Production Gauge Reported On Test In Andrews Sector

Anderson-Prichard Oil Corporation and J. C. Barnes No. 1-E University, Northeast Andrews County wildcat, 16 1/2 miles northeast of the town of Andrews flowed 389.80 barrels of new oil in two hours and 40 minutes through a one-inch opening on tubing.

The flow came from perforated sections in the Devonian at 12,222-350 feet and at 12,266-385 feet. Those intervals had been treated with 1,000 gallons of acid.

The well is now shut in while the drilling rig is moved off. The potential test is to be run and the well will be completed during the next three days.

Location Given

This prospector is 800 feet from north and west lines of the north half of section 7, block 7, University survey. It is three miles southeast of the nearest completed Devonian producers.

Anderson-Prichard and Barnes No. 1-E University bottomed at 13,700 feet in the Ellenburger.

That section showed good signs of oil and gas but operators were never able to shut off water intrusion from the Ellenburger pay.

The hole was plugged back and will be completed from the Devonian.

Another Prospector Shows Wolfcamp Oil In NE Andrews Area

Further indications of another pay for the Andrews, Northeast (Devonian) field of Northeast Andrews County were uncovered on a drillstem test in the Wolfcamp at The Texas Company No. 2-AE State.

The Wolfcamp section tested was from 9,317 to 9,890 feet. Tool was open two and one-half hours. Gas surfaced in 34 minutes. Recovery was 800 feet of clean oil and 250 feet of heavy oil and gas-cut mud.

No formation water was found. Flowing pressure was from 150 up to 300 pounds and 15-minute shut-in pressure was 700 pounds.

The other producing wells in the area showed for possible Wolfcamp production, but were drilled on to the Devonian and completed in that formation. Those wells are Texaco 1-AE State and Phillips Petroleum Company No. 1-AC State.

No. 2-AE State is 1,980 feet from north and 2,004 feet from west lines of section 6, block 8, University survey and 11 miles northeast of the town of Andrews.

Pennsylvanian Oil Flows On DST In SE Andrews Sector

Magnolia Petroleum Company, Texas Eastern Production Corporation and associates No. 2-EA Packer, northwest offset to an 8,400-foot Wolfcamp discovery in the Ines pool of Southeast Andrews County, is drilling below 10,038 feet after a drillstem test.

Oil flowed on a three-hour and 32-minute drillstem test from 9,990 to 10,038 feet in the Pennsylvanian. Gas was at the surface in four minutes, mud in one hour and 55 minutes and oil in one hour and 54 minutes.

Cleaned into pits 36 minutes and tested to tanks one hour. It flowed seven barrels of 37-gravity oil. Recovery was reversed out of the drillpipe.

No top of the Pennsylvanian has been picked. The project previously indicated production from the Wolfcamp.

Location for No. 2-EA is 800 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of southeast quarter of section 12, block 42, T-2-N. O&M&M&A survey and nine miles southeast of Andrews.

Magutex Stepout Is To Complete In Devonian Zone

Magnolia Petroleum Company, Texas Eastern Production Corporation and associates No. 1-OB Packer, five-eighths of a mile southeast from the discovery well for Devonian production in the multipay Magutex field of Central-East Andrews County is preparing to complete as a producer.

It is bottomed at 12,609 feet in Devonian lime. Top of the Devonian is at 12,481 feet. On the top of the Devonian No. 1-OB Packer is 90 feet high to the same marker in the Magutex (Devonian) discovery.

It is 14 miles east of the town of (Continued On Page 14)

Fighting In Korea Dies Abruptly

Board Orders Hike In Texas July Oil Flow

AUSTIN—(AP)—The Railroad Commission Wednesday ordered a slight increase in the state's oil allowable for July, setting the daily permissible flow at 3,103,073 barrels, up 28,542.

The boost will result from one added day of state-wide flow, with the big East Texas Field held on its current pattern of 18 producing days.

The number of state-wide producing days will be 21. Non-flaring wells in the Spraberry Field of West Texas were given 21 days of flow, but the commission granted no production to flaring wells in that field pending settlement of a Supreme Court suit.

The suit involves a commission order which tried to force field-wide shutdown of the Spraberry to stop flaring of casinghead gas—gas produced incident to the flow of oil. The high court said the commission couldn't shut in nonwasteful wells, and therefore struck down the entire order. But the decision has not been declared final.

Third Straight Increase

Should the case be settled finally before July, the commission presumably would decide then whether flaring wells in the Spraberry should be allowed any producing days.

July's allowable marks the third straight increase in the state-wide allowable, but the advance is not as great as most purchasers indicated they wanted.

All speakers at Wednesday's production hearing recommended 19 producing days for the East Texas Field, but the commission stuck with 18. Chairman Ernest Thompson noted there has been a one and one-half-pound decrease in the field's average bottomhole pressure on an 18-day schedule in May.

Much of the oil flowing next month will cost purchasers an average of 25 cents a barrel more than it has the last six years.

H. P. Nichols of Tyler, speaking for the East Texas Oil Association, said the price hike should make the industry "very optimistic."

Thompson cut Nichols off, reminding him that "we never discuss price here."

Humble, Sun, Magnolia and Sinclair Crude Oil Company wanted a much larger July allowable. They suggested 22 state-wide producing days, coupled with 19 days in East Texas.

Midlanders 'Cool' As Mercury Stays Below 100 Degrees

Midlanders "cooled" in below-100-degree temperatures Wednesday after the mercury failed to reach the century mark Tuesday.

Scattered clouds and south winds kept the temperature below 90 degrees Wednesday morning. Winds up to 20 miles an hour were expected in the afternoon. There was a slight chance for thundershowers, GAA observers said.

Another month of higher than average temperatures and continuing dry weather is the outlook for Texas and the Southwest, the Weather Bureau's long-range prediction showed Wednesday.

'UNPRECEDENTED' ACTION— Lone High Court Justice Stays Rosenberg Deaths

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Julius and Ethel Rosenberg won a stay of execution from a single Supreme Court justice Wednesday but the government immediately moved for a reversal by the full court.

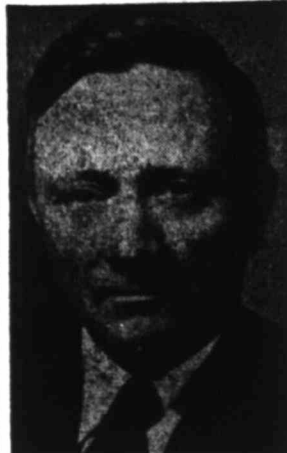

Attorney General Brownell, announcing the appeal to the entire bench, described as "unprecedented" the action of Justice Douglas in granting the indefinite stay to the atom spy team.

Just when the court will sit on the matter is something for Chief Justice Vinson to decide.

The tribunal Monday ordered a recess until October, but Vinson can reconvene the court at any time.

The court Monday rejected, 8-4, the Rosenbergs' plea for a stay of execution and a review of their trial.

Douglas based his action Wednesday in granting the stay on the question of whether the Rosenbergs were tried and sentenced under the proper law.

William O. Douglas convicted unfairly. Douglas voted with the minority then.

He noted he based his action on a point not previously raised in appeals to the high court.

Douglas said he has serious doubts whether the judge who sentenced the couple had the right to send them to the electric chair because they were not tried under the law dealing specifically with atomic espionage.

The husband and wife had been scheduled to die at 10 p.m. Thursday in Sing Sing Prison at Ossining, N. Y.

Douglas granted his stay on the purely legal ground of which law should prevail.

Attorneys asserted the Atomic Energy Act superseded the espionage laws under which the Rosenbergs were convicted.

The Atomic Energy Act was passed in 1946. It provides that the death sentence can be imposed only on the specific recommendation of the jury and when it has been found that the offense was made with an attempt to injure the United States.

Douglas said neither of these requirements was fulfilled in the case of the Rosenbergs.

His order had the effect of sending the case back to the U. S. District Court in New York for a fast decision on the legal point.

The Rosenbergs probably heard the news over a Sing Sing Prison radio speaker.

The husband and wife are in separate death cells.

Several times they have been scheduled for electrocution, only to receive a temporary legal reprieve.

Douglas' eleventh-hour stay put off the execution to an indefinite date.

HE'S MAD AT NOBODY— Warrant-Serving Is Charlie's Job

Charlie Dalmasso isn't mad at anybody.

He's just a 29-year-old, dark-haired lad trying to get along.

But he's learning fast the art of losing friends and alienating people.

For eight hours a day, Dalmasso works as a police radio dispatcher. His voice fairly drips with friendliness as he listens to the complaints of the citizenry and dispatches the police officers on the important calls.

And Dalmasso was hired five days ago to help serve the backlog of thousands of warrants, many of them clipped to dozens of ignored traffic tickets.

"In the last five days, I've taken out 55 warrants," he explained Wednesday, "but in most of the cases the people either have left town or couldn't be found."

"I managed to serve 26 of them."

"And that means that 26 people are mad at either the city manager, the mayor, the City Council, the judge or somebody."

"I try to explain that I'm not mad at them and that I'm only trying to do my duty. They don't understand very well, though, and most of them take it personally."

"The other day a man jumped all over me because I served a warrant on him. He said he wasn't going to pay and he said he wasn't going to jail, either."

"After cursing me out, he turned around and told me to wait. I got a little scared and moved back toward my desk. I didn't know but what he was going for his pistol."

Friends Are Amused

"Instead he came back in a few minutes with the check for the necessary amount. Wanted a receipt for every ticket, too."

A lot of people are amused by seeing their friends have to pay up.

"I served a warrant on a man the other day for $5 worth of tickets," continued Dalmasso, "his friend was standing there and just about died laughing."

"When I turned around and handed a warrant to the second man—asking for some $40."

"Well, he stopped right in the middle of the laughing and started in on me. He argued for an hour. He called his lawyer, he called the (Continued On Page 10)

DOUGLAS' ACT STIRS CONGRESS

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Representative Wheeler (D-Ga.) led the House Wednesday he would introduce a bill "within an hour" to impeach Supreme Court Justice Douglas, who granted a stay of execution to atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, Cheers and applause greeted Wheeler.

Wheeler said: "I can not sit idly by without seeking to do something about it." He was referring to Douglas' stay of execution.

Safety Teams Open Marshall Crash Probe

DALLAS—(AP)—A three-man safety team of the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) opened a hearing here Wednesday to try to determine the cause of a May 17 Delta-C&S Lines crash near Marshall.

The plane crashed in a thunderstorm killing 19 persons. One survived.

Robert Krip, chief of CAB's hearing and reports division, presided.

LATE NEWS FLASHES

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Eisenhower said Wednesday the East Berlin uprisings are a significant thing in that they disprove Communist stories of happy peoples behind the Iron Curtain.

BERLIN—(AP)—Otto Nuschke, deputy prime minister of strife-torn East Germany, deserted to the West Wednesday at the height of the anti-Communist riots in East Berlin. Later he said he had been forced over the line by angry rioters and wanted to return to the Soviet sector.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A federal grand jury Wednesday indicted Rep. Ernest Bramblett (R-Calif) on charges of irregularities in handling his office payroll.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Eisenhower Wednesday said anew he never promised an immediate tax reduction during last year's election campaign, repeating that he looks for a tax cut January 1 but one can not be made safely before then.

East Berlin Turns Into Madhouse As 50,000 Revolt Against Red Rule

BERLIN—(AP)—Fifty thousand rioters exploded a four-hour revolt against Red rule in East Berlin Wednesday. Soviet troops, backed by tanks and armored cars, fired on the workers, and the Russian authorities declared martial law.

The East Berliners hauled down and burned the Red flag, mauled German Communist officials and shouted "Yvan go home." But the drastic military action dispersed the crowds and ended the violence.

No accurate account of casualties was available. At least one pedestrian had been killed, and several injured.

The revolt in Berlin, 100 miles inside the Soviet occupation zone of Germany, started Tuesday as a stage-managed parade in which 3,000 workers marched to the East

German government headquarters demanding lighter working schedules.

Apparently the government intended to show its new-found policy of freedom and democracy by allowing the workers to demonstrate. The movement got out of hand. Everybody with a gripe cast cations to the winds Wednesday and workers began calling a general strike.

After East Berlin police vainly battled to stem the tide of rioting, green-helmeted Soviet troops, amounting to a regimental combat team (perhaps 3,000 men) were called in.

Tanks deployed against the workers. Gunfire echoed at several places where the biggest crowds were gathered. The people attacked tanks with stones, and disabled one with a log jammed into the treads. But the mobs had to give way. The core of the demonstration was scattered.

Finally, about 2 p.m. Maj. Gen. P. T. Dibrova, military commander in the East Sector, imposed martial law on East Berlin. The order forbids gathering of more than three persons on the streets, and imposed a 9 p.m. to 5 a.m. curfew on all pedestrian and vehicle traffic.

The order in effect took authority out of the hands of the Russian puppets, the East Berlin government, and rolled the situation back to that of 1948, when the Russians ruled with their own iron hand.

West German and Allied authorities, surprised by the violent turn, predicted the Russians now would have some new dramatic move, perhaps even an approach to the West on unifying the city.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, before the West German Parliament in Bonn, said the rioting represented "a great demonstration of the East German people's will for freedom." He said Communist oppression can be cured only through "the reunification of our country in freedom."

Indications were that the movement was spreading swiftly to the Soviet East zone. Similar conditions of uprisings against Red rule were reported last week from Czechoslovakia and Bulgaria.

Fifteen Russian T-34 tanks, 20 armored cars and 30 truckloads of machine gunners concentrated on (Continued On Page 14)

Bobby-Sox Idol Leaves Films Behind To 'Grow Up' As Actor

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD —(AP)— Bobby-sox idol Farley Granger has left his thriving Hollywood career behind to learn how to be a better actor. It may sound like sheer folly, but the handsome young actor has wiggled out of his contract with Sam Goldwyn, closed his home here and departed for more stimulating climates. That doesn't mean he won't be back. He explained his plan before he left.

"A couple of years ago, I was making a picture," recalled Granger, the typical Hollywood hero in slacks and tennis sweater. "I stopped myself in the middle of it and realized I was sliding by on my previous reputation and the tricks I had learned in pictures. That wasn't good."

"I decided I should do something about it. After all, I want to be an actor as long as I can. I know that I can't always get by because of a bobby-sox following. Some day a new guy like Tab Hunter will come along and they'll flock to him. If I haven't grown as an actor, I'll have nothing left to go on but personality. Personality is a good quality for an actor, but he has to have ability too."

To Gain Maturity
Granger decided he would have to return to the stage in order to gain more maturity as an actor. Except for a three-year hitch in the Navy, he had been in the movies 10 years and hadn't done any stage work since his middle teens.

His boss, Goldwyn, couldn't see it his way. He would give the lad contractual concessions but never the time off to go to a play. This and other matters touched off an intermittent feud in which the actor was suspended a number of times. He finally got his freedom. Eighteen months of it, anyway. Granger is able to direct his own destiny for that period, then Goldwyn has the option of signing him up to another contract.

His first try at the footlights will be a four-week Summer theater tour in "John Loves Mary" in New England. Then he leaves for Italy where he'll make "Senso," a color epic with Alida Valli and George Sanders.

Wants Try At Broadway
"After that, I want to tackle Broadway," he remarked. "I've got a play in mind that I'd like to do. If they can wait until I get back from Italy—about December—I'll do it."

If he gets into a hit play in New York, that would mean he wouldn't be able to do a picture until Summer of 1954 and perhaps later. How would that affect his youthful following, which is notably fickle?

"That's one of the gambles I have to take," he replied. "I may flop on my face when I try the stage. But the important thing is that I tried. It's more important to have tried the thing and failed than never to try. I would always take the regret for not having taken the chance."

Nevertheless They're Wed

DALLAS —(AP)— The Rev. John Shanks, youth director at Cliff Temple Baptist Church here, was called on to substitute for the pastor at a wedding.

It was a busy night. Shanks arrived just in time to escort the couple to the office. He hadn't troubled to bring a Bible because there always was one on the minister's desk. This time there wasn't. He spied a book that looked like a Bible, grabbed it, went through the ceremony from memory.

After saying "I pronounce you man and wife" he looked down and saw he was holding "The Fernal Encyclopedia."

The final decree calls for an settlement of $14,500 and $400 a month alimony. She had asked for $1,000 monthly.

Mrs. North charged her husband was guilty of mental cruelty in that he consorted with an Italian woman in Rome by the name of Micheline Muselli; bought expensive luggage for a woman in Miami; admitted associating with other women and refused to stay with her when he was in Sarasota.

Actress Helen Walker Gains Final Divorce

HOLLYWOOD —(AP)— The recent dinner dates actress Helen Walker had with her divorced mate, Edward N. du Domaine, didn't mean a thing, for Tuesday she obtained her final decree.

When she obtained her preliminary decree June 10, 1952, she testified that Du Domaine, her second husband, "resented everything about me." They were wed in 1930.

Ex-Convict Curses, Officer, Berates Wife On Conviction

HOUSTON —(AP)— Alton Franks, 19, the former convict who received a $19,000 gift from a prison cell mate, was sentenced Tuesday to 30 days in jail on a pistol carrying charge.

Lawrence Armin filed a motion for a new trial and his client remained free under $400 bond.

The sentence so enraged Franks that he cursed Highway Patrolman G. V. Mayfield and berated his wife, Betty, 18, for not concealing the pistol better.

Mayfield and Highway Patrolman R. W. Wright had testified they stopped Franks June 2 for traffic violations and found a pistol on the back seat of Franks' new car.

After the trial, Franks passed Mayfield in a corridor and cursed him.

Mayfield, a tall red-haired officer, clenched his hands and said nothing.

"I'm a uniformed officer on duty," he later said. "I had to take it."

While waiting to file the motion for a rehearing, Franks said to his wife as reporters listened: "Why the hell didn't you get that gun out of there. You know they'd like to get me."

Mrs. Tillie Lewis 14-Day Diet Plan

Tillie Lewis, most famous woman in food, has spent more than 10 years in intensive research in the field of sweetened low calorie dietetic foods.

By TILLIE LEWIS

Many of us should lose weight but always put it off until tomorrow. Why? It's hard to diet... especially to stay on a diet. At least, that was true until low-calorie foods came along. Now you can do it the easy way. You can eat your desserts, dressings, and fruits and still lose weight! Lose it gradually. Cut out a certain number of calories each day, depending upon your weight. "Do you realize," says a leading dietitian, "that by cutting out only 200 calories per day you would lose an ounce a day?" That doesn't sound like much, but add it up... At the end of a year you've lost 20 pounds! Most important, it is weight permanently lost because you haven't upset your regular eating habits. Try it and see.

TILLIE LEWIS DIET PLAN—Tenth Day:

BREAKFAST	Amount	Calories
Tomato Juice	1/2 cup	25
Poached Egg	1	75
On Whole Wheat Toast	1 thin slice	65
Crisp Bacon, broiled	1 slice, 6 inches long	30
Coffee	as desired	0
with Skim Milk	2 ounces	22
and Sweetening Tablet	as desired	0

The special problems of both the tall girl and the girl who's five feet five or under are solved in these designs. Tall girl (left) wears Peg Newton's pure silk ribbed crepe that's a matter of pure line and sleek fit. Rib cage jacket covers neckline that's cut low, makes this a daytime dress. Same girl (left center) chooses proportioned fine wale pique with halter bodice and brief jacket. For the diminutive (right center), there's a summer dress in pima broadcloth by Alan Phillips. Rows of smocking make this pretty and feminine. There's no trim to interfere with the line. Also for tiny girl (right) is pima broadcloth dress with white pique edging alternating with white pearl buttons. This makes long line of contrasting color from neckline to hem.

RUTH MILLETT SAYS— Doting Daddy Is As Bad As 'Over-Strict' Mama

I received this letter from a resentful wife and mother:
"In a recent article you told of a wife who resented her husband's affection for their children.
"I agree with your answer if it is genuine affection he is showing and not a doting foolishness. My husband carries his 'affection' for our two daughters to such lengths that it works a hardship on me.
"For instance, if the girls want new clothes, even though they have as many as they can wear, their Dad sees that they get them. He does not seem to care if it means that I will have to get along with the old clothes that I have.
"If they want to stay out dancing late at night he encourages them to do so, although he knows it will mean that they will stay in bed the next day until noon, leaving me to handle all the housework.
"The girls speak rudely to me, knowing their father will not rebuke them.
"If I try to get them to do anything around the house they are 'too tired,' usually from dancing, and my husband says reproachfully that I should let them get all the sleep they need. I am the only one who is expected to be tireless."
Two Kinds Err
Some parents make the mistake of giving too much to their children and expecting too little from them with the excuse that "they're only young ones."
Some parents go to the other extreme and seem to resent their children having the gay good times that belong to youth.
Judging from this letter, here is a father who belongs to the first group and a mother who belongs to the second.
And so they are pulling against each other. The father is encouraging his daughters to believe that everything is owed them because they are young. And the mother, resentful of such an attitude and its effect on her daughters and herself, seems almost resentful of the girls' dating and dancing and wanting pretty clothes.
Instead of pulling against each other, this mother and father should try to meet somewhere half way between their opposing attitudes. This will benefit them and their daughters.

French President Requests Life Term For Rosenbergs

NEW YORK —(AP)—CBS radio correspondent David Schoenbrun reported from Paris Tuesday night that French President Vincent Auriol had recommended to President Eisenhower that the Julius and Ethel Rosenberg death sentences be commuted "in the best interests of the United States."
Schoenbrun said this is the first time in history that a president of the French Republic has intervened in American affairs.
Auriol, Schoenbrun said, called on Foreign Minister Georges Bidault to deliver his request to the American ambassador in Paris for transmission to Washington, and that the request has been transmitted.
Schoenbrun said the French president undoubtedly was moved to take this unprecedented action by the excitement and interest in France over the fate of the Rosenbergs. This is not the reaction of Communists, Schoenbrun reported, but of anti-Communists who believe the best course lies in clemency since they feel that the execution of the Rosenbergs would make martyrs of them and serve the cause of the Communist propaganda.
Official comment on the report was not immediately available either in Paris or in Washington.

Two Hurt Critically In Trailer Explosion

HOUSTON —(AP)—A Rochester, N. Y., couple was burned critically Wednesday in an explosion in their trailer home. Attendants said Lester Sindell, 57, and his wife, Hazel, 56, have a "good chance" to recover. They had surgery and blood transfusions.
Sindell said "everything blew up at once" when he lighted a stove to make coffee.
Sindell purchased the $4,150 air-conditioned trailer last week. Its interior was wrecked.

Funeral Rites Held For Andrews Child

ANDREWS — Funeral services were held Tuesday in the first Baptist Church here for Kenneth Ray Jackson, five-and-one-half-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Jackson, who died Monday, apparently of strangulation.
Mrs. Jackson said she had fed the infant and stepped across the street to a neighbor's home. The child apparently strangled while she was away.
Survivors include a three-year-old sister, Mary Ann.

Byrd, George Say Aid Cuts Required To Balance Budget

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Senator Byrd (D-Va.) said Wednesday the Eisenhower Administration isn't going to come close to balancing the budget unless Congress cuts foreign aid drastically.

The Virginia senator added he doubts the lawmakers will get around to extending the excess profits tax as requested by President Eisenhower, a view shared by a Finance Committee colleague, Senator George (D-Ga.).

"I don't think we are going to have any tax bill this session," George observed.

Noting Eisenhower's estimate that failure to extend the excess profits levy for six months would cost the Treasury 800 million dollars, Byrd said he believes foreign aid spending should be reduced more than a billion dollars below the approximately six billion dollar level now contemplated by the Administration.

"Unless foreign aid is cut, we are not going to come very close to balancing the budget in the next fiscal year," Byrd said.

George said he thinks that, regardless of what the Senate does about a $5,318,000,000 Mutual Security Administration authorization bill scheduled for Senate action next week, appropriations will be shaved at least a billion below that level.

The authorization measure, before the Senate Armed Services Committee Wednesday for review, merely sets the ceiling on the amount Congress may make available. The actual money will be voted later.

Cuttyhunk Island Survives Five-Year Graduation Fete

CUTTYHUNK, ISLAND, MASS. —(AP)—The entire graduating class of this tiny island's one-room grammar school slept late Wednesday.

The whole class is pretty Catherine Carney, 14. She starred in the island's first graduation in five years Tuesday night.

Cathy said she was tired after weeks of preparation, including an exciting trip to the mainland to buy her first ankle-length dress for the graduation.

Two school superintendents came from the mainland to help out at Cathy's graduation. The town's dozen families and 40 Summer visitors were on hand for the commencement in Town Hall.

The little school won't produce another graduate for two years when Catherine's brother, Robert, is due to finish the eighth grade, also alone.

Cuttyhunk Constable Manuel Sarmiento came over from neighboring Nantuxet Island Tuesday night to see that law and order prevailed in the excitement. He had not made an arrest in his 20 years in office and sailed home with his record intact.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee has voted for a $4,998,732,500 foreign aid authorization—a cut of 476 million dollars from Eisenhower's request.

The committee revealed Tuesday the Administration put West Germany down for $338,527,000—only slightly less military aid than France and Great Britain.

The top sum of $346,288,000 was earmarked for France, with Great Britain down for $251,115,000 and Italy $351,214,000. These figures represent administration requests for next year, but the funds probably would not be spent fully for perhaps two years.

Funeral Rites Held For Mrs. Bob Swain

Funeral services were held at 3 p.m. Wednesday in the Calvary Baptist Church for Mrs. E. L. (Bob) Swain, 61, of 1401 West Washington Street, who died Monday in a Midland hospital.

The Rev. Leon Woods, pastor of the church, officiated. Interment was in Resthaven Memorial Park.

Mrs. Swain moved to Midland from Stanton 10 years ago. She had lived in Stanton from 1929 until 1942. Mrs. Swain was born Aug. 12, 1881 in Weatherford.

Survivors include the husband, E. L. Swain of Midland; a son, Robert E. L. Swain of Midland; a daughter, Mrs. Ivan White of Stanton; the mother, Mrs. R. C. Eaves of Breckenridge; four sisters, Mrs. J. H. Sanders of Abilene, Mrs. J. C. Cantrell of Breckenridge, Mrs. Lee Hudson of Rawleigh, Calif., and Alice Bradford of Calopapa, Calif.; four brothers, H. H. Eaves of Alvarado, Leslie Eaves of Fort Worth, R. W. Eaves of Chino, Calif., and Aussie Eaves of Rawleigh, Calif., and three grandchildren.

Nearby Ellis Funeral Chapel was in charge.

Scout Leaders Plan Meeting On June 25

Midland Scout leaders have slated their regular "Four-In-One" meeting at 7:28 p.m. Thursday, June 25, at St. Andrews Presbyterian Church, 1605 North Terrell Street.

Under the "Four-In-One" system, all Scout leader groups hold their meetings on the same night and at the same location. Included will be meetings of district scout leaders, unit leaders, den mothers, unit committees, institutional representatives and the like.

Heat-Bent Ex-Techsans Talk Over Fall's Football Outlook

Heat-bounded ex-students of Texas Tech talked Tuesday night of cool, comfortable Fall and football.

Weather records bear out the seasonal change and Head Coach DeWitt Weaver came to Midland to assure the Techs of improved football fortunes at the Lubbock institution next season.

"I believe we can win most of our games," the gray-haired Weaver predicted at the annual barbecue of the Midland organization in Cole Park. He had just reviewed the 1953 schedule highlighted by an early game with Texas A&M College.

"We had the best Spring training since I have been at Texas Tech," the congenial mentor went on. "That same spirit will bring victories this Fall."

Former West Texas high school stars are destined to have a big hand in the Red Raider camp. They come from Odessa, Wink and Kermit, among other points in this segment of the state.

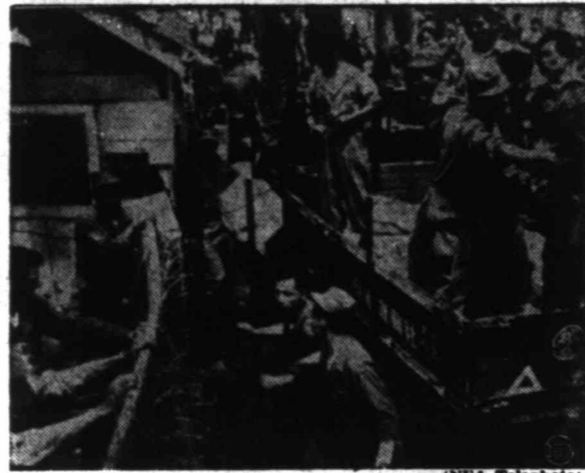

"It looks like we'll have the best freshman team in my three years at Tech," Weaver observed.

Texas Tech already has started work to expand its stadium seating to 30,000 by the opening of next season. A giant coliseum will get under way soon to assure adequate facilities for Texas Tech's growing needs.

Midland's Pete English, Rick Spinks of Kermit and Dennis Vincent, Wink's all-state quarterback, are included on the list of future grid greats at Texas Tech. English and several other Red Raiders, working on the El Paso Natural Gas Company's pipe line project, were introduced at the barbecue which attracted more than 125 per-

KILLED—Homer Lee Gossett of Plainview, Ark., ringleader of 30 rioting convicts in the New Mexico state prison at Santa Fe, was shot and killed by Deputy Warden Ralph Tahash after he had been held as a hostage by the prisoners seven and one-half hours.

AGAINST TRUCE—A truckload of ROK veterans demonstrate against a truce in Korea outside the barbed-wire enclosed press billets in Seoul.

Heat-Bent Ex-Techsans Talk Over Fall's Football Outlook

Wade Walker, Texas Tech line coach, and officers of the school's alumni association accompanied Weaver. They included D. M. McElroy, association president, and L. C. Walker, secretary. Louis Jones, ex-Red Raider and now assistant dean of student life, also joined the delegation. Kenneth Robbins of Dallas, a vice president of the alumni association, in Midland on business, was among the guests.

Jack Hinchey heads the Midland ex-students organization. He introduced L. C. Walker who, in turn, presented Weaver and members of his party.

Johnny McClellan was singled out for his work as chairman of the barbecue-staging committee along with Myrt Baker, who had a major assignment.

Heroic Jet Captain Dies After Averting Crash in Schoolyard

FORESTVILLE, MD. —(AP)— The pilot of an F-86 jet plane was credited by eyewitnesses Wednesday with steering his disabled plane into a clump of woods rather than crashing it onto a schoolyard where children were playing.

The plane exploded in midair Tuesday just before hitting the trees and scattering wreckage over a 200-yard area, near the schoolground. The pilot, tentatively identified as Capt. Francis T. Evans of Washington, D. C., was killed.

Witnesses said he either tried to bail out or was ejected from the crashing plane seconds after he headed it for the wooded area.

Fred Spinks, president of the Forestville Citizens Association, who saw the crash, said: "It was an act of heroism. The plane would have hit the school if he hadn't steered it away."

A spokesman at nearby Andrews Air Force Base said something went wrong with the plane's hydraulic system.

The pilot's body was found about 50 feet from the plane. His head was crushed and his partially opened parachute lay crumpled beside him.

Arkansas Voters Reject Race Track

FORREST CITY, ARK. —(AP)— Proposed establishment of a second Arkansas horse-racing track near here is a dead issue, killed by St. Francis County voters.

The tally in Tuesday's special election was 2,419 to 1,239 against the track sought by the St. Francis County Turf Association and opposed by church groups and others.

Divine guidance and defeat of the track proposal had been asked in all-night sessions Monday night at Forrest City churches.

Alaska's Lemmings Start Mass Migration To Death

POINT BARROW, ALASKA —(AP)— Hundreds of thousands of lemmings, said to face a "starve or drown" choice, are choosing drowning again in a mass migration into the Arctic Ocean's frigid waters.

The migration started here early this week and the little furry-footed rodents with the short tail and odd teeth have been pouring out from shore onto the sea ice in a continual stream since then.

There is no food on the ice either—just death by cold or drowning as they scamper off the floes into the water. Some have been observed as far as 25 miles from shore, still scampering over the sea ice.

Dr. John Buckley, biologist for the University of Alaska in Fairbanks, said science can't explain fully the periodic suicide migrations of the lemmings in the Arctic.

But, he said, "when they exhaust their food, they haven't got much choice. They either starve on land or go out to sea and drown."

The lemmings feed on roots, and the scarcity of such forage in the bleak Arctic coastline seems to bear out Dr. Buckley's explanation.

They migrate to their death periodically. The last time was in 1949. Countless thousands of them died that year.

Lemmings are found in the cold, northern extremes of North America and Europe.

DR. JORDAN SAYS

Results Of Vital After-Care In Polio Are Most Rewarding

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

More than half of the victims of poliomyelitis do not develop paralysis which requires after-care. What care is required depends, of course, on what muscles are affected and how seriously.

The first step in after-care, or treatment of polio after the acute disease has subsided, is to make sure that pain is relieved and to speed the release of muscle tightness. Until this is done, proper motion of the involved part, usually arm or leg, is impossible. The relief of pain and relaxation of muscles is accomplished by the use of intelligently prescribed sedatives, heat, passive motion, and simply the passage of time.

As soon as it becomes possible, the effort is directed to stimulating muscular movements. This must be done with great care. In accomplishing it several measures, including massage, may be necessary. Once the plan of action has been decided upon it is possible to proceed with the various measures that are necessary to bring about the greatest possible degree of muscular recovery.

Muscle strength is obtained by increasing the amount of activity slowly. This is done in many different ways and in many cases includes underwater exercises.

Underwater exercise has been a great boon. The temperature of the water must be kept just right and the water itself supports the limbs so that they can be moved with much less effort than is necessary in the air.

Walking, when the patient is ready for it, has to be undertaken carefully and gradually. Sometimes support with braces is necessary. In mild cases, restoring the muscles may take only a few weeks; in the severe ones it takes much longer.

The improvement often continues for a long time; in fact, the amount of paralysis at the height of the disease is almost always greater than it will be later on.

May Needs Surgery

When improvement seems to have stopped, the final steps in after-care must be begun. This may involve surgery, such as the lengthening of a tendon. At other times, special apparatus can be used or the patient may be taught to develop trick movements which really mean the substitution of one muscular group for another.

In all of these steps, patience, care and skill are important. The results are rewarding because most of those who have been crippled can be improved greatly and eventually become able to take part in many physical activities.

Those who work in this field often are amazed at the courage shown by such patients in overcoming their difficulties.

CONFLICT ENDS FOR STRAGGLER

MANILA —(AP)— The Defense Department Wednesday said an Army patrol captured a Japanese World War II straggler in mountainous Quezon Province southeast of Manila.

The holdout, Pvt. Kaichiro Inochi, 35, told Army investigators he did not know the Pacific war had ended.

Surrender Sword Returned To Japan

TOKYO —(AP)— Adm. Soemu Toyoda Wednesday got back the ceremonial sword he presented to Fleet Adm. Chester Nimitz after Japan lost the Pacific war.

Toyoda, 68, wartime commander of Japan's combined fleet, gave his sword to Nimitz, commander of the U. S. Pacific Fleet, in December, 1945. Nimitz, now retired, returned the sword to commemorate Japan's independence.

War Gets Too Old-Fashioned For Modern U. S. Air Force

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Korean War is getting too old-fashioned for the U. S. Air Force. The enemy is using antique airplanes which radar won't detect and which fly so slow and so low superspeed jets can't cope with them.

This, in substance, is the explanation at Air Force headquarters of how the old Soviet-made PO-2 biplanes come drifting in at night and bomb United Nations air bases and other installations in South Korea.

Fifteen made a successful sortie Tuesday night against Kimpo Airfield and the port of Inchon, touching off fires visible 20 miles. Other smaller raids have been made by the same type planes. There have been remarkably few interceptions.

The PO-2, first produced by the Russians in 1927 as a training plane, is a wood-and-fabric job.

Wood and fabric, an Air Force spokesman explained Wednesday, is a poor target for radar impulses. Radar sends out an impulse which reflects against an object, preferably metallic, then bounces back to be picked up by a receiver. The character of the returned signal together with the time required for it to return, provides data for estimating the direction, distance and speed of the object, as well as indication of its nature.

But the radar warning network doesn't work on the old cloth-and-wood PO-2's. And there is no electronic word of the enemy's approach.

And when he gets in close, a new complication comes. Many modern anti-aircraft guns are aimed automatically by radar. They won't operate on PO-2's. The best the ground defenders have been able to do is put up barrage fire, hoping to knock down a plane by filling the air with flak. A PO-2 has a maximum speed of about 110 miles an hour. A jet fighter flying down to that speed to fire upon one of the old biplanes would be close to "stalling out" from loss of adequate airspeed to keep in the air.

The Air Force spokesman insisted the situation wasn't serious, that these were nuisance raids. If it became serious, he said, measures would be taken to deal with the PO-2's. But he didn't say just how.

It is embarrassing enough to be hit with museum-type aircraft. But the ordnance used by the biplane force is even more humiliating to those who have been fighting fires touching off by the raiders. Converted artillery shells and even hand grenades, tossed from the open cockpit, have been used in some instances.

16 Persons Hurt In Communist Air Raid On Inchon Port

INCHON, KOREA (AP)—The Army said Wednesday night 16 U. S. military personnel were injured in the Communist air bombing of this port city Tuesday night.

The Army said no Americans were killed.

Four Korean civilians died in the raid and 21 were injured. Bombs were dropped on the Inchon fuel storage area by "one or two small enemy planes flying in from the west" the announcement said.

More than one million gallons of fuel were destroyed.

U. S. casualties were firefighters who were injured or suffered exhaustion while battling the flames. Three were hospitalized and the others returned to duty after being given emergency treatment, the Army said.

Fifteen small Communist planes made the biggest Red air attack of the war on the Seoul area Tuesday night.

The Army's official assessment of damage said "an undetermined number of buildings" was destroyed.

River Waterspout Alarms New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Old Man River blew his top here Tuesday.

A waterspout whirled down the Mississippi about 10 blocks, and for less than 10 minutes, then disappeared in a heavy thundershower.

The huge column of water, with a funnel-like effect at the top, led many to believe a tornado was being spawned in the middle of the river, three-fourths of a mile wide.

Telephone callers swamped the Weather Bureau, which came up with this explanation:

The upward suction was caused by a layer of warm, light air on the surface of the river which found a weak spot in an upper layer of cool, heavy air.

No damage resulted.

Congress Gets New Fathers Day Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Representative Horan (R-Wash) Wednesday renewed his effort to have Congress recognize the third Sunday in June each year as Fathers Day.

In testimony prepared for a House Judiciary Subcommittee, the Washington congressman urged that Fathers Day be given the same recognition which Congress gave to Mothers Day in 1914.

Horan, in whose district the observance of Fathers Day originated in 1910, has offered such a resolution in the last three Congresses without success.

27 Believed Dead In Laos Air Crash

SAIGON, INDOCHINA (AP)—A Laotian passenger plane carrying 27 persons crashed into the Laos jungle Tuesday and all aboard were believed dead.

Search planes which sighted the wreckage of the Dakota aircraft reported seeing no movement in the area.

The plane, owned by the Laos Civil Nationalized Airlines Company, apparently crashed during a violent storm.

KITCHEN EQUIPMENT UNLIMITED—Squatting amid the amazing collection of pots and pans that nearly filled a room in an old house, David Whitman, Kansas City, Kan., antique dealer, inspects an antique lamp. Among the kitchenware were stacks of pie and cake tins, many never used. Hidden under a sewing machine, he found a small wooden box. It contained $19,000 in cash. Whitman and his partner had bid $1000 for the house's contents. They turned the $19,000 over to the bank.

Three Years Of Meatless Lunches Buys 141 Factory Girls Vacation In Europe

CHICAGO (AP)—A 16-year dream "bought" with meatless sandwiches and old Easter outfits will come true next month, when 141 factory women and office workers take off for a mass vacation flight to Europe.

The women plan to tour six countries and visit the Pope and Ambassador Clare Boothe Luce in Rome. They have asked Queen Elizabeth of England and Queen Juliana of The Netherlands to receive them and are hopefully awaiting replies.

None of the women ever has visited Europe and only a few have been up in a plane. They are mostly industrial workers and some office workers in the Fort Wayne, Ind., plant of General Electric Company.

They have arranged to fly July 26 from Fort Wayne to New York, then on to London and three weeks later back to Fort Wayne aboard several special TWA Constellations.

They will be the largest civilian group ever to fly the Atlantic at one time.

Blazing A Trail
"We're blazing a trail—industrial women are coming into their own," Irene Meyers, 53, supervisor of women's activities at the plant, said in an interview in Chicago Wednesday.

These Midwest factory workers hope to face up to the situation with all the polish of seasoned globetrotters. For several months they have been attending special classes studying French, the proper use of dinner wines and a long list of dos and don'ts for European travelers.

If the queens promise them an audience, they plan some last minute cramming on the technique of courtesying.

Although Miss Meyers conceived the idea of such a mass trip 10 years ago, the final decision wasn't reached until 1950. That gave the factory women three years to save enough money from their wages, which range from $3,000 to $3,500 annually.

All-Expense Package
Plans were worked out with the Trans World Airlines and the American Express Company to offer an all-expense package of $1,022 each from Fort Wayne.

One woman was planning to contribute her coat to a rummage sale when the proposed trip was announced three years ago. She's still wearing the coat.

Others cut down on their lunches or substituted peanut butter and other spreads for more expensive meat in their luncheon sandwiches. Many passed up new Easter outfits the last three years. Others joined a credit union which made regular deductions from their pay checks.

YOUR FOOD DOLLAR . . . LIVE BETTER
WITH AN Electric HOME FREEZER

Ask any of your friends who own an Electric Home Freezer and they will tell you they enjoy better eating for less money the year 'round. How do they do it? Here are four of the most typical reasons:

- By taking advantage of special prices and food sales . . . storing food for future use when prices are lowest, quality highest.
- Freezing surplus foods in season . . . fish, game, meats, vegetables, fruits.
- Cooking and baking in quantities . . . foods keep perfectly till needed, require only heating before serving.
- Cut food waste . . . fewer leftovers. Even these can be stored for future meals.

Scientist-Directed Institute Curtails German Smuggling

COLOGNE, GERMANY—(AP)—A German scientist fighting smuggling gangs along the German-Belgian border with microscopes and X-rays has saved the Bonn government millions in revenue. From his desk in the Customs Police Research Institute here, Dr. Erich Franzheim directs scientific counter operations against international smugglers and tax evaders. Their activities have cost the government an estimated 700 million marks ($186,000,000) a year.

The main fight is on the Belgian border near Aachen, where coffee and cigarettes—both exceedingly costly in Germany—are smuggled into Germany. Franzheim is helped by 30 scientists and technicians.

"We have the most modern criminal research institute in the world—except for the United States," Dr. Franzheim says proudly. "We have smashed numerous smuggling gangs since our institute was created after the war. We have a grapevine system that tells us everything we want to know about the underground world. It has become very difficult to make smuggling pay in West Germany."

Several thousand agents in the field fight smuggling and tax evasion on the spot. Their reports are assembled in Cologne, worked over and sifted out. Every new smuggling trick is known in Cologne within a few days. Information bulletins go out to all agents to instruct them of new strategies.

The bulk of the work is done by specialists checking documents. False passports, counterfeited bills, falsified import or export licenses by the dozen are scanned by the microscopes, X-ray machines and other technical apparatus.

"There is not a chance for a smuggler once we can lay our hands on his papers," Dr. Franzheim says.

"There'll always be smuggling in Germany, but I think we can keep it on a level where it hardly pays."

International Police Smash Spanish Counterfeit Clique Embracing World

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Europe's International Police, urged on by the U. S. Secret Service, reportedly have obliterated a Spanish counterfeit clique which last Fall passed $50,000 in false checks supposedly issued by the U. S. Export-Import Bank.

Caught in Interpol's dragnet, along with 23 others, was shadowy Felix Angel Quintana Perez, described by Spain's security chief, Gen. Rafael Hierro Martinez, as mastermind and technician of the Spanish police chief added to his report a list of counterfeitists seized in the gang's Madrid warehouse—more than 80,000 items, or enough for many years of big-scale operations. False checks put out by the gang, Hierro Martinez said, traveled all over the world, aided by widespread postwar black markets in money.

Baughman disclosed the story of the Spanish gang's operations and capture, as reported by Hierro Martinez, in response to a query here.

The Treasury last January announced that International Police were seeking the source of several false Export-Import Bank checks which had turned up.

The joker was and is, that the Export-Import Bank, although it makes U. S. Government loans abroad, issues no loan checks of its own. The government bank establishes credits in U. S. and foreign commercial banks when it makes a loan, and these banks issue loan checks.

Checks Pass Scrutiny
Nevertheless, the false Export-Import Bank checks repeatedly passed scrutiny in Swiss international banking institutions and in New York banks, and were stopped only when they were presented at the Bank of Manhattan in New York City. The checks were printed to make it appear that they had been issued by the Export-Import Bank against an account in the Bank of Manhattan. Twelve such checks were presented and turned down. They came in from Spain, Portugal, Switzerland, and Germany. One check was traced to a black market in La Paz, Bolivia, where it was sent from Madrid for passing.

Most of the supposed Ex-Im checks were for $1,000 or $1,500, but one was for $18,500 and another for $20,000. Losses were borne by merchants and black market dealers who accepted the checks, giving merchandise, or cash for them. There was no loss to the government bank.

Travelers Checks, Too
Additionally, the Spanish check counterfeiters printed travelers checks on a New York bank that does not issue travelers checks.

Baughman first heard of the Ex-Im checks from A. M. Anderson, assistant treasurer of the government bank, who wrote to Baughman last November 10 that a $4,800 check drawn upon a supposed Ex-Im account in the Bank of Manhattan, had turned up. This was followed quickly by three more.

Baughman put a U. S. Treasury agent in Paris on the case immediately. This agent called upon Interpol, the European International Police network which has headquarters in Paris, and the investigation quickly led back from Swiss banks to Madrid, where the checks were put in circulation.

Gen. Hierro Martinez took it from there, in cooperation with the U. S. Treasury agent and Interpol links in France, Switzerland, Italy, Germany and other countries.

Gen. Hierro Martinez, report did not describe in any detail just how the gang was caught, but he told Baughman that his net scooped in every member.

Federally-Financed Synthetic Gasoline Plant Closed Down

BROWNSVILLE—(AP)—A big, government-financed synthetic gasoline plant here was ordered closed down Wednesday.

A brief notice posted at the multi-million dollar Carthage Hydrocoil plant—where the synthetic fuel is produced by a secret process—said the plant is discontinuing operations "for the present."

No official explanation came. The president of the company, Guy Gabrielson, was on the East Coast. R. H. Altken, vice president, said he had no more information.

A high official who would not be quoted by name said the plant never achieved commercial production but that the principal reason for the shutdown was mechanical problems.

The Texas Company is the largest stockholder in Carthage Hydrocoil, which turns natural gas and oxygen into gasoline and chemicals in what was supposed to be the first commercial application of a new process.

Ike Says Burning Of Direct Red Propaganda Books Okay

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Eisenhower said Wednesday it is all right with him if the State Department burns books which openly appeal for the Communist way of life.

The department can do as it pleases on that score, the President told a news conference.

He said no one in this government should do anything which would contribute to destruction of the United States.

Eisenhower declined to say whether his attack on book burning in a speech Sunday was aimed at Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.).

McCarthy has been sharply criticizing the State Department for permitting books by Communist authors to be placed in libraries abroad operated by the U. S. information program.

Since the Eisenhower Administration came into power, the department has ordered such books removed from these libraries.

McCarthy, in comment on Eisenhower's Sunday speech, said "The (Eisenhower) couldn't very well have been referring to me. I have burned no books."

In his address Sunday, Eisenhower said: "Don't join the book burners. Don't think you are going to conceal faults by concealing evidence that they ever existed."

The President was asked Wednesday whether his Sunday remarks were directed at "the school of thought" represented by McCarthy.

Eisenhower said he never deals in personalities.

The President added he was against this government's stocking books abroad which would contribute to the destruction of the U. S. Letter To Syngman Rhee

But he said, as he did Sunday, that all Americans in this country should have free access to books which explain communism. Eisenhower also:

1. Said he had sent a letter to President Syngman Rhee of South Korea, explaining this country's reasons for entering the war there, what its objectives were and where we stand now. The President did not say whether he was talking about a new message to Rhee or was referring to the one he sent June 8.

Eisenhower said he had made it clear in the letter that fears on the part of some that this country is weakening with respect to its objectives in the Korean War, are completely groundless.

2. Declared that the new, big scale Communist offensive in Korea—at a time when an armistice seems imminent—shows the complete indifference of the Communists for human life. The President also said he is not sure whether the offensive reflects a lack of sincerity by the Reds.

3. Announced a proposed new order on distribution of security information by government agencies—a measure which eventually may replace a controversial information order issued by former President Truman in September, 1951.

Lutherans Open Triennial Convention

HOUSTON—(AP)—Missouri Synod Lutherans opened their Triennial Convention Wednesday by asking that God give them wisdom, courage and guidance in this critical hour of world affairs.

"We are met to transact much important work for our Lord and Savior," Dr. Walter Lichtsinn of Hammond, Ind., told the 800 official delegates from 41 states, Brazil and Argentina.

Dr. Lichtsinn, the synod's third vice president, preached the sermon at a morning worship service opening the 11-day convention.

Tuesday afternoon's business session included a presidential address and report from Dr. J. W. Behnken of St. Louis, completing his sixth three-year term as head of the synod.

It's Sad Day In Yankeeland As Browns End String, 3-1

By The Associated Press
Maybe there's still some hope for the American League. The New York Yankees finally lost. The St. Louis Browns finally won.

The two longest streaks of the season ran slam-bang into each other at Yankee Stadium Tuesday night and Wednesday both are broken, along with several others. The Yankees won 18 in a row—one shy of the American League record—before bowing to the Browns, 3-1, before 30,363 shocked and dismayed New York fans.

For the Browns, it was their first victory in 15 games, an all-time record losing streak for the club. The St. Louisans also ended Whitey Ford's all-winning streak as a starting Yankee pitcher and snapped Joe Collins' 14-game hitting streak.

Ford, a brilliant young southpaw, had won 16 games since coming to the Yankees in 1950, all as a starter. He lost once in relief in his first year.

Duane Pillette and Vic Wertz, a couple of players the Yankees didn't want, were the Browns' stars. Pillette, once Yankee property, combined with old Batck Paige to baff

Mrs. Gloria Ezell Moves Up In West Texas Golf Tourney

AMARILLO—Medalist Ruby Lee Harding and her main threat to the Women's West Texas Invitational Golf Tournament championship—Mrs. Gloria Ezell of Midland—advanced into the second round with easy victories Tuesday.

Mrs. Harding defeated Mrs. C. D. Lee of El Paso, 3 and 1, while Mrs. Ezell whipped Mrs. J. E. Davis of Amarillo by a whopping 6 and 3 margin.

Evlyn Cowden, who defeated Fain Wolfelin of Amarillo, 1-up in the first flight, the other Midland contestants didn't fare very well.

Mrs. Meadows lost to Mrs. J. W. Ross of Amarillo, 5 and 4, and Mrs. Sybil Flournoy was defeated by Mrs. W. K. Powell of San Angelo, 5 and 3.

Also in the championship flight, Mrs. Ann Eyridge of Odessa was ousted by Mrs. J. R. Brown of Amarillo, 4 and 2.

Mrs. Harding, who defeated Mrs. Ezell in the recent Hobbs Invitational, led her Tuesday opponent all the way. She closed out the match on the No. 17 par-four by dropping in a long putt for a par.

Hogan Looks Forward To 13 Days' Practice In Britain

PORT WORTH—(AP)—Ben Hogan expects to get in 13 days of practice for the British Open and is looking forward to it eagerly.

The National Open Champion may be disappointed to learn that Bobby Jones, the man to whom he's compared in golf, never played the Carnoustie course in Scotland.

Hogan, making his first trip to Scotland, came home to Port Worth Sunday and rested three days from his feat of winning the National Open for the fourth time last week.

Hogan was under the impression that Jones, in winning the British Open three times—1926, 1927 and 1930—had played the Carnoustie course. But such was not the case.

Hogan, winner of four tournaments out of five this year and now leading money winner of the year although the other linksters have played in four times as many tournaments, said he didn't think he was playing any better now than in some other years.

Johnny Lindell, a six-time loser, pitched and batted the Pirates to victory in the first game. Howie Pollet, who moved from the Pirates to the Cubs in the Ralph Kiner deal, beat his old club in the nightcap for his second victory of the year.

One-Man Forum

By Abe Weiner

Texas Baseball Coach Bibb Falk still must be chuckling over the coup de grace he pulled on Southern Methodist. Known around the Southwest Conference as a sarcastic, tight-lipped—but witty—pessimist, Bibb for years had ignored a concerted TCU-SMU-Baylor-Texas A&M conspiracy to beat him.

This Spring, when it appeared he did not have the goods to win, Falk resorted to psychological warfare—the only baseball tactic he hasn't used in the past. SMU had captured the golf and swimming championships and was in an advantageous position to win the baseball title when Falk and the Longhorns moved into Dallas for a two-game series.

The Bibber slyly admitted to SMU for the title. It must be admitted that judicious use of psychology sometimes pays dividends. . . . P. S. The reason Falk did not recommend SMU as the conference representative to the NCAA playoffs is that the Mustangs tied for the title. While the Mustangs were eating up the praise, Texas players became aroused. They blasted the Ponies into baseball Siberia in the two-game set and had enough left to finish out the year in a tie with

Bowland's Record Better Than Appears
Art Bowland's 430 batting average is deceiving because the cold figures don't show, for example, that the stellar catcher has hit in 42 of the 47 games in which he has appeared. Checking over the records to find out which of the Indians had the longest hitting streak, we discovered that Bowland had put together a 15-game skinn which ended June 8 against San Angelo. It went unnoticed because the day before he started the string, he had

Scoter's Demise From Delaying The Game
Several persons are rather indignant that Scooter Hughes was tossed out of Monday night's game by Umpire Tex Harper after disputing the ball-strike count. Although radio reports from Carlsbad seemed to indicate "the ump was wrong," Manager Jay Haney tells us that he thought that it was the third strike. Here's what happened: Scooter took the first pitch, and the scoreboard registered a strike. The Carlsbad radio announcer thought he had called a ball as did Scooter. Thus, when the third strike arrived, Scooter was adamant. He argued too long and, perhaps, too hard. At any rate,

Westerners Triumph Over Eagles, 10-6, Despite Eight Errors

The front-running Westerners spotted the Eagles a two-run lead in the second inning then roared from behind to win out, 10-6, in Tuesday's American Legion League game.

The Westerners had to overcome their own shaky, eight-error fielding support to give Pitcher Lionel Crisp the win. Lee Sneed clouted two singles in the 10-hit Westerner attack that erased a 4-2 Eagle lead with three runs in the third inning and five in the seventh.

The losing pitcher, Bob Procter, headed his own team hitting one of his raps a double.

Cobb said he would start Ernie (No-Hit) Nelson or Bruce (Gabby) Blumenthal, both former Midland Indian pitchers, against Alpine with Ralph Easterwood and Leon (Hook) Hayes in reserve.

Should this venture succeed at the gate, Cobb indicated he would endeavor to bring other outstanding semi-pro and service nines to Midland.

Roughnecks Tackle Alpine

Midland fans get their first opportunity to see the Midland Roughnecks this season at 8 p.m. Wednesday when Manager Les Cobb's crew entertains the powerful Alpine Cowboys at Indian Park.

The game is being jointly sponsored by the Optimist Club, which is furnishing the manpower required to operate the game and the park.

Managed by Tom Chandler, the Cowboys are loaded with college stars and ex-professionals. In four outings this year, they have won four times. Cobb announced that the Roughnecks will acquire Marion Tredaway, the Midland youngster who played with the Odessa and Lamson-Winters-Ballinger clubs of the Longhorn League before the latter team folded.

Cobb said he would start Ernie (No-Hit) Nelson or Bruce (Gabby) Blumenthal, both former Midland Indian pitchers, against Alpine with Ralph Easterwood and Leon (Hook) Hayes in reserve.

Should this venture succeed at the gate, Cobb indicated he would endeavor to bring other outstanding semi-pro and service nines to Midland.

Portland, Ore. —(P)—Harry Matthews of Seattle, fighting to gain a top niche in heavyweight ranks, hammered out a one-sided 10-round decision over Freddie Beshore of Los Angeles Tuesday.

Matthews, 180, had Beshore, 200, bleeding and out on his feet at the final bell.

The Seattle veteran showed some of the punching power and ringmanship that won him an impressive string of knockouts before he was stopped by Rocky Marciano in New York last July.

He gave Beshore a bad beating all the way. There were no knockdowns, and he didn't come close to knocking him out until the tenth round.

Then, with a minute left, he staggered him with a terrific right to

'Ask Land Condition Survey,' Soil Experts Urge Ranchers

The help of the Midland Chamber of Commerce in supporting the program of the Soil Conservation Service in this area was pledged at a meeting Tuesday of district conservationists and members of the Agriculture and Livestock Committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Hotel Scharbauer to discuss informally the program of the Howard-Martin-Midland Counties Soil Conservation District, with Ben Osborn, conservationist for the Midland work unit, presiding.

In the discussion which followed the conclusion was borne out that some very direct aid in determining the status of ranchlands in Midland County could be had through the technical assistance of the conservationists.

More Range Land
Osborn pointed out that 90 per cent of the land in Midland County is in range rather than cultivation. He said that despite the three-year long drought which the area has suffered that nature in time will put grass back on much of the land, except for those areas where it has actually been laid bare, which will take several years of good rains.

"In the meantime," he said, "if we can find out just what the condition of our ranches are, we will be able to determine what sort of growth we can expect and map out individual programs to aid the ranchers in their future projects when the condition does get better. He pointed out that any rancher who asks for technical assistance and agrees to become a co-operator with the Soil Conservation Service, will receive all the technical service available. Aerial photographs and scale maps will be made of each operator's land and if the rancher wishes, every square foot of the land will be personally inspected to determine what its condition is and what the rancher can expect it to yield.

"Land is classified generally as to type of grass now on the ranges and the condition be it poor, fair or good," he said.

Urges Publicity
Delbert Downing, manager of the Midland Chamber of Commerce, asked if it were generally known in the area that this service was available to ranchers. Those present generally agreed that it was that Soil Conservation Service was known to be available but that few ranchers knew anything about the local conservationists (Osborn) being available now on a full-time basis in Midland County.

Frank Elkin then made the motion that all possible aid be rendered to the Midland conservationists in publicizing their work and asking ranchers to consider cooperating with the conservationist in making surveys of their lands.

"If we only found out just what condition our range land is in now," said George Glass, "we would be accomplishing something." Glass seconded Elkin motion that the Chamber of Commerce Agriculture and Livestock Committee go on record to aid the program.

The motion was accepted unanimously.

Freer Flow Of News Pledged Through Eisenhower Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower proposed Wednesday a new security-information program which he said is intended to promote a freer flow of news from government to the people.

The President took the unusual step of not unprecedented step of making public the proposed text of an executive order before it goes into effect. This gives the press and government officials time to study and comment on it.

Designed to replace a much criticized order signed by former President Truman in September, 1951, Eisenhower's plan would cut from 45 to 18 the number of federal agencies allowed to classify information as secret or of the security type.

Only heads of the 16 remaining agencies — no underlings — could determine what information should be stamped for security.

Eisenhower said his decision to make public the proposed order is in conformity with his ideas on giving people who are affected by an administration action a chance to talk about it in advance. He said he would not promise that any detailed changes which may be suggested will be accepted. But he said all comments will be considered.

The old Truman order gives other government departments and agencies handling papers of a security nature much the same powers of secrecy classification as the Defense and State Departments.

SING SING VISIT—The two Rosenberg children, Michael, left, and Robert, right, are escorted into Sing Sing Prison by an unidentified man for what could have been their last visit with their parents, Ethel and Julius Rosenberg. But the condemned atom spies gained a new stay of execution Wednesday.

Rosenbergs Happy At New Reprieve

OSSINING, N. Y. —(AP)— Julius Rosenberg took a deep breath, and a tenseness left his face. His wife, Ethel, closed her eyes, and smiled. Once again, death had passed them by.

Only one day before the convicted atom spies were to die in Sing Sing Prison's electric chair, Supreme Court Justice Douglas stayed the execution.

It was the fourth time the couple had faced a date with death, only to win temporary reprieves. In their concrete cells in the death house, Warden Wilfred Denno described their reaction: "They seemed very happy." Relatives were visiting the condemned couple as the news first reached them over a prison radio loudspeaker.

Rosenberg was talking in a low voice with his brother, David. Mrs. Rosenberg, in another section, was talking with her husband's mother, Mrs. Sophie Rosenberg, and his sister, Ethel Goldberg.

For just a moment, the voices stopped, as the news broadcast was piped out.

Then, after a little bit, the voices, higher and excited, began again, and there were half sobs, half laughter.

The feeling ran through the entire death house, where 12 others, all men, are awaiting electrocution.

"Naturally there is a general reaction when anybody gets a reprieve," Denno said. "The rest of them were happy about it."

Up to the moment, the Rosenbergs had seemed impassive and stoical.

Emergency Wheat Loans Announced

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department said Wednesday it will make emergency price support loans on wheat stored on the ground in arid areas of the Southwest, where a shortage of storage facilities has been reported.

This decision was announced by President John Davis of the Commodity Credit Corporation, which finances price support operations. Heretofore, only grain stored in acceptable farm bins and other facilities or in commercial elevators and warehouses was eligible for price support aid.

Because early types of pews in English churches had high enclosures, they familiarly were known as "horns-boxes," according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

House Embroiled In New Row Over Benefits For Veterans

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House voted itself embroiled Wednesday in a new fight over veterans' benefits as it heard a vote on a $5,284,808,684 appropriation bill.

The bulk of the appropriation, or $4,008,235,264, is earmarked to operate Veterans Administration programs in the year beginning July 1.

Of the rest, $1,057,781,000 would go to the Atomic Energy Commission, $188,371,000 to the Tennessee Valley Authority and $29,882,400 to selective service.

Lions See Film On Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation

"Courage Triumphs," a motion picture film produced at Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation, was shown as the program feature at the regular meeting of the Lions Club Wednesday noon in Hotel Scharbauer.

Roy Harper of Gonzales, director of field services for the foundation, spoke briefly concerning the institution and its program preceding the showing of the film. He also distributed booklets announcing the "Midland Building," which is scheduled for completion at Gonzales by Jan. 1, 1954. Erection of the structure is financed by Midland contributions.

Harper was introduced by Roy Minear, a long-time booster of the foundation. The program was arranged and presented by Copper Daugherty.

L. V. Baasham, Lions Club president, announced the club's annual officer installation banquet, a ladies night affair, will be held Thursday night, June 25, in Hotel Scharbauer. The event will supplant the regular luncheon next week.

Cease Fire—

Spokesmen for the UN Command at Munsan would neither confirm nor deny the rumors that agreement on the line was reached.

But Communist correspondents at Panmunjom advised Allied newsmen to "keep your eyes on what happens at the front." They indicated that the staff officers might have reached agreement and that the line might have been approved by the top-level delegations.

Wordings Checked
Translators of both sides worked in the rain-spattered conference hut two hours before the 11 a.m. plenary meeting opened. This would indicate they were going over the final wording of the armistice document.

Junior officers carried maps into the meeting of the main delegations and into the staff officers session which followed. It was understood the maps were referred to in discussion points other than the demarcation line.

One such use would be to mark the main routes over which observer teams and other supervisory personnel will travel in North and South Korea while enforcing an armistice.

In the absence of any official word on the discussion, it was anybody's guess as to when the expected agreement would be announced. Most observers at this Allied truce base camp predicted an armistice within five days to a week.

Barber's Son Better After Appendectomy Halts Wedding Trip

BANGOR, ME. —(AP)— Anthony di Bonaventura, 23, son of a barber, was reported improving Wednesday after an emergency appendectomy interrupted his honeymoon with Sara Delano Roosevelt, 21, granddaughter of the late President.

The bride of five days was with her husband when the operation was performed Tuesday. He was brought by ambulance more than 30 miles over rough roads to Millinocket and then to Bangor.

They were honeymooning in the Mt. Katahdin wilderness after their marriage last Friday in the New York East Side Catholic Church of Mary, Help to Christians.

Reds Bid To Restore Russian-Greek Ties

LONDON (AP)—Diplomatic informants reported Wednesday Russia has offered to restore normal diplomatic relations with Greece by exchanging ambassadors.

The reported Soviet move came on the heels of two other apparently conciliatory gestures to Southeast European nations recently, one to Turkey, the other to Yugoslavia.

Russia recently renounced long-time claims on Turkish territory and agreed also to exchange ambassadors with Marshal Tito's Yugoslav government.

The House was expected to approve most of the figure, but the row over veterans' benefits was started by proposals from the Appropriations Committee to curtail free hospital and dental care for veterans with non-service-connected illness.

Leading the fight to kill these "riders" to the appropriations bill were members of the House Veterans Committee. They contended publicly that this was a matter for their committee to decide.

Representative Teague (D-Texas), senior Democrat on the Veterans Committee argued the riders opened up VA hospitals to new groups of veterans by making partial payments possible, and "You'll have them going in by the thousands."

Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers (R-Mass), chairman of the Veterans Committee, promised the House her group would hold hearings on the proposed restrictions if they were removed from the appropriations bill.

She said she believed "we can recommend permanent legislation at an early date."

Restrictions proposed by the Appropriations Committee would:

1. End interest "gratuity" paid by the VA to GI's acquiring home loans. This is an amount equivalent to four per cent interest on the government-guaranteed part of the loan for the first year. The saving is estimated at $6 million dollars.
2. Reduce the fee paid colleges to report on veteran enrollment for a saving estimated at $2,400,000.
3. Require the VA to investigate the ability of veterans to pay for hospital care where their ailments are not connected with military service, and to charge according to ability to pay. Present law requires the VA to accord veterans free care upon a simple statement that they cannot pay for hospitalization.
4. Abolish free out-patient dental care unless the ailment existed at the time of discharge, and application for treatment was made within a year after discharge or a year after this provision becomes law.

"He finally paid, though, but said he'd better not get any more tickets. He'd carry it all the way to the Supreme Court."

Dalmasso's duties carry him out at night and often he can't find the people at home until 9 or 10 o'clock.

"That doesn't make them any happier, either," he sadly explained, "but that's the only time I can catch them."

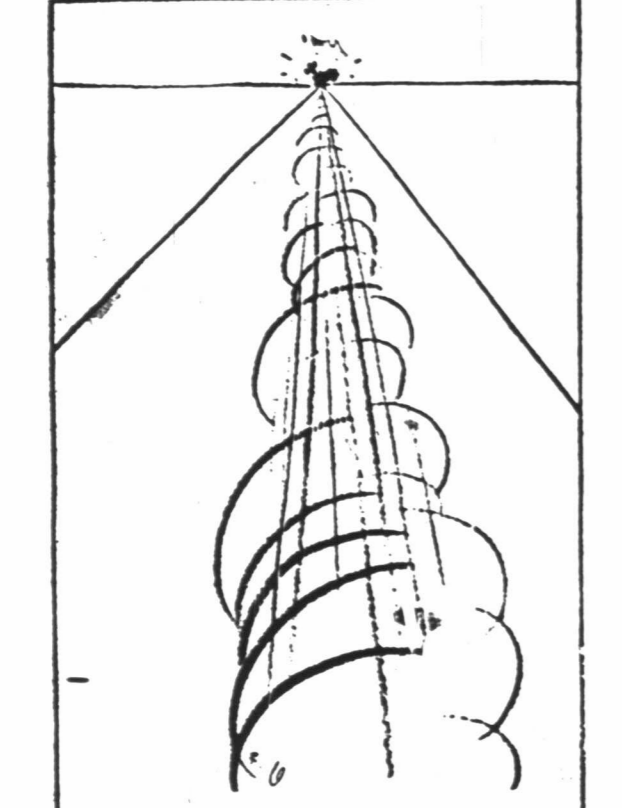

During the last five days, Dalmasso has collected a total of $350 in fines and court costs on those 26 tickets.

And there's still 4,000 to 5,000 others waiting to be served.

By that time, Dalmasso, or whoever takes his place if it gets to be too much for him, ought to be really popular.

High Court Upholds Drivers Financial Responsibility Law

AUSTIN (AP)—The State Supreme Court generally upheld Wednesday constitutional challenge to the auto drivers financial responsibility law.

It was the first high court test of the statute passed two years ago. D. C. Gillaspie of San Antonio challenged the law. Under it the Department of Public Safety suspended his auto registration for his failure to put up security for damages after his auto was in collision with another car.

Gillaspie's auto was driven by his minor son, James.

The law requires drivers involved in traffic accidents doing as much as $100 damage to prove their ability to pay damages up to $15,000. Pending proof of their financial ability, innocence in the accident, or absence of a damage suit for one year, the drivers license and registration are suspended.

Fire Damages Car; Loss Appears Light In Two Other Blazes

Three fires—mixed with one false alarm—Tuesday and Wednesday caused appreciable damage in but one instance.

A false alarm at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday sent firemen racing out Lamesa road—only to return without sighting smoke. Slight damage, however, was caused at 1 a.m. Wednesday by a burning tar pot at the El Paso Natural Gas Company on the Garden City Highway.

At 8:13 p.m. Tuesday, a trash fire in the negro section caused no loss, but at 3:25 p.m. that same day, a car owned by W. C. Howard was damaged heavily when it burned at 509 South Carver Street. The auto was believed to be a 1939 model.

Grand Canyon Deer Just Keep Growing

PHOENIX, ARIZ.—(AP)—The Arizona Game and Fish Commission believes the deer herd in the Grand Canyon is the fastest growing herd in the country.

In 1950 the kill by licensed hunters was 2,858. In 1951 it was 2,515 and last year it was 4,312, but even so the deer have multiplied faster than the rising kill, a joint report of the commission and the U. S. Forest Service shows.

Texas To Profit Millions By Crude Oil Price Boost

AUSTIN—(AP)—The Texas treasury may get $23,500,000 extra in two years because of the new 25-cent-a-barrel average increase in Texas crude oil prices.

Big buyers of crude oil supported price increases ranging from 10 to 35 cents a barrel in areas from the Gulf to Canada. The companies said the increases were necessary because of rising costs of drilling and processing oil. Higher gasoline prices seemed assured.

Comptroller R. S. Calvert's office made an unofficial estimate of increased income to the state. A million dollars monthly gain was based on increased production estimates.

The price advance for crude oil came just ahead of the state-wide oil prororation hearing here Wednesday.

Gulf Oil Corporation and Contimental Oil Company joined other major producers in the crude oil purchase price boost yesterday. Phillips Petroleum began the price hike parade Monday and was followed by Humble Oil, the nation's largest domestic producer.

Others fall in line

Others falling into line were Carter Oil, Mid-Continent, Standard, Pure Oil, Republic Oil, Cities Service and a number of smaller companies.

Some major buyers were not in the fold.

Pan American Production of Houston set higher prices for all its purchases matching Humble's hikes in areas where both buy. Pan American also posted a 10-cent boost for Wood County and Cayugo Field asphalt oil, 25 cents for condensate from the Cayugo field, 13 cents for the Quitman (Paluxy) field and 30 cents for the Willmar field.

Phillips said it is paying 30 cents for extra high quality Gulf Coast crude instead of 25 cents as previously posted.

Also boosting prices in order to meet Humble levels was Southern Minerals Corporation of Corpus Christi. It made a price increase of 30 cents a barrel retroactive to 7 a.m. Monday. Southern Minerals purchases in the Gulf Coast area.

Ellsworth Finishes Ellenburger Opener In North Pecos Area

T. T. Ellsworth No. 1-B C. F. Simmons, wildcat in North Pecos County, has been completed as a flowing producer from the Ellenburger.

Operator reported a daily potential of 36 barrels of 43-gravity oil through a one-half-inch choke and perforations at 5,785-5,840 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 477-1 and tubing pressure 200 pounds. Pressure on casing was 350 pounds.

The new well is two and one-quarter miles northwest of Ellenburger production in the South Abell field and 330 feet from south and east lines of lot 12, section 26, block 9, H&GQ survey and four miles east of Imperial.

SE Andrews Project Finds Shows Of Oil, Gas On Drillstem Test

Heavily oil and gas-cut mud was developed Wednesday on a drillstem test in an unidentified formation, possible Clear Fork, at Standard Oil & Gas Company No. 14-Q Midland Farms project in the Midland Farms (Mullpay) area of Southeast Andrews County.

The drillstem test was taken in the interval from 6,880 to 7,070 feet. Tool was open three hours. Gas surfaced in 25 minutes. Recovery was 360 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut mud.

Flowing pressure was from 280 to 440 pounds and 30-minute shut-in pressure was 2,760 pounds.

More hole was being made below 7,305 feet in line.

Location for the project is 2,147 feet from south and 1,985 feet from west lines of section 9, block 42, T-1-N, G&M&B&A survey and 14 miles southeast of the town of Andrews.

Helmerich & Payne Borden Wildcat Is To Be Abandoned

Helmerich & Payne, Inc., was awaiting orders to plug and abandon No. 1 Dordard, wildcat in Central Borden County.

The project, bottomed at 9,970 feet in the Ellenburger, took a drillstem test from 9,920 to 9,970 feet. Tool was open two hours. Recovery was 60 feet of drilling mud and 390 feet of salty, sulphur water.

The Ellenburger was topped by samples at 9,940 feet, minus datum of 6,998 feet.

Location of the failure is 330 feet from north and west lines of section 10, block 32, T-5-N, T&P survey.

Indicated Opener In Chaves Slated For Potential Test

Operator was preparing to move in workover unit for completion attempt at Neville G. Penrose No. 1 Zimmerman-Union Oil Company of California, rank wildcat and indicated Queens sand discovery in Southeast Chaves County.

Last production gauge reported from the wildcat was 37 barrels of new oil and three barrels of water in eight hours from perforations at 2,865-2,899 feet.

Total depth of the project is 4,139 feet, plugged back to 2,899 feet.

Location is 600 feet from north and west lines of section 15-14a-31e.

Rocco Prospector In Schleicher Quit

Rocco Oil Company of Fort Worth No. 1 R. M. Thomson, Jr., and others, wildcat in South-Central Schleicher County, has been plugged and abandoned on total depth of 7,439 feet in the Ellenburger.

The formation was topped at 7,187 feet on elevation of 3,401 feet. The Pennsylvanian reef was topped at 6,785 feet.

Location for the failure is 600 feet from north and west lines of section 70, block A, HE&WT survey.

Schleicher Opener Gets West Offset

C. L. Norsworthy, Jr., of Dallas No. 2 Virgil Powell will be drilled as a west offset to the opener of the Tillery (Pennsylvanian) field of Central-East Schleicher County.

Location for the new test is 230 feet from north and 1,650 feet from east lines of section 21, block A, G&H survey and three and one-quarter miles northwest of Fort McKavett.

It will drill to 4,100 feet, starting at once.

NE Concho Opener Gets SE Outpost

Amerada Petroleum Corporation has spotted location for a three-quarters mile southeast outpost to its No. 1 J. Ann Waide, recently completed 2,200-foot Pennsylvanian sand discovery in Northeast Concho County.

It is No. 3 Bule and is located

Honolulu Project In SE Coke Sector Is Taking Wilburn DST

Honolulu Oil Corporation No. 1 Webb, rank wildcat in Southeast Coke County, was bottomed at 6,060 feet in the Wilburns taking a drillstem test.

The formation was topped at 6,000 feet, elevation 1,958 feet.

This wildcat showed for possible production on a drillstem test of the Caddo lime from 5,300 to 5,320 feet. That section showed 90 feet of slightly gas-cut mud and one gallon of free oil and no water.

No. 1 Webb is 2,423 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 127, E. Thomas survey and 11 miles south of the town of Bronco.

Pegasus In Upton Gets New Project

The Sharples Oil Corporation of Midland has staked location for No. 4-A TXL in the Pegasus (Pennsylvanian) field of Northwest Upton County.

Drillsite is 2,000 feet from north and 1,960 feet from east lines of section 43, block 40, T-4-S, T&P survey and 24 miles southwest of Midland.

Rotary tools will be used to drill to 10,500 feet. Operations will begin at once.

National Conclave Of Scouts, Landmen Is Now Underway

The thirtieth annual convention of the National Oil Scouts and Landmen's Association got underway in Fort Worth, Wednesday, with registration of participants.

A large group of both scouts and landmen from Midland and other Permian Basin cities were on hand for the registration.

Campaign for 1953-54 officers will highlight the convention. Election of officers will be Saturday.

Bidding for the presidency are C. D. (Doug) Hogue of Humble Oil & Refining Company, New Orleans, and H. L. Francis, Jr., of Carter Oil Company, Jackson, Miss.

The Southeast Louisiana Oil Scouts Association has placed bid for New Orleans to be the 1954 convention site.

Hogue has been associated with Humble 24 years and is division chief scout in New Orleans.

Francis also is a veteran scout and has served at Carter's headquarters since 1943.

The Midland Oil Scouts Association is host for the Fort Worth convention. J. S. (Jim) Locke, Phillips Petroleum Company, Midland, is chairman of the convention program committee.

East Berlin—

the ugly mob threatening government headquarters after East Berlin Communist police had battled for hours to control the uprising.

The rioters were demanding that the Russians leave and that the Communists go with them and that Germany be reunited by free secret elections.

Tanks drove into the mob and some enraged rioters were shot. It was impossible to tell immediately how many fell.

Troops fired repeatedly, mostly into the air, and drove the mob before them. But some of the shots sprayed into the crowd.

The core of the rioting was split, but the tumult against the Russians and Communist continued and angry workers still clustered in various areas.

Red Flag Hauled Down

The bulk of the mob began converging on Unter Den Linden in the direction of the Lustgarten, the old Imperial Square now called Marx-Engels Platz.

Two daring men climbed the famed old Brandenburg Gate, on the East-West border and hauled down the Red flag. At Potsdamer Platz a gang boldly forced wooden sticks into the gun of one tank and hurled big stones onto the tracks of other tanks. Soviet troops replied with a spray of machine gun fire and the lumbering machines deployed on the square.

The tracks of one big tank were broken by a log the mob jammed into the cog. It lay helpless on the grass with the crew inside.

The quaking East German Communist regime, assaulted and humiliated, barricaded itself in the government headquarters behind a Soviet cordon. It made a new effort to placate the workers it is supposed to favor. The loudspeaker system began blaring promises of lower prices and less work.

It was the same promise Prime Otto Grotewohl made Tuesday night after a demonstration by 5,000 workers against Communist speedup tactics and low living standards.

East Berlin Paralyzed

But this time the crowds did not appear inclined to believe the promises.

At noon, when the Freedom Bell in West Berlin pealed out as usual, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of the West German government convened his cabinet in an emergency session in Bonn.

All East Berlin was paralyzed by a general strike that had been called throughout the East Zone. The subway and elevated train systems in East Berlin were halted completely.

At a Potsdamer Platz rally speakers declared workers of the entire Eastern Zone railway network had joined with the East Berliners.

By mid-morning 15,000 workers from Oranienburg in the Soviet Zone had marched in and joined the East Berlin rioters. Some 3,000 more showed up from the Henningsdorf Steel Works.

Finally, Russian armored cars started to clear Leipziger Strasse, the link between government headquarters and West Berlin's frontier Potsdamer Platz. The cars, bristling with Tommy gunners, drove forward slowly.

Workers, knowing what they wanted but uncertain how to proceed, had to give way.

Shipping Walkout Grips Gulf Coast, Atlantic Seaports

NEW YORK—(AP)—A shipping tie-up gripped American vessels in Atlantic and Gulf Coast ports Wednesday in a wage dispute.

"Nothing is moving and nothing will move until a contract is signed," asserted Joseph Curran, president of the CIO National Maritime Union.

Foreign vessels are not affected. American ships in foreign ports or on the seas will be affected only after they reach ports in this country. In all, about 750 vessels are subject to the tieup.

The union, claiming 40,000 members, follows a "no contract, no work" policy. Curran estimated the strike immediately affected 20,000 to 24,000 union members.

"I can't believe the ship operators will tie up their ships during the peak season on the question of arbitration," Curran said.

"It seems to me that if their case was inability to pay, they could establish that. If it was so, before the arbitrator. But that is not the case because they recently announced having made large profits during the past year."

Military Cargo Excepted

The union chief said cargo certified as being entirely military would be moved, but declared "it must not be mixed with commercial cargo."

Curran, who avoided use of the word "strike" acted when federal mediation talks broke down at midnight. NMTU telegrams to union locals and to shipping lines noted that there was no contract in effect. He said that since wages and working conditions were undetermined, he expected "positive reaction from our membership."

The old contract expired Monday midnight, but Curran Tuesday agreed to federal mediators' requests that a "status quo" be maintained pending the outcome of the day's negotiating session.

The dispute kept the superliner United States from leaving here Tuesday for the Norfolk, Va., Naval Shipyard for her first annual dry-dock inspection. However, there were few other tieups Tuesday.

Wages Main Issue

NMTU demands for wage increases appeared to be the main issue in the negotiations here affecting some 40,000 seamen on 750 passenger and dry cargo ships and ocean-going tankers. Working conditions also were debated.

The federal mediation sessions broke up Tuesday night with a new meeting scheduled. However, conciliators said they would try to bring both sides together again Wednesday.

There was no company comment. NMTU pay raise demands varied, between five and seven per cent for the passenger and dry cargo vessels and 25 per cent for tankers.

Career Soldier Becomes Top Salesman For State Of Texas

By GRACE HALSELL
Reporter-Telegram Special Correspondent

MUNICH, GERMANY — One of Texas' best salesmen over here is an Easterner.

He is Max Weinstein, who met a Texas girl while he was stationed at Ellington Field in Houston—and fell in love both with her and the state. From Ellington he was sent to a bombardier refresher course in Midland.

"That state will be my home from now on," he told me.

"I can never understand, however," he related, "how my beautiful wife could choose me over the tall, Texas men," the with a smile.

His tall, slender blond wife is the former Geneva Kendrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Kendrick "two of the finest people in the world," of Corrigan, Texas.

Married 10 years, Weinstein says his wife on Mother's Day "got more French perfume probably than any Parisian." He adds that "with all that perfume" to wear, it will probably be hard for her to stay around the house" in Corrigan.

"I'm giving her the acid test—or would you say the 'perfumed' test," he joked.

They have one son, Reynold, seven, and the sergeant hopes his wife and boy soon will be able to join him in Europe. "Otherwise, I'm heading back to Texas," he stated.

During the war he was in combat with the Eighth Air Force, worked with the Dutch underground eight months and served as an intelligence officer.

"I was in Germany months before Eisenhower," he commented.

In radio, the "Texas twang" is a very well known affliction, a Texan and Armed Forces Network announcer here, Cpl. Chris Chandler, said.

"The first time I heard myself on a tape recording I sounded like I was just in from the farm," the tall, handsome announcer related.

"Then I am a sports announcer, and I have learned that for this your audience doesn't care what you sound like, just so you tell them the story of what is happening. It's the idea you get across, not what your voice sounds like."

There are several tricks to cover up the Texas-like talk—one being to turn up the volume and to speak softly into the mike, he said.

"I said 'I wouldn't listen to that guy myself—and I began a concerted effort to get rid of the twang.' But, he continued, "you know part of it is still there."

He thinks the top sports announcer in the world today is Keri Tippis of Houston, who announces Southwest Conference football games.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Chandler of Dallas, the corporal was graduated with a degree in mathematics from Southern Methodist University. After graduation, he worked in Dallas, and began radio work in Roswell, N. M.

He finishes his Army duty overseas in December, and will return to Texas.

Everyone knows the U. S. will have to start economizing someday, and I guess it's happened.

The U. S. Army Headquarters in Heidelberg has started using envelopes made out of old maps.

Outsides are plain, and inside are sections of the staff plans of all Germany used by the American Army during the war, carefully marked with Nazi phrases. The Germans have pointed out if anyone wants a complete U. S. map he can just carry on a lot of correspondence with Heidelberg.

Recreation Day Slated Wednesday By Ward 4-H Clubs

MONAHANS — Ward County youngsters will mark 4-H Club Recreation Day Wednesday at the Community Center in Monahans with swimming, games, singing and handicraft activities.

The program, said Mrs. Alma Hale, county home demonstration agent, and Johnnie Harrison, county agent, will start at 9 a. m. and include free swimming, games, singing, crafts where boys will make leather belts and girls will make other articles from wood and leather.

Two Monahans boys, Paul Snelson and Rayford Anthony, will be featured in a film of demonstrations by district winners. The two boys will be seen doing their novelty dance act.

Members are asked to bring a sack lunch, a swimming permit from their parents, and 75 cents (boys) and from 20 to 50 cents (girls) for handicraft material.

Here's Valuable Tip On Avocado Growing

CULVER CITY, CALIF.—(AP)— If you want to grow avocados which measure 15 inches or more in diameter, take the tip of Glenn R. Kershner and learn the art of top grafting—and do the grafting in the dark of the moon.

Kershner says most fruit is so small because there isn't enough top grafting. A tree on which he did top grafting yielded 50-60 jumbo avocados.

As for the dark nights, he says that is the best time to do the work and be assured the king sized yield.

Foremost Dairies Gross Sales Show Decided Increase

Foremost Dairies, Inc. gross sales rose to an estimated $45,000,000 for the 20-week period, January 1 to May 23, up 80 per cent from the $25,000,000 volume for the corresponding 1952 period, Paul E. Reinhold, chairman of the board and chief executive officer, and Grover D. Turnbow, President, announced following a meeting of directors in New York. Approximate earnings before taxes amounted to $2,400,000, an increase of 38 per cent over the $1,725,000 for the corresponding 1952 period.

The increases were registered despite exceptional weather conditions which had an adverse effect on retail sales, and also in face of the largest surplus of raw milk in many years, with a consequent decrease in selling prices, plus the expense of integrating new properties.

The Board of Directors empowered Reinhold to move company's executive corporate offices to New York City when, in his opinion, this might become advisable. Authority for the possible move was given by the board because of the company's increasing growth to nationwide proportions and in view of contemplated new acquisitions now in process of negotiation. For the time being, however, the executive corporate offices will remain in Jacksonville, Fla., where they have been located since the establishment of the present corporation.

The board elected Harry P. Marshall, formerly vice president in charge of the Southeastern Division, to be executive vice president of Foremost and was succeeded in his former position by Wellington Paul, vice president. Walter Justin, Jr., was elected to the newly created post of comptroller. All will have headquarters at the home office in Jacksonville, Fla. E. L. Volkwein was elected vice president in charge of advertising.

RECIPE FOR HAPPY MARRIAGE—

Sharing Of Sincere Interests Puts Man, Wife On Path Toward Happiness

By VIVIAN BROWN

NEW YORK—(P)—Right in the middle of this month of brides, let's pause and ponder an age-old problem—what is the recipe for a happy marriage?

Is it a wardrobe of furs for the lady of the house? Or a palatable-tasting cuisine for the king of the roost? Or is it mysterious passion that keeps two hearts bound in wedded bliss?

"Nonsense," says Danish entertainer Carl Brisson. Essential ingredient

"The secret of a happy marriage is so simple that many people never discover it. Companionship—a mutual sharing of interests—is the one ingredient absolutely essential to the marital union."

Brisson ought to know. The popular international star, idol of the older woman for a quarter century, has been happily married to Cleo Brisson for 36 years—since both were 16.

Husbands are the principal offenders against this marriage rule, Carl says. He cites these examples:

Capacity Of Wives
1. Males who marry their jobs and underestimate the intelligence and compassion of their wives to understand their troubles. Women have a natural capacity of understanding, but some husbands treat them like servant girls.

2. Men who forget that many big fortunes are built frequently on a wife's penny savings.
3. Men who do not keep their wives occupied, so that they have too much time for quarrels.

'Keep Quiet' Order
4. Men who neglect to have a conversation with their wives. They come home from work and bury their noses in the paper while waiting for their dinner.

5. Men who fight back when the wife is in a temper, instead of quieting her with a firm commanding "keep quiet," which would end the discussion right there.

But it takes two to ruin a marriage, Carl agrees, and here are some of the mistakes he thinks women make in feeding the fires of marital discord.

Green-Eyed Monster
1. Being jealous of other women. Cleo didn't mind even when a woman followed them around the world to watch Carl perform. Matter of fact, she said she was flattered.

2. They don't brag about their husbands enough. If they don't do it, other women will.

3. She is likely to scorn his old friends, instead of welcoming them to the home, he'll find a way.

Let Joneses Go
4. A complex about keeping up with the Jones'. This drives plenty of men to drink when he fails to satisfy his wife's unreasonable demands.

5. Neglect of the husband's family, while he finds his wife's relatives parked on the doorstep all the time.

Religious differences are not obstacles to happy marriages, providing each partner learns respect for the other's religion. Carl and Cleo are of different faiths but he says:

"I would be nothing today without the strength Cleo gets from her religion. It has helped bring us through difficult times."

Growth of one bushel of corn requires 5,000 gallons of water.

SAN FRANCISCO—(P)—The big transport General Breckenridge is due Friday from the Orient with 1,140 Air Force men, 84 Soldiers, 213 Navy men and two Marines.

First Of Monahans Farm Tour Series Scheduled Friday
MONAHANS—First in a series of agricultural field trips of Monahans business and professional men has been slated Friday and will include visits to the Middleton Ranch, Cactus Cattle Company Dairy at the Ed Cox place and the Steeple-O Ranch, owned by Mrs. Libby Edwards.

The tours are sponsored by the Agricultural Committee of the Monahans Chamber of Commerce and are designed to acquaint the visitors with progressive farm and ranch improvements and activities in this West Texas area.

Members of the Friday tour will view a supplementary pasture program at the Middleton Ranch, feeding, shade provisions and general practices at the dairy, and improved feeding and breeding of beef cattle, grass land management and deferred grazing at the Steeple-O Ranch.

Others in the tour series will be announced at a later date.

Three Schools Of Thought Differ On Business Outlook

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK—(P)—The secretary of Commerce says "business is excellent."

The spokesman for the National Association of Credit Men sees us entering "a mild deflationary period" with signs that "the going may be rough."

President Eisenhower's economic adviser says the present boom can't last forever but "the government will at some stage intervene to check" a downturn before it becomes too severe.

There you have the three points of view about business most common today:

1. The optimistic view that business is going great guns and that there's nothing to prevent it's staying healthy.

2. The moderately pessimistic view that a readjustment from the boom is inevitable and well may be starting now.

3. The belief that if a slump is coming the government has the power somehow to keep it from snowballing into a depression.

Commerce Secretary Weeks bases part of his optimism on his belief that businessmen in their planning for the coming year already have discounted the long anticipated peace moves in Korea. He believes most businessmen reject the notion "that we have to have war to have prosperity."

The credit men's executive vice president, Henry H. Heimann, sees "sellers' markets and easy dollars becoming things of the past."

"Silver Lining" Seen
He cites: "The pressure on commodity prices, the greater selling effort needed in housing and in the automobile market, the softness in the prices of steel scrap, the continued decline in farm income, the surplus in the appliance market, the slight slowing up in the payment of accounts."

But Heimann sees a silver lining in all this: "The condition is healthy, for a normal readjustment is long overdue." And he says that "only our own folly would bring about 'a serious readjustment.'"

The President's economic adviser, Dr. Arthur F. Burns, is more concerned in his annual report to directors of the National Bureau of Economic Research with controlling unsound booms than with new ways of halting recessions. Dr. Burns, who is on leave of absence as president of the bureau, thinks we have built up strong defenses against economic depression: a stronger banking system, unemployment compensation, automatic reduction of taxes when national income contracts. And he places stress on the government's assurance it won't let deflation go on unchecked.

Housing Boom Slows
One phase of the present boom—the long upgrade swing in the construction industry—also is discussed from two angles today.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics estimates that 3,000 fewer homes were started in May than in April—the first April-to-May drop since World War II.

The National Association of Real Estate Boards further reports that mortgage money for new homes continues scarce in some areas. The upturn in interest rates hasn't brought out the money as expected.

But directors of the American Institute of Architects, which opened its annual convention Monday in Seattle, predict their members will be kept busy well into next year.

Schools top the list of their jobs for the months ahead. In many regions industrial buildings come second. In some districts church planning tops the drafting of new homes.

THAT'S ON THE SCENE PRACTICE
ROCKVILLE CENTRE, N. Y.—(P)—Thirty-five village policemen here heard a lecture on the fundamentals of obstetrics, so they would know how to pinch-hit as midwives if the need arose.

Dr. G. Borden Granger then opened a question-and-answer period.

It was cut short when he received an emergency delivery call to Mercy Hospital.

Daddy Ringtail

Daddy Ringtail, your monkey friend, had talked with the Featherman who lives in a nest and can think of nothing but feathers, feathers, and more feathers. Featherman had promised not to shoot a goose and kill it. Featherman had promised to catch one, and get a feather, and let the goose go. To catch the goose, Daddy Ringtail said, all the Featherman had to do was put some salt on the goose's tail.

Daddy Ringtail and the Featherman and the salt were hidden in the bushes now—there beside the Duck Pond. No ducks sat on the water. No goose sat on it either. The ducks and geese were flying high through the air—like arrow-heads—to go away North for the Winter.

no geese sat on the water to honk and cry to the others that the Duck Pond was a happy place to stop. But Daddy Ringtail knew what to do. He opened a newspaper he had with him. After carefully saving the part of the paper with the Daddy Ringtail adventure in it,

By WESLEY DAVIS

Daddy Ringtail threw the other sheets of the paper out on the water. They floated there.

The geese in the sky saw the sheets of paper. The geese circled and circled down. They lit upon the water. They swam up to the papers to see what they were, for a goose is a curious creature like a cat.

One of the geese swam up close by the bushes. The Featherman's hand reached out with the salt. He shook the salt on the goose's tail, and then he grabbed.

"Squawk!" But the Featherman had caught the goose all right. He took a feather the goose wasn't using, and he let the goose go, because a goose is like a feather factory. It makes more feathers, and all the Featherman thinks about is feathers, feathers, and more feathers.

Happy feather! I mean: Happy day!

I HAVEN'T HEARD A SOUND IN FRECKLES' ROOM FOR 30 MINUTES! I WONDER...

IS IT TIRING YOU TO SEE ALL THESE MEN, KID?

LET 'EM COME, DAN!

THEY'RE SUCH SWELL GUYS!

MAYBE YOU O'DY WASTE YOUR TIME SAVING THEIR LIVES.

MISS LIMEWICK HAD GOOD CAUSE TO FEAR HER COUSIN! I FOUND POISON IN FOOD MINE, BURKE GAVE HER RECENTLY--IT GOT THERE!

YOU FOUND POISON, DOCTOR, BUT YOU HAD ONLY PAT LIMEWICK'S WORD AS TO WHY IT GOT THERE.

BUT, CAPTAIN! SHE FELT ONLY PITY FOR THIS MENTALLY UNBALANCED GIRL--EVEN KEPT IT QUIET, TO SHIELD HER FROM SCANDAL!

SHE KEPT QUIET BECAUSE SHE DARED NOT RISK AN INVESTIGATION! POLICE MIGHT FIND SHE'D PLANTED THE POISON HERSELF!

BESIDES, SHE HAD ALREADY ACHIEVED HER PURPOSE--ANOTHER STEP TOWARD CONVINING YOU, SUH, THAT PENNY'S MIND WAS AFFECTED!

I DON'T KNOW--IT'S INCREDIBLE, BUT GO TELL PENNY I MUST SEE HER!

I BROUGHT YOU SHEEP MODEL OF 'MACIA' FOR PRESENT

COULDN'T WE?

THANKS FOR MY LIFE, CADET!

OF COURSE DO!

LAST NIGHT I DREAMED YOU BOUGHT ME AN OUTBOARD MOTOR FOR FATHER'S DAY!

NOW WHAT DO YOU SUPPOSE THAT MEANS?

IT MEANS YOU SHOULD'NT EAT HERRING SANDWICHES BEFORE GOING TO BED!

FOUND THE GOLD YET, DORY?

NOW! AIN'T A THING DOWN HERE 'CEPT ME!

I BROUGHT SOME SANDWICHES--

OBOY!

FOOD!

SH-HH!

MAYBE WED OUGHT TO BE MORE QUIET! NO SENSE IN STIRRING UP TH' CURIOSITY OF TH' NEIGHBORHOOD ANY MORE--IT ALREADY IS!

I WONDER IF DREAMS MEAN ANYTHING!

OF COURSE DO!

LAST NIGHT I DREAMED YOU BOUGHT ME AN OUTBOARD MOTOR FOR FATHER'S DAY!

NOW WHAT DO YOU SUPPOSE THAT MEANS?

IT MEANS YOU SHOULD'NT EAT HERRING SANDWICHES BEFORE GOING TO BED!

IT'S TOO LATE, DEAR! OUR GUESTS HAVE LEFT!

NEXT MORNING--

YOU PRACTICALLY INSULTED THE DANDY'S LAST NIGHT BY TALKING ASLEEP AT THE CARD TABLE--DON'T TELL ME YOU'RE GOING TO SLEEP ALL DAY, TOO!

THEY'RE DEAD TO THE WORLD.

THEY'RE DEAD TO THE WORLD.

THEY'RE DEAD TO THE WORLD.

THEY'RE DEAD TO THE WORLD.

HE IS!?

THAT'LL TEACH YA NOT T' LEAVE YER TOYS IN TH' DRIVEWAY...

AFTER CLOSE STUDY— Marriage Called Best Beauty Aid

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — (AP) — What's different between married and single women?

For one thing, married women appear a shade more beautiful, says a Florida State University marriage and family specialist who spent a year studying the subject.

Dr. Richard H. Klemmer adds, however, that he found the most beautiful individuals in the single group.

Dr. Klemmer used two carefully matched groups of Florida women, one single and one married, between the ages of 30 and 39. The women were selected from lists of clubwomen and college alumnae in Tallahassee, Jacksonville and Miami.

"More than one-eighth of the women in the single group seemed to me to be more attractive than any of the women in the married sample," said Dr. Klemmer, who's married himself.

The most important of his findings, he related, was that the single group differed significantly from the married group in the socio-economic status of their childhood homes.

Many of the single women reported lower class backgrounds, even though all the women in the study were college graduates.

"This may indicate that girls from poor families who wish to climb socially by scholastic efforts have more trouble in the marriage market," he observed.

Dr. Klemmer found the single women had had fewer dates, steady boy friends and love experience in late adolescence than did the married.

Furthermore, he found the single women seemed more often to have the characteristics associated with being both "too timid" and "too independent."

Homesick GI In Germany Caught In Net Of Cold War

By GRACE HALSELL
Reporter-Telegram

DACHAU, GERMANY. — The "cold war" world in which we live makes it hard on boys like Pfc. Bobby Floyd Thomas of Texas.

FAIR AND COOLER—Beating the heat in the nation's capital is no problem to these Washington, D. C., girls. They donned bathing suits and splashed happily in one of the fountains near the Capitol Building, which appears in the background.

He does not ask for much.

Just a chance to work at the job of his choosing and to come home every evening and see his wife, Margaret.

But in the midst of this life of his he is called up, sent overseas. It's more lonely for a married man, separated month after month from his family.

"My wife is good about writing, though," he said. That makes it easier.

"What do I want over here?" boys like Private Thomas ask me. They feel suspended, caught up in a net.

For most of them it is just a period of waiting.

Some travel, some learn photography, some pick up German, and many get a "Fraulein."

But as Private Thomas told me: "I don't go around. I just want to go home."

Because he is homesick, Private Thomas complains about the food and general Army life.

Because he misses Texas Thomas tells all the other boys their states don't compare with his.

He could afford a car. He made a good living for himself and his wife. He could come and go as he pleased, worked where he liked.

"What a good life I had!" he said

LONG FAMILY TRADITION—CANSO, N. S. — James E. Tate here carried on the blacksmith business which his family has been operating for almost 100 years. His grandfather started the smithy in 1859 and his father conducted it before James took over.

BIG CRIME—Pfc. Bobby Floyd Thomas, who formerly worked in the oil fields near Midland, is shown above by the "Hanging Tree" at the infamous Nazi concentration camp of Dachau—an abattoir where human beings were slaughtered, burned as so much cordwood. Though the camp stands as one of man's greatest injustices to man, few Germans have seen Dachau.

Midland Woman Attends Frisco Church Meeting

Mrs. R. Q. Jones, 3105 Travis Street, Midland, is one of 17 young church leaders from the Texico Conference of Seventh-day Adventists who are delegates to the Pan-American youth congress now being held in San Francisco.

Nearly 15,000 non-smoking, non-drinking Seventh-day Adventist youths representing all the 48 states and every country in the Western Hemisphere packed the Civic Auditorium in San Francisco Tuesday night in the opening session of the five-day youth congress.

The young people heard special messages from President Eisenhower, Vice President Nixon, California Governor Earl Warren and FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

The five-day program includes clinics for marriage, military service and career problems faced by youth. Some 1,800 of the young people are official delegates and will participate in all business sessions of the congress. Most of those in attendance—both official and unofficial delegates—are combining the trip to San Francisco with sight-seeing side trips along the way.

BUT JUDGE, I'M GETTING HOOKED

SAN FRANCISCO — Hans Lunde, 55, was fined $25 for fishing in a city lake with two rods.

He told Municipal Judge John McMahon he "was just practicing—first with my left hand and then with my right hand, to see which worked best."

Judge McMahon warned Lunde to stay away from Lake Merced, which is kept stocked with trout for fishing by children.

Monahaans To Host District Meeting Of 20-30 Clubs

MONAHANS—More than 75 delegates and guests are due in Monahans Friday through Sunday for a convention of the West Texas District of 20-30 Clubs to be held in the American Legion Hall.

A buffet supper Friday night at the Legion Hall will open the convention, at which District Governor Jim Gantt of El Paso will preside.

A district governor and three deputy governors will be selected during the business meetings Saturday and Sunday. The Monahans club has entered Vernon Rowe as candidate for district governor.

Rowe has been a member of the Monahans group since 1948 and has served in several offices, including the presidency. He is at present deputy governor of sub-district three.

Other top guests expected are Doug Humphreys, incumbent trustee from El Paso, who is seeking the International President's post, and J. P. "Dad" Shimmings of Phoenix, Ariz., one of 20-30 International's two honorary members and a world traveling "Ambassador of Good Will."

'I'm The Boss Man,' Says She, To Nervous Carpenter Customers

NEWARK, N. J. — (AP) — When a new customer for the Central Lumber Company sees Miss Ethel Goldner behind the counter, he often asks to see the man in charge.

"I'm the man in charge," Miss Goldner explains.

For years she was a bookkeeper in lumber firms here. Then her brother bought a building that used to house a lumber company. Last March she was in business.

At first things were pretty slow. But grizzled carpenters began dropping in more frequently, after their first double take. They get nervous when she runs something off on the power saw out back. Miss Goldner was nervous at first too, because that was one thing she never tried when she worked at other lumber yards.

Many of her customers help her carry especially heavy loads. Others, less gallant, just stand there and watch her stagger. She hopes to get a male assistant soon, to do the manual work. It depends on how business picks up in the near future.

Machine Promises Clean, Cheap Ice

AUSTIN — Cleaner, cheaper ice for restaurants, hotels, drug stores and other businesses is possible with a machine developed by University of Texas researchers.

The machine, invented by John Watt and Raymond Steward, can produce up to 400 pounds of ice per day at 10 cents per 100 pounds. Cost now runs 60 to 80 cents for ice from commercial machines.

The tap water from which ice is formed is enclosed in rustless metal so no fumes or dust may reach it. The ice need never be touched by humans, but can be scooped up in drinking glasses directly from the machine's 200-pound storage bins.

CHECK FOR BUTTERMILK

SUPERIOR, ARIZ. — With brakes burned out, a truck carrying a load of 2,700 gallons of cream struck a curve entering this mountain mining town at 80 miles an hour and overturned, spilling the cream down the main street and crushing the truck into sheet metal.

The driver, Thomas Brooks of Dallas, was treated in the hospital for slight facial scratches and released.

Buffalo Trail Ranch Draws 500 Scouts In Three Weeks

Almost five hundred Boy Scouts already have camped at the Buffalo Trail Scout Ranch since May 31, Dr. P. T. Quast, chairman of the Buffalo Trail Council's Camping and Activities Committee said Wednesday.

The camp will continue for another three periods of one week each from June 21 to 27 and from July 12 to 18. The last week—July 18 to 24 is for negro Scouts. From all indications a record attendance will be made this year since the largest was last summer with 749.

Scouts and Explorers from the following communities have participated in the camp the first three periods: Midland, Penwell, Andrews, Wilcox, Odessa, Monahans, Notrees, Colorado City, Wink, Grandfalls, Pecos, Balmorhea, Hermleigh, Snyder, Fyote and Van Horn.

Joe Niedermayer, district scout executive of Midland is directing the camp assisted by district executives S. G. Painter of Odessa, Jim Hale of Big Spring, and Lloyd Longley of Pecos. In addition there are scoutmasters for each troop as well as a junior staff of ten Scouts and Explorers. The resident medical officer is John Montgomery of Dallas. Pete Hardeman of Sweetwater is again the popular cook—this being his 27th year to cook for the Boy Scout Camp of this Council.

Dr. Quast reports good progress is being made on the camp improvement program with several new troop camp sites, new infirmary building, new staff quarters, two new latrines and a new shower house. A new water well is also being drilled.

Reports from boys and leaders indicate a good program is being enjoyed and there is plenty of water for a cold plunge at the "Notch," in spite of the dry spell. The huge ranch of 6,000 acres is open for scout camping throughout the year. Recently the Buffalo Trail Council, operator of the Ranch was presented the State of Texas Award for Wildlife Conservation.

Father's Day Really Mother's Day This Year

Joseph Sylvester Doakes, noted authority on anniversaries, dates, and historical events, states that the year 1953 should be noted for the fact that Father's Day could easily be Mother's Day, providing, of course, that mother really wanted to please her bitter half.

If mother is full of woe because poor father gets in such a terrible stew trying to cut the lawn with a hand (and whoever gave one of them that silly name, never tried to push one!) mower, then she just ought to "phone the store and say, 'Send up one of those beautiful Jacobsen Power Mowers, we want Pop to try out the power of mind over matter!'"

Ah, mother, if you want to make HIS eyes sparkle, just give him a gift from Jacobsen. When that delicious, form-fitting handle is nestled in his manly paw, when that horse and a half engine is purring so smoothly, when the grass flows out in great billows, when he has swapped struggle for stroll, then, and then only, will you know that it is really Mother's Day on Father's Day. The gratitude will be everlasting. And peace shall reign in the household forevermore.

Teachers Committee Studies New Markets For State Crude

DENTON, TEXAS—The executive committee of the Texas State Teachers Association has adopted a motion authorizing a committee to study and recommend means of finding new markets for Texas crude oil which is now shut-in because of foreign imports, R. L. Proffer, President of the association announced Tuesday.

The committee acted after hearing a report from the executive secretary of the New Mexico Education Association regarding the contracting of New Mexico royalty oil for shipment to the West Coast at a bonus of two per cent over highest posted prices.

"Texas has the same opportunity," Proffer said, "the Texas Land Board is expected next week to announce its decision on selling Texas royalty oil for shipment to the West Coast."

By committing Texas royalty oil to West Coast refineries the Texas Land Board can effectively assist in developing a potential 300,000 barrel daily new market for Texas crude oil which can mean some $13,000,000 annually in gross production taxes alone, Proffer explained.

Commenting on the fact that tax income from oil production yield more revenue than any other source Proffer stated, "Every barrel of foreign oil imported into the United States which Texas could produce cost the State of Texas almost 12 cents per barrel in gross production tax alone, Gen. Ernest Thompson, chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission announced recently that Texas has over 600,000 barrels daily of excess reserve capacity which could be produced to supplant foreign oil imports. "There is approximately a million barrels daily of crude oil brought in by the importing companies and every effort should be exerted to export Texas oil."

Proffer continued by saying, "the Texas State Teachers Association joined with others in our struggle for state ownership of the Tidelands. We are proud of the victory won in congress restoring these valuable holdings to the public domain of Texas."

"Since these lands have not been developed income from this source to the financing of current educational needs is not available but the 600,000 barrels daily of excess reserve capacity referred to by Chairman Thompson of the Texas Railroad Commission can mean immediate revenue if markets can be developed for this oil."

Proffer continued—"As citizens of Texas we are as interested in selling surplus Texas oil as in selling Texas cotton, wheat, cattle, sheep, or lumber. With a potential 300,000 barrels per day market on the west coast the income to Texas will be enhanced by one-fourth billion dollars annually.

Proffer concluded by referring to the senate concurrent resolution number 100 passed by the 53rd Texas legislature which said in part "There is now a critical shortage of petroleum on the Pacific Coast which necessitates daily importation of tremendous quantities of crude oil and refined petroleum products by tankers to California in an attempt to make up that shortage."

"We are not the first to recognize this problem," Proffer said, "but we feel that every Texas citizen should lend every effort to help provide additional income to our schools and certainly new markets for Texas oil will do just that, we should urge our governor, Allan Shivers, to lead this fight."

Turnips weighing 30 pounds and cabbages weighing 50 pounds have been produced in the Matanuska valley, Alaska's richest farming district.

Sweden was an important factor in the settlements of what is now the United States, having founded a colony on the Delaware river in 1638.

Since it was started in 1948, the U. S. Military Air Transport Service has carried more than 1,650,000 military passengers, 250,000 medical patients and 316,000 tons of cargo.

Bank Deposit Insurance Unit Ends 20 Years With Success

WASHINGTON—P—The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation celebrates its twentieth birthday this Tuesday, quite proud that in the last nine years it has not been necessary to place a single bank in receivership.

Well over 110 million deposit accounts in more than 13,500 banks are insured up to $10,000 each. This means that if you have $10,000 or less in your account in any insured bank you'll get it all back if the bank closes.

FDIC has paid back—with interest—all the money advanced to set it up. At the start of this year it had rolled up reserves of $1,363,491,944 in its deposit insurance fund.

Assessments Law

That money was accumulated by assessments on member banks. Taking advantage of an assessment credit system established in 1950, FDIC reports, the banks now pay only about one thirty-third of one per cent of their average deposits for insurance protection.

Since establishment of the system the corporation has paid out 325 million dollars to protect more than 1,366,000 depositors in 419 banks in financial trouble.

Since 1944, however, it has not been necessary to resort to receivership, and arrangements have been made for banks in difficulties to be taken over by other insured banks, with FDIC absorbing and liquidating questionable assets. In some cases new banks have been created to take over liabilities of endangered institutions.

Rigid Standards

Congress established the insurance corporation in haste under the Banking Act of June 16, 1933, as a direct result of the financial crisis of the great depression. In two previous years, 3,643 banks with total deposits of more than two and one-half billion dollars had failed—more than one billion.

This is how FDIC describes its job of protecting bank depositors against crippling losses:

"1. Each bank approved for deposit insurance must meet rigid standards.

"2. Adherence to these standards is checked thoroughly through bank examinations.

Favorable Conditions

"3. If, despite these precautions, an occasional insured bank gets into trouble, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation is there with the cash to protect the depositors."

If ever the nation's financial system encounters an emergency, FDIC has authority to borrow up to three billion dollars from the Treasury.

Over the entire period of its operations, the corporation figures its nonrecoverable net losses at only 27 million dollars. It concedes freely that part of this achievement is due to the generally favorable conditions in recent years for the disposition of assets by receivers or the corporation. Some also may be due, it claims to FDIC's own liquidation policies.

Grateful Filipinos' Memorial Marker Honors U. S. Hero

MANILA —P— A grateful Filipino couple has erected a memorial marker at their own expense in honor of a U. S. Army World War II hero, Capt. James G. Fisher, medical officer of the 6th U. S. Rangers and son of Dorothy Canfield Fisher, noted American writer and her educator husband John Fisher.

Young Fisher was wounded by a Japanese sharpshooter during the Rangers' daring rescue of U. S. war prisoners in a central Luzon stockade at Canbatuan in 1945. Dr. Carlos Layug and his wife, both physicians, attempted to save young Fisher by treating his wound, but he died.

When the Fishers learned that the Layugs had risked their lives to save their son they invited the Filipino couple to the U. S. to take post-graduate medical courses at Harvard University. The Fishers paid all expenses.
