Sabine Breaks Levee; Orange In Dire Danger

The surging Sabine River swept over the sawmill village of Deweyville early Thursday and sped toward the industrial center of Orange, threatening the worst flood in the city's history.

The Weather Bureau in Lake Charles warned that Orange could expect a flood crest by 6 a.m. Saturday that would be two feet higher than the severe flood of 1945.

In direct danger are 1,542 homes in the Riverside addition, north of Highway 90. The predicted crest of nine to nine and one-half feet Saturday is about one foot higher than the levees.

In downtown Orange, south of Highway 90, a crest of seven to seven and one-half feet threatens to flood the entire business district unless temporary dikes can be thrown up.

About 2 a.m. Thursday, the Sabine won its battle with weary workers attempting to hold the weakened levee protecting Deweyville, 12 miles north of Orange on the Texas-Louisiana border.

The latest forecast calls for a crest of 20 to 20 1/2 feet between midnight Thursday and 6 a.m. Friday.

Ordinarily the river follows a twisting course of about 30 miles between Deweyville and Orange. The floodwaters no longer are controlled by the river's banks and the rising tide is expected to spread across the lowlands much faster.

Orange made hurried, but coordinated preparations Thursday for the expected flood crest. Leaders worked with officials from the Orange Naval Station and Army engineers.

About 38,000 sandbags were ready to build the temporary dikes in the business district and more would be brought in if necessary. Army Engineers called in bulldozers, drag lines, and such from surrounding areas.

One of the largest industries threatened in Orange is the U. S. Steel plant on the river front. It employs about 1,500 workers, all working against time now to protect the plant and the city from the flood danger.

No injuries and no deaths were reported. And nobody grew panicky as the flood rolled in. Deweyville, 800 residents dispersed quietly, some going to the school gym, a small island in the middle of the flood. All were thought safe.

Gordon Baxter of Port Arthur's radio KPAC said the river was at least five miles wide near Deweyville and still spreading. He said the Evangeline Highway was under 18 inches of water for miles.

With no rain in Texas over a 48-hour period, widely scattered thunderstorms were predicted for Southeast Texas late Thursday. They were not expected to be of high intensity.

Temperatures were generally in the 90's again Thursday but it was cooler in the South Plains and Panhandle areas.

There were no signs of formation water. Open flowing bottom hole pressure was between 275 pounds and 875 pounds. Shutin bottom hole pressure, after 15 minutes, was 2,050 pounds.

The prospect is making more hole. It is contracted to 5,650 feet. It already has logged some slight shows of oil in the zone at 3,001-50 feet.

Location is 660 feet from southeast and 1,979 feet from northeast lines of section 24, block 25, H&TC survey. It is slightly more than one mile south of the nearest production in the old, shallow McCamey field.

Location is 1,900 feet from north and west lines of section 20, block D-18, C&M survey.

It is 15 miles northwest of Brown.

Humble Continues Royalties On Shutin Spraberry Leases

Humble Oil & Refining Company will continue to pay oil royalties on its producing properties in the Spraberry Trend Area of West Texas, even though wells on the property are shut in.

In a letter to owners of mineral interests in Humble's producing properties in the Spraberry, the company announced it will make royalty payments for April and for subsequent months that the Spraberry is shut in.

The letter indicated that Humble considered the shutdown order inequitable, stating, "We do not wish to make it worse by obtaining a court order allowing us to produce those wells which are connected with gas conservation facilities."

The letter stated further: "When production is resumed these payments will not be deducted from royalties on production."

The action of the company came as a result of the Railroad Commission's prohibiting the production of oil or gas from any well in the Spraberry Trend Area until such times as facilities are available to gather, process and market gas from all wells in the field.

The purpose of this order was to eliminate the waste of casinghead gas in the field (Continued On Page Twelve)

Jernerson also announced a drill team from Webb Air Force Base, Big Spring, will march in the procession.

Midland residents set a new 1953 record for water consumption Wednesday.

City officials reported 9,070,000 gallons of water were used during the day, topping the previous high of 8,810,000 gallons but still below the record of 11,000,000 gallons set in mid-June last year.

"Unless we get some rain or at least some clouds," said H. E. Nunn, sewer and water engineer, "the water use will continue to climb and probably will pass the record mark within a short time."

Rushing to completion the McMillen Field water supply program, city officials hope to have the new water supply available before the record demands are made.

June 17 Date, Bermuda Site Said Probable

PARIS—(AP)—The French Foreign Office Thursday said the three-power meeting between President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Mayer will start June 17 in Bermuda.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Mayer of France will meet soon to thrash out Allied problems and discuss a possible high-level meeting with the Russians on East-West tensions.

An agreement for the West's Big Three to confer was announced Thursday here, in London and in Paris.

The place and date have not yet been fixed but Churchill has suggested Bermuda. This appears agreeable to Eisenhower and Mayer.

A disposition in government quarters here was to stress that the Western powers have many problems among themselves to warrant the meeting and to minimize talk in public about a possible Big Four session.

But Premier Mayer told the French National Assembly in Paris the approaching meeting would discuss the feasibility of a Big Four conference, meaning a meeting with the Russians.

Churchill long has been inclined to the view that a high-level meeting with the Russians might be productive of some betterment in the world situation.

The White House said the meeting of the Big Three leaders probably will be held late in June.

The White House issued this statement by Eisenhower: "The governments of the United States, Great Britain and France have been in consultation with the view of holding an informal high-level meeting."

"We have agreed that such a meeting is desirable at a date convenient to all of us.

"A primary purpose will be further to develop common viewpoints with these friends on the many problems that must be solved cooperatively so that the cause of world peace may be advanced."

White House press secretary James Hagerly said there had been no definite decision as to where the session would be held, but that Churchill had suggested Bermuda.

Churchill must be in London June 2 for the coronation of Queen Elizabeth.

Eisenhower will leave Washington June 10 for speeches in Minnesota, the Dakotas, New Hampshire and New York.

The President is to return to Washington June 14. Hagerly said the Big Three conference probably (Continued On Page Twelve)

Senate Filibusters Threaten State Court Realignment Bill

AUSTIN—(AP)—Senator William Moore of Bryan began an apparent filibuster in the Senate Thursday, promising "extended remarks" on a bill dealing with feedstuffs.

Senator Wayne Wagonseller said the talk was really against a conference committee report on toll roads, liable to come up soon.

Moore, Wagonseller and Senator Kilmer Corbin of Lubbock staged a filibuster several weeks ago against toll roads. A filibuster now would delay important legislation high on the calendar.

Among key measures awaiting action in these closing hours was a revision of the election code, and a bill to deny unemployment compensation to Texas workers idled because of a strike in the same company in another state.

All are highly controversial. Filibuster tactics now would be useful. The threat of a filibuster also hung over the Senate on a proposed district court realignment bill for seven politically torn South Texas counties.

Liquor Control Tightened. Senator William Shireman threatened to talk long against that. The House completed action on a constitutional amendment to allow military personnel to vote in Texas. The measure is ready for a vote of the people.

The House adopted a conference committee report, 132-0. The Senate adopted the report Wednesday. The House agreed to Senate amendments on a liquor regulation (Continued On Page Twelve)

Fugitive Polish Jet Pilot Wants To Become American

SAN BERNARDINO, CALIF.—Lt. Franciszek Jarecki, who last March fled Communist Poland in a MIG jet fighter, wants to become a United States citizen and fly with the U. S. Air Force.

And he is thrilled that fellow flier and friend, Lt. Zdzislaw Jagwinski, Wednesday duplicated his feat and escaped from communism. Jagwinski crashed a MIG at the Baltic island of Bornholm in Denmark.

Jarecki said Wednesday night he hopes Congress will allow him to stay in America.

The Polish officer is at Norton Air Force Base for interviews with Maj. Gen. Victor E. Berzandias, deputy inspector general of the Air Force.

Through interpreters, Jarecki said: "Because of the stringent restrictions imposed on pilots after my escape, the difficulties and dangers Jarzewski surmounted must have been indeed gigantic.

"This is an additional indication that the Polish pilot and the Polish people do not support the Communists in power, but are still loyal to a free and democratic Poland which was seized by the Soviets. There are now two of us who fled to freedom, and I pray to God that others will follow."

Federal Court Rules Conflict in Korea War, Not Accident

LOS ANGELES—The action in Korea is a war, a federal judge has ruled, and therefore the double indemnity clause of an insurance policy on a soldier killed in action cannot be collected.

Jack Wiseman, Los Angeles businessman, has sued the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, contending the U. S. is not at war by act of Congress.

Metropolitan said it paid promptly the $5,000 face amount of the policy on the life of Wiseman's son, Stanley J. But, the firm opposed paying a second $5,000 under the double indemnity clause.

The company claimed the clause covered only accidental death and excluded death "while the insured is in the military, naval or air forces of any country at war."

Federal Judge Harry C. Westover, ruling against Wiseman Wednesday, said that under presidential powers "there may be war without official declaration thereof."

He held further the Korean action had received sanction of Congress in the providing of troops, munitions, ships and other items.

Britain Establishes Marshall Scholarships

LONDON.—As a token of gratitude for U. S. Marshall Plan aid, Britain is establishing scholarships for 12 American men and women to study at British universities each year.

The Foreign Office announced Wednesday night the first of the awards will be given next April. They will be known as "Marshall Scholarships" in honor of Gen. George C. Marshall.

GETS MEASLY DEAL—Shed a tear for Morton Shubert, 23, of Beachwood, Ohio, who came down with three-day measles the day before his wedding. He got married all right, but didn't get to kiss his bride, the former Jo-Ann Friedman, of Shaker Heights, Ohio. Shubert, his bride, her parents and his brother, Norman, gathered in the Shubert home for the marriage ceremony. "It took just five minutes," Shubert said. "I got up out of bed, put on my tuxedo, I went downstairs and got married. Then she and the others went off to the reception and I hear they had a fine time. I went back upstairs, took off my tuxedo and went back to bed." Best he can do now is look at his bride's picture and talk to her on the telephone.

Mexican Youth Gets Sheepskin Under Difficulties

LOS ANGELES.—A 14-year-old boy is going home to Mexico but not without the diploma he came for.

"I wanted an American education, the best there is, and an opportunity to better myself," Jose Rodriguez Tzuceno told reporters Wednesday at Georgia Street Juvenile headquarters. He is held for deportation back to Mexico.

He said that two years ago when his father died he slipped across the border at Tijuana. He enrolled at St. Turbicus School and earned all A's and B's while working at a market to support himself.

Sunday three days before he was to graduate, police raided the home where he was staying and took him into custody.

Wednesday, in the detention hall, two nuns from St. Turbicus School presented him with his high school diploma.

Wife's Accountant Hints John Wayne's Accounts 'Juggled'

LOS ANGELES.—Mrs. John Wayne testified Thursday in support of her claim for $9,000 a month temporary alimony pending trial of her maintenance suit against the actor.

An accountant hired by Mrs. Wayne, the former Esperanza Baur, told the court Wednesday that the couple spent almost half a million dollars for personal and household expenses during their six-year marriage. The accountant, Henry Berlin, also charged there are discrepancies between Wayne's account books and his income tax returns. This touched off a heated verbal duel between attorneys for the couple.

Superior Judge William R. McKay finally ended the argument by ordering Berlin to confine his testimony to "facts and figures."

Berlin gave this itemization of the couple's expenditures:

1946, $83,216; 1947, $54,375; 1948, $61,570; 1949, $66,112; 1950, $72,411; 1951, $103,322; and for the first half of 1952 until the Waynes separated, $73,914.

Wayne contends his wife is extravagant and should be able to get along on $900 a month temporary alimony if he makes the $1,300 monthly payments on their Encino estate.

Wiley Would Turn Reins Over To Ike

WASHINGTON.—Senator Wiley (R-Wis.) says Congress should "go home about the middle of July and stay home until January."

"President Eisenhower was elected by the greatest majority ever given a candidate for president," Wiley said in a statement Wednesday. "I am willing to trust him with the reins of government for six months."

TEEN TALK

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures

In carefree Spring, the dance is the thing, tra-la, tra-la.

Every age has used the dance as an expression of joy or sorrow. Romans and Greeks cavorted in rhythmic cadence at Spring festivals. Indians have whooped and hollered through the centuries. Adam and Eve probably instigated "The Big Apple."

The goddess Terpsichore is every girl's special queen during the Spring dance season.

Is there any wonder then that the U. S. mails are loaded with queries from musical muses? Here are some of the social puzzles May Queens want solved before they step into their dancing shoes:

Question: What is the proper way to wear a corsage?

Answer: The flowers always should be worn heads up—whether roses, chrysanthemums or orchids.

Q. I like a certain boy who never has spoken to me. I am planning to have a buffet party before a school dance, and I am inviting some of his friends. May I invite him?

A. Why not get his friends to invite him along in a casual way. Then he may not suspect that you have a crush on him.

Q. What kind of jewelry should I wear with an off-shoulder gown?

A. Pearls are youthful and sweet with most dainty formalities. Gold is never worn with evening clothes. Other alternatives are precious stones, rhinestones, French paste jewelry.

Q. Is it correct to wear a low-cut gown to a dance?

A. There is a limit to the plunge of neckline that a young girl may wear within good taste. An off-the-shoulder gown is feminine and enchanting providing the dress fits securely. A neckline that dips too revealingly is in the worst possible taste.

Q. How old should a girl be before she wears lipstick?

A. The 16th birthday seems to be the go-ahead signal in many households for such famous firsts as girdles, lipstick, powder, occasional dates, and party-time high heels.

Q. What hours should a girl have to be home after a dance?

A. A pretty elastic question, depending upon many factors posed by parents. If the boy is known to the family, if the dance is the girl's special school group, or if a late supper is held at the home of a family friend, chances are the curfew will be given a later-than-usual curfew. But if the boy is a new friend and the dance was at the boy's invitation, then perhaps the 12 o'clock curfew should be invoked.

Q. How many dances should I give the boy who escorts me to the dance?

A. As many as you like—but don't be silly about it. Most girls prefer to keep their escorts' dances to less than half on their card. He should not take advantage of his position as escort to insist on more. On the other hand, he should be polite enough to see that you are never a wall-flower, and he should not sign up with another girl for a dance that is blank on your card.

Q. To whom should the first dance go?

A. To your escort.

Q. Is it stylish this year to wear hair ornaments?

A. Yes. The latest fad is the tiara or metal circlet with rhinestones. But any dignified little hair ornament that complements your hairdo may be worn—barrettes, jeweled butterflyes and bees, pearl or rhinestone encrusted combs. Some girls like to wear a flower in the hair instead of on their strapless evening gown. A flower at the waist with matching flower in the hair is pretty and effective. But don't wear artificial flowers in the hair.

Q. Are you supposed to kiss a boy good night if he takes you to a dance?

A. Only if you want to!

Rising Popularity

WASHINGTON—Leonard Hall, chairman of the Republican National Committee, said at the White House Thursday he believes President Eisenhower is "even more popular now than when the people cast their votes for him last November."

A study of fossils found in successive layers of rocks show that animals have been present on earth for at least 550,000,000 years.

Road count prizes went to Rosalind Rollins' first grade room and Louise Sullivan's fourth grade room. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Ruth Millett Children Like Consistency In Everyday Discipline

Here is a mother's advice to her married daughter:

"It would be much easier on you and the children if you would be consistently pleasant but firm instead of being overindulgent at first and then overhush with them."

That is good advice even though it is easier to say than to follow.

Nevertheless it should be the goal that every mother strives for.

For a child doesn't resent consistent discipline half as much as being allowed to get away with a lot for a while only to be later restricted suddenly and severely.

It's much easier on the mother, too. For the child whose daily discipline is consistent is an easier child to live with than the one who tries to get by with as much as he can for the simple reason that there is always a chance that he can get by. Disposition Is Better

Furthermore, it is easier for a mother to stay pleasant if she never lets her children get to the point where they don't pay any attention to her unless she screams at them. At that point they are only too likely to scream right back at her.

In all our dealings with our children we have to consider not only what is best for them but also what is best for us as parents, too.

A policy of consistent but firm discipline is best all the way around. Followed through the years it will result in a calmer mother, happier children, and a more peaceful household. It is much better than a policy of "do as you please" one minute and "stop that this instant" the next.

TREAT TREES TENDERLY—Workmen erecting a canopy over coronation stands near Westminster Abbey (background) in London were too tender-hearted to trim off branches of trees around which stands were built. So they went to the trouble of "tailoring" the canopy to fit around them.

Government Reveals Effort To Free Oatis From Prison

WASHINGTON (AP)—Communist Czechoslovakia, in freeing Associated Press correspondent William N. Oatis, acted six weeks after President Eisenhower offered to consider easing trade and travel restrictions against the Czechs.

The White House Wednesday night released copies of messages exchanged between Eisenhower and new Czech President Antonin Zapotocky.

Eisenhower's message, dated March 30, told Zapotocky that if he would release Oatis the U.S. would be willing to negotiate lifting of sanctions imposed against Czechoslovakia when the newsman was jailed 25 months ago.

Czech's Reply
Zapotocky's reply, dated May 15, informed Eisenhower that Oatis would not have to complete the rest of his 10-year sentence on conviction of "spying."

U.S. Ambassador George Wadsworth and Czech Prime Minister Siroky handled the exchange between the two chief executives.

In his public announcement of Oatis' freeing May 15, Zapotocky had said he acted on a direct appeal for mercy from Mrs. Oatis. At that time the State Department said "there wasn't any deal" between the U.S. and Czechoslovakia to free the newsman.

Government Efforts
The White House also said Wednesday night that a week before Oatis was released Secretary of State Dulles "made diplomatic representations" to the Czech government.

The announcement also said Mrs. Oatis personally visited Dulles March 7. It said Dulles told her then the U.S. government would do all in its power to get her husband free.

Mrs. Oatis said in New York she wrote Eisenhower and Dulles, after the new Administration took office January 20, because she wanted to preserve the continuity of her efforts to free her husband. For the same reason, she said, she visited Dulles.

Cause Of Trouble
Oatis, on his return to the U.S. Monday, declined to say whether he served the U.S. government in any capacity while he was Associated Press correspondent at Prague. He said he would stand on the record of his trial for the time being.

Wednesday night, however, he issued a statement in New York in which he denied ever spying for the American Embassy while a newsman in Czechoslovakia.

He said "the cause of my trouble" was that he got news tips from sources other than official Czech press outlets, then checked them with the U.S. Embassy in an effort to gain more information.

Construed As Spying
Such practice is routine in Western countries, he said, but under Czech law "can be construed . . . to be espionage."

His purpose is going to the U.S. Embassy, Oatis said, was to get information—not to give it. He added: "But at no time did I act as an espionage agent of the embassy in the sense that this term is understood in Western countries within the range of my experience."

Frank J. Starzel, general manager of The AP, said Oatis and his wife Laurabelle are going into temporary seclusion, after which Oatis will return to New York and write the story of his experiences.

To Write Series
In a statement, Starzel said Oatis will first be given a thorough medical examination, lasting about two days, after which the couple will leave on a trip.

Starzel added:
"When Mr. Oatis is thoroughly rested he will return to the New York area and undertake to acquaint himself with the record of his trial, to background himself on developments since his arrest and then to write the story of his experiences."

This probably will take the form of a series of articles to be distributed to members of The Associated Press.

Ike Reports Brief Hot-Rod Fling Some 30 Years Ago

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower had a fling at hot-rodding some 30 years ago, but gave it up when thieves swiped his gadgets.

He told the story himself Wednesday night in a special television broadcast piped exclusively to a Ford Motor Company executives' meeting in Dearborn, Mich. The White House made public his remarks.

The President recalled he bought a Model T Ford about 1920 and, "knowing about these things, I thought," as a recent graduate of the tank corps motor school, souped it up with a Bosch magneto, a Bosch ignition system and a Strom carburetor.

"I really had a Ford," the President said, but not for long. As the car stood out one night, he continued, thieves stole the carburetor and ignition system.

He said he hoped the Ford executives wouldn't take it amiss that the prowlers didn't steal the Ford itself, and added he went right back to regular Ford equipment.

In more serious vein, he congratulated the company on its fiftieth anniversary, saying:
"You have done more than just bring more things to more people at lower cost. You have contributed so much to the position of the United States in the world, the position of strength and leadership."

Student Convicted In Love Triangle Poisoning Charge

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An honor science student has been convicted on a charge of putting poison in beverages destined for the husband of the girl he loved. But the jury held he didn't try to commit murder.

Richard La Force faces a prison term of from one to 10 years. Or he could get probation. A hearing for sentence or probation is set for June 10.

The panel of eight women and four men convicted him Wednesday of mingling poison with beverages with intent to harm Robert Hayden, husband of Joyce Hayden, the student's former sweetheart. All the principals are 19.

La Force was acquitted on two counts of attempted murder and another of mingling poison with beverages intended for Joyce.

La Force testified during his dramatic month-long trial that he took the blame in the jase to shield Mrs. Hayden. He testified he might be the father of the child she expects in two months. Joyce denied his allegations of intimacies.

"I don't feel it was a just verdict," the California Institute of Technology student said after the jury decision was read. "I hope the people who accused me are happy."

The Haydens were not in court. Joyce commented at their home:
"I'm glad Richard didn't get off scot free. I still can't understand, with all the evidence there was, why he wasn't convicted on at least one of the murder charges."

"We are going to try to forget we ever knew Richard. He and his folks should consider themselves very fortunate he got off so lightly."

Hayden commented, "He knows he's guilty."

British Shipowner Denies Vessels Used In Communist Trade

HONG KONG (AP)—An official of a British steamship company Thursday denied accusations by a U.S. Senate investigations subcommittee that the firm had transported Communist troops.

F. H. Horman-Fisher, Hong Kong manager of the Wheelock Marden Company, said neither his company nor any other British shipping concern he knows of has carried Communist troops.

Horman-Fisher's statement was issued in reply to testimony before a subcommittee headed by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) that two British-owned ships were used to transport Red troops along the Chinese coast. The committee was told these vessels later were hired to carry Mutual Security Administration goods.

Horman-Fisher said the Communists seized three Wheelock Marden ships and are using them in China trade.

Thailand Requests UN To Investigate Invasion Of Laos

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y.—(AP)—Thailand has called for a UN investigation into the recent Communist-led Vietnam invasion of the neighboring Indochinese kingdom of Laos. A Thai announcement termed the thrust to within 35 miles of Thailand's border a menace to all Southeast Asia.

The move was disclosed Wednesday night by Bangkok's ambassador to the United States, Pote Sarasin. Declaring the United States has promised its full support, he said his government's request would be presented formally to the UN Security Council next week.

Peron Takes Over Argentina's Racing

BUENOS AIRES, ARGENTINA.—(AP)—President Juan Peron's government is taking over Argentina's horse-racing, the million-dollar-a-week betting system and the recently burned-out Jockey Club that runs the tracks.

A government bill to nationalize the racing setup, put before the Peronista-dominated Congress Wednesday, said the Finance Ministry would run things for the benefit of charitable and social welfare projects. Into which the late Evita Peron funneled vast government funds.

Leading Jet Aces Start Jaunt Home

SEOUL—(AP)—The world's leading jet aces, two Americans who destroyed 30 Red MIG's over Korea, started toward home Thursday.

Capt. Joseph McConnell, Jr., who got 16, the world's highest jet score, and Capt. Manuel Fernandez, Jr., who destroyed 14, left Seoul after receiving high Korean military awards from President Syngman Rhee.

They are stopping over in Tokyo briefly to receive more medals. Then they'll go on to the United States, where Apple Valley, Calif., is planning a welcome for McConnell and Miami, Fla., is planning a celebration for Fernandez.

Both were retired from combat against their wishes.

"We prefer not to wear them out completely on this show," said Lt. Gen. Glenn O. Barcus, U. S. Fifth Air Force commander.

Rhee pinned the Order of Military Merit Uchi on the Sabre jet pilots in ceremonies attended by Barcus and high Korean military and political leaders.

Asked by newsmen, McConnell disclosed why he named his pet Sabre jet "Beastious Butch."

"My wife is pretty sharp and tough even though she weighs only about a hundred pounds," he said. "We call her Butch and of course she's beautiful."

Angry Tito Denies Rumors Of New Accord With Soviet

BATAJNICA, YUGOSLAVIA—(AP)—President Marshal Tito angrily declared Thursday that relations between his anti-Moscow Communist government and the Soviet block nations have not improved.

Earlier this week, dispatches from Western newsmen in Moscow reported a growing tendency toward more normal diplomatic exchanges between the Kremlin and Yugoslavia. Their relations have been at a bitter minimum since Tito's regime was ousted from the Cominform almost five years ago for "nationalistic deviations" from the Soviet line.

Speaking to a crowd of several thousand persons gathered at Yugoslavia's big military air base here to celebrate the eleventh anniversary of the nation's Air Force, Tito declared, "Rumors have been circulated that we are dealing in secrecy with Russia."

Angrily waving a clenched fist, he cried:

"From this place I say to you that relations between us and the USSR and countries under its influence have not improved.

"On the frontier still, their rifles are shooting our guards. Their press is slandering us. If the USSR has softened its propaganda, that is not enough for our country to change its attitude and fall into the arms of those who have so badly harmed us.

"Any charges must be demonstrated by deeds, not words."

IT'S LEGAL AT PRESENT

EVERETT, WASH.—(AP)—City sign painter L. A. McNew, seeking to "peel out" "No Parking in Alley" was stumped one day this week on three downtown blocks.

"He couldn't get his equipment to the spots designated—too many vehicles parked in the alleys."

Garage Mechanic Had No Card Deck To Play Solitaire

CHARLESTON, W. VA.—(AP)—A garage mechanic was recovering at Charleston General Hospital Thursday after:

1. Slitting his throat with a razor blade.
2. Setting his room on fire and getting burned in the process.
3. Hitting himself on the head 13 times with a hammer.

Fire Capt. Claude Saunders said Ralph H. Ball, 49, admitted in a signed statement inflicting all this punishment on himself but would give no reason for his actions.

Saunders said he would confer with the prosecutor on whether to charge Ball with arson in the rooming house fire, which caused about $140 damage.

Hospital attendants said Ball missed his jugular vein when he cut his throat, suffered minor burns, and "not too serious" injuries from the hammer blows.

Gentlemanly Salute Snared By Protocol But Meaning Sticks

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Senator Gore (T-Tenn.) apologized in the Senate Wednesday for calling Senator Bush (R-Conn.) a gentleman. Bush accepted, with a forgiving smile.

The two had been debating interest rates on government bonds. Gore suddenly realized he repeatedly had spoken of Bush as "the gentleman from Connecticut."

That's the way House members address each other. In the Senate, decorum calls for members to address each other as "the distinguished senator."

Apologizing, Gore noted this is his first Senate term after a long-term career in the House, and that he had lapsed inadvertently. He assured the Senate that while he does consider Bush a gentleman, he also regards him as a distinguished senator.

ROK Air Force Said Building, But Slowly

SEOUL—(AP)—Lt. Gen. Glenn Barcus, Fifth Air Force commander, said Thursday the South Korean Air Force is "continuously expanding but cannot replace the United Nations Air Force here in the foreseeable future."

Barcus told newsmen the improving ROK Air Force still has to master the technical difficulties of operating jet planes and radar networks.

He will return to the U. S. in a few days and Maj. Gen. Samuel Anderson will replace him.

Defense Spokesman Cites Russia's Loss In Korean Fighting

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. — A Defense Department spokesman ridicules the idea that Russia hasn't lost anything in three years of Korean fighting.

Col. W. F. Rockwell said in a speech Wednesday pessimists point out that Russia "hasn't suffered the loss of a man in that time."

"They should be told," he added, "about the setback of the five-year plan since Soviet Russia has been furnishing war goods to her fighting powers."

Moscow reports show output of machine tools was increasing 18 per cent a year for several years prior to 1950 but dropped to three per cent last year.

Rockwell, who specializes in matters of logistics and production, said Soviet production of steam turbines, heavy tractors and metallurgical equipment also was leveling off.

He spoke at the eighteenth annual meeting of the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association.

Law Considers Fate Of Tots Stolen By Carnival Stripper

NEW YORK — P. — The future of two small children—victims of a weird, four-day abduction by a carnival strip dancer with a frustrated mother complex—remained in question Thursday.

Welfare authorities said the tots would not be returned at once to their parents Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Bradford of Washington, D. C.

They were whisked away from the Bradford one-room apartment last Friday night by the dancer, Mrs. Barbara Lee Grimm, 24, after she was left alone with them during a beer party.

Mrs. Grimm, facing both state and federal kidnaping charges, claimed she pitied the children because of the parents' drinking and quarreling and the cramped, unkempt quarters.

Police said she had a "mother complex—a yearning for children" and had lost two of her own in miscarriages.

She was picked up here after four days of a nomadic existence, during which half a dozen families befriended her. Both children, Clifton Jr., two, and Diane, one, appeared to have weathered the experience unhurt.

Full Investigation Due
New York welfare officials urged an inquiry into the parents' fitness to care for the children. And in Washington, Mrs. Robin Miller, head of the District of Columbia child welfare division, said:

"We'll hold them—the children—until a full investigation is made of the Bradford family situation."

New York authorities still are carrying for the children here.

Manhattan District Attorney Frank S. Hogan said his information showed "shocking haphazard marital conditions" in the Bradford home.

Noting that Bradford took Mrs. Grimm home after meeting her drinking beer and left her with the children while he and his wife went out again, Hogan said:

"It was a pretty callous act—leaving two children with a stranger."

Father Under Bail
In Washington, the children's mother declared: "I take just as good care of my kids as anybody else."

She insisted the children got plenty of food. As for any overcrowding in the apartment, she said:

"It was just one room, but it was

Now-Or-Else Truce Plan Drawn By UN

TOKYO — P. — Allied headquarters Thursday worked on a revised Korean truce plan to be presented to the Reus next week at Panmunjom, possibly on a "now or never" basis.

Authoritative sources who trusted on anonymity said the plan contained some phases of the India plan approved by the United Nations Assembly last December. The Assembly agreed that a political conference should settle the fate of 48,500 North Korean and Chinese prisoners who refused to return to their homelands.

These sources said new ideas have been gained by the UN Command in long-range consultations with allies on the deadlocked prisoner exchange issue, main stumbling block to a Korean truce.

They took an optimistic view of the talks, which resume Monday, without revealing what the UN proposal will be.

They hinted a time limit on the talks may be enforced with the Communists being told to act "now or never." This was emphasized by the statement a few days ago of a high source at UN Command headquarters.

"We are not going to let these things drag out. We are going to keep hitting at the stumbling blocks trying to iron them out."

Youths Given Prison Terms For Car Thefts
HOUSTON — P. — Two youths drew prison sentences Wednesday for a series of Lincoln automobile thefts. Relatives sobbed as Judge Langston King sentenced Pete Capouth to six years and gave Marvin Gollrad four years. Both are 18.

The Auxiliary will place poppy wreaths on 21 veterans' graves here Saturday, he said.

Pioneer Puts Bargain Sign On Pacemasters
DALLAS — P. — Pioneer Airlines has offered to sell some of its 36-passenger Martin 202 Pacemasters for $485,000 each.

Pioneer, as an added incentive to buy, proposed a plan whereby the airline would continue to make major overhauls on the big planes.

The Dallas-based air carrier said it was not sure whether it wanted to sell all nine of its Martin 202's.

MAMA KNOWS BEST?—Life for this mother robin sitting on four eggs is just one noisy crisis after another. Some would question her judgment in building her nest atop a roller coaster hill just three inches under the rail. All day long, as mama robin sits warming the eggs, she's alert for the roller coaster to come zooming at her, which happens at frequent intervals. At the last second, as the car bears down on her she flies to a safer perch. Then she fits back to her eggs. Officials of the Cleveland, Ohio, amusement park don't think mama will be harmed, but they're worried about what will happen when the eggs hatch.

Look Out For 1954; Twins Due

BUFFALO, N. Y. — P. — There was something familiar about it when Patrolman Charles J. Sioser and John J. Whalen overhauled a horn-blowing speeder after he ran through a red light at Michigan and Seneca Streets.

The motorist, Norton E. Webb, explained he was rushing his wife, Rosanne, to a hospital. The cops provided a siren escort. Mrs. Webb gave birth to a boy.

Later, the head-scratching cops explained the familiar angle. Last June, they overhauled a horn-blowing speeder after he ran the Michigan-Seneca light and escorted him to the hospital.

That time Mrs. Webb had a baby girl.

28 Monarchs, Naughty Youth Have Occupied Queen's Chair

LONDON — (AP) — Twenty-eight England monarchs and a naughty schoolboy have sat on the Coronation Chair on which Queen Elizabeth II will be crowned in Westminster Abbey June 2.

All through the centuries, the Coronation Chair has intrigued would-be carvers, most of them pupils at Westminster School adjoining the abbey.

The best craftsmen in the kingdom have just polished and refurbished the old oak relic, but neither they nor the woodworkers before them succeeded in erasing the schoolboys' initials.

A Whacking, Too
The lad who sat in the chair, Peter Abbot, also slept in it all night. He did it on a dare. Before he left, he took his knife to the chair and dug out the words:

"P. Abbot slept in this chair July, 1900."

That gave him a certain niche in history and probably a sound whacking as well.

One big carved signature—"N. Curzon"—is believed to be that of George Nathaniel Curzon (1859-1925), British foreign secretary and leader of the House of Lords, who married Mary Victoria Leiter, daughter of a Chicago millionaire, in 1895.

Scotland Yard Knows
Among scores of initials, three other signatures, those of N. Lister, T. Pelham and R. Assheton, are scrawled into the wood. Very little is known of them except that they were educated at Westminster School more than 200 years ago.

Westminster schoolboys today do not practice on the Coronation Chair. A night and day security guard is posted. A police officer checks everyone in and out of the abbey. As a further precaution, an invisible ray is connected by wiring signal to Scotland Yard. Anyone who gets too near the chair unknowingly touches off the alarm.

Back in 1887, some eager beavers of the Ministry of Works wanted to make the chair nice and shiny and ordered the woodwork stained and varnished. The country was appalled at the "mutilation." Shortly after, the chair was deminished.

Ex-NLRB Member Refuses To Answer Red Party Question

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Edwin Smith refused to tell Senate investigators Thursday whether he was a secret member of the Communist Party while he was a member of the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB).

In refusing to answer questions from the Senate internal security subcommittee, he pleaded possible self-incrimination.

Smith said he first served a year on the original NLRB and then for six years on the NLRB established by the Wagner Labor Relations Act.

He testified that in 1933 he had been appointed by President Roosevelt as one of the official observers at the Geneva International Labor Conference.

Smith declined to say if he were a Communist while holding any of these jobs.

The subcommittee is investigating what Chairman Jenner (R-Ind.) has called the "pattern of Communist infiltration" of the government.

Heath Repair School To Hold Open House

The new Heath TV Repair School at 2608 West Wall Street, will hold open house at 8 p.m. Friday, prior to the school's opening Monday.

E. H. Ratliff, president of the Heath schools, which are located in Houston and San Antonio, says the Midland school will be held from 7 to 10 p.m. on Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week for eight months. The course is a practical one in television and radio repair.

The instructor will be John E. Long, Midland radio and television engineer.

Enrollment for the school also will be held Friday night, Ratliff said.

Economy Drive Falls
They weren't too optimistic about winning when the showdown voting comes, probably Friday, but want to get Republicans on the record against what some Democrats call "adequate financing" for the government's labor and health educa-

All the sovereigns of England since 1307 were crowned on the chair with the exception of Mary, wife of William of Orange. It was designed in 1300 by Master Adams, goldsmith to Edward I.

Only twice has the chair left the abbey. Once was when Oliver Cromwell was inaugurated lord protector in Westminster Hall in 1657. The second time was during World War II, when it was taken for safety to Gloucester Hall.

The chair, made of well-seasoned oak and decorated with gold leaf, is still in pretty good shape for its 650 years. It is handled like a vintage cognac. The crypt where it is housed is kept at an even temperature and insulated against dampness. The chair stands on thick layers of soft, warm felt.

Little Time For Chatter

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Republican members of the Senate Labor Committee were said Thursday to have agreed on Taft-Hartley Law amendments which would all but grant the closed shop to the building trades unions.

The amendments, now being put into a formal committee draft for public distribution next week, were described by senators who declined to grant the closed shop to the building trades unions.

The changes in the law, some of them promised by President Eisenhower in campaign speeches last Fall, were agreed to in a meeting of the Republican members of the committee.

Committee Chairman H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) is expected to announce them next Monday, making clear that no Republican member is bound to the recommendations. Changes, possibly substantial, can be expected before the full committee agrees on a comprehensive bill to amend the law.

The changes reportedly agreed upon include:

1. Unions whose members customarily work in "casual employment," such as construction work, would be allowed to write work contracts with an employer before work actually starts. And workers on the project would have to join the union seven days after work started.

2. Most public utilities and hundreds of small businesses would be exempt from all Taft-Hartley coverage.

3. Building service employees would be exempt. These include janitors, elevator operators and the like.

4. Two members would be added to the five-man National Labor Relations Board. This would give President Eisenhower a chance to appoint four new members within the next few months.

5. Workers out on a legal strike would be permitted to vote in NLRB election cases, even if replaced by other workers.

The present law's 60-day no-strike provision for use in national emergency disputes would be retained.

Athletic Supply Firm Member Found Dead; Eden Rites Planned

ALPINE — Howard C. (Sandy) Lumpley, 38, former coach at Grandfalls and Peeco, and partner in a Midland sporting goods store, was found dead in an Alpine tourist court at 4:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Raymond Garnett, justice of peace, said death apparently was from natural causes. Lumpley had been dead for several hours. An inquest was to be held Thursday.

Lumpley and L. W. Taylor of Midland were partners in the Athletic Supply Company, which has stores at Midland and Abilene. He joined the firm about four years ago, resigning as a Peeco coach to do so. He was a graduate of Abilene Christian College.

Raised in Eden, Lumpley played football for Eden High School. Funeral services will be held Friday at Eden under the direction of the Livingston Funeral Home of Alpine.

Supplier Strikes Threaten General Auto Plant Layoffs

DETROIT — (AP) — Layoffs engulfed or threatened 150,000 or more auto workers Thursday as half a dozen major manufacturers reported their flow of parts choked off by supplier strikes.

Ford, Chrysler, Studebaker, Willys, Nash and International Harvester figured in the mushrooming production cuts.

They attributed their moves to three supplier strikes: at Ford's Canton, Ohio, forge plant; at Borg-Warner's Warner Gear Division plant at Muncie, Ind., and at the Budd Company car body stamping plant here.

Studebaker announced Wednesday night it was cutting from three-shift to one-shift operations next Monday because of a lack of transmissions normally supplied by Warner. Only cars with automatic transmissions will be assembled, the company said. It was uncertain, a next five days. The company said a month-long tieup at its key Canton plant had cut off its only source of forgings for cars and trucks.

Chrysler Plants Hit
Chrysler sent 27,000 employees home from its Chrysler, De Soto and Dodge assembly plants here Wednesday. It said a jurisdictional dispute at the Budd plant had halted the inflow of car bodies. About 8,000 Budd workers were idle.

Studebaker, Willys, Nash and International Harvester said the Warner Gear strike, also a month old, was hurting them.

The Warner plant has been closed since April 20 by a strike of CIO United Auto Workers members in a dispute over incentive pay.

The Budd strike, not authorized by the UAW, stems from a jurisdictional fight between millwrights and repairmen.

The Canton Ford strike, which also dates back to April 20, involves about 1,400 workers and centers around pay rates for various job classifications.

Of the 85,000 Ford workers facing layoffs, 55,000 are in the Detroit area and the others scattered from Massachusetts to California.

Democrats Make Political Hay While GOP Maneuvers To Trim Agriculture Spending

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Democrats hoped to make political capital Thursday as the House started debate on a $1,965,581,570 bill to finance the Labor and Welfare Departments for the fiscal year starting July 1.

They figured they enhanced their 1954 election chances Wednesday as they beat down a Republican-led drive to cut agriculture funds.

The labor-welfare bill is $132,481,291 below the amounts former President Truman requested last January for the two agencies, and Democrats were drafting amendments to restore some of the cuts imposed by the appropriations committee.

Economy Drive Falls
They weren't too optimistic about winning when the showdown voting comes, probably Friday, but want to get Republicans on the record against what some Democrats call "adequate financing" for the government's labor and health education and welfare programs. Ignoring warnings from GOP Representative Burdick (ND) and Jensen (Iowa) that they were "cutting their political throats", most Republicans lined up Wednesday behind a losing drive to cut 55 million dollars from the 1954 farm conservation program.

Supporting the amendment to hold the 1954 program to the 140 millions recommended by the Eisenhower administration were 152 Republicans and 44 Democrats. Against the amendment, and on the winning side, were 146 Democrats, one independent and 54 Republicans.

'Waste' Program
Democrats kept noticeably quiet as Republicans battled back and forth over the conservation program before the House voted the 195 millions recommended by the appropriations committee.

Proponents of the cut claimed the program, designed to encourage farmers to conserve soil fertility, was wasteful.

Opponents argued it was needed to assure sufficient productive land in future years to produce food for a growing population.

A limit of $1,000 was voted on conservation payments that may be made to individual farmers. The present limit is $2,500.

There were no cuts in actual money allotments as the House passed the bill, 384-12, and sent it to the Senate.

Exclusive of the 1954 conservation program authorization — for which money must be provided next year — the bill carries $712,747,828 to finance the Agriculture Department for the coming fiscal year.

This is $97,104,514 below the Truman request, but is $6,942,086 more than President Eisenhower sought. It was the first time this year that the House voted more money than the new President requested.

SPORTS PARLEY

By CHARLEY ESKEW

John Lardner, the Newsweek sports editor, ably placed the profession on a high plane by naming a collection of stories It Beats Working—summarily shaking off some writers' cries that it's a tough racket.

Take it as you wish, there are times when downright laziness will get the job done better. Such is the case now, when a story walks right in and says let me tell it.

That's the story of National Golf Day in which writers of Life Magazine and the Professional Golf Association are doing the job of building up a charity program. It's the story of the dollars from entries who'll be on most every one of the nation's courses this weekend, trying to "beat Julius Boros," the national champion.

Both Midland clubs, Ranchland Hill Country Club and Midland Country Club are in on it, plugging away to help the city golfers contribute several hundred dollars to the National Golf Fund. Thereafter, "you can drive a dollar around the world," Life writers say. By competing against Boros using your club handicap Saturday, your dollar will help to bring relaxation to U. S. servicemen from Okinawa to Istanbul, Alaska to the Canal Zone. It will help an important rehabilitation and recreation program get underway at Veterans' Hospitals, and Army and Air Force bases.

It, too, will go toward the college education of worthy caddies and to help in scientific golf research; but the big amount goes to the USO and to servicemen's funds. Some 80,000 entered last year—about 100 Midlanders—with Ben Hogan, the 1951 National Ullster as the opponent. About one-half whipped the Bantam who went one over the par-71 of Dallas' Northwood Country Club course.

Defraying the expenses of medals to winners—engraved "I Beat Ben Hogan"—the fund contributed $40,000 to the USO, some $11,000 to the other benefits.

Therefore, with such gains to be made in its National Golf Day, the PGA and Life started the program a second straight year, aiming at 130,000 entries. No wonder the Midland club are seeking players in a bigger-than-ever drive. They planned it simply, those at MCC bidding for players to hold off their qualifying rounds in the club tournament until Saturday, the day to Beat Boros. And asking women entries to post scores anytime until Saturday night. There were 10 from Midland who beat Hogan, despite unfavorable weather, last year. More should whip Boros this year, banking on percentage alone.

Among other things: The change from Midland to Abilene didn't affect Mill Wallendorf, the promising rookie first baseman, according to Garland Bishop of the West Texas-New Mexico League Blue Sox. The 20-year-old Tribe property slammed two hits in his debut there Monday, one a double, and drove in two runs.

Nor did Keith Nicolis' moving from Class C to Colorado Springs of the Class A Western League. Keith, a plus 20-game winner here last season, writes Jack Locke, his former Rotary Engineers cage coach, that he won his first two decisions, hasn't lost yet. Speaking of moves, Manny Tynes says he'll remain with Pampa and not report to Big Spring. The ex-Midland infielder, for some involved reason, is staying with the Oilers, and so is Pitch Ray Maghade, whom Big Spring traded off in the same barter.

Blair Quells Drillers For 8-3 Triumph

Braves Slam 13 Hits; Soto To Toss In Thursday Game

Romario Soto, who lost despite a five-hitter last time out, tossed against the Artesia Drillers Thursday night after another right-hander, Ralph Blair, proved on the night before that the New Mexicans are not invincible against Midland.

What's involved when Soto goes against Len Ruyie, twice a winner over the Indians, is third place in the race. The Indians replaced Artesia in third by half a game Wednesday on the strength of Blair's tight-in-the-clutch pitching. Twelve Drillers died on base.

Blair hurried eight-strikeout, ninth hit ball in between three rhybarbs as Midland won, 8-3. It was Midland's first win of five encounters with the Artesia club.

Blair, along with Quentin Basco, Tex Stephenson and Julio De la Torre, paced Midland's 13-hit spree that whipped two Artesia chunkers, De la Torre, running a consecutive hitting string to eight straight, singled three times while the other three players drove in two runs each.

Fidel Alvarez, a right-hander, was the victim; he was aboard when De la Torre's first single began a five-hit uprising in the second inning. Stephenson followed the Indian third sacker with a one-bagger and Basco bounced safely into right field to plate the two runners.

Blair then pushed Midland forward, 4-0, in the same inning with a two-run double down the left field line. Stephenson was back again in the third, after Hayden White walked and De la Torre hit to single in two more runs, routing Alvarez. Fred Parker relieved and held Midland to four hits and two runs in the final six inning.

All the while, Blair stifled the heavy Driller bats with five hits over the first six frames. Bill Haley, clouting a triple into center field, scored in the seventh, however, to ruin the shutout by running in on Joe Bauman's single.

Midland got the run back, though, in the same frame as Scooter Hughes continued his 11-game hitting streak with a single. On a hit and run play, he raced home from first when Shortstop John De-Giantamasso misjudged on Art Bowland's grounder.

Joe Calderone found Bob Presley on base and homered the final Artesia runs to the plate in the eighth. But Midland scored again also. Basco singled, made second on an error and sped in on Lou Dawson's eighth inning single.

After Midland clinched the verdict in the fourth, the clubs and umpires took to continual disagreement over decisions. The first result of it saw both Artesia Manager Karl Perry and teammate Jackie Wilcox thumped in the sixth for jockeying arbiter Steve Sadowak.

Catcher Art Bowland lost his temper in the eighth and was ousted by plate umpire Edd Tyler. Later, the umps ruled out Driller Joe Fortin for arguing.

About 1,100 fans, attracted by the game and a "special night," watched the proceedings. Another award-program, such as Wednesday, will go with the 8:15 p.m. Thursday clash.

AIR MANEUVER—Shortstop Ray Boone of the Indians took to the air to get his throw away in time for a double play and to avoid being hit by Billy Martin in New York. (NEA)

Marshall Coach Quits
MARSHALL—Hardy Johnson resigned as football line coach of Marshall High School Wednesday to study law.

If good golfing, like luck, runs in the family, Red Watkins, a former club champion posted a 68 and Johnny Sherrod included two rounds of 69's among his scores. The week's two individual features were an ace by Dalton Cobb Sunday, and M. B. Proctor's hole-out duce on the four-par, 325-yard No. 5 Tuesday.

Green carded six birdies, an eagle and two bogles on his record round, the two-under count coming on the 515-yard No. 15 after a drive, wedge shot and eight-foot putt. He was playing with H. L. Winkler for the first nine holes, Proctor on the second nine, and Sherrod and Tommy Withrow.

Monahans Little Loop Plans Parade To Start Year's Play

MONAHANS — Monahans' Little League, six teams strong, begins its season Tuesday with a big order of events on this year's schedule.

R. D. Lee, chairman, announced that the clubs will play through a 60-game schedule with an all-star game breaking up regular action in mid-season.

The opening day activities will include a downtown parade as well as the first doubleheader at JayCee park.

Lee, Monahans school superintendent, said that the parade Tuesday would begin at 5:30 p.m.

The city's junior high school band will lead the way with the individual teams in uniforms following after.

Officials of the circuit and the mounted Sheriff's posse fill out the march.

The six clubs and sponsors are the Giants by the First National Bank and the 20-30 Club, the Red Sox by Richardson Oil Company, the Cardinals by Wickett Refinery, the Dodgers by Stoneback's Tire Company, the White Sox by the Sheriff's posse and the Yankees by the First National Bank and Economy Furniture. The Monahans Jay-Cees are backing the league.

After Tuesday's parade, four teams square off in the opening twin-bill at 7 p.m.

Travis Johnson is the director of Monahans' Summer recreation program.

Friberg Aids Winning Unit

ROSSELL — Roswell Country Club began its fourth qualifying invitational golf tournament here Thursday morning with the hope that a first success—in a West Texas Pro-Am meet—would induce some Midland players to enter.

A quartet from Midland, playing the course here just for the novelty, placed one man among the winners Thursday in the weekly pro-am play. He was John Friberg, one of pro Dick Turner's mates on the best low-ball team. The victors carded a net 65.

The triumphant team included Turner, the low pro also with a four-under 68, Friberg, and Martin Boswell and Harry Childers, both of Roswell.

Three Midlanders, Pro Abe Beckman, Tommy Withrow and Tom Champion, finished among the also-rans.

The second team, captained by Del Hammer, Albuquerque, netted a 66.

Ed Amonette of Roswell and Paul Jones of Clovis were the low amateurs, with two over 74's; 104 were entered.

In current pro-am at Abilene Country Club, C. L. Spence of Lamesa parred the course, 71, to win the low pro award and help his foursome tie a group captained by Ed Hopkins of Abilene. The leaders netted 63's.

No Midlanders were among the Abilene field.

Turner Decisions Hayes At Boston

ST. LOUIS—A driving, ever-busy Jesse Turner, who wants "more and more fights," punched his way into the nation's television screens Wednesday night with an impressive, unanimous decision over Norman Hayes of Boston in a 10-round at the arena.

Turner, a 22-year-old St. Louis, gave up eight and one-half pounds to a more experienced Hayes, ranked tenth among the middleweights. Turner weighed in at 154 1/2 to 163 for Hayes.

San Angelo Edges Past Lamesa, 3-2, On Briner's Single

SAN ANGELO —P— Manager Rudy Briner's slashing single down the left field line scored Glenn Burns for second base Wednesday night as the Colts edged the improving Lamesa Lobos, 3-2, in 10 innings.

Up to this point, John Miller of Lamesa and Gil Guerra of the Colts had hooked up in a close pitching duel which saw the Lobos come from behind twice to tie the score.

The victory evened the series with the rubber tilt of the three-game set due Thursday night.

The Colts notched an unearned run in the second to move out front. Burns was safe on an error. He moved to third on Steve Follett's single to left and scored on John Magarini's fly to center.

The Lobos tied it in the fourth on a single by Armando Sanchez, a sacrifice and a Colt error. San Angelo again took the lead in the One pitcher—to take the place of three—will join the Midland Indians this weekend, reporting from the Yakima, Wash., team of the Western-International League with an outstanding semi-pro record.

Club President Marion Flynn, announced the new transaction, acquiring rookie Dick Young on option, in an effort to support the Indian mound staff.

The continual flow of pitchers here is a drive to aid the Indians "find" a starting foursome. "We're going to get pitchers," Flynn said. "We're not going to take a beating."

As far as Young's ability is concerned, both Pitcher Don Dalley and Catcher Jim Harford, his former mates, indicated to Manager Jay Haney that the rookie can be a winner here.

He scored 21 triumphs of 22 games as a Portland, Ore., area semi-pro pitcher last year, Flynn said.

NCAA Picks Texas Nine For Playoffs

WACO—P—The University of Texas will represent the Southwest Conference in a playoff with Arizona for a NCAA baseball tournament spot although the conference members themselves thought there should have been a playoff between Texas and Southern Methodist to begin with.

Not heeding a poll of the conference that recommended that the two teams that tied for the championship stage a playoff, the District 6 selection committee Wednesday night picked Texas over Southern Methodist and then sent Texas against Arizona, champion of the Border Conference, to determine which will go to the NCAA tournament at Omaha in June.

Pete Jones, Baylor baseball coach and chairman of the selection committee, said Texas was picked over Southern Methodist on the basis of Texas' two victories over SMU out of the three regular season games.

The conference recommendation was not binding on the selection committee, composed of Jones, Del Morgan, Rice and Beau Bell, Texas A&M.

Details of the Texas-Arizona series have not yet been decided.

Jones said the Southwest Conference had set a precedent by selecting Arkansas to represent the circuit in the 1946 Cotton Bowl football game. That year, Arkansas and Rice tied for the football championship, but Arkansas beat Rice in regular season play. He added that four years ago Baylor and Arkansas tied for the basketball title but Baylor was selected to play in the NCAA tournament because it had beaten Arkansas twice in regular season play.

"The records of the teams are not an issue," Jones said. "Either would make a fine representative in the playoffs."

Howard Grubbs, executive secretary of the conference, had announced the conference schools by letter had recommended the playoff between Texas and SMU.

Arizona, champion of the Border Conference, had asked to meet the Southwest Conference representative in a series to determine the District 6 entry in the NCAA tournament.

Bosox Fatten Up On Western Teams As Wilbur Hits Homer

By The Associated Press

If the Boston Red Sox can figure out some way to beat the other pennant threat in the American League, they've got the Western clubs solved for sure.

The Sox finished up a profitable home stand against the West in sensational fashion Wednesday, which began May 12.

In the National League the Western teams, playing at home, managed to gain the upper hand, but only by a margin of 16 games to 13. In Wednesday's finale, Cincinnati thumped the league-leading Philadelphia Phillies, 14-5; Milwaukee bowed for the second straight day to Brooklyn, 7-2; Chicago took a 16-6 lacing from the New York Giants and St. Louis won an 11-6 slugfest from the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Wednesday's action provided a little of everything, from the 14-inning duel in Boston to the 31-hit explosions in Chicago and St. Louis.

The Giants collected 21 hits, a season's record, good for 39 bases, in smothering the Cubs, Monte Irvin, Al Dark and Dave Williams homered for New York and the attack also included three doubles and three triples.

Curt Simmons, the Phillies' ace left-hander who retired 27 Milwaukee players in order after Bill Brunton singled Saturday night, couldn't last four innings against the Cincinnati Redlegs. He gave up seven hits and seven runs before heading for cover in the fourth. The Redlegs pulled out of the cellar and into seventh place with their triumph by Ted Kluszewski, Andy Seminick, Bobby Adams and Bob Barkowski.

Pittsburgh fell to last place by losing to the Cardinals, who pounded out 17 hits. Red Schoendienst drove home six of the Cardinal tallies with a perfect night at bat. His four hits included a home run, two doubles and a single.

Brooklyn stole six bases in handling Milwaukee its first series loss at home.

In a game filled with misplays, the Yankees edged Detroit in the last of the ninth on Gene Woodling's bases-loaded single.

Frank Shea throttled the Indians on two hits for seven innings but had to withdraw with a stiff neck.

The Indians picked up five hits and three runs on his successor, Johnny Schmitz, but the Senators had sewed it up with six runs in the seventh off Bob Hooper and Steve Gromek.

Philadelphia's winning run against the White Sox came in the ninth when Billy Pierce, trying for his sixth victory, walked three men, uncocked a wild pitch and then watched light-hitting Joe Astroth deliver a run-scoring single.

Stasey, Costa Lead Rockets By Big Spring

BIG SPRING —P— Two ex-Big Spring players, Al Costa and Pat Stasey, came home to haunt the Broncos as the Roswell Rockets clubbed out a 14-3 decision Wednesday night.

Costa, traded to the Rockets only last week by Big Spring, drove out two home runs, one of them with the bases loaded. Stasey connected for four hits in four trips, including two four-masters and a triple.

Between them, Costa and Stasey accounted for 11 runs.

The Rockets could have saved their slugging for a time when they needed it, for they got a fine mound performance from their rookie right-hander, Rolando Bacardi. Bacardi gave up only six hits and had only one bad inning, the sixth, at which time the Steeds got all their tallies. By that time, the Rockets had put the decision safely out of reach.

Every player in the Roswell lineup connected safely at least one run and scored at least one run.

Greenville Sitting Pretty In Big State

By The Associated Press

Greenville, sitting pretty, two games atop the rest of the Big State League moves into Texarkana Thursday night for a four game series that could almost be called crucial.

Greenville should ride high into Texarkana for the Majors won from Austin 6-1 Wednesday night with a minimum of effort.

Temple swept the entire three-game series at Texarkana when they beat the Bears, 7-4, Wednesday.

The road-bound Waco Pirates ran rough-shod over Wichita Falls, 13-5 with 13 hits and nine Spudder errors doing all the damage for the Bucs.

Manager Red Davis did some two-platooning with his pitching staff as he maneuvered his Paris club to a 5-4 win over Tyler Davis played like Casey Stengel as he had Jesus Avila, Pete Naranjo and Tony Estrera come in the ninth to pitch to "opposite" batters and protect the slim lead.

The Boston Red Sox is the only club in the American League having no returning servicemen.

Oilers Pounce On Potashers For 11-4 Win

ODESSA —P— Seventh-place Odessa turned the tables on league-leading Carlsbad Wednesday night, pointing out an 11-4 victory.

Both sides got a dozen hits, but the Oilers made better use of theirs.

Odessa picked up two runs in the second on four straight singles, added three in the third, four in the fifth and two in the seventh.

Barney Balthorn homered with one on in the third for Odessa and collected four hits in as many trips to pace the Odessa attack. Bobby Fabian hit four for five.

Little Wes Ortiz blanked the hard-hitting Potashers for seven innings, despite being hit freely by Carlsbad managed one run in the eighth, and three more in the ninth.

Top Colonial Field Challenging Hogan

FORT WORTH—P—Ben Hogan, the talented Texan, leads a field of 48 into the opening round of the $25,000 Colonial National Invitation Tournament Thursday with the laconic observation that "anybody can win this one."

Hogan, defending champion who thrice in six years of the Colonial has taken down the winner's purse, agrees that it's the strongest field the tournament ever knew.

The little man of golf's great moments teed off at 1:30 p.m. with dapper Lloyd Mangrum, long one of the game's best money-winners and runner-up here last year, and Joe Conrad, the North Texas State College linkster who is tops among the amateurs hereabouts.

Mangrum Wednesday showed he again was a man to be reckoned with as he blazed a three-under-par 67 over Colonial Country Club's 7,035 yards. His was the feature tune-up round.

Earl Stewart, Jr., Dallas, current leading money-winner of the tournament trail, posted a 68.

Hogan hasn't shot any sub-par rounds but has played steady golf with 70-71-70-71. Many observers say 282 might be the low figure when this select tournament has run its course Sunday. Hogan is putting well and says he never played better.

Cary Middlecoff, of the Memphis dentist who won the jackpot here 1951, was another shotmaker liked by the railbirds. Handsome Cary has just finished winning the Westbury, N. Y., Round-Robin and has said himself that he's playing the best golf of his starry career.

Ray, Temple Nines Earn State Berths

By The Associated Press

Ray of Corpus Christi and Temple are in the state schoolboy baseball tournament and six other places are being decided this week.

Ray Wednesday beat McAllen, 4-0, to sweep the bi-district series. Temple had won its way into the tournament Tuesday night, taking out Highland Park Dallas in straight games.

Poly (Fort Worth) beat Adamson (Dallas), 6-5, in the start of a bi-district series Wednesday night. Amarillo is playing Ysleta, Wichita Falls is battling Abilene, Paris is engaging Tyler, Fort Arthur is playing Bryan and Austin is playing Reagan of Houston in the other series.

JACKSON WAS GRID STAR

ACC Announces '53 Grid Schedule

ABILENE, TEXAS. —(P)— A 10-game football schedule was announced Wednesday by Abilene Christian College.

The schedule: September 12, Southwest Texas, September 19, East Texas at Commerce; September 26, Arkansas State at Jonesboro, Ark.; October 3, Midwestern at Wichita Falls; October 17, McMurry; October 24, Lamar Tech at Beaumont; October 31, Texas A&I at Kingsville; November 7, Austin College; November 26, Howard Payne at Brownwood.

The Red Sox have the best inter-sectional record in either league. They burned up the West early this month on a 6-2 road trip and then won six more and lost only two when the Western teams came in to visit Fenway Park.

The Eastern American League clubs as a whole were downright inhospitable to their Western visitors during the inter-sectional series and all four of them ended with victories. The Athletics defeated Chicago, 2-1. Washington whipped Cleveland, 8-3, and New York triumphed Detroit, 9-8. All in all the Eastern teams won 20 and lost 11 during the West-East meetings which began May 12.

In the National League the Western teams, playing at home, managed to gain the upper hand, but only by a margin of 16 games to 13. In Wednesday's finale, Cincinnati thumped the league-leading Philadelphia Phillies, 14-5; Milwaukee bowed for the second straight day to Brooklyn, 7-2; Chicago took a 16-6 lacing from the New York Giants and St. Louis won an 11-6 slugfest from the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Hubbers Rap Borger, 16-8

By The Associated Press

Lubbock kept winning them as they came to them, blasting out a 16-8 victory over Borger Wednesday night to stay atop the West Texas-New Mexico League.

It was 19 hits and eight Borger errors that sent the Hubbers off and running.

The Clovis Pioneers kept within half a game of Lubbock by dropping Abilene, 17-2. This was the fifth straight win for Clovis and they made it an easy win, rapping out 18 hits as Bob Mitchell held Abilene to five hits.

Albuquerque fell all over four Plainview pitchers for 13 hits, winning over the Ponies, 14-3.

In a three-hour-plus game of stamina and steadfastness the Pantary club outdid Amarillo, 20-17. The two teams had the extra high total of 11 doubles and seven home runs.

Cats Rebound With Verdict Over Tulsa

By BARD LINDEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
It was rough and tumble night at Tulsa where the Cats of Fort Worth got back in the fight with a 12-8 win over the Oilers.

Glenn Mickens, the Spring sensation at the Dodger training camp, won his second ball game since his recent Army release but he didn't make the full distance. Carroll Berringer, bailed him out in the sixth.

The Cats were good for 16 hits, having things all their way, with Danny O'Leary hitting two homers and Harry Scherting one.

The win, paired with Shreveport's 2-1 defeat at Houston, gave Fort Worth a full game on the Sports. They still trail by two.

Two unearned runs stood up for Houston as Floyd Woodbridge kept the Shreveport power in check.

San Antonio took a 4-3 win from Beaumont with a last of the ninth double by Charley White bringing in the run that made the difference.

It was the first loss of the season for Beaumont's Don Frachia after six straight wins.

Oklahoma City managed their second shutout win in a row with Cal Hogue stopping Dallas, 6-0, on two hits.

Fort Worth will play two at Tulsa Thursday night while Dallas and Oklahoma City also have a double scheduled. Shreveport at Houston and Beaumont at San Antonio are single games.

Gulf, Texaco, Bell Triumph In City Race

The American League, the hitting loop of the two Midland softball circuits, added to its reputation again Wednesday night.

And Gulf, one of the front-runners, topped them all. The Oilers blasted Continental, 22-12, with 18 hits, bringing the game to a time-limit conclusion after five innings.

Tide Water sustained a reversal at Texas Company's hands, 11-6, and Southwestern Bell bounced Schlumberger, 14-3, in the other games.

Frank Branhany, who homered once, enjoyed a perfect three-for-three night in leading Continental, but it was of no avail; everyone of Gulf's batters hit safely off his pitching services. Whiteside collected a home run for Gulf.

Mills went three for three in Texas Company's victory, secured by a five-run uprising in the fifth inning.

Eight batters got up in the first and nine went to the plate in the second for two five-run innings. What showed Southwestern Bell to an easy defeat over Schlumberger. Gremley added home run support to Atwood's two-hit hurling.

SPORTS ROUNDUP— Organizer Quits Olympic Muddle

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK.—(AP)—The resignation of Arthur W. Coles as chief organizer of the 1956 Olympic Games is a serious blow to Melbourne's chances of playing host to the great athletic carnival. Without being unduly pessimistic, we would guess that it's no better than a 50-50 proposition now.

Coles was the big operator, the one Australian deemed capable by many of his countrymen of solving manifold problems and whipping the games together. There was general rejoicing in Melbourne when Coles agreed to take on the onerous job last Fall, and there will be great disappointment that he has thrown in the towel.

A self-made man of heavy wealth whose stores stretch to every corner of Australia, Coles had retired to his beautiful estate at Flinders near Melbourne, and meant to stay there, when the cry for succor reached him. The Olympic people told him things were in a mess, and that the games almost certainly would be lost unless he threw his energy and talents into the breach.

Reluctantly, Coles accepted the challenge. When we saw him five months ago he felt optimistic. He was fully aware that he was bucking petty jealousies and that he was enmeshed in Australia's own brand of politics, but the thought he had a superior ally in national pride.

He accomplished much within a few months. Without bothering to call a committee meeting every other day, he commissioned plans for a great modern stadium and for a swimming plant that promises club finally has caught fire and soon will roll into the first division.

Both the number of hits—good for 39 bases—and the eight-run eighth inning in Wednesday's 16-6 massacre of the Cubs were season highs for the fifth-place Giants. They now have won eight of their last 11 games and four in a row.

During the four-game winning streak, which goes on the line Thursday night against the Brooklyn Dodgers in New York, the Giants have scored 39 runs and collected 57 hits in 162 turns for a .352 team average.

Eight home runs have been jammed into the victory march with Monte Irvin contributing three in as many successive days.

In addition to Irvin, Al Dark and Davey Williams had bleacher shots in the Cubs' debacle Wednesday.

Irvin has driven home 10 runs in the last four games and he and Dark have collected eight hits each in 19 trips. Whitey Lockman has 11 safeties in his last 19 times at bat.

"In our poor start this season we lost six games by one run and that disproves the theory that my pitching has been real bad," said Durocher.

"Our big trouble has been lack of timely hitting. It has thrown some of the pitchers off stride. I'm confident guys like Sal Maglie, Larry Jansen, Dave Koslo and Jim Hearn will straighten out. I think maybe we have started to get those big hits now."

Board Okeys Whitis Move

MONAHANS — Resignation of Glen Whitis, head basketball coach at Monahans two years, was accepted Wednesday night at a called meeting of the Monahans School Board. Whitis has been named basketball and assistant football coach for Coleman High School, succeeding Nat Gleason, who will take over the basketball reins at Abilene High School.

R. E. Lee, superintendent of schools, said Whitis would remain in Monahans until May 29, leave to serve as counselor at a boys camp in Colorado during the summer, and assume his coaching duties in Coleman September 1.

The former Howard Payne College basketball star coached in Pyote for one year before joining the Monahans staff. He was graduated from Howard Payne in 1950 and served three years in the U. S. Navy before entering college.

Whitis, a native of Lampasas, received his Master of Arts degree from Sul Ross College in 1952.

Replacement of Whitis was not discussed at the Wednesday night board meeting.

The basketball coach played four years of varsity ball at Howard Payne and was listed on the all-conference team for two years. The six-foot-four-inch center was captain of his team in his senior year and was leading scorer for the conference.

He was also a member of the Rotary Engineers basketball team in Midland for two seasons and played on the team that won the consolation finals at State TAAF last year.

Club Co-Owner Lewis Goetz said the directors would meet Thursday to settle the issue "once and for all." He termed the agreement "illegal and contrary to federal law."

And from Natchez, Miss., came a hint that the league may try once again to oust the Bathers from the eight-team circuit.

Tom Glennon, Natchez Indians general manager, said his club fully approved Haraway's action and planned to call the president concerning a meeting.

"If the league takes action against Hot Springs, that may mean a revision of the league schedule," he said.

The league attempted to oust the Bathers this Spring, when Jim Tugerson and his brother, Leander, were hired from the Indianapolis Clowns of the Negro American League.

But Hot Springs forestalled the action with a ruling by minor league head George Trautman that a club could play negroes if it desired. Following the Greenville, Miss., meeting alluded to by Haraway in Wednesday's statement, the Bathers optioned the brothers to Knoxville, of the Class D Mountain States circuit, where Jim compiled a 6-2 record. He was recalled Tuesday.

Contacted for comment, Haraway said Hot Springs had agreed not to recall the Tugersons this season and would, in any event, get permission from four of the clubs before returning them to Hot Springs.

Pat Garner Posts Win

CHATTANOOGA.—(AP)—Pat Garner of Midland defeated Jane Thomas of Salisbury, N. C., 4 and 3, Wednesday to remain in contention for the women's Southern Amateur Golf Title.

Lesbia Lohr of San Antonio defeated Dorothy Kirby, 1-up, and tackled Bee McWane Thursday.

MCC Counts 33 On Tourney List

The Midland Country Club, beginning its first qualifying rounds of a club championship Thursday, suspected it might attract a larger field than anticipated if the early list can serve as a judge.

Assistant Pro Jay McClure, who joins Pro Boyd Huff in directing the tourney, said 33 names were in the competition even before the first 18-hole rounds got under way. The entries will post qualifying rounds Thursday through next Wednesday with matches starting May 28. About 120 are expected in the tournament.

Some of the city's better golfers added their entries Wednesday. They were Buddy Branum, Dell Taylor, Sam Rosson, Hugh Wallace, Ross Brunner, Ralph Cooley, Joe Dixon and Jimmy Craig, who swelled the field from 25 entries of the previous day.

A small field of qualifiers, but many out for practice, was scheduled to play on the tourney site, the MCC's par-72 north course, on Thursday's first day.

Most of the golfers, McClure said, will hold off their qualifying until Saturday when the club sponsors a National Golf Day competition. That pits the players, counting their club handicaps, against National Champion Julius Boros in a nation-wide charity match.

Vann Ligon is defending champion in the MCC matches.

White Caps Pulling Up On Harlingen In Gulf Coast Loop

By The Associated Press
Galveston, if you look closely, is beginning to pull away from the sagging Harlingen Capitols. The leading White Caps had it all over Corpus Christi, Wednesday night, winning 6-0.

Pop Faucett gave a superlative performance with the bat, rivaling Bohoslav for solo honors, as he drove out two homers. Catcher Hank Robinson was also strong at the plate, with a four-for-four night.

Lake Charles is back in the headlines this week only for a different reason. They won their fourth in a row by stopping Harlingen 12-9 Wednesday.

Billy Bagwell kept rolling at Texas City where the Texans won, 5-3, over Laredo on Bagwell's three-hitter.

Bagwell, the league's winningest pitcher, took number eight from Laredo and placed Texas City up into a fourth place tie with Port Arthur.

The Sea Hawks ran aground at Brownsville, losing a squeaker, 3-2 to the Charros. It was four wins side by side for Brownsville, but they had to go 11 innings. Manager Stubb Orser broke up the game with a double.

Nation's Golfers Vs. Boros

OAKMONT, PA.—(AP)—From every part of the United States, Japan and even remote Eritrea, golfers will match their cards Saturday against Open Champion Julius Boros as the second annual National Golf Day challenges the public to a unique competition.

It is difficult to assess how many players will attempt to beat Boros in the event staged for the benefit of the USO and the National Golf Fund, Inc. However, last year, when National Golf Day was originated, more than 80,000 opposed the then Open Champion Ben Hogan, and approximately 14,000 defeated him with their handicaps.

Every dollar of each entry fee goes to the USO as the event is underwritten entirely by Life Magazine, and co-sponsored by the Professional Golfers Association.

So tremendously has the National Golf Day caught on that average golfers, as well as golfers of every strata, participate. Harvie Ward of Atlanta, for instance, who will be defending his British Amateur title on May 25, will be shooting his round at Liverpool and calling in the results. Crack Amateur Frank Stranahan plans to do likewise. America's leading pro, playing in the Colonial Invitation in Fort Worth, will compete against Boros, with the best tally of the third round gaining a special prize.

Oil Field Worker Jabbers Self Out Of Pan Into Fire

A 41-year-old Midland oil field worker talked himself out of the frying pan Wednesday afternoon but landed right in the middle of a fire.

The man was stopped on West Wall Street by Motorcycle Officer Jack Austin, who proceeded to write out a ticket for speeding.

The man protested vehemently, claimed he wasn't speeding and refused to sign a receipt for the traffic summons.

Within a few minutes, Austin observed the man's breath was even stronger than his protests. So he tore up the speeding ticket, brought the man to headquarters and booked him on a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

Senators Disagree On Air Force Cuts

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Eisenhower Administration's explanation of its decision to cut the Air Force goal from 143 to 120 wings and slash its funds five billion dollars left a sharp division in Senate ranks Thursday.

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.), chairman of an Appropriations subcommittee considering the new defense budget, said he believes Secretary of Defense Wilson "has made a good case for the new program."

"When we say 120 wings we mean 120," Wilson said.

Wilson and Deputy Secretary Roger M. Kyles stressed that even with the reduced appropriations request the Air Force will have 40 billion dollars to spend after July 1, counting unspent funds voted by previous Congresses.

Skies Clear In South But Midwest Reports Rainstorms, Winds

By The Associated Press

Skies were clear over the southern half of the country Thursday but thundershowers, with strong winds, swept over the Midwest Wednesday night and early Thursday.

The storm moved eastward across Wisconsin and Northern Illinois during the morning. Winds of 40 to 50 miles an hour were reported, with gusts of 65 mph at Madison, Wis. Rain was general over the Northern Plains eastward to the Lake Superior region.

Thundershowers along the South Atlantic Coast ended during the morning. Heavy rainfalls hit some areas, including Charleston, S. C., and Miami, Fla.

Rain also fell in the Pacific Northwest, with heavy falls along the Oregon coast. Generally fair weather was reported in other parts of the northern half of the country.

Abdullah King Flies To Egypt For Talks With Straying Wife

NEW YORK—(AP)—Sheppard Abdullah King took off for Cairo Thursday in quest of a second honeymoon with his exotic Egyptian dancing wife who says she wants to divorce him.

The Texas said he attributed her attitude to "nostalgia, homesickness or influence of friends."

King said he was sure he could effect a reconciliation but that if she insisted on a divorce he would not contest it.

Drummond Speaks To Midland Club On Austrian Duty

John Drummond, Jr., Midland radio man, who returned recently from Austria where he spent 10 months on a U. S. Army assignment, was the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Midland Rotary Club Thursday noon in Hotel Scharbauer.

"Austria—in the Country and People" was the subject of his talk. The speaker was introduced by James O. Simmons.

Drummond reviewed briefly the history of Austria before discussing conditions existing there at the present time. He outlined the occupation zones of the country, and discussed the living standards and attitudes of the people. He mentioned the religion, politics and industrial and commercial enterprises of Austria.

He said the Austrians seem to fear Russia and want no part of communism.

"The Austrians know what they do not want but they are not sure just what they do want," Drummond declared.

He showed slides of photographs he took during his stay in Austria.

Abdullah Asks Billy Graham 'Keep His Fingers Crossed'

HOUSTON—(AP)—Sheppard Abdullah King III sent another telegram to evangelist Billy Graham Wednesday.

When King married Egyptian belly dancer Samia Gamal last year, Graham predicted the marriage wouldn't last six months.

At the end of six months King wired Graham: "We're still drinking champagne together."

While King was preparing to leave for Cairo to try to talk Samia out of seeking a divorce, he received this telegram from Graham:

"I sincerely regret to learn of the unhappiness in your married life. May I remind you most seriously that true happiness for any individual or marriage is to be found only through faith in Jesus Christ. I shall be praying for you."

King replied: "Appreciate so much your prayers for me in my current marital discord. Keep your fingers crossed. I'm Cairo-bound."

Lesson Of Waco's Disaster Could Help If A-Bombs Fall

By SAM WOOD
Executive Editor, Waco News Tribune and Times Herald

WACO—(AP)—Waco's misfortune ultimately may be someone's salvation.

For the Waco tornado is the nearest thing to an atomic bomb disaster nature has planted in the United States since the world became infested with atomic jitters.

And federal civil defense officials who now are operating in Waco recognize the situation as a true test case of procedure for moving into an atomic bomb area.

Waco's tornado emergency action is the first time federal civil defense has moved into a community under Public Law 875—the federal formula that would be used in an area hit by an atomic bomb.

Somewhere in the archives of every city there is supposed to be a disaster plan. There were a few hazes ones here.

Hysterical Confusion

But in a broad sense Waco wrote its disaster rules amid falling bricks, in torrential rain, and in a state of almost hysterical confusion. We did emerge on top because of the tireless efforts of a small group of leaders who took a firm hold and never wavered. They made mistakes and admitted them—and made corrections.

The tornado did Waco a favor when it disrupted communications, including radio and newspaper for the first three hours after the tornado. Before the general public learned of the extent of the disaster, police and national guardsmen had at least a loose grip on the downtown traffic situation. By the time the pressure was on they tightened their hold and never released it. But it was not the result of pre-planting.

Immediate response of military men and heavy equipment for immediate use was the difference between a few short hours of confusion and a week of hysteria.

As severe as Waco's storm was, 196 business houses totally destroyed, 217 more unsafe or on the border line of safety, 1,500 to 2,000 homes damaged or destroyed, 114 killed, 300 injured—the destruction is only a drop in the bucket to what would have happened if a medium atomic bomb had been exploded directly over the R. T. Dennis store, a five story building that was demolished.

From Waco's misfortune, it is not unlikely that a textbook on rescue, relief and rehabilitation will be written.

Federal defense people moved into Waco to experiment in coordination, with the idea of completing their mission in the fastest time possible and with the greatest result. You might say they are experimenting, too. Even though we do not like to think about it, Waco's tornado recovery is a "dry run" for every municipality in the United States—and for Uncle Sam, too.

Extra M's Take First Pair Out Of National Spelling Bee

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The National Spelling Bee began Thursday with all but two of the 53 contestants surviving the first round.

Aita Jackson, 14, of Quail, Texas, and Patricia Hebert, 13, of Manchester, N. H., were the first to fall.

Aita spelled "community" with only one "m" and Patricia dropped an "m" out of immediate.

The Texas girl, as the first eliminated, received as a consolation prize a portable radio contributed by the Syracuse Herald-Journal.

Four contestants dropped out in the second round as the words became increasingly hard. The word "grizzly" knocked out Robert Burg-305 Spelled Right.

Last year the youthful spellers agreed with the dictionary on 505 words before Doris Ann Hull emerged the winner. Doris, from Hudson, N. C., is on hand to crown this year's winner.

Odds are the winner will be a girl—17 of the past champs have been, while only nine boys made the grade. A boy and a girl tied for first place in 1950, after 689 of the meanest words Webster ever thought up had been tossed at the contestants.

Competition is merciless in this national bee—one miss and you're out.

Prizes total $3,200 with the winner getting $500, a loving cup, a weekend in New York and a guest appearance on the Ed Sullivan television program.

er of Fort Worth. He spelled it "grizzly."

In the third round, five more contestants were eliminated, narrowing the field to 42.

Sheila Cline, 12, of Lubbock, missed when confronted with "bier." She inquired, "Is it beer?" It was not, and Sheila departed, weeping.

Thursdays contestants, most of whom have been sightseeing around the capital since Monday, were winnowed from local, state and sectional contests involving some five million youngsters almost all seventh and eighth grade pupils.

16 Leave Midland For Armed Forces

Sixteen men left Midland Thursday for Abilene, where they will be inducted into the armed forces of the United States.

The men were dispatched by Neil Roberts, clerk of the Midland draft board.

They included Amadore Mendoza, John T. Mickiff, James R. Solomon, Hugh R. Cooper, Robert S. Story, Anselmo Moreno, Jackie Cooper, James Young and Vance Smith, all of Midland; Raymond M. Torres of Garden City, and Lonnie O. Beegs, James Mosley, Jesse D. Bowman, Billy R. Dobson, Roy E. Applewhite and James P. Taylor, who had transferred here from other draft boards.

Midlander Assessed Fine In DWI Case

A six-man County Court jury Wednesday afternoon convicted Milo George Junk on a charge of driving while intoxicated and assessed a $125 fine.

The jury deliberated less than half an hour before returning the verdict to County Judge Clifford C. Keith.

Junk was arrested by state patrolmen early on the morning of January 4 on the Midland-Odessa highway.

Four Texas Railroads Ask Coach Fare Hikes

AUSTIN—(AP)—Four major railroad systems serving Texas asked the Railroad Commission Thursday for a 10 per cent basic passenger coach fare increase.

The commission set a hearing for June 4 at Austin. The 10 per cent boost on within-the-state rates would bring them to 2.75 cents a mile.

The railroads are the Missouri Pacific, St. Louis Southwestern, Southern Railway and T&P.

Churchill Hopes Way May Be Opened For Malenkov Talks

LONDON—(AP)—Prime Minister Churchill expressed hope Thursday his conference with President Eisenhower and Premier Mayer will pave the way to a meeting with Russia.

He told Parliament the Western three will get together soon after June in Bermuda, one of his favorite vacation spots.

The conference was called by Eisenhower, Churchill said, and added: "I have sought and obtained the queen's gracious permission to leave the United Kingdom for this purpose."

Amid cheers he told former Prime Minister Clement Attlee, who leads the opposition Labor Party, "My main hope is that we may take a definite step forward to a meeting of far graver import"—with Russia's Prime Minister Malenkov.

The British leader many times has gone on public record as favoring a small, intimate, face-to-face conference with the leaders of the Kremlin to insure world peace.

Former Wave Commander Plans Private Probe Of Trouble On UN Appointment

NEW YORK—Mrs. Mildred McAfee Horton says she plans a private investigation in an effort to learn to her own satisfaction why her appointment as U. S. delegate to the United Nations Economic and Social Commission did not go through.

ROK's Hurl Back Chinese Red Blows

SEOUL—Counterattacking South Korean infantrymen Thursday threw 150 to 200 Chinese Reds off an eastern front ridge after 12 hours of close-quarter seesaw fighting.

The Chinese swarmed up the slopes and seized the western end of the 300-yard-long ridge shortly before midnight.

Stubborn ROK soldiers clung to the eastern end. The Reds threw back South Korean counter-attacks. But ROK reinforcements were thrown into the battle before dawn and after six hours of fierce fighting the Reds called it quits, the Eighth Army said.

Elsewhere along the 150-mile battlefield the Reds probed Allied lines and patrol skirmishes flared between the lines.

Cloudy skies and limited aerial action to fighter-bomber strikes along the front and troop and supply areas just behind the Red lines.

Allied Sabre jets stayed on the ground.

Mrs. Horton, wartime commander of the Waves and former president of Wellesley College, revealed her plan to newsmen Wednesday as she arrived by plane from a lecture at Cleveland.

"I am very unhappy about the whole thing," she said, "and do not want any fuss made . . . I want privately to follow this up and find out what it is all about. I don't know, I may never get the information."

Although Mrs. Horton had been named to the UN commission, her place was taken by James Wadsworth, alternate U. S. delegate to the UN, when the commission met May 4.

The State Department and the FBI issued statements on the case in Washington.

Explanation Differ

The FBI statement apparently contradicted the reason for the shift given to Mrs. Horton and the press by Miss Bertha Adkins, assistant chairman of the Republican National Committee.

Siamese Twin Boys Live Only 33 Hours

INVERNESS, NOVA SCOTIA—The Siamese twin boys born here Tuesday died Wednesday night about 33 hours after birth.

Hospital officials said the death of the babies, whose breast bones were joined, was due to the fact the 19-year-old mother, Mrs. Max Wyrwas, was in a toxic condition before their birth. She was reported in good condition Wednesday night.

The babies earlier Wednesday had appeared in good health.

Speaker Named

BARSTOW—Dr. Bryan Wildenthal, president of Sul Ross College, Alpine, will speak May 21 at Barstow High School commencement exercises.

Miss Adkins said Mrs. Horton's appointment had been delayed until too late for the commission meeting—because of the time required by the FBI to investigate her, as it investigates all such appointments. The investigation process was slowed down all along the line, Miss Adkins said.

The FBI, denying it was to blame for any delay, said the Horton investigation was completed and turned over to the State Department on April 16, which was two and one-half weeks before the UN commission met.

No Question Of Loyalty

The State Department confirmed that the FBI completed its investigation speedily. After the FBI finished the inquiry, State Department officials said, the department had to evaluate the FBI information. This evaluation, they added, could not have been completed soon enough for Senate action prior to May 4 on Mrs. Horton's appointment.

The State Department officials declined to say what factors, if any, prevented quick action on the evaluation. They also said they considered the matter closed, in view of the fact the UN commission meeting now has ended.

According to Mrs. Horton, the State Department had assured her that "there was no question of my personal loyalty." Declining to say who had proposed her for the UN post, she declared: "I won't say because there might be trouble for him if he gets involved."

102-YEAR-OLD TEXAN DIES

Slightly more than 88 of every 100 farms in the United States now have electric power. Only 10.9 percent of farms had electric power in 1935.

NEW OIL INDUSTRY TOOLS—

Fishpole Gadget, Yammering Rock-Killer Shown At Tulsa

TULSA—(AP)—A tattle-tale fishpole and a yammering rock-killer are two brand new tools of the oil industry.

The fishpole is a gauge telling how much water has collected at the bottom of a storage tank of crude oil. Pipe line companies want to pay for only the oil, not any water which has settled out of the oil or collected inside the tank.

The fishpole gives a quick answer, electrically. It has a wooden handle, a reel of measuring tape, and a little dial.

A six-inch-long metal sinker hangs from the measuring tape. Its point is made of magnesium. The sinker is reeled out like a pump bob into the tank.

Nothing happens while it's sinking through oil. As soon as it touches water, the magnesium point sets up a tiny electrical current, which registers on the dial of the fishpole. The operator then reads off how many feet and inches of tape measure have spun off the reel.

It keeps dropping the sinker until it touches the bottom of the tank. That cuts off the current, and he takes another tape measure reading to learn how many feet or inches of water the sinker passed through.

The gauge, shown at the International Petroleum Exposition, is made by the Holl Engineering Company, under license from Phillips Petroleum.

It also might be adapted to tell an airplane pilot how much useless water he has in gasoline tanks, so he wouldn't misjudge his fuel supply.

The new rock drill will persuade any huge boulder or shelf of rock to get out of the way for the laying of a pipe line.

It is a rig with four drill points, all suspended by a crane from the side of a tractor. It works entirely on compressed air.

Air drives two motors which swing the drills outward from the tractor, or point them at angles like a thousand sick calves.

Air drives the hammering drills which poke four-inch holes five to six feet into the rock, four holes at a time. Dynamite is stuck into the holes, and the rock goes by-bye.

Really a multiple jack-hammer, the drill is made by LeRoI Company of Cleveland.

Silver Dollars Clink Merrily In Nevada As High-Priced Talent Lures Gamblers

By BOB THOMAS
 LAS VEGAS, NEV. — This must be what the gold rush was like. You walk into any resort hotel at two o'clock in the morning, and the joint is jumping. The casino is noisy with the clink of silver dollars, the shouts of the lucky players and the moans of the losers.

Each weekend an estimated 25,000 to 30,000 citizens, the majority from booming Southern California, crowd into this glittering town, doubling its population. The pleasure seekers or suckers—according to which view you take—sleep in hotels, motels or their own cars. Some don't sleep at all. They stand at the tables all night, transfixed by the frolicking dice.

Skills For Shillings
 As in the gold rush days, entertainment is an important commodity in the gambling halls. Stars of Broadway and Hollywood serve as the highest paid shills in the world. Shill: a person hired to stimulate gambling.

You may have heard of some of the fantastic figures paid to entertainers by the Las Vegas hotels. Some are inflated by a press agent's pipe dream; others are fantastically true. Insiders here believe that the $25,000 weekly figure announced for Betty Hutton is close to reality.

"She might be worth that," said one operator. "But only she and a few others would be. The rest get around a third of her figure, which is an excellent salary for a week's work of an hour or two a night."

Price Of Profit
 Others are angry at the publishing of such figures. "When you announce that you're paying Betty Hutton 25 G's," said one talent buyer, "how are you going to hire Tony Martin for what you paid him last time?"

"Prices are getting out of hand. When you hire a star for 25 G's, your whole show will run around $40,000. You can't hope to show a profit."

But most of the others don't seem to worry. They keep on hitting the best names available at the highest prices necessary. They hope that the gambling tables will assume any loss on the night clubs, and they generally do.

Who's On First
 Here's an example of the kind of shows that play here. Current headliners are Eddy Arnold at the Sahara, Jane Powell, Desert Inn, Joe E. Lewis, El Rancho Vegas, John Payne and Lou Holtz, Flamingo, Rex Allen and Sons of the Pioneers, Thunderbird, Liberace and Phil Foster, Last Frontier, Pete Lind Hayes and Mary Healy Sands.

But that isn't all. Each place has two or three other top-flight acts, plus eight to a dozen girls, most of whom could adorn any magazine cover.

"Booking talent is a headache," said one show producer. "You not only have to fight the other places in getting the best talent; you also have to find talent that will stimulate betting."

Spike For Diners
 The best attractions for the heavy gamblers are old-time nitery stars like Joe E. Lewis and Sophie Tucker. Oddly enough, Bob Crosby's engagement was a stimulus to the tables; the explanation was that the Crosbys have many well-heeled friends. Spike Jones and others who attract the family trade are great for dining room business—but the patrons drift out through the casino like a sieve.

A surprise hit at the Sahara was Lauritz Melchior and his young singers, said to be the best show ever in Las Vegas. Van Johnson was also a big draw at the Sands.

Mechanic Bitten By Best Friend

Ed Harwell of 708 Andrews Highway suffered a minor injury last week when he was bitten by his best friend. Harwell is a lawnmower mechanic and a darned good one. His best friend is a lawnmower, and rightly so, because he earns his living repairing them. Who could ask for a better friend than one who contributes a large portion to your upkeep?

Ed works on the things, and that is how he got bit. He rolled the flesh of his thumb between the chain that drives the machine, and the sprocket that drives the chain. One or more of the teeth on the sprocket bit him. Seems to us it ought to make news. "Machine Bites Man," or something.

All of which leaves us a good opening to tell you that your lawnmower can be your best friend during these hot days, if it is in good repair and sharp. "Could be your worst enemy, too, if it doesn't run properly. If you have to fuss and fume with a balky mower, if your machine isn't right up to snuff, then you ought to call the store, and we'll call Ed, and Ed will call your mower—his best friend.

Youth Center Chatter

By NANCY LOU KLINGER

Guess what? There are only four and one-half school days left this year! Are you excited? We are!

Our sympathy goes to Grace Boles and Sadie Nugent for being so sun-burned. They went to Balmorhea Sunday and stayed out in the sun just about a day too long. They said they had a good time anyway.

San Jacinto Junior High had its graduation program last Friday night in the school auditorium. Students reviewed what had happened the last year. Everyone enjoyed it very much. Then Saturday, they had a dance in the gym.

All of the seniors who went on the annual trip to Carlsbad, N. M., had more fun than a barrel of monkeys. Everyone had more fun. We arrived there about 9:30 (their time), went right on in the caverns. Everyone but about ten went through them. We were out by about 1:30. From there we went to the recreation park, where we spent the rest of our time. Seems as though Lanetta enjoyed the motor boat ride more than anything else. All of the seniors ate in the park that afternoon. Many played miniature golf, went swimming, motor boat riding, or went motor scooter riding in the water. We pulled out about 8 p.m.

Bus Troubles, Excitement

One bus, on the way home, caught on fire (not serious though). Jimmy Counts gave his assistance and directed the traffic on the bus. No one was panicky. We sat there for about 45 minutes. Then two buses came and we doubled up. When we got to Peos there was supposed to be another bus but there wasn't. So we rode on to Monahans and finally there was a bus. About 2:45 a.m. we arrived back in Midland. Some were a little tired but all have recovered now. The teachers who went were Miss Gordon, Coach Patterson, Mr. Gravelle, and Miss Donnell.

Roy Kimey has a rather amusing picture with him. It is his home room picture. The only thing about it is that it was his first grade home room. It is a hilarious picture. Be sure and see it if you can.

The seniors practiced for the coming ceremonies for the first time Tuesday. Lavonne Clark is playing the organ for the events. Events they are at that!!!

The picture show this week will be Saturday night. We do not know the name of the show, but Myrt promises it to be good. It will start at 8 p.m. Yes, the air conditioner will be on.

Baccalaureate Service

Baccalaureate services will be held at 8 p.m. Sunday in the Midland High School Auditorium.

The Cataloo's were issued last Thursday. To those of you who don't know what a Cataloo is, it is our annual or year book. Everyone seemed to be pleased with them.

Monday night, the MHS Student Council held its annual Cataloo singing party in the gym. It was jammed packed with busy bodies signing away on annuals. The council sold Cokes and gave away cookies.

Barbara Whitson gave an Open House last Sunday. About sixty seniors attended. The senior trip was discussed as well as the coming affairs.

Carla Mae Lea gave an annual singing party for about 15 seniors on the terrace of her home Tuesday.

Frances Inman gave an annual singing party Monday night in her home. Seems as though there was a "commotion" of some sort when her younger brother Tom came home. People started asking him questions of all kinds.

King and Queen and runners-up of the Youth Center were recognized Saturday night. The runners-up are Jenna Murray and John McGuigan.

The King is Tommy Johnson and the Queen is Mary Jane Miller. They were presented with a can of peanuts and a piece of leather luggage. The runners-up were presented with a sack of peanuts to remind them what they had been through.

"Slumberless" Party

Patay Yeager had a slumberless party the night before the Senior Trip. There were about 15 sleepy girls attending. Everyone had a wonderful time.

Dick Spencer had a dinner-dance out at the Ranchland Hill Country Club Wednesday night.

The Junior-Senior Banquet will be held Friday night. It is for Junior and Seniors only.

The annual Band Banquet was held Wednesday. Members seemed to enjoy the program. The seniors gave a dance afterwards at the Midland Country Club.

Everyone is excited about the Midland Rodeo, scheduled June 3-7, and most everyone will attend every performance.

Some MHSers will attend the Andrews School Rodeo this weekend, and several students even will participate.

Class Day is scheduled Wednesday, starting at 2 p.m. It will be held in the auditorium.

Groom! Groom! Final tests will be held Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The "Hodge Podge" will be held Friday for the Sophomores, and Freshman. Members of these two classes only will be admitted. It will kick off about 8 p.m.

Commencement will be a week from today, Thursday. That is the happy day for all of us.

Until next Thursday and the diploma, then—so long!

IRONING AID

You can undo the ironing job you've completed by carefully laying down the finished garment. Since there is bound to be a small amount of moisture left in the garment, hang it up to finish drying and thus prevent creases and wrinkles.

Eye Cream Slides Over Your Skin; No Bruising Massage Is Needed

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

This girl gets best results by applying eye cream with gentle circular motion across upper lid to temple and under eye toward nose.

A good eye cream, faithfully and properly used, can help you to discourage deep lines in that thin-skinned area.

One such cream, made by a well-known cosmetic firm, is of a consistency that will slide over the eye area without the slightest finger pressure.

This cream is said to be formulated with a softening, smoothing compound bearing a close affinity to the human skin. No efforts were spared in this firm's laboratories to develop this compound as a substance which it believes to be far superior to natural lanolin.

When applying an eye cream, it's highly important that you exert no pressure. There is danger of dragging down the flesh or pulling it out of shape, since there is no bone beneath the lid to support it. So, use the most delicate touch possible.

Place two fingers at the inner corner of the eye and feather-stroke across the lid until you feel the bone. Don't stop the motion but continue it, ever so gently, around the lower lid until you are back at the place you started from.

Such light, barely-touching massages with a good eye cream are very soothing as well as helpful in smoothing out lines. But don't expect "character" or "expression" lines, etched in by smiles, laughs and facial movements, to be erased by such treatment.

Laugh lines, as they tend to be upward, aren't unattractive. You may avoid other, less attractive "character" lines by not pulling your face about too much.

CLEAN GARBAGE PAILS

Garbage pails can be kept sanitary by weekly washings with two tablespoons of washing soda added to the water. Keep pail lined at all times and air it in the sun regularly.

Careless use of electrical appliances accounted for 80 per cent of the barn area fires at race tracks during the past 15 months, according to a study made by Thoroughbred Racing Protective Bureau.

UPSIDE-DOWN PICKLE LOAF bears the distinctive mark of German cookery in its rich use of sweet pickle relish and gherkins.

Tang Of Pickles Adds Variety To Cookery

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Pickles—all kinds—are part of the American menu. But Americans of German descent seem to use them even more frequently than most of us. At least that's the way it seemed to me recently when I ate my way through Wisconsin, noted for its many fine German foods.

Here are two ideas I picked up there, each rich with the tang of pickles:

Upside-Down Pickle Meat Loaf
(Makes 4-6 servings)

One-half cup fine dry bread crumbs, 1/2 cup milk, 1 pound ground beef chuck, 1/2 pound lean pork shoulder (ground), 1/4 cup sweet pickle relish, 1 tablespoon horseradish, 1 tablespoon prepared mustard, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 teaspoon salt, dash Tabasco, 2 1/2 tablespoons chopped parsley, 1 egg (slightly beaten), 1/2 cup sliced sweet gherkins.

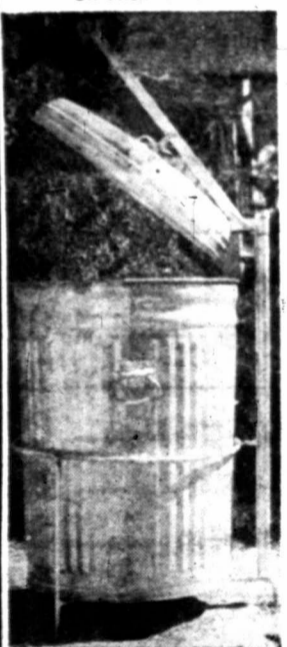

Soak bread crumbs in milk. In a large bowl, combine remaining ingredients except sliced gherkins. Add bread crumb mixture and mix well. Arrange sweet gherkin slices over bottom of a greased 8x5x3-inch loaf pan. Place meat mixture over gherkins. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 1 hour and 30 minutes or until done.

Braised Liver Creole
(Makes 4-6 servings)

Two tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 pound sliced beef liver, 2 tablespoons all-purpose flour, 1 large onion (sliced), 1 medium-sized green pepper (chopped), 1 No. 2 can tomatoes, 1/2 cup sliced dill pickles, 1/3 cup chopped parsley, 1/2 cups sliced carrots, 2 teaspoons salt.

In a heavy skillet, melt butter or margarine. Dredge liver with flour. Brown liver with onion and green

Asks Husbands To Check Qualities Wives Need Most

I received this letter from a thoughtful man:

"Recently I read an article of yours under the heading, 'Try To Hold a Man? What For? From the vantage point of 30 years of married life, all of them spent with the same wife, your article makes much more sense than many others seem to. I congratulate you.

"But there is still much to be said. One might gather from the cosmetic and style advertisements that a wife had only to keep her figure slim, her hands soft, her hair shining, and her fragrance sweet. That if she takes care of such things her husband will continue to adore her.

"There are many other things about a wife which contribute to her husband's well being and insure his loyalty. Indeed, they are much more important than glamor. Why not give them a little publicity? You might get a few couples out of the divorce courts in this way.

"If you do not know what these things are just ask any man who has found one wife adequate for a period between 10 and 50 years."

All right, let's ask the men. What is more important in a wife than beauty? What qualities are most important than looks and last longer?

Is a good disposition one of those important qualities? And what about a sense of humor? Is it important that she be a good housekeeper?

Does intelligence count much? Is it important for her to be thrifty?

Is it better for her to have her own interests, or to make her family her life?

Should she be the family manager, or play a less-dominant role? You husbands who are able to speak with authority because you have been happy with one woman for at least 10 years should give us your ideas and opinions. They'll be published.

Safeguard hands when picking up tiny bits of broken glass. A bar of damp soap will pick them up without danger to you. The side of the soap with the glass in it can be cut off.

Girl Engineer From Texas Heads Crew In New England

NEW BEDFORD, MASS. —(AP)—A tall girl engineer from Texas is making her mark here.

Elsie Harmon specializes in "printed wiring." No wire is involved. The electrical current follows a thin coating of metal imprinted on a surface much as the typewriter key leaves a thin coating of ink on a page.

The idea of printed wiring is not new, but the Texas girl engineer and chemist has developed some new techniques. She supervises the work of about 20 engineers at Aerovox Corporation here, a supplier of radio and electronic manufacturers.

Dosen's Expect Favors
"The hardest thing to do is to convince a man you can do a job as well as he can," says Miss Harmon. "You can't bully your way or expect favors because of your sex. Once you've convinced men you can stand on your own feet, they'll accept you as one of them."

How she became "one of them" is principally a story of long study and perseverance. After winning both her bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Texas, she taught chemistry, physics and biology in high schools, Brownsville, Texas Junior College, North Texas State College and the University of Texas.

If Men Can Cook
She's especially proud of one of her pupils, her sister, Georgianna. Georgianna was head physical therapist during a polio outbreak in Houston last year. She now teaches at Stanford University, Calif. Elsie also has a brother, H. S. Harmon, a former professional football player with the Chicago Cardinals who now is employed by Standard Oil at Cheyenne, Wyo. Her father, a retired engineer, is George H. Harmon of Austin.

Elsie worked with the U. S. Bureau of Standards as a materials engineer, the Navy's aircraft electrical division, and with the War Department's Ordnance Department before coming to Aerovox.

Looking for advice? Well, don't settle for amateurs.

Take your problems to someone who has had real honest-to-goodness down-to-earth experiences that parallel your own — somebody like Mom.

Most kids consider their mothers old-fashioned. But Mom has had her own adventures, not so long ago.

She's the girl who dated yesterday, and could write an advice-to-the-lovelorn column today . . .

Who can tell you if you are really in love . . .

When it is best to get married. And how much it costs to rear a family.

You've heard Mom say perhaps, "I wish I could live my life over again, knowing what I know today." And she means it, too. She knows a lot of the answers now. So why not let her pass them on to you?

Some day when you think Johnny is being pretty difficult—dating other girls instead of going steady with you — just discuss him with Mom.

She'll explain that you are pretty fortunate in having Johnny reject you at times. It gives you a chance to date other boys (even if you aren't in the mood), to keep in circulation in case Johnny really flips the coop and never calls you again, and perhaps even to find a new love. Romance plays funny tricks during the puppy-love stage, and that first important crush often turns out to be a complete dud.

Then there will come the time when Johnny will take a shine to that new girl at the school dance. This may put you in a pretty miserable frame of mind, fearing that you will lose your beau. Your Mom will analyze that one in simple terms: Men like to be conquerors and in inflates their ego to make a hit with a pretty new girl. If the girl responds too quickly, they'll drop her in a hurry. The best thing for you to do is sit tight and be pleasant about it. Mom will say, "You might nudge his vanity slightly at a time like this by saying something like 'you sure make a hit with pretty girls.' This will build him up to the skies, so even the new girl's come-hither smiles will leave him cold next time.

And remember the other day when Johnny called a half-hour late, because he couldn't resist staying for that extra inning or two at the ball game? You were pretty mean and aloof. Well, Mom probably would have advised you to agree with him that it would have been ridiculous to walk out on his team at the crucial moment. And in addition she'd suggest that you inquire anxiously as to the outcome of the game.

Treat him more and more as one of the boys, but one of your favorite boys if you want to keep him happy, would be Mom's advice too. He'll be intrigued by the fact that you date others, although naturally he'll consider himself Number 1 man — in typical male fashion.

Perk up their appetites . . . pamper their tastes! Score a smash hit at every meal . . . with top quality foods at money-saving prices!

Lake Whitney Seen As State's Busiest Fishing Spot Soon

HILLSBORO—The Army Corps of Engineers estimate a million and a half fishermen and vacationers will visit Lake Whitney this year.

If improvements now being planned are completed by summer, the figure could be higher.

The Hill County Commissioners' Court hopes to complete initial improvements on its designated 425 acres in Lofers Bend before summer arrives. These country park plans include access roads, a bathing beach with dressing facilities, boat launching or rental facilities, picnic tables, and amusement facilities. The park will accommodate hundreds of anglers and vacationers when completed.

Work On Concessions

The Fort Worth office, Corps of Engineers, has completed drafts of bid notices and contracts for concessions at three new park areas on the lake, and is now waiting approval from Washington before advertising them. The concessions will be at Cedar Creek on the Hill County side, and at Powelldale Park and Kimball Park on the Bosque County side.

'Best In State'

A. W. Lewis, Dallas district officer of the Game and Fish Commission, told the Hill County Hunting and Fishing Club he considered Lake Whitney potentially the best fishing lake in the state. He suggested the Hill club and those of the two other counties facing Lake Whitney seek a special law from the legislature to provide for the most effective propagation and management.

If, according to concessionaires and others, the money spent by the average visitor totals five dollars up and half or more is spent in Hill County, then the county this year will enjoy a new income of almost four million dollars.

Rolled Oats Provide Nutrition For Desserts

By GAYNOR MADDOX

NEE Food and Markets Editor in Lincolnwood, Ill., Mrs. George Thorp is noted for her family-type desserts. Rhubarb-strawberry crisp is a favorite of her two boys.

Mrs. Thorp, formerly a hospital dietitian, says the use of rolled oats in fruit desserts adds low-cost protein, iron and B vitamins, turning delicious sweet dishes into good sources of nutrition.

Rhubarb-Strawberry Crisp (Makes 6 servings)

Filling—Two cups fresh rhubarb, cut in 1-inch pieces, 2 cups fresh strawberries, 2 tablespoons enriched flour, 1 1/4 cup sugar.

Topping—One cup rolled oats (quick or old-fashioned, uncooked), 1 1/2 cup brown sugar, 1/4 cup sifted enriched flour, 1/3 cup melted butter or margarine.

For the filling—Place fruit in greased deep-dish pie plate. Mix together flour and sugar and sprinkle over fruit.

For the topping—Combine dry ingredients; add melted butter, mixing until crumbly. Sprinkle crumbs over fruit. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for about 40 minutes. Serve hot or cold, plain or with whipped cream.

Easy Crust Fruit Pie (Makes 6 servings)

One-half cup sifted enriched flour, 1 1/2 cups rolled oats (quick or old-fashioned, uncooked), 2/3 cup brown sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/2 cup melted butter, margarine or other fat, 2 1/2 cups sweetened peaches, apples or apricots, fresh or cooked.

Combine dry ingredients; add melted butter or other fat, mixing thoroughly. Pack all but 1 cup of this mixture firmly in the bottom and on sides of a pie plate. Arrange sliced fruit on top; cover with remaining crumb mixture. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 30 minutes or until brown. Serve warm or cold, plain or with cream.

Rhubarb-Strawberry Crisp combines fresh fruit and nutrition-rich rolled oats with or without whipped cream topping.

Douglas DC-7 Features High Speed, Advanced Safety

The new four-engine Douglas DC-7 transport, described as the fastest piston-driven air liner in the world and using all the service-proven engineering and design features of the DC-6 series plus advanced developments, made its maiden flight this week in Santa Monica, Calif.

The plane is first of a fleet of 25 new flagships ordered by American Airlines and scheduled to be placed in service later this year. It bears a strong resemblance to the DC-6 series now used by American Airlines, but is more than eight feet longer and features a six-seat lounge in the rear of the cabin, and will seat 60 passengers.

The DC-7 has a top speed of 410 miles per hour, derived from its four Wright R-3350 Turbo-Compound engines delivering 13,000 take-off horsepower. Superior range of 4,420 miles and a cruising speed of 365 miles an hour will enable the craft to fly trans-continental and trans-oceanic schedules faster than existing commercial aircraft powered either by piston or jet engines, American Airlines officials point out.

Through the turbo-compound system, each engine utilizes the normal wasted energy of exhaust gases to operate three auxiliary turbines geared back to the crank shaft. This supplementary device provides additional horsepower without a corresponding expenditure of fuel. The engines drive Hamilton-Standard four-bladed propellers measuring 13 and one half feet in diameter. Other major features of the new plane are the use of high-strength, heat-resistant titanium for 90 per cent of the engine nacelles and for engine firewalls, and use of speed brakes.

This marks the first time the speed brake has been used in any commercial airliner. A pilot encountering heavy turbulence will be able to decelerate quickly by dropping his main landing gear. Speed brakes also will permit flying over weather for longer periods because the pilot will be able to make a steeper descent at his destination without exceeding normal speed.

Also included in the advanced DC-7 are complete cabin pressure control, air conditioning, 5,512-gallon fuel capacity, and an overall length of 108 feet and 11 inches.

LAUNDRY SLIP

Before laundering slip covers and draperies, vacuum, brush or shake off the loose dust and soil. Scrub soiled edges and spots with soapy brush and pre-soak several minutes before putting into the machine. Allow plenty of warm suds. If washing by hand, you can activate the suds with a rubber plunger. These articles should be dried in the shade over parallel lines.

When storing woollens in trunk or chest, about a pound of antimoth crystals will be needed for scattering around.

New Liquid Kills Roaches and Ants

Scientists Discover Easy Way to Kill Crawling Insects
ROACHES and ants are the most difficult household pests to control and they can be brought into the home at any time. Science has recently discovered a colorless brush-on insecticide that not only kills, but controls crawling pests. It is called Johnston's NO-ROACH.

Developed after years of research, NO-ROACH is an invisible, colorless, stainless liquid, so powerful that one application remains effective for months. Best of all, NO-ROACH may be brushed on, without having to move your pots and pans. It is not a contaminating spray or messy powder.

Daring Doctors In Air Force Report Flaws Of Gravity Suit

By RENNIE TAYLOR
AP Science Writer

LOS ANGELES — A daring experiment on the hearts of five young Air Force doctors has opened the way for development of a new, more comfortable kind of gravity suit to prevent pilot blackouts.

The tests, conducted by Capt. Owen L. Slaughter, now of Evansville, Ind., were reported to the closing meeting of the Aero Medical Association here.

Two long, flexible tubes called catheters were inserted through blood vessels in the neck and into the heart of each physician under test. This was done to measure the exact blood pressure in the heart while the lower halves of their bodies were being compressed as in a gravity or blackout suit.

Catheters are used frequently on one side or the other of the heart but never before have they been used simultaneously on both sides, Dr. Slaughter said. The one-sided operation is only slightly dangerous but the hazard is increased many fold when both sides are catheterized. However, no bad effects appeared, Dr. Slaughter reported.

Flight surgeons long had believed that tight-squeezing gravity suits worked by preventing the blood from crowding into the lower part of the body during high speed dives or turns, leaving little or none in the head and causing momentary unconsciousness.

The tests showed, Dr. Slaughter said, that the gravity suit does not work that way. Instead it causes the arteries in this and lower abdomen to increase their resistance to blood flow. This causes increased blood pressure in the upper part of the body and makes it easier for the heart to pump blood to the brain, he reported.

To Redesign Suits

As a result, Dr. Slaughter said he would suggest that gravity suits be redesigned specifically with the lower part of the body, as a first aid worker might do in holding the "pressure points" to stop hemorrhage.

It should not be necessary to make suits that will compress the flesh, he said.

Dr. Slaughter recently completed his tour of Air Force duty and returned to private practice.

NARY A WIFE IN 386 YEARS

DUBLIN, IRELAND — The five Burke brothers — total ages 386 years — believe men can be happy if they just stick together and keep away from women.

James, 72, Thomas, 73, Michael, 77, John, 80, and Pat, 82, all live together in a single-story thatched cottage at Killeen, County Clare.

"All for each and each for all" is the motto that governs their lives. They do all their housework, even baking their own bread.

"Don't think we're women-haters," said Pat. "Just want to do our own business in our own way."

The MATURE PARENT

Nervous Upset, Not Divorce Decree, Is What Hurts Child

A certain psychiatrist fell for the propaganda which promotes the idea that children of legal divorce have to be disturbed children.

Trained in respect for realities, she made a point of checking back on the records of some 1,000 disturbed children with whom she had been professionally involved. To her amazement, she discovered that surprisingly few of their parents had been legally divorced. But they had been what the psychiatrist, Dr. J. Louise Despert, calls "emotionally divorced."

So in her new book, "Children of Divorce," Dr. Despert reverses the propaganda in the following words: "It is not divorce, but the emotional situation in a home, with or without divorce, that is the determining factor in a child's adjustment."

This is an encouraging statement for thousands of divorced parents who retain the idea that their development as well as Jimmy's adjustment by clinging to guilt and self-contempt for their marital failure.

So long as Jimmy's divorced parents retain the idea that their divorce can destroy him, they are going to be apologetic and defensive toward him for getting it. Whereas, the fact is Jimmy cares little about marriage licenses or divorce decrees. What scares Jimmy in all situations is that two people whom he needs to trust permit fear, contempt and anger to direct their attitudes and responses to each other.

For divorced parents to accept the propaganda that their decree threatens Jimmy with emotional disaster weakens their recuperative power at the very time they need it. To their personal hurt is added terror for Jimmy. "You take your freedom," says the propaganda, "at the cost of Jimmy's happiness."

Freedom from fear, contempt and anger is a spiritual right. Sometimes, we have not been wise enough to be able to claim it in the environment of someone who feels such emotions toward us. We have had to physically remove ourselves in order to deal more efficiently with our own fear, contempt and anger.

This is failure. We dare not delude ourselves about that. However, we dare not hate ourselves for it either. If we do, we just support resentment for the person who seems to have been responsible for it.

ELIZABETH the Queen

By Marion Crawford
Princess Elizabeth in Her Majesty's

XIV IN my time at the Palace, Princess Elizabeth's secretary was Mr. John Colville, known to everyone as Jock. He is a brilliant young man who was on Winston Churchill's staff during the early part of the war, before he insisted on joining the RAF.

Each day Jock would drive to the Palace from his mother's charming little house in Mulberry Walk, Chelsea, and go through the Princess's correspondence.

He had an office just along the passage from the Princess's rooms, to which he would be summoned when she was ready to read her letters.

It is a popular misconception that Royalty are surrounded by Advisers—men appointed with the sole object of guiding them through all the moves of their lives.

This is not so. The Royal Family, at least, have very firm ideas of their own about what they are going to do. But naturally they do depend on their secretaries to advise them about things outside their experience.

In this way Princess Elizabeth will go through the many, many requests she gets—to open this bazaar, or name that ship—and pick the ones she thinks most worthy out of a thousand-and-one.

It is her secretary's job to make sure that she does not pick the one which for some reason might start one of those wrangles which occur when people of prejudice feel they have been slighted.

For example, Royalty have to be careful what connection they have with religious organizations outside the Church of England of which the King is officially the temporal head.

It is here that the secretary's knowledge is so valuable. He can say, "Ma'am, I think it would be better to refuse that offer. If you accept, there might be some hard feelings among so and so..."

In this respect only can the secretary be called an adviser. I remember feeling very sorry for both Jock and "Boy" Browning when they were publicly taken to task by a certain newspaper for "allowing" Princess Elizabeth to make too many engagements so soon after the birth of Princess Anne.

I sympathize with the secretary and the Comptroller because Queen Elizabeth is a reasonable person in all save one direction: she will not listen to pleas to spare herself.

REMEMBER once when Princess Elizabeth was still in her teens she woke one day feeling very ill indeed. But it was all I could do to persuade her to stay in bed.

"I must not take the easy way out, Crawfie," she kept insisting, and this while she had a temperature which would have put most people out of action for two or three days.

This is a fair example of what her secretary and Comptroller have to deal with. Jock came to me one day to complain: "Crawfie, I wish you'd speak to the Princess. She will take on such an enormous program. She won't listen to me when I tell her she is working too hard. She just says, 'Jock, I can't disappoint all those people.'"

I told him there was little I could do. I always found Princess Elizabeth most amenable if I were appealing to her on behalf of someone else. But if I approached her about herself, she would brush my protests aside.

"I've just got to do it, Crawfie," she would say. "After all, it's my job."

"Crawfie," Princess Elizabeth said to me just before she left to inspect the Grenadier Guards whose Commander in Chief she had just become at the age of 18. "I've got such a fluttering feeling inside."

But she never let her "nerves" affect her performance.

West opened the seven of hearts and Ripstra, playing the South hand, won the first trick with the ace. He then led the eight of spades from his hand very casually, and just as casually let it ride for a finesse. His next step was to lead the three of clubs from his hand and play the deuce of clubs from dummy. East won with the seven of clubs much to his amazement!

East returned to hearts, and declarer ruffed the third round, only to be overruled by West's queen. When West then led another club hopefully, Ripstra was in position to win with the king of clubs, draw both remaining trumps with the ace, and then cash the ace of clubs and ruff his last club with dummy's last trump. In this way, the contract was easily made.

The play of both black suits may seem peculiar, but it was a demonstration of sound technique. If "Rip" had led the jack of spades for the first trump finesse, West would have covered with the queen. If dummy won and returned a trump, West could lead a third round of trumps to prevent dummy from ruffing a club.

The idea of ducking the first round of clubs was to make it possible for declarer to draw a second round of trumps, then cash his top club, and finally ruff his last club with dummy's last trump.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

of whom bid their cards with great enthusiasm but manage to play skillfully enough to make their ambitious contracts.

As I write this description of the Midwest experts I think especially of J. G. Ripstra, of Wichita, who surely will welcome all the tournament players to his home town and then sit at down at the bridge table and try to talk them out of everything that isn't nailed down.

Today's hand shows "Rip" at the careful best in a recent tournament. Some players would be satisfied with a part score on the South hand. Many experts would bid only three spades in order to give North a chance to get out from under. Rip's style is to barge right into game—and then find a way to make it.

West opened the seven of hearts and Ripstra, playing the South hand, won the first trick with the ace. He then led the eight of spades from his hand very casually, and just as casually let it ride for a finesse. His next step was to lead the three of clubs from his hand and play the deuce of clubs from dummy. East won with the seven of clubs much to his amazement!

East returned to hearts, and declarer ruffed the third round, only to be overruled by West's queen. You, South, hold: Spades J-9-7-3, Hearts Q-5-2, Diamonds 9-3-2, Clubs K-Q-4. What do you do?
A—Pass. With your flat distribution you are perfectly willing to defend against the three diamond contract. You will probably collect a sizable profit, but you might easily be unable to make any contract of your own.

Widespread Rains Not Enough To Make Many Farmers Happy

AUSTIN—(AP)—Widespread rains last week didn't satisfy many Texas farmers.

In the east, they anxiously waited to get back to field work and watched soil reach the super-saturation point. Rainfall elsewhere was like one drop in a dry bucket.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture, in its May 12-18 summary, reported delay in cotton planting in northern and eastern areas. Some replanting was necessary.

A few spots in Northwest Texas benefited, but rain there was too little and too late to save much wheat. Earlier West Central Texas was expected to see combining as soon as fields dry.

The rain did little good in vegetable fields, and the outlook was still gloomy there. About the only crops helped were Lower Rio Grande Valley late tomatoes, Coastal Bend late cucumbers and Fairburns watermelons.

East Texas tomatoes suffered. Panhandle Summer potatoes were still recovering will from early May freeze damage.

Cattle were gaining rapidly in the eastern third of the state, due to plentiful range and pasture feed. Light rains boosted grass on the rolling plains. Many ranches are putting out concentrated feed in some critically dry west, northwest and Valley areas.

French Run Short Of Telephone Lines

PARIS—(AP)—The use of the telephone for both domestic and international calls has increased 80 per cent in France since 1939.

Six million hook-ups between the nation's 2,650,000 telephones are made every day. The French telephone service is unable to meet 60,000 long-standing requests for telephones.

Americans Are World's Best Husbands But Not Necessarily Its Poorest Lovers

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK—(AP)—American men are getting a name for being the world's best husbands—and among the world's poorest lovers.

This ugly rumor is based on a theory that the average European male understands a woman's heart, and an American doesn't. More and more American wives are accepting it as true.

Well, girls, it just isn't so. It isn't likely that anywhere on the freckled earth you'll find a man who knows you as well, appreciates you more, or will love you better than here in the home of the hen-pecked hubby.

"We have overemphasized this belief that American men are not good lovers, and their wives are all frustrated," said Renzo Cesana, who wags and sometimes wows the ladies in his TV role, "The Continental."

Renzo, a sophisticated realist, has made something of a study of romance in both his native Italy and his adopted America.

What Kinsey Said
He feels that too many women have read Dr. Kinsey's clinical study of the American male and reached the conclusion they are missing some of the finer things of life through husbandly ignorance or ineptitude.

"The European woman is as frustrated as the American woman, if not more so," he said. "But she simply doesn't get the chance to protest as loud."

Cesana left the impression he believes the women of all countries will feel frustrated—if they can find a reason.

Variety And Abundance
"The American has no reason to have an inferiority complex about sex," he said.

"The average European is sure he is a greater epicure and a greater lover than the American. But he isn't. He doesn't know as much about either food or women as the average American, because he doesn't have the opportunity to get acquainted with them in the same variety and abundance."

Cesana estimated that "perhaps 75 per cent of European women" are frustrated in love, far more than in America, but don't know how to raise a holler about it, as who would listen to them anyway?

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour Cheeks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.

Well, ladies, there's the picture. The guy you're tied to may have his dopey days and his dull nights, but he's still the best bargain in the dental male field.

Now for a peek at the other side of the coin. Renzo is billed as "the world's greatest lover." What is idea of the perfect woman?

"Most men like the women who like them," he said. "That may be lazy of them, but it is true. It is the same with me. It is always the woman who makes the choice."

NORWAY SARDINE CREPES are an economical party surprise that originated with housewives of Minnesota's "Little Norway."

Sardine Recipes Are Norwegian Heritage

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor
Minnesota is called America's "Little Norway." There are 300,000 Norwegian-Americans there and they, like their forbears, are a fish-eating people.

Housewives of Norwegian descent are artists with the delicate sardine from the fjords of the old country. Here are two of their delightful but economical recipes using Norway sardines. They will perk up any lazy appetite.

Norway Sardine Crepes (5 servings)
Creme Batter—One cup flour, 2 whole eggs, 2 cups milk, salt, pepper to taste.

To prepare crepe batter, mix flour, eggs, milk and seasoning, and strain through a fine sieve. Pour batter into a well-buttered frying pan and cook on both sides.

Stuffing—Three (3 3/4-ounce) tins Norway sardines, 1 cup finely chopped spinach, 1 tablespoon chopped onion, 2 tablespoons cream sauce, dash of nutmeg, salt, pepper to taste.

To prepare filling, drain oil from sardines and mash sardines. Fry the onions in butter until golden brown. Add the spinach and sardines, and when hot, add the cream sauce and seasoning. Bring to a boil and let cool. Spread the preparation over the crepes. Then roll crepes, sprinkle with grated cheese and lightly brown under a broiler.

Sardine Mixed Grill (Makes 4 servings)
Two (3 3/4-ounce) cans Norway sardines, 4 fillets of lemon sole, 8 jumbo shrimp, 4 halves of tomatoes, 4 heads of mushrooms, parsleyed butter, bread crumbs.

Drain oil from sardines. Roll sardines, fillet of sole, shrimp and halves of tomatoes in bread crumbs. Sprinkle with olive oil and grill to a golden brown.

Dress all on a platter, with the sardines and tomatoes arranged around them. Top tomatoes with broiled mushroom heads. Sprinkle parsleyed butter over platter. Garnish with bouquet of parsley and lemon. Serve mayonnaise or tartare sauce on the side.

Bootleggers Find Faking Tax Stamps, Labels Easier To Do Harder To Stop

By WARD CANNEL, NEA Staff Correspondent
Up from the meadows rich with corn, the American bootleggers is back in business with a new gimmick. It's easy to tell if your name is on the list. A stranger will call you and tell you that you've been referred by "a friend." Then the caller moonshiners are pouring their illegal whiskey into the Eastern and Midwestern states with the help of the telephone and a long "sucker list."

It looks like real thing, but this whiskey being examined by FBI agents had been cut by bootleggers, then poured into familiar bottles for the "sucker list" trade.

Besides the sucker list, gangland's distilleries are bringing up speak-easy outlets reminiscent of the days before the 21st Amendment repealed prohibition.
In larger cities, the moonshiners have been using parking lots, candy stores, cigar shops and gas stations for distribution of their outlaw liquor.
Watch The Stamp
Well-organized bootlegging goes to expensive and careful lengths to make itself look like a legitimate business. Moonshiners will pay high prices for empty whiskey bottles whose labels and wrappings are intact.
And while this job sounds difficult, most households are cooperative in not smashing their bottles before discarding them.
But the most delicate operation in the moonshine business focuses on the six-inch paper strip signifying that the federal tax has been paid. Tags Are Faked
Although big-time bootleggers can find counterfeit stamps, their usual method is to patch up old stamps that have been opened with a minimum of damage.
Mending a tax stamp, of course, shortens it by at least half an inch. And that in itself becomes a means of identifying illegal whiskey.
Today, according to L.B.I. wide-scale bootlegging is gaining practice in counterfeiting everything from the stamp to the distillers' labels and cartons. And more and more big stills are opening under cover of darkness to turn out 1,000 or more gallons a day.

College Students To Assist Vacation Bible Instruction

Sixty-five students from Texas colleges and universities will become "Invincibles" this Summer as they conduct mission Vacation Bible Schools throughout the state.
Sponsored by the state Baptist Sunday School Department, the 65 Invincibles were selected from more than 200 student applications. Chosen for their talents, experience and consecration, the Invincibles must be 18 years old and have two years of college training.
The 1953 Summer workers will attend a pre-school training clinic at Mt. Lebanon Baptist encampment near Dallas next week.
Wimpy L. Smith, supervisor of the Invincible group, announces that team members this summer will be divided into two groups to do their work. One group will go by twos into Baptist associations in different sections of the state to conduct the schools.
The other group will spend their entire Summer in District Seven-teen, the area around Abilene, Sweetwater and Haskell.
Last year 80 Invincibles enrolled 7,829 boys and girls in 134 mission Vacation Bible schools. A total of 431 professions of faith were reported in the schools.
Judges for the 19th Annual World Championship Midland Rodeo June 3 through 7 are old rodeo hands who know the rules thoroughly.

Camporee Scheduled

CRANE — The Crane Boy Scouts and their scoutmasters, Mac Crick and assistant Kelly Shipes, will be hosts for a district camporee May 29 and 30, in Crane.
District Scouts from McCamey, Fort Stockton, Rankin and Iranan, will share an overnight hike with the Crane boys, and contests and camp judging will be held, with awards to be given the winning patrol of the district.
The two leaders assisted by the Green Bar Patrol will also officiate the investor ceremony, when eleven year old boys will become scouts.
There are approximately 50 Boy Scouts in Crane and investigations are being made for adding a troop in the near future to reach other boys that are interested in Scouting.
Meetings nights are each Monday in the local hut, near the Community hall where all phases of Scouting are taught. Plans are also underway for an added woodcraft department.
The two leaders, recently elected, said scouting would continue through the Summer.

Brothers Head Two Student Union Units

The only two brothers to serve as Baptist Student Union presidents at the same time — but on different campuses—are Marshall and Mitchell Jones of Canyon.
Marshall is BSU president at West Texas State College in Canyon, and his brother Mitchell is the newly-elected president at the University of Texas Medical School at Galveston. Marshall is following his big brother's footsteps; he is a pre-med student in the Canyon college.

Offering To Assist Disabled Ministers

Texas Baptists will be asked to share burdens of 40 disabled ministers in the state when they take a Fellowship offering in their churches at their next observance of the Lord's Supper.
R. A. Springer, treasurer of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, has announced June 7 as the suggested date of the offering.
A suggested goal of $15,000 for the offering will provide $400 for each of the disabled ministers. This will supplement the annual benefit of $500 supplied for each minister by the Southern Baptist Relief and Annuitly Board's Ministers Retirement Plan.
Reserved seats are $3, general admission is $2, and tickets for children under 12 are $1 for the 19th Annual World Championship Midland Rodeo, June 3-7.

Serve Africa Lobster With Cheese Sauce

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Foods and Market Editor

South African lobster tails are a delicious foreign touch welcome to the American menu. Each tail is solidly packed with juicy white meat. As there is little waste, they are economical, too.

Bolled Rock Lobster Tails

Place four to six (8-ounce) South African rock lobster tails, either thawed or frozen, into large kettle boiling salted water. Allow 1/2 teaspoon salt for each quart water. When water reboils, lower heat so water boils gently and begin counting time. Keep covered.

Boil tails 1 minute longer than their individual weight in ounces. For instance, boil an 8-ounce tail 9 minutes. Add 2 minutes to all boiling time when tails are cooked frozen—spiced with a drop or two of aromatic bitters—and lemon wedges.

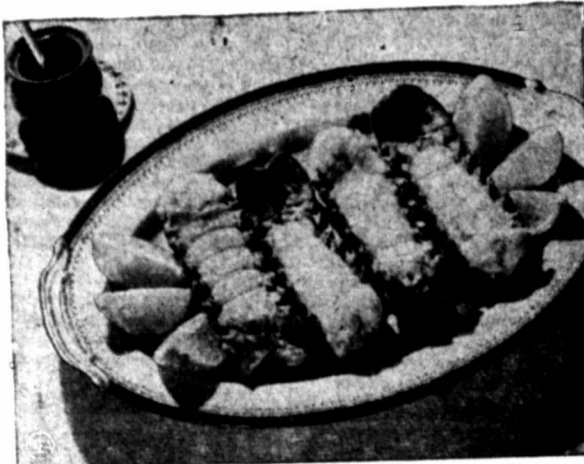

Rock Lobster With Cheese Sauce
(4-6 servings)

Use two (8-10 ounce) bolled South African rock lobster tails or two cans South African rock lobster, 2 cups cream sauce, 1 1/2 cups grated snappy cheese, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 teaspoon paprika.

Boil South African rock lobster tails according to directions. Remove meat and dice. Prepare cream sauce. Add cheese and stir over low heat until melted. Add Worcestershire and paprika. Blend well. Add diced rock lobster and heat thoroughly. Serve on patty shells, over toast of split hot biscuits.

Note—Another variation of this recipe is to place mixture in shallow baking pan, covered with buttered, seasoned soft crumbs and bake in hot oven (500 degrees F.) or under broiler for approximately 5 minutes, or until sauce bubbles.

Before you can start a varnishing job, be sure your surface is free from all grit, dust, roughness and any wax or oil. It is possible to varnish over shellac.

ECONOMICAL "LUXURY" DISH is easy to prepare with South African rock lobster tails and butter and lemon on the side.

Crane City Manager Designated Admiral

CRANE — J. K. Price, city manager of Crane, has been made an honorary Admiral in the Texas Outboard Navy. It has been announced by Cash Asher, executive officer in Corpus Christi.

The "navy" was organized last winter as an auxiliary of the Coast Guard, to conserve the fishing resources of the Gulf Coast, and to promote interest in outboard racing.

The first event scheduled is an Outboard Marathon, July 4, from Harlingen to Corpus Christi, a distance of 130 miles, with $2,400 in cash prizes, to winners. It is being sponsored jointly by the TOBN and the JayCees of Harlingen and at least 300 boats are expected to enter. Headquarters are the Chamber of Commerce Building in Corpus Christi.

Cork flooring, in tile or carpet form, should be sealed with a penetrating floor sealer to prevent staining and protect the surface.

A Curious Philosophy

In some parts of the free world, including Great Britain, there is a rather curious philosophy about negotiating with the Russians.

The motion seems to persist that, even when the Kremlin has given no sincere sign of a change of heart, it is worth while to sit down from time to time and confer formally with Soviet leaders.

This appears to presume that the mere passage of time may work some kind of magic upon the Russians. Time is admittedly a great healer, but it is yet to be shown that it can have much effect upon Soviet intransigence.

No one needs to recount the endless and generally fruitless dealings we and others in the West have had with Russia on a variety of large and small issues since World War II. The process of disillusionment was slow—but sure.

Today we no longer respond with alacrity when the Russians say: "Let's talk." We know they use conferences as delaying tactics in a strange new kind of war.

Today we want to see more than glib words about "peace" and a "general settlement." In his justly famed April 16 speech to the nation's editors, President Eisenhower fairly demanded that the Russians evidence their good faith by deeds, not words.

Prime Minister Churchill's proposal for big-power talks now is in conflict with Eisenhower's approach. To enter such negotiations without assurances of Russian sincerity would be to lay the West open once more to a long series of delays that could slow its defense effort and weaken its resolve.

It would mean adopting the "passage of time" theory of negotiation with the Russians.

Eisenhower wisely has rejected the plan and reaffirmed American insistence that Soviet good faith be demonstrated before general talks can begin. To some in Britain, this quite sensible demand suggests we are imposing "unfair conditions" on the Russians and thus blocking peace efforts.

Not Churchill but former Labor prime minister Clement Attlee voiced this attitude, even intimating that some Americans don't want peace and that the truce talks in Korea might go better if U. S. negotiators were kept away from the council table.

This arrogant presumption of greater British concern for peace is unworthy of any responsible statesman. Feelingingly, Eisenhower answered Attlee when he said he had met no one in the United States who does not want peace.

The British like to think of themselves as master diplomats. But in the years before World War II this self-proclaimed "talent" seemed to consist of backing off from Hitler or giving in to him until war on almost the worst possible terms became inevitable.

There cannot have been much advance toward realism in British diplomacy if key Britons today regard as "obstructions to peace" our demand for good faith, our adherence to a genuine international morality, and our zeal for the freedom of all men (like the Red prisoners we hold who don't want to go home).

In seeking big-power talks without these insistences, increasingly powerful Labor opponents. Surely he, who fought appeasement so well in the 1930's, must understand that you do not escape the conqueror's toils by yielding to the deception of his friendly embrace.

Senate's Verbal Athlete

Senator Wayne Morse, the self-proclaimed "liberal" independent who never lets a single one of his "liberal" moves escape the nation's attention, was in rare form the other day. He spoke continuously for 22 hours.

This is some sort of record, even for Morse, whose vocal chords are not easily overtaxed.

One might hope that in racking it up, the Oregonian borrowed heavily from his future talking time in the Senate and now will be silent a while to compensate. But perhaps this performance only has opened up new vistas to him, which he will proceed to explore regularly—and at great length.

It would be interesting to examine the field kit Morse takes along on these verbal safaris. One item of course would be a finely honed knife for the splitting of legal hairs and perhaps for cutting notches in his desk to serve as guideposts, Boy Scout style.

Another might be a small hammer for driving home points. He has too many to make to use the old fist-on-palm method. No human hands could stand it.

Never judge a man's religion by what he says when he misses a six-inch putt.

If they don't lower the tax on a lot more of the luxuries, we may have to do without necessities.

PETER EDSON'S Washington News Notebook

AF Goes Ahead on Atomic Engines; Senator Morse Endurance Explained

WASHINGTON (NEA)—U. S. Air Force is going ahead with its project to develop an atomic-powered aircraft engine, in spite of reports that this program would be stopped by appropriation cuts in the defense budget.

The contract for the atomic aviation project has been let to General Electric and the company has been given assurances there will be no cancellation or cut-back on the work.

The chief advantage of an atomic engine is that it would give aircraft a tremendous range, without refueling.

The fate of the project to develop an atomic-powered aircraft carrier still is in doubt. An atomic engine in a carrier also would give greater range through reduced fuel-carrying capacity. Because of limitations of hull design, however, there is some question on whether an atomic engine would give a carrier greater speed.

Senator Exhaled Poisons. Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon has been getting a number of letters from doctors asking him how it was physically possible for him to stand on his feet and speak continuously for more than 22 hours. Did he take drugs? And if so, what drugs?

Senator Morse is writing back to all these medical men that he took no drugs and had no trick devices to sustain him. His nourishment during the long speech was three glasses of water, four cups of bouillon, three cups of orange juice, three cups of coffee and nine cups of tea.

Dr. George W. Calver, the veteran capital physician who was watching Senator Morse during his long speech against the Tideland bill, and who has watched former Senators Huey Long of Louisiana and Bob LaFollette, Jr., in their marathon filibusters, says there's a natural explanation for this phenomenon.

While a man is speaking he is exhaling through his nostrils the body poisons which normally are eliminated in other ways. That's what enables him to keep going without a break.

Senator Morse says that he could have talked for another couple of hours without strain. As a matter of fact, after he finished speaking, he held a press conference and walked back to his office, before he lay down.

Bureaucrats Ride Streetscars. Housing Administrator Albert M. Cole, former Kansas congressman, is finding out the hard way that the life of a bureaucrat isn't as simple and lush as a lot of critics on Capitol Hill like to make out.

In New York the other day, Cole took a taxi from his hotel to a housing conference. The fare was 50 cents, plus tip. Back in Washington, Administrator Cole filed his expense account, itemizing the taxi fare. Back came a letter from auditors of General Accounting Office. They demanded that he prove it was more feasible to take a taxi cab than to go by streetcar, before they would reimburse him.

RIF's Chain Letters. Any government employee who is being liquidated out of his job through various executive department and congressional economy drives is becoming known as a "RIF." The initials come from what is known as the Reduction in Force program.

This program is having one curious repercussion. As soon as a government employee is notified that he is being fired, he writes his congressman. The congressman then forwards the letter of complaint to the head of the agency doing the firing, asking how come? The head of the agency then notifies the congressman that by act of Congress, the appropriation for the agency is being cut, and it is necessary to reduce the working force.

The congressman then writes back to his constituent, saying in effect that of course it shouldn't be necessary for the agency head to fire a good and faithful public servant like him. Somebody else should be fired, of course, but the congressman has little influence over these dictatorial bureaucrats.

And that completes the daisy chain. Life's Embarrassing Moments. Secretary of Interior Douglas McKay was reading a long-winded statement to the House Ways and Means Committee, in support of President Eisenhower's request for a simple, one-year extension of the reciprocal trade program. In the middle of it he read a sentence to the effect that now "the composition of the Tariff Commission had changed."

Rep. Herman P. Eberharter of Pennsylvania interrupted to ask how it had changed? "I must admit I don't know," replied the secretary. "I didn't write this statement."

The Pilot Two Ways. President Dwight D. Eisenhower is the first President of the U. S. to hold an aircraft pilot's license, according to research conducted by Aircraft Industries Association. The President has been a pilot 14 years.

He learned to fly while he was stationed in the Philippines as a lieutenant colonel on the staff of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

The plane which the President was checked out in was an open-cockpit primary trainer. It had a 220-hp engine and a maximum speed of about 125 miles an hour. But the last time the President piloted his own plane was in 1947.

The first President to fly, incidentally, was Theodore Roosevelt. He was President when the Wright Brothers made their first flight at Kitty Hawk 50 years ago. But it wasn't till 1910 that "Teddy" went aloft, during a flying meet in St. Louis.

Multer's Muse. Rep. Abraham J. Multer of Brooklyn, N. Y., under leave to extend his remarks in the Congressional Record, inserted a speech protesting against the raising of interest rates on government bonds, FHA and GI mortgages and loans. The title which Multer put on his "speech" was "Bundles for Billionaires."

Congressional reform advocates are anxious to have a new lobbying law that will tighten up provisions of the present lobby registration law. A U. S. District Court decision last year found for the National Association of Manufacturers in its

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

(Copyright, 1953, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.) Draw Pearson says: British-American relations shifting dangerously; Radford appointment hints of Asia-first policy; Attorney General likes rustic retreat.

WASHINGTON — It may not be pleasant to talk about, but at no time in years have our relations with our ancient Allies in Europe been on such thin ice.

Behind the senatorial blasts of Joe McCarthy et al—which are bad enough—relations with our old friend and mother country, England, are in deplorable shape. Not much better are our relations with France.

Here are some of the background factors which have strained relations to the point where we are not only disliked bitterly in many British circles, but where British officialdom has almost given up the idea of working with us and seriously contemplates closer ties on the continent and even behind the Iron Curtain!

1. Churchill's desire for a big three meeting lies squarely across the Dulles-Eisenhower belief that there must be no such meeting until the Russians show some indication that they are ready for genuine cooperation.

2. The appointment of redheaded Adm. Arthur Radford as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff is the signal that the U. S. A. from now on will follow an Asia-first policy.

3. The shortsighted sleight of hand by Secretary of Defense Wilson in juggling the low British bid for generators for the Chief Joseph Dam has the British boiling. Admittedly the British made the low bid. Admittedly, under U. S. law, the Defense Department was obligated to accept the bid. However, Wilson flung new bids in order to cut the British out.

4. Chancellor of the Exchequer Butler charges that we have forced England to curtail trade with China and satellite countries and simultaneously blocked British trade with the United States. We can't have our cake and eat it too, the British say. They also allege that the Eisenhower slogan of "trade-not-aid" is a complete phony.

5. If the Eisenhower Administration doesn't let down the trade barriers, the Churchill government is ready to re-establish heavy trading with Red China and Iron Curtain countries.

The important thing to remember is that this impasse has taken place not with the labor government of England, but with the British Conservatives led by a prime minister whose mother was American and whose chief policy in the past has been cooperation with the United States. In fact, Churchill took a special trip to the United States to visit Eisenhower before the inauguration in order to cement a friendship which some felt had lagged under Truman.

Furthermore, Eisenhower himself was considered the best wartime friend England had, and his Guildhall speech in London has been hailed as a milestone cementing American-British relations.

Tragedy is that Ike himself, although realizing the dangerous drift between the two allies, seems unable to do anything about it. His desire to "get along with Congress" now is uppermost on his agenda of objectives. In fact, some friends say he seems hypnotized by that goal.

Of the various snags in the path of British-American relations, you probably will hear less about the appointment of Admiral Radford as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Yet it ripples deep with the British.

They were too diplomatic to talk about a domestic American appointment, nevertheless, they recall all too well how Radford has advocated virtual war with China, and how he sold Eisenhower a promising but phony bill of goods regarding the power of Chiang Kai-Shek's Formosan army only to let it turn out to be a dud.

Radford's appointment revives the World War II row between MacArthur and Eisenhower as to which of the two should be the Pacific or European theater commander.

Eisenhower at that time wanted more men, more material for Europe. His old boss, Douglas MacArthur, wanted more for the Pacific. The Navy generally sided with MacArthur. But Eisenhower had two powerful friends who in real fact were calling the shots for the total war—Roosevelt and Churchill. They decreed that the European theater should come first, and that was why V-E Day came ahead of V-J Day.

Today, Eisenhower is in a position where he can call the shots as Roosevelt and Churchill did. How ever, if he is calling them—and it looks as if he is not—he is in effect put Asia, not Europe, first. He has done this at a time when the United States lacks the munitions to spread itself over two continents at one time. And in doing so, he has done this at a time when the Admiral Radford wing of the Navy and the extreme Asia-first wing of the Republican Party actually dictate our foreign policy.

Headlines And Footnotes. Attorney General Brownell has sent a private note to President Eisenhower urging him "to commute the death sentence on Shangkai I.A., the presidential retreat in the Maryland Hills. Ike was about to abandon Shangkai I.A. along with the president yacht Williamsburg as an economy move. However, his attorney general has been using it as a weekend hideout to catch up on his work away from the clutter and clatter of his office. . . . President Eisenhower was shocked to learn that a few weeks ago, Shangkai still was segregating the sick. As a result, he is preparing a special order abolishing segregation in government hospitals. . . . Edmund Mansure, the conscientious new General Services administrator, has stopped political firings in his agency. He instructed his staff: "A man's politics is as much his own business as his religion, provided he's a loyal American." . . . Senator McCarthy may be able to buffalo the State Department, but he couldn't talk his way through the Washington police lines. Caught in the Armed Forces Day parade, McCarthy tried to cut through the parade to get to his office. He argued with the cops at every intersection, but they routed him the long way around — just like the rest of the traffic. . . . Senator McCarthy is using his new power in the administration to plant his pals in key government jobs. His requests are taken as orders by timid administrators, although many are concerned about the infiltration of McCarthyism in government. . . . Senator McCarthy's junior G-men, Roy Cohn and David Schine, left behind a raft of jobs after their whirlwind snooping junket across Europe. Latest: One U. S. official says to another, "I'll see you tomorrow, some Cohn or Schine." . . . The Israeli government is recruiting former Top U. S. officials to help bolster her struggling economy.

ELIZABETH the Queen

By Marion Crawford the Queen

By Marion Crawford the Queen

XIII. If it was raining while she was taking them for a walk, she would be most careful to see they were dried properly, treating them as carefully as babies.

Sometimes Princess Margaret took them out in the rain. The Princess Elizabeth would insist that to make sure they were dry, "Did you dry the dogs, Margaret?" she would ask. And the younger Princess, in a voice of indignant innocence, would say, "Of course I did."

Then would come Princess Elizabeth's voice, very shrill. "You couldn't have done! The towel is absolutely spotless," and she would rub them again herself.

The elevators at Buckingham Palace are old and ponderous. They move slowly. But they are carefully looked after by two engineers.

Princess Elizabeth would always make sure that the dogs were kept far from the gates in case they got their tails or noses jammed. "Come here, Susan," she would say. "Keep still or you'll lose an ear."

When a bomb fell on Hampton Court in 1951, where the Royal horses had been evacuated, one of the carriage horses in the stable was injured and was sent down to Windsor Castle to recuperate.

The veterinary surgeon who had to operate on the animal asked us if we'd like to see it. The Princesses were excited, and one day after lunch we all trooped out to inspect the invalid.

He was a large horse looking quite fit except for two gashes in his side where the splinters had torn his skin.

Princess Elizabeth was greatly concerned. "Oh, the poor thing!"

HER interest in animals was not confined to horses and dogs. Lord Louis Mountbatten came back on leave during the war, bringing as a present a large, scaly lizard which we learned was a chameleon.

Princess Elizabeth quickly had a box made in which to keep the creature. Princess Margaret rushed off and got a copy of DeBrett on which we put him. He immediately changed to red.

I have a horror of all slimy, crawly things. When the King was still Duke of York he took us all to the Zoo, where one of the keepers showed us behind the scenes at the Reptile House.

He brought out a very sleepy, sinuous python to show us which coiled itself lazily round him. I can still feel the horror I felt then. It was glad to see the others also turn a little pale, though they kept their courage under better control than I did.

The Princess assured me that the chameleon was not at all like that. "Just touch him, Crawley," they urged. "Just put your finger on him. He's warm as anything and quite dry."

Princess Elizabeth used to carry him on a hand to the big windows in the dining room where there were always a few bluebottles buzzing round. Here she would hold the creature in a convenient position so that its long black tongue could snaffle out and seize one of these unfortunate flies.

I was grateful that they were both kind-hearted little girls and not the sort who would have put him in my bed. With Princess Elizabeth, at least, I had the feeling she would refrain from such tricks, as much out of consideration for the chameleon as for me.

Eventually it sickened. The Princesses were desolate. In the end I found a gatekeeper who had lived in the tropics and said he knew something about looking after chameleons, so we handed the creature into his care.

Then one day the gatekeeper reported it dead. Princess Elizabeth was very sad. "We must bury him in proper state," she said.

The gatekeeper gave us a little white box about a foot long. It was sealed up at either end with a red seal, and looked rather like a package from the druggist.

Then the three of us marched into the gardens to find a suitable cemetery. We had not gone far when Princess Elizabeth stopped with a look of horror on her face. "But how do we know he's dead?" she asked.

Then we had to undo the coffin, and make sure. There was no doubt about it, so we buried him under a flowering shrub.

Q—Why is Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, historically famous? A—It is claimed that Yarmouth was the site of the first settlement of Norsemen in North America.

Q—Can money that has been burned to ashes be redeemed? A—No.

Q—When did the first seaplane flight take place? A—Jan. 28, 1911.

Q—What was the size of the huge front wheels common on early bicycles? A—The front wheel was almost as tall as a man. The back wheel measured only about 16 inches across.

So They Say

I do not see why anyone should be frightened at having a try for agreement. . . . we might have a generation of peace.

We had better keep our defenses up until we have more than just words to go on. I'd be inclined to oppose the (reductions) or be a little skeptical until I see just where the cuts are and what they will do.

—Senator Estes Kefauver on proposed defense cuts.

If anyone tells you we have enough ammunition, they're crazy. We have about enough for a 15-minute fire fight.

—Letter to mother from her Army son, now dead.

Have A Laugh

By BOYCE HOUSE. An old-time favorite: What's the matter with Texas? The Texas farmer gets up to the sound of a Connecticut alarm clock, puts on a pair of overalls made in Detroit, washes his face in a Pittsburgh basin with Cincinnati soap and dries on a towel made in New Hampshire; sits down to a breakfast of Kansas City bacon and Indiana grits fried in Omaha lard on a Kal-amazoo stove; buys canned 'fruits put up in California and potatoes grown in Idaho; hitches his Missouri mule, fed on Iowa corn, to an Illinois plow, works hard all day, then crawls under a New Jersey blanket and is kept awake all night by the howling of a dog—the only Texas product on the whole darn place!

LITTLE LIZ. Some individuals have become so skillful in the art of deficit spending on the government.

NO LINES TO SURFACE—

Pencil-Type 'Free' Pump Demonstrated At Oil Show

TULSA—(AP)—A pump shaped like a long pencil is floated down wells to bring oil from the earth. It lies at the bottom, completely unattended, with no lines or pipes connecting it with the surface. It goes down one of two tubes placed inside the well. The tubes then are filled or primed with crude oil. This pump is dropped into the larger tube from the top. The oil is pumped into the latter tube, from the top, to make the pump go to work to draw more oil from the bottom of the well. Rise To Surface

The new oil, and the oil being pumped in, ride up the smaller tube to the surface.

Called a free pump, it is being shown at the International Petroleum Exposition by Kobe, Inc. An advantage is cheapness of servicing. If the pump needs attention, you simply float it back out by pumping oil into the smaller tube, that forces the free pump to rise to the top.

To start operation, a tube two inches in diameter is put down inside the well, to the bottom. A U-turn connects this tube with a one-inch tube which carries oil back to the surface.

Both tubes are filled with oil from the top.

The pump is eight feet long and one and three-fourths inches in diameter. Dropped inside the two-inch tube, it floats down and comes to rest atop a standing valve at the bottom of the well pipe.

Pump At Well Top

A pump at the top of the well forces oil, under pressure, down the bigger tube and through a hole in the top of the pencil pump.

By an ingenious system of valves and passageways inside the pencil pump, pistons inside the pump ride up and down, forcing the well valve to open and close. Each opening of this valve lets new oil enter the well.

This new oil, plus the oil being forced down through the pump, make the U-turn rise up the outlet tube.

The pump forces oil up the outlet tube on both the down and up strokes of its pistons. Ordinary pumps bring oil up only on the up strokes.

The pumps can work at a maximum of 83 strokes a minute, raising many barrels of oil daily. Part of the recovered oil is recirculated through the surface pump to keep the well flowing.

Because of the steady pumping action, sand or other debris entering the well with the new oil are brought up to the top, rather than staying down to foul up the pump mechanism.

TIME OUT—Part of the West Texas delegation in the House of Representatives confer with Senator J. T. Rutherford of Odessa. The four are in Austin for the fifty-third session of the Legislature. They are, left to right, Rep. W. G. Kirkland, Odessa; Richard C. Slack, Pecos; Senator Rutherford and Rep. Hulon Brown, Midland. These three representatives, with two others (not shown), represent almost all of the old 88th District which Rutherford served in the House before legislative re-districting.

NATO Chiefs Learn Atomic War Secrets In Secluded Village

OBERAMMERGAU, GERMANY—(AP)—Uncle Sam is teaching some of the secrets of atomic warfare to his NATO allies here in one of the world's most peaceful spots.

Sheep and cows graze in the green foothills of the Bavarian Alps, a stone's throw from the U. S. Army's hush-hush school.

Squawking geese waddle through the sunny cobblestone streets past tourists drinking beer or coffee at the neat little sidewalk cafes.

Opening of the atomic warfare school in picturesque Oberammergau, scene of the famous passion play every tenth year, didn't cause even a ripple among the townfolk.

Never Heard Of It

A sun-bronzed mountain climber wearing traditional leather knee britches twisted the ends of his handlebar mustache and said in his deep-throated Bavarian dialect that he wasn't interested in the school one way or the other.

A blonde, buxom German fraulein carrying a basket of flowers said she had never heard of it. Neither had the pipe-smoking owner of a novelty shop in the heart of the village.

The school is in a closely guarded military compound overlooking the town, which was used by Hitler's 54th Mountain Signal Battalion during the war. It is surrounded by a high rock wall and barbed wire fences. Armed guards maintain 24-hour vigilance in prison-type watch towers.

Visitors Barred

The school was opened by Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, retiring NATO supreme commander, to acquaint Allied staff officers with the use of atomic weapons.

Its courses, taught by American Army, Navy and Air Force instructors, will be given for several months to officers of NATO nations, including the United States.

General and flag officers take a four-day course. Key staff officers go through 10 days of instruction.

FUNNY BUSINESS

"Look, dear, I hit him the first time!"

Vacant Chair Reminds Senator Of 'Average Man'

WASHINGTON—(AP)—In the office of Senator Stennis (D-Miss) is a chair labeled "reserved"—a chair in which no one ever sits.

Placed so it faces the senator when he is seated behind his desk the chair, he said, is a mute reminder to him of "the man who isn't there."

He explained in an interview: "Lots of people come into this office. They ask this or that. They support one thing or another. But 99 per cent of the people from Mississippi—probably more than that—never get up here to state their views. That chair is to remind me of them.

"The average man doesn't belong to any pressure group. He's just a good citizen. He doesn't talk much. He just listens. I want to be sure I don't forget him. That chair is for him—the man who isn't there."

Dogs Find Air Force Regulations Mean They, Too, Must Read Fine Print Orders

By EDWARD R. KENNEDY
NEA Special Correspondent

TOKYO—The caste system has been extended to canine class in Japan. Ask any dog belonging to a civilian employe of the U. S. Air Force Materiel Command here.

Unlike dogs belonging to an Air Force family, a civilian employe's dog is not entitled to live like people. It must live from now on in a dog house.

It may not curl up on the foot of the master's bed, romp with the children in the living room or hopefully nuzzle the meat enroute to the refrigerator. Its master's house is off limits.

Eviction Notices

It must have a home of its own, built according to specifications, graded according to size and approved according to military standards.

These standards are understood to take into account matters of uncertain heredity. A small terrier-type puppy, for instance, qualifies for a small Type A house, but if genes from a mastiff ancestor develop in his kingdom, the owner must construct a large Type B house.

Blueprints for the official division of dogdom were prepared by a USAF-employed architect and draftsman, then approved by a lieutenant colonel. On the plan sheet there is extra space allotted for revision data—which undoubtedly on later versions will include a specified area where "civilian" dogs may bury bones.

SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—The Freddie Martin Band was shaken up Wednesday when a speeding auto smashed head on into a Greyhound bus chartered by the orchestra. The driver, identified as Miles Murray, Jr., 40, San Francisco, was killed.

Daddy Ringtail

Daddy Ringtail And The First Little Pig

Mugwump Monkey, the monkey boy, one day decided to play the story of the three little pigs.

Mugwump first built a house of straw. Then he showed it to Daddy Ringtail, your monkey friend, and to the Huffen Puffen, the friendly wolf. They both thought it might be fun to play the story of the three little pigs with Mugwump.

Mugwump went into the house of straw. He closed the door. The Huffen walked over by a tree. Daddy Ringtail asked if everyone was ready, and Mugwump and the Huffen said they were. The game of the first little pig now commenced.

There came the Huffen, slinking up to the little house—trying to laugh a dangerous laugh like a big, bad wolf of the kind he was playing like he was. He said: "Little Pig, Little Pig, let me come in." Mugwump was there inside, playing like he was the first little pig, and so Mugwump answered: "No, no, no, and a thousand times no, and not by the hair of my chimney-chin!"

The Huffen laughed his dangerous laugh once more. He was so much trying to play like a big bad wolf. Said he: "You won't let me come in, huh?"

"No sir," said Mugwump, exactly as he thought the first little pig might really have done.

Said the Huffen: "Then I'll huff—and I'll puff—and I'll puff—and I'll huff—and I'll blow your house in."

By WESLEY DAVIS

"Let's see you do it," said Mugwump.

And so the Huffen huffed and he puffed—and he puffed and he huffed—and he blew the house in, because it was only made of straw.

This was a great fun for the Huffen. He was having such fun with playing the game of the First Little Pig that he tried to take a bite of Mugwump's ears.

He would have done it, too, but Daddy Ringtail reminded him that he was really that Huffen and not a dangerous wolf at all, and tomorrow I'll tell you the story of the second little pig and the house that was made of wood. Happy waiting to hear it. Happy day!

Field And Stream

By WARRYN PAGE
Hunting Editor

Every hunting season we read of some noodlehead who pulls a loaded rifle or shotgun out of his car muddle first and blows a fatal hole through himself. It is probably no help for me to tell him that his action is a direct violation of the laws of his state and a gross breach of the laws of common sense.

Yet pointing out the facts may help some of the live uns. Car and gun facts are particularly important now that the varmint hunting season is coming up, when woodchuckers and crow hunters are frisking the back roads looking for pasture vermin.

As far as I know every state in this country that has any hunting also has laws relating to weapons and automobiles. Boiled down these generally make it highly illegal to carry a loaded rifle or shotgun in the car on any public highway. At least one state so details matters that the gun must be either broken down or in a closed case, and any ammunition must not only be apart from the weapon, but itself boxed or completely wrapped.

Regardless of any minor differences, all these laws originally were written to protect the public rather than the gun-carrying automobilist, to make it easier to nab the trigger-happy poacher types whose idea of hunting is to whang away from the car at any critter along the highway, to give enforcement officers another easy means of checking cars for contraband game, and to cut the possibility of dangerous cross-highway shooting.

Common sense would indicate that a car moving or still should be treated exactly like camp as far as weapons are concerned. You don't stand Betsy in the cabin corner without jacking out all the loads and checking both magazine and chamber before you come through the door—at least you don't around any cabin inhabited by yours truly. Why put a loaded hunting weapon in an automobile?

There are only two possible excuses for ever doing so, and they aren't good ones. First and foremost, probably is sheer laziness. Second is greed, or at least the kind of blood-thirsting selfishness that leads some self-styled "sportsmen" to seize every possible opportunity to bang away—out the car window, across the road, into somebody's barnyard, anywhere there's a target wearing hair or feathers.

DREAM UNWRAPPED FROM RED TAPE—A special act of Congress has freed Ernest Chambers, 21, of New York, from the threat of being deported to his native Australia, bringing him one step nearer to realization of his dream of American citizenship. Son of an Australian war bride, Chambers was brought to this country at the age of 16, served with U. S. forces as a gunner in Korea, and married an American girl, before having difficulty with the U. S. Immigration and Naturalization Service. He now is assured of permanent residence in the U. S.

'Hostess With The Mostest' Gets To Coronation 'Fustest'

By TOM A. CULLEN
NEA Special Correspondent

LONDON — Before she goes to Russia, Mrs. Perle Mesta, until recently U. S. Ambassador to Luxembourg, is making good her claim of "hostess with the mostest" by being here "fustest" for the Coronation.

Madame (Call me Missus) Mesta has set up her command post in Grosvenor Square, across from the American embassy. From this vantage point, she is preparing to lay siege to the international society assembled here for the crowning of Queen Elizabeth II.

Her battle cry, according to Mayfair wags: "Don't shoot until you see the whites of their ties!"

Steak And Champagne
An old campaigner herself, the 62-year-old woman diplomat will have as aides-de-camp, Generals George C. Marshall and Omar N. Bradley, both members of President Eisenhower's delegation to the Coronation and old hands at Mrs. Mesta's Washington parties.

General Bradley is the prize catch for Mrs. Mesta's free steak-and-champagne fiestas set for the swank Londonderry House on June 3. Covers will be laid for 150 guests, and after the feed the doors will be thrown open to another 150 of the "peasantry."

Later she is planning a more intimate affair for an old friend, soprano Lily Pons.

Interrupted at her staff work, Mrs. Mesta appeared to have all but forgotten about her projected trip to the Soviet Union.

"Moscow," she replied absent-mindedly. "Oh, yes — after the Coronation."

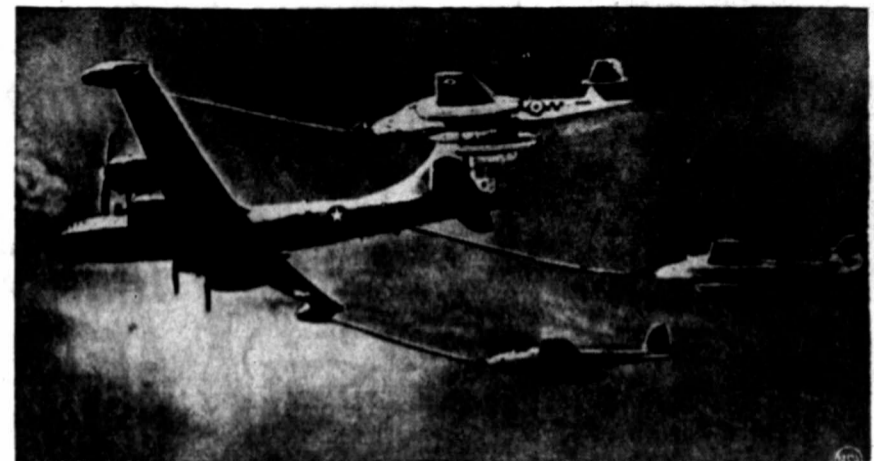

Mesta 'Abroad' Russia comes after the Coronation.

What will she see in Russia? "I want to travel around and see the steel mills. I'm in the steel business myself, you know," she said.

Buying Tooth Brushes
It will be December before the United States sees anything of Mrs. Mesta, for after her Russian visit she intends to tour the Near and Far East before embarking on a lecture tour of the U. S.

"I'm putting all my money into scholarships for European students to America," she confided. "I've got three Luxembourg students in the U. S. now, and they don't have to pay for a thing. I even buy their tooth brushes."

"I never get any rest," she complained. Then she and her secretary went back to work sifting the guest list for her June 3 blowout for just the right blend of British coronets, U. S. Army stars and assorted diplomatic sashes.

MAMA FEEDS HER 'LITTER'—High over Dorset, England, a KB-29, playing the part of "mother," refuels three hungry Meteor jet fighter planes at once. The picture was made during a series of successful tests made by the U. S. Air Force in England.

BUSY MAN

On an average, London's Lord Mayor fulfills 1,000 public engagements, making the same number of speeches, during his year of office.

General LeMay Backers See Future Chief Of Staff Duty

FORT WORTH —(P)—Here in the ballwick of the Strategic Air Command (SAC), it's believed that SAC's boss, Gen. Curtis LeMay, missed becoming Air Force Chief of Staff for three main reasons.

1. He's too valuable in his present job.
2. He's too blunt for the liking of some of his critics in Washington.
3. He's young enough to be considered for the top post later.

Gen. Curtis LeMay

More than a year ago LeMay seemed destined to become the big gun in the Air Force. The White House had announced he would trade jobs with Gen. Nathan Twining then vice chief of staff.

The assumption was that he would be groomed there to take over when Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg retired as chief of staff. Vandenberg's retirement was scheduled for April 30, 1952.

'THE BIG SHOW' - NO. 2—

Maximum Skill, Know-How Required In Calf Roping

By WILLARD H. PORTER

Speed, action, coordination—this is what you'll see when you watch a top drawer calf roping spot-loop a zig-zagging calf in a rodeo arena. These ropers are the blue-bloods of rodeo, and roping is an event that requires more skill and know-how than any other.

A professional calf roper makes his living roping and tying bovine youngsters as fast as he possibly can. He must be an artist at handling a lariat, an expert horseman, and a considerably brawny specimen. For some of the Brahman calves he must wrestle down weigh up to 300 pounds. His bread and butter depend on his beating the next waddie in a highly competitive endeavor where a split second may mean the difference between a hamburger and a T-bone steak diet. Because of such exciting activity, the conscientious calf roper keeps in perfect condition.

Calf roping, supplanting the rougher catch-loop attraction of steer roping, became a popular rodeo event around 1920. Purses were skimpy at first, as were rodeo purses in general, making calf roping a precarious profession. Today if a boy's a whiz with a rope he can easily make up to $10,000 a year, and the few really great ropers sometimes pocket $25,000 a year and more.

Men like Toots Mansfield, Big Spring, Troy Fort, Lovington, N. M.; Jess Goodspeed, Wetumka, Okla. and Buckshot Sorrela, Tucuman, Ariz. are among the best ropers on the circuit. It's not impossible for them to realize several thousand dollars in prize money at just one show.

However, the initial equipment layout of the roper is great. Musts before a calf roper can even think about competing in the big-time are a good car, a good horse, and a good trailer—all amounting to no little expense. Ropers usually travel together to pool traveling expenses. It is not uncommon for two contestants to drive 400 miles during the rodeo season. In nine months of roping they can perform at 40 high-paying shows.

At large shows with numerous performances, a cowboy may rope as many as six or eight calves. At small one or two-day rodeos, perhaps he will get a swing at only one calf.

At the big shows, usually crowded with ropers, the calf roping is divided into "go-rounds." After each cowboy has roped his first calf, the go-round is completed and the winners, generally to fourth place are paid off. After the nine or 10 go-rounds are finished, the winners of the final averages come in for their share of the purse, again paid off to fourth place. Thus the victor of several go-rounds plus the final average comes away with a sizeable sum.

Swings Fast Loop
To be eligible for prize money a cowboy must leave the chute box after the calf at a given signal. He must be mounted and he should be swinging a fast and hungry loop. He must catch the calf around the neck, dismount on the run, throw the calf by hand, and then tie any three legs securely so that the calf cannot wriggle free. He raises his hands sharply in the air to signal completion of the tie. He is timed from the second the calf crosses a designated line until he raises his hands.

How fast do they rope and tie 'em? Well, because of the differences in the start given the calves at various rodeos, there is no official world's record time. But 16 seconds is considered "fair ropin'" at most shows, and the really fast calf-snappers occasionally do the job in around 10 seconds. They have to hustle all the way, too, or they'll find their time beaten by another roper.
