NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

God Is Waiting To Hear And Help You

I HAD A SPEAKING ENGAGEMENT in a Western city and was sitting backstage in the municipal auditorium in the midst of a litter of scenery...

Suddenly, there was a tap on my shoulder and a man's voice said, "I must speak to you."

"Not now," I said. "I'm terribly sorry, but I've got to make a speech immediately."

He persisted and finally I told him that I would be glad to talk to him after my speech if he would only wait until I got through.

He pointed out where he was sitting with his wife and later, as I spoke, I looked at their seats. He wasn't there, but I did notice him walking up and down off stage, obviously very distressed.

WHEN I HAD FINISHED speaking and greeting the people who came up afterwards, I looked for him, but he wasn't there.

As I left, an attendant handed me a card which he said a man who couldn't wait had left me. On it was the name of a person holding a rather important political position in that city.

When I got back to my hotel, I telephoned him. "Why didn't you wait?" I asked.

"You were busy. It was late, and I had to take my wife home. She's out taking the baby-sitter home now."

"What did you want?" "I wanted you to pray with me," he answered.

"I thought if you would pray with me, I could get some peace. But it's too late for me to see you now."

Then an idea occurred to me. "If you really want to pray, how about praying now, over the telephone?"

HE SEEMED SURPRISED AT the novel idea suggested, but I persuaded him that, after all, we didn't have to be together physically.

Because that telephone line was enough to join us mentally and spiritually, and that the Lord was at both ends of the line, as well as in between.

Then I shut my eyes and prayed for this man over the telephone. When I finished, I asked, "Will you pray?"

There was sobbing at the other end of the line. "I can't talk," he said.

"Go on and cry for a minute or two, and then pray," I told him. "Tell the Lord everything that is bothering you. This is a private line and, even if anyone is listening in, we're just a couple of voices no one knows."

Then he started hesitating at first, then with impetuosity. He poured out a great deal of unhappy stuff over the telephone: hate, frustration, failure—a mass of it. Finally, he ran down. "Dear God," he concluded, "I have a lot of nerve to ask you to do anything for me, because I never did anything for you. But I guess you know what a no-account I am, even though I put on a big front. I am so sick of this all, dear God. Please help me."

THEN I PRAYED AGAIN AND asked the Lord to answer that man's sincere prayer. "Lord," I said, "right now, at the other end of this telephone line, put your hand on this man and give him peace." Then I stopped and there was a long silence.

Finally, the man spoke with obvious relief. "I will never forget this as long as I live. For the first time in months I feel peaceful and happy and clean inside."

You don't even need a telephone to take your troubles to God. He is everywhere, waiting to hear and help you. Remember His promise: "Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest." Those who have tried Him know that He will.

Moving Started By Penney Store

The J. C. Penney Store began moving Saturday night into its brand-new building in the 300 block of North Main Street.

Gerome Grayum, manager of the store, said the doors will remain closed until later in the week, when a formal opening of their new home will be held.

Actually, the moving involved only a small amount of stock and fixtures, Grayum explained, but the arranging of stock in the new store will require several days.

The new building is the most modern in the Texas chain of Penney stores and includes the latest innovations in store construction and in merchandising facilities.

Ranch Lease Deal Brings Lawsuit

16 Plaintiffs Ask Damages, Royalty Slice

A $160,000 damage suit involving land included in a $5,000,000 Midland County oil lease deal reported 10 days ago had been filed Saturday in 70th District Court.

In addition to the damages, the suit asks that a receiver be appointed for the leasing of one section of the land and that an order be entered which, in effect, would perpetuate a 15-year term royalty agreement due to expire next January.

Bringing the suit was a group of 15 individuals and a corporation, who claim one-half non-participating royalty on 640 acres of the 19,000-acre Dora Roberts Ranch leased recently to the Forest Oil Corporation and the Cities Service Oil Company.

Named as defendants in the suit were Docia Brown and her husband, L. E. Brown, of Fort Worth, and Elsie Waters and her husband, Frank Waters, of Houston.

One Section Involved Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Waters are daughters of Mrs. Roberts. The one section of land involved is Section 45, Block 41, T-3-S, T&P Railway survey.

The petition asserts that on Jan. 16, 1939, C. O. and Claude McCauley sold the property to Mrs. Roberts, reserving one-half of all royalties on production begun within 18 years.

The 16 plaintiffs subsequently obtained the McCauley interest in the land and on Jan. 12, 1953, Mrs. Roberts decided her interest to her daughters.

The petition asserts that, although the area was to be a productive zone and efforts had been made to lease it, such proposals had been rejected.

Hearing Set Friday "The damages to these plaintiffs," said the petition, "would be greatly enhanced if prolific production should be later discovered upon the lands but after the term of the non-possessory royalty interest has expired."

A hearing on the application for appointment of a receiver has been set Friday morning before Judge R. W. (Bob) Hamilton.

Named as plaintiffs in the action are W. H. Gilmore, R. E. Gilmore, Susie O. Noble, Ben Danby, Jr., George C. Haas, Ruth L. Baker, Nancy Baker Veitch, Jean B. Watkins, Bill Watkins, Donald S. Alexander, Edwin F. Alston, F. C. Ashby, Ewel H. Stone, Wayne Moore, Elton Lewis and the Durham Drilling Company.

Connally Cadet Dies In Jet Trainer Crash

MORGAN —(P)—An Air Force cadet from James Connally AFB at Waco died in the fiery crash of his jet training plane near here Saturday.

Killed was Cadet Richard L. Brown, 22, Port Arthur.

Pattern To Hold With Cool Nights

The pattern of cool nights and warm days is likely to continue in the Midland area Sunday and Monday, the Weather Bureau indicated Saturday night.

The high Saturday was 92 degrees in contrast to a cool 63 degrees for the morning.

The cool night - warm day formula has touched the rest of the state and is expected to continue several days.

Clear to partly cloudy skies were forecast for the Midland area Sunday, stirred up occasionally by light southerly winds.

Guard Goes Home

PORT HOOD —(P)—The Oklahoma National Guard 45th Infantry Division closed two weeks' Summer training Saturday.

"Most of the workers have found other jobs to tide them over," he said, "but we will be able to meet hardship cases with this fund."

Billy Yeatts, district manager here for the telephone company, said long distance calls still are being handled only on a "urgent" basis and admitted that "we are being kept pretty busy."

West Texans Join Alaskan Aerial Search

KETCHIKAN, ALASKA —(P)—Searchers, aided by clear weather, covered thousands of square miles Saturday looking for missing Ellis Hall and his four passengers who vanished Monday after taking off from nearby Annette Island on a flight to Bellingham, Wash. The passengers were Hall's wife, two daughters and 17-year-old Patrick Hibben.

L. J. Hall of Big Spring, Texas, brother of the flier; George Abell of Midland, Texas, an associate, and Dr. Frank Hibben, University of New Mexico professor and father of the missing Hibben boy, joined searchers Friday.

They announced a $26,000, 10-day reward offered for locating the Hall plane had been increased by $5,000.

Two clipped tree-tops, a report of a low-flying plane and two reports of a ball of fire that lasted about five minutes north of Ketchikan.

Three Leads Followed Searchers from Alaska, the United States and Canada had three leads to investigate.

Two loggers at a camp on northern Revillagigedo Island reported seeing a ball of fire that lasted about a minute Monday night.

A fishtrap tender, operating about five miles from the logging camp, told of hearing a plane's engines Monday night that suddenly died out.

A searching plane saw two clipped trees which might have been sheared off by a plane which, crippled, could have gone on before crashing.

Twenty-nine U. S. and Canadian service aircraft and an undetermined number of private planes took to the air Saturday in the hunt for the twin-engine deHavilland Dove.

Scores of leads have been investigated in this Southeast Alaska area of heavily timbered hills and mountains and deep water passages.

Make Mine Texas Style

BIG SPRING —(P)—"I can eat a steak that big," the man said to his companion, marking off a generous portion of a cafe table.

"If you can do that I can pay for it," the companion retorted. Cafe Owner C. W. Mason obligingly whacked off a steak to the exact dimensions of the designated area. It weighed six and a half pounds.

The stranger ate it—along with two orders of French fried potatoes. He downed a half gallon of water with his meal.

32 Liberated Texas POW's, Big Spring Marine Hero Due On West Coast Sunday

By The Associated Press Thirty-two Texans freed from prisoner-of-war camps in North Korea and one who won the nation's highest medal of valor land at San Francisco Sunday.

The Army said within three to six hours they'll be free to start home—to Texas.

For Marine Lt. George O'Brien of Big Spring, awarded the Medal of Honor for valor in setting an enemy position Oct. 27, 1952, his welcome home will start at the dock with a kiss and a hug from his wife, who plans to be there.

But most of the families of the returning POW's will wait quietly for their men to return, to walk through the door and announce: "I'm home."

The men will not travel in a group to Texas; they'll be free to choose their own route and transportation. But the Army said it "assumed most will fly" and that means they could begin arriving home shortly after midnight Sunday.

The men landing Sunday were among the first persons to be released when the exchange started almost three weeks ago. They're the first able-bodied prisoners from Texas to come back. Three seriously ill Texans were flown to Brooks Army Medical hospital in San Antonio more than a week ago for treatment of tuberculosis.

The repatriated prisoners aboard the troopship General Walker landing Sunday are: Cpl. Richard Barnes, Houston. Cpl. Hartley B. Dell, Palestine. Cpl. Cornelius Canada, Houston. Cpl. Mitchell R. Conway, Dallas.

WASHOUT — When heavy rains washed out train tracks near Incheon, Korea, these Communist POW's were forced to cross the stream afoot to board a second train on the other side of the washout before continuing to Panmunjom for Operation Big Switch.

150 Americans Whoop, Yell On Release By Reds Sunday

PANMUNJOM, SUNDAY —(P)—American soldiers freed from Communist prison camps Sunday whooped cowboy yell, shouted and laughed as they regained freedom.

But fellow South Korean repatriates shook their fists and cursed at Red Korean officers in an angry demonstration.

South Korean Red Cross workers said the Republic of Korea troops demanded that the Reds release all of the ROK soldiers being held in the North.

Earlier accounts said thousands of South Koreans were being held back to do forced labor for the Reds, including building airfields and rehabilitating war wrecked buildings and railroads.

Many Puerto Ricans Sunday's repatriation movement involved 150 Americans—many of them Puerto Ricans—and 250 South Koreans.

The Communists promised another 150 Americans and 250 South Koreans Monday.

The nineteenth day of Operation Big Switch got under way promptly at 9 a. m. 16 p. m. Saturday, Texas time, in a light drizzle. It did not dampen the spirits of the returning Americans.

"Let me out of here. I've been waiting a long, long time," yelled one impatient American from the tailgate of a Red truck.

"Look at them," whooped another, pointing to a snappily dressed MP, decked out in white helmet, white belt and white puttees.

The good spirits of the Americans contrasted sharply with the burning anger of the South Koreans.

With 11 more days to go in Operation Big Switch, to fall within the 30-day period stipulated in the truce agreement, the Reds have released 1,709 Americans while 1,604 more await freedom.

Conclusion of the exchange was set for September 3 unless unforeseen obstacles, such as the weather, should require lengthening it.

A total of 437 UN Command personnel was returned Saturday—64 Americans, 23 British, three Australians, 13 Canadians, two French, one Turk, one Colombian and 300 South Koreans. Eighteen of the Americans were litter cases.

A report by returning Marine Lt. Henry E. Clifford of Staten Island, N. Y., added weight to speculation that U. S. Maj. Gen. William F. Dean will be among the last Americans repatriated. Dean, commander of the 24th Infantry Division, was captured in August, 1950.

A maid and a caretaker found the 59-year-old widow's body when they reported for work about 9 a. m. Still asleep in a nearby bedroom was a two-year-old grandson, Arch Alexander III, who had been staying with Mrs. Clark while his mother is in the hospital.

Dr. Walter Putschar, chief pathologist at Charleston General Hospital, said she had died of multiple skull fractures and bleeding caused by blows to the head.

Because of a deep depression over one eye it appeared at first she had been shot.

The alarm spread by the two servants touched off Charleston's most sensational murder investigation in a generation.

She was found sprawled on her face on the bloody, rumpled rug of the big living room. Her purse was on the floor of the adjoining hallway, some of its contents spilled out. Investigators could not find the weapon used for the attack in or around the house. There were signs of some ransacking, but Police Chief Dewey Williams said none of the diamonds Mrs. Clark wore or her other valuables seemed to be missing.

Approximately 200 Midland telephone workers, settling down for a long, drawn-out strike, announced Saturday the organization of special crews, ready to swing into action in case of a disaster or other emergency situation.

"In case of extreme emergencies," said Don Connally, chief steward of Local 6127 of the CIO's Communication Workers of America, "we'll have people available for any communication jobs."

"We have worked out a schedule for operators and outside and inside plant men, who will go back on duty in the event of a serious emergency which would affect the welfare of Midland."

"This would include any threats of a breakdown of power to hospitals or other public service agencies such as police or firemen."

The emergency plan was outlined as the strike moved into its third day with only supervisory personnel handling the long distance switchboards at the main exchange at 410 West Missouri Street.

"We are settling down for a long, drawn-out strike if that's what comes," Connally said.

And the strike appeared destined to continue at least until Monday, when company and union negotiators are scheduled to resume conferences in St. Louis, Mo.

Even an offer by the Texas League of Municipalities to arbitrate the strike had little hope of bringing an earlier decision.

The offer was included in letters from Jim Wright of Weatherford, president of the league, to Walter Pehn, Dallas, Texas manager for Bell and T. E. Webb, Dallas, Texas CIO-CWA coordinator.

The letters, however, had not been delivered late Saturday.

In Midland, as in other cities throughout the six states of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company system, picketing continued and workers remained away from their jobs.

"We made a tour of all the cities in this local," said Connally, "and just about all the workers are out."

"Out of the 700 craft people within our jurisdiction only 25 or 30 have remained at work and they are pretty well scattered."

The union official also announced from the labor headquarters on the second floor of Hotel Scharbauer that a special relief fund had been set up to ease hardship cases among the striking workers.

"Most of the workers have found other jobs to tide them over," he said, "but we will be able to meet hardship cases with this fund."

Billy Yeatts, district manager here for the telephone company, said long distance calls still are being handled only on a "urgent" basis and admitted that "we are being kept pretty busy."

Italy's New Premier Wins First Approval

ROME—(AP)—Italy's new pro-western premier, Giuseppe Pella, Saturday won his first parliamentary test, a Senate vote of confidence. The vote was 140 to 86. Ten of the 237 senators abstained. One was absent.

Pella, 51, successor to veteran statesman Alcide De Gasperi, now must face a similar vote in Chamber of Deputies. It probably will come early next week.

Close-ups and Longshots.
Of all the stories told about Bing Crosby's nonchalance, this one tops them all.

When Bing made a hole-in-one on a Northern California course during a golf tournament, the ball struck the pin on the par three hole and dropped into the cup.

Walking onto the green through the gallery with a pleased but casual grin, Bing was coaxed by an excited spectator who said: "It was amazing, Bing. The ball hit the pin, spun around and just fell into the cup."

Bing removed his pipe, tapped it on his heel and said: "You know, they'll do it every time."

Five-foot, one-inch June Allyson had six-foot, three-inch Jimmy Stewart as her leading man in "The Glenn Miller Story" and now, in "Foxfire," she'll be emoting opposite six-foot, four-inch Jeff Chandler.

"I feel" she's quipping, "like I'm co-starring with belt buckles."

Carmen Miranda's version of her triumph in Rome during a European concert tour is the zippiest dialogue of the week. Sample chatter:

"De pippie scream, 'Carmella! Bella ragazza! I say to dem from de stage, 'Wat you min, bella ragazza. I am not beautiful girl.' They say, 'Oh, yes, you are bella ragazza. Den I look down and see King Farouk in second row applaud.'"

"I say, 'Hokay, folks, you seen So shaddup and let me seeng'."

Homes of movie stars are simpler and in better taste these days because actors are no longer a mystery to the public and because all the blah and hokey have given way to honesty.

That's the word from Sascha Brasloff, former movie costume designer and now the nation's No. 1 ceramist, who remembers filmstom homes with a wince. "No period could have been worse than Hollywood's addition to their summer homes with Spanish shams over the fireplace."

Sascha's ceramic art objects, coffee tables, ash trays and dinnerware decorate the homes of the stars at prices that range up to $5,000 for a piece of ceramic sculpture.

Voice of the people note: "I was overjoyed to note that you finally printed something against 3-D. Believe me it's a chore to sit through one of the depiches with those glasses on. All of our friends agree."

Typographers Vote To Retain 'Unitypo' Printing Venture

DETROIT—(AP)—The International Typographical Union closed its ninety-fifth convention Friday after decisively beating down a second attempt to kill the union's multimillion-dollar Unitypo program.

As they had done on Thursday, the 400 delegates overwhelmingly rejected a proposal to take the union out of the publishing business.

Under the Unitypo program, the ITU publishes daily or weekly newspapers in 11 cities where union members are on strike.

Supporters of the project contended that union-created competition was the most effective weapon against struck publishers. Opponents, noting a $63,000 operating loss for Unitypo last year, called it an ineffective, costly experiment that failed.

A proposition to shut down the Unitypo publications within 60 days and liquidate the more than $4,000,000 in assets within a year was voted down.

Register Early, Students Urged

Students who will attend Midland High School this fall are urged by Principal Don Mitchell to report on time according to their registration schedule so that they may enroll in the courses they wish to take.

Mitchell said that late registering students may have to take alternative courses if the ones they desire have been filled up.

The registration will begin Monday and end the following Monday with seniors due to register Monday and Tuesday, Juniors on Wednesday and Thursday and sophomores Friday and next Monday.

According to pre-registration estimates taken during the Spring semester, a total of approximately 1,000 students will be enrolling in the high school this fall. However, new students moving to Midland recently may boost that figure.

Registration schedules for Midland High School, listed according to the first initial of the students' surnames are as follows:

SENIORS
August 24—A to E, 8-12 a.m.; F to L, 1-5 p.m.
August 25—M to R, 8-12 a.m.; S to Z, 1-5 p.m.

JUNIORS
August 26—A to D, 8-12 a.m.; E to J, 1-5 p.m.
August 27—K to Q, 8-12 a.m.; R to Z, 1-5 p.m.

SOPHOMORES
August 28—A to D, 8-12 a.m.; E to J, 1-5 p.m.
August 29—K to R, 8-12 a.m.; S to Z, 1-5 p.m.

Junior high school registration also will begin Monday and end Friday.

Junior high school registration dates follow:
August 24—Ninth grade students from A to L.
August 25—Ninth grade students from M to Z.
August 26—Eighth grade students from A to P.
August 27—Eighth grade (before noon) from P to Z, and seventh grade (afternoon) from A to H.
August 28—Seventh grade from I to Z.

All seventh grade students who live south of the railroad and who do not ride a school bus will register in the South Elementary School.

Visits By Parents
Schools will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and parents are urged to come with students to assist them in selection of courses. It is vitally important that all students register during this time.

The same division of area between the two junior high schools as applied last school year, will apply this school year, officials said.

Elementary school pupils will register Monday, August 31, and Tuesday, September 1.

This registration schedule will apply:
Monday, 8 a.m. to 12 a.m., A to F, 1 p.m. to 4:30 p.m., G to L.
Tuesday, 8 a.m. to 12 a.m., M to R, 1 p.m. to 4:30 p.m., S to Z.

All first grade students are required to bring birth certificates when they register. They also should bring the Summer health round-up blanks.

FBI Agents Arrest Young Man Sought in Priest's Slaying

LOGANSPOUT, IND. — FBI agents Saturday seized a man they said is wanted for the killing of a Kansas City Catholic priest and as a suspect in recent slayings on the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

Agents identified the man as William Townsend, 23. Townsend had escaped from the Indian Reformatory at Pendleton, Ind., where he was serving a two-to-21-year term for rape given him at Huntington, Ind., in 1949.

Agents sought him in Logansport as this is the home of his father, the Rev. Shelby Townsend, a Pentecostal church minister.

The Missouri State Highway Patrol announced Friday it was seeking young Townsend for questioning in the slaying of the Kansas City priest, the Rev. Robert A. Hodges. The priest was found shot to death last month on a bank of Little Blue River near Kansas City.

State police who aided in Townsend's arrest said he also is wanted for the shooting of a soldier in Kansas City.

Officers said they found young Townsend in a trailer in which his father formerly lived.

Scurry Oil Men Named As Buyers Of Cut-Rate Feed

SNYDER — P — The Snyder Daily News is carrying in its Sunday edition the names of some 500 Scurry County residents who had received drought relief feed through August 18 and the amount each received.

Most of those listed were drought-stricken farmers and ranchers. But the News said there also were several oil men listed and several other persons whose major business was not raising livestock.

The Scurry Drought Relief Committee received permission from State Production and Marketing Administration officials to release the names.

Foreign Economic Policy Study Unit Names Are Complete

DENVER — President Eisenhower Saturday completed organization of a study commission on U. S. foreign economic policy by naming six more members of the unit.

Eisenhower last week picked Clarence Randall of Chicago, board chairman of the Inland Steel Corporation, to serve as chairman. Five senators and five House members also have been named to the commission.

Saturday, Eisenhower appointed these men:
Jesse W. Tapp, executive vice president of the Bank of America in San Francisco; John Hay Whitney, partner in the J. H. Whitney Company of New York; David J. McDonald of Pittsburgh, president of the CIO; Cola G. Parker of Memphis, Wis. board chairman of Kimberly-Clark Corporation of Neenah, Wis.; John H. AWOL PARATROOPER—'Dejected Orphan' Story Falls Down

OKLAHOMA CITY — (AP) — Milton Mowdy, who had the city's heart in his hip pocket just a few hours ago, was lodged in the county jail Saturday as an AWOL paratrooper from Fort Campbell, Ky.

The 17-year-old high school football star from Coburg, Ore., was found sitting dejectedly on the courthouse steps by sheriff's officers a few days ago. He told them he was Roy Edwards, a lonely, heartstuck youth who lost his mother in an auto accident and was unable to find his father.

The officers, who said they checked with Oregon authorities and found the story to be true, offered to send Mowdy through school. So did dozens of other well-to-do families, and few offered to adopt him.

Then the roof caved in.

His picture and story appeared in a Eugene, Ore., newspaper, and Mowdy's mother called the sheriff's office. The youth was arrested at a high school football game, accompanied by a few city coaches trying to convince Mowdy to play for them.

France Recovers Slowly From 17-Day Strike By Workers

PARIS — (AP) — Although a back-to-work movement was easing the situation, France remained bogged down Saturday for the seventeenth day by strikes in vital public services, especially the railroads.

The strikes perhaps have cost the country more than might have been saved by the proposed payroll economies which started them.

A quarrel between the unions and government over the question of firing strikers who had refused to heed requisition orders and return to their jobs on the government-run railroad system was keeping most trains stalled.

Information Minister Emile Huebes, referring to the over-all picture, said, "A certain confusion prevails in certain sectors and regions, but altogether the situation is clearly better."

In the railroads, the situation remains more confused, but there is a tendency towards amelioration," he said.

No official figures were available but it appeared that at least a million workers still were idle in eight fields—the railroads, post offices, coal mines, gas and electricity plants, arsenals, steel mills and other metal working plants, ground services of Air France and the Paris subway and bus system.

Narriman May Get Items Left In Egypt

CAIRO — (AP) — Ex-Queen Narriman can have the clothes she left behind in several of Egypt's royal palaces when her now estranged husband, Farouk, was driven into exile. But she can't have the fortune in jewels and other valuables she got on her wedding day.

The official custodian of the former monarch's assets in Egypt ruled that jewels and other wedding presents were given Narriman in her capacity as queen, and therefore are state property.

Chile Says U. S. Moves Too Slowly, Breaks Aid Pact

SANTIAGO, CHILE — (AP) — The Chilean government has offered to sell its strategic stockpiles of copper to anyone, including Iron Curtain countries. The move is in apparent defiance of a pact with the United States.

Foreign Minister Oscar Fenner announced Friday night the Cabinet had decided to rid Chile of "restrictions imposed upon our foreign relations by previous governments" and make copper available "without limitation to all the world."

The U. S.-Chile Military Assistance Treaty specifically bars such trade with the Communists.

President Carlos Ibanez's administration reportedly feels, however that Washington has been slow in arranging to buy Chilean copper and help relieve the country's severe economic crisis.

Paratrooper Grabs Fluttering Silk, Saves Life Of Buddy

FORT CAMPBELL, KY. — (AP) — A New York paratrooper grabbed a "wad of silk" Friday and saved the life of a fellow soldier just after both men bailed out of an airplane.

Military authorities here credited quick-thinking Sgt. Richard N. Cleaver of Niagara Falls with saving the life of Pfc. Harold D. Lovell, Oklahoma City. Both are members of the 11th Airborne Division and were participating in a mass practice jump when the mid-air catch occurred.

"Something fell through my suspension lines just after I got my opening shock after the jump. There was a wad of silk in my face, so I grabbed it and held on," said Cleaver.

The silk was part of Lovell's collapsed parachute. Both paratroopers dropped several hundred feet to the ground on Cleaver's chute. They landed without injury.

Lovell said he was about to pull his reserve chute when Cleaver grabbed the canopy and held on until both men landed.

Party Harmony Not Selfish

There can be no question that the 1954 campaign for control of Congress already is underway. Both major parties are hard at it.

So far, naturally, the argument revolves around what the 83rd Congress accomplished. The Republicans, in command of both houses, paint a glowing picture of achievement.

Let's take a look at these opposition contentions first. Later on we can examine the GOP declarations.

The record of Senate and House votes demonstrates conclusively that the Democrats did indeed provide the Eisenhower Administration with decisive aid on many occasions.

It would require complete cynicism to deny that much of this assistance was lent to the President's programs because the Democratic supporters genuinely believed in them.

Moreover, evidence is strong that many of these men want the United States to have an effective government. With both houses held so narrowly by the GOP, the Democrats were aware that heavy opposition from them would spell stalemate and inaction.

Yet it would be unwise to assume, therefore, that the Democrats were uniformly high-minded fellows, acting from the noblest of motives. The fact is, they still are quite sensitive to the practical political aspects of the situation.

But practical politics dictates pretty much the same course. For one thing, many of the programs voted on this year are essentially those drafted and carried out under two Democratic Presidents.

For another, the Democrats remember that the Republican strategy of vehement opposition to almost all Roosevelt-Truman programs paid slim political dividends for 20 years.

Thirdly, the Democrats know that Eisenhower is at the very peak of his popularity in the country. They can imagine that it might be political suicide to attack him personally or get too far from the policies he espouses.

It is no disparagement of Democratic cooperation to serve the national interest to point out that Democrats, like Republicans, still are alert to the tactics of their trade.

Simple definition of a gag: something that people who constantly pull them ought to have.

You can be glad that the weather never is half as bad as the people who always complain about it.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright 1953, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.) Drew Pearson says: Red embassy personnel under Moscow's iron thumb; New Hoover Commission has vast scope; Rayburn relishes Lone Ranger.

WASHINGTON—Inside the Soviet embassy—pursue-conscious Russians still haven't got around to hanging up a picture of new premier Georgi Malenkov at the embassy. Perhaps they are waiting to make sure who will win the power struggle inside the Kremlin.

Attorney General Brownell, former ambassador Joe Kennedy, Congressman Brown, and California's congressman Chet Holifield.

"We're going to look into the whole question of how far the government should go in competition with private enterprise," Brown tells colleagues. "We want to explore waste and inefficiency. Some huge government programs have gone completely off the track."

"We know, for example," continued Congressman Brown, "that the government built an irrigation dam that cost $4,300 for every acre of land that it irrigated—and that doesn't include the water pumps or irrigation ditches."

Noted—Though most of the debate pertained to congressmen, U. S. judges, to whom the bill would also apply, are among the relatively lowest paid in the world.

Under The Dome It's a lot tougher to take a picture in the Senate than in the House of Representatives.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY Written for NEA Service

Many bridge players act as though declarers and defenders were two separate breeds of cat. They know all the normal declarer's plays, but they never think of making those same plays when they are defending.

West opened the three of spades. East put up the jack, and South won with the queen. South counted his tricks: two spades, four hearts, one diamond, and one club.

East won with the queen of clubs and naturally returned the eight of spades. South, holding the king and ten of spades, played the king—

West made his best shift—to the ten of diamonds. South played low from the dummy and won in his own hand with the ace.

Now let's go back to West's play on the second round of spades. If West had been playing the hand as declarer with five spades to the ace in one hand opposite three small spades in his partner's hand he wouldn't have taken his ace of spades so early.

See what happens if West refuses the second round of spades. South must try another club finesse, and East wins with the king of clubs. East takes the ace of spades. West is now in position to take his last two spades, and the defenders set the contract with three spade tricks and two clubs.

Under The Dome It's a lot tougher to take a picture in the Senate than in the House of Representatives.

One of the big hopes entertained by Western diplomats regarding Red China is that Premier Mao Tse-Tung will get fed up with Moscow and become another Tito.

New Security Rules Grant Dulles Aide Greater Powers

By PETER EDSON NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—After almost four months of preparation, the Department of State's new regulations on security for its employees finally have been issued, giving unprecedented powers to R. W. Scott McLeod, the department's new administrator of the Bureau of Security, Consular Affairs and Personnel—BSCAP.

With two exceptions, every employe of the department must hereafter be subjected to a full field investigation by the FBI or the Civil Service Commission.

The exceptions are, first, for per diem or temporary employes or aliens employed outside the United States as exempted by Civil Service regulations; second, emergency appointments for 90-day periods if the secretary of State himself finds that exemption necessary in the national interest.

The security standards for State Department employes are those set forth by President Eisenhower in his Executive Order No. 10450, issued April 27, 1953.

But the State Department's new security regulations specify that employment shall not be limited by the mere catalogue of crimes listed in the President's order.

The secretary may delegate this power to a subordinate, and it has been given to Undersecretary for Administration Donald B. Lourie.

What happens when derogatory information is received about any State Department employe comprises the new loyalty and security procedure under President Eisenhower's order 10450. This is the heart of the new Manual of Regulations.

A first review of investigative reports is made by the Bureau of Security, under McLeod. If evidence is considered insufficient, further investigation may be called for, or the employe may be interviewed.

If reports indicate that the employe should be suspended or fired, the employe's investigative record and security file are sent to Administrator McLeod with a report. He is required to make an immediate evaluation report. He may then recommend to Undersecretary Lourie whether the employe be suspended or not.

A suspended employe must be furnished with a written statement of charges within 30 days. The employe has 30 days in which to make a reply and submit affidavits. The record then is reviewed again for three determinations: Restore the employe to his old position. Recommend that he be given some other position. Recommend the employe be fired. The employe must be given a written statement of the secretary of State's decision.

A discharged employe may then ask for a Security Board hearing. Every department of government names officers for the Civil Service security hearing board roster. Administrator McLeod may pick any three names from this roster for a State Department hearing board, but no State Department employe may hear the case of a suspended to push him away from her, to pour out in furious spate the things that seethed within her. These arms that held her. These lips that lingered so thirstily on hers—had the arms held Poppy Ewert as tenderly, the lips kissed her with as great desire?

BUSINESS VISITOR Mrs. B. M. Bomar of Big Spring attended to business here Friday.

LITTLE LIZ

Some folks seem to have mastered the art of getting credit for the hard work others have done.

"You're cold," she had whispered in his embrace. "The wind of the water still seems to have ice in it. And you should be wearing a sweater. And you're so pale. Is there something wrong, Little Liz?"

"Nothing, I'm all right. Let's go back now."

He looked at her worriedly, in that hopeless, baffled way men do when they feel their inability to cope with the woman they love; when they know in their heart there is something amiss but having done no wrong that they know of, are completely at a loss to account for the trouble.

"I hate to leave you," he stared at her, frowning. "I can't figure what happened. But I can tell—being in love with a person, you can sense the faintest alteration in their mind."

"Love's little Geiger-counter! Don't be so silly."

"I'm not sure I'm being silly. You do love me. Say you do. I love you, Gavin."

YES, she thought—no matter what, I love you. I'm not going to let these wild suspicions change everything. Even should they prove true, I'll not turn from you as I did from Giles.

He kissed her again and looked into her eyes and she returned his gaze smilingly. "It's all right, Gavin," she whispered. "I believe you. I guess I was having a brainwave, but when you turned there at the beach and looked at me, you seemed for a moment to be a stranger, a girl I didn't know. But there's a lot to you that I don't know, isn't there?"

"Isn't there to everyone? I mean a lot that the rest of the world—even those nearest to you—can never really understand. And isn't it better that it should be so?"

"I'm not so sure." He left her then. (To Be Continued)

A Romance by LOUIS ARTHUR CUNNINGHAM

XXX LILITH knew Giles was often away from London. There were weeks on end when the little fat in the mews had no tenant or a half-dozen strange ones depending on the homeless friends of whom Giles seemed to have so many. Gavin, she knew, always came there when he was in London. And this time he had brought Poppy with him.

"I'll never know," she thought. "I'll never ask him and, if it was he, I can be sure he will never tell. He must have known her all right. He knew Slasher Kane and most of the newspapermen. He couldn't have missed Poppy and she would find him fair game since I had taken Giles away from her."

But what difference would it make now? She wasn't going to break off her engagement with Gavin even if he had been involved in an affair with the sultry Miss Ewert. He would have been only one of many and she had known the misery that results to a woman for condemning a man for being a man.

You couldn't condemn it, ever; you couldn't imagine how men could be such fools as to fall for some piece of aboddy goods. But they did, and there it was. And if you were wise and tolerant enough, you could put it away from you and find your happiness.

But now she would always wonder about him, about Giles. She would have to peace, she thought, or would she in time get used to it and would the passing months dull the knife edge of this doubt that was cutting into her?

If I say anything to him, if I ask him about her—and if I'm wrong he'll hate me! And if I'm right, he will think that I hate him—and maybe it would be so I have no definition of hate but I think what I have for her is as near to it as I'll ever come. I

By BOYCE HOUSE A man declared it was impossible for a woman to write a letter without a postscript. A woman challenged the statement, so they made a wager of $1. She wrote him a letter; it was long and interesting and after she had signed it, she wrote: "P. S.—How is this for a letter without a postscript?" (That was another of my mother's stories.)

Moore Keeps Close Eye On City's Expenditures

By COPE ROUTH

Kent A. Moore is one man who doesn't mind having people look over his shoulder.

Particularly if they're taxpayers. Because when they look over his shoulder, they can see exactly what has happened to 12 million bucks Moore has spent during the last three years.

"It's all there," he'll explain. "We can account for every cent of the money that has been spent by the City of Midland during the last three years."

"Our records are public records and any person is welcome to look through them at any time."

That such a situation exists is not entirely due to happenstance.

Planned With Care

It's the result of a carefully worked-out plan which has led Midland through an exciting period of growth without leaving a trace of a blemish on its financial records.

And the fastidious 44-year-old Moore, as director of the city's Department of Finance, is the man who largely has seen to that.

Late in 1949 Moore was working one Sunday afternoon trying to catch up with his work as auditor for the little City of University Park adjoining Dallas when W. H. Oswald walked into his office.

Oswald had been working only a few months as Midland's city manager and had heard of Moore through a friend.

"He told me about the job out here," Moore recalled, "and said there was a real challenge."

"Well, we talked it over and I accepted. And he was right. There has been one challenge after another ever since I have been here."

Graduate Of SMU

Moore was a native of Dallas, attended public schools in Oak Cliff and in 1933 was graduated from Southern Methodist University with a degree of Bachelor of Science in commerce.

He operated his own insurance agency until 1940 when he joined a private firm of public accountants. From 1942 until 1948, he served in the Air Corps and then returned to his old accounting job, quitting it in 1947 to become auditor for University Park.

So on Jan. 7, 1950, Moore reported for work in Midland and plunged right into the job of setting up the city's financial operations on a businesslike basis.

Up to that time, the city had no finance department and City Secretary J. C. Hudman had to double up as keeper of the financial records.

The city operated on a cash basis with just two funds—the general fund and the sinking fund. The city simply spent until it ran out of money and then stopped.

Period Of Transition

The first step was the changing of the city's financial year, which at the time, ended on March 31. It was decided to have it end on September 30 to conform with the tax year.

Moore guided the city through the transition period between March 31 and Oct. 1, 1950, when the first full-year budget was adopted on the basis of the new fiscal year.

Other practices were instituted. A uniform accounting system based on accrual accounting was instituted.

Until that time a street worker breaking his shovel, could go to a store, order a new shovel and have the bill sent to the city.

Under the new system, the worker went to his superior, had a requisition made out, had a purchase order issued and completed the transaction through proper channels.

The minute that purchase order was issued, the proper account was encumbered in the amount of the price of the shovel. When the bill came in at the end of the month, no one could be taken by surprise because that much money already had been set aside.

Control System Instituted

That, of course, is an oversimplification but it gave the city officials a chance to know just where they stood at all times and how much money was left in the treasury.

A system of internal control was instituted.

Every penny paid into the city was receipted and accounted for and every disbursement was supported by the proper paper work.

A system for appropriating bond funds for various public works projects was instituted.

Previously, the bond funds simply were spent until they were gone. Under the new system, appropriations were set up on the basis of engineer's estimates as soon as a project was launched. If there was money left over in its completion, the surplus was transferred out of that particular fund, ready to be appropriated for some other project.

Smooth-Working Organization

In the more than two years since Moore started his job, the system has kept the same basically but refinements have been made.

A tight, smooth-working organization has been developed and the finance department is getting closer to its goal of safeguarding the taxpayers' money.

Working under Moore is Irwin Lenker, in charge of disbursing and making up payrolls, a job involving the issuance of some 18,000 checks a year. W. A. Banks, who handles the general ledger and expense details on all funds. Robert W. Bunkley, the budget and fiscal clerk, and Katherine Meurer, the general cashier.

That new negro park will be known officially as Booker T. Washington Park.

That was the decision last week of the City Council since the park adjoins the new Booker T. Washington school.

The swimming pool for the park is just about completed and the city already has planted trees and shrubbery to beautify the site.

The city is moving ahead with engineering work leading up to the planned widening of Florida Street to 65 feet from Six Spring Street to the east city limits.

The State Highway Department has indicated it will be receptive to a request to make the widening job a state project, with the city building the necessary curbs and gutters.

Public Works Director J. M. Orman reported last week, after a survey, that the project would not require the construction of any storm sewer facilities.

At least two city employes are going back to school for an education.

Robert Stone, the building inspector, left Saturday for Fort Worth, where he will work for the U. S. Corps of Engineers and commute to Dallas to study law at Southern Methodist University.

Joyce Hale, a clerk in the inspection office, has left for East Texas to enroll in Kilgore Junior College.

City Hall birthday greetings were in order last week for Lester D. Scott, fire department; Luther Potts, aviation; Joe Busby, sanitation; Harold L. Cates, shops, and Gladys Seymour, tax.

Pilgrimage Slated On POW's Freedom

DALLAS—(P)—The family of Sgt. Agapito Chavez, Jr., released Friday night in the Korea war prisoner exchange, plans to make a pilgrimage to Mexico's shrine of Guadalupe to give thanks for Agapito's return.

"We promised," said the father, Agapito Chavez, Sr., an iron and metal worker. "We prayed and promised and he's safe and is coming home."

Bob Baker and John P. Mercer will attend funeral service in Alpine Sunday for Charles Glen Morrison, 65, who operated a variety store in Midland for several years. Rites will be held at 3 p.m. from the First Methodist Church.

Moby Dick was the whale in a sea story by Herman Melville.

TRIUMPHANT TO THE LAST

OKLAHOMA CITY—(P)—"How do you plead?" traffic judge James Demopolos asked the defendant, accused by policemen of stealing two shirts from a dry-goods store Friday.

"Well, judge," replied Cecil Earl Ramsey, "I'm guilty but these cops didn't catch me stealing and they can't prove it either."

He was fined $20.

ON IKE'S TEAM—Clarence E. Manion, of South Bend, Ind., former dean of the Notre Dame Law School, is the latest appointee to the Eisenhower team. He will head a new study commission on overlapping federal-state functions, including duplication of taxes.

TO ATTEND RITES

More than half the 11 lawyers who brought the unprecedented ouster proceedings against Laughlin have been present at the hearing, often counseling with their attorney, Senator William H. Shireman of Corpus Christi.

Among them was Parr-foe Jacob S. Floyd, Sr., of Alice, whose 22-year-old son was shot down a year

Laughlin Removal Hearing Opens Door On Political Skeletons In South Texas

AUSTIN—(P)—Five days of hearing into complaints aimed at ousting 79th District Judge C. Woodrow Laughlin of Alice, now in weekend recess, have swung wide the closet doors on some of South Texas' political skeletons.

Witnesses have testified to stuffed ballot boxes, rolls of ballots tied with string, political threats, reprisals and fear in George Parr's South Texas political domain.

All of it was aimed at linking Laughlin closely with Parr and lesser lights in the political turmoil.

The parade of testimony brought comment from Defense Attorney C. C. Small, Sr., that Laughlin was having to defend himself "against everything that has ever happened between the Nueces and the Rio Grande."

Almost four days of the testimony came from Laughlin himself under a barrage of questions into his political and official activities before and after he became judge January 1.

Only One Mistake

He admitted only one mistake—the discharging of a Jim Wells County grand jury whose work allegedly was incomplete.

He said he always wanted to call that jury back after he found out it wanted to come back but he had been too busy before efforts were taken to the Supreme Court to force the recall.

More than half the 11 lawyers who brought the unprecedented ouster proceedings against Laughlin have been present at the hearing, often counseling with their attorney, Senator William H. Shireman of Corpus Christi.

Among them was Parr-foe Jacob S. Floyd, Sr., of Alice, whose 22-year-old son was shot down a year ago in an ambush the senior Floyd says was intended for him.

Much of the testimony has revolved around that slaying and the grand jury investigation of it which Laughlin is charged with obstructing.

Mrs. Floyd frequently has been in the audience.

Numerous South Texas political figures have made appearances at the hearing. Some of them have been called as witnesses. Some reportedly in Austin from time to time remained behind the scenes, never appearing in the courtroom.

Laughlin, portly and 40, showed no sign of fatigue or ruffle during his four days in the witness chair.

During recesses he would chat amiably with reporters, his lawyers and others.

At the end of his testimony he took a seat behind his lawyer at the counsel table. He listened to testimony that followed with interest, but generally was poker-faced.

An exception was a slight flush when a neighboring district judge, Roger Thurmond of Del Rio, testified no judge ever should make his own selection of a judge to try a case against himself. Judge Thurmond termed it "just common sense."

It possibly was one of the hardest blows of the hearing against the accused judge.

A comparably hard blow was testimony from District Attorney Bill Alcorn of Brownwood, who worked with the Jim Wells County grand jury in the Floyd murder investigation. Alcorn said Laughlin "beyond any question" delayed the grand jury's work.

The hearing is to resume at 9:30 a.m. Monday.

Eighteen witnesses now under subpoena are yet to be heard.

Allies Reject Red Proposal Of Single Berlin Air Lane

BERLIN—The Western Allies are turning down Russia's proposal for just one big air corridor to Berlin because they fear it might prove a trap in case of another blockade, an informed Allied source revealed Saturday.

The West proved once—during the 1948-49 blockade—that it could feed Berlin by air through the existing system of three 20-mile-wide corridors across Soviet-occupied East Germany.

Allied airmen are not sure the airlift would work with just one wide corridor. So they are taking no chances.

"The single corridor idea is a dead duck," a Western official said.

This kills the only big plan presented during five months of four-power talks on the problem of air safety over Germany.

The talks are continuing. But the high hopes with which they began have faded. Some kind of face-saving agreements may eventually emerge. But they are most likely to be of minor importance.

One thing the West wants to make sure: whatever changes are made must not in any way restrict the present aerial access to Berlin.

There's another angle that officials diplomatically refuse to discuss: the daily flights of Allied planes across the Soviet zone over three separate routes provide some limited observation of what's going on there. It was easy to detect, for instance, the recent abandonment of four Soviet fighter bases.

Although each of the existing corridors is only 20 miles wide, the way they are spaced provides a visual sweep over a wide area.

Set up by four-power agreement right after World War II, one corridor to Berlin runs from Hamburg, another from Brunswick, the third from Frankfurt. It is more than 200 miles from the north to the south corridor at the zonal border. Each stretches more than 100 miles from west to east.

A single central corridor would cut this sky view to a fraction.

Reds Halt Letters

The sister, Mrs. Harmon Greene, said Jarvis believed letters from his mother had been held up by the Communists or otherwise gone astray.

"He wrote that he knew mother was writing him," Mrs. Greene told the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

"I haven't told anyone," the sister added, "not even the Red Cross."

Crowd Hears Band Concert

A record crowd of approximately 500 Midlanders turned out on the Midland High School lawn Friday night to thrill to the marching music and semi-classical tunes presented by the Midland High School Summer Band.

Ralph Mills, band director, said that 200 chairs had been placed out but hundreds of spectators sat on the grass or listened from their parked automobiles.

Highlighting the outdoor concert was the demonstration of twirling by five high school girls, Bobbie Jean Willig, Barbara DeVaney, Wanda Lou Steele, Sara Jackson, and Sylvia McAden did solo twirling acts followed by an ensemble presentation by Willig, DeVaney, and Jackson.

Mills said that the Summer Band school is progressing "very satisfactorily" and feels that the Summer practice should have the band in "tip-top shape" for the football season.

The band has a full schedule for Labor Day celebrations, playing for the Midland County Sheriff's posse "Rodo-Este" at the Fairgrounds from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. and at the JayCee's annual Play Day in the Indian ball park from 6 to 7 p.m.

Freed Texans To Find Tragedies Beat Them Home; Deaths Strike In Families

By The Associated Press

Ten more Texans stepped across the line from captivity to freedom Saturday (Korean Time) but some faced additional tragedy at home.

Some knew what was ahead. Others didn't. Some of the latest freed were sick men.

The day's prisoner of war exchanges at Freedom Village, Korea, brought to 99 the total number of Texans freed in the swaps arranged in the historic truce that stopped the shooting in the Korean War.

In Sweetwater, a dispirited and sorrowful family heard the news that Sgt. John H. Rhoton had been released from Communist captivity.

Rhoton's father died last Sunday. His grandmother, Mrs. Martha White of Stamford, died Tuesday. His mother is critically ill in a Sweetwater hospital.

Telephone Beside Bed

"He doesn't know about all this," Mrs. Oran Gann of Sweetwater said Friday night. Mrs. Gann is the sergeant's sister. "I only hope he makes it home in time," she said referring to his mother's serious illness.

"The Red Cross is supposed to break it to him when he's released," Mrs. Gann added. "I guess they will. He doesn't know anyone was even sick."

The Rhotons, who live in Roby, had a telephone installed in Mrs. Rhoton's hospital room so she could hear the news the minute it came in.

"Thank God," the seriously ill mother whispered.

In Fort Worth, the sister of Sgt. Bobby W. Jarvis, 26, of Wichita Falls, said their mother died Oct. 24, 1952.

Disgust And Anger

It sets forth in question-and-answer form the "Communist Party" stands against "capitalist exploitation and oppression," for its world wide movement, and "the working class internationalist" position of American Communists.

The second sheet contains a diatribe against U. S. armament and defense spending, while the third sheet is headed: "Punish the War Criminal Syngman Rhee." Rhee is president of South Korea.

Reactions of recipients, the Star-Telegram said, ranged from disgust to anger.

Names Of Texans Released By Communists Announced

By The Associated Press

Texans freed Saturday in the continuing prisoner-of-war exchanges at Freedom Village, Korea, numbered 10 and brought to 99 the total from this state so far released in operation Big Switch.

Saturday's (Korean Time) releases included:

Laurence R. Jimenez, Pfc., Co. D, 6th Medical Tank Bn, 24th Div.; mother, Agueda R. Jimenez, Marfa.

Agapito R. Chavez, Sgt. 1c, 3d Recon Co, 3rd Div.; mother, Celia C. Rodriguez, Dallas.

Cyril B. Webb, Sgt. Hqs Co. 35th Rgt., 25th Div.; mother, Mrs. Myrtle Webb, Fort Worth.

Bobby W. Jarvis, Sgt., Btry B, 555th PA Bn, 24th Div.; mother, Mrs. Nettie E. Jarvis, Wichita Falls.

Henry E. Reeves, Cpl., Co. A, 5th RCT, 24th Div.; mother, Bennie Reeves, Fort Arthur.

Vincent Aquilera, Cpl. Hqs Co, 2nd Bn, 5th RCT, 24th Div., uncle, Pete Mendoza, Fort Worth.

Thomas J. Howell, Sgt., Btry C, 555th PA Bn.; wife, Mrs. Etta Fay Howell, Amarillo.

Earl R. Roberson, Cpl., Co. B, 31st Rgt. 7th Div.; (no kin given) Robert B. Roberson, Summerfield.

Agapito Chavez wanted to know "when will he be back?"

"By Christmas, maybe?" a brother said. "We want to have a party."

Meanwhile, families of some freed prisoners were being bombarded with Communist propaganda.

Families of service men in Fort Worth have received mimeographed sheets signed "Communist Party of Fort Worth."

One page is headed "Who We Are and What We Stand For."

Veteran Detective Suspended In Probe Reinstated With Pay

DALLAS—One of seven Dallas police officers suspended in this Summer's honesty probe was ordered reinstated with back pay by a Civil Service trial board Friday night.

Board Chairman Ben H. Mitchell ruled that witnesses called by Police Chief Carl Hanson had not proved city detective Charles Sansone guilty and "it is the judgment of the trial board that he is not guilty."

Spectators almost filled the city council chambers where the hearing was held. Many were off-duty policemen. The spectators cheered Mitchell's announcement.

Hanson had charged Sansone, a veteran detective, with four cases of conduct unbecoming a police officer. In one he accused Sansone of taking money from a coin changer during a burglary and in another he alleged Sansone stole a pair of hubcaps from a stolen car he recovered. Other charges were that he took three bottles of beer during a burglary investigation and that he failed to turn in some vitamin pills recovered during a chase of a suspicious car.

Fire Rips Auction Barn At Cameron

CAMERON—(P)—Cameron's second big fire in a week swept through the Milam Livestock Commission Company auction yard Friday night. Owners Claude and Finley Blackwell, brothers, estimated damage at from $50,000 to $60,000.

Volunteer fireman Make McDermott saved 40 head of cattle when he opened a barn gate and they scampered from the blaze. No animals were destroyed.

Last Sunday night, fire raged through the Cameron Enterprise building, Ben Reichert, publisher of the weekly newspaper, figured his loss at $40,000.

Midland Resident Injured In Round-Up

Joseph S. Doakes, long-time resident of Midland, suffered minor injuries in the round-up this week. Doctors said his condition was not serious. Doakes' injuries were described as a series of bruises, contusions, and lacerations received when he stumbled over a lawnmower.

It is said that Mr. Doakes had gotten word that his old lawnmower, regardless of its age, make, or condition was worth $300.00 to him on a trade for a new Jacobsen Power Mower during a round-up of old mowers by a local store. Joe had been struggling with this aged mower for a good many years. He had pushed it by main strength and awkwardness for more than ten years. When, about a year ago, someone gave him a worn-out gas engine which he installed on the thing. Instead of halving his troubles, this doubled them, because he not only had to push it, but he had to start it.

Anyway, when Joe heard that he could get $300.00 for the thing on a new Jacobsen, he became so agitated and excited that he fell over the decrepit relic getting his car out of the garage to go to the store. We visited Joe in the hospital the other day. Told him that we had picked up his "junkie" and that when he got to the place he could get around, that we would deliver his new Jacobsen to him. Joe smiled painfully and said, "Thanks chum, that old mower was my worst enemy."

We think our favorite nurse will like that story.

Powers Selects 11 Finalists In 1953 'Miss Wool' Contest

SAN ANGELO—(P)—Eleven finalists in the 1953 national "Miss Wool" contest were announced Saturday. Each will be a guest at the state wool fashion revue and fiesta here September 3-5. "Miss Wool" will be chosen then and awarded a 33-piece all wool wardrobe, a set of matched luggage and a tour of the style centers of America.

The finalists were chosen by John Robert Powers, New York model agency head.

The finalists are: Georgianne Allen, 20, Austin; Shirley Kay Benke, 18, and Norman Jean Crow, 19, both of San Antonio; Melba Bloomer, 19, Brady; Pat Ely, 20, Sweetwater; Sue Ann Fullerton, 18, Taylor; Kathryn Gromatky, 19, San Angelo; Maurice Mahan, 19, Waco; Patricia Ann Parker, 18, Dallas; Mary Dare Reslev, 20, Fort Stockton; and Geri Starnes, 18, Anson.

Powers chose the girls from more than 200 photographs submitted by Texas girls in the contest. Sponsors of "Miss Wool" are the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association and its women's auxiliary.

Beer Costs $4,000

GLEN ROSE—(P)—A $4,000 fine was assessed against J. E. Alex Phipps after he was convicted Friday by an 18th District Court jury of selling beer in a dry county.

Federal Agencies Watch Texas Drought Aid Violation Cases

DALLAS—(P)—The federal government apparently will watch more closely hereafter to see that its drought relief program in Texas is not abused.

L. J. Cappelman of Dallas, state director of the Farmers Home Administration, said Friday reports of abuses were discussed at a Denver conference with President Eisenhower, top agriculture aides, and federal drought-relief officials from eight states.

It was "generally conceded we need to make a closer check on operations to see that they are being carried out according to the law," said Cappelman of the conference.

There have been published charges that some Texans getting drought-aid cattle feed at under-market prices have sold the feed at higher prices.

Cappelman credited the "cooperation of credit agencies, especially banks" for the fact his agency has made approximately $5,000,000 in loans to Texas farmers and ranchers since July 1. He said considerably more than half the amount went to persons in the 164-county Texas drought disaster area.

Livestock

FORT WORTH—(P)—Livestock for the week: Slaughter steers and heifers 50c lower, cows steady, bulls unchanged, slaughter calves strong to 100 higher, stockers and feeders weak to 100 lower, butcher hogs and sows 100 higher, slaughter Spring lambs weak to 100 lower, other sheep steady.

Price ranges for the week: slaughter steers and yearlings 9.00-22.00; cows 7.00-13.00; bulls 8.00-13.00; slaughter calves 7.00-18.00; stockers and yearlings 10.00-16.00; stocker calves 10.00-18.00; late sales butcher hogs 26.00 down, earlier top 26.50; sows 19.00-22.00; slaughter Spring lambs 19.00-21.00; slaughter yearling wethers 14.00-17.00; aged wethers 8.00-10.00; aged ewes 5.00-6.00; feeder lambs 12.00-15.00.

A check of dry rangeland in the Midland area of the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District showed that the better range grasses such as sideots grama, black grama, blue grama, and silver bluestem are still holding their own where past grazing was not in great excess.

Joe W. Cowan, 35-year-old Mitchell County agricultural agent, has accepted the post of agricultural instructor at the East-Texas Academy near Longview.

Cowan, who will begin his teaching duties September 1, will be replaced by Jack Burkhalter, now assistant county agent for Dawson County.

Burkhalter, a 1949 graduate of Texas Tech, is married and has two children.

Fall Kills Workman

SWEETWATER—(P)—Jesse Thomas, Cox, 37, Wichita Falls, fell 55 feet to his death Friday from a hoist while working on a construction job at the Mayrinal plant of the Lone Star Cement plant.

Dirt, Squirt and Quirt

— FARM, DAIRY AND RANCH NEWS —

The market was stronger and more active with most cattle selling $1 to $2 higher last week at the Midland Livestock Auction Company.

No choice fat calves and yearlings were offered. Medium to good ones brought $15 to $18, and culls and common, $11 to $15.

Choice cows brought $10.50 to $12; medium, $9.50 to $10.50; canners and cutters, $7 to $9.50. Bulls cashed in for $10 to $13.

Stocker steer calves sold at $14.50 to $18. Stocker heifer calves demanded $14 to $16.75. Mixed breeder stocker calves and yearlings brought $10.50 to $14. Stocker cows hit $8.50 to $12. Cows and calves went for $85 to $130 a pair.

Several farmers and agricultural workers attended a sprinkler irrigation tour recently on the W. N. Locklar and Ebin Holiman farms in the Cotton Flat area south of Midland. Technicians of the Soil Conservation Service discussed the effectiveness of the two irrigation systems by checking the amount of water being applied, the amount of moisture in the soil, and the appearance of the cotton crops being grown.

The East Texas Academy, Cowan explained, was established recently by R. G. LeTournau along lines similar to Boys Ranch. Lads selected for the academy are usually those without a home or without a suitable home. While there, Cowan continued, the boys are given both physical and spiritual training.

Ask any farmer the question "Why plant legumes?" and you are almost sure to get an answer to the effect that this practice will help produce better crops. This is certainly correct, but there are other good reasons, too.

Experiments at the Temple Experiment Station show that soil erosion is worse during the Spring months. W. B. Coke, extension agronomist, quotes experiments showing that water infiltration on corn land was increased from two inches to 12 inches per hour by a crop of Hubam sweet clover following the corn. The large, deep growing roots of the sweet clover plants penetrate the sub-soil, deposit much needed humus and thus improve soil structure.

Increasing the speed of water intake by the soil can be a big help in solving soil and water conservation problems.

1953 Fall Elections Offer Slim Pickings For Political Sages

WASHINGTON—(P)—Races for New Jersey governor and New York mayor are warming up these days. They easily will get the most national attention in this off-year's scattered state and local elections November 3.

Other contests are of secondary interest and hold little prospect of indicating any shifts in voting habits since the sweeping Eisenhower victory of last November. They include a governorship election in Virginia, legislative contests in Kentucky, New Jersey and Virginia, and mayoral scraps in Pittsburgh and several other large cities in 10 states.

So far this year, politicians eager to note any new voting trends have had slim pickings in the mayor elections already held in half a dozen states and the five special elections to fill vacancies in the U. S. House of Representatives.

In the House elections, Democrats won all five contests for seats previously held by the Democrats—in Georgia February 4, Virginia April 14, South Carolina June 2, Illinois July 7, and Kentucky August 1.

Ikeman To Sit In On European Talks

DENVER—(P)—A key advisor to President Eisenhower on economic affairs, Dr. Gabriel Hauge, will sit in next month at Paris talks sponsored by the Organization for European Cooperation.

Announcing this Saturday, the Summer White House said Hauge will leave Washington for Paris September 1 to take part in talks of the organization's economic committee.

Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen Hauge is going to Paris at the invitation of officials of the organization, and with the approval of both Eisenhower and Harold E. Stassen, chief of the Foreign Operations Administration.

First Martin Bale Sells for $1.35

STANTON—(P)—Martin County's first cotton bale, produced by Preston Morrison, farmer near Stanton, netted $1.35 a pound at a downtown auction Friday—or $564 for the 440-pound stack of cotton.

A good crowd of Martin County residents turned out for the auction Friday in front of the First National Bank here. Jack Arrington served as auctioneer.

This year's prices showed a boost over last year, when the first bale brought only $1.15 a pound.

The 1953 bale was ginned at the Farmers Co-Op Gin in Stanton.

Newspapermen Close Corpus Christi Event

CORPUS CHRISTI—(P)—The Texas Daily Newspaper Association wound up its two-day conference here Saturday with a movie and talk by Wylie Stewart, representing the Dallas chapter of the Association of American Newspaper Representatives.

The association will elect officers at its next conference in February.

Mr. and Mrs. Weldon McCormick are vacationing in New Mexico and Colorado.

Payne To Continue Business In Austin

Robert M. Payne, Sr., member of the Board of Trustees of the Midland Independent School District and an independent oil operator, will move to Austin soon after the first of September, he said Saturday.

Payne and his family returned Friday from Austin, where they purchased a home at 2607 McCullum Street. Payne will continue his activities as an independent oil operator.

Payne moved to Midland in 1946 from Wichita, Kan. He had spent 15 years as an employee of Humble Oil & Refining Company and Carter Oil Company, a subsidiary of Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

While in Midland, Payne has served as a director of the Chamber of Commerce, Red Cross, County Tuberculosis Association and Shrine Club. He is an elder in the Presbyterian Church.

The Paynes have sold their home at 1407 Princeton Street. Robert, Jr., will be a first-year student at the University of Texas this fall. The Paynes also have a daughter, Eliza Jane, 15.

ODESSA — MIDLAND

I was ahead in every way after this demonstration!

I figured on paying about $200 more for a new car . . . until I discovered all that Chevrolet offered me.

You're "sitting pretty" behind the wheel. Take this "Bel Air" model. First thing you'll notice is the rich-looking upholstery and appointments and roomy, comfortable seats. Just turn the ignition key to start the engine and you're ready to go.

You get more power on less gas. Here's all the power and performance you could ever ask for. And along with it comes the most important gain in economy in Chevrolet history! That's because of Chevrolet's two great high-compression engines.

You can see all around. You look out and down at the road through a wide, curved, one-piece windshield. The panoramic rear window and big side windows provide a clear view in all directions.

Biggest brakes for smoother, easier stops. An easy nudge on the brake pedal brings smooth, positive response—right now! Chevrolet brakes are the largest in the low-price field—extra large for extra stopping power.

It's heavier for better roadability. You're in for a pleasant surprise at the smooth, steady ride. One reason is that, model for model, Chevrolet will weigh up to 200 pounds more than other low-priced cars.

You get greater getaway with the new Powerglide. Finer performance on less gas. That's what you get with the new Powerglide. There's no more advanced automatic transmission at any price.

Even Power Steering, if you want it. You ought to try Power Steering to see how easy driving can be. You can spin the wheel with one finger! It's optional, of course, at extra cost, and available on all models.

Let us demonstrate all the advantages of buying a Chevrolet now!

PARLEY

By CHARLEY ESKEW

Football for Midland High begins in 10 days and when Coach Tugboat Jones calls out his Bulldogs, he must wonder:

"Just how far will hustle and attitude take a team in the state's toughest district?"

Materially, the Bulldogs are short in depth and display several noticeable weakness in the starting lineup. But, while Tugboat and the coaching staff began long-range plans in Spring to take advantage of the club's strongpoints, the players themselves adjusted to an attitude which left the coach "proud of the team."

The players set up a training regiment and voted to approve any action by coaches catching violators to eliminate them from the squad. The Bulldogs followed their own rules in Spring with a resultant cry of satisfaction by the coaches, for the team showed hustle. The rules again will take effect for the complete season, starting September 1. But will attitude win ball games?

It helps, says Tugboat. "In Spring, Tugboat acclaimed that 'the boys show that they want to win games and (with their current attitude), we can make the most of what material we have.'"

It's pretty important that Midland not waste an ounce of talent for, despite 21 returning lettermen, the 33 squad actually claims few experienced players. Of those, the Midland staff figures about 14 or 15 can carry the full duties in a rugged District 1-AAAA game.

Does that sound dire?

Tugboat, who lost all his backfield and most of the line through graduation, decided the T formation rather than his old standby single wing should be best for the '33 squad's capabilities. And several of the position changes—like Bill Mims going from end to the backfield—were put into effect with good promise.

Speaking with Tugboat, you draw these conclusions about the Bulldogs in '53:

Midland will not be a first place contender—remember Pampa, Lubbock and Odessa—but can be better than in 1952 if the players continue to progress with their new T-formation.

The backfield, despite all new starters, will be strong-armed, shifty and fast—in each respect equal or better to the '52 squad. The players themselves are Mims and Red Rutledge at halfbacks, Clinton Noble at fullback and trouta Willie Brooks and Tommy Johnson in the critical T-quarterback spot.

Line is speedier.

The line, spearheaded by returning starters Kenneth Schrum and Melton Jones, carries a respectable 175 pounds and overall, like the backfield, is faster. There are only three tackles—all novices—on the squad, however, so the position's weakness is obvious.

What else?

You can count on three hands the boys who'll do almost all of the Bulldog playing: Mims, Rutledge, Brooks, Johnson, Gerald Morris and Fred Gist in the backfield and Paul Davis, Lee Wood, Lionel Crisp, Schrum, Jones, Darrell Spivey, Jerry Ball, John Crowley, Don Evans and Jimmy Mashburn in the line.

Unfortunately it's still two-platoon football in 1-AAAA.

Rockets Blast Out 15-7 Victory Over Loop-Leading Colts

ROSWELL —(P)—The Roswell Rockets blasted out 19 hits here Saturday night to subdue the league-leading San Angelo Colts, 15-7 in a Longhorn League baseball game.

Manager Pat Stasey's charges were never in trouble as they roared out front, 3-0 after one inning, and had built up a 5-0 lead before the visitors mustered their first run. A five-run Roswell outburst in the fifth settled things, although both teams continued to hit throughout the fray.

Oilers Overcome Drillers, 12-11

ARTESIA, N. M.—The Odessa Oilers fought hard and long Saturday night to earn a 12-11 victory over the Artesia Drillers. The Oilers pushed across two runs in the tenth to snatch the victory from the Drillers' grasp.

The score:
 Artesia 206 101 000 1—11 11 2
 Odessa 007 002 001 2—12 12 3

Native Dancer Wins American Derby In Stretch

Two-Length Victory Nets Him $66,500

CHICAGO —(P)—Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's sensational Native Dancer, given a brilliant ride by Eddie Arcaro, burst to the front midway in the stretch to win the $112,000 American Derby Saturday going away by two lengths over James C. Brady's Landlocked.

Harvey C. Frushauf's Precious Stone was third, three lengths behind, and Harry N. Eads' Sir Mango finished fourth in a field of eight.

Van Crosby and Thaxter were scratched.

In winning his eighteenth race in 19 starts, the big gray stepped the mile and a furlong in 1:48 2/5, only 1/5 second off the track record set by Colossal in 1948. His winning share was $66,500 to boost his earnings as the fourth leading money winner of all time to $743,200.

The Dancer carried 128 pounds, top impost of his career, and was ridden for the first time by an unfamiliar jockey, Arcaro.

His regular rider, Eric Guerin, was serving a 10-day suspension for a foul.

Sir Mango set the early pace and looked as if he might be Native Dancer's chief threat as he was in the Arlington Classic last month. At the start of the stretch, Sir Mango still on top, Landlocked was second by a length, Precious Stone was third, and Native Dancer fourth.

On the last turn, Arcaro brought the Dancer through from the inside to the outside and started to move. At the eighth pole the great gray champion shot to the front and the outcome was never in doubt.

A crowd of 37,108, largest at Washington Park since 1951, backed the Dancer down to 1-5. There was no show betting. The winner returned $2.40 and $2.20. Landlocked, winning $25,000 for second, paid $3.80. Precious Stone's third prize was $12,500 and Sir Mango picked up $7,500.

FINALISTS—Janna Murray, right, and Stanley Bellows teamed up to gain the finals of the mixed doubles in the City Tennis Championships. The unseeded pair provided the first major upset of the tournament when they ousted the top-seeded team of Pat Boles and Bryan Elder, 6-1, 6-2, Friday. (For story and results, see page 11)

McPhail Leads Colts As Cardinals Upset

By CHARLEY ESKEW
 Reporter-Telegram Sports Editor

LUBBOCK — Steady Buck McPhail, rookie halfback from Oklahoma, celebrated his first week of professional football with a first-play, 20-yard field goal that provided the Baltimore Colts a 10-7 football victory over the heavilyavored Chicago Cardinals Saturday night.

McPhail only last week was a member of the College All-Stars and hadn't played a down Saturday night until Coach Keith Molesworth decided to substitute him for Keith Flowers of TCU, who was already lining up to try the crucial place kick with 26 seconds remaining in the game. McPhail booted the ball through the center of the posts even against a fair side wind.

The boot was one of several fortunate breaks that gave the newly-formed Colts, formerly the Dallas Texans, their first win of two exhibitions as 6,000 watched the benefit.

In one turn of events, Carl Tassef of John Carroll, a defensive standout all night, intercepted a pass from Cardinal Ogden Compton of Hardin-Simmons and ran it back for 41 yards and a touchdown only five minutes deep in the game. Flowers added the extra point to make it 7-0.

Tassef later recovered a Cardinal fumble on the Colts' six-yard line and caught runners for six and nine-yard losses to turn back two Chicago threats.

The Cardinals in all failed on four deep penetrations as they dominated offensive play all night—gaining overall, 245 yards to 174 for the Colts—and only scored when Bob Gamboli passed to Don Stoner from Northwestern for a 20-yard touchdown with 11 minutes remaining.

The Cardinals threatened again before a pass interception and Fred Enke's (Arizona) 46-yard pass to Tom Keane of West Virginia set up McPhail's boot.

Upsets Feature City Tennis Championships

After several days of misses, upsets haunted the City Tennis Championships Friday and Saturday. Champions were crowned Saturday in the veteran's doubles and Junior doubles.

Charles Bleiker provided more than his share of upsets. He teamed with Kenneth Hughes Friday to oust top-seeded John Galle and Jimmy Garvin from the junior doubles, only to lose the title to the second-seeded team of Bill Vandevanter-Clayton Tatom Saturday, 6-4, 6-2.

As if that weren't enough, he whipped Vandevanter in the junior singles and then ousted second-seeded Galle, 6-1, 1-6, 6-1. He plays top-seeded Jimmy Wolfe, a 7-5, 6-3 victor over surprising Arthur Coats, in the final.

The mixed doubles team of Janna Murray and Stanley Bellows whipped Barbara Miller and Dr. Roger Buck, 6-3, 2-1, by default when Dr. Buck was summoned to deliver a baby for one of his patients.

The Murray-Bellows team then whipped the top-seeded pair of Pat Boles-Bryan Elder, 6-1, 6-2, in another upset.

Wolfe and Frank Ford teamed up Friday to bounce Charles Davis and Arch McColl, the second-seeded duo, 6-3, 6-2.

Except for these mishaps, the tournament committee's seedings were perfect with all the top-seeded players gaining the finals.

Veteran's doubles champs are McColl and Davis, who defeated Bob Barnes and Bryan Elder, 6-1, 6-0, in a well-played match.

All final matches will be played at San Jacinto Junior High Courts, Tournament Chairman Bryan Elder said Saturday. He announced that bleachers would be provided for spectators.

The complete results for Friday and Saturday with Sunday's pairings:

FRIDAY RESULTS
MIXED DOUBLES—Janna Murray-Stanley Bellows won on default from Barbara Miller-Dr. Roger Buck, 6-3, 2-1 (Dr. Buck was called away on a case). Murray-Bellows defeated Pat Boles-Bryan Elder.

VETERAN SINGLES—Bob Barnes defeated Arch McColl, 6-0, 6-3.

MEN'S DOUBLES—Jimmy Wolfe-Frank Ford defeated Charles Davis-Arch McColl, 6-3, 6-2.

Potashers Trip Indians, 11-8

CARLSBAD, N. M.—Carlsbad Potashers erupted for six runs in the seventh inning Saturday night to hand the Midland Indians their second straight setback, 11-8.

Midland thus completed its invasion of New Mexico with only one victory in five attempts. The Indians return home Sunday to rest before tackling San Angelo on the latter's home grounds in a twin bill Monday.

Saturday night's game was a seesaw battle throughout with first Midland and then Carlsbad enjoying the advantage.

Audie Malone, who pulled an iron-man stunt Monday and then won a game in relief against the Colts Wednesday, captured his fourth victory of the week when he came on in relief of Gene Wolf and pitched two-hit, runless ball for the last three innings.

The Potashers wrapped up the triumph in the seventh with a six-run outburst. Trailing, 8-5, Don Riley opened with a homer off Mike Rainey. When Rainey walked Merv Connors, Lefty Ralph Atkinson came on to face left-handed Elias Osoorio. The Carlsbad rightfielder foiled the strategy by blasting his second triple to score both runners.

Gholson Doubles
 Fred Rodriguez, who wound up with his second loss in two nights, entered and retired Ike Jackson on a grounder, but Goidy Gholson doubled scoring Osoorio. John Trece got a scratch hit, and Pedro Osoorio, who had gone in to run for Gholson, reached third. Bob Hobbs then homered over the left field wall to wrap up the wild-scoring spree.

Midland had gone ahead, 7-5, in the fifth when Scooter Hughes slugged a bases-loaded homer with Mickey Diaz. Glen Selbo and Tex Stephenson, all of whom had singled, on deck.

The Tribe made it 8-5 in the sixth as Lou Dawson started the frame with a rebounding double. After two were out, Dawson gained third on a passed ball. When Jackson threw to third to catch him, Trece allowed the ball to get away, and Dawson scored. It was the only unearned run of the game.

Wink Scouts Take Meet

Wink Boy Scouts swam away with top honors Saturday at Pagoda Pool where the Buffalo Trail Council held its annual swimming meet with 103 Boy Scouts and Explorers from 17 West Texas counties competing.

Officials termed the swim meet the largest and most successful held since the event's beginning 15 years ago.

Wink Scouts received trophies for their first place victories in both Boy Scout and Explorer divisions. Wink Troop 85, sponsored by the Wink Lions Club with James Hill as scoutmaster, was first in the Boy Scout event. Wink Explorer Troop 65, affiliated with Scout Troop 65, were tops in their event.

Other Boy Scouts division winners were Troop 53, Terminal Lions Club, second; Troop 62 sponsored by the Pyote American Legion, third; Troop 72 from Odessa came in fourth; and Troop 27 of Snyder, and Troop 63 of Monahans tied with Troop 54 of Midland for fifth position.

Second place winner in the Explorer group was Post 62 of Pyote, with Troop 69 of Wickett third; Post 63 of Monahans, fourth; and Troop 79 of Odessa in fifth place.

A free barbecue was served to all of the contestants and visitors. Ray Upham of Midland was in charge. C. C. Boles of Midland was meet director, assisted by Newell as head judge.

BUSY DAYS AHEAD—Pro Bill Oliver and Assistant Don White of Odessa Country Club tally their scores after a round recently. The pair will be busy as bees starting Thursday when the $7,500 Odessa Pro-Am begins with a field of 100 teams expected.

Austin CC to Pay Honor To Penick

AUSTIN—A veteran Texas golf professional will be honored here September 5 when Austin Country Club pays tribute to Harvey Penick.

A "recognition banquet" highlight of the club's nineteenth annual Labor Day golf tournament, will honor the man who took over the head professional job when he was 18 years old—in 1923—and has remained in that position ever since.

Penick, twice president of the Texas PGA and long-time coach of the University of Texas Longhorn golfers, has earned nation-wide respect among golf men, professional and amateur as a golf instructor.

Odessa Golf Meet Draws Select Field

Odessa's fifth annual pro-amateur golf tournament continued to grow last week with 30 teams already in the fold and 70 more expected by tournament officials before tee-off time Thursday.

Even if the field should expand no more, the $7,500 prize money being offered assures a select field. Some of the most noted amateur and professional golfers have already thrown in their entries.

Latest to enter were Harry Todd, 1961 champion with Don January, and Don Schumaker. Todd thus became the second former title holder to enter. The other is Iverson Martin, who won with Jim Simpson as a partner back in 1949.

The four-day meet runs through Sunday with the best low-ball medal score team picking up the $1,500 first place check.

Midland's Abe Beckman and Wendy Green of Ranchland Hill are among the entries. Beckman recently toured the Odessa Country Club course making six birdies along the route. Shirley Robbins of Ranchland Hill will team with sports writer Gene Gregston of Fort Worth. Boyd Huff of Midland Country Club teams with Willard Crenshaw of Dallas.

Some of the name entries besides the aforementioned are Chuck Klein and Billy Erfurth of San Antonio, Dutch Harrison, Bo Wunniger, Bill Maxwell, Raymond Gafford, Joe Conrad, January and Elroy Martz.

This will be the first title defense for "The Keed" since he knocked out Chuck Davey of East Lansing, Mich., in Chicago last February 11.

Machinery Set Up For Open Tennis Tourney

Machinery for the Midland Open Tennis Tournament scheduled August 28-29-30 was set up at a meeting Friday.

Deadline for entries is 6 p.m. Tuesday, with the fees set at $2 for singles and $3 for doubles.

With the interest stimulated by the City Championships which are in progress now, the open tourney officials expect a large field. Several out-of-town entries already have been received, and more are expected.

This is the first tournament, but officials say it will be an annual affair.

Already, it has drawn such entries as Joe Adams of Odessa and Leo Brady, who missed the local tournament. Stewart McCombs from Big Spring, who was the No. 2 man on the Washington and Jefferson College team four years, and Stanley Bellows, Arch McColl, Charles Davis and Chick Harris, all of whom competed in the city tournament.

Entries from Snyder, Big Spring, McCamey, Pyote have been received and some are expected from Tulsa, Okla., since local officials have many contacts there. Some of Texas collegiate stars also are expected.

The tournament will be held at the high school and San Jacinto Junior High School courts.

Registration for the tournament may be made with Morris Howard, Box 631, Midland.

Here are the committees set up at the meeting:

Recruiting—Arch McColl, chairman; Bob Patterson, Leo Brady, Charles Davis, Stanley Bellows, Bob Barnes and Joe Adams (Also, entertainment committee).

Church Softball Start Playoffs

First Methodist, which Friday night captured the outright title turns at 7:30 p.m. Monday against Bellevue Baptist to open play in the Church League softball playoffs.

The Monday game marks the first of a doubleheader at Wadley Field which will set the finalist for a best two-of-three game series starting Tuesday.

St. Andrews and St. Lukes meet in the other sudden-death first round playoff game immediately after First Methodist and Bellevue Baptist windup.

Friday First Methodist proved itself a good regular season champion by edging the same Bellevue club, 7-6, while St. Lukes walloped St. Markes, 16-7.

LONGHORN STATISTICS—

Texas Players Trail

Texas brags? Not in your Longhorn League! Texas can't, if you're thinking of official batting and pitching statistics, for only Roman Lyoko of Odessa can claim "fastest or most" in any department of the present records. And he's only a mite ahead of a New Mexican, Elias Osorio of Carlsbad, when it comes to clubbing triples, 15 to 12.

There are three teams in both states making up the Longhorn League but that's about the only balance you'll find. The New Mexicans own everything else in baseball figures.

Glen Burns of San Angelo makes the best bid by a Texan with his second place marks of 99 runs and 287 total bases. While three from Midland stack up fairly well: Julio de la Torre and Tex Stephenson, for instance, follow in third with 30 doubles and Art Bowland ranks fourth in averages with a .368 mark.

For leadership New Mexico's Les Mulcahy of Artesia bosses all with 148 hits, 261 total bases, 39 doubles and 125 r.b.i.s. Joe Bauman of Artesia leads with 106 runs and 36 home runs and a couple of Carlsbad batters pace the percentages. Ike Jackson and Elias Osorio both own 385 marks.

In pitching, Rolando Torres of Roswell claims the best percentage, .773 on a 7-2 record. Len Ruyile of Artesia is most-games-winner with 17 and Marshall Epperson of Carlsbad is the whiff king with 186 strikeouts.

Pyote Tennis Future Bright, Junior Games At Houston Indicate

Undergraduates at Pyote had three entries in finals of the Southern tennis championships and another, Don Chrane, a 13-year-old, lost only after reaching the semi-finals.

Among the 14-15-year-old girls Ann Stilton bowed to Betty Foust of Houston, 6-2, 6-1, in the finals. In 13-year-old boys' doubles Robert Neris and Harold Cornsey reached the last round only to lose to Jerry Jonett and Dan Herndon of Shreveport, 6-1, 6-0, and another Pyote entry won her title.

Linda Lasseter defeated Nancy Richey of Houston, 6-4, 1-6, 6-4, in the 13-year-old girls singles.

Stanton Athletic Group Sets First Regular Meeting

STANTON—The Stanton Athletic Association will hold its first regular membership meeting Thursday night, according to Joe Baulich, president.

The meeting will be at 6 p.m. at the Stanton Implement Company.

Plans will be made for the organization's annual membership drive, as well as a season ticket sale campaign. New officers for the 1953-54 season will be elected following the membership drive, he said.

All present members are urged to attend and hear the Stanton Buffaloes coach discuss prospects for the current football season.

Lubbock's Mike Brady Boots Texas To 20-19 Oil Bowl Win

WICHITA FALLS —(AP)—Oklahoma's schoolboy stars retreated sadly across the Red River Saturday, winless in nine tries in the Oil Bowl. But the Sooners could say they gave Texas the fight of its life in this charity football game, and the Texans long will remember Jack Witucki of Cascia Hall (Tulsa).

Mike Brady of Lubbock kicked two points after touchdown to furnish the margin of victory as Texas won, 20-19, Friday night but the Lone Star Staters were not anywhere near superior to the fighting Sooners.

Oklahoma gained more yards rushing—186 to 158—and more yards in the air.

In fact, it was an amazing thing—Texas didn't complete a single pass even though it had the greatest of Texas' schoolboy passers, Doyle Traylor of Temple.

Witucki, the 185-pounder who started carrying the ball, kicking the ball, catching the ball and running back punts, was voted outstanding back of the game and justly so. He scored two touchdowns, made 84 yards rushing, averaged 43 yards punting, caught a vital pass in the third Sooner touchdown drive and, all in all, made Bob McBride, the Notre Dame assistant coach who was in the stands, a happy man. Witucki is going to Notre Dame.

But time considered, the boy who accomplished the most was little Ramon Towry of Vernon. He weighs only 155 but plays linebacker and it was Towry who smashed through to block a Witucki punt, pick up the ball and run 25 yards for the third Texas touchdown.

GORGEOUS ONE HEADS ODESSA RASSLE CARD

ODESSA — A "perfumed tussle between Gorgeous George, prima donna of the wrestling ring, and Cyclone Anaya will highlight wrestling Tuesday night at the Electric Street Arena in Odessa.

Gorgeous and Anaya will go for two out of three falls with a one-hour limit.

Semi-finals will pit Doty Funk and Tommy Martindale in the ring for a 45-minute, two out of three falls battle, while Bob Cummings and Cowboy Carlson will go for one fall in the preliminary. Bouts start at 8:30 p. m.

McCamey, Odessa Ballclubs Team Up To Play Colts Here

The Midland Colts, without a baseball field for about a month, find a home in Indian Park at 3 p.m. Sunday to tangle with the McCamey Hawks.

It's the first encounter between the two nines but some of the visitors won't be unfamiliar to the Colts, for Cruz Gomez' McCamey club is adding about half a team from the defunct Odessa All-Stars. Midland twice defeated the All-Stars who now with McCamey "make up a good team."

Ciro Sanchez, Colt business manager, said that the Odessa players on the McCamey combine were pointing out this game as a revenge affair for the sake of the All-Stars.

The Colts Saturday were uncertain which pitcher to start but C. B. Nunez and Joe Chaves, co-managers, indicated either Matilde Rodrigues or Lee Sneed would open.

The Colts so far have a 12-5 season record.

If you have $50,000... or if you can borrow $50,000... here is a Once-in-a-Lifetime Business Opportunity

The Air Force will begin construction on a 3 to 4 million dollar Abilene, Texas Air Base within the next few weeks. This huge construction payroll plus a multi-million dollar annual Air Force payroll will cause a business boom in Abilene unlike anything since World War II.

Now is the time for alert businessmen to take advantage of this excellent opportunity.

Within the next few days, an unusually profitable Abilene furniture store (Wm. Tanner & Company located at 1441 Butternut) will be sacrificed for approximately $50,000.

The C.P.A. audited books show this local store to have a net profit of $17,500 for the first seven months of this year.

To liquidate a partnership this going business must be sold immediately. The present owners offer a clean inventory at actual inventory cost, good accounts at face value, fixtures and excellent equipment at depreciated book value. No bonus required.

A very favorable lease can be arranged for the present location.

The books will be open for inspection of genuinely interested parties. The audited financial and operating statements can easily be verified by checking with Texas banks and suppliers.

This ad will not be repeated. Will negotiate with principals only.

Fricano Needs Assist, But Rips Yanks, 10-4

NEW YORK — (AP) — Marion Fricano needed relief help from Morris Martin to put down a New York Yankee uprising in the ninth for a 10-4 Philadelphia victory Saturday after retiring 17 men in succession from the first to the seventh inning. Eddie Robinson helped the A's nail it down with his eighth and nineteenth homers, each with a man on base.

Despite the defeat the Yanks maintained their nine-game lead on the second-place Chicago White Sox, who bowed to Detroit, 2-1 in 11 innings.

Fricano, 30-year-old right-hander who was beaten by Whitey Ford hit until Yogi Berra doubled down the right field line with one out in the seventh. He had walked Berra after Bauer's single in the first and then kept the bases clear.

Tigers Nudge Chisox In 10 Innings, 2-1

CHICAGO — (AP) — The Detroit Tigers triumphed over the Chicago White Sox, 2-1, Saturday in an 11-inning contest that came to life in the extra frames.

The winning run was scored by Tiger Third Baseman Ray Boone, who was driven home by Walt Droppo.

The game was a pitcher's battle between right-handers Ned Garver of Detroit and Bob Keegan of Chicago.

The game went into the extra innings with no score, and the action started. Jim Rivera muffed Don Lund's short fly in the tenth, enabling the Tiger left fielder to reach second. He scored a few moments later on John Bucha's single.

Orrestes Minoso led off the tenth for the White Sox with a single. Duke Snider belted his twenty-ninth roundtripper of the year, and Junior Gilliam collected two triples.

Indians Lose As Pitching, Hitting Fail

CARLSBAD — (AP) — The Midland Indians, troubled all season because they can't get their hitting and pitching together, didn't muster either item here Friday night as they lost a seventh time in Carlsbad, 7-2.

They're averaging seven hits a game to opponents 11.5 for this road trip.

Art Friday, Freddie Rodriguez started on the mound to yield two hits and four walks as the Potashers wrapped up the game in the first inning with four runs. A bases-loaded triple by Ike Jackson did the big damage.

Art Bowland homered in the first and Glen Selbo pushed in a fifth inning tally to close out the five-hit, two-run Midland attack off winner Hank Williams.

Roe, Labine Team To Throttle Buc

PITTSBURGH — (AP) — Southpaw Preacher Roe with the help of reliever Clem Labine started the league-leading Brooklyn Dodgers back on the winning trail Saturday with a 5-3 victory over the last-place Pittsburgh Pirates.

Roe hurled superb ball until he weakened in the ninth after scattering nine hits and striking out eight. The 35-year-old left-hander, however, got credit for his eighth straight triumph and his ninth of the season against two defeats.

The Pirates jumped on Roe and Labine in the last frame for two runs on four hits—two of them pinch singles by Paul Smith and Toby Atwell. Gene Hermanski—the fourth pinch hitter—fled out with the bases loaded to end the game.

Jackie Robinson batted across two Dodger runs with a trio of singles. Duke Snider belted his twenty-ninth roundtripper of the year, and Junior Gilliam collected two triples.

Ex-Airman Accused Of Murder In Korea Arrives For Hearing

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Robert W. Toth, 21-year-old Pittsburgh steelworker, got a warm family welcome as he arrived by plane Saturday to challenge the Air Force's action in arresting him and returning him to Korea to face murder charges.
A federal judge had ordered him brought back here for a habeas corpus hearing.
The former Air Force policeman beamed as he stepped from the plane into the arms of his tearful mother, Mrs. Nettie Metz, and his sister, Audrey Toth, of Pittsburgh.
His attorneys, led by John L. McGrath, also were at National Airport to meet him.
Toth was taken to nearby Bolling Air Force Base by Air Force police to await a hearing September 1 in U. S. District Court. The outcome will test a provision in the new uniform code of military justice which says a veteran may be arrested and returned overseas to stand trial for an offense for which he cannot be tried in U. S. civil courts.
"I thought I was going to rot over there," Toth told reporters, referring to his enforced stay in Korea.
Toth was honorably discharged from the service a few months before the Air Force arrested him May 15 while he was employed as a civilian steelworker.
He was flown to Korea to face court martial trial on charges of murder in the slaying of Bong Soon Kill, a Korean civilian, at an Air Force supply base in Korea last September.
Two others involved in the case were tried while still in uniform and convicted. Second Lt. George Schreiber was sentenced to life imprisonment last Monday. Airman Thomas L. Kinder also received a life sentence previously, but this later was reduced to two years. Both sentences are subject to further review.

Jersey Incident May Cancel Grunewald's Jail Probation

JERSEY CITY, N. J. — (AP) — Henry (The Dutchman) Grunewald, one-time Washington mystery man who was found in a gas filled room with a woman friend, was released in his own custody Friday night, police announced Saturday.
Grunewald had been charged with disorderly conduct after he and the woman, Mrs. Ann Anderson, 46, were found overcome by gas in an apartment. Police said a pot of coffee on the stove may have boiled over, putting out the fire and allowing gas to escape.
The pair had been taken to Jersey City Medical Center to recover, and it was thought Grunewald and Mrs. Anderson would remain there until they expected arraignment in the disorderly charge Monday.
However, Magistrate Michael F. Riley paroled both in their own recognizance and set a hearing.

August 31 on the charge, a police spokesman confirmed Saturday.
The 63-year-old Grunewald was mentioned prominently in the congressional probe of "influence peddling," and was reluctant to testify about his activities.
He was fined $1,000 and given a suspended 90-day jail sentence for contempt of Congress, and put on probation for a year. In Washington federal probation officers were reported to be studying the Jersey City incident in the light of probation requirements that Grunewald be honest, temperate and live a clean life.
If probation is found to be violated, Grunewald could be required to serve the 90-day jail sentence.
A police spokesman said Grunewald returned to his summer home at Spring Lake, and Mrs. Anderson went to Sea Girt, where she is staying.
Jersey City Medical Center authorities said they had been ordered to give out no information about Grunewald or Mrs. Anderson.
After they were rescued by police, they were booked on the disorderly persons charge because they could not give a satisfactory account of why they were in the apartment, police said.
Police Capt. J. Leo O'Connor said this is the way Grunewald explained what had happened:
He, Mrs. Anderson and Richard J. Tarrant, a Jersey City lawyer and once director of the Newark branch of the Office of Price Stabilization, were driving to New York from Newark when Grunewald became ill.

Tarrant suggested that they stop at the apartment of a relative of his. That was how they happened to be at the apartment, which neither of them rented.
After a rest Grunewald felt better and he and Mrs. Anderson dined out with a friend, and returned to the apartment. There Grunewald suffered a heart seizure.
While tending him, Mrs. Anderson forgot about a pot of coffee heating on the stove. It boiled over and put out the flames. The two jets poured gas into the room and both passed out.
The building superintendent called the police and the emergency squad came, revived them and took them to the hospital.

GIRL SCOUT DAY CAMP—A study of the Midland community will be the program feature for the day camp to be held Monday through Friday in Hogan Park by the Midland County Girl Scout Association. Discussing plans for the program above are, left to right, Mrs. Deryl Bishop, camp director, Carol Ann Woolley, Kisty Howell and Mrs. R. H. Frizzell, Jr., a unit leader.

ENJOY CAMP COOKOUT—Cookout lunches will be daily features of the five-day Girl Scout camp, a Western style camp that's to be called the G-Bar-S. Perfecting their cookout technique in the picture above are, left to right, Ann Warren, Brownell Queen, who is a Senior Scout, Nancy Hitchcock and Mrs. J. C. Rinker, equipment chairman for the camp.

Girl Scouts To Open Day Camp Monday At Hogan Park Site

About 150 Girl Scouts will be on hand to enjoy the fun when the Midland County Girl Scout Association, a Community Chest Agency, opens its 1953 Day Camp Monday.

The five-day camp is to be held at a site at Hogan Park that has been designated as Camp G-Bar-S.

Sessions will be held from 8 a. m. until 1 p. m. daily, Monday through Thursday. On Friday, the campers will go to Hogan Park at 4:30 p. m. and will hold a closing campfire at 7 p. m.

Transportation will be furnished from the Girl Scout Little House to Hogan Park and back each day, officials said.

Theme of the week's program for the campers will be "Know Your Community." A primitive, Western style camp, the G-Bar-S also will feature hikes and games. The girls attending are asked to wear hats, shoes and socks for protection on hikes and to bring pocket knives, tin cups, forks and spoons.

On Monday, the girls will enjoy a series of get-acquainted games, work on their unit homes and plan their first cookout. Each girl will furnish a "nose bag lunch" for Monday. On succeeding days, they will have cookout lunches and drinks and fruit will be furnished.

The camp program will be under the direction of Mrs. Deryl Bishop, acting field director of the Midland County Girl Scout Association.

Mrs. Bishop has served this Summer as program chairman for Girl Scout Camp 'Mitre Peak near Alpine.

Assisting her for the day camp here will be Mrs. W. P. Crosby, a teacher in the Sam Houston Elementary School. Mrs. Crosby directed the 1951 Summer day camp here and previously had directed day camps in San Angelo.

Mrs. Stanley Erskine is the day camp chairman and Mrs. Henry G. Orson, a graduate of St. Paul's School of Nursing, Dallas, will supervise the health and safety of the campers.

Other officers are Mrs. W. M. Cates, business manager; Mrs. James D. Martin, transportation chairman; Mrs. J. C. Rinker, equipment chairman, and Mrs. Carl W. Covington, publicity chairman.

Unit leaders for the camp attended a training course, conducted by Mrs. Bishop, last week. Purpose of the course was to become acquainted with the camp site and to review and learn skills, arts, crafts, songs, cookout techniques and flag ceremonies that are objectives of a day camp.

More unit leaders still are needed to work with the girls who have registered for the camp, it was stressed, and Midlanders who will volunteer to help are asked to telephone 4-6222.

Senior, intermediate and Brownie scouts who will attend the camp held an opening rally Thursday. Girls who are not members of a scout troop also can attend the camp for a $1 fee, it was announced.

Haynes And Wistrand Wedding Solemnized In Midland Church

The marriage of Calva Ann Haynes to Lt. Robert Carl Wistrand of New York was solemnized at 8 p.m. Saturday in the First Christian Church, with the pastor, the Rev. Clyde Lindsley, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Haynes, 1405 West Ohio Street, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Kathleen Wistrand of New York City, N. Y.

Double ring vows were repeated by the couple at the church altar, which was banked with five baskets of white gladiolus. The setting was lighted by white tapers set in five branched candelabra that were entwined with white flowers. Family pews were marked with white gladiolus and ribbons.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing a floor-length dress of imported Chantilly lace over white satin. The lace of the bodice was scalloped over an illusion yolk outlined with seed pearls.

The bride's illusion veil was caught to a half-cloche cap of lace over satin. She carried a white orchid and stephanotis on a white prayer book. For something blue, she carried a blue lace handkerchief that had been carried by Mrs. T. P. Davis at her wedding.

Mrs. George S. Smith, who was the matron of honor, was wearing a waist-length gown of blue taffeta with an illusion overskirt and yoke. She wore a pearl-trimmed half hat of the same blue taffeta as her dress and had matching shoes and gloves. Her bouquet was of blue carnations with yellow ribbons.

Mrs. Howard Glass and Norma Gentry, bridesmaids, wore costumes identical to that of the matron of honor, except in yellow. Their flowers were yellow carnations tied with blue ribbons.

Serving as flower girl was Pamela Emerson, daughter of the matron of honor. Her dress was of yellow taffeta, with flowers marking the scalloped hemline and sweetheart neckline. Her hat and flower basket were of matching yellow taffeta.

James E. Payne of Sherman, uncle of bride, was the best man. Ushers included Howard Glass and George S. Smith.

Mrs. Marian Alles, organist, and Mrs. Larry Meltzer, soloist, provided the wedding music.

Selections sung by Mrs. Meltzer were "If God Left Only You" (Denmore) and "The Lord's Prayer" (Malotte).

Mrs. Alles played "Liebestraum" (Liszt), "Plaisir d'Amour" (Martini), "I Love Thee" (Greig), "Traumerei" and "Romance" (Schumann), "Oh Promise Me" (DeKoven) and the wedding marches from "Lohengrin" (Wagner) and "A Midsummer Night's Dream" (Mendelssohn).

The wedding reception was held in the Ranchland Hill Country Club, where the couple was assisted in receiving guests by their parents and the bride's attendants.

The bouquets of blue and yellow carnations carried by the bride's attendants in the wedding decorated the refreshment table.

Nell Cole and Mrs. Charles Browning presided at the refreshment table and Mrs. Charles Chamberlin, Jr., registered guests. Assisting in the houseparty were Mrs. James E. Payne of Sherman, Mrs. Bernice Stephens and Mrs. T. P. Davis.

Out-of-city guests included Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Daniels of Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Haynes of San Antonio and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Robinson of Lubbock.

When the couple left on a wedding trip to New Mexico, the bride changed to a suit of brown silk shantung, with green lizard shoes and bag and a brown hat accented with green feather trim.

After September 1, the couple will be at home at 8961 Southeast Hinkley Street in Portland, Ore., where the bridegroom is stationed with the Air Force. He was graduated from Stuyvesant High School in New York City and, before entering the service, attended the University of Vermont for three years.

The bride was graduated from Midland High School and the West Texas Business College, Sherman. She has been employed as a secretary with Stubbeman, McRae and Sealy.

Byerly P-TA Plans Meeting

Plans were underway here this weekend for the opening meeting of the year of the Ruth Byerly Parent-Teacher Association, scheduled the second Wednesday in September.

Serving as officers of the group this year are Mrs. Robert Peyton, president; Mrs. J. D. Edwards, first vice-president; Mrs. A. P. McConnell, Jr., second vice president and membership chairman, and Mrs. Sam T. Crews, Jr., secretary-treasurer.

There will be a free nursery provided for each meeting of the year, officials said.

The Ruth Byerly P-TA is an organization for Midlanders interested in pre-school children. It was organized in February of 1951 by the P-TA City Council and a group of interested persons.

The organization was named for Mrs. L. G. Byerly, who had been an active P-TA worker during her life and had been known as the mother of P-TA in Midland. She had served both as district and state P-TA president.

Marjorie Ann Reynolds Is Wed To Charles Edwin Prichard, Jr.

Marjorie Ann Reynolds of Dallas became the bride of Charles Edwin Prichard, Jr., of Midland in a ceremony at 8 p.m. Saturday in the Wayne Chapel of the Highland Park Presbyterian Church in Dallas.

After September 5, the couple will establish a residence at 3440 Rosedale Street in Dallas, where the bridegroom is a senior student in the Southern Methodist University Law School and the bride will teach the second grade at St. Mark's School of Texas.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Reynolds of Dallas. She was graduated from Hockaday Preparatory School, Hockaday Junior College and SMU, all in Dallas. She is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edwin Prichard, 501 Holmes Street. He was graduated from Midland High School and received his bachelor of business administration degree from SMU. He is a member of Kappa Sigma Fraternity and Phi Alpha Delta, law fraternity.

Simple white floral arrangements accented the beauty of the chapel for the wedding ceremony.

Dr. Arthur V. Boand, assistant pastor of the church, officiated as the couple exchanged single ring vows. Sam Parker, organist, played the traditional wedding music and accompanied John Bumstead, who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Attendants for the bride, all from Dallas, included Paula Rae Feldman as maid of honor and Jacqueline McNeice and Sarah Sue Grace, bridesmaids.

The bridegroom's father served as best man and ushers were Larry Allen Bedford and Charles Moncrief of Midland, Richard Clarke of Odessa, former Midlander, and Martin Smith of Shreveport, La.

Named as honorary ushers were Maurice Cox, who is stationed with the Army in Alabama, and Jack Hightower, who is serving with the Navy in Alaska.

Wears Lace, Taffeta

Her wedding gown was of white Chantilly lace over taffeta. The fitted bodice was fashioned with a scalloped portrait neckline and long sleeves terminating in points over the wrists. The lace of the bouffant floor-length skirt was scalloped over a pleated flounce of nylon tulle.

The bride's two-tiered, fingertip length veil of illusion was attached to a Juliet cap of lace that matched her dress. She wore a single strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom, and carried a white orchid, surrounded with stephanotis and a cascade of white satin ribbons.

Dresses for the bride's attendants were identically styled waltz-length frocks of pastel blue antique taffeta. They had bouffant skirts, fitted bodices with portrait necklines, and were accented with plated detail. The attendants wore Juliet caps to match their dresses and carried crescent bouquets of pastel pink asters.

Reception Held

The wedding reception was held in Currie Hall in the Highland Park Presbyterian Church. Assisting the couple in receiving their guests were the bride's mother and attendants and the bridegroom's parents.

Mrs. George Park of Midland, aunt of the bridegroom, served the wedding cake, and Mrs. Russell Reynolds of Dallas, the bride's aunt, presided at the punch bowl. Also in the houseparty were Mrs. Larry Allen Bedford of Midland, Darleen White of Dallas and Mrs. Jim White of Los Angeles, Calif., aunt of the bride.

The bride's table, decorated in an all-white setting, was laid with a floor-length organza cloth. Decorations included the tiered cake and silver candelabra, which were entwined with gardenias and fleur d' amour.

Out-of-city guests included Mr. and Mrs. George S. Park, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Allen Bedford and Toya Chapple of Midland; Mr. and Mrs. Travis Griffin of Lubbock; Mrs. Louis Lieber, Fort Worth, and Mrs. Jim White of Los Angeles, Calif.

When the couple left on a wedding trip to Colorado Springs, Colo., the bride changed to a dark grey suit, with white gloves, black suede shoes and bag, and a white felt hat with pearl trim.

The bridegroom's parents were the host and hostess for the rehearsal dinner held Friday in the Dallas Country Club.

Emphasizing the bride's chosen colors, the table was decorated with a floral arrangement in blue and white.

Attending were the couple and their parents and the bride's attendants: Mrs. W. L. Schomerus, grandmother of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Reynolds and Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Prichard, uncle and aunt of the bridegroom, Dallas; Mrs. Jim White, Los Angeles, Calif.; Mrs. Louis Lieber of Fort Worth, grandmother of the bridegroom.

Mr. and Mrs. Travis Griffin of Lubbock, uncle and aunt of the bridegroom; Charles Moncrief, Martin Smith, Richard Clarke, Mr. and Mrs. George S. Park, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Allen Bedford and Toya Chapple, all of Midland.

Mrs. J. H. Hodge To Address Fall Directors Meeting

Mrs. J. Howard Hodge of Midland, safety chairman of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, will be one of the speakers at the Texas Federation's Eighth District board of directors meeting September 18 in Pecos.

Other speakers will be Mrs. L. E. Dudley, first vice president of the TFWC, and Mrs. W. E. Cantrell, TFWC regional vice president.

The day's program will include registration and coffee, 8:30 to 9:45 a.m.; board meeting at 10 a.m. in the Country Club; workshops on club mechanics, program planning and federation projects, and a luncheon at noon in the Country Club.

In a double ring ceremony at 8 p.m. Saturday Wanda Loretta Slocum of Cresson became the bride of Jimmie Lane Watson of Midland. Vows were read by the Rev. J. Conally Evans in the Cresson Baptist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ferd Slocum of Cresson. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Watson, 3904 Avendale Street.

Diana Daugherty provided the nuptial music and accompanied Mrs. Bob Macina who sang "At Dawning," "I Love Thee" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore an ice blue gown fashioned with a Chandelly lace bodice and a pleated nylon tulle skirt over satin. Her fingertip length veil was attached to a bandeau of satin petals encrusted with pearls, and she carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid and a shower of stephanotis.

Attendants Listed
Linda Lee Slocum of Cresson was the maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Mrs. J. Conally Evans of Odessa, Mrs. Billy Ross Wren of Fort Worth and Jimmie Jo Bradley of Weatherford. Sisay Miles and Sue Milburn of Cresson were the candlelighters.

The attendants were identically dressed in ankle length gowns of Elizabeth blue net over taffeta, styled with velvet midriffs and bol-eros. Their hats were of matching velvet and net, and they carried bouquets of yellow asters.

Vickie Slocum of Oklahoma City, Okla., flower girl, wore a blue taffeta dress with a bouffant skirt and carried a basket filled with rose petals.

LaGrant Daugherty of Midland served as the bridegroom's best man. Groomsmen were L. C. Neatherlin of Midland, Bennie Rutherford of Sweetwater, Tony Watson of Midland and Ferd Taylor Slocum of Cresson, and ushers were Owen W. Fauntleroy of Wichita Falls, John Goodrich of Oklahoma City, Okla., Bob Macina of Midland and Dub Slocum of Cresson.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. The couple was assisted in receiving by the bridal attendants and the mothers of the bride and bridegroom.

House Party Named
Others in the reception house-party were Dora Calhoun of Cresson, Nelda Patteson of Houston, Mrs. Owen W. Fauntleroy of Wichita Falls, Mrs. H. L. Hildebrand of Midland, Mrs. William Howard Pope of Fort Worth, Mrs. A. W. Slocum, Mrs. Jeff Slocum, and Mrs. T. L. Brothers of Cresson, and Mary Belle Grafe of Fort Worth.

For traveling the bride wore a purple three-piece wool suit with a purple beaver hat and black velvet accessories. Her corsage was a white orchid.

After a wedding trip the couple will be at home in Midland. Out-of-city guests were Senator and Mrs. Wingate Lucas of Grapevine, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Hamilton of Midland, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Davis of Midland, Mr. and Mrs. James Daugherty of Midland, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Lee Farr, Jr. of San Angelo, Mr. and Mrs. Rocky Reagan of George West and Dr. and Mrs. D. BUSINESS IN MIDLAND

Curtis Morgan of Carlisbad, N. M. was a business visitor in Midland Friday and Saturday.

Margaret Lucretia Ott and Joseph Leslie Willing, Jr. exchanged wedding vows in a ceremony at 5 p.m. Saturday in the First Methodist Church.

When they return from a wedding trip to South Texas, the couple will be at home at 3309 Park Lane.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William O. Ott of Fort Worth. She was graduated from Paschal High School in Fort Worth and received her bachelor of science degree from Texas State College for women, Denton, where she was a member of Sigma Alpha Iota. She is a member of the faculty at DeZavala Elementary School.

The bridegroom is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Willing, Sr., of Tulsa, Okla. He was graduated from Will Rogers High School in Tulsa and received his bachelor of science degree from the University of Texas.

He now is employed as a mechanical engineer with the Humble Pipe Line Company.

Pastor Officiates
Dr. Luther Kirk, First Methodist pastor, officiated for the single-ring wedding ceremony. George L. De Hart, church organist, played classical selections, including "Dedication" and the traditional wedding marches. Special music was provided by the bridegroom's father, who sang "I Love You Truly."

The church was decorated with a centered spray arrangement of white and pink gladioli.

Honor attendants for the couple were Christine Lane and Harold Louigno. Serving as ushers were Curtis Reagan and Leigh Cox.

Wears White
Escorted to the altar by her brother, William M. Ott of Dallas, the bride wore a gown of white tulle and gauze shantung. It was designed with off-the-shoulder yoke edged with medallions of lace, and a bolero jacket with a rolled collar. The bouffant skirt of gauze shantung over tulle, worn over starched crinolines, fell to a graceful waist-length.

The bride's shoulder-length veil of French illusion fell from a coronet of seed pearls and rhinestones. She carried a nosegay of white carnations centered with butterfly orchids. Her shoes were white satin.

Dress for the maid of honor was of pastel pink nylon, with a full demilength skirt, over pink tulle. With the dress, Miss Lane wore a crown headdress of shattered pink carnations, linen shoes in pastel pink, and carried a nosegay of deeper pink carnations.

The bridegroom's mother chose a dress of navy crepe with navy accessories and a corsage of pink and white carnations.

Houseparty Named
Assisting in the houseparty for the reception in the fellowship hall of the church were Mrs. Forrest Reid, Mrs. Doyle DeArman, Peggy Joe Lummus, Mrs. R. P. Deemer, Mrs. Ray Pickard of Tulsa and Mrs. William Ott of Dallas.

The bride's table was centered with an arrangement of white gladioli.

For traveling, the bride changed to a suit of candlelight faille. With the dress, she wore black accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Out-of-city guests for the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. William M. Ott of Dallas, brother and sister-in-law of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. John Ligon, Houston, and the bridegroom's family from Tulsa, including his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Willing, Sr., his sister, Mrs. Ray Pickard, and his aunt, Mrs. Leroy Graham.

Pegrans To Live In Amarillo Following Marriage In Pecos

PECOS—When S/Sgt. and Mrs. John David Pegrans return from a wedding trip to New Mexico and Colorado, they will be at home in Amarillo.

The couple was married Sunday in the First Methodist Church in Pecos. The Rev. Ray McGrew officiated at the double ring vows.

The bride is the former Wanda Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lowery Walker of Pecos. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. J. Harvey Pegrans of Princeton, Ind.

The candlelight ceremony was read before an altar decorated with palms, candelabra and baskets of yellow gladioli.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore the traditional bridal white. Her gown was fashioned with a fitted bodice of lace over satin and a train of rose point lace. The full skirt fell in shirred tiers of nylon marquisette. The dress had an illusion neckline outlined with sequins and pearls, and full length sleeves which tapered to points at the bride's wrists. Her fingertip length veil of nylon illusion flowed from a rose point lace cap dotted with sequins and pearls.

Bouquet Of Roses
She carried a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis, centered with a white orchid and resting on a Bible.

The bride's sister, Carolyn Walker, was maid of honor. She wore an ice blue nylon dress of net over satin, and carried a bouquet of white carnations and roses fashioned in a fan of white.

Bridesmaids were Shirley Priddy, Audrey Herrington and Marilyn Tuttle, all of Amarillo, and Mrs. Clifton Harper of Hereford, sister of the bride. Each attendant wore a pastel-colored dress and carried a bouquet of carnations in a deeper shade of the same color. The dresses which were styled like the maid of honor's, were of aqua, pink, lilac and yellow, respectively.

Susie Robison, flower girl, wore an ice blue nylon net over tulle and carried a blue basket of pink rose petals. David Harper, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer, and candlelighters were Edna Myrtle Trimble of Dimmitt and Lutha Beck of Lubbock, cousins of the bride.

Bride's Brother Is Best Man
Lowery Norman Walker, brother of the bride, was best man. Ushers were Johnny Giddens, Joe R. Hydriek and Edwin J. Kilray, all of Amarillo, and Wayne Walker, brother of the bride.

Mr. Harvey Binkler, organist, furnished the nuptial music and accompanied Jerry Cleveland who sang "Through the Years" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Mrs. O. B. Trimble of Dimmitt, Mrs. R. E. Booth of Farwell and Mrs. C. C. Perryman of Lubbock, aunts of the bride, and Mrs. L. L. Beck, cousin of the bride, assisted in the houseparty.

The table was covered with an imported linen cloth over green, and was centered with an arrangement of yellow gladioli.

For traveling the bride chose a toast-colored nylon shantung suit with brown suede accessories. With it she wore the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Pegrans, a 1948 graduate of Hereford High School, attended West Texas College in Canyon and later was graduated from St. Anthony's School of Nursing.

Pegrans was graduated from Princeton High School and now is in the Air Force stationed at Amarillo.

Following the ceremony a reception was held on the lawn of Mr. and Mrs. Walker's home. A wishing well and a rock garden decorated with yellow gladioli and greenery formed the decorations. Mrs. T. A. Roberson presided at the guest book.

Mrs. O. B. Trimble of Dimmitt, Mrs. R. E. Booth of Farwell and Mrs. C. C. Perryman of Lubbock, aunts of the bride, and Mrs. L. L. Beck, cousin of the bride, assisted in the houseparty.

Loismarie Johnson Is Bride Of William Clayton Harrington

Loismarie Johnson and William Clayton Harrington, both of Midland, exchanged wedding vows in a ceremony at 9:30 a. m. Saturday in St. Ann's Catholic Church.

When they return September 1 from a wedding trip, the couple will establish a residence in Midland.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Emmett Johnson, 401 West Jax Street. She was graduated from Immaculate Heart High School and attended Mt. St. Mary's College, both in California. In Midland, she has been employed as a scout secretary for Superior Oil Company.

The bridegroom, who is employed in Midland as a geologist for Gulf Oil Corporation, is the son of W. O. Harrington of Goldsmith. He was graduated from Texas A&M.

Pastor Officiates
Officiating for the double ring wedding ceremony was the Rev. T. J. Kennedy, O.M.I., church pastor.

Rebecca Stiles, organist, played a pre-nuptial concert, including "Panis Angelicus" (Frank), "Agnus Dei" (Bizet), "Communion in D" (Rich Keys Blues), "Ave Maria" (Ramelis) and two traditional hymns, "O Sanctissima" and "On This Day."

As the processional, she played "March" (Haydn), and as the recessional, "Triumphal March" (William Stieckles).

Decorations for the church featured twin arrangements of white gladiolus and asters in gold vases on the main altar. Smaller arrangements of the same flowers were placed on the side altars.

Wears Organdy, Lace
The bride was given in marriage by her father.

She wore a wedding gown of Swiss organdy and lace over taffeta. The lace bodice had brief sleeves and a Peter Pan collar, with fitted midriff and a draped yoke of tucked organdy. The bouffant organdy skirt swept into a chapel train and was worn over crinolines and hoops.

The bride's fingertip-length double veil of illusion fell from a small cap frosted with crystal bugle beads. She wore mits of organdy and lace to match her dress and carried a crystal rosary with an orchid surrounded with split carnations and stephanotis.

Attendants Named
Attendants for the bride were her sisters, Mrs. J. H. Bothwell of Colorado, Calif., who was matron of honor, and Mary Joann Johnson, junior bridesmaid.

They wore dresses of white eyelet organdy over pink taffeta, with pink taffeta cummerbunds. Their matching pink taffeta caps were frosted with crystal bugle beads. They wore white pumps and carried bouquets of pink carnations and ivy.

Ted Lacaff attended the bridegroom as best man and ushers included Lt. J. H. Bothwell of Colorado, Calif., brother-in-law of the bride, Robert L. Rowan, William Klein and Lawrence Fuller.

The reception was held in the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Beakey, on the Andrews Highway.

Assisting the couple in receiving guests were the hostess and the bride's attendants. Also in the houseparty were Edith Emmer, Pat Plans will be made for delegates who will attend the state meeting in Galveston.

Number Of Korean Veterans In College Expected To Double

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The number of Korean veterans expected to attend college this fall under the new GI Bill is more than double the total on the campuses this Spring.

The Veterans Administration said Saturday it is planning for about 170,000 enrollments, while at the end of April about 75,000 were enrolled.

The VA said it also expected Korean veterans participating in other types of education and training programs under the bill will increase to about 150,000. About 70,000 were doing so at the end of June.

Congress in writing the bill said the Korean veterans who were separated from service before Aug. 20, 1952, must be in training before Aug. 20, 1954. Otherwise, they lose their GI bill rights.

Veterans separated after Aug. 20, 1952, have two years from the time they left the service in which to get started.

GARDEN NOTES

Euonymus Termed Popular, Useful Shrub For Growth In Midland, West Texas Area

(One of a series of articles on gardening prepared and submitted by the Midland Council of Garden Clubs)

The euonymus is a popular and useful shrub in this area. It may be grown as a hedge, clipped or natural, against a fence or as a part of the landscape plan. It has long, straight branches with medium sized, glossy, evergreen leaves. There are several varieties, some with yellow streaks on the leaves. The only disadvantage to its use is its susceptibility to scale. This is easily seen and identified. Tiny white oval spots like needle tips appear on both sides of the leaves, especially where the shrub is shaded or has poor air circulation. This will eventually cause the leaves to drop off and may kill the plant.

Unlike some of the garden pests euonymus scale can be controlled. Treatment is by spraying when temperature is under 85 degrees with an oil spray according to directions. Cal-Sul, an oil sulphur spray is effective. Volck diluted one part to fifty with one teaspoon of nicotine to a gallon of water can be used. Treatment must be repeated about every ten days until all scale is killed. The dead ones will usually wash off in a strong hose spray. It is particularly necessary to spray in the Spring just before growth starts as this is when the eggs hatch.

If iris have not yet been divided this may still be done. Root development will not be as extensive as when divided earlier but the leaves will not suffer so much from hot sun. There is still time to order Iris. The American Iris Society in its preliminary report of the Awards Committee has given the highest award, the Dykes Medal, to the cream and yellow variety, Truly Yours. Awards of Merit go to Mary Randall, Ballerina, Thomas III, Cloud Cap, Solid Gold, Gold Sovereign, Port Wine, Tranquility, Northwestern, Maytime, Prospector and Ebony Echo. These varieties range in price from five dollars up but should be of interest to the iris specialist.

This is a difficult time in Midland gardens because of extreme heat and the need for irrigation. To have a better garden this time next year look at those shrubs and flowers which are prospering in yours and other gardens. Some flowers which are blooming in spite of unfavorable conditions are gallardia, verbenas, globe amaranth (sometimes called Bachelor's Button), celosia or cockscomb, canna, cosmos, carnations, pinks, daylilies, marigolds, wild pink primrose and cosmos. Plan some of these for your next year's Summer garden.

Also blooming now is an interesting and little used small plant named Liriope muscari. It grows from small tubers or tuberous roots similar to small daylily tubers. Liriope has broad grasslike leaves which are arching and about ten inches high. Best of all the plant is evergreen. It is fine for the border and now has ten to twelve inch spikes covered with long lasting lavender flowers. Liriope will do well in shade and part shade but also does fairly well in full sun. It is available from southern nurseries such as Thomasville Nurseries, Inc., Thomasville, Georgia. It is slow to become established but is very hardy and should be used more in Midland.

Woman's Club Sets Ground-Breaking
The Midland Woman's Club, Inc., has scheduled ground-breaking ceremonies for its proposed clubhouse Monday in Hogan Park.

The ceremony, which will be held at 9 a. m., is open to the public. General contractors for the building are Johnson and Grimes. Walter L. Norris, architect, will supervise construction.

The new clubhouse represents the culmination of one of the Woman's Club's biggest long-range projects.

Bride-Elect Is Party Honoree

A breakfast and a coffee given here last week were among pre-nuptial compliments for Katherine Lewis, who will become the bride of John C. Steinberger Saturday.

Miss Lewis is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Lewis, 1115 Princeton Street, and her fiancé is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clark R. Steinberger, 1804 West College Street.

Mrs. Paxton Howard and Mrs. John Fitzgerald honored Miss Lewis with a coffee Friday in the Howard home at 2200 Harvard Street.

Guests were met at the door by the hostesses and were presented to the honoree and her mother and the mother of the prospective bridegroom.

Mrs. Henry Murphey and Mrs. George S. Turner presided at the refreshment table, assisted by Anne and Joan Fitzgerald and Mrs. Dave Donaldson, who is a sister of the prospective bridegroom.

A silver and white wedding cake, topped with miniature bridal couple, centered the table, which was laid with a white lace cloth and silver appointments.

Hostess gift to the honoree was a covered lazy Susan.

About 75 guests attended.

Paul Harvey Books Second Talk In City

Paul Harvey, nationally famous newscaster, is coming back to Midland October 10 to speak under the sponsorship of the Midland Lions Club.

His address will be given in the Midland High School auditorium at 8 p.m., said Duke Jimerson, Lions president. Tickets will be $2.40 downstairs, and $1.20 for the balcony.

Harvey, who addressed the Midland Knife and Fork Club in the Spring, ranks among the top news commentators with his sure instinct for the news and a flair for presenting it with human interest and drama.

Now 35 years old, Harvey's experience includes managing a radio station in Salina, Kan., radio work for the Office of War Information in Michigan, and service in the Air Force.

Harvey has hammered hard at inadequacies in government and other fields, but always, he says, he has been fighting "not against men, but against ideas which destroy men."

He is author of the best-seller, "Remember These Things" which established bookstore sales-records in the non-fiction category.

Marshall Plan's Effect Seen In Public Utilities Of Italians

By J. H. ALLISON
Special Correspondent

ROME—It is very difficult to get along in a country where the people's ways, customs and language are so different. But, of course, it's a natural situation found in turn, by foreign people who travel in America.

I find Italy divided into three definite parts: northern, southern and central.

Milan, in the northern sector, is the largest city and is a manufacturing center.

Naples, in the south, is in many ways vastly different and poorer. It is a harbor the Italians compare with New York.

Rome is the major city in the central sector of the country.

Italy's economic conditions are interesting. I find there are about 2,000,000 unemployed in Italy, more than any of the other countries I have visited. Wages are low and there seems to be more poverty in the lower part of Italy. The people, however, seem to be getting a great deal of aid from the Christian Democratic Party, the largest in Italy.

Men, women and children work hard in the fields, but they use oxen instead of modern machinery such as are used in the United States. Perhaps, someday, they'll be able to adopt more up-to-date methods.

Marshall Plan Helps

The Marshall Plan has been a great help here and would be more in my judgment if used entirely for building up public utilities, railroads and the like.

I find that Italy respects Americans more now than England. Italians seem to appreciate deeply what we are doing.

Gasoline prices range from $1 to $1.25 a gallon, with a tax of about 75 cents. The Italians, however, drive small cars and motorcycles which get good mileage.

Italian income tax is computed on a sliding scale, starting with five per cent and increasing to 25 per cent, depending upon the person's income, the number of children and other factors. A person does not have to pay income tax, one official told me, if he will construct a house. That gives him a 25-year exemption.

As for art and sculpture, Italy seems to be far in advance of any other country I have visited.

I visited the old Coliseum and several of the other historic ruins. People were practically slaves in the old days, and if you could see the tremendous vaults, castles and fortresses, you would better understand the history of Italy.

Bomb Damage Heavy

I find no traces of bombing in Rome, but Naples and such cities as Milan suffered heavy damage.

We visited the Vatican and St. Peter's, the largest church in the world. It seems to me too much is spent on churches and not enough for the common good.

The Christian Democrats have groups of boys similar to our Boy Scouts, and also work with orphan girls, groups of which I have seen.

The girls were in charge of Catholic nuns, the boys under a man leader, and were being taken for an outing such as we give our Scouts on holidays.

We'll go from Rome to Genoa and thence to Paris.

Midland County Library Adds New Fiction, Non-Fiction Books

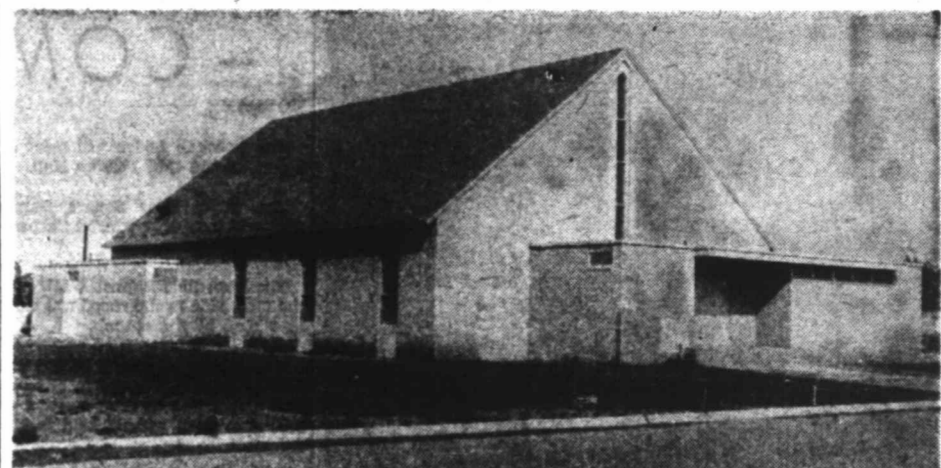

Thirteen new fiction books and 29 non-fiction volumes have been added to the shelves at the Midland County Library, it was announced Saturday by Lucile Carroll, librarian.

The library also has received five new editions of older novels.

Included in the fiction list were: Moulins Rouge (LaMure), Time and Time Again (Hilton), The Innocent Voyage (Hughes), Anna Fitzalan (Steen), You Shall Know Them (Vercors), Big White House (Holliston), Salt Harbor (Warren), Cabin in the Woods (Neubauer), Frontier Trader (Stanley), Owl Hoot (Crowe), A Woman as Great as the World (Hawks) and The Laughing Stranger (Delmar).

Older volumes which have been replaced with newer editions are: War and Peace (Tolstoy), Rebecca (DuMaurier), Les Misérables (Hugo), Jennie Gerhart (Dreiser) and The Trojan Horse (Morley).

Among the non-fiction books were: The Big Change (Allen), How to Buy Stocks (Engel), A History of the Middle Ages (Paine), From Lenin to Malenkov (Stelaj-Watson), How to Survive on Land and Sea (U. S. NEW CHURCH OF CHRIST—First services in the newly finished Church of Christ at 1511 North Fort Worth Street, will be held August 30 with a revival continuing through September 6. The new minister, Jay Channell, formerly was minister of a Brady Church of Christ five years. Cost of the building was approximately $87,000. Regular services each Sunday are at 9:30 a.m., 10:20 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. with Wednesday services starting at 7:30 p.m.

Community Chest Goal Set At $93,132.75 For Midland

More than 35 Midlanders are members of the board and various committees comprising the backbone of the Midland Community Chest, whose goal for 1953 has been set at $93,132.75.

Don Oliver, Chest president, pointed out that this figure represents an increase of approximately $13,000 over collections for last year. The budget was approved by directors on the recommendation of the budget committee.

Other officers in Midland are: John Reid, vice president; Mrs. John Freeman, secretary; and J. Grant Byus, treasurer.

Members of the board of directors are Robert E. Atwell, Ralph Barron, Mrs. Fred C. Bauchens, Joe Beakley, Mrs. J. J. Black, A. A. Bradford, John P. Butler, J. Grant Byus, H. E. Chiles, Jr., R. B. Cowden, Paul L. Davis, Joe T. Dickerson, Alden Donnelly, Mrs. S. M. Erskine, Andrew Fasken, Marion Flynn, J. P. Gibbons, Miles Hall, J. W. House, Charles Knorr, Harry Lawson, J. W. McMillen, Charles Marsh II, H. W. Mathews, Henry Murphy, Donald M. Oliver, John Perkins, Mrs. W. H. Pomeroy, Jr., Mrs. John Redfern, John Reid.

Clarence Schaubauer, J. W. Starr, Frank Stubbeman, E. J. Wicker, Jack B. Wilkinson, Robert L. Wood.

The executive committee is composed of Dickerson, Hall, Knorr, McMillen, Oliver, Perkins, Mrs. Pomeroy, Jr., Reid, Starr, and Wilkinson.

Joe T. Dickerson is chairman of the budget and admissions committee and Mrs. John Freeman is executive secretary. Others are Mrs. Fred Bauchens, A. A. Bradford, John P. Butler, J. Grant Byus, Alden Donnelly, Mrs. S. M. Erskine, Murray Fasken, Donald M. Oliver, John Perkins, Mrs. W. H. Pomeroy, Jr., John Reid, and Robert L. Wood.

The nine participating agencies this year are Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Midland Youth Center, Goodfellow and YMCA, the addition of the YMCA in this year's campaign accounts for a portion of the increase in the budget, Oliver said.

The Chest will begin its annual finance campaign the latter part of September and extend through October.

John Perkins, campaign chairman, is already underway with organizational plans.

Commission To Consider Vast Federal Aid System

WASHINGTON—In 1952 federal aid constituted 17.3 per cent of all state general revenues in the country. The proportion of state revenues that was made up by federal aid varied among the individual states from 10.6 per cent in Maryland to 37.7 per cent in Wyoming.

This vast federal aid system, upon which all 48 states have become increasingly dependent, will be one of the major problems confronting the new Commission on Intergovernmental Relations. It also was a center of discussion at the National Conference on Federal-State Relations held in Washington in June by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

In the 1920's, federal aid was relatively moderate, and confined to just a few activities. Highway construction accounted for 75 per cent

Civil Service Exams To Fill Aeronautical Engineer Positions

The United States Civil Service Commission Saturday announced examinations for aeronautical engineers for positions paying $4,205 to $7,040 a year with the Air Force Cambridge Research Center in Cambridge, Mass., and for corrective Therapists, $3,410 to $5,060, for duty with the Veterans Administration throughout the United States and in Puerto Rico.

Appropriate education or experience is required for aeronautical engineer positions. Education plus experience (or education only, for jobs paying $3,410) are required for corrective Therapist positions. No written tests are required.

For these aeronautical engineer positions, applications should be filed with the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, Air Force Cambridge Research Center, 230 Albany St., Cambridge 39, Mass. To apply for corrective Therapist positions, send applications to the Central Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, Washington 25, D. C. Applications will be accepted until further notice.

Further information and application forms may be obtained from the commission's local secretary, James Tabor located at Room one, Basement, Main Post Office, Midland or from the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington, 25, D. C.

Justice Wilson Due To Address Members Of Lions Club Here

Will Wilson, associate justice of the Supreme Court of Texas, will be speaker at the weekly luncheon of the Midland Lions Club Wednesday at Hotel Scharbauer.

One of the youngest men ever to serve on the Supreme Court of Texas, Wilson was elected to that court in 1950 by an overwhelming majority.

A law graduate of Southern Methodist University, he was employed as a trial lawyer for a Dallas civil law firm from 1937 to 1941.

He specialized in trial work for the State in cases involving the public schools and Texas University as an assistant attorney general of Texas under Gerald Mann and Grover Sellers in 1941 and 1942.

Wilson saw active combat on Bataan and Luzon during World War II. As commanding officer of the 465th Field Artillery Battalion on Northern Luzon he accepted the surrender of the forces of General Yamashita, infamous Japanese military leader.

His drive against organized crime and vice while serving as district attorney for Dallas County from 1947 to 1950 attracted national attention.

Wilson was one of the five district attorneys selected by the U. S. attorney general to advise the National Crime Conference held in Washington in February, 1950.

He is a past president of the District and County Attorneys Association of Texas.

Cropduster Author Of SEP Tale Walks Away From Smashup

JACKSON, MISS.—F.—Cropdusting pilot Wayne Brown, who wrote a national magazine article, "I Fly With Death," shortly before a near-fatal crash, was discharged by the Jackson Veterans Hospital.

Brown crashed his plane while dusting a plantation near Rolling Fork shortly before his article appeared in the Saturday Evening Post, was discharged by the hospital Friday.

"I got to read my story in the hospital with a twisted hip, a broken leg and broken teeth," he said.

Brown was dusting the field near Rolling Fork when his windshield fogged and he got insecticide in his eyes.

"I couldn't see and crashed into the middle of a 40-acre field," he said.

Brown said he would return to Rolling Fork for his automobile before heading for his Stephenville, Texas, home for a rest.

Topics Listed For Next Meeting Of Facts Forum

The two subjects for discussion at the Wednesday meeting of Midland Facts Forum will be "Should 18-year-olds be allowed to vote?" and "Would very low tariffs or free trade lower the present U. S. wage standards?"

At the last meeting of the group, the question "Should our Texas election laws be changed?" received an overwhelming affirmative vote.

The first regularly elected officers and the board of directors also were named at the meeting. Mrs. A. V. Reid was elected president and C. J. Zabick, secretary-treasurer.

Members of the board of directors are Mrs. L. E. Clemens, W. M. Horton, A. V. Reid, W. M. Frack and Howard Swaim.

Retiring temporary officers are W. M. Horton, president, and Dr. Henry Schlichting, Jr., secretary-treasurer.

The club welcomes visitors and new members at their regular meetings every second and fourth Wednesday of each month on the second floor of the Midland Tower.

At each meeting, two questions are discussed. A vote is taken before each topic is discussed and again after discussion.

Daddy Ringtail

Daddy Ringtail And The Great Forest

This isn't a story of things that happen. It is a story of things that are. They are things to remember about the Great Forest, the place our adventures are always happening.

Daddy Ringtail is a monkey. He lives in a monkey house, up in the top of the very tall tree, right in the middle of the Great Forest. Daddy Ringtail likes to live there, and with him live Mugwump Monkey, the monkey boy, and Mother Ringtail. They have many wonderful adventures together. They have adventures too with the Monkey moonlight, the shadows are soft and friendly in a magic sort of way. Maybe somewhere away through the trees, a lion will roar or cough in the night.

Even when Winter comes, the Great Forest is a happy place. There are nights that are cold, cold—when the cold north wind Catches from the zoo, with Old MacDonald who has a farm, with Dr. Snobug who runs up and down the Elephant Path as fast as the wind, and with the Huffle Puffen, that friendly wolf who lives in a hollow tree house.

Daddy Ringtail indeed likes to live in the Great Forest. It is a happy, magic place, pretty to see. The sunlight sparkles on the Whispering River. The trees are tall and the grass is green. Beautiful flowers grow everywhere.

Then comes the night when Old Mr. Sun has gone down the sky to the other side of the world in China. The moon rides high and bright in the sky, shining down on all of the Great Forest, down on the Whispering River, on the Elephant Path, down on the Happy Pool and on the tree with Daddy Ringtail's monkey house in the top. And there on the ground in comes howling and clawing around the trees and nests and dens where all the animals make their homes—when ice and snow, instead of leaves, are covering all the trees—when even the stars look cold in the sky.

Then it's fun to be there in Daddy Ringtail's monkey house, safe and warm by the fire in the fireplace, watching the dancing flames, listening to the snap and crackle and pop of the wood. Oh, the Great Forest is a happy place indeed, Daddy Ringtail says, because for him it is home. And a home isn't just the place where you live and sleep. It's the place you belong with your family, where everything is safe and happy, whatever happens to everything else in the world. Happy day!

BORN 10 WEEKS PREMATURELY—

Little Gretchen's Been Here Longer Than Others Her Age

By JIM BOB GALLAWAY
Reporter-Telegram Staff
Gretchen is a little girl . . .
But four and a half months ago she was a more-than-little girl . . .
When she came along on last April Fool's day she barely bothered the scales with her two pounds, two ounces.
That's right. That's all the scales would allow: two pounds, two ounces.
But you can't blame the scales. They weren't expecting her for another two and a half months.
Into The Incubator
Gretchen, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Fred Gaarde, started her life "on the inside looking out," for within minutes after her premature birth she was placed in a glass-walled incubator for a 45-day stay.
The incubator provided additional oxygen for the blue-eyed tot, until she grabbed four pounds from the scales—and continued throughout the entire time providing constant temperature of about 80 degrees and humidity of about 70 per cent.

You should see her now. She's catching up.
She's Been Here Longer
During the last three weeks she's been gaining at the rate of a pound and two ounces per week—and now weighs eight pounds, 12 ounces.
Look at it this way: Gretchen's no different from other youngsters her age.
She's just been here longer . . .
Already she's trying her hand at eating strained baby foods, and keeping a close eye on anything and everything that moves within her vision.
Sure, she gets grumpy now and then. But what girl doesn't when she gains more than a pound a week?
Keeping Close Check
Gretchen's first three and a half months of life were spent in a Midland hospital.
Then she went home to be all but smothered with care by Mrs. Gaarde, Dr. Gaarde and Mrs. O. Wilkinson, the nurse who attended Gretchen throughout her incubator and hospital life. Mrs. Wilkinson stayed close at hand for five days and then returned to her regular nursing duties.

Mrs. Wilkinson, who calls Gretchen "my little girl," still keeps a close check on the Gaarde household—and particularly, of course, the newest member.
Peeking Through Window
Everything's in top shape now, though. The only big job ahead is taking care of the growing pains.
A sidenote on the papa. He's going through his first "growing pains." Sure, the Gaardes have another child, but that birth came along while the doc was overseas. By the time he had returned, the eldest had begun to toddle around.
For Dr. Gaarde, then, this is the first "baby in the house."
Mrs. Gaarde? Oh, she's going fine. Has been all along. She was abed for about three days—but she spent a lot more time at the hospital peeping through the incubator show window.

Mrs. Wilkinson and Gretchen

Instant Coffee Gains In Favor

Time was when the vast majority of American housewives looked down their collective noses at instant coffee.
They said it wasn't as good and furthermore, no housewife worthy of the name would use such a lazy method of preparing her family's coffee.
Remember how Grandma used to feel about ground coffee? Grandma bought a mixture of mocha and java out of large gunny sacks at the general store. She ground the beans herself and proudly boasted that HER coffee was the best and this already-ground stuff wasn't fit to drink. But how many homes have the old coffee grinder in the kitchen today?
Since the end of World War II coffee companies have made tremendous advances in scientific preparation of instant coffee. Much research has gone into improving their methods and today they are turning out good tasting, flavorful coffees.

Obviously, the big well-established coffee roasters would not be pouring tremendous amounts of money into huge facilities for manufacturing instant coffees, such as the new Folger plant in Houston, if they didn't feel their new products were answering a definite need of the American housewife.
Today's generation of housewives are buying and using instant coffees in increasing numbers. And what's more, they're making mighty good cups of coffee with them.

FESTIVE WEDDING GUESTS—Yugoslavs gather to sing and dance at nuptial ceremonies for the young couple and their festivities fill the city with merriment.

Estes, U.S. Friends Invited To Wedding Of Balkan Couple

By DWAIN M. ESTES
Community Ambassador

OHRID, YUGOSLAVIA—After spending three weeks with our sponsoring family in Ljubljana, we will spend the next three weeks touring the rest of Yugoslavia.

We traveled first from Ljubljana to Zagreb and then on to Belgrade, the capital.

In Zagreb, we visited the American overseas library and found it to be a very popular place. More than 1,000 persons a day visit this library and use its services.

Mrs. Corine Spencer, a Texan, is the librarian and she told us the library was doing a good job of teaching these people something about the way of life in the United States.

In Belgrade we visited two museums, one containing items from the time Yugoslavia was under Roman rule until the present time.

From Belgrade, we traveled south into Macedonia to the town of Skopje. Here we were able to see sights such as we had never seen before. One part of the town is known as the old Turkish part. There we saw many women wearing large, baggy pants which came down to the ankles.

Pictures Of Wedding
Bill Lawson, community ambassador from Flint, Mich., and myself took a two-hour hack ride around the city. We came across two wedding parties.

The people were dancing in the street and had crepe paper hung from one side to the other. We took pictures of the activities and they motioned for us to come inside the house.

We went in and saw the bridal chamber. The bed had a canopy made of brightly colored crepe paper and they wanted us to take pictures of it.

Songs Attract Crowd
Down one street we came across a group playing instruments and singing. We borrowed their violin and played and sang some American songs for them. Soon there was a crowd of about 100 standing around us.

One of the members of the group, Sophia Grawsky, community ambassador from Batavia, N. Y., became ill in Skopje. We took her to the hospital and found she had bronchial pneumonia. She remained in the hospital while we continued our journey to the southern part of Macedonia to the town of Ohrid.

The trip here was not long in terms of miles but very long in terms of time. Trains and buses travel slowly in this part of the world and the roads are not very good.

When we arrived in Ohrid, we found a beautiful lake, where we expect to stay two days and three nights.

People from all over Europe come here during the Summer.
The highlight of our first night here was it sitting around the campfire with Slovenes, Serbians, Macedonians and Germans, singing—each of us taking turns singing the songs of our countries.

Atlantic Wildcat In Andrews Gets Oil In Wolfcamp

The Atlantic Refining Company has a discovery from the Wolfcamp-Permian line in prospect in South-Central Andrews County at its No. 1-A-9 University, from the section at 8,450-8,518 feet.

That zone was drilled and tested for one and one-half hours. Gas surfaced in 24 minutes. The gas volume was not gauged or estimated.

When 30 stands, or approximately 1,850 feet of the drill pipe had been pulled after the tester was closed, the project started unloading fluid.

Unloaded Some Oil
It unloaded the 900-foot water cushion and some oil.

Operator calculated total recovery from the test was 5,500 feet of clean oil and the 900-foot water blanket. There were no signs of formation water.

Gravity of the oil was 35.5 degrees. The project is to drill deeper. On a previous test at 8,421-51 feet the recovery was 900 feet of slightly oil and gas cut water blanket and 90 feet of slightly oil and gas cut mud.

South Of Andrews
Open flowing bottom hole pressure on that test was 400 pounds. Shut-in bottom hole pressure after 15 minutes was 500 pounds. Tool was on that test for two hours.

Location is seven miles south of the town of Andrews and 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 13, block 9, University survey.

This wildcat is three miles north-east of the Triple N (multipay) field which produces from the McKnight-Permian and from the Ellenburger. It started out to go to 13,000 feet to explore the Ellenburger.

The new oiler was completed for a daily flowing potential 565.80 barrels of 51.1-gravity oil through a 14 64-inch choke and perforations at 13,222-13,242 feet.

Gas-oil ratio was 910-1 and tubing pressure 1,850 pounds. Pressure on casing was 1,500 pounds.

This new well is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 18, block 41, T-2-S, T&P survey.

Drillstem test was flowing oil Saturday at Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1-T University, project in South-Central Andrews County one location southwest of the pumping discovery well of the South Andrews (Wolfcamp).

Drillstem test was being taken in the Wolfcamp section from 8,744 to 8,782 feet. Gas surfaced in four minutes, mud in nine minutes and oil in 11 minutes. During 19 hours of flowing to tanks the well made 617.61 barrels of 40-gravity oil through various sized chokes. Gas-oil ratio is 1,137-1 and gravity 41.5 degrees. Operator was to leave the test tool in the hole until a 24-hour gauge could be recorded.

Above Field Pay

The Wolfcamp was topped in No. 1-T State at 8,378 feet, elevation 3,138 feet.

First shows of oil were found in the Wolfcamp on a drillstem test from 8,365 to 8,462 feet. That test developed 6.45 barrels of heavy oil and gas-cut mud and 2.06 barrels of 44-gravity oil. This test did not flow.

This project is 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 27, block 1, University Lands survey and nine miles south of the town of Andrews.

Carl Starrett
Starrett Is Named Welex's Assistant Division Manager

Carl Starrett has been promoted to be assistant manager of the West Texas division of Welex Jet Services, Inc. The headquarters of the division are in Midland.

Announcement of Starrett's promotion to the new job was made by W. O. Satterthwaite, division manager.

Starrett has been employed by Welex for more than two years. He had served as assistant district manager at Hobbs and was district manager at Abilene when he was assigned the position he is now on.

Several changes Made On Humble's Geological Staff

Several changes in the staff of the exploration department of Humble Oil & Refining Company's West Texas division have recently been made.

R. W. (Bob) Bybee, formerly in the division headquarters in Midland has been promoted to be an assistant division geologist and has been transferred to Roswell, N. M., to handle exploration activities for Humble in the New Mexico-Arizona area.

Bybee will be in charge of the company's Roswell exploration office and will work under the general supervision of the Midland headquarters.

Hoover To Corpus Christi
W. B. Hoover, geologist, formerly located at Roswell has been transferred to the staff of the exploration department of Humble's South Texas division at Corpus Christi. Hoover lived in Midland at one time.

V. C. Maley, another former Midland, is division chief geologist at Corpus Christi.

B. R. Payne, geologist, formerly located in Humble's general offices at Houston has been transferred to Midland.

A. A. Phillips, geologist, has been transferred from Hobbs, N. M., to Albuquerque, N. M.

Other Transfers
R. J. McDaniel, geologist, has been moved from Humble's Means district camp in Andrews County, to Hobbs.

W. L. Jordan, Jr., geologist, has been transferred from Albuquerque to the Means district camp in Andrews County.

George Ross and R. F. Matthews, both scouts, and formerly located in Midland, are now stationed at Roswell and handling assignments in New Mexico.

On Special Assignment
Crandall D. Jones, geologist on the division headquarters staff in Midland is currently on a two-months special assignment in the company's Houston headquarters. He will return to Midland October 1.

W. E. (Bill) Dougherty of Midland is chief geologist for Humble's West Texas division and is in charge of its exploration work for this region.

The Midland division office supervises Humble's work in West Texas, New Mexico and Arizona.

Headlee Pool Gets Another Flowing Well

The Texas Company No. 1 McKnight, one location southwest of the discovery well for Ellenburger production in the Headlee (Multipay) field, has been completed as a flowing producer from that formation.

The new oiler was completed for a daily flowing potential 565.80 barrels of 51.1-gravity oil through a 14 64-inch choke and perforations at 13,222-13,242 feet.

Gas-oil ratio was 910-1 and tubing pressure 1,850 pounds. Pressure on casing was 1,500 pounds.

This new well is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 18, block 41, T-2-S, T&P survey.

Drillstem test was flowing oil Saturday at Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1-T University, project in South-Central Andrews County one location southwest of the pumping discovery well of the South Andrews (Wolfcamp).

Drillstem test was being taken in the Wolfcamp section from 8,744 to 8,782 feet. Gas surfaced in four minutes, mud in nine minutes and oil in 11 minutes. During 19 hours of flowing to tanks the well made 617.61 barrels of 40-gravity oil through various sized chokes. Gas-oil ratio is 1,137-1 and gravity 41.5 degrees. Operator was to leave the test tool in the hole until a 24-hour gauge could be recorded.

The section making the oil is said to be above the pay in Humble No. 1-T University, opener of the field which was completed for a small amount of oil daily on the pump.

The Wolfcamp was topped in No. 1-T State at 8,378 feet, elevation 3,138 feet.

First shows of oil were found in the Wolfcamp on a drillstem test from 8,365 to 8,462 feet. That test developed 6.45 barrels of heavy oil and gas-cut mud and 2.06 barrels of 44-gravity oil. This test did not flow.

Sixth DST Flows Oil At Discovery In Dawson Sector

Seaboard Oil Company and associates No. 1 Herman Pettaway, discovery from the Permian-Pennsylvanian reef line in Southeast Dawson County has flowed oil on the sixth consecutive drillstem test.

Those tests have proven 248 feet reef pay between 7,885 feet—the top of the reef—and 8,133 feet which was the bottom at the time of the sixth test.

That investigation was at 8,093-8,133 feet. The tool was open two hours. Gas surfaced in four minutes, mud in 12 minutes and oil in 14 minutes.

The section was flowed to tanks for one hour and 43 minutes and it produced 117.2 barrels of 40.5-gravity oil, through three-eighths-inch top and bottom chokes.

An additional 22.8 barrels of oil was unloaded from the drill pipe after the tester was closed.

Final recovery was 19.32 barrels of oil and 390 feet of oil and gas cut mud from the drill pipe.

The zone at 8,033-8,133 feet made a total of 158.84 barrels of oil during the two-hour test.

No Water Encountered
No signs of water have been encountered. The project started a core at 8,133 feet. It was to cut 50 feet from that point and then come out.

When the core is pulled operators will ream the core hole to bottom and then run another drillstem test. It is expected that the next test will be run some time Sunday.

This important discovery is nine miles southeast of Lamesa and one-half mile west of the Spraberry ("Deep") field.

Has Oil In Spraberry
Seaboard No. 1 Pettaway also has shown as a producer in the Spraberry pay.

It is on an unutilized block of four sections which Seaboard, Phillips Petroleum Company, Plymouth Oil Company and Forest Oil Corporation are participating.

Location is 1,980 feet from 1,980 feet from south and 1,500 feet from west lines of section 40, block 34, T-5-N, T&P survey.

E. L. (Gene) Maxwell
Maxwell Promoted To Regional Boss Of Wichita Sector

E. L. (Gene) Maxwell of Lion Oil Company has been promoted to regional manager of the concern's Central Region in Wichita, Kans.

He formerly was region geologist in the Midland office of Lion which is headquarters for the Southwestern Region.

Maxwell has been replaced in Midland by C. B. Morgan, former district geologist in Lion's Wichita Falls office.

Other Lion personnel changes include the moving of C. L. McArthur, Jr., formerly regional manager of the Rocky Mountain Region at Denver to Dallas as a special representative of the concern's production and exploration division.

R. I. Williams, former regional manager of the Wichita office has replaced McArthur in Denver.

Parker And White Have Organized Drilling Concern

John R. Parker and James G. White have organized the Parker-White Drilling Company. The concern now has three rotary rigs at work on contract digging.

Headquarters offices of the company are at 120 Capital Building in Midland.

Parker is president of Basin Petroleum, Inc., an independent oil exploration, development and production organization and he also handles oil deals for his own account.

Are Experienced
He has many years experience in the oil business. He was district landman in Midland for Phillips Petroleum Company for several years before he resigned to go in business on his own.

White has been operating the White Drilling Company prior to the formation of the Parker-White partnership.

Telephone number of the concern's office is 2-3984.

W. A. (Bill) Birt is drilling superintendent for the new organization.

Magnolia Project In San Juan Basin Finds Oil On DST

Recovery of oil on a drillstem test has indicated a possible important oil discovery on the southeast flank of the San Juan Basin of San Duval County New Mexico.

The possible producer is Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1 Hutchinson-Federal, wildcat in section 14-18-13W.

The project was drillstem tested in the section from 5,205 to 5,229 feet. Tool was open two hours. Recovery was 510 feet of clean oil and 90 feet of oil-cut mud.

The test was taken in the Toddlito sand of the Jurassic and would mark the first production in the basin from the formation.

The San Juan Basin is predominantly a gas area.

Casing was to be run for completion attempt.

Sinclair Wildcat In Central Suttton Taking Strawn DST

Drillstem test was underway in a section which carried some shows of oil and gas at Sinclair Oil & Gas Company No. 2 Bryan Hunt, wildcat in Central Suttton County.

Interval to be tested is in the Strawn reef which was topped at 5,195 feet, elevation 2,318 feet.

Hole is bottomed at 5,210 feet. This wildcat is 11 miles southeast of Sonora and 660 feet from south and west lines of section 71, block 14, TW&NG survey.

Wilshire Gets Slight O&G Shows In DST Of Andrews Wildcat

The Wilshire Oil Company of Texas No. 33-18 Cox, North-Central Andrews County wildcat to 13,000 feet to test the Ellenburger had a slight show of oil and gas in a drillstem test in the Mississippian line at 9,395-9,429 feet.

The tool was open two hours. Recovery was 70 feet of oil and gas cut drilling mud. There were no signs of water.

Open flowing bottom hole pressure was 30 pounds. Shut-in bottom hole pressure, after 15 minutes was 70 pounds.

Is Making Hole
The prospector is now making hole below 9,443 feet in Mississippian line.

Location is 1,980 feet from south and east lines of section 16, block A-33, ps1 survey. It is 13 miles north-northwest of the town of Andrews.

This wildcat has found some slight shows of oil and gas in the Permian line—but none of those shows have been of commercial quantity.

Howard Wildcat Finds No Shows; Is Due To Plug

Urice Drilling Company No. 1 Rosa Harper, Central Howard County wildcat, four and one-half miles north of Big Spring has reached contract depth without finding any shows of commercial production.

It is now bottomed at 9,514 feet in Mississippian lime and chert and is circulating while waiting on orders to plug and abandon.

Sugar Is Used In Producing Oil In Pennsylvania

BRADFORD, PA. — What is probably the sweetest oil well ever drilled is pumping near here. Fluid from the well contains oil and sugary water.

Under the water - flooding method used in this field, water injected into the earth under pressure forces oil to a producing well.

The Minard Run Oil Company launched an experiment last April on its Dent W. Special lease 19 miles south of here.

Workers dumped into a water injection well 3,500 pounds of sugar, 400 pounds of boric acid, 560 pounds of ammonium chloride and 17 pounds of green dye.

Objective was to have the chemicals act as "tracers" revealing information about the flooding mechanism in the geological formation into which water was to be injected.

The oil well near the water injection well was completed in June. A core, or oil sand sample, taken from the oil well showed that the sugar had served its purpose well.

Presence of the coffee sweetener in the core proved that the sand had been flooded in direct proportion to the permeability of the rocklike oil sand as determined by engineers.

Useful information on the behavior of the other tracers also was obtained.

Flowing Andrews Opener Completes

Husky Oil Company and associates have completed their No. 1 Emma (Mrs. Frank) Cowden as a flowing discovery from the Glorieta-Permian line in Central-South Andrews County.

On a 24-hour flowing potential test the wildcat produced 143 barrels of 38.45 gravity oil and no water. Size of choke through which the fluid was produced was not reported.

Gas-oil ratio was 144-1. The production is from open hole in the Glorieta at 5,348-5,416 feet. That zone had been treated with 500 gallons of regular acid.

Location Given
The new pay opener is 11 miles south-southwest of the town of Andrews. It is inside the Emma (Grayburg-San Andres) field and 330 feet from north and 1,017.7 feet from east lines of section 1, block 44, T-2-N, T&P survey.

It is eight miles south of the nearest Glorieta production in the Mascho field.

This discovery is an old dry hole at total depth of 5,280 feet in the Holt line.

Deepened 136 Feet
Husky and associates re-entered and deepened it 136 feet to the new bottom at 5,416 feet. The new pay was found in making that new hole. A string of 5 1/2 inch casing had been cemented at 5,280 feet and the Holt was tested through perforations in that pipe.

That testing failed to develop any production and it was abandoned.

WTGS Barbecue Set For Cole Park On September 12

The West Texas Geological Society will hold its annual barbecue and outing in Midland September 12.

The affair will be at Cole Park east of the city, starting at 6 p.m. All members of the society are invited to attend and bring members of their families.

Tickets for the barbecue can be purchased from the following WTGS members: J. C. Edens, Stanolind Oil & Gas Company, in charge of ticket sales; Booker L. McDearmon of Anderson-Prichard Oil Corporation; W. E. (Bill) Gipson of Gipson & Keyser; and F. L. Stead of Continental Oil Company.

Since it has been deepened no new pipe was run in the hole.

A packer is set on tubing at the top of the Glorieta pay at 5,348 feet. There is one producer from the Holt line above 5,146 feet in the Emma area.

Husky owns three-quarters of the discovery. Anderson-Prichard Oil Corporation of Midland and Oklahoma City, and Fred Goodstein of Casper, Wyo., each own one-eighth of it.

California Claims Deepest Oil Well

BAKERSFIELD, CALIF. — The world's deepest oil well is in California now.

Ohio Oil Company's exploratory hole in the Paloma field, 17 miles southeast of here, reached a depth exceeding the previous mark of 20,321 feet, established four years ago by the Superior Oil Company in Sublette County, Wyoming.

A spokesman indicated the well is in a lower Miocene era formation and probably will be deepened to reach Eocene sands, where geologists believe new oil bearing sands will be discovered. The well is known as KC14 27-4.

Drilling began Oct. 23, 1951, and so far approximately $1,500,000 has been invested.

Canadian Crude Oil Production Declines

CALGARY — Alberta crude oil production dropped more than 17,000 barrels daily during the week ended August 17, the Petroleum and Natural Gas Conservation Board reported Saturday.

The province's 4,183 wells turned out a daily average of 254,208 barrels, compared with a near-record 271,896 in the previous week and only 208,419 in the same week a year ago.</

Gas Outlets—API Offers New Course In Field Handling Of Gas

sury reptile is dislodged by dynamite, digger or foot.

The men are not slowing to a "snake-bit" pace—but they're setting records for cautiousness.

Back to the current pipe line picture, though, and a look at the Hobbs-to-Wasson transmission system.

All the right-of-way has been cleared on both the Texas and New Mexico side—and by Saturday afternoon, 32 miles of 26-inch pipe had gone underground. Crews should finish that section of the 285-mile total sometime this week, Permian officials predicted Saturday.

An overall—and definitely general—look at contribution figures to date shows some 124 miles of the gas-saving project already finished except for cleaning and valve setting. That leaves about 161 miles yet to go before the mid-December completion date.

A round-up look at station and plant construction reveals this outline:

1. Sprberry Compressor Station—28 per cent complete on total project, with work on speeding on both the north and south compressor buildings, the fan units and the installation of compressors. Work has not yet gone full blast on the dehydration facilities.

2. Pembroke Compressor Station—25 per cent complete, with work well under way on the compressor building, fuel measuring building, raw water storage tank and brine pit.

3. Plymouth Compressor Station—20 per cent complete, with all three compressors in place on blocks, building foundation walls complete and equipment arriving at normal speed.

4. Carbon Dioxide Removal plant (near Fort Stockton)—24 per cent complete on the $2,000,000 project, with 152 workers keeping steady pace in construction.

5. Hobbs Compressor Station—no percentage given, but work in moving through its preliminary stages of excavation, water well drilling and equipment receipt.

API Offers New Course In Field Handling Of Gas

DALLAS—A new vocational training course covering field handling of natural gas now is being made available by the Division of Production of the American Petroleum Institute.

The course of one of 40 or more which have been prepared by the Production Division over the last 20 years. More than 75,000 oil workers have taken one or more of the courses since the program was inaugurated in 1933.

The newest addition to the group was developed by the University of Texas, under a grant-in-aid from the institute. Although it is primarily intended to train company employes in the gathering, treatment and control of natural gas on a producing lease, the course also has application to some phases of natural gasoline plant operations.

Professional Instructors
Instructors are full-time professionals employed and specially trained by the state departments of vocational training. The course is comprised of 30 hours of instruction—10 periods of three hours each, according to William H. Strang, director of the Production Division.

"The course is being inaugurated in Texas," Strang said, "but it is hoped that it can soon be available in all the principal gas-producing states. The plan in effect in Texas, and eventually to be put into effect in the other states, enables any company or group of companies to arrange for classes in any locality in which the minimum enrollment of eight employes can be obtained. Maximum enrollment is 25 students per class."

Mobile Equipment
Course equipment is mobile. Transported on a truck, it has a complete miniature model flow system, including separators, heaters, treaters, etc., Strang added. He continued:

"Class instructions consist of laboratory work and discussion with a minimum of lecturing. Classes have been conducted so far in Carthage, Dallas and Houston with enthusiastic reception from both field workers and field supervisors."

Of the 40 or more courses developed by the Production Division, the new one is the fourth specialized one to be set up within the last few years.

Other Courses
Prior specialized courses, in which there has been an enrollment in excess of 10,000 persons, and which still are being taught in various parts of the country, cover treating of oil field emulsions, operation of pumping engines, and units, and the handling and running of casing.

Mike Benedum, Wildcatter, Story Told In New Book

Wherever oil has been discovered in the last 60 years, Mike Benedum, the fabulous wildcatter, has been there. More often than not he was among the earliest arrivals. The story of this famous petroleum pioneer, who is reputed to have discovered more of the black gold than any other person in history, is told in a new book just off the press.

The book is entitled "The Great Wildcatter," and is published by the Education Foundation of West Virginia, a charitable organization located in Charleston, W. Va. Of interest to West Texas

The book is of particular interest to West Texans because it was Mike Benedum, who, through his Plymouth and Big Lake oil companies, opened up the Permian Basin by the development of the Big Lake field.

Later, through his Transcontinental Oil Company, Mike made the biggest strike in American petroleum history when he discovered the Yates bonanza in Pecos County. In more recent years, his companies have discovered and developed the Benedum and Susan Peak fields in this area.

The biography of Mike Benedum is essentially an Horatio Alger story—the tale of a poor West Virginia country boy, with only 40 months of schooling, who gave his seat on a crowded train to a stranger and thereby got into the oil business.

Started At 21
This was in the rough-and-tumble days of the nineties when the law of the jungle prevailed among the Titans who fought for leases and control of properties. It was a case of survival of the fittest, and Mike Benedum, even at the age of 21, proved himself to be the fittest of the fit.

At 26, Mike won a smashing victory over the then all powerful Standard Oil trust with the result that, at that tender age, he was the wealthiest independent oil operator in America. Persuaded by well meaning friends that the oil business was too "hazardous," Mike invested his fortune in such "conservative" enterprises as banking and manufacturing.

In five years he was not only broke but staggering under a mountain of debt.

Friendly bankers, who had confidence in his ability and integrity, staked him to a fresh start in the "hazardous" oil business. In another five years he had paid off his old debts and possessed a much greater fortune than before.

This new affluence came through sensational strikes in his home state of West Virginia just after the turn of the century, followed shortly thereafter by Mike's discovery of oil in Illinois. When, at the age of 35, he sold out his Illinois holdings, he was many times a millionaire—again the richest independent oil man in the country.

Mike then went to Oklahoma, where he missed the Cushing field by less than 100 feet. What he missed there, however, he found in Louisiana, where he opened up the Caddo field. Next on his long list of great oil strikes was the Tuxpan field in Mexico, then the Tropical field in Colombia.

After selling these two properties to the Standard interests, as he had the Caddo field, Mike turned his attention to West Texas, which was then known as the graveyard of the wildcaters. Outside of the Westbrook field, which had not fulfilled its early promise, there had been no oil produced in all of what was then called the Marathon Fold and what is now known as the Permian basin.

Frank Pickrell had drilled the Santa Rita well on University lands near Big Lake, but its production was too small to attract the interest of anyone in the industry—that is, anyone except Mike Benedum. The latter made a deal with Pickrell, took over the property, and after a succession of dry holes, finally hit the Big Lake field. This was the real beginning of the development of West Texas.

Mike Benedum's courage and persistence are best illustrated by the story of his Transcontinental Oil Company, which drilled dry holes in all sections of the United States for seven years.

In order to keep the company alive, Mike loaned it his own cash, securities and credit. Before Transcontinental finally struck it rich with the discovery of the Yates Pool, Mike had advanced it 20 million dollars.

At the age of 84, Mike Benedum is still the Great Wildcatter, carrying on the search for oil with the same zest that he did fifty years ago. His major exploratory operations at the present are in Canada, the Rock Mountain area and the Texas tidelands.

The book was written by Sam T. Mallison, of Pittsburgh, former West Virginia newspaperman, who has been gathering material for the volume for more than 10 years.

He was assisted by Dr. Allan Nevins, of Columbia University, who has won two Pulitzer prizes for biography. The latest book by Dr. Nevins is a biography of John D. Rockefeller, entitled "A Study in Power."

"The Great Wildcatter" contains 528 pages of text and is fully and handsomely illustrated. It relates many amusing and romantic incidents in the Benedum career.

Many of these have to do with the early day heartaches and struggles to fulfill Mike Benedum's dream of a great oil empire in West Texas.

Three Navy Airmen Crash Land At Sea

NEW ORLEANS —P— Three Naval air reservists from Colorado were rescued unharmed after their torpedo bomber crash landed Friday in the Gulf of Mexico.

The three men, who were flying gunnery target practice at the time of the crash landing 25 miles southwest of Grand Isle, were identified by the Navy as:

Lt. jg. Mark L. Hamilton, Denver; Airman Donald R. Clark, Denver; and Nile E. Patten, aviation technician, Golden.

Monthly Digest On Rocky Mountains Is To Be Issued

Rinehart Oil News Company has inaugurated a new monthly edition of "The Rocky Mountain Oil & Gas Digest," a summary of well completion information covering current discoveries, important extensions and significant dry wildcats in the Rocky Mountain area, including the Williston Basin.

Following a convenient pocket-size format of the companion publication started over a year ago on Texas, South Louisiana and New Mexico, the new digest is designed to serve as both a "correlation manual" and as an "operations guide" for virtually every phase of exploration, development and investment planning.

Each well is reported on a separate page with completion data and a section of the electric log printed on the front side and a plat of the area on the back.

Boy Struck By Car Said Satisfactory

Condition of Donald Gerald Forrest, injured in a traffic mishap here Tuesday, was reported satisfactory by Midland Memorial Hospital attendants Saturday.

The three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Forrest, 2705 West Kentucky Street, received a broken shoulder and fractured ribs when he ran into the driveway of a neighbor's home and was struck by an automobile. The shoulder will be reset as soon as burns from being dragged on the driveway have healed.

Contract depth was 9,500 feet. The prospector drilled through the Pennsylvania without encountering any shows of possible production.

Location is 960 feet from north and west lines of the southwest quarter of section 15, block 32, T-1-N, T&P survey.

Sherman Schedules Shallow Wildcat In N-C Eddy Region

A. L. Sherman will drill a shallow cable tool wildcat in North-Central Eddy County 14 miles northeast of Carlsbad.

The project will be dug as No. 1 Reseller-Federal, 2,310 feet from north and 990 feet from east lines of section 22-19-27e.

It will go to 700 feet. Operations are to start in the near future.

Magnolia Finishes Good Flowing Oiler In Field Of NE Lea

Magnolia Petroleum Company completed a north stepout to Devonian production in the Crossroads field of Northeast Lea County, New Mexico, and Coline Oil Company spotted location for a new test in the same area.

The Magnolia well, No. 2-D Santa Fe Pacific, was finished for a daily flowing potential of 1,006 barrels of 43.8-gravity oil through three different sized chokes. The well was flowed 13 hours on a 16 64-inch choke, five hours on an 11 64-inch choke and six hours on an 8 64-inch choke.

Completion was natural. Gas-oil ratio was 14-1.

Location is 660 feet from south and 1,880 feet from east lines of section 22-9-13e.

Coline will drill No. 1-23 Santa Fe Pacific 660 feet from south and 990 feet from west lines of section 22-9-36e. It will go to 12,200 feet.

Strake Will Drill New Wildcat In NE Runnels Area

G. W. Strake of Houston has staked location for a 5,000-foot wildcat in Northeast Runnels County as his No. 1 M. H. Gerhart.

Location is 330 feet from south and east lines of William Heavenhill survey No. 324 and two and one-half miles northeast of Winters.

That makes it four miles northwest of the Nora Gardner field. Rotary tools will be moved in and drilling will begin at once.

Three More Deep Projects Staked In Areas Of Lea

Three more deep prospector have been staked in fields of Lea County, New Mexico.

Buffalo Oil Company No. 1-C State is to be drilled in the Eldon (Pennsylvanian) field of Central-East Lea County. Drill site is 1,980 feet from south and 1,945 feet from west lines of section 18-10a-35e. It is slated for a 10,800-foot bottom.

Continental Oil Company No. 5 Anderson Ranch is to be drilled as a 10,000-foot Wolfcamp project in the Anderson Ranch (Multiple) field of Southwest Lea County.

It is to be drilled 1,980 feet from south and east lines of section 11-15a-32e. It is to go to 10,000 feet. Conoco also will drill No. 6 Anderson Ranch as a Wolfcamp project in the same field.

Sutton Project Fails; Probably Will Be Plugged

Murray Petroleum Corporation No. 1 W. L. Miers, Southeast Sutton County wildcat, 20 miles southeast of Sonora is on a total depth of 5,099 feet in barren Ellenburger.

It is circulating while waiting on orders to plug and abandon. The Ellenburger made only water. None of the upper beds had any shows of production.

Location is 660 feet from north and 5,681 feet from east lines of the Shelby C. Tunage survey No. 78.

Chaves Wildcat Awaiting Orders

Great Western Drilling Company No. 1 White Ranch, Southeast Chaves County, New Mexico wildcat is bottomed at 8,167 feet in lime and is circulating while waiting on orders.

Electric logs had been run after a drillstem test had been taken at 8,144-67 feet and which found shows of oil and gas and some salty, sulphur water.

Tool was open two and one-half hours. Recovery was 30 feet of free gas in drilpipe, 450 feet of slightly oil and gas-cut mud, 900 feet of oil and slightly gas-cut mud with water filtrate, 900 feet of oil and slightly gas-cut water, 1,900 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut water which was slightly salty and 640 feet of salty sulphur water.

Flowing pressure was from zero to 1,920 pounds. Shutin pressure after 15 minutes was 3,120 pounds.

Location is 1,980 feet from north and west lines of section 1-12s-28e, and 28 miles southeast of Roswell.

Producer Indicated For Lazy J Pool Of NW Lea Sector

Another producer for the Lazy J (Permian-Pennsylvanian) field of Northwest Lea County, New Mexico, is in prospect at Ashmun & Hilliard, Gulf Oil Corporation and Lion Oil Company No. 1-CE Lea-State.

Drillstem test was taken in the interval from 9,500 to 9,555 feet.

Tool was open one hour and 45 minutes. Mud surfaced in 80 minutes and oil in 93 minutes. The flow was to pits 11 minutes where it made an estimated 30 barrels hourly.

Recovery was 90 feet of oil, 2,700 feet of drilling mud and 1,260 feet of oil and gas-cut mud. No formation water was present.

Operator was pulling tool on a drillstem test from 9,665 to 9,683 feet. Tool was open 46 minutes. Nothing surfaced during that time.

Location is 1,980 feet from south and 330 feet from east lines of section 28-13a-43e.

Humble To Test Waddell Section In Ector Project

Humble Oil & Refining Company was preparing to plug back and attempt to complete a depleted Ellenburger well from the Waddell in the Yarborough & Allen (Multiple) field of Southwest Ector County.

The project originally was completed from the Ellenburger from 10,595 to 10,768 feet. Production from that formation has been depleted.

Closest Waddell production is one and one-half miles to the west in the fields producing limits.

Stanotex To Drill Ellenburger Test In W-C Tom Green

Standard Oil Company of Texas has staked location for a 7,350-foot Ellenburger in West-Central Tom Green County.

It is No. 1 Abernathy and is 450 feet from north and east lines of section 23, block D, H&TC survey. That makes it six miles northeast of the Aspermont townsite.

Projected depth of 6,300 feet should allow for test of the Ellenburger. Operations will begin at once.

Fisher Wildcat Is Swabbing Oil From Noodle Creek Lime

Woodson Oil Company of Fort Worth No. 1 S. E. Knox, wildcat in Central Fisher County, is yielding 1,200 feet of oil on each run of the swab after acidizing the Noodle Creek lime with 1,000 gallons through perforations from 3,560 to 3,870 feet.

Location is 330 feet from north and east lines of west half of block 4, league 318, Gillespie County School Land survey and two miles northwest of Longworth. That makes it southwest of production in the Roby field.

Texaco Sets Site For Field Stepout In NE Borden Area

The Texas Company filed application with the Railroad Commission of Texas requesting permission to start drilling at once on a one-location northwest stepout to its recently completed No. 1 C. D. Jones, three-quarters-mile west extender to the Fluvanna (Mississippian) field of Northeast Borden County.

The new test is to be drilled as No. 2 C. D. Jones.

Location is 1,998 feet from north and 690 feet from west lines of the northeast quarter of section 234, block 97, H&TC survey and 18 miles northeast of Gail.

The project will be drilled to 8,250 feet.

Oil & Gas Shows Are Found On DST At Chaves Project

offset to Forest Oil Corporation No. 1 Federal-General American Oil Company, recently completed flowing Wolfcamp discovery in Northeast Chaves County.

No. 1 Dumas-Federal was drillstem tested from 7,359 to 7,910 feet. Tool was open five hours. Gas surfaced in four hours and 40 minutes. Recovery was 4,340 feet of drilling mud, 380 feet of oil and gas-cut mud, estimated to be five per cent oil; and 160 feet of slightly salty water.

Flowing pressure was from 65 to 200 pounds. Shutin pressure after 20 minutes was 2,070 pounds.

When the test tool was pulled, it was found that the drilpipe had a hole in it. For this reason, operator does not know the source of the water which was recovered. Another drillstem test was to be run in the same section.

Location is at the center of the northwest quarter of the southwest quarter of section 7-7a-31e and 48 miles northeast of Roswell.

More Flowing Pay Is Uncovered At NE Nolan Wildcat

More hole was being made below 5,242 feet in the Goens lime at C. L. McMahon, Inc. and others No. 1 G. B. Elger, wildcat in Northeast Nolan County two miles north of Hylton.

Drillstem test was taken in the section from 5,146 to 5,151 feet. Tool was open an unreported length of time. Gas surfaced in three minutes and oil flowed in 10 minutes.

Gas-oil estimate was not reported on the oil flow.

Recovery was 2,670 feet of oil and 10 feet of oil-cut mud. Flowing pressure was from 780 to 1,725 pounds and 30-minute shutin pressure was 1,905 pounds.

A subsequent drillstem test was taken from 5,161 to 5,172 feet. Tool was open 75 minutes. Gas surfaced in three minutes and oil in 60 minutes. No gauge or estimate was made on the flow.

Recovery was 2,700 feet of oil, 50 feet of oil-cut mud and 625 feet of salt water. Flowing pressure was from 465 to 1,585 pounds and 30-minute shutin pressure was 1,965 pounds.

Location for this wildcat is 467 feet from north and east lines of the southeast quarter of section 183, block 64, H&TC survey.

NE Fisher Opener Gets North Offset

Skelly Oil Company will drill No. 1-A Shall as a north offset to the Canyon reef lime discovery in the recently opened Paul Hunter field of northeast Fisher County.

Location is 330 feet from south and west lines of section 76, block 1, H&TC survey and seven and one-half miles southeast of Rotan.

Rotary tools will be used to drill to 5,000 feet. Operations will begin at once.

Logs Being Run At Chaves Test

Great Western Drilling Company No. 1 White Ranch, wildcat in Southeast Chaves County, New Mexico, was bottomed at 8,167 feet with electric logs being run after a drillstem test from 8,144 to 8,167 feet.

Tool was open two and one-half hours. Recovery was 30 feet of free gas in drilpipe, 450 feet of slightly oil and gas-cut mud, 900 feet of oil and slightly gas-cut mud with water filtrate, 900 feet of oil and slightly gas-cut water, 1,800 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut water which was slightly salty and 640 feet of salty sulphur water.

Flowing pressure was from zero to 1,920 pounds. Shutin pressure after 15 minutes was 3,120 pounds.

Mungerville Field Gets NE Stepout

Cities Service Oil Company No. 3 Brennan is to be a one location stepout from production on the northeast side of the Mungerville (Pennsylvanian) field of Northwest Dawson County.

It is 15 miles northwest of Lamasa and 1,899 feet from north and 467 feet from west lines of section 78, block M, EL&RR survey. Drilling to 8,700 feet is to start immediately.

Sterling Project Fails And Plugs

J. M. Hawkins, trustee of Midland, No. 1 T. H. Humble, Central-East Sterling County semi-wildcat, has been abandoned at total depth of 1,564 feet.

It found no shows for commercial production. Location was 990 feet from south and 330 feet from east lines of section 30, block 11, SPRR survey.

It was three and one-half miles southwest of Broome and a south offset to the discovery and lone producer in the Crandell (San Angelo lime) field.

Washington—The coming of a new government in Iran emphasizes the need for a program to limit petroleum imports to the United States.

So said Russell B. Brown, counsel of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, last week.

"While the effects on oil operations are not yet clear," Brown said, "a change in government may increase the possibility of an early return of Iranian oil into world markets."

"Such a development would seriously aggravate the already existing threat of foreign oil surpluses."

A total of 600,000 barrels daily of crude oil was produced in Iran until the middle of 1951, when the dispute with Britain came to a climax. The industry was nationalized by Iran, and has been shut down since.

A total of 450,000 barrels daily of the crude was refined at the refinery at Abadan, Iran, the world's largest.

The government of Premier Mossadegh was thrown out by force last week. The shah returned to power and Gen. Fazollah Zahedi was named premier. The new government is expected to seek a settlement of the oil dispute.

Any settlement, said Brown, raises the prospect that Iran's crude oil again will be seeking a world market. "This would be like pouring water into a pail that is already filled," he added.

"This could mean the Western Hemisphere will have to absorb more Eastern Hemisphere oil at a time when the Western Hemisphere has all the oil it needs."

A logical first step, says a State Department petroleum official, would be for Iran to invite talks with the British. If these fail, the U. S. might offer or be invited to mediate.

A resumption of Iran's oil industry is some time off, at best. Talks must come first, then agreement. While crude oil production could resume relatively quickly, the opening of the Abadan plant would take an estimated six months.

Taking the refinery out of mothballs, and restoring damaged parts would require that time, say U. S. officials.

Iran's New Power Emphasizes Need For U. S. Import Limits

WASHINGTON—The coming of a new government in Iran emphasizes the need for a program to limit petroleum imports to the United States.

So said Russell B. Brown, counsel of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, last week.

"While the effects on oil operations are not yet clear," Brown said, "a change in government may increase the possibility of an early return of Iranian oil into world markets."

"Such a development would seriously aggravate the already existing threat of foreign oil surpluses."

A total of 600,000 barrels daily of crude oil was produced in Iran until the middle of 1951, when the dispute with Britain came to a climax. The industry was nationalized by Iran, and has been shut down since.

Taking the refinery out of mothballs, and restoring damaged parts would require that time, say U. S. officials.

A major need is for "a plan to implement" the American petroleum industry's position that oil imports should supplement, but not supplant crude oil production, Brown said.

The drive for a law to set a quota ceiling on oil imports in past months, came because there was no such plan, he said.

Months ago, said Brown, oil importing companies announced plans to bring in 1,010,000 barrels daily of crude oil and products during the past Summer.

Actually, he said, they brought in only 906,000 barrels daily during the six weeks ending August 15, of this year.

Outback Implied
This is a cut of 10 per cent, but, said Brown, it represents "merely a temporary period of reduced shipments, to be offset by higher imports in other periods."

At no point did Brown claim that the drive for a quota ceiling persuaded oil importing companies to cut back from announced plans. However, he gave this implication.
