President To Have 5,600 Birthdays.

New York, Jan. 21—Upwards of 5,600 parties will be held throughout the nation on the night of Jan. 30, 1935, when Americans young and old will honor President Franklin D. Roosevelt on the occasion of his 53rd birthday anniversary. The proceeds from these parties will be used to combat infantile paralysis. Seventy cents of every dollar raised will be used for the rehabilitation of handicapped children within the community raising the fund or within the nearest geographic unit of which the community is a part. The other 30 cents will be turned over by President Roosevelt to a national committee appointed by him for widening the research efforts aimed at wiping out the disease itself. Col. Henry L. Dancy again heads the National Committee of the Birthday Ball for the President, with Col. Carl Byoir as the General Director and Keith Morgan as National Treasurer.

"Arkansas" Smith Passed Out Wednesday Morning.

R. P. (Arkansas) Smith, aged 83, who has been a resident of San Angelo 40 years, and in grocery business there 32 years, passed away at his home last Wednesday morning. He had been in bad health for several years, but was not confined to his bed until last week.

He was a member and trustee and steward of the First Methodist Church.

Services were held at the church and interment made at Fairmount yesterday afternoon, afternoon, Dr. K. P. Barton, pastor, officiating.

Muleshoe—A net profit of $2.88 per bird was made by Levi B. Churchill, Baily county turkey demonstrator, on his turkey crop this year after all expenses were deducted, according to J. B. Waide, Jr., farm demonstration agent. The turkeys were charged market price for all feed raised on the farm, and 50 cents per hour for all time spent in taking care of them. The cost of raising the birds, including labor, feed and cost of poulters was $1.82 each and the gross return was $4.70 per bird. No birds were sold for breeders. The birds were all farm dressed, and more than 98 per cent were graded U. S. prime by government licensed graders.

MRS. ADA DOUTHIT,

What the South Fought.

Walker Steed, legislator from Taylor County, speaks to Confederate Veterans, and gives some figures as compiled by C. G. Lee, well-known war statistician:

Total Enlistments, Northern Army 2,778,304
Foreigners and Negroes in Northern Army 659,917
Total Enlistments Southern Army 660,000
Thus more foreigners & Negroes in Northern Army than all of Southern Army Ly 80,617

North's Army made up of:
Whites of the North including immigrants: 2,278,383
Whites from South: 316,424
Negroes 186,017
Indians 3,530
Total 2,778,304
In Southern Army 600,000

North's superiority 2,178,384
Foreigners in Northern Army:
Germans 176,800
Irish 144,200
British Am. 53,500
English 45,600
Other nations 186,017
Total 680,917

Southern Soldiers 600,000
More foreigners in Northern Army than Southern had men by 80,917
Total Federal Army, May 1, 1865 1,000,516
Total Southern Army, May 1, 1865 134,433

ON THE BATTLEFIELDS
7 Days Fight	Confederates	Federals
Richmond	80,835	115,349
Antietam	35,255	87,161
Chancellorsville	37,212	134,161
Fredricksburg	78,110	118,000
Gettysburg	66,000	95,000
Chickamauga	44,000	65,000
Wilderness	65,987	141,161

Federal prisoners in Confed. prisons 270,000
Confed. prisoners in Federal prisons 220,000
Federals died in Confed. prisons 32,570
Confederates died in Fed. prisons 26,433

It is thus established that while the South was effectively blockaded and cut off from all medical supplies (horrible diet) by Mr. Lincoln, more Confederates died in Federal prisons than Federals died in Southern prisons, although the South had 50,000 more to care than the North had to care for of Southern soldiers. Notwithstanding that fact, fewer Northern prisoners died in Southern prisons by 2,806.

Notwithstanding this, the Northerners hanged Captain Wirz, Superintendent Andersonville Prison, because they said he let so many Northern prisoners die, when the Federals would not let either medicine or food in to them. Captain Wirz was offered his life (paroled) if he would only say that President Davis was responsible for the deaths at Andersonville, but he indignantly refused to do so and save his life.—John T. Boiffillet, in Atlanta Journal, Sept. 28, 1924.

On Texas Farms.

In Jackson county home demonstration club women report 57,647 quarts of food canned during 1934 by themselves and by the women they have helped. Estimated value is $12,156.15.

The terracing schools attended by 237 men and boys were held by the Brown county farm demonstration agent in December. He has on file 98 applications for help in terracing, covering 8,973 acres.

Starting with two trench silo demonstrations and a depression, helped along by a drought, Brazoria county farmers and dairymen now have 75 trench silos ranging in capacity from 35 tons to 950.

Delta county women had an eye to looking well and in their home demonstration work they completed 322 individually fitted patterns and made for themselves 6,245 articles of clothing valued at $9,140.63. New clothes closets to house their good clothes were reported by 20 women and 27 others improved the closets they already had.

"Thanks to my terraced and contoured land I raised enough feed to winter my cattle and won't have to sell them to the Government," said E. A. Oberst, who lives five miles southeast of Canyon, to W. H. Upchurch, farm demonstration agent of Randall county. This feed enables Mr. Oberst to avoid sacrificing a herd that he has spent years developing.

A. Nieman, Pecos county, planted 45 acres of cotton which a July hail storm demolished. He plowed under the cotton plants and late in July planted begari which produced an average of five tons per acre at a cost of $11 per acre. Mr. Nieman sold his crop at the rate of $17 per ton, netting a nice profit.

Peach trees that are going into new orchards on land released from cotton in Van Zandt county are being protected from rabbits by the use of paper cylinders. Elbertas and Georgia Belles are favorites for planting in this county and 2100 more trees went into the ground in December.

C. H. Millinger of Llano is installing several hundred feet of concrete tile for subirrigation around his home. Mr. Millinger secured the tile from Walter Roberts, a 4-H club boy of Llano county who learned to make it as part of his club work undertaken under the supervision of D. D. Steele, Llano county agent.

Belton—"Fifteen acres of land terraced in September 1933 and planted to oats made better than an average crop, and I have noticed a 25 per cent improvement in the land as well," John W. Blankenship of Bell county told George P. McCarthy, farm demonstration agent, in explanation to the new terracing done on the Blankenship farm in December. "Immediately after the terraces were constructed, we received a six inch rain, and was pleased to find that my terraces did not break in any place. In the same rain, the old washes in the field also filled in considerably," Mr. Blankenship added.

Working under vacation It is said that 4,784 out of the 500,000 working men in New York are in the employ of the city, and that the city is the largest employer in the state.

The Texas Centennial

Dallas, Texas, Jan. 21—Tentative designs for four of the proposed permanent structures to be erected here for the central exposition to be held in connection with the series of historical celebrations throughout the State in 1936 in commemoration of the Centennial of Texas independence, have been completed. These are the Hall of Agriculture, the Hall of Education, the Hall of Natural Resources and the State of Texas Building. These it is proposed to erect contiguous and complementary to one another.

The Hall of Agriculture will have sections for grain, cotton and citrus fruits with ample provision for each division of these products. Statewide angles are given full consideration in the proposed designs and every part of Texas and every angle of its development is to be accorded recognition.

The Hall of Education will allow for representation of the common schools, high schools and higher institutions of learning. Provision will be made for exhibits from all over the State with ample room for laboratory and class room presentations. This hall will be surmounted by a globe and a campanile tower that may be fitted with carillon bells.

The Hall of Natural Resources will afford space for exhibits of the vast gifts bestowed upon the State by nature, including granite, coal, oil, sulphur, gas and others.

The State of Texas Building will be monumental in character embracing a rotunda where will be exhibited statues of the Fathers of Independence and other pioneers figuring notably in Texas' early history. In its recognition will be accorded each county of the State and there will be a reception hall to be used in welcoming dignitaries to the exposition.

Romantic and historical sides of Texas' progress will be emphasized in the State Building and provision will be made for stressing features of various sections of the State as well as those of individual counties.

Raising 720 pounds of cucumbers, subirrigated with tile, and bringing 65 gallons of them for pickles, encouraged Mrs. Paul Johnson of Hale county to lay another 75 feet of concrete tile for subirrigation over which to plant water melons. Results were 70 large sweet juicy water melons and many smaller ones.

TOWN PROGRESS TALKS

When he considers the invasion of his field by foreign stores and mail-order concerns, our home merchant sometimes feels like the man in the cartoon, who is intently studying his drink with a strange elephant. While the elephants may be formidable, yet they are vulnerable, and a weapon is at hand which will do the work if wielded with determination. A regular space in this newspaper filled each issue with news of your store, with what you have to sell and the prices, will give the back to competition. If you wish, we will write your ads and make them so intriguing that your customers will be half sold before they enter your store. Call on us—we know how and we can do it.

The annual meeting of the Live Stock Traffic Association was held at Fort Worth, Texas, Jan. 17, 1935. The annual report of the activities of the Association during the past year was submitted, the subjects handled including rail rates, bedding charges, weighing, and truck transportation regulations. The activities of the Association have resulted in a saving of millions of dollars to the livestock industry of the Southwest. It was decided at the meeting to reduce the assessment for the maintenance of the Association to one-half of the present assessment.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: John F. Lyons, President; J. P. Young, First Vice-President; O. Smith, Second Vice-President. Directors: E. E. Spiller, John Shel, John C. Burns, W. B. Callan, T. A. Kincaid, Joe Woody, W. L. Winstead, C. R. Breedlove, W. B. Mitchell, and O. Smith, Treasurer; C. J. Turner, Jr., Traffic Manager; Chas. A. Stewart.

WATCH YOUR KIDNEYS!

Be Sure They Properly Cleanse the Blood

YOUR kidneys are constantly filtering impurities from the blood stream. But kidneys get functionally disturbed—lag in their work—fail to remove the poisonous body wastes.

Then you may suffer nagging backache, attacks of dizziness, burning, scanty or too frequent urination, getting up at night, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains; feel "all worn out."

Don't delay! For the quicker you get rid of these poisons, the better your chances of good health.

Use Doan's Pills. Doan's are for the kidneys only. They tend to promote normal functioning of the kidneys; should help them pass off the irritating poisons. Doan's are recommended by users the country over. Get them from any druggist.

Washington Digest National Topics Interpreted by William Bruckart

Washington. — Out of President Roosevelt's eight-billion-dollar budget is developing a very Budget Starts real controversy Controversy which runs to the heart of the New Deal.

True, this controversy like nearly all of the others will not result in changing the President's plans, but it seems to me to be a matter which justifies consideration even though the Roosevelt will in the end must prevail.

Included in the budget was provision for an appropriation of four billion dollars and, as stated by the President, to be supplied "in one sum, subject to allocation by the Executive principally for giving work to those unemployed on the relief rolls."

In the critical days of 1933 when Mr. Roosevelt took office, I believe it was generally conceded that the emergency was so serious as to warrant delegation by congress of almost any power even remotely desired by the President.

Many persons feel that such a policy is taking undue advantage of private industry. It is true that the Post Office department is paying for carrying the mails at a rate probably well above the rate it receives in postage on that mail.

The President's special commission named to study the airplane problems of this country and to make recommendations heard much testimony and received much data showing that the airplane industry in the United States had placed this country in the number one position in the air among all nations of the world.

Presentation of the budget was expected in many quarters to disclose the means by which the President hoped to get employment going again in private industry.

The administration is determined to control oil production. If it cannot do so by Executive order—and the Supreme Court of the United States has decreed it cannot do so in that manner—there will be laws predicated upon the interstate commerce clauses of the Constitution.

President Roosevelt apparently was not much concerned over the Supreme court decision which invalidated that part of the recovery act, giving the Chief Executive authority to allow or prohibit interstate movement of oil as it decided best.

The oil case, the Supreme court decided, had its origin in regulations and executive orders issued under what the administration believed to be authority accorded by the recovery act.

Privately, I have heard many expressions indicating that men of wealth are putting their money into tangible property—something that will not dry up and blow away. That is always the refuge of individuals who fear that the currency which their government controls is losing its worth.

From all of the signs now visible and from the undercurrent of numbing that I hear, it certainly is made to appear that Mr. Roosevelt is confronted with a necessity for some definite outline of his plans and an assurance that he will adhere to those plans.

I heard a visitor to Washington say the other day that he would like to ride airplanes, "but the confounded things fly most of their schedules at night."

The individual is a man of great wealth and his time is of great value. He insisted he was sincere in his statement that he would much rather save time by flying if the planes were on day-light schedule.

I conducted some inquiry into the situation. I found the right schedules of the air lines to be due to the fact that they are fixed by the Post Office department. If a line desires to carry mail it has to subject itself to the dictates of "Big Jim" Farley, the postmaster general.

Many persons feel that such a policy is taking undue advantage of private industry. It is true that the Post Office department is paying for carrying the mails at a rate probably well above the rate it receives in postage on that mail.

FINE RECORD OF ACHIEVEMENT BY 1934 EXPLOREKS

The maze of water passages and adjoining islands in Tierra del Fuego, near the southern tip of South America, was explored in 1934, in a 23-foot boat by Amos Burg, on an expedition sent out by the National Geographic society.

An expedition of the California Institute of Technology rediscovered a chasm in a mountainous section of Chihuahua, Mexico, comparable in size and grandeur to the Grand Canyon of the Colorado.

Mount Foraker in McKinley national park, Alaska, were sealed for the first time August 6 by Charles Houston, T. Graham Brown, and Chychele Waterston.

Mount Crillon, previously unconquered peak near the Alaskan coast, 100 miles northwest of Juneau, was climbed on July 21 by Bradford Washburn and his Harvard-Dartmouth expedition.

In March, Polish explorers, led by M. K. Markiewicz-Jodke, found a new route to the top of 23,058-foot Aconcagua in the Andes, highest mountain in the western hemisphere.

In the Himalayas, E. E. Shipton and companions made the first exploration by westerners of the slopes of Nanda Devi, marking out possible routes for a future attack on the peak itself.

One of the most spectacular archeological discoveries of the year came in March when two French aviators, Capt. Edouard Cornillon-Molinier and Andre Malraux, flew into the interior of Arabia northeast of Yemen and sighted and photographed from the air the ruins of a great city previously unknown to the West.

The remains of seven Mayan cities, one surrounded by a mote, were discovered in northern Guatemala by expeditions of the Carnegie Institution of Washington.

How Calotabs Help Nature To Throw Off a Bad Cold

Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fifth night if needed.

Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the blood. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a purgative and diuretic, both of which are needed in the treatment of colds.

Calotabs are quite economical; only twenty-five cents for the family package, ten cents for the trial package. (Adv.)

No doubt you have noticed that silver spoons and forks become discolored by hard-boiled eggs. It is almost impossible to remove this with the ordinary washing. Before you place the silver into the dish water, rub them with salt which has been dampened slightly. You will find that the discoloration can easily be removed.

Height of Angels

The customs authorities of one of the central European states have been engaged in a very interesting controversy. A sculptor entering their country objected to paying duty on a statue of an angel, which, he said, he had no intention of selling. Under the rules, he was told, works of art of this type were only exempt if they weighed over ten pounds and were at least life-size.

But what, in the case of an angel was life-size? The statue was five feet high, but the customs officials were quite sure an angel was taller than that. So, in spite of his protests, the sculptor had to pay.

He really can't grumble, because the best authorities seem to agree that, while angels can change their height and general appearance at will, they are normally considerably over five feet.

This appears not only from Milton's "Paradise Lost," but also from details given by the learned men of the Jews. According to them some angels, at least, are nearly 8,000 miles high, and one of them, Sandalfon, is described as "taller than his fellows by the length of a Journey of 500 years."

Ransom Notes May Be Death Warrant

These ransom notes may prove the death warrant of Bruno Hauptmann, accused of the murder of Baby Charles Lindbergh. In the upper left-hand corner is one of the initial demands made on Colonel Lindbergh. In upper center is shown the first note to "Jafsie," while in the upper right is the note telling how the money was to be tied up. The lower left shows the note telling where to leave the money, and at the right is the false note declaring the baby was still alive.

EXPERTS ANALYZE KIDNAPER'S NOTES

Compare Handwriting With That of Hauptmann.

By W. C. WEDDER

LEMINGTON, N. J.—Such seemingly innocent trivialities as failure to dot an "i" cross a "t," the slant of a letter, a hyphen, may prove a deciding factor in sending a man to the electric chair convicted of the crime of murdering little Charles Lindbergh, son of the famous aviator. Those tiny, individual characteristics, which handwriting experts assert are ineradicable in each person's writing, are being fought over point by point, curve by curve, as the state introduces what some observers claim is strong evidence that Bruno Richard Hauptmann, Bronx ex-carpenter, was author of the notes which resulted in payment of the $50,000 ransom money by Dr. J. F. "Jafsie" Condon.

Huge photostatic enlargements of certain words and letters from the ransom letters and from Hauptmann's admitted writings have been hung in the courtroom for the information of the jury. The sheets, each 6 feet in height and 4 feet in width have been tacked to the wall behind the witness chair where the kidnaper's ladder had rested earlier in the trial. The admitted writings and the disputed writings are shown in parallel columns marked "Hauptmann writing" and "ransom notes."

Albert S. Osborn, seventy-six years old and silvery-haired, testified in a clear, resonant voice that it was his opinion the ransom notes were all written by the writer of the various papers signed by Richard Hauptmann, and that all fourteen of the ransom notes were written by the same writer.

Osborn was positive in his statement that Hauptmann penned the notes. The expert proved a good witness, despite his deafness which forced attorneys to speak very loudly when addressing him. He identified himself as an expert in 30 states and in Canada and England, and is the author of two books on the subject of handwriting. In several verbal exchanges with defense attorneys he proved himself more than a match.

In explaining his comparison, Osborn gave an exposition on the general basis for comparison of handwritings. Characteristics in handwriting, he said, are the same as the characteristics of anything else. There are many things by which handwriting might be identified exactly as a man, or an automobile or a horse is identified, by general description, and then by individual marks and scars and by characteristics which in combination make it apparent that they are not the result of accident, he continued.

When pupils learn the same system of writing, if they learn to write perfectly, one writing cannot be distinguished from another, but that does not occur, Osborn pointed out. Writing, he said, begins as an acquired qualification. It is an acquired habit first imitating the forms, and then the forms become more easily made, until finally writing becomes succession of habitual motions. Certain identical habitual motions were to be seen in both the writing on the ransom notes and the accepted writing done by Hauptmann, Osborn declared.

The letter "x" was pointed out at the start. Mr. Osborn showed that it was a clear, open "x," looking more like "ee," and that it wasn't an "x" at all. The "t," he testified, showed decided German characteristics, as did the letters "h" and "a." Hauptmann had a peculiar habit of finishing words in an awkward way with strokes that are too long, Osborn said, and also used a hyphen between the two words in "New York." In the ransom notes, he said, he found only three of the 391 "t's" were crossed, and the same was true of a "very large number" of the samples Hauptmann wrote for the police. Only seven of the small "t's" in the ransom notes were dotted, and the same proportion held true in Hauptmann's admitted writing, Osborn continued, and several sheets did not have a dotted "t" at all.

Another instance of similarity which

Osborn pointed out to the jury was a hyphen used between the two words in "New York." A specimen taken from the writing that was on the sleeping suit wrapper was pointed out as having this characteristic. A photostatic copy of Hauptmann's writing on one of the automobile registrations was then shown by Osborn to have this same name hyphenated.

Other words pointed out by the expert as showing examples of broken English and German spellings in both sets of writings were: "auter" for "our," "aus" for "us," "wy" for "why," "note" for "not," "gute" for "good," "ingore" for "ignore," "singature" for "signature" and "late" for "the."

The expert testified that he had examined about a hundred samples of hand writing which had been brought to him by New Jersey police and federal agents. Among these, he said, were samples of writing by Isidore Fisch, German furrier, who, the state contends, was actually the abductor of the baby. Fisch died later in Germany.

Fisch continues to loom in the background as the defense's chief reliance. In suggesting that Fisch wrote the ransom notes, a spokesman for the prosecution declares that this line of defense will not avail, since it does not take the eye of an expert to see the utter dissimilarity between the neat, flourishing penmanship of Fisch and the scrawly of the ransom notes. It is understood from those who have samples of Fisch's handwriting in their possession that his hand was that of a man who took pride in his penmanship, forming his letters neatly and correctly and dotting all i's and crossing all t's.

The defense has maintained that Fisch is the actual receiver of the ransom money, that it was he who kidnaped the child, and Hauptmann was his wholly unconscious dupe. Hauptmann has declared that he was associated with Fisch in the fur trade, and that he loaned Fisch $7,500 and that Fisch left with him a package which only a few weeks before his arrest, Hauptmann discovered to be the ransom money, the bulk of which was found in his garage. The state holds it can prove that ransom notes were circulated by him many months earlier than last summer, or even last spring.

Reilly attempted to show that too few handwriting exhibits had been brought into the courtroom, then opened up a line of questioning designed to force Osborn to admit that a Scandinavian could have written the ransom notes. The expert said there was an essential difference between German and Scandinavian script.

Some connection was seen between this line of questioning and that of Reilly when Betty Gow, the baby's nurse, was on the stand, with reference to "Red" Johnson, Norwegian sailor, whom she admitted having told of activities of the Lindbergh household on the day the kidnaping occurred.

Another handwriting expert whose testimony has been unshaken under questioning of Reilly is Elbridge W. Stein, who said he had testified in the recent Vanderbilt case in New York as well as the Wendell and Ridley cases. Stein said he had first studied the ransom notes and request writings of Hauptmann in July, 1932, and declared it was his opinion that the same man, Hauptmann, wrote both. He admitted there were differences, but insisted that there were similarities between the spelling in the two sets of writing. Charts and photographs of words taken from the ransom notes and the other writings done by Hauptmann were produced by Stein in support of his statements.

As the hearing progresses, Hauptmann appears to have lost much of the calmness which marked his first appearance in court. The stolidity of the ex-carpenter which was so remarkable when he was identified by both Colonel Lindbergh and Dr. J. F. Condon is not so apparent. Emotions show in his face, although even close watchers admit there has been no sign of fear or alarm among them. Occasionally he talks to his wife in a low voice.

The accused continues to follow each word of the trial with deep interest. He appeared especially interested in the handwriting testimony, craning his neck to see as the expert pointed out on the large chart the similarities between his own and the ransom writing. Colonel Lindbergh, who has been attending all the court sessions, was also absorbed as the experts gave their testimony.

RUG WELL NAMED "BED OF ROSES"

By GRANDMOTHER CLARK

The original rug shown measures 44 inches and requires four pounds of rags to complete. It is braided with three strands, but can be crocheted. A crocheted rug has better wearing properties. Many colors are used in the following combinations: Center circle in white, yellow, red, and black. Three of the outer circles in various rust shades. The other three circles in two shades of blue, and yellow. Outer edge is rose, yellow, black.

This rug shows that beautiful rugs can be made of rags. The regulation or common rag rug is either round or oval, with various color combinations, and when finished has no particular beauty. In making the above "Bed of Roses" rug, make seven small round rugs about twelve inches in diameter, and set together as shown here, then work rows all around to size wanted. It's a different rug and only another idea of what can be made of rags.

The best material for making rug rags is "Linkraft." When using this new material no cutting or matching of sizes is necessary. Linkraft is a round knitted material like jersey. It comes in links about five inches long, but stretches to about nine inches when linked together. These links are to be linked together in solid colors or mixed as desired. Linkraft is very durable, does not fray like rag strips and Linkraft rugs weigh about 25% less than rag rugs.

If you are interested in making rug rags, send for Grandmother Clark's Book No. 25 on Crocheted and Braided Rugs. Twenty-six rugs are illustrated, with instructions. A wonderful selection to pick from when having a good-looking rug in mind.

Send 15c to Rug Department for Book No. 25.

CONSTIPATION Can be Helped!

(Use what Doctors do)

Why do the bowels usually move regularly and thoroughly, long after a physician has given you treatment for constipation?
Because the doctor gives a liquid laxative that can always be taken in the right amount. You can gradually reduce the dose. Reduced dosage is the secret of real and safe relief from constipation.

Ask your doctor about this. Ask your druggist how popular liquid laxatives have become. The right liquid laxative gives the right kind of help, and the right amount of help. When the dose is repeated, instead of more each time, you take less. Until the bowels are moving regularly and thoroughly without any help at all.

The liquid laxative generally used is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It contains senna and cascara, and these are natural laxatives that form no habit—even in children. Your druggist has it; ask for—

ADS. WILL TELL BANKERS' STORY

American Bankers Association President Announces Move to Stimulate Newspaper Advertising

NEW YORK.—Plans for stimulating wider use of informative newspaper advertising by banks in promoting public understanding and confidence in regard to existing banking conditions and methods have been announced by R. S. Hecht, President of the American Bankers Association, as a part of his organization's activities in aid of business recovery.

A general groundwork was prepared through a nationwide survey of advertising by banks relative to their willingness to extend justifiable loans to industry and trade. This, he said, revealed that a large number in all parts of the country are pursuing aggressive policies along this line and encouraging their customers to develop forward-looking business plans. "It is our aim to aid in fostering this constructive attitude whenever possible," he said.

The Theme of New Advertising. The association's Advertising Department, under the direct supervision of the general executive officers, has prepared, at the headquarters in New York City, an informative advertising series for the use of member banks in the association to aid them in developing in their own communities better general public understanding regarding banking, Mr. Hecht said.

"The underlying theme of this advertising is that sound banking is based on helpful human relations and that it has a unity of interest with the people of its community which binds them together with a common purpose," he said.

"We are confident that if a clear understanding of this is brought home to the people in all our banking communities, it will go far in restoring the public confidence which good banking deserves. A bank in which people do not believe is doubly safe, it is to the public interest for the people to have confidence in their banks."

The Place of Advertising. "We feel that bank advertising has a special public duty to perform in this connection under existing conditions. The copy which will be supplied in the service we have developed will not only aid the individual bank in promoting the use of its own facilities but is also aimed to bring about with the aid of newspaper advertising a clearer public viewpoint regarding the essential part it occupies in the life of its community."

Mr. Hecht emphasized in regard to the new advertising facilities being offered to the members of the association that they are not a profit making venture and that there is no intention to disturb existing advertising arrangements, the idea being that these institutional services shall supplement rather than replace present plans, or that they will give assistance to member banks now lacking satisfactory arrangements.

MANY BANKS LONG LIVED

In the United States— 163 Banks over 100 years old. 2,472 Banks over 50 years old. 10,591 Banks over 25 years old.

There are in the United States 163 banks that have been in continuous existence for more than one hundred years. There are 2,472 banks over fifty years old, while 64% of all the banks in this country, or 10,591, are twenty-five years old or older.

In other words, practically two-thirds of the banks in this country have come through several successive periods of depression and panic, including 1897, 1914, 1929 and 1933.

The Oldest Bank. The oldest bank in the country, which is in Boston, was chartered February 17, 1784.

In the 64% of banks that are twenty-five years old or older is lodged a major portion of the banking resources of the nation. In commenting recently upon the stability of a great majority of the banks in the United States, Dr. Harold Steiner, Educational Director of the American Bankers Association, said:

"The fact that we have so many banks that have been in existence a long period of years is an eloquent tribute to the genius of American managerial ability, for no other country has experienced such wild gambling eras and resultant periods of business stagnation as those through which our country has passed at frequent intervals during the past century."

NEW WEALTH FROM SOIL

Now wealth which comes from the soil is of special interest to those to whom falls the responsibility of maintaining our credit structure.

Unless agriculture is successful farm borrowers cannot ultimately succeed, neither can the banks they serve. Forebearance and a sound basis for good financing or good banking. Bankers, therefore, are as much interested in the permanent success of the agricultural industry as are the farmers, whether the deposits come directly from farm patrons, or indirectly through the ordinary channels of business.—D. H. Oils, Director of Agriculture, American Bankers Association.
