Twentieth Century Hears Mrs. Leggett

Mrs. Raymond Leggett was leader for the program on "Freedom of Play" for a meeting of the Twentieth Century Study Club Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Charles L. Snure, 1401 Harvard Drive. Mrs. R. L. Merrill was co-hostess.

In her discussion, which continued the club's program series on "Our Heritage," Mrs. Leggett gave the origin of various games and sports.

"Our sports are not our own," she stressed. For example, she explained, polo was played 500 years ago by the Persians, and the Chinese say their ancestors played polo 1,000 years before Christ.

Football, Mrs. Leggett continued, was played as early as 500 B. C. by the Spartans and track and field events were played by the ancient Greeks.

Baseball is the American game, she stated, and was originated in the United States in 1839.

Mrs. Leggett also showed a motion picture, "This Is Your High School," made this year at Midland High School, with Raymond Leggett as photographer and Art Cole as narrator.

HANDS 'N' FACES

Purse Snatcher Gets Valued Possessions Of Midlander

It was tough to lose $45 to thieves, but it was tougher for Mrs. L. A. Smith, 611 South Mineola Street, to find she had lost the things dearest to her: gifts, possessions and pictures of her husband and son, both dead for some time. The purse contained, Mrs. Smith said, her husband's wallet and papers, three keys and a pearl-handled knife, a wrist watch and her wedding band, three other rings and several pictures of her husband and son. The $45 was in two billfolds in the purse. "I had put the money in the purse so I could take it downtown this week to pay for my house insurance," Mrs. Smith pointed out. "I seldom leave any money around like that." "I'd like to ask the thief to keep the money if he must," she continued, "but I wish he'd return the things that mean so much to me and so little to him."

Churchill's Tories Gain Commons Seat

SUNDERLAND, ENGLAND—Prime Minister Churchill's Conservatives gained another seat in the House of Commons Thursday, winning an upset victory over the Laborites in a special election to fill a vacancy.

It was the first exchange of seats between the major parties in the 17 by-elections held since the general election of October, 1951. In previous balloting to fill vacancies, the Conservatives retained eight seats they had won in 1951 and the Laborites kept eight.

Make Haste Slowly, Italian Chief Warns

PARIS—Italian premier Alcide de Gasperi warned Prime Minister Winston Churchill Thursday against a "badly prepared" big power conference or one that yielded no results.

Commenting on Churchill's declaration to the House of Commons earlier this week that he favored an early meeting of the big powers, unhampered by a stiff agenda and carried out informally, De Gasperi said: "A badly prepared conference, or a conference which will not give any result, such as those of Yalta and Potsdam, would lead to anger and disillusion among our peoples."

Carney Delighted At New Position

NAPLES, ITALY (AP)—Adm. Robert B. Carney, President Eisenhower's choice to boss the U. S. Navy, said Thursday that "nothing more wonderful could happen to a sailor."

For the last two years Carney has been commander in chief of North Atlantic Treaty forces in Southern Europe, with headquarters here. The date when he will leave for Washington to become U. S. chief of naval operations has not yet been set.

"I have worked at being a sailor 41 years and only hope in those 41 years I learned enough to do the things expected of me by the service and by the President in my new job," he told this reporter.

News of his elevation reached Carney in dramatic fashion—by jet plane.

A personal letter from the President was flown to Paris in usual fashion. There Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, retiring NATO commander, handed it over to an F-84 jet pilot who was just leaving for Naples on a training mission.

Carney leaves his NATO command "with very mixed emotions," he said.

"A great deal has been accomplished since he took over under General Eisenhower, then NATO commander. We are a long way from being finished, but great progress has been made," Carney declared.

During the last two years Italy's Army largely has been reorganized and modernized, and the armed forces of Turkey and Greece have been admitted into the Atlantic Alliance.

Texas City Keeps Faith

TEXAS CITY (AP)—Texas City, a town with a memory, was collecting clothing, equipment of all sorts and money Thursday to help tornado-torn Waco.

Texas City was the victim, April 15, 1947, when explosion of a chemical-laden French freighter touched off a series of gigantic blasts and fires in which 352 persons died.

Waco was one of the first cities in Texas to offer its aid, and this town of 20,000 on the Gulf Coast still remembers.

Leaves Her Bed, Walks

WACO (AP)—For polio-stricken Mrs. Mercedes Carbajal Monday's tornado had a silver lining.

"I was flat on my back," she said, "but that tornado scared me onto my feet."

The storm struck terror to all who were in the house.

All escaped injury.

Until that time, Mrs. Carbajal said, she could move her legs a little but had been unable to stand on them. Now she is able to walk with assistance.

She said Wednesday she had not been examined by a doctor since the tornado but "I intend to keep on walking."

FLOOD CONDITIONS—Water from almost seven inches of rain that lashed the tornado-stricken city of Waco floods a suburban street, almost covering an automobile parked at the curb.

Egyptians Impose Economic Pressure On British Troops

CAIRO, EGYPT (AP)—Egypt was reported Thursday trying to throw an economic noose around the 80,000 British soldiers she wants to push out of the bitterly disputed Suez Canal zone.

Interior Ministry sources said Premier Mohammed Naguib's cabinet has prohibited commercial transactions with British forces in the Suez except by special approval by the supply ministry.

The order, these sources said, applies to foodstuffs, alcoholic beverages, building materials and other raw materials. Banning of Egyptian sales of all these would force the British to supply their vast establishment entirely from outside Egypt.

Egyptian political circles viewed the cabinet's new move as the start of a growing economic boycott of British forces in the canal zone. It followed a hot exchange of charges between Britain and Egypt in which each accused the other of a series of shooting attacks in the canal zone since April 1.

Clouds, Rain, Cool Weather Blanket Majority Of Nation

By The Associated Press

Widespread cloudiness covered much of the nation's eastern half Thursday, bringing considerable rain.

Lake Charles, La., reported a 24-hour rainfall of 2.07 inches.

Showers were general in the lower Mississippi Valley and in much of the East Coast region. Rain clouds moving inland from the Pacific doused parts of the Northern Rockies.

Temperatures were somewhat cooler than normal over most of the country.

Low marks well below freezing were recorded in the upper Great Lakes region, where Grand Marais, Mich., had an early morning 18 degrees.

It was fair over much of the West Coast, the Northern Plains and Great Lakes areas.

REDS HAVE TIGER BY THE TAIL—

Chinese 'Dixiecrats' Defy Communist Reform Moves

HONG KONG (AP)—Farmers in Kwangtung—Chinese Dixie—appear to have won their own private little fight with the Communists.

The Reds claim they finally have accomplished their land reform program there, but the announcement reads like a page from capitalism.

A 12-point directive, which sounds strangely soft for the Reds, pledges to Kwangtung farmers: private management, private ownership, private employment, private money lending. It promises that no farmer shall be forced into a cooperative or collective movement.

Tiger By The Tail

Kwangtung, in teeming, lush South China, is a restless and dangerous land and noted as a political hotbed of the "ins." Sun Yat-sen's 1911 rebellion started there. Chiang Kai-shek licked the warlords from there.

Now the Communists have this tiger by the tail and have "reformed" its land. All winter the Reds have been easing away from their "tougher farm doctrines. Why?"

A recent report by land reform inspectors—who investigate after land reform has been carried out—warned Peiping that too much government interference was cutting production. It said that fear of collectives was causing many farmers to stop farming, that newly redistributed farms were too small for efficiency and that farmers were migrating to the cities.

Tougher Zones Shunned

Last month Premier Chou En-lai directed such migrations should be stopped.

The Communists began their land reform in 1949 and finished in most of China by 1952. But in Kwangtung it dragged along, meeting bloody resistance. In some of the tougher zones there may not have been any land redistribution at all.

Now the "examination of the reform is going on," the Communist news agency reports. The Reds say almost four million acres were confiscated and divided among peasants in an area that contains 32 million people.

Don't Take It Away

The new Red proclamation reassures the new owner that the land is his and that there are no strings attached.

"Safeguarding of private ownership of land, houses, and all kinds of properties is guaranteed," says the proclamation. Even the "re-examiners must not take it away."

The new farmer also shall "enjoy the rights of free operation, management, purchase, sale and exchange of his property without interference."

Screen For Production

The directive said farm cooperative movements should be encouraged but "compulsory organization of farm cooperatives or mutual aid teams is strictly forbidden."

Above all the Red proclamation says nothing must be done to interfere with production. Even taxes must not interfere.

The Reds decreed: "Farmers who produce more than the fixed normal yield upon which taxes are based shall not be taxed on the excess."

Chickens Due To Join Beef On List Of Best Food Buys

By The Associated Press

Signs are that chickens soon will join beef on the best buy list in food stores of the country.

The Poultry and Egg National Board says wholesalers are bracing themselves to handle the biggest supply of birds ever brought to market. Within a few weeks, it says, between 15 and 16 million chickens will be shipped to market every week. The prospect is that this will go on for weeks.

The big supplies are expected to bring lower prices. Actually, fryer chickens were down two to four cents in various sections this week.

The poultry and egg board noted that egg prices are coming down a bit. Some retail stores knocked two to three cents off this week. Egg prices still are high for this time of the year, wholesalers said. The continued high demand has puzzled producers.

Beef prices continued at the low levels of recent months, with changes either way reported by only a few stores. Among cuts featured for the weekend were pot roast, chuck roast, corned beef, rib roast and sirloin steak.

Bacon Is Higher

Pork chops, which recently soared, settled back in some areas, with price reductions of two to six cents reported. Chitin stores said bacon has climbed six cents a pound in the last week.

Leg of lamb went up four cents a pound in some areas.

Mexican Airlines Ask Death Penalty For Air Sabotage

MEXICO CITY —(AP)— Mexican airlines want the government to slap the death penalty on anyone putting bombs on their planes.

Representatives of 20 air transport companies met here Wednesday and agreed to ask top officials to change the present law against such sabotage of air transport, which doesn't authorize capital punishment.

An airmail package, believed to have contained a bomb, blew up at the Mazatlan Airport Saturday 10 minutes after it was unloaded from an airliner. Three airport employees were killed. Since then, airline passenger traffic has dropped drastically in Mexico.

Tidelands Bill Awaits Name Of President To Become Law

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Twice-vetted legislation to give states title to oil-rich, submerged offshore lands was ready Thursday for the promised signature of President Eisenhower.

It cleared its final congressional hurdle Wednesday when the House, by roll-call vote of 278 to 116, accepted Senate amendments to an original House measure. That sent it to the White House, where popularly called "Tidelands bills" have gone before.

In 1948 President Truman vetoed a similar measure, as he did again in 1951.

The five-year issue figured prominently in the 1952 presidential campaign, during which Eisenhower promised to support the coastal states' claim to the offshore land and its rich mineral resources.

Final House action found 184 Republicans and 94 Democrats supporting the bill. Opposing it were 88 Democrats, 17 Republicans and one independent.

Opponents have served notice the measure's validity will be challenged in court. The Supreme Court has held in three suits that the federal government has "paramount rights" over the submerged lands off the coasts of Texas, California and Louisiana, although it has not passed specifically on the question of title to the area.

The Senate had deleted from the House bill a section in which federal control over the continental shelf was asserted out beyond the states' seaward boundaries.

By accepting the Senate amendments, the House was able to send the bill directly to the White House and thus avoid possible further delay in the Senate.

Just before disposing of the states ownership bill, the House voted 309-81 to pass a separate measure which would assert federal control over the outer continental shelf and authorities development of the territory. This was the intent of the section which the Senate struck from the states' ownership bill.

The measure sent to the White House would fix state coastal boundaries at three miles generally and 10 1/2 miles for the Texas and Florida Gulf Coasts.

Hans Isbrandtsen, Colorful Figure On High Seas, Dies

HONOLULU —(AP)— A plane is due here Friday with the body of Hans J. Isbrandtsen, the almost legendary American ship owner who died of a heart ailment Wednesday on Wake Island.

Isbrandtsen, 60, was enroute home by air after a three-week business trip to Japan when he was stricken as he stepped from a plane for a stopover. He died a few minutes later.

The body is to be flown to New York for funeral services.

Isbrandtsen believed in unlimited freedom of the seas and frequently tangled with governments for it. Few would stand up to him when he went after what he felt was right.

Although a small operator, he was a giant among independent owners and was a constant source of irritation to his competitors.

The Danish-born shipowner would have nothing to do with rate agreements. He wouldn't accept government subsidies.

Many of Isbrandtsen's skippers also were of heroic stature. Among them was Capt. Kurt Carlsen, who refused to leave his stricken Flying Enterprise until just before it sank in the stormy Atlantic early in 1952.

Isbrandtsen was born in Denmark, served in the Danish Navy in World War I and later went to sea as a merchant mariner. About this time he moved to the United States and became a citizen in 1932.

When Hitler moved into Denmark, he headed the Danish Isbrandtsen-Moller Line. He organized his own company under the American flag.

Nap Proves Fatal To Telephone Man

MASSAPEQUA, N. Y. —(AP)— Many a commuter dotes going home on the train. But James E. Fagan's nap led to his death.

The 49-year-old telephone company official was slumbering Wednesday night when the train reached his stop at this Long Island community.

As the train pulled out he awakened.

Fagan ran to the door. The train, gathering speed, still was alongside the platform.

Then, before other commuters could give him a hand, he lost his balance, teetered backward and was crushed under the wheels.

Marciano, Walcott Calm On Eve Of Bout

CHICAGO—(P)—Aside from brief road work, Jersey Joe Walcott planned to spend much of Thursday reading his Bible while Rocky Marciano catnapped peacefully in a South Side retreat.

This was the placid sort of atmosphere that engulfed the two fighters the day before their heavyweight championship bout in Madison Square Garden.

In contrast were officials of the sponsoring International Boxing Club. They were sweating out a hoped-for ticket sale of $500,000 and needed to dispose of about $150,000 before fight time Friday night to make it.

Pep Batters Blair, Says He's 'Tough'

FORT WORTH —(P)— Willie Pep, with a blackeye and about $6,000 for outpointing young Jack Blair of Dallas in a nationally-televased 10-round fight, departed for New York Thursday to start training for a bout in Madison Square Garden.

Pep, 30, gained a unanimous decision Wednesday night as his speed and experience gave him all except one round over the tough and willing Dallas puncher. The former world's featherweight champion was the aggressor virtually all the way, opened cuts over Blair's left eye, bloodied his nose and had him staggering once.

It's easy to make money if you have money. So the City of Midland, which had more than $3,000,000 jingling in its jeans, took advantage of that fact. The $3,170,000 represented the amount realized from the recent sale of bonds authorized in an election last September.

PLAYFUL LITTLE FELLOW—Colt Dies In Cave As Rescuers Fail

NEW MARKET, TENN.—A plucky little insurance salesman risked his life at the end of 170 feet of rope Wednesday in a vain attempt to rescue a suckling colt trapped in a cave since Sunday night. The colt, a jet black little fellow called Wild Bill, died of a broken neck as he was being pulled from the cave, a natural sink-hole on the rolling, rocky farm of Raymond Larrance. The farm is about 25 miles north of Knoxville.

Three MIG's Fall, Savage Battles Erupt On Warfront

SEOUL — Sharpshooting South Korean infantrymen killed or wounded at least 400 Communists in a series of savage, close-quarter battles across the 155-mile battlefront Thursday. In the air, U. S. Sabre jets destroyed three Communist MIG's and shot up two more, while almost 100 Sabres and other fighter-bombers plastered supply targets deep in north Korea and along the front lines.

Attlee's Address Ignites Explosion From McCarthy

WASHINGTON — Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) said Thursday Britain should apologize for what he termed a "cheap" attack by former Prime Minister Attlee on President Eisenhower and the American people. Conservative party members of the British Parliament, McCarthy said, sat silently last Tuesday while Attlee made "one of the most insulting speeches ever made in the legislative body of a recipient nation against an ally which has been pouring out her economic life blood for practically every other nation on earth."

Muscovite Papers Make Hay Of Anglo-American Quarrel

LONDON — Senator McCarthy's uproar over former Prime Minister Clement Attlee's assertion that some elements in America oppose a Korean peace was greeted with alarm or bitterness in much of the British press Thursday. Moscow radio, meanwhile, poured oil on the flames with a lengthy review of the "ever-growing disaffection with various aspects of United States policy" in the British House of Commons.

Man Runs Over Himself

Joe Doakes had a difficulty the other day. He sent his son to the store for a package of cigarettes, but the shop keeper sent the boy home, telling him he was too young to buy cigarettes. So Joe had to run over himself.

That one is pretty old, we admit. Maybe it dates us. We sat in Community Theatre the other night, watching "Joan of Lorraine," and this thing kept running through our head. We could barely wait to get to the typewriter. You see, we wanted to twist it into an ad on Jacobson Mowers, and it would read like this: Maybe Joe is too old to run a lawnmower, the old push and grunt kind. He ought to get a good power mower to do the job, and then his boy would keep the lawn for him. It's so easy, and so much fun, and those Jacobsons start so easy, and last so long, and more people in Midland own them than any other kind, and you can always get them serviced right in our own shop.

Do you get it? Unlike Joe—you wouldn't have to run over yourself. Over the lawn, we mean.

Tetanus Toxoid Is The Best Weapon To Fight Lockjaw

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA service

Tetanus, or lockjaw, is a frightening disease which carries with it an extremely high death rate. Fortunately, it can be prevented, however, and today there is little excuse for these deaths to continue.

An antitoxin to combat tetanus has been known for quite a long time. This undoubtedly has been responsible for saving many lives and is quite effective if given soon enough after a tetanus-producing injury. But today a still better method is available.

The germ which causes lockjaw is present almost everywhere on the soil and on objects which have come in contact with the earth. For this reason people in certain occupations are much more likely to acquire the disease than others.

Farmers, people who are much around animals, and those who go barefoot, are among those who fall in this group. Soldiers and sailors in combat, of course, also are exposed heavily to infection. The germs are carried into the tissues by the penetration of a rusty nail or other object. Here, deep in the tissues, the germs grow and produce a toxin or poison which is carried by the blood stream through the body. After the nerves become affected this toxin cannot be so successfully combated as at the beginning when the toxin is in the blood stream.

The best weapon to combat tetanus is an artificially produced active immunity or resistance to the poisonous toxin in advance of infection. This is created by giving two or three injections of a tetanus toxoid. Toxoid is the toxin which has been specially treated and which causes the human body to produce its own antitoxin.

World War II was the first large-scale conflict in which it was possible to produce this type of resistance to lockjaw by giving all military personnel the injections of toxoid. The results were little short of miraculous and tetanus for the first time in military history became a matter of little medical concern. An astonishingly small number of cases of tetanus occurred in our soldiers and sailors as a result of this measure.

Infants Get Toxoid
There is no reason why civilians should not also receive the benefits of tetanus toxoid. All those who are especially liable to infection should receive these injections. In fact, toxoid often is given routinely to infants, frequently combined with diphtheria and whooping cough vaccines.

If someone who has received the toxoid later is injured in such a way as to cause fear of the disease, all that is necessary is to give another injection of the toxoid called a booster dose. The toxoid practically never produces unpleasant reactions and this is another advantage over antitoxin.

Youth Center Chatter

By NANCY LOU KLINGLER

Greetings, salutations and all of the rest? We'll try to give you a summary of the happenings around here the last few days.

Have you sold your peanuts? If not then you will have another chance to sell them. Yes, Saturday again will be peanut selling day at the Youth Center. This time we are going to get rid of all of them. Talk to Myrt if you still have some left and let him tell you about what we are going to do. There will be two people at a station down town, and stations will be all over the city.

There will be a dance Saturday night to crown the King and Queen of Peanuts. There also will be a Duke and a Duchess. Are you one of these four? If not, you still have a chance to be because you can sell to your heart's content Saturday.

The dances will start at 2 p.m. There is no admission fee this time. Seniors Entertained Yvonne Shain entertained the graduating (?) seniors last Sunday with a tea in her home. Approximately 60 seniors were present and everyone had a wonderful time.

Myrt got back Tuesday from his Mother's Day trip. He went to his old home town, Denison. He said he had a wonderful time, but glad to get back to see all of our smiling faces.

Have you seen Fern's new car? If not you have missed something! It is like Myrt's except it is different. By the last statement we mean it is like it except in color.

Congratulations to Roy Kinsey and Robert Keisling. They represented Midland High School at the state track meet in Austin last weekend. Roy came out with a sixth place in the 440 yard dash. Robert placed in the preliminaries but failed to come out in the top six in the final.

Three-Way Ping Pong
Have you ever seen a game of ping pong played three ways. We mean with three people playing at the same time? Had you been to the Youth Center Tuesday you could have seen it. Patsy Yeager, Shirley Beauchamp and Andy Anderson were the threesome playing. The picture show will be Friday night. It will start at 8 o'clock. The name of this week's show will be "Sergeant York."

Something happened at high school Tuesday that hasn't happened before. High school had its first assembly of the year. It was "Marcelino Moreno Day." Marcelino, as you probably already know, won state championship honors in the state meet in Austin last weekend. Fellow classmates went together and showered him with gifts. He received a piece of luggage, three shirts, a tie, three pairs of socks, a hat, 18 golf balls, tie clasp, and cuff links. Marcelino knew nothing about the assembly until it was announced. His parents attended the program.

Mrs. Lissy Mashburn spoke of Marcelino's early days in school; Delbert Downing told of Midland being proud of him for bringing back the honor; then last but not least Coach Audrey Gill spoke about Marcelino's golfing days. It was by far the most inspiring assembly we've ever had in high school. Congratulations again!

John Petty, Harold Paden and Larry Frisdy went to San Angelo Monday night and came back at 8:30 a.m. Tuesday. They went over to have a look at the destruction caused by the tornado.

"SLICK UP" LIVING ROOM

It's a good idea to "pick up and slick up" the living room at the end of the evening: Clean ashtrays, fluff up chair seats and pillows, and put papers and books or games away. Then when breakfast and other chores keep you busy the next morning, at least you'll have the living room in order!

If a young man wants to establish credit and have people regard him as hard working and industrious, he shouldn't shoot too good a game of pool, says Lew Cash.

Optimist Committee Assignments Posted

Midland Optimists Tuesday named committee chiefs who will guide club activities during the coming year.

Vice presidents in charge of the committees are Jack Chase, Ed Stitt and Hugh Biles.

Committee chairmen are Pete Van Horn, attendance; Jim Turner, membership; Jim Worley, program;

Phil Hayes, entertainment; Jim Velvin, Jr., boys work; Bill Berry, publicity; Max Perry, Boy Scout; Harold Bourland, welfare; D. C. Baldwin, finance; Lee Holman, sports; Fred Peyton, inner civic club; and Cliff Torgeson, extension.

New Liquid Kills Roaches and Ants

Scientists Discover Easy Way to Kill Crawling Insects
ROACHES and ants are the most difficult household pests to control and they can be brought into the home at any time. Science has recently discovered a colorless brush-on insecticide that not only kills, but controls crawling pests. It is called Johnston's NO-ROACH.

Developed after years of research, NO-ROACH is an invisible, odorless, stainless liquid, so powerful that on application remains effective for months. Best of all, NO-ROACH may be brushed on, without having to move your pots and pans. It is not a contaminating spray or messy powder, contains no DDT, no sodium fluoride, and no phosphorus.

Effective for Months
Simply brush Johnston's NO-ROACH wherever roaches, ants, silverfish or waterbugs are found, around kitchen cabinets and sink woodwork, on baseboards, window sills and door sills. Insects that walk over the coating become paralyzed and die within two or three hours. The coating will continue to kill all insects that walk over it for months to come.

Guard against crawling insects this modern NO-ROACH way. 8 oz. Pint, and Quart sizes.

Daddy Ringtail And Hickety Pickety

By WESLEY DAVIS

Daddy Ringtail lives in the Great Forest, up in the top of a very tall tree, right there in his monkey house. But now he was down on the ground by the chicken house. He was talking with Hickety Pickety, his black hen. She lays eggs for gentlemen.

of the Sad, Sad Somebody. Daddy Ringtail listened while the poor fellow explained that he was with a sad, sad thought that maybe he wasn't a gentleman. This was something Suddenly through the forest came a noise of weeping and wailing. It was a sad, sad noise, the kind that the Sad, Sad Somebody makes when he is walking through the forest.

He does it so everyone can run away. So no one will have to listen to his sad, sad talk. Daddy Ringtail did not run. He waited.

"Oh, Daddy Ringtail," said the Sad, Sad Somebody. "It's a sad, sad name. It makes everyone sad who says it."

And so Daddy Ringtail promised he wouldn't say the sad, sad name he had never been sad about before. He was going to use the whole day to be sad about it.

Daddy Ringtail smiled to hear these words, and then he said: "Hickety Pickety, my black hen, will you lay an egg for the gentleman?"

Hickety Pickety clucked like the chicken she was. She reached in her apron pocket and pulled out an egg. She smiled a chicken-smile. She laid the egg on the ground at the feet of the Sad, Sad Somebody. Daddy Ringtail said: "Hickety Pickety, my black hen, laid an egg for a gentleman." And so the Sad, Sad Somebody knew he was really a gentleman after all—which is a happy thing to be. Happy day! Queen's 'Woken Up' A Lot Since Then LONDON—(AP)—In the midst of the pageantry accompanying her own coronation June 2, Britain's young Queen Elizabeth may pause to recall her reaction to her father's 16 years ago.

At that time, the 11-year-old Elizabeth wrote a schoolgirl's account of the ceremony including a chronology of the day from the time she was "woken up by the band of the Royal Marines striking up just outside my window" to bedtime.

"We put on dressing gowns," the young princess wrote, "and we crouched in the window looking into the cold, misty morning. . . . When I was going to the bathroom I passed the lift, as usual, and who should walk out but Miss Daly (her swimming instructor)."

As far as the public is concerned, the account ends here. The rest of her report never has been published.

ELIZABETH the Queen

By Marion Crawford
Former Governess to Her Majesty

QUEEN ELIZABETH was planning her first home at the time when I was planning mine. I had been married just one month when I sat with my husband in Westminster Abbey and saw the little girl I had watched growing to regal womanhood married to the man of her choice.

Through all the pageantry and music I thought of the truest meaning of a wedding—the making of a home.

I remembered the Princess saying to me, as she looked up from a heap of patterns she was studying, "Do you think that the blue or the beige would go better in this room?"

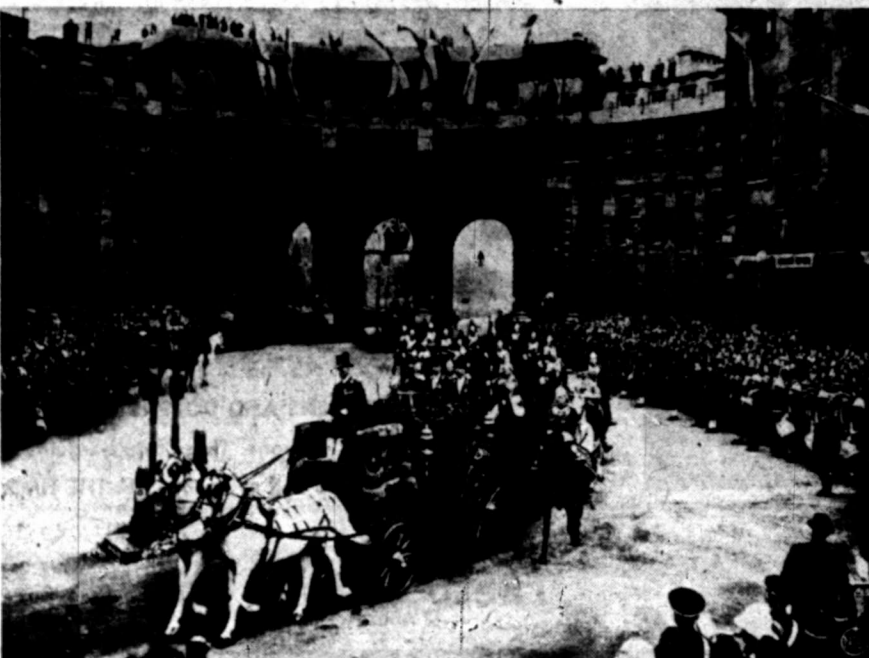

She was speaking then of Sunninghill Park, which not long after was to be burned to the ground. But we often spoke of my own little home, Nottingham Cottage, which was being got ready at the same time.

Opposite the front door of that same cottage was the very door from which Prince Philip stepped out on his wedding morning. And from my window above I would often see a figure dressed in gray, with a sort of nun's veil round her head. This was Princess Andrew of Greece, Lord Mountbatten's sister, and the mother of Prince Philip.

Sometimes I would pass her on the walks leading from Kensington Palace as she went out to do her shopping, and I would wish her a good morning. Most often she would smile an answer, but sometimes, probably wrapped in thought, she would not seem to realize anything of her surroundings.

The high cost of everything appalled Princess Elizabeth when she was planning her home. She and Princess Margaret had been brought up to be careful with money. With goods too.

In furnishing her home, Princess Elizabeth was able to draw on stocks of material that her mother, a careful buyer, had accumulated. Much of it had been bought before the war at the British Industries Fairs and other exhibitions.

Queen Elizabeth's wedding procession moves past Admiralty Arch en route to Westminster Abbey.

Family, by purchase or gift, is ever wasted. Everything is labeled and put away, safe from moths and other dangers, and catalogues are kept of all the Royal possessions. So that when anything is needed it may be available at once.

Princess Elizabeth would say to me, "Mummy says she has something that might do for this corner. That will save a little expense anyway."

The Queen was kind to me in this way too. She allowed me to choose several pieces to take to my own first home.

"Have anything you like, Crawley," she was good enough to say, and I spent many delightful hours assessing the merits of various pieces of furniture in relation to my tiny rooms of the cottage. In the end I chose a tall combined china cupboard and desk and no real need to spend money at all. I surrounded myself with belongings which gave me, even in the gloomy, impersonal recesses of Buckingham Palace, a feeling of having an individual private life.

But I knew that a cupboard or two full of my own china would never take the place of a real home. So I looked forward to my own home, at the same time when Queen Elizabeth was planning hers.

When I did eventually move into Nottingham Cottage I often changed the layout of the furniture in the rooms. In the middle of something else I would suddenly get up and say, "I think that appealed to me. To get a better place it there. George, my husband, found this hard to understand, but smiled indulgently, forgetting that there had been —forgetting that there had been

If Not Consulted By Mate, Cooperate In Plans Anyway

An irritated wife wrote me a letter recently and asked: "Shouldn't a husband consult his wife before making plans that include another couple? It doesn't seem to me the wife should be the last to hear about the plans."

Ordinarily, of course, husbands and wives should check with each other before extending or accepting invitations that include them both.

But that shouldn't be such a hard and fast rule that neither one can ever extend a spontaneous invitation or a casual invitation without checking with the other.

Just as it is important that couples usually consult each other when they can, it is also important that they be able to count on the other's cooperation when they want to go ahead on their own.

Freedom Is A Must
In this way both feel a certain amount of freedom, and a little freedom is as necessary in the marriage relationship as it is in any other relationship.

So my advice to this wife is: Don't put it if your husband occasionally goes ahead and makes plans involving you without consulting you first.

Life would be pretty dull if we always lived by a set of rules—however good the rules are.

Be flexible in your attitudes. Don't always expect things to be done in the same way.

If your husband is enthusiastic about plans he has made, fall in with them graciously. You'll have a lot more fun than you will if you decide that you aren't going to do anything without a protest if you weren't consulted in advance.

And remember that real companionship isn't based on any set of rules. It comes from a couple's readiness to enjoy, together, whatever comes along.

Fleet Moment Of History Will Attract Thousands To London To See Coronation

By ROSETTE HARGROVE and TOM A. CULLEN
NEA Correspondents
LONDON—The planning for the coronation festivities is about done. They've even worked out all details for the lamp-pole grease and the hot milk.

The grease will be applied to all the lamp posts along the procession route. No shinning up poles on Coronation day. It isn't considered dignified.

As for the hot milk, that's a must for the young Queen and her entourage moving from Buckingham Palace to Westminster Abbey. Altogether, seating accommodations are being built for 100,000. Of these, only 4,000 have been allotted to overseas visitors, including Commonwealth subjects and Americans.

Since travel agents and shipping lines estimate 40,000 Americans will be in England for the coronation, less than 10 per cent actually will see any part of the ceremony. An American with a ship or plane ticket should reconcile himself to seeing the main event on a television screen.

Setting Window Space
Londoners who live along the route have been licking their financial chops, figuring on making quite a profit out of selling window space. So far, they've been disappointed. Most Britons seem to prefer watching on TV. Perhaps, when the foreign influx arrives, the windows will command the expected $45 to $50 price. But, at the moment, no.

Actually, there is much logic to the lately-felt preference for TV over on-the-spot viewing of the procession. Stay-at-homes will miss the excitement of the crowd, of course, and the gay colors of the historical costumes. But against this is the fact that seats have to be occupied several hours before the ceremony begins, and the actual parade will last at the most 20 minutes each way, if that.

Headache For Americans
And, on TV, the whole ancient rite will be visible, not just a few hasty glimpses of gilded carriages and scarlet tunics. Viewers will see the Queen for more than two solid hours.

That's just one headache facing the American tourist. Another is the hotel situation. Every hotel in London is sold out for one week before and after the coronation. Those who have reservations in the swank hotels will get the standard coronation fare — champagne with breakfast.

Travel agencies are booking tourists into places as far distant as Brighton and Eastbourne, more than 50 miles from the center of London.

Ships And Convents
Also being used are luxury liners moored along the Thames; some of which are complete with butler and $600 a week charges. 7,000 London homes, where "bed and breakfast" is available for from $1.20 to $9 a night; and, for those who like their coronations quiet, the British Travel and Holidays Association also has listed a convent and two monasteries as offering accommodations.

The grandstand ordeal for street spectators will be mild compared to the strain TV will mean for Elizabeth II.

It is reported she is somewhat apprehensive of the almost superhuman performance demanded of her in the two hours she will be under the glare of flood lights, but she is determined to see it through.

Fear Of Bobbles
She plans to rehearse in Westminster Abbey, first without and then with ceremonial robes and crown, and realizes she cannot afford the slightest error or sign of fatigue. Her only moment of respite will be when she takes Holy Communion and kneels in silent prayer.

The Royal Family fears the slightest slip-up, for history proves there's been at least one at every coronation. The Archbishop of Canterbury almost dropped the heavy crown as he was about to place it on the head of Elizabeth's father, George VI. And at her own coronation, Queen Victoria had to rise and assist an ancient lord who tripped on the steps to the throne.

Two-City Veterans Contest Heightens

Midland's VFW Post 4149, winner over Odessa in a recent membership drive, will seek to keep the reigning hand Saturday and Sunday at the VFW Spring Encampment in Odessa.

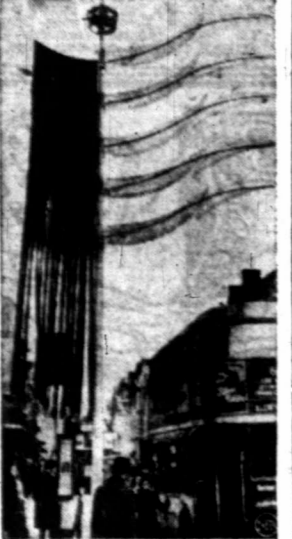

Temple & Weldon Harris Post 4149 of Midland with 511 members has risen to eleventh place on state membership rolls. Prize for winning the membership contest with Odessa will be a "big feed" to be given at a date and place set by the victors.

The Odessa meeting will begin with registration at 1 p.m. in the Lincoln Hotel and will feature a dance Saturday night, Sunday dinner and district meeting of the VFW and its auxiliary.

An eight-pound leg of lamb will need about four and one-half hours in a slow oven; a five to six-pound leg will need about three hours. But if you want to be absolutely sure of the degree of doneness of your lamb, use a roast meat thermometer.

ENOLA GAY OF HIROSHIMA—She rests on the wind-swept ramp at Pyote Air Force Base where she is stored by the National Air Museum. This giant B-29 pulled the string on the world's first glimpse of the atomic bomb in 1945 when she practically wiped the Japanese city of Hiroshima from the map.

Enola Gay Of A-Bomb Fame Put On Display At Pyote AFB

PYOTE AIR FORCE BASE — Do you remember the Enola Gay? She's the giant B-29 that pulled the curtain on the devastating power of the atomic bomb when she virtually obliterated Hiroshima, Japan, from the face of the earth in 1945. Ever wonder what happened to this plane that brought the atomic age to the attention of the world with such a powerful impact? Obsolete and out-moded, this once proud ruler of the skies now stands with scores of other B-29's on the wind-swept ramps of this West Texas air base.

Bomb Sight Gone
 Surrounded by other pickled sky monsters, the famous ship can be distinguished only by the tangible name, Enola Gay, painted across the nose, and the intangible memory of the day it snuffed out an entire city with one bomb. Gone are the special instruments used that day and without the name on the nose, the plane would be just another B-29.

The Enola Gay now belongs to the National Air Museum and is stored at Pyote until the definite location of the Museum can be decided. It was brought to this base on the Texas plains in February 1952.

Saturday approximately 1,000 persons from surrounding communities will converge on the base in observance of Armed Forces Day. "Ninety-nine per cent of them will be interested in seeing the Enola Gay," says Lt. Col. Max L. Piper, commanding officer.

Role in Movie
 "It has been on display only twice, at Armed Forces Day last year and on National Kids' Day in September," the colonel continued, "and on both occasions it was the main attraction of the day."

More interest in the plane is expected this year than ever before, Colonel Piper indicated. Many people never knew the name of the ship which dropped the first atomic bomb until the release of the movie "Above and Beyond," story of the Enola Gay and the atomic bomb. Its recent showing in this part of West Texas is expected to increase the number of onlookers Saturday.

The overpowering significance of the Enola Gay's role in world events completely overshadows two other famous planes stored at Pyote, Colonel Piper explained.

Swoose There, Too
 Swoose, a B-17 with a record as long as your arm, has been stored at Pyote by the Air Museum also. The Swoose is a battle-scarred veteran, having seen service in the Philippines in the early part of World War II. Chased to Java, the plane was shot up pretty badly in combat and junked in Melbourne, Australia.

However, in April, 1942, she was reclaimed and assigned to General Brett as a staff plane. He used the Swoose three years and then brought her back to the states. With a combat record more impressive than a dozen other planes, the "Swoose" should have been ready to retire.

But her duty to the country was not finished. The government put the Swoose on a bond selling tour which covered 34 countries. And still on the fuselage of the tired old veteran can be found practically all the flags of the countries covered.

Face Is Familiar, Didn't Catch Name

PITTSBURGH — (AP) — When Paul Benson was serving with the U. S. Army in Germany he frequently went to Air Force dances at Frankfurt. One of his favorite partners was pretty red-haired Erna Marie Loeblich of Grosskrotzenberg.

Benson came home in 1946 and resumed work with the Naturalization and Immigration Service in Pittsburgh. His job included interviewing applicants for citizenship. Recently he was examining a list of applicants and noticed one from Grosskrotzenberg. Benson arranged to handle the interview and asked about Erna.

It wasn't necessary, however, for Mrs. Davis applying for citizenship turned out to be Erna, now married to a railroad worker and living in Pittsburgh.

Solid Cologne Cools

Solid cologne refreshes this career girl on summer days in the office. She strokes it on wrists, forehead, back of neck.

By ALICIA HART
 NEA Beauty Editor

With Summer on its way, career girls are thinking of how to keep cooler in the office. One of the biggest helps is a solid stick cologne that you might keep in your desk drawer. Choose the scent that you enjoy rather than buy one merely because it is said to be currently chic. Try it before you buy it. If the sales girl can't let you stroke a sample on your wrist, then go somewhere else to buy.

After stroking, wait a minute and then smell it. It should blend into your skin before you can truly test it. That is what makes perfume the most personal of cosmetics—your own body chemistry combines with the perfume oils to make a unique fragrance that expresses you or doesn't. If you feel it expresses you,
