Perils of family farming

Texans talk to Ag panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Ray Roberts, D-Texas, the first of more than 100 persons scheduled to testify before the House Agriculture Committee this week, preached the perils of family farming to his fellow congressmen this morning.

The committee began hearings because of the recent outcry by farmers of low farm prices.

"Our farmers are facing a very real financial crisis — that of decreasing and rapidly escalating costs," said the McKinney congressman. "While they produce the one commodity we cannot do without, they do not make enough to even buy their own product from the grocery shelf."

Roberts urged his colleagues to consider legislation that would "change the direction of federal priorities in agriculture to the goals of strengthening the position of the family farmer, helping young farmers become established in farming, improving and maintaining the soil and water and food quality and improving the economy of rural communities in general."

Roberts also said that unless the Congress acts immediately to improve farm prices, "we may well find ourselves without enough farmers to feed ourselves in the not-too-distant future."

He pointed out that farmers are only paid three cents for the wheat in a loaf of bread while the wrapper costs five cents and that a "$225 bale of cotton brings over $9,000 when bought in shirts."

More than 50 persons sporting American Agricultural Movement buttons or caps crowded into the committee hearing room and another 100 listened to the proceedings in an adjoining room over a public address system.

Roberts was the first of six congressmen to testify this morning. Scheduled to testify later today were Texas State Rep. Lyndon Olson, D-Waco, and Ken Lane, a Haskell farmer. Of the more than 100 persons scheduled to testify between now and Valentine's Day, 43 of them are from Texas.

The committee is comprised of 47 members — three of them Texans.

Weatherford man in race for congressional seat

CREWS McCULLOUGH

Democrat Crews McCullough, a 46-year-old Weatherford businessman, has announced he will seek the position of U.S. Congressman from the 17th Congressional District, subject to action in the May 6 Democratic Primary election.

McCullough thus becomes the eighth person to file for the post. Seven of them are Democrats.

McCullough says he believes that a Congressman should be qualified for the post and stresses that his varied background has given him the experiences and qualifications for the position. His background includes that of combat veteran, foreign area specialist, farmer, rancher, manufacturer and businessman.

McCullough views agriculture, energy and inflation as the most crucial issues facing the district and the nation and sees them as being closely related.

He has firsthand knowledge of the problems faced by the farmer and rancher, and says he will work to secure 100 per cent of parity. He grew up on a farm and from 1965 to 1971 owned and operated more than 6,500 acres in cotton, grain and cattle. Other interests included a farm implement dealership, fish farm, cotton gin, and farm supply. He liquidated his farming interests because of decreasing prices and increasing government regulations. He states, "Liquidation can be financially devastating. I'm still paying for my decision."

In the field of energy, McCullough said that he would fight for total deregulation of all oil and gas production.

McCullough is a highly decorated veteran, serving in Korea and again in Vietnam. As a member of the famed Green Berets, he commanded a battalion of 850 men. Among his decorations are the Silver Star for gallantry in action and the Purple Heart for wounds received. He is trained in the use of nuclear weapons and understands their effects. He worked abroad more than five years with U.S. and allied governmental agencies. His work and travels have taken him to nineteen nations.

He holds a bachelor of arts degree in history and social science and has done graduate study in those fields.

McCullough sees other important issues being education, tax reform, Social Security, health care, improved rural housing, care for the elderly and national defense.

McCullough is the owner of Red Carpet Realtors, Weatherford. He is married to the former Majorie Henry. They have two daughters, Sharon and Jane, both Weatherford High School sophomores. The McCulloughs are members of Couts Memorial United Methodist Church in Weatherford. McCullough is a past lay leader and serves the congregation as trustee, administrative board member and Sunday school teacher.

Hangar bids authorized

The Big Spring City Council met today and approved the publication of notice to bidders for the construction of a metal hangar to be built at the Big Spring Airport.

The building will be built according to the specifications of Lockheed Aircraft should the California-based firm receive a contract to modify aircraft for the U.S. government.

The City Council specified that contractors bidding on the building should include with their bids expenses they would incur in planning and engineering the building prior to actual construction in case Lockheed does not receive the defense contract and therefore, doesn't come to Big Spring.

Since construction on the building will not be started until on or about April 1, the city proposes to pay the pre-construction expenses should Lockheed cancel before the building is begun; the city should receive word within the next two months as to whether or not Lockheed is coming.

The council also granted permission for City Manager Harry Nagel to submit an application for some $30,000 in funds from the Texas Commission on Alcoholism. The city proposes to match the funds with $45,580.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: In violation

Q. I received a solicitation phone call and before I could answer a question asked by the caller I had to hang up because my little boy was falling out of his high chair. I plugged in my phone recorder and turned up the volume so I could hear as well as record any calls. Then the same man called back. I recognized the voice and background noise — and made vulgar remarks, which was taped. Isn't it a violation to use abusive language over the phone?

A. The Texas Penal Code provides that a person commits an offense if he knowingly or recklessly annoys, alarms or intends to alarm someone over the phone by intentionally using vulgar, profane, obscene or indecent language. Violations of this law should be reported to the telephone company business office and the police.

Three-Democrat race

Sadler files for RR commission

Jerry Sadler, a frequent last-minute candidate for statewide office, filed Monday morning as a candidate for the unexpired term of former Commissioner Jim Langdon on the Texas Railroad Commission.

The filing deadline for all candidates, statewide or local, was 6 p.m. Monday.

Sadler's entry makes it a three-way contest in the Democratic primary. Other candidates are John Poerner, Hondo, now serving in Langdon's seat until the November election, and former state representative Ray Lemmon of Houston. Langdon stepped down to enter private law practice.

Commission chairman Mack Wallace is a candidate for the full six-year term on the ballot.

No Republicans have filed for the Railroad Commission.

Sadler, 79, of Grapeland, lost a runoff battle in 1976 to Commissioner Jon Newton. He led a field of eight candidates in the first primary.

Sadler previously served as a member of the Railroad Commission and was state land commissioner.

"I'm running because I believe at this time we need experience on the railroad commission," Sadler said Monday. "We have 76 billion barrels of known, recoverable oil reserves and 965 trillion cubic feet of known, recoverable natural gas reserves. We need someone who can work with federal and state governments and the oil industry to recover those reserves in order that Texas consumers will not be penalized as they now are."

Sadler said he believed there was a way to recover these reserves "by gradual price decontrol that will protect consumers and at the same time give the oil and gas companies incentives to produce the reserves."

The Democratic governor's race got another candidate Monday with an announcement from Donald R. Beagle, 56, Nederland welding shop operator. Beagle, who says he is treasurer of Men International, said he wanted to be governor "so that you might once again have the right to go into a family relations court and be treated with fairness and justice." He was accompanied at his press conference on the steps of the Capitol by his 9-year-old son, Donald Beagle II, who had been separated from his father for several years because of domestic troubles.

Emmett Hudspeth, Denton educator, filed as a Republican candidate for Congress from District 10.

Statewide candidates filed with state Democratic and Republican headquarters as of Monday morning included:

Governor — Democrats Ray Allen Mayo, San Juan; Preston Smith, Lubbock; John Hill, Austin, and Dolph Briscoe, Uvalde. Republicans William Clements, Dallas; Ray Hutchison, Dallas, and Clarence Thompson, Fort Worth.

U.S. Senator — Democrats Bob Krueger, New

Braunfels, and Joe Christie, El Paso. Republican John Tower, Wichita Falls.

Lieutenant governor — Democrats Bill Hobby, Houston; John Hill Westbrook, Tyler, and Troy Skates, Leander.

Attorney general — Democrats Price Daniel Jr., Liberty, and Mark White, Houston. Republican Jim Baker, Houston.

Comptroller — Democrat Bob Bullock, Austin.

Treasurer — Democrats Charlie Sanderson, San Antonio; Warren G. Harding, Austin, and Harry Ledbetter, Austin.

Land commissioner — Democrat Bob Armstrong, Austin.

Agriculture commissioner — Democrats Reagan Brown, Austin, and Joe Hubenak, Rosenberg.

Railroad commissioner (full term) — Democrat Mack Wallace, Austin.

Railroad commissioner (unexpired term) — Democrats Ray Lemmon, Houston, John Poerner, Hondo, and Jerry Sadler, Grapeland.

Chief justice state supreme court — Democrat Joe Greenhill.

Associate justice state supreme court, Place 1 — Democrat Franklin Spears, San Antonio.

Associate justice state supreme court, Place 2 — Democrat Sam D. Johnson, Austin.

Associate justice state supreme court, Place 3 — Democrat W.C. Barrow, San Antonio.

Associate justice state supreme court, Place 4 — Democrat T.C. Chadick, Quitman.

Judge, court of criminal appeals, Place 1 — Democrat Wendell A. Odum, Austin.

Judge, court of criminal appeals, Place 2 — Democrat Jim Vollers, Beaumont.

Judge, court of criminal appeals, Place 3 — Democrats W.C. Davis, Bryan, and Marvin Odell Teague, Houston.

Viet envoy called home

TOKYO (AP) — Vietnam has called U.N. Ambassador Dinh Ba Thi home, ending two days of uncertainty whether he would leave the United States after the State Department ordered him out.

The department announced Friday that the Vietnamese ambassador to the United Nations was being expelled for an alleged involvement in a spy plot. He and the Vietnamese Foreign Ministry denied the accusation, and he said he would not go.

But on Sunday, Hanoi Radio announced that Thi was being recalled because "the U.S. government is trying to disturb activities of the Vietnamese ambassador."

Panama Canal treaty ready for debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Panama Canal treaty — one of the most politically-charged issues of the year — is ready for Senate debate this week, while the House considers President Carter's $32 billion welfare package.

Senate leaders say the canal proposal may reach the floor Wednesday or Thursday. But consideration of the controversial pact will not begin in earnest until after Congress returns Feb. 20 from its 10-day recess for Lincoln's Birthday.

Bipartisan efforts to work out guarantees for future U.S. rights of access and defense appear to have enhanced prospects for the treaty's Senate ratification, which would require a two-thirds majority.

But new concern was generated last week by armed services committee hearings in which it was claimed that the treaty, which the Carter administration says will cost U.S. taxpayers nothing, may in fact necessitate millions of dollars in appropriations.

In the House, welfare revision continues to be a major issue, although some members question whether the White House and Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. are as committed to it this year as in 1977.

A special House welfare subcommittee will decide on Wednesday whether to accept Carter's broad proposal consolidating welfare programs or the scaled-down changes proposed by Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Carter is expected to win, with Ullman seen trying again when the bill reaches his panel. Two other committees also must approve the bill.

Elsewhere in the Congress, Vice President Walter F. Mondale was scheduled on Monday to swear in Muriel Humphrey, named to replace her late husband, Sen. Hubert Humphrey.

Mrs. Humphrey, 65, was appointed to her late husband's seat, which he would have retained until 1982.

She has about 90 days to decide if she will run in a special November election to fill the remaining four years of the late senator's term.

Testifying on the canal treaty last week before the armed services panel, Canal Zone Gov. Harold R. Parfitt and the U.S. comptroller general, Elmer B. Staats, said it was possible for the United States to face up to $700 million in "direct costs" in implementing the treaty until the year 2000, when Panama would take control.

A number of senators were said during the weekend to have been angered or disturbed by that disclosure and by one that projected canal toll revenues may fall far short of paying for the waterway's operations.

Several senators from both parties — although prepared to vote for the treaty — are said by aides to be angered by what they consider a lack of candor about financial issues on the part of the Carter administration that has put them in an embarrassing position.

Political roles have changed

AUSTIN — The last time Dolph Briscoe and President Smith fought for the governorship, Briscoe was the critical outsider while Smith was the insider trying to minimize the effects of a scandal.

This year the roles are reversed; and John Hill is enjoying the whole thing.

In 1972 Gov. Smith spent much of his campaign time saying the Sharpstown scandal should not be held against him. Briscoe profited from the public's gut feeling that something was wrong in state government — and won.

Today Briscoe is on the defensive when reporters ask questions, and it is Smith proclaiming loudly that alleged improprieties in the Governor's office of Migrant Affairs must hurt the incumbent.

Smith knows first hand how a scandal in state government can affect an officeholder. He's still asked about Sharpstown at press conferences.

Smith says Sharpstown won't be a factor this time. He could be right, since many have moved to Texas during the intervening six years; and there are voters this time who were only 12 years old when the Sharpstown scandal filled front pages.

The Sharpstown affair started in 1969. Several state officials, including Smith, received loans from the Sharpstown State Bank of Houston to purchase stock in National Bankers Life Insurance Co.

their stock for a handsome profit. Smith later vetoed the legislation on the advice of numerous bankers. Smith and his partner sold the remainder of their stock. They split a total profit of $125,000.

The situation came to light in 1971, and Smith proclaimed that he had shown his clean hands by vetoing the legislation.

Then House Speaker Gus F. Mutscher Jr. and others were convicted of conspiracy to commit bribery in the matter.

At their Abilene trial, District Attorney Bob Smith (no relation) charged: "It is going to become quite clear that the governor was a co-conspirator" because he allowed consideration of the bills.

Gov. Smith, subpoenaed by the defense, never testified at the trial; and District Attorney Smith never expanded on his statement.

But the impact of the statement was felt on election day; when Gov. Smith got 9 percent of the vote; and Briscoe went on to become governor.

Whatever happened to District Attorney Smith? Well, he's in private practice now. Lately his days are kept busy.

MASS OF TORN METAL — Debris and the crushed remains of a now-upright economy pickup are spread along the side of Gail Road following a one-vehicle accident 4.6 miles north of Big Spring Saturday night. County law officials examine the pickup, which belongs to Hodges Electric Company of Plainview. Driver of the vehicle, Charles Allen McElrath, Levelland, was an electrician for the company; he was taken to Malone Hogan emergency room and treated for lacerations and bruises, but there were apparently no serious injuries.

Apartment-dwellers can save energy

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer
While homeowners wrestle with high heating bills and stuff insulation into attics and walls, apartment dwellers too often shrug off energy problems. "That's the landlord's job. What can I do?" they ask.

The answer? A lot. Some of the same energy-saving techniques that apply to houses serve equally well in apartments and involve no major expenditures.

Experts at the cooperative extension service at Cornell University say wind infiltration is a key factor for many apartment residents, as well as for people who live in houses. Proper sealing around doors and windows can cut fuel consumption by 30 percent to 40 percent, according to the Cornell experts.

Caulking, weatherstripping and installing storm windows — temporary or permanent — are the basic ways to save, but it pays to know something about products and processes involved before you start.

Caulking is designed to Woman noticed 'ghosts' before being murdered

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Victoria Hill, an elderly woman found beaten to death with her husband in her home, had told a friend recently there were things missing from the house.

"It was almost like living with a ghost, she said," said a neighbor of Mrs. Hill who asked not to be identified for fear her home would be next. "She told me she would fasten up things and go back later and found them open. But there were no signs of forcible entry."

Mrs. Hill, 77, and her husband Lee, 83, were found beaten to death in their large midtown home Saturday night. Police said William Clark, Mrs. Hill's son, found one of the bodies upstairs and the other downstairs.

Sgt. Bill Hollander, head of a special five-man investigative unit, said there were no suspects Sunday night. Homicide squad officials said burglary was the apparent motive, but they declined to discuss what, if anything, was stolen from the house.

Police said there have been several attacks on elderly people in their homes in recent weeks. A week ago, a 90-year-old woman was injured when she surprised a burglar in her home in the midtown area.

There are several materials available for caulking. Oil or resin base caulk is readily available, will bond to most surfaces and is generally the least expensive. It is not very durable, however.

Latex, butyl or polyvinyl based caulk also is readily available and will bond to most surfaces. It is more expensive and lasts longer than the oil or resin based varieties.

Elastomeric caulks are the most expensive and most durable. They include silicones, polysulfides and polyurethanes.

An inexpensive alternative to storm windows is to tape plastic sheeting over windows to create an air pocket. Mount the plastic on the inside of the window with masking tape and leave at least three-fourths of an inch between the plastic and the window.

Reminder: If you are trying to save energy by lowering the thermostat, be careful if an elderly person lives in the house or apartment.

Former Nixon lawyer denies he's 'Deep Throat'

NEW YORK (AP) — A former Nixon administration lawyer denies he is the Watergate source "Deep Throat," despite a report that former White House chief of staff H.R. Haldeman has named him in a new book.

Fred Fielding, 38, who worked under White House counsel John Dean and is now a lawyer in Washington, told The Associated Press Sunday, "I have not had the opportunity to read Mr. Haldeman's book."

"But I can state that at least any part of his novel that names me as 'Deep Throat' is sheer fantasy and nonsense. I emphatically deny the story and the accusation."

Dean and Haldeman were unavailable for comment.

"Deep Throat" was the name The Washington Post reporting team of Bob Woodward and Carl Bernstein gave the source who supplied them with much of their information about the Watergate break-in and its aftermath.

The item about Haldeman's unpublished book, "The Ends of Power," was published in New York magazine's "New York Intelligencer" section. The magazine said it had learned some of the details of the book from Haldeman family sources.

The magazine also reported Haldeman has written that Richard Nixon erased one of the White House tapes, causing an 18½-minute gap. Nixon's secretary, Rose Mary Woods, has claimed she made the erasure accidentally while transcribing the tape.

"Nixon intended to go through all the tapes, erasing incriminating conversations wherever he found them, but soon realized the task would take years," the magazine said, without attribution.

U.S. observers watch Russian military exercise

MOSCOW (AP) — American observers are attending Soviet military maneuvers for the first time since World War II.

Winter war games for 25,000 Soviet soldiers and airmen began today in Byelorussia, in the western Soviet Union, with military representatives of the United States, West Germany, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Switzerland attending.

The American observers are Brig. Gen. Richard X. Larkin, the military attache in Moscow, and Col. William Odom of the National Security Council.

Pravda said the war games, named Berezina after a river in Byelorussia, were taking place on marshy and wooded land crisscrossed by rivers and lakes near Minsk, the Byelorussian capital, and the towns of Orsha and Polotsk. But it said blowing snow was reducing visibility seriously.

RFE will meet here Thursday

The Retired Federal Employees will meet Thursday, at 9:30 a.m. in the Kentwood Older Adult Center, 2805 Lynn.

The meeting will begin with a social time under the direction of Leona Ebersole and Frances Averitt, members of the social committee. The business meeting and program, under direction of club president Alvin Smith, will follow.

Dene Sheppard, director of Volunteer Services at the Veteran's Administration Hospital will present the program, a series of slides on the development of Big Spring.

Helen Boehm continues artist husband's work

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Long before the emergence of the women's movement, Elena Franzolin made her way from her Brooklyn family to the Mechanical School of Optics, which in time qualified her to measure Clark Gable's pupils.

As the first woman ophthalmic dispenser for a Fifth Avenue firm in New York City, she recalls those minutes with Gable: "I used to look into his big, blue eyes and measure the pupils and around the ears and make sure everything fit just so, and he'd say 'I'll leave it all up to you whatever glasses' frames you think I should have, and I'd melt into stutters..."

Despite her promising future, she left the optics firm in 1949 to sell the sculpture of Edward Marshall Boehm, an unknown artist who was also her husband.

Without training in marketing, advertising or public relations, Helen Boehm persisted in extolling her husband's birds and animals until the name Boehm porcelain earned national recognition.

"It came naturally because I was selling my husband whom I loved and believed in," she said during an interview here while attending the convention of the American Iris Society during which she presented the group with a specially designed iris.

But it took more than love to transform the Boehm enterprise from a Trenton, N.J., basement studio business in 1950 into a $10-million-a-year concern that in 1970 became the first American porcelain studio to export to England.

Mrs. Boehm, a tall blonde with graceful, jeweled hands, used her imagination. While she was still measuring pupils, one day she lured Vincent Andrus, an associate curator at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, to a nearby tailor's shop to see a Boehm display.

He told her, "This is beautiful, equal to any of the European imports," and insisted on paying $60 for each piece, but more important, it was the Boehm's first big break.

After bringing the purchase to the attention of a newspaper, Mrs. Boehm then took to the bus to sell the porcelain in Boston, Baltimore and Philadelphia.

The buyers told her, "Boehm, we never heard of it. Helen, we will take you 100 years."

Her promotional efforts couldn't support the studio and in 1954, when the Boehm endeavor ventured near the brink, she wrote to Mamie Eisenhower.

The letter that came back read, "Dear Mrs. Boehm: Thank you for your letter. I'd love for you to lunch with me..."

At the luncheon, Mrs. Eisenhower accepted a Hereford bull for the White House collection. In 1954 the Eisenhowers traveled to Canada, taking with them the Canadian geese by Boehm.

Then in 1957, when Mrs. Boehm learned of an upcoming visit to the United States by Queen Elizabeth, she arranged for her husband to design a plaque for Prince Philip on a polo pony to be presented to the visiting royalty by the president. Once again, it resulted in a powerful boost for the Boehm venture.

After that, presidents wrote to Boehm seeking appropriate gifts of porcelain. The studio has presented porcelain to six presidents, perhaps the most famous the "Mute Swans — Birds of Peace" presented by Richard Nixon to the people of China.

After Boehm's death in 1969, his widow had to convince the distributors that the studio in Trenton could continue without him.

"I guess many of them didn't know the role I played. I took care of all the administration, the finances, the sales, the publicity. After he passed away, I had to be more aggressive with the designing, to make sure the quality was kept up."

The number of major distributors has increased from 35 to 70. Two studios have opened in England and Mrs. Boehm has announced a fourth studio to work on monument-sized porcelain murals.

African Violet Club learns hybridizing

The Texas Star African Violet Club met the evening of Feb. 2 at the home of Mrs. H. V. Crocker. Mrs. Moore, president, directed the business meeting.

The club voted to donate $10 to the Heart Fund and will also donate cookies to the state hospital May 1 and Nov. 6.

A program on hybridizing was presenting by Marie Rowland.

According to Mrs. Rowland, sooner or later, most African violet enthusiasts will try their hands at hybridizing. In order to know what she is doing when hybridizing, one must know something about chromosomes.

She explained that a chromosome is a group of chemicals arranged in an exact order, making up a rod-shaped body which can be seen with the aid of a microscope. If the order is changed in any way, the heredity factors will be changed and a new or different African violet will be the result.

She told the group how chromosome orders are changed to result in diploids, the most common group of African violets; tetraploids, the most common type of mutation; supreme amazons or duponts with their heavy textured blossoms; and triploids with their large and abundant blossoms.

Refreshments were served to the 14 members present.

The next meeting will be March 2 at the home of Mrs. Pete Witte, 606 W. 16th.

Wants Loving Wife to Unswap

DEAR ABBY: If someone had told me this could happen to me I never would have believed it. After six years of marriage (no children by choice), my wife and I got mixed up in a wife-husband swapping deal.

"This other couple, who are about our age, weren't happy with each other, and the woman was attracted to me and the man liked my wife, so we went along with the swapping idea just for the fun of it. We had never done anything like that in our lives and thought it would be a good learning experience.

After three months of swapping, my wife left me to move into this man's apartment. His wife had no place to live, so I let her move in with me, but there is no sex between us, I give you my word. (There WAS some at first, but it didn't last long.) All we do is talk about my wife and her husband and wait for them to come to their senses.

It's been five months, and my wife is still living with this man. She says she loves me, but isn't ready to come home yet.

How much longer should I give her? I feel like a fool. We're both schoolteachers and I'm tired of lying and hiding the truth.

SORRY SWAPPER

DEAR SORRY: Although neither of you is a "saint," let St. Valentine's Day be the deadline. (If she's still giving you the "not ready" line, the marriage is dead.)

DEAR ABBY: Your response to NON-SMOKER should be burned! You apparently live in some ivory tower where smokers respect the rights of non-smokers in elevators, restaurants and confined public places. Come out of your tower, Abby, and smell the smoke!

Live in a large apartment building with "NO SMOKING" signs in the elevators, but the smokers smoke anyway. It does no good to remind them that it's against New York City law to smoke in elevators. They do not extinguish their cigarettes—they just move them away from the complainer.

Anyone who says that most smokers will quickly douse their cigarettes when someone complains obviously doesn't live in New York City.

SMOKED OUT IN N.Y.

DEAR SMOKED OUT: You're right, I don't. But please don't tar all New York nicotine users with the same brush.

DEAR ABBY: Maybe YOU think it's "gracious" for guests to telephone the hostess the next day or write a note to thank her, but I disagree.

If a guest ducks out of a very large party without saying goodbye because he or she doesn't want to start an exodus (or say goodbye to 100 people), then a note or a call to the hostess the next day would naturally take the place of what wasn't said in person.

But when guests leave my home and say they enjoyed being there, that's sufficient for me; and I don't want them phoning me the next day to repeat what they have already said.

If there is something to discuss, well and good, or if they had an exceptionally good time a written note is welcome, but I think perfunctory phone calls after a party are a nuisance and a thing of the past.

Am I alone in this? Please ask your readers to express their views.

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: Readers? Is a phone call phony? Or is it right to write?

Use mirrors to widen rooms

COLLEGE STATION — Enlarge any room — with mirrors, says Glenda Moore, housing and home furnishings specialist, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The Texas A&M University System. Mirrors can dramatically change the visual dimensions of any room by giving the illusion of greater space, the specialist says.

A mirrored wall in a generally small room or area will add width.

The two basic types of mirrored walls are framed and unframed — including mirror tiles.

Specifically designed clips and brackets can be brought in hardware stores for mounting framed and structural mirrors.

These mounting devices meet standards set by mirror manufacturers and should be used according to instructions.

Unframed mirrors are available in several styles and sizes including panels, and blocks — plain or with beveled edges. A variety of designs and colors of mirrors are also available from antiqued or smoked glass to painted contemporary designed, reports the specialist.

Arrange solid mirrors in a continuous pattern or break up the design with antique or printed tiles for dramatic effect.

Application of mirrors to a wall is as important as the design effect. The wall surface must be smooth, firm, and thoroughly dry. In areas of high humidity, it pays to size the wall with shellac or sizing.

For temporary applications, nail paneling or 1/4 inch plywood to the wall and then attach mirrors with adhesive tape squares.

Always leave space between the mirror back and the back-up wall for ventilation, the specialist says.

A message for college coaches

Dear Doctor, I am an all-state football quarterback and have received over 60 offers to attend various universities that excel in football. At first, I was confused because so many recruiters were contacting me telling me their school was superior to others. Many of them were rude and pushy, while others, in a roundabout way, promised me things such as a car, free tuition for my girlfriend, and snazzy clothes.

After the recruiters' dust had settled I made the decision to attend a Midwestern university because the head coach promised me four years of tuition-free education, a chance to play top-notch football, and lots of hard work.

I hope this letter will help other athletes being recruited to participate at the university level.

Quarterback, Oklahoma City, Okla.

Dear Quarterback, Well said. I hope college coaches get your message.

Dear Doctor, My husband and I are both seniors in high school and hold down full-time evening jobs. To help us out, my mother-in-law cleans our apartment once a week. Besides being good, she does not charge us for her work.

The only thing that bothers me is the fact that she snoops in our dresser drawers. There is nothing to hide; I just don't like her poking through the drawers.

At this time, we need her assistance, and I don't want to offend her. What can I say to her?

Snoops, Torrance, Calif.

Dear Snoops, Say nothing to her. It's your husband's responsibility to politely and respectfully inform his mother that the dresser drawers do not need rearranging.

Questions may be sent to Dr. Robert Wallace, Copley News Service, in care of this newspaper. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Smith takes charge!

ATLANTA (AP) — John Havlicek wasn't surprised. Neither was Jack Ramsay. "I sort of had a feeling if anyone would turn it around, it would be Randy Smith," said Havlicek, the retiring star of the Boston Celtics. "What you saw him (Smith) do today, I've seen him do many times," said Ramsay, who watched helplessly as the cat-quick guard of the Buffalo Braves scored 14 points in the fourth quarter, sparking the East to a 133-125 comeback victory over Ramsay's West squad in the 28th National Basketball Association All-Star game Sunday.

The West had dominated play until Smith took charge, aided by the aggressive rebounding of Boston's Dave Cowens and Philadelphia's Julius Erving, to erase a 12-point West lead in the final 10 minutes.

Smith scored six straight baskets, two on layups and four on jump shots from the 14-foot to 22-foot range, chopping the lead to 113-112 with 5:42 remaining, and Erving put the East ahead for only the second time in the game, this time for good, on a three-point play with 5:10 to go.

Playing despite five personal fouls with seven minutes remaining, Smith triggered the rally that resulted in a stretch of 15 consecutive East points, which eventually carried to a 21-2 edge, changing a 113-104 deficit to a 125-115 lead as the East captured its third All-Star Game in four years and its 18th against 10 defeats.

Smith was an overwhelming choice for the Most Valuable Player trophy and an accompanying 1978 automobile. He scored a game-high 27 points, had seven rebounds, six assists and two steals in 29 minutes.

"This was one of the highest achievements I have ever accomplished," Smith said of the MVP honor, which he said his wife, Terri, had predicted he would win.

Hawks fly tonight

The Howard College Hawks and the Hawk Queens will be in action tonight in Hawk Gym, beginning with the 6 p.m. women's clash. The two squads are hosting their respective opponents from Odessa College. The Odessa College men's team currently leads the tough Western Junior College Athletic Conference. The Hawks are fresh off a cliff-hanging 83-81 overtime victory over the Midland Chapparels last Thursday and the Queens won three out of four over the weekend in the prestigious Angelo State University Women's Tournament. The Queens lost that tourney's finals to old nemesis Temple College. Not only is the game a must for the Hawks in improving their conference record, but a victory would assure them quite a few "power points" — playoff consideration points that increase when a team defeats a highly-ranked team. The Hawk encounter will begin at approximately 8 p.m.

Green likes 13

HONOLULU (AP) — Hubert Green was shooting for his 13th PGA victory in the 13th Hawaiian Open and he got lucky on the 13th hole at Waialae Country Club.

Green, who says he is not superstitious, won the $250,000 tournament Sunday with a par on the second hole of a sudden-death playoff against Bill Kratzert. He sank a seven-foot putt for a four on the hole, No. 16, while Kratzert missed his par putt from five feet.

"I'm not superstitious, but I was aware of the 13s and wasn't sure what it would mean," Green said afterward.

"I think the biggest turning point came on the 13th hole, when I hit a couple of bad shots, but then sunk a 35-foot putt for a birdie. I wasn't sure I deserved it."

Green took the lead in the second round, then held it alone until falling into a tie with Kratzert late in the final round. He had a 71 Sunday, his worst round of the tourney, finishing at 274, 14-under-par over the 7,234-yard, par-72 Waialae course.

Kratzert, who joined the tour less than two years ago, shot a final-round 68, forcing the playoff.

The winning putt made a $21,500 difference for Green, who collected $50,000 for the victory. Kratzert, who won $134,748 last year and is one of the most promising young players on the tour, got $28,500 for finishing second.

Mike Morley, Bob Wynn and Hale Irwin tied for third at 275. Morley shot a closing 66, Wynn a 68 and Irwin a 69.

Gene Littler, the first-round leader with a 65 who stumbled to a 73 on the second day, finished at 276 with a 70 Sunday.

The final two rounds of the tournament were telecast live by ABC Television, with the exception of the playoff holes. The network switched to regular programming after Green and Kratzert finished the 18th hole.

Kratzert has won twice on the tour, taking the Hartford Open last year, and teaming with Woody Blackburn to capture the World National Team Play title.

Green and Kratzert are close friends, and Green said he had to play Jekyll-and-Hyde when the two went into overtime.

"You have to get up a hate for him when you're in a playoff," said Green. "You've got to concentrate enough to get up a grudge."

Match play, grudge or otherwise, isn't exactly his specialty, said Green, who called himself "a bad match play golfer."

Green's experience edge over Kratzert was probably the deciding factor in the playoff. They both hit into bunkers on the final hole, then hit good shots from the sand. But Kratzert, who said he felt the pressure, appeared to hesitate when he took the club back on his putt and missed the cup.

CONSOLATION — Hubert Green (left) puts his arm on the shoulder of Bill Kratzert after Kratzert missed a putt in a sudden-death playoff hole Sunday in the final round of the Hawaiian Open Golf Tournament. Both shot a 274, but Green won the Waialae Country Club meet.

Red wins tourney

SWEETWATER — The Runnels Junior High Red basketball team of Big Spring, coached by Mark Levin, took the first place trophy in the Sweetwater Eighth Grade Tournament held this past weekend.

The Red squad beat Snyder Gold, 40-37, to take the final game for the championship.

Moe Rubio of Big Spring led all scorers with 16 points. Blake Rosson, a teammate, had six and Rusty Ray had five. Ray was named to the all-tournament team. Other scorers included Arthur Armendariz with five, Randy Johnson with six and Jody Dawdy with two.

The Runnels White team, coached by Rudy Mondes, fell to Snyder Golf by one point in the semifinals of the tourney. The Whites' Bobby Earl Williams was also named to the all-tourney squad.

Williams and Ray were also the tournament's leading rebounders.

Texan pounded

BALTIMORE (AP) — Capitalizing on his tremendous advantage in reach and height, Olympic champion Sugar Ray Leonard pounded Rocky Ramon and coasted to an unanimous eight-round decision Saturday over the game Texan.

"I just thank the Lord that I lasted eight rounds," said the 5 foot-3 Ramon, who resembled a man in need of a stepladder as he consistently missed the Palmer Park, Md., product with his lunging hooks during their nationally televised fight.

Ramon — from San Antonio, Tex. — weighed in at only a pound less than Leonard's 143½ pounds for the first welterweight bout for both fighters.

Leonard used his height advantage to fight the game Texan in the artistic manner of a matador fencing with an enraged, but single-minded bull. At times, the frustrated Ramon made a complete pirouette as his smiling Maryland opponent danced out of reach.

"Ramon's style was so unorthodox," the 1976 Olympic gold medal winner said. "I had to get down just to fight him, and we bumped heads several times. My handlers were afraid I would get butted."

4 REASONS WHY IT'S AMERICA'S 1ST CHOICE OVER THE PAST TWO YEARS.

1. HIGH RESALE VALUE.

One reason why Volare is America's first choice in wagons over the past two years is that its resale value is higher than its competition at both Ford and GM.

% of return of original sticker price for one year old wagons on a competitive model basis. Based on recent Automotive Market Report publication.

2. PASSENGER ROOM.

Although hauling cargo is important, so is hauling people. And Volare seats six comfortably. With more passenger room than all the new down-sized GM intermediate wagons based on eight key interior dimensions.

3. BIG CAR RIDE.

Volare is the only wagon in its class with a special front isolated transverse suspension system. The system of unique design that delivers a remarkable ride like a big car.

4. LOW PRICE.

You could pay more for some wagons with all the room, comfort and ride of a Volare. Compared to its GM competition, Volare's low price will surprise you.

SAVE UP TO $250 ON VOLARE COUPES AND SEDANS, TOO!

Our Value Bonus Packages save you up to $250 off the regular sticker price by giving you $663 worth of options for $413! Included are AM radio, digital clock, deluxe intermittent wipers and much more! What a Volare Value!

Maybe they're surfing?

NEW YORK (AP) — Lost: 10 million tennis players. Last sighted, they were wearing $50 shorts, $25 shirts with a crocodile on the chest, $65 warmup suits and $45 kid shoes. They were carrying two $75 racquets in a fancy satchel and were racing toward the closest indoor bubble.

— to a bustling 30 million who went deliriously mad over the pastime. It was the "in" thing. You couldn't go into an airport without seeing scores of travelers lugging court equipment under their arms.

It was a question the Institute decided to learn for itself, so it assigned researchers to student dropouts, instructors and court operators. This is what they found. Listen to the deservers first: "Learning was not fun. It was actually quite frustrating."

Happy birthday, Don!

By The Associated Press. Don Cherry played 18 years of professional hockey and has coached a half-dozen more. He has seen a few thousand different players score a few thousand different goals.

The New York Rangers bested Colorado 6-3. "That's the happiest I've ever been over a tie in my life," said Cherry. "I was more happy with the tie, the way we got it, than if we had won the game."

Toronto had taken a 2-0 lead on first-period goals by Ian Turnbull and Darryl Sittler. The Bruins tied it on Sheppard's first goal of the game and Pete McNab's 23rd of the season 80 seconds later.

CBS carries fight

Muhammad Ali won a gold medal in the light-heavyweight division in the Rome Olympics in 1960. Sixteen years later, a youngster named Leon Spinks, in Montreal, duplicated Ali's performance.

Ali is making his 20th defense of the heavyweight title, losing it only to Uncle Sam for his stand against the Vietnam war. He has won 55 of his 57 fights, losing to Joe Frazier in his quest to regain the crown after his 46-month layoff from the government, and to Ken Norton, when Ali had his jaw broken early in the match.

Weekend college basketball action

Teams go to it in double overtime

By The Associated Press. It was "Frank McGuire Appreciation Day" at Columbia, S.C., but it wasn't Frank McGuire's day.

The fans turned out in large number Sunday to applaud the longtime South Carolina basketball coach who is retiring after this season. However, McGuire couldn't fully appreciate it after a 69-66 double-overtime loss to third-ranked Marquette.

Hogs back to basics

By The Associated Press. A worried Arkansas Coach Eddie Sutton, cocking a wary eye toward two Southwest Conference road games this week, has promised some brisk practice sessions to polish what he feels are flaws in the second-ranked basketball machine in the country.

Arkansas is 21-1 overall and can at least tie the Texas Longhorns atop the SWC standings with road victories over physical Texas A&M and the improving Texas Christian Horned Frogs Thursday and Saturday nights, respectively.

Arkansas' 9-1 record in Southwest Conference play is still a half-game behind No. 12 ranked Texas' 10-1 but the Razorbacks can get even this week.

The regular season champion gets a bye to the championship game. If Arkansas and Texas go undefeated the rest of the way, the regular season winner will be decided by a coin toss.

Sheppard didn't quite freeze, though he said, "It seemed like it took forever" when he found the puck at his skates and goalie Mike Palmateer at his mercy.

Sheppard's shot went over Palmateer's shoulder, Cherry had his birthday present and the Bruins had their tie.

In the other National Hockey League games Sunday, Buffalo downed Washington 4-1, Detroit trimmed Cleveland 4-3 and DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — "It wasn't as easy as it looked," said Rolf Stommelen after he and Toine Hezemans had driven a turbocharged Porsche 935 to victory in the 24 Hours of Daytona race Sunday.

Stommelen, 35, of Germany and Hezemans, 34, of The Netherlands had an unexpected third driver on the team — Peter Gregg of Jacksonville, Fla., who entered two cars for his Porsche dealership and was principal driver in one, who lost one hour and 45 minutes changing an engine in early morning and finished ninth.
