

WHAT THE BUSINESS MEN THINK OF THAT PROPOSED 6 O'CLOCK SIDEWALK SWEEPING ORDINANCE

"A CONFOUNDED NUISANCE," SAYS ONE, WHILE ANOTHER DECLARES THAT "IT IS THE BEST THING THAT HAS EVER BEEN PROPOSED"

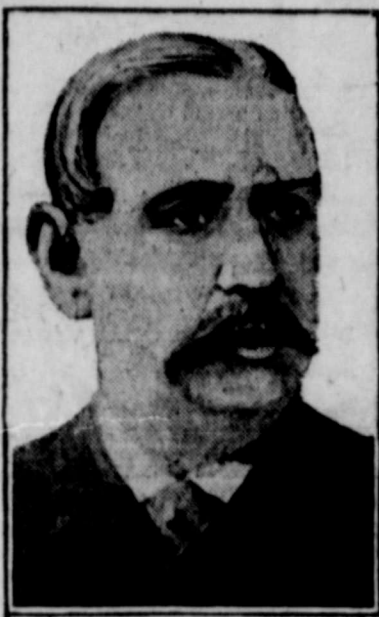

Great excitement is the result of the proposed ordinance to compel the merchants along Chadbourne street to have the sidewalk in front of their stores swept before 6 o'clock in the morning.

E. A. Beyette, the owner of the San Angelo Racket store, is strictly in favor of the proposition of sweeping the sidewalk, but does not "cotton" to the 6 o'clock amendment. Said he:

"What we should do is to sprinkle the walks with sawdust and oil, instead of water, as is done in most cases. I have seen it tried before and know it will prove efficacious. When this method is used then the sidewalk is left clean and free from dirt. On the other hand, when water is used a thin coating of mud is left, which in the course of the day develops into dust and destroys a great deal of the benefits derived by the sprinkling."

"As to the idea of kicking the dew off the grass hurrying down town to comply with an idiotic ordinance requiring a man to lose a good part of his rest—well, I am not going to do it unless I have to. The majority of the business men do not get down town until long after that hour. Let us pause, reflect, refrain."

UNDER-GROUND WIRES FOR ALL CITY PHONES

ACTIVE WORK WILL START WITHIN LESS THAN SIXTY DAYS, AND WILL BE RUSHED.

RUST BROTHERS HAVE BUILT UP REPUTATION

Jack Henderson of Fort Worth Says That They Have Done Much Toward Building up San Angelo and Surrounding Territory.

San Angelo—metropolis. The "That's it; that's the real thing; that's the truth."

And the Rust boys. Somehow the Rust boys sounds better than saying Messrs. Rust brothers—will do their share toward bringing about this end so much to be desired.

The other day the Rust boys purchased a lot from Murphy—there's only one real blower in the bottle Murphy—and now the secret of the whole buy is out.

In less than sixty days the work of putting all the down town telephone wires underground will start. It will take—well, to say the least, several weeks to carry this plan into full effect. And the work is to be done according to the Hoyle of telephone matters. It is to be done right—to be done in the Rust boys way.

The Rust boys now cover sixteen counties in a helio way. Before the Orient gets here they will have a No. 10 copper wire to Sweetwater and they are also figuring on tapping—gently tapping—the Texas and Pacific at other places. They are branching out. Isn't that enough to cause the home pride bump to well a well or so?

"You have the best system of telephones to be found in Texas, excepting of course and always our system, out in San Angelo," said genial Jack Henderson, superintendent of the Southwestern, to a Press-News man in Fort Worth the other day. "The Rust boys know their business. Would to goodness I could say as much for a lot of other people in the telephone line. San Angelo ought to feel proud of the Rust boys. They have done a lot toward making San Angelo a great big black spot on the map."

Jack Henderson knows what he is talking about. He knows the telephone business from A to Z. He draws $7000 a year for his knowing what's what.

Off for Llano River.
C. C. Neely and family broke up housekeeping for a week and left Wednesday for the cool comeliness of the beautiful Llano river. Mr. Neely is one of San Angelo's old school of fishermen, and wireless messages telling of piscatorial peaches plucked by his perseverance are expected to come in every day. The family will be gone probably fifteen days.

"Chicago, Ill., Aug. 19.—Mr. J. G. Murphy, San Angelo, Tex.: We are considering and will probably accept a proposition by J. J. Lanin to assume and carry out his contract with your city to build to Sterling City."

AN EXPERIENCE WITH REAL COLD BOTTLE OF POP

Texas has passed many stringent regulations in reference to the carrying of deadly weapons, but the far-seeing minds of the legislators have never as yet made one provision against the soda pop bottle.

The danger to the public from these insidious explosives was evidenced Thursday afternoon when Hal F. Brandt, a real estate and insurance man, pulled forth from his icy bed in a refrigerator at D. C. Chamberlin's grocery a cold bottle of soda pop and lo, and marred his beauty to an exceeding muchness. The fact was that the bottle, which was almost in a freezing state, could not stand the sudden change to San Angelo's fiery temperature, and pop she went.

Mr. Brandt suffered several cuts about the physiognomy but was not fatally injured. That gentleman will in the future, however, forswear cold soda pop, because "it biteth like an adder and stingeth like a serpent."

"I came home with ten," said Clay Mann as he dropped from the Santa Fe train Thursday. Thereupon without blush he exhibited two nickles. "But, gee, it's hot in Fort Worth. It's so hot that the eyebrows simply curl up under the hat to keep from being toasted. I am sure glad to get back home. I'm glad to be where I can go without wearing a billed shirt. In Fort Worth one is a sort of second-hand faux pas if he doesn't wear a billed shirt."

Clay Mann has been studying French from the back of a dictionary. He couldn't give a satisfactory definition of "faux pas," but he is willing to bet that it is something that covers a fellow who doesn't wear a billed shirt or a stiff collar or something like that while in Fort Worth.

DIRECTORS OF FAIR TO MEET FRIDAY NIGHT

Friday night a meeting of the Fair association directors will be held, and a whole lot of business is on the table for disposition. President Hagelstein will make a report of what he accomplished on his trip to Seattle, and financial matters will be gone into.

The committee at work on the raising of $4000 as a fund to procure the necessary attractions, etc., has met with good success, and will be out bright and early Friday. It is the desire of the committee to close the list Friday, in order that the directors may know just what to expect, and may go ahead and close contracts for several big amusement features.

P. R. CLARK TAKES OVER INTEREST OF W. T. CAWLEY—WILLIS JOHNSON PURCHASES 1600 CATTLE FOR $24,000—OTHER SALES

Deciding to play a lone hand in the cattle business, P. R. Clark purchased Thursday morning the entire interest of W. T. Cawley in the cattle firm of Clark & Cawley. The total consideration was in round figures, $60,800. For this amount Tol Cawley has transferred to Mr. Clark 2600 acres of fine ranch land on Red creek ($46,250); all the cattle interests of the firm in Oklahoma, 2900 head of cattle on Red creek ranch, and the Sam Turner residence and nine lots in North San Angelo ($3350).

Mr. Cawley will continue in the cattle business in San Angelo, likewise on his own hook.

Right on the track of this story came the news that Willis Johnson had purchased 1600 head of steer yearlings from Comanche parties, at $15 a head, making a total of $24,000. These cattle will be loaded out at Comanche Aug. 25 and will be used to replenish Mr. Johnson's ranches near the city.

Abe Mayer sold to Sam Oglesby of Sherwood 500 head of high grade Hereford cattle at $17 a head; total $5100. Mr. Mayer bought 250 head of steer yearlings from John Martin of

File driving work on the Concho river bridge has been completed and the big pile driver has been removed from the scene of activities. Very little work is necessary to put the bridge in order to sustain the weight of the lightning express that will soon be running into San Angelo from far off Wichita, Kan.

One car of tiling for the roof of the Orient passenger depot is now on the ground and this work will be rushed through.

FARMERS' UNION IN GRAND RALLY

N. S. Douglas of Wall announces that the following program has been prepared for the grand rally of the Farmers' union to be held at Mereta on August 27:

Address of welcome.
Music by band.
"The Farmer and the Banker," Col. C. C. Walsh.
Address by Hon. C. B. Metcalfe.
Dinner.
Hon. Sam J. Hampton of Fort Worth will speak in the afternoon and if you want to know more about the union, hear him.

The San Angelo and Wall baseball teams will play at 4 o'clock, and if you are a lover of good ball, see them.

Bring your paskets filled and spend one more pleasant day.

Everybody Happy Out Knickerbocker Way, Says Francis Tankersley.

Francis Tankersley, who ranches near Knickerbocker, was in the city Thursday.

"Everybody is happy out our way," said Mr. Tankersley. "Crops are coming out fine and the grass on our ranges is unexcelled. The cattle are fat, and promises for fall and winter ranges could not be better."

"Ranchmen throughout this section are making big deals right along, seemingly confident that all will be well."

AND MOTHER EARTH STILL KEEPS GOING

Brownwood and Ballinger were thrown into a furor of excitement Thursday night by the appearance of an unheralded visitor in the heavens—a star the size of the moon which gradually faded into nothingness. Telephone reports were received in San Angelo to the effect that the people of those little villages were under the impression that the world was about to be paged one solid in the solar plexus and were momentarily expecting the dulcet notes of Gabriel's cornet solo to come floating around the street corners. Strange to say, the visitor could not be seen from San Angelo, which leads those who are naturally inclined to doubt to believe that the two aforementioned cities are enjoying the thrilling touch of an elephant sized pipe dream. From careful observations taken at the office of The Press-News early Friday morning, Mother Earth was still revolving on her axis in the same old way it did in grand-dad's days, and seemed no whit disturbed by maulers of the night.

Several staid citizens of San Angelo waxed sarcastic and hinted that the bright light was simply the glowing visions of the West Texas normal fading from the view of Ballinger and Brownwood. In this connection it is surmised that the papers from those cities will insinuate that San Angelo never even had a look-in at the light-base trauers!

One explanation advanced in a serious vein was to the effect that it was a comet but the citizens of San Angelo claim that Brownwood and Ballinger haven't got a corner on comets, and this city didn't even get in on the raze-off.

Comet, star, aeroplane or toy balloon—be it whatever it may—she has "come and went" and no one is the wiser or better off, and this old terrestrial ball is still whirling in a manner proper yoommendable of the old lady.

Bound Over.
The examining trial of Jesse Menzies, charged with the murder of Richard Johnson, was held before Justice of the Peace M. O. Davis Thursday morning and the prisoner was bound over in the sum of $2000 to await the action of the next grand jury.

PRESBYTERIANS DISAGREE OVER POSSESSIONS!

THEY'RE DECEPTIVE AND FRAUDULENT, TOO

That is What is Claimed in Set of Resolutions Which Touch on Transferring of Property Here to Presbyterians, U. S. A.

Denouncing the action of some of the former Cumberland Presbyterians in San Angelo in transferring the property of the Cumberland church to the Presbyterian church, U. S. A., as deceptive and fraudulent, the Brownwood Presbytery, in session at Wall this week, adopted stinging resolutions and warned all parties "against meddling with any Cumberland Presbyterian property coming under the jurisdiction of the presbytery." The resolutions are as follows:

To the Brownwood Presbytery of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church in Session at Wall, Texas:

Your committee appointed to draft resolutions concerning your church property would report as follows:

Whereas, we learn that certain parties claiming to be trustees of the Cumberland Presbyterian church at San Angelo, Texas, have illegally transferred the Cumberland Presbyterian property at San Angelo to the Presbyterian church in the United States of America; also certain parties having no legal right or standing in the Cumberland Presbyterian church have sold a part of your property at Goldthwaite, Texas, and also certain parties claiming to represent the Cumberland Presbyterian church have transferred your property at Santa Anna to the Presbyterian church, U. S. A.; therefore, be it Resolved, That we, the Brownwood

Presbytery of the Cumberland Presbyterian church protest against all such transactions as deceptive and fraudulent, and warn all parties against meddling with or purchasing any Cumberland Presbyterian property located in the bounds of the Brownwood Presbytery; and be it further:

Resolved, that we protest against the agents or officers of the Presbyterian church, U. S. A., in any way using the name "Cumberland Presbyterian" in any of their ecclesiastical or legal transactions.

REV. J. B. WRIGHT,
REV. G. O. HUBBERT,
J. A. McCLATCHY,
Committee.

Just what effect these resolutions will have can not be foretold, but it seems quite evident that the forces are lining up, and some sensational developments are expected immediately.

"It's all bosh," stated Rev. C. W. Yates, pastor of the Harris Avenue Presbyterian church, yesterday, when asked regarding the matter. "These people are dissensionists, and are just like bolters in a convention. They are in the minority and absolutely powerless, and it does look like they would be willing to quiet down and let us alone."

It will be recalled that the Harris Avenue church was formerly the Cumberland Presbyterian church, but after the two bodies united, the property was taken in by the Presbyterian church, U. S. A. Rev. Mr. Yates says that those who are objecting did not contribute over $65 toward the building of the church.

In the year of 1906 the Presbyterians, U. S. A., and the Cumberland Presbyterians, at their general assembly, agreed to unite and it was specified that all property of the Cumberland Presbyterians should be taken over by the Presbyterians, U. S. A. But in some places the Cumberland Presbyterians refused to abide by the decision of the assembly, and as a result the matter was taken into court. A test case went up from Jefferson and the supreme court held that the property of the Cumberland Presbyterians belonged to the united body.

CIRCULATE.
Committee Starts Out Friday to See Who's Going on Excursion.

John Freeland and D. C. McCaled, the committee appointed to see who will go on the trades excursion, will circulate around town Friday morning with their lists.

It is the desire of those at the head of the movement that every firm in San Angelo be represented, and the indications are that the majority of them will be.

ANOTHER LOBBYIST CONFESSES.

The governor is the champion denouncer of the lobby now extant, unless we except the little sting from Hopkins. The lobby to the governor (since he has retired from that business) has been a thing so slimy, so smutty, so foul-smelling as to cause the face of an honest man to pucker up, to cause the soul of an honest man to revolt, or to cause the heart of an honest man to shudder instead of beat, as the good Lord intended it to beat, all, in the opinion of the governor, that was needed was to shout "The Lobby!" "The Lobby!"

And as a shouter of this cry no man has bawled more loudly, and no man has shouted more lustily than our present beetle-browed, evasive countenanced chief executive.

But, hold there! Watchman of the night, please give us the hour. What is this strange sound we are hearing? It is the governor of Texas, the bellwether of the denouncers of lobbying, calling for one of the ring leaders of an acknowledged lobbying outfit to take a place as a member of his official family and eat of the richness and the fatness of the meat squeezed from the tax payers. And this sweet-scented lobbyist, with an unselfishness that is at least commendable, calls as his major domo another self-confessed lobbyist, Enter Meyers and Wagner.

Again, Watchman, give us the hour of the night, please. From out of the highly fitted and luxurious offices of the anti-saloon league at Dallas, where the directors roll in fat and wax muchly in contentious wrang from fretted people, there comes a boast, not of heraldry, nor pomp of circumstance, but a wilful boast flung without fear upon the breeze and floated through the mails as follows:

The Anti-Saloon League kept a representative at Austin during the thirty-first legislature, AND ASSISTED IN THE PASSAGE OF LAWS.

Now let Gov. Campbell hurl his hot words at the camp of the self-constituted lobby. Let him do another paraphrasing stunt and characterize the "Anti-Saloon League" into the "Anti-Saloon League" and then pat himself nice little pitty-pats for his great play upon words.

But Gov. Campbell will do no such things. He dreads tackling a proposition with fare-back possibilities worse than the head of the house dreads tackling a woodpile with a saw and back during such weather as Texas is now having. Gov. Campbell is brave when the light is shining for him. But he lacks about ninety parts of having nerve enough to manipulate a searchlight. He walks right up to a proposition and if it frightens him he hangs up a "vacant" sign and takes on a "what a brave boy am I" aspect.

Here is the Anti-Saloon League, which organization is without doubt spending enough money every month to foment discord between neighbor and neighbor and unfriendliness between brother and brother, to clothe all the naked in this state for a year and to feed all the hungry for twice that period, confessing to lobbying; to assisting in the passage of laws. The money spent to maintain the professional agitators in what they term "adequate and accessible offices in a first-class building in the business district of Dallas" would save all the hundreds of children in the late Texas cities that are today suffering on account of a lack of pure and sufficient milk that today are suffering on account of a lack of pure and sufficient milk. And the pamphlet that makes all these great boasts thinks enough of one string it is now pulling to put the following in red ink: we are "now negotiating with NEGRO and MEXICAN evangelists to work among their people." We will not charge that the Negro is here put ahead of the Mexican through malice.

But let's get back to the governor and the lobby. Hereafter he will have to say "Ahas the lobby, except this lobby and that lobby and all lobbyists who lobbied like Tom Love and me lobbied."

Wake up, good people. The times are propitious for golden apples to drop in the lap of Miss San Angelo. This is a straight tip. In less than six months work will be under way for a railroad south from this city to McAdams. Put this in your memory box and dream about it. It comes straight.

Since the memory of man runneth not to the contrary the good old summertime has every once in a while been marked by a hot wave. The entire south has been in the grip of such a wave during the last few days. Old Sol, which is the familiar appellation for the glorious and shining orb of day when one is on close terms with that body, (and no one has the nerve to say that all Texas has not been close to the sun the last few days), has been busting records and has been causing the mercury in the thermometer to work overtime, notwithstanding the thorough organization of labor unions over all the country.

While it has been something more than merely warm in San Angelo, 'pon my word it has not been as hot here by about a dozen degrees as has been the case in nearly all the rest of the state. The thermometer in Fort Worth, for instance, has tipped to 112 and the goodness only knows how high it has gone in Dallas. It should be borne in mind, too, that such an abnormal temperature in Fort Worth is a great deal hotter there than would be the case here, for the reason here the altitude reduces the terrors of hot weather to a minimum.

So after all, while it has been warm and then some in and about San Angelo, relatively speaking it has lacked a deuce of a lot of being downright hot.

It would also be a pretty good idea to know that now is the time to lay in the winter's supply of coal, for as sure as fate, as certain as death and as inexorable as taxes, cold weather is coming, coming fast and twenty-four hours' worth every day and night.

DON'T BE JARRED, PLEASE.

The following news item in the Dallas News is worth mentioning: "Forney, Tex., Aug. 18.—The Trinity Cotton Oil company of Dallas has shipped ten car loads of water by freight train to the gin machinery with..."

Now, wouldn't that jar you? Isn't that a regular Maxim silencer to the unfortunates of the black waxey belt. Drouths are a horrible burden to be laid upon the backs of an industrious people. The visitations of dry spells this year should, and we hope will, cause those who in the past have found apparent glee in crying aloud "the drouth-stricken west," to make pause when they feel like indulging in a bit of splenetic conversation in the future.

The west this year is fairly abloom with flowers; the grass is as green as the hopes of Ireland, and the waterways are singing an inspiring and pleasing song as the water runs toward the everlasting sea.

The Press-News joins with the congregation of the First Presbyterian church in regretting that Rev. Dr. Siler is to leave this city. May his life work be cast along congenial lines and may he be spared many, many years for work in the vineyard.

Keep your eye on that man Lamin. If he unloads on the Santa Fe, just watch him start projecting a road south. What San Angelo wants is more railroads. Whether Lamin or someone else builds them is immaterial. But bear this in mind, The Press-News had it first.

Be of good cheer, good people of Sonora. The election troubles that are now disturbing your midst are but part of a general scheme managed from afar. Unless a certain number of local option elections are held now and then a reason for the reduction of fat jobs and easy pickings could possibly be found.

And the waterworks company will see to it that the unusual, unprecedented and unexpected conditions that prevailed here this summer will not be repeated. Good. The Press-News believes that the waterworks company is perfectly sincere in its declarations of intentions and that it will carry out the covenant it has pronounced to the people, through The Press-News.

INDIGESTION

A Disorder that Breeds Disease in the Body, and an Easy Way to Cure it.

Take care of the stomach and you will have little need for the doctor.

When the stomach begins to show signs of disorder; when the food digests slowly and with discomfort; when you have heartburn; feel bloated and uneasy, you are in a condition that needs attention.

Prickly Ash Bitters corrects the disordered stomach by strengthening and toning up the digestive organs, driving the badly digested food into the bowels and thence out of the system.

Constipation is nearly always present when the stomach becomes sour or disordered. Prickly Ash Bitters contains the medicinal qualities which act as a restorative and regulator for the stomach and bowels. It strengthens the digestive organs, cures constipation and prevents the return of bilious conditions.

Thousands of people who have received lasting benefit from this great remedy willingly testify to its power in curing indigestion, constipation and kidney trouble.

"I suffered from constipation for years, and tried many remedies, but Prickly Ash Bitters is the only medicine that has ever done me any good. Through its use I am now in good health, and entirely free from all traces of my former trouble."—E. F. SMALL, Winnsboro, Louisiana.

"A CONFOUNDED NUISANCE," SAYS ONE, WHILE ANOTHER DECLARES THAT "IT IS THE BEST THING THAT HAS EVER BEEN PROPOSED"

Great excitement is the result of the proposed ordinance to compel the merchants along Chadbourne street to have the sidewalk in front of their stores swept before 6 o'clock in the morning.

E. A. Boyette, the owner of the San Angelo Racket store, is strictly in favor of the proposition of sweeping the sidewalks, but does not "cotton" to the 6 o'clock amendment. Said he:

"What we should do is to sprinkle the walks with sawdust and oil, instead of water, as is done in most cases. I have seen it tried before and know it will prove efficacious. When this method is used, then the sidewalk is left clean and free from dirt. On the other hand, when water is used a thin coating of mud is left, which in the course of the day develops into dust and destroys a great deal of the benefits derived by the sprinkling."

"As to the idea of kicking the dew off the grass hurrying down town to comply with an idiotic ordinance requiring a man to lose a good part of his rest—well, I am not going to do it unless I have to. The majority of the business men do not get down town until after that hour. Let us pause, reflect, refrain."

Many other business men when questioned about it were found to hold radical views on the subject. For instance:

It is a confounded nuisance.—A. M. Nichols, City drug store.

We simply can't do it; ours is not an all night stand and besides I find that traffic does not open up until 7 o'clock.—J. F. Cosgrave.

Six o'clock is entirely too early to suit yours truly; make it 7 and we will be with them.—L. O. Nimitz.

I am not going to do it, simply because it is impractical and we don't open until 6:30.—N. B. Taylor.

It looks like a good idea; the dust is something awful at the time traffic begins in the morning.—Ruble Nealey.

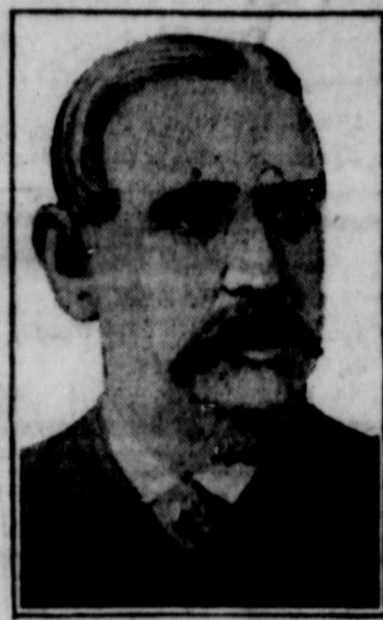

It is all O. K. Best thing that has ever proposed along that line.—Ed Russell, Halfanz barber shop.

What is for the good of the city is good enough for me; if the others think it best, you can count me in.—W. M. Hemphill.

It is a go as far as concerns us.—S. A. Hodges, Hagelstein Hardware company.

UNDER-GROUND WIRES FOR ALL CITY PHONES

ACTIVE WORK WILL START WITHIN LESS THAN SIXTY DAYS, AND WILL BE RUSHED.

RUST BROTHERS HAVE BUILT UP REPUTATION

Jack Henderson of Fort Worth Says That They Have Done Much Toward Building up San Angelo and Surrounding Territory.

San Angelo—metropolis. The Rust boys sound better than saying Messrs. Rust brothers—will do their share toward bringing about this end so much to be desired.

The other day the Rust boys purchased a lot from Murphy—there's only one real blow in the bottle Murphy—and now the secret of the whole buy is out.

In less than sixty days the work of putting all the down town telephone wires underground will start. It will take—well, to say the least, several weeks to carry this plan into full effect. And the work is to be done according to the Hoyle of telephone matters. It is to be done right—to be done in the Rust boys way.

The Rust boys now cover sixteen counties in a holly way. Before the Orient gets here they will have a No. 10 copper wire to Sweetwater and they are also wiring on tapping—gently tapping the Texas and Pacific at other places. They are branching out. Isn't that enough to cause the home pride bump to well a well or so?

"You have the best system of telephones to be found in Texas, excepting of course and always our system, out in San Angelo," said genial Jack Henderson, superintendent of the Southwestern, to a Press-News man in Fort Worth the other day. "The Rust boys know their business. Would to goodness I could say as much for a lot of other people in the telephone line. San Angelo ought to feel proud of the Rust boys. They have done a lot toward making San Angelo a great big black spot on the map."

Jack Henderson knows what he is talking about. He knows the telephone business from A to ZZZZZ. He draws $7000 a year for his knowing what's what.

Off for Llano River. C. C. Nealey and family broke up housekeeping for a week and left Wednesday for the cool comeliness of the beautiful Llano river. Mr. Nealey is one of San Angelo's old school of fishermen, and wireless messages telling of piscatorial peaches plucked by his perseverance are expected to come in every day. The family will be gone probably fifteen days.

THEY'RE DECEPTIVE AND FRAUDULENT, TOO

That Is What Is Claimed in Set of Resolutions Which Touch on Transferring of Property Here to Presbyterians, U. S. A.

Denouncing the action of some of the former Cumberland Presbyterians in San Angelo in transferring the property of the Cumberland church to the Presbyterian church, U. S. A., as deceptive and fraudulent, the Brownwood Presbytery, in session at Wall this week, adopted stinging resolutions and warned all parties against meddling with any Cumberland Presbyterian property coming under the jurisdiction of the presbytery.

The resolutions are as follows:

To the Brownwood Presbytery of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church in Session at Wall, Texas:

Your committee appointed to draft resolutions concerning your church property would report as follows:

Whereas, we learn that certain parties claiming to be trustees of the Cumberland Presbyterian church at San Angelo, Texas, have illegally transferred the Cumberland Presbyterian property at San Angelo to the Presbyterian church in the United States of America; also certain parties having no legal right or standing in the Cumberland Presbyterian church have sold a part of your property at Goldthwaite, Texas, and also certain parties claiming to represent the Cumberland Presbyterian church have transferred your property at Santa Anna to the Presbyterian church, U. S. A.; therefore, be it Resolved, That we, the Brownwood

Presbytery of the Cumberland Presbyterian church protest against all such transactions as deceptive and fraudulent, and warn all parties against meddling with or purchasing any Cumberland Presbyterian property located in the bounds of the Brownwood Presbytery; and be it further Resolved, that we protest against the agents or officers of the Presbyterian church, U. S. A., in any way using the name "Cumberland Presbyterian" in any of their ecclesiastical or legal transactions.

REV. J. B. WRIGHT, REV. G. O. HUBBERT, J. A. McCLATCHY, Committee.

Just what effect these resolutions will have can not be foretold, but it seems quite evident that the forces are lining up, and some sensational developments are expected immediately.

"All Bosh."

"It's all bosh," stated Rev. C. W. Yates, pastor of the Harris Avenue Presbyterian church, yesterday, when asked regarding the matter. "These people are dissensionists, and are just like bolters in a convention. They are in the minority and absolutely powerless, and it does look like they would be willing to quiet down and let us alone."

It will be recalled that the Harris Avenue church was formerly the Cumberland Presbyterian church, but after the two bodies united, the property was taken in by the Presbyterian church, U. S. A. Rev. Mr. Yates says that those who are objecting did not contribute over $65 toward the building of the church.

In the year of 1906 the Presbyterians, U. S. A., and the Cumberland Presbyterians, at their general assembly, agreed to unite and it was specified that all property of the Cumberland Presbyterians should be taken over by the Presbyterians, U. S. A. But in some places the Cumberland Presbyterians refused to abide by the decision of the assembly, and as a result the matter was taken into court. A test case went up from Jefferson and the supreme court held that the property of the Cumberland Presbyterians belonged to the united body.

CIRCULATE.

Committee Starts Out Friday to See Who's Going on Excursion.

John Freeand and D. C. McCaled, the committee appointed to see who will go on the trades excursion, will circulate around town Friday morning with their lists.

It is the desire of those at the head of the movement that every firm in San Angelo be represented, and the indications are that the majority of them will be.

Trucks Us Nicely.

"Chicago, Ill., Aug. 19.—Mr. J. G. Murphy, San Angelo, Tex.: We are considering and will probably accept a proposition by J. J. Lamin to assume and carry out his contract with your city to build to Sterling City. "E. P. RIPLEY."
The Press-News had it first!

Texas has passed many stringent regulations in reference to the carrying of deadly weapons, but the far-seeing minds of the legislators have never as yet made one provision against the soda pop bottle.

The danger to the public from these insidious explosives was evidenced Thursday afternoon when Hal F. Brandt, a real estate and insurance man, pulled forth from his icy bed in a refrigerator at D. C. Chamberlin's grocery a cold bottle of soda pop and lo, and marred his beauty to an exciting madness. The fact was that the bottle, which was almost in a freezing state, could not stand the sudden change to San Angelo's fiery temperature, and pop she went.

Mr. Brandt suffered several cuts about the physiognomy but was not fatally injured. That gentleman will in the future, however, forswear cold soda pop, because "it biteth like an adder and stingeth like a serpent."

"I came home with ten," said Clay Mann as he dropped from the Santa Fe train Thursday. Thereupon without blush he exhibited two nickles. "But, gee, it's hot in Fort Worth. It's so hot that the eyebrows simply curl up under the hat to keep from being toasted. I am sure glad to get back home. I'm glad to be where I can go without wearing a biled shirt. In Fort Worth one is a sort of second-hand faux pas if he doesn't wear a biled shirt."

Clay Mann has been studying French from the back of a dictionary. He couldn't give a satisfactory definition of "faux pas," but he is willing to bet that it is something that covers a fellow who doesn't wear a biled shirt or a stiff collar or something like that while in Fort Worth.

Ruralize. "Forth into the depths of the forest" to ruralize and hobnob with Pan is the intention of a crowd of young society people who leave the dust and heat of the city behind Friday for the tall trees and purring springs on the head of Dove creek.

Plenty of provisions and mosquito lotion was carried along and a week of supreme jollity is in store to fall.

Those comprising the party will be Mr. and Mrs. Albert DeBerry, Misses Lucile March, Addie Bishop and Kathleen Wallace, and Messrs. Felix Dudley, J. H. Evans and Jared Hill.

DIRECTORS OF FAIR TO MEET FRIDAY NIGHT

Friday night a meeting of the Fair association directors will be held, and a whole lot of business is on the table for disposition. President Hagelstein will make a report of what he accomplished on his trip to Seattle, and financial matters will be gone into.

The committee at work on the raising of $4000 as a fund to procure the necessary attractions, etc., has met with good success, and will be out bright and early Friday. It is the desire of the committee to close the list Friday, in order that the directors may know just what to expect, and may go ahead and close contracts for several big amusement features.

P. R. CLARK TAKES OVER INTEREST OF W. T. CAWLEY--WILLIS JOHNSON PURCHASES 1600 CATTLE FOR $24,000--OTHER SALES

Deciding to play a lone hand in the cattle business, P. R. Clark purchased Thursday morning the entire interest of W. T. Cawley in the cattle firm of Clark & Cawley. The total consideration was, in round figures, $69,800. For this amount Tol Cawley has transferred to Mr. Clark 2660 acres of fine ranch land on Red creek ($46,250); all the cattle interests of the firm in Oklahoma, 2000 head of cattle on Red creek ranch, and the Sam Turner residence and nine lots in North San Angelo ($3350).

Mr. Cawley will continue in the cattle business in San Angelo, likewise on his own hook.

Right on the track of this story came the news that Willis Johnson had purchased 1600 head of steer yearlings from Comanche parties, at $15 a head, making a total of $24,000. These cattle will be loaded out at Comanche Aug. 25 and will be used to replenish Mr. Johnson's ranches near the city.

Abe Mayer sold to Sam Oglesby of Sperwood 300 head of high grade Hereford cattle at $17 a round; total $5100. Mr. Mayer bought 250 head of steer yearlings from John Martin of Sutton county at $17 per head; total $4250. These are to be delivered October 1. He also bought 100 head of steer yearlings from Sam Oglesby at $17 a head; total $1700. This bunch will be delivered October 5.

Dick Carruthers and Alf Smith sold to T. F. Hickox of Sheffield 3200 head of sheep, getting $4 for the grown sheep and $2.25 for the lambs, running up to about $12,000.

J. S. Dabney Land and Live Stock company sold to E. H. Carpenter of Pittsburg thirty-one head of horses at $4 a head; total $1240.

J. S. Dabney Land and Live Stock company bought 100 head of one-year-old steers from Julius Thornton, paying the top of the market.

The whole of the foregoing deals summed up in round numbers aggregate about $110,000, which is certainly going some, even for San Angelo.

With the grass in finest condition, cattle "plumb fitten," and the rains coming with monotonous regularity, it would appear that 1909 will come mighty near to being a banner year for this country. Promises for more and even larger deals are good.

ORIENT.

Pile Driving Work on Concho River Bridge Has Been Completed.

Pile driving work on the Concho river bridge has been completed and the big pile driver has been removed from the scene of activities. Very little work is necessary to put the bridge in order to sustain the weight of the lightning expresses that will soon be running into San Angelo from far off Wichita, Kan.

One car of tiling for the roof of the Orient passenger depot is now on the ground and this work will be rushed through.

"The Farmer and the Banker," Col. C. C. Walsh.
Address by Hon. C. B. Metcalfe.
Dinner.
Hon. Sam J. Hampton of Fort Worth will speak in the afternoon and if you want to know more about the union, hear him.

The San Angelo and Wall baseball teams will play at 4 o'clock, and if you are a lover of good ball, see them.
Bring your paskets filled and spend one more pleasant day.

UNEXCELLED.

Everybody Happy Out Knickerbocker Waj, Says Francis Tankersley.

Francis Tankersley, who ranches near Knickerbocker, was in the city Thursday.

"Everybody is happy out our way," said Mr. Tankersley. "Crops are coming out fine and the grass on our ranges is unexcelled. The cattle are fat, and promises for fall and winter grass could not be better."

"Ranchmen throughout this section are making big deals right along, seemingly confident that all will be well."

AND MOTHER EARTH STILL KEEPS GOING

Brownwood and Ballinger were thrown into a furor of excitement Thursday night by the appearance of an unheralded visitor in the heavens—a star the size of the moon which gradually faded into nothingness. Telephone reports were received in San Angelo to the effect that the people of those little villages were under the impression that the world was about to be panted one solid in the solar plexus and were momentarily expecting the dulcet notes of Gabriel's cornet solo to come floating around the street corners. Strange to say, the visitor could not be seen from San Angelo, which leads those who are naturally inclined to doubt to believe that the two aforementioned cities are enjoying the thrilling touch of an elephant sized pipe dream. From careful observations taken at the office of The Press-News early Friday morning, Mother Earth was still revolving on her axis in the same old way it did in grand-dad's days, and seemed no whit disturbed by mauranders of the night.

Several staid citizens of San Angelo waxed sadcastic and hinted that the bright light was simply the glowing visions of the West Texas normal fading from the view of Ballinger and Brownwood. In this connection it is surmised that the papers from those cities will insinuate that San Angelo never even had a look-in at the light-base trauaders!

One explanation advanced in a serious vein was to the effect that it was a comet but the citizens of San Angelo claim that Brownwood and Ballinger haven't got a corner on comets, and this city didn't even get in on the rake-off.

Comet, star, aeroplane or toy balloon—be it whatever it may—she has "come and went" and no one is the wiser or better off, and this old terrestrial ball is still whirling in a manner properly commendable of the old lady.

ANOTHER LOBBYIST CONFESSES.

The governor is the champion denouncer of the lobby now extant, unless we except the little sting from Hopkins. The lobby to the governor (since he has retired from that business) has been a thing so slimy, so smutty, so foul-smelling as to cause the face of an honest man to pucker up, to cause the soul of an honest man to revolt, or to cause the heart of an honest man to shudder instead of beat, as the good Lord intended it to beat, all in the opinion of the governor, that was needed was to shout "The Lobby!" "The Lobby!"

And as a shouter of this cry no man has bawled more loudly, and no man has shouted more lustily than our present beetle-browed, evasive countenanced chief executive.

But, hold there! Watchman of the night, please give us the hour. What is this strange sound we are hearing? Is it the governor of Texas, the bellwether of the denouncers of lobbying, calling for one of the ring leaders of an acknowledged lobbying outfit to take a place as a member of his official family and eat of the richness and the fatness of the meat squeezed from the tax payers. And this sweet-scented lobbyist, with an unselfishness that is at least commendable, calls as his major domo another self-confessed lobbyist. Enter Meyers and Wagner.

Again, Watchman, give us the hour of the night, please. From out of the highly fitted and luxurious offices of the anti-saloon league at Dallas, where the directors roll in fat and wax muchly in contributions wrung from fretted people, there comes a boast, not of heraldry, nor pomp of circumstance, but a willful boast sung without fear upon the breeze and flouted through the mails as follows:

The Anti-Saloon league kept a representative at Austin during the Thirty-first legislature, AND ASSISTED IN THE PASSAGE OF LAWS.

Now let Gov. Campbell hurl his hot shots at the camp of the self-constituted lobby. Let him do another paraphrasing stunt and characterize the "Anti-Saloon League" into the "Anti-Saloon League" and then pat himself nice little pitty-pats for his great play upon words.

But Gov. Campbell will do no such things. He dreads tackling a proposition with flareback possibilities worse than the head of the house dreads tackling a woodpile with a saw and buck during such weather as Texas is now having. Gov. Campbell is brave when the light is shining for him. But he lacks about ninety parts of having nerve enough to manipulate a searchlight. He walks right up to a proposition and if it frightens him he hangs up a "cant" sign and takes on a "what a brave boy am I" aspect.

Here is the Anti-Saloon league, which organization is without doubt spending enough money every month to foment discord between neighbor and neighbor and unfriendliness between brother and brother, to clothe all the naked in this state for a year and to feed all the hungry for twice that period, confessing to lobbying; to assisting in the passage of laws. The money spent to maintain the professional agitators in what they term "adequate and accessible offices in a first-class building in the business district of Dallas" would save all the hundreds of children in the late Texas cities that are today suffering on account of a lack of pure and sufficient milk that today are suffering on account of a lack of pure and sufficient milk. And the pamphlet that makes all these great boasts thinks enough of one string it is now pulling to put the following in red ink: we are "now negotiating with NEGRO and MEXICAN evangelists to work among their people." We will not charge that the Negro is here put ahead of the Mexican through malice.

But let's get back to the governor and the lobby. Hereafter he will have to say "Abas the lobby, except this lobby and that lobby and all lobbyists who lobbied like Tom-Love and me lobbied."

Wake up, good people. The times are propitious for golden apples to drop in the lap of Miss San Angelo. This is a straight tip. In less than six months work will be under way for a railroad south from this city to Menardville. Put this in your memory box and dream about it. It comes straight.

Since the memory of man runneth not to the contrary the good old summertime has every once in a while been marked by a hot wave. The entire south has been in the grip of such a wave during the last few days. Old Sol, which is the familiar appellation for the glorious and shining orb of day when one is on close terms with that body, (and no one has the nerve to say that all Texas has not been close to the sun the last few days), has been busting records and has been causing the mercury in the thermometer to work overtime, notwithstanding the thorough organization of labor unions over all the country.

While it has been something more than merely warm in San Angelo, 'pon my word it has not been as hot here by about a dozen degrees as has been the case in nearly all the rest of the state. The thermometer in Fort Worth, for instance, has tipped to 112 and the goodness only knows how high it has gone in Dallas. It should be borne in mind, too, that such an abnormal temperature in Fort Worth is a great deal hotter there than would be the case here, for the reason here the altitude reduces the terrors of hot weather to a minimum.

So after all, while it has been warm and then some in and about San Angelo, relatively speaking it has lacked a degree of a lot of being downright hot.

It would also be a pretty good idea to know that now is the time to lay in the winter's supply of coal, for as sure as fate, as certain as death and as inexorable as taxes, cold weather is coming, coming fast and twenty-four hours' worth every day and night.

DON'T BE JARRED, PLEASE.

The following news item in the Dallas News is worth mentioning: "Forney, Tex., Aug. 18.—The Trinity Cotton Oil company of Dallas has shipped ten car loads of water by freight to run the gin machinery with."

Now, wouldn't that jar you? Isn't that a regular Maxim silencer to the unfortunates of the black waxey belt. Drouths are a horrible burden to be laid upon the backs of an industrious people. The visitations of dry spells this year should, and we hope will, cause those who in the past have found apparent glee in crying aloud "the drouth-stricken west," to make pause when they feel like indulging in a bit of splenetic conversation in the future.

The west this year is fairly abloom with flowers, the grass is as green as the hopes of Ireland, and the waterways are singing an inspiring and pleasing song as the water runs toward the everlasting sea.

The Press-News joins with the congregation of the First Presbyterian church in regretting that Rev. Dr. Siler is to leave this city. May his life work be cast along congenial lines and may he be spared many, many years for work in the vineyard.

Keep your eye on that man Lanin. If he unloads on the Santa Fe, just watch him start projecting a road south. What San Angelo wants is more railroads. Whether Lanin or someone else builds them is immaterial. But bear this in mind. The Press-News had it first.

Be of good cheer, good people of Sonora. The election troubles that are now disturbing your midst are but part of a general scheme managed from afar. Unless a certain number of local option elections are held now and then a reason for the reduction of fat jobs and easy pickings could possibly be found.

And the waterworks company will see to it that the unusual, unprecedented and unexpected conditions that prevailed here this summer will not be repeated.

Good. The Press-News repeats. Never was the waterworks company perfectly sincere in its declarations of intentions and that it will carry out the covenant it has promulgated to the people, through The Press-News.

INDIGESTION

Disorder that Breeds Disease in the Body, and an Easy Way to Cure it.

Take care of the stomach and you will have little need for the doctor.

When the stomach begins to show signs of disorder, when the food digests slowly and with discomfort; when you have heartburn; feel bloated and uneasy, you are in a condition that needs attention.

Prickly Ash Bitters corrects the disordered stomach by strengthening and toning up the digestive organs, driving the badly digested food into the bowels and thence out of the system.

Constipation is nearly always present when the stomach becomes sour or disordered. Prickly Ash Bitters contains the medicinal qualities which act as a restorative and regulator for the stomach and bowels. It strengthens the digestive organs, cures constipation and prevents the return of bilious conditions. Thousands of people who have received lasting benefit from this great remedy willingly testify to its power in curing indigestion, constipation and kidney trouble.

"I suffered from constipation for years, and tried many remedies, but Prickly Ash Bitters is the only medicine that has ever done me any good. Through its use I am now in good health, and entirely free from all traces of my former trouble."—E. P. SMALL, WINSTON, LOUISIANA

The Value of Good Digestion

Is easy to figure if you know what your stomach is worth. Kodol keeps the stomach at par value, by insuring good digestion. Kodol cures Dyspepsia.

Kodol insures good digestion by absolutely duplicating Nature's normal process, in perfectly digesting all food taken into the stomach.

While Kodol is doing this, the stomach is resting—and becoming strong and healthy. A strong and healthy stomach guarantees a sound and active brain.

The man with a sound stomach—a stomach that is doing for the body just what Nature intended it to do—is the man who is always prepared for any emergency. He is "there with the goods."

The man with a sick stomach, is a man sick all over. When the stomach is irritated by undigested food, the blood and heart are directly affected. Then dizziness, unnatural sleepiness, sick-headaches, vertigo and fainting spells, and even serious brain trouble develop. Kodol will prevent these.

Spurring the stomach and brain to special effort by "tonics" and "stimulants" doesn't care anything, or accomplish any good. Neither does dieting. Indigestion and the serious ailments which it induces can be averted and corrected only by natural means.

Kodol supplies this natural means. It performs the stomach's work for it—just as the stomach should perform it—while the stomach takes a little rest, "for the stomach's sake."

Our Guarantee

Go to your druggist today and get a dollar bottle. Then after you have used the entire contents of the bottle if you can honestly say that it has not done you any good, return the bottle to the druggist and he will refund your money without question or delay. We will then pay the druggist for the bottle. Don't hesitate, all druggists know that our guarantee is good, and to but one in a family. The large bottle contains 24 times as much as the fifty-cent bottle.

Kodol is prepared at the laboratories of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago.

The Man From Brodneyn's

By GEORGE BARR M'UTCHEON

Copyright, 1908, by Dodd, Mead & Co.

"By Jove!" he exclaimed, something like incredulity in the smile that transfigured his face.

"I could be a thrifty housewife, couldn't I?" she asked naively.

At that moment a dull, heavy report as of distant thunder came to their ears. The windows rattled sharply, and the earth beneath them seemed to quiver. Involuntarily she drew nearer to him.

"You could if you had half a chance," he said dryly and then casually remarked the explosion.

CHAPTER XXIII.

LATER on he and Deppingham visited the underground chamber, accompanied by Mr. Britt. They found that the door to the passage had been blown away by the terrific concussion. The subterranean passage at this place was completely filled with earth and stone.

Deppingham stared at the closed mouth of the passage. "They've cut off our exit, but they've also secured us from invasion from this source. I wonder if the beggars were clever enough to carry the plunder above the food line. If not they've had their work for nothing."

"Belin says there is a cave near the mouth of the passage," said Chase. "The tunnel comes out halfway up the side of the mountain overlooking the sea, and the hole is very carefully screened by the thick shrubbery. Trust Von Blitz to do the safe thing."

"I don't mind Von Blitz escaping so much, Chase," said his lordship earnestly, "as I do the unfortunate closing of what may have been our way to leave the chateau in the end."

"You must think me an ungrateful fool," said Chase bitterly. He had already stated his position clearly.

"Not at all, old chap. Don't get that into your head. I only meant that a hole in the ground is worth two warships that won't come when we need 'em."

Chase looked up quickly. "You don't believe that I can call the cruisers?"

"Oh, come now, Chase; I'm not a demned native, you know."

The other grinned amiably. "Well, you just wait, as the boy says."

After satisfying themselves that there was no possibility of the enemy ever being able to enter the chateau through the collapsed passage the trio returned to the upper world.

Robert Browne and Lady Agnes were seated on the edge of the fountain in Apollo's grotto, conversing earnestly, even eagerly, with Mr. Bowles, who stood before them in an unmistakable attitude of indecision and perturbation. Deppingham gave Chase a look which plainly revealed his uneasiness.

"You don't mean to say, Lord Deppingham, that you're afraid the heirs will follow the advice of that rattle-headed Saunders," said Chase, with a laugh. "Why, it wouldn't hold in court for a second. Ask Britt."

Britt cleared his throat. "Not for half a second," he said. "I'm only wondering if Bowles has authority to grant divorces."

"I dare say he has," said Deppingham, tugging at his mustache. "He's—he's a magistrate."

"It doesn't follow," said Chase, "that he has unlimited legal powers."

"But what are they ragging him about down here, Chase?" blurted out the unhappy Deppingham.

"Come in and have a drink," said Chase suddenly. Deppingham was shivering. "You've got a chill in that damp cellar. I can assure you positively as representative of the opposition that the grandchildren of Skaggs and Wyckhouse are not going to divorce or marry anybody while I'm here, Britt and Saunders and Bowles to the contrary. And Lady Deppingham is no fool. Come on and have something to warm the cockles."

"All right, old chap," Deppingham said, with a laugh. "I am chilled to the bone. I'll join you in a few minutes." To their surprise, he started off across the terrace in the direction of the consulting trio.

"Just the same, Chase," said Britt after a long silence, "he's worried, and not about marriage or divorce either. He's jealous. I didn't believe it was in him."

"See here, Britt; you've no right to stir him up with those confounded remarks about divorce. You know that it's not. Don't do it."

"My dear Chase," said Britt, waving his hand serenely. "I can't help laughing at the position you're in at present. It doesn't matter what you get on to in connection with our side of the case, you're where you can't take advantage of it without getting killed

BALLINGER BEST WEST TEXAS TEAM

The game between San Saba and Ballinger here last Friday closed the ball season in Ballinger for this year. The boys defeated every team they went up against, and regretted to quit before the season closed, but were compelled to do so on account of not being able to match any more games. The San Angelo team disbanded more than a month ago and the Abilene team also quit the field some time ago.

During the season Ballinger played 56 games, winning 46 and tying two, one sixteen inning game with San Angelo and one thirteen inning game with San Saba being a tie. The team played professional ball throughout the season and nearly all the games were good. The team was a credit to the town, and while the management was successful, the team did not receive the support it justly deserved.

Joe Connor and Standifer worked behind the bat during the season. Alex Dupree, Tom Stanford and "Little Jimmie" Hancock did the twirling and made monkeys out of the boys who stepped up before them with the timber in hand. Stanford lost only one game during the season and that was a twenty inning game played with Granbury and it was lost on an error made by Koach on third base.

In the early part of the season Ozeo was on first base for the Ballinger bunch and Mills playing short. El Paso drew on us for these players and their places were filled on the Ballinger lineup by "Chicken" Kilker, who went to first base and Stillman, who took Mills' place on short. Harry Baker held second base and Jack Roach third, and when a ball broke through the infield line it was generally because it was out of reach of the boys who formed the line. Will Gressett, Jim Creed, Don Erwin and George Griffin composed the outfield at the close of the season, and it was always "come back" when the ball sailed to the outfield.

The games were clean baseball this season, and as a rule free from "chewing-the-rag" and the team furnished some good sport for the local fans. A move is on foot to organize a West Texas League next season, and it is a foregone conclusion that there will be something doing in base ball circles that will put more interest in the game. It is proposed to include six or eight teams on the circuit, including Big Springs, Midland, Sweetwater and Abilene on the T. & P. and San Angelo. Ballinger, Coleman and Brownwood on the Santa Fe. Brady, Dublin and other teams on the Frisco may come in if, for any reason the first named towns fail to organize. E. E. Lowrie, an enthusiastic base ball man of San Angelo is pulling for the project, and has the assurance of some of the towns support. The Ballinger team won out this season and will be the first to bob up next season, and will come with a team that will interest all aggregations that come our way.—Banner-Leader.

Regains Mind Returns Home After 5 Years

El Paso, Aug. 19.—His hair streaming down his back, his long beard waving in the breeze, a madman has terrorized the shepherds and vaqueros in the mountains near Villa Ahumada for five years.

His strange appearance led them to call him "the devil" and to avoid him as they would the real Evil One if he were among them. Superstitious Mexicans are naturally afraid of people who are mentally unbalanced and fear to molest them. Accordingly, either in fear that he was a genuine devil, or because of this superstition, the madman roamed at will through the mountains and canyons. His wild shrieks carried terror to the hearts of the goatherders and the sheep tenders, or the lone vaquero; his maniacal laugh echoed and re-echoed through the deep gorges, and he went where he pleased without molestation. When the insane laugh reverberated through the mountains, there was always a visible tremble of the muscles of the simple people of the region, and a rapid movement of the hands to make the cross, but never an attempt to harm the "strange old man of the mountain." He lived in caves and subsisted on roots and herbs and was royal master of all he surveyed.

The mystery remained deep and unsolved until last Sunday, when Francisco Martinez, of Villa Ahumada, Chihuahua, who wandered away from his home 5 years ago, when 17 years of age, came back, apparently in his right mind.

When found returning home he was wandering around as naked as when born and his hair, which he had allowed to grow all the time he was away, reached below his waist and he wore a heavy beard all over his face.

Ranchers nearby said that the man had occasionally come to their homes and had been given clothing and corn meal then he would wander off back into the mountains and would not return for several months. They do not think he even wore the clothing, however, for he was always naked when seen and natives told of his having horns and breathing fire.

While he was demented when he wandered away from home and was given up for dead, he knew his mother and other relatives when he returned and was taken into Burn's and Dally's store at Villa Ahumada last Sunday morning. He does not appear to be mentally deranged now, but remembers nothing of his five years of life in the mountains and canyons.

R. Branagh, who came up last night, brought the news of the man's capture.

Pave.
"Goodness gracious," but how this place is growing! Thus does J. L. Coleman, a Pullman conductor and a brother of Billy Coleman of Lubbock and Fort Worth, enter upon the scene. "I have not been here for three years. I scarcely know this place. LATER on he and Deppingham visited the underground chamber, accompanied by Mr. Britt.

They found that the door to the passage had been blown away by the terrific concussion. The subterranean passage at this place was completely filled with earth and stone.

Deppingham stared at the closed mouth of the passage. "They've cut off our exit, but they've also secured us from invasion from this source. I wonder if the beggars were clever enough to carry the plunder above the food line. If not they've had their work for nothing."

"Settle says there is a cave near the mouth of the passage," said Chase. "The tunnel comes out halfway up the side of the mountain overlooking the sea, and the hole is very carefully screened by the thick shrubbery. Trust Yoe Bliz to do the safe thing."

"I don't mind Von Bliz escaping so much," Chase, said his lordship earnestly, "as I do the unfortunate closing of what may have been our way to leave the chateau in the end."

"You must think me an ungrateful fool," said Chase bitterly. He had already stated his position clearly.

"Not at all, old chap. Don't get that into your head. I only meant that a hole in the ground is worth two warships that won't come when we need 'em."

Chase looked up quickly. "You don't believe that I can call the cruisers?"

"Oh, come now, Chase; I'm not a denuded native, you know."

The other grinned amiably. "Well, you just wait, as the boy says."

After satisfying themselves that there was no possibility of the enemy ever being able to enter the chateau through the collapsed passage the trio returned to the upper world.

Robert Browne and Lady Agnes were seated on the edge of the fountain in Apollo's grotto, conversing earnestly, even eagerly, with Mr. Bowles, who stood before them in an unmistakable attitude of indecision and perturbation. Deppingham gave Chase a look which plainly revealed his uneasiness.

"You don't mean to say, Lord Deppingham, that you're afraid the bells will follow the advice of that rattle-headed Saunders," said Chase, with a laugh. "Why, it wouldn't hold in court for a second. Ask Britt."

BALLINGER BEST WEST TEXAS TEAM

The game between San Saba and Ballinger here last Friday closed the ball season in Ballinger for this year. The boys defeated every team they went up against, and regretted to quit before the season closed, but were compelled to do so on account of not being able to match any more games.

The San Angelo team disbanded more than a month ago and the Abilene team also quit the field some time ago. During the season Ballinger played 56 games, winning 40 and tying two, one sixteen inning game with San Angelo and one thirteen inning game with San Saba being a tie. The team played professional ball throughout the season and nearly all the games were good. The team was a credit to the town, and while the management was successful, the team did not receive the support it justly deserved.

Joe Connor and Standifer worked behind the bat during the season. Alex Dupree, Tom Stanford and "Little Jimmie" Hancock did the twirling and made monkeys out of the boys who stepped up before them with the timber in hand. Stanford lost only one game during the season and that was a twenty inning game played with Granbury and it was lost on an error made by Roach on third base.

In the early part of the season Ozee was on first base for the Ballinger lineup by "Chicken" Kilker, who went to first base and Stillman, who took Mills' place on short. Harry Baker held second base and Jack Roach third, and when a ball broke through the infield line it was generally because it was out of reach of the boys who formed the line. Will Gressett, Jim Creed, Don Erwin and George Griffin composed the outfield at the close of the season, and it was always "come back" when the ball sailed to the outfield.

The games were clean baseball this season, and as a rule free from "chewing-the-rag" and the team furnished some good sport for the local fans. A move is on foot to organize a West Texas League next season, and it is a foregone conclusion that there will be something doing in base ball circles that will put more interest in the game. It is proposed to include six or eight teams on the circuit, including Big Springs, Midland, Sweetwater and Abilene on the T. & P. and San Angelo, Ballinger, Coleman and Brownwood on the Santa Fe. Brady Dublin and other teams on the Frisco may come in if, for any reason the first named towns fail to organize.

E. E. Lowrie, an enthusiastic base ball man of San Angelo is pulling for the project, and has the assurance of some of the towns support. The Ballinger team won out this season and will be the first to bob up next season, and will come with a team that will interest all aficionados that come our way.—Banner-Leader.

Regains Mind Returns Home After 5 Years

El Paso, Aug. 19.—His hair streaming down his back, his long beard waving in the breeze, a madman has terrorized the shepherds and vaqueros in the mountains near Villa Ahumada for five years.

His strange appearance led them to call him "the devil" and to avoid him as they would the real Evil One if he were among them. Superstitious Mexicans are naturally afraid of people who are mentally unbalanced and fear to molest them. Accordingly, either in fear that he was a genuine devil, or because of this superstition, the madman roamed at will through the mountains and canyons. His wild shrieks carried terror to the hearts of the goat herders and the sheep tenders, or the lone vaquero; his maniacal laugh echoed and re-echoed through the deep gorges, and he went where he pleased without molestation. When the insane laugh reverberated through the mountains, there was always a visible tremble of the muscles of the simple people of the region, and a rapid movement of the hands to make the cross, but never an attempt to harm the "strange old man of the mountain." He lived in caves and subsisted on roots and herbs and was royal master of all he surveyed.

The mystery remained deep and unsolved until last Sunday, when Francisco Martinez, of Villa Ahumada, Chihuahua, who wandered away from his home 5 years ago, when 17 years of age, came back, apparently in his right mind.

When found returning home he was wandering around as naked as when born and his hair, which he had allowed to grow all the time he was away, reached below his waist and he wore a heavy beard all over his face.

Ranchers nearby said that the man had occasionally come to their homes and had been given clothing and corn meal then he would wander off back into the mountains and would not return for several months. They do not think he even wore the clothing, however, for he was always naked when seen and natives told of his having horns and breathing fire.

While he was demented when he wandered away from home and was given up for dead, he knew his mother and other relatives when he returned and was taken into Burn's and Daily's store at Villa Ahumada last Sunday morning. He does not appear to be mentally deranged now, but remembers nothing of his five years of life in the mountains and canyons.

R. Branagh, who came up last night, brought the news of the man's capture.

Pave.
"Goodness gracious," but how this place is growing!" Thus does J. L. Coleman, a Pullman conductor and a brother of Billy Coleman of Lubbock and Fort Worth, enter upon the scene. "I have not been here for three years. I scarcely know this place. With the exception of a lack of paving, there is no place in Texas of the size of San Angelo to compare with the Concho-Colorado valley headquarters. Why don't you do a little paving?"

Mr. Coleman at this point boarded a bus and headed bumpingly toward the depot.

Savell Bros. on Thursday purchased a big two-cylinder Mason car from W. White for $1425. This car will be used in the mail stage lines conducted by this firm.
