Perennial Titleist Again Crowned In Championship Flight

In 108-degree temperature during the Labor Day week end, which drew over sixty entries in the Texas Sand Green Championship Golf Tournament, crowds from Corsicana, Fort Worth, Hamilton, and other places watched matches Sunday and Monday at Bluebonnet Country Club to determine the titleist for 1951.

J. H. (Doc) Brinkley, who has won championship title several times before on the local course, claimed honors again this year, after defeating Ray Cheek, 2 up, on 17 holes played in Monday afternoon's final. Cheek, local golfer who has also held the title before, displayed good sportsmanship and skill when he climbed from a score of 5-down in the first nine holes, to rise steadily during the last round of the course.

Brinkley, now of Fort Worth but who still considers Bluebonnet his "home course," also won medalist honors on Saturday afternoon, through qualifying with the low 18-hole score of 68.

Presentation of prizes was made by H. E. Sellers, introduced by Odis Petsick, president of the club. Acclaiming Brink as "the fairest player that you can imagine," Herbert Sellers presented him with a gift from the club, a man's wrist watch. As medalist, he was awarded a set of Wilson golf club covers. This is the only tournament Brink has played in this year, and he had to work some persuasive methods on his doctor to relax orders which have kept him practically "grounded."

Cheek, as runner-up, received an automatic percolator.

Cecil Hobbs of Dallas, consolationist in the championship flight, won a golf bag, after eliminating M. Z. Morris of Texon.

Gilbert Stubbs, last year's runner-up in the championship flight, won a metal belt for his showing in the long-driving contest, and shared honors with his 13-year-old son, Benny, winner of the third flight, who plays a mighty grow-up game of golf.

Other prizes were awarded as follows:

'Little World Series' Opens Sunday at Duffau and Iredell

By LEON LEWIS

The "Little World Series" games begin next Sunday, opening games in the Bosque Valley Baseball League to be staged at Duffau and Iredell between the four top teams. Johnsville will play at Iredell, beginning at 2:30 p. m.

This will be a Shoghtnessy playoff. These teams will play two out of three games to determine which two teams go into the final three-game playoff to see who is champion for the 1951 season.

These games will draw the largest crowds of the season for, believe me, any team can be the champion now if the breaks are with them!

I want to pay tribute to all six teams who played out the 20-game season. They have all been great sports as well as real gentlemen from beginning to end. This everyone has appreciated.

Go see these series games—they will be good and you will enjoy them. These boys have all played hard for your entertainment, so let's really turn out for these last games and find out who really is champion.

Standing for the season just ended is as follows:

Team	P	W	L	Pct.
Duffau	20	15	5	.750
Iredell	20	14	6	.700
Shiloh	20	10	10	.500
Johnsville	20	8	12	.400
Alexander	20	7	13	.350
Hico	20	5	15	.250

When S. Calhoun and son Carl came by the office last Friday to ask the price of the News Review, they decided that they had just better have it for a year.

"We've decided we've been missing something," Mr. Calhoun said, and now they want to be sure that they don't miss any bargains or opportunities that might be found in the Hico paper.

There's a story, often publicized, that tells about a number of unfortunate circumstances that can befall people who don't subscribe to the home newspaper, and the Calhouns now have their own version that substantiates this belief.

Carl found out too late last week that the Hico School Band, of which he is a member, went to his hometown of Dublin and attended the parade and rodeo as special guests. Announcement had been made in the News Review, but Carl hadn't seen it, so missed out on the trip the first night of the rodeo.

How ever he was given a pass for the next night when the rodeo officials learned of the fact. Carl was still so disappointed over missing the trip with the rest of the youngsters that he came to town with his daddy the other day to be sure that he didn't forget to enter that subscription to the News Review, as he had been intending to do for some time.

Mr. Calhoun and family moved here a year and a half ago from Dublin and were living on Hico Route 5, until recently. They have purchased the place formerly belonging to Mrs. Martha Bush, located on the old Hamilton highway, where they have completed building a new home and moved there.

Mrs. J. D. Partain and her oldest daughter, Margo, were pleasant visitors in the N. R. office Saturday morning, entering a subscription to the paper. J. D., former employe of the Corner Drug Co., has been working at Convar for about six months, making the long trip up to Cowtown and back each day. He and Raby Bruner are ought to know that road pretty well by now.

Wallace Ratliff has renewed his subscription to the News Review, and also one to his son Ross (Short) Ratliff and family who are living at Grand Prairie while he is working for Chance-Vought aircraft plant.

Mrs. W. R. Churchill, Hico Route 6, came by to renew her subscription last Friday. She was accompanied by her daughters, Mariletha and Alyce, who wanted to see about getting last Friday's paper while in town, so that Mariletha, who is in the sixth grade, could read about the opening of school at Hico.

Fort Worth's Fabulous Western Hills Hotel Formally Opens Sept. 16

Fort Worth, Sept. 4.—The new $2,000,000 Western Hills Hotel here will be formally opened Sunday, Sept. 16, with an open house to which the public is invited, H. S. (Hank) Green, the hotel's president and managing director, announced Saturday.

By the day of the formal opening, Green reported, final construction of the hotel will be completed and the last of the unique hostelry's 200 rooms will be opened to guests. The hotel, located on U. S. Highways 80, 180 and 377, six miles west of downtown Fort Worth, was opened in mid July for partial occupancy.

Arrangements for the open house program, which will extend throughout the afternoon and evening, are still incomplete, said Green, but hourly entertainment features in the hotel's patio are planned. In the evening there will be dancing on the Mexican tiled dance terrace in the patio. "Premiere" searchlights will beam from the rear of the rambling Mediterranean-type main building of the hotel.

Green predicted that by the time of the formal opening the number of guests registered by the hotel would be well over 11,000. Saturday, only seven weeks after the partial opening, more than 8,000 guests had been lodged at Western Hills.

Average occupancy of the resort-type hotel, widely acclaimed as "an innovation in modern innkeeping," has nudged the 90 per cent mark throughout the seven-week period. More than half the time, all rooms have been "sold out."

Explaining that "we hate to turn people away," Green suggested Saturday that persons wishing to stay at Western Hills would have a much better chance of obtaining rooms if they could plan their visits for the "front end" of the week—Sunday, Monday and Tuesday nights.

Funeral services were held in Rocksprings, Texas, on August 17 for John G. Blackman, age 83, prominent rancher and resident of Edwards County, who previously lived in Hico.

Born in Illinois, he moved to Texas in 1880, settling first in Hico, where he made his home with his sister, the late Mrs. B. E. Ridenhower. He lived here until he moved to Edwards County in 1901, since which time he has been very prominent in the cattle, sheep and goat industry.

Survivors include one brother, James Blackman of Chicago, Ill., and a number of nieces and nephews, among whom are Ray and S. O. Ridenhower and Mrs. Anna Jackson of Junction.

Hunters Urged to Send In Leg Bands Found on Doves

Austin, Sept. 3.—Game management folks are counting on Texas sportsmen to help give their dove-banding program a needed boost this fall.

The Director of Wildlife Restoration for Texas Game and Fish Commission said hunters can help mightily by sending in bands taken from the legs of bagged mourning doves.

"These bands, which are placed on the young doves before they leave their nests, provide game departments with vital data about the habits of this popular game bird.

When a hunter shoots a banded dove and sends in the band along with the date and place the bird was shot, the biologists refer to the original record showing where and when the bird was banded.

In this way they determine valuable information about the travel and other habits of the birds which is needed in setting hunting seasons and for other routine purposes.

The Director of Wildlife Restoration said he believed more hunters would cooperate if they understood the importance of the banding program. That comparatively few do realize this need was reflected in the records for the 1950 mourning dove season, when only 125 bands were reported.

In that year, approximately 3,000 doves were banded and it was estimated that hundreds of these doves were harvested, along with birds banded in other seasons.

The bands used this year in marking an estimated 5,000 mourning doves bear the mark: "F & W Svc., Washington, D. C."

The Director of Wildlife Restoration said hunters finding the bands may send them either to Washington or to the Game Department in Austin. He reminded sportsmen that the place and time the birds were shot is important.

Slot Machines Due to Vanish from Texas Effective as of Now

Austin, Sept. 7.—Today is S-Day for Texas law enforcement officers as the new anti-slot machine law becomes effective.

Passed by the 52nd Legislature, the new law was slated to become effective 90 days after the legislature adjourned on June 8. That's Friday, September 7.

Slot machines were the principal target of the legislature's series of anti-crime bills. The new law gives owners of those "possessing" slot machines until September 7 to get rid of such machines. After that possession of slot machines becomes a crime.

Other officers in most counties in Texas have said they intend to complete the clean up of slot machines today and seize the few machines still being operated in the state.

Federal taxes on coin-operated devices (which includes slots) have been paid on only 127 machines in Texas this year. Last year federal taxes were paid by the August 15 deadline on 9,555 machines.

SO EASY TO HANDLE

Lovely TV actress Cindy Cameron illustrates the remarkable ease of steering in the 1951 Chrysler, by turning the wheel with only fingertip pressure.

Power steering is only one of the unusual present-day automobile developments which are attracting large crowds to the Chrysler Salon in the Chrysler Building, New York City, to see the Chrysler Engineering Achievement Exhibit, which is open to the public until June 8.

Chrysler's Hydraguide Is Phenomenal Aid to Car's Proper Handling

CHRYSLER'S HYDRAGUIDE

Production of the 13,500th Chrysler equipped with Hydraguide, the revolutionary new power steering device pioneered in passenger automobiles in the 1951 Chrysler models, has been announced by Joseph A. O'Malley, General Sales Manager of the Chrysler Division, Chrysler Corporation.

"Demand for Hydraguide power steering is phenomenal and as more cars are equipped with power steering and put into the hands of owners, the demand increases rapidly," O'Malley reported.

He feels that the demand for Hydraguide will continue to increase because it is "the greatest contribution to driving safety since the introduction of four-wheel brakes."

"Power steering makes handling a car a brand new experience in safe driving," O'Malley said, "because the manual effort required is only one-fifth of that previously needed with conventional steering. Even at a standstill, the wheels can be turned with one finger, a feature gaining great favor with women drivers."

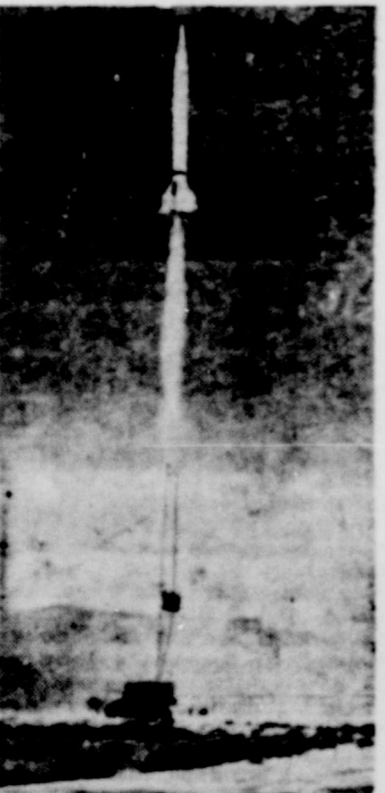

"An unusual development in connection with the introduction of Hydraguide has been the recommendation by doctors that patients with heart conditions and others under orders to avoid strains, drive only if they can obtain cars equipped with power steering units," O'Malley said.

Hydraguide steering is standard equipment on Chrysler Crown Imperial models and is available as optional equipment on Imperial, New Yorker and the newly-introduced Saratoga models.

Production of Chryslers with Hydraguide units has reached the rate of approximately 150 per day and this will be boosted as material supplies permit.

I went and saw a big rattlesnake which was being held by John McCoy who lives in the old Roberts place a short distance from town. A Story in 2 Parts—REVIVED AND CONVERTED
By STELLA JONES

"Go home to try friends and tell them how great things the Lord hath done for thee and had compassion on thee."—Mark 5:19.

These words were spoken by Jesus to the man that had the legion of devils cast out of him. We'll bring the story down to suit the present times.

Many years before our story opens, a beautiful girl and a nice-looking man married and had a beautiful courtship. Her name was Inez Brown and he was Jim Hastings.

All Bible readers are familiar with the 5th chapter of Mark, how Christ cast the devils out of the lunatic.

Jim did fine for a few years, but like a good many he took to drinking and did everything bad. He was like the man in the Bible that had the devils. He was a very mean man and had about lost all his friends.

His wife was a member of a Methodist church in the city, but she got so discouraged with him she went back on her church. She would beg him to do right and he would blaze away at her.

He was a fine mechanic and had a job in a big garage. He would do fine when he was sober. The couple had two children, a boy 10 and a girl 5. The boy had the name of Tom and the girl had the name of Pearl. Both were pretty children.

Some days he would come in and would take his spite out on them by whipping the poor little things and would strike his wife. He was nearly crazy from drink. The laws would put him in jail. He would break the bars on the windows and get out, like the man in the Bible that would break the chains. He was getting hard to tame.

Their neighbors were very tired of the noise they made. Sometimes they would say, "I guess he is not at home, as things are so quiet."

Mrs. Hastings did laundry at her home. She had a washer and a good iron. She made good money but she kept it hid—he never got any of it. Her friends she used to have went back on her and she felt very lonely.

One night in August Jim decided he would get on another big spree. Little did he think that this spree he would not take. A place had beer and other kinds of drinks. Some of the boys saw him and called him to come on and have a big time.

Down the street a piece he heard singing. "I am going down there, boys, and listen to the singing," he said. This was one of the best moves he had made in many a day. A big revival was on. A noted evangelist was holding the revival. It was out in the open air. Many souls were being saved. His text was from Amos 5:12: "Prepare to meet thy God." An old lady went to him and urged him to go to the altar. He thanked her and he went. His clothes were dirty, but he went on. The man was deeply converted. The evangelist talked and prayed with him and others helped and it wasn't very long until the light broke out in his soul and he was made happy. He shouted the praises of God. And as Jesus healed the man in the Bible and told him to go home and tell his friends, the same thing happened here. The preacher and others knew how he had done. They told him to tell his wife and children and others. He was very happy.

His wife and children had gone to bed. He went to the bathroom and took a bath and knelt down and prayed. Then he went into their bedroom and laid down on the bed beside his wife. He really thought she was asleep. He put his arms around her and found she was awake and she didn't smell anything on his breath. She thought, "What has come over him?" Finally he went to sleep. When they awoke the sun was shining bright. He looked so much better and was in his right mind.

He got up and went into the kitchen and put the coffee on and was singing. Inez got up and dressed and went in there and asked him, "What has come over you?"

"Well, Honey Girl," he replied, "I was going in a place for a drink and get on a big spree. I heard singing and I went there. The boys wanted me to come on in. I went to where the singing was and, Honey, I was happily converted and joined the church. I was so happy I repented and I shouted the praises of God. I want you to go to the meeting."

At breakfast he returned thanks. After all the homework was done he reported for work at the garage. They knew about his great change. A large number of men worked there. The manager told them that some of them could go to the service. The garage couldn't be closed so Jim and his family went to the service. It was over at noon after starting at 10 a. m. Tom couldn't understand about the change that had come over his daddy. His wife got revived.

Some of her friends wanted her to leave him, but she still had patience and stuck it out with him. The meeting was wonderful. Many souls were saved. Jim sure got the devil cast out of him but they never went into the swines.

A family that lived close by knew everything over there was very quiet. They had a boy of 12 and he and Tom played together some. His name was Alvin. He asked Tom what had happened to his daddy and he told him the old man had got religion and was so much different. "He doesn't scold us now." Alvin Inman was a little wild sometimes. He said to Tom, "If religion could tame such a mean man as your dad, I believe I want it." The boys went to their homes as it was nearly service time. Jim couldn't get off from the garage this time, so his wife and children went. They had a car and she could drive.

All the people around them had heard of the change in him. Tom invited Alvin to go with them. Alvin had a sister, age 16, whose name was Clara but she wasn't interested. At the night service all the Inman family went and Alvin was happily converted. Jim would tell the men at the garage what wonderful things the Lord had done for him and his family. Some would tell him they would wait and see if his stuck. The meeting was wonderful, with large crowds attending every service.

Homework is hard work for young eyes. Plenty of good light is needed to prevent eyestrain that leads to drowsiness, lack of concentration and poor grades.

Make sure your child has the advantage of enough light and the right kind of light for home study. See that the lamp on his study table is equipped with at least a 150-watt bulb and is properly shaded to spread the light and prevent glare.

To the Editor

To the News Review:

We find from last week's issue of the News Review that Mr. Archie Chandler, who for the past three or four years has been the superintendent of the Duffau school, has been employed by the Hico school. We go to church at Duffau, where Mr. Chandler also attends church. We have found this man to be a man of high ideals and I believe that he is otherwise well qualified to help mold the characters of future Hico citizens. We congratulate you, the Hico school, and Mr. Chandler and wish you all the success possible. We remain a friend of the Hico school and Mr. Chandler. Sincerely yours, ROY DERRICK.

Dr. Cox Says Children Need Physical Checkup Before Entering School

Austin, Sept. 4.—"Children are not really ready to enter school until they have had a complete physical examination," Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, reminds parents. "All boys and girls enrolling in the kindergarten or first grade classes of Texas schools should be taken to their physician, or to a public health clinic, for an immediate physical check-up if they have not had such an examination in recent months."

"It is important to act as promptly as possible. This is recommended in order to allow time for medical treatments or corrections that may be necessary before school opens. No youngster should be permitted to begin a school career with less than the best possible physical equipment."

"As most parents know, vaccination against smallpox is necessary. Those who received this immunization in infancy should be vaccinated again in order to assure a high degree of immunity and those who have never received this protection should be vaccinated without delay."

"Diphtheria immunization is also an important safeguard for all boys and girls about to enter school. Those who have never been immunized against this disease should receive toxoid shots now. Children who were inoculated against diphtheria when they were babies should now have a 'booster dose' in order to maintain their immunity at a sufficiently high level."

"Other immunizations that the individual physician may recommend are also desirable as a further health protection. Whooping cough, typhoid fever and tetanus are among the diseases against which the doctor may advise safeguards."

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLD TIMERS

From Mrs. Marie Diekhoff, Stout, Iowa: I remember when we got up early on Sunday mornings and drove seven miles to church with horses and buggy, sometimes in a bobbed and sometimes in a wagon, taking our lunch along. We ate in a school house on the way home where my parents had charge of a Sunday school which started with a very small group but grew into a large congregation.

From E. C. Wyatt, Elkins, W. Va.: I remember when shingles and clapboards were rived out of wooden blocks by a dull instrument called a frow, hence the old expression, "as dull as a frow." The boards and shingles were made smooth with a draw knife and were held in place by a wooden vise, called a shaving horse which was worked by a foot pedal. The horse had three legs, one long in front and two shorter ones behind where the workman sat.

From C. E. Picas, Chipley, Fla.: I remember the windmill or pulley on wells and then the wooden stock pumps that froze up at night and had to be thawed out with hot water every morning. And how they did squeal their complaints that sounded like a mule braying. We also made our own tallow dip candles and had a tinderbox for keeping a fire all night, using punk.

From J. Risor Camryn, Seattle, Wash.: I remember when teenage boys got up quartets and sang at night on the street corners. Small repertory, but they could harmonize. They were inspired by the popular old time minstrel shows which featured male quartets in elaborate settings.

From Gladys A. Lynn, Pittsford, N.Y.: I remember when milk sold for five cents a quart, and the big-hearted farmer would give you a huge free cup to drink while you waited at the barn for the quart you paid for.

OUT OF THE WOOD SHED

Successful Parenthood By Mrs. Catherine Conrad Edwards Associate Editor, Parents Magazine

YOUR BABY'S FOOT is made on the floor in many ways, because the foot was not designed for flat surface, but for grass, sand, earth. A cot is resilient and uneven. It is, moreover, less drafty, can be controlled for cleanliness, pins, and so forth, and gives the baby a wider rambling space than even a playpen does. This fence can be easily rigged up out of gate material and fastened to the wall. Place your cot in the corner where two sides will be protected and have the improvised fence come as high as the baby's shoulders around the other two sides. Mothers often make the mistake of thinking that a baby's foot is flat because it is so well padded. But don't worry, the arch mechanisms are all there waiting to be used when necessary. All the while he has been gripping and wriggling his toes, he has been preparing his metatarsal arches. Soon he will begin to stand on his toes to see and reach what he wants and that is a wonderful exercise for strengthening the arches. At this point it is essential that your baby should not be allowed to get over-weight as it will greatly hamper and retard his mastery of walking and seriously overburden his struggling little feet. Remember all little animals like to move; they don't like to stand. In fact, the feet are a transfer mechanism rather than a weight-bearing device. Unless a child is moving let him sit down. Nothing is so torturous as standing around shifting from one foot to the other, waiting for adults.

LAFF OF THE WEEK

Doctors Recommend Caloric Budget

HERE'S HOW TO REDUCE YOUR WAY TO GOOD HEALTH AND STILL ENJOY EATING

Calories seem much easier to understand when they are explained by means other than what they are, units of heat. So suppose you consider calories as pennies, ten calories to a penny, and take up the subject of a 1500-calorie diet as it would look in dollars and cents. You can budget this $1.50 diet just like you do your business or household finances. Every day you are given $1.50 to spend on food and just to make it a little easier you are given an extra ten per cent, 15 cents, in case you absolutely can't stretch that allowance to cover your needs; that 15 cents will be disregarded in the original reckoning, however, but you have that to fall back on occasionally. Before you start figuring how you're going to spend your salary or household allowance, you always have to take out first the money for such necessities as rent, utilities and groceries. You have to do the same thing with your diet budget. Since you must observe the rules of good nutrition, even on a diet, you first take out of your $1.50, the allotments for milk and milk products, bread, and food fats. Milk will cost you 33 cents of your budget money, bread will run 20 cents, and fats will be 17 cents. So before you start figuring you've already spent 70 cents. But you've taken care of three of the seven basic items. The other 80 cents, divided among the other four of the seven basic foods, will have to be distributed for best purposes as 18 cents for fruits, 10 cents for potatoes, and 5 cents for vegetables, leaving 47 cents for meats. Meats run awfully high in a calorie budget, even as they do in a money budget, so that really isn't as much meat as it seems; it includes eggs, too. Then you start figuring a little closer on each item to see what you can get for your money. Bread is pretty easy to figure out. You get three slices a day which should be eaten one at each meal. That takes for granted that you are eating three meals a day because if you don't this type diet won't work, anyway; it is based upon no skipping of breakfast. To provide the bulk and proper nutrition of the diet, the bread quota is usually broken down into two thin slices of enriched white bread and one thin slice of whole wheat. Bread and butter on a reducing diet may seem foreign to you if you've ever heard of before, but their inclusion is considered necessary to maintain good health while taking off a few pounds a time. Butter or margarine fortified with vitamin A is allowed in diet, encouraged on the diet, for five teaspoonsful, 5 teaspoons of French dressing, 5 teaspoons of French dressing, 5 teaspoons of salad dressing, 5 teaspoons of salad dressing is also considered the equal of one teaspoon of butter. Then on the subject of milk you are allotted one pint of whole milk a day. That includes cooking milk for all purposes. There are also substitutes for milk which may be included in the diet regularly or occasionally in place of the pint of whole milk. Since milk is supposed to be 33 "cents" of your calorie get, you could take your pick of the other items, up to 33 cents in place of a pint of milk. The values of other milk products are about as follows: Two tablespoons cream for free, 11 cents; two and a half tablespoons cottage cheese, 5 cents; one inch cube Cheddar cheese, plain or grated, 8 cents; cultured buttermilk or skim milk each 9 cents for a half-pint; a glass of fresh whole milk (ounces), 8 cents; or the big milk of the milk family, plain cream, 21 cents. You can see from such a table as that, if you don't drink normally, then there are many different ways you can substitute products which is considered essential to good health. For instance, you could use cream for your two cups of coffee and a half cup (measuring cup) of cream and use up your 21 cents that are allotted to the products; two tablespoons cream are 11 cents and a half of ice cream is 21 cents. So there is plenty of variety plenty of good food available a sensible diet. When diets are antee to take the pounds off faster than your doctor considers are they excluded these foods are considered, medically, vital good health. A good diet will reduce the weight sent over a period of time is not so drastic a change as it is a new awareness of the amount of food which you eat.

DALE CARNEGIE AUTHOR OF "HOW TO STOP WORRYING AND START LIVING"

ALBERT BOLLING, West Middletown, Ohio, some six years ago was doing a moderate business in his restaurant. Customers often were both exacting and unreasonable; it wasn't pleasant dealing with them. He was glad at times to see some of them leave; at other times, he even regretted seeing others enter. Although it did mean cash in the tiller. But of course they had to be served. And that was just the way some of the waitresses went at it—they had to serve them! One customer in particular found fault every time he came in. Either the rolls were not hot or the salad was too scanty, or the salad dressing wasn't right, or there wasn't enough ice in the water. Always something wrong. No waitress wanted to serve him. So it fell to the lot of Albert to appease this disagreeable man. Well, if it was up to him, he might as well make the best of it. So he began being exceedingly nice to the grouchy. When something was right, he agreed, made an apology. He thanked him for telling him when anything went wrong, said they would do better next time. By and by, that customer came in with a different attitude. He felt important and he enjoyed it. Too, he enjoyed eating with those who made him feel important. In time, he became a really pleasant customer.

MAYOR MCGUP By John Jarvis. Comics showing Mayor McGup at a convention and a woman saying 'GULP!' and 'YES, I IMAGINE THEY'RE BREAKING IN A NEW PILOT!!'

THE BAFFLES By Mahoney

There are some who are gentle through mere politeness or aversion to strife. Others just do not care to exert themselves and would rather give way than assert their own or another's rights. These types of gentleness, however, do not command much respect. On the other hand, to meet someone who is never cruel or mean, never exacting or domineering, is to encounter a person truly fit to be admired and imitated. Such people are unselfish to a high degree. They know the humility of self-control. They know the need for self-mortification in modeling oneself after Christ. It is easy to recognize gentle souls. They never pass harsh judgments. They are always lenient in their attitude toward others. They never hold grudges. They expect neither honors nor favors, but are content with little. Above all, they possess patience, which has been called the truest fortitude. In a world of strife and greed, gentleness would seem to have no place. But long ago a famous Roman philosopher wrote: "Gentleness and affability conquer at the last." It is significant that the Holy Spirit came in the form of a dove.

A SHORT STORY BY JANE W. CLAUSEN

THE RIB BONE

IT WAS a complete blow to Agnes' husband and mother-in-law when she told them the news.

Up to that point the evening had been uneventful and commonplace. Agnes had arrived home just before dinner and dinner had been on time. Mum had everything ready as always and the three of them had eaten with the usual amount of talk.

Mum had complained of her feet and declared she must go to the chiropodist. Peter said she should make an appointment the next day.

"Well," said Mum, "what with food so high, I thought I'd wait until you were working again."

"Now, don't you worry about that. I've a first class job all lined up."

Mum had beamed and Agnes had smiled just a regular genuine wife-like smile with no twist of the thought of Peter's months of unemployment.

Surely that had been the time for her to speak up, but she waited until after the last dish was dried and she and Mum joined Peter in the living room.

"I might as well tell you now," she said, sitting in the shadows, and Mum's face clouded instantly and Peter grew serious. "I'm out of work."

"Oh . . ." came the mournful monosyllable from Mum. Peter said nothing for a moment. "That old hen has had it in for me for a long time and all it took was one more complaint from Mrs. Dobson. She comes in the beauty parlor looking for trouble!"

"Don't worry about it, lover," said Peter. "Like I said, I've got this new job all lined up. It's a good one, too."

They listened a while to Peter extolling the virtue of the wonderful job and then settled down to a three handed game of canasta. The next morning Peter set out early and Agnes remained at home with Mum.

They sat in silence over their second cup of coffee and then the unusualness of the moment spurred Mum's tongue.

"I don't know, Agnes, but it's just as well. This is the way it should be, the wife at home, the husband out for work."

"Peter's not going to work."

"No, but it's the first time he's left this early even to look for work for months. I don't know where he gets his lazy streak. His father was a hustler and I'm not afraid of a work event yet."

Agnes laughed. "I know, Mum, but don't be too hard on him. Peter's Peter!"

"He is that!" vowed Mum. "A fine handsome man he is, but you'll admit he's been comfortable living on what you could make, along with my small pension."

"That's why I got fired!" Mum looked at her daughter-in-law with a new respect in her eye.

"I figured just what you've been figuring and I decided I really owed it to Peter to lose my job. So I did!"

Mum's gray head went back and she laughed until the tears rolled down her face.

They spent a long, easy day. Agnes had a leisurely bath and then used some of her training on herself and she was both beautiful and rested when Peter came home. He breeched in happily.

Mum reached him first and he planted a kiss on her cheek. Then he grasped Agnes in his arms and swung her up in the air.

"I didn't want you girls to know," he said, "but I was a bit worried last night. The way bills pour in and us with nothing in the bank."

He set Agnes down on the floor. She looked up at him and said, "So . . ." she said. "So I went right out and found a job. One that'll bring in the shekels pronto."

"Oh, Peter!" She hugged him soundly. "Oh, Peter!" echoed his mother. "What is it? When do you start?" asked Agnes.

"Hold on," said Peter merrily. "Don't jump to conclusions. It's at that new beauty salon. And you start Monday. I've got to keep myself free for that wonderful job."

Dry, hot weather, and water shortage with many, is the talk of the present. It seems that windmill and well troubles are taking their turns. Since many of the dirt tanks have gone dry, the water situation is critical for the larger cattlemen.

Scott Blakley has just finished a repair job on the mill at his residence, but since there's not sufficient wind to keep it pumping he's having to haul some water for his herd of cattle, as the dirt tanks are dry.

Dewey Sellers of Pecan was in our midst Monday seeking the assistance of his brother, Carl Ray, to help rig up a pump at the well at his home in order to water some one hundred head of livestock that were practically without water.

Olga Duncan, our efficient well driller, has been kept on the run all summer and many times help had to be secured from other places. Mr. Duncan was pulling pipe Monday at a well on the Frank Donner place and also on one at the Scott Blakley Stock Farm in the afternoon.

Yes, we'll all welcome a good rain that would at least cool the temperature and furnish stock water.

Mr. Benn Gleason underwent surgery at 10 a. m. Sunday at the Hico Hospital, with a specialist from Brownwood performing the operation. He is reported to have stood the operation fine and it is hoped he will soon be on the way to complete recovery. He has been ill for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ray Sellers and Mrs. Wesley Jones of Lanham were in Valley Mills Saturday afternoon to attend funeral services for Mr. D. L. Graves Sr., who passed away about 11 o'clock Thursday night of a heart attack. The Graves family formerly resided up in this section of the county. Mr. Graves and his son, D. L. Jr., were building contractors for the present P. L. Cox farm residence. Mr. Graves was 66 years old and is survived by his wife, four sons and one daughter and several grandchildren. He had many friends in this section. We extend sympathy to the family.

The revival meeting in progress at the Church of Christ during the past week closed Sunday night with visitors from Hico and other points. Instructive and interesting messages were delivered twice daily and it is hoped that much good was accomplished. Services were conducted by Rev. McGlash of Burnet.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Spencer and little son, Ralph Donald, of Lubbock visited from Friday until Sunday in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hoover. Mrs. Spencer had planned to stay for a week's visit, but found the temperature so much higher here than at Lubbock she decided to wait a while for cooler weather.

Our school opened Monday, with good attendance by both pupils and patrons. Mrs. Dewey Massingill and Mrs. Maude Whitson will again have charge of the luncheon. Bus drivers are Marvin Porterfield, G. T. Layman, Winfred Gardner and Otis Dams. There were thirteen new beginners this year, namely: Mary Jo Clark, Johnnie Jones, Carolyn Ruth Sellers, Jerry Owen Richardson, Nelda Irene Wood, Emma Sue Prater, Charles Eugene Sowell, Terry Max Hallie, Dixie Marie Lackey, Shirley Claudine Holley, Robert Kenneth McAdams, Rudy Melvin Oxley, and Emma Louise Cole.

We rejoice with Mr. and Mrs. Leslie New in the discharge of their son Truett from the service. He was stationed at Hamilton Air Base in California. He was in the reserves and was called back for service last year. After a visit with homefolks he returned to Fort Worth, where he was employed with Conair before re-entering the service, and took up where he left off, at the same job and with the same boss. So we feel you're quite fortunate, Truett.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ray Sellers, Carolyn and Jimmie Don, and the writer were in Dublin last Friday to see the rodeo parade and evening performance at the arena grounds.

urday night; being employed as a clerk in McGregor she could not come until after working hours Saturday. The menfolks, with Mr. Blakley, attended the Dublin Rodeo Saturday night.

The Hamilton fire department was called to the Edd Craig ranch to extinguish a grass fire Sunday, which was accidentally set when one of the Millsap boys (tenants on the ranch) was burning some trash. Neighbors gathered quickly and rendered their services with wet sacks, until the arrival of the fire trucks. Only a small acreage was burned off.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Goyno and daughters, Wilma Grace and Linda Lou, and Miss Zell Goyno attended the Loden family reunion held at the Hico City Park Saturday and Sunday. Mrs. Goyno's sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lisenby and family of Lubbock, and their married daughter, Mrs. Doris Gilbert and three daughters of San Antonio, spent the Labor Day holiday with the Goyno family.

HOW FREEDOM RINGS

America's 42 million telephones present overpowering evidence of our freedom of speech. Here, too, is stirring evidence of what private enterprise, dedicated to public service can do. History has shown that no other system can meet its challenge while sacrificing human liberty. Surely, then, freedom and free enterprise go hand in hand.

"Let's Talk Live Stock"

By TED GOULDY

Fort Worth, Aug. 31.—Heavy pressure on hog prices during the month of August has kept the porkers from rising to higher levels as they usually do in the late Summer.

The heavy pressure is traceable to the heavy receipts which have been arriving at Corn Belt and River markets. Receipts during the past two months have averaged 25,000 to 50,000 per week larger than a week ago. Slaughter of hogs is currently running 14 to 15 per cent above a year ago and late August indicates that the increase in pork production will run 15 to 20 per cent ahead of the same time a year ago.

This bears out early predictions this year that hog production was on the rise and to date, the increase appears to be larger than anticipated.

Another factor is the early arrival on the market this year of hogs that appear to be hitting the market a month ahead of normal. This early marketing seems to be due to some degree to the faster finishing of hogs through use of anti-biotics and the stimulated growth derived from their use in pig feed.

Cattle and calf trade has again been completely dominated by the stocker and feeder demand.

During the past week at Fort Worth stockers and feeders were strong to $1 higher and typical of some of the good kinds of stockers sold here were the 405 pound calves from R. H. Gaudin of Palo Pinto County. The 68 head brought $39.50. Another strong sale was the shipment of 204 calves from S. D. Howard of Nocona that averaged 458 pounds and topped at $38.50, despite the fact it was mixed steer and heifer calves.

Stocker cows moved out readily and some buying anticipation of winter wheat pastures in the High Plains and Rolling Plains sections was noted. Stocker cows sold included 64 head from E. C. Curtis of Fife in McCulloch County. They weighed 825 pounds at $30 per hundred. Calves included 59 head at 289 pounds at $38.25. Numerous loads of fleshy and fat steers sold for feeders. Included were about five loads of steers from Jack County from M. L. Stewart. These steers brought $33.

Another shipment of big steers was the 1,133-pounders from H. H. Flowers of Jackboro that sold for $34. Numerous lots of plainer kind of fleshy and fat steers and yearlings went to feeders at $28 to $32 this week.

Old-timers at Fort Worth report that out of state stocker and feeder buyers are the most numerous on the yards in years. A reason for this is the stipulation of the bankers and others who are financing the purchase of stockers that they be bought "on the market." This "on the market" policy appears to stem from the tighter credit restrictions and the fact that the financiers want to cut as much speculation out of the deal as possible.

Current day-to-day prices are at record levels for this time of year and the demand remains far from satisfied with prices so high, it is easy to understand that some caution is in order.

Leon Farms Corporation, of Fort Stockton, put a new top on slaughter ewes at $16 this week, and also on lambs with a load of $31.50. Irrigated alfalfa fields are getting top finish on sheep and lambs from there.

Demand for ewes of all ages suitable for going back to the country is very broad. Some aged, solid mouthed ewes sold to $18 and $18.50 this week. With large numbers of old ewes showing up, the careful sorting of any with spreader or broken mouths often throws a part of the load into the "stocker" class with a resultant higher price paid than if they went to packing houses.

Stockmen in some of the drouthy sections of Texas have taken their appeal for a drought rate on feedstuffs to the State Railroad Commission. Having been turned down in a direct appeal to the roads for the rate cut, this is the next step.

Good rains and showers in the High Plains and Rolling Plains added further enhancement to prospects for the winter season there. Some delay, possibly 30 to 60 days, in the movement of cattle from there will probably benefit shipments from dry sections coming to market.

select your physician with care and confidence

THE STUDY OF MEDICINE is a selective process in itself. Seven years of intensive study in college, plus one year of practice in a hospital, are the minimum requirements. It is wise to trust your precious health only to a conscientious physician of recognized standing. Avoid the quack, the charlatan, the "cure-all" type of doctor. Almost invariably they do more harm than good. Select your physician as you should your pharmacist—with care and confidence. When your physician writes a prescription, bring it to us to be filled. We are specialists at this work.

pay for a classified ad and her subscription. But then she admitted that she had obtained results on renting her apartment, and that Miss Belle Can had scored in with her. Mrs. Barrow said it was beginning to get lonesome at her house except when the kids come home, and she expects a visit from them soon, when Mutt gets to come home between semesters at the University of Texas. He will receive his bachelor's degree from that institution at the end of the fall semester in January.

Harper Pace has been missing around these parts for the past month or so, but it wasn't until this week when he came in to "donate" for subscription that we found he had moved to Morgan Mill. His mailing address is Route 1, Bluff Dale. He and his wife had been here visiting her mother, Mrs. E. A. Herrin, who has been ill and recently underwent an operation.

Mrs. J. S. Gray, 22 Irene St., Bakersfield, Calif., a former Hico girl and daughter of Mrs. S. O. Shaffer, has written a letter to accompany her subscription renewal, which will be interesting to her many friends here: Dear News Review Staff:

I must get this "decoration" on the reverse side of this letter to you immediately, even though you have never neglected to send my paper when it has expired. Have had these two greenbacks in my desk for a month, but have been too busy to send them when I would see them, then forget them when I had a little time. As you probably know through Mother, I am working again (at the Selective Service System) and we are trying to get the student situation out here straightened out. It is really a task as there are three boards in this office and we handle a "whole flock" of boys.

Mother arrived last Monday, Aug. 20, and she informs me she has forgot to tell you to stop her paper, so just hold it until she returns to Hico, in the meanwhile, she can peruse ours.

I often have to laugh at some of the things you say "We the People" tell you about the paper—sounds far-fetched and all—but Dan Shaffer learned to read the newspaper and get interested in reading "Hi-Neighbor" with the little cartoon in the Hico News Review. Now that he is such a big boy (nine years old last Friday) he reads the current events and gets much more out of the daily paper than any little boys his age, I know. Another good mark for our Hico paper besides the way Ma's and Pa's enjoy it.

Thanks.
Best regards to all,
ARIETTA GRAY.

Mrs. Roy Locker and daughter of Jonesboro renewed for another year while in town Saturday. Mrs. Locker said the family might move back here, but the young daughter seemed to have quite a few irons in the fire over there, and doesn't want to think of leaving (according to a report from one Bill Holmes, who was taking care of front office duties at the time).

D. E. Adams of Hico Route 3 came in Tuesday and handed some money over the counter to "mark up my paper a little bit."

Another subscription has been received through Miss Nannie Laurence of Hillsboro, who wrote last week requesting that the NR be sent to Mrs. Terry Hulbert of Minneapolis, Minn.

Mrs. Frank G. Lisenby of Lubbock has entered a subscription to the News Review through our agent at Fair, W. E. Goyne, who writes: "This is a sister of my boss and a former Hicoite—a smooth agent can sell these gals anything!" And more especially one's sister-in-law, eh Mr. Goyne?

R. J. Adams of Abilene, formerly of Ozona, came by the News Review Tuesday while here to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Adams, and renewed his subscription, as well as theirs.

Miss Pearl Whiteside, taking care of a duty for her nephew, came by the office this week to renew a subscription for Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Patterson. The Pattersons have recently moved from Stephenville Route 3 to Alexander, and they were waiting until their change of address to renew the News Review subscription.

Mrs. E. M. Smith, long-time subscriber who never seems to forget when renewal time comes, sent her annual check down Wednesday by her granddaughter, Miss Jean Walker of Midland, who was visiting here.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Russell dropped by Saturday afternoon to enter a subscription as a birthday present for their son, C. E. Russell, of Fort Worth.

A new subscription was entered this week through Leonard Howard, News Stand agent, for M. E. Harding, Hico Route 4. He has been buying papers from Leonard.

and decided that he ought to have the home paper also. We welcome him as a subscriber and as a new citizen of our section.

Dr. D. D. Tidwell of Brownwood is a busy man, but he always finds time to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Tidwell, at Iredell. He also finds time to renew his subscription, as he did Tuesday while on the way to his former home, and he also had his father's time marked up a year. Dr. Tidwell was accompanied on the office visit by his young son David.

W. B. McPherson Jr., who arrived here this week to teach in junior high school and assist in the athletic department at Hico High School, came by to enter a subscription for himself. He is assisting in coaching the football team, and will coach boys' basketball later on.

My Dear Sir:
I have been out of pocket most of the spring and summer trying to find a good fishing place. First trip was in March, I was tolled off to Possum Kingdom by that old buggar, "Goodie" Phillips, and we came near freezing to death. Later when the weather got too hot, I tried fishing in the Black Lake in Louisiana. And now I am just back from New Mexico but with not much good luck, but some had-blow out a casing.

But that is getting off the subject. You will please find enclosed my check for $1.50 to put me back in good standing.
Yours truly,
W. F. HOOKER.
