Hungarian jewels returned

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance formally returned the 1,000-year-old Holy Crown of St. Stephen to its Hungarian homeland today, ending a long dispute between the United States and Hungary that in many ways typified the enmities of the Cold War.

Teenagers safer on the street

School violence risks documented

WASHINGTON (AP) — Teenagers run a greater risk of personal violence in schools than on the street, particularly in junior highs, according to a new government survey.

Noting that classrooms are the safest places in schools, the three-year, $2.4 million study says students have the greatest chance of being attacked "during the between-class rush in the hallways and stairs."

"Other places that pose substantial risks are the restrooms, cafeterias, locker rooms and gyms," said the study, released Thursday by the National Institute of Education.

It noted that although teenagers spend at most 25 percent of their waking hours in school, "40 percent of the robberies and 36 percent of the assaults on urban teenagers occurred in school."

The risks are highest for youths aged 12 to 15, for whom 68 percent of the robberies and 50 percent of the assaults occurred at school, compared with less than 20 percent on the streets.

The report noted that more than 5,000 secondary school teachers are attacked in an average month, almost 1,000 of whom require a doctor's attention for their injuries.

And school authorities, it said, report only a small fraction of the incidents in which someone is hurt.

Although it said the problems of violence and vandalism in schools are still serious, the report found the incidence of those crimes leveled off in the early 1970s after climbing during the previous decade.

The institute's statistics are based on the responses by more than 4,000 elementary and secondary school principals to a mail survey.

It also inspected 642 schools and studied in detail how 10 troubled schools coped with violence.

Although admitting its estimates are probably "somewhat high," the study said they nevertheless "give some degree of the dimensions of the problem."

Congress ordered the study in 1974. In sending it to Capitol Hill, HEW Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr. said Thursday the nation cannot tolerate this "senseless violence."

He said his department is financing research on prevention of school crime plus training teams of educators and students to deal with the problems.

At the same time, Califano announced that HEW is awarding two grants totaling $45,000 to the Rev. Jesse Jackson's program to motivate students. He said he expects more federal money for such efforts in the future.

The report said rural schools are not immune from the problems of vandalism and violence, although the size of the community and risks increase with both the size of the school.

Highway robbery conviction upheld

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — The state Court of Appeals affirmed the convictions of a Los Angeles man on charges arising from a highway robbery near Deming.

Birt Dwayne Stevens was charged with robbery, car theft and aggravated battery after a Fort Worth, Texas, resident, Smith Vernon Ransom Jr., was beaten and robbed and left unconscious last Jan. 16 at the side of Interstate 10 east of Deming.

His assailants were two hitchhikers he had picked up outside of Los Angeles while driving to Texas.

Stevens and a 15-year-old juvenile were arrested a few days later in Decatur, Texas, where they were driving Ransom's car.

The juvenile was committed to the state Boys School in Springer.

Stevens was sentenced to an 11 1/2-month term in the Luna County jail on the aggravated battery conviction. He was transferred in late December to the state penitentiary to serve consecutive 2-10 year and 1-5 year terms for robbery and car theft.

Steven argued on appeal the district court should have granted a motion to suppress a statement he gave officers after his arrest.

He argued the statement was taken at a time he was represented by legal counsel. Stevens contended the attorney was not notified and was not present when Stevens made the statement.

The Appeals Court said the evidence showed the state police officer taking the statement did not know Stevens had an attorney.

The court said the officer asked Stevens if he had an attorney and was told no. The officer, before taking the statement, advised Stevens he had the right to talk to an attorney and have an attorney present during questioning, the court said.

Stevens advised the officer he understood his rights, the Appeals Court said.

"Under this evidence, there was no basis for suppressing the statement on the ground that counsel was neither notified nor present when the statement was given," said Appeals Court Chief Judge Joe Wood.

Abilene businessman goes on trial Jan. 12

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Testimony is scheduled to begin Jan. 12 in the trial of Abilene businessman Owen G. Cook, charged with defrauding the government through equipment repair contracts.

U.S. District Judge Adrian Spears set the date for the trial, which is expected to last one week, after a jury was selected Wednesday.

Cook is charged with submitting false claims for payment to Mikelco of Bandera Inc. for work done on contracts for repair of Kelly Air Force Base equipment.

Prosecution and defense attorneys said Wednesday that Jeanne Bean, a key witness in the case, has been located and subpoenaed to testify.

Mrs. Bean was described in General Services Administration administrative law court documents as assistant manager of the Bandera plant. Her husband, Robert Bean, was general manager of the plant until he died in April 1976.

Cook's attorney, Jack Paul Leon, had sought the additional time to prepare for the trial because of Mrs. Bean's testimony.

Ridin' fence

They call them Knotts

with Marj Carpenter

There's Middle Knott. There's East Knott, and there's West Knott. And it's "not" all that big to be called three different communities. Anyway, they all touch each other. And they're all Knott. Knott used not to be so isolated. It was on the curve of old Highway 9 which bent back and went to Ackerly and then bent the other way and went to Sparenberg as it wound its way from Big Spring to Lamesa.

Knott was named for a Mr. Knott. Now that makes sense. One rumor has it that Knott's Berry Farm in California is owned by some of his descendants. He laid the town out about the same time Mr. Soash was starting Soash. The first Knott store was probably started around 1912.

A William Peterson came from Soash when that community began to disintegrate and moved over to Knott and began a store there. His daughter is Angelina Shaw, mother of the Franklin, Delano, Roosevelt Shaw triplets, which may be the most famous of the Knott citizens.

The first Knott school was at the location where the old Knott Cemetery now stands in Martin County. It was then moved to West Knott and then East Knott. At one time it was consolidated with Otto and Highway Schools. They would not let it be called the Knott School so the district agreed to name it the John Nance Garner school.

However, they found out it would cost a lot to change all of the records so it was always called the Knott School anyway. And after it consolidated with Ackerly, it no longer mattered. Somebody bought the building and salvaged the bricks.

The lunchroom remains and is the Community Center for Knott. The towns used to have a dance hall, an Odd-fellow Lodge, a garage and several stores. The post office has been moved once to its present location in East Knott.

There's an old two story building in Middle Knott that was once Earl Freeman's garage. It faded after the highway left.

There are still a couple of stores and stations out there. And there are three cotton gins — Farmers Coop Gin, Seatons Gin, which is the old

EAST KNOTT ... not West Knott

MIDDLE KNOTT ... used to be on highway

Guitar Gin and Planters Gin. There's a cafe in a trailer and a couple Baptist Churches and a Church of Christ. A Baptist Mexican mission stands empty.

Some of the landowners in the Knott school district are still paying taxes on the bond issue which built the school in the mid 40s. The school is gone, but the debt remains. It's a strange community in some ways. You can bring up some old stories about the school district and still have people choose up sides.

You can bring up some funny tales like the time the bootlegger came through town and when none of the husbands is home for supper, the wives found them almost all down at the gin drunk. Some will laugh and some won't over that story. But there's still lots of folks who claim to be from Knott. And the women who live in Big Spring and Ackerly and Lamesa who used to live in Knott hold a reunion every year.

Because no matter if you were from West Knott, Middle Knott or East Knott, you're from Knott.

And that's the way I found it — out in Knotts — all three of them — where I ride fence.

In fire extinguisher business

'Very unsavory practices'

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A high official of the state fire marshal's office has told the State Insurance Board there are "some very unsavory practices" in the fire extinguisher business.

The Senate Consumer Affairs Subcommittee was to resume today its investigation of such practices and how State Fire Marshal Charles Meadows has handled them.

Bill Heaton, the fire marshal's director of operations, told the insurance board Thursday they had fired a man who was fighting hard against sleazy operators in the fire extinguisher business. He told them they had made a mistake.

Heaton was a key witness at a reinstatement hearing requested by Jim Cummings, who was fired Nov. 3 as chief of fire safety inspection. The board will decide later whether to rehire Cummings.

Meadows recommended Cummings' transfer or dismissal shortly after board chairman Hugh Yantis restored power taken from Meadows in 1976 by former chairman Joe Christie.

Since his dismissal, Cummings has publicly accused Meadows of lax enforcement of fire extinguisher laws.

"I still don't think he (Cummings) did anything to be disciplined for. I can understand how a man could be overzealous in going out and finding some of these (fire extinguisher company) practices that would turn your hair gray," Heaton said.

"In case you don't know, there are some very unsavory practices," he said.

Heaton later told a reporter he was talking about improper installation of sprinklers and similar fire extinguisher systems in places like restaurants and night clubs.

"Some are put in by jack leg installers so they won't work," Heaton said.

Yantis had Heaton read for the record a memo Yantis wrote himself after the two conversed on Nov. 7 about Cummings.

Yantis recalled that Meadows told him Heaton had said that if Cummings were fired, all other personnel problems would vanish.

"I do not recall ever recommending that he be terminated," Heaton said.

Then he came to a sentence where Yantis said, "Mr. Heaton did state in the continuing conversation that Mr. Cummings was difficult to work with and difficult to supervise and had a way of being somewhat abrasive around the office."

"Frankly I don't remember saying either one of these items. This will probably cost me my job," said Heaton, who sat one chair away from Yantis around a table.

Yantis later told reporters, "His job is in no jeopardy whatever. He's too good a man."

Speaking intensely, Heaton told the board, "I still don't think he (Cummings) did anything to be disciplined for."

Meadows testified that Cummings tried to take too many cases to court when problems with fire hazards could be rectified short of that extreme.

"You feel that Mr. Cummings over-enforced?" asked Terry Weeks, Cummings' lawyer.

"In some cases," Meadows replied.

NEW YORK (AP) — ABC News anchorman Harry Reasoner says he's bored with his $50,000-a-year job and is giving consideration to bowing out of his contract this summer.

"I'm not suddenly complaining," he said. "I don't particularly object to doing less work, but you get bored."

Reasoner, 54, could terminate his five-year contract on June 1, two years before it expires.

You could see it from the houses. When you don't see the people out there, you know the money is not coming in," Miss Mastgough said.

Amarillo man applauds Big Spring's attitude

The manager of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce said Thursday that he had expected to find Big Spring caught up in the "blahs" over the closing of Webb Air Force Base.

But after visiting in the town and with the people, Don Hileman said he was surprised to find everything "rosy" instead.

The different environment from what he had expected forced Hileman to depart from much of the text which he had prepared for the installation dinner of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce's new officers and directors. Thursday evening at the Brass Nail.

Hileman, who was chamber manager during the four years when Amarillo lost its air base and with it 30,000 people, said he found the attitude in Big Spring "truly remarkable."

The Amarillo base went through a four-year phase down period, but Hileman said he felt Amarillo recovered remarkably well after "a pretty good valley."

Department of Defense officials often use Amarillo as an example of a town which rebounded quickly from the shock of the military departure.

But Hileman said that as quickly as Amarillo recovered, it appears that Big Spring may do even much better.

"You got your ducks lined up in an awful hurry here," he said, "and you're on your way to a real good year."

Hileman said that, by all rights, he should have been fired since he "presided" (as chamber manager) over a town which had the most per capita loss of any in Texas.

He said he was amazed at the character of West Texans and received call after call from Amarillo people who said, "It's all right. We'll beat this thing. What can I do?"

Hileman, a former president of the Texas Chamber of Commerce Executives Assn., said that unit was the most important thing in being able to bounce back.

Following Hileman's short talk, outgoing chamber President Roger Brown passed the gavel to incoming President Ray Don Williams, signifying that Williams is now fully in charge of the organization for this year.

New bribery statute

'Wining and dining' lawmakers illegal

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Take an Iowa legislator out for coffee, by all means, but be sure not to talk about legislation. It could send you both to jail for five years, under a new bribery statute.

Iowa Attorney General Richard Turner says it should mean an end to "wining and dining," a time-honored tactic of lobbyists trying to get their views across to lawmakers.

The new law is so tough that "if my wife cooks me a dinner and then talks to me about capital punishment or some other issue, we both could be in violation," says Gov. Robert Ray.

The bribery statute makes it a felony to "offer, promise or give...anything of value or any benefit" to a legislator or other public official with intent to influence his "act, vote, opinion, decision or exercise of discretion."

Turner said that includes anything so insignificant as "a cup of coffee or a ride downtown from the Statehouse."

Coal strike

Three Kentucky troopers roughed up

Three Kentucky state troopers were roughed up in a scuffle with United Mine Workers strikers picketing a non-union mine in Harlan County, where seven miners were arrested in separate confrontations.

The incidents were among several Thursday as UMW strikers kept up efforts to cut off non-union coal production in Kentucky and Indiana. The union has also fended off an attempt by a rival labor union to stop UMW pickets.

The strike by 160,000 UMW members entered its 32nd day today with contract talks in Washington still broken off and no word on when they might resume.

The troopers were injured when they tried to restrain about 100 pickets gathered at a non-union mine near Totz, Ky.

"They were blocking the road and they did some damage to a miner's vehicle as he went into the mine," said state police Capt. Edgar Moss.

The troopers were scratched and bruised but returned to duty, Moss said. There were no arrests, said Moss, because "the ones responsible ran from the scene and were not identified." The mine continued to operate, Moss said.

Elsewhere in Harlan County, the driver of a non-union coal truck was forced out of his vehicle at Grays Knob. His load was dumped

Thinks Fats Are Jealous of Thins

DEAR ABBY: Your answer to TOO THIN really got to me. She said she'd tried everything, and you advised her to see a doctor. If she tried everything, I'm sure she's already seen a doctor.

I was a size 3 for years and I know exactly how this woman feels. Fat people are jealous of thin people. That's why they always comment on how thin they are.

Following surgery, my doctor told me to drink beer to relieve the pain. It worked, but I went from 105 to 176 in two years!

I am down to a size 8 now. I eat what I want, but I never eat on Mondays. That works for me.

My advice to people who are tired of hearing how thin they are is to reply, "Yes, I know I'm thin. Don't you wish YOU were?"

THIN, THANK HEAVENS

DEAR THIN: Granted there are more people who would rather lose weight than gain it, but if I had a physician who prescribed beer to relieve pain, I would lose HIM.

DEAR ABBY: Is there anything wrong with a girl making out just a little to keep a fellow interested in dating her? I don't mean a great big love scene or anything like that, just a little light necking and a couple of kisses during the evening, and maybe one extra special good-night kiss? I'm keeping my virtue as a matter of principle.

DATING NOW

DEAR DATING: That's a dangerous game. The kind of "interest" you could arouse might cost you your principle.

DEAR ABBY: I read in your column, "There's nothing wrong with keeping a Christmas tree up all year."

There's nothing wrong with it except that you may lose your life in a fire. A new pine tree can burn from bottom to top in about eight seconds! A tree that is months old will ignite the ceiling before you can reach for a fire extinguisher.

We wouldn't keep a tiger in our house, and a tiger can't go through closed doors. Fire can! The dry resinous pine needles are highly inflammable, yet people store them in their basements and attics year after year.

In Providence, R.I., fire fighters found 600 trees stored in local basements last year!

Abby, please warn your readers that pine Christmas trees should be put out of the house by Jan. 6.

ANNE W. PHILLIPS, M.D.

DEAR DR. PHILLIPS: Thank you for a timely warning. Readers should know that you are also the executive director of the National Smoke, Fire and Burn Institute, and as such you are well informed on the subject.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SWINGING IN CLEVELAND": Your suggested Eleventh Commandment, "Thou shall not get caught," is very catchy, but if you obey the first Ten, you won't need an Eleventh.

Getting married? No matter how little you have to spend or how unconventional your lifestyle, it can be lovely. Send for Abby's new booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding." Enclose $1 and a long stamped (24 cents) self-addressed envelope to Abby: 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212, for Abby's booklet "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (24c) envelope.

Who said the teen years are the happiest? For Abby's new booklet "What Teenagers Want to Know," write Abby: 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Enclose $1 and a long, stamped (24 cents), self-addressed envelope, please.

Focus on family living Sales aren't always bargains

By JANET ROGERS
County Extension Agent

January sales on children's clothing mean a bargain only if the clothes are comfortable and fit well, allow for some growth, are durable and easy care.

These sales can offer good buys on children's clothing, especially cold weather fashions, including coats, hats, boy's suits and shoes as well as general clothing items.

Check these features for comfort and good fit:
Neckline does not gape or bind.

Shoulders are wide enough for free arm movement.

Sleeves are roomy and will not pull out with strain.

Shirts and blouses are long enough to tuck in at the waist and stay tucked in.

Pant legs are short enough so the child won't trip on them.

Fabrics are soft, not stiff or scratchy.

Elastic at the waistline or wrist is not tight enough to cause red marks on the skin.

Look for these growth features in children's clothing:
Deep hems in skirts, pants and sleeves can be lengthened as a child grows taller. Remember to sew decorative stitching, rick-rack or trim to hide marks from the old hem if necessary.

Wide seams at the center back of pants allow adjustments in width.

Two-piece garments usually have more room for growth than one-piece items.

Adjustable straps and waistbands allow for increasing sizes.

Garments without a definite waistline can be worn longer than those with fitted waists.

Stretchy fabrics and knitted garments have "give" to allow for growth.

Elastic waistbands on skirts and pants provide room for growth.

For durability and care check for these features:
Wide seams that will not ravel or pull out, or on knits, narrow seams that are stitched and overcast securely.

Double stitched seams at on them.

Fabrics are soft, not stiff or scratchy.

Elastic at the waistline or wrist is not tight enough to cause red marks on the skin.

Check the labels and hang tags for terms like "machine washable, permanent press, soil release, little or no ironing, crease resistant and stain resistant."

Weight control class registration slated

The Continuing Education Department is announcing a Weight Control Class which begins Jan. 11, from 6:30-7:45 p.m. Classes will also meet on Jan. 18, 25 and Feb. 1, 8, and 15.

Dr. Wayne Bonner, Director of the Howard College Office of Counseling and Guidance, will conduct the class sessions employing behavior modification and relaxation techniques.

The class will meet in Dr. Bonner's Office in the Howard College Administration Building. The cost will be $60 and the size of the group will be limited to five persons.

Interested persons may obtain registration information by calling 267-6311, ext. 70 or 26. Specific information regarding the group session may be obtained by calling Dr. Bonner at extension 29.

Water, electricity are bad combination

COLLEGE STATION — Using electricity safely means staying "dry" — and following other precautions, warns Dr. Carolyn McKinney, a family resource management specialist.

In touching an appliance, or to switch it "on" or "off," make sure hands are dry, and stand in a dry place.

Wet hands or a puddle of water on the floor make it easy for electricity to travel through a person, the specialist says.

Dr. McKinney is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Following the same rule, do not touch an appliance at the same time you touch water or plumbing or any metal object, the specialist cautions.

For example, reaching for a dish in a sinkful of water while touching a toaster is dangerous, she explains.

Also, while in the bathtub or shower, do not operate electrical appliances, such as hair dryers and radios, she says.

When it travels, electrical current "seeks" the path of least resistance, and electrical current will travel to water — through a person if allowed to do so. However, safety precautions in use at all times can prevent that, Dr. McKinney adds.

Post donates to happiness

The Christensen-Tucker Auxiliary to Post No. 2013 met at the V.F.W. Home on Drivers Road at 7:30 p.m., Jan. 3.

Mrs. Charlotte Gilbert was welcomed as a new member. They agreed to send a monetary gift to the V.F.W. National Home at Easton Rapids, Michigan, for the "Health and Happiness" of the children.

To comply with a change in the by-laws voted at the National Convention, the auxiliary voted to raise the initiation fees from the present $2 to $3.

A tentative plan is formulated for a barbeque to be held at 6 p.m. Feb. 7. The auxiliary is to furnish the trimmings, and the post will furnish the barbeque. Members will be advised as to the progress of these plans.

The next regular meeting will be Feb. 7 at 7:30 p.m. at the V.F.W. Post Home, Drivers Rd.

Beginning needlepoint course to begin soon

A class in beginning needlepoint will be taught through the Continuing Education Department of Howard College. Ms. Susan King will teach the class.

The class will meet for six weeks, two hours per evening. Classes will begin following the close of the Spring Semester Registration on January 27. The exact dates are to be announced.

Tuition is $15, which includes supplies for the first small project.

Students may pre-register or obtain additional information by contacting the Dean of Occupational Education office, 267-6311, ext. 70 or 26.

Enrollment will be limited to fifteen persons so that each student may receive individual attention.

"The course is designed for beginners," says Ms. King, a member of the English Department at Howard College, who has taught numerous needlework classes through the Continuing Education Department.

The students will learn the basic stitches and numerous others, how to block their finished needlepoint and how to design original projects. Each student will work on one small project and one larger sample suitable for a pillow top, a picture, or a bag.

"Needlepoint is an ancient embroidery technique using yarn to cover a canvas background. It is very popular now among all ages.

Women enjoy April joke

On April 1, 1901, the 34 men of Compton, Ariz., declared that "every woman is welcome to smoke and spit and drink in the saloon and wear britches and carry a pistol." The declaration was, of course, an April fool's joke. However, the six women of Compton enjoyed the joke and carried it well into the summer. — from the Virginia Slims' Book of Days.

Joe Gamble to represent Sheriff's Posse at Ira district convention

The Howard County Sheriff's Posse held its regular monthly meeting Tuesday at their clubhouse on the Andrews Highway. President A. D. Nanny presided over the meeting.

Posse secretary Ruby Allred read the minutes and Geneva Roberts presented the treasurer's report.

Repps Guitar gave the Steer Committee Report and announced that the Posse will sponsor a Steer Roping Saturday at 1 p.m. at their arena on the Andrews Highway.

The club by-laws were discussed and Ed Cherry will take care of reproducing copies of the by-laws for each family.

Joe Gamble will represent the Posse by attending a District IV meeting to be held Jan. 4 in Ira. Plans for District IV of the American Association of Sheriff's Posses and Riding Clubs will be made at this time.

Ruby Allred presented Marka Highly, Posse Queen, with a belt buckle to wear throughout 1978 and she also presented Marka and Jean Wanner, alternate Queen, with "good luck" horseshoe trophies.

PLANNING HIS FUTURE ...

That is the crux of parenthood. We not only rear our children, providing for their needs and development, but we make important decisions that can have lasting impact on their lives.

One vital decision concerns their opportunity for spiritual growth. It is a blessing to grow up in a land where faith and freedom are revered. But it is a fact of family life that parents decide whether or not to cultivate their children's moral and religious development.

The churches of our community are eager to help you mold the convictions and character of your children. Welcome their help.

Two singing groups to appear at rally

A religious freedom rally scheduled to be held in the Big Spring City Auditorium on Monday, Jan. 9 at 8 p.m. will feature two singing groups.

Free to the public, the rally will include a gospel concert with singing provided by the Galileans of Dallas and The Dixie Echoes of Pensacola, Fla.

A Pensacola, Fla. businessman, J.G. Whitfield, will lead the rally. He is waging a public battle against the legal actions of atheist Madelyn Murray O'Hair.

According to Whitfield, "Purpose of the rally is to gain public support for the Religious Freedom Committee, the nonprofit organization, I have established to take whatever legal action may be necessary to stop this woman.

"We need the people in this area to turn out for the rally to sign petitions opposing Mrs. O'Hair's action," Whitfield continued, "and we want to bring the public up-to-date on what she is doing to deny us religious freedom."

"We Christians stood by and let her take prayer out of the schools," Whitfield stated, but she is going to have a fight on her hands in trying to take 'In God We Trust' from U.S. currency and coins."

BUMPER STICKERS AND LOVING JESUS
The sign said, "Smile if you love Jesus," so I smiled all day long, and people thought I was on President Carter's staff. Another said, "Hooray if you love Jesus," so I did, and got a ticket for violating a quiet zone. Still another said, "Wave if you love Jesus," so I waved both hands and crashed into the back of a church bus!

'He'd rather write than be president'

Silent Cal's bizarre use of words

BULLDOG — Leon Douglass, 38, has been trying to become a country music headliner for more than half his life. The dream has eluded him and at times left him bitter. But Douglass says he won't quit trying.

Douglass still dreaming, trying

WHEELING, W. Va. (AP) — Leon Douglass has a dream. He wants to be a country music headliner, to see his name in lights like Johnny Cash, Mel Tillis and Marty Robbins.

For Douglass, a native of Quad City, Ill., who now lives in Wheeling, the dream is something that's eluded him for 20 years. He was onstage recently for the 45th anniversary of Jamboree U.S.A., the weekly five-hour broadcast on radio station WWVA here.

Chasing stardom, he says, has meant "a lot of hard times, a lot of good times."

Douglass drives alone to most of his appearances. "I used to have a band," he says, "but expenses eat you up." And the road is not always easy.

"The bad times are not few and far between," he says. "I've had nights when I didn't get paid. When you went home, you didn't have rent."

"One time, I ate crackers and cheese for three days in Miami, Fla.," he recalls. "I can remember when I couldn't make my car payment. I had to take a damn bus."

At 38, Douglass realizes there are thousands like him for every Robbins or Cash.

"If I could just get that monster record, I could do it," he says, knowing full well the odds are against him. "Of the 300,000 records released this year, that's a lot of records to get that one."

At times, he says, the chase is a bitter one.

"Every guy in the business always thinks they're better than the next guy," Douglass says. "Here I am, bustin' my butt, trying to get a hit record and some dude comes out of nowhere. They just got there before I did."

Benjamin Harrison and William Howard Taft, upon leaving the White House, became magazine writers, mostly on legal and constitutional questions. Gen. Ulysses Simpson Grant, after a disastrous fling in the banking business that left him almost penniless, began churning out magazine articles about his war experiences, which led to the highly successful publication of his memoirs by Mark Twain, a $500,000 best seller.

Coolidge, a president of spectacularly few words,

PLYMOUTH, VT. (AP) — NBC's problems in finding suitable employment on a talk show for former President Ford brings to mind the almost farcical retirement project undertaken by Calvin Coolidge, who was born and reared in this cheese-making village.

Ford, it will be recalled, agreed to a $1.3 million deal with NBC for five news specials, none of which has come to pass so far because his contract with Harper & Row to publish his memoirs prevents him from discussing the presidency. Now the deal has been rejiggered and Ford will make his TV debut as an ex-president discussing foreign policy, perhaps having second thoughts about the Polish connection with the Soviets, which some think cost him the election in the debates with Jimmy Carter.

Long before David Frost coaxed Richard Nixon out of monastic seclusion in San Clemente, former occupants of the Oval Office and the big house on Pennsylvania Avenue have been sought after assiduously by the media for their words of wisdom or regret. Teddy Roosevelt laid down his elephant gun long enough to contribute occasional pieces to the Kansas City Star.

Out of office, Vermont's Great Stone Face, as the tabloids called him, curly turned down all interviews and speeches. He said he "wished to avoid being an officious intermeddler: I should like to be known as a former president who minds his own business."

Quietly, in his own hand, he set about writing his memoirs. Terse and to the point, he finished them in under four months and under 25,000 words, which Cosmopolitan magazine paid $110,000 to serialize.

"He'd rather write than be president" commented one of the wags, but the man who said "the business of America is business" was embarrassed by the record fee.

His next public use of words was even more sparing, incredibly so, and America's highest paid writer by the word offered them for free. In January 1930, the Mount Rushmore Memorial Association announced that Calvin Coolidge had undertaken to write a history of the United States from the Declaration of Independence down to his day "in 500 words or fewer" that would last for "5,000 centuries."

Coolidge's rare words would be engraved on the granite face of the Black Hills in letters "five or more inches deep" on tablets 80 feet high by 120 wide next to sculptor Borglum's gigantic faces of Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln and Teddy Roosevelt. Taller than a seven story building, the Coolidge concise history would be read like a giant's eye chart from a mile away.

The taciturn Tacitus immediately set pen to paper so his elephantine prose could be carved in place by the next July 4 (1931), when the heads of Washington and Jefferson were due to be unveiled. The first installment, released to the press by Borglum, evoked laughter and disbelief. It was riddled, but not yet chiseled, with historical errors. Silent Cal was more than speechless with anger.

United States ever dreamed up, which shows what happens when editors and producers get to messing around with a retired president.

Hawks win in ABC Classic, action continues tonight

By DANNY REAGAN
Sports Editor

The 8th Annual ABC Olympic Classic Basketball Tournament tipped off with mad fury on the hardwoods of Hawk Gym Thursday night, even though the silence of crickets reigned supreme in the stands. Playing before a crowd more sparse than parsley, the Howard College Hawks turned in their best initial quarter of the season, building up a 15-4 lead over the Sul Ross JV's with only five minutes gone in the game, and eventually coasting to a 100-92 opening-round victory. The Preybirds will see action again in the Classic tonight at 9 o'clock when they meet St. Phillips of San Antonio, 114-83 losers to Western Texas College in Thursday night's second game.

Against Sul Ross, HC's super sophomore Russell Sublet garnered two steals and 12 points before the small covey of fans had a chance to loosen up their necks. Sublet finished with a team-topping 22 points.

Board dominance by Big Joe "El Jaws" Cooper and Eugene Williams (17 points), and a canopied defense by Robby Randolph, (15 points), and Casey Wilder set the stage for an early rout. With 6:22 left in the first half, the Preybirds were up by 16, 36-20.

Sul Ross' little Ricky Enriquez (32) points, however, was the prime factor in preventing a permanent rout from taking place. HC's running game was smoking, Cooper was blocking and stuffing and Eugene Williams was looking good as his new 'fro. . . but each each time the Hawks hit, Enriquez or one of his buddies would answer with a bucket of their own.

In the third frame, Preybirds were troubled with nine turnovers (four in a row) and only the 30-foot poppers by Randolph and steals by defense-minded Allen "Chains" Bonds, kept the locals in charge.

With Elroy "Mr. Invisible" Green streaking about, Johnny James hitting classic turn-around jumpers and Cooper's mere tip-toeing to grab rebounds, the Hawks had built up their biggest lead of the night, 87-66, with just 5½ minutes remaining.

Someone set Enriquez and company's shorts on fire, however, and with just 1:13 left on the clock, Sul Ross had pulled to within eight, 97-89. Crucial shots by Wilder, Sublet, Cooper and Elmer Johnson kept the visitors just cool enough. Johnson's defense-controlled hands also thwarted SR's kamikaze comeback.

The Hawks improved their season record to 9-6 with the win. In Thursday's second game, Western Texas' Adam Beadle and Joe Mendoza fired in 20 markers each to lead the Snyderites to their easy 114-83 victory. Julio Gallardo (17), Jon Morehead (16) and Reginald Reid (15) also sparkled for WTC.

Adolph Jaynes, with 24, and William Robinson with 23, paced the St. Phillips' attack. Stevie Gordon also added 14. The loss dropped the San Antonio club to 9-2 on the year. Their only other loss came to strong McClellan. WTC rose to 11-4 with the win.

Western Texas and Sul Ross JV's square off tonight at 7 o'clock to open second round action in the tourney. To repeat, Howard College and St. Phillips clash immediately, following that contest.

Payton picked MVP

CHICAGO (AP) — Now that the Chicago Bears' season is over, star runner and offensive-line booster Walter Payton can take a break from patting others on the back.

But that just isn't the unselfish, never-say-die character of the strong, compactly built man who lunges for extra yards and helps up tacklers when they finally bring him down.

So after a panel of 84 sports writers and broadcasters had picked him on Thursday as the Associated Press' Most Valuable Player in the National Football League, his reaction was predictable.

"I can't believe it. There's so many other guys in the league that I admire and I think are super players, and for me to get it is something that seems to be unreal. I can't believe it," he said by telephone from Hattiesburg, Miss., where he was quailing.

Well, then, who would the NFL's rushing king and NFC's top scorer vote for? He sliethered past the question as deftly as he leaves potential tackler hugging air.

"It's just like a list of who's who. There's guys that play defense that play well and on offense. To name one personally would be an injustice," he said.

Payton got 57 MVP votes. Two quarterbacks, Miami's Bob Griese and Denver's Craig Morton, were tied for second with 10 apiece.

Payton's value to the Bears is beyond question. For the first time in 14 years, they reached post-season play. Their 9-5 record was their best since 1965.

Payton, only 23 years old and in his third season out of Jackson State, led the league in rushing with 1,852 yards, third best in NFL history. The rest of the team ran for just 962 yards. His 27 pass receptions were second most on the Bears. And his combined rushing-receiving yardage of 2,121 was a whopping 46 percent of the Bears' total net offense.

He also set two NFL records. His 275 yards rushing on Nov. 20 against Minnesota beat O.J. Simpson's one-game record of 273. His 339 carries for the season were seven more than Simpson's mark.

And in 1976, he led the NFC in rushing with 1,390 yards.

Red named Coach of the Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Red Miller, who guided the defense-minded Denver Broncos into the playoffs for the first time in their history — and into the Super Bowl as well — was named National Football League Coach of the Year today by The Associated Press.

Miller's team had the best American Conference record (12-2) in the regular season, then knocked off the Pittsburgh Steelers 34-21 and defending NFL champion Oakland 20-17 in the AFC title game. He received 58 of the 84 votes cast by a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters, three from each league city.

Don Shula of the Miami Dolphins received 25 votes. The remaining vote went to Leeman Bennett of the Atlanta Falcons.

By the close of the 1976 season, some of Denver's players were sufficiently unhappy to openly demand a coaching change. So Robert Miller, who had spent 17 years as an assistant coach in the pros, the last four developing New England's explosive offense, was hired.

He succeeded John Ralston as head coach of the discontented Broncos, also-rans from the day they were born in the American Football League in 1960 until last year, a team which didn't even post a winning season until 1973. It was also Miller's second term with the Broncos. He was their offensive line coach from 1963-65.

"He's one in a million," said Lyle Alzado, Denver's All-Pro defensive end. "I'd go out and die for that man."

Miller's first major move was to acquire Craig Morton, a discontented backup quarterback to Roger Staubach at Dallas and an ineffective starter with the New York Giants for a dozen years.

It was a one-for-one deal. The Broncos got Morton, the Giants got quarterback Steve Ramsey. Morton became the AFC's No. 2 passer. Ramsey was cut before the season began.

"Red is a most unusual man," said Morton. "When I first met him, I felt something special was about to happen. At our first meeting he said we were coming into a unique situation, a new quarterback and a new coach coming to a team that was 9-5. He said, 'We can do an awful lot with this team. Let's get together and do it.' I said I was excited, too."

The Broncos' season began with victories over St. Louis, Buffalo, Seattle and Kansas City. But wait, the experts said. Let's see what happens when they have to play Oakland, the defending Super Bowl champions, five-time division champions and winners in 26 of 34 games against Denver.

What happened was that Denver demolished the Raiders 30-7. The Broncos' winning streak reached six games, then Oakland beat them 24-14 — but they followed that with six more victories in a row, deposing the Raiders as AFC West champs. Denver finished the season with a 14-6 loss to the Dallas Cowboys, the team it meets in the Super Bowl Jan. 15.

Big Spring fems nipped by Mojo

ODESSA — The Big Spring girls varsity basketball squad dropped to 0-3 in District 5-4A by virtue of a 34-27 loss to the Permian fems Thursday night.

Using a different lineup on offense, the locals stayed close, but could not penetrate PHS's board dominance. The change in lineup was necessitated when three members of the squad quit the team.

Jamie Hulan led the locals with 17, while Peggie Calhoun added six and Penny Ray counted with four.

The local JV unit fell to 3-9 on the season with a 39-23 loss to the Mojo subs. Esther Rodriguez led the team with eight, as Debbie Ausbie, Pam Banks and Angie Cobb hit for three each, and Debbie Wiggins, Linda Rangel and Holly Peurifoy each bucketed two.

The local girls host Midland Lee for three games Monday. The freshmen will play in the PE gym at 4 p.m., while the JV's and varsity square off in Steer gym at 6:15 and 8 p.m., respectively.

Steers host Mojo tonight at 8

The Big Spring Steers roundball squad will play its first league home game tonight in Steer Gym against the Permian Panthers.

The Bovines are winless in district action after two games and will be entertaining a team that humiliated them last season. Many of the local players who saw Mojo run up a 52-17 halftime score against them last season are still on the squad.

Big Spring's big center Kenneth Perry may miss tonight's contest because of illness, but all other local players are physically sound.

The action begins at 4 o'clock this afternoon with a freshman game, followed at 6:15 by the junior varsity contest. The two varsity clubs start head-knocking at 8 p.m.

COLORADO SENTIMENTS — Denver Bronco coach Red Miller signs an autograph on an enthusiastic fan's car outside the practice field Thursday. The orange car was emblazoned with "Red Miller For President" slogans and Bronco bump-stickers. Miller was named today as the Associated Press Coach of the Year, after leading the Broncos to a 12-2 season record and the Super Bowl.

DENVER (AP) — Denver Broncos Coach Red Miller says he isn't worried that his team will be at a disadvantage because it is making its first appearance in the Super Bowl Jan. 15 against Dallas.

"I don't think having played in the game before means a damn thing," Miller said Thursday after the Broncos held their first major workout for the Super Bowl.

"That's what they were saying about us in the two playoff games we won—that we hadn't been there before, either."

Miller said he expects his team to "go down there and play like hell."

"This is a loose bunch. We're going down there to have a good time, and we expect to win the game."

The Broncos concentrated on offense in Thursday's workout, but quarterback Craig Morton was held out of the drills. Morton has been bothered by a badly bruised hip the past four weeks.

"I want everyone to know that Craig didn't practice," Miller said jokingly, referring to last week's charges that the Broncos provided false information about Morton's condition.

Prior to Thursday's practice game with Oakland Sunday, the Broncos had kept Morton's condition a secret, however.

Tom worried about encore

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Tom Watson was faced with the problem encountered only by those who achieve and only after the game did Miller reveal that Morton had spent 2½ days in a hospital and hadn't thrown a pass all week.

"We didn't do anything wrong," Miller reiterated Thursday. "We said he was probable and he played."

Miller said Morton may rejoin workouts on Saturday.

All other players were in pads for Thursday's practice session, which Miller called "rather methodical." Four were nursing minor injuries, however.

Linebacker Randy

Gradishar and wide receiver-kick returner Rick Upchurch still are recuperating from lingering ankle and thigh injuries, respectively, while offensive guard Paul Howard and running back Rob Lytle have thigh injuries.

The Broncos were expected to devote most of today's practice to defense, then concentrate on special teams and basic plays Saturday. Miller said the team would have Sunday off before leaving Monday for New Orleans.

most publicized. But he also won three other American titles, was fifth or better in another dozen tournaments, led the money-winners with $310,000 and won the Vardon Trophy for the best stroke average.

But he tailed off just a little at the end of the year. Charles Coody, a 40-year-old veteran whose last American victory came in the 1971 Masters, was second with a 66 that included two eagles. Frank Beard, who has played so poorly for four years he said he's considering leaving the game, and young Bill Rogers were next with 67s, 5-under-par on the sprawling, 7,305 yard Tucson National Golf Club course.

J.C. Snead and Keith Fergus shot 68s in the mild, sunny weather that graced this desert valley.

Lee Trevino shot a 70. Defending champion Bruce Lietzke and PGA title-holder Lanny Wadkins has 71s. Johnny Miller, who won this title three consecutive years before hitting the golfing doldrums last season, was well back with a struggling 74.

Watson, now 28, scaled golf's heights with his 1977 successes. The triumphs over Nicklaus in the Masters and British Open were the unmatched superiority in their chosen field of endeavor.

What do you do for an encore?

"Every golfer who's had a good season wonders and worries about it," said Watson, twice a winner in major head-to-head duels with Jack Nicklaus and the 1977 PGA Tour Player of the Year.

"Over the time you took off at the end of the year, has your game gone completely?"

"I was really very nervous starting off."

He answered those questions and calmed his nerves with a spectacular 9-under-par 63 that staked him to a 3-shot lead Thursday in the first round of the first tournament of the 1978 tour, the $200,000 Joe Garagiola-Tucson Open. It matched the best subpar effort of his pro career and, with stunning immediacy, re-established him as the game's premier performer.

Greene says fine won't help

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Mean Joe Greene says his $5,000 fine won't solve the problem that made him mad enough to slug Denver Bronco lineman Paul Howard in a nationally televised playoff game.

"The problem is holding and fining me won't solve it," said the Pittsburgh Steeler defensive tackle, who was penalized in cash for the offense, which officials at the game failed to see.

Howard had to be helped from the field after the punch, which television cameras caught. He later returned to finish the game.

Greene, who was fined $500 at midseason for launching a "crusade on the striped shirts," responded to the new fine in a telephone interview with the Pittsburgh

Post-Gazette. "I was a little bit disappointed that I was fined at all," he said from his home in suburban Dallas. "I didn't do anything wrong."

National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle announced the penalty Tuesday. Greene agreed a right uppercut belonged in a boxing ring, not on a football field.

"I don't think it's part of the game," he said. "But neither is what provoked it."

Greene, captain of the Steeler defensive team, contends that holding has been sanctioned by the NFL, giving offensive linemen an unfair advantage.

"I've talked to the officials, I've screamed, I've gotten indignant. Nothing but a one-to-one confrontation — 'Get off me! — ever worked,'" he said, predicting more outbursts from frustrated defenders.

"The fine's not going to stop it," said the nine-year veteran.

"The thing that caused it is like a cancer in the game. They can study the films and find one punch, but they can't seem to find the obvious penalties."

Greene, who met with Rozelle after a verbal attack on officials following a game in which he was called off-sides three times, said he was wrong to launch the midseason crusade.

At the time, he threatened to punch out officials if they got in his way or spike them in the spine if he got a chance.

"I went off the handle and my language was way off-base," Greene said. "I probably should have kept my damn mouth shut."

LEADING THE DEFENSE — Harvey Martin of the Dallas Cowboys, named Defensive Player of the Year by The Associated Press, bandages an ice pack to his hand after a recent workout in Dallas. The 252-pound defensive end will have his sights on Denver quarterback Craig Morton when the Cowboys meet the Broncos in the Jan. 15 Super Bowl game in New Orleans.

Vilas downs Jimmy again

NEW YORK (AP) — The man who was saying just last week that he didn't like Christmas was reaping his goodies late.

"I'm happy because it's a Christmas gift," a tired Guillermo Vilas said Thursday night after downing Jimmy Connors 6-4, 3-6, 7-5 in the second round of the $400,000 Grand Prix Masters Tennis tournament.

It was their first meeting since the U.S. Open at Forest Hills last summer, when Vilas beat the Belleville, Ill., lefthander in four sets on a disputed line call. For the record crowd of 18,590 at Madison Square Garden Thursday night, it was a tumultuous event.

Vilas had not prepared for the Masters as he had for Forest Hills, emotionally or physically. He has made it clear since before the tournament started that he was playing chiefly so he could collect the $300,000 bonus he earned by winning the most points on the 1977 Grand Prix circuit.

Connors behaved as though he hadn't played tennis in days and was chipper about his chances in the round-robin tournament.

"I'm still in there. Don't count me out," he told reporters. It wasn't the same Connors that had, a short while before, raged at a linesman that called his shot out, allowing Vilas to go up 40-30 in the ninth game. He pounded his racket on the net and screamed at the official, and the second round of the Masters looked as though it might end the same way the finals had at the Open — on a sour note.

But Connors went on to win that game, breaking Vilas' service to pull to 4-5. It was his big step back into the set.

Asked later about his behavior over line calls in the match, Connors twinkled and said sweetly, "What calls?"

Connors does indeed still have a chance in the eight-player Masters, which offers a $100,000 prize to the winner. After today's concluding regular round-robin matches, each man will have played the other three in his group.

On Saturday, the man with the best match record in each of the two groups will play the runnerup in the other group in the semifinals. The finals are set for Sunday. Semifinals and finals will be nationally televised by CBS.

Fishy Horned Frogs skewered by hot-handed Horns

By the Associated Press
Texas' 90-41 slaughter of a young Texas Christian team was not a pretty sight. TCU Coach Tim Somerville thinks Super steal

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Postal inspectors say they are investigating the apparent theft of 25 tickets to the Super Bowl to be held here Jan. 15. Authorities said that some of the tickets were mailed from the National Football League headquarters in New York while others were mailed by the New Orleans Saints' office to Saints season ticket-holders. The league said it was reissuing the tickets to the original owners and will have security guards posted at the Louisiana Superdome to watch for those using the missing tickets.

It is the fourth Super Bowl game here, but the first in the Superdome, which seats in excess of 75,000.

— or make that, hopes — it doesn't get any worse. "I don't think it can get any worse than tonight," said Somerville after Thursday night's game. The rookie coach has four freshmen in his starting lineup. "But the kids try. When you make 15 turnovers in the first half and shoot 15 per cent or whatever it was, there's not much you can do. We're a freshman team and we played like it tonight," he added.

The Horned Frogs actually shot a dismal 23 per cent in the first half as the Longhorns, now 9-2, seized a 32-12 halftime margin in the Lyle prelim set. GOLDEN, Colo. — A preliminary hearing has been set for March 13 to determine whether heavyweight boxer Ron Lyle should be bound over for trial on a charge of second-degree murder in the New Year's Eve shooting of his former trainer.

Southwest Conference opener for both teams. TCU ended the game shooting 26 per cent and trailing by 50 points at one point. In other SWC action Thursday night, Houston demolished Houston Baptist 103-51. Steve Scales, the Horned Frogs' leading scorer at 17.6 points per game before Thursday night, missed all nine of his shots from the field and finished with two points. "When Steve Scales has a bad night, we get blown out," said Somerville. Aurdie Evans had 10 points to pace the Frogs.

Meanwhile, Jim Krivacs hit 20 points and reserve guard Dave Shepard added 16 for the Longhorns, who last played on Dec. 27. "We hadn't played in a while and we were a little rusty," said Texas Coach Abe Lemons. "At least we're 1-0 for conference play. Houston must be 22-2 by now, they've played so many games."

The Cougars are actually 10-2 after their easy conquest of Houston Baptist. Mike Schultz hit 21 and Cecile Rose added 19 as the Cougars tuned up for their SWC opener Sunday against undefeated Arkansas. In Saturday's action, Baylor travels to Rice, TCU hosts Southern Methodist and Texas entertains Texas Tech.

Craig faces $$$ woes

DALLAS (AP) — Denver Broncos quarterback Craig Morton has been accused of failing to pay income taxes for the past three years in a tax lien filed by the Internal Revenue Service. The IRS filed the $34,636 lien here Dec. 27, claiming Morton failed to pay income taxes in 1974, 1975 and 1976. Morton, who will meet the Dallas Cowboys in the Super Bowl Jan. 15, also faces the possibility of having his playoff earnings garnished to pay off a $38,000 debt he allegedly owes in New York. In an action pending in state district court in Brighton, Colo., the 34-year-old Morton is accused of owing the money to Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co. of New York. Morton joined the Dallas Cowboys in 1965 and was traded to the New York Giants in 1974. He became the starting quarterback for the Broncos this season—his first with the team—and guided them to the playoffs for the first time in their 18-year history.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE
from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, JANUARY 7, 1978

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Avoid arguments in a.m., as problems would follow at intervals. Later, unexpected benefits drop into your lap; communications are good and you get correct answers to problems.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Go places where you can get good ideas for future success. Visit with some good friend. Discuss the future with pals.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Study monetary position early, but make important decisions after lunch when your judgment is best. A financial wizard advises.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Take health treatments early that make you feel fit, then off to important activities. Accept social invitations of worth.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Make plans early for the day that will prove advantageous and further your career. Evening is fine for romance.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You have the opportunity to enjoy good pals who can give you support for personal aims, so plan your itinerary early.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Handle outside chores early so you can be with congenials later for fun, or can be with important personages.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Make a friend of a different culture. Something good can come of this. Improve thinking for greater happiness.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Keep some promise early, then study new ideas. Evening is best for talking a matter over with mate. Don't lose temper.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Find out what partners have on their mind, come to real agreement. Civic work can improve your position.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Handle dreary duties early, then get into those activities later that really appeal to you. Put apparel in good shape.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Reach agreement with mate, then enjoy recreations together. Get into creative work you like. Become more active, interesting.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Home problems are best solved by getting away from them for a little while and studying them objectively. Entertain in p.m.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will have many ideas buzzing through the mind and will want to put them in operation in own inimitable fashion, so should be permitted to use the ingenuity intelligently, then upon maturity will accomplish a great deal and become a most successful person. There could be a famous author in this chart. Religious training early.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Cocaine trafficking debated

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House committee, saying it's "impossible" for the government to dam the international flow of cocaine into this country, is calling for an education campaign to curb the estimated $8 billion-a-year business.

But a White House official and a Drug Enforcement Administration spokesman disagree with the panel's finding, arguing instead that recent efforts to reduce cocaine trafficking have been successful.

In the last few months, said DEA spokesman Robert Feldkamp, authorities have made some of the largest cocaine seizures ever. A record 130 pounds of pure cocaine, worth approximately $33 million, was seized in Colombia in October, he said.

But Feldkamp and Peter G. Bourne, President Carter's special assistant for health issues, acknowledged that recent seizures represent only a tiny fraction of the estimated 15 to 20 tons of cocaine — all of it from Latin America — distributed annually in this country.

Bourne, who estimated that one million Americans may have tried cocaine, said it is difficult to convince people that cocaine poses a health hazard. "As a result, it is very hard to have (education) programs that are very effective."

Earlier Thursday, the House Select Committee on Narcotics Abuse, in issuing a report on its six-nation South American tour last August, said, "It is impossible to control the distribution of cocaine after it enters international trafficking networks."

The report described cocaine-selling networks as highly sophisticated organizations with structures and discipline resembling multinational oil or grain companies. It said widespread bribery and other corruption undermine investigative efforts.

Noting that Americans are the principal users of the illegal drug, the report said, "We must ... develop new methods of public education which will discourage potential new users and provide current users with the type of information that will encourage them to discontinue their use."

The DEA estimates the current street price for a gram, or one-28th of an ounce, of cocaine at between $60 and $100 for a blend that is about 10 percent pure.

Tim McCoy reminisces about 'cowboy stars'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Tim McCoy rode into town on a recent sunny day, looking at 86 as if he could still outdraw any varmint who dared challenge his gun.

This time Tim wasn't hunting for rustlers. He was looking for customers for his new book "Tim McCoy Remembers the West" (Doubleday, $8.95), written with his son, Ronald McCoy.

Between television and radio appearances, Tim had time to sit down and reminisce about his heyday as a western movie star.

Tim McCoy is the survivor of a colorful breed of cowboy stars in films of the 1920s and 1930s. Most of the others have died: Tom Mix, Buck Jones, Hoot Gibson, Ken Maynard, William Boyd.

Unlike most of his contemporaries, McCoy was a real Westerner. He had ridden the range as a cowboy and rancher, had served as a cavalry officer and had been befriended by the Indians.

"Tom Mix had been a cowboy on the range, but most of the others didn't really know what the West was like," McCoy said. "In fact, not many people now can remember it. That's why in my book I dwell on the West and the Indians, whom I knew well. Everyone has written about Hollywood, so I kept that part of my life at a minimum in the book."

And what a life it has been. Service in two world wars, star of MGM outdoor epics (Joan Crawford was an early costar), headliner of the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey Circus, head of his own Wild West Show, star of a television series.

Now he lives in quiet comfort at his hacienda in Nogales, Ariz. Does he mount up on Old Paint and roam the range?

"I find no pleasure in riding; I ride for work but not for pleasure. I've never been sentimental about my horse. The horse doesn't give a damn about you. If you want to know the truth — horses are dumb."

SONY'S BIG ONE

Here's the biggest Trinitron color TV yet—21" (measured diagonally). And it has a big plus—Trinitron Plus. Trinitron has always been known for a great picture but Trinitron Plus introduces you to an even greater picture. Sony engineers found a way to intensify the electron beams which "point" the picture. Also, the surface of the tube is darker to heighten contrast. Whiter whites. Darker darks. More subtle in-betweens.

Come see the biggest, brightest, sharpest Trinitron ever. You'll believe it. Trinitron Plus. "It's a Sony."
