Green, Oceanic Gel Flowing Reef Oil In SW Borden Wildcat

Charles C. Green, Jr. and Oceanic Oil Company, both of Midland, found flowing oil at their No. 1 Sue Alice Slaughter, Southwest Borden County wildcat.

The flow came in the top of the Pennsylvanian reef lime. Casing is to be run and the pay which has been cut will be tested and an effort will be made to complete the project as a commercial producer and as the opener of a new field.

It is one mile north and one mile west of the nearest production from the Pennsylvanian lime reef in the West Vealmore field.

Reef Top Corrected

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 24, block 33, T-3-N, R-2P survey. It is 18 miles southwest of Gall.

Corrected top of the Pennsylvanian reef lime is at 8,336 feet and not at 8,348 feet as previously reported. Elevation is 2,633 feet.

The Green and Oceanic No. 1 Slaughter took a 48-minute drill-stem test at 8,307-73 feet. Gas surfaced in three minutes and mud came to the top in 32 minutes. Oil started flowing at the surface in 34 minutes.

It was flowed to pits for 14 minutes. There was no gauge or estimate on either the gas volume or on the oil flow. A five-eighth inch bottom hole choke and a one inch top opening were used on the drill pipe for the test.

Unloaded Oil

After the tool was closed operators pulled 10 stands of drill pipe and the well then unloaded oil for one and one-half hours.

There was no estimate of the amount of oil which was kicked out. At the end of the one and one-half hours of unloading the well was shuttin on account of darkness.

The next morning the remainder of the drill pipe was pulled. Final recovery was 300 feet of oil and 300 feet of gas and cut drilling mud. The bottom 60 feet of that 1,400 feet of fluid was salty, oil cut mud. There were no appreciable shows of water in that 60 feet of fluid.

Te Run Casing

Open flowing bottom hole pressure after one hour and 30 minutes was 3,390 pounds.

Operators are now preparing to set 5 1/2-inch casing, make tests and try to complete the wildcat as a commercial producer and the opener of a new reef lime oil field.

Howard, Andrews Regions Are To Get Shallow Wildcats

Locations for shallow wildcats have been staked in Howard and Andrews Counties.

Fason & Lee Company, Inc., of Waco No. 1-Lilly Pratt Brown is to be the Howard County prospector. It is eight miles west of Big Spring and 330 feet from north and west lines of section 22, block 24, T-1-N, R-2P survey.

It is projected to 3,300 feet and will start drilling at once.

Central Andrews

Sun Oil Company No. 1 Maggie Shepard-State is to be three and one-half miles west of the town of Andrews in Central Andrews County. It is projected to 4,900 feet and is to begin operations at once.

The drilite is 330 feet from south and west lines of section 3, block A-46, well survey.

Heavy Flow Of Gas Developed On Sand DST In Lea Wildcat

Gas flow at the rate of 13,000.000 cubic feet daily has been developed at Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1-AC State, wildcat in West-Central Lea County, New Mexico.

The prospector was drilled in a sand section from 11,978 to 12,018 feet. Gas surfaced in four minutes and water blanket in nine minutes. After 13 minutes the surface connections started leaking.

The tool was closed and the connections tightened.

The tool was reopened and packer failed in two minutes.

The tester was open a total of 15 minutes.

Reports on recovery were not made.

Raging Sabine River Spreads Over Lowlands

By The Associated Press

Sabine River floodwaters cut the roads to three South-east Texas communities Monday.

Workmen fought to save an interstate railroad bridge from rising water and driftwood, and the City of Orange took flood precautions.

Heavy rains fell throughout Southeast Texas, taking the Weather Bureau by surprise. Rain also was reported in the lower Rio Grande Valley, and light rains extended to Dallas and Fort Worth in North Texas.

The isolated communities, all north of Orange, were Indian Lake, West Bluff and Rulif. Almost 50 families in the three settlements were isolated and being supplied by boat.

Near Houston, six inches of rain-water covered U. S. Highway 90 in the Berkshire area but failed to stop traffic.

Access Road Flooded

Dorothy Barrow, who makes Indian Lake's reports to the Weather Bureau, said the one road out of the settlement was under water. Boats were taking supplies to about half a dozen families in the community 15 miles north of Orange.

At the isolated community of Rulif in Southern Newton County, a crew of 15 men was working to save the Kansas City Southern railway bridge on the Sabine from being pushed off its foundation by driftwood and water. Section Foreman I. J. Hennigan said the workmen were "holding their own."

Hennigan's son, James, said he waded in water neck deep to bring word of the flood to Deweyville. The river had closed off Highway 87 between Deweyville and Orange. About 30 families were stranded at Rulif.

Orange County Commissioner Casey J. Peveto said about a dozen families were stranded at West Bluff, six miles north of Orange, by the flood.

New Flood Crest Feared

Orange, an industrial city of about 22,000, is protected by levees against eight and a half feet of water.

Travelers reaching Orange Monday from the upper reaches of the Sabine said the river was "two to three miles wide" between Mineola and Lindale, indicating a new flood crest was building up.

Showers Forecast In Midland Area

Light rain showers Monday afternoon were forecast by observers at the Midland Air Terminal who said blowing sands would reduce the afternoon's visibility to five miles.

Clouds hung over Central and South Texas Monday, scattering light showers from the Dallas-Fort Worth area southward to the lower Texas coast.

Intermittent rain was reported in a dozen cities.

Midland still felt the cool front which moved in Saturday night and 25 miles an hour Sunday. Temperatures hung around 55 degrees at noon Monday.

Gusty winds are expected to fade Monday night with some promise of no return Tuesday.

CHAMPION AND HIS TROPHIES—A sharp putter gave Bob Wortman, left, the crown in the first annual Reporter-Telegram City Championship Golf Tournament at Ranchland Hill Country Club. He downed Pearl Ward, 2-up, in Sunday's finals. John B. Mills, Ranchland president, holds the large trophy which becomes a permanent possession only after winning three titles in the newspaper-sponsored meet. Wortman admires the award he will keep as this year's champion.

SHERIFF SHIVERS IN UNDIES—

Burglar-Kidnaper Captured After Weird Highway Chase

CLEBURNE—(P)—A burglar who kidnaped Bosque County Sheriff Clark Royal and two other men early Monday, stole two cars and exchanged clothes with the sheriff, was captured between Iredell and Walnut Springs several hours later.

The sheriff's car was recovered. Identity of the burglar-kidnaper was not known immediately.

It was believed the kidnaper recently escaped from prison.

Authorities here gave this account: The Conoco Agency at Cleburne was robbed of a typewriter, other articles and $7 by one or more men who fled in a gasoline truck. Manager H. L. Cain said.

At 4 a. m. the truck stopped at Walnut Springs, where Night Watchman W. A. Moss, 65, and a friend, Clarence Vassha, were seated in Moss' car. They were pistol-whipped and the car stolen. The gasoline truck was abandoned.

Moss and Vaughn walked to a doctor's office and phoned Sheriff Royal at Meridian, 20 miles away. He arrived at the scene at 4:30 and said the men needed hospitalization.

After Royal started to drive them to a hospital Moss remembered his glasses had fallen at the spot where he was beaten. They returned to look for them and while searching for them were surprised by a lone gunman, who forced them all into Royal's car.

At Harmony, a community five miles south of Walnut Springs, the two injured men were forced out of the car. An unidentified motorist later took them to the Meridian Hospital, where their condition was reported painful but not serious.

The kidnaper forced the sheriff out of the car at Spring Creek and compelled him to disrobe, donning the sheriff's garments one by one in place of his own.

He then drove away, leaving Royal standing in his underwear in the rain. The sheriff went to a nearby farmhouse and phoned for deputies, who returned him to Meridian.

At last reports Moss' car still had not been located. It was surmised the Moss car was hidden carefully or driven by a confederate.

The single robber seen was described as being about 35, very tall and pale—which led to speculation he was an escaped prisoner. This was supported by his change of clothes with the sheriff. The discarded garments were being checked.

Cool Weather Fails To Deter Shoppers

The weather was cool and blustery and sand was in the air—but still the shoppers from Midland and area cities were out in large numbers Monday for Midland's May Dollar Day.

Most stores were crowded with customers and it appeared Monday's Dollar Day would be one of the best of the year.

The Dollar Day values were most attractive and the shoppers and the merchants alike seemed to be in excellent spirits.

It was Dollar Day—another successful Dollar Day—in Midland.

Water Consumption Soars To '53 High

Plagued by high winds and sand most of the week, Midlanders turned on their water faucets at a record-breaking pace Saturday.

Henry E. Nunn, city sewer and water engineer, reported Monday that Midland used 8,670,000 gallons of water Saturday, a record consumption figure for 1953.

On Sunday, the use fell off to 4,890,000 gallons but was expected to continue soaring this week.

Meanwhile, work is being rushed on the construction of a 30-inch water supply line connecting the city with McMillen Field. Nunn reported that one mile of the eight-mile string of pipe already has been laid and much of the remainder already has been strung on the ground.

The new water supply project is scheduled for completion by June 1.

PLOT TO KILL NEHRU FOILED

BOMBAY, INDIA—(P)—An attempt to assassinate Prime Minister Nehru by putting a live bomb on the railway track over which he was traveling was foiled Monday.

The bomb was placed on the track at Kalyan railroad hub, 35 miles from Bombay, a few minutes before the Amritsar Express, carrying Nehru from Jaipur, thundered along the section to Bombay.

Enthusiasm set the pace Monday as Midland real estate and loan company representatives contacted during the morning almost shouted their okay of the move that will raise the interest rate on GI and FHA home loans to four and one-half per cent.

"We're 100 per cent, 1,000 per cent and 1,000,000 per cent for it!" R. C. Maxson, head of the real estate department of Key, Wilson & Maxson, said Monday. "It's the best thing that's happened to the GI. For the first time, the GI can get a good honest dollar for his money. It'll open the market so he can build what he wants and not have to live in a cracker box."

Before this new move, Maxson explained, real estate and loan men had to "hunt" for investment companies to take the GI and FHA loans. Low interest rates (four per cent for GI and four and one-fourth per cent for FHA) have stood as a stumbling block between the GI and ample loans, he said. Now investment companies will take a GI's loan because they'll realize something out of it.

Barney Grafe called the increase a "shot in the arm" for GI and civilian alike. "It was a must in my estimation," he said. "It's one of the best things they've done to encourage people to buy and finance homes. I definitely think it'll mean an increase in the number of homes bought under the GI and FHA systems."

"People have had the misconception that the Veterans Administration loaned the money," Harlan Howell explained. "That isn't so. Big investment companies—such as insurance companies—foot the bill on loans, but until now have shied away because of the low interest rates. This will bring them back."

All believed the boost in interest rates would pave the way for 1953 to become the second biggest residential home building year in history.

The rate hikes do not apply to mortgages already in effect. They permit the lenders to charge the higher rates on new homes, effective immediately for FHA loans and Wednesday for VA.

Allies Warn Red Truce Team Time Is 'Fast Running Out'

PANMUNJOM—(P)—The Allies nominated Pakistan Monday as a neutral caretaker for war prisoners who won't go home, and warned the 46,000 Red prisoners who won't go home.

Although Pakistan was one of the Asian nations listed by the Reds as acceptable neutrals, the Communists sat mum.

Without even mentioning the Allied choice, the Reds asked and received a recess until 11 a. m. Tuesday, possibly to consult higher Red officials.

Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison, Jr., chief UN delegate, nominated Pakistan at the beginning of the meeting and then told the Reds: "We are obliged to tell you once again that we will not engage in protracted and fruitless discussion during the current negotiations."

NEHRU HINTS INDIA WILLING

BOMBAY, INDIA—(P)—Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru said Monday India would "consider" a request that she take custody of Korean prisoners refusing to go home "when it comes before us."

India is one of four Asian nations the Red negotiators at Panmunjom have said would be acceptable as a neutral caretaker for POW's not wanting repatriation. The others are Pakistan, Burma and Indonesia.

Sessions Held Behind Closed Capital Doors

WASHINGTON—(P)—Governors of the states and territories conferred with President Eisenhower and other federal officials Monday in what the President termed consultations "on the overriding question of the peace and security of our country."

The first session, bringing together the executives of 45 states and five territories, was behind closed doors at the State Department but the White House made public a partial transcript of Eisenhower's opening remarks. It said:

"As chief executives of the state and of the nation, you and I have a tremendous responsibility for the security and welfare of our people. It is fitting, it seems to me, that we should consult on the overriding question of the peace and security of our country."

"The conduct of foreign affairs and the business of war and peace are under our Constitution the responsibility of the federal government. But in times like ours the danger to our country involves the civilian populations in the cities and towns and on the farms of our states. The responsibility of all local governments is immense. 'All Wisdom Not in Capitol'

"Quite beyond the matter of responsibility is the matter of counsel and judgment. All political wisdom does not reside in the White House, nor in the executive branch, nor in Washington itself. It comes from the minds and hearts of sincere and devoted men, wherever their field of action—whether in federal, state and local government or in private life."

"The purpose of these sessions is to share with you some of the information we have and some of the plans we are making in the area of national security. "It is our firm belief that in (Continued On Page Ten)

Dallas Blast Fatal To One, Injures Five

DALLAS—(P)—Exploding dynamite shattered a concrete warehouse Monday, causing one death and five injuries.

Alfred E. Lynch, 39, was blown from the building and then run over by a gasoline truck whose driver was speeding past the erupting warehouse. Lynch was killed.

Two of the injured were small children—Roger Neal, four, and Michael Neal, one, sons of Mrs. Virginia Neal, who lives in the same block as the warehouse. The boys were treated for cuts and shock.

Also hurt were Byron Griffith, 40, volunteer fireman from nearby Farmers Branch, knee injury; Marie Marrese, 33, of Dallas, hip injured, and E. C. Browner, 27, Dallas fireman, chest injuries and burns.

The concrete block building, owned by a construction company, was filled with dynamite and truck tires. It is on the Dallas-Denton highway and near the north city limits of Dallas.

Residents said they heard a rumble sustained for several moments and then a loud, clinking blast. Explosions continued as fire ate into stores of dynamite in the building.

House Votes Repeal Of Cross-Filing Law

AUSTIN—(P)—The House Monday voted 81-57 to repeal cross-filing provisions of Texas election laws.

Backers of the repeal said there was no reason why Republicans should stand on their own two feet and run their own candidates for office.

Cross-filing, used for the first time in Texas last Summer, enabled Republicans to nominate Democrats.

"You can't be a blonde and a brunette at the same time; sometimes you try and get a very odd color in the process," said Rep. Hulon Brown, Midland.

Only Two Absentees Check Bond Ballots

With the deadline only one day Saturday but no absentee ballots actually have been cast.

Tuesday night is the deadline for absentee voting.

Meanwhile, the Midland Chamber of Commerce prepared to send out information pamphlets urging the passage of the bond proposal, which will finance acquisition of right-of-way for the widening on U. S. Highway 80 from Midland to the Martin County line.

In pointing out the need for the widened highway, Delbert Downing, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, said that the stretch of highway had accounted for $18,188 in property damage in 1950, $36,700 in 1951 and $45,947 in 1952.

"So the savings in traffic accident damage by the widened highway will amortize the cost of the bond issue within just a few years," he said.

"And that doesn't figure the savings in lives and injuries."

Sixteen persons were injured and one killed on the stretch of highway in 1950, 18 injured and six killed in 1951 and 17 injured and four killed last year.

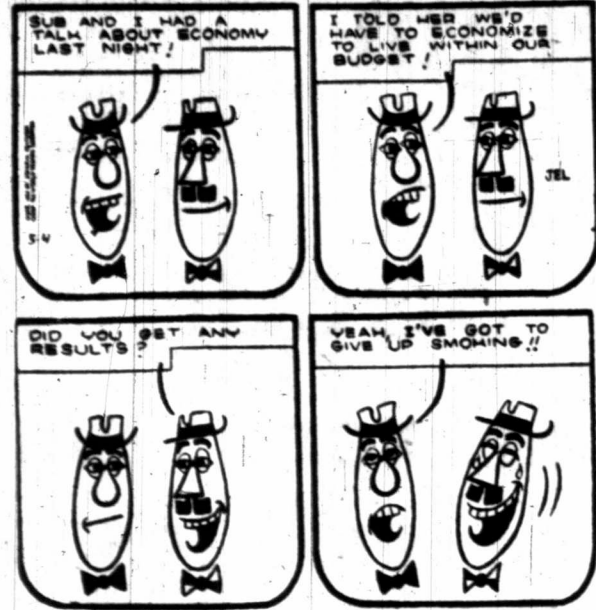

The project calls for the construction of a four-lane, divided highway similar to the Midland-Odessa highway. The only cost to the county will be the right-of-way with the State Highway Department paying the actual construction cost.

The road bond issue must be approved by a two-thirds majority of the votes cast.

HANDS 'N' FACES

BUT NOT FOR OATIS— Czechs Proclaim Political Amnesty

VIENNA, AUSTRIA—(AP)—A second Communist satellite—Czechoslovakia—proclaimed an amnesty in the Soviet pattern Monday for lesser offenders, both civilian and military. Radio Prague said the amnesty decree, signed by President Antonin Zapotocky, went into effect Monday. The broadcast made no mention of AP Correspondent William H. Oatis, arrested two years ago in Prague on charges of spying and now serving a 10-year jail sentence. It seems unlikely Oatis would benefit from the decree. The Czech amnesty, like those proclaimed for the Soviet Union and for Communist Romania, specifically excluded all persons convicted of treason, espionage, sabotage or "crimes against the peace."

PW's Express Anger At Hint Of Red Taint

PHOENIXVILLE, PA.—(AP)—Ten gaunt, tight-lipped men stepped into the public spotlight at Valley Forge military hospital to deny they had been tainted by communism while prisoners of war in Korea. They were bitter—and they made it plain they felt they had reason to be. The stage for their tense drama was set Sunday at the hospital here—a short drive from the Revolutionary War memorial park that gave the hospital its name. It had its origin in the circumstances surrounding their flight home after release by their Red captors. While the 10 and 10 companions—were enroute from Tokyo by plane last Thursday, an Air Force spokesman said the Pentagon had ordered a veil of secrecy thrown around the flight "because of the position taken by the Army and others that these men may have been misled under conditions of duress and hardship during the period of their captivity."

hands still in Czech jails. Since the Communists seized power in 1948, most persons jailed have been convicted on one of those counts. The new Soviet regime proclaimed the first sweeping Red amnesty March 27 after Stalin's death. Romania followed suit April 4. The Czech decree said "immediate freedom would be given all youths serving sentences of less than a year, all pregnant women or women serving two-year sentences and with children under 10 years, all persons with serious or incurable diseases, all women over 50 and all men over 60. Sentences of more than one year were reduced by two-thirds. Life terms were cut to 20 years and all fines up to 20,000 crowns ($400) imposed in addition to prison sentences were lifted. Many pending cases were ordered dropped. Military offenders serving terms of less than one year will be freed after four months. Fines of 20,000 crowns were cut two-thirds. The decree said the amnesty was being ordered because "in the happy days in which President Klement Gottwald died, the Czech people demonstrated their unity and now have gathered firmly around President Zapotocky."

Observers here, however, believed the decree was designed to alleviate popular discontent resulting from a critical food shortage and extreme production demands being made on workers.

Denmark Political Crisis Ends; Premier To Remain In Office

COPENHAGEN, DENMARK.—(AP)—Premier Erik Erikson has withdrawn his resignation and ended a 16-day political crisis during which all leading political parties had refused to form a government. The Agrarian Party leader, who quit April 22, told King Frederik IX Saturday night his coalition cabinet of Agrarians and Conservatives would stay in office. Erikson resigned after the opposition Socialists won two more seats in his right-wing coalition in special elections for Parliament last week. The Socialists, however, refused to take over. Before he agreed to stay at the government helm, Erikson got assurances from the Liberals and Single Tax Party that he could count on their 22 seats to support his coalition's aggregate of 59 places in the 151-member house. This guaranteed the Premier a fairly stable majority over the 61 seats of the Socialists.

Two Drown As Rain Floods Baton Rouge

NEW ORLEANS.—(AP)—Two drowned and an estimated crop damage of $1,500,000 are counted in the wake of heavy rain, wind and hail in Southeast Louisiana, principally in the Baton Rouge area. The dead: Mrs. Edna Boudreaux, 65, and her six-year-old grandson, Jack Boudreaux, who were swept away Sunday in their car by the floodwater of Ward's Creek, six miles south of Baton Rouge. Tunderstorms poured 9.6 inches of rain on the Baton Rouge area. Almost 100 persons were rescued by boat as water in some residential areas rose to a depth of six feet.

Reds Push Nearer Laos' Capital City

HANOI, INDOCHINA.—(AP)—A possible push by the Communist-led Vietminh toward the Laotian kingdom's administrative capital of Vientiane shaped up Monday as French and Laotian forces still awaited a major attack on the royal seat of Luangprabang. While only a brief patrol clash was reported from the neighborhood of King Sisavang Vong's residence town, the French said enemy troop movements were spotted for the first time Monday south of Dieng-houang, 80 miles southeast of Luangprabang.

'Picture Of Month' On Display At First National Bank Here

One of the late Henry Pender Smith's most beautiful paintings, "Summer, Deal Lake, New Jersey," is on display in The First National Bank as its "Picture of the Month" for May. The artist, who was born in 1854 and died in 1907, captivated New Englanders for 30 years with his tranquil homesteads in all seasons of the year. Even today, collectors still ask New York galleries for his paintings. Smith lived at Waterford, Conn., but roamed the Atlantic seaboard in search of picturesque landscapes. Residents of Midland and area cities are invited to see and study this beautiful painting any day this month during regular banking hours at The First National Bank.

NEW YORK.—(AP)—Some 400 electrical workers, most of them women, say unions and state and federal governments should make things easier for the working woman. E. H. Barsachs And Bride Will Live In Midland

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Harry Barsachs have returned from a wedding trip to Hot Springs, Ark., and have established residence in Midland.

The bride is the former Barbara Lucille Mouritsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thorvald Mouritsen, Waukegan, Ill. She was graduated from the University of Illinois, where she was a member of Sigma Kappa.

The bridegroom is the son of the late Dr. and Mrs. Edwin H. Barsachs, who lived in St. Louis. He holds bachelor of science and master of science degrees from the Missouri School of Mines, Rolla, Mo.

The wedding was held on April 15 in St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Waukegan, with the Rev. Alden L. Salstrom officiating.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of ivory satin, with a lace yoke and illusion neckline. Her fingertip veil was caught to a lace and satin Juliet cap and she carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis centered with a white orchid.

Honor attendants for the couple were Ramona Becker of Dallas and Lawrence Matreot of St. Louis. Best man was E. H. Barsachs, brother of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Dale Halloway of Galva, Ill. were bridesmaids and the ushers included Edgar Mouritsen of Austin, brother of the bride, and Carl Mueller of St. Louis.

Judith Christensen, cousin of the bride was flower girl and Robert Mouritsen, the bride's brother, was junior usher. Both are from Waukegan.

A reception was held in Danish Hall following the wedding.

Marked Progress Is Indicated In Symphony's Second Concert

Audiences for the two performances of the second concert of the Midland Symphony and Chorus Association Saturday were keenly aware of the progress made by the organization since its first program. The orchestra has strengthened its ranks with Midland musicians and reduced the number of out-of-city guests required to put on a concert.

The Saturday programs also indicated that Midland has a number of capable soloists and that the symphony can look forward to the time when it can be completely independent of musicians from surrounding towns.

There still is a woeful lack of strings and reeds to balance the powerful brass section, a typical "growing pain" of an orchestra, which should not obscure the progress made by the Midland Symphony.

Two Performances
The association presented a children's concert for about 150 young Midlanders Saturday morning and an evening concert for a larger audience. Both performances were in the San Jacinto Junior High School Auditorium.

Mathys Abas was the conductor for both concerts, however, for the children's program, he relinquished the baton to Wesley May after the opening number to take the roles of narrator, violin soloist and commentator. Tartini's violin concerto in A minor, with solos by Abas, was well-played but failed to hold the attention of the children as did other numbers.

High spot of the children's program was Prokofiev's "Peter and the Wolf," narrated by Abas. The children had been prepared for the number by hearing records in school and also were assisted by an illustrated chart in their programs showing the instruments that represented the various characters in the story.

Guest Pianist
Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue," featured number for the evening concert, presented Herbert Colvin of the Texas Tech faculty as guest pianist. Although the number was spectacularly played and won the pianist two encores, the elaborate improvisations made it hard to recognize the Gershwin music through a good part of the number.

A careful selection of numbers better suited to the capabilities of a young orchestra than those in the earlier concert, added to the Saturday presentations. Two of the best numbers, both by contemporary composers, were Morton Gould's "Pavane" and Leroy Anderson's "Promenade."

The orchestra, however, would have done well to avoid Ravel's "Bolero" for the present. Because of the simplicity and deadly monotony of the selection's single theme, it falls flat unless it gets the most expert treatment.

Bright spots in the evening concert were the solos and duet by Baritone Ross Graham, a professional performer, and Anna Louise Patterson, soprano.

Best of the numbers by the chorus were "Polly-Wolly-Doodle" and "Cindy" folksongs—MG and TM.

New State Of Affairs

So far the new Congress has voted $3,000,000 for 25 different investigations. Close to 150 more have been suggested but not yet acted upon.

On the other hand, not a single major bill has been passed nor has any basic appropriation measure been approved in the four months the lawmakers have been assembled in Washington.

Last year and the year before, the old 82nd Congress broke the record for money spent on investigations, using up $5,700,000. The 82nd is well on the way to new heights.

Maybe, therefore, it's time to propose some changes which properly will reflect this new state of affairs.

For one thing, the titles "senator" and "representative" seem a trifle outmoded. Since their principal occupation is investigating, it might be better to call them what they are: Investigator Velde of Illinois, Investigator Jenner of Indiana, and so on.

Then, too, it looks rather foolish to insist on regular meetings of the full House and Senate, even if they're limited to two or three weekly. These meetings clearly are viewed by the lawmakers as unwarranted interruptions in their investigative operations.

Right now, in fact, it is difficult to see why our legislators need to maintain their lease on the huge House and Senate chambers, since they spend so little useful time there.

The space might be more profitably rented to some college based in Washington, for use as class lecture halls. The House has a public address system, and acoustics aren't bad in the Senate.

On those rare occasions when the lawmakers feel disposed to get together to pass a law, some disheartened landlord saddled with a closed-down movie house may open the doors to one of his dusty caverns. Rent should be low.

Another matter. The starting date for the federal fiscal year probably ought to be moved from the present July 1 to October 1. Congress never gets appropriations passed by the existing deadline any more.

In time we may even see a splitting off of functions, with a fourth, or investigative branch added to the judicial, executive and legislative. The investigators might call themselves the Chamber of Special Deputies.

The Ol' One-Two

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1953, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.) Drew Pearson says: Ike's brother-in-law has meteoric career; bankrupt airline's stock zoomed following Colonel Moore's investment; New Jersey Republican linked with gamblers.

WASHINGTON—Most meteoric career in Washington continues to be that of Lt. Col. Gordon Moore, brother-in-law of the President.

Lady Luck was not too kind to him a year ago. Then almost broke, he considered selling his house. During that hard-luck period, Moore was hired three times and fired twice within six months—as the political prospects of his famous brother-in-law ebbed and flowed.

But today Lady Luck smiles graciously. Today the retired colonel has been able to invest $25,000 in a once-bankrupt airline of which he has become vice president. On top of this, he has set up a company of his own which lends money to small airlines.

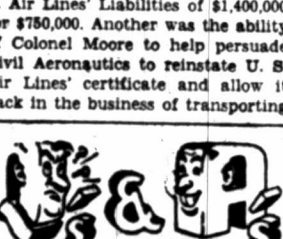

The latter concern, Air Transit Services, Inc., located at 1122 16th Street here, acts as a sort of money-changer for non-scheduled airlines. Most of them fly military passengers and freight for the government. And what Moore does is borrow money from American Security and Trust, then turn around and lend money to the non-scheduled until they can collect from the slow-paying government.

Strictly speaking this makes him a one-percenter, since that's the percentage he keeps for himself. Zooming Air Stock

Colonel Moore's most interesting business venture, however, was his investment of $25,000 in U. S. Air Lines. Last fall this line had four DC-3's, only one of which could get off the ground. Its insurance had been canceled, its bank account overdrawn, the sheriff was about to hammer on the door, and the Civil Aeronautics Board, having canceled permission to fly military passengers, was threatening to revoke its certificate of operation altogether.

Stock in the company then was selling for 12 1/2 cents. Thereupon entered Ike's brother-in-law. Immediately the stock began to zoom, sold for 36 cents a share one week after Colonel Moore became an executive, today is selling for 70 cents.

Other important factors also contributed. One of these was the dynamic reorganization ability of Moore's live-wire partner, Fred Miller. Another was the financial backing of Gearhart and Otis, New York investment firm which bought in U. S. Air Lines' liabilities of $1,400,000 for $750,000. Another was the ability of Colonel Moore to help persuade Civil Aeronautics to reinstate U. S. Air Lines' certificate and allow it back in the business of transporting

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY

South followed the book in the bidding of today's hand, and reached an ideal final contract. South's response of two no-trump showed a balanced hand with stoppers in all the unbid suits and a total strength of 13 to 15 points.

The trouble came in the play of the cards, when South decided to follow a hunch. Mind you, hunches are part of the game. When you are confronted by a sheer guess, a hunch is better than no guide at all; and it may even be a decision that is made for you by your subconscious mind, based on the way that the opponents have been acting.

In today's hand South picked the wrong time to follow a hunch: He had the feeling (incorrect, as it turned out) that West had the queen of clubs. After winning the first trick with dummy's queen of hearts, therefore, declarer cashed the ace of clubs and returned a low club to finesse dummy's ten.

This error was fatal. East won with the queen of clubs and returned a heart, thus allowing West to establish his long heart suit.

South had to tackle diamonds in order to try for his contract, whereas West could take the ace of diamonds and cash the rest of his hearts to set the contract.

South was wrong in following the hunch because he couldn't afford to lose a club trick to West. Obviously South would have made his contract if he had finessed through East for the queen of clubs. But it is important to note that he would have made his contract even if West had held the queen of clubs and the finesse had therefore lost to West.

If West is able to win the second trick with the queen of clubs (assuming that he has that card) what can he return? If West leads another heart, South gets a free finesse. No matter what West leads, South is able to keep his stopper in hearts, and therefore has time to develop the diamond tricks that he needs for his contract.

CARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been: North East South West 1 Spade Pass 2 Dmds. Pass 2 Spades Pass 7 You, South, hold: Spade 8, Hearts 9-7-4-2, Diamonds A-Q-J-10-7-5, Clubs K-8. What do you do? A—Bid three diamonds. This shows a very good diamond suit with not much else worth talking about. You have reason to believe that you will be better off at three diamonds than at two spades, but your hand is good enough to welcome some constructive bid by your partner.

FUNNY BUSINESS

WASHINGTON COLUMN

Ike Works Hard, Plays Hard, And Doesn't Pull Any Rank

By PETER EDSON NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—If the first 100 days are the hardest, Dwight D. Eisenhower has passed the first milestone on the four-year endurance run.

The transition from U. S. commander in chief of military forces in Europe to commander in chief of the whole United States and its myriad problems all over the world has done something to the Eisenhower personality.

While he always was under the public eye as a national hero, today he is under a microscope. Every triviality—every frown, smile, cold, stomach-ache or lost golf ball now is world-shaking news. Let him say he likes grits, and—bingo! Somebody sends him five pounds a week for life.

It would be hard to say which is the most significant of these tremendous shifts. One might say that he showed his real character when he climbed out from under high-hat tradition and donned a Homburg for his inauguration.

The Homburg still is the trade mark of a striped-pants diplomat out for a spot of tea. It isn't a crush job to go golfing in on a rainy day. But it's at least one step less formal than a silk stovepipe. So that set the tone for his administration.

A general of the Army can put up a pretty formidable front when he wants to throw his brass around. But President Eisenhower has shown that he wants to be a man of all the people of these United States, as he has said himself.

He showed this when he started inviting congressmen—all the congressmen, that is—to lunch or breakfast. Also when he invited all the 30,000 screaming small fry of Washington to roll Easter eggs on his private putting green.

Publicity Seekers In all this new Republican democracy—capital R and small d—there is only one place where Ike so far has drawn the line. He doesn't want to take time being photographed with beauty queens or prize cake bakers unless they represent national organizations or have national significance.

The canard that these publicity seekers would have to be accompanied by their congressmen has been denied by the White House. Otherwise, the job of being official greeter has been turned over to Mamie Eisenhower, who, incidentally, seems to be doing all right, too.

Unquestionably, in his first 100 days in the White House, President Eisenhower has lost none of his great personal popularity. Senator Taft expressed that the other day when he said that Eisenhower would run for the presidency again in 1956—and would be re-elected.

Speaking of Senator Taft, there's an anecdote going around Washington about a group of congressional leaders proposing to send the President a report on some deep-dish issue that was bothering them at the moment. "It wouldn't do any good," the story credits Taft with saying. "He doesn't read."

While there is said to be no basis for this yarn, it does illustrate the fact that the President has tried to reduce his paper work to a minimum. President Truman lugged work home with him every night. Ike does it only when he can't get out of it.

President Eisenhower likes to... ing collectors' items, but no more. The small book which he had found in the writing desk was an early Italian production, illuminated in red and black.

He put the papers in a drawer in the dressing table and locked it, then prepared to take the books to the library.

Manning's heart was in his mouth as he walked along the passage. If anyone saw him carrying the books, they would be curious and he didn't want to answer questions. He reached the library unseen. Then he heard footsteps.

There was a shelf, half empty, near him. He grabbed the sacks and tucked them behind some books—and as he turned around, the door opened and Longley's fair head appeared.

The sergeant looked startled. "Hallo! You're up early." "Catching worms," said Manning lightly.

"Plenty of worms in some of this stuff," said Longley, frowning. "It's a shame, they ought to have been looked after better. That chap Wilberforce just didn't know his job. I don't think much damage is done—the worst I came across yesterday I dumped down there."

He glanced at the piles of books. "What's brought you here, sir?" "You recommended a visit," Longley laughed.

"I didn't think you'd come before breakfast. I've had mine—haven't seen Mary this morning, have you?"

Manning couldn't miss the eagerness in the detective's voice. "She's probably still asleep," he said dryly, and glanced at the books; his own pile looked conspicuous. "Well, I'll get along to breakfast—leave those three piles for me, will you?"

He pointed. "What are they?" asked Longley. "Oddments I've had inquiries for at Quinn's," said Manning. "If there's going to be a sale, I may as well be in on the ground floor."

"Always with an eye to business," said Longley. "I won't touch 'em."

BALTIMORE—(AP)—Flames flashed through the old Lafayette food market early Monday, leapt across the street and set three or four homes afire.

By the time firemen went into action, the 12-alarm blaze had practically destroyed the market. It appeared under control within an hour and a half.

GIANT STEEL BARGES MAKE HANDY DOCKS—Docks for ocean-going vessels can be put up in jig time, thanks to American ingenuity and know-how. The huge dock-barge above is pictured at U. S. Steel's Consolidated Western Division in Orange, Tex. Barges can be placed end to end to make any desired length of dock. After being floated into place, they are raised to height dictated by tides and ship-deck levels, usually more than 50 feet. Six barges now being fabricated at Orange for the Army will be almost twice the size of this unit.

This Week May Tell Tale On Teacher Pay, Taxation

AUSTIN—(AP)—A new tussle over loan shark control faced legislators starting their seventeenth and perhaps next-to-last week of the 53rd session Monday.

The House voted last week to consider a long calendar of local and minor bills Monday night, bringing from Rep. Reagan Huffman, Marshall, a sharp protest that it was just another effort to delay committee action on his anti-loan shark bill.

Public hearing of Huffman's measure also had been set for Monday night also. The conflict with the local calendar session would force postponement of the committee meeting.

Backers of a plan to set up in Texas a legislative committee to keep a wary eye on un-American activities refused to be stymied by the local calendar setting. They will hold a public hearing on the measure at 1 p. m. half an hour before the night session begins.

Reps. William Miller, Jr., Houston and Marshall Bell, San Antonio, are authors of the resolution to create a House Un-American Activities Committee. The American Legion is sponsoring it. They want the committee to work closely with the attorney general and the state police in looking into subversive activities.

Not Limited To Reds
The committee would not be limited to watchdogging Communists. It also would be empowered to investigate "other subversive activities and the enforcement of criminal laws and violations of the state constitution by local officials and all others."

The last session produced a House committee that spent months digging into crime conditions.

There was talk of quick adjournment—perhaps within the 120 days suggested by the Constitution—and of a teachers pay compromise as lawmakers came home from Corpus Christi where they spent the week-end celebrating Buccaneer Day.

This week should tell whether or not it is too late to compromise the teachers pay-taxation issue. The $600 a year basic pay increase bill was back in the Senate after the comptroller said there was no money in sight to pay for it.

May Halve Boost
The Senate, which can not organize tax bills, may choose not to do anything about it until the House says finally what it wants to do about taxes. The compromise talk centered on a proposal to cut the pay boost in half, thus halve the needed tax money. The $600 measure would cost something like 66 to 70 million dollars for the two year period.

The loan shark legislation would face a last-minute rush should final adjournment be set for May 12. More than half a dozen small loans bills are pending, and all the fighting so far has been in committee.

Huffman charged last week that opponents of his bill, which would put a ceiling of 36 per cent per year on all types of charges for small unsecured loans, have succeeded so far in stalling action on it. He wants it brought out for a showdown, and promise he would take steps today to get it to the floor.

Jet-Flying General Leaves Future Missions To Juniors

SEOUL—(AP)—Now that his secret is out, Lt. Gen. Glenn O. Barcus, 39-year-old commander of the U. S. Fifth Air Force, has grounded himself after 13 missions over North Korea in his swift Sabre jet, Barcus' Carcus.

The greying general had been flying Sabre strikes with his pilots the last month. The last was a smashing 50-plane May Day attack against Radio Pyongyang in the North Korean capital. On that one Barcus launched the Reds on a radio circuit they frequently monitor.

"This is Gen. Glenn O. Barcus, commander of the Fifth Air Force. I don't like the way you are talking about the Fifth Air Force. How did you like the way we were doing today?"

"We'll be back... We will smash anything we want up here."

This was disclosed Sunday night by American war correspondents who were at Fifth Air Force headquarters when an officer reported by radio results of the Pyongyang strike.

An Air Force spokesman said Barcus, who will leave on routine rotation June 1, had wanted to fly at least one more mission.

"But now that the news is out he has decided to pass it up," he said.

The spokesman said Barcus wanted to keep his combat flying a secret for fear superiors would ground him.

Families Welcome Two Texans Home From Korean Prisons

By The Associated Press
The tense wait ended for two more Texas families Sunday as former prisoners of the Communists returned to their homes in San Antonio and the Panhandle city of Hereford.

Mrs. Gloria de la Garza, an expectant mother, collapsed in her husband's arms as First Lt. Albert de la Garza stepped from an air evacuation plane in San Antonio.

Two-year-old Cynthia Kay Neighbors had a big smile and kiss for her daddy when she saw him for the first time. Sgt. Gerald Neighbors, 22, Hereford, arrived at Amarillo Air Force Base.

Wants To Rest
De la Garza, 22, second San Antonio man to return from Communist prisons, said, "I can't explain how good it is to be home. I don't want any special attention. I just want to rest."

His attractive wife ran into his arms on the plane ramp. Both cried as they embraced. Mrs. De la Garza half faintly in her husband's arms. Others helped her into the terminal.

De la Garza had a bandaged hand and walked with a slight limp from a hip wound. He had been a prisoner one month.

The lieutenant said he had "nothing but 'rice' to eat and had not been allowed to write his family."

First Sight Of Child
At Amarillo AFB, Sergeant Neighbors stepped from a military plane into the arms of his wife, Shirley, and the daughter he had never seen. Cynthia Kay later shed a few tears at the strangeness of her daddy.

Neighbors went home on pass to Hereford but was due back in Amarillo Monday for treatment.

"If it is necessary, I'd do it all over again," Neighbors told reporters. He refused to answer questions about why he was limping. Though only 22 years old, Neighbors has been in military service seven years. He was captured December, 1950, while still recovering from a wound received from a sniper's bullet.

Over the weekend, returning prisoners revealed unofficial lists with a number of Texas addresses identifying men still held in Communist POW camps.

Bill Williams, Wolfe City, Texas, butcher, said he was "mighty proud to hear it" when told early Monday that his brother, an Army doctor, was in good health in a prison camp. The prisoner is Capt. James C. Williams, 32, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Hiram D. Williams of Shamrock, Texas.

Captain Williams was captured Nov. 2, 1950, while with the Second Division. His wife and two young children in Kansas City, had received three letters from him, the last nine months ago.

Others on unofficial lists were Willie C. Greene of Edna, near Victoria; Dossie Lee Heath of High near Paris, and John A. Wells, of San Antonio.

Daddy Ringtail

Daddy Ringtail And The Password

Daddy Ringtail is a monkey, and the Huffen Puffen is a wolf, and they are very good friends. They sat together and leaned their backs against the hollow tree where the Huffen lives inside.

The Huffen laughed. He was thinking of something that would be a lot of fun to do, he said. Said the Huffen: "I'm not going to let anyone into my house. I'm not, unless they say the password."

The Huffen thought it would be fun indeed to have a secret password, and not let anyone in until the anyone said it. A password, you know, is a word that everyone has to say before you let them in—if you have a password at all. I mean, "Daddy Ringtail," said the Huffen, "what should the password be? Tell your old friend, the Huffen Puffen."

Daddy Ringtail didn't answer at first. Instead he thought about all this. Why, what if a friend of the Huffen came along and wanted to get in? Yes, and what if the Huffen would not let the friend come in, all because the friend didn't know the password? Tch!

"What about 'Happy Day'?" How's that for a password?"

"That's it!" cried the Huffen. "That's it! 'Happy day' is the password. If anyone doesn't say it, then he can't come in." The Huffen laughed to think about it, and he kept on laughing about it, even after Daddy Ringtail had gone. The Huffen was happy to have a password that people had to say before he would let them into his house. And then the rain started to rain.

The Featherman came running up to get out of the rain. "Happy day," he said, and went into the Huffen's house. Mugwump came running up to go in out of the rain. "Happy day, Huffen!" Mugwump said, and he went in. And a whole lot of other friends came up and said the "Happy day" and they went in to be dry from the rain.

All of them knew the password, because they were all friends. Friends in the Great Forest always say a "Happy day!" when they meet, and you'll find it fun to have a password, as long as your friends know what it is. Happy day!

Mother Kills Four Children But Foregoes Suicide Plan

MAHWAH, N. J.—(AP)—A 29-year-old woman, estranged from her ex-football star husband, killed her four young children by carbon monoxide poisoning Sunday in the garage of their fashionable home.

In an apparent case of mind, she pulled some of the youngsters from the family station wagon, but not in time to save them, police said. "Why didn't it kill me, why didn't it kill me?" moaned Mrs. Carol MacDonald when police found her in the living room of her home.

Deputy Attorney General Ellis Kopp said she apparently tried to take her own life, and had left six suicide notes. However, he said, there was no evidence that Mrs. MacDonald actually tried to kill herself.

A hazy story from the woman failed to establish whether she had been in the death car with her two sons and two daughters, who ranged in age from two to seven years.

Police quoted Mrs. MacDonald as saying, "At least the children won't have anything to worry about now."

A murder charge was placed against the woman in Bergen County Jail. Kopp said he was uncertain whether she would be arraigned or charged with adultery.

taken to a mental hospital for observation.

Mrs. MacDonald and her 22-year-old husband Kenneth, former Rutgers football star, have been separated since February, when he filed a divorce suit charging her with adultery with a Brooklyn psychiatrist, said Nathan Allyn, acting chief of Bergen County detectives.

According to police, Mrs. MacDonald awakened the children about midnight Saturday, herded them into the station wagon, drove to an all-night service station and filled the gas tank.

After returning home, she shut the garage doors, leaving the children in the station wagon with the engine running.

Then she went into the house and wrote the series of suicide notes. Later she tried to save the children. The victims were Thomas, two, Catherine, three, Sharon Carol and Bruce, both seven.

GI Suitor Talks Divorcee Out Of Spectacular Suicide

SANTA MONICA, CALIF.—(AP)—A pretty model kept hundreds of onlookers in suspense by perching atop a 140-foot water tower seven hours and threatening to jump to her death.

Instead, she climbed down, sunburned from 80-degree weather, after her GI boy friend climbed an iron ladder and talked to her for more than an hour Sunday.

Dark-haired Mrs. Theresa (Terry) C. McKinney, 20, divorced mother of two small boys climbed the tower at 7:45 a.m. Apparently she was upset by a broken romance.

"She used to climb a lot when she was a kid," said her brother Robert, 13, who saw her ascend the tower ladder. "She shouted that she wasn't coming down again—that she was going to jump."

He ran and notified a family friend Eugene Houck, 19, who called police, then climbed the tower and pleaded with Mrs. McKinney 45 minutes.

A minister, the Rev. Harold Longstreth of the Christian Missionary Alliance, then took a half-hour turn atop the ladder near where she clung to an aircraft beacon above the tank's conical roof.

As Houck made the ascent again, she screamed, "Don't come any closer!"

"I asked her what the trouble was," he reported after returning to the ground, "and she told me, 'I'm mad at the world... Bob told me last night his mother doesn't want us to be married!'"

Col. Robert Berman, 21, of Los Angeles, made the climb and coaxed her down. Firemen put a rope around her waist and guided her.

She was booked for disturbing the peace.

Reporter-Telegram To Give Elizabeth's Intimate Story

As the spectacle of the coming coronation focuses world attention on Queen Elizabeth II, The Reporter-Telegram brings its readers the most intimate story of her recent years, as written by her friend and former governess, Marion Crawford.

This special serialization of "Elizabeth the Queen" begins Wednesday and will continue daily through the peak period of coronation interest.

In pictures and story, readers will be taken behind the scenes in Buckingham Palace to meet the warm and vibrant personality of the new queen.

For 17 years, "Crawfie," as the author was known to the members of the Royal Family, was governess and guide to both Queen Elizabeth and Princess Margaret Rose.

Besides "The Little Princess," Miss Crawford wrote "Mother and Queen: the Story of Queen Mary" as a result of her intimate glimpses of England's Royalty. Although her books already are widely read, "Elizabeth the Queen," on the eve of the coronation, will interest thousands of additional readers.

This special Reporter-Telegram serial paints an up-to-date portrait of Britain's new ruler. It details the recent life of Elizabeth, covering her romance and marriage, her children, her visits to America and Africa, her first year on the throne, and her vibrant personality.

The memoir itself is both an account full of human interest and an authentic picture of the woman who will be crowned Britain's queen on June 2.

All 43 Aboard Jet Liner Killed

CALCUTTA, INDIA.—(AP)—Search parties brought in 21 bodies Sunday night from the scattered wreckage of a British Comet jet airliner which crashed 22 miles northwest of Calcutta late Saturday. All 43 persons aboard, including three Americans, were killed.

The crash of the speedy plane—a few minutes after it swept into monsoon rains from Calcutta's Dum Dum Airport on a Singapore-to-London flight—was the second fatal accident for Britain's famed Comets and the first on a scheduled commercial flight. The plane was operated by the British Overseas Airways Corporation.

Preliminary reports said a fire or explosion shortly after the take-off might have caused the disaster. Search planes spotted the wreckage early Sunday in rough, barren country. A ground party reached the scene in the afternoon. The giant four-engine plane was smashed to bits and had been flung over a wide area. Some bodies, burned beyond recognition, were found four miles apart.

The Americans were identified as the Rev. Paul Sneed, a Methodist missionary stationed at Ipoh, Malaya, who was reported on his way home for leave with his family in Nyack, N. Y., and Jean S. Cohen and Anita Whistler, two teachers making a world tour after completing exchange teaching assignments in Rangoon, Burma.

Miss Cohen, 27, formerly taught biology at Forest Park High School in Baltimore, Md. Miss Whistler, 31, was a former University of California instructor from Berkeley, Calif.

Writer's Advice Troubles Reader

Joe S. Doakes, a reader of this paper, feels that in the best interest of all subscribers some of the columnists should be exposed. Mr. Doakes has taken the attitude that all is not as it should be in fairness to our readers as they think we should explain Mr. Doakes' position.

Just before the first rain of this year, Joe drops into the store and orders himself a few bags of that wonderful Turf Special. He puts it on the lawn as we told him. Then it rained. Then Joe watered his lawn a little. A couple of weeks ago we had another good rain. He followed our advice, and got himself into trouble.

A week ago Joe was back in the store. "What," says he, "am I gonna do with my lawn?" We put on our best look of innocence and queried, "Whassa matta, Joe?" "Matter," he retorts, "how do I get rid of that gorgeous grass that is ankle high from that Turf Special treatment?"

Yep, you guessed it! We had him in the nine hole, and he had to listen to us again. Know what? Joe's got a beautiful Jacobsen gasoline mower now. He says that it is as good as his lawn, the best there is. Maybe you think we don't work both sides of the street!

"SUMMER, DEAL LAKE, NEW JERSEY" By Henry Pember Smith (1854-1907)

Artist Smith captivated New Englanders for 30 years with his canvasses of tranquil homesteads in all seasons of the year.

Today, 50 years after his active painting career, collectors still ask New York galleries for Smith's paintings.

Smith resided at Waterford, Conn., but roamed the Atlantic seaboard in search of picturesque landscapes.

Permian Basin-Oil And Gas Log—

22-17a-35e. It is just outside the proven area, on the northeast side of the shallow Vacuum field.

Oil, Gas Shows Are Developed On DST In Loving Wildcat

Sun Oil Company uncovered interesting shows of oil and gas on a drillstem test in an unidentified Permian section at its No. 1 Tubbs, rank wildcat in Northeast Loving County.

The test was taken in the interval from 7,776 to 7,809 feet. Tool was open two hours. A 1,000-foot water cushion was used.

Recovery was the 1,000-foot water blanket cut with gas and 30 feet of oil and gas-cut drilling mud. No free oil was reported.

Flowing bottomhole pressure was 400 pounds and shutin pressure after an unreported length of time was 1,200 pounds.

More hole was being made below 7,855 feet in lime and shale.

Location for the project, which is scheduled for a 15,000-foot bottom, is 660 feet from north and 1,880 feet from west lines of section 7, block C-24, pal survey and two miles south of the north line of Loving County.

Gas-Distillate Well Is In Prospect At S-C Nolan Wildcat

Jones & Stansley and others of Albany uncovered possibilities of a gas-distillate discovery in No. 1 G. W. Cochran, wildcat in South-Central Nolan County, four and three-quarters miles southeast of the town of Maryland.

The project sprayed gas and distillate on two drillstem tests taken in a stray sand about 100 feet below the Saddle Creek formation.

First test to develop the spray was from 4,012 to 4,055 feet. Tool was open 30 minutes. Gas surfaced in two minutes and distillate sprayed in 18 minutes. Recovery was 90 feet of distillate and 10 feet of drilling mud. Flowing pressure was 1,000 pounds and shutin pressure after 20 minutes was 1,475 pounds.

Second DST

Next test was from 4,055 to 4,075 feet. Tool was open 30 minutes. Gas surfaced in two minutes. Mud sprayed in eight minutes and distillate appeared at the surface in 17 minutes. Recovery was 15 feet of distillate and 120 feet of distillate and gas-cut salt water. Open flowing pressure was 1,000 pounds and shutin pressure after 15 minutes was 1,500 pounds.

More hole was being made below 4,100 feet. The wildcat is slated to go to 7,800 feet for tests of the Ellenburger.

Location is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 112, block 1-A, H&TC survey.

Conoco Gets Pipe For Completion At Andrews Explorer

Continental Oil Company has set and cemented seven-inch casing on total depth of 9,175 feet in the Wolfcamp lime in No. 1 McCollum and Weinbach, indicated discovery from that formation in East-Central Andrews County.

Flowing oil was developed on two drillstem tests in the Wolfcamp. One of the tests was taken from 8,890 to 8,792 feet. The project flowed 26 barrels of oil in one hour.

Next test to make oil was from 8,876 to 8,978 feet. Flow was gauged at 16 barrels of oil in one hour. Water was developed on a test from 8,978 to 9,038 feet. Recovery on that test was 90 feet of heavily gas-cut mud and 2,040 feet of salt water.

Operator then drilled to present total depth of 9,175 feet and cemented casing at that point.

The prospector originally was scheduled to drill to 13,500 feet for tests of the Ellenburger.

Location is six miles southeast of the town of Andrews and 1,980 feet from north and east lines of section 24, block 44, pal survey.

Water DST Is Taken At Texaco Wildcat In W-C Upton Area

Operator was running electric log surveys after developing salty, sulphur water on a drillstem test taken in the Ellenburger at The Texas Company No. 1 Graf, wildcat in West-Central Upton County.

Drillstem test was taken from 12,578 to 12,644 feet. Tool was open three hours. Recovery was 2,712 feet of gas-cut salty, sulphur water.

This wildcat showed for possible production on drillstem tests of the Strawn, Wolfcamp and Fusselman zones.

Gas show was developed on a drillstem test in the Ellenburger from 12,444 to 12,513 feet.

After logs are run, operator probably will plug back and test the upper zone shows.

Location is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 102, block D, CCSD&RNG survey.

C-W Runnels Area Gets Two Wildcats

Thomas D. Humphrey and Sons of Dallas have staked locations for two new wildcats in the Maverick area of Central-West Runnels County.

Humphrey No. 1 J. W. Thomas is to be a 3,200-foot prospector to test the Ellenburger. It is two miles south of Maverick.

Location is 1,230 feet from north and 330 feet from west lines of the Carl Floege survey No. 392.

It is five-eighths of a mile southeast of Saxon Exploration Company No. 1 Wedig, a dry hole at total depth of 5,270 feet in the Ellenburger. The failure had some shows of oil in the Ellenburger.

Southwest of Production

The Humphrey No. 1 Thomas is one and one-half miles south and slightly west of the Humphrey-Lee (Caddo) field, which produces from a caddy which is topped at about 5,100 feet.

Humphrey No. 1 O. H. Smith is to be two miles northwest of Maverick. It is projected to 4,500 feet.

Location is 467 feet from north and 3,139 feet from east lines of section 808, CH&H survey. It is one and one-quarter miles northwest of the North Maverick (Morris) sandfield which produces from pay which is found at an average depth of 4,251 feet.

Southland Finishes Spraberry Producer In NW Reagan Area

Southland Royalty Company No. 1-43 O. F. Boyd has been completed as a new producer in the Aldwell sector of the Spraberry Trend Area in Northwest Reagan County.

The new oil well is seven and three-quarter miles northwest of Stiles and 660 feet from north and east lines of section 43, block B, L&VS survey.

On official potential test it flowed 24 hours and produced 375.19 barrels of 40° gravity oil and no water. The flow was through a one-quarter inch choke on tubing.

Gas-oil ratio was 850-1. The production is from open hole. Top of the pay is at 7,332 feet. Total depth is 7,387 feet. The section which is making the oil had been fractured with 4,500 gallons.

The test was taken from 4,140 to 4,200 feet. Tool was open three hours.

Recovery was 3,200 feet of salt water with no shows of oil or gas.

Location is 440 feet from south and 2,200 feet from west lines of section 1208, H&OB survey and six miles northwest of the town of Post.

Retiring Mediation Chief Sees Bad Year In Labor Relations

WASHINGTON —A high level of labor unrest is forecast for the coming year by David L. Cole, just retired as head of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

Testifying before a House Appropriations subcommittee on his agency's money request, Cole said: "The outlook is not good, as we see it, in the industrial relations field."

He said he could foresee no diminishing of the number of strikes in the near future, but instead possibilities of a step-up in labor-management disputes as the time arrives for negotiation of new work contracts.

"I see some bad situations in the offing, and any one or several of them could be bad cases," he told the committee. "We have the maritime situation coming along shortly. We have rubber. We have steel coming in June. They are some of the principal ones."

Cole testified before the committee March 24. The transcript of the hearings was made public Monday.

Cole's resignation took effect Friday, and President Eisenhower designated Clyde M. Mills as acting chief.

Bandleader Artie Says One Red Party Meet Was Enough

NEW YORK —Bandleader Artie Shaw told House investigators Monday that so far as he knew he never had been a Communist—although he had attended meetings conducted by Hollywood Reds.

Shaw was the first witness before the House Committee on Un-American Activities as it launched a new probe into possible Communist infiltration into the entertainment industry.

About 45 persons, many of them prominent in the theatrical and other entertainment fields, are reported under subpoena to testify at the hearings here.

Under questioning Shaw said that "to the best of my knowledge I have never been a member of the Communist Party."

In 1946, he said, a man—whose name he did not know—asked him if he wanted to join the party, and the man said he had been told by friends they thought "I would be a good Communist."

About 100 spectators and 50 reporters and cameramen jammed the hearing room.

As the 42-year-old Shaw began his testimony, he said: "I'm going to answer every question as honestly and as fully as I possibly can."

During the 1946 period, he said he was associated with the Independent Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions, which advocated, among other things, a fair employment practices act.

Cloak and Dagger Air

About this time, he said, a Communist representative approached him under a "cloak and dagger atmosphere"—by calling him anonymously several times on the telephone. Shaw said he finally agreed to see the stranger, and signed a paper using a "fantastic alias," after being told the signature merely meant he would be allowed to attend some party meetings to see how the party operated.

"It was found out I was going to be a bad Communist," Shaw said. "And I was dropped as quickly as I was picked up."

Next Pacific Atomic Tests To Include Super H-Blasts

WASHINGTON —The next series of atomic tests in the Pacific probably will include hydrogen explosions of unprecedented magnitude.

Using knowledge and materials tried out cautiously in two previous series involving "thermonuclear" experiments—the most recent of which reportedly produced the mightiest manmade blast so far—scientists and military men are expected to be a still more awesome test shot or shots.

The majority of the comparatively minor-scale explosive tests of devices and weapons now under way at the Nevada Proving Grounds apparently represent preliminary work for forthcoming experiments in big-scale explosions of nuclear fission and hydrogen fusion gadgets in the Pacific.

Apparently convinced in the last two tests at Eniwetok Atoll that a hydrogen explosion can be produced, the efforts of nuclear physicists now are directed at (a) stepping up the force of the explosion and (b) detonating the hydrogen bomb with more economy in the use of fissionable material.

To create the heat and pressure needed for triggering a hydrogen device something like a standard atomic bomb explosion must be produced.

Material-wise, this is costly. And there are reasons to believe the present heat-pressure requirements for touching off a hydrogen explosion are greater than that which can be produced by a single atomic bomb.

Dr. W. F. Dancer Blocked, Had To Run Wide

LOUISVILLE, KY. —(AP)—The aura of invincibility that surrounded Native Dancer through 11 successive victories was brushed aside by Dark Star in the seventy-ninth Kentucky Derby. But don't think the three-year-old turf champion was decided in that race.

Tribe Bows To Broncs; Off For San Angelo

By ABE WEINER

Reporter-Telegram Sports Staff
Midland's Indians reviewed their 7-1 loss to Big Spring Sunday and concluded that they were the victims of the same devices they used to springboard to victories over the Broncs Friday and Saturday—good pitching and good fielding combined with poor performances by the opposition in these same department.

to see Lou Dawson ground out in the fifth. Hayden White opened with a single, and Roger Dalla Beta followed with a hit after Bud Sisk had flown out, but Hughes and Bowland flew out ending the threat.

Those on hand saw Dalley perform well for two and two-thirds innings before he gave way to Sisk to open the fifth. Dalley yielded three hits, but was in trouble only once—and that time as a result of Julio de la Torre's error. Earl Winn, new arrival from Austin, also made his debut as a pinch-hitter for Sisk. He flew out.

The Indians fell victim to Frank Perez' nine-hit pitching while the Broncs were taking advantage of Ralph Blair's wildness to pin his first defeat of the season on him. Blair, who went into the game with a 2-0 mark, fell apart with two outs in the first inning. He passed Jess Jacinto and Joe Riney, moved them up on a balk, and then yielded a two-run single to Joe Murphy. Next, he wild pitched and finally, he struck out Jerry Fetrow to retire the side.

Strong winds seemed to rob the Indians of hits time after time. Shots into right field, particularly, which ordinarily would have been good for extra bases were easy putouts. And the winds, which reached 35 m.p.h. at times held the Sunday afternoon attendance to a mere 498.

Manager Jess Haney nominated Eddie Jacobs (2-1) to pitch Monday night as the Indians move over to San Angelo for a three-game series before making their first trip to the West against Artesia Thursday through Saturday. They return home against Roswell Sunday.

Another bad start in the second when he walked Al Valdes and Perez and yielded a single to Mickey Diaz scoring Valdes after getting Al Costa to pop up brought his departure and brought on Lefthander Don Dalley for his first appearance before Midland fans.

Those six runs spelled Midland's third defeat of the season, for Perez managed to get the Indians to pop out until the eighth when Art Bowland singled Lehigh Scooter Huges' hit and Stephenson scored Huges on a fly out to left.

Alvarez, in running his record to 3-0 by winning the first game, never was in trouble. Armando Gallart, who tripled in the second, was the only Rocket to reach third base.

Without taking anything from Dark Star's front-running surprise triumph, it must be pointed out the Dancer was blocked by Money Broker at the first turn, had to be eased back to find running room and raced wide during the run to upper turn on the backstretch.

Still it looked as if the Dancer would take it all when he started to pour it on from one and one-half lengths back at the top of the home stretch. But Henry Moreno had lot of horse under him and Dark Star just managed to stave off the dancer's final bid.

Carlsvad went ahead to score four runs in the fifth, after the fists ceased to fly, to ice their victory. Epperson was in red-hot form as he blanked the Lobos down the line.

Dulles Sees Peril In Higher Tariffs, Warns Lawmakers

WASHINGTON —P—Secretary of State Dulles said Monday a tightening of U. S. tariff barriers against imports would push other free nations toward trade with the Communists.

On that basis, he bluntly urged the House Ways and Means Committee to kill a bill by Representative Simpson (R-Pa.) which would bolster tariff protection for American industries against competition from cheaper foreign goods.

Dulles said adoption of the Simpson bill "would have serious international repercussions" and would be "injurious to the best interests and welfare of the United States."

"It would be taken, throughout the free world, to forecast U. S. trade policies which would make it impossible for them (U. S. allies) to live without increasing association with and dependence on the Communist world," Dulles said.

His bald attack on the Simpson bill opened a wide schism between the Eisenhower Administration and some leading House Republicans. Simpson is chairman of the Congressional Campaign Committee—the group that will work with Eisenhower to try to hold and strengthen Republican control of the House in the 1954 elections.

The report said the "extraordinary" rate "one of the most sensational developments ever recorded in the field of public health"—was due to:

1. Energetic mass action for the early detection of the disease through X-rays and other tests.
2. Prevention through BCG vaccination.
3. Control of such foodstuffs as milk.
4. Improved medical facilities due to the development of collective insurance.
5. Recent progress in treatment methods.

NOTES OF A HUNGRY MIDLANDER—

Patte Abbott Finds Spanish Trains Unhurried, Unworried

By PATTE ABBOTT
Reporter-Telegram Staff

SEVILLE, SPAIN — Spain has more than its share of beautiful scenery and cities—but for trains, you can give me the Texas Special any day.

We had our first experience with the Spanish variety on a trip from Algeciras, a little Spanish resort near Gibraltar, to Seville. The distance was a little more than 100 miles and we covered it in a "record-breaking" 14 1/2 hours. I saw burros making much better time.

It did afford a wonderful opportunity for observing the scenery, though. In fact, we had frequent stops for which that seemed to be the only purpose.

The stations were something else again. Here we were greeted by huge crowds. Whether they came to gawk or possibly to cheer us on, I was never able to find out. Eventually, though, the whistle would blow and we would be on our way. (The crowd apparently was as amazed at this super-human feat as were we). Ten minutes later we would repeat the entire procedure.

What, No Diner?

It was the middle of the afternoon before we began to suspect something definitely was amiss—namely the diner. Our suspicions were confirmed when our compartment mates brought out a bottle of wine and some sandwiches. Having had no such foresight we were forced to dine on a couple of oranges and a box of chocolates—a feast which our well-fed neighbors considered most strange. They shrugged and raised their eyes heavenward as if to say, "That's an American for you."

No one else in this land of no-hurry seemed the least surprised or upset to discover we were running two hours late.

Spanish trains, incidentally, are arranged quite differently from their American counterparts. Each car is divided into compartments which may be entered directly from the outside. The aisle runs along the side of the car instead of through the middle. We had the misfortune to be seated between two doors outside doors also are placed at intervals along the side aisles. The general effect was bedlam. Our compartment played host to more arriving and departing passengers than Grand Central Station on a holiday weekend.

Another novel effect was in the window arrangement. These slide down from the top and are adjusted by a belt-like contraption with different notches for different window levels. The person nearest the window has the privilege of determining the amount of ventilation, and heaven help those who shared with the fresh air fiend. They not only froze to death, they came out looking like end-men for the Midland Kiwanis Club Minstrel.

Not even a Spanish train could go on forever, though.

Just when we were considering hopping the next burros that passed, we reached Seville. The train gave a final lurch that deposited our baggage at our feet, then stood by patiently while we ran, not walked, to the nearest exit.

It was all over but the laugh we would have had.

Baptists To Expand Missions Program

HOUSTON —(P)— An expanded missions program, at home and abroad, has been predicted for the Southern Baptist Convention.

Dr. J. D. Gray, New Orleans, convention president, said Sunday night a "rising tide" of missions interest is being shown by seminary students.

He told the Women's Missionary Union many of the students are preparing to answer calls for missions service. He said continuation of such a trend could lead to expanding the convention's program "many times."

The convention now has 900 missionary workers abroad, 1,500 at home.

Gray spoke at the first session of a three-day WMU meeting being held preliminary to Wednesday's opening of the 98th meeting of the convention.

Almost 30,000 messengers from more than 28,000 churches are expected here for the convention program that will continue through Sunday.

Navy Guns, Bombs Blast North Korean Coastal Installations

SEOUL —(P)— The American Navy's big guns and bombs burned or flattened 228 Communist buildings on the Korean northeast coast Sunday in one of its heaviest blows of the war.

Two carriers, the Princeton and the Valley Forge, hurled scores of planes into the attack on supply areas around Hungnam and Hamhung.

The 45,000-ton battleship New Jersey stood offshore and pounded the area with its 16-inch guns. She was credited with destroying 23 buildings and damaging eight.

Far East Air Force B-29's struck at airfields at the North Korean capital, Pyongyang, and carrier-based planes raked the northwest coast.

U. S. Fifth Air Force B-26 bombers and Thunderjet pilots reported destruction of 140 supply trucks last night. It was their highest bag in three weeks.

On the ground, only patrol clashes were reported Sunday night and Monday morning.

Senate Holds Last Tideland Debate

WASHINGTON —(P)— The Senate debated for the twenty-fourth and last day Monday the controversial bill, backed by the Eisenhower Administration, to give the coastal states title to offshore submerged lands rich in oil.

A vote on the bill, by unanimous agreement, will be taken Tuesday afternoon, ending what the bill's backers term a filibuster and its opponents call an educational campaign.

Passage is regarded as certain, by a margin which Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas predicted would be two to one. That has been the approximate vote on a series of tests on various amendments.

CRIME PAYS LESS AND LESS

HONG KONG —(P)— Things are so tough in Red China's western Fukien province that bandits have quit because business is terrible, two expelled Catholic sisters said Monday.

They said they walked 27 miles over mountains once crawling with bandits and were not molested.

There's no profit in banditry any more because everyone is so poor, said Fortuna Kobler, 42, of Switzerland, and Gabriel Bay, 67, of Italy.

Baseball Magnate Starts Prison Term

ST. LOUIS —(P)— Fred Saigh, former St. Louis Cardinals owner, surrendered Monday to a U. S. deputy marshal to begin a 15-month prison term for income tax evasion.

"It's a terrible thing to happen to a guy who doesn't deserve it," the former major league club owner remarked.

Saigh surrendered to Deputy Marshall Les Davison in a downtown office building. They left immediately for Terre Haute, Ind., federal penitentiary.

President Faces Major Test On Program For Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON —(P)— President Eisenhower faces what some congressmen say will be a major test of his leadership when Congress considers foreign aid this week.

Hearings open Tuesday before the combined Senate and House Foreign Relations Committees, with Administration spokesmen expected to recommend a $5,800,000,000 program for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Free Europe's progress toward building a defense against any Communist aggression, whether aid emphasis should be shifted from Europe to the Red-threatened Far East, and how to substitute trade for aid—all these and other questions are due for a heavy working over.

Administration witnesses will include Secretary of State Dulles, Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, Mutual Security Director Harold E. Stassen and Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Emphasis On East
Dulles, in outlining the Administration's foreign policy, has said it contemplates possibly giving more aid to the Orient and less to Europe, with the European nations strengthening their economies through more trade.

Dulles announced Saturday that the U. S. is feeding "critically needed military items" to the anti-Communist defenders of Laos in Indochina. He did not say what these items were, but it was learned they included two or three dozen big cargo planes, which can carry 64 paratroops or a great deal of material, among other supplies.

Chairman Short (R-Mo.) of the House Armed Services Committee said on a CBS television program Sunday the U. S. may have to fight to keep Russia out of Indochina and the Middle East.

Senator Sparkman (D-Ala.) called the invasion of Laos "one of the most serious things that has happened."

Although no serious suggestion to eliminate all foreign aid is expected in Congress, the President may find members of his own party in the forefront of those demanding heavy reductions.

Kerr Plans Fight For Public Power Fund Restoration

WASHINGTON —(P)— Senator Kerr (D-Okla.) plans a fight in the Senate for an increase in House-approved appropriations for the Southwestern Power Administration (SPA).

He hopes to get SPA's continuing fund for the year beginning July 1 restored at least to the $3-763,000 figure recommended by Secretary of Interior McKay.

The House, on recommendation of its appropriations committee, cut the continuing fund to $150,000. The Truman Administration proposed $5,650,000.

The continuing fund is used for contracts with private utilities and rural electrification cooperatives for sale, purchase and exchange of power.

MORGANTOWN, W. VA.—(P)— South Korean Army officers in training at one U. S. military installation heavily favor the bombing of Manchuria.

The 63 ROK officers at Fort Benning, Ga., were queried on this and other aspects of the Korean War by Kyung Won Lee, West Virginia University senior and editor of the Korean Messenger, an English language paper he started several months ago for Koreans living in the United States.

Fifty-nine of the officers polled favored bombing of Chinese Communist bases in Manchuria. None was against the suggestion, but four were undecided.
