County's 1953 Tax Rate To Rise

Bonded Debt, Heavy Budget Prompt Hike

Midland County's proposed 1954 budget, calling for expenditures of $896,756 and a tax rate increase of 15 cents for each $100 valuation, was filed Saturday with County Clerk Roselle Cherry.

The new budget, on which a public hearing will be held later this month, represents an increase of $123,989 over the budget adopted for the current year.

U. S. Blames Reds In Loss Of Transport

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The United States, sharply rebuffing a Soviet protest that American fighters shot down a big Russian transport plane, Saturday blamed Russia itself for sending the craft into the "Korean zone of hostilities."

Moscow, in a note Friday, said four American fighter planes made a "practical attack" on the transport over Chinese territory north of the Korean border last Monday, about 10 hours before the Korean armistice took effect.

The Soviet note said all 15 passengers and six crew members died. Declaring the IL-12 plane was en route from Port Arthur to the U. S. S. R., it demanded punishment of the "guilty" persons and reserved the right to demand compensation.

In a reply delivered to the Soviet Foreign Office Saturday, the United States did not deny the plane was shot down. It said it was attacked by an American fighter inside North Korean territory about eight miles from the Yalu River.

It branded as false the Soviet allegation that the attack was within Chinese territory. Hence it said, the Soviet protest was rejected "as being without foundation and fact."

"The United States government," it said, "can only deplore the loss of life incurred in this incident. In view of the fact, however, that the incident occurred in the Korean zone of hostilities, the responsibility therefore must rest with the Soviet authorities who flew the Soviet aircraft through Korean territory."

President To Visit Governors' Meeting

SEATTLE, WASH., — (AP) — President Eisenhower is expected to defend before the nation's governors at their annual conference opening here Monday the Republican Administration's hotly-assailed public power policies.

Eisenhower will fly here Monday after the state funeral in Washington for Senator Robert A. Taft to sit in with the governors on a discussion of natural resources and mining problems Tuesday morning.

State Funeral Monday In Rotunda Of Capitol To Honor Senator Taft

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator Robert A. Taft will be honored with a state funeral in the nation's Capitol at noon Monday.

It will be a service such as might be accorded a president, the office for which the 63-year-old Ohioan strove so hard.

President Eisenhower, who beat him for the Republican nomination last year and then won his friendship and support, will be there.

So will Vice President Nixon, members of Congress, the Cabinet, the chief justice of the United States and the associate justices of the Supreme Court, the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and the ambassadors and ministers of the diplomatic corps.

The invitations went out Saturday from the Senate, where Taft served the nation as majority leader and where he won the nickname of "Mr. Republican."

Senate Group Blocks Boost In Debt Limit

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee cleared the way Saturday night for a quick adjournment of Congress, possibly Monday or Tuesday, by killing for this session President Eisenhower's plea for a 15 billion dollar boost in the national debt limit.

The bill, already rammed through the House, was tabled in the Senate committee by a 11-4 vote.

Short Creek Turned Into Ghost Town

SHORT CREEK, ARIZ. — (AP) — The polygamy colony of Short Creek, already shattered by a raid that sent all of its men to jail, was evacuated of women and children Saturday by officers fearful of a plot to split the multiple families away.

By order of a Superior Court Judge, 36 mothers and 157 children were loaded into six buses and started on the 300-mile journey to Phoenix.

This left Short Creek—a week ago a teeming community of 36 men, 86 women and 263 children—almost a ghost town.

Remaining in the village were eight teen-age boys, permitted to stay to milk the community's cows.

The state sent squads of officers back to Short Creek after Sheriff Frank Porter said he overheard men plotting to take their families away from Short Creek upon being released under bond.

Showers Predicted In Parts Of Texas But Not For Basin

Widely scattered thundershowers may wet down parts of Texas Sunday but the Midland area isn't included in the pattern.

Dawson County received showers Saturday while Lynn County on the north measured 1.55 inches. Lubbock reported one inch.

Motorists reaching Midland traveled in intermittent rain from Lubbock to 20 miles south of Lamesa. Water was over running boards in some places.

Partly cloudy skies with winds up to 15 miles an hour are predicted for the Permian Basin Sunday.

German Reds Halt Train Travel To West In Effort To Stop Flow Of Relief Food

BERLIN — (AP) — The Soviet Zone Railway Ministry Saturday night banned the sale of train tickets to East Germans seeking free food relief in West Berlin.

In the Communists' greatest blow against the American financed food program, the Railway Ministry outlawed the sale of single trip tickets and Sunday roundtrip tickets between all Soviet Zone stations and Berlin.

The ban was clamped after some 200,000 East Germans—mostly riding trains—swarmed into West Berlin Saturday from five Soviet-occupied provinces.

The ministry said it took the unprecedented measure "because of the intention of Americans and West German war makers to organize provocations in Berlin against workers and farmer's forces of the German Democratic Republic."

The ministry said the only exceptions to the ban on rail travel would be season tickets, workers' commuting tickets, vacation tickets and students' tickets.

The Soviet move came shortly after American authorities announced that the United States is preparing to keep the huge food relief program for hungry East Germans running two weeks.

The Soviet-controlled railway administration also revoked all single trip and Sunday trip tickets already in the hands of hungry East Germans waiting to collect relief packages in West Berlin.

LITTLE FALLS, MINN. — (AP) — A Minneapolis woman died in a hospital late Saturday, bringing to 10 the number of persons who lost their lives in an auto collision during a blinding rainstorm Saturday morning.

TEHRAN, IRAN — (AP) — Eight men were injured, one seriously, Saturday night as irate supporters of Premier Mossadegh stormed religious leader Ayatollah Khashani's house after he urged Iranians to boycott Monday's plebiscite on the fate of Parliament.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The House late Saturday accepted a compromise bill extending the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act one year.

CAP GRIS NEZ, FRANCE — (AP) — Osman Gandhour, 27, Lebanon, and Damian Piza Beltran, Mexico, began attempts to swim the English Channel from Cap Gris Nez Saturday night.

PRELIMINARIES—Communist war prisoners disembark from a landing craft in the port of Inchon on the west coast of Korea after their trip from various Allied POW camps. They will be processed and readied here for the journey to Panmunjom, where they will be exchanged for UN prisoners when "Operation Big Switch" gets under way Wednesday.

Red Cross Teams Get Set To Greet First Prisoners

MUNSAN — (AP) — Red Cross teams prepared Sunday to cross Communist lines for the first time Monday and greet the first groups of Allied war prisoners moving toward Panmunjom for the long-awaited prisoner exchange Wednesday.

Peiping radio said the first batch of non-Korean prisoners had left the Communist camp at Pyoktong on the North Korea-Manchuria border, and should arrive at Kaesong by train Monday. Kaesong is the Reds' advance troop headquarters northwest of Panmunjom.

Those POWs, many of them Americans and including sick and wounded, perhaps will be the first group of Allied prisoners to be met by the United Nations Red Cross team.

3,313 Americans

The emotion-packed prisoner exchange will bring home 12,673 Allied captives including 3,313 Americans and 922 British. The Communists will get in return 74,000 prisoners — 69,000 North Koreans and 5,000 Chinese. Preparations for this "Operation Big Switch" overshadowed other developments in the new-born truce.

Marvin Etter, Roby Peace Officer, Dies

Marvin P. Etter of Roby, 43-year-old Fisher County deputy sheriff, died at 5:10 p.m. Saturday in a Midland hospital, where he had been confined the last several weeks.

Etter, who had undergone surgery in Roby previously, was moved to Midland when complications forced additional treatment.

The Fisher law officer was born Sept. 23, 1909, in Erick, Okla.

Etter's body was forwarded to Sweetwater Saturday by the Newell W. Ellis Chapel. Interment will be in Roby, probably Monday.

Senate Republicans Decide To Select New Chief Tuesday

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senate Republicans decided Saturday to elect a new leader next Tuesday, with Senator Knowland of California conceding a big edge towards getting the job he already holds on an acting basis.

Knowland has been acting leader since June 10, when he was named by Senator Robert A. Taft to take over the post the Ohio Republican set aside because of the illness which proved fatal.

Garbage Men Saved Trash Burning Task By First-Hand Help

City garbage men were saved the trouble of burning a load of trash Saturday afternoon when fire broke out in the bed of one of their trucks.

Fireman who answered the alarm at 2:40 p.m. and extinguished the blaze with a booster truck said the cause of the fire was undetermined.

The garbage truck, which was on North Garfield Road north of Golf Course Road at the time of the fire, suffered only paint damage on the rear of its bed.

Secret Of Peace For Troubled Mind

THE PURPOSE OF THIS COLUMN is to help my readers who may need it to find the secret of peace for the troubled mind.

There is such a secret, and it is readily available to those who seek it. It is neither complicated nor difficult. All you need do is apply the simple principles of your religion. A great fact about religion which, unfortunately, all too many people miss—which I have forgotten about, all too often myself—is that the principles, teachings and techniques we learn in our churches will work when they are believed in, practiced and applied. And they work so effectively that people who stumble on this easy-to-find secret are amazed by the results.

I met a young man on the street the other day. He was infectiously buoyant; indeed he was bubbling over with a great discovery. "There's something I want to tell you," he said. "I got hold of those 'How Cards' you give out. I read your ten rules on 'How to Relax.' They didn't mean much to me at the time, but I kept them around because I figured I really needed to know how to relax and maybe sometime they would come in handy."

WELL, ONE DAY I LOOKED AT THEM AGAIN...

WELL, ONE DAY I LOOKED at them again and thought I'd try them to see if they worked. I went at the rules for relaxing just as you suggested. What happened was a truly wonderful experience. Now I'm beginning to conquer my mental unrest, getting peace of mind and I'm learning how to relax.

Then he shook his head wonderingly and continued, "I wouldn't have believed this could happen to me. It's all so astonishing that I've become a regular church goer. I figure that if the practice of faith techniques can give me peace of mind, it can help me in other ways and help me to help people, too."

Then he added, "There's one thing I've found in the Bible—I've started to read it regularly since I began to take your advice—and I think the whole secret of mental peace is wrapped up in one sentence. It's this: 'Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee: because he trusteth in thee.'

My young friend was quite right. This short Scripture passage (Isaiah 26:3) contains three practical suggestions for bringing peace to the troubled mind:

First, it tells you that all profound, continuous and lasting mental peace comes from God. As Augustine said, "Our souls are restless until at length they rest in Thee."

Second, it urges you to fix your mind on God and keep it there. Don't keep your thoughts "tied on your troubles and fears. Whenever they come to mind just practice thinking of God. The more you do that, the less effect your troubles and worries will have on you. The thought of God is the most powerful thought in this world and no lesser thought can long stand before it."

AND, LAST, BUT FAR FROM LEAST, we are told that such practice will bring peace because it stimulates trust in God. And trust in God is important. Even your government says so. Put your hand in your pocket or purse and take out a penny, a nickel, a dime, a quarter. On every one of them you will find the words that guided the founders of our country: "In God We Trust." The formula is simple. Just do the best you can and trust God. Leaving things to God after doing your full share is a most effective peace-producing mechanism.

The well known psychiatrist, Dr. Smiley Blanton, told me that in his work of helping people he teaches his patients to have faith and to practice trust. When they learn this, he says, they can overcome their fears and inner conflicts. Dr. Blanton says this Bible verse is an extremely valuable aid to mental health and peace of mind, "Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace whose mind is stayed on Thee."

Exclusively Yours: Now that the U. S. S. Caine is sailing Hollywood's celluloid seas with full U. S. Navy cooperation, Producer Stanley Kramer's debunking repeated reports that naval brass trained their biggest guns on him in an effort to sink filming of the controversial best seller, "The Caine Mutiny."

Says Kramer: "The picture is honest—it's the book. We haven't watered the story down in any way. We received everything we asked for from the Navy. All the Navy objections people heard about were misquoted from the very beginning."

"There was concern, but there never were any objections. The U. S. S. Caine is not the U. S. Navy. It's an isolated ship. And I believe our film will be the greatest pre-Navy story of our generation."

Even the most widely rumored Navy "objection," that Captain Queeg should have been a reserve officer instead of an Annapolis man, isn't true, says Kramer. "Humphrey Bogart, as Queeg, is an Annapolis man in our picture. The navy agreed that even an Annapolis graduate could suffer from battle fatigue."

A real-life Annapolis man, Cmdr. James C. Shaw, a Pacific hero, is technical advisor on the film. . . . Commander Shaw graduated from Annapolis in 1936, the same year as the fictional Captain Queeg.

Last year the Annapolis class of '36 had a reunion banquet and Commander Shaw tells it with a broad grin:

"There were two empty seats for which we had place cards reading: 'Captain and Mrs. Queeg.'"

First time it's happened, but the rumor is all over town that Jane Russell is being Miss Temperamental on the set of "The French Line" at RKO. A reaction to the wording of a new contract offered her by Howard Hughes?

It took three days of give and take and out, but Hugo Haas finally got the Motion Picture Association's seal of approval on his new picture, "Bait." And the scene showing Cleo Moore's nude shadow is in the footage the censors passed.

A master mentalist who came to Hollywood as technical advisor on a movie is still blushing. One day during filming of the picture, word reached the set that Eddie Cantor had died of a heart attack. When told the news, the mentalist expressed no surprise, saying:

"Yes, I knew it this morning. Thought waves, you know." An hour later the report was established as false. The master mentalist suddenly left the set and didn't return for two days.

Moviegoers, asked by many theater owners to write their congressmen urging repeal of the 20 per cent federal tax on admissions, are screaming, and I don't blame them. Attorney Robert Coyne of the Council of Motion Picture Organizations was quoted in Washington as saying:

"In most instances movie houses will not be able to relay the 20 per cent savings to patrons. It was never claimed that this bill would help the moviegoer."

John James, the best-selling singer on wax, and Paramount are talking contract. . . . Everybody can stop worrying about whether Marlon Brando will play the lead in "The Egyptian" because Vic Mature now draws the coveted role. . . . Gordon McRae's all set to ask Warners for a straight dramatic role. He just bought "The Strength of Ten" to submit as a star for himself.

MGM's denying Jane Powell's out of the cast of "Hit the Deck" But first she'll do "Bobbin' Women" after her Coconut Grove engagement.

Just call them the Smart Bowery Boys. Whenever their "Bowery Boys" films are shown on TV, Huntz Hall and Leo Gorcey draw a hefty percentage of the rental. So far they have collected a fortune apiece.

MISS AIRPOWER — Olivia Barbour Twining, 18, daughter of Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Air Force chief of staff, has been named "Miss Airpower of 1953" by the Air Force Association. She will wear this gown when she takes part in the Association's seventh convention in Washington, D. C.

LIVING HIGH ON THE HOG— Father Of Texas Official Denies Farmers Need Help

By GLENN SHELTON
 Wichita Falls Record-News Staff

WICHITA FALLS —P— The father of Texas' agriculture commissioner asserts farmers and ranchers are "fat as town dogs" and don't need government help.

Ed White is a local weather-beaten man who has been writing his living from the land in this section all his life.

Neither the present drought nor the stockman's economic situation is as bad as back in 1931, he said in an interview.

He laughs at occasional comparisons with that of the 30's.

"Shucks, have people forgotten the depression days so soon? Why, then I sold 600-pound sows for $5 and felt lucky to get that. I shipped a load of ewes to Fort Worth and it cost me more to ship them than I got for them. I lost 25 cents on the deal."

White said he shipped cream to Iowa for six cents a pound. The drought then, with its terrifying dusts, took the food right out of your mouth, he said. If you didn't grow something to eat, you starved.

White, 69, reared three children—John, the commissioner; Harold, a Navy man; and a daughter, Marie of Dallas.

In 1931 John was only eight, Harold about 12. The boys rode tractors from daylight to dark and helped milk by hand the family's 35 Jersey cows.

Despite the long hours of work, the family income was about $2.50 a week.

"We always had a garden for fresh vegetables. And we killed hogs and yearling calves for meat. We made our own butter and had plenty of fresh milk from our cows and eggs from our hens."

"We produced our own food with a diversified farming program. If farmers did that now they could be the most independent of all workers."

A man has no trouble making a living if he wants to work, White said. That is why he cannot understand the clamor from the livestock industry for help now.

"Where is the disaster?" he asked. "Why, most ranchers around here have a good income and a sizable bank account."

"We've had a long dry spell, sure. But farming is that kind of a gamble. We have it good when it rains."

AROUND CITY HALL—

'Heed Pogoville Plight,' Asks Keeper Of City Chain

By COPE ROUTH

About twice a month, the heads of the various departments in the city government meet together in a room of the Hotel Scharbauer and discuss their problems over hot coffee and toasted pears.

John Casselman, of course, provides the coffee. The problems are provided by the more than 300 city employees and the more than 35,000 Midland residents.

And Charles Chambers serves up the puns. Chambers is the city's personnel officer—an oft-times puckish little character who sometimes finds his shoulder bending beneath the weight of his worries and lapses away into periods of moody cogitation.

As personnel officer, Chambers is—and has been since last November 15—concerned with the welfare of the big happy family of city employees.

He signs their paychecks, he listens to their problems, he works hard at trying to smooth out difficulties and, in general, is City Manager W. H. Oswald's right-hand man in preaching the gospel of all-round co-ordination between the various city departments.

Last Friday, after one of his periodic trances during which he stares off into space and utters faintly to appreciate the bon mots of such colleagues as City Finance Officer Kent Moore, he came up with a new gimmick at the bi-monthly staff meeting at the Hotel Scharbauer.

In an effort to point up the importance of departmental co-operation, he took the department heads on a little verbal trip to Pogoville, a creature of his own imagination.

Things were in an awful shape in Pogoville simply because all its officials wandered off on their separate courses without making any attempt to work as a team under the direction of City Manager Gurney N. Shorts.

Shorts had an interesting collection of department heads and it was in their naming that Chambers had found such fascination.

There was Jack O. Altrades, the assistant city manager; Police Chief Flatfoot Fodick, Tax Collector Marmaduke A. Sessor, Aviation Director Z. Flyboys Propwash, Traffic Engineer B. B. (Red) Lite, Fire Chief Brandywine Q. Smokester, Public Works Director Oscar T. Garbage-Kahn, City Attorney Barrister N. Injunction.

And such others as City Secretary Minnie O'Keeper, Finance Director I. B. M. Burroughs, Planning Engineer Klaze A. Zhone, Parks Director Bothersome D. Playground, Purchasing Agent Conrad Phreelader and City Judge B. Hynde Barra.

Anyway, Chambers pointed out, the poor little city of Pogoville finally had a blowup because nobody could get together.

"And," he added ruefully, "they ran the poor personnel director, Firestone X. Philekabet, out of town because if he'd been doing his job in the first place, it never would have happened."

The great day finally arrived last week and work started on the widening of North Big Spring Street.

The crews of Contractor W. L. Johnson began excavating for the setting back of the curbs and gutters just north of Louisiana Street.

Then, it happened. Water and sewer connections began popping off like brittle cotton-stalks before the grader blades.

The work abruptly stopped and city crews rushed to the job of lowering all connections another foot since they were much higher than had been expected.

It will cost the city about $75 to lower each connection but the unexpected development meant only a short delay in the widening project.

Work on the Big Spring Street underpass, incidentally will begin around August 10 under a contract awarded by the State Highway Department to Ernest Loyd of Fort Worth.

R. L. Garrett will be the general superintendent on the project.

The final scene in the Public Safety film being shot in Midland last week was completed Thursday night.

One of the final bits of action was a funeral for a young teen-ager killed in a traffic tragedy. The minister in the scene was played by City Humane Officer Frank Rose, who spends most of his waking moments—and some of his half-asleep ones—chasing stray dogs over the city.

His choice was not so strange, however, since Rose is an ordained Baptist minister.

The city budget for 1953-54 is now in its final stages of preparation and will be presented shortly to the City Council for consideration.

And, there will be no blanket wage raise for city employees, according to latest reports.

Birthday greetings were in order last week for seven city employees—Santiago Noyola, sanitation department; Robert E. Sutton, engineering; Santiago Vasquez, public works; Jack Austin, police; Clyde Luper, inspection; and Joseph Lazork, animal shelter.

Dredging To Start Huge Texas Coastal Playground Project

PORT ISABEL—(AP)—A big dredge arrived Saturday to start work on one of America's biggest play areas.

The Texas, operated by the Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific Company of Houston, will do the first phase of Cameron County's long range $7,500,000 program to develop three huge parks on the south end of Padre Island.

The dredge will lift soil from the bottom of the lagoon to build up the ground level of a park site on the southmost tip of the island.

The improvements probably will include cabins, camp sites, picnic grounds, refreshment stands, bath houses, rest rooms, a sewage treatment plant, water facilities, and roadways.

Pilot Escapes Injury In Jet Crashlanding

DENISON—(AP)—Major R. D. Price of Tyndall Air Force Base, Fla., came up smiling and uninjured Saturday after an emergency landing at Perrin Air Force Base.

The nose landing gear on his speedy Sabre jet failed to operate and the plane skidded to a stop on its radar-equipped nose.

Advance Warning Of Pearl Harbor Bared In Publication Of Long-Secret Documents

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Six years before Pearl Harbor, Ambassador Joseph C. Grew foresaw the possibility of a great clash in which Japan would be crushed by the Western Powers but he predicted she would rise again in one or two generations.

The alternative to such a clash, he felt, was for the world to grant Japan "more economic elbow room."

The views of the then American envoy to Tokyo were made known Saturday as the State Department published 1,111 once-secret official documents on American relations with the Far East in 1935.

Included were documents showing that President Roosevelt was receiving urgent advice from Grew, Cordell Hull and others to speed expansion of the U. S. Navy to meet the threat of Japan's growing sea-power.

Grew's prediction that Japan would rise again from a crushing defeat was made in a detailed review of Japanese difficulties dispatched to Secretary of State Hull Feb. 6, 1935.

"The satisfaction of Japanese needs will require, primarily, more economic elbow room for the nation," Grew reported. "Manchuria will probably supply the needed opportunity for some 15 or 20 years, but after that time it will be necessary for them to extend their economic 'life line.'"

"They can, as in the past, do this by means of military force, but further Japanese military adventures in the Far East would very probably result in a tremendous clash with the Western Powers, in which, presumably, Japan would be crushed. It is not likely, however, that such a vigorous nation as Japan would remain crushed for more than one or two generations, after which the process would have to be repeated."

Grew earlier wrote a lengthy report on "the importance of American naval preparedness in connection with the situation in the Far East." This was reinforced by a memorandum from Stanley K. Hornbeck, then chief of the State Department's division of Far Eastern affairs, urging that the United States deal with Japan as a good neighbor, speak softly and carry a big stick.

Grew's dispatch and the Hornbeck memorandum were sent by Secretary Hull to President Roosevelt with Hull's strong endorsement.

State Honor Farm Fetes Birthday

MIDWAY—(AP)—Saturday was a holiday at Ferguson State Prison Farm.

Ferguson's 67 inmates had a birthday to celebrate. A year ago Ferguson became the first honor farm established by a prison in this part of the country.

O. B. Ellis, general manager of the prison system, said he believed the farm's record justified a celebration and barbecue.

There was not a single escape attempt. Of the 101 honor farm "graduates" receiving conditional pardons, only two have been returned to prison for violation of paroles.

Community Chest Group To Make Budget Review

Budgets of Midland Community Chest member agencies will go under close study when the newly-formed Budget and Admission Committee meets at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Midland National bank recreation room.

Applications, too, of new members will be eyed by the group headed by Joe T. Dickerson.

This year's budget committee, says Dickerson, will aim for a mark above last year's campaign total of $77,626.73.

Committee members include Mrs. W. H. Pomeroy, Jr., Mrs. S. M. Erskine, Mrs. Fred Bauchens, Mrs. John D. Freeman, Jr., executive secretary of the Chest, John E. Reid, C. J. Kelly, John Perkins, Jack Wickar, John P. Butler, Jack Bradford, Bob Wood and Don Oliver, Chest president.

Board of Directors for the Community Chest also will see new faces this year. New members named include J. W. McMillen, Charles Marsh II, Joe T. Dickerson, A. A. Bradford, J. W. House, Joe Beakley, Robert L. Wood, R. B. Cowden, J. P. Gibbins, Clarence Scharbauer, Ralph Barron, John P. Butler, Harry Lawson, Marion Fynt, Robert E. Atwill, Henry Murphey, Alden Donnelly, John Starr, J. B. Wilkinson, Paul L.

Burglary Charges Filed Against Pair

Burglary charges were filed Saturday against two negroes in connection with the theft of chewing gum and cash Friday from the Kimbell-Midland Company.

Named in the complaints filed by County Attorney Reagan Legg were Odie Bryant and Richardson Washington, both 26 years old.

Police arrested Washington as he sat in an automobile outside the wholesale grocery company warehouse after he had been spotted by Night Watchman Dave Moller.

A few minutes later they arrested Bryant, who was sitting in the same car with four cartons of chewing gum and $2.25 in cash.

Probers Say Thugs Hold Labor Control In Kansas City Area

WASHINGTON —(AP)—House investigators reported Saturday they have turned up evidence of "appalling violence" and "gangster tactics" in a labor dispute in Kansas City. The House members recommended that the federal government study the record for possible criminal prosecution.

The report was filed by a House Labor subcommittee headed by Representative Smith (R-Kan.). The unit's hearings followed a long union squabble in Kansas City which idled up to 25,000 workers almost two months.

The subcommittee blamed "jurisdictional demands of the Kansas City teamsters," an AFL affiliate, for bringing construction, both private and defense, to a complete halt.

Reporting on hearings conducted in Kansas City June 29 to July 3, the House group said: "This committee and the Congress should look with deep concern at this sordid account of free men, afraid to work, terrorized by the gangster tactics of those to whom the Congress itself has given privilege and authority."

The strikes have ended with the teamsters going ahead under present work contracts.

House Group Plans Texas City Junket

WASHINGTON —(AP)—A three-member House judiciary subcommittee said Saturday it will go to Texas City to investigate a ship explosion of six years ago in which 560 or more were killed.

Representative Jonas (R-Ill.) subcommittee chairman, said the investigation will determine the government's liability in the April, 1947, explosion.

Fire from government-owned ammonium nitrate fertilizer spread to a ship loaded with sulphur and ammonium nitrate and the ship's cargo exploded.

About 3,000 persons were injured. Property damage approached 100 million dollars. Other members of the subcommittee are Representatives Hyde (R-Md) and Lane (D-Mass).

Truce Doesn't Halt Orders Supplying America's Arsenal

WASHINGTON —(AP)—The Defense Department's budget chief said Saturday he foresees no sudden slashes in military buying like that which swept industry at the end of World War II.

Assistant Secretary Wilfred J. McNeil told reporters the effect of the Korean truce will be felt first in ammunition buying. But a dropback in ammunition manufacture, which uses large quantities of steel, will not come for at least two months and then will not be the sharp cutoff type which came after V-J Day.

McNeil was cautious in discussing a previous estimate that the truce could reduce military spending for this fiscal year by about one billion dollars. The revised military budget for fiscal year 1954, laid down before the Korean armistice, is $43,200,000,000.

The Defense Department and armed forces, said the comptroller, first "will have a job to get down to $43,200,000,000. If the truce holds firm "we may be able to shave that" by some figure up to a billion dollars, McNeil thought. But he emphasized:

"We'll have to play it safe until we can be sure of the truce."

The spending rate for this month is running slightly more than $3,900,000,000, McNeil said.

The department may be able to advise some ammunition producers within the next 10 days or two weeks what to expect on future procurements, McNeil said. But he emphasized that production at the present rate probably will continue

Lubbock Man Dies In Highway Crash

SAN ANTONIO —(AP)—Two men were killed Friday night in separate auto accidents, the state highway patrol officer said Saturday.

Adolfo Robledo, 43, of New Braunfels, was killed near Geronimo. Luis Romo, 39, of Lubbock was killed at once when his car in which he was riding struck a bridge 16 miles north of Fredericksburg on Highway 87. Officers listed the driver as Marcus Alvarado, 44, of New Deal.

Gernade Explodes In Soldier-Civilian Melee; One Killed

EVANSVILLE, IND. —(AP)—A thrown hand grenade killed one man and injured between 18 and 30 persons Saturday in a fight between Camp Breckenridge soldiers and civilians outside an all-night restaurant.

Sheriff Frank McDonald of Vanderburgh County said Jesse Triggs, 38, Evansville, was killed instantly.

Cpl. James B. Madison, 23-year-old Korea War veteran from Oakland, Calif., was held without charge pending an inquest called immediately.

Sheriff McDonald and Inspector Bennett Williams of Evansville city police said eyewitnesses gave this account of the fight leading up to the grenade explosion:

Corporal Madison and a civilian argued over a 50-cent sandwich in Ted Cole's restaurant, just south of Evansville near the Kentucky state line.

The civilian knocked the sandwich out of Madison's hand and the two went outside to fight. Another civilian joined Madison's opponent and Madison was joined by another Camp Breckenridge soldier.

About 30 soldiers and civilians poured out of the restaurant and joined in a general fight.

Madison and another soldier, Lawrence Terry, 22, retreated to an automobile. They were joined in the car by three other persons and somebody threw the grenade from the back seat.

Frank Cough, 39, of Evansville, employe of the restaurant, saw the grenade land and kicked it away from the main body of the crowd before it exploded.

Stanton Telephone Patrons Begin Dial Service After Friday Noon Switchover

STANTON—An important milestone in Stanton's telephone history will be reached at noon Friday.

That's the day Southwestern Bell Telephone Company puts Stanton's new dial telephone system into operation.

It'll be quite contrast to the old days.

There was a time when county officials were notified of their calls by a white flag. And they had to come to the telephone office to answer the telephone.

Come Friday, though, and county officials and everyone else in Stanton will be able to call across town or across the nation in less time than it takes to tell about it.

Pioneer Employee

When Mamie McDurmon, Stanton chief operator, came to work for the telephone company in January, 1924, there were no telephones in the Martin County Court House, across the street from the old central office.

"If somebody called in for the sheriff or other county officials, I would hang out a large white flag on the front porch of the office. It was their job to watch for calls. If the call was urgent and nobody saw the flag, I would run to the Court House and get them. I avoided this when possible because as the telephone agent, I was the only employe here," she recalls.

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company purchased the Stanton exchange in August, 1919 from the Western Telephone Company. There were 77 telephones in and around Stanton then. The system was expanded in 1930 to provide for more local customers and to add more facilities for long distance calls.

Measure Of Growth

"Stanton's growth can be measured by its expanding telephone system," district manager Bill Yeatts of Midland noted.

At the end of World War II there were fewer than 200 telephones in Stanton. Today there are 560 telephones here.

"And, Stanton is still growing," Yeatts added.

"This new dial system will better enable the telephone company to continue to keep pace with Stanton's communication needs. And it will mean that the people of Stanton will have the most modern telephone service available anywhere," Yeatts said.

Check For Emergencies

As the time for the change to dial approaches Friday at noon, a few last calls will be trickling through the present switchboard and the last familiar "Number, please" will be heard.

At noon a final check of calls being handled will be made to assure that no emergency calls are involved. Then the cutover order will be passed to telephone men who will go into action at the present central office and at the new building. And within a few seconds Stanton will have dial telephone service.

These few seconds will mean an end to the manual telephone system which has served the city since telephones were first installed here.

New Telephone Building

Too, those few seconds will climax several months of painstaking effort, by telephone technicians' all over the country. Yeatts pointed out.

A new telephone building was constructed; loads of dial telephone equipment was engineered, built to order, delivered, placed and wired. A group of Western Electric installers were on the job. Installation of the new system, required several thousand hand-soldered wire connections inside the new building.

In addition, outside construction crews added thousands of feet of wire and cable to Stanton's network of lines and a new dial telephone directory was compiled and published.

NEW DIAL BUILDING—This attractive building will house the equipment for Stanton's dial telephone system. The switchover is scheduled for August 7.

Army Restores Japan Rest Leaves For GI's In Korea

SEOUL—The U. S. 8th Army Saturday night announced that five day rest and recreation leaves in Japan have been restored for soldiers stationed in Korea.

The leaves were restored last Tuesday—the day after the armistice was signed—after a halt of about a month for "tactical requirements," the 8th Army said.

At present about 600 men are shipped daily to Japan for the leaves—as compared to 750 during the war.

Eighth Army said that as more aircraft become available, 1,200 men a day will be flown to Japan and the leave period extended to seven days.

Ashburn's Hit Robs Spahn Of No-Hitter

MILWAUKEE — An infield bouncer beaten out by Richie Ashburn in the fourth inning cost Warren Spahn a perfect game Saturday as the veteran Milwaukee Braves' southpaw tossed his second shutout of the week and the thirty-first of his career to beat Philadelphia, 3-0.

Dodgers Rap Cards, 11-4

ST. LOUIS — Billy Cox slammed a home run with two on and Roy Campanella belted his twenty-seventh four-bagger with a teammate aboard Saturday as the Brooklyn Dodgers cuffed the St. Louis Cardinals a sixth straight time, 11-4, before a crowd of 32,471, the largest of the season here.

Prascher Roe, who hadn't pitched since he beat St. Louis at Brooklyn July 18, gained his seventh victory and sixth in succession. He walked three batters and gave up 11 hits, but was tough in the pinches.

Lockman's Error Sets Up Cincy Win

CINCINNATI — First baseman Whitey Lockman's error in the thirteenth inning Saturday set up an unearned run for Cincinnati as Andy Seminick singled with the bases loaded for a 10-5 victory the New York Giants.

After Bobby Adams struck out, Gus Bell was safe at first when Lockman failed to touch the bag after taking Davey Williams' throw. Grady Hatton singled, but Jim Greengrass grounded out for what should have been the third out. Seminick's safety followed an intentional pass to Willard Marshall.

Bucs Turn On Old Teammate, 10 To 3

CHICAGO — The tall-and-Pittsburgh Pirates won their second straight game from the Chicago Cubs Saturday, 10-3, before 8,017 fans in Wrigley Field.

The Pirates knocked out their old teammate, Howie Pollet, with five runs in the first two innings.

by a Braves' pitcher. Ashburn's single, a high bouncer to Shortstop Jim Pendleton, was handled cleanly, but the flashy Phil's outfielder beat the throw to first. The lean left-hander struck out eight.

The shutout was Spahn's fourth of the season. Only other active National League pitchers with as many as 31 blankings are Ken Raffensberger of Cincinnati and Dutch Leonard of Chicago. Leonard recorded most of his shutouts in the American League.

Yankees Fall To Brecheen

NEW YORK — Don Lenhardt, a part-time outfielder, hit a three-run homer off Bob Kuzava in the eighth inning Saturday for a 3-2 St. Louis Browns' victory over the New York Yankees.

It was only the third time in 16 starts that the last-place Browns had beaten the world champions.

Harry Brecheen, the crafty southpaw veteran, scattered 10 Yankee hits in his first complete game since April 16.

Until the eighth Kuzava had the Browns under control. Billy Hunter, the Browns' rookie shortstop, opened the eighth by beating out a bunt toward first. Roy Sievers drove Mickey Mantle into deep center to take his long out. Vic Wertz followed with a single to right center, sending Hunter to third.

Lenhardt then came through with his seventh home run of the year into the lower left field stands giving St. Louis the lead.

Feller Leads Indians' Win

PHILADELPHIA — Veteran Bob Feller survived a ninth-inning scare Saturday to lead the Cleveland Indians past the Philadelphia Athletics, 4-2.

After limiting the A's to six hits through eight innings, Feller gave up a double to Loren Babe and a home run pitch to Gus Zernial in the ninth for the A's only markers.

Kuenn's Hit Beats Bosox In Tenth, 4-3

BOSTON — Harvey Kuenn's tenth-inning double provided the Detroit Tigers with a 4-3 victory Saturday as the Boston Red Sox extended their losing streak to six games, longest of the season.

The Tigers pulled into a tie by bunching three hits for two runs in the ninth. Hector (Skinny) Brown had held them scoreless until the eighth, when Fred Hatfield, a Red Sox discard, homered while pinch-hitting for starting pitcher Steve Gromek.

ALL THE WAY?—Western Inspection, the National League champ, starts its bid Monday for a complete sweep in the all-Midland playoffs against Tide Water of the American League. The Inspection group, which has won 19 against three losses in city play this year,

Tugboat Precedes Coaches To Clinic

HOUSTON — Advance reservations for the annual school of the Texas High School Coaches Association began here Saturday with Tugboat Jones of Midland one of the first on hand.

Seven other Midland tutors, along with one of their pupils, are due to join the expected 2,000-man school Sunday. Jones arrived in advance to assist in drawing up the clinic plans for next week before the THSCA's annual all-star football and basketball games.

The Midland staff members who will arrive Sunday are Jimmy Williams, F. D. (Red) Rutledge, Pat Paterson, Audrey Gill, Dub Orr, Trainer Louis Grevelle and basketball Coach Ken Sewell. Backfield star Larry Friday will register with the all-star players of the North team Sunday afternoon.

Pete Cooper Leads In Tam O'Shanter

CHICAGO — Pete Cooper, a part-time golf tournament pro and Florida hog-farm owner, acted as if he had to pay off the old homestead mortgage Saturday as he forged a 68 to capture the 54-hole lead in the $25,000 All American golf tournament.

The 38-year-old instructor at the Century Country Club in White Plains, N. Y., father of four children, parlayed his 34-34-68 with 69, 70 for a total of 207, nine under Tam O'Shanter's battered par.

This handwork grabbed a one-stroke lead over Tam's home pro and 36-hole leader, Lloyd Mangrum. Cooper, who plays only six or seven tournaments a year and counts the Seminole pro-amateur meet in Florida in March as his only triumph of the season, beat a severe electric storm in while Mangrum and other favorites were caught in the windy gusts.

Mangrum, second leading money winner of the season, was undaunted, however, and closed with a 35 for a 71 and 208.

Baxter—Once Victim Of Green—Captures USGA Junior Amateur Tourney By 2-1

TULSA — Rex Baxter, a bold young golfer from Amarillo, won the U. S. Golf Association's annual Junior Amateur championship Saturday from George Warren III, Hampton, S. C. 16-year-old.

Baxter's winning margin in the 18-hole final match was 2 and 1. The slender, unsmiling Texas youth closed his triumph by sinking a 20-foot putt for a birdie three on Southern Hills Country Club's 340-yard seventeenth hole after Warren's do-or-die stroke from 30 feet rimmed the cup and stopped four inches beyond.

PREXIES NEED WISER HEADS FOR NEW SKED

A three-man Longhorn League committee Friday worked long and hard, but the only conclusion it could draw as far as a new schedule is concerned was that wiser heads were needed.

Presidents Marion Flynt of Midland, A. D. Essey of Odessa and C. F. Montgomery turned the problem back to League President Hal Sayles after an unsuccessful attempt to revamp the schedule.

Sayles immediately announced the schedule for the next few days and said the task had been turned over to a scheduler.

August 3-4, Midland at Roswell; San Angelo at Carlsbad; Odessa at Artesia.

Clubs Picked For Legion's All-Star Game

Midland's American Legion youngsters were lined up Sunday for their All-Star game scheduled at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday at Borden Field.

Players from the Westerners and Eagles, first and fourth-place teams, will play an aggregation from the Hornets and Brooks Store, third and second-place teams, respectively.

Managers of the teams made the selections. Four unanimous choices will not play in the game. They are Harold Gregory, Lee Sneed, Bobby Brown and Snooky Roberts, all of whom are on vacation.

The players making the selection are James Claborn, Larry Thompson, Joe Bob Levalian, Billy Burt, Dennis Dilday and Dick Spencer of the Eagles; Billy Kiser, Jessie Hatfield, Bob Moran, Gwyn Grisham, Paul Moran and Charley Hedger of the Westerners. They will form one team.

Tide Water, WI Seek Title

Midland's two softball champions, Tide Water of the American League and Western Inspection of the National, each will collect one trophy one moment and fight for another the next at Wadley Field Monday.

The two will be starting their all-city playoff championship series of five games at 8 p.m., but only after ceremony.

Midland's softball sponsors, the JayCees, have scheduled the first part of the program to present trophies to each league champ along with making most valuable player awards to the America's Joe Ragsdale of Tide Water and the National's Marvin McCullough of Quil.

Each had five all-league players: Cliff Jones, Robert Evans, Hugh Reynolds, James Griffin and Milt Montgomery for Western Inspection; Bill LaRoche, Paul Swafford, Joe Ragsdale, Ross Smith and Charles Wise for Tide Water.

South Uses Single Hit To Cop Crown

When it comes to a tough luck pitcher's glory, you might try that of young Larry Stanley who hurled all but two outs of his West Little League team's Friday night game against South in the city's championship finals.

He never gave up a hit while working five and one-third innings of the game that sends the winner to district playoffs. Yet Stanley, despite striking out nine, was credited with the loss as South prevailed 2-1.

Tribe Buys Two Players From Broncs

President Marion Flynt of the Midland Indians Saturday announced the purchase of Pitcher Ralph Atkinson and Catcher Frank Casanova from the defunct Big Spring Broncs.

Here's how: Stanley was one of those pitchers wild-enough-to-be-effective as he worked on his no-hitter. But bad luck caught him in the final frame when he struck out one only to bunch two of his five walks. He was relieved at that point because the West's 1-0 lead was endangered.

Purchase price was not disclosed, but it is believed the price was slight since Midland had done several favors for Big Spring recently.

Thereafter, Ralph Clemmons of South collected his club's only hit and Jay Sherrard came home with the tying run. Johnny Welcher then broke it up with a blooper fly to right, with Bobby Fisher scoring.

Atkinson is a choice left-hander who had a 6-5 record with the last-place Broncs. He is considered, however, the top player on the Big Spring roster. A first-year limited service man, Atkinson should be a tremendous help to the Tribe, not only this year, but also in 1954.

Casanova was purchased as an insurance measure in the event Art Bowland should be injured between now and the playoffs. Clubs are not allowed to get help after the playoffs begin. He has played various infield positions for the Broncs as well as catcher during the season.

Glass Duo Tied For Skeet Lead

RENO, NEV.—Six shooters still had perfect scores in the 250-target National All-Gauge skeet championship Saturday, but Midland's George Glass, Sr., fell out of the top bracket.

Tied at 200 x 200 are Ed Castagnette of San Francisco, Jim Pierce of Oakland, Charles Bagley of San Marcos, D. L. Lawson of Jacksonville, Fla., R. W. Towell of Honolulu and Fred Westlake of Sea Island, Ga.

George Glass, Jr., joined his father in a tie with Fred Alford, Sr., and Jr., for the parent and child championship with 396 x 400. The Glass duo is defending champion in the event.

George, Jr., had fired a 98 the opening day in the all-gauge event. J. C. Dalton of Chevy Chase, Md., leader in the high over-all race (best score of 530 targets), missed two targets Saturday while Alex Kerr of Beverly Hills, Calif., ran a perfect 100, thus putting the two in a tie at 491x500 with 50 targets to go.

Other leaders in the all-gauge race are husband and wife: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Alford of Dallas, 397 x400; two-man team: Alex Kerr and Tom Mettler; five-man team: Southern California, 988 x 1,000.

Former Midlander Cops Golf Tourney

ELGIN AIR FORCE BASE, FLA.—Lt. Morris Williams, Jr., Austin, Texas, won the Air Force golf tournament Saturday with an 18-hole 78 for a final mark of 290.

Williams is a former Southwest Conference golf champion and was a professional at the Midland Country Club prior to joining the Air Force.

In second place was Lt. Dow Pin-steward, Athens, Ohio, with a 294 although he came in one stroke ahead of Williams Saturday with a 78 on the par 72 course.

Other leaders included Airman Jerry K. Robison, Texarkana, 303.

Maureen Paces U. S. Wightman Cup Lead

RYE, N. Y.—Maureen Connolly, 18, paces the world's tennis courts, preceded the United States to a 3-0 lead over Britain Saturday in the twenty-fifth Wightman Cup competition.

Miss Connolly, murdering the ball with a flat forehand, won the first singles match in just 22 minutes from Angela Mortimer, a thoroughly bewildered lass from Torquay 6-1, 6-1. Then she teamed with Louis Brough, Beverly Hills, Calif., to take a doubles decision from Miss Mortimer and Ann Shilcock, 6-2, 6-3.

OHIO FINALLY BECOMES STATE

Whopping Welcome Awaits Returning Allied Prisoners At Freedom Village

FREEDOM VILLAGE, KOREA.—American soldiers, sailors and Marines are preparing a whopping big welcome for the Allied prisoners returning from Communist POW camps.

The long awaited "Operation Big Switch" starts Wednesday. The first prisoners were expected to arrive at Panmunjom at 9 a.m. (6 p.m. Tuesday, Texas time).

They will see big "Welcome to Freedom" signs and then will be swept into a well-prepared routine that will speed them on their way home.

From Panmunjom the 3,313 Americans and 342 other UN soldiers, except South Koreans and British Commonwealth troops, will go to Freedom Village. The 8,186 South Koreans will be moved to Liberty Village and the 922 British Commonwealth troops will go to Britannia Camp.

All three camps will give the returning men a similar reception. Officers estimated that some 5,000 U. S. soldiers, Marines and sailors will be working for one purpose—to get the returning captives cared for as quickly and smoothly as possible.

The Army is making special efforts to get the men identified positively as soon as they are received. Telegrams will be speeding to anxious families within a few hours after the men are freed at Panmunjom.

Most preparations will be completed Sunday. Freedom Village has been moved from the tent city where the sick and wounded were received in "Operation Little Switch" last April. The reception center now is housed in a long, warehouse-type building near Munsam. A field hospital unit is in tents alongside.

Here in Freedom Village, the prisoners will get medical and record checkups, clothing, showers, and such delicacies as ice cream.

There even is a postoffice where the men can send letters home and pick up any mail that may be waiting for them.

Jewish, Protestant and Catholic chaplains will be ready to give religious services for the men who want them.

One corner of the building is set aside for newspapermen to interview the prisoners who are willing. The prisoners will arrive at Freedom Village by truck from Panmunjom if the weather is clear or by closed ambulances in the event of rain. Some sick or wounded prisoners will be flown by helicopter directly to the 121st Evacuation Hospital near Seoul.

If the weather is clear, helicopters will take all the physically fit repatriates from Freedom Village to the camp at Echoon—Little Golden Gate—where they will wait for ships to the United States.

Some repatriates needing medical care will be flown to the U. S.

Free Nations Due U. S. Aid Despite Traffic With Reds

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower told Congress Saturday Britain and four other free world nations will continue getting U. S. military aid even though they have sent strategic goods to Iron Curtain countries.

To end aid to the four countries—Britain, France, West Germany and Norway—would be "clearly detrimental to the security of the United States," Eisenhower said.

Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) and some other members of Congress have been highly critical of Western trade with Communist countries, particularly Red China.

Eisenhower acted under the Mutual Defense Assistance Control Act, which contains a provision on trade between East and West nations.

The act authorizes the President to continue sending American aid to countries which ship materials like oil and similar strategic items to the Reds. However, the President must show proof that unusual circumstances indicate stoppage of aid would be clearly detrimental to American security.

Wider Social Security Plan Suggested By The President

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower recommended to Congress Saturday night a plan to add about 10 1/2 million persons to the social security rolls for the first time.

New groups to be brought into the old age and survivors insurance system would include self-employed families, farm and domestic workers not now covered and professional people like doctors, dentists, lawyers, architects and accountants.

These groups, brought into the system on a mandatory basis would add about six and one-half million persons to the social security rolls. Four million others, such as cler-

Texas Legionnaires Dodge Ballot On 'Pinks In Pulpit'

HOUSTON—Texas legionnaires shied away from the controversial pinks-in-the-pulpit issue Saturday while rejecting a resolution which would have commended the anti-Communist labors of the McCarthy, Jenner and Velde committees.

The entire action obviously was made more in a desire to avoid injecting a religious angle in the convention's official record than any lack of admiration for the three legislators.

The convention earlier went on record as viewing the Korean truce "with considerable skepticism and doubt." The resolution recommends all negotiations be ended if the truce is violated.

The Legion winds up its three-day convention Sunday with election of officers. Fort Worth was selected as the 1954 convention city. San Antonio was recommended for 1955.

Lubbock Dentist Identifies Body Of Slain Soldier

LUBBOCK—Mrs. Dora Earhart admitted in sobb Friday she finally was convinced the Army had returned the body of her son, killed in the early days of World War II.

Proof to her was the word of a Lubbock dentist that he recognized beyond question bridgework he had done for Pvt. Don Barnes before he enlisted.

Don's body was escorted home Thursday by his identical twin, T. Sgt. Dan Barnes, 31, of the Air Force. The brothers enlisted in the Army together and both were members of the 131st Field Artillery, the famed Lost Battalion once attached to the 36th Division.

They flipped a coin Feb. 2, 1942, to see who would ride in a B-17 bomber on a test flight over Java. Don won the ride.

A quick strike by the Japanese knocked down the Flying Fortress and Don was killed.

Dan later was captured by the Japanese and worked on railroads and in mines as a prisoner of war. The Army first told Mrs. Earhart funeral. They it said the body could not be found. Mrs. Earhart clung to a belief Don still might be alive.

Recently a colonel came here to tell Mrs. Earhart her son's body had been sent to the United States and was enroute home.

The family asked Dr. H. H. Bidwell to verify identification.

Mother Of Rescued Airman Declares Son Leads Charmed Life

MIAMI, FLA.—"Johnny leads a charmed life," Mrs. Agnes Roche, mother of Capt. John Roche, one survivor of an American B-50 shot down off Siberia, made this exultant comment about her son's rescue.

Captain Roche was co-pilot of the plane carrying 17 men when it was attacked by Russian aircraft over the Sea of Japan Wednesday. In Tokyo he called it an unprovoked attack.

"Johnny has been shot down so many times it isn't funny," his mother said here. "He served in the European Theater during World War II and was shot down several times."

Mrs. Roche told the Miami Herald she was worried "almost sick" after hearing about her son's experience.

She received a telegram from her daughter-in-law merely stating that Captain Roche had been rescued, but she didn't know from what.

"I was so excited I broke my glasses trying to read the telegram," said the mother, who lives in suburban Hialeah.

Negro's Second Trial Moved To Fairfield

PALESTINE—Judge V. M. Johnston Saturday ordered a change of venue to Fairfield for the second trial of Jimmy Richardson, 32, negro charged with raping a white girl, 15.

Richardson was convicted in his first trial and given death. The Court of Criminal Appeals reversed the case because of arguments made before the jury by Rep. John Dowdy of Athens, then district attorney.

Forest Fire Sweeps Across Maine Woods

SANFORD, MAINE.—A forest fire that claimed one life and threatened numerous homes raged unchecked Saturday after blackening an area six miles long and two miles wide.

Some 600 fire-fighters tried to confine the flames to thickly wooded sections of this southwestern corner of Maine.

Flag Pole Wins Bout

DETROIT—Walter Rohrbecker, 53, nursed a sore head Saturday and wondered if patriotism was worth it.

Rohrbecker spent most of Friday erecting a 46-foot flag pole at his home. It was homesteaded and he welded a four-inch metal ball for the top.

The flag pole went up without a hitch. A moment later, the ball came loose and hit the patriot on the head, knocking him unconscious.

Approximately 400 former students of the school at Norman, Okla., reside in this area.

Texas Holdings Of Late Oil Man Total 23 Millions Plus

HOUSTON—Value of the personal estate of the late Robert A. Welch, who arrived in Houston from South Carolina in 1886 with less than 50 cents, has been placed at $23,865,910.56.

An inventory filed with Probate Judge Clem McClelland is the largest personal estate appraisal ever filed in Harris County.

When Welch died last December 27, at the age of 81, associates estimated the estate at $2 million dollars.

The appraisal filed Saturday covers only Texas properties. It does not include oil interests and leases in nine other states — Louisiana, Mississippi, Oklahoma, Alabama, Florida, Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota and Illinois.

The appraisal shows his companies own 21 automobiles for use by employees on business, although Welch never owned an automobile. He preferred 15-cent bus rides to taxicabs and always tipped his barber 10 cents.

Welch disliked seeing his name in newspapers and his name was familiar to few persons other than his associates. He left the bulk of his estate for establishment of a chemical research foundation for the benefit of mankind. All grants and gifts from the foundation must be used within Texas.

He was president of Fidelity Oil and Royalty Company and the Mount Company, a sulphur holding firm.

Potent Coffee Fails Mission

BAYREUTH, GERMANY.—The late Heinrich Kolb, 61, quaffed breakfast coffee loaded with mercury from an old thermometer, a helping of sulphur and a dose of knockout drops.

But when he died, medical authorities said what carried him off was pneumonia.

A German court today sentenced 24-year old widow Inge Kolbe to six years imprisonment for attempted murder. It found her guilty of feeding Heinrich the potent breakfast blast.

The coffee? It caused Heinrich acute discomfort, doctors said, but that was all.

Czech Red Leader Admits Shortcoming

VIENNA—(AP)—Communist Czechoslovakia's President Antonin Zapotocky Saturday admitted that the Soviet system of collective farming has failed to yield sufficient food provisions for the 13 million Czechoslovaks who live under the thumb of the Kremlin's puppets in Prague.

He publicly declared that food provisions in Czechoslovakia have been insufficient, criticized the country's collective farms for "very bad works," and announced that the Prague regime was going to revise the "problem of collective farming."

ONLY SURVIVOR?—Capt. John Roche of Washington, co-pilot and only known survivor of an Air Force B-50 shot down by Russian fighters over the Sea of Japan, tells his story to Gen. O. P. Weyland, Far East Air Forces commander. Other survivors of the downed craft may have been picked up by Russian ships.

Downed Plane Survivor Says Other Crewmen May Be Alive

TOKYO (AP)—The chances are "very good" that some of the 18 other American crew members of a B-50 reconnaissance plane shot down in a Russian jet attack Wednesday parachuted into the water, the only known survivor said Saturday.

Capt. John E. Roche, 28, of Washington, D. C., told a press conference the big plane was headed due east at 20,000 feet—fully 40 miles from Russian territory—when it was hit without provocation by one or possibly two Red jets.

He said he believed the engineer, navigator and probably the waist and tail gunners parachuted, as well as the pilot.

The rescued airman said the plane had definite orders not to approach closer than 12 miles to Soviet territory and no nearer than three miles to Chinese territory.

There was no possible chance that they were any closer than 40 miles to Siberia, Roche said. He was co-pilot of the stricken plane.

Moscow Charges Refuted
This refuted Moscow charges that the bomber was flying over Siberia near the Red naval base of Vladivostok and fired first at Red jets.

The U. S. State Department protested the attack and told Moscow it had information some of the 18 other crewmen had been saved by Russian vessels.

U. S. rescue planes which scoured the area where the B-50 was downed, reported several Russian motor torpedo type boats had been sighted in the area and may have picked up other members of the crew.

Roche, who was picked up by the U. S. destroyer Pickens, said he did not see the Russian craft, nor did he personally see other crewmen bail out of the plane. But he said the Pickens halted a Russian trawler or tug boat Thursday, 22 hours after the crash, and questioned the crew about survivors.

"It must have been about 6:15 Wednesday morning when it happened," Roche told newsmen. It was 6:20 when he hit the water, stopping his watch.

"I was sitting there relaxed," he went on. "It didn't enter my mind at all we might be attacked. It was international waters."

Nine Persons Die In Two-Car Crash

LITTLE FALLS, MINN. — (AP)—Nine persons were killed Saturday when two cars collided in a pouring rain on U. S. Highway 10 near Randall, 10 miles north of Little Falls.

Only one of the 10 occupants of the two machines survived. She is an unidentified woman and in critical condition.

In the morgue here were the bodies of five men and four women. The downpour was so heavy water was running over the highway.

Craggy Alps Peaks Take Mounting Toll Of Novice Climbers

COURMAYEUR, ITALY —(AP)—Craggy peaks of the Alps, more magnetic than ever to many since man's conquest of Everest, are taking a high toll of novice climbers this summer.

The hazardous sport has claimed at least 110 lives in the last two months in the Italian, French, Swiss and Austrian Alps. Uncounted scores of climbers have been injured. Some professionals are among the victims.

Old mountain hands attribute the upsurge in the sport's popularity to the conquest of Mt. Everest, the world's highest peak, by a British expedition last May. Whatever the cause, it has guides and climbing clubs worried.

Thousands of newcomers are pitting their limited skills against the toughest and most hazardous peaks, sometimes without proper equipment and without guides.

Poverty Warping Stamp Is Everywhere In Polygamists' Village Of Short Creek

By JAMES CARY
SHORT CREEK, ARIZ. — (AP)—The trees lining the lone street droop morosely in the sweltering August heat.

Dirty, ramshackle buildings starkly etched against the faded red backdrop of the vermilion cliffs, cluster along this dusty road.

Hordes of children play quietly in the pink sand that stretches for miles around in a dreary, monotonous wasteland.

The stamp of poverty, deep and warping, is everywhere.

This is Short Creek, the tiny village near the Utah border, where polygamy has flourished 20 years.

Here time seems to have turned back three-quarters of a century to a rude frontier culture.

The women wear long, 19th Century dresses. There is practically no electricity, and plumbing is a luxury not all can afford.

It was this remote settlement, almost lost in the isolated vastness north of the Grand Canyon, that was the scene last Sunday of the largest police action in Arizona's history.

One hundred two officers descended on the community before dawn and seized virtually the entire

Revitalized Hoover Commission Opens New Study On Federal Reorganization

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
WASHINGTON —(AP)—Twelve men of diversified interests, led by former President Herbert Hoover, soon will take up the tremendous task of reorganizing the government's executive branch.

With new blood and expanded power, the group will start where the old Hoover commission left off for four years ago.

Hoover, who will be 79 on August 10, has agreed to accept the chairmanship of the new bipartisan commission against his better judgment, as he put it.

Savings Of Billions
Lawrence Richey, private secretary to the former President who served as his special assistant on the late commission, has taken over the same assignment for the new one. He now is looking for office space and staff and clerical help.

The new group, Richey says, has put off organizing until President Eisenhower returns from his summer vacation, expected to be sometime in September. As the first one did, the new commission will organize at the White House, elect a chairman and vice chairman and get a sendoff from the President.

The first commission headed by Hoover under President Truman in 1947-48 came up with approximately 240 recommendations. Hoover and his associates say about half of these became law. Estimates in money savings range upward from two billion a year. All agree, however, that this is almost impossible to determine accurately.

The new body should get off to a smoother start than the old one since five of its members also were members of the first—Hoover, Senator McClellan (D-Ark.), Representative Brown (R-Ohio); Arthur S. Flemming, defense mobilization director, and Joseph P. Kennedy, former ambassador to Great Britain.

A sixth new commissioner, Sidney A. Mitchell, New York banker, was executive director of the old commission and set up its various "task forces."

The new faces on the second commission will be those of former Postmaster General, James A. Farley, Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr., Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.); Solomon C. Hollister, dean of the school of civil engineering at Cornell University; Robert G. Storey, president of the American Bar Association, and Representative Hollifield (D-Calif.).

First Major Act
The first major act of the present Congress under Eisenhower was to extend the presidential reorganizing power for two years until April 1, 1955. Under this authority the President submits reorganizing plans designed to increase operating efficiency. They become effective automatically unless within 60 days either House or Senate rejects them, by a constitutional majority—49 in the Senate or 218 in the House.

Separate legislation setting up the new commission was signed July 10. The President, House Speaker Martin, and Vice President Nixon each named four commissioners.

The new agency will have far greater scope than the old one. Whereas the first one was limited to reshuffling and mostly intra-departmental changes, with some regulatory agencies exempt, the new one will be authorized to recommend:

'Lot Of Sore Toes'
1. Abolition of unnecessary government functions—which Hoover warns will be tough because there are a "lot of sore toes around Washington" that can't bear being stepped on.

2. Reorganization of regulatory agencies.

They also reorganized the Defense Department by creating six new assistant secretaries and centralizing staff direction in the chairman of the Joint Chiefs; abolished the Mutual Security Agency and supplanted it with a Foreign Operations Administration with wider functions; set up a single U. S. Information Agency; re-instituted the three-member Economic Advisory Council to the president; and separated federal payments for carrying the mail from selling subsidies.

There are seven Republicans and five Democrats on the new commission.

New Strikes Plague Gulf Coast Section

HOUSTON —(AP)—One Upper Gulf Coast labor strike was settled Saturday, another started and there were threats for two more.

Strikes continued by two Houston area AFL building unions and by carpenters at Beaumont, Port Arthur and Orange.

The new strike began at Houston's Rheem Manufacturing Company plant. Some 650 CIO production workers quit.

At Port Arthur, 77 Southern Union Gas Company workers ratified an agreement which ended a five-month strike which began with a dispute over the discharge of six employees.

A strike by 400 CIO oil workers at the Republic Oil and Refining Company, Texas City, has been postponed one week. Their contract expired Thursday.

A threat of a strike by all AFL construction workers sounded at Galveston. Contract talks were reported stalemated.

Lost Vessel Found

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP)—The Navy reported Saturday the motor vessel Venus, missing in the Western Pacific since July 22 with 16 passengers and five crewmen, had been found and taken in tow.

Utilities Earnings Rise

NEW YORK —(AP)—Electric Bond and Share Company Saturday reported net income of $6,427,437 for the 12 months ended June 30. This compared with $5,574,450 a year previously.

3. Ways to eliminate inefficiencies from inter-departmental relations.

In examining government policy and functions, it has been suggested for example that the commission could recommend doing away with government corporations found to be competing unfairly with private industry, or abolishing functions that might best be exercised by states and municipalities.

Under Six Presidents
Hoover, who has accepted important chores under six Presidents, expressed pleasure at the results of the commission under the Truman Administration, but said he believes he can work better with the Republican Administration.

"It is pledged to cleaning up government and I think it will do it," he said. He expects the new study to take more of a year.

Acting under the old and new power to reorganize, President Eisenhower has a perfect batting average this session. He has recommended 10 plans and all have become law—four of them this week-end.

Truman's record was good until he got into the patronage field. Congress rejected three of his plans last year which would have taken away Senate power to pass on appointments of postmasters, U. S. Marshals and customs collectors.

Record Of Changes
Plans so far adopted under Eisenhower created a new Cabinet Department of Health, Education and Welfare; reorganized the Department of Agriculture; merged several offices into a new Office of Defense Mobilization; made the deputy attorney general instead of the solicitor general next in line of succession to the attorney general; simplified organization and strengthened the administration of the Export-Import Bank.

They also reorganized the Defense Department by creating six new assistant secretaries and centralizing staff direction in the chairman of the Joint Chiefs; abolished the Mutual Security Agency and supplanted it with a Foreign Operations Administration with wider functions; set up a single U. S. Information Agency; re-instituted the three-member Economic Advisory Council to the president; and separated federal payments for carrying the mail from selling subsidies.

There are seven Republicans and five Democrats on the new commission.

63-Year-Old Man Awarded Gift Car

Richard Jones, Sr., employe of a Midland cleaning establishment on a two week's vacation in St. Louis, acquired a new automobile Saturday in the plan of the Midland's Woman's Club to aid its building project.

Announcement that Jones had received the gift automobile was made Saturday afternoon. Jones had left with his family for St. Louis Friday night. Relatives said they would inform Jones by telephone when he reaches his destination Sunday night.

The 63-year-old clothes presser has been in Midland 11 years. He resides at 1101 Chestnut Lane.

Taft's Death Leaves Little Effect On Politics In Texas

By MARTHA COLE
Associated Press Staff
Texas regretted the death of Senator Robert Taft Friday, but his passing left little mark on politics of the state.

The influence Taft carried in Texas was shunted aside at Chicago July 10, 1952, when a Texas Eisenhower delegation unseated the Taft group at the national convention.

That ended a reign of 30 years, passed from the late R. B. Crager of Brownsville to Henry Zweifel of Fort Worth.

When Taft died, there ended the last rallying point of the Old Guard Republicans of Texas.

Taft wanted to be President. He came to Texas to woo the state with 38 convention delegates. He wanted those votes.

Then came the state Republican convention at Mineral Wells May 27, 1952. Many believe that Taft's chance for the nomination ended that day.

Eisenhower forces raised a cry that echoed across the nation when the state Taft forces refused to seat their contesting county delegations.

Rival Delegation
Texas had rival Taft and Eisenhower delegations at Chicago. Taft suggested a compromise to split the Texas vote 23 for Taft and 16 for Eisenhower.

No, the Texas Ike forces declared—either we're all wrong or we're all right.

Rabidly Red Youth Kills Own Brother For Jibe At Soviet

BERLIN —(AP)—The West Berlin newspaper Der Abend reported Saturday the story of a 14-year-old, rabidly Communist boy in the Russian zone who killed his brother with an ax because the brother called him "a servant of the Russians."

The newspaper said the slaying occurred at Muhlhausen, in Soviet-occupied Thuringia, where the boy was a leader in the Communist Free German Youth (FDJ).

It said the boy swung the ax on his 18-year-old brother because the older boy had taunted him about going to serve in a Communist work brigade in the FJD uniform.

People's police took the slayer into protective custody and placed him in a Communist youth home.

Eisenhower Approves Plan To Rebuild Wrecked Korea

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Eisenhower has approved a plan to rebuild war-wrecked South Korea into a show window for the free world by using American troops in the work of rehabilitation.

This was disclosed Saturday by Secretary of State Dulles, who described the program to diplomats representing 15 other nations with fighting forces in Korea. He urged them to consider using their forces in the same way.

The meeting was held at the State Department behind closed doors but U. S. officials later reported what Dulles had said.

The fast moving secretary of State, who has already visited Europe and the Middle East in his six months in office, will fly to the Far East Sunday to confer with President Syngman Rhee on post-armistice political problems. He will try to tighten the cooperation between the United States, which wants to nail down peace in Korea, and Rhee's government, which keeps threatening to resume the war.

Missionaries Of Rehabilitation

In his talk with the diplomats, according to the account subsequently given out, Dulles made these major points:

1. President Eisenhower is enthusiastic about starting Korean rehabilitation at the earliest possible moment to demonstrate what the free world can do in bettering the lives of the long suffering Koreans. The President and Dulles intend within the limits of possibility (not interfering with armistice duties) to put the American troops in South Korea to work building roads, bridges, schools, hospitals and the like. Dulles visualized the troops as missionaries of rehabilitation who would themselves profit by being engaged in worthwhile activity rather than being idle.

2. The United States hopes that the other friendly governments with forces in Korea will continue to keep them there. American military authorities say the Allies must keep on the alert against the possibility of some move by an enemy who has in no way relaxed his readiness for combat.

3. During his talks with Rhee, Dulles will negotiate key provisions of a United States-Korean security treaty. But he will keep the way open for later agreement on withdrawal of American troops from Korea if that becomes desirable.

Some diplomats had been concerned lest the United States hamper an agreement with the Communists in forthcoming political talks by committing itself now to maintain forces in Korea for a long time.

4. Rhee has a virtual obsession with the idea that the UN Allies will lay down a hard and fast policy line on Korea without considering his views and interests. One of Dulles' purposes in making the long trip to Seoul is to try to allay his fears. Dulles will seek to get as much agreement as possible between the United States and South Korea on common objectives.

Japan's Parliament Erupts In Whopper Of Fistic Brawl

TOKYO —(AP)—Saucers flew again Saturday night in Japan's Parliament. And cups. And fists. And nasty words.

It was the second straight night that a session of Japan's lawmakers erupted into a near brawl.

This one broke out in the middle of a full session of the lower house.

It started when the deputy secretary-general of the governing Liberal Party told a woman lawmaker she was a lady. "Street walker" was the phrase he used, adding, "shut up"—according to the newspaper Asahi.

Mrs. Tsuruya Tsumami, a right wing Socialist, was the target of the epithet. She was heckling a Liberal speaker.

The speaker called a recess.

Fists flew. Then tea cups and saucers.

Special police broke up the melee.

Pioneer Airlines Resumes Schedules For DC-3 Flights

DALLAS —(AP)— Pioneer Airlines went back Saturday to DC-3 planes and the schedule it curtailed because of the higher cost of its larger Martin Pacemasters.

Pioneer said it has leased nine DC-3 planes. It has offered its fleet of nine Pacemasters for sale.

Pioneer bought the 90-passenger Pacemasters 14 months ago to replace the 21-passenger DC-3's.

The airlines applied to the Civil Aeronautics Board for a higher mail pay to help offset the higher cost of the Pacemasters. The CAB turned this down and set a mail rate below that under which Pioneer had been operating DC-3's. Pioneer reduced its schedule.

Pioneer will provide all of its services to its 21 cities over a 1,873-mile system with the DC-3 planes.

Included in the new program is the addition of daily roundtrips between Midland-Odessa via Abilene, Sweetwater and Big Spring; Houston via Waco, Temple and Bryan; and between Houston and Abilene via Austin and San Angelo.

Flurry Of Congressional Voting Stacks Miscellaneous Bills On President's Desk

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Senate completed congressional action Saturday on two key Administration proposals. It sent to Eisenhower for signature:

1. A bill, approved, 190-44, Friday night by the House, to permit admission of 214,000 Iron Curtain refugees and other aliens in the next three years.

2. A measure allowing Eisenhower to send up to 100 million dollars worth of surplus government-held food to needy peoples abroad. This authority will last until next March 15. The House passed the measure Friday, 143-15.

A catch-all bill including 200 million dollars for relief work in war-ravaged South Korea got a quick voice vote in the House, which sent it back to the Senate for concurrence, in minor changes made by Senate-House conferees.

This measure, which also provides for overseas information, civil defense and other activities, already has Senate approval in its original form.

Eisenhower signed bills approving the Department and $44,187,251 for the legislative and judiciary branches of the government.

The defense funds are almost $4,500,000,000 below what former President Truman asked and about $1,500,000,000 below Eisenhower's revised requests.

Stassen's New Job

Another big appropriations measure—some $630,000,000 for foreign aid—was before the Senate for concurrence in changes made by Senate-House conferees. The House accepted it, 237-156, Friday.

Eisenhower nominated Harold E. Stassen to be director of the Foreign Operations Administration, a new agency, effective Saturday. It takes over the functions of the Mutual Security Administration, which Stassen has headed. Stassen was approved promptly by the Senate.

There were three other developments Saturday in Capitol Hill:

1. The Senate adopted a joint Senate-House conference report ending the U. S.-Mexican farm labor program two years. The report now goes to the House for final action.

2. Senate-House conferees agreed on a compromise bill extending the reciprocal trade agreements act a year. The compromise wipes out the controversial House provision to enlarge the tariff commission to seven members.

3. The Senate passed and sent to the White House a bill to extend for two years the authority of the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation to expand its program into more counties. The Senate accepted a House amendment which would limit the expansion to 100 counties a year.

Weather Control

4. A bill creating a committee to look into experiments on weather control was passed by the Senate and put on the President's desk. The panel would determine the extent to which the U. S. should experiment with or regulate activities designed to control weather conditions.

5. The Senate okayed and sent to the House a compromise measure creating an independent Farm Credit Administration; a 12-member board with farmers exercising major control.

6. Representative Hope (R-Kan) introduced a bill providing a program of soil and water conservation and flood prevention through federal cooperation with the states, local public bodies and farmers.

7. Chairman Short (R-Mo) of the House Armed Services Committee said the first order of committee business when Congress reconvenes will be legislation to establish an Air Force Academy.

Last GI Killed By Red Guns Listed As Michigan Veteran

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD

EASTERN FRONT, KOREA —(AP)— (Delayed by Censor)— The last Allied soldier killed in the Korean War was Sgt. Harold R. Cross, Jr., husky, 24-year-old veteran from Michigan and Kansas.

He was wounded at 8:40 p.m. An hour and 20 minutes later that day, July 27, silence settled on the front as the truce went into effect. It was either a heavy mortar shell or an artillery round that got Cross.

He was in a bunker on an outpost on the Eastern Front, one mile west of Christmas Hill. The bunker was only 500 yards from a Chinese stronghold, Hill 931, a fortress almost 3,000 feet high. The mortar or artillery shell stove in the bunker and Cross and five other men, some wounded, were sealed inside for an hour while the front received a terrific pounding.

From the moment he was wounded until he died, two and one-half hours later, Cross never whimpered or complained.

He stoutly maintained that "I'm OK" and "I'm fine."

There were indications that he was doubtful about his condition, but his buddies and a priest felt he did not know he was going to die.

Cross was a good soldier and very Money Changing Act Leaves Midland Grocer $10 Poorer

A Midland grocer was $10 wiser Friday when he had to pay that much for experience after two fast-talking swindlers befuddled him in a quick and professional appearing short change act.

Hoyle Baker, owner and operator of the Corral Grocery Store on East Highway 80, said the two men came into his store and made a $1 purchase around noon.

There was nothing suspicious looking about them, he related, and both were wearing khaki clothing. One appeared to be 45 years old, was of medium build with slightly grey hair and a large peculiarly shaped nose, while the other was about 35.

"Their 1946 or 1947 pale blue car was parked out front with a woman and a little girl in it,"

Baker said, "and nothing seemed unusual."

Here's how the two quickly walked off $10 richer according to the grocer.

The older man gave him a $10 bill for the $1 purchase and asked for nine $1 bills in change. Baker gave it to him. "Was that a ten I gave you?" he asked Baker. When told it was he said that he handled had too many bills to handle conveniently and asked the grocer to give him his $10 bill back—which was done.

Then the man's companion asked for the Santa Fe Railroad, Baker recalled.

"By this time I had discovered the light touch and ran out to stop them their car was well down the highway," he related.

He reported the incident to the sheriff's office and then called the Reporter-Telegram. "I just wanted to let other merchants know what happened to me," Baker said, "so that they can be on guard. The important thing is that whenever you are making change, don't let anything distract you. And most important of all, be cautious when somebody starts telling you what kind of change they want back."

Calm GI Throws Himself In Path Of Texas Train

SAN ANTONIO —(AP)— An Air Force cadet from Lackland Air Force Base stood beside a railroad near here, arms akimbo, and calmly awaited death as a fast Southern Pacific freight train approached.

Engineer J. K. Pearson saw Charles Peterson, 23, of Jersey City, N. J., waiting until the train was 30 feet away, then stepped in front of the engine.

Cadets told officers the youth had not slept for three nights, that he appeared to have been under a tremendous strain. He paced the floor for hours.

Wife Of Sergeant Receives Telegram In Trembling Hand

DETROIT —(AP)— The telegram that Mrs. Harold R. Cross, Jr., had dreaded receiving when the fighting was on in Korea came Saturday.

The fighting ended five days ago and Mrs. Cross had breathed easier. She was looking forward to seeing her husband soon.

The telegram informed her that her husband was killed minutes before the cease fire went into effect. He was the last American soldier killed in Korea.

Her husband had volunteered for service in Korea after he had been discharged from the Army on his return from Germany. They were married three years ago while he was serving with the American Army in Germany.

His bride, now 24, came with him to the United States. She quickly learned the language and got a job as a waitress in a restaurant in suburban Dearborn to help supplement their income.

It was quiet in the patio restaurant when the messenger arrived with the telegram from the Defense Department. He asked for Mrs. Cross.

She was sitting at a table talking with her husband's brother, Louis, who had stopped to visit on his way home from work.

Mrs. Cross looked up and paled on seeing it was a messenger with a telegram.

Good Home In Tears

But her hands trembled so much she couldn't open it. Her brother-in-law took it from her and ripped open the flap.

She took the message and stared at it. Then she broke into tears and started to fall. Louis Cross caught her and lifted her into a chair. She sobbed, without saying a word.

Then, leaning on her brother-in-law's arm, she left the restaurant for her home.

Mrs. Cross was formerly Ilee Reigman of Birkenhead in Central Germany. She first met Sergeant Cross at an Army dance.

popular. Available Army records give only skimpy details of his life. The records show that his father is Harold R. Cross of Detroit, Mich. Marries German Girl

The sergeant served in the German occupation forces from Nov. 26, 1948, to March, 1952. His last post in Germany was in the headquarters of the 13th Anti-Aircraft Group. He married a German girl.

Cross left the Army on his return to the United States, but re-enlisted in October, 1952. He came to Korea as a corporal last February 27. In March, he was assigned to King Company, Third Battalion, Fifth Regimental Combat Team.

In the last days of the Korean fighting, the Fifth RCT was attached to the U. S. 45th Infantry Division.

Talk Of War's End

Cross had hoped to bring his wife to Japan and continue his Army career there. He was a blue-eyed blond haired man about five feet 10 and weighed 175 pounds.

"He was a fine fellow and everybody liked him," said M/Sgt. John C. McCrimmon, 27, Lincolnton, Ga. "He was a No. 1 soldier, a great morale builder," said Pfc. John Bluhm, 21, a medic from Cleveland, Ohio.

McCrimmon, Bluhm, Cross and three other men, including a sergeant, were all in the bunker Monday night.

As night fell, the six talked of the end of the war which could occur in 10 pm.

"The men were mostly sitting along the walls of the bunkers," Bluhm said. "About 8:30 o'clock when mortar and artillery rounds began landing near us, Cross went to the doorway and sat there, his feet in the doorway, and picked up the phone to relay reports on incoming rounds to a company headquarters."

Cross was wearing an armored vest but no one remembers whether it was ripped off. The mortar or artillery round exploded in the doorway. It broke the 16-inch log which served as the supporting beam of the doorway.

"The blast blew off half of Cross' back jacket and left the other half on it, hurled him deep into the bunker. The roof of the bunker caved in, sealing the interior into two compartments. On one side were Cross and Bluhm. On the other side were McCrimmon, the other sergeant, who suffered a compound fracture of both legs, and two other wounded men.

Every now and then someone will leave a Dallas News on the counter of the cafe where we drink our coffee. Then we get a chance to read Paul Crume's column, "Big D."

About a month ago he wrote, "STREET CORNER PICKUP: A man who seemed to be an expert on lawns was giving another some advice about fertilizing and such. Anybody who wants a fine lawn, he said, should never, never set the lawnmower to cut close. The mower should be high so that the grass will shade the roots. Just recently, he said, his wife complained because he didn't set the mower blades closer to the ground."

Said the man: "I told her, 'Don't you dare set your hand to those blades. You just push.'"

South Texas Judge Says Election Trial To Go On Schedule

RIO GRANDE CITY —(AP)— Special Judge Royce Oxford said he will take testimony Monday in a Starr County election suit whether the defense attorney is there or not.

Lawyers tried to go ahead with the trial Thursday and were barred then by a locked courtroom.

They tried again Friday and were prevented by the absence of the defense attorney, Rep. A. J. Yale, who could not be located.

"I know what is to be done in this case, and I intend to do it," the special judge said.

"I shall take testimony in this case Monday morning, whether or not counsel for defense is here," Ranger Capt. A. Y. Allee and Ranger Joe Bridge stood at the courtroom door Friday. Also here was a representative of the state attorney general's department, William King.

The lawyers invoked a seldom-used law and elected the special judge, Woodrow Laughlin of Allee, failed to appear. He notified attorneys he was too busy.

The suit involves a write-in campaign for a Starr County commissioner post in the November election. The suit was brought by Armando Longoria, a candidate of the Old Party, against B. M. Longoria, a New Party member who was declared winner by write-in.

Anderson Says Navy Might Essential To U. S. Safety

DENVER —(AP)— Secretary of the Navy Robert B. Anderson said Saturday night the United States' position as a world power "would be jeopardized unless we continue to maintain the capability to dominate world wide sea communications."

"Most of the important international decisions we have made since the end of the war are based on the assumption that we can and will maintain control of the seas," the secretary said in an address to the eleventh annual National Wave Reunion.

"The Navy's role in the future," he said, "will remain that supervening task of controlling and surfing the seven-tenths of the earth's surface covered by the seas and of preventing the enemy from doing the same."

"The Navy represents a mobile line of defense far from our shores; it is also one of the vital spearheads of our attack."

Anderson Says Navy Might Essential To U. S. Safety

"The United States, by her actions is actually pursuing a national policy based on maintaining control of the sea. The majority of the free maritime nations have signed mutual defense pacts with the United States."

Anderson said the nation that controls the seas "is in a position to motivate the populations and the material resources of the entire world against any aggressor."

He said the United States now is forced to import more than 100 "essential raw materials ranging from asbestos to zinc."

"The Navy's role in the future," he said, "will remain that supervening task of controlling and surfing the seven-tenths of the earth's surface covered by the seas and of preventing the enemy from doing the same."

Railroad Suit Goes Back To Lower Court

AMARILLO —(AP)— An injunction suit against the Santa Fe Railroad was sent back to the state District Court here by Federal Judge Joe Dooley.

The suit to enjoin the railroad and 16 non-operating unions from entering into a closed shop agreement was filed by 14 Amarillo employees of the railroad in 108th District Court here.

The petition to transfer the suit to federal court was filed by union and railway attorneys after plaintiffs presented five days of testimony last May in the state District Court.

Dooley ruled Friday his court did not have jurisdiction.

Fate Keeps Pair Of GIs Together In Parallel Duties

INDIANAPOLIS —(AP)— The Army is big, but William Spicer and John Wilson always seem to land together.

They haven't been separated long since they came from different high schools in Portland, Ore., to work side by side as tellers in the U. S. National Bank of Portland. They went on together to Oregon State College.

They were drafted a week apart last April but both landed at Fort Ord, Calif., for basic training.

"They've pulled no strings to stay together, but now they're bunking side by side at Fort Benjamin Harrison, waiting to start an eight-week course at the Army Finance School August 14. They even find themselves pulling KP duty in the mess hall at the same time."

When their hitch in the Army is over, they plan to return to Oregon State, where they studied business administration a year and a half before they were drafted.

Month-Old Infant Dies As Car, Truck Collide Near Bryan

BRYAN —(AP)— A month-old baby was killed and four persons were injured Friday night in a collision of a truck and an automobile near here.

The child, Darlene Dawn Davis, was riding in her mother's lap in the truck cab.

The truck, driven by Mrs. Christine C. Oldham, was loaded with household effects she was moving from Waco to Houston. Nine other children were riding in the rear of the truck.

The dead child's mother, Mrs. H. L. Davis, Houston, suffered minor injuries. Two children, Harvey Lee, 10, and Deborah Ann, three, also were injured. Names of the other children were not available.

Driver of the automobile was Ernest Roy Bulow, a Texas AM student, formerly of Beaumont. He was in critical condition.

South Texas Judge Says Election Trial To Go On Schedule

RIO GRANDE CITY —(AP)— Special Judge Royce Oxford said he will take testimony Monday in a Starr County election suit whether the defense attorney is there or not.

Lawyers tried to go ahead with the trial Thursday and were barred then by a locked courtroom.

They tried again Friday and were prevented by the absence of the defense attorney, Rep. A. J. Yale, who could not be located.

"I know what is to be done in this case, and I intend to do it," the special judge said.

"I shall take testimony in this case Monday morning, whether or not counsel for defense is here," Ranger Capt. A. Y. Allee and Ranger Joe Bridge stood at the courtroom door Friday. Also here was a representative of the state attorney general's department, William King.

The lawyers invoked a seldom-used law and elected the special judge, Woodrow Laughlin of Allee, failed to appear. He notified attorneys he was too busy.

The suit involves a write-in campaign for a Starr County commissioner post in the November election. The suit was brought by Armando Longoria, a candidate of the Old Party, against B. M. Longoria, a New Party member who was declared winner by write-in.

6,000 CALCULATIONS PER MINUTE

'Mechanical Brain' Performs Shell's Accounting Chores

ROYALTY CHECKS READY—Jean Godfrey watches a row of royalty checks emerge from a machine which operates alongside the "mechanical brain" in Shell's Midland area office.

Accounting is big business in the oil industry. There are royalty payments, payroll checks, sales figures that stretch into the millions, calculations on the transporting of hundreds of thousands of barrels of petroleum and production totals that appear astronomical at times.

To make the job easier, Shell Oil Company's area office in Midland has installed a "mechanical brain"—a piece of equipment that figuratively does everything but pay the bills.

They are relatively scarce in American industry and Shell's is the first in West Texas, says J. T. Dickerson, company vice president.

The Midland mechanical brain, actually an "electronic brain" with 1,400 individual vacuum tubes, also is Shell's first. Technically, it is called an electronic calculator and is rented from International Business Machines Corporation.

The Midland "brain" is an "employee" of J. E. Peck's treasury department and is under the supervision of Wanda Goodson, head of the tabulating section.

"It's phenomenal what it can do," Wanda, who's still somewhat awed by the machine, said Saturday. "It makes our old machines look like something out of the covered wagon days."

The electronic calculator stands about five feet tall and is about two and a half feet across the front and five feet in depth. It looks like any other piece of office equipment until it goes to work—when it is transformed into a methodical robot with a face of flashing vacuum tubes.

It's fast. It can make up to 6,000 separate calculations a minute. But it refused to be rushed. It'll handle 100 problems a minute with up to 60 steps a piece—no faster nor slower regardless of how complex or simple the problem may be.

Two Machines, Three Cycles. Actually, the electronic calculator is two separate pieces of equipment: the brain, itself, and an electronic calculating punch that stands alongside.

As each IBM card enters the machine, a three-cycle process begins. The card is first "read" in the electronic punch machine. The next cycle transfers the problem to the brain for solving. And in the final, or third cycle, the answer is punched in the card by the electronic punch machine.

The "brain's" hard-working mechanism generates so much heat—15,000 BTUs an hour—that two radiators were removed from the room and additional air conditioning equipment was installed along with the brain.

The mechanical brain stands at the end of an assembly line of tabulating equipment. Standard computations usually begin when key punch operators first "punch" figures into standard IBM cards.

These cards go through a verifier for checking, sorters that arrange the cards in the desired alphabetical or numerical sequence and then to the brain.

New Machine Ordered. After the brain makes its calculations, the cards are placed in a printer which turns out royalty checks, tax reports and the like.

Shell now has on order an improved version of the brain—an "electronic card-programmed calculator" which includes the printer in the same unit and has a store unit which is the memory of the brain. The storage section saves up facts and figures for future use. Delivery is expected by late Fall.

Among the major chores assigned to the brain by Shell has been "run ticket" calculations. Run tickets indicate the amount of petroleum removed from lease storage facilities. The brain takes the run tickets and in a split second comes up with the value of the petroleum moved after considering such factors as temperatures, specific gravity of the crude and basic sediment and water content.

When the total volume of oil and gas handled each month runs in the millions of barrels, the brain finds plenty of problems to keep it busy.

And, best of all, it never gets a headache.

WIRING SYSTEM OF THE 'BRAIN'—Wanda Goodson, head of the Shell Oil Company tabulating section, discusses the wiring pattern of a control panel which directs the in-put of data into the company's "electronic brain." The machine, which contains 1,400 electronic tubes and can make 6,000 calculations a minute, is fed information from an electronic calculator punch which "reads" run ticket cards. The "brain" will determine net barrels and other information in running the complex oil scene.

Wholesale Oil Men Want More Profits. Plan Early Huddles

AUSTIN —(AP)—Texas wholesale oil marketers want their commissions and margins increased, their association said Saturday.

W. E. Syers, executive secretary of the Petroleum Marketers Association of Texas said it would seek conferences with oil companies soon. He will work with C. D. Daniel of Greenville, president of the association.

Syers said the action did not contemplate any increase in the price of gasoline that advanced recently about one cent a gallon over the state.

FORT WORTH —(AP)—Negotiations have begun on purchase by Mar-Tex Oil & Gas Association, Dallas, of 43 oil wells in Texas and undeveloped acreage in Texas and Wyoming.

Congress Clears Way For Oil Search On Offshore Tracts

By TEX EASLEY
WASHINGTON —(AP)—Congress cleared the way this week for renewed activities in the search for oil in submerged coastal lands beyond the state's seaward boundaries.

As Congress sent to the White House the bill authorizing federal control over mineral resources in the outer continental shelf, one company put lawyers to work drafting the legal documents for transfer of contracts from state authorities to the secretary of Interior.

This company, like others, shut down explorations in the Gulf when the Supreme Court decided in 1950 that the federal government had "paramount rights" over the submerged lands off Texas and Louisiana.

The sale is being handled by Park Weaver of Fort Worth, trustee for properties of former stockholders of Falcon Company. The Texas wells are in Hockley, Winkler and Rusk Counties.

Even as Congress debated the legislation, agents of ship and barge building companies were reported eagerly seeking new business from several major oil companies. Offshore wells cost a million dollars or more, in addition to investment in barges and other marine equipment.

Arkansas Challenge. While the State of Arkansas has challenged in the Supreme Court the validity of the new law affirming state ownership of offshore areas within historic boundaries, this is not likely to influence the resumption of exploration beyond the states' seaward boundaries—three miles except for Texas and Florida, where it is 10 1/2 miles. Other Washington developments of interest in oil: The Senate confirmed Seaborn Digby, Monroe, La., attorney, to the Federal Power Commission. A former member of the Louisiana State Conservation Commission, Digby knows the oil and gas busi-

Oil Takes Over As Coal Industry Edges Closer To Depression Point

By DON WHITEHEAD
WASHINGTON —(AP)—A crisis is building up in America's coal fields today, even while the huge bituminous coal industry is on the doorstep of a glowing future.

It's one of the paradoxes of our times. Coal is in deep trouble just when there is promise of vast growth ahead. Coal is in trouble along at boom-time speed.

The collapse of war-swollen markets, increased mechanization of fields today, even while the huge bituminous coal industry is on the doorstep of a glowing future.

The immediate crisis is developing among the high-cost producers and the smaller independents who sell on the open market. They are being squeezed in the fight for markets which have shrunk to a little more than 400 million tons compared to the record 1947 production of 630,600,000 tons.

Daddy Ringtail

The Featherman is the old, old man with long white whiskers. He can think only about feathers, feathers, and more feathers. He wants them to feather his nest for he lives in a nest instead of a house.

He was walking down the Elephant Path looking for feathers. "Oh, feathers, feathers, feathers," the Featherman said to himself. He looked around and up and down, and when he looked down again, there was a feather on the ground! The Featherman clapped his hands together and jumped in the air and bumped his heels together three times to show how happy he was. He picked the feather up and held it in his hand.

A duck came walking along just then—a duck with a whole lot of feathers. She had her wings all folded behind her back as if she were holding hands with herself. Her white feathers gleamed in the sunlight.

The featherman dropped the feather he had in his hand and ran after the duck as fast as he could. He wanted feathers, feathers, and more feathers. The duck ran ahead of him, just fast enough to keep from being caught. Every little bit, the duck would stretch her wings and fly a little close to the ground. She did it so the Featherman wouldn't catch her.

By WESLEY DAVIS

Pretty soon the Featherman saw that he could never catch her. The Featherman hurried back up the Elephant Path to get the feather he had dropped, the one he had held in his very own hand. But when he got back, the feather was gone. The wind had blown it away. "Oh, where is my feather? Where is my feather?" the Featherman wanted to know, but no one could tell him. No one had seen where the wind had blown it.

"Oh, feathers, feathers, feathers!" said the Featherman, and that was the end of the Featherman business until another day. But he learned his lesson, I hope. He learned that a feather in the hand is better than a whole lot of feathers on a duck—especially when you haven't even caught the duck. And I hope that no one else will be losing something they have, trying to get something they don't have. But don't you worry, and happy day!

Texas License Plates In Istanbul Give Clues, But Hotel's Clerk Doesn't Help

By GRACE HALSELL
Reporter-Telegram Special Correspondent

ISTANBUL, TURKEY — Istanbul is to the world what the courthouse steps are to any Texas county seat. A crossroads.

And Istanbul proves Kipling wrong. East and West do meet.

Focal point of the Crossroads of the World is the Park Hotel in Istanbul.

When I checked in I noticed two of the biggest cars out front had Texas license plates.

One of the cars, I learned, belongs to Penny Petcas of Houston.

The other belongs to Victor H. Semos of Dallas.

To find the owners, I had to do a little sleuthing.

I asked the desk clerk: "Do you know who the Texas people are?"

He said, "No, do you think they would be from America?"

With all these magazine articles floating around about the U. S. A. seceding from Texas, I couldn't be sure.

CANT DRINK COFFEE — Sitting on the Park Hotel terrace which looks out over the Marmara Sea and dozens of Moslem mosques. Semos and his son, Chris, told me about their extended stay in the Middle East.

A native of Greece, the elder Semos has the "Touch of Acropolis" restaurant, as well as a coffee and tea business in Dallas. He is collecting material now for a book on ancient Greece and Byzantine civilizations.

We were eating chick peas and sipping tea, because Semos, who for 35 years had the Jefferson Hotel Coffee Shop in Dallas does not drink Turkish coffee—or any coffee brewed in Europe for that matter.

"Terrible," he commented. "Not like the coffee you can get in Texas."

But he does like the food from this part of the world.

At the "Bebek" club here, he had gotten a meal, drinks and seen the best floor show in his life "all for $2."

Semos will return to Texas in September, but he will leave his big automobile with his son, a student at the Anglo-American School in Athens.

The car is quite a sight for Turks.

It cost Semos $5,000.

It has more gadgets than a boy could think of putting on his first bicycle.

It has a telephone which Semos used to talk with his office in Dallas, a device for an electric razor ("I can drive and shave at the same time," Semos says) radio with back-seat speaker and a loud speaker out front which can warn pedestrians of his approach.

"There's a law which prevents you from blowing your horn over here, but nothing which says you can't have the loud speaker in front," Semos reasoned.

COUNTING BLESSINGS — Semos likes Greece. "Athens is the only place I know where you can get to the seaside in 10 minutes, or to the top of mountains in 15 minutes, where you'll be so cool you'll need an overcoat even in Summer-time," he commented.

Still, he knows there is no other country like America.

He wishes every American could travel in order to appreciate his own country more.

On the streets in Istanbul he pointed to a man who carries trunks on his back for travelers.

"That man must carry trunks all day . . . and he makes about 25 cents a day."

Americans, he added, don't know how lucky they are.

NEW HILTON — Conrad Hilton, hotel magnate who made his first money in Texas, will open a hotel in Istanbul. It is being built now.

This month he opened the Castellana Hilton, the first to be built outside the Western Hemisphere, in Madrid . . .

More and more tourists will be traveling through Istanbul. Last year, more than 100,000 visitors came here . . .

Building Figure For Year Approaches 10 Million Mark

Residential construction took a slight spurt from its Summer doldrums last week.

Records in the office of R. S. Higgins, city superintendent of inspections, showed that building permits totalling $120,240 had been issued for the seven-day period ending Friday.

This brought the 1953 total to $9,507,094.

— FARM, DAIRY AND RANCH NEWS —

The first of a series of neighborhood tours to observe sprinkler irrigation of cotton will start on the H. R. Solomon farm north of Midland at 9 a.m. Tuesday.

Special attention will be given to the amount of water applied and frequency of irrigation on different fields. The tour will be a continuation of the work of the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District to find ways of improving the effectiveness of sprinkler irrigation in the Midland area.

District cooperators and others interested in sprinkler irrigation are invited to attend the forenoon affair. Several fields in the neighborhood will be examined. The moisture conditions of the soil and progress of the crops under different watering schedules will be compared.

The market was steady and active at the Thursday sale of the Midland Livestock Auction Company. The quality of the cattle was very good, and there was a light offering of sheep and goats.

Fat calves and yearlings, good to choice, cashed for $17 to $20; medium to good, $15 to $17; cull to common, $10 to $15.

Cows, good and choice, brought $11 to $12, with a few to $13; medium, $8.50 to $11; cashers and culls, $6 to $9.50. Bulls sold for $9 to $12.

Stocker steer calves brought $16 to $18.25; stocker heifer calves, $14 to $16. Mixed breed stocker calves and yearlings cleared at $10.50 to $14.

Conversation the last week or two has centered around rain and near-rain. In the Midland sector it mainly has been "near-rain."

Some sections of the state, however, continue to receive beneficial moisture and things are looking up in those favored spots.

One weather story last week announced "rain is falling in Fort Worth and El Paso." That is fine, but what about the broad expanse of territory in between? And the answer comes back. "The West Texas drought continues."

Now, DSG doesn't always agree with the weatherman, but we surely approve of his recent forecasts calling for continued showers—even though he insists on putting that word "scattered" in front of them. As long as it is showering around there still is hope that the clouds will get together and rain all over this part of the state. There, that makes us feel better anyway—just thinking about a good general rain.

So, with that thought in mind—Better keep that slicker handy, Podner!

Mrs. Fern Sawyer Eidsen's famed cutting horse, Belem, is no more. The 20-year old horse died with his boots on, so to speak. He dropped dead while Mrs. Eidsen's father, U. D. Sawyer of Cross Roads, N. M., was cutting cattle with him.

The blue-faced animal had won championships at numerous cutting horse contests in Texas, including the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show in Fort Worth in 1945.

Mrs. Eidsen, well-known in Midland and vicinity, purchased the horse from Berry Hart of Kent in 1940.

Mr. and Mrs. Eidsen own and operate several ranches near Lovington, N. M.

Midland County's irrigated cotton is as good or better than it ever has been, but the dry-land prospects are "pitiful."

This observation by R. H. Coffey, Midland Production Credit Association chief, followed close on the heels of grim predictions by gin officials here that this year's cotton outlook, although brighter than last year's, falls far below minimum standards.

"Recent showers have done a little good," Coffey continued, "but not enough to save the dry-land cotton. They have, however, increased hopes."

"A good, general rain and some of this dry-land cotton would make a pretty good yield. Right now, though, the non-irrigated crops look pitiful."

"There is more irrigated land than before, and the cotton in those fields is as good or better than it has ever been in this area."

The showers, Coffey pointed out, have allowed some planting of combine milo maize, but he continued, "the planting has been just like the rain: in a limited area."

Little George McEntire has come up with a cattle brand for "some of those California ranches."

The brand is an urn laying on its side, with an L after it.

What is it called? "Lazy urn L," of course!

Ever notice how many ranchers attend the baseball games at Indian Park? Glance over the crowd some night and you will discover many ranchers in attendance. West Texas cattlemen, shepherds and farmers generally like baseball, and take the game rather seriously.

Banker Ralph Barron is getting away from the drought and hot weather for a spell. He pulled out Saturday for Tin Cup, Colo. Incidentally, Ralph served as mayor of that community last Summer.

A columnist on The Stanton Reporter speaks out in favor of Midland's "no siren" order about which Lamesa "goodwill" boosters got so worked up two or three weeks ago.

United States agricultural exports are continuing to decline and are expected to total at least one-fourth smaller in 1953-54 than in the preceding year. This information, says C. H. Bates, farm management specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, comes from the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Exports for April, the most recent month of tabulation, were 11 per cent below those for March. The total exports in April, 1953, were $223,835,000 compared to $256,785,000 for the same month in 1952, says Bates. Among the commodities showing the greatest decrease last April were cotton, wheat and rice, all important crops in Texas. Butter, pork, lard, dried eggs and apples also were listed. Bates points out that this continuing drop in agricultural exports presents an important problem to the economy of the country because this nation normally exports the products from about 50 million acres. Estimates now being made indicate that total exports during 1953-54 may fall short of $3 billion, compared with approximately $4.1 billion in 1951-52.

The export decline, according to the specialist, has been attributed primarily to scarcity of dollars abroad, increased agricultural output in foreign countries and restrictive trade barriers.

"To PMA county and community committeemen to be elected in August by Texas farmers participating in PMA programs, will fall the important duty of determining farm acreage allotments on any crops for which allotments are in effect in 1954," State PMA Chairman Claude K. McCan announced.

Secretary Benson already has set in motion the preliminary work necessary in preparation for possible acreage allotments and marketing quota programs on 1954 crops of wheat and cotton if such controls should be required for these crops, he said.

Urging all farmers concerned in any PMA programs to get out and vote, Chairman McCan said, "Establishment and supervision of farm acreage allotments when they are in effect is not the only duty of PMA committeemen. Price support loan programs and purchase agreements locally are under their direction. Storage facility loans available to farmers needing additional storage space for grains and seeds on their farm must be approved by the county committee. These loans are intended to supplement regular means of credit to increase grain storage capacity."

Other Duties Cited

Local administration of Crop Insurance, with the exception of loss adjustment, is another program under supervision of county committeemen. They also are responsible in cooperation with other Department of Agriculture agencies for supervising Agricultural Conservation Program practices carried out in their community.

Any farmer participating in any PMA program—owner, tenant, sharecropper—is eligible to vote. County office will announce time and place of voting, the state chairman stated.

WELL, LOOK WHO'S HERE!

POMONA, CALIF.—(AP)—Ethel Thomas went to a thrift shop and purchased eight second-hand picture frames for her paintings.

Later, she discovered that in one of the frames was a photograph of her uncle's homestead in Baraboo, Wis., taken some 50 years ago. Among the persons in the picture were several relatives—and herself.

ROOF TO GOLF

In Scotland, oblongs of turf are used for covering the roofs of cottages. Such a piece of turf is called a divot, hence, in golf, a piece of turf cut out in making a stroke is called a divot also.

The odor of a musk ox is discernible at a distance of more than 100 yards.

Soda Pop To Challenge England's Tea As Sugar Rationing Ends In September

LONDON—(AP)—Sugar rationing is due to end in September, and the country may go on a soda pop spree.

A great industry is waiting to be born. As soon as anyone can buy as much sugar as he wants, the soft drink business will make a mighty raid on Britain, for centuries a stronghold of warm ale, scotch and soda, and sweet lime juice. Not to mention tea.

For about 13 years sugar has been rationed in Britain and in that period, so far as the soft drink industry is concerned, time has just stood still. In other lands pop progress has been impressive, glittering vending machines which chill and dispense zestful beverages springing up in every likely spot. But it couldn't happen in Britain because there wasn't enough sugar to make the drinks to fill the machines.

Beer Market Sags

For years the soft drink industry, largely American, has eyed the potential British market hungrily. But here has been no feasible way to get over the sugar ration hurdle. The appetite analysts are certain Britons would drink soft drinks, if they knew about them. Statisticians see a potential market of 112 million dollars a year.

Large brewers, worried by the fact that beer and ale consumption is dropping steadily, are laying plans to move into the soft drink market. An energetic brewer, Angus MacKenzie Charrington, has made an arrangement with a Canadian firm to distribute its version of a soft drink. The deal involved establishment of a British company, building of plants and creation of a distribution service.

Three large London breweries, working together, are nearing completion of arrangements to make an American-type drink here.

Back To Ice Age

A firm which makes the soda to go with the limited amount of scotch at present available locally, is expanding into the soft drink vacuum. Even a patent medicine manufacturer, who has more bottling plant than he needs, is going to turn out an American-type beverage.

The alert brewers of ale and beer are taking steps to insure their survival through what may be a revolution in British drinking habits. The makers of vending machines, to accommodate the big British pennies and the small six-pence piece, are experimenting with many designs. The manufacturers of bottles are expecting a pleasant jolt of orders. It is even possible, under pressure of the pop business, that Britain will discover ice.

His Master's Voice Keeps Dog Silent

SAN BERNARDINO, CALIF.—(AP)—A dog lover who believes in the peace and quiet of his neighbors as well as the happiness of his five Weimaraners has found an easy way to keep them all happy.

George C. Wiedeman has rigged up a 70-foot electrical communication system from his home to the backyard kennels.

If one of the dogs starts barking in the middle of the night, Wiedeman speaks sharply or smacks his hand with a rolled newspaper—before his bedroom microphone.

The dog obeys his master's voice. The neighbors get their sleep.

Patricia Ruckman, Robert Jacobs Wed

In a double ring ceremony Saturday in the Trinity Episcopal Church, Patricia Ruckman of Midland became the bride of Robert Gale Jacobs of Denver, Colo., and formerly of Midland.

The Rev. R. J. Snell, pastor of the Trinity Episcopal Church, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Ruckman, 1000 West Storey Street. Jacobs is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Jacobs of Denver.

W. Dean Baker, organist, furnished a program of nuptial music.

The ceremony was read before an altar decorated with arrangements of white calla lilies. Continuing the all-white theme, four baskets of white gladioli and asters in a sunburst arrangement were placed against a background of wild amilax. Smilax covered the Chancel rail and banked the windows of the sanctuary. Seven-branched candelabra holding lighted tapers completed the decorations.

Pews for the family were tied off with white satin streamers, while tiny corsages of white asters marked the pews for the other guests.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of light ivory Italian silk taffeta. The dress was fashioned with a moulded bodice and a flared skirt accented on either side by pleats at the waistline forming a full panier and extending into a fan-shaped train. The wide, decollete neckline was outlined by a scalloped band of alencon lace embroidered with seed pearls and rhinestones and filled in with an illusion yoke. Long, fitted sleeves tapered to points over her hands. Tiny, covered buttons extended down the back of the bodice to the waistline.

Her veil of imported silk illusion extended in tiers to her waist from an alencon lace coronet sprinkled with rhinestones and pearls.

A white orchid centered her styled cascade bouquet of white carnations and stephanotis accented with pearls. The bouquet was tied with a satin and lace ribbon shower.

Shirley Lones of Midland was the maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Bernard Hanson and Mrs. W. Dean Baker, also of Midland.

They wore identical waist length dresses of emerald green silk organdy. These were fashioned with wide, draped square necklines and full, gathered skirts. They wore taffeta lattice half hats and shoes to match their dresses and carried styled bouquets of auratum lilies accented with emerald velvet tubing.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Ruckman chose a dress of green taffeta and a white corsage of white roses. Mrs. Jacobs' dress was a slate blue taffeta and she also wore a white rose corsage.

Earl Perkins of Midland served as best man. Ushers were Ed R. Kennedy, Gene B. Hays and Tommy Thompson, all of Midland.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Midland Country Club. The bridal table was centered with an arrangement of white carnations and flocked plumoseus flanked on either side by three-branched candelabra. From the centerpiece extended garlands of bridal smilax studded with white carnations. The edges of the table cloth were outlined with similar garlands of smilax caught at the corners with table corsages of white carnations and satin ribbon showers.

In the receiving line, in addition to the couple, were the mothers of the bride and bridegroom and the brides attendants.

For traveling the bride chose a taffeta and a corsage of white light brown French wool suit with brown shoes and light green accessories. She wore a white orchid corsage.

After a trip through the Western states the couple will be at home in Denver where the bridegroom is employed by Argo Oil Corporation.

Mrs. Jacobs is a graduate of Christian College of Columbia, Mo., and Texas Technological College in Lubbock. Before her marriage she was employed as a teacher in the Midland school system. She is affiliated with the French Heels Club. Jacobs attended the University of Denver. He served three years in the U. S. Marine Corps.

Out-of-city guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Jacobs of Denver; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Jacobs of Colorado Springs, Colo.; Mrs. C. W. Ruckman of El Reno, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Ruckman of Clovis, N. M.; Mr. and Mrs. John Marks, Mr. and Mrs.

Tony Frank and Mr. and Mrs. James McLaughlin, all of Odessa, and Mr. and Mrs. N. N. Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Jake Roach of Andrews.

Delicious salad: Crisp leaves or romaine with slices of chilled cooked beets and crisp cucumbers arranged on them. Serve with mayonnaise to which you've added a little lemon juice and a pinch of tarragon or basil.

Voters To Discuss County Redistricting

Mrs. L. M. McMath, president of the Midland League of Women Voters, and Mrs. John Culver, Midland attorney, will present a 15-minute program at 8 p.m. Monday over radio station KCRB.

Mrs. McMath and Mrs. Culver will present as their subject, "The Pros and Cons on Redistricting of the Midland County Commissioners Court Precincts."

The program, which is the result of an extensive study conducted by five Midland women, will be sponsored by the League of Women Voters, a non-partisan public service organization of voting in the interest of the general public. The study was conducted by Mrs. John LeBasser, chairman, Mrs. Howard Rothrock, Mrs. McMath and Mrs. Culver.

RECEPTION TO HONOR SNELLS
A reception honoring the Rev. and Mrs. R. J. Snell who are moving away from Midland will be held at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in the home of Mrs. Hal Rachel, 1410 Country Club Drive. Mr. Snell was pastor of the Trinity Episcopal Church here.

Play Director Has Unusual Complaint

Less leg and more muscles were the hope of Walter Beardley, Summer Mummer director, for two of his actors in "Dirty Work at the Crossroads" this week.

John Alcorn, six feet three inches and mostly legs, finds it difficult to stay on the tiny Summer Mummer stage.

The muscles are needed for Art Cole, pocket-edition of the hero, who is called upon to carry the heroine in his arms. The heroine weighs little enough, but so does Cole, who's gasping for breath when he gets to his curtain speech. Vitamin pills and weight lifting exercises are expected to ready Cole for opening night next Friday. But nothing short of enlarging the American Legion Hall stage will help Alcorn.

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

NEW YORK — Travelers returning here from Europe say one reason we don't get better cooperation from countries over there is that the European people don't like Americans as well as we would like to think. According to these first-hand reports, many average citizens of the Continent and England still resent our advancements and wealth. This feeling is not always reflected in the governments, who of course find it to their advantage to be friendly with Uncle Sam. This situation reminds me of what the late John Dewey said when a European lecturer asked him why Americans are so money-minded. Replied Dewey, "I don't know why we are so money-minded or whether we are—but I know why you think so. Because we pay you so much to come and tell us so."

Victor Moore remains a favorite entertainer with the young people as well as old-timers who saw him decades ago. He is one of those actors who never seems to get old, although he made his first stage appearance on an amateur night show in Boston just 80 years ago when the Gay Nineties were in full flower. Asked what advice he might have for young hopefuls out-of-town who may yearn to come to this big city and try their luck, he replied, as if speaking directly to them: "Find out if you have talent, and if you have, keep trying. Never give up. If you don't have talent, don't try to find it because you never will be able to. Talent is born in you, whether you're an actor, a painter or musician."

An unusual job has June Simkins who now lives here but who hails from Princeton, West Va. She is a purserette for Pan American World Airways, takes care of the passengers' needs, but gets to satisfy her youthful ambition of flying all over the globe. Her regular run is to South America. She gets at least 48 hours leisure between flights, and has learned to rumba, samba and mambo. Her hobby is collecting popular music records sung in foreign languages, although she admits some of them sound "weird." So far she has "Mona Lisa" sung in French, "Wheel of Fortune" in Swedish, and "Put Another Nickel In" in Danish.

Mrs. Conrad Eugene Coffield

Murphey-Coffield Nuptial Vows Read

Maggie Lee Murphey of Midland and Conrad Eugene Coffield of Rapid City, S. D., exchanged nuptial vows Saturday morning in St. Ann's Catholic Church in Midland. The Rev. T. J. Kennedy, O.M.I., performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry D. Murphey, 2204 Harvard Drive. Coffield's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Gene Coffield of Rapid City.

The double-ring ceremony was read before an altar holding arrangements of white gladiolus and white asters. Arrangements of similar flowers decorated the side altars, and the family pews were roped off in white satin.

Mrs. Albert Kelley, organist, furnished the nuptial music which included "No. 8 Offertory," C. Rossini; choral variation from "Sei Gegerusset," Kreckel; "Berceuse," Kreckel; "Elevation No. 17," Benoit; "Modal Theme No. 30," Benoit; "Motet No. 6," P. Mauri; and Wedding Processional and Recessional, Rossini. Mrs. Frank Thompson, soloist, sang "Panis Angelicus," C. Franck.

Bride Wears Tulle, Lace

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a floor length dress of white tulle and imported Chantilly lace fashioned with a chapel length train. The bodice was complimented by a petal-shaped collar and a lace yolk which extended onto her sleeves. The lace motif, embroidered with mother of pearl sequins and pearls, was repeated on her full skirt and at the points of her sleeves. She wore a half-cloche cap of lace over satin to which was caught her veil of illusion.

She carried a white rosary and a white prayer book topped with white rosebuds and stephanotis.

Mrs. Henry Murphey, Jr., of San Angelo, sister-in-law of the bride, was the matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Kay Coffield of Rapid City, S. D., sister of the bridegroom, and Katherine Lewis of Midland. The attendants wore floor length dresses of sea foam green net and lace, styled with lace bodices and lace spencer jackets with elbow-length sleeves. They wore white wrist-length gloves, and hats and shoes to match their dresses, and they carried net muffs topped with yellow roses.

Cousin Is Flower Girl

Marcia Murphey of Houston, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl. Her yellow net dress was fashioned with a full skirt, puffed sleeves and a Peter Pan collar. She wore a yellow bonnet and carried a basket of yellow roses.

The bridegroom's best man was Wayne Crawford of Ladue, Mo., and ushers were John Murphey of Midland and Henry Murphey, Jr., of San Angelo, brothers of the bride. Henry Murphey III of San Angelo, nephew of the bride, served as ring bearer, and Mike Lillis of Midland and Willis Murphey, Jr., of Fort Worth, cousin of the bride, were altar boys.

Decorations for the reception, which was held in the Murphey home, centered around crystal candelabra studded with white roses and feverfew. The wedding cake also was decorated with white roses.

For traveling the bride chose a black linen dress worn with black calf shoes and hand-bag. Her hat was of pink velvet, and she wore a corsage of white roses.

Mrs. Coffield attended Washington University in St. Louis, Mo., where she was affiliated with Delta Delta Delta Sorority. Her husband attended South Dakota School of Mines and Washington University. He also served in the U. S. Coast Guard in Alameda, Calif. His fraternity is Sigma Nu.

Out-of-city guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Gene Coffield of Rapid City, S. D.; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Webb of Las Cruces, N. M.; Mrs. F. D. Webb and Mrs. Charles Frizelle of Goldthwaite; Mrs. Ruby Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Stub and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Earls, all of San Angelo; Dr. and Mrs. Marcus Murphey of Houston; Dr. and Mrs. Willis Murphey of Fort Worth, and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Brown of Lubbock.

J. Gregory Conway, Flower Arranger, Scheduled To Speak

J. Gregory Conway, internationally known flower arranger, author and artist, has accepted the invitation of the Midland Garden Club Council to appear May 18-19, 1954, in Midland for a series of lectures and classes, officials have announced.

Conway was born in Montana, educated in California and served in Army Intelligence in World War II. He secured his degree in floral arrangement from the University of Osaka, Japan.

He is responsible for the first accredited art course in flower arrangement ever established in America, at the University of Southern California.

Conway has served as guest lecturer on floral art for the Japanese, Mexican and Cuban governments as well as at the University of Hawaii, University of California, Stanford University and the University of Georgia.

"Flowers: East-West" and "Flowers: Their Arrangement" are two of Conway's books which have made him well-known and well-loved among students of floral design.

Critics have said much of Conway's accuracy, technique and dynamic presentations of his lectures. His programs never lag in interest. He usually begins by describing the arrangement he plans to make with comments on various aspects of his work such as period, design, pattern, color and containers.

Mrs. Arnold Brown

Couple Repeats Vows In Christian Church

Vows were solemnized Saturday in the parlor of the First Christian Church for Janice Morrison and Arnold Brown of Midland. The Rev. Clyde Lindsey, pastor, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Mary Atkinson, 406 East Cowden Street, and John F. Morrison of San Francisco, Calif. Brown is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert L. Brown of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Two baskets of white and yellow gladiolus formed the background for the ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, H. R. Busby, chose a navy dress with navy and white accessories and a white carnation corsage. Mrs. R. A. Combs was the matron of honor. She also wore a navy ensemble and a corsage of yellow rosebuds.

R. A. Combs of Midland served the bridegroom as best man. Wedding guests were Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Busby, Mr. and Mrs. Combs, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Culbertson and Mrs. Mary Atkinson of Midland and Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Sabbato of Big Spring.

Following the wedding a reception was held for the wedding party in the Combs home at 1202 North Colorado Street. Mrs. Brown was graduated from Northern Oklahoma Junior College and San Francisco Business College in San Francisco, Calif. The bridegroom attended Ohio Wesleyan University and the University of Texas. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity.

Following a wedding trip to El Paso and Juarez, Mexico, the couple will be at home in Midland where Brown is employed in the Shell Oil Company exploration department.

Gloria Anguish Is Bride Of Billy Evans

Gloria Ruth Anguish, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Walter Anguish, 1106 West Texas Street, and Billy Jack Evans, son of Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Evans of the Greenwood Community, repeated nuptial vows Tuesday in the First Presbyterian Church.

The Rev. Thomas Henry Stafford, Jr., assistant pastor, read the double-ring ceremony.

Mrs. Frank Miller, organist, played several nuptial selections including "Clair de Lune," "DeBussy," "I Love Thee," "Orie," "The Lord's Prayer," "Malotte," and the traditional wedding marches.

Church decorations featured baskets of gladiolus and maroon daisies, and an arrangement of similar flowers was used on the Communion table.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a sleeveless dress of white chiffon organza over taffeta. The dress was fashioned with alternating bands of tiny tucks and eyelet embroidery. Complimenting the fitted bodice was a small collar of eyelet petals. Self-covered buttons extended from the collar to the dropped waistline onto which the skirt was gathered in soft, full folds.

Wears Lace Bandeau

Her hat was a tiny bandeau of starched white lace, and she carried a feathered bouquet of split white carnations and satin tubing centered with a white orchid and affixed to a white Bible.

Mrs. Dan H. Branham of Kermit was the matron of honor. She wore an orchid-colored organza over taffeta, styled with a sleeveless bodice, tucked across the front, and a full skirt. Tiny buttons extended from the Peter Pan collar to the waist which was marked with a wide, white belt. She wore a hat of white pique and carried a cascade of yellow carnations with satin tubing and ribbons.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Anguish chose a dress of shell pink shantung with a hat of white starched lace and white accessories. Her corsage was of feathered white carnations with satin tubing.

Mrs. Evans wore an open-weave, salmon dress of dusty pink with white lace gloves and a black hat. Her other accessories were of black and her corsage was of split white carnations.

Dan H. Branham of Kermit served the bridegroom as best man. Following the ceremony a reception was held in the First Presbyterian Church parlor.

The parents of the bride and bridegroom assisted the couple in receiving the guests. Mrs. Raymond A. Robison, sister of the bridegroom, presided at the coffee service and Jereen Jowell served the wedding cake. Mrs. Robison chose a sheer navy dress with a white carnation corsage, and Miss Jowell wore a pink linen dress, also with a white carnation corsage.

The bride's table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of gladiolus and maroon daisies. A silver coffee service stood at one end of the table and a double-ring wedding cake topped with white flowers with pale green leaves stood at the other. The cake was placed on a mirror edged with fern. A mantle arrangement of maroon daisies and gladiolus completed the decorations. Out-of-city wedding guests included Mrs. G. W. Graham, grandmother of the bridegroom; Mrs. Jack Graham, and Mrs. George W. Graham, George and Janet, all of Coahoma; Mr. and Mrs. Dan H. Branham and Laura of Kermit, and Mrs. H. P. Adkinson of El Paso.

For the wedding trip to Cloudcroft and other points in Northern New Mexico, Mrs. Evans chose a two-piece cotton sun dress with satin-stitched peach dots. The dress was topped by a short-sleeved jacket of the same material with a similar interwoven design. She wore the white orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of Midland High School and attended Austin College in Sherman. She was employed last year by the Texas Education Agency in Austin. Evans was graduated from Midland High School and Texas A & M College from which he received his commission as a second lieutenant. Pending orders to report to the U. S. Air Force, he is enrolled for placement with the Bureau of Soil Conservation, U. S. Department of Agriculture, in Lubbock.

Among the series of pre-nuptial parties complimenting the bride before her marriage was a miscellaneous shower and coffee given by Mrs. J. Holt Jowell and daughter, Jereen. The party was held recently in the Jowell home.

Decorations featured a low arrangement of pink baby's breath and maroon daisies under a white crepe paper umbrella. Guests were greeted by the hostesses, the mothers of the bride and bridegroom and the honoree.

Mrs. D. H. Branham and Mrs. Raymond Robison presided at the coffee service. Other members of the houseparty were Shirley Harrison, Joyce Howell and Rosalyn Leggett. The honoree wore a white carnation corsage and houseparty members wore corsages of pink carnations.

Mrs. Benton Howell and her daughter, Joyce, were hostesses at a kitchen shower recently honoring the bride. The party was held in the Howell home at 1306 West Ohio. Special guests were Mrs. Walter Anguish, mother of the bride; Mrs. Palmer Evans, mother of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Raymond Robison, sister of the bridegroom.

The couple also was honored at a barbecue supper given by Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Deavenport recently. The party was held at the Deavenport home at 408 North Kent Street.

Higher Average Income Noted In Midland By National Survey

NEW YORK—Midland stands out as a rich market with families earning more and spending more than those in most cities in the United States. This is revealed in a new, copyrighted survey of buying power, covering the entire nation, prepared by Sales Management.

Larger incomes made it possible for families in Midland to buy more and live better than those in most other places. This is indicated by the volume of business done by retail stores during the last year.

The figures show that this retail activity reached the high mark of $37,493,000, an increase over the 1951 record of $32,448,000. It was much more than the total to be expected for a city of its size. On the basis of population, local retail business should have been only $18.9 per cent of the national. Actually, however, it was .0229 per cent. The large-scale buying, which meant more luxurious living, was made possible by better earnings. The data shows that the 8,800 families in Midland attained a net income, after deduction of personal income taxes, of $61,121,000, which was a gain over the $40,348,000 accounted for in the prior year.

High Family Income
Divided by the number of families in Midland, it represents an income per family of $6,946. This was more than was earned generally throughout the nation, an average of $5,086 per family, and more than the $4,477 per family in the West South Central States. The figures, it is noted, are straight arithmetical averages.

Despite the good business in Midland retail stores in the year, much of the money available for spending went into reserves and investments and remained untapped. This is evidenced by the fact that only 61 cents of each dollar of income went into retail purchases. Elsewhere in the United States, people used more of their income for day-to-day living, spending 70 per cent of their cash in retail stores.

How each community stands with relation to others in purchasing ability and economic well-being is shown in the survey by a "quality of market" index. This is a weighted figure that takes into account population, income, sales and other factors. Midland's index is given as 130, or 30 per cent above the national average.

DIOR HERALDS FASHION WAR— Shall Milady Show Her Knees?

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK—A war is being waged today in which no woman can be an innocent bystander.
 Girls, it's a battle you can't sidestep, unless you go around in a bathing suit. You can't skirt this issue:
 Should my new dress flap around my hip's ole shinbone, or should it just reach down far enough to tap my hip's ole kneecap?
 It's a real ticklish issue. An argument over the length of a woman's skirt is the height of nonsense to most men. But it has launched in Paris the "war of the fashions," and it promises to divide women into two classes as nothing else has but the institution of marriage or the question of bobbed hair.
Treaty Of Exposure
 There has been more than a suspicion that for a number of years the famous Parisian designers got together before the start of each new style season. Over a few friendly "French 75's" brandy in champagne—they were reported to have reached chummy but ironclad agreements on the two crucial problems: How far down to expose milady's bosom, how far up to expose her legs.
 Everybody was happy. The designers made money. The ladies were content, because they knew no rival dared try to gain male appeal by exposing more of her epidermis than the designers had decreed, as this would immediately stamp her as "brassy, definitely not in style."

 But now that cozy cartel is a complete bust.
 Christian Dior broke it in 1947 with his rebel "new look," the inspiration for which may have been the middle tent in the Ringling Circus. Remember the billowy dresses? A small woman sighed, "I have to take three steps before my dress begins to move."

 Now Dior, after years of repentance, is leading another revolt in the opposite direction with something he calls "the live look." This, as nearly as I can gather, is his old "new look" after it had been sent to the laundry and come back shrunk.

This is the kind of dress to choose for a very formal evening in autumn. By Codi Chapman, it is white peau de soie trimmed at back with broad bands of turquoise blue tulle. Fabric will not crush easily, needs little pressing even after packing.

RUTH MILLETT SAYS— 'Ladies' Man' Husband Is Just Kidding Himself

The married man who thinks he is irresistible to women is a poor enough husband when he is discreet. He is even more impossible when he can't resist playing up to his wife's friends.

Here is a wife who writes: "I can't have friends because my husband is always patting them and calling them 'sweetheart' or either they or their husbands object. So far there have been no ugly scenes. The friends just drop me after a few visits in our home when my husband is present. I have tried to talk to my husband, but he just gets angry and says that I am jealous."

"I'm not jealous, I'm ashamed. I'm ashamed that I can't bring friends to my own home knowing that my husband will treat them with respect."

That is a sad picture of a marriage. And the pitiful part is that the wife can't make her husband understand that her reaction to his behavior isn't jealousy, but embarrassment and disgust.

Can't Hear What's Said

As long as he can mark it off to jealousy he can go on flattering himself that his wife is just jealous of him because other women find him attractive.

It's a pity such men can't hear what other women say about them. They would undoubtedly come as a shock to find out that other women react to their behavior much as their own wives do, that they find it cheap and disgusting.

But women are rarely frank in such situations. They just try to get out of them with as little embarrassment as possible. So they drop the wife or make a point to stay out of putting range of her husband and when the wife tries to point out what is happening the husband can always answer: "You're just jealous."

Traveling With Your Husband Gives You Second Honeymoon

By DOROTHY BOE
AP Women's Editor

Note to lonely wives: If your husband is a traveling man, pack your bag and go along.

It's a wonderful way to have a second honeymoon, or even a third or fourth, says Mary Andrews, strawberry blonde partner in one of Hollywood's most successful marriages.

Mary's husband is Dana Andrews, handsome, tough star of numerous movie thrillers, now on his way to South Africa for the filming of "Duel in the Jungle." Dana will be with him until time to start work on the film. They plan a leisurely motor tour of England, France and Italy before Mary goes back to Hollywood in September to start the children off to school.

Says she:

"When Dana has to go away on location for a movie, we often try to start a week or so early, and I go along. After he starts working I go home, because he's too busy then to spend much time with me."

"I think that's a good plan for most wives. If your husband has to go to a business convention, don't go along for that. When it starts you'll never see him anyway. But go ahead of time and have a vacation with him first."

Dana and Mary have been married 14 years, which is in the high brackets for Hollywood. They met at the Pasadena Playhouse, where both were working hard to become actors. But when they got married, Mary put aside ambitions for a stage or screen career. She says:

"Two careers in the same family just won't work—or at least not often. When a husband and wife are both in pictures, a normal, happy marriage is almost impossible, I believe. The woman who is working in a movie has to get up about 5 a.m. and go to the studio hours before the man, to get her hairdo and makeup.

"It's a long, hard day during the filming of any picture, and when she comes home she's too tired to do anything except collapse. Also, if she happens to get ahead faster than her husband, there's bound to be jealousy and life generally is difficult."

"My husband and children are more important to me than any other career. That's the way it is, and that's the way we like it."

There are four Andrews children: David, 19, Dana's son by his first marriage; Kathy, 11; Stephen, 8, and Susan, 5. When Mary and Dana are away on one of their jaunts, a relative of Mary's takes over the household for a few weeks.

When Mom and Pop Andrews are at home, which is a great deal of the time, they go in for family sailing parties aboard their 55-foot yawl. Says Mary:

"I don't believe in children being raised by a nurse. We both feel that children need their parents' personal care and attention. That's another reason I gave up the stage."

Former Midlander Named As Top Retreat Speaker

REV. HOWARD H. HOLLOWELL
No Stranger Here . . .

Church of Dallas, and former pastor of the First Methodist Church in Midland, will be principal speaker at the three-day event. Leading lay speaker will be Don Calame, associate secretary of the General Board of Lay Activities, Chicago, Ill.

A look at the program reveals that the Rev. Hollowell, one of Midland's most popular ministers will speak four times. At 8:30 p.m. Friday, August 7, he'll discuss the "Christian stewardship interpretation of life." Then, at 10:45 a.m. Saturday, the Rev. Hollowell will talk about "stewardship of talent and personality." At 8 p.m. Saturday, retreat-goers will hear him discuss "stewardship of the gospel, an adventure in evangelism. The closing worship services conducted by the Rev. Hollowell at 10:45 a.m. Sunday, will conclude the retreat. Calame, too will have speaking chores on two of the three days.

First, at 8:45 a.m. Saturday, Calame will talk on the "application of stewardship principle to everyday life." Then, at 2:45 p.m., the lay leader will discuss "Methodist men, some plans and objectives." A view of plans and programs of the general board of lay activities at 8:45 a.m. Sunday will conclude Calame's program duties.

Song services throughout the retreat will be directed by Oliver Bush of Abilene.

BOUND FOR TIN CUP, COLO.

Ralph M. Barron and grandson, Don Foage, left Saturday by plane for Tin Cup, Colo., on a vacation trip. They will join Mrs. Barron and other members of the family who have been in Tin Cup the last month.

Midlander, Ohioan To Exchange Vows

Mr. and Mrs. George Eaton of Geneva, Ohio, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Joan Grace, to Pfc. Herman L. Pittman, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Pittman of Midland.

The date of the wedding will be announced later. Pfc. Pittman now is serving with the Armed Forces in Korea.

New Taxicab Firm Starts Operations

A new taxicab concern, Safeway Cabs, started operations in Midland Saturday.

Bill N. Anderson and H. C. Watson, who have been in Midland Taxicab circles for some time, are the operators.

Watson said the firm is using six new cars and plans to increase the fleet to 10. New radio equipment has been installed. Offices are at 300 East Wall Street.

VISITORS 'N VACATIONS

Midlanders Entertain Out-Of-City Guests; Plan Trips To Visit Friends And Relatives

Vacation time is still in evidence as more and more Midlanders plan to visit friends and relatives in other cities.

last weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Curry, 1106 Almslee Street.

J. T. Gibson, 1308 South Colorado Street, left Friday for a short trip to Fort Worth.

GUEST FROM SNYDER—Mrs. Herman D. Morton, standing, admires a flower garden quilt made by her guest, Mrs. A. M. Curry, right, of Snyder. Now 80 years old, Mrs. Curry has been piecing and quilting quilts ever since she can remember. One of many August visitors in Midland, Mrs. Curry is a houseguest in the Morton home at 307 East Nobles Street.

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Kistner and son, Terry, 3102 Delano Street, plan to leave next week for Chicago, Ill. where they will visit for two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman L. Laux, 3500 Gaston Drive, left Saturday for Alton, Ill. where they will visit with Laux's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Laux.

Mr. and Mrs. George McEntire and daughter, Ruth, 1404 Bedford Drive have returned from a vacation trip to the West. While there they visited in San Francisco, Los Angeles, Pebble Beach, Calif., Las Vegas, Nev., and Yosemite Park. They were accompanied by Mrs. McEntire's sister, Mrs. Essie Stafford, Hotel Schaubauer.

Midlanders Have Guests
Mrs. O. A. Wooten and Mrs. Louise Davis, both of Fort Worth, have been visitors in the home of their brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Pannill, 1009 Cuthbert Street. The Pannill's young son, Fitz, accompanied his aunts back to Fort Worth for a visit.

Bill Pannill, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Pannill, 1009 Cuthbert Street, left Saturday for Hunt where he will attend the YMCA Camp.

Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Pigford, 2309 Country Club Drive, are visiting in Fort Worth. Walter, their son, will return with them. He has been attending camp there.

Rodney and Dayna Satterwhite, children of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Satterwhite, 1003 Mogford Street, are visiting Mrs. Satterwhite's sister, Mrs. Clinton Woodlock in Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Duck, and children, Jerry, Jr. and Eric, Tulsa, Okla., arrived Saturday for a visit with Mrs. Duck's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Sawyer, 2408 Storey Street.

Roy Rust, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Rust, 404 Sunset Street, has returned home from Fort Worth where he visited four weeks.

On Trip To Tennessee
Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Sanders, 315 East Hart Street, are in Tennessee for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Pharis, 3200 West Michigan Street, visited Mrs. Pharis' mother, Mrs. J. W. Davis, in Lubbock last week.

Wanda Jo Windham who lives on a ranch south of Abilene has been a guest in the home of Mr. and Whited, 1114 Almslee Street. Mrs. Landers is Mrs. H. L. Whited's mother and the J. L. Whiteds are her husband's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Pigg, Bowie, and Mrs. B. A. Rowe, Fort Worth, are visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Pigg, 3218 West Michigan Street.

Mrs. O. I. Jones and son, Bob, Fort Worth, have been guests in the home of her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Pigg, 3218 West Michigan Street. The Jones have just returned from a vacation through North Carolina, West Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee.

Mrs. Hal C. Peck, 1200 West Missouri Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Hal C. Peck and daughter, Patti, 1200 West Missouri Street, have returned from a 10 day vacation on a ranch near Sierra Blanca, El Paso and New Mexico. Mrs. Peck's mother, Mrs. Q. P. Jones, accompanied them.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Parks, 1701

Country Club Drive, have returned from a two-month tour of South Dakota, Colorado and other western states.

Mrs. Jack Burnell, Denver, Colo., has been a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Lowe, 202 South G Street. Mrs. Burnell is their niece.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Potter, Cross

Plains, have been guests in the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Potter of Midland.

Mrs. Alpha Day and daughter, Pat, 504 West Kentucky Street, plan to fly to Houston next week for a vacation with Mrs. Day's sisters, Mrs. Lillian Hill and Mrs. Ann Canada.

Deluxe Mobile James Dishwasher has 100 piece capacity. Softens water automatically. Washes, rinses, sterilizes and dries spotlessly in practically no time.

Retrieved Automatic Model Range has automatic lighting top burners, oven, and broiler. Sturdy aluminum construction is fully insulated. For city or L.P. gas.

A complete, full-size Universal Gas Range and wonderful James Dishwasher... all in one! Here's kitchen space-saving so new, so different, so conveniently practical you have to see it to believe it.

When not in use, the mobile James Dishwasher disappears into the range. At dishwashing time, you simply roll it to the sink and plug it in. No extra plumbing or installation necessary. The James automatically washes, rinses and dries all dinner dishes for eight people in minutes.

The range is wonderfully automatic too. With one-piece top, big 17 inch self-lighting oven, and Universal's exclusive In-a-Drawer Charco-Screen broiler, it has all the beauty, built-in quality, and perfect cooking performance that has been Universal for over 80 years.

Be sure to see this amazing dishwasher-in-a-range. It's one of a complete new line of 1953 Universal Gas Ranges designed to fit every need, every kitchen, and every purse. (And you'll be surprised to find how much your old range is worth on a trade-in.)

Ginette Lerol: "I love everything beautiful."

Blind Sculptress Gains Recognition

By ROSETTE HARGROVE
NEA Staff Correspondent

PARIS—"It is not astonishing," said Ginette Lerol simply. "My father was a talented engraver and my mother paints." You had to listen very carefully to catch her words. The sixty-ninth All-Women Exhibition of Painting, Sculpture and Decorative Arts here was buzzing with spectators. Most of them stopped at Ginette's clay nude, "Awakening."

"Besides," she half-whispered, "I love everything beautiful. And I have tried to express this in clay."

"Molding Shadows"

According to some experts, 18-year-old Ginette has accomplished the wonder of "molding shadows." The shadows of her own world.

For Ginette—Genevieve Lerol—has been blind since she was four.

It was at the National Institute for the Blind that she was first discovered. Raika, a famous Yugoslav sculptor, had come to teach and stayed to marvel at the girl's work.

"She has a sensitivity, a suppleness, a dexterity," said Raika, "such as I have never yet found in my seeing pupils."

War Levels Home

But Ginette sees. She has been to the Rodin Museum with her mother and with her quick fingers she has "seen" the warm, beautiful world of bronze art.

And with her sister she has been to the Sainte Chapelle. There stands the whole history of creation in bas-relief. She could not "see" it all at once for the weather was cold and she would have to stop often and warm her hands.

Her family comes from Caen. But during the heavy Allied bombing that preceded D-Day, her father died of a heart seizure. Their home was destroyed and the Lerols moved to Paris in the wake of advancing troops.

Avenues Of Expression

Her schooling was irregular. She could not master science or mathematics and so her professors let her follow her artistic instinct. Not only clay modelling, but ceramics became her avenues of expression. And in the last months she has been learning to play the organ.

"Yet," she said, "I realize that I must learn to do something useful because art is not a very dependable source of income."

And so, for several hours each day, she learns the trade of chair caning.

"But," she whispers from out of her shadowy world, "I'm not very good at it." And her hand goes out to touch the clay statue of "awakening."

The MATURE PARENT Here's Why A Child Needs Loyalty To Principles First

Some weeks ago, this column discussed the problem of a child's "divided loyalty" to his divorced parents. A reader is incensed by my advice that the child be released from the obligation of loyalty to them.

She thinks it's outrageous that I urged he be trained in loyalty to principles, instead of people. "Is this child not to honor his parents?" she asks.

We do not honor on order. We do not love by command. Both honor

Proclamation

WHEREAS, the Order of DeMolay is an association made up of many of the finest teen-age youth in our community under the sponsorship of a group of master Masons and

WHEREAS, these young men are taught and encouraged to be better sons, to serve God and their country, to be courteous and considerate with their fellow men, to be faithful to their ideals, to practice tolerance towards others and to fulfill all their obligations as an up-right and public spirited citizen, and

WHEREAS, DeMolay is not intended as a substitute for the home, the church and the school but is a most effective supplementary agency for physical, mental, moral and social development, and

WHEREAS, the young men of DeMolay are invited to exercise initiative with adult guidance and to participate in extra-curricular activities

NOW, THEREFORE, I, J. W. McMillen, Mayor of the City of Midland, do hereby proclaim Saturday, Aug. 22, 1953, as DeMolay Day in Midland, in recognition and appreciation of the achievements and objectives of the group.

(Signed) J. W. McMillen
Mayor.

BLENDED FIBER

Vicars, used as a blending fiber with wool, nylon, rayon and cotton, adds a soft, cashmere-like quality to a blend, making it moisture absorbent, resilient, nonfading when washed, and nonitching. It has other qualities of resistance to mildew and moths, good wrinkle recovery and crease resistance. When laundering, be guided by rules for care of the fiber with which it is blended.

and love have to be earned. Nor do I think that we can be genuinely loyal to anyone unless we are first loyal to principles.

If Billy, for example, has been taught to give his first loyalty to truthfulness, he inevitably becomes loyal to us. When we're flurried by the laundryman's knock at the door, we say to Billy, "Tell him I'm not in, dear."

Trained in first loyalty to truthfulness, Billy stares at us and asks, "Why do you lie, mother?" We stare back at the small son who is forcing us to consider our behavior. We realize the weakness of our position.

If we are a thoughtful person, we realize that our impulse to lie was the impulse to evade an admission of carelessness to the laundryman. We go out to him and say, "I forgot to get a new checkbook at the bank yesterday, so I cannot pay you today."

That is good for our soul as well as for Billy's. But if Billy believes he must be more loyal to Mother than to truthfulness, he dares not ask us why we lie. In confusion, he has to wonder about it by himself. Some of his trust in truthfulness is lost. One day he breaks our Limgoes ash tray.

As he has seen us evade a possible loss of the laundryman's approval by telling a lie, he evades a possible loss of our approval by telling one himself. He denies that he broke the ash tray.

And as we know he did, just as he knew we were in when we said we were out, we begin to lose trust in Billy as he has begun to lose it in us.

In a confused situation like parents' divorce, a child's training in first loyalty to a principle like truthfulness is an asset to everyone. It enables him to express his true thoughts and feelings about what has occurred without fear of being misunderstood or reproved. It gives us the insight we need into the kinds of struggles going on in him, so that in helping him with them, we come closer to him than we could if a sense of personal loyalty kept him silent.

Without first loyalty to principles, human relationships can turn into Bluebeards' castles, full of mystery, doubt and suspicion. Neither love nor honor can survive in such an atmosphere.

Life In Yugoslavia Contrasts Sharply With Living Habits Of Most Americans

By DWAIN ESTES
LJUBLJANA, YUGOSLAVIA — This adventure in International Living is filled with contrasts. Everywhere you turn and everything you see or do something, you find it possible to detect the sharp contrast with the things we know so well at home.

Take, for instance, the case of the dirty suit. Back home it would be no problem at all. The cleaners would pick it up in the morning and by nightfall, I'd have it again, ready to wear to dinner or to the movies. But not here.

My suit was dirty the other day so I scouted around for a cleaning establishment. I found one but I discovered it would take at least three weeks to get the suit cleaned and returned.

I decided to wait, since we will be gone from here by that time.

Cold-Water Shave
And there's the case of the haircut. It was a very good haircut and the price was only 13 cents.

But when the barber started to shave around my ears, he only dampened the hair with water—cold water, at that—and proceeded to slash away.

But for the Community Ambassadors, who are living here for several weeks, the experience has been an interesting one and filled with memories which will linger for a long time.

The other day I joined two Yugoslav companions on a bicycle trip to beautiful Lake Bled, about 35 miles from here in northern Yugoslavia.

Traffic Tickets
It took four hours to get there and three hours to return and, having never spent that much time on a bicycle in one day of my life, I was pretty tired at the end of the trip.

Marshall Tito has a beautiful villa, once owned by a king, on the shores of Lake Bled.

Here in Ljubljana, there are no traffic lights; indeed there are few automobiles.

Everyone either walks or rides a bicycle. A policeman takes the place of the traffic lights and stands at the intersections all day long, directing traffic.

When someone disobeys a signal, he is fined 50 dinars on the spot. He can pay the policeman if he likes or he can plead not guilty and go before the judge. The judge usually boosts the fine up to 200 dinars.

Stores Take Siesta
There is no refrigeration here so fresh vegetables, fruit, meat and milk must be purchased each day. There are no grocery stores as we know them in the United States although there are some small shops where canned goods and condiments can be purchased.

These stores, incidentally, are closed between noon and 8 p.m. for a "siesta period."

American films are more popular here than any other kind.

A film is shown here until the time when the movie house is less than half-filled. Then a new one is brought in. Seats in the front of the house cost 10 cents, those in the middle 10 cents and those in the rear 13 cents.

"Bathing Beauties"
The first American film to be shown here after the break with Russia was "Bathing Beauties," which drew 300,000 customers. One man is reported to have seen it 40 times.

The Community Ambassadors one day visited a turbine factory here, the only one of its kind in Yugoslavia. Thirty per cent of the workers are women since there are not enough men to fill the jobs.

The average worker makes 90,000 dinars a year—the equal of about $300. They have a 48-hour week, too.

Through an interpreter, I talked one day with the maid working here at the home of Zlatner Peter, with whom I live.

Treasured Appliance
She explained about everything, including the wood and coal stove. But her pride and joy was the electric hot plate.

"It's worth more to me than all Yugoslavia," she said. "It saves me so much work."

Our group was fortunate to sit in on a press conference held by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt on July 20. She was a very kind and gracious lady and made a lasting impression on us. There were two American reporters present—Mr. Singleton of The Associated Press and Mr. Raymond of the New York Times.

Accents On McCarthy
Mrs. Roosevelt was asked about Senator McCarthy and she replied that she had not been in a single meeting in Yugoslavia where she had not been asked about him.

She said she was astounded at the importance which Senator McCarthy seemed to have in the minds of European people. They seem to think that, because of him, the freedom of the U. S. is in peril.

She explained to those present that he did not hold this amount of importance to the people of the United States.

CIRCUS FILM SLATED
A children's film, "Circus Day in Our Town," will be shown during the Children's Hour at 4 p.m. Monday in the Children's Room in the Midland County Public Library. Mrs. Lucile Carroll, librarian, has announced. Stories about circus animals also will be told.

Nazarenes Plan Special Services

Special services are scheduled for Sunday morning at the Church of the Nazarene, 300 South Big Spring Street. The Rev. F. W. Rogers, pastor of the church, has announced.

The Rev. Curtis Smith, Bethany, Okla., will speak at the morning worship service at 11 o'clock on the subject, "The Christian College."

An all-male quartet composed of students from the Bethany-Penick College in Bethany will furnish the music. They are Bill Byrd, Dick Osborn, Bill Sullivan and Maurice Moore.

Magazine Features Midland Studio

Harry Fitch Studios of Midland and Iowa are featured in the current issue of Studio Light, published by the Eastman Kodak Company of Rochester, N. Y.

Calling Fitch one of the first to emphasize the importance of modern equipment in photography, the magazine's five-page story pictures several Midlanders who were photographed at the studio here. Lighting diagrams, showing how the portraits were taken, also are given.

The magazine also notes movies made by the Fitch Studio for advertising purposes and points out that many of the firm's portraits have been chosen for hanging at national and state conventions.

Cookbooks are so easily smeared that transparent plastic jackets might be a good investment.

Cubes of stale plain cake may be arranged in the bottom of dessert dishes and chocolate pudding poured over them for a quick and delicious dessert!

Thrifty tip: When you make a packaged pudding, use evaporated milk diluted with an equal amount of water for the milk called for in the package directions.

Will You Tell... The Truth?

YES NO

Do you consider price important in buying?

Does style mean anything to you?

Does workmanship mean anything to you?

Are you just a little hard to satisfy — a little bit particular?

How about value? Would you rather have something better... something of really fine quality... even if it cost just a little more?

If the answer is YES to all of the above questions, will you come in please? We want to take your picture!

Bob Byron

Voted by the boys at Alcatraz, "Most likely to Return." Alias Sir Stafford Crunch, alias Nick "No fingers" Aducci, etc., etc.

This popular radio announcer for Station K.C.R.S., a standout favorite especially with young people, answered "yes" to all five of the above questions — the same as you did. That's why he selected Harry Fitch for his photographer. Because Bob is closely associated with the entertainment world, or "show business" he quite naturally would want a rather dramatic portrait, that shows his happy, engaging personality. We think Bob's portrait as well as his voice shows why young Midland says, "Bob is Tops."

No "color process," new or old can compare with our fabulous Brush Oils. Our artist Francis Dennis is "tops" in her field too. Let your own eyes tell you the truth—no other "color process" can compare with our fabulous Brush Oils.

Every House-Owner Wants Pretty Lawn

(One of a series of articles on gardening in Midland, prepared and submitted by the Midland Council of Garden Clubs.)

Almost every Midland resident has the care of a lawn, and a poorly kept lawn can spoil the looks of the most attractive house. A lawn is truly a frame for a home and a neat green area is a pleasure to the householder and to the passerby.

The best planting time for grass in Midland is in the Spring or in the Fall, late August and September. A new lawn should have a good start before the first Fall freeze. Grass should be planted in leveled topsoil and not on an accumulation of building debris or on subsoil which has been turned up to the surface. The soil should be loosened to a depth of about eight inches and humus added, compost, peatmoss or manure. Soil sulphur may be added, three to five pounds to each hundred square feet, to combat alkalinity.

The most important rule in starting a lawn is that it must be kept damp continually until the grass is up and the roots are established well. Types of Grass Listed

Two main types of grass are in use in Midland—Bermuda grass and St. Augustine. Bermuda is started from seeds or from runners. It spreads rapidly, is green over a long period and has deep roots which help it over a period of drought. St. Augustine is started from runners. It makes a thick, coarse carpet and will grow under trees and in shade. It requires more water to start than does Bermuda but less watering after it is established.

Some kind of barrier must be placed between lawn and garden area to keep runners out of the flower beds. Redwood strips, metal gutter tin, bricks or cement can be used for this purpose but in spite of this some grass probably will get into the flower beds and this is hand pulled when the ground is moist.

Proper mowing practices will help keep a lawn looking trim. In the Summer the mower should be set so that cut grass is one and one-half to two inches high. Mowing in two directions will give a smoother job. When grass is growing fast, as in mid-Summer, it needs to be mowed once a week. Be sure that the blades are sharp so they don't chew off the grass but cut clean. Some authorities recommend letting clippings remain on the lawn to add humus and mulch. Others feel that as the clippings yellow they look unsightly so they remove them, preferably to a compost pile. Don't waste those clippings. They are really valuable.

Crab grass like many weeds is an annual and grows only from seed so if it is hand picked and not allowed to go to seed it can be conquered.

Few weeds can survive in a thick, well-tended lawn. Rye grass, which is a nuisance in the Spring, will be curbed by mowing and is sometimes recommended to alternate with Bermuda thus extending the time a lawn is green. It also can be planted for over the Winter in a new lawn and plowed under before a Spring planting of Bermuda.

Watering alone will not keep a lawn green. Fertilizer must be added because our soil is very porous and nutrients are carried through it rapidly and do not stay where the grass plant can use them. This subject will be discussed in next week's column.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Homan, 1204 West Louisiana Street, have returned from a trip to Las Vegas, Nev., and Lake City, Colo. While in Colorado they fished.

Mrs. H. N. Phillips, a delegate to the recent Altrusa International convention in Los Angeles, reported to the club Thursday on Altrusa's growth during the last two years and the work of its four major committees.

The group met in the home of Maria Spencer, 1606 North I Street. "Altrusa is on the march in every phase of undertaking," Mrs. Phillips said, "and is becoming a mighty force for the community good in every country where clubs have been organized."

Reports showed that most effective work has been done in the field of international friendship, she said, pointing out that 29 girls from 11 Latin American countries had been helped in 24 institutions of learning.

Another project Mrs. Phillips mentioned was a fund for aiding mature women who have had to support themselves for the first time. The Altrusa Club has provided these women with job counseling, special training, scholarships and equipment.

Discusses Committees

Continuing her discussion of the four major committees of the club, Mrs. Phillips reported on the vocational guidance program. Through this, career clinics, scholarships, loans, grants, clothing, food tuition and music lessons have been provided for numerous girls throughout the United States and foreign countries.

Under the work of the public affairs committee, she said political awareness ranks first. Other projects which Altrusa has helped with include housing, health, education, adult and youth recreation, family groups, handicapped children, donations to hospitals, dental clinics, speech clinics for the handicapped, schools for retarded and exceptional children, foster homes, day nurseries, slum clearance, craft classes, promotion of cultural activities, organization of public libraries, sponsoring Friends of the Library and economic workshops for homemakers.

Grace Wallace, retiring second vice president of Altrusa International, reported the highlights of the recent convention in Los Angeles, and Mrs. L. M. Sager discussed Midland's Ambassador to Yugoslavia project which the club helped in financing.

Fifteen members attended the meeting.

Crab grass is a wide bladed pest which rapidly invades a lawn, especially parts which receive a great deal of water. There are commercial preparations for its control. If there is a good mulch around each grass plant crab grass seeds will have difficulty getting started.

Watering alone will not keep a lawn green. Fertilizer must be added because our soil is very porous and nutrients are carried through it rapidly and do not stay where the grass plant can use them. This subject will be discussed in next week's column.

Pi Lambda Theta Chooses Midlander

Mrs. Lucy Maashburn, 2007 West Washington Street, was initiated last week as a member of Pi Lambda Theta, honorary national association for women in education at the Colorado State College of Education in Greeley, Colo.

Mrs. Maashburn is elementary supervisor for the Midland public schools. This Summer she has been working on a master of arts degree at the college.

Lads Walk 12 Miles For Reading Matter

CUSHING, OKLA. —(AP)— A 12-year-old farm boy, Albert Ringwald, walks 12 miles into town—and back again—to get books to read.

At times he catches rides for part of the 24-mile round trip.

About every 10 days he checks out 12 to 15 books at the Cushing library and takes them home in a canvas sack. A brother, Ronald, 14, goes along frequently to help carry the volumes.

County Library Receives Books

A number of new books, both fiction and non-fiction, have been added to the shelves in the Midland County Public Library, Mrs. Lucille Carroll, librarian, has announced.

In the fiction field there are "The Corner Store" (Idell), "Heather Mary" (Scott), "The Dark Angel" (Walter), "The Kentuckians" (Giles), "Short Novels of Colette", "Seven and One-Half Cents" (Biswell), "Beyond This Place" (Cronin), "The Big Eye" (Ehrlich), "West of the Sun" (Fahnestock), "Gunsmoke Bonanza" (Marlin), "Sherper's Pursue" (Hann), "Wind River Range" (Austin), "In Quest of Eden" (Cunningham), "Gypsy Girl" (O'More), "Hang By Your Neck" (Kane), "Inland Passage" (Coxe), "Suddenly a Corpse" (Masur), "What a Body!" (Green), "A Shot of Murder" (Lama), "Murder in a Hurry" (Lockridge), and "Night at the Mocking Widow" (Dickson).

In the non-fiction field are "The Loyalty of Free Men" (Barth), "George Washington, Vol. 8" (Freeman), "North From Malaya" (Douglas), "The Rommel Papers" (Rommel), "The U. S. and Mexico" (Dill), "The Long Way Round" (Frank), "U. S. 40" (Siewart), "Gods, Graves and Scholars" (Graham), "With a Quiet Heart" (Galliene), "Lady With a Spear" (Clark), "Fishing in the West" (Carhart), "How to Carry on a Conversation" (Nutley).

"Sunset Flower Arrangement Book", "Flowers, East-West" (Conway), "The Human Hand" (Stevenson), "Handwriting Analyzer" (Meyer), "The Tyranny of Words" (Chase), "Professional Short Story Writing" (Mowery), "A Critical History of Children's Literature" (Meliga), "Writers and Artists' Yearbook 1953" "Handbook of Skills and Stunts" (Eisenberg) and "The Art of Detection" (Fisher).

The library is located on the first floor of the Midland County Courthouse and open every day from 10:30 a.m. until 6 p.m.

Connecticut Wrapper

HARTFORD, CONN.—(AP)— Most people think that tobacco in the Western Hemisphere is grown only in Cuba or the southern part of the United States. However, a small, fertile valley in Connecticut and Massachusetts produces annually a 60-odd million dollar crop of tobacco known as Connecticut shade-grown wrapper.

DON'T STARVE TO TAKE OFF UGLY FAT

Here is a sensible home recipe for taking off ugly fat without starvation diet. Just ask your druggist for improved Barconate. Mix with grapefruit juice as directed on label and take according to directions. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the sensible, easy way to reduce return the empty bottle for your money back. Nearly five million bottles sold in Texas in nine years.

Mrs. A. R. Henderson, 1509 Tudor St., Paris, Texas, wrote us as follows: "I have lost about 75 pounds and reduced my waist line eleven inches taking Barconate."

Midland Paper Of '98 Says Cornet Band Discourses Sweet Music For Passing GI's

"The War Is On"—proclaimed the boldface banner on the Saturday, April 23, 1898, issue of The Daily Reporter of Midland, Texas.

"Lay On McDuff And—Be He Who Cries Hold! Enough!" said the drop head on the lead story, datelined Key West, April 22, which told of the surrender of the Spanish ship Buena Vista to the U. S. battleship Nashville—the first prize of the Spanish-American War.

The ancient copy of what probably was Midland's first daily newspaper was brought to The Reporter-Telegram by Mrs. W. Bryant, 101 North C Street, a long-time Midland resident and daughter of Mrs. Mollie McCormick, 217 West Tennessee Street, pioneer Midlander.

A tearsheet from the Houston Semi-Weekly Post, dated Aug. 11, 1889: sample ballots of early-day elections, and other items of days gone by also were exhibited by Mrs. Bryant, the former Leona McCormick.

"I found them while going through some old things of mother's," Mrs. Bryant stated. "Thought you might want to see them. But please don't lose them."

But back to the Vol. 1, No. 11 issue of The Daily Reporter.

World News Coverage

War news took up practically all of the Page One space of the four-page, tabloid-size (four column) newspaper. Dispatches from Havana, Dallas, Washington, Madrid, Las Volas, Canary Islands; Mare Island, Navy Yard, Calif.; New York, Fort Worth and London were featured.

"This port was blockaded this morning by the United States squadron under command of Capt. Sampson," said a bulletin-type story from Havana.

"We are prepared today to capture or destroy any force Spain could possibly send against the Pacific coast," said Rear Admiral Kirkland in a dispatch from Mare Island.

A Washington datelined story said Secretary Long had laid down hard and fast rules forbidding the giving out of information concerning the movements of United States fleets.

A story from Madrid said a legal decree had been issued calling out 30,000 volunteers for the reserve army.

Exvey's Parting Statement

Then there was the parting statement of Mr. De Carantha, Spanish minister, as he left Washington, D. C., as follows: "It is no longer a question of retaining Cuba. That was merely a question of territory. Now a higher purpose is in view—the honor and dignity of Spain—since the United States has continuously ordered Spain to vacate Cuba and has made the infamous charge that we are responsible for the murder of the poor men of the Maine. These charges are made with the kick of the boot and Spain will resist them. There should be no mistake about that."

And on the home front, a story said "The much looked-for troops passed through last night, enroute for the scene of action. All Midland turned out and the cornet band discoursed sweet music followed by great cheers."

"Remember the baseball meeting at the Llano this evening at 3 o'clock sharp," another story announced.

Lum Medlin Obituary

The aged issue also chronicled the death of Lum Medlin, who is said to have been the first white settler in these parts. The story of his death was printed, as follows:

"The Grave—Lum Medlin is no more. He died of pneumonia yesterday and was buried in the city cemetery. He refused medical aid. His family and friends mourn his loss. No particulars."

Among other items appearing in the 1898 issue were:

"What is Midland going to do about the war? There is now a splendid opportunity for some patriotic gentlemen to put the ball to rolling."

"N. H. Ellis sold to S. H. Purcell 200 stock cattle at $18.50 per head."

"The cattle shortage is all right; it's the money shortage that is agitating some of our best cowmen and is playing thunder with our ducks."

"We are sorry to have to chronicle the death of Nathan Underwood, a half-brother to Mesdames Reese and John Ray, Thursday, of pneumonia. The Reporter condoles with the sorrowing relatives and friends."

War Paint Applied

"Midland is putting on war paint. Flags are being hoisted bearing the stars and stripes aloft, with a common purpose by all the people, both Northern and Southern. We stand united once more."

"J. B. Irving sold to A. F. Crowley 600 yearlings Friday at about $18 or $19."

"Seventy cars are ordered to Odessa on the 25th, and cattle will be shipped from that point."

"J. A. Peters came in from the JAL Ranch and makes another large shipment today from the Midland stockpens."

"E. Torrence is here to receive the Cross Tie cattle purchased last January and will perhaps be ready to ship out by the first."

"Lon Fisher sold to Melville & Pankey 1050 of those very fine BLACK yearlings at the modest price of $30. Who says the black cattle are not in? These were shipped yesterday to the northern markets."

"Chase Bros. ship from Big Spring on the 25th to Kansas."

"H. D. Rogers shipped 8 cars of cattle from Big Spring to Kansas today."

"Bryan Bros. shipped out the Smitsen cattle from Big Spring a day or two ago."

Gasoline Engine Arrives

"N. B. Gentry, the indefatigable worker, has just received his 2 horse power gasoline engine for sawing wood. We have about perfected arrangements and will employ his power in running the big Reporter presses."

A call, too, was sounded for funds with which to finance The Daily Reporter, which carried no advertising. The article said: "If we want to get all the war news at one sitting we must pay for it. Our contract calls for so many words and when we get our complement, we go to press. It is an easy matter to raise the amount necessary for a full report. What say you? As usual a few men have to bear the brunt. It has been so always. What we want is to be able to give fuller reports on everything, not as a money-making scheme, but for the public information."

Election Ballots

The Democratic Party sample ballots brought to The Reporter-Telegram by Mrs. Bryant also bring back memories.

William J. Bryan was listed as the presidential candidate on one of the ballots. Arthur Sewall was his running mate for the vice presidency. Charles A. Culbertson was seeking the governorship of Texas on the Democratic ticket. George T. Jeter, father of the late Gov. Beauford Jeter, was the candidate for lieutenant-governor.

VOL. I. MIDLAND, TEXAS, SATURDAY, APRIL 23 1898 No. 11

THE WAR IS ON.

LAY ON MCDUFF AND — BE HE WHO CRIES HOLD! ENOUGH!

OUR LATEST ADVICES.

Key West, April 22.—12:35 p. m.—The first prize is the steamer Buena Vista from Barcelona, bound for Rathadom with lumber. The battleship Nashville fired blank shots, which the Spaniards ignored. This was followed by a shot from the slooper. The Buena Vista then surrendered with crew of twenty men, and the Nashville towed her prize into this harbor at 10 o'clock this morning and put prize crew on board. News of the capture of the Spaniards set the people in Key West frantic with enthusiasm and all work has been suspended and the docks crowded with people.

Havana, April 22.—3:30 p. m.—This port was blockaded this morning by the United States squadron under command of Capt. Sampson. When the American fleet appeared eight miles off the island from Havana, the big gun at Moro Castle opened fire, which was quickly returned by shots from the big guns on board battleships. A regular fusillade from America: ships followed and the Castle was greatly damaged. The Spanish cruiser, Alfonso, in the harbor was struck by a cannon ball and as a result was sunk. Great excitement prevails in Havana, but Gen. Blanco is determined to hold the city at all hazards. Heavy breastworks have been thrown up around the city and heavy artillery planted to guard against any attack which may be made by insurgent army.

Dallas, April 22.—It is semi-officially and (doubted) that the Harvey is being mounted with two Colt's 45, two Field, one carbine and one druggists mortar and pestle, and float grandly down the Trinity into deep water, where she will set sail for Cuban waters.

Washington, April 22.—A proclamation notifying all nations that Havana harbor has been blockaded was signed by the president today.

Madrid, April 22.—A legal decree has been issued calling out 30,000 volunteers for the reserve army.

Las Volas, Canary Islands, April 22.—Spanish steamer, Monterros, left here on April 15 with a valuable cargo for Havana. It would prove a rich prize for American cruisers.

Mare Island, Navy Yard, Cal., April 22.—We are prepared today to capture or destroy any force Spain could possibly send against the Pacific coast, said Rear Admiral Kirkland.

Washington, D. C., April 22.—Secretary Alger took proclamation calling for volunteers to the White House for the President's signature when he went to the cabinet meeting. The call was for 100,000 men to serve one year.

Washington, April 22.—The President issued blockade proclamation at 2 p. m. today, announcing the blockading of all ports on the north coast of Cuba, and Port Cienfuegos, all the south coast.

Washington, April 22.—Secretary Long has laid down, hard and fast, rules forbidding giving out information concerning the movements of the United States fleets.

Now is a good time for the boys to make war on the civil offices, the president's call can't touch them. Our rates are reasonable.

Remember the Base Ball meeting at the Llano, this evening at 3 o'clock, sharp. Every body feeling any in the National sport, should attend.

Lamesa Fiesta Date Stated September 17; Thousands Expected

LAMESA — Distinguished guests and a wide variety of entertainers will be featured at the second annual "Lamesa Fiesta," to be held in Lamesa September 17.

Last year's event proved successful, officials said, and an even larger celebration is planned for this year.

The residents of Lamesa and surrounding territories will join with Latin Americans in the observance of the 149th anniversary of the liberation of the peoples of the Republic of Mexico.

Tim Cook and Thomas Gomez, co-chairman for the colorful observance, have indicated that thousands of visitors from all parts of Texas and Mexico are expected to participate in and view the festival.

Special invitations have been extended to such executives as the governor of Texas and the president of the Republic of Mexico, along with many other high-ranking officials. Members of the Texas Good Neighbor Committee will be on hand.

The occasion will feature colorful dancing exhibitions, oratorios, and a spectacular parade in addition to Bomba dancers from South of the Border, with the possibility of Mexican charro groups.

Learn To Relax

At the end of a session of cleaning, relax like a rag doll. One way to do this is to sit on the edge of a straight chair, spread your feet widely apart, and lean forward limply, with arms and head slowly drooping between your knees. When you're as close to the floor as you can get, swing your head and arms slightly for a few minutes.

Dan Cupid Has Plenty Of Practice In Shooting Arrows At Royal Hearts

By RICHARD KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent

The path of true, royal love is about as smooth as a rollercoaster ride in a high wind.

But Dangerous Dan Cupid, the well-known archer, is a man of unlimited patience. When he gets two people in his sights, romance is the result. He may have to have a King renounce a throne, or have a Queen pass a new law, but he finds a way.

The happy ending that now seems possible for Princess Margaret and Capt. Peter Townsend would be only Dan Cupid's latest triumph. There have been many others.

When Princess Margaret was a pretty, tousle-haired girl of five, for example, there was the incident involving her uncle. He did something which his little niece might have found hard to understand—then. He gave up his throne for love.

Chances are that she understands his motivations today. For she has been faced with much the same situation that King Edward VIII faced in 1936—a love that the cabinet and church frowned on.

dream man, handsome, dashing, debonaire and securely titled.

His circle of friends was wide and playful. But gradually the newspapers began to notice that one couple was more frequently in his company than others. The Prince would dine with them, take them to his country place for weekends, go to the Riviera with them.

This couple was Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Simpson. He was in the shipping business. She was dark, beautiful and American. She was Wallis Warfield, originally from Baltimore, of a good but unwealthy family. She had once been Mrs. Earle Spencer, but she'd been divorced.

As long as the nappy threesome stuck together, it wasn't an especially juicy bit of gossip. But, in the Spring of 1936, the Prince began going places with only one Simpson at a time. The one was Mrs. Simpson. That started tongues wagging, but good.

What made it more exciting was that, by this time, the Prince was the King. In January, his father had died. The coronation was set for May, 1937, but it never came off.

Where To Read It

As the Summer of 1936 wore on, the name of Wallis Simpson disappeared from the British newspapers. Not knowing what else to do, English papers completely ignored the affair. But the American papers happily were recording every date.

The English papers did not even report one especially vital statistic on October 27: Mrs. Wallis Warfield Spencer Simpson had won an uncontested divorce.

Secret Spills Out

But all was not so quiet in the back rooms of Buckingham Palace as it was on front pages. The King had made known his definite intention of marrying Mrs. Simpson, and making her his queen. The reaction of the cabinet and church was much the same as Margaret first heard: a roar of objection.

Led by Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, the powers-that-were tried to do something about the affair.

"I will brook no interference in my personal affairs," Edward asserted.

Finally, the people were let in on the state secret and headlines blared the truth.

Marriage Is Legal

The British people today are almost solidly behind Margaret; they didn't cotton to Wallis Simpson. Her Americanism they could take, but not so her two divorces and her reputation as a nightclubber.

Edward offered a compromise, a "morganatic" marriage, which would have meant the two were wed legally, but she could not be a queen, nor would any children have a claim to the throne. But Baldwin said the English law did not have a provision for that type of union.

The people wondered why they didn't just remain "friends," a convenient arrangement much used by earlier English kings. But Edward, the erstwhile playboy, held out stolidly for a legal marriage.

The whole business had reached an ugly impasse, when Wallis took steps. She left England for the Riviera, and announced she was ready and willing to withdraw from an "unhappy and untenable" situation.

Not so Edward. On Dec. 11, 1936, he announced in a memorable broadcast to the world his abdication and went to rejoin the woman he loved. As the Duke and Duchess of Windsor, they've lived a nomadic life—Paris, New York, Cannes—but they've been together. For the privilege of being with his love Edward gave up more than any man ever had. Margaret knows why.

Murphey Attends Missouri School

John Willis Murphey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Murphey, 2304 Harvard Avenue, is among 2,000 students attending Summer school at Washington University in St. Louis, Mo.

The session, which ends August 26, has included six education workshops in human relations, elementary curriculum, science, education, education of partially sighted children, economic education and development and remedial reading. Also special workshops in art for junior and senior high school students and about 300 regular graduate and undergraduate courses.

The woman he loves: The Duke of Windsor and the woman for whom he gave up a throne 17 years ago have a smiling reunion in New York last Spring after the duke returned from England.

Life Saving, Water Safety Instruction Slated At Pagoda

Junior and senior life saving and water safety courses under the sponsorship of the American Red Cross are scheduled for the remainder of the Summer. Rosebud Stacy, executive secretary for the Midland Red Cross chapter, announced Saturday.

The Pagoda Swimming Pool on West Highway 80 will be the scene and classes in the senior course are due to be held Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of the coming week and the same days of the following week. Hours will be from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Persons 16 years of age and older are eligible for the senior course.

The junior course for those 12 to 16 years and the instructor aide course for those 14 to 18 years will be held starting sometime after August 10. The dates and times will be announced later.

Instructors in the courses include Joyce Howell, George Friday, Charles Worthen, and Lois Black.

A charge of $3 for pool use will be assessed.

Interested persons are asked to call 2-3951 or contact the Red Cross office at 619 West Indiana Street.

Visiting Old England Likened To Stroll Through Yesterday

By J. H. ALLISON
Special Correspondent
LONDON, ENGLAND — Most everyone knows a typical Englishman. THE typical Englishman, Mr. English, if you please. That is the impression I have gained here in talking with Englishmen of various stations in life. Sir Winston appears to be a living link of England's past with its present—as he looks forward to and works for a brighter future. To explain him is as impossible as to explain England. It would, I believe, be wrong to view him politically. He is a leader of the Conservative Party because he just happens to belong to this now strongest party in the British Parliament. But the party to him, many Britishers believe, is just the frame which gives coherence to a true Englishman—rooted deep in the old history of the empire. Sir Winston is a rugged individual, often stubborn and sometimes hard to understand—like the England he so forcefully represents. Roaming Through Yesterday Visiting here and there in the British Isle, the question usually asked by most Britishers is, "What do you think of England?" And that put me to thinking. "What do

I think of England following my week's stay here?" Well, it is kinda like "roaming through yesterday!" This feeling of living in a world of yesterday strikes one most forcefully when traveling through England. There are, of course, the quaint old towns and cities whose history goes back hundreds and hundreds of years. Many of the old villages and hamlets carry their many centuries with a dignified grace which ignores the hustle and bustle of our modern times. Stopping while on a coach tour to Shakespeare's birthplace, Stratford-on-Avon, we had coffee in a "tea shop" in a small country town. Heavy oak beams, black with age, formed the low ceiling. Old brass, copper and tin pots and pans were hanging around. In the great open grate there was, of course, no fire, but one easily could imagine big logs burning there, lighting and warming the room, filling it with its warm glow. These open fires are found in most English homes. They are not economical, yet even where electric fires are used, they are masked so as to give an open fire impression. Inquiring why they so love this antiquated form of space heating, one discovers it is just because it is antiquated that they prefer it. "You know, sir, this tea shop was here already 400 years ago, and most of the time in the same family." Almost everything seems antiquated here. The little market place with its old church and houses which stood there in the Middle Ages; the palaces and the courts of justice; the old City of London which still is a vital nerve center of international finance and trade, and, of course, many of the old customs. One naturally expects to feel the cold breath of history when walking through Westminster Abbey which, in its original form, was built in 1066, even before William the Conqueror came to England. Strangely, however, it is not a cold breath at all. It is the warm breath of life one feels, particularly when remembering that only a few weeks ago the English queen was crowned here with the Crown of Edward the Confessor, and observing all the ritual which has come down almost a thousand years. Time Stood Still It was a pity to have missed this pageant of history, but I was right back in times long past when we visited the Tower of London where the Crown Jewels are kept, and which still is used to hold "state prisoners." If Queen Elizabeth I were to come back today, she would find no change. The Guards of the Tower, the so-called Beefeaters, dressed as they were in her time, would do her honors with the same ceremonies—as if time had stood still during all those centuries. It is impossible to describe in detail here all the architectural features of medieval and even ancient England, or to try to sketch the peculiar old uniforms of the guards, the queen's watermen and others; the robes of splendor of the civil dignitaries, such as the Lord Mayor of London and his aldermen. These, one can see in London almost any day, along with the picturesque, scarlet uniforms of the guards, either doing sentry duty in their high, black, bear-skin hats before Buckingham Palace or in their shiny helmets and breast plates, and with drawn swords in White Hall. One feels almost inclined to smile at such things, until one has the good fortune to go to the City of London at the same time the queen wants to visit it. There is no boundary between the "city" and the rest of London, but there would be a revolution if the queen or any other reigning head of the country dared to enter without permission. Others come and go as they please, but not the queen. When she wants to enter the City of London, a herald is sent before her to ask formal permission to enter. An Ancient Safeguard This permission, naturally, is given by the Lord Mayor who, attended by his robed aldermen, hands over the key to the city to the queen. It is not just a question of doing honor to the reigning head of the state, it is an ancient rite and a safeguard. Likewise, a king or a queen are the only persons who are not permitted to enter the British House of Commons—this because in the Seventh Century an English king tried to force his will on his Parliament. The British House of Commons, almost in direct opposition to this formalism and traditionalism, is—in its present form—an almost modern building. But attending one of its sittings very quickly brings to mind how very closely bound to tradition is this modern and efficient machine of state. The House is ruled, like the entire country, not so much by written laws and rules as by precedent, that is by tradition reaching back to "customs and usages" of times long past. This tradition is the unwritten constitution and the basic law of the land—linking the eternal yesterday with the today and the tomorrow.
