

Texas Scouts See Lamour Hula, Give Her Goat As Prize

JAMBOREE CITY, CALIF. (AP)—This big Boy Scout Jamboree campsite is beginning to look like a suburb of Hollywood.

The stars are moving in and the boys love it. Dorothy Lamour and Jerry Colonna wowed them at a show Monday in one of the campfire areas of this sprawling, 3,000-acre ranch.

The cast for the big show in the main outdoor arena Tuesday night includes Bob Hope, Jeff Chandler, Danny Kaye, Jane Powell, Debbie Reynolds, Tim McCoy and Rory Calhoun.

For a matinee Wednesday the scheduled entertainers include William Holden, Mitzie Gaynor, James Stewart and Bob Williams.

Hula A La Lamour

Miss Lamour made a big hit with a hula dance and songs. After the show swarms of boys followed her, trying to shake her hand.

At one point the harassed actress cried, "Help Help — Girl Scouts!"

Judge Meets Issue Headon

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Federal District Judge John W. Murphy has his own ideas about a jail's therapeutic values.

An attorney for Maurice Rose, convicted of lying before a special grand jury investigating the operation of GI training schools, told Murphy Monday that a prison sentence would affect Rose's health adversely. Rose, he said, has diabetes.

"The last diabetic I sent to prison improved considerably while he was confined," the judge commented. He sentenced Rose to two years in a federal penitentiary.

State Levies 42-Cent Tax

AUSTIN (AP)—The state property tax rate this year was levied officially by the Automatic Tax Board Monday.

It is fixed by law but requires board action to put it into effect.

The rate is 42 cents per $100 valuation state-wide and 72 cents in 19 counties to which a 30-cent remission is made.

Included in the 42-cent rate is 35 cents for the public free school fund, five cents for college buildings, and two cents for confederate pensions. The additional 30 cents in the 72-cent rate is returned to counties where it is collected for paying off indebtedness on flood control projects and the like.

The tax becomes due October 1. It will raise an estimated 26 to 27 million dollars for state purposes. Assessments were figured at $7,277,635,231, up 188 millions over a year ago.

Remission counties include Tom Green and Jefferson (Precinct 2 only).

The board members are Governor Shivers, Comptroller R. S. Calvert and Treasurer Jesse James.

The film, which will be in natural color, will be completed in about one week and within two more weeks will be available for showing at civic clubs and other Midland groups.

The film will be directed by George Sanderson of Dallas and is being filmed here through the cooperation of Police Chief Harold Wallace and the Midland Police Department.

It is sponsored by a group of Midland business firms.

The movie will be made on 16 mm. film and four sets of prints will be available.

Accompanying the couple to Lovington were the bride's sister and niece, Mrs. J. L. Parrish and Imogene Parrish, the bridegroom's parents and an aunt, Mrs. W. H. Guthrie.

30-County Parley On Seal Sale Plans Slated Wednesday

A two-day Christmas Seal Sale conference will be held here Wednesday and Thursday, with representatives from 30 West Texas counties expected to attend.

Mrs. Frances C. Raines of Austin, director of the TB Christmas Seal Sale program in the State of Texas, will conduct the conference.

The Midland County Tuberculosis Association is the host organization for the area meeting.

Mrs. Lennie Davidson, executive secretary of the Midland unit, said the conference will be held in Hotel Scharbauer, beginning at 9 a. m. Wednesday. The sessions will continue throughout the day. A luncheon is scheduled at noon. Group consultations are scheduled Thursday.

Ways and means of staging seal sale campaigns in the most effective and economical manner will be discussed at the meeting here.

The Christmas Seal Sale program is conducted annually by state and local tuberculosis associations.

Senate Leaders Say 'Must' Legislation Faces Rough Going

WASHINGTON (AP)—Despite a promise of Democratic cooperation, some major proposals on a schedule of Administration "must" bills appeared certain Tuesday to face rough going in Congress.

Senator Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Democratic leader, said in an interview that Senate Democrats "will do everything we can to see that the President's 'must' legislation receives consideration in this session."

But it was evident that Johnson shared with some of his colleagues a belief that President Eisenhower will be extraordinarily lucky to get approval of postal rate increases or admission of 240,000 European refugees in time for an August 1—or even an early Fall—adjustment.

Senator Knowland of California, acting Republican leader, said Congress will stay around after the adjournment target of August 1 if necessary to get "must" bills through. But he and other Republican leaders seemingly have no desire to go through any lengthy wrangle over legislation at this stage.

Clark May Attend Son's New Orleans Wedding In August

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The Times-Picayune said Tuesday Gen. Mark Clark, United Nations commander in Korea, may attend his son's wedding here August 3.

Maj. William D. Clark, the general's son, will marry Mrs. Audrey Claire Loflin, an attractive New Orleans divorcee.

The Times-Picayune said it learned General Clark had received permission from Washington to make the trip from the Far East, provided the Korean truce situation permits.

Crude Oil Output In Nation Rises

TULSA (AP)—The nation's daily average crude oil and condensate production rose 32,350 barrels to 6,526,625 during the week ended July 18, the Oil and Gas Journal said Tuesday.

The week's output raised the Journal's figures on cumulative production for 1953 to 1,280,154,300 barrels.

Production was unchanged in Texas at 2,850,425.

Russians Protest Dardanelles Visits By Western Navies

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government announced Tuesday it has protested to Turkey that forthcoming visits of American and British warships to the Dardanelles area are "a kind of military demonstration."

The announcement of the diplomatic protest came two days after publication of Soviet-Turkish exchanges in which the U. S. S. R. renounced previous territorial claims against her southern neighbors.

The latest note listed a scheduled visit of an American fleet to Istanbul July 22 and a British fleet July 27 and demanded "additional information."

Study Club To Sponsor Ballet Movie

"The Red Shoes," a unique film romance in Technicolor, will be shown Wednesday and Thursday at the Tower Theater under the sponsorship of the Modern Study Club.

The movie starts as a backstage story of ballet, centering in a gifted dancer's tragic dilemma, forced to choose between life and art.

However, the center of the film is the production of the ballet "The Red Shoes," based on the Hans Christian Andersen fable of the girl who finally gets the red slippers she craves, only to find that they are bewitched.

A J. Arthur Rank production, "The Red Shoes" includes in its cast some of the world's leading ballet artists, including Moira Shearer and Leonide Massine. Music is by the British Royal Philharmonic Orchestra, with Sir Thomas Beecham conducting.

Princess Margaret Celebrates Return At 'Welcome' Party

LONDON (AP)—Pretty Princess Margaret celebrated her return from Rhodesia by gaily dancing over two London rooftops until 4 a. m. Tuesday.

The occasion was a welcome home party given the 22-year-old princess by the Marchioness of Dufferin and Ava at her tiny Knightsbridge apartment.

Because there wasn't enough room inside for dancing, the marchioness "borrowed" the flat roofs of a house and post office next to her apartment. Workmen erected two giant tents for dancing and the refreshments.

The princess, who had apparently shaken off a cold caught while she was in Africa danced right through the night and outstayed many of the guests.

Missing was RAF Group Capt. Peter Townsend, who was transferred last week to the British Embassy in Belgium. Many Britons think he was sent abroad because, reportedly, the princess wants to marry him.

Bombing Defendant Collapses In Court

HOUSTON—(AP)—A handyman accused of bombing the home of a negro who moved into a predominantly white neighborhood collapsed in court Monday.

District Judge A. C. Winborn recessed the arson by explosion trial until Tuesday. Carl D. Davis, the 51-year-old defendant, was expected to testify.

The ruddy-faced Davis grunted and plopped to the floor in front of the judge's bench as he started to mount the witness stand. He spent 45 minutes in City-County Hospital getting emergency treatment.

Davis and his former employer, George Howell, 56, Houston insurance man, are charged with exploding a dynamite bomb on the porch of the home of Jack Caesar, 39-year-old negro cattle buyer who resides near Howell. Davis claims he undertook the bombing at Howell's direction. Howell, to be tried later, denies any knowledge of the alleged plot.

An all-white jury is trying the case.

Gilmore Reveals How Panic, Fear In Moscow Are Soothed

Editor's note—For 11 years Eddy Gilmore was AP correspondent in Moscow. He married a Russian dancer in 1943 and found out late in the 40's that the Soviet government would not allow her to leave that country with their two children. Only recently this was relaxed, and Gilmore was able to bring his family out. Gilmore is writing about Russia and his experiences. This is the first of four articles.

By EDDY GILMORE

PARIS—(AP)—For the first time in years the Kremlin seems to be showing some concern for Ivan Ivanovich, the average Russian. It's too early to say if this is because the party and the government sincerely want to do something for the people; or because they are afraid of the people, or for both reasons.

But things are happening. And if Georgi Malenkov and the others can hold the galloping Russian troika in the road, and resist going for one another's throats, things are going to continue to happen.

I mean things that will make life far easier for the Russian people. Panic In Moscow Malenkov is pledged to raise the standard of living. The Russian people have heard that one before, but this time the party and the government are behaving as if it matters somewhat, how the people feel about things.

Take the recent city-wide panic in Moscow. I do not believe this story has been reported to the outside world, for the censor was very active with his big red pencil when I left Moscow.

Toward the last days of June the rumor got out in Moscow that the money was going to be changed again. We heard it everywhere we went and it got so serious the foreign embassies sent people out to look around. Moscow had had one devaluation since the war. Czechoslovakia had just had one. It was at the half year, a logical time.

Symptoms Are Same I'd seen devaluation, or reform as they called it, happen before in Moscow. The symptoms were the same. The people knew about several days in advance.

I did some investigating. The subways and the buses and the street cars had no metal money. During the last devaluation metal money was not changed. The people were clinging to it.

The conductors demanded metal money, or refused to give change. The people offered paper rubles, or three and five-ruble pieces. They'd get a ride and some metal money back in change. But the conductors weren't having any. Or they'd simply run out of change. Maybe that was it.

Dr. Feezor Accepts Texas Baptist Post DALLAS—(AP)—Dr. Forrest Feezor, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Waco, Monday night officially accepted the position of executive secretary of the Baptist General Convention of Texas. The announcement was made here by convention officials.

Dr. Feezor, 61, was elected July 10 at a meeting of the Executive Board of the convention.

He will resign as president of the Board of Southern Seminary, Louisville, Ky., and as a member of the Board of Baylor University, Waco. He will assume the duties September 1.

Dr. Feezor replaces Dr. J. Howard Williams, who recently resigned to become president of the Southwestern Seminary in Fort Worth.

It was a panic, all right, and finally the Ministry of Finance had to come out with a communique in all papers denying all idea of devaluation, or a change in the money.

That was a rare step. Under Joseph Stalin it would not have happened. The people would have been left to panic; they didn't matter. But the Malenkov government assured them. Did it have to? Was it having to answer to a public opinion for the first time since Stalin got his steely grip on the nation? Or was it behaving as any normal government would under the circumstances of a city-wide panic?

You guess. I don't know. Stalin's Funeral Then there was the day of Stalin's funeral. The boys took no chances. Hundreds upon hundreds of trucks filled with soldiers moved into the city in the early hours of the morning. They parked bumper to bumper at hundreds of street intersections. To get through was possible only for an officer, gave an order and a truck was pulled out of line. Then it rolled back into barricade position.

Out in the suburbs there were thousands of troops and more trucks. Did the government fear mob scenes? Fear that the Russian people, with Stalin laid away, might revolt, or was the government simply taking no chances? There had been some ugly scenes, scuffles with the police, during the period Stalin lay in state. A lot of people were killed and injured.

Tanks In Suburbs Did Malenkov think that maybe Beria and the political police might try to seize government? The political police were out in numbers, but there were far more soldiers.

Friends of mine told of seeing tanks in the suburbs. After Stalin's death in March, the first big holiday was May Day, always a big affair in Moscow and the other cities of the Soviet Union, but rather hard on a lot of people. For years it had been the custom to hold a military parade in Red Square. Then came a "demonstration of the people." It was about as spontaneous as bugler's reveille. The people from factory, office, department, workshop and collective were told where and when to be present. A check was made to see they were there.

Parade Through Square This entailed standing in line from early morning, sometimes several miles from Red Square, then marching—often very slowly—through the streets to Red Square. Then it meant parading through Red Square and shouting greetings and waving to the leaders atop Lenin's Tomb.

But this year Stalin was inside the tomb. The word got around that this was going to be a people's May Day; that the spontaneous demonstration would be much smaller than in years past; that the party hacks and the factory directors, and the foremen and superintendents, would do most of the standing in line and marching through the square.

And that was what seemed to happen. Released Atmosphere The "spontaneous demonstration" got over hours earlier than those in previous years.

The authorities opened the football season that afternoon, instead of waiting until May 2 as in years gone by. There was dancing in the parks, boating on the Moskva River and a great deal of laughing and carrying on.

I never saw such a relaxed atmosphere in Moscow. The people actually seemed to be enjoying themselves.

Malenkov could make his government more liked if he would do something to cut down the government bite that comes once a year in the form of a "voluntary subscription" to government loans.

The precinct heeleders come around every adult and put him down for buying such and such amount in the government loan scheme.

It naturally is over-subscribed always. This has led to a Russian story: The police found the body of a man in the Moskva River. They searched through the clothes. In a coat pocket they found a government bond.

"There were no other signs of violence," says the story.

Man, Wife Drown In Rescue Attempt

HOUSTON—(AP)—While their three children watched, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Overstreet of Houston drowned Sunday in trying to save the child of a friend.

The Overstreets were visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Wingtons at West Columbia. The group had gone swimming in the Brazos River near there. Jerry Wington, eight, stepped into a deep hole and the Overstreets jumped in to try to save the boy.

The boy later was rescued by his father.

Expert Predicts End Of Drouth This Year

AMARILLO—(AP)—By the law of averages, the drouth should break this year, the regional head of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service said Tuesday.

In a story written for the Amarillo Daily News, Louis Merrill said the drouth is the worst in Texas history from the standpoint of duration, area involved, effect on land cover, persistent high temperatures and scanty effective rainfall.

Merrill based this not on total annual rainfall but on its total effect, including the season in which it fell.

In a survey made some time ago, Merrill said it was found the drouth had set new marks in duration up to 45 months at Fairburn, 43 months at Del Rio and 40 months at Lubbock.

At Haskell, Fort Worth, San Angelo and Big Spring the drouth was two years old. At Amarillo it had been going on 14 months.

Telling of previous Texas drouths, Merrill listed:

The 1885-87 drouth lasted 23 months; according to an account by Dr. W. C. Holden, curator of the Texas Tech Museum at Lubbock.

The 1916-1918 drouth continued almost 27 months at the key locations. It covered a larger Texas area than the 1933-36 drouth, but not as large an area as the current one.

The 1933-36 drouth — "from a national standpoint, this was history's worst drouth," Merrill said.

"You can see the damage done by drouth," Merrill said, "but you can't see it all. It's much more than the loss of crops which have been planted at the cost of labor, seed and tractor fuel. It is more than the declining weight of cattle on parched range lands. The land itself takes a severe beating, especially after tillage has destroyed the residue of past crops.

By the law of averages the present drouth should break this year but failing to do so will mean very severe blowing for unprotected crop and range lands over a very large area of Texas."

Merrill said, "We do not believe there should be a recurrence of the wind erosion damage of the 1930's."

Polio Reaches Epidemic Stage In Virginia Area

BRISTOL, VA. —(AP)— Fifty-one cases of infantile paralysis have been reported in the Bristol area since July 1, and a Southwest Virginia health official says the disease is reaching epidemic proportions.

Doctors are making final arrangements for a mass inoculation of an expected 10,000 children Wednesday and Thursday in Bristol, Va., adjoining Bristol, Tenn., and Washington County, Va., focal points of the outbreak.

Byrd Says Limits On Debt May Force Cut In Spending

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Administration leaders appeared to be backing away Tuesday from any immediate increase in the federal debt limit and Senator Byrd (D-Va.) said today that he will oppose any effort to make sharp spending cuts.

Byrd, who has been consulting with Administration fiscal leaders, said in an interview he has made it clear to them he would oppose any effort to raise the present 275 billion dollar debt ceiling.

"If the debt limit isn't raised, the Administration soon will be compelled to cut spending below the level that Congress has approved," Byrd said. "The President has power to restrict expenditures on a quarterly basis and if the limit is reached, it will have to be done."

The national debt now stands only $2,338,000,000 below the statutory limit, but Byrd said he thinks the Treasury probably will be able to get by until January, without reaching or raising the ceiling.

However, he said that unless the President takes some drastic action to cut expenditures, they will reach 74 billion dollars in the current fiscal year and produce the

Conferees Agree On Flood Control, Navigation Funds

WASHINGTON —(AP)— A $421,686,600 program for flood control, navigation and power projects in the fiscal year which started July 1 has been agreed to by a House-Senate conferees committee.

The agreement, made public Wednesday, still must be approved by the House and Senate. Both have passed bills differing in total amounts by about $7 million dollars.

The conferees virtually split the difference in the two bills.

As passed by the House the bill carried $399,284,100 for the water projects construction program of the Army Engineers. The Senate hiked this to $455,146,100.

The total in the bill, known as the Army civil functions bill, is $444,093,600, compared with $418,391,600 voted by the House and $473,762,900 voted by the Senate.

Witnesses Disavow All Subversive Acts

NEW YORK —(AP)— The Jehovah's Witnesses say they disavow "all subversive movements against the institutions of this world."

A resolution adopted by thousands of witnesses Monday at their New World Society Assembly added that they "cannot promote, approve or take part in any violent overthrow by men of governments of this world."

Some 125,000 witnesses — whose group formally is known as the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society — are in the metropolitan area for the eight-day assembly at Yankee Stadium.

House Votes Repeal Of Movie Ticket Tax

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Senator Milliken (R-Colo.) said Tuesday the Finance Committee he heads will give prompt consideration to a bill to repeal the 20 per cent tax on movie theater tickets.

The measure passed the House by an overwhelming voice vote Monday despite opposition of the Eisenhower Administration. It would cost the Treasury an estimated 100 to 200 million dollars in annual revenues.

Compromise Money Bill Gets Final Okay

WASHINGTON —(AP)— A $5,253,177,964 money bill, a compromise between different versions passed earlier by the Senate and House, was okayed by both branches Monday and sent to the White House.

It carries funds to operate, during the fiscal year which started July 1, the Atomic Energy Commission, the Tennessee Valley Authority and selective service.

Little Men In Green Suits Fail To Keep Appointment

OROVILLE, CALIF. —(AP)— The little men in the green suits with fur collars didn't show.

Here, where Marble and Jordan creeks meet by this small Northern California town, titanium miner John Black and his partner, John Van Allen, waited at 6:30 p.m. Monday.

Here was where Black said they saw the little men climb from their ship, dip some water and then leave on May 20 and again June 20.

A hundred spectators waited. George T. Wolfers, a Milwaukee businessman, was ready to take 3D movies. Al Southern, a Santa Clara, Calif. archer, was set with arrows tipped with suction cups. Photographers stood alert.

But the little men didn't show. Or their ship either.

However, Black's faith was untouched.

"They'll be back... I know... Sometime this Summer."

West Berlin Looks Askance At Russian 'Trade' Offering

BERLIN —(AP)— Soviet Russia countered America's food offer to East Germany Tuesday with the promise of $7 1/2 million dollars in extra victuals and cotton for the hungry satellite—but it was a trade-not-aid proposition payable in manufactured goods.

The Russian agreement, an extension of a previous East German-Soviet trade deal, was made public just one day after President Eisenhower renewed a 10-day old U. S. offer to send 15 million dollars worth of American food to Germany's Soviet zone with no strings attached.

The East German Communist government and Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov angrily had rejected the American offer as a "propaganda maneuver" and said the East Germans didn't need food relief.

New Flood Warning Sounded In Japan

TOKYO —(AP)— Swirling floodwaters receded slowly Tuesday from devastated Wakayama Province, but the Weather Bureau warned of more floods on central Honshu, main Japanese island.

National police reported the toll at Wakayama, 200 miles southwest of Tokyo, has reached 529 dead, 1,238 injured and 2,341 missing.

U. S. and Japanese mercy teams brought in food and supplies for thousands of refugees from the flash floods that thundered down Wakayama's narrow mountain valleys from rain-swollen streams last weekend.

Police tallied up this property toll: 4,104 houses washed away, 1,763 destroyed and 1,680 damaged. Kyushu Island, where a great flood three weeks ago left 700 dead, was hit again by new rains Tuesday. About 15 were killed and 13 missing, police reported.

Poage Says Pioneer Row With CAB Hints Prejudice Involved

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Rep. W. R. Poage of Texas told the House Monday a fuss between the Civil Aeronautics Board and Pioneer Airlines is affecting applications for air service in Central Texas.

Poage said Pioneer has been involved in a controversy with the CAB over the use of certain planes and whether it was entitled to a higher rate of air mail subsidy pay.

"It has naturally been suggested against the management of Pioneer," Poage said, "I have made no charges but the fact is that in every recent decision the action of the board has had the effect of making it more difficult for Pioneer to continue to serve the Southwest."

"Perhaps it just happens that every time a decision is made affecting Pioneer it is calculated to injure the line, but the loss to the communities which should be served by Pioneer is just as real, no matter what motive activates the board."

BUSINESS VISITORS

Mrs. A. P. Arnold and son of Monahan attended to business in Midland Monday.

more food and better working conditions.

Tuesday's announcement of the Russian food offer also admitted the East German government had been forced to call on Moscow for help "several times" to ease food shortages.

The original Soviet-East German trade deal called for Russia to supply 225 million dollars worth of grain, cotton, wool, ferrous and non-ferrous minerals, iron and manganese ore, industrial and road-building machinery, automobiles, modern agriculture machinery and other goods.

March in Silence

In Bonn, the West German government was highly skeptical of the Russian offer.

"It remains to be seen," said a government spokesman, "if Moscow really sends any food or whether this is another paper promise."

In West Berlin Monday night, 5,000 anti-Communists marched a mile in silence to dedicate a memorial to those who died in the June 17 revolt.

The memorial is a 66-foot oak cross erected a few yards from the Soviet tank monument in the U. S. sector.

Two Conventions Hear Midlander

Dr. Henry Schlichting, Jr., returned Monday from Salt Lake City, Utah, and Portland, Ore. In Salt Lake City, he attended the convention of the International Society of Naturopathic Physicians and in Portland the annual meeting of the American Naturopathic Physicians and Surgeons Association of which he is a past president.

Dr. Schlichting addressed both conventions on the subject of fractures and dislocations. In Portland, he also talked to the student body of Western States College of Naturopathic Physicians.

LITTLE BLOWHARD LEARNS TO TALK— Machine Takes Over Home, Winner Of Heated Debate

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK—(AP)—"Little Blowhard," the pet in our family, is four years old and at last is beginning to talk.

Baby talk is bad enough in human infants. In mechanical babies it is sometimes more than a fellow feels able to put up with.

he isn't a person, and certainly he acts more and more like a person as he gets older. One of the big differences between machines and people is that you are supposed to be able to predict better when machines will do.

Room Rent Problem Solved As Motel Bandits Are Jailed

HOUSTON—(AP)—Two teenage Waco youths admitted taking about $80 Tuesday from a clerk at a motel where they had registered.

teen them after paying for their room in advance.

In June he begins to huff and puff, warning up for his battle against the summer heat. By July his metal is in fine fettle, and he is the king of what we call our "keep cool room."

Climber Rescued After Dangling Three Days Over Chasm

CHAMONIX, FRANCE—(AP)—A French mountain climber was hauled to safety Tuesday after dangling for three days at the end of a rope over a dizzying Alpine chasm.

A short time later, the second youth entered the office, bought a package of cigarettes, listened to Mrs. Duke tell about the robbery, and then bought her a cup of coffee from a nearby cafe.

Research indicates too much vitamin D contributes to hardening of the arteries.

Williams' Condition Continues Serious

A. L. Williams, 43-year-old negro, who was shot as a climax to an argument with his wife Sunday, was reported to be in serious but not critical condition at Midland Memorial Hospital Tuesday.

Police found both the youths in their cabin, about 75 feet from the motel office. Police recovered the money and the piece of sports shirt from which the hood had been made.

Offspring of animals fed vitamin A have been born with facial deformities.

Nationalist Invasion Plans In Final Stages

TAIPEI, FORMOSA—(AP)—Chu Chia-fu, a former Nationalist vice premier, said Tuesday preparations for an offensive against the Communist-held China mainland are entering the final stage.

He ordered Mrs. Duke and a porter not to call police for at least five minutes.

It is silly, I suppose, for a man to be jealous of a machine. But "Little Blowhard" will do anything for my wife, absolutely nothing for me. If I turn him off, he keeps blowing cold air. If I turn him on, he sulks in silence, sneering up at me through his little brown ventilator as if to say, "Look at who wants to be air conditioned now! You certainly meet all kinds in this type of work."

Public Speaking Becomes New U.S. Business 'Hazard'

NEW YORK—(AP)—One business hazard nowadays is that almost any day a businessman is likely to find himself standing before some group or other and declaiming: "Unaccustomed as I am . . ."

Often it's a chore—both to the speaker and to the audience. Speechwriting also is becoming a full-time job in some corporations. Reporters, who probably listen to—or at least sit through—more of these efforts than other citizens, quickly learn the signs that the company's public relations man has written the speech.

COP'S TICKET UPSETS MABEL

DETROIT—(AP)—Cab driver Mabel Smith didn't mind getting a traffic violation ticket this week but she is peeved at a couple of errors the cop made in writing it out.

On occasion a speaker may betray that this is the first time he's seen the copy he's reading. It's a bigger surprise to him than to his audience.

Civilization Takes Lipstick To Lapland's Nomadic Lassies

By GODEFREY ANDERSON
KIRUNA, SWEDISH LAPLAND
—(AP)—Civilization has invaded Western Europe's last great wilderness. About 20,000 Lapps, once wanderers with their reindeer herds through northern Norway, Sweden and Finland, now are showing a tendency to prefer nylons, cosmetics and bathtubs.

Increasing number is settling down to regular jobs.

Last Winter Ingerta for the first time in her life moved into a house.

Most of the 800 here in Kiruna, most northerly town of Sweden, work in the iron ore mines, on the railroads, or as fishing and tourist guides.

Their picturesque dress sets them apart from the Swedes surrounding them. Men and women wear colorful knee-length padded coats of bright blue, red and yellow, caught round the waist with leather belts.

Some Lapp tents have a radio. A few have bathtubs, though water must be carried from a stream.

Although many still stick to the hard, nomadic life which sends them wandering in the mountains in search of good grazing grounds in Summer, to the shelter of the stunted forests in Winter, an ever-

Some of the girls use lipstick and go to movies. Their favorites are Westerns with plenty of action.

For Ingerta, as for most Lapps, her economy is built upon her reindeer. Lapps use their reindeer from horns to hooves. They make clothing and bedding from the skins, grind up the bones until they are soft enough to eat, hang out the stomachs to dry and make soup from the clotted blood. The best of the meat is smoked and exported to southern Sweden.

They have discarded woolen stockings for nylons.

Ingerta Blind, a typical Lapp woman, came here from the far north after the grazing gave out for her thousand head of reindeer. Nils Anders Ponga, her 21-year-old nephew, now takes her herd to the mountains in Summer.

For Ingerta, as for most Lapps, her economy is built upon her reindeer. Lapps use their reindeer from horns to hooves. They make clothing and bedding from the skins, grind up the bones until they are soft enough to eat, hang out the stomachs to dry and make soup from the clotted blood. The best of the meat is smoked and exported to southern Sweden.

TOSSED AND GORED—Patricia McCormick, Big Spring's girl bullfighter, is tossed high in the air by a bull in a Baja, California ring. But Miss McCormick, who suffered a severe gash on the leg, came back to dispatch the animal with two sword thrusts.

TV Camera Studies Rock

OTTAWA — Canada's only underwater television camera will be used to study the structure of dangerous Ripple Rock in the Seymour narrows near Campbell River, C. O. Capt. H. R. Smyth, in charge of radio and electrical engineering trials for the National Research Council, will supervise its use during the West Coast experiment.

Ripple Rock has been a hazard to navigators for years, but previous attempts to remove it were unsuccessful due to its peculiar underwater structure and the strong tides surrounding it.

The camera is enclosed in a watertight steel cylinder weighing about 300 pounds. Images picked up by the sensitive camera tube are transmitted to television screens aboard the surface vessel, by means of a coaxial cable. All the camera's operations are guided by remote control.

It has two viewing units—one for underwater observation, and an auxiliary unit fitted with a special movie camera which makes permanent records without interfering with ordinary observation.

JAIL BRINGS 'EM BLESSING

WILMINGTON, OHIO — A hitch in jail proved a blessing in disguise for two men who went broke here while traveling across country to join a carnival.

They were arrested on a charge of entering an uninhabited dwelling. Awaiting trial, they volunteered to do painting jobs at the courthouse.

They proved such good hands that, after they were convicted and put on a year's probation, the county hired them. Now, they are painting bridges and county buildings.

U. S. Population Up To 159,473,000

WASHINGTON — The Census Bureau said Monday the nation's population was about 159,473,000 on June 1.

This estimate indicated an increase of 2,703,000, or 1.7 per cent, in the year since June 1, 1952, and of 8,341,000, or 5.5 per cent since the date of the last census, April 1, 1950.

The estimates all included United States armed forces overseas.

American Wives Overseas Prove Poor Ambassadors

By GRACE HALSELL
Special Reporter-Telegram Correspondent

IZMIR, TURKEY — All the foxholes in Korea couldn't drown the walls of the women who follow their husbands overseas.

"Why don't some American wives learn they didn't come over here for a holiday in the first place," one Turk official asked me.

The women go from beauty shop to bridge table to cocktail party—and for the most part their talk concerns what is wrong with every country but their own.

Most of the wives I've seen make very poor ambassadors indeed.

"Just because I'm blond and attractive and like to wear yellow dresses these men won't let me alone," one American woman said here. "They're beasts, beasts..." she screamed for any Turk to hear.

Admittedly, this blond in a low-cut dress is a type to make another woman turn and stare, much less a Turk who only saw the veil lifted a few years back.

What, No Lighter Fluid
But largely the women are complaining because the PX hasn't stocked any lighter fluid this week, or because they can't find bobby pins or because their maid doesn't speak good English.

Because I have heard these complaints all across the continent, it was refreshing for me to meet up with the Arthur Garzas, young Texas couple with six children.

"When my wife, who does all of her own work, hears these American women over here complaining, she has just one word. 'That's Ha!'" — Captain Garzas said.

His wife adds that most of the women who complain loudest about their maid's shortcomings never had maids at home in the first place.

The former Shirley McGilchry, Mrs. Garzas has a rigid schedule which she follows and keeps her household running. She's up at 6 a.m., cooking her husband's breakfast.

After he leaves for his job at HALFSEE (Headquarters Allied Land Forces Southeastern Europe), she quickly cleans their bedroom, then prepares breakfast for Michael, 11, Patrick, seven, Darryl, three and one-half, and Irene, two and one-half. And while they are eating, she is bathing the baby, Ian, nine months.

When the children are dressed and outside playing, she puts Ian to bed and does the washing.

Saves The Difference
Before his wife and children arrived here, Captain Garzas had hired a maid, but his wife didn't think they should spend the money.

"Let's save it and buy things for the children. Just think of the toys the boys could have, and the new dresses the girls need," she reasoned.

The maid was costing about $25 a month. While Mrs. Garzas is one to do her job with more joy than complaints, the captain, who could wear seven Purple Hearts across his chest, is not one to talk or think much about his World War II (wounded five times) or Korea (wounded twice) experiences.

The Galveston native was in the Philippines, Africa, Sicily, Italy, France, Germany, Austria. In 1950, he went with the 25th Division to Korea.

One wound he received was from a bayonet, which was jabbed into his back and pierced through his chest. "I never thought a cut could do so much damage to you," the captain now comments.

Nerves were shattered on his right side, and the entire right side of his face sagged an inch lower than the other side. Garzas was blinded for a period of time.

Time — and operations later — he is regaining his good looks, and the shell fragments slowly are working out. He sees now, but sun light in one eye gives him a headache. This eye will not open when he lies down.

Despite his scars, Garzas does his work well and impresses one as being happier than the next man.

How To Win Friends
The Texan's job here is manager of Mess and Supply for HALFSEE. He has the responsibility of feeding 237 people—Americans, Turks and Greeks, stationed at this small NATO headquarters.

Turks and Greeks, former enemies, now are working together—to the great satisfaction of the Western nations, but there are some bad memories of the old enmity days.

"I feel that getting people to sit down together over a meal and maybe laugh over one another's jokes will go a long way toward making good friends," Garzas said.

While Greeks and Turks do cooperate and work side by side at HALFSEE desks, the tendency at social functions and at mess is for the two nationalities to separate. Cafeteria-style meals may soon change this.

As this is a NATO, and not American headquarters, Garzas must buy all his food on the local market. He gets nothing from the states.

Just before the Texan went shopping one morning, he picked me up at the Izmir Palace Hotel in his half-ton Army truck.

He had a list of groceries in his hand, just like a housewife going down to the corner grocery.

In the teaming bazaar we stopped first for a cup of Turkish coffee. This is made from a bean so pulverized that half of the small cups of coffee are in powdery—not liquid form.

Garza always buys his coffee at one place, because the man is that unusual Middle Easterner who al-

City Body Shop also specializes in taking the shattered bulks of wrecked automobiles and trucks and restoring them to new "life" and prolonged usefulness.

The firm is prepared to tackle any restoration on a damaged car or truck, regardless of how badly shattered the vehicle may appear to be. City Body Shop features fast service on wrecks.

Anyone who has not seen the "before and after" of smashed up vehicles at City Body Shop would be surprised to see what skilled workmen can do to repair a wreck.

Free estimates on body rebuilding, repairs, or paint jobs can be secured promptly by picking up the telephone and dialing 2-4162, the telephone number of the City Body Shop or driving by the shop, which is located on East Highway 80 just at the edge of the city limits.

Basin Electric Can Install Any Type Of Fixture Desired

The Basin Electric Company, 306 North Weatherford Street, is equipped completely to install any type of electrical fixtures desired in the home or business.

Theron A. Gambin, part owner in the business with Milton Wade, and active manager, reports that the firm recently completed electrical work in 52 houses built by the Hall and Hall Construction Company in the Glenwood Addition in Midland.

One of the large commercial jobs handled by the Midland firm of electrical contractors this year was the contract for wiring the new Fidelity Union Life Insurance Company. At present the Basin Electric Company is working on residential projects for three Midland building firms—Hayes Construction Company, Southwest Estates, and Trueland Enterprises.

The famous Square D electrical equipment is used by the electrical contractors for power panels in commercial buildings. Basin Electric also has started using tough plate wiring, which is very popular because it is on low voltage and eliminates the danger of shock and reduces possible fire hazard to a bare minimum, Gambin said.

Every type of light fixture made is available at the firm, which also handles Sillme Line fixtures, an improvement over the ordinary fluorescent lighting. Sillme Line makes bulbs up to 36 inches long where as Fluorescent bulbs have maximum length of 48 inches, the manager explained.

Free estimates and analysis of electrical needs are available at Basin Electric by telephoning 2-2902, Gambin said. A trained man is sent out to compute the cost of necessary electrical wiring.

The firm also has a display room equipped to show visitors at the main office any type of electrical fixtures desired.

Also offered by the firm is a supply of popular Vent-a-Hoods, which are used to cover kitchen ranges, and aid in eliminating annoyance of grease and smoke.

Judge Orders City's Records Thrown Open

GREENVILLE — (AP) — District Judge Charles L. Berry has directed Mayor of Commerce L. G. Dickson to open city records "to inspection by any and all citizens of Commerce."

Berry's ruling Saturday was asked by W. R. Laitson, publisher of the Commerce Journal, Dickson maintained at the writ of mandamus hearing that city records were open for inspection only at his discretion.

B. and B. still has a plentiful supply of three popular gas heaters.

Butane Service Features Complete Line Of Heaters

Hot water heaters—a complete line in any size desired are a featured item at the B. and B. Butane Service, located at the intersection of Garden City Highway and Cole Park Road.

Another important stock is the supply of tractor conversion kits for West Texas farmers who have decided to convert their machines to the clean, economical butane.

Experienced and trained personnel handle all the jobs done by B. and B. Homer Lanford and Frank Whitley do the installation work. Morris Snider, Midland, and Horace Blocker, Stanton, own the concern.

Snider reminded that B. and B. is equipped to special order and install butane fuel tanks for automobiles, trucks and buses. He reported that many car owners are switching to butane for better mileage and freedom from the annoyance of stopping often to have the gas tank filled. He urged Midlanders interested in butane motor tanks to telephone him at 3-3461 for information.

Midlanders Plan To Attend State Legion Convention

At least five Midlanders will be in Houston July 30 through August 2 for the annual American Legion and Legion Auxiliary department convention.

Legionnaires from Midland who plan to attend included Red Steele, Q. M. "Shine" Shelton, Ben Gay, post commander and W. G. Abbott, past commander and candidate for the State Judge Advocate's post. Mrs. Mary Gay, president of the Legion Auxiliary, and several auxiliary members are expected to make the trip.

"We're allowed to have 45 delegates," Abbott said Monday, "and we hope to have that many from Midland."

Most of the convention, Abbott pointed out, will be devoted to the election of state officers and discussion of post activities throughout Texas. Abbott, thought to be the first Midlander to seek a state office, will campaign for the Judge Advocate's position during the convention.

Topping the list of principal speakers for the event are Sen. Price Daniel, Sen. Lyndon Johnson and Attorney General John Ben Shepperd.

State Commander Albert D. Brown, Jr., of Austin said that this, the 35th annual convention, looms as the largest in the organization's history. Walter Ranft of Houston, general convention chairman, put pre-convention registrations at 6,000 Legionnaires and members of their families.

Paving the way for the convention opening Friday, July 31, will be activities Thursday featuring the 40 and 8, Legion fun and honor society, and its Auxiliary, the 8 and 40.

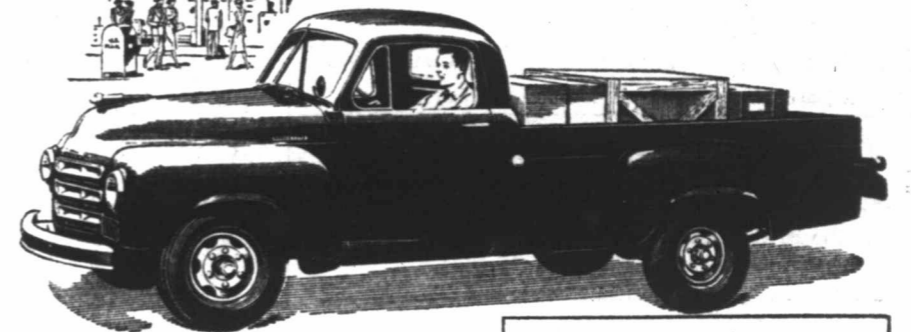

Friday's program will be climaxed in the Municipal Coliseum when bands, drum and bugle corps and color guards from all over Texas vie for state championship honors and the chance to represent Texas at the national convention in St. Louis next August.

Entertainment will include two dances at the Rice Hotel, an outdoor party at one of the city's brew-

Greek King's Visit—Surprised Banker—Post Office Problems—Japs Vs. South Koreans

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The Greeks in Washington are all upset because the month's visit of their tall King Paul and cute Queen Frederika to the U. S. this Fall is being scheduled to allow only one full day in the capital.

As the program now stands, the royal party will arrive in Washington late in the afternoon, giving them barely enough time to do the traditional laying of wreaths at the tomb of the unknown soldier and Mt. Vernon before dinner. There have to be three dinners, which will take up three nights. The first is to be given by the President, and the second by the secretary of State. The third is the return courtesy banquet given by the King and Queen, to their American hosts.

King Paul is a Navy man, so on the second day he wants to go to Annapolis. That leaves only the third day for crowding in all the official receptions, a Press Club luncheon, and the reception for all the people of Greek descent from miles around.

As everyone knows, a Greek festival that doesn't last longer than three days never really has a chance to get started.

Banker Surprised
W. Randolph Burgess, former New York banker who now is deputy secretary of the Treasury, had discovered—somewhat to his amazement—that government employees put in longer hours than private bank employees. He told about it the other day in a speech to the Rutgers University Graduate School.

"Government employees," said Burgess, "work an eight-hour day, and the banks work seven. My secretaries at the Treasury don't get overtime and usually stay until 6:30 or 7 o'clock."

Good Hunting
Gen. Nathan F. Twining, the new Air Force chief of staff, had a narrow escape during the war. A bomber in which he was flying across the Pacific in 1943 was forced down at sea. The entire crew was given up for lost and the search officially ended.

But the search and rescue men of the 13th Air Force, which General Twining then commanded, refused to give up the hunt for their "Uncle Nate." And after five days and six nights they found him. The general had kept himself and his raft mates alive by bagging alba-trousers with his 45.

Roger Kyes, deputy secretary of Defense, was appearing before the House Committee on Government Expenditures, explaining plans for making the sprawling Pentagon more efficient. The chairman, Rep. Clare E. Hoffman of Michigan, scratched a note and passed it to Kyes. The note read:

"Experience shows that the more efficient a man gets in the Pentagon, the shorter is his term in office there."

Secretary Kyes handed the paper back with a postscript which read: "That's all right with me."

Japs-Koreans Don't Mix
The U. S. Army runs into some queer problems in training foreign officers. Typical was a near riot at one of the U. S. training bases when a party for South Korean and Japanese officers was arranged.

It was set up without either group being told the other was to be there. When they met, they refused to shake hands. Nothing but cold stares were exchanged, plus some angry mutterings.

When the commanding officer of the training base arrived, he almost blew his stack. Having served in the Far East, he knew the deep enmity between the Japs and Koreans.

Rob Peter—Pay Paul
Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield isn't getting anywhere fast in his effort to wipe out Post Office Department operating deficits. Recently he got Interstate Commerce Commission authorization to increase parcel post rates by 36 per cent. U. S. railroads then asked ICC approval to increase their pay for hauling the mail by 45 per cent. If granted it will give the carriers an additional $131 million a year, wiping out all but $22 million of the gain.

Two Can Play The Game
Scandinavian countries are experimenting on building up an Arctic big game hunting and fishing tourist business to rival the African jungle safaris. First offer of such a tour calls for flight from New York to Oslo, Norway, and thence to Tromsø, on the north coast.

Hunters there will board a diesel ketch to tour Spitzbergen island and Franz Josef Land, where the sun shines 24 hours a day from April to August. The game is polar bear and Arctic fish.

When movie producer Sam Goldwyn was in Washington he dropped by to congratulate his friend, Oveta Culp Hobby, on her appointment as first secretary of the new Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Although the Hollywood magnate is no lazybones himself, when it comes to work, he was amazed when Mrs. Hobby told him she was working 16 hours a day at her new job.

"She's an intelligent woman!" Goldwyn exclaimed later. Then he added, as though he had forgotten something, "...and a beautiful one."

'Hop And Skip' Showers

Thundershowers — some heavy and some light — are hopping and skipping over West Texas, with Midland and vicinity generally remaining in the "skip" area.

Flashfloods have caused considerable damage in the Abilene and Fort Worth areas, with San Angelo also getting a heavy downpour.

High winds and some rain Sunday afternoon raked the Lamesa-Snyder territory. The Big Bend area also has received scattered rainfall which has greened the mountain country in certain spots.

Most of West Texas, however, remains dry, but hopes remain high as residents scan the partly cloudy skies—hoping beyond hope that the clouds yet will get together to give this region a real soaking.

But as Midland County Agent Charles Green points out, it will take more than a good rain—it will take a good rainy season—to get West Texas back in the normal column. A rainy season can come, too, and now is as good a time as any to start it.

In the meantime, the scattered showers are more than appreciated wherever they fall. Wish we could have more of them.

Meanwhile also, the drought relief feed rolls into various West Texas points and the hungry cattle and sheep must munch on that until the rainy season does come.

Wet or dry, however, West Texas, thanks to diversified interests, remains a white spot in the nation's economic picture as optimistic West Texans continue their march up the road of progress and prosperity.

Yet, everyone will agree that a good, general rain would make the march much easier and much more enjoyable. Let it rain!

WASHINGTON — While McCarthyites have been attacking Protestant churches in the U. S. for being pro-Communist, the Communists have been attacking Protestant churches behind the Iron Curtain for being anti-Communist.

The next day the nurse came to administer the same treatment over again. Taft resisted. The nurse called in the doctors, who insisted. "But I already went through that yesterday, and Art (the nurse) said it was a beaut," protested the senator.

So far, that's all we've felt we should do. But if necessity demands us to go down the road toward a political (Labor) party we'll do it.

Beside the Laughing Water

A Romance by LOUIS ARTHUR CUNNINGHAM

Copyright 1953 by NEA SERVICE, Inc.

Illustration of a man and a woman in a romantic setting.
LILITH felt her heart beat faster as she went with Archer up the wide granite steps into the high doorway of the lovely Gothic building that with five others and the chapel made up the school.

He took her in his arms. . . She had wanted it and loved it, yet—compliments not only to Miss Tait, but to Mademoiselle Leonie Frontin, the French mistress, and Miss Gale and Miss Vance, two very much set-in-the-mould teachers, Lilith knew a blessed feeling of ease and relaxation.

And the spell will stay with you, but you'll find we all do—that you'll get lonely. There will be days when the pull of the old things, the old life, the old land, will be strong.

He looked up at him almost pleadingly. Why had this to happen on such a perfect night? Yet she had known he would kiss her, wondering what his kiss would mean to her.

"I'm afraid not, Archer. I—I don't think it's there for any man. Oh, I'm sorry. I don't want to hurt you."

"Think nothing of it, my sweet." He spoke lightly, but she could sense the bitterness of his disappointment. "Maybe in time you'll learn to assess at their proper value the pure gold of my qualities of heart and mind, the high-carat content of . . ."

"Oh, Archer, I know those things now." "I've known them since I met you. When I'm with you I'm happy—happier, I think, than at any time. But I don't—"

"I know." He sighed. "I don't set any bells to ringing, or fireworks to popping or sweet symphonies to playing. Just good old Archer with you, Lilith; and you're the only girl that ever made me want to ring bells and set off rockets and all the rest of it."

"Let's not talk about it any more, Archer. I'd better be getting back to the school. It was a grand evening, one of the happiest of my life."

AND it had been. Not since the night she had become engaged to Giles Wayland had she known such happiness. She was thinking of Giles—so tall, so strong, so full of life and fire, as they walked up the street and crossed the village green.

There a floodlight still shone down on the war memorial—a huge granite cross, and there was a bronze plaque set in it with the names of those from the village who had died.

She glanced down then idly and the letters of his name seemed to spring at her from the scores of others—

Daddy Ringtail

Daddy Ringtail And Finger Strings

Daddy Ringtail, your monkey friend, met his very old friend, the Shagganappy, down on the Elephant Path. Daddy Ringtail hadn't seen Shagganappy in a long, long time.

At first Shagganappy didn't remember Daddy Ringtail's name. Shagganappy always had trouble remembering things. He had trouble remembering his own name, and where he had been, or where he was going.

Daddy Ringtail sat down on the ground with Shagganappy, all for them to talk over old times together. Shagganappy's own little boy sat down on the ground beside them to listen. There couldn't be much talking of old times, however, because Shagganappy didn't remember old times. "I'm sorry," he said, "But I don't, duh. It's my remember that won't remember." Shagganappy tried to remember and while he was trying, Daddy Ringtail noticed some strings were tied around each of Shagganappy's the other strings on my fingers." Daddy Ringtail looked at the strings on the other fingers. "What are the other strings for?" he asked. "So I won't forget the things I have to do," explained Shagganappy. "This string is for me to stay out of the water, because I catch cold. And this string is for me to look up and down the Elephant Path before I cross it, so I won't get run over. And this string—this string—" The Shagganappy stopped and turned to the little boy. "What's this string for?" Shagganappy asked him.

The boy said: "It's for you to remember to hurry home when it's time to hurry, and it's time to hurry now, and you know what Mama would say if you didn't."

But Shagganappy did not remember just what the mama would say if he didn't hurry home, and so the little boy had to whisper it to him, and the little boy did whisper it to him.

"Help!" cried the Shagganappy, remembering, and away he ran as fast as he could go. Happy day!

Dainty Helicopter Jockey Advises Women Stay Home

By PATTI SIMMONS
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Ever think in the middle of a traffic jam how much simpler life would be if you had invested in a helicopter instead of a car?

Perfect person to burst this theory is a pint-size pilot with big brown eyes named Marilyn Riviere.

According to Civil Aeronautics Administration records, the pretty blonde daughter of former Rep. Joseph Hendrix Himes of Ohio is the only girl in the United States to hold a helicopter instructor's rating.

"A helicopter is more dangerous than an ordinary plane," the tiny aviatrix points out, "and tougher, mechanically speaking, than taking up a jet."

29 Forced Landings
This from a former debutante who tears plane motors apart and puts them back together. She taught Air Force pilots to fly during the last war, and has come through 29 forced landings in regular planes. Currently she has over 100 helicopter hours to her credit.

Why aren't women so hep on helicopters? Marilyn says:

"Handling one is exhausting for a man. Shoving each of the two sticks around is equivalent to moving 15 to 20 pounds of weight and you can't stop your hands and feet to relax, even for a few minutes, as in an ordinary plane. After 20 minutes of flying inspectors have had to lie down and rest."

Don't Bail Out
Landing is tricky. Pretend the field is a crate of fresh eggs and that's the way you set a helicopter down.

When forced to ditch over water, the helicopter manual blithely instructs you to remain seated until the rotor blades on top

He Wins By Losing

WACO—(P)—Waco Liquor Control Board Agent Harry Hubbard's case bumped into him Saturday.

Hubbard started out at 9:30 a.m. looking for a car that was believed being used by bootleggers. He searched all day without success and at 5:30 p.m. started home.

When Hubbard stopped for a red light at a busy street intersection, a car following rammed into the rear of his car. Getting out to survey the damage, Hubbard saw that the car was the one he had been seeking all day.

In the car, Hubbard found four cases of liquor.

OKLAHOMA VISITOR

Mrs. Earlene Loftis, Holdenville, Okla., is visiting in the home of Mrs. Betty Bell, Andrews Highway.

RETURN FROM TRIP

Nadine Smiley and Patty Riley returned Sunday night from a trip to Farmington and Astec, N. M.

of the plane have submerged.

"Few helicopter pilots bother with parachutes," she reveals. "If you bailed out you would probably be caught in the rotor blades."

In an airplane a pilot learns from mistakes. "But one mistake in a helicopter," Marilyn admits, "is more than likely the end of the helicopter."

And, probably, the pilot's last mistake.

Takes Her Money
What gave 4-foot, 11-inch Marilyn a hankering to prove she could handle a 'copter? It was something instructor Albert Luke at Lewis College of Science and Technology in Chicago said to her when he couldn't talk her out of trying.

"All right," he smiled, "I'll take your money. But you'll never learn." Marilyn had to have special foot extensions so she could reach the controls. Today she has a standing offer to go back to this college and teach men how to fly helicopters.

High Cost, Pay

However, there's the little matter of a jet pilot just back from Korea. Her's Capt. Joseph D. Riviere, her husband.

If Marilyn wasn't doing something she feels is a lot more important than flying—keeping house for an 11-month-old son and her pilot husband—she would have no trouble cashing in on her helicopter training.

Commercial jobs, she explains, bring as much as $900 an hour.

However, there are a few discouraging financial facts in the helicopter picture. The initial purchase price is $50,000. Then comes a mechanic at $400 a month, plus WHIRLY-BIRD MOTHER and son Scott, 11 months, do some home flying with a toy helicopter. That's as close as Marilyn Riviere and her pilot husband want Scott to come to flying.

RUTH MILLETT SAYS—

In-Laws Who Visit, Stay All Day Pose Big Problem

A wife inquires: "Why don't you print a letter about the in-laws who are good and kind, but expect to be repaid by spending all their time with their children?"

"My husband's parents have a home of their own, but never spend an evening in it."

"Practically every evening they come to our house and stay until bedtime. My husband and I are so tired of it we don't know what to do. We don't want to hurt their feelings, but I feel they should have enough common courtesy to realize that we would like a little privacy."

"They always say: 'When you folks are ready to go to bed just say so and we will go home.'"

"This has gone on for several years, ever since we have lived near them."

"None of our friends ever come to see us any more and I know it is because we are never alone and we don't feel free to come."

"What can we do about a situation like this? I'm afraid if my husband says anything to them they will feel they are not welcome to."

American Wives—

ways quotes one price—and sticks to it.

We looked next at the vegetables, and the captain, joined by his Turkish lieutenant who met him at the market, purchased tomatoes, green peppers and cucumbers for a luncheon salad.

Rice in the open bins, I noticed, was 15 cents a pound, potatoes five cents a pound.

Vegetables here grow to a size seldom seen anywhere. Even Texas find these products hard to believe.

Tomatoes may be the size of cantaloupes and cabbage grows larger than pumpkins.

Cherries are eight cents a pound; pears about the same and peaches about 15 cents a pound. Watermelons now at four cents a piece usually are midsize—about grapefruit size, but in one part of Turkey they grow almost as large as the facsimile the Weatherford people kept for years on their court-house lawn. (And I personally grieve over Weatherford's removing it when they built those modern roads through the square).

The meats here scare most Americans as they are left hanging in the open, attracting cats and dogs and insects. "But the people don't waste one part of the cow—they utilize every part," Garza commented.

As the Turks do not eat meat like the Americans ("An American complains if we don't serve meat at every meal, but a Turk does not want it over two or three times a week," the captain explained) and because all parts of the cow is sold, meat prices are cheap.

Veal or ground hamburger meat run 25 cents a pound. Lamb is 35 cents a pound.

Feeding both hygiene-conscious Americans and Moslem Turks presents many problems for the Texas boy, who never had any previous training in Meas and Supply.

He can't use lard, (Moslem taboo on this) yet Americans like their food fried, Garza said.

He must cook in olive oil.

Quite A Problem
The Turks won't eat any pork. His butcher, in fact, won't go near a pig. Americans, of course, like bacon or ham for breakfast.

At the same time, Americans are milk drinkers.

But none of the milk is pasteurized here. Doctors advise against it. Therefore, Garza can not serve any dairy products to the Americans.

There is no frozen storage for him to use.

Greeks generally like American type food. Their Greek Orthodox Church does not have any restrictions on what members may or may not eat.

Anyone with Captain Garza's job might be the complaining sort. But not this veteran with the seven Purple Hearts. He's looking on the bright side—as usual.

"I'm glad it's 237 persons instead of just one I have to feed. This way it's easy. If you get too much salt in the stew you can always add a few more vegetables or meat and make it taste good—but this would be hard if you were preparing stew for just one."

When he's through at Mess, he hurries home to help out with home chores. He calls his six children the "troop."
