Airport opening scheduled

Industrial park takes first steps

Plans for the development of Big Spring Industrial Park progressed smoothly as rental of two more buildings was approved at today's regular meeting of the city council.

Bids for the structures formerly occupied by the NCO Club and the Runway Inn were opened at Monday's meeting of the Big Spring Steering Committee. These were the only buildings of the five offered for lease that drew bids.

The NCO Club will be rented for $1,256 a month by Jim Wilson and Roger Terry. At this time, the partnership plans to convert the building into a club named Bogart's.

Charley Wash, owner of the Brass Nail Club here, was awarded the bid at $1,200 per month for the Runway Inn.

Several area churches had expressed an interest in the Webb Chapel recently, and in order to solve the dilemma the chapel will be put up for bid along with the other buildings on the base.

It was announced that Doug Warren, 2311 Brent, would head up planning for the mass fly-in at the grand opening of the Big Spring Airport. The opening and airshow have been scheduled for April 16.

Two new members were named to the Emergency Medical Service Advisory Council at today's meeting. June Hutchings, a registered nurse working at Cowper Clinic, and Dr. Clyde Thomas, Hall Bennett Hospital, filled out the seven-member board.

Dr. J.E. Mathews, Malone-Hogan Hospital, who was appointed to the board at the last council meeting, was named chairman of the group.

Council member Polly Mays reported on an examination of the Municipal Auditorium made by her and Assistant City Manager Jerry Foresyth.

Number one priority in improving the facility, according to Mrs. Mays, is to find a way to block the light from passing cars that shines through the windows during performances. She suggested that the window be painted, or completely covered in some way.

Among other suggestions for the future were that the walls near drinking fountains be repaired; that racks be installed in dressing rooms; that the aisles be cleaned and waxed; that the dressing rooms be painted; that the seats be varnished; and that the auditorium eventually be air conditioned.

Also during the meeting, gold watches were awarded to retiring city employees Edison C. Taylor and Will Johnson.

Taylor had served as a Fire Department Captain, and was a member of the department for 32 and a half years. Johnson was a 20-year employee of the city, having joined the Sanitation Department in 1957.

City Manager Harry Nagel announced that a new meeting with representatives of the Army Corps of Engineers to discuss the future of the Beals Creek Project has been scheduled for 11 a.m. Thursday.

"At this point, it appears that the corps will tell us that the project is not financially feasible on a cost benefit ratio. Unless we can come up with some new, pertinent information, which I don't foresee, it looks like the project will be cancelled," said Nagel.

Focalpoint

Action-reaction: Paving charge

Q. Were the property owners charged for half of the wide street at 11th Place running from Abrams to FM 700?
A. Yes they were, and it is a heavier charge than property owners who are on narrower streets. The extension of 11th Place will be funded by highway department funds since it is a main traffic artery and funds have been approved, according to Jim Gregg, city attorney.

Calendar: Steer game

TUESDAY
 The Big Spring Steers host the Abilene Eagles in Steer Gym for an 8 o'clock basketball game.
 Coahoma Booster Club chili supper, Coahoma High School cafeteria, 5 p.m. Tickets are $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for children under 12.

WEDNESDAY
 Big Spring Commandery No. 31-Knight's Templar will hold its annual inspection at the Masonic Temple, beginning with dinner at 6:30 p.m. Sir Knight Don Smith, Eminent Grand Junior Warden of the Grand Commandery of Texas will be the inspecting officer.
 Second in series of Rotary Club's "Passport to Adventure" travel series, this one entitled "Hawaii" and narrated by Ralph Franklin, 7:30 p.m., Howard College Auditorium.
 Big Spring Board of Realtors' annual banquet, 7 p.m., Big Spring Country Club. New officers will be installed.

Offbeat: Don't eat armadillos

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Louisiana residents have been advised not to eat armadillos until researchers learn whether they cause leprosy.

Armadillo meat isn't exactly a staple in Louisiana restaurants or stores.

However, some people in the southern part of the state cook them at home.

Armadillos — small, waddling animals with thick, armorlike bones around their backs, necks and tails — are found in the Southwest and in Louisiana and Mississippi.

Dr. William Cherry, secretary of the Louisiana Department of Health and Human Resources, said he had asked the legislature for $75,000 to study whether armadillos can transmit leprosy to humans.

Another health official said 50 armadillos with leprosy have been found in the state during the past two years.

TV's best: Kraft special

CBS tonight will air a one-and-one-half hour special featuring personalities from every part of the entertainment world. Memorable past performances on tape, film, and in photographs will highlight the 75th anniversary celebration of Kraft-sponsored shows. The show begins at 8:30 p.m.

Outside: Rain, snow

The forecast calls for considerable cloudiness today with a good chance of drizzling rain, making driving hazardous. The rain is expected to turn to snow tonight with one to two inches falling on the area. High today is expected in the upper 30s, dropping to the upper 20s tonight. High Wednesday will be in the upper 40s. Winds are from the north at 15 to 20 miles per hour, shifting to the northeast tonight at 10 to 15 miles per hour.

Russian-made orbiter streaks over Canada

Nuclear satellite falls

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Soviet military satellite powered by a nuclear reactor fell from orbit this morning and plummeted toward a sparsely populated area of Canada, President Carter's national security adviser said.

A Canadian government spokesman in Ottawa said there was no reason for concern about any danger from radioactivity. He said it was unclear whether all of the satellite had disintegrated and burned when it re-entered the atmosphere about 850 miles north of the U.S. border in Montana.

However, Zbigniew Brzezinski, Carter's national security aide, said the vehicle broke apart and burned when it hit the atmosphere. Asked why he thought the satellite had disintegrated before hitting the earth, he said that based on scientific experience, "it was very highly probable it would burn up."

Brzezinski said this was the first time a satellite powered by a nuclear reactor has crashed into the earth's atmosphere.

Brzezinski, who made the initial announcement about the satellite at a special news briefing, said, "The chances are very little that any contamination resulted."

He said the Soviet Cosmos satellite containing highly radioactive enriched uranium 235 entered the atmosphere at 6:53 a.m. EST "and it proceeded to disintegrate and burn up" over Queen Charlotte Island on Canada's west coast.

He said he presumed the satellite was a Soviet military satellite but he would not comment on the satellite's purpose. He said the vehicle's nuclear reactor was used to generate electricity and was not a weapon.

If any radioactivity reached the earth's surface, it would be similar in amount to that caused by a nuclear explosion in the high atmosphere which could then drift around the globe for several years, Brzezinski said.

The United States in 1965 launched a satellite powered by a nuclear reactor. The vehicle, known as "Snapshot" and powered by uranium 235, operated for 43 days but then failed. It is still in orbit and is expected to stay there at least 4,000 years.

Other U.S. satellites have carried radioactive isotopes to power electrical generators. These isotopes are usually a form of plutonium 238, a far less dangerous form of radioactive material.

Outside probe due in death

ODESSA — Elton Faught, Ector County sheriff, has proposed an outside investigation of circumstances surrounding the death of Larry Ortega Lozano, 27-year-old Pecos man, in the county jail here Sunday.

Faught said he expects either the FBI or the Texas Rangers to examine the incident.

Justice of the Peace Virgil Lumpee, who pronounced the man dead at 8 p.m. Sunday, has ordered an autopsy.

Investigators say they believed Lozano died of head injuries from beating his head against the glass window of a padded cell. Lozano had been in jail since Jan. 10, after having been charged on three counts of aggravated assault on police officers, driving at an unsafe speed and resisting arrest and criminal mischief.

Faught said he had been informed Lozano recently was released from a state hospital in Austin.

Buy Chamber tickets by Friday

The Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce office in Big Spring reminds the public that ticket sales for the annual banquet close Friday.

The banquet will feature Bob Lewis (better known as Tumbleweed Smith) as emcee, and humorist Joe Griffith as special speaker for the evening.

Several members of the Chamber plan to go to Washington, D.C. March 5-7 for the 12th annual West Texas Chamber of Commerce Washington Reception.

While in Washington, the chamber members plan to follow up on the farm strike situation there, according to Bill Albright, Chamber executive vice president.

"Also, the defense contract probably won't be settled by then and we certainly are wanting Lockheed to get the contract," said Albright. "So, we are going to be talking to our Texas delegation in Washington about both the contract matter and the farm problem."

Testimony begins slowly in manslaughter trial

The prosecution's case in the involuntary manslaughter trial of Domingo Polendo Rios was slow getting off the ground this morning as their first witness underwent 45 minutes of cross-examination.

Highway Patrolman Bill Jennings, who administered a breathalyzer test to Rios shortly after the auto accident which claimed the life of Maurine Ringener, testified to his own qualifications and to the circumstances surrounding the administering of the test.

Jennings testified under examination from District Attorney Rick Hamby that he had responded to a call from the city police on May 14, 1977. Jennings testified that he had taken charge of Rios, who had been driving one of the cars involved, at the scene of the accident, and taken him to police headquarters where Jennings administered the test. According to the highway patrolman, the result of the test was .18 per cent alcohol in the blood; .10 is considered legally drunk in Texas.

$2-million suit may be filed against city after shooting

Midland attorney Edward Garza, representing the family of police shooting victim Juan Galaviz, announced today that he intends to file a $2-million lawsuit against the city of Big Spring this afternoon or Wednesday morning in 118th District Court.

According to Garza, the suit will allege two things. First, that the shooting of Galaviz was done "without any provocation or any indication of Galaviz's intentions, and with the intention to kill." Secondly, the suit will allege gross negligence on the part of the city of Big Spring, "due to their failure to properly screen, train, and examine their employees, failure to periodically review their employees, and showing that the officer who did the shooting had a history of physically and verbally assaulting other people."

Garza did not say who would file the suit, explaining that he was disinclined to make an appearance in Big Spring. He maintained that he is the only attorney representing Galaviz's parents, Domingo and Rita Galaviz, and their seven children.

Galaviz was shot December 8, 1977 by police sergeant Leroy Spires following a high-speed chase by law officers. The chase was triggered by an alleged assault on a woman in the parking lot at Howard College.

According to police department reports, Galaviz, who was on ten year's probation for burglary, was reaching for a concealed knife at the time he was shot.

An investigation of the incident was conducted by Texas Rangers, and District Attorney Rick Hamby has said he would take the results of the investigation before a Howard County grand jury in February.

Five more candidates seek office

Five candidates filed their campaign treasurer designations since Friday, but one has already dropped out of the running.

Lewis Heflin, who filed Monday for the position of justice of the peace, precinct one, place two, has already said he will not run, according to Evan Evans, chairman of the Democratic Party.

Other newly filed candidates included Jack Buchanan, candidate for county judge, Billie L. Carr, candidate for county judge, and Terry Hanson and Merle Stroup, both candidates for commissioner for precinct four.

Other candidates who have announced include Bill Tune, Frankie Boyd, and Milton Kirby for county judge, Gus Ochotorena Jr. for Justice of the Peace, precinct one, place two, Ikie Rupard, Paul Allen, Curtis R. (Bo) Crabtree, and Bill Bennett, candidates for commissioner of precinct two.

Also, James Baird, Jr., has announced for commissioner of precinct four. Frances Glenn has announced for county treasurer, Peggy Crittenden has announced for district clerk, Margaret Ray has announced for county clerk, and Evan Evans has filed for chairman of the Democratic party.

T-38 crash kills pilot

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — The pilot of an Air Force training jet died Monday when his aircraft crashed two miles short of the runway at Reese Air Force Base.

An Air Force spokesman said the T-38 was on a training flight, with just the pilot aboard. He is identified as 2nd Lt. Glenn A. Mathis, 23, from Olney, Md.

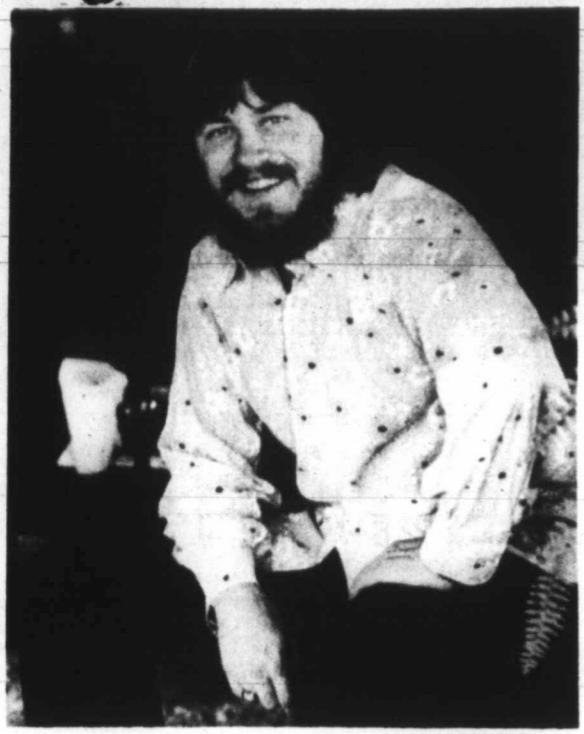

Mathis is survived by a wife and a one-month-old daughter, both in Lubbock.

The Air Force is investigating the crash.

BODY REMOVED — Air Force personnel remove the body of 2nd Lt. Glenn A. Mathis from the wreckage of the T-38 jet trainer in which he was flying Monday. The crash occurred at 9 a.m. as Mathis made his final approach to Reese Air Force Base. The 23 year old Olney, Maryland native was a student pilot. Cause of the crash has not been determined.

LEAD SINGER OF ROCK GROUP 'CHICAGO' DIES — Police said Terry Kath (above) one of the lead singers of the rock group, Chicago, killed himself Monday in Los Angeles when he put what he thought was an unloaded gun to his head and pulled the trigger. Police Investigator Tim Yost said Kath, 31, of Malibu, Calif., was at the home of a friend when the accident occurred.

Mahon attacks tax break

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional critics already are taking aim at President Carter's proposed $500.2 billion spending budget, although formal consideration of it does not begin for another week.

His proposals for revising tax laws drew their share of criticism as well.

The administration will have its chance to defend the proposals early next month when the House and Senate budget committees begin hearings on the plan, the first step in preparing the budget Congress will enact for the year beginning Oct. 1.

The Senate committee set Feb. 1 and the House committee Feb. 6 for the start of hearings. Federal law requires the committees to report on a target fiscal plan by April 15 and for Congress to adopt a plan by May 15.

This plan serves as a guide for spending and revenue legislation until the binding budget resolution is passed. That must be completed by Sept. 25.

The president's budget proposal carries a prospective $60.6 billion deficit, only a little under this year's, and Rep. George H. Mahon, D-Texas, said "the greatest risk is inflation."

Mahon, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, applauded Carter's announced intention of working with the private sector to reduce unemployment and promote growth, but said there is too little restraint on government spending.

Reasoner wants out

NEW YORK (AP) — Is Harry Reasoner trying to divorce himself from Barbara Walters and ABC News?

Reasoner reportedly has a job waiting at CBS, his old network, if he can just get out of his contract with ABC.

But that may not be so easy.

ABC news chief Rooney Arledge says Reasoner's contract with ABC runs until 1980 and a deal is a deal.

"The contract does not give him a unilateral right to terminate his employment here," said Arledge. "I'd like to see him happy, but I'm not ready to jump at a decision about letting him go. We'd agree to his resignation only if it were in our interest to do so."

Reasoner has made it clear he's not too happy over sharing the "ABC Evening News" with Miss Walters.

Judy Garland died broke

NEW YORK (AP) — Although Judy Garland made millions, she was practically broke when she died.

That's the picture revealed in court documents filed Monday by her three children — Liza Minnelli, Lorna Luft and Joseph Luft.

When their mother died in 1969 from what was ruled an accidental overdose of barbiturates the three estimated her estate was valued at between $15,000 and $40,000. They said it may have earned an additional $40,000 in royalties from records, films and television reruns after her death.

However, the petition filed Monday says various debts, including federal and state taxes, "may exceed the gross value of the estate."

The three children asked the court to appoint them administrators of their mother's estate, accept a will made by Miss Garland in 1961 and determine what, if any, assets are involved. The will leaves the three equal shares of the estate when they reach age 35.

The long delay in filing an application for probate of Miss Garland's will was explained by the fact that Joseph, 22, could not serve as an administrator until he reached the age of majority.

New item puts squeeze on Charmin

DALLAS (AP) — What builders see and examine today will be found in the homes of tomorrow — even if it's a new commode that does away with the need for toilet tissue, says a National Association of Home Builders spokesman.

The new bathroom appliance is one of thousands of items catching the eyes this week of more than 50,000 builders who gathered for the 34th annual convention, a four-day exhibition ending Wednesday.

"The bidet unit is intended for use by the whole family and may be installed simply by removing the conventional toilet seat, placing the bidet over the bowl, attaching a water supply tube to the existing water tank, and plugging the unit into the nearest electrical outlet," its manufacturer says.

"Water flow, from either the front or rear of the seat, is electronically controlled and warmed."

"If that fails to excite you, manufacturers have an array of other mechanical equipment bathroom fixtures, kitchen appliances and building materials spread over 200,000 square feet of exhibit space — nearly as big as eight football fields."

For builders seeking the state of the art in energy control, one manufacturer offers a programmable micro-computer with energy and temperature sensors that completely monitor, control and audit all home energy usage.

Utility costs can be controlled within a preset monthly or yearly budget, if desired.

Solar systems — for heating hot water, swimming pools or entire homes — are drawing major interest from builders.

One innovative product being unveiled to builders is called the "multi-ped." It provides six services for each of two homes. The pedestal houses electric, water and gas meters, plus connection terminals for telephones and cable TV. On top of the pedestal is a one cubic foot mail box for each of the two dwellings.

Homemakers who love their gas ranges but want a microwave oven can get features and conveniences of both with a new series of combination gas-microwave oven ranges being introduced. With optional pilotless ignition, the new ranges will use up to 30 percent less gas.

For the home builder who wants his buyer to have everything, one manufacturer has introduced a gasoline-powered standby generator that can generate enough power during brownouts or blackouts to run the heating system, refrigerator and a limited number of lights and electrical outlets.

The generator features a 10-horsepower engine and delivers 5,000 watts.

For builders who don't want to build with bricks and stones, a liquid mix is now available that may be applied over almost any exterior or interior building material.

When set, it gives the appearance of brick, stone, stucco, tile or other finish. The new material is said to be completely weatherproof, waterproof and fireproof.

Police beat — TV set, heaters stolen

One home was burglarized and one vandalized over the weekend.

Mrs. Doyle Gillihan reported that a home owned by Don Mobley at 407 Settles was burglarized missing at 23-inch black and white television, four portable space heaters and one shag carpet, along with $100 in change for a total loss of $354.

Charles McGrath at 2300 Cecilia said that at that location 30 window panes were broken, the sheet rock walls were punched full of holes and furniture turned over and broken for total damage of around $1,100.

A boy's bicycle was stolen at 3601 Calvin, reported by Jane O'Brien. Ralph Brooks reported that somebody damaged a brick fence at 2908 Hunter's Glen with a vehicle and left the scene.

Floyd Howell, 2409 Morrison, reported that he was bitten by a dog while delivering mail at the residence of George Smith, 606 S. Bell. Code enforcement officers were notified.

In these cases, the post office does not have to deliver mail at that location until the situation is remedied, but can ask the tenant to pick up their mail at the office.

A box of mechanic and plumbing tools was taken from a pickup parked at 604 W. 6th. Santiago Herrera reported a pair of binoculars and a western hat were taken from a pickup camper at 308 NE 6th.

Buford Hull reported a CB radio taken from a vehicle parked at the Spanish Inn. The 7-11 Store at 8th and Gregg reported somebody got $4.01 worth of gas and drove away.

Minor accidents included one in the 100 block of S. Rannels at 3:18 p.m. involving vehicles driven by Ronnie Glen III, 803 Birdwell Lane and Marguerito Gutierrez, 205 NW 7th.

Another occurred at 503 E. 12th involving vehicles driven by Patty Lou Webb, 710 Galveston and Nona Campbell Brunson, 3606 Hamilton.

At 4:42 p.m. at 309 NW 10th, two vehicles collided. Drivers were Linda Kay Torres, 1301 Utah and Vidal Garza, 108 Lockhart.

Forsan board renews contract of Poynor

FORSAN — The Forsan School Board renewed the superintendent's contract, called the trustee election and discussed the gymnasium floor when it met Monday night.

The contract of J.F. Poynor was extended for a year until June 30, 1981.

The trustee election was officially called for April 1 at which time three trustees will be elected.

Expiring terms are Bill Mims, Leonard Posey and Oliver Nichols. Mims and Posey have already filed for re-election.

Anyone desiring to file for a position on the board may do so at the school administration office between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. Monday through Friday through March 1.

Absentee election judge is Nova Scudday.

Forsan judge is Susan Gaston and Elbow judge is Bill Cregar.

The board of equalization was named and includes William Gressett, Bob Calley and Garner Thixton.

The board opened and awarded a bid to Charles Ray Construction on low bid of $3,500 for cleaning off mesquite, trash and rubble on school-owned lands.

The board then discussed at length problems with the gymnasium floor, with no solution arrived at by the board. It will be discussed again at the next meeting of the trustees.

Farmers go back to lobby

By CARLA WALKER

Area farmers in Washington started back to work Monday after two days of sight-seeing and the first "Vacation" they have had in Washington.

"Of course, Congress and all the representatives and Senators were out of their offices Saturday and Sunday," said Larry Shaw, Howard County farmer, "so we took advantage of the two days to visit the national cemetery and all the monuments and sight-seeing spots in Washington."

But, on Monday, it was back to business, as the farmers from all over the nation began "hitting the halls of the Congressional building" once again.

The farmers say it is surprising to note how many of the officials still have not been contacted personally, despite the efforts of the group of farmers in Washington.

"It has been hard to talk to some of the best known people like Ted Kennedy," said Shaw. "But, the results we are getting when we do contact them are quite amazing."

"I heard one farmer saying he met Kennedy in the hall, and said 'Hello, Teddy, how are you doing today?'" Shaw related. "He spoke to the Senator, then gave him a sheet that showed how many farms were being placed on the market in wheat country because the farmers couldn't make a living."

"Apparently, Kennedy was interested, because he called the farm strike headquarters in Washington to find out what was happening and why," Shaw said.

Several Representatives and Senators have expressed complete support of the farm effort, according to Shaw, and John Tower has said that he plans to write a bill which summarizes the farmer's demands, and use information and feedback from the farmers to get it into a form they can support.

The farmers from Texas met today with Senator Herman Talmadge from Georgia to discourage him from pushing a bill asking for more costly federal subsidies to farmers.

"He thinks he is helping us," said Henry Samples, another area farmer in Washington for the agriculture strike, "but that isn't what we want or need. That will only cost the taxpayer and not really help the farmers situation."

Farm — San Angelo Stock Show slated March 8-12

SAN ANGELO — The 45th Annual San Angelo Stock Show and Rodeo is slated for Wednesday through Sunday, March 8-12, at the San Angelo fairgrounds and rodeo coliseum.

The combined event is sponsored by the San Angelo Stock Show and Rodeo Association.

The stock show will continue through Wednesday through Saturday. Deadline for entering livestock is Feb. 8.

Stock show, association president Gene Newman has announced several changes that have been made this year. In the steer show, new judging methods will be used. In addition, two new shows in the Junior Breeding Heifers, new classes in the Goat Show, and a Neatness Award have been added.

Rodeo performances are scheduled for Thursday, Friday, and Saturday nights and Friday, Saturday, and Sunday afternoons.

Featured performers at the rodeo will be Jody Miller, Grammy award winning country singer, and Rex Allen Jr., the man who is said to have "put the Western back in the Country Sound."

Miss Miller, in her travels across the nation, has appeared with many of the major stars in show business including Roy Clark, Tony Orlando and Dawn, and Bob Hope. A native and current resident of Oklahoma, Miss Miller has recorded albums entitled "Good News!", "He's So Fine", "There's a Party Goin' On", "Country Girl", and "House of the Rising Sun".

Allen, referred to as a trend setter in Country Music, began his career at age 13. Since then he has become a television entertainer and has had 11 national chart records with "Goodbye" and "Can You Hear Those Pioneers" going into the top 10 nationally.

Other schedule activities will include a carnival each afternoon and night of the five-day event and a parade set for downtown San Angelo Friday, March 10.

$100 tape deck stolen

A thief escaped with a $100 tape deck after breaking an auto window Monday afternoon on the Gamco parking lot.

The auto, which belonged to Michael Fryar, suffered $50 damage from the broken window. The theft apparently occurred between 1 and 5 p.m.

Deaths

O. B. Harris

O. B. Harris, 81, of Midland, died in a Big Spring hospital Sunday following a long illness.

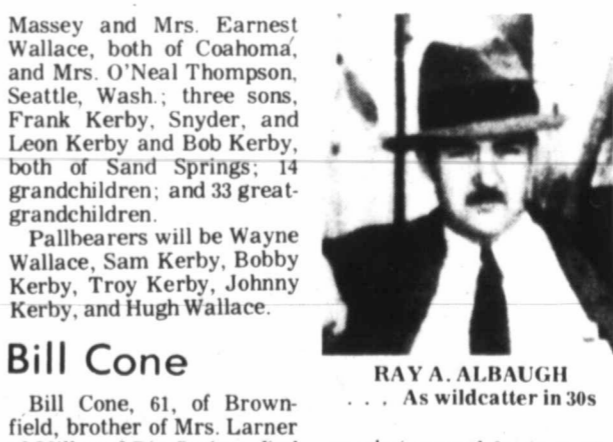

Graveside rites are scheduled for 4 p.m., Wednesday in Midland's Fairview Cemetery.

Mr. Harris resided in El Paso 30 years before moving to Midland in 1972. He managed a moving van firm before retiring.

Survivors include his wife, Annie Mae, and two daughters.

Massey and Mrs. Earnest Wallace, both of Coahoma, and Mrs. O'Neal Thompson, Seattle, Wash.; three sons, Frank Kerby, Snyder, and Leon Kerby and Bob Kerby, both of Sand Springs; 14 grandchildren; and 33 great-grandchildren.

Palbearers will be Wayne Wallace, Sam Kerby, Bobby Kerby, Troy Kerby, Johnny Kerby, and Hugh Wallace.

RAY A. ALBAUGH As wildcatter in 30s

Bill Cone

Bill Cone, 61, of Brownfield, brother of Mrs. Lerner of Miller of Big Spring, died at 10:30 p.m., Sunday in a Brownfield hospital after a brief illness.

Services were held at 11 a.m., today in the Brownfield First Baptist Church, with the Rev. Pat Cummins, pastor, officiating. Burial is scheduled for 4 p.m., today in the Dreamland Cemetery.

A one-time teacher at Littlefield, Mr. Cone served in the Armed Forces for 26 years. Following his retirement from military duty, he was a free-lance photographer.

Ray A. Albaugh

Ray A. Albaugh, 80, one of the most colorful men in West Texas oil circles, died this morning in Methodist Hospital in Lubbock.

Services are pending at Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home here.

Albaugh had a checkered career as an oilfield wildcatter and made and lost several fortunes. He remained critical of Washington's energy policy,

Mitchell in 1954; the Albaugh (Yates) pool in the same area and which eventually became part of the Howard-Glasscock pool in 1957; the other pays on the Spade Ranch in 1969-70; and the Albaugh-Cole (Wolfcamp) pool in northwest Sterilias County in 1969.

A native of Pennsylvania, Albaugh first became involved in the oil business around Titusville, Pa., where Col. E.L. Drake made the initial oil strike. He came to this area in the 1930s, operating first out of Lamesa before moving his operations here.

Acid in his analysis of congressmen who he said would severely hamper the oil industry by placing too many restrictions on it, Albaugh often said American could work out its energy problems if Congress would only leave it alone.

or what passed for it, to the end of his days.

In recent years, Albaugh had tested successfully for oil in Southwest Mitchell County. He had been forced to the wall in 1973 while on an oil exploration venture near Cookeville, Tenn.

His Mitchell County venture was in the general area where he previously had discovered three fields.

Albaugh was credited with finding seven oil fields in Texas in his time and also made discoveries in Ohio and Tennessee.

One of an most legendary type, who in today's corporate jargon would be called an "wildcatter," Albaugh did it all from geology to land work to drilling to completion.

Albaugh founded the Welch field in northwestern Dawson County in 1935; the Dean sand production in the Ackerly area of southwestern Dawson County in 1950; the Albaugh (Fusselman) pool, since depleted, in southwestern

Big plans for Bigfoot

WASHINGTON (AP) — What if, while hiking through the Oregon woods, you stumbled across the legendary Bigfoot monster, roped the beast and took it home. Next, you reported your catch to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Would the agency know what to do?

Yes, says the agency, and to prove its readiness has written a lengthy news release describing just what it would do about your call.

But why, you might ask, has the U.S. government gone to such lengths over the possible capture of what, at least so far, is just a myth of long standing.

Well, Fish and Wildlife reminds us, the gorilla and giant panda were only legends until the late 19th century. The komodo dragon, a 10-foot lizard, wasn't known to science until 1912.

To be sure, added the agency, many sightings of today's legendary "monsters" are misinterpreted reports or even downright hoaxes. But there's more to be said for the existence of a genuine Bigfoot.

Not only have there been "sightings" of the purported 8-foot, 900-pound Pacific Northwest humanoid, but Skamania County, Washington, is prepared to impose a fine of $10,000 and a 5-year jail term on anyone who kills a Bigfoot, if there is a Bigfoot.

Last year the Florida and Oregon legislatures took up bills protecting Bigfoot-type creatures, and a Bureau of Indian Affairs policeman has a plaster cast of an 18-inch foot left after the claims seeing Bigfoot in South Dakota.

So if Bigfoot were found, what then? The agency set up a scenario:

"Word of its discovery would be flashed around the world within hours. Hysteria, fear or panic might accompany the news in the area where the creature was located. The throngs of curiosity seekers, would-be captors and others wanting to find Bigfoot would not only create a serious threat to the animal itself, but to public safety as well...."

And, asks Fish and Wildlife: "Would such a creature be subjected to the same kind of exploitation as the giant movie ape, King Kong?"

Hardly, if the Department of Interior could help it.

After receiving 120-day temporary protection under the Endangered Species Act, Bigfoot would undergo the

Bureaucratic 'bungling'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bureaucrats are "wringing their hands and shedding crocodile tears," claims a Texas congressman who has introduced legislation aimed at curbing bureaucratic "bungling" of federal programs.

Rep. Jim Mattox' "Legislative Oversight Act of 1978" would place a five-year limit on all new spending programs and tax expenditures.

"This would make an agency prove that it's done what it said it would do," said Mattox, a House Budget Committee member, during a Monday interview.

"This would make agencies come in and say we need so much money to say, create 450,000 jobs. Good. That's fine."

"But next year, Congress would sit 'em down and ask 'em how many jobs they created. Only 200,000? Well, what happened?"

If passed, the bill would require the president to relate in his annual budget submissions the specific statements of purpose for each program.

"The trouble with most federal programs is that once the bureaucracy gets a hold of them the original intent of Congress is simply dismissed as meaningless," continued Mattox.

"Congress needs some sort of mechanism for checking up on agencies. If they have field evaluations, we sure as hell don't see 'em up here."

After reading President Carter's 1979 budget proposal, Mattox said, "It's obvious that in the past year neither the administration nor Congress has made much progress in understanding just what is going on with federal expenditures through the bureaucracy."

Mattox said he has personally undertaken a study of 110 social service programs accounting for $22 billion in federal expenditures.

"My study of programs such as new job training and community services will provide the kind of analysis the Office of Management and Budget was unable to provide us," he said. "My own study has been underway for six months and will be finished by March and ready for congressional review in time for consideration of the first budget resolution."

Fort Stockton loses mayor, police chief

FORT STOCKTON — The mayor, police chief, five police officers and the police secretary here all submitted their resignations to the city council Monday.

The resignations followed a special closed session of the council, according to Mayor Pro Tem Lila Urias.

Ms. Urias said the council had originally asked for the resignation of Police Chief Mickey Clark and the others quit apparently in protest.

Mayor Frank Hayes had been in office since last April and had another year to go on his present term. Ms. Urias said a special election may be held in April to find a replacement for Hayes.

In addition to Clark, other members of the police force who resigned were Sgts. Patrick Allaire and V.A. (Buddy) Seale, patrolmen Mark Hanna, Mike McDole and Mike Fetter and police secretary Darlene Archer.

Sgt. Allaire blamed council interference with the police department for the resignations.

Drug sniffing dog to perform

Big Spring junior and senior high school students will meet a drug sniffing dog at assemblies Wednesday.

According to Superintendent Lynn Hise, police will display the talents of a dog that has been trained to detect illegal drugs by smell. The dope sniffing canine will be brought back in the future for unannounced inspections of schools here.

Assemblies will be held at the senior high school, 9:30 and 10:30 a.m.; Rannels Junior High, 1 p.m.; and Goliad Junior High, 2:15 p.m.

Mortgage debt in U.S. passes trillion

Despite the reckless spending of our Congress, a million dollars remains a great deal of money. The thought of a billion dollars is mind-boggling. A trillion? Forget it.

However, a milestone has been reached in the American economy as the calendar leaves of 1978 began to fall away. Outstanding mortgage debt in this country has crossed the trillion mark. That doubles the figure of seven short years ago.

Sixty-four per cent of these dollars are providing single-family housing for American families. The other 36 per cent supports a variety of activities in the U.S. economy, including office buildings, shopping centers, farm and multi-family properties.

The real estate business was in a depressed state in 1973, 1974 and 1975 but it has bounced back impressively. Some apprehension lingers about mortgage lending but there is no gloom or doom foreseen for the year ahead. Sales of existing homes are almost sure to set another record.

The rate of inflation worries a lot of economists but a lot of potential buyers obviously think the price of homes remains within reason, because salaries are generally keeping pace with that inflation. In many cases, incomes have risen even faster than the inflation rate.

It's estimated 1.6 million single-family housing units will be started in the United States this year. Multi-family units bid fair to go above the 0.5 million mark. When an anticipated 300,000 mobile home units are added, one can get the prediction that American total shelter production will reach an astonishing 2.4 million units.

Migration (to warmer areas) is a contributing factor in increased housing production too. The consumer seems to have greater confidence in the industry than ever before.

Pessimists forecast several years ago that single-family houses would become as extinct as the dodo bird. They reckoned without the strong desire for such quarters by the consumer. The demand for single-family housing will continue well into the 1980s, according to market experts.

The mortgage banking industry is resolved to provide the financing needed to satisfy the public's desire for housing. What comes after a trillion?

Expert on chiches

Around the rim

Troy Bryant

Most people think that the use of many cliches shouldn't be used in any kind of writing.

I agree. They have become stale beer where once they were fresh as mint.

But I found a cliché expert, who takes a stand defending his number-one pastime:

Q — Mr. Arbuthnot, you are an expert in the use of the cliché, are you not?

A — Yes sir, I am a certified public cliché expert.

Q — Would you answer a few questions on uses of the cliché?

A — I should be only too glad to.

Q — Thank you. Now, just for the record — you live in New York?

A — I like to visit New York but I wouldn't live there if you gave me the place.

Q — Then where do you live?

A — Any old place I hang my hat is home sweet home to me.

Q — And when you are drunk?

A — I can be as drunk as a coot, or a lord, or an owl, or a fool—

Q — Very good. Now, how brown are you?

A — As brown as a berry.

Q — Ever see a brown berry?

A — Oh, no. Were I to see a brown berry, I should be frightened.

Q — To what extent?

A — Out of my wits.

Q — How fit are you?

A — I'm as fit as a fiddle.

Q — How do you wax?

A — I wax poetic.

Q — How about the fate of Europe?

A — It is hanging in the balance.

Q — What happens to landscapes?

A — Landscapes are dotted.

Q — How are you attired?

A — Faultlessly.

Q — What kind of precision and order are you partial to?

A — Clocklike precision and apple-pie order.

Q — When you travel, what do you combine?

A — I combine business with pleasure.

Q — And you are destined...

A — To go far.

Q — And what is it you save?

A — Wear and tear.

Q — What goes with "pure"?

A — SIMPLE.

Q — The word "sundry"?

A — Divers.

Q — What are ranks?

A — Ranks are serried. Structures are imposing. Spectacles are colorful.

Q — Thank you, Mr. Arbuthnot. What kind of beauties do you like?

A — Raving beauties.

Q — How generous are you?

A — I am generous to a fault.

Q — How is corruption these days?

A — Oh, rife, as usual.

Q — What time is it?

A — It is high time.

Q — How do you point?

A — I point with pride, I view with alarm, and I yield to no man.

Q — What do you pursue?

A — The even tenor of my way.

Q — What do you throw — and where?

A — I throw caution to the winds.

Q — As a cliché-user, have you any pets?

A — Yes, I have pet aversions.

Q — Any tempets?

A — Oh, yes. In teapots. In china shops I have bulls.

Q — What kind of cunning do you affect, Mr. Arbuthnot?

A — Low, animal cunning.

Q — And when you are taken, you are taken...

A — Aback.

Q — I see. Well, Mr. Arbuthnot, I think that everyone who has listened to you here today will be a better cliché-user for having heard you. Thank you very, very much.

A — Thank you. It's been a pleasure. I assure you, and I was only too glad to oblige.

Diplomats beef

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — While trade negotiator Robert Strauss was talking Japan into admitting more American beef imports, the U.S. embassy in Tokyo was privately bemoaning pressure put on the Japanese by U.S. Senators.

The pattern of hand-wringing by U.S. diplomats whenever a squeeze is applied to a foreign government is clearly evidenced in a confidential Jan. 7 telegram from the Tokyo embassy to the State Department. To the men around Strauss, this typifies what they have had to put up with in negotiations.

AT ISSUE was Japan's present 1,000-ton annual limit on U.S. beef imports. When Strauss proposed a 10,000-ton quota, the Japanese government came back with 3,000-ton counter-offer viewed as unsatisfactory by any standard. Visiting in Japan, two Republican Senators from beef-producing states, Clifford Hansen of Wyoming and Carl Curtis of Nebraska, told a Tokyo press conference Jan. 6 that the Japanese response was "totally unacceptable" and "should never be accepted by Strauss."

That produced shivers of fright at the American embassy. On Jan. 7, a telegram signed by William C. Sherman, No. 2 man in the embassy, declared:

"Embassy fears such statements create the air of confrontation and U.S. dictation which will remove any chance of our getting substantial improvement in Japanese agriculture offers. These are personal views of Senators and we believe GOJ (government of Japan) recognizes them as such."

Whatever the Japanese recognize the Senators clearly did not "remove any chance" of a better deal. Arriving in Japan Jan. 11, Strauss negotiated a 10,000-ton worldwide quota on high-grade beef imports. Argentina may send a few steaks to Japan, but nearly all of that quota will be supplied by American cattlemen.

U.S.-SAUDI CRISIS?

PRESIDENT CARTER'S promise to sell Saudi Arabia 60 F-15 fighter aircraft, the best the U.S. has, is confronting a politically orchestrated effort in Congress to kill the sale or at least cut it sharply.

If Egyptian-Israeli peace talks can be put back together, the President might defeat the move to block the sale. But if the talks continue downhill and the future looks dark, the mood in Congress will harden against selling weapons to Arabs. That is true despite Saudi help in holding down the price of world oil and despite the fact that Saudi Arabia has now become by far the largest oil exporter to the U.S.

Israel's supporters on Capitol Hill fear the F-15s might be used against Israel in any future Mideast war. "Israel is really worried about the sale," a Senate strategist for the Israelis told us. Past opposition has cut back other U.S. arms sales to Arab countries, including Saudi Arabia.

This time, administration officials are concerned about reaction in the oil kingdom if the Carter pledge cannot be fulfilled. The Saudis regard it as "a point of honor," one official told us, to receive the top-rated aircraft that would give them a small fraction of U.S. airpower supplied to Israel.

A FOOTNOTE: Israel is quietly lobbying for an extra $500 million in U.S. aid in the fiscal year starting Oct. 1. Although President Carter decided not to put the extra money in his budget message to Congress, White House aides doubt Congress could resist voting most of it on top of the regular annual $1.8 billion in aid.

SEN. MURIEL

Contrary to published reports that Muriel Humphrey resisted the invasion of privacy that would come with serving in the Senate, the real reason for the delay in her appointment to fill Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey's seat the rest of the year was Minnesota politics.

"... please? please. Senate? pretty please...?"

Teenage menstruation can be erratic

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My daughter is 16. Since she was 13 she has had only three periods a year, a regular five-day flow.

At her checkups the family doctor says wait and see. I took her to a gynecologist and he also said not to worry, but to have her checked again in a year. Could you please comment on this and tell me if anything should be done? Would vitamins help? — Mrs. M.F.

It was wise to have her examined. Her ovaries are apparently functioning to some degree. The periods she had indicate that. The menstrual mechanism is quite complex. This pattern (infrequent periods) could involve various glands, particularly the pituitary and the thyroid. These should be checked. If the thyroid is underfunctioning, medication will help correct that.

The onset of her periods at 13 was normal. There sometimes is a lull after the first period, which is probably what your doctors are considering in recommending the wait-and-see approach.

If she is not regular by 18, an intensive investigation would be in order. Vitamins, in and of themselves, won't help. However, a vitamin deficiency might indicate poor general nutrition, and that can be a factor. Is she a finicky eater? Is she getting ample protein?

The next year should bring answers. Dear Dr. Thosteson: I don't care what you say, doctor. When I sit on a cold stone or something like that I do get hemorrhoids. I'll bet you wouldn't want to take a survey on this. — S.L.

That won't cause hemorrhoids. You had them before you sat down. A chill can touch off an attack of pain and itching from piles that are already there. They may remain after the attack subsides. See my booklet, "The Real Cure for Hemorrhoids," which discusses these matters (page 4). You, like a lot of other folks, probably have other misconceptions about hemorrhoids. The booklet will clear up most. For a copy, send a quarter to cover printing and handling and a self-addressed, stamped, envelope to me care of the Big Spring Herald. Piles are affected in much the same way as are varicose (dilated) veins. That, in fact, is what they are. If anything, the coldness tends to constrict dilated vessels.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: A certain relation of mine is a heavy smoker who has the habit of eating and smoking at the same time. With each morsel she inhales deeply on that cigarette. I maintain this is unhealthy. Will you enlighten me so I can help her? — Mr. J.M.

It is unhealthy, also uncoth. She's headed for cancer of the lung or emphysema at best — a pretty poor "best."

It's no fun dining with a cloud of smoke. With a habit as intense as hers, she needs help in quitting or cutting down.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My 5-year-old son has poor sleep habits. Once or twice a week he awakes at 5:30. Other times he sleeps until 6:30. He is quite active. Bedtime is about 7:30 p.m. He falls asleep shortly after he hits the pillow. I hate the idea of drugs! — Mrs. C.B.

So do I hate the idea of drugs for this youngster, who seems quite normal from your letter. If he wakes up, tend to his needs. He may be getting too long a nap in the afternoon. Try extending his bedtime to 8:00. Active youngsters have a rich source of dreams that can awaken them.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Our daughter, who is 3, has a problem — too much hair. She has dark hair on her legs, back, arms and the sides of her face. Could she have a hormone condition, or could it be hereditary? — Mrs. J.M.

At this age and with these symptoms she should be examined promptly. It could be a hormone or glandular problem, and that should be investigated. Consult an endocrinologist. Hairiness in other members of the family would suggest heredity. This is not necessarily an endocrine imbalance.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 67 and lately have had pain in the right side of my upper abdomen. This pain has subsided, but my stool is still tarry and black and I have some diarrhea. I have no family doctor. Can you tell me what causes this and what kind of a doctor to see? — C.B.

Tarry black stool is an ominous

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: My husband and I are in our late 70s, and he is getting very forgetful. I think he could do better if he would just pay attention, but he is always getting things wrong. I get very impatient with him. Do you think I am wrong to get so impatient? — MRS. P.O.S.

DEAR MRS. S.: Although it may be difficult at times, I believe you must do all you can to be as patient as possible. Has your husband had a medical examination lately? Very possibly there is a physical reason for his forgetfulness, and he cannot help it. It does no good for you to be impatient with him; he may be trying as hard as he can. All you do is frustrate yourself.

I believe God has given you a special responsibility right now, to care for your husband as he grows older and life becomes increasingly difficult for him. Remember, you married him "for better and for worse." If you love him, you want what is best for him. If you love him, sign. See a general practitioner or an internist as soon as you can.

This kind of stool indicates bleeding high in the intestinal tract or in the stomach, as from ulcer or a malignancy. I can't say more, except to urge you to be examined.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My sister had one kidney removed. Will one kidney do the work of two? She seems well. — B.B.A.

It may not do the work of two, but it will usually take up the slack and serve well.

Don't take chances with "kidney trouble" — it could be dangerous. Read Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Your Kidneys — Facts You Need to Know About Them." For a copy write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Arthritis sufferers can be helped. Dr. Thosteson's booklet discusses many types of arthritis and related joint diseases as well as effective treatments and medications. For a copy of "How to Control Arthritis," write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents.

Unless properly treated, both glaucoma and cataracts can lead to blindness. If you are afflicted with either of these ailments, or know someone who is, write to Dr. Thosteson, in care of the Big Spring Herald, for his booklet, "Cataracts and Glaucoma." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

I wonder, too, if your concern about the present has made you less aware of a more basic issue in the future. You do not know how many more years you both have ahead of you, but you are in the evening hours of life and before long you must leave this life. Are you prepared for heaven? Jesus said, "I go to prepare a place for you" (John 14:2). Christ died on the cross so that you could be saved by putting your faith in Him. If you have never accepted Christ into your heart, I invite you to do that right now while you still have time. God will not only give you the hope of eternal life, but He will give you strength for living right now.

and Saudi Arabia's King Khalid, none at all with Syria's President Assad.

The obstacles to an Israeli-Egyptian understanding seem almost insurmountable, except for the human factor. Both Sadat and Begin have an enormous personal stake in reaching an agreement. And increasingly, President Carter is finding himself caught in the same boat with them.

POLISHING THE BIG APPLE — Edward Koch, New York City's lanky new mayor, had scarcely jammed his long legs under Fiorello LaGuardia's old desk when he received a blunt message from Treasury Secretary Michael Blumenthal.

THE GUARDIAN of the federal purse strings notified Koch that he cannot count on federal aid forever. The mayor has until Jan. 20 to produce a four-year plan for financing the city's operations. He will also have to find local funds to salvage the city.

For Blumenthal has won a backstage battle with Patricia Harris, the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development, over aid to New York City. Blumenthal put his foot down on extending additional aid. The city, he said at a recent cabinet meeting, must balance its books.

Harris cried out in alarm. Any cut in federal funds, she objected, "would be tantamount to requiring further cuts in essential city services."

Blumenthal responded that the Carter administration had been extraordinarily generous with the ailing city. "New York City received $1 billion more in the first year of the Carter administration," he said, "than in the last year of the Ford administration."

He warned that "continuing to provide loans without forcing the city to take more responsibility for its future will create a precedent for other cities that are in financial trouble."

Blumenthal won the debate, and Koch is now taking lessons in budget balancing.

HEADLINES AND FOOTNOTES — President Carter has begun leaning more heavily on Walter Mondale. The vice president directed the preparation, for example, of Carter's agenda for 1978. The president was so pleased that he praised Mondale to the cabinet.

Sadat Credits U.S.

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's first move after his dramatic visit to Israel last November was to place an overseas call to the White House.

"President Sadat told President Carter," according to a confidential summary of the conversation, "that he would not have gone to Israel had the United States and others not persisted in their efforts over the last ten months to obtain a comprehensive settlement of the Middle East problem."

From that moment, Sadat has sought to involve the United States in the Israeli-Egyptian negotiations. Carter was cautious at first, taking pains to keep a low profile.

At his next cabinet meeting Nov. 21, he confided that he had done "everything possible in recent days to discourage international criticism" of Sadat's bold overture.

THE PRESIDENT also expressed his belief "that all parties are acting in good faith and that the visit will help to end the stalemate." The greatest obstacle, he told the closed-door session, would be "to break down long-standing suspicions and insecurities."

He pledged that the United States "will persist in its efforts to bring about peace in the Middle East." At the same time, he stressed that "peace will not come easily" and that "the negotiation efforts will be tedious."

The president's intention had been to keep out of the negotiations and to encourage both parties from the sidelines. But gradually the United States has been drawn deeper into the give-and-take until it is now an active backstage participant.

The euphoria of the November breakthrough, meanwhile, has given way to hard bargaining. Carter has brought quiet pressure on Israeli Prime Minister Menahem Begin to be more flexible. The president's dealings with Begin have been frustrating. Carter has confided to intimates that the Israeli leader will seem to agree to a concession and then will back off after encountering political opposition.

Carter has also used all the clout he can bring to bear upon Sadat's Arab neighbors to keep them from abandoning Egypt. He has had some success with Jordan's King Hussein

Clubhouse AAUW to sponsor four kids' movies

Helen Ewing was hostess of the Jan. 16 meeting of the American Association of University Women, which met at the Pioneer Natural Gas Co. Members discussed the children's movie project and agreed to sponsor four movies. Movies to be shown include "Dr. Doolittle," Feb. 18; "The Yearling," Feb. 25; "Angel in My Pocket," March 4; and "Journey to the Center of the Earth," March 11.

Committees appointed

Standing committees were appointed at the Thursday meeting of the National Association of Retired and Veteran Railway Employees. The group met at 7 p.m. in the Kentwood Center with president J.C. Pierce presiding. Appointed were audit, C.W. Dickerson, G.P. Morrison and W.C. Cole; entertainment, B.N. Borroughs and Birdie Westbrook; telephone, Mrs. J.W. Widel, Mrs. E.W. Greer, Mrs. P.L. Bradford, Mrs. W.T. Bradberry and Mrs. H.W. McCannless; membership, E.W. Greer, J.T. Anderson, H.W. McCannless and W.E. Wozencraft; card, Mrs. J.T. Gilmore; refreshment, Mrs. S.F. Morrison was elected as delegate to the NARVRE Convention to be held in Des Moines, Ia., May 8-10. Hostesses were Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Greer, Mrs. Pierce and Mrs. C.B. Sullivan. Visitors were Kim Smith, Cathy Cagle, Myrtle Morris and Johnnie Kemper. A pot luck dinner at 6:30 p.m. will precede the next meeting Feb. 16 at the Kentwood Center.

Tickets will be sold for $2 at local elementary schools. Any member who would like to volunteer to help with this project should contact Francis Wheat at 7-5310. Members also agreed to purchase a "friend of youth" membership at the YMCA during the Y's membership drive. The next meeting will be Feb. 20, at which Johnny Johansen will speak on the topic of "Give Your Garden a Change."

Lions welcome a new member

Members of the Downtown Lions Auxiliary welcomed Mrs. Mardell Hamby as a new member at their regular meeting Wednesday at the Spanish Inn. Opal Story was a guest. In a short business meeting the group voted a donation of cookies for the Big Spring State Hospital.

Arbor Day explained

Johnny Johansen spoke on the history of Arbor Day at the Wednesday meeting of the Texas Bouquet African Violet Club. The group met at the Dora Roberts Community Center, and Mrs. O.S. Womack, president, called the meeting to order. Johansen said that the idea for Arbor Day first came from J. Sterlin Morton of Nebraska in April of 1872, and in one year over a million trees were planted in that state. In Texas, Arbor Day is on Washington's Birthday, Feb. 22. The club hosted an Open House at the home of Mrs. A.C. Moore to assist her in giving away her collection of African violets. The open house took place from 2-4 p.m. Sunday. Everyone in attendance received an African violet, and Mrs. Paul Guy won a special African violet.

Feminist leaders criticize Carter

WASHINGTON (AP) — Feminist leaders are saying President Carter isn't doing enough to fill his commitment to women, that he hasn't approached the fervor with which the late President Lyndon B. Johnson pursued civil rights for blacks. Carter is being praised for selecting dozens of well-qualified women for decision-making jobs in his administration. But at the same time women activists are complaining that there haven't been enough of these appointments. They're saying Carter hasn't wholeheartedly embraced some causes he said he supports, while taking negative positions on others. "Overall, we are critical. But we are still supportive and we'll be pushy," said Mildred Jeffries of the National Women's Political Caucus. Many women were infuriated by Carter's stand against federal funding of abortions for poor women and his accompanying statement that "life is unfair."

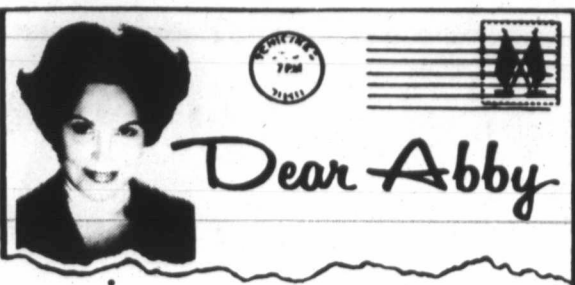

Nevertheless, she said, "We feel that in the legislative season of 1977, the president did too little too late. He did speak out, but he did not speak out enough." The ERA will die unless it is ratified by March 22, 1979. The ratification of three more states is needed for the ERA to be added to the federal Constitution. And three states — Idaho, Nevada and Tennessee — have voted to rescind their ratifications. The Justice Department has said the rescissions are not binding, however. Feminists generally gave the Carter administration the best marks for its selection of women for key government jobs. But even in that area, women activists say they felt the president had done less than promised.

"Yes, the administration has done a better job than the past administration," said Joan McLean, political action coordinator for the women's political caucus. "But from 5 percent (in the Ford administration) to 12 percent is not the significant jump that was promised." Ms. Jeffries complained that women have yet to make a dent in the predominantly male-oriented judicial system. She said Justice Department figures show that of the 394 federal district judges, only five are women. There are six women in the entire federal judiciary system of 525, she added. Carter also was applauded for supporting an increase in the minimum wage, because most hourly workers are women; for drafting a welfare proposal that includes an income floor; and for supporting the reorganization and strengthening of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

Feminists say they will be watching Carter's moves in each of these areas in 1978.

For the record

The infant born to Tom and Kendra Sorley of Lincoln, Neb., is named Elisha Leann, not Elisa Ann, as reported in the Friday Herald.

It's Not Wrong To Be a Virgin

DEAR ABBY: I was shocked by your answer to "36 and still a virgin." How dare you say it's all right for a woman to "live a little" if she's an adult, "feels like it," and hurts no one! I know you haven't the courage to print this, but sex without marriage is a sin before God, and there are no exceptions to this rule. Please read Exodus 20:14; Matthew 5:27; and Ephesians 5:5.

I would have congratulated "36 and still a virgin" and encouraged her to maintain her pure and virtuous record. I would also have told her to drink sage tea when she gets the urge. And also to pray. When she asked you for permission to "live a little" before she died, you should have told her to check with her YWCA, her church, and her city recreation department for wholesome outdoor activities. She is a virtuous queen, and there are thousands like her, including this writer. Sign me... SIXTY AND STILL A VIRGIN, (SILVER SPRING, MD.)

DEAR SIXTY: If one equates virginity with virtue, according to my mail you win by a landslide.

DEAR ABBY: My brother (age 66) and I (63) have been trying to get our father to update his will. He hasn't looked at it for 25 years, and there is much more involved now. Dad is 88 and in fairly good health, so we figure he should attend to his will now, rather than put it off until his health starts to fail.

He has a considerable amount of money and property because Mother died last year and left everything she had to Dad.

When we tell Dad, "You can't take it with you," he says, "I'm not going anywhere." Can you give him the impression that we would like to see him drop dead soon? I assure you that this is not the case.

HIS LOVING CHILDREN

DEAR CHILDREN: You would be doing your father a big favor by urging his lawyer, banker or a close friend to get him to update his will. And if they strike out, urge him yourselves.

DEAR ABBY: When I married, I decided to quit my job and be the perfect wife.

I took cooking lessons and became an accomplished cook in order to entertain my husband's business associates properly. I looked after his clothes to make sure he was always the best dressed man in his company. I kept a spotless house in case he brought someone over for a drink. I never made any dates without checking with him first, so I'd be available whenever he wanted me. I even washed his car every day.

I gave him massages to relax him, and even gave him manicures and pedicures. I actually made a career out of being the perfect wife and helpmate. The harder I tried to make my husband's life easier, the less affectionate he became. Finally he became impatient. His doctor recommended that he see a psychiatrist, who asked to see me.

I was told that because of the incest tabu, no man feels right sleeping with his mother, and I had become a "mother" to him. After a year of therapy for him and four months for me, the situation is improving. I'm letting him "be a man" so he can perform like one. Thanks for listening.

Cynthia Standard honored at shower

A bridal shower honoring Cynthia Standard, bride-elect of John Weeks, was held Friday evening in the fellowship hall of Trinity Baptist Church.

The honoree was attired in a brown and beige pantsuit with a belted jacket, brown blouse with cowl neck and brown accessories.

She was presented a corsage, as were her mother, Mrs. A.N. Standard, and her fiancée's mother, Mrs. George Weeks.

The table was draped with a beige lace-trimmed cloth. Candelabras flanked a brass container of dried flowers and silver and crystal appointments were used.

Mrs. Darrell Ware, sister of the bride-elect, assisted with the gifts.

Hostesses were Mrs. Jerry Stout, Mrs. James Fitts, Mrs. Floyd Williams, Mrs. Jack Shaffer, Mrs. Jesse Majors, Mrs. R.E. Ray, Mrs.

Tom Yeats and Mrs. Roy Watkins.

The couple plans to be married Jan. 28 in Trinity Baptist Church with the Rev. Wendell Parr officiating.

Baby's birth announced

Robbie and Tony Stewart of Bryan have announced the birth of a daughter Jan. 16 in Bryan. The child has been named Tara Echell.

Grandparents of the infant are Mr. and Mrs. L.D. Hayworth, Big Spring, and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Zack Gray, formerly of Big Spring and now of Fort Worth.

Fraziers pay visit

Mr. and Mrs. Don Frazier and boys of Albuquerque, N.M., visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Burns of Ackerly and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Miller Harris of Big Spring for a few days last week.

School enrolls mostly women

NEW YORK (AP) — After several years of steady climb in the proportion of women students, the Columbia University Graduate School of Journalism this fall enrolled more women than men, for the first time in its 65-year history.

Last year the class had 76 men and 75 women; this year 85 women and 70 men entered the Class of '78.

No irregularities in UT investments

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — There are no irregularities in the investment policies of the University of Texas system, a special report from UT officials shows.

"We have been looking at this for several weeks now," said Austin regent Ed Clark, who is chairman of the regents' Land and Investments Committee.

"I am convinced there is not the slightest deviation from the law and not even the slightest irregularity," Clark said Monday in commenting on the special report.

"I am convinced the University of Texas system is in conformance with the law and all good business practices," Clark said in the review of UT investment practices was ordered after reports of investment problems at the University of Houston and Texas State University.

Funds under control of the UT board of regents include endowment funds, such as the Permanent University Fund, various trust funds, retirement of indebtedness funds and other special funds.

The report shows that the Permanent University Fund, which is an endowment fund for both the University of Texas system and the Texas A&M University system, now consists of approximately $988 million in book value of securities and about 2,100,000 acres of land in West Texas. Additions to the fund come primarily from oil and gas and other mineral royalties, bonuses on oil and gas lease sales and mineral lease rentals. All income to the fund is invested in securities and the income from there goes into the Available University Fund, divided between the UT Austin and Galveston campuses and the Texas A&M College Station campus on a 23-13 basis.

The report shows that $927 million of the Permanent University Fund is in long term investments and $60 million in short term investments.

"Safety of principal is the prime consideration in selecting securities for investment," said the report. "Within the framework of this consideration, it is necessary to have a high level of current income, both now and in future years, and that this income be subject to minimum down-side fluctuation."

The Common Trust Fund, now totaling $61 million, is made up of gifts and bequests to various UT system institutions. They are considered permanent endowment funds with the same investment objectives as for the Permanent University Fund, the report said.

The Common Trust Fund includes $55.1 million in long term investments and $5.8 million in short term.

The report shows other UT endowment funds total $11.9 million, life income accounts $2.6 million, interest and sinking fund monies $11.1 million, and reserve fund monies $45.3 million.

The report said the following rules and procedures apply for all investments for the UT system.

"A conservative approach is always adopted."

"There is no 'in-and-out' trading."

"Long term securities are not used as short term investment vehicles."

"There is no use of banker's acceptances, marketable certificates of deposit, repurchase agreements, puts or call options or any type of futures or commodity contracts."

"Transactions are made only through well known brokers and dealers of good reputation."

"Board of Regents' rules and regulations and the Permanent University Fund investment policy 'are adhered to both in letter and in spirit.'"

The report said appropriations to the University of Texas from the state's general revenue fund and certain other funds, including unpledged tuition and laboratory fees, are deposited in the state treasury to be spent in warrants issued by the state comptroller.

"Local funds," which includes income from dormitories, dining halls, bookstores and athletics, are placed in 42 approved banks in the areas where the UT institutions are located.

The report shows that during the week ending Dec. 31, 1977, there was a total of $258.8 million on time deposit.

'Sympathy has no place in jury box'

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — An insurance industry spokesman said Monday there is a growing trend in Texas toward liberal jury awards with many decisions based on emotion rather than facts.

"Sueing people for damages has become a new form of big business in Texas which is clogging our courts, corrupting our jury system and undermining the tradition of honesty and fair play," said Jerry Johns, president of Southern Insurance Information Service in a statement.

"Many jurors in the state are too often being treated like audiences on a television give-away program in which their participation is merely to supply the applause as money is awarded," Johns said.

"Sympathy has no place in a jury box. Plaintiffs in a court case are entitled to just compensation for damages and not retirement income as some Texas jurors seem to believe."

Johns said recent surveys show that jury verdicts have been soaring far beyond the rise in the cost of living. "No one is advocating not compensating someone for their injuries," he said. "But when it reaches the point where excessively high jury awards are rendered then it hurts every person who pays insurance premium."

OC looking for business

ODESSA — The Odessa College trustees have undertaken a search for a new business manager following the unexpected resignation of Malcolm Hensley last Tuesday.

Hensley had served in that capacity for ten years. He said he was dissatisfied with the college president's handling of business policies and the lack of action on the part of the board to correct the president's errors.

Phil Steagle is president of the school.

Webb Bowling Lanes now open to public

Webb Lanes Bowling Alley is now open. It's a really fine facility with ten lanes and you can get on to the base to bowl there.

You simply tell them at the gate that you are going to Webb Lanes. It is advisable that that's what you do then, because the security still keeps a close watch on base activity.

And this is a plus for bowlers whose cars are certainly safe at Webb Lanes.

The bowling alley is leased by Aubrey Neighbors and Aven Shipman is operating it.

The facility is open from 11 a.m. until 11 p.m. or possibly a little later.

There is a snack bar open with sandwiches, chips and soft drinks.

The Webb Lanes hopes to begin some bowling leagues in the near future. Anyone interested should contact Shipman at Webb Lanes. Or ask Aubrey or Jean Neighbors, Barbara Vierra, M.S. Smith or Allen Judy.

OUR FRIENDS & NEIGHBORS

SERVING YOU FOR A BETTER HOWARD COUNTY

DONALD HAMILTON
Donald V. Hamilton is one of the new faces on the Big Spring Police Department. He has been here six months, coming from Breckenridge where he served the police. He also worked on the police departments in Cisco and Dallas. He served in the United States Navy from 1963-67. His home was in Cisco and he attended Cisco Junior College. He and his wife, Eva, have three children, Gerry, Larry and Monica. His hobbies are hunting and fishing. He said that he first decided to make law enforcement his career when working for the Dallas Police Department.

EDDIE OWEN
Eddie Owen has been a deputy sheriff for ten years in Howard County. He was born in Alton, Illinois but has spent most of his life in Texas and Oklahoma. A strong family man, Owen and his wife have five children. Owens also likes country western music and enjoys listening to it. He was an oilfield worker for 30 years prior to going into law enforcement. Owen went into law enforcement because "I like to help people." Owen is a patient lawman and will go to a lot of trouble to help each individual who is having problems. His patience for detail also sees him well in investigating crimes in Howard County.

RAYMOND BEDFORD
Raymond E. Bedford serves as a deputy sheriff for Sheriff A.N. Standard. He has worked at this position for close to two years. Born April 20, 1932, he has spent most of his life in West Texas. His place of birth was Colorado City where he graduated from high school. He has 20 years military service in the U.S. Army and has retired from the army and gone into law enforcement work. Bedford became interested in law enforcement while in the army as a military policeman. He and his wife, Helen have one daughter and four sons. They are Baptist.

Funds for migrants will start flowing

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Don Adams, acting director of the troubled Governor's Office of Migrant Affairs (GOMA), has hired a new deputy and says manpower funds for migrants will start flowing again soon.

Disgruntled employees of the agency say manpower grant holders are laying off because of Adams' freeze on payments.

"We are moving toward honoring those contracts. The auditors tell me the first payments should go out the latter part of this week or the first part of next week," Adams said.

Adams was put in charge of GOMA after Gov. Dolph Briscoe suspended director Rogelio Perez when Perez took the Fifth Amendment in a Brownsville court of inquiry into alleged malfeasance in a manpower program.

Adams hired Mario Morales, 32, away from the Texas Rehabilitation Commission to serve as deputy director for fiscal operations and contract review.

"I suggest you check his qualifications," one dissatisfied employee said.

Morales is a liberal arts graduate of the University of Texas and has spent the past four years analyzing claims for Social Security disability payments.

"Mr. Morales has some auditing experience, some management experience. I think he is a very qualified young man," Adams said.

Adams conferred Monday with Briscoe, who now is saddled with GOMA's problems as a campaign issue.

Adams, who also is Briscoe's general counsel, related his tentative conclusions after three weeks in GOMA.

"I think there is a lot more smoke than there is fire. I haven't found any wrongdoing," he said. "But I am finding things were done in a way I would not have done them."

One of those things was granting of manpower contracts without soliciting bids, he said. This was a complaint of GOMA employees Susan Allen and Domingo Lopez, who informed Briscoe campaign manager Ken Clapp in October about possible problems.

GOMA's 42 "hidden employees," who worked for the agency but drew their pay from Counterpoint Systems, Inc., under a manpower contract, were dismissed effective Feb. 3. Adams said he felt the agency could operate with 14 — eight more than it now has on the state payroll.

Lopez said he complained to gubernatorial aide Rudy Flores five or six times in the past 18 months about how Perez ran the agency, but to no avail.

Lopez said Perez punished him for talking to Flores by curtailing his duties.

GOMA dispenses some $11 million in federal Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) funds annually.

LAND OF GREAT SUNSETS — Supporters of the "Passport to Adventure" series being sponsored locally of the Big Spring Rotary Club will be treated to a narrated film, "Hawaii," starting at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday in the Howard College Auditorium. Hawaii boasts spectacular sunsets like the one pictured here. Most tourists miss them because they are usually in their hotel rooms cleaning up. Ralph Franklin narrates the film.

Big Spring Rotary Club will present 'Hawaii'

The Big Spring Rotary Club presents the second in its "Passport to Adventure" travel series starting at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday in the Howard College Auditorium.

This one is entitled "Hawaii" and will offer as a speaker Ralph Williams, a California explorer who discovered, climbed and photographed the Biblical "Gutter" mentioned in II Samuel 5:8. Williams also filmed King Hezekiah's Tunnel, which dates back to 710 BC.

"Hawaii" offers color on the wide screen, with stereophonic sound.

The first reel, extending about 45 minutes, offers an introduction to Hawaiian history via air, its antiquity and past rules, the bombing of Pearl Harbor, Memorial of the USS Arizona, maps, Diamond Head, Waikiki outrigger canoes and the famed Foster Botanical Gardens.

Also Sea Life Park, a killer whale, a porpoise show, a sugar plantation, fishing villages, hula show and other visual delights.

The second reel concerns a variety of subjects, including Bishop Museum, surfing, the leper colony on Molokai, the University of Hawaii and its students, Miss Hawaii, a three-year-old dancer named Martine Tapu, a helicopter flight to Wailua Falls, a golf sequence, Kilauea's Boobie birds and its flight to the inaccessible Na Pali Coast, setting of Jack London's "Valley of Lost Tribes."

Franklin has been in commercial film production since 1959 and is regarded as a pioneer in producing films in Cinemascope. He has made extensive visits to the Egypt, Jordan, Lebanon, Israel, Greece, the American Southwest and Western Canada, as well as to Hawaii.

Charles Beil is project chairman for the local Rotary Club. Adult season tickets for the series sold for $12.50 each while students were $7.50 for the five programs, last of which is scheduled April 12.

Tickets for the one program can be obtained at the door for $4 each.

Police trial picks begin

HOUSTON (AP) — The selection of 12 jurors and two alternates from a 200-person panel was expected to take at least one week before testimony could be heard in the federal trial of four former Houston policemen accused in the death of a young Mexican-American laborer.

U.S. District Court Judge Ross Sterling dismissed 33 of the possible jurors Monday for family, health, or job reasons, and talked to five others, who probably will be disqualified because they have close relations with law enforcement agencies.

While the jury selection was underway, about a dozen protestors marched outside the federal court building, demanding life imprisonment for the former policemen.

Terry W. Denson, 27, Stephen Orlando, 21, Joseph Janish, 22, and Louis Kinney, 27, were indicted by a federal grand jury of violating the civil rights of Joe Campos Torres, a 23-year-old Mexican-American laborer, karate expert and former serviceman.

The body of Torres was found floating in Buffalo Bayou, a stream that twists and turns through a down of section of Houston, last May 8, three days after he had been arrested during a disturbance at a tavern.

Denson and Orlando were charged with murder in the case, but a state district court jury in Huntsville, about 70 miles north of Houston, convicted the two of negligent homicide, a misdemeanor. The jury, in the punishment phase of the trial, ordered the two placed on probation for one year.

The federal charges, as did he state indictment, accuse the officers of beating Torres and then pushing him into the bayou off a 16-foot high embankment.

Judge Sterling is asking all of the questions of the prospective jurors, using lists prepared, those supplied by defense attorneys, and those from the U.S. Justice Department prosecutors.

Once the jury list is narrowed to 34, the defense

Elbow kindergarten enrollment Thursday

The Elbow Elementary School of the Forsan I.S.D. has set pre-school enrollment for the Kindergarten for 1978-79. This will be done Thursday, Jan. 26, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. Kindergarten is for children who live in our district. No transfers will be accepted in kindergarten.

Full-day kindergarten is offered at Elbow Elementary School. Any who come to be enrolled must be five years old by September 1, 1978.

Those who are presently enrolled in kindergarten this year are already pre-enrolled for first grade next year. However, if there are any children who will be six by September 1, 1978 who are not attending our kindergarten, these will need to be enrolled Thursday, also.

Birth certificates will be needed at this time. Health forms will be handed out at this time.

For further information, please contact W.R. Cregar, Principal, Elbow Elementary School, phone 398-5444.

If you know any neighbors that will have a child five years old on or by Sept. 1, 1978, please notify them of this pre-enrollment.

Forsan Road widening hinted

The Forsan Road may become a state highway in the near future.

The Howard County Commissioners agreed Monday to obtain the necessary right of way for widening the road which connects Highway 87 with Forsan and turn it over to the state highway department for a possible connection to Highway 87.

Traffic has increased greatly on the road in recent years. It is the road used by almost everyone who goes in and out of Forsan including almost all the students, who reside in the Forsan District on the southwest edge of Big Spring.

It is also used by oilfield equipment and by school buses. County commissioners readily agreed that it would be a real good thing to have it designated as a state highway and will be obtaining the right of way for necessary widening of the road.

This item was discussed Monday morning at Howard County Commissioners Court followed by the awarding of the bid on moving T-Hangers from the county airport to the new municipal airport.

The low bid for moving the three hangers went to Charles Hood Housemovers of Big Spring on a low of $32,104. It was lower than Bob Southit House Movers of Odessa who listed a price of $49,823.62 without tiedown and Ray S. Valencia of Big Spring, who listed $62,500 with tiedown.

The county also agreed to do necessary dirt work where the hangers are to be located along with the city's paving there where needed, if approved by the city council.

Homosexual ministers

NEW YORK (AP) — The United Presbyterian Church faces a showdown vote in May on accepting the ordination of acknowledged homosexuals after a committee report recommended that they be accepted.

By a majority of 15 to 5, a United Presbyterian task force Monday asked the church to adopt a policy that a homosexual may be ordained "if the person manifests such gifts as are required for ordination."

The five dissenting members asked the church to declare that "our present understanding of God's will for his people precludes the ordination of avowed, practicing homosexuals."

The church's governing general assembly will meet in May in San Diego to consider the task force's recommendations.

A majority of the denomination's 2.6-million members strongly oppose ordination of homosexuals.

A recent national sampling of opinion in church found that 71 percent of members and 68 percent of pastors would regard it as improper to ordain a homosexual.

An even larger majority — 80 percent of members and 73 percent of pastors — indicate they would not accept such a person as their pastor.

The task force, chaired by Virginia Davidson, a Rochester, N.Y., lay woman, includes biblical scholars, theologians and specialists in counseling, medicine and the social sciences.

The issue grew out of a query posed by the New York City presbytery, the local church governing unit, asking the national assembly to rule in 1976 whether an acknowledged homosexual, otherwise qualified, could be ordained.

That assembly held that such an ordination "would at the present time be injudicious if not improper," but set up the special task force to provide more light on the question.

In effect, the task force majority said decisions about ordination should be left where they always have been — with local congregations and local governing presbyteries having the duty of determining "the fitness of candidates."

Snyder getting new business

SNYDER — Northern Electric Co., headquartered in Laurel, Miss., will shortly open a plant here for the manufacture of electric blankets.

Jimmy Daniels will be operations manager of the concern. The plant will likely be in limited operation within a month. Upwards to 150 people may eventually be employed by the firm within one year and the ultimate employment could exceed 400.

They also told the commissioners that the medical director for the Midland-Ector Howard County board of health has resigned after seven years. A recommendation for his replacement will be made by the health record.

They also approved the monthly report of Orville Starritt, county trapper of 23 coyotes and three bobcats last month.

The names of Robert Kelso and Lloyd Underwood were drawn from the grand jury wheel to serve on the county grievance committee.

A letter was read from the Salvation Army thanking the commissioners for donation of surplus commodities to the program.

They also accepted the interlocal agreement for the Texas Association of Counties Unemployment Compensation Ground Account Fund.

"For every way to use electricity in the kitchen, there's a way to use it more efficiently."

"Keeping your heating and cooling costs down are the biggest ways to save electricity, but there are lots of little ways, too.

Part of my job is finding the most economical way to use your kitchen appliances. Here are some ideas I've found useful:

Use flat-bottomed pans. The flatter the pan the better its contact with the cooking unit. A tight-fitting lid on your pan will reduce cooking time.

Use less water. By cooking vegetables with the least amount of water possible, you'll improve their appearance, nutritive value, and save electricity.

Reduce cooking time. Thaw meats before cooking them. This will save cooking time and energy.

Use your oven timer. Opening your oven door unnecessarily causes heat loss and extended cooking time.

Get our free booklet, 'Tips To Help You Use Electricity More Efficiently Throughout Your Home.' Copies are available in our office or you can request one on the comment portion of your electric service bill."

What energy crisis?

Hawks edged by one in thriller-chiller

Take the last 2½ minutes of each of the two games played in Hawk Gym Monday night, send the videotapes of same through a steam turbine and you have enough energy to heat up six houses in Guyman, Oklahoma all winter.

The Howard College-Western Texas rivalry definitely lived up to its reputation twice over. If you haven't heard, both the Hawks and the Queens lost by one point in a pair of games that were viewing jewels for the fans.

The action stayed somewhere near fast-motion and a blur all night long between the two baskets, and a rock-'em, sock-'em, physically demanding war of muscle underneath the cords.

After a first half filled with fouls and non-fouls, thrown elbows and upper-body jostling, beleaguered sophomore Eugene Williams sat on the bench before second half play began pondering the age-old question: "What does it all mean?"

Was the action underneath the boards as brutal as it looked, a local sports editor asked. "It's rough," Williams said, bruises beginning to ripen.

"But we're gonna beat 'em," he said confidently. And they almost did, too.

For those who watched the "Heart-attack Hawks" last night, and there were a bunch of you, the answer to the question that is swimming through your head like a tiny Mark Spitz, "How did they lose?", is the following: LUCK! With a capital "L", and that rhymes with hell and I'll tell you why.

You see, it's like Notre Dame and UCLA. Whenever those two teams get together, more often than not the Irish luck out in some manner, even though UCLA always plays a good game and more often than not, deserves to win.

"The Luck of the Westerners." It happens all the time. But I guess that's why the rivalry is so intense and the games are always so good.

It's good entertainment. It's good basketball. It's a fine way to spend an otherwise blue Monday night in Big Rock.

The Hawks have four more home games, and all of them are very important conference clashes. This Thursday night, the locals host South Plains. The rivalry may not be there yet, but the action will surely be.

The game is a MUST. The Hawks are hungry. Result? Last second "Heart-attack Hawk" action supreme.

Sports Editor
If the Howard College Hawks don't hear the name "Adam Beadle" for another 100 years, it'll still be too soon.

That Western Texas College forward with the deadly aim and electric hand bombed the buckets at Hawk Gym for 32 points, and swished in the win-securing two-pointer with two seconds remaining in Monday night's game to send the Preybirds to the lockers with a dirt-kicking 75-74 loss. With Beadle hitting nine out of 12 from the floor (75 per cent) during the first half, and the Hawks missing the front ends of seven one and one gratis shots during the same time, the Snyderites pulled out to a nine-point bulge, 46-37, at intermission.

The Preybirds committed only five turnovers the first half, but with super sophomore Russell Sublet throttled from the field, the locals couldn't make any headway against the "Beadle Express."

The WTC crew may have won the first half and the game, but the Hawks were in control of the second half from the opening tip-off. HC scored six unanswered points in 90 seconds on a 30-foot bomb and lay-up by Robby Randolph and a slippery move to the basket by Casey Wilder.

Then Beadle found the range again, and the Hawks were down by nine before the nylon quit smoking on WTC's basket.

With 12:30 remaining in the game, HC went to a man on man defense, in an attempt to shut Beadle down. The strategy worked, because just six minutes later, after deliberate defense and a wild stealing, scoring, stuffing display by Big Joe Cooper, the Hawks had the lead for the first time, 61-60.

Johnny James' sinker from the corner put the Hawks out in front to stay, until the final two seconds of the game, that is. Russell Sublet hit six of his last seven field goals, and Eugene Williams aided Cooper with the broom-work on the boards, to keep the visitors in handcuffs until the final minute of play.

With 1:28 remaining, HC held a 74-70 lead. Four turnovers and a missed rebound made the near-capacity crowd realize that the Hawks were slowly letting the victory slip from their fingers.

Beadle's 15-foot jumper following the last turnover settled that nagging feeling once and for all.

"We made five mistakes in that last minutes," said Harold Wilder. "If we could've done one of those

Payton robs AFC of Pro Bowl win

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — The National Football League season ended not with a bang but with a whimper. "We wuz robbed!" the American Conference cried after losing the Pro Bowl to Walter Payton and the National Conference.

Payton, who got a standing ovation at halftime Monday night after being introduced to 50,716 fans in Tampa Stadium as the NFL's Most Valuable Player, got two more later on.

One came when he crashed through the left side of the line to score the fourth-quarter touchdown which wiped out the last vestiges of the AFC's 13-0 halftime lead and carried the AFC to a 14-13 triumph.

The other came after his 66-yard rushing performance, when he was named the game's outstanding player.

The big play of the game came about minutes after Payton's decisive touchdown, with barely three minutes to go. Oakland quarterback Ken Stabler, who had ripped up the NFC secondary with passes in the second period, one of them good for 10 yards and a touchdown to Raiders teammate Cliff Branch, had the AFC moving again.

But on a second-and-9 situation at the NFC 26-yard line, San Francisco defensive tackle Cleveland Elam led a swarm of defenders for a 6-yard sack of Stabler. It took the AFC out of field goal range — Toni Linhart's 52-yard attempt was short with 2:58 left — and the AFC-Creaver got the ball again.

Pro Bowl rules say blitzing is illegal "except on third down and short-yardage situations by outside linebackers." That's what had the AFC up in arms.

Watson rampaging, wins Crosby again

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — A warning to America's touring golf pros: Watch out, fellers. Tom Watson is on another rampage.

He's won twice in three starts. And if that's not strong enough, try this: He says he isn't even playing very well yet. He hopes to get his game sorted out in the next two or three weeks.

"It's kind of hot and cold," he said after a playoff victory Monday over Ben Crenshaw in the rain-delayed Bing Crosby National Pro-Am. "The club doesn't feel as good in my hand as it did last year. I've still got some problems."

He also has two titles for the season, a successful defense of the tournament that triggered his 1977 Player of the Year performance and a running start on another leading money-winning effort. The $45,000 he collected from the total purse of $225,000 pushed his three-week earnings to $87,600.

With hopes of improving his game — in the last 53 weeks he's only won the British Open, a Spanish title, the Masters, six other American events and approximately $450,000 — he now goes to San Diego. Oh, yes, he's the defending champion there, too.

He'll play the next three weeks and then take some time off — regardless of any streak he may have going.

His performance has been awesome. It is reminiscent of Jack Nicklaus at his best, the one-year heroics of Lee Trevino (1971), Tom Weiskopf (1973), Johnny Miller (1974), and, come to

Steers host Eagles

The Big Spring Steers host the Abilene Eagles, winners of the first half 5-4A basketball crown, tonight at 8 o'clock in Steer Gym. A junior varsity contest will precede the game at 6:15 p.m.

The Bovines, who had their final first half game with San Angelo cancelled because of weather, will be opening second half play with a full compliment.

Abilene beat the Steers 81-46 earlier in the season and will be coming to town with one of the league's top scorers, 6-7 David Little.

The locals also host Midland Friday night.

'Longhorns were resurrected' — Lemons

By the Associated Press
If Texas Coach Abe Lemons wasn't a religious man before Monday night's tense overtime victory over Texas A&M, he is now.

"We were resurrected," Lemons wheezed after his 15th-ranked Longhorns shot a miserable 29 percent in the first half, but rallied to edge the Aggies 79-77 in College Station and maintain their Southwest Conference lead.

"I believe in life after death. I sure do," he added.

Lemons wasn't the only SWC coach put through the overtime wringer Monday night, as Ron Brewer tossed in a 20-foot jump shot at the buzz to spark Eddie Sutton's sluggish, sixth-ranked Arkansas Razorbacks to a 56-55 overtime victory over Baylor in Waco.

The close escapes by Texas and Arkansas kept them and idle Texas Tech atop the SWC race. The Longhorns are at 6-0, while Arkansas and Texas Tech follow at 5-1.

The Longhorns stumbled through the first half, trailing 35-27 at intermission. But they knotted the score at 66-65 with 1:46 remaining in regulation when John Moore converted a three-point play.

The Aggies, stalling for the last shot, failed in their upset bid when Steve Sylestine missed two shots and Wally Swanson missed another in the final 13 seconds.

The Longhorns, now 14-2 for the season, then bolted to a six point lead in the overtime, hitting eight of their 14 points from the free throw line.

"It wasn't a shooting match for us, but when you win, you really don't care," said Lemons, whose team hit 21 of 30 free throws in the rough, physical battle.

"I am putting Krivacs and Baxter in for a purple heart," Lemons said of Jim Krivacs and Ron Baxter, who combined for 48 points. "It was a very, very rough game."

Noting that Krivacs missed four free throws, Lemons said, "The reason Krivacs missed those free throws is no one was hanging on his arm."

Hawk Queens lose second game

GIMME THAT BALL — Jan Phillips is controlling the rebound which she and Paula St. Julian of the Hawk Queens as well as Jackie Rose of the West Texas team were all trying to grab as their own. Turnovers cost the Queens the ballgame in a 65-66 loss Monday night.

they lost a game to Temple in a tournament by one point. That loss was almost a victorious one because Temple is listed as the third best girl's team in the nation.

But the loss Monday night was a bitter pill, because the Queens have the better ball club as they demonstrated in the first half, when they stayed out front all the way. Nobody has ever won this conference in the girl's division except Western College and the Hawk Queens played early in the second half like they wanted to be sure the Westerners didn't lose that reputation.

Some 22 turnovers for Howard College against only 10 for Western College spelled the difference in the game. A lot of these occurred just after the second half of play began.

A team that had been hot with Tami Edwards slapping points in the basket and Letha and Bev Strickland shooting from outside suddenly turned sour and also began to fall apart defensively.

Balls were hurled in the wrong direction and guards were let down under the baskets.

Paula St. Julian began to hit late in the game to take up some of the slack and Edwards also got moving in the final nine minutes but the damage was done.

Letha Strickland put in baskets at crucial moments to keep the Queens 54-52 and 56-52, with St. Julian later making it 59-52, but Jackie Rose and Cindy Luttrull from Western College took over the waning moments of the contest.

In the first half, the Queens played massive defense with Linda Batla even rolling on the floor at one point to save the ball and St. Julian, Edwards, Phillips and the two Stricklands stealing balls and snagging rebounds right and left.

Coach Don Steven's Queens play another crucial game here Thursday night

Five join Hall ranks

TAMPA, Fla. — Weeb Ewbank, the only man ever to coach champions in both the National Football League and the old American Football League, was among five men named to the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

Joining Ewbank in the induction ceremonies July 29 at Canton, Ohio, will be modern-day performers Lance Alworth, Ray Nitschke and Larry Wilson, and oldtimer Alfonso "Tuffy" Leemans.

Alworth, Nitschke and Wilson were elected in their first year of eligibility, after the mandatory five-year waiting period following retirement.

Ewbank, 70, guided the Baltimore Colts to NFL titles in 1958 and 1959.

Lee to name coach today

MIDLAND — The new head football coach at Midland Lee High School was due to be named at a special meeting of the school board at 1:30 p.m. today.

More than 70 persons applied for the job. Gene Mayfield, former Odessa Permian coach, reportedly turned down the job several weeks ago.

Jim Acree resigned the position last month after serving eight years on the job. The Rebels were placed on probation by District 5-AAAA's executive committee for allegedly violating training rules.

Blue hearing persists

NEW YORK (AP) — Would Vida Blue find out today where he would be working during the 1978 baseball season? Probably not, although Commissioner Bowie Kuhn hoped to move closer to the answer of that ticklish question when hearings resumed into the pitcher's sale to the Cincinnati Reds.

At issue was the $1.75 million that Oakland owner Charles O. Finley pocketed from the Reds when he peddled Blue to Cincinnati late last year. That price far out-distanced the informal $400,000 limit that Kuhn had placed on the sale of players from one team to another.

Nineteen months ago, when Finley tried to sell Blue to the New York Yankees for $1.5 million and also attempted to send outfielder Joe Rudi and pitcher Rollie Fingers to Boston for $1 million each, Kuhn vetoed the deals, using his power to block any moves that he considered not in the best interests of baseball.

Finley and the Reds considered the Blue deal in their best interests, though, and were trying to get the commissioner's approval.

Bama upsets top dog Wildcats

By the Associated Press
The brawny Kentucky Wildcats have been tearing apart the country this season, but Monday night they finally got caught with their points down.

"It was evident," said Coach Joe Hall, "that after the tempo of the first five minutes, we weren't in it."
The nation's top-ranked college basketball team stood around like "watching the festivities at a fair," according to Hall, and as a result lost a 78-62 decision to sky-high Alabama.

"It was a bitter defeat, no question about that," said Hall after losing his first game of the year in the unfriendly atmosphere of Alabama's electrified arena in Tuscaloosa. "They were psyched up and the crowd was going wild."

Actually, it was a little more than psychology that led to Kentucky's first loss after 14 victories. It was C.M. Newton's game plan. "We knew we couldn't match Kentucky in size and knew we'd have some mismatches," said the Alabama coach of his decision to go with a three-guard starting lineup. "But it created mismatches for Kentucky, too — their size and strength couldn't match our quickness."

The Alabama defense was an obvious factor, too, as was Reggie King's 26 points. The results were almost disastrous for two of the nation's other ranked teams as No. 4 Arkansas had problems before subduing Baylor 56-55 in overtime and No. 15 Texas outlasted Texas A&M 79-77 in a similarly tough overtime game.

But for the time being . . .

By The Associated Press
The Kentucky Wildcats have retained their familiar No. 1 ranking in college basketball, but no sooner did they get a sweeping vote of confidence from the nation's pollsters than they got no respect from Alabama.

The Wildcats were given a perfect score of 56 first-place votes and 1,120 points in today's edition of the weekly Associated Press poll, but the voting was based on last week's results and naturally came before Monday night's shocking 78-62 upset by the Crimson Tide.

Alabama, an early-season team in the Top Twenty, was not among the blue ribbon group but made some points toward re-entry in next week's poll.

Before Monday night's upset by Alabama handed the Wildcats their first loss of the season, Kentucky had won its 13th and 14th games last week with easy conquests of Mississippi and Mississippi State.

Marquette remained in the No. 2 spot with 960 points after turning back DePaul and Washington, but thereafter the Top Twenty was considerably shaken up. North Carolina, No. 5 a week ago, moved up to No. 3 after victories over North Carolina State and Maryland. The Tar Heels received 802 points to hold a secure lead over No. 4 Arkansas, which moved up two spots after beating Texas A&M and TCU. The Razorbacks collected 666 points from the national panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Notre Dame jumped two spots to No. 5 with 581 points after victories over Manhattan, Villanova and UCLA. The Bruins' second Elsewhere, No. 5 Notre Dame lamed back Dartmouth 78-64 and No. 19 DePaul walloped St. Louis 100-81.

Ron Brewer hit a 20-foot jump shot at the buzzer to give sluggish Arkansas its tense victory over Baylor and keep the Razorbacks on the heels of Texas in the Southwest Conference race. The Longhorns kept a step ahead by beating Texas A&M as Jim Krivacs scored 26 points. The Aggies had a chance to win the game, but missed three shots in the last 13 seconds of regulation.

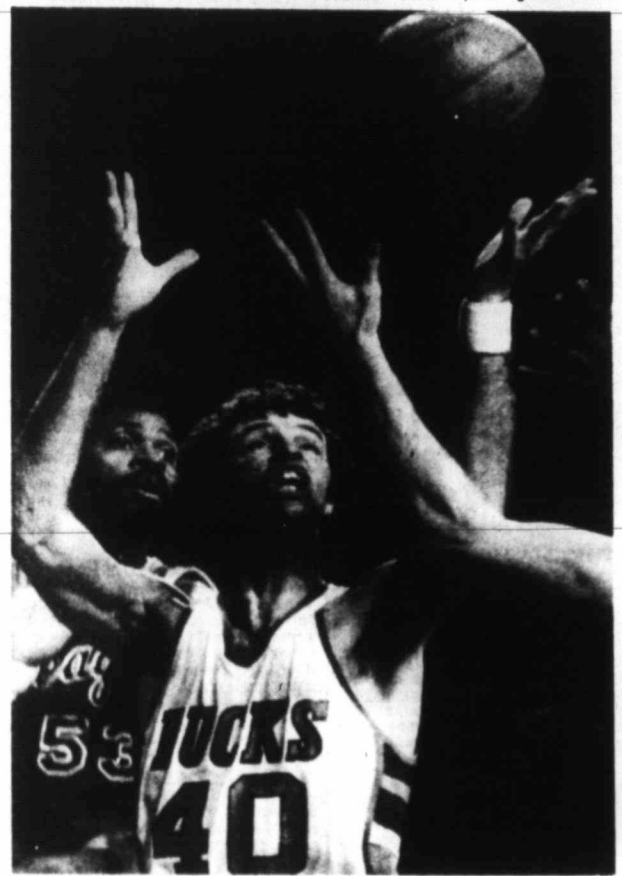

Dave Batton and Duck Williams each scored 18 points to lead Notre Dame's victory. DePaul whipped St. Louis with the help of Curtis Watkins' 20 points.

In other games, Cincinnati defeated Pitt 87-80 in overtime as Bob Miller scored 15 points; Ken Page's 18 points led Ohio State over Michigan 80-71; Rudy Macklin's 25 points and 13 rebounds powered LSU over Auburn 90-79 and Southern Illinois stopped Wichita State 66-59 as Milton Huggins scored 16 points.

No joy in Finleyville

OAKLAND (AP) — There was little joy in San Francisco and Denver today after Oakland A's owner Charles O. Finley struck out in his bid to sell the once mighty club to oilman Marvin Davis.

Davis withdrew Monday a $12 million offer to purchase the A's and move them to Denver. He said he balked because of a lawsuit by the Oakland Coliseum to keep Finley from bowing out of a 10-year lease.

A disappointed Finley said he would be forced to keep the A's in Oakland — at least for now.

In San Francisco, Mayor George Moscone and Giants President Robert Lurie glumly predicted the baseball bombshell meant the battle for fickle Bay area baseball fans would drag on.

Both San Francisco and Oakland have suffered lagging attendance since Finley moved his team out from Kansas City prior to the 1968 season. Finley conceded Monday the area is too small for two teams.

"Two teams can't survive," Finley said in a telephone interview from his Chicago home. "It might end up that there'll be no baseball at all in Oakland."

"I'll have to stay in Oakland," the ailing owner said, adding that spring training preparations would begin on schedule. But Finley said he could end up in "bankruptcy."

The A's drew a measly 495,578 fans last season, worst in the major leagues. The Giants drew 700,056, the worst in the National League.

San Francisco Mayor George Moscone said the American League made a "serious mistake" when it permitted Finley to move the A's to Oakland.

A member of Colorado Gov. Richard Lamm's staff said his boss "felt it was a great disappointment. He felt Denver could well support a baseball team."

Davis announced his decision through his attorney and was not available to discuss the statement.

Back then we played for fun, Sonny

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Tuffy Leemans surveyed the roster of budding millionaires — some of them already in full bloom — playing in the Pro Bowl game and reflected: "In my day, we played for fun, not for money."

Leemans, 65, played for the 1936-43 New York Giants primarily as a fullback in the era of the all-purpose player, and he did it well enough to be one of five men named Monday to the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

The others, closer to the current generation, were Weeb Ewbank, who coached the Baltimore Colts and New York Jets to titles; wide receiver Lance Alworth of the San Diego Chargers, the first superstar of the American Football League; safety Larry Wilson of the St. Louis Cardinals, whose name is synonymous with the safety blitz, and linebacker Ray Nitschke, the first defensive player from the Green Bay Packers dynasty of the 1960s to be elected to the Hall.

Alworth, Wilson and Nitschke were elected in their first year of eligibility following the mandatory five-year wait after retirement. The selection of the five by sports writers and broadcasters from each National Football League city brings the Hall's membership to 98. They will be formally inducted July 29 when the NFL opens the exhibition season with the Hall of Fame game, Philadelphia vs. Miami at Canton, Ohio.

"I got $3,500 and no bonus when I signed my first contract with the Giants," Leemans recalled. He finished his career with 3,142 yards rushing, 2,324 yards passing, scored 20 touchdowns and passed for 16 — and was also a receiver, a defensive back and a punt-thrower.

Ewbank, 70, who retired as the Jets' head coach after the 1973 season, is the only man ever to coach title teams in the NFL (the 1958 and 1959 Colts) and the AFL (the 1968 Jets). He coached professionally for 25 years, five as Paul Brown's assistant at Cleveland.

PGA sued by golfers

HOUSTON (AP) — Jay Hebert, who earned a lifetime exemption from qualifying for Professional Golfers' Association (PGA) tournaments by winning the 1960 PGA Championship, can't understand why the PGA now wants to take away that exemption.

"I guess they just like current talent on the tour," Hebert said Monday after he and 11 other pro golfers filed suit against the PGA in an attack against a new PGA rule that would eliminate lifetime exemptions to players who won the PGA or U.S. Open prior to 1970.

"Time takes care of everything," the 54-year-old Hebert said. "Either you run out of money or time. But I guess they (PGA) are impatient or maybe they are getting pressure from the other side (younger players on the tour)."

The suit was filed in the state district court of Judge Peter Solito Monday by attorney Jack McConn of Houston representing Hebert, Jackie Burke, Julius Boros, Doug Ford, Lionel Hebert, Don January, Dave Marr, Bobby Nichols, Bob Rosburg, Gene Sarazen, Sam Snead and Ken Venturi.

The suit seeks a temporary injunction to keep the PGA from enforcing the new rule, which would force the older players to meet certain qualification standards instead of relying on their exemptions.

Alworth, 37, the first "pure" AFL player to be selected to the Hall of Fame, finished his career with 10,286 yards — the only other player to gain 10,000 receiving yards with Don Maynard — and 85 touchdowns. He set records with 1,000 yards receiving in seven straight seasons and with at least one reception in 96 straight games.

He was drafted in 1962 by San Diego after the Chargers traded three players to Oakland to get the selection. And he was also drafted by San Francisco in the NFL.

Kirk to fill Klein post

PLAINVIEW — The head coaching job at Klein High School likely will be filled by George Kirk, now similarly employed by Plainview High School. An announcement is forthcoming today.

Kirk, a native of Littlefield, had a 23-15-2 record at Plainview.

At Klein, Kirk would succeed Burr Davis, who quit after leading Klein to a 6-4 record in 1977. Klein is in District 16-AAAA.

Gone to the dogs

with Marj Carpenter

There is one day a year when we have to admit that Big Spring has gone to the dogs. That's the day that the Big Spring Kennel Club holds their annual dog show which brings in a couple thousand people from across the United States.

Now Big Spring, as we all know, is doing great - and it looks as though there may be a big jubilation and air show and dedication of the municipal airport about mid-April.

We all need to cross our fingers and wish for rain for the farmers and ranchers and wish for the successful awarding of the contract to Lockheed Aircraft and we're all going to be in for a great year.

Of course - there's also the farmers' current demands. I don't know all that I should know about parity and a lot of other things, but I do know that I'm for farmers and ranchers and always have been.

Back in the days when most of the politicians forgot to even mention them I've been out in the dust and the mud plugging for farmers and ranchers. But whatever else they have accomplished with their facts and figures, they have gotten themselves some attention.

And now if it will just rain, as well, things may be looking up.

Every year for eleven years, the Big Spring Kennel Club puts on a great show. Wm. B. Wright has been active in helping stage this thing for years.

You have to see it to believe it. If you've never gone out there, you would be in for a real surprise.

These dogs are the most pampered animals I've ever seen - except possibly thoroughbred horses.

There are big men with little dogs and little women

Right to distribute pamphlets challenged

WASHINGTON (AP) - A Texas firm that challenged the right of a union to distribute pamphlets containing political material on company property was granted a hearing Monday by the Supreme Court.

The company, Eastex Inc., argued that union leaflets should only take positions directly related to activities affecting the firm and its workers.

It objected to portions of the circulars, which were distributed in 1974, that urged workers to oppose a proposed "right to work" provision in the state constitution, and attacked then-President Richard M. Nixon for vetoing a minimum wage bill.

The company said the practice posed a "danger of disruption and dissension arising from the distribution of handouts addressing controversial topics, especially political ones."

It also complained that its property rights were violated.

The union, a local of the United Paperworkers International, had won its case before the National Labor Relations Board in a ruling that was upheld by the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

In a legal brief for the labor board that urged the Supreme Court to reject the appeal by Eastex, the Justice Department said union leaflets should be allowed to go beyond collective bargaining issues between a company and its workers.

Radioactive contamination PLATTEVILLE, Colo. (AP) - A cloud of radioactive material escaped from a stack at the Fort St. Vrain nuclear power plant Monday, authorities said.

The amount of radiation that escaped was not known, said a spokesman for Public Service Co. of Colorado, which owns the plant. A plant spokesman said the cause of the leak was not immediately known.

The plant was evacuated, and four or five workers were being treated for possible radioactive contamination, said Don Bower, Weld County sheriff.

The Colorado State Patrol and the sheriff's department sealed off all roads into the area, but there was no evacuation of the farm-houses scattered through the vicinity.

Bower said the cloud of radiation was moving away from the plant in a south-westerly direction toward Denver, 35 miles away.

Krueger maps talks in WT

Democratic Senatorial Candidate Bob Krueger, congressman from the 21st District of Texas, will bring his Senate campaign back to West Texas this Saturday.

The New Braunfels Democrat will meet and visit with citizens in Pecos, Reeves, Hudspeth, Upton and Glasscock counties.

Krueger, who is a cattle rancher, will breakfast with supporters in Fort Stockton at 7:00 a.m. and announce his Pecos County Steering Committee. From there he will fly to stock shows in Pecos at 9:00 a.m., Sierra Blanca at 11:45 a.m., and Rankin at 3:30 p.m. Krueger will wind up his brisk schedule by visiting with supporters in Garden City at 6:45 p.m. and will announce his Glasscock County Steering Committee.

Krueger was first elected to Congress in 1974 from the sprawling Central and West Texas district which covers 19 per cent of the land area of the state.

Since beginning his campaign last summer Krueger has visited more than 160 counties in the state.
