Texas a key in effort

Farmers hear Carter

(Special to the Herald)

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Seven of the farmers from the area around Howard County got to attend President's State of the Union address last night, Larry Shaw reported in a telephone conversation with the Herald, "even though we had to stand up."

Shaw said that the most applause the President got was when he said,

"what's good for the farmers is good for the consumers."

In a morning meeting in the House Caucus room Shaw related, the farmers were told that an immediate meeting of the agriculture committees has been called. The meeting was with urban members of Congress. "They are convinced that something is wrong and that they need to do something about it."

"The leaders here have asked that people back home send telegrams to their congressmen expressing the voters' opinion on this issue," Shaw said. "I talked to a group from Georgia and Nebraska, and they felt that Texas was a key state because of its large representation in the House."

Shaw also added that it seems foreign countries may be concerned with the possibility of cutbacks in U.S. production. "The British Broadcasting Company is covering this thing, so we are getting international attention."

"Although there has been some traffic blocked and some picket lines set up, we are just trying to explain this problem to urban Congressmen the best we can," said Shaw. "There is supposed to be a tractorcade today, but the weather will probably keep it small."

"Some of our local delegation have gone home, but most of the rest will stay until Wednesday, at least," said Shaw.

Stan Smith and Marion Snell both called local contacts Thursday, to report on the farmers' movements.

"Over 15,000 farmers, including the Howard County group," said Snell, "were in the march to the main agriculture building, and talked to Vice President Mondale who was setting up a meeting of agribusinessmen with the secretary of agriculture."

Stan Smith, spokesman for the Four-County Young Farmer chapter reported that all government officials contacted were very courteous and very interested, including Mondale. "The Four-county Young Farmers support the American Agriculture Movement 100 per cent, and also support a 50 per cent lay-out of crop land," said Smith.

Farmers from the chapter who are in Washington include Reggie Hambrick, Mike Grigg, Richard Pitts, Marion Snell, Bruce Nichols, Joe Barnes, and Smith. Another Young Farmer member, David Zant, left Washington Tuesday to return home.

Other area farmers in Washington include Larry Shaw, Larry Don Shaw, Robert Nichols, and Henry Sample, all of Knott; A. D. Reed and Joe Dean Hall, both of Ackerly; Gene Perry and Kirk Perry, both of Lomax; Aubrey Langford, C. E. Boyd, and Lloyd Zant, all of Luther; Wimp Holcomb, Flower Grove; and Fred Hoelscher, Dennis Fuchs, Gary Seidenberger, and Arnie Schraeder, all from the St. Lawrence area.

Ochotorena files report

Justice of the Peace Gus Ochotorena filed his campaign treasurer designation Thursday in the county clerk's office.

Ochotorena filed to run again for Justice of the Peace, precinct 1, place 2. Thus far, he is unopposed.

Sands looking for new school superintendent

ACKERLY — The Sands Consolidated Independent School District is looking for a new school superintendent.

The contract of M.B. Maxwell Jr. was not renewed when the school board met in their January meeting.

Maxwell's current contract runs until June 30 and he will continue as superintendent until that time. He has served the school district in the position approximately 15 years.

Interested persons who would like to apply for the position should send resumes to Eddie Herm, school board president at Rt. 1, Box 112, Ackerly.

Maxwell originally joined the system as head coach when he first arrived in Ackerly. Once after he was superintendent, he completed a season for a coach who left in mid-season.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Street stripes

Q. When are the stripes to be painted back on Birdwell Lane after paving last summer? It is dangerous and difficult to tell when you are in the correct lane.

A. The stripes will be painted back on both Birdwell and Goliad as soon as the weather warms up, according to Jerry Foresyth, assistant city manager. He said that they will also need to get the streets swept prior to painting them.

Calendar: Dog show

Campus Revue '78, "Moovin' On" at 8 p.m. in the Big Spring High School Auditorium. Admission is $5.

SATURDAY
The Big Spring Kennel Club's 10th annual All Breed Dog Show and Obedience Trial begins at 8 a.m. Saturday in the Dora Roberts Fair Building and Howard County Fair Building.

Hawk Queens play the Clarendon College girls basketball team at 7:30 p.m. in Hawk Gym.

Offbeat: House Speaker misspoke

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill, D-Mass., misspoke himself Thursday night.

At a gala honoring Rep. Jack Brooks, D-Tex., for having served 25 years in Congress, O'Neill turned to Brooks' wife and said, "I always thought Barbara was the most beautiful girl in town."

In a stage whisper, Brooks murmured: "Charlotte, Charlotte, her name is Charlotte."

TV's best: Horror and fantasy

For horror show fans, the CBS 8 p.m. movie should prove interesting, as "Bug" airs on channel Seven. Large, intelligent, fire-breathing cockroaches threaten a California community. ABC also has a promising movie scheduled at 8 p.m., as Richard Montalban and Adrienne Barbeau star in the premier of "Return to Fantasy Island" on channel four.

Inside: Deadly domestic quarrel

A MAN SHATTERED a sliding glass door and burst into a Fort Worth residence firing a pistol Thursday night, killing one of the family's children and wounding three others. Police said the shooting stemmed from a domestic quarrel. See p. 10B.

GOV. DOLPH BRISCOE says he stands by his unilateral decision to hand millions of federal manpower dollars to the Governor's Office on Migrant Affairs. See p. 7A.

NOTRE DAME defensive end Ross Browner gave the No. 1 signal twice during his final collegiate football season — once when the Fighting Irish won the national championship and Thursday night when he won the Vince Lombardi Award. See p. 3B.

Gas curtailment is not threatening homes or jobs

By BOB BURTON

Jack Frost has been nipping at more than Big Spring noses during the last week. Since Wednesday night he has been nipping at the gas supply for three major Big Spring industries.

In a system-wide curtailment by Pioneer Natural Gas from their Amarillo central dispatching station, major industries over an area from Dalhart in the north to Big Spring and Midland-Odessa in the south have been curtailed by as much as 50 per cent.

"We have only curtailed our large industrial users," said Bob Mills, director of public relations for Pioneer. "We have plenty of gas, it is just as matter of pipeline capacity. With the cold weather, the gas demand rises."

Both Mills and Dearn Pittman, Pioneer district manager, reassure homeowners that they are in no danger of losing their supply.

"This is a normal operation for severe weather," elaborated Pittman. "We first draw down the heavy users and then the rest of the private industry uses. Then comes public buildings and homes are the last to go."

Pittman said that three industries now running short, Cosden Refinery, Cabot Corp., and Sid Richardson Corp., had been curtailed January 10 for a brief period, and again earlier in November.

Both Cabot and Sid Richardson plant managers said that they are curtailed approximately 40 per cent, but that they were taking advantage of the slack by servicing their production units.

"We are in no trouble at all," said Cabot plant manager Mike Atchete. "We would have no trouble keeping our people busy if this kept up for a month. We have one unit down now for servicing."

Mike Emerson, plant manager for Sid Richardson, said, "We would have to be down anyway for this routine maintenance. We are actually glad to have the opportunity to get the ship back together. We won't be under any pressure until the middle of next week."

According to Pittman, though, warm weather here may not be the sole criteria for alleviating the problem.

"Because the gas is controlled through Amarillo, cold weather in north Texas could continue the curtailment down here."

"Pioneer is fortunate to be in the position where we may have some curtailments, but we have excellent reserves and are in real good shape overall."

Wally Whittington, Cosden plant manager, emphasized that this procedure has been routine during excessive cold for the last four years.

"At this level of curtailment, our activity is unaffected. We normally provide 50 per cent of our own fuel from our processes here anyway, so when we are curtailed 50 per cent by Pioneer we lose only a quarter of our fuel. We make that up by burning fuel oil and liquefied petroleum gas.

"If our curtailment became more severe, we still would not be facing layoffs, just a decision about whether to burn more of our own, more expensive reserves."

According to Pittman, should the situation become more serious, the next industries to be curtailed are the cotton gins.

"At one point last year we had to curtail the gins," he said, "I can't remember ever having to go further than that."

Superintendent Lynn Hise said of the Big Spring public school system, "We have not been approached about possible curtailment, and to my knowledge the schools have never been cut back."

HC enrollment nearing 1,000

The spring enrollment at Howard College is somewhere between 900 and 1,000, according to Red Lewis, registrar. Mrs. Jonie Lou Avery, assistant to the president, said, "It looks like we may break a thousand and we're pleased."

Late registration continues through next week. Enrollment in the fall was 1,096, according to Lewis. The college had projected a ten per cent loss due to Webb Air Force Base students who left in the fall. The spring semester is traditionally lower than the fall.

MID-CONTINENT INN DUE TO GROW TO 93 UNITS
Construction starts in ten days on half-million dollar addition

Local motel planning $500,000 expansion

A half-million dollar building program, including the addition of 32 new tourist units, will be started within ten days at the Mid-Continent Inn located on the IS 20 bypass immediately north of town, according to Alton Taylor, inn manager.

The addition, which will be built on the back of the present structure, will bring to 93 the number of motel rooms maintained here by Mid-Continent.

The inn first opened to the public in May 1977.

Taylor said that the inn has been so favorably received by the public "that we felt the need to increase its size."

The Mid-Continent is, in reality, part of the Rip Griffin complex bordering on the Lamesa Highway and the IS bypass. The Griffin Oil Company operates the motel under the Mid-Continent banner.

Taylor reserved special praise for those local people who, he said, had been kind enough to recommend the motel to their friends and business clients. Taylor added that the construction would likely be completed in about four months.

Bill Averett, Lubbock, contractor for the original Mid-Continent units, will also build the addition to the inn.

The project will include the conversion of what was once a trucker's motel behind the Rip Griffin Truck Stop to meeting rooms for conventioners, Taylor said.

Mid-Continent here is the only motel operated by the Griffin firm but Rip owns and supervises two other truck stops in Lubbock, another in Snyder and a fourth in Liman, Colo. Griffin resides in Lubbock.

The addition will conform to the architectural style of the original structure.

Elevator blast kills 3

LIBERTY, Mo. (AP) — Three men were killed and six others were injured in an explosion and fire at a grain elevator near this Kansas City suburb. The explosion ripped through the sacking area of a warehouse at the base of two silos at the Desert Gold Feed Co. grain elevator about 9:30 p.m. Thursday. Cause of the blast was not known, although spontaneous combustion was suspected, said Paul Stump of the Liberty Fire Department. The fire continued to burn out of control in the side-by-side silos early today, said Clay County sheriff's Cpl. Duane Davidson. Firemen cleared the area because of the possibility of another explosion and because a grain fire is so difficult to put out. The charred bodies of the three men were pulled from the sacking area about two hours after the explosion, Davidson said. The explosion was the fifth to hit grain elevators in recent weeks. Nearly 50 people were killed in explosions and fires in elevators in Illinois, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas. All the blasts occurred in the same week in December.

Granddaddy Richard?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Granddaddy Richard? Grandpa Dick? It looks like the former president will be making a decision soon on what he wants to be called when his younger daughter has her first child. It happens in August, according to a close personal friend of Julie Nixon Eisenhower. Julie and her husband, David Eisenhower, live in Capistrano Beach, Calif., about 30 miles south of her father's home at San Clemente. There was no comment from her or other family members. Eisenhower is working on a book about his grandfather, former President Dwight Eisenhower, and Mrs. Eisenhower is reported to be writing a book about her mother, Pat Nixon. It would be the first grandchild for the Nixons, whose other daughter, Patricia, is married to lawyer Edward Cox.

Rembrandt recovered

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — A 300-year-old Rembrandt etching stolen this week from the Kimbell Art Museum has been recovered with minimal damage to it. The etching, entitled "Landscape With Cottage and Haybarn" and signed by the Dutch master, was turned over Thursday to museum director Dr. Richard Brown by a Denton sculptor.

Consumer prices higher

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumer prices rose a moderate 0.4 percent in December, bringing the overall rise in prices in 1977 to 6.8 percent, the government reported today. The inflation rate was about in line with what the Carter administration predicted for the year and compared with a 4.0 percent price rise in 1976. The Labor Department blamed last year's acceleration of inflation on higher food prices during the first half of the year when severe winter weather affected crops and reduced supplies. The administration originally projected consumer prices to rise 6.7 percent in 1977 but revised its forecast in April to 6.9 percent because of the weather's effect during the first three months of the year. Although inflation was higher last year than in 1976, the rate cooled during the second half of the year. Consumer prices rose at a seasonally adjusted 4.6 percent annual rate during the final three months of 1977, compared with a 10 percent annual rate in the first quarter.

Sex Pistols split, Vicious in hospital

NEW YORK (AP) — A liver condition, combined with alcohol and pills, caused Sex Pistols punk rocker Sid Vicious to lose consciousness the same day lead singer Johnny Rotten announced he was quitting the band, according to the group's road manager. "I believe he had three or four Scotches with the boys and then popped two or three Valium on the plane because he is a very nervous flyer," road manager John Tiberti said. "He has a very bad liver," he continued. "He had hepatitis shortly after he joined the group, and he should not have been drinking. But that's what makes the Sex Pistols what they are." Vicious, bass guitarist for the Sex Pistols, fell into a stupor on a Trans World Airlines flight from Los Angeles around 6 a.m. Thursday while on the way to New York. He was carried off the plane on a stretcher and hospitalized at Jamaica Hospital. Dr. Bernard Gussoff, chief of medicine and the guitarist's personal physician, said Vicious — whose real name is John Ritchie — was in stable condition and in no real danger. He said Vicious would stay in the hospital at least until today, but Gussoff added that he wanted the rocker to stay until Saturday. "He was a very nice fellow," Gussoff said. Reached at CBGB nightclub, New York's punk palace on The Bowery, Rotten said, "It means I'm carrying on and the rest are quitting."

Storm closing airports, schools

by the Associated Press
A howling storm swept up the Atlantic coast today, dumping more than 12 inches of new snow on some areas, closing airports, schools, offices and roads and virtually paralyzing New York City. A state of emergency was declared in New York City as swirling winds swept more than a foot of new snow into drifts several feet deep in many areas. Up to 20 inches of snow was expected in the city unless the snowfall changes to sleet or rain. New York's entire metropolitan area was crippled. Schools and government offices closed, all three major airports — LaGuardia, Kennedy and Newark — shut down, many Manhattan office buildings were almost deserted, and vehicular traffic was stalled or snarled. In New Brunswick, N.J., police turned back all non-emergency vehicular traffic at the city limits. Speeds were reduced to 35 mph on the New Jersey Turnpike "for anyone stupid enough to be driving," a turnpike spokesman said. The Long Island Expressway, the main thoroughfare from Long Island to New York City, was ordered closed as stalled cars littered the roadway. Commuters in Washington were running 30 minutes to an hour late as rain and sleet turned five inches of snow into a slushy mess. Dulles and National airports reported delays in flights. Philadelphia — buried under 10 inches of new snow within 12 hours — closed its airport, all public and parochial schools and state offices. State buildings in Pittsburgh and Harrisburg also shut down. However, shoving the storm ahead of it was warmer air from the South, which was turning the snow to sleet and freezing rain and, finally, just heavy rain as it moved north. Rain soaked the Southeast from Mississippi eastward Thursday and was pushing through the mid-Atlantic states early today, reaching Philadelphia several hours before dawn. The combination of warmer temperatures and rain raised another danger — local flooding — for northern sections still blanketed by snow and ice.

As it passed through Thursday, the storm dropped snow as far south as southwestern Louisiana — which had not had any for five years — and left up to five inches in northern Alabama. A squall line moved through Florida Thursday, spawning up to 20 tornadoes. However, no injuries were reported, although 40 houses were damaged. "We're not really sure all these 20 were tornadoes," said forecaster Elbert Hill of the National Weather Service. "We've had situations like this before when we've had a good squall line move through the state." Tennessee and Kentucky, which have been buried under more snow in the past couple of weeks than they sometimes get in an entire season, got another layer Thursday. Schools were closed in much of Tennessee again today. Officials in Memphis are talking about canceling the week-long spring vacation to make up for lost time. Garbage has not been collected in Memphis since Jan. 11 and residents are complaining of dogs tearing their plastic trash bags.

Kentucky was under a virtual siege Thursday night with accumulations up to 19 inches. Gov. Julian Carroll activated 300 Kentucky National Guardsmen Thursday to help officials in the Louisville area, where Jefferson County Judge Mitch McConnell warned that the government cannot do everything. "Get everybody together, get your shovels out and get your roads clear," said McConnell. "We're not helpless."

Police beat Trio linked to burglaries

With the help of an alert cashier at Mobley's cafe, local police were able to solve about 15 recent burglaries and recover a large portion of the stolen goods, and arrest a 21-year-old male and two juveniles, ages 13 and 15. The cashier noted that four boys paid their tab with old coins, and became suspicious. The police were summoned, and a patrol unit picked up the boys, three of whom later confessed to some 15 burglaries. The fourth, a 12-year-old was not charged and detectives said they had no reason to believe he was involved in the burglaries. Police also recovered $2 in old coins from a pinball machine, after learning of the boys' identities. Lt. Avery Faulkner was in charge of the investigation with detectives J. D. Carter and Tony Lujan working on the case. Faulkner said that 13 of the 15 burglaries were house break-ins, with the same method of entry — through a window in the rear of the house. Carter stated that the youths probably burglarized more homes. "They broke into so many houses that they couldn't even remember them all when we were questioning them." Mountain View Nursing Lodge reported a number of recent thefts, all having occurred in the last couple of months, but only now discovered. Billy Hendrix, director of the nursing facility reported that an electric razor valued at $40 was stolen from him, while employee Deborah Lloyd, who lives on the Sterling City Rt. reported that her billfold and contents, valued at $75, was taken while she was at work. Residents Alice Riggs, Marie Waters and Laura Procter also reported losses of a radio, coat, and cassette tape recorder. Irene Vega, 508 Lancaster, reported that someone broke the windshield and back window on her car sometime around 6:15 p.m. Thursday. Value of the damage was set at $250. Three minor accidents were reported Thursday, all occurring within a couple of hours. John Riley Arrick, 1749 Purdue, reported that a vehicle struck his car near the intersection of Scurry and W. 3rd streets around 3 p.m. Thursday. Only 15 minutes earlier, vehicles driven by Carl Haskell Matthews, Rt. 1, and Oran Henry Vick, 114 Lincoln, collided at the intersection of Johnson and E. 3rd streets. And, at 1:14 p.m., cars driven by Coni Sue Fry, Odessa, and Arrie Album Cooper, 1102 Douglas, collided at the corner of Lancaster and W. 17th streets.

Proposed lake described

Joe Pickle, public relations spokesman for Colorado River Municipal Water District, told Kiwanis members here Thursday, that the proposed new lake which the district hopes to construct will be 1 1/4 times larger than Lake Spence. He told the Kiwanians that the proposed lake, which would be between Brady and Eden, might eventually cost as much as $90 million. "When Lake Thomas was built, we thought it would provide enough water until the year 2,000 and when we saw it wouldn't, Spence was constructed. We just knew that would be plenty, but now the use of additional water is projected," Pickle said. He outlined the history of the district and how its "looking into the future" had kept the cities of West Texas with an ample supply of water.

Farm No cinch winners in show at Lamesa

LAMESA — Calf competition was tougher in the Dawson Junior Livestock Show that anyone could recall in recent years. Lambs and swine divisions also apparently were offering tough competition as the show got under way. Lambs were to be classified today with judging of swine in the afternoon. The Chamber of Commerce livestock committee had set a goal of $10,000 for premiums and was past $7,000 by midweek in its fund-raising drive. James Mitchell of Wolf-ford judged the swine today. Ken Cook, county agent from Lubbock, was classifying lambs. Cook will judge the lambs Saturday morning. Gayland Airhart is general superintendent of the show with Troy Howard head of the sheep division assisted by John Montgomery, Bennie Edwards and D.V. Phipps. Billy and Bobby Shofner head the swine division. Judging steers and heifers Saturday will be C.W. Green, Midland County agent. Superintendent of the division is Ronnie Stovall assisted by J.P. Senter and Jim Beam. Ed Crawford, assistant county agent in Lubbock, will judge for showmanship. Under Airhart, chairmen include Jerry Harris, assistant; Lee Roy Colgan, arena and ribbons; his assistant is Mrs. John Montgomery. Eddie Brown heads records assisted by John Hegi, Rick Palmer, Clem Clemens and H.H. Derstine. Publicity chairman is Mrs. Monte Griffin and announcer is Gary Jones, assisted by Cleburn Shofner.

CR provides happiness

Happiness is living in a town that produces Campus Revue. In the finale of the opening night at CR '78, the high school band students did a series of monologues on happiness, but they failed to mention that their own show is one of the happiest events on the entertainment front in Big Spring each January. Top-notch dancing, beautiful sets, enthusiasm and fine music carried the Big Spring CR '78 through its opening performance with flying colors. The theme "Moovin' On" was selected to denote the beginning of the second decade for the successful song and dance show here. It is the 11th annual event directed by Bill Bradley, band director. Assistant directors are Steve Waggoner, Bailey Young and Donna Cheatham. The Camps Review may have brought the snow, with their rain series and if that's true, they may get to go on the road. They were concerned about ticket sales tonight, although they had sold a lot of advance tickets for tonight and Saturday. Tammy, who was Dorothy, also shared solos in "Jesus Christ Superstar" with "Lynde Thames, Liz Ruiz, Rodney Young and Twayne Bledsoe, as well as Wheat. Sheri Blalock took the main solo in "America" from "West Side Story" which also featured Tammy Collier, Denise Young, Jerry Harmon, Gary Tibbs and Oscar Rubio. Angie Fulgham presented "Adelaide's Lament" from "Guys and Dolls" and also helped in the Big Spring High School days with takeoffs on local faculty handled by Jerry Clayton, Mike Donald, Brent Pearce, Gary Tibbs, Scott Vick, Victor Mellinger, Joe Meynarez, along with Richard Burrows behind a stage prop as John Smith. Russell Burchett, who sang the opener, also was featured on the guitar in "Yellow Rose of Texas" and "Country Western" along with Melody Dabney, who plays an excellent guitar and banjo. Fillers are good, and two of the best are Kim Andrews singing version of "The Elements" and Victor Mellinger's "TV Roulette." Andrews and Joe Edwards, who were the student directors of the production, are both versatile guys and sang in the opener and spoke in the finale and danced and sang their way through the middle of the show. Speakers in the finale also included Sandy Kuykendall, David Emerson, and Lynde Thames along with those in the monologue with Edwards including Patsy Gonzales, Don Hollingsworth, Joe Manley, Oscar Rubio, Scott Vick, Cynthia Washington and Paula Witte with Jerry Clayton handling the prologue, ending with Andrews.

Deaths

van Westerhoven
Services for Jan van Westhoven, 64, are set for 11 a.m. Saturday in the Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel, with burial to follow in the Trinity Memorial Park. ## Snow falling in West Texas

By the Associated Press

Snow was falling in the Texas Panhandle and across portions of West Texas early today as a winter storm moved out of the Colorado Rockies and began roaring across the state.

About one inch of snow was reported on the ground before dawn today in an area north of Amarillo. A winter storm watch was posted for most of West Texas for today and tonight.

Snow was expected in North Central Texas by evening.

A travelers advisory was issued for the Texas Panhandle and the El Paso area during the night as the snow storm moved into the state.

FORECAST Travelers advisory Panhandle and portions of the southwest today. Continue winter storm watch today and tonight all sections except extreme south.

EXTENDED FORECAST WEST TEXAS — Chances of snow and light rain southeast first of the week, otherwise no significant threat of precipitation Sunday through Tuesday.

WEATHER FORECAST — Snow is forecast today in the Northeast. Snow is also expected from the central Plains into Texas where it will change to rain. Snow flurries and showers are forecast for the Northwest. Cold weather is forecast for most of the country.

Resupply spacecraft launched

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union today launched an unmanned resupply spacecraft to dock with the manned Salyut-6 orbiting space station, the Tass news agency said.

The spacecraft, called Progress-1, will dock at the space station alongside the cosmonauts' Soyuz-27 spacecraft, Tass said.

It did not give the time of the launching or the scheduled time for docking.

Progress-1 presumably will use the same docking port used Jan. 11 by the spacecraft of two other cosmonauts fired into space on a resupply mission.

Those cosmonauts stayed aboard for five days with the first pair of spacemen and departed last Monday.

That docking marked the first time two spacecraft had linked up at the same space station. Progress-1 is intended to repeat that double docking.

The first pair of cosmonauts have now been in space aboard the Salyut station for 41 days.

Tass said the unmanned Progress spacecraft was built on the model of the Soyuz spacecraft that are used to carry cosmonauts. It said Progress-1 "is intended for transport operations to ensure long functioning of orbital space stations."

It said the aim of Progress-1 is "to carry out tests and comprehensive optimization of the design of the systems and equipment of the new automatic transport spacecraft, to exercise docking" and to bring supplies to the cosmonauts. The supplies include fuel for the Salyut power units, as well as equipment for life support and for scientific exploration and experiments, Tass said.

Tass reported earlier that the two cosmonauts — Yuri Romanenko and Georgi Grechko — were conducting medical experiments to determine how the body reacts to long-term weightlessness.

It said they conducted complex examinations of their circulatory and cardiovascular systems and other experiments.

They also conducted complex examinations of their circulatory and cardiovascular systems and other experiments.

Probation revocation when informant unidentified

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Thomas Edward Bernard's probation-revocation in Dallas must be reversed, the Court of Criminal Appeals ruled today, because the trial court refused to make the state identify an informant who allegedly set up a heroin sale.

Bernard denied he was present at his house when the alleged sale to an undercover agent took place.

The appeals court said the informant "was in a unique position to confirm or deny he had made such arrangements, to shed light on the defense of alibi, and on whether (Bernard) knowingly committed the act charged."

The prosecution is obliged to identify informants only in certain cases, one of which is when the informant is "shown to be a material witness to the transaction or as to whether (the accused) knowingly committed the act charged," the court said.

Bernard pleaded guilty to unlawful possession of heroin in 1974. He drew a three-year sentence, probated for six years.

A condition of the probation was that he commit no crime during those six years.

The state charged Bernard sold heroin to the undercover agent on Feb. 14, 1977. It sought and won revocation of his probation.

Tom Sorleys announce birth of daughter

A 7-pound, 9-ounce girl was born to Tom and Kendra Sorley in Bryan Memorial Hospital in Lincoln, Neb., at 9:18 p.m. Jan. 13. The newborn was named Elisa Ann. Sorley is a student at the University of Nebraska and quarterbacked the Cornhuskers into the Liberty Bowl Game last month. He has another year of eligibility remaining. He played his high school football in Big Spring. Paternal grandparents of the girl are Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Sorley, who are now in Lincoln. The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth DeWees, Big Spring. The infant measured 20 1/2 inches in length and is the first child born to the Tom Sorleys.

Dear Abby

Seeks Relief From Husband's Bondage

DEAR ABBY: Until I read your column today I thought I was the only woman in the world whose husband didn't trust her out of his sight. We've been married a year and I feel like a prisoner. I have my own car (which I paid for myself), but my husband carries the keys and if I have to go anywhere he insists on driving me there.

When he comes home from work I get the third degree. "Was anybody here today? Who did you talk to?" (He places the telephone cord in a certain way so he will know if the phone has been used.)

I've never lied to him and have no reason to, but he doesn't believe a thing I say. I am his fifth wife, and now I know why the first four couldn't live with him.

Please don't write me at home because he gets all the mail before I do. Just write a message to "Stuck in Penna." and tell me what to do.

STUCK

DEAR STUCK: Obviously you are able to write, so if you really want out of that miserable marriage, write to a friend or relative and ask them to come and get you. You appear to fear your husband, so if you have reason to believe that he's capable of doing you bodily harm, ask whoever is coming to rescue you from this tyrant to bring along police protection.

If you have no one to whom you can write, tell your husband you want to leave, and if he doesn't give you the keys to your car, telephone the police (or sheriff) and ask THEM to come and get you.

DEAR ABBY: I am the office manager for a law firm and have several women working under me. Is there in existence anywhere a standard dress code for the office?

I realize that times are changing, and office attire is more casual now, but surely there must be a limit to some of the "get-ups" women are allowed to wear to the office. I have an extremely difficult time getting the idea across to some of my girls. Can you help?

FORT WORTH

DEAR FORT: For what it's worth, there is no "standard dress code" for all offices.

I don't know what kind of "get-up's you consider "the limit," but if you spell out specifically what you consider inappropriate attire for your office, you'll have your own dress code.

DEAR ABBY: I am in my middle 40s, single by choice, and I have an excellent position. My widowed mother lives with me and I am not lonely.

A few months ago my favorite cousin died. She was a few years older than I, and her husband was 12 years her senior. Well, the new widower has been coming here very often to visit "us." Both Mother and I agree that he is interested in ME. The problem is, I am not interested in HIM.

So far I've been able to avoid being alone with him, but he is very persistent. If he doesn't catch on pretty soon, I may have to hurt his feelings in order to discourage him. Can you give me a few pointers?

NOT FOR HIM

DEAR NOT: Keep the conversation impersonal, don't let him get you alone, stay out of his reach, and retire early. He'll get the message. (P.S. How about introducing him to a friend? One woman's leftovers can be another woman's banquet.)

'Weather Wise' workshop slated

The Center Point Home Demonstration Club met at 2 p.m., Jan. 10, at the Kentwood Center.

Hostesses for the meeting were Florence Rhotan and Ruby Rutledge. The metric system was presented by the 18 members present during roll call.

"Homicide in the Family Home" was the program presented by Joyce Orr.

Child abuse, according to Mrs. Orr, is caused by boredom and drinking often precedes acts of cruelty and violence.

The results of the 4-H Stock Show were discussed during a business meeting conducted by Mrs. Orr. Home Demonstration members traditionally man the concession stand for the event.

A "Weather Wise" material workshop on home insulation will be from 7 to 9 p.m., Feb. 10, at the TESCO Reddy Room. The workshop is open to the public.

Mrs. Wren will represent the club at the February Home Demonstration Council for District Six at the Spring Conference at Ft. Stockton. The Council will also choose three delegates to attend.

All seven Home Demonstration Clubs are asked to send in suggestions for 1978 to 1979 programs to the yearbook chairman as promptly as possible.

The Potton House has asked for volunteers to be tour guides for the historical home beginning Feb. 1. Anyone interested should contact Polly Mays.

The door prize was won by Trina Smith.

The next meeting will be at 2 p.m., Jan. 24, at the home of Olga Stamp, 1018 Bluebonnet. Mrs. Zan Ryan will be cohostess.

Lamesa youth places tenth in national design show

WACO — If one can "say it with flowers", then Kerry Bedwell of Lamesa is articulate. The 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R.T. Bedwell, Box 207, is a floral designer at heart and his talent is becoming recognized. Bedwell recently placed tenth in the national F.T.D. Design Show. The contest, sponsored by one of the world's largest floral wire services, drew 123 student entries from such schools as Texas A&M, Penn State and Ohio State.

Bedwell's entry was the first from Texas State Technical Institute in Waco where he is a student in the floriculture and ornamental horticulture technology program.

Bedwell's interest in horticulture began while he was enrolled in Distributive Education at Lamesa High School. As part of the D.E. Program, he worked part-time in a local nursery. After graduating as "Outstanding D.E. Student of 1976," and being selected as a finalist in state D.E. competition, Bedwell decided to become a florist.

His next step was to enroll at Texas State Technical Institute in Waco. For the past 15 months, he and 63 other students have studied chemistry, planted and transplanted, and developed management and customer relations skills. They have also arranged flowers and dressed potted plants for every holiday, event and party imaginable.

"I've taken every design course possible," said Bedwell, "but I consider myself a landscaper, too." Bedwell has made the vice president's honor roll several times by attaining a 3.5 grade-point average. He has also been named in "Who's Who in American Junior Colleges" for 1977-1978.

In his spare time, Bedwell works in a Waco floral shop and is a teaching assistant for evening courses in design. When in Lamesa, he works in the nursery he started in, but still finds time for photography and using his CB. Bedwell said designers in small towns earn $3-6 per hour, but in large shops in the Houston area, they may earn as much as $7.50 and more per hour. Bedwell will graduate from TSTI-Waco in May with an applied science degree in floriculture and ornamental horticulture. His future plans? "I'm going to work a while first," he said, but he quickly added, "Soon I'm going to own my own shop."

PLEASURE SHOWS as Kerry Bedwell creates an L-shaped arrangement of gladiolus and carnations during a floral design class at Texas State Technical Institute in Waco.

Show features 960 dogs

The 10th annual Big Spring Kennel Club All Breed Dog Show and Obedience Trial is scheduled for Saturday from 8 a.m. until 8 p.m. in the Dora Roberts and Howard County Fair Buildings.

Featuring some 960 dogs and a total of 993 entries, the dogs will be judged according to how closely they measure up to perfection in the standards of the breed.

Texture of the coat, firmness of muscle and bone, soundness of teeth, manner of movement and physical beauty according to breed standards are the criterion by which the animals are judged.

In the obedience trials, judgement is made on how well each dog performs a prescribed set of exercises intended to be the basis of training for useful work.

BSSH volunteers gain awards

"More than 20 years ago, someone had the idea that people in the community might be of help and bring pleasure to people in Big Spring State Hospital," said Margaret Baum, Volunteer Services director, at the Volunteer appreciation luncheon Thursday.

"Every door was locked," Mrs. Baum continued, "and volunteers, patients, and attendants were afraid. But, it wasn't long before everyone relaxed and began to have fun. This was the small beginning of local volunteerism at BSSH, which, over the next few years, attracted hundreds of volunteers to serve nearly 1,000 patients."

Mrs. Baum made the statements prior to presentation of the Fifth annual Jack Y. Smith award, the top award given to an individual volunteer.

The award went to Dolores Norred, who began volunteering in the beginning years of volunteer work, and has performed a innumerable services for the patients through the donation of her time and efforts.

Mrs. Norred also received a service bar for 2,500 hours of volunteer service this year.

A special certificate of appreciation was also presented to Ben Danley, a member of the BSSH auditorium staff who has spent a great deal of time and effort to help the volunteers.

Hour pins and bars were

Secretary of State's office reviews ballot

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Secretary of State's office is trying to straighten out a number of Texas counties on what local races will be on the ballot in this year's elections.

"There's no investigation or anything like that," said Charles Seltzer of the elections division, "but we are working with them in certification of the positions on the ballot." Seltzer said the state constitution specifies a number of district and county jobs that will be voted on this year and which ones will be on the 1980 ballot.

hides and animals, county commissioners for Precincts 2 and 4, and justices of peace.

In 1980, the offices to be on the ballot will be sheriffs, tax assessor-collectors, district attorneys, county attorneys, public weighers, county commissioners of Precincts 1 and 3, and constables.

District judges are elected according to the time at which they were appointed.

Dollar dive posted

LONDON (AP) — The dollar dropped sharply in the first hour of trading on European foreign exchanges today as dealers expressed disappointment with President Carter's State of the Union address.

By midmorning, however, the dollar recouped some of its losses and showed a fractional gain against the Swiss franc in Zurich. Dealers said profit-taking and the buying of "cheap" dollars contributed to the rise.

"It's a lot of waffle," one dealer at a major U.S. bank in London said of the president's speech. His remark was echoed by money experts across Europe.

They said the speech contained nothing new and showed no sign that the United States will tackle effectively the main cause of the dollar's decline over the past year, the huge deficit in America's balance of payments deficit.

News of Japan's $2.2 billion trade surplus for December "certainly hasn't helped the dollar," a Frankfurt dealer commented.

Midmorning quotes in major financial centers compared with prices late Thursday were 2.0070 Swiss francs in Zurich, up from 1.9985; 2.1190 Deutsche marks in Frankfurt, down from 2.1250; 4. 2875 French francs in Paris, down from 4.7470, and 872 lire in Milan, down from 873.45.

In London, the pound sterling rose very slightly, to $1.9355 from $1.9333.

Traders in Asia reported Carter's speech had little or no effect on the dollar there.

Carrillos enter prisons

By The Associated Press

Former State District Court Judge O.P. Carrillo and former Duval County Commissioner Ramiro Carrillo turned themselves over to federal authorities Thursday to begin serving prison terms after being convicted of falsifying income tax returns.

The former judge, removed from office by the Texas Legislature, reported to the U.S. Medical Center for federal prisoners at Springfield, Mo. He was sentenced to serve five years.

Ramiro Carrillo turned himself in at the La Tuna federal correctional facility near El Paso, Tex. He had received a four-year sentence.

The brothers were once part of a powerful political machine that ruled Duval County in South Texas for decades.

O.P. Carrillo reported to the same facility where former Duval County Judge Archer Parr is serving a 10-year prison term for perjury.

The late George B. Parr, known as the "Duke of Duval," his nephew, Archer, and the Carrillo brothers were politically powerful in local and state politics until federal and state investigations turned up more than 100 indictments against them and others in their organizations.

George B. Parr took his own life April 1, 1975 at a time when he was facing a federal prison term for income tax evasion.

The charges against the Carrillo brothers alleged they used Zertuche's General Store, a phony Benavides business, to illegally sell items to Duval County and used phony invoices from the store to obtain illegal payments from county and state funds.

The Carrillo brothers unsuccessfully appealed their convictions. They were allowed Thursday to report voluntarily to federal officials.

Although George B. Parr once served a federal prison term for income tax evasion in the 1930s, this is the first time that three Duval County leaders have ever been sent to prison.

Carter dubbed best dressed

NEW YORK (AP) — President Carter, who lately has not appeared in public as much in his down-home dress, tops this year's list of best dressed men, the Fashion Foundation of America says.

Carter was named the best-dressed statesman of 1978 on Sunday. World Series best-dressed statesman-of-dubbed best-dressed among sports figures. Others on the list included Gov. Meldrim Thomson Jr. of New Hampshire, singer Tony Bennett, talk show host Mike Douglas and film and theatrical producer David Merrick.

Coal strike 'progress'

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Coal operators and the United Mine Workers stand about $1.40 an hour apart in discussions of wage provisions for a new contract, the Charleston Gazette reported today.

Negotiators for the two sides were scheduled to meet today as the nationwide strike by 160,000 members of the United Mine Workers went into its 46th day.

The Gazette quoted sources close to the talks as saying that an offer by the Bituminous Coal Operators Association calls for a wage increase of $1.43 an hour over a three-year period plus a fixed increase to compensate for inflation.

Borden wildcat, Scurry confirmer

A wildcat was slated in Borden County this week with a confirmer in Scurry County.

Kimball Production Co., Houston, will attempt to reopen Ellenburger production in the current one-well Seven J (Strawn oil) field of Borden County, with the scheduling of its No. 1-522 R.C. Miller, an 8,600-foot test, 3/4-mile northeast of the original dual opener, but separated by an 8,511-foot failure and a depleted dual producer and 15 miles northeast of Gail.

Location is 1,980 feet from the south and 960 feet from the south.

The dual opener, Midwest Oil Corp. (now Amoco Production Co.) No. 1 G. A. Milliken, was finalized Jan. 14, 1969 for 218.62 barrels of 43 gravity oil through a 22-64-inch choke and Strawn perforations at 7,856-64 feet and Feb. 10, 1969 to pump 37 barrels of 40 gravity oil, plus 48 barrels of water, from Ellenburger, open hole at 8,310-16 feet.

It is also 1 1/4-miles north of the firm's No. 1-477 Don Jones in 477-97-H&TC, active Ellenburger test, which at the last report was drilling below 2,500 feet on an 8,600-foot contract.

IN SCURRY COUNTY, Cobb and Ruwwe, Midland, will drill the No. 2 McGaha as a 1/4-mile southwest stepout to the current three-well Ride (Cisco) field, but separated by a depleted producer, 3/4-mile southwest of the two-well Ride, South (Cisco) field and four miles northwest of Ira.

Location is 2,500 feet from the north and 1,500 feet from the west lines of 157-97-H&TC. Contract depth is 7,000 feet.

HOW HIGH IS YOUR E.Q.?

(Economics Quotient)

CAN YOU ANSWER THESE BASIC ECONOMIC QUESTIONS?

True False

(1.) One out of five American workers belongs to a labor union.

(2.) Producers of goods outnumber producers of services in our economy.

(3.) In 1975, the investment in equipment and facilities averaged almost $41,000 for each production worker in American industry.

(4.) Over the past decade corporate profits (after taxes) averaged less than five cents on each dollar of sales, or about 12 percent return on stockholder investments.

If you found these questions tough, your Economics Quotient, your E.Q., could probably stand some improvement.

It's important. Not just because we all face some important decisions about our economic system. But because the more you know about our system, the more you'll be able to make it work for you.

A special booklet has been prepared to help you learn more about what makes our American Economic System tick. It's fact-filled, easy reading and free. It's also an easy way to raise your E.Q..

The untaxed: 'Exemptions granted here

EDITOR'S NOTE — There is a deeply troubled town in New York's Catskill Mountains. It is an extreme case of what the spiraling growth of tax-exempt property can mean to those who must pay the tax burden. Here, in the second of a three-part series, is a look at the problem and a highly unusual and risky solution.

By LEE MITGANG
AP Urban Affairs Writer

HARDENBURGH, N.Y. (AP) — "Welcome to Hardenburgh," reads the road sign marking the boundary of this rural town. Scrawled underneath those words are others that tell the story: "Tax exemptions granted."

In the past several years, the 236 adult inhabitants, whose income averages among the lowest in New York state at under $7,000 a year, have acquired some unusual neighbors with one thing in common — most of them pay little or no property tax.

The entire town consisting of 54,000 acres is valued at $20 million for tax purposes. Here is who owns much of that land, virtually tax-free:

- The Nassau County Boy Scouts owns 1,776 acres worth $883,000.
- The "Dung Kar Gumpa," or the Society for the Preservation of Tibetan Dancing, with 655 acres worth $720,000.
- Kingdon Gould, Jr., a former European ambassador, who is entitled to a partial tax break on 8,000 acres worth $2.5 million.
- The Catskill Center for Conservation and Development is 80 percent tax-free and is owned by some of the most powerful lawyers and politicians in town supervisor also became Bishop Bourke of the New York state. The 3,723 acres are worth $1.18 million.

—The state of New York, which owns some 21,000 acres worth more than $4 million, assesses its own land at $250 an acre, or about $100 an acre less than other acreage in the town, and pays $140,000 in taxes to Hardenburgh, Ulster County and the local school district.

In sum the owners of about $10.7 million of the town's total taxable value of $20 million have found ways to reduce greatly or avoid taxes.

But someone still has to pay.

It means that Lester Bourke, who owns 192 acres of land, only 19 of which can be farmed for corn, saw his property taxes rise from $1,822 in 1974 to $5,642 last year. He figures three-quarters of his income is eaten up by the local property tax.

Bourke, who doubles as Hardenburgh's town supervisor, a year ago crowded into the town meeting hall with 211 of his 236 neighbors and did what they hope will call national attention to their problem — they were all ordained ministers of the controversial Universal Life Church which they claim grants them the right to a religious tax exemption on their property.

ULC.

"We're not trying to evade taxes. If there was no ULC, the town evacuates. We die," he told a visitor recently. "I don't think ULC should have an exemption, but they're as good as anyone else that gets them."

This minitax revolt by Hardenburgh has the blessing of town supervisor Bourke, tax assessor Bob Kerwick, who granted the exemptions, and Jay Wheeler, assessor of neighboring Liberty, which has also had its share of problems with growing tax-exempt rolls.

But the issue is rapidly coming to a head and the town is suing and being sued by almost all the major parties involved.

Round one went to New York State in December. The state Board of Equalization and Assessment sued Hardenburgh in October because the ULC exemptions would mean the state as a town property holder would have to pay $210,000 in taxes this year, or 36 percent of the town's tax burden, up from $140,000 or about 25 percent of the burden before ULC.

A lower state court ruled that Kerwick had not followed proper guidelines in determining whether the ULC was a bona fide religion under New York law. It ordered the exemptions lifted.

"The ULC members have called themselves con men. Are members of the ULC sincerely religious men?" asked one state official who also asked not to be identified.

But the same state source said tax officials generally are "not unsympathetic to their problem."

"We're sort of playing their game by bringing the matter into the courts and into public view. If we win the case, it'll set back the clock on reform for years," he said.

Hardenburgh assessor Kerwick says the ruling will be appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court if necessary. He added that "all I can tell you is I'm going to exempt my people again next September," which is when the next big school tax bill falls due. Those taxes, with all the exemptions granted, are expected to go up some 50 percent.

The September tax date is also the time when a controversial statewide forest tax exemption goes into effect which would provide a boon to Kingdon Gould, the Catskill Center and other, generally wealthy New York landholders, and further trouble for rural towns like Hardenburgh. Under the exemption, anyone who owns at least 50 acres of land and commits it to remain wilderness forever can receive an 80 percent reduction in assessed valuation.

So residents now say the Universal Life Church, which claims membership of 6.5 million across America, is their town's last hope.

Says ULC Cardinal George McClain who lives down the road in Liberty and who ordained most of the adult population in Hardenburgh: "You're into political prostitution and the only thing that'll stop it is revolt. My church offers salvation."

Briscoe defends GOMA grants action

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe says he stands by his unilateral decision to hand millions of federal manpower dollars to the Governor's Office on Migrant Affairs (GOMA).

"It was my responsibility under terms of the (federal) Comprehensive Employment Training Act to decide how the funds would be managed. I made the decision and I stand by it," Briscoe said Thursday.

Attorney General John Hill, Briscoe's leading opponent in the race for governor, says the action was a misuse of executive power.

Hill made the criticism in a pre-taped television press panel show, Texas Weekly.

"I would not have transferred funds out of the department of community affairs into the office known as GOMA," said Hill, whose office is taking part in an investigation of state handling of federal job training money.

Briscoe, however, said, "The transfer was a logical step to see that the funds were used to help those who most needed help. The office of migrant affairs will continue to help break the migrant cycle."

Ben McDonald, executive director of the Texas Department of Community Affairs (TDCA), said Briscoe did not consult him before deciding in early 1976 to skim off 19.5 cents of each manpower dollar for GOMA.

GOMA calculated that migrants represented 19.5 percent of all Texans eligible for job training under CETA.

The Austin American-Statesman quoted an unnamed GOMA employee Thursday as saying, "There is no way the migrant population makes up one-fifth of the rural poor in Texas."

Until Briscoe put GOMA in, McDonald's department was the sole agency delegated to administer manpower funds coming to state government. It has administered and evaluated CETA programs since 1974.

"We had no say... We received a copy of the letter and we just complied with it... I was not consulted about the letter," said McDonald, a Briscoe appointee who serves at the governor's pleasure.

CETA grants go to local "prime sponsors" such as cities and councils of governments in 135 counties and to the governor for the 119 "balance of state" counties.

Briscoe notified the U.S. Department of Labor on May 13, 1976, of his decision to make automatic allocations to GOMA, starting with $1 million. GOMA's cut rose to $11 million by late 1977.

This month, Briscoe suspended GOMA director Rogelio Perez for taking the Fifth Amendment at a Brownsville court of inquiry into the use of CETA funds. Perez also has been charged with forging an official document.

An audit made for TDCA criticized GOMA for issuing grants that exceeded its available manpower funds by $350,000. Auditors said GOMA and its grant holders made $1 million worth of questionable expenditures.

While GOMA officially had only seven employees, another 42 persons worked directly for the agency but were paid with CETA funds channeled through a non-profit corporation, Counterpoint, Inc.

Hill said Briscoe "perpetrated an absolute subterfuge" in the Counterpoint arrangement to make his staff seem smaller than it was.

"Certainly I would not have permitted anything like that to have taken place. That smacks of Louisiana and New Jersey, where they make an art of that kind of subterfuge, or have in the past. That's not Texas," he said.

Acting GOMA director Don Adams says he is cutting off Counterpoint's funds. Hill said if he had been governor, he would not have created GOMA in the first place without consulting the Legislature.

"This is Dolph Briscoe's baby. He fathered GOMA. That's been overlooked; I think, by many press people. This wasn't some agency that was established by the Legislature. It wasn't some other independent state agency. By independent I mean relatively independent of the governor's office," Hill said.

He also said he would have put experienced people over GOMA's manpower programs and "watched over it very carefully myself to see the money was properly applied for, that the people who were applying for it were eligible and were competent to carry out the program, and I would certainly have seen to it that the governor's office itself audited and monitored these programs."

Hill is in the unusual position of investigating activities of a wing of the governor's office while running against the incumbent chief executive.

"But realize, I can't stop being attorney general simply because I'm challenging Dolph Briscoe. I can't fail to meet my responsibilities to the people of this state, one of which is to investigate misapplication of state funds, simply because the office charged with that misapplication happens to be my political opponent," he said.

Hobbs to host stamp collectors

The High Plains Regional Philatelic Association will meet in Hobbs, N.M., Saturday, Jan. 28, it was announced today by newly elected vice president Josephine Griffith of Lamesa.

Mrs. Griffith said stamp collectors from West Texas and from New Mexico will meet at the Valley Savings & Loan Conference Room in Hobbs, beginning at 3 p.m. (Texas time), and she invited any stamp collectors in the Big Spring, Colorado

City, and Lamesa area to attend. Also on the board of directors of the club are Nonie Green and Ottis Bobbitt of San Angelo.

A film from the German Consulate, called "A Letter is Mailed", showing the work of the German Post Office will be the main part of the program, followed by an auction. James Bynum of Amarillo is president of the organization. The April meeting will be held in Lubbock.

Attorney should know about case

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — One of two men assigned by Gov. Dolph Briscoe to help probe possible wrongdoing in manpower training grants was attorney for a suspended Briscoe staffer as recently as Monday.

Briscoe said Thursday he had contracted with former Austin District Attorney Bob Smith and George Fred Lee, a former FBI agent in the Austin FBI office to aid in the investigation.

As recently as Monday, Smith was lawyer for Joaquin Rodriguez, whom Briscoe suspended as program director for the Governor's Office of Migrant Affairs (GOMA).

Rodriguez is charged in Brownsville with tampering with a witness in a court of inquiry into alleged misapplication of federal Comprehensive Employment Training Act funds, including money flowed through GOMA.

Travis County District Attorney Ronald Earle said there was a possibility other charges might be filed here.

Earle said he understood that Smith had dropped Rodriguez' case, and gubernatorial press secretary Bob Bain said, "My information is he never take the case."

Steve Brittain, chief of Earle's Special Crimes Division, said, "The investigation will begin in the Governor's Office of Migrant Affairs so that that agency can resume normal aid to migrant workers in Texas as quickly as possible."

Attorney General John Hill also has contributed two veteran investigators to the probe, which Earle is coordinating.

Bain said Smith and Lee "are going to be reimbursed for services through a contract with the governor's office."

"I selected these individuals because of their strong records in law enforcement, their experience and widely recognized independence and integrity," Briscoe said.

"Mr. Smith was one of the best district attorneys in Texas for many years and is well acquainted with investigations involving governmental matters," Briscoe said.

"Mr. Lee will bring to the investigation the experience, dedication and thoroughness traditionally found in those who have been associated with the FBI," he said.

Smith prosecuted several legislators and other state officials, including former House Speaker Gus Mutscher, who received a probated sentence in 1972 after being convicted of conspiracy to accept a bribe.

Smith gave up the DA's office in 1976 to run unsuccessfully for a district judgeship and now practices criminal law privately.

"The investigation is now under way. We expect it to take some time, but with the high quality of this help from the governor's office and the attorney general's office, it will be thorough," Earle said.

Roloff runaways picked up

KERRVILLE, Texas (AP) — Evangelist Lester Roloff says state welfare department officials have no authority to hold two runaways from a Roloff youth home.

The boys claim they were beaten at the home.

The two Arizona youths were placed Thursday in temporary custody of state welfare department officials, who said they were investigating it as a child abuse case.

The two boys, ages 15 and 16, were picked up by Kerrville police Wednesday as they were hitchhiking and told police they had been beaten at the home.

The Texas Department of Human Resources got temporary custody of the boys from State District Judge Bob Barton, who assigned an investigator to the case.

Roloff said the state officials had no authority to hold the youths since they had been placed in his custody by their parents.

"The parents had asked us to take them back to the home. They can't do a thing with them."

Kerrville Police Lt. Bill Beasley said the youths had bruises on their legs and buttocks. "They had some bruises and the like that lent a little credence to their story."

"They're lying," Roloff responded by phone Thursday night in Corpus Christi. "They're perpetual runaways and liars."

Police were also quoted as saying the youths had "handcuff marks on their wrists and hands."

"We might use a handcuff once or twice a year, if a boy is going to run, steal a car or kill somebody," Roloff told The Associated Press. "We have a right to secure them."

In San Antonio, health resources spokesman Ron Gossen said the case is being handled as a standard report of child abuse.

Attorney General Bell to meet with Marston

WASHINGTON (AP) — David Marston, who is fighting his removal as U.S. attorney in Philadelphia, is heading to see Attorney General Griffin Bell for a meeting that may decide how long Marston stays in his job.

Bell summoned Marston and the U.S. attorney's four top assistants to Washington to discuss the Carter administration's plans to fire the Republican prosecutor.

Today's scheduled meeting comes on the heels of new confirmation Thursday that Marston's office is investigating the law office of Rep. Joshua Eilberg, D-Pa., the congressman who urged President Carter to replace Marston.

The matter sparked a growing controversy after Carter disclosed last week that at Eilberg's urging in November he had asked Bell to speed up Marston's ouster. Bell later said he already had intended to replace him, and the administration has denied knowledge of any investigation of Eilberg until this week.

It was learned Thursday that there has been some sentiment in the Justice Department to keep Marston in his job in hopes of rescuing the administration from further embarrassment.

At least one high-ranking department official has said privately that Bell may be better off settling his differences with Marston.

The official, who asked to remain anonymous, described Marston as inexperienced in trial work and insubordinate for challenging Bell and Carter publicly.

But the official, in outlining a rationale for keeping Marston in the post, said Bell might decide it is "in the best interest of criminal justice" to retain him.

Other administration officials suggested that the 35-year-old U.S. attorney, who has 2½ years remaining in his four-year term, might be allowed to stay on until pending investigations are completed.

Marston's first assistant, Kirk Karaszewicz, said that Bell's deputy, Michael Egan, called Marston Thursday and said the attorney general wanted to meet with him.

"Nothing else was said," Karaszewicz related. The five men were scheduled to take a train to the capital and meet with Bell at 2 p.m.

Bone marrow swap for boy delayed

BOSTON (AP) — Doctor's at Children's Hospital Medical Center have postponed indefinitely a bone marrow transplant for an 18-month-old Dallas boy, who has spent most of his life in a germ-free incubator-like box.

Dr. Joel Rapoport, a bone marrow specialist from nearby Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, said the transplant was postponed because Tony Olivo had hepatitis and that Tony's brother is "not a perfect prospective donor."

Tony arrived in Boston in his germ-free container last November. He is scheduled to return to Texas this afternoon.

Doctors said the risk of post-transport complications and other considerations convinced them to wait and see if Tony could be successfully treated at home until chances of a successful transplant improve.

"If Tony is unable to remain at home without bleeding and infection, an attempt at transplantation will be made despite the increased risk," Rapoport said Thursday.

Tony, the son of Mrs. Deborah Olivo, suffers from Wiscott-Aldrich Syndrome, a hereditary blood disorder characterized by the inability to fight off infection because of an abnormality in clotting cells.

A hospital spokesman said Tony contacted hepatitis, a liver ailment, before being admitted to Children's Hospital.

Carter wants Congress to kick habit

WASHINGTON (AP) — There's nothing like a good, old-fashioned crisis to get Congress moving, President Carter wants the government to kick that habit.

That goal is perhaps more ambitious than any item on his long State of the Union agenda. There are nearly 60 proposals, with a $25 billion tax cut as the feature attraction, on the list he sent up for election-year action.

Ex-aide quotes Hughes: 'I never want to live in Texas again'

HOUSTON (AP) — A former aide to Howard Hughes says the late millionaire reclusive once stated he wanted to make Nevada his residence.

The sworn statement from Noah Dietrich filed for use in probate court here Thursday also quoted Hughes as saying, "I never want to live in Texas again."

A trial, in its sixth week before Probate Judge Pat Gregory and a six-person jury, is to determine Hughes' legal residence at the time of his death in April, 1976.

Dietrich, who handled many of Hughes' business matters from 1925 to 1967, gave the deposition last December at his Palm Springs, Calif. home.

Dietrich quoted Hughes, then living in California, as saying in the early 1950s, he wanted to live in a state with no income tax.

"I'm going to move to Nevada and make that my residence," Dietrich quoted Hughes as saying.

The Texas attorney general is seeking to prove Hughes was a legal resident of Texas although he rarely was in the state after going to California in the 1930s. If successful, it could mean as much as $100 million in inheritance taxes.

The temporary executors of the Hughes estate are trying to prove the legal domicile was Nevada which has no inheritance tax.

Another former Hughes aide testified Thursday about the use of drugs such by the late millionaire.

Prompted by Texas Assistant Attorney General Rick Harrison who introduced logs of Hughes' activities, Levar Myler said Hughes took large doses of drugs such as codeine and valium.

The logs referred to by Harrison showed Hughes sometimes took more than 80 milligrams of valium a day.

Myler, a Hughes employee for more than 20 years, testified Hughes had few pleasant words for the state where he was born.

"He complained bitterly about the insects here and the weather," Myler said of his conversations about Texas with Hughes.

may depend on whether Congress reads that, or the activism the president urges, to be the mood of the voters.

"We must move away from crisis management and establish clear goals for the future which will let us work together and not in conflict," Carter said.

No one is going to argue with that statement, although there can be endless argument about what the goals should be and how they should be sought.

But a political problem stands between the theory and its realization. It is a simple fact that when the pressure is off, it is hard to persuade the voters that hard questions have to be answered immediately and harsh steps have to be taken lest harsher steps be necessary later.

Former NBC newsman dies

KAHULUI, Hawaii (AP) — Clifton Utley, an NBC newsman and commentator for many years on radio and then in the early years of television, is dead at 73.

Utley, who was born in Chicago and spent most of his working life there, died Thursday at Maui Memorial Hospital in Kahului. He was the father of NBC newsman Garrick Utley.

His stalled energy bill is a prime example. It didn't take long to enact an emergency program when the winter of 1977 led to critical shortages of natural gas. But the broader energy program is still snarled in a stalemate Carter said is becoming intolerable.

At times when there is "no single overwhelming crisis," there is grave risk of inaction, Carter told Congress. Then, he said, it is the task of leaders to prepare for the future.

Carter said that for the first time in a generation, the nation is not haunted by crisis abroad or turmoil at home. "We now have a rare and priceless opportunity to address the persistent problems which burden us as a nation and which became quietly and steadily worse over the years," he said.

There is also an opportunity to relax and enjoy the peace and quiet. And the fate of Carter's programs

Pardee says bye-bye to Bears

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Bears found themselves without a football coach today after Jack Pardee resigned and headed for greener pastures. Pardee, who had been bidding his time in signing a new contract, asked permission to talk to the Washington Redskins and shortly after that the Bears issued a release saying Pardee had resigned. Pardee, who had been at the Bears' helm for the last three years and had been reluctant to sign again, said

Thursday, "I nearly fell out of bed when I heard the news Wednesday night." The news was that George Allen had been fired as coach of the Redskins. Pardee left for Washington to talk to the Redskins, and the Bears were in line searching for a new head coach. When asked whether he had been fired or quit, Pardee said: "Well, no, I'm just talking to Washington. Nothing has changed." Told the Bears had said Pardee had resigned, he replied, "Well, whatever they said." Jim Finks, general manager and vice president of the Bears, was on his way to Tampa, Fla. for the National Football League meetings and unavailable for comment. Pardee, reached at O'Hare International Airport before leaving for Washington, said, "I enjoyed living at Washington more than I did any other place." Pardee is a 15-year veteran of the National Football League, having played at Los Angeles and Washington under Allen. Recently he said he was displeased with facilities at the Bears' training camp and their home grounds at Soldier Field. Pardee was hired by Finks in 1975 and the Bears finished the season at 4-10. They were 7-7 in 1976 and 9-5 this season when they earned a berth in the playoffs only to lose to the Dallas Cowboys.

Pardee's previous credentials included coaching the Florida Blazers to a 14- record in the World Football League although the club failed to meet the payroll in the final weeks of the season.

'I'm fired'--Allen

WASHINGTON (AP)—An unemployed George Allen bade his farewells and said he was headed for the warmer climes for a vacation. A job-seeking Jack Pardee blew into the nation's capital with a snowstorm. Allen, who lost his job as head coach and general manager of the Washington Redskins the day before, made a final visit to Redskins Park Thursday to say goodbye to his assistants, scouts and office staff and pack his bags. "I'm fired. I'm a free agent now," Allen told newsmen who had stalked out the training site. "If someone wants to talk to me, I'll listen but I'm not going to worry."

Allen allegedly reached an agreement last July on a four-year extension, calling for an annual salary of $250,000, on a contract he had signed in 1971. However, Allen never signed the contract and, Williams said, the Redskins waited six months for his

Fumble foible fells Preybirds

BORGER — "We just had too many turnovers," said Hawk Head Coach Harold Wilder, following his team's 101-77 loss to Frank Phillips Thursday night. "If they kept records on such a thing, we'd have to hold a new record. There's no question that that was the difference in the game. The turnovers literally killed us," Wilder added. The Preybirds stayed close in the early stages of the game, only trailing 24-21 at the end of the first quarter, but then the miscues began to surface.

The Hawks were outscored 26-5 in the second quarter, mainly due to many of what was to be a "record" 32 turnovers. "They pressed us the entire game, and we just got rattled and threw the ball away a lot of the time," Wilder said. "And we'd lose it where they'd get a lay-up or something. They converted on most of the turnovers." The coach indicated that his charges played well in other aspects of the game, but the turnover situation was critical.

Big Joe Cooper led the locals in scoring with 22. Russell Sublet and Robby Randolph were the only other Hawks in double figures, with 14 and 12, respectively. Frank Phillips top three scorers had enough among them to defeat the Hawks. Paul Brantley hit 30, Willie Smith sunk 28 and Richie Edwards added 22. "Cooper had a great night," said Wilder. "And if we just could've got down there and set up, he would've had a better night." Cooper completely dominated the boards. The

Queens crown FP fems

BORGER — With eight minutes remaining in Thursday night's game with Frank Phillips, the Howard College Hawk Queens held a slim 47-42 margin. The locals went on to outscore their opponent 26-3, however, and take a 73-45 victory. The win put the Queens in sole possession of first place in the Western Junior College Athletic Conference with a 4-0 record. HC also has a 14-1 season record.

Tami Edwards and Paula St. Julian paced the Queens with 17 and 15 points, respectively. "We had trouble rebounding," said Head Coach Don Stevens. HC only held a one carom margin in that department for the night. "But Paula had a good game on the boards," Stevens continued. "When she got her fourth foul and went to the bench, Frank Phillips caught up," the coach explained. "But when she went back in, along with Jan (Phillips) we really controlled the boards and dominated the game in the last six or seven minutes." Stevens also indicated that his crew had a case of the "standarounds" and would be concentrating on fundamentals of rebounding in the near future. In one highlight, the Queens went into a sudden full-court press, and one of the opposing players became so unnerved after the in-bounds pass that she turned around quickly and pumped in a 20-foot jump shot right into the Queens' basket for two free ones. "That was the best-looking shot they hit all night," said Stevens. The Queens return to Hawk Gym Saturday against Clarendon at 7:30 p.m. and also host Western Texas at home Monday night at 6 p.m. in the first game of a twinbill at "Poverty Pavilion."

Duran, DeJesus predict K-O's

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — With skirmishing in the courts now over, Panama's Roberto Duran and Puerto Rico's Esteban DeJesus each predict a knockout victory Saturday when they battle for the world's undisputed lightweight championship. "I know I will knock him out, I don't say when, but I'll knock him out," said the 26-year-old Duran, who has stopped 10 of his 11 World Boxing Association title challengers and is a 2-1 favorite this time. DeJesus laughed and then commented, "I've been trying to get another fight with Duran for three years and now I've got it. I want to stop him, I will stop him." The boxers went through loosening-up drills Thursday in winding up their workouts, while the promoters successfully fought a court suit in downtown Las Vegas. Boxing promoter Robert Blond had claimed he had a contract with Duran to promote a Feb. 4 bout in Panama City against Vincete Saldivar of Mexico and asked the court to stop the Duran-DeJesus fight. But Clark County District Judge George Marshall, who had issued a temporary restraining order Wednesday blocking the fight, rejected Blond's request for a preliminary injunction to halt the bout. Duran's only loss in 61 fights was to DeJesus, and he vows to atone for that defeat he suffered in November, 1972, in New York City.

CHIPPO DOWN — But not out. Big Spring Steer guard Chippo Wright writes in pain after hitting the floor hard during Tuesday night's 62-61 win over Odessa. Trainer Chris Hayes, left, and JV coach Ben Neel attend to the spunky senior. Wright sustained a bruise but was able to work out Thursday. Tonight's game against San Angelo has been cancelled due to inclement weather.

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, JAN. 21, 1978

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day for organizing your thoughts and making long-range plans for the future. Maintain a cheerful manner in your dealings with others no matter how you feel. Be more optimistic.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Morning is fine for formulating ideas that are workable and then take the right steps to put them in operation.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Some changes must be made at home in order to improve conditions. Be careful of stumbling blocks in the path of your progress.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Study your surroundings carefully and make needed improvements. Make the evening a happy one with congenials.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to June 21) An expert can be helpful to you if you contact this person early in the day. Make sure your home is in fine order.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) A clever idea can bring you benefits, so be sure to act upon it. Try to be less antagonistic toward your mate.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Listen to what an adviser has to suggest about expanding at this time. Study your monetary position well and cut unnecessary expenses.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Do whatever will please a good friend, even though it may not be to your liking. Take no risks with your health.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Study credit affairs and do whatever is necessary to improve it. Make the evening a happy one from a social standpoint.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You have a good idea but it requires study and work in order to make it work well for you. Be careful of strangers.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Study your duties and figure out a way to handle them more efficiently. Express happiness with loved one.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Contact an associate and discuss ways to have greater income in the future. Strive for increased happiness.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Study a new plan that could give you greater abundance in the future. You can now better comprehend a matter of importance.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will want to be successful in life, but has to be taught that it will require work and perseverance. Send to the right schools and teach not to become discouraged. "The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

REMEMBER WHEN...

... as a very small child, you trudged off to church tightly holding your mother's hand?
It was quite an event... you sat very straight... listening intently, wide-eyed... perhaps you did fidget a little during the sermon, but you thrilled to the wonderful music of the organ and the choir... and you proudly raised your own small voice in singing the hymns.
After the service, surrounded by all the smiling faces, you somehow felt good and happy, deep down inside. Yes, going to church was worthwhile.
Down through the years, you have come to realize, more and more, that your church can play an important part in your life, in the lives of those dear to you and in the life of your community. It can bring a message of goodwill and friendliness, of hope and courage... that you can't afford to shut out of your life.
Yes, going to church really is worthwhile.

Philosophers Parish workers confusing members install officers

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Jesuit scholar who edits a monthly journal for priests says a "large percentage" of Roman Catholic theologians and philosophers are in "open rebellion" against church authority and that it is urgent for bishops to act to curb the dissenters. "The magisterium has shown excessive restraint in recent years in dealing with dissenters," writes the Rev. Kenneth Baker of Homiletic and Pastoral Review. "As a result the people are confused," he says, adding that "time is running out" for bishops to take corrective action. The St. Paul Lutheran Parish Workers met Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Ray Stukel, 2604 Clanton for their regular monthly meeting. Rev. Carroll Kohl installed the new officers: Mrs. Harold Bentley, president, and Mrs. Lela Hansen, treasurer and the carry-over officers: Mrs. Guilford Jones, secretary, Mrs. J.D. Nelson, 1st vice president, and Mrs. Carroll Kohn, second vice president.

District meeting set tonight

The Church of God of Prophecy at Big Spring will be host to a district convention tonight and Saturday, January 21. Services will begin at 7 p.m. tonight and 9 a.m. Saturday morning. There will be messages, special singing, and special testimonies in the services. The service will conclude Saturday with a message from the State Overseer of West Texas, Bishop Hector Ortiz at 7 p.m.

Marriage study stressed by church

WASHINGTON (AP) — A national survey of marriage preparation programs in dioceses of the Roman Catholic Church shows that about 85 per cent of them now either have such programs or are about to introduce them, far more than in the past. Of 91 dioceses responding 44 have established such programs while another 32 are in the process of doing so. As recent as 1974, only 16 of the 167 dioceses had marriage preparation policies.

Action guide issued for Lent

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — A Lenten "guide for meditation and action," written by about 50 black church leaders, is being issued through the Consultation on Church Union. A meditation for each day of Lent beginning Feb. 8 is featured, along with other materials prepared by black scholars including leaders of three predominantly black denominations, which are among 10 denominations seeking reunion through the consultation.

Israel Bond raises millions

NEW YORK (AP) — Cash receipts of the Israel Bond Organization, the major fund through which American Jews aid Israel's economic development, totaled $33.5 million in 1977, the highest ever. An announcement said the proceeds surpassed the 1976 total by $20 million. Total sales since the launching of the first Israel bond issue in the U.S. in 1951 have amounted to $3.85 billion.

BEAUTIFUL NOISE — It's a "Beautiful Noise," when the Lennon Sisters harmonize in "The Family . . . and Other Living Things," one-hour television special produced by The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (the Mormons). The special will be shown on Channel 7 at 7 p.m. Saturday, January 21. Music from the Lennon sisters and the Osmonds enhance the production. Gary Burghoff gets a glimpse of a newborn daughter, and poignant moments follow as he tells her of his dreams and promises for her. The show's theme is re-emphasized in song, dance and dialogue: the challenges of family life will best be met, in good times or bad, when family members shed false values and communicate, deepening ties between one another.

Mormons host tv special

"The Family and Other Living Things," an entertaining one-hour television special about today's family will be broadcast on January 21 at 7 p.m. on Channel 7. The show will be filled with drama, humor, pathos, and music, to show how the family too often is, but more importantly, how it should or could be, according to the sponsors, the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints (the Mormons). Executive producer is Jerry McPhie, executive vice president in charge of TV production for the Donny and Marie Show. The entire theme of the program is to show that families are important, and should do things together. Bill Bixby, Elinor Donahue and Brad Savage play the part of a divorced family who see, learn and manage to find a happier future through togetherness. Ruth Buzzi, in desperation turns to television to get messages through to her children. It is done in comedy, but is nearer to the truth and future than we dare to admit.

Anglican Church names bishops

DENVER (AP) — Breaking away from the Episcopal Church, the presently forming Anglican Church in North America plans to consecrate its first bishops Jan. 28 in Denver. Among the bishops-elect to be consecrated is the Rev. James O. Mote of Denver's St. Mary's church, the first parish to split from the Episcopal Church in the current protests over its ordination of women. A score or so of parishes have taken similar steps. Identities of the present church bishops who will consecrate the break-away bishops have not been disclosed. Church tradition requires at least three bishops in good standing to consecrate other bishops.

St. Paul Lutheran Church to present concert here

The A Cappella Choir of Concordia Teachers College, Seward, Nebraska, will present their winter tour concert at St. Paul Lutheran Church at 9th and Scurry, Big Spring on January 22 during the regular 10:30 Sunday morning worship service.

The choir will sing a variety of sacred compositions including Bach's motet "Sing Ye to the Lord," "Sanctus" by Norman Luboff and "Hodie Christus natus est" by Schuetz. Assisting the choir are a brass ensemble, handbells, and timpani.

Conducting the choir for his initial year is Professor Edmund Martens, who served in various schools and as minister of music at St. John Lutheran Church in Orange, California before coming to Concordia to teach in the theory, choral, and music education departments.

His advanced degree in church music is from the University of Southern California. Recently, he received Orff certification from DePaul in Chicago. He spent a recent semester studying the Orff and Kodaly music education techniques in Austria and Hungary.

Concordia is one of several schools of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, training teachers for the elementary and secondary schools of that church. Current enrollment is over 1,000.

Coordinating the tour is Dr. Larry Matthews, professor of mathematics at Concordia College. He, as well as Prof. Martens, is an alumnus of that school.

The current tour takes the choir through portions of Kansas, Oklahoma, and Texas. The local concert is being sponsored by Rev. Carroll Kohl, pastor of the local Lutheran Church. The public is cordially invited to share in this distinctive worship opportunity and a covered dish luncheon in the church parish hall following the morning worship.

Audio-Visual tools are highlighted at conference

The communication system that the Rev. Daniel C. Steere is scheduled to use may never put NASA's Houston Control out of business, but it is effective and inexpensive.

It connected participants at the National Audio-Visual Association Religious Conference held this week in Houston with conference leaders in New York and Nashville.

Steere, associate pastor of the First United Methodist Church in Houston, moderated a discussion involving Nelson Price, organizer of the Media Action Research Center in New York, and Maryann Dotts, vice president of the church and Synagogue Library Association in Nashville, with the 200 participants.

The two resource leaders were connected to the Houston site by long distance telephone with two-way speaker phones.

Price discussed television awareness training and Dotts answered questions on how to create a local church resource center that includes audio-visuals, print and personnel banks.

While Steere moderated this two-way exchange between the resource leaders and the Houston

Baptists plan new head count

The Baptist Association will take a church census in Big Spring on Sunday afternoon.

This will be the first attempt to do a church count on the entire city in the past four years.

The group claims to have a shortage of workers and may request that those who desire, leave the filled out forms on their doorknobs to be picked up later.

The census is to determine the religious choice of local citizens.

Film slated

A film called "At Any Cost" will be shown at the Salvation Army at 7 p.m. Sunday. The public is invited to attend.

The film is said to portray the true story of today's Christians behind the Iron Curtain. It was filmed inside Russia, and in Europe.

Movie scheduled

The College Park Church of God men's fellowship will be presenting a film, "Thief in the Night" at the church at 603 Tulane, Saturday evening, January 21, at 7:30 p.m.

There will be no admission fee, and men's fellowship president, Robert Thomas extends a cordial invitation to all.

Solid Rock Center sponsors talk

The Solid Rock Christian Center of Big Spring is sponsoring a talk by Arthur Katz at the Dora Roberts Community Center at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 25.

Katz is the author of two books, "Ben Israel" and "The Hope of Glory."

He speaks in his own inimitable style as a Jew to a largely Gentile church, according to those who have heard him.

His talks are liberally sprinkled with Yiddish colloquialisms.

Katz is said to have tried Marxism, pragmatism and existentialism—and even life in a kibbutz. After visiting the concentration camp at Dachau in Germany, he resolved to dedicate his life to teaching, hoping that education would erase prejudice and ignorance.

ARE YOU GOING TO CHURCH MORE BUT ENJOYING IT LESS?
Well, I don't know about "going to church more", but I do know that a lot of people who go are certainly enjoying it less. Why?
One reason is that many denominations are undergoing "modernization", which is changing many things such as doctrine and the freedom of the local congregation. Pulpits are being filled by preachers who reject the inspiration of the Scriptures, therefore Bible-based, Christ-centered sermons are not being preached.

Child slain, three others wounded

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — A man shattered a sliding glass door and burst into a Fort Worth residence firing a pistol Thursday night, killing one of the family's children and wounding three others. Police said the shootings stemmed from a domestic quarrel.

Marilyn Daniel, 15, was found dead at the scene, police said. Denise Daniel, 13, Billy Daniel and Dwayne Dangel, 4, were reported in critical condition late Thursday night at a Fort Worth hospital.

The family's 14-year-old son, Willie Joe Daniel Jr., ran from the residence and was unharmed.

The shootings occurred at the north Fort Worth home of Willie Joe Daniel Sr. after one of Daniel's children called police pleading that a gunman was at the "front door, trying to break into the house."

The assailant remained at large early today. Police said he was believed to be armed with a shotgun.

A nurse at John Peter Smith Hospital said Billy and Denise Daniel were in surgery early today, "alive, but barely alive."

Police said the shooting spree erupted after the man went to the home to speak to the children's mother, Anthonette. He quarreled with her and then with the two girls, they added.

Witnesses told police the man took a pistol from a bedroom closet and got another from his car when Mrs. Daniel ran to a neighbor's home to call for help.

When he returned to the house, the assailant found that Billy Daniel had locked the front door. Witnesses said the man pounded on the door before breaking the glass door to gain entrance.

He then chased the children through the house, firing wildly, police said. At least 10 shots were fired, investigators said.

"We could hear him breaking the back window," said neighbor Mary Ruiz, who said she ran next door to the Daniel home.

Ridin' fence — They call it Sparenberg

with Marj Carpenter

The story about Sparenberg three weeks ago sparked a new story on old Sparenberg.

It seems that the original Sparenberg was located on what is now Highway 87 about a mile outside Ackerly, toward Lamesa.

This is approximately three miles from the later Sparenberg site. Most folks have forgotten the original location, but Clarence (Skeet) Porter hasn't forgotten it. Skeet is 74 years old and moved to that area when he was three years old. One of his earliest memories is going to the old cotton gin at old Sparenberg with his uncle, Raymond Sanderson, who bought him a nickel's worth of candy.

"That was lots of candy," he recalled and chuckled. He added, "I ate some and took it home and ate candy all week." The gin was located on what is now southeast of the highway.

Porter said that before the mail carriers delivered the mail by cars, they used mule drawn hacks. There was a post office first at Old Sparenberg in Dad Gartin's store. The dugout that was under the store still remains and has never been filled back-up. The cottonfields grow right up to the edge of it and it is located about a city block northwest of highway 87.

Porter recalls that the reason he and his uncle had gone to the gin was to get cottonseed to feed the cattle. He recalls that when he was young, he and Jerry Shumake used to play together at a location in between old Sparenberg and new Sparenberg. The mule drawn hack would water up at Buzzard Wells. Then they would leave mail at old Sparenberg.

The next stop was on the Shumake place where the mules were changed. "Whatever we were doing, Jerry and I had to have the fresh mules in the corral waiting for the mail hack," Skeet recalled.

He said his grandpa, W.R. Sanderson bought eight sections of land in the Sparenberg area in 1903 for $7 an acre from Tom Goode. Goode and his brother had homesteaded it off the old Slaughter Ranch.

Sparenberg was named for George Sparenberg, postmaster in Big Spring from 1900-1916. Nobody recalls why the post office was moved from Dad Gartin's store in old Sparenberg to the present location of newer Sparenberg, but it happened around 1907 to the best of anyone's recollection.

It was thought that it might have been because the settlers were nearer water and it may have been simply because the area to the north was becoming a little more populated.

Porter recalled that his father used to talk about a land rush around Gail in 1902 when a lot of folks went out to Borden County. Bill Wallace, who resides near the area that was old Sparenberg, said that there also was an old school at the original Sparenberg location. It too was later moved.

The new communities out in the area at that time included Soash, Sparenberg, and later Knott. Ackerly actually came later.

Buzzard Draw already had obtained that name and is split by the highway and located southeast of Ackerly. Mrs. John Allred lives in part of what is called Buzzard Draw.

Only the oldtimers remember where many of those early settlements were located. One like Sparenberg's original site has nothing left to mark it — except an old dugout and memories of a few persons left around — out where I ride fence.
