

Confident Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Inner Stillness Relieves Tension

THE PEOPLE OF ENGLAND now consume ten million aspirin tablets a day—so says a news dispatch. And an English doctor, commenting on this, called his country, "a nation which is sick and tired."

But we on this side of the Atlantic seem to be even more sick and tired. Our daily intake of aspirin is forty-two million a day, according to Dr. John C. Krantz, Jr., of the University of Maryland. Dr. Krantz attributes this to the pace at which we live. "In the old days," he says, "if somebody missed a stage coach, he was willing to wait around for the next one. Now we swear if we miss a slot in a revolving door."

This tempo of living, so greatly accelerated in our time, inevitably leads to tension—and tension therefore has become one of the major personal problems of people today. A young man in a distant city once got my telephone number and called me to say that he was so tense that, as he put it, he could almost jump out of his skin. He wanted me to help him. Of course, I was sympathetic and made some suggestions.

BUT I SOON FOUND THAT HE was getting into the habit of calling me every time he felt tense; he was leaning on me, transferring his problem to me instead of dealing with it himself. "The only way I can get any relief," he would say, "is to pick up the telephone and talk to you."

Then, finally, he happened to call me at two in the morning and woke me from a sound sleep. "Look," I told him, "why don't you save money on your telephone bills? Instead of dialing me, why don't you turn to a book that you can keep at your bedside and dial that?"

And then I told him to take his Bible and mark some passages I would give him. "When you get up in the middle of the night and find you can't sleep because of tension, turn to the Book and try these until your tension is reduced," I said.

I HAD A LITTLE DIFFICULTY convincing him that this was better than telephoning a human being, but at last I succeeded. He hasn't called me for months, but he has written to say that the most helpful Scripture passage of all has been this from the 46th Psalm: "Be still, and know that I am God."

This is a tremendous truth that can affect you and me just as it did this young man. Just be quiet, it says, and let God's calmness steal over you. Remember that God is here and that He is with you always and can do everything for you. This manner of thinking will show you that there is no need to be upset or disturbed or tense. As you get your mind on God, you will get it off your troubles, your hates, your conflicts, things that cause tension.

The one thing which can bring relief from tension is this God-given stillness. Pascal, the great scientific thinker, said, "One of the ways in which man brings the most troubles on himself is his inability to be still."

WE MUST LEARN THE ART OF inner stillness. That does not mean inaction in the affairs of life. On the contrary, it does mean that all worthwhile creative activity in life comes from an inner center which is still, at ease and free from tension. Edwin Markham wrote, "At the heart of the cyclone tearing the sky, is a place of central calm." So in our life our mind power derives from a calm center.

You can become a person of driving force and energy, be relieved of tension and lead a healthier life as you master the art of stillness. "Be still, and know that I am God." Say that wonderful sentence to yourself every day.

Flash Floods Drench Many Areas In Texas

By The Associated Press

Thunderstorms and flash floods assailed Texas' history making drouth Saturday. Hard showers drenched scattered sections from bone dry West Texas to the Trinity River bottoms in North and East Texas—and more rain was promised Sunday.

But Midland, along with much of the state, still waited in vain for the drouth-chasing moisture. Forecasts of overcast skies kept hopes alive.

In Albany, 38 miles northeast of Abilene, more than seven inches of hard rain Saturday morning pushed Hubbard Creek out of its banks and into lowland homes of the town of 2,500. Several houses were swept from their foundations and numerous cattle were caught in the swirling flood waters.

U. S. Highway 180 southwest of Albany was under two feet of water for a brief time after the dam of a large stock tank northwest of town burst and added its capacity to the swollen creek.

Highway 80 Closed

A total of 4.20 inches of rain in Ranger closed busy U. S. Highway 80 between Eastland and Ranger as Colony Creek went out of its banks. Eastland had 2.73 inches.

Traffic on an alternate highway route from Morton Valley to Ranger also was halted by high water.

Stamford, 40 miles north of Abilene, was flooded by 4.95 inches Saturday morning. Moran, 15 miles southeast of Albany, had 3.50 inches. Knox City, 72 miles north of Abilene, had 3.25.

A total of 3.67 inches of rain fell in Beaumont in one hour and 15 minutes. Lufkin got 2.35 inches. Ferris, south of Dallas, received approximately four inches. Two inches fell in Navarro County and in Southern Glasscock County. Lubbock, Amarillo, El Paso, Dallas, Abilene, Corsicana, College Station, Childress and Dalhart received moisture ranging from a trace to heavy showers.

River Flows At Laredo

At Laredo, the Rio Grande began flowing past the International Bridge for the first time in 37 days.

Only in Southwest Texas did 100 degree plus weather prevail. Preddid had 107, Laredo and Alice 104, Cotulla 103 and Del Rio 102. Amarillo and Abilene had readings of 81 for the lowest maximums.

The downpour Saturday followed multi-inch rains Friday and Friday night which sent crests flooding in historic Fort Davis, Abilene and Fort Worth. More than 200 persons in Abilene were evacuated Friday after rains totaling more than four inches.

Crucial Truce Huddle Opens

MUNSAN—(P)—The Korean truce talks resumed Sunday after a 48-hour recess in a decisive meeting expected to show whether the Communists sincerely want a truce now or insist on stalling off the long-awaited armistice signing.

The full dress delegations gathered in their Panmunjom conference hut at 2 p.m. (11 p.m. Saturday, Texas time).

The Communist negotiators were expected to reveal their answer to a reported Allied demand that both sides proceed at once with preparations for the signing ceremony.

The UN Command was understood to have told the Communists before the recess that there no longer was any reason for delaying a cease-fire in the three-year-old conflict.

If the Reds kept talking, it seemed likely that the Allies may stage a walkout from the truce hut.

"It was long distance and Bates' 20-year-old son, Eldred, was calling to extend the greetings of the day to his father.

Oklahoma Campus Stunned At News

NORMAN, OKLA. —(P)— Few students and faculty members were on the University of Oklahoma campus Saturday, but news that 22 OU Naval ROTC students were killed in a plane crash struck a sudden blow, putting many into unashamed tears.

Dr. George L. Cross, University president, told a reporter: "This is the greatest tragedy in the history of the university."

Many professors cried openly.

"The campus of the university and all of the State of Oklahoma are deeply shocked over this terrible loss. These men were all specially chosen for the NROTC and were among the best students on the campus. The loss is personal. We are all stunned by the shock."

Lt. L. R. Gaston, acting professor of naval science who trained the youth last school year, grimly set about calling each parent, and doing what he could to soften the blow.

"When you've completed a year's

All UT Reservists Escape Air Crash

HOUSTON —(P)— Ten Rice Institute students, six of them Texans and all members of the Naval ROTC, were killed in the Florida crash of a Marine transport plane Friday night.

An eleventh Rice student survived the crash. He is Jay Weidner, Jr., of Philadelphia.

The University of Texas said 32 UT Naval Reservists were in the training program but none was aboard the plane that crashed.

Martin Commissioners Seek Hearing For Ousted Officers

A full public hearing on the discharge last week of six West Texas employees of the State Department of Public Safety was demanded Saturday by the Commissioners Court of Martin County.

Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., head of the Department of Public Safety, to whom the request was made, said Saturday he felt sure a hearing could be arranged.

While none of the five state highway patrolmen nor the motor vehicle license inspector was stationed in Martin County, Stanton has been a common meeting place of the men from Lamesa, Big Spring and Midland.

And the acceptance of free meals in Stanton by the six men was one of the reasons reported as responsible for the discharge of the men for violation of "department regulations."

Affected by the action announced Thursday by Director Homer Garrison, in Austin were State Highway Patrolmen Jack Whitson of Midland, Amos G. Jackson and Jack Taylor of Big Spring and James Craddock and James Joplin of Lamesa and Motor Vehicle Inspector Oscie Renfrow of Midland.

"There are not any more honest officers in the state than these six men," said County Judge James McMorris of Stanton in announcing the action by the Commissioners Court.

"Sure, we have bought meals for these men and we have bought meals for any other officers traveling through our city.

Certainly these men should not be made to suffer for the native hospitality of the people of Martin County."

The resolution asking for the public hearing was passed Friday afternoon at a special session of Commissioners Court called by Judge McMorris.

County Attorney Ralph Caton was reported working on the draft of the resolution which will be sent Monday to Gov. Allan Shivers and Garrison.

"You can be sure," said Judge McMorris, "that the courtesies we extend the officers in Martin County were extended by the Martin County Commissioners Court on behalf of the county solely in appreciation of the fine work performed by these officers in this area, and there were no personal gratuities involved."

The resolution protesting the action by Garrison and asking for the hearing was joined in by the county attorney and by Sheriff Dan Saunders, himself a former state highway patrolman.

Judge McMorris pointed out that the patrolmen frequently met in Stanton since it was a central point between the cities of Midland, Big Spring and Lamesa.

In Midland, Whitson and Renfrow remained silent on the controversy although some of the other dis-

Death Roster Includes Son Of Midlander

MILTON, FLA.—(P)—A twin-engined Marine transport plane taking part in a giant airlift of 1,600 Naval ROTC college students crashed at midnight Friday, killing 41 men.

Ten were Rice Institute students. An eleventh was Eldred Bates of Norman, Okla., son of E. D. Bates of Midland and a student at the University of Oklahoma.

Midland Dad Recalls Son's Last Message Before Crash

Almost all of the dead were ROTC students undergoing Summer training at Corpus Christi, Texas, and Norfolk, Va. The passengers were being flown from Corpus Christi to Norfolk for amphibious drills.

Five badly injured occupants who miraculously survived the disaster as the plane took off after a refueling stop included two members of the craft's six-man Marine crew. They were Capt. C. E. Graff, Morehead City, N. C., and Cpl. J. P. Tuttle, Chaumont, N. Y.

College students surviving were Dale E. Scott, East Lansing, Mich.; Jay B. Weidner, Jr., Philadelphia, Pa., and Thomas F. Maggard, Kansas City, Mo.

The Navy at Norfolk announced that all Fairchild Packet planes like the one which crashed were being grounded temporarily. Other types took over the airlift.

Rolling Ball Of Fire

The Packet is the Marine version of the C-119 Flying Boxcar.

The doomed plane burst into a rolling ball of fire after smashing through a clump of trees. It scattered burning wreckage and bodies for more than 100 yards before crashing into three parked automobiles and a barn.

Billy Lavendar, photographer for the Mobile Press Register who flew over the scene Saturday, said he noted that the plane's left engine might have gone out.

Two men struggled from the cracking flames and staggered to safety. Alex Allen, 15, who lived on the farm where the crash occurred, said one of the survivors asked him to pull off his burning clothes and shoes.

Six survivors were picked up by Navy rescue teams but one man died in Whiting Field Hospital about four hours later without regaining consciousness.

Navy crewmen joined in extinguishing a fire which the blazing debris and gasoline started in nearby woods.

The crash scene itself was littered with burning plane parts, casting an eerie, flickering light on the

Gas Fumes Kill Two Operators Of Still Hidden By Pig Pen

WAGONER, OKLA. —(P)— Police reported two men died Saturday in an illegal underground distillery camouflaged by a pig pen.

The victims, Frank Elwood, 43, and Charles Hutching, 41, apparently were overcome by gas fumes, officers said.

Sheriff Choate Neal said the men had their still beneath a tin building used to shelter swine on the Elwood farm.

Neal described the still as the most modern the county officers ever had seen. The plant, operated by manufactured gas, was fed from two 500-barrel mash containers.

Three Midlanders Win Final Prizes In Community Survey

Thirty-seven, thirty-eight, thirty-nine.

That's the way The Reporter-Telegram's community ad survey ended last week—with three more Midlanders bringing the total winners up to 39, and the total prize money up to $1,040.

Mrs. Brandon E. Rea, 1503 North Main Street, was No. 37 on the list as first-place winner. She got the thirteenth $40 check given during the survey.

Experience as a newspaper editor was her key to first-place money.

Mrs. Rea, who, by the way, keeps track of Midland and Odessa construction for a Texas contractors' magazine, is editor of a newspaper in Mont Clare, Ill., a suburb of Chicago, before she and her optometrist-husband moved to Midland.

"I had to read the entire paper when I was an editor," Mrs. Rea laughed, "and the habit just stuck with me."

"A friend of mine asked me not long ago why I didn't enter the survey, but I had some sort of excuse to offer. She thought my newspaper experience would probably give me an edge over other readers."

Has the ad survey served a good purpose? Mrs. Rea thinks so.

Senate Committee May Probe Disaster

WASHINGTON —(P)— Chairman Saltonstall (R-Mass.) said Saturday the Senate Armed Services Committee might check into the crash of a Marine Corps plane that took the lives of 41 young reservists and crewmen Friday night near Milton, Fla.

He told a reporter he expects the Navy to make a complete investigation of the tragedy and added: "If that investigation is unsatisfactory, the Senate committee may take action."

Three Die In Road Crash At Andrews

Three persons died and one was injured seriously about 8:15 p.m. Saturday in a head-on auto collision six miles west of Andrews on the Eunice Highway.

A 10-year-old girl suffered only slight injuries in the wreck which took the lives of her mother, Mrs. W. H. Yancey, 46, of Odessa, J. T. Griffin of Menard, driver of a 1949 sedan, and Elmer Joy, also of Menard and rider with Griffin.

W. H. Yancey, driver of the other car, was "doing fairly well" at midnight Saturday in Midland Memorial Hospital, where he was taken after the accident. Attending physicians, however, termed his condition "serious." Full extent of his injuries had not been determined.

Andrews Deputy John Suggs said the young Yancey girl was "doing all right" Saturday night in the Permian Basin Hospital, Andrews.

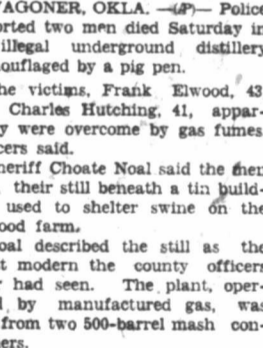

"I've never seen cars torn up like that," Suggs continued, "it was one of the worst wrecks I've ever seen."

Aiding in the investigation were Andrews Sheriff F. E. Peacock and members of the Seminole Highway Patrol unit.

Refinery Damaged

ALLEN, OKLA. —(P)— A flash fire caused by an overheated oil line burned a small section of Sunray Refinery here Saturday but was under control within an hour.

Mrs. Brandon E. Rea

"First, I think it has established a reading pattern that won't be broken," she said. "People have been paying more and more attention to the ads because of the survey, and I think they'll keep doing so even though there are no cash prizes involved."

"Secondly, though, I think it's helped the people to match firm names and merchandise. From now on when they see the name of such-and-such a company on an ad, they'll automatically remember what type of store it is, lumber, clothing, automobile, or the like."

Mrs. Rea has listed winning streaks twice this year. "A few months ago, she came up with the right answer in a radio show. Cash In Pockets."

Other thirteenth-week winners in the survey which saw eight men and 31 women pocket victory cash were Gail Peters, 210 South B Street and Mrs. J. L. Crittenden, 931 North Edwards Street.

Winners in the first 12 weeks include:

Community Theater Retains Architect For New Building

Community Theater reached the blueprint stage this week after three years of planning on its proposed theater building with the hiring of Charles H. Neuhardt, architect.

Robert S. Dewey, chairman of the theater's building committee, announced the employment of Neuhardt, and added that complete preliminary plans and specifications are to be ready September 10.

Members of Dewey's committee who have been working several months on the scope and requirements of the Community Theater building are John M. Hills, John Redfern, F. H. McGuigan, Don McKibbin, Joe Kogler, and Art Cole, director of Community Theater.

The one-acre site of the proposed Community Theater building in the 2300 block of West Indiana Street has been purchased through contributions of the Summer Mummies and Clarence Schabauer, Jr.

Already completed and in use on the land is the Stage Annex Building, the first unit of the proposed structure. At present it houses the theater's workshop, power tools, paint shop and scenery storage. It was paid for with Summer Mummy contributions.

J. J. Black planned and supervised the construction of the Stage Annex. Members of the Bricklayers, Masons and Tile Setters' Union, Local 28, donated their services, and Theater members contributed time and labor toward its completion.

Exact seating capacity has not been established, but plans call for an acoustically perfect, air conditioned theater for use as a convention hall, lecture hall, rental theater and Community Theater playhouse.

Children's Theater, which has grown rapidly in recent years, will be housed in a large room designed for that purpose within the new theater building.

"We are planning a practical building," said Dewey, "which can best serve the entire community's needs, at a minimum cost and a maximum of usefulness."

A boon to women everywhere who face the problem of superfluous hair, the THERMIQUETRON METHOD is demonstrated at the Clinic at 105 So. Pecos.

1600 Hairs an Hour Destroyed Forever

The beauty and glamour of a woman's hair is celebrated in many a song and story. But you never hear about the anguish and emotional upsets caused by hair that grows where it never should have grown naturally.

Women have hopefully turned everywhere for help and advice on the problem of superfluous hair, but until recent years any aid at all was merely temporary, and even this half-success was achieved only at the cost of slavish repetition, such as shaving, tweezing, waxing and such.

Then the THERMIQUETRON Method was invented, after years of scientific research. As its almost miraculous claim of 1600 superfluous hairs permanently removed per hour, with no scars, no pitting, became widely known, women traveled thousands of miles to THERMIQUETRON Clinics on the Eastern seaboard where they found permanent relief from their deeply embarrassing plight.

With the opening of the THERMIQUETRON (Therm-ek'-tron) Clinic at 105 South Pecos, Martha Lee Holley and Billie Smith, co-owners and operators, have brought this wonderful permanent solution to your problem to this area.

A convincing free trial is as near as your telephone-dial 2-0609 for an appointment.

HOLLYWOOD TODAY!

MOVIES - TV - RADIO
by Erskine Johnson

Behind the Screen:

John Carradine, the actor who always looks like he needs a square meal and a haircut, has recited Shakespeare to rows of empty seats from the stage of the Hollywood Bowl at midnight—and he says he may do it again—but movietown press agents made me more of a character than I really am.

Says the Barrymore star of 'pre-war movies:

"I was the victim of a lot of lies. I've never worn a cape in public or strode up and down Hollywood Boulevard reciting Shakespeare at the top of my voice.

"I admit I've gone to the deserted Hollywood Bowl at night and sitting in the back row. But that had a purpose—I was building my voice."

Carradine says he's returned to movies for good after seven years of exile from California in a dispute with his first wife over back-alimony payments.

Stage and TV emoting in New York kept him busy and when the statute of limitations ran out on her claims he ran to Hollywood for his first film since 1946, Bob Hope's new flicker, "Mr. Cassano."

Carradine's still proud as punch over his role of the gambler in "Stage Coach," now playing the TV circuit. But he says a flock of other video-revived films in which he's a mad scientist forever carving people up "are terrible stinkers. I only did them to finance my Shakespearean company."

Sterling Hayden, his wife, Betty, and their kiddies are just about reconciled. Betty will ask that the interlocutory decree be set aside if it looks like a they-lived-happily-ever-after ending.

Jane Russell and John Wayne in "The Silver Horde" will be RKO's entry as the biggest boxoffice pairing since Garbo and Gilbert.

But it's not true that Jane will star in Warner's "Them." "Them," in this case, is a science-fiction yarn!

Credit bit player Tim Carey with the most hair-raising gag of the year. Two Paramount executives are still white-faced.

Tim was reading for Producer Mel Epstein and talent scout Mill Lewis, who were conducting auditions for "Alaska Sea." Suddenly Tim stopped and screamed, "I'm tired of reading for roles I never get." Then he whipped out a .38 revolver and "shot" both Epstein and Lewis, as they dove for cover.

When the smoke cleared Tim was hired.

Ann Robinson, feminine star of "War of the Worlds," and Bob Turner have set the wedding date—Jan. 1.

Jane Withers Enters Los Angeles Hospital

LOS ANGELES—The former child actress Jane Withers is undergoing hospitalization for an ailment her doctor says apparently is due to a blood disturbance.

Dr. Louis Boonshaft, her stepfather, said "She is run down, exhausted and very weak." He said a couple of days would be required to complete his diagnosis.

Miss Withers, the estranged wife of Texas oil man William Moore, went to a hospital Thursday night when the ailment which caused paralysis in her legs and arms took a turn for the worse.

Basin Underwriters Receive Awards, Install New Officers

Awards and good natured kidding were the orders of the night Friday at the annual banquet of the Permian Basin Association of Life Underwriters.

Rep. Hulon Brown, introduced by toastmaster John R. Braue, association president, presented National Quality Awards and memberships to the Leaders Roundtable of Texas, during the Hotel Scharbauer meeting.

Also featured were Dr. Lester Walsh and Thomas B. King, members of the Midland Toastmasters Club, who discussed "the insurance men of tomorrow."

"What I don't like about insurance men," King quipped, "is that they completely lose me with those million insurance terms. By the time they've unraveled a few of those terms and showed me a policy with the smallest print possible, I'm willing to sign anything to get rid of the guys.

"Please," he urged, "give clear and simple explanations of insurance terms and in that way boost your chances for sales and help the poor buyer out of the woods."

Dr. Walsh then took over for good-humored snaps and a serious note. "There's scarcely a problem today that isn't covered by insurance," Dr. Walsh continued, "but those who need it most are the hardest to convince."

Brown, whom Braue called "one who had done more good, solid work than any novice who ever attended a session in Austin," presented memberships to the Roundtable to Joe C. Davis, W. B. Harkrider, L. Dalton Mitchell, George Vannaman and Rodney Vick.

National Quality Awards went to Joe W. Camp, A. W. Dillon, Delton Mitchell, Vannaman and Harold P. Steck.

"We in the Legislature can turn back the official clock if we haven't quite finished with all our proposals," the representative said. "In a business such as yours, you can't turn back the clock. You either match the clock or go backward."

"You who are receiving these awards have gone forward, have stayed up with the clock and risen to the top of your profession."

LUTC presentations were made by Al Dillon, association vice president, to Joe Davis, James V. Lee, Steck, Gabe Massey and Vannaman. Dinner music was given by Peggy Greathouse, vocalist, and Billy John Whitehead at the organ.

The Rev. Lewis O. Waterstreet, president of the Midland Ministerial Association, gave the invocation and

Buffalo Trail Scouts Pitch Tents At National Jamboree

By TOMMY EDRINGTON (Midland Boy Scout who is attending the annual Jamboree on the Irving Ranch, near Santa Ana, Calif.)

SCOUT CITY, CALIF. —Twenty-two of us left Midland at about 3 a.m. Sunday and were joined by 35 more Scouts and leaders at Odessa and Pecos. As strange as it may seem, most of us managed to get a considerable amount of sleep.

Our visit to the Grand Canyon was, of course, the most interesting part of the trip. We spent almost five hours seeing all the sights there Monday morning.

We reached Santa Ana, Calif.,

the following morning and were brought here by Irving Ranch (Scout City) by bus.

I took most of the day to set up our 23 tents, but we took time off during the afternoon for a bus tour through the El Segundo Refinery.

Wednesday afternoon we were taken to Long Beach and "turned loose" for a couple of hours. We spent those two hours seeing as much as we could of all the things we'd heard about.

Thursday we went swimming. The Jamboree opened officially Friday.

This report had to be brief because we've been crowded for time during these first days at the jamboree. I'll send another soon.

OPEN INVITATION TO MIDLANDERS

Child photography requires more than just good mechanical apparatus. It is truly an art that demands an expert who has technical knowledge PLUS the innate ability to bring out his subject's best points in a graceful manner.

Maureen White of the White House has both of these qualifications. She is highly skilled in the operation of the large Rayflex camera, particularly adapted to child portraiture and of the special lighting equipment provided for soft, yet clear, illumination.

She has the artist's feeling for interesting balance and arrangement as evidenced by the many outstanding honors awarded her during her 14 years of portrait experience. She has taught college photography classes at Weatherford, Oklahoma; has had her work mentioned in several feature stories in national magazines; has supplied two magazine covers for leading publications; had entries exhibited in the International Portrait Competition.

In 1943 she was commissioned to do a brush oil of Arizona's Governor Sidney P. Osborn as a gift to his friend, the president of Mexico.

We are sure you wouldn't want to miss this opportunity to see the pictures of your little ones. Let Maureen capture the warmth of natural personality, the appealing expression of your children. You... and they... will enjoy her portraits now and for the years to come. You are invited to visit The White House at 2605 North Big Spring with its charming and relaxing atmosphere and to see the gallery of portraits that are the best recommendations of careful and understanding attention.

Maureen will be glad to come to your home if you prefer the familiarity of your own surroundings.

You'll be pleasantly surprised at her modest rates, too. Call Maureen, "portrait specialist for young West Texans," at 4-6945 and discuss your desires. You are assured of complete satisfaction.

—(Adv.)

away into a quiet room and read at least one chapter from the Holy Bible.

Through the months he gained the respect of his superiors and his fellow workers and his job developed into a better one.

But each day, he slipped away so quietly that even this will come as a surprise to a lot of people—and read his daily Bible chapter.

A little more than a year ago, he was picked for the job in his profession.

"I don't know whether I'm qualified or not," he told a friend at the time. "But every morning I'll just have to say a little prayer and ask the Lord to help me through the day. With His Help, I think I can make it."

And that was the practice he followed. Gradually, he has developed one of the finest organizations of his kind in the state.

He's read the Bible through several times and he admits that each time he finds something new.

So each day, before the day's hurry-burly rush begins, Police Chief Harold Wallace slips away unnoticed to his office, reads his daily chapter from the Bible and whispers his little prayer for assistance.

Last Wednesday was another red-letter day in the life of 56-year-old City Secretary J. C. Hudman.

It marked the twenty-sixth year on the job and a lot has happened since he went to work for the City of Midland on July 17, 1927, serving as clerk, city judge, water bill collector and even part-time janitor.

But Hudman spent the day as usual, working over the minutes of Tuesday night's five-hour long City Council session and attending to the other daily chores.

Pity the poor Midland motorists. The city recently adopted a new and lengthy traffic code.

In fact it's so long and involved that members of the Police Department will begin a special month-long school to learn just what is in it.

The school, which will be attended by every member of the department, will be held during two-hour sessions three days each week.

More Than 4,000 'Back Yard Wells' Supplement Midland's Water Supply

By JIM BOB GALLAWAY Reporter-Telegram Staff Midland is a city of between 4,000 and 5,000 water wells.

These are privately-owned wells supplementing or completely replacing the city water system, yet not infringing on the city's revenue possibilities.

In fact, as one Midland water expert put it, "If all the private wells in Midland were shut off for just a few hours and everyone became dependent on the city system, Midland would be out of water."

And this "back yard" water well drilling is keeping pace with the speed of oil well drilling in the Permian Basin: "normal without a boom."

Normal without a boom. That, says W. E. Howard, who's been drilling water wells about two and a half years, means an average of two wells a week are sinking into city limit ground. Yet, others have called this figure "a little off" from past "boom" figures.

These four or five thousand wells have made Midland one of a few cities of its size where water well drilling is a "major industry" and few cities surpass Midland's total of wells.

A cross-section view through Midland well drillers' eyes shows the average home owner shelling out between $600 and $700 for the drilling of his well, his pipe and pump.

Now that's an average sale for an average man. The strict costs, of course, depend on the depth of well, the size of pump and the amount of pipe necessary.

Drilling expenses alone, for example, run from $40 to $135 (taking one dollar a foot as the medium between existing Midland prices).

"You have to drill a different depth in every section of Midland," Bob Hedges, who has been drilling here for some 30 years.

"In the south part depths will run anywhere from 55 to 105 feet," he says. "The west side will show between 100 and 135 feet, the north side about 60 feet and the northeast section about 80 feet."

"It's hard to set a 'happy medium' in depths. In fact, there's really no medium in well drilling."

Then comes the pipe, usually about 10 feet of surface casing at $1 to $1.25 a foot. Sometimes it's necessary to put casing from top to bottom but normally it's a matter of only six to 15 feet or, more probably 10 feet.

Taking a round-figure $100 drilling cost and tacking on a ten dollar pipe expenditure means the new "average well" has cost $110 so far.

Now, with $110 in hole and pipe and with water in the hole, one major item still is missing: the pump. And here's where much of the expenditure goes.

Back to the "average" sale, most Midlanders install a one horsepower pump—at a cost of about $400 including installation. Then, if it's the usual jet pump, a pump house is necessary. A good pump house, says Smith Umberston of Umberston Pump Company, can run as high as $250. Thus a $650 total for the jet pump system.

Naturally the jet pump and its house crowd up the yard. There's one solution, says Umberston. Use a submersible pump.

"You can put the well under the front porch if you want to," Umberston laughed. "Or you can have it in the middle of the yard, with grass planted over it."

Motor Inside Well The secret, of course, is that the pump hangs down into the well. The motor hangs in the well too, so there's really nothing to stick up on the surface of the ground.

Cost of the "average" pump is about $700.

What about size? As was pointed out, a one horsepower pump usually serves the purpose. But, Umberston explained, "the water decides the size of the pump."

"A shallow well will take a one horsepower unit," he said, "and some deep wells will do okay with that size, but the deeper the well is, the more performance you'll gain with a larger pump. And the amount of water in the well is a strong factor."

Quality of Water The quality of the water is a final but important factor in well drilling performance. Poor water means poorer performance.

Bob Hedges, in breaking Midland water to a general scene, places these sectors and classifications together:

West Midland, good water; South Midland, good; East Midland, poor and North Midland fairly good water.

Level of the water, says Hedges, has been sinking during the last two or three years. He said he recently had cleaned some old wells in one part of Midland and found the water level had dropped as much as 12 feet. This drastic drop, however, was in part due to the nearness of the city water wells. But, Hedges continued, the overall picture is one of lower levels in underground water supplies.

Enough For Future The scene, however, doesn't seem likely to change to such a one as now plagues the West Texas city of Merkel.

Weldon Coats of Coats Brothers Company recently returned from that city where, he said, things are "in bad shape."

"The wells are falling in Merkel," he said. And that city is completely dependent on well water. We went down there to try to deepen some of the old wells, but it looks pretty hopeless."

There's no hopeless feeling in Midland. As long as the rate of drilling stays on an even keel and, naturally, as long as the water is used and not wasted, the situation here will be good.

There's not too much water—but there's enough.

AND IT'S ALL OURS — Betty and James Shaddix don't mind if a little water sloshes out of their portable pool. And the sprinkler helps the lawn as well as cools the youngsters. Mom and Dad (Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Shaddix) have but to turn to their private water well for help in keeping things cool and green.

"In the south part depths will run anywhere from 55 to 105 feet," he says. "The west side will show between 100 and 135 feet, the north side about 60 feet and the northeast section about 80 feet."

"It's hard to set a 'happy medium' in depths. In fact, there's really no medium in well drilling."

Then comes the pipe, usually about 10 feet of surface casing at $1 to $1.25 a foot. Sometimes it's necessary to put casing from top to bottom but normally it's a matter of only six to 15 feet or, more probably 10 feet.

Taking a round-figure $100 drilling cost and tacking on a ten dollar pipe expenditure means the new "average well" has cost $110 so far.

Now, with $110 in hole and pipe and with water in the hole, one major item still is missing: the pump. And here's where much of the expenditure goes.

Back to the "average" sale, most Midlanders install a one horsepower pump—at a cost of about $400 including installation. Then, if it's the usual jet pump, a pump house is necessary. A good pump house, says Smith Umberston of Umberston Pump Company, can run as high as $250. Thus a $650 total for the jet pump system.

Estes Arrives In Europe Well Lectured On Do's And Don'ts Of Yugoslavia Life

Editor's note: Dwain M. Estes, principal of San Jacinto Junior High School here, is enroute to Yugoslavia where for several weeks he will serve as Midland's Community Ambassador to that nation.

By DWAIN M. ESTES
ROTTERDAM, THE NETHERLANDS — We finally have set foot on foreign soil and the Experiment in Foreign Living is about to begin. And I have learned that I might as well forget during the next two months about the pleasant and easy informality of the West Texas way of life.

For nine days, as we crossed the Atlantic on the Dutch steamship Groote Beer, we have been lectured on the language and the life of the people of Yugoslavia, with whom I will be living the next two months.

We have been told what we should do and what we should not do and if the youngsters out at Midland's San Jacinto Junior High School think there are too many restrictions, they should have heard some of these lectures.

We were told, for instance, that we should never interrupt a family dinner by coming in late.

If that unfortunate circumstance should occur, we should say "Pri-jato," which means something like "To your health and peace to you."

"Imagine What Would Happen"

Imagine what would happen to some Midland family if the young offspring came bounding in from an overtime Little League baseball game and greeted his parents thus: "I'm home!"

They'd probably call a doctor in a hurry, figuring he'd been hit in the head with a foul ball.

On a more serious side, we were warned that we must not take photographs of military installations, sections of the border, men in uniform, public transportation facilities or industrial plants.

There are a few precautions about food and drink, too.

We were told that milk and food and water might be contaminated and, if a person isn't careful, a serious digestive disorder could result.

Food is scarce in Yugoslavia and, of course, very expensive. So we were cautioned to eat only our share at the table and to eat whatever is placed before us.

Embarrassing Incident

As our group of Community Ambassadors prepared to move overland to our destinations, the memory of those last few hours in New York as well as the interesting boat trip across the Atlantic are still fresh in my mind.

Before I left New York, I found myself involved in an embarrassing incident.

The Community Ambassadors had been invited to a briefing of the United Nations and luncheon at the United Nations Building. All went well until luncheon time. As we started into the dining room, three of us were politely informed that we would not be allowed to enter because we were not wearing jackets.

We sat down dejectedly in the lounge and figured we'd miss out on the meal. Then someone started pulling strings and they finally relented, permitting us to go on in.

Howard Bunch, the Community Ambassador from San Angelo, had an unfortunate incident happen to him.

He parked his automobile on the street outside the hotel and the next morning it was gone; the police had towed it in. He didn't have his title papers to prove ownership so, with sailing time approaching, he was running around in circles.

He finally made arrangements to have someone else pick up the car when the papers arrived.

When we were two hours out to sea, he suddenly discovered the only set of keys to the car were still in his pocket. We called from New York City about 4 p.m. on July 1 aboard the Groote Beer.

The name Groote Beer, incidentally, is not the name of a favorite Dutch drink but in the language means "Great Bear."

The Groote Beer is a converted Liberty ship and travels about 400 miles a day. It carries student groups on the eastward crossing and on its return trips brings Dutch emigrants to Canada or South America.

On board were 720 students beginning various tours of Europe and they include the 180 Community Ambassadors who will travel to communities in Holland, Belgium, Germany, France, Austria and Yugoslavia.

I slept in a dormitory with about 30 other men and made the trip without suffering any seasickness.

The Dutch food is very good. When the ship sailed, it carried 15,700 eggs. Chief Cook S. W. Orange had eight cooks, two butchers, three bakers and three pastry-men responsible for the daily output of 1,800 pounds of potatoes, 400 pounds of beef and 1,000 eggs.

"White Cliffs Of Dover"

"The song about the White Cliffs of Dover" is a pretty song, but it was pretty meaningless to me until they became a reality.

I wish I had, the ability to describe their beauty and the impression they made as we approached England.

The captain was kind enough to slow the ship down and sail as close to the cliffs as safely possible.

The cliffs rise 860 feet above the water. They are white, of course, and in spots are covered with some kind of green moss. We saw the scene at sunset and as the last rays settled in the West, there was painted a picture I'll never forget.

But now the voyage across the ocean is over and we are ready to begin our exciting overland journey.

Democrat Predicts Tax Hike Next Year

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator Byrd (D-Va.) said Saturday Congress will have to raise taxes next year or face the prospect of piling another 10 billion dollars on top of the record peacetime federal debt.

Byrd made this prediction as indications increased that President Eisenhower will ask Congress next week to raise the present statutory debt ceiling of 275 billion dollars.

Byrd, who has been cooperating with Administration financial officials, said in a memorandum prepared at the request of colleagues that he expects federal spending in the current fiscal year, which began July 1 to reach about 74 billion dollars. He said he doubts receipts will exceed 64 billion.

"Unless Congress increases taxes, the government is going to be faced with another 10 billion dollar deficit and it will be almost impossible to balance the budget in the next year," he said.

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey has been aiming at a balance of income and outgo by July 1, 1954. Some other Republicans have contended that taxes can be reduced next year, when control of Congress will be at stake in the November election.

Byrd said that unless there are substantial changes in the world situation, the outlook for the fiscal year beginning next July 1 is going to be as bad as this year's "and may be worse."

Asserting that the Treasury will lose four billions in revenue over a year's time from expiration of the excess profits tax and a 10 per cent cut in income taxes—both due next January 1—Byrd said income in the next fiscal year probably will not go above 60 billion dollars.

"With expenditure in fiscal 1954 (which began July 1, 1953) of 74 billion dollars, it is therefore evident that we must reduce expenditures in fiscal 1955 (beginning July 1, 1954) to the extent of 14 billion dollars, which I do not believe is possible," Byrd said.

"Therefore we may expect another large deficit in fiscal 1955, making three huge deficits in succession. These three deficits will run the debt up to at least 285 billion, and there is no assurance that there will be a balanced budget for fiscal 1956."

Byrd said in his memorandum that in estimating the present year's income at 64 billion dollars he was not taking into account the fact that many excise taxes will expire next Spring and that five per cent will go off of corporation taxes next April 1, unless Congress acts in the meantime.

Midland Baptists To Attend Paisano Encampment Event

A large group of Midlanders will leave Monday to attend the thirty-third annual Paisano Baptist Encampment in the Davis Mountains near Marfa.

They will join Baptists from throughout the state for the week-long session which annual attracts about 2,500 persons.

Included in the Midland group will be a delegation from the First Baptist Church, headed by the Rev. Vernon Yearby, pastor. In this group will be Mrs. Yearby, Rozanne and Harriet Yearby, Mr. and Mrs. Heidelberg, Eloise Hatfield, Bill Wristen, Mrs. C. C. Mason, Mrs. J. Q. Woodard and Alice Wayne, Marsha Layne, Joel and Nathan Woodard, Daria Adamson, Gail Peters, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Scharbauer and Gretchen Scharbauer.

Eight Airmen Die As Two Bombers Hit In Sky Over Arizona

WILLIAMS AIR FORCE BASE, ARIZ.—Eight Air Force airmen were dead Saturday following a mid-air collision of two B-50 bombers near here Friday.

One of the planes safely returned to its field at Davis-Monthan Air Force Base near Tucson, Ariz.

The other plunged headlong into the Arizona desert but only after four crew members parachuted out and escaped without serious injury.

A fifth man attempted to parachute but was killed, "probably hit by the plane after jumping," an Air Force spokesman said.

One of the planes was flying blind and it returned to the Davis-Monthan strip, landing safely.

Davis-Monthan was the home station of both bombers.

The wreckage, followed by fire was scattered over a 200-yard area. The dead were:

Capt. Nicholas P. Susillo, Jr., 33, navigator, Brooklyn, N. Y. Capt. Erwin Greenburg, 31, bombardier, Los Angeles.

A/c James J. Burnfin, 20, radio operator, Corbin, Ky. Sgt. Roy E. West, 28, central fire controller, Norfolk, Va.

A/c Joe Cisneros, 23, gunner, Uthman, N. Y. A/c Donald E. Jones, 21, gunner, Henniker, N. H. A/c George L. McLenner, 24, gunner, Tuscola, Ill.

JERUSALEM — (AP) — A Moslem judge in Nazareth has proposed to Israel's President Ishak Ben-Zvi, that the Arab minority in Israel be exchanged for Jews in Arab countries. Sheik Taher El Tabri, a kadi or judge, told Ben-Zvi that such an exchange is the only way to avert a human tragedy.

WATER RULES GET MIXED UP

ALBUQUERQUE — (AP) — Albuquerque residents—with five different sets of regulations already this summer—are understandably confused about when they can water lawns and flowers.

Lately they've been on an every other day basis, with strict enforcement.

When a downpour hit the city late Friday, worried three-year-old Bruce Nesbit rushed into his house to ask:

"Mama, is this our day for it to rain?"

R-T's New York Columnist Impressed By Midland Visit

Stopping in, for a visit at The Reporter-Telegram, North Callahan, former Texan turned New York columnist, said he could not take credit for bringing the "nice cool weather," but at least he could say what a fine place he thinks Midland is.

"I am really impressed by the looks of your city," Callahan stated. "It's modern, progressive appearance is something to be proud of."

"And of course I am especially pleased to write my column, 'So This Is New York,' for the Midland and area residents through the medium of The Sunday Reporter-Telegram."

While in this section, Callahan also visited his uncle, W. L. North of Odessa.

Although born in East Tennessee, North Callahan came to Texas years ago and worked on newspapers in Tyler and Dallas. In 1939 he went to New York City as correspondent for The Dallas News and from his many interviews with Texans in that city grew his human-interest column now used by numerous newspapers throughout the nation. Not a Broadway or sophisticated type of feature, it deals with the stories of great people and little things such as might be encountered by a Midland visitor to New York.

Editor and Publisher, the trade magazine of the newspaper business, recently compared the Callahan column to that of the late O. O. McIntyre. Lockwood Doty on the NBC

Maury Alberts of Kermit, 16th District commander, was the installing officer for the Legion while Ann England, former president, did the honors for the Auxiliary.

JayCees To Help Diabetic Campers

The Midland JayCees Friday pledged full support of the Southwestern Diabetic Foundation's Camp Sweeney and asked Max Bentley, Abilene newspaperman and a director of the foundation, to help contact Midlanders in behalf of the Summer diabetic camp for indigent children.

Bentley, publicity chairman for the organization, was given a letter by the JayCees introducing him. It said in part, "We have unanimously voted to sponsor raising of funds for the foundation to help meet the cost of caring for indigent child campers, including those from Midland and surrounding territory. We have asked Mr. Bentley to lay the cause before our citizenship."

It was signed by Charles E. Lacy, JayCee president.

Lacy said that a portion of the proceeds from the JayCees' annual Fun Day on Labor Day will be donated to the diabetic Summer camp.

Bentley will visit in the Midland area as well as Odessa, San Angelo, Big Spring, Albany, Stamford, Hamlin and Snyder to see friends and speak to civic groups.

Mrs. Rocky Ford, immediate past president of the Texas JayCees, and James N. Allison, publisher of The Reporter-Telegram, are Midland directors of the Southwestern Diabetic Clinic.

Army Maintains Ban On Overseas Weekly

HEIDELBERG, GERMANY — (AP) — The U. S. Army refused Saturday to lift its ban on Army news stand distribution of the "Overseas Weekly."

The ban was imposed last month on the ground the newspaper featured "sex and prostitution stories not considered as benefiting the morale and welfare of the command."

When a downpour hit the city late Friday, worried three-year-old Bruce Nesbit rushed into his house to ask:

French Teenager Dons Crown To Become Miss Universe '53

By BILL BECKER
LONG BEACH, CALIF. — (AP) — The new Miss Universe is a little angel face from France, 18-year-old Christiane Martel.

The brunette charmer from Paris defeated a gorgeous galaxy of contestants from virtually every corner of the globe to win the silver and gold crown Friday night.

Miss Martel, who openly aspires to a screen career and has had parts in three French films, edged out blonde Miss United States, Myrna Hansen of Chicago, and Japan's diminutive Kinuko Ito. They finished second and third, just ahead of Mexico's vivacious Ana Lepe Jimenez and Australia's Maxine Morgan.

The French lass became the second 18-year-old to win the Miss Universe crown. The first winner, in last year's inaugural contest, was Armi Kuusela of Finland.

"Mais oui!" were the lovely winner's words on winning the award. It's the French equivalent of "Oh, no!" although a literal translation is "But yes."

She posed for photographers for an hour in her brilliant crown, scepter high and smile bright, but finally she had to sit down.

"My feet are killing me," she pouted prettily in French.

Miss Martel had been a favorite of her sister contestants and her victory was received well by a capacity crowd of 3,800 attending the final event of the four-day pageant.

At her coronation ball Saturday night, Miss Universe received a minimum six-month contract with Universal-International Studio, a British sports car, an expensive wrist-watch and other jewelry. She got a four-foot gold-plated trophy Friday night.

The runner-up received smaller trophies. But all except Miss United States had a trace of tears in their eyes. The movie contracts they will get should assuage the grief.

Miss Universe wants a movie career "above all else," she said. Her outstanding qualifications are a beautiful profile, soft gray-blue eyes and wavy brown hair. Just barely five feet six inches tall, she weighs 125 pounds. She has a 22-inch waist, with bust and hip measurements of 33 and 35 inches.

Judges indicated the point score was close among the first three contestants, with Miss United States piling up points on a superior figure and Miss Japan's charm also a major factor.

They Liked Ayten, Too

The five finalists were chosen from a field of 16 semifinalists after rigorous competition in evening gowns and swim suits. Each semifinalist also spoke briefly in a test of poise and personality.

Turkey's Ayten Akyol and Panama's Emila Arosemena, both highly rated by contestants and close observers, fell in the semi-final test.

First of the 28 international candidates to be eliminated were Misses Alaska, Belgium, Finland, Greece, Hawaii, Philippines, Puerto Rico, Sweden, Switzerland and Venezuela.

Eisenhower's Choice For Indian Billet Makes Most Of Any Duties Assigned Him

GALLUP, N. M.—(AP)—Glenn Emmons, the 57-year-old bank president whom Eisenhower last week tapped from a host of Western candidates as his next Indian commissioner, is the man to make the most of any job he gets into. He started as the assistant cashier of the First State Bank of Gallup back in 1921 shortly after he was graduated from the University of New Mexico.

Queen's Proposed Visit Sets Debates

COLOMBO, CEYLON —(AP)—The forthcoming visit of Queen Elizabeth II to Ceylon next April is becoming increasingly involved in local politics. Meetings are being held in various parts of the island protesting elimination of a rice subsidy because of an economic crisis and also recommending that the royal visit be scrapped as too expensive.

and married a Manchester, Iowa, schoolmarm. And Dorothy is still around and has built a reputation in the small western New Mexico city as something of a hostess.

Emmons likes funny stories, but unlike most of us—won't laugh at his own. He uses them to illustrate a point.

During the continuing furor over who would get the long delayed service post, a rumor got started that Emmons shouldn't have the job. The reason, which is untrue, was: "He owns oil wells, uranium mines and lots of land on the Navajo reservation."

Unruffled, Emmons delivered only a Lincolnian anecdote in rebuttal: "Reminds me of the man who was hauled into court and accused of being a co-respondent in a divorce case. The charged man turned to the judge and said, 'There are some things said about me which I wish were untrue, but this is an untrue charge to which I wish I could plead guilty.'"

Emmons acquired what's left of his Southern drawl as a child in Atmore, Ala. His family pulled up stakes in Atmore in 1904 when Glenn was nine and moved to Albuquerque, where he got his schooling. From assistant cashier, Emmons built his career to bank president. His name became prominent in state and national banking circles.

He was treasurer of the American Bankers Association in 1949-51. Navajo Reception

He had the endorsement of the Navajo tribe, the nation's largest, in his appointment as commissioner. And the Indians don't stop with a paper okay.

On his return from Washington he was welcomed home by officials of the Navajo and Auni tribes complete with tribal brass bands and ceremonial dancers.

Emmons is locking up his modest home here until his term in Washington, still pending full Senate approval, is over.

He said he plans to return here to live out his life and has no intention or desire to remain in politics.

Red Feather Unit Opens Headquarters

Plans for the 1953 Midland Community Chest campaign have gotten underway with the selection of temporary offices in Room 4 of the McClintic Building and the naming of Mrs. John D. Freeman, Jr., as permanent executive secretary.

Mrs. Freeman, a newcomer to Midland, will direct and schedule activities for the 1953 drive and handle office management for the fund-raising organization.

The new executive secretary is a native of Tulsa, Okla., and a graduate of the University of Tulsa. She, her husband and their four children lived in Seymour four years before moving to Midland in February, 1953. They reside at 1204 South Weatherford Street.

The budget committee, said Don M. Oliver, Community Chest president, will meet August 3 to review the budgets of member agencies and receive applications for inclusion in the Chest organization.

Agencies now included in the Community Chest program are the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Youth Center, Guadalupe Youth Center, Salvation Army, colored day nursery, Goodfellows, USO and other defense services.

Agencies seeking membership are asked to submit applications to the budget review and membership committee as soon as possible.

East Fries While Shows, Storms Cool Midcontinent

By The Associated Press
A third straight day of broiling July temperatures in the East featured Saturday's weather picture. Showers and thunderstorms, ranging from Alabama northward into Tennessee, Kentucky, Ohio and Eastern Michigan, dropped temperatures in that area into the 70's.

New York City experienced a record straight day of 96-degrees, record-breaking temperatures. Saturday's 96 reading topped the 1905 record for the date set in 1905, Albany, N. Y., posted a 99.

State Moves To Nip Menace To Health Blamed On Drouth

By DAVE CHEAVENS
AUSTIN —(AP)—State Health Department officials warned Saturday that the drouth poses a definite health menace and even may be responsible for some typhoid fever.

The department began a farm by farm survey of ranches to gauge the drouth's full impact on sanitation.

Other state agencies moved swiftly after Governor Shivers' call for quick action by all departments. Railroad Commission Chairman Ernest Thompson said railroads in Texas have agreed to a 50 per cent rate reduction on feedstuffs shipped to drouth emergency areas.

Telegrams were sent by William McGill, coordinator of defense and disaster relief, to all state agencies asked by the governor Friday to explore fully what they can do to help.

Shivers followed a cautious course in his efforts to bring state agencies into action without a special session of the Legislature and without calling on the federal government more than is absolutely essential.

There were complications: Politics, the weather itself, the over-hanging touchy question of federal price supports for cattle.

Sources close to Shivers said they believed he would not budge on the special session question. One was told the governor: "If you call a special session, you'd better make it an 'and/or' session: for drouth and/or flood relief."

"Look Pretty Silly"
There was plenty of frank official—though off-the-record—hope that recent spotsy downpours over the state preceeded early Fall rains that would offer public cheer. It might be too late for many crops, but general rains soon would start range grass.

One top legislative leader said: "If we get into special drouth session and the rains and floods started, we'd look pretty silly."

There was some corridor tongue-wagging about Shivers' failure to take note of some of Attorney General Shepperd's suggestions. The governor didn't mention the $500,000 public subscription idea offered by Shepperd. He ignored any cold financial figures on how much aid the state might be able to offer, without the Legislature.

Two meetings were set this week. Trainers May Help

The State Drouth Committee of federal and state officials will meet Monday at 1 p.m. at College Station. Some of the same people and other state officials meet with Shivers here Tuesday.

Thompson said his agency had no control over truck rates on feed and livestock, but that it would ask truckers to help.

Shivers, following some ideas in Shepperd's memorandum on legal aspects of state drouth, aid, asked the Banking Department to see what it could do about related credit for hurting farmers and ranchers.

Not Serious—Yet

The Health Department said it intends to find out if recent typhoid cases were caused by contaminated water. No serious outbreak has been reported.

"There's some typhoid in Texas now," Dr. George Cox, state health officer, said.

"Did contaminated water cause it? We're in the process of finding out. When drouth becomes as widespread and prolonged as this one it affects every factor of state operation, including the public's health."

Shivers had asked all state agencies concerned with health and welfare to look into every possibility for action to see to it no one goes hungry, or is threatened by disease. How Much Water?

The Health Department has asked every county judge to answer these questions: "What towns face water shortage; number of wells and the amount of water available from them; how much water is being banded, and where; steps rural organizations are taking to relieve shortages; to what extent is land being irrigated; what outside help is needed to relieve shortages in individual communities?"

Shivers was expected in Austin Monday from his country home at Woodville.

He was informed there Saturday that ample hay supplies are available in Florida at low prices. He asked Agriculture Commissioner John White to send staff members to Florida to see what could be done about moving some of it to Texas by barge or other means.

Low-Priced Hay

White will go to Washington Monday to ask federal officials to include low-priced hay among feedstuffs made available at below-market prices for drouth areas.

White wants legume hay, such as alfalfa, and grass hays included with concentrated feeds. They are not included at present.

Shivers was advised by R. T. Price of the Production and Marketing Administration at College Station that orders for concentrated feeds have come in from 148 of the 153 counties so far included in the drouth disaster area designated by President Eisenhower.

It included cottonseed pellets, 47,568 tons; cottonseed meal, 28,772 tons; corn, 25,430 tons; wheat, 708 tons; oats, 21,578 tons.

Committee Report Blasts Britain's Trade With China

WASHINGTON —(AP)—In a report bristling with criticism of the British, the McCarthy Investigations subcommittee said Saturday Western trade with Red China "unquestionably has cost the lives of American and other Allied fighting men in Korea."

"Since the outbreak of the Korean War," the report said, "non-Communist trade with Red China has exceeded two billion dollars. Even after three years of war, this trade is not only flourishing but is increasing between many of our Allies and China."

"This shocking policy of fighting the enemy on the one hand and trading with him on the other cannot be condoned," the subcommittee said.

Not only did the Senate subcommittee report sharply censure Western nations, especially Great Britain, which was continued to trade with the Chinese Communists, but it also rebuked the State Department and other U. S. agencies for not taking a firmer stand against Allied trafficking with the Reds.

The subcommittee said U. S. negotiations with Allied nations on the problem of trade with Red China "have failed" because:

"1. Since the beginning of the Korean War our government has had no clear-cut policy on China trade by our Allies;

"2. They had inadequate factual information as to the kind, extent and effect of the trade;

"3. They lacked the forcefulness and vigor necessary to convince our Allies that they should ban this trade as we have done."

The subcommittee said that "while progress has been made by the executive branch in getting our Allies to exercise better controls over the export of some strategic materials to China, many items which our government considers to be highly strategic are still being sent to China and other Communist areas."

Since the outbreak of the Korean War, the report said, about 450 Western-flag vessels have made some 2,000 trips to Red China.

El Pasoans Seek To Testify Before House Crime Panel

DALLAS —(AP)—Several El Paso officials, named in testimony given to a special investigating committee appointed by the Legislature, have voluntarily asked to appear before the group, Rep. Joe Pool, chairman, said Saturday.

Pool declined to say how many officials had requested to appear before the committee or reveal their identities.

Whether the committee will agree to hear the officials will be taken up at the next meeting of the panel. The time and place of the session has not yet been decided, Pool said.

The committee spent Friday at the State Penitentiary taking testimony from Pearl Johnson, El Paso woman serving a two to 15-year sentence for murder.

Sports— PARLEY

By CHARLEY ESKEW

Is this the way to fame? Be with a baseball team strolling through a depot to board a train and, just before getting on, hear a lady with a handful of expanded balloons, request: "Buy a balloon for your kiddies?" Then growl back, "Naw—they won't fit in my suitcase."

GOMEZ FORGOTTEN
That, they say, happened to one-time Midland Manager Zeke Bonura. And he now is famous, quite so. He is, in fact, an all-time all-major leaguer.

Of a sort!
A newstand magazine, People Today, says so in its current issue when it names baseball's All-Time Screwball Nine. Our hometown boy—he was here in 1951-52—made good with eight other "characters" against rugged competition. Such daffy-doers as Rube Waddell, Ernie Lombardi, Lefty Gomez, Diz Dean all may gain entrance into the Hall of Fame for playing but screwsballs, they're less than first stringers; at least, the magazine puts it that way.

Bonura, whose shenanigans in the majors were probably compensation for his terrible fielding, had mellowed a bit when he came to Midland. But nevertheless, he always held a card or two up his sleeve.

One time, you remember, his pitcher wanted a new ball to toss and the Umpire refused his request. So Zeke, stepping into the argument, wanted to see what was wrong with the ball.

He then chunked it out of the park.

OLMO LIKED OUTFIELDING
Bonura is listed as the all-time gofball first baseman by People Today because he usually waved "like an elderly lady flagging a bus" when grounders came bounding by first base and also because his base running was so snaillike "he once hit a homer to achieve a single."

The rest of the team: Catcher Smead Jolley of the White Sox, Second Baseman Luis Olmo of the Dodgers who once pitched to his manager "send Olmo back to outfield, no? Or Olmo go back to Havana, yes?" Third Baseman Hank Schube of the Tigers who couldn't hit curves, Shortstop Bill Urban-danny of the Braves, Left Fielder Danny Gardello of the Giants, Center Fielder Lou Novikoff of the Cubs who had to have Russian food, Hoopsa, or slump at bat, Right Fielder Babe Herman of the Dodgers, and Pitcher Boom-Boom Beck of the Dodgers.

FIELDING PERFECT
Longhorn League managers somehow got the word around in early season that the loop was being conducted badly when umpires seemed to miss half the pitches and as many other decisions. With a man

Four Tribe Players Make All-Star Nine

Midland's classy infield proved its prowess in the Texas Longhorn League All-Star team selected by managers of the Texas teams in the circuit, but other Indians were unable to gain a berth on the mythical nine.

The Texas aggregation which will meet the New Mexico team lists Midland's Catcher Art Bowland, Third Baseman Julio de la Torre, Shortstop Scooter Hughes and Second Baseman Roger Dalla Betta.

The squads, picked by the seven team managers, were announced Saturday by League President Hal Sayles.

Six San Angelo players made the team, although two of the six were selected for utility roles. Odessa placed four and Big Spring two. New Mexico's contingent included six from Carlsbad, and five each from Artesia and Roswell.

Diaz, Dawson Triples Only Real Thrills

By ABE WEINER
Reporter-Telegram Sports Staff

Midland's Indians built up a 7-1 advantage over the Roswell Rockets Saturday night and then coasted to a 9-4 triumph as Jack Schaening set the visitors down on eight scattered hits.

Schaening had a no-hitter going for three innings, facing only nine men as an Indian double-play wiped out the only runner, who had got to first on an error.

In the third, however, Ricky Gonzales led off with a slow grounder which Roger Dalla Betta juggled, and after Ossie Alvarez forced him at second, Wayne Crawford bounced a single over Scooter Hughes' head to ruin Schaening's bid.

Thereafter, both teams merely went through the motions of finishing out the game with the small smattering of 561 getting their biggest thrill in the sixth when Lou Dawson and Mickey Diaz hit successive triples. Diaz' blow down the line in right field hugged the inside of the restraining line, and Right-fielder Pat Stasey loafed over to retrieve it, believing it was an automatic double.

Diaz, meanwhile, raced around the bases never stopping. Stasey relayed to Gonzales at first who threw home with wide, permitting Diaz to score. It went as a triple and an error on Gonzales, who had an easy play.

While Roswell was being throttled by Schaening, Midland tapped Bob Weaver for twelve safeties, including three each by Art Bowland and Diaz.

Midland opened up with three runs in the third on Dawson's single with two down, an error by Gonzales, Bowland's double and Julio de la Torre's single.

After Roswell marked up one in the third—Pat Stasey's strikeout and Buddy Grimes' single following Crawford's above-mentioned blow, the Indians got four more in the fourth.

Tex Stephenson singled and Dalla Betta walked. Hughes got a scratch single and Schaening forced Stephenson at home, leaving the sacks still loaded. Dawson walked, forcing over one marker, and Diaz singled across two more. Bowland's single plated still another before De la Torre hit into a double play.

Roswell picked up another marker in the top of the sixth on Gonzales' walk and Alvarez' double. Midland counted twice for their final markers on the two triples by Dawson and Diaz.

Alvarez walked to lead off the Roswell eighth, and Crawford tripled to score him. Crawford came in as Grimes bounced out to second.

Schaening, in posting his third victory against one defeat, struck out six and walked only two.

Max Newcom (3-4) is scheduled to face Juan Del Toro (5-8) or Aramis Arencibia (7-8) in the 5 p.m. second game of the series Sunday.

Cooper Bows To Richards

SEATTLE —(P)—Steady Ted Richards, Santa Monica, outfinished a California neighbor, Irving Cooper, Long Beach, to win the National Public Links golf championship Saturday, 1-up in a 36-hole final.

After playing 27 holes of sub-par golf along with Richards, Cooper went ahead on the thirtieth hole but lost the next two and flubbed away a great chance to square it on the thirty-fifth. There he needed only a 20-inch putt to win the hole, but his ball hung on the lip and refused to drop.

On the final hole, Cooper, a 22-year-old seafood salesman, made a brilliant recovery after fading his drive into a clump of trees. But his par four was worth a half as Richards pounded two shots up the middle to get down easily in par.

Artesia Nets 11-1 Triumph

BIG SPRING —(P)—Fidel Alvarez rationed out five hits to the Big Spring Broncos to pick up his twelfth victory of the season as Artesia won an 11-1 verdict Saturday night.

Not that it was needed but Alvarez helped his own cause along with a solo home run in the sixth, the blow coming off the losing hurler Glen Groomes.

Three other Drillers blasted four-masters. Joe Bauman and Les Mulcahy each collected his twenty-sixth round-tripper while Joe Fortin clubbed out his nineteenth wallop in the first inning.

Nick Samela accounted for Big Spring's only tally with his third homer of the season in the first inning.

Mulcahy drove in the first run of the inning with a single that plated Vince DiGiantomasso. Alvarez struck out and never gave the steeds a 'look-in' after Samela poked one of his offerings over left field.

Artesia 400 222 100—11 15 0
Big Spring 100 000 000—1 5 5
Alvarez and Mulcahy; Groomes, Morganstern and Nledson, Casanova.

Colts Tally Three In Ninth For Win

SAN ANGELO —(P)—A garrison finish that saw San Angelo come from behind with three runs in the last inning gave the Longhorn League leader a 5-4 victory over Carlsbad Saturday night in the first of a three-game series.

Carlsbad had moved into a 4-2 lead in the top of the ninth when Bobby Gregg, San Angelo south-paw, hit a wild streak and walked the first two men. After Gene Grant had sacrificed, Gil Guerra relieved Gregg and was immediately greeted by a first-pitch two-run single by Woody Pennington that put the Potashers out front, 3-2. Gene Wulf, who pitched a fine game in defeat, sacrificed Pennington to second and he scored on Pedro Ososio's single. Charley Galina, first up in the Colts' ninth, singled. Ralph Carpenter, newly-acquired rookie, batted for Guerra and powered a game-tying homer completely over the light tower in left field. Wulf got Herbert Taylor on a pop but Steve Pollett picked on the first pitch for the game-winning circuit clout.

Gregg and Wulf engaged in a good pitching duel prior to the ninth-inning uprings.

Carlsbad 000 010 00—4 7 1
San Angelo 010 000 103—5 12 0
Wulf and Jackson; Gregg, Guerra, (8) and Briner.

Locke Repeats French Victory

PARIS —(P)— Bobby Locke of South Africa won his second straight French Open golf title Saturday, snatching the lead with a course record 65 on the third round and holding it with a final 69 for a 72-hole total of 276.

Six strokes back of Australian H. O. Pickworth when the final two rounds started this morning, Locke took the 6,700-yard La Boule Course apart with his brilliant 65. This was nine strokes under the lenient par of 37-37-74.

Ward Among Golf Choices

Long-driving Pearl Ward, 23-year-old finalist in this year's City Championships, represents the most serious threat to the old guard of titlists when Ranchland Hill Country Club begins its fourth annual member golf tourney Saturday.

The meet will extend over three week-ends with former champions Bob Wortham, the city titlist, Red Watkins and Kit Carson the ranking contenders.

Pro Abe Beckman announced that the registering and qualifying play will run July 25-Aug. 2.

Young Ward, a former Midland-High School golfer, is rated a good bet to break the usual dominance of Ranchland golfing by the past champs after an active Summer's play. He twice has lost to Wortham this Summer but by narrow margins, 2-1 in the City finals and 1-up in the Men's West Texas tourney.

Wortman, however, will be favored.

Two other top notchers probably figuring in the championship play will be Buddy Branum and Johnny Sherrard.

Beckman, who'll direct the meet, announced that first and second round matches are slated for August 9-8 and the last two rounds for the following weekend.

Shirley Robbins or H. L. Winkler will serve as official starters for the match play.

Russell Wagner led a 10-hit Bulldozer attack Saturday afternoon that netted a 7-6 victory over the Braves in the Central Little League. Seven Braves errors aided the Bulldozers' rally from behind in the sixth inning.

and Billy Cox on base in the two-run fourth inning. Gil Hodges hit a grand slammer Thursday and Billy Cox belted one Friday night.

The Dodgers needed that big inning, too, for the Cards chased Russ Meyer in the third to open up a 6-2 edge.

After the fourth, the Brooks were never threatened. Campanella's twenty-third homer with a man on in the three-run eighth polished off the job.

The Brooklyn victory knocked St. Louis into fifth place, permitting the New York Giants to take over fourth place, seven and one-half games behind the Dodgers. The Cards are eight games back.

Yanks Blast Browns, 13-2

ST. LOUIS—(AP)—Wrapping up the ball game in a six-run third inning that featured a three-run Yogi Berra homer, the New York Yankees maintained their four-game American League lead Saturday by bombing the St. Louis Browns for 13 hits and a 13-2 victory.

The Yanks now move into Chicago for a doubleheader Sunday against the second place White Sox, who won their eighth straight Saturday by defeating Washington, 10-6.

The Yanks had a comfortable lead before the Browns managed to collect their first hit off J. M. McDonald, who gained his sixth victory against three defeats. They scored twice in the second, made it 8-0 in the third and then completed the rout with a single run in the fifth, three in the seventh and one in the eighth.

Red Sox Erupt For 5-3 Victory

DETROIT—(AP)—Blanked for eight innings by young Billy Hoelt, the Boston Red Sox erupted for five runs in the ninth inning Saturday on home runs by Hoot Evers and Sammy White to stun the Detroit Tigers, 5-3.

Evers, hitless in 10 times at bats hit a three-run homer just over the left field screen to tie the score and after Floyd Baker singled, White slammed a homer high into the upper left field deck.

Parley—

Somebody then decided to rest, apparently, for the present umpiring—not just in Midland but throughout the league—has gone sour grapes.

There are more squabbles; the games are growing longer, and the ump who ruled well for a while look as if they're coasting now.

It could be coincidence that Midland became involved in three "debates" over whether a fielder had trapped a fly or caught it in last week's games. Each, the umpires ruled, was indeed caught—which leaves us to imagine that we've got the best dagdummed defensive players in the U. S. right in the Longhorn Loop. Aren't they fielding 1,000 on near-impossible plays?

By the way, two of those fielders, Julio de la Torre in a game in Midland, and Joe Fortin in a game at Arleta, tried to put out lead runners on followup throws. Just in case the ump didn't see the trap, I suppose.

And when Jay Haney protested that Joe Bauman was standing out of the batters box while hitting, he had to inform the umpire that the baseline of the box was limited to 36 inches from the center of the plate. The umpire's reply? "That's not enough!"

White Sox Stick On Yank Heels With 10 To 6 Victory

CHICAGO—(AP)—Chico Carrasquel drilled a key two-run double in the seventh inning to send the Chicago White Sox surging to a 10-6 victory over the Washington Senators Saturday.

It was the Sox eighth straight win. The second place Sox remained four games behind the leading New York Yankees, who plastered the St. Louis Browns, 13-2, to set up Sunday's doubleheader showdown with the Sox in Comiskey Park.

Sox outfielder Sam Mele beat out a bunt for a hit in the eighth inning to run his hitting streak through 21 games, matching Dale Mitchell of Cleveland for the longest of the American League season.

Carrasquel's smash to the left-center field wall came off loser Tommy Byrne, who had walked Rocky Krsinic and Red Wilson. It was the wild lefty's fifth straight defeat since the Sox dealt him to the Nats.

Sullivan, of Route 1, Midland, landed the big cat at Lake Walk on Devil's River.

Hobbs Sets Meet To Plan Longhorn Baseball Franchise

The baseball-minded Hobbs, New Mexico public meets Monday to organize efforts to bring Longhorn League baseball to Hobbs next season.

Pony Leaguers Tip Westerners

Walks, most of them bunched in the third inning, gave the Pony League All-Stars a 4-3 exhibition over the mighty Westerners of the American Legion League Friday night in Indian Park.

The Westerners, who are undefeated in American Legion play, fell victim of Jesse Hatfield's wildness in the third frame. He walked in four runs before Les Sneed came in to put out the fire.

The four-run margin was enough for Pony Leaguers Larry Cooper and Jim Owens, however. They yielded only three hits over the six-inning span with the only damaging blow a home run by Hatfield in the fourth. An error, two walks and stolen bases produced the Westerners' other two tallies in the fifth.

Cooper was the only Pony Leaguer to touch Sneed for a hit, singling in the fourth inning. Hatfield did not yield a hit.

In regular American Legion play, the Hornets defeated Brooks Stores, 10-3, behind Dale Jobe's four-hit pitching.

Brooks 010 200 0-3 5 8
Jobe and Cooper; Bingham and Streun.

If these amounts can be raised, Hobbs baseball backers feel they will have a good talking point in gaining entrance to the league in 1954.

Carlsbad, Artesia and Roswell baseball people have indicated already they will back the project. They represent three of the seven teams now operating the league.

The others are Midland, Odessa, San Angelo and Big Spring. La-mesa, which began the season, switched to Ballinger-Winters and then folded. It is this vacancy which Hobbs is trying to fill.

Hobbs officials estimate a minimum of $50,000 is needed to finance the building of a park and the purchase of players. The additional $75,000 would be for operating expenses for a complete year.

The meeting is open to everyone interested in getting baseball to Hobbs, State Rep. Leroy Wise, one of the chief supporters of the drive, said.

"We have talked to a great number of persons," Wise said, "and find that about 50 per cent of them are strongly in favor of bringing a team here. About 25 per cent are more or less dormant and the other quarter are pessimistic. But it's felt that there are enough strong backers to put the job over."

Tentative plans call for the sale of shares at $25 each, but in blocks of no fewer than four shares. It is estimated that the construction of a park would cost about $30,000 if the land for it is donated. Officials have advised the group that the buying of players will cost about $15,000, and that about $5,000 should be kept in reserve for administrative purposes.

Midland Ends New Mexico Losing String

ARTESIA —(AP)— That noise you heard and cloud you saw over New Mexico Friday night was no atomic bomb, believe it, but, just as deceptively, the Midland Indians exploding out of an eight-game losing streak in this state and making dust for home.

Midland mushroomed 14 hits in a 15-9 victory, their first on New Mexican soil since June 13, three trips ago. Artesia blew up three, erring eight times.

It was a weird game throughout as the Indians salvaged the finale of four games against Artesia, with the Tribe tallying 10 runs in the first two frames. All but one came off the league's winningest hurler Len Ruyle.

The Drillers in turn enjoyed a one-run first inning and six-run second to rout Midland starter Ralph Blair. One of the blows in Artesia's second frame was a grand slammer by Joe Bauman.

Freddie Rodriguez relieved for Midland to hurl two-hit ball for the last seven and one-third innings, picking up his fourth mound decision this year.

Mickey Diaz and Bill Brown added home runs to the Midland attack and Bill Haley one for the Drillers.

LONGHORN STATISTICS

Bowland Loses Batting Lead

By The Associated Press

The Longhorn League presents a new batting leader this week in Roswell's Riskey Gonzales, according to official statistics through July 13.

Gonzales has come fast over the past month, is batting .395 now and moves over Midland's Art Bowland, who fell from .451 to his present .395 in three weeks time.

The power race continues with the same players holding their leads. San Angelo's Glen Burns has upped his homer output to 28. His nearest rival, Artesia's Les Mulcahy, has belted 23.

Mulcahy, a double-leader, clearly leads the runs batted in competition with 99 and tops the field with his 198 total bases—he has 29 doubles, which rates a first place tie with Tex Stephenson, Midland, to fifth in league batting with his .381 average. Other top hitters are Buddy Grimes, Roswell, .391; Elias Osorio, Carlsbad, .390; Ike Jackson, Carlsbad, .378, and Odessa's Barney Batson, .378.

Artesia's Len Ruyle, with a 14-5 mark is among the league's big winners. High percentages belong to Roswell's Gil Torres, 4-0, 1.000, and Carlsbad's Audie Malone, 3-3, .750.

Haas Retains Lead In St. Paul Open

ST. PAUL, MINN.—Fred Haas stood off a phalanx of sub-70 shooting challengers Saturday to hold a one-stroke lead after 54 holes in the St. Paul Open golf tournament.

The New Orleans pro slipped to a two-under par 70 for a three round 202, one stroke up on Dutch Harrison, Ardmore, Okla., Ted Rhodes, Chicago, and Marty Furgol, Lemont, Ill.

Two strokes off the lead were Sam Sheed, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Jimmy Clark, Laguna Beach, Calif., and Shelley Mayfield, Cedarhurst, N. Y.

LITTLE LEAGUES STILL IN DEBT

Midland's Little Leagues realized $395.25 profit from their Little League Night at Indian Park June 28, the financial statement released this week showed.

A total of 1,327 tickets were sold. However, the Little Leagues now owe $2,089.30 and have on hand $445.94, leaving a deficit of $1,643.44. Midlanders are asked to continue sending in donations to The Reporter-Telegram or to John Redfern, Jr., baseball commissioner, Box 1747.

Four From Midland Compete For National Junior Places

HOBBBS, N. M.—Four Midland teen-agers, with three days of practice behind them, will rank as chief contenders for the four available positions in the National Junior Amateur Golf Tournament when sectional qualifying is held here Monday.

Twenty players, all but two from Texas, have entered the 18-hole qualifying race here Monday under the direction of United States Golf Association representative, Fred Hogan of Midland. The four local players will earn spots in the National tournament to be held later in the month at Southern Hills Country Club in Tulsa, Okla.

Wendy Green, the Hobbs Invitational champion over the same Hobbs course, Luke McFarland, Michael Patton and Dave Moody are the Midland players who reported here last Friday for practice. They'll remain to play in the Hobbs Junior Invitational which starts with match play finals Wednesday.

Hogan said he would announce the USGA pairings Monday morning. The entries are, besides the Midlanders, Bob Holcomb, Alvin Neal, Bill Oliver, Jr., Jerry Johnston and Floyd Smith, all of Odessa; John Green and Don Nix of Hobbs, N. M.; Rex Baxter, Jr., John Parquhar, Jimmy Russell, Miles Childers, Bob Westfall, and Henry Whitley of Amarillo; Steve Noble and Robert Maden of Lubbock and Neil Scooniers of Iran.

All of the players are 17-years-old or younger.

Seven-Man Midland Team To Compete In Odessa Tourney

Seven Midland tennis players, tuning up for their own city's invitational in August, Saturday formed an early entry list from here to compete in the Permian Basin Tournament scheduled at Odessa this week.

Bob Clark, summer recreation program director in Odessa and the tournament chairman, announced the dates for the meet as July 22-25. It will include boys', girls', men's and women's divisions but Midland's group thus far includes only boys' and men's players.

Frank Ford, Midland High net coach, heads a list of four men, including singles players Bob Barnes and doubles teams of Ford and Barnes and Vern Lane and Ed Prichard.

John Galle and Jim Wolfe, high school teammates, will bid in the boys', 18-and-under, division while Preston Butcher, a 1952 Midland winner, will compete among those junior boys under 15.

Girls Group Carries Drive To Storemen

Midland business girls, members of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, decided Saturday to make a canvass of their question:

"Will Midland townspeople pay extra one night to see a double-header baseball game, take part in an award night, support a local charity and boost the Midland Indian team out of financial difficulty?"

All of that for $2. The answer was not complete Saturday and will be solved only by the attendance Monday night when the Indians play Rowell in two games, starting at 7 p.m. at Indian Park. But the early answer was no more than "Maybe."

Daily Nance, Beta Sigma Phi president, said Saturday that because of slow ticket sales at several downtown booths the 75 girls of the club were waging a store-to-store campaign to rally baseball boosters. There was, she said, a slight pickup in sales but not at the anticipated pace.

Beta Sigma Phi is supporting both the ball club by selling the special night tickets with 25 cents of the total to go toward a local charity drive held annually by the club. The girls will continue to operate their sales booth at the Scharbauer Hotel all day Monday and will have several salesclerks at the game.

Bad weather and the loss of several games caused by Lamesa's dropping out of the Longhorn League left the Indians in financial difficulties, prompting the present drive.

Roswell is the chief rival for Midland's fourth place hold in the league race.

Day, Davis In Finals At Amarillo; Midland Trio Ousted Early

AMARILLO.—Defending champion Frank Day, Plainview, and Tom Davis, Petersburg, will meet for the championship of the Tri-State Senior golf tournament Sunday.

Among other flights, the bouts go on Sunday without a Midland player remaining—in fact, there were none after Paul McHargue, H. L. Bray and C. H. Shepard tested their Friday quarter-final foes.

Day rallied to nip Al Couchman, Dallas, one-up on the nineteenth hole in Saturday's semi-finals. Davis is trimmed Frank Bailey, Fairview, Okla., 4 and 3.

Day was three-down at the end of the first nine holes. He rallied to square the match on No. 15. Couchman won the next hole but Day took No. 18 and 19.

Davis was 3-up at the turn and ended the match when he won No. 15. McHargue was eliminated in the sixth flight by Ed Bishop of Delhart, 2-up and Bray quit the same division at the hands of J. M. McCasland of Amarillo, 2-up.

Shepard lost to Dede Gentry of Amarillo, 3 and 1, in the second flight consolation quarter-finals.

Veteran Midland Painter Contractor Dies; Rites Sunday

John W. Rhoden, Sr., 79-year-old retired painter contractor and Midland resident the last 38 years, died at 4:20 p.m. Friday in a Midland hospital, following a long illness.

Rhoden, who resided at 402 East Kentucky Street, came here in 1915 from Terre Haute, Ind., and first was associated with the old Nugent Transfer Company. He had been a painting contractor up until his retirement 14 years ago.

He was born Feb. 5, 1874 in Edgar County, Ill.

Survivors include the widow of Midland, three sons, Floyd O. Rhoden, John W. Rhoden, Jr., and William H. Rhoden, all of Midland; two sisters, Mrs. Rose Craig of Mount Carmel, Ill., and Mrs. Bessie McCoy of Hudsonville, Ill., and five grandchildren.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday in the Newline Ellis Chapel with the Rev. J. B. Sharp, pastor of St. Mark's Methodist Church, officiating.

Interment will be in Fairview Cemetery.

Funeral directors will be Red Steele, Charles Patterson, W. E. Nance, Leo Marrison, R. D. Jones, Jr., and Acey Stump.

Barzen Duo Stop Clay Court Foes

CHICAGO.—Top-seeded favorites Maureen Connolly and Victor Seixas advanced into the finals of the National Clay Court tennis tournament Saturday.

Miss Connolly, San Diego, pounded out a 6-2, 6-4 semifinal victory over Meila Ramirez, Mexico City, while Seixas, Wimbledon champion of Philadelphia, rallied to take a five-set win from Tony Trabert, Cincinnati, 2-6, 4-6, 6-4, 5-2, 8-6.

In quarter-final men's doubles, Bernard Barzen, San Angelo, and Grant Golden, Wilmette, Ill., defeated John Ben, Shawnee, Okla., and Clint Nettleton, Austin, 6-0, 6-2.

Byrd Stops Tribe On Five-Hitter, 9-3

CLEVELAND.—(AP)—Right-hander Harry Byrd of the Philadelphia Athletics evened his season's pitching record by a five-hit, 9-3 triumph over the Cleveland Indians.

It was the first time the 28-year-old South Carolinian beat the Tribe as a starting pitcher.

The score: B H R Philadelphia—330 000 21—9 10 1 Cleveland—120 000 0—3 5 1 Byrd and Murray; Feller, Hoskins and Hegan, Tipton.

BOLD THIEF POCKETS GAT

CLEVELAND.—(AP)—The police department and the FBI prepared an exhibit of pistols and other criminal paraphernalia for a theater here.

The display, in connection with a movie billed as a study of crime, apparently was too tempting for one thief.

A pistol was found missing when the exhibit was taken down.

Marihuana Seized As Midland Police Arrest Five Youths

The darkened headlights of a speeding automobile Friday night led to the arrest of five joy-riding Latin American youths and the seizure of five marihuana cigarettes.

The five, including a 15-year-old juvenile, were being held by police Saturday pending further investigation.

Police Officers A. L. Barron and Gordon Smith first noticed the automobile, in which the five were riding, as they cruised on routine patrol in the 300 block of East Ohio Street.

"We turned around to stop them," reported Barron, "and they speeded up running a stop sign on Main Street."

Within a block, however, the police car had overtaken the vehicle.

"As we drew up alongside," said Smith, "we noticed one of the boys throw something out of the car. We went back and found two sticks of marihuana."

The youths were taken to police headquarters for questioning and Deputy Sheriff E. L. Hunter, searching the car, found three more sticks of marihuana, jammed between the seats.

The five refused to discuss where they had acquired the "reefers."

First Martin Bale To Prompt Jamboree With Auction Sale

STANTON.—Martin County's "first bale" will spark a "cotton jamboree" in Stanton, Mrs. Hila Weathers, Chamber of Commerce manager, has announced.

Plans are already underway for the event, with businessmen in Stanton and area cities being asked to join in the welcome and assist in the sale.

Producers of the first cotton bale will receive the proceeds of a public auction, as well as a trophy as top winner.

Gnashing Armies Bludgeon Each Other On Korean Hills

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
SEOUL.—(AP)—South Korean infantrymen pressed forward against heavier resistance Saturday on the devastated Central Front. The Chinese were pouring thousands of troops bulwarked by tanks across the Kumsong River in an effort to hold their gains of last week or spring a new offensive.

In the air war, Allied Sabre jets shot down three MIG's over North Korea Sunday, the Fifth Air Force said, in battles that produced two new double ace pilots.

The new double aces were Capt. Lonnie Moore, Ft. Walton, Fla., with 10 Red jets shot down and one probable, and Lt. Col. Vermont Garrison, Tulsa, Okla., with 10 destroyed, three probables and three damaged.

Police Officer A. L. Barron and Gordon Smith first noticed the automobile, in which the five were riding, as they cruised on routine patrol in the 300 block of East Ohio Street.

(corps). Their massive offensive was aimed at smashing through the eastern and western flanks of the 20-mile-wide bulge and trapping Allied division in the center.

The Republic of Korea Army, fighting largely on its own, blocked the Red objective, the statement said.

In heavy fighting in four sectors of the central and eastern fronts Saturday, American soldiers near Christmas Hill in the East hurled back two attacks by Red battalions.

U. S. 45th Division infantry held fast as the two 700-man Red punches hit one frontline position and a nearby outpost.

In the Kumsong area, where the South Koreans had recovered some of the ground lost in the Red drive Monday and Tuesday, the Chinese openly braved Allied air and artillery to put trucks and equipment south of the Kumsong River.

At one time Chinese troops crossing the Kumsong were caught in a concentrated fire of more than 150 allied artillery pieces, 16 B-26 light bombers and a steady stream of dive-bombing fighter-bombers.

In close-range fighting with hand grenades, the South Koreans at dusk kicked a Chinese battalion off a key hill which the ROK's had yielded to the Reds in the morning. Guns Move South

The Koreans also came up against stepped-up Red artillery moving into the range of guns which the Reds had moved south to hold gains made in flattening the Kumsong bulge.

Further east, a North Korean Red regiment, about 2,500 men, hit three South Korean hill positions northeast of the Punchbowl. The U. S. Eighth Army said the Reds were supported by 300 rounds of artillery and mortar fire, but the ROK's drove them back in a three-hour fight. An estimated 977 Reds were killed or wounded.

On the East Coast, near Anchor Hill, four smaller Red attacks were driven off.

Deputy Prime Minister Walter Ulbricht called on every worker to spy against fellow workers to ferret out the "Fascist underground."

Even the factory speedup, which helped spark the June uprising, reappeared in a new guise. Although officially the forced increases in work quotas have been abandoned, Ulbricht warned the workers they could not hope for higher wages unless they increased their output.

On the sore subject of food, the Communists declared 80,000 tons of food have been imported from Russia in the first half of this month and actually produced some new food supplies in East Berlin. They promised more.

FROM FORT WORTH
Joe Cochran and Lynn Neill arrived Friday night from Fort Worth to spend the weekend in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Neill and family, 2615 Delano Street.

NEVADA CITY, CALIF.—A tiny red-haired girl and two youths handcuffed a police chief and a deputy sheriff together, then kidnaped another deputy and fled after holding up a tavern.

The trio disarmed Police Chief J. J. Jackson of Nevada City and Deputy Sheriff Harry Prink, handcuffed them and left them unharmed on a side road.

The deputy with whom the three disappeared was Wilmer Oates.

The girl, described by deputies as only four feet tall, and 14 or 15 years old, was said to have carried a pistol.

Chief Jackson picked up two boys Saturday morning for investigation. With them was the girl. He took them to the sheriff's office. Deputy Prink was there. One of the boys drew a pistol, clobbered the chief and ordered both men to the police car, just outside the door.

As they reached the street, they encountered Deputy Oates, just reporting for work. They ordered the three men into the car.

They drove into a side road and used the chief's handcuffs to bind Jackson and Prink together.

Then, with Oates compelled to get behind the wheel, they headed east.

At a tavern 10 miles from Nevada City, the youths left the girl to guard Deputy Oates. They held up Mr. and Mrs. Max Lantz, took the keys to a green Jeep, stole two bottles of whisky, took five or six knives from the kitchen, got $50 to $60 from the cash register, ripped the phone from the wall, forced the proprietors into the basement and drove away in the Jeep.

Border Premier Is Ousted In Purge Of Beria Cohorts

LONDON.—(AP)—The Kremlin's nation-wide purge of ousted Police Chief Lavrenty P. Beria's henchmen Saturday struck down the Prime Minister of Azerbaijan, a strategic Middle Eastern republic of the Soviet Union bordering Iran.

Moscow radio announced that Mir-Djafar A. Bagirov—an alternate member of the Presidium of the Central Committee of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union—had been fired from his local party's Central Committee. The Azerbaijan Central Committee also ordered his dismissal from the post of Prime Minister.

The broadcast said the Azerbaijan Central Committee action against Bagirov was taken in the presence of Peter Pospelov, secretary of the Central Committee of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union, indicating the importance which the Kremlin attached to it.

Pospelov, former editor of Pravda, apparently has a new role of hatchetman.

The Malenkov government has been swinging its purge hard and swiftly in all the minority provinces where Beria had built up his most potent political strength.

Bagirov was by far the senior Communist to fall into disgrace since the sweep against Beria's lieutenants began. He is the first premier to go down.

Other Beria-appointed men in the Soviet republic face quick dismissal and probably much worse, Western analysts predict.

Former Mental Patient Slays Mother With Savage Knife As 'Act Of Mercy'

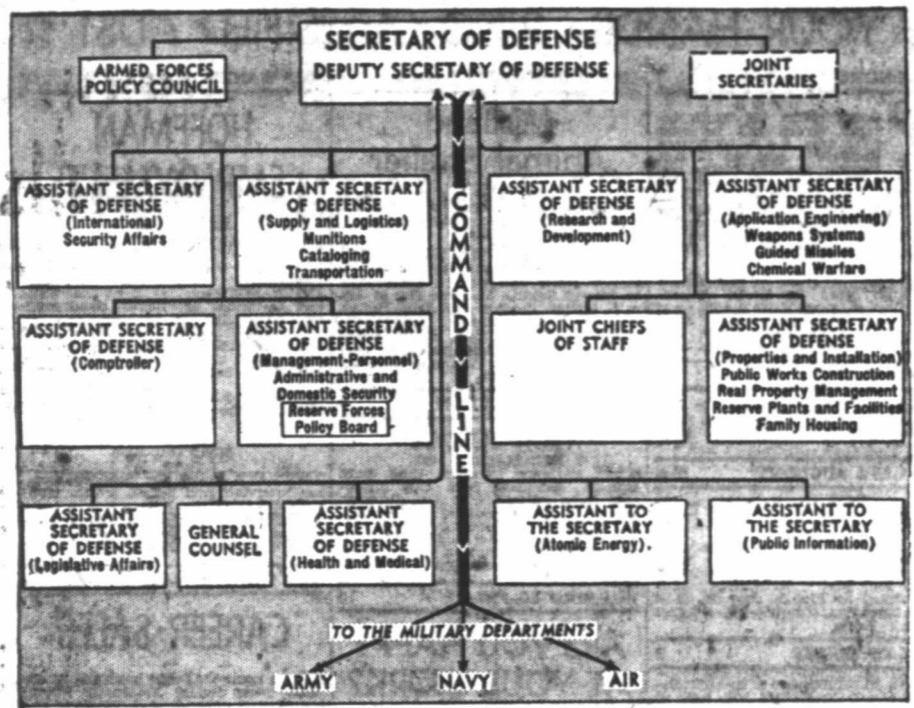

LAKEWOOD, CALIF.—(AP)—A man who identified himself as a retired Army lieutenant colonel and West Point graduate Saturday hacked his mother to death with a bolo knife, sheriff's deputies reported.

Booked on suspicion of murder is John Myron Underwood, 46, who was released on a trial basis last May 15 from the psychopathic ward of a West Los Angeles veterans hospital.

Deputies said he readily admitted the grisly slaying.

"I killed her to spare her the misery watching my troubles," Underwood was quoted by Deputy R. L. Ray.

Officers said he told this story: Saturday morning he went into the garage of the home he shared with his mother, Mrs. Hazel Della Under

Optimism For Peace Fades From Capital

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON — (AP)— Grave concern has developed among top officials here over Communist intentions at this stage of the tangled Korean truce negotiations. There no longer appears to be as much optimism as there was a week or 10 days ago that the Reds will agree shortly to a truce. Privately, officials regard present

Communist tactics as "stalling" and they are worried by the massive Communist military assault of recent days. They are beginning to wonder whether the Reds are playing for some new military or political objective, not apparent here. They also point out that South Korean President Syngman Rhee's bitter opposition to the truce terms may remain a stumbling block in Red minds even though he has given assurance he would not obstruct an armistice.

The Reds repeatedly have demanded "guarantees" from the United Nations Command that South Korea would comply with the proposed truce terms. The UN Command has replied that the terms will be carried out if signed and that it is time for the Reds to realize this and stop delaying. If the delays continue it seems certain the UN Command will tell the Communists that it is unable to engage in any more negotiations until the Reds have something worthwhile to say.

So far as can be learned here, the Reds never have spelled out the kind of guarantee they want. The UN Command thus is dealing with a problem which it has not been able to define clearly.

Doubt about the Communist good faith was reported Saturday to be behind Secretary of State Dulles' warning Friday night that the United States and its Allies are after an honorable peace "but if the Communists want war, we must be ready for that, too." The radio-television report to the nation by Dulles and Assistant Secretary Walter Robertson reflected distrust of Communist motivations not only in the truce talks but also in the post-armistice period.

While the UN side thus is steaming with suspicion of the Reds, authorities agreed that efforts to deal with the situation were not being boosted along by official South Korean emphasis on one point which Robertson and Rhee apparently did not finally settle between them. That is the point about possibly resuming the war, if the armistice fails to result in unification of Korea.

Seven GI's Found Guilty Of Mutiny, Given Long Terms

FORT DIX, N. J. — (AP)— Seven privates belonging to a special training unit of rule breakers have been sentenced to long prison terms for mutiny during drill here, the post public information office announced Saturday.

Captain Harry H. Lapham, post public information officer, said a general court martial July 9 sentenced six New York state men to 20 years each and a Philadelphia man to 15 years for refusing to obey an officer's order to fall in for close order drill July 11.

Lapham said all seven had previous convictions for being absent without leave. He said the men were members of the Ninth Reconnaissance Company, a special unit set up for men placed in confinement for breaking military regulations. On June 11 he said, they refused to fall in for close order drill after a commissioned officer had repeated a command that was ignored when originally given by a sergeant.

Men Are Instructed
 Lapham said the court martial found that the action was a "concerted one by the group and this made them liable for trial under Article 94 of the Uniform Code of Military Justice, dealing with mutiny or sedition."

The officer who testified at the court martial, and whose name was not disclosed, said he explained the gravity of the offense to each man and they still refused to obey, Lapham reported. Their convictions now are being reviewed and will be submitted to Maj. Gen. Homer W. Keifer, commanding general at Fort Dix, the judge advocate's office said.

The men also were sentenced to dishonorable discharge and forfeiture of all pay and allowances.

Subject To Review
 Before the sentences can be executed, Lapham said, the case will be reviewed by a board of review of the office of the judge advocate general in Washington.

Lapham announced the names and addresses of the convicted men as follows:
 Sentenced to 20 years each—Pvt. Daniel McCann, 21, Troy, N. Y.; Pvt. Anthony Verdone, 21, Ozona Park, N. Y.; Pvt. Ernest N. Casale, 21, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Pvt. Samuel Castellano, 21, Staten Island, N. Y.; Pvt. Joseph G. Gannecillo, 18, New Rochelle, N. Y.; and Pvt. Joseph Randazzo, 18, Brooklyn, N. Y.
 Sentenced to 15 years—Pvt. William F. Evans, 18, Philadelphia.

Unexpected Debate Brews Up Over Item In Defense Measure

WASHINGTON — (AP)— An unexpected Senate floor battle over one section of the $34,511,302,000 annual defense bill was promised Saturday by Senators Ferguson (R-Mich.) and Saltonstall (R-Mass.).

They said they will seek to kill a rider inserted in the money bill that "would nullify the policy of awarding defense contracts in labor disstress areas." Saltonstall said this would be a damaging blow, for example, to sections of New England, where unemployment is high. The little-noticed provision was piggy-backed in the big bill late Friday by Senator Maybank (D-SC), with the solid backing of Democrats on the Appropriations Committee. Most Republicans were absent at the time.

Acting Majority Leader Knowland (R-Calif.) said the defense measure, carrying operating funds for the Air Force, Army and Navy, will be called up in the Senate Wednesday. Knowland said he expects it to pass in one day in substantially the form approved by the Appropriations Committee, which went along with a five billion dollar cut in Air Force funds proposed by the Eisenhower Administration.

Department Stores List Sales Increase

DALLAS — (AP)— Department store sales in five Texas cities rose six per cent last week, compared with the same week a year ago. The weekly report of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas showed: Dallas sales up 12 per cent; El Paso, up four; Fort Worth, down three; Houston, up seven; San Antonio, down six.

Russian Challenge To Trade In Western Europe Foretold

MONTICELLO, ILL. — (AP)— Assistant Secretary of State Samuel Waugh predicted Saturday Russia, at its present rate, will be economically stronger than Western Europe within 15 years. He told the University of Illinois Institute of International Trade Russia has made remarkable economic progress since the war. He said intelligence estimates show Russia has doubled its production since 1940. He said Soviet coal production, while about half as big as this country's, is picking up at a more rapid rate. Waugh said Russian steel production practically doubled since 1940 and now is three-fifths of West Europe's capacity. He said Soviet petroleum output went from 31 million tons to 47 million since 1940 and is "well on its way to surpassing production in Western Europe." "Electric power within the Soviet Union, is only 23 per cent of that in the United States," he said, "but the increase from 1940 to the present time is 69 billion kilowatt hours, x x x." "If the rate of increase continues it is highly possible that some time in the 1960's the economic strength of the Soviet Union will intersect and pass that of Western Europe."

Production Credit Group Hears Advice On Drouth Programs

Farmers and ranchers of West Texas must "pull in their belts, cut expenses and keep all their operations in good shape" in order to minimize drouth losses, Production Credit Association stockholders were told in their annual meeting here Saturday.

W. J. McAnelly, president of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Houston, and Bob Coffee, secretary-treasurer of the PCA here, summarized their advice in those words at the Midland livestock auction company meeting. They were outlining steps which are being taken toward drouth relief and how existing programs might be utilized best.

A. G. Bohannon, a PCA director, president, and Claude D. Cotten, field man for the Production Credit Corporation of Houston shared the main speakers' platform with McAnelly.

The more than 100 stockholders present from the 12-county area re-elected M. F. King of Midland president and Charles J. Cox of Garden City vice president. Coffee was re-elected secretary treasurer with David K. Workman his assistant, and Bohannon was renamed director.

E. J. Branch of Rankin and Jim Franklin of Stanton, other directors, were not up for reelection.

Home For Armless Baby Being Sought By County Officials

WAXAHACHIE — (AP)— Ellis County officials want someone with patience and love to give a home to an eight-month-old armless baby girl abandoned by her mother.

The mother left the child with its aged grandparents here three weeks ago and said: "I don't love it—I don't want it and don't care what you do with it."

The baby is a healthy child, born without arms. Until recently the mother and child lived in a little house on a farm in Ellis County.

The county declared the child dependent and neglected and a ward of the state. County Probation Officer Gus Ramage sought in vain for some institution to take the little girl.

"It will take a lot of work, patience and money to give the little girl a chance," Ramage said.

"Money alone will not be enough."

FLAPS FLOPS; ALL IS WELL

BONHAM — (AP)— Flaps, a cocker spaniel, is doing okay after 16 hours of holding onto a board in a 15-foot well.

Flaps fell into the well near the Bonham Golf Club late Thursday. His owner, David Lane, hunted until midnight.

Friday morning, Davis Cole and Danny Whit, hunting a lost golf ball, heard a whimper and found Flaps. They lowered a ladder and hauled him out.

Flaps had pneumonia and could not stand on his legs. He got some penicillin shots and was up flapping around Saturday.

Cream, Eggs, Meats Return To Free Market In England

LONDON — (AP)— Cream came back on British tables last week and back for keeps this time. Housewives are buying meat without ration cards for the first time in 13 years.

And every British father now can breakfast off his favorite fried eggs every day—not just once a week as he did only a few months back.

All this results at least in part from Britain's great unwinding of food controls over the last 12 months. By this time next year, the ration card may be just a museum piece.

The only foods still fully rationed are sugar, butter, margarine, cooking fats and bacon.

The cheaper kinds of cheese—"moustrap cheeses" the British call them—still are rationed but imported cheeses are plentiful though expensive. Meat still is rationed in theory but butcher shops are temporarily so full that anyone may have as much as he wants with only a smile to the butcher.

While foods remain plentiful, their price remains steady. The government's cost of living index has hung around the 140 mark for the last three months. The 140 is calculated by taking retail prices of food and other necessities in June, 1947, as 100.

Wages have not quite kept pace with living costs, however. Wage earners now get 135 shillings for every 100 they got in 1947.

Lost Truck Driver Also Loses Cargo

ELIZABETH, N. J. — (AP)— Anybody seen 700 concrete blocks? A Brooklyn truck driver, who lost his way, dumped them somewhere and now they can't be located.

Abraham Rogow, owner of the Sunset Trailer Park in Bayonne, who ordered the blocks from Hiller Construction Company in Brooklyn, appealed to police Saturday to help him find his missing shipment.

He said the Brooklyn firm reported its truck driver, name undisclosed, started out for Rogow's place. He went by ferry to State Island, but then took the Goethals bridge to Elizabeth instead of the Bayonne Bridge.

In Elizabeth, a tire started going flat, so the driver just dumped his load and headed for a service station. When the truck was repaired, he went back for the load, but couldn't find it.

Rogow said the Hiller firm notified him of the trouble and he asked police for help.

Policeman Freed In Fatal Shooting

HOUSTON — (AP)— A verdict of justifiable homicide was returned Saturday in the fatal shooting of Manuel Velasquez, 28, by a Houston policeman.

Patrolman J. R. Truitt said he fired the fatal shots when Velasquez threatened him with a knife. Truitt had been sent to investigate a disturbance that grew out of refusal by Velasquez to be taken to a hospital after a stabbing. He had been stabbed by an assailant unknown to police.

House Passes Bill Regulating Foodstuff

WASHINGTON — (AP)— The Senate Saturday passed and sent to the House a law that would make it a criminal offense to blend wheat imported as unfit for human consumption and sell it as edible.

The Judiciary Committee said about 60 million bushels of damaged Canadian wheat had been imported at a duty of seven and one-half cents a bushel, instead of the regular 21-cent rate, and much of it milled into flour.

VETERAN REFUSED JOB GETS $32,911 VERDICT

MILWAUKEE — (AP)— The Schwartz Manufacturing Company of Two Rivers, Wis., has been ordered to pay damages of $32,911.65 to a World War veteran who was not reinstated in his prewar job after he returned from service.

SINGLE THOUGHT!

An average of 308 people placed classified advertisements in The Reporter-Telegram EACH DAY during the past year. Their reasons for placing the ads, of course, were many and varied. Some were looking for lost articles . . . some wanted jobs . . . others were searching for employees, announcing houses, apartments and rooms for rent, selling bicycles, furniture and many other items no longer needed, placing automobiles, homes and ranches on the market, offering all kinds of special services, etc. But regardless of the reasons for placing the individual ads, these 308 people anticipated one thing . . .

QUICK RESULTS AT LOW COST!

Of course, it isn't the same 308 people who advertise daily in the classified section of The Reporter-Telegram. But a surprisingly large number use these columns regularly, because they have learned through experience that there is no other means available through which they may send a personal message to 14,500 homes in the Midland area at as small a cost as 60c.

Rain Settles Court Action

FORT DAVIS—(AP)—A drenching rain provided a prompt settlement to a court action Friday.

Two Fort Davis residents got into a fuss over which could use water from the almost dry Limpia Creek to irrigate their gardens.

Sheriff Tom Gray referred the argument to Justice of the Peace Barry Scobee. Midway of a hearing before Scobee, a hard rain began falling. The sheriff broke in and made a motion that the case be dismissed "on the grounds that the rain settled it."

Scobee sustained the motion and dismissed the case.

UNTIL CONVENTION PICKS IN '56— Adlai Role At Party Helm Makes Some Dems Doubtful

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Adlai Stevenson is winding up his world tour and coming home later this month to a political future still fuzzy around the edges.

It is far from clear just where Stevenson will fit into the Democratic picture even though many of his party still consider him to be their leader and spokesman.

There is nothing to indicate he intends to step back into the shadows and leave the field of leadership to others. His actions haven't been those of a man who has accepted one defeat as final. Even on a world trip he has kept his name before the people at home through his writings and statements.

But it is becoming evident that an influential part of the Democratic party doesn't intend to see the 1956 presidential nomination go to Stevenson by default.

There were many Democratic leaders, particularly the old regulars, who never quite felt comfortable with Stevenson. It was not that they disliked or were opposed to him because of any particular philosophy or issue. They just never felt he was one of them.

More and more the names of Senator Stuart Symington of Missouri is cropping up a possible claimant to the Democratic nomination in '56. The talks persist that Symington is the man to watch in the jockeying for favorable position before the convention.

That convention is a long time distant measured by political mileage. But it seems safe to predict the man who wins next time will have to go out and fight for the nomination. It's doubtful there will be another draft.

Many people never quite understood Stevenson's avowed reluctance last year. Some never were convinced this reluctance was real.

In Springfield, a few hours after he conceded defeat by saying he was "too old to cry and it hurt too much to laugh," Stevenson sat in the governor's mansion talking to a small group.

He was asked if he believed a political party should be put into the position of having to draft its

Committee Sends Bobtailed Foreign Aid Bill To House

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The House Saturday received a bobtailed foreign aid money bill from its Appropriations Committee but Chairman Taber (R-N.Y.) said it will be more than adequate "with good management."

The committee endorsed the action of a subgroup which went right down the line whacking item after item and winding up with a bill to appropriate $4,433,678,000 in new money for the fiscal year ending next June 30.

This was a cut of more than $1,100,000,000 in the $5,138,922,277 pared-down request submitted by President Eisenhower. Former President Truman, in his final budget message last January, had recommended $7,600,000,000.

The biggest slash—$312,197,901—was in military aid funds for Europe.

If approved the House and Senate, the bill would give the Administration a total of $6,033,678,000 for the year, counting in approximately $1,600,000,000 of unobligated funds left over from last year. All but $50 million of this carryover is earmarked for Europe.

An additional $402,256,806 in unobligated carryover funds was canceled out by the committee. This, with a reduction of $708,244,377 in new money requests, added up to a total cut of $1,107,501,082.

The House will open debate on the measure next week. The Senate Appropriations Committee still is working on its version of a foreign aid financing bill.

Eisenhower's request for new funds for military aid was trimmed by the House group from $3,848,570,054 to an even $3,150,000,000, a cut of $698,570,054.

In addition to the $312,197,910 reduction in funds for West Europe, the committee sliced allotments to other areas by these amounts: Africa and the Near East $11,082,120; Asia and the Pacific $74,876,014; American republics $414,010.

Basins in Spain
In line with Eisenhower's proposal, the committee voted no new funds for Spain, for which carryover funds are still available. The United States has been negotiating for defense bases in Spain for the last several years, and Truman requested an additional $120,000,000 for that country in his January budget.

The Korean Reconstruction Agency, for which Eisenhower asked $70,300,000, was allotted 50 million. Eisenhower requested 110 million for special weapons for mutual defense, but the committee cut this in half because, Chairman Taber said, the Mutual Security Agency had failed to show "a clear idea of what they wanted to do."

More Fun To Come
At that time Stevenson also said that in accepting the nomination, he also had accepted the responsibilities of party leadership that had been President Truman's.

The coming months will give a clearer picture of Stevenson's position in the party and his chances again to be the Democratic nominee.

But until this happens, it is certain politics will be livelier and considerably more fun with Stevenson back home.

Civilian, Atomic Leaders Get Bids To Strategy Talks

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson has asked the nation's atomic chief and members of the National Security Council to join the civilian-military command in the forthcoming roundtable talks on U. S. strategy and other defense issues at Quantico, Va.

The discussions also are slated to bring together more than 100 civilian and military officials of the defense establishment, including the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Invitations to participate in at least some portion of the three-day meeting, it was learned Saturday, have gone to Lewis Strauss, new Atomic Energy Commission chairman; Secretary of State Dulles; Mutual Security Director Stassen and others.

Primarily, they have been asked to sit in on the talks because the policy-making duties of the National Security Council, of which Dulles and Stassen are members, and the atomic weapons functions of the AEC are associated closely with the work of the military department.

However, this also pointed up the mounting interest of the Pentagon in atomic weapons, particularly in view of published reports that the United States might be compelled to utilize tactical A-bombs and atomic cannon to bring a decision in the Korean War if the Communists finally wreck truce talks.

The views to be expressed in the informal talks by the men who make or carry out major military and political decisions can serve as guide posts for the new Joint Chiefs of Staff when they set out a few weeks hence on a complete re-study of strategy and the roles and missions of the armed forces, as ordered by Wilson.

President Truman's...
The President invited Blazina to this latest reunion last year while in Chicago. White House officials said Blazina was active in last year's Republican campaign in Southwest Chicago.

Coming with him to the White House will be his wife and their son and daughter-in-law, Capt. and Mrs. Tom Blazina, and Rep. Fred E. Busby (R-Ill.) and Mrs. Busby.

Captain Blazina is a West Point graduate and now is an instructor in jet piloting there.

Selling One's Self
He replied quickly: "Of course." He went on to say that for too many years the system had grown in which men set themselves up as leaders by announcing, "I am a leader and have the qualifications to be President." Then, he added, these men proceeded to sell the people on the idea they were leaders.

He argued the democratic way for the people to choose their own leaders. The point was that the impetus should come from the people—not from someone selling himself.

YOU ALL LEAVE MARILYN ALONE

CARDIFF, WALES—(AP)—British doctors have complained that their male patients are swiping pinup pictures of luscious beauties from the traditional waiting room magazines.

A report by a conference of the British Medical Association urged would-be pin-up snatchers to leave the pictures for later patients to admire.

Johnson Again Hits Drouth Relief Plans As Too Restricted

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Senator Johnson (D-Texas) again Saturday said the Eisenhower Administration's efforts to aid livestock producers in the drouth-stricken Southwest will help but not enough.

Johnson said the government program to buy 200 million pounds of canned and processed beef would benefit packers and processors but he feared "very little will go to the small ranchers who are really up against it."

Johnson, in a broadcast made here for radio station WOAI, San Antonio, said he had found "a desperate need for refinancing" among drouth-hit ranchers who already are in debt. He said Agriculture Secretary Benson had authority to re-finance loans through the Farmers Home Administration.

The senator also said he planned to find out why no hay was being sent into the drouth disaster area as part of the government's low cost feed program.

Truman Subpoenaed To Tell Why Nation Entered Korean War
KANSAS CITY—(AP)—A subpoena has been served on former President Harry S. Truman calling for him to explain why the United States entered the Korean War. But he will not have to appear in Federal Court Monday.

The subpoena was obtained by Fyke Farmer, Nashville, Tenn., lawyer who has challenged the right of the government to collect income taxes for war purposes. He contends the Korean War resulted from "illegal policies."

Truman was directed to appear in court Monday by the subpoena, but an attorney representing the former Chief Executive said Friday a court order had been issued staying the appearance pending a hearing on a motion to squash the summons.

New Japanese Flood Takes Toll Of More Than 4,900 Victims
TOKYO—(AP)—A flood fed by torrential rains—the second such devastation to hit Japan in three weeks—has taken a toll of almost 5,000 dead and missing and swept at least 2,936 homes into the sea, the government said Sunday.

Hardest hit was Wakayama province on the east-central coast of Honshu, Japan's main island. At least 200 persons were reported killed there and 1,029 missing.

The rains struck Friday. The rapid flowing Arita River in the mountainous province, about 200 air miles southwest of Tokyo, ran wild, washing away dikes, homes, whole villages and creating landslides.

The narrow but fertile valley became a muddy, rushing lake carrying houses into the sea. A courier for government aid said "I've seen with my own eyes some 100 bodies floating near Minoshima," a town of 17,000 persons at the river's mouth.

Telephone Firm Will Move Offices To San Angelo
SAN ANGELO—(AP)—Negotiations were completed Saturday for transfer here by October 1 of the General Telephone Company of the Southwest headquarters, now in Dallas.

The company will occupy temporary downtown quarters while its new $500,000 building is being completed. Plans also call for the construction of a new residential district around the offices on a tract in Southwest San Angelo.

General Telephone will become San Angelo's largest private industry with an annual payroll of more than $800,000 for about 350 employees.

The San Angelo exchange is the largest in the firm's system.

Phillips Completes Wolfcamp Discovery In Martin Sector

Phillips Petroleum Company has completed a small, pumping discovery from the Wolfcamp-Permian at its No. 1-C Schar, (Clarence Scharbauer) Southwest Martin County wildcat.

This new field opener pumped 34 hours from perforated sections in the Wolfcamp at 9,000-9,026 feet and at 9,321-9,382 feet.

Production during the 24-hour test was 59.2 barrels of oil and no water. Gravity of the oil has not been officially reported.

The producing streaks had been treated with acid and had also been fractured.

This wildcat discovery is 13 miles north of Midland and 19 miles west and slightly north of Stanton. Location is 1,220 feet from south and 6,000 feet from west lines of league 324, LaSalle County School Land survey.

The project is four miles north of the Glass field which produces from the Spraberry and from the Pennsylvanian and it is four miles east of the Mabee (San Andres) field.

Phillips No. 1-C Schar drilled to a bottom of 14,140 feet in barren Ellenburger. That formation made only salt water.

A string of 5 1/2-inch casing is cemented at 12,081 feet. The cement inside that pipe is drilled out to 9,400 feet.

None of the section between the Wolfcamp and the bottom of the hole had any possibilities of commercial production. Some of those zones had slight shows—but none of them were sufficient to make a well.

Hamon Files For Wildcat In Hockley

Jake L. Hamon filed application with the Railroad Commission of Texas requesting permission to start drilling at once on a 10,000-foot wildcat in North-Central Hockley County.

It is to be dug as No. 1 J. E. Bowman, 660 feet from south and east lines of labor 21, league 720, State Capitol Lands survey.

Drillsite is six miles north of Levelland. Operations are to start at once.

Magnolia To Perforate Higher In NE Midland

Magnolia Petroleum Company was preparing to test another new section of the Strawn in No. 1 Oldham, indicated discovery from that formation in Northeast Midland County.

Last testing was done on perforations from 10,258 to 10,277 feet. The project flowed six hours and made 24 barrels of new oil and 19 barrels of salt water through a 15 5/8-inch choke. Gas-oil ratio was 3,854-1. Gravity of the oil is 43.5 degrees. Flowing tubing pressure was 90 pounds.

During the last hour of the six hours, the project flowed two barrels of new oil and 21 1/2 barrels of salt water.

Operator then swabbed and flowed the well two hours, during which time it made six barrels of new oil and five barrels of salt water.

At the end of the two hours there were 8,000 feet of fluid in the hole.

The above perforations have been squeezed off and the section from 10,239 to 10,246 feet will be perforated.

The section from 10,326 to 10,328 feet had flowed 84 barrels of new oil and six barrels of salt water in eight hours after acid treatment.

The wildcat has logged shows of possible pay all the way back up the hole to 10,230 feet. It is expected that all of those sections will be tested before an effort is made to complete the project.

The section at 10,390-400 feet also showed for possible production.

Gas Kick Developed At Blanco Wildcat In SW Borden Area

A slight gas kick developed in the top of the Pennsylvanian reef at Blanco Oil Company No. 1 W. L. Miller, wildcat in Southwest Borden County.

The reef was topped at 8,428 feet, minus datum point of 5,759 feet.

Hole is bottomed at 8,445 feet. Operator was taking a drillstem test at last report.

The wildcat is 746 feet from north and 1,749 feet from east lines of section 11, block 33, T-4-N, T&P survey and 13 miles southwest of Gail.

Former Midlanders Now In Cairo On New Petroleum Jobs

Southern California Petroleum Corporation has completed arrangements for transportation of all of the key American personnel who will head various departments in its Egyptian Operation for the International Egyptian Oil Company.

Scott A. Murray has been in Cairo for three months, having been transferred from Southern California Petroleum Corporation's Midland office, and is general manager for activities in Cairo.

Frank Lewis, former chief geologist for an independent oil company with offices in Midland, has moved to Cairo and is in charge of geology.

Robert Fei, formerly with a major oil company of California, will leave for Cairo in a few days. Fei will take over the duties of general superintendent and will be in charge of all drilling activities in the Sinai Peninsula. His principal office will be in Cairo, although field headquarters will be at El Shatt, four miles from Suez.

R. L. Brewer, head toolpusher, will leave with Robert Fei for Suez. The past five years he has been toolpusher for a large drilling company in California.

Earl Miner, former toolpusher with Saddle Drilling Company of Texas and New Mexico, will leave Midland near the end of July to join Fei and Brewer in the Suez area.

North Pecos Wildcat Has Slight Show Of Gas In Fusselman

Cities Service Oil Company and associates, No. 1 B. E. Payton, flowing gas-distillate discovery from the Devonian in North Pecos County, failed to find any shows of production in the Fusselman in a drillstem test at 7,710-7,812 feet.

That section was drillstem tested for two hours. Recovery was 180 feet of gas cut drilling mud. There were no shows of oil or of formation water.

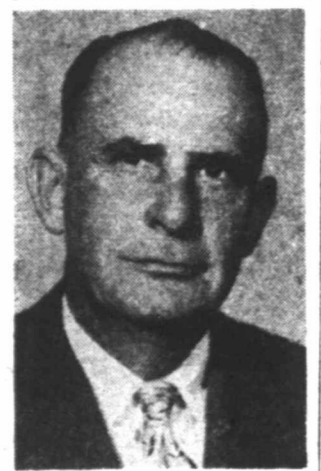

The prospector is making more hole. Location is 330 feet from west and 1,198 feet from north lines of section 99, block 8, H&G survey, Near Grandfalls.

It is in the shallow Payton field along the Pecos-Ward county line and two miles southwest of Grandfalls. It is 30 miles north of Fort Stockton.

Top of the Fusselman is at 7,710 feet. Elevation is 2,835 feet.

The section at 6,788-6,878 feet has shown for a heavy gas flow with commercial quantities of distillate.

This wildcat was originally started to drill to 11,500 feet—if necessary—to test the Ellenburger.

West Has Completed 25 Years Of Atlantic Pipe Line Service

Hugh A. West of Midland, division superintendent for The Atlantic Pipe Line Company, has completed 25 years of employment with the concern and has been awarded his 25-year service emblem.

West began work for Atlantic on June 24, 1928, soon after it started its operations in the Permian Basin. All of his 25 years with the company have been in the region covered by the Midland division.

He started as a clerk in the office during the time the Atlantic tank farm east of Midland was under construction.

He continued on that assignment until 1932 when he was promoted to district clerk. In 1936 he was advanced to be division clerk and contact man.

West handled that dual assignment until 1941 when he was made assistant division superintendent.

Made Superintendent

He was promoted to be division superintendent in 1949.

The Midland division of The Atlantic Pipe Line Company extends from Temple on the southeast to El Paso on the west; and from San Antonio on the south to the Wasson area of Yoakum County on the northwest.

During the past year the Midland division has been enlarged to include pipe line stations at Garden City, Bronte, Talpa, Zephyr, Evans, Best, Sonora and Rocksprings.

The division also supervises the

Phillips Will Drill Outpost To Opener In SW Ector Area

Phillips Petroleum Company spotted location for a five-eighths mile northwest outpost to the discovery well of the Wichita Albany pay in the Penwell (Mulltipay) area of Southwest Ector County.

The new test will be drilled as No. 2-C Millard, 660 feet from south and 740 feet from east lines of section 17, block B-15, pal survey.

It is scheduled for a 6,800-foot bottom.

Magnolia Wildcat In Midland Swabs Oil, Salt Water

Fourteen barrels of new oil and 12 barrels of salt water were recovered on swabbing test of Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1 Roy Parks, Jr., wildcat in West-Central Midland County.

The testing was through perforations opposite the Pennsylvanian at 11,023-043 feet. The oil and salt water were recovered in eight hours.

Abilene Concerns To Drill Wildcat In N-C Runnels

Wildcat to 4,800 feet has been announced by Ab-Tex Drilling Company and Twin Oil Corporation of Abilene in North-Central Runnels County.

The project will be drilled as No. 1 Billie Hanks, four miles north of Winters.

Location is 1,960 feet from north and 1,643 feet from west lines of section 499, H. Chapman survey. It is 7/8-mile southeast of Wadley No. 1 Dorsett, plugged and abandoned in 1950 at 4,860 feet.

Another Possible Pay Zone Found In Crockett Project

A second pay has been indicated for the Eikhorn (Ellenburger) field of Northeast Crockett County.

Continental Oil Company No. 2-27 University, stepout to Ellenburger production at the north side of the field, developed oil on a drillstem test of the Crinoidal lime from 7,000 to 7,065 feet. Tool was open 90 minutes. Gas surfaced in four minutes, mud in 27 and oil in 30. The project flowed 31 barrels of oil in one hour.

Recovery was reversed out. It was a full string of oil. Flowing pressure was 825 pounds and shut-in bottom-hole pressure after 15 minutes was 2,300 pounds.

Operator was coring ahead.

Closest Crinoidal production is in the Todd Deep (Mulltipay) field six miles to the southwest.

No. 2-27 University is 681 feet from south and 2,002 feet from east lines of section 27, block 46, University Lands survey.

Permian Basin Rig Activity Near Pre-Spraberry Status

Rotary drilling activity in the Permian Basin of West Texas and Southeast New Mexico is beginning to level off to the pre-Spraberry pace of 1950.

The July 10 survey conducted by Reed Roller Bit Company showed the Basin with 516 rigs in operation as compared to the 596 going one year ago. At the peak of the Spraberry drilling there were more than 700 rotaries in operation. Pre-Spraberry operations were normal at about 500 rigs.

The July 10 count of 516 is six more than was reported by Reed on the June 25 tally.

Lea County still leads all other areas included in the survey with 119 rotaries turning. Andrews County still tops the West Texas side with 46. Lea County showed 124 and Andrews 46 on the previous count.

Crane County jumped into fourth place with 26, an increase of eight rigs.

Upton County moved back into the 20 class. Gaines County remained in third place with 30 rigs, showing a drop of one.

The Reed survey includes the following counties, with total rigs on last two counts.

Petroleum Branch, AIME, Is Planning Big Program For 1953 Annual Meeting

Some 45 technical, economic and general interest papers relating to the exploration, drilling and producing phases of the oil and gas industry will be presented by outstanding engineers and scientists at the 1953 Annual Fall meeting of the Petroleum Branch, AIME, to be held in Dallas, October 19-21.

This annual meeting of petroleum engineers, petroleum geologists and top management officials of the petroleum industry has consistently produced through the years the outstanding technological advancements made in the search for and production of petroleum.

Some 1,400 industry leaders are expected to attend the meeting which will be held in the Adolphus and Baker Hotels in Dallas.

155 WILDCATS FINALED IN WT

As of July 18, 155 wildcat operations in West Texas and Southeast New Mexico have been completed as producers to open new fields and pays or to extend production in proven areas more than one mile, since January 1.

Andrews County tops all others in discoveries with 12. That area also topped all other counties in West Texas in number of rotary rigs drilling with 46.

Lea County, although low in number of discoveries, topped the entire West Texas-Southwest New Mexico area in rotary activity with 119 units in operation.

Crane County jumped into fourth place with 26, an increase of eight rigs.

Ellenburger Wildcat Set In SE Coke

Bill Roden and Associates of Odessa and Norwood Drilling Company of Midland and Wichita Falls will drill a 6,000-foot Ellenburger wildcat in Southeast Coke County.

The prospector will be drilled as No. 1 C. E. Arret.

Drillsite has been staked 660 feet from east and 1,980 feet from north lines of section 3, E. C. Sharp, subdivision of HE&WT survey.

Phillips Directors Declare Dividend

The board of directors of Phillips Petroleum Company recently declared a regular quarterly dividend of 65 cents per share to stockholders of record August 7.

The dividend is payable September 1.

50 Miles 30-Inch Spraberry Outlet Pipe Crowd Midland, Stanton Yards

Paul Kayser, president of El Paso Natural Gas Company, only gas transmission line out of the Spraberry at this time, was called to testify during the hearings.

El Paso has already begun work on its 1,056-mile project in the Permian and San Juan Basins which eventually will take an additional 200,000,000 cubic feet a day from the Spraberry. Permian also has set a goal of 200,000,000 feet daily from this same area.

Kayser's testimony revealed that capacity now exists for more gas than first estimated. Facilities, Kayser said, are available for moving 114,250,000 cubic feet of residue gas daily from the Spraberry, or the equivalent of 153,000,000 cubic feet of casinghead gas. Commission estimates at the time the nine-day order was handed down placed the casinghead gas at 126,000,000 cubic feet and the residue at 100,000,000.

Kayser said that although El Paso had the capacity to absorb the 114,250,000 cubic feet of gas, less than this amount was being moved.

Shows Available Gas

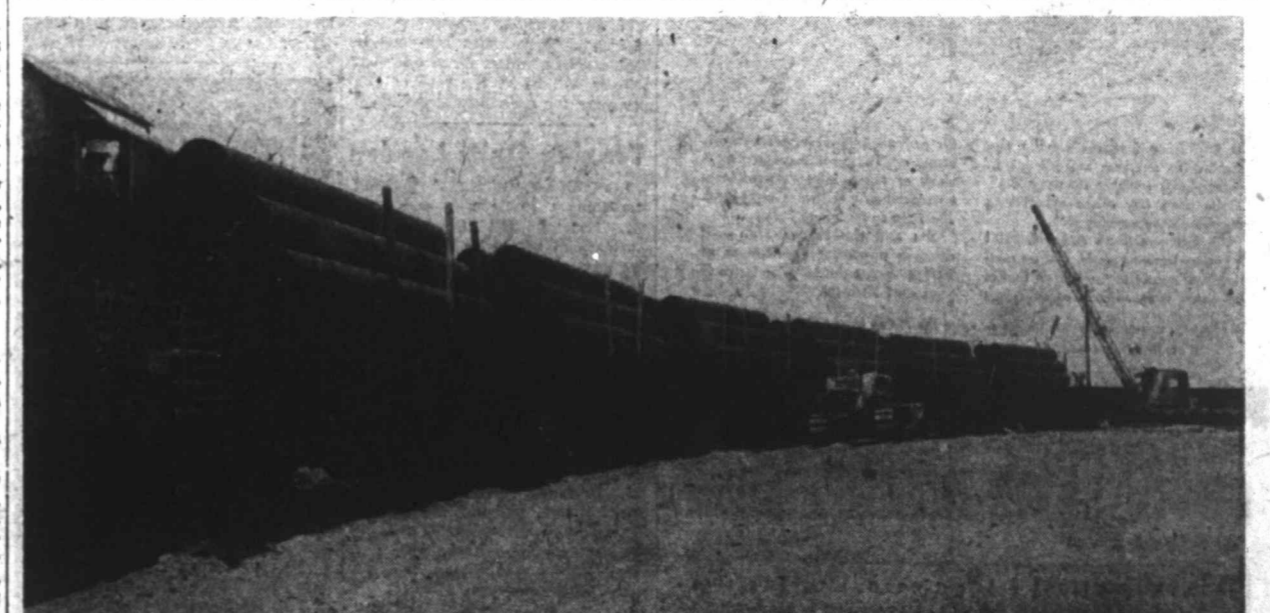

He set the rate on July 7 at 83,700,000 cubic feet daily and 85,000,000 on July 12, thus indicating the amount of gas being made available under the nine-day order.

El Paso, he said, intends to take 167,000,000 cubic feet of raw gas daily from its own compressor stations, with gasoline plants to come later. This figure does not, however, include the residue gas now being taken and which will be run later from other plants in the Spraberry.

Under El Paso's $175,250,000 plan, 200,000,000 cubic feet a day will be moved from the Spraberry eventually, pushing that company's total capacity to 1,910,010,000 cubic feet daily for delivery in Texas, New Mexico and California. Most of the new gas will go to California, where PIPE BY THE CARLOAD — Six cars of 30-inch pipe destined to carry residue gas from the Spraberry Area wait in line to be unloaded here. More than 50 miles of this pipe was unloaded in Midland and Stanton by Permian Basin Pipeline Company for use in the hop from Midland to Denver City.

California Presents Special Case In Controversy Over Tidelands Oil

By GABRIEL DAVIDSON
LONG BEACH, CALIF. —(AP)—Everything is different in California—including offshore oil riches. Three parts of the United States were concerned most directly when years of argument over ownership of underwater land along the American coasts was decided recently by a law recognizing the sovereignty of individual states. Court tests aren't over, however. A new suit, sparked by Arkansas, seeks return to federal control.

The areas most directly affected are:

The Gulf states—Florida, Louisiana and Texas—where undersea oil fields are producing black gold and where more is being sought.

Bigger And Richer
California, where Tidelands oil drilling is older, bigger and richer than in any other state.

Long Beach, a city of 300,000 which by special grant has complete local jurisdiction and is outside the state lease area.

The city has 728 wells in its shoreline field, producing 55,000 barrels a day. Total revenue to the municipality since development began in 1939 has been 176 million dollars, of which 130 million has been tied up in litigation.

On the other hand, the state of California has 400 wells in its coastal field producing 30,000 barrels daily. They yielded 76 million in lease revenues from 1922 until 1947 when litigation came to a head. Another 52 million has been impounded since.

Oil Under Harbor
The peculiar Long Beach-California situation resulted from a grant the state made some years ago giving the city complete control of its own Tidelands area for the benefit of commerce and navigation.

Later, oil was discovered under the harbor, and Long Beach poured its 46 million in revenue, obtained before lawsuits, into harbor development.

In 1951 the state gave it permission to use half the oil-lease revenues for dry-land improvements. Once legal claims are cleared up, the city hopes to start on a 60 million dollar civic improvement program, including parks, libraries and yacht basin.

State officials regard future over-all development of offshore holdings with caution.

Four Wells Monthly
Officials of the State Lands Commission expect that now the federal grip has been relaxed, leasing regulations may be changed to allow "wildcatting" for offshore oil, and some increase made in the required rate for operators to drill new wells. For several years the drilling rate on state leases has been about four wells a month.

California's submerged lands are offered for oil leases on a competitive bidding system.

But state officials are more immediately concerned with the disposition of millions in revenue which have been held in escrow since the Supreme Court in 1947 ruled the federal government had paramount interest in offshore lands.

Money Held Up
Just before the State of Arkansas last week filed suit challenging constitutionality of the law which President Eisenhower signed May 22 returning the lands to state control, one state official expressed worry over such an action.

J. Stuart Watson, assistant executive officer for the State Division of Lands, said, "No state official may want to take a chance and spend it (the impounded funds) . . . It could be some years before the money is cut loose."

In other words, if a later court ruling returned the lands to the federal government, the state might be liable for any funds spent.

California has its own method of drilling for offshore oil. Along the Gulf Coast, barges drill directly over the petroleum pool.

Whipstocks Employed
In California's "whipstocking" method, the drilling operation starts on shore. By a carefully devised series of iron wedges, the direction of the drill is angled underground so that it bores out under the sea until the petroleum pool is reached.

Men have been drilling wells off the California coast since 1890, when pilings were driven into Santa Barbara Bay.

The Los Angeles City Council took a dim view of offshore oil declared offshore drilling within city limits a nuisance and banned further activities. But the ban came off when the Long Beach field gushed in. Exploitation got under way fully in the 1920's when whipstocking was introduced.

Lion's District Office For P&NCT Areas Now In Wichita Falls

Lion Oil Company has moved its district land and geological office from Amarillo to Wichita Falls, according to F. H. McGuigan, manager of the Southwestern Regional office in Midland.

This office, which handles land and geological matters for the company in the Panhandle and 18 counties of North-Central Texas, is attached to the region headquarters office in Midland.

The Wichita Falls staff includes Charles B. Morgan, district geologist; Robert W. Thacker, district landman; Billy B. Clifton and Joseph A. Belvedere, geologists, all formerly of Amarillo.

Earl Harrison, geologist, will go to the Wichita Falls office from Midland. Roy P. Fischer, scout, remained in Amarillo.

Four Staff Changes Made By Chicago In Fort Worth, Abilene

The Chicago Corporation has announced four staff promotions in Fort Worth, Abilene.

H. K. Greenleaf, formerly executive vice president in charge of exploration, was promoted to general vice president.

Ira H. Stein was named manager of land and exploration.

Both are in the Fort Worth office.

W. E. Cowan, former division landman for the company in Abilene, has been transferred to Fort Worth to be superintendent of the land department.

William D. Young, assistant division landman in Abilene, will replace Cowan there.

Jamming Stepped Up

BONN —(AP)— Moscow and its East European satellites have stepped up their jamming of Western radio broadcasts since unrest broke out in the Soviet bloc, the West German government said Saturday.

TCU Staff Man Dies

FORT WORTH—(AP)—I. A. Dunagan, 58, assistant business manager of TCU, died Saturday, apparently from a heart seizure.

Stanolind Grants Fracture Licenses To Three Concerns

Three more service companies have been granted licenses by Stanolind Oil and Gas Company to carry out fracturing processes for increasing well production. This brings to ten the total number of service organizations licensed to use the Stanolind-patented processes.

E. F. Bullard, president of Stanolind, said the newly-licensed firms are M and K Oil Well Cementing, Inc., Seminole, Oklahoma; Chemical Process Company, Breckinridge, and Petroleum Service, Inc., Abilene.

Scholarship Plan Is Announced By Ohio

PINDLAY, OHIO — Forty sons and daughters of employees of the Ohio Oil Company may be awarded scholarships each year to assist them in obtaining a college education under provisions of a scholarship plan announced by J. C. Donnell, II, Ohio president.

The one-year scholarships of $600 each may be used at any accredited college or university chosen by the student. Awards will begin with the 1953-54 academic year.

As an aid to private education, the Ohio oil scholarship plan also provides for direct grants to accredited, privately controlled colleges and universities attended by scholarship winners. Grants to such schools will be at the rate of $500 per year for each scholarship.

Tenzing Quits London

LONDON—(AP)—"Tiger" Tenzing, the Sherpa guide who conquered Mt. Everest, left Saturday for Switzerland where he will spend a few days and then go home.

Terrorists Reign

TUNIS—(AP)—Terrorists are stepping up a drive aimed at rubbing out high-ranking pro-French Moslems and Shieks, authoritative Tunisian sources said Saturday.

SUMMER IN COLORADO

Mrs. George Johnson, 1611 West Texas Street, left a few days ago for Colorado where she will spend the remainder of the summer.

Several Changes Made Among Top Personnel Of Union Oil's Staff

Several changes among the executive and administrative personnel of the West Texas division of Union Oil Company of California in Midland have been announced by E. R. Atwill, manager of operations.

Charles L. Sherwood, veteran Permian Basin oil man, who has been head of Union's land department in Midland for many years has resigned.

Edgar S. Keefe is the concern's new division landman. He has previously been Sherwood's No. One assistant.

Sherwood is now taking a rest. It is understood that he will work in the future as an independent oil operator and trader.

Giesey To Change Jobs
Sam C. Giesey who has been chief geologist for the East Texas division for a number of years will change jobs on August 1.

The change is being made at Giesey's request, Atwill said. Giesey is to be relieved of the administrative duties as chief geologist for the division to concentrate his efforts of special oil-finding problems.

R. L. (Bob) Clarke, who has been an assistant division geologist under Giesey will become chief geologist on August 1.

Mason Moved Up
Marshall L. Mason, Jr., who has been an area geologist has been appointed Midland district geologist, effective August 1.

Under the new arrangements which goes into effect on August 1, Giesey will carry the title of geologist consultant and senior member of the staff section of Union's West Texas division department.

On Staff Section
T. S. Jones has been appointed chief stratigrapher and is assigned to the staff section. Jones had previously been assigned to special problems.

H. L. Swords has been appointed chief geologist and he is also assigned to the staff section. Swords has also been an assistant division geologist.

Members of the staff section, Atwill said, will in addition to working on special oil-finding problems, form an advisory committee to Clarke, the new chief geologist. Clarke will be chairman of that committee.

NGAA Announces Future Meetings

The following schedule of meetings has been announced by the National Gasoline Association of America.

Fractional Analysis Seminar will be in Texas Hotel, Fort Worth September 21-22.

Southern Regional meeting will be held in the Blackstone Hotel, Tyler, on October 23.

November 20, the association will meet at the Herring Hotel in Amarillo for the Panhandle-Plains Regional meeting.

Odesa's Lincoln Hotel is site for the February 25, 1954, Permian Basin Regional Meeting and the Thirty-Third Annual convention will be in Dallas April 21-23, 1954.

VISITS RELATIVES

SW Fisher Prospector To Test Caddo Section

B. M. Hester & Son of Wichita Falls No. 1 Gena Dooley, indicated Pennsylvanian discovery in Southwest Fisher County, is bottomed at 6,812 feet in lime with five and one-half-inch casing cemented at 6,811 feet.

The Caddo lime pay was topped at 6,782 feet. Operator will perforate the casing and test from 6,782 to 6,811 feet.

That zone had flowed oil at an estimated rate of 50 barrels hourly. The possible new field opener is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 176, block 3, H&TC survey and three miles northwest of the Claytonville (Pennsylvanian) Lime field.

Sun Moves Hamilton To Denver; Colville Is New District Superintendent

Appointment of J. B. Hamilton, of Midland, as superintendent of production for Sun Oil Company's Rocky Mountain production division, Denver, has been announced by John G. Few, Sun's vice president in charge of production.

Hamilton had been district superintendent of production for the West Texas district in the Southwest division since November, 1947. He has headquarters in Midland.

Other Southwest production division changes announced are:

Cecil A. Colville, Midland, from assistant superintendent, West Texas district, to district superintendent, succeeding Hamilton.

Kowalski To Midland
E. Lloyd Kowalski, field superintendent, Colorado City, to assistant district superintendent, replacing Colville.

Nelson J. Sapp, Jr., foreman, Garcia Area, McAllen district, Southwest Texas, to Colorado City replacing Kowalski. Colorado City is now an area office instead of a sub-district office.

C. C. Bengston, production superintendent, Calgary, Alberta, to assistant field superintendent, with headquarters in Midland.

Other Changes
R. K. Beggs, foreman, Robert Lee area, West Texas district, to the Gainesville area, East Texas district. He succeeds P. S. Dudley, who retired July 1 as assistant field superintendent in charge of the Gainesville area.

Hamilton, the new production head for the Rocky Mountain division, joined Sun in 1930 as a roustabout at Brenham, Texas. He was later a field clerk and foreman, serving at Henderson, Odessa, and Rio Grande City. After a year as an assistant production superintendent in the Dallas office, he became field superintendent at Delhi, La., April 1, 1946.

He moved to Midland as district superintendent for West Texas about a year and a half later. He served in the Rocky Mountain division for several months late in 1946, and again in May of 1953. Started in 1954.

Colville joined Sun as a roustabout at Henderson, Texas, in 1936 after graduating from Southern Methodist University.

He later was field clerk and warehouseman in East Central Texas and at Rio Grande City; and chief clerk at the latter. He was made a foreman in 1943 at Corpus Christi, Texas, and then at Fremont.

He served nearly two years as an assistant field superintendent of production at Dallas, then went to Corpus Christi January 1, 1948, as field superintendent. He transferred in that capacity to Premont nine months later, and was made assistant district superintendent at Midland October 16, 1951.

We can remember when...

... the blacksmith was a mighty man . . . and mighty busy, too! People were industrious and worked long hours in those days, and saving was a slow, careful accumulation. Those people looked to us as the right place to save their hard-earned money. For then, as now, we were a solid, reliable banking institution . . . serving the people of our community. As we have grown, so, we have always given our depositors, large and small, the soundest, and most complete banking service possible. Look to us for your banking needs!

WASHINGTON OIL—

Quota Ceiling On Imports Slated For House Debate; Passage Of Bill Forecast

By JOSEPH HUTTLINGER

WASHINGTON—A bill to set a hard and fast quota ceiling on imports of crude oil and petroleum products is scheduled for debate and vote on the floor of the House of Representatives this week. Exact day is yet to be set.

The chances are the bill will pass. Forecasts of this come from Rep. Richard Simpson (R-Pa.), author of the bill, and the bill's chief supporters, including spokesmen for the coal and railroad industries, and of the Independent Petroleum Association of America.

An IPA spokesman foresees a two to one vote.

While the measure would make it simpler for all industries to obtain government relief from excessive imports, the striking feature of the bill is a two-pronged oil quota system.

One part would limit imports of crude oil and petroleum products to 10 per cent of domestic demand, or to about 730,000 barrels daily. In the four weeks ended July 11 of this year, imports came to 920,000 barrels daily.

The other part would limit residual fuel oil imports, about half the total coming in, to five per cent of domestic demand, or to about 86,000 barrels daily. Overall, the bill would mean a sharp slash in residual fuel imports, but slightly larger crude oil imports.

In recommending the legislation by a 15 to 10 vote, the House Ways and Means Committee explained: "Suffering Great Injury"

"The domestic producer is suffering great injury... The choice between dependency versus self-sufficiency with respect to domestic oil supply represents a basic problem. Your committee believes that the decision on this matter should be made in the national interest... Cheap foreign imports of oil products have tended to leave development of our domestic reserves in a static condition. A continuation of these imports will result in a wasteful disregard of our reserves due to abandonment of the stripper wells, failure to develop natural gas resources, and a removal of incentives to improve extraction techniques."

The report said that seven large oil companies, five of them American, control 90 per cent of the petroleum outside the United States and Russia.

"This situation raises the question as to whether it is wise in the long run to place the American consumer and the national security in the hands of a few large oil companies who are subjected to strong economic and political pressures from abroad," the report said. On the other hand, the minority report said the aim of the measure to protect the coal industry, not American petroleum producers. "To attempt to cure the ills of the coal industry by barring imports of petroleum products would be to fight technological change," the report said. "This is not only un-American, but unsound economically."

If the House approves, it would mark probably the first time in history that either House of Senate has adopted a bill setting up a quota ceiling on oil imports. To supporters of the measure, House passage would provide a powerful weapon as they appeal to oil importing companies for fewer oil imports. If they don't cut back, one supporter explained, we can threaten to push ahead for Senate approval of the bill.

Rocky Road Ahead
A rocky road is ahead for the measure. The Senate would have to act before it becomes law, and there is every indication the Senate will put off any action on the measure this session.

Were the Senate to go along, the hurdle of the White House would lie ahead. On this, Rep. Jere Cooper (D-Tenn.) told the Rules Committee:

"All members of the President's Cabinet strongly opposed the measure. The President would have to veto it. I couldn't conceive of him doing anything else."

The bill, once unable to muster a majority of the Ways and Means Committee, took on new life after a "deal" involving President Eisenhower's request for a six months extension of the excess profits tax.

Under the arrangement, the committee agreed to report out the excess profits tax measure, in return for help in getting the oil quota bill out of committee and on to the floor of the House.

Phillips Completes Stepout To North Luther In Howard

Phillips Petroleum Company No. 1 Hamlin, one location stepout to production in the North Luther (Canyon) field of Central-North Howard County and 15 miles north of Big Spring has been completed. The well flowed 216 barrels of oil in 24 hours through a one-half inch tubing choke on the potential test. Gravity of the oil was 46 degrees. Gas-oil ratio was 1,310-1. Flowing tubing pressure was 1,010 pounds. The production was from open hole. The 5 1/2-inch casing is cemented at 6,120 feet. Total depth is 8,137 feet. The pay section had been treated with 500 gallons of acid.

Location is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 44, block 32, T-3-N, T&P survey.

Van Griethuysen Is Made A Conoco Vice President

HOUSTON—T. A. Van Griethuysen, Houston, coordinator of transportation and supplies for Continental Oil Company, has been elected a vice president by the company's board of directors. He will continue to make his headquarters at Houston.

As vice president in charge of transportation and supplies, Van Griethuysen will continue to direct Conoco's crude oil trading, transportation, purchasing and pipe line operations. He served in the general accounting and personnel divisions before his promotion in 1932 to superintendent of the real estate department. He transferred to the production department in 1935 and four years later was promoted to superintendent of Conoco's oil trading division, with headquarters in Ponca City. He was named manager of the crude oil trading department in 1948. Van Griethuysen transferred from Ponca City to the company's executive offices in Houston in 1950, and last year was promoted to coordinator of transportation and supplies.

Slower Drilling Pace Alerts Murray To Illness In Industry

By MAC ROY RASOR

AUSTIN—(AP)—The Texas oil industry appears to be running a slight fever.

Railroad Commissioner William Murray, one of the state's three oil-regulatory officials, says it may not be serious, but it bears watching.

His thermometer is the commission's weekly drilling report. Almost every week this year it has shown drilling activity lagging behind last year.

Not Enough For War
The very security of the nation may depend on it, he says.

If war comes, national security is highly dependent on our ability to produce quickly all the added oil needed for the military. Yet right now we cannot produce in this country enough oil for normal domestic demands, he said.

"Cut out imports and open up all our wells to their most efficient rates of flow and we're one-half million barrels daily short of meeting our domestic peace-time demand."

The industry, the state nor the nation can afford to let development of new reserves lag behind long. They should be increasing. Any indication they might not be Murray considers a danger sign.

Educate Oil Men
He cites numerous possible reasons for lagging drilling activity in Texas. Among them are increased costs, reduced production allowables, high stockpiles of crude and crude products, increasing imports, a wait-and-watch attitude brought on by new developments outside of Texas.

What can be done about it? Murray, a petroleum engineer before he came to the commission six years ago, says the greatest need is for education of oil men, the states and the nation to the necessity of reserve producing capacity.

Lagging Completions Reported By Drillers

AUSTIN—(AP)—Texas oil well completions lagged last week, the Railroad Commission said Saturday. The total was 192 and the year's total to date 5,759. Last year completions totaled 6,126.

Gas well completions were 494 compared to 480. Fourteen wildcats were brought in the previous week. The year total is 317 compared to 333.

More wells have been plugged this year. The total is 3,599 compared with 3,559.

The commission reported a 19-836 barrel increase in the average calendar day oil allowable for the week ended Saturday compared with the week ended July 11.

Sul Ross College Asks Geologists In Midland For Help

The geology department of Sul Ross State College at Alpine is requesting help from the geologists of Midland and other Permian Basin cities.

The department needs copies of electric logs, sample logs, well samples and any and all other geological material which it can secure as gifts.

Those items are needed in order to give the students practical experience in their geology courses.

Any person or concern having any such material which they could or would give to the college are requested to write to Fred Herrington, Sul Ross College, Alpine, and tell him what they have available.

Herrington, whose home is at Big Spring, is a student at Sul Ross. He was in Midland last week making personal calls on geologists requesting their assistance on the matter.

U Of T Researcher Says Detergents Aid In Recovering Oil

AUSTIN — Oilfield detergents—"distant cousins" of the popular dishpan suds-makers—can increase secondary petroleum yields above amounts obtained in primary production, in some cases, University of Texas Researcher Charles P. Milner says.

Economical applications of the soap-like chemicals must be followed in water-flooding operations, he adds.

The amount of water produced with each barrel of petroleum can be lowered in some instances by adding detergents to the injection brine, Milner reports.

Another Finding
He also finds that a decrease in water-flooding injection rate increases oil recovery regardless of whether or not detergents are used, and that detergents will increase oil recovery from an area of producing sand that is preferentially water-wet.

Oil men have known that the chemicals aid production in preferentially oil-wet areas, but the possibilities in water-wet sections have been in doubt.

Milner studied uses of detergents in secondary recovery, under a grant from the Orchem Corporation, an oil-recovery chemicals company.

Dr. Harry E. Fowler, petroleum engineering department chairman, supervised Milner's work.

Employees Of Phillips' Western Division Set New Record For Safety

Phillips Petroleum Company's 245 employees in the western division of its production department recently completed 2,000,000 man hours of work without a disabling injury, a record believed to be unparalleled by any employe unit in the production branch of the petroleum industry. The record began Feb. 7, 1949. The division is composed of the Big Spring, West Texas, Odessa, and Hobbs production districts and the Odessa service unit.

Headquarters of the division are in Midland.

Earl Cure is division safety supervisor. D. A. Miller is western regional superintendent for the production department and M. R. Hayes is western division superintendent. District superintendents in the western division include A. W. Mallow, West Texas district; C. M. McKnight, Odessa district; C. M. Bowles, Big Spring district; R. H. Dunn, Hobbs, district; and Jack Barbee, Odessa servicing unit.

Planned Program
Safety measures especially adapted to production problems and the continually changing situations encountered in oil field production helped to achieve the safety accomplishment.

These include regularly scheduled on-the-job safety meetings; safety committees to study field safety problems; complete annual and frequent spot-check inspection of all equipment to determine its safety-worthiness; and devoting much space in the local employe publication to safety practices applicable to field production problems.

Individual Responsibility
Because of the scattered and sometimes solitary nature of production work, all safety training is slanted toward the idea of individual responsibility.

The 2,000,000 man hour safety record is also noteworthy because of the diversified nature of production operations, such as completion of wells, laying lead lines, constructing tank batteries, building roads, installing pumping units, tank cleaning, and well servicing, as well as all general maintenance work connected with lease operations.

St. Clair To Work As Consultant And Independent

Donald W. St. Clair has resigned as Permian Basin representative for Patrick A. Doherty and will work as an independent oil operator and consulting geologist.

He has been with the Doherty organization in Midland more than eight years. Prior to forming that connection he worked for Shell Oil Company ten years as a geologist.

During his work with Shell he was on assignments in a number of different areas of the United States.

Correlations, Evaluations
St. Clair plans to specialize in geophysical and sub-surface geological correlations and will also do geological evaluation work.

He will handle drilling deals and other items which come along for independent operators and consulting geologists.

He will office at his home at 910 West Tennessee Street in Midland.

Clarkson Is To Do Geological Work On Consulting Basis

W. G. (Bill) Clarkson, Jr., veteran Permian Basin geologist, has gone independent.

He will work as a consulting geologist and will specialize in well-setting and sample analyses. He will office at his home at 302 West Estes in Midland.

Clarkson has lived and worked in Midland all of the time since 1940, except for four years spent in naval service during World War II.

During the last year he has been associated with the Paleontological Laboratory. Before he joined that concern he had 15 years of geological work with The Ohio Oil Company.

He is a graduate of the University of Tulsa.

STANTON STOREHOUSE — Some 25 miles of 30-inch pipe has been unloaded at Stanton for use in the Permian Basin Pipeline Company Spraberry gas outlet project. In the top picture, some of the valuable pipe is stacked awaiting pick up by trucks (bottom picture) for the trip to the field where it will be strung along the 96-mile Midland to Denver City right-of-way.

50 Miles Of 30-Inch Pipe—

Three gas distributing companies are building $34,500,000 in new facilities to handle the additional gas.
Bayer said 37,000,000 cubic feet of this gas now is being run from the Midkiff area and that the plant will be ready to process an additional 50,000,000 to 60,000,000 cubic feet by November 1, and the remainder by January 1, 1954. This indicated a step-up in operations, since El Paso had earlier said all increased facilities would not be ready until January 1.

Construction is expected to start on two more El Paso plants in the Midland area: (1) the Driver plant with 38,880 horsepower for compression plus dehydration and absorption facilities, and (2) the Pembroke plant which will house 18,000 horsepower and a dehydration unit which will process 50,000,000 cubic feet of gas a day.

Permian Reports Progress
No report had been received Saturday, however, on progress of the El Paso Natural project.

Permian Basin Pipeline Company, on the other hand, gave this rundown on progress:

The first 34 miles of the Spraberry outlet project is all but completed. The 14-mile Plymouth-to-Pembroke swing awaits cleaning and valve setting. The 20-mile Pembroke-to-Spraberry is less than three miles from the cleaning and valve-setting stage.
By quitting time Saturday, the 20-mile right of way had been completely cleared, all the pipe strung, and the ditch ready. Less than a mile of pipe was awaiting its trip into the ditch and less than three miles yet was to be backfilled.

Monday and Tuesday, a Permian spokesman said, should see the end to "big work" on this 24-inch artery.

Still in Texas, a general survey of the 76-mile jump from the Puckett (Ellenburger) field to the Plymouth station will start Monday.
Work already is well under way in this field on a $2,000,000 carbon

Felon Thinks Wife Not So Bad After All

PITTSBURGH —(P)— A 27-year-old San Quentin, Calif., prison parolee, who told police he'd rather be in prison than live with his wife, is going to get his wish.
The Pittsburgh police department, which arrested Myron Young after a family argument Friday, said San Quentin authorities have wired that they want Young returned for violation of his parole.
Married nine years, Young told police he preferred feeding the chickens at prison to living with his wife. He changed his mind during a police court hearing, but as Assistant Police Superintendent Adam Geisler told Young: "It's too late now."

dioxide removal station which will clean gas from the deep Puckett wells and send it to the Permian compressor stations, Plymouth, Pembroke and Spraberry.

Permian will take dry gas from the Plymouth, Pembroke and Spraberry gasoline plants (Phillips Petroleum Company), but will pull the gas directly from the Puckett field.

Long Jump Starts
Then, work started last week on the 96-mile road to Denver City (or, technically, Spraberry to Wasson fields).

By Saturday afternoon, almost 35 miles of the right of way had been cleared and about 10 miles of pipe strung. Welders have completed about two miles of the 30-inch "bigger incher" soon to carry Spraberry gas.

The New Mexico scene remains one of full activity.

A 24-inch gathering line near Hobbs lacked less than a mile Saturday of being underground. It starts where another gathering line, a 16-incher, ended its 14-mile hop through Lea County.

Some 15 and a half miles stretch between the Hobbs area and the Texas border where New Mexico pipe will meet Texas pipe for another 22-mile journey to the Wasson field.

In New Mexico, the right-of-way has been cleared and 13 miles of pipe strung. About five miles of pipe has yet to be welded, and the ditch digger must cover about 10 more miles of ground.

Progress in Texas can be wrapped up in one snap: 40 per cent of the

Probe Into Price Of Crude May Await Another Congress

By TEX EASLEY
WASHINGTON —(P)— With Congress striving for adjournment, chances are the House Commerce Committee's investigation of oil price increases won't produce action at this session.
The committee wants to hear now from state oil regulatory bodies. Testimony has been given that state conservation agencies have been used to keep prices up.

Russell Brown, general counsel of the Independent Petroleum Association, who often has been at odds with the big oil companies, agreed with them this week that:
1. The recent 25 cents increase in crude oil was justified.
2. State regulatory agencies have been invaluable in promoting conservation and avoiding monopoly in oil production.

Brown told the committee: "Such testimony as you may have received which concludes that state and federal conservation laws are manipulated to fix prices is erroneous and untrue."
The conservation laws pertaining to oil have made it possible for the thousands of small operators to compete in the production of oil. They have avoided monopoly in the domestic production of oil.

Wanted To Quit
The committee probably will require several days to review all the testimony. The committee staff then will draw up a report, with recommendations. By that time Congress likely will have quit until January 1.

The committee has approved a bill specifically exempting from Federal Power Commission jurisdiction over natural gas distributing systems solely within a single state and subject to state regulation.

The law has the backing of state regulatory agencies. But chances are slim that the bill will get through the House and then the Senate before adjournment. However, it would remain alive.

In For Rough Time
The continental shelf oil-gas-sulphur bill, which would authorize the secretary of the Interior to develop submerged lands beyond the states' seaward boundaries, appears in for a rough time.

When the first meeting of the conferees of the House and Senate was arranged for Monday, Rep. Frank Wilson of Dallas served notice he and other House conferees would oppose the Senate's federal aid to education provision.

Wilson said the proposal could lead to federal control of public school systems. The House bill would put the revenues into the general funds of the Treasury.

Sohio Schedules Two SW Glasscock Tests

Sohio Petroleum Company filed application with the Railroad Commission requesting permission to start drilling on two projects in the Southwest Glasscock County portion of the Spraberry Trend Area field.

No. 4-B W. A. Bigby is to be drilled 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 17, block 36, T-5-S, T&P survey and 23 miles southwest of Garden City.

No. 3-C Mary V. Bryans will be dug 660 feet from south and west lines of section 8, block 36, T-5-S, T&P survey and 23 miles southwest of Garden City.

Both projects are to go to 7,800 feet.

The well was finished for a daily flowing potential of 312 barrels of 43-gravity oil through a one-quarter-inch choke and perforations at 9,701-9,711 feet.

Location for the extender is 660 feet from west and 980 feet from south lines of section 34-13a-33e.

GE's Texas Transfer Delayed Indefinitely

BRIDGEPORT, CONN. —(P)— Maurice Reid, manager of employe and plant community relations for the General Electric Company here, said Saturday there will be an indefinite delay in transferring the company's fan division from Bridgeport to Tyler, Texas.

Last November the company said it would combine its fan and vacuum cleaner divisions in a new plant in Tyler in 1954. The vacuum cleaner division is in Cleveland.

The fan department employs about 600 of the 6,000 workers in the GE plant here. The announcement of the delay gave no reason. Reid could not be reached.

Critically Injured Wife, 16, Gives Birth To Hearty Boy

MIAMI —(P)— A girl-wife, 16, in a coma since January and her baby now were both improving Saturday.

The father, also 16, was thinking about a name for his five-pound son, born Friday night and placed in an incubator. He was cheered by reports that the infant was "improving steadily."

The mother, Mrs. Janice Cubbedge, was "doing as well as could be expected." She was injured critically in an automobile accident January 28 and only during the last few days has she rallied enough to say a few words.

Physicians reported the baby's birth was natural but they could not tell if it was premature because Mrs. Cubbedge was unable to give them the history of her pregnancy.

The father, Ronald Cabbedge, was injured in the accident and still has his neck in a brace.

Sweethearts in high school at LaBelle, Janice and Ronald eloped and were married at Dillon, S. C. They were enroute to visit Janice's sister in Fayetteville, N. C., when the accident occurred. Mrs. Cubbedge later was transferred to the hospital here from a Charlotte, N. C., hospital.

Ronald will start his senior year at LaBelle High School in September.

Modern Merchandising Puts End To 'Chief Smoke-Um'

WASHINGTON —(P)— Experts have figured out why the cigar store Indian is "just another victim of modernization."
The National Geographic Society said Saturday the once familiar wooden redman is a relic of the past.

Where once there were 100,000 of the noble figures dotting the country, there are now something like 500. Most of those are curiosity pieces.
Erwin Christensen of the National Gallery of Art, who wrote a book on the subject, said the cigar store Indian is "just another victim of modernization."

In his book, "Early American Wood Carving," Christensen described the rise and decline of the cigar store Indian and concluded that "Big Chief Smoke-Um" and his fellow woodenheads lost out to modern advertising methods.

Between 1850 and 1890, when cigars and pipe supplies at tobacconists, the old time tobacconist went in for advertising, but he did it in a primitive sort of way, by putting up a wooden Indian outside his shop.

Today you buy your tobacco in drug stores, department stores and supermarkets. You have no trouble learning about their tobacco. It's pitched at you wherever you go — billboards, radio, television — and nobody needs any wooden Indians.

Indians, incidentally, were used as the tobacconist's trademark because they were the ones who introduced the white man to the weed.

American Legion's New State Headquarters

American Legion Takes Over Austin Headquarters Site

AUSTIN—After 35 years, the American Legion has built its own state headquarters building, a modern $206,000 structure two blocks from the State Capitol building at North Congress and 15th Streets here.

The building formally was dedicated July 7 with the American Legion's state commander, Albert D. Brown, Jr. of Austin, presiding and the National Commander Lewis K. Gough of Pasadena, California and Governor Allen Shivers, the principal speakers.

The building is two stories with a foundation and elevator shaft for six additional stories. There are approximately 5,000 feet of floor space on each of the two floors. The building is of polished Texas granite and cream colored brick. It is both air conditioned and winter conditioned.

The American Legion, the American Legion Auxiliary, The Texas Legion News and the 40 and 8 all have their state headquarters on the main floor. The upper floor is rented to a state agency.

The building is paid for and an adjoining lot on 15th Street has been purchased for parking purposes. The state headquarters property has 92 feet frontage on Congress Avenue and 180 feet on 15th Street.

Ground was broken for the building.

TEXAN EVERYBODY LOVES—'Star Is Born' Third Time In Mary Martin TV Debut

NORWALK, CONN.—(AP)—On a recent evening, 40 million people attended the birth of a television star: a Mary Martin, runner-up in the 1953 National Needlepoint Contest.

The occasion was a $500,000 two-hour, two-network commemorative hoedown employing a brilliant cluster of Broadway, Hollywood and television talent.

Mrs. Martin, in her first real TV appearance, acted a bit and clowned significantly in a Shakespearean shroud with which she caricatured 50 years of fashion. Then, in company with Ethel Merman, she sang her heart out in a series of nostalgic songs, leaping from millions of hearts.

'Most Pleasant Things'
Enough times has elapsed since Mary Martin's emergence as a television star for her to sit back and take a relaxed look. She seems mildly pleased about all the excitement but regards the whole thing in a definitely impersonal way. In a feather-totter beach chair, tanned bare legs higher than her sun-bleached head, beside the swimming pool on her Connecticut estate, she contemplated briefly the "star is born" routine.

Mrs. Martin is a specialist in this area, having been born three separate and distinct times on the legitimate stage. She also was the central figure in a Hollywood miscarriage of the stellar process.

"It has been very nice," she conceded. "Such mail! And people just come up and say the most pleasant things—truck drivers without teeth and motorists yelling from the next car on the Merritt Parkway. Some pressures are building up—people with contracts who tell you all you have to do is sit to nine shows a year."

New Fall Play
"That's not what I want. Oh, maybe television once in a while when it's something I like, but nothing else. It scares me."

What Mary Martin still loves, it turns out, is what she has loved since she was five years old: The stage. With television offers pouring in, her brown eyes are fixed only on the script of a new play, "Kind Sir," set for Fall production. She'll co-star with Charles Boyer.

Until then, she's Summering at home as Mrs. Richard Halliday, wife, mother and assistant superintendent of the major remodeling job now in progress on the Halliday's 200-year-old farmhouse.

Bumps Barefooted
Slim, petite, Texas-born Mary Martin is a remarkably untheatrical offstage personality. The Hallidays at home show no evidence that Mama is one of the most valuable and sought-after properties in show business. Mary floats barefoot around the six acres of lawns and garden in the briefest of shorts and halter, occasionally yelping that she's stepped on a hazel.

Husband Richard bustles about in slacks and sports shirt consulting with carpenters and painters. Ten-year-old daughter Heller obediently spends mornings with a tutor in the shade of a big tree, making up schoolwork lost during a recent three-month auto trip through Europe with her parents.

NEW YORK—The president of one of the nation's largest corporations just made a speech here, and a lot of the newspaper men around town still are chuckling about it. The executive addressed a large gathering of young, ambitious people, and his subject was on how to become a success in this life. Naturally he gave some examples from his own life and naturally he mentioned such things as hard work, persistence, honesty and far-sightedness. There was only one thing he omitted in his fine formula for success: he did not mention that along the way to the top of his company, he had married the daughter of the chief stockholder.

Larry Nixon who passed away recently was public relations director of a big advertising agency here and at heart a newspaper man of the old school. He was crusty but kind, cared nothing for an elaborate office, but preferred—and occupied—a tiny corner of one of the suites of the 8th Avenue office of his firm. He was modest but I did get him to reminisce one day of the time when he was an itinerant printer in Tennessee. He said he would just stay in one town until he got tired of it, then move along. He worked in Sweetwater, Cleveland and Chattanooga, moved to larger papers, became an editorial man and then came to New York. Somehow I don't think he ever had as much fun here in a big job as he did being around the good folks of smaller towns.

Lots of people know about it, lots don't, but on East 54th Street is one of the festive spots of Gotham. It is called Bill's Gay Nineties and its merry motif is that of yesterday. Out front a major domo garbed in Victorian dress greets guests with all the fancy flourish attached to the Gilded Age. Inside, flickering "gas lights" hang over high-wheel bikes built for two, while old, melodramatic bill posters line the walls in colorful profusion. The food is not unusual but the music is. Barber shop quartets set off by handle bar mustaches vie with buxom belles intoning the melodies of those golden days, and one is soon convinced they were the "good old days."

Somebody hereabouts remarked that we are getting to be a nation of veterans, so I did a little checking. Herewith the results: We now have roughly 1,500,000 veterans of the Korean war, World War II vets, averaging 34 years; 3,500,000 World War I vets, average age 60; 50,000 Spanish American War vets, averaging 76 years each; 250 War Between the States vets who all have about reached the century mark.

Chauncey Depew, the famous New York attorney who became president of a great railroad was noted for his funny stories and moderate approach to amusements. He was a contradiction to those who advocate a lot of exercise to keep healthy and live a long life. He lived to be 94. One day he was asked what exercise he took to keep him so sprightly and he replied: "The only exercise I have ever taken is to serve as pallbearer for my friends who exercised."

Taking a stroll through the Bowery and asking questions I learned there is something new under the lower East Side sun. There now is class distinction among the bums. Society has come to skid row. First, strangers are not welcome here, especially well-fed looking strangers. Highest class in the Bowery now are the pensioners who have a little income; next are the small wage earners who ply push carts scavenging the streets; below these are the alcoholics who live just from one drink to another, from one jail sentence to the next. Some Bowery bums reform, most do not. The most common characteristic of all types in this dim half-world is the ability, I am told, to give glib excuses for their being there and to blame their down-and-out conditions on some one else, a wife or former employer, the government, a war, a judge or mother-in-law—anyone but themselves.

Ways To Cut Cost Of New Home Cited

- A small budget need not deprive the family of a new house. Everyone wants a home as rich in "extras" as possible, but when good, sound housing is required with limited funds, there are ways to cut costs and still have a handsome, well-built house. Here are some of them.
1. Plan the home carefully at the blueprint stage in order to avoid costly changes once the building is under construction.
  2. Use as many stock sizes in materials as possible to eliminate expensive custom work. Some of the items which come in stock sizes are windows, clay tile for bathrooms and kitchens, lumber, plumbing, doors, brick, chimneys and storage walls.
  3. The simple rectangle is the least expensive house design. The more angles there are, the more costly the foundation is likely to be and the more materials required for the house itself.
  4. Large sums in paint and labor can be saved if color is introduced through permanently tinted materials, especially in the kitchen and bathroom.
  5. A house with few partitions costs less to build and provides more living space for the family.
  6. Good design calls for dual use of plumbing lines, such as having the kitchen and bathroom facilities back to back.

Building Permits Perform Nosedive During Last Week

The construction business in Midland after chalking up a third of a million dollars worth of permits during the previous week, took a nosedive again for the seven-day period ending Friday.

Records in the office of R. S. Higgins, superintendent of inspection, showed that only $42,550 worth of permits were issued during the week.

The 1953 mark barely inched ahead, moving to $9,313,284.

Permits issued during the week included:

- Herman Lee Jackson, move in residence, 1811 East Wall Street, $1,250.
- Fred Sheres, residence, 1502 Clud Drive, $5,000.
- Julian Rivas, addition of bathroom, 1310 East Walnut Lane, $800.
- W. C. Driver, addition to commercial building, 415 Andrews Highway, $3,000.
- Roos Moore, residence, 3119 Louisiana Street, $12,500.
- Ruby Smith, move in house, 109 South Marshall Street, $1,500.
- E. O. Parsons, residence, 1803 North C Street, $18,500.

New Safeway Store To Be Built In Midland

Road Information For Texas Tourists Becomes Available

AUSTIN—(AP)—The Highway Department has opened a new road condition information service for Texas travelers.

Every two weeks it will issue a detailed bulletin on location of repair and rebuilding projects to help drivers bypass such jobs.

The bulletins will be available free at district highway offices and travel information stations. They may be obtained by writing direct to the traffic services division of the highway department.

"We are spending a large amount of money for maintenance and reconstruction and feel that motorists should be provided with information on the location of these projects for driving convenience, economy and safety," said D. C. Greer, the commission chief engineer.

Construction Of New Store Slated By Safeway In City

Construction of a large modern Safeway food store is scheduled to start here early in August. David Kimmel, manager of the El Paso Division of Safeway Stores, Inc., has announced in El Paso.

Plans for the new store, to be located on Baird Street between Michigan Avenue and Tennessee Avenue, are being drawn by Davis and Foster, El Paso architects and engineers.

The new supermarket will be situated in the center of a block-square building site, with provision for parking to accommodate approximately 200 autos on four sides of the store. The parking area will be paved and lighted for convenience of evening shoppers, Kimmel said.

The modernistic exterior front of the building will be of cut stone with a large window of solex heat-absorbing glass to reduce glare and solar heat. Other exterior walls will be of attractive buff-colored face brick.

Overall size of the building will be 105 by 160 feet, with an area of 16,800 square feet devoted to sales and merchandising. A modern refrigerated packaging room of 60 by 12 feet will be installed during construction to handle processing and packaging of meat.

Floor of the sales area will be covered with asphalt tile, and a rainscoat will extend to a height of nine feet seven inches on the walls of the merchandising area. Painted gypsum wallboard will be used above the rainscoat and the ceiling will be of fiber board.

The new building will be air conditioned. Other feature will include electrically operated exit doors and a series of eight checking stands. Complete fire protection will be provided by an automatic sprinkler system.

Miss Arrington, R. G. Taylor To Be Married

CRANE—Plans for the wedding of Electa Arrington, Gainesville, and Richard G. Taylor, Jr., Crane, were announced at a breakfast given by her mother, Mrs. J. C. Arrington. The marriage will be solemnized at 8 p.m. August 5 in the Gainesville First Methodist Church with the pastor, Dr. Earl Patton, reading the vows.

Phyllis Smith of Fort Worth, cousin of the bride-elect, will be maid of honor and Charles Troy, Odessa, will serve as best man.

Eddy Taylor, Crane, brother of the prospective bridegroom, and Clinton Gahsha, Aubrey, will light the candles. The wedding music will be furnished by Mrs. S. J. Harpole, Gainesville, an aunt of the bride-elect, and James Harpole, a cousin.

Miss Arrington was graduated from North Texas State College, Denton, and has taught in the history department of Crane High School the last year.

Taylor, an Atlantic Refining Company employee, was graduated from Texas A and M College and served in the armed forces.

The couple plans to live in Houston.

Young World Traveler Sees Cremation Ceremony In India

By Ranelle Rhodes
(Twelve-year-old Midlander who is on an around-the-world tour with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray R. Rhodes of Midland).

ABOARD R. S. PRESIDENT MONROE—This letter is about Bombay, Delhi, Agra and Pakistan. Bombay: "Gateway to India." We arrived in Bombay early in the morning and went shopping. Then I saw a cremation. It was very interesting. They cremate the dead out in the open. First they get the fire ready, then wrap the body in a white cloth with flowers about the neck. Then they lay the body in the fire. If the person that died was rich there would be a priest chanting, and after the cremation they would save the ashes. But if the person was poor there would be no priest and they wouldn't save the ashes.

Then I saw a public laundry. I don't see how the clothes ever get clean. The laundry is done out in the open by a river. The people have built little booths to wash the clothes in and have hired men to do it. The water is dirty and the clothes never really get clean.

Old Va. New
I think Bombay is a beautiful modern city in many ways but so ancient in others. I will always remember the people sleeping on the streets and the cows wandering up and down the streets.

The city has beautiful parks, winding marine drives and colorful bazars.

The next morning we flew to Delhi, and I will never forget it. First, we had to land out in the desert as a little town and stay there six hours for a sandstorm to clear. Just think, I came half way around the world to be in a sandstorm like in Texas. Finally we could go. We all got back into the plane to leave, but the motor wouldn't start. So we had to stay there four more hours until another plane could be sent from Bombay. I can't describe the heat—the temperature was 125 degrees. And I thought Texas was hot. We finally made it to Delhi, but I didn't think we were going to. We were lucky to have the "Father of Air India" on the plane with us. His name is Mr. Tata.

We got to Delhi late in the afternoon so we didn't get to see anything except the Red Fort. I can't remember the Red Fort, but I always will remember the overcrowded streets of Old Delhi. We didn't see much of Delhi because the next morning we had to drive to Agra. Fascinating Drive

We had a fascinating drive to Agra. We saw wild peacocks and monkeys out in the road. We also saw elephants, oxen and camels and always cows every place. I saw beautiful draped spiny carts that are only supposed to carry three people, but nine people got in one. I saw village after village—all so dirty. The houses are made of mud with beautiful designs on them. When you drive through a village it isn't unusual to see several men sitting on the streets smoking old-fashioned water pipes. Most of the women, instead of using eye shadow, use charcoal to outline their eyes.

India has more cows than any other place in the world.

I shall never forget the community water wells, drawn by oxen. The women come with big brass jugs to be filled with water. Most women carry at least two jugs on their heads.

Also along the road you see the ruins of stone tombs hundreds of years old.

Some women have stones embedded in their heads and sometimes on the side of their noses. Some have little red spots made with lipstick on their heads to show if they are married, and also what caste they belong to. I saw lots and lots of women with their faces all covered. They look through little lace-like holes in their scarfs. When they see someone like us coming they pull up their scarfs if it has fallen down a little. All people cover up their heads with something. The women use a big scarf which covers them all over, while the men wear all sorts of things. If you understand you can tell where they are from and to what religion they belong. The men wear turbans of all kinds and colors. Sometimes they wear cute fur turbans. I never saw so much jewelry in all my life. I am sure India has more jewels than any other place in the world. You also see thousands

Jabara Decorated, Ordered To States After 15 Jet Wins

SEOUL —(AP)— Maj. James Jabara, history's first jet ace and second triple jet ace, was awarded three more Oak Leaf Clusters Saturday to his Distinguished Flying Cross just before he left for home.

The MIG killer received his sixth Oak Leaf Cluster from the Fifth Air Force Commander, Lt. Gen. Samuel Anderson.

He then headed for a nearby airfield and departed for Japan. He will leave in a few days for his home in Wichita, Kan.

Jabara, 29, credited with shooting down 15 Communist MIG-15's while flying F-86 Sabrejets during two combat tours in Korea, said he was glad to be going home but added that it was "sort of hard to leave as long as the MIG's are flying."

When guests arrive unexpectedly and you want to thaw a package of frozen fruit, place the sealed package under running cold water. It will thaw in 20 to 30 minutes.

REDUCING DIETS CAN BE HARMFUL

A strenuous reducing diet can do a great deal of harm; in some cases possibly more than the excess weight. A strenuous reducing diet should not be undertaken, except upon the advice and under the supervision of a physician.

Here is a sensible way to take off unguainly fat without diet or calorie counting. Just ask your druggist for four ounces of liquid Barcontrate. Mix with grapefruit juice as directed on label and take according to directions. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the sensible way to reduce, return the empty bottle for your money back.

Mrs. Ruth Malloy, 9521 Manchester Blvd., Houston, Texas, wrote us as follows: "I am very proud to be one of your Barcontrate users. When I started taking Barcontrate, my weight was 189. I now weigh 163, a loss of 26 pounds, and I must say I feel like a new person."

And Mrs. Albert Hoos, Jr., 2115 Clinton, Fort Worth, Texas, wrote that she lost 15 pounds taking Barcontrate.

of big black umbrellas, which are used for shading the sun.

The minute we got to Agra we went to see the Taj Mahal, which means "Crown Palace." The Taj Mahal looks like something out of a travel book. From a distance it looks like it is made of ivory and lace, but when you get up close to it, it is made of marble. I will never forget the beautiful fountains and gardens and the Taj Mahal itself. I can't tell you how lovely it is.

We drove back to Delhi, got on a plane and flew to Pakistan. Pakistan is just like India except for the religion.

No longer will India be just a place on the map, but will be a vivid picture in my mind.

Egypt: Going up through the Suez Canal was very interesting. On one side you see a desert—on the other you see some trees and, of course, sand. It takes 12 hours to go through the canal. We got to Alexandria in the morning and had to leave that afternoon. I have been to Egypt before and will always remember it.

We have just docked in Naples, but more about that in my next letter.

Garden Club Council Schedules Fall Flower Show October 25

"Bon Voyage" will be the theme for the annual flower show to be held by the Midland Council of Garden Clubs October 25 in the David Crockett School Auditorium, 401 East Parker Street, council officials announced.

Mrs. R. L. Spencer is the general chairman for the event.

Committees Named
Other committee chairmen are Mrs. Conrad Reeves, schedule; Mrs. John Castner, staging; Mrs. F. A. Scott, properties; Mrs. J. T. Gist, entries; Mrs. E. W. Cowden, classification; Mrs. C. F. Henderson, judges; Mrs. Billie Gilbert, hospitality.

Mrs. E. E. Evinger, publicity; Mrs. J. D. Dillard, junior entries; Mrs. R. M. Nugent, education; Mrs. D. E. Smith, tickets and finance; Mrs. Harry Russell, scrapbook; and Mrs. R. E. Gillispie, clerks and awards.

The show will have two divisions—horticulture and arrangement.

Rules Announced
Rules and regulations announced by the council for the show include:

1. Entries may be made by any amateur, male or female, living in Midland County.
2. Entries will be accepted from 8 p.m. until 8 p.m. October 24 and from 8 a.m. until 10:30 a.m. on the day of the show. They must be picked up between 8 a.m. and 10 a.m. the following day. Late entries will be placed on a separate table for display.
3. All horticulture exhibits must be grown in Midland County by the exhibitor and have been in the exhibitor's possession at least six weeks.
4. Fresh flowers and foliage in arrangement classes need not be grown by exhibitor, but must be grown by an amateur, except as specifically stated in the schedule.
5. All potted plants, dish gardens, terrariums, etc., must have been planted by and have been in the exhibitor's possession at least ninety days.
6. Foliage and accessories will be permitted in all classes.
7. Mechanical aids for arrangements are permitted, but must not be visible. Painted and dyed materials will not be disqualified, but their use is not generally acceptable except as noted in the schedule.
8. Read flower show handbook pages 23-25 about mechanics of exhibiting.
9. A novice arranger is one who has never won any award in the arrangement division of a flower show.
10. An exhibitor may have only one entry in each class.
11. Containers for specimen will be supplied by the staging committee.
12. No seed, flower or foliage of state conservation material may be used.
13. All persons except the judges, flower show chairman, clerks and photographer shall be excluded from the show while judging is taking place.
14. The standard system of judging will be used throughout the show. Decision of the judges will be final.
15. Sweepstakes awards will be given in both horticulture and arrangement classes. An award will be given to the club whose members earn the largest number of blue ribbons. This award will include both horticulture and arrangement divisions and will be based on a percentage of the club's membership. In case of tie, red ribbons counted, etc. This award will not include the club's table exhibit. In horticulture classes a blue ribbon for a collection of five counts 10 points, for a collection of three counts six points, for one specimen counts two points.

Want a superb Summer buffet dish? Chill poached salmon steaks; accompany with a salad of snap beans, celery, green peas and carrots—all cooked. Add a big dollop of homemade mayonnaise to the salmon and the salad. Pass crisp hard rolls and squares of butter with this wonderful main course.

FASHIONABLE MIDLANDER—A lighthearted sun dress in red on white printed cotton was worn by Mrs. Bill Wood, 707 Mogford Street, for the Wednesday meeting of the Rake and Spade Garden Club. The dress was accented with a red fringed stole of the same material and a red belt. Mrs. Wood also was wearing giant red earclips, brown and white shoes, and carried a white woven bag.

GOTTA MINUTE TO HELP OUT?

PITTSBURGH —(AP)— If you would like to turn over a new leaf, there's a job for you at Carnegie Museum.

The museum is preparing a conservation exhibit for which 12,000 to 15,000 artificial leaves must be assembled. Only three persons are available for the job and there's no money to hire help.

"Maybe housewives would like to volunteer," said a spokesman hopefully. "Or maybe school children interested in nature study."

Midlanders Visit Texas Ranch

right, they are Marilyn, Donny, Tommy and Mr. and Mrs. Beal. The Beals, who have lived in Midland since 1950, are moving this weekend to Honolulu, Hawaii.

GARDEN NOTES

Midland Gardens Are Ready For Mid-Summer Housecleaning

(One of a series of articles on gardening in Midland, prepared and submitted by the Midland Council of Garden Clubs.)

This week the Midland gardener should devote some time to garden housecleaning. A garden full of spent blossoms, seed pods and dead stalks never looks attractive.

Shasta daisies which have finished blooming must be cut back—that is, the old bloom stalks should be cut off at the base of the plant. Annuals which have finished blooming, such as annual phlox, calendulas, California poppies and pansies should be pulled out. Petunias which have long straggly stems should be cut back to about eight inches. They will continue to bloom and the plant will have a more attractive shape. Verbena stems can be pegged down and covered with soil, they will form roots and make new plants for next year.

Gladiolus corms should be dug four to six weeks after flowering, do not wait until the foliage dies.

Cut off the tops close to the corms, store in a cool, dry place for three weeks, then clean and return to storage. Corms may be stored with a few mothballs, not touching the corms, to prevent thrips. Any gladioli which are carried over from one year to the next must be treated with Lysol before planting.

Chrysanthemum Culture
Care given chrysanthemums now will give good blooms in the Fall. Plants should be well mulched, well watered and well fed. Extra superphosphate, ammonium sulphate and fertilizer will be valuable in producing good plants and blooms.

Hardy chrysanthemums can be pinched back until August. This means pinching out the end growth of each stem, which will cause three or four new stems to develop. These in turn are pinched and the result is a bushy plant with many blooms. Large flowering chrysanthemums should be growing with two to five branches on each main stem, all other growth is pinched off.

For some reason, many chrysanthemums this year are developing buds and blooms much too soon. Try rubbing off any buds which are developing now and hope for new buds to form later on at the proper blooming time. An alternative to this would be to allow some to bloom and to disbud others, but blooms which open now are usually not attractive.

Insect Friends
Much has been written in this column about harmful insects which are particularly prevalent in this hot, dry weather. A word should be said concerning helpful insects so that they will not be destroyed. Lady bugs, small, quarter inch or less in size, oval red bugs with black spots should be welcomed as they eat aphids and scale. Ground beetles feed on other insects, they are black or brown and about one and one half inches long. Bees are important for pollination, although leaf cutter bees may cut round holes in foliage, rose leaves in particular. The preying or praying mantis is a garden friend, it eats all other insects. Lizards and toads also have a diet of insects, so do not destroy them.

Gardening Books
A good gardener must do more than dig, plant and fertilize. He also must keep up with new developments and learn about anything which will improve his gardening. When it is too hot to work in the yard, relax by the air conditioner with a gardening magazine or book. Many good books on gardening are available at the Midland County Public Library.

For many years, there was only one book which applied directly to gardening in this area. This book is "Gardening in the South and West" by Scruggs. Now we have a new book, highly recommended. It was written specifically for this area and can be used advantageously by Midland gardeners. The title is "Southwest Gardening," the author, Rosalie Doolittle. This book, orderly and understandable, is written in simple language for the ordinary home gardener and covers all phases of Southwest gardening from landscaping, trees, shrubs and soil, to transplanting, with chapters on the culture of various plants and flowers.

"The Plant Doctor" by Cynthia Westcott is a fine reference book for all plant ailments and pests. It lists diseases and pests and their controls and includes a chapter on special troubles in the Southwest. Sections of Sunset publications dealing with Arizona and the California desert areas are helpful to us. "Gardening in Midland," published by the Midland Chamber of Commerce is a booklet prepared by Midland garden clubs in the interest of more pleasant gardening. If you have not read this pamphlet, stop by the Chamber of Commerce office and ask for a copy.

Evangelistic Service Slated

An evangelistic service will be held at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in the Seventh Day Adventist Church. It has been announced by the pastor, the Rev. Richard C. Barron.

Special features of the service will include a 30-minute sound motion picture, "World's Best Seller," and a musical program led by Jack Christensen.

Mr. Barron will give a sermon on Biblical prophecies entitled, "What Is Coming Tomorrow?"

Cox Funeral Rites Conducted In Ranger

RANGER — Funeral for John Walter Alexander Cox, 63, of Midland and a former Eastland County resident, was held Friday at the First Methodist Church in Ranger.

The Rev. Garland Lavender, Weatherford, assisted by the Rev. Finis A. Crutchfield, officiated. Killingsworth Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Cox, a retired school teacher who was born in Tennessee on April 5, 1890, had been making his home with a daughter in Midland the past two years. He died Wednesday afternoon.

Survivors include four daughters, Mrs. C. C. Smith of Midland, Mrs. E. J. Gilbert of Wichita Falls, Mrs. Mrs. R. L. White of Rising Star, and Mrs. D. E. Fulley of Ranger; one son, Glenn D. Cox of Houston; one brother, W. E. Cox of Lamesa; 13 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Use a wooden spoon for stirring a food in an enamel saucepan; metal spoons leave marks that have to be scoured.

Modern Flower Arrangements Make Good Party Centerpieces

By ADELAIDE KERR
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Try a flower lake or one of the new inside-the-vase arrangements as a centerpiece for your next dinner party.

Both have an intriguing quality of mystery. Both are in line with a trend for centerpieces low enough to enable people to see one another across the table without strain. Both can be done inexpensively — and by you, if you have a little patience.

Here is the flower formula for the inside-the-vase arrangement suggested by Benny Hubbard, of Irene Hayes, Inc., one of the country's leading experts in flower arrangements. It is one of four he worked out for the dinner tables of busy women, who have to consider practicality as well as effect.

Take a big crystal goblet about eight inches high. Set a pinpoint flower holder inside the glass and make a colorful flower and foliage arrangement about seven inches high. Gently set the arrangement inside the goblet and put in enough water to cover the base of the holder. Shimmering in candle light, this is both intriguing and smart. It is particularly practical if you are dining out of doors.

For a more important centerpiece, there is a mysterious flower lake. This one is best done with gladiolus—flame or shell pink. Strip the bloom off the stalk and cut off its short stem just below the point where the petals join. This leaves a hollow center in the bloom. Nest a bud in this hollow to produce a floral effect of exotic beauty. Spear all together with two ordinary pins, inserted horizontally. Prepare as many of these as you need, but make it an uneven number.

Take a big shallow container, preferably glass, to make the lake. In it float tendrils of baby ivy or fancy cactadium. Now stud the whole with floating gladiolus blooms for the effect of a dreamy flower lake.

For a simpler effect, you can build a flower mound, using a shallow wide container or bowl with a pinpoint holder set in the bottom. Stud the holder with blossoms—violets, freesias, geraniums or whatever pleases you. The stems should be cut so that the border flowers just clear the top of the container and the others rise gradually higher in a gentle mound effect. Add a touch of foliage here and there. Simple as this one sounds, it is a charmer if well done.

Here is another idea that will give your table a groomed look for every day and set a base for quick decoration trick when unexpected guests arrive. Set a pinpoint flower holder in a glass bowl. Get philodendron vines, wash them clean and arrange them gracefully in the bowl, so that some of the vines droop over the sides. That makes the piece for every-day use. When unexpected guests arrive, you can add a half-dozen daffodils, zinnias or geranium clusters in a few minutes to give a more festive effect.

Six Of 12 Accused In $850,000 Jewel Robbery Convicted

AIX EN PROUVENCE, FRANCE—(AP)—Six of 12 men on trial for engineering the $850,000 jewel robbery of the Aga Khan and his beautiful wife four years ago were convicted Saturday. They were sentenced to four to 10 years.

Three other defendants, among them a colorful swashbuckling wartime hero who claims to be Winston Churchill's godson, were acquitted. No decision was announced for three others tried in absentia.

Much of the loot grabbed from the Aga Khan's party in the 1949 daring daylight holdup on the French Riviera has been recovered.

The acquitted war hero, George Watson, denied vehemently during the 12-day trial that he was finger man in the sensational robbery. Throughout the trial he shared the spotlight with a long-smouldering police scandal which exploded while the trial was in progress. The scandal stemmed from the fact that France's national prefect of police at the time of the robbery had been associated in the French underground during the war with one of the accused. The police prefect was suspended early in the case.

Would-Be Rescuer Dies; Victim Safe

MADAWASKA, MAINE—(AP)—An airman swimming to the aid of a companion drowned in Madawaska Lake Friday.

The body of Airman J. A. Mahan of Batesville, Ark., was recovered shortly afterward. At Limestone Air Force Base, Capt. Meredith Reeves said Mahan was going to help Billie Herrington of Pineland, Texas, in distress 250 feet from shore. Herrington saved himself.

Vacationer Dies Of Heart Ailment

CORPUS CHRISTI—(AP)—A San Antonio man collapsed and died in shallow water Friday shortly after he and his wife arrived on a vacation. Justice Pat Dunne said James Tom, 53, may have died of a heart seizure.

Donna Rabon, B. H. Morrison Wed In Crane, Wil Live Here

Donna Sue Rabon and Billy Harold Morrison, both of Midland were married in a double-ring ceremony at 4 p.m. Saturday in the First Methodist Church in Crane.

When they return from a wedding trip to Ruidoso, N. M., the newlyweds will live at 1106 1/2 West Washington Street.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Rabon, Star Route One, Crane. She was graduated from Crane High School and now is employed as a stenographer with the Atlantic Refining Company.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Morrison of Floydada. Now employed as a geologist with Texas University Lands in Midland, he was graduated from Floydada High School and attended Texas Western College, El Paso. He is a member of Masonic Lodge 712, Floydada.

The Rev. R. O. Tomlinson read the wedding ceremony as the wedding party stood at the church altar, which was decorated with baskets of gladiolus and lilies. Clusters of white bridal wreath and white satin ribbon marked the family pews.

Music for the ceremony was provided by Mrs. Dorothy Crittenden of Crane, organist.

Honor attendants were Mrs. J. H. Hamilton of Midland and Kenneth B. Poole of Floydada. Serving as ushers and candle lighters were Ralph Thomas of Dumas, James H. Clark of Andrews and Walt Baum of Midland.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a waist-length dress of white organdy over white taffeta. The brief sleeves and collar of the fitted bodice were accented with seed pearls, and at her throat, the bride wore an heirloom pearl slipper pin. She borrowed her mother's pearl stud earrings.

The bride's finger-tip veil was caught to a Juliet cap of white taffeta sprayed with seed pearls. She carried a white Bible with a cascade of white carnations, white streamers and agapanthus and completed her costume with white silk shantung shoes and long white gloves.

Dress for the matron of honor was of white organdy over pale green taffeta and was in waist length. Mrs. Hamilton wore white shoes and a white hat with pale green veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow carnations with pale green satin streamers.

Reception held

Assisting the couple in receiving guests for the reception in the Crane County Community Hall were their parents and the matron of honor.

Also in the houseparty were Mrs. Roy Adams, Grace Weatherall, Mrs. Pearl Ward and Gethlyn Gilbert, niece of the bride.

The Community Hall was decorated for the occasion with baskets of gladiolus and lilies. The same flowers were used in the centerpiece for the bride's table, which was laid with a white organdy cloth over pale green.

Out-of-city guests included Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Kidd of Fort Worth, grandparents of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. B. Q. Gilbert of Sidney, Neb., brother-in-law and sister of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Hickman, Odessa, and a number of friends from Floydada.

For traveling, the bride changed to a white silk shantung suit, accented with nailhead trim. She also wore white silk shantung shoes and bag, long white gloves and white Summer straw hat. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Captive Shrimpers Freed By Mexicans

TAMPICO, MEXICO—(AP)—Port authorities decided Saturday there were no grounds for holding five U. S. shrimp fishing boats brought here by the Mexican gunboat David Porter.

Captain of the Port Francisco Ochoa ruled "there is no crime to prosecute," as the ships were only anchored in shallow water to rest, and were not fishing when the gunboat appeared.

The sale of their shrimp cargoes Friday was cancelled, and the shrimp returned to the boats. These are free to leave port; the charges against them fishing within Mexican territorial waters, dropped.

All five boats have been operating out of Port Isabel, Texas. Three are from Brownsville, one from Orange, and one from Tampa, Fla.

Mixed Marriage In London Turns Into Top Social Event

LONDON—(AP)—Socialite Peggy Cripps and negro law student Joseph Appiah from the Gold Coast were married Saturday in London's fashionable St. John's Church.

It was a society wedding such as London had never seen. Friends of the bridegroom in brilliant Ashanti tribal dress were ushers for the bridegroom's guests. They made a striking contrast with the sober English morning dress of striped trousers, cutaway coat and lavender waistcoats worn by the ushers for the bride's family.

One of the bridegroom's guests, H. L. George of Gambia wore voluminous robes of yellow and black and carried a wooden native snake charm throughout the ceremony.

The bride, buxom, brown-haired and 32, is the youngest daughter of the late Sir Stafford Cripps, chancellor of the exchequer in the former Labor government. Appiah, also 32, is the personal representative in this country of the Gold Coast prime minister.

Appiah wore the brilliant ceremonial native dress of the Ashanti tribe, a crimson, yellow and green striped silk mantle called a "kente cloth" and similar to the old Roman toga.

So many members of the public gate-crashed the little church in the shadow of Lord's Cricket Pavilion that late-coming guests were locked out and had to hammer on the doors for admission.

Rabies Outbreak In Houston Blamed On Lax Pet Owners

HOUSTON—(AP)—The worst rabies outbreak in Houston history is attributed to citizens' failure to live up to city dog vaccination ordinances.

"There is a serious epidemic of rabies," R. D. Wende, Director of the City Health Laboratory, said Friday. "The situation is extremely serious."

An epizootic is to animals what an epidemic is to humans. Wende said the epizootic began in 1952 and worsened this year.

Dr. Fred K. Laurents, City Health Officer, said, "If people would have their dogs immunized each year, there would be no heavy incidence of this disease."

Of Houston's estimated 100,000 dogs, only 2,534 have been vaccinated so far this year.

STAMPFORD—(AP)—Services for Stonehill County Judge H. H. Shadle, 64, will be conducted at Aspermont Sunday. He died Friday after a long illness.

Five Hostesses Give Tea For Miss McKee

Continuing the series of pre-nuptial compliments for Royce Raye McKee, a gift tea was held Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Arnold Scharbauer, 1714 Holloway Street.

Miss McKee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy R. McKee, 907 West Michigan Street, will become the bride of Larry Allen Bedford, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Bedford, 1110 North Big Spring Street, on August 15.

Hostesses for the Wednesday tea honoring Miss McKee were Mrs. Scharbauer, Mrs. E. P. Birkhead, Mrs. J. P. Carson, Jr., Mrs. J. A. Sewell and Mrs. D. E. Hoover.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Scharbauer, Miss McKee and her mother and the mother of the prospective bridegroom.

Mrs. Scharbauer Hartley of Lamesa and Mrs. Charles H. McCall alternated at the tea table and others in the houseparty were Camilla Birkhead, Martha Scharbauer and Jonanna Sewell.

Decorations for the party room featured Miss McKee's chosen colors, blue and American beauty. The tea table, laid with a linen cutwork cloth and crystal appointments, was centered with an arrangement of American beauty roses and small blue flowers.

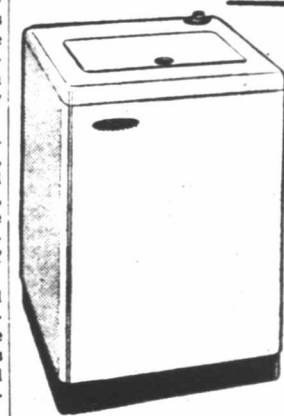

About 150 guests from Midland, Snyder, Big Spring, Odessa and Lamesa called during the party hours.

LONG BEACH, CALIF.—(AP)—An 18-year-old Long Beach student has parlayed an auction-bought $100 airplane, two years of pilot experience and plenty of elbow grease into a smooth sailing craft of his own.

Dave Case bought the plane at auction, "odd ball engine, rusty framework and all." After $500 more of materials and untold hours of labor, he successfully tested it with the engine purring like a kitten.

Already having logged 85 hours of private license time, Dave now seeks a commercial license.

Cheaper Rice Seen By Thai Government

BANGKOK—(AP)—The Thai government, conscious that the once flourishing rice trade is changing from a seller's to a buyer's market, plans putting into effect measures which will enable Thailand to sell its rice cheaper.

The plan, to be financed by the government and Mutual Security Administration, provides for establishment of cooperative societies and marketing organizations which will cut out the low "middlemen" prices by buying up farmers' crops at better rates.

Ben Knows His Business

A lot of words have been written recently, and a lot more are going to be written, about a fellow named Ben Hogan, who plays golf for a living.

The reason for all the prose is that just this Summer, at the not-so-tender age of 40, the jut-jawed little Texan emerged as probably the best man at his trade the world has ever seen.

Just how good he is was shown this month when he packed the tools of his trade—beautiful precision-made instruments of shiny steel and leather and persimmon wood—into a long, round leather bag and betook himself to Carnoustie, Scotland, to turn out a job of work before the critical eyes of the fathers of the game in one of the world's great competitions, the British Open.

In a manner brilliant, if it weren't so methodical, Hogan went to work and took famed old Carnoustie apart. Toiling in high wind, rain, and hail which make Carnoustie both famous and fearsome, Hogan not only won the British Open but he broke the tournament record for the course by eight strokes.

And he capped the whole thing off with a well-known Hogan finish. Gray-faced and shaken with influenza which almost laid him low, he came from behind to shoot the last round in a blazing 68, which broke the competitive course record for 18 holes.

Hogan's triumph at Carnoustie came after he already had won this year the other two top tournaments of golf, the U. S. Open and the Masters. And, as at Carnoustie, he set new records in both. It was the fourth time he'd won the U. S. Open, top tourney in golf.

Hogan got where he is by a single-minded devotion to his trade that is the mark of a champion in any line—doctor, die-maker, scientist or artist. As a result of amazing skills painfully acquired over the years, he has that extra something to put forth in the clutch which is the invariable quality of the champ.

Warming up for the U. S. Open at Oakmont, Pa., this Summer, he hit three shots from each tee as he went around the course. The first he deliberately faded into the rough to the right of the fairway, the second he deliberately hooked into the rough at the left, and finally he laid one straight down the middle. Then he played all three and in so doing probably knew the course better than the greenskeeper did by the time the tournament started.

Without such preparation over the years, Hogan almost certainly never would have been able to come back after the automobile accident in 1949 which almost-killed him.

His injured legs still aren't what they should be and when he's tired he begins to walk heavily on his heels. But even then the little figure in the white cap and button sweater, with an odd-looking black cigaret holder clamped in his teeth, walks like a champ who knows his business so well he doesn't have to worry.

He doesn't have to worry about money anymore. He's made a pile of it. But he's a guy in love with his work, and he'll keep working at it. The Hogans of the world just don't turn out a shoddy product.

Getting Around This Bird Is The Real Problem

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson. (Copyright, 1953, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.) Drew Pearson says: Basic struggle inside Russia is over states rights; Marshal Beria wanted more independence for Soviet republics; Senator McCarthy's publisher almost loses dancing partner.

WASHINGTON — More details gradually are being pieced together by U. S. experts regarding the fall of the mighty Soviet secret police chief, L. P. Beria.

The most significant difference between him and Premier Malenkov was over "states rights." Their quarrel was somewhat similar to that between Tidwells of senators (before the drouth) and senators believing in federal controls.

Marshal Beria believed that the 16 Soviet republics must have greater independence, not be tied too closely to Moscow. Most of them are of diverse and different nationalities and Beria believed the federation should be reasonably loose.

This difference is of considerable importance to the United States, because it has been the theory of this writer and others that, if encouraged, the diverse nationalities of Russia might eventually break away from Moscow.

Obviously, the danger of unrest among these nationalities has been greater of late, and Malenkov, not satisfied that Beria's system was working, decided to tighten the reins.

Woven into the story of the Beria-Malenkov rivalry also is the last word in intrigue and jealousy which seem to go hand in hand with Russian communism, a system in which murders are committed by doctors on orders of the state, after which doctors are thrown in jail for carrying out state orders.

Following an early rivalry, Malenkov and Beria patched up their differences, and as late as 1948 seemed to be pretty good Kremlin partners. Their two-man team was so strong that even the old Bolshevik Molotov was pushed out of the picture and dismissed as foreign minister.

It may be that Stalin himself stepped in and split up the partnership—since his policy always was one of pitting his powerful subordinates against each other. In any case, by the end of 1950 Malenkov and Beria had broken up, and for about two years Beria was left with the short end of the stick.

Beria really hit the skids in 1951 when he actually was kicked out as minister of state security and replaced by a party hack, named S. Ignatiev. Simultaneously, Beria's two lieutenants, Commissars Abakumov and Dekanozov, mysteriously disappeared—either jailed or sent to Siberia.

Surge Of Power. Beria's surge of power also began to show up between the lines of the Soviet press. Russia's counterpart of Life Magazine, Ogonyok, came out in May with color photos of the previous year's May demonstrations.

In other words, Malenkov's friends were going to jail, and Beria's friends were getting out of jail.

Beria's surge of power also began to show up between the lines of the Soviet press. Russia's counterpart of Life Magazine, Ogonyok, came out in May with color photos of the previous year's May demonstrations.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY. Written for NEA Service.

When today's hand was played in a recent tournament in Washington, D. C., declarer put on a fine exhibition of card playing. It is impossible, unfortunately, to say as much for the defenders.

West opened the jack of clubs, and Paul Kibler, playing the South hand, won in dummy with the king. He returned the pine of hearts from dummy, allowing it to ride for a finesse. West casually played low, allowing dummy's nine to hold the trick.

Upon seeing this card, declarer went up with the ace of trumps and returned a low spade. He played low from the dummy, allowing East to win with the nine of spades.

East not only didn't solve the defensive problem that was set before him—he didn't even realize that he had a problem. He made the "safe" return of the queen of spades—allowing declarer to make his contract.

Declarer won the spade return in dummy with the ace and returned a spade, ruffing in his own hand. He then led a third round of trumps, giving West the lead.

West fully returned the ten of clubs, but was allowed to hold the trick with that card. At this point, West had nothing but diamonds and was forced to lead a low diamond from his hand. Dummy put up the queen, winning the trick, and declarer easily took the rest.

East could have defeated the contract by leading a diamond at his one chance to lead. It is hard to condemn him very much for this lack, and my own feeling is that Kibler should be given great credit for very skillful declarer's play.

CARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been: South West North East 1 Spade 2 Clubs 2 Dmnds. Pass?

J. O. South, hold: Spades A-K-J-9, Hearts 10-4-2, Diamonds K-7-2, Clubs K-9. What do you do?

A—Bid two no-trump. You have no stopper in the unbid suit, and you must take a chance on this. You have the only stopper in clubs, and if you fail to bid no-trumps your partner can probably never bid it.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

Treasury Sure U. S. Deficit Won't Change Fiscal Policies

By PETER EDSON. NEA Washington Correspondent.

WASHINGTON—Top Treasury officials are not discounting the seriousness of the unexpected $9.4 billion U. S. deficit for the fiscal year ended last June 30. They insist, however, that it will not upset the apple cart of Eisenhower Administration fiscal policies.

Secretary of Treasury George M. Humphrey says the deficit points up the necessity for further cuts of the 1955 budget. The 1954 budget is being cut $4.5 billion. Secretary Humphrey is not yet ready to say how much more the 1955 budget should be cut.

He still believes the budget can be brought into balance by June 1954. This does not mean bringing it into balance for the entire year. But he hopes to balance income and outgo by that time.

There is no thought of having to ask for a second extension of the excess profits tax beyond the December 31 termination date just cleared by the House Ways and Means Committee for expected congressional approval.

Similarly, it is not now believed there is any need for further postponing the approximately 10 per cent in individual income taxes scheduled to go into effect January 1.

These battles have been won once there is no thought of trying to force them through Congress again, just to raise more revenue. Trying to force through a general tax reform bill—possibly in a special session this Fall—is also not in the picture.

National Debt Limit. One important legislative question still is undecided by the Treasury. This is whether to ask for authority to raise the national debt limit above its present $275 billion ceiling, before the scheduled congressional adjournment July 31.

The U. S. debt as of June 30 was $272 billion. That leaves only a $3 billion margin for the next six years. As for what might happen if the debt goes over $275 billion after Congress adjourns, Deputy Secretary W. Randolph Burgess says, "I have enough nightmares without considering that."

Secretary Humphrey has warned previously that raising the debt limit might be necessary. But data are not yet assembled for a final determination on this point now.

One other factor on which Treasury experts do not yet have complete data is why the deficit for the last fiscal year rose to $9.4 billion. This was more than $3 billion, or more than 50 per cent above the anticipated deficit of $6 billion.

Spending estimates were about right, at $45 billion. But tax receipts at $55 billion—although $3 billion above 1952 and higher than they ever have been—were not up to the $58 billion level anticipated. Treasury analysts may be a long time in finding why, since 1952 tax figures still are only two-thirds complete.

Corporation profits apparently were off. The steel strike and coal strike may have accounted for $700 million to $1 billion of the drop. But this figure was known in advance. It was a contributing factor but not the full answer to lower tax collections.

An increase in efficiency enabled the Bureau of Internal Revenue to pay back this year some $850 million in overcollections of withholding taxes. These are not to be confused with tax refunds, which will be made later.

What may have happened—and this is still a Treasury surmise—is that many individual income taxpayers, anticipating tax cuts or a business recession, deliberately under-declared their income for 1953 payments. At any rate, June 15 tax receipts were not as far ahead of a year ago as they should have been.

If this underpayment is really what happened, the apparent $772 billion deficit that shows on the books today may be cut by several billions when revised estimated returns are filed next January 15.

Secretary Humphrey insists that taxes have not yet reached the point of diminishing returns. Some critics of high taxes have insisted this would happen under present rates.

The Administration still is committed to its sound money policy. This is not interpreted as a hard money policy, which means that money will be hard to get. The sound money policy means that the value of the dollar will not be further inflated.

The $5.5 billion worth of tax anticipation certificates just marketed by the Treasury will discount March 15 tax collections by 2 1/2 per cent, or more than $100 million.

These certificates admittedly are inflationary to the extent that they are bought by banks, which may take 75 per cent of the total. But they are considered non-inflationary to the extent that they are bought by corporations or individuals to pay next year's taxes.

weren't in love with me any more. Somehow, I don't seem to mind now. Be good to Betty. She loves you, and you'll be proud of her."

She seemed to relax in death. Betty looked up at her with unspoken grief in her face. Jealousy was not in her.

Tenderly Pete took her into his arms. "I will be good to you, Betty," he said, "as long as I live. You'll want to see what the world is like. Maybe then you'll find someone you like better, and—"

"I never will," she cried. "I'm afraid of the world. I want to live in Two Rivers the rest of my life, with you."

"The world isn't so big, or so bad," he said gently. "You've nothing to be afraid of. But Two Rivers will be our home. And we'll make it a good place."

PETE didn't need to go all the way to the trading post to know that it was being held by his friends. Nate Wilkinson came running out to meet him.

"Betty's all right, Nate," he said. "I can take you to her in an hour."

"Thank God. I never lost faith you'd find her after I learned you had been here just before us."

"Died yesterday," Nate said. "He kept begging me to save his worthless life. Even though he must have known I couldn't do it. He even told me where his cache was, hoping that would do some good."

How disappointed Cass would have been to have learned that, Pete thought. Considering everything, it perhaps wasn't so bad that Narragut's arrow had found its mark.

"What about Toby?" Pete asked.

"An Indian came in today who said he wanted to make peace. He said Toby had been wounded in the fight here the other night and was going to die."

"If he does," Pete said, "things ought to be all right in the future." "The big thing is," Nate said fervently, "I'll have my daughter back."

Pete decided to wait before telling him that he had also lost her. The End.

Mr. and Mrs. James Robert Hyman

James Robert Hyman's Will Live In Midland

Mr. and Mrs. James Robert Hyman, who returned last week from a trip to Gull Lake, Brainerd, Minn., have established a residence at 1805 West College Street.

The bride is the former Joan Marie Flitter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lorin H. Flitter of Mankato, Minn. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hyman, Barnsdale, Okla.

Wed in Mankato
The couple was married at 3:30 p.m. June 28 in Our Savior's Lutheran Church in Mankato, with the Rev. Alvin Fehner officiating. Music was provided by Emil John, organist, and Freeman Daffer, baritone, the bride's uncle.

Yellow and white gladioli, palms and candelabras were used in decorations for the church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of triple nylon tulle with Chantilly lace trim. Her headpiece was a matching heart-shaped lace cap with an attached chapel-length veil of nylon tulle, and she carried a crescent bouquet of camellias with ivy and stephanotis.

Attendants Named
Attending the bride were her three sisters, Judy Flitter as maid of honor, Jan and Jane Flitter as bridesmaids. They wore dresses of yellow nylon dotted swiss, and their flowers were daisies.

The bridegroom's attendants were Paul Chisholm of Ballinger, best man, and Stan Peterson of Chicago, Ill., and Bob DePalma of St. Paul, Minn., as groomsmen. Ushers were Erv Rossberger of Madison, Wis., and Harold Ahl of Mankato.

A garden reception for 200 guests was held at the bride's home, and a late buffet supper was served to a family group of about 50 persons.

Here's something to remember next time you're preparing French-fried potatoes: Old potatoes cook more quickly and brown in less time than new potatoes.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"The opponents," writes a Chicago correspondent, "had their initial meld of 120 points with three kings and a joker as one meld, together with two aces and a deuce as another meld—all put down by one opponent."

"After a round or two of play, the other opponent tried to meld out concealed with three melds: six nines and a joker; three sevens, and two kings with two deuces."

"My partner and I said the concealed hand couldn't go out with the meld of kings since they would have to be added to the initial meld of kings. If the concealed hand could go out, would the kings (added to the initial meld) be considered a canasta?"

The player is allowed to meld out, but does not get the bonus for melding out concealed. He gets merely the normal bonus of 100 points for melding out.

The player's meld of two kings with two deuces must be added to the initial meld of three kings with a joker. Since these two melds must be joined, the player must add to the initial meld and therefore cannot meld out concealed. The mere fact that the player cannot meld out concealed does not, however, prevent him from melding out altogether. He still melds out.

The addition of all the kings and the wild cards makes a canasta of kings. Hence the player is entitled to the bonus of 300 points for a mixed canasta. This is more than the bonus for going out, so the player gains rather than loses by joining all the kings into one meld.

Q—In a game of samba two ladies are playing as one team against their husbands. The ladies meld out, catching the men with only one canasta but with all six red threes. It is understood that a certain number of points will be deducted from the previous score of the men for these six red threes, but the exact amount is in dispute. Do they lose only 100 points for each red three, or do they lose a total of 1,000 for the six red threes?

A—The amount to deduct from the previous score of the men is 1,000 points for the six red threes. If they had completed two canastas, they would have been credited with a bonus of 1,000 points for the six red threes. The amount to deduct from their score is exactly the same amount that you would have added to their score if they had completed two canastas.

Daddy Ringtail

Daddy Ringtail And Day Dreaming

The Huffen Puffen, the friendly wolf, one day was sitting on the porch of the monkey house of Daddy Ringtail, your monkey friend.

"Daddy Ringtail," said the Huffen, "I am so hungry. I am, that I could almost take a bite of the Huffen Puffen."

Daddy Ringtail did not want the Huffen to take a bite of himself, and so this what he said: "Huffen Puffen, once I dreamed that I was so hungry—so very hungry—that I could almost take a bite of myself."

"What happened?" asked the Huffen.

Daddy Ringtail told him that instead of taking a bite of himself in the dream, Daddy Ringtail started dreaming that he was dreaming. In the dream that Daddy Ringtail dreamed he was dreaming, he was very hungry. He was so very hungry that he could almost take a bite of himself. "Did you take a bite of yourself?" asked the Huffen. He was beginning to be very excited. "No," Daddy Ringtail answered. "I didn't take a bite of myself." No, because he was asleep—while he dreamed that he was dreaming.

But I'm happy to say that Mother Ringtail called them to dinner just then, and if you have a someone at your house who can't wait for dinner—someone who maybe might take a bite of himself from trying to wait—you can tell the story of dream-dreaming, and maybe the someone won't be taking a bite of himself after all. Happy day! (Copyright 1953, General Features Corp.)

OUR BOARDING HOUSE With MAJOR HOOPLE OUT OUR WAY

By J. R. WILLIAMS

Princess' Thwarted Romance Plucks English Heartstrings

By ALVIN J. STEINKOFF
LONDON—(AP)—After a hesitant start, the British press is publishing more and more about Princess Margaret's reported romance with a divorced officer of the Royal Air Force.

The way the British newspapers are backing into this story—the Commonwealth's heart throb of the year—resembles in some respects the manner in which they handled the abdication of King Edward VIII in 1936.

Now, as then, an apparent effort to bottle up a secret failed.

The episodes have similar ingredients. A royal person falls in love with a person disqualified from moving in royal circles. Romance tries to triumph over the prohibitions of the Church of England and the strict code of conduct which tradition imposes on the monarchy. "The Poor Dears"

It is a Romeo and Juliet situation which tugs at human sympathies and makes all the sentimentalists in the land exclaim, "The poor dears!" It's a story worth telling, and for weeks keen editors were itching to get at it.

Before Edward abdicated in 1936 to marry Wallis Simpson, commoner and divorcee, the country's newspapers for a long time observed a conspiracy of silence. The monarchy holds a very special place in the esteem of the British. Seventeen years ago, confronted with a King willing to give up his throne for love, many editors felt the story was too hot to handle.

MARGARET, AFTER ... In a gilded cage?

The abdication was accomplished with a minimum of public discussion at home, though French and American newspapers were full of the intriguing details and travellers returning to Britain told their neighbors what was going on in their own palace.

In the case of Margaret and RAF Group Capt. Peter Townsend, the newspapers also exercised restraint, but not so much.

Details Are Denied
The first reference was made June 14 by a Sunday newspaper which said the British public had a right to know what nonsense was being published about the princess in the United States.

It named the handsome captain, reported circumstances of his divorce, but insisted that any speculation as to their possible marriage was preposterous. It catalogued the details being carried by the American papers, and denied them one by one.

Three weeks later, after the dam had burst, this Sunday paper prided itself on having been the first to "tell the story" in London.

Obstacle of Divorce
Now the headlines are getting bigger, and the public plunges in with letters to the newspapers. Some hold that the firm position of the church, of which Princess Margaret is a devout member, and its opposition to the remarriage of divorced persons must be preserved.

The princess is reminded that as a royal personage, very close to the throne, she must live an exemplary life. She is reminded that, should Queen Elizabeth II become incapable of carrying out her functions before Prince Charles comes of age, she under present legislation would become regent.

But there have been suggestions in government quarters that regency laws might be changed to shift Margaret's responsibilities to the Duke of Edinburgh.

Course of True Love
The general trend of letters from the public seem to be sympathetic toward the princess. There are demands that the church change its attitude toward divorce. Their pretty princess, say her supporters, ought to be a happy princess, and if the course of true love isn't smooth, the appropriate authorities, state and church, should remove the obstacles which stand in the way of her heart's desire.

The case of the vivacious princess, and ex-King Edward aren't comparable, her friends argue. He was on the throne, and his position was admittedly touchy. Margaret is close to the throne, but the chances of her ever being called to it are remote, many declare.

Two Hoops In Public
The substantial Manchester Guardian struck a forthright blow in the princess' favor.

"She is close to the succession to the throne and she performs public functions," the Guardian said. "But the succession is already pretty well assured without her; and there are other solutions if a regency should unhappily become necessary. And the mass of ordinary simple people would not care two hoots, when she came to lay a foundation stone or open a town hall, whether her husband had been married before or not. There is no harm in getting things straight."

CAPTAIN TOWNSEND ... New Battle of Britain

Parliament Due To Hear Argument On Cupid's Behalf

LONDON—(AP)—Laborite Marcus Lipton said Saturday he will ask the government in the House of Commons next Wednesday what it plans to do about changing Britain's regency act so Princess Margaret would be free to marry anyone she pleases.

Under the act—passed in 1937 soon after King George VI was enthroned—Princess Margaret would become regent if anything happened to her sister, Queen Elizabeth II, during the infancy of Prince Charles and Princess Anne.

The vivacious 22-year-old princess is said to want to marry Royal Air Force Group Capt. Peter Townsend, 38, for nine years the royal equerry. He divorced his wife and although he was the innocent party in the proceedings, the Church of England and a part of British officialdom frowns on the reported romance.

Surrender Rank?
Britain's leading Roman Catholic newspaper, The Catholic Herald, said this week Margaret should surrender all royal rank and status if she decides to marry Townsend.

The government is believed to be discussing changes in the regency act with governments of the Commonwealth countries.

One suggestion is that Queen Elizabeth may follow the example of her great-great-grandmother, Queen Victoria, and appoint her husband as regent to act in the event of her death or inability to act.

Townsend In Line
If the Duke of Edinburgh were to take Margaret's place as regent, it would remove one obstacle to the royal romance.

Margaret returned Friday from a 16-day tour of Rhodesia where she and Queen Mother Elizabeth took part in 100th anniversary celebrations of Cecil Rhodes' birth.

Two days before Margaret's return, Townsend was ordered to Brussels for a tour of duty as air attaché in Britain's embassy there. Some Britons have accused officialdom of "stalling" him as a rebuke to the romance.

Man Learns More About Tornadoes, Warnings In Year Of Greatest Harm

Editor's Note: Man knows what death and devastation tornadoes can deal. He knows the fantastic, freakish things they do. He knows A-bombs don't cause them—that a tornado's energy outstrips that of many A-bombs. But he doesn't know what sets up a tornado condition, or what pulls the trigger that sets one off. He's trying to find out, and he's optimistic. AP reporters dug deep to provide this up-to-the-minute story. It is the combined work of science writer Frank Carey in Washington, Clarence Johnson in Kansas City and Saul Feldman in Oklahoma City.

By The Associated Press
Last Spring they heard the roar, clawed the earth in the screaming winds and counted their dead in Texas.

Last month the same elemental fury struck again, like a huge giant gone mad, and they counted their dead in Michigan and Ohio and Massachusetts.

Where will the next tornadoes hit? Might as well be with his atom bomb, puny as he is in the face of nature's maniacal winds, can man do nothing about reducing the tragedy of tornadoes?

Weather experts in Washington and the "Tornado Belt" of the Midwest were optimistic. They say that improving networks of warning systems, set up in recent years to alert areas in the path of an onrushing twister, undoubtedly have saved lives and damage, and may be expected to save more.

Keen Optimism
The experts realize their optimism is ironic in a year which may set a record for sudden tragedy out of the skies. In the first five months of this year, the U. S. Weather Bureau in Washington reports, the United States was hit by 217 twisters—an unofficial, unverified count. The first half of June raised the total to well over 250. The highest previous count for a five-month period was 195 in 1933.

The worst death toll caused by tornadoes was 794 in 1925. In an average year, twisters kill 227 Americans. This year barely is half over but the 1953 death toll already has more than doubled the annual average.

In most bad years, tornado damage doesn't run much over 40 million dollars. But this year, twisters already have wrought four times as much destruction.

Can recent atomic explosions be blamed? No, say the experts. The chief problem in saving lives and property is getting adequate advance warnings from atmospheric conditions on where the swirling funnels of wind may strike. The problem within the problem is pinpointing the threatened area.

Generally, weathermen receiving reports from all sections of the country, especially the wide-open Midwest, can't pinpoint advance warnings for an area less than 10,000 square miles. That's too big, being equal to the size of New Hampshire or Maryland.

But progress is made at places like the Severe Storm Center Warning Center at Tinker Air Force Base

Have 'Little Moscow' Commies In China
HONG KONG —(AP)—A recent dispatch from Canton to the independent Wah Kiu Yat Po says that the port of Whampoa, near Canton, has been turned into a "Little Moscow."

For Soviet naval advisers and officers staying there, the Chinese Reds have set up a number of tea houses, restaurants and a so-called International Club House.

near Oklahoma City. In some cases, tornado warnings have been issued accurately for a 2,500-square-mile area. That, at least, is reducing it to county size.

In Washington, Dr. Morris Tepper, a Weather Bureau scientist advanced the theory that sudden rises in air pressure at the ground may be the actual "trigger" which touches off a tornado when atmospheric conditions are otherwise ripe. These "pressure jumps," Tepper says, can be noted on sensitive instruments called microbarographs. This conceivably could provide advance warning of, and a possible way of predicting the path of, an embryonic tornado.

MAN'S-EYE VIEW—

Old Feminine Lines Shine Through New Lingerie Line

By RICHARD KLEINER
NEW YORK —(NEA)—"Go," said the editor, "and cover this lingerie show. Find out what the latest fashions are in lingerie. Find out what will be worn in the better boutiques next Fall."

I went. I took my notes. And I got the very strong impression that two of the models were blonde and one was brunette. The brunette swayed when she walked.

As for lingerie, well, they had some slips there and some nightgowns. Consulting my notes, I find that the blonde had the nicest legs in the crowd. Many of the lingerie styles had lace at the bottom and at someplace called the "bodice." The brunette looked just as good leaving as she did entering.

Fancy colors appear to be news in the lingerie field. The darker blonde's legs weren't bad, understand, but the other blonde's were a mite trimmer. The man from the Luxite lingerie firm, who was doing the MC-ing, said that colors were big. So was the brunette.

The colors all had fancy names. But the girls were, unfortunately, anonymous. There was ambrosia brown, firelight red, illusion maize, vision blue, reverie rose, dreamlit aqua, lunar green, lilac mist and frostfire blue. The darker blonde looked best in white.

This year's black isn't that old-fashioned black. They've got a brand new black which the man called "verve black," but it looked like plain old anthracite black to me. It did things for the brunette, and vice versa.

That firelight red, now is quite something. It is a real scarlet, and if you haven't seen a pretty blonde in a scarlet nightgown, you just ain't been nowhere. It's the perfect shade for wearing to a fire.

Nightgowns were displayed in three lengths, and so, come to think of it, were the models. One of them comes down to the knee—the nightgown, not the model—and is called a "sleep coat." It shows off the legs well, especially the legs of that aforementioned blonde.

Then there was a nightgown length that came to about mid-calf. This, the man said, was a "night dress." Looked good in reverie rose, especially when wrapped around a hip-slipping brunette. And there was the classic ankle-length nightgown. This had no other name. Many of these were sheer and you could see clear through to the other side, plus anything in the middle.

There was a lot of talk about details, which I didn't catch very clearly. I was too wrapped up in other details.

But I did catch some odds and ends like "brushed nylon" as grown "exquisite lace," and "new treatments" are saavy jind, "Sunment of the front shoulder." For further information, consult your corsetiere, or whoever sells this paraphernalia.

Geese appear in the inscriptions left by the earliest civilizations.

know if it was the slashes that did it, but, man, that movement sure was free. Another slash and that brunette would have fallen apart.

The darker blonde had a very nice smile. One slip she wore was called the "show-off" slip. It did. There were pajamas with bolero jackets, which were removable. The models demonstrated this feature, which was mighty generous of them.

There was a piece of equipment called a "shrug," which seemed to be like a bed jacket. One had velvet cuffs and collar. The brunette had a wedding ring, and so did the lighter blonde. Otherwise, they were pretty nice.

That's the lingerie picture for Fall. And if the Fall is anything like that brunette, things should really start moving come September.

"I could have bought a shorter wheelbase car for the wife and saved the difference!"

Mexico Proposes Vast Port System To Increase Trade

MEXICO CITY —(AP)—Mexico which claims a longer coast line than the United States, is determined to make more use of its maritime resources. For hundreds of years the economic and social life of the country has centered in the mountains of the interior.

Probably yellow fever was the chief reason. Until 40 years ago it was a constant danger along the coast in the Summer. But since the disease has been eliminated from the port cities, there is no reason not to make greater use of them.

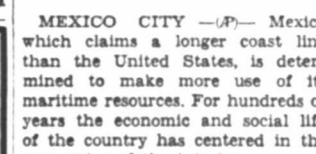

A cabinet committee drafted plans for what the government calls "The March to the Sea." It calls for increased numbers of fishing boats to provide cheap seafood for the interior; a merchant fleet to carry coastwise freight and relieve the overburdened railroads; better dock facilities; agricultural colonies to use the well watered lands along the coast; and better roads to coastal areas from the interior.

Chinese Bankers Count Their Woes

HONG KONG —(AP)—Red China's banking system has run into trouble. The masses are resisting the system and the banking cadres are overworked. Word of this comes from mainland papers reaching Hong Kong.

The Tientsin Ta Kung Pao said there was much criticism of handling of farm credits. While collecting debts for banks, 87 cadres of the bank of Chihsing in Chekiang Province were found repeatedly guilty of beating of people. In Anhwei Province, bank cadres bound and imprisoned all peasants unable to pay their debts.

Eisenhower Pulls New Wires For Freedom Of John Hvasta

By DREW PEARSON
 WASHINGTON — Now that Czechoslovakia has released AP Reporter William Oatis, President Eisenhower is pulling the protocol wires for the freedom of another U. S. prisoner of the Czechs, John Hvasta of Hillside, N. J., whose case has been overshadowed by the publicity given the unfortunate Oatis. However, Hvasta, an ex-GI student and son of a Czech immigrant, may out-scoop Oatis on adventures behind the Iron Curtain when his story finally is told. Big question is: "Will Hvasta be alive to tell it?" Hvasta has been a "forgotten man" since his imprisonment by the Communists in 1948 on espionage charges. The charges apparently were fabricated, because the State Department never was given a record of his trial, if he had one. Rumors that he escaped from prison and later was recaptured also have been unverified.

Jersey congressman five minutes beyond his appointment, inquiring about Hvasta and his parents. "I'm going to take this matter up immediately with Secretary of State Dulles," promised Ike, "as far as I am concerned, we don't have any second-class citizens. They're all first class and we're going to treat them that way, at home and abroad." (Copyright, 1953, by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Obedience Classes For Dogs Slated By City's Kennel Clubs

Obedience training classes for dogs will begin at 8 p.m. Monday at the Midland High School football practice field. The training series, sponsored by the West Texas Kennel Club, will include eight Monday night meetings of approximately one hour each, and will be open to the public.

Wilbur Evans, a member of the West Texas Kennel Club widely experienced in obedience work, has volunteered to act as instructor for the first series.

Evans, formerly was active in the Dallas Obedience Training Club and owns a Schipperke that has the degree Companion Dog, conferred by the American Kennel Club for perfection in obedience work.

A registration fee of $5 includes all eight classes, and will be used to defray the expenses of the training sessions, sponsors said. In order to be eligible for registration, dog owners must have proof of the dog's rabies vaccination. Minimum age requirements are six months for dogs and fifteen years for dog owners. Spectators are welcome at the sessions.

Registration urged

Registration is limited so those interested are urged to make reservations immediately by telephoning Evans at No. 3-3235.

The training will consist of teaching the dog to obey any one of six basic commands: to heel on a leash, to stand, to sit, to lie down, to stay, and to come on call. A dog well trained in these commands makes a much more civilized companion for city living, according to West Texas Kennel Club official, who said the organization is sponsoring the classes in the hope that more Midland dogs will become well-trained canine members of the community.

Six Midland Pastors Slate Sermons In Crestview Event

Midland's newest Baptist church will feature "hometown" pastors during its revival July 19 through August 2 at the corner of Thomas and Midkiff Streets.

Six Midland Baptist pastors will lead services during the two-week revival sponsored by the Crestview Baptist Church, Cecil Smith, Jr. announced Saturday. The Rev. A. B. Lightfoot, superintendent of missions and acting Crestview pastor will conduct services the first week, followed in the second week by the Rev. Jim Goins, Bellview, the Rev. Jimmy Stovall, Westside, the Rev. Leon Woods, Calvary and the Rev. Vernon Yearby, First Baptist. Mr. Lightfoot also will preach Wednesday of the second week.

Leading the singing will be the Rev. Wayne Tucker, associate pastor of Bellview Baptist Church.

Revival planners other than Smith, include church officers Cliff Hogue, Sunday school superintendent, Alvin Woody, treasurer, E. Yates Brown, pianist, Mrs. Gene Shelburne, choir director, Gene Shelburne, training union director, D. A. Hammans, chairman of ushers and Mrs. A. B. Lightfoot, WMY president.

More than 50 persons joined Crestview Church during its first services last Sunday. The church is holding services at 2702 Delano Street, a temporary location. At least 81 persons attended the first Sunday School session and 97 the Training Union hour. Formal dedication of the church is scheduled August 2.

Six Languages Aid In Texan's Romance

By GRACE HALSELL
 Reporter-Telegram Special Correspondent

NAPLES, ITALY — The choppy English Channel made smooth sailing for a Waco man's romance.

The Romeo, Leonard Ray Gill Jr., met his Juliet on the French Riviera — at Nice. It was December, 1950.

She was a native of Belgium, he of Texas.

She, Liliane Molhan, spoke five languages.

And therefore could talk in the Texan's language, for like most Texans, he spoke his own language and thought it good enough for the rest of the world.

Romance ensued. But duty called.

Her vacation ended, and she returned to Belgium.

He was sent to London. There he liked his assignment. "I liked the atmosphere. People were more friendly than most places in Europe. There was more to do."

But still he was lonely.

For two years, he crossed the channel whenever he could, visited Miss Molhan in Belgium.

Then on March 8, 1952, they were married.

And now they are living in Naples, where he is assigned as operations yeoman.

A Waco High School graduate, the yeoman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gill of Waco. He has a brother, Bobby, now in high school, and a sister, Mrs. Joyce Raditz, also of Waco.

He is sure his linguist wife will like Waco—and he says in addition to the five languages she already speaks, she is fast picking up Texan talk, too.

HANDS 'N' FACES

★ DR. JORDAN SAYS ★ Surgery Still Best Cure For Goiter, Gland Trouble Cause

The thyroid is a gland in internal secretion which lies in the front of the neck, sometimes extending down under the upper portion of the breastbone. It does not have a duct or passageway to empty its secretions and therefore its hormone is absorbed directly into the blood.

When behaving normally, the thyroid produces just the right amount of secretion for the needs of the body. Among other things, it helps to regulate the action of other internal glands and also to keep the heart beat regular. If the thyroid gland starts misbehaving it may produce either too much secretion or a secretion which is abnormal.

The result is the development of a condition which is known as toxic goiter of which there are several kinds. Other names for this condition are Graves' disease and von Basedow's disease.

Ordinarily, in a toxic goiter the thyroid becomes somewhat enlarged. The other symptoms vary but the most common besides enlargement are a rapid heart rate, bulging eyes, trembling of the hands, nervousness and loss of weight. Sometimes these symptoms alone are enough to make a diagnosis. Almost always, however, doctors wish to have a metabolism test taken which measures more accurately the degree to which the thyroid is over-active. This is done early in the morning before eating. It is entirely painless.

Discovery Important

Toxic goiter should be discovered as soon as possible before it has produced damage which may be difficult or slow to overcome. The most common form of treatment has been surgery. This involves an operation in which part of the thyroid tissue is removed, leaving only enough to supply the normal needs of the body.

Now some other methods besides surgery have begun to be used for toxic goiter. Drugs of the thioracil family have been used with success in some cases. Radioactive iodine is also a useful medical treatment. Not all patients with toxic goiter can be successfully treated medically, however, and surgery probably will continue to be used for at least some patients for a long time.

Grain Eases Famine

HONG KONG (AP)—Some 900,000 tons of grain, including both 1952 surplus and 1953 early crop, have been moved into drought and flood-stricken areas of China by the Communist government, the Peiping Daily reports.

Mt. Everest, 29,000 feet high, could be submerged in the Mariana Trench, southwest of Guam.

Cherries, Rhubarb Make Good Pie, Jam

"I realize that the wheels of diplomacy move slowly, Mr. President," declared Rodino, "but they haven't been moving at all in the case of John Hvasta. He has a mother and father in my district who are becoming mentally distraught. I am a Democrat, but this isn't a political issue with me. I have appealed to the State Department under President Truman and myself without success.

"Is the State Department supposed to differentiate between our foreign nationals? I have the greatest sympathy for William Oatis and what he has been through, but John Hvasta should not be forgotten by our government because he happens to be the son of a brewery worker in my district. The State Department hasn't even gone to the trouble of finding out whether he is dead or alive."

Eisenhower was so impressed by Rodino's plea that he kept the New

DEEP RED CHERRIES combined with rhubarb in pies and jam is an early summer flavor and color idea from the Pacific Northwest.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
 NEA Food and Markets Editor

Ever try combining plump, dark, sweet cherries with rhubarb? We learned about this delicious trick in the Pacific Northwest, land of fabulous cherry orchards.

The deep red of the cherries and the lighter shade of rhubarb produce pies and jam beautiful to look at and really wonderful to eat. So how about taking advantage of these early summer fruits while they are still in season?

Cherry and Rhubarb Pie
 One pint pitted, dark, sweet cherries, 1 cup diced rhubarb, 2 1/2 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons tapioca, 1 tablespoon butter. Pastry for 2-crust 9-inch pie.

Combine first 4 ingredients and put in pastry-lined pie plate. Dot with butter. Place crust on top, vent and seal. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) for 35 minutes.

Sweet Cherry Rhubarb Jam
 (Makes about 5 8-ounce jars)

One-and-one-quarter pounds dark sweet cherries, 1 pound rhubarb, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 4 1/2 cups sugar, 1 box powdered fruit pectin.

Wash rhubarb, slice thin; cover with 1 1/2 cup sugar and let stand for 15 minutes. Wash, pit and grind or chop cherries fine. Combine fruits and measure 4 cups of fruit into saucepan. Add lemon juice. Measure remaining 4 cups of sugar into bowl, set aside to be used later.

Add powdered fruit pectin; stir constantly until mixture comes to a boil. Add sugar; bring to a full rolling boil and boil for 1 minute. Remove from heat, stir and skim by turns for 5 minutes. Ladle into hot, sterilized jars and seal or paraffin immediately.
