

NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

To Make Things Turn Out Right

ONCE AS I ARRIVED TO MAKE a speech in a certain city, a smartly uniformed chauffeur came up to me and told me that he had been sent by his employer to take me back to my hotel afterwards. The car was a brand new Cadillac, he explained, and he would be in it waiting for me at the end of the meeting. Of course I was happy to accept the courtesy.

After I had spoken I was talking to the people who came up to greet me when a man in the group, who had a quality about him which was both likable and forceful, but which I could not quite define, asked me, "Are you ready to leave?"

"I've come to take you back to your hotel," he told me. "You're going with me." His manner was polite and he seemed to be stating a fact.

"Well," I hesitated, "there's another car waiting for me out there."

"That doesn't make any difference," he insisted. "You are to come with me and I hope you will."

THERE WAS NOTHING ELSE I seemed to be able to do, so I followed him outside. The chauffeur was waiting with the glistening Cadillac and got out to open the door, but I told him I couldn't go with him, thanked him, and with my new escort got into a battered old Chevrolet just ahead. The chauffeur was a bit bewildered and the man with me noticed this.

"I was supposed to ride in that car," I explained.

"Oh," he said, "this car is just as good. I own it and I've got it all paid for. Six months ago, I didn't have money to pay for any car, however old and cheap. My wife wouldn't live in the same house with me; my children detested me. My employer kept telling me that if I didn't do better, he would have to let me go. I was a defeated man and everything went wrong for me. That was only six months ago."

"What happened so suddenly to make things turn out right," I asked with amazed interest.

"A FRIEND HELPED ME," WAS his answer. "This man told me something that changed everything. When I took my troubles to him, he said, 'Bill, the reason everything goes wrong for you is because you're wrong yourself.'"

"Well," he went on, "suddenly I realized that was the truth. I was wrong myself; so everything about me went wrong. My friend then told me that if I 'got right spiritually,' things would change and go right. He showed me how to pray and have faith, how to draw upon God's vast resources. Then he got me to reading the Bible, and one day I found a passage that struck me. 'I will give unto the kings of the kingdom of heaven.' I asked my friend what that means and he told me that it is a way of saying that the Lord will open rich opportunities to a humble sincere person who really believes and practices God's way of life. I have been doing that and it's marvelous how things which once went wrong now turn out right," he concluded with enthusiasm.

FINALLY, WE ARRIVED AT MY hotel. The man jumped out, ran around, opened the door with more of a flourish than any chauffeur, gave me a warm and hearty handshake and said, "It's a great life, isn't it, when you get on God's beam?"

I watched him jump back into his car and drive off into traffic and I knew that there was a man who had discovered one of the greatest secrets in the world: how to stop things from going wrong and start making them so right.

This may sound materialistic, but it is not meant to be so. It is the application of the tremendous power of God in human experience to make living creative, not defeatist. You can apply it to make things turn out right for you. Have faith, apply what you know of spiritual laws, believe you can make things turn out right, and watch the results.

200-Block Paving Enters Last Phase

A 200-block street-paving project will enter its final phase Monday.

City Construction Engineer T. G. Jenkins said Saturday crews of the Texas Bitulithic Company will begin the job Monday of laying the final asphalt surface on those streets on which curb and gutter and base have been completed.

Jenkins estimated that approximately 80 per cent of the program has been completed, with the exception of the asphalt topping.

New Tornado, Flood Threats Harass Texas

Vicious, twisting winds smashed two little communities late Saturday in a deadly continuation of a disastrous week of monster storms that killed at least 126 persons in Texas.

A tornado ripped into Wesley Chapel and twisting winds battered Porter Springs, both in East Texas near Crockett in Houston County.

The threat of more tornadoes—and serious floods—hung over parts of Texas.

Killed when the tornado slammed into Wesley Chapel in mid-afternoon was J. R. Rawls, 80. His home was demolished. His body was found 400 yards away.

Tornadoes Monday killed at least 113 persons at Waco and 10 at San Angelo.

Two Schools Hit One woman was killed in an automobile accident during a rainstorm Friday. Saturday a negro boy drowned saving a white boy from a rain-swollen Trinity River diversion channel at Dallas.

Five persons were injured, none seriously, at Wesley Chapel. Three persons were hospitalized by the violent winds that hit Porter Springs.

While counties to the east look for light drizzle and fog, the Permian Basin may expect clear skies and wind up to only 13 miles an hour Sunday. That's the word from CAA observers at Midland Air Terminal.

Showers fell over the Midland area Saturday with traces gaged in a majority of localities. Skies cleared early Saturday afternoon.

Springs Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Cook suffered cuts and bruises. Their daughter, Margaret Faye, 14, was hurt more seriously.

The tornado smashed a school for white children and several homes. It hit after the violent winds had ripped apart a negro high school.

DIDN'T KNOW STALIN WAS DEAD—Thin, Pale William Oatis Emerges From Red Prison

NUERNBERG, GERMANY.—(P)—Thin and pale, Reporter William Nathan Oatis returned to the free world Saturday from Czechoslovakia's Pankrac Prison, where for two years he was cut off from outside news that "I did not even know Stalin had died."

Stalin's picture "was still on the wall," the AP correspondent told about 100 reporters and photographers after driving through the Iron Curtain frontier under escort of officials from the U. S. Embassy in Prague.

Jailed because Czechoslovak leaders considered as spying his insistence on reporting accurately about their Communist regime, he was pardoned by President Antonin Zapotocky Friday night and was released Saturday morning.

Boosted by a fresh shave, a haircut and a hearty meal, the 39-year-old Hoosier faced the news conference in the ballroom of the Hotel Grand, a structure requisitioned by the U. S. Army.

He said he was not "subjected to terrorism or mistreatment" by the Czech Communists and his treatment in general was good.

"I am glad to be out of prison," Oatis said with a smile. "And I am thankful to all who helped me get out."

By President Zapotocky's announcement, the pardon was the result of a poignant letter from Oatis' wife, Laurabelle, who lives in St. Paul, Minn. Oatis is expected to return within a day or two to the United States for a reunion with her.

But Oatis declined to discuss his trial on charges of espionage, or his 10-year sentence, denounced by the U. S. State Department as a travesty of justice.

Asked by a reporter for the Voice of America radio network to "say a few words regarding your innocence and the methods by which your confession was obtained," Oatis said:

"I would rather let the record of the trial speak for itself as to the case. As to the methods used in investigating my case, I can say they were efficient and adequate."

"Were you subjected to open terrorism or mistreatment?" a reporter asked.

"No, I was not," Oatis answered firmly.

But he said he was "interrogated under methods usual in some countries and unusual in others." He added "psychology was used."

At her home in St. Paul, Minn., Mrs. Oatis was "grateful, delighted, and exhausted" when she heard her husband actually had crossed into the free world.

Mrs. Oatis' letter to the Czechoslovaks, written as a desperate appeal, said:

"Surely you must heed a simple plea for mercy and put an end to this bitterly unhappy situation in which my husband, William, and I are entrapped. We married because we wanted to spend our lives together. Yet the days go by, one after another, and so does the time we would be spending together. We can never regain what has already been lost but I continue to hope and pray . . ."

WILLIAM N. OATIS "Psychology was used."

Oatis' wife, Laurabelle, who lives in St. Paul, Minn. Oatis is expected to return within a day or two to the United States for a reunion with her.

But Oatis declined to discuss his trial on charges of espionage, or his 10-year sentence, denounced by the U. S. State Department as a travesty of justice.

Oatis' Wife To Fly East For Reunion

ST. PAUL, MINN.—(P)—Mrs. Laurabelle Oatis, smiling easily for the first time in more than two years, prepared Saturday night for a flying trip to New York, where she hopes for an early reunion with her husband, William Oatis.

Oatis, Associated Press bureau chief in Prague, was freed Saturday after more than two years imprisonment in Communist Czechoslovakia and brought to free West Germany.

She nodded approvingly when she read an account of her husband's first press conference in Germany.

"He never was very talkative and his brief, restrained replies are certainly in character," she remarked.

A barrage of telephone calls and other interruptions made it difficult for her to get ready for her New York trip.

"This thing has been so fantastic from the start," she told newsmen, "I still can't believe he's coming home."

Her feeling was one of gratitude. "I'm extremely grateful to those in the State Department and The Associated Press who have been so helpful and understanding during these many trying months," she said. "I'm sure that William is as pleased and grateful as I am at this very wonderful outcome."

UN's Truce Team Huddles In Tokyo

MUNSAN.—(P)—The top United Nations truce negotiator flew to Tokyo Sunday for high-level conferences with Gen. Mark W. Clark, Allied Far East commander, at the start of a three-day recess in the charged Korean armistice talks.

The negotiations will resume Wednesday and any new Allied tack revealed then doubtless still will help to the one major UN position—that no Korean War prisoner be forced to return home against his will.

Clark personally flew from Tokyo with the latest Allied counter-proposal on prisoner exchange last Sunday.

Angrily North Korean Gen. Nam Il, head of the Communist truce team, turned down the proposal as "absurd" and declared it destroyed the basis of negotiations.

Midlanders View Military Exhibits

Midlanders turned out Saturday to view the display of military aircraft and weapons, exhibited at Midland Air Park in observance of Armed Forces Day.

Of particular interest was a T-29 two-motored Air Force training plane which was flown here from Ellington Air Force Base near Houston.

Known as the "flying classroom," the huge trainer is equipped with navigation aids as well as bomb sights. Long range navigation (lo-ran) by radar is taught on the plane while in flight.

A mobile control tower, an ambulance and a fire truck, from Webb Air Force Base in Big Spring, were also on display.

Radar equipment used by the Naval Reserve Electronics Company of Midland was viewed by visitors, as were numerous National Guard vehicles and Marine weapons.

Besides the military planes inspected on the ground, more than 40 planes buzzed the area throughout the day.

Family Of Second Czech Prisoner Asks Amnesty Be Granted

NEWARK, N. J.—(P)—An appeal by cable and telephone for the release of John Hvasa of Hillsdale, N. J., was made by his family to the president of Czechoslovakia Saturday.

The appeal was made after it was learned Associated Press correspondent William Oatis had been released from a Czech prison.

Hvasa's brother, Steve, a 23-year-old student, made the phone call from the office of the Newark Star-Ledger. The call got all the way through to the office of Antonin Zapotocky, the Czech president, but a secretary said he was not in.

He called if Hvasa would care to call again. Young Steve said he would try again at 8 a. m. Monday.

At the same time a cable was sent to Zapotocky appealing for the release of 26-year-old John, who was arrested almost five years ago and sentenced to 10 years in prison on espionage charges. He was working in the U. S. consulate in Prague at the time.

Survey Plans For 90,000 Here In 1968

The City of Midland, its rapid growth zooming toward an expected 90,000 population within the next 15 years, Saturday was handed a proposed $1,500,000 program for developing and improving its basic water distribution system.

The program, many of its features already integrated into current improvement projects, was developed by a firm of consulting engineers following an intensive survey earlier this year.

The first report on the survey was received Saturday by City Manager W. H. Oswald and Water and Sewer Engineer H. E. Nunn.

The 90,000 population figure for 1968 was cited by the engineers, The Pitometer Company of New York, as a basis for its planning.

"We have applied several of the best accepted methods of predicting future population and correlated these with our best judgment, based upon consideration of all factors, field studies and discussions with business and real-estate men in the city.

"As a result, we predict a population in 1968 of 90,000 . . . Two-Stage Program

"We believe that our population estimate is as near the truth as any prediction can be for a rapidly growing community such as Midland."

The program developed by The Pitometer Company, regarded as the nation's top engineering firm of its kind, was divided into two stages:

FIRST—An immediate program calling for the construction of 83-100 feet of water mains ranging in size from eight-inch to 18-inch and costing an estimated $427,500.

SECOND—A future program, to be constructed as demands require over the 15-year period, calling for the construction of 83,700 feet of water mains ranging in size from six-inch to 24-inch and costing an estimated $1,072,500.

"The investigations carried out during the engineering study of the present water distribution system," said the report, "disclosed that it will provide satisfactory domestic service during periods of normal consumption.

"But it cannot meet the demand during the summer peak load conditions.

"In some areas there is not sufficient water available for fire-fighting purposes due to the lack of trunk main capacity, long lengths of unsupported mains and dead ends.

"During the Summer of 1952, the

Freak Mishap Hurts Former Gaines Agent

SEMINOLE.—Cline E. Morris, 50, former Gaines County agent, was pinned to his tractor more than two hours Saturday afternoon by a steel rail which broke both his legs. At midnight Morris was undergoing emergency treatment in the Gaines County Hospital, where his condition was serious.

Morris, who was county agent five years ago, was dragging the rail to knock down beds in a two-section on his farm nine miles north of Seminole. He said he turned too sharply, picking up the rail with a tractor wheel. He saw the rail coming, he recalled, but in attempting to jump from the tractor the rail struck him.

Suffering compound fractures, he remained conscious while pinned to the body of the vehicle. The mishap occurred at 4 p. m. and at 8:15 p. m. Joe Crawford, an employee, found him. Crawford freed the victim and called aid.

Another tractor had to be used to tow the Alpha's Funeral Home ambulance across the soft field to the injured man.

Morris has been a resident of Gaines County 17 years. He was county agent 12 years.

Horrified Hundreds Watch While Flames Close In On Youths Trapped Atop Tower

STOCKTON, CALIF.—(P)—A sobbing, horrified crowd watched helplessly Saturday while three small boys, trapped on top of a blazing 75-foot tower, tried to choose between jumping into a fireman's net or burning to death.

They finally . . . well, this is how it happened:

The boys had climbed an old abandoned water tower to celebrate Billy Clayton's twelfth birthday with a few forbidden cigarettes. The dry, wooden structure caught fire and the boys were cut off from the ground.

As the flames swirled up from below, the terrified lads scrambled to the roof and huddled together.

er. Within minutes, the fire was licking at their feet.

More than 500 persons surrounded the tower, begging the boys to leap into a fireman's net rigged below. Many of the spectators wept as billowing smoke hid the trapped lads.

Firemen put up a ladder, but it was destroyed by flames before it could be set firmly enough for a rescue attempt.

Trying to brave the awesome leap, the boys looked down at the net, then drew back and held on to each other fearfully.

When the flames licked at 10-year-old Johnny Wright, he beat at them with his hands. Then, his fear of the searing heat overcame his fear of the dizzying

Widening Of West Wall Street Looms As Next City-County Traffic Problem

The state is interested because it is the original route of U. S. Highway 80, bearing an increasingly heavy burden of cross-country traffic.

The city is interested because it is one of Midland's main traffic arteries and has continued to be so even after the opening of the widened and improved North Front Street.

Long ago, the State Highway Department proposed that the street, from the Andrews Highway intersection to the interchange with the alternate U. S. Highway 80 route be widened to 80 feet. And the city wanted to construct curb and gutters on each side for obvious reasons.

The State Highway Department long since approved the project and the plans and specifications have been completed and now are in Austin, gradually gathering a layer of dust.

All the state was waiting for was the right-of-way, which must be provided by the participating local government.

The county, busy over a long period with acquiring right-of-way, first for the Front Street improvement.

FRANKIE CHASED OUT— Angry Neopolitans Prefer Ava Gardner, Not Sinatra

NAPLES —(AP)— A disappointed Neapolitan audience broke into an uproar Friday night during a performance by Frank Sinatra because his beautiful actress wife, Ava Gardner, failed to show.

Sinatra walked offstage in a huff amid whistling and booing. The show went on again only after Police Chief Fusato Salvatore personally took charge.

The protests started in the matinee, the first of Sinatra's two scheduled performances in which he was billed to appear with his wife.

Sinatra sang, but that was all. At the end the audience hooted and whistled. Police forcibly cleared the theater.

In the evening Sinatra sang one song to a half-filled house and then walked out. His Italian manager explained to the grumbling crowd that the singer had retired because of a "financial disagreement" with the theater manager.

The tumult began. It ended only after Chief Salvatore had sent his strong right arm, Antonio Rosa, chief of Naples riot police, back stage to talk things over with Sinatra and the disputing managers. Rosa was accompanied by 15 police.

Sinatra returned to the stage, exclaiming in a Neapolitan dialect: "ma vedete che passa" — loosely translated, "take it easy."

It Mattino reported Miss Gardner had left Naples for Milan the day before her scheduled appearance for which tickets cost 3,000 to 4,500 lire ($5 to $7.50).

Two Texas Sites Still Considered For ADC Operation

WASHINGTON —(AP)— An Air Force decision to pass up reactivation of Majors Field at Greenville, Texas, left two other Texas fields as possible sites for an Air Defense Command (ADC) fighter-interceptor squadron.

The Air Force said Friday the squadron will be placed at an existing base near Dallas' Hensley Field.

No official word was available but the Dallas News bureau here said there is possibility the Air Force has in mind Perrin Air Force Base at Sherman. Others believed Red Bird Airport, just south of Dallas, might be under consideration.

Mate Says Actor Never Quit Playing

NEW YORK —(AP)— Actor Lee Richard, who played the lover of actress Geraldine Page in a Greenwich Village production last season, is accused of having been her real lover at her Greenwich Village apartment.

Richard's wife, Mary, 26, Friday asked for divorce, claiming her husband carried on an affair with Miss Page, 28, while the two were starring in Tennessee Williams' play, "Summer and Smoke."

Mary Hardin-Baylor Graduates To Hear Midland Minister

BELTON — The annual baccalaureate services and commencement exercises for May graduates of Mary Hardin-Baylor College will be held Sunday and Monday.

The Rev. Vernon Yearby, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Midland, will be the speaker at the baccalaureate services at 11 a. m. Sunday, in the First Baptist church. "His Workmanship" is the subject of Rev. Yearby's sermon.

Dr. L. R. Elliott, librarian of Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary will deliver the address at the commencement exercises which begin at 10 a. m. Monday, in Alma Reeves Chapel. His subject is "Building on the Unities of Life." Degrees will be conferred and awards announced by Dr. A. C. Gettys, the acting president.

Labor Union Cites Membership Gains

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Labor Department estimated Saturday labor unions have picked up anywhere from a half-million to three million new members since 1949 to sell their enrollment to between 16 1/2 and 17 million.

The figures were given in the department's new Labor Union Directory, which placed AFL membership at a record 9,500,000 and CIO membership at 5,000,000.

Court Acquits Solon On Oil-Lease Charge

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Rep. John McMillan (D-SC) was acquitted Saturday of a charge that he violated the law by acquiring an oil lease to government-owned lands.

The opinion was filed by Judge Blake Kennedy, 79, Wyoming jurist, who heard the case without a jury here in March.

Community Theater Stages Wilde Production June 10

The Midland Community Theater's production of Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest," considered to be that author's masterpiece, was enthusiastically tabbed by critics as a trivial comedy for serious people, will be presented at the City-County Auditorium for four performances starting June 10.

Arthur Nations will be in one of the principal roles as Jack Worthing, a rich and idle country dweller who has invented a city brother named Earnest in order to have excuses for excursions to London when country life fails.

Billie Broutinhouse will appear as his fiancée, Gwendoline Fairfax, who knows him only as Earnest and declares that, since it is his name as well as himself that she is in love with, she couldn't possibly marry him if he had a different name.

In the role of the self-styled Earnest's friend will be Charles Dixon. The friend, Algernon, Moncrieff, also has a pet invention, a non-existent friend named Bunbury, whose ill-health requires his visits whenever he wants to escape boring invitations. On one of his Bunburying expeditions, as he calls them, he impersonates the non-existent Earnest to meet Cecily Cardew (played by Connie Fanning), a pretty girl who also had longed to know a man named Earnest.

From this trivial situation many of the most thoughtful and witty plays in the English language. Each of its disdainful characters is perfectly scornful of anything really earnest or serious—not the least of them is the play whatever.

Senate Plans Own Foreign Aid Check

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Senator Bridges (R-NH) signalled a sharp new attack on foreign aid spending Saturday with a decision to dispatch a two-man subcommittee to the Far East for a country-by-country survey of military aid needs.

Bridges, who heads the Senate Appropriations Committee, said in a statement that two members, Senators Dirksen (R-Ill) and Magnusen (D-Wash.), will leave May 27 "to look into the situation in Japan, Korea, Formosa, Indochina and the Philippine Islands."

Another subcommittee will be sent to Europe later.

The committee chairman said in an interview the subcommittees will be instructed to "bring back first-hand information by which the members can judge for themselves what the conditions are in these countries, so we can know what kind and how much assistance they need."

He added that the committee wants to get in the position "where we don't have to take the word of somebody else about these things" — apparently an indirect thrust at Harold E. Stassen, the mutual security director.

Backing this up, Senator Mundt (R-SD) said he thinks a major portion of the congressional economy drive — aimed at attempts to balance the budget despite discouraging reports on this score from Cabinet members — will be directed at foreign aid funds.

"They are more susceptible to reductions than the military requests," Mundt observed.

He added that the recent Senate storm over statements of Clement Attlee and other British officials critical of the U. S. is likely to be reflected by cuts in MSA funds.

Stassen already has told Congress that direct defense financing assistance to Britain would be cut in half in the fiscal year beginning July 1, with a further re-

Death List Reaches Seven After Triple Collision In Skies

WIESBADEN, GERMANY—(AP)—The U. S. Air Force announced Saturday seven American airmen were killed Friday night in the first triple air collision in Germany.

The accident occurred over flat farm country, 40 miles southwest of Frankfurt, when an Air Force F84 Thunderjet ripped into a flight formation of 18 C-119 Flying Boxcars.

Two of the big transport planes and the jet fighter crashed and burned. Their wreckage was strewn over an area of several square miles. One of the Boxcars exploded in the air.

The pilot of the F-84 and three crewmembers of the cargo planes bailed out but all suffered injuries. Two other transports were damaged but managed to reach their home base at Frankfurt's Rhine Main Airport.

Survivors Say Money Taken From Dead

HOUSTON—(AP)—Relatives here say they believe about $1,000 disappeared from the body of Zach Pritchett, 67, a nightwatchman killed Thursday night by a passenger train.

Police found $1,194 on Pritchett's body, but a daughter said he had more than $2,000 when he left home.

U. S. Doubts Oatis' Release Marks Lessening Of Cold War

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The State Department indicated that trade and travel restrictions imposed on Communist Czechoslovakia as a result of the imprisonment of AP Correspondent William Oatis will be lifted, now that Oatis has been freed.

Official Washington hailed the American reporter's release as welcome news, but there was disagreement in congressional quarters as to whether it marked any significant turn in the cold war.

President Eisenhower, cruising off Virginia aboard the yacht Williamsburg, was quoted by his press secretary, James C. Hagerty, as being "highly pleased" about the news of Oatis' release.

A State Department statement said: "The department of course, is greatly pleased by the release of Mr. Oatis from the incarceration which this government felt from the outset was a gross injustice."

"We have imposed certain sanctions as a result of Oatis' imprisonment. With his release we are now in position to give consideration to the removal of those restrictions."

No Government Deal
The restrictions were these:
1. A barrier to Czech exports to the United States, which had been running as high as 20 million dollars a year.

2. A ban on all exports from the United States to Czechoslovakia.
3. A policy against travel to Czechoslovakia by any American not on essential official business.

4. A ban against flight of Czech commercial planes over the U. S. zone of Germany. With British and French cooperation, this cut off Czech flights over all of West Germany.

White said, however, that "there wasn't any deal" on the part of this government for Oatis' release. He noted that Czech President Zaptotocky's action in pardoning the American reporter was attributed to a letter written by Mrs. Oatis.

At Bonn, German officials said Czechoslovakia now can expect the return of an airliner commanded by a group of anti-Communist Czechs and flown to West Germany March 23. Six of the 29 persons aboard the plane chose to remain in the West, while the others were sent back. The plane itself was held for negotiations on what American diplomats called "unsettled questions."

Wiley Disagrees
While Congress members welcomed the Oatis release, few saw in it any real indication of a change in Communist tactics. Senators generally appeared inclined to go along with the State Department in considering the removal of the economic sanctions.

Senator Wiley (R-Wis.), chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, declaring Oatis' release "by no means should be considered a so-called 'break' in the cold war," opposed the lifting of trade restrictions. He said:

"The Communists, no doubt, hope that we will foolishly use Mr. Oatis' release to relax trade restrictions on the Czechoslovak Communist government. I do not believe we should do any such thing. I do not believe that we should reward in effect a government for having corrected its outrageous crime and without it even having the decency to acknowledge that it was strictly a trumped-up crime."

Fair Tenant Faces Charge Of Looting Rented Cottage

An attractive, 21-year-old blonde woman Saturday faced charges of burglarizing the house in which she lived.

The story came to light following her arrest Friday night by city and county officers as she sat with two soldier friends in a beer tavern on East U. S. Highway 80.

"Several weeks ago," explained Detective Sgt. Wayne Taylor, "she rented this house at 404 South Fort Worth Street from an Odessa woman."

"She was to have the use of three rooms while the fourth, containing personal effects of the owner, was kept locked."

"Last Saturday, the owner came to check on the house and found the girl gone, along with a set of silver, some linens and clothing, all of which were in the locked room."

Charges were filed immediately against the woman, identified as Joe Ann Wilcox.

A car, in which she had been seen, riding, was spotted Friday night by Deputy Sheriff Otis Rodgers. Sgt. Taylor and Patrolman James Simmons joined him in making the arrest.

The silverware was traced to a pawnshop.

Fresh Snow Delays Assault On Everest

NEW DELHI—(AP)—A British expedition attempting to scale un-conquered Mt. Everest is being hampered by fresh snowfalls and winds of 45 miles an hour, say advisers received here.

The team, headed by Col. John Hunt, has established a base camp on a 27,000-foot saddle of the 29,000-foot peak, the world's highest. It sent back word Tuesday the climbers would make their final assault within 10 days.

Adenauer Agrees With Churchillian Design For Peace

LONDON—(AP)—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said Saturday he is in full agreement with Prime Minister Churchill's proposal for a Locarno-type settlement between Russia and the West.

Speaking at a news conference shortly before leaving London for Germany, Adenauer said he had discussed the proposal with Churchill "both in detail and broad outline" during his two-day visit to Britain.

"I discovered the British Prime Minister had the same idea as I," he declared. "The main thing is to capture the spirit manifested in the old Locarno treaty."

In this pact, signed in 1925, Germany and France agreed not to wage war on each other. Britain guaranteed France against frontier encroachments by Germany and Germany against similar moves by France.

Adenauer told newsmen: "I am ready to give this pledge. The Federal Republic of Germany is not going to wage war and attack Russia."

Adenauer added: "The parties concerned should come to an understanding and other powers could then back this understanding with guarantees."

Condemnation Suits For Falcon Project Undergo Trimming

HOUSTON—(AP)—Republican National Committeeman Jack Porter says 34,000 acres of land have been eliminated from State Department condemnation suits for the Rio Grande International Falcon Reservoir.

"Original owners of lands lying in the actual reservoir area will be permitted to lease these 34,000 acres for farming at a nominal rental," he said Friday.

Porter said Starr and Zapata County residents called to his attention government plans, made under the Truman Administration, to acquire several thousand acres adjoining the reservoir. Porter said he called the situation to the attention of President Eisenhower, who directed that the matter "be given close study."

Pilgrimage To Fete Texas Ghost Seaport

VICTORIA—(AP)—Memories of Indianola, a ghost town once a thriving Texas seaport, will be revived Sunday in a pilgrimage to the old townsite.

The program at 10:30 a.m. will be followed by a barbecue and tours to historic spots and cemeteries. Signs mark the route to Indianola, 15 miles south of Port Lavaca. Fire and storms destroyed the town late last century.

Perjury Action May Follow Senate Dock Probe, Tobey Warns

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Tobey (R-NH) raised anew Saturday the possibility of perjury action being taken as a result of a Senate probe of racketeering on the New York-New Jersey docks.

"Numerous conflicts," Tobey said in a statement, have been found in testimony given by Mayor John V. Kenny of Jersey City and Anthony (Tony Cheese) Marchitto, former business agent of an International Longshoremen's Association local in Jersey City.

This conflict "presents the possibility of perjury," Tobey said, adding that he was referring the record to the U. S. attorney here for his consideration.

This was the third time in as many days Tobey has ordered conflicting testimony before his subcommittee sent to the district attorney here because of the possibility of perjury.

Senate Panel Takes Up Problem Of Oil In Continental Shelf

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Interior Committee Saturday tackled the problem of handling oil and gas development in the continental shelf beyond the states seaward boundaries.

The issue was whether maritime law administered by the Coast Guard or the laws of adjoining states should prevail in the offshore area.

The House-passed bill dealing with the continental shelf would authorize the secretary of the Interior to cooperate with the states in drafting rules for the area. The measure was set on the Senate calendar without being referred to a committee.

Chairman Cordon (R-Ore) indicated the House measure would not be permitted to reach a final vote in the Senate before his committee has explored all problems relating to the continental shelf.

The opening witness was the committee's counsel, Peter le Roux, who explained a bill introduced last week by Cordon.

Like the House bill, it would authorize the secretary to develop oil and gas resources in the continental shelf. It specifically provides that admiralty laws shall be applicable in the area, with drilling platforms, derricks and other structures being considered as vessels from a legal standpoint.

The Cordon measure would not authorize the development of other natural resources, such as sulphur, as does the House-passed measure. He proposed that these resources be handled in still more legislation.

Sam Rayburn Home For Visit, Denies It's Political Trip

BONHAM (AP)—Rep. Sam Rayburn came home this weekend. He plans to return to Washington Monday.

Rayburn denied he came to Texas for a meeting of state Democratic leaders in Austin Sunday. He said it was called without his knowledge.

Rayburn said he felt Stephen Mitchell, national Democratic chairman, would be in Texas in the early summer to meet Texas Democrats.

Rayburn said the bill to create Eisenhower State Park was moving along nicely. "I think it will get along all right," he said.

He said a bill to get water from Lake Texoma by Denison is "making progress." Denison is now getting water from Texoma on strictly an emergency basis. The bill would make it permanent.

Asked about the "continuing fund" to provide emergency construction for the Southwestern Power Administration, Rayburn said: "It was knocked down in the House and I don't know whether anything can be done in the Senate."

Austin College Plans To Honor Missionary

SHERMAN (AP)—The South-west's oldest Presbyterian college will bridge continents and religious denominations May 25 to honor a British churchman.

Austin College, established in 1849 by early-day Texas patriots including Sam Houston, will award an honorary degree to Arthur Southon of Bristol, England.

Austin College is a Presbyterian liberal arts college. Southon is a Methodist. But trustees of the Texas school believe Southon's literary gifts and services as a missionary transcend denominational lines.

Southon's religious writings while a missionary in Nigeria are credited as doing much to educate, enlighten and encourage conversion among the natives there. He also is recognized for his interpretations of the Old Testament.

He was accompanied by Joe Fletcher, assistant public safety director.

tated area bounded by Austin, Franklin, Fourth and Fifth streets and the City Hall Square a block away.

Chamber of Commerce members, architects and bankers skayed an ambitious reconstruction plan. They formed the Waco Voluntary Rebuilding Committee.

Their idea is to get the approval of merchants whose buildings were destroyed to turn the hardest-hit area into an appealing center.

Architects offered to donate their services to draw the plans. The plan will need the cooperation of owners, who must rebuild if it is to work.

President Eisenhower earmarked $250,000 in disaster relief for Waco at the request of Governor Shivers.

350 Geophysicists Attend Meet Here

Almost 350 persons attended various technical sessions and listened to outstanding speakers in the geophysical field Saturday at the second annual meeting of the Permian Basin Geophysical Society in Hotel Scharbauer.

The welcoming address was delivered by George A. Grimm, of the Tide Water Associated Oil Corporation, Midland, and president of the Permian Basin Geophysical Society.

The stratigraphy of West Texas basins was the topic of John Emery Adams, of the Standard Oil Company of Texas and president of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists.

Lorenz Shock, of the Midland Geophysical Company, and past president of the society, talked on initial energy distribution patterns from various arrays of surface charges.

Joseph S. Pluta, of the Standard Oil Company of Texas, Midland, and secretary of the society, had the significance of velocity studies in West Texas as his topic.

Before noon adjournment a film on safety entitled "Make No Mistake" was shown by the Geophysical Service, Inc., Dallas.

The afternoon sessions started off with a discussion by Roy L. Lay, president of the Society of Exploration Geophysicists, The Texas Company, Houston, on the growth of SEG from its organization in 1930 to the present.

John Daly, consultant in geophysics and geology in Midland, discussed the solutions to some problems in seismicograph exploration for deep structures.

Public relations was the subject to take charge of federal relief activities.

Authorities met in Waco Saturday with federal officials to talk rehabilitation.

Funds being raised by newspapers, radio and civic bodies for stricken citizens of Waco and San Angelo were approaching $100,000.

Newsman Describes Unbelievable Havoc Wrought By Texas' Fiercest Tornadoes

Editor's Note: Robert H. Johnson, Jr., of The Associated Press saw the havoc wrought by Monday's tornadoes at both Waco and San Angelo. He flew to San Angelo shortly after the storm struck there and the next day went to Waco to report the rescue work. This is an account of what he saw in the two communities.

By ROBERT H. JOHNSON, JR. WACO (AP)—Most of the rubble is gone and the bodies have been found. Funerals still carry the dead to their graves.

Six days ago... It was impossible—the heart of a city crushed to trash by a swirl of wind that lasted only seconds. And under the trash more than a hundred dead.

But there it lay; you had to believe it. I hurried from frightening tornado destruction in San Angelo and found this in Waco. Before I left I helped count 113 dead.

Five-Story Ruin... Wilbur Martin, an AP reporter who reached Waco before me, took me through the beaten downtown section. He pointed through the cold rain: "That was the R. T. Dennis Furniture Company—five stories."

It looked as if it had been broken to bits by a maul and then swept into a heap by a giant broom.

San Angelo also had been hit hard. Eight were killed when the twister struck two hours before the blow fell on Waco. Two more died later. Two square miles of houses were flattened. A drive-in theater was smashed. A wall and part of the roof of a school were ripped away.

But San Angelo was lucky. It lies on the plains, 200 miles west of Waco. There scarcely is a hill in sight to deflect a storm. The twister might have hit any part of the city of 22,000.

Most Unlikely Spot... Waco on the other hand, is the last place in Texas a tornado should have hit. The Indians said it would never happen. That was generations ago, when settlers were choosing a site for a village. Now it is a city of more than 90,000. The country is rolling, and wooded hills surround the city.

It was 4:40 p.m. Monday, and the sky hung black and heavy with rain. Hall beat down.

A young man, working in his father-in-law's paint store, telephoned his wife. He told her the rain and hail might delay him. Yes, she said, it was pretty stormy at home, too.

Then she heard him scream: "Honey, the building's falling in." They reached his body 80 hours later. The next day they found his father-in-law and mother-in-law.

His wife was in the hospital, in shock.

Bare-Hand Rescuers... Into the scene of terror hundreds of rescuers swarmed. They carried picks and shovels, a few of them. Most had their bare hands.

Nobody was in charge. They worked together anyway.

The power was knocked out and black night was at hand. From somewhere came auxiliary searchlights. From somewhere else came trucks and bulldozers.

That's how the first relief came—from somewhere, without being summoned.

Then the Air Force sent men, and the Army. The National Guard was mustered.

The searchlights glared, and the men strained to lift debris.

Under a smashed pool hall, a boy looked through a crack to freedom and whispered: "I'm okay. I think my leg is broken." They fought to him and pulled him out alive. He had a dislocated hip.

Saved By Couch... Under an overturned couch, a woman lay and hoped it would support the wreckage poised above her. It did for 14 hours. She prayed the rescuers would find her. They did. For others there was no chance.

Funeral processions still wind through Waco carrying the dead.

Soon after searchers began packing the area, leaders realized a guard was needed. Officers told their troops to tip their rifles with bayonets and demand identification.

At first, a man with no papers but wearing work clothes could get through.

They worked all night and all through the next two days. Natural leaders took command, snapping orders and directing trucks and equipment.

Central Headquarters... It was next afternoon when Mayor Ralph Wolf set up a central headquarters and said he would be in over-all command.

That night the state police took over patrolling the 40-block area.

The young troops with the police behind them got tougher.

It was Wednesday night they found the 100th body, that of John Coates, who had screamed to his wife that the building was falling in.

San Angelo's search for bodies was over by midnight Monday. Weary men plodded the muddy plain where more than 300 houses were destroyed on the edge of town. Here bare hands were enough, often, to pull out the dead. The houses were splinters.

The tenth victim at San Angelo died in a hospital.

That city knows it is lucky. What if the twister had scored a bullseye downtown? It was more likely at San Angelo than at Waco.

Suppose it had hit the school full force? Almost a thousand children were there, sprawled terrified in the halls. How many children's would the death list have carried, instead of none?

Both San Angelo and Waco produced statistics. At San Angelo: Damage estimated at $3,500,000. At Waco: Damage estimated at $50,000,000, highest in history.

Mostly they produced grief. You can't list broken hearts statistically.

Is El Paso In Distress?

EL PASO (AP)—No one thinks El Paso will really see one from Texas but they fly the state flag "North Carolina style."

For four years the two flags that adorn the El Paso city council chamber have been suspended with the red stripe up, contrary to Texas regulations which call for the white stripe to be on top.

This is called "North Carolina style" because the flags are very similar, but in North Carolina the red stripe is always up.

In Carolina that's fine. In Texas it amounts to heresy.

Time Runs Out Fast For Bulk Of Laws Once Classed 'Musts'

AUSTIN—(P)—Time is running out on the bulk of laws Governor Shivers and the lawmakers declared of prime importance when the Legislature began four months ago.

Final adjournment has been ordered for noon May 27. For all practical purposes, that means any bill not yet passed must be rushed through in six potential working days—Monday through Saturday.

The rules say any bill which has not been passed on second reading by noon Sunday, May 24, can not be considered by the Senate. The same holds true for the House except on appropriations bills.

Three Issues Settled
Of the 10 issues listed as most important by senators and representatives before the session began January 13, only three could be considered finally settled.

These were whether to pass new or higher state taxes; whether to repeal the drivers responsibility law; and improvement of the Gilmer-Aikin school law.

The House, where tax bills must originate, has indicated majority opposition to increasing taxes. A House committee killed a bill to repeal the drivers financial responsibility law which requires proof of ability to pay up to $15,000 damages in an accident. The law was left unchanged.

New School Index
The main effort to improve the Gilmer-Aikin school laws was the passage of a new economic index law, which determines how much each county has to raise toward the $5 million dollars in local support of the state's public school program.

The bill is supposed to give a more equitable distribution of local education costs. It is supposed to be more sensitive to economic changes than the old law.

The terrific log-jam of bills contending for attention precludes passage of very many.

A pay raise for teachers remains the major problem. The shortness of time and the sharp conflict in view makes the chance of compromise dubious.

The House quit in the midst of debate on the subject Friday, and some members said that killed all hope of final legislative approval.

Of 13 recommendations on problems discussed by Shivers in his opening message, only four have been put into effect.

His suggestion that the general appropriation bill for state services include cost-of-living salary increases but no costly expansion of departments or services was followed, although Shivers said the general increase of $180 a year for state employees was not as much as he had hoped for.

The governor's appeal for an emergency tuberculosis hospital building program was answered promptly, with provisions of $2,225,000 for hospitals at Harlingen and San Antonio.

To his call for coordination of the higher education program, the Legislature ordered a long-range study.

As suggested by Shivers, the Legislature has submitted to a vote a proposed amendment to allow use of the surplus in the Confederate Pension Fund to build state office buildings.

Negative Side
On the negative side, no final action has been taken on these issues which were rated highly by the governor and lawmakers:

1. Additional highway financing.
2. Water conservation. Six of eight measures recommended by the governor's state-wide committee have been passed by the House and may be approved yet by the Senate.

A major proposal, an amendment to allow the state to charge water-use fees to support financing of dams and reservoirs, is bogged down in the Senate.

3. Higher teacher pay. Chances of approval have grown steadily dimmer since the comptroller reported no money in sight to pay a $600 increase.

4. Election code revision. A bill incorporating many changes suggested by a State Bar Committee has passed the House, might possibly reach the Senate this week.

It calls for repeal of the cross-filing provision which allows two or more parties to nominate the same person for office.

Other legislation lawmakers said deserved urgent consideration but on which nothing final has been done: Modification of the auto insurance law.

Eisenhower Asked To Order Recovery Of Tragedy Victims

CORAL GABLES, Fla.—(P)—A heart-broken mother Saturday appealed to President Eisenhower to help find the body of her son, one of 46 persons killed when an airliner plumed into the Gulf of Mexico February 14.

Mrs. Richard H. Shaddick, Sr., said searchers had located an object believed to be the plane's bulk, but the Navy refused to provide a diver to investigate.

"As a father and a great humanitarian, could you please help us in this effort," Mrs. Shaddick said in a telegram to the President.

"We want to recover the bodies of our loved ones. The sanity of the mothers and wives of victims depends on our recovering the bodies."

The National Airlines DC-6 disappeared during a severe storm over the Gulf while en route from Miami to New Orleans after a stop at Tampa, Fla. Only 17 bodies were recovered despite an intensive search of the area.

Mrs. Shaddick's son, Lt. Richard H. Shaddick, Jr., 22, was aboard the plane on his way back to his Air Force post after an emergency visit home because his brother, Lt. John Philip Shaddick, 25, had been shot down in Korea January 29, and was listed as missing.

81 Per Cent Of Detective Cases Completed In City

The Midland Police Department's detective division completed 81 per cent of all the cases turned over to it during April. Police Chief Harold Wallace reported Saturday.

The high record of completions was cited in the monthly report of activities released Saturday by the police chief.

Headed by Lt. Billy Patterson, the detective division investigated 75 cases during the month, and closed 61 of them, leaving only 14 still open.

Working with Lieutenant Patterson in the investigation was Sgt. Wayne Taylor.

The division solved eight of 15 burglary cases reported during the month, 21 out of 28 theft cases and every one of all other cases turned over to it.

The patrol division, with Lts. Roy Merket and Pete Green and Captain Jack Tranum in charge of the three shifts, covered a total of 23,791 miles during the month, completely covering the city an average of 51 times each day.

Lt. Dewey Hockett's identification and records division took 448 sets of fingerprints, filed 3,000 indexed records cards, checked on 700 records and took 340 photographs in criminal investigation and for other purposes.

During the month, police headquarters received a total of 687 complaints.

Lt. James Morris traffic division handed out 386 tickets for moving traffic violations and investigated 73 automobile accidents.

Fines totaling $6,229.40 were paid in Judge Edwin T. Stitt's Corporation Court.

During the month, police headquarters received a total of 687 complaints.

Probers Report Fuel, Ammo Shortage Hurts NATO Units

WASHINGTON—(P)—House investigators reported Saturday Allied forces in Europe lack enough fuel and ammunition to fight, and they quoted one high officer as saying nothing is being done to improve the situation.

Defenses of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization will be "inadequate" until European nations "believe in, and are willing to organize and finance adequate logistic support (supplies)," said the report by a special House foreign affairs subcommittee.

European nations failed to provide enough money for logistics primarily because none of them had "any feeling that a Soviet attack was imminent," the report said.

Only the "presence, leadership and assistance of the United States," it added, prevents NATO "from becoming hopelessly bogged down."

18-County Social Security Payments Reach $94,021

Social security payments totaling $14,939 went to 449 in Midland and Martin Counties in December, 1952. Jack Calvert, manager of the Odessa social security office, has announced.

In the entire 18-county area serviced by the Odessa office, Calvert said, there were 2,792 persons who received benefits totaling $94,021 during December, 1952.

The men and women 65 or over who had worked long enough to qualify for old-age insurance benefits made up the largest group of beneficiaries and received larger amounts than dependents and survivors, numbering 140, they received $5,636 for the month. Most of them were from 65 to 74 and received payments after meeting the test of retirement given in the law. Those 75 or over could receive payments even though they still were working.

Changed Cause Increases
In the smaller groups, 27 aged widows and dependent widows received $1,039, 30 wives and dependent husbands received $643 and two aged dependent parents received $95.

Not all of the persons entitled to payments were 65 or older. Monthly checks went to 248 mothers and children—some of them dependents of retired men, but most of them survivors of those who had died. The payments to 44 mothers amounted to $1,298 in December, and 204 children received $6,230.

Changes made by the 1950 and 1952 amendments to the Social Security Act accounted for a considerable part of the increase, both in the number receiving benefits and in the amounts of the payments. In 1950 the law was changed to include millions of persons not covered previously, and to make it easier for them to qualify for payments. Among those newly covered were self-employed persons and regularly employed household and farm workers.

The 1952 changes, effective in September, raised the amounts of practically all benefits, gave social security credits for military service after the end of World War II, and provided that a person can be considered "retired" even though he is earning as much as $75 a month.

Dulles Warns Allied Errors Can Help Reds Split World

WASHINGTON—(P)—Secretary of State Dulles said Saturday Russia works constantly to split the free world and Allied mistakes could make the Communist campaign successful.

"In a statement, Dulles said the ability of free nations to resist Red power and their cooperation with the United States depend upon their economic welfare as determined by U. S. tariff policy and other factors.

Dulles, now in the Middle East, expressed hope that public discussion during the week beginning Sunday, which has been designated "Word Trade Week" by President Eisenhower, would bring understanding of the issues involved in foreign trade.

"The Soviet leaders, past and present, are aware of the close relationship between our trade consistency proceeded on the theory that economics is the free world's Achilles' heel.

"Stalin and his successors have predicted an inevitable trade conflict between the nations of the free world which will bring in its wake the certain disintegration of free world unity and the ultimate world triumph of communism. More than that, the Soviet Union is working constantly to encourage such a split in the free world.

"The free world must prove these predictions wrong. But we cannot do so if we are blind to the fact that the Communist thesis includes some valid elements. We could by our own mistakes make the Soviet predictions come true."

Dulles did not say specifically what mistakes might produce such results. He did not advocate a course of action other than public discussion, although he recalled that President Eisenhower has proposed that a special commission work up recommendations for a foreign economic policy.

In another statement on World Trade Week, Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks said there are "many opportunities for increasing American prosperity and strengthening the free world through global trade."

Formosa Chieftains Worry About Path Of World Events

TAIPEH—(P)—There are many signs here that Chiang Kai-Shek's Chinese Nationalists are concerned over the possible effect on Formosa of international developments, particularly in Korea.

After T. F. Tsiang, chief Nationalist delegate to the United Nations, conferred twice Friday with Chiang, one newspaper said:

"It is learned that the main topic of discussion centered on the various urgent problems free China would face should an armistice be reached in Korea through appeasement by the United Nations.

This typified the general sentiment here that only through appeasement is an armistice in Korea possible.

The Nationalists are acutely aware of two things:

1. Their position in the world hinges to a large degree on Washington's backing.

2. Great Britain and a number of other countries would have little or no compunction about sacrificing Formosa as part of an Asiatic settlement with the Communists.

There has been no sign of any weakening in U. S. policy to give economic and military aid to the Nationalists. Military aid volume has increased since the beginning of the year.

Swallowing Molten Metal Causes Death Of Steelworker, 54

PITTSBURGH—(P)—The coroner's office Saturday reported the death of a 54-year-old steelworker who accidentally swallowed some molten metal which spilled from a furnace.

Adam Treusch, a burner at the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation, died Friday after apparently making a recovery from the unusual mishap 10 weeks ago.

Treusch was splashed by molten metal which burned his neck. He said that he swallowed some of the metal when he opened his mouth to gasp for breath.

Texas AP Managing Editors Hold Study Meeting In City

Editors and staff members of Associated Press member newspapers over Texas were gathered here Saturday night to attend the Spring meeting of the Continuing Study Committee of the Texas Associated Press Managing Editors Association.

The session, which will open at 9 a.m. Sunday in Parlor A, B and C of Hotel Scharbauer, is expected to attract approximately 50 representatives of newspapers from El Paso to Texarkana and from Amarillo to Houston.

Roderick J. Watts, managing editor of the Houston Chronicle, committee chairman, was among the early arrivals. He will preside at the business sessions.

Another Saturday afternoon arrival was Col. N. Dwight Allison, managing editor of the San Antonio Light, who is president of the association. He will preside at the Sunday luncheon given by The Midland Reporter-Telegram in the Hotel Scharbauer Ballroom. Chamber of Commerce Manager Delbert Downing will welcome the visitors to Midland.

Officers Listed
Other officers of the association include Harry Blanding, Temple Telegram, first vice president; Ray Parr, Amarillo Globe-Times, second vice president; R. J. Watts, Houston, secretary, and Bill Collins, Midland, treasurer.

Frank H. King of Dallas, general executive of the Associated Press in the Southwest, also was an early arrival for the one-day meeting. He was accompanied by several AP staff members.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Cross and six-year-old daughter of Amarillo were the first to come. They arrived in Midland late Friday night.

Chairmen and members of the various subcommittees of the Continuing Study Committee will submit reports and participate in the general discussion periods concerning AP news coverage, services, accomplishments and problems.

The subcommittees and their chairmen are: Membership Participation—David Rasco, Amarillo; Teletypewriter Operations—Troy Griffin, Beaumont; Big City Circuit—John Ellis, Fort Worth; Single Wire—Ed Washcamp, Abilene; Sports—Bill Bellamy, San Antonio; Freedom of Information—J. Cullen Browning, Orange; Resolutions—Al Parker, Wichita Falls; Newsphotos—Bill Bedell, Houston; Austin Report—Ima Jo Fleetwood, Del Rio; Features—Johnnie Riddle, Paris; Annual Contests—Bill Collins, Midland; Nominations—Charles A. Guy, Lubbock; Washington Report—Mason Walsh, Dallas.

First Time In Midland
The weekend meeting marks the first time the AP editors have met in Midland.

Several of the early arrivals were taken on tours of the city Saturday afternoon. Tours also will be arranged for the visitors Sunday afternoon. The meeting is scheduled for adjournment sometime Sunday afternoon.

Among those making advance reservations for the meeting here were: Mr. and Mrs. James R. Record, Star-Telegram, Fort Worth; Madison Wash, Times-Herald, Dallas; Charles Guy and Charles C. Watson, Jr., Avalanche-Journal, Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Latham, El Paso; Troy Griffin, Journal, Beaumont; Houston H. Hart, Daily News, Snyder; Frank H. King, Robert H. Captured AP Photographer Volunteers To Stay Behind HONOLULU—(AP)—A repatriated American war prisoner said Saturday that he was willing to stay behind in North Korean prison camps and the best-loved man in Korea. Air Force Capt. Zach Dean of Douglas, Kan., who is spending a war-interrupted honeymoon in Hawaii enroute home, said he saw Noel April 25, the night before Dean was released.

The 54-year-old AP photographer gave Dean a message for his wife and for The Associated Press. "They told me I'd be in the six-

Oatis Is Set Free As AP Editors Meet In Midland

"When the Russians learned Texas Associated Press managing editors were meeting in Midland, they got scared and decided to free Bill Oatis!"

This was the humorous greeting from the president of The Associated Press state organization, Col. N. Dwight Allison, managing editor of the San Antonio Light, in Midland Saturday night, as he welcomed the grand old editor, James R. Record, managing editor of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, who with Mrs. Record is in Midland for the first visit in 20 years.

Jim Record, known and loved by Texas editors many years, was president of The Associated Press managing editors organization in the state more than 20 years. No editor is likely to equal his record, as the presidency now is on a yearly basis.

Besides Colonel Allison, the incumbent, several past presidents are in Midland for the AP meeting, including J. Q. Mahaffey, editor of the Texarkana Gazette and News, and Charles A. Guy, editor and publisher of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal. A serious interpretation of the significance of the release of Oatis from the grim Czechoslovak prison was made by Frank H. King, Associated Press executive in the Southwest, who also is in Midland.

"The pardon for Oatis may be indicative of the general loosening of the iron shackles around Communist Russia," said King. "But the release of Oatis settles only the Oatis case."

"To jump to any conclusions that there is any real change of heart and policy is hardly justified, even by the record of the Oatis case itself."

"The State Department has called the Oatis trial at Prague a travesty of justice. He was arrested, tried and convicted of espionage. He was subjected to trial methods only possible in a Russian puppet state."

"Oatis actually had become a problem prisoner for the Russians. Public opinion in the free world had swollen to such resentment that the Russians no doubt have welcomed the excuse to pardon him. They found this excuse in Stalin's death and have pardoned Oatis as one of a number of softening gestures to the Western world."

"Whatever the reason and the circumstances, there is rejoicing everywhere that Oatis is free."

"Whether Oatis' release will help satisfy the United States government's demand for 'action' not words" in the development of better relations with Moscow remains to be seen, and will be the subject of much news from Washington in the weeks to come.

"Realistic observers, who want to be as tough with Communist Russia as Russia has been with the West, are likely to consider Oatis' release merely a gesture, not in itself a major change of policy."

World-Known Case
King said the nature of Oatis' release is especially significant because of the way it was brought about. For months, in fact, every day since Oatis was imprisoned, there have been at work many people, organizations and the United States government itself, in efforts to bring about his liberation. His case became world-known.

In this country and throughout the free world there were expressions of resentment, resolutions, demands that Oatis be freed.

His pardon came, specifically, as the result of a poignant letter from his wife to the President of the puppet state of Czechoslovakia. In its dramatic simplicity, its human appeal from a wife for the return of a husband, the letter is likely to become a classic.

The letter avoided any word or hint of reference to the world struggle between Communism and the free world of the West. But it centered, in this case, world attention on a lone woman pleading with the iron power of a regimented Communist state.

Teenage Girl Quits Suicide Plan As Big Crowd Watches

EAST LIVERPOOL, OHIO—(AP)—Perched on a rain-slick bridge girder 80 feet over the Ohio River, a 14-year-old girl withstood police rescuers for two hours Saturday by threatening to jump.

Her school principal and a minister finally persuaded her to let police grab her jacket and pull her up over the bridge railing.

More than 1,000 spectators watched the drama from the Ohio bank of the river and from the pedestrian walk of the bridge. Several hundred more gathered on the Chester, W. Va. river bank. Traffic was snarled badly for blocks.

The light-haired girl, Phyllis Davis of East Liverpool, gave no reason for climbing onto the girder under the bridge flooring at a point about one-third of the way out on the bridge from the Ohio entrance.

At least 10 police officers were on hand, and two firemen maneuvered a rescue boat in the muddy river waters beneath in case the girl did jump.

Attempts of police to talk to her through the bridge floorboards met with angry rebuffs and threats to leap. Patrolman Ira Cunningham said he reached for the girl several times, but each time she edged away and said she'd jump.

Finally the blue-jeaned youngster, still defiant and emotionally upset, agreed to talk with Miss Helen McGregor, principal of the Sixth Street grade school, and the Rev. Frederick T. Gillette of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church.

They persuaded her to allow Patrolman William Dunn to grasp her jacket. He lifted her to where other policemen could help hoist her to safety.

She was turned over to the custody of Rigby Mast, Columbian County welfare officer.

Three GOP Leaders In Dixie Arrested For Peddling Jobs

WAYCROSS, GA.—(AP)—Two negro Republican Party officials were arrested and arraigned here on charges of government job peddling.

They were put under $1,000 bond each along with a white man accused of offering money for job consideration.

The three were among some six indicted at Savannah Friday by a U. S. District Court grand jury investigating charges of job and influence selling. The names of those charged were withheld in Savannah until the arrest were made.

One arraigned here was Tom Williams, identified by GOP sources in Atlanta as Eighth District Republican chairman. Williams, a wealthy negro mortician, was charged with soliciting and receiving money for jobs.

Isaac J. White of Blackhear, identified as negro Republican chairman in adjoining Pierce County, was accused of soliciting political contributions for government jobs.

Godfrey Resis Well After Hip Surgery. Hospital Discloses

BOSTON—(AP)—The condition of radio-television star Arthur Godfrey—recovering from surgery to correct hip injuries suffered in an automobile crash 22 years ago—was described Saturday night by hospital officials as "satisfactory in every way."

The 49-year-old red-haired Godfrey suffered 27 fractures in 1931 when his car collided with a truck in Washington, D. C. The first of a series of operations was performed Friday at Massachusetts General Hospital by Dr. Martin N. Smith-Petersen, international famous orthopedic surgeon.

Following the three-hour operation on his right hip, the star's right leg was placed "in balanced suspension traction with a five pound weight" according to today's 4 p.m. (EST) bulletin.

The bulletin, issued by Dr. Dean A. Clark, general director of the hospital, added:

"Mr. Godfrey is not in a plaster cast. He is able to move around moderately from side to side within limits."

Automotive Piggy Bank

EL MONTE, CALIF.—(AP)—Here's a man who has figured out a sure way to save the down payment for that new car.

Four years ago David Marx, Los Angeles, tossed a half dollar into the gas tank of his 1937 model automobile. Since then, every time he bought gasoline and at other times, he dropped a half dollar into the tank.

Saturday he drove to an automobile dealer's. They removed the tank from his old buggy and shook out $750 in half dollars. He forked over the money and his old car as down payment on a new auto.

Crazed Gunman Kills El Paso Policeman

EL PASO—(AP)—An El Paso policeman was killed Saturday by a gunman who appeared crazed and finally was captured after a gun battle.

The dead policeman was Warren M. Mitchell. A man identified by Police Chief Roy Vinson as Henry Friar, 55, El Paso, was held for investigation in the shooting.

Vinson said a man fired a shot through the window of an ice cream parlor on the outskirts of El Paso. No one was hit and the man drove away slowly in a small truck. Police trailed him to a small stone house. The gunman came out as if to surrender, but then fired at the car, killing Mitchell.

The gunman barricaded himself in the house. All available El Paso police were called. After a short gun battle, tear gas finally brought the man from the house.

Tom Neal Triumphs As Barbara Payton Sets Wedding Date

HOLLYWOOD—(AP)—Actress Barbara Payton and actor Tom Neal plan to be married in Europe this fall, her attorney said Saturday.

Her divorce from Franchot Tone becomes final next Thursday. Tone lost a fist fight with Neal but temporarily won Miss Payton's love a year and a half ago.

Attorney Milton Golden said she and Neal will go to La Paz, Bolivia, on business, and then to the East for the summer stock acting. After making a movie in England in late Summer, the attorney added, they will be married in Paris or London.

11 MIG's, 1,300 Chinese Fall In One Day's Fighting

SEOUL—(AP)—Paced by the world's leading jet ace who bagged his fourteenth Red jet, U. S. Sabre pilots shot down 11 Communist MIG's and damaged six Saturday in day-long sky battles over MIG Alley in Northwest Korea.

On the ground, Allied troops and artillery killed and wounded more than 1,300 of 4,000 Chinese making heavy hit-and-run attacks on the central front, apparently aimed at killing as many UN troops as possible. UN losses were not announced.

The air and ground action, heaviest for a single day since last Fall, coincided with agreement at Panmunjom to recess the stalled truce talks for three days.

In sky clashes with scores of Red MIG's the three best-known U. S. jet aces of the Korean War each shot down an enemy jet Saturday. Capt. Manuel Fernandez of Miami, Fla., got his fourteenth after a close call in which he had to roll his Sabre over another MIG to avoid a collision.

Only a short time before that, Capt. Joseph McConnell of Apple Valley, Calif., had tied Fernandez at 13 by hitting a MIG pilot with his second burst of fire.

The first U. S. jet ace of the Korean War, Maj. James Jabara of Wichita, Kan., downed his seventh MIG and his first since returning for a second tour of duty.

"It was burning like hell—a beautiful sight," he said.

UN commanders said the powerful Chinese Red ground stabs against South Koreans and Americans on the central front did not appear to be positional thrust but rather efforts to strike swiftly and kill as many UN troops as possible.

The move worked in reverse. Allied artillery and mortars, pouring out tens of thousands of rounds, played a major role in chewing up the attacking Reds.

The Eighth Army said hand-to-hand fighting raged in and near the Allied trenches four and a half hours before the Communists managed to withdraw under cover of a smoke screen. After the Reds were cleared from the lines they tried three times to ram back.

The Chinese fired more than 20,000 rounds of artillery and mortars in support of the attack. They occupied two positions with reinforced battalions up to 150 men each but fled, later before South Korean bayonets and hand grenades.

Americans of the 3rd Division's 15th Regiment bloodily repulsed a Chinese battalion attacking Outpost Harry, about 20 miles west of Sniper Ridge. Another battalion of Chinese attacked the South Koreans on Sniper Ridge while a Red company hit Jans-Russell Hill on Triangle Hill a mile away. Both were knocked back.

Front-line reports said most of the 1,300 Red casualties were inflicted by the South Koreans in trench-fighting east of Sniper Ridge.

Speakers Remind Nation 'Armed Forces' Day Is Every Day For Troops In Korea

By The Associated Press
Pentagon leaders, in a series of Armed Forces Day speeches Saturday, called for national unity in the face of aggressive communism.

Speakers throughout the country hit hard at this theme as the nation took time out to honor all those who donned uniform in the nation's defense.

"Out in Korea... every day is Armed Forces Day," said Secretary of the Air Force Harold E. Talbot in St. Louis.

Men Quit Services
"Here, at home, we can celebrate this day best by keeping before us constantly the example of our fighting men in Korea, by resolving to strive for more effective unification among our armed forces everywhere and for greater unity among ourselves as a people."

H. Lee White, assistant secretary of the Air Force, said in a speech at Newburgh, N. Y., that America never was in greater need of trained manpower in its armed forces.

Too many officers and enlisted men are leaving the services, he said, because of dissatisfaction with the military as a career. He said this must be remedied by better administration, more liberal pay and allowances and a more hospitable citizen attitude toward uniformed personnel.

Hands Out Of Pockets
At Norfolk, Va., John F. Flogberg, assistant secretary of the Navy for air, cautioned that the U. S. "can not and must not stand idly by with our hands in our pockets and allow any aggressor the choice of time and place to cause us harm."

"The Communist mind is capable of accepting only the logic of power," Flogberg said. "Anything less is construed as a sign of weakness, and any negotiations with them are so much wasted effort unless we are prepared to back up our words with a well conditioned fist."

Secretary of the State Dulles, now traveling in the Middle East, said much the same thing in a statement issued by the State Department. "The most effective diplomacy," Dulles said, "is that which is backed by strength."

No Peace With Reds
Talbot said the Air Force's new goal of 120 wings will be maintained until a more definite program is adopted following a review of U. S. military requirements.

"I have confidence," the air secretary said, "that the definitive program will properly reflect our requirements for air power."

In Columbus, Senator Brickner (R-Ohio) said America cannot live in peace with Communist Russia, whose goal he said is "world domination or bust."

"The cold war can be ended only by a hot war or by destroying the Soviet base of communism through application of a variety of external and internal pressures," Brickner said.

SPORTS PARLEY

By CHARLEY ESKEW

When much-traveled Manny Temes, the 1952 Indian second baseman, added Big Spring to his itinerary last week, you could have bowled over the surprised Midland front office with his one-way ticket.

Ah, sorrow! The Indians thought they were going to land the wily, 380 clubber of last season all over. His annexation, they contended, would be the clincher in making Midland a fixture of the Longhorn League's first division.

You can believe it if you want to.

Reviewing the trade talk that Midland tried to spark up, Temes' former owners, Pampa figured the Indians to jump at a Texas League price tag, remembering how well Temes performed on the championship club of 1952. The Tribe didn't leap, with reason enough, but it did try to talk of swapping a player with some cash. There was a catch to that, however.

It's no secret Midland wants to go along with Rogers Dalia Betta on second, he's an equal, it's said, in fielding, while he hits around 300. In comparison to Temes, therefore, Temes would revert to an outfield spot had he joined Midland. The talk worked to which Midland outfielder; but there the dickering ended.

It was at that point, too, that Midland perhaps escaped lightning. The Indians are getting "set" in lineup, behind in cash (because of lagging attendance) and ahead in hitting. Why test those with a question mark?

Temes, let's say, would have faced these problems: (1) Becoming, all over, a player with a new position—often as not the converted star slumps in batting while adjusting defensively. (2) Taxing a payroll that already reaches the limit, holding a price label that would demand, not ask, more attendance the rest of the season. (3) And upsetting a ball club that gets along and wants to work out its own problems until the time is ripe for caulking the loose spots.

You can look at Midland's record today and be assured a lineup that's forming so well doesn't need much bolstering. Tyler of the Big State League's 1951 season is one illustration for proof—its owner saw his club slipping into the second division and shipped in and out a total of 46 players during the season. The results of that upheaval? Tyler lost 17 straight in midseason and won only 37 for the year.

Could the first nine Tyler owned have done worse? Shreveport, on the other hand, added only a starting pitcher to its front-line players last season. The same unit which began the season raced from last place after a half-a-year to the playoff championship of the Texas League.

Perhaps, by the same token, the Indians should not let a loss or two here and there, or a players' slump of three or four games cause a rush into trading, consequently to blotch the overall building program. It was the Midland's announced intention, remember, that, "were going to keep the club we take back from Spring training—it's cheaper and it's the best way to get teamwork."

Naturally, Midland will miss Temes—he can cost them some games with Big Spring. But we bet what Pampa wanted in cash and the player asked wouldn't be worth the difference.

If you need more evidence for instance, check what Hayden White is hitting these days, .409, he was the one to be involved.

Moody, Ezell Battle For MCC Golf Crown

Nelle Moody, the only East Texan entered, stoked in two birdies on the last four holes Saturday in a brilliant comeback that ousted Medalist Sybil Flournoy, 1-up in 19 holes, from the Midland County Club's Invitational golf semifinals.

Gloria Ezell, the defending champion, turned in the best golf playing of the meet when she placed herself opposite Miss Moody of Sherman for Sunday's final. Mrs. Ezell handily beat both women's and men's par along with Billie Dillon of Big Spring, in an 8 and 6 triumph.

The two championship aspirants tee off at 1 p.m. Sunday, the final duel involving the same two players who fought it out for the recent San Angelo invitational. Mrs. Ezell, a Midlander, copped that match. Mrs. Flournoy, a gallery favorite from Midland, played even par golf except for a seven on the second hole and a bogey-five on the 387-yard No. 13. By regulation play, she earned a seemingly safe 3-up lead through No. 12 but Miss Moody, starting a great recovery, won No. 13 and remained two down through 15.

The Sherman man, catching Mrs. Flournoy missing comfortable birdie putts on No. 16 and 17, made a red-hot putter drop in a 20-foot-er first, then an eight-footer to square off the count. The two halved the eighteenth, a rimmed putt following another chance by Mrs. Flournoy to close the match. Miss Moody closed the match on No. 19, after driving over and pitching back for a one-putt par four. Miss Flournoy missed on a windup two-foot putt.

Mrs. Ezell, who exclaimed "I was proud of every part of my game," Saturday, won the first three holes against Mrs. Dillon, the first with a bogey. Afterwards, she birdied the 485-yard No. 5 with a four and the five-par No. 8 and 9 in registering a 6-up lead at the turn.

Two-under 38 on the first nine, Mrs. Ezell added pars on No. 10 and 11 and a birdie-two on the 172-yard No. 12 to halt the match. She was three-under women's par and one-under men's par at that point.

The first matches open Sunday when first flight finalists Rose Holder of Kermit and Evelyn Cowden of Midland begin play at 11 a.m. Champions, along with consolation winners will be decided in five different flights.

Out-of-town golfers remaining numbered six, a good mark considering that only 17 entered and none bid in the nine-hole or novice flights.

Another guest, Mrs. Mary Almon of Big Spring captured the only advanced title, beating Twila Webster of San Angelo, 3 and 2, Saturday in the second flight consolation.

SEMI-FINAL RESULTS
Championship flight — Nelle Moody, Sherman, beat Sybil Flournoy, 1-up in 19 holes; Gloria Ezell beat Billie Dillon, Big Spring, 8 and 6. Consolation — Madeline Pomroy beat Elma Showa, Odessa, 4 and 3; Jo Myers beat Pete Min-

Walcott Yells 'Quick Count'

By JACK HAND

CHICAGO—(AP)—Jersey Joe Walcott's camp still was screaming "raw deal" and "fast count" Saturday, demanding a rematch with Rocky Marciano. The heavy weight champion looked ahead to a possible September defense against Roland La Starza or Ezzard Charles.

Felix Bocchicchio, Walcott's manager, revised pre-fite plans to retire the 39-year-old pappy guy, win or lose, and offered to donate his entire rematch purse to charity because he said he wanted no blemish on the 24-year record of Jersey Joe.

Bocchicchio planned to file a formal protest Monday with the Illinois Athletic Commission, claiming a quick count.

Mike Murphy, the knockdown timekeeper, and Fay Young, the timekeeper, insisted there was no doubt about the legal 10-count. Young said it could have been 15 before Walcott was up and ready to fight.

Referee Frank Sikora, who counted out Walcott at 2:25 of the first round of Friday night's disappointing bout, said the old boy really was hit "a terrific right."

"It's silly to say Walcott could have gotten up before 10," said Sikora. "He didn't know what he was doing or what was going on. Walcott said it was nine when he got up and his manager said it was seven. He got the full count. I picked it up from the knockdown counter at four. If I kept on counting it would have been 11 or 12 before he got up."

The referee said he probably would have allowed Walcott to continue if he beat the count because it was a championship and he didn't want to call a

Marciano

TKO against an experienced veteran like Jersey Joe.

Walcott's version, retold Saturday varied. "I heard him count seven," he said. "I started to get up but he pushed me down and waved Marciano the winner."

Protests flooded newspaper offices all over the country from the TV fans who didn't see the punch or thought the count was quick. The quick ending left a bad taste in almost everybody's mouth.

Walcott got hit with a right uppercut that dumped him on his back with his feet in the air. I saw the punch. Whether Jersey Joe missed the official count, fast or slow, the point is he did not get up. He was still sitting there on his haunches with one hand on the ring ropes when the referee counted him out.

Aggies Cop SWC Track; Hooper Double Winner

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

FORT WORTH —(P)—Texas A&M pushed through mud and rain to a whopping 104 points Saturday to win the Southwest Conference track and field meet for the third straight year and furnished the only record-smasher of the day—Darrow Hooper the terrific shot putter.

Hooper slid around a bogey ring to flip the shot 55 feet, 5 1/2 inches and erase his own record of 54-7 1/2 set in 1951.

Bobby Ragsdale, the great broad jumper, hurdler and sprinter of the Aggies, tied Charles Thomas, Texas sprinter and hurdler, for high point honors, each getting 18 1/2.

considered very good in view of the circumstances.

One incident well illustrated conditions. James Blaine of Texas A&M finished the 120-yard high hurdles sliding head first through water. He slipped 10 yards from the finish and skidded the rest of the way. He won fourth.

Texas finished second with 76 2/5 points. SMU third with 33 1/5, Arkansas fourth with 19, Rice fifth with 17, Baylor sixth with 10 1/5 and TCU last with 10.

Hooper Also Takes Discus
A crowd of 1,000 turned out despite a misting rain to see the meet, the preliminaries of which were postponed from Friday until Saturday morning because of the miserable weather conditions.

A driving rain set in shortly after the meet opened and most of the fans left. It was still drizzling at the finish with about 300 in the stands. No one could recall any past meet ever being run off under such conditions.

Hooper won both the shot and discus—his third time in three years to do it. As far as the records revealed, Hooper was the first athlete ever to take two events three straight seasons.

Some Upsets
There were some upsets. For instance, Pete Mayeaux of the Aggies beat out Wes Ritchey of Texas Christian, who had been the leading javelin thrower all year. Mayeaux got 199-11 to 191-11 for Ritchey.

Rallying Methodist won the mile relay in 3:23.7, the first time SMU ever took this event in conference

Six Steers Placed On All-SWC Club

By The Associated Press

Texas and SMU dominate the all-Southwest Conference baseball team.

Texas had six players. SMU five. Baylor placed four and Texas A&M one.

The Aggies landed the only unanimous choice, Jerry Nelson, a pitcher.

Team was picked by the six conference coaches for The Associated Press.

Three players tied for one catching spot and four outfielders tied. The team thus has four catchers and four outfielders.

Coming close to unanimous selection were Verde Dickey, SMU catcher; Mike Sullivan of Baylor; Tommy Ballinger of SMU; and Travis Eckert and Tommy Snow of Texas, all outfielders. Each received five votes.

The all-conference team:

Pitchers—Nelson, Tommy Bowers, SMU, and Boyd Linker, Texas. Catchers—Verde Dickey, SMU; Bobby Bengt, Baylor; Ronald Spradlin, Texas, and Randy Biesemach, Texas.

First Base—Paul Mohr, Texas. Second—Charles Galey, SMU. Third—John Caruthers, SMU. Shortstop—Harry Davis, Baylor.

Johnny's Tips Elks In West Little Loop

Johnny's Barbecue Bar, outfit, 18-9, took advantage of wildness by Elks' pitchers Friday to squeeze out a 19-17 West Little League victory.

Roy Blair of the winners mixed a grand slam home run with five walks when Johnny's pushed over 11 runs in the second inning. His teammate Fred Drury also homered.

Rallying Elks batters ran out of time at the last, after picking up five sixth inning runs. Wallace Ravan rapped a home run for the loggers.

The score:

Three Golfing Events Slated

West Texas golf clubs, averaging a tournament-a-week, Saturday kept apace with the past schedule by announcing three more meets even before the Midland Country Club Women's Invitational and McCamey Men's Invitational titles are declared.

Tribe Clouts 21 Hits, Rip Lamesa, 16-2

Harold Webb, the errant ex-owner of Midland, has a habit of leaving this town in the same old rut—way down at the bottom of the standings.

It was no different—from that second division club he sold to Midland in 1951—when Webb's Lamesaans would up their first Midland series of the season here Friday night. Midland, at the conclusion, owned all three triumphs and the last was the most humiliating, 16-2.

Midland's 21-hit attack, a season high, off loser John Miskulin, Carlos Perez and John Miller pushed the last place Lobos, at that time, nine games off the pace.

Hayden White slapped six singles in six trips and Scooter Hughes drove in five runs on a flyout, single and an eight-inning homer.

Eddie Jacobs, who gave up nine hits, became the first Indian to own four pitching victories.

Other Friday results saw San Angelo win over Artesia twice, 2-1 and 5-2; Carlsbad over Big Spring in two, 3-1 and 8-3; and Odessa beat Rowell, 10-5, before losing, 7-1.

Colts Travel To Play Vets

FORT STOCKTON—Right-hander Armando Gutierrez, who lost his first assignment last week, nevertheless caught the eye of Midland Colt Manager C. B. Nunes and draws the starter's role when the team plays Fort Stockton here at 3 p.m. Sunday.

Gutierrez' job is to help the Colts end a slump which cost them two games in the last three outings. Although Gutierrez twirled a nine-inning and had 12 hits in support, shaky Colt fielding enabled Big Spring to triumph, 3-4, last Sunday.

The Midlanders' record stands 4-2.

Fort Stockton's veterans lost an earlier duel between the two, 7-6, in Midland when Lee Velarde, shortstop, rapped a double and two singles in four trips as the big Colt batsmen.

The Colts, an R. M. Minton-sponsored club, left a second team at Midland Sunday at Colt Park. Their opponent had been named through Saturday afternoon.

Alonso, Two Others Sold To Big Spring

ROSWELL—F—Andy Alonso, Roswell pitcher, whom Midland clubbed for 16 hits and a 14-4 win last week, will be a Big Spring hurler when next he returns to Midland.

Roswell Manager Pat Stacey announced Saturday that Alonso, who posted an 18-12 record last year, was traded to the Broncos for Shortstop Al Costa.

Stacey said Third Baseman Frank Casanova and Pitcher Armando Lopez had been sold outright to Big Spring.

Black Indians Seek Second Win Sunday

Manager Bennie Harrison will call upon Oscar Lewis or Leon (Hook) Hayes Sunday to stop Pecos as the Midland Black Indians go after their second victory of the season at 3:30 p.m. at Indian Park.

The Indians thus far have fared badly, having lost five of their six starts. Only victim has been Hobbs.

Mike Serdis Homers As Red Sox Triumph

A homer by Mike Serdis sparked the Red Sox Saturday to a 4-3 victory over the Pirates in a North-east Little League baseball game. Tommy Stewart and Eddie Mitchell team on the Red Sox mound to hold the Pirates in check. Loser Dan Rankin, pitching all the way, tripled for the big Pirate rap.

OU, Tech Denied Entry Into SWC; Vote Unknown

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

FORT WORTH—(F)—The Southwest Conference spurned Texas Tech and Oklahoma as members Saturday, voting to keep the same membership it has had for 28 years.

The Faculty Committee, governing body of the conference, voted against a motion, presumably made by Texas, which has long been an applicant, and Oklahoma, which asked about membership last winter, be invited provided "satisfactory details for such arrangement can be worked out."

The exact vote was not announced. It failed to get the required majority of five out of seven.

Spring Training Spread
The Faculty Committee eased scholastic requirements and "de-emphasized the deemphasis" on football and basketball by allowing more time for Spring training and adding more basketball games.

The qualitative scholastic requirement that a student must make a certain grade was removed. The qualitative requirement setting the number of hours work he must complete was retained.

The Easter holidays will not count in Spring basketball and football. The basketball schedule was returned from 21 to 24 games.

Dr. Gus Hodges, faculty representative of Texas, said he made the motion to admit Tech and Oklahoma. Dr. Henry Hardt of OU said he seconded it. Texas A&M voted for the motion, W. L. Penberthy, faculty representative, said.

That left Rice and SMU, whose views were well known; Baylor, which reportedly has backed Houston for membership; and Arkansas, which is an unknown quantity.

Tech And Houston Losers
Tech and Houston were turned down last May. Oklahoma reportedly also was brought up then.

Last winter, Walter Kraft, Oklahoma faculty representative, came to Dallas and talked with the Faculty Committee. Oklahoma had no representative here but Texas Tech and Houston did.

A redistribution of bowl game receipts provided that the conference champion, which plays in the Cotton Bowl, will receive around $15,000 more than any other conference school playing in another bowl game.

The "split season" rule was adopted for freshmen. A freshman entering school at midterms can have half a season in basketball or swimming and then the following winter can get the other half, but he can not, in the case of basketball, play in more than 12 games.

The committee adopted the NCAA's television plan of allowing one game a week to be televised nationally in football, but with the provision that a conference can get permission to televise games in which there are sell-outs and they do not interfere with games being played in the same area at the same time.

It was decided that in case of a tie for the baseball championship this year, the conference would be polled for a nomination of the team to represent the conference in the NCAA playoffs.

Dr. H. E. Bray of Rice was elected president of the conference, succeeding Dr. J. D. Bragg of Baylor.

Cobb Seeks Kicker As Roughnecks Off For Monahans Till

Manager Les Cobb sent out appeals for an extra-point kicker Sunday morning, hoping all the while that he will find the need for one. Cobb's Roughnecks failed to make a single extra point last week as they swamped Sweetwater, 24-7. Now he is afraid that the lone point might hurt the club's chances against a combination Grandfalls-Monahans semi-pro baseball team the Roughs tackle Sunday at Monahans.

Sweetwater offered little opposition for Cobb's experienced ex-pro baseballers, and he doesn't know what to expect from the team he meets Sunday.

At any rate, he will call upon the same team that worked so well against Sweetwater with either Leon (Hook) Hayes or John Howard getting the starting mound assignment. It was Howard who pitched and batted the Roughs to their triumph over Sweetwater. Hayes was unable to attend because of other commitments.

Blair's Work Sparks 5 To 3 Tribe Victory

CARLSBAD, N. M. —(P)— Midland defeated Carlsbad, 5-3, here Saturday night to climb into a three-way tie for the Longhorn League lead.

The Indians came from behind a 3-2 deficit with two runs in the sixth inning and, behind the sparkling relief pitching of Ralph Blair, kept the Potashers at bay.

Carlsbad's loss, coupled with San Angelo's loss to Roswell, left Midland tied with the Potashers and San Angelo for the league lead.

Julio de la Torre tripped in the sixth and scored on William Brown's single to tie the game. Brown, who raced to third on an error on his hit, scored the winning run when Lou Dawson filed out to center.

Blair relieved Starter Earl Winn in the fifth, and gave up but three hits the rest of the way. He gained credit for the victory.

Clint Rogas, Carlsbad starter, was the loser. He was relieved by Hank Williams in the sixth, after Brown singled.

De la Torre was Midland's leading batter with three hits.

Tribes Keeps Rookie To Face Southpaws

The Midland Indians, who earlier announced they were optioning Rookie Milton Wallendorf to Abilene of the West Texas-New Mexico League, Saturday said they were retaining the big first baseman to bat against left-handed pitchers.

Wallendorf will alternate with Lou Dawson in playing first base. Manager Jay Haney said, The Frederickson youngster is a right-handed batter while Dawson hits from the left.

Wallendorf averaged .413 on 17 trips through Friday night's game.

Babe Zaharias New President Of Virus Research Group

BEAUMONT —(P)— Babe Didrikson Zaharias, the athlete in a hospital here for more than a month after an operation to remove a malignancy, was elected president today of the Virus Research Foundation of America.

Donald Myers of Dallas, executive director of the foundation, said Mrs. Zaharias, the greatest woman golfer of them all, would head the foundation organized Nov. 3, 1952.

The foundation is a non-profit organization whose officers and 47 directors are from the fields of medicine and science, sports and business.

The purpose is to raise funds for research and education in the field of virus and allied diseases.

The foundation will be financed by sports events on a national scale. Mrs. Zaharias said, "I am deeply moved and honored. x x x I became interested in the foundation from the very beginning, long before I realized that I myself was to become a victim of an ailment so closely related to the foundation's interests."

Simmons Misses No-Hitter; Chisox Down Yankees, 5-3

Bruton's Hit On First Toss Proves Spoiler

MILWAUKEE —(P)— Curt Simmons missed a no-hitter by his opening pitch Saturday, retiring 27 Milwaukee Braves in succession after Bill Bruton's sharp single as Philadelphia beat the Braves, 3-0, and regained undisputed possession of first place in the National League.

The young left-hander, pitching perfect ball after Bruton's leadoff single, had a three-ball count on only four hitters as he threw the best game of his career. His top previous effort was a two-hit, 6-0 decision over Chicago in a night game at Philadelphia almost exactly one year ago, May 13, 1952.

Simmons struck out 10 men, his high for the season, to run his total for the year to 45, best in the league.

The score: Philadelphia 011 000 100-3 10 0 Milwaukee 000 000 000-0 1 1 Simmons and Lopata; Liddle, Burdett and Crandall.

Byrne Blasts Grand Slam Roundtripper

NEW YORK —(P)— Tommy Byrne, a former New York Yankee pitcher, blasted a pinch-hit home run with the bases filled and two out in the ninth inning Saturday to lift the hustling Chicago White Sox to a 5-3 victory over the Yankees.

The last ditch triumph pulled the White Sox to within a half game of the pace-setting New Yorkers.

Chicago, gaining its eighth victory in 10 games and its fourth in five meetings with New York, came on with a five-run rally after starting Pitcher Vic Raschi had shut them out to two hits for eight innings.

Raschi got two men out in the ninth when disaster struck. Tom Wright singled home one run and Raschi was yanked in favor of Ewell Blackwell when he followed up by passing Jim Rivera to load the bases.

With the right-handed Blackwell come in, Manager Paul Richards sent Byrne, a good-hitting pitcher, up to bat for Vern Stephens, who was acquired by the Sox during the winter to give Chicago some punch.

Byrne took two balls and two strikes. The next one was a fast ball down the middle and it went bunting into the lower right field stands for Byrne's first homer of the season.

The score: Chicago 000 000 005-5 5 0 New York 000 010-3 10 1 Pierce, Aloma, Dorish and Lollar; Raschi, Blackwell, Kusava and Silvers, Houk.

Bucs Nudge Cubs By 3-2

CHICAGO —(P)— Catcher Joe Garagiola's two-out home run in the eighth powered the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 3-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs Saturday as the sixth place visitors snapped a five-game losing streak.

The game also marked manager Fred Haney's benching of Third Baseman Pete Costello for what he later charged as "loafing."

The score: Pittsburgh 000 000 210-3 7 0 Chicago 000 001 001-2 6 2 Dickson, Pollet, Heisk and Garagiola; Rush, Schultz and Atwell, McCullough.

Porterfield Clips Browns

WASHINGTON —(P)— Bob Porterfield won his fourth straight game and pitched his third shutout of the season Saturday as Washington scored five unearned runs in the first inning off Harry Brecheen and defeated the St. Louis Browns 6-0. Porterfield allowed eight hits.

Porterfield, who lost his first three starts, hasn't permitted a run in 19 innings.

The score: St. Louis 000 000 000-0 8 1 Washington 210 000 009-6 6 1 Brecheen, Blyzka, Cain and Courtney; Porterfield and Orasso.

Rotary, Travelers Play To Standstill

Darkness during the twelfth inning forced postponement of a Pony League game Friday that had all the elements of greatness.

Rotary and Travelers each had three runs, none after the sixth inning, when the game was stopped. It will be re-scheduled.

Dennis Patton fanned 22 batters as he twirled all 12 innings for Travelers. Rotary reliever Benny Sanchez worked eight innings of scoreless ball and both Larry Cooper of the Travelers and Sanchez hit two-run homers in the game.

Battle Of Champs In McCamey Golf

McCAMEY—Four champions prepared to slug it out in the McCamey Invitation Golf Tournament Sunday after gaining the semi-finals with two victories apiece.

Observers were ready to flip a coin rather than risk a prediction as to which of the quartet would be victorious in Sunday's matches. The foursome is R. V. Cole of Pecos, the tournament medalist with a five-under-par 67; Billy Erfurth of Lubbock, state amateur champion; John Hill Lewis, Jr. of Fort Stockton, recent victor in the Iraan Invitational; and defending Champion Charley Thorp of Odessa. Thorp also won the recent Monahan Invitational.

The pairings Sunday pit Cole opposite Thorp and Erfurth against Lewis.

Although champions were demanding attention, it was Bob Craig who captured the driving contest Friday. He walloped his drive beyond the 340-yard marker.

Here's Saturday's results: CHAMPIONSHIP FLIGHT Cole defeated Curtis Allen, 3 and 2 and Neil Sconiers, Iraan, 5 and 4; Thorp defeated Cop Davis, Kermit.

THIRD FLIGHT Weidon Brumbelow defeated Chuck Ashcraft, 5 and 4, and Charles Stodghill, 1-up; Charles Reggin defeated Jim Stroman, Fort Stockton, 3 and 2, and Pete George, 3 and 1; T. Westbrook defeated Bob Ashcraft, 4 and 3, and Bill Friend, Big Lake, 5 and 3; Frank Bonds defeated J. M. Terry, 1-up, and Harry Taylor, 2 and 1.

FOURTH FLIGHT Bill Wakefield, Iraan, defeated A. N. Wright, 3 and 2, and Baker Ingram, 3 and 2; T. N. Jenkin defeated Joe Conger, McCamey, 4 and 3, and Harry Logan, Big Lake, 4 and 3; Tom Herring defeated E. W. Thorp, 2 and 1, and Curtis Skipping, 1-up; George Cillinhurst defeated Carl Whitefield, Iraan, 4 and 3, and L. A. McNeil, 1-up.

FIFTH FLIGHT Mark Herring, Alpine, defeated Otho Blount, 2 and 1, and J. T. Mounce, 6 and 5; Kenneth Sewell defeated Charles Churchill, 7 and 6, and S. E. Hartman, 5 and 4; O. E. Foster defeated Dick McMannigle, 2 and 1, and Charles Treadwell, 2 and 1; J. P. Poyner defeated Robert McKinney, 3 and 2, and Charles M. Smith, 4 and 3.

SIXTH FLIGHT Raymond E. Brooks defeated Ed Hogan, 3 and 7, and M. P. Stribling, default; Howard Newton defeated Bob Bryant, Sr., 5 and 4, and Max Lewis, 4 and 3; Bill Stanford defeated L. P. Alstine, 4 and 3, and R. M. Morris, 7 and 5; C. L. Powell defeated Bill Eddins, 2 and 1, and M. Christian, 5 and 4.

Six Teams Interested In Church Softball

Six teams have indicated interest in forming a church softball league this season, and if current plans succeed, the opening date will be Friday.

A meeting held Thursday night found five teams represented. A sixth was known to be interested. The churches expected to field teams are First Baptist, First Presbyterian, First Methodist, St. Luke's Methodist, St. Mark's Methodist and Bellview Baptist.

Any others interested in helping to form a league should contact Martin Allday at 4-4431. Another meeting is scheduled for this week, time and site to be announced later.

A schedule will be drawn for a 12-week period with each team scheduled to play each Friday night if no more teams show interest in joining. That would make a three-game schedule each Friday.

Flood Threats—

Power Lines Snap
Power and communication lines were snapped, giant trees were crumpled and the highway between Crockett and Palestine was flooded from more than an inch and a half of rain in a little more than two hours.

And Army engineer spokesman warned minor floods could become serious if any great amount of rain falls in the already soaked sections.

All over the state hang ominous thunderclouds. The Weather Bureau predicted a rainy weekend.

The Weather Bureau Saturday warned there could be more tornadoes spawned in the turbulent thunderstorms predicted for the north-west portion of South-Central Texas. Thunderstorms and locally high winds also were predicted Saturday night for North and Central portions of East and Central Texas.

Violent rainstorms whipped East Texas late Saturday. At Marshall, 1.26 inches of rain fell in half an hour to flood streets and bring the total rainfall since last Sunday to 7.03 inches.

An estimated two inches was dumped on Nacogdoches in 20 minutes, washing out repair work on streets damaged by Monday's cloudburst. Highway 21 was reported flooded at a point 18 miles west of Nacogdoches Saturday night.

At Alto in Cherokee County, an estimated four inches fell in two hours. A high wind that accompanied the rainstorm knocked down trees, television aerials and flattened chicken houses.

A wide section of Texas—even the bone-dry Panhandle cities of Dalhart, Amarillo and Lubbock—received rain Saturday. But by Saturday night, the western half of the state generally was clear.

Traffic Accident Fatal
Mrs. Mozell Moon, 35, was killed and her husband T Sgt. George Moon, 33, injured when their car smashed into a stalled truck during heavy rain at Crow, Texas, Friday.

Ocie Blair, 16 drowned Saturday saving a white boy in the Trinity River diversion channel.

Lapping water for a time blocked at least three highways. U. S. 271 was reported closed between Gilmer and Pittsburgh at Little Cypress Creek bridge. High water also forced the closing of Farm 85 in Kaufman County and Highway 78 between Garland and Wylie.

Thunderstorms crackled Saturday at Dallas, Waco, College Station, Mineral Wells and Big Spring. A cool front was expected to stir up continued scattered showers Sunday.

Danger points in the flood situation were the Sabine River; the lower reaches of the Trinity River in East Texas; the East Fork of the Trinity and its Chambers, Waxahachie and Richmond Creeks tributaries near Corsicana in Central Texas; and the Leon and Lampasas Rivers in West Central Texas.

Sabine On Rampage
The Sabine was reported virtually an inland sea over its 578-mile length. Out of banks from its headwaters at Mineola to near the mouth at Orange, the river was on its biggest tear since 1944.

Strong south winds and high tides, which slowed runoff at the river's mouth, aggravated the situation.

Meteorologist Paul Cook at the Lake Charles Weather Bureau, which keeps tabs on the Sabine, warned the worst is to come.

Embattled Deweyville, which 10 days ago made a valiant winning fight against the Sabine, will get a crest of 17 feet by Wednesday, Cook predicted. That's a half foot higher than the flood which the community whipped earlier. But the Deweyville levee hurriedly built up to about 18 feet with sand-bags—was expected to keep the water out of most residences. Homes in lowlands were expected to be flooded.

Oil Wells Surrounded
The Weather Bureau at Dallas warned of "light to moderate" flood conditions on the Trinity River and its tributaries.

New flood crests were expected on Trinity's East Fork at Rockwall and the main river at Dallas and Trinidad. But a forecaster said that as of Saturday afternoon, only lowlands were threatened.

Army engineers had men posted at critical spots patrolling levees. Many oil wells in the Kilgore area were surrounded by water. Kilgore has had 8.25 inches of rain in six days.

The heavy, persistent rain threatened farmers with crop washouts, drowned livestock and late plantings.

There was a bright side, however—improved water situations for most drought-plagued cities.

Rains Blanket Wide Belt Across Nation

By The Associated Press
Rain splashed down on a large section of the U. S. Saturday. The wet belt extended from the East Coast to the Rockies.

It heralded a damp, gloomy weekend, with rain forecast for most of the states.

Temperatures ranged from cool to warm. Readings were below normal in much of the Rocky Mountain region. Light frost was reported in Minnesota, where minimum marks of 30 were recorded at Duluth and International Falls.

7,000 Attend AFB Opening At Del Rio

DEL RIO —(AP)—Approximately 7,000 persons attended dedication services for Laughlin AFB here Saturday. Rep. O. C. Fisher, San Angelo, was the principal speaker.

The base, used during World War II to train bomber crews, was recently reactivated to train jet pilots.

ARRIVE IN CITY

Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Soloman arrived Friday from Las Cruces, N. M., to make their home here.

West Wall Street—

No Action By City
The city, apparently hoping that some day the county would get around to financing the necessary right-of-way, has taken no action.

The first glimmer of hope in this impasse came last week as County Judge Clifford K. Keith discussed the purchase of right-of-way for the proposed U. S. Highway 80 project.

"We had no way of knowing exactly how much the right-of-way for Highway 80 would cost us so we set the bond issue at $350,000, feeling that certainly would cover it."

"Now, there is a possibility that much money will not be required. If it isn't, there is the possibility these funds will be available for the purchase of right-of-way for the West Wall Street improvement."

At this time, he explained, the cost of the Highway 80 right-of-way for the 11-mile-long project still is unknown and there will be little enlightenment until negotiations are begun after the sale of the bonds on June 22.

But in Martin County, where a similar project will be undertaken, County Judge James Morris said the right-of-way for the 13-mile stretch in his county, had cost approximately $186,000, well under the $350,000 Midland County will have available.

So prospects were brighter for available funds for the West Wall Street project.

Of course, there still remains the question of how much the West Wall Street right-of-way will cost.

"Any estimate I made," said City Manager W. H. Oswalt, "would be a wild guess."

"But I would place it somewhere between $30,000 and $75,000."

This, he said, would include the cost of some storm sewer projects the State Department probably will require before undertaking the widening, just as they have required a six-block-long storm sewer on North Big Spring Street.

Work Starts Monday
It is on this storm sewer, incidentally, that Contractor Joe Oopeland will begin work Monday to kick off the overall improvement project of widening the street to 85 feet.

Oswalt pointed out that some of the West Wall Street right-of-way already is owned by the city and that the acquisition of the 100-foot-wide strip would require the alteration of only one building.

"The curb and gutter will be financed by assessments," he said, "and it is hoped that some of the right-of-way for the roadway will be dedicated by property owners without cost since it will greatly improve their property."

Attlee's Jibe At U. S. Constitution As Obsolete Brings Varied Replies

By The Associated Press
Is the U. S. Constitution an outmoded document framed for an isolationist state? Last Tuesday Clement Attlee, the British Socialist leader and former Prime Minister, answered "yes." He thereby rubbed salt into the wounds of a red-hot trans-Atlantic debate over foreign policy and communism.

What do U. S. historians think about it? The Associated Press took a cross-country sampling of views. One constitutional authority said Attlee was guilty of a gratuitous insult. Another thought he was at least inopportune. Still another said the Constitution might well be brought up to date.

Plus 22 Amendments
First a look at the background: The U. S. Constitution was drawn up in 1781. It assigned specific powers to the President, the Congress and the judiciary, in a system of checks and balances. As an example, it assigned to Congress the right to declare war, and insisted the Senate must concur in treaties proposed by the President. The Constitution has been amended 22 times, but basically remains in its original form.

Britain has no written constitution. The government in power sets its policies. When a government is defeated in the House of Commons on an important issue it is out of office. The prime minister and his Cabinet have more leeway in determining policies. Parliament cannot offer so many roadblocks as the U. S. Congress can give the President.

President Tied Down
The U. S. Constitution is regarded as well nigh inflexible, probably, by most Americans. Nonetheless scholars from time to time have suggested revisions, perhaps a "streamlining" to meet problems unknown in the 18th Century. But in bringing up the idea that the U. S. Constitution is old-hat, Attlee did so in what, to some Americans at least, were fighting words. And he injected it into the midst of a controversy over Korea, Communism and the attitudes of the United States and Britain toward Russian approaches.

He said the U. S. government "is not really master in its own house" and that the nature of the Constitution causes misunderstandings and disappointments in other countries. Under the Constitution, he said, President Eisenhower might attend a conference of the major powers, "then return to the United States and be thrown over, as President Wilson was after the discussions at Versailles." Under the U. S. system, Attlee argued, it is difficult to find "where effective power lies."

Presidential Primary Bill Ruled Illegal

AUSTIN—(AP)—A bill to authorize a presidential preference primary in Texas was ruled unconstitutional Saturday by Attorney-General John Ben Shepperd.

He said the measure, passed by the Senate and awaiting House action, would be invalid because it apparently requires that party primaries shall be paid for in the same manner as general elections, which are financed from county funds.

The state Supreme Court has held that counties constitutionally may not pay the cost of primaries, Shepperd noted.

He suggested the bill could be remedied by providing any one of three methods of financing a presidential primary. He said filing fees of candidates could be used, supplemented by assessments against participating political parties; a voters registration fee could be required; a constitutional amendment could be enacted allowing counties to finance the primaries.

He said the U. S. government "is not really master in its own house" and that the nature of the Constitution causes misunderstandings and disappointments in other countries. Under the Constitution, he said, President Eisenhower might attend a conference of the major powers, "then return to the United States and be thrown over, as President Wilson was after the discussions at Versailles." Under the U. S. system, Attlee argued, it is difficult to find "where effective power lies."

Speech's Importance
Douglas Southall Freeman of Richmond, Va., chronicler of the history of the South, took a "let's be calm" attitude. He said: "Entirely too much importance is apt to be attached to the Attlee statement. Here in America we never take anti-British political utterances of the House of Representatives too seriously. All of us know that even the leaders often speak to their constituency rather than to the floor and appeal to prejudice rather than to reason."

Noel T. Dowling, Harlan Fiske Stone professor of Constitutional law at Columbia University, said the Constitution gives the President ample power to conduct foreign affairs. He is limited by Senate confirmation of treaties and congressional appropriations in cases involving expenditure of funds, Dowling added.

SMU History Expert
Dr. Herbert Gambrell, chairman of the history department at Southern Methodist University at Dallas, said there is "probably nothing more incomprehensible to the British than the ability of the United States to live under the restrictions of its written Constitution, unless it is the incomprehensibility to Americans of how the British manage to muddle through without a written constitution. But each seems to have done fairly well for a long time under its own system and even contributed something to democratic processes in which the free world is vitally interested."

But he observed "The time seems inopportune for Mr. Attlee to rewrite United States fundamental laws."

Pupil Learns First Lesson Second But Learns It Well

A 15-year-old motorist with a "learner's" permit learned the hard way Saturday afternoon.

He was driving toward the business district on North Baird Street when he spotted an automobile following him. The youth veered over to one side of the street and then the other, setting the pace in a game of follow-the-leader.

The automobile behind him stayed hot on his trail.

The youth finally was stopped by a police patrol car blocking his path and he climbed out to see what was wrong.

He drove on carefully a few minutes later after a sharp lecture from Police Chief Harold Wallace, who had been driving the car behind him.

Furthermore there has been considerable skepticism here as to whether the Chinese Communists and North Koreans really wanted peace in Korea unless they could get new advantages out of it. All their recent proposals have been read here with this in mind rather than in the belief, expressed by some critics abroad, that they were anxiously trying to get peace.

Prime Minister Churchill told Commons last week that he thought an eight-point plan the Reds put forth last week showed question of "principle" had been resolved and if the Reds were sincere the negotiations could shortly end successfully.

U. S. Pauses To Strengthen Position In Armistice Talks

WASHINGTON —(AP)—This week's display of Allied disunity over the Korean truce negotiations is viewed by officials here as such a show of weakness that counter-measures must be taken to retain an effective bargaining position.

The action by UN truce negotiators at Panmunjon is forcing a recess in the talks over the weekend was explained as fitting into this purpose.

In general they appear to reflect a feeling of the British and Canadian governments, primarily, that the United States was sometimes too tough in its dealings with the Reds. Then again, there are the more general fears of nations with a primary stake in Europe that this country might become progressively more involved in Far Eastern conflicts to the hurt of European defenses.

The United States, with a long-standing concern over its military position in the Far East as well as in Western Europe, generally has followed the theory in the truce talks that nothing could be gained by a soft approach. According to this theory, a "reasonable" armistice could be obtained only at the end of hard and realistic bargaining.

Red Motives Questioned
Furthermore there has been considerable skepticism here as to whether the Chinese Communists and North Koreans really wanted peace in Korea unless they could get new advantages out of it. All their recent proposals have been read here with this in mind rather than in the belief, expressed by some critics abroad, that they were anxiously trying to get peace.

Prime Minister Churchill told Commons last week that he thought an eight-point plan the Reds put forth last week showed question of "principle" had been resolved and if the Reds were sincere the negotiations could shortly end successfully.

Bankrupt Mexican Confesses Placing Bomb On Airliner

MEXICO CITY —(AP)—The newspaper Ultima Noticias said Saturday a bankrupt Mexican businessman has confessed to police that he planted a time bomb on a plane in which he was a passenger in order that his family could collect $160,000 in life insurance.

A package containing the bomb was transferred to another plane and exploded in the Mazatlan Airport May 9, killing three airline employees and injuring seven other persons.

The bomb package was diverted because of the plane's heavy load.

Two Die In Crash
NEW ORLEANS —(AP)— Two crewmen were killed and a third hurt but more than 50 passengers escaped injury Saturday when a Missouri Pacific passenger train plowed off the track.

Another evidence of Allied disunity appeared immediately afterward when former Prime Minister and present Labor Leader Clement Attlee assailed U. S. Far Eastern policies as well as foreign policies generally. Incidentally, Attlee became involved in a feud with Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) which has prolonged the display of differences throughout the week.

Into this situation India's Prime Minister Nehru, never regarded as an ally of the United States but usually considered friendly, moved with a comment that the Communist plan for handling POW's closely accorded with United Nations recommendations last December.

Grunewald Proves Match For Solons

WASHINGTON —(AP)—House investigators were ready Saturday to call it quits in their investigation of Henry W. Grunewald, Washington influence man.

Representative Kean (R-NJ), chairman of a Ways and Means subcommittee investigating alleged tax fixing, said investigators plan to call two more witnesses and then go on to other phases of the inquiry.

Committee members felt they had seen the last of the 60-year-old Grunewald, who pleaded illness and cut short his last appearance before the committee on Wednesday. Then he failed to show up next day.

For more than a month the committee has been trying to learn about Grunewald's mysterious connections with revenue officials, and his role in a number of tax cases in which criminal fraud prosecutions were dropped.

IF YOU AINT OWNING your home it's because you ain't keeping it close touch with us. For example we have a wonderful 2-bedroom asbestos home located in TOWN NORTH which is only a few months old. Large kitchen, family bath water well. Over 910 square feet for only $5,200 full price. $1,250 down.
IF DOLLAR BILLS WOULD TALK they would eloquently tell you to invest in this magnificent white Roman brick home. Scintillatingly new, it has 3 wonderful bedrooms, 2 tile baths, spacious living room, an attached garage. The kitchen will take your breath away, but the design will make you breathe easier because it's ideal. Lushly carpeted central heating and cooling systems, large utility room, and elongated porch facing the Western sky. Price at $21,000.
GIVE AWAY ALL YOUR PENNIES as you become senseless, but invest ONLY $750 in this home, and your friends learn of it, they'll say you're a financial wizard. Only year old, it has two larger bedrooms, very comfortable living room, nice kitchen with separate utility room. In excellent condition this asbestos home is yours at a sacrifice price of $7,250.
1807 WEST WALL STREET is "C" zoned—for clinics, multiple dwelling units, etc. For home and revenue, whatever you will, you'll have huge 3-bedroom brick home with tremendous living room, dining room, and huge porch. Re-decorate just for you. Also 2 apartments with private baths in rear. Sprinkling system in front and rear, lawn, tree. Attractively priced at $17,000.
HAVE YOU VISITED "TOWN NORTH" lately? No indiscriminate building in this section; no $48 deals here, no free gifts given. Only nicer home better lawns, lots of fences, less dust and less noise. Yet, for $1,550 down, this lovely 2-bedroom asbestos sitting home opens its doors to you. Attached carport, fenced yard, paved street. Central heating, oak floor and in immaculate condition throughout. Priced at $7,920.
HEY!! MR. SARA-NEELY Why don't write an ad about me? I'm a terrific deal. I've got excellent location, beautiful landscaping with lots of trees, fenced yard, and a paved street. I've got 2 welcoming bedrooms, a Wellex paneled den, large living room, a separate dining room and an awfully cute kitchen. I've got lots of carpeting over oak floors to keep me quiet, and asbestos shingle to help me stay fireproof. Why don't you talk about me? Tell 'em I'm priced at only $10,500. (Shut up or some smart family will buy you this week.)
ONE TOUCH OF TYPICAL Connecticut. Located just north of the Country Club, this attractive home (brick wainscoted) has 3 bedrooms, den and a kitchen that you'll always remember. On a large lot, privacy constantly guarding your living, an safety protects your young citizens. You'll like it, I'm certain. By appointment only, please.
AT 408 WEST ESTES, you'll see one of the cutest little girls in Midland, little Miss Douglas. Her home has 2 lovely bedrooms, comfortable living room with a dining area, kitchen which has Masonite all the way to the ceiling, and a nice bed! In winter, she is kept warm by triple Panel-ray unit. In the summer she plays under the large trees and on the well worn lawn. She's going to move, so she wants me to tell you that you'll enjoy her home as much as she did. Oh, yes, she told me that it's priced at only $7,950. I she's asleep, we'll show you through.
HOW LUCKY YOU ARE if you're handy with a few tools. We have almost-completed homes in an exclusive location which need finishing. Over 1,400 square feet in each plus an attached garage. Each has large bedrooms, gigantic living room, separate utility room, ceramic tile bath and a huge kitchen with ceramic drain, built-in breakfast bar and loads of closet space. Water well and house, and large lot. ONLY $13,750.

Eight Wildcats Scheduled For Drilling In West Texas Areas

Applications for eight wildcat explorations for West Texas Counties have been filed with Railroad Commission of Texas offices in Midland, San Angelo and Abilene.

C. H. Sweet of Midland plans to drill No. 1 George B. McCamey in Southwest Upton County, six miles east of the town of McCamey.

It is scheduled for a 2,100-foot bottom with cable tools.

Gas-oil ratio was not reported. The San Andres was topped at 4,321 feet and pay at 4,322 feet. Elevation is 3,557 feet.

Location is 330 feet from north and 2,485 feet from west lines of section 16-21a-35e.

New officers of the New Mexico Geological Society were elected at the recent meeting of that organization in Roswell.

They are: John E. Allen, New Mexico Bureau of Mines and Mineral Resources, president; Phil T. Hayes, United States Geological Survey, secretary; and Ross Johnson, United States Geological Survey, treasurer.

John Emery Adams, president of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists, addressed the convention, speaking of the AAPG headquarters in Tulsa and also of plans for next year's convention at St. Louis.

L. G. Weeks, Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, spoke on "Middle East Geology and Its Oil Fields." According to Weeks, a 90,000 barrel per day well in a 60-mile field is an ordinary occurrence there.

Other papers presented were: "Pre-Cambrian Basement of Southeastern New Mexico" by Edward E. Kinney, independent. "Geology of the Raton Basin, New Mexico" by Phil Helmig, Malco Refineries.

Several scholarships will be awarded to next year's graduates and under-graduates in New Mexico schools.

Increase In Income Reported By Ohio For First Quarter

FINDLAY, OHIO.—The Ohio Oil Company's net income for the first quarter of 1953 was $10,435,504 or $1.59 per share, J. C. Dognell II, president, told stockholders at the sixty-sixth annual meeting recently. The earnings represent an increase of $407,027 or six cents per share, which is approximately four percent over the first quarter of last year.

Higher levels of operations in all phases of the company's activity resulted in net sales and other income of $69,861,945. While this was $8,161,858 more than in the first quarter of 1952, the increase was (Continued On Page Three) slightly west of the Hurdle field which produces from the Grayburg at an average depth of 2,081 feet. Crane Test

J. D. Wraether, Jr., of Dallas No. 1 McKnight is to be drilled as a

10,800-foot Ellenburger wildcat in Northwest Crane County, 25 miles northwest of the town of Crane. Site is 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 7, block 46, G&MMB&A survey. It is three miles southeast of the Yarborough & Allen (multipay) field. Fryer-Hanson Drilling Company of Midland will have the rotary contract.

Stonewall Area
Donald C. Orange of Abilene No. 1 J. W. Kennedy is to be dug as a 5,650-foot wildcat in Southwest Stonewall County, 2,640 feet from east and 330 feet from south lines of section 172, block 1, H&TC survey and 13 miles southwest of Aspermont. It is one and one-quarter miles north of the Nenny (Pennsylvanian) field.

T. A. Kirk of Eastland already has started drilling on a 6,300-foot Ellenburger wildcat in Northeast Nolan County.

It is No. 1 J. W. Lynch, 1,180 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of block 299, Daniel Magee survey and four miles east of Sweetwater.

It is one and one-half miles north of the Faver field. At last report, the project was being drilled below 3,000 feet.

Robert King & Ford & Sheets & Walton Drilling Company of Breckenridge spotted location for a 4,300-foot wildcat in East-Central Runtels County, 10 miles southeast of the town of Winters.

Near Crews Pool
Site is 3,597 feet from west and 5,413 feet from south lines of Austin & Williams survey No. 265, abstract 1. It is three-quarters of one mile southeast of production in the shallow West Crews field.

F. Kirk Johnson of Fort Worth No. 1-B W. C. Blanks is to be drilled as a 7,000-foot wildcat in Northwest Coke County.

Drillsite is 467 feet from north and east lines of section 2, block 2, H&TC survey and one and three-eighths miles southwest of production in the Jameson (Pennsylvanian) field.

Ned C. Butler spotted site for a shallow wildcat in Southwest Kent County, 15 miles southwest of the town of Clairmont. It will be drilled as No. 1 B. Wallace, 390 feet from north and west lines of section 61, block 4, H&GN survey. It is slated for a 2,500-foot bottom.

Abernathy Drilling Company of Crane filed application requesting permission to drill a shallow wildcat six miles west of Grandfalls and in North Pecos County.

It is to go to 500 feet as No. 1 G. Lehman Estate. Location is 330 feet from north and 910 feet from west lines of the southwest quarter of section 107, block 8, H&GN survey.

Operations are to start at once.

King Wildcat In Schleicher Finds Shows

Shows of oil, gas and water have been reported in Richard King, Jr., of San Angelo No. 1-18 Otto Williams, wildcat in Central-East Schleicher County, and plugged orders have been issued for a wildcat in the West-Central portion of the same county.

King No. 1 Williams was drilled from the straw reef from 5-109 to 5,129 feet. Tool was open one hour and 45 minutes. Gas surfaced in 15 minutes, with no gauge or estimate being made on volume.

Recovery was 80 feet of free oil, 30 feet of oil and water-cut mud and 840 feet of salt water.

Taking DST
The project was bottomed at 8,180 feet with another drillstem test slated.

Location is 467 feet from south and east lines of section 16, block 1, GHA&A survey and 20 miles east of Eldorado.

The failure is B. L. McFarland, Inc., and Texas Crude Company No. 1-46 Middle, Ellenburger failure one mile north of Eldorado. It was drilled to total depth of 7,210 feet. The Ellenburger was topped at 7,038 feet, elevation 2,452 feet.

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of the northeast quarter of section 45, block LL, TC survey.

WTGS Meet Tuesday To Feature Film

"Water Wilderness," a film featuring scenes in the Florida Everglades will be shown at the next semi-monthly luncheon meeting of the West Texas Geological Society.

The meeting will be held in the Crystal Ballroom of Hotel Schaeffer at 12 noon.

The film was taken by Ed Dodd, creator of "Mark Trail," newspaper comic strip.

Walter G. Moxyer, Forest Oil Corporation, is chairman of the luncheon program committee of the society. He is aided by E. L. Maxwell of Lion Oil Company.

W. H. (Henry) Conking, president of WTGS, will preside.

Petroleum Industry Accountants To Hold Meeting In Tulsa

TULSA.—Accountants, controllers and auditors in the petroleum industry and in general fields will gather in Tulsa for the seventh annual Conference of Accountants on Thursday and Friday.

Sessions will be at the University of Tulsa, near the site of the International Petroleum Exposition. This mammoth trade show, held every four years in Tulsa, "the Oil Capital of the World," is being staged May 14-23.

A tour of the exposition is planned for the visiting accountants on the closing afternoon of the conference. To discuss Tulsa.

Texas Gulf To Drill NE Stepout To Oil Area In C-E Ector

Texas Gulf Producing Company No. 1 Henry Sander is to be a one location northeast stepout to production in the Headlee (Ellenburger) field of Central-East Ector County.

It is four miles northeast of Odessa and 1,980 feet from north and east lines of section 8, block 41, T-2-S, T&P survey.

Drilling to 13,500 feet to try for production in the Ellenburger is to start at once.

The new project is one location northeast of Texas Gulf No. 2 Headlee, second well in the area to flow oil from the Ellenburger.

That exploration has set casing on bottom and is preparing to perforate, test and complete.

Gulf To Go Deeper At Glass Prospector In SW Marlin Area

Gulf Oil Corporation No. 4-B George W. Glass, Southwest Marlin County exploration, 11 miles north of the city of Midland, is making hole below 10,743 feet in lime and shale.

This prospector, which is outside the proven area for production from any zone in the Glass multipay region, started out under a permit (Continued On Page Three)

This well is the second to be drilled in the Lakeway area. It is one location south of the Hassie Hunt Trust Estate and Dan Auld No. 1 Timmons, the field opener, which was completed several weeks ago.

The well drilled to a total depth of 9,914 feet. The 3 1/2-inch casing is cemented on bottom. The cement was drilled out from inside the pipe to 9,880 feet.

Top of the Pennsylvanian reef line is at 9,788 feet, which is on a datum of minus 6,530 feet.

Location is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 142, block 12, EL&RR survey. It is two miles southwest of Lakeway and 14 miles northwest of Talaha.

COMPLETES CASING COURSE—James E. Baker, right, a derrickman on an Humble Oil & Refining Company drilling rig now on location six miles offshore from Point Barrow in the Galveston Bay, was the 5,000th man to receive a diploma for completing the University of Texas Petroleum Extension course, "Handling and Running Casing." Baker is shown shaking hands with C. J. Mosley, petroleum training instructor.

Herbert L. Garrett, superintendent of the Permian Basin of West Texas and Southeast New Mexico, was honored and his wife, Mrs. Herbert, Jr., reside at 1201 West Indiana in this city.

New Mexico Sectors Given Five More Wildcat Projects

In Southwest Valencia County, Lynch Oil Company will re-enter an old dry hole at total depth of 6,196 feet and re-drill it to the granite.

It is No. 1 Dallas and is located 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 5-6n-1e and seven miles northeast of Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 Santa Fe-Pacific, active wildcat.

Phillips Expects To Be Moving Large Amount Of Spraberry Gas Before End Of This Year

The announcement made last week by top executives of Phillips Petroleum Company that the concern will start delivery of 220,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day, late in 1953, to Permian Basin Pipe Line Company indicates that the Phillips company expects to be able to provide outlets for a large volume of gas from the Spraberry Trend Area before the close of 1953.

Currently Phillips is said to have sufficient outlets for all of the casinghead gas it is connected with in the Permian Basin except for that it has under contract in the Spraberry Trend Area and that it has developed in the Puckett (Ellenberg) area of Pecos County.

To help Spraberry there is only one completed gas well in the Puckett region at this time. It will not run any large amount of gas when it gets a pipe line.

The Phillips announcement that it is under contract to deliver 220,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day from West Texas to the Permian Basin Pipe Line when that line is completed would indicate that a major part of that gas will be taken from the Spraberry.

When additional pipe line outlets are provided for the Spraberry for around 200,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day that will mean that hundreds of the approximately 2,000 Spraberry wells which are now shut-in can be reopened and put on production.

When that time comes the Spraberry "will come back to life."

The Phillips statement with regard to the gas delivery matter follows:

"Phillips Petroleum Company will start delivery of natural gas from the West Texas area during the later part of 1953 under contracts covering the sale according to an announcement by K. S. Adams, chairman and Paul Endacott, president of Phillips.

"Construction of the facilities for transporting this gas to the Northern Natural Gas Company's pipe line in the Texas Panhandle, which serves northern markets, started immediately after the Federal Power Commission granted the necessary authority to Permian Basin on May 1.

"A substantial portion of the total gas volume will be residue gas after extraction in Phillips West Texas plants of 427,000 gallons per day of natural gas liquids.

"This pipe line will also provide a market for Phillips natural gas reserves in the new Puckett (Ellenberg) field, Pecos County, where the discovery well completed in 1952 by Phillips flowed at the rate of 100,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day.

"This will be the first major delivery of gas under new contracts contributing to an increase in Phillips daily natural gas deliveries of 718,000,000 cubic feet over the next

Sunray Is Negotiating For Two Manufacture Section Projects

TULSA, OKLA. — Negotiations are underway by Sunray Oil Corporation on two manufacturing division projects which, if consummated, will have an important bearing on the company's future growth.

It was announced at a meeting of the company's directors held immediately following the annual meeting of the Sunray shareholders.

The first of these developments is a new 6,000-8,000 barrel per day cooking unit to be built in connection with the company's catalytic cracking refinery at Sunray, Okla.

The second is a proposed new products pipe line from the Sunray refinery to a water transportation terminal on the Mississippi River.

These additions to Sunray's facilities, if installed, will require several millions of dollars of capital investment and negotiations are underway with a group of investment bankers who are interested in underwriting the necessary expenditure, the company's statement declared.

The planned financing will relieve Sunray from the necessity to use its own working capital in the enterprise, but the company will retain a 50 per cent corporate interest in the facilities and will supervise the management of the projects.

Many Tons Of Coke The proposed cooking plant will produce 250 to 300 tons of petroleum coke per day from Number 6 residual fuel-oil which is of little demand on inland markets. In addition to this coke production, which is a high demand product, the new plant will produce coker gasoline and coker gas oil which will be charged back into Sunray's catalytic cracking unit to produce from 4,800 to 7,000 barrels per day of pipe line products including gasoline, gas oil, butane and propane.

The new process will enable Sunray to increase the company's volume of high market demand products with a minimum capital investment.

Relatively minor revisions in the company's catalytic cracking process will enable the company to handle the charging stocks which will be produced by the coking plant.

Water Transportation The increased volume of catalytically refined products will be greater than the company's present pipe line facilities outlets can economically accommodate. The new pipe line to water terminal on the Mississippi will give the company the benefit of water transportation rates and will adequately take care of the new products to be manufactured.

All present directors of Sunray Oil Corporation were re-elected at the annual meeting of the company's shareholders. They are: L. W. Bennett, J. K. Ellis, W. D. Forster, D. L. Frawley, Edward Howell, F. B. Parrish, Alfred L. Rose, A. A. Seeligson, Glenn J. Smith, D. R. Snow, Paul E. Tallaferrero, W. C. Whaley and C. H. Wright.

Eight Wildcats—

The exploration will be 1,620 feet from south and 1,050 feet from east lines of section 12, block 110, plat survey.

It is 42 miles northeast of Boracho. Drilling is to start at once.

C-N Andrews Duster Abandoned, Plugged

Makin Oil Company and associates No. 1 E. R. Crews, Central-North Andrews County wildcat, 12 1/2 miles north of the town of Andrews has been abandoned and plugged and abandoned on a bottom of 6,140 feet in middle Permian lime.

It found only sulphur water in drilling to that depth.

Location was 680 feet from north and east lines of section 9, block A-34, plat survey.

It was two and three-quarter miles northwest of the Means (San Andres) field.

SE Mitchell Pool Gets New Tester

Sun Oil Company has staked location for its No. 5 V. T. McCaba in the North Jameson (Strawn) field of Southeast Mitchell County.

Location is 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 22, block 1-A, H&TC survey and 23 miles southeast of Colorado City.

Rotary tools will be used to drill to projected depth of 6,300 feet. Operations will begin at once.

Schleicher Wildcat Drilling Ahead After Canyon Sand DSTs

C. L. Norsworthy, Jr., of Dallas No. 1 Powell, wildcat in Central-East Schleicher County, is drilling deeper after drillstem tests in the Canyon sand.

Operator drillstem tested that formation from 4,341 to 1,389 feet. Tool was open two hours. There was a weak blow of air throughout the period.

Recovery was 60 feet of slightly oil cut mud. Flowing pressure was between 30 to 60 pounds and shut-in pressure after 15 minutes was 220 pounds.

Another drillstem test was run from 4,388 to 4,450 feet with the tool open two hours. There was a weak blow of air throughout the period.

Recovery was 95 feet of drilling mud and 90 feet of salt water. No shows of oil or gas were present. Flowing pressure was between 70 and 120 pounds and 15-minute shut-in pressure was 1,650 pounds.

Location is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 21, block A, and 23 miles east Eldorado.

Ellenburger Is Being Tested, After Acid, At NE Ector Wildcat

V. A. Brill and associates No. 1-A David Fasken, Northeast Ector County wildcat, 11 miles north of Odessa is swabbing to test on perforated section in the Ellenburger at 13,505-540 feet.

That zone had been swabbed naturally and swabbed dry. It has now been treated with 500 gallons of acid. Operators are now swabbing to clean out and test after the acid.

The interval had developed slight shows of oil and gas in drillstem tests. The project is bottomed at 13,833 feet and the casing is cemented on bottom.

Location is 467 feet from north and 856 feet from east lines of section 32, block 42, T-1-N, G&MMB and A survey.

It is one mile north of the discovery well of the Mac Boring (Wolfcamp) field. The Brill No. 1-A Fasken failed to log any shows of possible production in the Wolfcamp section.

NE Culberson Area Gets New Project

Mills & Lee of Del Rio is to drill the No. 8 Fisher as a 1,000-foot cable tool project in the Rustler Hills area of Northeast Culberson County.

R. E. (Dick) Albert, Jr., identified in the sale and distribution of oilfield mud and chemicals was elected first president of the new association.

Purposes Listed

The organization was formed to unite all distributors of oilfield mud and chemicals throughout the nation. The association is a non-profit group to promote the interest of all members, to interchange information between them, and to represent the members in various dealings with the government regulatory bodies and with oilfield mud manufacturers and other persons with whom the distributors do business.

The new association is to be incorporated under the laws of Delaware and its principal office will be at 1650 National Bank of Commerce Building, New Orleans.

Other Officers

Other officers elected were: Ike W. Hawkins, Mud Supply Company, Lake Charles, La., vice president.

Zeke Fowler, Kaffie Lumber and Building Company, Corpus Christi, secretary.

Nathan B. Gary, Gary-Nees Lumber Company, Bowie, Texas, treasurer.

The need has long been felt by the distributors for a trade association. This is the first effort of any of them to unite their collective activities for their mutual benefit and for the benefit of the petroleum industry in which they play a major part.

WASHINGTON OIL—Permanent Government Policy On Petroleum Imports Is Possibility

By JOSEPH HUTTLINGER
Reporter-Telegram Washington Office Correspondent
WASHINGTON — A new, permanent government policy on petroleum imports may emerge in the next year or two to end the recurrent congressional battles for a law to curb petroleum imports.

That stark thought came to many who sat through the hearings last week as oil men testified for and against a proposal to hold imports to 10 per cent of domestic demand. That is 728,000 barrels daily instead of more than 1,000,000 barrels daily at the present.

The drive for a law won't win final approval of Congress this year, although it has wider support in Congress than at any time within recent memory. President Eisenhower, once urged to step into the picture to get imports reduced without a law, bowed out last week at his Thursday press conference.

In the long run, however, some program, perhaps by legislation, may be needed. A quota ceiling is one scheme, but it's highly controversial. World production is another, but the problems are huge. Action by the Interstate Oil Compact Commission, through revision of its charter, is under study, but difficult. Meanwhile, oil imports rise year by year. The federal government asks more and more spare domestic producing capacity. The larger the spare, the louder the clamor against oil imports.

Agree On One Thing

All testifying agree on one thing: That is that oil imports should supplement, but not supplant domestic production. After that, they part company. Domestic producers say imports are supplanting today; importers say they are not.

As a stopgap measure, the National Petroleum Council will be asked for its views on petroleum imports at its next meeting May 28 by the Interior Department. Whether the council will reply by reaffirming its earlier stand, in 1949, or make a new study of the situation, is to be seen.

"Somewhere in this fierce competitive setup is a need for an umpire to look after the national interest," says J. P. Coleman, Wichita Falls, Texas, president of the National Stripper Well Association. "We believe you gentlemen (Congress) should be that umpire. The thing is beyond the control now of the importers—even if they wanted to practice restraint. A balance must be struck between foreign development and domestic development."

The Batsell Plan

Going further was Elmer E. Batsell, counsel for the Independent Refiners Association. He agreed that an umpire is needed, and he wanted that without an orderly and sensible program, imports will increase beyond fair levels and rigid quotas for oil imports will be enacted into law. He preferred a compromise solution.

Batsell, former counsel for the Petroleum Administration for Defense, suggested, first, that Congress adopt as a policy the National Petroleum Council finding that imports should supplement but not supplant domestic oil output. To add teeth, he suggested, second, that Congress "charge the Chief Executive with carrying it out by all appropriate means, including cooperative and voluntary action of importing companies."

While no importing company asked for an umpire, several top officials privately expressed keen interest in the Batsell idea. J. W. Foley, vice president of the Texas Company, agreed that Congress should reaffirm "as U. S. Government policy" the NPC's supplement-supplant view.

The Batsell suggestion seems to many as one idea that deserves study as a compromise solution to the recurring oil imports problem. Ready To Make Deal

As for this year's fight, the Eisenhower Administration is ready to make a deal, if needed, to stop legislation that might restrict oil imports. So says Rep. Cleveland Bailey (D-W Va) in his testimony. He named an income tax cut, a high-tariff member on the U. S. Tariff Commission, and a commission to study oil imports as possible trading stock.

A parade of domestic petroleum and coal producers asked the committee for relief. They argued that domestic production is down 400,000 barrels daily from a few months ago, that well drilling is far below the government goal of 55,000 wells this year, that costs are rising while prices are at depressed levels, and that the security of the nation is threatened as domestic producers lose incentive to hunt for oil.

Among those testifying were: Clyde M. Foraker, president, Ohio Oil and Gas Association, Columbus; Russell B. Brown, Washington, counsel, Independent Petroleum Association of America; Charlton H. Lyons, Shreveport, president of IPAA; B. L. Majewski, president, Great American Oil Company; J. R. Butler, Houston, independent producer; A. S. Ritchie, Wichita, Kan., Kansas Independent Oil and Gas Association; J. P. Jones for New York and Pennsylvania producers; H. B. Fell, Ardmore, Okla., executive vice president, IPPA; and Coleman.

Yugoslavia To Use Free Grecian Port

BELGRADE, YUGOSLAVIA — (AP)—Yugoslavia will begin use of the free port of Salonika in Greece to increase shipments to Eastern markets.

The government has earmarked a million dollars for improvement of harbor facilities.

On the other side were Eugene Holman, president, Standard Oil Company (N.J.); Sidney S. Swenrud, Gulf Oil Corporation; B. Brewster Jennings, president, Socony-Vacuum Oil Company; R. G. Follis, president, Standard Oil Company (Calif.); and Foley, also, oil jobbers.

The importers said, in general, that no quota ceilings should be imposed, that imports are not excessive, that well drilling in the U. S. is ahead of last year, that domestic production will be higher this year, that production cutbacks in Texas are "seasonal" and that national security demands unlimited oil imports.

A clincher-witness was O. H. Ellis, National Oil Jobbers Council, who said imports are too high and called for "industry statesmanship" not a law to handle the situation. He added: "If we have so much coal and so much oil in this country that it is necessary to impose restrictions on imports, then we recommend that this committee give consideration to a reduction in the depletion allowances granted those industries since this inducement, or at least a part thereof, is no longer necessary."

Ohio Income—

Higher In 1953

Sales and revenue in 1953 are expected to be higher than in 1952, Donnell said, but corresponding costs and expenses will also be greater. As a result, net earnings should conform closely to the $6.00 per share earned in 1952. Capital expenditures will continue at a high level in 1953, concentrated largely in the production and refining phases of the business.

Reports by the company's officers showed these operational results for the first quarter:

Net crude oil production averaged 97,701 barrels per day—4,962 barrels or 5.4 per cent more than in the same period last year.

The company's pipe line systems gathered and transported an average of 501,664 barrels per day, which is an increase of 15 per cent over the average of 433,000 barrels per day in the first three months of 1952.

Ohio Oil's two refineries processed more than 3,500,000 barrels of crude oil during the quarter. This volume, averaging 38,900 barrels per day, was 2.6 per cent greater than in the same period a year ago.

Sales volume of petroleum products totaled about 145,000,000 gallons. This was 5.8 per cent more than in the first quarter of 1952, with the revenue from such sales increasing 6.3 per cent.

During the quarter, the production department completed 117 wells, compared with 105 last year in the same period. Of the 117 completions, 38 were producers, 20 were dry, and 59 were drilled in connection with water-flooding projects. Funds allocated for exploration and development activities in 1953 amount to $36,000,000, approximately the same as last year. More than 40 per cent of this figure will be utilized for exploration.

Gardner Opper Is Completed In E-C Rannels Area

The Lindemera area of East-Central Rannels County gained a new pay opener with the completion of Thomas D. Humphrey and Sons, of Dallas No. 6-A C. T. Touget, an upper Gardner sand discovery.

The opener was completed for a daily flowing potential of 117 barrels of 40-gravity oil with gas-oil ratio of 2.300-1. Production was through a 20 64-inch choke and from open hole between 3,854 feet and 5 1/2-inch casing was set and the total depth of 3,256 feet.

Operator reported that only two feet of the pay was drilled because of iron in the hole. The section was fractured.

The upper Gardner was topped at 3,836 feet, elevation not reported. Location is 1,510 feet from north and 330 feet from east lines of section 32, block 532, D. Diaz survey and six miles southwest of Crews.

New Gasoline Additive Said To Give More Power To Cars

A new gasoline additive described as the "biggest development in motor fuel since the introduction of tetraethyl lead 31 years ago" will be added to Shell Oil Company's premium gasoline, F. S. Clulow, manufacturing vice president, announced.

The new ingredient will be supplied this month in 16 cities and will be made available nationwide in about 90 days.

"It gives the average car up to 15 per cent more power, more mileage, and from 50 to 150 per cent longer life for spark plugs," he said. Gasoline containing the new product also cleans old plugs and cuts down pre-ignition, the most serious cause of knocking. The new additive is TCP, a cresyl (rhymes with wrestle) compound, Clulow said.

The first cities to get the gasoline are Akron, Ohio; Atlanta, Ga.; Baltimore, Md.; Boston, Mass.; Cincinnati, Ohio; Detroit, Mich.; Houston; Louisville, Ky.; Memphis, Tenn.; Minneapolis, Minn.; Portland, Ore.; Sacramento, Calif.; St. Louis, Mo.; St. Paul, Minn.; San Diego, Calif.; and Spokane, Wash.

TCP gets its result by ensuring more efficient burning of the gasoline. As an engine is used, a metallic deposit, sometimes so thin that it can be examined only by X-ray methods, forms on the spark plugs. This deposit can short circuit the plugs and prevent them from making the spark that ignites the fuel.

"This is amazingly common, but the average driver isn't generally aware of it," Clulow said. "Modern

Barstow Graduates Will Hear Sul Ross President Thursday

BARSTOW — Dr. Bryan Wildenthal, president of Sul Ross State College, Alpine, will deliver the commencement address at the graduation exercises for Barstow High School at 8 p. m. Thursday in the school's auditorium.

C. W. Wright, superintendent of Barstow schools, will present the diplomas and awards.

Graduating seniors are Sue Wilson, Eddie Knowles, Dixie Turner, Joy Marie Allredge, Jackie Haynes, Bill Roach, Bill Cummings and Dudley Rogers.

Baccalaureate services were held Sunday in the high school auditorium with the Rev. Earl Bissex, pastor of the First Christian Church in Pecos, delivering the sermon.

The service was highlighted by a prelude by Martha Westbrook, invocation by J. E. Echols, and choral readings of the Bible by members of the senior class.

Closing exercises for the Barstow Grade School will be held Wednesday evening with each class participating.

Auto Industry Looks To End Of War With Confidence In Economic Future

By WADE JONES
NEA Staff Correspondent

Detroit—What happens to the nation's economy if peace comes? Will production fall off? Will there be unemployment? How severe a recession, if any, can be expected? Or does the boom continue?

Economists are looking at this world auto capital for some of the answers. Here's why. The industry plans to sell about 6.7 million cars and trucks this year. At an average price of $2,500 each, that would be nearly $15 billion worth.

About one million people will manufacture these automobiles and their parts. Another one and one-half million people will sell and service them. This mighty business machine has resulted in three out of every four American families owning a car.

Everything's Rosy

With such a giant industry so closely geared to consumer whims and needs, the economists figure it must reflect pretty accurately in advance what may be expected for the national economy as a whole. If hitches develop in the automotive field, they can logically be expected to develop elsewhere in the economy.

And how's business in Detroit these days? It depends on whom you talk to. With the top brass in the Big Three—General Motors, Ford, and Chrysler—everything's rosy.

Plants Are Expanding

"All our thinking is directed toward increased production to meet a steadily increasing demand for our products," says a Ford spokesman. And to back up the statement he points to the fact Ford has spent 900 million dollars for expansion since 1945, and that another 500 million dollars worth is in the works.

It's the same with General Motors. "I can foresee a sales volume (for GM) of approximately nine billion dollars for 1953, of which about 20 per cent. will represent defense products," says General Motors President Harlow H. Curtice. "This compares with approximately seven and one-half billion dollars of sales in 1952."

Chrysler says: "Our production and sales are steadily increasing. We are building about 6,000 passenger cars daily now, and we want to increase that."

As assembly lines roll, Detroit's top brass ponder the future. Left to right, Henry Ford II—"A challenge above and beyond the call of business-as-usual." Walter Reuther—"The most compelling challenge our free economy faces." Harlow H. Curtice—"They still have an appetite."

No cuts in production and no layoffs of workers are foreseen, and the general belief is that even a complete switch from military to civilian production can be accomplished smoothly.

"Should our defense activities be largely terminated, it is likely that civilian production requirements will offset reductions in employment rolls in defense plants," says Ford.

Used Car Market

But down along Livernois, the fabulous street where new and used car lots stretch some five miles, you hear a slightly different story. Used cars aren't moving well, and in some cases new cars are selling all too slowly.

The motor malady as regards used cars is pretty much nation-wide, ac-ording to reports. A spokesman for the National Used Car Dealers Association here estimates used car prices are down about 14 per cent. on the average since mid December.

Buying On Credit

The economists are watching the used car situation closely. For one thing, there's the feeling that if used cars aren't selling, the same situation soon may apply to new cars. And the latter can mean cuts in production and even a beginning of unemployment.

For another thing, more and more cars are being bought on installment credit, which is now operating at record volume. Whereas only 21 per cent of cars were bought on credit right after World War II, today about 75 per cent of total sales are installment.

This situation, existing also in home loan and other fields, makes some economists think there is entirely too much business now being done on credit. "The lines on the chart are beginning to run too close to the ones of 1929," says one economist.

But GM's Curtice says people have more money to spend than ever before. They still "have an appetite for new products," he says. "Disposable income per person employed—after price and tax adjustments—is 20 per cent greater currently than in 1940. Aggressive salesmanship has stimulated their appetite in the past. It can continue to do so."

The automobile industry and the United Automobile Workers union are not usually to be found in sweet accord on the problems of the day. But, if GM President Harlow H. Curtice can be considered a spokesman for the industry, they seem to agree on one point he makes.

Old Pilots Keep On Flying, Show Better Safety Records

LOS ANGELES —Old airplane pilots don't even fade away. They just keep pushing 'em on through.

There now are more than 1,000 civilian pilots in this country past the age of 60, Dr. Ross A. McFarland of Harvard University School of Public Health says.

But the senior fliers still are doing a good job. A study of 60 civilian air crashes shows that pilot aging had nothing to do with the crackups, Dr. McFarland said.

Functional Age
These and other findings about increasing numbers of people who accumulate many birthdays but do not grow old brought a proposal from a Los Angeles psychiatrist that a method for determining a person's functional age might be useful to society. Under this way of reckoning, a person might be young at 60 or old at 35.

Dr. McFarland cited tests which show that older persons are less affected by high altitude than younger pilots. He said younger pilots faint more quickly than their elders, he said.

Falling eyesight, Dr. McFarland added, is more of a hazard in automobile driving than in piloting planes.

The most obvious difference in the age group, Dr. McFarland said, is that the oldsters cannot remember recent events as well as the young ones.

Of the more than 1,000 men over 60 flying civilian planes, Dr. McFarland reported, 12 are airline pilots, 16 are commercial fliers, and the others operate privately owned planes.

Because of the anomalies in the age picture, Dr. John D. Moriarity, the psychiatrist, proposed that four different things be taken into consideration in determining the effective age of individuals.

Changes In Standard
First would be the person's age in years. Second, the condition of his arteries, heart, kidneys, liver and other vital organs would be rated. Then his mental level would be thrown in, and finally his emotional age. The average of these, Dr. Moriarity said, might be taken as a pretty good indication of the realistic age of the individual.

The existing system for measuring mental age or IQ may have to undergo some alteration, the psychiatrist said, because it does not account for fluctuations which mark the differences between the smart youngster of 18, and the mentally alert executive of 50.

By present standards the mental age remains about constant from the chronological age of 16 on. New data indicate, he added, that the intellectual level rises between 16 and 29, stays constant for 10 or 15 years thereafter and then decreases slowly

The union theory here is that the low-income taxpayers will spend more of what they save in taxes than will people and corporations in the upper brackets.

If Plans Fail

A further stiffener for the economy, UAW officials say, would be to increase "inadequate social security benefits and unemployment compensation payments."

Only if these and similar measures—such as government support of farm prices and cutting prices to stimulate sales—fall, would the UAW go for the government public works program.

How much of such a program the Big Three, for instance would buy is questionable.

But Henry Ford II, president of the Ford Company says this:

"For years we have talked glibly of the superiority of the American way, and the ability of business, given a fair chance, to straighten out some of the world's present difficulties and correct many of its ancient evils."

"I believe we now have a chance to put that talk into action—a challenge above and beyond the call of business-as-usual. And I, for one, will be deeply chagrined if we fail to meet that challenge and give it all we've got."

Pool Well Servicing Firm Opens Office In Midland

Pool Well Servicing Company, featuring air operated casing tools, has opened office in Midland. W. J. (Jack) Alexander has been made manager of the concern here. His offices are at 1214 East Cowden. The concern has brought the Hillman-Kelley power casing tool to West Texas for the first time. One of the features of the tool is that it enables the making up of casing without the use of spinning ropes, chains, and the use of cat-head actuated tools.

Ike To Sign New Tidelands Bill Monday

OFF VIRGINIA —(AP)—President Eisenhower will sign Monday a bill affirming the states' title to submerged lands within their boundaries, his press secretary said Saturday.

The President cruised aboard the yacht Williamsburg before docking at Norfolk. The House passed on Wednesday a bill previously approved by the Senate after more than a month of debate.

Former President Truman had twice vetoed similar measures to give the states title to the submerged lands.

Eisenhower's approval had been forecast widely. He said during his presidential campaign that he would have approved the bill Truman vetoed.

Principal beneficiaries will be Texas, Louisiana and California, where producing oil and gas wells have been drilled in the submerged lands off their coasts.

Abundance Of Crude To Spur Greater Competition Efforts

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON —(AP)—An abundance of crude oil and products has given increased emphasis to competition among oil companies.

This is a normal trend during periods of over-supply. Many companies, in recent reports, have cautiously reminded stockholders and employees a highly competitive era is ahead.

Although happy to accept the competition challenges, industry spokesmen fear over-supply may contain two hidden dangers. They are:

Can explorations for new petroleum sources continue at a healthy rate in face of slow markets and increased drilling costs?

Refining Capacity
Can the industry maintain the reserve producing and refining capacities built for national defense after the start of Korean fighting in 1950?

Everyone seems agreed increased crude prices would remove both problems, but most price hike attempts since the lifting of controls in early February has backfired. Domestic production has slumped and storage stocks have soared since decontrol.

In mid-February, storage of gasoline, kerosene and fuel oils exceeded year earlier figures by 25,845,000 barrels. Last week stocks exceeded comparable 1952 levels by 49,892,000 barrels.

The Railroad Commission meets Tuesday to set the state's crude production allowances for June.

The commission has nothing to do with prices but one of its veteran members warned this week that oil producers must have an added price incentive for crude if they are to stay in business.

Ernest Thompson, who next month completes his twentieth year on the commission, said while dedicating a West Texas crude pipe line:

"The operators east of the Rockies have seen their costs increase 41 per cent since the last crude (price) increase. They are suffering. The drilling operations will decline. Our defense effort will be impaired."

Only a day earlier, Hines Baker, president of Humble Oil, had said January-April exploration and dry hole costs were higher than in 1952.

He said crude and products prices now average no higher than at the end of 1947.

End Of Steel Controls Seen As Blessing To Oil Industry

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON —(AP)—Virtually all federal controls over steel end June 30 and officials are confident the supply situation for the oil industry will work out smoothly.

The Petroleum Administration for Defense (PAD) and the American Iron and Steel Institute support this belief.

Nickel-bearing steel remains under der controls beyond June 30 but only until September 30. Other remaining controls will affect only materials needed by the Atomic Energy Commission and the military.

The PAD, which has been concerned primarily with the allocations of scarce strategic materials, goes on a skeleton staff basis July 1.

A PAD spokesman said the oil and gas industry should adjust itself easily to the changed conditions.

The Iron and Steel Institute reports a new high for shipments of finished steel products in March. The month's total was 7,436,919 tons, 281,000 tons above the previous record set last October.

Shipments of steel products in three months this year set a quarterly record of 21,057,464 tons, an increase of six per cent, or 1,200,000 tons, over 1952.

The first quarter shipments included substantial increases in such products as oil country goods, cold finished bars, sheets and semi-finished forms of steel.

New Pipe Lines
The PAD has estimated 10,000 miles of new oil pipe lines will be built in 1953. This would be a record. There were 6,800 miles laid in 1952.

There were 163,000 miles of pipe lines in operation January 1.

A Justice Department order is expected soon granting major American companies operating overseas immunity from anti-trust law if they revive the Foreign Petroleum Supply Committee.

The committee is to assemble and transmit to the PAD data on foreign oil. The information is of value to the Defense Department in evaluating the strength of countries.

Organized when the Iranian oil fields were shut down, so there could be a cooperative scheduling of shipments to meet requirements of the Western Allies, the committee then had immunity from anti-trust statutes.

THORN FOUND AMONG ROSES

PHILADELPHIA —(AP)—They had to call off the civil service examinations Saturday for sergeant and lieutenant of police. Somebody stole the test questions.

New Conoco Series Will Stress Safer Cars, Road Conduct

Safer automobiles for safer driving is the main objective of Continental Oil Company's Summer advertising program, which begins Wednesday in The Reporter-Telegram.

Conoco's advertising will contain a list of safe-driving tips compiled by the National Safety Council. Commenting on the safety-first theme of the company's Summer campaign, Paul Jones, National Safety Council director of public information, recently stated:

"The need for spreading the gospel of safety is becoming more urgent year after year, considering that more people were killed in automobile accidents last year than were killed in the Korean war. We feel that Continental Oil Company is to be congratulated for undertaking a program of this sort."

Continental's advertisements, which will appear in 1,029 newspapers, will urge car owners to take their cars to Conoco service stations for safety check-ups: in which tires, lights, batteries, cooling systems, and other parts commonly causing unsafe driving conditions will be checked without cost to car owners.

Newspapers again will serve as the main force in Continental's advertising plans, and this program will be supplemented by point-of-purchase advertising at service stations operated by more than 30,000 dealers, it was said.

Andrews High Sets Baccalaureate Rites

ANDREWS — Baccalaureate services for the 1953 graduating class of Andrews High School will be held at 8:15 p.m. Sunday in the High School Auditorium.

Dale Sexson, minister of the Andrews Church of Christ, will deliver the sermon on "The Conditions of a Successful Life." Mrs. Curtis Nix, piano teacher, will play the prelude and processionals.

The Rev. Everett Martin, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will give the invocation and pastor of the Methodist Church, the Rev. Raymond Van Zandt, will say the benediction.

J. Lee Smith, high school principal, will give a scripture reading preceding two hymns, "My Faith Looks Up To Thee" and "Jesus Savior, Pilot Me" by the high school choir under the direction of Bruan Baker. The choir also will give a choral benediction.

Leon Jackson and Mrs. Nix have served as sponsors for this year's class composed of 54 members.

Dirt, Squirt and Quirt

— FARM, DAIRY AND RANCH NEWS —

The market was weak and lower on most classes at last Thursday's Midland Livestock Auction, with more cattle being offered than the week previous. The market was off from 50 cents to $1.50.

Pat calves, good to choice, went for $18 to $22.50; medium to good, $14.25 to $18; cull to common, $10 to $14.25.

Choice cows drew $12.50 to $13; medium, $11.50 to $12.50. Canners and cutters sold for $8.50 to $11.50. Bulls cleared at $12.50 to $15.75. Stocker steer calves sold for $16 to $17.50; stocker heifer calves, $15 to $17. Mixed breed stocker calves and yearlings cashed at $10 to $14. Cows and calves went for $90 to $135.

Twelve cows with calves and two bulls have grazed on acres of dry-land oats since January on the Herb Midkiff farm southeast of Midland. The oats were planted after a rain in September, and have had about four inches of moisture since then. The crop has given excellent protection from soil blowing, Midkiff reports. The cattle were fed only a small amount of bundle feed and are in good condition. They still are grazing the oats.

Midkiff is a past supervisor of the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District, representing Zone 4, which includes the southern part of Midland County.

Joe Heidelberg this week used a land plane belonging to the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District to smooth 18 acres of new land on Midland's new sewage disposal farm which he is preparing to add to the irrigation system there. He has cleared the land and will install a level border irrigation system to use waste water from the sewage disposal system.

A 40-acre field of oats on D. W. McDonald's farm east of Midland went through the recent stand-storms without any evidence of soil movement. Besides the protection to the land, McDonald has had considerable grazing for his cows. At one time he had 27 head on the field.

Six new conservation agreements covering 1,150 acres in the Midland area of the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District were approved by the board of supervisors in their regular May meeting at Stanton.

The new cooperators, and their starting practices in the district's conservation program are: Roy Stockard, 15 acres, seeding range grasses; City of Midland, and Joe Heidelberg on the Rosedale farm, Cloverdale farm, and Sewage Plant farm, a total of 800 acres, stubble mulching and contour farming; A. J. Jordan, 320 acres, seeding range grasses; Roy Kelly, 15 acres, seeding blue panic-grass.

County Agent Charles Green was at DSG's desk Wednesday morning when a slow rain began to fall. "Well," drawled the county agent, "this is just what the doctor ordered—if it keeps up long enough."

ty are planted and a good slow, soaking rain would be just right. Would sure help; the pasture lands, too.

"A hard downpour probably would wash out most of the seed and crops, and would cause some replanting, but any kind of a rain surely would be appreciated."

Better keep that slicker handy, Podner!

County Agent Green told us about Fred Walker, range specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, visiting him here last week-end. Green and Walker visited mesquite spraying demonstrations carried out on Midland County ranches during the last two years.

In the Spring of 1951, it seems, two sections were sprayed by airplane with 2 1/2 of a pound of low volatile ester—2,4,5-T—applied in an emulsion of one gallon of diesel oil and three gallons of water per acre. One section was on the Walton ranch and the other on the Carlsas Judkins place.

"Although conditions at the time were too dry to expect the best results," Green stated, "Walker expressed the opinion that although most of the mesquite was showing resprout growth, a decided advantage in ground cover and grass growth on the sprayed areas, more than offset the cost of the operations."

Control Provided Green said Walker stressed the fact that chemical applications will furnish control but not eradication of mesquite. He said sprayed areas should be reseeded until fall following spraying operations if possible to allow grass plants to increase in vigor and to make a seed crop. Moisture conditions, incidentally, appear to have a strong bearing on the results of chemical spraying. The proper time for spraying, according to Green, is 11 weeks—80 to 85 days—after the mesquites leaf out in the Spring. Both Green and Walker agree that at the present time moisture conditions are too dry to expect good results in chemical treatment of mesquites in the Midland area. But moisture would change this.

A section treated north of Midland last July showed better results for the first year following spraying than any treated so far. Green said. The recovery of the grass on this section, due to reduced competition of the mesquite for moisture and plant nutrients, was very much marked in comparison with adjoining untreated areas. This section was treated after local, heavy showers last July and moisture conditions were more favorable than on the areas sprayed in 1951. Walker noted that root kill appeared to be much better on the sandier soils on this section, decreasing on the tighter spots.

Consider Benefits Green urges ranchers to consider the benefits of reducing competition of the mesquite for water and nutrients, rather than thinking only of the number of resprouts coming back. The county agent has something there, boys. Green says further that Charles Champion, Midland PMA administrative officer, agrees with him that when moisture conditions get right (hope that will be soon, now spraying with 2.45-T is the most economical control of mesquite now known. And believe it or not, the price of spraying now is cheaper than it was a year ago—ranging around $3 per acre.

Green quotes Champion as saying that mesquite control in all likelihood will continue as a conservation practice in the Midland County PMA program in 1954. Payment rate, Green says, probably will

4-H Boys Of Midland County Record Variety Of Programs

Sixty Midland County 4-H boys are looking back on a busy Spring which saw them putting calves on feed, competing in judging and tractor contests and readying for the 4-H Rifle Contest.

Thirteen 4-H members have placed 14 beef calves on feed for livestock shows next Fall and Spring, County Agent Charles Green said Saturday. Those feeding Herefords are Gaylon and Donna Howard, Haney Ivey, Charles and Frank Lockiar, Jimmy Lucas, Rayford Calhoun, Ronnie Graham, Alton and Billy Bryant and James Brooks. Jimmy Leonard is feeding one Angus calf, while Calhoun has a shorthorn in addition to his Hereford.

Frank Lockiar, Rayford Calhoun, Paton Graham and Jacie Reihart placed fifth in the overall scores at the District Judging Contest in Alpine and was third high team in swine judging. The Tractor Operator's Contest Saturday drew 13 Midland boys into the study and competition. Ronnie Graham was county winner in the contest and will represent Midland and the district at the state contest June 25 at Texas A&M College.

Several of the boys have signed up for the 4-H Rifle Contest May 30 in Rankin. Green continued. They will receive training in rifle handling, safety and marksmanship at the Marine Reserve pits at Terminal under the direction of Lt. Tom Turner.

ELIZABETH the Queen

By Marion Crawford
Former Governess to Her Majesty

IX
AND still there is that incessant reminder of the Queen Elizabeth to Queen Victoria, who was so beautiful as a young woman. I remember an old friend of the Royal Family saying to me, as we watched the crowds swirling round the Princess at one of the first garden parties at Buckingham Palace after the war:

"When I was a child I saw Queen Victoria pass in a coach. Although she was very old then, she had in her eyes a calm confidence and determination which I have often seen mirrored in the eyes of Princess Elizabeth."

The remark surprised me a little at the time it was spoken. I had too many happy memories of Princess Elizabeth flushed with laughter, romping in the schoolroom or garden, to see her as a Queen.

But now that I have watched her come into womanhood and take on the Royal dignity that belongs to her, I am convinced that the man at the garden party was right.

There are other things I have remembered, too, as I've watched Princess Elizabeth and her husband Prince Philip together.

I have thought of the responsibilities the Princess must bear at the same time as her duties as a wife and mother.

It was just as much of a trial for her to have her husband overseas making his tour of duty in Malta as it would have been for any other naval officer's wife.

At the same time she had to carry an increasing load of responsibility temporarily lifted from her father's shoulders.

When she at last found time to fly out to her husband, some people were openly critical. No one would have questioned the right of another naval officer's wife to do the same thing, providing she left her children in good hands.

Was Princess Elizabeth to be less a wife because she was Heiress to the Throne?

Surely her stature is the greater because she is indeed a good wife and mother.

And what babies in the world have been left in better hands than those which care for Princess Charles and his sister Princess Anne? Later I shall show with what kindness they are tended, by what capable nurses, under the watchful, loving eye of their grandmother.

And Prince Philip, who is a sailor before he is a courtier, is above all a good father, anxious for his children's welfare.

He has lived his life among men, never seen him other than courteous and correct to everyone. And if he ever meets a shipmate of other rank, who has served with him, he is always quick to speak to him, wherever the two of them are.

In this way he introduced to the King and Queen an old friend he had met in the crowd surrounding the Royal Family at a garden party.

And similarly, at a reception for the Royal couple in Nottingham, he met the man who had been his personal servant in H. M. S. Wallace during the war. They chatted together for a few minutes. Then the man said, "I would like to introduce my wife, sir."

Prince Philip looked at the woman. "I hope you are taking as good care of him as he used to be of me," she said, and went on: "Now you must meet my wife."

Princess Elizabeth was at the other side of the room. Prince Philip went over to fetch her. "I should like you to meet some of my friends of mine, darling," he said.

Man-Made Materials Lead Color Trend

Here are color schemes suggested by Beatrice West, color consultant, for two popular styles of modern design. The numbers indicate where colors are used. For an expansion attic house, left, she suggests: 1—Dark green blend asphalt roof shingles. This color is only moderately dark and creates an illusion to make the house seem lower than it actually is. 2—Dark green siding. This matches the dominant green in the roof. 3—Off-white for trim, garage door and the fence. 4—Coral accent color for the door. For a Colonial style dwelling, right, her recommendations are: 1—Pastel blue roof. 2—Gray-blue siding. 3—White shutters and trim. 4—Blue accent for the door. Note that the usual color plan has been reversed. Siding is dark and shutters are light, instead of the reverse. This gives a color plan that is modern without sacrifice of traditional feeling.

A heavy trend to man-made building materials instead of natural ones is noted by Beatrice West, a professional color consultant. Writing in Home Maintenance and Improvement magazine, she says: "The fact that color is an integral part of the material is a significant factor in the trend. The rainbow of colors that are built into today's roofing and siding offers us an effective way to permanently improve the appearance of our homes and our farms at little, if any, extra cost."

Miss West takes asphalt shingles as an example of a modern man-made material. She points out that blended colors in this factory-produced roofing give the designer wide latitude in selecting siding, trim and accent colors.

In color-styling a home exterior, Miss West discloses, she chooses the roof color first and lets it serve as a background for colors of other parts of the dwelling. These other colors are picked to harmonize with the roof.

"Select the roof color with care," the consultant advises. "Be sure your liking for the roof will last as long as the roof itself—for years to come. With other materials, painting may be necessary in a few years, but the roof color is fixed and consequently should be selected for permanence."

Building Pace Gains Speed For Midland

Construction of additions to residences held the spotlight last week as the building business in Midland began picking up after sinking to a new low the previous week.

Of the 15 permits issued during the seven-day period ending Friday, nine of them were for construction of one- and two-room additions to houses.

F. S. Higgins, city superintendent of inspections, reported that $102,325 worth of permits were issued during the week, bringing the year's total to $824,975.

Permits issued during the week included:

Loftin and Lewis, residence 1210 West New Jersey Street, $7,500. J. T. Miller, residence, 1604 McClintic Street, $22,000. C. P. Stapleton, addition to residence, 1103 West College Street, $1,200. Owen B. Ingram, residence, 1508 West Storey Street, $25,000. C. Rieves, addition to bedroom, 407 East Pine Street, $1,000.

Hays Construction Company, residence, 1615 North Lamesa Road, $8,500. Iva Murray, addition to residence, 921 North Fort Worth Street, $1,500. W. L. Johnson, residence, 2000 Country Club Drive, $10,000. Elias Velarde, addition of two rooms, 904 North Dallas Street, $1,075. R. A. Plunk, 1009 West North Front Street, addition to existing building, $300. Ernesto Sandate, two room addition, 905 Walnut Lane, $11,000. Wesley C. May, addition to residence, 204 West Jax Street, $1,500. T. J. Miles, one-story business and living quarters, 1801 Rankin Highway, $9,350. Mrs. Clyde Adams, addition to residence, 1002 South Dallas Street, $200. F. E. Swenson, 605 North Big Spring Street, garage and store room, $2,200.

There are other kitchen features which also are commanding realtors' respect when it comes to attracting buyers:

1. Good floor plan, permitting efficient preparation of meals without extra steps. Architects are learning that a scientific kitchen is no more expensive to build than an inefficient one.
2. Efficient garbage disposal, either installed in the sink or provided for in a separate unit.
3. A picture window. Not only does this feature admit needed light, but homemakers prefer it to other types of windows because the view refreshes their outlook on life.
4. Adequate storage. Women who are potential home owners have been found to be supercritical of cabinets which are not only too small but are badly located. They want them apportioned equally among range, sink and refrigerator areas.
5. Efficient garbage disposal, either installed in the sink or provided for in a separate unit.

Plenty of Counter Space As much counter space as possible. Housewives look for plentiful food preparation surfaces of easily cleaned material when they inspect new homes for sale.

Q—Is there any way to keep a bathroom mirror from fogging?
A—No practical way. Fogging is caused by the high concentration of moisture in the air. Special non-fogging mirrors are made with concealed heating elements which keep the glass at a high enough temperature so that moisture doesn't collect.

Q—I have been told that a garage floor should slope slightly toward the door. Is that correct?
A—Yes, it's an excellent idea. Gasoline vapor is heavier than air and it can collect in explosive quantities in hollows in a supposedly level floor. But if the floor slopes, the vapor will flow out under the door.

Q—I am planning to put a new asphalt roof on my house. Would it be wise to select green shingles to match the window shutters?
A—If you would like the complete color scheme which that would give you, go right ahead. Color is largely a matter of personal preference, and any homeowner should feel free to use the colors that appeal to him. In your particular case, you might select an asphalt shingle color from the large variety available and then re-paint the shutters if desired. The roof color is chosen first because it is a lasting color. Colors of other parts of the house may need to be painted many times during the life of a roof.

Q—Must a paint brush be cleaned thoroughly if it is going to be used again with two or three days?
A—No, thorough cleaning isn't necessary. Clean out some of the paint, and then wrap the bristles end of the brush in waxed paper. Seal the edges of the paper with tape to keep out the air.

Q—Is it necessary to paint copper door and window screens?
A—Copper won't rust, but it will corrode and protection is needed for that reason. Use spar varnish or screen enamel. If the varnish or enamel is thinned heavily, it won't be so likely to accumulate in the mesh.

Flowers, fruits and vegetables for the queen's table usually are supplied from the royal British estates, wherever the court may be at the time.

"Please settle a rather intricate dispute for us," asks a Brooklyn correspondent. "I am asking on behalf of a Jacoby Canasta Club, consisting of 18 women in this neighborhood.

"It was at the beginning of a canasta hand, and there were several cards in the discard pile but neither side had melded. Each side needed 120 points for the opening meld. The top card of the discard pile was a six, and one of the players at her turn put down on the table three kings, two queens with a joker, and a pair of sixes.

She was reaching for the discard pile when one of her opponents spoke up and announced that the total count (including the six on top of the discard pile) was only 115 points.

"The lady recoiled from the discard pile, leaving down on the table the cards she had tried to meld.

"The top card of the stock pile happened to be a queen. The lady now wanted to meld three kings, three queens and a pair of sixes with the joker for a total of 120 points.

"This raises two interesting questions. Did she have the right to shift the joker from the queens to the sixes? If so, was she liable to the penalty for making an insufficient meld, and did she therefore need a meld of 130 points instead of the normal 120 points?"

"The lady was completely within her rights in shifting the joker and melding only 120 points.

It's true that the lady intended to make an insufficient meld, but she was prevented from doing so. All that she really did was to put her cards on the table before drawing a card from the stock pile.

Fortunately for her, she was able to make a legal meld with the help of the card that she drew from the stock pile. Since there is no penalty for putting cards on the table before drawing, she does not have to meld 130 points.

The lady had the right to shift the joker from the queens to the sixes because she had put her cards down in an illegal meld. Cards put down in an illegal meld may not be transferred, but those put down in an illegal meld may be shifted about.

Kitchen Features Of Today's Home Interest Buyers

Builders with an alert eye out for sales will do well to take note of statistics on kitchens released recently by the government.

According to figures on specifications for FHA-approved homes, there is a growing trend toward installation of easily cleaned material like clay tile in wainscots in the kitchen. Such surfaces are durable, easily cleaned and, above all, fire-proof.

There are other kitchen features which also are commanding realtors' respect when it comes to attracting buyers:

1. Good floor plan, permitting efficient preparation of meals without extra steps. Architects are learning that a scientific kitchen is no more expensive to build than an inefficient one.

2. Efficient garbage disposal, either installed in the sink or provided for in a separate unit.

3. A picture window. Not only does this feature admit needed light, but homemakers prefer it to other types of windows because the view refreshes their outlook on life.

4. Adequate storage. Women who are potential home owners have been found to be supercritical of cabinets which are not only too small but are badly located. They want them apportioned equally among range, sink and refrigerator areas.

HEADED FOR MIDLAND RODEO—John W. Norman and his famed Shetland Pony-drawn miniature stage coach will be seen in the opening day parade and at the initial performance of the 19th Annual World Championship Midland Rodeo, June 3. Nine other small vehicles, all drawn by Shetlands, will be seen here on the opening day of the big area celebration.

Famed Shetland Pony Unit To Appear, Parade In City

One of the really outstanding parade and rodeo acts of the Southwest will appear in the opening day parade and at the initial performance of the 19th Annual World Championship Midland Rodeo.

Duke Jimerson, chairman of the rodeo's parade committee, said Saturday arrangements have been completed with John W. Norman of Winters to bring his famed Shetland Pony unit to Midland Rodeo.

The unit will appear in the rodeo parade at 4 p. m. June 3, and in the arena at Fair Park that night only.

The unit includes 10 miniature vehicles, all drawn by Shetland ponies, as follows: Buggy; buckboard; roadster, drawn by 30-inch Shetland; farm wagon with pair of 40-inch Shetland mules; roadster with 42-inch blue roan Shetland; roadster with 35-inch chestnut dapple Shetland stallion; white roadster with 38-inch white Shetland stallion; white parade wagon; chariot with Shetlands; stage coach with six-pony hitch (one pair of reds, one pair of whites and one pair of blues) in red, white and blue harness and plumes.

Must For Children
Those who have seen the show unit term it the most unusual, the most colorful and the most spectacular aggregation in outdoor show business.

Children and adults alike will thrill at the sight of the Shetlands pulling the miniature vehicles, show officials said. They termed it a "MUST" for all children of Midland and the Permian Basin Empire.

The unit will be one of the top features of the rodeo parade, which also will have at least five bands, more than 20 decorated floats, hundreds of mounted riders, rodeo contestants and officials, military units, sheriff's posse units, scores of clowns and numerous miscellaneous units.

It will be the largest, best and by far the most colorful parade ever staged in Midland, Jimerson said.

Weather Postpones Ninth Atomic Test

LAS VEGAS, NEV.—(AP)—A pre-dawn atomic blast originally scheduled for Saturday was postponed about 24 hours because of unsettled weather.

Thirty-six congressmen and about 200 armed forces staff officers are here to observe the test now tentatively set for Sunday. The ninth in the Spring series, it involves no troop maneuvers and is chiefly for scientific and observational purposes.

The food and drug administration will test how antibiotics stand up to a blast. Some civilian defense shelters and military equipment also will be subjected to the concussion. The first firing of an atomic shell from a cannon, planned for next weekend, is expected to be the last test of the season.

Eisenhower Prepares To Answer Critics On Slashes In Funds For Air Force Use

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—President Eisenhower was reported Saturday to be in a mood to crack down on officials who may resist a proposed five billion dollar cut in Air Force funds.

Congressional leaders who have talked to him say they expect the President to devote part of his radio report to the nation Tuesday night to discussion of his Administration's program for the Air Force. This program is described by its backers as designed to put more combat planes in the air while reducing former President Truman's request for long-range appropriations.

In informal talks, the President is said to have expressed the opinion that the Truman program for a maximum strength eventually of 143 wings represented only a "paper" goal.

Eisenhower is reported to have told lawmakers that his own look at the Air Force has convinced him it is just beginning to get in quantity the planes it needs. He is said to feel the pressing job now is to fill up existing wings as fast as possible and let future goals take care of themselves.

There were clear indications the President has little patience with those who argue about these ultimate goals and who would resist, even covertly, the slicing of appropriations which would authorize future contracts. He apparently will brook no battle within his Administration similar to the Air Force-Navy fight over B-36 bombers during the Truman regime.

Eisenhower's reported intent to uphold strongly Secretary of Defense Wilson's Air Force cut apparently would be designed to meet Democratic criticism of such a move.

The President apparently has satisfied Senator Taft of Ohio, the Republican leader, and other big Air Force advocates among the Republicans that his program is safe from a security standpoint. At the same time, he seems to have blocked off their hopes for deeper cuts elsewhere in the arms program.

Eisenhower's Tuesday night report apparently is being designed to meet just such charges.

Let Critics Wait
Those who have talked with the President say they found him confident, as a military man, that proposed budget cuts will not diminish this nation's ability to defend itself.

Despite outcries by critics, most of the Administration leaders feel that in the end Congress will accept the President's arms program without major changes.

This will not be done, however, without some rather pointed statements on the part of some lawmakers that the responsibility is all Eisenhower's.

WITH THE SERVICES—
Midlander Wins Navy Commission
Three Assigned To Hood Armored Unit

Three Midlanders have arrived at Fort Hood for assignment to the Combat Command "B" of the First Armored Division, famed as a combat group during World War II and reactivated in 1951 under Maj. Gen. Bruce C. Clarke.

Now in training are Franklin E. Harris, son of L. C. Harris, 901 West Taylor Street; John E. Greene, son of Ted Greene, 1004 North Big Spring Street; and Joe G. Chavez, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Perez, 802 North Dallas Street.

Lt. Vincent C. Bash of Tulsa, Okla., who practiced medicine in Midland before entering the service, has won his diploma from the Air Force School of Aviation Medicine at Randolph Field, near San Antonio, and has been assigned to medical facilities in the United States.

He was one of 115 medical officers in the largest class since World War II to successfully complete the introductory course in aeromedical procedures.

Second Lt. Ben F. Meek, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Meek, of Kermit, has joined the 40th Infantry Division's 981st Field Artillery Battalion in Korea.

Meek, who received his ROTC commission from the University of Texas and entered the Army last June, was employed by the Meek Motor Company in Kermit before entering the service. His wife, Frances, lives in Hico.

LAWRENCE PATTON
Now completing Air Force basic training at Lackland Air Force Base near San Antonio is Lawrence Patton, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Patton, 412 S. Terrell Street.

Pvt. Jack G. Madalian, whose wife, Barbara, lives at 1411 South Loraine Street, has arrived in Korea for Army duty with the Second Infantry Division. The graduate of Levelland High School is the son of Mrs. Myrtle Reid, 514 Fifteenth Street, Levelland. He entered the Army in June, 1952, and was stationed at Fort Sill, Okla., before assignment to the Far East.

DENVE G. BLANSCETT
Denver G. Blanscett, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Blanscett, 3011 West Louisiana Street, is home on leave after a tour of duty in the Mediterranean aboard the USS Everglades, now docked at Norfolk, Va. He has been in the Navy two and a half years.

Billy E. Maynard, aviation electronics technician airman, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Maynard of Terminal, has reported for duty with the Composite Squadron Three, a Navy all-weather, fighter squadron, at Moffett Field, Calif.

J. T. KIDWELL
Two Midland Marines took part in Operation Sea Jump, the largest Marine Corps and Navy training exercise ever staged on the West Coast.

102 Eighth Grade
Youths Graduating
At Andrews School

ANDREWS—Some 102 eighth grade students will graduate from Andrews Junior High School at a commencement exercises at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the High School Auditorium.

Preceding the presentation of diplomas by Superintendent Thomas D. Hamilton, a program by eighth grade students will be presented. Sue Maxwell will play the processional and recessional and Bob Jones will give the invocation. The eighth grade band, under the direction of Jimmy Ulmer, will play "Assembly Hour" an overture by Chenette and the eighth grade choir will sing "As A Little Child."

Mike Seay, president of the class, will give an address. Vernon Payne, Junior High School principal will give an address of appreciation to the students following a play.

The play, "The Top of the World" will be given by Curtis Hart, Glenda Morrison, Sandi Nicholson, Hopper Heideberg, James Galloway, Raymond Hughes, Annette DeShazo and Dianne Collins.

Other eighth grade class officers this year were Darrell Hamilton, vice president, and Judy Reynolds, secretary.

VISITS HERE—Ensign Jimmie Greene is visiting his mother, Mrs. J. L. Greene, 706 West Louisiana Street. Following his Midland visit, Greene will report to Bayonne, N. J., where he will attend supply school. He received his Navy commission May 8 at Newport, R. I.

techniques and receive his training and eight weeks studying artillery completing this training, he will be reassigned for duty with an Army artillery unit.

Marine Pfc. Oscar G. Busby, 22, son of Mr. Howard Busby of Midland, is with the Third Battalion Landing Team serving as an automatic rifleman during landing exercises on the island of Hawaii and Maui. Busby entered the Marines in May, 1952.

Billy Hart Hubbs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Barney Hubbs of Pecos, is now in San Diego, Calif., after enlisting in the Navy this week.

Following 11 weeks of recruit training he will return home on leave. Hubbs attended Sul Ross State College, Abilene.

James L. Greene, Jr., son of Mrs. James L. Greene, 706 West Louisiana Street, was among 837 men graduating with the rank of ensign from the Navy's Officer Candidate School in Newport, R. I.

Greene either will be assigned to sea duty or go to a specialist school for further training. During his stay in officers school, he covered such subjects as gunnery, navigation, seamanship, engineering, damage control and operations.

Another American commented: "They think they are better than the rest of us."
The Russians are not allowed to fraternize with Austrians.
Only at a reception the Soviets themselves gave did I find any of them speaking to other peoples.
"Why is it impossible to talk with your people?" I asked one of the Soviets at the reception.
"It is not impossible. We have no regulations against our soldiers talking with Americans," the Soviet answered.

Anyone can imagine how true that statement is.
American-Type Jeeps
Soviet soldiers may be seen walking on the streets, standing guard in front of their installations, and riding about Vienna in jeeps—most of them American-type jeeps.

Around the city, one can see Soviet propaganda and neon-lighted Red stars and giant posters of Stalin.
The Soviets remain sensitive, however, to any anti-Communist propaganda. Though it was all right for Communists to parade in front of the American-operated Bristol Hotel here chanting "Ami Go Home" to the tune of "Marching Through Georgia" the Soviets raised a complaint when some pro-Western Allies shouted back:

"Commies, Go Home!"
According to the provost marshal's office here, the Russians actually complained of "anti-Soviet propaganda" when they heard this "go home" directed their way.

At a press conference for Lt. Gen. George P. Hays, who retired after 35 years of military service, I heard the former commanding officer of U.S. Forces in Austria declare he knew just enough about the Soviets to know "I could never figure out what they'll do next."

"Listening Post"
Two Texans stationed in this "listening post," which reportedly has more spies than any other city in the world, are Cpl. Ollie C. Oringderf of Fort Worth, and Cpl. Joseph Gaunt of Waco.

The soldiers, both stationed with the 65th Military Police Company, go about their jobs with little regard to the Soviets or world politics.
Born in Littlefield, Oringderf, a jaunty red-haired radio patrolman, attended Tolar High School. He is the son of C. H. Oringderf of Fort Worth, and has four brothers there—Verle, Shelton, Melvin and Durwood.

American Keeps Up The Cash Tradition

LONDON—(AP)—An American millionaire is playing a big part in the coronation celebrations of London's Bermondsey docks district.

Mrs. Margaret Biddle, daughter of the late William Boyce Thompson, U. S. coffee magnate, is footing the bill for an elaborate pageant Bermondsey people will stage June 3, the day after Queen Elizabeth is crowned in Westminster Abbey.

Part of the pageant will re-enact the voyage of the Mawflow to America. The historic old ship was built in the Bermondsey district and her skipper Captain Christopher Jones, is buried in Bermondsey's St. Mary's Church.

Court Rules Hardin College Must Admit Negro Students

NEW ORLEANS—(AP)—A ruling that Hardin Junior College at Wichita Falls must admit negro students was upheld Friday by the U. S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals.

The ruling was in a suit against the Wichita Falls Junior College District and other by six Wichita Falls negroes who had sought admission to the junior college.

The negroes were ordered admitted to the college by Federal Court for North Texas. The district court enjoined the college district from discriminating against them because of race or color.

The appeals court said it agreed with the lower court.

"There is no necessity for deciding the constitutionality of any provision of Texas law in determining the fact issue which this case presents," the appeals court said.

It said that in a case already decided, "the issue, as here, related to the extent to which the equal protection clause of the 14th Amendment limits the power of a state to distinguish between students of different races in a state-supported educational institution and in disposing of this issue the court expressly pointed out that it was eliminating from the case the question of constitutionality of the state law which restricts admission to the University of Texas to white students. Other decisions of the Supreme Court are in accord."

Hardin Junior College is affiliated with Midwestern University at Wichita Falls. Four years ago the two-year junior college was made part of Midwestern, established 31 years ago.

No immediate comment was coming from college officials on the New Orleans decision. Dr. James Boren, president of Midwestern,

Midlanders To See Hospital 'In Action' At Open House

Hundreds of Midlanders are expected to visit Midland Memorial Hospital Sunday afternoon to observe the varied operations of the hospital, which has opened its doors to the public as a climax to National Hospital Week, which ends Sunday.

Guides and hostesses for the open house from 1 p.m. until 5 p.m. will be members of the Midland Memorial Hospital Women's Auxiliary, who will preside at a refreshment reception, following the open house.

Every phase of hospital work will be viewed by the guests, who will be shown operating rooms, the hospital laboratory, X-Ray room and diagnostic clinic, kitchen, and sick rooms.

All operations will be explained in layman's language.

Burton N. Sears, hospital administrator, will be on hand to greet visitors.

National Hospital Week, which began May 10, is new this year, though hospitals are familiar with National Hospital Day, observed since 1921. This step forward is possible because women's auxiliaries that are Type V members of the American Hospital Association are volunteering, through their national organization, to help observe this special week in their own hospitals.

Traditionally, this observance has been a time to bring citizens of the community into the hospital, and stimulate their interest in how it operates and what its service means to them. Development of that community interest and understanding is now more important than ever before. As our hospitals become more complicated and more expensive to manage, their dependence on public support grows.

That support can come only when the people of the community understand thoroughly their hospital's problems and needs and its importance to their personal and family protection, doctors say.

National Hospital Week is sponsored nationally by the American Hospital Association.

RECITAL SATURDAY
Piano and voice students of Mrs. Maud Leonard will be presented in a recital at 8 p.m. Saturday in the West Elementary School. The public is invited.

Johnson, besides his church position, is principal of Stanton's elementary schools and was named outstanding citizen of Martin County for 1952 at a recent meeting of the Martin County Chamber of Commerce.

The five top ranking graduates will be the main speaker when commencement exercises are held. They will be Barbara White, class valedictorian; Patsy Pollock, class salutatorian; Jo Jon Hall, Charlene Anderson and Homef Henson.

Their topics have been chosen to depict the timely theme, "The World Calls to Youth."

Lewis Carlie, president of the board of trustees for the Stanton Independent School District, will present diplomas to the graduates who will be announced by M. R. Byrd, high school principal.

Other graduates are Doris Bryant, Francis Geurine, Elsie Loma, Freeda Standefer, Mary Jo Wilhite, Jesse Ree Williams, Tom Angel, Bobby Bryan, Shirley Chesser, Glenn Cross, James Rhodes, Duane Connell, Sammy Foreman.

Ronnie Gilbreath, Herbert Gregg, Leonard Hedrick, Homer Lee Hull, Ray Huffman, Norman Koonce, Richard Lewis, Billy Parum, Leroy Polk, Joe Fuga, and Cary Shoemaker.

Odessa Distribution Firm Is Purchased By Tennessee Milk

Purchase of the Russell Glenn Distributing Company of Odessa by Tennessee Milk Company of Dallas has been announced by Frank Mote, independent distributor for Tennessee Milk in the Midland area.

Sale of Tennessee Dairy products will be handled both through stores and home delivery, Mote explained. These products include homogenized and pasteurized milk, butter-milk, fortified skim milk with vitamins A and D added, sweet cream butter, old fashioned sour cream butter, oleomargarine, whipping cream, coffee cream, whole milk chocolate, orange drink, cottage cheese, yogurt and others.

"Tennessee Dairy company is planning considerable growth within the next year, particularly in the Midland-Odessa area," Mote explained. "This expansion will do a great deal to enlarge our service in this area."

Mote, his wife and three children now live in Odessa, but plan to move to Midland at the end of the school term. He is a member of the Masonic Lodge and the Methodist Church.

Mote's Midland office is at 903 South Dallas Street.

Ancient Roadway Of Timbers Found

ROSSLARE HARBOR, IRELAND—(AP)—A timber roadway, one and a half miles long, which is believed to have been laid more than 1,500 years ago, has been discovered three feet below the surface of Corlona Bog, Kiltoghert, County Leitrim, Ireland.

It is believed 1,000 oak trees were felled to build the road. The timbers are laid longitudinally in three lines on piles driven six feet into the bog.

A similar road was found some years ago at Clonsilla bog, County Kildare, but the newly-found road is unique in that the timbers are laid lengthwise instead of across the direction of the road.

Experts believe the find shows that the growing population of Ireland in those long-ago days was forced to spread out from the limestone lands to the rougher parts of the country.

Murray Assigned To Appellate Court

This week has been set aside as National Hospital Week. We wish to take this occasion to pay tribute to the unselfish service being rendered by the operators of our local hospitals and clinics and by our corps of practicing physicians, surgeons and specialists, as well as our faithful nurses who are striving to adequately care for the needs of our local people as well as those coming in from elsewhere. They are really doing an excellent job, and are due the commendation of us all.

Let us take this occasion to let your physicians and nurses know how much you appreciate their efforts. Call them on the phone, drop by their office for a minute, or drop them a letter of appreciation. You might even send flowers, or a box of candy.

FIRST LEGION POPPY—Six-year-old Joe Steele, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. (Red) Steele, pins an American Legion poppy on Mayor Pro-Tem J. T. Baker's lapel. Poppy Day next Saturday will find Midland American Legion Auxiliary members on the streets to give poppies made by disabled veterans in return for contributions to aid funds for the men and their families.

Legion Auxiliary To Push Poppy Sales Here Saturday

Saturday has been named Poppy Day in Midland when volunteer members of the Midland American Legion Auxiliary will join the nationwide campaign to distribute some 25,000,000 poppies made by disabled veterans in return for contributions to aid the disabled men and help needy children of veterans.

Disabled veterans are the only ones paid in this memorial effort. Alvern Sturgis, president of the Midland group, explained. Sales and promotion is handled by volunteers and by members of state and national headquarters staffs in addition to their regular duties.

Midlanders will be asked Saturday to wear the poppies, replicas of those which grew between the graves in the World War I battle cemeteries in France and Flanders, as a memorial to all of America's war dead.

Proclamation Issued
Saturday was officially set aside as Poppy Day in a proclamation issued by mayor pro-tem J. T. Baker, which read:

"Whereas many men and women, if any of Midland gave their lives in defense of the United States of America in World War I and World War II; and
"Whereas memory of their service and sacrifice is a source of great inspiration to all citizens as our nation faces new difficulties and dangers; and
"Whereas this memory is kept bright by the annual wearing of memorial poppies in their honor and in honor of all other Americans who died in world war services.
Paying Personal Tribute
"Now therefore, I, J. T. Baker, Mayor Pro-Tem of the City of Midland, do hereby proclaim Saturday, May 23 to be Poppy Day in the city and urged that all citizens observe the day by wearing the memorial poppy of the American Legion and American Legion Auxiliary."
William G. Abbott, post commander of the Midland American Legion, echoed Baker's appeal and said, "When the people of Midland wear their poppies next Saturday, they will be paying personal tribute to those who have died for America in three wars and giving aid to those needy veterans and their families who survived the battleground trials."
Rehabilitation Chairman of the Midland Legion Auxiliary is Mrs. L. E. Steele. She will guide the poppy campaign in Midland.

May we suggest this is a good time to express your appreciation to your doctors and nurses.

Midland is indeed fortunate in having a corps of able doctors and nurses that are endeavoring to their utmost to take care of the medical needs of this section. This is a good time to let them know how much their efforts are appreciated.

Hospital Week also calls attention to the leadership of American physicians and other medical authorities in the world of medicine. We of Midland, are especially proud of the expansion that has been going on in our medical facilities, and are happy to take this opportunity to enable Midland residents to see for themselves just what has been accomplished thru their realization of the problem they had to face and their generous response to the appeal, which has culminated in the building of this Hospital.

On this occasion members of the Hospital Staff, physicians, surgeons, technicians, nurses, attendants and office workers alike renew their pledge to carry on to the best of their ability the task of caring for the medical needs of Midland and the great Permian Basin area.

Mrs. Charles Hannon

Betty McDougle Wed To Charles Hannon

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Betty McDougle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. McDougle of Odessa, to Charles Hannon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hannon, 1604 West Kentucky Street.

The couple was married in a double ring ceremony May 1 in Hobbs, N. M. They plan to continue their education at Odessa College, where they have been students for the last year, and at the Colorado School of Mines, Golden, Colo.

The bride was graduated from Odessa High School in 1952. The bridegroom was graduated from St. Bernard's High School, Bradford, Pa., in 1946, and from Bryan-Stratton Business School, Buffalo, N. Y.

The heart-gripping story of Roy Rogers' daughter, Robin, as told by DALE EVANS ROGERS in Angel Unaware

Introduction by Norman Vincent Peale

Born with a tragic handicap, little Robin Elizabeth Rogers was taken from her world-famous parents last August, when she was two years old. In brilliant, tender words, her mother—the wife of Roy Rogers—tells the story of Robin's brief sojourn on earth just as Robin herself must have told it to her Heavenly Father. It is a story of faith and courage, revealing Dale Evans' and Roy Rogers' triumph over one of life's most challenging experiences. This is a book to be read—and cherished—by every man, woman and child in America. $1.00

Dale Evans and Roy Rogers can be heard and seen over your local NBC radio and TV stations.

Drive-In To Hold Opening On Sunday

The Holiday Drive-In, 3110 West Wall Street, owned and operated by Jim Wilkerson, will open formally Sunday.

The drive-in will be open from 6 a.m. until 12 midnight each day and feature curb service from 10 a.m. until midnight.

SERVE GRATED CARROT

Raw grated carrot makes a delicious relish for fish when it's mixed with vinegar, sugar, salt and pepper to taste. Top it with minced parsley or strips of green pepper to make it look pretty.

Manners MAKE FRIENDS

Take what the menu offers, girls, when you are dining out. If it says in black and white that you get beans with your meal, don't ask if you can't have spinach instead. Why? Because a woman never appears charming when she is hagging over anything.

Put charm ahead of food preferences.

Lucille Wemple Is Hostess At Alumnae Meet

Women's Club To Install Officers Hear Talk By Midland Attorney

An address by W. P. Z. German, Jr., and installation of officers will be the highlights of a meeting of the Midland Woman's Club, Inc., at 3 p.m. Thursday in the Church of Christ Annex at 800 West Tennessee Street.

German, Midland attorney, will speak on "Why Not Rename Midland 'Independent City'?"

Native Oklahoman
A native Oklahoman, German has practiced law in Midland since 1938. His father, a native Texan, is an attorney in Tulsa, Okla., and his grandfather was a member of the Constitutional Convention of 1876 in Austin, a delegate from Grayson County, where he was a cotton farmer.

Since coming to Midland, German has been associated with two of the larger law firms, and also has practiced law independently. The present firm of Perkins, German, Mims & Bell was organized in April, 1951.

Army Record
In April, 1942, German enlisted in the Army as a private and was released from the service in July, 1946, as a major in the Judge Advocate General's Department. For the next two years, he was with the legal staff of the Skelly Oil Company of Tulsa, handling litigation for the company in Texas and Oklahoma.

Watson Students Will Give Recitals

The Watson School of Music will present its elementary and advanced students in two recitals this week in the West Elementary School.

The elementary students will be presented Wednesday and the advanced students on Thursday. Both programs will begin at 8 p.m.

More recently, German has been handling the suit by Arthur Harvey and others against the Railroad Commission, which was filed as a result of the shutdown order issued by the Commission on March 25. A judgment was rendered in the suit permitting the operation of all wells in the Spraberry Field that were not wasting gas. The case now is on appeal to the Supreme Court of Texas, where it will be heard May 28.

Church Worker
In addition to his legal practice, German is chairman of the Board of Directors of the First Christian Church and is acting president of the District Convention of Christian Churches.

He was a charter member and the first president of the Midland Optimist Club.

Scout Troop Closes Year With Cook-Out

As its final meeting of the year, Intermediate Girl Scout Troop 51 held a cook-out Saturday at the Haag Ranch, 15 miles from Midland on the Andrews Highway.

A barbecued dinner, prepared by troop members, horseback riding and hiking were features of the day.

Troop members presented their leader, Mrs. Walter Beadle, with a gift of two figurines for her work with the troop.

Members attending were Jonna Beadle, Patsy Breith, Kristi Carlson, Carol Covington, Vicki Dorsey, Julia Herrick, Kisti Howell, Barbara Haag, Carol Kilgore, Jerry Lee McMullan, Karen Van den Bark, Joan Hamilton, Sue Parks, Judy Uhrig and Joyce Lynn Wilburn.

Accompanying the group were Mrs. Beadle, Mrs. Edwin Van den Bark, Mrs. Carl W. Covington and Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Haag.

Wallace Wimberly To Present Students In Recital On Sunday

California Leads In 'Texas Sons'

Of the 1,125,520 persons who reported in 1950 that they were born in Texas, at least 1,315,705 were living in other states with California having the largest number of Texans, 430,305.

These figures are according to the 1950 census taken by the Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce.

Oklahoma had the second largest number of Texas-born residents with 189,850, while New Mexico was third with 90,495.

The state having the least number of Texans was Vermont with 240.

Mechanic Bitten By Best Friend

Ed Harwell of 708 Andrews Highway suffered a minor injury last week when he was bitten by his best friend. Harwell is a lawnmower mechanic and a darned good one. His best friend is a lawnmower, and rightly so, because he earns his living repairing them. Who could ask for a better friend than one who contributes a large portion to your upkeep?

Ed works on the things, and that is how he got bit. He rolled the flesh of his thumb between the chain that drives the machine, and the sprocket that drives the chain. One or more of the teeth on the sprocket bit him. Seems to us it ought to make news, "Machine Bites Man," or something.

All of which leaves us a good opening to tell you that your lawnmower can be your best friend during these hot days, if it is in good repair and sharp. 'Could be your worst enemy, too, if it doesn't run properly. If you have to fuss and fume with a balky mower, if your machine isn't right up to snuff, then you ought to call the store, and we'll call Ed, and Ed will call your mower—his best friend.

MHS Art Department Schedules One-Man Show By El Pasoan

An exhibit of watercolors and lithographs by Vera Wise of El Paso will be on display for two weeks, beginning Monday, in Room 211 of Midland High School, it has been announced by Inez Parker, MHS art teacher.

The exhibit, sponsored by the high school art department, will be open to the public daily from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Department Head

The artist is head of the art department of Texas Western College, El Paso. A native of Kansas, she was educated at Willamette University in Salem, Ore., Chicago Academy of Fine Arts and the Kansas City Art Institute, with special courses at the University of Southern California and the Colorado Springs Fine Arts Center.

Has One-Man Shows

She has had one-man shows at the California Palace of the Legion of Honor in San Francisco, the University of Redlands in Redlands, Calif., Stendahl Galleries in Los Angeles, the New Mexico Museum in Santa Fe and elsewhere.

In addition to her one-man shows, the artist has had work included in a number of other exhibits.

Among her prize-winning lithographs and watercolors are "Approaching Storm," a watercolor that won first prize in the Texas Fine Arts Association Annual in 1947; "Junk Yard," a watercolor that merited honorable mention in the National Watercolor Annual, Jackson, Miss., in 1951; "Approach of Spring," a watercolor that took second prize in the All West Texas Artists Exhibition in Abilene in 1950.

Pressed Powder Is Practical

By ALICIA HART, NEA Beauty Editor

Enjoying the pleasures of a country weekend, you want to look as pretty as you ever look in the smartest city spots. But you don't want any complicated beautifiers with you. When you need to powder your nose, you want to do the job and get it over with.

Exciting spectators sports don't stop this girl from retouching with pressed powder.

Pressed powder may be your answer. You can do a quick job with it because it doesn't take the care required to prevent a compact of loose powder from dusting your clothes or handbags.

A new pressed powder that you might want to make permanent room for in your sportiest leather handbag, is said to contain a combination of the maker's fluid-foundation ingredients and its regular face powder.

There are five shades and the case is a thin, mirrored, hinged-top compact. Pressed powder can substitute for loose powder, or you can let it be the retoucher for the same shade of loose powder that has come off your face in spots since your morning make-up routine.

Andrews Teachers Relected For Year

ANDREWS — All teachers in the Andrews School system, were relected for 1953-54 school year at a recent meeting of the Andrews Independent School Board.

Carl Ham was named president of the board, Charles Carruth, vice president, and L. V. Madison, secretary.

Cam Michaels of the Philadelphia Athletics was christened Casimir Eugene Kwietniewski.

Reading Awards Made To Pupils Of Cowden Junior High School

A number of students of Cowden Junior High School have completed requirements this year for certificates of membership in the Texas Readers Club.

The membership certificates are awarded each year by the Texas Education Agency to children who complete a planned program of reading based upon ten books per year.

Program Outlined: The program stresses the importance of what the students select to read, rather than how many books they complete. Five of the ten required books may be fiction, including one Newbery Medal Award book; one must be biography, one history, one travel, and the two additional in the field of non-fiction.

The program is based on the theory that boys and girls who have the opportunity to read a variety of books suitable to their abilities and interests develop skill in choosing reading material and learn to know books as an ever-available source of pleasure and profit.

Such a program, library officials stress, develops adult citizens who are well-informed and have an interest in literary materials that are the basis for human understanding and better human relationships.

Home Demonstration Program Is Held

ANDREWS — "Dieting the Protein Way" was the demonstration given by Hattie G. Owens, Andrews County Home Demonstration Agent, to clubs in the county this month.

A dress review and tea was given at the Community building in observance of National Home Demonstration week.

Dresses made in club work were modeled. Mrs. J. D. Nelson, Jr., provided piano music for the review.

Preceding the review, Mrs. Nelson gave a piano selection, "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes," and Mrs. G. L. Walker, vocalist, sang, "Alice Blue Gown."

Automotive Executive Sees No Business Lag

DALLAS — F. L. Harlow Curdick, president of General Motors, says a Korean truce would have no adverse effects on business.

Any defense cut, the GM official said, would represent only a small slice of the nation's total industrial activity. Curdick was in Dallas for the opening of GM's "Motorama," an industrial show.

IT'S NOT GAY IN PAREE—

Lonesome American Girls Find No Romance In Paris

By TOM MASTERSON
PARIS —(AP)— Heaven help the poor American girl working in this glamorous city of chestnut booms, champagne and crepes suzettes. Gay Paree, as everybody knows is a city of romance, fashion and the exciting vie Boheme. But to hear the average U. S. government girl employed here tell the story, they should have stayed home.

and lovers are strolling the Champs Elysees and mooning over tables in the sidewalk cafes. But Carroll, who used to have plenty of dates in the routine, unexciting old United States, is a bitter bystander. "There are at least 10 American girls to one unattached American man," she wailed. "We don't date Frenchmen because we don't get a chance to meet them.

clamoring for his attention that he gets completely spoiled. He's pampered by a little French cook who looks after him like a mother. Would a hungry American bachelor think of asking an American girl to cook him a dinner? Never! She couldn't compete with the food cooked by his French maid, anyway.

100 THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA AND HUNDRED DOLLARS
MISS PICKFORD—America's Sweetheart—on a nationwide tour to step up enlistments in the bond-a-month plan. The famed motion picture actress and longtime star salesman of U. S. Savings and Defense Bonds made her first country-wide bond tour 35 years ago during World War I. As National Associate Chairman with Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower of the present Crusade For Security, Miss Pickford is the representative of the President and the nation's First Lady. Seated above with Miss Pickford is Nathan Adams, dean of Dallas and Texas bankers, the State Chairman of the Savings Bonds Advisory Committee. Standing, left, is Col. Alvin M. Owsley of Dallas, fifth national commander of the American Legion and former ambassador to Rumania, Ireland and Denmark, now Texas Chairman of Community Activities for Savings Bonds; right, Dr. Brooks Bell, Dallas dentist and president of the American Association of Orthodontists.

Spotted Americans
"And American men! Each unattached one has so many women

As if this wasn't trouble enough, consider the wardrobe problem. "Paris clothes are just beautiful," said Mary Seaman of Los Angeles, another sadder, wiser government employe on foreign service. "But they're not for the working girl. They cost too much, and they don't fit American figures comfortably."

Hard On Pocketbook
In this heartland of the haute couture, a decent wardrobe is a real problem. "French shops sell only the very cheap or the very expensive," Miss Seaman continued with sorrow. "The labels are hard on the pocketbook."

Terese Michaud, who comes from Boston and has been in Paris since 1948, says, "after awhile you find you can wear a dress much longer than you ever had imagined possible."

Feet Too Big
All the girls have another complaint. "French women have awfully wide feet. French shoes don't fit us."

Terese, who speaks French fluently, says she thinks Frenchmen are too reserved. "They stay pretty much to their own people. French families don't welcome Americans into their homes."

A large number of girls, who escaped to the romance of Paris on the strength of books and movies, stick out their two-year tours of duty and then just don't return from home leave.

General Collins Hails Ridgway Appointment

HOUSTON —(AP)— Gen. J. Lawton Collins asserts Gen. Matthew Ridgway "is a splendid choice" to succeed him as Army chief of staff. "General Ridgway is eminently qualified to be Army chief of staff," Collins said Friday. Collins, white-haired at 57, said he would talk with Defense Department officials before deciding whether to retire.

Key Your Perfume To Mood

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor
A French perfume house that takes pride in its beautiful packaging has brought forth two of its scents—each in opposing mood—in twin flacons. With such a set, you needn't be the same girl all the time. Each of us is subject to moods which call for different types of perfumes, and you can cater to those moods. The result will be variety—one of the aims of beauty.

For a gentle, soft and tender mood, pick the more beguilingly

If you are in a mood of subdued excitement and feel there's something definitely in the air for you that evening, wear the perfume that's exotic. The makers claim that it's blended from fruits, spices, roots and tressle, and calls up pictures of far tropical shores. Whichever perfume you choose to wear, use enough to make it apparent. Otherwise, the perfume is wasted. Once you have used the scent for a while, then you must be careful not to overdo it. Your sense of smell becomes accustomed to an odor, and more and more is needed to make you aware of it.

Ask a good friend whether you're wearing too much. If you are, give that perfume a rest by switching to another. Then you can go back to it and enjoy it again.

Permian Basin Square Dance Slated May 30

The Permian Basin Square Dance Association will hold its second dance on the year on Saturday, May 30, in Odessa, officials have announced.

Expected to be one of the biggest dances ever held by the association, the event is scheduled from 8 p.m. until 12 midnight in the Bowie Junior High School gymnasium in the 500 block of West Twenty-First Street, Odessa.

Special invitations have been issued to other district square dance associations in Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico, and all interested square dancers in this area are invited to attend. About 24 different square dances are programmed for the evening, in addition to couple and folk dances and exhibition dances.

The building where the dance will be held will accommodate about 40 squares of dancers and 600 spectators.

Association officers elected at the last dance who will participate in the coming event are Bob Hester, Crane, president; H. C. Dunkin, Fort Stockton, vice president, and Mrs. F. E. Saue, Midland, secretary-treasurer.

A. R. Brownlee of Odessa is chairman for the dance. Assisting him are L. L. Anderson, R. B. Pieper and Mrs. Bessie Cowden Ward, all of Odessa.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Patterson and son, Sidney, are visiting this weekend in Roswell, N. M.

Lubbock FHA Office Increases Authority

LUBBOCK—A complete FHA insurance office will be established in Lubbock June 1.

The office here previously handled applications, but final processing and endorsement for insurance took place in Fort Worth. After June 1 the Lubbock unit will receive and process applications for mortgage insurance and final endorsements will be performed on eligible cases for the Lubbock and Amarillo FHA areas.

The change was brought about by the heavy volume of construction in the Panhandle-West Texas area.

Young Midlander Discovers Hula Girls 'Really Do It'

ABOARD AMERICAN PRESIDENT LINES PRESIDENT MONROE—This letter is about the ship and Honolulu.

I have met almost all the officers and the captain, too. The captain told me that this ship has been 33 times around the world. He also said that the ship could carry 90 passengers but usually carries only 80. The ship also carries a crew of 124. This ship is about one and a half times as small as the Queen Mary. It is 492 feet long and 69 feet six inches wide.

The ship is taking jeeps, trucks and tires and a supply of food for the troops in Korea. The ship usually weighs about 4,996 tons, but

THANKS! IT IS 2-5311

Yes, The Reporter-Telegram's dial telephone number now is 2-5311.

Numerous persons have telephoned the newspaper the last several days to advise that its number has been changed in the new directory which was distributed late last week. And sure enough it has—the change to No. 2-5311 having become effective last Friday.

The change, incidentally, was necessary in order for The Reporter-Telegram to obtain additional lines to handle an ever-increasing number of telephone calls.

The Reporter-Telegram appreciates the interest shown in its telephone number, which now is 2-5311.

Easy to remember, isn't it? — 2-5311.

CLEAN SHOWER CURTAINS

If your shower curtain seems to be getting stiff, it's time it was washed. To do this, fill the bathtub with warm water, add a detergent and work up a good suds. Drop the curtain into the sudsy water, let it stand a few minutes, then dunk it up and down. If there are any stains on the curtain, sprinkle a little extra detergent on them and rub them with a sponge or brush. Rinse the curtain in clear warm water and hang it loose to dry.

with all the cargo it is carrying it weighs 6,000 tons.

The President Monroe's sister ship passed us a few days ago. Ex-President Truman was on his way home on it.

Yesterday I went on a bridge tour and I enjoyed it. I found out that radar picked up the President Cleveland 18 miles away. There is a huge compass on the bridge that helps navigate the ship. Inside the compass is a sapphire on a thin silk thread that helps to steady it.

Tours Engine Room

Later I went on an engine room tour. They have twin everything—such as boilers, engines and mechanical parts. Inside the boiler it gets up to 180 degrees. But the room itself is 110 degrees. At the back end of the boiler there is a huge pipe that goes around 78 revolutions a minute to turn the propeller. I think things like that are very interesting and I always like to know how the ship that I am on runs.

We arrived in Honolulu about five o'clock and it sure was a beautiful arrival. A band was playing and there were people singing. Young boys swam out to where the ship was and they would dive for money. From the ship we went to the beautiful Royal Hawaiian Hotel. Following our arrival there, we walked around the gardens. I have never seen such beautiful flowers and vines. Later we ate dinner and danced down by the beautiful Wakakii Beach. I saw some beautiful girls do the Hula, and they really can do it.

The next day we went on a 106-mile drive around the island. We saw all different kinds of flowers and trees, but what I think is interesting is that two-thirds of the flowers and trees have been brought in from other countries. Hawaii is well known for the sugar cane and pineapple. I had some pineapple and it was delicious.

I saw Pearl Harbor and where the ship Arizona sank. A memorial has been erected there. When we drove along the beach we saw a rock with a huge hole in it. That is where a huge tidal wave hit it and made that hole.

We left Honolulu the next day at three o'clock. They had the singers and the bands back and it was all wonderful. After we got out a little ways we threw our leis away so if they float back to shore we will return to beautiful Hawaii.

And I hope I do return to Hawaii. It is a beautiful place. There are no words that could tell what you think of Hawaii. To me, Hawaii is a land of enchantment.

Tell everyone hello for me please. My next letter will be about Japan.

Youth Center Fund Boosted By 2,400,000 Salty Peanuts

The hard-working youngsters of the Midland Youth Center finished raising another $1,100 Saturday for their new building.

And that is peanuts—2,400,000 of them.

Myrt Baker, director of the center, said the youngsters had completed selling the last of 4,800 cans of peanuts for 50 cents each, netting the building fund 23 cents profit on each can.

"I figure there must be about 500 peanuts in each can so that adds up to almost a million and a half peanuts."

Stassen Restores Principle

To many politicians, sticking to principle is a thing that varies with the seasons...

At many levels of public office this doesn't hurt too much, and men who have sloughed off their principles for a spell go on getting elected and elected...

Now the word comes from Washington that Stassen, as head of Mutual Security, is rebuilding his reputation...

Ambition still may reside in Stassen's breast...

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

Drew Pearson says: Congressional salary boost nearing reality; Capitol pages need guiding hand; Communist withdrawal from Laos puzzles military.

WASHINGTON - It won't be popular with some people, but one of the most important bills introduced in Congress at this session is that of Senator Pat McCarran of Nevada increasing the salaries of judges and members of Congress...

So far as Congress is concerned, it happens that this writer has pointed and occasional finger at those who cashed in on the side. However, I also have pointed out that the number of rotten apples in the congressional barrel is relatively small compared with the hard-working, personally economizing gentlemen who make up the Congress...

There would be less contamination and far less corruption, however, if congressmen were paid a decent salary...

Carousing Page Boys - It's unpleasant to report, but a few congressional page boys have been drinking and carousing in their off-duty hours...

Although outstanding, clean-cut boys, they are living away from home, boarding wherever they please...

Q-What is the origin of the name Hawaii? A-The present name grew out of the native word for the largest of the islands, Owyhee, meaning "Big Island."

Q-How many baby kangaroos are born in a litter? A-Usually one to three.

Q-Who was the first President actively to seek a third-term nomination? A-Ulysses S. Grant in 1880.

Q-Why is the term "patent medicine" misleading? A-Medicines are not patented. They may be protected by patenting the process of manufacture and trade-marking the name.

Q-What Civil War engagement was known as the Battle Above the Clouds? A-The Battle of Lookout Mountain.

Laos' opium harvest, which the Communists use to finance their military operations.

The experts now believe the Reds will rely on their underground to overthrow the tiny kingdom of Laos and Cambodia from within, will not resort to direct invasion unless absolutely necessary.

Tax On Eyes - The nation's tax collectors may cause headaches for millions of taxpayers, but they also have a lot of headaches themselves.

This was a new problem for the tax collectors. Top experts made an intensive study of the tax statutes applying to personal property.

Eye corneas, however, are not replaceable in the bureau finally ruled as follows: "It is believed that a cornea is not property in the ordinary sense as defined in the Internal Revenue Code."

A cornea, they decided, is neither a capital asset nor "ordinary income"—therefore money derived from its sale is not taxable under the law.

Lodge Defends UN - UN Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge put up an effective off-the-record defense of the United Nations to a group of congressmen in New York recently.

The UN is a novel, exhilarating, but essential and necessary place where the world gets consolidated thinking.

"The Kremlin has a bear by the tail in the UN," Lodge continued. "They don't like it on the inside, and they're afraid to stay on the outside. On crucial questions, Russia is sure of only five votes out of 60."

Commenting on criticism from isolationist groups, Lodge stressed: "The UN is not a world government. It's a meeting of sovereign nations. We don't cede any sovereignty at all when we're in the United Nations."

Service Tax Asked - PHOENIX, ARIZ.—(AP)—The Arizona Supreme Court has been asked to keep the state tax commission from collecting a recently proposed tax on personal services under which doctors, dentists, and beauticians would be required to pay a two percent tax on receipts from their patients and customers.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY Written for NEA Service West's opening bid of three hearts made it very difficult for South to get to his sound game contract...

Bridge score table for North-South and East-West with opening lead.

West's ace-king-queen-ten-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 turned the trick. West was happy to ruff and obediently returned the queen of hearts.

He wanted to lead another diamond and thus allow his partner to take the setting trick with a second ruff.

There was no need for declarer to lose this contract. There was every reason to believe that West was short in spades because of his opening bid of three hearts.

It would then be easy to make a total of ten tricks with five spades, four diamonds and the ace of clubs.

CARD Sense

Q-With North-South vulnerable, the bidding has been: East 3 Diamonds South West North 3 Diamonds 5.

You, South, hold: Spades A-Q-J-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1, Clubs K-Q-J-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1.

A-Bid four spades. You should make a game with any ace or the spade king, and you may even make the game if his hand is worthless.

Two is company—three is too expensive to go anyplace today.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

McKay Moved With Caution At Power Policy Press Talk

By PETER EDSON NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Secretary of Interior Douglas McKay's announcement of the Eisenhower Administration's new policy decision against federal construction of the controversial Hells Canyon dam project...

It was a standing-room-only affair in the big, two-story-high Interior conference room. It not only was Secretary McKay's first press conference since coming to Washington...

In addition to the Secretary McKay stacked the conference with nine Western governors—all Republicans. They were in town for President Eisenhower's two-day meeting with the governors.

Secretary McKay answered most of the questions at his press conference and, as master of ceremonies, was in control of the proceedings.

Secretary McKay also left himself a couple escape hatches for use in case he might be sunk on this issue later.

The letter to the Federal Power Commission, saying that the Department of Interior would not intervene in opposition to Idaho Power Company's application to build the Oxbow Dam...

The secretary said out loud that things were getting over his head and he had better call on counsel for advice.

On the same night, Secretary McKay made a speech to a Small Businessmen's Association in Washington in which he said the government must continue to build multi-purpose dams.

The secretary had indicated clearly he would not recommend building Hells Canyon.

So They Say

In the present peace talks with the Chinese Reds, I am absolutely convinced we run the risk of throwing away the future of our nation.

Agriculture must be free and dynamic to reflect the changing demand; it must not be a hothouse or a crippled industry.

If the Congress really wants to continue to penalize small, new and growing business...

If I'm ever married I'll make kids promise not to throw snowballs at policemen or put derlugs in gun ball machines.

GREYHOUND AIR-SUSPENSION BUS—The new Greyhound "Highway Traveler" bus features an air suspension system which makes use of heavy, flexible air bellows, two to each wheel, in place of metal leaf springs. The new system greatly increases riding comfort and smoothness. Other new features include extra large windows—half again as much window area as previous models—and power steering which gives the driver greater ease in handling the bus.

New Greyhound Bus To Be Displayed Here Wednesday

Air suspension, picture windows, and power steering are revolutionary new comfort and safety features to be incorporated in the 1953 Greyhound Highway Traveler bus. Delivery of 380 of the new coaches to Greyhound will be made and the 50 to be used over routes of Southwestern Greyhound Lines currently are arriving. One of the new coaches will be on display here Wednesday from 9 a.m. to noon on the south side of the courthouse.

The greatest advance in motor bus history introduced in this coach is an air suspension system, heralded as the "new ride" which completely eliminates metal leaf springs. Compressed air, held captive in eight heavy, flexible air bellows, two to each wheel, silently and efficiently absorbs all types of road shock, from the heavy impact of deep chuck holes to minute tire tread vibrations. A unique feature of the air suspension system is that leveling valves act to keep the coach body constantly level on curves or despite changes in weight of the load carried.

Another striking change will be in the appearance of the bus because of the extremely large windows. The glass area is 53.7 per cent greater than in previous models. There are only four double windows adjoining passengers' seats at each side, but each window is six feet in length to greatly increase visibility. These windows are heat-resistant safety glass, tinted green with a heavier graduation of color at the top and bottom to halt glare of sunlight and headlights and reflection from the road.
Power steering, which has been an extra-cost accessory on the most expensive automobiles the last year, is an exclusive Greyhound feature which will add to safety by giving the driver greater ease in handling the bus in both congested areas and on the open road.
Greater ease and safety are also gained for passengers entering and leaving the new model because there is a one-level floor throughout, with a minimum of wheelchair projection through the floor.

The interior styling of the bus, in pastel tones of tan and brown, was created for Greyhound by Raymond Lowy and Associates. A greatly improved type of individually-controlled reclining seat, also developed for Greyhound, will be used. Marked improvements have been made in the ventilation, heating and air conditioning systems.

Daddy Ringtail And Bowl Of Soup

Old MacDonald was sitting at the table in his dining room. His napkin was under his chin. His fork was in his hand. He was all ready for a bite of supper, and another bite, and all gone. Mugwump came in from the kitchen and said: "Mr. Old MacDonald, would you like a bowl of soup?" Old MacDonald wanted the soup. He was hungry, hungry, hungry. He put down his fork. He picked up his spoon. He was all ready for the bowl of soup. "Soup, soup, soup!" cried Old MacDonald.

"Uhh," said Mugwump, "but it tastes like dishwater." Old MacDonald's chin whiskers shook to hear it. Said he: "I don't like soup that tastes like dishwater!" And so Mugwump asked him maybe if he would like to have some dishwater that tasted like soup. But Old MacDonald jumped up and said: "I don't like dishwater that tastes like soup!" "Did you ever eat any?" asked Mugwump. Old MacDonald said no, and no indeed, and of course he had never eaten dishwater. And so Mugwump wanted to know how he knew he didn't like it—if he had never tasted any. Old MacDonald opened and closed his mouth several times like a fish. He was trying to say all the loud noisy things he wanted to say, but the words would not come out. He was teased, you see, and angry. He was almost ready to jump up and shout, but Mugwump put the bowl of soup in front of him. Old MacDonald sniffed. He sniffed again. The soup didn't smell like dishwater smells. It smelled very good. Old MacDonald took a sip—and another sip—and another and another. The soup was good. Very good, all right, all right.

Remember, Cousin, We Want You There
LONDON.—British peers, lucky enough to be assigned seats in Westminster Abbey for Queen Elizabeth's coronation, received this "invitation" from the young sovereign:
"Right Trusty and Well-Beloved Cousin,
We greet you well. Whereas the second day of June is appointed for the solemnity of our royal coronation these are to will and command you all excuses set apart; to make your personal attendance on us at the time—furnished and appointed to your rank and quality appertaineth. Whereof you are not to fail. And so we bid you most hearty farewell."
The term "cousin" is used by British sovereigns in addressing members of foreign royal families and persons of high social rank.

Would-Be Bandit Nipped From Rear

SAN FRANCISCO.—A shabbily dressed man scribbled on a deposit slip at a counter in the Angelo California National Bank here. Special officer Harry Malone peered over his shoulder and read: "This is a holdup. Hand me all your bills."
Surprised, Malone attacked the would-be robber.
Police congratulated Malone for nipping a bank holdup in the bud.

Volume Of Hospital Service Increases In United States

The annual hospital report of the Council on Medical Education and Hospitals, published in May 9 issue of The Journal, again shows an increase in the volume of hospital service in the United States. Included in the present report are 6,985 hospitals registered by the American Medical Association, of which 2,978 are designated as governmental and 4,887 as nongovernmental. These institutions admitted 18,914,847 patients in 1952, a total that represents not only an increase of 877,729 in the last 12 months but also a greater number of admissions than has been reported in previous years. Gains were observed in both the governmental and the nongovernmental divisions but were more pronounced in the latter group, which had a net increase of 978,423 as compared with 104,306 in the governmental hospitals. It should also be noted that the nongovernmental hospitals received 13,944,136, or 73.7 per cent, of all patients admitted whereas the governmental units reported 4,970,721, or 26.3 per cent. These totals do not include hospital births, which set a new record of 3,170,495 as compared with the previous high of 2,999,371 in 1951. The present survey, therefore, represents the first year in which the number of hospital births has exceeded the 3,000,000 mark.

The general hospitals, which now total 4,924, showed an increase of 894,236 patients in 1952 and rendered by far the greatest volume of service in the hospital field. They reported 17,790,057, or 93.8 per cent of all patients admitted and 3,000,807, or 97.5 per cent of the hospital births. Their average daily census of 475,193 represents 36.3 per cent of the daily patient load in all registered hospitals. The psychiatric hospitals, 585 in all, admitted 312,252 patients, or 5,342 more than were reported in the previous year. While this is only 1.6 per cent of all admissions, the average daily census of 704,066 is the highest ever recorded in this field and exceeds the combined total of 605,321 reported by other hospitals. Again it may be shown that the hospitalization of psychiatric patients is largely under governmental control, inasmuch as the hospitals in this division maintained an average census of 688,119 as compared with 15,937 in the nongovernmental group. A similar pattern exists in the tuberculosis division, where the governmental hospitals admitted 95,780 patients and the nongovernmental units 14,136. This present total of 109,926 admissions exceeds the report of 1951 by 2,744. The number of admissions was greatly reduced in the isolation hospitals, which respond mainly to seasonal demands, and losses were also recorded in some of the other groups. In all registered hospitals the average daily census of 1,309,377 represents a total of 479,231,982 patient days, including 179,920,638 in the general hospital group, 287,694,496 in the psychiatric institutions, 27,542,598 in the tuberculosis hospitals, and 20,084,250 in other units. When these hospitals are classified by control, it will be seen that the governmental hospitals list 380,166,692 days of patient care and the nongovernmental institutions 119,065,290.

Included in the present capacity of 1,541,615 hospital beds are 1,099,622 in governmental institutions and 441,992 in the nongovernmental group. The federal hospitals have 211,510 beds, the state institutions 691,408, the city and county hospitals 196,705, the church and other nonprofit associations 290,967, and the proprietary hospitals 51,005. It can also be shown that the general hospitals list 41.5 per cent of the total beds, the psychiatric institutions 47.5 per cent, the tuberculosis sanatoriums approximately 5 per cent, and the remaining institutions five per cent. In the last year the average bed occupancy advanced from 84.5 to 84.9 per cent. Gains occurred mainly in the governmental group, which advanced from 88.6 to 89.4 per cent, while the nongovernmental rate was reduced from 74.1 to 73.6.

In the general hospitals the percentage of beds occupied was 74.1 as compared with 73.5 in 1951. The lowest rate, 40.9 per cent, was observed in the isolation hospitals, where as the highest report, 96.0 per cent, was found in the psychiatric group, where long-term institutional care is ordinarily required. The average length of stay per patient in general hospitals was reduced from 10.1 days to 9.8. Shorter periods of hospitalization were reported by all groups except the federal general hospitals, which advanced from 25.5 to 26.2 days, and the individual and partnership hospitals, which remained at their previous level of 5.3. The state hospitals listed 14.1 days, the county institutions, 11.9, the municipal hospitals 11.7, the city-county units 9.0, the church and other nonprofit associations 7.7, and the proprietary hospitals 5.7.

Many of the hospitals registered by the American Medical Association have long taken an active part in educational functions essential to the maintenance of high standards of hospital care. Approximately 300 hospitals are participating in undergraduate medical education, 871 are approved for internships and 1,153 for residency training. A total of 100,595 students are now enrolled in 1,079 accredited schools of professional nursing, and the present report shows 310 additional schools for practical nurses with an enrollment of 5,712.

Inauguration Slated For Tech President

Texas Tech will inaugurate its sixth president here May 18 in ceremonies which are expected to attract over 100 representatives from other educational institutions plus many state dignitaries and other guests.

Although Dr. E. N. Jones has been president of Tech since Sept. 1, 1952, his inauguration was postponed until now. Dr. Jones was elevated to the presidency of the 27-year-old school of technology from the position of vice president in charge of academic administration. He came to Tech in 1948 from Texas A&I where he was president.

Registration of official delegates will be held in Tech's new Student Union Building from 8 to 9 a.m.

Three To Receive Honorary Degrees

Honorary doctors of law degrees will be conferred upon two Texans and a Missourian here May 25 during the commencement exercises of Texas Tech's 1953 graduating class. Tech's board of directors has approved the special degrees for Tech's immediate past president, Dr. D. M. Wiggins; Governor Dan Thornton, an ex-student of Tech and now governor of Colorado; and Fred G. Gurley, president of Santa Fe Railway Company.

The three honorary degrees will bring to 11 the total number awarded by the college in its 27-year history. Lewis Orscoe, director and vice president of Ford Motor Company will give the commencement address at 8 p.m. in Jones Stadium. Dr. Grandville Walker, pastor of the University Christian Church in Fort Worth, will be the baccalaureate speaker at 8 p.m. May 24 in Jones Stadium.

The purpose of The Community Survey is to obtain helpful information that will enable advertisers to improve their service to you readers by preparing ads the way you want them.

When you indicate which ads you think will do the advertisers the most good, it is possible to tabulate that information and give it to the advertisers for their guidance.

On the first page of the paper each day you will find a list of the advertisements to be checked that day.

All you have to do is to decide each day which Large Ad, which Medium Ad, which Small Ad and which Classified Ad you think will do the advertiser the most good . . . Just write four names on this blank each day.

Cash awards will go to those readers whose selections are nearest to what the majority of readers think. Every week is a separate survey.

YOU ARE NOT REQUIRED TO WRITE A LETTER. The awards are made to those readers whose selections are nearest to the list of ads which get the most votes. The awards are ACCURATE . . . FAIR . . . and HONEST.

You do not have to be an advertising expert! All ads are written for you readers. YOU are best qualified to indicate which ads will do the advertiser the most good.

I THINK THE ADS LISTED BELOW WILL DO THE ADVERTISERS THE MOST GOOD.

WEEK OF _____ TO _____

FRI.

You are NOT required to write a letter to receive an award. The awards are decided on the selections above. We would really appreciate it, though, if you would write a note saying what you DO NOT LIKE and . . . also . . . WHY YOU LIKE some of the good ads.

We sincerely want your suggestions and ideas of how we may improve our advertising service for your benefit. Write your letter in your own way! It's the thoughts and suggestions that matter. You are not being "judged" by your letters. Actually they have nothing to do with awards . . . but . . . they will be helpful by giving additional information to our advertisers.

Your criticisms and suggestions will be given the advertisers to help them to improve their advertisements BUT they will NOT be given the names of those who write the letters. This is so you may say just what you really think without embarrassment.

Every member of any family may send in one answer each week but only one award for a good answer will go to any one household during the survey. Since the purpose of the Survey is to obtain information, any indication of collusion to secure an award automatically will disqualify such answers. In the case of ties duplicate awards will be made. Free extra ballots may be obtained at The Reporter-Telegram and the newspaper may be read there. Facsimile ballots may be used. No member of The Reporter-Telegram staff or their families may participate.

ANSWERS MUST BE IN BY TUESDAY MIDNIGHT THE WEEK AFTER THE SELECTIONS ARE MADE.

Two-State Eagle Conclave Slated Here This Week

More than 300 delegates from Texas and Louisiana will begin pouring into Midland late this week for the annual convention of the bi-state Aerie of the Fraternal Order of Eagles.

The convention sessions will open Friday morning and continue through Saturday night with headquarters in the Hotel Scharbauer.

The delegates will represent almost two dozen local aeries, along with their women's auxiliary organizations.

Erle Robertson, secretary of the Midland organization, said that one of the highlights of the convention will be a review of the work of the Eagles during the last year and a discussion of plans for the future program.

"It has been a good year," said Robertson. "The Eagles, for the third year in a row, cooperated with the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund."

"Our contributions to this organization now total almost $400,000 and we are going to make plans for another series of money-raising charity frolics in the Fall."

"Four of our efforts to date, the fund's treasurer and founder, Walter Winchell, has referred to the Eagles as 'the Damon Runyon Fund's Santa Claus.'"

"Besides our work with the cancer fund, we've also expanded the scope of our own Memorial Foundation, which supplies medical, dental, surgical, clinical and optical care, as well as educational grants, to the sons and daughters of Eagle members, who died in military service."

Pecos Highway Department Workers Get Service Pins

PECOS—Two Texas Highway Department personnel of Pecos received service pins for long and distinguished duty at a meeting of the State Highway Commission in Austin.

Ira R. Titus, senior resident engineer, and V. M. Campbell, district equipment supervisor for District 6, received 30 and 25 year awards, respectively, from the commission.

Titus began work with the department in 1919, soon after discharge from the Army. He first worked in Shelby County as assistant county engineer where he was actively in charge of a very large construction program.

After several years work in East Texas, he worked three years in Louisiana, returning to Texas in 1929. He was assigned to residency at Kermit where he worked until Sept. 1, 1930, when he was transferred to Pecos. He has been here since that time.

During this time, he has handled the planning and construction of many miles of highways in Ector, Midland, Pecos, Reeves, Loving, Ward, Winkler, and Crane counties.

Campbell, who received a 25 year award began work with the department in Balmorhea and came to Pecos when the district headquarters were moved.

He started work in the district shops and has served as mechanic shop foreman and for many years has had charge of all equipment for the district.

During his period of service he has seen the Highway Department advance from a period when it used mules, scrapers and drags to maintain a system of dirt roads to the present day system of fine paved highways and a highly complex system of mechanical operation.

President Of ACC To Address City's 220 Graduating Seniors

Dr. Don Morris, president of Abilene Christian College, will address the 220 graduating seniors of Midland High School at commencement exercises at 8 p.m. Thursday, May 28 in the school's auditorium.

Following the processional and recessional, with music by La Vonne Clark on the organ, the Rev. Leon F. Woods, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church, will give the invocation.

The salutatory address will be given by Wesley Pittman followed by a piano solo by Katherine Carter and the valedictory address by Clayton Tatom.

The "Largo" by Handel will be sung by Anna L. Patterson accompanied by Robert R. Gans.

Robert Payne of the Board of Education will present the diplomas and organ music will be played by Mrs. Frank Miller. The exercises will be climaxed by singing of the school's alma mater by the senior class led by Anna Bea Doyle.

Graduates will attend baccalaureate services at 8 p.m. Sunday, May 24, in the high school auditorium, when the Rev. Lewis Waterstreet of the St. Andrews Presbyterian Church, will deliver the sermon.

The processional and recessional will be played on the organ by La Vonne Clark and the invocation will be by A. H. Kennamer, minister of the Church of Christ.

Songs will be presented by the High School Triple Trio consisting of Ruth Ann Rhodes, Sally Breeze, Evelyn Hejl, Elaine Johnson, Mary Jane Miller, Jo Ann Bassham, Ann Kennamer, Wanda Moore, Barbara Smith, and Glynda Feril, accompanist.

Scripture and prayer are by the Rev. R. J. Snell, Episcopal Church, and a solo "Come Ye Blessings" will be sung by George L. DeHart, accompanied by Mrs. J. Holt Jewell.

The Rev. C. M. Collins, St. Luke's Methodist Church, will give the benediction.

Former Pastor Due At Pecos Services

PECOS — The Rev. Albert F. Tucker, former pastor of the First Methodist Church here, will preach at the church at 11 a.m. Sunday.

Rev. Tucker was pastor of First Methodist during 1944 and 1945.

During his pastorate, the parsonage was moved from beside the church on Elm Street to the present location on West Fifth Street.

Preliminary plans for remodeling the church and for building an Educational unit, were started during his pastorate and $16,000 was deposited for the purpose while he was here.

Rev. Tucker is at present executive secretary of United Texas Drys, the state-wide temperance organization, with headquarters in Dallas and district headquarters in 11 cities throughout the state.

No Price Drop Seen By Midland Dairies

Two dairies operating in Midland indicated Friday that they contemplate no lowering of milk prices such as the one-cent per quart drop which two milk firms in Dallas effected Friday.

In Dallas the Metzger Dairies and Safeway Stores, Inc., dropped milk prices one cent per quart—the third decrease this year—while other dairies pondered the situation.

The retail price cuts followed by four days a decline in the price dairies pay farmers for raw milk.

The new raw milk price, set by the federal milk marketing order, was about one-half cent less per quart, and apparently many dairies were pondering whether to lower their retail prices a whole cent and absorb the remainder of the cut.

Frank Mote, Tennessee Dairy manager in Midland, said "There is no change in sight. We will continue to sell at the same contemplate price."

Carl Peay, manager for Banner Dairies here, was unavailable for comment but his assistant said he had not made any mention of a change to him.

Borden Company officials were unavailable for comment.

This photographic portrait is one of five prints exhibited recently at the Southwestern Photographers' Association Convention at Fort Worth.

Our fourth print in this series is of Miss Gail Baker. Miss Baker is employed by the Sharples Oil Corporation as a draftsman, and is a member of the Desk and Derrick Club; she also is serving as reporter for the club's publication, "Top Pay".

The print of Miss Baker is executed in a semi-low key lighting. The texture of the imported suede paper, toned in the famous Nelson Goldtone solution, brings about the final touch of elegance, to make a beautiful photographic portrait of this young lady. The frame is a carved wood, finished in mahogany.

Midland Shriners To Attend El Paso State Convention

A possible delegation of 20 Midlanders is due to attend the state convention of the Texas State Shrine Association May 21-23 in El Paso.

Registration for the event will be held May 21 at the El Maida Temple, with full-scale sessions, drill competition and entertainment scheduled for May 22 and 23.

Representatives and officers of the Association will meet at 9:30 a.m. Friday in the El Maida Temple for a business meeting, followed at 1 p.m. by competitive drills at the El Paso Coliseum. Imperial Potentate Harvey A. Beffa and the membership committee will meet at 11 a.m. in the Temple.

The Charters Musical Festival at 8 p.m. in Liberty Hall will climax the Friday activities. Dancing at the Hilton Hotel, Cortez and El Maida Temple will follow the music festival.

Saturday's activities will open at 10 a.m. with a street parade, followed at noon by a dinner for novices and at 6 p.m. by the official dinner for Imperial Officers, State officers, Elective Divans, Past Potentates and distinguished guests. Dancing at 9 p.m. in the Hotel Del Norte and El Maida Temple will end the program.

Wives of Shrine members, too, will be entertained during the convention. In addition to the parade, drill competition and dinners, the El Paso group has scheduled a tour of the city of Juarez, Mexico to start at 1 p.m. at the Cortez Hotel.

Special events available to visitors include tours of El Paso, trips to Carlsbad Caverns and Old Mexico and other recreation.

If your small fry get ice cream or milk stains on any of their washable clothing, soak the clothing in clear water and then launder.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

(Copyright, 1953, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)
By Drew Pearson

Drew Pearson says: Army's atomic cannon to make costly debut; Air Force and atomic officials question value of atomic cannon; Mobility of atomic cannon presents problem.

WASHINGTON—Chief pride of the Army is the atomic cannon now being tested in Nevada. For approximately two years the Army has been preparing for this test, even broke the story of atomic artillery before the secret was supposed to be known.

However, without detracting from the importance of land forces or the gallantry of the doughboy, the cold, sober facts indicate that atomic artillery is largely pride and a waste of the taxpayers' money.

What the public does not know as the atomic-artillery experiments take place in Nevada is that the first time the Army pulls the trigger it costs the taxpayers $7,000,000. That's the amount of money that will dissolve in the resulting mushroom cloud over Frenchman's Flat.

After that first, burst, the taxpayers will dish out $3,000,000 each time an atomic shell is fired. The initial amount of $7,000,000 covers the cost of the first experiments, but it will take $3,000,000 after that to pay for each atomic shell.

All this has caused a fierce controversy inside the Atomic Energy Commission and inside the Pentagon over whether atomic artillery is worth all the expense. Because the unfortunate fact is that atomic artillery burns precious fissionable material as if it were as cheap and plentiful as common black powder. Furthermore 90 per cent of this fissionable material goes to waste, as against only 30 per cent waste in an atomic bomb.

Outside Looking In

This is why some atomic experts charge that the only reason for atomic artillery is to let the Army get in on the atomic act. So far, the Army has been on the outside of the atomic picture looking in.

And the Army has been so anxious to get into the picture that they proposed to the Atomic Energy Commission that the atomic shells for the current Nevada test be carried across the continental United States alternately by boat, truck and rail in order to dramatize the event to the American public and squeeze out every bit of publicity possible. When the AEC turned this down as too dangerous, the Army then proposed that a dummy bomb be carried across the continent instead of a live bomb.

In other words, although the Unification Act was supposed to unite the Army and Navy, it set up one new branch of the service—the Air Force—and has increased isn't more mobile than a plane," snorted one scientist when he heard the Army argument.

Despite these drawbacks, the Army has asked for 100 atomic cannons and a large but secret stockpile of shells. And while the Navy and Air Force have been slashed to the bone, the Army is the only branch of the service which has been increased to the tune of $1,500,000,000.

This has caused some Pentagon officials from other services to remark that they wish President Eisenhower had served in their branch rather than in the Army.

However, the fact remains that if the military budget is to be cut without endangering national security, it must be cut not according to Army or Navy pride, but according to weapon efficiency. It looks as if the atomic cannon is not worth the tremendous outlay of dollars.

Note—When the submarine first was developed, Gen. Arthur Murray, then chief of artillery, submitted a formal proposal that the Army, not the Navy, build and operate submarines, thus preserving the Army's historic responsibility for coastal defense. The Army's jealousy over its responsibilities has been going on ever since.

Furthermore, the Army intends to use spotter planes to direct atomic-artillery fire. This means that the spotter plane itself might just as well drop an A-bomb instead of directing ground artillery where to fire an A-shell.

The Army counters this with the argument that the atomic cannon is more accurate than atomic bombing from the air and can be executed in any kind of weather. To this atomic scientists reply that planes can drop an A-bomb within 150 feet of a target—which is just about as close as atomic cannon can hit, certainly close enough for such a devastating explosion.

They also point out that atomic shells should never be fired in bad weather since wind and rain might become contaminated and carry deadly radiation back to our own troops. In Nevada, for instance, the Atomic Energy Commission will not permit an atomic test if there's the slightest bit of bad weather.

The Army also contends that the atomic cannon is mobile—rather a strange argument regarding an artillery piece so heavy and cumbersome that it can cross few of the Army's existing bridges. Fact is the Army will have to build special bridges and roads to reach most areas.

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

BY NORTH CALLAHAN

NEW YORK — John W. Davis, honored statesman and lawyer, has just celebrated his 80th birthday here, with a record of distinguished achievement which is equalled only by the happiness with which his many friends help him observe the occasion. Born in Clarksburg, W. Va., he has been Congressman, Solicitor General of the United States, Ambassador to England and candidate for President in 1924. I asked Mr. Davis what has been the funniest experience in his long, colorful career. He thought a moment, then sprily suggested the following: "On the third of March, 1925, I was in the middle of an argument before the Supreme Court in Washington. Chief Justice Taft announced that Court would not sit on the following day because of Mr. Coolidge's inauguration. I remarked, yes that I understood certain ceremonies were to take place on March 4 which I would not be expected to participate in (Mr. Davis had just been defeated by Coolidge for the Presidency). Then Mr. Taft, with one of his characteristic chuckles (and no doubt recalling a similar situation involving him in 1912) leaned over and said to me, 'Well, there have been others like you!'"

Lots of people think the Stork Club is a sizzling night spot, but in reality it is more of a regular restaurant. Not that the prices are cheap. But the atmosphere is quiet, and often one can find a bunch of teen-agers covorting there with ginger ale or tomato juice. Even kiddies are allowed. Sherman Billingsly is a clever host. He gives away bright red fireman's suspenders—which sometimes are seen with tuxedos—bottle of perfume for the ladies, green ties and little white storks at Christmas.

In all the pessimism and thoughts of war and such which confront us today, it is a pleasure and an inspiration to hear Van Wyck Brooks tell what he thinks is wrong—and right—with us. The dean of American literary critics said that some of our most famous authors have only sadness, fatalism and fear with which to view the future. He on the other hand, rejoices that in this world, most folks still are good, kind, religious and deserving of happiness.

That success is sweet, especially when it comes to a young person, is evidenced by the fact that Mary Ellen Terry, the dancing television star, was rewarded with a candy bar at the end of each practice session when she was only four years old. Born in Buffalo, N. Y., she was a Conover model here by the time she was nine. Now an 18-year-old redhead, she will be a natural when color television comes in—if it ever does.

Vermont Connecticut Royster comes from Raleigh, N. C., and now lives in New York. Yes, he's a real live man, in fact an editorial writer who won a Pulitzer prize the other day for his work on the Wall Street Journal, and I see him now and then at Sigma Delta Chi meetings. The only reason his parents didn't add Rhode Island or Pennsylvania to his name was because there was no more space on the birth certificate, evidently. At least, his good forebears had nothing against the Yankees for the custom of naming the oyster children after states above the Mason-Dixon line goes back to his grandfather before the Civil War between the States. He has two daughters, no son as yet. When he has a son, Vermont C. might save time by naming him Maine-to-California.

Out-of-Town Boys who have made good in New York. J. Luther Cleveland from Cleburne, Texas, now chairman of the Guaranty Trust Company of New York. . . . Homer Holt, former governor of West Virginia, now general counsel of the Union Carbide and Carbon Corporation. . . . John H. P. Gould from Baltimore, Md., now chairman of Webb and Knapp, large local real estate firm. . . . and Robert Montgomery, from near Milperton, N. Y., now an actor-producer. . . . as well as Herbert Bayard Swope from St. Louis, Mo., the eminent journalistic and consultant.

Skirt, Stole Woven To Resemble Soft Straw

Midland's Popular School For Janitors To Attract 125 Representatives June 1

The second annual Janitor school, sponsored by the Midland Public Schools is expected to attract almost 125 janitors from schools in 13 cities in the area, says Wesley Martin, Midland special services director.

The Janitor school will last two days beginning June 1, and will be taught by local leaders in many fields including appliance, plumbing, carpentry and electricity.

The course will include on-the-spot classes in such subjects as floor maintenance, door lock and door check maintenance, heating units and plumbing maintenance, window maintenance and rest room and masonry floor maintenance.

The noon meal will be served in the High School Cafeteria if the demand is sufficient to justify it, Martin said.

Texas Colleges List Four Pecos Students

PECOS—Graduating lists of Texas colleges contain the names of at least four Pecos students this year.

Determination— This is a word that is not thought about very much but it still means a great deal to you in life. Ask yourself, do you know what determination is? If so, how would you describe it? You might say it was the will and effort you put into something.

Yes, you can get your wishes filled but what pleasure would you get out of life if everything you wanted was handed to you on a silver platter? Determination is the spirit and consideration you put into everything that you get out of life.
