and promised to have the balance the next day. He said that last time he saw Campbell the latter was driving away alone.
 Brown said he spent the evening with his family and then the next day he moved them to Fort Worth where he rented an apartment under an assumed name.
 "I did that," he said, "in order to keep the finance company from finding me until I could catch up my payments."

Former Coal Miner Named USCC Head

WASHINGTON — (P) — Richard L. Bowditch, Boston industrialist who started as a "trapper boy" in a coal mine 30 years ago, Wednesday was elected president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.
 Bowditch is president of C. H. Sprague and Son Company, which produces and ships coal and oil, and the Sprague Steamship Company.
 Three tropical woods immune to ravages of shipworms have been found. Their resistance may be due to wood resins that poison the worms. Although wood may be chemically treated to prevent such attacks, the process is expensive.
 Killed in the collision near Dublin were Kenneth Charles Jenkins, 18, of Brownwood and Dwaine Farrell, 18, of Blanket. Jenkins was the driver of the car. The truck driver escaped injury.
 Kilgore's deadly bolt of lightning hit an oil tank near a group of negro homes. Killed were Mrs. Christine Beck, 34; her two children, Lorenzo, six, and Elizabeth, four; Brenda Alexander, four, and an elderly woman believed to be the Alexander child's grandmother.

First Evidence Of Progress Reported From Truce Talks

MUNSAI — (P) — Communist truce negotiators suggested Wednesday that 50,000 Allied-held war prisoners who do not want to go home be sent to an unnamed neutral nation in Asia. The Reds also agreed to bargain on the time needed to determine their future.
 "I think we made some progress," said Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison, chief UN negotiator. "At least they are not adamant on the time prisoners are to be held in custody."
 While the Communists did not name a neutral, there were unofficial reports the Reds would nominate India. Observers predicted UN negotiators would agree. The Communists have rejected Switzerland as a neutral.
 At the end of a 64-minute session at Panmunjom the three major points of dispute appeared to shape up like this:
 1. The Communists indicated they were ready to bargain on the length of time needed to decide the disposition of prisoners refusing to go home.
 2. There appeared to be room for compromise on the Communist nomination of an Asian country—yet unnamed—as the neutral nation and the Allied nomination of Switzerland.
 3. The Communists showed no sign of backing down on their insistence that unwilling prisoners be shipped to the neutral power. The Allies were equally firm in their demand that the prisoners be kept in Korea while their fate is decided.
 On the last point, a possible compromise was a suggestion to ship Chinese prisoners to the neutral nation and to keep the Korean prisoners in Korea.
 North Korean Gen. Nam Il said, "We are prepared to nominate an Asian neutral nation for the purpose of putting under its custody those prisoners of war not directly repatriated and hold consultation with your side about his matter."

 There is an Almighty at the helm, too," the speaker stated, "and where the spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty.

 He praised the newspaper as a "great institution in community development" and said that civic leaders, backed by the banker and sparked by the newspaper, can accomplish wonders in making a community a bigger and better place in which to live.
 Out-of-city guests from Midland, Fort Worth, Big Spring, Lubbock, Odessa, Monahan and other area cities attended the function. R. W. Lewis, Lee Weathers and Lorraine Collins were among those from Midland in attendance.

UNDERGROUND STILL STILLED — Although moonshiners have gone underground, "revenooers" are still finding them. Bottom photo shows the inside of a well-concealed bootleg still in Macclenny, Fla. W. L. REPORTING THE TOP NEWS IN REAL ESTATE
TO BREAK AWAY from the dismal, the drudgery, and the inventory of everyday work, man has invented the privilege of a home. Here, he can relax, forget, and be himself. These are the offerings of a 2-bedroom home we have in the Ridge area. Huge living room, wonderfully spacious kitchen (with lots of cabinets), and an all-GLASS bath. You'll love the high taste of the owner's draperies which are being left for you. And you'll live in the fenced and private rear yard. ONLY $11,000.
OUR SIGN IS UP at 108 E. Spruce. If you buy only the roof of it for $1,500 down, I'll give you the rest of the house FREE! Just sign up now for $7,900. Cash-saving payments of $52 per month. Immediate possession.
YOU'VE OFTEN HEARD people say, "Cute as a bug." I guess that they mean something like 305 E. Cottonwood. It's got 2 nice bedrooms, relaxing living room, and rear kitchen. There's grass, paving, and a redwood fence. Completely re-recorded 2 weeks ago. $8,250.
TO YOU WONDERFUL and patient people who waited for more of our Kessler Street houses, we can announce that two more are under way towards completion. FHA financing only. 3 bedrooms, large living room, dining area, ceramic bath, and carpet with utility room. Central heating, breakfast area and pantry in kitchen, and washer connection. Total down payment is $1,650, including closing costs. Priced at $10,750.
DO YOU LIKE COMBINATIONS? I'm talking about homes, not gambling. Say, something like Austin Stone and California redwood? And 3 bedrooms (2 are very large), and 2 baths? And the combination of a wood-burning fireplace in a large living room? And a separate dining room of the kitchen? And the combination of a 2-car garage? What about a water well to go with the grass and trees? And the best combination is the $14,000 loan with a sales price of only $18,000. ONLY $4,000 down! Call the combo of Key, Wilson and Maxson NOW!
YOU FIGURE IT from the following facts: 3 bedrooms, tile over the bath, large living room, separate dining area, nice kitchen with breakfast space, and 2 closets in each bedroom. Asbestos siding, attached carport, washer connection in the utility room. Central heating, central air-conditioning, blower fan over stove, pantry. Nice lawn, high fence all around, paved street. 1 1/2 years old and in excellent condition. $2,900 down (I'll pay all closing costs), and priced at $11,750.

And the combination of a wood-burning fireplace in a large living room? And a separate dining room of the kitchen? And the combination of a 2-car garage? What about a water well to go with the grass and trees? And the best combination is the $14,000 loan with a sales price of only $18,000. ONLY $4,000 down! Call the combo of Key, Wilson and Maxson NOW!

Red Motives In POW Swap Discussed By Toastmasters

Suspicion of Communist motives was voiced by Toastmasters Tuesday night at the Diamond Horseshoe Restaurant when the group discussed the sick and wounded prisoner exchange in Korea.

Most members dismissed the current trade of prisoners of war as merely another Russian-inspired propaganda move, designed to lull the free world into a state of security and cut down rearmament efforts.

One Toastmaster contended that the Allies in Korea had lost more men in clashes during the prisoner negotiations than were handed over by the Communists in the trade at Panmunjom.

Another member could not understand why the United Nations forces had given the North Korean and Chinese Communists a favorable 10 to one ratio in the trade of approximately 6,000 Reds for 600 Allies.

A minority of the Toastmasters held faint hopes that perhaps the prisoner of war exchange marked a genuine desire for settlement of the Korean conflict.

Nils Walker, Toastmaster president, was in charge. Jim Veltin, Jr. introduced the table topic.

Jerry Harris, Toastmaster of the evening, introduced three speakers.

Olindo G. Giraro spoke first, giving his "breaking the ice" talk.

Walker, speaking on "Should We Balance the Federal Budget Before a Tax Reduction," told the Toastmasters the two possibilities could not be achieved simultaneously.

Plans For Tennis Courts Approved

Construction of 10 concrete tennis courts in scattered sections of the city was approved Tuesday night by the City Council.

City Manager W. H. Oswalt said the work would be done by city forces and the courts would cost approximately $2,100 each.

Work will begin within the next two weeks.

Hard Times Reduce Berlin's Beer Intake

BERLIN—(AP)—Berliners drank an average of 37 quarts of beer each in 1952, city records showed Wednesday. In West Germany, the per capita intake was 55 quarts.

Officials said the Berliners drank less because they had less money to spend.

Derailed Passenger Train Hurts Kansas Governor Slightly

COLFAX, LA.—(AP)—Deputy Sheriff J. M. Churchman of Grant Parish said Wednesday the Kansas City Southern's crack passenger train the "Southern Belle" was derailed Tuesday night two and one-half miles north of Montgomery, La. He said injuries were minor.

Churchman said Gov. Edward F. Arn of Kansas and his wife were passengers on the northbound train. The wreck occurred at about 9:15 p.m.

The deputy sheriff said Arn got a "bad lick on his left leg just above his ankle" but that his wife only was shaken up. They were in the lounge car, one of the last three cars on the train which were off the tracks completely.

Severe rains which flooded the area and caused highway traffic to be halted near the scene of the wreck, apparently washed the editor track and caused the derailment.

Churchman said the last cars of the train were in a ditch and were almost covered by water by the time he got there.

The wreck occurred about 85 miles southeast of Shreveport.

Four-Letter Word Tricks Red Editor

HANNOVER, GERMANY—(AP)—The word went out Wednesday to Communist editors: Watch those crossword puzzles.

One such puzzle in the Hannover Communist sheet — Die Wahrheit Truth—called for a European statesman. The answer—Yugoslavia's Tito. He's been an arch-enemy of the Soviet bloc since he broke with the Kremlin in 1948.

The paper in a 400-word front page article lambasted the editor who approved the puzzle for a lack of "political vigilance" and commented: "This puzzle proves the imperialists strive to carry their dangerous vices to the people by all possible means."

Leaders Welcome Scout Executive

Some 60 Midland Scout leaders were on hand Tuesday night in the North Elementary School to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Joe V. Niedermayer to Midland.

Niedermayer is new district executive for the El Centro (Midland County) District of the Buffalo Trail Council, Boy Scouts of America.

A "four-in-one" meeting followed the dinner reception for the new director and his wife.

Niedermayer served as district executive in the four-county Pecos area for three years before coming to Midland. He was a Scout official in Midland in 1944 and 1945, leaving to finish his college work at Southern Methodist University.

The "four-in-one" system which followed the reception brought praise from Scout leaders. P. V. Thorson, Midland Scout chief, said Wednesday. Under the plan, several major Scout meetings are held in one building on the same night.

Group round-table discussions under the direction of G. N. Hughes, district commissioner, were conducted while the District Committee, under the chairmanship of Rev. Clyde Lindley, was in session.

Leading the round-table discussions were Wallace Wimberley for Cubbing, Bob White for Scouting and Jerry Cole for Exploring.

The "four-in-one" system will be continued, Thorson pointed out.

Idaho's Moscow Asks Reds To Change Name Of Capital

MOSCOW, IDAHO—(AP)—The city of Moscow, long cool to suggestions that it change its name, stated its position officially Wednesday—that any name-changing should be done in Moscow, USSR, not here.

It even asked that its resolution claiming prior right to the name be forwarded to the Russian city officials.

The action came as part of a week-long preparation featuring donations of blood and sales of savings bonds, planned as a "counter-fort" to the May Day observances in Communist circles.

A copy of the resolution was sent to the Russian Embassy at

Vietminh Reds Skirt Laos Outpost In Circling Attack

HANOI, INDOCHINA—(AP)—The French announced Wednesday that Communist-led Vietminh invaders of the kingdom of Laos have taken the post of Banmambac, 40 miles north of the Laotian royal seat of Luangprabang.

It was the second French reverse in the area announced in as many days. Tuesday the French reported the loss of Pakxeng, 42 miles north-east of Luangprabang.

Though the Vietminh still had not launched a direct attack on Luangprabang, the Communist leaders appeared to be throwing more and more of their best fighting men into the Laos invasion.

Apparently they sought to overrun the little mountain kingdom—90,000 square miles in area—before the heavy seasonal rains start in the next month or two.

Already they claimed control of one-third to one-half of Laos, which is one of Indochina's three states, and a neighbor of independent, anti-Communist Thailand.

Strong elements of at least four Vietminh divisions were reported on Laotian soil.

Bank Deposits Set Record At Monahans

MONAHANS—Monahans bank deposits reached an all-time high of $7,296,887.70, according to statements issued in accordance with a directive of the Federal Reserve Board. The figures reported are as of April 20.

Of this total, the First State Bank reported deposits of $4,146,721.19, an increase of $390,558.61 since the first of the year while the First National Bank reported $3,150,175.51, a decrease of $349,995.77 during the same period.

Loans were up at both banks, totaling $2,849,447.59. The First State reported $1,564,636.29 and the First National $1,284,811.30. At the last call, Dec. 31, 1952, the First State had loans of $1,544,593.16 and the First National had $1,273,146.28.

Lebanon's Premier, Cabinet Quit Posts

BEIRUT, LEBANON—(AP)—President Camille Chamoun cast around Wednesday for a new premier following the resignation of Premier Khalid Shehab's four-man Cabinet.

Top contender for the job appeared to be ex-Premier Abdullah el Yaffi. Political sources said Yaffi wants a minister for each of the nation's 12 Cabinet posts while Chamoun favors a seven-man group as a more workable unit.

The president accepted Shehab's resignation Wednesday night but no reasons for the move were announced.

Childress Man Takes Major Role In Army 'Civic' Affairs

By GRACE HALSELL
Special Reporter-Telegram

BERCHTESGADEN, GERMANY—When the Americans around Berchtesgaden need a president for any given organization, just any Tom, Dick and Harry won't do.

It has to be Tom Wheeler.

Maj. Thomas R. Wheeler, that is. He's a native Texan, quite naturally.

And president of more clubs and organizations than a Chamber of Commerce could think of.

The affable Texan, who approaches you as friendly as an insurance salesman—(his old civilian job)—is president of the Berchtesgaden Officers' Club, president of the School Board, president of the Logistical Planning Board, and of the Berchtesgaden Recreational Area Fund.

In addition, he serves as chairman of the influential German-American Advisory Council.

This meets monthly, has Germans and Americans on its rolls, and is organized for the purpose of promoting understanding and goodwill among the two nationalities.

In addition to talking over common problems, the group visits various factories and business establishments.

Americans learn from the Germans—and vice versa.

"A fine means of exchanging ideas," Major Wheeler believes.

The major was born in Childress, and started to school there. He was graduated from Annona High School (near Clarksville), and the East Texas Baptist College, now called College of Marshall.

He is married to the former Mae Margaret Poorter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl K. Poorter of Marshall.

They have three children, Billy, three, Diane, six, and Tommy, nine.

All three children were stricken—in the same night—with polio.

The emotional crisis which the Wheelers experienced can be imagined by any parent.

Stalin's Secretary Vanishes To Hint Purge Inside Kremlin

By LEON DENNEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK—The first purge of the Malenkov government is underway in Russia.

It seems so far to be directed at followers and policies of the late Joseph Stalin.

Latest Stalinist to be reported to have "disappeared" is Alexander N. Pokrebyaev, who was the dictator's personal secretary.

It seems likely that he has been purged, like Serov and D. Ignatiev, the goat in the fantastic "plot of the doctors." Ignatiev, a faithful follower of Stalin, chief of the Ministry of State Security, is charged with concocting false charges against Jewish doctors to inflame "nationalist hostilities."

I wrote immediately following the death of Stalin that we must look to the first purge to give us a clue to the direction Russia would take. Doubtless these are not the last victims of the initial "cleaning" but already certain policy lines are appearing.

1. The followers and policy of Stalin are being treated by the new rulers of Russia with something less than reverence. In fact, there appears almost a pattern to cut Stalin's Father Image down to mortal size.

2. Lavrenti Beria, chief of the secret police, is emerging as a strong man—perhaps the strongest man—in the new setup.

Just in Time

Beria's rise is all the more astonishing when it is realized that he was on the decline when Stalin died. Some close students of Soviet history already are saying that Stalin died just in time to save Beria's skin.

Beria had been marked originally as the goat in the doctors' plot. His police were castigated by Stalin's press for failing to apprehend the doctors who were allegedly plotting to kill Soviet leaders.

Recent events even put a question mark on Stalin's death for some observers. Did Stalin die a natural death or did Beria have a hand in his sudden passing?

Challenge To Beria

Fantastic? Not if you know the history of Red Russia. The late Leon Trotsky once charged that Stalin, in his ruthless climb to power, ac-

Statemanlike Behavior

The golfing spree enjoyed by President Eisenhower and Senator Taft gave news photographers and feature writers a field day. But actually it was a lot more than just a lark.

It was a tangible sign that these two highly important men are trying earnestly to get to know and understand each other at all levels of living. So far they appear to be succeeding.

How well they succeed in the end will have great significance for their own careers, for the Republican Party, and for the United States. Their highest collaborative efforts probably will be required to give the Eisenhower Administration a triumphant record and the GOP future winnings at the polls.

Eisenhower is one of the most popular Presidents ever to occupy the White House. He broke all vote-getting records last November, and very likely could do as well today.

But much of what he must accomplish to merit this confidence can be achieved only through Congress. And there his stoutest possible ally is Taft.

Taft has not only the title but the substance of power in the Senate. His knowledge of the legislative process, his capacity for work, his stature with senators in both parties, his basic integrity, all contribute to this fact.

There is no exaggeration in saying Taft can do more to assist the President than any man on Capitol Hill. Taft as an enemy or obstacle would be a tremendous handicap to Eisenhower. Both men understand this, and seem determined that the opposite shall be the case.

By nature the President is neither overly combative nor vindictive, but on might argue that as the winner in last year's bitter Taft-Eisenhower fight for the nomination he would of course find it easier to extend a friendly hand.

It may have been much harder for Taft, the loser. But he is doing it. More than that, he is serving as the President's right-hand man in the Senate. That is the meaning of the majority leadership. It is not just a platform for personal power, but a part of the whole power structure of any administration.

The growing Eisenhower-Taft relationship is a happy demonstration of statesmanlike behavior on both sides. In pooling their labors, they are striving constructively to set a course that will be sound and good for the nation, and not incidentally—for their own party.

It is an example that might well be followed by some lawmakers of lesser stature and a good deal less than 20-20 vision.

What this country needs is a college that teaches everything that the students think they know.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1953, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)
 Drew Pearson says: Railroad lobbyist at golf club influences Ike against St. Lawrence Seaway; Republican senators getting hostile mail re Tidelands oil; Democrats will campaign against "give-away administration."

WASHINGTON—For years it has been a White House custom to publish the names of presidential callers. This is done on the theory that the American people have a right to know who talks to or tries to influence the most important personage in the nation.

However, the White House has declined to make public the golfing partners of the President—except for an occasional senator such as Taft—on the ground that Ike's golfing partners would be hounded by lobbyists who would try to influence the President through his golfing partners.

Actually, those who golf or visit with the President in Augusta or at the Burning Tree Club in Washington vitally can influence national policy.

For instance, William Faricy, astute, charming president of the Association of American Railroad, visited with Ike at Burning Tree recently. Faricy, one of the ablest and most personable representatives of big business in the capital, is anxious to block construction of the St. Lawrence Seaway because of its competition with the railroads.

Every President of the United States, so far, has been for the St. Lawrence project. So have such top Republicans as Dewey and Taft. However, Burning Tree golfer Faricy apparently performed miracles.

For, after talking with him, Ike told Senator Wiley of Wisconsin that he was opposed to the seaway. Furthermore, he used all the arguments of the railroads against the seaway. Wiley, who used to be counsel for the Milwaukee Railroad when Faricy was counsel for the Northwestern, recognized the argument immediately.

Wiley is a staunch advocate of the project which would connect the Great Lakes with the Atlantic Ocean. Uninfluenced by the President, he proceeded with his St. Lawrence hearings.

Later, the President changed his mind. He did not do so, however, until after the news leaked of his visit with persuasive railroadman Faricy at the Burning Tree Country Club. After the leak Ike reversed himself, lined up with other Presidents of the United States for the seaway.

In other words, it looks as if the traditional policy of making public the names of presidential callers, whether at the White House or on the golf course, was a good one. (Lists of those cruising with Truman on the Williamsburg were published. Ike is substituting the golf because his "First Book of Bridge," written for teenagers in the simplest possible style, has become a national best-seller. To prove his point, Sheinwald produced today's hand, played in a practice match by one of his teenage pupils.

The match was played between a team of adults and a team of teenagers, and in both rooms a contract of six spades was reached. The grown-up declarer managed to go down at the slam contract with great speed.

He won the opening lead with the ace of hearts, cashed the king and ace of clubs, and ruffed a low trump with one of dummy's low trumps. East over-ruffed and took a heart trick, and that was the end of poor South.

In the other room a teenage girl was the declarer. She began in the same way by taking the ace of hearts and cashing the king and ace of clubs. When she led a third club towards dummy, however, she played dummy's deuce of hearts instead of the deuce of spades!

This play gave the enemy a club trick which robbed them of the heart trick which they would otherwise surely win.

When West was allowed to hold the trick with his ten of clubs, he returned a trump. The young miss who was playing the South hand won with the nine of spades, ruffed a heart with one of dummy's low trumps (no fear of an over-ruff on this trick as there would have been if she had ruffed a club), and returned to her hand with the ace of diamonds in order to lead a club and ruff with dummy's king.

By this means the teenage declarer managed to ruff safely twice in dummy—once with a low trump.

Pentagon's Red Tape Is One Bottleneck In Ammo Supply

By PETER EDSON
 NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—If you have been puzzled at all by the stories out of Washington on ammunition shortages in Korea, here is one answer, bound in red tape. It is a highly condensed account of the pilgrim's progress of an order through the Office of the Chief of Ordnance in the Pentagon.

The account is taken from a chart prepared for Assistant Secretary of Defense W. J. McNeil, and shown to Senator Margaret Chase Smith's subcommittee investigating the ammo shortage. It involves, in full, 104 steps through 18 different offices. In some of them it goes through three times.

So if you like travel and don't mind a rough ride, hop on the magic carpet of this piece of paper and see where it takes you:

Office of the Comptroller, Budget Program Branch, receives 18 copies of order. Checks for completeness. Delivers eight copies to Central Requisition Unit. Makes card record. Files two copies. Prepares periodic reports on type of purchase requests received.

The Fiscal Management Division gets six copies. It assigns fiscal register numbers to all copies and enters them in the control register. It audits the disposition form and prepares an indorsement to same, indicating reimbursements required. One copy is posted and the others are delivered to the Production Service Branch.

You are now in Field Service Division, General Supply Branch, Central Requisition Unit. It receives the papers from the Budget Program Branch, logs in, prepares action folder (now we're going some place), routes to appropriate unit, delivers to appropriate unit, files copy of routing slip for follow-up and after action is completed, files copies of all documents.

The Distribution Section then gets it, logs it in, screens against availability in stock, prepares form recommending procurement (at last!), logs out, prepares a control card, files copies and delivers to the Requirements Branch.

RB determines if this stuff is to be supplied from stock or by new procurement. (Hey, didn't they do that before?) Anyway, it prepares disposition form and delivers to Fiscal Management Branch, with a copy to the Ammunition Branch.

Next it goes to Central Planning and the other time with a high trump. This was all that was needed for the contract.

Declarer could now ruff a diamond to enter her hand, draw the rest of the trumps, and cash the last club.

CARD SENSE

Q—The bidding has been:
 North East South West
 1 Spade Pass 3 Dmds Pass
 2 Spades Pass ?
 You, South, hold: Spades J-4-3, Hearts Q-T-9, Diamonds A-Q-J-7-5, Club 7. What do you do?
 A—Bid three spades. You have excellent trump support for a suit that has been rebid. With your count of 10 points in high cards and two points for the singleton you can well afford to extend this delayed raise.

But now released, some copies go to Platinny Arsenal for the Information of Research and Development men. Some copies go back to the Office of the Chief of Ordnance, and some (believe it or not) go to the Ordnance Ammunition Center at Joliet, Ill.

All that has to do is make the ammunition.

BOOKS FOR THE BARON

by Anthony Morton BARON
 COPYRIGHT 1952 BY JOHN CREASEY - DISTRIBUTED BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

It was as if a cloak had been thrown over Manning and had been snatched away—leaving a different man in his place, not Manning, much more like the Baron of old.

He had brought a box of greas-paints and theatrical make-up with him, accessories on which Bristow always frowned; and while Lorna had been getting ready for bed, he worked on his face, slipping this rubber mask over his mouth because the rubber looked yellow and dirty. He put rubber cheek pads in his mouth, held by suction against the inside of the cheeks and making his face look plumper. With them in, his voice sounded different—he had to speak slowly, as if he had a plum in his mouth.

When the Baron had been born, Manning had undergone an intensive course of elocution, so that he could change not only the sound, but the timber of his voice. He was out of practice; but no one would have recognized him as Manning when he was speaking.

Greas-paint, deftly applied, darkened his skin and made him look older. He dyed his hair and his eyebrows and eyelashes with a dye which would wash out easily.

Manning had both an automatic and spare ammunition; and much more. A remarkable knife, the blades of which were more like a set of tools, and with which he could break open almost any door or window. A pair of dark, cotton gloves; some cord; a blue scarf, with holes cut in it for the mouth and nose, and which could be tied round his face so that he wouldn't be seen even with his disguise—which would serve only if he were forced to take off the scarf. He had a small Jimmy, too—a cold-chisel bent at one end.

He swung himself on to a lower branch, hoisted himself into the tree, then stood in the fork, exactly aware of the noise of the rustling leaves. Old, moustache-scented came back. A nervous excitement which made his forehead and the back of his neck cold; the palms of his hands were clammy. That phase would soon pass.

But the excitement would remain, with a tension which he knew so well. It was as if some power, always in him, took possession of his mind and body, giving him a sixth sense and a supreme confidence.

He stretched up to the branch above him; it gave more freely than the first, groaning and creaking when all his weight was on it. But it held. Soon he was standing on a level with the window, holding on to the branch higher still, he edged further along. The branch swayed gently up and down, making foothold precarious. He broke off small twigs which clutched at his face, then stood, with the foliage parted, staring at the window. A sitting, where there had once been shutters, jutted out three inches from the grey wall.

Room Dividers Serve Double; Shelves Help Separate Areas

Functional and decorative addition to modern interiors is the room divider which separates living and dining areas and has storage space on both sides of the base. This two-piece divider of birch, finished in a wheat glaze, has a shelf that slides out on either side. Open shelf section on top is not joined to base.

Latest addition to the growing list of double-purpose furniture is the two-faced divider of cabinets and shelves which can serve two rooms at a time.

They're wonderful for the new ranch type houses with open "living areas" instead of wall-enclosed rooms.

The divider doubles as storage unit and as screen between guests in the living area and a dish-laden table in the dining area.

Help Older Homes
They can fit usefully into older homes. For example, in one 23-year-old home the front door opens directly into one end of the living room. A divider placed at this end partially screens the entrance to create the illusion, at least, of a foyer without cutting down the size of the living room.

Another spot where a room divider makes use of wasted space in the older home is the wide square or arched opening between living and dining rooms.

Because a divider must be finished on all sides and involves extra cabinet work, it costs more than comparable chests or cabinets which can be pushed against a wall to hide a roughly finished back. On the other hand, some come in two sections—a cabinet base with an open shelf top so one can split the purchase to fit a budget.

What It Costs
To give you an idea, one new modern divider in solid birch has a five-foot-long base with book shelves flanked by two closed compartments on each side which sell for about $160. The separate open shelf top costs about $70. A sliding shelf gives extra serving space in the dining area or desk space in the living area.

Another modern silvery elm divider wraps all its advantages up in one piece for about $300. This one has open and closed shelf space which can be reached from either side, a drop front desk on one side, a plastic-topped hinged serving shelf on the other.

Thanks to a realistic designer, the shelves are roomy enough to take a stack of Sunday papers and thus help free the room of customary clutter.

Much Storage Space
You can go on up in price to $500 or beyond if your budget can stand the rarified atmosphere.

If modern furniture does not suit you, what about early American? A new colonial maple divider has traditional hardware, simulated wood pegs and simple sturdy lines. Six cupboards alternate with open shelves on top and the base boasts drawers, cupboards and shelves which give a lot of storage space in one unit.

The warmth of natural oak plus the decorative effect of drawers faced in striped British oak makes a divider six feet long that's able to blend with traditional or modern. All you need is money in the bank and plenty of floor space.

BETTER SMILE IF YOU SAY IT

NEW DELHI —(AP)— In India, where monkeys are holy, it is now officially permissible for one member of parliament to call another a simian.
Parliament speaker M. A. Ayangar said he had no objection after an exchange following a clash between Prime Minister Nehru and Communist deputies.

and I suppose the children had been exposed before they left the states," the major related.

Constant Treatment
The parents learned with some relief that two of the children would not have any paralysis, although Diana's right arm was affected. She still must undergo constant treatment.

They take her to Munich for treatment about every two weeks, and to Stuttgart every second or third month.

Before coming overseas, Major Wheeler was general manager for the International Fidelity Insurance Company's Far Eastern Area. The company's headquarters is in the Fidelity Building, Dallas. In Berchtesgaden, in addition to his role of president of most every organization, the major serves as executive officer to Commanding Officer Lawrence Sommers—another Texan.

There's only about a dozen officers in the Berchtesgaden area—yet the top three, Lieutenant Colonel Sommers, Major Wheeler and Major Robert Locke, all are Texans.

GERMAN MUSIC—In Munich, I stepped inside a music store to buy some "typical" German records to send back to Texas.

This is what the music store was recommending for the week:

"T-Bone For Two."
"Can't Help Lovin' Dat Man."
"Tennessee Ernie's Blackberry Boogie."

"Too Old to Cut the Mustard."
"Botch-A-Me."

'COME ON, KEEED, DANCE ME!'

Oriental Taxi Dancers Hide Many Sen In Honorable Bank

HONG KONG —(AP)— No young man of any nationality has any excuse for being lonely any night in almost any city in Southeast Asia.

All the big towns in this area seem to have one thing in common: huge dance pavilions. And all the dance pavilions seem to have lots of good things in common; such as modern music and friendly females.

After observing, with habitual restraint and dignity, the night life in Manila, Singapore, Rangoon, Bangkok, Jakarta, Saigon, Hanoi and Hong Kong, researchers give this account of their findings:

Small And Pretty
There is little to choose between the dance halls of the several points visited. But there is much to choose from in each of them. Take, for instance, the taxi girls.

They're almost all uniformly tiny. They're almost uniformly pretty and their shapes vary but little. They almost all cost the same to dance with. And few of them have much to say—except the Chinese. They are the best dancers, the fastest talkers and the dearest listeners. And they're the most aggressive.

A fellow can be sitting by himself, thinking politics perhaps, minding his own business. Then along comes Ting Ling Lu, sits down, calls the waiter, orders the most expensive drink in the house, grabs the poor boy's hand and smiles invitingly:

"Come on, keed, dance me!"

He who hesitates is lost. The Chinese taxi girls learned this one a long time ago and, if their prey shows any sign of balking, he's on the dance floor in a split second. Three minutes later, he's digging in his pocket for local equivalent of a dime.

'Good Night, Now'
But the other Southeast Asian girls are not exactly slow pokes.

They learn fast. One Vietnamese girl reportedly started off like this the other night; in French:

"I have much thirst. I have much hunger. I like you. Dance me!"

Two hours and about $15 later, she paid little farewell tribute to her crestfallen partner: "I like you. I eat well. I drink well. I tired now. Good night now."

Some of the area's taxi girls are, naturally, a little on the rough side. But most are well groomed, soft spoken, outwardly coy, and as morally correct as their little chum who works behind a counter or in a bank. A successful taxi girl can earn as much as $75 U. S. a week. Out here, that's good money.

Legless Bootblack Keeps 30-Year Job

MEXICO CITY —(AP)— There are a lot of new faces around the national palace since President Ruiz Cortines took office. But one familiar one is still there, Jenaro Corona Morales, the presidential bootblack.

His legs were amputated at the hips after a childhood accident. President Alvaro Obregon had him brought to the palace some 30 years ago as his personal shoe shiner. He has been there ever since, adding luster to the boots of seven presidents, their aides and visitors. He is 47.

If you read enough sportmen's contest entry blanks, you'll find suddenly that the average angler isn't too red hot on the business of identification.

At a result, a surprising number of smallmouth bass turn out to be largemouths, walleyed pike and confused with northern pike, but the big migraine is the "world's record" channel bass that always turns out to be a black drum. Aside from the fact that the black drum is a real heavyweight and a dead ringer for his cousin, the channel bass, blacks are musicians.

Most folks suppose that fish are universally silent, which isn't true at all, and in this case the fish can be heard above the water.

The drums have hand-like muscles which they vibrate against their air bladders, producing a plaintive sound that has probably been the origin of many Gulf Coast Indian legends concerning supernatural music.

Nobody knows why the fish "drum" but it's supposed that they are calling the opposite sex, or else just expressing their contentment. If these big clam eaters would get off the hook, our contest judges would be mightily pleased.

Tennessee game and fish commission recently released its major 1953 fishing regulations. They were all on one sheet—and the blank spaces were conspicuous. Tennessee is one of the several states which have simplified their laws to a point where the tourist-angler can digest them in short order. Most anglers will welcome this trend toward having only those regulations for which there is a demonstrated need.

Minnesota announces that its creel and possession limit on trout will be reduced from 15 to 10. This is based on the fact that a large percentage of trout fishing success is dependent on the stocking of yearling trout.

A number of states are gradually reducing the trout limit. There is an excellent reason for doing so. Single limit catch of hatchery-reared trout costs more than the departments receive for an annual fishing license. In a number of states the trout fishing has been maintained partly by using funds received from licenses issued to warm-water fishermen. Reductions in the creel limit of trout are necessary because of the high cost of maintaining this sport.

Daddy Ringtail

Daddy Ringtail And One Day Gone

Daddy Ringtail, your monkey friend, had worked all day at Old MacDonald's farm. He had worked to plant the corn in the ground where it would grow.

Now Old MacDonald was cooking the supper in the kitchen, while Daddy Ringtail was sitting on the steps of the porch, looking across the field that was smooth and black with dirt. Nothing green was on the field, because the corn was planted beneath where it would grow.

"Daddy Ringtail," said Mugwump Monkey, the monkey boy.

"I hear you, Mugwump," said Daddy Ringtail. Mugwump asked why Daddy Ringtail was so very happy with all the work he had done that day. It had been hard, hard work, Archibald. Then the corn is planted beneath, and grow some more until Summer when it will be ready to eat."

"Daddy Ringtail," said Mugwump, "the corn hasn't done any growing yet, and so why be so happy about it?"

Daddy Ringtail explained that corn takes time to grow. People have to wait. "The first that we shall see," Daddy Ringtail explained.

Traffic Offenders Face 'Tough' Class

MERCED, CALIF.—(P)—School-age traffic violators face a terrifying penalty during the football season this Fall.

Superior Judge Gregory P. Maushart suggested a weekly two-hour class for traffic violators to reduce the growing number of traffic violations by teenagers.

The class would be held on the same nights as high school football games.

Super-Dandy Sports Cars Are Equipped With Unique Gadgets, Chrome Price Tags

By RICHARD KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK—You can get a sports car for $1,455. You can also get one for $17,450, which is a different kind of sport entirely.

On display at the International Motor Sports Show here were both, and quite a few in between. The $1,455 job was a little open Morris Minor. The $17,450 mechanical masterpiece was a big black Rolls-Royce, with rugs on the floor and a radio on either side in the rear seat.

Only One Radio

If you like the idea of a Rolls-Royce, but $17,450 is a little steep for you, there was on display the Rolls-Royce Silver Dawn. It cost only $11,225. No rugs. Only one radio. Quite a buy, if you have $11,225—or you might prefer four Buicks.

The sports car fanatics, a new breed, were going from one model to the next, entranced with the latest designs in these mechanized peanut shells. Some of the designs that caught their fancy were these:

Hoods Strapped On

A car called a Porsche, which looked like its hood was buckled down with leather straps. Only it turned out to have the motor in the rear, so it was the baggage compartment up front that had leather straps.

A long, low, sleek Ferrari in fire engine red, carried the low trend to the extreme. Not only can you look over it, but if you're not careful you can trip over it, too.

Lowest priced sports car displayed at International Motor Sports Show was this $1,455 item. Real addicts were intrigued by more expensive (and harder to get into and out of) cars.

An Alfa-Romeo, billed as a "Flying Saucer" model, with some justice. The model is almost flat. A gentleman tried to get in the thing, and finally, through some historic contortions made it. He needed help to get out again.

A Bristol featured colors that made a rainbow look like an old piece of adhesive tape. It was vivid pink, with contrasting bright blue interior and wheels. And there was the custom-built Peugeot El Dominicano, a bright yellow job with green interior and red-wall tires. It had a plexiglass baggage area, fine for people who like to show off their baggage.

Unexplained Bulge

There was a vehicle called the OSCA, with an unexplained bulge in the front. This extended about a foot out from the engine, and was enclosed by a fancy grille. A lady said she thought it would be a good place to dry laundry.

There was one car that had its instrument panel in the center of the dashboard, with empty spaces on either side. Not even a glove compartment. The theory, apparently, is that after you've bought the car, you can't afford gloves.

Passenger Helms

There was a car called a Morgan, which carried somewhat ominously, two spare tires. One car had the instruments scattered all across the dash, with the oil pressure gauge way over on the passenger's side. You'd have to ask your passenger for the latest oil pressure.

Accesories are big things for the sports who run sports cars. You can get all kinds of side curtains and tire covers, including some dashing plaid ones. You can get rear-view mirrors to set on your fenders and luggage racks to set on your roofs. You can dress up your motor with aluminum valve covers. If you want, you can order Union Jack decals, at 50 cents a pair.

You can have your tires with sidewalls of yellow, red, green or blue. If you have short arms, you get a chrome gear shift extension. You can get gauges that measure everything, even one that records the total accumulated engine revolutions, a handy thing to know.

★ DR. JORDAN SAYS ★

Leg Pains Are Often Result Of Foot Or Circulation Ills

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

A common cause of pain in the legs is the result of foot trouble, particularly flat feet. When the arches have collapsed and are flat, new strains appear. These strains are sometimes felt in the feet, but sometimes also they act on the muscles or joints of the legs and cause pain in these areas more than in the feet themselves.

Incidentally, flat feet can cause backache, fatigue and several other things which too often go unrecognized.

Pain of such origin should, of course, be treated by correcting the foot trouble. This involves more than wearing a pad or support. Instruction in standing and walking is important; special exercises, contrast foot baths and other measures usually are needed in addition to proper shoeing.

Another type of pain in the legs is one which comes on in the calf muscles after walking a few blocks rapidly or climbing stairs. This condition goes under the name of intermittent claudication. It is caused by insufficient supply of blood to the muscles because of hardening of the arteries in the legs.

During rest the circulation is adequate, but exercise increases the need for blood. This condition always requires the advice of a doctor, because it may be a sign of hardening of the arteries elsewhere as well. A person with this kind of pain should avoid taking so much exercise that it brings on the pain.

A lot of people complain of pains in the legs which occur at night only and which may even wake them up from a sound sleep. This is a rather puzzling condition but it probably is connected somehow with the circulation of the blood in the legs.

Other Possible Causes

People with this symptom often say that if they get up and walk around for a short time the pain or cramp will disappear. In others walking around does not relieve the pain and other measures have to be tried.

Neuritis or sciatica also can cause leg pains. Other diseases of the circulation, such as Burger's disease, are possibilities. Tumors of a bone or joint, arthritis and some other rare conditions have to be considered in people who have leg pains, the cause of which cannot be readily identified.

Wind Damage Tally Reaches Vast Acreage In Two States

The Soil Conservation Service, reviewing the blow season which should be nearing an end, Wednesday summed up wind damage to date from the winter blowing in the western area of Texas and Oklahoma this way:

Acres of severe wind erosion damage—118,800.

Acres of moderate damage—1,428,200.

The damage to land was held to light in view of the extremely dry weather that has prevailed in the area. Areas of severe damage were mainly to the south and west of Lubbock and in the Big Spring area in Texas, and in the Woodward and Clinton areas of Oklahoma.

Wind erosion in the Midland portion of the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District has been moderate on an estimated 8,000 acres, according to reports of Ben O. Osborn, work unit conservationist, which were included in the regional summary. Only 500 acres has been included by Osborn in the severe classification.

Regional Director Louis P. Merrill of SCS said high winds still can whip exposed soil throughout the acreages of insufficient protection, these acreages, although growth of new crops is fast reducing them, still total well over 6,000,000 acres in the two states.

Continuing Problem

The regional SCS head expressed the hope that farmers in the areas in which wind erosion is a continuing problem will plant more grain sorghum and other wind-resisting crops this year.

"We have seen far less damage to lands to date than we could justifiably expect in view of the extremely dry soil conditions," Merrill said. "Credit for saving many fields from damage must be given to the proper management of crop residues as well as to other good conservation practices."

The most pessimistic report on April blowing today came from SCS Area Conservationist Homer A. Taft at Lubbock who reported a 10,000-acre increase in land undergoing moderate wind damage.

Dryland Failures

"Soil movement has begun on a very large acreage," Taft reported to Merrill. "Dryland wheat is still effective in controlling blowing but has poor prospect of making grain yields. Legume crops under irrigation are good, but dryland legume plantings are a failure."

Taft said 278,000 acres in his 12-county area have been damaged to a moderate extent by blowing. A total of 26,000 acres have received severe damage, with removals of from two inches to plow depth or hummocks of six-inch depth or more.

At Perryton, Area Conservationist M. A. Kelly reported a sharp increase in wind erosion damage, with 6,200 acres in the severely damaged class. Kelly said winter grain is suffering from lack of moisture and will not mature unless rain falls within a few days. However, he added that the worst of the blow

Kelly predicts large plantings of grain sorghums in the Texas Panhandle section.

Emergency Tillage

In the Amarillo area emergency tillage greatly reduced winter wind damage, area Conservationist George Taylor said. Grain crops have made progress but moisture lack is hurting both grain and range now.

In Northwestern Oklahoma wheat growth is at a critical point, Area Conservationist A. T. Elder at Woodward reported. However, in the eastern portion of his area conditions are less severe. Elder reported a 10,000-acre gain in moderate wind damage in April blowing.

April winds have caused more damage on sand soils in the Big Spring area than in any previous month, Area Conservationist W. S. Goodlett, Jr. said. Listed lands in the sand areas are no longer holding. Goodlett said the most severe damage in his area is near Brownfield.

A teak tree must grow for almost 100 years before it is between six and seven feet through at breast height, often considered the best size for harvesting.

MAKE WAY FOR THE WADDLERS—Motorists come second at this spot on Trinity Park road in Fort Worth, Tex., where this sign guarantees the right-of-way for ducks. Park authorities noticed the ducks were having a hard time crossing the road in search of food, hence the sign.

This Wife Deserved And Got Recognition For Devotion

On his fifty-fifth wedding anniversary Henry Hensel of Saddle River, N. J., telephoned the Passaic Herald-News to put this classified ad in the paper:

"To my sweetheart, Sophie Hensel: I wish to thank you publicly for your love and devotion and for 55 years of wedded happiness made possible by your unmatched qualities as a wife, mother, mother-in-law, grandmother and great-grandmother.

"We all revere you. Your husband, Henry Hensel." Seventy-five-year-old Mr. Hensel got his "ad" in the paper, all right.

It landed on page one free of charge.

No wonder the editor thought it was front page news. We have testimonial dinners for the man who retires from public life. We have banquets to honor the man who is retiring from his job after years of faithful service.

Quiet Service Unnoticed

But there is no public fuss made over a woman who has spent long years as a devoted wife and mother and, as her grand-children and great-grandchildren come along, retires to the sidelines to let the younger women of the family take over the reins.

Perhaps, Mr. Hensel felt the injustice of that when he looked back over 55 years of married life and thought what a wonderful job his bride of long ago had done as wife, mother, mother-in-law, grandmother and great-grandmother. It must have occurred to him that more was due such a woman than his own private words of appreciation.

And so Mr. Hensel wrote his "ad" and telephoned it in to a newspaper. It must have made his wife of 55 years deeply happy. But that is only part of the story. It was, in a way, a tribute to all women who have devoted their lives to their husbands and families.

Because he saw that a wife and mother should have some recognition for a job well done, Mr. Hensel has made the rest of us see, too.

Air Freight Volume Expected To Increase

BURBANK, CALIF.—(AP)—A survey conducted by the Lockheed Aircraft Corporation to evaluate the potential size of the air cargo market indicated the current volume of air freight within the United States will be doubled by 1954 and increased five times by 1960.

This traffic may grow to about 1,500 million ton-miles per year by 1960, the survey indicated.

Murder in Italy has decreased sharply in recent years to about an average of three a day.

PROWLER UNCOVERS ANCIENT GOVERNMENT SURVEY OF MIDLAND COUNTY

Delbert Downing of the Chamber of Commerce reports a prospector in his office unearthed an old "Soil Survey of Midland County, 1928." We admit that we just love to know, and Delbert is a swell assistant. This is the usual government work, exhaustive and exhausting. It has 32 pages, a big map in 17 colors, and can be had from Washington for some fee, probably less than the postage. We are still paying taxes on this, so some quotes should be permitted.

It says there are 23 types of soil here, and they write at length on irrigation, alkali, crops, etc. These Federal boys really spent a lot of time on this job. The most significant statement that these early Brain Trusters made occurs on page 28, "The decrease in productivity is due to the depletion of plant food." Folks, the sales pitch was a long time coming, but here it is—Poor soil 1928, poorer now. You ought to start using that grand Turf Special this instant before your land gets any worse. Taint every part of the country that is so sorry that it has an organic fertilizer made just for it! Can't you just hear your grass yearning for a good square meal of Turf Special?
