

The average person generally thinks as little as possible about hospitals—or illness—until he suddenly finds himself occupying a hospital bed.

We usually are too prone to take our hospital, as well as our other community bulwarks such as the church and school, as something that always is there in quiet efficiency in time of need.

But in a very few years, unless more student nurses are enrolled immediately, the hospital won't be there in all its strength.

Only three-fourths as many beds now are being manned in the nation—at a time when the need actually has been the greatest in hospital history because of the increases in population and the influx of returned war wounded.

Lack of nurses.

Skilled nurses heretofore have been fairly much in the category of the general public. Their quiet efficiency was more or less taken for granted by a busy public.

Texas has two-score highly accredited schools of nursing. Normally these schools enroll at least 1,500 students annually.

This year, unless enrollments increase mightily within a few weeks, the enrollment will be at the pitifully low figure of 300 students. This averages only about one girl from each county in the state.

The reason for the startling decline isn't too apparent. School facilities, from educational, recreational and living condition standpoints, never were better. The profession of nursing, always highly skilled and highly paid, never was in better repute after its rise to exceptional heights during World War II.

But the students aren't there, and nursing, hospital and the medical professions warn that the "closed bed" rate is due for an even further increase with dire results to the health of every community in the state.

Texas can, and should, do better. Any hospital can advise interested prospective students of the nearest nursing school and its entrance requirements.

Well-Rounded Diet Important to Health of School Children

Austin, Texas, Sept. 10.—Discussing the food requirements of a child enjoying maximum health, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, has stressed the importance of a well-rounded diet and stated that a healthy and well-nourished child enjoys life and does well in school because he is physically fit.

Dr. Cox stated further that when a child is in good health, his appetite is good, elimination is regular and sleep is sound and untroubled, all of which contributes to his progress in school.

"A child's appearance can usually help parents to judge the state of his nutrition. A well-nourished child has good skin color and there is a moderate padding of fat over the bones and muscles of the arms, legs and body. Muscles are well developed and strong. Teeth are good and the gums are firm and light pink," Dr. Cox said.

The State Health Officer stated that a delicate, hard-to-please appetite or a tired feeling after a little exertion indicates possible malnutrition or the beginning of an illness, and the child should be seen by the family physician.

Required as a diet for the preschool child and those of school age, Dr. Cox listed milk, fruit, vegetables, eggs, meat, fish or cheese, cereal and bread and added that cod liver oil and other vitamin preparations may be useful in winter and early spring, but they should always be prescribed by the family physician.

15,000 Expected to Register Next Week at State University

Austin, Texas, Sept. 10.—The University of Texas will begin its 63rd year on September 15, when registration for the fall term begins. Approximately 15,000 are expected to register between Sept. 16 and Sept. 21.

The influx of students to Austin will begin Friday, Sept. 13 when Rush Week opens for campus sororities and fraternities extends from Friday through Tuesday, Sept. 13-17.

Although most new students will not register until Wednesday, Sept. 18, new freshman engineering students must be present Monday, Sept. 16 to take pre-entrance examinations. Other newcomers must be on the campus Monday to take psychological examinations, and foreign language placement tests, and to have physical examinations and vaccinations cleared.

Registration for former students will be alphabetically by surname, Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 16-17. New students will register Wednesday. All former students who are late comers will be permitted to register Thursday and Friday mornings, Sept. 19-20, and new students who are late arrivals will register Thursday and Friday afternoons.

Saturday morning registration will be for any student who failed to register at the properly designated time. Registrar E. J. Mathews, dean of admissions, reminds all former students that they must have photostatic copies of their record of work. All new students must have their credits in the office of the registrar before registration.

"Students are expected to register on the appointed days," Dean Mathews said. "Undergraduates who register after Saturday morning, Sept. 21, will suffer a penalty for late registration."

The first general convocation of the orientation period will be held Monday, Sept. 16, at 7 p. m. in Hogg Auditorium. Tuesday night at the same time the registrar will hold a convocation, and the students will divide into groups according to their major studies.

Wednesday night separate convocations will be held for men and women. The men's meeting will be followed with a special convocation for veterans.

Thursday night, Sept. 19, there will be a get-acquainted party at the Texas Union, and a "yearling" roundup on the Union terrace.

Friday night small group meetings will bring the orientation schedule to a close. Classes begin Monday, Sept. 23.

Hall of State Seeks Histories of Texas Counties

DALLAS, Sept. 11. (Special)—The Texas Reference Library in the Hall of State, Dallas, wants materials on the history of Hamilton County, and officials of Dallas Historical Society are appealing to citizens of the county to help locate the needed items.

Copies of these books and pamphlets are in the hands of pioneer citizens and their descendants. Director Herbert Gambrell said, "but they are not to be found in bookstores. Placing them in this great shrine of Texas History for the use of the public will not only be a permanent memorial to the donors, but a genuine service to those seeking accurate information about the county."

Information regarding available county materials should be addressed to the Director, Hall of State, Fair Park, Dallas 1, Texas. Biographical directories, booklets on the histories of towns, churches, schools and other institutions are also desired for the library, along with histories of the county itself. Special anniversary numbers of county newspapers are also wanted.

A special museum display of the Texas County Histories is planned for the Hall of State during the State Fair of Texas in October. The Hall of State occupies the center of the Fair Park and will be open daily, free of charge, to visitors.

Only Six Survivors of World War II Vets Seek Security Claims

Waco, Texas, Sept. 9.—Only six survivors of World War II veterans who have died since they were discharged have filed application for the social security benefits provided under a recent amendment to the Social Security Act, according to Glenn T. Dunn, manager of the Waco Social Security field office.

"I am sure there are other survivors who should contact us to file claims," Dunn said.

The 1946 Amendments to the Social Security Act, which President Truman signed August 10, provided survivors insurance benefits to eligible relatives of World War II veterans who had as much as 90 days military service after September 16, 1940, if the veteran died following a discharge other than dishonorable. That amendment became effective immediately.

Relatives who can collect monthly insurance payments under the veterans amendments are the same as in the old plan—children under age 18, young widows with young children, widows 65 and over, and dependent parents after they are 65. When no one eligible for monthly payments survives, a lump-sum can usually be paid. Benefits cannot be paid under this amendment to the survivors of men who died in military service, nor to survivors of veterans who died after discharge from service connected causes which entitle the survivors to compensation or pension from the Veterans Administration National Service Life Insurance payments do not prevent survivors from collecting social security benefits under this new law.

"In the future, when a World War II veteran dies, if the relatives cannot collect compensation or pensions from the Veterans Administration, they should call at or write to the Social Security office to check on their rights to collect survivors insurance," Dunn said.

Notes From Office Of County Home Demonstration Agt.

Miss Ethel Hander, Hamilton county home demonstration agent, passes on some timely information in a recent regular publicity release from her office. The articles follow:

Cricket Control

Crickets do considerable damage by eating holes in fabrics of linen, wool, cotton, rayon and silk, and even leather shoes.

Occasional crickets around the house may be killed with fly swatters or with grade AA fly spray. The spray is effective only if it actually hits the insect. According to entomologists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, sodium fluoride or sodium fluosilicate powder dusted along floors and around baseboards and blown into cracks with hand dusters also is recommended as a control measure. These powders are poisons and must be kept out of the way of children and pets.

Conclusive tests have not yet been made on the effectiveness of DDT insecticides against crickets, but the indications are that either a 10 per cent powder applied with a hand duster or a 5 per cent spray may be used successfully.

When great numbers of crickets infest a house, a poisoned bait is advised. To make the bait, mix 2½ pounds of bran, 10 teaspoons of sodium fluoride, ¼ cup of molasses and 1 quart of water. Scatter small lots of the bait throughout the house and basement, and around the foundation of the house outdoors. The bait is poisonous and children and pets must be protected from it. One or two applications should rid the premises of crickets. Then the bait can be gathered up and destroyed.

Green Lawns for Winter

If you'd like to see your lawn stay green all through the winter, try planting some of the Italian rye grass.

This is the same rye grass that is grown for winter stock pasture, and it may be planted with Bermuda or any grass that keeps your lawn green in the summer. Just cut the lawn very closely and sow the rye grass, using one pound of seed for each 1,000 square feet of lawn. Water immediately after planting so the seeds will sprout and set in place. The grass stays green all winter and begins to die out just about the time the bermuda comes up in the spring.

Some care should be given to the time of planting. Miss Hander says, if you live in North Texas, sow the grass in early September. In Central Texas, plant it around October 1, and in South Texas, two weeks to a month later is a good planting time.

It will be necessary to plant new rye grass each fall, since it won't produce seed until it reaches a height of about 18 inches, and you'll want to keep it mowed. However, the grass will certainly improve the landscape during the winter. Miss Hander points out, especially where you have a few evergreen trees.

Seed may be obtained from most any feed store, and many nurseries now also handle it.

An Egg Shell has 8,000 Pores!

Through these pores in the shell, heat draws water from the egg, causing it to shrink... wilt... lose freshness.

That's why it's always important — and particularly in hot weather—to keep eggs where the air is cool and moist.

It's the only way to keep eggs FRESH... and they must be fresh to bring the top price. So gather them often, cool them quickly—and KEEP THEM COOL!

The time to consider Heat is during planning stage of New Home

Provide Automatic Central Gas Heat

Anything so important to health and comfort as house heating deserves first consideration in your new home or remodeling plans. And when it is planned as part of house and included in its cost, even the builder of a modest cottage can afford automatic central gas heat as supplied by closet type furnace.

It cleans, heats and balances the air with right amount of moisture before circulating it through house. It is completely automatic, maintaining just the right temperature you want. Turn it on in the fall. Turn it off in the spring. In between it keeps the house like a May morning. Remember, a house is no more modern than its heating system. Plan it wisely with vented heat.

Closet Type Central Gas Furnace

For the cottage where space is limited this closet-type furnace is ideal for installation in small space. It provides clean, warm air throughout the house. It is completely automatic. It is quiet, efficient and costs little to operate. It is vented to a flue.

The Duty of the Press: It is not reasonable to expect the ordinary voter to be fully informed upon the records and qualities of the various candidates for local and national office unless his newspaper "hammers" the information into him.

When he finishes work for the day he isn't going down to the drugstore to talk politics. He is, however, going to pick up his newspaper and read politics—if that newspaper features them sufficiently—and he is going to discuss political candidates with his wife, and with friends who read a paper which might support opposition candidates.

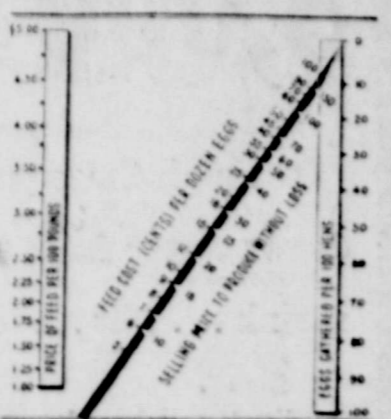

If anything holds a stake in the system of free enterprise which has been our happy heritage—it is the newspaper. Totalitarianism would spell "finis" for all except possibly a tiny few "indigestible" publications which have hypothesized themselves into believing that American patriotism and resistance are dead.

Just at the moment in all our history when intelligent, knowledgeable and selective voting seems most important—every newspaper in the country is struggling to obtain sufficient newsprint to keep its presses going. Every pound of pulp is sought and every inch of space is valuable.

Getting On Our Nerves

The KNATHOLE by ELLIOTT PINE

A low growl from organized baseball is rising louder every year against football's "encroachments." It used to be that baseball could hog the center of attention until late in September.

Patty Berg, professional woman golfer from Minneapolis, has added another title to her long string by taking medalist honors in the first national women's match play open golf tournament.

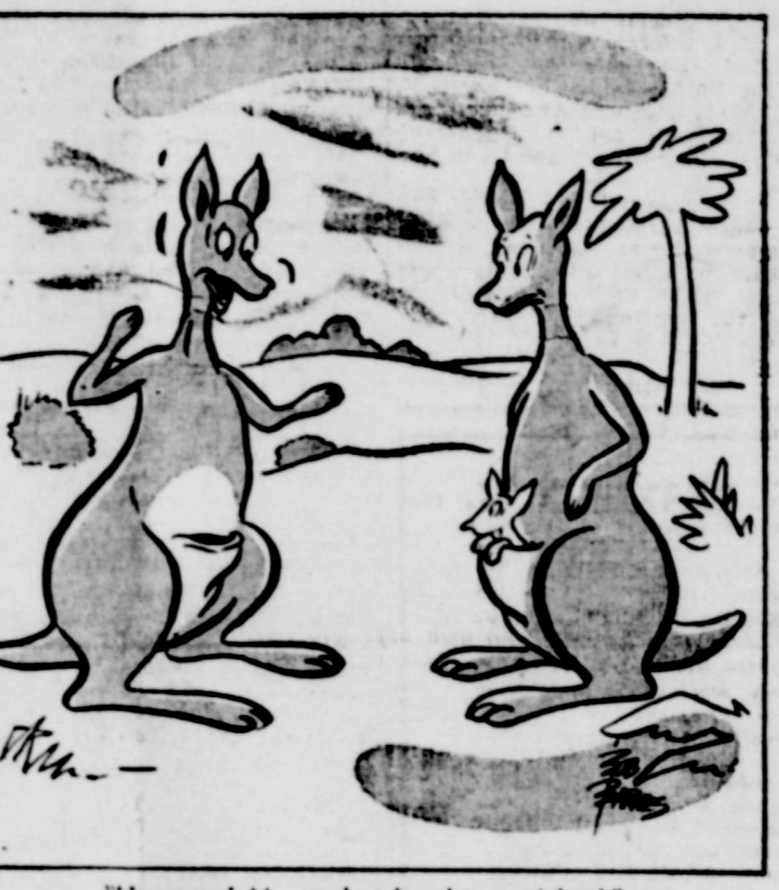

Among the tallest ends in college football this season is Fred Green of Illinois. His is 6 feet 7 inches high, his reach is 8 feet 1 inch, and he is good at leaping, being a basketball star in the winter.

POPULARITY IMPORTANT TO CHILDREN

Does your child bring friends home from school with him? Is he excited and happy as he speaks of school activities and of the boys and girls in his class?

Professional advice where necessary, extra love and understanding about home difficulties, these are the general remedies for meeting the problems implied by our questions.

First, mothers should bear in mind that it is often tragic for a child to be different from other children, even when this difference is a trait his parents are proud of.

Keep your child as free as possible of special restrictions—if the other boys ride their bikes to school, don't insist that Junior leave his at home because you are afraid the gang may wander too far afield after school hours.

The World in WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON.—Tension has eased somewhat at the old-fashioned, many chimneyed, grey stone state department building over the Yugoslav ultimatum.

This incident served to give notice to the Russians that this nation has drawn a line beyond which we will not go, and, taken in conjunction with the stiff note to Marshal Stalin concerning the Dardanelles, marks a new high in American foreign policy setting up a point where in our dealings with the Soviet Union, Russian expansion will be met without compromise or appeasement.

The Yugoslav incident has overshadowed all other activities in the national capital and the highlight of the affair, the golden lining to the black cloud of international drama, is the fact that the world organization of the United Nations has set its first test of world potency.

Five Russia did not dare to defy the United Nations and counseled moderation to its puppet, when the thrust of the ultimatum was to hail the Yugoslav nation before the bar of public opinion before the security council of U.N.

In the ragged pocket of a ragged coat, belonging to the inmate of a Chicago poorhouse, the following will was found on the dead body of a tramp. It has become famous as "The Will of Charles Lounsberry."

I, Charles Lounsberry, being of sound and disposing mind and memory, do hereby make and publish this my last will and testament.

Item: I give to good fathers and mothers, in trust for their children, all good little words of praise and encouragement, and all quaint pet names and endearments; and I charge said parents to use them justly, but generously, as the deeds of their children shall require.

Item: To lovers, I devise their imaginary world, with whatever they may need, as the stars of the sky, the red roses by the wall, the bloom of the hawthorn, the sweet strains of music, and aught else they may desire to guarantee to each other the lastingness and beauty of their love.

Item: To young men jointly I bequeath all the boisterous inspiring sports of rivalry, and I give to them the disdain of weakness, and undaunted confidence in their own strength.

Item: And to those who are no longer children or youths, or lovers, I leave memory; and bequeath to them, the volumes of poems of Burns and Shakespeare and other poets, if there be others, to the end that they may live the old days over again, freely and fully without tithes or diminution.

Item: To the loved ones with snowy crowns, I bequeath the happiness of old age, the love and gratitude of their children until they fall asleep.

Modern Quarters for Student Nurses

Drive On for 2,000 Texas Student Nurses During September

It isn't easy to become a skilled nurse. But despite the current shortage of student nurse enrollments, there will be no relaxation of requirements for entrance in the State's 37 accredited schools of nursing, according to Miss Lucy Harris of Fort Worth, president of the Texas League of Nursing Education.

"We have instituted many changes that give our students the same advantages and recreational facilities as college and university students, but we feel it would be unfair to the girl, the profession, and the patients to whom they eventually administer to lower our entrance requirements," Miss Harris asserted.

Spearheading a drive to secure 2,000 student nurse enrollments in September, the Texas League of Nursing Education has outlined a number of basic requirements.

Applicants must be at least 17 years old, of high moral character, and possess at least a high school education. Arrangements now have been completed between nursing schools and major universities so that credits in many instances are interchangeable. For example, a nursing school graduate is credited with 30 semester hours toward a Bachelor of Science degree in most of the larger universities.

Also, students who have had the two-year pre-nursing course at universities prior to admission to a school of nursing may, upon completion of the three-year nursing course, be awarded the Bachelor of Science degree in Nursing from whichever school they previously attended.

Nursing schools are noted for their well-equipped lecture rooms, laboratories, and libraries, and increased dormitory facilities in recent years have greatly enhanced the college atmosphere. An attractive feature to students has been the low cost of securing such a varied higher education, plus the training preparation for a vocation that is regarded as one of the most skilled and one of the highest paid open to women.

The year following the end of the war has been one of the worst in nursing school history from the standpoint of enrollments, but league officials are hopeful that an early end of "postwar indecision" will bring students back to school in greater numbers this fall.

Dublin's Pre-Madison Square Garden Rodeo Is Now Going On

"Turn 'em out!" Kiyipple, Kiyas—is the familiar western yell that was heard at the opening performance of the 7th Annual Pre-Madison Square Garden Rodeo grounds Thursday night, Sept. 12th, at 8:00 p. m. at Dublin.

Dublin has taken on the appearance of a real western cow-town for the past few days—newcomers as well as old-timers have gotten their big hats, loud shirts and boots out of the mothballs for this annual event. Welcome signs are in every business establishment, flags displayed along the streets, and a gay holiday spirit prevails throughout the entire community.

The gala street parade begins at 6:00 p. m. each evening through the downtown section, and will average about a half-mile in length, consisting of the local high school band, flag bearers on their beautiful white mounts, cowgirls riding beautiful and spirited paint and Palomino horses, Everett Colburn, producer of the show, local dignitaries and civic leaders, visiting bands, trick riders, trick ropers, nationally known cowboy contestants, and then the clowns on their trick mules, always a favorite with the youngsters.

The first performance of the show began at 8:00 p. m. Thursday night, Sept. 12, with one show on each day, Friday and Saturday at 8:00 p. m., and the final performance being a matinee on Sunday, Sept. 15, at 2:00 p. m.

The John Tarleton College band will play for all four performances. Bands have been invited also from Hamilton, Comanche and Stephenville.

Five main events of the rodeo will be saddle bronc riding, bareback bronc riding, bulldozing, calf roping, and wild Brahma bull riding. The total amount of prize money offered this year is $3,000, divided among the different events.

The specialty acts that will appear in the Madison Square Garden Rodeo will also be at the Dublin Rodeo, announced Everett Colburn, arena director.

As has been announced, Gene Autry and Champion will be on hand for every performance with the exception of the Sunday afternoon show. He will have to miss that performance on account of a radio broadcast.

There will be three clowns this year, George Mills of Montrose, Colorado, Jasbo Fulkerson of Smithfield, Texas, and Jack Knapp of Hollywood, Calif. George Mills and Jasbo are familiar characters of the Dublin show, but Jack Knapp will appear for the first time. Yes, Jasbo's mule will be present, too.

Another new feature will be an old time square dance by cowboys and cowgirls dressed in costumes of grandmother's day. This is in addition to the quadrille act.

The Madison Square Garden announcer has also been secured for Dublin. He is Abe Letton, the man who will be behind the microphone. He is an integral part of the rodeo and has his box over the entrance gates. He announced for the Fort Worth show this year.

The Army Air Force sent 18,000 men overseas last month to both the European and Pacific Theaters.

Perry Como's son will start the same exclusive boys' school this year attended by the Crosby clan. Incidentally, Perry's program, "Supper Club," is one of the better 15-minute musical programs. Octopus Outlets

...are BOTTLENECKS to electrical living in the home

Your appliances and lamps can't give you the service you expect of them when they're plugged into "octopus outlets" like this. When too many lamps and appliances are plugged into an outlet, they compete against each for a too-meager supply of electricity. Lights go dim, the iron won't heat and the fuse sometimes blows. That's because the load at the outlet is greater than the circuit is designed to carry. To eliminate "octopus outlet" bottlenecks to better electrical living, install adequate wiring now. Put in a large enough service entrance, enough circuits of large enough wire and enough outlets and switches to provide a full measure of electrical energy for all of your lights and appliances.

Discuss adequate wiring with your electric contractor

Before you build, or remodel, discuss adequate wiring completely with your electrical contractor. Let him show you how little extra it costs to install full capacity wiring instead of "skimpy" wiring. Don't bottle up an obsolete wiring system inside the walls of your home.

Six-Inch Sermon

BY REV. ROBERT H. HARPER

Lesson for September 15: Exodus 20; 17; Proverbs 11: 23, 24; Luke 12:13-21.

Memory Selection: Proverbs 11:28.

Last but not least among the Ten Commandments is this: "Thou shalt not covet." For breaking this law can lead men into many temptations and cause them to break other commandments. A man in his desires must respect a neighbor's possessions, if he is to abstain from taking them.

The Proverbs show that the desire of the righteous man is only good, but the expectation of the wicked leads to ruin.

The covetous man who sought the aid of Jesus in getting his brother to divide the inheritance, led the Master to speak of the evil of covetousness. A man's life, he said, does not consist in the abundance of the things he possesses.

Then he told the story of the rich and foolish farmer, whose life had proceeded on three great mistakes—that he could live for and unto himself alone, that he could feed his soul on corn, and that he had unlimited time to enjoy what he possessed. He had lived for himself alone; he had said to his soul, "Thou hast much goods laid up for many years; take thine ease, eat, drink, and be merry." He spoke to his soul as if he might stable his soul and feed it like the beasts of his farm, and he counted on many years to come. But God said unto him, "Thou fool; this night thy soul shall be required of thee." It has been observed that shrouds have no pockets.

OUTWEAR PREWAR TIRES

"For safety's sake," says Mr. R. W. Thompson, driver of Yellow Cabs, Louisville, Ky., "I want the protection of the new B.F. Goodrich Silvertowns. No prewar tires I ever rode on could match them for ruggedness and traction."
Over 17 million miles of tests were run on taxi fleets, police cars, and on the B.F. Goodrich test fleet.
From these tests came proof that the new B.F. Goodrich Silvertown was a superior tire that outperformed, outran, outlasted, and outwore prewar tires—even at high speeds.
Supplies of this new tire are still limited. However, we'll do our best to keep your car rolling until we can get new tires for you. 1610

Fairy

By Mrs. J. O. Richardson

We have had mostly fair weather for the past week. Farmers are busy preparing for fall sowing.

Our school opened Monday and according to reports there was a good attendance. Due to illness your correspondent was unable to attend the opening.

The new teachers have moved in. Mr. and Mrs. Harper and family have moved to the dwelling vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hutton recently. Also Mr. Harper's brother is a member of the faculty and he and his wife have also arrived, but we haven't learned yet where they are residing, as they were unable to get possession just now of the dwelling they have rented. We need more dwellings in our little village town.

The monthly Church of Christ singing which is held every third Sunday at points over this and adjoining counties, will be held here next Sunday afternoon. All are cordially invited to attend whether or not you sing. Many singers and visitors from over the county are expected to attend.

We have just received a tiny announcement stating, "I'm here" from the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Jackson of Grand Prairie, announcing the arrival of a little daughter, Joria Annette, who made her arrival Sunday, Sept. 8. She tipped the scales at 6½ pounds. Congratulations, Vernon and Ruthie.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Beck and son, Charles, spent last Sunday in Glen Rose at a special gathering and noonday feast with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Judd Massengale attended church at Hico last Sunday and visited with his sister, Mrs. Dora Massengale. All attended singing at Carlton in the afternoon. Others from Fairy who attended were Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Brummitt, Mr. and Mrs. Nat Grimes, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Richardson, and Mrs. Brittle Little. All enjoyed the fine singing by visitors and local talent.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ray Sellers and Carolyn were in Gatesville last Sunday visiting in the home of Mrs. Sellers' aunt, Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Heyroth and daughter, Mrs. Meline Newton and Barbara.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Sellheimer and little son, Dan Keith, of Lund Valley were week-end guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Allison Sr., and Texie Dell.

Mrs. Maud Whitson has returned home after several weeks' visit in the home of her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Hardy Walker and son of Corpus Christi.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Wolfe enjoyed a pleasant visit from a number of sons and daughters and their families last Sunday.

Mrs. H. R. Brummitt accompanied her brother, Ernest, and sister, Miss Liza Gliese, to Waco Monday where they attended the funeral of an uncle.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hoover spent last Sunday in Stephenville visiting with their daughters, Misses Daphne and Patsy Ann.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Sellers of Pecan were visiting in the home of his brother, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ray Sellers, and Carolyn Friday night of last week. They attended the wedding of their brother, Frank Sellers, and Miss Jewell Sorley, who were married at the Methodist Church at Cranfills Gap at 7 p. m. Sept. 6 by Rev. Culwell of Clifton. Frank is a son of Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Sellers of Hamilton and Miss Sorley is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Sorley of Cranfills Gap. The couple will make their home in Hamilton. We wish for them much happiness and prosperity through life.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Price of Austin spent from Sunday night until Tuesday morning of last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Cox. They had been to Waco Sunday to attend the wedding of a niece of Mr. Price. The wedding was made sad by the death of an uncle of Mr. Price's, who died suddenly of a heart attack just after he left his Dallas home to attend the wedding ceremonies. Mr. and Mrs. Price attended the funeral, held in Dallas on Monday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Jackson and family spent last Sunday at Grand Prairie visiting in the home of their son, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Jackson, and daughters. The older daughter, Little Miss Zanna Jackson, accompanied them home for an extended visit.

SAVE YOUR CALF!

School Days Bring Increased Danger of Traffic Accidents

Austin, Sept. 10.—If the rapidly increasing rate of traffic fatalities is not retarded, 189 school-age children are slated for death by automobiles during the coming year, according to George Clarke, managing director of the Texas Safety Association. Another group of approximately 700 youngsters are marked for death by other types of accidents.

Most of the school-age traffic victims will be first-graders, representing a generation who does not remember prewar traffic, and many of whom have not been taught at home to obey traffic signals. The next greatest number will be third-grade youngsters; the fourth grade holds the greatest probability to lead in bicycle-motor vehicle deaths.

Last year in Texas 883 school children were killed by accidents of all kinds, and many more were injured, some of them disfigured and crippled for life. In the traffic accident category, they were struck down going to and from school, for the most part; twelve were killed in school bus accidents. These deaths and those occurring on the school grounds and in the school buildings accounted for 450, 433 children were killed in home accidents and in accidents away from home and school.

This year traffic accidents generally have shown a sharp increase over 1945. From January through July, 1946, 1,024 people were killed—a total 49 per cent greater than that for the same period last year. Old cars, old tires, deteriorated highways and inadequate policing have teamed up with the most important factor—carelessness—to reap a red harvest that is only slightly below the record toll of 1941.

There can be no effective protection for children in rural areas. The only legal protection they have is the Texas law that requires every motorist to come to a full stop when the school bus stops and which forbids him to start up or proceed in any direction until the school bus closes its doors.

Because this mass-movement of school-age youngsters is concentrated into a few short periods, school days bring increased danger of traffic accidents. This is especially true during the first weeks, when motorists must again learn to watch out for carefree groups of children enroute to and from school.

Parents, teachers, state and city officials, civic organizations and individual business men are fighting side by side to reduce the traffic hit parade of children. The Texas Safety Association and the department of education are sponsoring driver education courses in approximately 285 high schools of Texas; college workshops are being held for teachers who wish to integrate safety education into their classes in public schools; institutes for teachers of driver education courses are being conducted; and training classes for school bus drivers to upgrade their knowledge and skill are being held. In other accident fields, the Association and the department of education offer the free services of competent engineers to inspect school buildings, so that another New London disaster may not occur. An instructor's course in home safety has been completed in Houston and may be conducted in other areas of Texas.

The Army Air Force sent 18,000 men overseas last month to both the European and Pacific Theaters.

LITTLE THINGS

The importance of the thing does not every time depend upon its size. The skeleton insect that rises from the swamp is a dozen times more dangerous than was the dragon of mythical days. You can stab or slay a big animal, but a tiny little ant will travel up your trousers leg and drive you crazy. We all know our big faults, and we defend ourselves against them, but the sand-fly faults, the little mosquito faults bite us, poison us, and we swell up with the disease of self-conviction.

A microbe can make us more trouble than a man-eating lion. We can shoot the king of beasts, but we can't swat a microbe. The point is to keep both eyes open for the little things; the big things we are able to see with one eye closed. One little word may mean more than a typewritten page. The short snappy word "No" very often hurts us more than a thrust from a double-curved yutaghan.

Used Car Buyers Warned to Secure Ownership Proof

Austin, Sept. 10.—Buyers of used cars were warned this week to secure from the seller acceptable proof of ownership as the State Highway Department moved toward wiping out traffic in stolen and mortgaged motor vehicles in Texas.

"All County Tax Collectors have now received instructions to hold the line in requiring proof of ownership on all applications for vehicle titles," E. J. Amey, Director of Motor Vehicle Registration announced. Applications for Texas titles are made through local Tax Collectors under the present law.

"Property assigned certificate of title from any of the thirty States having a title law similar to Texas is the best evidence of ownership. The purchaser should insist upon receiving a release of any lien recorded on a Texas title issued by any other state," Amey said.

Outlining minimum acceptable ownership proof of vehicles brought into Texas from any of the seventeen non-title States, which includes Louisiana, Amey announced, "We will accept a 1945 license receipt from Louisiana or any other non-title State and the current receipt if both are in the name of the person applying for the Texas title."

"Bills of sale showing all changes in ownership must supplement such 1945 license receipt, if applicant for a Texas title is not the same person in whose name the receipt is issued," he added.

Strict enforcement of the Texas title law was endorsed at a recent meeting of car dealers, enforcement officers, tax collectors and representatives of finance and insurance companies. The meeting had been called to determine if present requirements for title were meeting with the approval of all concerned.

"Numerous stolen and mortgaged cars bearing license plates from non-title States have been sold in Texas," Amey stated. "Purchasers of such vehicles are unable to obtain valid titles in Texas and the vehicles are subject to seizure by their lawful owners."

The National Automobile Theft Bureau has estimated that the current requirements of the Highway Department have reduced sales of stolen cars in Texas by half.
