By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

How To Have Personal Magnetism

HAVE YOU EVER NOTICED the way some people attract others? Things come their way. They always seem to be getting new ideas and new slants on life as well as new friends. Opportunities seem to flow in their direction.

People like this appear to possess some irresistible magnetism that draws everything and everyone to them. You see these attractive, successful and dynamic people in every walk of life. They are among the famous and among the humble, but whatever their circle may be, they are outstanding and different because of this unusual magnetic quality.

On the contrary, there are many people who find few friends and for whom opportunities are elusive. They are never quite able to get a grasp on life—it forever eludes them. They live their lives in frustration, never getting the feel of success in their work. They long for the friendships they do not have.

One explanation of the difference between the two types is that one has found the secret of personal magnetism; the other has not. Is this quality of magnetism some gift granted by Almighty God to a favored few? Well, perhaps some people may be particularly gifted, but the real secret of personal magnetism is available to anyone. And how it is obtained?

WELL, LET ME TELL YOU about one person who had it. Years ago, I got to know a wonderful woman, the motion picture actress, Hattie McDaniel. When I think of magnetic personalities I think of her. She usually played the part of an old mammy and was well cast, both in figure and disposition. She once told me that she was the twelfth daughter of a poor negro Baptist preacher—and you know how poor that could be.

"My father was a great soul," she used to say, "and told me, 'Hattie, always stay close to the Lord, and you will have enthusiasm in your heart. That enthusiasm added to the natural charm opportunities and friends to you.' Of course, my dear old father over-estimated me," she explained. But her father was right.

Hattie McDaniel had the habit, no matter what the weather, of going out on her porch every morning, breathing deeply and saying aloud, "Hello there, good morning! Hello there, good morning!" Then she would thank the Lord for the opportunity to meet people happy that day. As I got to know her, I watched the famous people of Hollywood gathering around her. She had something to transmit to them that drew them. She exuded vibrancy; she was alive to her finger-tips. They loved her for it and so did all who knew her. She had the rare quality of personal magnetism.

ANYONE WHO BECOMES SURCHARGED with that kind of faith may develop this indefinable thing called personal magnetism. And he too will draw new opportunities and new friends to himself. How does faith create magnetism? Faith fills one with eagerness, vitality, enthusiasm. These qualities are infectious and no one can resist them. You can cultivate them by practicing being eager, practicing being vital, practicing being enthusiastic. Shortly, your practice will begin to galvanize life for you.

Avoid the negative: don't talk gloomily, cynically, pessimistically. Accentuate the positive. Think in terms of "Hello there, good morning—Isn't it a wonderful day?" Believe that it is a wonderful day and it will be one. And when all your days seem wonderful ones, you'll have discovered the secret of personal magnetism.

Rhee Doubtful About Success Of U. S. Talks

SEOUL—(P)—President Syngman Rhee said Sunday he does not know whether his continuing talks with President Eisenhower's special envoy will be successful. It was the aged South Korean leader's first direct comment on the efforts by Assistant Secretary of State Walter S. Robertson to persuade him to accept a truce with the Communists on present terms.

Twin Babies Born In Car; One Survives

FORT WORTH — (P) — Mrs. O. Ferrier of Seymour had twin girls here Saturday.

One lived. It was born seconds after Mrs. Ferrier reached Harris Hospital.

Doctors couldn't save the other infant. It was born in a State Highway Patrol car after the frantic father rushed into a cafe here. He said his wife was in labor.

C. D. Hoefflin, president of the Lake Worth Emergency Corps, and State Highway Patrolman Bob Wilbanks were chatting over coffee when Ferrier ran in.

Mr. and Mrs. Ferrier, Hoefflin and Wilbanks piled into the patrolman's car and raced for the hospital. The first child was born in the car.

The second birth started just as the patrol car pulled into Harris Hospital. Physicians assisted at the birth.

The doctors gave the first child stimulants and artificial respiration but it failed to respond.

More Hot, Clear Weather Upcoming For Permian Basin

One West Texas city got a little Fourth of July rain Saturday—but not Midland.

What's more, Midland's not due any day-after-the-Fourth rain either.

CAA weather prophets painted this picture for Midland's Sunday: Clear and hot, with no blowing sand in the offing.

The temperature here rose to the 101-degree mark Saturday—and was hovering around 90 degrees as late as 9 p.m.

Holiday showers sprinkled five Texas cities. The most rain — 3.1 inch — fell from a towering thunderhead over Austin. Marfa had .10, Corpus Christi .04, Galveston .02 and Victoria .01.

LATE NEWS FLASHES

SEOUL — (P) — A five-hour Chinese assault against forbidding Sniper Ridge on the East-Central Korean front was smashed early Sunday by grenade-hurling infantrymen of the ROK 9th Division.

BUENOS AIRES — (P) — The release of more than 80 prisoners who have been held as political prisoners was revealed here Saturday following an uneasy peace negotiated by three small opposition parties with President Juan D. Peron's Argentine government.

Idahoan Says Korean War Now Is Lost

BOISE, IDAHO — (P) — Americans "must admit that we have lost the war in Korea," Senator Dworshak (R-Idaho) said Saturday night, and added that the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is "crumbling."

Speaking at an American Legion Independence Day celebration, Dworshak, in his prepared speech, declared, "We traded a glorious victory in war for an inglorious peace."

"Since 1945 we have spent about 40 billions of dollars to help stabilize conditions and build up resistance to the Red onslaught," he said.

"However, today we must admit that we have lost the war in Korea; we have incurred the ill will of the people in many countries which we have aided."

Dworshak said he "mentioned the true state of affairs" to arouse Americans to the realization that "never in our history was it more necessary than now to maintain not only a powerful national defense but, likewise, to preserve at home a solvent government."

Reports circulated that the U. S. is ready to offer the Republic of Korea a compromise to gain Rhee's support for an armistice in the costly, three-year-old Korean war.

Two-Point Compromise A reliable source said under a two-point compromise the U. S. would agree to join South Korea in walking out of a post-armistice political conference at the end of 90 days if no progress had been made with the Reds toward peaceful unification of Korea.

Secondly, after such a walkout, the U. S. would "discuss" on a diplomatic level resumption of the war—with the understanding that any such action would have to be ratified by the U. S. Senate.

Word of the reported compromise came after an 85-minute meeting between Robertson and the South Korean leader Saturday afternoon.

Without going into detail, Robertson told newsmen he felt their eighth and latest discussion "will be helpful in reaching a satisfactory solution" to the truce impasse.

The new development was expected to hold Robertson in Korea several more days. Previously he had been expected to leave for Washington this weekend.

SEES STARS IN BROAD DAYLIGHT

O. E. Reese, 1304 South Big Spring Street, saw plenty of stars Saturday but they were not the formal Fourth of July variety.

Reese, according to Police Sgt. O. W. Roberts, was struck over the head with a club fashioned from a billiard cue while he sat in a cafe in the 100 block of South Main Street.

He was taken to Midland Memorial Hospital for emergency treatment of scalp wounds.

The wielder of the club was picked up for investigation.

Typhoon Kills Seven

TAIPEH FORMOSA — (P) — A howling Pacific typhoon sidwiped Northern Formosa Saturday, killing at least seven persons and injuring 65 others before rampaging on to the China coast.

President Eisenhower called that declaration "one of those great expressions of the love of freedom which has found lasting response in the hearts of all peoples everywhere."

In a message to the people of Denmark, who have been observing the American holiday since 1912, Eisenhower said the Danish celebration is "a reaffirmation of the spiritual bonds uniting free peoples today in their common cause and their universal hope—a just and enduring peace."

In another message, read at the Philadelphia ceremonies, Eisenhower saluted the children of America and said:

"They are to be both the beneficiaries and the guardians of those rights which, our forefathers pointed out in the Declaration, are every person's gift from the creator of us all. To them we must transmit the heritage of freedom intact; this is our highest duty. And no less must we inspire in them the virtues, the faith, the stamina, the understanding with which to defend that freedom against all dangers . . ."

Vice President Richard Nixon, principal speaker at the Philadelphia observance, said that under Eisenhower's leadership Americans "will meet our problems at home and eventually bring peace and freedom abroad."

"Under the leadership of a great President," Nixon said, "we have regained the initiative for the cause of freedom." He added:

"We have the men, we have the resources and most important—we are on the right side—the side of freedom, of justice and peace against the forces of slavery, oppression and war."

German, Polish Rebels Sabotage Tanks, Factories

BERLIN — (P) — Rioters against Red rule were reported Saturday to have blown up 17 Russian tanks in Poland and other tanks and factories were reported sabotaged by blasting and fire in rebellious East Germany.

The reports came from refugees fleeing from the Communist East. They told stories of continuing sabotage weeks after the June 17 East German uprising, and said large groups of Polish workers, students and soldiers have been in revolt since June 29.

The Polish incidents were reported by the Sunday Telegram of West Berlin.

It said martial law has been declared in the Silesian industrial area of Poland and in Warsaw and Crakow.

Russian troops have been rushed from East Germany into Western Poland in efforts to suppress the revolt, the Telegram said.

"Workers have been on strike since June 29 in the entire Silesian industrial area, principally in Beuthen, Gletwitz, Kattowitz, Breslau, Koenigsuetzte, Dabrowa, Gornica, Rybnik, Tarnowitz and Ratibor," the Telegram said.

"In huge demonstrations they demanded the resignation of the Communist government.

"The militia either does not interfere or else supports the demonstrators. Polish partisans have carried out large-scale actions. Near Koenigsuetzte they destroyed 17 Soviet tanks. A small Soviet infantry unit was destroyed. The rail line between Waldenburg and Goerlitz was broken in six places.

"The Soviet commander of the Polish Army, Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky, has declared martial law in the Silesian industrial area and in the areas of Warsaw and Crakow."

"The official Communist Party newspaper, Neues Deutschland, served notice that East Berlin's borders will be kept sealed until the Western Allies take steps to halt 'the sending of provocateurs and criminals' into the Soviet-occupied area.

Whether Polish riots still were going on or whether Russian troops had restored order could not be learned Saturday. The Communist-controlled press and radio of East Germany did not mention troubles in Poland. Refugees escaping to West Berlin were the only source of information—and escape across two tank-guarded borders was dangerous.

Weather Cooperates Generally fair weather over most of the country brought out the traditional swarms of picknickers, sightseers and sports enthusiasts. It was a day for gathering around the bandstands on village squares and for watching fireworks displays in the great city parks.

On the other side of the world, in strife-torn Korea, American GIs led off the celebration with grim earnestness. Because of time zone differences, the Fourth reached them first, and they let go with thunderous barrages of artillery, mortar and tank fire across the 158-mile Korean front.

In Washington, there were fireworks and speeches at the Washington Monument.

In New York, there was the traditional celebration at the Eternal Light in Madison Square Park.

In Rome, Ambassador Clare Boothe Luce was hostess at a garden party for more than 2,000 Americans.

In Germany, U. S. soldiers and civilians celebrated with band concerts, baseball games and picnics.

In Manila, Filipinos celebrated their seventh independence day with gay fiestas, parades and fireworks.

Holiday Death Toll In Texas, Nation Mounts

Fourth of July violence claimed at least 14 Texans as the count of dead over the nation reached more than 165 in the first 24 hours of the holiday.

The climbing toll of this state included several West Texans with one Midlander on the list. Highway death came quickly in the early hours Saturday to Fred William Thomas, 36, Midland carpenter, who was saving a new shirt "to wear to my funeral." He was only kidding Friday afternoon when he kissed his wife and five children goodbye and left the house to go to town and get a haircut.

His wife had just bought him a shirt, she sobbed Saturday, and it pleased him very much. "I think I'll just hang it up," she quoted him as saying, "and save it to wear to my funeral."

But the particular kind of death which roams the holiday highways wasn't kidding when Thomas' automobile plunged off the road and overturned between Garden City and Sterling City.

Three Angelenos Killed In another major West Texas highway accident, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hanson and her father, Oscar Worden, all of San Angelo, were killed at noon Saturday in a two-car crash on a bridge near Comcan, Uvalde County. Five others were injured.

The West Texans were among 106 dying in U. S. traffic mishaps starting at 6 p.m. Friday. Downings had taken 48 lives and 13 others died from miscellaneous causes. Not one death was reported from fireworks.

The 14 dead Texans included nine killed in traffic accidents, three drowned and two fatally shot. "The Midland carpenter died of head injuries.

"No one could explain what he was doing there at that time of the night," said Detective Sgt. Wayne Taylor, who made the unhappy trip to Big Spring Saturday to identify the body.

"However, it is possible he could have heard about a carpenter's job down there and gone to look it over."

Anyway, Thomas died and his death was another grim item in the Fourth of July weekend statistics. (Continued On Page Six)

July $Dollar Day$ Specials To Be Hotter Than Weather

The weather may be warm, but the $DOLLAR DAY$ specials will be warmer here Monday as Midland observes its July $DOLLAR DAY$, with practically all retail business firms of the city participating.

Summer merchandise, of course, will be featured in most stores as the merchants attempt to beat the heat with dollar-saving values. Many of the specials are advertised in this issue of The Reporter-Telegram.

Crowds of shoppers from Midland and throughout the Permian Basin Empire are expected to be on hand early Monday to participate in Midland's popular "first Monday" sales event.

Again this month free bus transportation to the downtown section is offered Midland women through the courtesy of the Midland Transportation Company and The Reporter-Telegram. A bus-ride coupon appears elsewhere in this issue.

Monday will be $DOLLAR DAY$ in Midland. Everyone is invited!

Folksy, Old-Fashioned Fourth Of July Enjoyed By Midlanders At Lions' Fete

There's nothing like a good old-fashioned Fourth of July. Plenty of cold soda pop and iced watermelon . . .

Little kids running around getting lost or riding the ponies . . . Dignified business men taking part in a pie-eating contest . . .

The politicians setting themselves up as targets as usual, only now they're risking getting dunked in a tank of water . . .

Some of the town's fairest belles parading in bathing suits . . . And, when nightfall comes, flashing fireworks to keep open the tired eyes of the youngsters.

That was Midland Saturday as the Midland Lions Club staged its big Fourth of July party at the Midland Fairgrounds.

More than 4,000 persons either sat in the grandstand and watched the fun-making or milled around on the edge of the arena to take part in some of the sport.

And the heroes, of course, were the brave souls who shed their dignity for a few hours to help the Lions Club raise money to carry on its various charitable activities.

People like former Mayor Perry Pickett and State Representative Hulon Brown, who spent most of the evening climbing out of a big tank of water.

First it was Pickett, who got dunked about 15 times by sharpshooting amateur baseball hurlers and then decided to retire ingloriously.

Then Brown, who has just survived a tough session of the Texas Legislature, stuck it out for about 90 dunkings as scores crowded up to throw at the target at two bits for three balls.

Then a heroic quartet of businessmen took over as Master of Ceremonies Duke Jernerson called for the pie-eating contest.

Bravely and good-naturedly, they bent over their chocolate pies, their hands clasped behind their ears, when it was over. L. V. Basham, former president of the Lions Club, was the winner.

Proudly Basham stepped up to receive his prize, a creamy custard pie right in the face.

Then the bathing beauty revue. There had been 15 entries but by the time E. D. Fitzgerald and his Texas Ramblers cleared the stage for the parade only four were left.

But Frances Bullard, Ray Nell Bustin, Jan Scott and Jerry Bissell received the enthusiastic applause of the crowd.

The spectacular fireworks display, with a wide variety of pyrotechnics, wound up the night's program and the crowd headed home to the spasmodic popping of small firecrackers.

Another Fourth of July had ended in Midland.

Pilot, Gear Share Blame In Air Crash

TOKYO — (P) — Far East Air Forces announced Sunday that history's worst air disaster—the crash of a C-124 Globemaster near Tokyo in which 129 U. S. servicemen were killed—was caused by mechanical failure and pilot error.

FEAF announced also that the Globemasters, grounded since the crash June 18, would resume regular operations Sunday.

"Complete investigation showed that the June 18 crash was caused by a sheared generator shaft followed by application of full flaps too early in the approach for a three-engine letdown while returning to the field," the announcement said.

Flaps are the trailing edges of the wings and, when lowered, act as air brakes to slow the landing speed of the plane.

"Evidently the propeller was feathered and the engine stopped as a precautionary measure against a possible engine fire," FEAF said. "Action has been taken to correct generator shaft trouble."

The West Texans were among 106 dying in U. S. traffic mishaps starting at 6 p.m. Friday. Downings had taken 48 lives and 13 others died from miscellaneous causes. Not one death was reported from fireworks.

Salesman Turns Out Welcome Paymaster For Eleventh Community Survey Winner

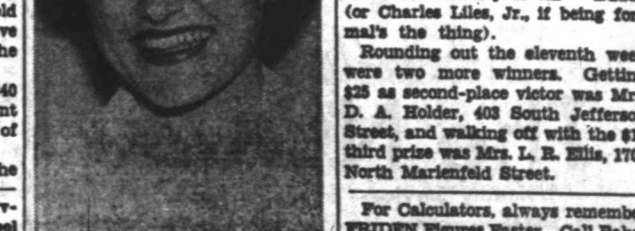

"Another darned salesman" turned out to be not a salesman, but a guy who gave money away for Mrs. Charles M. Liles, 3902 Cedar Springs Drive, eleventh Midlander to top the winners' list in The Reporter-Telegram's ad survey.

"I was sitting in the house last week," she said, "when this fellow walked up to the door. I thought he was another salesman—we've been having them by the dozens—so I just sat there and got ready to say no.

"But—and this was the biggest surprise ever—he was just coming to tell me that I'd won the survey first prize. Even after he had told me who he was, I couldn't believe he was there to tell me I'd won the prize."

Mrs. Liles indeed had won the $40 prize—and she used the same "hunt and pick" system used by most of the survey winners.

Two Drown As Quick Squall Upsets Yacht; Five Rescued

SAVANNAH, GA. (AP)—A sudden squall on the Inland Waterway south of here Friday night turned a holiday outing into a tragedy when it capsized a cabin cruiser, drowning two persons. Five others were rescued after the accident was discovered early Saturday.

The victims were Ernest J. Harr, prominent Savannah attorney and member of the state legislature, and Mrs. R. Maurice Seybold, also of Savannah.

The boat, owned by Haar, apparently was driven against the bank of Buckhead Creek, on Ossabaw Island, when fierce winds raked the Florida passage. The impact overturned the craft and Haar and Mrs. Seybold were trapped inside the boat.

John M. Middleton of Vernon View reported he rescued Mrs. Haar, the Haars' daughter, Marilyn, Lois McKeethan and Virginia Davis, friends of Mrs. Haar. They were returned to Savannah and taken to a hospital for treatment of shock and exposure.

Seybold also escaped with his life but Middleton said the man refused to leave the overturned cruiser in which his wife and friend were trapped. Middleton said when he left with the women Seybold remained sitting in a small boat with two fishermen who had come to his aid, refusing to leave until the bodies could be removed from the larger craft.

Thrice Postponed Rites Solemnized

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, CALIF.—After three postponements of their marriage, Martine Sgt. Richard Paget, Jr., 21, North Hollywood, and Joan Payton, 19, Youngstown, Ohio, are finally honeymooning Saturday.

They were married Friday night at the Little Brown Church in the Valley.

The ceremony first was postponed two years ago when Paget was sent to Korea. Months later it was planned again when he was enroute home; but then he was recalled to the battlefield.

Last June 12 it was postponed again when he suffered a broken shoulder in a motorcycle accident.

Second Mass Polio Inoculation Program Of '53 Set Monday

LENOIR, N. C.—Medical personnel and volunteer workers converged on polio-ridden Caldwell County Saturday to prepare for the mass inoculation of 10,800 children with gamma globulin.

The nation's second mass immunization program will begin Monday in an effort to check a polio epidemic that has claimed 81 victims. Six new cases were reported Friday.

For most children of this industrial community in the shadow of the Blue Ridge Mountains, Saturday was a quiet, fear-ridden holiday.

Few children were in the streets as cautious parents kept their youngsters home.

Inoculations will be given at four clinics, operating 12 hours a day. Each clinic expects to handle up to 1,000 children daily. Officials expect the program to be completed by Wednesday night.

The great majority of victims here are children under 10 years of age. Most of the cases have been reported since June 17, when only 26 cases were on record. The epidemic has claimed only one life—that of a 12-year-old girl. But 11 of the 81 cases have been placed in iron lungs.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The cost of eating in Army and Air Force officers' mess is going up.

Officers and civilians using the mess facilities hereafter must pay $2.25 a day for the three meals which had averaged only $1.45 a day. The new rates are 55 cents for breakfast and 85 cents each for lunch and dinner.

In an effort to make the organized messes self-supporting, Congress wrote a provision requiring the increase into a pending appropriation bill, and into an interim resolution which makes funds available until the bill can be passed.

The Army and Air Force have sent notices to all commands ordering the increases into effect, and the Navy is expected to follow suit as soon as certain technicalities are cleared up.

Officers and civilians using the mess facilities hereafter must pay $2.25 a day for the three meals which had averaged only $1.45 a day. The new rates are 55 cents for breakfast and 85 cents each for lunch and dinner.

In an effort to make the organized messes self-supporting, Congress wrote a provision requiring the increase into a pending appropriation bill, and into an interim resolution which makes funds available until the bill can be passed.

The Army and Air Force have sent notices to all commands ordering the increases into effect, and the Navy is expected to follow suit as soon as certain technicalities are cleared up.

Traveling Texans Dole Out Scholarships In World Tour

FRANKFURT, GERMANY—(AP)—Eleven Texans are circling the globe at their own expense to hand out free university scholarships to young foreign students.

So far, they have dropped off two scholarships in each of the following countries: India, Pakistan, Palestine, Lebanon, Egypt, Turkey, Greece, Italy, Switzerland, Austria, France, England and Germany.

Before their trip ends in San Antonio, two weeks hence they will visit Holland and Belgium, where they will hand out more of the one-year-scholarships to the University of Texas.

The group, 10 women and a man (the husband of one of the women), represents the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, which has a membership of 75,000 in the Lone Star State.

The scholarships go to "future leaders, so that they can live with us and learn our way of life and then return to their own countries and become better neighbors."

Holiday Visitors Take Apart Northern New Mexico Resort

RED RIVER, N. M. —(AP)—Officers clamped an iron fist on this Northern New Mexico resort town Saturday following a riot involving 150 holiday visitors.

Deputy Harold Lichlick said more than a hundred youths, many of them from Amarillo, Texas, stormed through the town Friday night fighting and brawling.

Two Spanish American women and a 10-year-old boy were besieged by about 60 Texans in a vacant house where they had fled, he said. The house was stoned and torn apart, Lichlick added.

One of the women, about 16, was cut by flying glass. The other, about 35, was hit on the leg by a rock thrown through a window.

State Police Intervene

Lichlick said the crowd apparently thought the women had something to do with the robbery and beating of one of their fellows.

Four special deputies were sworn in to aid Lichlick and the other regular volunteer officer, Deputy L. F. Louis. State police sent an officer from Santa Fe.

Lichlick said the men still were "hanging around town."

"We're going to control this situation or break somebody's neck," Lichlick said.

He said numerous fights preceded the mob attack on the women and child. There was much drunken driving, he said, and one youth was arrested and charged with drunken and reckless driving.

None of the rioters were arrested since the handful of volunteer officers had their hands full chasing down and breaking up fights and vandalism.

Red River has no jail, the nearest one being at Taos, 50 miles through the mountains.

Lichlick said he closed the bars and "ran the youths out of town" as the only way to stop the trouble.

"They come here every year and try to take over the town," Lichlick said. "We don't like it a damn bit."

Officer I. E. Salazar in Taos said one Texan was beaten severely. He claimed he had been robbed in an alley of the tiny town, Salazar said.

He identified him as Jack Swindell, 18, of Amarillo. Swindell was described as in "pretty good" condition at a Taos hospital.

Lichlick and his fellow officer, Louis, are resort camp owners. Red River's population is only a few hundred.

Texas Construction Figures Lag Behind

AUSTIN —(AP)—Texas construction contracts rang up a $16,308,353 total last week, a considerable drop from the previous week's 29-million-dollar figure.

The Texas Contractor, building trade magazine, reported residential lettings at $5,520,600; non-residential, $8,318,684; engineering, $2,469,070.

Congressmen Check Army Records On Courts Martial

WASHINGTON —(AP)—The House Armed Services Committee Saturday called on the Army for a quick report on court martial actions against troops serving under Maj. Gen. Kenneth F. Cramer, commander in Southern Germany.

Robert W. Smart committee chairman, said the group had received several complaints that discipline under Cramer was "too severe" and that a considerable number of soldiers there were facing court martial actions.

He added that some of the court martial cases apparently involved charges of fraternization with German girls.

The committee's request, Smart told a reporter, also includes a report on the officers handling courts martial. The Army, he said, had promised to have the report within a week.

lot of rumors and intends to find out the facts, then act accordingly," Smart said, adding that the committee action amounts "to a challenge of Cramer's leadership."

He recalled there had been previous complaints about Cramer's discipline when he was commander of the 43rd Division at Camp Pickett, Va., before the unit went overseas. The 43rd is a National Guard division made up of men from Vermont, Connecticut and Rhode Island.

At that time, there were protests about conditions at the camp and restrictions imposed on troops in the division.

Pentagon To Honor Texan Who Died To Save Marine

WASHINGTON —(AP)—A Navy hospitalman who died to save the life of a wounded Marine he was aiding while artillery shells crashed around him will receive the Medal of Honor.

Posthumous award of the highest military decoration to Hospitalman John Edward Kilmer of San Antonio, who was 22 when killed in a Korean battle last August 13, will be made in a Pentagon ceremony on Wednesday.

Secretary of the Navy Robert B. Anderson will give the blue and gold medal to the hero's mother, Mrs. Lois B. Kilmer of San Antonio. Invited to attend the ceremony with her is another son, S Sgt. Robert Kilmer of the Marines.

Kilmer, who is the third Navy man to receive the Medal of Honor in the Korean War, was born at Highland Park, Ill., entering naval service in 1947 at Houston.

He was serving with a Marine rifle company at the time of his death. The citation for his gallantry says:

"With his company engaged in defending a vitally important hill position well forward of the main line of resistance during an assault by large concentrations of hostile troops, Kilmer repeatedly braved enemy mortar, artillery and sniper fire to move from one position to another, administering aid to the wounded and expediting their evacuation.

"Painfully wounded himself when struck by mortar fragments while moving to the aid of a casualty, he persisted in his efforts and inched his way to the side of a stricken Marine through a hail of enemy shells falling around him. Undaunted by the devastating hostile fire, he skillfully administered first aid to his comrade and, as another mounting barrage of enemy fire shattered the immediate area, unhesitatingly shielded the wounded man with his own body.

"Mortally wounded by flying shrapnel while carrying out this heroic action, Kilmer, by his great personal valor and gallant spirit of self-sacrifice in saving the life of a comrade, served to inspire all who observed him. His unyielding devotion to duty in the face of heavy odds reflects the highest credit upon himself and enhances the finest traditions of the United States naval service. He gallantly gave his life for another."

Sad Anniversary

The Korean war, one of the strangest in American annals, has rounded out its third full year.

This conflict, which began officially as a "police action," has cost the United States some 135,000 casualties and about $15,000,000,000.

In the first phase, fanatical North Koreans, trained and outfitted by Chinese and Russian Communists, pierced deep into South Korea, forcing hastily dispatched American and other UN troops back into the compact Pusan bridgehead.

In the second, Allied forces made dramatic landings at Inchon, retook Seoul, surrounded and crushed North Korean armies and drove their remnant north across the 38th parallel and toward the distant Yalu River border with Manchuria and Russia.

Then came the shock of the Chinese intervention, and the Allied pullback. Once more the Reds captured Seoul and lunged on south. But again UN armies stiffened and reversed the course of battle.

On that bloody fringe the war has stayed ever since—for two whole years. In late June, 1951, the Reds made their first truce overtures.

The talks ended then because no headway could be made on the tough issue of prisoner exchange.

Now, with the end of this maddening frustration in sight, with our limited original war aims substantially achieved, we are confronted with the tragic irony of President Syngman Rhee's reckless sabotage of the truce agreement.

What can be done about Rhee is a separate story. But his brazen attempt to dictate the military policy of the whole free world is a sad way to celebrate the war's anniversary.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1953, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.) Drew Pearson says: Senatorial fireworks rock immigration hearings; McCarran gets slim support from GOP-ers; Ex-Secretary Chapman's fresh-water plan survives economizers.

WASHINGTON — Shocking outbursts of temper and racial bias threw the Senate Immigration hearings into an uproar the other day. It got so heated that Idaho's rambunctious Senator Herman Walker cursed out his Republican colleagues, made a slighting remark about a Jewish aide at the White House and later grumbled that he felt like quitting the Senate.

Only the angry mumble of voices could be heard through the closed doors of the Senate Judiciary Committee. However, this column can report what went on inside.

Two meetings of the committee were involved. At meeting No. 1 Nevada's barrel-chested, white-mailed Senator Pat McCarran, who ruled the Judiciary Committee with an iron hand under the Democrats, pleaded with the Republican majority to bottle up President Eisenhower's immigration bill admitting 240,000 Iron Curtain refugees and liberalizing certain restrictions of the McCarran Act.

The Nevada kingpin made a long, pleading speech. Then, turning to GOP Chairman "Wild Bill" Langer of North Dakota, McCarran begged: "Bill, don't destroy the monument I have spent years in building."

McCarran was so maudlin that Langer snapped: "You sit down and keep quiet."

McCarran, once all-powerful in the judiciary room, obediently dropped to his seat.

Most explosive outburst, however, came from Walker of Idaho. "I'll be damned if I'll let this legislation be jammed down my throat," he roared. "I'll be damned if I'll listen to those people in the cloakroom who say we have got to vote for this because of the senatorial elections next year."

Then turning defiantly to Senator Everett Dirksen of Illinois, chairman of the Republican Campaign Committee, Walker thundered: "I'll be damned if I'll make any speeches in any state for any Republican next year!"

In the end, the committee agreed to bring the immigration bill to a vote on July 8. The only senators sticking with McCarran were Walker, Olin Johnston of South Carolina and Jim Eastland of Mississippi. All the Republicans deserted him.

Blast At Ike's Aide. Out of courtesy, however, the committee approved another week of hearings to allow McCarran to introduce "new evidence." This began meeting No. 2.

McCarran's staff representative, Dick Arens, promptly sent out notices for a closed hearing. This ruffian...

PETER EDSON'S State Department Clean-Up

State Department Officer Attacks Morals Problems

WASHINGTON—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles was completing testimony before the House Ways and Means Committee. He had given a statement on the need for extending the Trade Agreements Act for another year.

The chairman of a committee asked the members if there were any final questions. When they were all taken care of, the chairman said the secretary would be excused, to go back to work.

Then he added gratuitously: "It must be terrible to have to work among all those homosexuals."

The secretary let it pass. He might have put in a word that not all of the 22,000 employees in the department have heads were that way. But one "homo" in any community is too many, so he ignored it.

Maybe the congressman meant it as a joke. Maybe he was taking a well-aimed crack at the Administration which hadn't taken any too kindly to some of the congressman's pet proposals.

But maybe he was expressing his honest convictions. A lot of people around the country have the mistaken idea that the way things are at the State Department. This belief is probably more widespread throughout the country than in Washington. But people outside of Washington indignantly demand that something be done to clean it up.

For that very reason, an authoritative report on this subject is in order. A frank statement of facts should do something towards checking exaggerations and false rumors. It might help restore to the State Department the good name, national and international respect to which it is entitled.

This dispatch is written with that perspective. It is intended to be neither a scandal story nor an expose. It merely presents the releasable and printable facts as given to this reporter by qualified authorities.

The danger in this situation, as has been explained many times before, is that a pervert is vulnerable to blackmail. Anyone discovered in those practices can be coerced—into, say, spying for an enemy country or disclosing U. S. government secret information—under threat of exposure. Exposure, of course, leads to firing.

Perversion is an ancient sin. Armies and navies always have known it. From the days of one of America's ambassadors, who wrote frank confessions about it, there probably always have been some perverts in diplomatic service.

It is a natural hiding place. Moving from country to country helps hide records. And in many foreign countries such practices are not regarded as they are in this country.

In the 1930's the Inspection Service of the U. S. State Department began to report an increasing number of reports of homosexuality among overseas personnel. The reports ran the gamut from ministers to couriers.

Up to January, 1951, these reports were regarded as something dealing with an individual's private life, and they were not explored. They were considered as negative suitability factors for promotion, but they were not considered as security factors.

XXIV. "He'll goad me into killing him, Nate," said Pete. "I'll be damned if I'll let this legislation be jammed down my throat," he roared.

NATE WILKINSON said nothing until he was free. Then he said grimly, "If I'd been in Pete's place, Tobey, you wouldn't be alive now."

"My turn will come," Barnes growled. "What're you going to do with him, Pete?" Wilkinson asked. "It's a mean trick on the world to let him live."

"We're taking him with us, and we're not wasting any time," Pete replied. "Come on, Walter."

"Where?" the Indian boy said. "We'll take care of you," Pete promised. "I've learned a lot from this boy," Nate said. "Among other things that Barnes is a slave trader—even though we've just fought a war to end slavery."

Pete knew there was no time to discuss this. There were two unconscious men nearby, and either might revive. They left the cabin and moved as swiftly as they could induce Barnes to travel down to where Pete had left his horses.

They heard three shots in rapid succession, and realized that already the alarm had been given. "We've only got two horses," Pete said. "We can't take Barnes. We'll have to tie him to a tree."

"Let me tell you something, Wilkinson, before you do that," Walter said. "The time will come when I'll have the upper hand again. I stole your kid once to get even with you. Now I got another score to settle. Right now, get your daughter in to Toby's hands, and this time he'll keep her."

"Take it easy, Nate," Pete soothed. "Betty's all right, Barnes is just trying to worry you."

Clarence Darrow possessed a biting wit. The great lawyer was reading the paper when he came across the will of the Wall Street financier, J. P. because I been with him ever since back in Illinois. I hated Nate Wilkinson, but I allus done everything I could to help Betty. I loved her like she was my daughter."

Pete found himself half believing that the old man meant what he said.

Pete waited till the meal was ready, then summoned the other two. They had two fresh horses caught and saddled, and brought them all up to the door.

Pete watched closely when the other two came in. Williams' eyes were cold when he looked at Nate, but he showed embarrassment when he looked at the Indian boy. Old Jess said, "I was sorry you got in a jam, Walter."

Walter said nothing. But he would not forget.

Nate said, "Now I remember you. You were one of the men we rounded up and warned you would get what Tobey did unless you got out of the country. You must have helped kidnap Betty."

"You remember right," Williams said bitterly. "I hated you, and I still do, but nobody kin say I wasn't kind to Betty. I practically raised her. I stood between her and Zed many a time."

"He's right, Nate," Pete said. "Betty herself told me Williams had always been good to her."

"For that," Nate said, "I'm willing to let bygones be bygones. You have nothing to fear from me, Williams."

"The old man was somewhat taken aback. He dished out their breakfast, but said nothing until they were through eating. Williams said suddenly, "If you find Betty gone when you get back, try to get in touch with me. I'll do anything I kin to get her away from that Injun."

"What do you mean?" Pete demanded. "The men who came after Walter said Zed sent Tobey to get Betty back. That savage is foky. He'll lie, and a fine one you are. You care of you when you are sick, and you contemptible old rascal, you would help sell her to that Indian Tobey. We left Barnes tied to a tree and that's what we ought to do with you."

Apparently old Jess thought Pete meant that Barnes had been hanged. He half whispered, "That ain't true. I'd have done anything on earth to help Betty. I'd have saved Walter too if I could."

"I don't believe you."

Labor Unions Chief Calls On Statesmen To End World Strife

STOCKHOLM, SWEDEN (AP)—Sir Vincent Tewson, president of the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions, called upon the statesmen of the world Saturday to meet to try to bring about international reconciliation.

The call was made at the opening of the Third World Congress of the 54 million-member labor organization.

Delegates attending the opening session included CIO President Walter P. Reuther, AFL President George Meany and James C. Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians.

Sir Vincent, in his presidential address, offered this advice to statesmen:

"We are, as trade unionists, not unaccustomed in our own field to deal with disputes by methods of negotiations... But in the industrial world such cases cannot be solved unless there is an opportunity of being able to talk—and talk face-to-face, not through newspapers, not through speeches in national assemblies, and not by sending Goliath challenges ringing across the valleys. It is done first of all by exploration of the possibility of getting together for the purpose of talking. That is a simple industrial rule which might well be followed by the statesmen of the world."

ON TOP OF THE WORLD—Some members of the Kips Bay Boys' Club in New York aren't old enough to attend the organization's summer camp, but they refuse to miss the chance to sleep out in the open. The club has set up a camp site on the roof of its headquarters and (left to right) Jeffrey Young, Richard Quinn, John Portelli, and Gary McNamara, have time of their lives testing out new sleeping bags.

Solons Plan Long-Term, Low Interest Loans To Stockmen

By The Associated Press

After a 24-hour tour of Texas worst drought areas, members of the House Agriculture Committee returned Saturday to Washington, where hearings are to begin Monday on legislation to ease credit restrictions to drought-stricken livestock growers.

The congressmen flew low across West Texas Friday from Amarillo to Del Rio and back to Wichita Falls.

Rep. W. S. Hill (R-Colo.), chairman of the Livestock subcommittee of the House Agriculture Committee, headed the tour.

Hill said the committee believes long-term loans with low interest rates are needed and desired by the livestock industry.

Rep. W. R. Poage of Waco, a committee member, suggested in Wichita Falls that the nation sell abroad a surplus of low grade beef. More than 250 ranchers from 12 counties in North Texas met with the congressmen in Wichita Falls. Others spoke to the legislators in Sonora, and San Angelo.

Reps. Clark Thompson of Galveston, a committee member, and Lloyd Bentsen, Jr., McAllen, accompanied the group to Del Rio and then went on to Laredo. Thompson said he would conduct a hearing in Sealy, Texas, Monday.

Angelo Guard Unit Awarded Citation

NORTH FORT HOOD (AP)—T. Patchers of the 36th Infantry Division paraded Saturday before the big brass and their families and friends.

It was Governor's Day at North Fort Hood. That, combined with the July Fourth holiday, brought a record turnout of Texans to the sun-baked parade ground.

The citizen soldiers saw individual unit awards made to their buddies for outstanding National Guard achievement, honored fallen comrades and then stepped off smartly to pass in review.

Returning their salutes from the reviewing stand were Gov. Allan Shivers, Maj. Gen. Carl L. Phinney, of Dallas, division commander, and other military, state and civic leaders.

Citations commending three units of the division for their work in disaster relief during recent floods and tornadoes were read at the ceremony. Commended were Company "L," 142nd Infantry, San Angelo, commanded by Lt. J. A. Marritt, for tornado relief; 111th Engineer Battalion, Fort Arthur, commanded by Lt. Col. Robert Darling, for flood relief; and 3rd Battalion 143rd Infantry, Waco, commanded by Lt. Col. Wiley Stem, for tornado relief.

First Cars Of Drouth Feed Arrive In Texas Rail Yards

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—The first carloads of livestock feed in the government's drouth-disaster relief plan for Texas arrived at train stations Saturday.

"We'll have lots of feed by the middle of next week," said B. F. Vance, College Station, head of the state Production and Marketing Administration and also head of the government's Drouth Disaster Relief Committee for Texas.

Local committees in each of the 152 counties in the drouth disaster area will have responsibility for distributing the feed.

The committees are composed of the county PMA chairman, the county Farm Home Administration, a banker and a farmer or rancher.

"The feed will go only to a bona fide rancher or farmer," Vance said. "He'll have to show he's in the ranching or farming business and needs the feed for maintenance of foundation herds."

The Commodity Credit Corporation is selling the feed from its surplus stocks at reduced prices. The loss to the CCC will be made up from the eight-million-dollar drouth emergency fund set up by President Eisenhower for the drouth areas of the Southwest.

Vance has called a meeting of the Texas Drouth Disaster Committee here at 2 p.m. Monday. He said they would "review the situation by counties and set up operating policies."

The committee was named by Secretary of Agriculture Benson Thursday. On it with Vance are G. G. Gibson, extension director of Texas A&M College, L. J. Cappelman, Dallas, state director of the Farmers Home Administration; William L. McGill, Austin, state head of civil defense and disaster relief; J. Autrey Walker, Del Rio banker, and Grover C. Carothers, Jr., Stamford rancher and farmer.

Grass To Cover Final Trace Of First Atomic Bomb Blast

TRINITY, N. M. (AP)—There is little left but a memory of this lonely spot in South-Central New Mexico where the first atom bomb pounded a huge pit in the earth.

On July 15, one day short of eight years after the first atomic explosion rent the desert stillness, only the outlines of the vast saucer-shaped crater and a lonesome shed will mark the place.

Little more than a week from now, an Albuquerque construction firm, Campbell and Kay, will finish burying most of the glass-like trinitite formed of the sand by the heat of the blast. It is being dumped in a number of pits nearby and covered with sandy soil.

All that will remain of the strange, glassy floor formed when molten sand cooled will be a few square feet protected from the weather by a shed.

The AEC said more than a year ago it believed dust from the disintegrating trinitite might be a health hazard because of its radioactivity.

Protest Dies Of Inertia

A contract to fill the 1,100-foot-wide crater, which measures just short of 10 feet deep at the center, was awarded. The government planned to have D. D. Skousen of Albuquerque scrape off the top half-inch—the glassy crust—scoop it into the center and cover it and the remainder of the bowl to correspond with the surrounding plain.

The Soil Conservation Service agreed to plant range grass over the site.

But public announcement of the bid aroused dormant interest. Gov. Mechem of New Mexico urged Gordon Dean, recently resigned AEC chairman, to reconsider because of the historical value of the site. Representative Fernandez (D-NM) introduced a bill in Congress asking that Trinity be made a national monument.

But in the furor of last fall's election and its political changes, a follow-up by the governor and New Mexico's Washington delegation was set aside.

Alabama City Tabs Fifth Death Of Polio As GG Program Ends

MONTGOMERY, ALA. (AP)—Another fatality was attributed to Montgomery's polio outbreak as doctors finished up the first mass gamma globulin inoculation campaign aimed at halting it.

This brought the total cases in the county this year to 86 as one new case was added and another previously reported as polio was dropped from the list.

Dr. Walter Levy, 31, New Orleans physician, died June 27 after a severe attack of polio, the county health department said. He had visited in Montgomery from June 15 and was stricken with polio upon his return to New Orleans.

Dr. A. H. Graham, county health officer, said there is little doubt Levy contracted the disease here and for that reason his case was added to the county total.

Counting Levy's death there have been four polio fatalities in Montgomery County this year.

The newest case is a five-year-old white boy who was inoculated with gamma globulin in June. The boy then went with his parents to visit in West Virginia. He was stricken with polio July 1.

A final check showed 32,995 youngsters under 10 years of age received gamma globulin shots during the polio-knockout campaign last week.

Pyote Women Die At Rail Crossing

COLORADO CITY — An auto-train collision near here Friday afternoon claimed the lives of two Pyote women, Mrs. Rosa O'Brien, 45, and her mother, Mrs. Mattie S. Wells, 74, as they were driving to visit Mrs. O'Brien's daughter, Mrs. Frank King of Colorado City.

The accident occurred at about 4 p.m. Friday when the west-bound Texas & Pacific train was approaching a crossing about one-half mile southeast of Colorado City. The car carrying the two women was going north on State Highway 208.

"I looked out of an office window when I heard the train whistle," said Laura Grantland, who worked at the Walker Implement Company, about 150 yards from the crossing, "and I saw the car heading for the crossing."

Sheriff Dick Gregory said the car did not stop and struck the engine about six or eight feet back.

W. C. Foster, T&P division superintendent from Big Spring, said, however, marks on the locomotive indicated the car hit about 10 feet back.

Marks indicated the driver put on the brakes about 75 feet from the crossing, but there was no sign of skidding. The tire markers went directly to the center of the crossing.

The impact of the collision carried the car about 150 feet, ripping out sections of pavement as it was pulled along. It was demolished. Mrs. O'Brien's body was found caught on a concrete post about 85 feet from the crossing, and that of her mother behind the car.

Mrs. Wells' body was forwarded Saturday to DeLeon for burial. Kiker and Son Funeral Home, Colorado City, reported services had been tentatively set for Sunday afternoon.

The body of Mrs. O'Brien was forwarded to the George H. Lewis and Son Funeral Home in Houston. Funeral services will be held in that city Tuesday afternoon.

French Planes Blast Rebel Supply Routes

HANOI, INDOCHINA (AP)—Sixty-five French fighters and bombers, making one of the biggest raids in the Indochinese War against a single objective, heavily attacked the Communist-led Vietnam Saturday in the city of Langson, 10 miles from the Chinese border.

Planes ranged over Langson, 80 miles northeast of Hanoi, more than an hour, dropping high explosive bombs on bridges, roads and Vietnam barracks.

This was the eighth consecutive day of aerial assaults on Langson, a city on Colonial Route No. 1 into China. It is the route over which the Vietnam has been getting a major part of 3,000 tons of war materials supplied each month by the Chinese to aid Ho Chi Minh's forces in the war against French Union troops.

Pilots reported scoring direct hits on targets at Langson and starting big fires.

Swiss Report Peak Impossible To Climb

NEW DELHI, INDIA (AP)—A two-member advance guard of the Swiss party which failed to conquer Dhaulagiri Peak in West-Central Nepal arrived here Saturday with the report they had failed because of "one of those just about impossible climbing situations."

One, Ruedi Schatz, 28, said the last 9,000 feet of the western approach to 26,540-foot Dhaulagiri "goes up at an angle of about 65 degrees."

"There is no place to pitch camp and you cannot go all the way from 18,000 feet to the summit in one day," Schatz said.

U. S. Guns, Planes Pound Red Forces In July 4 Barrage

SEOUL (AP)—U. S. warplanes, tanks and artillery celebrated American Independence Day with crashing day-long volleys at Communist positions and a 40-ton bomb drop across the battle front.

Otherwise, the Fourth of July was a quiet day on the lines. It ended a week of bitter ground fighting and the biggest aerial victory of the war.

At least 27 Red planes were destroyed in combat without loss of a single Allied plane during the seven days, the Air Force reported. Crews of almost all U. S. Eighth Army artillery pieces — from 105 howitzers up to the big eight-inch Long Toms — sent shells ripping into Red positions in thunderous recognition of the Fourth.

Fifth Air Force pilots dumped bombs along every sector of the front except in the Far East, where bad weather "soaked in" the front. Sabre jets streaked to the Yalu River border of Manchuria seeking holiday victories, but Communist MIG's stayed out of sight. Only one lone MIG was sighted.

The swift Sabres had piled up a wartime record of 15 MIG's destroyed in a single day only last Tuesday.

A Fifth Air Force weekly summary disclosed that Communist ground fire took a toll of five Allied planes during the week ended Saturday midnight. A sixth plane

Hungary Shelves Top Red In 'New Trend' Program

BUDAPEST, HUNGARY (AP)—Mátyás Rakosi, Hungary's No. 1 Communist, was shelved as premier in a revolutionary reorganization of the government Saturday and Parliament widely acclaimed his successor, Imre Nagy, who promised to liquidate a sweeping series of "mistakes."

Nagy, a veteran, 57-year-old Communist, criticized policies of the last government with unprecedented frankness and launched Hungary's own version of a "new trend," such as the East German regime has begun in the wake of worker disturbances.

He declared imprisoned people who do not endanger the state must be freed, farmers restored to their land, fines remitted for failing to fulfill crop quotas, industrialization slowed down, prices cut, wages raised and private enterprise encouraged.

He said the government, which has imprisoned Roman Catholic Prelate Josef Cardinal Mindszenty almost four years on charges of treason, must be patient in respect to religion.

Rakosi, premier since last August and as vice premier the real power in Hungary since 1945, applauded Nagy's policy declaration and smilingly took a seat on the rostrum behind the new premier.

Nagy, a Protestant whose son-in-law is a Calvinist pastor, had a minor role in the short-lived Communist regime of Bela Kun in 1919. When that regime was overthrown he went into exile and was a broadcaster in Moscow during World War II.

A former professor of economics and Communist newspaper editor, he returned to Hungary in 1944 and became, successively, agriculture minister, minister of interior, speaker of the rubber stamp Hungarian Parliament and one of the five

Diplomats Believe Rakosi Eliminated For Ties With Stalin

VIENNA, AUSTRIA (AP)—Western diplomats in Vienna said Saturday they believe Matyas Rakosi has been eliminated as Hungarian dictator-premier because he was a friend of Stalin's.

Sources well-informed on Hungarian affairs said they believe Saturday's shakeup in the Hungarian government has these aspects:

1. It is part of a fundamental policy change in the Soviet world of doing more for the restless "little man" enslaved by communism for years.

2. It is part of the new Kremlin policy of wiping out the ruthless dictator traditions of Stalin and replacing the one-man hero cult by government by committee.

3. It is most likely designed to avoid riots and disturbances like those in East Germany, Poland and Czechoslovakia by improving worker morale and particularly the morale of millions of dispossessed peasants and farmers.

French President To Retire In 1954

CHAMBERY, FRANCE (AP)—President Vincent Auriol said Saturday he definitely will not seek reelection next December.

Auriol was elected in December, 1945, and took office in January, 1946. His seven-year term expires in January, 1954.

Two Tough Problems Await Western Powers' Diplomats

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Foreign ministers of the United States, Britain and France will face two difficult problems when they open their meeting here Friday—what to do about Germany and Indochina in the months ahead.

Authoritative officials said Saturday these issues overshadow others in the wide range of questions up for discussion in the quickly arranged conference.

President Eisenhower has listed Korea, the North Atlantic Alliance, Malaysia and the Middle East among other subjects to be considered. But current fast-breaking developments in Germany and Indochina make it almost certain they will demand the most earnest attention of Secretary of State Dulles, Britain's Lord Salisbury, Foreign Minister Georges Bidault of France and their aides.

In cold war strategy the two key areas are tied in close together even though they are separated widely by geography.

These specific questions are demanding answers:

Soviets Are Shaken

1. With the Soviet bloc shaken by internal upheavals, should the West now revise its plans for enlisting West Germany as an ally for reunifying the divided country?

2. How can France be bailed out of the Indochina war so she can play a stronger role in the European defense buildup?

Diplomats are skeptical that the foreign ministers in three or four days will be able to come up with firm answers. Should major policy changes be agreed upon, presumably recommendations will be passed on to the prospective later Big Three conference of government chiefs at Bermuda. The meeting here will be in the nature of a certain raiser to the Bermuda talks.

The Washington conference was arranged on short notice at the suggestion of Britain when Lord Salisbury was named acting foreign minister. That was when a long rest was ordered for Prime Minister Winston Churchill and the Bermuda conference, scheduled to start next week, was postponed indefinitely.

The agenda for the Washington meeting has been left open, so that the foreign ministers can bring up any issues they desire. Their principal purpose, Eisenhower told newsmen this week, will be to develop a common purpose and common effort and to increase understanding generally.

No Place Like Home, Even For July Fourth Accidents

LAKEWOOD, CALIF. — (AP) — Eugene Peete, 44, a watchmaker, was heading over to inspect the lawn in front of his house Saturday when the serenity of his holiday came to an abrupt end.

An object fell out of the sky, knocked him to the ground and almost rendered him unconscious.

Peete told sheriff's deputies a plane was overhead and he heard a whirring noise just before he was struck. The object was an inch-wide brass pressure cap, apparently shaken loose from the plane.

A doctor treated him for a two-inch laceration on his neck, and Air Force officials started an investigation to determine if it was an Air Force plane.

"We stayed home today because we didn't want to take chances on getting hurt in holiday traffic," commented Peete ruefully.

Clues In California Kidnap Fail To Show Suspect Implicated

LONG BEACH, CALIF. — (AP) — Sheriff's officers said Saturday they have found insufficient evidence to implicate an unemployed former Tacoma, Wash., hospital orderly in the disappearance of eight-year-old Stella Darlene Nolan last June 20.

Taken into custody yesterday on a technical booking was William R. Nolan, 20, a cousin of Stella's foster father, Owen Nolan. William Nolan steadfastly denied any knowledge of the crime.

Although declaring that there is not enough evidence to implicate the man, Sheriff's Capt. Vic Englund said his alibi still is being checked.

Investigators here said they believe the child was kidnaped by someone she knew and trusted. Nolan said he knew her but hadn't seen her for many months.

Tests of possible bloodstains at his bungalow court were inconclusive, laboratory technicians reported.

Stella Darlene vanished from a shopping center at nearby Norwalk while her foster mother attended a refreshment stand there.

Eden May Return To Work In Fall

TROWBRIDGE, ENGLAND — (AP) — Alling British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden may be back at work early in the fall, his chief lieutenant said Saturday night.

"The news we have of Mr. Eden's recovery to health is extremely good," Minister of State Selwyn Lloyd told a meeting. "According to our advice there is no reason why he should not be back to full work with renewed health in the early part of the Autumn."

Spelunking Party Explores Unknown Schoolhouse Cave

PETERSBURG, W. Va. — (AP) — Eleven cave explorers, including three women, entered treacherous Schoolhouse Cave in the Eastern West Virginia mountains Saturday to explore the unknown reaches of the deep pit.

The party from New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania expected to remain inside possibly 30 hours. Each carried 25 pounds of equipment.

Jean Schlegel of Morrisville, Pa., only non-climbing member of the party, remained on guard at the jumping off place inside the cave mouth to keep in touch with them by portable telephone.

Schoolhouse Cave, about 25 miles south of here, is regarded by the spelunkers as one of the sternest challenges in the United States. No one ever has reached the bottom of Grind Canyon, its deepest known cavern, and lived to tell about it.

Mean temperatures in the southern part of Ontario, Canada, are about the same as those of San Francisco, says the Ontario government.

LIFE IT SAVES MAY BE YOURS—Speeders Spotted From Air To Insure Safety On Roads

By HUGH MULLIGAN

WITH THE STATE POLICE SKY PATROL OVER SOUTH LOUISIANA — (AP) — Time was when a driver could sight a motorcycle cop in a rear view mirror and adjust his speed and conscience accordingly.

Today he needs a periscope, radar and sound detection equipment, and a course in airplane spotting to elude the long arm of the law. Chances are, he still won't make it.

State troopers no longer lurk in sun-goggled anticipation behind trees and bill boards to trap passing motorists.

Nowadays, they fly in radio-equipped airplanes and wait behind cloud banks. It's all very neat and technical, and much of the old hell-for-rudder chase has gone out of the sport of enforcing highway laws.

Doesn't Have Chance

"The poor dope doesn't have a chance," observed state police pilot Richard H. Cotter as he noosed his single-winged Cessna along U. S. Highway 61 between Baton Rouge and New Orleans Saturday.

By way of demonstrating, Cotter banked smoothly to 500 feet and leveled off over the checkerboard of rice and cane fields that skirted the roadway.

"See that green station wagon moving out of the pack in the south lane?" he asked. "Must be doing 80 at least. Let's clock him and see."

BEE SALVAGE BOYS' BACON

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — The Philadelphia police radio blasted out these instructions to patrolmen Frank Barone and Rito Demale Saturday:

"Kids shooting firecrackers, Second and Oregon Streets."

The patrolmen headed their radio car toward the scene, but a few blocks before their destination called to the dispatcher:

"Put us out of service; bees in our car."

Barone and Demale got out when a swarm of bees flew in.

Mission Man Takes State Bar Leadership As Conclave Closes

FORT WORTH — (AP) — Vernon B. Hill of Mission took over Saturday as chairman of the board of the State Bar of Texas as the organization closed its fourteenth annual meeting here.

The Mission attorney succeeds Wilford W. Naman of Waco.

At the final day's activities the bar members heard a talk by U. S. Senator Price Daniel in which he lashed out at "big government."

The present Congress, he stated, is determined to whittle down the size of the government.

"We have a national debt of $272,000,000,000, larger than the combined national debts of all the other nations in the world," Daniel pointed out.

The senator declared that the recent action by Congress in restoring title to the Tideland of the states is indicative of the body's aims.

Waco Wins Flag In Soap Box Derby

WACO — (AP) — Billy Palmer, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Palmer of Waco won the annual Waco soap box derby Saturday.

He beat 118 other entries from 11 Central Texas counties in elimination races and will be eligible to compete in the All-American Soap Box Derby at Akron, Ohio, August 9.

Labor Dispute Shuts Down Goodyear Plant

HOUSTON — (AP) — A labor dispute shut down the Goodyear Synthetic Rubber Corporation plant Saturday and may disrupt operations of the nearby Sinclair Rubber Company facilities.

The Sinclair plant makes butadiene, a synthetic rubber ingredient, and most of its output goes to the Goodyear plant. Each plant has about 500 employees.

There are about 10,000,000 cattle and 19,000,000 sheep in Great Britain.

HOUSTON — (AP) — W. D. Miller, Harris County clerk, Saturday was elected president of the County and District Clerks Association of Texas.

Other officers elected at the concluding business session of the association's annual convention included Mrs. Lucille Johnson, Midland, fourth vice president, and Sadie Stephens, Orange—secretary-treasurer.

The 1954 convention will be held in Dallas.

Clark Says Ideals Of Freedom Justify U. S. Role In Korea

NEW YORK — (AP) — Gen. Mark Clark said Saturday the ideals drawn up in the Declaration of Independence "justify and ennoble our costly action in Korea, our protection of Japan, and our vast commitments elsewhere."

"By remaining true to them, we preserve ourselves from the evils of power and fulfill the crucial hopes which the world reposes in us," the United Nations Far East commander said in a message read at a Minute Men of America observance of the Fourth of July.

"In behalf of all Americans serving in the Far East, I urge that we retain throughout the year the awareness of those ideals which today's observance at the National Shrine of the Eternal Light heightens in us as individuals and as a nation."

The observance was conducted at the shrine, a memorial in Madison Square Park to American war dead.

Secret Committee Report Says Security Files Rifled To Save Subversives' Jobs

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A draft report that "laziness... favoritism... whim or caprice" led to rifling of secret State Department personnel files went to investigating senators Saturday for approval or revision.

"This could and did result in persons whose interests were contrary to the national security remaining undisturbed or being promoted or hired within the State Department," the document said. Some of them were homosexuals, it added.

There was no immediate comment from the seven members of the Senate Investigations subcommittee who received the draft from their staff. Chairman McCarthy (R-Wis.), declining to discuss it further, said the group would meet soon to consider whether to sign the draft. As the staff wrote it, the report termed the files "chaotic," particularly those on foreign service personnel. It alleged that derogatory information concerning persons of "unusual morals" and many others mysteriously disappeared from scattered, poorly guarded file rooms, or was sidetracked deliberately.

Attached to the report was a letter from Scott McLeod, new State Department security officer, praising the subcommittee for its "helpful" inquiry and reporting that "corrective steps are being taken."

McLeod said some of the missing file material has been located.

He had told the House Government Operations Committee last week that 74 persons have been fired this year as homosexuals and 33 for security reasons.

The Senate subcommittee's draft report suggests specific and elaborate precautions against tampering with the files.

It is based on a series of public hearings held last Winter at which State Department employees were questioned publicly. The draft report was marked "confidential" and for subcommittee members only, but copies of it reached reporters' hands from sources who declined to be named.

which also included eight other West Texans injured in other accidents Friday night and early Saturday.

Six persons were injured in one accident and two in another.

In the latter accident, H. M. Hollis of Colorado City suffered a broken rib when his automobile plunged across U. S. Highway 80 near the Midland Air Terminal and collided with a taxicab Friday afternoon.

Winifred Woodard, driver of the Midland cab, was given emergency treatment along with Hollis at Midland Memorial Hospital.

Colleton Huris Six

Shortly after midnight, two automobiles collided at South Garfield and West North Front Streets, injuring six persons.

Mrs. Annie Fay Stewart, 26, 1100 West Dakota Street, was admitted to Western Clinic-Hospital for treatment of a fractured pelvis. Her husband, William Travis Stovall, 38, and 16-year-old Carla Fay Stovall, of the same address, were dismissed after receiving emergency treatment.

Another passenger in the Stovall car, 10-month-old Alice Fay Shawn of El Reno, Okla., also received emergency treatment.

The other vehicle was driven by Donald L. Blackburn, 24, 401 South Marshall Street, who escaped injury, although two passengers, William J. Tunnell, 27, of Stanton, and Nolan McMinn, 18, 426 North Dorward Street, were given emergency treatment.

The Thomas family had lived in Midland the last two years and resided at 206 East Walcott Street.

The body will be forwarded by Nalle Funeral Home of Big Spring to Tracy, Tenn., for funeral services.

Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Mary Thomas; five children, Ronald, Bobby, Rosemary, Darlene and Fred, Jr.; the mother, Mrs. Malena Thomas of Tracy, four sisters, and two brothers.

Negro Suspect Sought In Ice Pick Stabbing

Marvin Woodbury, 40-year-old negro, 410 South Carver Street, was treated at Midland Memorial Hospital Saturday night for stab wounds received during an altercation in the 300 block of North Lee Street.

Veteran Patrolman Swings Into Action To Bag Four Aliens

Deputy Sheriff Emmett Hunter is supposed to be retired from the U. S. Border Patrol but it was hard Saturday for him to forget the job he'd been working at for 28 years.

So when a call came in that four aliens were loafing around down on Leonard Proctor's ranch 20 miles south of the city, he and Constable Jack Merritt swung into action.

They rounded up the four, who told of crossing the border illegally two or three months ago and walking cross-country since then.

They were being held for U. S. authorities.

SPORTS PARLEY

By CHARLEY ESKEW

You can call the first few paragraphs of this article "What Is Good Luck, What Is Bad?"

Or—"Just How Much Can a Good Glove Take?"

At any rate, it can now be recommended that Julio de la Torre play third base for Midland with detergent, scouring brush and saddle soap as well as a well-abused fielder's glove; for the latter item happens to be the shaken hero (along with its stand-in) of Friday's Indian-Odesa ball game. But, getting along with the story from the start:

Julio, the "Me-Happy" guy, always sets the stage when he tosses his mitt along the third base coaches' box when it's Midland's turn at bat. And, thereafter, Manager Jay Haney moves onto the scene to coach. It happens every night, it happened against Odessa here.

Who Says It's Superstition?

Not that he's superstitious—no sir. "I'm not, I just play hunches" but, no matter, Haney, the Indian thin man, bends over, picks up the glove, puts it on and glances over the fingers. Ah, no one looking!

"I did it last year," Haney said, when confronted. Who then will deny that this is not good, recalling the '52 season?

"I no care," answered the undaunted Julio, who wears the thing. Evidently, what is good luck for the team is good for Julio.

Sometimes, though, he forgets to leave the glove, and that happened, naturally, when he carried it to the bench during each of the extra innings in Friday night's game.

A crisis arose, almost a tragedy.

Of Pepper, Sand And Sugary Win

Haney had to rally to meet the occasion, so noticing a glove near at hand, "I picked it up." For that little sin—borrowing an Odessan's glove without asking—Haney paid: an Indian grounded into a double play to squelch a threat and the Odessans came back to score three runs in their twelfth inning.

tin was reported to boot sand in Julio's glove to contact Haney, the visitors pulled another "meanie" on Midland.

The Odessans, to play a villain's role, stole their glove back. Thereafter Roger Dalla Betta doubled to clean the loaded bases and tie the score. And Haney, deciding to be gloveless, saw virtue reign supreme when Glenn Selbo singled home the winning run in the thirteenth inning of a story-book baseball game.

Soto Reaches A Decision

When Glen Burns of San Angelo slapped a grand slam homer against Big Spring Friday night, he joined Joe Fortin of Artesia as the Longhorn League leaders in that department. It was Burns' second of the season. No Midland player so far owns a grand slammer, other than Bill Brown's four-run tour-master for Big Spring in a game with Roswell June 12.

(keyed to Shortstop Al Costa and Second Baseman Ossie Alvarez) in completing double plays, 65-59.

Rookie Romarico Soto, who came to Midland from Cuba before he learned a bit of English sings with this ditty after a few lessons: "Bullpen. No win! . . ."

Following three straight days of such duty, Soto finally relieved Thursday night and captured a decision, over Odessa, in the seventh inning. It was his first time to either win or lose since May 17.

Vossler, January In Abilene Finals

ABILENE —(P)—Fort, Worth's Ernie Vossler continued his one-man assault on par and the Abilene Country Club Course Saturday afternoon, firing an eight-under-par to oust young Eugene Johnson, 6-5, for the right to meet Don January of North Texas State and Dallas in the feature match of the 1953 Abilene Invitation Tournament, January, having trouble with his woods throughout the afternoon, closed out former ACC links ace Bob Craig of Colorado City, 5-3, in the semi-finals.

The two finalists hit the tees at 9 a.m. Sunday in the opening of their 36-hole match.

Defending Champion Lee Pinkston of Abilene was a quarter-finalist victim of Craig during the morning round, bowing, 3-2, while Vossler had to fire a six-under round to edge past stubborn Dody Cole of Frederick, Okla., 2-1. Johnson decided Bob Springer in a headliner, 1-up, while January was three under in ousting two-time tournament winner Russell Crownover, 6-5.

Indians Split Twin Bill With Big Spring

Four-Hitter Halts Tribe In Nightcap

BIG SPRING —(P)—Lefty Ralph Atkinson hurled the Big Spring Broncos to a 6-1 victory over the Midland Indians here Saturday night after the invading Warriors had grabbed a 12-3 verdict in the afternoon.

Atkinson set the Tribe down with four hits, two of which came in the ninth inning. One rap by Julio de la Torre, in the ninth helped the Indian third baseman extend his hitting string to 23 straight games.

Jess Jacinto and George Murphy paced the nine-hit Big Spring attack off Freddy Rodriguez and George Cockrell. Jacinto collected a triple and two singles while Murphy collected a brace of doubles.

Atkinson and Rodriguez were hooked up in a fine mound duel until the sixth, when Jacinto greeted the Midland veteran with his triple. Nick Samela was hit by a pitched ball and Murphy drove in the 'go-ahead' run. A double by Joe Niesdon accounted for another in that round.

The Cayuses added two more on a walk, an error, a sacrifice and a hit by Joe Riney in the seventh.

In the first game, Roger Dalla Betta, Art Bowland and Bill Brown collected home runs for the Indians. The visitors struck for three runs in the initial frame on three hits a walk and a costly error by Armando Gallart.

Dalla Betta drove out his round-tripper as the leadoff man in the second. Bowland hit a solo four-master in the fourth while Brown got his with De la Torre in the eighth.

Tommy Herrer tried to stay the Midland power but gave up the job in favor of Milton Ralst in the fourth. Brown collected three hits to pace the 15-hit Midland offensive. Samela hit two doubles and a single for the Broncos. He drove in both Bronco tallies.

The two clubs close out the series at 3 p.m. Sunday with Midland scheduled to throw Jack Schaenig (0-1) against the Bronco's Glenn Groom.

Colts Stripped Of Ball Park; Cancel Contest

Midland's Colts were forced to cancel a scheduled Sunday game with the Big Spring Indians Saturday when it was learned that the city had awarded a contract for a swimming pool to be built at the site of Colt Park.

The Colts were notified by the city that they could not play their Sunday game because construction was due to begin immediately.

This was the second blow that the Colts had received within two weeks. The first was much more pleasant, for their star shortstop, Lee Velarde, was signed to a Midland Indian contract. Nevertheless, his departure left a gaping hole in the Colt infield.

Black Indians End Rest, Try Abilene

Midland's Black Indians, faced with much catching up to do, entertained the Abilene Black Eagles at 3 p.m. Sunday in Indian Park after bowing twice to the visitors earlier in the season.

Oscar Lewis or John Hall will hurt for Midland in the Indians' first game since June 19.

Previously, Abilene whipped Midland twice, one a 12-inning, 4-3 affair in which an error broke up a tight pitching duel between relievers T. Wiley and Leon Hayes, the loser.

Allred Paces Braves To Win Over Indians

The Braves routed the Indians, 11-4, Friday in a Central Little League contest with Jimmy Allred's homer in the fifth the big blow.

Allred also had two other hits in four times up. Charles Giesey of the Indians smashed a home run in the first and had two for three.

PRENTISS RALNEY ... Gets First Victory.

Dalla Betta Tribe Hero In 8-7 Win

Glenn Selbo's single in the bottom of the thirteenth inning put a fitting finish on an 8-7 Midland victory over Odessa Friday night before 1,248 fans, most of whom stayed past midnight to see the end.

Selbo's blow actually was anticlimactic, however, for it was Roger Dalla Betta who proved his mettle under fire in the inning before with a rocketing double to left center that all could see would tie the game at 7-7 after Odessa had scored three in its half.

Until the twelfth, Midland had been at the mercy of Orlando Zraggen, who yielded but five hits over that stretch, while Odessa was being held in check by Ralph Blair who despite four gopher pitches that resulted in four Oiler homers—all with none on by Bob and Floyd Martin, Lefty Loyko and Leo Eastham.

The Indians tallied two unearned markers in the first and two more in the eighth—all the result of Zraggen's wildness. He walked 11 over 11 2/3 innings.

He opened the twelfth with a three-run lead but walked Art Bowland, got Selbo and Bill Brown, but walked Lou Dawson. Was Ortiz relieved him at this point and walked Mickey Diaz to set the stage for Dalla Betta's climactic rap.

Just four innings before, Odessa had gone ahead, 4-2, on Eastham's and Bob Martin's homers, but an error, a walk and Brown's clutch triple had knotted the count in Midland's half.

Blair went all the way to record his eighth victory. He walked four, hit two, and struck out eight. Jim Carson, who relieved Ortiz after Dalla Betta's hit, was the loser.

San Angelo Bops Oilers By 5 To 0

SAN ANGELO —(P)—The San Angelo Colts and fireworks exploded Saturday night as the Longhorn League leaders jumped on Jake Christie, a new Oiler pitching acquisition, for 11 hits and a 5-0 victory over the Odessans.

working himself out of several jams and recording his ninth win against four defeats. Glenn Burns, leading home run hitter in the Longhorn League, gave Gregg enough margin to work on in the first inning when he hit a three-run homer, his twenty-sixth of the season.

Drillers Rap Rockets, 6-2

ARTESIA —(P)—An estimated 1,700 people were on hand to view a brilliant display of aerial fireworks and to see the Artesia Drillers spoil Roswell's return to action, 6-2, Saturday night.

Christie walked the first two hitters to face him in the first inning and then watched Burns hit his homer over the left center field fence.

Little Fidel Alvarez had the pitch he needed on his fingertips as he hurled the Drillers into unduped possession of second place in the Longhorn League.

Odessa threatened in every inning but the first when Gregg set them down in order.

Alvarez allowed the Rockets only three hits and fanned eight. He did not walk a man. The complete master of the situation in the late innings, the little right-hander retired the last 21 men in order.

Brooks Fight Hard To Earn Twin Bill Split With Pirates

BROOKLYN—(AP)—The league-leading Brooklyn Dodgers edged the Pittsburgh Pirates, 6-5, in the first game of a double-header Saturday, but the cellar-dwelling Bucs came back to take the nightcap, 5-2, behind Bob Friend.

The Brooks just did manage to win the first game, and it took relief pitcher Ben Wade to stop a Pirate uprising in the ninth inning. He ended it when with Pirates on first and second and none out, he forced Frank Thomas to hit into a double play on an attempted sacrifice bunt. Preston Ward then struck out.

Russ Meyer started for the Dodgers, but was knocked out of the box in the third inning when the Pirates scored four runs to rush into a 4-2 lead, after Roy Campanella had hit a home run with one on to put Chuck Dressen's operatives ahead.

The Dodgers came right back

Yanks Win Twice From A's, Gain Full Game On Tribe

NEW YORK—(AP)—Jim McDonald shut out the Philadelphia A's with five hits Saturday, 4-0, to give the New York Yankees a double-header sweep over the Athletics. The Yanks won the opener, 6-3, on a three-run rally in the eighth inning.

Don Bollweg was the big gun for the Yanks in the second game with a sixth inning single that broke a scoreless tie and a triple in the eighth. Gene Woodling knocked in three runs in the first game victory.

As a result of the sweep, the Yanks gained a full game on Cleveland which split a double-header with Detroit to drop seven games behind New York.

McDonald checked the A's with a fine pitching job after Eddie Lopat and Tom Gorman teamed up on Philadelphia in the opener, won by Gorman.

Smith Paces MCC Tourney Prize Winners With Par-72

J. T. Smith, runner-up during the recent Midland Country Club members championship, annexed a first prize by equaling the north course's par-72 Saturday in the MCC's July Fourth handicap tournament.

Smith toured the par-36 outgoing nine in two-under figures before losing his advantage over regulation on the incoming nine. The 34-38-72, earned him the low gross award among the Class A golfers (those with eight-strokes-or-under handicaps).

The club officials directing the tourney pulled their ace trick on Ed Anderson, all in fun, and copped a prize for it all. Anderson won the surprise award for a blind hole for the on No. 1. His tee shot traveled 79 yards.

In contrast, Buddy Brannum smacked one 320 yards to take the for the first five innings of the second game until McDonald opened the sixth with a single. He was bunted to second by Gil McDougald. After Byrd walked Irv Noren and hit Hank Bauer with a pitched ball, Bollweg smashed a two-run single.

After Marion Fricano took over the Philadelphia pitching chores in the eighth, the Yanks added two more. McDougald tripled off the tip of Gus Zernial's glove, scoring on Noren's fly. Fricano hit Bauer with a pitched ball and Bollweg scored him with a triple to left center.

Haney Sticks In First Division As Pilot As Well As Player

Midland, in fourth place, looks "set" as a first division club and probably will climb.

James L. (Jay) Haney, the Midland manager, thinks so and he should know. He's been enough with top-four clubs.

Only as a rookie at Lamesa in 1939 did Haney play or manage on a team that ended up an also-ran.

Therefore, when Haney sat down to summarize how the Indians might fare through the rest of the 1953 season, he had a background of winning experience from 10 Shaugnessy contenders.

The best way to judge the '53 chances probably is by putting this bunch up against the 1952 championship squad of Indians. "They compare," pronounced Haney, speaking of the talent.

He said this year's club has the same old desire to win although last year the team showed it more by outward energy.

Haney said that, overall, he's in almost the same position as when he took over here on July 27, 1952 and started a 36-10 win-loss drive into the playoffs.

"The pitching hadn't come through then, either," Haney said. But the lineup had become stable, just as this one, which Haney has called his sink-or-swim lineup.

Does it mean, then, that the Indians are ready to move, a la '52.

"The next 10 days or two weeks will tell," he answers. "I want to look over my pitchers—the newcomers—one more time around. Then I'll be able to tell."

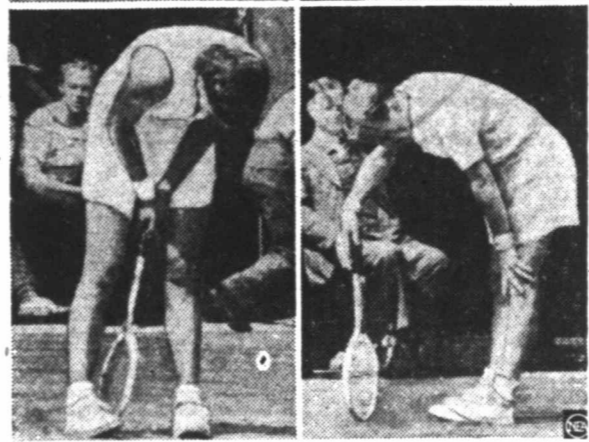

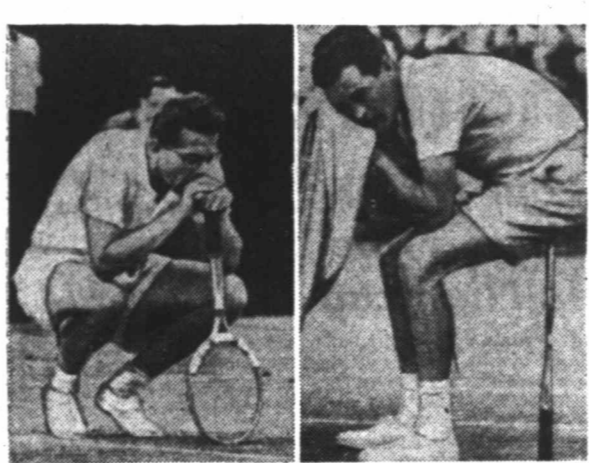

Haney predicts that the Indians are well set in fourth place at any rate. "That's the thing, strike for the first division," he says.

A fourth-or-above finish this year would put him in the playoffs for the eleventh time. It takes luck. One time, in 1947, when he was playing in the Texas League, Haney was sold by first-place Shreveport to Tulsa, the cellarite when he made the mid-season move. "We beat Shreveport out to finish in fourth place and get in the playoffs," he said.

Haney, now 33, thinks he has concluded his playing career after 14 years with the pros. He joined Lamesa back in 1939, following two years as an all-Dallas schoolboy with Forest Avenue High.

He stayed in the West Texas League until a short 1942 stay with Olean, N. Y. of the Brooklyn chain where he played with latter-day major leaguers, Ed Stevens and Willard Ramsdell.

Following three years in the Navy, Haney played as outfielder in Tex-

Beckman Nipped In Playoffs For Artesia's Top Pro Prize

ARTESIA, N. M.—The third time charm failed for Abe Beckman during his final efforts Friday in the Artesia Country Club Pro-Amateur Invitational golf tournament.

So Abe, the golf pro at Midland's Ranchland Hill led the first two days of the 54-hole medal play, carried away second place money, instead of first. After twice touring the five-par No. 1 with birdies as he fired a Friday round of 68 on the nine-hole layout, Beckman was forced into a play-off with J. D. Taylor of Clovis.

The New Mexican himself birdied No. 1 in the sudden-death play-off with a 20-foot putt and Beckman missed his bid. Taylor thus pocket-

ABE BECKMAN ... Overtaken

Taylor climbed from second place into the tie with a last day 65. Besides second money, Beckman carried away title to the Artesia course record, a five-under 30 for nine holes and a 62 for 18 when he took a first day lead Wednesday. He added 70 and 68 scores to close out the 54 holes in 200 strokes.

Taylor fired three rounds of 67-68-65-200 and Turner 68-67-66-201.

I. B. Palmer Yields To Martin As Pilot Of Abilene Blue Sox

ABILENE—(AP)—Herschel Martin, former manager of the Albuquerque Dukes in the West Texas-New Mexico League, has been named manager of the Abilene Blue Sox.

Martin replaces I. B. Palmer who has been at the Abilene club's helm all season. Martin was connected with the Pocatello, Idaho, team this year. He left Albuquerque following the 1951 season, but had guided them to successive W-T-NM championships in 1949 and 1950.

Palmer will remain with the club as either a catcher or an outfielder.

Tennis, Anyone?—Championship Tennis Brings Breathless-ness and Exhaustion to the Best-Conditioned Players

Jaroslav Drobný bent his knees and rested his face on his hands in a thoughtful position after 93 games with Budge Patty, which required close to five hours at Wimbledon. Patty sat on his racket, wiping his face. The bend-over stance for quick recovery from fatigue was used by Shirley Frey and Sweden's Stefan Stockenberg. (NEA)

Mo Connolly Repeats At Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, ENGLAND—(AP)—Maureen Connolly, California's saucy little queen of tennis, won a battle of baseline sharpshooting Saturday from her traditional foe Doris Hart, to take her second straight Wimbledon singles championship.

Maureen did the job in straight sets, 8-6, 7-5, but the championship didn't come easy. Her Coral Gables, Fla., opponent, senior in experience by about 10 seasons, scrapped for every point and placement and got in some beauties of her own.

The victory—on the Fourth of July with 16,000 "red coats" Britons looking on—was the tenth straight won by an American girl. The last native to take this championship, which practically every player calls "the world's championship," was Dorothy Round in 1937.

The Independence Day motif got started Friday when Philadelphia's Vic Seixas whipped Denmark's Kurt Nielsen in straight sets for the men's championship.

Except for the men's doubles title which went to the 18-year-old Australians, Lewis Hoad and Ken Rosewall, Americans swept everything in sight.

Miss Hart, the world's foremost feminine doubles player, shared in both the women's and mixed doubles championships.

In the distaff doubles she gained a measure of revenge when she and long-time companion, Shirley Fry of Akron, Ohio, trounced Miss Connolly and Julie Sampson of Pasadena, Calif., 6-0, 6-0.

Then the willowy Floridian teamed with Seixas to beat Miss Fry and Argentina's Enrique Moresa in the mixed doubles, 9-7, 7-5.

Octavio Rubert Pared From Houston Roster

HOUSTON—(AP)—Octavio Rubert, slim Cuban right-handed pitcher, was removed from the Texas League Houston Buff roster Saturday pending disposition, by the St. Louis Cardinals.

Rubert's departure makes room for Catcher Dick Rand who has been sidelined the last three weeks with a broken finger on his throwing arm.

Old Man Bauman Rises Again

Everybody shook his head about Joe Bauman at the outset of this season and pronounced, "Old Joe, he's had it!"

The giantise killer of opposing pitchers—a 1952 home run leader of all professional baseball—just didn't begin the '53 grind on the right foot and he stayed in the batting .300's for six weeks. He wasn't supposed to rally either, not since he's aging and the Summer sun is beginning to bear down as it did when he lost his prodigious average of early '52. He's had his troubles.

And inherited more: Artesia conscripted him to manage the Drillers, bringing on extra worries which definitely do not help a man's success at the plate.

It must follow then that pitchers—as well as manager—felt sorry for "old Joe." As an apparent result, there are none of the shenanigans being repeated this season as those which threatened to make a farce of some 1952 games, no right-handers peeling gloves to throw southpaw, no lefty first basemen switching to hurl each time he is up or any high, hard tosses sipping at his head.

That being true—there are some short memories among Longhorn Leaguers.

So Joe, taking advantage, has raced back up the batting ladder like a 16-year-old sloper who left the license.

Behemoth Bauman, batting .392 through the June 7 statistics, added 78 points to his average in four weeks and his climb left only six batters sitting unsafely, leader Art

JOE BAUMAN
... Life yet.

Bowland included, above him. Where he had but 33 hits, Joe collected that many and 13 more to last month reach 78 for his current 770 mark.

The big one's comeback paid off with one individual leadership. He compiled 66 runs after being given 70 walks to go with his hits.

The other leaders are Bowland of Midland, a 47-point margin leader, on a .447 batting average; Billy Haley, Artesia, 92 hits; Glen Burns of San Angelo, 167 total bases and 22 homers; Les Mulcahy, Artesia, 27 doubles and 77 RBIs; John Jeandron, San Angelo, nine triples, and Leo Eastham, Odessa, 23 stolen bases. (Also Pepper Martin, Odessa, was hit by pitchers nine times, if you care.)

Among pitchers, Artesia's Len Ruyke won 13, the most, Carlisbad's Marshall Epperson fanned 114 and Odessa' (Dario Jimines posted a best 1.47 earned run average.

Bell Batsman Lead Hitters

Tide Water and Western Inspection, certain champions of the American and National city softball leagues even before the season ends, point to their individual batters to prove why they're winners.

Tide Water, for instance, claims six batters above .400 and one, Joe Ragdale, outdistances all but Richard Grimsley in the city-wide batting race.

Grimsley, of Southwestern Bell, owns a .587 average on 27 hits while Ragdale claims a .560 mark on 28 raps.

Bill LaRoche of Tide Water, in third place, has a .526 average with teammates Lynn McCage, .448; Gardner Pittman, .471; Ross Smith, .417, and Ken Moriarty, .412.

Only Western Inspection of the more conservative National League, can boast of three batters over .400. They are Billy Wells, .426; James Griffin, .421, and Hugh Reynolds, .400. They trail, however, in the National race.

The city races end Wednesday night with nine makeup games to fill the season during the week afterwards.

New Twin-Jet Plane To Use Turboprop Engine For Tests

WASHINGTON —(P)— The Air Force Saturday announced a new twin-jet airplane, the McDonnell XF-88B, with a third engine for testing propellers at extremely high speeds.

The plane—a modification of the McDonnell XF-88A Voodoo twin jet fighter bomber—has flown successfully, the Air Force said, and will be flight-tested for a month at Lambert-St. Louis Municipal Airport.

Then it will be flown to Langley Field, Va., for a research program on supersonic propellers.

The XF-88B has two J-34 Westinghouse jet engines for its regular power plant. These engines can develop up to 4,000 pounds of thrust each.

Propeller Research
In addition, it has an XF-38 Allison turboprop engine which powers a single propeller. A turboprop engine is one using thrust power to drive a propeller.

The Air Research and Development Command calls the XF-88B a "flight tested for propeller research."

"The XF-88B is expected to provide many of the answers to questions which have confronted both civil and military aviation planners in recent years," the Air Force said, adding:

"Turboprop transport might well be the answer to the present controversy of jets against propellers for airline and many types of tactical military aircraft."

Combine Speed, Range
Advocates of turboprop engines argue that they combine most of the fuel economy and long range of piston engines with much of the speed of jet engines.

The propeller research project is being conducted jointly by the Air Force, the Navy and the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics.

The XF-88B takes off with the propeller "feathered"—locked in a fixed position until it has reached an altitude of 20,000 feet.

At that altitude the turboprop engine is started up. Gear boxes provide three propeller speeds, and these speeds will be tested successively with propeller blades of about 10 feet, seven feet and four feet in diameter in various combinations of two, three and four blades.

Cops Are Just Fuddy-Duddy

NEW YORK —(P)— Two hundred fireworks-hungry kids kept police from arresting two fireworks sellers Saturday, and then stoned the police car as the cops were trying to confiscate the fireworks.

The would-be buyers, surrounding the two policemen while the sellers got away from their vacant lot "store," caused such a disturbance that the policemen had to radio for help.

Two more radio cars responded and helped remove an estimated $7,000 worth of illegal pinwheels, rockets and other fireworks.

The raid in Brooklyn was the sixth in the city in two days, with a total of $22,000 worth of fireworks confiscated.

Mitchell Says Korean War Started Communism's Fall

ODESSA —(P)— National Democratic Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell ended his fence-building tour of Texas Saturday with a speech at an Independence Day celebration here.

"This is to be a non-partisan talk in the spirit of the day," he told several hundred listeners, "but since for the last six days I have traveled 3,000 miles in Texas, thinking 13 times at party meetings, I may slip over some political thinking."

Mitchell said that each generation of Americans, since Revolutionary War days, has had its own problems and its own heroes who rose to meet the crisis. He said Roosevelt was the hero of this generation.

The national party chairman declared that the aid of the United States in loans to various lands was paying off in keeping freedom alive among the peoples of the world. He said that the war in Korea had started the downfall of communism and the revolts in Germany and Poland proved "that tyrants can never sleep."

On domestic issues, Mitchell attacked what he termed "unthinking attacks on public servants, when denunciation replaces evidence."

Mitchell came here after spending Friday night in Uvalde, where he visited former Vice President John Nance Garner.

Woman Trapped On Trestle, Mate Die Under Train

BEVERLY, MO. —(P)— A woman trapped on a trestle and her husband who was frantically trying to free her were ground to death by a Burlington passenger train near here Saturday.

The man's elderly mother watched horrified as her son and daughter-in-law died.

Mr. and Mrs. John Calorino and Mrs. Catherine Calorino, his mother, all of Kansas City, were starting a holiday fishing excursion on Bee Creek when Mrs. John Calorino, 46, decided to cross the creek on the Burlington Railroad trestle. Midway she heard a train coming, started to run and wedged her foot between the ties.

Her husband, 47, climbed to the trestle to aid her and was struggling to pull her foot loose when the train struck them. Coroner Roland Giffey said they were killed instantly.

Syrian Strong Man Seeks Presidency

DAMASCUS, SYRIA —(P)— Syria's strong man, Gen. Adib Shihab, entered his name Saturday as candidate for the nation's first president.

So far he faces no opposition in the elections scheduled for July 10.

There is no mention of chickens in the Old Testament.

Powder Puff Planes Quit Race To Roost

PEORIA, ILL. —(P)— Sixteen women pilots in the seventh annual Powder Puff Derby stayed overnight in Peoria because bad weather is reported around Kansas City, next stop in the cross-country race.

Manager Dewitt Collins of the Greater Peoria Airport said nine of the 49 planes that began the 2,678-mile race at Lawrence, Mass., Saturday morning have flown past Peoria. Two others landed earlier in the day and later took off again for their Long Beach, Calif., destination.

Mrs. Grace Harris of Kansas City was the first to reach Detroit and Kansas City and was reported flying toward Wichita, Kan. Yet it was impossible to tell immediately who was ahead in the race, which is judged by flying time rather than arrival times.

Nose Is Broken
The small planes are leap-frogging across the nation via airports at Detroit, South Bend, Ind., Peoria, Kansas City, Wichita, Amarillo, Albuquerque, and Winslow and Prescott, Ariz.

A crash landing in a field near Palmyra, N. Y., knocked Lindy Boyes of Piedmont, Calif., out of the race. She suffered a broken nose in the accident.

Jane D. White of Glenview, Ill., had flown as far west as Burlington, Iowa, when she recalled she had failed to get timed out at South Bend. She flew back to South Bend and punched the time-clock.

Hundreds Jailed As Rioters Protest Trolley Fare Boost

CALCUTTA, INDIA —(P)— Strike rioters protesting a street-car fare hike hurled bombs, rocks and sticks Saturday and wounded six policemen, a police chauffeur and a fire brigade officer.

Trade was at a standstill and this city of more than two million was virtually paralyzed.

Three hundred and one persons were arrested in the fourth day of violence. Friday, there were almost 800 arrests, including a Communist member of the federal Parliament.

The biggest violence Saturday was at Dum Dum Railroad Station near the International Airport. A crowd of 5,000 there disrupted private automobile and suburban rail services.

Police attempting to disperse the mob were stoned. They then used tear gas and again were stoned. The crowd broke up after three rounds were fired by rifle squads, but returned and nine more rounds followed, all overhead. The rioters set fires to rail equipment and left finally only when police charged with clubs. Eighty-three were arrested at Dum Dum.

The fare increase of about a quarter of a cent was blamed for all the spreading violence, but authorities believe it is being fomented by Communist leaders.

A flashlight-size dry cell is being perfected that uses the oxygen of the air as one of its active ingredients. When exhausted, it can be refueled like a cigarette lighter.

Eisenhower Snags Four Trout, Plays Golf With Cronies

THURMONT, MD. —(P)— President Eisenhower spent the Fourth of July holiday fishing, golfing and playing bridge with old friends.

Eisenhower, vacationing over the weekend at Camp David in the Catoctin Mountains, fished for trout near his cabin headquarters Saturday morning and caught four.

He was accompanied by Clifford Roberts, retired New York investment banker; William E. Robinson, executive vice president, New York Herald Tribune; and E. O. Slater, New York businessman. Their luck with fly-casting rods reportedly was not quite as good as the President's.

After lunch, Eisenhower, Slater and George E. Allen played 18 holes of golf at the Monterey Country Club at nearby Blue Ridge Summit, Pa.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower plan to return to the White House Sunday evening.

Salty Parker Quits

Scots Take Ben Hogan To Hearts

By TOM OCHILTREE
CARNOUSTIE, SCOTLAND —
(P)—Dour Scots took Ben Hogan to their hearts and quietly wished him well in the British Open golf championship beginning here Monday.

For tight-lipped, determined Ben is their idea of a golfer—a stern old game.

They call him the "Webb Ice Man" and have begun openly to compare him with an old hero of theirs — Atlanta's great, Bobby Jones.

But in their usual canny way, most Scots intend to withhold judgment on which of the two Americans is the greatest until they see how Hogan handles the treacherous, 7,200 yard, par 72, Carnoustie links pronounced Carnoustie.

Everyone is deeply conscious of what the 40-year-old Hogan has on the line this time. The Fort Worth professional—current U. S. Open and Masters champion—needs only to take the British Open to complete the greatest year any golfer ever recorded since World War II, but not this time.

British and American radio commentators set up broadcasting equipment at the scene. Golf writers have flocked to the sea-side course from all parts of Britain and Western Europe.

Every hotel for a radius of 20 miles is booked solid for the coming week.

In the town itself schoolkids stop every sun-tanned man they see and ask for his autograph on the chance he might be a famous golfer.

Hogan's autograph is the hardest of all to get. He has been too busy concentrating on practice rounds.

In some ways Hogan faces a more rugged task at Carnoustie than Jones did in his grand slam year. This is Hogan's first British Open, and his first look at one of the "stone age" Scottish courses that date back to the birth of the game.

Jones won the British Open in 1926 and 1927, as well as in 1930, but it took him a little time to accustom himself to playing conditions in this island kingdom. For instance, in the 1921 British Open, Jones ran into so much trouble he dropped out in the third round.

Hogan in his practice round has not had a chance yet to see how this course plays when the wind is really blowing. He has hit his tee shots low, however, to prepare himself for that eventuality.

308 PEOPLE

With A SINGLE THOUGHT!

An average of 308 people placed classified advertisements in The Reporter-Telegram EACH DAY during the past year. Their reasons for placing the ads, of course, were many and varied. Some were looking for lost articles . . . some wanted jobs . . . others were searching for employees, announcing houses, apartments and rooms for rent, selling bicycles, furniture and many other items no longer needed, placing automobiles, homes and ranches on the market, offering all kinds of special services, etc. But regardless of the reasons for placing the individual ads, these 308 people anticipated one thing . . .

QUICK RESULTS AT LOW COST!

Of course, it isn't the same 308 people who advertise daily in the classified section of The Reporter-Telegram. But a surprisingly large number use these columns regularly, because they have learned through experience that there is no other means available through which they may send a personal message to 14,500 homes in the Midland area at as small a cost as 60c.

Is Designed To Fit Your Needs!

The classified section of The Reporter-Telegram is the meeting place of those looking for jobs and those who have jobs to fill . . . this is where the property-owner finds a tenant, where prospective home and ranch owners find what they desire, where you may find all kinds of goods and special services. READ and USE the classified section PROFITABLY, as do so many of your friends and neighbors!

REPORTING THE TOP NEWS IN REAL ESTATE

LOVE IS THE GREATER PART of val-or, as home-ownership is the greater part of security. Start your security program by owning 3303 Cunningham Drive. Only 6 months old, it has 2 bedrooms, nice living room, and convenient kitchen. ONLY $500 down (no closing costs), and make payments of $53 monthly. Priced at a low $6,950.

HOW MUCH MORE WONDERFUL when winter comes? In the Midland will have TV, and in this home, you'll have a wood burning fireplace in the living room. Located in Grafaland, this recently constructed brick home has 2 bedrooms and a large paneled den. 2 tile baths, separate dining room, and attached garage. The stupendously attractive kitchen has an offsetting breakfast room (pine paneled), pantry, and washer connections. Huge closet space, lots of carpeting, and well designed tile fence, and nicely landscaped. Priced at $21,900.

MY RECIPE FOR HAPPINESS: First you take a little dream, then you add some plans, materials, and a paved street. You let them simmer while you choose your colors. Then PRESTO! A BIG home... with 3 bedrooms, tile bath, huge living room and dining area, wonderful kitchen, generous closets, and an attached carport with a separate utility room. We put in insulation so we take the padding out of the price which is only $10,750. ONLY $1656 down including closing costs. And imagine, your little dream has grown to almost 1100 sq. ft.!

MOTHER WILL CAST BLESSINGS to the architect of this brick home which spreads 80 feet across the front. Less than a year old, it has 3 bedrooms, 2-bath, private den, 1 1/2 baths, and a 2-car attached garage. Pulling living room, separate dining room, and wainscoted kitchen. Central heating and air conditioning. Beautiful lighting (with central controls), and the luxury of quiet carpeting thru-out. Nicely landscaped. This is a wonderful philanthropic water well. Designed so that you don't have to go thru the living room when entering. $26,500.

FATHER WILL KICK HIMSELF because he did not call sooner to see this larger-than-most homes. 3 nice-sized bedrooms, a spacious living room with dining area, large kitchen with YOUNG-TOWN cabinets and pantry, and tile bath. The attached garage with its storage room easily converts into a huge den. Enough space to equal eleven full closets! Oak floors, mahogany doors, and all in immaculate condition. You do not pay one cent (if I would say "red" cent, but I'd be called a Communist) over $1,700 down. No closing costs. Assume 4% loan. Priced at $11,800.

THE 3 MOST IMPORTANT THINGS to remember when buying a home are: 1) Location; 2) Location; and 3) Location. So, this Harvard Street, designed with a comfort that is almost justifiably this brick two-year-old has 2 bedrooms and den, two baths, dishwasher, ceramic bath, spacious living room and dining room combo, and 2 carports attached. Central heating and air-conditioning, wood-burning fireplace, and softly carpeted. The 80 foot lot is nicely landscaped and fenced for privacy. If you insist upon living, make it a comfortable one in this home. Priced at $18,900.

I'LL BE FRANK, and you put up the ERNEST MONEY being un-corny, tho, here is magnificence at a miserly price. Constructed of Austin stone, this home has 3 bedrooms, 2 tile baths, we-str-entertaining-at-home type living room, and a pine paneled (hand waxed and rubbed) kitchen with a separate breakfast or dining room. Ideal traffic arrangement with clay tile on the hallway floor. Central heating, automatic features, and nicely carpeted. The twin carports are attached, and there is a 15 foot storage room. It's only 3 months old, yet it has large trees and grass. $18,950.

IF YOU ARE DOLLAR-CONSCIOUS (and you all intelligibly are), then remember this caution: Oil prices are up, steel is up, wages are scaling UP. Everet, and building materials and costs have never been known to suffer any hardship. Buy today so that you will not have to borrow tomorrow.

Extension To Terry Field Is Finaled

Pacific Oil Company has completed its No. 1 A. M. Muldrow and others as a five-eighths mile southeast extension to a recently completed one mile north outpost to Gloria production in the Prentice pool of Southwest Terry County.

The well flowed 24 hours through a 31/64-inch choke to make an initial production of 266.75 barrels of 29.8-gravity oil and no water. Gas-oil ratio was 190-1. Tubing pressure was between 30 and 75 pounds and pressure on the casing is 125 pounds.

Production is coming from perforations between 4,995 feet and 5,999 feet which were treated with 2,000 gallons of acid.

Location of the new producer is 1,380 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 20, block D-14, C&M survey and 13 miles northwest of Brownfield.

The book includes all operating companies with offices in Midland. In cases where companies have land departments, names of all land and title men are included along with each of their titles.

When a company does not have a regularly organized land department, the man in the organization who handles land trades is listed with his title.

The directory is compiled and published by W. C. (Bill) Kimball, Midland independent landman.

INDIA'S COTTON NEEDS BOOST

NEW DELHI—(AP)—India's hand under cotton cultivation in 1952-53 totalled 12,700,000 acres. Agriculture Minister P. S. Deshmukh says there is "room for some increase" in acreage, but the government placed greater stress on increase yields in areas now cultivated.

Chaves Discovery Reported Finaled

Neville G. Fenrose, Inc., No. 1 Zimmerman-Union Oil Company of California, has been completed as Chaves sand discovery in Southeast Chaves County.

The rank wildcat was finaled for a daily pumping potential of 34 barrels of 30-gravity oil and no water through perforations at 2,867-2,899 feet.

NE Midland Explorer Finds More Pay Zone

Magnolia Petroleum Company has developed more possible commercial pay section at No. 1 Oldham, rank Pennsylvanian wildcat in Northern Midland County.

Latest shows came on a flowing test through perforations at 10-332-10,338 feet. The well flowed out 60 barrels of load oil in five hours and then flowed 34 barrels of new oil and 18 barrels of acid water in five hours.

Gas-oil ratio was 2,370-1 and gravity 44.3 degrees. Tubing pressure was from 300 to 500 pounds. The flow was gauged through a 20/64-inch choke.

The above test came after operator set a retainer at 10,375 feet after testing perforations from 10,390 to 10,400 feet. That section flowed 17 barrels of new oil and 26 barrels of acid water in seven hours through a 20/64-inch choke. Gas-oil ratio was 2,375-1 and tubing pressure from 800 to 650 pounds.

Operator was still flowing the project to cleanout and test Saturday.

Lea And Andrews Top Rotary Count

Lea County, New Mexico, and Andrews County stayed on top as leaders in rotary drilling activity through June 25, according to the semi-monthly survey of Permian Basin activity conducted by Reed Roller Bit Company.

Although both counties showed slight drops they stayed far ahead of other areas. Lea County was credited with 124 units in operation and Andrews with 46. On the previous count, June 10, Lea showed 132 and Andrews 51.

Gaines County stayed in second place in the West Texas portion of the Basin with 31 rigs, an increase of one over the previous tally.

In third place in Texas was Schleicher County with 21 units, rounding out counties in the Basin with 20 or more rigs going.

Total number in the area covered by the Reed survey was 510 as compared to the 518 on the June 10 list. One year ago there were 653 units in operation.

THE BOOM'S CLOSER TO MIDLAND—The boom and crash of before-digger blasts moved closer to Midland last week as work continued as a fast clip on the 285-mile Permian Basin Pipeline Company's line destined to remove much of the residue gas from the Spraberry Area. Part of a Fulton Company ditch digger can be seen in the foreground while, at the right, part of the pipe soon to be welded, doped, wrapped and laid, strings along the right-of-way.

First Link In New Spraberry Outlet Plan Near Completion

By BOB GALLAWAY Reporter-Telegram Staff

Pipeline crews and company officials took a day off Saturday after all but completing the first link in Permian Basin Pipeline Company's chain of pipe soon to draw some 200,000,000 cubic feet of residue gas a day from the Spraberry.

Friday night saw all but one mile of the 14-mile jump from the Plymouth to Pembroke stations in the ground and covered. That last mile is due to go underground Monday—and then there'll be little left save the cleaning and valve setting duties on this first section of the important 285-mile project.

Completion of this first 13 miles came close on the heels last week of El Paso Natural Gas Company's announcement that work would start "immediately" on its $175-250,000 pipeline project in the Permian and San Juan Basins. That 1,956 miles of pipe, by the way, also is due to carry some 200,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily from the Spraberry Area.

Permian has set a completion date of Dec. 1, 1953, with El Paso Natural to complete its entire project. Part of it, says El Paso, will be finished by Spring, 1954.

Right-of-Way Picture But continuing on along the Permian right-of-way reveals this picture: About 20 miles stretches between the Pembroke and Spraberry Stations.

Fourteen miles of pipe have been strung along that 20-mile stretch. Eleven miles of ditch have been dug. And three miles of pipe have been welded.

Completion of that section of the line will leave the long 96 miles from Midland to the Denver City area—or, as Permian map makers term it, the Spraberry to Wasson line.

Right-of-way negotiations are still under way on this part of the line.

Permian officials said Friday that the crews were laying some 11,000 feet of pipe a day—with no sign of a letup in speed.

The R. H. Fulton Company, which is laying the line, has put on a double laying crew thus insuring steady speed.

And the dust situation is somewhat eased through the Spraberry Area last week. At least along the pipeline right-of-way.

Sprinklers Fight Dust Sprinkler trucks were brought in to tend down the shifting, sifting earth around the gas outlet gash. Though not 100 per cent effective, Permian officials pointed out, the sprinkler system does keep dust troubles at a minimum.

The Permian picture in the Hobbs, N. M. area also is a good one. Some 14 miles of 16-inch pipe are already underground awaiting the cleaning and valve setting processes. Twelve miles of 24-inch gathering line have been strung—with nine of those miles welded. Four of the nine miles have been laid.

Also in the Hobbs area, work was kicked off last week on the first 15 miles of Hobbs-to-Wasson line—ultimately to reach 34 miles between the two areas. This is a 26-inch string of line.

Back in the Spraberry Area, work is moving "as usual" (fast) on Permian's three compressor and dehydration stations: Plymouth, Pembroke and Spraberry, under construction near three like-named gasoline stations operated by Phillips Petroleum Company.

These three stations will take the gas from the field, feed it through the gasoline plants and then shove it into the pipeline carrying it to a junction at Denver City with lateral lines from the Hobbs area. Then it goes through El Paso Natural Gas Lines to the Panhandle, where it will tie into lines for a final jump to Omaha, Neb., home office of Northern Natural Gas Company, Permian's papa company.

Gas To California Down in Pecos County, a $2,000,000 carbon dioxide removal plant will clean gas from the Puckett (Eilenburger) field before adding it to the Plymouth-Pembroke-Spraberry cycle.

El Paso Natural's plan will take about 400,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily from the Permian and San Juan Basins.

Facilities will include about 759 miles of 30-inch main transmission line and about 108 miles of 24-inch main transmission line together with related gathering lines, purification plants, gasoline plants, compressor stations and the like.

The new 30-inch main transmission line will originate in the Permian Basin and extend northwest across New Mexico to a junction near Gallup with the existing 34-inch main transmission line from the San Juan Basin to California. From there west, the new 30-inch will parallel the present main San Juan line and connect with a section of the 30-inch loop already installed along western sections of the main San Juan line.

The present line will be looped (Continued On Page Two)

Shallow Test Scheduled In Sterling Area

R. B. McGowan, Jr., and others of Monahan filed application with the Railroad Commission of Texas requesting permission to start drilling at once on a shallow wildcat in Central Sterling County.

It will be drilled as No. 1 Lee Hunt, 990 feet from south and 330 feet from east lines of the southwest quarter of section 2, block T, T&P survey and four miles west of Sterling City.

The test well will be dug to 2,000 feet with cable tools.

Operator's staked location 660 feet from south and west lines of section 32, block 42, T-3-S, T&P survey.

It will be drilled as No. 1 H. E. Foster and others.

The derrick is on a 480-acre lease and 10 miles south of Odessa.

Operations are to start in the near future.

WASHINGTON OIL—

Price Increases Bring Petroleum Industry Under Heavy Congressional Fire

By JOSEPH HUTTLINGER

Reporter-Telegram Washington Oil Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The American petroleum industry came in for a heavy congressional attack last week over recent crude oil and gasoline price increases.

A fear that the price increase might be withdrawn, meanwhile, took on steam over the weekend, as Middle East crudes failed to follow U. S. and Venezuela crudes upwards.

Here are the attacks:

Chairman Charles A. Wolvetron (R-NJ) of the House Commerce Committee, said he "fears" state conservation programs are being used "to stabilize and fix" prices. He said "state proration control can be used as a price-fixing device, and there is no doubt in my mind that it has been used as such."

Most oil-producing states have broad authority to restrict crude oil production to market demand to prevent waste.

Rep. John E. Heselton (R-Mass) of the committee, introduced a bill to create a National Petroleum Commission to regulate crude oil production, refinery output, distribution, sales, transportation and price of crude oil and products.

Paul V. Hadlick, counsel of the National Oil Marketing Association, told the committee that "collusion" among the major oil companies brought the recent price increases. He has asked the Department of Justice to study anti-trust action, he said. Proration was one weapon of the "collusion," he said.

"It seems quite clear to me," said Hadlick, "that the time has come for the Congress to repeal the Connally Act, withdraw its approval of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission, and prohibit the Bureau of Mines from laying out a pattern for the control of production of crude oil."

A Michigan state legislator, Edward H. Jeffries, said to the committee, he is sponsoring state legislation to regulate the petroleum industry as a public utility.

The attacks, sounded before a committee hearing into the price increases, also heard swipes at the depletion allowance of 27.5 per cent for crude oil production.

Fiscal Dishonesty Declared America's Greatest Danger

SAN ANGELO—(AP)—Rep. Martin Dies, who made his reputation as a Communist hunter, said Saturday America's greatest danger is not communism but "dishonest financial policies" in government.

In Independence Day speeches at San Angelo and Coleman, Dies said if "we do not return to honesty in government, Russia will triumph as a result of our own sin."

He said present government financing is bearing out Lenin's prophesy in 1924 that "some day the Soviet Union will compel the United States to spend itself to destruction."

Dies said that in order to carry on its far-flung program the government has been issuing greenback credit which has destroyed one-half of the purchasing power of the dollar.

He said the government "makes the bank take its notes and bonds" and instructs the federal reserve banks to accept these bonds as deposits, giving the banks the right to grant $6 of credit for every dollar of government bonds deposited with the federal reserve system.

This is "plain inflation," Dies said, "and there is not much difference between this method and the old scheme of printing paper money to pay the expenses of government."

He said the only solution is for people to insist on cutting down government expenses, for them to be willing to pay more taxes, or for them to loan the government by buying bonds.

But, he said, "No one seems to want any reduction in government services and expenses if it affects him."

Pegler Describes Pearson As Rascal, Liar In Hearing

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Westbrook Pegler has called another columnist, Drew Pearson, a rascal and has criticized Pearson's writing as "crude" and lacking "grace."

Pegler expressed these opinions Friday at a pre-trial hearing in Pearson's $5,100,000 slander suit against Pegler and others. Pearson sat in on part of the hearing.

Pegler said Pearson lied when he broadcast a story that the late Secretary of Defense James V. Forrestal ran away while bandits were robbing his wife.

He said the basic difference between himself and Pearson "is that between an honest man and a rascal—I am the honest man."

Pearson alleges in the suit that Senator McCarthy (R-Wis) physically assaulted him and conspired with others to drive him out of business.

Oil Profits Must Build Funds For Developments

DALLAS—It sounds crazy but this is what the public hears: Oil imports have been so high in the last year and a half that allowable production in the United States has been cut back. Supplies piled up in crude oil and products stocks; the expected rise in demand failed to appear. There was a great argument over whether foreign oil supplanted or supplemented domestic supply.

"Up to this point the economics is simple and natural—a recognizable two-dimensional picture," says Ernestine Adams, managing editor of The Petroleum Engineer in the July issue. "Then along comes Phillips Petroleum and raises the price of crude oil and companies quickly follow suit. This is upside down. Logically in a free economy only shortages bring higher prices, to restrict buying and to heighten the incentive to fill demand."

Oil Said Plentiful

No wonder the public needs polaroid glasses to understand what the petro-industry is doing and why Nobody actually wants to pay more for oil products and at a quick glance higher prices are uncalled for. There is no need to restrict buying—oil is plentiful. Why create greater incentive when the dispute now is over who shall supply the over-abundant oil?

"We must add the third dimension to give depth—or perspective—to the situation. In this case the third dimension is time," explains Miss Adams, 1953's Oil Woman of the Year.

Most of our supply today comes from fields found five, 10, or 25 years ago. The profit from oil sold today must find the reserves to meet demand five, 10, and 25 years from now.

The President's Materials Policy Commission predicted last year that demand in 1975 would be 13,700,000 barrels a day. If the present ratio of proved reserves to annual production is maintained then we should have proved reserves of about 62 billion barrels in 1975.

What Phillips Petroleum saw ahead and what other companies realize all too well are the shortages facing the industry five, 10, and 25 years from now. Supplies found now must meet the demand of the future. An oil company must wait long years to gather its harvest and the time lag distorts the supply and demand balance.

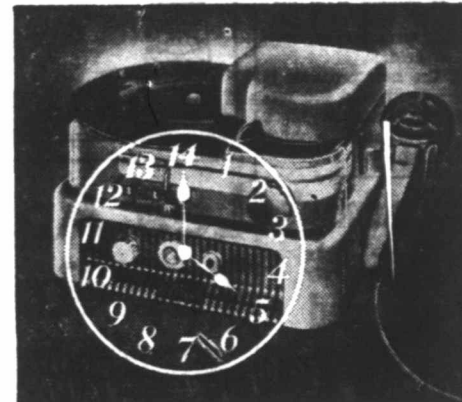

Exploration Continues

Consumers today are benefiting from lower cost exploration of pre-war days. So much so that most companies are spending more to find oil than they are making in net profit.

"In the long run we must all know that the only money oil companies have comes from profit on sales. This must be enough to finance the finding and developing of great oil and gas reservoirs if we would store up supplies for emergency and for future use. It is simple as that," Miss Adams concludes.

Midland's Ambassador Sails For Adventure In Yugoslavia

By DWAIN M. ESTES
Midland's Community Ambassador NEW YORK—The big adventure is underway.
 By the time you read this I will be on the high seas, heading for the Dutch port of Rotterdam and ready to begin the overland trip to Yugoslavia.
 I have met my companions for the trip. I have gotten one final little taste of America and our ship will have sailed on July 1.
 Midland already seems so far away and yet, for the next few weeks as I eat and work and play among the Yugoslavs, I hope to be able to tell them and show them a little more of the American way of life.
 That is the purpose of my trip, of course.
 My wife and I left Midland on Saturday, June 27, and, after motoring to Dallas, flew on to New York aboard an American Airlines plane. We arrived here at 11:30 a. m. of June 29 and I checked in at the Henry Hudson Hotel.

 Then began the last direct touch with the United States and it was an interesting experience.
 That afternoon I toured Rockefeller Plaza and took in a show consisting of a ballet, a symphony, the famed Rockettes and a movie at the Radio City Music Hall.
 The next day, a number of Community Ambassadors from all over the country were taken on a special tour of the United Nations.
 We had lunch in the United Nations headquarters building and it was my good fortune to sit next to Djivla Nincic.
 He is a counselor with the permanent Yugoslavian mission to the United Nations and Texas was no strange place to him. He spent 10 days down there last year. An attorney by profession, he has been in New York for three and one-half years.

 Briefing Conducted
 On the night of June 30, the Ambassadors gathered at the hotel for a final briefing.
 I met the others who will be in my group in Ljubljana, Yugoslavia, and I am looking forward to spending the next few weeks with them.
 They include Bill Bettison of Grand Rapids, Mich.; Howard Bunch of San Angelo, Tex.; May Clayton of Holyoke, Mass.; Denny Davis of Cape Girardeau, Mo.; Sofia Gzowski of Oakfield, N. Y.; Barbara Hartgrove of Bath, Maine; Bill Lawson of Flint, Mich., and Helen Trovich, East Chicago, Ind.
 The leader of the group is Warren Tomlinson, professor of German and History, College of Puget Sound, Tacoma, Wash. Three of the members of the group are married. Bill Lawson has four children.
 One of the members, Helen Trovich, speaks the native language of Yugoslavia.
 We will sail at 4 p. m. July 1 on the SS Groote Beer and will arrive in Rotterdam on July 10, from where I will send my next report.

Family Says Accused Killer Offers Son To Get Attorney

HOUSTON—(AP)—The man charged with a Denver trunk murder offered to trade his child for a lawyer, the family keeping the boy said Saturday.
 Fernando Espinosa, 31, of Houston is charged in the slaying of Irene Reyes, 16, daughter of Mrs. Isabel Reyes of Houston. Colorado authorities found the girl's mutilated body stuffed into a trunk in the Platte River June 20.
 Espinosa Friday refused to waive extradition until "my son is taken care of."

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Meza, 34, are keeping Espinosa's son, Armando, four, at their home.
 "We first talked with Espinosa shortly after he was arrested," Mrs. Meza told reporters. "We told him we had filed for custody of the child with probation authorities.
 "Then we visited him in jail Friday and he refused to sign the papers giving us custody. He said, however, he would sign them if we guaranteed him a lawyer for the trial in Denver."
 Mrs. Meza said she and her husband turned him down.
 "We don't plan on trading in flesh and blood," she said.
 The custody hearing of Armando is set for July 23 and the Mezas said they would then file for full adoption. They have no children of their own.
 Identification of the slain woman was made Friday when Mrs. Reyes, shown pictures of the body, identified her daughter Isabel.
 Espinosa repeatedly has denied being the killer.

Chicago To Name Sabath's Successor

CHICAGO—(AP)—Chicagoans of the Seventh Illinois Congressional District will choose a successor Tuesday to Rep. Adolph J. Sabath, Democratic House dean who died November 6.
 Democrat James B. Bowler, 77, who resigned Thursday from the Chicago City Council, is regarded as an overwhelming favorite to win the special election.
 Bowler, who has served as alderman almost continuously since 1906, is opposed by Republican Philip J. Boffa, 39, a partner in a retail drug store who has had little experience in rough and tumble Chicago politics.
FIRST OF HER KIND
 Dr. Mary Walker entered the U. S. Army as a nurse. She served as assistant army surgeon in the Civil War, first woman to hold that commission.

 He is a member of the Natural Science Club at TCU and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Neill, 2617 Delano Street, Midland.

Flowing Production Gauged At Sharp Andrews Project

Flowing production has been established at J. R. Sharp of Tulsa No. 1-A University, one mile north and west extension to a recently opened Devonian field in Northeast Andrews County.
 Operator acidized perforations from 12,466 to 12,510 feet with 1,000 gallons. The prospect kicked off after oil load and acid residue had been swabbed out, to flow 124 barrels of new oil in seven hours through a one-quarter inch choke.
 Flowing tubing pressure ranged from 550 pounds down to 525 pounds. Testing continued.
 Location of No. 1-A University is 330 feet from south and east lines of the northwest quarter of section 37, block 5, University survey and four miles northeast of the Huter field. It is 16 1/2 miles northeast of the town of Andrews.

Taft Warns Harold Stassen Aid Program's End Is Near

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said Saturday he has advised Mutual Security Director Harold E. Stassen to prepare to submit to the next Congress a program to wind up foreign aid.
 Taft, the Senate's majority leader, said in an interview he doesn't believe the 1954 session will be willing to vote to continue even military assistance to U. S. Allies except to complete scheduled deliveries.
 "Unless there is a big change in the world, this Congress is through with foreign aid," the Ohio Senator said. "I never have seen so much opposition—among Democrats as well as Republicans—to the assistance program.
 "I have advised Mr. Stassen that he would do well to begin preparation of a liquidation program, because I believe that's the only basis on which the next session will be willing to grant even a sharply reduced fund."
 Taft said he intends to bring his views to the attention of President Eisenhower at the next White House meeting of legislative leaders which he attends.
 Taft's judgment on the temper of Congress is likely to have heavy weight at the White House, despite the feeling of many Administration leaders that a cut-off in military assistance would threaten the very existence of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and hamper Allied cooperation in Asia.
 The Ohio senator's attitude puts the Administration on notice that unless it comes up with some new approach toward the problem of rearming the free world it may face extreme difficulties in Congress next year.
 These prospective difficulties were illustrated during the Senate's debate on the $5,318,000,000 foreign aid authorization bill last week.
 Senator George of Georgia, senior Democrat on the Foreign Relations Committee, said he never again will vote for a foreign aid program. Senator Gillette (D-Iowa), another member of the committee, attacked the basis on which military aid is given. Senator Mansfield (D-Mont.), another committee member, said it ought to be wound up, with the State Department handling the liquidation.

 All three previously had supported the MSA program, as did some Republicans who were critical last week.

American Motorists Use Too Little Oil In Winter

American motorists are perverse when it comes to use of oil in their cars, according to National Petroleum News, McGraw-Hill publication.
 They buy more oil in the Summer and less in the Winter, according to a magazine survey, when actually, for the good of their cars, the reverse should be common practice, the magazine says.

 The more stop-and-go driving and the shorter the trips during colder weather, the more often oil should be changed if engine wear is to be kept down.
 A study made by American Petroleum Institute lubrication men concluded that a passenger car's crankcase oil needs to be changed every 1,000 miles in combined city and suburban driving, every 500 miles in dusty or cold weather operation, and up to every 2,000 miles in open highway operation.
 According to these rules, the average car should have used 29.5 quarts of oil in the Fall-Winter of 1952-53 when actually it used only 17.2 quarts, the magazine points out.

Next New Mexico Sale Scheduled In Santa Fe July 21

The next state auction sale of New Mexico oil and gas leases will be held in Santa Fe at 10 a. m. July 21.
 The commissioner of public lands will offer for sale by sealed bidding acreage in 33 tracts.
 Leases on acreage in 13 tracts will be sold by oral bidding.
 The sale will be held in the land office of Babry Hall in the Capitol Annex Building.

Congress Budget Cutters Near Goal

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The drive of congressional budget-cutters to chop $10,000,000,000 from new appropriations this year was just about over the top Saturday.
 With only one big money bill still to be considered by the House, original appropriation requests made last January by President Truman have been pared about $9,300,000,000 by the House. There is no indication that the Senate will restore any major part of this reduction.
 Much of the budget-cutting was recommended by President Eisenhower but in some cases the House voted to cut further.
 The remaining bill to be acted on by the House provides funds for continuance of the foreign aid program. The House already has directed its appropriations committee to lop about $2,000,000,000 off Truman's figures for foreign aid.
 The budget-cutting hit fairly hard at the revised appropriation requests of President Eisenhower. When all the bills are passed, the prospect is that the Eisenhower estimates will have been trimmed about $3,000,000,000.
 Only six of the 11 regular appropriation bills passed by the House have cleared the Senate, and only one of them has become law.
 The other five Senate-passed measures are awaiting adjustment by conference committees.
 Final congressional action on the last of the money bills, financing the foreign aid program, isn't likely before the end of this month. The foreign aid bill already acted upon by Senate and House is an authorization measure. It sets ceilings on spending, but the actual funds still are to be voted.
 Republicans spearheading the budget-cutting drive in the House chafed up their biggest victory on the defense appropriation bill. The House passed that bill last Friday, cutting $6,200,000,000 from the Truman estimates and $1,300,000,000 from the Eisenhower figures.

Bids On 438 Miles Of Highway Projects Due On July 14-15

AUSTIN—(AP)—Bids on 43 projects covering 438 miles of highways will be opened by the State Highway Department July 14-15.
 Low bids are expected to total $4,500,000, State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer said.
 Projects include 138 miles of new farm-to-market road construction, 68 miles of major system, and asphalt work to improve and preserve existing pavements.
 Projects on which bids will be opened Wednesday, July 15, include:
 Midland—SH 348 (North Big Spring Street), 1.3 miles, grading, flexible base and asphalt concrete pavement from Texas Street north to near George Street in Midland.
 Hale—FM 1424, 1914 and 894 and U. S. 87, 24.3 miles, grading, structures, base and surfacing from U. S. 70 south to U. S. 87; from FM 894 east to U. S. 87 in Hale Center; from FM 894 south to south edge of Cotton Center.
 Taylor and Nolan—FM 126, 8.8 miles, grading, structures, base and surfacing from Nubia to one-tenth mile west of Nolan-Taylor County line.

Dr. Conant Made Honorary Texan

 Mrs. Preston H. Dial, San Antonio, leading the touring "good neighbor" delegation, presented a flag to a representative of the West German president, Theodor Heuss, at Conant's Fourth of July reception.

Protection Of Timber, Tree Planting Gains Importance

COLLEGE STATION — (AP) — Agronomists of Texas A&M College estimate that 130 varieties of farm crops are produced from the state's cultivated and grass lands and forests.

Forestry is not the least among sources of farm income although, unlike that of other agricultural products, its cycle from sprouting to harvesting is not completed until after many years. But the process of forest maintenance and renewal under the vigilance of the Texas Forest Service is so systematized that when suitably aged trees are marketed others are maturing to keep the sequence of yields unbroken.

This rotation, especially in the proved commercial timber area of east and northeast Texas, is obtained largely through three basic factors fostered by the TFS. These are: Prevention of "wild" fires in woodlands; cutting timber so that forests may, where possible, replace themselves from their own seed sources; and replanting with adapted nursery seedlings. The latter requires the fullest cooperation of owners and forest lands.

Tree planting in Texas is rather widespread. Species and utility are determined mostly by climate, moisture, and soils, particularly in the plains country of West Texas. For a number of years farm and ranch families in that region have planted adapted seedlings in varying numbers annually to establish windbreaks and shelterbelts, or to extend existing growths. The current trend is wholly toward planting but their ultimate contribution to the resources of the vast area they cross is a long-range guess.

This year, for example, 43 Ochiltree County families obtained 12,000 fledgling trees for strip planting. Similar activity has been noted in Randall and Scurry counties.

In the East Texas, or piney woods, area the major problems are protecting the standing timber against fire and other external damage, and replacing trees harvested yearly. This region of pines and hardwoods, comprising 10 and a half million acres in 36 counties, is Nature's gift to Texas resources. For more than a century these woodlands have supplied Texas and other states with building materials, poles, furniture, handles and boxes, and in more recent years paper.

While natural seeding offsets a large portion of the timber cutting through the years, landowners have been more active in planting seedlings on cutover areas and sub-marginal land. The major source of seedlings in the Indian Mound nursery of the Texas Forest Service in Cherokee County with a yearly production of approximately 15,000,000. This year Agricultural Agents Truitt Powell and W. A. Messer, Jr., of Cass and Marion counties, respectively, have worked jointly with timber consuming industries, civic clubs, and other interested groups to assure setting out of 6,000,000 seedlings in the two counties during the 1953-54 planting season. According to Powell, the plan provides that farmers buying 2,000 seedlings will receive 1,000 free. Interest in planting is being made to get additional acreage in pine. "Much of the land in this area," he explains, "is well suited to production of pine."

Eighty miles west of the East Texas "piney woods" belt are small islands of loblolly pine nestled in the southern portion of the post oak belt, mainly in Bastrop, Fayette and Caldwell counties. Covering about 85,000 acres, and known as the "lost pines," this growth's origin long has puzzled forestry specialists. According to Texas Forest Service scientists, however, the most plausible explanation is that in some remote geologic period the "lost pine" region was a part of the East Texas pine belt. This is supported by the existence of smaller islands of pine and individual trees found between this area and the parent growth eastward.

The "lost pines" region is associated with early Texas history. The first capitol building at Austin was constructed partly from pine logs and lumber transported 30 miles from Bastrop. A portion of Stephen F. Austin's colony settled at Bastrop in 1829, and some of the homes of these pioneers built from "lost" pine still are standing.

Farmers Grow Grass Roots Results

COLUMBUS, O. — (NEA) — At a meeting of farmers to discuss falling prices, a bald-headed sunburned soldier of 70 stood up and piped: "All I been hearing for 50 years is supply and demand, supply and demand. What is it? As far as I can make out, it's when a farmer has a supply of anything, there ain't any demand."

In less than a week, the entire Ohio Congressional delegation in Washington was getting a first-hand report on the elderly speaker's sentiments, plus the feeling of more than 7000 other Ohio farmers on the big price drops.

This rapid transmission of the news was the result of no casual agrarian grapevine. It was the doings of a highly organized system set up for just such a job by the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, with a membership of 80,000.

trates what can be done when the necessity for quick action arises.

At first it was planned that falling prices be discussed at the regular monthly local council meetings. But as the subject became increasingly serious, it was decided county-wide meetings should be held.

Within 24 hours, time was bought on three big-city radio stations. Meeting places were obtained for the county-wide meetings. Special information was sent out.

Despite competition from high school commencements and spring farm work, 7000 farm people showed up for 80 separate rallies.

That same night county poll results were tabulated and telegraphed to Columbus, where the State totals were compiled just in time to be taken to Washington by the delegation of 40 leaving on the annual trip.

That the legislators in the Nation's Capital were impressed by the speed of this grass roots poll goes without saying. Senator Taft put off going to the hospital to have breakfast with the group and hear what they had to report.

Some of the results of bureau polls are a little on the unexpected side. In November, 1952, for instance, 38 per cent did not want government farm price supports. By May, 1953, the figure had dropped to 16 per cent.

The latest poll showed 59 per cent favored increased foreign trade even if it means increased imports of farm products.

"The group feels that overcoming our fear of world trade is one of the first steps toward free world trade, which is vitally necessary," the bureau reported.

The Ohio poll shows farm opinion strongly in favor of the United Nations, urging "the strengthening of this world organization until it becomes an agency capable of maintaining peace."

Not all the 1800 monthly local council group meetings are concerned with weighty matters. In Belmont County, a cow had to break through a dilapidated bridge before the council could exert enough pressure to get a new one.

As Ohio farmers find they can get results—in the county and in Washington—by their pooled action, their interest in government grows. And as their interest grows, they believe, so grows the strength of our democratic principles of government.

How Many Indians? Ask Census Takers

RIO DE JANEIRO — (AP) — How many Indians are there in Brazil? One million? Five hundred thousand? Two thousand?

The nation's Service for the Protection of Indians (SPI) admits frankly that it doesn't know exactly. The above are guesses made by some of its experts.

Such a variance, naturally, makes the planning of assistance programs a little difficult. So the Service is taking a census of Indians.

The job, SPI director Gama Malcher says, is especially difficult because even some of the known tribes live in regions that are difficult of access. There also are tribes still unknown.

A majority of the Indians in Brazil, the director says, live in the Amazon region. The coastal tribes and those living in the south already have been absorbed into the Brazilian population.

Nationalized Steel Goes On Auction Sale

LONDON — (AP) — The Conservative government will begin auctioning Britain's sprawling socialized steel industry to the highest bidders July 15.

Under denationalization, the shares will be held by private individuals, but the industry will be supervised on behalf of the government by a new iron and steel board.

AUCKLAND, NEW ZEALAND — (AP) — A move to break the monopoly of the government owned Tasman Empire Airways Limited (TEAL) on the route between Australia and New Zealand is believed to be the reason for the visit of Walter Peck of the U. S. Civil Aeronautics Board.

After conferring with New Zealand officials he said, "We had a talk on TEAL but no conclusions were reached."

Sims and the other men in his outfit sleep in bunkers, when they can sleep, he said. He described artillery bursting above them practically day and night.

He talked of raids on the Reds and the battle against constant mortar fire from the Chinese and North Koreans.

"Many of the companies up on the lines are getting hit so hard we may have to go relieve them," the soldier said in his letter dated June 24. "Some of them have 30 or 40 casualties a night. I heard from a guy in my old outfit and he said a few nights ago the platoon I was in got wiped out by the Chinese."

Sims also said that the troops were now wearing good armored vests and helmets that have reduced casualties about 75 per cent.

He wrote that he has almost accumulated enough points for rotation and may be coming home within several months.

LITTELST COMANCHE SEES HISTORY— Cynthia Ann's Red, White Descendants Bury Hatchet

MEXIA—(AP)—The littlest Comanche may not have understood—but he saw his family's 117-year-old enmity wiped out Saturday with a hymn and giant barbecue.

Sixteen-month-old Bobby Gene Powell—called the littlest Comanche because he weighed only three pounds at birth—is a great grandson of Quannah Parker, last chief of the Comanche nation of fierce horsemen.

Bobby and his mother, Mrs. Raymond Powell of Wichita Falls, were among 75 direct descendants of the old chief who took part in ceremonies at restored Fort Parker. That's where Quannah's white mother, Cynthia Ann Parker, was kidnapped by Comanche raiders in 1836.

Descendants of Cynthia's father, Silas, who was killed in the raid, joined the Indian branch in the first friendly meeting of both sides of the family.

The ceremonies opened in the high-walled stockade with the hymn, "Nearer My God to Thee," which was translated into Indian sign language.

Gift For Mexia

Mrs. We-Do-Dee Tahmahkera, Quannah's oldest living daughter, welcomed the clan in Comanche.

Then the Parkers ate 200 pounds of Texas beef provided by Silas' oldest descendant, Ben Parker of Elkhart, and his son, Joe.

The chief's second oldest living daughter, Mrs. Wananda Cox, presented personal possessions of her father to the city of Mexia. Among these was a rare elk bone hide-scraper.

White Parker, Quannah's 64-year-old son, was here too.

Cynthia's Story

"Me big Indian chief—or I would be if it weren't for the United States government."

The story began with Cynthia's capture at the age of nine. Raised by the Comanches, she married Chief Peta Nacona and bore him several children.

In 1860, Capt. Sul Ross, a former Texas governor, overran the tribe at Pease River and carried off Cynthia Ann. White records claim Pete was killed. Indians maintain he and all able-bodied warriors were hunting and weren't in the fight.

"The troopers massacred squaws and old men," Mrs. Cox said.

Tries To Return

Cynthia Ann was given 400 acres near Fort Worth and kept there by force. Grieving for her husband and children, she constantly tried to return to the Comanches. She died 10 years after her "rescue."

"Who was the more cruel—Comanches who stole the child, or the white men who took the wife and mother?" asked Mrs. Cox.

Chief Quannah died in 1911, venerated by both Indians and white men.

— FARM, DAIRY AND RANCH NEWS —

The market was very strong and active and there were not enough cattle to supply the demand at last Thursday's Midland Livestock Auction Sale. Most classes sold $1 to $3 per hundred higher than the previous week.

Fat calves, good to choice, sold for $17 to $19.75; medium to good, $15 to $17; cull to common, $7.25 to $15.

Fat and choice cows brought $12 to $14; medium, $9 to $12; canners and cutters, $6 to $9. Bulls went at $10 to $13.50.

Stocker steer calves cleared at $12.50, and stocker heifer calves, $12 to $14.50.

Mixed breed stocker calves and yearlings brought $8 to $12.25. Cows and calves drew $80 to $125 per pair.

Operators of the sale estimated they could have sold 200 more cattle had they been available Thursday.

Well, Podner, do whatever you think best with that slicker.

DSQ went all the way to the West Coast last week, hoping to see and get in some rain, but our slicker hasn't been unrolled as yet. Guess this just isn't our year.

We did see evidences of recent moisture in California, but most of the New Mexico and Arizona country we traversed looks about the same as West Texas. Feedlots along the way were loaded with cattle.

While we were away, the secretary of Agriculture visited West Texas and reportedly was "impressed." At any rate, the race now is on to see which city will become the "drouth capital" of West Texas. That is one "honor" we just as soon didn't come our way.

And here is the top drouth story of the week:

A farmer in a neighboring county was discussing the possibility of a crop loan with his banker.

"The banker inquired, 'How many chickens do you have?'"

"None," replied the farmer, "I can buy eggs cheaper than I can produce them."

"How many milk cows do you have?"

"None. I can buy milk cheaper than I can produce it."

"How many pigs are you feeding out?"

"None. I can buy ham and bacon cheaper than I can raise hogs."

"Are you feeding out a calf to butcher this fall?"

"No. I can buy beef cheaper than I can produce it."

"Well," declared the banker after considering the answers to his line of questioning, "perhaps you can buy a crop cheaper than you can raise it."

Burvin Hines of the Chamber of Commerce and Jim Lindsey of this newspaper wished for slickers last week while enroute to a C. of C. meeting in McCamey. It seems the bottom dropped out of a rain cloud over South Midland County and the Midland men were right in the middle of it. Plenty of hall and wind, too. But the moisture apparently didn't cover too much territory and the Midlanders dried out quickly as they continued their journey under cloudless skies. But they did get to see some rain, and enjoyed it.

More of the desert country out around Yuma, Ariz., soon will be blooming and producing bountiful crops of all kinds. The irrigated district is being expanded in a tremendous project which stretches for miles and miles along U. S. 80 and the SP Railway tracks. DSQ never before saw so much dirt-moving or such an intricate system of irrigation ditches as in the Arizona sector. The canals are full of water, too. Mighty pretty.

Jess Miles says he has discarded his slicker against the advice of DSQ. Hope he has to get another one right soon.

And in California we were told, "The Texas drouth is broken. . . Rained five or six inches at Houston."

A Los Angeles newspaper that same day featured sand pictures from the West Texas drouth area near Lamesa, Texas.

The average Texas farmer is a little over 40 years of age and has operated the same farm 12 years, according to a report of the 1950 Census of Agriculture just received by Supervisor James M. Hamilton of the Census Bureau's district office at Fort Worth.

The report is a preprint of the General Report, 1950 Census of Agriculture, Volume II, Chapter 2, and presents data on age, residence, years on farm, work off the farm and other income of farm operators. The preprint is available from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, for $1 per copy.

Texas farm owners, on an average, are 11.4 years older than farm tenants, according to the Census report which states the average age of farm owners as 54.0 years and the average age of farm tenants as 42.8 years. Among farm operators reporting on number of years of residence on the same farm, owners averaged 16 years and tenants averaged six years.

Almost two out of five Texas farmers derived income from work off the farm, according to the Census Bureau. Of 331,418 Texas farm operators enumerated in the 1950 Census, 135,870 reported work off the farm in 1949 and 60.7 per cent of these had worked 100 days or more off the farm.

The annual Poultry Breeders' School at Texas A&M College, will be held July 15-16, Dr. J. H. Quisenberry, head of the Poultry Husbandry Department, announced. A 10-man speaking program has been arranged with Joseph I. Taggart, nationally known incubation authority of Cleveland, Ohio, and Dr. W. C. Upp, head of the Louisiana State University Poultry Department, taking a leading part in the program.

Harold Shull has completed installation of level borders for irrigation on 11 acres near the Leonard Proctor ranch headquarters, 40 miles southeast of Midland, and has a crop of sudan coming up following the first application of water.

This is part of a 57-acre field being put under irrigation to produce supplemental pasture and hay for the ranch. Ditches have been constructed to serve the entire field, and the rest of the land will be prepared for irrigation as rapidly as possible.

The system was designed and staked out by the Soil Conservation Service as part of the technical assistance available through agreements with the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District.

Blue panic-grass is coming up on six acres of irrigated land recently planted by Jack Leonard on the F. F. Elkin farm just east of Midland. Leonard mixed the grass seed with sudan and planted the two crops together in 20-inch rows.

All persons and organizations interested in farm life and welfare are urged by President Eisenhower to take part in the observance of the 10th National Farm Safety Week, 10-25, 1953.

In proclaiming the week, President Eisenhower pointed out that accidents continue to rob the nation of much needed farm production.

Ned H. Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council, reviewed the results of the first nine Farm Safety Weeks briefly by pointing out that only two states had farm safety committees in 1942, whereas today 28 states have active committees. He also commented on the comparatively few cooperating organizations in 1945, as compared with the hundreds cooperating today.

Beef cattle premiums have been upped substantially for the Pan-American Livestock Exposition of the 1953 State Fair of Texas, October 10 through 25, Livestock Manager Ray Wilson has announced.

A total of $22,220 will be split among five breeds of beef cattle, $5,020 more than last year. There'll be $7,800 in premiums for Herefords, $4,800 for Aberdeen-Angus, $4,500 for Brahman, $3,000 for Shorthorns and $2,000 for Santa Gertrudis. In addition, herdsmen will be eligible for special cash awards.

The Santa Gertrudis show will be the first to be presented at any major livestock show. Premiums for all the other breeds have been increased considerably over last year.

Beef cattle will be judged the first week of the fair, but all beef and dairy cattle will remain on exhibit throughout the 12-day period of the Pan-American Exposition.

Judging dates for beef cattle are: Brahman and Santa Gertrudis, October 12; Hereford, October 13; Aberdeen-Angus, October 14; Shorthorn, October 15.

Judges will be S. E. McCrairie of Baton Rouge, La., Brahman; A. O. Rhoad of Kingsville, Santa Gertrudis; Glen Bratcher of Stillwater, Okla., Aberdeen-Angus, and L. E. Mathers of Mason City Ill., Shorthorn. The Hereford judge will be named later.

Total premiums for the Pan-American Livestock Exposition, State Fair Junior Livestock Show and Poultry Show amount to $82,238. The Pan-American Exposition will include shows for 27 breeds of beef and dairy cattle, swine, sheep, Angora goats, horses and ponies.

Beef cattle classifications in the Junior Livestock Show, which will follow the Pan-American Exposition during the final week of the fair, list a total of $5,885 in premiums, $3,085 in the Junior Steer Show and $2,800 in the Junior Commercial Steer Show, plus special herdsmen awards. These shows will be judged October 22.

PROUD OF YOURSELF, MAMA?—A rare birth produced these three identical heifer calves. They are taking their first exploratory walks around the barnyard of Ed Gingrich of Maryville, Mo. They weighed about 40 pounds each when born. Their arrival was computed as a 7000-to-one chance.

Britain's Butchers Balk, Bruised By Views On Ewes

LONDON —(P)—Indignant butchers of the United Kingdom went on strike Saturday against the sale of fat old ewes which gave Britons the blues by melting into gloop when cooked up for stew.

The defiant meat men said no matter how much they lose or whose feelings they bruise, they do not choose to use such ewes as part of the weekly meat ration.

The National Federation of Meat Trade Associations — 35,000 strong—made known their views on ewes in a firm notice to the national food ministry, which controls the distribution of meat in this country.

The strike got underway with such unofficial mottoes as "no queues for old ewes," "old ewes taste like old shoes," and "old ewes should be in zoos."

The trouble began a couple of weeks ago when the food ministry found itself overstocked on fat ewes, mostly imported from Australia. The ministry sheep were raised for their wool, rather than their meat, and they are undeniably tallow.

Of great aid to them, the ministry decreed that butchers would have to start taking five per cent of their wholesale allowance in this type of meat.

The butchers protested they couldn't sell the stuff to their customers and many refused to accept it.

WEEKEND IN HILL COUNTRY
Mr. and Mrs. Clay Turner, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Dupree and son are spending the weekend in Bandera and Kerrville.

Oxfords originated in the English university seat of that name, in 1665-1670, through cutting down of the boots which were the fashion of that time.

Livestock
FORT WORTH —(P)—Sharp advances were tallied up on cattle last week as a result of smaller runs, some showers and rains and encouragement from government drouth relief measures. Most cattle and calves were $2 to $3 higher, with some spots $3 to $5 higher at times. Exception was fat steers, which held steady. Hogs and sheep were steady with a week ago. Sows and lambs were mostly steady.

Comparative prices: Slaughter steers and yearlings 6.00-23.00; slaughter cows 5.50-14.00; bulls 7.00-14.00; slaughter calves 7.00-21.00; stocker cows 7.00-11.00.

Closing hog top 26.00-25.25; sows 19.00-20.00; pigs 20.00 down.

Slaughter lambs 6.00-23.50; feeder lambs 10.00-14.50; fat yearlings 9.00-13.00; slaughter ewes 3.50-4.50.

Giant Turtle Fossil Found In Palo Duro Canyon Walls

CANYON —(P)—"Not very old," mused Dr. Don Savage as he examined the front arm bone of the giant turtle. "Possibly one million to two million years."

He headed a field trip from the University of California Museum that came across the almost complete remains of the pre-historic testudo land turtle last week. It was embedded in the side of a cliff in the Texas Panhandle's Palo Duro Canyon.

SHAMROCK —(P)—Mrs. J. C. Tinsley killed a scrawny 43-inch rattlesnake on her ranch near here.

"It was the poorest snake I've ever seen," she said. "It wasn't half as big around as it should have been considering its length and I could have counted its ribs."

She figured the drouth must be to blame.

Fire Causes $32,500 Damage In Corsicana

CORSICANA —(P)—Fire caused an estimated $32,500 damage early Saturday to two buildings housing a jewelry store, a home and an auto store.

The loss was partly covered by insurance.

The blaze began about midnight, apparently in the M. Evans Jewelry store, and was put out about 5 a.m.

Also damaged was the Joe York home and auto store in an adjoining building.

Evans owns the building in which his store is located. His mother-in-law, Mrs. Abe Hayman of Dallas, owns the building occupied by York.

Houston Teenagers Arrested For Game

HOUSTON —(P)—News of a boys gang in Houston with theft and fights the requirements for membership came out with arrest of 13 teenagers here this week.

Police said that possibly 25 boys belonged to the gang. They planned to start rounding them up next week.

Five teenagers arrested after a game of "chicken" along the Galveston beach said they belonged to the "Eleventh Street Gang." The game involved two drivers heading autos at each other and the first to swerve is called a chicken.

Daddy Ringtail And Bongety Bong

Dr. Shoobug, the monkey doctor of the Great Forest, runs fast by day and by night along the Elephant Path. He runs to see about sick folks.

Often he waits in his office for people to come to see him before they are sick. Yes, if everyone came to see him before he got sick, maybe he could keep them from being sick at all.

"Umm-humm!" said Dr. Shoobug with a friendly smile at Mugwump Monkey, the monkey boy, and the Huffen Puffen, the friendly wolf. Dr. Shoobug already had seen about Mugwump to find that the boy was neither sick nor about to be sick. He was now seeing about the Huffen Puffen.

"Huffen Puffen," said Dr. Shoobug, "let me see your tongue."

The Huffen didn't want to stick out his tongue, because it usually isn't polite to stick out your tongue at people. But Dr. Shoobug explained that a doctor is the one someone you can stick your tongue out at and still be polite. The Huffen did it.

"No trouble with his tongue," said Dr. Shoobug. "Uh, no."

Dr. Shoobug next was going to listen to the Huffen's heart while it made a noise of thump-thump, thump-thump.

"Well, Dr. Shoobug got out the thing to do the listening with. (Stethoscope is the name). He put the ear part to his ears. Mugwump asked if he could be the one to hold the other end to the Huffen's chest for the doctor to hear the thump-thump, thump-thump. Dr. Shoobug said he could.

"Teh! Teh! Teh!" said Dr. Shoobug as he listened. He didn't hear a noise of thump-thump, thump-thump. He heard a noise of bongety-bong, bongety-bong. Yes, and when a heart makes a noise of bongety-bong, Dr. Shoobug said—look out! The someone has to do this or that, because maybe they're going to be sick, or something.

Well, it was really all a mistake, or maybe a little joke. The doctor wasn't hearing the Huffen's heart. He was hearing the Huffen's watch as it made a noise of bongety-bong in his pocket.

Everyone laughed to know it. Mugwump laughed. The Huffen laughed. Dr. Shoobug laughed. It was really great fun for all of them to laugh together. Happy day! (Copyright 1953, General Features Corp.)

Communist-Capitalist Clash Pits Jew Against Jew In New Hungarian Tragedy

By RICHARD O'REAGAN

BUDAPEST, HUNGARY—(AP)—The conflict of capitalism and communism has brought tragedy to the Jews of Hungary.

By closing down row after row of small stores, communism has created a new ghetto of the once thriving Jewish quarter of Budapest.

Small merchants and traders whose business independence was their faith and their existence today are old men whose shops are tombstones to their broken lives and hopes. Thousands of Christian businessmen suffer similarly.

But a deeper tragedy than the drab, crumbling streets is the division of the Jewish community.

Wall Of Ideas

On one side are the Communists of Jewish origin, a few hundred led by Premier Matyas Rakosi, who rule Jew and Christian alike, wield power comparable to the Kremlin and live in isolated luxury.

On the other side are thousands who cling to the livelihood of their fathers and suffer for it. Between the two is an insuperable wall of ideas.

The conflict has also generated anti-Semitism among nine million Hungarians of Christian faith.

The world of those who lived by capitalism is today like a neglected graveyard where a despairing people move like shadows in and out of now-overcrowded, ill-lit and unrepaired rooms.

Just a few yards behind the busy state-owned stores on Rakoczy Ut, two visiting correspondents found entire streets—of shuttered stores. It was the most depressing sight in a depressing Communist city.

Uses Iron Now

The once-bustling Kiraly Utca (its royal name has been changed to Majakovskij Utca after a Russian revolutionary poet), there was hardly a sign of life. Over many a store, the names of the owners had been torn down. Others were transformed into state distribution points for furs and toilet goods.

On once-wealthy Hollo Utca, until 1949 still crowded with goldsmiths and silversmiths, one silversmith remained in a society where only state enterprises may deal in precious metals. He said he made his living by creating art objects from iron instead of silver.

On Sip Utca, filthy children played barefooted on the streets.

In the door of a tiny store with dusty paintings on display, an old man, in ragged unkempt clothes, said he made picture frames. His lifeless eyes and mournful rigidity told that he neither had nor expected a customer for years.

A few doors away, a family of four clustered behind the curtained show window of what was once a small store. They appeared to eat, sleep and live on one bed.

Outside their home, a Communist bulletin board proclaimed the work efficiency of two local residents.

In 1941, before the slaying of the Nazis and the robbery of the Communists, Hungary had 400,000 Jews. Today there are 80,000 of whom 50,000 live in the Budapest area where the Nazis erected the fences of the ghetto.

Thousands fled or sought immigration to Israel as Rakosi and his companions turned against their own people and started to close private stores. Other more prosperous manufacturers, merchants and traders have been deported, branded as "class enemies" and forced upon unwilling farmers.

Pushed into rooms and cellars, sharing them with children who sometimes succumb to the propaganda of communism, are thousands of middle-aged and elderly people, preserving what dignity they can by the sale of remnants of their past lives.

Thousands who worked in the stores of the former merchants and thus were not "class enemies" have found themselves white collar jobs in state enterprises or laboring jobs in factories. But like millions of Catholics and Protestants, they find their pay barely keeps them fed and clothed.

In contrast, high above Budapest on Rosta Domb (the Hill of Roses), live others of Jewish origin, the party and the government chief-subordinates.

Guarded night and day, rarely making public appearances, living in their own private world of luxurious villas and unlimited satisfaction of their wants, they have cut themselves off from the Jewish community.

Nine out of 12 members of the party Politburo reportedly are of Jewish origin. So are 10 out of 12 generals. They have many Jewish

It is their orders which have caused the ruin and poverty of thousands in the new ghetto. It is their orders which spark the anti-Semitism of non-Jews.

They narrowly escaped the purge of Jews which was beginning to sweep the Communist world before Stalin's death.

Today, they may see their days are numbered. Diplomats here report that non-Jewish elements in the party government are obtaining more influence, that a Gentile is chosen for a job rather than a Jew when two men of equal worth are considered for a party post.

The visitor to Budapest leaves with the impression that when the wheel turns, smoldering anti-Semitism may burst forth in a flame engulfing the new rich and poor, Communist and anti-Communist alike.

Brown Discusses Legislative Action On Insurance Bill

Insurance legislation submitted at the recent session of the Texas Legislature was discussed by Rep. H. J. Brown at the regular meeting of the Midland Association of Insurance Agents Friday noon in Hotel Scharbaue.

President Roy McKee, who presided at the meeting, appointed a nominating committee, including Lee Durrell, Clint Myrick and W. B. Harkrider. The committee will report at the August meeting when officers for 1953-54 will be elected.

McKee also named new members of the Placement Committee which services the insurance requirements of the public schools, city and Midland Memorial Hospital. New members of the panel are Durrell, chairman, C. O. Torgeason and Herschel Ewell. Retiring members of the committee are Edwin L. Stephens, Charles Ervin and Myrick.

TUCSON, ARIZ.—(P)—Papago Indian children get fat and healthy on a diet that would make physical wrecks of white youngsters. Dr. Arthur R. Outstanding speakers from all over Methodism will present a variety of topics during the meetings. Among the distinguished church leaders will be the Rev. John O. Gross, noted lecturer and executive secretary of the Division of Educational Institutions, Board of Education of the Methodist Church. Dr. Arva C. Floyd, professor of missions and oriental history at Emory University, will speak from personal experience about conditions in the Orient.

H. Bascomb Watts, resident bishop of the Nebraska area; Dr. John Biegleisen, professor of Old Testament religion and New Testament literature at Eden Seminary in St. Louis; and Dr. Marvin Judy, professor of town and country work and rural sociology at Perkins School of Theology, complete the list of speakers. The Rev. Everett Y. Seale, pastor of First Methodist Church in Beville, will serve as song leader for the school.

In conjunction with the Pastors' School, the Southwestern Church Music Institute will provide valuable discussion and inspiration for choir and music directors and ministers' wives.

Began in Georgetown in 1929, the music institute serves the church in an area where help is needed. It is staffed this year by a capable group of outstanding musicians and music educators, including three Southwestern University professors. Dr. Henry Meyer, dean of the institute and of Southwestern's School of Fine Arts organized the first conference, 24 years ago. John D. Richards, professor of music and music education at Southwestern and director of the University A Cappella Choir; and Wendell Osborn, professor of voice, will assist with the institute.

Well-known guest lecturer to be at the institute this year is Dr. John Finley Williamson, founder and conductor of the Westminster Choir and president of the Westminster Choir College. First Methodist Church in Wichita Falls sends two noted musicians to the conference. Dr. Nita Akis, concert organist, teacher of organ music, and organist, and Cecil E. Lupo, minister of music at the church.

Registration for the Church Music Institute will begin at 10 a.m. Monday, July 6, in the Music Building at Southwestern University. Registration for the Pastors' School will last from 2 to 4 p.m. the same day, in the Administration Building.

OFFICERS—Officers who will direct the work of the Altrusa Club for the coming year will include the trio above. They are, left to right, Lily Marie Carter, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Charles Romer, vice president, and Mary Alice Tidwell, recording secretary.

Midland delegates to the international convention of Altrusa Clubs will take with them one of the best club activity reports in the nation.

In every division of its heavy schedule of projects for the last year, the Midland Altrusa Club has met, and most of the time has exceeded, its goals.

The Altrusa convention is to be held July 19-23 in Los Angeles, Calif., with headquarters in the Statler Hotel.

Delegates Named
Among the Midlanders attending will be Mrs. Grace S. Wallace, who is completing a two-year term as second vice president of Altrusa International. She will give the response to the addresses of welcome and will preside at the birthdays luncheon on July 20.

In her capacity as an international officer, Mrs. Wallace has helped to organize several new clubs, including the Pampa club, formed in October.

Mrs. H. N. Phillips and Rebecca Stiles are delegates from the Midland Altrusa Club to the convention, with Mrs. Annie Ford and Laura Jesse as alternates.

The Midland club closed its fifth year's work with an installation dinner June 25. New officers are Mrs. Phillips, president; Mrs. Charles Romer, vice president; Mary Alice Tidwell, recording secretary; Lily Marie Carter, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Kay Williams, treasurer. Directors are Mrs. J. C. Atkinson, Mrs. J. B. McCoy, Mrs. Lucille Johnson, Maria Spencer and Mrs. C. M. Goldsmith.

Some of the club's most outstanding projects for the year have been in the field of international relations, with Miss Spencer as committee chairman.

The club sponsored Camila Ochoa, Midland girl who attended Sul Ross College, Alpine, last year, and contributed to the fund for Lelia Cachola, Philippine student sponsored by Altrusa's seventh district. Miss Cachola, who trained as an instructor in nursing and dietetics, was graduated with honors this Spring at the University of Texas Medical School in Galveston.

Contributions also were made to Altrusa International's grants-in-aid fund to allow South American students to study in the United States.

A total of 762 garments, valued at $1,204.15, was sent to Susan J. Haines of the United Nations Civil Assistance Command in Pusan, Korea, for civilian relief, and a gift box valued at $190.75 was sent to Japan to In-Ai Yang, former seventh district scholarship student.

In addition, club members exchanged newspapers, magazines and letters with women in many foreign lands and assisted with arrangements for a visit of Lady Balfour of England to Big Spring.

Jo Jon Hall And Robert Cox Are Married In Stanton Church

STANTON—Jo Jon Hall became the bride of Darrell Robert (Bob) Cox of Tarzan in a Fourth of July ceremony at 8 p.m. Saturday in the First Methodist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Morgan Hall of Stanton and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Sam W. Cox of Tarzan.

Double-Ring Vows
The Rev. Raymond Van Zant, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Dimmitt, officiated for the double-ring ceremony. Soloists were Carol Jean Sandlin of Lubbock, who sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because," and the Rev. Weldon Mc-Cormick, assistant pastor of the First Methodist Church, Midland, who sang "The Lord's Prayer." Mrs. James Jones, organist, played the traditional wedding marches.

The wedding party stood before an archway that was entwined with greenery. The arch was flanked with baskets of white gladiolus and white cathedral tapers in floor candelabra. White cathedral tapers in twin candelabra on the chancel rail and a background of greenery completed the setting.

Wears Lace, Satin
Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a dress of Chantilly lace over satin and hooped petticoats. The bodice, which fastened down the back with tiny satin buttons, was styled with long sleeves tapering to petal points over the hands and a portrait neckline filled in with an illusion yoke. The full skirt was accented with a tiered panel of ruffled nylon net in the center front.

The bride's fingertip veil was caught to a crown of pearlized orange blossoms and was scattered with orange blossoms from her grandmother's wedding veil. She wore her mother's lavalier, roped with pearls and diamonds, and carried a white orchid encircled with Stephanotis.

Attendants Wear Organdy
The bride's attendants wore identically-styled dresses of organdy over taffeta with matching mitts and ruffled organdy headresses. The dresses were in waltz length with off-shoulder bodices and tiny puffed sleeves.

Mr. David Baulich, matron of honor, wore a green dress and carried yellow daisies; Mary Lynn Hamilton, maid of honor, was wearing a blue dress and carried pink daisies, and Patsy Pollock, bridesmaid, was gowned in pink with a blue daisy bouquet.

Kay Houston of Odessa, cousin of the bride, and Karen Cox, niece of the bridegroom, who were junior bridesmaids, wore blue and pink taffeta dresses with matching mitts and ruffled taffeta headresses. Their flowers were pink and blue daisies.

Junior attendants were Sidney Sue Fowler of Midland, cousin of the bride, who was dressed in yellow taffeta, and Cathy Estes of Lamesa, whose dress was in green taffeta. Barbara Jan Forrest, Big Spring, flowergirl, wore a pink organdy frock. All three had wrist corsages of pink rosebuds. Candles were lighted by Eula Belle Moot, who wore a yellow dress, and Mrs. Jimmie Stallings of Lomax, wearing an aqua dress.

Groomsmen Named
Gordon Cox of Andrews served his brother as best man. Ushers were Jerry Hall of Lubbock, brother of the bride, and James Eiland of Stanton.

The reception was in the home of the bride's parents. Serving in the receiving line were the bride couple and their mothers, Mrs. Baulich, Miss Hamilton and Miss Pollock.

Also in the houseparty were Mrs. Jerry Hall of Lubbock and Mrs. Gordon Cox of Andrews, sister-in-law of the bride couple; Mrs. J. F. Gooch of Humble, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Calvin Jones.

Gladiolus and the three-tiered, white cake decorated the table, which was laid with a white cut-work linen cloth and crystal appointments.

Out-of-city guests, in addition to those mentioned above, attended from San Antonio, Lubbock, Midland, Garden City, Odessa, Houston, Big Spring and Loraline.

To New Mexico
When they left on a wedding trip to northern New Mexico, the bride was wearing a mauve rose suit of Summer tweed with navy and white accessories.

The couple will live on a ranch six miles from Hico.

Mrs. Cox was a 1953 honor graduate of Stanton High School, where she was voted the friendliest girl for two years. She is state secretary of 4-H Clubs.

The bridegroom, who was graduated from Courtney High School, was engaged in farming and ranching before serving two years in the Army.

IN FORT WORTH
Mrs. J. T. Klingler, 2209 Brunson Street, is in St. Joseph's Hospital in Fort Worth, where she has undergone major surgery. Mrs. Klingler will be there about two weeks.

Make your canvas awnings and covers mildew-proof. Soak them in soapy water and then, without rinsing, dip them into a solution of copper sulphate, obtainable at the drug-store.

+Crane News+
CRANE—William B. (Red) Hanley, Atlantic Pipe Line Company superintendent of Crane district, recently was honored for having completed 25 years service with the company.

Hanley is a native of Louisiana, where he received his degree from Louisiana State University and began a career as a school teacher.

In 1922 he joined the Atlantic Company as a foreman and was with the company at the construction of the first terminal at Port Arthur. Since that time, he has worked in many localities.

In the West Texas-New Mexico Division, he lived at Wink, Hobbs, Midland and came to Crane in the Fall of 1946 to assume the position he now holds. He also was honored by Crane employees of the company at a barbecue.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Lindenburg moved to Crane this week from Bowie. He is employed at the Gulf pump station. Another couple recently moved here to join the Crane Gulf Pipeline. They are Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Hudson. He was transferred here from Weatherford.

Kenneth Wright of Midland and student at Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, is serving as music director and youth leader in the First Baptist Church here. He has been selected for the Summer months, and will continue his study at the university in the Fall, where he is a junior with a major study in religious education.

The Rev. H. D. Christian, pastor of the First Baptist church here, announced that a Youth Revival will be held July 19 through 26. Evangelist Freddie Gage, one of the Southern Baptist's leading youth evangelists will conduct the preaching services and Jimmy Snelten of Dallas, will lead the singing.

Baseball Program
The Little League held an all-star game Saturday in the County softball park to select all-star players from the four teams.

C. M. Elder, secretary of the Crane County Pony League, has received word that tentative plans have been made for the district Pony League play-offs to be held in Abilene during August. Crane will enter play against teams from Odessa and Midland for the right to represent this area at Abilene.

PLAN EASTERN TRIP
Peggy Cox and Juannell Rollins plan to leave about mid-July for a visit in Hot Springs, Ark. They will go to New York City, where they will attend the international convention of Jehovah's Witnesses.

The blower attachment of your vacuum cleaner is good for speedy drying of a shampooed rug. Use it also to dry a damp piece of upholstered furniture.

Local Resident Air Conditions With Lawnmower
"Hey," says this dusty, sweaty character, as he comes bustin' into the store last week, "I want an air conditioner."

"Sure," we says, "that's right in our department. Step this way."

He did his best to go the way we did, but he didn't have the experience. After all it takes about thirty-five years of concrete floor galloping to acquire that certain flat-footed, spavined limp that only a retail hardware man can have.

Was he ever surprised when we showed him those beautiful powerful Jacobsen Power Mowers? "Hey," he repeats himself, "you dope, I asked to see air conditioners!"

"Right, friend," we pipes up, "you've never seen a better air conditioner than one of these proud, orange-colored beauties. Why, pal, with one of these in your yard, you won't be coming in here all out of breath, and messy with yard mowing. You'll just crank 'er up and zip through that lawn in less than an hour. No grunt, no groan, no ache, no pain, no stoop, no squat, no squint! Instead of a day's hard pushing, you'll be sitting on your patio with a julep in your hand. Send it up?"

"Say," he sez, forgetting to use "they," "do that!"

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a wedding gown of ivory silk taffeta accented with heirloom princess lace medallion appliques and clusters of seed pearls. The full skirt that terminated in a chapel train was fashioned with a butterfly bustle.

Attached to the cap was a full-length veil of ivory illusion worn 25 years ago by the bridegroom's mother and brought from Brussels by his grandmother.

Dresses for the bride's attendants were of pale yellow embroidered organdy, with bouffant waist-length skirts and yellow taffeta sashes. The attendants carried colonial bouquets of yellow and white daisies with English Ivy. They wore yellow shoes and yellow velvet headbands with daisies on each side.

Reception Held
The reception for relatives and close friends was held in the garden at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Herndon James, where decorations were similar to those in the church. The refreshment table was laid with a pastel green organdy cloth and was decorated with a silver wine cooler holding delphinium and calla lilies.

Assisting the couple in receiving guests were their mothers, the hostesses and the bride's attendants. Also in the houseparty were Mrs. Alex P. Aven, Mrs. Robert G. Turner, Mrs. Stewart Sorey, Mrs. Robert Hutehison, Jr., Barbara Buxton, Margaret Cooper, Mary Lynne Mulky, Ethelyn Mills, Carolyn Rucker, Barbara Mee and Mrs. Robert Saunders of Tulsa, Okla.

For traveling, the bride changed to a suit of seafoam blue with brown accessories and a gardenia corsage.

RUBBER DOOR SHIELD
Keep your children from locking themselves in the bathroom or other rooms with a cleverly designed rubber shield made out of an old inner tube. Cut a strip of rubber from the tube long enough to stretch around the door from knob to knob. It will cover the latch and keep the door from clicking shut. Cut a hole in each end of the strip so that it can be fitted over both knobs.

Doris Lynnette Swindoll Becomes Bride Of Glenn Wayne Williams

In a garden wedding at 8 p.m. Thursday at the home of the bride's parents in San Angelo, Doris Lynnette Swindoll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Swindoll, became the bride of Glenn Wayne Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ruben Williams, 800 South Marienfeld Street. H. A. Mathews, minister of the Harris and Irving Church of Christ, San Angelo, read the double-ring ceremony as the wedding party stood before an arch of pastel-colored flowers and greenery.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a strapless gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over taffeta. The bodice of tulle and lace was topped with a scalloped lace jacket that had elbow-length sleeves. The skirt was fashioned of tulle and fan-pleated nylon net.

The bride's shoulder-length veil of French illusion was caught to a hand-blocked cap of lace that was edged with velvet and tiny seed pearls. She carried a white prayer book topped with white roses.

Attendees Named
Paddy Hollingshead of San Angelo was the maid of honor. Her dress was of pink marquisette over taffeta, featuring a bouffant skirt and fitted bodice with a sweetheart neckline. Her headband was of pink tulle and velvet and she wore a corsage of white carnations.

Anita Anderson of San Angelo, bridesmaid, was wearing a dress of blue embroidered nylon net over taffeta. It was fashioned with a ballerina-length skirt and strapless bodice topped with a stole. Completing the costume, Miss Anderson wore a headband in blue tulle and velvet and a corsage of pink carnations.

Billy Dean Jones of Midland, cousin of the bridegroom, was the best man, with Bobby Harris, also of Midland, as usher.

Reception Held
The reception also was held in the garden at the Swindoll home. The three-tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bridal couple.

Nancy Maddux and Irma Knight, both of San Angelo, presided at the refreshment table. Wanda Shook, also of San Angelo, registered guests.

When the couple left on a wedding trip to the Indian Lodge in the Davis Mountains, the bride was wearing a pink linen suit, with matching accessories and a corsage of white roses. When they return this week, the newlyweds will live in Midland.

Mrs. Williams was graduated from San Angelo High School, where she was a member of the Footlighters and Theatrical dramatic organizations and the A Cappella Choir.

The bridegroom was graduated from Midland High School, where he was vice president of the D. E. Club. He is associated with the Johnson News Agency here.

Midlanders Attend
Midlanders attending the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Ruben Williams and son, Bobby, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. DePrang, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Jones, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Coren L. Stephenson, Joan Jones, Bobby Harris, Truman Copeland and Billy Dean Jones.

Other out-of-city guests included Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Shuler of Fort Worth, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Carson of Odessa and Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Morrison of Austin.

RUTH MILLETT SAYS— Getting Family To Help Makes Housework Easier

A woman reader, who has written to me in the past, asks, "Ever come across any bright, new, workable ideas for streamlining housework? I'm still looking for substitutes for elbow grease."

"A column on household work savers would be warmly welcomed. Psychology may be a useful household weapon against monotony and fatigue, but for those of us with little domestic talent, and other abilities, I still buy the streamliners. Trouble is, I need some cheap ones." So far as I know there is no way to streamline housework as effectively as educating a family to regard the house in which they live as theirs to help keep neat and orderly. It's not just theirs to use as a hotel. That isn't easy to do. But once accomplished it pays big dividends.

Family Shares Tasks
Every woman I know who does her housework with ease and speed has a family that shares the responsibility. They keep their rooms in order; clean up after themselves as they create clutter; and when they use something they put it back where it belongs.

The routine chores of housework aren't as time-consuming as trying to straighten up after a careless family. They can clutter up and disarrange a house faster than the woman of the house can follow tidying up.

A good housekeeper has to have cooperation from her family. If she doesn't and tries to be a good housekeeper she becomes a drudge who hates housework because she is forever frustrated in her determination to keep ahead of the work.

If any readers have any better ideas on streamlining housework, send them along.

Leftover preserved fruits may be chopped and added to a peanut butter sandwich filling.

Midland Florists To Attend Annual Association Meeting

At least three Midlanders will be among more than 1,000 Texas florists and their wives due to attend the 40th Annual Design School and Business Clinic of the Texas State Florists Association July 12 to 15 in Fort Worth.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Koegler of Midland Floral Company and G. A. Diemer of Permian Basin Wholesale Florist, Inc., plan to attend the affair. Spokesmen for other Midland floral companies were not certain who of their firms would attend, but most plan to send representatives.

The three-and-a-half-day convention, Ray McCulloch of Fort Worth, general chairman of arrangements, explained, will be built around an intensive daily-session design school, a practical business clinic and regular business meetings.

Some 100 wholesale florists from all over the United States will exhibit flowers in a trade fair covering three floors of Hotel Texas.

Texas florists will have "their days" July 14 and 15 with a display of 12 "all occasion" tables in the Hilton Hotel. Each will feature a theme such as Valentine's, Mother's Day, Christmas and the like.

Johnny Glodt of San Antonio, association president, will preside over business meetings and the election of next year's officers and directors.

Five design artists and a commentator will provide the examples, demonstrations and commentary comprising the design school sessions. Marian Fisher of New York City, nationally known for her participation in floral design schools over the nation, will be commentator.

The designers are Harold Cook, Dixon, Ill.; Helen Paine, Columbus,

Ga.; John Hancock, Dallas; Bert Hodgkins, McAllen; and Bill Roach, Houston. Each is recognized as an expert in floral circles, according to Steve Eichelberger of Austin, director of the design school.

"Everything from basic fundamentals to complicated design work will be covered in the course of the school," says Felix Ankele, local schoolmaster.

Directing the business clinic will be Prof. Paul Krone of Michigan State College, serving in the role of moderator. Professors A. F. DeWorth and L. J. Tolle of Texas A&M will assist him.

Mayor Edgar Deen of Fort Worth will welcome the delegates in the initial meeting July 12.

Entertainment features will be a welcome party sponsored by Fort Worth Allied Florists; a barbecue dinner-dance with Ray McKinley's orchestra; three breakfasts honoring members of the florists wire services; a game party; a past president's breakfast; a style show and luncheon for ladies; and the traditional President's Ball at which newly-elected officers of the association will be presented.

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Neill, 2617 Delano Street, are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Mary Jane, to Joe R. Cochran, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe R. Cochran, Sr., of Fort Worth.

The couple will be married in a ceremony at 8 p.m. on August 28 in the First Presbyterian Church, with the Rev. Flynn V. Long officiating.

Miss Neill was graduated from Midland High School and attended Texas Christian College, Fort Worth, and Austin College, Sherman. She now is employed with the Union Oil Company.

At TCU, Miss Neill served as vice president of the Frogettes and at Austin College she was a member of Alpha Delta Chi Sorority and the Ex-Kangarettes.

The prospective bridegroom, who is studying for the ministry, will enter the Austin Theological Seminary, Austin, this fall.

He was graduated from Paschal High School, Fort Worth, and attended Texas A&M College, College Station, and Austin College.

At Austin College, he played basketball, was a member of the band, the Ex-Slimes, Phi Sigma Alpha Fraternity and the Ministerial Students Association.

Altrusa Club—

new organization by the Altrusa Club.

Altrusans have helped to obtain increased appropriations for the library and have made an extensive study of the needs of the library and possible solutions to the problems. They have helped to present the information from the survey to city and county officials and citizens, both through personal calls and a pamphlet distributed by the club.

A career club for Midland High School girls has been a major project for the vocational committee with Mrs. Jack Mashburn as chairman. Eighteen persons, representing various types of businesses, spoke to the MHS club this year to help members decide on vocations.

At the close of school, a $100 scholarship was presented to Ann Kennamer for achievement in scholastic record, extra curricular activities and good citizenship.

Three Altrusans also are serving as officers of the Latin-American Youth Center.

Aid Civic Drives
Under the direction of the public affairs committee, with Mrs. J. W. Carroll as chairman, club members have assisted in such projects as the cleanup campaign, Navy educational program, March of Dimes, get-out-the-vote drive and Community Ambassador Project. Mrs. Lenie Davidson has headed club workers who assisted with the TB seal drive and chest X-ray program.

In the field of Altrusa information, a committee that has been headed by Mrs. Maurine Mims, the club has held joint meetings with Abilene, Big Spring and Odessa clubs and has erected new Altrusa signs on the highways leading into Midland. Mrs. Wallace conducted the officer installation service and Mrs. Phillips was a speaker for the Abilene group this spring.

At the close of their year, members were working on plans for a project under their committee for rehabilitation of older women and were having their blood typed to donate as needed at the city's hospitals.

Other club members included Mrs. Ray Gwyn, Mrs. George S. Park, Hella May Williams, Christine Golladay, Mrs. James Noble, Mrs. Bertie Boone, Mrs. A. E. Houck, Mrs. M. D. Cox, Mrs. Virginia Hoffman, Mrs. Phil Sliemer, Mrs. Pauline McWilliams, Mrs. R. W. Cherry, Janette Blatherwick,

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Randall Shelton, who were married June 26 in Snyder, have established a residence in Midland.

The bride is the former Laura Sue Holmes, daughter of Fred Holmes of Kansas City, Mo., and Garland. She was graduated from Texas Technological College, Lubbock, in 1931, with a journalism degree, and has been employed as society editor of the Snyder Daily News.

At Tech, the bride was editor of the Torch, student newspaper, was named to the Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, and was a member of Theta Sigma Phi, national honorary and professional fraternity for women in journalism; Kappa Alpha Mu, national photography society; Kappa Sigma, social club; Alpha Chi and Alpha Lambda Delta, national honor societies, and the Press Club. She also is affiliated with the American Association of University Women.

In Midland, Mrs. Shelton will serve as the secretary at San Jacinto Junior High School.

The bridegroom, who is employed with the Humble Oil and Refining Company, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Shelton, 1208 West College Street. He served with the Eighth Army Headquarters in Korea.

He was graduated from Texas Tech in 1930 with a degree in journalism. He was a member of the Gargoyle Society, Kappa Alpha Mu, Silver Key and the Press Club.

The wedding was held at 9 p.m. in the home of Dr. and Mrs. R. F. Wasson, with the Rev. Ronald Hubbard, pastor of the Snyder First Presbyterian Church, officiating for the double ring ceremony.

Dr. Wasson gave the bride in marriage and Mrs. Wasson was her matron of honor. Serving as best man was Houston H. Harie.

The bride wore an Anne Fogarty dress of pink dymel and pima fashioned with a draped bodice and full skirt. Her white fallie shell hat was trimmed with rhinestones and other accessories were in white linen. She carried a white colonial nosegay and wore her mother's pearl earrings.

Mrs. Wasson was wearing a full-skirted dress of white pin-check cotton with white Irish crochet trim. She accented the dress with a white waist bouquet.

Midland Lass Finds Orient Peopled By Fascinating Folk

By RANELLE RHODES
(Twelve-year-old Midlander who is on an around-the-world voyage with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray R. Rhodes of Midland.)

ABROAD SS PRESIDENT MONROE, BOUND FOR INDIA—I can see why legends say the Garden of Eden was in Ceylon—because I think Ceylon is a beautiful country. All the strange kinds of trees and flowers and different varieties of fruits are found in abundance. The people are dark brown with a Caucasian look. They are very primitive, but are nice and quite pretty. The people also believe in giving their children education, because there are a lot of schools. Classes are held outside because of overcrowded rooms. All men and women wear long skirts. The old men wear knots on the back of their heads and some of the women still have stones bedded in their foreheads. Elephants Everywhere When we arrived in Ceylon we took a car and drove to Kandy, the ancient hill capital of the island. It was the prettiest drive I have ever seen. We saw a lot of elephants beside the road. In the zoo I always had seen elephants with gray ears, but here the elephants have gray ears with pink "poke-a-dots." We also saw the elephants taking baths in the streams. Then we went on farther and saw some pure white cranes flying through the air "with the greatest of beauty." Then we saw some bats. I don't mean some—I mean millions of them flying around. In Ceylon the crows are sacred, just like the cows are in India. They never kill one—so there are lots of crows. When we reached Kandy, we had lunch at the Kandy Hotel—and the food was terrible. Then we saw the most famous botanical garden in the world. I saw 21 different kinds of grass. Then we drove down the Avenue of Palms. There are 106 palms and they are 106 feet tall. From the Botanical Gardens we went to a temple, but there wasn't much to see. After leaving the temple, however, I had the time of my life. I got to ride on an elephant, but once you get on, it feels like the whole earth is moving. Elephants are huge. I can't get used to the elephants on the roads—just like cars. "Doesn't Touch U. S. A." I think Kandy is a beautiful spot, but it doesn't touch the United States of America. We had a beautiful drive back to Colombo, too. When we reached Colombo, we got a launch and came back to our ship. Ceylon reminds me of Hawaii in a way. It is a beautiful country and I hope I get to come back again. Ceylon won't be a picture in a travel book anymore. Good-bye... See you in India!

Czech Workers Face New Bread Shortage

VIENNA, AUSTRIA—(AP)—Despite a month-old currency reform, industrial areas of Czechoslovakia are again without bread.
 The Prague Communist newspaper Rude Pravo revealed Saturday that in Czechoslovakia's second largest coal region, bread is both short and of poor quality.
 Workers in the Stalin synthetic gasoline works at Horni Jirctin, said the newspaper, "frequently must go to work without bread."
 Western sources in Vienna said the shortage appears to be chiefly due to faulty distribution, although complaints of poor quality indicate that farmers are not producing the grain expected of them.

Police Use Tear Gas

+ Crane News +

CRANE—Dr. John E. Terry accompanied Bobby Robinson to Dallas recently for a check-up there. They returned this week and report his condition to be satisfactory, according to a Dallas specialist. Bobby was readmitted to the Crane Hospital, where he has been the last three weeks. He receives visitors and is able to get around in a wheelchair and walk occasionally. Administrators of the Crane Memorial Hospital have again sent out an appeal to citizens in Crane to join the walking blood bank. Due to the fast change of residency here, the bank is far below what it should be, they said. Frequently when a blood type is found in the files, and the person is called, he has moved away.

Response has been lacking in the drive to build up the free walking blood bank, and the public is urged to stop in at the hospital for a blood typing.

First Lt. Baker Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Davis of Crane received the Bronze Star Award for meritorious service while on the front lines in Korea. Lieutenant Davis served 10 months on the front with the Third Reconnaissance of the Third Infantry Division. He was discharged from San Antonio May 23 and is now with the Soil Conservation Service of the Department of Agriculture. He and his wife are now living in Harlingen. After about four weeks, he will be transferred to the Palestine-Coriscana District.

Bettie Lou Garrett Of Rockport Is Married To W. A. Livingston

Bettie Lou Garrett of Rockport and Waylon A. Livingston of Midland repeated double ring wedding vows at 7 p.m. Saturday in the First Methodist Church in Rockport.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Garrett of Rockport. She was graduated from Del Mar College in Corpus Christi, where she was a member of Phi Theta Kappa.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Livingston of Midland. He now is stationed at the Naval air station in Corpus Christi, where the couple will live. He attended Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene.

Calvin Peterson was the officiating minister for the wedding and music was provided by Nancy Dewveall of Sinton, organist, and Mrs. Denver Agler, Rockport, soloist. Baskets of white gladiolus and maroon daisies and cathedral tapers in branched candelabra were featured in church decorations.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a waist-length dress fashioned with a strapless bodice of white cotton lace and a flared skirt of white imported organdy over taffeta. A short lace bolero topped the fitted bodice.

The bride's finger-tip veil fell from a lace cap trimmed with tulle and she carried a heart-shaped arrange of pink carnations on a white Bible.

The bride's attendants were wearing identically-styled, waist-length dresses of organdy over taffeta with organdy mitts and nylon net bandeaux to match.

Attendants Named
Josell Boehnke of Corpus Christi, maid of honor, wore a lavender dress and carried yellow asters. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Glen Hyde, Odessa, who wore a pastel green dress and carried pink asters, and Mrs. Jim Adams, Rockport, whose dress was in yellow and who carried lavender asters.

D. H. Livingston of Midland attended his brother's wedding. Serving as groomsmen and ushers were Jim Adams and John Gilmore, both of Rockport.

The wedding reception was held in the church annex. Assisting in the houseparty were Mary Ann Close of Rockport, Lawanna Taylor of Corpus Christi and Linda Orestett of Beeville.

The bride's table, encircled with fern and mixed flowers, was laid with a white satin cloth with an organdy flourish. The bride's flowers were placed on a reflector on the table and the three-tiered cake was topped with a miniature bridal couple. Pink candles burning in crystal holders lighted the setting.

For traveling, the bride changed to a two-piece dress of navy silk shantung with black patent accessories and a carnation corsage.

Out-of-city guests for the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Livingston, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Livingston and Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Jones, Midland; Mr. and Mrs. Glen Hyde, Odessa; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Livingston, San Antonio; Glenn Voorheis, Corpus Christi; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cole, Houston; Mrs. G. B. Dewveall, Sinton, and Earlann Commander and Carol Sutton, Aransas Pass.

German Lawmakers Demonstrate Peace

BONN, GERMANY.—(AP)—The West German government proudly claimed Saturday that members of the first postwar German Parliament did not come to blows once during the four years of its existence.

As Parliament dissolved in advance of next September's general election, officials reviewing its work in an official bulletin pointed out that the lawmakers' good behavior was in marked contrast to the rowdiness of the old prewar Reichstag whose brawling let Hitler seize power.

New Clubhouse To Be Milestone In Woman's Club Achievements

Summer, 1953, will see the fulfillment of a long-time dream from the 23-year history of the Midland Woman's Club, Inc.

August 1 is the approximate date when the first shovel of dirt is expected to be turned to start the construction of the clubhouse across from the Ranchland Hill Country Club, with work on the building to begin immediately. Club meetings and other activities will be scheduled for the clubhouse this fall, officials said.

Member clubs and individual members of the Woman's Club are working at present on a fund-raising project. It is hoped the current drive will complete the necessary cash for the new structure.

The erection of a clubhouse marks another milestone in the year of work and service of the Midland Woman's Club, Inc., to the community, for the building will be available as a meeting place for other groups and associations, as well as for private social affairs. Its construction will fill a long time need in Midland, according to many local residents.

Almost a quarter of a century ago, Midland women realized a need for a "clearing house for all information of interest to women's organizations and the focusing of their efforts on common objectives." In 1930, the City Federation of Women's Clubs was formed. It later became the City-County Federation, retaining that name until 1949, when the name "Midland Woman's Club" was chosen.

Special Programs

Efforts of the club have made possible a Midland appearance of Carleton Palmer, Atlanta, Ga., lecturer on art, who showed 50 paintings, book reviews given by Dallas speakers, programs by out-of-city musicians, exhibits of fine gems, illustrated talks by Neiman Marcus Galleries personnel, resumes of Midland's early history, and a program by students from foreign lands, in a symposium marking the United Nations Day. These special programs are in addition to the regular monthly club sessions, open to all women of Midland who wish to join.

When World War II came, the federation stressed the sale of war bonds, participated in Red Cross work and aided in the operation of OPA. Members also worked at the Soldiers Center and as nurses aides. With all the pressure of wartime problems, club women realized that teen-age youth had a particular need. Discussions were started on plans for a city recreation center, resulting in the idea of a youth center that materialized into the Youth Center. The federation helped supply the necessary furniture.

Projects Listed

The first federation project was to obtain a county health nurse, and in 1931 this goal was achieved. A cleanup campaign was sponsored next in cooperation with the Chamber of Commerce and service clubs. In 1932, a scholarship fund was started with a donation from the Fine Arts Club, and in succeeding years this money made possible the college education of several Midland girls. The fund still is in existence.

Three years later, the need for a Girl Scout program was felt and the federation sponsored this activity, as well as giving Christmas baskets to needy families and supporting the library and museum. Realizing that Midland ought to have its civic face lifted, a beautification program was instituted in 1937, with special emphasis for two years on playgrounds, vacant lots and alleys.

When World War II came, the federation stressed the sale of war bonds, participated in Red Cross work and aided in the operation of OPA. Members also worked at the Soldiers Center and as nurses aides. With all the pressure of wartime problems, club women realized that teen-age youth had a particular need. Discussions were started on plans for a city recreation center, resulting in the idea of a youth center that materialized into the Youth Center. The federation helped supply the necessary furniture.

A traffic safety drive for school children then was launched and a petition for stop-and-go signal lights was successful. A conference with national and state safety officers later was sponsored by the organization at the high school.

Midland Woman's Club members began in 1949 to think seriously about the possibility of a clubhouse. To start the building club fund, two major projects were planned: Sale of Midland historical plates and the Percy Grainger concert. The plate, which was produced in limited edition, is the only one of its kind Midland has had, and is a keepsake, depicting the city's skyline in contrast to scenes of its early history.

The club, which is non-sectarian, non-partisan and non-profit has contributed to the following: Midland Memorial Hospital fund, Council Tuberculosis Association, Buffalo Trail Scout Ranch, Community Chest, local philanthropies, Musical Penny Fund and Latin-American scholarship.

Polio when a total of 400 club members and other women of Midland raised almost $7,000 for the cause.

A Past Presidents' Club was organized last year and Mrs. J. Howard Hodge, a former president of the federated clubs in Midland, was named to lead the group. A gift of $1,000 from Mrs. Hodge secured membership for the new group in the Midland Woman's Club, Inc.

Midland Woman's Club, Inc. withdrew in March, 1952, from the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs so that non-federated clubs in the city could affiliate. At present, 13 clubs are members of the Midland Woman's Club, Inc.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

My mouth has now been open for ten minutes in the hope that some word of praise might come from it for the contract in today's hand. It is now time to close my mouth and admit that the contract was a very poor one, arrived at by quiet foolish overbidding on the part of South.

North did his very best to warn his partner that he had very good spades but a poor fit for diamonds when he doubled a nonvulnerable opponent at a contract of only one spade.

In spite of this clear warning, South got himself up to a slam contract practically single-handed. The worst of it is, that South found a way to steal the contract, and then decided that he had bid the hand very cleverly.

West opened the pack of spades, and declarer won the trick in dummy with the ace. It was obvious that he would have to lose the ace of clubs and that a trump trick would have to be surrendered no matter how the missing five diamonds might be divided.

Only a swindle could save declarer, and he promptly tried for it by leading the king of spades from dummy at the second trick. Just as declarer had hoped, East decided that South was in a hurry to get discards on the high spades, so he ruffed the second spade with the three of diamonds.

This was all declarer needed. He overruffed with the four of diamonds, dropped all of the missing trumps with the ace and king, and cheerfully conceded the ace of clubs.

It is hard to blame East for ruffing the second spade. It certainly seems as though South were in a hurry to discard a possible losing heart. If East did decide to ruff, however, he should have ruffed with the ten of diamonds. Then if South chose to overruff, he would still have to lose a trump trick.

Q—The bidding has been:
South West North East
1 Spade 2 Clubs 2 Dmnds. Pass

You, South, hold: Spades A-K-Q-J-8-3, Hearts K-Q-6-3, Diamonds K-2, Club 5. What do you do?
A—Bid four no-trump. You can use the Blackwood Convention to find out how many aces your partner holds. If he has only one ace, you will stop at five spades; two aces, six spades; three aces, seven spades.

LAUNDRY-HANGING Farmer Released; Defense Claimed

SAN JOSE, CALIF.—(AP)—Authorities decided farmer Joseph L. Gautier acted in self defense when he shot and killed his wife in a quarrel over whether to hang out the wash or make love. They released him Friday.

The 51-year-old farmer had been in jail since Wednesday when he told police about the shooting.

Gautier claimed he was hanging out the laundry at their shack in the hills about Cupertino when his wife, Dacia, 40, demanded that he stop and "make love."

When he refused, Gautier said, she started blasting away at him with a rifle. Gautier got another rifle and fired back. Dacia fell dead.

The district attorney's office said its investigation showed that at least six shots were fired at Gautier and an autopsy disclosed Mrs. Gautier was intoxicated at the time.

Three Bandits Get Thousands In Dallas Supermarket Robbery

DALLAS.—(AP)—Three robbers fled with thousands of dollars in pre-holiday receipts after holding up a crowded Safeway supermarket Friday night.

Manager J. D. White told officers the three men entered the store together. One walked to the manager's check stand and one to a second stand. The third remained at the door. Each carried a pistol.

The older man, about 30, shouted for a large crowd of late shoppers to "shut up." They kept quiet while the bandits collected money from the check stands and the store safe.

White said the company would not be able to determine the loss until later. He said it was one of the store's biggest days with customers buying for the Fourth of July weekend.

Texas Steel Firm Lists Wage Boosts

DAINGERFIELD.—(AP)—The Lone Star Steel Company said Friday a new rate structure for its 2,000 un-ion employees would mean a 33-cent an hour wage increase by July 1 next year. President E. B. Tuberville, Dallas, announced the agreement with the CIO.

The club, which is non-sectarian, non-partisan and non-profit has contributed to the following: Midland Memorial Hospital fund, Council Tuberculosis Association, Buffalo Trail Scout Ranch, Community Chest, local philanthropies, Musical Penny Fund and Latin-American scholarship.

Pastor-Builder Has Steady Job Raising Rural Churches

DALLAS—A former oil driller and real estate salesman is building churches for Baptists in Texas.

E. O. Hartwell, whose several jobs often netted him an income of $1,500 a month, heard the Lord calling him to be a preacher in 1946.

He quit his job, sold a store he was operating and gave up his real estate business.

Like Noah, he was ridiculed by some who told him he couldn't find a place to preach. "But when the Lord calls you to do something, he leads the way," the jovial preacher believes.

Hartwell bought a tent and chairs, and set up equipment for his first revival at Rattlesnake Cave, seven miles from Monahans. The first night 80 people gathered for the services.

After this revival, other invitations came, and a Brady pastor invited him to start a mission for his church.

He soon was asked to work for the Executive Board of the Baptist General Convention of Texas as a builder of rural churches. He is the first and only one to be employed in this field of service.

Hartwell now is constructing his tenth church building at a mission site of the First Baptist Church of Grand Prairie. He already has conducted a Vacation Bible School and a revival, and the work on the building has begun. Cost of the building is kept at a minimum because of the free labor of his workers and because much of the material is donated.

Mrs. Hartwell travels with her husband from site to site in a house trailer. "Don't know what I'd do without her," the builder says. "She

Outdoor Dining Easy Summer Entertainment

By ADELAIDE KERR
Associated Press Newsfeature Writer

Outdoor dining is becoming increasingly popular as a pleasant way to entertain in Summer. As the number of home owners grows and the weekend congestion of highways continues, an expanding number of people are inclined to take their relaxation in their own back yards and invite their nearby friends to share it with them.

These parties are a lot easier on the hostess than indoor entertaining in these days of servant scarcity. For one thing, the host has a chance to show what a clever chef he is; for another much simpler service is used.

In case you are interested in doing likewise, there are lots of different ideas to consider, from Sunday lunch on the terrace to an informal picnic in the backyard.

A favorite around New York is the weekend lunch or dinner. Charcoal-broiled steak or chicken, or grilled hamburgers generally make the heart of the meal, flanked with baked or fried potatoes and green salad, or stacks of celery, radishes and carrot strips. Iced watermelon or some other fruit, with coffee, complete it.

Some people like these parties so much, they have permanent brick or stone grills in their back yards. Others buy a little charcoal wagon and wheel it into the back yard to grill everything from steaks to hamburgers. Still others prefer an old-fashioned supper of baked beans, partially cooked in a bean pot in the kitchen oven, and finished out of doors in a hole dug in the ground near the fire. This requires an expert cook, however, and is no trick for a novice.

All this can be served in a number of different ways. If the guests are relatively few, everybody can gather around the glass-topped table on the terrace or around an improvised table made of a few long planks laid across two trestles. If they are many, they can be served on trays. There are some new ones with indentations to hold plates and cups, so that they don't skid and many people like them better than small low tables.

In any case, the service should be kept so simple that much of it can be thrown away afterward. Don't take your best china out of doors to be broken or lost. Most hostesses who entertain out of doors use plastic or paper plates and cups.

A word about what happens after the last drop of coffee has been swallowed. If your guests are old friends, they may enjoy visiting one another more than any thing else. But if they are relatively strange to one another, it is not a bad idea to have a few simple games up your sleeve, to shake out if the party threatens to grow dull.

Leftover syrup from canned fruits makes a good basting liquid for ham.

SUCCESSOR?—Hermann Kastner, former chairman of the East German Liberal Democratic Party, may replace Otto Grotewohl as prime minister of East Germany, Der Abend, a West Berlin newspaper reported. Grotewohl has been under fire by Soviet authorities because of the worker riots in East Germany.

GARDEN NOTES

Plant Needs Guide Watering Methods

(One of a series of articles on gardening in Midland, prepared and submitted by Midland Garden Clubs).

There probably is more widespread disagreement on watering than on any other phase of gardening. One gardener believes in sprinkling by hand, another uses a soil soaker, a fancy sprinkler or runs an open hose in the flower bed. One waters every day, another once a week.

Since watering is such an important part of gardening in this dry region, particularly in this year of little rainfall, it will pay to study carefully how much to water and how often.

Study Soil Characteristics

One reason for the variation in watering practice is that there is no general understanding of the basic facts of water.

In this area, the soil may be classified as sandy. It is made up of particles which are fairly large. Water goes through such soil much more rapidly than it goes through the opposite type, clay soil. The happy medium is a loam which is the soil all good gardeners try to develop.

Another consideration is the type of plant grown. A gardener knows that some plants are shallow rooted and others have a deep root system. For example, some types of grasses have roots only a foot deep but Bermuda grass in good soil, deeply prepared, may go down as far as three feet. Zinnia, verbena and petunia roots can be three feet deep; onions and lettuce about a foot.

Fruit trees such as apricot, peach, pear and fig may have root depths of about five feet. Shade tree roots such as Chinese elms and other shallow rooted types will be around three feet and those with a deep tap root may go down 15 or 20 feet.

Obviously, the soil must be wet more thoroughly for the deeper rooted plants. If it is not, the roots will develop only where there is available moisture, at a shallow depth, and the plant will not thrive. Now it is necessary to know how much water is needed. Tests have shown that with average full pressure on a hose it will take 10 minutes to fill 100 square feet of sandy soil to a depth of one foot. But remember that there are few plants with such shallow roots and it will be much safer to figure on supplying water at least to a two and one-half foot depth.

To measure the water delivery by a sprinkler, place coffee cans at equal intervals in a line running out from the sprinkler. Measure the time required to fill the cans to a one inch depth. This is approximately the amount of water necessary to wet our soil to a depth of one foot. Multiply this time by two and one-half and you will water long enough to wet the soil to a sufficient depth for average conditions.

It is just as injurious to plants to water too often as it is to water too seldom. It has been shown that lawns can be unwatered until the wilting point is reached with no ill effects. This wilting point is different for different grasses, but it is estimated that a lawn in this area will use two and one-half inches of water per week. This would require running a hose for 25 minutes at full force once a week for each 100 square feet of lawn area. No exact rules are practical, but if water deviates very much from this suggested amount it would be good to revise the present schedule.

Know Atmospheric Conditions
Other considerations in watering are the amount of planting in a given area, the amount of heat, drying winds and sunlight. In Midland, the gardener will assume that a combination of heat, wind and dryness will cause a faster loss of water than might be considered normal. Thus it would be best to water slightly over the recommended amounts.

A factor which many gardeners do not understand is the lack of lateral movement of water. No matter how long water is run in a furrow there is little lateral spread. Water run for 24 hours in a one foot furrow spreads out only to a two foot width at a 36-inch depth. Every square inch of soil must be soaked to do a satisfactory watering job, so do not expect plants a foot or two from a watered area to receive water underground. A tree's most active root growth is at the outer edge of the branch spread and watering at the trunk only is not enough.

Avoid relaxing every evening, standing by the flower bed, visiting with the neighbors while hand sprinkling here and there. This may cool off the sprinkler but it will not help the plants to develop deep roots which survive a drought. Study your own conditions, decide on a regular watering schedule, stick to it and you and your lawn and garden will have a happier Summer.
