The Private First Class Billie London, son of Mrs. Mamie White, Box 89, Hico; and Private First Class Donald Williamson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. London and Williamson were trained in basic weapons, map reading, military drill, and many other military subjects. Almost all of this training was at the range where they quickly became efficient marksmen with the rifle.

London attended Hico High School while Williamson attended Hico High School prior to his enlistment in the Corps.

Hico and Alexander Fighting for Cellar Position in League

By LEON LEWIS

Shiloh wins over Iredell, 11 to 1. Duffau over Hico, 10 to 4. Johnsville over Alexander, 26 to 4.

Duffau and Iredell are now tied for first place.

Shiloh is in third position and Johnsville in fourth by a two-game lead over Alexander and Hico.

Hico and Alexander still have a chance to get in the play-off, as there are seven games yet before the play-off games. But they will have to win some games to do it, though anything can happen in baseball. We will wait and see.

Next Sunday finds Iredell at Hico, Johnsville at Duffau, and Shiloh at Alexander. Go see these games!

SUBSCRIBER'S REMARK CONVINCES US WE HAVE THE "BEST PAPER IN HICO"

The News Review received a letter the other day from a subscriber who said he didn't want a copy, but we're reprinting the letter, and if Jack Neel gets in trouble over it, then maybe he'll be far enough away in San Marcos to escape whatever consequences there might be. Addressed to "The Greatest Little Newspaper in Texas," the letter read like this:

San Marcos, Texas
June 27, 1951

Mr. Holford,

How about sending that good ole home-town paper down to the old "pill roller" at 340 N. Guadalupe? You also might give me an account of my dues etc., but if my dad "insists" on paying up for me, don't you disappoint him. But if he fails to come across, just send the bill down to this little town and I'll try to settle with you.

Say, any time you need a pre-subscription filled, just come by Hillburn's Pharmacy here in San Marcos and I'll really "fix you up." Don't let Bill Howard hear of this, though, or he may accuse me of stealing his business.

Regards to all,
JACK AND ROSIE NEEL

Grand Jury Recesses After Its Report Is Submitted to Court

Upon request relayed by County Attorney Truman E. Roberts, District Clerk C. E. Edmiston kindly mailed a copy of the Grand Jury report for the present term.

Addressed to The Honorable R. B. Cross, Judge, the report follows:

"We have been in session two days and have examined 26 witnesses. We have found seven true bills of indictment, two misdemeanors and five felonies, and we present them into your Court herewith.

"We have inspected the County Jail and we find it well kept; however we recommend that certain repairs be made there, particularly we recommend that screens be put on the windows; that mattress covers be obtained for the mattresses and also some mattresses be replaced. Also we believe that the sunken concrete floor in the two north rooms of the first floor of the jail should be repaired. Also we recommend that the bar that has been out of the main door to the second floor be replaced. We also believe that the kitchen should be repaired, and some broken tile replaced in the bathroom. There are also many leaks in the plumbing that should be repaired.

"We have also inspected the Court House and want to commend the Commissioners' Court for rearranging the District Court Room, and for placing some new furniture in it.

"We have received very good cooperation from all the officers of the Court and the County, and want to express our appreciation for their assistance.

"So far as we know we have completed our work for the term and we request that we be permitted to adjourn subject to your call."

Lee A. Colwick signed the report as Foreman of the Grand Jury. Hico members were W. B. Coats and L. T. Burden. Others were Fowler Poston, J. T. Jackson, Newman Fugus, M. K. Taylor, Robert Kelm, Mar. Music, Seth Moore, James Billingsley and Alfred Seider.

The criminal docket will be called Monday morning, July 9, and a panel of 40 men is being summoned to appear at that time, Mr. Edmiston stated.

Future Homemakers From Local Chapter Attend District Camp

District III or Area IX, Future Homemakers of America annual encampment was held at Hancock Park in Lampasas on June 26, 27 and 28. Eleven members of the Hico Chapter attended. There were 12 chapters represented, 11 advisors, three chapter mothers, 99 members and three visitors.

Recreational activities enjoyed by the group were swimming, folk dancing, outdoor games, drive-in movies, and miniature golf. Crafts participated in were leather tooling, copper tooling, corage making and textile painting.

One of the highlights of the camp was the formal installation of District III officers for 1951-52. The Hico Chapter was responsible for the preparation of the Wednesday evening meal. The menu consisted of cold meats, potato chips, pickles, lettuce, punch, ice cream and cookies.

This was the first time the Hico Chapter had attended F. H. A. Camp. The Chapter wishes to express their appreciation to the school board for transportation to and from Lampasas.

Extended Draft Law Poses Continued Military Strength

San Antonio, Texas, July 2.—The draft law scheduled for expiration July 31, 1951, has been extended in amended form to July 1, 1955, Brigadier General L. Wakefield, state director, reminded Texas people.

General Wakefield noted the following important changes in the new service act:

Men inducted will serve for 18 months as compared to 21 under the old law. Males must be under age of 18, as formerly.

Men are liable for induction at age of 18, instead of 19. No one below 19 can be inducted so long as a board has eligible older men.

Physical and mental standards have been lowered, with result that some men now classified IV-F will be found suitable for I-A.

The present strength of the armed forces, approximately 3 1/2 million, can be raised to 5 million.

Except for cases of extreme hardship, a man may not be deferred on dependency on the basis of wife alone.

Men now or hereafter deferred on occupational, occupational, farm or dependency grounds will be liable for service until age 26, instead of 24.

Men not deferred are liable to 26th birthday.

Essential objects to military service shall be ordered by boards subject to regulations promulgated by the President, to perform civilian work in the national interest for 24 months.

Men entering the service by a draft board are obligated for six years in the reserves or discharge.

High school students will be deferred until graduated, until they are age 20, or until they fail a work.

Some college students may be deferred on the basis of class standing during last completed year, or on the basis of a semester-sponsored test. The board is not bound to defer on the basis of this information. Some other college students may be deferred on a less competitive basis.

No inducted man may be assigned overseas until he has had 12 months training.

All enlistments in the armed forces, reserve or regular, which expire after July 9, may be extended by the President for one year. No person shall have his enlistment extended a second time.

Mrs. Bob Jenkins Seriously Injured in South Texas Wreck

Rev. E. E. Dawson of Hico and Rev. Chester Sylvester of Carlton accompanied Mrs. Lora Jenkins of Hico on a trip to San Antonio the first of the week to visit her son and family, after receiving a message of an accident Saturday night which injured Mrs. R. L. Jenkins and three children.

Their injuries were the result of a two-car collision, which occurred between Lytle and Natalia, as they were traveling in a neighbor's car. All the occupants of both cars received injuries, and two persons were killed.

Rev. R. L. Jenkins is Baptist pastor at Lytle, a town near San Antonio. Mrs. Jenkins is the former Artie Faye Turner, and the family has many friends here and in Iredell where they had resided and where he previously served as pastor.

As a result of the mishap, Mrs. Jenkins suffered a fractured skull and concussion, and was in critical condition until 36 hours after the accident, when she was believed to have a chance of recovery, stated Bro. Dawson Tuesday, upon his return home. Both she and her son, Jimmy Jenkins, age 9, are in Santa Rosa Hospital in San Antonio. The boy's leg was fractured between his knee and thigh. The daughters, Loretta, 14, and Bobby Faye, 7, were also treated for injuries sustained in the accident, but both have been released from the hospital, said Bro. Dawson.

An account from the San Antonio Express included additional names of those involved, as follows: two persons killed in this week were Mrs. Bert Baxter of Lytle and Jerome Navarro of Natalia, driver of one of the vehicles. Bert Baxter, driver of the car in which the Jenkins family rode, was hospitalized for chest and head injuries.

Others injured were Miss Nancy Strange, 14, who has been released from the hospital, and Joe B. Garcia of Natalia, who was riding in the other car and received a fractured leg.

Changes Being Made During Summer at Local Public Schools

Improvements, including refitting of all classrooms in the elementary school building and terracing of the high school campus, are now in progress at Hico Public Schools. Other plans are being made for remodeling in the high school auditorium, according to a report given this week by Supt. O. C. Cook.

These classrooms in the elementary school have been redecorated, he said, and each of the rooms is much lighter and cleaner in appearance as a result of the new paint. All the desks have been resurfaced and sanded and will be refinished in natural color. This work was done in Austin, Texas.

Several loads of sand were hauled, under contract with Hamilton County Commissioner Fern Jordan, to the front of the high school building, where a rock wall is being built by Dewey Spinks, assisted by Royce Knight. Together with the rock wall previously built at the side of this building, the terracing is expected to provide for a lawn in front, which will add much to the attractiveness of the building.

Future plans for improvements, listed by the superintendent include repainting of the high school auditorium and re-arrangement of the stage to afford more room.

Changes Being Made During Summer at Local Public Schools

Mr. M. E. Laney, Hico Route 5, came in a week ahead of time to renew her subscription and to be sure that she would not forget it when the time came due. Talking a while about local crop conditions, she commented on the effect of hot weather last week around that vicinity. The heat of the sun has been especially bad on peanut growers, she said, and there were signs of crops being burned up. A trip to Carlton Saturday by one of the NR staff members revealed a similar condition in that community, where we were told that several farms have lost their corn, and grass has been badly burned, all noticed during the several continuously hot days preceding the welcome rainfall early this week. However, the situation seems to be general over some of the rest of the state, as Mrs. Ada Williams, manager of the Carlton telephone office, told us that she observed many dry and burned fields on a recent trip to Bryson and Jackboro to visit with relatives.

D. E. Black of Odessa, who got his mail for a long time at Carlton after leaving this neck of the woods, has mailed the price of another year's subscription to the News Review, along with a courteous note to the staff.

"I read my Hico paper every Friday, and always look for the specials in the ads first," Mrs. W. H. Tinsley, Hico Route 2, told us Saturday morning while in town to shop—and to renew her subscription. She said she looks forward to getting the paper on that day, because then when she gets into town, she knows just what she's going to buy and where she's going to buy it.

Although we're already convinced that newspaper advertising gives good returns on the investment, we're always glad to hear testimony to that effect, and Mrs. Tinsley is among several other subscribers who have been interested enough to tell us the same thing.

PT BOARD RECEIVES FIRST INDUCTION NOTICE

Plans Continued for Using Smaller Schools As Community Centers

Austin, Tex., July 2.—The "community school" idea—making the school the center of community life—will be brought down to cases July 5-7 at the University of Texas.

A small group of educators who are interested in the smaller high schools of the state will receive expert advice on their local situation from University and Texas Education Agency specialists. Other consultants will be called upon as needed.

There are 600 high schools in Texas which have fewer than 100 students in their four grades. Of these, 466 have fewer than 60 students. It is for the 600 smaller high schools of the state that the "community school" plan is designed.

W. R. Goodson, secondary education research specialist at the Texas Education Agency, has conducted a survey among the smaller high schools. Information has been gathered about the schools, the communities and the relationship between them. Returns will be used to improve the educational program in the schools.

Goodson explained that the smaller high school can serve as a community service institution, providing recreation and health facilities which are furnished by other agencies to larger communities. Dr. Edward G. Olsen, University faculty member and authority in the field of community development, is director of the work conference.

National Advertiser Gives Due Credit to Newspaper Advertising

Because of the effectiveness of newspaper advertising campaigns during the first half of 1951 Chrysler will use more than 3,000 newspapers to carry its July sales messages to the public, reports John H. Caron, Director of Advertising, Chrysler Division, Chrysler Corporation.

Representing a combined circulation of over 51,000,000, the newspaper list was drawn up to obtain maximum penetration into the more than 3,000 counties in the United States that are served by Chrysler dealers.

"The effectiveness of our hard-hitting advertising program has helped build public acceptance so thoroughly that Chrysler dealers at present have about 35,000 firm orders for our FirePower V-8 models," Caron reported. "In fact, Chrysler dealers in some cities are being forced to return deposits because they have been unable to supply demand."

Caron said that both new and used car stocks of Chrysler dealers are well below normal, a condition which he declared was largely due to the effectiveness of the advertising program.

"Our advertising has been concentrated on educating the public to the advantages inherent in the new 180-horsepower FirePower V-8 engine, explaining how this engine's designed-in mechanical octanes make regular grade gas do what premium gases can't do in any other engine you can drive today," Caron said.

The advertising is prepared and released by McCann-Erickson, Inc., Chrysler's national advertising agency.

Texas House Member Resigns to Join TEC

Austin, July 2.—The resignation of Representative Ed Gossett of Wichita Falls as a member of Congress was received by Governor Shivers' office Monday.

Gossett made the resignation effective July 31. Election laws require the governor to call a special election within 20 to 90 days after that date.

Resignations of four Texas House members have also been received, the governor's office reported. They came from William R. Stump, Georgetown, District 84F; Vernon McDaniel, Wichita Falls, District 111, Place 2; John E. Morrison Jr., Chillicothe, District 114, and Earl Huddleston, Oglesby, District 94.

Early Elections Likely.

Governor Shivers was out of town Monday. He had indicated previously he would call an election to fill the spot vacated by Gossett within 30 days after the effective date of the congressional representative's resignation.

No special elections to fill any of the places have been called.

Stump quit the Texas Legislature in his third term to become assistant county attorney of Williamson County. He sponsored the new Texas election code which passed the Legislature this year.

Huddleston, boasting one of the longest records of legislative service in the House, quit to become farm labor placement representative with the Texas Employment Commission at the Waco office.

He first served in the Texas House in 1933. He was a member seven times but not consecutively.

RATHER PERSONAL

William Frederick Holmes is the name of that lanky, good-natured chap you may or may not have seen around the News Review office here lately, but you can just call him Bill when he can be of service. Bill, a student at Texas Tech at Lubbock last term, is pondering the possibility of returning there this fall, depending upon the requirements of his Uncle Samuel. Meanwhile he has condescended to assist the News Review force in whatever way possible, in spite of the fact that his dad, employed by the Government Printing Office and a lifelong addict of the trade, has warned his son of the insidious features of the game and has recommended another field of work on a permanent basis. Oh yes, Bill is part Holford, son of the publisher's late lamented sister. He knows what it's all about, even though he doesn't like to brag, and we'll bet you a cup of coffee you can't make him mad. Needn't try though, he says.

ARMY MEDICAL SERVICE IN VAST RESEARCH.—The Medical Research team, which spent a month in Japan and Korea studying frostbite cases, have recommended improved methods of treatment of this type of injury. The team's recommendation, arrived at after consultation with the National Research Council's subcommittee on vascular surgery, alters only slightly, the Army's present plan of treatment for frostbite cases. However, further research is expected to be of great improvement over methods now used. In the meantime, a new team of Army and medical research scientists left Washington, D. C., to carry on a research against one of GI Joe's enemies, strep typhus! The team will concentrate their work in the Federated Malay States and British North Borneo.

PRE-INDUCTION DRAFTEES TO GET CHOICE OF THEIR OWN UNTIL JULY 15TH.—It appears that since the new regulation, in force until July 15th, has been published, the Recruiting Offices everywhere will be doing a land office business. The new regulation allows men who have received their pre-induction notice to select the service of their choice. Mind you, the draft-eligible men are being released only until July 15th. This will offer the Air Force a chance to fill all vacancies, for 133 present.

NEW PROCESS FOR "MOTH-BALL" JOBS A SUCCESS.—The Army has developed a new vapor film for "mothballing" war equipment when not in use. The film acts to neutralize the effect of moisture and air on metal surfaces and in time may save the government millions of dollars, while offering a simplified protection process.

ENLISTED INACTIVE AND VOLUNTEER RESERVISTS TO BE RELEASED FROM SERVICE IN THE ARMY.—Plans to step up the release from active duty of more than 100,000 enlisted Reservists who entered military service involuntarily from inactive and Volunteer Reserve ranks, were announced this past week by the Secretary of the Army. The release program is to start in July and be completed in December. Personnel relieved from duty under this program will revert to their former status in the Enlisted Reserve Corps, pending expiration of Reserve enlistment periods.

WITH AIR FORCE BOOSTING ENLISTMENT OF WOMEN TO 48,000.—There will be a lot of new Air Force blue uniforms to be seen in the near future. Lackland Air Force Base has just graduated a class from the Recruiter's Course, composed of 50-35 women and 15 men. As a culmination of the course, the new uniforms were issued to WAFs. Look for them—they are marks of distinction. See you in the papers, SARGE.

Rev. ROBERT H. HARPER

Living Together in the Family
Lesson for July 8: II Timothy 1: 3-6; 3: 14-15; Ephesians 5: 22, 25; 6: 1-4.

Memory Selection: Ephesians 4: 32.

THE lesson begins with a beautiful recognition of the heritage of faith in the home. Three generations exhibited a great faith and the example and teaching of grandmother and mother so impressed the mind of young Timothy that he became the popular pastor of the church at Ephesus. Writing to Timothy, Paul thanked God for this succession of faith and grace and admonished Timothy to stir up the gift of God within him.

Paul further admonished Timothy to abide in the things which he had learned and been assured of, remembering and honoring the fact that from a child he had been brought to know the Holy Scriptures that were able to make him wise unto salvation through Christ.

The passage from Ephesians includes all the relations in the home and enjoins a duty upon each member of the family. Wives are admonished to be subject to their husbands; husbands are to love their wives, even as Christ loved the church and gave himself for it.

Children are urged to obey their parents, which is right, and to honor their fathers and their mothers, that, according to the promise they may live long on the earth. And fathers should deal kindly with their children, and not provoke them to wrath, but bring them up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord.

HOMETOWN HERO

By Loretta Stewart

THE DUST in the street, moved only slightly by the wind all day, was now being stirred by feet—many feet. From his position inside the station Jim Hawkins watched the people gathering near the tracks where the Special from Geyser City came in.

Watching their faces, he saw awe and pride and a little bit of embarrassment, as if there were many people who didn't know exactly how to act. Jim opened the station door and went out in the bright sunlight. He paused for just a second as all the faces turned toward him.

"Sorry, folks," he said, squinting into the sun. "Sure sorry. The Special's been held up by a rise on the river. Won't be here for a couple of hours."

A disappointed sigh came from the crowd, and Jim moved back into the station. As he sat down in his chair, he noticed that no one had left, despite his announcement. They had moved a little from out of the sun into the shade of the station. A few of the boys had walked down the tracks to lie in the coolness under the water tank. Mayor Clagor and his party had moved inside the cool interior of the mayor's shiny, decorated car. But no one had left.

Dillard came in smiling with the mail. "Hi, Jim." He sat on the corner of the desk. "Gosh, I rushed all the way over here, thinking I'd miss the train. Ain't it here yet?"

"Been held up at the junction, Dill. Big flood."

Dillard whistled softly to himself as he brushed at his clothes. "Sure be fine to see Bob again."

Jim lifted his feet on the desk. "Don't you want to hear about the flood?"

Dill stopped his whistling abruptly. "A flood. Why, a flood ain't much compared to what's coming. A man would think you had no pride at all, Jim, the way you act. Bob Carter's coming home."

Jim brushed at his brow. "And there's no call to get upset about it. Won't be here for a couple of hours."

The door opened and Old Sam came in, his face flushed. "Hello, Jim," he whispered. "He here yet?"

"Train's been delayed." Jim peered at him intently. "Why are you sneaking around, Sam? You got a right to be here. You're his dad, ain't you?"

"It's different now," Sam answered slowly. He turned back and stared at the water tank. "I'm his paw okay but well—He's a big success now, Jim. Me, I'm still just the handy man around town. I don't reckon I'm much good to a boy like Bob now."

"But you got him started, Sam," Jim argued. "If he's as smart as you say, he won't never forget that. You're back of his success."

The flush went out of Old Sam's face. "Why, I never thought of that, Jim. Sure, that's right. I remember the first time—" He stopped with a grin. "Guess I'll go join the crowd waiting for him. I got a right to be here, ain't I?" He banged the door as he went out. The crowd greeted him with shouts.

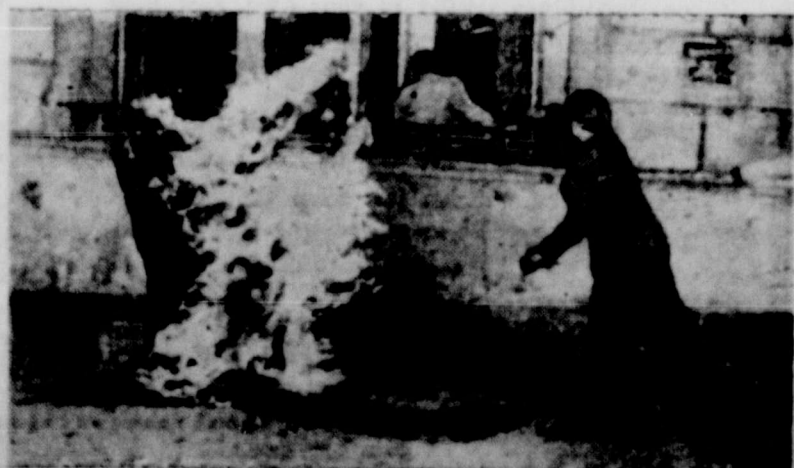

The town didn't know exactly how to greet Bob Carter coming home such a big success. Jim could tell that. They didn't know if he hadn't changed some while he was gone. Maybe he'd grown out and away from them. Maybe he even looked down on them.

Jim puffed on his pipe. The town was like Old Sam, a little afraid of what was to come. And it was like Dillard too. Proud and happy that Bob had brought distinction on himself. No, they did not know the way to meet him. But everybody was out there, ready to have a try at it.

Jim shook his head slightly. Plenty of times he had pulled Bob off that same water tank there. It could get awful hot in the summer and a boy liked to climb. Lots of times, too, Bob had come down to the station and helped him sweep the station platform for a soda over at Dugan's Drug. Always was a good worker, Jim knew, and he wasn't surprised when the news about Bob came.

He stood up. He guessed he would join the crowd ready to meet Bob too.

The time dragged by, and finally the whistle blew as the Special rounded the curve. The crowd gathered quickly around the train. Then down the steps of the car came grinning, carrot-topped Bob Carter, age thirteen, who had just been crowned marble shooting champion of the United States.

Patsy Jo Salmon And Glenn Ray Ross Say Wedding Vows

Miss Patsy Jo Salmon and Glenn Ray Ross were united in marriage Sunday afternoon, July 1, at 4 o'clock in an informal ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Conda W. Salmon. Rev. J. Fred Patterson, Methodist pastor, officiated in the double-ring ceremony.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Watt Ross of Hico. Attendants of the couple were Miss Monette Salmon, who was her sister's bridesmaid, and Donnie Ross, brother of the groom, who served as best man.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a blue informal length organza dress, fashioned with tucks in the bodice, continuing from the waistline into the skirt. Her accessories were white, and she wore an orchid corsage and carried a white Bible. The bridesmaid's dress was pink organza, and she also wore white accessories. Her corsage was yellow and blue daisies.

Vows were repeated in the midst of relatives and friends. The room was beautifully decorated with gladioli and bouquets of multi-colored daisies. Mrs. J. T. Hitt presided at the piano to play "Always" and the traditional wedding marches.

Thirty-eight wedding guests were entertained at a reception given in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Salmon, immediately following the ceremony.

For traveling attire the bride chose a two-piece tangerine-colored dress of waffled pique. The couple will make their home in San Angelo, Texas, after a short wedding trip.

Mrs. Ross attended school at Clairette before the family moved to Hico, and she was a student all four years in Hico High School, during which time she has received honors among her classmates as football sweetheart in her junior year and best all-around girl in the senior graduating class this spring. She was also active in athletics, and was an outstanding member and captain of the girls' basketball team in 1950-51.

The groom is also a graduate of Hico High School with the class of 1950, during which year he was captain of the boys' basketball team and football captain. Since finishing school, he has been employed in San Angelo.

Among those present for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Moffett and children, Margaret Ann and Bobby, Dallas; Pvt. Robert W. French, Fort Sill, Okla.; Mrs. W. W. Head and daughter, Mary Gayle, Fort Worth; also a number of friends and relatives from Clairette and Hico.

WEDNESDAY SHOWER HONORED BRIDE-ELECT

The lobby of the theatre was attractively decorated with table arrangements of summer flowers, and the serving table was appointed in crystal, where Mrs. Aubrey Duzan and Mrs. Gladys Hardin served punch and cookies to the guests.

Guests were greeted by the honoree; her mother, Mrs. Conda W. Salmon, and Mrs. Watt Ross, mother of the prospective bridegroom. Miss Monette Salmon presided at the bride's book.

A short comedy was presented on the theatre screen for guests at the shower, after which Miss Salmon opened gifts which had been brought or sent, and displayed them to those present.

W. M. STANDIFER

Funeral services were held in the Methodist Church Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock for W. M. Standifer of the Sunshine community, who passed away at his home Friday after a short illness from a heart attack.

The services were conducted by Rev. W. A. Flynn, a former Carlton pastor, now of Weatherford, assisted by Rev. H. E. Dutton, local pastor, and Rev. W. S. Schulze, Methodist pastor at Hamilton.

William Minos Standifer, son of the late John and Martha Standifer, was born Dec. 16, 1874, in Bosque County near Valley Mills and passed away June 29, 1935. At the age of eleven, he was converted and united with the Cumberland Presbyterian Church, later uniting with the Methodist Church. He moved to Hamilton County in 1906 and had lived in the Sunshine community some forty years.

He was married to Miss Mary Inez Scott on July 21, 1907. To this union seven children were born. The mother passed away Sept. 19, 1933, also four children preceded her in death. His survivors are his wife; three children, Herman of Pottsville, William of Fort Worth, and Mrs. Margaret Pruitt of Brownwood; several grandchildren; three brothers, I. B. "Let's Talk Live Stock"

By TED GOULDY

Fort Worth, June 30.—Seasonal expansion of cattle movement continued in the Southwest during the past week and seasonal declines were noted on stockers and grassy killing cattle and calves.

Despite the somewhat weaker trends on all kinds of livestock and the confusion resulting from the congressional efforts to rewrite the economic stabilization act, there was an optimistic tone to the trade.

Price Maddox of Colorado City in Fort Worth this week had two loads of old cows. "Prices are sure good, these old cows brought $2,000 more than I would have expected," he told this writer.

Mr. Maddox is a veteran cattleman and sheep raiser and recalls the days when sometimes in dry years, the rancher wondered whether his canner cows would pay the freight and expense to market.

Typical of some of the sales this week that reflect the healthy condition of the beef market were a short load of cows from the Scharbauer Cattle Company at Midland that topped the market at $27.50. It was considered unlikely that these cows would have, even at the highest time, ever have sold more than 50 or 75 cents above this level.

R. A. Brown of Throckmorton had some $26.50 cows.

Slocum Brothers of Cresson marketed some good supplementally fed steers. Jeff Slocum had three loads of 1,112-pound pasture fed steers at $35. A. W. Slocum had a load of 950-pound plainer steers at $32. G. A. McClung of Cleburne marketed two loads of fed grasser steers at $35.35 that scaled over 1,200 pounds.

Joe Reistino of Hearne marketed two loads of plain steers at above 800 pounds at $27, which went to feeders and indicated that feeder buyers were getting back in and competing with packers for fleshy cattle for the first time in several weeks. John Butterly of near Davis, Okla., had two loads of plain steers the first of the week at $30.50 which were fairly weighty.

There are still sizable numbers of aged cows coming to market with small calves. Stockmen in nearly all cases are making room in their pastures for younger cattle.

Typical of such shipments was one from the J. A. Mathews Ranch Co. in Shackelford County, in which there were some 1,054 pound cows at $25 and some 794 pound cows at $20.75 and 29 of their calves averaged 222 pounds at $40. Two odd cows in this three-load shipment sold to $27.50.

F. H. Pierson of Lone Oak in Hunt County was surprised and said his neighbors would be with him June sale. He had 19 good calves weighing 302 pounds at $41 per hundred, proving again that a good set of cows, good care and good East Texas pastures can produce really profitable calf crops.

Another development of recent years and one which to many livestock observers has been surprising, is the success of East Texas stockmen with sheep. More and more farm flocks are appearing in East Texas and they are making good money.

An example of what can be accomplished with growing good lambs, was the shipment to Fort Worth this week of 95 Spring lambs averaging 83 pounds from Troy E. Kern of Cooper in Delta County. These lambs topped at $33.50 and the practical top for the week was $33, and only one lot of lambs beat them in price.

The one load of lambs at $34 per hundred came from Vernon Danielson of Fort Stockton and averaged 90 pounds.

For the past several years a good ewe has been a best buy in the stocker animal line. The wool of the ewe and the price her lamb brings is and has been one of the biggest money makers a stock man could wish for.

CABBAGE, lettuce, cauliflower and greens which may have insects in them should be placed in cold, salted water so the insects can be drawn out. Wash the vegetables thoroughly after this treatment, before cooking, to float out any dirt.

Fried oysters are delicious and puffy if you add some baking powder to the flour in which they are rolled before frying. A bit of celery salt added to the flour, also, gives them a delicious flavor.

When you boil ham or roast beef, add a few whole cloves to the meat before cooking to give it a delicious, very delightful flavor.

If you have trouble with fish while frying, getting it burned, sprinkle a bit of salt on the bottom of the frying pan before placing the fish in it. This also helps to give it a nice even brown.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK
Crusty Scruppie
(Serves 6)

- 1 pound bulk pork sausage
- 1 1/4-ounce can evaporated milk
- 1 1/4 cups water
- 1/2 cup yellow cornmeal
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 cup crushed corn flakes

Brown sausage and drain well. Combine milk and water; measure out 2 cups. Add to sausage, reserving remaining 1/4 cup for dipping scruppie. Heat sausage mixture to boiling and slowly stir in cornmeal and seasonings. Cook 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Pour into a 5 x 9-inch loaf pan and chill until firm. Unmold and slice into 1/2-inch slices. Dip slices in corn flakes, then in milk, then again in corn flakes. Brown in hot fat on both sides. Serve with maple-flavored syrup.

When a recipe calls for creaming butter, and you don't have time to let it soften for easier creaming, break it into small pieces by cutting, then work it with a wooden potato smasher. Always cream butter before adding sugar to shorten the time required for working.

Muffins will be much lighter if you grease the pans and place them in a hot oven for a few minutes before spooning in the muffin batter.

Invention By Mistake

IN June, 1922, a man named Alex Osborn, author of "Your Creative Power; How To Use Imagination," got on a train and went to Dayton, Ohio. When he arrived there he went to the research laboratory of the General Motors Company. He was given a guide and started through the plant, coming at last to a little room where three men were working with a small stationary engine. The guide was no other than Charles F. Kettering, the famous inventor.

"Here's the most promising experiment we have," said Kettering. "We think we can change gasoline until it will give five times as much power as it does at present."

The men worked for six years—and failed. But—and they come the important point—they discovered something else that turned out to be highly important: Ethyl gasoline.

That, says Mr. Osborn, happens constantly. A person starts out to do one thing and fails. But sometimes he discovers something else that is important. This is brought out many times in his book.

As another example: The Corning Glass Company was brought a problem by a railroad executive. The lanterns used by the men employed on the road were constantly cracking when hit by icy sleet. The railroad wanted a lantern that would take it as it came.

The Corning people started in to develop a harder glass. The job seemed simple but it took seven years; in doing this they hit on something they hadn't started out to do: make a glass so hard that food could be cooked in it. The result was Pyrex. Since that time the women of America have bought over 300 million pieces of Pyrex.

Not only did the company thus turn up a new cooking glass, but it got a start on making glass for the now famous Palomar telescope near San Diego, California.

When Henry Ford was a young man on his father's farm he "fooled" with machinery. At last, he got a big idea. He would invent a wonderful steam engine for trains which would make all other steam engines look silly. He worked long and hard—and failed. But in doing this he hit on the idea of a self-propelled internal combustion engine. So he changed over from the thing he had started to do and made a stupendous success of the thing he hadn't even dreamed of doing.

You can buy a copy of Alex Osborn's book for $3.50, plus a bit of tax. If you buy it and read it and do nothing about it, you will be wasting your time and your money; but if you really apply it, you will live a more exciting and profitable life.

How I wish I had read this book thirty years ago. It should be used as a textbook in our colleges.

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLD TIMERS

From Mrs. R. E. Thomas, Clarkton, N. C.: I remember the doctor would ask for a piece of corn bread, a plate and a knife. He would turn plate bottom up and with knife he would work some beaten-up drugs and bread together into rolls, cut rolls into little bits and with fingers he would roll bits into little pills. One time my small sister brought him some ham with the plate and corn bread, and to humor her he ate the ham.

From Mrs. Melvin McLemore, Decatur, Ill.: I remember being in St. Louis when a ten cent soup bone and a fifteen cent soup "bunch" made a meal. It would include an onion, two or three potatoes, parsley, turnips or anything in the vegetable line. When we bought it, the butcher would give us a piece of lunch meat or a wiener to eat.

From Mrs. H. C. Fullerton, San Antonio, Texas: I remember when we had our "Sunday" best clothes. These were taken off as soon as we got home from Sunday school and church. Then we had our school clothes which we changed after getting home from school, to our everyday clothes. This went for shoes and hats too.

From Zaida Jones Blaine, Tuscola, Ill.: I remember when Grandma had pretty white pillow shams embroidered in red which we children thought very lovely. One was embroidered with poppies and said, "I slept and dreamed that life was beauty." The other was embroidered with morning glories and said, "I woke and found that life is duty."

From E. E. Meredith, Fairmont, W. Va.: I remember when an ivory and lace fan was a favorite gift for the girl graduate; when mother's first job in the morning was to clean the oil lamps and the lantern; when a kerosene lantern was tied to the rear axle of a farmer's wagon if he was out late at night.

Outdoorsmen Need to Guard Against Typhoid, Health Officer Says

Austin, Tex., July 2.—"Now that summer has come to Texas it is time for people who expect to enjoy camping and swimming during the warm weather to be sure that they are adequately protected against typhoid fever," according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. "Although the public health strides of recent decades have practically eliminated typhoid fever as a threat to persons living in communities with approved water supplies and good sanitation, the disease remains a real danger to those who swim, camp or picnic in remote rural areas."

"Typhoid fever is transmitted from one person to another by means of water, food or milk that has been contaminated by discharge from a patient suffering with the disease or from an apparently well typhoid carrier. "Spectacular reductions in typhoid fever cases and deaths as compared with those of a generation ago should not give the public a false sense of security. There has been 95 cases of typhoid and paratyphoid fever in Texas in 1951—in spite of community efforts to improve sanitation, isolate patients and supervise known carriers. This indicates that it is still highly desirable for individuals who may be exposed to unfavorable conditions to safeguard themselves by seeking protection at the beginning of the vacation season."

"Immunization is a simple and safe procedure. Since this immunization lasts for only three years, anyone who has not been inoculated since 1948 should receive new protection this year. In addition, persons who have never in the past availed themselves of this preventive measure should by all means do so now if they plan to participate in outdoor pleasures. All persons who are due for immunization against typhoid fever in 1951 should go to their physicians without delay if they have not already received the recommended inoculations."

Lodene Lovell of Cleburne was a visitor last week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Lovell, Mrs. Coleman Payne, of Pasadena, who had been visiting with her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Payne in Stephenville and in the Lovell home here, returned with Lodene to visit in Cleburne with Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Lovell.

Whooping Cough and Fevers Serious, but Not Necessarily Killers

Certain diseases have descriptive words which stick in the mind long after the technical name and symptoms of the disease are gone. Tetanus is distinguished by its popular name of lockjaw; typhoid fever is easily remembered as the one that's spread by the 4 Fs, food, filth, flies and fingers; undulant fever symptoms rise and fall like the waves of the sea; and pertussis is better described by the name of whooping cough.

All of these infectious diseases are caused by the germs known as bacilli. Tetanus comes from a drumstick-shaped germ which thrives in many places, though it is most prevalent in stock yards and stock pens. Given plenty of air and sunlight the germ behaves itself, when it manages to get beneath the skin of humans, however, and the skin closes over it, cutting off the air, that drumstick brews up a poison which beats out a sad tune on your nerves and muscles.

The nerves and muscles get tighter and tighter when this poison spreads through or around them and they won't stretch and send messages around the body as they are supposed to: the jaw nerves and muscles don't work right and the jaw is locked.

It takes only a tiny place for the germ to enter the body; nail, scissors, or any deep puncture wound closes more quickly than others and is possibly more likely to permit the germ to enter and shut off the air than other types, though thorough washing of all cuts and sores would be the best protection against tetanus. There are tetanus shots available which help the body in its defenses against the germ should it gain a foothold.

These advance shots for tetanus, like the advance shots for protection against typhoid, are particularly desirable for those whose work or living habits bring them into constant contact with the thriving places of the germs.

Typhoid fever is caused by a plump little germ that gets into the digestive tract by means of food, fingers, flies or filth. From the digestive tract it can spread throughout the body, taking about two weeks to produce the symptoms of typhoid fever; these symptoms may vary a great deal but they all combine to make you feel real sick. One of the most distinguishing things about typhoid is that your fever goes up higher every day.

After about two weeks of constantly rising fever, you usually break out in a rash which consists of tiny red spots along and above the waistline. Then for the next couple of weeks the fever goes down a little every day in pretty much the same manner as it went up.

With fever running as high as it does in typhoid there may be delirium. Many complications are possible with this disease and that means constant medical supervision to prevent other illnesses from arising from typhoid. Such is the nature of the illness that even after you are over the disease, relapses are fairly common.

Sanitation and preventive shots have done much to cut down on the number of persons racked with typhoid fever; 30 years ago it was one of the leading illnesses.

Undulant fever is one of those diseases that you cannot be protected against in advance. The method of control for this disease, which is also known as brucellosis, Malta fever and Mediterranean fever, is by inspection and elimination of the cattle, goats and pigs that are infected.

The most common form of undulant fever in this country is the strain that originates with the pigs; of the three varieties of the disease, it is fortunately the mildest. But even at that, it can cause serious illness.

The germ that causes undulant fever is a combination of two types of germs and enters the body through intact skin, or by mouth from the ingestion of infectious dairy products. Most germs need a broken place on the skin to get at you, but not the germ of undulant fever. Once it gets hold of you, this germ works slowly to produce signs of sickness; you gradually feel real bad, mentally and physically. Then maybe you feel pretty good again. Then a wave of bad-feeling swoops over you. The name, undulant, is descriptive of the rise and fall of the waves.

Undulant fever may act like so many other diseases that it is not always easy to diagnose; laboratory examinations are necessary to determine for sure that undulant fever is the cause of your trouble. But it seldom kills. Rest during the waves of illness, plus special medications as your doctor advises, make up the usual treatment for undulant fever which has a way of gradually working itself out.

If undulant fever can be compared to waves of the ocean, whooping cough can be called a volcano. The rumble of cough, whoop and vomit are very much like nature at one of her more rugged moments.

Whooping cough is rugged. Though it rarely kills by itself it leads to other complications which kill or maim; pneumonia and central nervous system diseases are the most common complications.

Whooping cough kills more infants under two years of age than any of the other communicable diseases and 90 percent of all deaths traced to whooping cough complications are in children under 3 years of age. As an infant killer, whooping cough has been confined in recent years by the preventive shots which are usually given infants about 6 months of age. A child who has been exposed to whooping cough but has not had a preventive shot may be protected completely from the disease or else get a slighter case by another type of injection.
