Wilberns Oil Is Found In Nolan Test

Heavy flow of oil has been developed from the Wilberns dolomite at American Trading & Production Company No. 2 Jesse Little, project in Northeast Nolan County, to assure production from a seventh pay in the White Flat (Mullipay) field. It is believed that this is the first Wilberns production ever found.

Drillstem test was taken in the interval from 5,480 to 5,522 feet. Tool was open 15 minutes. Gas surfaced in three minutes and mud in 13 minutes. Oil surfaced in 14 minutes. The well flowed a full stream of oil which was blown across U. S. Highway 80, 467 feet to the north. The flow was killed one minute after the oil surfaced because of fire danger.

No water was found after test tool was pulled. Flowing pressure was 1,875 pounds and 30 minute shut-in pressure 2,200 pounds.

Operator drilled ahead in fully saturated Wilberns dolomite to 5,601 feet, giving the well a total of 119 feet of possible pay. No signs of water were found in any of the 119 feet.

The Wilberns was topped at 5,482 feet, derrick floor elevation 2,004 feet. Operator representatives say (Continued On Page Seven)

Pure Wildcat In Upton Is To Test Strawn, Spraberry

The Pure Oil Company No. 1-A Hanks, North-Central Upton County wildcat, 15 1/2 miles north of Rankin is to make production tests in the Strawn and in the Spraberry.

The prospector is on a plugged back bottom of 10,885 feet and it has a string of 5 1/2-inch casing cemented at 10,880 feet.

The Strawn and the Spraberry will be tested through perforations in the casing.

The wildcat drilled to a total depth of 13,274 feet in Ellenburger which made only water.

It had plugged back by stages and tested all sections between 10,885 feet and the total depth. None of those formations showed any possibilities of production.

Both the Strawn and the Spraberry had slight shows of petroleum in drillstem tests.

Location is 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 52, block C, CCSD&RGNG survey. It is seven and one-half miles east of the Mullipay Wilberns field.

Humble Gets Gas Shows On DST In Valencia Wildcat

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 Santa Fe Pacific, wildcat in Southeast Valencia County, New Mexico, developed shows of gas on a drillstem test in a shale and sand section of unidentified age.

Test was taken in the interval from 10,740 to 10,846 feet. Tool was open 35 minutes. Recovery was 1,500-foot water blanket used, 45 feet of drilling mud, 150 feet of slightly gas-cut mud and 120 feet of gas-cut mud. No formation water was found.

Location is at the center of the southeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section 18-6n-1w.

Conoco To Finish Anderson Ranch Test In Wolfcamp

Continental Oil Company No. 4 Anderson Ranch Unit has been announced as the first Wolfcamp producer for the Anderson Ranch (Devonian) field of Southwest Lea County, New Mexico.

The well kicked off when acidized with 1,000 gallons through perforations at intervals from 9,760 to 9,828 feet to flow 107 barrels of oil the first hour and 130 barrels the second hour.

It has been shut-in to erect storage.

Location is 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 11-16s-32e.

Tentative Top Of Ellenburger Is High In S-C Reagan Test

Stanolind Oil & Gas Company No. 1-P TXL, wildcat in South-Central Reagan County, has tentatively topped the Ellenburger at 9,540 feet, minus datum point of 6,860 feet.

The tentative top places the test 79 feet higher structurally than Stanolind, et al No. 1 E. Price Miller, (Continued On Page Seven)

Taft's Condition Reported 'Poor'

Ohio Senator Suffers First Real Setback

NEW YORK—(AP)—Senator Robert Taft's physical condition "has deteriorated," New York Hospital said Tuesday.

The Ohio Republican recently underwent an exploratory operation of the abdominal wall to investigate a hip ailment.

The announcement was the first that did not take an optimistic view of his condition.

Texan Pilots B-47 To New Ocean Record

FAIRFORD AIR BASE, ENGLAND—(AP)—An American B-47 Stratojet bomber flashed across the Atlantic from the United States to England Tuesday in the record-shattering time of four hours and 48 minutes.

The sleek, sweeping, six-jet atom bomber, called the world's fastest, whooshed from Limestone, Maine, Air Base to Fairford—a distance of 3,120 miles nonstop—at an average speed of about 600 miles an hour.

The flight clipped 37 minutes off the previous record of five hours, 22 minutes, set June 6 by another B-47.

Tuesday's record breaker, commanded by Lt. Col. James Smith, 36, of Austin, Texas, left Limestone at 2:48 a.m., CST, and landed at Fairford in Central England at 7:30 a.m.

A large party was on hand to cheer the plane in. As its wheels hit the runway with a loud squeal, the pilot pushed a lever popping a parachute out the tail end to slow the big plane.

The plane will join the U. S. Air Force's 306th Medium Bomb Wing—45 planes in all—which arrived here early in June for a 90-day tour of duty. The 306th's permanent base is at Tampa.

The B-47s are becoming the backbone of America's medium bomber force. They are designed and equipped to deliver the atom bomb at high speed and long range.

Midlander, Woman Face Dope Charges

ANDREWS—Charges of narcotics possession were filed Tuesday against a 33-year-old Midland man and his girl friend arrested by Midland police early Monday.

Named in the charges filed before Justice of the Peace O. C. Weatherly were J. C. Wilson of Weatherly and 28-year-old Maxine Hallmark of Odessa.

Sheriff Floyd Peacock said neither had made bond.

A quantity of narcotics, estimated to be worth more than $1,000 in illegitimate traffic, was recovered when the two were arrested as they drove into Midland.

The narcotics had been stolen an hour earlier from the Andrews General Hospital.

Dulles, Senators Will Fly To Korea, Confer With Rhee

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said Tuesday the United States will not buy Korean unity at the price of Red Chinese membership in the United Nations. He added this country has the right to veto any move to grant the Chinese Communists a UN seat.

Dulles said he will fly to Korea Sunday to talk with South Korean President Syngman Rhee. They will discuss the Korean political conference and the negotiation of a U. S.-Korean security pact.

Dulles said the United States had agreed with Rhee to walk out of the political conference if after 90 days it appears to be a sham, with the Reds negotiating in bad faith.

Dulles also disclosed officially the United States has indicated it would be willing to include in the defense pact with Korea a provision giving this country the right to station forces in or around Korea to preserve peace. Rhee had asked such a provision.

Dulles said his trip to Korea would be very brief and that he hopes to return to Washington in a week.

He expects to take with him a bipartisan group of senators—Republicans Knowland of California and Smith of New Jersey, and Democrat's Russell of Georgia and Lyndon Johnson of Texas.

Dulles said he had invited them to go. The Senate will have to ratify any treaty negotiated.

The United States may press for a UN delegation to the Korean peace conference made up exclusively from among the 17 nations which actually fought the Communists.

House Panel Okays New Texas Judgeship

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The House Judiciary Committee Tuesday approved a bill to create 36 new federal judgeships.

The House bill would add one circuit judge in the Fifth Circuit, which includes Texas. It would add one district judge in Eastern Texas.

Judge Signs Bonds To Buy Right-Of-Way

Midland County was cutting through the final red tape Tuesday before getting $350,000 in cash for the purchase of right-of-way for the widening of U. S. Highway 80 from Midland to the Martin County line.

County Judge Clifford C. Keith undertook the job of affixing his signature to the 350 $1,000 bonds.

S. W. Jackson, the county's fiscal agent, said the bonds probably will be delivered next week to the purchasers and the money turned over to Midland County.

Meanwhile the county was awaiting a report from C. C. Boles, who was picked to make an appraisal of the value of the necessary right-of-way for the divided four-lane highway.

Judge Keith said acquisition of the right-of-way will begin as soon as the cash is received here.

First Relief Corn Arrives To Supply Stricken Stockmen

The first carload of corn for Midland County's drought-stricken farmers and ranchers was received here Monday.

And by Tuesday the 120,000 pounds of the feed had just about disappeared as 32 producers turned up to claim their shipments.

Charles Champion, county manager of the Production Marketing Administration, said a carload of oats also was received Monday and will be distributed by Wednesday afternoon.

Since the start of the drought relief program, under which the feed is made available by the government at reduced prices, the county has received, in addition to Monday's shipments, 12 carloads of cottonseed cake, one carload of cottonseed meal and one carload of oats.

Another carload of meal is scheduled to come to Midland Wednesday, Champion said.

Clear Skies End Rash Of Showers

The Midland area felt another dry day Tuesday, with the G.A. painting this picture for the Midland area:

Skies clear until 2 p.m., then high, scattered clouds on the horizon. By 7 p.m., clear weather again.

Midland thermometers reached a high of 97 degrees Monday only to back to a 70-degree low early Tuesday.

The situation was the same all over Texas, the Associated Press reported.

For the second day no rain was reported. Skies were mostly clear, and it appeared a two-week flurry of scattered rains had ended.

Temperatures Monday ranged from 86 at Palacios to 103 at Alice.

De Gasperi's Italian Government Topples

ROME—(AP)—Premier Alcide De Gasperi's eighth government fell Tuesday on a no confidence vote.

It was the first time the Christian Democrat leader suffered such defeat since he took the reins of Italy's government Dec. 10, 1945.

Street Widening Project Underway

The job of widening North Big Spring Street was underway Tuesday.

Crews of the W. L. Johnson Construction Company began the job of constructing curb and gutters from Louisiana Street to the Midland Draw.

As soon as this phase is completed the Collins Construction Company will move in to begin paving the roadway, being widened to 61 feet from Texas Street to Midland Draw.

Kays Murder Trial Set For September

ANDREWS—Mrs. Velma Kays, scheduled to go on trial in district court here Tuesday on a charge of murder, will not face a jury until September.

Defense attorneys won a postponement Tuesday on the grounds they had not had sufficient time to prepare a defense.

Mrs. Kays, now free under $12,000 bond, is charged in the slaying of her husband, Claud E. Kays, July 11 in their home in Frankel City.

POSTWAR PROBLEMS—South Korean problems are far from ended, despite the armistice. The U. S. has pledged aid in a rehabilitation program that may last five years and cost more than a billion dollars. Among major tasks are rebuilding war-wrecked areas such as this section of Seoul and the rebuilding of war-torn lives symbolized by this Korean waif with outstretched arms.

Korean Battlefronts Quiet As Pullback Gets Underway

SEOUL—(AP)—Allied and Communist armies Tuesday began pulling back front-line troops all across the shell-pocked Korean front.

United Nations forces, including South Korean troops, started withdrawing at daybreak. Chinese and North Korean Communist units were seen pulling back during the day.

Each side must withdraw two kilometers—about one and one-fourth miles—to form a demilitarized buffer zone across Korea.

Far behind Red lines, the Allies began evacuating islands off both the east and west coasts of North Korea. The islands had served as radar station points, ground control stations for air strikes against the Communists and for air-sea rescue operations.

In keeping with the armistice signed Monday, the battlefront withdrawal must be completed by 10 p.m. Thursday. The Allied-held islands must be evacuated by 10 p.m. August 5.

No Incidents Reported

In the early hours of the armistice, no violations or incidents were reported.

While Allied and Communist soldiers moved freely in the open Tuesday, the joint Allied-Communist Military Armistice Commission held its first meeting at Panmunjom to begin supervision of the truce.

Gen. Mark W. Clark, UN commander, completed signing copies of the truce document—those that had been taken north Monday and signed by the Red high command—and flew back to his Tokyo headquarters.

The UN Command armistice team headed by Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison, was disbanded and the members and staff headed for other assignments. Harrison went to Tokyo with Clark to resume his job as Clark's chief of staff.

On the western front, the U. S. 1st Marine Division began pulling back its front-line units at 6:30 a.m. Marines quit their bunkers to give up many hard-won positions in the neighborhood of Bunker Hill and Outpost Berlin.

They took with them all equipment and timber and in some cases demolished the bunkers with explosives.

Reds Fledge Compliance

Red China's Peiping radio reported that withdrawal of the Communist side would be completed by the Thursday deadline.

From the central front, Associated Press Correspondent John Randolph reported that the U. S. 3rd Division and other units pulled back some supporting units but that up to Tuesday afternoon the front-line troops had not been withdrawn.

Randolph said the withdrawal would be made soon and would be carried off like a "fighting withdrawal without the fighting."

South Korean units, whose actions were in doubt until President Rhee announced Monday they would not obstruct the truce for the time being, also began pulling back.

Prisoner Exchange In Korea Scheduled To Start August 5

MUNSAN—(AP)—The Allies and Communists agreed Tuesday to start exchanging almost 87,000 prisoners of war August 5, and the joint Military Armistice Commission set in motion machinery for enforcing the day-old Korean armistice.

Once the long-awaited prisoner exchange gets under way, the Reds will free about 400 men daily at Panmunjom. The UN Command said it will deliver about 2,760 daily, including 360 sick and wounded.

Detailed prisoner exchange plans were adopted by the Military Armistice Commission for prisoner exchange as five different truce bodies gathered in Panmunjom.

Maj. Gen. Blackshear M. Bryan, who heads the Allied team on the joint military commission, described the first meeting of the group Tuesday as "like walking a tight-rope."

Bryan said the UN Command was ready to start exchanging prisoners this week, but he doubted if the Reds would be able to begin that swiftly. The August 5 date was announced later.

The commission meets again at 11 a.m. Wednesday.

At Least Four Die In Resort Hotel Fire

ROSENDALE, N. Y.—(AP)—Fire roared through a lake resort hotel early Tuesday and firemen said four or five vacationers died.

At least nine others were injured. One woman was killed in a leap from her flaming second story bedroom. The bodies of three and possibly four other persons were found in the cooling embers of two leveled frame structures of the Williams Lake Hotel.

Up to 100 guests were asleep in one building, and 23 others, mostly older people, in the other.

Americans, Chinese Trade Greetings, Gifts At Front

SEOUL—(AP)—A small group of American soldiers and Chinese Reds met in no-man's land Tuesday and the Reds happily threw their arms around the necks of men they were trying to kill only Monday.

The Chinese gave the Americans souvenirs, cigarettes and Chinese wine. Then, one of the Americans said afterward, "They threw their arms around us and jumped around."

He said the Chinese spoke "passable English." He quoted them as saying:

"We were your allies and then we were fighting you. But now we have peace again."

The incident occurred on the western front as the soldiers worked on the forward slopes of adjoining hills throwing sand bags into trenches.

About a half-dozen Americans and a similar number of Chinese were involved.

One of the Americans said the Chinese signaled for them to come over, so they went. The Chinese had cigarettes, note books, a ring and a bottle of wine as gifts.

One of the Americans was given a blue silk banner bordered with gold on which was written "American soldiers, we wish you a safe return home. The Chinese People's Volunteers."

The Americans said they gave the Chinese candy and cigarette lighters.

French Designers Present New Styles

PARIS.—A swaggering silhouette, with the widest of padded shoulders and the narrowest of peg-bottomed skirts, was the first to take the stage as Designer Jean Patou officially opened the new Fall and Winter Paris fashion collections Monday.

The new waistline, as Patou presented it, was high and handsomely pinched. Hips were rounded softly, and necklines—often scooped out in irregular forms—had more width than depth. Skirts were just as long as last season's, some 12 inches from the floor or even a shade longer.

Black satin comes back with a bang for cocktail suits, and black velvet takes a top place as a favored trimming. Almost all formals were strapless and dance or ankle-length, embroidered with delicate silver or old-fashioned pastel bouquets.

Colors are as sober as Winter's own, with black as the heavy favorite. Among the prettiest Patou creations were slim black velvet cocktail suits with jeweled embroidery hidden discreetly away in shutter-type collar facings. Daytime tweeds, always thick and warm-looking, mingle pink with black or gold with brown. Next to tweeds come jerseys for street wear, and little feathered hats nestle flat on the hair.

Lions To Hear Odessan Who Guarded Nazi Bigwigs

Germany's surrender in 1945 saw Nazi chieftains make what was probably the fastest trip from top to bottom ever recorded as they were pulled from their loot-filled mansions and pitched into cold, bare cells at famed Nurnberg Prison.

It was his duty during his four months there to supervise the maintenance of security, the housing, feeding and clothing of the prisoners.

Each had his own cell and the only thing that made them stand out as "unusual" was the 24-hour guard kept over each.

Another duty Peck faced twice a month was an inventory of the fortunes found on the prisoners at time of capture. Goering, he says, had many bejeweled medals, several large rings and stacks of currency, much of it in U. S. and British bills.

Looking over the prisoners, Peck sees Julius Streicher as the "low man" and most despicable of the lot. Even his own comrades, he says, had little or nothing to do with him. Streicher served as Hitler's chief Jew baiter and was at one time mayor of Nurnberg.

Rudolph Hess, says Peck, proved the most interesting of the group. Hess kept psychologists guessing throughout his long imprisonment with a well-staged insanity act. Most of the time, Peck remembers, Hess appeared indifferent and said little to his fellow prisoners.

Goering, who cheated the gallows by swallowing poison after Peck's duty in Nurnberg ended, appeared the "self-styled leader" of the prisoners.

"He really put on an act at Nurnberg," Peck muses. "He built up the impression he was going to be a martyr to the cause and take what was coming to him. Nobody has really figured out how he got the poison."

But, of course, he was in constant contact with the outside through his lawyer. Each of the prisoners, in fact, had a lawyer, and as long as there is any contact with the outside, it's impossible to keep perfect security.

Peck, now music director at Odessa College, will touch on the legal aspects of the trial, many of which have sparked debate throughout the world.

"The moral responsibility clause," Peck says, "is the most controversial of the legal points. Even if Hitler ordered the military men to kill a bunch of people, the court held them, not their superior, responsible. Jodi, chief of military operations, and Keitel, chief of staff, were hanged under the moral responsibility clause."

HOLLYWOOD TODAY!

MOVIES - TV - RADIO

by Erskine Johnson

Close-ups and Longshots: When Hollywood learns that for one advertisement that misrepresents a movie, a thousand angry moviegoers may go back to their television sets?

Billboards and ads for MGM's "Bright Road," a simple, touching story about a schoolteacher and a problem child, show Dorothy Dandridge wearing a low-cut, strapless gown.

But in the film Dorothy, as the schoolteacher, wears only simple, high-necked dresses.

Hollywood has been guilty, and has been forgiven, for many things. But deliberate, false advertising is boxoffice poison.

Remember the dance George Raft and the late Carole Lombard did in Paramount's "Bolero" back in 1934? George will repeat the dance for the first time in his new nifty act at the Flamingo Hotel in Las Vegas.

But gay audiences probably won't be aware of a grim, ironic note.

Just across the desert from the Flamingo you can see the mountain where Carole died in a plane crash!

Lucille Ball was tossing a salad, but it was Lucy who got tossed.

It's a typical "I Love Lucy" routine, tossed by writers into "The Long, Long Trailer," the MGM movie Lucille and Desi Arnaz are making. The trailer in which the TV comedy team is touring the nation hits a bumpy road just as Lucille decides to prepare lunch.

Result: The salad lands on Lucy's head. Lucy lands on the floor. Next she's under an angel food cake. Then she's slashed with goulash, Hungarian style. The final lurch of the trailer brings down a cascade of pickles, olives, fruit, sour cream, minis, anchovies, cocktail sauce and onions.

The salad didn't wilt but Lucy did.

Not too long ago the ladies filled theaters with sighs when Paul Henreid simultaneously lit two cigarettes in a romantic scene. Now they'll howl at him lighting two Oriental pipes, and passing one to Laurette Luez in "Siren of Bagdad."

A company called Wedding Pictures was formed to produce the Marie Wilson-Bob Cummings co-starrer, "Marry Me Again." Hmmm! Would "Death of a Salesman" have been a bigger boxoffice hit if it had been an offering of Mortician Productions? And should Judy Garland's remake of "A Star is Born" be produced by Stark Pictures, Inc.?

David Brian wrote a screen treatment on his early experiences in show business and submitted the script to an agent as a possible starring film for himself. The agent read the story and then telephoned Brian:

"It's great, Brian. What a part for Kirk Douglas."

Invaders from Mars

COLOR

Type casting is still shauwan, the career of Skip Homer, who at 12 played the role of the obnoxious child Nazi in the stage and film versions of "Tomorrow the World."

Now 23 and dreaming of sympathetic roles, Skip is wailing: "I wish I'd never met the little monster."

Even as a Marine in "Beachhead," Skip can't be a hero. Teamed with Tony Curtis and Frank Lovejoy, he goes through the film as an insulting so-and-so whose every remark is a whiplash.

His last big role? Shooting Gregory Peck in the back in "The Gunfighter."

Mital Gaynor, about romance in Hollywood:

"I've just about decided that Hollywood is a no man's land. There are 17 girls for every eligible male. The place to find a man is 2,000 miles from Hollywood."

Ida Lupino is on the side of Hollywoodites who think that movie censorship isn't the monster it's cracked up to be and should be respected for the good of the film industry.

Ida took a taboo subject for her movie, "The Bigamist," to the censors and found them pretty broadminded about a story that concerns a man with two wives.

"They gave us their blessing and they recognized it as something that happens in real life and can't be ignored," Ida told me. "Nine times out of 10 the objections of the censors are valid. If you listen to them and make the changes they suggest, your picture is stronger for it."

Mrs. Shriver Is WSCS Speaker

Mrs. F. N. Shriver spoke to the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the St. Mark's Methodist Church Monday on the Midland Council of Church Women.

A group met in the church. Special music was furnished by a quartet composed of Arlene King, Joyce McClain, Hattie Jo Cooper and Louise Littlejohn, all members of the Hollowell Methodist Chapel. Their accompanist was Mrs. E. M. Cooper, also of the Howell Chapel. Mrs. Brandon E. Rea introduced the musicians.

Following their musical presentation the girls conducted a panel discussion on the recent training conference held in Amarillo. Miss King was a conference delegate.

Manners MAKE FRIENDS

No matter how young your child, if he is old enough to understand words, don't talk about him to another adult as though he weren't present. That's a sure way of making a child self-conscious, and it is just asking for him to show off. Children understand more than adults usually give them credit for. Youngsters hear things when you think they aren't listening.

As Grandma used to say: "Little pitchers have big ears."

Hershey Predicts Fathers, 4-F's Due Draft Calls In '54

SAN FRANCISCO —(AP)— Draft-eligible men are only "kidding themselves" if they think the Korean truce will change their status, but nation's Selective Service director says.

Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey predicted in a news conference Monday that 18-year-olds, fathers and present 4-F's will be drafted within a year due to a manpower shortage. He warned that the monthly draft quota may be doubled in that period.

Hershey said the armed forces have been drawing three years on a pool of men accumulated between World War II and the Korean War. He said that reserve will be gone next year.

What Does It Mean??

What does the armistice in Korea mean? One guess is as good as another perhaps, with no one knowing for sure what the future holds as a result of the truce signing.

A general lack of interest is evident, and to some the armistice perhaps does not mean very much.

But to mothers and fathers who have sons serving with the military in Korea the armistice means everything. It means their loved ones have a much better chance of coming home alive and unscratched than they had before the cease-fire order went into effect.

It does not mean, of course, the service personnel will be coming home any day now, but it does mean they have a much better chance of coming home and much sooner perhaps than they would had the truce not been signed when it was.

True, the truce merely is a suspension of hostilities, but we can hope and pray that it can and will mean more than just a temporary suspension, as the diplomats take over where the fighting men left off.

Midlanders polled in a quick survey Monday expressed relief that the fighting had ended, but expressed doubt concerning the sincerity and future intentions of the Reds. That doubtless is the general feeling throughout the nation. It is difficult to do business with someone you do not trust, and certainly the Reds have done little if anything to gain the trust and respect of the free world.

Will they exhibit such a tendency? We doubt it. Nevertheless, we cannot overlook the opportunity of fully exploring any possibility which might save the lives of American manhood on the battlefield.

We must remember, too, as President Eisenhower said, peace has been won on a single battlefield—not peace in the world.

That means, then, that America and the other free nations cannot relax their guard even a little bit. That may be just what the Reds have in mind. We must see that their intentions again are frustrated as they were when United Nations forces opposed with military might the planned Communist aggression in far-off Korea.

The scheduled peace conference now is the important thing, and upon its success hinges the peace of the world. The responsibilities resting upon the shoulders of our statesmen and diplomats are tremendous as the peace talks are launched. It now is up to them.

What does the armistice in Korea mean? We don't know as yet, but we can be thankful the shooting in Korea has stopped, at least for the moment.

There's No Question Here If We Know Our Uncle

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1953, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.) Draw Pearson says: American people ahead of their government re food behind Iron Curtain; Service clubs favor sending food by balloon to East Germany; State Department drags heels on dramatic diplomacy.

WASHINGTON — The American people are almost always ahead of their government, and a great many of them have wired or written me urging action on the idea of dropping food parcels by balloon to people behind the Iron Curtain. Here is a cross-section of some of the messages: W. A. Gossett, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Carlsbad, N. M.—"Your suggestion of the food lift to East Berlin via balloon seems very logical. I believe it could be adopted by the U. S. Jaycees as a project. With over 2,000 locals in every state in the Union, Alaska, and Hawaii, it would be a very effective goodwill gesture."

David C. Well and Martin Jones, Lubbock, Texas—"Food balloon barrage wonderful. Lubbock Civitan Club interested in aiding." Stuttgart, Ark. Rotary Club—"We like your suggestion. Sending $50 check to start food balloon campaign for East Germany. Best regards from Stuttgart, Rice and Duck Capital of the World." A. B. Hilton, publisher, Stillwater Valley News, Covington, Ohio—"What's being done in Washington to mobilize small organizations in small communities in the job of getting food behind the Iron Curtain? We have a lot of individuals and organizations ready and willing to help. What can they do?" C. R. Dunlap, president, Young Democrats of Beaver, Pa.—"The Young Democratic Club of Beaver County will be happy to donate food package and balloon to be released over one of the satellite countries." Mrs. Rosine Schramm, Philadelphia—"Your column in the Evening Bulletin touched me deeply... The idea of sending food balloons into East Germany is a healthy one. Cold money is not what people want. Especially when there is nothing to buy. But give a hungry child a piece of fruit or jelly bread and then watch his eyes sparkle and turn toward you. I know. I have gone real hungry during the world war."

D. L. Batchelder, West Atlantic City, N. J.—"Indeed it would be most impressive for people who are short of food to have packages dropped from the sky accompanied by a message of friendship. A literal 'manna from heaven' with the help of their friends in the West... As a Rotarian of many years, I just wondered if there was some way I could help with a program of that kind."

Mrs. F. M. Haws, Rosemead, Calif.—"I am not a fan-letter writer, but I don't apologize for repeating the article about sending surplus butter to the people behind the Iron Curtain. The article makes sense and I'd say repeat it again until something is done about it. It's the best way I can think of to fight communism." C. M. Coggins, Arlington, Va.—"It was a real pleasure to learn about your experiments in cracking the Iron Curtain via hydrogen-filled balloons. Now you're 'cooking with gas,' and doing something practical that should have been done long ago..."

Quite lengthy messages of friendship and encouragement could be sent behind the Iron Curtain on pieces of paper as big as a newspaper. And if—on the reverse side of the sheet—were printed a facsimile front page of Pravda, then it would be possible for the paper to be folded in such a way as to appear to be a recent copy of a Communist newspaper.

"People in captive countries would soon refuse to read Pravda in public for fear of being considered 'suspect.' But would that be bad?" "Equally possible every citizen would undertake to carry a copy of Pravda, but for the purpose of forcing security agents to investigate everybody. But would that be bad?"

"The local edition of Pravda would have to change its format, size and masthead frequently—only to be perfectly matched almost at once by the freedom messages floating across the curtain from the West. That wouldn't be very bad either, would it?"

Malenkov Can't Change Wind So if it can work 5,000 miles across the Pacific carrying bombs, it can work a few hundred miles across Germany, Czechoslovakia and Poland carrying food for friendship plus a message, from individual Americans, service clubs and chambers of commerce. It's fairly easy for East Berliners to go over to West Berlin to collect American food. But there are a lot of people in more distant East Germany, in Czechoslovakia, Poland, Hungary, who also are chafing at the Kremlin's yoke. Food deliveries by balloon would start millions of people talking behind the Iron Curtain, would win us thousands of friends. So far top State Department officials have been dragging their heels on giving the green light to a brand of diplomacy as drastic as this. But perhaps some day they'll wake up to the fact that people-to-people diplomacy is a lot more important than striped-pants diplomacy and that if you have people all over one country taking an interest in another country it's a bigger move for peace than a thousand embassy tea parties or any number of notes handed to foreign ministers.

show that a very large number of tables actually reached the difficult game contract of five clubs on his hand. The play requires forethought and caution, qualities for which students are not supposed to be noted. Here again the students surprised the critics by coming up with the right line of play in most cases. The correct line of play, followed at most tables, is for South to win two top hearts and ruff a heart with a low trump in dummy. Declarer next takes the ace of spades and gives up a spade trick to East. East returns a trump, and South wins. Declarer must now ruff a low spade with dummy's ace of trumps. The fall of the spades has warned declarer to make this play in order to avoid an overruff. South can get back to his hand by cashing the ace of diamonds and ruffing a diamond and can now ruff his last spade with dummy's ten of clubs. East can take his king of clubs then or later, but South can win the rest of the trick, making his game contract.

Q—The bidding has been: North East South West 1 Diamond Pass 1 Heart 1 Spade Pass Pass ? You, South, hold: Spade 4, Hearts A-K-J-7-6-5, Diamonds Q-T-8-3, Clubs J-2. What do you do? A—Bid three hearts. You can afford to invite a high card opposite an opening bid, a strong six-card suit, and a good fit for your partner's suit. If your partner is very short in hearts, there will probably be a game in diamonds. Read The Classifieds.

Summer Camp Play—Graduates Shoot Wolves—Butter To Stay In USN—McCarthy And CIA

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Let Radio Moscow make of it what it will, but here's an item which seems to be fraught with significance of something or other. It is contributed by a colleague: "Like many Summer camps, the one my daughter attends in Maine sends parents mimeographed weekly newsletters describing camp activities. The one we just received tells of the Historical Pageant on July 4. Each of the several cabins was instructed to present a scene of an event in American history. The girls were told to plan and present their skits without assistance from the adult camp staff. "There was the usual Landing of Columbus, Entrance of the 13 Original States, Signing of the Declaration of Independence. But the two that won top prizes were the Operation which separated the Brodie Twins (both of the heads) and the execution of the Rosenbergs (the atom spies). "The operation looked very sterile," gushed the Camp Director in her newsletter to parents. "But oh, the instruments! On the Rosenberg execution, which took first prize for ingenuity and carefully thought out presentation, she said, 'I thought our old jelly mold had served as almost everything but it never was a death cap before.' Wolf Control Bared Ohio Congressman George T. Bender made a record short speech the other day in which he asked: "Mr. Speaker, did you know that the United States Fish and Wildlife Service is hiring college graduates to shoot wolves from Alaska? They have other duties besides wolf control. They are graduates in game management, and are responsible for keeping a tally on the amount and kinds of game above the Arctic Circle. They are supposed to supplement nature by keeping a favorable balance of species in the area, by shooting wolves. No Income Tax Puerto Rico observed its first birthday as a Commonwealth in July. Congress made the island self-governing a year ago, without giving it statehood such as Hawaii and Alaska now are seeking. Under this arrangement, Puerto Ricans enjoy all the privileges of American citizenship—without having to pay federal income taxes. New Pests In U. S. A. Smithsonian Institution scientists have discovered three new kinds of cockroaches invading the United States. Most threatening is the Maderia cockroach. It is believed to have originated in Africa, but it stowed away on ships to the West Indies and eventually came to the U. S. The other invaders are the spotted Mediterranean roach, which has been found on Cape Cod, and the East African roach, which made its appearance in Florida. Butter And The USN U. S. Navy apparently is going to be the last stronghold for butter eaters in America. Army and Air Force now are authorized to serve oleomargarine to their troops, but not the Navy, where it's still against the law.

Have A Laugh

By BOYCE HOUSE The recent cafe story reminded me of the man who entered a fine restaurant, ordered a big meal, then ordered a fine cigar and then called for the proprietor. When the owner appeared, the customer, well-dressed and polished in manner, leaned back, blew a smoke-ring and said, "You may not recall but five years ago I was in here. I was down on my luck, didn't have a penny but ordered a meal, couldn't pay course so you had me thrown out." The proprietor said, "I am very sorry, very sorry, indeed and wish to apologize for that occurrence of five years ago. And what can I do now?" The customer blew another smoke-ring and then said, "I'm afraid I am going to have to ask you to do it again."

Beside the Laughing Water

A Romance by LOUIS ARTHUR CUNNINGHAM

THE STORY: Fate brings Lilith Grayson to Canada, where she meets the handsome young man, Giles Wayland, whom she had loved during the war. There she meets Lillith, who has been discovered Lillith's identity as a London actress. Lillith Gray whom she blames for Giles' death, and his two children Peg and Rewas. Lillith also meets Gavin Wayland, Giles' younger brother, who is described as a woman's hater.

"You don't need to ask, my child. And I think you're wise to say nothing. Let the dead past bury its dead." "If it only will."

BEFORE the days turned cool Archer taught her how to paddle his canoe. Soon she could handle the light craft and as she was a good swimmer Archer let her have the canoe to herself whenever she wished.

"But don't ever forget," Archer warned her several times, "that the Laughing Water can have its treacherous spells. And when it gets angry its laughter isn't good to hear."

Archer had also warned against going too far from shore. "Wide and deep," intoned Archer in his Indian-chant voice, "is Winnam-ko-wah—the great-grandmother of waters, the wise she with waters—and she's just waiting for greenhorns like you to venture too far out on her surface. Then she will start to kick up her heels and, man-o-man, you'll find it's no summer-squall on a pond."

She knew that very soon that day after the sky's sudden darkening, the drive of rain, the swift rise of the wind, the angry swelling of the waves against the little canoe that now seemed so weak and frail as the river began to lash about like an angry monster and show its mighty power.

She was far from the shore; she had been paddling towards a great rock on the far side of the river, called The Minister's Face. It was only a question of minutes before the canoe would be swamped and she would be bucking those wild, rushing waters, feeling their splash and sting on her face, suffocating, drowning in their black and secret depths.

She heard the deep thrum of the aquaplane only a few seconds before the canoe broached-to and turned over, throwing her into the mad maelstrom, blinded and choking. She glimpsed the white craft knitting towards her, sending up a huge cloud of spray, and, as it slowed, she fought her way towards it, grasping with frantic fingers at the buoy swung out to her, pulling herself slowly along the sodden hemp until strong hands seized her under the arms and, like a gaffed fish, she was dragged into the speedboat and lay gasping and spluttering water on the cushions.

"You must have heard harp music that time, lady," Gavin Wayland's thin brown face was stern and his eyes angry. "What is the idea paddling around in that ickie-shell in a blow like this? Did you think the river was something like the Serpentine or one of those cute duck ponds you people call lakes? Somebody should have told you—." He broke off suddenly and stared at her, at the clinging slacks and sweater, the sodden red hair that hung mermaid-fashion over her shoulders. "Why you're the new teacher from Edgemere! I thought you were one of the brats. You're just a kid yourself!"

"I'm not!" Lillith's teeth began to chatter and Gavin swung a trench-coat around her shoulders.

SHE saw the exultation in his face, the joy of conflict in the set of his jaw as the chrome and mahogany craft made a monkey out of the stormy water. "Look in that seat locker beside you—you'll find some towels. You're awfully pretty—like a wet kitten; and you look 10 years younger than the day I saw you."

"My hair isn't snow white then?" "Far from it. I should say it's redder than my niece's. You know—Peg."

"Oh, yes, I know Peg. She is one of my star pupils." "I can't imagine you teaching those young she-bobcats. I don't wonder that you try to add on those years and all the rest of it. You don't look much different now from any of your students."

Army Tells How Rotation To Work For Korean Zone

TOKYO —(AP)— The U. S. Army Tuesday announced a new rotation system which will make the normal tour for all soldiers in Korea 18 months beginning October 1.

The tour for U. S. soldiers in the Philippines will be 24 months.

Married soldiers in Okinawa who have their families with them and unmarried soldiers will serve 30 months, and personnel in Okinawa whose dependents do not accompany them will serve 20 months.

In Japan, soldiers accompanied by dependents and unmarried soldiers will serve 36 months, while soldiers whose dependents do not accompany them will serve 24 months.

In the past, rotation has been on a system of "points" for "constructive months service."

Service At Front
A soldier at the front got four points a month while a soldier in a rear area in Korea got two. The new system of 18 months in Korea will send the rear area soldier home sooner but the soldier who would have been at the front lines will have to stay in Korea longer.

Before, a soldier who spent all of his service at the front could go home in nine months, or after he had 36 points. But most units spent at least part of their time behind the lines, so there were only a handful of soldiers who went home before serving 12 months in Korea.

Army Forces Far East Headquarters said the new policy would not affect personnel who would be ready for rotation under the point system before October 1.

Old Points Frowned
They will return home on schedule, under the old system.

For soldiers who are in the Far East now—but will not rotate until after October 1—the points they have already still will count. The Army will give them credit for 1/30th of their tour for each point they have. Thus, a soldier in Korea who has 27 points prior to October 1 will have completed three-fourths of his tour, or the equivalent of 13 months. He would have four more months to go.

Soldiers still will be allowed to volunteer for another post in the Far East after completing 10 months service in Korea. They would have to complete a minimum 12 additional months in Japan or Okinawa after their transfer.

Need For Higher Limit On Federal Debts Emphasized

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Administration officials indicated Tuesday they almost certainly will ask Congress toward the end of this week for a new ceiling on the national debt.

The truce in Korea, they said, will not ease appreciably the strain on government finances in the next six to eight months. Reduced spending for defense, said the officials, who asked not to be named, must come from reorganization and tightening of the defense setup "and that will take time."

They said the government will in all likelihood spend the 43 1/2 billion dollars now budgeted for major national security programs in the 12 months ending next June 30, despite the end of fighting in Korea.

Potential Treasury Secretary Robert A. Taft said that a billion dollars might be saved, they said, in reduced fighting expenses. But that much or perhaps more, they estimated, probably would be used in the next year to 18 months in helping devastated Korea.

One official, explaining that overall defense spending will probably continue much as planned before the truce was signed in Korea, said: "We don't know what is going to happen in Indochina or other potential trouble spots. So far as the reduction of spending is concerned, the truce in Korea is only a ray of light on the horizon."

Higher Debt Ceiling
The officials said their decision on asking Congress to raise the present 275 billion dollar debt limit depends on congressional action on still unfinished spending and tax legislation.

However, it was indicated, the people in the Treasury and elsewhere who must make the recommendation to President Eisenhower virtually have made up their minds that a higher debt limit will be necessary.

The debt now stands only two and one-half billion dollars beneath the limit and estimated spending and income between now and the period of high tax return next Spring will keep this margin from growing any bigger.

Court Begins Sorting Out Polygamists' Proceedings

SHORT CREEK —(AP)— Negotiations to furnish bonds for the 34 men and 50 women arrested in a state raid on this polygamous community began Tuesday following the arrival of an attorney from Salt Lake City, Utah.

The attorney said he was H. S. Nolan but he refused to answer such questions as who would guarantee the bond or whether he would become a member of the defense expected to be engaged for the sect.

A pre-dawn raid Sunday conducted by Arizona authorities rounded up 263 children in addition to the men and women. A total of 122 warrants had been issued with 38 persons believed to have sought haven in Utah.

Juvenile court proceedings to determine disposition of the children will be the next step in the operation.

Businessmen of Mission, and San Miguel and Valdeces in Mexico, are making plans for another international bridge in Western Hidalgo County.

SAFETY FIRST, VALOR SECOND

ELGIN, ILL. —(AP)— Some 35 members of the Elgin Camera Club were snapping their shutters at long-horned sheep in a suburban pasture when a bull appeared unannounced.

As the animal stomped and snorted toward them, the hobbyists broke ranks and scrambled to the safety of autos parked nearby. Elmer Gylleck, their leader, then addressed them.

"That was a narrow squeak," he said, "but that bull coming at us made a great picture. How many of you snapped it?"

Not a voice or hand was raised.

Tax Bureau Ruling Snubs Truman Plea For Tax Concession

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Chicago Tribune said Tuesday the Internal Revenue Bureau has refused to approve an agreement which would let former President Harry Truman spread $600,000 from magazine sale of his memoirs over seven income tax years.

The Tribune, in a story filed by its Washington bureau, said Charles D. Davis, chief counsel of the service, refused to approve an agreement between Truman and Time, Inc.

The Truman memoirs are to be published by Life magazine before they appear in book form.

Norman A. Sugarman, head of the bureau's technical rulings division, approved the Truman-Time agreement but was overruled by Davis May 21, the newspaper said.

Truman contended, the Tribune said, that sale of his memoirs was a "casual" sale of personal property—rather than of services—and met the requirements for extending income tax payments on the proceeds over a seven-year period instead of a single year.

Davis ruled that Truman's receipt of installment payments before delivery was cause for rejecting the agreement.

Van Fleet Gives Qualified Approval To Atom Warfare

NEW YORK —(AP)— Retired Gen. James A. Van Fleet, asked if he thought atomic warfare should be used against the Communists if they violated the Korean truce, replied with a qualified "Yes."

Before answering, Van Fleet said it was an "iffy" question and that he didn't want to see headlines reading that he advocates atomic war.

After answering, he said he believed in "crossing a bridge when you come to it" and "playing it as you go—but always with a firm hand."

Newsman raised the question Monday at a conference following a preview of a television film made for the relief drive of the American-Korean Foundation. Van Fleet, former commander of UN forces in Korea, is a foundation director.

Two Negroes Attend Presidential Dinner

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Eisenhower Monday night gave the fifth of a series of dinners he has been holding at the White House for government officials, businessmen and others.

Among the 16 men invited were two Negroes: A. A. Alexander, Washington contractor, and Dr. Frederick D. Patterson, president of Tuskegee Institute in Alabama.

Senate Puts Limit On Overseas Foods

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Eisenhower's proposal to send government-owned surplus food abroad to fight famine or other disaster won Senate approval, but with limitations.

The bill would authorize him to send up to 100 million dollars of farm commodities overseas between now and next March 15.

Eisenhower originally asked for a two-year authority to sell or give away any government-held surplus food. But this promptly stirred objections that three to five billion dollars worth of commodities could be shipped abroad. The Senate Agriculture Committee wrote in the limitation on the amount.

The House is expected to pass the Senate measure or its own bill quickly, possibly Wednesday.

Allies Gain Most In Truce Division

TOKYO —(AP)— The cease-fire line across Korea gives the Allies a little more than twice as much of North Korea as the Communists have on South Korea, UN Command headquarters said Tuesday.

The Allies hold 2,054 square miles of ground north of Parallel 38, mostly on the eastern two-thirds of the peninsula. The Communists hold 975 square miles south of the parallel, in the Kaesong-Panmunjom-Haeju peninsula area on the west.

Balloons Waft Bibles Behind Iron Curtain

NEW YORK —(AP)— Several copies of the Bible have been wafted behind the Iron Curtain by balloons, says an official of the Russian Bible Society, an American organization.

The Rev. John F. B. Carruthers, the society's foreign relations secretary, who returned from Europe Monday, said he helped set up the project.

He said possession of the Russian Orthodox Bible is not outlawed in the Soviet Union, but it may not be printed or sold. He declined to say from which country the Bibles were dispatched.

TEMPLE MAY BECOME TOBEY

TEMPLE, N. H. —(AP)— This 184-year-old town may change its name to Tobey in honor of its famed son, Senator Charles W. Tobey, who died Friday.

Selectman Henry Fish said the suggestion would go before the town meeting next March.

Tobey was interred here Tuesday.

Farmers Sell More Produce But Incomes Show Decrease

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Agriculture Department reported Tuesday that farm income during the first half of this year was down five per cent from a year ago. It totaled $12,600,000,000.

Farmers sold more crops and livestock and livestock products than during the first half of last year, but prices averaged 10 per cent lower.

Receipts from livestock and livestock products totaled $8,200,000,000 a year ago. Most of this decline was due to lower prices for cattle and calves. Crop receipts in the first six months totaled $4,400,000,000, about the same as in 1952.

The department said the decline in farm income from a year ago has been getting larger month by month. In June, for example, receipts were down 13 per cent from the corresponding month last year.

At Record Level
Meanwhile, the department predicted that the combined production of crops and livestock this year may be about the same as the 1952 record. The agency's July crop report indicated that crop output may be the third largest of record. Production of livestock and livestock products are likely to be the largest of record.

The department said the domestic demand for food and other farm products is continuing high, but that foreign demand remains at a reduced level, largely as a result of improved production abroad.

SPORTS PARLEY

By CHARLEY ESKEW

There's a store of ironical disappointment on schedule for Midland golf fans in case young Wendy Green, the freckled junior golfer, fulfills his darkhorse role in the National Junior Amateur tournament at Tulsa as West Texans expect.

He's not only a sentimental choice to go places in the tourney for 17-and-under youngsters but he packs a terrific record into the meet. Still, if the National Amateur had been held earlier, Green possibly would come in for honors just as great as the junior title.

A Victory Would Be Too Late

He might land a spot on the 15-man amateur team which will compete in Dallas, October 24-25, against Texas pros in the twentieth annual Texas Cup Matches. Only Odessa's Billy Maxwell ranks above him in West Texans' books after his sterling 1953 performance, as Men's West Texas finalist, Hobbs Invitational champion, and Hobbs Junior medalist and champion. Yet those are hardly enough—and the state-wide publicity is lacking—to place the slight teenager among Texas' top 15.

A victory at Tulsa, as has been predicted by several of his supervising pros, would be just the thing to give Wendy recognition as a ranking Texas amateur.

Instead, the Texas sportswriters who are selecting the state amateur team will have their ballots mailed into publicity chairman Harold Ratliff of The Associated Press before a voting deadline Wednesday—the same day Wendy tees off in the National.

So, who are among the leading West Texas men being considered to play the pros? Jack Williams of Plainview, the Men's West Texas champ; Bobby French of Odessa and Don Cherry of Wichita Falls.

Green, who lost to Williams here in the West Texas, beat him 5 and 4 on his way to the Hobbs Men's title; he stopped French 1-up in the West Texas and perhaps only needs a second chance at Cherry. The Wichita Falls crooner, a Walker Cup nominee, enjoyed a shaky one-hole victory over Green when the Midland boy was 16 and seeking a title at Hobbs on his first outing.

Conrad At Head Of List

Perhaps, it's jumping the gun, out on the promise of Green's good showing at Tulsa here's the ballot we're mailing to friend Ratliff. And Green gets in the bunch:

1. Joe Conrad, San Antonio, the Trans-Miss and Southern Amateur winner; 2. Cherry, Wichita Falls; 3. Billy Maxwell, Odessa, 1952 National Amateur tilt; 4. Buster Reed, Dallas; 5. Jimmie Connolly, Austin, 1953 state amateur winner; 6. Don January, Dallas; 7. Billy Erforth, Lubbock, 1952 state champ; 8. Don Addington, Dallas; 9. Ernie Vossler, Fort Worth; 10. Julian Oates, Waco and Texas University; 11. Bert Weaver, Beaumont; 12. Lee Pinkston, Abilene; 13. Dick McCreary, Houston; 14. Wendy Green, Midland; 15. David (Spec) Goldman, Dallas.

This of course, disregards a lot of great Texas amateurs to put a local choice on top but you can take the words of sharper golf fans, the pros, and get a like opinion.

A visitor in the Indian Park press box this week is Pat Monahan, a St. Louis Cardinal scout, and it's a first trip into the Longhorn League for the veteran of 30 talent-hunting years.

Monahan, of all times, glimpsed at his first game in Midland when Artesia opened its current series here Monday night and chose to start its own Pat Monahan on the mound. "If he's a Monahan, he can't hit," said the scout and he pretended, we think, to root for Artesia.

With the Driller pitcher hitless in one trip and routed from the mound, Pat the scout had to find a bit of consolation in that Pat the player spells his last name with an s.

The Roses really were in bloom at the Overland Women's Golf Club tournament in Denver. Jeanne Rose won the first flight, Rose Goldberg the third and Selma Rose the fourth.

Joe Dobson, pitcher for the Chicago White Sox, established an American League record for hurlers by playing 156 games and handling 153 chances, before making his first major league error.

Indians Capture Topsy-Turvy Tilt, 11 To 6

Hughes, Soto, Diaz Spark Win; Fight Enlivens Action

Move over, Brooklyn!

In the way of baseball you ain't seen nothing yet. At least, in Flat-bush the sany things seem to come in single circumstances and not quite with the forethought put into a topsy-turvy Midland-Artesia game in the Longhorn League.

Take, for instance, when Midland moved within a half game's reach of third place by whipping the Drillers, 11-6, here Monday night.

What happened—Well:

(1) Joe Bauman, the Driller boss, got into an argument on the second play of the game—a twin killing—after the umpire ruled both Artesia runners out on a close call. So Big Joe really came under everybody's eye.

(2) He was, as third man up in the first inning, prompted by fans, Indians and umpire to stand closer to the pitcher while batting. He did gaining revenge by slapping a homer, his sixth this season against Midland, giving the Drillers a short-lived, 1-0 lead.

The rest of the events, no less surprising, saw: (3) Bill Brown of Midland and John DeGiantamasso of Artesia in a dusty, rolling fight at third base. (4) Midland get only one clean hit in a five-hit, five-run second and third inning uprising for a permanent lead. (5) Indian Shortstop Scooter Hughes collect an inside-the-park homer and six runs batted-in to overcome the solo homers of Bauman, Les Mulcahy and Armando Sanchez. (7) Goofiest of all was the pitching.

In that department, Romarico Soto won his eighth decision with conscripted help from little left-handing center Fielder Mickey Diaz, who took only two mound turns—to face Bauman—and recorded two strikeouts.

Then Bauman, to counter, became a victim of his own prank by giving up a walk to Art Bowland on his one sixth inning hurling appearance.

Diaz and Soto committed three balks apiece.

Here's the running account in part:

After Bauman's homer, Midland rallied for three runs in the second when Diaz blooped a one-bagger over second base and Hughes bounced another through the box to go with an error, walk and Quentin Basco's squeeze bunt.

The Tribe then made it 5-1 in the fight-till third inning. Bowland popped a single over third, gained second on a passed ball and scored on Glen Selbo's high-bouncing infield hit. Selbo, seemingly forced on Bill Brown's followup grounder, gained third when the second baseman erred. Selbo went home, with Brown moving to third, on a well hit single by Diaz. The scoring there ended for the frame, not the excitement, however.

Brown was picked off third base by Catcher Mulcahy but stayed to tangle with DeGiantamasso for about two minutes. Neither of the fighters was ruled out of the game.

The Drillers who scored twice in both the fourth and sixth innings could never get closer than a 9-8 fourth. Sanchez led off the visitors' fourth inning with his home run and DeGiantamasso drove in a second run with a single. Diaz then fanned Bauman, as he did again in the sixth after Relief Pitcher Bob Presley's flyout got a tally and DeGiantamasso drilled in another.

Hughes found the bases full in Midland's win-clinching four-run spree in the fifth and lined a double for three runs, into a left-center field.

After Mulcahy's homer for Artesia in the seventh, Hughes matched the stroke—but within the park—with a blooper to right.

His hit went for a two-run homer after Driller Fielder Joe Fortin took a spill on a try for a shoe-string catch. He was injured on the play.

SALDANO GETS ALL-STAR POST

ABILENE —(P)—Pitcher Mario Saldano of the San Angelo Colts was added to the Texas roster for the Longhorn League's All-Star game at Midland Thursday.

The selection was made by Texas Manager Rudy Briner. He will replace Dario Jimenez of Odessa, an optioned player who was recalled last week by Amarillo of the West Texas-New Mexico League.

All-Stars, Executives To Be Feted Thursday

Marion Flynt, president of the Midland Indians, has arranged for the Longhorn League All-Star players to be feted after the game here Thursday night, he announced Tuesday.

Flynt said he had arranged for food and drinks to be brought to the Midland club house so the players could be fed immediately following the game.

Also on the agenda Thursday is a 2 p.m. league meeting at the Scharbauer Hotel and a party for league executives and sports writers at the Petroleum Club at 5 p.m.

Rockets Stop Broncs, 8-3

BIG SPRING —(P)—The Roswell Rockets, coasting behind the seventh-pitching of Aramis Arencibia, took advantage of Bronco Tommy Herrera's wildness to capture an 8-3 decision Monday night.

The Rockets got one run in the first when Herrera walked the first two men to face him and Buddy Orimes followed up with a single. They made three runs in the second on another walk, a Bronco error and hits by Bill Wollet and Arencibia, whose blow sent one of the clinching runs across.

The Rocket right-hander ran into trouble only in the seventh, turning three of them into runs. Up to that time Arencibia had allowed only one safe blow.

There wasn't an extra-base blow in the ball game, but the Rockets got 13 singles.

Jamie Fals, who come in to relieve Herrera in the fifth inning, shut out the Rockets during the last three innings.

Potashers' 14-Hit Attack Rips Oilers

ODESSA —(P)—The Carlsbad Potashers hammered Odessa for 14 hits and an 8-2 triumph Monday to gain one-half game on the idle San Angelo Colts.

Gene Wulf scattered nine hits and received good backing and enough runs from teammates to get credit for the victory.

Jim Carson gave the Potashers 11 of the 14 hits and five runs before Manager Bob Martin prescribed the showers and sent Charley Craig in for relief duty. As a clinching measure, Carlsbad touched him for three runs in the final inning.

The Potashers started the scoring with a lone run in the fourth on successive singles by Merv Connors, Ike Jackson and Bob Hobbs. Odessa coumgered with a run when Paul Zubak got on via an error, Robert Fabian then singled, Zubak going to third when Hobbs missed the ball in center field. He scored on a one-bagger by Felix Castro.

A four-run outburst in the sixth resulted when Connors and Jackson walked before Hobbs belted a home run over the left field fence. The Potashers added another when Armando Gallart and Goldy Gholson singled, followed by a single by Gene Grant.

Ted Williams Gets Release

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Ted Williams, slugging outfielder for the Boston Red Sox, was released from active duty with the Marine Corps Tuesday. He said he'd probably show up in Fenway Park Wednesday.

The outfielder, 34, who has been flying jet planes in Korea, signed a few papers at the naval gun factory and then was freed for active duty on another front — the baseball diamonds of the American League.

"I'm anxious to help if I can swing a bat," Williams said. When he would return to the lineup, Williams said he did not know.

"After all," he said with a laugh,

"I don't even know if they want me or not."

Williams, who is a captain in the Marine Corps' volunteer reserve, was called up May 1, 1952, and sent to Korea. He flew 38 missions before an ear and nose ailment sent him to the sidelines.

Doctors at the naval hospital in suburban Bethesda, Md., put him through a treatment program and Monday gave him a clean bill of health. That freed him for immediate separation from active duty, although his term of duty normally would not expire until October 1.

It usually takes days or even weeks for the separation formalities to be completed. In Williams' case, it is taking less than 24 hours.

Asked whether he thought his ailment would interfere with his playing, Williams said, "I guess I can't hear as well as I used to, but I don't think that'll bother my ball playing."

Williams scoffed at published stories that he will be back in the Red Sox lineup by such and such a date. He said that personally he has no idea when he'll play.

"I'm stiff," he said. "I haven't swung a bat in almost two years. I don't want to get in there and hurt the club because I'm not ready."

But he made it quite clear he wants to get back in action — and soon. He's looking forward to quite a few seasons of big league ball.

Brooklyn Goes West With Flag Hopes High

By The Associated Press
If the Brooklyn Dodgers play close to .500 ball on their 13-game Western road trip opening Tuesday in Chicago, the home office will be sorely tempted to start having World Series tickets printed.

The Dodgers begin their third Western swing with a seven-game bulge over the Milwaukee Braves and the deep-rooted conviction that the only serious challenger between them and the pennant is fourth-place New York.

The Giants went West with high hopes, too, but they got off to a dreadful start Monday night in Milwaukee where the given-up-for-dead Braves buried them under a 13-0 count.

For the Dodgers, the West this year has proved just as wild and woolly as the storybooks claim. Brooklyn won only three out of eight games on its first journey West. On their second trip the Dodgers finished up with three straight over Milwaukee and moved into the league lead they've held ever since. The Giants can still recover from Monday night's beating. Unlike the Dodgers they've played good ball in the West this season, winning 14 out of 21. They have a winning edge in every park except Milwaukee where they've now lost four out of six.

After the Braves dropped three of their four games in Brooklyn over the weekend, most observers figured they were finished. But against New York Monday night Charlie Grimm's lads tried to persuade the home folks it was all a mistake.

They slugged four New York pitchers for 14 hits and made it easy for lefty Warren Spahn to register his thirteenth victory of the season and his thirtieth major league shutout. Eddie Mathews hammered two home runs, the first one with the bases loaded during an eight-run uprising in the fourth inning. The blast was Mathews' second grand slam clout of the season and his night's work left him with 32 homers in 85 games, one short of Babe

Ruth's pace in 1927, the year the Babe hit the all-time record of 60.

Everybody but Spahn contributed one hit and Mathews got three. Jim Hearn was the loser.

The game was the only one in either league.

The Giants stick around Milwaukee for three more games on this visit. Brooklyn plays three in Chicago, Pittsburgh is in St. Louis for three and Philadelphia opens the tour with three in Cincinnati.

In the American league, the New York Yankees begin their home stand with three games against the Indians who have beaten them six in a row. Boston, fresh from a brilliant 10-2 road trip, makes its bid for better things against second-place Chicago in Boston. St. Louis will be at Philadelphia and Detroit at Washington.

Favorites Win In Softball Final Playoffs

Western Inspection and Tide Water continued as the class of their respective softball leagues Monday night as they captured opening final round playoff games from Rotary and Gulf.

The Inspection nine was hard pressed to take a 4-1 triumph from Rotary, finally getting in the groove in the top of the seventh to score three times and break up the game on a single by Cooke, Chappie's triple, Montgomery's walk and Evans' triple.

Montgomery spaced five hits to the Rotary nine, giving up the only run in the third when he hit Walker and Fleming singled after an infield out had advanced the runner into scoring position. That run looked big until the Inspection men tied in the sixth on Evans' double and Jones' single.

Tide Water had things its own way in beating Gulf, 20-3. The league winners got out front in the first inning and never trailed. Walks and 15 hits proved Gulf's undoing. Leading attacker was Parham who collected four singles and a double for a perfect five-for-five night.

Like Rotary, Gulf could get only five hits, but two of the blows were triples by Graham and Rowland and another was a double by Hutchinson.

The same clubs square off again at 7 and 9 p.m. Tuesday with Western Inspection and Tide Water seeking the clinchers in the best two-of-three playoff series.

Big Spring Tigers Defeat Colts, 4-2

The Midland Colts lost two games in succession for the first time Sunday when they bowed to an all-star aggregation from Big Spring, 4-2. They had lost to the Midland Roughnecks Saturday night.

Rain halted the second game of the twin bill scheduled between the Colts and Tigers Sunday with the score standing at 1-1.

Big Spring recruited players such as Floyd Martin, former Longhorn League performer, for the occasion and Martin started both Big Spring rallies with doubles.

Midland got only two hits, a single by C. B. Nunes and a double by Arturo Ochoa.

Ex-Convict Faces Charge In Murder Of GI Near Ennis

HOUSTON — (AP) — A murder charge in the death of Airman Julius Pruitt, shot to death July 10 on the outskirts of Ennis, will be filed in Ellis County against Wayne Walker, Ellis County Sheriff Burl White said Tuesday.

White took custody of the red-haired former convict Monday night. He said the charge will be filed on the basis of a statement made to Harris County Sheriff C. V. Kern by Walker's friend, Mrs. Gloria Williamson.

Mrs. Williamson said Walker killed Pruitt in complicity with Eugene Sullivan, 28, himself slain and his body found close to Houston, where Walker dumped it from his car, it was said.

Mrs. Williamson said Jack Walker killed Sullivan with a jack handle a few hours after the men had killed Pruitt for his money.

Body Of GI Due In Lubbock May End Wartime Mystery

LUBBOCK — (AP) — The body of a soldier is coming to Lubbock Friday—but whether it is Don Barnes killed on Java 11 years ago depends finally on a dentist.

Don's identical twin brother, Dan, is bringing the body home. The mother, Mrs. Dora Earhart of Lubbock, waits anxiously.

Their father, H. M. Barnes, a railroad employe in Amarillo, is coming.

To Dr. H. H. Bidwell falls the job of saying whether this body is that of Don Barnes. Don lost some front teeth in a schoolboy fight and Bidwell did the bridge-work. Bidwell is almost sure that the X-rays of dental work on the body correspond to the work he did on Don.

"Dr. Bidwell is going to have to identify the body at the Army's request," the mother said. "And if it weren't Don, I just couldn't help believe he is still alive. I wish someone could settle it."

Don and Dan enlisted in the National Guard at Lubbock in 1940, when they were 17.

The boys, members of the 131st Field Artillery, Lost Battalion, were sent to Java in the early days of World War II.

One day Don and Dan flipped a coin to see who would take a ride with the crew on a B-17. Don won the toss and went down with the plane during an air raid.

Parachute Seen
Then the mixup began. First the army said Dan was killed, then changed it to Don. A Dutch farmer said he saw one man parachute from the plane, was it Don? The Army notified Mrs. Earhart Don had been buried on Java. Then in 1951, nine years later, the Army notified her they couldn't find his body.

She heard no further word until Friday, when the Army informed her that the body would arrive in Lubbock for further identification.

Dan had been captured by the Japanese on Java and spent 44 months in a prison camp. After the war he was released from the Army and then joined the Air Force "to complete Don's mission." He now is a technical sergeant at Carmichael, Calif.

County Measuring Of Cotton Acres Starts Wednesday

Measurement of Midland County's 1953 cotton acreage will get underway Wednesday.

Charles Champion, county manager of the Production Marketing Administration, said Tuesday the job will be done by Eugene Jones, J. O. Crawford and C. W. (Jack) Calhoun, county farmers.

Every cotton farm in the county will be measured and the information will be used in setting up the 1954 PMA cotton allotment program.

Champion said the job probably will be completed in three or four weeks, since the final report must be completed by September 1.

Deported Veteran Found Not Guilty By Italian Court

PALERMO, SICILY — (AP) — U. S. Air Force veteran Pasquale Sciortino has won acquittal on charges he shared in crimes of his brother-in-law, famed bandit king Salvatore Giuliano. He already is under a life sentence, which he has appealed.

Sciortino previously had been given a life sentence in absentia for a 1947 machine-gun massacre by the gang in Sicily. He had fled to the United States and served in the Air Force under an assumed name.

The United States deported Sciortino, husband of Giuliano's sister, last April. He left another wife and a child in America.

Armless Baby Gets Temporary Home

DALLAS — (AP) — An armless seven-month-old Waxahachie baby without a home has been taken in by a Dallas couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Wardwell Jones have added the little girl to 40 children whom they care for in a private home. Plans are for Louise to stay there a year. In that time it is hoped a family will be found to rear the infant.

Officers found the infant in a shack near Waxahachie. Her mother was quoted as saying, "I don't love her and I don't want her. I don't care what you do with her."

More than $700 has been contributed to a trust fund.

But it's got 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, wood-burning fireplace, and wonderful neighbors. Attractive landscaping, tile fence. Located on exclusive BEDFORD. Owner will consider a trade of reasonably valued smaller home or oil royalty.

Russia Acclaims Armistice As Great Peoples' Victory

MOSCOW —(P)—The Communist Party newspaper Pravda declared Tuesday the signing of the Korean armistice proves that even the most complex current international problems can be settled peacefully.

In a lead editorial, Pravda repeated Soviet charges that American aggression started the war and declared the Russians always had been working for peace. It also blamed the United States for "dragging out" the armistice talks and for South Korean objections to the truce.

The paper warned that American officials bear responsibility for seeing that the South Koreans do not violate the armistice.

The Communist Party organ, with other Soviet newspapers, reprinted Premier Georgi Malenkov's promise to North Korea of "every possible aid" in rebuilding war damage and reuniting the two halves of the divided country.

The Soviet leader's pledge, made in a telegram to North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung, hailed the armistice as "great victory for the Korean and Chinese Peoples' Volunteers."

Malenkov's pledge did not explain just what aid the Soviets and their allies will give the North Koreans. President Eisenhower asked Congress Tuesday to appropriate 200 million dollars as a first grant from more than one billion dollars the United States probably will spend to rehabilitate South Korea.

Town Dedicates Negro City Hall

ITALY, TEXAS —(P)—Negroes in this Central Texas town now have their own city hall.

In ceremonies Monday night, Mayor Robert D. Windham presented keys of the modest frame structure to John Farrow, named mayor of a recently elected negro City Council.

Under the dual-council system, problems and plans of the negro section of town will be acted upon first by the negro council. Then, to make them legal, proposals will go before the regular City Council.

DEL RIO RECERTIFIED CRITICAL HOUSING AREA

WASHINGTON —(P)—Del Rio, Texas, has been recertified as a critical defense housing area.

It will remain under federal rent control until April 30, 1954, or until the critical housing aspects lessen.

FORT WORTH —(P)—Robert O. Martin, Dalhart, was named president of the Federation of Texas National Farm Loan Association here Monday.

TEMPLE —(P)—Dr. V. M. Longmire, 64, chief of the medical staff of Scott and White Memorial Hospital, died Monday after several months' illness.

Services were held here Tuesday afternoon.

It is believed that the mullet is the only fish which can be fried in its own fat.

MOWING 'EM DOWN—Keeping weeds and water plants down to a minimum in canal-dotted Holland is solved by this floating contraption. The boat has two knives, one on the keel and the other at the stern, both driven by a motor. As the boat moves along the weeds are mowed down.

Mother And Four Children Die As Fire Destroys Home

WORCESTER, MASS. —(P)—A mother and four of her children died early Tuesday in a fire that trapped them in their one-story wooden house in a remote section of Worcester.

The father and two other children escaped.

The dead were Mrs. Barbara A. F. Thoren; John, three; Elaine, eight; Richard, 11; and Joyce, 15.

The mother's body was found in the kitchen near the back door, her arms tightly clasping the body of her three-year-old child.

The father, Chester, suffered burned and cut hands. Judith, 15, Joyce's twin, and Stephen, 13, were not injured.

Cause of the fire was not determined immediately, but Judith and Stephen said there had been a fire in a living room pillow "earlier" in the evening. How much earlier they could not say in their hysterical condition.

Johnson Says Water Supply Top Problem

WASHINGTON —(P)—Texas' basic water problem is supply, not flood control, U. S. Senator Lyndon Johnson told the Senate Monday.

"I do not minimize the importance of flood control but there is no getting away from the fact that supply is now the basic water problem in Texas," Johnson asserted.

Johnson said in the past planners of federal flood control in Texas generally considered water supply a secondary matter. Of 18 reservoirs built or under construction in the state with federal funds, only the recently undertaken Falcon on the Rio Grande was designed primarily for water supply, the Texas senator said.

He said a recent Reclamation Bureau report estimated 85 per cent of Texas' water shed runoff is unused.

OCCASION HAS TWIN MEANING

CENTRAL FRONT, KOREA —(P)—Major John Eisenhower, son of the President, said Tuesday, "We are all glad the shooting is over but the job ahead is even tougher."

"I will never forget the date the shooting stopped," he said, "because it was my first anniversary in Korea. I came here exactly one year ago, on July 27, 1952."

Young Eisenhower, intelligence officer of the 3rd Infantry Division, has 37 points toward rotation and should be eligible to go home August 1.

Truce Skeptics Shun Prayer Meet

COLUMBUS, OHIO —(P)—Only 21 persons attended a widely publicized interdenominational prayer meeting in downtown Columbus to give thanks for the armistice in the Korean War.

The meeting, at Trinity Episcopal Church, was sponsored Monday night by the Columbus Council of Churches.

Rev. Floyd Faust, president of the council, said he expected 500 persons to attend. The meeting was given publicity by Columbus newspapers, radio stations and television outlets.

Mr. Faust said the small turnout indicated people either were skeptical of the permanence of the truce or were indifferent to the war.

VEEP'S AIDE—Christian A. Herter, Jr., son of Governor Herter of Massachusetts, has been named administrative assistant to Vice President Richard Nixon. Herter, a member of the Massachusetts House of Representatives, resigns to take the Washington job.

June Hazlip Sees British Royal Family; Prince Charles Misbehaves At Ceremony

By JUNE HAZLIP
Reporter-Telegram Special Correspondent

LONDON — Landing in England is like stepping into a child's picture book. The brilliant green island seen from aboard ship for the first time looks like a freshly washed emerald, with highlights of red and blue.

The clock began to turn backward when we stepped off the ship onto the cobblestones of—port town—Plymouth. Smart stepping sailors of the "Queen's Ni-vy" paraded past in a flash of blue and white. Bobbies in flowing rain capes and tall hats stood about swinging their nightsticks as they watched for trouble. And, of course, there was the fog. It seems there always is fog in England.

After clearing Her Majesty's Royal customs amid a whirl of efficiency and coronation posters we found ourselves on a "boat-train." This tiny, steam puffing locomotive with seats arranged in compartments, shuttles back and forth each day taking passengers from incoming ships into London.

Vivid Color, Neatness

Our first impression of England after the one of vivid color was one of neatness. Lining the railroad tracks stand tiny houses with tiny gardens and with each flower in its place. These houses with their precise picket or stone fences stand practically on the tracks and many of the gardens have statues and fountains. One thing each has in common—every postage stamp plot is alive with bright red geraniums and small blue flowers.

From Paddington Station, London, we got our first look at England en-masse. Taxis, buses, touring cars, MG's—all with the driver on the wrong side! The idea of a driver on the wrong side was funny but not half so funny as to find ourselves speeding down the wrong side of the street. It takes a strong willed American not to flinch at the sight of cars rushing at him from a point always mentally connected with collisions!

Our first afternoon out was a trip to Windsor Castle, home of England's King and Queen, and Hampton Court, home of past rulers. Hampton became a royal dwelling when Henry VIII "borrowed" it from Cardinal Wolsey, who had meant it to be his papal palace one day. Here amid beautiful gardens and art galleries, lived the old king's wives, one at a time. The ghost of one, who broke from her guards in an effort to reach Henry and plead for life, supposedly runs down the same hall one night a year.

Following Henry VIII into the Tudor palace were his children Edward VI, Mary and Elizabeth, whose seals still appear in parts of the architecture. Charles I, William and Mary, Anne and the first two Georges also lived here, but no reigning sovereign has been in residence since 1760.

Home Of Royalty

Windsor Castle where England's present royalty spend much time, was built in 1070. It had a natural moat of the Thames River and was within a day's march of London, handy to the hunting grounds of Windsor. It was added to by each sovereign until George IV, who did so much for it that no work has been needed since. The stone battlements of the castle have become a symbol to the English people who migrate there each Sunday to feel just a little closer to the Royal family.

Eton College typifies the tradition of the English hierarchy. Here the young gentlemen, sons of knights, dukes, and other royals receive their education. One room of the beautiful old school remains just as it was the day the college opened. Scarred wooden desks and bench, oil lights and primitive surroundings are part of this room where the "first schoolers" receive their education. The reason is to inspire the youngsters to follow in the footsteps of Etonians who have become England's great leaders.

It gave us quite a start to realize that young men were attending school in these halls long before America was discovered.

Although Eton holds a dear spot in most English hearts they are quick to criticize its faults. The famous playing field of Eton are all very well, believe one, but what of the children in London who must play on asphalt playgrounds and never see grass?

"Won on the playing fields of Eton," remarked one cockney of the famous quotation, "but the old duke forgot one thing, lots of boys named Tommy Atkins never went to Eton."

Tower Of London

No one could leave London without seeing the Tower of London, Trafalgar Square, Westminster Abbey, Piccadilly Circus, Big Ben and the House of Parliament, and of course, Buckingham Palace and the changing of the guard.

It was the changing of the guard that a once in a lifetime opportunity came . . . through a streak of luck we managed to see Queen Elizabeth, the Duke of Edinburgh, Prince Charles and Princess Anne.

"Watch that gate," whispered a friendly cockney "and if a maroon and black Dallmer comes through it'll be herself."

It was then that we noticed the royal standard flying from the roof of Buckingham Palace. This flag announces the Royal family in residence. The red coated Grenadier guards with their tall bearskin hats marched into the court yard and stood at attention facing the old guard. Then, after an unprecedented delay another group marched into the yard. This, our friend informed us, was highly irregular as the men were air force officers and not of the guard.

This marked the Queen's arrival. Someone announced that their majesties were on the way to inspect the Air Review and we settled back to wait. Nothing delays a change of guard except a royal mind, and the excitement built as we watched their flurries of action behind the courtyard gate.

Snapped To Attention

Suddenly a bobby stepped in, threw back the gate and waved, the guard snapped to attention and in came the procession with Her Majesty's car second. The duke, in ancient tradition, sat on the Queen's left and Her Majesty leaned slightly forward to wave to the cheering crowds.

Then the powerful car roared out of the palace grounds and down the Mall leaving the yard and to the colorful guards. The band moved forward and the guard started a stately pace across the lawn. A curtain just above us jerked and suddenly we saw bonny Prince Charles and his blonde princess sister, saluting with childish dignity.

In reply the band played the "Teddybear's Picnic" for the youngsters while delighted crowds waved and shouted.

Children will be children and royal ones are no exception! The young prince, half hidden by a white lace curtain decide he couldn't see quite well and jerked the curtain back to appear in full view of the crowds. Just at that moment a hand appeared and the young man disappeared! He had broken a long-standing rule and was seen no more that morning.

Our visit to England also included the famous "Lake Country," home of many of England's Victorian poets. Stratford-on-Avon is the home of the Shakespeare Memorial Theater. It was in this tiny English village that Shakespeare was born and lived most of his life. In Trinity Church, he is interred under his own admonition to would-be grave robbers, "Cursed be he who moves these bones . . ."

At Anne Hathaway's cottage we sat in the same bench Anne and Will used in their courting days before their marriage.

June Meets A Cockney

Meeting an Englishman is hard to do, but meeting a cockney is quite easy. According to the old legend, a cockney is one born within the sound of the bells of the old Bow Church. But with the bells bombed out during the war no cockneys are being born. This is a matter of great concern to Englishmen who believe the cockney to be the soul of England.

These cheerful ruddy faced men and women are the laborers of the country. They live easily, have fun, work hard and adore their royal family. Their candid remarks on the coming and going of that family are quite a revelation. Their Queen is known affectionately as "herself" or "the Lady."

The upper class Englishmen are friendly when the wall of reserve is broken down. What is called aloofness or even rudeness by outgoing Americans actually is shyness. We found them intelligent, highly educated and quite friendly with a dry sense of humor. The friendship of an Englishman is worth the effort it takes to cultivate it. And so on to Holland . . .

MIDLANDER IN LONDON—Nancy Warren, 1600 West Ohio Street, is shown with an attendant at St. James' Palace in London. Nancy is touring Europe with a group of young Texans, under the leadership of Hazel Hunnicut of Fort Worth. After seeing England, they will go to the Continent and return to Texas at the end of August.

Draft Calls Expected To Decrease 4,000 Monthly With Truce

WASHINGTON — The Defense Department anticipates that monthly draft calls will drop 4,000 in about three months if reasonably stable conditions are achieved in Korea within that time.

John Hannah, assistant secretary for manpower, disclosed this prospect recently in stressing the continuing need for Selective Service as long as the United States keeps more than three million men in uniform.

A 4,000 drop would mean cutting the monthly call from 23,000 to 19,000. However, Hannah calculates that it may be necessary to raise the monthly draft quota to around 40,000 beginning in July, 1954. The reason is that draft calls were very heavy in the first 18 months of the Korean War and large numbers of those men will be completing their cycle of duty next year. They will have to be replaced.

Story Of Korean War Written In Blood, Sweat, Rain

Free World Says 'No' To Communism By Heroic Defense

By DON WHITEHEAD
 WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Korean war was born in the rain-drenched dawn of June 25, 1950 (Korean time), an ugly offspring sired by communism's lust for world domination.

That was more than 1,100 days, more than 33,000 hours, more than 24,800 American lives ago. In that measure of time and lives, the world has stood at the abyss of World War III, watching the ebb and flow of battle on the faraway Asian peninsula.

It was a strange war from the start. It was a war that wasn't officially a war. There were victories without final victory. And the line between military and political objectives always was obscure.

It began at the moment the Russian-trained North Korean Army struck across Parallel 38 against South Korean forces neither trained nor equipped to cope with such a tank-led assault. The Russians had geared the North Koreans for warfare. We had trained and equipped the South Koreans merely as a police force.

Alarm Spreads
 In the Red Army's plunge toward the South Korean capital of Seoul, the Republic of South Korea's (ROK) army virtually fell apart. The alarm spread around the world.

President Truman huddled with his advisors in Washington. The decision was to resist this aggression. The United Nations Security Council voted seven to one (the Russians did not attend) to support the President's decision.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur flew to Korea for a first-hand look at the situation (July 29) and two days later—on his recommendation—the first American ground troops were on their way to Korea to enter the fight.

Americans In Action
 One battalion strong, the Americans marched to meet the Reds in battle South of Seoul which had fallen quickly to the invaders. They went into action on July 4—and a few hours later came stumbling back in defeat. They learned the bitter lesson that one battalion of Americans couldn't stop three divisions of Reds.

This was the beginning of the great gamble for time in Korea, a gamble in which outnumbered and outgunned Americans were thrown hastily into battle to win time for a buildup of strength.

In those early days, it was always retreat. Retreat down the road to Taejon and then to Yongdong and Hwanggan. Tired, dirty men cursing the lack of guns and reinforcements. Cursing the stinking rice paddies and the enemy-infested hills that rose above them. Cursing the enemy who swarmed on them always in overpowering numbers.

Combat Troops
 The 24th Infantry Division went into battle first, a battalion at a time. The 25th Division and the First Cavalry Division landed to bolster the line alongside regrouped South Koreans.

The first retreat lasted for a month. And then Lt. Gen. Walton "Johnny" Walker, the U. S. Eighth Army commander, ordered his men to "stand or die" on the Nakdong River line before Taegu.

At the time, it seemed little more than a desperate gesture, this stand-or-die order from the chunky warrior who had been a corps commander with Gen. George Patton in World War II.

Defense Holds
 But the defense held. Through August into September the thin line buckled and sometimes broke under the fanatical charges of the North Koreans. But always Walker managed to patch up the damages and restore his positions.

The Second Infantry Division, the First Marine Brigade, and a British Brigade arrived—each one, it seemed, barely in time to save the defense line from collapse. At times, Walker had every combat unit committed with nothing in reserve. Those were desperate days in Korea when an understrength Army battled for its life and for time in which the nation could muster more strength for the fight.

Reds Strike
 The Reds smashed at the southwest anchor of the defense line and were hurled back. They hit again at the center and drove to within seven miles of Taegu, the headquarters of the Eighth Army. They shifted their attack to the eastern anchor of the line.

They were aiming for the southern port city of Pusan, the vital point of entry for Allied troops and supplies coming by ship from Japan and the United States. Walker shuttled weary troops from one peril point to another, improvising defenses as he went.

Later he said: "I knew we had them licked on September 6. They had thrown the works at us and failed."

Forces Built Up
 During these battles, Gen. Douglas MacArthur in Tokyo had been building up a force of Marines, the Seventh Infantry Division, and South Koreans—preparing them for his now-famous Inchon landing behind the enemy's lines.

Most military leaders in Washington and in the Far East were occup-nese held. And that night they attacked, swarming out of the hills by the tens of thousands.

On the third night, the ROK corps on the Eighth Army's right flank collapsed. The Chinese came surging in on the unprotected flank of the American Second Division. The ROK collapse left unprotected the roads leading to the Army's rear, and the entire Army was in peril.

Three days after that first furious Red assault, the Eighth Army was pulling back in retreat. Then the Chinese smashed into the Marines at the Changjin reservoir and cut off supply routes leading to the coastal city of Hungnam.

Epic Story
 The story of the Marines' epic fight out of the enemy's trap will live forever in America's military history. One Marine snarled: "Hell, we're not retreating. We're just advancing in another direction."

But no matter how braves the words and the deeds, retreat it was. The Seventh Division pulled hastily back from the Manchurian border as the Marines fought their way back across a frozen hell toward Hungnam and safety.

And now, in early December, both the Eighth Army and the 10th Corps were falling back before the Chinese hordes. The records will (Continued On Page Three)

Summerfield Rails At Mail Hike Delay

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Postmaster General Summerfield said Monday it is "an unconscionable situation" for the Post Office Department to be losing almost three quarters of a billion dollars annually. "Nobody could honestly call a two-million-dollar-a-day loss normal," Summerfield said in a copyrighted interview with the magazine U. S. News and World Report. "I see no reason why the Post Office Department should continue to be run on a basis where we expect it to lose a great deal of money."

"It may be inevitable to pass on to our children the cost of war, but I can see no justification in making them pay the cost of carrying and delivering our mail."

Summerfield, on an NBC television program Sunday, said Congress should delay the adjournment which is scheduled for the coming weekend if necessary to approve the higher postal rates he has asked.

He has proposed a general rate boost, including a penny more for first class letters and airmail, to bring in an estimated 240 million dollars a year.

What Car Belongs Here?

Not many people would hesitate in naming the car they feel belongs in that inviting driveway.

It's the entrance to a fine American home, with a tradition of gracious living behind its handsome pillars—and the car which so obviously belongs before it is a Cadillac.

For Cadillac is the overwhelming choice of those who choose without restriction—and who select their motor cars, year after year, for beauty and comfort and safety and prestige.

But here is a fact which it is equally important to remember—a Cadillac likewise belongs in the driveways of millions of other American homes which are far more modest than the beautiful structure shown in this illustration. For it is practical, as well as thrilling, to own a Cadillac.

Listen, if you doubt it, to these amazing and significant facts:

—there are twenty-two models of other makes of American motor cars which actually cost more than the lowest-priced Cadillac!

—a Cadillac will actually run farther on a gallon of gasoline than numerous cars which are built and sold primarily for economy!

—a Cadillac is so dependable and long-lived that it is as economical to maintain as any car you could buy. This is doubly true during and beyond the second fifty thousand miles!

—and finally—according to authentic used car evaluations—a Cadillac may be expected to return a greater percentage of its original cost at the time of resale than any other car built in America.

In view of these facts, don't you think you should consider a Cadillac for your driveway? Whether you live in a mansion or a house designed for easy living—a Cadillac belongs.

You can buy a Cadillac for prestige and glamour—or you can buy it for economy and common sense. And whichever you buy it for, you'll get all four—and a great deal more.

Better come in and see us today. We'll gladly give you the facts and a demonstration.

Korea War Costs Run Into Billions

By ELTON C. FAY
WASHINGTON (AP)—What did the Korean War cost the United States?

More than 22,000 dead on the battlefield, part of a 140,000 casualty total.

More than 15 billion dollars to help pay for more than 1,125,000 tons of artillery ammunition; more than 1,800,000,000 bullets and grenades; 800 tanks and 40,000 trucks used up in battle; more than two million shells for naval guns; hundreds of thousands of tons of bombs.

It triggered a general rearmament program for which the government has spent to date more than 101 billion dollars.

The shooting and the casualty lists will stop.

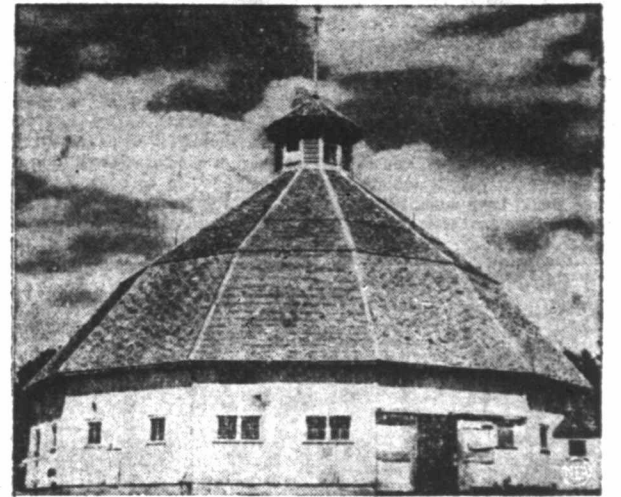

But the boys won't start home tomorrow or next week. Secretary of Defense Wilson says, "It will be a long time before we can with safety withdraw our troops from Korea." A long time can mean six months or more, depending on how fast prisoners are exchanged and how soon peace, instead of mere armistice, can be assured.

Everyone—President Eisenhower, Secretary of State Dulles, Wilson—hurried to caution the country that a Korean truce should not be a signal for demobilization or let-down of the defense against a bigger war by Russia.

The government obviously is worried lest industry think that the truce means quick and wholesale cancellation of munitions orders.

Hardly had the truce signing announcement been made when Wilson issued a statement saying current production plans would be continued "until such time as an orderly production plan can be worked out that will take into account the changed Korean requirements." He did not, however, give a hint whether that plan would be ready soon or at some distant date.

On the day the war started—June 25, 1950—the United States had under arms 1,460,000 men in the Army, Navy, Marines and Air Force. Less than half a dozen Army divisions were manned and equipped to a point where they were ready for battle.

HEADING FOR THE LAST ROUNDUP—One of the few round barns left in the U. S. is this one at Geneseo, Ill. Built in 1913, it is 60 feet high and 80 feet in diameter. The hayloft holds 120 tons and the barn can accommodate six carloads of yearling feeders. But owner Dewey Greene says the unusual shape doesn't permit efficient use of the space.

Any Congressional attempt to cut military spending and preparedness will be resisted by the White House.

Korean Truce Brings More Problems

A Korean truce stops the fighting, but doesn't relieve Uncle Sam of problems that would follow in its wake. Some of them are illustrated here. President Eisenhower and his advisers already are giving serious thought to the demands for a reduction in defense spending, cut in taxes, and the rise of public demand to "bring the boys home." Since many U. S. troops will have to remain in Korea to guard against any further Communist aggression, the United Defense Fund has plans to increase its activity to bring the GI's more and better entertainment during the trying period following a truce.

Stalemate, Then Armistice

(Continued From Page Two) shows there were grave fears in the top military command that Korea would have to be evacuated.

In the west, the Eighth Army pulled back toward Seoul with the Chinese in pursuit. In the northeast, the Third Infantry Division held a beachhead toward which the Marines and elements of the Seventh Division fought their way. A huge armada was assembled for the evacuation. The Marines fought their way back across the mountains and into the valley bringing their wounded with them. And under the Navy's guns, the battered 10th Corps quit the Hungnam beachhead and headed south to join the Eighth Army. The evacuation was completed Christmas Eve.

Dallas Columnist Steals Local Scribe's Thunder

Every now and then someone will leave a Dallas News on the counter of the cafe where we drink our coffee. Then we get a chance to read Paul Crume's column, "Big D."

About a month ago he wrote,—"STREET CORNER PICKUP: A man who seemed to be an expert on lawns was giving another some advice about fertilizing and such. Anybody who wants a fine lawn, he said, should never, never set the lawnmower to cut close. The mower should be high so that the grass will shade the roots. Just recently, he said, his wife complained because he didn't set the mower blades closer to the ground.

Said the man: "I told her, 'Don't you dare set your hand to those blades. You just push!'"

Those are Mr. Crume's very words. It is a good story with a lot of truth in it. Mr. Crume got paid for writing it in one of the country's big dailies. We pay advertising rates, week after week, to bring you tips on keeping your lawn in order. Queer world! Ho! Hum!

But back to his story—Suppose you wanted to make the little woman's work easier—you might call us. We will SHARPEN her mower for her! You might even get her one of those swell Jacobsen Power Mowers—just to show her how considerate you are?

—(Adv.)

Two days before Christmas, General Walker was killed in a jeep accident. He was succeeded by Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, a brilliant World War II commander.

In the next few weeks, Ridgway performed a military miracle with the Eighth Army and 10th Corps. He took the two halves, put them together for the first time as a single unit, massed their fire-power, and then slugged it out with the Reds south of Seoul.

In early February, 1951, the Reds drove deep into the Allied lines, pounding with a giant offensive. The Eighth Army slowed it, stopped it, and then drove the Communists back with what Ridgway called "Operation Killer."

Peace Offer Rejected
The Allied drive pushed back through Seoul toward the 38th Parallel. And then, on March 24, MacArthur invited the Reds to confer with him in the field to settle the war "without further bloodshed." The Reds rejected the offer.

A short time later it was disclosed that MacArthur had written to Rep. Joseph W. Martin (R-Mass) applauding his demand for the use of Chinese Nationalist Troops in opening a second front against the Chinese Reds.

These incidents led to an open break between MacArthur and President Truman who relieved the general of his Far Eastern Command on April 11 on the grounds that MacArthur was not sympathetic to Administration war policy. Ridgway replaced MacArthur in Tokyo and Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet was put in command of the Eighth Army.

Twelve days after MacArthur's removal, the Reds opened a giant Spring offensive and in mid-May they followed this up with a second power drive. But these drives crumpled against the firepower thrown against them by Van Fleet's divisions.

Last Big Fight
Van Fleet turned on an offensive himself in late May that smashed the Reds back beyond the 38th Parallel in the last big struggle of the Korean war.

On June 23, 1951, Russia's UN delegate, Jacob Malik, made his proposal that truce talks be opened. A lull in fighting spread across the battlefield and then the peace talks dragged on month after month at Panmunjom.

The Korean war had reached its stalemate.

The stalemate line roughly followed the 38th Parallel, but bulged into North Korea in the central section where the Allies dug in on mountains commanding the historic invasion route leading to Seoul.

And there the hills changed hands in small but bitter battles of position—hills given such names by the troops as Old Baldy, Pork Chop, Bunker Hill, Heartbreak Ridge and the Punchbowl. It was trench warfare such as the world hasn't seen since World War I.

The long dispute over repatriation of prisoners went on month after month—but the vicious localized battles continued and the American casualties slowly climbed to more than 23,000 killed, more than 130,000 wounded and more than 13,000 missing in action.

Another Offensive
In March of this year, the Reds unleashed their greatest offensive efforts in months. They captured Old Baldy in a bitter struggle but when they assaulted the Marines' Vegas and Reno outposts, they finally were smashed back after three roaring days of battle. The fighting subsided again.

Then China's Red Premier, Chou En-Lai agreed to discuss a United Nations offer made in December, 1951, for exchange of sick and wounded prisoners. And once again there was hope this break in the truce deadlock might lead to a final peace.

But while the talks went on, the troops waited behind their guns and the cannon still thundered their echoes in the valleys of death. They would not be stilled until peace was a thing of reality.

Then with a sudden shift of direction, the Red negotiators accepted in principle the Allied terms against forced repatriation of prisoners. Quick progress was made.

Suddenly Rhee Balks
Stubborn old Syngman Rhee—the President of South Korea who had spent a lifetime fighting for the independence and political unity of his country—suddenly balked. He stood, he said, against any compromise that would leave Korea divided.

He defied the United Nations by secretly ordering the release of more than 26,000 anti-Communist prisoners of war. The Allies were stunned.

The Reds had smashed into the South Korean front in the biggest assault in two years of the war. They seemed bent on showing Rhee this his troops could not stand alone.

Reds Build Hall
President Eisenhower was forced to send a special envoy, Assistant Secretary of State Walter Robertson, to talk to Rhee. Day after day, Robertson met with Rhee in Seoul. Finally they agreed that Rhee would not oppose a truce.

The fighting was not over. The Chinese hurled a 100,000-man assault against the ROKs. The ROK lines in the east, where the Allied line bulged northward, were smashed back to the Kumsong River.

This threat diminished. The Reds suddenly agreed to go on with the truce. Workers began building an "Armistice Hall."

Once again it seemed peace was near after more than three years of battle.

Daddy Ringtail

Daddy Ringtail And Good Luck

Daddy Ringtail, your monkey friend, came walking along the Elephant Path. "Happy day, Huffen Fuffen," Daddy Ringtail said in his happiest voice.

"Happy day to you, Daddy Ringtail," said the Huffen in a voice that wasn't happy at all. The Huffen explained the trouble he was having. "I found a horseshoe, I did, I did," said he, "and that is how my trouble started."

Oh, the Huffen didn't understand it at all, he didn't. A horseshoe brings good luck, people say, but bad luck—or unhappy things—had started to happen the very minute the Huffen picked up the horseshoe.

He had found it on the Elephant Path, he had, and of course he had stopped to pick it up, just as anyone would have done. He picked it up and then he threw it over his shoulder and away. You throw a horseshoe away when you find it, people say, so the luck the horseshoe brings will come your way for sure.

"Crash!" The crash was the noise that the horseshoe made when it crashed through the window of someone's house. Yes, it looked like the Huffen shouldn't have thrown it, for there a someone threw it back, "Kerbang!" The kerbang was the noise of the horseshoe hitting the Huffen's head.

Yes, this was only a part of the through the window of someone's house. Yes, it looked like the Huffen shouldn't have thrown it, for there a someone threw it back, "Kerbang!" The kerbang was the noise of the horseshoe hitting the Huffen's head.

"Hello, Homeowner, this is Midland Pest Control Service. Will dispatch control team at once. Your problem practically is licked already. Over and out."

A telephone call to the Midland Pest Control Service concerning a pest problem undoubtedly wouldn't sound this urgent but the work done by the firm in their constant battle against the plunderworld of pests is just as dramatic.

The firm located at 405 South Marienfeld Street guarantees termite control for five years in a residence and offers a complete service in ridding business establishments alike of all crawling insects.

A pest control policy which completely insures against damage which might occur while work is being done, is carried by the company, say owners and operators Bob Boydston and A. J. Green.

The complete service offered by the firm includes control of rats, mice, roaches, moths, scorpions, water bugs, silverfish, centipedes, termites, ants, ticks, fleas, bedbugs and moles.

A standard bid of 10 cents per square foot floor space is offered to homeowners by the Midland Pest Control Service on termite work, which carries a five year guarantee. Thus the average home can be rid of termites for around $15.

All homes treated receive a residual spray, harmless to furniture, furnishings and clothing. This includes inside the house, in the attic and underneath the house. If the structure is on a concrete base, then the area around the outside foundation also is sprayed.

No Red China Scalps Detached But Three Bright Boys Fading

By FRED HAMPSON
HONG KONG—(AP)—No scalps have been detached in Red China from persons as important as Russia's Lavrenty Beria, but some of the bright boys of the last three years are fading a little.

Ever since Peiping started making China over to the Marx-Mao blueprint, three Politburo and Central Committee men have been much in the spotlight until recently.

Seldom was anything said about economic affairs without Chen Yun, vociferous and ambitious vice chairman of financial and economic affairs, sounding off.

Pen Chen, mayor of Peiping but wearing a much bigger party collar, was a powerful voice on industrial, party, government or any allied subject.

Nothing big on national finance ever came from anybody except Po I-Fo, meteoric minister of finance.

Now months have gone by and these worthies have been silent.

This particular trio of socialist musketeers led so boldly in taking China into state industry, led the activists and propagandists bloodily against the bourgeoisie, and balanced wartime budgets by fines and enforced donations. It would be too much to infer they have been purged.

Like Li Li San, the labor minister who never shows up at labor meetings any more, they just don't appear.

Their fadeout has paralleled the drought disasters to Spring crops which threaten the over-planned industrialization program; the resistance of peasants which has forced a recess in farm collectivism; the weaknesses and losses in state factories and mines which have slowed down the five-year plan.

Vice Chairman Chia Tofu, replacing Chen Yun as spokesman for the Financial and Economic Committee recently, recited a long list of weakness and errors in management of factories and mines. You practically could see him pointing his finger at the Three Musketeers.

Even Kao Kang, the economic czar who is running the five-year plan nationally, has been suspiciously inconspicuous in Red propaganda, printed and verbal, lately but one hesitates to place him among the semi-purged.

Kao is a little too big and more evidence is needed. Nevertheless, this wordy character used to be in the papers all the time. Now you never hear a peep from him.

Peiping's reaction to Soviet ouster of Beri seems to be one of nervous quiet. It is bound to have some effect, since Peiping has been preaching a doctrine of "Love Russia and hate everybody else." But so far, you can't tell what the effect is.

Southwestern Power Funds Are Approved By Joint Committee

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A $1,200,000 continuing fund for the Southwestern Power Administration has been agreed to by a House-Senate conference committee.

The continuing fund is used by the agency principally in carrying out its contracts with rural electric cooperatives for purchase and exchange of power and for lease of power lines.
