Hemingway Leads Writers Capturing Pulitzer Prizes

NEW YORK—(AP)—His vivid tale of "The Old Man and the Sea" Tuesday was the first of Ernest Hemingway's many novels to bring him a Pulitzer prize in his 30-year literary career.

Hemingway's short novel Monday won the 1953 Pulitzer Prize for fiction.

The stage award went to William Inge for his Broadway hit play "Picnic."

Repeat winners in this year's list of prizes were Archibald MacLeish, poetry, and Associated Press writer Don Whitehead, who received honors for national reporting. The New York Times received its second special Pulitzer citation, this time for its Sunday edition section, "Review of the Week."

Selections for the 1953 Pulitzer awards were announced Monday by the trustees of Columbia University. The prizes were made for work done during 1952.

Meritorious public service by a newspaper—the Whiteville (N. C.) News Reporter and the Labor City (N. C.) Tribune for their successful campaign against the Ku Klux Klan. The independently published papers are the first weeklies ever to win a Pulitzer Prize.

Stories Free Prisoner—International reporting—Austin Wehrwein, 37, of the Milwaukee Wis. Journal, for a series of articles on Canada.

Local reporting—Staff reporters and photographers of the Providence (R. I.) Journal and Evening Bulletin for their coverage of a bank robbery; and Edward J. Mowery, 47, of the New York World-Telegram and Sun, for his stories leading to vindication of a man falsely imprisoned for life as a murderer.

Cartoon—Edward D. Kuekes, of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, for his sketch of two soldiers in Korea carrying a dead buddy and commenting that he was too young to vote.

Hole In Adlai's Shoe—Editorials—Vermont Connecticut Journal, 39, of the Wall Street Journal, for his regular editorial series covering many topics.

News photographer—William M. Gallagher, 30, of the Flint (Mich.) Journal, for his picture of Democratic presidential candidate Adlai E. Stevenson campaigning with a hole in the sole of his shoe.

Biography—David J. Mays, 57, and Virginia-born, for his book on Edmund Pendleton, the lawyer who guided Virginia in its advocacy of American independence in 1776.

Mo Music Award—History—George Dangerfield, 47, for his "The Era of Good Feelings," a study of the Administrations of James Monroe and John Quincy Adams. He is British-born.

No award was made in music this year. The $1,500 traveling scholarship in art went to Joseph Amusiewicz, 22, of Erie, Pa., a student at the Cleveland Institute of Art.

The winning novel by Hemingway, 54, is the story of an aged fisherman's fight to land a giant fish.

Secret Korean Trip—Whitehead, 46, a Virginia native, won his second Pulitzer prize for his 4,400-word story, "The Great Deception," a graphic description of President Eisenhower's secret flight to Korea before his inauguration. Whitehead in 1951 shared a Pulitzer for his Korean war coverage with several other correspondents.

The awards for journalism are worth $1,000 each to the winners. The prize-winning newspapers get gold medals. Awards in other fields are worth $500.

Joseph Pulitzer, the late publisher and founder of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, established the Pulitzer Prizes in journalism and letters in a bequest of $2,500,000 to Columbia University. Awards announced Monday were the thirty-sixth annual prizes.

Restaurant Men Conduct Spring Round-Up In City

It was Spring Round-Up time in Midland Monday night as members of the West Texas Restaurant Association from nine area cities gathered here for their semi-annual get-together.

The dinner-meeting which concluded the round-up in the Hotel Scharbauer Ballroom. Members and their guests were present from Midland, Big Spring, Lubbock, Pecos, Abilene, Fort Stockton, Odessa, Lamesa and Hobbs, N. M. L. D. Christian of Fort Stockton, association president, presided at the banquet session, and W. E. King of Midland, who arranged the program, was master-of-ceremonies. Chamber of Commerce Manager Delbert Downing welcomed the visitors to Midland.

W. Price Jr. of Austin, executive vice president of the Texas Restaurant Association, was the principal speaker. He lauded the purpose, program and operation of the West Texas association and outlined the general program, objectives and accomplishments of the state association.

Third Largest Industry—He called attention to the fact that the restaurant industry is the third largest retail industry in the United States, and that if it is to progress, it must have a well-planned organization and a well-organized educational program.

Price lashed out at the "school-boy legislation" in Austin in discussing proposed legislation effecting the restaurant industry. He said the most perplexing legislative problems are sponsored by labor.

He also warned that if the school teachers get their $600 across-the-board salary hike, "You will be confronted with a sales tax of some kind."

"We can't stand any more taxes right now," the speaker declared.

"All we want is the right to continue to operate our businesses under America's great free-enterprise system."

He urged his listeners to plan for the future and to watch their operating costs in the face of current trends. He recommended good, constructive advertising programs, backed up by the best of service and top-quality foods. Price further urged the restaurant operators to "Take pride in your profession."

Other speakers listed—Harry Foster of Pecos, a director of the state association, addressed the assembly on "What's in Store for You at the State Convention."

John Kattman of Lubbock spoke on "What the Association Can Do for You," and Bill Collins, Midland Reporter-Telegram editor, discussed "Press Relations." Joe Barnard of Lubbock, secretary-treasurer, submitted the association's financial report.

Special entertainment included dance numbers by Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Roberts of the Arthur Murray School of Dance, and novelty selections by the "Slick Six" of Midland High School.

Revamping Of CAA To Aid Fort Worth—WASHINGTON—(AP)—A plan to consolidate seven regions of the Civil Aeronautics Administration into four would give the Fort Worth office control of 11 states.

The CAA said Monday the new setup would be placed in effect before June 30 and was expected to save $1,500,000. The Fort Worth office would serve Texas, North Carolina, Tennessee, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina and Florida.

VISIT IN BROWNFIELD—Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Frack were recent visitors in Brownfield.

SMELLY BUSINESS—Think your job smells? Not nearly so much as Dr. J. M. Shewan's. The London scientist has to smell fish for a living. His knowing nose plays an important part in his daily experiments with methods for preserving fish.

Eagles Vote Work Cited

The Fraternal Order of Eagles has been cited, along with 22 other national organizations, as an award winner in the 1952 "Register and Vote" competition sponsored by the American Heritage Foundation, according to a report by Erie J. Robertson, Secretary of Midland Aerie No. 2928, F. O. E.

Announcement of the award was made by Charles E. Wilson, former president of the General Electric Corporation and chairman of the Heritage Foundation's committee of judges. In making the award to the Eagles, chairman Wilson said the Eagles program was "the most comprehensive and effective register and vote plan developed by a national service organization."

Prior to the 1952 Presidential election, the Eagles waged an intensive educational campaign among its membership and the general public on the importance of registering and voting. Each subordinate Aerie and Auxiliary was sent promotional material recommending the use of a "chain" post card. Each member of the Eagles was asked to send a post card to five people, reminding each to register and vote. Each recipient of a card was likewise asked to send a similar message to five other people.

Besides the post card promotion, the Eagles prepared several hundred thousand "register and vote" circulars which were distributed to members and the general public. Strong editorial support was offered by the three Eagle publications, the "Eagle" magazine, the "Mrs. Eagle" magazine and the "Eagle Leader."

It is estimated that the world's oceans hold 1,966,830,121,984,000 tons of magnesium.

Deep Silence Covers Front; Sea Thunders

SEOUL—(AP)—The Korean battlefront was so quiet Tuesday the sighting of a lone Communist soldier went unreported. But a U. S. Navy task force poured tons of shells and bombs into the battered east coast port of Wonsan in the heaviest strike in months.

"Our men sighted one Chinese near an outpost and threw grenades. He went away," read the day's battle report of an American division on the Western Front.

Some observers said the 155-mile line was quieter than at any time since the war began 34 months ago.

Four ships led by the battleship New Jersey bombarded Red gun positions ringing Wonsan harbor, while dive bombers and fighter-bombers from Task Force 77 bombed and rocketed the city. First reports said shells from the New Jersey's 16-inch rifles smashed the main Red observation post overlooking the harbor.

The attack was led by the cruiser St. Paul and supported by the destroyers Nicolas, Henderson, Moore, Brush and Endicott. Their guns hit Communist bridges and guns and the destroyer-mine-sweeper Endicott sank three Red sampans.

Monday night 13 B-29 Superforts struck two Communist supply centers on the west coast at Hadan and Chingwan. Almost 400 military equipment and supply storage buildings and troop billeting structures were targets of the attack.

In the biggest of three Red probing attacks reported during the night, about 20 Chinese skirmished with a South Korean patrol on the Eastern Front.

House Turns On Heat, Passes 100 Bills In Preparation For Early Adjournment

AUSTIN — The House in a sudden burst of energy worked until 3 a.m. Tuesday passing 100 or so bills. Across the Capitol, the Senate deadlocked in the session's second all-night filibuster.

Before going into its six-and-a-half-hour night session, the House finished the revised election code and sent it to the Senate.

It passed the bill 119-15, turning down two proposals presented as helpful to the Republican Party in Texas in revising the election code.

Cross Filibuster Repealed

The House measure repeals cross filing and leaves unchanged present laws that direct Republicans to hold primaries.

Most bills passed Monday night also must go to the Senate for approval. A few went to the governor. Most were local, minor or technical.

But the long calendar included these important ones which now face Senate action:

Creating the Upper Neches River Municipal Water District. It was not opposed or amended on the floor.

Providing for licensing, inspection and regulation of nursing homes under the State Department of Health.

Educate Alcoholics

Providing for education and study of the problem of alcoholism, authorizing such work be done with private gifts but not through state funds.

Providing for transfer of $196,000 in welfare funds to building a gymnasium and auditorium at the Gainesville State School for Delinquent Girls.

Sent to the governor was a Senate bill providing eligibility standards for appointment of the junior college appropriation.

House members stuck doggedly to their desks in an obvious effort to clear the calendar of local legislation, one of the usual preludes to final adjournment.

Everybody had eyes on May 12. That's when the 120 days suggested by the Constitution as the length of a session is up.

The State Affairs Committee considered a resolution setting noon, May 12, as date for final adjournment.

Election Changes

The election code bill would make a score of changes in present laws, most of them minor.

Major changes are on primary election dates, the cross-filing and permanent poll tax exemptions for persons over 60.

Rep. Marshall Bell of San Antonio offered the amendment to hold primary elections on the fourth Saturday in May and the fourth Saturday in June.

They now are held in July and August. "To hot for candidates to campaign and too hot for persons to go vote," Bell said.

Farm Opposites

He had opposition from rural representatives, who said the farmers would be too busy in May and June. The House favored the earlier dates, 7-4-60.

Rep. Obie Jones of Austin offered the amendment to give permanent exemptions to all persons over 60. Such exemptions are given now only to persons in towns under 10,000 population.

"It's wrong to make the old folk go down every year and stand in line to get an exemption," Jones said.

The House agreed with him.

Repeal of cross-filing came after Rep. John Warden of McKinney said the practice would encourage the Republicans in Texas "and Texas needs a Republican Party to keep a definite check on the Democratic Party in Texas."

The House repealed it, 81-57.

Reps. Doug Bergman of Dallas and H. A. Hull of Fort Worth offered amendments that would have cut out Republican primaries next Summer.

The House killed the amendments by 82-56 and 78-63 votes.

Tummy Ache Vetoes Law

OKLAHOMA CITY — Gov. Johnston Murray's upset stomach upset the Legislature.

Everyone thought the governor had left for Washington, D. C., to attend a conference Monday. So Lt. Gov. James Berry signed a minor bill into law.

That's what he thought!

Murray, who explained he didn't tell anyone he was around because he was too sick to be bothered by phone calls, said he never left. Berry's signature on the bill, therefore, is illegal.

In all probability, the Legislature will have to recall the measure, pass it again, and send it back to the governor's office for the correct signature.

Mrs. N. Paul Walker and daughter, Paula, are visiting in Lubbock with Mrs. Walker's mother while Mr. Walker attends to business in New Mexico.

Midlander Returns From Truck Meet

Marshall Moore of the West-Tex Equipment Company, Midland International motor truck dealer, has returned from a meeting at the International Harvester Company's Sweetwater district offices at which the company announced a substantial reduction in the retail prices of its new R-Line light, medium, and light-heavy duty truck models.

The price reductions, according to Moore, cover the company's R-110, 120, 130, 150, 160, 170, and 180-model series, ranging from its smallest pickup trucks through those of the 19,500-pound rate capacity.

The downward price adjustments range from 3.5 per cent on the R-180 series to 10.6 per cent on the R-120 pickup models. They range from a minimum of $87 to a maximum of $152 on former list prices. The overall price reduction in these weight categories amounts to about 6.7 per cent.

A native of Fannin County, Mrs. Elrod moved here after the death of her husband, W. T. Elrod, a ranchman, in 1926 in Clovis, N. M. She was a member of the Methodist Church.

Baptists Urged To Give More Guidance To Youth In Preparation For Marriage

HOUSTON — Southern Baptist pastors were told Tuesday they should open a more intensive program for guidance of youth in courtship and in the preparation for marriage.

Dr. H. H. Hobbs, Oklahoma City pastor, told the Pastors' Conference of the Southern Baptist Convention: "Every pastor should give a more prominent place in his preaching program to a type of message intended to magnify the dignity of sex and the sanctity and true end of the marriage vow."

Try Again Idea

"Too many people get married with the idea that if they do not succeed they can call it quits and try again," Hobbs said. "If we do not warn them, their blood is on our hands."

Another speaker at the conference, preliminary to Wednesday's opening of the convention, warned there must be constant vigilance to detect any infringement of the principle of separation of church and state.

Dr. Edward Willingham, Washington pastor, said assaults are being made against man's fight for soul liberty.

"Each new generation must be educated as to the true meaning of religious liberty," he said.

Aid The Romantics

Hobbs said when young people are planning to be married they have the greatest desire to make a success of their marriage.

"We should give them every possible aid to that end," he said. "Many marriages go on the rocks in the early adjustment stages simply because those involved are seeking to establish a happy marriage on a hit and miss basis rather than under the watchful and sympathetic guidance of those charged with their moral and spiritual welfare."

Hobbs called for a more uniform position and practice among Baptist ministers about marriage, divorce and remarriage.

"We should pray that in dealing with such matters we should be as wise as serpents and as harmless as doves," he said.

A $8,750,000 budget is to be the convention's first major item of business.

Air Board Refuses Pioneer Plea, Asks Additional Figures

WASHINGTON — The Civil Aeronautics Board says Pioneer Airlines will have to submit more data before the CAB will consider the airline's request for more mail subsidy pay.

The action was part of a ruling Monday in which the CAB refused to reverse an earlier decision against the use by Pioneer of fast Martin 202 planes.

Pioneer had asked that in case the CAB did not reconsider the case, it at least increase the mail subsidy pay from the $1,000,500 it had authorized to $1,398,500.

Pioneer said the larger figure was required to meet operating costs.

The CAB had based its $1,000,500 authorization on the finding that Pioneer should use smaller and slower DC-3 aircraft.

The board said it would have to reopen the case to gather more data before it would pass on the increased subsidy.

Texas, California Hike Crude Output

TULSA — California, the nation's second largest producing state, passed the million-barrel mark in daily average production of crude oil and condensate during the week ended May 2, the Oil and Gas Journal said Tuesday.

The state rose 1,900 barrels to its all-time high of 1,000,800 barrels.

Texas had the week's biggest gain up 16,950 barrels to 2,671,625 barrels. The largest decline was Oklahoma's 8,600 barrels to 539,500.

The total daily average increased 9,750 barrels to 6,275,525 barrels the Journal said. Sizeable gains were reported also for Louisiana, up 2,825 barrels to 693,100, and New Mexico, 1,228 to 186,700.

Funeral services for John Kelly Wright, 72, father of Mrs. R. T. Cox of 1907 West Texas Street, were held at 2 p.m. Tuesday in Johnson's Chapel at San Angelo. He died in a Midland hospital Sunday.

Plans Talked To Get Heavy Bond Ballot

Plans for getting-out-the-vote at Saturday's road bond election were discussed Monday noon at a meeting of the Highway Committee of the Midland Chamber of Commerce.

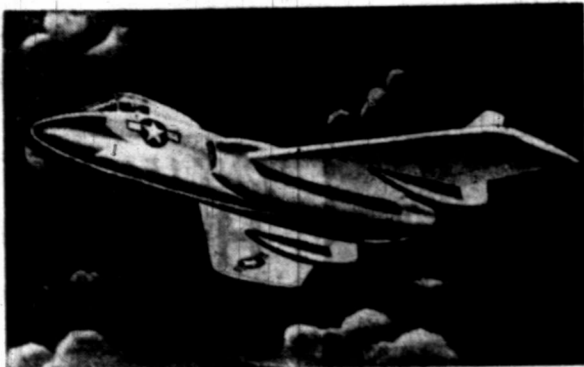

Pat Ruckman, panel chairman, was the host at the luncheon.

It was pointed out that a two-thirds majority is required in the $350,000 bond issue proposal to finance the purchase of right-of-way for the widening of U. S. 80 from Midland to the Martin County line. The proposal has the approval of the Chamber of Commerce.

The committee will distribute folders stressing the importance of passage of the bond issue proposal, and will contact business firms, urging their personnel to vote in Saturday's election. Citizens also will be reminded of the election in other ways.

The committee members also discussed plans for erecting attractive signs at highway intersections leading to Midland.

Attending the meeting in addition to Ruckman, were M. W. Collier, Robert L. Wood, R. M. Barron, John P. Butler, C. C. Keith, Barney Greathouse, James Minis, Bill Collins, Delbert Downing and Burin Hines.

Author Of Wagner Labor Act Dies After Colorful Career

NEW YORK—Robert F. Wagner, former Democratic U. S. senator who sponsored the Wagner Labor Relations Act and other important New Deal legislation, died Monday at 75 after a long illness.

Wagner, who resigned from the Senate in June, 1949, because of illness, died at the home of his son, Manhattan Borough President Robert F. Wagner, Jr. The son said death was caused by heart fatigue.

The former New York senator had been an invalid the last few years.

Robert F. Wagner

and was bedridden a large part of the time. He received the last rites of the Roman Catholic church, to which he was converted several years ago. Funeral services will be held Thursday.

Wagner served almost 23 years in the U. S. Senate, but illness kept him from attending sessions in the 80th and 81st Congress. When Wagner resigned, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey appointed Republican John Foster Dulles, the present secretary of State, to fill the seat until the November, 1949 election. In that election, he was defeated.

Miss Universe, New Hubby Honeyymoon One Day, Part

TOKYO—The bride's eyes were soft and moist, the bridegroom had a shiner.

She is Armi Kutusela, proclaimed the most beautiful woman in the world when crowned Miss Universe last year. She hails from Finland.

He is Virgilio Milaro from the island Philippines, possessor of plenty of pesos and a black eye he got in a fight the other night.

They were married in a little Tokyo church Monday night and only three people went to their wedding.

They wanted it that way because Virgilio was a little shy about that shiner.

"She's wonderful!" the 25-year-old millionaire Filipino beamed at his swank Imperial Hotel suite Tuesday during a brief honeymoon in this land of cherry blossoms.

Soon Must Part

The happy bride beamed, too. She had a message from her mother in Finland wishing her happiness.

Wednesday they part. She is flying to Honolulu. He is going to Manila on business.

Then he will rush to the Hawaiian Islands to rejoin her. From there the will tour the United States and Europe before going to the Philippines to live.

It was a whirlwind courtship. They met in March at a dance in Baguio, the cool, summer capital of the Philippines. Miss Universe had gone to the Islands for the International Trade Exposition.

Not Too Young

They danced and dined nightly in Manila until April 26 when she took a plane for Tokyo.

Virgilio, a former student at Columbia University in New York, came along too, in another plane.

Armi, 18, said she was too young for romance.

"But we just couldn't wait," said Virgilio.

Friday, Virgilio gave her a beautiful three-carat diamond engagement ring.

After the wedding Virgilio said Armi's public career is over.

"She's going to lead a plain, quiet life in the Philippines."

NEW DELHI, INDIA—Adlai Stevenson, 1952 Democratic presidential candidate now touring the Far East, arrived in New Delhi Tuesday and within 10 minutes had a private conference with Prime Minister Nehru.

Special emphasis is being placed during Be Kind to Animals Week on the need for homes for cats and dogs being temporarily cared for at the shelter. Some of the animals available for adoption have been released recently from homes in which they can no longer be kept, others are strays, while others are new born puppies or kittens.

"We are always glad to have people see what we are doing for the community but we are especially anxious to have them come out this week," Rose said.

Children always are intrigued by a visit to the shelter and they are particularly welcome during BKA Week.

1953 Mobilgas Economy Run

SHOWS HOW YOU CAN GET BETTER GAS MILEAGE!

25 cars average 22.2 Miles per Gallon in Tough Road Test!

Modern cars are capable of a high degree of economy, but few drivers are getting out of their cars the efficient, economical performance that is built into them. The Mobilgas Economy Run clearly shows you how to get from your car all that's built into it... all the gas mileage your car can deliver.

Stock cars, certified by AAA. These cars are no different from your own. They are cars you might have bought in a dealer's showroom. They weren't tampered with or "souped-up." Their selection, like the entire run, was under the strict supervision of the American Automobile Association contest board.

Rugged route, far tougher than normal driving. On the 1206 mile course from Los Angeles to Sun Valley, these cars encountered, in just three days, climate and road conditions as rough as the average motorist meets all year: desert heat around 100 degrees, mountain temperatures close to zero. Much of the route was through the heart of the Rockies... long, steep climbs, hairpin curves. Over 10 per cent was stop-and-go through towns and cities.

What's the SECRET of Their Remarkable MILEAGE?

It's very simple... they got the full potential that is built into modern cars and a modern quality gasoline. To get it, they did three things. 1) Put their cars in top condition with good servicing (with the stock Mobil products carried by your neighborhood Mobilgas Dealer.) 2) They practiced careful, thoughtful driving. 3) They all used Mobilgas or Mobilgas Special.

DO AS THESE DRIVERS DID...

Vinegar Bend Throttles Bucs

By BEN PHELAGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

The folks down in Vinegar Bend, Ala., better start thumbing their St. Louis guidebooks. This looks like a good year to go watch Wilmer pitch.

Wilmer, as he is known to his grandma, is better known to baseball fans as Vinegar Bend Mizell, the 22-year-old plowboy who pitches for the St. Louis Cardinals.

A left-hander with all the eccentricities usually associated with southpaws, plus a whole bundle of his own, Mizell is the greatest character, in the true sense of the word, to find his way into the Cardinal organization since Dizzy Dean.

Monday night at Pittsburgh Vinegar Bend mowed down the recently dangerous Pittsburgh Pirates on two measly hits. He struck out nine and didn't allow a safety until Rookie Carlos Bernier broke through with a single in the sixth; Frank Thomas got the only other Pittsburgh hit, also a single, with two out in the ninth. St. Louis won the game, 5-0.

When Mizell was pitching for Houston of the Texas League in 1951 the entire population of Vinegar Bend—total 35—went over to Lamesa see him pitch against Shreveport. Since Wilmer has won two games and pitched one rain-shortened tie, this would seem an appropriate time for them to move in on Busch Stadium for another look at the local boy.

While Mizell was ending the Pirates' five-game winning streak two other streaks in the National League also were broken. The Milwaukee Braves stopped Brooklyn at six straight with a 9-4 decision at Ebbets Field and the Cincinnati Reds snapped their eight-game losing streak at the expense of the New York giants. This happened, 9-5, in one for the Wisconsin Redmen, who bowed 18 times in 21 meetings with Brooklyn last season. After sending Freshner Rose to the showers in two innings, the Braves exploded for five runs against Clem Labine in the sixth inning to get the decision. Del Crandall, Johnny Logan and Sid Gordon led the 15-hit Milwaukee attack.

Del Ennis had a big night for the Phillies. He drove home five runs, three of them on a double, and hit a home run as Jim Konstanty picked up his second success against one loss.

Daryl Spencer, the Giants rookie third baseman who was benched last week for weak hitting, smashed his first major league grand slam home run in New York's first game triumph over the Redlegs.

Gus Bell matched Spencer's effort for Cincinnati in the nightcap. Bell and Ted Kluswek collected 10 hits and drove in 12 runs during the long afternoon.

Detroit hammered Vic Raschi and three successors for 18 hits, including four doubles and two triples. The Yanks have used 15 pitchers in their last four games, of which they have won only one.

Rutledge May Miss Bulldog, Abilene Tangle Wednesday

Midland High School, playing out its first baseball season in three years, had things rough all along but nothing compared to this last week.

Texas Nine Trips SMU

By The Associated Press

Here come the Longhorns! That was the cry across the Southwestern Conference Tuesday after the University of Texas cut down the Southern Methodist Mustangs, 8-5, Monday.

Look what's happened: First, the Bulldogs, with a 2-6 record, face a schedule handicap by playing their last two games on the road. And that won't help much in the Bulldog's fight to leave Lamesa (with the same 2-6 mark) in the cellar.

The away-from-home Midland games are at Abilene Wednesday and at San Angelo Saturday, these clubs ranking first and second, respectively, in District 3-AA.

Besides that, Midland now looks for a catcher and clean-up batter because of the illness of team Captain Rusty Rutledge. The MHS Junior, who played last Saturday and tripled in three runs to give Midland a 9-8 win over Lamesa, has been in bed since that game.

And Coaches Keith Bobo and Louis Grevelle said Wednesday morning they were afraid Rutledge would be unable to make the Abilene trip.

In case of his absence, the Bulldog coaches will use either Shortstop Gwyn Orinham or Leftfielder-Pitcher Jesse Hatfield behind the bat, with Bobby Green taking over as shortstop or Joe Bowman moving to left field, according to the coaches' choice.

Boyer McKnight, who previously suffered an 8-2 setback at Abilene's hands, probably will be the starting hurler Wednesday in the 2:30 p.m. game, Grevelle said.

The Eagles, boasting a 7-1 record after losing to San Angelo, 3-2, last week, probably will start Jim Spradley, who limited Midland to five hits during their Indian Park appearance in April.

His battery mate, Bobby Oliver, paces the Abilene batting attack as cleanup hitter. He's one of the most versatile players in the loop.

Skip Alexander, Mike Souchak and Art Wall, Jr., current members of the touring professional golf circuit, are former Duke University golfers.

Floyd Martin Raps Decider In Oiler Win

BIG SPRING — P — In weather more suited for a polar bear party, Wes Ortiz pitched the Odessa Oilers to a 7-6 victory over the Big Spring Broncos Monday night.

The loss was the fourth in five home starts for the Broncos.

Ortiz weakened in the late innings but went all the way. He forced Jerry Petrow, who had homered with a mate aboard in the fifth, to pop to First Sacker Barney Batoon with the tying run at first to end the game.

The Oilers used three hits and two walks to score three times in the third inning. The big blow of the inning was Roberto Fabian's triple.

Leo Eastham crashed out a two-run round-tripper for Odessa in the fourth.

Floyd Martin drove in what proved to be the winning run in the seventh, singling in Eastham from third base.

Ray Machado started on the mound for Big Spring and went eight innings. He was charged with his third loss. He has won one. Ortiz's record is now 2-2. Both of his wins have come at the expense of Big Spring.

LOBOS BUNCH HITS TO TRIP DRILLERS, 9-4

LAMESA — P — The Lamesa Lobos ended a seven-game winning streak for Artesia's Drillers Monday night, with Howard Morganstern weathering through a 9-4 victory.

Armonda Sanches batted twice in that big fourth, leading off with a home run over the left-center field fence and then doubling in the final two runs of that frame.

Fred Parker was the starter and loser for Artesia with Bob Garrett taking over in the fourth.

Triangular Meet May Forecast SWC Champion

AUSTIN — P — A triangular meet here Thursday may pretty well forecast this season's Southwest Conference track and field meet.

Texas, Rice and Texas A&M will meet with A&M and Texas expected to fight it out for honors.

The Aggies, defending champs, are strong favorites to repeat, but some help from weaker outfits — like Rice — could throw the championship to Texas.

Thursday's three-way meet will be the last for all three schools until the conference meet, set for Fort Worth, May 15-16.

Meadows' Record May Fall In Pole Vault At State Meet

By The Associated Press

One of the oldest records in the books—the pole vault mark set by then future Olympics Games hero Earl Meadows in 1933—appears likely to tumble at Austin in the Texas interscholastic League Meet this week.

It is one of two overall records that could be bettered in the big three-way meet scheduled Friday and Saturday.

Bobby McBride of Refugio vaulted 13 feet, 2 inches Saturday in an invitation meet in San Antonio. It was a half-inch better than the record set by Meadows then at Central High School in Fort Worth. Meadows later became Olympics champion.

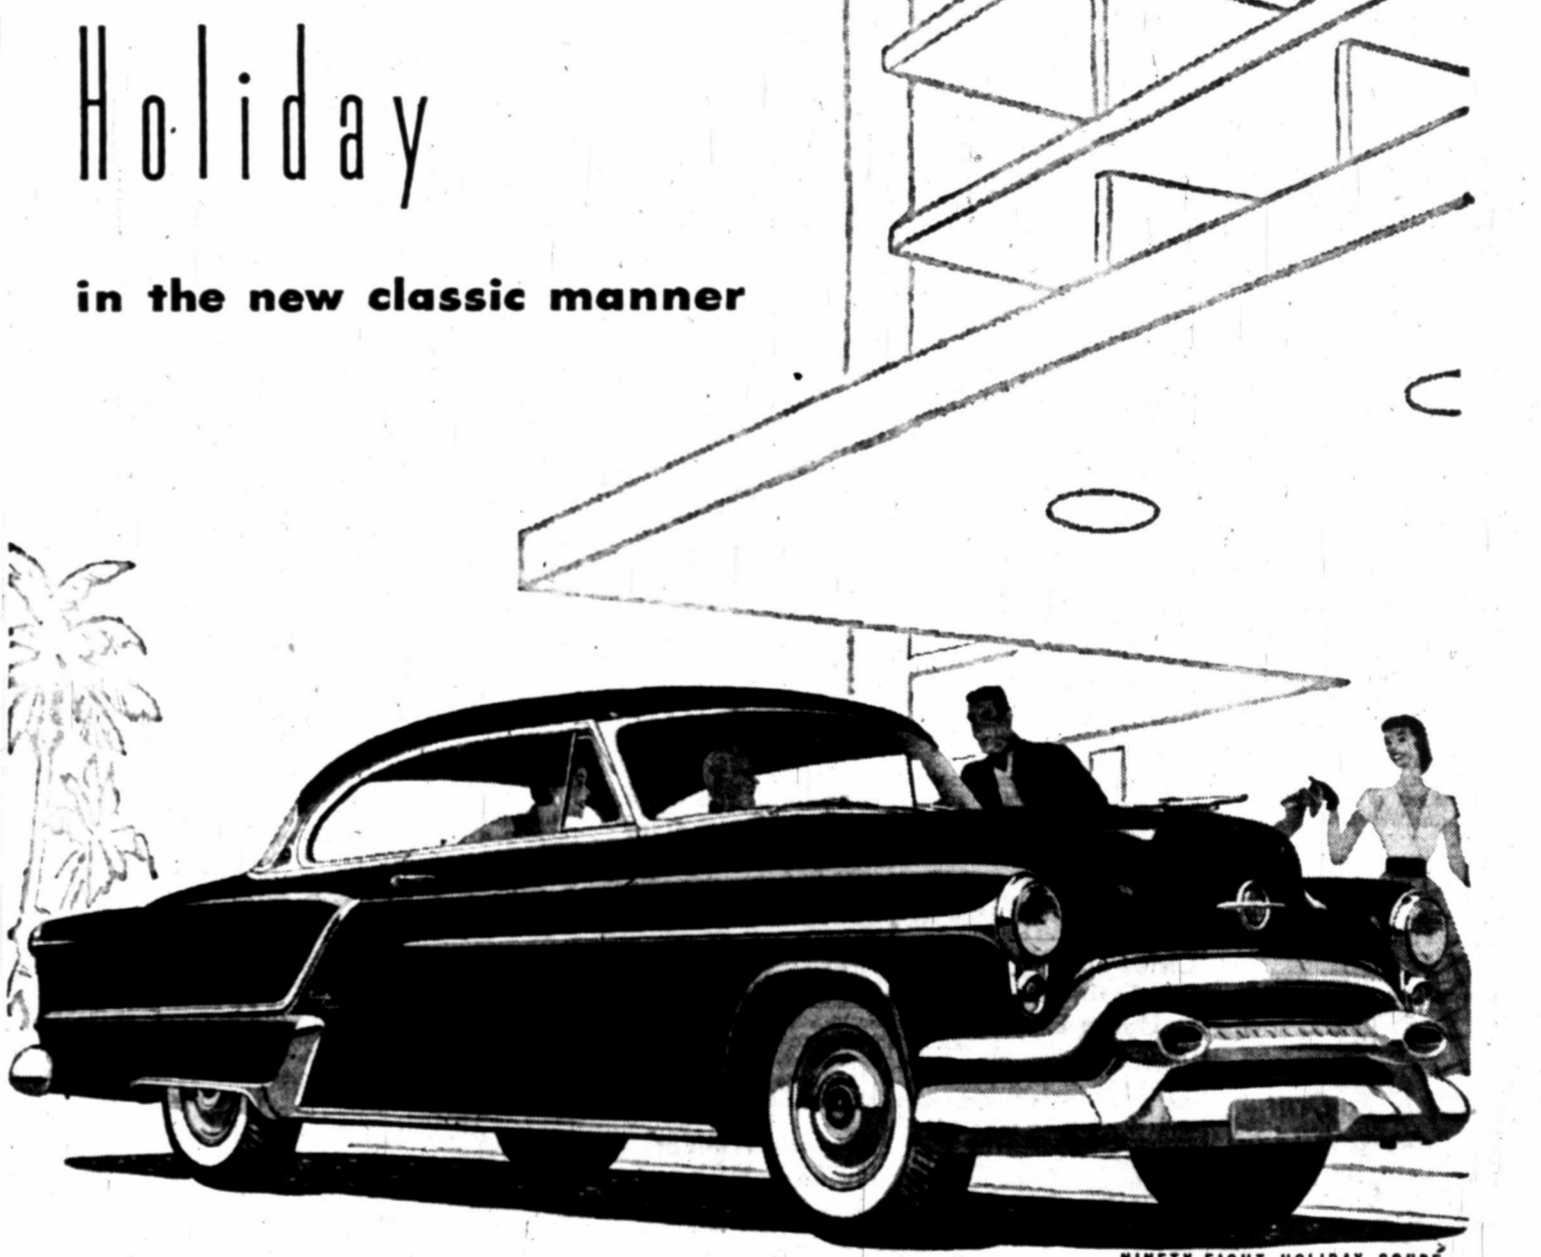

McBride will compete in the Class A division of the meet where the pole vault record is 12-6, set by Stephen James of Silabee in 1952. But his 12-3 is better than anything ever done in any Class AA, A or B.

The other overall record is expected to come in the 150-yard hurdles. Eddie Southern of Sunset (Dallas) ran this event in 19.1 seconds in the regional meet. The state overall record is 20.0 held by Weldon Holley of Odessa in Class AA, Eldon Ammonett of Haskell in Class A and Billy Huddleston of Iran in Class B.

The San Antonio meet also saw James Peters, Brenham's great quarter-miler, beat the mighty 440 men of Baytown—Eddie Gray and Eddie Buss. Peters ran it in 49.8, which bitters his own state record of 50.3 which he shares with Charles Gary of Stamford in the Class A division.

Baytown also ran the mile relay in 3:25.4 which eclipses the Class AA stater record of 3:25.6 but is eight-hundredths of a second over the overall record of 3:24.6 set by Corpus Christi in 1947.

Lowe Releases Dope On 'Tight' Wildcat In SW Winkler Area

More official information has been released on Ralph Lowe of Midland No. 1-C University, wildcat and indicated discovery for gas-distillate production in Southwest Winkler County.
 Operator has been drilling the project "light" below 7,000 feet.
 Drilling test was taken from 7,230 to 7,270 feet. Tool was open three hours with gas surfacing in 12 minutes. Volume was not gauged or estimated. Recovery was 90 feet of slightly oil and gas-cut mud and 600 feet of oil, slightly cut, with mud. Gravity of the oil was 41 degrees. Flowing pressure ranged from 125 to 325 pounds. Shutin pressure after 15 minutes was 1,225 pounds.

 Some observers have picked the top of the Devonian to be at 12,560 feet. The samples from the bottom section of the project are not good and that call may be in error.

Taft Eyes Budget Cuts Below Figure Set By Eisenhower

WASHINGTON—The Eisenhower Administration tentatively has decided to hold military spending at the 43 billion dollar level but Senator Taft said Tuesday the cut under former President Truman's estimates "isn't enough."
 Taft, the Senate Republican leader, confirmed that President Eisenhower's announcement last week of an $8,500,000,000 cutback in appropriation requests to Congress is based on continuing the military program at its present levels in the fiscal year beginning July 1.
 This would offset the $2,500,000,000 increase in arms spending proposed by Truman. Eisenhower has contended, however, that his Administration will get more out of its dollars and thus attain approximately the same combat strength.

"Intelligent Savings"
 Taft said he thinks a Defense Department reorganization plan now pending before Congress, and proposed reductions in manpower should yield some savings, but not enough.
 "What we need is new military advice—a resurvey which will fix the wartime roles of the Army, Navy and Air Force and tell us what weapons we need and what we should discard," he said.
 "With that kind of survey we ought to be able to make some intelligent savings in military spending."
 Taft said he thinks he is "making some progress at the White House" with his proposal that new chiefs of staff be named to start on this survey before their predecessors retire this summer.
 Pentagon officials disclosed Tuesday they plan to cut military manpower by about 250,000 if the Korean War ends but will trim only 180,000 if the present stalemate continues.
 These officials said total arms spending could be cut about two and one-half billion by reductions in manpower and procurement of military hardware not needed immediately.

Vasquez Murder Trial Opens In Court At Pecos

PECOS—Frank B. Vasquez, Pecos man charged with murder with malice, went on trial here Tuesday in 109th District Court. He is charged with the slaying of Gilberto Dominguez July 18, 1952, in Pecos.
 Selection of the twelve jurors at 1 a. m. Tuesday ended a long night session ordered Monday by Judge G. C. Olsen when it appeared jury interviews might go into another day.
 District Attorney John P. Dennison qualified the jurors for the death penalty, thus paving the way for a request for the top punishment. Defense attorney for Vasquez is Dick Starnley of Pecos.
 Jurors chosen from the 52-man venire are James E. McCain, Max Stool, O. H. Beauchamp, H. H. Fore, Shields Norwood, Jerry Jenkins, A. L. Lockett, J. D. Passmore, E. G. Poltevit, R. V. Lumpkin, R. M. Meuth and T. C. Shaw.
 Harrison replied such matters could be solved quickly, once agreement was reached on the neutral nation.

 Rare Rule Invoked
 When Moore left the floor, they invoked a seldom-used rule that cut off all debate on pending amendments, and final disposition of Lane's two bills.
 Then they brought to debate the Administration-backed House bill to set up a state-wide toll road authority with priority for a Dallas-Fort Worth turnpike.
 Again the gag rule was invoked repeatedly on amendments but the Senate balked on blotting out opposition to the bill itself.
 Then at 3:30 a. m., Wagoner took the floor with an amendment that would require an approving election in every county a toll road would pass through.
 "The people are against a toll road bill," he stormed. "They ought to have the opportunity to decide if they want it running through their country or not."
 The proposed constitutional amendment was passed at 4:45 a. m. when Wagoner yielded for that purpose with the reservation that it would not take him off the floor. He resumed his debate a few minutes later.
 Senator Otis Lock of Luffkin, sponsor of the state-wide toll road authority measure, said the bill provides "an orderly manner in which toll roads may be built if and when they come to Texas."

Except for one project between Dallas and Houston covered by the Lane bills, the House bill would assign all toll road building powers to the one authority, he said.
 Called Amendments
 Adopted amendments gave existing private corporations 18 months to begin construction on contemplated projects, removed a provision that would have granted tax refunds to the authority on gasoline used in travel on the toll roads, and restricted truck "ad limits to the present state limits. Moore had argued toll roads are a nuisance, an expense his people couldn't afford to pay, and an invitation to abandon upkeep of free roads along parallel routes.
 "How long do you think the highway department is going to keep up a highway that parallels one of these super-duper highways?" he asked.
 Assisting Moore and Wagoner with long questions was Senators Kilmer Corbin of Lubbock,

Solons Wrangle Over Right Of GOP To Fire Hired Help

WASHINGTON—(AP)—House Democrats killed Tuesday for a fight to grid or modify an appropriation bill provision they claim would just about wreck the civil service system.
 The provision is part of a bill carrying $1,148,000,000 for the State, Justice and Commerce Departments for the year starting July 1. It is identical with one originated in the GOP 80th Congress and retained by subsequent Democratic Congresses.
 It would give the attorney general and the secretaries of State and Commerce "absolute discretion" to fire any employe when they find it necessary "in the interest of the United States."

Big Lake Hearings Start On Two Vacancy Rulings

BIG LAKE—Hearings began Tuesday morning on a case styled Leonard C. Proctor of Midland, et al. vs. T. M. Markham, et al. involving two of 15 disputed vacancy rulings made by State Land Commissioner Bascom Giles Feb. 28, 1952, on the basis of a survey by Byron L. Simpson of San Angelo.
 The case is being heard in 33rd District Court in Midland, and deals with land in Tract 12 and Tract 14, placed by Simpson's survey between Block 36 and 37, Texas & Pacific Railway Company survey. They are the southernmost of the 15 disputed strips in the Spraberry Trend area of Midland, Martin, Reagan and Glasscock Counties.
 The 24.86-acre Tract 14 is wholly within Reagan County, while Tract 12, 38.13 acres, is partially in Reagan and Glasscock Counties.
 The defendant, Markham, was named as consignee for James C. Wilson, Jr. Forth Worth attorney who originally filed the vacancy claims. Standoil Oil & Gas Company also is named plaintiff.

UN Accuses Reds Of Truce Stalling

PANMUNJON—(AP)—The UN Command Tuesday accused the Communists of throwing up a smoke screen in the Korean truce talks and said Red stalling "casts serious doubts on their sincerity."
 Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison, Jr., insisted the Allies could not agree to Red demands that 48,000 prisoners who have spurred communism be shipped to a neutral Asian custodian.
 "Many would destroy themselves rather than submit to removal from Korea," the senior Allied delegate said.
 The Reds refused again at a 59-minute session to commit themselves on the neutral custodian.
 The most Red truce delegates would say that Allied nomination of Pakistan as a neutral caretaker was "worth welcoming." They also insisted that both sides first work out the functions of the neutral before deciding on the nation itself.
 Harrison, senior Allied delegate, told reporters that the functions would apply equally to any neutral and said of the Red demand:
 "That is merely a negotiating smoke screen. That's all in the world it is."
 North Korean Gen. Nam Il, chief Red negotiator, declared the "important question" is whether unwilling prisoners shall be sent to a neutral nation or shall be turned over to the neutral custodian in Korea.
 Harrison replied such matters could be solved quickly, once agreement was reached on the neutral nation.

Foreign Aid—

 the essential security of the United States.
 "With Soviet good faith is proven we will see the free nations must rely on their own strength for the preservation of peace. To fail to continue vigorously to strengthen our military forces would be to risk wasting all our efforts of our liberties."
 Eisenhower said his Administration has given "most careful study and deliberation" to the foreign aid program, and that he has reached these conclusions:
 "First: The United States and our partners throughout the world must stand ready, for many years if necessary, to build and maintain adequate defenses.
 To Help Free Nations
 "Second: To accomplish this objective we must avoid so rapid a military buildup that we seriously dislocate our economy. Military strength is most effective—indeed it can be maintained—only if it rests on a solid economic base.
 "Third: We must help the free nations to help themselves in establishing conditions which corrode and destroy the will for freedom and democracy from within.
 "Fourth: It is necessary to do more in the Far East. We are proposing to make substantial resources available to assist the French and the associated states in their military efforts to defeat the Communist Vietnamese aggression.
 "Fifth: Since it is impossible to prevent precisely the year and moment when the point of maximum military danger may occur, the only prudent course calls for a steady military buildup, with our partners throughout the world, sustained and planned so as to use our joint capabilities with maximum efficiency and minimum strain."

Blast, Fire Destroy Six Small Stores

TEXARKANA.—(AP)—Explosion and fire leveled almost half a block of business firms here Tuesday.
 The only reported injury was to a negro who was cut by glass while helping firemen fight the blaze. The wreckage was being searched for bodies.
 Fire Chief S. F. Walsh said the blast probably was caused by accumulated gas. He called it the worst in Texarkana history.
 The explosion occurred about 2:48 a. m. and knocked out six one-story business firms. The business section is adjacent to a negro residential area in the Arkansas side of Texarkana.
 Plate glass windows seven blocks around were knocked out. Clothing and other goods were blown in shreds a block and a half.
 The blast apparently centered in the Helms Men's Shop. Other businesses flattened were the Crosoce Drug Store, the Bell Radio Store, and the Martin Radio Store.
 Fire finished off the Vincent Garage and a flower shop after they were wrecked by the blast.

Money On Deposit

Martin County already has approved a bond issue and most of the right-of-way has been acquired.
 While the underpass project is of particular interest to Midland residents, it is an improvement of Highway 349 as far as the state is concerned.

 He was wearing sport clothes and a smile. In his hand was a large suitcase.
 He had refused to answer the committee's questions, especially about bookmaking saying he might be incriminated. His case went to the Court of Criminal Appeals.
 "I could have gone to the Supreme Court," he said, "but I decided to come on down and get this thing over."

Strike In Sweden Produces Shortage Of Vital Foodstuffs

STOCKHOLM, SWEDEN—(AP)—If it's bread you want to buy in Stockholm Tuesday, you have to bake it yourself. As for meat—chicken or fish is the answer. Not only bread and meat, but margarine, flour, yeast and many other items were missing from the shelves of food stores as the result of a strike by 3,500 slaughtermen and a subsequent lockout, starting Tuesday, of some 23,000 workers in bakeries, flour mills, margarine factories, curing plants and similar food processing establishments. This touched off a buyers' rush Monday which cleaned out most Stockholm stores. Even foods unaffected by the strike—lockout—milk, for example—were in big demand.

Soldier Says His Inventions On Stolen Tank Save Money

LONDON—(AP)—A Montreal engineer says he and his girl friend swiped one of Britain's prize Churchill tanks during World War II so he could make some improvements on it. He claims the changes saved Britain 20 million pounds ($86,000,000). Engineer John Denovan, a wartime Canadian Army liaison officer with Britain's tank design department, has brought action in the Inventor's Claims Court for payment for the invention of the "Engineer Tank," a modification of the Churchill. His lawyer told the court 874 of the new-design vehicles were made during the last years of the war. "I had a girl friend who was a transport officer in charge of armored vehicles," Denovan told the court. "I borrowed a tank from her. Perhaps a better way to describe it is to say we stole this tank." In a statement sent to the court, another Canadian Army officer said modification of the "borrowed" tank was "undertaken by a Canadian engineering unit," acting under Denovan's orders. British Army Col. C. C. Smith told the court the tank had to be acquired in "surreptitious fashion." "Tanks were scarce at that time and, if anyone had made a lot of difficulties, the project would never have started," he said.

Californian Seeks Substitute For UN

TROY, N. Y.—(AP)—Senator Knowland (R-Calif) believes a new international organization is needed to insure collective security, for which, he contends, the United Nations have not proved an "effective instrument." Knowland said Monday night that while he was willing to give the UN a further chance to "prove itself," he felt the United States should join with other peace-minded nations in seeking some other security organization.

Greeks Reoccupy Evros River Island

ATHENS, GREECE—(AP)—Defense Minister Panayotis Canellopoulos said Tuesday Bulgarian troops under fire from Greek forces again have occupied the small island of Gamma, in the Evros River between Greece and Bulgaria. The minister said the Bulgarians did not return the Greek fire and, according to available information still were on the island. Greece claims Gamma as her territory. Bulgarian troops occupied it last August but finally withdrew after heavy firing by the Greeks and a Bulgarian protest to the United Nations.

'Freedom Flight' Flies All But Two Repatriates Home

HONOLULU—(AP)—Three big military transport planes were headed eastward across the Pacific Tuesday with the last group of 149 sick and wounded American fighting men freed from Communist prison camps in Korea. One of the planes carrying 19 men landed at Honolulu, another, also with 19 aboard, was due in Hawaii Tuesday. The third took off from Tokyo with 12 Americans, two Canadians and six Colombians. There was no announcement when any of the men would leave Hawaii for Travis Air Force Base 40 miles northeast of San Francisco. Only two of the liberated captives remained in Tokyo—Capt. Zach Dean of Douglas, Kan., having a second honeymoon with his wife there, and Pfc. Clifford Smith of Lake Charles, La., remaining for further medical treatment.

Dock Leader Slain As Latest Incident In Waterfront War

HOBOKEN, N. J.—(AP)—A dock leader was shot to death Monday night in Hoboken's second waterfront slaying within two years. A single bullet in the head proved fatal to Francis Kelly, who was to have started work Tuesday as a waterfront hiring boss at a newly reopened pier. Police immediately launched a hunt for the unidentified assailant. About eight to 10 men were rounded up for questioning in the shooting, said Police Chief John Reynolds. The shooting was another in a series of violent incidents on the New York-New Jersey waterfront, being probed by a Senate committee in Washington. Kelly, about 40, was found at a street intersection just around the corner from his home—a little more than two blocks from police headquarters. He died shortly before midnight at St. Mary's Hospital. Kelly, who belonged to Local 867, AFL International Longshoremen's Association, was to have been hiring boss at Pier 3 for the Jarka Corporation, one of the largest stevedoring firms in the world.

Doctor Surprised

First of the three homebound planes—fourth since Freedom Airlift began last week — landed at Hickham Air Force Base here Monday night. Two of the 19 repatriates aboard were litter patients. Most of them grinned cheerfully and waved as they walked down the ramp and into a group of awaiting hula girls. Pretty Red Cross volunteers draped a lei around each man's neck. First off the plane was Navy Lt. (jg) Marvin S. Broomhead of Salt Lake City. The litter patients were Pfc. Wayne R. Cottle of East Preston, Idaho, and Opl. Carl E. Himpel of Bloomer, Wis. Many of the men walked with a limp. One wore an eye patch. And Marine Pfc. Samuel J. Armstrong of San Antonio waved happily despite an amputated left arm. Brig. Gen. Wilford F. Hall, Military Air Transport Service surgeon who accompanied the fourth flight of disabled former prisoners, said all 149 men released from Red captivity were "in much better shape than I ever anticipated. Their spirits were tremendously high. They were all in good mental condition and seemed psychologically well adjusted."

Prospective Draftee Rates Delay If Family Increases

Any young married man registered with a draft board had better be on the alert about any expected additions to his family. If his wife is expecting their first child, it is to his interest to tell the board about it immediately.

As long as he has only a wife to support, he's eligible for a hitch in the Army as a single man. When he has a child in his family, or one has been conceived and not yet born, the law provides for his deferment, provided he tells the board about it before he is ordered for induction.

Draft regulations require a man with an unborn child be deferred if he files with his board, prior to the time his induction order is mailed, certificate of a licensed physician that a child has been conceived.

If he does not take this highly necessary step and the draft board sends him an order to report for induction, then the draft board has no authority to defer him on the basis of the unborn child, Brig. Gen. Paul L. Wakefield, state draft director, points out.

Neither does the state draft headquarters have authority to interfere with his induction under such circumstances. Draft regulations would have to be amended to permit consideration of his deferment solely because of the unborn child.

Afterward, the law requires a man to report birth of children into his family, just as it requires him to provide the local board at all times with his latest change of address.

COMMUNIST TIDE FLOODS LAOS—Against a background of Communist peace talk, the Reds in Indo-China attacked Laos, in what experts call the most ambitious undertaking in their eight-year war to drive the French out of Indo-China. Top map shows the three-pronged pincer attack of the Vietminh army on Luang Prabang, capital of Laos. The French were taken by surprise and before they could fly troops and equipment in from Hanoi, the rebels had made a deep penetration. Should Ho Chi Min's army succeed in controlling Laos, it would put the free world defenses in a precarious position as shown on lower map.

Invited contestants will be guests of Plymouth at a Detroit hotel for the period of the contest. There will be special events for experienced model plane builders. This year's International, for the first time, will have events for radio-controlled planes.

Plymouth dealers will sponsor some regional elimination contests. In addition, winners of other contests sanctioned by the Academy of Model Aeronautics will be invited.

Estranged Dorsey Brothers Make Music Together Again

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD —(AP)—The news that Jimmy and Tommy Dorsey are forming a band together caused a stir in musical circles. Folks are wondering if the boys have mellowed enough to get along on the same bandstand.

The Dorseys spent most of the first 40 years of their lives fighting with each other. A fight in 1935 broke up their first band together. But perhaps Jimmy and Tommy, 49 and 47 respectively, can play in harmony now.

Music fans hope so, particularly those who recall the great Dorsey bands of the 30's and 40's. The two Shenandoah, Penn., boys have added much to the legend and legacy of popular music.

Their Irish tempers

James Francis Dorsey was born into a coal mining family two years before Thomas Francis Dorsey. But as they grew up, Tommy was the one who started the fights. He was excitable and aggressive. Jimmy was shy, but had enough Irish in him to fight back.

Their coal miner father, a self-taught musician, instructed them in the cornet when they were five and seven, and in 1922 they joined some friends in leaving town to try their luck in the music world.

Their first job paid $285 a week for the whole band in a Baltimore park. The Dorseys' luck improved in New York, where they played with the Paul Whiteman and Vincent Lopez bands. But Tommy wasn't happy.

Big Name Players
"We're suckers," he'd say. "We should have our own band."
"No," said cautious Jimmy. "We're making good money. Be satisfied."

Tommy won out, and they formed the Dorsey brothers orchestra, which had such stars as Glenn Miller, Charlie Spivak, Ray McKinley, Bunny Berigan and Bob Crosby. Despite their success, the brothers tiffed constantly.

On the night of May 30, 1935, the band was playing the Glen Island Casino in New York. Tommy started the beat for "I'll Never Say Never Again." Jimmy didn't like the tempo and said so. Hot words followed, and Tommy stalked off the bandstand. He never returned.

"Song Of India"
"I'm going to start my own band," Tommy vowed. "I won't give up until it's twice as good as his."

Steinway Reveals Secret Of Success In Piano Business

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK—(AP)—The Steinway piano is exactly twice as old as the Ford car.

Both families this year are celebrating the 100th and the 50th anniversary of products that have become famous name brands in America.

Theodore Steinway, 69, looks with rather tolerant condescension on the Ford family's celebration.

"How time flies," he mused the other day. "Why, it seems only yesterday that young Henry came out of his bicycle repair shop."

Theodore is the grandson of Henry Steinway, a Prussian soldier who won a medal for his heroic playing at the battle of Waterloo, then became a cabinetmaker and emigrated here in 1853 in middle age to found the family piano business.

No Mass Output
Henry's daughter, Doretta, gave free piano lessons to help sell the instruments her father and brothers made by hand.

The Steinway have succeeded for 100 years by creating a tradition and sticking to it. They have never made a big play for the mass market.

In 1853 they sold about 200 pianos. This year they expect to sell 3,500. That is only a little more than two per cent of the 150,000 piano Americans buy each year, but it is about 10 per cent of the dollar volume.

Old Theodore says proudly: "We aren't selling soap or hot dogs, you know. We are selling something that has to do with the spirit, the soul."

The family sales gimmick has been the free use of their product to concert artists. They keep a pool of 600 concert grands for this purpose, and will ship one by air or sea to a concert anywhere in the world. All the artist has to pay is the freight and tuning charges.

The Steinway theory: members of the public who can afford it will buy an instrument played by Paderevski, Rachmaninoff, Gershwin and Fats Waller. This formula, they say, has enabled them to maintain peak quality and make a profit.

Writer's Advice Troubles Reader

Joe S. Doakes, a reader of this paper, feels that in the best interest of all subscribers some of the columnists should be exposed. Mr. Doakes has taken the attitude that all is not as it should be. In fairness to our readers we think we should explain Mr. Doakes' position.

Just before the first rain of this year, Joe drops into the store and orders himself a few bags of that wonderful Turf Special. He put it on the lawn as we told him. Then it rained. Then Joe watered his lawn a little. A couple of weeks ago we had another good rain. He followed our advice, and got himself into trouble.

A week ago Joe was back in the store. "What," says he, "am I gonna do with my lawn?" We put on our best look of innocence and queried, "Whassa matter, Joe?" "Matter," he retorts, "how do I get rid of that gorgeous grass that is ankle high from that Turf Special treatment?"

Yep, you guessed it! We had him in the nine hole, and he had to listen to us again. Know what? Joe's got a beautiful Jacobsen gasoline mower now. He says that it is as good as his lawn, the best there is. Maybe you think we don't work both sides of the street!

Confidential 'Report Cards' Check Capital Social Group

By PATTI SIMMONS
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—It's not known generally (but quite true) that certain foreign embassies keep report cards on Washington bigshots—showing, of all things, their attendance at parties.

Here, where a hostess makes a reputation on protocol or loses it by an international situation, it pays to keep track of who gets invited and why.

This particular system, a kind of confidential cocktail file, records everything from two martinis polished off at an intimate little soiree to the complete doings with crowds, super and champagne.

How It Works

Here's how it works. Every time you're asked to step inside the embassy door to socialize you rate a check in red ink on your confidential card. When the party tables turn and you dispatch an invitation to the ambassador and his wife, down goes a mark in black on the report card.

Embassies file such records according to Army, Navy, World Bank, cabinet, diplomatic, congress or residential. The official position or title of one's husband is also carefully listed.

At the French embassy Ambassador Mme. Bonnet tags the "residential" portion of her files simply "le monde."

Secretary's Job

The person who mans the index on big name party-goers, likewise to keep check, crashes and social climbers out, is discreetly dubbed embassy social secretary, a title which packs plenty of importance in Washington.

The social secretary for a Latin American embassy reports that one of her diplomat-bosses rigged up a system to keep capitalites clear—a file card on which each would-be guest was tagged with "good-looking," "sympatico" or some such descriptive reminder.

Besides answering a barrage of phone calls for the ambassador's wife, writing menu cards, place cards and escort cards (to show the gentlemen whom they will escort in to dinner) this social girl Friday must sometimes be on hand to take her place as one of the dinner guests.

How To Quit

The favorite trick of a recently retired social secretary—how to leave early without shattering international etiquette—can now be told. A trip to the butler's pantry with a message for more brandy does it. The tired social secretary merely exits to a good night's sleep via the back door.

Probably the top priority headache for any embassy secretary is a party for a visiting President or head of state. Everybody wants to get in on it. One embassy had to hire an extra telephone operator when a reception was being tossed by the visiting President of that country, just to tell callers that the invitation list was already closed.

One of the highly skilled chores of the job calls for drawing up seating charts for formal dinners. Mrs. Nathan Wyeth, who has held down the social secretary post for three ambassadors, including the current French envoy and Mme. Bonnet, as well as for the wife of the attorney general and the wife of the secretary of the Navy during the Hoover Administration, confesses she is a jump ahead in this department.

Her architect-husband, who designed such local landmarks as Key Bridge, the Chilean and Russian embassies and the city Municipal Courthouse Center, obligingly took over her homework. Currently this leaves Mme. Bonnet the only Washington hostess who could brag she's had dinner charts turned out by an internationally celebrated architect.

To what heights keeper of the social secretary post has soared in Washington was demonstrated by none other than Mrs. Wyeth when the French government recently handed her the Cross of the Legion of Honor. The French explained it like true Frenchmen—it was for Mrs. Wyeth's contribution to Franco-American relations.

Washington translation: embassy social secretary Dorothy Wyeth was being decorated for being a good social secretary. It could only happen here.

Social honor: Mrs. Nathan Wyeth, one of the top social secretaries in Washington, gets the Cross of the Legion of Honor from French Ambassador Bonnet. The citation said it was for her contribution to Franco-American relations.

HELPS MENTAL PATIENTS, TOO— Wires Poked Inside Brain Banish Sereve Cancer Pain

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Editor

NEW ORLEANS—Human brains are being wired inside to produce tiny shocks to banish terrible pain or to treat mental illness.

Two to eight electric wires are planted as deep as three inches inside the brain. Any pair of wires can be hooked to a machine to carry a slight electric current through chosen parts of the brain. The currents seem to dynamite hormones into action.

The wires have brought one bed-ridden woman freedom from the incessant pain of hopeless cancer, Dr. Robert O. Heath, professor of psychiatry and neurosurgery at Tulane University Medical School says.

Work Still Young

She has not needed morphine for six weeks, is up and about, eager to see a movie.

Thirty mental patients have had the brain wiring in the last three years, but Dr. Heath declined to discuss those results now.

He described this significant new attack upon pain to science writers ending a tour sponsored by the American Cancer Society. He stressed that the work is still very preliminary.

The tiny currents apparently profoundly affect the chemistry of the human body, presumably affecting body glands and hormones.

Notes In The Head

The wires are implanted through two little holes made in the front, top part of the skull. A fluoroscope machine guides the surgeon in putting each wire at selected spots. The brain end of each wire has a tiny bulb or electrode.

The outside ends of the wires are soldered to sockets, which are incorporated into a big head bandage.

There is no discomfort; the wires can be withdrawn anytime later.

Any pair of wires can be used either to record brain waves electrically, or to send the currents from one electrode to another through part of the gray matter.

Wants To Work

Dr. Heath showed a dramatic movie of pain relief won by the woman whose cancer had spread through her pelvis. Shots of morphine brought relief for only two hours.

But as soon as the current—two milliamperes or two 1,000ths of an ampere—was turned on, her pain was gone. She said she felt good enough to go to work. When the current was increased to four milliamperes, she felt dizzy. At slightly higher current, her blood pressure rose.

The treatments kill her pain for a week or 10 days, then she has another electric stimulation. She has gained six pounds, eats well, now needs only aspirin occasionally to relieve sciatic pain.

The current is passed through her hypothalamus, a region of the brain which, by some evidence, may be the real master gland area of the body.

The treatments bring noticeable chemical changes, Dr. Heath said. The number of different kinds of white blood cells changes, and there is an increase in certain hormone products in the body. The hormonal changes are similar to a large dose of ACTH, the hormone produced by the pituitary gland in the brain.

Exactly what happens is not yet clear, he said. The brain wiring was tried because hormone treatments often help relieve pain. Brain wiring is being studied in mental patients because of evidence of physical and chemical changes in people who suffer mental illnesses. All 30 mental patient are victims of schizophrenia, or so-called split personality.

H-M Lumber Firm Offers Builder Aids

Spring is here, and with the on-coming warm weather, the Midland homeowner begins to think about those home repairs and improvements he has been putting off all winter.

The Howard and McCarroll Lumber Company, located at 3105 Bankhead Street, is well-equipped to assist the Midland property owner in problems of securing materials to revamp and remodel residences or business houses.

A complete stock of materials, including lumber, builder's hardware, and roofing supplies is available at Howard and McCarroll Lumber Company.

All grades of construction materials, designed to fit every purpose or any need, are in stock at the firm's yard. A special aid to large contractors is the securing of carload lots to order.

As an aid to Midland homeowners, assistance is provided in obtaining Title One loans, used to finance home repairs or improvements.

Also popular at Howard and McCarroll is a free planning service for customers. A member of the staff trained in architecture aids in suggesting the proper architectural needs of a building.

The firm does not build, but they are always willing to assist in introducing the homeowner to a contractor skilled in planning and building.

Another useful aid to the homeowner or businessman is the free delivery service provided by Howard and McCarroll Lumber Company, anywhere in Midland or nearby.

W. C. Howard, his son, W. D. Howard, and A. L. McCarroll are the three partners who operate the business. They welcome calls by Midlanders, either in person or by telephone. The number is 3-3614.

Additional new equipment includes a new dryer and 12-foot vacuum frame with arc lights used to reproduce large maps, a vital need for oil outfits.

Gordon Elderkin, owner and manager of the firm, recently completed installation of the additional facilities and revamping of the present units to provide better service for its customers.

Elderkin aimed particularly at the needs of the Permian Basin oil companies in adding the new equipment, with their requirements of big units to perform big jobs.

But the firm is equipped to handle any size order, both large and small. A pick up and delivery service provides the utmost in convenience for customers. The number for telephone orders is 2-4591.

Proof Is Lacking

In spite of their determined barrage of peace talk, the Russians have not done one concrete thing which shows they really mean business. Their answer to President Eisenhower's "peace" speech—that they are ready for "serious, businesslike" discussion of the great issues—is on the surface conciliatory intone. Still, the proofs so far are lacking.

Beyond that, the deeds both sides wish to see as proof of earnest intent will come much harder. The President talked of a general Far Eastern settlement, signatures on an Austrian treaty, free elections for a unified Germany, real disarmament and world-wide economic reconstruction.

But to make genuine headway on almost any of these matters would demand from the Soviet Union sharp departure from the fundamental course of conquest it has long pursued. Indeed, it would require abandoning practices inherent in a police-state dictatorship.

Austria and Germany are no more cheerful prospects. To sign an Austrian treaty means to the Russians pulling out their troops not only in Austria but in Hungary and Rumania on the path from Russia. To allow Germany to unite under real elections would be to risk all Moscow has built in East Germany since World War II.

We Ought To Play It Cool

Soviet-American social relations have been in the deep freeze in Moscow ever since the cold war began. But lately a terrific thaw has set in and genial conversation is flowing all over the place. Even Molotov, who is affable only upon signal, has been prodded into turning on his smile.

Exercise Caution Around Cement Mixers, Sam

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

(Copyright, 1953, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.) Drew Pearson says: Ike prefers "Toughy" Spaats as joint chiefs' chairman; "Raddie" is President's Navy preference; Democrats chip in for GOP symbol "maybe."

WASHINGTON — Biggest hassle inside the Defense Department, following Eisenhower's military reorganization, is to pick the new joint chiefs of staff. Since General Bradley, Vandenberg and Collins are nearing the ends of their terms anyway, this means Admiral William Fechteler would be the only joint chief to be fired outright.

Meanwhile, Ike has made it clear that he, himself, will appoint the new chairman of the joint chiefs, although he has promised Secretary Wilson not to pick someone Wilson can't work with.

World reconstruction is an even fainter likelihood. To accept such a plan would be to endorse the undermining of the Communist revolution, which feeds on poverty. It is hard to see the Reds cooperating with the West in wiping out the conditions under which they breed best.

So They Say

I am anxious that the government of the United States take careful stock of the economic and social conditions now prevailing throughout our continent and of all the efforts being pressed to bring a better life to all our peoples.—President Eisenhower.

PETER EDSON'S Washington News Notebook

Soviet Embassy Finally Breaks Down, Answers Requests From Newsmen

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Any doubt about there being a new atmosphere in Russian relations now has been removed by the Soviet embassy in Washington. They're actually answering letters sent to them! One of the standard assignments for American press bureau heads in the capital for years has been to file requests for credentials admitting members of their organization to Russia as correspondents.

Major Tommy D'Alessandro, Democratic mayor of Baltimore, volunteered $10 for hapsia Maybe, but added: "If the Republicans and the National Zoo don't want her, we'll take her to the Baltimore Zoo."

Senator Magnuson, Democrat, of Washington State, offered $5 to rescue the symbol of the Republican Party from the Belgian Congo. "It will take something bigger than an abandoned elephant to symbolize the GOP greynavy program. Due to Republican economy I can spare only $5."

Jonathan Daniels, ex-assistant to the FBI and Harry Truman, telegraphed in immediate contribution to rescue Maybe, but another North Carolinian, Congressman Thurmond Chatham, was not so sympathetic.

Have A Laugh

I had an experience the other day that embarrassed me so much that I felt like 90 cents. A few years ago, I would have said, "like 30 cents"—but inflation, you know.

Little Liz

You can see a great show of almost any drive-in theater—if you will just look around a bit.

For a Communist leader, the only advantage in having stainless steel teeth would be to help him utter the more biting words. American schoolteachers are being solicited to provide 50,000 Korean schoolteachers with new warm winter clothing for next Winter. National Education Association has received its Overseas Teacher Fund which helped European school rehabilitation after World War II.

BOOKS FOR THE BARON

It wasn't until this morning that we learned the owner was very like your man Fenner. That came from the men who watched during the night. They were both lured away from the house by two men who left in the early hours, and when they came back it was a pitched battle going on between the servants and a chap on horseback. The servants overpowered my men, and locked them in a garden shed.

'Double Standard' In Public Health Issue Ires Layman

By RICHARD KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK—Charles Schlaifer is a taxpayer. He is also aroused about a cause. And when you get a taxpayer aroused about a cause, you have a force only slightly less powerful than the A-bomb.

What has turned Schlaifer into a crusader is the problem of mental illness, particularly the cost of mental illness to him and his fellow taxpayers.

"Do you realize," Schlaifer crusaded, "that the federal and state governments spend a billion a year aim the education of government and industry leaders to the need for research and training in mental illness.

'Send Me Flowers'
One fact that never fails to amaze him is that, of all illnesses, only diseases of the mind usually make the victim a public charge.

"If I get schizophrenia," he said, mentioning the most widespread mental illness, "you're stuck with me for 30 years or so at $1,000 a year. If I get a heart seizure, it doesn't cost you a quarter, unless you want to send me flowers."

He's also depressed when he thinks of the money that could be saved taxpayers by the application of known research developments. He quotes experts as saying that if present knowledge of mental illness were applied, some 75 per cent of mental patients could be sent home.

Two-Fisted Program
"But we don't have enough doctors," he says, "or nurses or technicians. And the ones we have aren't trained sufficiently."
That's the training need he cites. The other need is for more research. He says treatment for schizophrenia, which accounts for about half the mental patients, can be developed—if enough money for research and development is forthcoming. Progress in other mental ills is equally possible, in time.

If this double-barreled program—research and training—does not materialize, Schlaifer warns that the problem will get worse. Every year is costing us more and more to maintain mental patients, build more hospitals, and to pay pensions to mentally disturbed war veterans.

Care For Children
Yet he says the Korean War experience proves that good treatment, administered promptly, can keep prospective mental patients from becoming public charges. In Korea, U. S. Army psychiatrists have been able to return 95 per cent of all battle fatigue cases—men who are mentally disturbed—to the front lines, most within two weeks.

Schlaifer's interest in mental illness is more than strictly a cash one. The humanitarian side has a strong appeal. There is sorrow in his voice as he tells of the states that feed their mentally ill for 11 cents a day, and of the almost complete lack of facilities for treating psychotic children.

"There's been some improvement in mental hospitals," he says, "but not much. As my wife says, 'Now they're clean concentration camps instead of dirty ones.'"

But Schlaifer knows many groups are working on this angle. It's the oft-overlooked monetary aspect that gets his taxpayer's dander up.

Schlaifer: Heart seizures are comparatively cheap.

Tells A Wife Not To Envy Husband's Love Of Children

I received this letter from a woman who thinks I should write something about the husband who pays more attention to his children than to his wife.

I'll write the piece but I'm afraid it won't be exactly what she wants to hear. It certainly isn't going to be anything that she can show her husband and say, "Here is someone who agrees that you shouldn't pay more attention to the children than you do to your wife."

For I want to talk to the wife, not to the husband, and my answer is:

Don't try to strike a balance between the affection your husband shows for you and your children. There's no quicker way to make a man uncomforthable and ill-at-ease in the middle of his family than to give him the idea that you are watching to see whether he is showing you as much attention as he shows the children.

No man could act naturally under those circumstances. Besides it is pretty childish of a wife to be jealous of the love her husband shows for his children.

MIDGET STATES
Europe has seven midget states, all of which could be swallowed by the state of Delaware. They are Luxembourg, 999 square miles; Trieste, 275 square miles; Andorra, 191 square miles; Liechtenstein, 61 square miles; San Marino, 38 square miles; Monaco, one-half square mile; and Vatican City, one-sixteenth square mile.

has for their children. It's natural for children in a family to compete with each other for a parent's love and attention. But it isn't natural for their mother to join in the competition. Your children need their father's love and attention as much as they need yours. Don't begrudge it to them. And don't entertain the silly idea that your husband ought to ration out his affection and attention, giving so much to you and so much to the children.

That is about as childish an idea as a grown-up woman could have.

★ DR. JORDAN SAYS ★

Epidemic Hepatitis Produces Jaundice—Recovery Is Slow

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

Mrs. A. M. D. asks whether hepatitis is contagious, what it is, and whether there is a cure. She says there are several cases in the school where her children go.

This question probably refers to what is known variously as infectious hepatitis, epidemic hepatitis, or catarrhal jaundice.

In all probability the disease is an old one, but because our troops during the war in certain areas suffered from it particularly, a great deal of new knowledge and new interest has come about concerning the disease during the last 10 or 12 years.

So far as is known there are probably two viruses responsible for this liver disease. (Hepatitis means inflammation of the liver.) One of them produces what is sometimes known as serum jaundice, a condition in which the symptoms develop two or three months after injection with human serum or plasma containing the offending virus. This is being conquered.

The other, or perhaps true infectious hepatitis is contagious and is acquired in some uncertain way from someone else who already harbors the responsible virus. In other words, it is catching.

About half the patients stricken with the epidemic form of the disease develop a fever which generally reaches about 103 degrees. The typical yellow color of the skin and eyeballs, known as jaundice, frequently is not noticed until after the patient has been sick several days. Actually the amount of jaundice varies a good deal from person to person and in some may be bright yellow and in others may be hardly noticeable.

Convalescence from a typical case of the disease often takes a long time. It generally is considered to take about two months or even longer. In some the acute form seems to be followed by a chronic variety from which recovery is quite slow. Most, however, get well without serious after effects.

Bed Rest Best
The treatment which seems to work best includes strict bed rest as early in the course of the disease as possible. This bed rest should be continued for a long time during convalescence because getting up too early often seems to bring back some of the symptoms.

Another aspect of treatment which is helpful is to use a diet containing a high proportion of protein foods such as milk, fish, eggs and cheese.

It would be comforting to report that this disease now is conquered and that everything about it that needs to be known has been discovered. Unfortunately this is not the case. Much further research work is needed before all of the necessary facts which will lead to its prevention and better treatment can be accumulated.

Daddy Ringtail

Daddy Ringtail And 'Oh, No I Haven't'

Muscle Monkey is a great big monkey with great big muscles. Muscle Monkey said: "I'm awfully strong. Uhuh, just you watch." Muscle Monkey put his hand against a tree as tall as a house. Muscle Monkey pushed. Over and down went the tree! Muscle Monkey did it to show how strong he was. He said that nobody could ever make him do or say anything he didn't want to do or say, because he was too big and strong for anyone ever to make him do or say anything.

But Mugwump said: "I betch I can make you say 'Oh no I haven't!'"

Muscle Monkey said Mugwump couldn't either make him say "Oh no I haven't," and so Mugwump said: "Once upon a time there was an elephant who had wheels where his feet ought to be, and he had ears like a donkey, and a nose like a rabbit, and a tail like a lion."

"My, my, my!" said Muscle Monkey. "It's just like a playlike story." Mugwump explained. "Uhuh," said Muscle Monkey, "but I want to hear about it." Mugwump explained that the elephant with wheels where his feet ought to be never ran or walked anywhere in his life. He always rolled on his wheels wherever he wanted to go.

Muscle Monkey was very excited to hear it. He pushed over another tree with his hands he was so excited. He wanted to hear the rest of the story about the elephant. "What happened to him?" Muscle Monkey asked. "Where did he go?" Mugwump laughed and shook his head. "Now, now," Mugwump said, "I betcha you have already heard the story."

"Oh no I haven't!" Muscle Monkey said, and then he began to laugh. Mugwump laughed with him, because Muscle Monkey had said "Oh no I haven't!"

Mugwump had tricked him into saying it, although Muscle Monkey had said that nobody could make him say or do anything. And that will show you. I think how big strong muscles like Muscle Monkey aren't nearly as happy a thing to have as the muscles that Mugwump used to make Muscle Monkey say "Oh no I haven't!" Happy day!
