

Mickey Spillane Says Mike Is 'Just What Public Wants'

HOLLYWOOD—It's hard for a character to come to Hollywood and make an impression. The town's too full of them already. But Mickey Spillane, the fabulous mystery story writer, blew in and out and still has the town talking. The self-styled "Marion Brandon of literature" was out here to look over the filming of his "I, The Jury."

He has written seven books, all gory with sadism and sex, and sales are past 60,000,000 copies. How does he do it?

"The first thing you must do," he expounds, "is to have a title with a personal pronoun and punctuation."

He also says you must know what the public wants to buy.

"If the public were buying Thomas Wolfe, I could write like Thomas Wolfe, only 10 times better. But the public buys Mike Hammer (the hero of his novels), so I give them Mike Hammer."

Reformed Hopalong Cassidy Is One-Punch, One-Shot Man

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
NEW YORK—(P)—Don't breathe a word of it to the kids, but there's a new Hopalong Cassidy. The kids think the old one is okay, but Hoppy thinks their elders will like the new one better.

Quietly, subtly, he's going in for less brutality, less gunplay, less fighting. He intends to set the small fry an example—always within the cowpoke character—that he hopes will make parents, teachers and church groups beam with pleasure.

It isn't that Hoppy was bad before. He was gentle and strong, a clean-living do-gooder who fought evil men and deeds. He spoke good English. He was good to Topper, his horse. He never got mushy with the girls.

But Hoppy is a responsible fellow, and he feels he owes a lot to parents. The films that carried him to TV fame were his old movies, made for the theaters. They followed the familiar pattern of shooting, slugging and "they went thataway" at the crossroads.

Now he's putting together new shows, just for TV. He feels that while the old format was fine for movie audiences, he should be a little more restrained in the living room. So he says:

"We can cut down on unnecessary brutality, on chases and shooting and on fights. Those fights are ridiculous anyway. If anyone ever took a beating like they show in films, he'd be dead. From now on, the villain will take one punch at me and I'll take one punch at him—and he'll stay down. Or the villain will shoot at me and then I'll get him with my first shot. He used to have 25 or 30 shots from a pistol—kids can count and they know how many bullets a pistol holds."

The truth is that Hoppy—he doesn't like to be called William Boyd, actor, because Boyd was another character—has been mightily impressed lately at the influence he can wield.

He was in Toronto, riding in an automobile parade on a rainy day. He was dressed to the teeth, down

SAYS GROSS, NET ARE DIFFERENT— Actor John Wayne Disputes Wife's Claims For Alimony

LOS ANGELES—(P)—Rugged John Wayne, whose wife says he grossed $502,001 last year, told an alimony hearing that during his marriage "we have spent everything I made."

The 44-year-old movie box office favorite returned to the witness stand Tuesday to dispute his estranged mate's demand for $12,001 a month pending trial of her separate maintenance suit.

His wife, Esperanza Bauer, 30, former actress in Mexican films, claims that's how much she and Wayne spent, on the average, every month of their six-year marriage.

But Wayne declared Monday his net was only $59,366 last year and Mrs. Wayne should be able to get along on $900 monthly pending the trial.

Dapper in a dark gray suit with checked gray tie, Wayne testified calmly for the most part, crinkling his forehead thoughtfully as his wife's lawyer quizzed him about contracts, travel expenses, loans, medical expenses, rent, etc.

But he showed resentment when he was boomed at the lawyer: "You say you're suspicious of my method of earning money that might come to Mrs. Wayne."

Haircuts. For Instance
Superior Judge William R. McKay commented, during the detailing of Wayne's expenses, that a star of his stature would have to tip a barber $2—"or you and I know what would be said."

The remark was apt—Wayne badly needs a haircut. He explained he's letting his hair grow for a role in which he'll play an old-time cavalry scout.

Mrs. Wayne's attorney, Jerome Rosenthal, told the judge he was trying to show "a vague kind of dealing" with community property. He said he would show "a difference between what is reported to be his income and his actual income."

Wayne testified in answer to questions.

He received $150,000 for his work in the picture, "Big Jim McLain" and $175,000 each for "Trouble Along the Way" and "Island in the Sky." His travel in 1952 included trips to Mexico, Honolulu and South America. When a movie is completed, he usually presents gifts to members of the crew.

Herbert J. Yates, head of Republic Studio, gave him 5,000 shares of company stock.

Wife Wants 'War Chest'
"Mr. Yates told me it was a gift," Wayne said. "I accepted it as I would a wristwatch or anything else."

"Didn't it appear on your books of account?" the lawyer asked.

"I don't think so."

Asked if he had borrowed on his life insurance, Wayne said: "I believe money was borrowed to pay my income taxes." He said his business managers "can give you the details."

Attorney Rosenthal told the judge Mrs. Wayne is entitled to, besides support, "a little war chest with which to properly present the evidence" at the separate maintenance trial.

Kidnaped Chinese Youths Discovered In Abandoned House

HONG KONG—(P)—Two kidnaped teen-age Chinese boys, one the son of a millionaire Macau casino owner, were found Tuesday in an otherwise empty house in that Portuguese colony.

Apparently abandoned by their abductors, both boys were weak from malnutrition and their confinement. They were kidnaped May 5.

It was not learned whether millionaire Fu Tax-lam paid the 500,000 Hong Kong dollars (about $75,000 U. S.) ransom demanded by his 14-year-old son, Fu Lam-kin.

The kidnapers had asked 700,000 Hong Kong dollars, but the elder Fu—explaining that he had 16 sons—said he could not pay more than 200,000.

UMW Chief Protests McKay's Nominee To Bureau Of Mines

WASHINGTON—(P)—John L. Lewis says Secretary of the Interior McKay's plan to place Tom Lyon of Salt Lake City at the head of the Bureau of Mines is "a diabolical outrage and a political crime against the whole mining population."

Lewis conferred with McKay Monday and later told newsmen he had voiced "astonishment at the secretary of Interior wanting human blood of coal miners on his hands as may come from having the bureau headed by a comparative ignoramus."

McKay commented: "I am just as much interested in humanity and the welfare of the miners as John L. Lewis."

A month ago McKay said he had recommended Lyon to the White House. Lewis contends Lyon, a geologist with metal-mining experience, knows nothing of coal mining and that 88 per cent of all miners are coal miners. He says John J. Forbes, the present mines bureau head, is fully qualified but is being replaced for political reasons.

Lyon's only comment: "I don't want to get into a fight with Lewis unless I really have to."

Joe Louis denounced his heavy-weight boxing title more (25 times) than any other heavyweight champion.

Manners MAKE FRIENDS

The first date was wonderful and you'd like to take the girl out again real soon. Don't ask "When can I see you again?" Even if she would like to say "Tomorrow night" she'll probably figure that in order not to sound too eager she'll have to set the date at least a week ahead. So ask for a definite date at a definite time and make it easy for her to agree to it.

She might even suggest making it sooner.

Advices Divorced Wife To Ignore Ex-Hubby's Pleas

A troubled wife wrote me this letter: "A little over a year ago my husband told me he was in love with a girl who worked in his office and that he wanted a divorce. "I gave him the divorce and went back to work. Now he tells me he made a mistake and wants to know if I will take him back if he gets a divorce from his second wife. I don't know what to do. I've never quit loving him but I don't know whether to believe him when he says he still loves me. "He has been in poor health for a year and I keep wondering if he just wants me back because he knows I will take good care of him. His second wife is apparently sick and tired of him now that he is in poor health and can't take her out every night. What do you think I should do?"

Realize when you are well off. This man ran out on his marriage to you and is ready now to run out on his marriage to someone else.

No True Loyalty

Can you possibly think such a man ever can be a real husband to you, one whose love and loyalty you can count on?

And can you honestly believe he loves you when at one time he was perfectly willing to walk out on you?

Isn't it much more likely that, as you suggest, he is looking for a nurse instead of a wife? That he is afraid he is going to be the one who is left out in the cold, and that before he runs out on his present wife he wants the assurance that he can come back to you. Providing, of course, he is still in the mood to come back once he is free again?

Listen to your head this time—not to your heart.

Sponge Leathers With Dry Suds

There's nothing sadder about accessories this Spring. Girls are choosing the pastel flower-tones for their bags, belts, gloves and jewelry because they are the pick of the crop. Cornflower blue, pink that's light as icing, champagne beige, and lots of white all look flower-fresh.

You don't have to dunk these pale accessories in a tub of water to get them clean. Immersion would not be good for them.

Whip up some soap lather in a basin until the suds are "dry" and foamy. Then take a clean sponge, dip it in the lather and wipe off your pastel leather or plastic bag and belt.

While you do this, let your gloves be soaking in the suds or, if they are extremely soiled, you can lard them with soap jelly, roll them up tightly and wash them later.

The beauty of the pastel accessories lies in the delicacy and freshness of the coloring, so sponge off smudges and spots as soon as they appear and then soil won't be ground in.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written For NEA Service

The standard of play in bridge tournaments has improved enormously in the last 20-odd years. In the old days only a ranking expert was able to execute a squeeze, and practically nobody knew what a dummy reversal was. In the recent Eastern States Regional Tournament, held in New York, several players combined a squeeze with a dummy reversal—and thought nothing of it.

The hand usually was bid to four spades by some such action as the one shown here today. The most common opening lead was a low heart, and South won with the ace. Declarer's first step was to finesse the ten of spades, losing to East's king.

The defense varied a bit from this point, but it came to the same thing in the end. In two cases that I know of, East laid down the ace of clubs, dropping South's king. East then shifted back to hearts, forcing out dummy's king.

Declarer got to his hand by ruffing a club and led another trump, picking up West's queen. South next ruffed out dummy's last club, thus achieving the "dummy reversal."

Don't let this expression puzzle you, for it has a very simple meaning. Reversing the dummy is just a matter of establishing the dummy instead of your own hand. In this case, declarer ruffed out dummy's losers with his own trumps instead of trying to ruff out his own losers with dummy's trumps.

Having reversed the dummy, declarer then led his last trump to dummy's jack, following with dummy's four of trumps. (South had ruffed twice in his own hand, and therefore dummy wound up with one trump more than the South hand.) When dummy led the last trump, dummy still held two hearts and two diamonds. South kept the four diamonds, but West had only a headache.

West had to reduce to four cards. If he saved all four diamonds, dummy's low hearts would both be good. If West kept a high heart, however, he would have to discard a diamond, and then declarer would be able to win the rest of the tricks with his diamonds.

In short, West was squeezed and declarer had executed a combination of dummy reversal and squeeze.

Iranian Mobs Stone Two American GI's

TEHRAN, IRAN—(P)—U. S. military headquarters here announced Tuesday that an American sergeant suffered a head wound Monday when a mob of Communist partisans stoned him and another soldier.

The injured sergeant, Thomas Quirk of Brooklyn, N. Y., was riding in an Army vehicle with Sgt. Frank W. Corpe of Akron, Ohio, when the mob rushed the car, shouting "Yankee go home." The Communist sympathizers spat at the sergeants and struck them with their fists.

The announcement from the American military mission to Iran said the sergeants—both in uniform—reported a policeman forced them to drive toward the crowd, which had gathered around the Justice Ministry. Another policeman directing traffic halted them at the peak of the attack but made no move to interfere with the mob, they said.

The sergeants escaped by pulling out and speeding around the halted traffic.

Durkin Protests Labor Budget Cuts

WASHINGTON—(P)—Secretary of Labor Durkin says he expects the Eisenhower Administration to take a stand "very shortly" on changes in the Taft-Hartley labor law.

Durkin also told a news conference Monday that once this stand becomes known, he wants to testify about it to the Senate and House Labor Committees.

Durkin also protested an 11 per cent cut in the Labor Department's appropriation voted by the House Appropriations Committee. He said this will require dismissal notices to be sent out within a week to more than 10 per cent of the department's employees.

Modest Maids Of Plymouth Suggest Painting Dead Fish

PLYMOUTH, ENGLAND—(P)—The Plymouth Art Club has decided reluctantly to dry its paint brushes and put away its palettes and easels—Plymouth girls are too shy to pose for it in the nude.

"We've advertised and made personal approaches—offering of course the union rate of five shillings (70 cents) an hour," sadly complained Robert Huck, post office worker who was to have taught the 28-member class that includes civil servants and middle-aged housewives.

"But professional models are impossible to get here, and all the girls I asked personally were horrified and said everyone would know them."

An alternative suggestion that the class should forget about real life and concentrate on still life subjects was turned down—the club members said they could do that sort of thing at home.

Bill Oatis Asks Chance To Review Trial Record Before Answering More Queries

NEW YORK —(AP)—William N. Oatis says he was questioned many times for as much as eight hours a day during a two-month period before his "espionage" trial in Communist Czechoslovakia.

The 39-year-old Associated Press correspondent, who returned Monday to the United States after spending 23 months in a Prague prison, has indicated there are two things on his agenda for the new days of freedom—first, an effort to regain the lost moments of separation from his wife, Laurabelle; and, second, a study of the record of his trial.

Oatis was freed by the Czechs Saturday. He had been serving a 10-year sentence for engaging in what the Communists called "espionage" while working as an Associated Press correspondent in Prague.

The slight, bespectacled newsman met with reporters in an hour-long conference at New York's International Airport shortly after his arrival by plane from Germany. He faced the newsmen with his wife at his side, following a brief, semi-private reunion with her aboard the plane.

Although speaking at length on many phases of his experiences, Oatis declined at times to answer questions or to go into details. He indicated that he himself was not fully acquainted with all aspects of his case.

No Drugs Used

He spoke of his treatment by his Czech jailers, saying they had effective methods of obtaining confessions. However, he added that to the best of his knowledge no drugs were used on him. He said:

"They gave me about 10 injections which they said were sugar solution and vitamins to build up my weight—and I'm convinced they were. I felt no effects from these injections whatsoever."

"They also put me under a sun lamp to give me a tan. I think they wanted me to look good at the trial."

Oatis added that he contracted tuberculosis and that he was given "40 pills a day until I got well."

His desire to look again at the record was evidenced in a number of instances during the news conference. He said it frankly was hard for him to decide if he was arrested justly as a violator of Czech law and added:

"In certain things it could be considered from their point of view that there were violations. They look at things differently."

"I'll put it this way—in their country, practicing journalism as we know it, it could come under suspicion of espionage under their laws."

Let It Stand

Other instances of his hesitation to answer all questions came in queries on whether he had transmitted any information to the U.S. Embassy in Prague or whether he ever worked, with or without pay, for the State Department or any other U. S. government agency.

He replied at one time that he could not answer that "kind of question" and would not say anything about it. At another time he said:

"I want to take a look at the record of the trial. Until I see what the record is, I want to let it stand."

Asked if he planned to repudiate his "confession," he took a similar stand:

"I want to see the record and also what came through here before I say anything about that . . ."

Oatis partial reticence brought this remark from one of his interviewers:

"I think a fuller answer might avoid some embarrassment."

The liberated newsman replied that he realized there is a desire to understand the whole story right now." He added:

"But I can't go into it entirely and I don't understand it all myself just yet."

"It's a big question that needs a great amount of elucidation. The situation is very complicated. It's hard for people to comprehend it unless it's put at considerable length. I couldn't go into it on an occasion like this. For one thing it isn't organized in my own mind."

REUNITED—Newsman William Oatis, who spent 22 months in a prison behind the Communist Iron Curtain, is reunited with his bride, Laurabelle, whom he has not seen in almost three years as he arrives at International Airport in New York from Frankfurt, Germany.

TWO YANKS, ONE GRAND

CHICAGO —(AP)—A 13-year-old girl's mistake in entering the wrong dentist's office cost her two teeth, according to her parents' $100,000 lawsuit against the dentist who extracted them.

The suit of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Cole said her daughter, Roberta Ann, was sent to Dr. Saul Levy March 3 for treatment of two molars. Instead Roberta Ann went to Dr. M. B. Cohan's office and Dr. Cohan pulled the teeth.

Both dentists have offices on the same floor of the same Loop building.

INDIANAPOLIS —(AP)—A Nebraska dentist says parents do more squirming and shouting in the dental chair than children do.

Trade Of Sinkiang Closed To Indians

NEW DELHI —(AP)—India's trade with Communist-occupied Sinkiang province has been at a standstill since the Red takeover of September, 1949, Minister of State for Commerce D. P. Karmarkar says. Karmarkar added that Peiping had refused to recognize the Indian consulate at Kashgar and attempts to reopen it so far have been unsuccessful.

A few hundred Sinkiang refugees, however, managed to escape and trek their way to Kashmir. The Nehru government has settled some of them in Kashmir while the others have left for Turkey and Mecca.

Yoshida Reelected Japanese Premier By Narrow Margin

TOKYO —(AP)—Aging Shigeru Yoshida Tuesday was chosen prime minister of Japan by the House, which handed him two stinging defeats Monday.

The Liberal Party leader polled 204 votes against 116 for Mamoru Shigemitsu, leader of the rival Progressive Party.

Yoshida, 75, has headed four Japanese cabinets since World War II. He is regarded as pro-American.

Seventy-seven members of the House abstained on the final roll call. Most were members of the Rightist Socialist Party.

Monday, a coalition of four opposition parties, including the Rightist Socialists, swept Yoshida's political foes into the key jobs of House speaker and vice speaker. If the coalition had held together Tuesday's vote for prime minister Yoshida could have been unseated.

His election as premier gives Yoshida authority to form his fifth cabinet, but most political observers predicted rough sledding ahead.

Last March, Yoshida's opponents pushed through a vote of censure after the Prime Minister called a member of the Diet a "bakayaro" (fool).

Instead of resigning the wily old Premier dissolved the Diet—a procedure permitted under Japan's constitution—and took his case to the people.

He didn't win the overwhelming victory for which he had hoped. Instead his Liberal Party lost seats and wound up with 199, less than the 234 needed to hold control of the 466-seat House.

He won enough support from other conservatives to recapture the premiership, but with political opponents sitting as speaker and vice speaker he faces trouble.

On the other hand, he controls the biggest bloc of votes in the House and opposition parties are split widely on policy.

In a move to keep control of the House, the Premier is expected to meet with Shigemitsu Wednesday to seek cooperation of the Progressives, a conservative party which thinks much like Yoshida's Liberals.

U. S. To Demand Russians Pay Off Lend-Lease Debt

WASHINGTON —(AP)—The United States is about ready to fire another note to Moscow demanding the Russians settle at least part of their eight-year-old lend-lease account.

The new note will provide another test whether the Soviet regime, under its new head, Gorgi Malenkov, intends to cooperate with the American government in solving problems that strain U. S.-Russian relations.

While Premier Stalin was alive, the Russians stalled on U. S. demands that they return some of the material provided them during World War II and pay for other items they retained. They did next to nothing except return some frigates and icebreakers.

The forthcoming American note, it was learned, will call on the Russians to live up to a pledge made last June by giving back 186 small lend-lease ships.

The State Department already has sent along two polite diplomatic reminders, one last November and the other last March, a few days after Stalin's death.

Profit For Reds

The U. S. has taken the position that these ships must be returned before it will consider Russia's offer to write "closed" to its lend-lease account with a payment of 300 million dollars.

The 300 million bid by the Soviets is still far short of the 800 million dollars the U. S. insists that Russia pay. The payment would give Russia legal title to lend-lease items of peacetime value which remained with the Soviet Union after the end of the war.

Altogether, Russia received almost 11 billion dollars in lend-lease goods, including thousands of tanks, guns, planes, food and complete factories and oil refineries, electrical equipment and machinery with definite peacetime value.

Ex-Agent's Condition Called Satisfactory By Seminole Doctor

SEMINOLE—Condition of Cline E. Morris, 50, former Gaines County agent, who was pinned to his tractor more than two hours Saturday by a steel rail, was termed "satisfactory" Tuesday by attending physician, Dr. H. D. Dow at Gaines County Hospital here.

Morris, who suffered compound fractures of both legs, was still confined to the hospital, but showing marked improvement.

The former county agent said he was dragging the rail to knock down beds in a two-section area on his farm nine miles north of Seminole when he turned too sharply, picking up the rail with a tractor wheel.

"I saw the rail coming," he remembered, "but when I started to jump, the thing hit me."

Morris remained conscious and pinned to the body of the tractor from 4 p.m. until 6:15 p.m. when Joe Crawford, an employee, found him. Crawford freed the injured man and called aid.

Ironically, a tractor had to be used to tow an Alpha Funeral Home ambulance across the soft field to Morris.

Morris, who served as county agent 12 years, has been a resident of Gaines County 17 years.

Truce Talks Delayed; UN May Release North Koreans To Live In South Korea

TOKYO—The Korean truce talks were recessed for another six days Tuesday and an informed UN Command source said if negotiations collapse the Allies probably will free 34,000 North Korean prisoners who refuse to return to Communist rule.

There were reports in Tokyo the Allies were preparing a revised armistice plan that might set a time limit on the peace talks.

The UN Command asked an extension until next Monday of the three-day recess that was due to end Wednesday. The Reds agreed at a liaison meeting at Panmunjom.

A source close to Gen. Mark Clark's headquarters said the UN Command is considering turning loose as civilians balking North Koreans.

The ultimate disposition of these 14,500 Chinese captives who also have renounced communism is the last major block to a truce.

The source said a precedent for freeing captives already had been set by the Reds.

"They say they freed at the front" 50,000 Allied prisoners they grabbed early in the Korean War," said the source, whose name cannot be revealed.

"There is no reason to keep holding these North Korean prisoners. They hate communism and will not go back to it under any circumstances."

"They are anxious to get back to their wives and families and be assimilated in South Korea among people of their own nationality who also are opposed to communism."

"The 14,500 Chinese prisoners held by the UN Command are another thing. They do not want to return to communism either. But their future is something to talk about."

The UN Command said it asked for the extended recess in the truce talks for "more time to review past efforts . . . and to consider completely the present position of both sides" with regard to the prisoner deadlock.

Last week Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison, Jr., chief Allied truce delegate, gave "administrative problems" as the reason for the first recess.

Tuesday's explanation only mentioned "reviewing" the prisoner question.

Chinese Puzzle

The UN Command statement explaining the new recess request said the longer period would give the Reds "an opportunity" for "careful consideration" of past and present efforts to settle the POW problem.

The UN in its latest proposal suggested turning loose the 34,000 North Koreans as soon as an armistice is reached and letting the 14,500 Chinese be taken into custody in South Korea by a five-nation neutral repatriation commission composed of India, Sweden, Switzerland, Poland and Czechoslovakia.

The Communists said such a proposal was "unthinkable." They agreed to let the 48,500 prisoners remain in South Korea under neutral custody but do not want them set free until given a chance to send representatives among them "to explain things."

Eagles To Concentrate Work On Cancer Research, Service

Youth guidance problems and aid to cancer research will top the agenda Thursday through Saturday when 400 to 500 persons meet in Hotel Schärbauer for the 1953 convention of the Bistate Aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles.

The delegates will map an expanded service program for youngsters in cities in which Eagle Aeries are located. Much of the youth work done by Eagle groups is carried out by the Junior Order of Eagles, which is open to boys and girls under 18. Erie Robertson, secretary of the Midland Aerie, explained.

"We try to give these youngsters supervised recreation through sports leagues and social activities," Robertson pointed out. "Much of the program is in the hands of the youngsters themselves, but the older members supervise their activities. It has been very successful."

The delegates, Robertson continued, will discuss methods of expanding these activities through youth centers and community projects.

The Eagles also will study plans for more donations to the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund, which already has received some $400,000 from the organization. "Charity Frolics" staged by the Eagles since 1950, caused Walter Winchell, treasurer and founder of the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund, to call the Eagles "the Runyon Fund's Santa Claus."

"Cancer is far from licked," Robertson said, "and until a cure is found, there must be a steady flow of money for research. So far we have a good record in this fight and we're determined to do an even better job in the future."

Foe Of Communism
Eagle Aeries throughout the nation have been asked to appoint Freedom Directors who will cooperate with national anti-Communist groups in circulating anti-Red information on the "grass roots" level.

Eagles officials term the local level the best ground for combatting domestic Communism and aim to take a direct approach to people in smaller communities.

Also under review will be the Memorial Foundation of the Fraternal Order of Eagles which supplies complete medical, dental, surgical, clinical and optical care as well as education. The foundation aids these national grants to the sons and daughters of Eagle members who HANOI, INDOCHINA—The last Communist invaders of Laos were reported on their way out of the little mountain Indochinese kingdom Tuesday. French-Laotian forces were said to be in pursuit, but apparently with no great prospects of catching them.

French officials said the Communist-led Vietminh's crack 304th Division was moving east and southeast, presumably heading for the coast of Annam and territory long held by rebel chief Ho Chi Minh's forces.

This was the route over which the division, commanded by Red China-trained Gen. Hoang Minh Tao, knifed into Laos more than a month ago in support of three other rebel divisions driving into the kingdom from North Viet Nam.

Vietminh forces advanced to within sight of the royal Laotian residence city of Luang Prabang—and then withdrew without a battle. More than a week ago, the other three rebel divisions quit Laos, pulling back over the kingdom's northern frontier into the Black River district of Northwestern Indochina.

died in military service during World War II and the Korean campaign. There are more than 1,300 children now in the foundation "family."

Trustees believe the foundation's peak will occur from 1960 to 1963 when a majority of the youngsters in the foundation will reach college age. The foundation aids these young men and women in gaining college or professional training.

Somerfield and Mrs. Jack Flowers, both of Odessa, Mrs. Lloyd Williamson of Junction, and Mrs. Corley; four sons, Lewis of Big Spring, Bdy and Henry, both of Menard and Alf of Odessa; five sisters, Mrs. Max Jacoby and Mrs. Rudy Marshall, both of Ranger, Mrs. Will Bell of Eden and Mrs. Lynn Wooten and Mrs. Otto Serber, both of Mason; three brothers, Arch Reeves of Heat, Nat Reeves of Cave City, Ark., and Elsie Reeves of Menard.

CATS LISTEN BETTER, TOO

LOS ANGELES—A writer Richard Tregaskis' long absences from home broke up their marriage, his wife, Marian, testified in winning an uncontested divorce on grounds of cruelty Monday.

Mrs. Tregaskis said she became so lonely she had to buy two cats because "I didn't have anybody to talk to." Tregaskis, author of "Guadalcanal Diary," once said he was taking a three-month trip and didn't return for 11 months, she said.

GRIM SEARCH—Texas highway patrolmen and soldiers from Barksdale Air Force Base, top, and ambulance and rescue workers, bottom, grimly probe for victims in the tangled wreckage of a Delta-C&S Airlines DC-3 which plowed into a dense pine forest near Waskom, Texas, Sunday claiming the lives of 19 of the 20 persons aboard. Triple Jet Ace Tried Eight Years To Earn His AF Wings

APPLE VALLEY, CALIF.—(AP)—"He always wanted to be a pilot—from the time his father signed papers so he could enlist in 1940 at the age of 14," she related. So the young enlistee applied for pilot training—and ended up in the Medical Corps. After two years he tried again, and was transferred to the Air Corps. Then came his second disappointment. They made him a navigator. That was in 1948. He went to Europe and flew 60 missions with a B-24 Liberator crew—still wanting to become a pilot. Refusing to abandon his dream at the end of World War II, he sent in another flight training application. Finally, in 1948, he realized his ambition and won his wings. Then the war in Korea broke out. He asked for combat duty and got another turnaround. They said he was "too old." Finally, last September, at the age of 30, he won his way and was shipped to Korea. "All through the years, he kept telling anyone who would listen that he was a natural-born pilot," Mrs. McConnell said. "I'm thrilled that he's had the chance to prove it to the world."

SENATORS RUN OUT OF AMMO

MANILA —(AP)—The Philippine Senate, with more than 100 bills to handle before it adjourns at midnight Thursday, impatiently marked time Tuesday. It had no printed bills on which to vote. West Texas Sailor Wounded In Action Off Korean Coast

SEMINOLE—Ronald Peter Erwin, 19, son of Mrs. Beulah Irene Erwin of Seminole, received a shrapnel wound of the left foot when the Navy destroyer Brush was hit by enemy shore fire Friday off Wonsan, Korea.

The Associated Press reported that Erwin was one of nine men wounded, six of them seriously.

All of the casualties were among and around the forward five-inch gun mount which was hit by use of 20 heavy caliber shells fired at the destroyer.

Mrs. Erwin said her son, a gunner's mate, had been in the Navy two years. The family has lived in Seminole 10 years, coming here from Odessa.

The Navy said that among the seriously wounded was Seaman Harold V. Ballard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Monroe Ballard, Route 4, Grand Saline, Texas.

Texas, Four Others Unhurt In Air Mishap

MONTELEONE, IND.—(AP)—Four Air Force officers escaped injury Monday night when their C-45 plane was damaged in a forced landing on a nearby farm. The men included Capt. Hubert Williams of Cross Plains, Texas.

McConnell, Fernandez Given Orders To Quit MIG Hunting

SEOUL—(AP)—The Air Force Tuesday told Capt. Joseph McConnell, Jr., the world's top jet ace, to fly no more combat missions over Korea. The California Sabre jet pilot killed his fourteenth, fifteenth and sixteenth MIG's Monday.

The air war quieted Tuesday after six days of savage sky battles, but on the ground two Chinese battalions hit Allied positions in Central and Eastern Korea.

South Korean bayonets and bullets hurled back both assaults and chopped down one-fourth of the Red attackers.

Outshooting Fernandez McConnell, of Apple Valley, Calif., shot down three Communist MIG's over North Korea Monday to win the title of No. 1 jet ace from Capt. Manuel Fernandez, Jr., of Miami, Fla., who has 14 kills.

Fernandez was grounded Monday, and both aces will leave for home within a few days, the Air Force said. Fernandez has flown 125 missions and McConnell 106. Sabre jet pilots normally fly 100 combat missions before returning home. Both had asked for 25 more.

McConnell said he understood the Air Force point of view but hated to leave Korea "while I was going so good."

Career Of It "It's the best kind of flying I've ever done. I could do this for several years yet."

Sabre jets prowling North Korean skies Tuesday spotted Communist MIG's in the distance, but Red pilots showed no desire to tangle, the Air Force said.

In six days of serial combat ending Monday the Reds lost 36 MIG's and probably lost two. Sixteen were damaged.

No Use Pushing Col. John W. Mitchell, Enid, Miss., commander of the 51st Fighter Wing, announced that McConnell soon would head for home following a conference at Fifth Air Force headquarters.

"He is more valuable to the Air Force alive than dead," said Col. Edward Szaniawski of Scarsdale, N. Y., 51st Wing deputy commander. "Mac is so far out of reach for MIG kills now that there's no use pushing it."

McConnell had received permission earlier to fly 125 missions, and Monday he said he had put in for another 25, or 150 altogether.

Fernandez also asked permission to fly 150 missions, but was turned down.

Speakers Say School Burden Outweighs Purpose, Abilities

OKLAHOMA CITY —(AP)—Hard-hitting speakers at the fifty-seventh annual convention of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers declared Monday the nation's schools were:

1. Shackled with outmoded concepts.
2. Assuming too many of the responsibilities of parents.
3. Not open to congressional investigation for subversion provided no smear tactics are used.

Albert Sydney Raubenheimer, educational vice president of the University of Southern California, told more than 3,000 delegates to the convention that obsolete teaching methods still are being employed.

"Our methods of teaching," he said, "almost universally reflect an acceptance of the idea that a child is merely a blank tablet that has to be impressed and inscribed with facts and preconceived ideas."

Raubenheimer asserted the testing of children on contents of textbooks tends to restrain all possible development of interest and imagination.

Asking Too Much G. F. Bruce of Edmonton, Canada, president of the Canadian Home and School and Parent-Teacher Federation, said teachers are asked to accept too much of a burden in many phases of activity not directly connected with school work.

"I ask you," he said, "is it fair for us to expect any teacher, who has, perhaps, not more than 11 years of schooling, plus as little as seven months of teacher training, to train, teach, counsel and advise all the children he or she instructs?"

He contended, "We are asking them to do far too much if we want any part of the job to be done well."

Probe For Reds Meanwhile, at a press conference, Lawrence G. Dertnick, superintendent of schools at Chattanooga, Tenn., was asked if congressional probes of subversion among educators constitute a threat to local control of public education.

He replied it "depends largely upon the manner in which the investigating committees function," adding:

"They will render useful service if they report evidence of subversive activities." But he said charges that cannot be substantiated would damage teaching methods through fear.

Cutbacks To Delay Industrial Phases Of Atom Research

WASHINGTON —(AP)—Eisenhower Administration economies in the atomic energy program will postpone construction of nuclear-powered aircraft and ships and will delay development of peacetime atomic power.

But there will be no cutbacks in atomic weapons or power plants for atomic submarines, Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R-NY) said Monday in announcing that the budget for the year beginning July 1 will carry out "on the order of 30 per cent" under the $1,600,000,000 recommended by former President Truman.

Cole is chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, which keeps watch on the nation's atomic program.

Despite his assurances that the Administration will ask sufficient funds to "carry on the weapons phase of the program without any curtailment," the decision seemed certain to stir up the same kind of congressional criticism which followed the announcement that new Air Force funds would be cut by $5,000,000,000.

Cole announced few details. The Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) budget was scheduled for presentation, behind closed doors, to the House Appropriations Committee Tuesday.

Cole's committee Monday heard AEC officials outline cuts under the Truman budget figures aggregating about 480 million dollars. Cole said he believed the figures had been reviewed by the National Security Council, the nation's top strategic planning group headed by President Eisenhower.

Minimum Program Cole told newsmen the reductions would mean:

1. Postponement of the construction of reactors—the power plants for atom-powered aircraft and aircraft carriers. Research and development on these projects will continue "pretty much as planned," he added.

2. "Some curtailment in the studies and work" on development of a reactor for industrial use, which Cole said is directly related to the development of power for surface

3. No curtailment or elimination of the AEC's big new billion-dollar plant at Portsmouth, Ohio, and no change in the construction of two submarine power plants, now proceeding at "full tilt."

"This is a very minimum program and any further cuts would materially affect the program," Cole said.

Midwestern's attorney, Guy Rogers, said Monday he would make immediate application for a writ of certiorari, a plea to submit the issue to the Supreme Court.

Atomic Energy Termed New Magic Wand Of Oil Industry

TULSA —(AP)— Atomic energy is the new magic wand of oil industry. Radioactive atoms are doing dozens of ingenious jobs, from finding oil to transporting and refining it, and improving oil products. They do some jobs never possible before. Some uses are shown at the International Petroleum Exposition here. Already, the oil industry is the biggest industrial user of radioisotopes, reports Travelab, Inc., a main supplier of atomic instruments and packaged atoms.

Philippine Election Fight Takes Shape

Lines are being drawn as the Philippine Islands get ready for next November's presidential elections with a bitter fight in the Liberal Party's convention. Carlos P. Romulo, well known to Americans, demanded that President Elpidio Quirino withdraw as the candidate for the Liberal Party's nomination. Quirino refused so Romulo resigned as ambassador to Washington and chief delegate to the UN, and entered the race against him. Romulo charges Quirino has wrought "political confusion" and "social decay." Winner at the convention, May 24, faces a tough fight with Ramon Magsaysay, Communist-fighting candidate of the opposition Nacionalista Party.

19 Found Guilty In Ku Klux Klan Kidnaping, Terrorism

WILMINGTON, N. C. —(AP)— Nineteen alleged Ku Klux Klansmen were convicted on charges of kidnaping and conspiracy here Monday. The charges stemmed from the wave of Klan terrorism that gripped the Carolinas last year.

They were charged with seizing George Kemper Smith at his home near Nichols, S. C., and flogging him with thick belts attached to pick handles. Federal Judge Don Gilliam sentenced three defendants to three-year prison terms. Four received one-year sentences and seven were placed on probation. Five other defendants, now serving prison sentences following their conviction in a similar case last year, escaped without additional punishment. Judge Gilliam said he already had punished them for their "Klan activities in general."

Russians Return Two Captive GI's Held 179 Days

BERLIN —(AP)— The Russians Tuesday returned two American soldiers who had been held 179 days. The soldiers are Pvt. Raymond Michalowski of Perty Amboy, N. J., and Pvt. Lieutenant Night, Los Angeles. Both were members of the Military Police battalion here. They were seized on the border of the Russian zone and the American sector Nov. 28, 1952. The Army said the Russians informed Maj. Gen. Thomas Timberman "the investigation into the circumstances of their apprehension has been completed and there is no further need for their detention." The Army added that both men were in good health, but that they would not be available to give an accounting of their experiences until U. S. authorities have completed an interrogation.

Newsman Expects Decision On Prisoners Due Revision

NEW YORK —(AP)— The New York Times reported Tuesday the U. S. has decided to modify one provision of the last Allied Korean prisoner proposal to bring it more in line with the United Nations resolution on the stalemated truce talks. In a dispatch from UN headquarters, Times Correspondent Thomas J. Hamilton said reliable sources indicated the Americans might go so far as to agree to a political conference to take up the disposition of prisoners unwilling to accept repatriation, provided some sort of time limit was set for the conference to reach agreement. Such a change would bring the UN Command's proposal considerably closer to the last Communist offer, which proposed that a political conference take over the POW's who finally refused to go home. The Red plan, however, said nothing about any time limit for the conference. The UN Command's last proposal submitted to the Reds suggested the immediate release of North Korean prisoners who refuse to return home and the release after 60 days of any Chinese prisoners opposing repatriation. The UN resolution, approved overwhelmingly by the General Assembly last December, said the fate of the prisoners unwilling to return home should be decided at a political conference to be held within three months after an armistice. Reach No Accord. If the conference were unable to

Fund Falls Short By $1,000 For Community Ambassador

Community Ambassador Project workers are $1,000 short of the amount needed to send Dwain M. Estes, principal of San Jacinto Junior High School, to Yugoslavia as Midland's ambassador under the "Experiment in International Living."

Project officials, meeting Monday at Radio Station KCRB, were told that only $500 of the necessary $1,500 had been collected. The $1,500, Herman Krevit, treasurer, explained would pay for Estes' plane fare to New York, his ship journey to Yugoslavia, general expenses, his return flight home and $100 for spending money.

Texans Found Dead In Colorado Cabin

COLORADO SPRINGS, COLO. —(AP)— Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Samuel Cunningham, an elderly Gainesville, Texas couple, were found dead Monday afternoon in a cabin at Chippita Park, a resort community in the Pecos west of here. Coroner William Joss said the two died of carbon monoxide poisoning after oxygen was burned from the air in the cabin by three heaters. He reported the heaters were "going full blast" when the bodies were found and windows and doors were closed against the cold weather. Joss estimated the couple died soon after returning from Colorado Springs to the cabin about midnight Friday.

Navy 'Copter Rescues Jet Pilot From Ocean

JACKSONVILLE BEACH, FLA. —(AP)— A Navy helicopter Monday rescued a jet fighter pilot 18 minutes after he bailed out into the Atlantic Ocean. Thousands of persons lined the beach watching the operation a mile from shore. The pilot, Ensign William C. Burke, 23, Denton, Texas, was flying at 30,000 feet on a gunnery flight when his plane developed trouble. The helicopter took off two minutes after Burke jumped.

SPORTS PARLEY

By CHARLEY ESKEW

It's the little things that count: An Odessa sports writer, wondering like the rest of his townsmen what's wrong with the Oilers, recounts that "The old baseball maxim, 'You've got to be strong through the middle to win' could be one of the chief reasons (for the Oilers' present string of losses)."

"Behind the plate," he writes, "Felix Castro has had a miserable start with the bat, hitting barely over .200... only Jim Carson and Wes Ortis (among the pitchers) have approached the form expected of them. They've won six of Odessa's eight victories between them."

He goes on to say that Second Baseman Floyd Martin has sparked defensively but isn't a consistently good hitter... Raul Dieppa is hitting fairly well (.280) but fielding erratically and Roman Loyko in centerfield is about 94 points off his expected batting pace...

In golf, you'll note Midland coaches are battling 1,000 in trophy hunting: Audrey Gill and Louis Greville won consolation prizes in the first and tenth flights of the City Championships and Ken Sewell (of West Elementary) made it three for three with a fifth flight title at McCamey Sunday...

The other day we spoke of Eugene Moore, Jr., as Midland's greatest contribution to the majors, quoting from a book. But what we didn't know was when he played here or what major club he joined. Jim Prince, who says he played catch with Moore while still a Dallas boy in knee pants, cleared the point: "Moore was with Midland in 1926 and finished up with the Browns in 1944."

What did you think of Israel Ten when he pitched against Midland? From here it looked like he needed to condition a little more even though he fanned five batters in the first two innings... the tipoff though came when he yielded three runs between the whiffs...

McCamey Invitational Golf Champion Billy Erfurth, Lubbock, can compete in the Colonial Invitational at Fort Worth, starting Wednesday, because of his 1952 title in the Texas State Amateur...

Midland club officials are keeping fingers crossed about whether new purchase Fred Smith will report here. In 1952, the huskie didn't want to play Class C ball when Tyler sent him to Amarillo; consequently, he didn't show up with the Sox...

They say Temper! Temper! Tommy Bolt returned after the USOA shook his finger at him for his outburst in 1952. Maybe he has, in his fashion. According to a wire report recently, "Bolt says he has quit throwing his clubs when things go bad on a golf course. He now is using an energy-saving device he discovered at the Masters Championship during which, instead of exploding with his old fervor, he calmly handed a No. 4 wood to a caddy and said, 'Break it, please'... The caddy was dumfounded but complied."

Speaking of Bolt, here's a possible entry here when the Texas PGA tournament goes on at Ranchland Hill Country Club next October. Roy Minear, tourney chairman, included Bolt, a Texan, on a list—already mailed—seeking reservation information...

They bill the perennial Odessa grapple contender, Dory Funk, as The Panhandle Cowhand with the tough bunkhouse style when he tussles in Houston...

At last it's being published—and correctly—that Hack Miller, present Big Spring manager, was the Tyler pilot who started Roy McMillan toward the big leagues with a 1947 tryout...

In case you wonder about where Carlsbad's radio announcer dug up those strange-to-hear names for Midland's players it was from the Longhorn League Press and Radio Book. And they're the legal appellations: Myrl Stanley Hughes, shortstop; Julian de la Torre, third baseman; Lester H. White, right field; Rufus Sisk, pitcher...

Longhorn fans who tagged Oscar Requena of Big Spring with "Hollywood" also pinned "Campanella" on new Bronco Third Baseman Frank Casanova. It's a sub for "Lightning" since Casanova, you remember, doubled here as a Roswell player last week and could only reach third base on a follow-up two-bagger. Sunday he barely made second base on a tremendous wallp that reached the wall and the relay to the infield went astray...

Names continue to make news—for obvious reasons, as one announcer pointed out. Artesia fans call Vince DiGiantamasso by "Smith"... Once upon a time he asked to be called DiGiant...

Speedway Quietens For Miller Funeral

INDIANAPOLIS—(AP)—The roar of cars tuning up for the 500-mile race May 30 died down for half an hour Tuesday.

The track was closed during the funeral of Chet Miller, 50-year-old veteran from Glendale, Calif., who was killed on a practice run last Friday.

George Connoer of Los Angeles had a brush with death in the crashup of a Hoosier Racing Team Special Monday.

Connoer escaped unhurt after the car spun one and a half times and the tall skinned into the wall on the northwest turn.

With only seven cars qualified last Sunday, 26 places remain to be filled next Saturday and Sunday in the Memorial Day Starting lineup.

FEWER TRAINING GAMES

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—Steve O'Neill, manager of the Philadelphia Phillies, thinks that teams play too many games in Spring training. "Playing every day is a mistake," claims O'Neill. "Five games a week is plenty. It tires the players to play too many games."

Diaz' Bat Pushes Big Spring By Lamesa In Eleven Innings

LAMESA—(AP)—The Lamesa Lobos dropped an extra-inning thriller to the visiting Big Spring Broncs Monday night, losing in the eleventh, 8-6, when Armando Diaz doubled two runs home with two away. Manager-owner Harold Webb wasn't here to see the spectacle. He is still out hunting ball players for the cellar-dwelling Lobos, threatened with a franchise move if attendance doesn't pick up.

John Miller and Larry White homered to send in two runs each for the losers with Joe Riney also getting a two-run homer for the winners.

Odessa Bows When Reyes Makes Debut

ARTESIA—(AP)—A newly acquired right-hander, Herminio Reyes made his pitching debut an impressive one for the Artesia Drillers Monday night when he led them to a 9-3 win over Odessa.

Reyes had a three-hitter going into the ninth, but weakened and allowed three more singles and all the Oilers runs before retiring the side. He fanned six and passed one. Barney Batson's two-run double accounted for the first Odessa runs in the ninth. He came in on Felix Castro's single.

Hack Miller Fined $50 After Rhubarb

ABILENE—(AP)—Hack Miller, Big Spring manager, was fined $50 by Longhorn League President Hal Sayles Monday for "conduct detrimental to baseball."

Miller was involved in a 15-minute rhubarb with Umpire Bill Valentine during last Friday night's game at Big Spring with Carlsbad.

The Big Spring pilot was charged with cursing the umpire in tones that could be heard through the stands and with attempting to assault the umpire. Players pulled Miller away, however, and no blows were struck.

Sayles said he is not necessarily condoning the action of the umpire involved, but is withholding judgment until he personally interviews the umpire.

Tribe Falls In Final Tilt At Carlsbad

CARLSBAD—(AP)—Midland, a first place team two days ago, returns home Tuesday night with a fight on its hands over third place.

The Indians play Artesia's Drillers at 8:15 p.m. after another New Mexico team routed them with a fourth reversal of five tries in this state.

Carlsbad, it was, blasted the Indians Monday night by hopping on three pitchers and a manager who took the mound to save a starter. Eddie Jacobs, for the series opener at home.

Carlsbad used 18 hits for a 17-4 victory that decided the series.

Starter Don Daley took the loss by being routed for four runs off three hits in the first two-thirds of an inning. He yielded to Ben Quintana, Bud Sisk and then Manager Jay Haney.

Lou Dawson was the biggest punch in the Midland attack; he drove across two runs with his second single in the fourth inning. Hayden White's hit, plus an error, accounted for the final two Indian tallies in the ninth.

After Carlsbad chased Daley the Potashers never were headed. They added one run, in the third, two in the fourth and six more in a wild fifth frame. Three came across in the seventh and one in the eighth.

Audie Malone scattered 10 hits in winning while Elias Osoorio had a perfect night at the plate for the victors. He clubbed six for six.

Artesia's visit to Midland for three days is the Drillers' first time in Indian Park this season. Midland will be after a first verdict in three tries against the New Mexicans.

Colts Bounce Roswell, 14-3, With 18 Hits

ROSWELL—(AP)—The Roswell Rockets were in trouble from the first Monday night and the San Angelo Colts didn't let up until they had pounded out a 14-3 victory.

Bert Estrada, Rocket starter and loser, walked the first three men he faced, and the Colts were off to the races to average two straight losses.

Two-run singles by Steve Follett and Rudy Briner were the big pokes in a five-run Colt blast in the first inning. They salted the game with a similar effort in the fourth.

Ben Bonine, a lanky southpaw, became the fourteenth Colt hurler to work a complete game in the last 15 duels, when he elbowed a classy five-hitter.

The Colts' five-run frame was highlighted by Carlos Galina's double that drove in three tallies. Back-to-back homers by John Tayoan and John Jeandron in the San Angelo fifth accounted for three runs. The Colts finished up their scoring with a single run in the seventh on doubles by Glen Burns and Follett.

Buhl Shines As Phils Bow, 4-0; Chisox Lose

By The Associated Press
Parachute jumping isn't included in the normal course of instruction on how to become a winning major league pitcher, but young hurlers may consider it when they study the amazing development of Blazing Bob Buhl.

The 24-year-old right-hander from Saginaw, Mich., is one of the newest reasons for the surprising success of the Milwaukee Braves. Monday night in his biggest test so far, Buhl whipped the hard-hitting Philadelphia Phillies 4-0, and pulled the Braves into a first-place tie with the Phils in the National League.

The ex-GI paratrooper scattered seven hits and has now worked 17 scoreless innings out of a possible 18 as a starting pitcher.

Two years in the Army—much of it in Korea—worked a big change in Buhl. Although he admits he didn't have time to do much pitching, he somehow developed a pretty good curve and a beautiful change of pace to go with his good fast ball.

"The improvement in the kid is amazing," declared his manager, Charlie Grimm. "Bob pitched for me when I managed Dallas in 1950. He was a wild youngster then. He had a pretty good fast ball but his curve was a mere wrinkle. He's still a bit wild, but just enough to keep those batters honest."

Buhl came back to baseball this Spring after 19 battle jumps in Korea. Since his last pitching was at Dallas, where he had a mediocre 8-14 record, Buhl figured to be farmed out. But he caught fire in Spring training and won a job.

A skin rash slowed him down for a while and he lost a game for relief to Cincinnati the first week of the season. He didn't get into another game until last week, when he was a last-minute choice to face the New York Giants. The Giants got two bloop hits and Buhl was in business.

Monday night's victory, which included a home run by Del Crandall gave the Braves an even split in their first home series with the Phils.

Both teams gained ground over the third game, Brooklyn Dodgers, who lost again Monday to the Cincinnati Reds, 2-1, in 10 innings. It was the Dodgers' fifth loss in six games. New York rallied to defeat St. Louis, 8-6, in the only other National League game.

In the American League, Detroit split a doubleheader with Boston, taking the first game 5-2, and losing the second, 8-5. Washington cooled off the Chicago White Sox, 3-0, and the other clubs weren't scheduled.

Ted Kluwe's homer with one out in the tenth and final inning for the Cincinnati triumph as the Dodgers equaled a modern major league record by leaving 18 base-runners stranded in the first nine innings.

The crushing blow came off Preacher Roe, who also threw a home run ball to Andy Seminick in the fifth inning. Bud Pfohlman pitched an amazing game for the Redlegs. He walked 13 men in the first nine innings—one short of the modern National League record—gave up six hits and saw one man get aboard on an error. Yet he stayed aboard on only one, in the first inning when Jackie Robinson followed two walks with a double.

The Giants put together five straight hits after two were out in the seventh at St. Louis to whip the Cardinals. The big blow was

Fate Of Waco Club Pending Decision

KILOGORE—(AP)—A decision is expected Wednesday on the fate of the Waco baseball club of the Big State League.

Waco, a farm of the Pittsburgh Pirates, lost its ball park in last week's tornado.

Branch Rickey of the Pittsburgh club said Monday a decision probably would be made Wednesday between Kilgore, Longview, Brenham and Bryan.

Monte Irvin's home run with two on base, which broke a 5-5 tie.

Old Connie Marrero, believed in some quarters to be almost as ancient as Satchel Paige, had the White Sox fanning the night air trying to hit his "nuttin'" balls at Washington. He struck out nine and allowed only five hits.

Washington got all of its runs in the sixth off Joe Dobson on singles by Wayne Terwilliger and Clyde Vollmer, a double by Mickey Vernon and a pair of Chicago errors.

Detroit jumped away to a three-run lead in the first inning of its first game at Boston when Fred Hatfield and Steve Souchock doubled and Johnny Pesky and Walt Dropo singled. Ned Garver checked the Red Sox on five hits for his third victory.

Boston came up with six runs in the first inning of the second game. Mel Parnell scored his fifth straight victory, but he needed help in the seventh from Ellis Kinder as the Tigers rallied.

At an IAC meeting following the movie, the commission disallowed all five points of Bocchicchio's protest that the result be set aside.

The commission said the KO at 2:25 of the first round "stands as official."

Furthermore, Osborne said, he was disappointed in Jersey Joe's showing and added firmly: "He should retire."

Besides a charge of fast count, Bocchicchio and Malandra based their protest on four other arguments: Marciano was not in a neutral corner when the count started; Sikora was escorting Marciano to Walcott's corner when the timekeeper started the count; Wal

Dark Star Has Eye On Pair Of Threats

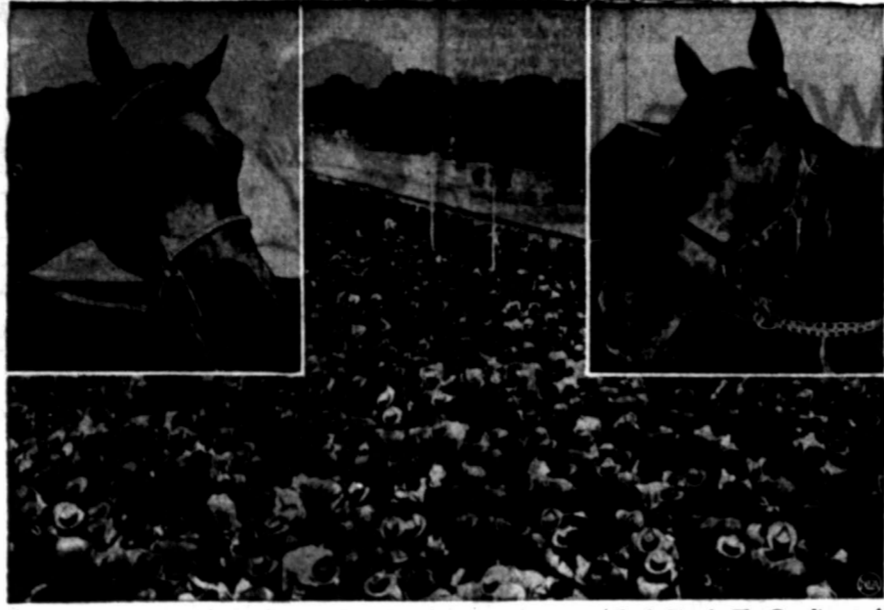

BALTIMORE—(AP)—Dark Star and Jockey Henry Moreno are going to have to keep nervous eyes looking back over both shoulders in Saturday's Preakness.

They had a warning Monday they're liable to be run over by Royal Bay Gem as well as Native Dancer.

Royal Bay Gem did go by them in the Preakness Prep at Pimlico Monday.

Bantam Ben Shoots 71 In Practice

FORT WORTH—(AP)—The best Defending Champion Ben Hogan could do over Colonial Country Club's 7,035-yard layout Monday was a 71, six strokes off the course record he set in the 1946 Colonial National Invitation.

Hogan was one of the early testers, fast getting in top shape for the opening of the 1953 Colonial $25,000 Tournament beginning Thursday.

Joe Conrad, former state amateur champ, and Pro Fred Hawkins set the practice record pace with 69's, one under par. Conrad is a North Texas State College student from San Antonio.

Campanella Sets Hot Hitting Pace

NEW YORK—(AP)—It may be too early to tell whether Brooklyn's Roy Campanella will break any slugging marks this season. But he's been traveling at a record-shattering clip so far.

The first release of slugging averages for 1953 compiled by The Associated Press revealed Tuesday that Campanella tops both major leagues in that department with a phenomenal .390.

The Dodgers' burly backstop has hit for 79 total bases on 37 safeties, including four doubles, one triple and 12 home runs. He has been to bat an even 100 times.

If he keeps it up, Campanella will eclipse the National League slugging mark of .756 established by Rogers Hornsby in 1925. The all-time record is held by Babe Ruth, .847 in 1920.

In the American League, George Kell of the Boston Red Sox is setting the pace. The veteran third baseman has accumulated 87 total bases in 92 at bats for a .930 average. George has 14 doubles and two home runs. Records include Sunday's games.

Gus Bell, with 40 total bases in 60 trips, is runner-up to Campanella in the senior circuit, with .667. The Cincinnati outfielder has banged out a pair of two-baggers and six homers.

Milwaukee's Eddie Mathews is third at .636. The hard-hitting third sacker shows 49 total bases in 77 at bats, numbering three doubles, a triple and seven home runs among his 23 hits.

All roses of the Cleveland Indians is second in the American League with .589, on 56 total bases in 95 at bats. All has six doubles, one triple and five circuit wallops. Chicago's Sherman Lollar, at .580, is third.

The Sooner State League's first division teams showed the rest of the loop clubs a little deeper into the second division Monday night.

Gainesville, which has lost six straight, discarded Manager J. B. Grigg.

The Owls' management said Grigg would be replaced next week. Gainesville suffered a 10-2 drubbing from Ardmore.

The pace-setting Sherman-Denison Twins scored a 3-1 victory over Paul Valley.

Ada downed Shawnee, 10-5. Reg Pittre relieved in the second for the Herfords and held the Hawks scoreless the rest of the way.

Indians' Rally Turns Back Cubs, 13 To 8

The Indians broke loose with a six-run spurge in the top of the seventh inning Monday to defeat the Cubs, 13-8, in an overtime Central Little League game.

With the game tied at 7-7, the Indians broke the deadlock with their rally as the Cubs fell apart. The Cubs scored once in the bottom half of the frame but couldn't catch up.

Coley Cowden's home run in the second for the Indians was one of the game's features. Wade Parks and Charles Giese, however, were the leading hitters in the Indians' 16-hit attack with three safeties apiece.

Jimmy Lynch and Bill Worley paced the Cubs' attack with two hits each.

Never Quit Spirit Wins For Eagles

It never pays to "give up," the Eagles discovered Monday.

The Eagles spotted the Lions a 10-run first inning and then roared back to take a wild 17-16 South Little League victory at Hillin Field.

Earl Clemens led the Eagles' 10-hit attack, clubbing four safeties in as many trips. Don Boyce smashed a fifth-inning homer for the Lions.

Bulldog Cage Slate Better Than 52-53

Midland High School's district basketball schedule is a big improvement over last year's. Athletic Director Tugboat Jones said Tuesday in announcing the 1953-54 Bulldog cage slate.

The Bulldogs' non-conference games will be announced in the Fall, Jones said. It could not be arranged, of course, until after the district schedule had been drawn up.

Last year, the Bulldogs were away from home for six straight games. This season, Midland has a four-game home stand and is not on the road for more than three games at any time.

The schedule:
January 8—Midland at San Angelo; January 9—Ablene at Midland; January 15—Midland at Lubbock; January 16—Midland at Amarillo; January 22—Pampa at Midland; January 23—Borger at Midland; January 29—Lubbock at Midland; January 30—Amarillo at Midland; February 5—Midland at Pampa; February 6—Midland at Borger; February 9—Midland at Odessa; February 12—San Angelo at Midland; February 13—Midland at Abilene; February 16—Odessa at Midland.

Sports Fend Off Johnny's Barbeque

A belated Johnny's Barbeque rally fell short Monday as the Sports took a 13-8 West Little League victory.

Johnny's spotted the Sports a 9-0 lead and then tried to make up the deficit, but the Sports added four runs to their total and held off the Barbeque men in the top of the seventh to record the triumph.

Westerners Win As Legion Nines Open '53 Season

A three-run rally in the top of the seventh provided the winning margin as the Westerners defeated the Eagles, 7-4, to open the American Legion Baseball League Monday at Borden Field.

The second game of the young season is scheduled for 5:15 p.m. Tuesday at the same site with Brooks tackling the Hornets.

A walk, a double by Billy Kiser and singles by Charles Hedges and Lionel Crisp produced the winning runs for the Westerners off losing Pitcher Bobby Procter. The Eagles had knotted the count in the fifth with a run after tallying three times in the bottom of the third to offset the Westerners three tallies in the top half.

Gwen Orisham gave Pitcher Lee Sneed a working margin in the Westerners' third by clouting a one-on homer, but Sneed couldn't hold it.

Texas, SMU Nines Await SWC Word

Texas and SMU tied for the Southwest Conference baseball championship and the conference is voting on which it wants to represent the circuit in the NCAA playoffs.

Texas created the tie Monday by sweeping a doubleheader from Texas A&M, 1-0 and 4-1.

Howard Grubb, conference secretary, sent letters to the members Monday night, asking that they reply by wire. They either will recommend one or the other or call for a playoff. Such a playoff could not be held until after May 28.

The recommendation of the conference goes to the district NCAA selection committee of Pete Jones of Baylor, Del Morgan of Rice and Beau Bell of Texas A&M. Whichever team is selected meets Arizona in a playoff for a spot in the tournament at Omaha.

Boyd Linker pitched two-hit ball for Texas in the first game. Travis Eckert doubled and Gene Oden singled to win the game in the second.

In the second contest, Roland Jones twirled a five-hitter although he had to be relieved in the ninth with two out as the Aggies got two of those hits. J. L. Smith pitched only one ball to end the game. Tex Farmer forcing Fred Abion at second.

Eckert hit a home run in the second game.

Four Texans In Southern

CHATTANOOGA, TENN.—(AP)—Four Texans were scheduled to tee off Tuesday in championship flight of the thirty-eighth Women's Southern Amateur Golf Tournament here.

Leading the list was Polly Riley of Fort Worth, who shot a 76 Monday to tie for runner-up medalist honors. Tuesday she plays Mary McCutcheon, Jasper, Ala.

Pat Garner of Midland, who shot a 79 Monday, meets Mrs. W. K. Stripling Jr., Fort Worth, who qualified with 84.

Lesbia Lobo, San Antonio, with a qualifying score of 80, meets Mrs. William Rountree, Shreveport.

Other Texans' scores Monday included 106 for Mrs. George Thompson, Fort Worth, and Mrs. Hiram Parks, Lubbock, with 116.

Cats, Sports Gain Ground In Texas Loop

By The Associated Press

Tough Shreveport and the Fort Worth Cats both won their Texas League games Monday night.

The clubs are two games apart. Both gained ground on other first division clubs, however, as Houston was weathered out and Tulsa lost to Dallas.

The Shreveports were extended by San Antonio before they won, 6-5. The game was in doubt until the last out.

Fort Worth, in winning from Oklahoma City, 5-2, took their sixth straight. They had to knock out Oklahoma City's Bill Gresson to win. Rookies Dan Stupor took the credit.

Dallas got back into the first division, and back to 500 ball, when they rapped out 13 hits, dropping Tulsa, 4-1. Jim Stuebel had a two-hitter working into the ninth inning when he flopped and was lifted, with Tulsa scoring five times and all but winning the game.

Pinch-hitter Ed Barr hit a three-run homer for Tulsa in this inning.

Amarillo Surprises League Leaders, 2-1

By The Associated Press

In a complete form reversal the last-place Amarillo club defeated the top-seeded Lubbock Hubbers, 2-1, Monday night. The defeat cost Lubbock no ground. Second-place Plainview also lost.

The Clovis Pioneers racked up Plainview, 15-6. The Pioneers broke up a close one when they scored 10 times through the fifth, sixth and seventh.

Pampa scored eight runs in their first two turns at bat and then held off Borger, winning 8-2.

Ablene won from Albuquerque, 9-4, scoring five runs in the first inning off newcomer Bryan McGoldrick.

INDIANS NEED SUPPORT; URGE BIG ATTENDANCE

Baseball fans, local businessmen and Midland Indian officials have joined hands in promoting a big turnout for the Indians-Artesia Drillers series beginning Tuesday night.

Because of the numerous rain-outs and poor attendance on the cold opening night here, the Indians' front office has had to use this method in obtaining revenue with which to run the club.

The interested groups are concentrating on Wednesday and Thursday nights. Special prizes and awards will be made on both nights.

Keeping Tabs On SWC Is Tough Job For Writers

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

The most unpredictable organization hereabouts is the Southwest Conference, especially the Faculty Committee that makes its laws.

Newspapermen long ago gave up trying to forecast what they would do. They just kept on trying. And Saturday they finally hit one.

Last week at Fort Worth, where the committee was holding its Spring meeting, the writers cautiously forecast that the question of expansion would come up although it was not on the agenda and officials said they knew nothing about it. Some even said they knew what schools would bring it up and who was involved.

The stage was set for the committee to do nothing along this line, it was a long shot indeed. But they did. Texas made a motion that Texas Tech and Oklahoma be invited into the conference. TCU and Texas A&M seconded it. But those were the only votes.

The fact remains that the sports writers could, one time, predict, what was going to be done by this august body.

Since proponents of expansion have gained a couple of votes in a year's time, it is safe to predict that some day the conference will expand. But that's likely to be a long time. Rice and SMU aren't likely to change their views. It all depends on Baylor and Arkansas. Two votes are needed.

The best bet for membership in the conference in this corner appears to be Oklahoma.

The Faculty Committee is doing a good job. The Southwest Conference is tops in organization and operation in the country. There is little criticism of it even from those who would reform college athletics.

Top Golfers Dodge Western

NEW YORK—(AP)—You can expect some official dust to be kicked up over failure of a group of top-name pros to play in the Western Open Golf Tournament at St. Louis, May 28-31.

Four of the game's biggest gate attractions — Ben Hogan, Sam Snead, Jimmy Demaret and Jack Burke — have announced plans to spend that particular week end giving a series of exhibitions at Lake Kiamesha, N. Y., and up New England way.

The Western is one of the oldest fixtures on the rich Professional Golfers Association circuit and long has ranked just behind the National Open and PGA in prestige.

This year's event is bound to suffer heavily without such links notables. Horton Smith, PGA president, is reported ready to try to intervene in the sponsors' behalf, but it's sure to do no good.

"We don't have to play in every tournament," said Snead. "We can skip them as we see fit. Why should we play at St. Louis when we can get a winner's purse share in one day's exhibition."

OPEN SEASON ON BOSSES—

Nation's Secretaries Whoop It Up; Their Week's Coming

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK —(AP)—The nation's secretaries are whooping it up again. There ought to be some appreciation around here.

After the boss learns what they think of him and his faults, maybe he will or won't agree. And after the girls hear what some office personnel directors think of their chief faults, maybe they'll have a protest or two.

Mostly, though, everybody's going to love them next week, which is National Secretaries Week. It has the blessing of Sinclair Weeks, a secretary himself, who heads up the Department of Commerce.

The week had the enthusiastic endorsement of a number of merchants such as florists, apparel and gift shop keepers, makers of office furniture, greeting cards, confectionery, and restaurant owners—and especially, makers of office machines, who have an eye out naturally for a little honest propaganda for their products.

The National Secretaries Association, with some 300 chapters and 13,000 members around the country, is running the show.

You'll perhaps be less surprised to hear that the survey also found that the average secretary does eight letters daily when taking shorthand and 18 daily when transcribing from a machine.

Do secretaries have faults? Well, not next week, anyway. But the personnel directors did mention a few little ones: Some lack initiative and willingness to learn; some lack interest and concentration; and some aren't so hot at spelling and grammar.

More than half of the directors, however, politely said today's secretaries are more efficient than those before the war. They credited better school training; better business training; and, to the survey sponsor's delight, modern equipment.

Three-fourths of the more than 1,200 secretaries interviewed said they disliked nothing about their work.

Half said their bosses are faultless. The others listed a few notes in the boss' eye. Among them: Keeping a secretary working after hours; poor enunciation in dictating; insufficient explanation about work; inability to make up his mind; and poor memory.

One secretary, however, as might be expected, wouldn't stand hitched for the quiz: "My boss' faults," she wrote. "Far too numerous to mention."

Murray Asks Conservation Laws For Continental Shelf

WASHINGTON —(AP)— A Texas official who handles oil production regulations said Tuesday clear-cut conservation regulations should be prepared for the expected development of resources in submerged lands of the outer continental shelf.

Testifying before the Senate Interior Committee, William Murray, a member of Texas Railroad Commission recommended a program of application of the conservation regulations of states to their offshore areas.

His program proposed: There should be a body of conservation laws from the beginning and preferably set forth in statutes rather than by a regulatory body.

The agency which leases submerged lands to provide individuals and concerns for development should not be responsible for enforcement of conservation laws.

State conservation laws should be extended to the outer continental shelf so long as they are not in conflict with federal laws or regulations of federal agencies.

State enforcement agencies should be given the job of enforcing the state laws, because of their long experience in the field of preventing waste and promoting more efficient recovery of oil and gas.

Murray emphasized it was because of experience that he believes they should be authorized to enforce their own statutes.

"We in Texas have learned by trial and error over a quarter of a century," Murray said.

"We have made a lot of costly mistakes. We've been sorry for them. But that is the way we have

Senators Oppose Emergency Powers

WASHINGTON —(AP)—The Senate voted down Tuesday, 45 to 41, a proposal to give the President power to freeze wages, prices and rents for 90 days in the event of a grave national emergency.

The stand-by freeze authority, bitterly contested by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) who said President Eisenhower didn't want it, was sponsored by Senator Capehart (R-Ind.), chairman of the Banking Committee.

It was the first vote taken by the Senate on a bill to extend the Defense Production act in curtailed form.

The eight-jet B-52: In-flight refueling gives it an intercontinental capability.

New Jet Bomber May Touch Off Heated Row In Pentagon

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent
America's newest weapon, the Boeing B-52 eight-jet long-range bomber, is exceeding Air Force hopes in practically every aspect of performance.

But like the giant B-36, which it soon will be replacing, it also holds promise of becoming another controversial aircraft.

Critics of the B-36 already have begun tailoring their old complaints to fit the B-52. They say that it does not have the range to give it intercontinental capabilities. Although the range of the B-52 is a secret, the Air Force has said that it was built for in-flight refueling, which could give it an intercontinental capability.

Row Over Cost
Critics claim it is more expensive than it is worth, that the same money could buy better defense in other weapons. Testimony before Congress reveals that the first 100 B-52's will cost about $380,000,000.

There are reports that Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson might agree with the cost appraisal of the giant bomber. He is said to believe the fact that Russia now has atomic weapons calls for more emphasis on defensive, interceptor aircraft, rather than on offensive bombers.

At the recent open atomic test at Las Vegas, the Air Force went out of its way to point out that its fighters could carry improved small A-bombs. This raises the question as to whether the Air Force should buy any more bombers at all, or perhaps concentrate on designing long-range fighter-bombers.

About Guided Missiles
Still another question is whether to wait and concentrate on piloted supersonic bombers, now being designed, as the interim weapons until pilotless bombers and guided missiles are perfected.

The Air Force has announced that the Consolidated-Vultee Aircraft Corporation now has a contract for the design of a supersonic bomber. It is believed that it might be a four-engine, delta-wing type.

Some sources say the B-52 has super-sonic capabilities. It is reported that the frame of the B-52 can stand the shock of flying faster than the speed of sound and that expected improvements in power could eventually give it that ability.

Surprise Factors
The two big surprise factors in the B-52 have been the performances of its J-57 Pratt & Whitney jet engines and the lack of "drag" or friction in the air resulting from the plane's "clean" design.

The J-57 is reported to have more than 10,000 pounds of thrust, or almost twice that officially listed for the engines now pushing Sabre jets in Korea, for instance. There are eight J-57's on the B-52.

One J-57 already has been proved as powerful as four 3,500-horsepower Wasp Major engines, the most powerful piston engine ever made for a plane. In addition, the engine is said to be setting new records in fuel economy, vital in giving the bomber longer range.

The J-57 also is going to power a new line of Air Force and Navy fighters which will be in the super-sonic class. It is hailed as the first American jet engine to exceed performances of any British jets.

B-52 test pilots say the plane is extremely easy to handle and very maneuverable. Its official ceiling is given as above 50,000 feet, more than a mile higher than the B-36. It can land at a slower, safer speed than the smaller B-47.

The B-52 is slightly smaller than the B-36. Its wingspan is 185 feet, 45 feet shorter; fuselage length is 153 feet, nine feet less; its tail, 48 feet high, is a little more than a foot higher than the tail of the B-36.

Production of the B-52 in Boeing's huge Seattle plant is proceeding satisfactorily, although it is not expected that the B-52 will begin replacing B-36's until late next year.

One of the reasons given for the plane's early success in the air is the fact that the Air Force and Boeing have a lot of experience from the development of the Boeing B-47 medium bomber, now in mass production in several plants and already in operational use. So far the B-52's performance has been so good that its testing program has gone along about twice as fast as it normally does for a new type plane.

Midland Optimists Hear Ex-FBI Agent Outline Swindles

Some 27 Midland Optimists brushed through a business-packed lunch meeting Tuesday in Hotel Scharbauer, then leaned back to hear swindlers termed "the world's best actors" by John Mansfield, assistant to the sales manager of the Western Company and former FBI agent.

Mansfield outlined the famed horse race swindles, their operations and "cast," plus the means through which the FBI has moved—and is moving—to stop them.

In other business, the Optimists collected more than $17 for the Community Ambassador Project, heard a report on the rodeo plans by Jack Chase, a report on the directors' meeting by John Grimland, president of the group, report on Optimist awards by Pete Van Horn, and shared at $75 first prize to Jack Pennington for the winning rodeo cover and $35 to James Johnson, whose drawing won second place in the cover contest.

Jacqueline Cochran Breaks Barrier Of Sound, Precedent

LOS ANGELES—(P)—For years America's No. 1 woman pilot, 43-year-old Jacqueline Cochran has achieved a much-cherished goal. She became Monday the first of her sex to fly through the sonic barrier and surpass the speed of sound.

Racing around a 100-kilometer closed course near the bed of Rogers Dry Lake, only 300 feet above the sun-parched Mojave Desert, Miss Cochran was timed at 632.337 miles per hour.

National Aeronautical Association timers said she shattered the all-time jet record for a 100-kilometer course—635.686 mph—set in 1951 by Col. Fred Aschri, U. S. Air Force. She also surpassed the women's jet record of 534.375 mph, established last December by Mme. Jacqueline Auriol, daughter-in-law of the President of France.

Miss Cochran, wife of financier Floyd B. Odium, multimillionaire founder of one of the nation's largest investment trusts, has been training for several weeks for her assault on the sonic barrier. The man who helped her prepare for the test is Maj. Charles Yeager, the first pilot to fly faster than the speed of sound.

"Passing the sonic barrier, with its shock waves and other strange effects, was the most exciting and interesting experience in my 21 years of flying," Miss Cochran told newsmen. "Just for good measure, I bettered the speed of sound twice. I don't expect the record I set to last long, however, for faster jet planes and more powerful engines already are showing up on the flight line."

Miss Cochran's plane on her record-shattering flight was a North American Aviation-licensed F-86 Canadair, built in Montreal, Que.

Laugh? His Little Joke Floored Her

LOUISVILLE, KY.—(P)—Mrs. Wilbur Resler's humor was as sweet as the panties she found in her husband's pocket.

He thought it would be a good joke to let her find them there but had to admit in court Monday, "It didn't turn out like I thought."

The soldier, stationed at Fort Belvoir, Va., paid a $100 fine for disorderly conduct, amended from assault and battery.

Mrs. Resler, who obtained the warrant, also showed up with a black eye, explaining she had dropped the panties on the floor in front of her husband without a word.

"Then, he got mad and started to beat me."

Ridgway Says Peace Gestures Slow Down European Build-Up

WASHINGTON—(P)—The Soviet "peace offensive" has slowed down the military buildup in Europe, Matthew Ridgway told senators Tuesday.

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization commander told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that it has had "a recognizable adverse reaction in certain segments of Europe and public opinion" on the free world's defense preparations.

The effect, he said, has been a tendency in some nations "to put off the evil day of decision on assumption of unpleasant burdens."

The general described this as "a perfectly natural reaction" of peoples longing for peace.

Ridgway, testifying for the Eisenhower Administration's $5,800,000,000 foreign aid bill, told the committee "the mutual security program is a vital factor in the keeping of our momentum."

Chairman Wiley (R-Wis) of the committee predicted Ridgway's testimony would give a "big boost" to the foreign aid program.

The Allied commander in Europe Monday told the House Foreign Affairs Committee, also considering the program, that the present buildup goals in Europe are "a very, very reasonable minimum."

"I think," he said, "any reduction whatever in those goals would be an unwise step."

General Ridgway

Ridgway said Russian military strength was up and that, while there are no indications of "imminent hostilities," neither is there evidence the Soviets are moving toward peace. He said there was steady progress in strengthening Western Europe, with air power remaining the weakest link.

Chairman Chipfield (R-Ill) of the House committee told newsmen after hearing Ridgway in a second, secret session that he did not believe the committee intended making any deep cuts in military aid for Europe.

Ridgway's testimony will just about wind up testimony before the Senate committee on the foreign aid authorization, which must be implemented by a later appropriations bill.

Virus Discovery May Upset Old Cell Structure Theories

LOS ANGELES—(P)—An experiment indicating that the cells which make up the bodies of humans and animals may be colonies of invisible viruslike organisms was reported Tuesday to the American Tuberculosis Association.

This startling theory, which is established would upset the long-accepted belief that the cell is the smallest unit of animal life, was presented by Dr. Oscar Kanner, pathologist at the Veterans Administration Hospital at Oteen, N. C.

For more than 100 years the cell has been considered the basic, indivisible particle of living matter. Dr. Kanner's findings open the way for speculation that a single cell can be divided into millions or even billions of parts which can live and multiply.

The tests demonstrated directly, Dr. Kanner said, that indivisible parts of cells taken from healthy guinea pigs can be injected into other healthy guinea pigs to produce a viruslike disease.

Guinea Pigs Die
Other experimenters long ago demonstrated that they could take tiny bits of cells from tuberculosis animals, inject them into other animals and produce disease.

These researchers assumed, Dr. Kanner said, that the disease was caused by some miniature form of a TB germ or some fraction of the germ.

Using finely ground parts of guinea pig organs that were free of tuberculosis, Dr. Kanner made a solution which he injected into other healthy guinea pigs and caused not only disease but death.

The length of time it took the disease to develop was evidence that the injected substance contained living organisms. Animals did not get sick until three to six months after injection.

No Such Thing
If the substance had been a toxin or poison which sometimes is extracted from cells, the disease would have developed quickly. The long interval between injection and illness thus must have been the time required for the injected organisms to multiply and cause trouble.

Many years ago the experimenters who used tubercular cell material to produce this same effect concluded that the disease was "virus tuberculosis." Duplication of the disease with healthy cell parts demonstrates, Dr. Kanner reported, that there is no such thing as "virus tuberculosis."

Retired General Is Chosen Texas State Hospitals Head

AUSTIN—(P)—A retired major general will take over direction of the State's hospitals and special schools June 1 and will be responsible for putting a reorganization plan into effect.

The new executive director, Dr. James Bethea, was appointed by the Hospital Board Monday.

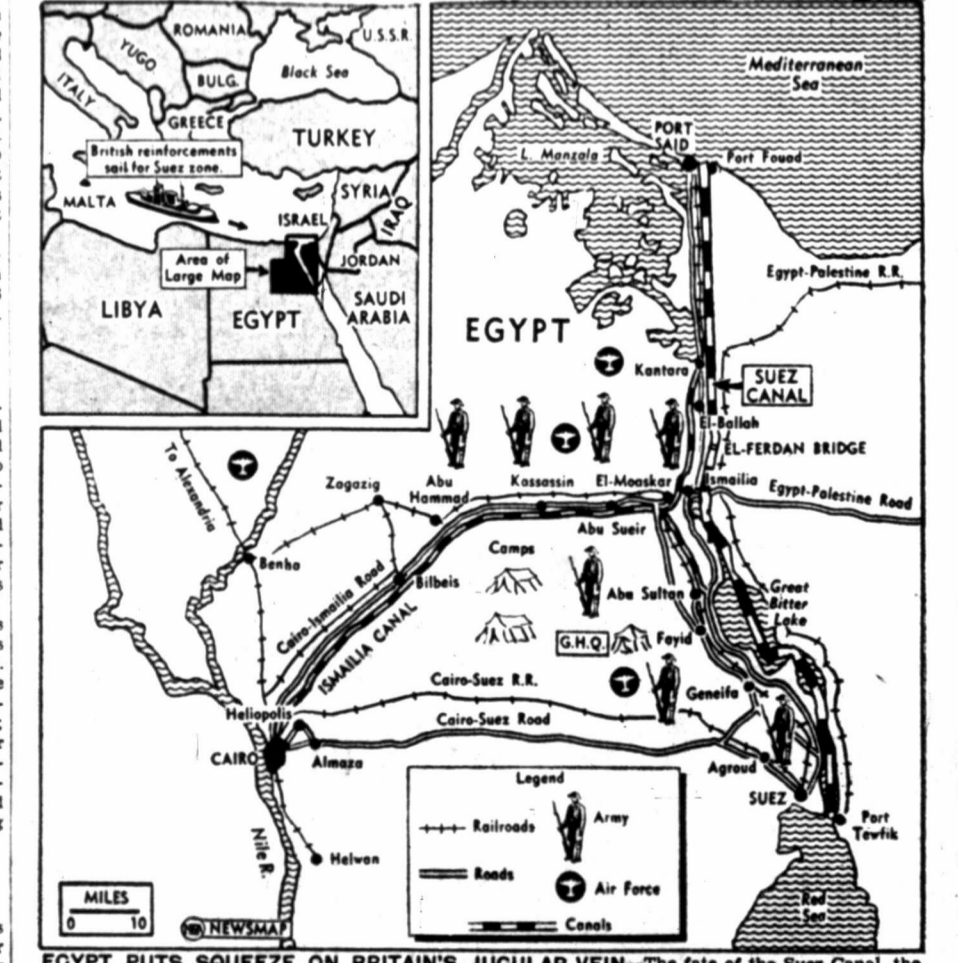

Betha, 65, is assistant dean of the University of Texas Postgraduate School of Medicine at San Antonio.

He has been commanding officer of McCloskey General Hospital at Temple and commanding general of Brooke Army Medical Center at San Antonio. He was chief surgeon under Gen. Douglas MacArthur in the Pacific Area.

Board Chairman James Windham said Bethea will put into effect a reorganization calling for five divisions. The plan is to eliminate the conflict in authority which has existed between the executive director and medical director.

James Giddings, acting executive director since Larry Cox resigned April 1, will become head of the administrative division.

Dr. Sam Hoerster, Jr., acting medical director since February, will head the medical division; Raymond Vowell, special schools; Walter Moore, design and construction. No one has been named to direct the tuberculosis division.

EGYPT PUTS SQUEEZE ON BRITAIN'S JUGULAR VEIN—The fate of the Suez Canal, the Western world's most strategically placed military bastion in the stormy Middle East, was again placed in jeopardy after Egypt's strong man, General Naguib, threatened war unless Britain removed her garrisons there. The Egyptian army immediately imposed rigid controls along the canal and all supplies provided by Egyptian dealers to the British garrisons are banned unless a special permit is obtained. To meet the crisis, 30,000 British troops in the area were alerted for action, and reinforcements were being shipped in from Malta. Above Newsmag shows location of British forces in Suez Canal zone. Inset shows strategic importance of the area, considered the keystone to defense of the Mediterranean area.

Oil & Gas Log ---

Flowing potential of 248.61 barrels of 62.5-gravity oil with gas-oil ratio of 1.650-1.

Production was through a 14/64-inch choke from open hole between 10,697 feet, where 5 1/2-inch casing was set and the total depth of 10,751 feet. The section had been acidized with 2,000 gallons.

Location is 860 feet from south and west lines of section 30, block 3, University survey.

Sunray Schedules Three Wildcats In S-C Kent Sector

Sunray Oil Corporation announced locations for three shallow San Andres wildcats in South-Central Kent County.

One of the tests is approximately one mile northeast of production at the north end of the Cogdell (Multipart) field and the other two are rank wildcats.

No. 1-52 W. A. Mays will be drilled eight miles southwest of the town of Clairmont and 990 feet from north and 330 feet from west lines of section 53, block 4, H&GN survey.

No. 1-53 W. A. Mays is 2,310 feet from north and 900 feet from east lines of section 53, block 4, H&GN survey.

No. 1-48 W. A. Mays will be drilled as the wildcat near the Cogdell field. It is 330 feet from south and 2,310 feet from east lines of section 48, block 4, H&GN survey.

All three projects are slated to go to 1,600 feet with rotary tools. Drilling will start at once.

Oil-Cut Mud Found On Strawn DST In NE Midland Wildcat

Magnolia Petroleum Company developed shows of oil and gas on a drillstem test of the Strawn in No. 1 Oldham, wildcat in Northwest Midland County.

The Strawn was tested from 10-220 to 10,276 feet. Tool was open three hours. Recovery was 100 feet of gas-cut mud and 90 feet of oil-cut mud. Gravity of the oil is 38 degrees.

Gas surfaced on the test in eight and one-half minutes at the estimated rated of 75,000 cubic feet daily.

Flowing pressure was 185 pounds and 15-minute shutin pressure was 1,950 pounds.

Location is 860 feet from north and west lines of section 38, block 37, T-1-S, T&P survey and three miles southeast of Germania.

Operator was coring below 10,276 feet in lime and shale.

The Strawn was topped at 10,220 feet, elevation 2,694 feet.

Culberson Wildcat Logs Slight Show Of Gas In DS Test

El Paso Natural Gas Company No. 1 Montgomery-State, Central-East Culberson County wildcat, 33 miles northwest of Kent developed a slight show of gas in a drillstem test at 3,860-98 feet.

The tool was open one hour. Recovery was 930 feet of slightly gas cut drilling mud. There were no signs of oil or of formation water.

The zone tested was shale, lime and sand. Its age has been reported.

The prospector is now making hole below 3,908 feet in shale, lime and sand.

The wildcat is projected to 8,000 feet. It is 1,320 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of section 17, block 100, pal survey.

Sharples Wildcat In E-C Andrews Is Now Shutdown

The Sharples Oil Corporation and associates No. 1-A Means, East-Central Andrews County wildcat, seven miles east of Andrews is shutdown at total depth of 12,778 feet in barren Devonian.

That zone made only salty, sulphur water. It had a slight show of oil and gas, but not enough to make any sort of a well.

The rotary drilling rig has been released. The project will be left shutin while operators decide whether to drill deeper to try to find production in the Ellenburger; plug back and test the Strawn where it has some possibilities of making a small well, or abandon the exploration.

Location was 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 16, block 3, pal survey. It is four miles west of the discovery well of the Magutex field.

That area has commercial production from both the Devonian and from the Ellenburger.

Dunlap's Your SCOTTIE REDEMPTION CENTER

The prospector found heavily oil and gas-cut mud on a drillstem test from 6,353 to 6,400 feet. Tool was open one hour and 58 minutes. Recovery was 305 feet of very heavy oil and gas-cut mud, the bottom 200 feet of which was estimated to be 25 to 50 per cent oil.

Flowing pressure was zero and 15-minute shutin pressure was 390 pounds.

Location is 860 feet from south and east lines of section 7, block 8, University survey. It is ten and one-half miles northeast of the town of Andrews.

This project is due to complete from the Devonian. The discovery well of the Magutex field flowed oil from both the Devonian and the Ellenburger. It completed from the Ellenburger and left the Devonian pay zone cased off.

Flowing Discovery Is In Prospect At Rannels Explorer

Casing has been set and cemented in E. K. & E. M. Burt of Wichita Falls and associates No. 1 Bendina Spill, prospective Upper Gardner sand discovery in the Jimburd (Caddo) field of Central Rannels County, six miles southeast of the town of Winters.

Total depth is 4,095 feet.

No. 1 Spill was drillstem tested from 4,075 to 4,087 feet. Tool was open two hours. Gas surfaced in 12 minutes. Recovery was 450 feet of oil, and 210 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut mud. Flowing pressure was 220 pounds. Shutin pressure was 1,525 pounds.

Another test was taken from 4,079 to 4,095 feet. Tool was open one hour and 40 minutes. Gas surfaced in four and one-half minutes. Oil flowed 1 none hour and 20 minutes. Recovery was 950 feet of oil and 45 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut mud. No gauge or estimate was made on the 20-minute oil flow.

Operator was preparing to drill plug on the casing.

Location is in J. R. Nunn survey No. 338.

Magutex Flanker In Andrews Flows Oil From Devonian

Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1-38889 University, northwest flanker to the discovery well of the Magutex multipay field in Central-East Andrews County flowed oil in a drillstem test in the Devonian at 12,600-624 feet.

The tool was open one hour and 27 minutes. A 2,000-foot water blanket was used. A three-eighth inch bottom hole and one-quarter inch top choke were used.

Gas surfaced in 14 minutes. The

Texans Save Last Home Of Spoonbill

GALVESTON.—(AP)—One of few places in North America where the roseate spoonbill will nest is a small island which would have disappeared years ago had not Texans saved it. It is Wington Island in Galveston Bay. When members of the Outdoor Nature Club of Houston discovered the exotic bird nesting on the island in 1930, they also saw the island was eroding away. Club members planted oleanders, hackberries and other shrubs and trees to hold the soil. The plants also furnished the birds with more shade and nesting sites. Now the roseate spoonbill often is joined by Louisiana herons, black-crowned night herons, great blue herons, snowy egrets and glossy ibis. The island has been declared a game sanctuary by the Texas legislature.

General Arrested, Charged in Plotting To Dynamite Airliner

MEXICO CITY.—(AP)—A third man, a general who took part in Mexico's campaign against the foot and mouth disease, has been arrested in the fantastic plot to dynamite an airliner in flight. Gen. Hermenegildo Carrillo was questioned after being arrested by agents of the federal security bureau at Guadalajara and flown here. The general, who commanded troop protecting eradicators of the foot and mouth disease, was a business partner of Alfredo Del Valle, who was arrested several days ago at La Paz in Baja, California. A friend of Del Valle's previously had been arrested.

Police say the plotters shipped a bomb disguised as a can of paint intending to collect $100,000 in life insurance by killing a duke. The plane was overloaded, however, and the "paint" was shipped by another route. The bomb blew up in Mazatlan airport May 9, killing three airline employes and injuring seven others.

THE CORONATION...

THE REGALIA: Practically all the Regalia used in the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth II is "new." That is, it dates only from the Coronation of Charles II in 1661. In 1649, Oliver Cromwell ordered the ancient Regalia of England to be "totally broken and defaced." The gold and silver were melted down for coinage. The gems were sold. Some of them reappeared at the Restoration. Most of today's Regalia was made for Charles II by Robert Vyner, King's Goldsmith. Photos are from "The History of the Coronation" by Lawrence K. Tanner, Keeper of the Muniments and Library, Westminster Abbey, (British Book Center, New York.)

ABOVE: The Spoon, used to hold the sacred oil during the Anointing, is, together with the Ampulla (right), possibly part of the original Regalia which escaped destruction by Cromwell. It is of silver, heavily gilt, with four pearls set in the handle. It probably dates from the 12th Century.

RIGHT: The Ampulla is a golden eagle from which the anointing oil is poured into the Spoon. Nine inches high, it is of solid gold and weighs about 10 ounces. It holds about six ounces of oil. The head unscrews to receive the oil, which is poured out through the beak. It antedates all the rest of the Regalia.

ABOVE: St. George's Spurs symbolize Knighthood and Chivalry. Of solid gold, they are elaborately chased and enameled, and are worn with crimson velvet straps embroidered in gold.

RIGHT: The Sceptre with Cross or Royal Sceptre is held in the Queen's right hand during the ceremony. Of solid gold, it is three feet long. In the heart-shaped frame is the largest portion (518 1/2 carats) of the Star of Africa or Cullinan diamond, which was inserted in 1911 for Edward VII. Above the diamond is a remarkable amethyst, mounted in jeweled fillets and surmounted by a cross. Sceptre signifies royal power and justice.

ABOVE: St. Edward's Crown, used for the actual crowning. The Queen wears it but a few minutes, as it weighs nearly five pounds. It is a circlet of gold, surmounted by alternate crosses and fleurs-de-lis. From the four crosses rise two intersecting gold arches, surmounted by a mound and jeweled cross with pearl pendants. The arched frame contains the purple velvet Cap of Estate.

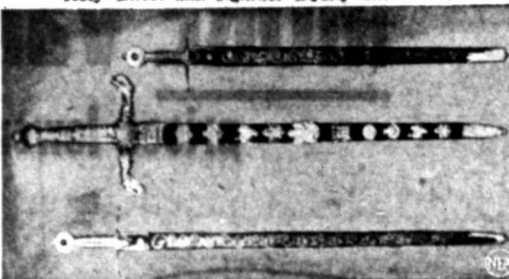

LEFT: The Imperial Crown, which replaces St. Edward's Crown during the ceremony. It was made for Queen Victoria's Coronation in 1838. Its open-work circlet of silver is bordered with rich gems. Above this are four crosses and fleurs-de-lis, with the Black Prince's Ruby in the front cross. Beneath it is the second largest portion (309 1/2 carats) of the Star of Africa diamond.

LEFT: The Orb of England, held by the Queen immediately before the crowning. It is a golden globe surmounted by a great amethyst and a gold cross.

RIGHT: Five Swords are used in the Coronation. At top is Curtana or the Pointless Sword, representing Mercy. The scabbard is covered with rich brocade cloth. Largest Sword in the Regalia is the two-handed Sword of State (center) in rich scabbard of crimson velvet decorated with golden Royal badges. There are two Swords identical with one at bottom, representing Spiritual Justice and Temporal Justice.

Chaplin's Latest Movie Sets Record

TOKYO — Charles Chaplin's "Limelight" set a new Japanese motion picture attendance record during its first three weeks showing at a Tokyo theater.

The newspaper Asahi reported in mid-March the Chaplin production drew 105,000 theater-goers, topping the 100,000 drawn in a similar period by "Gone With the Wind."

Complications In Anemia Are Many And Always Serious

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

I frequently am asked to discuss anemia and what should be done for it.

It must be emphasized first that anemia is not a single disease. Many different things can result in some form of anemia, and the term really means a deficiency in the red blood cells, or hemoglobin (coloring matter) of the blood, or both.

The blood contains small round disks called red blood cells, or erythrocytes. Normally, there are about 4,500,000 or 5,000,000 of these cells in each cubic millimeter of blood. (There are more than 16,000 cubic millimeters in a cubic inch.) These cells contain oxygen and hemoglobin, both of which are necessary for human life.

Pernicious anemia, or primary anemia, is one kind. The cause of this condition is complicated, and all that can be said here is that the discovery of the value of liver—and more recently Vitamin B-12—has changed it from a disease which used to be fatal into one which can be successfully treated in almost all cases.

With the exception of pernicious anemia, the problem boils down to finding out what has caused the lack of red cells or hemoglobin, or both.

One of the most simple, and yet a frequent cause, is bleeding from somewhere in the body. If a person loses more blood than the system can replace, anemia develops. If the bleeding is sudden, as from a wound, the difficulty can be remedied promptly by stopping the hemorrhage and giving a blood transfusion.

If hemorrhage is slow, it is necessary to find where the bleeding comes from and to stop it if possible. When this so-called secondary anemia is severe it may be necessary to give transfusions or take other measures, including the use of iron preparations, iron being an important part of hemoglobin.

Another kind of anemia comes most commonly in women between 30 and 50 years old. The cause of this anemia is a deficiency of iron resulting from several things, probably including defective diet and poor absorption due to disturbance of the stomach and intestines. This causes a feeling of weakness, shortness of breath, nervous disturbances, dry hair, sore tongue and paleness. Fortunately, once it has been identified, it can be successfully treated by giving iron.

Anemia may result from the failure of the organs which make the blood to meet the needs of the body. This difficulty lies principally in the bone marrow and is much like the anemia which comes from certain poisons. There are many other forms of anemia, too.

Anemia means something is seriously wrong with the body. A person with severe anemia feels poorly and is lacking in energy. The cause should be tracked down and proper treatment employed.

Palace Drug Store Features Efficient Prescription Work

Fast, efficient service in filling all types of prescriptions is the watchword of the Palace Drug Store, located at 106 South Main Street, in the heart of Midland's downtown shopping district.

Featured at the Palace is free delivery of prescriptions anywhere in Midland. Two registered pharmacists make up the preparations scientifically, exactly as the doctor orders.

Prompt action is taken on all prescription orders, with a minimum of time consumed by the pharmacist in making them up. The customer may wait for his order while it is being prepared.

J. B. McCoy is the owner and manager of the Palace Drug Store, which has been in the same location since 1945. High standards are maintained at the store for protection of Midlanders.

Midland customers also enjoy a double advantage. Besides the savings on Palace merchandise, they are given S&H Green Trading Stamps with each purchase.

The cosmetic line is particularly designed to please the Midland woman, consisting of the well-known Revlon, Rubenstein, Du Barry, and Harriett Ayer beauty aids.

Fountain service at the Palace enjoys popularity with Midlanders in the city. A variety of cold and hot drinks, sandwiches, ice cream and other delicacies are served to tempt even the most casual appetite.

The Palace Drug Store is open from 8 a.m. to 11 p.m. every day, except on Saturday, when closing time is 12 p.m.

City Transfer, Storage Firm Makes Local Or Long Moves

When Midland is on the move the City Transfer and Storage Company, 2001 West Florida Street, is prepared to make that move possible, be it household goods, interstate freight and merchandise or interstate freight shipments.

Organized in 1947 by the senior Shelburne, the firm is now owned and operated by T. E. Shelburne, Sr., and T. E. Shelburne, Jr., both of whom are known to their friends and business associates as "Gene."

In March the company moved into its new location at 2001 West Florida Street, occupying a new fireproof building which now comprises their permanent business home.

For several years, the business was operated from 313 South Baird Street, but the growth of its operations, along with the rapid expansion of Midland's business activities generally, made this location entirely inadequate.

The new building is a model of modern, fireproof storage efficiency. A total of 7,500 square feet of floor space in a building that is as fireproof as modern building standards can make it, gives the concern facilities to safely and expertly handle practically any storage demands that can be made upon it.

The City Transfer and Storage operations are divided into three branches—local moving and storage of all types of furniture, merchandise, household goods, etc., interstate freight and merchandise shipments, and interstate freight shipments.

The firm specializes in moving household goods and furniture together with their storage. When a firm changes offices, business locations or for any other reason makes a move, the City Transfer and Stor-

Mining Machinery Loaded For Journey
 OAKLAND, CALIF. —A unique British ship, the Vercharman, docked here to load an entire shipload of gear for a new and gigantic American iron ore project in Peru.
 The cargo will be lightered at San Juan Bay, Peru, for the Marcona Mining Company, an American Corporation. The ship was built to haul locomotives, but the cargo loaded here included two unusually large Manitowoc shovels which required seven railroad cars each for transportation. The Marcona company will develop a large deposit of high grade iron ore.

Now It's Africa

Every time he turns around, the American is being asked to discover another continent. This time it's Africa. The American's attention—and his pocketbook—already are pretty thoroughly divided.

And now, Africa. The spotlight is on. With a spectacular pictorial effort and sound analysis, Life magazine has tried in a recent issue to show the American why he must add Africa to his list of worries.

This he cannot do, naturally. From the chaos of world problems he must seek some measure of order. At risk of being crudely arbitrary, he must fix a priority-of-interest scale for dealing with the nations seeking his attention.

Africa, like Asia, is in ferment. Its peoples have been shown Western standards. They want a better life for themselves than the grinding poverty they have had.

Africa has not gone so far down the road as Asia. We may help to prevent a violent explosion if we can find the heart and the means to encourage the African people in the fulfillment of their legitimate aspirations for self-development.

If we do not—if we insist on confining our interest to places plagued by crisis—then we surely shall be rewarded one day by a king-sized blowup in tormented Africa.

What a lot of folk who constantly tell stories actually need are some effective gags—literally speaking.

First Atomic Artillery Shell Test Is Scheduled Soon At Yucca Flat, Nevada

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—The first atomic artillery shell now is scheduled to be fired from the Army's huge new 280-mm. cannon at Yucca Flat, Nev., around May 22.

Observers have guessed that a big part of the Nevada test series concluding this month has been aimed at improving the yield, or explosive force, of smaller bombs. It is believed that the tests have shown successful results.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1953, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.) Drew Pearson says: Republicans will block Treasury's tax program; Chinese capitalize on U. S.-British Split; U. S. pilots fly in French Indo-China.

WASHINGTON—Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey won't know it when he presents his ideas to the House Ways and Means Committee today, but the tax cards are completely stacked against him.

What Humphrey has been working on in the way of a tax program is this: A—Continuation of the excess-profits tax. B—No cutting of income taxes this year.

What the secretary of the Treasury doesn't know, however, is that Republicans on the Ways and Means Committee, who are supposed to support him, have entered into a secret deal to let the excess-profits tax die on the vine June 30.

Of course, Humphrey is only a plain hard-working Cleveland businessman, although a most successful one. And he probably didn't realize the niceties of congressional protocol, and whom he should talk to first.

U. S. Pilots For French The joint chiefs have made a tremendously important decision on how to help the French in Indo-China. If necessary, American Air Force pilots and crews will be allowed to fly transport planes in that area.

ELIZABETH the Queen

By Marion Crawford Former Governess to Her Majesty

The Trooping of the Colors ceremony at Buckingham Palace. There is a man for every job at the Royal Palace, even one to catch mice.

Buckingham Palace is on constant guard against mice. If you thought of glue-like substance surrounding a little platform on which was some food flavored with aniseed.

So They Say

If we stop any appreciable amount of our imports it would cut our exports and start internal economic effects in the United States that could be very, very serious—a descending economic situation.

Such policies as the Administration is now following are what brought on the depression of the 1920s.

I am satisfied that this (high command shakeup) ought to give a complete new look to our military program.

Every time I looked around there was a MIG firing at me. I was really glad when that tangle was over.

Have A Laugh

Princess Elizabeth appealing to her to get their sons out of jail. He has so little and you have so much.

Apparently aniseed is as irresistible to mice as it is to dogs. The mouse is lured by the smell, the man explained. "It tries to get to the aniseed, and is caught in the treacle."

"What happens after that?" asked Princess Elizabeth. "It is trapped and dies through exhaustion in trying to get away," the man said.

I saw the Princess shudder and knew that the thought of the little creature fighting for its life would torture her.

"I'll have the other sort," she said, without comment. It is hard for a sensitive person whose feelings are a barometer upon which other people's hard-luck stories play to keep their sympathetic approach.

One was the kind with a spring mouse trap which is released when the mouse carries a bait.

Servicemen On Austrian Duty Find Vienna City Of Beauty

VIENNA, AUSTRIA—Not only does Vienna rival Paris as a beauty, it is one of the most interesting cities of Europe, politically.

Mechanic Bitten By Best Friend

Ed Harwell of 708 Andrews Highway suffered a minor injury last week when he was bitten by his best friend. Harwell is a lawnmower mechanic and a darned good one. His best friend is a lawnmower, and rightly so, because he earns his living repairing them. Who could ask for a better friend than one who contributes a large portion to your upkeep?

Ed works on the things, and that is how he got bit. He rolled the flesh of his thumb between the chain that drives the machine, and the sprocket that drives the chain. One or more of the teeth on the sprocket bit him. Seems to us it ought to make news, "Machine Bites Man," or something.

All of which leaves us a good opening to tell you that your lawnmower can be your best friend during these hot days, if it is in good repair and sharp. 'Could be your worst enemy, too, if it doesn't run properly. If you have to fuss and fume with a balky mower, if your machine isn't right up to snuff, then you ought to call the store, and we'll call Ed, and Ed will call your mower—his best friend.

It is "behind the Iron Curtain"—deep within the Soviet zone of Austria.

One must follow a prescribed route to enter Vienna, and have his credentials checked by stern-faced Soviet soldiers.

They never say anything, almost never smile.

The city itself, like Berlin, is controlled by the Four Powers—French, British, English and American.

Unlike in Berlin, where the division between East and West has been drawn taut, one has more freedom of movement within Vienna's city limits, and may pass freely into the Soviet sector without fear of being shipped off to Siberia.

Cooperation Everywhere

And in the governing of Vienna, there still is the outward show of American-Soviet cooperation and good-will.

"In Vienna, I have to see how considerate of them I can be, and my next assignment will probably be Korea where I will be trying to kill them," Sgt. James A. Shaw of Beckley, West Virginia, commented.

While Berlin has United States combat troops to give residents a semblance of protection, Vienna has none.

The present garrison is limited to administrative and internal security.

For instance, Pfc. Bennett Young of Abilene, who serves with the 64th military police company, "pulls guard" at State Department installations.

The good-looking private, son of Mrs. A. B. Chappell of Abilene, formerly was a cotton classifier, working for Anderson-Clayton Company of Houston.

Another Texas boy, Sfc. Melvin J. Niemeyer, formerly served on the "International Patrol," the MP's of four nationalities—Russian, American, French, and English—who ride in patrol cars to police Vienna.

Born in LaGrange, Niemeyer was graduated from LaGrange High School. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Niemeyer of that South Texas town. In service six years, he has served in Hawaii, Japan and Korea, and has been in Austria since 1950.

A tall platoon sergeant, Niemeyer appears to be a fine example of America's soldiers abroad—lean, healthy and handsome.

Since he is of German descent, Niemeyer has no trouble with the language here. He learned some at home, and found it easy to converse with natives.

His hobbies in Austria are fishing (in the American Zone), tennis and skiing.

Niemeyer has two brothers, Herbert, now living in Houston, J. C. in LaGrange; a sister, Shirley, in LaGrange and another sister, Mrs. Mabel Schlack of Bastrop.

Grandstand On Elevator Puts Audience On Proper Level; Dodges Fouls Handily

By TOM BRADSHAW
PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—In newspaper vernacular, a "handout" is a news release prepared by an individual, a company, an organization or public relations firm.

The usual batch of handouts arrived at our office Monday. Most such releases are out and dried affairs, some important and others waste basket material.

One of this crop stood out, however, because it was so titillating to the imagination.

The release was added: "Elevated grandstand to give audience a lift at National Materials Handling Exposition."

And then the handout went on to say: "A grandstand that raises and lowers its audience at the flick of a lever will be a major attraction at the fifth National Materials Handling Exposition in Philadelphia."

these gadgets in operation. It's the third inning of a World Series game at Ebbetts Field in Brooklyn. Roy Campanella is at the plate. He swings at the pitcher's next offering. The ball caroms off his bat—swerving suddenly toward the stands along the third base line.

Just as the screaming foul is about to decapitate some one, the elevated grandstand operator flicks his lever. A portion of the audience drops from sight—and the jet-propelled foul whizzes harmlessly into the newly created void.

Boon For Sopranos
Or perhaps a tired businessman—dragged to the opera by his music-loving wife—is stricken with a fit of coughing that has the leading soprano in a tizzy.

Again the elevated grandstand operator flicks his little lever and the cougher disappears from view—and out of audio range—until his throat tickle is checked.

This sort of thing could become routine to American audiences—but none would ever be able to approach the aplomb reportedly displayed once by a British naval band giving a concert on the flight deck of an aircraft carrier.

No Seaside Handmen
The band had been seated on one of the big elevators, which was lowered a foot or two to give the leader a more commanding position.

A sailor on the hanger deck below notified the elevator overhead wasn't in a completely raised position. Unaware that this was done for a purpose, he flicked a lever. The band shot up two feet. The sailor then realized his mistake and flicked another lever.

The band sank completely out of sight of its audience—losing not a note in transit.
