Rank Wildcat Gets Oil Flow In NE Chaves

Flowing oil from an unidentified lime section has been developed at Forest Oil Corporation No. 1 Federal-General American Oil Company of Texas, rank wildcat in Northeast Chaves County, 48 miles northeast of Roswell.

The oil flow came on a drillstem test from 7,734 to 7,888 feet. Tool was open one hour. Gas surfaced in seven minutes and mud in 27 minutes. Oil flowed out at the top in 32 minutes. Flow was turned to pits 28 minutes.

The well made an estimated 13 to 15 barrels of oil hourly. Flowing pressure ranged from zero to 1,035 pounds and 30-minute shut-in pressure was 2,770 pounds. Recovery was reversed out. It was all oil.

Operator was coring below 7,890 feet.

The wildcat is approximately eight miles northeast of production in the Lightcap field.

Location is 1.980 feet from west and north lines of section 7-7s-31e.

British American Completes Strawn Opener In Ector

British American Oil Producing Company has completed its No. 1 Millard Ector as a small pumping discovery from the Strawn-Pennsylvania in Southwest Ector County.

The new field opener pumped 94.2 barrels of 40-gravity oil in 24 hours on the completion test. No water was produced with the oil.

The production is coming from perforated sections at 7,930-72 feet and at 7,994-8,032 feet, which had been treated with 2,500 gallons and with 10,000 gallons of acid, and from perforations at 8,258-8,300 feet which had been treated with 5,000 gallons and with 10,000 gallons of acid.

Devonian Made Water

This prospecter drilled to a total depth of 8,933 feet in the Devonian. That formation made water.

It was abundant but the Strawn was tested with the completion listed above resulting.

Location is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 26, block 45, T-2-S, T&P survey. It is one and one-half miles southeast of the one-half mile (Fusselman) field and three and one-half miles northwest of Penwell.

Pure's Wildcat In Central Upton Gets Oil In Fusselman

The Pure Oil Company No. 1-A Wanda Hanks, Central Upton County wildcat, 15 1/2 miles northwest of Rankin had a show of possible production in the Fusselman lime in the section at 12,440-600 feet.

That show came during a four and one-half hour drillstem test. Gas surfaced in two and one-half hours. The gas volume was at the rate of 15,000 cubic feet per day.

Recovery was 100 feet of 45-gravity free oil, the 3,500-foot water blanket, and 770 feet of oil and gas cut drilling mud.

Open flowing bottom hole pressure was between 1,540 pounds and 1,500 pounds. Shut-in bottom hole pressure, after 20 minutes was 1,720 pounds.

Test Another Test

The prospect deepened to 12,627 feet and took a three and one-quarter-hour drillstem test at 12,900-677 feet. Gas surfaced in two hours and 10 minutes.

The gas volume was at the rate of 35,000 cubic feet per day. Recovery was the 3,680-foot water blanket, which was cut with oil and gas, 90 feet of slightly oil and gas cut drilling mud and 930 feet of salt water.

Open flowing bottom hole pressure was between 1,600 pounds and 2,000 pounds. Shut-in bottom hole pressure, after 20 minutes was 8,300 pounds.

The exploration now is making hole below 12,644 feet in lime and shale. It is contracted to 12,500 feet to test the Ellenburger.

Location is 660 feet from south and 1,880 feet from west lines of section 22, block C, COB&HONG survey.

Phillips Wildcat In N-C Reagan Sector Reported Finaled

German Reds Admit Mine Mutiny

Clark Asserts Truce Without Rhee Possible

SEOUL —(P)—Gen. Mark Clark, UN commander, conferred Monday with President Syngman Rhee, then announced he can sign an armistice without South Korean approval, but he said doing so would "depend on instructions from my government."

"I am authorized at the present time to sign the armistice which has been drawn up," he told newsmen after what was apparently a showdown meeting with the rebellious Rhee.

"I am not trying to be overly optimistic. There are many problems. I feel somewhat more encouraged; more hopeful," he added.

Clark said he could not reveal why he was encouraged.

What effect the talk might have on an armistice was not apparent.

Although Clark indicated the truce document was virtually complete, he said there still are problems and added, "The truce timetable is more or less up to the Communists." He said a truce could be completed promptly "if the Reds desire it."

Clark's comments indicated the free-swinging South Korean government would check with the UN Command before taking any more such lone actions as its single-handed release of 27,000 anti-Red Korean prisoners since Wednesday night.

Threats of Withdrawal

South Korea showed no remorse or inclination to change its stand against any truce which would leave Korea divided despite a burning Allied anger. Its Prime Minister insisted just before the Clark-Rhee meeting that South Korea gave the Allies command of its troops and could just as easily take them off the battlefield.

Clark told the newsmen: "That (withdrawal) has been discussed not only by me with President Rhee but by Ambassador (Ellis) Briggs with him and there always has been the understanding that if he, Rhee, thought the time had come to consider such a disastrous action that he would discuss it with me before he came to that conclusion. That time has not come, in my opinion."

However, Clark made it clear that he feels he is boss of all UN forces—including the 16 ROK divisions. He said there is no question that the ROK Army is "under my command."

Asked if he thinks the ROK troops loyal, Clark replied with an emphatic "Yes."

Asked if Rhee would accept an armistice that doesn't unify North and South Korea, Clark smiled and answered: "I hope so."

Woman War Writer Says Truce 'Dead'

NEW YORK —(P)—The New York Herald Tribune reported Monday from Seoul that South Korea has given formal notification it will withdraw its troops from United Nations operational control rather than go along with the present armistice terms.

The newspaper's copyrighted dispatch, by Correspondent Marguerite Higgins, appeared in print before Monday's conference between Gen. Mark Clark, UN commander, and South Korean President Syngman Rhee. After the meeting, Clark indicated Rhee does not now plan to yank his 16 ROK divisions from the UN Command.

The newspaper's dispatch, in her dispatch, Miss Higgins said that "the cease-fire as negotiated at Panmunjon is definitely out."

"An armistice in Korea is as far away as ever unless the United Nations and the Communists can agree on some formula for enforcing a separate truce exclusive of the South Koreans."

The views of the South Korean government were transmitted by Rhee in a letter intended both for the United Nations Command and for President Eisenhower, the paper reported.

Woman Dies In Road Crash Near Hillsboro

HILLSBORO —(P)—Mrs. Ethel Thompson May, 53, of Round Rock was killed in a head-on auto collision 11 miles south of Hillsboro Monday.

Mrs. May was driving a car in which two boys, Mike Everett, 14, and Randall Crain, 13, both of Georgetown, also were riding.

The second car was driven by J. W. Robertson, 76, of Georgetown. Robertson and the two boys were brought to the Hillsboro hospital for treatment of injuries.

Aides Fly Dulles' Message To Rhee

WASHINGTON —(P)—Two assistant secretaries of State leaving here by special plane Monday carried a message from Secretary Dulles to President Syngman Rhee of Korea.

The State Department gave no hint about the nature of the message.

The announcement said Assistant Secretary Walter R. Robertson was flying to Seoul accompanied by Assistant Secretary Carl W. McCord. Earlier reports indicated Robertson would carry a message from President Eisenhower himself.

Churchill Declares Rhee's Action Treachery To Allies

LONDON —(P)—Prime Minister Churchill told a cheering House of Commons Monday: "We have not committed ourselves in any way to go forward and conquer the whole area of Korea and place it under the authority of Mr. Syngman Rhee."

At the same time, the Prime Minister disclosed Britain had sent a stiff note to Rhee denouncing his "treacherous action."

Churchill said the South Korean President's release of thousands of anti-Communist prisoners of war had created a situation "full of danger."

Churchill said "the matter is obviously very serious. We can see the casting away of the fruits of these years of fighting."

He said the U. S. had a "very heavy burden to bear" in the guarding of the prisoners, explaining that the U. S. had moved "about 30,000 troops from guarding prisoners to the holding of the front."

The British protest note to Rhee, delivered by the British minister in South Korea Monday, told him: "As a member of the UN whose military forces are participating in the Korean action, Her Majesty's government strongly condemns this treacherous violation of the authority of the UN Command to which the government of Korea had agreed in 1950."

"Moreover, Her Majesty's government understands that during recent weeks the government of the Republic of Korea have actually reaffirmed this position by assurances to the UN Command that no unilateral action of this kind would be taken by them."

Churchill said the note warned: "Unless there is a government in the Republic of Korea which will cooperate loyally with the United Nations Command, the security and welfare of its people, as well as all the gains which have been made by the sacrifice of so many, including the gallant Republic of Korea Army, will be jeopardized."

July 8 Start For Bermuda Talks Slated

WASHINGTON —(P)—The White House indicated Monday the Big Three Bermuda conference will start July 8 regardless of whether the French have chosen a new premier by that time.

President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Churchill of Great Britain and a French government representative will attend.

The British announced Sunday that the conference will start July 8. The White House at the same time described July 8 as only a "target date," and said the actual start of the sessions still was dependent upon selection of a French premier.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty was asked Monday whether he could shed any light on the differences in the British and the American announcements.

"There isn't any difference," Hagerty replied.

Hagerty added he was sure "there will be a French representative" on hand for the start of the sessions July 8.

Asked whether that meant that the conference would go ahead then whether the French had chosen a premier or not, Hagerty simply repeated that the British and the United States expect the French government to have a representative present.

Hagerty reiterated that Eisenhower now plans to arrive in Bermuda July 7. Churchill will be on hand in advance to welcome the President and the French delegation.

Accord Probable On Health Funds

Midland County Commissioners appeared ready Monday morning to compromise in the division with the city of the cost of operating the Midland City-County Health Unit.

But a formal decision was delayed until Monday afternoon while a further study of available funds will be made.

The delay was ordered when County Judge Clifford C. Keith pointed out that bids will be opened at 2 p. m. on the sale of $50,000 worth of road bonds to finance right-of-way for the proposed widening of U. S. Highway 89 to the Martin County line.

"Between now and then," he told commissioners, "I'll discuss with Mrs. Romer the availability of funds."

Mrs. Nettie Romer is the county auditor.

It was Judge Keith who suggested that the county compromise by approving a $15,000 appropriation to help meet the health unit budget, which becomes effective July 1.

The $15,000 would mean an increase of 50 per cent over the $10,000 appropriated during the current fiscal year.

Of the $61,000 asked for in the budget, $54,000 would have to be provided with local funds to supplement state and federal funds.

The Midland Chamber of Commerce had proposed that the city meet 75 per cent of the budget and the county 25 per cent.

But the City Council, in reaching its figure, agreed to pay 75 per cent of the $21,000 fly control program and 50 per cent of the remaining health unit budget.

Esso Standard Ups Wholesale Gasoline Prices In 18 States

NEW YORK —(P)—Esso Standard Oil Company boosted gasoline prices in 18 states Monday, reflecting recent increases in the price of crude oil. In 13 of the states it was Esso's second price boost in a week.

In New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New England, Delaware, Virginia, North and South Carolina, Tennessee, Arkansas and Louisiana—there had been no previous recent increase.

Other major suppliers were expected to follow the second round of price increases initiated by Esso, generally regarded as the market leader.

First Juror Chosen Quickly In Vernon Trial; State May Seek Death Penalty

VERNON —(P)—The state indicated Monday it would ask the death penalty for young Walter E. Whitaker, Jr., the slayer charged with murder in the slaying of a Lubbock school girl.

The first juror was chosen quickly after the trial began. He was the first venireman questioned, and District Attorney Travis Shelton qualified him on the death penalty. He is Ray Coleman, 59, a Vernon shoe store operator.

Whitaker smiled and chatted with his parents before court opened Monday.

The roll of a 200-man special venire was called. The number was reduced to 125 with exemptions.

The men and spectators filled the hot courtroom. Fans whined overhead.

Whitaker, 21, said he would plead "not guilty" to the indictment of killing his girl and burying her nude body in a cotton field near Lubbock last January.

He came to court wearing a gray suit and green sports shirt and sat chewing gum. His wealthy parents sat behind him.

Young Whitaker is charged in the death of Joyce Fern White, 18, a brown-haired, freckle-faced Lubbock High School senior. She disappeared last January 8.

Whitaker led officers to her shallow grave nine miles from Lubbock at dawn January 23. He grabbed a shovel from an officer and uncovered the body. Her clothing and a length of cord were found in holes near the grave. District Attorney

Vital Uranium For Kremlin's A-Plants Lost

BERLIN —(P)—Communist East Germany admitted Monday sabotage had occurred in the Soviet-managed uranium mines and violence continued elsewhere against the Red puppet regime.

The Communist Party leadership hurled new face-saving charges that Western agents had parachuted into East Germany to spread havoc after the workers' revolt flared last Wednesday. U. S. officials derided the accusations as fantastic.

ADN, the Soviet-controlled news agency, confirmed reports that the anti-Red mutiny had struck in the Saxony uranium fields, which have been exploited by the Russians since 1947 in the atomic weapons race.

ADN quoted statements of loyalty by uranium miners saying they would expand their efforts to make up for lost production "and to reconstruct the areas destroyed by the Fascist provocateurs."

Accusations that American and West German money and effort supplied paratrooper saboteurs to keep the flames of revolt alive were contained in a Socialist Unity (Communist) Party declaration which pleaded with East Germans to get back to work and support the Red government. The party declaration said a "great number" of the paratroopers had been captured but admitted that in the sixth day of Soviet martial law "Quiet is not yet entirely secured."

U. S. officials in Berlin, in denying the paratrooper accusation, said (Continued On Page 13)

Poles Refuse To Put Down German Riots

BERLIN —(P)— Polish tank troops called in by the Soviet command refused to fire on rioting workers in the East German revolt, refugees disclosed Monday.

In war-battered Goerlitz, on the German-Polish frontier, Polish tanks rumbled into the city's main square to face a crowd of several thousand Germans demonstrating for freedom.

The senior Polish officer stepped out of his tank, faced the Germans and saluted.

"I don't fire on German workers," he said.

The Germans returned his salute. When the Russians saw the Poles were not going to resist the Germans, they ordered the Polish troops back across the border and sent in Russian tanks, the refugees said.

The Russian troops halted the onrushing strikers at Goerlitz, as they did in scores of East German cities where strikes and riots flared almost simultaneously last week.

Martial law arrests and Soviet firing squads dampened the flames of rebellion. But the threat to Communist rule in East Germany is far from ended, according to the refugees fleeing into West Berlin.

Nine Jurors Named For Murder Trial

A jury was being selected with record-breaking speed Monday morning in the murder trial of 18-year-old Roy Lee White.

White is charged in the May 26 slaying of Charlie Clem Walker during a dice game in the negro section of the city.

The nine jurors selected included J. F. Carson, Jr., T. A. Abernathy, C. A. Sample, A. J. Tidwell, Willard H. Bumpass, Walter Curran, Sherman North, Ronald Boyd Cowart and W. W. Arnold.

Retired Utilities Executive Enjoys Toy-Collecting Hobby

CAMBRIDGE, MASS.—(P)—Francis L. Ball, retired president of a group of utilities companies, is having more fun with toys at 70 than when he was a youngster.

He's quite sure that nobody, "except maybe a few hard characters," ever quite outgrows his childhood.

Ball's toy-collecting hobby keeps him busy and has brought him into contact with people all over the country. It began many years ago when he started collecting children's toy banks.

During his business career Ball had observed that men, "whose only interest was business, folded up and didn't last long after they retired."

By the time he reached retirement age himself, five years ago, his bank collection had broadened into general toy collecting. He began swapping and trading with other collectors all over the country.

No Major Repairs

Everybody, it seems, is interested in toys, either childhood memories or because of children in the family.

Ball looked into the subjects of toys and toy making and found far too little has been written about the subject. He extracted from libraries data about articles published in antique periodicals. He has had second-hand book men dig up copies for his comprehensive and growing scrap book.

People write and ask him how long-treasured toys can be repaired.

In his workshop he makes minor adjustment on his own toys, but no major repairs. Patching, welding, adding a replacement part, or repainting, he says destroys collector-value. An enthusiastic collector will use a magnifying lens to detect such tampering.

What kinds of toys interest him and drag him to antique shows and shops and into correspondence with folks who have found old playthings in their attics?

For one thing: The beautifully hand-made toys of the era before mass production, some carved from wood, exquisitely made dolls, old diamond-stacked locomotives, the first in trains—"crude but interesting."

He has gathered toys of later times: horse-drawn fire engines, cannon, street cars, mechanical trains, clever playthings in which the toymakers built in clockworks they bought from the clock makers of New Haven, Conn.

He sees a growing understanding of the link between children's toys and history, toys that reflect an age, an environment and even personalities.

He thinks that in general, military type toys existed in just about the same proportion in older days as now. But he considers many of today's toys more challenging to children's ingenuity and constructive imagination.

Distorted History

Students of the Soviet Union marvel at the dexterity the Russians exhibit in rewriting history—not once but again and again—to suit their purposes of the moment.

This is a much more exhaustive process than many of us realize. If, for instance, Kremlin strategy requires an especially strong anti-American propaganda bent, you may find stripped from the history books all mention of Joseph Stalin praising the opening of a second front in World War II.

Yet that isn't necessarily the end. The time might come when the Russians decide "friendship" with America is again a profitable course.

Unhappily, the rewriting of history is not confined to the Soviet orbit. Men in Western nations practice it, too. The difference is that in the West these distortions never are consciously prepared as official government policy.

Rewritten history indeed can affect government policy in the West, however, either by creeping into official thinking or by reflecting itself in strong opposition to government programs.

A sample distortion in America, which may have been partly due to mere forgetfulness, was the oft-repeated statement in the last year or two that we entered the Korean war to unify Korea.

The events surrounding the Communist conquest of China lend themselves ideally to this kind of rewriting, since so many of the vital facts of the matter still are undetermined, or lost in a fog of charges, claims, propaganda and deliberate falsehood.

A great deal of damage can be done by producing this misshapen history. The harm to government policy is obvious. It is fantastic to think that any major government should forge programs partly founded upon—or modified by—contrived misinformation.

It hardly is less weird to think of a great democratic citizenry being sadly confused by the effort to distinguish between real history and the distorted versions steadily foisted upon it.

Perhaps the worst thing is that the authors and advocates of rewritten history make of their product a doctrine and a faith. They generally are quite tolerant of those who do not accept every item of belief without change.

One may be forgiven for wishing we could all get back to the point where facts are viewed as worthy objectives, and not as irritating encumbrances marring the smooth surfaces of comfortably distorted history.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

(Copyright, 1953, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.) Drew Pearson says: U. S. has lost world leadership since Stalin's death, Soviet peace crumbs have turned Europeans toward Russia; Basic Soviet goal of world communism has not changed.

WASHINGTON — Exactly four months ago I was in Berlin — that most strategic of all cities on the very edge of the Iron Curtain. It was snowing. Thousands of refugees trudged through the snow across that invisible but very real line dividing the slave world from the free world.

The United States at that time stood as the recognized leader of the free world. Although criticized, we were respected, on the whole loved. The pact we proposed for the defense of Europe, for the welding of rival French and German armies into one force, still had high hopes of success.

Russia, the force which daily drove hapless men and women across the Iron Curtain into free Germany, was more distrustful, feared, more hated than ever. One month passed. Stalin died — or was murdered.

Another month passed. Soviet policy began to change. The spasm of shooting down British and American planes over Germany stopped. Suddenly the Kremlin began to throw crumbs of peace to the world. They were mere crumbs, thrown as if to pigeons in a park, but to a peace-starved people, they seemed like an eight-course banquet.

Today, four months later, there has occurred one all-important change in Europe. Unrest behind the Iron Curtain has not changed. It has reached a seething, white heat. But the change is that the Kremlin has nullified our leadership. No longer can we call the tune in Western Europe. Europe calls the tune for us.

This change is due to two basic factors: 1. We have vacillated and hesitated. 2. The Soviet desperately needs an era of at least surface peace to put its own house in order.

The tragedy is that the ferment within the Soviet Union occurs when we have made ourselves largely powerless to take advantage of it. For eight years we have been telling ourselves: "The time will come when the satellite peoples will rise up and throw off the yoke of communism."

Now that this moment seems approaching, we largely have lost the leadership of the world. This may seem a pessimistic diagnosis. However, there hardly is one American diplomat, hardly one friendly foreign diplomat, hardly one exiled prime minister or foreign minister living on our shores who does not regretfully agree that this is true.

While this is a false impression, the radio project has been broadcasting in 46 languages for a total of almost 4 hours daily. When proposed cuts go into effect, it will carry only 33 hours and 45 minutes of broadcasting in 40 languages daily.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY

"Did you ever see a better-played hand?" asked Hard Luck Joe. His partner sighed heavily, evidently convinced Joe was a hopeless case.

hand, next led a low heart from his hand and successfully finessed dummy's ten.

South continued by rattling off four rounds of diamonds, followed by the ace and king of hearts. He next led a club from dummy, and captured East's queen with the ace.

East then found East winning with the king. East could cash the ace of spades, but had to give the trick to South. Joe therefore won 11 tricks, scoring his game with two overtricks.

North had very good reason to feel dissatisfied with his partner. See if you can find the reason before you read on.

There was nothing wrong with the way Hard Luck Joe played the hand. He had blundered in the bidding.

It was a bridge crime of the first order to bid three no-trump when East put his own head on the chopping block with the bid of three spades. Joe should have doubled quietly but firmly, expecting to collect at least the value of the game.

It would not have been disappointed in this expectation. Almost any kind of defense would cause East to lose two tricks in each suit. North and South would have collected a penalty of 1,100 points—more than twice the value of their non-vulnerable game!

CARD Sense

Q—With both sides vulnerable, the bidding has been:

North East South West 1 Heart 2 Diamonds ?

You, South, hold: Spades A-Q-J-6-2, Hearts Q-J-2, Diamonds 6-5. What do you do?

A—Bid three spades. The jump bid in a new suit is a game demand and hints strongly at a slam. You show a minimum of 18 or 19 points, usually with either a very strong suit of your own or good help for your partner's suit.

Massacre Mountains

by Frank C. Robertson

THE STORY: Pete Morrison, a western scout, is seeking to retrace the steps of his father, whom he believes had been slain by Indians. He has been taken away to be married to the daughter of the man who had slain his father.

Pete looked around, but could see no one else. He stepped back and gently closed the door. There was no use waiting, no morning, or he might not. At any rate he had little fear of being killed by the Indians.

How long a start he would have made if he had known the Indian might be out until he was found the next morning, or he might not. At any rate he had little fear of being killed by the Indians.

He was soon into the mountains, came almost too dark to see the road ahead. He rode easily and steadily, but he had little fear of being killed by the Indians.

Suddenly Felix gave a start, looking up Pete saw a squaw gathering dead firewood on the side of the hill just ahead. At sight of him she dropped the wood and fled through the timber like an antelope.

The camp, he knew, must be just beyond the ridge. He knew, must be just beyond the ridge. He knew, must be just beyond the ridge.

Just before he came upon the powerful urge to return to the camp he heard the squaw crying said happily. "You'd better get away with him by force. The Indians had before I get so angry I'll call Mr. Morrison to my aid."

There was a shorter route back to the camp than the one he had taken. He had to get back to the camp as fast as he could. He had to get back to the camp as fast as he could.

Pete saw four or five bucks bounding about on the ground, excitedly pursuing a squaw who was tending the fire. The one who had backed away from him was running.

New Benson Policy Is Salvage Of Surpluses When Possible

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON—Existence of any new, fixed policy to dump all government-held surpluses of farm products, regardless of price cut or loss, to get the federal government out of the crop-storage business, is denied by Department of Agriculture officials.

From the office of Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Tamm Benson came an unqualified answer that there was no policy to liquidate. It was explained that methods of disposal on each commodity would be handled separately.

This is the key to the Administration's new policy. It is intended to reduce to a minimum government losses on the farm-price-support operations. It also is intended to prevent the complete spoliation of perishable surpluses and their ultimate destruction at a 100 per cent-plus-storage-cost loss to the government.

From Production and Marketing Administration and Commodity Credit Corporation come explanations of how this policy has been followed in typical recent operations. One involves the sale of cotton-seed meal. Another is the Austrian Winter pea sale which now is headed for a congressional investigation.

In March, CCC cut the price of its stocks of cotton-seed meal from $70 a ton at Memphis to $57. Since the government stocks in April amounted to 791,000 tons, it looked as though the government stood to lose more than $10,000,000 on the operation.

Critics of this program argued that the government was ruining the market by undercutting prices. If the stocks had been held, the price would have stayed up. And the government could have disposed of its surplus during the summer, before the new cotton crop came in.

CCC practice in this program has been to support the price of cotton seed. But since the seed doesn't keep well, it is sent to the mills for crushing.

The oil and linters can be stored for a time, but government stocks now are more than a billion pounds of oil and 150,000 bags of linters. The cotton-seed meal left after the crush is hard to keep in hot weather and goes weevily.

With another big cotton crop coming in this summer and a still bigger surplus in sight, CCC felt it had to get rid of its present stocks of meal or take a loss on the entire investment.

Under the old Office of Price Stabilization ceiling of around $80 a ton on meal, the government could have made out all right. It had bought the cotton seed at a 90 cent per parity, which was $57 to $60 a ton.

But when the OPS ceilings were removed, the market sought its own level, which turned out to be lower. The cattle market was off and the demand for meal as feed dropped.

Nobody wanted to buy any of the government's store of meal at the $57 price. CCC tried a $5-a-ton cut. Still no takers. It tried another $5-a-ton cut and got the same result. Finally an industry committee was called in. It advised that the price would have to be cut to make the cotton-seed meal competitive with soybean meal. So another $3 was lopped off the price.

Break-Even Price At $57, which is considered a break-even price for the government, some 300,000 tons had been sold up to early June. At $52 a ton, 70,000 additional tons were moved into export. CCC thinks it can move the rest of the surplus before the next cotton crop starts coming to market, from July to September. Some will be given away as relief for farmers hit by flood damage.

The government had shown a profit on its operations under the OPS ceilings. CCC thinks that its profits will absorb the losses on the cotton-seed-meal sales. It hopes to show a profit of several million dollars on the entire year's operations. The price of the cotton-seed oil and the linters will not be cut. This is cited to show that there is no general policy of dumping all surpluses. The Austrian Winter pea deal on the West Coast involved surpluses that had been building up since the 1949 crop, says CCC. The germination rate was down and the seed had begun to deteriorate. The government had 100,000 tons on hand, acquired at a cost of more than $6,000,000. It looked like a total loss. When a group of feed mixers offered to take 80,000 tons at $30 a ton, the government grabbed at it as a chance to salvage $2,400,000. It still has 20,000 tons which probably will have to be used in relief shipments.

The mistake on this one, says a CCC official, is that sale was made on a negotiated-contract basis, instead of on an open-market bid. One interesting detail of this transaction is that all the fuses was stirred up by a San Francisco pigeon dealer who yelled to his congressman when his bid to buy a few bags at the $30 price was refused by the government.

Iron Curtain Drama Gives Author Fidgets

The scribe of this so-called column took in a movie the other night. He chose one called "No Time for Flowers," thinking it was something light and fluffy, but, as has been pointed out before, one can never tell about a movie by the name. This gimmick turned out to be a struggle between the "good-uns" and the "bad-uns" in Russian-occupied Austria. We weren't in the mood for same, but we got interested in it, and we found a lesson. No matter how bad it might seem here, we ain't got no troubles at all in comparison with those poor folks. Just suppose that every word, every glance, every motion that you make was being spied upon, and for any reason at all, some big lug could come and haul you off to jail at night. Brother, we have our troubles, but you and I can lay our heads down at night and get a good rest. You can even make up your mind to come to the store tomorrow and get yourself one of these handsome, powerful, smooth-running Jacobsen power mowers without asking the Gestapo or the OGPU if you may. And maybe you ought to do it. WILCOX HARDWARE "Your lawn and garden supply" 506 West Wall Phone 3-1211 (Adv.)

Daddy Ringtail

The More-Of-Myself Machine

The Huffen Puffen, the friendly wolf, was having a great excitement. He said he was having a great excitement. He said it to Daddy Ringtail, your monkey friend. They were there at the Huffen's hollow tree house.

"Now, now, now," said Daddy Ringtail. "Huffen Puffen, why are you having this great excitement?"

The Huffen explained he was the great excitement because he had bought a more-of-myself machine. Of course Daddy Ringtail wanted to know what is a more-of-myself machine. You would too, if you had been there.

The Huffen explained. He said a more-of-myself machine will make more people just like you—whatever you are—if you happen to have a more-of-myself machine.

"And I have one, I do!" cried the Huffen in his great excitement. "I have it on the back porch in the box it came in, and I'm going to open the box right now."

"I'll help you," said Daddy Ringtail.

Together they went on the back porch. Sure enough, there was a big, big box with the more-of-myself machine inside it. They hammered and pulled at the box until they got it open. They peeped in.

Yes! There was the more-of-myself machine. Daddy Ringtail touched the machine with his finger. The machine was cold like ice. "That's because it is made of ice, it is," the Huffen explained. He said they must hurry to use the machine before it melted.

But how oh how to use it? How do you use a more-of-myself machine?—if you have the machine, and if you want to make more of yourself. Well, you have to have the book of directions. The directions will tell you how to use it.

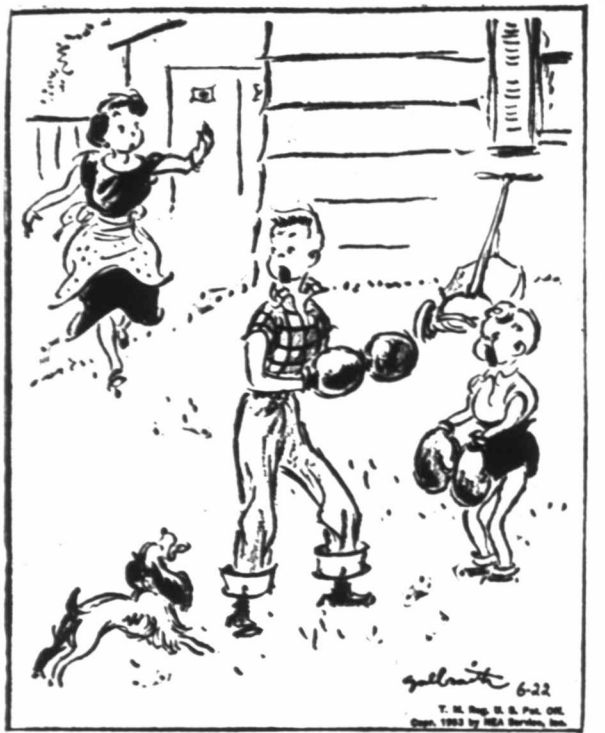

"Now what did I do with the book of directions?" asked the Huffen. Daddy Ringtail didn't know, and so into the house they hurried to look for it.

They looked and they looked and they looked, all while the more-of-myself machine was melting out on the back porch. Did they find the book? Yes. It was in the bookcase, and they would have found it at first, if they had looked in the bookcase first.

Did they find it before the more-of-myself machine had melted away to nothing? No, they didn't, but everything was all right, and I'll tell you about it tomorrow. Happy day!

Cambodian King Returns, Pledges Fight For Liberty

BANGKOK —(P)—A Cambodian government spokesman said Monday, "Cambodians are ready to die for independence. This means an independence war but the King is first watching French movements and awaiting French initiative."

The spokesman, Kregmill, said young King Norodom Sihanouk authorized the statement.

The King returned to Cambodia Saturday from self-imposed exile in Thailand and became commander in chief of the independent Cambodian Army in response to the people's request, Kregmill said. The spokesman returned to Bangkok Monday.

Kregmill said the 31-year-old Norodom had prepared three battalions of Africans at the capital city of Phnom Penh, and has distributed arms to French residents.

Kregmill stressed that if the King leads a war it would be a nationalist campaign rather than Communist.

He said the King left Bangkok Saturday because political refugee etiquette prevented independence activities which would embarrass Thailand's relations with France.

Cambodia, one of the three Associated States of Indochina, now has almost complete control of its local government but its defense and foreign relations still are largely under French direction.

French officials in Saigon and Paris have expressed bewilderment at the King's actions, saying they have met his demands and have received no new requests from him. After his flight, the French told Cambodian officials they could not resume negotiations looking toward more Cambodian independence until the King returned.

Turpentine has been used since the time of the ancient Egyptians.

Americans Inspect Yugoslav Air Bases

BELGRADE, YUGOSLAVIA —(P)—The U. S. Air Force chief of operations, Maj. Gen. Roger H. Ramey, and a staff of ranking officers started an inspection Monday of Yugoslav air force, establishing a new precedent in American-Yugoslav military cooperation.

The party, which arrived in Belgrade Sunday, came here officially to check on the use of American jet planes and other equipment being furnished Yugoslavia in increasing amounts. A spokesman for the Americans said, however, they had been invited to "inspect" Yugoslav bases.

'Children' Honor Veteran Physician

LOS ANGELES —(P)— It was a Father's Day for Dr. M. H. Ross, who started as a country doctor in Los Angeles 80 years ago and saw the small pueblo grow into a big city.

Sunday, 177 of the doctor's "children" gathered for a buffet dinner to fete the 74-year-old physician, who plans to retire this month.

"They're just my foster children, really," said Dr. Ross as he looked over the crowd that ranged from a small baby to middle-aged adults. "I was merely the doctor who delivered them, but I like to think of them as my own."

Ohio water experts report that about 20 gallons a year falls on each square foot in that state.

'Book-Burning' Not Ordered, Declares Information Chief

PHILADELPHIA —(P)— Dr. Robert L. Johnson says he will tell Congress a proposed $112,500,000 budget for the International Information Administration is not enough for the organization he heads.

Johnson said Sunday he will ask Congress to approve that amount but declared, "We need a minimum of $123,000,000 or even more."

The $112,500,000 limit was set by the Budget Bureau.

The IIA director was interviewed on the ABC television show, "Junior Press Conference." He told the student newsmen that even if Congress does approve the amount proposed, "we might have to eliminate some countries and programs entirely."

He said he thought it was a coincidence that President Eisenhower's recent "book burning" statement came at a time when there was some contention over the removal of some books from our overseas libraries.

There is not a list of books not allowed in our libraries overseas, he said, only a directive—and "our librarians are given a great deal of freedom in interpreting that directive."

Johnson said a four or five-man bipartisan group will review the books and any found unfit will be placed in a warehouse.

Rosenberg Funeral Orator Calls Eisenhower 'Dictator'

NEW YORK—(AP)—Funeral services for Julius and Ethel Rosenberg erupted Sunday into tearful praise of the electrocuted atom spies and angry attacks on U. S. government officials.

Defense Attorney Emanuel Bloch declared in a funeral oration that the executions were "an act of cold, deliberate murder."

He said he placed "the murder of the Rosenbergs at the door of President Eisenhower, Attorney General Brownell and J. Edgar Hoover."

Bloch praised the New York City couple—who died Friday night in the electric chair at Sing Sing Prison—for what he called their "courage and heroism."

though the executions "broke our hearts." He continued: "We must demonstrate that we are among those most loyal to America. We must not permit any ground for accusations of remission in our American citizenship. We gain when America gains and we lose when America loses."

In his attack on government leaders, Bloch declared: "The people should know that America is living under the heel of a military dictator garbed in civilian attire. These people... have the souls of murderers."

Bloch was attorney for the Rosenbergs at the trial in which they were convicted of conspiring to pass U. S. atomic secrets to Soviet Russia.

Semi-orthodox Jewish services were held for the Rosenbergs at a Brooklyn funeral home chapel, largest in the Brooklyn-Manhattan area. About 800 mourners jammed the chapel, and a crowd estimated by police at 10,000 milled around outside in 80-degree heat.

A procession of more than 300 automobiles followed the hearse to Wellwood Cemetery on Long Island, 20 miles from New York. At the graveside the Rev. Glendon Partridge, a Presbyterian minister from Montreal, Canada, delivered the final eulogy.

Mrs. Sophie Rosenberg, 71-year-old mother of Julius, and his two sisters and a brother were among the mourners. Members of the committee which arranged the funeral said they did not know whether members of Ethel Rosenberg's family attended.

One of the witnesses against the Rosenbergs at their trial was her brother, David Greenglass.

Senate Hearing Rekindles Dispute On Battery 'Dope'

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Senate Small Business Committee Monday rekindled the once-raging dispute over whether Jess M. Ritchie of Oakland, Calif., and his battery additive got a fair break from the government.

Ritchie was called as the lead-off witness at public hearings which Senator Thye (R-Minn.), the committee chairman, said were intended to bring out "all sides of this controversy."

Slated to testify after Ritchie, but possibly not until Tuesday, was Dr. Allen V. Astin, career government scientist who is being forced out as director of the Bureau of Standards as a result of the dispute.

who has supervision over the bureau, forced Astin's resignation last March but later postponed it after strong protests from scientific groups and others.

Weeks contended the bureau was not "sufficiently objective" in rejecting Ritchie's claims that his product, known as AD-X2, pepped up aging but sound electric storage batteries.

A fraud order was issued by the Post Office Department last February against Ritchie and his firm, Pioneers, Inc., but Weeks said he had prevailed on Postmaster General Summerfield to suspend it pending further investigation.

One 'Chute, Two Riders

TOKYO—(AP)—U. S. Army Capt. George H. Page of Bryn Mawr, Pa., said he felt a jolt that "almost jerked me right out of my harness" a moment after his parachute opened during a practice jump over Southern Japan.

"I looked up and saw a big dangling over the side of my silk," explained the captain, who was taking part in recent maneuvers of the 3rd Army Airborne Division.

Page threw a line around the other jumper's leg and they descended together. Neither was injured seriously.

Admiral Carney Bids Farewell To NATO Command At Naples

NAPLES, ITALY—(AP)—The Atlantic Allied Southern Europe Command, which for the first time in history has welcomed the 75 million people of Italy, Turkey and Greece into a military alliance, celebrated its second birthday Monday.

The simple ceremony, in front of the headquarters building overlooking the Bay of Naples, was marked also by the farewell of Adm. Robert B. Carney, the American sailor-diplomat who has been Southern NATO commander in chief from the start.

Within a few days, Carney flies to the United States to become chief of naval operations, the top job in the U. S. Navy.

Adm. William Pecheler, the retiring chief of naval operations, replaces him in Southern Europe.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—American travelers contributed a record of almost one billion dollars to foreign countries in 1952, the Commerce Department reported Monday.

The total includes $22 million dollars spent abroad and 175 million dollars paid in fares to foreign ships and planes. American air and ship lines collected another 180 million dollars from American passengers.

The biggest rise in American travel outlays was in the European and Mediterranean area, but Canada got more than all those countries put together—262 million dollars as against 256 millions.

Among European countries, France, Italy and Britain obtained the major share of U. S. travel dollars. American tourists in Mexico spent a record 180 million dollars.

Minnesotans Herald Coming Of Natural Gas From Basin

Permian Basin natural gas is heading North and already its coming is being heralded in Minnesota's land of 10,000 lakes.

The Shakopee Valley News of Shakopee, Minn. "Coming Soon . . . Natural Gas from the Famed Pecos River Country of the Southwest . . . North All the Way to the Land of 10,000 Lakes," the ad continues.

... natural gas will flow through giant pipe lines from the famed Pecos River country of Texas and New Mexico . . . north to the corn lands of Iowa and Nebraska . . . north even to Minnesota's land of 10,000 lakes."

Nehru Careful In Opinion Of Play About Americans

By GRACE HALSELL Reporter-Telegram Special Correspondent

LONDON, ENGLAND — Nehru, the Indian leader, sat down in the same room with me at "The Apple Cart," witty Bernard Shaw play which stars Noel Coward.

So many celebrities have been here for the Coronation one does not get excited over anyone, anymore.

During the first intermission, when everyone gets some sort of refreshment, I found Nehru standing alone.

He was friendly enough—and speaks perfect English.

However, when I asked him for a formal interview, he explained he was leaving London the next day, so it would be impossible.

As we talked, some Indian woman in a flowing dress brought him a refreshment—apparently grapefruit juice. Then some young man, apparently American, asked him for his autograph.

The play, written 30 years ago, shows an American diplomat (in a none too flattering vein, but then Americans in overseas productions seldom are flattered or even shown sympathetically) who tells the British his country is ready to return to the Commonwealth.

England decides not to take the U. S. A. back in.

When I asked Nehru what he thought of the play, he is careful in replying:

"Shaw always is entertaining," he said. "I read the play years ago. And this is the first time I have seen it performed."

I was interested to notice Nehru is a small man. Shorter than I. Someone has pointed out that Great Personalities always appear smaller to us when we see them in person because we generally magnify them in stature.

The ad points out that the Federal Power Commission has approved Northern Natural Gas Company's plans which involve more than 100 million dollars of new pipe line construction which will make it possible for the first time to "bring gas from the Permian Basin to cities and towns of the North Central area."

The gas is expected to be available by the end of this year to "heat homes against the cold blasts of Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota and South Dakota Winters," according to the ad copy.

The ad pictures a West Texas cowboy, six-shooter and all, and his horse atop a flat-top hill gazing out across a broad valley dotted with tall derricks.

Northern Natural already has started pipe line construction in various oil and gas fields of the Permian Basin Empire, including the Spraberry Trend Area Southeast of Midland.

Gas Blasts, Blaze Raze Four Buildings, Kill Oklahoma Baker

HUGO, OKLA. —(AP)—Firemen Monday blamed escaping gas for a series of roaring explosions which set off a spectacular blaze Sunday that took the life of a baker and seriously injured his son.

Four downtown buildings went up in smoke. Damage estimates ranging from $250,000 to $750,000.

Dead was A. M. Hughes, 58, owner of a bakery where the explosions occurred. Firemen said gas, escaping behind bakery ovens, ignited.

Hughes was dragged from his apartment above the bakery by his son, Mike, who suffered severe burns. The older Hughes died later in a hospital.

The bakery and an adjoining two-story structure were razed. Another two-story building occupied by the Piggy-Wiggy grocery and the Masonic Temple, also burned.

Debris and bricks, scattered by the tremendous explosions, obstructed U. S. Highway 70 for a time.

Witnesses said flames shot 100 feet into the air. Windows were shattered blocks away.

Fire units from Paris, Texas. Durant and Idabel aided Hugo firemen. Chief Homer Nash said an alley between the burning buildings and other structures prevented the spread of the flames.

It was called Hugo's most disastrous fire. Luckily, it happened Sunday when buildings were closed and streets deserted.

Officers Search In Vain For Child Believed Kidnaped

NORWALK, CALIF. —(AP)—Officers continued Monday to check out every possible lead on the disappearance of an eight-year-old girl who is feared kidnaped. But they admitted they didn't have a single real clue to work on.

Blue-eyed, blonde Stella Darlene Nolan vanished shortly after 8:30 p.m. Saturday from a crowded shopping center near Los Angeles where her mother, Mrs. Owen Nolan, 40, works.

Hundreds of sheriff's deputies and volunteers, including 40 horsemen, searched houses, fields and buildings within a wide area of the auction shopping center Sunday without avail. Known sex offenders in the district were questioned.

Hawaii Protest Strike Ties Up Army's Port At Honolulu

HONOLULU —(AP)—A workers' strike protesting the conviction of labor leader Jack W. Hall as a Communist conspirator disrupted operations at Hawaii's vital Army port Monday and threatened all waterfront, sugar and pineapple plantations Friday.

A spokesman for the port, which handles cargo for Korea, said civilian stevedores of Hall's International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union (ILWU) did not report for work over the weekend.

Three ships which docked Friday were worked by military personnel. Hall and six co-defendants, one a woman, were convicted Friday of conspiring to teach and advocate forcible overthrow of the government.

Unofficial reports said 11,000 workers were off their jobs over the weekend and the stoppage would continue until Tuesday.

A union spokesman called the work stoppages a spontaneous reaction of workers to the trial verdict.

Two thousand stevedores began quitting work within an hour after the verdict was announced, and shipping was tied up by nightfall Friday.

Work also stopped on several sugar plantations and pineapple workers were expected to follow suit.

All three groups are among 26,000 members of the ILWU in Hawaii. Harry Bridges is president of the union.

Reverberations also were felt in waterfront wage negotiations. One union official said the conviction "will cost the employers money."

Shortly after the verdict, Hall suspended wage talks and the union announced pay increase demands were being upped from 11 to 22 cents an hour. The base pay is $1.94 an hour.

New Bickering Breaks Out On Mt. Everest's Conquest

KATMANDU, NEPAL.—(AP)—New bickering revolved Monday about the conquerors of Mt. Everest. Since their ascent of the world's highest mountain, the climbers or their supporters have been plunged into at least four wrangles.

Most of them concern Tensing Norgay, the veteran climber from Nepal's Sherpa tribe who made the final push to the top with New Zealander Sir Edmund Hillary.

The previous bones of contention have been: 1. Just who reached the top first—Hillary or Tensing? 2. What is Tensing's nationality—Nepalese or Indian? 3. What decoration is Britain going to give the tribesman—the prized George Cross, the George Medal which is not as valued, or something else entirely?

And now, Tensing told newsmen after his arrival here, he "feels hurt" by statements made recently at a news conference by Col. Sir John Hunt, the leader of the successful British expedition.

Tensing took exception particularly to statements credited to Hunt that the Asian climber, although a full member of the party, played only a secondary role as leader of the porters, and that Tensing "is a good climber within the limits of his experience."

Tensing said he'd been a member of seven of the 11 Everest expeditions, "was born in the foothills of the Himalayas, bred in the atmosphere of the Himalayas and have seen more climbing of the Himalayas than anyone in the wide world. I know both sides of Everest—the Tibetan and the Nepalese side. And yet my leader says my experience is limited."

On the successful climb, he asserted, "I practically directed operations from Khumbu Glacier onwards, building bridges, selecting camp sites, cutting steps and crossing icefalls."

Tensing, Hillary and Hunt all have emphasized they considered the question of just whose foot was first on Everest's top immaterial—that it was a team operation.

Hunt, however, said Hillary in the final climb was seen leading most of the way. Asking, "Why not give the devil his due?" Tensing said actually he was a few steps ahead to the top, though he emphasized: "The credit goes to both. We both reached the summit almost together."

Regarding his nationality, the Sherpa has said only: "I was born in the womb of Nepal, but brought up in the lap of India." Though born in Nepal, he now lives in Darjeeling, India.

Reports soon after the Everest conquest said Queen Elizabeth II was going to present the coveted George Cross, Britain's highest award for civilian valor, to Tensing and Hillary for their climb.

But touchy Asian pride was affronted by subsequent rumors that Tensing would get only the lower-ranking George Medal. So far British officials have said only that they are discussing with Nepal's government what decoration would be suitable.

Tribe Regains Brown, Sends Jacome To Yakima In Trade

Outfielder Bill Brown, who quit at Big Spring, came back to play for Midland Sunday following business transactions that saw the Indians add two more pitchers to the roll and trade another.

The outgoing hurler is Eddie Jacome, a three-year Tribe player who won 11 in this campaign. He's to report to Yakima, Wash., to complete a transaction Jacome requested.

Midland Manager Jay Haney announced that Brown's contract was being repurchased from Big Spring. The crop-haired Pennsylvanian took over Hayden White's old right-field post in a Midland game Sunday.

He had gone to Big Spring in a trade for Center Fielder Mandy Diaz and, after expressing dissatisfaction on that club, announced he was quitting.

Jacome who drew a fine for missing practice Thursday told club officials he was not content any longer with the Indians and preferred to be traded or sold. He was taken off the active list Friday.

Leroy Jack Scheaning, a limited service right-hander will join Midland from the Class B Yakima club as part of the trade.

Another hurler, veteran Gordon Roach reported to the club Sunday on a conditional basis from Wichita Falls of the Big State league.

HOBBS, N. M.—Colf officials here, the sponsors of the July 30 sectional qualifying for the National Junior Amateur tournament, didn't need to go far Sunday to find their next tourney's favorite.

They chose Wendy Green, 17-year-old Midland golf shop worker.

And Green showed why Sunday—she walloped George Paulowsky of Hobbs, 10 and 9, in the finals of one of West Texas' and New Mexico's fastest golf fields.

As a 16-year-old in last year's tourney, Green lost only to champion Don Cherty and came on this time with even more brilliant golf to oust former titlist Jack Williams to get to Paulowsky. He laid Paulowsky low with four-under par golf through the 27 holes of the match.

Paulowsky, at that, won the first hole with a par five.

The Midland boy, though, birdied the next two and finished the first round on the nine-hole Hobbs Country Club course in par 36 to stand 4-up.

He held a 6-up lead after 18 holes (playing one-under golf) and birdied four times between the nineteenth and the closeout twenty-seventh hole.

An Odessa, Ted Roden, whom Green beat 1-up in Saturday's semi-finals, won the invitational's driving contest with a 364 yarder.

Ralph Johnson of Hobbs took the championship consolation award from Bill White of Lamesa, 5 and 4, Sunday.

ACTION ASKED ON RING JUDGES

OGDEN, UTAH —(P)— Action was expected Monday on selection of ring officials for Wednesday's light-heavyweight title bout between Champion Archie Moore and Ex-Champ Joey Maxim.

Co-promoters Kenny Mayne and Al Warden said Sunday they would give managers for the two fighters until Monday to iron out their running argument over choice of a referee and judges. If they don't, the promoters will make the choices.

Guerra Stops Drillers, 7-2, On Four Hits

ARTESIA —(P)— Gil Guerra elbowed out a masterful four-hitter, marred only by a home run, to lead San Angelo to a 7-2 win over Artesia Sunday night.

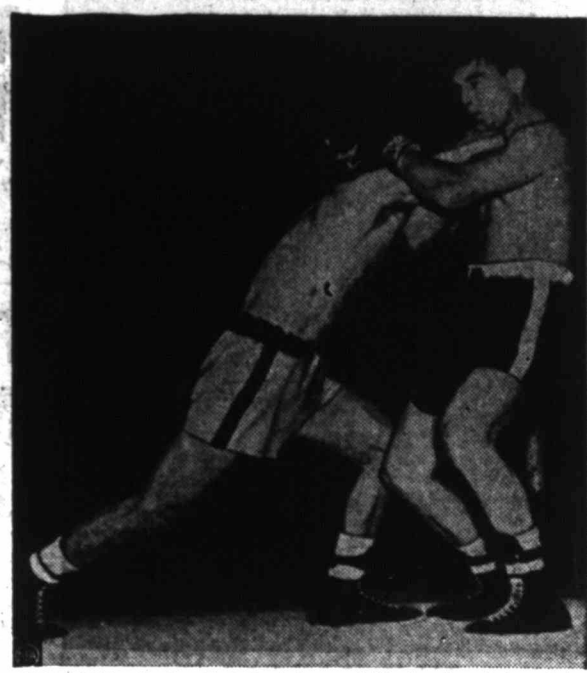

Guerra, who appeared to get stronger as he went, served up a gopher ball to Les Mulcahy in the second inning and the big catcher in the only two Artesia runs batted in.

That was the last look-in the drillers had. Guerra didn't allow a man to reach base in the last five innings.

Except for the homer, not a man reached third off the sharp right hander.

A double by John Malgarini and a single by Glenn Burns gave an Artesia error in the third gave the Colts two runs and a 3-2 lead. A three-run outburst in the fourth chased starter and loser Frank Martin and sewed up the game.

The score: R H E
San Angelo 102 300 001—7 11 0
Artesia 020 000 000—2 4 2
Guerra and Briner; Martin, Presley (4) and Mulcahy.

CHARGE!—Rocky Castellani lowered his head and tore into Pierre Langlois like a fullback booming through a line in their 10-round match in Cleveland. The Luzerne, Pa., middleweight went on to win a split decision from the Frenchman. (NEA)

Big Spring Clouts Carlsbad, 5 To 2

CARLSBAD, N. M. —(P)— Big Spring's Broncs clipped Carlsbad, 5-2, Sunday night to knock the Potashers two games off the Longhorn League pace. Carlsbad held its half-game edge over Artesia, which lost to San Angelo.

Big Spring's Glenn Groomes went all the way, allowing only six hits while his mates touched three Carlsbad hurlers for 10 blows, including a homer by Jaime Fals with one on.

The Broncs bunched their scoring in two frames, two in the first and three in the sixth.

Odessa Wins Over Rockets

ROSWELL —(P)—Odessa exploded for five runs in the top of the ninth inning Sunday night, to break open a tie game and take a 10-5 decision over the Roswell Rockets.

Singles by Felix Castro and Bob Martin, a double by Norman Loyko with a base on balls mixed in had accounted for three runs and had a man on base when Raul Dieppa climaxed the rally with a homer over the left field wall.

Odessa had gone out in front with a pair in the first inning, and padded it with single runs in the fourth, seventh and eighth.

Lefly Jim Carson was holding the Rockets in check with two runs on only six hits through the first seven innings, but saw them erupt for three tallies, all unearned, in the eighth to tie the game at 5-5.

Wes Ortiz came on to put out the fire and take credit for the win. Juan Del Toro, the second of three Roswell moundmen, took the loss.

The score: R H E
Odessa 200 100 115—10 12 4
Roswell 010 001 030—5 10 3
Carson, Ortiz (8) and Castro; Leeder, Del Toro (4), Barcardi (9) and Valdes.

Crow-Shoot Champ Calling It Quits

VANDALIA, ILL. —(P)— Eddy Murgard of Dallas announced Sunday he was retiring from competition in the annual shoots of the National Crow Hunters Association.

Murgard teamed with Dr. John Rogers Phillips of Houston Sunday to shoot 40 birds and win the double title.

Saturday he won permanent possession of the association's trophy for the singles championship by winning the title for the third straight year.

'Yanks Best,' —Newhouser

NEW YORK —(P)—Hal Newhouser, nearing the end of a brilliant career, rates the current New York Yankees "the best club I ever pitched against."

"I don't go along with the idea that they are a lucky club," said the veteran Detroit left-hander. "You make one mistake, and they're ready to jump on you. They take advantage of every break. It's a real good ball team."

It was cool in the Tigers clubhouse after the steaming 102-degree heat on the Yankee Stadium mound. Newhouser sat on a rubbering table, alternately dragging on a Oke and a cigarette. A small white radio blared out the details of the final innings of the first game, in which he had been knocked out of the box. Old before his time at 32 because of an injury to his left arm. Newhouser paid his respects to young Mickey Mantle, who had blasted him for a 428-foot home run.

"I made a good pitch to him too," he said slowly. "Tried to keep him from pulling. But he just hit it high and away. That boy may become one of the great hitters. He has a terrific advantage on most hitters because he switches at the plate. You never get a chance to work on him."

Newhouser stopped a minute and then added, "I would like to have pitched against him, though, when I had my good stuff."

Although he rates Mantle as a potential great, Newhouser considers Hank Bauer the best hitter in the American League—"at least against me."

Ike May Decide This Week On Pressure For Allied Army

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Eisenhower probably will have to decide this week whether he wants to put heavy financial pressure on America's allies to speed agreement on a West European army.

The House last week voted to withhold by law about a billion dollars in foreign aid funds until European Defense Community treaties are ratified. Sunday, Senator Taft (R-Ohio) suggested a compromise which would give the President discretionary authority to do the same thing.

Legislative leaders may find out at a White House conference Wednesday whether the President believes such a financial threat to West European nations would be wise.

The EDC treaties, ratified so far only by Western Germany, would call up 500,000 men from six nations for service in a unified army.

Livingston T. Merchant, assistant secretary of state, told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in testimony on the foreign aid bill he believes "the logic of events" will bring ratification of the EDC treaties also by France, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Meanwhile the State Department was reported planning to offer separate arms aid agreements to the Arab nations as a stopgap to obtaining ultimately a formal Middle East defense alliance.

Funds for such separate agreements would come from 100 million dollars requested by Eisenhower for Middle East military aid. However, should Congress decline to appropriate the money, Administration plans are to transfer some uncommitted foreign aid funds to the project.

Cosden Hikes Price Of Gas

Gasoline prices went up Monday at least one company but Midlanders haven't felt it yet.
Cosden Petroleum Corporation has boosted its gasoline rates, but the increase hasn't gotten past the wholesale level in Midland.
"Stations probably will go up on their prices sometime this week," said Mark Melson, manager of the Baker Oil Company, wholesale distributor here, "but right now we're waiting to see what the other companies are going to do."
"Wholesale prices went up a penny on all grades," Melson continued. Heretofore, wholesale prices for Cosden gasoline were 21 1/2 cents for white gasoline, 22 1/2 for regular and 24 1/2 for premium.
Spokesmen for other major company service stations here predicted increase notices from their companies this week.
The recent hike in crude oil prices has paved the way for an increase in prices for refined products.

Communist Yoke Induces Uprisings, Says German Visitor

HOUSTON (AP)—The minister-president of Bavaria, Germany's largest state, says uprisings in East Germany resulted from impossible production tasks put on the backs of workers.
Hans Ehard talked to newsmen at the beginning of a Texas visit that will take him to several ranches and cities.
"It is difficult to assess the future political significance on that strike," Ehard said. "But undoubtedly conditions in the Eastern Zone are worse than during World War II, when strict rationing was in effect."
Proof that conditions are intolerable in East Germany is the large number of farmers deserting their farms and fleeing the West, said the West German leader.
"That is the last thing a German will do—leave his farm which, in many cases, has been worked by his ancestors for centuries," Ehard said.
The party was to leave for Austin late Monday.

Upton Opens New Hospital

RANKIN—Upton County's new 11-bed hospital opened officially at 8 a.m. Monday after more than 250 persons toured the fully-equipped structure during an open house Sunday.
Opening of the one-story, air-conditioned brick hospital in turn sparked a "patient trade" with the McCamey Hospital. During construction of the new building here, Rankin patients were lodged in the McCamey Hospital. Now those patients in McCamey will be moved to the Rankin Hospital and work will begin on remodeling the McCamey Hospital.
Work on the McCamey building is due to be completed in about 90 days.
"We got lots of comment about the new hospital," Mrs. Lucella M. Huffman, county hospital administrator, pointed out after the open house. "Some of the visitors said there's nothing like the new hospital."
Facilities in the Rankin hospital, Mrs. Huffman continued, are comparable to institutions in much larger cities and include an operating room, delivery room, emergency room, X-ray room, and lounges for doctors and nurses. Each of the 11 patient rooms has its own decoration scheme, she said.
Construction of the new hospital and the renovation of the McCamey structure was undertaken as part of a $300,000 program for county hospitals.

Double Funeral Rites Held For Fire Victims In Nolan

SWEETWATER—Double funeral services were set for 3 p.m. Monday for Mrs. Bertha E. McCaulley, 58, and her daughter, Vergie L. Westmoreland, 30, victims of a volatile fluid explosion and fire which Saturday destroyed two homes here and caused damages estimated at $50,000 to $75,000.
Mrs. McCaulley died at 8:45 a.m. Sunday in the Sweetwater Hospital and her daughter died at 9:40 p.m. Saturday.
Services were to be held at the Fundamental Baptist Church with interment in Sweetwater Cemetery under the direction of Cate-Spencer Funeral Home.
Cause of the fire has not been determined. Firemen fighting the blaze again early Sunday morning kept it under control and prevented it from spreading.
Eighty thousand gallons of gasoline, kerosene and other volatile fluids were consumed in the fire. A tank filled to the brim with gasoline bulged and broke open at the Roberts Oil Company, agent for Sinclair and Standard Oil Company, petroleum products.
The fluid was ignited and the fire spread to the other tanks. Seven tanks of volatile fluid were consumed in the fire. No one had discovered Sunday afternoon as to how the fluid was ignited.
Two residences, Mrs. McCaulley's home, just north of the Roberts plant, and that of Mrs. Dora Smiley, were destroyed in the fire. Mrs. Smiley was in San Angelo at the time of the fire.
Surviving Mrs. McCaulley are two daughters, Mrs. Robert Parish of Sweetwater and Mrs. Russell Hubbard of Wichita Falls; one son, Eldon Westmoreland of Sweetwater; six grandchildren; one great-grandchild; one brother, W. O. Marshall of Hemet, Calif.; and two sisters, Mrs. Hattie Ivy of Conroe and Mrs. Nadine Foster of Lufkin.

New Film Screen Dimensions Accents Lovely Wilson Gams

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Surprise, everyone! Marie Wilson has legs too.
What's more, moviegoers will be seeing more of her legs than her more noted attributes—possibly because of the new dimensions in film screens.
Nothing is safe in this 3-D revolution. Marie is in a class with Jane Russell and Dagnair, as far as the feminine form is concerned. Now she may be known as the cover-up girl.
Frank Tashlin, who is directing Marie in "Marry Me Again," shakes his head over the whole business.
"Marie comes in with lovely dresses," he told me, "but we have to keep adding material on the top. That kind of outfit just won't pass the censors these days. But there's nothing wrong with legs, and Marie has good ones. We have several scenes in which she shows her legs—in a hootchy-kootchy outfit, bathing suit and other things."
This strictness of decollete may be due to the fact that the picture is being shot in the wide-screen technique. This method takes in a lot more territory and give the audience a closer look than did the old style of filming.
Censors will no doubt be grateful that "Marry Me Again" is not being filmed in three dimensions as well. It was originally slated as a "depthie," but plans were dropped at the last minute. Whether Miss Wilson's form had anything to do with the matter is not known. However, she is grateful that the film receives the wide-screen treatment.
