More shows of gas have been developed at Ashland Oil & Refining Company and Felmont Oil Corporation No. 1 W. D. Wallace, wildcat and indicated flowing discovery from the Strawn in Southeast Sufion County.

Last drillstem test was taken from 6,478 to 6,528 feet. Tool was open one and one-half hours. Gas surfaced in eight minutes. Volume was not gauged or estimated. Recovery was 120 feet of drilling mud with no shows of oil or water.

More hole was being made below 6,612 feet in the Ellenburger.

Location is 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 67, block 14, TW&NG survey.

Caddo Discovery In SW Fisher Is Flowing On Completion Test

B. M. Hester and Son of Wichita Falls and Norwood Drilling Company of Wichita Falls and Midland are taking potential test to complete their No. 1 Gene Dooley, Southwest Fisher County discovery from the Caddo lime of the lower Pennsylvanian.

This new field opener had flowed at the rate of 30 barrels of new oil per hour from perforated section at 6,786-6,802 feet. That interval had been treated with 1,000 gallons of acid.

No Water Shown

The 30-barrel per hour flow was through a one-quarter inch tubing choke. The pay section has not shown any water.

Total depth is 6,812 feet. The 5 1/2-inch casing is cemented at 6,811 feet.

Location is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 176, block 3, H&TC survey. It is three miles northwest of the Claytonville (Pennsylvanian) field and four miles northwest of the town of Claytonville.

This wildcat had flowed at the estimated rate of 50 barrels per hour on a drillstem test at 6,778-6,812 feet.

Three WT Counties Get Locations For New Wildcat Tests

Locations for new wildcat explorations have been reported in three West Texas counties. Drilling is to be started at each of these prospectors in the near future.

In Central-East Crane County, Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 5 Jax Cowden is to be an 11,000-foot project to test into the Ellenburger.

It will be 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of section 25, block X, CCSD&RNG survey. That makes it three miles west of the town of Crane and near the Crane-Grandfalls highway.

In Undeveloped Area . . . The wildcat is six miles southeast of the Block 31 field and it is five miles north of the Crane (Devonian) field.

O. D. Alsbrook of Dallas and associates No. 1 T. S. Riley estate is to be a 12,000-foot prospect in Northwest Gaines County. It is 18 miles northwest of the town of Seminole.

Location is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 411, block G, CCSD&RNG survey. The 12,000-foot objective is calculated to take the tester into the Devonian.

J. M. Hawkins, Trustee, of Midland, No. 1 T. H. Humble is to be a 1,500-foot cable tool wildcat in Southeast Sterling County.

Location is 990 feet from south and 330 feet from east lines of section 30, block 11, SP&R survey. It is three and one-half miles southwest of Broome.

SW Lea Prospector At Total Depth In Wolfcamp, WOO

Continental Oil Company and others were running logs and awaiting orders at No. 4 Anderson Ranch, north offset to the discovery of the Anderson Ranch (Devonian) field of Southwest Lea County.

Drillstem test from 9,961 to 9,914 feet in the lower Wolfcamp developed sulphur water. Tool was open one hour and 50 minutes. Recovery was the 1,000-foot water blanket used and 7,905 feet of oil and gas-cut sulphur water.

Flowing pressure was from 3,675 to 3,800 pounds. Shut-in pressure was 3,950 pounds.

Drouth Feed Restrictions Eased

No Slowdown To Area Feed Troughs Seen

The government feed trough remained open Wednesday to Midland County cattle and sheep.

And it made little difference whether they were born with silver spoons in their mouths or a dried-up mesquite bean.

"We'll go ahead and deliver all the feed that comes in," said Chairman W. E. Pigg of the Midland County Drouth Committee, "until the government flatly tells us not to."

Pigg's statement came as the county group joined farmers and ranchers from other drouth-stricken areas in protesting regulations governing the distribution of disconting feed.

"The Midland County Drouth Committee," Pigg wired Claude McCann of Victoria, chairman of the State Drouth Committee, "protests the finance clause in the government order as being unfair, discriminatory and difficult to administer on the part of local committees and drouth-stricken farmers and ranchers."

"They need help before they go broke, not afterwards," Regulations "Clarified"

The statement was issued after being approved by other members of the Midland County committee. Meanwhile, in Washington, President Eisenhower said the regulations are being "clarified" in instructions to state committees.

Under fire is the so-called "paupers' oath" regulation which provides that feed can be delivered only to farmers and ranchers who are without credit resources.

The regulation, as far as Midland County is concerned, was made known about 18 days too late.

Under instruction from the Department of Agriculture, explained Charles Champion, Midland County Office manager of the Production Marketing Administration, orders for feed began coming in on July 1.

The federal government had just announced that the cottonseed, oats, corn and wheat would be made available at reduced prices to stock-raisers in the disaster area.

"We placed orders for 600 tons of feed on the basis of those requests," explained Champion.

"We have already received 200 tons and 400 tons more are now being shipped."

"If we were to go along on the basis of that finance clause, probably 90 per cent or more of the deliveries would have to be held up. We'd have to store that feed or send it right back."

Champion said 92 ranchers and farmers had requested cottonseed and cake and more than 100 practically every farmer and rancher in the county had requested some type of feed.

"I don't think any of these men have exhausted their credit," he added.

"But without the assistance given by this cheap feed, some of them will have exhausted their credit within a short time."

Naturally, the government feed at the reduced price means a lot to the stock-raisers in maintaining their foundation herds on a profitable basis.

"They can buy cottonseed cake and meal, for instance, for $1.75 for 100 pounds. On the open market, it costs around $3.50."

Similar differences are reported in the price of other feeds, such as oats, corn and wheat.

LAKE CHARLES, LA. (AP)—A flood is forming in the upper reaches of the Sabine River in East Texas, the Weather Bureau said Wednesday.

Armistice Writing Proceeds Despite New Static By Rhee

PANMUNJOM (AP)—South Korean President Syngman Rhee and his foreign minister issued threatening protests in public statements Wednesday against a Korean truce that appeared only days away.

At this truce village, United Nations and Communist staff officers believed to be hammering out a military dividing line worked past Wednesday midnight. They began their unprecedented marathon session at 10 a. m. Wednesday and had taken only short breaks since.

It was learned the new line will show in Communist possession the ground the Reds won in their recent Kumsonng bulge offensive and at Berlin and East Berlin Outposts, wrested from American Marines Monday.

Rhee issued an angry statement, in response to questions by newsmen, that South Korea will give a post-armistice political conference only 90 days to "persuade the Chinese aggressors" to pull back into Manchuria.

"If their efforts fail," the President, 78, asserted, "we shall be at liberty to follow our own course of action."

His foreign minister, Hery Pyun Yung Tal, made an even stronger statement. He said the basis for American-South Korean compromise had been destroyed by the recent secret discussions at Panmunjom.

Pyun, the most violent critic of the armistice terms, warned South Korea would act independently unless the United States repudiates some assurances given the Reds as disclosed last Sunday by the Communists. The assurances opened the way for a quick armistice.

An authoritative source said in Tokyo Wednesday South Korea has been given all the assurances it is going to get, indicating the UN Command will sign a truce as soon as remaining details are worked out.

One of the details is how to handle the Indian troops who will come to Korea to take over from the UN Command the guarding of 14,500 Chinese and 8,000 North Korean prisoners of war listed as unwilling to return to their Red homelands. New Note Dispatched

Rhee's sudden statement came as the U. S. State Department sent a secret note to Rhee. It presumably dealt with South Korea's role in the armistice. Pyun said the note contained "nothing new."

How the Reds will react to Rhee's ultimatum was the big question as staff officers continued work at Panmunjom on final details of a truce. There has been speculation that an armistice would be signed within the week.

Sheriff Plans Fight For Five Patrolmen Discharged By State

Martin County Sheriff Dan Saunders of Stanton made it clear Wednesday that he is not giving up his fight against the dismissal last week of five state highway patrolmen and a motor vehicle inspector.

"I don't know about the county judge or county attorney," he said, "but I certainly am not giving up. I think the boys got a raw deal and never should have been fired. If they were doing anything wrong they at least should have been given a warning."

County Attorney Ralph Caton and County Judge James McMories said Tuesday they were not going to "push" a demand for a public hearing before Director Homer Garrison of the State Department of Public Safety.

"I went to Austin Saturday to talk to Colonel Garrison," said Saunders, "but it didn't do much good."

"Today I'm going to Farwell to talk to Sam Aldridge, a member of the Public Safety Commission. These boys are victims of a political situation and I'm not going to drop it."

The six men were discharged for receiving free meals and other "courtesies" from Martin County.

Chinese Again Hit South Korean Lines

SEOUL (AP)—About 1,000 Chinese Communists, attacking along a one-mile front, Wednesday hit five South Korean positions in the Kumsonng Bulge sector of Central Korea, scene of last week's big Red assault.

The 8th Army said three prongs of the attack were beaten back before dawn. But at the other two points the Reds attacked again after being hurled back. Last reports from the front said sporadic fighting continued.

Elsewhere along the rain-soaked battlefield three dozen or more small-scale fights flared briefly in the pre-dawn darkness.

The Reds struck with small probing jobs at outposts near Lake Geok's Castle on the eastern front, Sniper Ridge on the central front, northwest of Chorwon, and at other points on the east-central front.

All were beaten back in brief rifle and machine-gun battles, the 8th Army said.

Government Moves To Ease Way For Margaret To Wed

LONDON (AP)—The government indicated Wednesday Queen Elizabeth II has given permission to her sister, Princess Margaret, to marry a divorced man.

The man is Group Capt. Peter Townsend, British air attaché at the embassy in Brussels. He is 38, the Princess 22.

The acting prime minister Richard Butler, told Parliament the government proposes to introduce legislation to amend the Regency Act of 1937. A change in the act would make it easier for Margaret if she wants to marry the divorced air hero.

Opposition Leader Clement Attlee asked if the contents of the proposed bill was agreeable to all members of the royal family. Butler said "yes and said the personal feelings of all concerned should be respected by everybody and "the present deplorable speculation and gossip brought to an end."

Under the present act, Princess Margaret would become regent if the queen died before Prince Charles, four, was able to take the throne.

Margaret must have her older sister's permission to marry. She is third in line for the throne. As the Regency Law stands, she would become the regent (acting monarch) if Queen Elizabeth died, or became incapable of carrying out her duties before Prince Charles reached 18.

Butler did not go into details but presumably Margaret's responsibilities as regent would be transferred to the Duke of Edinburgh, husband of the queen.

Supreme Court To Investigate Charges Seeking Removal Of South Texas Judge

AUSTIN (AP)—The Supreme Court agreed Wednesday to investigate removal charges against Judge Woodrow Laughlin of the 79th District in politically-troubled South Texas.

It appointed Judge D. B. Wood of the 26th District as master in chancery to take testimony. Eleven lawyers who practice in Laughlin's district asked the court to oust him on charges that official acts made him unfit.

Among other things they charged he had ordered impounded ballot boxes delivered to the sheriff of Duval County, then a nephew of George Parr, known as the political boss of a large South Texas area.

Eisenhower Still Hopeful, Confident Of Korean Truce

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said Wednesday he still is hopeful and reasonably confident a Korean truce will be signed soon.

The President's statement at his news conference came against a background of deep concern here over new South Korean threats to the conclusion of a truce.

Eisenhower declined to discuss specifically South Korean President Syngman Rhee's declaration that the United Nations will have only 90 days to persuade the Chinese Reds to withdraw from Korea after the signing of an armistice.

Eisenhower said misunderstandings continue in connection with working out an armistice. But he said he still is hopeful and reasonably confident that a reasonable armistice will be signed soon.

He said he was unable to predict exactly when the signing would come.

The President also: 1. Declared American food for hungry East Germans will remain available despite Russia's demands that shipments of the supplies be halted.

2. Called the House Appropriations Committee's billion-dollar aid in foreign aid too heavy.

3. Said he feels in looking back on his first six months in office that progress has been made but that it has not been as fast as he would like.

4. Said he doubts it would be wise to limit oil imports from Western Hemisphere countries, but indicated he might have to consider limiting imports from other parts of the world. He added he was just shooting from the hip on that one.

Living Costs Hit New High

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government reported Wednesday that rising food prices forced living costs to a record high between May and June.

Besides higher food costs, canceling out most of the grocery store price declines which took place earlier this year, price boosts were reported for housing, medical care and such things as cigarettes and beer.

The Index of the Bureau of Labor Statistics rose four-tenths of one per cent between mid-May and mid-June. This put the index at 114.5 per cent of the 1947-49 average.

This means that the consumer paid in June almost $1.15 for what he could buy for a dollar in the 1947-49 period.

Up to now, prices have remained fairly stable since President Eisenhower ordered government controls abandoned on prices and wages this year.

Wednesday's index, because of the statistical work required, reflects living costs for mid-June, a month ago. Prices since then, if anything, have moved upward.

Living costs, as measured by the government index, reached their former peak last November under Truman's Administration when the index was 114.3 per cent of the 1947-49 average.

Shivers Says Pauper's Oath Not Required

AUSTIN (AP)—Governor Shivers said Wednesday no pauper's oath or similar statement will be required of Texas farmers and ranchers who need drouth relief to maintain their herds.

Shivers said he had this word by telephone from Secretary of Agriculture Benson at Washington Wednesday morning.

Shivers said he believed those who had interpreted federal rules on eligibility for drouth aid feeds as requiring paupers' oaths or financial statements had misinterpreted the rules.

Benson told him the rules meant what they said in giving local drouth relief committees wide discretion in deciding who gets the cut-rate feedstuffs being made available under the federal program.

Shivers telegraphed President Eisenhower Tuesday, telling him of many protests in Texas over the regulations handed down to local committees, and asking the President to get them clarified.

His request resulted in a telegram Wednesday from the President to Shivers advising that the regulations on drouth relief were being "clarified." The message did not explain the clarification.

"No Such Oath" White House Press Secretary James Hagerty, who made the President's telegram public, said neither the White House nor the Department of Agriculture knew anything about such an oath as the cattlemen protested, and that as far as they were concerned it did not exist.

"I know of no such oath," Hagerty said. "No one in the department knows of such an oath. These (Continued On Page 12)

More hit and run thunderstorms may fall in the Midland territory late Wednesday.

CAA observers in El Paso predicted additional showers of the variety which played around Midland Monday night. Wind velocity isn't expected to rise above 15 miles an hour.

Light, scattered showers dotted the Permian Basin Tuesday night. The long range forecast calls for continued scattered thunderstorms for West Texas through Sunday.

Violent electrical storms hit Mount Pleasant and Garland as occasional rain drifted over North Texas. Telephone and electric lines were damaged. Mount Pleasant had 2.51 inches of rain in about an hour and Garland gauged 1.04 inches.

Llano County reported 2.5 inches of rain Tuesday.

The court refused to throw out the ballot box allegations, and the charge that Laughlin had obstructed the Floyd investigation, and that he had dismissed 68 Starr County indictments, including 60 based on allegations of fraud and irregularity in the July primary.

Also slated for further investigation was Laughlin's exchange of benches with Judge E. D. Salinas of the 11th District for trial of two criminal cases involving Laughlin.

Ohio's Housing Experiment

It's amazing, even shocking, that wealthy as we are as a nation and as advanced as we are in many ways, the home conditions under which many of us live are so backward.

For instance, about 20 per cent of the average city's residential areas are slums. A great many of us, perhaps most of us, go through our entire lives without ever knowing at first hand what those slums are like.

Not only that, but few of us realize that not only are we ducking a great social responsibility by allowing slums to exist—we're also guilty of incredibly bad economics.

Figures of the Federal Works Agency show that 45 per cent of city service costs are poured into slum areas, whereas only six per cent of tax revenues are derived from those sections.

In view of these lamentable facts, it's good to see what they're doing in Columbus, Ohio.

The Farm Bureau Insurance Companies, a cooperative farmer group which has amassed more than $138,000,000 in the insurance business, is laying out $30,000,000 of it to build a dream town two miles outside of Columbus.

It's to be called Lincoln Village, for Farm Bureau President Murray Lincoln, who developed the idea, and it won't be just another subdivision, but a complete community—homes, stores, factories, parks, everything.

There have been many other similar communities in various parts of the country—government-built Greenbelt in Washington, D. C.; Levittown, on Long Island—but they weren't complete. That is, people's jobs and their homes weren't brought together.

Of the 1,170-acre community tract, 550 acres will be for light and heavy industry. Already, General Motors has a big factory alongside the development, and Westinghouse is putting one up.

The convenience of factory workers being able to walk to work in 10 minutes or so almost makes the project worth while in itself.

But that's not all. The whole community will be centered around the school. It will be located on a 20-acre tract, providing for large playgrounds and a wooded park.

Wide buffer strips of trees and bushes will separate home areas from factories, stores, and the railroad which passes nearby. Streets will be winding instead of laid out in monotonous squares.

As far as possible, homes will be of different size, shape, and cost, to prevent the sameness which characterizes so many mass-dwelling communities.

All in all, the Lincoln Village experiment sounds like something we need more of. It doesn't wipe out slums but it certainly helps balance the scales toward better living conditions generally.

"May I Have Your Autograph?"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1953, By the Bell Syndicate, Inc.) Drew Pearson says: Fine feathers fool senators hearing Yakima Indian plea; New SDPA boss launches strong fight for small business contracts.

WASHINGTON — The Senate Appropriations Committee was so dazzled by the feathers and trappings of a recent witness, Chief Rising Sun, that the senators listened solemnly while he pleaded the cause of the Yakima Indians—without once suspecting that he wasn't an Indian at all, but an overdecorated, negro ex-bellhop.

The big chief, whose Senate performance got him a full-page performance with feathers bristling in Life magazine, is otherwise known as Almon Ira Lucas. His birth certificate shows that he was born Nov. 11, 1878, of negro, not Indian, parents.

How he happened to show up in the Senate in chief's headress and Indian costume as spokesman for the Yakima Indians is something the Yakima Indians would like to find out. Actually, the Yakimas have a problem at their happy fishing grounds back in Oregon.

Somehow Lucas heard about this, and offered the tribe his services. He proposed organizing a mass meeting in Washington and another at Madison Square Garden in New York to protest the dam construction.

The next thing the Indians knew, Lucas was prancing in front of the Senate Appropriations Committee as Chief Rising Sun, dramatically denouncing the Dalles Dam.

The senator who arranged Lucas' appearance, it turns out, was California's sympathetic Bill Knowland. Apparently some of his staff members were impressed with the big chief's fancy feathers.

Little Business Fight It never was supposed to get out of the files, but a confidential memo telling how the Small Defense Plants boss, William Mitchell, has been clamoring for 35 cents out of every procurement dollar to be spent on small business contracts.

Mitchell marched straight to the Pentagon and presented his demands to the director of Small Business, Richard Lennihan, and his assistant, Leonard Ethridge. Afterward, Mitchell dictated a memo, marked "restricted to administration's office," reporting on the conversation.

"Ethridge broke 'in, saying 35 cents too high," Mitchell recounted in the memo. "I rejoined that maybe so, but we were a 'helluva' long way from it with the present figure of 15 cents; I was alarmed that the percentage had declined from around 22 to 15 cents in the five or four months prior to my taking over; that we had to insist on an upward trend starting very soon."

Mitchell also tried to smooth out friction between the Pentagon and his Small Defense Plants Agency. He reported in his confidential memo: "Lennihan mentioned certain frictions between his office and SDPA and told of letters written his office and others needing and yipping. Told him my mission was dignified; I report to President; I don't like petty things; our dealings would be on high plane; bound to be differences—perhaps strong difference—which would be approached on 'mutual respect' basis; I had job to do and powers given by Congress."

Mitchell concluded with the notation: "Gave impression—firm all way through—that I was not going to allow myself to be 'layered'—I was going to deal so high up the line as protocol permitted—to do an effective job."

Washington Whirl Mystery man Henry Grunewald claimed his heart wasn't strong enough to testify before Congress, but the other day he was ejected from the Wardman Park Hotel for throwing lamps, tumblers, and bric-a-brac in a boisterous celebration in a lady's room.

Not widely known outside his native state of Virginia, where he is an investment banker, the 60-year-old Robertson is a somewhat unusual figure in Washington. He is a Democrat—an Eisenhower Virginia Democrat, that is.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

"I take off my hat to a play like that," said Hard Luck Joe. "I don't enjoy being set, but I don't mind losing to a really fine play."

North-South vul. card game results. NORTH: ♠ 93, ♥ K94, ♦ K109, ♣ J10763. WEST: ♠ J4, ♥ 102, ♦ 86532, ♣ K984. EAST (D): ♠ KQ7652, ♥ Q87, ♦ 74, ♣ AQ. SOUTH: ♠ A108, ♥ J653, ♦ AQJ, ♣ 52. Opening lead—♠ J.

defenders deserved credit, to be sure, but Joe should have made his contract.

West opened the jack of spades, and Hard Luck Joe, playing the South hand, won immediately with the ace. He returned a spade, planning to ruff a third spade in the dummy.

East won the second round of spades with the queen and saved declarer the trouble of leading the suit a third time by returning the king of spades himself.

At this point, the contract was unmakeable. East had a neutral trump trick even though South properly finessed the jack of hearts.

Of course you have seen by now how Joe should have played the hand to make the contract. If not, work it out for yourself before you read on.

South should plan to ruff his third spade in the dummy, but should guard against exactly the sort of play that defeated him.

In order to time these plays properly, South must refuse the first spade trick. He wins the second spade with the ace, takes the king of hearts, and then finesses the jack of hearts.

Q—The bidding has been: North East South West 1 Diamond Pass 1 Heart 1 Spade Pass Pass.

You, South, hold: Spades 9-4, Hearts Q-J-7-6-3, Diamonds A-9-4, Clubs Q-6-3. What do you do? —Big two diamonds. There is probably no game in view of the fact that your partner could not bid freely. Nevertheless, your side can probably make a part score at diamonds or hearts, and there is little danger of pushing the opponent to a makeable game in view of the fact that your partner has an opening bid and you have nine points in high cards.

Beside the Laughing Water

A Romance by LOUIS ARTHUR CUNNINGHAM

THE STORY: Little Gremse came to Canada to teach because she wanted to forget those war days in London when she loved a man who was killed. Edger, her school teacher, who she once loved, was the man who was killed.

FOR a long time, there in the quiet of the village common, Lillith stood looking with eyes that presently saw only a blurred jumble of letters, at the stark inscription that was all Ashtondale had now of the boy who had walked its lanes and gone to its schools and played on its greenward where now a tall gray granite cross stood to commemorate him and the others who had gone from these peaceful places.

"They shall not grow old—" She saw the inscription now as her vision cleared, and she thought of Giles Wayland as she had seen him last, not in that sick, hurried glimpse of him in the window of Westerman Mews, but a week before when they had danced together in a London club.

It seemed like every sailor on the ship came down to take a look at her. They didn't say a word. They just stared.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

Walter Robertson—Is Man To Watch In U.S.—China Affairs

By PETER EDSON NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Walter S. Robertson, assistant secretary of State for Far Eastern Affairs, returns to Washington something of a hero.

He apparently has persuaded Korea's President Syngman Rhee to accept a cease-fire agreement with the Communists, although the exact terms of this acceptance may not be made public. This is to save President Rhee's face with his own people for having to bow to the inevitable.

There remains, however, a six months' period of watchful waiting with fingers crossed, to see if the proud old patriot and father of his country will stick to the bargain he made with Secretary Robertson.

There remains, also, this same six months in which it will be seen whether the United States lives up to its share of the bargain. The fact that Congress may adjourn before any mutual defense treaty with the Koreans can be ratified is not considered too hopeful a sign.

Secretary Robertson, with great patience and tact, did the best that could be done under the circumstances. He salvaged the most that could be got out of an impossible situation.

"Eisenhower Democrat" Not widely known outside his native state of Virginia, where he is an investment banker, the 60-year-old Robertson is a somewhat unusual figure in Washington.

He was a wartime American diplomat in China. When he quit in 1946 he had risen to be minister-counselor in Nanking. He was charge d'affaires in periods when the U. S. had no ambassador in Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist capital.

To cap all this, Robertson was principal aide to Gen. George C. Marshall when he was postwar ambassador to China. General Marshall chose Minister Robertson to head up the three-man truce teams of American, Chinese Nationalists and Chinese Communists who tried to work out a coalition government for China.

Records such as this have come near ruining the careers of numerous American diplomats. Anyone who had anything to do with China during the period of Nationalist and Communist takeover has been suspect in the eyes of many Congressional investigators.

The interesting question is how did Robertson go through this same mill, survive, and live to come back strong as the head of Far Eastern affairs in a Republican Administration dedicated to change past policies and reverse the trend of history in that area?

There is no question about Robertson having given loyal service to General Marshall while he was ambassador to China. The general's orders and the policies of Washington at that time were carried out faithfully.

Robertson was not, however, a career Foreign Service officer and diplomat. He had been a second lieutenant pilot in World War I. He was too old for the Air Force

But she wondered what they were like—Avis and the boy and girl, perhaps some brothers or sisters. There had been at least one brother, she knew—Gavin, who had been a war correspondent. But she had never met him.

SHE awoke to a world of beauty, dew-sparkling, with white mist in the hollows and over the river where it was already tinged with gold and melting away in the sunlight. She went to her window and looked out on the lawns and gardens, and gave only a warm and happy thought to the granite cross on the common— "They shall not grow old."

"In a gray skirt and pale blue jumper she went down to join Miss Tait and the three others who had been there last night, and one new one—a dark, lovely girl with a madonna face but with eyes that were deep and wise and mocking, eyes that took in every detail of Lillith's form and dress in one long lazy look.

"This is Miss Lillith Gremse, our new English teacher," Miss Tait's long hand rested lightly on Lillith's arm. "Meet our art director—Avis Wayland—"

Lillith found herself looking as one hypnotized into those great eyes that were like pools of ebony, into the almost too perfectly boned face, at the full sultry mouth.

"How do you do?" Her voice was throaty, slurred, languid. "I'm sure we're glad to have you. You're going to direct dramas too, aren't you?" The eyes narrowed with faint amusement and Lillith knew that she was not at all taken in by the severe hostility, the horn-rimmed glasses, the absence of make-up. "I should think you'd be good at that."

And with this little carbed shaft—sort of a tracer—she turned to Miss Vance and began to discuss some local artists in her lovely deep voice, lightly tearing them to shreds and reducing them with a few choice sentences to the status of house painters.

Lillith found herself mechanically eating breakfast.

RUTH MILLETT SAYS—
When Wife Goes Calling,
Meals Should Be Planned

I heard about a man who invited his poker-playing pals over for dinner one Saturday night when his wife was out of town.

Expecting cold cuts and doughnuts, the men were more than amazed when they were served the kind of meal they would have gotten if his wife had been at home—fried chicken, hot rolls and cherry pie.

The host let them worry awhile over how he had managed it all before he confessed. His wife had prepared the whole meal and put it in the freezer along with written instructions for warming the meal in the oven.

It's usually something like that when a family is able to manage as well with Mom away as without her supervision for three days. Before she leaves she will have seen to it that the house is in apple-pie order. Clothes for each member of the family will be cleaned and ready to wear. The cupboard will be stocked with food, all errands run ahead of time, and probably the neighbors will take care of a few items.

Gets Everything Ready
A wife will spend a week getting things all set to leave her family

Then having planned and worked for a week to get everything well organized the family can get along without her for a few days. When she comes home at the end of her vacation to a cluttered house and a happy and welcoming family she will have to hide a smile. They are proud they were able to get along so well without her.

How they were able to do so is the secret that nobody realizes.

B&PW Club Has Annual Picnic, Plans Activities

The annual picnic of the Business and Professional Women's Club was held Tuesday in the home of Mrs. D. E. Gabbert, 1306 West Louisiana Street.

It was the first meeting of the new club year. During the brief business meeting, reports on the state convention held in June in San Antonio were given by Mrs. Elsie Cole.

Activities Planned
Members also made plans for future activities which include the District Eight conference to be held September 19-20 in Monahans. Approximately 25 members of the Midland club will attend.

It was voted to invite the District Eight conference to Midland for 1954 and to present the name of club's past president, Cordelia Taylor, as a candidate for district director for 1954-55.

Mrs. J. C. Atkinson, president-elect, and Ruth Donnell, president, were named as delegates to the regional convention which will be held in October in Houston.

Joan Easley, chairman of the finance committee, gave a report on the fund raising project for the new building for the Midland Woman's Club, Inc.

Project Announced
The club will sponsor the presentation of the Turnabout Theater in October as its first project of the new year. There will be an afternoon performance for children and a performance for adults in the evening. Further plans will be announced at a later date, officials said.

Hostesses for the picnic were the officers and committee chairmen. Sixty-five members and guests attended.

Daddy Ringtail

Daddy Ringtail And The Missing Man

Old MacDonald has a farm, but he wasn't on it. He wasn't anywhere that Daddy Ringtail could find him. Mugwump couldn't find him either.

They looked down by the barn where the cow was. They looked over by the pig pen where the pigs were. They looked around in the orchard where the chickens were scratching for bugs to eat. Old MacDonald wasn't there.

Daddy Ringtail walked back up to the farmhouse. Mugwump went along with him. They were worried for Old MacDonald.

"Yes," Daddy Ringtail said in a serious voice, "Old MacDonald is a missing man."

Those were sad, sad words to say and hear, but sadder still were the words that were written on a piece of paper they saw just then on the door. The paper was torn, but the writing on it was from Old MacDonald.

The paper said: "Dear Daddy Ringtail, You will never see me again."

"Oh, oh," said Mugwump, because he was sorry to hear that Daddy Ringtail would never be seeing Old MacDonald again.

"Oh me and oh, my, my," said Daddy Ringtail, because he was very worried about it all.

'Oil Racket' Probe Slated In Oklahoma

DUNCAN, OKLA.—(P)—District Judge Arthur Marmaduke Tuesday ordered a grand jury to convene here August 10 to investigate a reported million-dollar "hot oil" racket in Southern Oklahoma.

Stephens County citizens had circulated petitions demanding the investigation. Officers estimated some 200,000 barrels of crude were being stolen from tanks and wells in Stephens, Garvin, Carter and Tillman Counties and sold to refineries in Oklahoma and Texas.

State Crime Bureau Chief O. K. Bivins said five arrests already had been made.

Gilmore Bares Uncensored Story Of Dictator's Death.

Editor's Note—This is the second in a series of stories by Eddy Gilmore, who spent 11 years in the Soviet Union as a correspondent of The Associated Press. He now is enroute home to the United States.

By EDDY GILMORE

PARIS—(P)—It was early that March morning when the telephone rang, and the Russian voice said: "Mr. Gilmore, I should tell you that we will have a press release in a short while announcing the serious illness of the chairman of the Council of Ministers, Comrade Joseph Stalin."

The telephone call was from Tass, the official Soviet news agency. I slipped by trousers over my pajamas, grabbed my fur hat and ran for the telephone office—and the censor.

Stalin—and the Stalin myth—were dying.

I never saw so many people on the streets as came out during Stalin's illness. They were knotted in little groups reading newspapers and muttering to one another on the streets and in the subways.

Then the death that came as no surprise. And still more people. They stood in line all night long. Some showed what I suppose was natural grief. Only those were allowed to write about. The thousands upon thousands of the just plain curious we couldn't mention.

Hundreds Injured
Other thousands, never allowed near Stalin when he was alive, jostled one another, jammed the streets and squares for a chance to walk through a hall and stare at the strange corpse of this man who'd controlled their living and their dying.

People were injured by the hundreds. Some were smothered and some were knocked down and walked over until the life went out of them. And all the time the long lines moved past the corpse to music played by perspiring musicians. The mobs got out of hand sometimes. In one side street I saw the mounted police charge them with batons. But they kept coming back, pushing the breathless to walk past the body.

I almost forgot there was such a thing as sleep. We lay down on tables, on chairs, in the back of automobiles, and we wrote thousands of words, some of which I would like to think were not useless.

Rumors, Stories Fly
Did death come to Joseph Stalin as they said—from a collapse of the heart—with a squad of Russia's best doctors marshaled around his bed in the Kremlin, doing everything they could to save his life?

Frankly, I don't know. I know only what I saw.

Rumors and stories flew around Moscow as thick as the droves of black crows that cloud the Muscovy skies in Wintertime. There were reports that he was murdered. Stories that this wasn't Stalin at all. Reports that he already was dead when the first news of his grave illness was announced.

Again, I just don't know. But from what I saw, it seems reasonable that things happened about the way the official story was told.

During the days they said the "Man of Steel"—a name he gave himself by the way, for he came into this world with the good Georgian name of Djughashvili—was dying, I passed the Kragalin many, many times.

I went by its closely guarded gates at midnight and high noon, in the mornings and in the afternoons and in the later Winter twilights.

Ambulances, First Aid Cars
There was always a great coming and going of automobiles at the two traffic gates of the Kremlin—the one that leads into Red Square and the one near the Moskva River, a few hundred yards from the Ministry of Defense.

On numerous occasions there were ambulances among the cars rushing in and out of the gates. Several times I noticed small first-aid cars carrying what certainly looked to be oxygen tanks. And I saw solemn-faced men and women dressed in white who looked to be nurses. I can't say the men were doctors, for if there's any distinguishing look about a Russian doctor, I don't know it.

I saw Marshal Voroshilov on one occasion. My car was standing before a red traffic signal when his long, black ZIS (literally, factory in the name of Stalin) rolled slowly past. He just looked like Voroshilov as I'd seen him so many times; there was no sign of emotion.

Procession Ends
On another occasion I recognized Lazar Kaganovich, highest placed Jew in Russia. But I was more interested in the procession—and it was almost that—of ambulances and medical cars.

As long as they kept coming and going it was reasonable to suppose Stalin was alive.

Then one day I didn't see any of them.

Early the following morning they announced the death of Stalin, the man of—so many myths, the imperishable, the everlasting, the perpetual. The leader and teacher. According to propaganda, the wisest genius of all time.

His body was to lie in state—but not for long—in the Hall of Columns, in the House of the Trade Unions. Oddy, perhaps, in this building where the great purge trials were held.

The American Embassy at that time was located between the Kremlin and the Hall of Columns. The people there had a first-hand view of traffic along the streets—almost deserted by now, for the authorities had closed them to ordinary traffic and the people and the police were out by the thousands.

An embassy friend saw me on the street.

"They've carried the body over," he said. "We were amazed. It wasn't any huge and shiny ZIS, or any super-plus hearse. Just an ordinary looking closed body truck. It was blue."

"Are you sure?"

"Of course," he said. "It came slowly up past the stables (the old czarist stables now used as a Kremlin garage), past the embassy, and they took out the coffin."

"Who's they?"

"How would I know?" he said.

"Seven or eight guys."

Seven or eight guys. An ordinary truck. What was happening?

The doors to the Hall of Columns were opened shortly after that to an amazing spectacle.

The yellow corpse in the fawn-colored semimilitary jacket. His hands stretched out stiffly, parallel with the length of his body. The rouged cheeks. The enlarged nostrils of the dictator as you looked at him from the position of his feet.

Those surprisingly delicate hands and tapered fingertips.

They See For Themselves
The almost scornful look of this very tough man, a look taken into death. His decorations lying on a silk pillow at the lower end of the coffin. The wilderness of flowers, some real, some artificial. The ebb and flow of stringed music sawed out by sweating and slightly bewildered musicians. The searing, dazzling arc lights. The pinpoint spot lights. The high whine of movie cameras. The slug, slug, slug of thousands of pairs of feet passing by the tier. A tear or two.

And hundreds upon hundreds of curious stares from the Russian people who couldn't get near this man when he was alive. Now they could, providing they had the strength and courage to stand long hours in long lines. For the great leveler had come by. And they saw for themselves that Joseph Stalin died just as other mortals do. A man's life had ended, and an era had ended.

Bricker Declares Intention To Fight For Treaty Curbs

WASHINGTON—(P)—Senator Bricker (R-Ohio) said Wednesday he will "slug it out" with Administration leaders in an effort to force adoption next year of a proposed constitutional amendment to limit treaty powers.

Bricker said in an interview he had told Secretary of State Dulles and Attorney General Brownell at a closed meeting of the Senate Republican Policy Committee Tuesday he knew the Administration could prevent him from getting the necessary two-thirds Senate vote for approval of his measure in this session.

"The Administration has the jobs to give out and they can get one-third of the Senate to go along with them now," Bricker said. "But after some of these senators hear from the country, it may be a different matter next January."

Oxnam Cleared Of Red Tinge But Other Clergymen Accused

By ED CREEGH
WASHINGTON—(AP)—The House Committee on Un-American Activities voted Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam a clean bill of health early Wednesday so far as any record of Communist party affiliation is concerned.

But a grueling, sometimes short-tempered hearing that dragged on after midnight brought charges by some members that the Methodist clergyman's zeal for social reform—plus what one congressman called "muddled thinking"—had led him into suspicious company.

And Chairman Velde (R-Ill) said it was "impossible to make any definite conclusions" until the bishop has submitted further information he promised.

Double Yolks Bring Texas Egg Bonus

DALLAS — Mrs. Zada Thomas says an appreciative hen is giving her a bonus in eggs. When Mrs. Thomas disposed of her flock she retained the hen, a good layer. She says the hen soon started producing eggs with double yolks every other day.

ABILENE — Two wildcat kittens and a mockingbird are keeping things busy around the A. Julian McDaniel home. The seven-week-old sisters are being raised by McDaniel who got them from a brother in New Mexico after their mother was killed.

Three West Texas Cities Yield Eight Narcotics Suspects

LUBBOCK — Officers made narcotics raids in three West Texas cities Tuesday night and early Wednesday in what they called "another chapter in our fight to track down the dope distribution traffic spreading from Mexico to the United States."

McDaniel says the mockingbird has taken to perching on a post in the backyard where the kittens are kept and imitating them to a yowl.

LONGVIEW — A man illegally tripped a parking meter in Longview "to save a nickel." Police pointed out he could have parked a thousand times for the fine—450.

Eight persons were arrested in Lubbock, Slaton, and Odessa and charged with possession and sale of marijuana. Six negroes were arrested in Odessa, one negro in Slaton and one Latin American in Lubbock.

DALLAS — Police are trying to find the latest candidate for "meanest thief"—a woman who invited a 55-year-old blind matron to her home for a meal of cornbread, greens and buttermilk, charged her guest 75 cents for the mealless fare, then stole $10 pension money from the sightless woman's purse.

Similar charges were filed against two Latin Americans held in the Lubbock County jail in lieu of $5,000 bond each on previous narcotics charges. Officers said it was believed the eight arrested Tuesday night were distributors for one of the men held in jail.

DALLAS — Weldon B. Potter, 28, failed to convince a jury when he testified he walked into a jewelry store with a mask and drawn pistol just to frighten the proprietor. He was convicted of robbery and given a 15-year sentence.

* DR. JORDAN SAYS *

Household Pets Are Not Likely To Cause Disease

In a recent letter Mrs. J. D. says: "Can children contract worms from pets? Our cat has worms, for which we are doctoring him, but the children played with him before we knew about it. Is there any chance that they may acquire these worms?"

These are indeed interesting questions. First it must be said that although cats as well as many other animals are quite susceptible to various kinds of parasitic worms, most of these do not cause disease in human beings. It is known, however, that various kinds of ringworms can be contracted from cats, and occasionally cats harbor intestinal worms which are able to attack human beings. It is possible, then, though not probable, that Mrs. D's children could become infected with worms, particularly if they were in the habit of kissing or nuzzling their pet.

Another disease which cats can occasionally transmit to human beings is known as cat scratch disease, or cat scratch fever. Rabies or hydrophobia has been found occasionally in cats, and a cat stricken with this disease is a serious menace to human beings. Tuberculosis is not common among cats, and there appear to have been few cases of human tuberculosis contracted in this manner. In mentioning these diseases which can be transmitted by cats, I do not mean to imply that these animals are a danger around the house since hundreds of thousands of people have cats as pets and never acquire any disease from them.

The same kind of problem exists with regard to dogs. Dogs harbor a great many animal parasites, although only a few of them can cause human infection. Occasionally a dog tapeworm can be acquired from dogs by swallowing an infected flea. A skin condition called creeping eruption caused by a small worm closely related to hookworm infects many dogs. It passes directly through the skin and therefore dogs should be kept off bathing beaches where people go barefooted.

Animals should not be allowed to bite or scratch. People should not let them lick the face, and particularly the mouth, and should wash their hands after handling pets and before eating. Kissing animals is unwise. These precautions should be followed and pets showing signs of illness should be taken promptly to the veterinarian. On the whole, however, popular household pets are not important sources of human disease.

Ikkemen Divide On Problem Of Increasing Postal Rates

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Two of President Eisenhower's closest advisers—Senator Carlson (R-Kan) and Postmaster General Summerfield—are working opposite sides of the street on the Administration's proposal to increase postal rates.

Carlson, one of Eisenhower's closest friends, indicated he believes the department could get along without the rate increases and eventually gain a pay-as-it-goes operational basis.

Carlson, who heads the Senate Post Office Committee, said in an interview he has counseled delay in an attempt to raise the rates on letters and on second-class mailings, covering newspapers and magazines.

Carlson, one of Eisenhower's closest friends, indicated he believes the department could get along without the rate increases and eventually gain a pay-as-it-goes operational basis.

Summerfield, on the other hand, has been pounding away for increases to bring an estimated additional 240 million dollars yearly and, with other reforms, to cut the post office's annual deficit to about 70 million dollars. It is now over 800 millions.

The postal rate bill was designated Tuesday by Senator Knowland (R-Calif), the acting floor leader, as one of the two controversial measures he said might keep Congress from adjourning on its July 31 target date. He said a bill to admit 240,000 European refugees and others is the other stumbling block.

The postmaster general picked by Eisenhower as Republican national chairman, apparently believes it is better to swallow what some Republicans regard as a bitter political pill now than to wait until 1954 when congressional elections will be held.

Sumnerfield won his fight for presidential backing of the postal bill, but the issue still is in doubt in Congress.

Business Unit Approves
The House Post Office Committee, holding hearings on the proposal, has listened to a long string of mail users urge that no rate hike be approved.

Wednesday, however, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States sent word it is in favor of the Administration proposal. Its president, Richard L. Bowditch, notified Carlson and Chairman Rees (R-Kan) of the House group of the stand, taken by the chamber's executive committee. Bowditch said the endorsement was unanimous.

After presenting the charter to the group, composed of Air Force officers and San Angelo businessmen, the group was cut off from Midland by a flash flood near Garden City.

Sumnerfield won his fight for presidential backing of the postal bill, but the issue still is in doubt in Congress.

After discussing during the Tuesday session was the recent trip to San Angelo by Traveling Toastmasters Bruce Shade, Brack, Dr. Walsh and Braue, to present a charter to the newly-organized San Angelo Club.

Sumnerfield won his fight for presidential backing of the postal bill, but the issue still is in doubt in Congress.

Lawn Mower Cut Phillies' Flag Hopes, Results Show

By The Associated Press
The team that wins the National League pennant this year ought to give its members little lawn mowers to remind them of why the Philadelphia Phillies didn't win.

This looked like a great year for Simmons. During the first month of the season he and Robin Roberts formed the most feared left-right pitching combination in the majors. But one sunny day in early June, Curt decided to cut some grass and he ran his power mower over his left foot. Part of his big toe had to be amputated. He was sidelined a full month.

He's been back in action two and one-half weeks now, but not with anything like his early success. In four starts he has won just once. Tuesday night the Phillies threw Roberts and Simmons at the Milwaukee Braves. Roberts won his sixteenth game with ease 10-0, but Simmons didn't make it, giving up five runs and eight hits in six innings. The final score was, 7-3.

So, instead of gaining ground, the Phils still are seven games out of first place and three behind the Braves. Roberts fanned six, scattered seven hits and drove in two runs in the first game. Walker Cooper's three-run homer, his first of the season, was the big blow off Simmons, whose record now is 8-7.

Both the Phils and the Braves lost half a game to the pace-setting Brooklyn Dodgers, who trampled Chicago, 15-4. St. Louis whipped New York, 10-6, and climbed back into first division at the expense of the Giants. Cincinnati defeated Pittsburgh, 7-2.

The Cleveland Indians finally beat the New York Yankees in Cleveland, 8-3, with Bob Lemon winning his thirteenth game. Detroit shaded Washington, 8-7, in 10 innings. Rain washed out night games in Chicago between the White Sox and Boston and in St. Louis between the Browns and Philadelphia.

Cleveland's victory, a 13-hit assault on three New York pitchers, cut the Yankees' lead over Chicago to five and one-half games and moved the Indians back into third place, 10 games back.

Al Rosen, who makes a specialty of first-inning home runs, put the Indians in front with a two-run blast off Johnny Sain. Bob Kuzava came in when Cleveland poured around three runs in the fifth and Ray Scarborough finished up.

Washington appeared to have its game won against Detroit at least twice only to have the Tigers come back, first to tie and then to win on Don Lund's two-run double in the tenth. Mickey Vernon put the Senators ahead with a three-run homer in the ninth but Matt Batts evened things for Detroit with a ninth-inning homer. Then Washington scored one run in the tenth.

The Cubs used six pitchers in a futile attempt to silence the Dodgers, but only ancient Dutch Leonard met with any success. He pitched three scoreless innings. Against the other five, including starter and loser Warren Hacker, the Dodgers piled up 15 runs.

The Cardinals scored four runs off Sal Maglie in the first inning at New York, the biggest opening frame they've had in a month. Two of the tallies came on a home run by Stan Mustil. Rip Repulski contributed a three-year homer in the fourth. Gerry Staley had to have help to get the final out when the Giants scored once and loaded the bases in the ninth but he got credit for his thirteenth victory.

Crafty Ken Raffensberger gave the Pirates 10 hits but only one of them — Frank Thomas' two-run homer — was damaging. The Cincinnati left-hander more than balanced Thomas' blow with a three-run home run of his own.

Colts Rap Drillers Hard In 15-7 Win

SAN ANGELO —(AP)—The San Angelo Colts put together their most vicious hitting attack of the year Tuesday night, running up 15 runs in the first four innings and going on to defeat the slumping Artesia Drillers, 15-7.

It was the third straight defeat for Joe Bauman's Driller crew and dropped them four full games off the Colt's Longhorn League pace.

The same clubs meet Wednesday night with Len Ruyle (15-5) set for the Drillers against Bobby Gregg (10-5) for the Colts.

Andy Alonso, recently purchased from Big Spring, had nothing on the ball as the Colts clobbered him for six runs in the first inning, another in the third and got rid of him in the fourth with eight runs off he and his successor, Bob Presley.

The 17-hit Colt attack made it an easy task for Mario Saldana to chalk up his tenth win of the season against seven defeats. The first six men to face Alonso hit safely as 11 men batted in the first inning. Herbert Taylor, Steve Follett, Glenn Burns and Mario Saldana had singles in the inning. John Tayan and Rudy Briner, doubles, and John Jeandron, a triple.

Art Mulcahy got one of the runs back in the second with a solo homer but the Colts scored again in the third on a walk to John Margarin and Charley Galina's double. Alonso was saved further embarrassment when he was knocked out in the fourth after six of the seven men he faced reached base and eventually scored. Bob Presley came on in relief and after allowing a single to Taylor and a disputed homer by Follett, settled down to hurl runless ball the rest of the way.

Artesia's big inning was the sixth when four hits scored four runs. Joe Bauman doubled and moved to third on a passed ball. Mulcahy walked and both scored on Joe Fortin's homer. Armando Sanchez walked and scored on successive singles by Joe Calderon and Presley.

The Drillers' final two runs came in the ninth when Bill Haley reached first on an error and scored ahead of Bauman's circuit clout. Artesia 1010 004 002—7 11 3 San Angelo 801 800 000—15 17 1 Alonso, Presley (4) and Mulcahy; Saldana and Briner.

Rockets Whip D. Jimenez, Oilers, 6-2

ODESSA —(AP)—Solo home runs by Wayne Crawford and Ozzie Alvarez got Roswell off to a good start Tuesday night as the Rockets sent Dario Jimenez to the showers with a 6-2 defeat.

Tito Arencibia scattered three Odessa hits in coasting to the victory. One was an eighth inning homer with none on by Charles Craig. The other Oiler tally came when Raul Dieppa scored from third on a long fly by Lefty Loyko. He got on with a single, moved to second on a passed ball and was sacrificed to third by Leo Eastham.

Crawford started it off for the Rockets with his bases-empty four master in the fourth. Alvarez followed in the fifth, then the Rockets exploded for four more in the sixth to sew it up. Three successive singles, two errors, a fielder's choice, and another single aided this cause.

The Rockets got to Jimenez for 10 hits and all six runs before he was relieved by Craig, who gave up one hit for naught in two innings. Roswell 000 114 000—6 11 2 Odessa 000 000 020—2 3 2 Arencibia and Valdez; Jimenez, Craig (8) and Castro.

Thompson Hopes All Convinced

NEW YORK —(AP)—Hank Thompson a vital factor in the recent surge of the New York Giants, hopes by now everyone's convinced he can hit left-handed pitching.

Before Tuesday night's game against the St. Louis Cardinals, the third baseman said he's relaxed for the first time in years.

"Playing every day is what straightened me out," he said, "Especially getting to bat against these lefties."

Thompson, 27, also has done his share of straightening out the Giants. In 14 games, 11 of which the club has won, Thompson has walloped six home runs and driven in 22 runs while hitting at a .407 pace. He's batting .316, seventh highest in the National League.

Things weren't always so rosy for Thompson this year. He was riding the bench during the early part of the going.

'Asher Rally Overtakes Broncs, 7-5

BIG SPRING —(AP)—The Carlsbad Potashers maneuvered two runs in the ninth inning to judge the Big Spring Broncs, 7-5 Tuesday night.

Up to the winning rally the game had been something of a pitching battle, although hurriers on both sides were in hot water occasionally.

The Potashers hopped on Jim Reynolds for two runs in the first and two more in the third before Tommy Herrera came on the relief for the Broncs. John Treece's three-bagger was the big Carlsbad blow in the third which gave the Potashers a 4-2 lead after the Broncs had deadlocked the count in the second.

The Broncs scored in the bottom of the second, when George Murphy tripled and Carl Harris followed up with a single. Harris made it on around the sacks on two Carlsbad errors.

Pedro Osorio's inside-the-park home run put Carlsbad ahead again in the eighth, but the Broncs came back in their half of the same inning to score a run and make it 5-5. Nick Samela's double and singles by Joe Riney and Joe Niedson figured in the brief Broncs rally.

Elias Osorio walked to lead off the ninth for Carlsbad and Ike Jackson was safe on an error. Bob Hobbs sacrificed and then Armando Gallart, until Monday a member of the Big Spring team, looped a pop fly just over shortstop that nobody could quite reach. It fell for a two-bagger, scoring Osorio and Jackson.

The Broncs never threatened in their half of the ninth. Carlsbad 202 000 012—7 9 3 Big Spring 020 020 010—5 11 3 Malone and Jackson; Reynolds, Herrera (3) and Niedson.

Rotary Triumphs, Conoco, Gulf Still Fighting It Out

Conoco and Gulf had the fifteenth round to fight Wednesday night after Gulf evened their American Softball League playoff battle Tuesday with an 11-7 nine-inning victory.

Rotary, in the National League, thumped Magnolia for the second straight night, 9-7, to earn the right to meet Western Inspection in the second round of playoffs in that league Monday.

Selle hit a home run for the Rotary crew, while McCullough rapped a three-run blow for Magnolia.

Gulf was trailing Conoco by one run going into the final frame, but Don Bell stole home for Gulf to knot the count and send the game into overtime.

Gulf wrapped up the triumph in the ninth inning. The two clubs continue their fight Wednesday night following a 7 p.m. exhibition between Rendezvous and Tide Water.

The two leagues, which operate under the overall title of JayCee City Softball League, have been playing the season without an admission charge. The sponsoring JayCees, however, have been taking up collections during the two nights of the playoffs, and one of the athletic committees reported that the proceeds have been fair although not as much as is needed to defray the operational expense incurred during the season.

Large crowds have attended the well-played contest. The winner of the Gulf-Conoco playoff will meet Tide Water, American Legion champion, in the second round of the playoffs Monday.

Green Gains Hobbs Semi's On Two Wins

HOBBS, N. M.—Wendy Green, who finds the Hobbs Country Club course to his liking, continued his march in the Hobbs Junior Invitational Golf Tournament with two victories Tuesday.

Green, medalist with a 68 Monday and winner of the recent Hobbs Men's Invitational Tournament, conquered Dan Gruber of Dallas, 4-3, Monday morning and returned in the afternoon to whip Dud Phillips of Jal by the same margin.

The twin victories placed him in the semi-finals and in position to oust the defending champion, Rex Baxter of Amarillo. They were playing Wednesday morning with the winner going into the finals Wednesday afternoon.

Baxter defeated Henry Hardy of Hobbs, 4-3, in the first round Tuesday and Jerry Johnston of Odessa, 4-3, in the afternoon.

Match Play Opens In Broadmoor Golf

COLORADO SPRINGS, COLO.—Paced by Medalist Don January of Dallas, Texas, 32 golfers teed off in first round match play of the thirty-third annual Broadmoor Invitational Tournament Wednesday.

January, who shot a two-under par 68 Tuesday, met Francis Fleming of Evansville Ind., who qualified with a 73.

The 36-hole championship match is scheduled Sunday.

BIG HORSE — Changing the conditions of the Sysonby Mile from a handicap to a weight-for-age race, brightened prospects for a meeting of Tom Fool, above, the handicap king, Ted Atkinson up, and Native Dancer. As the Sysonby is run at Belmont Park, Oct. 6, Tom Fool would carry 126, the three-year-old champion 120.

It's A Four-Team Race, Says Boudreau; 'We're Not Out'

CHICAGO (AP)—Lou Boudreau of the Boston Red Sox, like Chicago's Paul Richards and Cleveland's Al Lopez, isn't convinced the New York Yankees have clinched the American League pennant.

Matter of fact, Boudreau thinks his own youngsters have a chance—"now that they've settled down."

"I figure we'll be in it the rest of the way," said the onetime boy wonder of the Cleveland Indians after Tuesday night's Boston-Chicago White Sox game was rained out.

"I say it's a four-team race—New York, Chicago, Cleveland and Boston—and it doesn't matter how many games New York leads the league right now."

Tuesday Lopez, the Indians manager, said his club still has a chance. The Indians backed him with an 8-3 licking of the New Yorkers, giving the Indians a two percentage-point edge for third place over Boston.

Richards is sure his White Sox are sound, despite a double-header loss to the Yankees Sunday, and that they'll keep going—strong.

Richards said the only question is just how long the Yankees can keep going.

Boudreau seemed to agree with this theory.

"After all," he said, "club for club the White Sox are ahead, aren't they? They've beaten the Yankees seven times, lost to the New Yorkers six. Somebody else is just going to have to start beating New York, that's all."

Boudreau didn't guarantee his team would be the one to do it, but he feels the Red Sox right now are solid.

"Naturally, I don't say we can continue playing the kind of ball we've been playing lately," he said.

"We've won nine of our last 10 games. That's pretty hot."

"Actually, I should be satisfied with a first division finish considering how young most of our boys are. But right now I don't feel like conceding anything to anybody."

All-Star Pilots Will Be Briner, Pat McLaughlin

Rudy Briner of San Angelo will manage the Texas Longhorn League All-Star team and Pat McLaughlin of Carlsbad will pilot the New Mexico aggregation, it appeared Wednesday.

Briner is a cinch to skipper the Texas team, but McLaughlin could be eased out.

The managers of the teams in the respective states highest in the standings on the morning of July 25 automatically become the All-Star pilots.

San Angelo is way ahead of Midland, while Artesia is two-and-a-half games off Carlsbad's pace and could catch the Potashers by winning all of its games while the Carlsbad team loses its remaining three games between now and Saturday morning.

NEW YORK (AP)—Red Schoendienst, the National League's leading hitter with 335, was on the sidelines Wednesday. He was hit over the eye as he was running out an infield hit.

The quick throw to first of Alvin Dark, New York giant second baseman, opened a two-inch cut on the forehead of the star St. Louis Cardinal second baseman. Ten stitches closed it.

The accident happened in the second inning of Tuesday night's game, won by the Cardinals, 10-4. Schoendienst collapsed and was removed from the game. Manager Eddie Stanky took his place.

SUNSHINE POWERED WORLD?—

Stanton Show To Feature Dramatic Role Of Science

STANTON—A demonstration that opens with a real bang—a hydrogen explosion—and tells of a world that runs on sunshine—that's part of the 1953 General Motors Previews of Progress.

entertainment program at the Electric Fair—free, and is presented by Frigidair.

One demonstration is on energy conversion. In three parts, the lecturer proves: There is energy in matter; energy can be converted to useful purposes; and the solution to the secret of sunshine, nature's greatest energy reservoir, could be the world's greatest scientific discovery.

Spotty Rains Aid Pastures

AUSTIN —(AP)— Where spotty rains fell last week, crops and pastures improved. More will be needed before the drought is broken.

That is the U. S. Department of Agriculture's view of moisture that fell in some regions in East, North and Northwest Texas.

Cotton prospects improved during the week as weather was generally cooler. Cotton in wet areas was greatly helped, but in scorched South Texas the crop was too far advanced to get much benefit.

Some sorghum was plaited in the northwest where rain fell and it should help as a forage crop, the USDA crop review said.

Panic selling of livestock appears to have subsided but movement of cattle to market continues at a brisk pace. Stockmen almost everywhere still need rain badly.

Hungary Tightens Iron Curtain After Mrs. Kapus' Escape

VIENNA —(AP)— Hungary's Communist government is strengthening its Iron Curtain along the Austrian border.

Informed sources Wednesday described these new measures: Besides the six-foot wire fences and observation points, many more watch towers are being set up and new types of tread mines are placed along the entire border.

The new mines explode at a minimum load of 77 pounds, which rules out their being set off by small game.

The structure of the new towers, which were erected within 24 hours, makes it impossible for observers on Austrian territory to see whether they are occupied or not, it was reported.

The security measures were installed after the recent spectacular escape of a prominent Hungarian family to Austria.

On July 14, Mrs. Eva Kapus, sister-in-law of the son of retired U. S. Maj. Gen. W. S. Key of Oklahoma City, crossed the border with her husband and her daughter, six Mrs. Kapus was wounded by a Communist grenade and is in a Vienna hospital.

L. L. Martin, Crane businessman and civic leader, ribbed Midland business and professional men about their "rackets" in a humorous talk delivered Wednesday noon at the regular meeting of the Midland Lions Club in Hotel Scharbauer.

COUNTY DEBT EMPTY JAIL

BERNALILLO, N. M. —(AP)— Sheriff Dick Montoya announced Tuesday night that he had freed all five prisoners in the county lockup—but not because of kindness.

The county, Montoya said, is out of money to feed the prisoners. Grocery stores cut off food supplies when the debt reached $250.

Drouth Feed—

The USDA's Texas Drouth Committee in a meeting at College Station Monday protested the regulations. Local committees complained they apparently would not have much discretion in passing out the drouth feeds.

The committee had said that while the USDA's directive gave local committees discretion, the locals would still have to stick to the framework of the directive.

This, the state committee thought, meant that only farmers and ranchers who were flat broke and without any credit resources could get aid. Up To Committees

Shivers said Benson made it clear that the local committees could use their own judgment and not require financial or other statements.

The governor said the makeup of the local committees was such that the members would know whether an applicant really needed help without a lot of red tape.

The original directive was intended to give the local committees the final say on who would get the feed and under what priority," Shivers said.

"It is intended that they be the sole judges of this," Local county committees are made up of the county agent, the local head of the PMA, the local U. S. Farm and Home Administration head, a farmer-rancher and a banker.

These people, the governor said, would be familiar with the needs and backgrounds of applicants in each locality. He said he believed they could decide equitably who should get help.

Secretary Benson said Wednesday the Agriculture Department never had contemplated requiring drouth-plagued farmers and ranchers to give an oath of any kind or to submit financial statements to obtain government feed at cutrate prices.

This statement was made in telegrams to state drouth committees in the Southwest. They were designed to clear up what the secretary said was a misunderstanding of eligibility requirements for low priced feeds offered under an emergency drouth relief program.

Benson said local drouth committees, to avoid undue hardship, would be expected to "use discretion in determining eligibility in line with guides" set up by the department July 18.

DRIVING TEST THREE-PRONGED

TOPEKA, KAN. —(AP)— Kansas Gov. Ed Arn wanted to be certain his daughter, Dolores, was a competent automobile driver before she obtained her first driver's license.

She had to take a triple test. First, the governor required 16-year-old Dolores to pass a driving school at Topeka High School. Next she had to pass an examination by the state highway patrol.

And finally she had to take the governor for a ride. That was the clincher. She got her license.

Water Irrigation Systems Studied In Midland Meet

Results of recent measurements made of water irrigation systems on Midland County farms were discussed at a meeting here Wednesday of area farmers, equipment dealers and Soil Conservation Service personnel.

Conclusions were expected to be drawn from the meeting on possible ways to improve irrigation, mainly by cutting down on the percentage of water wasted while still using the same amount of water.

Measurements reviewed showed a wide variation on the amount of water lost during mid-day watering. Ben Coburn, of the Midland work unit of the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District.

Lee Williamson of Big Spring and agricultural engineer for the Midland work unit, reported that he has seen some of the best irrigation systems in West Texas operating in Midland County.

The meeting was expected to be concluded Wednesday afternoon and final conclusions of the measurements announced.

Livestock Producers USDA Officials Talk Supports For Prices

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Representatives of a livestock producers association that advocates price supports hoped to meet with Agriculture Department officials Wednesday.

The group is headed by S. E. Eck Brown, Dalhart, president of the recently formed United Livestock Producers Association.

Brown and others said livestock growers must have the same assurance of steady prices that are now extended to growers of wheat, corn and other crops.

Brown said lack of stable prices and not the drought is the big problem of livestock men.

Here with Brown are O. H. Finch, Dalhart; E. N. Jeffers, Springer, N. M.; Stanley Furrow, Greeley, Colo.; Velden Swigart, Moorhead, Okla., and L. D. McNeil, Pecos, Texas.

PITTSBURGH —(AP)— Mrs. Yvonne Hull of Pittsburgh, whose only son was killed in Korea, appealed to an unknown thief Wednesday to help her in her distress.

Mrs. Hull was on duty in a downtown department store Monday and laid her wallet down to wait on a customer. When she returned it was gone. The wallet contained about $10 and pictures of her dead son.

He shot each man once. Bugger was killed at once as buckshot tore into his chest.

Martin died within 10 minutes after gasping: "We tried to knock off the safe but we didn't knock off this place before."

Two previous safe blastings of the store have been reported. Bugger fired the fatal shots after two other West University police missed with three shots from their revolvers.

Officer Kills Two Burglars

HOUSTON —(AP)— A West University police captain shot to death two safe crackers on a super market rooftop early Wednesday.

Two blasts from his double-barreled shotgun killed Edward Martin, 26, twice a convict. Earl Rucker, 33, three times a convict.

The captain who ended the careers of Martin, a Navy veteran, and Rucker, recently pardoned, was R. J. Bug, 35.

He shot each man once. Bugger was killed at once as buckshot tore into his chest.

Martin died within 10 minutes after gasping: "We tried to knock off the safe but we didn't knock off this place before."

Two previous safe blastings of the store have been reported. Bugger fired the fatal shots after two other West University police missed with three shots from their revolvers.

Area Farmers Study Insects

More than 30 Midland area farmers inspected cotton on a Midland County farm Tuesday and recommended insect poisoning within the "next couple of days." They were taking their "final exam" in a one-day study of identification and control of insects in the field conducted by Neal Randolph, entomologist with the Texas Extension Service, Texas A&M College.

The meeting which started at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the J. C. Brooks farm, five miles east of Midland, gave the farmers field experience in identifying insects.

"Randolph started with a general discussion of insects and control measures," County Agent Charley Green explained, "and then sent the group into the field to hunt for insects."

"The farmers would find an insect and then take it to Randolph for identification."

"Finally, they checked the cotton for bollworms, returned to the meeting place and voted on whether or not poisoning was needed. The majority recommended poisoning the crop within the next couple of days."

The meeting was very satisfactory, Green concluded, "and I feel all of us learned a lot about the insect problems."

The body will arrive in Norman Thursday and arrangements will be under the direction of the Meyer and Meyer Funeral Home there.

Midshipman Bates was one of 41 men killed when a Naval transport, enroute from Corpus Christi to Norfolk, Va., crashed near Milton, Fla. last Friday.

The youth was a sophomore at the University of Oklahoma and lived with his mother, Mrs. Augusta Meyer.

The elder Bates is an accountant for the Superior Oil Company here.

Woman Grateful For Gulf Rescue

GALVESTON — Mrs. Fleeta Darling, 29, Houston drug store clerk, still was jittery Wednesday after an unscheduled three and one-half mile voyage she took in choppy Gulf waters.

"I prayed every bit of the way," she told Coast Guardsmen when they rescued her shortly before dark Sunday from her craft — an inner tube.

Coast Guardsmen said she owed her life to a bright red bathing cap which helped them spot her in the rough waters a mile from the jetty light.

Mrs. Darling, who says she was playing in shallow water, a current caught the tube and quickly floated her out to sea.

"I'm grateful to the Coast Guard for what they did for me," she said.

Information Service Appropriation Cuts Disturb President

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower is highly disturbed over a 32 per cent slash by the House in funds for the State Department's overseas information program, Senator H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) said Wednesday.

Smith said the President feels the Voice of America and related propaganda-information agencies of the State Department must be built up.

The New Jersey senator, a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said Eisenhower authorized him to disclose this feeling.

The House last week cut almost 28 million dollars from the 88-million budget asked by the Administration for the International Information Administration (IIA). And Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.), a member of the Senate Appropriations Committee, has hinted he may try to reduce the amount even further.

Smith said in an interview he went to the White House Tuesday to discuss several matters with the President. As he was leaving the White House, he said, the President volunteered his remarks about the budget cut.

The President's reported fears laid emphasis on a news conference statement by Secretary of State Dulles yesterday. Dulles said the information program has done a splendid job on the whole. He said he hoped Congress would not curtail its spending sharply and threaten what he called a future of very great value to this country.

Senate Acclaims Hoover On Visit

WASHINGTON — "I would like to call attention to a distinguished visitor," said Vice President Nixon Tuesday night. "This is the first occasion on which he has visited this chamber."

The senators turned and there, in the rear, was former President Herbert Hoover. He received a thunderous ovation from senators and those in the galleries. The Senate took a 10-minute recess while Republicans and Democrats alike filed by and shook his hand.

Hoover remained for a short while after the Senate returned to work.

Tennessee Border Town Begins Series Of GG Inoculations

BRISTOL, VA. — Almost 15,000 children of this Virginia-Tennessee border region were slated for gamma globulin inoculations Wednesday and Thursday as health authorities sought to check an outbreak of polio that has reached the epidemic stage.

Four clinics began operation Wednesday following the arrival by air Tuesday of 106,000 cubic centimeters of gamma globulin, the anti-polio vaccine that is not a cure but which is used to cut down the number of polio cases and lessen the effects of the disease.

Even as the vaccine arrived, three new cases of polio were reported, bringing to 54 the number since the start of July in an area of 150,000 persons that includes Bristol, Washington County, Va., and Sullivan County, Tenn.

Children of Bristol and Washington County only were due to be "needled."

Washington County has been hardest hit with 27 cases. There have been eight in Bristol, Va., 13 in Bristol, Tenn., and six in Sullivan County.

PALO ALTO, CALIF. — Jet-powered planes that will carry 100 passengers across the country in five hours, reduce air fares to less than present bus fares and even replace the family automobile were forecast at the annual Stanford University Business Conference Tuesday by a leading aircraft engineer.

Malpractice Suit Due Supreme Court Review In Austin

AUSTIN — The Supreme Court agreed Wednesday to review a malpractice suit against two Lubbock osteopaths in which $134,860 damages were awarded by trial court and a new trial ordered by the Court of Civil Appeals.

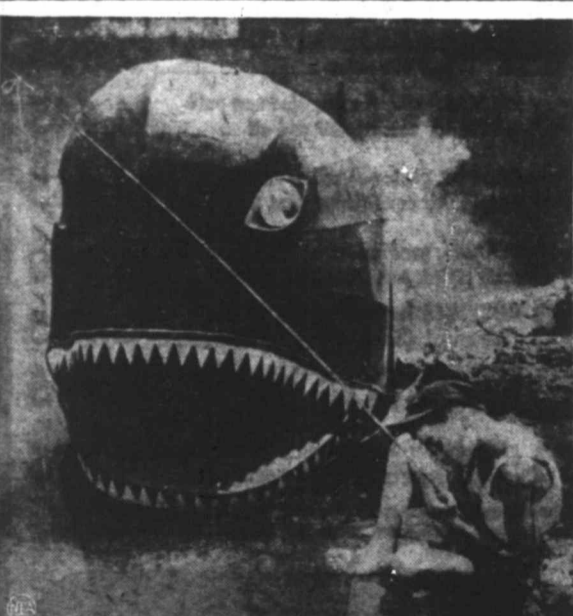

The suit was brought by Monte Puryear against Dr. G. G. Porter and Dr. J. A. Finer for alleged negligence of anesthesiologist T. W. Baker in making an spinal injection.

Paralysis of the lower part of Puryear's body followed the injection, court records showed.

Both doctors and Puryear appealed from the order for a new trial. The Supreme Court granted a hearing on both applications.

National Crop Outlook Grows Brighter After General Rains

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Weather Bureau reported Wednesday that moderate to heavy rains greatly have narrowed the nation's drought areas and checked threats of serious crop damage.

A southwestern drought which a week ago showed signs of spreading into the lower Mississippi Valley was itself relieved in some sections by rainfall that was fairly general east of the Continental Divide, except in the East from New York state south through the Virginia and Carolinas.

In a weekly report on the crop situation, the bureau said crops and pastures had been benefited greatly and that stock water supplies had been replenished in many areas where they had been extremely short.

The bureau makes no forecast on crop production, but its bulletin conveyed the implication that, for the country as a whole, production continued to move toward an earlier Agriculture Department production that the harvest would be the third largest of record.

Weather officials said the area to watch, from a drought standpoint, was an Atlantic Coast region, extending from New York state south into the Carolinas. They said the need for rain is particularly urgent in Maryland and Virginia.

"Continued drought-relieving rains in the Far Southwest and south-central sections of the country were the main features of the week," the bulletin said.

"Moderate to heavy showers over large areas of the lower Great Plains and Far Southwest, totaling from one to six inches locally for the week, greatly benefited crops and pastures and replenished stock water supplies."

The bureau said, however, that little or no rain fell in Central and South Texas, where the drought continues.

As to crops, the bulletin said corn made mostly good to rapid progress in the main corn belt. Rains were said to have benefited cotton.

Good tobacco outlook. The bureau said harvest of winter wheat was moving along satisfactorily.

On the other hand, practically all miscellaneous crops in the Atlantic coastal regions from South Carolina to New York were said to be suffering from lack of rainfall.

DON'T RUSH THE FELLOW

HALIFAX, N. C. — (AP) — Prison officials explained the sudden change in the menu at the Halifax prison camp this way: The menu called for corn on the cob.

The cook, Austin Robert Robinson, was sent out to the prison cornfield to gather the corn. He may have gathered it. But that was three days ago and he hasn't come back yet.

Model's $25,000 Suit Claims Wink Ruined By Gadget

BUFFALO, N. Y. — (AP) — An eyelash curler ruined her wink, a free-lance model charges, and she's suing the manufacturer for $25,000.

Mrs. Laine Coonan of Milwaukee Tuesday filed suit in federal court against the Kurlash Company of Rochester.

She claimed that "the rubber edge of the curler was missing" and that when the curler was removed all the lashes from one eyelid went with it.

Mrs. Coonan alleges she was defaced for "a long period of time" and required medical care.

Senators Protest Overtime Sessions

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Two senators cautioned their colleagues Tuesday night they may have to pay a price for the long hours they are working in a drive to adjourn by the end of the month.

Tipsy Drivers Due 'Must' Jail Terms

COLUMBUS, OHIO — (AP) — After October 22, any motorist convicted under Ohio law of drunken driving must serve at least three days in jail.

Governor Frank Lausche signed the new act of the Legislature Tuesday.

It sets the drunken driving penalty at three days to six months plus a maximum fine of $500 and specifies, "no court shall suspend the first three days of any sentence."

PRICE FOR SECURITY — Frank Benbow, Wichita, Kansas man vacationing in Colorado, offered to accept a 28-year-old Texas farm mother's offer to sell one of her eyes for $10,000 so she could provide security for her family. The woman who preferred to remain anonymous, made her offer in the Wichita Falls Record-News. Benbow is shown with his wife in Colorado Springs after answering ad.

East German Brass Snarls At Western Food Relief Moves

BERLIN — (AP) — A million packages of free Western food three East Germany's Communist rules into a frenzy Wednesday.

Soviet High Commissioner Vladimir Semenov, in a blistering diplomatic note, called the mammoth relief program a U. S. plot to "entice Fascist hirelings and criminal elements" for a new anti-Red revolt in the Russian zone.

He demanded that U. S. High Commissioner James B. Conant immediately stop food gifts to hungry East Germans because these were "illegal and incompatible with the elementary demands of maintaining public order."

But in West Berlin, thousands of workers were set to wrapping the million-fold packages of foodstuffs for delivery on the Iron Curtain border here beginning next Monday.

The supplies came from a West German government reserve maintained in this isolated city since 1949 to protect it against a new Russian blockade. The reserve will be replenished by donations from the United States, where President Eisenhower offered 15 million dollars worth of free food to hungry East Germans on July 10 and stuck by it after Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov denounced the offer as "a clumsy propaganda maneuver."

Fear Of More Tanks — A high American official said the Russian protest would be rejected flatly.

West Berlin welfare workers who pushed 3,900 free food parcels through the Iron Curtain Tuesday expressed fear the note meant Russian tanks and troops soon might seal off East Germany so that no Western relief at all could enter.

Semenov's wrath Wednesday centered on the relief market set up last week in West Berlin's Kreuzberg borough by Mayor Willy Kressman. It dispensed milk, potatoes, fruits to 25,000 Soviet sector residents at one-fifth usual cost. It was replaced this week by large similar projects operating in seven West Berlin boroughs.

Senator Capelhart (R-Ind.), Banking Committee chairman, argued that the Long Amendment would keep private companies from bidding on the plants. He said they would fear Congress might turn down some of the plants under government operation in competition with private business.

But Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, told him, "You can walk out any entrance to this Senate Chamber right now, and you will find plenty of people who want to buy these plants."

The 29 plants were built in World War II at a cost of $18 million dollars.

Oversize Buttons Stir Union Dispute

NEW YORK — (AP) — Saucer-size buttons welcoming guests to New York have become a union issue between bellhops, who have to wear them, and the Governor Clinton Hotel management, which thought of them.

Clive Barclay, an official of the AFL Hotel Front Service Employees Union, says the buttons are "so big" they made our members look like convicts.

The attorney for the hotel says he cannot understand why anyone would object.

Edward P. Mulrooney, impartial labor relations chairman in the hotel industry, got the issue Tuesday and said he will hold a formal hearing next week.

Doyle Williams was to be released Tuesday, but was absconded when Patrolman John Unatney called his name into a large cell which also held William Williams.

Germans 'Old Carefree Selves' During Trans-Atlantic Voyage

By JUNE HAZLIP Reporter-Telegram Special Correspondent

ABOARD THE IV ITALIA—Somehow it happened, we managed to get from our hotel near Central Park and aboard our ship in New York Harbor with no casualties and all our luggage!

It's a strange feeling to stand on deck and watch the gangplank fall away, knowing that it is to be your last contact with land for the next nine days. Mobs of people gathered on the dock to wave and the ships band blared out "Auf Wiedersehen" and "Deep in the Heart of Texas."

Sometime in the past a group of Texans must have made quite an impression on the crew of the Italia for they never miss a chance to play or sing "The Eyes of Texas" and "Deep in the Heart."

The ship is manned by a German crew, many of whom speak very little or no English. Likewise most of the passengers are German and through them we have come to know the German people.

Unequaled Experience — Traveling aboard a foreign ship is an unequalled experience. One has only to exert a little effort to become familiar with the people he might have met only casually as a tourist in that country.

Watching the crew and the officers of the ship go about their work is like watching a scene from a newsreel of 10 years ago. The uniforms and guttural accents are the same, but the attitudes are different. It is hard to believe that the people we admire on the ship are the same ones we fought such a short time ago.

These happy, laughing people are the people of the Germany we read of in the years before the World Wars. They are perfectly content to spend every spare minute in the tavern, drinking German beer and laughing lustily. Almost all German songs are carefree and happy, even the saddest of them. Most popular are the sea chantees and drinking songs.

We met German citizens, naturalized Germans, Americans of German descent, young immigrants who have made their homes in the states since the war and deportees. All are returning to their mother country, either to visit or to live.

Many Army Veterans — Many of the young men we met were veterans of the German army in the closing days of the war. Almost all, except those who are a part of the ship's crew, have made their homes in the States in the last five years. They live with friends to attend school or go into business for themselves.

One boy is returning to Germany to visit his parents after serving two years in the U. S. Army. A veteran of the German army also, he plans to become a citizen of the United States as soon as possible and to attend school in the South.

Beneath their laughter, the men who were old enough to serve Hitler in his first great drives, are cynical and bitter. Their greatest fear is the Russian army. They firmly believe that having fallen themselves, nobody else on earth can defeat Russia.

They're wonderful people and the ones we've met, a good cross section are friendly and seem to have forgotten the bitterness of the war years.

Nation's Inflated Food Bill Tops Total Income In '30's

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The nation's economy in 1953 rang up a record total production worth some $48 billion dollars, according to the Department of Commerce.

Individuals spent more for food alone in 1953, the government report said, than the total dollar value of all goods and services the nation produced in any five depression years 1931-35. However, the depression dollar was more valuable than the 1953 dollar.

Measured by the dollar's purchasing power in 1939, which the department took as a yardstick, the country's gross national product in 1953 was almost three times what it was at the depression low in 1933. The gross national product is the total value of all goods and services produced.

Without adjustment for the difference in the purchasing power of the dollar before and after 1939, the nation's 1953 output was more than six times that of 1933.

And, the Department of Commerce report released Tuesday said, government spending in 1952, without adjustment for the changed dollar, was almost 10 times what it was in 1933—$77,500,000,000 in 1952 compared to somewhat less than $8,000,000,000 in 1933.
