Barnes Is To Test Devonian Zone At Yoakum Wildcat

J. C. Barnes of Midland is to start operations immediately at a 13,000-foot wildcat in Central-East Yoakum County which is to test the Devonian—and it may go on down to the Ellenburger.

The prospector will be Barnes No. 1 Turrentine. It is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 41, block K, pd survey. That makes it 16 miles east and slightly south of the town of Plains.

The location is almost on the west lines of Terry County. An Amerasia Dry Hole

The Barnes No. 1 Turrentine is the former Amerasia Petroleum Corporation No. 1 Turrentine, a 7,920-foot dry hole which was abandoned June 30, 1949.

The venture did not log any shows of possible production in drilling to 7,920 feet.

Barnes will clean it out to the old bottom and then make new hole into the Devonian—and possibly into the Ellenburger.

Stanolind To Drill Another Project To New Keystone Pay

Stanolind Oil & Gas Company No. 11-A J. J. Perkins is to be a test to 10,300 feet to try for gas-distillate production from the McKee sand of the Simpson on the north side of the Keystone multiple pay area of Central-North Winkler County.

This project is eight miles northeast of Kermit and 660 feet from south and east lines of the northwest quarter of section 11, block 77, pd survey. It is adjacent to some Devonian and Ellenburger producers.

Stanolind's No. 11-A Perkins is on the outside of the area which has been proven for commercial gas-distillate production from the McKee.

Making Good Wells
Since that pay was discovered several months ago about 12 producers have been completed from it.

Those wells average between five and six million cubic feet of gas per day plus about 200 barrels of distillate.

The McKee section has been drilled through in the Keystone region for several years in going to the Ellenburger.

That section has been drilled tested and has shown only small amounts of gas.

The gas-distillate production has been developed by fracturing the formation with sand oil.

Drilling at Stanolind No. 11-A will begin at once.

Casing To Be Set In Texaco Project In NE Borden Area

Operator was preparing to run casing at The Texas Company No. 1 C. D. Jones, one-half mile west stepout from production in the Fluvanna (Mississippian) field of Northeast Borden County after free oil was uncovered on a drillstem test from 8,172-8,192 feet.

Tool was open two hours. Gas surfaced in 13 minutes, with no gauge or estimate made on volume.

Recovery was 537 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut mud and 100 feet of free oil. Flowing pressure was from 20 to 205 pounds and shutin pressure after 15 minutes was 510 pounds.

Operator was running logs at last report. As soon as that job is completed, casing will be run.

Top Called
The Mississippian was topped at 8,164 feet, derrick floor elevation 2,713 feet.

Location is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of section 534, block 97, H&TC survey.

This prospector developed Strawn sand oil on a drillstem test from 7,787 to 7,827 feet. Tool was open one hour. Gas surfaced in 28 minutes. No gauge or estimate was made on the volume.

Recovery was 360 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut mud and 1,300 feet of free oil.

Subsequent drillstem test from 8,090 to 8,115 feet in the lower Pennsylvanian developed gas, shows of oil and salt water. Final recovery was 360 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut mud and 1,530 feet of salt water.

Crockett Wildcat Develops Oil Show On Drillstem Test

Shell Oil Company No. 2-5 University, wildcat in Northwest Crockett County, found interesting shows of possible production in a dolomite.

Senator Taft Dies Of Cancer

Death May Erase GOP Senate Edge

See 'Mr. Republican' in Pictures, Page Eight

NEW YORK—(AP)—Senator Robert A. Taft, 63, a symbol of Republicanism, died Friday of cancer.

The end came peacefully for the Ohio Republican about 13 hours after he had lapsed into a deep coma.

Taft's condition suddenly had become critical four days ago. Then except for brief intervals, his strength failed rapidly. Not until the end did New York Hospital disclose the cause.

"Senator Taft's life came to an end quietly and without pain at 10:30 a.m. (EST), July 31, 1953," the hospital said. "His death was the result of widespread, highly malignant, rapidly growing tumors."

Taft's widow, Martha, was unable to be with him in his last hours. Herself seriously ill from a stroke three years ago, she was at their home in Washington, too sick to make another trip. She had been flown here for a visit Tuesday.

Taft's death came in a new and major chapter of his career—the job of Senate floor leader in the first Republican Administration in 20 years.

His illness, however, forced him to give up the active leadership last June.

His death leaves the Senate for the time being with a one-man Democratic majority, 47 Democrats, 46 Republicans and one Independent.

First Symptoms Obscure
In describing the senator's last grim fight for life, the hospital said:

"The first symptoms of illness were pains in the legs, later localized in the left hip.

"These symptoms had their onset in the latter part of April, 1953, and in the beginning were very obscure.

"The disorder was accompanied by a severe anemia requiring many transfusions. Some of the areas of involvement were benefited by treatment and there were brief periods of general improvement.

"However, the disease could not be controlled, and eventually progressed relentlessly despite the application of all the therapeutic weapons available to modern science." The final hospital bulletin avoided the use of the dread word "cancer" but it was established that Taft (Continued On Page 12)

SENATOR ROBERT A. TAFT

Eisenhower Says Senator's Death Nation's Tragic Loss

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Eisenhower called the death of Senator Robert Taft Friday "a tragic loss to America."

Within an hour after the Ohio senator's death in New York, the President and Mrs. Eisenhower drove from the White House to the home of Mrs. Taft to express their sympathy.

Eisenhower issued this statement: "The passing of Robert A. Taft is a tragic loss to America."

"The brilliant son of our twenty-seventh President, Senator Taft served the people of Ohio and the nation with distinction and integrity."

"He will be greatly missed on Capitol Hill, where his unimpeachable character and his vast knowledge of the business of good government played such an important part in congressional decisions over many years."

"The Senate has lost one of its leading members of all time. The American people have lost a truly great citizen and I have lost a wise counselor and a valued friend."

"Mrs. Eisenhower and I extend to Mrs. Taft and the family our heartfelt sympathies in the personal loss that they have sustained."

The President also signed an executive order declaring: "As a mark of respect to the memory of the Hon. Robert A. Taft, late majority leader and member of the Senate of the United States, it is hereby ordered that the flags on the White House and the federal government buildings in the District of Columbia and the State of Ohio be placed at half-staff until interment."

Eisenhower received word of Taft's death a few minutes after a meeting with his Cabinet at the White House.

The President had returned to his office and was conferring with Attorney General Brownell when informed Taft had just died.

Legislative Skill Of Nation's 'Mr. Republican' Widely Noted

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON—(AP)—The voice of a great American is stilled.

Death has taken Senator Robert Taft of Ohio. It is no overstatement to say that from President Eisenhower's politically inexperienced Administration has departed the one leader—besides the President himself—it could least afford to lose.

For Taft was more than the normal floor leader of Senate Republicans, more than the "Mr. Republican" he was to many of his party, more than a lion-hearted champion of old-fashioned personal liberty, more than a blunt man who thought quickly—and often blurred his thoughts whether they pleased or irked his hearers.

To his party in the Senate, Taft was a balance wheel and a unifying force who kept its factions from flying off in tangential directions. He was also a master craftsman at the legislative trade—a senator who knew the Senate's every mood, calculated its temper, cooled its pride, coaxed its compromising spirit—but sometimes tampered roughshod over its dissenters.

Eisenhower, too, has lost a friend. Between these two men who glared at each other in the presidential nomination fight last year had grown up by degrees a mutual respect, a golf course camaraderie and finally a warm friendship.

It was shortly before a trip to Augusta, Ga., several weeks ago to join a presidential golf foursome that Taft complained of the first signs of his fatal illness. It was only, he said, a strange weakness in the knees. A severe hip pain developed later and complications followed.

Democratic Majority
The Senate, grown used of late to seeing the tall, balding Ohioan clumping around on crutches, has felt the first weighty impact of his passing.

There the mechanics of politics may seat Democrat, named by Ohio's Democratic Gov. Frank Lausche, to give the present minority party a 48-47 advantage over the Republicans.

Helped by Senator Morse (Ind.-Ore), Democrats could take over that branch of Congress. Almost un-animously, they don't want that control now. But the lure of committee chairmanships, patronage and prestige is strong. It may be a different story next January or (Continued On Page 12)

Rescued Flier Says B-50 Victim Of Soviet Fighters

TOKYO—(AP)—An American flier rescued from the sea a few miles off Siberia said his B-50 bomber was shot down by Russian fighters, Gen. O. P. Weyland, Far East Air Force commander, said Friday night.

Moscow said Thursday two Soviet fighters exchanged shots with a B-50 over Vladivostok.

Lt. John Roche of Washington told Weyland the bomber was shot down shortly after 6:15 a.m. about 40 miles off the Russian coast.

The Air Force said the plane was on a navigational training mission.

Roche was snatched from the water by a Navy destroyer, the Pickering, after 11 hours in the water and another 11 hours in a boat dropped by a search plane.

Weyland's headquarters said Roche was in good physical condition and had only bruises on his head and face suffered when he bled out of the bomber.

The plane carried 16 other crewmen. The search for more survivors was abandoned Friday. Moscow charged that a B-50 flew over the Siberian coast near the big port of Vladivostok Wednesday and opened fire as two Soviet fighters rose to intercept it.

In a strongly-worded note delivered to the U. S. Embassy, Moscow said the fighters returned the fire and the bomber disappeared in the direction of the sea.

The note demanded that the U. S. government see to it that Russia's frontier is not violated and that the "guilty fliers" be punished.

U. S. State Department officials in Washington declined to comment.

The B-50 was from the 343rd Strategic Reconnaissance Squadron based at Forbes Air Force Base at Topeka, Kan. It was on temporary duty with the Far East Air Forces and had been operating from Japan.

Forbes announced the names of 14 airmen listed officially as missing. Officials said the other two men were not regular members of the crew and Forbes had no record of their names.

One Texan, First Lt. Frank E. Beyer of Seadrift, was listed among the missing.

Roche was picked up from a small rescue boat dropped Thursday night by an Air Force plane.

The Air Force said he was about 40 miles south of Mys (cape) Povorotny, which is 50 miles east of Vladivostok.

Vladivostok, some 600 miles northwest of Tokyo, probably is Russia's biggest naval base in the Far East.

Midland vs. Abilene In Pony League Game

ABILENE—Midland's Pony League All-Star team was paired with the favorite, Abilene, here Friday during the drawings for opponents in the four-team Pony League district meet.

Ed Lee, who drew for Midland, said his team would play at 8:30 p.m. Friday following a 6:30 p.m. game between Snyder and Childress.

Midlanders See Loss To Nation

Midlanders joined the nation Friday in mourning the death of Senator Robert Taft, contending the United States had suffered the loss of a great statesman.

George Bush, son of Senator Prescott Bush, senior senator from Connecticut, who was elected on the Republican ticket for the first time last November, said, "Senator Taft had gained the respect of the country for his high ideals and hard labor. He was a close associate of my father in both the Senate and in the Yale Corporation. I personally had a tremendous respect for the man and his loss will be felt deeply by not only my family but the country as a whole."

Bush has been in Midland with an oil development firm three years and was active in the GOP here during the recent presidential campaign.

"We are losing a great leader and the most brilliant man in the Senate," said Mrs. D. D. Varnell of 2611 West Storey Street, who was also an active worker for the Republicans. "Taft worked hard and proved his worth not only to the party but mainly toward the interest of our country."

Richard Hughston, Midland County GOP leader, was out of the city Friday and not available for comment.

H. S. Murray, Jr., said, "It will be hard to find a man of Taft's integrity and caliber again. We have suffered a great loss." Murray is an active member of the Midland Young Republicans Club.

Violent Weather In Texas Misses Midland Territory

Midlanders felt none of the violent weather that plagued parts of Texas Thursday, killing a boy, setting two oil storage tanks afire and knocking out electric power.

And the El Paso forecast for the Midland area showed little chance for any such happenings around here.

Skies were to remain cloudy Friday, but little hopes for rain were seen. The forecast held no threat of blowing sand. Thursday's high temperature was 95 degrees; the low Friday, 73.

The boy killed, said the Associated Press, was Darrell Sterling, 16, who was boating at Orange with Bobby Turner. Turner escaped injury.

While the heavy thunderstorm lashed the Sabine River area of Southeast Texas, only traces of rain were reported at Dalhart, Fort Worth, El Paso, Salt Flat, Amarillo, Houston and Wink.

Fluffy cumulus clouds, almost as dry as the cotton they resemble, were over most of the state.

Terminal Woman Is County's Fourth '53 Polio Victim

A 30-year-old Terminal housewife was reported Friday as Midland County's fourth polio victim of 1953.

She was identified as Mrs. Betty Jean Beene, who was stricken earlier in the week and now is undergoing treatment in the Medical Center Hospital at Odessa.

Dr. C. A. Pigford, director of the City-County Health Unit, said Mrs. Beene is suffering paralysis of the left arm.

It is the third polio case reported this Summer.

Roughneck Hurt By Falling Pipe

Gerald Gerch, 3200 Travis Street, a roughneck for the Robinson Brothers Drilling Company, was admitted to Midland Memorial Hospital at 2 a.m. Friday after being struck on the head by drilling pipe.

He suffered a laceration of the forehead and concussion and possible fracture of ribs on his left side, the hospital reported.

The accident occurred 15 miles south of Rankin while Gerch was throwing iron pipe on a rig floor and a piece fell back upon him. A Newline W. Ellis ambulance brought him to Midland.

Churchill Told Malenkov Now Puppet Of Marshal Zhukov, Red Army Chums

LONDON—(AP)—Reports that three Russian war hero marshals under Georgi Zhukov have taken over real power in Russia were studied here Friday.

The Evening News said Prime Minister Churchill had been so informed. The Foreign Office declined comment.

Fearful he could not maintain his grip in the wake of the purge of Interior Minister L. P. Beria, the paper says, Premier Georgi Malenkov turned in desperation to the soldiers who now are the "power behind the throne."

The article in Thursday night's edition of Lord Rothermere's newspaper said it was understood Churchill was "so impressed by reports of a takeover of power by a military peace-group that he is about to redouble his efforts to get an early round-table between the Russian and Western heads of government."

Bulgaria May Go
Allied with Zhukov in the military triumvirate, the diplomatic correspondent wrote, are Marshal A. M. Vasilevsky, former armed forces minister, and Vasily Sokolov, hero of Berlin and Soviet chief of staff. Vasilevsky and Zhukov have held, since the death of Stalin, the two posts of deputy defense minister under the political general, Marshal Nikolai Bulganin.

Bulgania, this account said, "is expected to disappear from the scene before long, as he was one of Stalin's hand-picked men."

"This dramatic development," C. F. Melville wrote, "has taken place—according to reports to Sir Winston Churchill—during the last few days, because Premier Georgi Malenkov, still faced with the opposition of strong pro-Beria elements, has had to turn to professional marshals as the only force in Russia capable of maintaining his regime."

Friend Of Eisenhower
The three soldiers, he added, would favor strongly peace with the West because they believe "Russia is not in a position to risk conflict." He continued:

"Marshal Zhukov personally was a friend of President (then general) Eisenhower at the end of the war, and Ike has said of him, 'This is a man with whom I could do business.'"

"Working in with the three marshals is the first deputy premier and foreign minister, V. M. Molotov, who has done much to rally the Communist Party."

Zhukov boldly succeeded in backing the Communist Party itself to the wall on the issue of political commissars, the party's branch of control within the army which could overrule command decisions.

Magnet Unlocks 'Locked' Tummy

X-rays shows lock in stomach before removal by magnet.

From now on Stephen Struffolino, of Schenectady, N. Y., will be careful what he puts in his mouth, especially when he's around playful companions. Steve swallowed a padlock when a friend made him laugh while he was holding it in his mouth. A powerful magnet, developed by General Electric scientists, was credited with saving the seven-year-old boy serious surgery. Guided by a fluoroscope, the doctors at Ellis Hospital used the magnet to bring the lock into position where it could be reached by forceps. The lock weighed about four and a half ounces.

Dangling on the end of the specially-built magnet is the lock after it was removed from Stephen Struffolino's stomach.

NATIONAL JAMBOREE FRIGHT

Brooklyn Scouts Discover Texas Boys Aren't So Bad

One hundred and twenty eight Boy Scouts in the Permian Basin Buffalo Trail Council, including 28 Scouts from Midland returned to their homes Wednesday from the National Jamboree with first hand knowledge of the youths of the 47 other states and 23 foreign lands and many souvenirs to remind them of the two-week long camp held near Santa Ana, Calif. The area scouts were part of the more than 45,000 who went to the jamboree from throughout the nation. The association with the scouts from other states and many lands was the highlight of the outing for the Midland boys, their leaders reported. A huge swarming tent resembling a "Persian market-place" was the center of attraction. Here the Scouts traded off horned toads, patches and numerous other items for objects such as foreign knives and utensils and mementos from foreign countries.

Joe B. Niedermayer, El Centro District Field representative from Midland, who was one of the adult leaders described an amusing story about a group of Scouts from Brooklyn who were assigned to his section.

"They were really scared at first, not knowing what our boys would be like. They had their own ideas from movies. When we first got together, they came holding each other's hands. After camp was over their apprehension had subsided. One said, 'those Texas boys weren't so bad after all.' Niedermayer recounted.

Participate In Dances
The Midland scouts participated in an Indian dance ceremony on the opening night of the camporee July 17. They also demonstrated fire by flint and steel and friction and other Indian skills.

They took all three Adventure Trails to test their scouting skills on such things as axmanship, signaling, compass work, tracking, trailing, and first aid. Three times the area scouts were taken to the beach for a swim in the Pacific, while being watched over by the Army, Navy, Coast Guard and Marines. "There wasn't a single accident resulting from swimming," said Niedermayer, who was the swimming instructor for a section of about 1,200 boys. Helicopters flew over the swimming area all the time, just in case, he said, and swimming constituted one of their biggest thrills.

Another big moment was experienced during a ceremony under the stars when the 45,000 Scouts, each holding a lighted candle dedicated themselves to the scouting movement.

Every religious denomination was represented and scouts attended the churches of their choice each Sunday, fulfilling the 12th Scout law that asks that a Scout be reverent. Other highlights of the jamboree were the appearances of such screen personalities as Bob Hope, Debbie Reynolds, Roy Rogers and others. Upon seeing his huge audience, Hope quipped, "This is the United Nations in short pants."

After acting in a pioneer demonstration on the final day of the jamboree, the area scouts boarded their train and made side trips to Hollywood, the Knotts berry farm, San Francisco and Chinatown and the Redwood Forest in California. They swam in the Salt Lake in Utah, visited a Mormon camp and viewed the Royal Gorge, in Colorado.

Band School Set Monday

The Midland High Summer Band School will get underway Monday with a large enrollment anticipated by Ralph L. Mills, director. The school will be conducted from 9 to 12 a.m. Monday through Friday and from 7 to 9 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays until the beginning of school.

All students who will attend Midland High School this year will be eligible to join the Summer band school, Mills said. He particularly invites band students who have moved to Midland during the Summer to enroll.

Interested students should report to the Band Hall at the school at 9 a.m. Monday with their instruments, Mills said.

For the last two weeks, Mills has served as dean of the McMurtry Summer Band School in Abilene which was participated in by 230 students. He acted as a clarinet teacher and band director.

He also played with the Abilene Parks Board Band and Thursday in concert presented a clarinet solo entitled "Interlude" by J. J. Morissey.

Prior to going to Abilene, Mills taught at the TCU Summer Band School in Fort Worth.

Priest Seeks Peace In Cuban Rebellion

HAVANA—(P)—An aged Catholic archbishop went to the mountains near Santiago Friday, trying to arrange a truce between armed rebels hiding there and President Fulgencio Batista's government.

Pending the outcome of the peace mission by Mgr. Enrique Peres Serantes, archbishop of Santiago, government troops were reported holding their fire against the insurgents. The rebels are remnants of a force of about 200 who fled Sunday in an armed attack on two military posts in the Santiago area. Unofficial estimates placed the total dead at 70 rebels and 18 soldiers in the fighting Sunday and the mop-up operations since.

Mgr. Peres was accompanied into the mountains only by a Catholic layman. The trip was regarded as dangerous, since the rebels have been firing at anything moving in the area.

Novelist Edna Ferber Finds Reaction To 'Giant' Puzzling

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD—(P)—Attention, Texans. Edna Ferber is willing to negotiate a truce in her battle with the Lone Star state.

Mind you, the novelist is not one to run away from a fight. But she claims she has never had any beef with Texas. Some Texans who have read her book "Giant" feel otherwise about her.

"The reaction was quite violent in some quarters," said Miss Ferber. "Especially around the Houston area. They called me names that were unprintable—but they

Air Weather Study To Continue Despite Helicopter Accident

O'NEILL, NEB.—(P)—An Intensive Air Force weather study here will go on despite the crash of a helicopter which killed the project's top scientist and five others.

The helicopter, a big H-18, plunged into a pasture Thursday and burst into flame. The dead scientist was Dr. Guenter Loeser, 40, one of the directors of the Air Force lower atmosphere research project. Others killed were military personnel.

The flight was preliminary to the official start next Monday of six weeks of exhaustive wind research field tests.

Dr. Loeser, a German who came to this country after World War II, was a leading meteorological scientist. He had helped develop the V-2 rocket.

Witnesses reported the helicopter crashed after it lost a rotor blade in mid-air. They said the fire which followed may have been due to magnesium flares carried by the craft.

The names of military personnel were withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Band Leader Sues Ike Campaign Unit

WICHITA, KAN.—(P)—A band leader is suing Senator Frank H. Carlson (R-Kan.) and "all others concerned" for $50,000 in connection with the Eisenhower campaign last year.

The suit was filed in District Court Thursday in behalf of Duke Andrews, head of a band known as "The Duke's Quintet." The suit claims Carlson as "managing agent of the Dwight D. Eisenhower, national Republican campaign" hired the group June 4, 1952.

The petition states the band worked 140 days but was not paid. Except for Carlson, the "others concerned" were not named in the petition.

Chicago Cleans Slate Of Murder Suspects

CHICAGO—(P)—For the first time in Chicago police records, authorities have seized every person wanted for questioning about every murder committed in the city in a 30-day period.

In the first 30 days of July, 20 persons were slain in Chicago.

Miss Ferber, an attractive woman with silver hair and a facile tongue, is here to confer with Director George Stevens and Producer Henry Ginsberg about the filming of "Giant." She admitted that the book has brought the biggest reaction of any she has written.

LOS ANGELES—(P)—The young woman who won a paternity suit against Charlie Chaplin in 1946 was returned to a psychopathic ward of General Hospital Thursday.

Police said they found Joan Berry, 33, wandering in her stocking feet in suburban Torrance. She could not explain, they said, how she got there from her home in nearby Redondo Beach. She underwent voluntary treatment at the psychopathic ward about a month ago.

Miss Berry at one time was Chaplin's protegee. Her suit named him the father of Carol Ann, now nine.

Hattie Carnegie Says Yes

Stylists 'Choose Up' For Hemline Battle

PARIS (AP)—Hattie Carnegie, a big wheel in American fashions, plumped for Christian Dior's new short skirts Friday. But like a lot of others here for the annual showings, she's not sure her customers will like them.

"Very beautiful and full of wonderful ideas," said Hattie of Christian's new collection, which featured the shortest skirts (almost to the knees) in recent years, as well as bosom emphaizers, loose waistlines and cupola shaped skirts.

Buy Dior's Fashions
Hattie said she'd be buying Dior's numbers for her New York shop, a mecca for the well-dressed lady with money.

"However, I don't know whether American women will take to short skirts," she added.

That summed up the sentiment among a lot of American buyers. None of them would dare go home without their quota of Dior, but they just weren't sure the American woman would feel as impelled to have them on her hangers.

Among the other leading designers, only Fath, Lanvin and Dessees thus far have hiked their hemlines, and none as high as Dior. As the round of showings neared their close, Christian caught another competitor with his skirts down Thursday night.

Jacques Griffe stuck to last season's length in his collection, based on 15th Century Gothic arches and pointed lines. Griffe's silhouette showed slender sloped shoulders, a high draped bodice and some fullness below the waist. In some of the dresses, this fullness dropped from an arch or a point on the stomach.

Griffe gave his new colors such religious names as "Infant Jesus Rose," "St. Louis Blue" and "Annunciation Green." The brilliant raspberry reds and enamel blues recalled the colors in the medieval stained glass windows of France's famous cathedrals.

St. Louis blue, in Griffe's lexicon, refers to the blue in the windows of Paris' famous Sainte-Chapelle. This chapel was built by King Louis IX (St. Louis) after his crusade to house a crown of thorns, purportedly the one placed on Jesus' head at the crucifixion.

Has White Fur Cap.
The bride's dress in the collection included a 15th Century-inspired pointed cap in white fur from which a veil cascaded.

Griffe's inspiration wasn't entirely medieval, however. Swirling bands of pink, black and grey net made up the immense skirt of a strapless formal called "Picasso" and there was a Dali-esque touch in a white/fur-felt hat made in the form of a hand clutching the head with red-jeweled fingernails.

One of the most fabulous coats in the collection was a full-cut mink, the skins aligned in Gothic-arch bands.

For evening wear there was a little jacket snugly lined with fur that somehow managed to avoid a bulky look.

Despite all the spectacular Gothic effects, unadorned black gowns and well-fitted jersey street dresses made up the bulk of the Griffe collection.

The only major houses still to show are Maggy Rouff and Givenchy. Their collections were to be unveiled Friday and Friday night.

Dallas Columnist Steals Local Scribe's Thunder

Every now and then someone will leave a Dallas News on the counter of the cafe where we drink our coffee. Then we get a chance to read Paul Crume's column, "Big D". About a month ago he wrote—"STREET CORNER PICKUP: A man who seemed to be an expert on lawns was giving another some advice about fertilizing and such. Anybody who wants a fine lawn, he said, should never, never set the lawn-mower to cut close. The mower should be high so that the grass will shade the roots. Just recently, he said, his wife complained because he didn't set the mower blades closer to the ground.

Said the man: "I told her, 'Don't you dare set your hand to those blades. You just push.'"

Those are Mr. Crume's very words. It is a good story with a lot of truth in it. Mr. Crume got paid for writing it in one of the country's big dailies. We pay advertising rates week after week, to bring you tips on keeping your lawn in order. Quer world! Ho! Hum!

But back to his story—Suppose you wanted to make the little woman's work easier—you might call us. We will SHARPEN her mower for her! You might even get her one of those well Jacobson Power Mowers—just to show her how considerate you are?

Manners MAKE FRIENDS

You drop by to see friends and find them watching a television play. The most thoughtful thing to do in that case is to insist they see it to the end. You usually can manage to do so by confessing that you, yourself, hate to have to leave a play before you find out "who done it." TV to others as you would have them TV to you.

Air Force Reports 1,000 Aircraft Lost Behind Enemy Lines

TOKYO (AP)—Far East Air Forces said Friday it lost 1,000 warplanes behind Red lines in the Korean War, 20 less than the number of Red planes destroyed.

FEAF did not include Allied losses behind UN lines.

FEAF said it lost 110 planes in aerial duels, 667 to Red ground fire and 213 to "other causes" (usually engine failure).

It said 58 U. S. Sabre jets were lost in the three-year conflict while blasting 800 Red MIG jets from the skies, a ratio of almost 14 to 1.

B-29 bomber gunners got 16 other MIG's, and 23 went to the 5th Air Force fighter-bombers.

The figures included the Korea-based 5th Air Force; Australian, South African and South Korean units; shore based Marine planes; and B-29 bombers flying from Japan and Okinawa. They did not include Navy carrier-based planes.

In addition to the 839 MIG's, 181 other planes were destroyed by FEAF fliers. FEAF said 182 Red planes probably were destroyed, including 919 MIG's.

FEAF said the last plane it lost in the Korean War was an F-80 Shooting Star reconnaissance craft.

Denver Jurist Holds Trial Marriage For Youths Legal

DENVER—(AP)—A judge asserted Thursday that trial marriages for persons under 18 are legal under Colorado law and may be ended by annulment.

Judge William A. Black told reporters the law permits any person under 18, who married before he was 18, to end the marriage simply by saying that is his desire.

However, Colorado law requires parents' permission for boys under 21 and girls under 18 who desire to marry.

Judge Black made his comments during a discussion with reporters of recent disclosures by the courts that 23 annulments granted here in the last two or three years are in question because of the possibility of illegal services of complaints upon defendants.

More than 30 years ago Judge Ben Lindsey, then judge of Denver's juvenile court, attracted nationwide attention—and criticism—when he suggested "companionate" or trial marriages for young persons.

Judge Black said he has had cases of teenagers who got married at less than 18, became parents and then asked for an annulment under the law.

"I grind my teeth every time I have to do this," Judge Black said. "As reluctant as I am, the law says I must grant the annulment."

He argued that age is no ground for breaking a marriage contract if the marriage was legal otherwise.

"This law is morally bad," he said. "I don't know why they (the State Legislature) were thinking of when they passed it in 1933."

Georgia JayCees Bid For National Convention In '55

TULSA, OKLA.—(AP)—A small army of armed guards and two armored cars stood by as more than five million dollars in currency was unloaded from an airplane at Municipal Airport Thursday.

The trucks then carefully moved through the city and halted at a hotel. There a group of Atlanta, Ga., United States Junior Chamber of Commerce members gleefully opened money bags and handed out $500 bills—all facsimiles of Confederate cash.

The gag was staged by the Atlantans to get U. S. JayCee officials to choose their city for the 1955 national JayCee convention.

Printed on the back of each bill was the Georgia peach in Atlanta, 1955.

MOSCOW—(AP)—Associated Press Correspondent Thomas P. Whitney and his Russian-born wife left Moscow by plane Friday for Finland and the United States.

Mrs. Whitney is the fourth Russian wife of an American citizen permitted to leave the Soviet Union after the intervention in mid-May of U. S. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen.

Two more American correspondents, Henry Shapiro of the United Press and Andrew J. Steiger of Reuters News Agency, are scheduled to leave for the West with their Russian wives within the next 10 days.

India Envoy Studies Reclamation Methods

DENVER—(AP)—India's ambassador to the United States, Gaganvihar L. Mehta, was in Colorado Friday to study reclamation methods.

Two technical experts accompanied him.

He said his nation hopes to wipe out part of its poverty, food scarcity and unemployment by stepping up a program of irrigation and electric power development.

The ambassador visited the Bureau of Reclamation after his arrival Thursday and toured the Colorado-Big Thompson project Friday.

West Berlin Raises Free Food Parcels Goal To 3,000,000

BERLIN—(AP)—West Berlin officials announced Friday they have upped their target to three million free food parcels for East Germans.

The move came as West-end food stations braced for a weekend invasion that is expected to boost the first week's distribution past the million mark.

The mob-like rush of the hungry increased police an East German Communist police announcement that they are confiscating the previous identity cards of all applicants for the Western food. Without the cards, the Easterners are exposed to jail sentences as criminals.

Communist police also toured factories, offices and homes in the Russian-controlled zone, forcing people to sign pledges they would "not go to Berlin for the American beggar parcels." Many signers were expected to come anyway.

As the relief program went into its fifth day, approximately 650,000 parcels had been handed out and West Berlin officials indicated that even the expanded target of three million might not prove enough.

"We just plan to keep giving the parcels away as long as people keep coming," they declared. "We don't know how long that will be. There are some 19 million people in East Germany and East Berlin."

Squirrels' Fleas Die For Science; DDT Loses Grip

LOMA LINDA, CALIF.—(AP)—Scientists here have been counting the fleas on squirrels. They announced Friday that DDT has lost its leadership as a potent flea killer.

Fleas are well known carriers of plague and other deadly diseases. The Army is anxious to find a powerful insecticide that will destroy them efficiently.

The College of Medical Evangelists' School of Tropical and Preventive Medicine has been conducting the project. Raymond Ryckman, head of the department of entomology, has issued a report showing that three new insecticides are many times more effective than DDT in destroying disease-carrying fleas and other insects.

Their names are dielein, aldrin and heptachlor.

The study began with eight insecticides. Four were eliminated early in the project, leaving the three new ones and DDT.

The ordinary California ground squirrel, said Ryckman, is usually about as flea-infested an animal as exists. So the research technicians fenced 22 acres of field land and divided it into numbered control areas.

First they caught squirrels and checked the normal flea infestation of a representative number. The squirrels then were released and the various areas were dusted with separate insecticides.

Then There Was One

Seventy-two hours later researchers started catching squirrels again and made a fresh flea count. And they found that, after dusting with heptachlor, aldrin or dielein, the average had dropped from 111.2 fleas per squirrel to less than one flea per squirrel.

All three of the new insecticides were thus more than 99 per cent effective. On a comparative basis, DDT was only 88.35 per cent effective over the same period of time.

How do you count fleas on a squirrel? The best way, says Ryckman, is to put the squirrel to sleep with a small dose of nembutal. Then a vacuum process, applying a mild suction the skin, pulls off most of the fleas. For the stick-tights tweezers are used.

French Planes Hit Vietminh Rebels' Supply Line, Bases

HANOI, INDOCHINA—(AP)—French fighters and bombers kept up heavy attacks Friday on the Communist-led Vietminh rebels' supply bases and lines of communication with Red China.

Among their targets was Thai Nguyen, 40 miles north of Hanoi. It is often referred to as Ho Chi Minh's administrative capital, but the French are not sure where the elusive Vietminh chief is.

Other key targets were Tuyen Quang, 70 miles north of Hanoi, and the vicinity of Hoa Binh.

Hoa Binh, 40 miles southwest of Hanoi, is believed to be the principal regrouping point for part of the rebel force which invaded Laos in April, then withdrew less than a month later.

Ikemen Say Debt Limit Must Be Lifted Or Government Checks Soon Will Bounce

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON—(AP)—This is an ABC on the national debt limit which President Eisenhower has just asked Congress to increase from 275 billion dollars to 290 billion.

Congress by law sets the limit on how much this country can be in debt.

When government expenses exceed income which comes mostly from taxes, it can make up the deficit by raising taxes or borrowing money from banks and other sources, including sale of bonds to individuals.

There is no talk of raising taxes now. Nor is a tax increase, at least on individuals, likely next year, which is an election year. In fact, individual income taxes are scheduled to go down about 10 per cent at the end of 1953.

So, since the government's expenses are out of line with its income, Eisenhower has asked approval from Congress for some more borrowing.

Limit Not Exceeded

With the astronomical outlays of World War II, government spending shot up, far outstripping government income, even though taxes were at an all-time high in this country.

During the war Congress put the limit at which this country could be in debt at 300 billion dollars. Since this country was determined to win, no matter the cost, Congress would have boosted the limit higher, if necessary.

But it was never necessary. The debt never got beyond $279,800,000. Then, with the war ended and government expenses taking a fast dive, government income began to be greater than its yearly expenses.

Cost Of Korean War

The government started to pay off some of the debt. In June, 1946 Congress reduced the debt limit from 300 billion to 275 billion, which is still the limit.

In the years after 1946 the debt finally was scaled down to 253 billion. Then came the Korean War in mid-1950. Up went the expenses, which exceeded income. To meet the expenses Congress raised taxes.

That still didn't fill the gap. So the government began borrowing money again. Right now the public debt is up around 272 1/2 billion, or two and one-half billions below the legal limit.

The truce in Korea came last Sunday. But the government's expenses for fighting the war, rearming and foreign aid are running high. They will continue to do so, except for actual war expenses.

Need Cash On Hand

A debt limit of 275 billion when the actual debt is only 272 1/2 billion might seem all right—if it was not for a little thing called the cash balance.

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey estimates government spending runs around six billion a month and, he says, the cash balance in any one month should run around six billion, too.

But between now and January, he figures, the cash balance will go down. For example:

Corporations must pay most of their taxes in the first half of the calendar year and only a small part in the last half. Corporation taxes account for almost one-third of the government's income.

So this means, according to the Administration estimates:

Borrow—Or Don't

Between July and December the government will be taking in about 27 billion while spending about 37 1/2 billion, leaving the government with a six-month deficit of about 10 1/2 billion.

Humphrey speaks of wanting a safer balance on hand, meaning enough money to pay the government's debts every month. To bridge the deficit, money will have to be borrowed.

Since the debt now is 272 1/2 billion and the legal debt limit is 275 billion, there is only a margin of two and one-half billions for borrowing. Once the limit is reached and if the government still did not have enough money to pay its debts, it would have to break the law by borrowing beyond the limit or it would have to renege on its obligations.

Wide Gap Divides GOP, Aim Of Two-Party System In Dixie

By DON WHITEHEAD

WASHINGTON—(AP)—There still is a wide chasm between Republican hopes for a two-party system in the South and their realization. But the gap isn't as wide as it was before President Eisenhower's election last November.

This sums up the findings of an Associated Press survey of the political situation in 14 Southern and border states eight months after the presidential election.

The 1954 elections will give a clue as to just how much influence Eisenhower's victory had in strengthening the South's Republican Party, and whether Democrats who voted the Republican ticket have started shifting party allegiance.

Considerable attention is certain to be focused on the border states of Missouri, Kentucky and Oklahoma. They normally are Democratic but have vigorous Republican organizations. It may be any sharp trend toward a two-party system will become apparent first in the border areas.

Eisenhower carried Missouri by almost 30,000 votes. Republicans won a slim majority in the state House of Representatives, and carried four of 11 congressional seats.

The Democrats won a U. S. Senate seat, held onto the governorship, and kept control of all state executive offices along with the state Senate.

AP Correspondent Larry Hall sums up the Missouri situation this way:

"Republicans . . . got a foot in the door in last year's presidential election and they hope to widen the crack in next year's congressional voting.

Perry Compton, Republican state chairman, is highly optimistic about the outlook. He predicts the GOP can gain two more seats in Congress and win control of both Houses in the Legislature.

"We have already started to organize for the campaign," he says. "The way things look now I think we can pick up both the Eighth and 11th Districts next year."

These were districts in which Republicans made strong showings. The Eighth in Central Missouri now is represented by Rep. Morgan Moulder, Camden Democrat, the 11th in South Central Missouri is held by Rep. A. S. J. Carnahan, Ellsboro Democrat.

Division In Kentucky

In Kentucky, the Republicans are hoping the Democrats will become divided so badly in a struggle for party power that the GOP will be able to capture the state.

Democrats now control the state government, six of the state's eight seats in the House at Washington, and one of the two U. S. Senate seats.

The Democratic fight is developing between A. B. (Happy) Chandler and the state administration forces of Gov. Lawrence Wetherby and Senator Earle Clements (D-Ky). Chandler openly has challenged the Wetherby-Clements group and has announced he will run for governor in 1955. Already he's battling the administration in some state legislative races.

Republican State Chairman Edwin Denny concedes "We still have a long way to go to gain a 50-50 split with the Democrats."

Role Of The Veep

But the Republicans for the first time have set up permanent local headquarters in several parts of the state. Denny is hopeful his party will gain in the state Legislature this year, pick up a seat or two in Congress in 1954, and elect a governor in 1955 if the Democrats split. Democrats control the state Senate 28-10 and the State House, 73-27.

Republicans will fight to keep Senator Sherman Cooper in his U. S. Senate seat in next year's election. One unknown factor in this effort is the political future of former Vice President Alben W. Barkley.

Barkley is one of the strongest political figures in Kentucky history. He is being mentioned as a possible candidate for the U. S. Senate or governor. Whatever Barkley's decision, it will have an influence on the Republican fortunes.

From Oklahoma, AP Correspondent Dayton Blair reports:

Patronage Headaches

"Republicans in normally-Democratic Oklahoma would like for President Eisenhower's popularity to help elect state GOP candidates next year but so far they haven't done much to start such a trend.

"After Oklahoma voted for the Republican presidential candidate last November, GOP leaders confidentially predicted the one-party stranglehold Democrats have enjoyed since statehood would be broken. But they have been too busy up to this time with intraparty feuding to start work against the Democrats.

"Patronage headaches resulting from the Eisenhower election have stripped the state organization of most of its harmony and probably the present troubles will not be ironed out until the state convention next February. This will make it late to concentrate on statewide organization."

Deeprooted Strife

Oklahoma voted for Republican presidential candidates in 1920, 1928 and 1952. The state never has elected a Republican governor and only a handful of state officials.

Many of the Republicans' troubles can be traced to deeprooted factional strife between State Chairman Floyd Carrier and Mrs. H. H. Sayre, national committeewoman, on one side and Rep. Page Belcher (R-Okla) and National Committeeman Ballie W. Vinson, Tulsa, on the other.

Blair writes: "The trouble dates back to the Republican national convention last year when Mrs. Sayre was aligned with supporters of Eisenhower and Vinson with Senator Robert A. Taft in the fight for the presidential nomination.

Sharing Expenses

"The Carrier-Sayre group scored a victory June 30 when they won a patronage dispute. It came up in a state Central Committee meeting where Carrier and Mrs. Sayre had a clear majority of support over Vinson."

In the fight, Carrier won confirmation of a new state party treasurer from Oklahoma City and thus took financial control of the party away from Tulsa, where Republicans traditionally are strongest in the state.

Blair says: "Tulsa Republicans have always furnished a large share of campaign funds and there is speculation the split will handicap fund raising next year."

"On the other side, however, is a surge of activity by a group of young Republicans who are new faces in the party."

Governor's Race

The Republicans did considerable precinct organization last year but very little has been done since the general election to keep the organization together and working.

In three consecutive elections, the Republican candidate for governor has run a close race, losing twice by fewer than 20,000 votes and another time by 35,000 out of a total vote of about 500,000.

There is general belief that an effective precinct organization will give the Republicans a good chance to win the governorship.

'MR. REPUBLICAN'— Here Are Camera Highlights In The Life Of Ohio's Great Senator, Robert A. Taft

During his 15 years in the U. S. Senate, Robert A. Taft was known throughout the country as the most outspoken man in American politics. Despite this, everyone, including his enemies, acknowledged his abilities. From 1940, when he first sought the GOP presidential nomination, until his most recent activity as Senate majority leader, the 63-year-old Ohioan was a national and international figure, admired or hated here and abroad. Few people were neutral about Taft. One of his greatest political accomplishments came in Ohio's Senate race during 1950. Bucking a tremendous campaign against him by organized labor, which was determined to oust him from his Senate seat, he personally outmaneuvered his opposition and rolled to victory with one of the largest majorities ever given to a candidate in Ohio.

SOLDIER BOY—At seven, a proud member of the Buckeye Cadets, in his home town, Cincinnati. They drilled under a real Army officer.

STUDENT—This is Bob Taft at Yale. At 21, he was graduated first in his class, in 1910. He repeated this record at Harvard Law School, graduating in 1913. The next year he married vivacious Martha Bowers, daughter of his President father's solicitor general. They had four sons, William Howard Taft III, Robert, Lloyd and Horace.

FAMOUS FAMILY—Taft's father was 26th President of the U. S. and later Chief Justice. His grandfather was in President Grant's cabinet. Bob Taft was 19 when this picture was made. Just before William Howard Taft became President. With Taft and his father are his mother, brother Charles and sister, Helen.

POLITICIAN—This is Taft at 23, a member of the Ohio House of Representatives. He served from 1921 to 1926 and in 1939 made the State Senate.

TAFT TEAM—Bob and Martha became a noted political team. Her lively personality offset his serious one. Shoulder to shoulder, they campaigned until her illness forced retirement.

TAFT-HARTLEY—Taft earned the wrath of organized labor by sponsorship of the Taft-Hartley law. Bitter foe John L. Lewis dubbed it the "slave labor act." Here are Taft and Lewis at Taft-Hartley hearing.

THREE-TIME LOSER—Thrice denied his life's ambition—the Republican nomination for President—Taft displayed no bitterness at his final defeat by General Eisenhower. On the contrary, as majority leader he united dissident GOP forces.

LEADER—He fought in Congress for President Eisenhower's program. The expected Ike-Taft "showdown" never came.

AILING—The country was shocked when a serious hip ailment, requiring surgery, put him on crutches and forced his retirement as majority leader.

Clark Warns Reds Truce Break Means Risk Of Destruction

SAN FRANCISCO—(P)—Gen. Mark Clark, returning home less than a week after signing the truce in Korea, warned the Communists that should they resume hostilities, "they do so at the risk of their own destruction."

The UN Far East commander cautioned a civic luncheon audience Thursday that the armistice "must not beguile us into any lessening of our strength or vigilance."

"It is imperative that we preserve intact all our strength, both now and beyond any outcome" of the political conference on Korea. "The willingness of the Communists to enter into an armistice with us has been misinterpreted widely, with their considerable encouragement," the general declared. "It has been labeled a concrete move to demonstrate how peace-loving and reasonable they really are and how mistaken we of the free world have been in mistrusting their intentions."

"We can wait with open minds and readiness to welcome all the evidence they can offer of sharing genuinely our desire for peace throughout the world," Clark said.

All's Well Again With Allegretta

DOYLESTOWN, PA.—(P)—All's well Friday with Allegretta. Her Eddie is home.

For the last month Allegretta probably has been the unhappiest German Shepherd dog in the country. Eddie Rauss, her 16-year-old master, was away at the Boy Scout Jamboree in California. When Eddie left the dog became morose and was unable to eat or play. Eddie returned home Thursday. Allegretta greeted him with whimpers and wild tail wagging. And at last reports, the consumption of dog food at the Rauss household is back to normal.

Last Of World War II Economic Curbs Dies As U. S. Rent Control Law Expires

WASHINGTON — Federal rent control, last of the economic curbs born of World War II, dies at midnight Friday in 1,100 communities across the nation.

Office of Rent Stabilization officials said they do not expect any wave of drastic rent increases to follow. One official estimated rents generally will go up about 10 per cent.

Some states are prepared to step in with their own laws. New York has had such legislation for some time. Massachusetts, New Jersey and Kansas have adopted laws which permit imposition of state control. Connecticut has a law that becomes effective automatically when federal curbs end.

War-time necessities of the big cities outside these states, only Philadelphia and Baltimore have passed controls ordinances. And there, federal officials said, is a real question of constitutionality, since neither Maryland nor Pennsylvania has passed enabling legislation.

Federal rent control first went into effect in April, 1942. At the height of World War II, 18 million units were covered.

After Friday night, only about 100,000 units in scattered critical defense areas will remain subject to federal rent supervision.

Shah's Sister Obeys Court Order, Takes Off For Switzerland

TEHRAN — Iran's beautiful exiled Princess Ashraf, who whipped up a storm in political quarters by popping up in Tehran unheralded last Saturday, obeyed an order Thursday of the Shah's court to leave the country.

The princess, the twin sister of the Shah, left by plane for Geneva, Switzerland.

The court's order directing her to clear out of Iran was issued Sunday, barely 24 hours after her arrival by commercial plane.

Court sources were silent on whether Ashraf succeeded in raising the $20,000 she said she needs to cure her little son, Shahrnam, of bone tuberculosis. However, just before her departure, the independent evening newspaper Etelaat said Ashraf has been instructed to "contact the Iranian consulate at Geneva and arrange for treatment for the child."

The sultry-eyed, 34-year-old princess, who is an outspoken foe of Premier Mosaddegh, got a royal sendoff as the airport despite the bluntness of the get-out order, which said similar actions in future would involve the "utmost punishment."

Papers supporting Premier Mosaddegh long have accused Ashraf of being the center of Iranian political intrigues aimed at unseating the bedridden 73-year-old Premier.

The Shah has been trying to keep aloof from Iran's political battling.

There was no report on the number of casualties.

Uttar Pradesh officials met Thursday in Lucknow, the state capital, to map a relief program.

New York Nabs First Subway Fare Chiseler

NEW YORK — The first person arrested for allegedly using an illegal token to pay the city's new 15-cent subway fare used a Chicago Transit Authority token—worth 20 cents—police said.

Seized by transit employees Thursday was Rafael V. Rivera, 27, of Manhattan. If found guilty, Rivera would face six months in jail and a $500 fine, or both.

Two Women Get College Degrees Half-Century Late

KALAMAZOO, MICH. — Western Michigan College has granted Bachelor of Arts degrees to two Michigan women who began their collegiate studies almost half a century ago.

Mrs. Grace S. Rosso of Grand Haven, a teacher, who matriculated in 1909, said she has only one regret. She never learned square dancing.

Mrs. Mabel Blair began her collegiate studies at the old Cass County Normal School in 1904. She has completed a course that included running, tumbling and volleyball.

At 68, Mrs. Blair says her ambition now is to earn a doctorate.

LONG BEACH, CALIF. — For three years a mail carrier pressed his suit for the heart of a dental assistant—and Thursday he wound up in jail.

Edward S. Kropfli, 44, first saw Mrs. Lavera O'Beta, 26, when he visited his dentist. He told her he knew at once that he had found the love of his life. She rebuffed him, gently at first.

Thereafter Kropfli wrote her more than 100 letters. He called here more than 1,000 times. Mrs. O'Beta married someone else.

Undaunted, Kropfli persisted. Once he visited her office. She slapped him, and got a disorderly conduct complaint.

Kropfli pleaded guilty Thursday and started serving 30 days in jail. "I'm still in love with her," he said.

Allied POW's Due Helicopter Rides

SEOUL — Allied prisoners exchanged at Panmunjom next week will get helicopter rides from the Army.

The 13th Helicopter Company will fly the POW's from Freedom Village at Munsan to various points where they will be processed for return home.

The Army also said it has a spare helicopter company ready if the load gets too heavy for the 13th.

LIKE MERCURY IN SUMMER—FARES KEEP GOING UP—Newsmag shows another aspect of the high cost of living: the increasing cost of public transportation across the nation. Most systems find they are unable to make a profit with present fares even though most have doubled since the end of World War II. Many have been forced to increase prices in the face of considerable protest from the riding public.

BIG SPRING SUSPENDS; LONGHORN EYES FUTURE

Longhorn League officials Thursday eyed the future with a determination that 1954 will bring prosperity instead of a continuous run of "bad luck," and Friday they were revamping the schedule for the rest of this season.

The new determination and revamped schedule were the result of the cessation of professional baseball in Big Spring for 1953. The Bronco owners Thursday threw their franchise into President Hal Sayles' lap with little more than 18 hours notice.

As a consequence, the annual meeting of the league was concerned with the immediate future and delayed discussion of the numerous items on the agenda at the time.

Big Spring Owners Raymond Tollett and Bill Franks exploded their bomb shell late Wednesday, but it wasn't until Thursday just prior to the meeting that league officials were aware of the action.

Tollett and Franks said blamed poor attendance for their failure in the town where Pat Stasey last season netted a $10,000 profit.

They said Big Spring had lost $26,000 already and estimated that they would lose another $5,000 if they continued to operate for the rest of the year.

Here's the way they explained their financial status. When they bought the club from Stasey, each invested $6,000. The $12,000 initial capital soon disappeared, and Tollett footed another $14,000 loss. It would cost approximately $8,500 to continue operations with only about $3,500 of this amount being offset by attendance for the remaining 12 home games.

Tollett, who acted as spokesman, indicated that Franks would be given the right to liquidate the franchise. The club owns its equipment, two station wagons, and has a four-year lease on the park. Tollett said Franks would inherit all of this while he (Tollett) would guarantee that all obligations would be met.

Big Spring has been playing before small crowds all season. The highest paid attendance, exclusive of the opening game, has been 700. Tollett said.

"We were curious just how many people were interested in baseball for Big Spring," he laughed, "so we let everybody in free one night. We drew 2,400."

Big Spring is the second league team to fold this season. Lamesa-Winters-Ballinger folded June 1 and at that time, the outgoing owner of that franchise, Harold Webb, advised the league to operate the remainder of the season with six clubs.

"A seven-team league is suicide," he forewarned. "It will not be six weeks before another team will have to drop," he predicted. (He missed his forecast by three weeks.)

The league accepted the franchise and gave Tollett and Franks 15 days to dispose of the players. Then, it turned its attention to the immediate task of revamping the schedule. Presidents Marion Plynt and Charles Montgomery of Carlsbad were appointed as a three-man committee to draw up a new schedule.

Hobbs, N. M. delegation, here to present an application for admission to the league, sat through the gym proceedings before getting an audience. They then adopted the policy of asking advice instead of presenting an application.

They were advised that their chances of entering the league next year were good, that they could be average of 1,017 for the 16 games. "We made a profit in July," Earl Perry, general manager, stated. "It was the first profit we've showed in three years."

Artesia did not promise to operate in 1954, but the Driller bosses reported "financially, we are in better shape than at any time at this point."

Carlsbad reported it was operating "in the black." The Potashers have averaged about 1,500 in attendance. San Angelo Vice President Allen Ingram indicated the Colts "hope to break even." "It has been a poor year, and although we have been leading the league most of the year, we are not drawing what we should."

Roswell, Midland and Odessa all reported that they expect to sustain a financial loss but that they plan to continue in the league in 1954.

It was the general consensus of the league officials that the business slump and continued drought in the farming towns were the cause of some of the league's troubles this year, but that the main cause of difficulty has been that the clubs have operated on the basis of last year's operations and expected increase in attendance.

Because 1952 was a good year, budgets were increased in 1953, but attendance dropped off, causing every club to suffer.

SPORTS PARLEY

By CHARLEY ESKEW

What with a superflow of baseball news in Friday's paper because of the Longhorn League all-star game and business meeting locally, to avoid the saturation point:

Here's a football report.

Cochran Tugboat Jones, Midland High, began his last week of service as selection chairman of the North Texas team for the Texas High School Coaches Association All-Star game when he departed for Houston, the game site, Friday morning. He'll team up with other THSCA directors at 1 p.m. Saturday to complete arrangements for next week's all-star encounter at Rice's Stadium and then go out to help familiarize head coaches Dallas Ward and Ray Jenkins of University of Colorado with the North's players during next week...

Lobos Face Conversion Problems

As for Midland's first home football game, it's between collegians from Sul Ross and McMurry, with Lobo Coach Al Mitch currently wondering if he can change six specialists of 1952 over to conform with the reinstated one-platoon system. Sammy Cox of Iran, Dwayne Turner of Lampasas, Darrell Ruder of Sweetwater, Royce Mullens of Haskell, Doyle Howell of Odessa and Flop Parson of Odessa performed strictly on defense before.

The two college's primary problem for the Midland game is working their players into fettle with 10 days of practice. The two start workouts September 1...

Rotary Cagers After Bill Kleine

Several other of the 66ers, who in the main are nearing the thirties, may quit basketball altogether. Kenny Jastrow, last year's team director, has reported...

That leaves the Rotary Engineers, a TAAF-conforming five-some, to build as Midland's foremost team, which Jack Locke of the state consolation prize winner plans for.

Locke said recently that the Engineers would seek the 6-foot-10 Kleine—ineligible in AAU games if he referees—to replace Glen Whitis of Monahans, a Rotary

Peay Scores Lowest Mark

Five new entries added their scores to the Ranchland Hill Country Club member-tournament qualifying list and one, Carl Peay, became the early round medal play leader.

Peay fired a four-over par 76 to gain a two-stroke advantage over the early leader W. L. (Bill) Smith who qualified last weekend.

The tourney's medal play, lasting a week, will be completed Sunday when the biggest group of entries will complete for the low-scoring prize and bracketing honors.

Besides Peay, the new qualifiers Friday were W. G. Henderson 81, H. L. Nunnally 92, J. B. Worley 86, and D. W. Speck 83.

Hitters Grab Glory As Texas Stars Win, 11-7

Batson Paces Plate Attack

By ABE WEINER

Prof of baseball's ills shone through the stars Thursday night when two groups of Longhorn League veteran sluggers brought the circuit's starchy pitchers down to earth with the speed of a meteor dropping from the heavens above.

Years of experience paid 14-hit dividends for the Texas and New Mexico All-Star delegations to the seventh annual Longhorn League classic, and only because the Texans selected the more opportune moments did they score an 11-9

DOWN THE LINE.—The New Mexico nine had its biggest moment in the all-star game during the second inning when Buddy Grimes, on a homer that put his team ahead, 2-0, turned around third base before scoring. Pat Stasey, a fellow Roswell player, is the first one of a line to congratulate Grimes.

HANEY PLACED ON SUSPENSION

Midland Indian Manager Jay Haney has earned an "indefinite rest" Longhorn League President Hal Sayles indicated Thursday.

Sayles placed Haney on indefinite suspension for his tobacco-spraying of Umpire A. B. Sykes at Carlsbad earlier in the week.

The Longhorn League president said he planned to look up previous incidents of a similar nature before deciding when the suspension will be lifted.

Tribe Tries 'Ashers Here

With Manager Jay Haney scheduled to take a seat in the stands and join the rooting section, the Midland Indians hope to get back in the groove Friday as they open a three-game series with the Carlsbad Potashers.

Haney, suspended Thursday by League President Hal Sayles, sent the Indians through a two hour and forty-five minute drill Thursday morning, hoping that the extra work will snap the Tribe out of their hitting slump.

Babe Confident After Tam Play

CHICAGO (AP)—You would know Babe Zaharias anywhere, even without No. 72 (men's par) pinned on her back.

Doctors told the greatest women's athlete in history that she probably would never play golf again after her operation for cancer April 17.

But she came back to Tam O'Shanter Thursday, and after a shaky 45 on the first nine, blasted a 37 on the second much as she used to do.

Promoter George S. May asked her if she wanted to ride around the course on a motor scooter to save her strength.

"When I can't walk like the rest of them, I'll quit," said Babe.

She easily got her birdie three on the last hole for a closing 37, one-over men's par.

"I think I'm going to be better than ever when I get my strength," she said after finishing.

SOME PLAYERS NEEDED JOBS—

'Two-Strikes' Called As Star Tilt Began

By CHARLEY ESKEW Reporter-Telegram Sports Editor
Was it carnival and fiesta or funeral and fiesta—for the first Longhorn League All-Star game ever held in Midland?

Club President Marion Flynt, on the demise of Big Spring. "I don't like to see any club have trouble but actually it's best for everybody. We don't have any more open dates and get more home games now (by adding more encounters for the other members). And Big Spring won't be losing any more money this year."

San Angelo, as one case missed a stellar player, Odessa Outfielder Leo Eastham, because he was called away Thursday afternoon to Massachusetts where his sister had died.

Pony All-Stars Off To Abilene

Midland's Pony League All-Stars left Thursday for Abilene where they engage a yet-to-be-decided opponent Friday in the District 4 Pony League baseball tournament.

The Midland team earned the right to compete in the District tournament against Snyder, Childress and Abilene by disposing of Eastern and Western Odessa at Crane last weekend.

Hogan Paces Money Winners; Six Texas Players In Top 25

CHICAGO (AP)—Six Texans are among the top 25 money-winners of golf with Ben Hogan of Fort Worth No. 1 with $16,604.16 although playing in only four official PGA tournaments.

The Midland club boasts a solid pitching corps that has won 29 games, lost 14 and tied four during the season play. One of the best pitchers, however, played with a losing club during regular season play. He's Benny Sanchez, who has a 3-6-1 record.

Wendy Paired With Favorite In USGA Tourney Match

TULSA — William (Wendy) Green of Midland teed off against favored Jim Lucius of Northfield, Minn., at 9:34 Friday morning in what most observers believed would be the decisive battle of the sixth annual USGA National Junior tournament at Southern Hills Country Club.

Lucius and Green so far have proved themselves the class of this tournament, as the other favorites, one by one, have been ushered to the sidelines. The winner of the feature match Friday morning will return for a quarter-final emagement at 2:08 p.m.

In the afternoon Wendy was four-over par for 16 holes in beating Bob Anderson of Lincoln, Neb., 4 and 2.
Green lost the first hole in the morning and was still one down after the fourth. He then won five straight holes and added the eleventh and twelfth as clinchers. He sank a 12-foot birdie on No. 6, an 18-footer on the ninth, an 18-inch birdie on the tenth and an eight-footer on the eleventh.

TULSA, OKLA. (AP)—Terry Thomas, the lean youngster from Canadaigua, N. Y., Thursday scored the first hole-in-one which U. S. Golf Association officials could recall in the six-year history of their Junior Amateur Tournament.
But Terry wasn't jubilant about his ace.
"Have you ever done that?" he observed. "I score a hole in one and lose my match."

Three Bus Routes To Change Monday

Midland Transportation Company will start three route changes at 6:15 a.m. Monday, Jack Uzzell, company official, said Friday.

The new schedules, he said, will extend bus service to more sections of Midland and improve service to all areas.

Route showing the least change is the Loma Linda service. Buses will use the present route going from the starting point at Wall and Lorraine streets, but will shift somewhat on the return trip.

The Loma Linda return will run like this: Buses will move down Lamesa Road from Pine Street to Maiden Lane, along Maiden Lane to Dallas Street, down Dallas Street to Mississippi Street, Mississippi Street to Baird Street, Baird Street to Louisiana Street, Louisiana Street to Main Street, Main Street to Illinois Street, Illinois Street to Lorraine Street, and back to the kick-off point at Lorraine and Wall Streets.

The next new schedule, dubbed the Crestview Heights and Permian Estates route, will serve areas where bus service has not been available. Route of the line will follow this pattern:

Start at Lorraine and Wall Streets, move along Wall Street to A Street, A Street to Illinois Street, Illinois Street to East Circle Drive, East Circle Drive to Delano Street, Delano Street to Powell Street, Powell Street to Roosevelt Street, Roosevelt Street back to Delano, Delano to Holly Drive, Holly Drive to Thomson Drive, Thomson Drive to Waverly Drive, Waverly Drive to Delano Street again, Delano Street back to Roosevelt Street, Roosevelt Street to Powell Street, Powell Street to Delano Street, Delano Street to East Circle Drive, East Circle Drive to Illinois Street, Illinois Street to A Street, A Street to Lorraine Street, Lorraine Street to the corner of the Wall and Lorraine street.

NOTHING LIKE CURB SERVICE

Now that's curb service. Most of the time, Midland firemen have to rush from side to side in this growing city carrying their battle to keep the fire toll down. Rarely do they enjoy comforts of home.

But Thursday was a different day. It was just a matter of walking to the curb. A 1946 automobile owned by George Wilson sat quietly in front of the Central Fire Station at the corner of Lorraine and Illinois Streets until 7:30 p.m., when it burst into flame. Firemen just stepped out an snuffed the blaze.

The damage was slight; the cause unknown. And it was so easy!

Former Midlanders Injured In Wreck Reported Improving

Bill Havenstrite and Don Beauchamp, both Western Company employees transferred last week from Midland to Ballinger, were removed Friday from the "critical" list at a Ballinger hospital, where they were taken Wednesday after a truck-car collision near that city.

Attending physicians, however, said the men, though "very much improved," still are in serious condition. Western Company surgeon, Dr. June Melton, who was flown to Ballinger Thursday, returned here Friday after consultation with physicians at the Ballinger Clinic-Hospital.

Havenstrite, 25-year-old acidizer helper, suffered head injuries and a fractured pelvis. Beauchamp, also 25 and an acidizer helper, suffered head injuries, a broken collar bone and a fractured rib.

The two men were riding in a car with Ivan O. Bevel, former Midland employee, that collided with a dump truck driven by Daniel J. Bradley of Ballinger. The three Western Company men were on a fishing trip.

TESTIFIES—The Rev. Jack Richard McMichael, Methodist minister of Upper Lake, Calif., testifies before the House Un-American Activities Committee in Washington, angrily denouncing charges that he is a Communist.

Preacher Doesn't Recognize Man Calling Him Communist

WASHINGTON —(P)— The Rev. Jack McMichael confronted by a man who accused him of being a one-time Communist, told the House Un-American Activities Committee Friday, "I don't know him."

The accuser was Manning Johnson, a middle-aged negro. He was called to the stand only a few feet from the young Methodist minister, shortly after McMichael repeated his testimony of Thursday that he didn't recall the man by name.

"If I were to see him perhaps I could tell you if I ever saw him before," McMichael had said. Chairman Velde (R-Ill) had an aide bring Johnson into the room.

When McMichael said he didn't know him, Johnson said: "Take a good look."

"I took a good look," McMichael replied. "I don't recognize him by his name or by his appearance."

McMichael, 36, a lanky and aggressive preacher from Upper Lake, Calif., assailed his hearing Thursday as un-American and un-Christian. He said:

"The whole procedure was based on a principle that would have condemned Jesus—guilt by association."

The lanky witness, quick in speech and a hard man to quiet, gave the committee what one member, Representative Clardy (R-Mich), called "an exasperating day."

During the hearing, the 36-year-old Georgia-born preacher asserted he is not now and never has been a Communist.

House Unit Okays Debt Limit Hike

WASHINGTON —(P)— President Eisenhower's late-hour proposal to boost the federal debt ceiling to 290 billion dollars cleared its first hurdle Friday. The House Ways and Means Committee approved it.

It was the first step in a tense, rapid-fire drive by Administration forces to push across the storm-provoking request in the closing hours or days of this session of Congress.

House leaders were to seek a House vote later Friday. Republican chieftains predicted, and Democrats generally agreed, it would sail through overwhelmingly.

There is fierce opposition in the Senate, and the issue threw doubt over plans to adjourn this week. Signs were that some of the Senate opposition was wavering.

Chairman Daniel Reed (R-NY) said the House committee voted for a bill, drafted by him, to increase the debt ceiling from 275 billion dollars. The action came after Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey and Budget Director Joseph Dodge presented the Administration's case.

Humphrey said Thursday "near panic" might result if the lid is not lifted and the government as a result couldn't pay its bills. The debt now stands at 272 1/2 billions.

The Senate Finance Committee planned a similar session Friday afternoon.

Houston Plans Ban On Airborne Speakers

Ironically, death cut down Taft only six months after he had assumed the biggest and toughest role of his career, the role of Senate majority leader.

It was a role that even his enemies conceded was worthy of the rather austere veteran of 15 years in the Senate. He was counted on to keep a delicate balance in a Republican Party, where his own conservatism was in contrast to the internationalism of the GOP's other major wing.

Yearned For Presidency Born in Cincinnati, Taft was a student at Yale when his father sat in the White House. Many of his holidays from school were spent there. There, too, he met the girl who became his wife, Martha Wheaton Bowers. Her father was President Taft's solicitor general.

When young Robert Taft said goodbye to the White House at the end of his father's term, it was with an apparent resolve to return some day in his own right.

Few Americans ever yearned more steadfastly for the Presidency. Four times Taft sought the Republican nomination. Each time it was denied him. His party held him in high esteem but it never offered him the chance he longed for—to go before the American people as a candidate for the presidency.

Taft was Ohio's favorite son candidate for the GOP presidential nomination as early as 1936, two years before the Buckeye State sent him to the Senate for the first time.

By 1940 he was a leading contender for the nomination. It was snatched away by a dark horse, Wendell Willkie.

Four-Time Loser Taft stepped aside in 1944 to leave the field clear for his friend and fellow-Ohioan, John Bricker. Bricker wound up as a defeated vice presidential candidate.

In 1948, Taft again was a strong contender. Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York won it from him.

Four years later, Taft made his last and most formidable bid and for a time it looked as though he might succeed. Gen. Dwight Eisenhower came home from Europe and the aura of his personality pushed Taft down to defeat on the first ballot of the 1952 GOP convention.

Only then, after 16 years of valiant effort, did Taft finally abandon his dream of a return to the White House.

In his last and bitterest defeat, Taft demonstrated the sense of party loyalty that was the ruling force in his life. He and Eisenhower shook hands, composed their differences and Taft then stumped 22 states to help elect the first GOP president in two decades.

Foreign Aid Accord Removes Barrier On Closing Of Congress

WASHINGTON —(P)— Senate-House agreement on the foreign aid budget early Friday removed one of the last remaining barriers to adjournment of Congress.

A Senate-House conference committee worked until past midnight Thursday to reach a compromise on a $6,652,422,390 foreign aid money bill. Although there was some grumbling among the House conferees, Chairman Taft (R-NY) of the Appropriations Committee said that "Why, certainly" the House would accept it. Final Senate okay is also needed.

The total amount is $699,315,866 less than Eisenhower asked. It includes $4,530,457,999 in new cash and $2,121,964,391 in authority to spend funds appropriated by previous Congresses and not yet obligated.

The compromise is $455,734,211 above the amount originally voted by the House and $92,896,812 less than the Senate had approved early Thursday.

Mr. Republican—

His ability to judge the Senate's reaction made Taft's advice invaluable at conferences of congressional leaders and the President.

Within his party, Taft was a peacemaker, a leader who rallied grumbling dissenters into at least the semblance of a solid front.

Without his restraining hand, these men may turn further and further away from the world leadership role which Eisenhower has striven to mould for his party.

And no more will the force of Taft's dominant personality temper the extreme edge of the Republican liberals, blunt the battering ram of the GOP reactionaries and channel his party into the middle way that Eisenhower says is his own goal.

Many disagreed with Robert Taft and many who criticized him. But there was none at the Capitol who assailed his integrity and none who was not sorry that his voice had been stilled.

Cynthia Ann Rudd Turns Back On Death; Ready For School

By TRACY PILER Reporter-Telegram Staff

Eight-year-old Cynthia Ann Rudd, negro Midland school girl, who three months ago was on death's doorstep when she was mangled badly by a T&P Railway switch engine, will be up and walking in about two weeks.

Right now the happy youngster, who has been termed "the best patient we ever had" by doctors and nurses and officials of Western Clinic-Hospital, is confined to a wheelchair.

Her story is one of unflinching courage, calmness in the throes of pain, and complete cooperation with those who wanted to help her.

And so many did help return her to life including eight doctors, numerous nurses and many friends.

Here are the injuries Cynthia suffered in the accident, according to her physician:

A compound fracture of the skull, laceration of the brain, hemorrhage behind the right eye which blinded it, a compound fracture of the left leg at the knee which went through the growth center of the bone, partial amputation of the right foot and a fracture of the pelvis.

On the morning of April 15, Cynthia was sent to the grocery store shortly before noon by her mother, Mrs. Ethel Gillens of 1010 East Texas Street.

According to trainmen the child was walking the tracks about 50 feet west of the Lee Street crossing.

"Just as we sighted her, she turned and walked right into the side of the engine." One of the men saw her but it was too late.

She was carried to the hospital in short time and one look at her twisted and bleeding body made death look imminent. For three days she lay unconscious while men and women of medicine worked tenderly to help her cling to a thread of life.

Her Festive Attitude Then miraculously the spunky little girl got better through three weeks of consuming food through a tube in her stomach. Gentle hands and trained minds of surgeons and nurses were doing the trick. The hand of God was there, too. Treatment has included the placing of metal screws through the left knee to restore it to use and the grafting of skin off her right thigh onto the partly amputated right foot.

Cynthia's physician has attributed her remarkable recovery to her youth and positive attitude toward life and those who worked with her.

"Her recovery is a tribute to cooperation among interested physicians and nurses," he said.

Ready For School Sweet-faced little Cynthia will be entering the second grade at Carver School this Fall and looks toward school with eagerness.

Released from the hospital June 19, her main diversion has been reading but when she is able to walk normally again she should be able to do practically anything she did before, her doctor believes.

At a recent checkup at the hospital she was asked if she had any boy friends. "No," replied Cynthia wisely, "and I don't want any... yet."

Thieves Nab Jewels Of Ex-German Rulers In Raid On Museum

HECHINGEN, GERMANY—(AP)—Thieves broke into the Hohenzollern Castle museum here Thursday night and stole some of the fabulous jewels of Germany's former rulers, including gifts from Britain's Queen Victoria to Kaiser Wilhelm II.

The sentimental and historical worth of the stolen treasure, including jewel-encrusted medals and plate of gold, far exceeded the $100,000 value estimated by police.

Servants, museum attendants and others living in several buildings of the castle heard nothing of the break-in. It was not discovered until a ladder was seen propped against the 30-foot castle wall early Friday morning.

The thieves saw their way through iron bars guarding the jewels, smashed through the glass show cases and—police said—carried off only the most easily sold objects, preferring those with diamonds that could be ripped out of their settings. They left the Kaiser's crown.

Among the 18 objects missing were a golden table set Queen Victoria gave the Kaiser at his christening, a Prussian field marshal's baton encrusted with rubies and diamonds, a solid gold plate, six diamond-studded snuffboxes of the time of Frederick the Great and a number of jeweled medals.

A reward has been offered for recovery of the treasure.

Two Aliens Arraigned On Marijuana Charge

LAREDO—(AP)—George Colon, 37, of Puerto Rico and Sergio Morin Cardenas, 30, of Mexico were arraigned Thursday before U. S. Commissioner Frank Hill on marijuana smuggling charges.

Customs agents said the pair were arrested near Hebbronville while trying to transport 52 pounds of marijuana to New York.

Midlanders Leave On 'Circle Tour'

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Burns and Mrs. Clyde Hamilton of Midland and Mrs. George Burnam of Marble Falls left Friday on a vacation trip to California. The trip to the West Coast is being made by the Southern route and the return trip will be by the Northern route.

Mrs. Hamilton, Mrs. Burns and Mrs. Burnam are sisters. It is the first extensive trip they have made together since they were children.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Cotton was unchanged to 15 cents a bale higher at noon Friday, October 33.82, December 34.10, March 34.32.

Alibi Traps Both Burglar, Lookout

The lookout was waiting for the burglar and the burglar was waiting for the lookout.

So Friday both were being held for questioning as police investigated the burglary of the Kimbell-Midland Company, wholesale grocers with offices at 301 South Baird Street.

Both admitted their part in the burglary but Detective Capt. Bill Patterson still was questioning them Friday noon about some other thefts.

Dave Morren, a private night watchman, was the man who uncovered the plot.

Morren was making his round shortly after 1 a.m. Friday when he spotted the automobile parked behind the grocery company warehouse.

"What's the matter," asked Morren. "Ran out of gas," answered the negro. "My buddy went to get some."

Morren didn't like the sound of the story and brought the negro to headquarters for questioning.

He described the car to Lt. Roy Merket, who identified it as belonging to a 26-year-old ex-convict.

A description of the second man was broadcast.

A few minutes later, Officers William Cantrell and Donald Maddox drove by the Kimbell-Midland warehouse and spotted the same automobile.

"What's the matter," asked one of the officers.

"Ran out of gas," answered the negro. "My buddy went to get some."

The officers brought the second negro to headquarters where, he admitted, he was surprised to see his lookout.

"I figured you'd be back to the car," he told him, "and was sitting there waiting for you."

The second negro admitted breaking into the warehouse and taking four cartons of chewing gum, a carton of peanuts and $2.50 in cash.

Government Ready To Make Emergency Livestock Loans

By The Associated Press
The government was ready to make disaster emergency livestock loans Friday, L. J. Cappelman, state director of the Farmers Home Administration, said.

Cappelman said details of administering emergency legislation had been worked out and that FHA was ready to receive applications and process loans. He warned against confusion between the government's drought area feed program and the livestock loan program which he announced Thursday.

In Lamesa, Dawson County farmers asked for help to get a cover crop on their land for winter. They asked Secretary of Agriculture Benson that unused money in the agricultural conservation program be made available to buy seed for cover cropping and that the Commodity Credit Corporation make the seed available.

Cappelman's move meant cattlemen in Texas can, beginning now, borrow through FHA for a long list of essential operating purposes if they cannot get loans through regular commercial channels.

Crop Loans Still Available
Cappelman reminded farmers of a separate crop disaster loan program which FHA has been handling in Texas for two years. Such loans still are available.

Crop loans differ from livestock loans in that they are for farmers also suffering from economic disaster. The whole state was declared an economic disaster area two years ago.

"The emergency loan program," Cappelman said, "covers all Texas ranchers while the feed program is restricted to the ranchers in the 152 drought-ridden counties of the western half of the state."

Under the feed operation the government sells ranchers surplus cottonseed products, corn, wheat and other feedstuffs at low prices.

The livestock loans are available for three years at five per cent. Many banks are charging seven per cent on similar loans. Some interest rates are higher. There is neither a ceiling or floor on the loans from FHA. But those amounting to more than $50,000 must be handled directly by the agriculture secretary's office.

Dalhart Meeting Called
Cappelman said the crop disaster loans, started under the Truman Administration, are being made at the rate of more than $1,000,000 monthly. They are to help farmers through years in which they failed to make operating expenses.

While the government moved to make the road easier for stricken farmers and stockmen, a meeting was scheduled August 10 in Dalhart to press for price supports on cattle.

President S. E. Brown of the United Livestock Producers Association said the group's directors would finish organization of the association and receive more suggestions on how to get price supports.

Many of Texas' larger ranchers have opposed price supports in the past.

U. S. Traffic Toll Higher Than 1952
CHICAGO—(AP)—Traffic deaths in the first half of 1953 were up three per cent over the same period last year.

The National Safety Council said Thursday U. S. traffic fatalities in the first six months of 1953 totaled 17,300—470 more than the year before.

There was a bright side to the traffic picture, however. Deaths per 100 million miles of travel from January through June were 6.5—a new all-time low for the five-month period. In 1952, the mileage death rate was 6.7.

Children Hear Shots Ending Mother's Life
SHELBY, N. C.—(AP)—Four children, locked in a room of their small home, heard pistol shots from an adjoining room. When released, they found their 32-year-old mother mortally wounded. Their father was charged with murder.

Sheriff Hayward Allen said Van Hammett, about 40, admitted shooting his wife eight times with a .32 caliber pistol Thursday after they had quarreled for "several weeks." The children, ranging from 14 to seven years old, are in custody of their mother's parents.

Potential Underway At Texaco Stepout To Andrews Field

The Texas Company was taking to potential test at No. 2-AE State, one location south extender to production in the Andrews, Northeast (Devonian) field of Northeast Andrews County.

On last production gauge, the project flowed seven hours and 50 minutes and made 262 barrels of load oil, 12 barrels of acid water and 241 barrels of new oil, gravity 42.6. The flow was through a one-half-inch choke. Gas-oil ratio was 436-1.

The project now is on potential test. Production is coming through perforations at 12,537-12,556 feet. The set had been acidized with 500 gallons. Location is 1,980 feet from north and 2,004 feet from west lines of section 6, block 8, University Lands survey and one location south of Texaco No. 1-AE State, recently completed Devonian producer.

Forest Sets Pipe In Possible Opener In NE Chaves Area

Forest Oil Corporation has set and cemented five and one-half-inch casing at 8,500 feet in No. 1 Federal-General American Oil Company, indicated flowing discovery from an unidentified formation in Northeast Chaves County.

As soon as cement hardens, it will be drilled out and casing perforated. The rank wildcat flowed oil on a drillstem test from 7,754 to 7,888 feet. Tool was open one hour. Gas surfaced in seven minutes and mud in 27 minutes. Oil flowed out at the top in 32 minutes. Flow was turned to pits 28 minutes.

The well made an estimated 12 to 15 barrels of oil hourly. Flowing pressure ranged from zero up to 1,035 pounds and 30-minute shut-in pressure was 2,770 pounds. Recovery was reversed out. It was all oil.

The wildcat is approximately eight miles northeast of production in the Lightcap field and 1,980 feet from west and north lines of section 7-7a-31e.

It is 48 miles northeast of Roswell.

Wilberns Opener In Nolan Makes Water In Hakes

More water has been found in the Hickory sand at American Trading & Production Company No. 2 Jessie Little, indicated multipay producer and discovery for Wilberns dolomite production in the White Flat field of Northeast Nolan County.

Drillstem test was taken in the section from 5,720 to 5,735 feet. Tool was open 90 minutes. Recovery was 5,025 feet of sulphur water and 30 feet of mud. Water previously was found at 5,626 feet.

More hole was being made. Operator plans to continue drilling until granite is reached and then plug back for dual completion in the Wilberns and Strawn.

Locations is 1,520 feet from west and 467 feet from south lines of section 25, block 20, T&P survey and two miles southeast of Herndon.

Two C-W Howard Wildcats Are To Be Abandoned

Potential test gauges have been filed by Falcon Oil Corporation on two wildcats in Central-West Howard County and plans to plug both tests have been announced.

One of the projects, taken over from Fason & Lee Company, Inc., is No. 1-1, Lilly Pratt Brown. It pumped 10.4 barrels of 25.5-gravity oil per day from open hole at 3,179-3,326 feet.

The other test is Falcon No. 1 Doyle Vaughn, taken over from Glen H. McCarthy and S&W Company. It pumped seven barrels of oil per day from open hole at 3,196-3,391 feet after 2,000 gallons of acid were used.

Produced Small Amounts
Operator filed completion reports on the two tests in order to move the small amounts of oil that was recovered during extensive testing.

No. 1 Brown is 330 feet from north and west lines of section 22, block 34, T-1-N, T&P survey and eight miles west of Big Spring.

No. 1 Vaughn is 2,970 feet from south and 330 feet from east lines of section 12, block 34, T-1-N, T&P survey, and eight and one-half miles west of Big Spring.

Culberson Wildcat Has Been Abandoned

El Paso Natural Gas Company No. 1 J. M. Montgomery-State, Central Culberson County wildcat, 33 miles northwest of Kent has been abandoned and plugged on a total depth of 6,610 feet in an unidentified Permian formation.

It did not find any shows of petroleum production. A three-hour drillstem test was run at 6,487-6,610 feet. Recovery was 750 feet of drilling mud and 4,860 feet of brackish water.

Location was 1,300 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of section 17, block 100, psi survey.

SW Reagan Field Gets New Tester

Big Lake Oil Company filed application with the Railroad Commission of Texas requesting permission to start at once on a 9,200-foot project at the northwest edge of the Big Lake (Multiple) field of Southwest Reagan County.

The prospector is to be drilled as No. 1-H University.

Drillite is 2,004.9 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 11, block 2, University Lands survey. It is one mile north of Texon and one location west of production in the field.

Sinclair Will Drill Schleicher Project

Sinclair Oil & Gas Company has staked location for its No. 7 McClatchey estate three-eighths of a mile southeast of production in the Huldade field of North-Central Schleicher County.

Projected depth is 5,900 feet. Rotary tools will be used to drill the test to the Pennsylvania reef. Operations will begin immediately.

Location is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of the west half of section 42, block M, GH&A survey.

Elevation at the drillite is approximately 2,285 feet.

Velma Completes Stepout To East Hobbs Oil Field

Velma Petroleum Corporation No. 1 Goodie, short stepout to production on the southwest side of the East Hobbs (San Andres) field of Central-East Lea County, New Mexico and Central-West Gaines County, Texas has been completed for a daily initial potential of 384 barrels of 32.2 gravity oil, flowing through a one-quarter inch tubing choke.

The production came from open hole in the San Andres at 4,435-52 feet. That section had been treated with 1,000 gallons of acid.

Location is 330 feet from north and 2,310 feet from east lines of section 31-18-39e.

Polish Teenager Dodges Red Police In Freedom Jaunt

BERLIN—(AP)—A slim Polish boy of 17 told Friday how he escaped from behind the Iron Curtain, dodging Red police at every step of a 16-day, 500-mile trek across Poland, Czechoslovakia and East Germany.

The thin-faced Marion—his last name a secret to protect his family—was lucky. His buddy, Jan, 16, who started out with him, either was killed or captured by Czech police.

"The police caught us one night as we took shelter in an abandoned house and demanded to see our papers," Marion said. "We ran and police fired. I got away through a window. Jan never got out of the house. He was either shot or captured."

The youth is now at an American-supported West Berlin refugee home after his perilous journey from his home in Posen.

He said he got fed up on communism early in life—"Communism in schools, communism in the streets. Say something good about America and you go to jail."

His father owned a rental food store but confiscatory taxes and restrictions on supplies forced him out of business.

"I heard the Voice of America and Radio Free Europe telling of the free life of the West," the boy said. "I knew there must be something better than we had. I have cousins in Canada and the United States. So my friend and I got a compass, a knife and a map and took off on a roundabout route to Berlin. We got across the Polish border into Czechoslovakia at Ralibor."

Guard Fakes Notice
"We were lucky. The border there is heavily guarded by many soldiers and frontier police in watch towers and other police with dogs. But as we sneaked across, the only border guard who saw us dodged behind a tree and pretended not to notice us."

In Czechoslovakia, he said, they found many kind people who helped them on their way with food and wishes for their good luck. After crossing into Eastern Germany at Rumburg, he said, more people hid him.

Roman Catholic welfare officials said they are trying to trace the relatives in Canada.

June Strike Idleness Shows Gain Over May

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Strike idleness in June amounted to 3,750,000 man-days, as compared with 3,000,000 in May, the Labor Department reported Thursday.

The department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said, however, that strike idleness in the first half of this year amounted to 12,600,000 man-days, or only 40 per cent of the total for the first six months of 1952.

Federal Courts Bill Goes To Conference

Turkey Makes Like Texas; GI's Find Watermelons Near 'Lone Star' Weight

By GRACE HALSELL
Reporter-Telegram Special Correspondent

IZMIR, TURKEY — Turkey is like Texas. They grow everything big over here.

Cabbage is the size of a half-bushel basket. Tomatoes are like Texas grapefruit.

"Take out the inside of one of their big watermelons, and a five-year-old child could hide inside."

The size has impressed even a Texan, M/Sgt. Harry Schwartz.

"I've made arrangements with an airline to send some fruits and vegetables to Governor Shivers," the sergeant said.

"I couldn't believe my eyes," he continued, explaining he wants the governor of the Biggest State to ascertain if these giant products are real.

In addition to being big, the melons here are sweet and delicious. Tomatoes have that "just plucked" taste.

Cherries, figs, apricots, and plums are in abundance—and cheap.

If the sergeant can get okay from the governments concerned, he will proceed with his plans to send the Texas governor a few examples of Turkish fruits and vegetables.

Despite many compensations over here—and the money is the main one—many young soldiers sent here are miserable, Sergeant Schwartz says. "Compensation is abnormal for a young soldier, and he does not appreciate it. It is an adult's job over here," the sergeant thinks.

He said he had seen 18 and 19-year-old boys "break down and cry" because they get so lonely over here.

There are few recreational facilities here, as Stateside people know them.

No gyms, few movies, little opportunity to meet a "nice" girl.

"They have here 'bowling alleys'—but no one bowls there. A boy can go in, meet a girl and take her to a small booth where they drink a bowl of punch-mixture."

Sergeant Schwartz was a sergeant major at Fort Hood when he met his wife, the former Marguerite Franks. She worked there as payroll clerk.

"They were married in 1947 at Liberty Hill."

Schwartz was in World War II, from the invasion "on through." He served three years in Germany, and one year in Copenhagen with the Military Assistance Advisory Group. His commanding officer there was Brig. Gen. Ralph A. Snavely of San Antonio.

Copenhagen he calls the "Paris of the North" and says it's as modern as Saks Fifth Avenue.

He likes Copenhagen better than any place he has seen—anyplace other than Texas, that is.

NAPLES TO NAPLES—The former Nolan McCollum, wife of Lt. Col. L. M. Young, was born in Naples, Texas, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McCollum, now in Naples, Italy, where her husband is stationed.

Which Naples does she prefer? The Naples in Texas.

Mrs. Young has three brothers in Texas, J. Robert in Kilgore, M. W. in Naples, and B. C. McCollum in Houston.

THE HIT PARADE—Every place I go, I try to buy a record or two typical of the country's music.

In Naples I went to the Ricordi store, and asked for what I consider the most beautiful popular tune I've heard—"Anema E Core," sung by an Italian.

Next to me was a young Italian girl.

She asked the clerk for Johnny Ray's "Walkin' My Baby Back Home."

JOTTINGS — The Greek National Anthem is the loveliest national anthem I have ever heard. . . . While Greek music sounds musical, Turkish songs have the wailing typical of some Japanese music. . . . Very strange to call some of it music. . . .

Had dinner with Lt. Col. and Mrs. James Cogrove the other night at the apartment here of Brig. Gen. Stanhope B. Mason, HALFSEE chief of staff. Mrs. Cogrove's sister is Mrs. Henry H. Khulmann, III, of Houston. . . . Lt. Col. R. B. Crowley, with the Joint Military Mission Aid to Turkey (JAMMAT it's called) is married to the former Geneva June Wheat, a Fort Worth girl he met while he was stationed at Carswell Air Force Base. Colonel Crowley also had training in the B-29 technical school at Amarillo. They'll be going back to Texas in two months, and the Crowleys hate to leave Turkey.

MILITARY "INTELLIGENCE" — Language is the big difficulty at Headquarters Allied Land Forces Southeastern Europe (HALFSEE) where Turks, Greeks and Americans use a mixture that's called the "Halfsee" language.

One general made a speech about his "intelligence" meaning the military information gleaned for him, and in a certain phase of operation he pointed out his intelligence was not adequate for judgment.

Translated, however, the general was saying: "I am a dumb man."

CAN'T KEEP HIM "GROUNDED"—The Air Force's only quadruple amputee, Clarence (Red) Mosley, A/2c, of Pateros, N. J., waits behind the wheel of a specially equipped automobile at Walter Reed Hospital, in Washington, as he prepares to take a driver's test. Mosley, 22, suffered multiple wounds when shot down over Korea.

Medicine Men Say Bald Pates Reveal Maximum Virility

LONDON —(AP)— Never mind if people are beginning to call you "Old Baldie." It only proves you are a real man, a medical publication says.

The girls should take another look at you because bald heads and hairy chests are signs of masculine virility.

This theory was advanced in "Family Doctor," a publication of the British Medical Association.

Three heartening graphic illustrations accompanied the article.

The first, of a teenage male with a hair line straight across the forehead, was printed to show the "immature male scalp." In the second picture, of a man between 35 and 40, the hairline slowly is creeping toward the back of the neck. This is the "mature male type."

No question exists about the man in the third picture. He has had it. And he is described as "the older and completely mature man."

BOOK BURNER BURNS 'EM ALL

MIDVALE, UTAH —(AP)— Salt Lake County's bookmobile — a traveling library mounted on a truck—is out of commission this week because of a 12-year-old "book burner."

Ralph Joyce, driver of the mobile unit, reported that at one of his stops the boy saw a puddle on the ground beneath the vehicle and decided to find out—with the aid of a match—if the liquid was gasoline.

It was.

The magazine said only four per cent of normal men and 20 per cent of normal women fail to develop hairline recessions—or sharp angles pointing backwards into the temples. Women rarely lose more hair than this. Men normally do.

Maturity Betokens
The article added:
In a group of men who were found by biochemical laboratory tests to be deficient in the male sexual hormones, 19 out of 20 failed to develop them (recessions).
"When they were given gland treatment, they immediately proceeded to develop these recessions, which, in men at any rate, usually betoken sexual maturity.
"If two men have the same hereditary tendency to go bald, the more virile man, as revealed by biochemical tests, is practically certain to go bald. The man whose glands are less active has a better chance of keeping his tatch."

FANCED BY FAMOUS
King Edward VII, of England, had a pet wire-haired fox terrier that walked in the funeral procession when his master died. Bismarck fancied a Great Dane, while Kaiser Wilhelm II favored the dachshund.

SOMETHING A MAN CAN BE SURE OF...

They say at Yellowstone National Park that you can set your watch by Old Faithful. Before the entranced eyes of countless tourists this famous geyser spouts its steaming fountain every sixty-four minutes.

Too bad there aren't more things in life that a man can be sure of... and more people he can call "faithful."

As we realize the multitude of uncertainties in life we understand the ageless appeal of Christianity. It has satisfied man's yearning for Certainty. In Jesus Christ and his teachings we glimpse a God who is FAITHFUL, and whose faithfulness provides the firm foundation of man's FAITH.

Join the millions who are turning to the Church to find the truths a man can be sure of!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Daddy Ringtail

Daddy Ringtail And Kitten Britches

Everyone at the monkey house thought it was time for Mugwump's kitten to go out in the forest to seek her fortune and make a new home of her own. But you know how kitten are. They never like to leave home, and so Daddy Ringtail knew he would have to take the kitten way off somewhere and lose her—or else she would never make a home of her own and never find her fortune.

Mother Ringtail made the kitten some kitten britches, which were really pants for the well-dressed cat to wear when it was going traveling. When the kitten had washed her face, and when she was dressed in her kitten britches as carefully as ever a kitten could be, Daddy Ringtail picked her up and slid to the ground and walked away through the forest.

A cat is always very hard to lose.

By WESLEY DAVIS

He finally decided, as he walked along beneath the trees, that he should go back for the kitten and take her home. But he couldn't find the way. He was lost himself. He almost did not find his way home.

But when he climbed back up the monkey house, they were gone. You know how. The kitten hadn't been just at all, and she had hurried back to the monkey house while Daddy Ringtail was trying to find his way.

Everyone was so happy to see the kitten they promised she could stay at the monkey house forever, and all this makes me think that we should never take kittens out in the world to seek their fortunes, if we can possibly keep them at home. Happy day!

Gold Ring Found In Margerine Cube

HOBART, OKLA.—(AP)—You've heard of people who examine oysters hoping to find a pearl. Mrs. Fain Muldowney hit the jackpot in a cube of oleomargarine.

The housewife was mixing a cake when her knife hit something hard as she whittled off a piece of oleo. Inside was a 14-karat gold ring with a center diamond flanked by smaller stones.

A Hobart jeweler examined the ring and said the stones were genuine.

Communist Guerrillas In South Korea May Attempt To Keep On Fighting UN

By FRED SPARKS
NEA Staff Correspondent
ON THE KOREAN TRUCE FRONT—How to keep the United States Army in Korea in good shape and on everlasting guard during truce is one major headache facing over high command.

On the business of honoring a truce the Communists have a record longer than Lucky Luciano. Several times during Chinese civil war truces they kept their word long enough to let the Nationalists fall asleep, then—wham!

The Eighth Army will be wearing a blindfold because our airborne eyes will be grounded. Our field commander, General Maxwell Taylor, is determined that any rabbit punch will clonk a steel helmet, not a naked neck.

No Paunches For GI's
He's warned frontliners against the double-cross. Top officers will make sneak inspections and slap snoozing soldiers with brass-knuckled penalties.

Without question the battle efficiency of the Eighth Army will go down with truce like warplane stocks. Steady rotation will drain off the remaining combat cunning GI's.

It will be a sweat to keep the GI's from getting soft as an inner tube. For the first weeks they'll manipulate muscles shoveling new frontlines. The truce backs up each battle over a mile, evacuating present diggings.

Later there will be enough push-ups and mountain hikes to toughen a heavyweight contender—and make dough-fry day-dream of last winter's lazy slacker.

'Bandits' To Staying Up
The Communists who surely will continue fighting truce are the

In peace, even the rocks are soft: An American soldier finds even a stony beach is restful as he hangs his shirt on a rifle stack and relaxes in the security of a Korean truce.

guerrillas deep inside South Korea. These Reds, living largely off the land, couldn't quit even if they wanted to, for the South Koreans label them "bandits" and would be inclined to hang them like Monday wash.

Furthermore, a lot of these guerrilla bands are as out of touch with current events as the Imperial Japanese soldiers on Luzon who just learned the other day that World War II is over.

Right now guerrillas fire at passing night trains, ambush straggling soldiers, blow ammunition dumps and otherwise act unfriendly.

The bulk of these guerrillas, living in forests and isolated hills, are the remains of the North Korean Army cut off in the fall of 1950 when MacArthur landed at Inchon and creamed the opposition to take Seoul.

A sizeable chunk of South Korean ops and infantrymen are engaged in hunting the guerrillas, aided by bloodhounds and trackers.

Army headquarters expects thousands of agents to infiltrate and try to undermine President Rhee's anti-Communist government. Naturally, they would be handy with the TNT if the peace powwows pop and the Chinese blitz.

South Korea has a long coastline and despite our patrolling warships it has always been fairly easy for a fishing boat to slip ashore at lonesome beaches, depositing a few cut-throats.

'Persuaders' In Peril
Proof of such traffic was the messy situation at Koje Island and other POW camps. Mischief made in Moscow was rapidly whispered via courier to Red prison chiefs.

Another sweat is offered by the Chinese and North Koreans who will come south to question prisoners who say they don't want to go home, fearing the Siberian deep freeze treatment.

Thousands of South Koreans, including President Rhee, would love to play soccer with the visitors' skulls. Peking's pets will be wise to avoid evening strolls and local saloons.

They'll be guarded like the U. S. Steel payroll. A few assassinations could also rub out peace.

Dinosaur's Fossil Finally Uncovered

LEWISTOWN, MONT.—For six years Perry Martin of Stanford told his friends of an old rock formation shaped like a gigantic spine.

No one would pay attention to him. Finally, Martin convinced listeners the formation along railroad tracks near Stanford was something to look at.

They started to dig at the spot pointed out by Martin and unearthed a major part of a dinosaur. Its bones were petrified and resembled ordinary rocks.

WHO BOILED THOSE EGGS?

PLACERVILLE, CALIF.—Charles Nixon of Albert Lee, Minn., was driving a trucktrailer, carrying 600 cases of eggs.

The rig ran off the road and overturned near Kyburns on U. S. Highway 50. But, investigating officers said only 10 per cent of the egg load was damaged in the accident.

Skyscraper To House Ocean-Test Chamber

NEW YORK —(AP)—The black, freezing depths of two miles down in the North Atlantic are being reproduced artificially in a downtown New York skyscraper.

Western Union engineers duplicate conditions on the ocean bottom, where no divers have dared to venture, by chilling a 125-gallon tank with 3,300 pounds of ice. The tank they use weighs five tons and has four-inch-thick steel walls.

The purpose of the experiments is to test delicate undersea cable amplifiers used in Western Union cables on the ocean floor.

Sheriff Announces Rare Jail Vacancy

NEWKIRK, OKLA. —(AP)—Kay County Sheriff Roy Welch complains his crime-busting business has fallen off so much that all he and his deputies have to do is serve legal papers and deliver mental patients to hospitals.

Welch says that for the first time since 1938 there is not a single prisoner in the county jail.

CARNIVAL

"You and your own decisions!"

The MATURE PARENT

Let's Beware Of Wholesale And Chronic Self-Reproach

When Penny began to toddle, her father placed a gate above the porch steps. By latching it, her mother could leave Penny on the porch when she was busy in the house.

One morning, just as she'd installed Penny and her favorite wooden spoon on the porch, the telephone rang. It was her sister calling to demand the immediate return of the sewing machine she had borrowed. So anxious was Penny's mother to explain why she hadn't returned it that she forgot she had not latched the porch gate.

Penny fell down the porch steps, badly cutting her forehead. When the doctor came, he had to give her another sedatives as well as patch up Penny.

Although the cut long since has healed, her mother still bitterly reproaches herself for the slight scar it has left. She can't look at it without thinking, "That's what a bad mother did to her child."

Actually, this is not the fact at all. It is what overeagerness by Penny's mother to justify herself to her family did to Penny. But this fault is only a part of the total character of Penny's mother. She has many assets of character as well as this fault.

Unfortunately, she never remembers them when this fault produces trouble. Instead, she goes in for blind, wholesale condemnation of herself.

The dependence of Penny's mother on her family's approval keeps her tense and anxious much of the time. She always is on the alert for criticism of her husband and of her training of her child.

Rather than make the fight to outgrow her dependence and correct the fault responsible for Penny's accident, she avoids the struggle by wallowing in total condemnation of herself as a "bad" mother.

As we are not gods, we cannot control everything that happens to Mary and Jim. So when they get hurt, let's beware of chronic and excessive self-reproach. If their hurt is due to some specific fault in us, let's know it and do something about it.

But let's never go in for wholesale self-condemnation. It always implies that we want to avoid our problems by exaggerating our helplessness and "badness."

Self-condemnation often is used by dependent people who dare not admit their need for reassurance. By abusing ourselves as "bad" parents to others, we can get them to say, "Oh, no, you're wonderful. This was not your fault." Why do we need this comfort? Why do we deny ourselves that we must deny ourselves our own kindly judgment and mercy for the mistake we have made?

We are in great need, of course, of self-appreciation.

ANCIENT LAW THWARTS KHAN

CANNES, FRANCE —(AP)—The portly and aging Aga Khan, whose doctors say he should bathe frequently in sea water, is having trouble with a medieval French law in bringing the water to his new pink marble swimming pool. The pool, 300 feet above sea level, is at his villa behind Cannes. The old French law, written when there was a high tax on salt, forbids transporting sea water to private property.

GET behind this big, bold, beautiful front—in the driver's seat—and get set for a new kind of automotive pleasure.

Get set for everything symbolized by the "V" of that ornament nestling in the nose of the hood.

Get set for the thrill of bossing the new V8 engine that crowns fifty great Buick years with record-high power.

This is an invitation to drive a 1953 Buick ROADMASTER—where you command the power of the first Fireball V8 engine.

It is the only American passenger-car V8 with vertical valves—for greater engine compactness, uniform oil distribution to valve stems, full turbulence in the fuel charge.

It is the first such V8 to reach 8.5 to 1 compression ratio—the first to exhaust through a muffler of zero power loss—the first with a whole long list of advanced engineering features.

But the translation of these features into performance is the real news, the real thrill.

You accelerate, cruise, climb hills with the effortless ease of almost limitless power—instantly responsive.

You barely hear the velvety purr of the power flow—yet you're handling the highest horsepower in all Buick history.

And since you have this with the other great Buick engineering advance—Twin-Turbine Dynaflow—you get brilliantly new getaway with complete and utter smoothness through all ranges.

Want to try it? Want to take the wheel of the greatest performing Buick in 50 great years and judge things for yourself?

Drop in on us first chance you have, and we'll gladly arrange matters.
