DISTRIBUTES $50 AND $100 BILLS.

He is Supposed to Be Daniel Feutz, of Oregon, Mo., and Has Over $1,600.

As if they were snowflakes and he owned a blizzard, a man gave away twenty and fifty dollar bills in the Battery Park yesterday. A sombrero was slouched cowboy fashion over his forehead, and long, unkempt hair hung upon his shoulders. He looked like a patient medicine fakir, but the money he gave away was real.

A hungry, grasping crowd of battery boatmen, laborers and hoboes of the park gathered about him. They grabbed eagerly the big bills dealt out by the mysterious stranger. It seemed too good to be true, and the hoboes pinched themselves to see that they were not dreaming.

"Take them, take my money," the man said. "I am rich; you are poor. I am richer than the Vanderbilts, and what I give I give freely."

Men fought for his wealth. The supply of twenty dollar and fifty dollar greenbacks seemed inexhaustible. In his hand the philanthropist held a large roll of bills, and from his pockets he produced others. Two or three who received his gratuities went straightway to neighboring saloons and tendered the money for change to see if it were really legal tender. The bills passed unquestioned and the men hurried to the human Klondike for more.

In a few minutes a large crowd had surrounded the man. He was still dealing out money and talking earnestly of philanthropy. Policeman Egan, of the Church street station, saw the mob pushing, scrambling, fighting. It looked like a riot. The policeman had to fight his way into the thick of it, and when he reached the center, arrested the man with money. The philanthropist was aggrieved.

"I have done nothing," he said. "These are poor men, and I am merely giving my money to the poor."

At the station house he was booked as insane. In his possession were bills amounting to $1,645. More than $900 was found sewed in his trousers. There was also a check drawn by the Montgomery-Becker Banking Company, of Oregon, Mo., upon the American Exchange National Bank of this city. The amount of it was $201.50. It was drawn in favor of Daniel Feutz, and that name was entered upon the blotter, although the man refused to give his name or to tell anything of himself, except his age, which is forty-two.

The man was taken to the Centre Street Police Court, and sent by Magistrate Crane to Bellevue for examination. There Dr. Robinson said that he was suffering from delusional insanity. He said that he was on his way to his home in Switzerland, and had reached New York two days ago. At the hospital $42 in bills were found pinned under the collar of his overcoat.—New York Journal.

Baseball.

The Texas Baseball League will be a fixture next year. That was the verdict of the clans that gathered at Houston Saturday. The circuit will comprise four clubs—all south Texas cities, Houston, Galveston, Austin and San Antonio. George D. Dermody, of Galveston, was elected president of the league and Louis Heuserman, of San Antonio, arbitrator. The guarantees were fixed at $50 per game with the exception of Austin, where visiting clubs will receive $45 guarantee per game. San Antonio was represented by Fred H. Dewey, president of the local association.—San Antonio Light.

An Up-to-Date Boy.

A twelve year-old boy in a Maine town recently took a mean advantage of a man who did not read the paper. Going into a store with a basket of eggs for sale, he inquired the price, and was told they were sixteen cents a dozen. Leaving his eggs he proceeded to another store, whose proprietor evidently had not heard of the reduction in price, and he told the boy eggs were worth twenty cents a dozen. The boy promptly proceeded to the first named store, took the eggs he had brought, invested sixteen cents in another dozen, and sold the lot to the second store at twenty cents.

GIRL ENDS HER LIFE.

Chose Sudden Death Rather Than Await the Doom of Disease.

Sick and despondent, and fearing of linger slowly on through a painful existence, with the inevitable end put off only a few weary months or years, Mary Fischer yesterday afternoon killed herself at her home, No. 151 Willoughby avenue, Brooklyn.

Outwardly, she had all that was needed to make her happy. She had youth, for she was not but nineteen years of age. She lived in a fine house in the heart of a fashionable neighborhood. She was herself the heart and life of a charming family circle, for she lived with her mother, Mrs. Catherine Fischer, her three sisters, and her brother. She had hosts of friends.

The sisters are all handsome, and the family is prominent in both social and church circles.

It was an unusual mode of suicide for a woman that Mary Fischer chose, for she killed herself with a shot from a heavy calibre revolver.

Her brother is connected with a steamship company, and frequently carries a revolver, but yesterday he left it lying on the dresser in his room.

There his sister found it, and took it to her own room. She seated herself on the edge of her bed, in front of her mirror, and taking deliberate aim, fired the fatal shot into her heart.

Her father, the late Henry W. Fischer, died of consumption, and Mary, ill as she was, feared that she was doomed by the same disease. For some time past her natural gaiety had given way to brooding sorrow. All the efforts of her family and friends could not remove the cloud of dejection.

She was alone in the house yesterday afternoon with the maid, who noticed that she was heartbrokenly sobbing.

"I am so tired, so tired of all this," the girl exclaimed.

"I would just as soon be dead as to continue to suffer in this way."

She then went up to her room, still weeping, and that was the last that was seen of her alive.

When her mother and sisters sought for her, they found her lying on the floor by the bed, and beside her was the weapon by whose aid she escaped the lingering and painful end that she had so feared.

Dr. Del Risco, of No. 235 Washington avenue, said that death had been instantaneous.—New York Journal.

DAYLIGHT LYNCHING.

Knocked There Victim in the Head With an Ax and Robbed the Desk. The Execution Was Orderly.

SHREVEPORT, La., December 6.—After several hours of investigation into the murder of Mr. Larry Vance by the committee at Benton today, two negroes were adjudged guilty. The mass meeting at the court house decided to execute them by hanging. The guilt of Hearn and Richardson, the negroes, was established beyond a doubt.

They were taken to the place of execution about half a mile north of the town at 3:30 p. m., ropes were adjusted at 3:35 and they were hung at 3:45. Richardson protested his innocence to the last.

Both died game. The crowd was determined and orderly.

Bedney Hearn murdered Mr. Vance at the Riverside plantation in Bossier. Hearn entered Mr. Vance's room, while his partner stood on the outside. A dog, in the room aroused Mr. Vance, and as he attempted to rise from his bed Bedney struck Mr. Vance over the head with an ax, and followed up the blow with another on his victim's jaw.

Believing him dead he pried open a desk from which he secured $60 to $70.

He was then joined by his partner, who was about to take $20 in silver when they were frightened by a noise and skipped. Hearn talked right away and was soon arrested, when he confessed.—Houston Post.

Stale Jokes.

He—"If we were not on a tandem, I'd kiss you."
She—"Let me off this bicycle instantly, Sir."

Mr. Boodles—"You began life as a barefooted boy, I understand?"
New Clerk—"Yes, Sir; I was born without shoes."

"John!" called his wife from the foot of the stairs, "what on earth are you singing and dancing and making such a noise about?"

"Matter enough," replied John. "I dropped my last collar button and it didn't roll under the dresser or fall in the spittoon."

"Twas on the sixteenth of March, I'd just arrived from Cork,

"Pop, what is the best kind of paper for a kite?"
"Er—fly paper, my son."

"Our servant girl lighted the fire with paraffin oil the other morning."
"Did you discharge her?"
"We haven't found her yet."

"It is evident," said the judge, "that you shot this man with malice aforethought."
"No I didn't, yer honor," replied the prisoner. "It was with plain buckshot."

Mr. Figg—Tommy, I heard that you have been telling untruths, I never told untruths when I was your age.
Tommy—When did you begin, pa?

Peter, Peter, pumpkin eater,
Had a wife and could't keep her;

And then he kept her very well.

Pat—"Devil a bit I will! Do yez think O'im a billy-goat, that yez can fade me on a bit o' paper?"

"How can you tell the age of a chicken?" asked Smith.
"By the teeth," answered Jones.
"By the teeth! Chickens don't have teeth."
"But I have."

Mrs. Briske—Johnny, did the doctor call while I was out?

Little Johnny, (stopping his play)—Yes'm, he felt my pulse, an' looked at my tongue, and shook his head and said it was very serious case, and left this prescription, and said he'd call again before night.

Mrs. Briske—Gracious me! It wasn't you I sent him to see. It was the baby.

CUBANS DYING.

The Condition of the People Pitiful Beyond Description—An Appeal to McKinley.

HAYANA, Dec. 1.—Throughout Havana Province and in the towns of Casilda, Rio Blanco, Jibacoa, San Antonio and Guanabacoa hundreds of persons are dying of starvation. The condition of the people is pitiful, and while food from the supply vessel Brattau has been delivered at Matanzas, Baraino and other points, the supply is in no wise adequate. More food and more ships to carry it are needed.

The Spaniards are doing all in their power to prevent the truth becoming known, and the local press dare not describe the horrors of the situation. A fine of $200 is imposed on every paper that prints a line about starvation. One paper more daring than its contemporaries, La Lucha, by paying a fine and risking the suppression of its issue, appeals to President McKinley, asking that another ship be sent to Cuba immediately with food for the natives.

SPAIN MUST PAY DAMAGES.

$50,000,000 in Claims Filed by Americans for Property Destroyed in Cuba.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—Congress will be asked at its approaching session to establish a tribunal or court to have exclusive jurisdiction of all claims of American citizens against Spain growing out of the recent war.

So far there have been filed at the State Department claims as to Cuba alone about $50,000,000. Some additional claims were filed to-day by the agent of the Condert Brothers, of New York, at the State department. This agent said that his firm had claims aggregating $5,000,000 for damages against Spain by reason of the destruction of the property of American citizens in Cuba.

It is reported that a bill would be presented to Congress looking to the organization by Congress of a special tribunal for the consideration of the cases.

Spoiled His Case.

I remember hearing of a law court case where a man had entered an action against a railroad company for an injury to his arm in an accident.

Said the opposing lawyer:

"I understand you have lost the use of your arm entirely through this accident?"

"Yes," said the plaintiff.

Lawyer—"How high can you lift your arm now?"

Plaintiff with great difficulty moves it about an inch.

Lawyer—"How far could you lift it before the accident?"

Plaintiff—"Right up there."—at the same time shooting it right up over his head.—Ex.

HAVANA, December 7.—Stern, stately and formidable, the cruiser New York glided past Morro Castle at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

There was no demonstration of any character. A rather sullen and silent demeanor marked the conduct of the people who saw the cruiser enter the harbor and take a place near the anchor.

Admiral Manterola sent his aid aboard and the ordinary courtesies were exchanged. Later Captain Chadwick landed at the Manchina wharf and proceeded to Rear Admiral Sampson's residence, officially reporting his arrival.

AN OPEN LETTER.

Dr. Boyd Cornick Expresses His Opinion of Establishing a Sanitarium.

KNICKERBOCKER, Dec. 9.

EDITOR ENTERPRISE:

Your timely editorial of the 29th ultimo on the subject of establishing a sanitarium in the suburbs of San Angelo, for the accommodation of health seekers, should have the thoughtful consideration of every citizen.

The reputation of the climate of San Angelo and surrounding country is growing day by day, and sufferers from pulmonary diseases are resorting to the Concho country in growing numbers from all parts of the north and east.

These health seekers, virtually without exception, come prepared to pay for the accommodations which they need. So that to apply needed buildings and management, for the needs of those both able and willing to pay therefor, does not in any degree resemble an act of charity, but rests on a strictly business basis.

So that the establishment of a sanitarium for San Angelo, not only gives assurance of satisfactory returns on the capital invested, but is DEMANDED as a sanitary safeguard for the public health.

How may such an enterprise be established? Your editorial suggests the most practical way. A joint stock company, with a majority of the shares owned right at home by the people of San Angelo, is the best, and at this time the only possible plan.

Five years ago two medical friends of mine in Illinois, sought my approval of their proposal to solicit subscriptions for a West Texas Sanitarium, for consumptives, the subscriptions to come chiefly from the north.

Very respectfully, BOYD CORNICK, M. D.

EFFECTS OF THE DIP.

Results as Described by the Owners of Some of the Dipped Herds.

Mr. John Schrabauer, a prominent and reliable cattleman of Fort Worth, who owns several large ranches in the vicinity of Midland, in a letter to the Journal says: "I see by the papers that they are trying to make it appear that the cattle shipped for me were of a very unhealthy lot and that the dipping was a success. My cattle were a good, smooth, healthy lot and in good flesh when they were dipped. There were 110 head of them; 32 head of them have died to date and I am liable to lose several more. They have been in good pasture with plenty of grass and water. My experience leads me to believe that cattle dipping is a great failure."

A short time ago Messrs. Hagan & O'Connor, of Guthrie, Oklahoma, bought 570 4-year old steers from E. G. Sugg & Bro., of Suggden, I. T., for feeders. These were an exceedingly fine lot of cattle. Two cars average of the lot, after being shipped to Fort Worth, weighed an average of 1170 pounds. These cattle were dipped about a week or ten days ago at the Fort Worth Stock Yards. Mr. Hagan, one of the owners, who is a prominent citizen of Guthrie, Oklahoma, in a letter to the editor of the Journal dated Nov. 20, says: "The Suggs cattle arrived here Sunday from 3 to 4 o'clock. They were unloaded, driven across the creek so that they could get water, and driven half a mile to the oil mill feed lots where there was feed in the boxes and plenty of good straw. It rained that night and turned cold. The cattle drew up and got as stiff as poker. Out of the 576 head I don't think there were twenty but what were badly affected. They moved about like they were foundering. Mr. O'Connor worked for two days and took one steer at a time and drove them up to the water tank. We nursed them

SMALLPOX AT CAMERON.
A Statement Issued by the County Health Officer.

CAMERON, TEXAS, December 8.—Dr. Groer, city and county health officer, made the following official report as to the condition of smallpox in Cameron up to noon today:

Since official report issued on Nov. 27, 1898, there have been approximately twelve cases of smallpox, all of which, with three or four exceptions, are able to sit up.

Nearly all cases are out of danger, but are still kept under guard.

Total number of cases in town since September 10 to date will exceed thirty-four.

New cases will be reported from time to time.

People need not be afraid to come to town to transact any business.

The disease is almost entirely confined to the colored people.

There are some few cases in the Clarkson neighborhood in this country, but all are doing well.

Aside from Dr. Groer's report the citizens of Cameron held a mass meeting yesterday and discussed the smallpox situation, especially the management. It was largely attended and a resolution was unanimously adopted endorsing the management of the city health officer and his assistants.

The citizens expressed themselves as being perfectly satisfied that there will be no spread of the disease outside the residence already afflicted. The public and private school all continue except the colored schools.—Post.

A Boss Liar.

There is said to be a boss liar living near the line of Rains and Van Zandt counties. He says there is a man in his neighborhood who has invented a salve that he claims is just the thing for cuts.

If you cut your finger off, apply the salve and your finger will soon grow out to its normal length. One of his neighbors was somewhat skeptical, so he thought he would try it on a dog's tail.

He cut off the tail and applied the salve, when almost spontaneously it commenced growing and in a few days it was as long as ever. In the meantime his little boy had picked up the end of the tail and put on some salve, and both the boy and his father were much surprised to see a full-sized dog grow out from the end of the tail.—West Texas Stockman.

Best Seeds Absolutely Necessary.

We cannot too strongly nor too often urge the supreme importance of planting seeds that are perfectly pure and fresh. Seeds that are offered at cheap prices are almost invariably of doubtful origin and uncertain age, sure to cause the planter disappointment and loss. The thoughtful planter's only surety lies in buying seeds sent out by a conscientious and trustworthy house. A vast number of American gardeners have (and have had for years) the utmost confidence in seed that bear the name, D. M. Ferry & Co., Detroit, Mich. The present generation of planters can hardly remember the time when Ferry's seeds were not on sale everywhere each year and as regularly planted by thousands—with the greatest faith in the unvarying quality of the seeds and in the integrity of the firm that grew them. Every planter, whether already a buyer of Ferry's seeds or not, should send for Ferry's Seed Annual for 1899. It is mailed free to anyone who writes for it.

"Two Souls With But a Single Thought, Two Hearts That Beat As One."

In this city, on Wednesday, Dec. 7, 1898, at the Baptist church, Rev. G. B. Rogers officiating, two of societies most popular young people were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. Mr. Chas. T. Anglo and Miss Evalyn Magruder were made one for weal or woe.

The church was decorated for the auspicious occasion by the lady friends of the bride and groom, and was a dream in exquisite floral decoration.

May their wedded life be as thickly interspersed with flowers and well wishes as was the church in which it began.

Promptly at the time announced, the organ echoed the soft sweet strains of Mendelssohn to the magic touch of Miss Scottie Early, and the bridal party, preceded by the ushers, Messrs. G. I. Gwin and J. G. Murphy, entered the vestibule and moved gracefully amidst the enchanted throng, the bridesmaids passing down the left aisle and the best men to the right, as follows:

Miss Lella McClellan, of Coleman, and Mr. W. L. Hester, of Wallis, first bridesmaid and best man.

Miss Poe Early and Mr. R. H. Harris, Miss Lomie Beaumont, of Coleman, and Mr. B. C. Alexander.

Miss Ida May Oliver, of Houston, and Mr. Murph March.

Following came the bride and groom who passing down the left aisle, turned upon the rostrum from behind the encircled bridesmaids and groomsmen, and from between them and beneath the suspended bell and arching wreaths, they passed facing the audience.

Rev. G. B. Rogers, in ceremony beautiful and brief, pronounced his benediction upon them, and love's dream had passed an epoch—Charles and Eva now were husband and wife.

To them this sacred drama was a climax, to the wedded around them it was the mystic dream of their own long ago recurrent; to the young it was tribute from the heart's best offerings to an altar sacred to all, from poet to plebeian, or from hero to wild hermit.

It must require an artist to portray the lovely floral scene that bedecked the altar, or describe the attire of the fair attendant train. It might be said the effect was perfect.

A Public Nuisance.

There is a sink hole in the North Concho just below the crossing on Chadbourne street caused by the discharge of the sewer from Laskeg block and Landon Hotel that is not only a disgrace to our town but a disseminator of more diseases than doctors usually practice on in this section. The county commissioners should take the matter in hand and devise some means of draining it. If something isn't done soon there will be a world of sickness, not only in the western part of our city but in the Post also.—Press.

This may be the cause of so much sickness that is now in San Angelo, and the sooner there is something done to prevent the discharge of said sewer, the better it will be for our town. The people who live in San Angelo should be ashamed of such a place. If there is not something done pretty soon to prevent this, San Angelo will lose her reputation as being the "health resort of the west."

The following paragraph is going the rounds of the press, credited to "Exchange," the one paper in the world that can boast a larger circulation than the War Cry:

"We live in a land of high mountains and high taxes, low valleys and low wages, big crooked rivers and big crooked statesmen, big lakes, big strikes, big drunks, big pumpkins, big men and big pumpkin heads, silver streams that gambol in the mountains and piona politicians who gamble in the night, roaring cataracts and roaring orators, fast trains, fast horses, fast young men and girls fast, faster, fastest, sharp lawyers, sharp financiers and sharp-footed shoes, noisy children, fertile plains that lie like a sheet of water, and thousands of newspapers that lie like thunder, and these thousands of newspapers have thousands of delinquent subscribers who lie like the d—l and won't pay a d—d cent."

He was a cross-road editor and he was talking to a cross-road school, and in the course of his remarks he said: "The possibilities of progress in this country are great. When they first caught me and brought me to this town, I hadn't a shirt to my back. But in two years' time I was wearing shirts, with bone collar-buttons, and it was not long before collars were put on me; then I climbed into a coat, and it was only yesterday that my good wife said to me: 'John, I am going to order cuffs for you with gold buttons.'"

An Arkansas editor who read that a lady in New York "kneads bread with her gloves on," remarks: "We need bread with our pants on; we need bread with our boots on, and if our subscribers who are in arrears don't soon pay up, we shall need bread without anything on."
