Tornado Toll In Texas Hits 64

Waco Lists At Least 53 Known Dead

WACO—(P)—Martial law was declared here Tuesday as the death toll from three Texas tornadoes reached 64. The Weather Bureau warned more tornadoes may occur in a wide Texas area Tuesday or Tuesday night. Rescue workers digging into wreckage of downtown buildings reduced to rubble by a tornado Monday had found 53 bodies by noon. Eight were dead at San Angelo and three were reported killed between Red Lake and Fairfield in East Texas.

The Roll Of Dead

The death list could climb to 100 in Waco. Fifty persons were reported missing, including an estimated 20 still believed trapped in a pool hall from whose debris the bodies of several young men already had been extricated. A broken water line had flooded the basement of the R. T. Dennis Building here, one of the main structures leveled, and rescue workers at 11 a.m. still had not been able to reach the basement, where some people were believed trapped.

Guards Patrol Streets
Guards with carbines and revolvers patrolled the downtown business section where two fantastic mounds of rubble, until Monday part of the business section, were probed. It seemed that every time a bulldozer took a bite into the rubble, more bodies were disclosed.

A Baylor professor, Keith W. James, and his wife were among the identified dead. Their bodies were found in the wreckage of their car, destroyed by bricks toppling from the Dennis Building.

Bodies of three unidentified girls of high school age were found in a parked car where they had been sitting.

Cold, hard rain fell steadily at Waco and cannon-like thunder reminded rescuers of the Weather Bureau warning of "severe weather" and the possibility of more tornadoes.

At San Angelo, 200 miles to the west on the West Texas plains, discipline and luck were credited with saving many lives. The city's biggest tornado in history hit the city of about 52,000 late Monday. More than 100 were injured.

A young Latin American was recovered alive Monday from the wreckage of a Waco pool hall where it was feared 30 other persons were (Continued On Page 10)

Johnson Is Taking Potential At Cisco Opener In E-C Coke

Potential test was being taken at Fort Worth No. 1 Wendland, upper Cisco sand discovery in East-Central Coke County, three and one-half miles southwest of the town of Bronte.

On last production test before the potential was started, the project flowed one hour and made 45 barrels of oil through a one-quarter-inch choke. It then flowed 75 barrels of oil in the five and three-quarter hours through a 3/4-inch choke.

Production is coming from open hole pay at 3,691-695 feet.

Location is 330 feet from north-east and southeast lines of Tract 8, J. D. O'Daniel survey.

Kewanee Oil Company has 1,400 acres around the new field opener. The acreage includes two direct offsets to the discovery.

Kimberlin, Et Al To Dig San Andres Test In SE Gaines Area

Drilling is to be started at once at 5,800-foot wildcat which is slated to test the San Andres (Permian) lime in Southeast Gaines County.

It will be John Z. Kimberlin of Midland, San Yungling of Oklahoma City and others No. 1 L. L. Butler.

Location is 467 feet from north and west lines of section 29, block A-18, plat survey. The driller is almost on the north line of Andrews County. It is 22 miles southwest of the town of Seminole.

The prospector is three-quarters of a mile from Anderson-Prichard Oil Corporation No. 2-A Farmer, a small San Andres discovery completed several months ago which is now off of production.

Conoco Completes Wolfcamp Opener In E-C Andrews

Continental Oil Company has completed a good flowing discovery from the Wolfcamp in East-Central Andrews at its No. 1 McCollum & Welbach.

The project was completed for a calculated daily flowing potential of 1,560 barrels of 42-6-gravity oil through a one-inch opening and perforations from 8,708-8,950 feet. Pay section had been acidized.

Gas-oil ratio was 177-1 and tubing pressure 240 pounds.

Total depth is 9,175 feet. The Wolfcamp was topped at 8,500 feet, elevation 3,113 feet.

The potential test was based on an actual six-hour flow of 390 barrels of oil through one-inch choke.

Location for the new field opener is six miles southeast of the town of Andrews and 1,980 feet from north and east lines of section 24, block 44, plat survey.

Wolfcamp Shows Are Found On DST's In Two Midland Testers

Two wildcat operations in Midland County have developed interesting shows of oil and gas on drillstem tests in the Wolfcamp lime.

Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1 Oldham, project in the northeast portion of Midland County, found gas and oil shows on a drillstem test from 8,963 to 9,073 feet. Tool was open two and one-half hours. Gas surfaced in 27 minutes at the rate of 12,500 cubic feet daily. No fluid surfaced while tool was open.

Oil, Gas-Cut Mud
Recovery was 120 feet of slightly oil and gas-cut mud and 480 feet of oil and gas-cut mud. There was no formation water.

The Wolfcamp was topped at 8,945 feet, on elevation 2,694 feet.

On the drillstem test, flowing pressure was from 175 to 235 pounds and shut-in pressure after 15 minutes was 232.5 pounds.

Location is 609 feet from north and west lines of section 38, block 37, T-1-S, T&P survey and three miles southeast of Germania.

Operator Was Drilling Ahead
United States Smelting, Refining & Mining Company No. 1, M. F. Forrest) King, Northwest Midland County wildcat, four miles northwest of the northwest side of the city of Midland found a thin lime pay section in the basal Wolfcamp-Permian which developed a small amount of oil in a drillstem test.

The test covered the zone at 9,220-90 feet. It is reported by informed observers that the section tested actually had approximately four feet of pay.

The tool was open three hours. There was a blow of air at the top during a part of the period. However, no gas came to the top while the tool was open.

Recovery was 50 feet of clean oil (Continued On Page Seven)

Still More Danger Seen

NEW ORLEANS—(P)—The U. S. Weather Bureau warned Tuesday of the possibility of further tornadoes in Texas. This severe weather warning was issued at 5 a.m. (CST):

"There is a possibility of a few tornadoes in the area bounded by Tyler, Lufkin, Yoakum, Del Rio-Eagle Pass area, Junction and Taylor remainder of today and early tonight."

The Weather Bureau said there will be severe thunderstorms in the Central Texas area with accompanying high winds.

In West Texas there also will be strong thunderstorms, the Weather Bureau said.

Heavy Seas Check Great Lakes Search For Wreck Victims

GRAND MARAIS, MINN.—(P)—A still turbulent Lake Superior Tuesday continued to bar detailed search of the area off Isle Royale, Mich., where the iron ore-laden freighter Henry Steinbrenner foundered in a heavy storm Monday with 31 aboard.

The Coast Guard cutter Woodrush, at the scene overnight, reported waves were so high small boats could not be launched to facilitate the search for survivors or bodies.

The Coast Guard, still checking the list of crewmen, said there were 16 known survivors, 10 bodies recovered and five still missing.

Eight Dead, More Than 100 Hurt In San Angelo Tornado

By ROBERT H. JOHNSON, JR., SAN ANGELO—(P)—Thunder belted mournfully over this grieving West Texas city Tuesday and rain fell on the scarred section where eight died in the fury of a great tornado.

San Angelo's first big tornado in history struck late Monday. It injured more than 100 persons.

Discipline and luck saved hundreds more, including almost 1,000 school children.

Officials agreed Tuesday those were reasons the cost in lives was not higher.

The Weather Bureau said thunderstorms and rain probably would continue through the day but forecasters said no more devastating winds were expected.

Early Tuesday, heavy rain and hailstorms hit Sterling City and Valley View, small communities north of here.

"But you couldn't hear the crying and screaming for the wind and rain."

No child was killed.

Of all the injured about 70 were hurt badly enough to be hospitalized. Few of these were children.

15 Houses Isolated
Officials believed the eight were all the storm killed, but there was one section of about 75 homes that had not been searched thoroughly because it was flooded by the heavy rains.

The water was too shallow for boats and too deep for wheeled vehicles. Roads through the area were rough already because of recent heavy construction on nearby North Concho Dam.

Mud-smeared searchers worked through the night, their flashlight beams stabbing thinly into the wreckage of frame homes smashed flat or into autos twisted into grotesque shapes.

Hundreds Homeless
Most of the hundreds of homeless were taken in by friends and relatives. Others were given rooms in hotels, motels and private homes.

Until after midnight, fathers and mothers looked for children from whom they had been separated.

As soon as the tornado lifted into the black sky, the children from the school were rushed in trucks, cars and ambulances to the hospital or the community gymnasium. (Continued On Page 10)

Witnesses Tell How Waco's Twister Struck With Fury

DALLAS—(P)—Two Dallas residents told eye-witness accounts of the Waco tornado Tuesday.

Lenorah Remembers

The tornado which struck San Angelo Monday brought memories of a twister which struck another West Texas community near Midland just six years ago to the day.

It was on May 11, 1947, that a tornado struck twice at Lenorah, prosperous Martin County farm community about 26 airline miles northeast of Midland. At least 15 persons were injured and more than two-thirds of the community's business buildings and homes were demolished.

R. S. Higgins, building inspector for the City of Midland, recalls vividly the Lenorah storm. He was living adjacent to the Martin County community at that time and saw the twin-tornado strike.

Bitter Cold Wave Moves Across Texas From Mountain Area

By The Associated Press
Vicious weather which teased a new tornado threat at Texas was expected to bring a freeze and snow to the Upper Panhandle Tuesday night.

A mass of cold air surging down from the Rocky Mountains promised more turbulent weather for the state.

Leadens skies dumped more soaking rain over most of storm-torn Texas.

Temperatures of 25 to 35 degrees with snow flurries were forecast Tuesday night for the Upper Panhandle. The Weather Bureau warned livestock owners they'd better shelter animals.

Thunderstorms and locally high winds were forecast for all sections Tuesday night and Wednesday as the cold front moves through.

At 11 a.m. the front had whistled through Amarillo. Temperatures behind it plummeted. Amarillo had 43 degrees and Delhart 37.

The chilly air will blanket virtually all Texas by Wednesday, a forecaster said.

Radford To Replace Bradley As Chairman Of Joint Chiefs

WASHINGTON—(P)—President Eisenhower nominated Adm. Arthur Radford Tuesday to be chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, succeeding Gen. Omar Bradley. He nominated Gen. Matthew Ridgway to succeed Gen. Lawton Collins as Army chief of staff.

The White House said Eisenhower later will nominate Adm. Robert Carney to succeed Adm. William F. Fletcher as chief of naval operations.

It said the President has proposed to the North Atlantic Council that Lt. Gen. Alfred Gruenther succeed Ridgway as supreme commander of North Atlantic Forces in Europe, and the council has approved, Gruenther has been chief of staff to Ridgway.

The President's action Tuesday completed plans for reorganization of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Last week he nominated Gen. Nathan Twining to succeed Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg as Air Force chief of staff.

Bradley and Collins will serve out their terms, which expire in August. Fecteler's term has two years to run but Tuesday's announcement would indicate he will not finish out the term.

There was no immediate word, however, as to when Carney would take over the top naval post from Fecteler.

Mrs. Walker Speaker For Past Presidents

Mrs. J. W. Walker of Plainview, distinguished Texas clubwoman, was the guest speaker for a luncheon that closed the first season of the Past Presidents' Club.

Composed of past and current presidents of the city's federated clubs, the Past Presidents Club was organized November 24 in the home of Mrs. J. Howard Hodge, who is the group's first president.

The club is the twelfth affiliate organization of the Midland Woman's Club and the seventh club in the city to be affiliated with the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs and the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Other officers include Mrs. C. M. Goldsmith, first vice president; Mrs. W. G. Epley, secretary, and Mrs. George Glass, treasurer.

Distinguished Speaker: "The Women's Scene" was the topic for Mrs. Walker, who spoke for the Monday luncheon of the club.

Mrs. Walker has served in every step of clubwork from the local level through the Seventh District presidency and the TFWC presidency. She is a life member of the Seventh District Board of Directors, a life member of her local club, and is one of the youngest women ever elected to life membership on the TFWC board. She is the editor of "The Texas Clubwoman," official TFWC publication.

For many years, Mrs. Walker also has served as a member of the OFWC Board of Directors. As TFWC president, she directed the Fort Worth convention of OFWC in 1942, and she raised the funds for the OFWC convention in Houston nine years later.

Congressmen Want Pay Hike But Fear Reaction At Polls

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The tough question of a $10,000 salary boost for members of Congress has been tossed out for Senate debate, but most lawmakers weren't talking about it publicly Tuesday.

Speaking off the record, the position of many of them was: (A) it's wholly justified, but (B) it hasn't got a chance now.

However, one veteran supporter of a congressional pay raise, Representative McCormack (D-Mass.) formerly the House floor leader, said forthrightly:

"I think it's what we're entitled to. I'm for it."

The bill approved Monday by the Senate Judiciary Committee would give senators and representatives a $25,000 annual salary. They now get $12,500 salary and a $2,500 expense allowance, which are lumped together as $15,000 of taxable compensation. Up to $3,000 may be deducted for income tax purposes as Washington living expenses.

Tied in with the congressional hike would be $10,000 salary raises for federal judges and smaller pay increases for U. S. attorneys and their assistants and some of the key assistants to the attorney general.

Democrat Sponsor
Some senators said privately they thought the congressional boost was being offered under good auspices.

They cited these: It is bound up with an increase for federal judges which many lawyers long have urged; 1953 is not an election year; the bill's sponsor, Senator McCarran of Nevada, is a Democrat, which takes some of the heat off the new Republican majorities in Congress.

But against this, these sources said many members are sure to look askance at the bill because of the economy promises made by many members.

"I don't think it's timely," said Senator George (D-Ga.), who added he thinks members of Congress are underpaid.

McCarran, who introduced the bill and headed a subcommittee which held hearings on it, said the measure would not be called up for debate right away.

"I want senators to have some time to think it over," he said.

Senator Ferguson, R-Mich., who comes up for reelection next year, said, "The bill had better be screened carefully—very carefully."

Representative Burdick (R-ND) said he was against it.

Toll Of Taxes
"I think members of Congress should get more," he said, "but the way to do it is to reduce taxes. Then everybody will benefit."

The judiciary committee, in a report on the bill, said taxes and inflation have taken such a toll in recent years that a $25,000 salary would amount to only about $500 more in actual purchasing power than the $10,000 the lawmakers got in 1939.

The total cost would thus be $5,350,000, but the committee estimated that since income taxes would be paid on the boost, the net annual cost to the taxpayers would be $3,638,250. For the judicial increase, it would be about $2,200,000.

Dance Students Are Feted With Party

Students of the Arthur Murray Dance Studio and their guests were honored with a dance Friday night in the Pic-Art Cafeteria.

Music was provided by Jimmy Knowles' orchestra and a program highlight was an exhibition dance by Mr. and Mrs. Bob Roberts, managers of the studio.

About 70 students and guests attended. Prizes for the evening went to Mrs. Harry Griggs.

Dulles, Stassen Try To Spike Anglo-Egyptian Row On Suez

CAIRO, EGYPT — A hot British-Egyptian verbal crossfire over the Suez Canal zone sizzled around U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles Tuesday as he and Foreign Aid Chief Harold Stassen began the second day of their Middle and Near East "information" tour. Any hope that Dulles might be able to convince the Egyptians they should let large numbers of British technicians remain in the canal zone appeared dimmed by a heated exchange of statements from Prime Ministers Molamud Naguib and Sir Winston Churchill. Dulles outlined the position of President Eisenhower's government on the Suez in a meeting with Naguib soon after the American Cabinet official arrived here Monday. The Egyptian chief and Dulles were due to discuss details of the situation in another meeting Tuesday before the Americans' departure Wednesday for Israel and other nations on their 20-day itinerary. The strong-man Egyptian Premier declared, however, in a pre-dawn statement that his country is "firmly determined to rid herself of British occupation." He charged Churchill with trying to "camouflage his imperialistic aims toward the Arab world under a new expression—defense of the free world's interests in the Middle East." Naguib's declaration was in re- sponse to Churchill's assertion to the House of Commons Monday that British troops in the Suez were ready to defend themselves, if Naguib's "boastful and threatening speeches were to be translated into action and . . . our soldiers were killed." Churchill added that "we are entirely capable of doing this without requiring any physical assistance from the United States or anyone else." Following his meeting with Na- guib Monday, Dulles said the U. S. would do all it could to help the two nations solve their bitter dif- ferences over the Suez. In apparent agreement with the British posi- tion, he added that America feels the canal zone and the huge British bases there should be kept in good working order for the free world to use in case of possible fu- ture hostilities. British-Egyptian negotiations over the future of the Suez broke down last Wednesday after Brit- ish refused to take her troops out of the canal zone unless some 5,000 British experts stayed on to insure operation of the vast military in- stallations.

Novel Aerial Bombardment Softens 300-Year-Old Spot

CARAVAGGIO, ITALY—A hot-tempered 300-year-old spot of history's strangest "bombing" to do it, but a century- long-old spat between two Northern Italian villages over a statue ap- peared settled Tuesday. Let's start at the beginning, or thereabouts. In the year 1380 a long-forgotten sculptor carved out a marble bas- relief of a sea horse. It was placed on the border between the villages of Caravaggio and Treviglio. Early in the 15th Century, Tre- viglians snatched the sculpture and placed it in a niche in their an- cient palace wall. Softened by the generosity, the Caravaggio Town Council met Monday and agreed to return the sea horse to Treviglio. This ranked Caravaggio for some 300 years. Last February 27, com- mando-type raiders carried the sea-old spat between two Northern Italian villages over a statue ap- peared settled Tuesday. Now for the bombing. Sunday night three planes from Treviglio soared over Caravaggio. Thirty live chickens and a live pig, hanging nervously from parachutes dropped down. So did several pounds of candy, fountain pens and pen- cils. Softened by the generosity, the Caravaggio Town Council met Monday and agreed to return the sea horse to Treviglio.

Waterfront Strife Figures In Election. JERSEY CITY, N. J. — Voters decided Tuesday whether to retain Mayor John V. Kenny—whose ad- ministration has been marked by disclosures of waterfront crime and corruption—or return Frank Hague Eggers to power. A victory for Kenny in Tuesday's municipal election would be the second over his bitter rival, the nephew of former Mayor Frank Hague, who held Jersey City in a firm political grip for 32 years. This latest Kenny-Eggers battle was preceded by heated campaign- ing loaded with charges and coun- tercharges, much of it in connec- tion with the violence-riddled Hud- son County waterfront.

Reward For Heroism Results In Disaster

STANLEYVILLE, BELGIAN CONGO — Camille Ngombi, of Alberta, some 50 miles below Stan- leyville on the Congo River, recently paddled across the Congo River to get an award from the local chief for saving the chief's wife from drowning. He was offered two calabashes of palm wine, got drunk, paddled back, fell into the river and was drowned.

Pope Pius XII Urges World Leaders Meet, Talk Peace

VATICAN CITY—Pope Pius XII urged Tuesday that the world's leaders hold "frank and loyal" discus- sions aimed at peace. Speaking at the first special audi- ence he ever has granted foreign newsmen stationed in Rome, the Pontiff made his latest plea for peace less than a day after British Prime Minister Churchill advocated a big-power meeting to ease differ- ences between the East and West. Although such discussion "would not yet mean that peace was as- sured," the Pope said, "it is at least the first and indispensable condition of peace." "If that is lacking, one would not know how to take any step towards its attainment," he added. More than 100 newsmen from 30 nations attended the audience in the Consistorial Hall of the Vati- can Palace. Speaking in French, the Pope said that in the postwar world the word "peace" has been widely used and "has also been misused." "We feel," he added, "that we can testify to ourselves that in our messages we have given to the peace which the world really needs a meaning that is clear and realistic." "Each one of you," the Pontiff told the correspondents, "has the wish to serve his country. But serve it with the conviction that its good relations with other states, and understanding of their character and respects for their rights, belong also to the common good and well- fare of the people of one's country, and that these are among the most effective means for the preparation and consolidation of peace." "The war and postwar—in spite of their horrors and their miseries— had this much of good in them that they made men much more aware of this fact."

WITH WAGGING TAIL—Caddy Ends Tour Of Sea-Dog Duty

By OLEN CLEMENTS. TOKYO — A fuzzy little puppy with a waggy tail stowed away on the U. S. Navy's famed aircraft carrier Valley Forge one rainy night at Yokosuka and came through his adventure with the prizes and privileges of an old sea-dog. The Navy told the pups tale Tuesday. Somehow the little pooch evaded the officer of the deck and the gangway watch and shivered for hours in a dark corner of the hangar deck. A sympathetic bluejacket whisk- ed him below. After stowing a ration of warm milk, the popped-out pup fell asleep. His troubles began the next day. Not long after the bugler had roused the flattop's 3,000-man- a-dog crew, the ship put out for sea, bound for Korea and the fighting. The puppy, of Oriental but otherwise undetermined origin, presented a problem all right. Quarantine regulations prohibit the transportation of pets picked up in a foreign port. While the executive officer pon- dered, the bluejackets went to work. They "enlisted" the pup in naval service, dressed him in a trim, zip-front blue jumper topped with Korean and UN campaign ribbons, photographed him and provided an identification card with the name Caddy. Caddy cut a fine figure of a sailor but his tour aboard the car- rier was short-lived. That dog- gone exec found a sailor who was flying to Japan on emergency leave. So typewritten orders were cut for Caddy. The sailor and pup boarded a plane and roared down the flight deck. Caddy made his- tory. He was the first dog to wing off the Valley Forge. The future look easy for Caddy the combat veteran. His orders assigning him to every sailor's dream of shore duty specified that he should be treated in a manner befitting a month-old puppy with a tour of Korean sea duty and carrier flight experience.

Unidentified Ship Reported Sunk By Dumped U. S. Bombs

TOKYO — U. S. Air Force headquarters said four American Thunderjet fighter-bombers jetti- sioned their bombs at almost the exact place and time an unidenti- fied ship reportedly exploded and sank Tuesday. The Air Force said the Thunder- jets dumped their bombs in the sea approximately 38 miles south- east of Misawa Air Force Base between 5:40 and 6:30 a.m. A Japanese farmer said at ap- proximately 6:30 a.m. he saw an unidentified ship of about 3,000 tons blow up one mile off the vil- lage of Samuraimama, 36 miles south of Misawa. Far East Air Forces head- quarters said the area was a restricted bombing range set up by agree- ment with the Japanese govern- ment. It said maritime craft enter the area at their own risk. "The Air Force has been unable to confirm reports that a Japanese fishing boat or other craft was present in the area at the time the bombs were dropped," the Air Force said. "An SA-16 (amphibian) rescue aircraft from a U. S. Air Force rescue unit in Northern Japan searched the area during the day but found no confirming evidence of the reported bomb- ing." An Air Force officer said it was possible the Japanese farmer saw a geyser from the last bomb ex- plosion. Three Japanese patrol boats searched the area but did not re- port sighting wreckage or survi- vors. The Air Force said the four F-84 fighter-bombers of the Japan Air Defense Force were on routine training maneuvers. They aban- doned a scheduled training target due to weather and dropped their bombs from an altitude of 8,000 feet in clear visibility.

Prior to jettisoning their bombs, the Air Force said, the pilots checked to see if the water below was clear of vessels. The newspaper Asahi quoted one witness as saying the ship was maneuvering violently in an ap- parent attempt to escape, and an- other as saying the ship sank about five minutes after a column of black smoke boiled up.

NEW AND OLD OWNERS—Beverage Sales Company of Midland has announced the purchase of the Lone Star Distributing Company. Principals, left to right, are J. G. Harris of San Angelo, president of Beverage Sales Company; Crowell, former owner of the distributing company; and Guy Brantley of Midland, vice president of Beverage Sales Company, who will be in charge of operations here.

Midland Firm Buys Odessa Lone Star Sales Company

Beverage Sales Company of Midland, called the oldest wholesale beer distributing firm in West Texas, has bought the Lone Star Distributing Company from DeWitt B. Crowell of Odessa.

The company handles Lone Star beer distribution in Midland, Howard and Ector counties with warehouses in Midland, Big Spring and Odessa.

Buy Brantley, vice president of Beverage Sales Company, will be in charge of operations here. He is a member of the Midland Lions Club, the Chamber of Commerce and other civic groups.

President of the sales company is J. G. Harris of San Angelo. All personnel of the old firm, the new owners explain, will be retained by Beverage Sales Company, with A. R. (Bob) Snider as Midland representative.

Crowell said that he sold the beer distributing firm in order to devote more time to his real estate and building contracting business.

First Lady Crowns Miss Penn State

STATE COLLEGE, PA. — (AP) — A new Miss Penn State ruled over Spring Week festivities at the college here Tuesday after receiving her crown from Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Lovely Madeleine Sharp of Herndon, Va., was crowned Monday at the opening of the six-day program. She also received a hug and a kiss from Mrs. Eisenhower.

The 21-year-old queen is a graduating senior majoring in speech and radio.

The first lady and her mother, Mrs. John S. Doud, returned to Washington by automobile Tuesday.

Controls For 1954 Wheat Crop Loom

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Government production controls on next year's wheat crop looked like a mathematical certainty Tuesday.

The Agriculture Department Monday estimated the Winter wheat crop as of May 1 at 729,884,000 bushels. Spring wheat was not estimated, but an average crop is 285 million bushels.

At this rate the total production of wheat would be more than a billion bushels—and officials have said production controls would be required under farm law in 1954 if this year's crop totaled as much as 850 million bushels.

Underwriters Set Election Program For June Meeting

Nominees for officers' posts in the Permian Basin Association of Life Underwriters will be presented at the June meeting, John R. Braue, president of the group, said Monday.

Included on the nominating committee are George Vannaman, A. F. McKee, W. B. Harkrider, Jim Medlin, Harold Steck, Rodney E. Vick and Braue.

Plans also were announced at the association's meeting Monday for a banquet July 17, Ladies Night, installation of officers and conferring of certificates and awards. In charge of banquet plans are Jim Lee, Gabe Massey, Bud Chestnut, Marion Taylor, Vick and Braue.

Speaker at the Monday meeting in Hotel Scharbauer was Delles Davis, son of Midland insurance man, Joe Davis.

The younger Davis, recently returned from overseas Army duty, discussed European beauty spots and showed slides from such countries as Scotland, England, France, The Netherlands, Austria and Germany. The slides were from photos Davis took while visiting those countries.

Blames It On Gadgets

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH. — (AP) — Dishwashing machines, garbage disposals and other kitchen gadgets have thrown off all the consumption estimates of American water supply experts.

President-elect Morris B. Cunningham brought that out here at a meeting of the American Waterworks Association.

"With new and unexpected uses for water developing every year, cities no longer can rely on normal increases of population in planning future water supply," said Cunningham, who is superintendent of the Oklahoma City water works.

Flying Tiger Says Invasion Of Laos Had Stalin's Okay

MONROE, LA. — (AP) — Gen. Claire Chennault said Monday night he has in his possession a copy of the minutes of a Moscow meeting last January in which the Communist invasion of Laos, French Indochina, was approved by Joseph Stalin.

Laos was invaded earlier this month by the Communists, who made sweeping gains early in the drive and began withdrawing without explanation.

Chennault, former leader of the famed Flying Tigers in World War II, would not identify his source from which he obtained the minutes. But he said the minutes were passed on to him through "Russian friends."

British Mountaineers Near Everest's Peak

KATMANDU, NEPAL. — (AP) — The British Mt. Everest expedition was reported Tuesday to have established its fifth camp at the 23,000-foot level on the world's highest mountain.

A report reaching here from the expedition's main camp at Nanche Bazar said all of the mountaineers were in good health and it was expected the final try to reach the summit of the 29,002-foot Himalayan peak would be made within 10 days.

Drive For Romulo Stirs Philippines

MANILA. — (AP) — A Romulo-for-president drive developed here Tuesday as some members of the dominant Liberal Party voiced support for the popular ambassador to the U. S.

Senator Tomas Gabili announced Monday night he would submit Carlos P. Romulo's name to the Liberal Party convention May 24. It was the first intimation of opposition within the party to the nomination of President Elpidio Quirino, who is seeking reelection.

Romulo was unavailable for comment.

Odessan To Head Girl Scout Camp's Improvement Drive

J. W. Gaddy, Odessa businessman and civic leader, has accepted the chairmanship of the Girl Scout Building Fund, it was announced Tuesday by Tom Brandon, president of the Permian Basin Council, Girl Scouts of America.

J. W. Gaddy

The campaign, scheduled the last two weeks in June, is seeking to raise $125,000 throughout the 15 West Texas counties which comprise the council area, to provide minimum camping facilities.

Proceeds of the campaign will be used to develop facilities at the Mitre Peak Girl Scout Camp near Alpine. These facilities will be utilized by Girl Scouts and their leaders throughout the area.

Gaddy long has been interested in scouting, being an Eagle Scout himself, and has been active in various other civic activities. In accepting the chairmanship, he pointed out that only basic essential needs would be provided by the campaign.

In the 1952 Scout census, the Permian Basin Council, which was organized in 1946, had 2,963 Scouts and 782 adults participating in the program. The 1953 figure will be considerably higher as the council has grown rapidly each year since its inception.

The temporary buildings which were acquired with the camp site are in a bad state of repair, and in many instances actually are unsafe for use. However, the full capacity of 286 Scouts for the Summer camping season has been filled for several months, and there are at the present in excess of 50 on the waiting list. Many more have applied, but when advised that all reservations had been taken, did not make formal application to have their names included on the waiting list.

Webb Cadet Team To Interview Men In Odessa Thursday

An aviation cadet selection team from Webb Air Force, Big Spring will interview applicants and interested men from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. Thursday in the Chamber of Commerce offices in Odessa.

The Air Force sets its greatest need at aircraft observers—radar, electronics, navigation, bombardment and engineering—but there is a continuing need for pilots.

Successful completion of training will mean a Second Lieutenant's commission in the Air Force Reserve.

Applicants for aviation cadet training must be single, male citizens of the United States, between the ages of 19 and 26 1/2, in good physical condition and have completed at least two years in college. CAP graduates, Air National Guardsmen, and Air Force Reservists are eligible to apply if they are high school graduates.

Spring Riot Fever Spreads Among U. S. College Youths

By The Associated Press

Romping college youths set their books aside on three more campuses Monday night and joined in the latest of fads—the Spring riot.

Students at Yale University, Ohio State University and Michigan State College indicated they were not going to play second fiddle to the spells of nonsense that swept many other campuses last week.

So-fifteen hundred Yale students pranced through New Haven, Conn., streets, shooting off firecrackers and showering passersby with paper. Two youths were arrested. Six parking meters were ripped from the sidewalks.

Two thousand Ohio State collegians raided a Columbus movie theater, pulling down the trolleys of electric buses, flooded streets by opening fire hydrants, and then returned to their books.

Six hundred Michigan State boys staged a panty raid on two women's dormitories on the East Lansing campus. The chief damage was broken windows.

Now Is Time For Indians To Disprove Yankee Hex

CASEY STENDEL
... Big bad wolf!

By BEN PHELAGAS
Associated Press Sports Writer
Are the Cleveland Indians suffering from an incurable case of Yankeeophobia? Is it true that the mere thought of Casey Stengel's crew scares the living daylight out of the otherwise dangerous Tribe? Probably not. But the time for the Indians to eliminate such suspicions is fleeting rapidly.

They come into Yankee Stadium Tuesday night for the first of a two-game series. If they blow the opener most folk probably will advise them to go back to their Ohio camping grounds and wait for another season, even though there are 20 more New York-Cleveland clashes this summer.

Losing to the Yankees is an old and undesirable habit of the Indians. It has been many moons and eight long seasons since Cleveland won more games than it lost with New York.

The Tribal witchdoctors may have a really big job ahead of them because there are indications the 1953 Yankee hex may be even more widespread than in the past.

Monday night the Indians stopped off at their friendly wigwam on Lake Erie for a single game with Chicago. They had swept a three-game series with the improved St. Louis Browns. They owned a minute percentage edge over the second-place New Yorkers. A clear victory would have sent them on in to New York with a chance to hold that lead even if they only broke even in the two games.

It didn't work out that way. The same Sox who bowed to Bob Lemon on a single hit on opening day collected eight against him Monday night and won the game, 2-1. The Indians, worrying about the Yankees' Whitey Ford, who pitches Tuesday night, and Vic Raschi, who may go Wednesday, weren't able to concentrate against Billy Pierce. The left-hander gave up seven hits, all harmless except for Bobby Avila's second home run, in picking up his fifth win against a single setback.

The Cleveland-Chicago contest was the only regular action in either league Monday. The traveling date brought three exhibitions, however, with the National Leaguers winning two from American League clubs and dropping a game against Inter-national League opposition.

The New York Giants whipped the Boston Red Sox at the Polo Grounds, 7-3; Pittsburgh scored twice in the ninth inning to beat the Browns, 2-2, and Milwaukee bowed to Toronto, 3-2.

Starting Tuesday all of the National League teams will be in the West and all of the American League in the East for the first time this season.

Along with the Indians in New York the American League schedule shows St. Louis in Philadelphia, where Bobo Holloman will be making his first start since whipping the A's on a no-hitter last week; Chicago in Boston and Detroit in Washington. All are night games.

In the National League Brooklyn, the leader over Philadelphia by half a game, invades Chicago for the only day contest; the Phillies are in St. Louis, Pittsburgh in Cincinnati and New York in Milwaukee.

Rendezvous Nine Climbs To Third

For the first time in this year's Midland softball races, one league took over Wadley field for all the games and the triple-header Monday only served further to separate the men from the also-rans.

The National League teams held sway with its front-running clubs, Western Inspection and Rotary, keeping unbeaten records in tact and Rendezvous, the third winner, moving into third place in the race.

The American League gets the diamond Tuesday, when Continental contends with Texas Company at 8:30 p.m. Southwestern Bell with Gulf at 8 p.m. and Schlumberger with Tide Water at 8:30 p.m.

Western Inspection won its fourth straight Monday, white-washing Phillips, 10-0, behind Milton Montgomery's two-hit pitching. Rotary's 2-3 margin over Humble was the Engineers' third victory in a row. And in the other game, Rendezvous handed Magnolia its fourth reversal, 8-5.

Montgomery's club, the Inspectors, scored in every one of the five frames while he held Phillips to singles by Bud Gravender and H. Gaston. He fanned five.

Phillips contributed five errors, losing a fourth game.

Humble fell from third place when a nine-hit attack, headed by John Selle's three-for-three, boosted Rotary. Selle's double off Bill Hightower in the second inning sparked a three-run frame, his triple in the third led off a two-run inning and his homer accounted for two runs in the fifth.

Burrow and Dunlop also slugged home runs.

Both Rendezvous and Magnolia made each hit account for a run with the cafemen doing more hitting, 8-5. Price collected four for four, one a home run, in the early innings but it was a five-run spree in the seventh that paid off.

Rendezvous batted around on an error, a walk, a single by Bivens and doubles by Price and Cobb to tally the decisive runs.

Cats Regain Third Place On 8-1 Win

By BARD LINDEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Only Fort Worth and Houston managed to get their Texas League contest in Monday as rain across the state washed out all other games. Fort Worth, after a three-game all-losing series with Shreveport, topped the Houston Buffs 8 to 1.

Fort Worth's Bill (To) Glane, won number four for the Cats, stopping Houston with six hits. It was the third time Glane has limited his foes to just one run. Glane's record is 4-1.

Houston used three pitchers, with Starter Fred Martin taking the loss. First Baseman Danny Osark's fourth homer of the year in the fourth inning got the Cats into the lead. Three unearned scores in the seventh put the game out of reach and four for measure came in the eighth off Reliever Jack Cardey.

The win gave third place back to Fort Worth, undoing a three-way tie. It was also a battle for 500 as the losing club—in this case, Houston—fell below 500.

The league is still tight down to seventh place where Oklahoma City is just four games off the top pace. Beaumont, in last, is seven games out.

Tuesday night Houston is again at Fort Worth, San Antonio at Dallas, Beaumont at Oklahoma City and Shreveport at Tulsa.

INTEREST HIGH—Interest in Little League baseball is tree-top high as indicated in this picture of four youngsters watching a game at Hillin Field last week.

Miskulin's Four-Hitter Halts Odessa, 6-1, To Even Series

ODESSA—(AP)—The Lamesa Lobos bounced back after a drubbing here Sunday and handed the Odessa Oilers a 5-1 setback Monday night.

as southpaw Johnny Miskulin tossed a brilliant four-hitter.

Miskulin lost his shutout in the first inning when Otis Shortstop Raul Dierra led off with a triple and scored on a long fly ball. But after that, Miskulin had Odessa on his hip, allowing only two men to reach second base, both on doubles by Bob Martin and Francis Mehal.

For the Oilers, Carlos Villarreal started on the mound, but after giving up four runs on seven hits. He was lifted in the sixth in favor of Mehal, who finished by yielding only one run and two hits. Villarreal was the loser.

Lamesa evened the score at 1-1 in the second inning with one run and then went ahead in the fourth on a pair of doubles and two singles which accounted for two more tallies. Then in the sixth the Lobos added the clincher on a double and wild pitch. The final run coming in the eighth on an error and single.

The score:

Loop Talks Lobos' Fate

ABILENE—(AP)—Longhorn League President Hal Sayles announced Monday that club owners of the circuit will meet in Big Spring Tuesday afternoon to discuss the fate of the Lamesa franchise.

Harold Webb, owner of the Lamesa club, has announced that he must move the franchise unless attendance picks up appreciably.

Sayles said all the clubs have suffered this season because of the weather.

"We have set a league record this year for postponements because of wind, dust, cold and rain," Sayles said. "The few times clubs have had decent weather, however, attendance has been good in most cities."

Plainview Moves Into First-Place Tie In WT-NM Loop

By The Associated Press

Plainview blatted its way into a first-place tie in the West Texas-New Mexico League by thrashing Pampa 12-4 Monday night.

Lee Gatewood pitched the Ponies to the win that gained them the top spot for the first time this season.

Rain and generally bad weather curtailed action around the league. The only other game played was Clovis Vs. Amarillo with Clovis prevailing, 14-12.

This win also went toward scrambling the league with Clovis moving to a fourth-place tie with Abilene.

A two-run rally in the ninth inning gave the Pioneers their winning margin and made Billy Mitchell, the third pitcher, a winner. Amarillo also used three hurlers and accidentally the loss went to the third-man, Jack Venable.

Albuquerque at Berger and Lubbock at Abilene were washed out.

Grand Slam Homer Wins For Travelers

Douglas Hatfield's bases-loaded home run in the fifth inning gave the Travelers impetus to down the JayCees, 10-8, Monday in a Pony League game at Permian Field.

The victory was the Travelers' third against no defeats while the loss was the JayCee's first of the campaign.

Meanwhile, at Pony League Park, the Optimists were recording their first victory of the year. They defeated Kiwanis, 7-6, with the aid of a passed ball in the bottom of the seventh inning.

The game was a comedy of errors—even for the Pony Leaguers whose play is generally pretty respectable. Each team made seven miscues.

Joe Clemens was the winning pitcher.

Five Teams Make Up Andrews Little Loop

ANDREWS—Four teams from town and one from Fullerton will make up the Andrews Little League, which has more than 100 boys between eight and 12 participating this summer.

Milton Ramsey and James Reed, Fred Swinney and John Blair, R. O. Davidson and Curtis Nix and James Moseley and Noel Callahan form the two-manager leadership of each of the four Andrews clubs.

The league, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, plans to seek affiliation with the National Little Leagues if a successful year encourages further participation in 1954.

J. B. Youngblood, Vernon Payne and J. D. Patridge join the team managers as leading officials of the league.

NASAL DEFENSE—World's Heavyweight Boxing Champion Rocky Marciano has wound up training for his title defense against Jersey Joe Walcott Friday. Marciano, who injured his nose before the first scheduled rematch, will have to make extra efforts to protect his proboscis if reports from the challenger's camp that Walcott plans his attack in that direction are correct.

IT WAS A RIGHT, JOE— Jersey Joe Feels Like 28-Year-Old

CHICAGO—(AP)—Jersey Joe Walcott scoffs at the theory that his old legs gave out on him in the thirteenth round against Rocky Marciano last September.

"It wasn't the legs," he said Monday. "I felt as good in the thirteenth as I did in the first. It was the blood running down into my eye. I never saw the punch that knocked me out."

Walcott could have seen the punch for free Monday at a private showing of the uncult film for newsmen. He preferred not to mix business with rest on his day off. It was a right hand, Joe, right on the button.

Felix Boocchieo, Walcott's manager, also missed the knockout punch in the movies. He saw it in person. After viewing six rounds, Felix left the projection room, claiming Marciano could be accused of butting in every one of the six rounds.

Until a desperate Marciano knocked him loose from the world heavyweight title in the thirteenth with that right-hand bomb, Jersey Joe was way out in front on points in a slashing fight.

Much of the prefight talk about Friday's title rematch at Chicago Stadium hinges on Walcott's ability to go 15 rounds at top speed. Everybody, Marciano expected, admits that 39-year-old Jersey Joe can box rings around short-armed Rocky. But they aren't sure he can keep moving under the constant pressure of the champ's thumping body punches.

The 11-year spread between Marciano, 28, and the old Pappy Guy from Camden, N. J., is a major factor in the 3-1 odds favoring Rocky.

"How would you like to be 28 again?" somebody asked Walcott.

"I feel like I'm 28 right now," he answered with a grin. "A man is as old as he feels. You fellows could save a lot of newspaper space if you'd cut out that 'old' in old Jersey Joe."

Texarkana, Austin Win In Big State

By The Associated Press

Only half the teams in the Big State League went to the barrier Monday night as rain curtailed the schedule. Texarkana continued its first place bid, winning 7-1 from Tyler and gaining half a game on the idle leaders, the Greenville Majors.

In the only other action, Austin defeated Wichita Falls 9-4, winning for the fourth time in their last five games. They jumped off with seven runs in the first inning, driving Wichita's Stan Milankovich from the box.

Midland Couple Sees Black Cone Of Tornado Crush City

Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Hart of 1101 East Spruce Street, told The Reporter-Telegram Tuesday they were arriving in San Angelo to visit relatives when the tornado struck.

Mrs. Hart's father, Ernest Baker, a nephew, James Bell, and a brother, Don Ray Baker, 17, all lived in the Lake View area, where the storm hit.

"We were just east of town when we saw the funnel-shaped tornado coming up. After it hit we finally got our car through the police to look for our relatives," said Mrs. Hart.

"My brother was in the school when it hit. Later he told us he ran into the study hall on the first floor and crawled under a table. He was only scratched.

"My nephew's house was destroyed but he and his wife and baby were safe. They had hidden in a storm shelter," she said.

"Lots of people were wading through knee-deep water calling for relatives. Everybody seemed to be hunting for somebody else."

Midland Negro Woman Hurt Critically By Pistol Bullet

A Midland negro woman, Mrs. Eller Mae Cornett, 504 North Mimela Street, was in critical condition Tuesday in Midland Memorial Hospital from a head wound inflicted, police said, by snub-nosed .38 caliber revolver between 9:30 a.m. and 10 a.m. Tuesday.

Norris Cornett, husband of the wounded woman, who called the shooting accidental, was being held for questioning and paraffin tests at noon Monday. No charges, however, had been filed.

W. A. Fields, first Midland police officer to reach the Mimela street home, said Mrs. Cornett was sprawled partially on the bed and bleeding profusely from the bullet wound in her head.

An Ellis Ambulance rushed Mrs. Cornett to the hospital where attending physicians termed her condition "very critical."

Sgt. Wayne Patterson, Midland detective, said the husband told this story Tuesday:

"He and Mrs. Cornett were in the bedroom and she was holding the gun in her hand. He sat down to comb his hair and heard a knock at his door.

"I started out of the room but when I got to the door I heard a shot," he related. "I looked around and Eller Mae was lying there."

A telephone mix-up sent a Midland fire truck to the scene, followed closely by Patrolman Fields. He called the ambulance and detectives.

Championship Rodeo Slated For C. Of C.'s Full Support

Full support and cooperation by the Chamber of Commerce in the staging of the 19th Annual World Championship Midland Rodeo, June 3-7, was authorized by its directors, meeting in regular session Monday afternoon in the Shell Conference Room.

Manager Delbert Downing told of plans for the staging of the big area attraction and of the opening day parade, scheduled at 4 p.m., June 3. The C. of C. works closely with Midland Fair, Inc., in arranging and presenting the rodeo.

The directors also approved plans for the sponsoring of "special nights," May 20-21, at Indian Park for the benefit of the Midland baseball club. The special event is designed to increase attendance and revenues to offset financial loss suffered by the ball club when its "season opener" series was cancelled due to inclement weather.

Committee reports featured the meeting, which was presided over by President Joe T. Dickerson.

New Members Reported
Burvin Hines, assistant manager, reported 10 new members had been added to the membership roster during the last month, increasing the Chamber's annual revenue by $432.

Other committee reports included: Highway by Joe Ruckman; Education by J. H. Hurd; Sports and City and County Affairs by Jack Wicker; Publicity by C. W. Chancellor, Jr.; Livestock by John Dublin, Jr.

Wicker suggested that every effort be made by the C. of C. to interest industrial and distributing firms to locate in Midland. He said Midland has ample water for certain types industries and adequate housing for personnel. The suggestion was referred to J. T. Baker's Industrial Committee.

The directors appropriated funds to repair and repaint the Midland signboard at the intersection of U. S. Highway 87 and State 156 north of Sterling City. The Highway Committee was instructed to investigate the possibility of installing similar signs at other highways leading to Midland.

Treasurer F. W. Barnett submitted the financial report for the last month.

THIS WAS A HOME—A disaster crew searches the debris of what is left of a home which was caught up in the fury of the tornado which struck the Lake View community at San Angelo. A porcelain stove on the right is apparently undamaged, although weighted down with fallen timber. The house in the background on the far left seems to have received little harm, although the blades of an adjoining windmill have flown away.

SCHOOL ROOM'S DESTRUCTION—Hazy sunlight filters through the gaping hole of one of the rooms of the Lake View School, after Monday's tornado made off with its roof. Much of the roof toppled to the interior of the section. Almost 1,000 youngsters at the school miraculously escaped death in the storm thanks to the discipline of the teachers and youngsters themselves who laid down on the floor in the hallways.

THOUSANDS DIG, DIG, DIG— Men Use Hands, Bulldozers In Grim Race Against Death

By WILBUR MARTIN
WACO—(AP)—Hundreds of grimy, weary men used bare hands and giant bulldozers Tuesday in a grim race to clear debris from the wreckage of a public pool hall, most of the victims teenagers. Some still were alive Tuesday.

They dug into two horrible mounds of rubble, the remains of what had been part of Waco's downtown section, in hopes of finding life beneath.

On one score they succeeded about dawn Tuesday. Still unanswered was the question of how many people lay beneath the chewed wreckage and whether they were alive, dead, or hurt.

Saved By Diver
They succeeded at 6:45 a.m. in freeing Millie Matkin, who for almost 14 hours was trapped in the smashed and flattened debris of what had been the five-story R. T. Dennis Building in the heart of the business district of this city of about 90,000.

Miss Matkin had been trapped behind a divan, a solid piece of furniture which provided a safety pocket when the storm smashed the structure.

Police Sgt. John Wohlwend said "I don't believe another person is alive" in the wreckage of the Dennis Building and those adjacent. If he was right the death toll from Monday's tornado may soar to a hundred.

More than 20 were reported still in what had been a public pool hall, most of the victims teenagers. Some still were alive Tuesday.

trapped. He collapsed and was not able to identify himself.

Police Sgt. John Wohlwend said "I don't believe another person is alive" in the wreckage of the five-story R. T. Dennis Building and those adjacent. Exactly how many were buried beneath two grotesque mounds of rubble was not known.

They succeeded at 6:45 a.m. in freeing Mrs. Lillie Matkin, a slightly-built, elderly woman who for almost 14 hours had been trapped behind a divan, a fortunate safety pocket.

Many Feared Trapped
Forrest Moore, member of Baylor staff who related rescue instructions over a loudspeaker during the all-night rescue work, said "there are a reported 30 to 50 trapped in the basement of the Dennis Building."

Ironically if there were people trapped in the basement they could have escaped the tornado but drowned. Moore said a steel beam had punctured a six-inch water pipe and water cascaded into the basement seven hours.

"The basement was almost full," Moore said, "when the water finally was shut off. Firemen began pumping the water out at 4:15 a.m."

Belatedly, reports came of another tornado Monday which hit Sutton County near Sonora and damaged utility poles and cattle-feeding pens. The Texas tornadoes followed weekend mid-continent storms which killed 15.

Red Cross Sends Funds
In Washington, Red Cross national headquarters allotted $200,000 Tuesday to meet emergency needs of the Waco and San Angelo tornado victims.

The Red Cross estimated the Waco death toll at 67 and San Angelo's at eight but said indications were the search of Waco ruins would disclose more dead here.

Two square miles were demolished or damaged in Waco and property damage here and at San Angelo ran into the millions.

Stores, homes, shops, every kind of structure, were razed in Waco. The five-story R. T. Dennis Building was smashed almost to the ground level and threw a death-dealing shower of brick and rubble into the street to crumble automobiles.

Bowling Ball Kills Youthful Pin Setter
FORT WORTH—(AP)—John Lenderman, 14, died Tuesday after a bowling ball struck him on the head.

The youth was setting pins Monday night at a North Side bowling alley to pay for a motor scooter.

He told his mother, Mrs. J. E. Lenderman, he was struck after a man "rolled two balls at once."

The youth became ill on the way home.

Police are attempting to trace score sheets to determine who was bowling in the youth's lane.

Golfer Betty Dodd Undergoes Surgery
BEAUMONT—(AP)—Betty Dodd, outstanding young woman golfer and protégé of Babe Zaharias, entered a hospital Tuesday for minor surgery.

Miss Dodd has spent much time at the bedside of Babe, who underwent an operation for a malignancy a month ago. The nature of Miss Dodd's trouble was not disclosed.

Three Killed Near Palestine As Twister Hits East Texas

PALESTINE—(AP)—The Palestine Herald and Press said it had received reports that three people were killed and another person missing when a tornado struck a negro home between Red Lake and Fairfield, about 9:30 p.m. Monday.

The storm also struck Buffalo, west of Oakwood, it was reported.

Moore, said 30 to 50 persons were reported in the basement. "Most of them are supposed to be furniture company employees," he said.

A widespread but unconfirmed report said employees and customers were hurried to the basement when the tornado started blowing.

Some officials of the firm, including Vice President and Treasurer Ruth H. Berry and his son, Edward Berry, secretary and general manager, were among those missing.

Eerie At Dawn
Waco just before dawn was an eerie place downtown... pitch black with only one glimmer of light—near the Dennis store and at the pool hall which was nearby.

Portable searchlights played strong beams on the jagged debris, 20 feet high in places.

Firemen, police, soldiers, boy scouts, everyday citizens labored through the night.

Nobody seemed to be in charge. Nobody seemed to have a "master plan" of rescue.

It was just dig, dig, dig.

Because of interrupted communications, the report could not be verified.

The newspaper said the twister dipped at Neches and unroofed the home of the Lawrence Yancey family, carrying the roof one half mile across railroad tracks and two rows of telephone lines into a pasture.

The Yanceys and their four children were unhurt but their belongings were scattered. Yancey said almost three and one half inches of rain, accompanied by big hailstones which damaged his crops, preceded the twister.

The newspaper said the twister was reported to have hit Buffalo, a fair-sized town at the intersection of Highways 75 and 79, but there was no verification due to broken phone lines.

Army Experts Make Check On Weakened Buildings Of Waco
DALLAS—(AP)—Fifty Army engineers were sent to Waco Tuesday to inspect buildings in a 56-block area of that tornado-ravaged city.

The engineers will make a safety inspection of the roped-off area to determine what buildings are safe to occupy and what buildings are safe. They also will provide technical advice on clearing the wreckage.

The engineers from the Fort Worth and Galveston districts were dispatched by Col. Herbert Vogel of Dallas.

Their work will be directed by Col. H. R. Tumin, executive officer of Dallas.

The engineers were dispatched at the request of civil defense authorities. Engineers Monday night set up radio units and portable power plants at the scene of the Waco destruction.

Vogel said the engineers at Dallas are keeping a close watch for possible floods. There are no present indications of floods but the engineers believe more rain might develop a threat on the east fork of the Trinity River.

Weary San Angelo Struggles To Restore Order Amid Chaos

By TRACY FLILER
Reporter - Telegram Staff

SAN ANGELO—Residents of this West Texas city will be talking about the "big blow" of Monday, May 11, 1953, for a long time to come because it was here Monday that a tornado unleashed its tremendous strength to obliterate houses, throw automobiles hundreds of feet and kill eight persons and injure almost a hundred more in a twisting maelstrom unequalled in the history of this area.

Stumbling through the nightmarish aftermath of the afternoon catastrophe one looks upon desolation—in the eyes of injured being carried to hospitals—in the remains of a fireplace once surrounded by a cozy hearth—in the writhing of a dying sheep, its side ripped from head to rear.

Ambulances continued to careen to the hospitals with newly-found injured seven hours after the paralyzing twister struck. Several were killed instantly, some died enroute and others in the hospital, despite the best of emergency treatment. Tornado injuries defy description.

His Injured Wife
The less serious injured could talk of their wounds and their fear and the calm courage of others. Wesley Stewart, 64, of Lakeview, told how he held on to his unconscious wife while struggling to get to the front door of his house.

"I was trying to go from the hallway to the living room when a dork flew off and pinned my hand back, blew around and cut it again. I looked up and saw the roof blow away, and through the hole I could see the sky full of timber tossing like leaves." His hand was smashed badly but he was safe and so was his wife, cradled in his good arm. The house was demolished as were many, many other homes in the Lake View Community.

In the stillness following the hail and rain, one tries vainly to find a pattern of destruction—there is none. Like a giant spinning top, the tornado played over the whole area in a checkerboard fashion—a home sucked up from between the two left standing—a few shingles torn off one and the next smashed like matchwood.

Along the highway leading through the Lake View Community and into the heart of the city can be seen the lonely looking speakers of a drive-in theater whose large screen has vanished into scattered bits of twisted metal.

Church Damaged
Looking from the school window across the maze of twisted tin roofing and timber you can see that the rear of the nearby Lake View Christian Church is no more and another house close by has been leveled.

The fairgrounds to the northwest is almost pure rubble, with very little left of the big grandstand, the bleacher seats criss-crossed like tangled tumbleweeds and lying hundreds of feet away, some dangling from the blasted structure and resembling pendulums out of control.

The rest, including the place where the annual livestock show was held has been cleared almost completely.

NO OCCASION FOR CROWING

SAN ANGELO—(AP)—The San Angelo Standard-Times usually prints a big red rooster on its front page when rain falls in its dry West Texas section.

Rain fell heavily—up to six inches—with the tornado that killed eight persons and injured more than 100 Monday.

The Standard-Times didn't print its red rooster Tuesday, however. A front-page story told why.

"Nothing to crow about," said the headline.

Other trailers have been blown about like pieces of a shattered jigsaw puzzle. People were killed there. Dread Fills Air

There is terror, disbelief, shock, astonishment, pain, and determination registered on faces of bystanders and emergency crews. With hundreds of cars jamming the highway, no horns are honked—the squelched anxiety is powerful in its quietness.

303 WEST HAMBY IS BRICK has 2 huge bedrooms, wonderful ceramic bath, good closet space, attached carport and storage, and fenced yard. You'll want to know more about it, but to keep it interesting, it's priced at $10,500.

SOME PEOPLE PLAY the Midland Country Club in 2 hours and 93 strokes (if they ain't cheating). But we'll show you 3 wonderful homes all around it in only 1 hour. One has 2 bedrooms, another has 3 (brick), and the third one has 3 bedrooms and a den and 1 1/2 baths. No cheating here. You merely take your choice. Midland may be building ridiculously towards Odessa (if you like our friendly neighbor), but the Country Club area has the trees and the grass. Like I said, you take your choice. Please, by appointment only. Priced from $11,500 to $16,900.

Mud Slows Korean Action To Scattered Ground Skirmishes

SEOUL.—(AP)—Allied and Red troops skirmished briefly Tuesday on the muddy Korean battlefield while rain and heavy overcast grounded most Allied warplanes.

Eighth Army headquarters reported a few small ground clashes across the peninsula, with South Korean troops doing most of the fighting.

It was the third straight day that poor flying weather hampered aerial strikes against the Communists. Fifth Air Force said only 17 of its planes bombed Red targets in the night.

Fourteen B-29 Superforts from Okinawa bases bombed a 270-acre installation at Noha, 18 miles west of Kyompo, Monday night. Clouds prevented observation of damage.

The Army disclosed that the U. S. 25th Infantry Division has replaced the 1st Marine Division in the key Panmunjom sector, 35 miles north of Seoul. The 25th moved in early this month.

The Marines had held the section on the extreme western front the last 13 months.

Overnight Camp Upsets Everybody But Five-Year-Old

REDWOOD CITY, CALIF.—(AP)—An intensive 26-hour search for a five-year-old boy who decided to camp out had a happy ending.

When little Jimmy Bill of nearby Atherton was restored Monday to his distraught father, Cyril M. Bill, he asked:

"Why aren't you at the office, Daddy?"

Searchers learned that at one time in the night two bloodhounds and their trainer must have passed within 20 feet of Jimmy.

"But I didn't know the man and I was afraid of the dogs so I didn't say anything," Jimmy explained.

Why did he walk away from his picknicking family Sunday?

"I wanted to see the creek so I camped out," calmly explained Jimmy, who suffered only scratches.

Two Die As Plane Plunges Into Street

OAKLAND, CALIF.—(AP)—Two men were killed Monday when their light plane hit a power line and crashed into a crowded intersection at suburban San Lorenzo.

Surprisingly, nobody in the street was killed.

Blazing debris started fires which destroyed two buildings and injured three persons in a parked car.

Sheriff's deputies identified the pilot as Melvin L. Clarke, 32, San Lorenzo plumber, and World War II flier. They said the second man was Richard Magnuson, 38, of Oakland.

Railroad Traffic Representatives To Visit Midland On Tour Of Line

Traffic representatives of the Texas & Pacific Railway Company—eighteen of the railroad's "salesmen" in on-line offices and from off-line agencies from New York to California—will visit the Midland area Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday.

The visit to Big Spring, Midland and Odessa will wind up a two-week educational tour for three such groups this year.

On the T&P's main line in this section of West Texas, the traffic visitors will look over principal industrial installations, agriculture developments, and the railroad's various facilities.

The trips are designed to give the T&P business solicitors an insight into the growth and development of the Southwestern region served by their company, as well as up-to-the-minute knowledge of improvements to facilities, rolling stock, and equipment on the railroad itself, company officials said. This will mark the third year that such tours have been sponsored.

Started May 4 with a two-day inspection tour of Dallas, the men are seeing notable improvements made along the entire system—from New Orleans to El Paso—before the trip ends in the latter city May 16. Improvements are apparent in the line's rolling stock, roadbed, signal devices, passenger and freight stations, and services.

The tours are being made in a chartered sleeping car with a special dinner-lounge to serve meals and enable the group to view industries and railroad installations while enroute on T&P trains.

Prior to arrival in West Texas, the group will have toured cities on the line's Transcontinental Division from Sherman to Texarkana, ridden over the railroad's Louisiana Division from New Orleans to Shreveport, through the Longview-Greggton-Gladewater area of East Texas, and visited the railroad's largest terminal at Fort Worth.

Leaving this region, they will make a swing over the company's largest subsidiary line—the Texas-New Mexico Railway—before reaching El Paso, western end of the line and end of the tour.

Personnel Listed

Officers and traffic men in the tour group are: C. H. Pistor, freight traffic manager, Dallas, (in charge of the tour); Cooper Hunt, Eastern traffic manager, New York City; W. E. Hennessey, general agent, Philadelphia, Pa.; G. L. Brooks, general agent, Big Spring; D. Q. Marsh, Southwestern Freight Bureau, St. Louis; D. A. Scrivener, traveling freight agent, Abilene; J. C. ELIZABETH the Queen

By Marion Crawford
Former Governess to Her Majesty

WEDNESDAY, Dec. 15, 1948, was a cold, crisp day. I woke with some excitement and lay in my accustomed way, letting my eyes rove over the room for a little while.

Outside the birds were very active, their chirps forming a sort of descant to the deeper rumble of the traffic passing along Kensington High Street.

It was the morning of Prince Charles's christening day.

George and I had received a special invitation, personally passed to us by the Master of the Household. This was a great honor. The occasion was to be so personal that no printed invitations were issued. It was to be "family" only.

The invitations told us to come for three o'clock. Then came another message postponing it by half an hour.

The Royal Family were to have a family lunch party and they feared it might continue a little longer than they had anticipated. They did not want to keep anyone waiting.

Normally I would enter the Palace by the Privy Purse door, which lies at the right-hand corner of the building as you look at it from the Mall. But this was a special occasion, and we were driven right through one of the center arches into the Inner Court.

A footman, clad in scarlet coat and white silk knee breeches, came down the few steps from the Grand Entrance and opened the car door.

He gave us a pleasant smile of greeting and then directed the chauffeur where to leave the car.

At garden parties or other functions there are so many cars that they have to drop their passengers and then wait outside along the Mall, from which they are summoned by loud-speaker. But there was no such crush this afternoon, and our car was allowed to wait in the Inner Court.

The Grand Hall with its crimson carpet and impressive statues is an imposing place.

That afternoon it was lined with footmen in the same splendid panoply as those at the door. I rather regretted that their powdered wigs had been abandoned before my time at the Palace.

Instead, the footmen now appear in their uniform with their hair caked with flour. I often used to wonder how this was done without also sprinkling their uniforms.

One pictures them putting their heads through a kind of stock which fits closely round their necks, while a comrade dabs them carefully with a powder puff. It must be a difficult operation, and messy to remove.

We marched along the Grand Hall and up the wide staircase where we were met by General Sir Frederick Browning.

He smiled at us pleasantly. "The Queen wants everyone to go in and sit down," he said. "There is to be no fuss. Everything is to be as simple as possible."

Sir Frederick Browning showed us into the Gold and Silver Music Room. It was a place we had often used for dancing classes when the Princesses were small. It has a beautiful parquet floor upon which the troupe of little girls would pirouette with rocky enthusiasm.

I remember that one day Sir Hill Child, then Master of the Household, came up to me after household lunch.

"I suppose you know, Miss Crawford," he began, "that the dancing lessons are ruining the floor in the Music Room? The parquets are springing up all over the place."

After that we had to find somewhere else to practice.

When the Archbishop of Canterbury came in, we all stood up. We seemed to remain like that for a very long time. Then he smiled and said, "I think you had better all sit down."

Presently the Royal Family entered, led by the King and Queen. We all stood up again and watched them file to their seats in front of us, closely followed by Sister Rowe carrying the baby. It was so nice to hear, as she passed, that same comforting rustle from her apron.

I was concerned when the Archbishop took the baby in the crook of his arm. It seemed a very unsafe place, as if the slightest movement would dislodge the baby. But throughout the ceremony, Prince Charles—as he became then—lay quiet as a mouse.

Even when the Archbishop poured three very ample shellfish

THE actual christening, which I was most moving, had been a small, intimate affair. But there must have been two or three hundred people at the reception.

Sister Rowe carried the baby round for everyone to see. We stood by the fire, for the day was cold, talking to young Princess Alexandra, daughter of the Duchess of Kent. She is a sprightly, charming child, with a personality which will certainly make its mark.

We also spoke with the Archbishop. I told him of my fear that he might drop the baby.

"You needn't have been worried," he said genially. "I'm an old hand at christenings. I once did nine in one afternoon, and not a casualty among them."

Ike Sends Brother On Delicate Mission Of Sounding Out Guatemala's Red Tinges

By DANIEL JAMES
NEA Special Correspondent
NEW YORK—Both in America and in Guatemala, there is talk by anti-Communists of U. S. intervention in the Red-ripe affairs of the Little Central American country.

But an on-the-spot look at the situation indicates such a move would only create "anti-imperialist" sentiment, arouse sympathy for "little Guatemala" outside the country and thus feed Communist designs.

President Eisenhower has dispatched his brother, Milton, on a fact-finding mission to Latin America. His first step might well be Guatemala. But he can do more

Through the PAR, PRN, and PRG, the Communists dominate the 58-man Congress, although only four deputies are listed as Communists. No measure inimical to Red interests can pass this legislature. Avowed anti-Communists number exactly five. The high-water mark of Communist influence came on March 14, when the Guatemalan Congress became the only legislative body outside the Iron Curtain to stop its proceedings for a minute in silent memory to Joseph Stalin.

To make certain no anti-Communism is officially expressed outside Congress, the Reds have acquired control of government press and radio organs.

The government's "Diario de Centro America" is edited by party-lining Leopoldo Castillo Saenz. The semi-official "Nuestro Diario," the equivalent of a Guatemalan "Daily Worker," is also Communist-edited. Both papers are government-subsidized. The government radio TOW, operated by a Communist, Carlos Alvarado Jerez.

Envoy Kicked Out
Nor is the foreign service free of Red tentacles. At this moment, one Red member of it, Alfredo Chocano, is first secretary in Guatemala's Washington embassy. Chocano, not long ago, was declared persona non grata by Nicaragua after a suitcase full of Communist literature was found in his possession. Three other Guatemalan diplomats recently have been expelled, for similar reasons, from Colombia, France and Panama.

But Guatemalan communism does not fight with political and economic weapons alone. During an interview with the Communist party's General Secretary, Jose Manuel Fortuny, I saw an open revolver on a shelf beside him. I can reveal here for the first time that the Red-controlled labor unions had a cache, as late as three years ago, of up to 7,000 rifles.

Peasants Armed
Many of the peasants in Red cells are armed. In February, four armed Communists, one a Czech, were caught in an attempt to assassinate El Salvador's Foreign Minister, Roberto Caines, spearhead of the effort to form a Central American anti-Red front. Salvadoran President Oscar Osorio was forced to close the border with Guatemala, last October, to thwart a coup organized by Guatemalan Communists.

Fortunately, the Communists do not control Guatemala's armed forces. But President Arbenz does, and as long as the army is loyal to him it will protect communism. It proved that on March 28 when it quelled a revolt against the government's pro-Communist policies which broke out 100 miles from Guatemala City, the capital.

U. S. A. S. EISENHOWER: If President's brother looked . . .

than gather facts. He can recommend a policy. Had there been a clear and forthright policy in Washington before this, Guatemala would not now be a Red time bomb.

Secret And Open

Total open Communist membership in Guatemala is 536, organized as the "Guatemalan Labor Party" to circumvent a constitutional prohibition against foreign parties. But secret Communists and fellow travelers run to many times that number, and infest the major parties to the point of dominating them.

These parties—Party of Revolutionary Action (PAR), Party of National Renovation (PRN), and Party of the Guatemalan Revolution (PRG)—are the mainstay of the government. They follow every twist of the Red line. Their leaders go to "peace" conferences in Vienna and Peking, sign petitions to free the Rosenbergs, and North Korea wishes for victory, employ Marxist slogans and phraseology, and hobnob openly with foreign and domestic known Communists.

Military Recruiting Team To Visit City

Sgt. 1/c A. M. Burt and Sgt. 1/c Mary Cottingham will be at the Midland Post Office Thursday to discuss enlistment in the Army, the Air Force, and the Women's Army Corps with interested persons.

It has been announced that for the first time young women who are high school graduates may apply for enlistment in the WAC to attend a specific technical school of their choice. Formerly the women could not be assured of attending a specific school.

Under the new program, qualified young women are assured of attending a specific school immediately after completion of basic training providing application has been approved prior to actual enlistment.

The technical schools open to young women under this program are: Cryptography, dental assistant, dental laboratory, finance procedures, information and education, machine accounting, medical laboratory, medical technician, occupational therapy, personnel administration, personnel management, pharmacy, physical therapy, public information, stenography, and X-ray.

Adventist Leader, Former Texan, Dies

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Elder William E. Nelson, 69, a prominent leader in the Seventh-Day Adventist World Organization, died here Sunday of a heart ailment.

Nelson once served as president of Southwestern Junior College at Keene (Johnson County), Texas.

TO NEW MEXICO
Sharon Myers, Beverly Smith and Patty Poindexter were weekend visitors in Albuquerque, N. M.

GUATEMALA'S ARBENZ: As long as the Army is loyal . . .

initially non-Communist government parties, the government, and other vital areas.

The question is whether they will realize in time that the Communist goal is to make Guatemala a Soviet satellite.

Electronic Brain Speeds Up Tracing Of Ticket Stackers

NEW YORK—(AP)—Two federal Treasury agents walked into New York's traffic summons control bureau.

They had a problem. They were looking high and low for a man whose name they didn't even know. They did know he drove a blue Ford and they had learned he once got a parking ticket in front of a certain street address.

With nothing more than this, 47-year-old Saul J. Allen took less than 15 minutes to dig up the man's name, his home address and his business address.

"The agents bolted out of there so fast they didn't even have time to thank me," said Allen, who is director of the TSCB, a branch of New York City's Magistrate Court system.

Actually, it was just a simple little odd job the TSCB performed for the T-men.

It utilized a system the bureau has developed—a fantastic, part-human, part-robot method of tracking down traffic violators in the world's largest city.

Revenues Go Up
New York issues traffic violation summonses by the thousands. They are ignored by the thousands.

Three years ago, it was an almost hopeless problem to track down the 70,000 unpaid traffic tickets outstanding each year. It required matching thousands and thousands of summonses to obtain a single motorist's record of violations.

Then TSCB installed a mechanical brain, the first of its kinds in the nation. Aisen and his staff of 85 feed their problems to the brain and its answers have made this a tough town for a motorist who sins and then scoots.

"I would estimate the city has collected $1,500,000 a year in fines that it otherwise would have lost," Allen said.

Firesmen Rescue Defiant Red-Head From Trolley Wires

SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—Firemen used an aerial ladder truck to snatch a woman dangling from trolley wires and defying police to reach her.

The woman—registered at a hotel as Mrs. Lois Hutchings, 35, of Seal-tite—muttered: "I guess I showed you guys."

Pedestrians at downtown Fifth and Mission Streets had called police after seeing the red-haired woman on the hotel fire escape Sunday night.

After police arrived, she started a high-wire act, finally swinging out of reach on the guy wires. Twice she escaped serious injury as she brushed against high tension wires supplying power to trolley buses.

She was taken to San Francisco Hospital for observation.

The most ignored of all summonses are those for illegal parking. So the fines were boosted. They now range from $4 for the simplest violation to $28 for double parking. A multiple violator can be fined as high as $50 for each offense, no matter how trivial.

Cars Towed In
Last year, police began rounding up cars of habitual offenders and towing them in. To get their car back, the violator had to face a warrant. Allen, of course, was the man who told the police where to look for the car.

The mechanical brain is an electronic detective with 39 units to it. The data on a parking ticket is fed to it by means of holes punched in cards. In a matter of moments, it catalogues the data and points out any similarity in a driver's name, license number or other figures to previous tickets.

Human ingenuity takes over from there, starting with an elaborate system of cross filing. Out of all this comes an index of habitual violator's record.

AIR LINES

One of the Scheduled Airlines of the U.S.

Faces Of Aces—They Count Dead MIG's, Not The Odds

Exhilaration of victory lights face of Capt. Robert A. Windoffer, 30, Fort Wayne, Ind., after shooting down MIG.

These are the faces of aces. They are U. S. Sabre jet pilots who count MIG's destroyed or damaged instead of rotation points, who beg for extra missions to clip communism's wings.

They commute to their work-shop 40,000 feet in the sky over North Korea, sometimes twice a day.

Last stop on the line is the Yalu River, beyond which they can see the enemy planes practicing take-offs and landings. There, in MIG Alley, they seek battle with the Reds who choose to fight instead of beating it for sanctuary.

Closer To Glory—

All these men are not "aces" in the accepted five-MIG headline sense of the word. But each is looking for that next Red jet to bring him closer to the glory-rate—and the satisfaction of one less Red in the sky.

Over North Korea some Sabre jet pilots bail out, some spin in, some are captured—and some die.

Some of them ditch in the sea, and are rescued by helicopters.

But most of them fly home daily to hot chow, showers and clean sheets.

Back from the tension of battle in MIG Alley, they sing and laugh and describe with an airman's swooping gestures the excitement of the day.

Swig For a MIG—

They go to their club, called Swig Alley, and take a "swig for a MIG"—or down a glass for a fallen wingman.

They also unashamedly wipe away men's tears of rage and anger when they tell of a fallen buddy's last message:

"I've had it, man. Bug out of here."

And they sing cynical songs like this:

"Throw a nicker in the trees. Save a fighter pilot, please."

Pity The Soldier—

Up above the Yalu, they always are outnumbered, yet have destroyed more than 600 MIG's against a debit of 60-odd losses.

In a few minutes of air action they are targets for more bullets and shells than will be aimed at a ground soldier in an average nine-month Korea tour of duty. Yet they pity the earth-bound troops.

These are the Sabre jet pilots, elite of the Air Force. Competent in the sky, sometimes carefree on the ground.

They are determined businessmen, intent on their job of preserving democracy from the skies against any odds.

And they don't count the odds. They count dead MIG's.

Despair over loss darkens face of Maj. William L. Cosby, 32, Painter, Va., when one of his pilots fails to return.

Business of briefing occupies Lt. Charles W. McGinnis, Pittsburgh, before flight.

Back again for second tour, Lt. Col. George L. Jones, Vero Beach, Fla., has 7 1/2 MIGs.

Non-plussed Capt. Lennie R. Moore, Fort Walton, Fla., describes a rough encounter.

Impassive Major Stephen Bettinger, 28, Denver, listens to briefing for the flight he leads.

Concentration stills Lt. George W. Roope, 27, Phoenix, Ariz., who is after his first MIG.

High noon position of MIG he got is described by Capt. Stuart Childs, 29, Charlotte, N. C.

Calm, clear eyes of Lt. Col. Richard Ayersman, 35, Sacramento, are jetman's trademark.

Seriously intent, Lt. Gilbert Hasler, 23, of Pasadena, Calif., describes last mission.

Old hand is Lt. Col. Carroll B. McElroy, 36, Mamaroneck, N. Y., with two sure kills.

Stodious-looking Lt. James F. Low, 27, Sausalito, Calif., has blasted down eight MIGs.

Relaxed Lt. Joseph C. Bryant, Lauris, S. C., is also eager to get his first Red jet.

Frustrated Lt. Donald Hooten, Dallas, tells how MIG he chased scooted back across Yalu.

Determined Lt. Col. Frank S. Keller, Trenton, N. J., pauses during briefing for a fight.

LINCOLN ADDS MOBILGAS ECONOMY RUN WIN* TO MEXICAN PAN-AMERICAN RACE VICTORY

Power steering, 4-way power seat, power brakes, see-thru glass, and white side-wall tires optional at extra cost.

*The car that swept the First 4 Places in Grueling Mexican Endurance Race now takes First Place in Class "G" in Famous Economy Run

Now Lincoln performance leaves all other fine cars far behind, as this outstanding victory in America's economy classic is added to the famous 4-way sweep in the Mexican speed and endurance test. On the three-day grind from Los Angeles to Sun Valley, over mountains, through deserts and city traffic, Lincoln scored an astounding 52.34 ton-miles-per-gallon—topping the other cars in its class, and all other cars equipped with automatic transmissions, regardless of class!

These records mean that you can own a luxury car that combines lively easy-to-handle action with sensible operating costs. Not that a Lincoln owner worries about gas bills. But it will give you special satisfaction to know that your Lincoln, with its mighty 205-horsepower engine, is as economical as it is exciting.

It's easy to discover Lincoln's performance for yourself. We'll be glad to let you get behind the wheel and see how Lincoln responds under the toughest driving conditions. Give it any test . . . for pick-up, hill-climbing power, for nimble handling, for luxurious ease, for style leadership inside and out. Try its winning engine, its power brakes and steering, and its 4-way power seat. You'll agree with the car connoisseurs who say that Lincoln is not only the one fine car designed for modern living—it is also completely powered for modern driving.

Ton-miles-per-gallon equals car weight (with passengers), multiplied by miles traveled, divided by gallons of gasoline used.

Midlanders May Fill Gardening Needs At Williams Feed Store

With more and more new home-owners starting out in Midland with a brand new house every day, Williams Feed and Supply, 1403 East Highway 80, has prepared to serve them as a headquarters for gardening needs and advice.

Buddy Williams, owner, and his brother Johnny, manager, believe one of the first requirements of a newly-planned garden is a carefully planned garden, and a green, growing lawn.

To provide for the influx of home-owners here, they have arranged for advice on gardening and soil tests without charge on application. The doubtful gardener can find the answer to his questions at Williams.

As to equipment—a complete line of garden hose, tools, sprinklers and every gadget used in stock at the store, sold in high quality at the lowest competitive prices.

Fertilizers and soil conditioners, particularly in the West Texas area, are a vital need to make any garden grow and flourish. They must be available to the type of soil found here.

All types are supplied by Williams from the highest quality but guaranteed to be the richest kind of fertilizer, to Krilium, the popular chemical soil conditioner. In addition, a complete stock of Armour's fertilizers.

Flower and garden seeds, both in packet and bulk, are supplied by Williams. Bermuda grass seed, noted for its hardy, durable growth, is sold in the extra fancy hulled grades.

And for those who want to raise meat animals or poultry, either for profit or table use, Purina chows are sold at Williams—nourishing feeds that add valuable pounds to the growing stock.

B And B Butane Firm Adds Service Station Facilities

A new service for Midland motorists has been added by the B and B Butane Service—the Morris Fuel Service, distributing the fine Texaco oil and gasoline products to Midlanders.

The service station is located at the same site as B and B—the intersection of the Garden City Highway and Cole Park Road. Morris Snider is the owner and manager of the two efficient fuel concerns.

Clean, economical butane is still available in plentiful supply at B and B, both in motor fuel for cars and trucks plus bottle units for homes, trailers, and farm use.

Snider said he now is equipped to serve Midlanders in their fuel needs of all kinds—domestic, industrial, and transportation.

But that is not all. B and B has a complete supply of hot water heaters and stoves, not only for butane users but also for Midlanders who prefer natural gas units.

Plumbing supplies are carried in stock at B and B plus the hardy Pittsburgh paints in any color combination needed.

With Spring in the air, Snider advises Midland homeowners to start work on that house painting job they have been putting off all through the Winter months.

A feature of the B and B Fuel department is free delivery anywhere in Midland County, day or night.

Hours of the firm are from 6 a.m. to 9 p.m. every day except on Sunday. Telephone orders may be called in by dialing 3-3451.

Butane is now an established part of Midland use, reported Snider. He said that more and more West Texans are switching to the safe, reliable butane every day.

B and B is equipped to convert automotive and home equipment to use of butane. Skilled technicians are employed to handle the conversions.

Short Swim Costs Bet-Winning Youth

MONTPELIER, VT.—P.—A high dive and a short swim proved expensive sport for a Norwich University lad.

A group of friends dared a 19-year-old student to dive from the Spring Street bridge into the North Branch for a $5 bet. A neighbor who saw the fellow strip to the waist and dive into the cold water called the police.

The law arrived in time to assist the swimmer from the stream and the next morning he was in court charged with breach of peace. The fine was $50 and costs of $8.20. The judge suggested the friends might raise the ante to defray the costs.

MIXED EMOTIONS—Nineteen-month-old Lillian Juern is overcome with emotion as she meets her big brother, Pfc. Theodore Juern, 22, of Forest Park, Ill., for the first time. Juern, former POW, never had seen his little sister before his arrival at Great Lakes, Ill., upon his return from Korea.

Milwaukee Bowler, 16, Marks Up 807 Score

MILWAUKEE—(P)—Don Oesp, 16-year-old lad bowling in the Lutheran Center Men's League, recently registered an amazing 807 total in league play. Don's previous high had been 698, scored two weeks earlier. This is his fourth season of bowling and he carries a 175 average.

Oesp's score has been exceeded only once by a 16-year-old — Dick Hoover totaled 847, including a 300 game at that age. Oesp's three games were 256, 260 and 291.

WHAT'LL I DO, DEAR WATSON?

MILFORD, CONN.—(P)—Sherlock Holmes, of nearby Bridgeport, gave up and called police. Unlike his famous namesake in Conan Doyle's famous mystery novels, he proved a flop at tracking down stolen goods.

With professional skill, police quickly recovered his stolen auto.

From Chelsea! Go To England

LONDON—(P)—The London borough of Chelsea tosses out an invitation to the wide world.

Anyone living in any Chelsea anywhere on earth is welcome to drop in at the borough's town hall for free cocktails June 3. They will be served by Chelsea's woman mayor, Miss M. K. Cook.

It will be Chelsea's way of celebrating Queen Elizabeth's coronation. So far, the mayoress has hustled off special invitations to 10 Chelsea in the U. S. That's several more American Chelsea than the U. S. post office knows about, but Miss Cook says no matter—all are welcome.

Mrs. Albert Roth and Jessie Gordon of Odessa were in Midland Monday.

Hardening Arteries' Effects Depend On Their Location

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

A slow stream of letters reaches this column inquiring about hardening of the arteries. Although these blood vessels begin to become less soft and elastic almost from birth onwards, true hardening of the arteries, or arteriosclerosis, as physicians call it, is not usually much of a problem until the middle or later years of life.

What happens to the walls of the arteries is extremely complicated and even today everything that happens and why it occurs is not thoroughly understood. Sometimes the walls of the arteries get a kind of fatty deposit in them, but generally true hardening refers to gradual deposits of calcium.

These deposits do not develop in all the arteries at the same rate. Some arteries are affected less than others. Until a lot of calcium has been deposited, furthermore, the arteries remain fairly elastic, carrying enough blood so that serious difficulties are unlikely.

In some cases the calcium deposits appear to be a result of high blood pressure; in others high blood pressure may be caused by the arteriosclerosis. Because hardening of the arteries is a sign of increasing years, however, the wear and tear of life probably plays a part in the need in which arteriosclerosis develops.

Disturbances in the secretion of hormones from the internal glands, infections, overeating, also are believed by some to be responsible in certain cases. Diseases of the kidneys also may enter into the picture.

The symptoms of arteriosclerosis are associated principally with increase in the blood pressure and with disturbances of the circulation to those parts of the body which are involved directly.

If the hardening of the arteries is worse around the heart, angina pectoris may be the result. If it is in the brain, a stroke of apoplexy is a possibility. When the arteries of the legs are involved seriously, cramp-like pains in the legs after walking a few blocks may be the first noticeable sign.

Treatments Vary

There is no single satisfactory treatment for hardening of the arteries. What should be done for this condition depends on which arteries are affected and how bad the condition is. Because of this, it is impossible to outline a treatment which is suitable for all patients with arteriosclerosis.

The outlook for life and health is variable. If only those blood vessels which are located in comparatively unimportant spots are affected, good health may continue for many years.

Because more and more of us are living longer, arteriosclerosis is becoming a constantly more serious problem. Research on it is going forward constantly and eventually some way to prevent or delay the progress of hardening of the arteries should be developed.

Second De Assis Novel Due Soon In Midland Libraries

Tuesday is publication date for person, reliving that portion of his Dom Casmurro, the second of Machado de Assis' novels to be translated from the Portuguese and marriaged to the lovely Capitu to his Noonday Press book should be on the shelves of Midland bookshelves and libraries soon.

The first translation of the Brazilian author was Epitaph, and the drama and suspense are the meat for the Small Winner, a carefree 223-page volume told by the protagonist after his death. Both are taken gracefully from the Portuguese with an alertness for the most subtle connotations and with easy-to-read finesse Credit for the 277-page Dom Casmurro translation goes with bouquets to UCLA's Helen Caldwell.

"Casmurro" means a morose, tight-lipped man, withdrawn within himself. Such a man is Bento Santiago, narrator of this novel, but the nickname becomes apropos only in the later chapters.

Santiago tells his story in first reading—HW

Man Runs Over Himself

Joe Doakes had a difficulty the other day. He sent his son to the store for a package of cigarettes, but the shop keeper sent the boy home, telling him he was too young to buy cigarettes. So Joe had to run over himself.

That one is pretty old, we admit. Maybe it dates us. We sat in Community Theatre the other night, watching "Joan of Lorraine," and this thing kept running through our head. We could barely wait to get to the typewriter. You see, we wanted to twist it into an ad on Jacobson Mowers, and it would read like this: "Maybe Joe is too old to run a lawnmower, the old push and grunt kind. He ought to get a good power mower to do the job, and then his boy would keep the lawn for him. It's so easy, and so much fun, and these Jacobsons start so easy, and last so long, and more people in Midland own them than any other kind, and you can always get them serviced right in our own shop. Do you get it? Unlike Joe—you wouldn't have to run over yourself. Over the lawn, we mean."

ARE YOU GETTING ALL THE GAS MILEAGE YOUR CAR CAN DELIVER?..

1953 Mobilgas Economy Run Points the Way!

Very few drivers get from their cars the great possibilities of performance that are built into them. The Mobilgas Economy Run shows you how to get this efficient, economical performance that should be yours.

The cars in this tough road-test were strictly stock cars, no different from those sold in your own town. In the 1206 miles from Los Angeles to Sun Valley, they went through desert heat, mountain snow, stop-and-go city traffic, and the steep, grinding climbs over the Sierras. It was truly a rugged course. And yet, they scored remarkable mileage. The all-car average including heavy, luxury models was 22.2 miles per gallon... many cars got over 25.

Three factors are responsible for the fine performance of these entrants. Luckily, you can apply all of them to your daily driving and get better gas mileage... greater economy.

Get Regular Mobil-Care!

Drive with Care!

Use Mobilgas or Mobilgas SPECIAL!

..It's as simple as

These drivers knew that to give top performance, a car must be in top condition. So their cars were carefully serviced with Mobil products... the same stock products carried by your neighborhood Mobilgas Dealer. Secondly, they practiced good driving... avoided excess speed and jackrabbit starts. Third, they all used Mobilgas or Mobilgas Special. Only a high quality, scientifically refined fuel, like these, can give your car top performance and economy!

Do as these drivers did and you, too, will get improved gas mileage... all the gas mileage your car can deliver.

Daddy Ringtail

Daddy Ringtail And Downhill River

Mugwump Monkey, the monkey boy, was standing down by the Whispering River. He was standing there with a glass in his hand. It was a glass of the kind you drink out of.

Mugwump was dipping water out of the river—pouring it back—and dipping it out and pouring it back some more.

Daddy Ringtail, your monkey friend, came a-walking along just then. He saw the dipping and pouring of the water by Mugwump.

"Daddy Ringtail," said Mugwump, "the water never pours up. It always pours down—back into the river—when I pour it out of the glass."

Now you may think this was silly business for Mugwump Monkey to be trying to find a glass of water that would pour up. Maybe it is. But with all that water in the river—Mugwump thought that one glass of it—maybe one glass—would pour up if he poured it out. Daddy Ringtail smiled and shook his head. "No," he said. "There's no use trying. I'm afraid. Not even one glass of that water will ever pour up."

"How do you know, it won't?" Mugwump asked. "Some of it might pour up. Daddy Ringtail, did you ever pour all of it—Don't you think maybe one glass just might pour up?"

By WESLEY DAVIS

Daddy Ringtail had to admit he hadn't poured all the water.

And Mugwump said: "Do you know anyone who ever tried to pour all of it—maybe to see if some would pour up?"

Daddy Ringtail said he didn't know anyone who had poured all the water, and so Mugwump said: "See there? Then how does anyone know that all the water has to pour down and never up?"

Daddy Ringtail didn't answer at first. He looked way down and along the river where the water was hurrying fast to the sea. He could see the waterfall where the water went hurrying down—and hurrying down—on its way to the sea.

Then Daddy Ringtail explained that none of the water would ever pour up—because the river was a downhill river where all the water flows down instead of up.

Happy day! and tomorrow I'll tell you about the uphill river where the water flows up instead of down.
