Sun Gets Slight Oil Shows In Wildcat In NE Loving Area

Sun Oil Company No. 1 J. B. Tubb, Northeast Loving County wildcat, 24 miles northeast of Monticello and 13 miles northwest of Kermit, had a slight show of oil in a drillstem test at 8,558-76 feet in an unidentified section of the Permian. The tool was open two hours. A 1,000-foot water blanket was used. There was a slight blow of air at the surface throughout the period.

One Quart Of Oil

Recovery was 1,000 feet of muddy water blanket which was slightly oil cut, 270 feet of drilling mud, which was slightly oil cut and one quart of free oil.

There were no signs of formation water. No pressures were reported. The prospector is drilling ahead. It is projected to 15,000 feet or a test of all possible producing formations at a lesser depth.

Location is 660 feet from north and 1,380 feet from west lines of section 7, block C-24, psi survey.

NW Schleicher Test Gets O&G Shows In Canyon Sand

Renwar Oil Company and Delta Gulf Drilling Company No. 1 D. D. DeLong, Northwest Schleicher County wildcat, 12 miles northwest of Eldorado found slight shows of possible production in a drillstem test at 6,428-50 feet.

The section covered by the test is the Canyon sand. Top of the Canyon sand was called by some geologists to be at 6,420 feet. The elevation has not been reported.

The tool was open one hour and 35 minutes for the test at 6,426-50 feet. Recovery was 310 feet of heavily oil and gas cut drilling mud. There were no signs of formation water.

On Ellenburger In Contact

Open flowing bottom hole pressure was 190 pounds. Shut-in bottom hole pressure after 15 minutes was 278 pounds.

The prospector, which is contracted to 8,500 feet, or a test of the Ellenburger at a lesser depth, is drilling deeper.

The exploration is nine miles west of the Huddale, Pennsylvania field and 600 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 52, block TT.

Evans Gets Slight Shows In Deep Zone At Crane Wildcat

T. M. Evans of Dallas No. 1 Jordan-Ingram-Stanolind found slight shows of oil and gas in a drillstem test in an unidentified lime at 7,833-7,948 feet.

The tool was open one hour and five minutes. Recovery was 90 feet of very slightly oil and gas cut drilling mud. There were no signs of formation water. The prospector was making more hole.

The project had previously flowed oil at the estimated rate of 30 barrels per hour from the section at 7,426-7,845 feet.

Identity Undetermined

Some observers think the zone which has made the oil is Devonian. Others do not agree. Some geologists think it is a detrial formation.

Location is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 12, block 22, psi survey. It is eight miles south of the town of Penwell.

The wildcat is three-quarters of a mile southwest of the shallow Jordan field and one mile northeast of the C-Bar (San Andres) production. It is projected to 10,300 feet to explore the Ellenburger.

Two Morris Sand Opens Finaled In Rannels Areas

Applications for two new pay allowables have been filed for two projects in Rannels County, both discoveries from the Morris sand.

Henson Drilling Company of Abilene completed No. 1 Enoch Johnson, a dry hole re-entered, as a Morris sand discovery for a calculated daily flowing potential of 181.40 barrels of 40.4-gravity oil through a one-half-inch choke and perforations at 3,596-3,602 feet.

Gas-oil ratio was 782-1 and tubing pressure .150 pounds. Pay was acidized with 250 gallons.

New Field Name

Operator has asked that the discovery be called the upper of the Enoch Johnson (Morris Sand) field. The project is two and one-half miles southeast of Morris sand production in the Sykes field and 5/8-mile west of production in the Cree-Sykes (multipay) field.

Site is 330 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 17, H&TB survey and four miles north of the town of Crews.

Wells Discovery

Stanley Q. Weis and others No. 4 J. T. Brandon has been completed as a Morris sand discovery in the Cree-Sykes, East field. Operator re-

Pouring Rains Threaten New Texas Floods

New flood warnings were issued on the Lower Sabine River Friday as heavy rains pounded down in East and South Texas.

Deweyville, which whipped a flood 10 days ago, was warned to get ready for another one just as bad. Orange, 10 miles downstream, was advised to keep its levees strong and its pumps manned.

The Lake Charles Weather Bureau predicted a crest of 16.5 feet to 17 feet at Deweyville by the weekend. He said the river might reach flood stage at Orange next week.

The prediction said that if the heavy rains continue it will mean a "substantial upward revision" in the calculations. Rain was predicted through the weekend.

Up to three inches of rain had fallen at Orange Friday. Rain fell over much of East Texas, parts of South Texas. The Panhandle and far West largely remained dry.

Highways Closed

In Northeast Freestone County Highway 287 between Corsicana and Palestine was closed by backwater from Richland Creek. The farm road between Dawson and Frost on Richland Creek also was closed.

The Highway Department reported other roads closed Friday by high water:

State 34 at Chambers Creek, three miles east of Italy in Ellis County.

Farm 85 in Kaufman County.

Farm 1097 from Willis to Montgomery.

Rain will continue over the weekend, forecasters predicted, and temperatures will rise throughout the state. Thunderstorms may be expected again Monday or Tuesday.

Thursday's maximum temperatures ranged from 86 at Presidio to 53 at San Angelo and Junction.

Friday morning minimums spread from 43 at Dalhart to 67 at Galveston.

Low ceilings that hampered air travel were general over the state early Friday but were expected to lift before night. Rain fell from tornado-ravaged Waco to Brownsville, Beaumont, San Angelo and Lubbock.

Even in the water-short Valley, the drought situation was improving.

Norway's Princess Ragnhild, Wealthy Commoner Wed

OSLO—(P)—Shty Princess Ragnhild, 22, elder daughter of the Crown Prince Olav of Norway, married a wealthy commoner Friday, the first wedding of a Norwegian princess in 64 years.

The bridegroom is Erling Svend Lorentzen, 30, bodyguard for Ragnhild's father just after the war, and who now takes a big hand in running his father's thriving shipping business in Oslo. The bride's title is "Princess Ragnhild, Mrs. Lorentzen."

MIDLAND GROWTH REFLECTED—The metropolitan-sized telephone directory distributed this week reflects vividly the mushrooming of the City of Midland. The new directory contains 12,500 alphabetical listings and 7,200 classified listings.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER ASSERTS— Knowledge Of Freedom Can Uproot Communism

WILLIAMSBURG, VA. — (P) — President Eisenhower said Friday "the true way to uproot communism is to understand what freedom means."

Speaking to about 5,000 persons at the College of William and Mary, the President declared that uprooting Communism in that way would help give this nation an impenetrable defense against it.

Eisenhower also told his audience there is "no security for a free nation in the sword alone."

He said security must spring from free hearts and free minds.

The President spoke after receiving a doctor of laws degree at a ceremony inaugurating Alvin Duke Chandler, a retired rear admiral, as the twenty-second president of William and Mary, the nation's second oldest college.

Eisenhower came to historic Williamsburg after an overnight cruise aboard the presidential yacht Williamsburg and a short motor trip from nearby Yorktown.

But he planned to utilize the last cruise of the yacht for a weekend on Chesapeake Bay, including a visit to the Norfolk Naval Base and the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., and a chance to confer with staff advisers on the radio address he will deliver Tuesday night on taxes and the budget. The yacht will be turned back to the Navy after this trip for de-commissioning as a needless luxury.

Virginia Senator Harry F. Byrd and Senator A. Willis Robertson, both Democrats, were in the Presidential party aboard the yacht. Mrs. Eisenhower also was along, as were the President's mother-in-law, Mrs. John S. Doud; a sister-in-law, Mrs. George Gordon Moore; and Presidential Secretaries James C. Hagerly and Thomas E. Stephens.

Rutherford Reports Midland-Ector Court Bill Nearer Approval

Chances that separate district courts will be established for Midland and Ector Counties appeared brighter Friday, but no definite action can be taken until Monday.

Senator J. T. Rutherford told Judge R. W. (Bob) Hamilton in a telephone conversation at noon Friday that two bills containing the action have been approved by the House and await Senate action. He said the chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee was optimistic about early passage.

One of the bills concerned is a general reorganizing bill for the state. The other is an "individual" bill aimed at the Midland-Ector courts alone, which passed the House Thursday. Rutherford said Governor Shivers told him Friday he would veto any reorganizing bill not applying to the entire state.

Rutherford said some suggestions had been made for amendments to the general bill but none have been submitted. The Legislature adjourns May 27.

James Meredith, saying the 113th body was removed from the ruins Thursday night, said he estimated 503 persons were injured in Monday's destructive, deadly storm.

Meredith said the twister that smashed downtown Waco made 300 families homeless, wiped out 196 business firms, damaged 376 buildings beyond the safety point, and damaged 1,285 homes.

Army engineers estimated the damage at $50,000,000, twice original estimates.

First Changes Due On North Front Street

A traffic control modernization program which eventually will lead to the erection of corner post signal lights throughout the business district was launched Thursday afternoon by the City Council.

The council authorized the initial appropriation of approximately $20,000 for the modernization of North Front Street signal lights with other stages of the program to be undertaken later.

After further discussing Midland's traffic problems with Traffic Engineer Jack Keese, the council also:

Authorized the removal of traffic signal lights from intersections adjacent to Midland schools.

Authorized a one-week test of turning lanes at Main and Wall Streets by eliminating parking for 100 feet on each right-hand approach.

The Front Street modernization will be the first phase of an overall program which completely will replace the present traffic light system at a cost of approximately $100,000.

The program will be financed with street improvement bond funds approved last September at a special election.

Included in the initial program will be the installation of a master controller, which will have a capacity of 100 lighted intersections. Other phases of the program will be tied in to this controller.

With Mayor J. W. McMillen presiding, the councilmen unanimously approved the program.

The Front Street program will include the erection of corner post lights at the Main, Mainfield, Terrell, Lee and Wall Street intersections.

The lights also will be equipped with "Walk" and "Wait" signals, to provide for better control of pedestrian traffic.

THEATERS TO HOLD Benefit Showings For Stricken Cities

DALLAS—(P)—Members of the Texas Council of Motion Pictures Organization will give benefit shows for tornado relief in Waco and San Angelo.

The organization said Friday all circuits and independent theaters in key and secondary cities throughout the state are having special performances and special midnight shows. All the money taken in will be given to relief committees in Waco and San Angelo. Film companies and national screen services are giving their services free.

BRANIFF PLANE CRASHES FENCE

DALLAS—(P)—A Braniff DC-4 carrying 38 passengers on a flight from Houston crashed through a fence after landing at Love Field Friday and rolled across Lemmon Avenue.

Police reports said there were no injuries.

White House Studies Tornado Aid Request

WASHINGTON—(P)—The White House said Friday requests to President Eisenhower for federal aid to tornado-stricken areas in Texas now are under study.

Murray Snyder, assistant press secretary, said the requests were received late Thursday before the President left on a four-day cruise. He added the President directed Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson to investigate and report back.

As soon as the reports are received they will be transmitted to the President for his action "without delay," Snyder said.

Record Seen For Schools Here In '53

The newest record census for the Midland public schools was announced Thursday by Wesley Martin, special services director who said that 9,345 students are expected to enroll next Fall which is an increase of 1,385 or 14 per cent over the previous year.

The enrollment of white students expected is 8,498 and is 1,125 more than last year, an increase of 13 per cent. The anticipated colored enrollment is 847 compared to 707 in 1952-53, an increase of 140 or 17 per cent.

The highest rate of increase is found in the expected enrollment of six-year-olds. Martin said that a total of 1,151 first graders may enroll, compared to 719 the previous year, an increase of 432 pupils or 59 per cent.

White six-year-olds expected to enroll number 1,066 an increase of 413 over last year or 39 per cent according to the census. Colored enrollment should be 85, an increase of 19 over the year before.

The scholastic census was taken during the month of March in a door-to-door census. Martin said.

American Heritage Foundation Adopts Crusade For Freedom

NEW YORK—The American Heritage Foundation has taken over the job of running the "Crusade For Freedom," which raises money to finance the privately-backed "Radio Free Europe" and "Radio Free Asia."

The move Thursday brought an endorsement from President Eisenhower, a former trustee of the non-profit foundation created six years ago to "strengthen the sources of American freedom."

"I believe," Eisenhower said in a letter, "the work is of great importance and it seems to me that the American Heritage Foundation is uniquely qualified to carry it out."

The overseas radio broadcasts are beamed from a chain of stations to Communist and other countries.

The foundation Thursday elected Henry Ford II as chairman of the Board of Trustees, succeeding Winthrop W. Aldrich, now ambassador to Great Britain. Thomas Darcy Brophy continues as president.

HOLLYWOOD — Behind the scenes:

The long-range fate of Hollywood's three-dimensional movies requiring glasses is the big question in the celluloid hot-stove league.

"House of Wax," the first major studio 3-D film, is breaking "Gene With the Wind" box-office records, but a star just returned from a personal-appearance tour with the picture isn't optimistic about the lasting power of "depthies."

After talking to movie-goers and exhibitors, Frank Lovejoy is convinced that "a few purely gimmick 3-D pictures will be about all they can take."

A long and rosy future for theater, I believe, is not in 3-D, either, but in spectacles such as movie-goers never have seen or dreamed possible now that Chasmar and other big-screen films have broken the presentism-arch barrier.

Theaters must be given something they can't see on TV. The intimacy of human emotions within the bounds of confining sets should be left to television.

The world's scenic beauties as backgrounds for spectacle stories based on great novels, historical and Biblical events and musicals like "Oklahoma" and "South Pacific" should be the forte of big-screen movies.

Jane Powell and Gary Steffen, it is said, have called off the divorce dogs and hell join her when she opens her act in Las Vegas. But there are still plenty of unbelievers.

Margaret O'Brien's latest portrait is an eye-opener. She now looks like Liz Taylor of six years ago.

Comedian Benny Rubin, who has never taken a drink in his life, recently was retained an honorary member of the AA because "a lot of my friends are members, and I go down and play cards with them."

So what happens? Benny just went to work in Joan Crawford's "Torch Song"—playing the role of a drunk!

A backstage row between Veronica Lake and Charles Korvin in Philadelphia, I hear, was a hair-raiser. The word battle started after the final curtain of their play, "Masquerade." Columbia just purchased a novel, "The Case of Ingrid Bremmen," for film production. The title will be changed, however, before any theater owner has a chance to confuse movie-goers with a short marquee title, "The Case of Ingrid."

Ida Lupino and Collier Young will distribute "Beat the Band."

OTTAWA—(AP)—Canada's twenty-first Parliament, ended its seventh session early Friday with a speech practically assuring a general election before the end of Summer.

The closing "speech from the throne," prepared by Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent's Liberal government and read by Supreme Court Justice Patrick Kerwin in the absence of Gov. Gen. Vincent Massey, said "It is anticipated that the session now concluding will be the final session of the twenty-first Parliament."

Political circles generally have expected for some time that St. Laurent would dissolve Parliament and set the election date on his return, about mid-June, from Queen Elizabeth's coronation, August 10 or 17 are most frequently mentioned as possible election dates.

Raincoat weather prevailed over a wide band between New England and Eastern Texas Friday, and there were scattered showers over most of the Western states.

A number of thunderstorms drenched parts of the Lower Mississippi Valley, bringing 1.48 inches of rain to Shreveport, La., and 1.04 inches to Evansville, Ind., in a 24-hour period.

Sunny weather dominated the Central and Northern plains and much of the Rockies, where temperatures were warm. It was summery in the Southeast, where Jacksonville, Fla., and Charleston, S. C., reported maximum mercury readings of 92 Thursday.

Unseasonably cool weather was reported in the Lower Ohio Valley.

Tot's Clothes In New Fabrics Are Boon To Busy Housewife

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Woman's Editor

NEW YORK — Keeping Junior looking spruce is not the job it used to be. Not so long ago, mother either spent most of her time in the laundry or invested a major part of her budget in small garments in order to assure sufficient changes.

Now she can have fewer garments for her small son, spend far less time in the laundry and eliminate ironing entirely. This lightens her entire load of housework and makes the job of looking after the kiddies that much easier.

By finding sun suits, crawlers, pajamas and little shirts in combinations of orlon and nylon, mother will also find more leisure for herself. These fibers are not only easy to launder, they're long wearing. What this means to the budget, every mother knows.

We show our young man dressed for play just after his nap (left). He's wearing red and white crawlers in a lightweight puckered fabric made of a combination of the two fibers.

His sun suit (right) is also puckered, lightweight material in gray blue and white windowpane plaid. It's bound in white and has an elasticized waist. Here, it's worn with white shirt, also in the puckered orlon and nylon.

Amateur stations operated by Layton, and Rudy Rubin, 1410 North Whittaker Street, handled the bulk of the messages. Other stations helping were operated by Jim Price, 1806 Cuthbert Street; R. L. Mims, 1212 West Ohio Street; Ike Searles, 810 North Main Street; Bill Shields, 1104 East Magnolia Street, and Ray Epps.

AAUW Will Make Scholarship Awards

The annual $100 scholarship awarded by the Midland Branch of the American Association of University Women to a girl graduate of Midland High School will be presented at the AAUW luncheon at 1:15 p.m. Saturday in the Ranchland Hill Country Club.

Mrs. W. J. Sprecher, fellowship and scholarship chairman, will make the presentation. A $100 AAUW scholarship also will be presented by Mrs. Sprecher to a girl graduate of Carver High School at the school's graduation exercises.

In addition to the local scholarships, the Midland Branch of AAUW participates in the AAUW Fellowship program with an annual contribution of $150.

On the theory that well-qualified women are themselves the best argument for the advancement of women, AAUW offers fellowships to encourage promising women scholars. Between 30 and 35 awards of from $1,500 to $2,500 are given each year to assist gifted women in this country and 32 foreign countries.

AAUW now has an endowment fund of $1,101,200 for fellowships. In the 63 years since the first fellowship award of $500 was given in 1890, the association has made 548 fellowship awards.

International Scope

Since 1945, the AAUW also has given international grants to women from countries that suffered from the war. Each year these grants have enabled from 35 to 40 women to study in the United States. During the year 1952-53, AAUW is spending an estimated $123,000 for grants under a program established to give women from abroad training for constructive service in their homelands and to further international understanding.

The 20 countries participating in this program are Austria, Belgium, Denmark, Egypt, England, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, Holland, India, Italy, Israel, Japan, Luxembourg, Norway, the Philippines, Sweden, Switzerland and Thailand. The program is being extended to all countries belonging to the International Federation of University Women.

Reports Scheduled

Another highlight of the Saturday luncheon will be reports from the state AAUW convention in Lubbock and the year-end reports from the AAUW study groups.

The convention report will be given by Mrs. Ellis Scooby, Mrs. Edward T. Driscoll, Mrs. G. G. McNary and Mrs. Robert L. Gray.

Study group chairmen who will make reports are Mrs. P. B. Elkin, arts; Mrs. Ray E. Hurst, Mrs. Tom Breeding and Mrs. Harry Kugler, bridge; Mrs. C. R. Gaylord, Mrs. Mann Rankin and Mrs. R. F. Ruth Millett Here Is Why A Philanderer Must Earn His Wife's Love

Just how many "second" chances should an irresponsible husband expect his wife to give him? A man claims that in a recent column I was unfair to husbands who want to mend their ways, cut out drinking and philandering, and become good husbands and fathers. I did point out to such a man that it was no wonder that after he had been drinking and running around with other women for years that his wife and children didn't seem to have the love and respect for him he thought they would when he finally decided to "settle down."

After he neglected them for years, I told him, he would have to work hard to win back their love and respect.

The reader who felt I was too hard on repentant husbands thinks that in marriage there should be such things as "tolerance, forgiveness and return of the prodigal."

Must Not Be Abused

There should be tolerance and forgiveness in marriage. But that doesn't mean that a wife's tolerance and forgiveness should be abused. Or that she should be expected to forgive, and forgive, and forgive.

It is one thing for a wife to forgive a man for a mistake when he tells her he is sorry and that he will never make the same mistake again. A man may have a right to expect that much "forgiveness" from his wife. But he should be man enough to keep his part of the bargain. If he doesn't he can't expect her to go on "forgiving" him over and over. Then, when he finally means it, say he is a changed man and suppose that she will realize that this time he is in earnest.

As for expecting a wife to treat a repentant husband like a prodigal son, that is foolish. He isn't a son. He's a husband, a grown man who took on the responsibilities of marriage and then didn't live up to them.

If he wants a wife to take him back he will have to start thinking like an adult, stop feeling sorry for himself and face the fact that if he wants her love and respect he will have to earn them and that it may be a long, slow process.

Today's Spellers Superior, Says Spelling Bee Founder

WESTMINSTER, MD. — (AP) — The modest victorian gentleman who presided over the first National Spelling Bee 28 years ago is quite surprised that the baby has grown to be such a big fellow.

Dr. George Stockton Willis, 86-year-old Western Maryland College professor emeritus, notes that last year the bee drew twice as many contestants as the first one in 1925.

And, he rates today's spellers as more accomplished.

But the rivalry will be no stronger when the contest opens in Washington Monday than it was in 1925, 1926 and 1947 when Dr. Willis presided, he believes.

A look at the word list for the 1953 National Spelling Bee shows such puzzlers as dactyl, spavin, cache, dactyl, tegument, fichtu.

In 1927, Dr. Willis was pronouncing garrishness, tabescent, ytrium, endophyte, lactinated.

The son of an itinerant Methodist minister, the octogenarian scholar dates his memories with "before the war" and "after the war."

"When I say 'the war', he explains, "I mean the Spanish-American war."

The changes that have taken place in educating the young since Dr. Willis acted as first pronouncer for the National Spelling Bee he summarizes in this way:

"Then, we were teaching old English. Now it's dropped from the curriculum. People have become practical."

High School Movie Released For Shows By Midland Groups

A 22-minute movie entitled "This Is Your High School" and depicting all curricular activities of Midland High School has been released for general public showing. Don Mitchell, high school principal, remind Friday.

The movie, which is in color and is narrated by Art Cole, Midland Community Theater director, already has had several showings at local civic clubs. Any club or group which wishes to see the film is asked to contact Mitchell, who says it will be available anytime, night of day.

The movie was a PT-A project made in cooperation with the high school and almost seven months were spent in gathering material and editing the film.

The photography was by Raymond Leggett and the script was written by high school students. It graphically shows the down to earth activities encountered in every department of the high school from athletics to shop room work.

The main purpose in making the movie, said Mitchell, was to "take the high school to the people" and to allow the movie-makers to gain experience in working with sound.

POWER for PEACE

armed forces day
MAY 16

Midland To View 'Power For Peace'

The Army, Navy, Marines and Air Force will come front and center Saturday to show Midlanders a sample of "Power for Peace," the slogan for 1953 Armed Forces Day which will be observed throughout the nation Saturday.

Air Force planes will thunder overhead and tanks, weapons, and equipment will be on the ground along with military planes for the inspection of the public.

Lt. Cmdr. George Todd, commanding officer of the Naval Reserve Electronics Company of Midland, and Armed Forces Project Officer for this area, says that the display of military might at the Midland Airpark should be an interesting one.

Spectators will be able to get a close-up view of an Army tank, and numerous military planes including a B-25 bomber. They will be permitted to inspect such guns as the famed bazooka, the flame-thrower, the M-1 Garand rifle, hand grenades and rifle grenades, the M-1 Carbine, the capable Browning Automatic Rifle, and the famous 30 calibre light machine gun, all weapons which have dealt the Communists body blows in Korea.

The planes to make flyovers are all Air Force and the first flight is scheduled at 10:18 a.m. with the final flight at 5:30 p.m. The planes will fly in groups of eight and will circle the city for approximately 10 minutes each flight.

Sixteen T-33's, jet trainers, and 16 T-28's, conventional single engine trainers, will fly over as well as eight B-25 bombers. The aircraft will come from Webb Air Force Base in Big Spring and Goodfellow Air Force Base in San Angelo.

The ground display of aircraft at Midland Airpark will include a Navy F6F conventional fighter, Navy TBM single engine torpedo bomber and Navy SN B two engine trainer, all from the Naval Air Station at Corpus Christi.

Also to be on display will be a T-28 conventional trainer, T-29 conventional trainer, a T-6 light trainer, and a B-25 two-engine bomber.

The National Guard unit plans to bring a tank to the Airpark as well as many Army weapons and the electronic equipment of the Navy unit there will be on display.

The Midland 47th Special Infantry Company, Marine Corps Reserve, will also display many of their weapons, said Capt. Mims M. Brantly, commanding officer.

Capt. Max Schuman is commanding officer of National Guard Company B, Second Battalion, 112 Armored Cavalry Regiment.

Tornadoes Are Smallest But Most Vicious Of Storm Clan

By ROBERT GOLDENSTEIN
CHICAGO — (AP) — Scientists don't know precisely why, but the U. S. is taking a heavy belting from tornadoes this year.

The season for twisters, generally running from April through July, got off to a roaring start when tornadoes struck somewhere on 14 days during April. Another rash, including the disastrous twister that crushed the Waco, Texas, business district, followed in early May.

Since 1916, April has had an average of eight and one-half tornado days. The April record for 18 tornado days was set in 1929.

Tornadoes are the smallest—but sometimes the most vicious and death-dealing—of all storms.

Experts know the weather conditions favorable for breeding these ominous black funnels, but they don't know the exact cause. The U. S. Weather Bureau and Air Force are conducting studies to help them in forecasting their occurrence.

Explosive Situation
Generally, an explosive situation occurs when a layer of cool, dry air spreads over a thick ground layer of warm, moist air. This warm air is lighter and creates a turbulence when it attempts to rise suddenly.

Affecting a much larger area that the tornado, a Spanish word meaning twister, are the hurricane or typhoon and cyclone.

Harry Maynard, research assistant in the University of Chicago's department of meteorology, gives these definitions:

Tornado: a very small, localized violent storm. The funnel, from 100 feet to one-half mile wide, is a partial vacuum. The speed of the whirling air is thought to be from 100 to 500 miles an hour. Houses or buildings caught in the funnel's vacuum sometimes virtually explode because of the heavier air pressure inside the structures.

Hurricane, Typhoon
Hurricane: a violent windstorm that forms in the tropics. A hurricane, a huge round cone of whirling air, may be only 100 to 300 miles wide when it is formed but its size becomes larger as it travels. The winds in a hurricane are 75 or more miles an hour and move in such a circular motion that they appear to travel in a straight direction.

Most hurricanes begin in the tropical part of the Atlantic Ocean near the West Coast of Africa, in the Caribbean Sea or the Gulf of Mexico.

Typhoon: a hurricane. The name typhoon is applied to the violent tropical cyclones that sweep over the Pacific Ocean from the Philippine Islands to Japan and the coast of China.

Cyclone: a low pressure area in which winds move in a counterclockwise direction sometimes having a diameter from 500 to 1,000 miles. It can cause intense storms, or its winds can be as weak as 10 miles an hour.

West Germany Puts First Okay On Army Treaty

BONN, GERMANY — (AP) — West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer won reluctant approval Friday from his Parliament's upper house—the Bundesrat—for the European Army Treaty. German lawmakers thus became the first legislative body to ratify the treaty to set up a six-nation, two-million-man Western defense force.

The Bundesrat approved the army treaty and its related Allied-Bonn peace contract by a compromise formula under which the upper chamber approved two lesser sections of the treaties and voiced no objections to the two major sections.

The vote, which followed only brief debate in a special session, was 23 to 15.

Talks At Panmunjom Hit New Stalemate As Statesmen Consider Alternate Avenues

PANMUNJOM—(AP)—Korean truce negotiations got nowhere Friday as both sides refused to budge from their separate proposals for exchanging war prisoners.

Apparently, only hope kept the talks alive. The Allies have threatened to break off negotiations again if the Reds won't bargain on the last major barrier to a truce.

U. S. officials want to probe every corner of the Communist position for any possible basis for agreement.

Friday's hour and 20-minute session brought only restatements that neither side accepts the other's views on what to do with 48,500 Red prisoners who refuse to go back to communism.

Another meeting is scheduled for 11 a.m. Saturday (8 p.m. Friday, CST).

Snubbed Sharply
Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison, Jr., chief Allied delegate, said the Communists either "misunderstood or deliberately misinterpreted" the latest Allied plan, offered two days ago and snubbed sharply by the Reds Thursday.

He said they were not negotiating inside the conference hut.

"They didn't show any particular interest in our proposal except to condemn it," Harrison said. "Of course we condemned theirs, too."

The Reds proposed May 7 that a five-nation neutral commission—India, Sweden, Czechoslovakia, Poland and Switzerland—take custody for four months of all prisoners who won't go home. During this time, the Reds would make "explanations." The future of those still refusing would be left to a post-armistice political conference.

Nehru's Position
The Allies suggested that India head the five-nation commission and supply all troops to control the prisoners. They also proposed that 34,000 North Koreans who won't go back be freed when an armistice is signed. The remaining 14,500 Chinese would be put in custody of the commission for two months. Any then still refusing repatriation would be freed.

In New Delhi, Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru endorsed the Red proposal, saying it "seemed to afford a promising, solid basis for a solution of the immediate problems."

He said it is nearer to a United Nations resolution adopted last December. That provided the UN would take custody of any prisoners refusing repatriation after a four-nation commission had held them for 90 days and a political conference had discussed their future for another 30 days.

Nam Enumerates
The Allies say the Red plan would give prisoners a choice of only forced repatriation or indefinite imprisonment.

Inside the conference hut Friday,

North Korean Gen. Nam Il spoke scathingly of the Allied counter-offer calling it "perfidious and self-contradictory."

The senior Red delegate repeated that the Communists "resolutely could not agree" to the Allied offer.

Point by point, Nam went through the Allied plan, finding almost nothing satisfactory.

Eddie Smiles As Gloomy Skies Appear

The weatherman Thursday wasn't too optimistic concerning Friday moisture possibilities in the Midland area—but he hadn't reckoned with the Rev. Eddie Clayton.

Brother Clayton, you know, is the praying, rain-making preacher who visits Midland several times each year on his missionary jaunts over the Southwest.

He arrived in Midland late Thursday, and the clouds started gathering soon thereafter, followed by moisture.

He had telegraphed The Reporter-Telegram from Fort Worth, as follows: "My special prayer this morning was that the Lord would bestow his wonderful blessing of rain upon Midland and the other cities of West Texas. Will be in Midland tonight."

"The Lord again has answered my prayers for rain," Clayton said Friday. "Praise the Lord."

Mitchell said he shot down "a very dumb guy." He explained: "I picked out the last MIG on the left, flown by a very dumb guy because all he did was fly straight and level."

"I gained slowly on him, and near the Chongchon River he began to turn right. That was the worst thing he could have done.
"I cut across the turn and fired from 2,000 feet and hit him in the right wing. My second burst went in his tail pipe. Smoke began to pour out and the canopy came off.

Bitter Words Are Exchanged In Row Over Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Several senators displayed little liking Friday for President Eisenhower's stated position on possible admission of Red China into the United Nations in the event a truce is reached in Korea.
The President told his news conference Thursday he would not now say that admission of the People's Republic of China to the UN should follow an armistice. He did not add that he would oppose China's admission under any circumstances.

Race For Speaker Of House Narrows

AUSTIN —(AP)— The race for the 1955 speakership of the Texas House has narrowed to five candidates Friday, with one claiming majority support among the present 150 House members.
Rep. Jim Lindsey, 27, of Texas said he was out front with "more than half" of the representatives pledging their votes to him in writing.

The field was trimmed by the withdrawal of Rep. Wagoner Carr of Lubbock. He said the pressure of trying to get a number of bills passed did not allow him time to make an all-out bid for the speakership.
Tremendous Power
The speaker holds tremendous power over the fate of legislation. The position carries considerable political prestige and is often a step to higher office.

Others who aspire to preside over the House in 1955 are Reps. Horace Houston of Dallas, Joe Pyle of Fort Worth, Pearce Johnson of Austin and Dolph Briscoe of Uvalde.
Johnson and Briscoe said they are not seeking the office actively.
Houston and Pyle said the race is just getting started despite Lindsey's utterance.

Houston said he considered it a two-man contest between himself and Lindsey. He predicted "this race will go all the way and will be won when the vote is cast at the start of the next session."
Pyle said "I don't believe it is anywhere near determined."
Third Term
Lindsey is serving his third term. He was one of Speaker Reuben Senterfitt's right-hand men two years ago as chairman of the powerful Revenue and Taxation Committee. He was a leader in the campaign to reelect Senterfitt speaker.
Houston, 32, is in his second term. Also a supporter of Senterfitt, he was given chairmanship of Senator H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.), a foreign relations committee member, said if Red China gets into the UN "all Asia is lost and that includes Korea, Burma, Indochina and Indonesia and I don't like to think what would happen to Japan."

Suggestions by British leaders Clement Attlee and Sir Winston Churchill that Red China be given a UN seat if there is a Korean armistice have touched off a storm in the Senate which could result in some drastic cuts in foreign aid allotments to Britain.

President Eisenhower's conciliatory remarks conference were all but lost in the shuffle. The President said he did not think the rift between Britain and the U. S. over dealings with Russia and Korean policy is as wide as it might appear.
Although this drew little attention in London, Moscow's two principal newspapers—Pravda and Izvestia—carried identical 186-word summaries of the Eisenhower statements in Friday's editions. Neither paper offered any comment, however.

The publication of the summaries emphasized again the extreme close attention Moscow is giving developments in Britain and the United States since the start of the current Soviet peace drive.

Stalin's Predictions
Russian papers devoted almost a page Thursday to the foreign affairs debate in the House of Commons earlier this week—the biggest play a British parliamentary discussion has won in the Soviet press in years.
Up to Thursday night Soviet newspapers had carried nothing about the trans-Atlantic war of words subsequent to Attlee's sharp comments on McCarthy and features of the U. S. Constitution, but Moscow dispatches made it plain that Russian citizens were being given the impression that Stalin's prediction about serious trouble between the U. S. and Britain was coming true.

As evidence of this, Moscow radio Thursday broadcast a lengthy review of the "ever-growing dissatisfaction with various aspects of United States policy" in the British Parliament.
Cut Their Funds Off
Bridges, who heads the Senate Appropriations Committee, said the controversy is "bound to affect action on foreign aid funds" and Senator Taft of Ohio, the Republican

Cabell, CIA Expert, Doubts Red Sincerity In Korean Overtures

DALLAS—(P)—Lt. Gen. Charles Cabell, deputy director of the Central Intelligence Agency at Washington, said here Friday he doubts the sincerity of Korea peace overtures by the Communists.

"So far I'm not convinced that any action on the part of the Communists in Korea points directly toward peace," he said.

"Our enemy has one goal, and that is that he is determined to rule the world. This he cannot do unless he establishes control over the United States."

Cabell said the Soviet strategy appears to be to foment division of the United States. The Red program is a long-range one, without any set timetable, he said.

"The one change Stalin's death brought about in Communist policies," he declared, "is that more importance is placed on the effect of good public relations, such as we now are sampling in Korea, by the Malenkov group."

Cabell was here for Armed Forces Day Saturday. He spoke Friday at a luncheon.

Plant Building Subsidies Proposed To Hike Employment

WASHINGTON—(P)—Companies which build defense plants in areas hard hit by unemployment might get back more quickly much of the cost of the plant, under a new Eisenhower Administration program.

The program, it was learned Thursday, was proposed by Secretary of Labor Durkin and approved by the Office of Defense Mobilization.

Aimed at wiping out chronic unemployment, it would work this way: The company would write off in five years, in the form of depreciation for federal tax purposes, up to 100 per cent of the new plant. The Department of Labor will certify the "labor surplus areas," such as the 35 regions named in New England, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, and West Virginia coal mining centers.

'G1's General' Bradley Looks Forward To Civilian Job Plus Hunting, Fishing

By DON WHITEHEAD
WASHINGTON—(P)—Gen. Omar N. Bradley has served his country in uniform almost 40 years and the old soldier—still youthful and vigorous and hearty at 60—is now preparing for an active retirement. President Eisenhower has named Adm. Arthur Radford to replace him as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

He has told friends he already has accepted a job which will keep him busy for years to come. He's keeping secret what his new job will be. Recently he told a friend: "At first I thought I'd just retire to catch up on my fishing and hunting—and take things easy. But I've noticed that my friends who tried that kind of retirement didn't live too long. "I'll have a job that will keep me mentally active and still leave me some time for hunting and fishing. It will be best that way." But across this land there will be many veterans of World War II and other citizens who will regret to see Bradley step from active duty. For there has grown up among soldiers and civilians alike a "Bradley cult." Eisenhower's "Eyes" The "Bradley cult" had its beginning back in North Africa when Bradley was a major general with his first combat command. He had come to North Africa to act as Gen. Dwight Eisenhower's eyes and ears at the front—where the Allied armies weren't doing too well in a bogged-down Winter campaign. Finally there was a shakeup in commands, and Bradley took over the American Second Corps. His handling of the corps in the final drive to conquer Tunisia became the talk of North Africa.

With this achievement under his belt, it was a logical move for Eisenhower to put Bradley in command of the corps which spearheaded the fighting in Sicily. Again Bradley distinguished himself. Ernie Fyle's Favorite I suppose the late Ernie Fyle did more than anyone else in those days to bring Bradley's name to the public's attention. Ernie called him "the G1's general" and the tag stuck because it was so descriptive of Bradley, who looks a great deal more like a schoolmaster than a military man.

Bradley's handling of troops in Sicily pleased Eisenhower so much that he named the Missouriian to be his top commander for the invasion of Normandy.

Bradley played a major part in mapping the strategy for the invasion, the breakthrough at St. Lo, the liberation of France and the conquest of Germany.

Put Under Fire
After the war, he served for a time as head of the Veterans Administration, and then he was chosen to be chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

In this latter role, he has gone through some stormy periods and come under fire for the policies which he has supported. Perhaps the stormiest period was when he openly opposed the proposals by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, ousted as Far Eastern commander by former President Truman, to extend the Korean War to hit Chinese bases in Manchuria.

In all this, Bradley has maintained steadfastly the duty of the military was not to make policy—but to present the military facts of life so that civilian leaders could make the policy.

Fanned By Revolt
He was painted by MacArthur's revolt against established policy. And likewise he has been deeply disturbed by General James A. Van Fleet's active campaign for a change of policy in Korea. Bradley has made clear to friends his belief that such revolts are damaging to civilian control over the armed forces and to military discipline.

Soon Bradley will pass on these problems to someone else and if his plans work out he will find himself a place in the role of a civilian.

As for his place in history, this is already secure.

'COMMITTEE' TO REPORT—Independent Party Caucus Results In Timely Speech

WASHINGTON.—(P)—Maybe the two-party system in the Senate is a thing of the past. The new third party—consisting of one man, Wayne Morse of Oregon—is seething with activity. And in the light of Morse's vocal accomplishments you can be dead sure this party is going to be heard from. Morse planned to take the floor Friday, in fact, for another of his weekly "Committee Reports of the Independent Party," and he promised in advance he would speak "at some length."

Coming from the man who recently broke all Senate records with a 22 hour and 26 minute block-buster against the offshore oil lands bill, this is not a promise to be taken lightly. Morse gave the Senate a preview of Friday's address in a sort of warmup last Tuesday. Nobody held a stop watch on him, but his remarks added up to 34 columns in the Congressional Record, or about 20,000 words.

He's outnumbered 99 to 1 doesn't discourage the slender, sprucely dressed Oregonian in the slightest. He told the Senate "an increasing number of people" in the country are showing interest in his weekly reports.

And he announced he would keep on making these reports "until such time as more than a million and a half people in the state of Oregon are given equal representation in the Senate."

Two-Minute Deal
Morse contends his state was discriminated against when, as he puts it, he was "kicked off" the armed services and labor committees following his bolt from the Republican Party. Currently he's trying to enlarge these committees so he can get back on them.

Earlier this week the leather-larned senator startled some of his colleagues by asking a fellow senator to let him interrupt—for two minutes.

Senator Bennett (R-Utah), who had the floor, said he'd be happy to yield to the senator from Oregon for two minutes—if the senator can count two.

Morse could and did—talked a little less than two minutes and then sat down.

SENATOR MORSE
... Time for a talk.

For wide tracks the change is made by adjustment of the wheels in different positions on the axle.

SPORTS PARLEY

By CHARLEY ESKEW

Taking notes on the Women's Invitational at Midland Country Club gives plenty of information to refute a couple of things Bob Harlow, editor of Golf World, advances in a recent article.

First, that men golfers are more honest than women golfers—we've got an answer to that one. Look at the first round scores of the women's championship flights and note that 7 and 8's, 4's, and 5 and 9's are listed. Then go back to the City Championships, note that there are few wide-margin triumphs. But the truth will out. Several of the Joe Slicers in the all-Midland meet got stomped, and what went on the scoreboard was altogether different. All of which gives us another item to toss at Bob.

He says, "The ladies have a keener feel of social responsibility at all ages and have instinctively the know-how in treating a host or hostesses."

How now? Didn't the Midland men who won prove they have a big heart by scribbling down smaller scores so the losers wouldn't have to go home to tell of being ousted with eight holes to go?

Frankly, as a reporter, we like the ladies' way.

As scores go, a lot can be said of women's tournaments—and Bob leaves another point in his men-are-more-honest program; you won't find the word, nor the entry, "trophy hunter" around the golf contest. You can substantiate this contention by noting that the closest duels at MCC's open among the second, nine-hole and novice flight entries. Then, too, we remember the epic remark of a loser to his opponent, at the City Championship: "You must have a wife and some kids at home starving, or else you wouldn't be playing in this tenth flight."

A bad break in the date and the weather created most of the disarrangement of scores in the MCC women's championship flight. For instance, the tornado which struck Texas this week no doubt kept dozens of players at home and off the road to the Midland tourney. Also, several top flight contenders from Abilene are engaged in a city women's tourney and could not play here. Those who continued to plan an entry here found 50-degree weather another discouraging factor when the medalist play began Wednesday.

Consequently, the MCC top flight had both golfers who play in the low 80's and those in the mid-90's all contending for the same prize.

Boon or bane? Golf shops are selling caddy carts with mileage meters on them these days. Their selling point is that they measure the distance of shots just made. But who says it won't cause some of the lazier folk to think twice after seeing how far they walked that last round?

Of this and that: Harold Webb, Lamesa manager, argued, "You can beat us 40-0 anytime, so why not wait until later to play this (Thursday) double-header?" Then look what his po' things did, scored tarantula out of Midland before an error cost them a first game of the bill. Nobody we know thinks Webb's club will be in last place through much more of the season.

Of another second division club, Sports Editor Robert Green wonders about Rockets' slump: "Could it be that Roswell is just a nice little baseball town that will gain recognition for routing managers' records? If you'll remember, Al Monchak, 1952 Roswell boss, suffered his first second division finish in several years of managing professional teams last year." Rocket Pilot Pat Stacey, you know, went to Roswell after six first-division finishes with Big Spring.

An induction notice, calling for a response in person on June 4, has reached Floyd (Little Pepper) Martin of Odessa and the 1952 Midland Indians. Odessa solid reliever Carlos Perez to Webb, incidentally.

In skinet, four Midlanders recently cropped prizes at the Oleander Open (Galveston) in the all-bore division: Clyde Cowden, first, Class E; Wright E. Cowden, first, sub-junior; Rorie Cowden, second, seniors; and George Glass, first, sub-seniors.

BENNY DOUGHERTY
... Coach lauds Midland youngster.

Dougherty Future Bright In Fencing

LUBBOCK—A Midland lad is helping maintain Texas Tech as a center for the ancient and international sport of fencing. He's Benny Dougherty, freshman petroleum engineer.

Coach Roddy Hobson foresees a good future in fencing for Dougherty. Against experienced competition at the North Texas divisional finals, Dougherty managed to gain a second place in intermediate epee. He thus qualified for the Southwest Sectional finals of the Amateur Fencing League of America, an event that drew 14 teams from a seven-state area to Tech this month.

Dougherty is only slightly built—standing five feet nine and weighing 150, but fencing is a sport that requires quick reactions rather than brute force.

He is the son of Frank Dougherty, 1707 Garden City Highway, Midland.

Tribe Tackles Webb's Lobos Again After Double Victory

Homers Spark Nightcap Win Over Former Indian, Iz Ten

Midland ends its first series with Lamesa at 8:15 p.m. Friday after playing the rude host to a couple of homecomers in winning Thursday night's chilly doubleheader, 2-1 and 10-6.

Pitcher Eddie Jacome, Midland, faces Howard Morganstern at the outset Friday.

The Indians welcomed Harold Webb, a former clubhouse hero, and 1952 Midland Pitcher Israel Ten but the guests didn't have the run of the house.

The Indians did, and romped high with two homers sparking the finale when Ten was bounced for 11 hits. In the opener, however, Webb, a master showman, pulled a rookie right-hander, Tom Herrera, out of his sleeve and scared the daylight out of the Tribe.

Indians Rich With Rookies

The Midland Indians gained leeway to trade and option first-year players Thursday when the Yakima, Wash., club sent one rookie here and the National Baseball Association (the major league office) told the Tribe it had more rookies than it figured.

Yakima, of the Western-International League, wired Manager Jay Haney that Max Wisner, a rookie pitcher, was being assigned to Midland. And in another note, President George Trautman of the minor league office ruled that Pitchers Romario Soto and Don Dalley can be classified as first-year men.

Midland, as a consequence, had seven rookies, instead of the required four.

Soto played in 15 games with Havana last season but was on that club's roster less than the time required to make him a limited service player.

Dalley has been listed with other ball teams two years although this is his first season to play pro ball.

Reagan, Austin Open Bi-District Baseball

HOUSTON—(P)—The defending high school baseball champions, Houston's Reagan Bulldogs, open their bi-district series Friday with the Austin High Maroons.

The second game, a third if necessary, will be played in Austin.

BIG CHANCE — Paddy Young, above, was quick to sign to box Bobo Olson 15 rounds at Madison Square Garden, June 19.

The victor meets the winner of the Randy Turpin-Charley Humez match in London, June 9, for the vacated world middle-weight championship.

Guyle Fielder of the St. Louis Flyers was the only rookie ever to be selected to the American Hockey League All-Star team.

Tide Water Reaches Top In City Race

Hold your hats—those American League softball scores are going up again.

The loop which saw two teams total more than 40 runs apiece in victories last week finished up this week's race with such counts Thursday as Texas Company over Schlumberger, 24-3, and Southwestern Bell over Continental, 26-0. And this week the teams, didn't have high winds and a sandstorm as an excuse.

Besides these, the feature game Thursday, supposedly a tight one for the league lead; saw unbeaten Tide Water club Gulf, 12-9. Tide Water had trouble even after a four-run first inning. It was the winner's fifth verdict.

Meanwhile, Thursday, Southwestern Bell stepped on Continental in vacating the cellar to the Oilers and Schlumberger. Atwood of Bell combined six-strikeout pitching with his one-hitter for an easy decision. He had a 13-run fifth inning by his mates as support.

Texas Company clinched its game with a 12-run sixth inning.

Tide Water pushed in five runs in the bottom of the fifth to overtake Gulf, when four walks, two hit batsmen, error and hits by Lynn McCage and Van Parham sparked the uprising.

The 1952-53 University of Connecticut basketball team won the Yankee Conference crown for the fifth time in six years.

CHICAGO—(AP)—Undeclared Rocky Marciano, the youthful slugger, defends his heavyweight title against ex-champion Jersey Joe Walcott, the ancient boxer, in a long-awaited 15-round rematch at the Chicago Stadium Friday night.

Despite their classic first encounter at Philadelphia last September 23 when a trilling Marciano de-throned Walcott with a pulverizing thirteenth round knockout, the assault on the box office has been disappointingly light.

Attendance in the 20,000-seat stadium may range between 12,000 and 15,000 and the gate—even with more than 9,000 "ringside" seats selling at $50 each—needed a last-minute spurt to hit $450,000.

The TV (NBC) factor and national broadcasting (ABC) unquestionably soured the ticket sale.

The fact the fight has been so long in the making has spun cobwebs around such pertinent facts as:

1. The 28-year-old Marciano is seeking his forty-fourth pro victory without defeat in his first title defense.
2. The 39-year-old Walcott, in his eighth title appearance, is trying to become the first man ever to recapture the heavyweight crown.
3. Even though Marciano is a strong 3 to 1 favorite, the rugged Brooklyn Bomber was far behind on points and dumped for the first time in his career before his tremendous right to Walcott's jaw ended the last party.

It is recollection of that punch that gives Marciano almost unanimous support of boxing writers to repeat by a knockout, although active ringmen believe generally that Walcott can box Marciano to a defeat.

The sponsoring International Boxing Club was hopeful, but not overly optimistic that gross receipts would top the indoor gate record of $422,918 set at the Stadium July 18, 1947, when Rocky Graziano knocked out Tony Zale for the middleweight title.

The experts, almost to a man, think Jersey Joe's aging legs cannot carry him 15 rounds which they feel must be done to beat Marciano.

One thing Walcott is certain to try, with all his skill as a left-hand jabber, is to test how well Marciano's nose has mended. Rocky's profuse bleeding in his right nostril from two ruptured blood vessels caused the postponement from April 10.

A referee and two judges, to be named at fight time, will score the bout under Illinois rules which provide for a 10-point per round system. An even round is 5-5 and the margin for a winner varies from 6-4 to 8-2. Total points determine the winner in a bout which goes the limit.

ROCKY MARCIANO
... Mighty puncher.

Lollar, Chisox Show Disdain For Yankees

By The Associated Press

Word that the rest of the league is supposed to drop dead at the sight of a Yankee uniform apparently has not reached the Chicago White Sox.

The New Yorkers were the same outfit that regularly have been giving the other clubs the shakes, but the White Sox just kept coming back for more at Yankee Stadium Thursday and wound up with their third straight victory over the World Champions.

The score was 7-5 with the winning runs coming in the ninth inning on the type of finish the Yankees thought was their own private patent.

Chicago is the only club in the league with a winning margin over the champions, having won three of four starts.

Lollar Goes Wild

Thursday, with showing the way, the White Sox fought back from a 4-1 deficit to lead 5-4, then rallied again after Don Bollweg had homered for New York to tie the score. Lollar lifted one into the seats with two on in the seventh and singled to start the ninth uprising. He also starred defensively, picking two men off second base and throwing out one would-be base thief.

While all this was going on, Cleveland was losing its fourth in a row, at Boston, 5-4, in 11 innings.

In night games, Washington won its sixth straight, 2-1, over St. Louis and Philadelphia nipped Detroit, 5-3.

Milwaukee pulled into a tie with the Philadelphia Phillies for the National League lead as cold wet weather in the Midwest continued to disrupt the schedule.

The Braves scored two runs in the ninth inning to edge the Pittsburgh Pirates, 3-2. The Phillies were forced into idleness by cold weather in Chicago.

The St. Louis Cardinals evened their season's record with the Brooklyn Dodgers by whipping them, 6-3, in the only other National League game. The New York Giants' contest at Cincinnati was postponed because of rain.

Held to four hits by knuckleballer Johnny Lindell in the first eight innings, the Braves opened the ninth with Sid Gordon drawing a walk. Andy Pafko doubled with Gordon stopping at third and Lindell walked Joe Adcock on purpose. Then Second Baseman Jack Dittmer singled to bring home two runs.

The Cardinals opened up early on the Dodgers, routing Carl Erskine who had beaten them eight straight times before he could get anybody out in the first inning. Red Schoendienst hit two home runs for the Red Birds.

In losing to Boston, Cleveland blew three early leads gained on home runs by Al Rosen in the second and third innings.

The Tigers stumbled deeper into the cellar by losing to Harry Byrd, Washington's winning streak has moved the Senators up to the 500 mark and to within four and one-half games of first place.

San Angelo Whips Drillers, Grabs Share Of First Place

SAN ANGELO—(AP)—In a game weather, the San Angelo Colts defeated the Artesia Drillers, 4-1. San Angelo thus joined Carlsbad in first place.

With the score tied 1-1 going into the bottom of the sixth, the Colts scored three unearned runs off Driller pitcher Len Rayle to sail the game.

All the damage came with two out. Driller Left Fielder Bob Presley dropped John Jeandron's high pop in short left for a two-base error. Glenn Burns singled Jeandron home and then Rayle walked Steve Follett and John Malgarini to load the bases.

Charley Galina slashed a single to left to score both Burns and Follett. Driller pitcher, retired the Drillers without damage in the top of the seventh.

Teagarden, Stanley Pace Sports' Win

John Teagarden's power hitting and Larry Stanley's two-hit pitching paced the Sports to a 14-2 triumph over the Sheriff's Posse in West Little League action Thursday.

Teagarden smashed a grand slam home run in the fourth inning and then came back with another homer in the fifth. The Sports had already tallied six times in the first and were coasting. Sheriff's Posse finally scored twice in the bottom of the sixth to ruin Stanley's shut out.

Weather permitting, the Elks play Johnny's Barbecue Friday.

Flournoy, Ezell Moody Triumph

Women golfers bidding for championship in the Midland Country Club annual Invitational Tournament Friday began trimming the total of 70 players to half a field in both tie and consolation duels.

The favorites advanced, but decisively, in Thursday's opening matches. And at the front, the leading threesome from qualifying play, Medalist Sybil Flournoy, Gloria Ezell and Nell Moody, played equal, almost stroke for stroke, in getting past opponents.

Mrs. Flournoy, the 1953 runner-up, ousted one of the out-of-town players in championship flight by beating Elma Shows, Odesa, 5 and 4. The medalist, who carded an 82 in Wednesday's cold weather, played even smoother Thursday with a two-over par 40 on the outgoing nine. She stayed within a stroke of par on the following five holes before closing the match.

But while Mrs. Flournoy dogged par, so did Mrs. Ezell and Sherman's Miss Moody, the two also going out in 40. Mrs. Ezell stood one over par through the first six of the back nine as she eliminated Ranchland Hill Country Club Champion Jo Meyer, 5 and 3.

Miss Moody, registering a birdie three on the town course's 380-yard No. 10, equalled par through five more holes to whip Lois Hodges of Big Spring, 5 and 4.

Jane Bauchens, who afterwards, won the most consistent driving award, proved her game was sound all day when she rang up an impressive 7 and 5 margin over Helen Hood. She faced Mrs. Flournoy Friday.

In a special feature, Mary Almgren of Big Spring, who lost her second-flight match, prevailed in the long driving contest. Her best tee shot carried 227 yards.

Jane Bauchens' three drives totaling 545 yards (a 182 yard average) also won out.

The results and schedule (where no town is listed, entry is from Midland):

Bulldozers Outlast Indians To Win, 10-8

The Bulldozers outlasted the Indians Thursday to take a 10-8 Central Little League victory.

Billy Brown's three hits in four tries took leading hitting honors for the night for the winners, but Mickey Wooten's home run in the fourth for the Indians was one of the features. He also had a single to tie teammate Corky Moore for batting laurels. Moore had two hits, too.

The Braves are scheduled to play the Cubs Friday.

Oiler Errors Help Rockets Triumph, 13-5

ODESSA—(AP)—Roswell climbed on three Oiler pitchers for 14 hits Thursday night, taking a chilly 13-5 victory from Odesa. Eight errors by the Odesa team also helped the Rocket cause.

Tito Arenchiba went the distance on the mound for Roswell. The Rocket ace gave up only eight well scattered bingles.

Wes Ortiz is charged with loss, allowing nine runs on nine hits during his brief stint. He yielded to relievers Norm Childress an Al Sokolowski.

UN Forces Repel Stiff Red Attacks

SEOUL.—(P)—U. S. Sabre jets bagged three Communist MIG's and damaged five more Friday while Turkish infantrymen and a thunderous tank and artillery barrage cut down 400 of 2,000 attacking Chinese in Western Korea.

More than 200 jets flattened almost 100 buildings in a big military training center at Chinnampo.

The Air Force said. The fighter-bombers unloaded more than a half-million pounds of bombs in day-long strikes against the center.

Capt. Joseph McConnell, second ranking jet ace, downed one MIG Friday to boost his total kill to 12, one below Capt. Manuel Fernandez.

The Chinese threw two batteries biggest assault since the Korean truce talks resumed April 26.

An Army spokesman said many Turks were unhappy because the Communists didn't get close enough for them to use their favorite weapon—the bayonet.

The Chinese struck Outposts Vegas, Berlin and East Berlin on the Western end of the battle line, only a few miles from the Panmunjon truce talks village. Until two weeks ago the sector was held by the U. S. 1st Marine Division. But the Reds found Turkish troops as tough as the Marines. The Turks are attached to the U. S. 25th Division which took over the sector when the Leathernecks were pulled out for a rest.

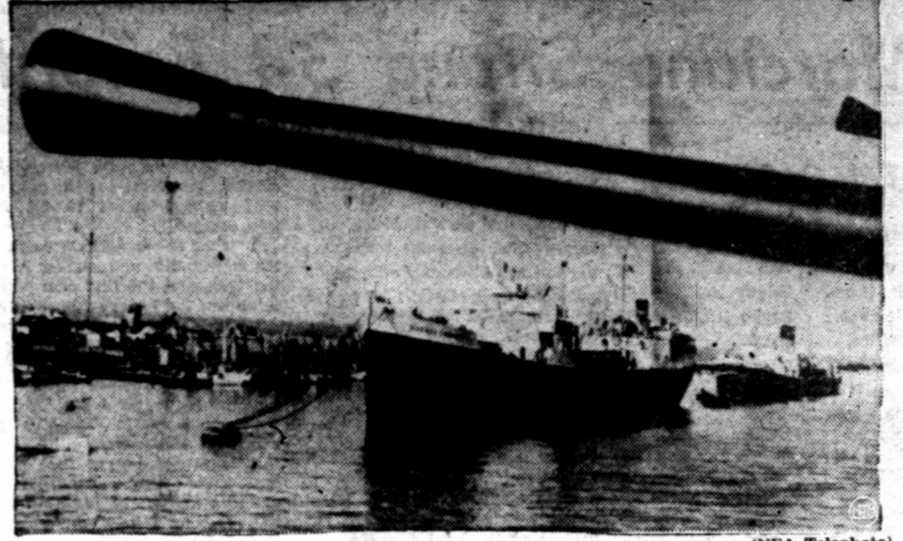

Fights Rages On Texas'

Bitter fighting continued the fourth straight day in the Capitol Hill-Outpost Texas sector of the central front, about 100 miles east of the Outpost Vegas area.

Chinese attackers overran six South Korean positions, including Outpost Texas. In savage hand-to-hand battles. But ROK counterattacks drove the Reds off three outposts by daylight and fighting still was underway at the other three, the Eighth Army reported.

Several hundred Chinese have been killed in the daily attacks which have won the Communists little or nothing.

Army officials estimate that at least 1,000 Reds have been killed or wounded in the last two days of stepped up fighting along the 155-mile battle front.

EXPECTED TO COLLAPSE—Royal Navy guns frame merchant ships in Port Said harbor as Anglo-Egyptian negotiations on the future of the Canal Zone are expected to collapse amid increasing tension. The 80,000-man British garrison in the area is digging in for a possible Egyptian attack.

City Traffic—will call for the modernization of Wall Street signals, and the project then will move on to other areas of the business district.

Keese pointed out that delivery of materials will require from six to eight months so the actual work will not be undertaken immediately.

The decision to refer the parking time-limit problem to the Chamber of Commerce committee came after Keese recommended that one-hour parking be permitted on the parking areas surrounding the Midland County Courthouse.

"The merchants are the ones who are affected by these parking restrictions," explained Councilman John M. Hills "so it might be well to get their ideas on this thing."

The elimination of the traffic signal lights at school intersections was recommended by Keese.

"These lights, when they are green, give automobile traffic the right-of-way and leave the children to shift for themselves," he explained.

"The elimination of these lights will place the burden on the motorists."

The elimination will be effected during the summer months, during which a traffic safety program for the schools will be worked out in time for the opening of classes in the fall.

Three-Lane Traffic

The proposal for the turning lane at Main and Wall Streets came following numerous complaints of the signal light at that intersection, which permits left hand turns on the arrow-signal.

"The only way this will work," said Keese, "is with the creation of the third lane for turning."

This lane, nearest the center line, will be for traffic turning left, leaving the two outside lanes for traffic moving straight ahead or making right-hand turns.

House Panel Again Puts Economy Bite On National Budget

WASHINGTON.—(P)—The House Appropriations Committee slashed deeply Friday into funds both President Eisenhower requested and former President Truman requested for the Labor Department and the new Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

It sent to the House for debate next week a bill to appropriate $1,965,581,750 for the two departments and related agencies for the 1954 fiscal year, which starts July 1.

Without counting such fixed expenditures as $1,340,000,000 for public assistance grants to states, the cut amounted to 17 per cent from Truman's January budget requests and nine per cent from revised estimates of the Eisenhower Administration.

The new funds recommended by the committee compare with $2,098,062,861 requested by Truman and $2,027,913,470 sought by his successor.

By agencies, here's how the money would be distributed:

Labor Department—$254,424,000.

Department of Health—$1,697,883,570.

National Labor Relations Board $9,000,000.

Father Saves Girl After Wife, Other Children Drowned

DOUGLASVILLE, GA.—(P)—Cries

of his daughter brought R. E. Pagan to a 30-foot well where he found the child clinging to a pipe just above the water—and bodies of his wife, Pauline, and two infant sons in the water.

Patricia, six, said her mother threw her brothers, Michael and Davis, into the well but that she ran to a chicken house to escape. She said her mother caught her and threw her into the well.

Sheriff Joe Harding said Mrs. Pagan had been ill and despondent. He said Pagan, 35, a farmer, heard cries of Patricia when he returned from a business trip to nearby Atlanta Thursday.

Pagan lowered himself into the well on a chain fastened to a pine tree and rescued Patricia.

Red Editor Held For Deportation

WASHINGTON.—(P)—Attorney

General Brownell Friday announced the arrest for deportation of British-born Cedric Beifrage, editor of a New York publication, who has refused to tell senators whether he is a Communist.

Beifrage was taken into custody at the office of his magazine, "The National Guardian," on a warrant charging him with Communist Party activities.

Beifrage was a witness Thursday before the Senate Investigations Committee, and refused to say whether he is or had ever been a Communist.

The extinct sea cows which formerly lived in the Bering Sea were 20 to 25 feet long.

Tornado Sidelights

WACO.—(P)—Two small boys dropped in at Red Cross headquarters where thousands of dollars are arriving for tornado relief. One, so shy he could hardly speak up, finally produced a dollar. "I earned it myself," he said. The other wandered around a while, finally handed in two 25 cent pieces.

Residents haven't had much chance this week to read about weddings, parties, baby showers, etc. Under a page-one announcement headed "No Society," the Waco Times-Herald explained all its society department staff members have been writing tornado news.

When the tornado hit Monday, Mrs. C. W. White made a dive behind a cedar chest in her home. The chest was about the only piece of furniture in the home not destroyed. "God showed me the way," said Mrs. White.

Waco schools will remain closed until Monday. All school buildings except one have been pronounced safe by Army Engineers. The state commissioner of education has advised Waco school officials that Waco will not be bound by the law requiring 175 days of school per year.

A pint-sized little guy who won the admiration of many, and most did not know his name, was Johnny Boyette, 18, of Waco. He worked more than 48 hours tearing at tornado rubble with his bare hands, finally went to sleep standing up.

Insurance men estimate that not more than 20 per cent of Waco's property loss was covered by insurance. Adjustors are here in large numbers to take care of claims.

JayCees Open Drive To Increase Roster

Midland JayCees started a double-barreled membership drive at their noon meeting Friday in Hotel Scharbauer.

Ricky Ford, club official, said the "paw" in the drive is a white rabbit. A member keeps the rabbit until he gets a new JayCee and then passes it on to another member. The club will buy a JayCee shirt for each member who adds three new JayCees to the rolls.

Holder of the rabbit (which is expected more rabbits) is Ford—but, he said, he's passing it on Friday afternoon.

script for the President to inspect. The visit was Eisenhower's first to Virginia since the traditionally Democratic state paid him political honors at the polls last November.

The course of the President's visit here was carefully charted by the college, which also was installing a new president, Alvin Duke Chandler, a retired Navy rear admiral.

With the awarding of the degree, Eisenhower became the fourth Republican president beginning with Harding to receive academic honors from William and Mary, the nation's second oldest college—out-ranked only by Harvard.

Democratic Presidents Roosevelt and Truman were similarly honored. But William and Mary, which dates back to 1693, can count four presidents on its alumni rolls without the honors. They are Presidents Washington, Jefferson, Monroe and Tyler.

HOW ADVERTISING AFFECTS YOUR JOB

Raises, Cuts, Promotions, Layoffs Often Depend on How Much the Firm Sells

MECHANIC—I like advertising. It sells goods. And when sales go up, our shop is plenty busy. My wife and I can then have real peace of mind.

WAITRESS—Advertising my boss does means more tips in my pocket. Advertising other firms do means more business, steadier jobs for my customers and bigger tips in my pocket. So I'm all for plenty of advertising.

BOOKKEEPER—I know what a difference advertising made in my firm. . . made our volume four times as big in five years. Now instead of just being a clerk, I have seven people working for me.

NEXT time you hear or read advertising, just stop and analyze how it affects you.

Its purpose is to sell goods or services. More sales mean more work to be done. That means more jobs in the firm that advertises . . . and more jobs in the hundred and one firms with which it does business. It's a never-ending chain.

Now when more jobs open up, that means more security for everyone. It means promotion to many, with wage increases. It means opportunity—particularly for friends and sons and daughters of present employees.

Whether or not you work for a firm that advertises, remember that this modern method of mass personal selling affects your company's business and its future. Hence it affects your job and your future.

Advertising, by selling goods, starts businesses humming, makes them bigger. That's how advertising affects your job. For tomorrow, it creates opportunity . . . for today, it makes your job more secure.

Other Ways Advertising Helps You:

1. Brings you better goods for less money.
2. Makes shopping more pleasant and easier.
3. Has given us the world's highest standard of living.

Advertising... Makes your job more secure

BY SELLING MORE GOODS TO MORE PEOPLE

New, Compact Drilling Rig Demonstrated At Tulsa Show

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
 TULSA—(AP)—Oil is put to work digging for oil in an amazingly compact new oil-well equipment unit shown here Friday.

The unit is a whole derrick and rig which you drive by truck over regular roads to the spot where you want to dig a new well, or trouble-shoot an old one.

It pumps oil into a hydraulic system to produce the power to spin a rotary table which sends the drill bit going deeper. The table starts or stops spinning smoothly, without dangerous jerks which could damage drills or pipes.

That's just one innovation.

Remote Control

It also uses remote control to operate the brakes, throttle, turntable and hoist or winch. A man standing off to any side, keeping the sun out of his eyes, moves handles that control everything.

As a stunt, the drill was started or stopped by radio signals broadcast from a helicopter flying over the International Petroleum Exposition. Riding the helicopter, this writer could see the turn-table go into action, because little flags were attached to the merry-go-round table.

A 35-foot truck carries the steel derrick of this unit right upon its back. The derrick is raised from the front of the truck, and by hydraulic pressure is lengthened from 50-foot to 84-foot height.

Another truck carries the turntable and the platform which is placed over a well head.

Drill A Mile

This new unit, built by Franks Manufacturing Corporation of Tulsa, can service or dig wells up to 6,000 feet deep.

One use for it is for wells which have become blocked, as from sand, or which now need to be dug deeper to hit deeper oil deposits.

The truck rig can drive right up to the well, put the turn-table directly over the well head, raise its derrick, and start putting its tools down to clear out the trouble, or drill to bite deeper.

Many modern wells have no derricks, and it would cost thousands to build one to do this work.

The same truck-rig also could start digging a new well anywhere. Its length and weight are within the limits for use upon U. S. highways.

One accompanying new device is air-powered tongs which grip a piece of pipe, and then spin it to screw it into the threads of a preceding piece of pipe which already is down the well or hole.

Little Lotus Blossom Packs Exceedingly Undainty Punch

TOKYO—(AP)—Unless you're an expert at judo or a millionaire itching for a spending spree, you'd better shy away from Shibuya, the stronghold of Tokyo's strong-arm girls.

About 200 cabarets cluster within a few narrow blocks in the Shibuya district. These establishments hire about 1,000 girls to go out to the streets and pick up guests—forcibly, if they must.

Each of the girls has a manual of field tactics giving instructions on how to get customers. It's not a gentle art. A sample text from the field manual:

"When you pick him up, crowd him from the right, seize his right arm, then yell and pull the stunned man up without allowing him to make the least resistance."

The captive "guests" usually are released after being squeezed of all their money. Sometimes watches, coats, hats and other valuables are held—supposedly to pay for their bills.

The bills are fantastic. A bottle of Japanese beer normally sells for 30 cents at any liquor store in Tokyo. In the Shibuya cabarets, police say, the price ranges from $3 to $7 a bottle. The bills are quickly swollen by the hungry and thirsty girls who help themselves freely at the captive's expense. It's not unusual for a "guest's" bill to reach $10 after an hour or so of this sort of thing.

Japanese police, of course, frown on this practice. But the newly democratized laws of Japan allow them to arrest the strong-arm girls only in the act—that is, while they are dragging in their prey "against visible resistance."

First 1953 Wheat Brings $2.50 Bushel

FORT WORTH—(AP)—The nation's first carload of 1953 wheat brought a premium of 23 1/4 cents a bushel when sold here at auction.

The 8,060-pound load harvested May 2 at Hamlin brought $2.50 a bushel. It was bought at Hamlin by the F. H. Moore Company and sold here Thursday. The price compared with a cash quotation at Kansas City of $2.26 3/4 for grain of similar grade.

British Empire Financiers Join Trans-Ocean Rhubarb

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK—(AP)—Transatlantic name-calling, at a new peak for the Spring season, has another recruit Friday. But it's an old familiar one—the dollar gap.

The head of the British Treasury says Washington isn't paying enough attention to that problem and is to blame for much of Western Europe's financial troubles.

Lord Bruce, former Australian premier, said Thursday that unless the dollar gap is bridged the world faces economic calamity.

Lord Bruce was kind enough to add: "But for the statesmanlike vision and unparalleled generosity of the United States since World War II the world already would have been involved in a financial and economic crisis such as has never previously been experienced."

He wants the United States to give financial backing to a scheme to develop the resources of the British Commonwealth.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Butler is more truculent. He says it's just as much Washington's duty to "make advances by better creditor policies in enabling us to trade with the United States, as it is our duty to put our house in order."

The dollar gap arises from this: Most of the rest of the world needs, or would like to have, more American goods and materials than the United States needs or wants goods and materials from them.

After we've paid in dollars for what we buy from them, they still don't have enough dollars to pay for what they buy from us. That deficit is the dollar gap.

One simple solution: Let the rest of the world buy from us only what it can pay for in dollars. Let them live as a family should, within their budgets.

To cover the dollar gap the United States tried the Marshall Plan. In one form of aid or another we have sent more than $35,000,000,000 abroad.

This helped bridge the dollar gap. It helped American farmers and manufacturers dispose of their crops and products. But it's rough on the American taxpayer who pays the bill.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Representative Bender (R-Ohio) says he's disturbed because the lawns of the U. S. Capitol and the neighboring Botanical Gardens look "just like a cow pasture."

Bender said in an interview he called Botanical Garden officials and demanded they put some men to work mowing the lawn.

"I'm ashamed to show people from back home around the Capitol grounds," he said.

"If you don't do something about those lawns, I might get out there myself with a lawn mower."

Eisenhower Scores Again

Out of the many "first 100 days" appraisals of the Eisenhower Administration, a few presidential characteristics appear to stand out prominently. One of these is Eisenhower's deep belief in the value of cooperation as a technique in successful governing.

His determined efforts to bridge the traditional gap between the White House and Congress are a prime example. No President in history ever went to such lengths to befriend the lawmakers. And, according to reports, he has given the entire Executive establishment strict orders not to get into conflicts with Congress, to remember that the legislature is a separate and independent branch of government.

The latest evidence of this Eisenhower article of faith was the two-day assembly of 45 state governors in Washington at the President's request, for a full, confidential briefing on the current problems of the federal government.

Only three times before in history had all the governors been invited to the capital for serious study of national problems. The most recent was in 1933.

Eisenhower asked the state executives because he believes such consultations will represent a "long step forward toward the goal of a united people." He wants to enlist the support and assistance of all elected officials in the prosecution of the nation's major purposes. He told the governors:

"All political wisdom does not reside in the White House, nor in the Executive branch, nor in Washington itself. It comes from the minds and hearts of sincere and devoted men, wherever their field of action."

The governors' meeting unquestionably impressed the participants. Briefed by an array of top Administration men, the governors returned home probably better informed about U. S. policies and world conditions than any governors ever have been.

The President is to be commended for his boldness and his earnestness in conceiving this device for drawing the people together.

Some capital observers are raising doubts as to how effective "cooperation" will prove as a technique for dealing with Congress over the long haul. They suggest conflict is inevitable and will develop sooner or later.

But few can question the merit of the governors' conference idea. Successful this time, it deserves to be used again and again.

Therefore seeing we have this ministry, as we have received mercy, we faint not.—II Corinthians 4:1.

I will bless the Lord at all times; his praise shall continually be in my mouth.—Psalms 34:1.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1953, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.) Drew Pearson says: Lobbying test case to be reviewed by high court; Colorful capital lobbyist made fortune from influence peddling; Judge Irving Kaufman helped indict unregistered lobbyists.

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court decided to review a case the other day which had nothing to do with the Rosenberg-Greenglass atomic spy death sentence, but did have a great deal to do with Irving Kaufman, the judge who sentenced them to death. It also had a great deal to do with one of the greatest perennial problems of the nation's capital—keeping track of lobbyists.

The story is more colorful than that of the atomic spies—and not so sordid. It goes back to a period just before Pearl Harbor when a genial gentleman wearing a broad-brimmed hat with only a few dollars in his pocket came up from Texas, leaving behind a none too savory reputation.

After only six years in Washington, this lobbyist found high on a first-name basis with various senators. A heavy speculator on the Chicago Commodity Market, the owner of 7,000 acres of cotton land around Orange, Texas, 1,800 acres and 700 cattle near San Antonio, plus a 531-acre farm near Poolesville, Md.

The gentleman in question is ebullient, back-slapping, fast-talking Ralph Moore, whose meteoric rise as a capital lobbyist illustrates how a man with a happy smile, a ball-bearing tongue and plenty of gall can roll up a fortune overnight. His career also illustrates how a smart operator could manipulate the commodity market when millions in Europe were starving.

Moore is delightfully frank about his career. Visited in his converted office building at 1707 N Street, the gentleman from Texas sat against a backdrop of mounted longhorns, handsome paintings and ornate gray-green draperies.

"I never have to bribe anybody," he bragged. "It's a bad practice. I just show them how to make a little money. If you give a man $500 or $1,000 he feels like he owes you something and that you are trying to bribe him. But if you just show him how to make money, he doesn't feel like he owes you anything. That's what I do with my contacts. That's what I would do with you if I trusted you."

Asked whether he handled the grain speculations of any senators, Moore said that he did not, but that several of them had speculated and usually operated through Bache & Company in Washington, or Harris & Vose in New York.

"I expect I have more friends on Capitol Hill than anyone else in town," expanded the genial Texan, looking out his window at his Belgian court beneath.

On the wall beside his desk hung a picture of Ralph Moore with officials of the Jack & Heintz war plant in Cleveland, another picture showing Moore with Senators Thomas of Oklahoma, Barkhead of Alabama and other dining at the Mayflower Hotel, and so on.

"Making money is easy," Moore continued. "If you know what the market is going to do, I'll make you some money right away and it won't cost you a dime, if you'll go easy on me. But I'm afraid of you. I'm afraid you might put it in the paper. If I could only trust you, I could make you quite a few thousand dollars in a hurry."

There came a time when the genial gentleman from Texas did not feel quite so expansive toward this lobbyist. In fact there came a time when Ralph sent word he was going "to shoot that so-and-so Pearson" if he kept on digging into his commodity-market speculation on behalf of Senator Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma.

This was about the time Judge Kaufman entered the picture. Irving Kaufman was not a judge then. He was a rather green, hard-working, conscientious young attorney who had come down from New York on the somewhat thankless job of enforcing the new Lobbying Registration Act.

That act had just been put on the books as a result of influence peddlers who flocked to Washington during the lush days of the New Deal, preying both on unsuspecting businessmen and unsuspecting senators.

Finally Congress decided that while there was no way to abolish lobbying, it was only fair to make all lobbyists register, so the public would know who they were. This was in accord with the Foreign Agents Registration Act, which requires attorneys and representatives for foreign embassies to register so the public may identify them.

Kaufman grabbed hold of the Ralph Moore case with gusto, when it was placed before him, and made it the first test of the new lobbying act. Moore was indicted, along with Tom Linder of Georgia and J. E. McDonald of Texas for failing to register as lobbyists while pulling wires and trying to influence senators.

Moore, particularly, had been found up to his armpits as a speculating partner of Senator Thomas of Oklahoma. Partly as a result, Thomas was defeated for reelection.

Also partly as a result, young Irving Kaufman was appointed to the U. S. District Court in New York where fate later handed him the difficult case in which for the first time in American history a death sentence was given for treason.

But after Kaufman had gone up to the court in New York, a Washington judge, Alexander Holtzoff, ruled against him and his test case of the lobbying act. Holtzoff ruled that the lobbying act was unconstitutional and that Moore et al did not have to register.

The other day, however, the Supreme Court indicated that it felt differently. It agreed to review the first test case of the lobbying act initiated by Judge Kaufman, and the decision declaring the act unconstitutional by Judge Holtzoff.

Upon this review will hang the important question of whether the public has a right to know the identity of those who pull wires and influence people in Washington.

Avra Warren, a capable career diplomat, is scheduled to be the new ambassador to Turkey. A terrific story in Cosmopolitan—Tom Gaddy's piece of the oldest prisoner in Alcatraz. Recommended reading for congressmen: Bert Gross' new book "The Legislative Struggle". A satellite ambassador has been talking secretly to the State Department about political asylum in this country. He's ready to walk out on the Reds and take a suitcase full of secret documents with him.

Philippine President Quirino has accused the American Embassy of playing political favorites. He complained that three opposition party members, but only one member of his own political party, were invited to an embassy banquet in honor of visiting Adlai Stevenson.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

When today's hand was played in a recent team event, South had to play his hand very skillfully to make his game contract in spades. He deserved credit for making the game, but his opponents didn't win any medals for their defensive skill.

South ruffed the opening heart lead and led a club to dummy's queen at the second trick. East ruffed and returned a low heart, forcing declarer to ruff a second time.

South thought the situation over carefully and decided to lead clubs again, finessing dummy's ten. East declarer ruff a third heart.

Now South cashed the ace of diamonds, ruffed a diamond in dummy, and finessed the queen of trumps to return to his hand. When the finesse succeeded, South could draw the last trump with the ace.

Having drawn trumps he could lead his last club to dummy and discard one of his remaining diamonds on a top club. He could well afford to give up his last diamond, having previously lost only two trump tricks.

South's play was very astute, but try making four spades if East returns a trump after ruffing the first round of clubs. South can find seven ways to make nine tricks, but I haven't found any way for him to make ten tricks.

This defense should not have been hard to ferret out. East could not hope to weaken declarer's trump holding since it was obvious that South could trade club leads to make East ruff for every time that East led a heart to make South ruff.

The only other defense worth considering was to return a trump in order to reduce dummy's ruffing power. This defense would have done the trick.

MANNERING was on the sixth page, and 20 minutes must have passed. But he had these papers. It was over—except for the chance of losing his own life and the risk that Mary would never be found. This man wasn't as dangerous as Fenner. Higby couldn't stop talking.

"And then Fenner and I saw a way of getting what we wanted without taking the books out—not easy to get those books; you can't slip them under your coat. We brought Wilberforce back at night. I let him in. We had the list of books, but knew only some had the papers—we didn't know which ones. Wilberforce worked on some of the books out there to try to find if the papers were hiding Fenner. He found one. Then he got restive, and wanted more money than we were paying him. Started talking about giving us away. We couldn't risk a traitor, could we, Mannering? He went to the study one night, to get one of the books which was there, and tried to throw his weight about. So I knocked him out, put him on the rug and cut his throat. Then that girl—"

"Pity you drove her crazy," murmured Mannering.

"Cut that out," said Higby harshly. "You know what happened. Fenner and one of the other boys was with me. We got the body and the bloodstained rug away, and we took the books, too. I thought Gloria might have seen me, and so I had another go at her, using the dog. Pity you weren't driving a little faster."

"You wasted your time," said Mannering. "But why did you kidnap Mary, when—"

"You thought it was a case of mistaken identity, didn't you?" Higby laughed again. "Your mistake. We had to get rid of anyone who'd examined those books, in case they discovered where the secret was. I fired the girl, and then Longley. I hoped I'd killed Long-

Mantering smiled faintly and gave him the paper.

"What's the hurry? Fenner's dead, he had plenty of time before. Why didn't he open the books?" Mannering sounded curious—no more.

Higby said: "We didn't know that the papers were in the spines. Fenner had a look through them. Then you got the books away but you left one behind. He found the paper in the spine. Satisfied?"

"You don't think you're going to get away with this?"

"Yes, with your help. Get on with the job."

Then Mannering thought he heard a footfall outside.

MANNERING went on with his task as if nothing had happened. The sound wasn't repeated. Mannering might be able to get at his own gun, to shoot the weapon out of Higby's hand. But Higby kept glancing at him, he was at point blank range and couldn't miss.

Lady Bream kept shifting in her chair and sniffing.

Abel hadn't moved.

Mannering said: "Where's Mary Scott, Higby?"

"She'll be all right, if you get the papers out of the grounds," said Higby. "If you don't—I'll see that her throat's cut. You're a fine gentleman, aren't you, Mannering?"

"Gentlemen can't allow sweet young things to die, can they? But if you don't get those papers out, she's had it. No half measures about Fenner and me."

He seemed reassured about the noise outside.

Mannering said: "He lets you take the risk."

"He takes plenty," said Higby. "Fenner wouldn't put anything across me—I know too much, and he knows I could give him away even if I were dead. When you have the kind of upbringing I had, Mannering, you learn to take care of yourself. But Fenner's all right. He's got a little band of playmates with him. He pays high and looks after all who work for him, and they do exactly what he wants them to do."

McKay's Dam Policy Makes National Public Power Issue

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Secretary of Interior Douglas McKay's new public electric power policy is going to be debated up and down and across the country for a long time to come. It has the makings of a major political issue for the Western states in 1954 and nationally in 1956.

Secretary McKay revealed this policy by announcing that he would not intervene to oppose the Idaho Power Company's application before the Federal Power Commission for authority to build a private power dam at Oxbow on the Snake River, the Oregon-Idaho boundary.

The secretary made every effort to make clear that he was deciding this case on its merits alone. Other cases, he said, might be handled differently. But this decision was cleared by the full Cabinet and it has President Eisenhower's approval. So it is in effect Administration policy.

By refusing to oppose the Idaho Power Company application, Secretary McKay in effect washed out completely the Bureau of Reclamation's plan to have the government build a much bigger dam at Hell's Canyon, downstream from the Oxbow location.

The Hell's Canyon project was planned and supported by the Truman Administration, although it once was postponed and once defeated by Congress. It also is before the present Congress. But in view of Secretary McKay's new policy statement, Hell's Canyon now is considered a dead duck for as long as the present Administration remains in office.

Hell's Canyon was an $800,000,000 project to develop a maximum of 1,200,000 kilowatts of electric power and a minimum of 635,000. By comparison, the Idaho Power Company's Oxbow and three smaller dams planned for the Snake River would cost the company from $180,000,000 to $200,000,000 and develop 520,000 kilowatts of power.

By withdrawing the Department of Interior as an active supporter of the Hell's Canyon project, Secretary of Interior McKay in effect passed the buck on making public power policy to the Federal Power Commission. He served notice on this project at least, he was taking the government out of the power business.

If this policy is applied to other projects, the era of big government dam construction, begun by President Hoover with the Hoover Dam and continued all through the Roosevelt and Truman Administrations, now may be said to be over.

Secretary McKay's reasons for making this decision after three months of careful consideration chiefly were as follows: It was necessary to balance the budget. In the need for economy, Congress wouldn't appropriate the money. He already was having trouble getting enough money from Congress to run existing projects. Hell's Canyon would contribute nothing to irrigation and reclamation projects and have little effect on navigation and flood control. The first Idaho Power Company dam could be brought into production seven or eight years before Hell's Canyon.

This makes it obviously a short-range policy decision.

Over and above all this, however, was the secretary's fundamental policy decision that while the federal government should develop multipurpose dams on the main stems of rivers, private enterprise should be allowed to develop water-power projects that can assist in over-all development of natural resources.

This is the declaration that makes the Snake River controversy a national issue and not just a local matter of interest to the people of the Northwest.

McKay Denied Charges Before the U. S. Chamber of Commerce annual meeting in Washington a week before, Secretary McKay had denied charges that the Eisenhower Administration was a "give-away" administration.

"We're not going to give away anything," he declared. "We're just as proud of our heritage, just as zealous in protecting our resources as anybody."

Following on the heels of the Hell's Canyon policy declaration, however, Democratic spokesmen were preparing to intensify their cry that this merely was the first step of a gigantic give-away of natural resources.

It will be charged that the Senate vote returning submerged lands mineral rights to the state, coming on the same day the Hell's Canyon policy was announced, marks only the beginning of an Administration drive to liquidate the public domain.

President Eisenhower's campaign speech at Boise, Idaho, on August 20 is being cited now as the guide for this policy.

"Now we have a government that applies the philosophy of the left to government," said Candidate Eisenhower at that time. "The government will build the power dams, the government will tell you how to distribute power, the government will do this and that, the government does everything but come in and wash the dishes for the housewife."

Secretary McKay's new policy announcement will be ticketed as in harmony with that statement, and the debate will go on endlessly.

THE WORLD IN HIS HAND

Got the world in your hand young man? You have the best part of it. Your hand is on the church door—it will open a world of love and hope and fulfillment for you, a world of goodness that you can hold on to.

There will be other doors that open on other things, plenty of them, things that won't seem fair, that will hurt, that will let you down. Hold on to the world you have. Enter it often. Some of us have tried other doors. When we did we lost the look that is in your eyes.

Some of us have found your door and your look again after years of searching.

Hold on to the world you have young fellow. Someone who loves you put that door within your reach, someone with wisdom enough to know that you can never find a world worth clinging to outside the Church.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Supermarket Lures Variety Of Thieves
PHOENIX, ARIZ. —(AP)— Check-out girls in a chain grocery store here are becoming used to holdup men.
The other night, just before closing time, a "customer" with an armful of vegetables dropped his purchases on the counter and then showed the cashier a gun. It was the second time in less than a month the store had been held up.
The robber had the girl put vegetables and cash in a paper bag. Then he calmly left the store with more than $1,000 in the sack.

Prisoners Given Airdrop Supplies
HANOI, INDOCHINA —(AP)— The Communist-led Vietminh consistently fail to answer pleas of the International Red Cross to permit the delivery of foodstuffs and medicines to captives held by the Vietminh—but they're being delivered anyway.
French planes, flying over prisoner-of-war camps in Vietminh-held territory, have just dropped another eight tons of badly needed supplies. Most medicines and foodstuffs were parachuted in North Viet Nam, around Yen Bay, Tuyen-Quang and Quang-Yen, and in the Thanh-Hoa area, 90 miles south of Hanoi.
French Union soldiers and officers held prisoners by the Vietminh long have been short of foods and medicines. The Vietminh are estimated to hold about 4,000 men from France and the French Union, and may have upwards of 20,000 Vietnamese captives.

Traffic Violations Recorded On License
HARTFORD, CONN. —(AP)— If a Connecticut motorist becomes a traffic law violator, he carries his court record around with him.
The 1953 issue of drivers' licenses has a space on the reverse side for the court to record the type of violation, date, town and judge's name. There's room for two violations.

Step From Animals To Human In Tests Intensifies Problem

SAN FRANCISCO —(AP)— Medical scientists would like to find a laboratory animal that develops high blood pressure like a human being.
They would value highly any animal born with heart disease. Animals that would think or have emotions of psychological reactions like humans would be priceless. But there are no such animals.
So, the question is: Shall the researchers use human beings in their place?
They are beginning to look for the answer to this question because they may be called upon to test potential new cures. It might be a drug that stops cancer 100 per cent in animals.
Their problem is how far they can go on humans without running into ethical, moral or legal obstacles. A doctor's first responsibility is the welfare of his patient. He can't risk a patient's life on an unproved treatment.
There's another stumbling block in prisons, mental hospitals and other institutions are thousands of individuals who would make ideal experimental subjects. But the institutions are governed by boards, commissions or other official bodies. Often their membership includes one or more persons who rise in indignation at the mention of human guinea pigs.
There is no problem so far as people generally or the inmates of

Chinese Wedding Upsets Tradition
WACO —(AP)— They had a Chinese wedding—complete with fireworks instead of rice—on the staid campus of Baptist-operated Baylor University.
Grace Wang, Baylor school of nursing student, married Dr. Daniel Han, resident physician at a hospital here. The wedding climaxed a romance which began as childhood friendship in China.
Traditional Chinese wedding customs prevailed at the wedding. The principals wore Chinese clothing. Altar decorations were in red. Firecrackers popped as the couple left the church.

★ Daddy Ringtail ★ Daddy Ringtail And Golden Rule

"Featherman," said Daddy Ringtail, your monkey friend. "Featherman, I'm ashamed of you."
The Featherman had been up to the mischief of grabbing some feathers away from the chickens. All the Featherman thinks about is feathers, feathers, and more feathers. He takes them home to feather his nest.
But the chickens had run away safe into the chicken house. The rooster had slammed and locked the door. All the feathers were safe for the moment. But the Featherman ought to be ashamed, ashamed of himself for the feather-grabbing mischief he had tried to do.
Daddy Ringtail said it again. He said: "Featherman, I'm ashamed of you." Daddy Ringtail said it so maybe the Featherman wouldn't be trying to grab away feathers any more when the chickens were using the feathers.

The Featherman sat and held his hands together in front of him. He tried to look as though he hadn't been into mischief. But he really was thinking of the feathers he was going to grab away, when he had the chance to do it.

Daddy Ringtail knew what he was thinking. "Featherman," said Daddy Ringtail, "you ought to remember the Golden Rule."
Daddy Ringtail explained that

By WESLEY DAVIS
The Golden Rule is simply this: "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you." It means that everyone ought to be as kind to other people—just as kind—as he wants other people to be kind to him.

"Why?" asked the Featherman. "Why should I be as kind to everyone as I want everyone to be kind to me?"
"Because!" Daddy Ringtail explained, "that is the Golden Rule, and if everyone remembers it—the world will be a happier place to live."
The Featherman thought about these words. He looked down at his long white whiskers he was so proud of. He didn't want anyone to grab them anyway. No sir. Daddy Ringtail was right.
The world would indeed be a happier place to live, if everyone remembered the Golden Rule of being as kind to others as you want them to be kind to you. Happy day!

Left to right, are Mrs. Rosemary Logan, checking the carbon-dioxide machine; Dr. Martha Madsen, pathologist in charge of the lab; Mrs. Frances Harrington, tissue technician, and Mrs. Betty Atkinson, hemotologist. The laboratory is part of the hospital which will be visited by Midlanders during a tour of the hospital Sunday, the final day of National Hospital Week.

Open House Vistors To See Lab Activities At Hospital

The Midland Memorial Hospital Laboratory is one important phase of work at the hospital which will be observed Sunday when Midland citizens converge upon the building to climax National Hospital Week.

Designed to stimulate interest in operation and services of hospitals, National Hospital Week finds medical officials stressing the importance of understanding the support of hospitals.

The laboratory at Midland Memorial Hospital is vital to the institution's operation for many reasons. As routine work the lab makes blood tests and handles urinalysis on every patient which is admitted to the hospital.

Jet Jockeys Like To Put-Put Around Skies In Flivvers

OFFUTT AIR FORCE BASE, OMAHA—(AP)—The Air Force fliers who jockey jet planes and giant bombers like to fly the small, slow and low jobs sometimes, too. They've taken to setting up private little "Aero Clubs" for Air Force personnel. The one at this base started two years ago, with five members and a $50 airplane purchased as a wreck.

Now, there are 100 club members and club assets total $11,000. The club buys small airplanes and rents them to members.

Some members just want to go up and relax from big-plane or jet-plane flying. Others pack the wife and kids into the small craft and fly off to some other state to ski or swim or visit the home folks.

"We learn things about flying that we don't learn with the larger planes," one member says.

There are 23 such clubs in the Strategic Air Command.

Errol Flynn's Wife To Become Mother

SALINA, KAN.—(AP)— Movie actress Patrice Wymore, wife of actor Errol Flynn, has written her parents here that she is to become a mother.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wymore said their daughter didn't say when the baby was expected.

Miss Wymore, who is planning to visit Salina in June, wrote from Monte Carlo, where she and her husband now are staying. She and Flynn have been in Rome most of the time the last eight months. She will return to Rome after visiting her parents.

The couple was married in Salina in 1950.

Ruth Millett This Wife Learns From Mate, But Many Wives Don't Do So

Right in the middle of a batch of letters from wives who were complaining of their husbands' faults is a surprising letter from a happy wife.

In it she, a college graduate married to a man with much less education than she has, tells about all the things he has taught her during six years of marriage about kindness, courage, tolerance, taking the good with the bad without complaining, etc.

She ends her letter: "He is really a wonderful person and I have learned more from him than I learned in four years of college."

That's an unusual letter to come from a modern woman. For the modern woman's attitude is that she, the wife, is the one who knows everything. Her husband may be a business success; he may be a leader in his community, and he may know a lot about world affairs. But these things don't count.

Her Self-Confidence
Because when it comes to everyday living, his wife feels that whatever she thinks is right must be right and that it is up to her to teach him.

Today's woman may be clever enough to let a man think he knows a lot, but even the clever ones don't really believe they could learn anything from their husbands.

They, the women, know all about homemaking, child rearing, marriage, etc. What they don't know, they take some "experts" word for. But never does it occur to them that their own husbands might be able to teach them a few things about getting along with others, enjoying life, making a home happy, etc.

Perhaps they would be a little happier if they were as eager to learn from their husbands as they are to teach them.

Diplomatic Jobs Are Easy If You Know Your P's, Q's

WASHINGTON—(AP)— Want to be a diplomat? To hobnob with kings and prime ministers? To take tea and crumpets with the homburg-and-striped-britches set?

Then you'd better know, among other things, that the New York Yankees won the 1952 World Series, that Tennessee Williams wrote "A Streetcar Named Desire" and that the earth is the third of the planets in order of distance from the sun.

These are some of the questions culled at random from a new booklet which is required reading for would-be ambassadors. It's the State Department's latest revision of sample questions from the examination given to foreign service applicants, and the Government Printing Office will sell you a copy for 15 cents.

You'll learn from this 30 page booklet that an aspiring diplomat is expected to know a lot more than the correct number of buttons on a pair of spats.

Even before he gets to take a stiff oral and physical examination he must pass three general and three special written quizzes testing his knowledge of a whole range of subjects from history and economics to modern languages and the facts of everyday life.

He's given, for instance, 20 minutes to "explain and evaluate the various means by which the Federal Reserve Board can influence the volume of business activity in the United States."

Midlanders Invited To See Webb Armed Forces Show

BIG SPRING—Webb Air Force Base this weekend will play host to the largest number of civilians guests to ever enter the gates at one time.

For Armed Forces Day observance Saturday, Webb Air Force Base officials hope to play host to between 15,000 and 30,000 residents of the Big Spring area, including Midland.

Saturday will begin for Webb officers, airmen and cadets, at 7:30 a.m. when individual squadrons will form a parade through downtown Big Spring.

The parade itself, one of the biggest Big Spring has ever seen, will feature 200 aviation cadets, 500 airmen and 200 Boy Scouts, representatives from veterans organizations, and the 509th Air Force Band, which will lead the parade.

The Big Spring area will be treated to eight separate fly-overs during the course of the day, beginning at 10:06 a.m., with a flight of eight B-28 "Mitchell" bombers from Reese Air Force Base in Lubbock and ending with a close formation pass-over of T-28 propeller driven trainers at about 8 p.m.

Spectators roaming the flight line throughout the day will find static exhibits of T-28 jets, T-28 trainers, a T-28 navigational trainer, a Navy F6F fighter, Navy ARI aircraft, along with a H-13 helicopter and an Army liaison plane, both of which will give exhibition flights during the day. A B-28 bomber will also present something of a thrill to the spectators, with a one-engine flight over the field.

The first formation flight of jets over the base, led by Major Bill

Kerr, will cover a part of New Mexico and most of West Texas in one hour and two minutes. News representatives will ride in the lead ships of Flight One and Flight Two.

All day long, up and down the flight ramp, visitors may inspect exhibits of cut-away engines, parachutes, flight-gear, uniform displays, crash and fire trucks and equipment and escape and invasion kits.

The Army is sending a display of its equipment from Fort Hood, including a 47-mm recoilless rifle.

Concession stands will be in operation on the flight line to serve refreshments to thirsty visitors.

From 11:30 through 12:30, the 509th Air Force Band will hold a concert in one of the Hangars. Another concert is planned from 1:30 until 2:30.

Two conducted tours of the base will leave the parking ramp on the flightline at 11:30 and another at 3:30. The tours will be made by bus, and will include visits to the Link Trainer Department, the Parachute Shop, a dining hall, the high altitude indoctrination chamber, the cold storage plant and other points of interest.

Webb Air Force Base officials have extended an invitation to all residents of Midland and the surrounding areas to visit Webb on Armed Forces Day, Saturday, May 16.

The theme for the day is "Power For Peace," and Webb's Commanding Officer, Colonel Ernest F. Wackwitz, Jr., and Major Charles Brewton, Armed Forces Day project officer, ask all persons in Midland to join in the observance of the day.

Man Runs Over Himself

Joe Doakes had a difficulty the other day. He sent his son to the store for a package of cigarettes, but the shop keeper sent the boy home, telling him he was too young to buy cigarettes. So Joe had to run over himself.

That one is pretty old, we admit. Maybe it dates us. We sat in Community Theatre the other night, watching "Joan of Lorraine," and this thing kept running through our head. We could barely wait to get to the typewriter. You see, we wanted to twist it into an ad on Jacobson Mowers, and it would read like this: "Maybe Joe is too old to run a lawnmower, the old push and grunt kind. He ought to get a good power mower to do the job, and then his boy would keep the lawn for him. It's so easy, and so much fun, and those Jacobsons start so easy, and last so long, and more people in Midland own them than any other kind, and you can always get them serviced right in our own shop. Do you get it? Unlike Joe—you wouldn't have to run over yourself. Over the lawn, we mean."

American In Germany Fined; Dueling Over Girl Passe Now

FRANKFURT, GERMANY—An American ex-soldier who tried to settle "an affair of love and honor" by the ancient rules of chivalry was fined $500 Thursday for challenging his rival to a duel with .38 caliber pistols.

Blondell Groseclose, 39, of Juliata, Idaho, now a sociologist and historian, was convicted by a U. S. High Commission court, Judge John J. Speight of Dothan, Ala., ordered the fine.

"Groseclose's misfortune is that he missed the age of chivalry by a few centuries," said the prosecutor, Jerome Silverstein of Flushing, Long Island, N. Y.

The stocky, round-faced defendant admitted he flung the challenge. "I thought that was the accepted and honorable way to settle an affair of love and honor in Europe," he said.

But he denied, and was acquitted of, a charge that he also threatened to shoot his rival, Capt. Charles D. Tarpley of Henderson, Tenn.

He accused Tarpley of stealing the affections of a German woman doctor, Margaret Meyer, whom Groseclose had courted for seven years. He offered Tarpley one of two pistols, he testified, and told him if he were an honorable man he'd settle this matter here and now and the one who won would walk out "here alive". Tarpley declined.

Although Groseclose thanked the judge for his "fairness," his lawyer announced he would appeal the fine.

The romantic rivalry which provoked the duel challenge appeared still unsettled. The small, brunette doctor admitted in court under Gower's questioning that both Groseclose and Tarpley had called on her simultaneously once and "split a stick of chewing gum" in complete amiability, she said.

Groseclose said "no comment," but smiled when asked if he still considered marrying Dr. Meyer.

ALGERIA POPULATION BOOMS

PARIS—The population of Algeria increased 241,000 in 1952 to 9,268,000 the bureau of statistics of Algeria announced. This was the biggest population increase in any one year of the country's history. Algeria, although in North Africa, is a part of France and is composed of three departments (counties).

In the last five years, the amount of feed needed to produce a three-pound broiler has been reduced from 10 1/2 pounds to about nine pounds.

Italian Accident Rate Sets Record

ROME—Italian motorists, many of whom act like race track drivers, are setting an unenviable record of traffic accidents. One reason is whizzing motorcyclists. Another is motor scooters. Bicycle riders and pedestrians, who frequently prefer the middle for the street for their good old-fashioned political arguments, are helping too.

It all adds up to one of the highest traffic accident rates in the world—ten killed and 187 injured daily.

The Italian press has begun to express concern. Catholic Action's "Il Quotidiano" of Rome, for example, compared the Italian accident rate with that of the United States and concluded, without pride:

"It is easily seen that the most undisciplined drivers are ours."

Librarian Finds Habits In Reading Hard To Classify

URBANA-CHAMPAIGN, ILL.—People choose books that are easy to get or easy to read, not the ones they say they want to read, Lester Ashem reports in "Library Trends," University of Illinois quarterly. "The reader himself seldom knows why he reads a certain book."

He disagrees with the idea that people change radically upon reading a single book. "A lifetime of reading forms the opinions and attitudes we possess, and the dramatic moment of change and revelation comes because we have been building up to it through all the exposure to ideas in books and other media which have preceded."

"Education is the most important influence on reading behavior no matter what the sex, age, or economic status of the reader," he states. "Younger adults read more than the older ones. Upper income groups read more than the lower income groups. Women are more likely to read for recreation, and men are more likely to read for professional and vocational reasons."

The rapidly growing freight tonnage of the U. S. inland waterway system has reached 325 million tons a year says the National Geographic Society.

ELIZABETH the Queen

By Marion Crawford
Former Governess to Her Majesty

VIII

It is usually the wife who spreads oil on the troubled waters of a marriage. She likes to hear her husband praised, hates to feel a tension growing in her house when he is cross or short with visitors, as may well happen if he is not well. Men are very vocal about their aches and pains.

How much greater is the strain on a Royal wife! I have a deep admiration for Prince Philip as a grown man. He has qualities I greatly admire, but many of them are not fashioned for Court use. He is frank and outspoken, keen to be on with the next thing, and impatient of flattery. He hates unnecessary fuss and all publicity.

The fanfare which heralds his every move now must be torture to him. But it was the small price he gladly paid for marrying the woman he loved—to step out of seclusion, semi-obscurity of the avy into the brightest spotlight the world has ever known.

But one sometimes forgets. It is then that the wife has to step forward and smooth the path. Like her mother, Queen Elizabeth has this quality of sympathetic tact, highly developed.

"Come on, darling," her eyes seem to say. "Stick it just a little while longer."

Few who have not seen the effect it may have can appreciate the strain of always living in the public eye. When you or I marry we make our arrangements in private, marry among our friends and relatives, and honeymoon quietly in the place of our choice. But for Royalty things are never so simple.

Princess Elizabeth's engagement period was an exhausting time for her. There were so many things to attend to that she simply had to break off sometimes.

Even before the engagement, when nothing had been decided, the Princess had many uncomfortable moments in public when she overheard remarks about a possible "love match."

But at last everything was decided. The arrangements for the wedding brought great activity to the Palace and these too were things of public interest.

Even while on their honeymoon Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip were pestered by photographers and curious tourists who made special journeys to try to catch a glimpse of them.

It was not until they at last got up to Birkhall, a house belonging to the King near Balmoral, that they were able to be really alone.

The native courtesy of the Scots countryfolk showed itself in their tact. They left the Royal couple entirely to themselves.

It was winter, and snow was on the ground. Princess Elizabeth wrote me a charming letter. The countryside was lovely, she said, far more beautiful than it had been when we were there at about the same time of year at the beginning of the war. They had a new puppy, Rummy, with them, who was enjoying himself romping about in the snow.

It must have been a happy time for them, left completely alone together for the first time in their lives.

But that particular kind of "being alone" happiness could not last long; soon they were back in the center of things, doing their great work in the world.

It has become much easier for me to see the Princess as a person since I left the Palace and began my married life in the first home of my own I have ever had. What matters most to all of us now is the character of the woman who, by the grace of God, now guides the destiny of many lands.

How often we see her smiling! Her smile is as much part of her as her lovely complexion and the features that startlingly recall to most people the pictures of the great Queen Victoria when she was young.

I see other resemblances as well. She is very like her aunt, Lady

Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh acknowledge cheers of thousands outside Buckingham Palace following their wedding. To the left of Princess Elizabeth are her father, King George VI, and Princess Alexandra, a bridesmaid. Lady Mary Cambridge, another bridesmaid, is to the rear. To the right of the Duke stand Queen Elizabeth and Queen Mary, mother and grandmother of the bride.
