Van Fleet Tells Of Cover-Up About Ammo To Mislead Reds

WASHINGTON—(P)—General James A. Van Fleet confided to senators that early last year while he was complaining vigorously to his superiors about ammunition shortages in Korea, he told war correspondents that he had plenty of ammunition.

He did this to fool the enemy and help the morale of his troops, Van Fleet said.

The retired general of the Eighth Army added that other commanders in Korea, who recently disputed his testimony about shortages, probably did the same thing.

This became known Saturday with release of closed-door testimony by Van Fleet and other witnesses before a Senate armed services subcommittee. It was included in a 700-page volume containing both public and private testimony. The testimony taken at closed session was censored.

Speaking For Taylor

On April 1 behind closed doors, Van Fleet told the senators that Gen. Maxwell Taylor, who succeeded him as Army commander in Korea, urged the departing Van Fleet to "tell those people back there what we need so we can do something around here."

Van Fleet said that when he got back in this country he told the "right people" in the Pentagon about the ammunition shortages and then wrote General Taylor: "Max, I carried out my part of it. Unfortunately there were some spokesmen in Korea who said they had plenty of it."

Van Fleet said that statements by General Taylor had "watered down" complaints about ammunition shortages.

What He Said Then

"It is a great thing, a point of view," Van Fleet said. "I have made statements in Korea. Reporters questioned me rather hard back in early 1952 about the ammunition shortages and I said: 'We have plenty to take care of anything we might do. We are not in any serious difficulty.'"

Van Fleet said that statement, at a time he was short of ammunition and was protesting to the United Nations Command in Tokyo and to Washington "was for enemy consumption."

"That was for morale of my own troops, to cover up, if need be, any danger I might be in," he said.

Army Bares Plans To Build Underground Missile Ramps

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Details of the Army's program to spot guided missile anti-aircraft units around major U. S. cities came to light Saturday, including the fact that some batteries will be located underground.

Information which became available for the first time showed the Army will require an average of 96 acres for a battalion using the Nike missile to protect industrial, port and government centers against any swift, high flying enemy bombers.

Here are some of the other hitherto secret details:

Twelve launchers will be used in above-ground installations to fire the 1,000-mile-an-hour missiles which, the Army claims, have an uncanny accuracy against even sonic aircraft. For above-ground bases, the Army will need 96 acres to deploy the weapons in proper firing position.

Nine launchers will be in underground installations. The acreage specified in these installations is 24, but this is assumed to refer only to the surface area, not implying that the actual bomb-proof dugouts would involve that acreage.

Above-ground launchers will be placed in revetments (earthworks to help protect them against strafing attacks).

Specifications for sites require that they be adaptable to radar use for detection and tracking of enemy bombers, be clear of obstructions for the takeoff of the missiles and, if possible, have natural features to aid in camouflage of the sites. The sites also will include underground storage facilities, magazines and housing for troops.

Except for details made available Saturday and two previous announcements, the Army has been officially silent about guided missile defenses.

Training At Fort Bliss

"Nike batteries will be set up primarily around principal population and industrial centers," one previous announcement said. The other was that battalions have been in training at Fort Bliss, Texas, and White Sands, N. M.

However, there have been other indications that units are being installed at such places as New York City, where the Army announced several days ago it intended to retain the Old Sandy Hook defensive area, and Washington, D. C. Because of the Nike's long range, it was understood one unit might be used to protect metropolitan areas that are close together, such as Washington and Baltimore.

The Nike is in volume production at a Western Electric Company plant in North Carolina.

The weapon is generally supposed to have these features:

An over-all length of about 20 feet, a body diameter of approximately 18 inches. Fins which control its flight, similar to those of an airplane, are about three feet in span. Total weight is about 1,000 pounds.

Three-Phase Guidance

The guidance system reportedly is in three phases—a pre-set, initial guidance, like aiming a gun in the general direction of the target; a "command" mid-course guidance which uses radio and radar to steer the missile toward the approximate area to which an enemy bomber is approaching; a "terminal" phase system in which the missile strikes home by following radar signals bounced off the target.

The missile itself presumably is driven by the thrust generated from the burning of two types of liquid fuel. A 1,000-pound charge of solid fuel "booster" also is used to start the missile from its launching rack.

The Army last winter said, without specifying the Nike that "enemy planes can dive, climb, bank, side-slip or turn tail, but the Army's new weapons still will knock them out of the skies."

When the first anti-aircraft missiles were being developed several years ago, experts thought the probability of a single-shot kill on a plane at 45,000 feet would be about one out of four.

Midlander Receives Coveted Scholarship At Cornell University

Douglas Robson, son of Charles G. Robson, 2613 Roosevelt Street, was one of 22 graduate students at Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y., to receive a fellowship recently created by the Board of Trustees because of the great need for training scientists and scholars for future public service.

The Livingston Farrand Fellowship which provides tuition plus $1,800 was given Robson, who received his Bachelor of Science degree from Iowa State College and his Master of Science from Cornell. He already is studying plant breeding under the university grant.

The new fellowships were named for some of the most distinguished and colorful names in the history of Cornell — members of the first faculty, leading national educators who taught at the university and former Cornell presidents.

Robson's "senior fellowship" is named for Livingston Farrand, Cornell's fourth president, who served from 1921 until 1937. There were four senior grants given and 18 junior fellowships.

Former Czech Officer Says Reds Plan War Before 1955

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A former Czech Army officer, trained in Soviet military strategy, has informed the House Un-American Activities Committee of alleged Russian plans to launch war in Europe "before 1955."

The Russian decision to "take over Western Europe," the committee was told, is predicated on Soviet suspicion that Britain is preparing "a definite attack to destroy the Soviet Union" in 1955.

The testimony, given in a secret committee session May 13 and 14, was made public Saturday in an unusual volume entitled, "Soviet Schedule for War, 1955."

The witness is identified as Col. Jan Bukar — name which Chairman Velde (R-Ill) said was assumed to hide his true identity as a Czech partisan fighter against the Germans in World War II.

Year Named By Truman

The year, 1955, is the same year which former President Harry S. Truman and his top advisers listed as the period of the greatest danger of attack from Russia.

President Eisenhower has scoffed at this date, disclaiming any faith in which he called magical formulas.

Attacking Truman's defense planning as a "crazy quilt" program, Eisenhower told reporters at a news conference April 30:

"We reject the idea that we must build up to a maximum attainable strength for some specific date theoretically fixed for a specified time in the future."

Bukar told the committee the Soviet target date for war was disclosed to him as one of 3,000 officers in training at a Russian military school for conquest at Moscow between 1945 and 1947.

The witness, stating he fled to the U. S. a little more than a year ago, told the congressmen Russia's plan to overwhelm Western Europe was outlined in a lecture by a Kremlin foreign service expert named Dardanelles, Bosphorus First.

The quoted Sverdlov as saying Soviet intelligence had information of Britain's plans to attack the Soviet Union in 1955. And, he said Sverdlov asserted:

"Therefore, we Russians must take over the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus before 1955. We shall close the Mediterranean Sea, and so we will prevent British and Americans from having a through-way through Suez to the Indian Ocean. We shall not wait until they strike, but comrades, officers, we shall take over the Western Europe before 1955."

Bukar went on to tell how the Russians taught him in 1946 — before China fell to the Reds — that Nationalist China must be taken first, and then Korea.

Indian Population In U. S. Increases

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Census Bureau Saturday said the Indian population grew by almost one-half between 1900 and 1950.

However, the bureau said it was not very clear on what is an Indian, so its figures are only approximations.

In a report based on the 1950 census, the bureau said there were 343,410 Indians then compared with 237,196 in 1900, or an increase of almost 45 per cent during the 50 years.

A two-ounce egg is considered standard.

Baptists Set Budget

Tennessee Governor May Join Evangelist

MEMPHIS, TENN. — (AP) — The Press-Scimitar said Saturday Tennessee's young governor, Frank G. Clement, may give up politics to "hit the sawdust trail of evangelism" with Billy Graham.

Reports from unidentified sources, the newspaper said, are that Clement may renounce a political future to become first assistant to Graham, widely known evangelist.

Texas Teachers Pledge New Battle For $600 Pay Raise

AUSTIN — (AP) — The Texas State Teachers Association said Saturday its fight for a pay increase is not a lost cause, because "there will be another session of the Legislature."

The association in a letter to its 53,000 members reviewed the recent legislative battle for a $600 pay raise and pledged to continue "fighting for better teacher salaries and to keep on defending the Glimmer-Aikin school program."

The letter denied Governor Shivers' charge that the TSTA leaders refused to compromise saying:

"We stand ready now as in the past to discuss the problem with the governor and the legislators and to help try to solve it."

The letter was signed by TSTA President R. L. Proffer, Executive Secretary Charles Tennison, and H. W. Stillwell, chairman of the TSTA's legislative committee.

The Legislature voted a $600 annual basic pay raise for teachers, but no tax bill to finance it.

Commenting on the tax angle, the TSTA letter said:

"The only way the Legislature could make its act of an increase in teachers' salaries effective September 1 and enable school boards to employ teachers with a definite promise of a salary raise was to pass a tax bill for the purpose."

"Although Governor Shivers and his followers fought the gas-tax law passed by the Legislature in 1951, it is our sincere hope that the tax will be finally upheld by the Supreme Court of the United States. . . ."

"It has been our position and will continue to be our position that schools are in a critical condition and that it is necessary to make more than 'an empty gesture' to solve the problem. Problems are simply not solved by 'quitting and going home' as the governor told the Legislature to do about a month ago."

The letter said the governor and his leaders must "take responsibility for the failure to provide adequately for well-trained teachers for these boys and girls."

The TSTA said that while Shivers seemed "anxious to indicate" that the association was the only group interested in salary increases, it had many allies. It listed the 400,000 members of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers and "hundreds of service and study clubs."

Fake Diploma Ring Operation Charged To Negro Teachers

AUSTIN — (AP) — Disclosure of what a spokesman called a fake diploma ring among negro public school teachers was made Friday by the State Department of Public Safety.

Homer Garrison, Jr., department director, said criminal complaints are being filed against teachers and other individuals. They charged the sale and issuance of fraudulent college degrees and transcript of credits.

N. K. Dixon, chief of the internal security section of the department, said six persons had been charged, "practically all in East Texas." He declined to name them, saying the investigation still was going on.

He named seven negro colleges on which the fake documents had been drawn but emphasized the institutions were not involved. These include Texas College and Butler College at Tyler; and Bishop College and Wiley College at Marshall.

HOLLYWOOD LOVELIES—Lovelines including this trio will perform with the Hollywood Hit Parade of 1953 at the Ranchland Hill Country Club in June. The performers include the Radio Rogues and Virginia Dew, exotic singer. The Hit Parade is due here the first week in June with the date to be announced later this week.

Amarillo Murder Suspect To Go On Trial At Vernon

VERNON — (AP) — Earl George Robertson, 21, Amarillo, is scheduled to go on trial here Monday in the killing of an Amarillo cab driver.

Joseph Paul Lucas, 20, Tamaqua, Penn., AWOL airman from Amarillo AFB, and Robertson both are charged with murder. Victor G. Smith was beaten and stabbed to death last January 6.

The two won separate trials. Then District Judge Henry Bishop of Amarillo ordered Robertson's trial transferred here, saying it was impossible to obtain a jury in Amarillo because "the newspapers' great power under freedom of the press influenced jurors and fixed opinions."

The date of Lucas' trial has not been set.

District Judge Jesse Owens will preside over Robertson's trial.

TORNADO—Five persons were killed in a rare tornado that struck Sarnia, Ontario, and Port Huron, Mich., causing damage estimated in the millions. It was believed no one was in this wrecked theater in Sarnia as power had been cut off minutes before the twister swept through the city.

Tornadoes Hit Hard, Often In United States This Year

By The Associated Press
Tornadoes have struck hard and often in the U. S. this year. A survey by The Associated Press Saturday showed there have been at least 103 twisters that have resulted in 214 deaths and caused property damage of more than 146 million dollars.

U. S. Weather Bureau records show these averages for full years since 1916—153 tornadoes, 222 deaths, property losses of 14 million dollars.

And the season of the violent rotary storms is far from over. Weather experts say May is the worst month, followed by June and April in that order.

Tornadoes have dipped into 17 states since early January. They have ranged across the South from Florida to Texas and have pounced on the central section of the nation as far north as the Canadian border.

The hardest blows fell on Texas. On the same day, May 11, tornadoes ripped into San Angelo and Waco. The wind brought death to 10 and left damage of $3,500,000 or more in San Angelo. The twister killed 114 in Waco. The property loss in Waco was estimated at $7,800,000—listed as the heaviest financial setback to a city in tornado history.

Damage in Georgia has been estimated at 65 millions. This includes damage of 50 millions to government property at the Robins Air Force Base, near Macon, April 30.

U. S. Crude Figures Fall Below Standard

TULSA —(AP)— U. S. crude oil production in March declined, causing the free world's output to slip 85,000 barrels daily, the Oil and Gas Journal said Saturday.

Total world production outside the Iron Curtain was 11,573,400 barrels daily, compared to February's 11,658,000.

U. S. daily output was 6,464,000. It recorded 6,562,000 in February, 98,000 more than March.

March was the third consecutive month reporting production decreases.

Russia and her satellites produced during March and estimated 1,178,800 barrels daily, the Journal stated. This was the same as February but a 120,000 barrel increase daily over a year ago.

Escaped Desperado Proves Not So Tough To Civilian

LANSING, MICH. —(AP)— One of seven desperados who fled Michigan's maximum-security prison was back behind bars Saturday, less than 24 hours after he broke out.

What is more, he was captured by a civilian who merely thrust his hands into his pockets as if he had a gun. He didn't.

Back was Lloyd Burgdorf, 61, a life-terminer. Jack Messenger, 48, a school bus driver, spotted him near Marquette's city dump Friday night.

Messenger stopped his car. His springer spaniel dog jumped out barking. Messenger thrust his hands in his pockets as if reaching for a gun. Burgdorf came forward, hands raised.

Authorities, however, didn't anticipate the other six would come so quickly or easily.

Among them was Lloyd Russell, 31; serving nine and one-half to 10 years for assault less than two crimes of murder. One of two brothers who escaped from the Ohio Prison Farm at London, Russell was convicted of attacking a Michigan state trooper.

Both killers and robbers also were included among those fleeing, and Warden Emery Jacques warned "all are dangerous and armed."

The warden gave this version of the escape, one of the few from this "rock."

The seven, assigned to work as plumbers on radiators in Cellblock C, overpowered at knife point two guards. Sgt. Joe Butala and John Osterburg, and locked them in cells. Then they forced several inmates they thought may interfere into cells and locked them.

Oklahoman Seeks To Reinstate Texas Air Force Projects

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Two Texas projects are on the list of cancelled air base projects that Representative Wickersham (D-Okla.) is trying to get reinstated.

Wickersham said Saturday he was asking President Eisenhower and Defense Secretary Wilson to reinstate the 14 projects, dropped early this month for economy reasons.

The cancelled proposed installations include those at Galveston and Greenville.

Surplus Foods Use To Bolster Mutual Aid Program Asked

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The American Farm Bureau Federation proposed Saturday that Congress permit the use of about a billion dollars worth of government-held surplus food stocks to help other countries in the mutual aid program.

The plan was advanced by W. Raymond Ogg, director of the bureau's international affairs section at a Senate Foreign Relations Committee hearing on the Administration's $5,800,000,000 foreign aid bill.

Ogg objected to what he called "the preponderant emphasis" put on military aid in the bill and said it was vital to build up economic as well as the military strength of the free world.

He suggested use of the surplus food and expansion of international trade as steps in that direction.

He said these foodstuffs could be sold in other countries for local currencies and these currencies used to aid in the economic development of each country. Ogg said he was not proposing "the dumping" of these stocks but their sale on a voluntary basis.

Thomas R. Owens, chairman of the CIO's Foreign Relations Committee, submitted a statement saying that the Administration's foreign aid request was "the absolute minimum" that Congress should appropriate.

Approaching Big Three Meet May Affect Decision On PW's

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON —(AP)— A new, reportedly final effort to break the deadlock blocking a Korean armistice will be made by the United Nations Command at Panmunjom Monday with concessions worked out by the United States and its Allies.

These concessions retain the principle of voluntary repatriation of all prisoners of war but apparently meet Red demands and Allied criticisms on some lesser points. The new offer will be laid down, all available information shows, with a "now or never" admonition to the Reds.

How this ultimatum-like strategy will work — whether the Communists will do business on this "last and best offer" or reject it — is not known. For one thing, officials do not know how the Reds will react to the announcement Thursday that President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Churchill and a French premier will meet on world problems next month.

Some authorities here think the coming conference may prompt the Communist high command to stall any Korean agreement in hopes that Churchill may press Eisenhower to soften his Far Eastern policies.

The Reds are well aware of Allied differences in that field. An opposite line of reasoning, however, is that if Russia wants to assure a Big Four meeting (the Western three plus Premier Malenkov) as a sequel to the Bermuda session, the Kremlin now may throw its full weight behind a prompt Korean truce agreement.

What happens in Korean is described by responsible authorities here as likely to influence President Eisenhower's thinking about any meeting with Malenkov. The President has said a Big Four session should be preceded by events holding out some reasonable hope of success in the cause of peace.

Secretary of State Dulles declared at New Delhi Friday that an end to the conflict in Korea termination of the invasion of Laos and agreement of an Austrian treaty are desirable preliminaries to top-level "East-West" talks. Dulles' comment was described here as a timely reminder of the Administration's attitude, despite statements in London and Paris that the Bermuda talks could lead to a session with Malenkov.

Next 10 Days Crucial

Since Austrian treaty negotiations are scheduled to resume in London Wednesday and Korean armistice talks resume on Monday, the next week or 10 days may well prove to be crucial in the future of East-West relations.

Concessions which the UN side is prepared to make to the Reds on the POW repatriation issue thus come at a vital time in East-West relations, although that appears to be more by chance than design.

The Reds had laid down an eight-point plan May 7, under which the fate of 48,500 prisoners of war who refused to go home to Red China and North Korea would be left up to a political conference of the powers fighting in Korea. The UN rejected this as meaning indefinite captivity.

On May 13, the UN Command made counter-proposals under which Korean prisoners refusing repatriation to North Korea would be freed immediately in South Korea, after an armistice, and Red Chinese who wouldn't go home would be turned over to a five-nation commission which would set them free in 60 days.

Speculation has been that in its modified proposals the UN Command would drop the suggestion for immediate release of 34,000 Koreans POW's and would pick up the provision for limited political conference study of the POW problem, to be followed by UN action in event the political conference made no decision.

Girls Escape Grave Injury When Car Leaps Over Curb

Two teen-age Midland girls miraculously escaped critical injuries Friday afternoon when they were crushed against a building by an automobile at West Illinois and North Pecos Streets.

Both girls, Joan Benton, 13, of 1115 East Hickory Street, and Carol Bell, 14, of 704 South Dallas Street, still were in Western Clinic-Hospital Saturday afternoon, but their injuries were not regarded as serious.

Traffic Officer Ben Gay said the two girls were walking in front of the HAH Shopping Center shortly after noon Friday when an automobile jumped the curb and plowed them against the building.

The automobile, police said, was driven by Mrs. Lavonne H. Hall, 2507 West College Street.

The younger girl suffered severe leg lacerations while the other suffered bruises and lacerations about the body.

STALIN'S DEATH IS CUE—Red China Moves To Dominate Asia

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst
The West now must consider the possibility that Communist China has seized the opportunity to assert its intention of becoming the dominant force in Asia.

A broad hint is contained in the news that Moscow-sponsored Li Lisan has been bounced from his job as ruler of Chinese trade unions and apparently has vanished.

Many indications have popped up in the last two years of a difference of opinion between Peking and Moscow on spheres of influence in Asia. Mao Tse-Tung, for example, evidently claims the Indian Communist Party as his own stomping ground.

A development in India underscores this. A K. Gopalan, a leader of the Indian Communist Party, announced in Parliament his opinion that Stalin was partly to blame for the fantastic "doctors' plot" denounced in Moscow after the Soviet dictator's death.

An extreme leftist, Li lost out as the Chinese party chief in 1951. Mao purged Stalinists from the party ranks. Li fled to Moscow and stayed there until late 1945.

Stalinist Eased Out

Though Moscow forced Li Lisan back on the Chinese at the close of World War II, there is good reason to believe Mao did not welcome the prodigal with open arms. After Stalin's death, Mao cannot have failed to notice that the name of the Soviet dictator was less and less glorified. It was an opportune moment to get rid of a Stalinist.

A quiet Chinese Communist revolt against Moscow domination could play havoc with the Russian peace offensive. Its key slogan is a "pact of peace of the five great powers," including Communist China. This implies recognition of Peking in the United Nations. But if Mao is contesting with Moscow over spheres of influence, it is certain the Kremlin would be aghast at acceptance of the peace pact proposal.

Nehru's Theory

Recently the Chinese seemed to have informed the Russians rather sharply that the 300 million dollars worth of credits given the Chinese by the USSR under a 1950 treaty was a mere drizzle in the bucket for a nation prosecuting a war in Korea and supplying the Communist-led rebel campaigns in Indochina.

The West should not be misled by the frequent protestations in the Soviet press of unbreakable friendship with the Chinese.

Perhaps there is substance to a theory of India's Prime Minister Nehru. Secretary of State Dulles, reporting on his talk with the Indian leader, says the West now should explore "India's basic premise that China will ultimately drift away from the Soviet Union if sufficiently encouraged by Western policies."

First Test Firing Of Atomic Cannon Slated For Monday On Nevada Desert

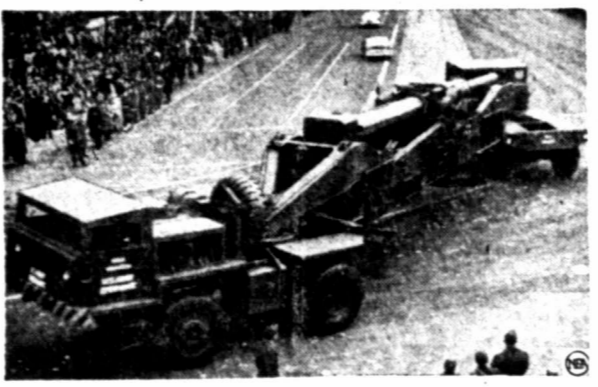

IN THE FACTORY, specifications called for ability to fire both conventional and atomic ammunition.

IN THE DESERT, troops will crouch in foxholes seven miles from the a-cannon near the point of the shellburst.

IN THE AIR, the burst at 500-foot altitude will be similar to other blasts.

IN THE FIELD, the 85-ton cannon is moved swiftly by special equipment.

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — The first test-firing of an atomic shell from the United States' giant cannon is scheduled at Nevada Proving Ground shortly after dawn Monday. The historic shot may not be heard 'round the world but it is certain to be noticed by Russia's military leaders.

Galveston Man Named New Eagle President

Almost 500 Eagles from throughout Texas, tired but spirited as they wound up their 48th annual Texas-Louisiana Bi-State Convention here Saturday night, named J. J. Russo of Galveston as their past president for the coming year.

The election of Russo, a Galveston merchant, and other officers highlighted the final business session of the three-day meeting held at the Hotel Scharbauer.

A banquet, featuring an address by District Judge R. W. (Bob) Hamilton, and a dance in the Hotel Scharbauer ballroom, ended the busy program and the last of the 430 registered visitors were expected to head for their homes Sunday.

The delegates representing some 15,000 members of the Fraternal Order of Eagles throughout Texas decided in the closing session to hold next year's convention in San Antonio.

While the Eagles were busy with their final business meeting Saturday afternoon, members of the auxiliary picked Mrs. Eve Thompson of Port Arthur as state president.

As the convention neared its climax, delegates crowded around Midland Secretary Eric J. Robertson to claim the Midland convention one of the best in the organization's history.

"Everything was perfect," said Carl J. DeGriff, of South Bend, Ind., a past grand trustee, who represented the national organization.

"I don't think Midland left a single stone unturned to make this occasion a memorable one."

DeGriff himself was officially made a Midland honorary citizen during Saturday afternoon's session as Master of Ceremonies Ted Thompson presented him with a regulation 10-gallon western hat.

During the three-day convention, the Eagles turned to the more serious part of their program as they made plans to intensify efforts in behalf of the unfortunate and plan a continuation of their youth guidance program.

The delegates voted to continue their efforts in behalf of the Damon Runyon Memorial Cancer Foundation and to actively support the Hugen Home for Crippled Children at Port Arthur.

Named along with Russo as state officers were William B. Hatten of Houston, vice president; C. E. Tix of Galveston, chaplain; J. K. Bartlett of San Antonio, conductor; Edward P. Steffler of San Antonio, secretary; E. R. Barron of San Antonio, treasurer; Roy F. Bell of Big Spring, inside guard, and W. P. Schultze of San Antonio, outside guard.

Named as trustees were Robertson, L. J. Burger of Corpus Christi; W. A. Evans of Houston; W. J. Barrilleaux of Port Arthur and E. J. Powell of Kingsville.

Other auxiliary officers included Veda M. Ater, vice president; Mary H. Meyer of Houston, secretary; Verna Humphrey of Corpus Christi, chaplain; Una Mae Johnson of Odessa, conductor; Hazel D. Gray of Corpus Christi, treasurer; Hazel Kepse of Harlingen, inside guard, and Agnes Bartlett of San Antonio, outside guard.

Trustees are Darlene French of Midland; Lorene Meek of San Angelo; Edith Faiber of Houston; Bernice Ebersberger of San Antonio; Johnnie Johnson of Kingsville and Jane Jacobs of Houston.

jectile into the breach of the 280-millimeter gun, but will not fire it. At safe distance.

That will be done by electrical control by Atomic Energy Commission scientists in the control tower about 10 miles distant from the gun position on Frenchman Flat.

After loading the shell, and before the impulse detonates the propelling charge, the team will duck behind revetments a safe distance from the weapon. The Army hasn't said how far away, but presumably it will be 4,500 yards—the distance 2,400 troops and 575 officer-observers will be stationed from ground zero (the point directly under the blast).

In case of misfire

In case of a misfire or possible breach, burst, the Army is certain to want the gun crew at least that distance from the weapon.

The important nuclear test—tenth and last of the 1953 Spring series—is expected to attract many of the top brass.

Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson and more than 100 congressmen are planning to see the big experiment at the AEC's invitation. But newsmen were not invited and will have to take up opposite vantage points.

Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army chief of staff, and Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens will be in the Pentagon delegation.

Seven-Mile Target

Industry will be represented by leaders of various companies which had some part in making or furnishing parts for the A-gun.

The atomic projectile will be aimed at a general target area seven miles away and fused to burst at an elevation of 500 feet, the Army has announced. This distance and height firing with conventional ammunition March 26 at Fort Sill.

In the target area stands a 15-car freight train on a trestle, and were used in 11 rounds of practice various types of construction believed to include simulated fortifications and sections of civilian housing.

44 Feet Long

The specifications of the nation's first nuclear shell are top secret, but it is believed to weigh 1,000 pounds and measure less than 11 inches in diameter, the dimension of the gun barrel. The shell is probably two and one-half feet long.

As for the gun itself, it is described as a highly mobile Big Bertha, despite its ponderous 85 tons. Carried by two motor tractors, it can move across fields as well as along highways. It is slightly over 44 feet long.

Technically, the Army says, it's not a cannon in the howitzer sense. It is classified as the T-131 rifle and can be very accurately aimed, firing both conventional and atomic shells under all-weather conditions.

Mental Picture

In case of emergency, the Army brought two of the giant guns from Fort Sill. Presumably the second gun will be ready for use at a safe distance from No. 1 if something goes wrong.

The mental picture drawn by AEC and Army spokesmen indicates a quadrangular pattern on the desert flat, with the guns in separate "corners," both trained on the target in a far corner, and, in the fourth corner, the troops in foxhole positions.

At any rate, the spokesmen say, there will be only one shot fired. After a safe interval—an hour or more depending on ground radiation—the troops will move forward in an attack maneuver.

NO SLIGHT INTENDED, GIRLS— Busy Week At White House Dashes Club Women's Hopes

WASHINGTON — Mrs. Eisenhower is very, very sorry, but she can't invite the General Federation of Women's Clubs to the White House, although she hopes to drop in on one of their convention sessions this week.

That was the news which greeted early arrivals to the 62nd annual convention of the world's largest organization of women. It brought expressions of disappointment that they, unlike the Daughters of the American Revolution and other women's groups, are not being received at the White House during their first convention in Washington.

The General Federation has 11 million members, half in this country and half overseas. It represents 800,000 individual women's clubs in the U. S. at least 3,000 members are expected for the convention.

Mrs. Oscar A. Ahlgren of Whiting, Ind., General Federation president, several weeks ago submitted several plans to the White House for recognition of her organization. No snags were anticipated, seeing that Mrs. Eisenhower had received 3,000 members of the DAR, 1,000 wives of members attending the U. S. Chamber of Commerce convention and smaller groups.

But up until late Saturday afternoon the clubwomen had no reply to their suggestion.

Ex-Soldier Flown To Korea To Face Charge Of Murder

SEOUL — An American honorably discharged from the Air Force almost six months ago was under heavy guard Sunday in a "league" prison stockade awaiting court martial on charges of murder after being arrested in a Pittsburgh, Pa., steel plant and flown back to Korea.

The steel worker, Robert W. Toth, 21, is accused of slaying a South Korean civilian back in September, 1952.

Considerable secrecy shrouded the first such return of a former member of the armed forces to military custody for court martial under the uniform code of military justice.

Under the code, effective June 1, 1951, an ex-service man can be arrested for court martial if the offense is punishable by imprisonment of five years or more and he cannot be tried in civilian courts.

Toth was arrested quietly while at work in the steel plant May 15. He later was back in Korea five days later.

Texans Hit Canada For Get-Acquainted Visit To Neighbor

EDMONTON, CANADA — A party of 143 Texans, decked out in 10-gallon hats, plaid shirts and high-heeled boots, arrived Saturday on a get-acquainted visit.

They took a day-long bus tour of the city and surrounding areas, including the oil fields, industrial areas, packing plants and farms.

Mayor William Hawreik, welcomed them. He was presented a souvenir foot-long cigar by Rip McKenzie, Mexia.

Murray Cox, farm editor of Radio Station WFAA, Dallas, who originated the trips, said it was the fourth such excursion to Canada undertaken by Texas farmers, ranchers and business men.

They arrived by train and will return home by way of the Canadian Rockies and the West Coast.

Young Crane Crash Victim Due Long-Distance Diploma

CRANE—Bobby Robinson, who has been in the Methodist Hospital in Dallas since the fatal airplane crash which took the life of his father, Dr. Frank Robinson, will be awarded his high school diploma at graduation exercises here Friday night.

Although Bobby will not be present, the diploma will be awarded on the basis of his past record.

He also is in the running for the Babe Ruth Award for senior boys, the winner of which will be announced at the exercises. Other boys in the running are Kenneth Terrell and George Scott. Charline Ellison and Charlene Blair are vieing for the girl's award.

C. A. Carroll, principal of the High School, previously entered a motion to the school board, that Bobby receive his diploma, which was passed. Besides his outstanding grades, he has been drum major in the band two years, in the All-State Bank, a member of the stage band, member of the science club and active in dramatic work.

After he is fully recovered from the injuries in his back, Bobby plans to enter SMU for pre-medical work to follow in the profession of his father.

He is expected to be moved home in June. His mother, Mrs. Frank Robinson, was in Crane recently and reports his condition to be improving rapidly. His full recovery is expected in several months, she said.

 REPORTING THE TOP NEWS IN REAL ESTATE

MIDLAND IS BEING CAUGHT with its temperature up, but we have some excellent homes with their finances down. For example, on heavily shaded Ridgely, we have a wonderful 3-bedroom, huge den, and 1 1/2 bath home, which is the perfect thing for our West Texas Summer—because it's centrally air conditioned. You'll love the design, color scheme, and cheerfulness of the large kitchen. Nicely carpeted, recently redecorated. Landscaping, trees, fenced yard. Asking $16,900.

EVERY DAY and more and more, Loma Linda looks lovelier than ever—and I ought to know. I live there. I call it "TOWN NORTH." Nestled among nice homes is a 2-bedroom, attached carport, asbestos siding home which could be purchased for as little as $1,550 down. It's on Oak. On Spruce, we have 2 more lovely homes available. And at 305 and 313 Cottonwood, you'll find two cute homes which will put you in the ranks of a proud homeowner. As always, we provide full transportation at your convenient time.

IT JUST AIN'T ENOUGH merely to want a larger home. You gotta do something about it. We've done our part by securing an extremely attractive home for you on West Cowden. 2 large bedrooms, huge cedar paneled den, 2 baths, living room, separate dining room, double carport and storage. The spacious kitchen will surely please the most discriminating. Beautiful landscaping with 40 growing popular trees, paved corner lot. Only $13,750.

SUPERLATIVELY BEAUTIFUL comes reasonably close to describing 2507 Country Club Drive. 2 large bedrooms, paneled den, 2 ceramic baths, living and dining room combination, rustic kitchen, utility room, and attached garage. Without embellishment, these are the facts. As the magnificence of this home defies greater articulation, permit me cordially to invite you to see it personally. Priced under $30,000.

MY BOSS IS NEVER WRONG when it comes to real estate—and he said that 1610 No. "L" Street will sell to some smart purchaser within 2 weeks. And that smart shopper will get 3 wonderful bedrooms, 2 ceramic baths, spacious living room with a dining L, and a bit-of-old-New England kitchen. The 2-car garage is attached, and the large corner lot is tile fenced. Central heating and air conditioning, and softly carpeted thru-out. It's hot-box new. Priced at $24,000.

FOR THE BACHELOR MAN about to be married: It's got 2 bedrooms, nice living room, tile bath, bigger kitchen, and attached carport and storage. Paved Pecan Street. ONLY $750 down including all closing costs.

FOR THE MAN WHO LOVES his wife: It's on Delano Street, with 2 bedrooms and a 10x24 paneled den, tile bath, nice living room and kitchen and huge pantry. Central heating, air conditioning unit, plaster walls, mahogany doors. Assume FHA loan and make payments of only $53. Excellent financing. Asking $9,800.

FOR THE FAMILY WHO LOVES its children: Removed from all traffic lanes, this modern styled home harmonizes contemporary living with quiet sophistication. 3 large bedrooms, 2 tile and Marolyte baths, 20 feet of wonderful kitchen, and attached garage. The living room and the massive wood-burning fireplace will be a source of constant delight to the entire family. Central heating and air-conditioning, lushly carpeted, and strewn with all the modern devices to make your living lazy. Tile fence, water well, large outside terrace, and greenly landscaped. $24,000.

DIAL 2-1693. Ask for the real estate department, and say: "Hey, give me the full scoop on the Richards' house, the one that has the 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, the big living room, the dining room, and the 2 carports. You know, the one that is so terrifically priced at $18,950." ... we'll do the rest.

Discovery Is Indicated In Andrews

Shows possible Strawn discovery have been uncovered at Standard Oil & Gas Company and Anderson-Prichard Oil Corporation No. 1-AE Midland Farms, wildcat in northeast Andrews County, two miles northeast of the Midland Farms (multipay) field. Drillstem test was taken from 10,020 to 10,070 feet. Tool was open three hours. Gas surfaced in 21 minutes. Recovery was 180 feet of oil and 680 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut mud. Flowing pressure ranged from 230 to 305 pounds. Shut-in bottomhole pressure was 1,300 pounds in 30 minutes. Hole then was deepened to 10,117 feet, where another drillstem test was being taken in the interval from 10,070-10,117 feet. This project earlier had indicated as a possible producer from the Grayburg. Location is 668 feet from north and 860 feet from west lines of the southwest quarter of the northeast quarter of section 45, block 41, T-2-N, G&M&B&A survey.

Scientific Nose Smells Signs Of Oil; Electronic Eye Scans

By ALTON L. BLAKELEE
TULSA—(AP)—A scientific nose and eyes are being used to sniff out oil. A vacuum pump pulls out any gas and mixes it with air. Then the air-gas mixture passes over a hot wire filament. Any gas present burns, making the filament hotter. All are recorded. The increase in heat cuts down the amount of electricity flowing between two electrodes in the nose apparatus. The electrical change is detected on a meter, and recorded automatically.

Petroleum Production To Meet Needs Of Consumer In Future

KANSAS CITY—Assuming this country holds on to its workable economic system without upsetting traditional incentives, the petroleum industry will be able to supply the fabulously growing demand for its products in the foreseeable future. This prediction was made by H. E. Purdy, manager of the Kansas City sales field of Standard Oil Company. Speaking to a class on petroleum at the School of Law, University of Kansas City, Purdy forecast a 46 per cent increase in domestic demand for petroleum products by 1967, or three times the amount being used just before World War II. He said the estimate by Standard Oil economists put total demand at 10,280,000 barrels daily. This would represent a 44 per cent rise in gasoline use, 44 per cent in kerosene and distillate fuel oil, 20 per cent in residual fuels, and 62 per cent for other products, including lubricating oil, asphalt, waxes, petroleum chemicals, coke, still gas and liquefied petroleum gas. Bottled gas demand alone is expected to be up 175 per cent. The standard sales executive warned the students not to fall for

Mollet To Attempt Cementing Cabinet

PARIS—(AP)—President Vincent Auriol said late Saturday he is going to ask Socialist leader Guy Mollet to try to form a cabinet replacing that of Premier Rene Mayer, ousted Thursday. Mollet, whose party has balked at the proposed rearmament of Western Germany, was vice premier under Henri Queuille in 1951. Earlier that year he tried to form a cabinet during one of Franco's many crises but failed. Political experts gave him little chance of success this time. The Socialists, who with 105 deputies have the largest group in the National Assembly, have preferred to stay out of recent French cabinets.

Grunewald To Face Sentence Which May End Unique Career

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The fabulous career of Henry W. Grunewald, Washington influence man with connections in high places, is about to be smacked by a judge's gavel.

Henry (The Dutchman) will be sentenced Thursday for contempt of Congress.

Grunewald is the "mystery man" whose shadowy operations in the capital over almost a quarter century ran his income up to six figures. People thought he could do wonders, he says, where others would fail.

Names Not Familiar

As the bald, raspy-voiced man-about-town gave chips and pieces of his story to highly skeptical House investigators, it was one involving such things as:

—Amazing winnings on the horses—more than $361,000 in six years—rather than fat fees for fixing tax cases. Yet Grunewald "couldn't" remember the name of one nag" he bet on.

First name friendships with high tax officials in the years Grunewald claimed he made the most on horses. He was willing to call that coincidence.

Henry W. Grunewald

Meeting a lawyer at Washington's Union Station to pick up a package of fish, wrapped in paper and brought clear from New York by train, Grunewald says it was sturgeon and it wasn't stuffed with $60,000 in cash to get a criminal tax fraud case dropped. The lawyer testified he never brought any fish to anyone in Washington.

Fees of $4,000 and $7,500 Grunewald said were merely for introducing people to each other.

Private investigations for prominent people, big corporations and labor unions, Grunewald tossed out such names as those of the late President Roosevelt, Union Leader John L. Lewis, American Broadcasting Company, Pan-American Airways, the AFL carpenters' Union. He refused to say what the exact nature of any of the investigations was.

In addition, Grunewald told of gifts, favors and loans to government officials. He says he didn't ask favors in return.

Furthermore, Grunewald says he gave away around $4,000 worth of Christmas ties at $7.50 apiece to prominent persons. Word has been getting around Capitol Hill that some members of Congress and various big business men are shivering at the thought the list of recipients might be made public.

Official records show Grunewald had a wide acquaintance among officeholders and high powered politicians of both parties.

Names On List

On the list are former Vice President Alben W. Barkley; Thomas G. Corcoran, one-time member of President Roosevelt's brain trust; Immigration Commissioner Arlyle R. Mackey; former General Services Administrator Jess Larson; the late Max Gardner, who was Treasury undersecretary; former Senators Owen Brewster (R-Maine), D. Worth Clark (D-Iaho), Gerald P. Nye (R-ND) and Arthur Robinson (R-Ind).

Grunewald acknowledged he once got a fee from Clark and supplied collateral for a bank loan to Nye—after they left the Senate. And he was the go-between through whom Brewster said he loaned $5,000 to Richard M. Nixon and another $5,000 to Senator Young (R-ND) for 1950 Senate primary campaign. Nixon now is vice president.

Keeps His Hat On

Brewster said he was chairman of the Republican senatorial campaign committee at the time and used Grunewald because of party rules against helping individuals in intra-party campaigns.

Several times through the years Grunewald's activities have taken him onto thin ice, in liquor, black market and wiretapping cases. Always he has managed to slide to safety and keep on operating.

But now the man who has been called wirepuller, fixer, gambler, a person "who can go into senators' offices with his hat on," is under orders from Federal Judge Alexander Holtzoff to appear in court Thursday to be sentenced for contempt.

Independent Oil Operator In Europe Heading For Tulsa

By GRACE HALSELL
Reporter-Telegram Special Correspondent

VIENNA, AUSTRIA—Europe's self-styled only independent oil operator had his bags all packed for a trip to Oklahoma and Texas when I talked with him in his suite of offices here.

He is Keith Van Sickle, who will attend the International Oil Exposition in Tulsa.

"While I am that far, I intend to run on down to Texas and visit my oil friends there," Van Sickle said. He will make the trip half way around the world "without flying, if I can help it," he said.

He will travel by ship to New York, then drive South in his Cadillac, which he will take along with him.

Van Sickle, who says he is the only independent operator in Europe, explained he was an independent before the war "and afterwards I have been trying to pick up the threads."

A Canadian by birth, the oil man admits: "You have to know something to keep independent. Usually they get swallowed by the big people."

He said he came "from a very old Canadian background," but when Ontario ran out of oil, his grandparents and parents moved to Europe and drilled.

Austrian Discovery

Van Sickle followed in their steps, and found oil in Austria "just before Hitler took over the country." During the war, he served with the British Royal Engineers.

Being an oil operator in Europe is more difficult than in the United States, Van Sickle believes, "from the point of raw materials, controlled production, prices and difficulty in obtaining equipment."

Equipment for exploration has been coming from the United States, he said, and "they have started making the heavy equipment now in Germany and in Austria."

"We are now drilling 6,000 feet for oil," Van Sickle said.

He said that while his people came from America to Europe to explore for oil, "I will now complete the cycle—and return to America."

British Climbers To Try For Crest Of Everest Sunday

NEW DELHI—(AP)—The British Mt. Everest expedition reportedly will try Sunday to reach the unconquered summit of the world's highest mountain.

Reports from the Nepalese capital of Katmandu said expedition leader Col. John Hunt will send two teams of climbers on separate routes toward the 29,000-foot top, weather permitting.

In preparation for the final assault, the party of 15 British and Nepalese climbers has worked several weeks establishing a string of camps up the Mt. Everest slope. The schedule was said to provide for the seventh advance camp to have been set up Saturday below the 28,000-foot level.

The Indian government's latest meteorology report said the weather was "generally fair" in the Mt. Everest region of the Himalayas.

At least 10 teams have tried to scale the peak but have failed.

Bids Asked On Underpass Project Here

The State Highway Department Saturday had called officially for bids in June on the Big Spring Street underpass.

District Engineer Roy Faltinson of Pecos announced that the plans for the project had been completed and proved and bids will be opened late in June.

Work is expected to start on the long-awaited project within a short time.

In addition to the underpass itself, beneath the Texas and Pacific railroad tracks, the project calls for the widening and construction of necessary curb and gutters from West Wall Street south to West Florida Street.

Bids will be opened at the same time on three other projects of major importance to Midlanders.

One is the widening of Andrews Highway over the 10.9 miles from the Midland city limits northwest to the Ector County line. The present 18-foot roadway will be widened to 24 feet.

Another is the paving of a 13.2-mile stretch on State Highway 249 from its intersection with Farm Road 87 north to Patricia in Dawson County. This will provide a paved road direct from Midland to Lamesa.

The third is the paving of Farm Road 1211 in Loving County from two miles east of Mintone to Winkler County line, a distance of 14.9 miles. The road already is paved from the Winkler County line to Kermit.

Faltinson said estimated cost of the four projects is $1,100,000.

Balmerhea Swimming Pool To Be Opened

PECOS—Rumors that the swimming pool at Balmerhea State Park will be closed are not true, according to Dr. Hugh Martin, Reeves County health officer.

"The Texas State Health Department has inspected the pool and said that it will remain open," Dr. Martin said.

Last year, Dr. Martin and A. R. Elliot, Pecos health officer, inspected the pool and asked that it be closed because of the discoloration and bad odor of the water.

They received a letter from F. A. McNeil, maintenance supervisor of the Texas State Parks Board, saying that he and R. H. Weis, district engineer, had found the pool satisfactory.

DENVER—(AP)—John Edwards, 55, a druggist, told police Saturday he slapped the face of a young man who told him "this is a sticky" Friday night.

Then the man's companion drew a gun, so Edwards ended hostilities, was tied up and saw the men take $50 from the cash register.

FHA Plan Used In Producing Many Of Nation's New Homes

WASHINGTON — An upsurge in mortgage insurance applications being filed with FHA field offices, following the reduced levels during the period of mortgage credit restrictions has been disclosed by Commissioner Guy T. O. Holliday. According to reports from its 73 field offices, the volume of applications for mortgage insurance is running 20 per cent above last year for the first four months period. This gain over last year has been increasing from month to month and in the month of April for new construction alone the increase in volume was 36 per cent over April of last year.

Commissioner Holliday pointed out the FHA plan has been used in producing one out of every four new homes in the country. Applications received by FHA during the first four months of this year totaled 205,700 units. Of these, 81,100 were for new construction. The FHA volume this year is 20 per cent greater than during the same period in 1952.

Comparative Figures

Compared with a decline of 13 per cent in new construction applications during January and an increase of 36 per cent in new construction applications in April, the first week in May was more than double the volume of new construction applications reported in the same week in 1952.

While sure a large percentage increase over 1952 probably will not be maintained throughout the remainder of 1953, an average increase of 20 per cent for the remainder of the year would result in a total volume of more than 635,000 FHA applications for the year.

French Ask U. S. For Aircraft Ship To Fight Commies

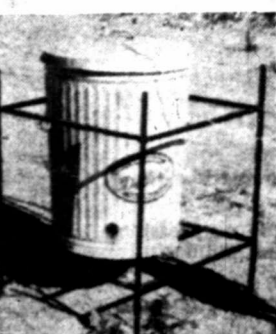

WASHINGTON — France has asked the United States for another small aircraft carrier for use in the Indochina War, and the American government is considering the request.

Diplomatic officials said Saturday the urgent request was made by the French Embassy to the State Department within the last week. It was described as being in addition to the regular flow of military materiel for the anti-Communist forces in the Indochina War.

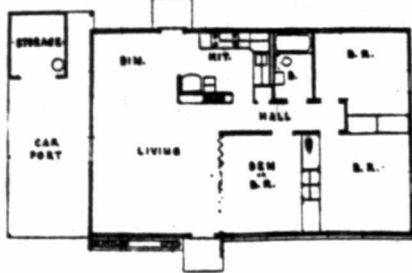

French naval forces in Indochina were given one light carrier, the Langley, in January, 1951. There are about 30 escort and light carriers in the U. S. mothball fleet now.

France also recently requested and obtained a force of C-119 Flying Boxcars to meet emergency needs of the defense against the Communist invasion of the Indochina state of Laos. The United States acted quickly when that request was made and it was believed that the government would deal speedily with the flat-top request. If it has authority under present laws to transfer a naval vessel of this kind, diplomats said some question had been raised about such authority.

SOUTHWEST'S NEWEST — Here's the Westerner, brand new and precision-engineered for American homeowners in the Southwest. New Hardwood Floors Improve Older Homes

If you're planning to modernize an old home, one problem you may face is unightly floors. They may be of a type which cannot be restored to beauty by sanding and refinishing, as can the average floor of oak or other hardwood. A sound procedure, then, may be to have new hardwood installed right over the old floors. Although representing a major permanent improvement, such a project generally costs less than good quality floor covering for a similar area.

Permian Basin Home Show Set In Odessa

The first annual Permian Basin Home Show, scheduled June 11-13 in Odessa, will bring dealers and builders together with the buying public to the advantage of all concerned. Show officials pointed out in announcing the event. The home show will be scheduled for alternate years with the Permian Basin Oil Show, utilizing the same facilities. Heading the first show is E. C. Bunch, Odessa builder, who first presented the idea of the show to Odessa and Midland contractors and dealers. He has followed through to the point where the show now appears to be the biggest of its kind ever seen in West Texas.

On top for the entertainment are Ray Noble and his celebrated orchestra, Clyde (Sugar Blue) McCoy and his orchestra, Jerry (Professor) Colonna, and other stage and screen personalities. Dances and entertainment are scheduled for afternoon and night performances, June 11, 12 and 13.

"We have gone to considerable expense," Bunch said, "to provide the high type of entertainment we know people enjoy. But the home show is more than a Hollywood production. In fact, if we were in the entertainment business purely and simply, we would have no need for exhibits and sponsors. The show provides the ideal opportunity for dealers in all lines of home-building and home furnishing, as well as for home services to display their wares and goods before people who are becoming more-and-more home-conscious every day."

Midlander Awarded $500 In Ward Suit

MONAHAN — Brick Burgamy of Midland was awarded $500 by a 109th District Court jury Thursday in his suit against the City of Monahan alleging damages after 1951 Spring rains.

Burgamy, formerly of Monahan, asked $4,000 for alleged damages as a result of overflow of water after the city improved Vernon Street.

His claim was that the street grade was above the level of his rental property. After the rain, the water was impounded on his lot and damaged the grounds and house, he alleged.

The city argued that the grading of the street did not cause the damage as the property was one of the two lowest places in the city and would have been subject to overflow in any event.

Burgamy was represented by Guy McFarland of Odessa and Murray J. Howze of Monahan. The city's lawyer was R. B. Rawlins of Monahan.

Solons Cut Rivers-Harbors Budget Asked By President

WASHINGTON — P — The House Appropriations Committee recommended Saturday a 16.9 per cent slash in funds requested by President Eisenhower for rivers and harbors, and flood control projects of the Army Engineers in the year beginning July 1.

The total of $398,884,100 recommended is a reduction of $163,022,500 under the current year's appropriations, and is 39.4 per cent below the budget recommendations in January by President Truman.

Funds for general construction on the scores of local water projects constituted the major part of appropriations recommended to finance the civil functions of the Army for the coming year.

For all these functions, including such things as maintenance of national cemeteries and operation of the Panama Canal, the Engineers were allowed $415,901,600, a reduction of $168,075,000 under current 1953 funds.

Money for flood control and navigation represents a cut of $262,640,000 from recommendations of Truman and a reduction of $80,608,000 from the revised budget estimates of Eisenhower April 20.

Last year Congress voted $561,906,000 for flood control and navigation projects.

She was evicted for non-payment of what she calls "robbery rent." Her troubles started last February when the frail little old lady tossed her landlord out as he allegedly "invaded" her house. Her rent was then increased from $45 to $75 a month.

The construction business in Midland moved along at a slow pace again last week but the 1953 building permits continued to inch higher.

Marshall Women Carry Tax Debate To Circuit Court

MARSHALL —P— A group of Marshall wives who don't believe in collecting social security taxes from servants arranged Saturday for a Federal Circuit Court hearing Tuesday in New Orleans.

The group borrowed $1,500 from Marshall banks Saturday to pay a lawyer for representing them. At least 11 wives plan to attend the trial.

A spokesman said they would be joined in New Orleans by Vivien Kellums, Connecticut industrialist and outspoken foe of federal withholding taxes. Mary Cain, Mississippi editor opposed to certain federal taxes, and Westbrook Pegler, the columnist.

The case began when several Marshall women refused to deduct social security taxes. The Internal Revenue Bureau seized their bank accounts to collect the taxes and penalty due. The women took the case to Federal Court, calling the deduction clause unconstitutional. A judgment was returned against them in Federal District Court.

Members of the Marshall group planning to go to New Orleans include Mrs. Etheltra Spangler, Mrs. Louise Littlejohn, Mrs. Jennie Abney, Mrs. Janie Pitts, Mrs. Carolyn Abney, Mrs. Virginia Whelan, Mrs. Eleanor Bradford, Mrs. Winnifred Furrh, Mrs. Martha Foster, Mrs. Mozelle Warren and Mrs. Connie Key Wood.

New Troubles Beset Plains Farmers Losing Gas Service

DUMAS.—(P)—The Farmers Home Administration notified farmers in seven High Plains counties Saturday it will cut off federal aid if they can't get natural gas to power their irrigation systems.

Insurance Adjuster Says Tornado Loss Greatly Exaggerated

HOUSTON.—(P)—Expert appraisers differ by almost 40 million dollars in their estimate of tornado losses in Waco, it was disclosed here Saturday.

Earlier this week a Federal Reserve analyst reported damage at $57,800,000 following a survey over the ruined area.

A few days after the tornado, Army Engineers made a rough estimate of 50 millions loss.

help from Congress Friday. A spokesman said Texas congressmen had promised to present their case for continuation of cheap natural gas service.

Martin Gossett, Moore County farm agent, said he received a telegram, FHA administrator in Dallas, advising the group: "FHA approval of the North Plains irrigation area was based principally on the fact that natural gas would be available for fuel. If this fuel cannot be obtained it will be necessary for FHA to withdraw entirely approval of the area for irrigation loans."

Phillips had been selling gas cheaply to landowners who hold Phillips gas royalty leases by tying gas lines from main wellheads to water wells on property under lease.

James Morton, Moore County Farm Bureau president, said irrigation in the area would be doomed "if we can't get this thing ironed out." That was before the FHA decided to withdraw federal support.

The landowners prepared a resolution for the Legislature.

But they lost and the government went ahead with its plans, clearing the area of the trees local folk had fought to save. Now, because of manpower and budget cutbacks, Defense Department has abandoned its plans for a base there.

ON AROUND THE WORLD TOUR Young Midlander Discovers Beauty Abounds In Japan

By RANELLE RHODES

(Twelve-year-old Midlander who is on an around the world tour with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Rhodes.)

TOKYO, JAPAN.—We arrived in Yokohama in the morning. There isn't very much to see there so we drove to Kamakura. Between Kamakura and Yokohama there is a big bay called the Sagami Bay, named after a man from Mississippi. The road was awful.

When we got to Kamakura we went to a typical Japanese home. We had to take off our shoes before entering the front door. It was so beautiful I can see why they take their shoes off because they have beautiful wooden floors.

only eats breakfast. Most Japanese are Buddhists and worship their ancestors.

The next day we went to a shrine. We got there at the right time because we got to see a Shinto wedding. It was interesting. The bride saw the big bronze Buddha. It is a solid white hat which covered the huge and very old. In front of the Buddha is a big plate full of oranges. They said that the Big Buddha hair because it was just right. The groom wore pants and a coat just like our grooms do. In the Shinto religion they believe that no one can get married without match-makers. That was the most fascinating thing I have ever seen.

When we got to Nikko we went to the Toshogu Shrine. That is where the three little monkeys—Speak No Evil, Hear No Evil and See No Evil—are. There are six different temples there. There are more than six acres of gold leaf on all the buildings. Nikko is high up in the mountains. It is a very interesting place. Arriving back in Tokyo, we got on another train. This one was beautiful. The observation car was very odd. It was painted with flowers and had flowers in pots all over it. We saw some interesting things on the way. We saw a man on a wheel pumping water into an irrigation ditch.

Solons Say Ammo Shortages Cost Needless Loss Of Lives

WASHINGTON—Four of five senators who investigated ammunition supplies in Korea reported Saturday that "there was a needless loss of American lives" because of shortages there.

SEAGOING JEEP—U. S. Marines are soldiers of the sea, so it's only appropriate that they have a seagoing jeep. It's the Mighty Mite, pictured here during tests in the Potomac River near the Quantico, Va., Marine base. The Mite is kept afloat by four inflated rubber tubes. It is propelled and steered by the wheels. The oversized notches on the tire treads are big enough to act as "paddle wheels" and move the vehicle forward or back.

Daddy Ringtail and The Third Little Pig

Our friends were playing the story of the three little pigs. Mugwump was playing that he was the pig. The Huffen was playing that he was the big bad wolf who does the huffing and blowing in of the little pig's house.

It was fun to play this game. The Huffen blew in the first little house made of straw, and he tried to nibble a bite of Mugwump's ears to make the playing-like very real. But Daddy Ringtail said no, and Mugwump said no, but still—when the Huffen blew in the second little house made of wood—there he was again, trying to nibble Mugwump's ears. The Huffen was forgetting that he was really a friendly wolf, and not a great dangerous wolf at all.

Everyone said the Huffen must not forget any more, and then they came to the house that the third little pig had made of stone, playlike. The Huffen knocked on the door, and said: "Little Pig, Little Pig, let me come in!"

And Mugwump answered from inside: "No, and no, and a thousand times no, and not by the hair of my chinny-chin!"

And so the Huffen began to puff and huff. He puffed and he huffed, and he huffed and he puffed—but he couldn't blow in this little house, because it was made of stone and very strong.

Then the Huffen climbed up on the roof—like the bad wolf in the story of the Three Little Pigs. Yes, and down went the Huffen through the chimney.

"Kerplash!" was the noise when the Huffen came to the bottom, for there inside the house and under the chimney was a big pot of water. The Huffen fell in it when he came down the chimney, and there he was, sitting in the water with only his head sticking out, and his knees underneath his chin.

Mugwump laughed to see him. Daddy Ringtail did some laughing too, when Mugwump opened the door to let him in, and the Huffen laughed to see them laugh.

No one was hurt. There wasn't a fire in the fireplace, and the water wasn't hot, and that was the happy end of playing the story of the Three Little Pigs. Happy day!

Draft Registrants Reminded To List Address Changes

Selective Service registrants were reminded Saturday by Mrs. Nell Roberts, clerk of the draft board here, that they are required to notify their boards each time they change addresses.

Failure to comply with the regulation on notifying the board of change of address leaves the registrant liable for military duty immediately, said Mrs. Roberts.

She said that any registrant who fails to comply can be declared a delinquent and placed in the A-1 classification and sent in order for induction immediately.

This regulation applies to every registrant regardless of his classification unless he is on active duty with the armed forces, she said.

Don't Sneer, Dear Reader; Every Item Can't Be Page One, But It Can Be Vital

By TRACY PILIER
Reporter-Telegram Staff

Did you know farm leaders believe uncooked garbage is a leading cause of hog diseases and recommend garbage fed to hogs be cooked, or that the number of sunspots varies in an 11-year cycle and 1953 found the number near its minimum?

You didn't? Well, you probably just don't read your newspaper very carefully, because such gems of truth as these can be found on practically every page of any newspaper you pick up.

These items are called "fillers" by newspaper people and are handy to fill up little spaces which are too small for a story.

Helps In Histories

But is that the full extent of their usefulness? Heavens to Betsy, let's hope not, because here is a veritable gold mine of information which might save your life someday on a quiz program.

Also, if carefully read and stored in the inner recesses of the mind, they could prove to be excellent conversation stoppers, when you are bored.

For example, say you are struggling to make a pass-the-time-of-the-day talk grow into a healthy gab-fest. What could be more stimulating than to ask your companion if he is familiar with the horn-honking law in Rome, Italy. He isn't? Well, you commence to inform him that it is against the law to honk an automobile horn in Rome, except in case of emergency. Right away you're a new and interesting person, all because of the power of a filler.

Two At A Time

If you are addressing a mixed group at a convention you can arouse interest by injecting such sly fillers as, "About four million cows or 17 per cent of all cows in the United States were bred artificially in 1952," or "Italian tobacco shops often sell cigarette butts one or two at a time."

Naturally these are entirely unrelated to your subject, but they should be a good test to find out how many are sleeping. If very many eyebrows are raised you know you are getting across to your audience. On the other hand if nobody notices, you should cut your little soliloquy short and refuse to accept any more speaking engagements for awhile.

Spicer Filler

Those handy little fillers ought to prove extremely useful for congressmen who like to make their fillusters more entertaining. Huey Long once fillustered the U. S. Senate several days, using such vital information as recipes for good gumbo and the price of rice in Louisiana.

If you are a senator, representative, or any type of politician, one newspaper filler after another ought to be at your tongue's tip like, "there are 38 foreign soccer stars in Italy's major league teams, mostly Scandinavians," and "the graves of the poets Keats and Shelley are near a British World War II cemetery in Italy," or "a law in the South Pacific Tonga Islands requires a preacher to wear white trousers although he may conduct the services in his bare feet." The possibilities for expansion of such themes are tremendous.

Following is a list of some genuine fillers and occasions on which they can be used to best advantage.

For the still-water-runs-deep boy friend who is running too deep—"Nine out of 10 people killed in bicycle accidents in the United States are males." Maybe he will see a parallel and put on the brakes.

For the irritating movie fan in the next seat who already has seen the picture and gives you a running preview—"Before there were clocks in England, the king's cock crower solemnly crowed the hours around the king's palace, but he has not operated since 1714." Maybe the movie critic will stop crowing, too.

Tomle For Junior

For the dazed girl friend who clings like a seven-year supply of Scotch tape—"The largest brass cannon ever cast was made in India in 1548 and weighed 80 tons." At some such remark Prunella may think you're a bit brassy yourself and leave you alone and on the other hand she may marvel over what a beautiful mind you have.

And lastly for the persistent offspring who wants to know the an-

New Truck Bypass For Upton Ready For Court's Approval

RANKIN—Contractor Henry Stafford of Lubbock is expected to turn over a new truck bypass for Rankin to the Upton County Commissioners Court at their meeting Monday.

Built at a cost of $24,365.55, the new cutoff runs from U. S. Highway 67 at the east city limits to the Midland Highway (State 249) north of town.

Commissioners also may receive for their approval, Project 2, an oil-field road running from U. S. 67, four miles east of McCamey, north to the Sweetie Peck and Pegasus Oil field on the Midland-Upton County line.

The road has been completed except for a seal coating.

The Commissioners Court has advertised for sealed bids on the purchase of $150,000 of the total $360,000 park bonds authorized at an April election, County Judge G. H. Fisher said. The bids will be received and opened at 1:30 p. m., June 2.

The initial portion of the bonds will be used in a project to locate water wells near Rankin and pipe water to the county park and the courthouse. A contract on that project will be let after the bonds are sold.

Holiday Crowds Push Into London To See Rehearsals, Preparations For Coronation

By MICHAEL NEWMARCH
LONDON—(AP)—Coronation-minded Britons scented champagne in the Whitehall air Saturday and jammed London for a foretaste of the big festivities only 10 days away.

Hundreds of thousands of families, all in holiday mood, switched from the usual dash to sea and country into a concerted surge on the capital to see the red, blue and gold decorations and join the excitement in the preparations to crown Queen Elizabeth II on June 2.

Roads around the city were black with automobiles, as always when the three-day Whit-Sun-Pentecost holiday begins. But Saturday most of them carried provincial visitors toward London and most Londoners remained put.

In the railroad stations, holiday specials moved out half empty for the sunlit countryside, while train after train disgorged vacationers on the arrival platforms.

The young Queen herself left town with her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, she drove through the gates of Buckingham Palace around noon for a weekend at Royal Lodge, Windsor, about 30 miles from London. Their children, Prince Charles and Princess Anne, were already at Windsor.

Smiles And Waves

As the Queen's car nosed out of the palace, a cheering throng of Britons and Commonwealth visitors burst through mounted police lines and almost stopped the car. The Queen smiled and waved while her chauffeur edged the machine into the open road.

Thousands had gathered to watch the royal couple depart, some assembling at the palace gates at breakfast time. Scarlet-uniformed sentries and the fluttering banners and triumphal arches spanning the road opposite the palace made up part of the color and pageantry searched out by the milling crowds.

Down in Westminster, where hundreds of workmen crawled with hammers and paintpots on the gigantic stands, a crowd of holiday-makers watched the robed dean and clergy of Westminster Abbey rehearsing the centuries-old coronation "Procession of the Regalia."

Choirs Boys Rehearse

From the grey vaulted cloisters in nearby Dean's Yard, the procession moved into the abbey carrying replicas of the crown jewels and royal regalia to be used in the coronation ceremony.

Thirty-six boys from Westminster school, in white bow ties, black suits and gowns, walked ahead of the clergy. On June 2 these schoolboys will be the first to acclaim the Queen, crying in Latin "Vivat, vivat Elizabeth Regina (may she live, may she live, Elizabeth the Queen)."

Far from the thronging sightseers, troops from spots around the world held their first full-dress coronation practice.

Bombs Mar Holiday

Some 500 representatives of colonial forces paraded in full regalia at Woolwich Artillery Depot, London. More than 2,000 troops from self-governing dominions held a dress rehearsal at Pirbright, Surrey, along a route similar to the one they will follow when they march with the Queen's golden coach in London.

In one corner of the Queen's realm, however, anxiety mingled with the pre-coronation gaiety.

Almost a dozen letter bombs were found Saturday in mail boxes of Belfast, Northern Ireland. A Belfast shop window containing a large picture of the Queen was shattered in the night.

These incidents sparked official fears that the Irish republican army—a nationalist group which once used terrorist methods in a bid to get a united Ireland—may be launching a campaign of coronation violence.

To Create Nuisance

All the bombs consisted of small quantities of explosives in letters addressed to Cabinet ministers, members of Parliament and persons well-known in civic life. Belfast is the capital of six Irish countries linked to Britain. The rest of Ireland is a republic.

None of the letter bombs were likely to be lethal, however, and the aim apparently was to set mail afire, not maim anyone.

"So far, at any rate, it looks more like a nuisance campaign than any dangerous threat," one Northern Irishman said. "But there naturally is anxiety as the coronation approaches."

DREW PEARSON ON THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

(Copyright, 1953, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Drew Pearson says: Biggest political question in California is what will happen in Nixon's feud with Governor Warren and Knowland; Mayor Bowron attacks Los Angeles Times as breeder of monopolies.

WASHINGTON—The biggest political question mark in California, the No. 2 political state of the nation, is what will happen in the long-smoldering feud between the Vice President of the United States, Richard Nixon, and the political partnership which long has dominated California—Gov. Earl Warren and Senator William Knowland. Along with this question goes that of what Governor Warren, now in his third term, will do in the future.

The Nixon feud has been kept on a polite and courteous level. No names are called. Both sides bow low and shake hands cordially when they meet. But when it comes to the important backstage maneuvering for the control of patronage and of the California delegation at the next GOP convention, it's another story.

It's no secret that both Governor Warren and Senator Knowland privately disapproved the Nixon personal expense fund. They kept quiet about it, but they didn't like it. It's no secret also that it has been Bill Knowland who has been calling the shots on Eisenhower's California job-appointments. Knowland confers every other morning at breakfast with the other California senator, Tom Kuchel, and the two work in perfect harmony on federal patronage. But Nixon is kept out of the picture.

It's also no secret that Congressman Pat Hillings, Nixon's closest friend in the House of Representatives, is angling to run for the Senate against Kuchel. This is where the first open break is likely to come.

However, California, which boasts the second largest state population in the U. S. A., now ranks along with New York as a state that can pick Presidents at national conventions. And if Governor Warren steps out of the national running, his old friend, Senator Knowland, who, unlike Nixon, stuck by Warren to the very end at Chicago last year, aspires to run himself.

Working For Comeback
This, of course, would cut squarely across the political ambitions of one of the youngest men ever to become vice president, Richard Nixon. For, despite his bad start last Fall, Nixon has been working awfully hard to stage a comeback.

He is the man who persuaded Eisenhower and Dulles to welcome Joe McCarthy back into the fold after Joe had kicked the Administration all over the lot both on Greek shipping and Ambassador Bohlen's confirmation. He also is the man who has become voluntary ambassador between the White House and the reactionary, isolationist wing of the Republican Party. All in all, Nixon has been busy backstage than the traditional one-arm paperhanger with poison ivy, and the obvious goal is an attempted comeback in 1956.

All of this points to the question of what Governor Warren will do. One of the most courageous executives in the nation, the governor has not bowed to the reactionaries and the semi-Fascists who now try to dominate politics in some parts of the state. He continues to have about as much Democratic support as Republicans which galls the right-wingers no end.

That's why a terrific drive will be made against him by right-wing GOP Lt. Gov. Goody Knight if Warren runs again.

However, the chances are that Warren will not run. He has a large family, a modest salary, and many offers of private business. What might tempt him, however, is a seat on the Supreme Court.

And should Justice Felix Frankfurter resign, as he once promised to do when he reached the age of 70, then Eisenhower is likely to offer this vacancy to the governor of California.

Note—Frankfurter was 70 last November and may resign at the close of the court term this June.

Probably the most significant attack on an American newspaper in recent American politics is being carried on in Los Angeles by Mayor Fletcher Bowron against the Los Angeles Times. In Chicago, the Tribune frequently has been the target of political attacks, while in the old days of muckracking jour-alism, the New York Herald and the New York Tribune used to get into politics up to their ears. But in California, the powerful, sanctimonious Times and its upstart newspaper, the Mirror, have been able to influence politics in the past without getting tagged for it.

Today, however, Mayor Bowron has tagged them—and in a manner which in these days of newspaper monopolies may spread to other parts of the nation.

"The Los Angeles Times is the mouthpiece of a small group who control a vast commercial, financial, agricultural and industrial empire," the mayor let loose in a radio broadcast, "and the Los Angeles Times says what they want it to say."

"Through an extremely complicated network of holding companies which control other companies, through major stockholdings and interlocking directorates," continued the mayor, "the Norman Chandler group exerts control or influence over banking, publishing, printing, insurance, real estate, farming, oil and department stores."

"Not content with the ownership of two major newspapers, the Chandler group owns a television station—KTTV. Thus to reach and influence your mind through the newspapers is not enough. When a new medium comes along, they buy it."

The mayor, who belongs to the same political party as Publisher Chandler, then went on to tell how Chandler made a profit on every telephone book published for the city last year and was even printing the ballots for the mayoralty election. He also detailed the tremendous holdings of the Los Angeles Times, including office buildings in downtown Los Angeles, 300,000 acres on the edge of Los Angeles County, 250 producing oil wells, a 275,000-acre ranch in New Mexico, extensive irrigated farmland in the Imperial Valley, an entire city block on Eighth Street, the Guaranty Building, a restaurant and motel at Santa Anita, etc.

"Norman Chandler," continued the mayor, "is an officer or director of the largest department store in Long Beach, a huge insurance brokerage business which uses the power of the Times ruthlessly to take insurance business away from others; a $10,000,000 corporation owning large stock interests in many other companies."

"It is dangerous when the few men who control great wealth and power also control your access, to the truth about what is going on," observed Mayor Bowron. "It is dangerous when they use their influence over many companies to force advertising in their own papers. It is dangerous when they use the Los Angeles Times to extend their control and to increase their power and wealth."

Some Eastern newspapers which also own radio and TV stations actually have encouraged competition. They don't want to occupy news-monopoly positions. However, the Los Angeles Times, by offering reduced rates for combined advertising in both the Times and the Mirror, tends to kill competition.

In any event, the news-monopoly situation which Mayor Bowron attacks is arousing criticism in other parts of the country and may become the subject of a Senate investigation.

Enrollments Rise In A&M Freshman Classes For Fall

COLLEGE STATION — High school seniors are making application for admission to Texas A&M College in larger numbers this year. If the number of early applications at Texas A&M College is a criterion, a record freshman enrollment will be had this year.

On May 1, a total of 699 graduating high school seniors had been accepted for enrollment at A&M for the Fall semester of 1953. The comparable figure for the same date in 1952 was 491.

"This represents a 40 per cent increase over the same date last year," Registrar H. L. Heaton said Saturday. "If the applications continue at this rate, we shall have an even larger enrollment of freshmen this Fall than we had with the return of the GIs at the end of World War II."

PAINTING AIDS

If you are planning to paint a window sash create a smooth surface for a fresh coat by scraping away any loose or peeling old paint. Next, rub the wood with sandpaper, and finally, wash both the sill and the sash with thick soap-suds to completely remove any top dirt and grime.

WASH SHEETS CAREFULLY
When washing sheets, put no more than two per machine load. Smaller white or color-fast articles can go in with them. Five minutes of sudsing should be plenty. If you use bleach, dilute it and add during the wash period. Bluing works best when added during the final rinse.

Installation of officers and a report on the proposed clubhouse were among highlights of the year's final meeting of the year for the Midland Woman's Club, Inc.
W. P. Z. German, Jr., Midland attorney, was guest speaker for the meeting, held Thursday in the Church of Christ Annex at Tennessee and San Angelo Streets.
Building Fund Boosted
An additional $15,000 for the proposed Woman's Club building has been raised as the result of a concentrated drive for funds made in the last week by the advisory board.

Mrs. W. Harry Rhodes, president, announced.
Serving on the advisory board are Mrs. C. W. Chancellor, Murray Pasken and Barney Grafe. Construction of the building is expected to begin in the near future, Mrs. Rhodes said.
The new officers installed by Mrs. Rhodes for a one-year term include Mrs. B. R. Mathews, president; Mrs. Earl Johnson, first vice president; Mrs. W. E. Cox, recording secretary; Mrs. Bryan Denson, corresponding secretary; Fannie Bess Taylor, assistant treasurer; Mrs. J. C. Smith, second vice president; Mrs. John B. Mills, treasurer, and Mrs. Harlan Howell, parliamentarian.

Chairmen Named
Committee chairmen appointed by Mrs. Mathews include Mrs. Johnson, program; Mrs. John McKinley, membership; Mrs. Smith, scholarship; Mrs. Mills, finance; Mrs. Brandon Ross, historical; Mrs. H. H. Redding, publicity; Mrs. Leonard Thomas, house-keeper; Mrs. James Bradley, project, and Mrs. C. M. Goldsmith, building committee chairman. The board of directors is to serve as the hospitality committee.
Mrs. Mathews also announced that the board of directors will hold regular meetings at 10 a. m. on the first Monday of June, July and August. The directors and standing committee chairmen are to meet June 1 in Mrs. Mathews' home at 2210 Princeton Street.

Mrs. Rhodes expressed her appreciation for the work of the outgoing officers who served during her term of office, and was presented with a gift of silver from the club. Mrs. Paul Crandell made the gift presentation and Mrs. Redding led the group in repeating the collect.
It was announced by Mrs. Rhodes that clubs affiliated with the Woman's Club have been asked to enter floats in the rodeo parade.

Topic for German's talk for the afternoon was "Why Not Rename Midland 'Independent City'?"
If Midland suddenly were cut off from the rest of the world and forced to become an "independent city," German said, the importance of the churches, family ties and material resources of the community would be realized.

For a better life within the home, town or community, German recommended that "we put values where they belong and put our homes and our churches first in our lives."
Guests for the Thursday meeting were greeted at the door by Mrs. Ernest Neill, Mrs. Rhodes and Mrs. Mathews. Mrs. Crandell presided at the refreshment table.

The table was centered with an arrangement of pink and blue larkspur in a crystal container. A frosty pink linen cloth and crystal appointments completed the setting.
The Woman's Club was hostess club for the afternoon. Serving on the hospitality committee were Mrs. Neill, Mrs. C. H. Shepard, Mrs. John Caselman and Mrs. R. E. Morgan.

Valley View Wins Progress Contest

The Valley View Community of Midland County was first place winner in District Six in the Texas Rural Neighborhood Progress Contest ended this week.

The contest now in its sixth year is sponsored by the Farmer-Stockman magazine in cooperation with the Texas A&M College System. The contest and program is designed to encourage and reward self-help at the neighborhood or community level with actual participation beginning in the individual farm home.

The contest is judged on the basis of records and visits to the communities. Items considered in naming the winners include almost everything worthwhile that could be done on a community basis for improving life in the community.

"The approximately 32 families in Valley View have done much to improve their community," said Charles Green, county agent for Midland County. "One of their major projects this year has been the conversion of an old school building into a community center for recreation and planned programs."

"Under the leadership of Jodie Franks, community chairman and A. C. Teinert, vice chairman, the people there have done many things for the improvement and beautification of the community."

Valley View also has 4-H Clubs for both boys and girls.

MIDLAND HIGH EXERCISES THURSDAY— Week To Mark 'Change' From Senior To Graduate

That end-of-period classroom routine will become more and more noticeable this week as each hour brings Midland High School students closer to the Thursday school "shut-in."

And it'll be double dough for the more than 200 seniors who'll be getting their diplomas at 8 p.m. Thursday in the high school auditorium.

They will have had, though, a pretty busy time before then. Friday night the seniors frolicked as guests of the juniors at the annual junior-senior banquet and dance at the Midland High School cafeteria.

The graduating class will pause awhile Sunday for a more serious look at their next step. The Rev. Lewis Waterstreet, of the St. Andrews Presbyterian Church, will set the spiritual mood during the Baccalaureate Services at 8 p.m. Sunday in the high school auditorium.

Then, with this serious aid forming a strong background, the seniors will return to their "pre-freedom" festivities.

Wednesday is senior day—the last day the seniors will have to speak to the fellow students as "classmates." For after the Senior Day will-reading and general farewells, the seniors will speak only as graduates.

The entire student body will be freed from schoolhouse ties at 2 p.m. Thursday, but they'll be back briefly Friday to pick up the report cards.

Dr. Don Morris, president of Abilene Christian College, will strike the graduation keynote Thursday night as principal speaker at the commencement exercises.

Following the processional, with music by La Vonne Clark on the organ, the Rev. Leon P. Woods, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church, will give the invocation.

Wesley Pittman will give the salutatory address, followed by a piano solo by Katherine Carter and the valedictory address by Clayton Tatom.

A special feature of the program will be the "Largo" by Handel, sung by Anna L. Patterson, accompanied by Robert R. Ganz.

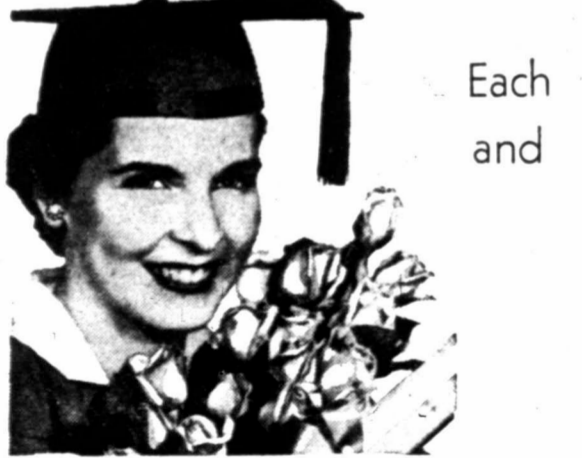

Robert Payne, member of the Board of Education, whose son, Robert, Jr., is in the graduating class, will hand out diplomas while Mrs. Frank Miller provides a background of organ music.

Climaxing the ceremony will be the school's alma mater sung by the entire senior class under the direction of Anna Bess Doyle.

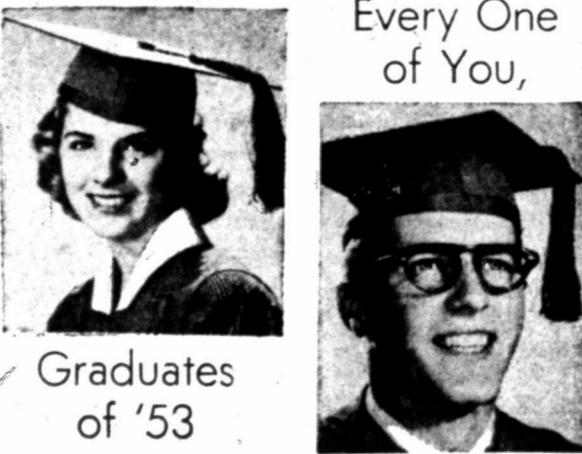

Parties throughout the week will keep clocks speeding for the youngsters as they move toward the end of one phase and the beginning of another.

In January, 1953, the United States had 23,966,000 head of mill cows and heifers.

Coronation May Produce Rare Phenomena, Even For England

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK—The first time I went to England I saw a city being crowned.
 Now I'm going back for the crown.
St. Mark's WSCS Slates Installation
 The St. Mark's Methodist Woman's Society of Christian Service will meet at 8 p.m. Monday in the church for installation of new officers.
 Members of the Naomi Circle will be the hostesses. The Rebecca Circle is to be in charge of worship service. Miriam Circle members will be in charge of the special feature, and Ruth Circle members are serving on the telephone committee.

ing event of a young lady's life. The city, of course, was London in wartime, wearing a ruinous wreath of fire by night from German bombs, a circlet of towering smoke by day.
 And the lady, of course, is Elizabeth II, who on June 2 formally will don the crown of empire, a crown for one so young—with a dark worry for every gleaming gem.
Our For Roasting
 Our British cousins are making the occasion perhaps the greatest social event in history, one in which most of the world is glad to join. They have done everything but rent Grover Whalen as official greeter.
 It is a vast moment for a battered empire, which hopes the coronation will end a reign of terror, war and want—and begin a happier reign in which even Sir Winston Churchill and Clement Attlee may roast an ox instead of each other.

 The British feel their fair new queen may bring them as much luck as the first Elizabeth, a doughty, haughty lady who molded an empire and died an old maid, sighing:
 "All my possessions for a moment of time."
 I have an odd feeling going to
VISIT IN MIDLAND
 Mr. and Mrs. Alex Oates of Abilene are visiting his parents, Postmaster and Mrs. N. G. Oates of 610 North Main Street. Young Oates recently completed his pre-medical work at McMurry College in Abilene and will attend Southwestern Medical School in Dallas this fall. His wife is the former Bonnie McDonald of Abilene.

this crowning by airplane instead of aboard a darkened ship in convoy, the wartime way. The uniforms are so different. It was all khaki then, and no khaki now, and I won't have to worry about being mistaken for an officer and getting embarrassed by throwing a colonel a three-fingered Boy Scout salute.
 The lords of England, I understand, will be decked sternly in grandpa's yellowing ermine robes or new ones of rented rabbit. They say this has been the toughest year ever for rabbits over there, and just plain impossible of survival for a white rabbit, whose fur can't be told from an ermine in a London fog.
None Will Thirst
 Well, let the queen have her day and her lords their ermine. The British man in the street and I won't go thirsty. A few measured "hip, hip, hurrahs" and into the pub we go, to talk over old times.

ROCKY PATH TO WISDOM
MORGANESVILLE, FLA.—Peace reigns again in South Hall at the University of Florida, for Fred Fournier of Miami has moved his homework elsewhere.
 Fournier, a student of natural science, brought some homework to his dormitory room: five snakes, two turtles, two white rats, and a tadpole.
 The nature lover complied with a request that he do his homework in the basement.

... new times ... any kind of times.
 I'm after a bigger story. In wartime every one in London could muster a wry smile, and that was all. But on coronation day I'm going to try to find an Englishman so swept by happiness he breaks down and laughs—laughs out loud in a clear, deep, ringing belly laugh.
 It hasn't happened since the first Elizabethian era, some 400 years ago. And if I see it, and write it, will anybody believe me?
HIDE SCRATCHES
 Deep scratches in mahogany can be made "invisible" with an application of iodine. Try rubbing them with the cut side of a walnut or Brazil nut meat to conceal light scratches.

Lions To Start Crippled Children's Camp On June 8

The Texas Lions Camp for Crippled Children at Kerrville will open its 12-week season June 8, and the Midland Lions Club now is accepting applications from campers. Jack Roe is the camp director.
 The camp, financed and operated by the Lions Clubs of Texas, has a capacity of 240 campers and the quotas of the various clubs over the state will be filled on a first come, first served basis.
 Midland applications should be directed to W. Harry Rhodes, chairman of the Crippled Children's Committee of the Midland Lions Club.

and other sports. Sponsors say the program will "fit the orthopedic handicapped child perfectly."
 Fine facilities and a trained staff are available at the camp. A staff of six Kerrville doctors is available day or night. Parents are invited to visit the camp to inspect the facilities. Rhodes announced.
 The Midland Lions Club has had an active part in the construction of the camp, and Midland Lions are anxious that Midland youngsters take full advantage of it.

Airy Shoes Are Shown For Spring

NEW YORK—Good looks in this year's Spring shoes come through in softness, glowing color, pointed toe and squared-off vamp, the slim fluted heel and increased emphasis on the Louis heel.

Color contrasts for the blacks, browns, oatmeal and beige of ready-to-wear are found in accessories. Thus, new shoe colors of importance are black patent leather trimmed in white, the sand tones, clear reds, chalky pinks, muted honey and blonde shades.

Shoes are glove-soft and have a light and airy feeling on the foot.

even when they're completely closed. The best looking silhouette is slender and feminine with a slim fluted heel and tapered toe.

The important opera pump, in this new silhouette, is unadorned except for line. Sandals are very open and are set on heel heights varying from the midway heel on sling back to the high, thin heel.

for late-day and evening wear. New in hosiery this Spring is the knee-length nylon with elasticized top for wear with "at-home" or casual shoes.

The knee-length sock, in either wool or cotton, looks right for casual clothes worn in the country. These are natural companions for tweeds, but are also seen on col-

And for very dressy wear or evening wear, there are stockings with lace and embroidered heels or with handpainted or flocked motifs at heels or ankles. Some have sparkling jewel accents at ankles or seams.

Legends Of Brooklyn Bridge Told Again After First 70 Years Of Colorful Reign

NEW YORK—The Brooklyn Bridge will be 70 years old Sunday, and maybe it's time to kill a few ugly rumors which have plagued the old lady since her days as the glamor queen of suspension bridges.

First off there is no evidence to support the notion that the Brooklyn Bridge ever was party to a confidence game.

Old-timers in the city Department of Public Works in the Police Department and district attorney's office can't recall a single instance of record where anybody actually tried to sell the bridge to a sucker. Nobody seems to know how the rumor got started in the first place.

It took $15,500,000 and more than 13 years to build the bridge. At today's prices, according to J. Frank Johnson, director of the Division of Bridges, its replacement would cost about $75,000,000.

When it was opened with fireworks and oratory in 1883, the bridge was the longest suspension span in the world, stretching 1,594 1/2 feet across the East River. It held that title 20 years.

Legend Carries Today it ranks ninth among suspension bridges, but for beauty of line and proportion many experts claim that its granite and steel grace still is second to none. Also, it still is said to rank first in personal publicity. No bridge ever had more written about it or more pictures painted of it.

Even so, the bridge today would be a poor buy at almost any price. The cruel truth about the Brooklyn Bridge is that it earns no money. It has been many years since it did.

In the old days, it cost pedestrians a penny to walk across. Sheep and hogs were charged two cents each and a one-horse wagon paid 10 cents. A second horse raised the tariff to 20 cents. But tolls were cut out a long time ago. Today, no animals or trucks or trains cross the bridge. Only cars and pedestrians for free.

Now about Steve Brodie, that Fourth Ward newsboy who was supposed to have jumped on July 23, 1886. Early that afternoon a man—or something—was seen to plunge off the bridge. A few seconds later, Brodie was hauled out of the river by friends in a row-boat. It has always remained a moot question whether Brodie actually jumped or simply dropped into the river from a boat and waited for a dummy to fall in.

Right now, the Brooklyn Bridge is a one-way affair because of extensive reconstruction.

By late this year or early next, the work will be completed, and it will be able to handle twice as much traffic. Even so, it still won't make money.

But you take the George Washington Bridge or the Lincoln Tunnel. Now there's a bus.

Camera Club Has Program

The Midland Camera Club met Thursday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Six, 311 East Golf Course Road.

Six conducted demonstrations on vignetting and mounting pictures. He showed how two different pictures can be super-imposed one upon the other to get novel effects, often used for advertising purposes.

Six also demonstrated the technique used to add clouds to a cloudless landscape picture by "borrowing" them from a picture with an abundance of clouds.

Following the demonstrations, refreshments were served to Maria Spencer, Mrs. J. V. Birdwell, Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Reid, G. G. McNary, D. M. Hagemeyer, C. L. Davis, G. B. Johnson, E. E. Reagle and Mr. and Mrs. Six.

First Presbyterian Women Schedule Birthday Meet Tuesday

Tom Cleveland, missionary appointee to the Belgian Congo, will speak to the Women of the Church of the First Presbyterian Church at their birthday meeting at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday in the church.

He will speak on "Furlough Homes for Foreign Missionaries," the birthday objective for this year. Funds collected at birthday meetings of Women of the Church groups throughout the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, U. S., will be used for furlough homes at the four theological seminaries of the assembly.

The seminaries are the Austin Theological Seminary, Austin; Columbia Theological Seminary, Decatur, Ga.; Louisville Theological Seminary, Louisville, Ky.; and Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, Va.

Cleveland was born in the Belgian Congo, where his parents still are serving as missionaries. He served in the United States Armed Forces during World War II.

He was graduated from Texas Technological College, Lubbock, with a major in agriculture, and did graduate work at the University of Texas and Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary.

"Midland Schools Smell" States School Official

Late last week, in a telephone conversation, it was pointed out to the writer that the Midland Public Schools have an odor. Now that we have your attention, we will proceed with the denouement of the situation.

The school system recently purchased two carloads of that wonderful Turf Special Organic Fertilizer. Turf Special with its 10-5-5 formula had worked such wonders on other Midland lawns that it seemed it should be used on the school property. Texas A&M College also recommended the use of a fertilizer such as this with a 10-5-5 ratio. Two carloads of Turf Special is a good deal of fertilizer. It is 60,000 pounds of it to be exact. Also there is considerable territory to be covered around each of the buildings of the school. Well, Turf Special, being organic in nature, undergoes a breaking down when exposed to moisture and warm weather, and therein lies the odor, and therein also lies its superb results. This breaking down releases the organic nitrogen, and when that happens the fertilizer goes to work.

We are happy to report that the odor has now subsided, but the good results will show for many months to come.

To Avoid Being A Bore, Have Interests In Others

Most people would agree that Mrs. B. is a pretty dull person even though she loves to be with people. The trouble is that Mrs. B. always manages to cut off a conversation before it gets started. If you should tell Mrs. B. that a burglar broke into your home last night, she probably would say: "That reminds me, I simply must get the lock fixed on my back door. It has been broken for a month. But you know how hard it is to get anyone to fix anything." Mention some other bit of exciting news and instead of asking questions to bring out the details, Mrs. B. will simply say, "Well, I declare," or "You don't say," or "Well, that's the way things go."

Mrs. B. never seems to respond to anything she hears. A sad story doesn't change the expression on her face though it may bring forth a clucking sound.

An enthusiastic approach falls flat because the enthusiasm isn't picked up. Mrs. B. also has an annoying knack of turning a general conversation toward herself or some member of her family. What's the real trouble with Mrs. B? It is that though she likes to be with people, she isn't really interested in them or what happens to them. And nothing makes a person duller than lack of curiosity about other people and the world about them. When you are talking to such a person everything you have to say falls flat. She is a person from whom you never get an appropriate response. And isn't that the real definition of a bore? It's not the way a person acts that makes him a bore but the way he reacts to others.

NEA Woman's Editor
NEW YORK—Picking a travel wardrobe is easy now, like answering the $64 question. It's mostly a matter of deciding what you want—suit, ensemble, separates or all three? Since airlines have their weight limits on luggage and trains have their limits on space, it's wise to do your planning on paper before you buy. Know just what you will need each day while you're away and try to pick fashions that will perform on many occasions. Picking a fashion that can be worn only once on your trip is a waste of money. Don't forget to count in your nylon lingerie and hose and the soap flakes with which to launder them. We show here (left) a travel-wear suit by Nathalie Nicoli in a dacron-and-worsted fabric that may be packed and then worn without pressing. Suit has jacket with slanting pockets, ribbon tab and jeweled detail at collar. Skirt is easy for walking and sitting comfort. Vera Maxwell designs (right) a lightweight travel ensemble in printed nylon tricot. The two-piece dress takes laundering and no pressing to keep it looking fresh. Surprise front bodice ties front or back and has dolman sleeves. Skirt is full for flattery and comfort. The printed tricot is used to line a straight-cut wool coat.

CLEAN HATS
Sweet bands in Men's hats need to be washed free of perspiration and grease often. Turn the band up from the hat and scrub with soapy brush. Wipe suds off with clean, damp cloth. It's a good idea to occasionally wipe out shoe linings with a sudsy wrung-out cloth. This helps keep them in healthful condition.

Dallas Rainmakers Step Out Silently

DALLAS—There was little comment Saturday after Dallas' contract with a rain-increasing firm expired. The city's contract, made six months ago with Dr. Irving P. Kirk's Water Resources Development Company of Denver, expired Friday. When the agreement was reached, Lake Dallas was 22 feet below its spillway. Recent rains have boosted the level to within five and a half feet below the spillway, highest level in two years. Winter plants should be kept in a comfortably warm room by day and in a cool place by night. This duplicates the condition provided by nature.

Congratulations Graduates

Midland High School this week will graduate the largest class in its history—more than 200 young men and women who have completed their high school studies.

It is a happy time indeed for the graduates as they close their books and don their caps and gowns to receive their seemingly long-sought diplomas.

Yet, graduation has its serious side, too, although some graduates may not realize it at the moment. It marks the beginning of a new life for the boys and girls who have finished their high school careers.

High school training, however, has equipped the graduates to meet the challenge which lies ahead, and there is no reason for anyone to be unduly concerned about their future if the grads will use their training to the very best advantage.

Many MHS graduates will continue their studies in institutions of higher learning, while others will venture forth directly into the business and commercial world.

Whichever course the young men and women of Midland High School follow, the very best wishes of all Midlanders always will be with them.

Midland residents are proud of their school system, of their faculty, of their students and of their graduates, and quite naturally the eyes of the home folks will continue to be focused on the high school graduates and the progress they make in college and in the business world.

The success of the graduates in the years ahead, of course, will reflect additional credit and honor upon Midland High School, which is loved by every student who receives one of its diplomas.

The young men and women with the diplomas have been exposed to the basic principles and fundamentals which, if properly applied, can assure success and happiness in the future.

Again, it is the application of these principles and fundamentals which will determine whether MHS was successful in its teaching and training efforts.

Congratulations surely are in order for each of the more than 200 graduates, along with the best wishes of all Midland citizens.

GOP Fiscal Policy Confused, So Congress Spells Its Own

By PETER EDSON NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower's television and radio talks to the nation can do a great deal to clarify public understanding of what has become a thoroughly confused presentation of the Administration's fiscal policy.

On February 9 the President announced his 11-point, high-priority legislative program for action by this session of Congress. Item No. 2, called for all appropriation bills to clear the House of Representatives and be ready for Senate action by May 15.

ELIZABETH the Queen

By Marion Crawford Former Governor to Her Majesty... But on more dignified occasions they have a remarkable control over their sense of humor. On one occasion the Royal Family were entertaining a lady who, I could see, was somewhat embarrassed.

Tweed Makes Good Travel Suit

Tweed takes its part in a travel wardrobe for Europe in early summer. As shown here in a stole suit by Willi, it's ideal for women planning to be abroad for the Coronation festivities. With simple silk blouse and Sally Victor's rhinestone-studded white straw hat (left), this suit is an attractive luncheon costume. For car travel (center), the model wears a black cashmere pullover, finds the shawl-shaped stole is a comfortable wrap. For dinner, formal accessories in form of silk halter, rhinestone loop earrings, rhinestone-and-jet choker and the new (and narrower) jeweled velvet cinch belt gives this ensemble the right look. This is the kind of suit that could be the backbone of a travel wardrobe in Europe or this country.

Senators Squelch Filibuster, Hustle 80 Bills Through In Evening Session

AUSTIN—A day-long filibuster couldn't stop the Senate from getting a lot of work done Friday.

The upper chamber cast an anxious eye at the fast-approaching end of the session—now just four days away—and cut off Senator Wayne Wagonseller's filibuster at the seven-hour, 48-minute mark.

The senator was halted by a seldom-invoked rule that he was unduly wasting the Senate's time.

Wagonseller didn't say why he spent all day discussing his own resolution to oppose recognition of Red China in the United Nations. Other senators said he was trying to stall a bill denying workmen's compensation to Texas workers idled because of a strike against the same company in another state.

Senate Rolls On
An effort to bring up that bill for consideration Friday night failed.

The clock said 5:53 p.m. when Wagonseller lost the floor, but the senate was just warming up.

It tore into a heavy docket and when the smoke cleared at 12:10 a.m. Saturday, 80 bills had been approved, including 10 high on Governor Shivers' priority list.

The Senate then joined the House in quitting until Monday, when session-ending rules will put strict limits on what bills can be considered.

Shivers-endorsed measures that won Senate endorsement included these:

State-wide judicial, redistricting which sets up 11 more district courts than are now operating, effective Jan. 1, 1955, except for two Dallas courts that would be delayed until 1957. The bill goes back to the House for Senate amendments.

Eight bills dealing with the state's surface water administration problems. Three went to the governor, five were amended and returned to the House.

Control Board Bill
Reorganization of the State Board of Control, which does state buying and takes care of the state's property. Now on a full-time basis, the three-man board would have part-time duties, and a full-time director would be appointed. No present board member would be eligible for the job.

Rearrangement of the state's district court set-up touched off argument between two South Texas senators.

They differed on what would be the best alignment of counties in the area where George Parr of Duval County has been described as maintaining a political dictatorship.

Senator William Shireman of Corpus Christi wanted to leave the 79th District of Starr, Duval, Jim Wells and Brooks Counties untouched. He said people in that district are beginning to develop the "instinctual fortitude to go out and vote against the dictating gang of George Parr."

Laredo Statesman Talks
Senator Abraham Kazen Jr. of Laredo ripped into Shireman's suggestion, reminding the Senate the "explosive situation" described by Shireman exists within Kazen's senatorial bailiwick, not Shireman's.

"It is I who has to go home and face those people," Kazen said, asserting that a majority of his constituents favored the redistricting plan as drawn by the Senate.

The Senate went along with Kazen on leaving only Jim Wells and Brooks Counties in the 79th, placing Jim Hogg, Webb, Zapata and Starr in the 111th. This would mean two courts for Webb.

Then the Senate ginned through

Shrimpers Scour Gulf, But Catches Don't Meet Demand

GALVESTON—(AP)—The price of shrimp soared to a new high here as dealers report poor catches and empty warehouses.

Current price ranges between $1.15 and $1.25 a pound compared to the 60 cents and 70 cents last year.

Dealers said their warehouses are empty and that they are filling orders on a day-by-day basis.

Weather has kept shrimp boats close to shore for a few weeks. A scarcity of shrimp in Gulf waters is noted.

When the weather permitted, the boats have gone to all parts of the Gulf.

"They usually return," said a dealer, "with two or three bushels."

Restaurants said they were having a hard time getting enough shrimp.

BEGINNING AND ADVANCED ART STUDENTS—UNIVERSITY CREDIT OR AUDIT BROCHURE ON REQUEST. WRITE DIRECTOR, TAOS FIELD SCHOOL, UNIVERSITY OF NEW MEXICO, ALBUQUERQUE, NEW MEXICO

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

BY NORTH CALLAHAN

NEW YORK—Albert L. Ramsay, New York publishing and advertising executive, frequently is accosted by panhandlers, as are most people in this heterogeneous big town. But Al Ramsay, as he is best known, treats the gimme-a-dime boys differently. He gives them a quarter, along with his personal card, tells them to look him up and he will give them a job. Al kept account of how many times this happened and not one of the bums looked him up—until the 25th one—who accosted him the other day. Out came a quarter, along with Al's card, and the invitation to call on him and get a job. This man actually showed up at Al's office the next morning. Al called in his shipping foreman, told him to give the man a job. A little later the foreman reported to Al that he was willing—but the man who hailed from the Bowery Mission had only had experience as a pastry cook. Al scratched his head. "Well, put him to work anyway," he said. "If he can make dough for someone else, he can make it for us too."

A local college professor is writing a biography of Henry Ford. The prof told me he already had run across some choice tidbits from the life of the famous automobile tycoon. For one thing, Ford was fond of jutting down jokes, original or otherwise. On a note pad was found the following: "He took misfortune like a man—blamed it on his wife." "The greatest service one can do another is to get off their back."

There's been quite a buzz hereabouts over the little farm which was found operating in the middle of Brooklyn several years ago, this column reported the active existence of the only farm in Manhattan, and a further check reveals that it still is going strong. It is at 250th Street and Broadway and a man and family raise on a good-sized plot, vegetables and grain. Now I learn that a fellow named John Mulhnan sells hay and straw in car lots in Grand Central Station.

If your broiler is located under the oven, remove it when the oven alone is in use. This will prevent crazing or warping.

The purpose of The Community Survey is to obtain helpful information that will enable advertisers to improve their service to you readers by preparing ads the way you want them.

When you indicate which ads you think will do the advertisers the most good, it is possible to tabulate that information and give it to the advertisers for their guidance.

On the first page of the paper each day you will find a list of the advertisements to be checked that day.

All you have to do is to decide each day which Large Ad, which Medium Ad, which Small Ad and which Classified Ad you think will do the advertiser the most good . . . Just write four names on this blank each day.

Cash awards will go to those readers whose selections are nearest to what the majority of readers think. Every week is a separate survey.

YOU ARE NOT REQUIRED TO WRITE A LETTER. The awards are made to those readers whose selections are nearest to the list of ads which get the most votes. The awards are ACCURATE . . . FAIR . . . HONEST.

You do not have to be an advertising expert! All ads are written for you readers. YOU are best qualified to indicate which ads will do the advertiser the most good.

I THINK THE ADS LISTED BELOW WILL DO THE ADVERTISERS THE MOST GOOD.

You are NOT required to write a letter to receive an award. The awards are decided on the selections above. We would really appreciate it, though, if you would write a note saying what you DO NOT LIKE and . . . also . . . WHY YOU LIKE some of the good ads.

We sincerely want your suggestions and ideas of how we may improve our advertising service for your benefit. Write your letter in your own way! It's the thoughts and suggestions that matter. You are not being "judged" by your letters. Actually they have nothing to do with awards . . . but . . . they will be helpful by giving additional information to our advertisers.

Your criticisms and suggestions will be given the advertisers to help them to improve their advertisements BUT they will NOT be given the names of those who write the letters. This is so you may say just what you really think without embarrassment.

Every member of any family may send in one answer each week but only one award for a good answer will go to any one household during the survey. Since the purpose of the Survey is to obtain information, any indication of collusion to secure an award automatically will disqualify such answers. In the case of ties duplicate awards will be made. Free extra ballots may be obtained at The Reporter-Telegram and the newspaper may be read there. Facsimile ballots may be used. No member of The Reporter-Telegram staff or their families may participate.

ANSWERS MUST BE IN BY TUESDAY MIDNIGHT THE WEEK AFTER THE SELECTIONS ARE MADE.
