One of the South's Defenders

A long and interesting life has been that of Col. Orville A. Gibson, member of the staff of the Commander of the Mississippi Division, U. C. V., who is spending the evening of his life at Springfield plantation, near Fayette, Miss., the ante-bellum home where Andrew Jackson married Rachel Robards more than a century ago. The picture here shows Colonel Gibson in the uniform of a young Confederate soldier, for he was but 17 years old when taken at Port Gibson, Miss. He was born at Warsaw, Ala., May 1, 1845, and served as a private in Company E, Wirt Adams' Regiment of Confederate Cavalry, also called the 1st Regiment of Mississippi Cavalry. Young Gibson also served with the Oxtibbeha Reserves, Company C, of the 14th Mississippi Infantry, under S. D. Lee, and he was mustered out at Gainesville, Ala., May 26, 1865.

For forty years following the war, Orville Gibson constructed railroads and levees in all sections of the South, winning everywhere the respect and friendship of those who knew him, and he was honored by having towns named "Gibson" and "Orville" in different States. He was married on December 2, 1869, to Miss Josephine Marion Randolph and to them were born five children. Some years after the death of his wife, he was married to Mrs. Susie Williams of West Point, Miss., who is still with him. His living descendants consist of one son, two daughters, two grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren. His youngest child, Augustus W. Gibson, served with the Washington Artillery of New Orleans on the Mexican border in 1916-17, entered the World War service as a member of the 41st Artillery, and was accidentally killed while preparing to go overseas.

The ancestors of Colonel Gibson served with honor in all the wars since this country was founded! His father, William Wellington Gibson, who, though over age, served the Confederacy in gathering supplies for the army and working hospitals had ancestors in the French and Indian wars, and four ancestors were "Minute Men" in the battles of Lexington and Bunker Hill. The mother of Colonel Gibson was Mary Catherine Rogers, whose people marched from Virginia into Tennessee after the Revolution. Her father, Robert Henderson Rogers, was in military service as a mere youth and was later sheriff of Sevier County, Tenn., a military honor in that day. His father was the Rev. Elijah Rogers, who was in expeditions against the Cherokees and Creek Indians, and in his ministerial life the record is that he baptized the first member of the first Baptist Church of Knoxville, Tenn., in the presence of three thousand people assembled on the banks of the Tennessee river. He was highly educated and combined teaching with preaching. He married Catherine Clack, whose father, Hon. Spencer Clack, was an officer of the Revolution from Henry County, Va., helped to draft the Constitution of the State of Tennessee, and was a member of the first legislature, serving continuously from 1796 until his death in 1832. The Spencer Clack Chapter, D. A. R. of Sevierville, Tenn., will unveil a monument in his honor in October, 1929.

In this connection it is well to mention three brave Confederate kinsmen of Colonel Gibson, who have lately passed into eternal rest, all past eight-five years old. Col. Spencer D. Clack who died in Dallas, Tex., served in the 3rd Tennessee Regiment throughout the war except for the seven months spent in Camp Douglas prison. Capt. M. M. Clack, who died in Abilene, Tex. was a member of the 1st Tennessee Cavalry, Company A, serving continuously until dangerously wounded and crippled for life in the battle of Staunton, Va. Another kinsman was Thos. Calvert, who was 98 years old in January, 1929, and joined his comrades in the great beyond in March. He was first lieutenant in Blythe's Mississippi Battalion, was wounded near Atlanta and taken prisoner and held on Murphy's Island until exchanged.

Col. Orville Gibson at 84, was still active and vigorous, riding horseback over the large plantation every day. He has a host of loyal friends, and the Daughters of the Confederacy of Fayette and Natchez show him many lovely attentions. — Confederate Veteran.

On Texas Farms.

It is possible to make comfortable, lightweight cover for the home from home grown wool, if the wool is scoured perfectly and carefully carded, says Mrs. J. D. Robertson, member of the Hagerman Home Demonstration Club of Grayson county.

This lady recommends that the wool be spread on paper in the sun to dry, and where the air can circulate around it fully. The wool loses about one-half its weight in washing. A three-pound bat is about the average for comforts.

The first terraces in Gillespie county were constructed in 1916. Since that time terraces have been built on farms in every community, but not more than half of the farm land that needs terracing has been terraced.

Heavy rains this year have convinced many farmers that they must terrace if they are to continue growing crops. At recent meeting, they decided that they would build their terraces themselves with such equipment as they had, and would also use available county equipment.

The group made a tour of the Rhodes grass pastures and feed lots on the House and Hollimann ranch, the Worth Wright ranch and the famous King ranch. There are 17,000 acres of Rhodes grass on the King ranch and more is being planted. It is said to compare in food value with Timothy grass.

Working Girls' Vacations
It is said that 4,784 out of the 500 working girls in New York go on vacations through churches, social settlements and societies.

Tyler, Texas.

Under the auspices of the Refugio County Demonstration Council, 35 farmers and ranchers interested in pasture improvement work and breeding better cattle recently made a tour of several ranches near Kingsville.

College Station—Pastures are an asset to any farm in Texas and the most important step in making these pastures productive is to mow the weeds, according to R. R. Lancaster, Extension pasture specialist.

"Pastures should be mowed at least once a year," he said, "but to really get rid of all the weeds a pasture needs mowing at least twice a year over a period of a couple of years. The reason for mowing weeds is to allow the necessary sunlight and moisture to get to the grasses."

The Extension pasture specialist was emphatic in explaining that grass was the cheapest, best and most convenient feed a farmer can raise. He pointed out that keeping a pasture in good condition will pay back dividends each year.

"Upland pastures that water will run off of, that are thinly sodded," he said, "should be terraced with a couple of plow furrows before seeding. If this is done while ground is moist, the grasses will likely continue to grow on these furrows."

Lancaster said that the importance of dividing a large pasture into smaller divisions and rotating the livestock from one division to the other has been proven worthwhile many times. He explained that this method will enable a pasture to carry more stock than if the large pasture was grazed as one division. Livestock will pick out the most choice grasses in a large pasture and leave the other grasses, thus retarding the growth of the best grasses.

"Grass must not be grazed too close without a rest period," Lancaster stated, "or the growth of the grass will be unduly stunted.

Regrowth will take place on heavily grazed pastures if a rest period is observed."

He concluded by again saying that once Texas farmers find out the real cash value pastures have, they will eventually all have one or two pastures on their farms.

When You're Dead.

It beats the deuce how the folks will weep as you lie in your coffin so fast asleep, and sing of your goodness in countless ways while the parson preaches and talks and prays. 'Tis queer how the public will eulogize and laud you up to the vaulted skies, when the undertaker has called you bluff and squirted you full of embalming stuff. But when you walked on the earth, I swear, you were nothing more than a plodder there, and you'd have fainted or dropped down dead at any praise that the public said. It's only when you're a lifeless stiff that the hapless public will note to the sky. — Los Angeles Herald.

DOCTORS KNOW

Mothers read this:

Why do people come home from a hospital with bowels working like a well-regulated watch? The answer is simple, and it's the answer to all your bowel worries if you will only realize it: many doctors and hospitals use liquid laxatives. If you knew what a doctor knows, you would use only the liquid form. A liquid can always be taken in gradually reduced doses. Reduced dosage is the secret of any real relief from constipation.

Unbalanced There is a lack of balance in the speed searcher.

News Review of Current Events the World Over

Hoare Promises Britain Will Not Fight With Italy—Laval's Peace Efforts Continued—President Roosevelt Returns to Washington.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

SIR SAMUEL HOARE, British foreign secretary, assured parliament and the world that Great Britain has no intention of fighting Italy and would not alone apply military sanctions against that nation. He held out strong hopes that the war in Africa could be settled without resort to the league to extreme measures. His speech was plainly an invitation to Italy to talk peace terms.

Sir Samuel Hoare

Denying that the government's policy is hostile to Fascism, Sir Samuel said: "We have not the least intention of interfering in the domestic affairs of other people." "The unbroken solidarity of the empire is behind the government's policy," he said. "Let those prophets of misfortune who have marked the empire down for decay and dissolution observe this fact of overwhelming importance."

Hoare hinted at British isolation from continental affairs if the league collapses.

Next day Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin warmly endorsed all that Hoare and Capt. Anthony Eden have done at Geneva. He deprecated even the use of the word war, but called for a rearming of the empire, saying: "In the interests of world peace it is essential our defensive services should be stronger than they are today."

Baldwin announced the adjournment of parliament on October 25 and the election of a new parliament on November 14. The campaign already is under way and is lively, with the international situation furnishing the main issues. The Labor party accuses the government of delaying action in the Italo-Ethiopian imbroglio until too late to prove really effective, and impugns its motive in seeking rearmament.

MUSSOLINI made one conciliatory gesture toward Great Britain when he agreed to withdraw a division of troops from Libya; and at the same time he urged that France and Britain make quick reply to his peace conditions. But it became known the troops were to be moved from Libya to Tripoli, where they would be almost as much a menace to Egypt; and the duce's peace terms were so drastic that there was no prospect that they would be accepted by anyone concerned. They included disarmament of Ethiopia, an international protectorate over the central regions and an Italian protectorate over the remainder.

Addressing the foreign affairs committee of the French chamber of deputies, Premier Laval promised he would seek only a compromise that would be fully acceptable to the League of Nations. He told the committee that France's battleships would steam immediately to the assistance of Britain if the latter's feet was attacked by Italy.

WHILE Premier Pierre Laval of France was still trying desperately to find a way of settling the Italo-Ethiopian quarrel that would be acceptable to both Great Britain and Italy—apparently without regard to Ethiopia's real interests—fifty-two members of the League of Nations declared a boycott on all Italian goods and an embargo on various key exports to that country. The boycott binds these nations to prohibit importation of "all goods consigned from and grown, produced or manufactured in Italy or in Italian possessions from whatever place they arrive."

If rigidly enforced, this would cut off about two-thirds of the export trade upon which Italy depends in getting funds for prosecution of the war in Africa. The countries applying the sanctions agree to aid one another in compensating losses by increased trade facilities, credits, cash and loans if possible, and discriminating against league members such as Austria and Hungary which continue to trade with Italy.

Austria, Hungary and Albania spoke against the sanctions. Switzerland, which seeks to preserve her traditional neutrality, was silent. Some South American republics made complicated reservations. It was decided that the sanctions should be put in force on October 31, and Laval thus had time to continue his peace efforts. These seemed to center on a way to "legalize" Italian occupation of that part of northern Ethiopia which Mussolini's troops have seized and to arrange for Italy's partial control over the entire empire.

GEN. RUDOLFO GRAZIANI'S forces in southern Ethiopia were reported to have won several important victories in their advance toward Harrar and the railway. They captured some towns despite desperate resistance by the natives, and took many prisoners. The main movement in that region was up the Webbe Shabelle river. The Ethiopians were repeatedly dispersed by aerial bombs. In Tigre province, on the north, the Italians were consolidating their positions and preparing for another big thrust toward Addis Ababa. Their line there extended nearly 70 miles from Adigrat through Aduwa to the holy city of Aksum.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, deeply tanned and in fine spirits, returned to the White House, his holiday tour ended. When he landed from the cruiser Houston at Charleston, S. C., he told a big crowd gathered to welcome him that the country is on its way back to prosperity under the planned economy of his administration, "and don't let anybody tell you differently."

At an informal press conference just before he left the cruiser, the President was asked to comment on the "impending collapse" of his drive to put three and a half million employables on relief to work by November 1. He replied that November 30 was 39 days off and that November 1 had never been set as the deadline, and that he had been very careful to say that substantially three and a half million persons would be put to work. If three million are at work by November 30 he said he would be satisfied with the four-billion-dollar program, and that it could not then be considered to have fallen down.

One of Mr. Roosevelt's first appointments in Washington was for a talk with Secretary of State Hull on the European situation.

FOR the third time in his career Mackenzie King is now prime minister of Canada, following the victory of the Liberal party at the polls. Richard B. Bennett and his Conservative cabinet resigned and King was called on to form the new government, which he did at once. He himself was sworn in as prime minister, president of the privy council and secretary of state for external affairs. Thomas A. Crerar of Winnipeg was made minister of mines, immigration and colonization, interior and Indian affairs. Charles A. Dunning of Montreal is the new minister of finance and W. D. Esler of Kitchener has the trade and commerce portfolio. All the cabinet positions except that of agriculture were filled at once.

The resignation of W. D. Herridge as minister to Washington was accepted and became immediately effective. The department of national revenue announced cancellation of dumping duties on the following commodities entering Canada: Plums, prunes, radishes, spinach, and peaches.

ONE of the government's much publicized efforts to punish alleged income tax evaders of Louisiana failed when a jury in Federal court at New Orleans brought in a verdict of not guilty in the case of Abraham L. Shushan, one of the close associates of the late Senator Long. The prosecution claimed he owed $71,000 in taxes. The verdict was greeted with loud cheers by the crowd in the courtroom, and in the ensuing confusion several news photographers were beaten up by former members of Long's bodyguard—which seems to be a habit in Louisiana.

NEARLY 5,000 men and women from all parts of the United States gathered in Chicago and held a national convention of the Townsend plan, which, as most people know, would give every person sixty years of age a $200 per month income if the person agreed to spend it all within the month, did not work or have an income all told of more than $2,400 a year.

The elderly California doctor who devised the plan was present, and he delegates seriously undertook the work of formulating a campaign to compel the adoption of the plan at the coming session of congress.

FIRST of the big eastern railroads to seek reorganization under the amended bankruptcy act is the New York, New Haven and Hartford, which serves one of the most densely populated sections of the country. Its petition was filed because it was unable to meet taxes of $4,000,000 and interest of $2,200,000.

The railroad had sought another loan from the government, but the Interstate Commerce commission rejected the plea. The company had cleaned its treasury of collateral to secure loans of $7,600,000 from the Reconstruction Finance corporation, $3,531,000 from the Railroad Credit corporation, and $16,000,000 from banks. The Pennsylvania system, which controls about 15 per cent of New Haven stock, did not appear ready to guarantee a further extension of credit.

GERMANY is becoming a barren nation, intellectually, culturally and scientifically, under Hitler. That was the way Alfred E. Smith opened an appeal for financial aid for non-Aryan Christian and political refugees from Germany, at a dinner in New York held under the joint auspices of the American Christian Committee for German Refugees and the Emergency Committee in Aid of Political Refugees from Nazism. "I am informed that at this very moment I am speaking, 2,500 German refugees are on the verge of starvation," the former New York governor said. "Centers now operating and serving these refugees in Europe must be supplied quickly with money. They need aid, or will be forced to discontinue their work."

Dr. Albert Einstein, the eminent scientist, also was present and said German Fascism is directed mostly "against my Jewish brothers. The reason given is to purify the Aryan race in Germany. As a matter of fact, no such Aryan race exists and the myth of same has been invented solely to motivate the persecution and robbery of the Jews."

ALL states and communities have been asked by Aubrey Williams acting WPA administrator, to make better provisions for the care of "unemployables," for federal aid for the needy will soon be confined to providing jobs. In an interview Mr. Williams said that with six states already cut off the dole, progress of the work relief program would bring liquidation of relief administrations in "the great majority of the remaining states" during November. This will leave those physically or mentally unable to work, the aged, mothers with dependent children, and other handicapped families and individuals, dependent upon local efforts.

DR. HUGH S. MAGILL, who as president of the American Federation of Investors has been annoyed by congressional investigators, has written to all members of congress a letter asking whether American citizens "still have the right to express their approval or disapproval with respect to pending legislation without being harassed by 'inquisitors.'"

The federation opposed the recent enactment of the "death sentence" for "unnecessary" holding companies and was under investigation by the senate lobby committee.

In an open letter to senators and representatives, Magill said he had "refused" to permit representatives of the committee "to read my personal and private correspondence." He asserted the federation "is not a lobbying organization as that term is commonly used."

DEATH came to an eminent American, Maj. Gen. Adolphus W. Greely, U. S. A., retired, at the age of ninety-one years. He passed away in Walter Reed hospital, Washington, and was buried in Arlington national cemetery with full honors. General Greely was universally known as the leader of the ill-fated expedition into the Arctic regions in 1881 from which only he and seven others returned alive. But he had already served in the Civil war with distinction, and his later scientific accomplishments won him international fame.

ARTHUR HENDERSON, president of the world disarmament conference and a most determined foe of war, died in a London nursing home.

He was seventy-two years old and had been ill for a long time, so ill that he had not been permitted to see a newspaper for six weeks and did not know that another war had broken out and that the peace of Europe was threatened. The former iron molder of Glasgow who became a leader of the Labor party and was foreign secretary when it was in power, was awarded the Nobel peace prize in 1934. His crusade for peace and disarmament was inspired by the death of his eldest son in the World war. He was a gentle, much loved man, a genuine idealist whose latter years were made sorrowful by the repeated failure of the disarmament conference to get results.

HELENA, capital of Montana, and all the western part of that state were terrified by a series of earthquake shocks extending through a number of days. There were only two fatalities, but numerous buildings were wrecked or so weakened that they had to be razed. Hundreds of persons were driven from their homes, and the suffering was intensified by a sudden fall of the temperature to below freezing.

EDWARD HENRY CARSON, who in 1921 was made Baron Carson of Duncarn, died in London at the age of eighty-one years, ending a strange and stormy career concerned mainly with Irish politics. A Protestant, he became leader of the Ulster party, organized and led the threatened Ulster rebellion in 1914 against the home rule bill and secured its postponement. When the war broke he turned his army to the battlefields of France and himself entered the British cabinet.

After the war Carson threw himself into the fight against the establishment of the Irish Free State and succeeded in securing the partition by which the six Ulster counties separated from the rest of Ireland.

Nature's Ice Box O. K.; Keeps Food 33 Years

Nature's ice box has even the best of mechanical refrigerators skinned when it comes to food preservation. Keeping food in good condition for years is no trick at all for natural cold storage plants such as the Antarctic wastes. According to Dr. Dana Coman, physician and dietitian for the Lincoln Ellsworth-Sir Hubert Wilkins expedition, food left in a shack in the South Polar region 33 years ago was found to be still edible when discovered. The long-preserved food supplies were left by a Norwegian explorer, Otto Nordenskjold, in 1902.—Washington Post.

EATS OATMEAL TO HELP KEEP FIT

It may be one of Nature's lowest cost foods, but lucky is the boy or girl who gets it for breakfast every morning. Many are nervous, poor in appetite, system out of order, because their daily diets lack enough of the precious Vitamin B for keeping fit. Few things keep them back like a lack of this protective food element. So give everyone Quaker Oats every morning. Because in addition to its generous supply of Vitamin B for keeping fit, it furnishes food-energy, muscle and body-building ingredients. For about 1/2c per dish. Start serving it tomorrow for a 2-weeks test. Quaker Oats has a wholesome, nut-like, luscious appeal to the appetite. Flavoury, surpassingly good. All grocers supply it.

Great Stone Blocks Are Island of Guam Mystery

The great blocks of stone which, by some unknown process, were hoisted in place to build the Egyptian pyramids have caused many to marvel, yet on the island of Guam there are stones larger than those used in the pyramids, evidently marking the burial place of an ancient native chief.

The huge stone blocks weigh approximately 2,500 pounds each, and when found one rested on the other. Both are of coral formation. The finding of many such burial places on Guam indicates that this island once had a big population. Little is known about its early inhabitants.

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well-Being to Unknown Preparations

BEFORE you take any preparation you don't know all about, for the relief of headaches; or the pains of rheumatism, neuritis or neuralgia, ask your doctor what he thinks about it—in comparison with Genuine Bayer Aspirin.

We say this because, before the discovery of Bayer Aspirin, most so-called "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as being bad for the stomach; or, often, for the heart. And the discovery of Bayer Aspirin largely changed medical practice.

Countless thousands of people who have taken Bayer Aspirin year in and out without ill effect, have proved that the medical findings about its safety were correct.

Remember this: Genuine Bayer Aspirin is rated among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and all common pains . . . and safe for the average person to take regularly.

You can get real Bayer Aspirin at any drug store—simply by never asking for it by the name "aspirin" alone, but always saying BAYER ASPIRIN when you buy.

PATTERN 9606

Lives there a Junior Miss who couldn't "fall" for this smart yet simple school frock? We just know she will want to make her first fall frock from this pattern, because it's so very easy to cut, assemble and stitch, and if Mother is too busy to supervise the operation, take the pattern and some pretty cotton to sewing class and work on it there. The youthful, square neck adopts a scarf-like collar to slip under its tab, the puffed sleeves have a hearty slash. Action pleats grace back bodice and skirt, a box pleat, the side front skirt.

Pattern 9606 may be ordered only in sizes 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14. Size 12 requires 2 1/2 yards 36 inch fabric and 3/4 yard contrasting. Complete diagrammed sew chart included.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE.

Send your order to The Sewing Circle Pattern Dept., 232 West Eighteenth St., New York, N. Y.

By VIRGINIA VALE

HOLLYWOOD movie actors are having fits all over again about that state income tax—they swear they'll move out of the state, that they'll make fewer pictures and so actually make more money, and all that sort of thing. And they get no sympathy whatever from the people who've been paying state income taxes for years and years.

New Yorkers, for example. Miriam Hopkins found a way out when she bought her charming house in New York city. It's owned by the Miriam Hopkins corporation, which makes all the difference in the world. But don't ask how much she paid somebody to think that up! Or perhaps she thought of it herself; she's smart enough to do just that!

June Travis is learning to fly, for her role as an aviation hostess in the screen version of that thrilling play, "Ceiling Zero." And she's being taught by an expert—Amelia Earhart.

RKO feels that it has a great picture in "The Return of Peter Grimm," with Lionel Barrymore, Helen Mack and George Breakstone in the cast.

History has certainly been repeating itself in Joan Crawford's case. Perhaps you recall the preliminaries of her marriage to Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.—all the denials of an engagement, all the rumors that they had been secretly married, and then the trip to New York, with more rumors and denials, and finally the wedding.

And now we've had Miss Crawford and her new husband, Franchot Tone, whom the movie fans were inclined to ignore until he turned in a grand performance in "The Lives of a Bengal Lancer," traveling to New York on the same train, engaging a large suite in a hotel, and swearing—at least, she did—that the trip was made for broadcasting purposes, not matrimonial ones.

The suite, incidentally, was on the seventh floor. That's not surprising, though most people like to be high above the tumult of the city's streets. But Californians insist on being near the earth, and when pressed some of them break down and admit that it's because they're afraid of earthquakes!

Some of us can remember way back to the days just after the Crawford-Fairbanks nuptials, when a starchy eyed Joan (who surprised her public by using very little make-up and letting all her freckles show), and a devoted Doug Junior held hands even when lunching in a hotel dining room.

Morton Downey's appearance as guest star for Paul Whiteman reminded Paul of the days when Morton was singing regularly with his band; when he wasn't singing he played the French horn—that is, he pretended to play the French horn; he really couldn't play a note, but nobody found that out until he'd become a singing star and didn't care if he never saw a horn again.

The Sisters of the Skillet started their new radio program recently, and by Friday midnight following their Sunday broadcast they had received 7,000 letters from fans—and it was just a 15-minute broadcast! Took seven extra stenographers to take care of the mail, and the reserve supply of stationery was exhausted in no time.

Speaking of freckles, Myrna Loy has made them fashionable. Since she went to Europe and was mobbed by the public, there has developed a fad for painting freckles on pretty faces. Helen Hayes' return to radio started the fall season off so far as radio was concerned—though Jack Benny had done his bit the previous Sunday evening with one of his best efforts. Mr. Benny remains one of our best radio comedians, and Michael Bartlett fitted into the new routine very nicely.

Those rumors of impending divorce annoyed Frances Dee and Joel McCrea no end; they swear they're perfectly happy together.

ODDS AND ENDS . . . Mae West has a new white automobile—and her chauffeur wears white uniforms to match it . . . Lanny Ross' name is really "Lancelot" . . . Clark Gable's off to Mexico for a vacation . . . Schumann-Heink has started work in her first picture under her new contract . . . Jean Muir flew to New York for the gala opening of "Midsummer Night's Dream" . . . Barbara Stanwyck seems to be well started on a return to movies . . . Now Paramount wants to borrow Jean Harlow for "National Velvet," it's said—Katherine Hepburn being much better suited to the role . . . But perhaps harder to borrow . . . Fox's "Thunder Mountain" is a pretty swell Western.

Not Nine, but 50,000 Planets, Says Scientist

The solar system, of which the earth is a part, probably contains not 9 but 50,000 planets, it has been estimated by Prof. Armin O. Leuschner, of the University of California. In addition to the well known ones, Mercury, Venus, Earth, Mars, Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus, Neptune, and Pluto, a swarm of lesser objects have orbits around the sun, most of them in the region between Mars and Jupiter. Nearly 1,300 of the small bodies, or asteroids, have been located since the beginning of the last century, on the first night of which the Italian astronomer Giuseppe Piazzi sighted the first, Ceres.—Literary Digest.

"It's certainly good news that Calumet is selling at new low prices," Mrs. McIntosh says. "I do a lot of baking, and when I can get a full pound can of reliable Calumet for only 25c, I'm pretty pleased with myself!"

Her son Jack settles down to some of Mother's famous coffee cake, and pays for it with a big smile.

AND LOOK AT THE NEW CAN! A simple twist...and the Easy-Opening Top lifts off. No delay, no spilling, no broken fingernails!

WHY IS CALUMET DIFFERENT from other baking powders? Why do you have to use only one level teaspoonful of Calumet to a cup of sifted flour in most recipes? Because Calumet combines two distinct leavening actions. A quick action for the mixing bowl—set free by liquid. A slower action for the oven—set free by heat.

The Citadel of Our Freedom
By RAYMOND PITCAIRN
National Chairman
Sentinels of the Republic

The Supreme Court of the United States meets this session in its new home across from the Capitol at Washington.

Beautiful and impressive, the structure cost some $9,000,000 to build. That it has been pointed out, is about half the price of a battleship.

But, as a defender of our freedom, the Supreme Court building with all that it represents is many times more valuable than any dreadnaught.

The battleship guards us against dangers from without.

The Supreme Court—as protector and interpreter of the Constitution—guards our government and our freedom against dangers from within.

It is the Supreme Court that says "Stop" when our personal liberty or the safeguarding provisions of our Constitution are violated.

It is the citadel of our freedom.

There have been efforts—both past and recent—to weaken that citadel. There have been attempts to transfer the powers vested in the Supreme Court to other branches of government. Firmly the people have resisted such proposals. Emphatically they have demonstrated that they want no stone removed from the fortress that guards their constitutional rights.

And they are right. They know that when that fortress falls, the freedom assured them under the Constitution can perish with it.

Remember, it was the Declaration of Independence that won our freedom; it was the Constitution that preserved it; and it is the Supreme Court that protects it.

'Chevon' Sandwich for a Free Treat.

Texas is inviting the wide world to get her goat in 1936.

Chevon (a fancy name for goat meat) sandwiches will be distributed free of charge to Texas Centennial Exposition visitors, with the Texas Angora Raisers Association as host.

A goat milk bar will also be maintained.

Goat ranchers have been striving for years to popularize the product with indifferent success. Little luck was theirs even though they changed the name of goat meat to chevon in an effort to make it more attractive.

Now they are determined to prove to Exposition visitors that a chevon sandwich is something to chew over.

Depicting various dramatic episodes in the life of Stephen F. Austin, and summarizing his contribution toward the founding of Texas, a pageant commemorating his birth, November 3, 1793, is being sent to all Texas schools by the public school division of the State publicity department for Texas Centennial celebrations. The pageant is in five episodes and is based on historical facts. It begins with Stephen Austin's acceptance of the proposal to found a colony in Texas, and portrays its growth until after the revolution. The final episode is a dramatic summary of Texas' achievements since that time. This pageant is one of a series of such programs that the department will supply the schools of Texas.
