

Brown Berets get permits for rally

By JAMES WERRELL and BOB BURTON

Accompanied by an employee of the U.S. Justice Department, Brown Berets obtained permits from the Big Spring Police Department and the Howard County Sheriff's Department for a Saturday rally here.

The rally will be held on the east steps of the Howard County Courthouse around 1 p.m. Saturday, according to Henry Menchaca, local Brown Beret major.

The rally is scheduled to begin in Odessa, and proceed by car caravan to Big Spring. The protest, according to earlier statements by Brown Beret officials, was prompted by the deaths of Larry Lozano and Juan Galaviz, Mexican-Americans who died in the custody of law enforcement officers and during arrest.

GALAVIZ was shot to death by a Big Spring policeman December 6, 1977 after an aggravated assault and high-speed chase. Sgt. Leroy Spires fired the shot which killed Galaviz as the 18-year-old reached for his pocket which contained a knife, according to police reports.

Lozano died in Ector County jail of multiple injuries in January. Ector County officials say that the death resulted from Lozano hitting his head on a plexiglass window in a padded cell.

A parade permit was issued to Menchaca today by the police department, and permission to use the courthouse was obtained Tuesday.

ACCORDING TO Police Captain Jim McCain, preliminary plans call for Brown Berets and sympathetic citizens to gather first at the Sacred Heart Catholic Church, 509 Alyford.

From there, the group will walk to the courthouse for a 30- to 45-minute program. Following the rally, the group will file back to the church.

"The purpose of the rally is to demonstrate to all the people in the area that injustices have been happening here for too many years. This is the beginning of protest and vocal demonstrations against these injustices," said

Ernesto Fraga, a representative of the Brown Beret's State organization in Austin. Local police will furnish traffic control for the gathering with two patrol cars and a motorcycle.

"WE FORESEE no incidents. The Brown Berets have a reputation as a non-violent group," said Capt. McCain. "If there is any outside harassment of the rally, the Brown Berets have agreed to let the police handle it," he added.

Permission to use the east side of the courthouse as a gathering place was granted by Howard County Sheriff A.N. Standard. According to County Judge Bill Tune, Standard is the person responsible for the courthouse building.

The Brown Berets were accompanied by George Cerny, a conciliator with the U.S. Department of Justice Community Relations Service. Cerny said he had contacted the Brown Berets after reading of the rally in the papers.

"Often we find that problems arise if minorities do not have the proper permits for their rallies. Because the time was so short, I did accompany them to get the permits," said Cerny.

Cerny added the purpose of his office was "in a case where there is conflict or disturbance, we try to talk to both sides, see the issue, and try to arrange agreement. We operate under the authority of the Civil Rights Act to offer help to any community, group, or individual."

CERNY EMPHASIZED that he was a representative of no power or authority, and that his office was not connected with either the FBI or the Civil Rights Office of the Justice Department. He said that he was involved only in the rally, not in the larger political activities of the Brown Berets.

"It has been a while since I talked to the Brown Berets," he said. The role of the Community Relations Service was described by Cerny as "third-party neutralist," and he said he would not be further involved with the Brown Berets in Big Spring unless called in.

Air Force fire trucks may be repaired here

An Air Force logistics team from Warner-Robbins AFB, Georgia, will arrive here March 6 to look over facilities which could be used for the repair of fire trucks assigned to military air base installations.

Texas Aerospace Service Co., an Abilene-based firm, is bidding for the multi-million dollar contract and through its president, Art Smith, has indicated it would locate that phase of its operation in Big Spring if it should win the contract.

Hangar 75 at Webb, which embraces about 25,000 square feet and has built-in wash racks, would be the site of the facility.

Texas Aerospace Service Company employs a work force of about 40 in Abilene. It is already involved in contracts with the government.

The local operation would offer employment to about 70 persons. It's likely the contract will be awarded in about 30 days.

Smith and other officials of Texas Aerospace Service Company have already inspected local facilities and say it is ideal for the planned operation.

Texas Aerospace Service Co., is considered a front runner in the contract bidding, along with an Alabama-based firm and the original manufacturers of the fire trucks. Smith and his staff have already conferred several times with the Air Force logistics team. Smith said this morning he was encouraged by the talks and was optimistic that his firm would gain the contract.

It's estimated upwards to 500 specially-built fire trucks, each valued at about $200,000, will be shipped to the repair depot for modification.

The Air Force team, Texas Aerospace Service Company administrators and members of the Dallas-based Contract Administrative Group will likely be here about a week conferring on aspects of the contract and conducting inspections. They will be working here with members of the Big Spring Steering Committee.

The contract could mean as much as $10 million annually to the Big Spring economy.

Texas Aerospace Service Co., has no facilities available in Abilene to compare with those offered in Hangar 75 here. Texas Aerospace's vice-president is Jim Benton while Warren Hart, the firm's production manager, would be the man assigned to head up the local operation.

Eggs, snowballs greet Ag Secretary Bergland

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — A handful of dissident farmers who threw eggs and snowballs at Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland did "great harm" to the farm strike movement, Bergland says.

None of the missiles hit Bergland as he left a motel Tuesday afternoon after a meeting with regional leaders of the American Agriculture Movement, but one egg hit Amarillo Police Chief Lee Spradlin in the head.

"There were a few people there trying to embarrass American Agriculture, but I didn't pay any attention to it," Bergland said in a Wichita, Kan., news conference a few hours later.

Bergland was challenged several times in a question-and-answer session with leaders of the American Agriculture Movement unhappy with current government farm price policy.

Action/reaction: Telephone payment

Q. Are customers required to pay for the use of a telephone after the company has been notified that service has been disrupted, then waits several days before correcting the problem? Shouldn't credit be given for the time when the lines are out?

A. Robert Hurt, local Southwestern Bell Telephone manager says that credit should be given anytime service is disrupted for more than 24 hours as the result of an equipment failure or problem. He noted that credit is automatically given on the next bill in almost all cases, but should a customer be incorrectly charged, he should notify the business office to get the mistake corrected.

Ranger's funeral to be Thursday

DENTON, Texas (AP) — The legendary Texas Rangers died fighting Indians, the Mexican army and desperados during the 1800s. But they've lost one of their own in the most modern of anti-crime activities — a drug raid.

Bobby Paul Doherty, a Ranger for two years, was gunned down late Monday night during a drug raid on a house near this North Central Texas town.

He became the first Ranger in 47 years to die in the line of duty.

Gregory Arthur Ott, 27, a North Texas State University honor graduate and psychology graduate student, was charged with capital murder Tuesday in connection with Doherty's slaying. He was being held without bond.

If convicted, he faces either life in prison or execution.

As Department of Public Safety narcotics officers and sheriff's deputies stormed through the front door of the house, the two men inside rushed out the back. Doherty, a 41-year-old father of two standing guard at the back door, was hit in the head by one shot allegedly fired by Ott from a .38-caliber pistol.

The other man, 22-year-old Jimmy Baker, was charged with felony possession of marijuana. Doherty died en route to a hospital in nearby Fort Worth. The raid netted about 40 pounds of marijuana.

Funeral services will be at 11 a.m. Thursday in the Rosen Heights Baptist Church in Fort Worth with burial at the Azle Land Cemetery. A large contingent of law enforcement officers from Texas and neighboring states is expected to attend.

The Lamar University graduate is survived by his wife, Martha, and two children, Kelly Lyn, 17, and Buster Wayne, 16.

Feds could seize coal mines

WASHINGTON (AP) — Striking miners could find themselves working for the federal government if President Carter decides to ask for legislation to end the 78-day coal strike by seizing the mines.

If authorized by Congress, it would be the eighth seizure in the industry. In the past seven, all in the 1940s, the Interior Department was given the responsibility to oversee the running of seized mines.

But would miners return to work under a government seizure order?

That's an open question, especially in light of indications that the miners might resist back-to-work orders under the strike-breaking provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act. But administration and congressional labor experts say that in past seizures, workers have usually returned to their jobs.

White House press secretary Jody Powell said

Tuesday that there was no precise timetable for Carter's decision. But he said, "This is the week in which a major decision is going to have to be made."

Congressional sources said they expect the president to submit seizure legislation by this weekend if the coal strike hasn't been settled.

Should that happen, the bill would be handled like any other, with committee hearings, floor action in each chamber and the possibility of amendments at each step in the process.

Congressional leaders have promised Labor Secretary Ray Marshall to give priority treatment to such a bill.

One congressional aide suggested that a seizure order could be "sweetened" enough to attract miners back to work.

"Congress might adopt something approximating the tentative agreement reached between the United Mine Workers and a major independent producer that negotiated its contract separately, said Donald Baker, the top staff aide on the House Education and Labor Committee.

Baker said the terms of the seizure would have to be spelled out in the legislation. "I would guess it would be coupled with some sort of deadline, by which time the parties either have to settle or submit to binding arbitration," he said.

Labor Department Solicitor Carin A. Clauss said the seizure legislation would likely call for a longer period than the 80-day "cooling off" period called for under the Taft-Hartley Act, which is another option available to Carter.

Some experts contend a government seizure is actually a much milder remedy than Taft-Hartley — and more likely to succeed.

Reaction predictable in canal treaty talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Locked in its longest secret session, the Senate is reviewing files on Panamanian officials' alleged role in drug trafficking — and debating how important the information is in its consideration of the Panama Canal treaties.

Reaction was predictable after Tuesday's session, which lasted nine hours and 50 minutes.

Sen. Bob Dole, R-Kan., one of the agreement's staunchest opponents, called it "useful" and said he thinks it "will have some impact."

But Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., a backer of the treaties, termed it "the biggest waste of time" in his 15 years in the Senate. Charles Percy, R-Ill., another supporter, called the session a "desperation move" by the opponents.

Another four hours of secret debate were planned today.

What the senators heard was a report by its intelligence committee on allegations that Panamanian leader Omar Torrijos knew of or had been involved in drug trafficking through his country.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., the chairman, presented the report, a censored version of which was made public.

The report, much of which was based on federal drug agency files containing "largely second hand" information of "varying reliability," said:

"Torrijos' friends and relatives, including brother Moises, were tied to an illicit drug trade."

—Gen. Torrijos, according to informants' allegations, may have gotten "a cut of the profits."

—The Panamanian leader, based on reports the committee called reliable, may have known government officials were involved in dealing drugs.

—He also knew of his brother's involvement in the alleged operation, but did not "take sufficient action" to stop it.

Permit filed for bank building

Work on a new, $600,000 bank is already underway at the site of the old Malone-Hogan Clinic, 901 Main.

A permit was signed Tuesday afternoon to begin work on the State National Bank of Big Spring at 901 Main. The main offices of the bank will be located in the old clinic itself, which will be renovated by the J.W. Little Construction Co., a local firm.

In addition, drive-in facilities and a "mini-bank" will be constructed on a now-vacant lot at 801 Main. The main bank, a two-story concrete and metal structure, will measure 120 feet by 72 feet at completion.

Outside: Mid 60s

Clear skies and warmer temperatures are predicted by weather experts. High today is expected in the mid 60s, low tonight near 30, high Thursday in the upper 60s. Winds will be from the southwest at 10 to 20 miles-per-hour, decreasing to light and variable tonight.

Arbitration requested

WASHINGTON (AP) — The coal industry today called for voluntary binding arbitration in the coal strike, but a spokesman for the United Mine Workers said the union was likely to reject it.

The industry said binding arbitration is "preferable to the loss which the economy is now suffering." It urged UMW members to return to the mines while a three-member arbitration board would try to settle the record 79-day strike.

A Carter administration official close to the talks who declined to be identified said the call for arbitration was "an interesting proposal." He said he hoped the UMW would consider the proposal seriously.

A union spokesman had no immediate comment, but said the proposal was unlikely to meet with UMW approval.

Meanwhile, the White House announced that Labor Secretary Ray Marshall would meet with the UMW negotiators this afternoon to consider the industry's suggestion for binding arbitration. Marshall also will meet with industry representatives this evening. Officials said it was hoped these talks might lead to resumption of face-to-face negotiations.

Bus drivers fired

DALLAS (AP) — Almost 50 school bus drivers, after refusing for the second straight day to make their runs, were fired Tuesday by the Dallas Independent School District.

The drivers were protesting working conditions and pay, including the failure of the school system to pay them for five days that weather forced unscheduled closings.

The drivers, after refusing to make their rounds Monday, showed up for work Tuesday morning. When asked to man their buses, they responded by asking whether their demands, including an increase of at least 75 cents an hour in their $3.25 hourly pay, had been taken under consideration.

Told the demands were irrelevant to their work Tuesday morning, the protest leaders refused to make their runs and were fired. The rest of the drivers also were fired, but an "unknown" number of them later changed their minds and decided to continue working.

School officials had told the striking drivers Monday night that state law makes it illegal to strike or to threaten to strike.

School officials filled in with administrative personnel to complete the bus runs both Monday and Tuesday.

Mother shoots children

PRUNEDALE, Calif. (AP) — A young mother depressed over the breakup of her marriage shot her four children — two of them fatally — and then turned the gun on herself, authorities say.

Police said at least 20 shots were fired. Officers summoned to the scene, after a wounded child fled to a neighbor's house, found bodies strewn throughout the house. A 6-month-old baby was found barely alive in a blood-stained crib.

Two sons, ages 10 and 2, were killed. Sue Barber, 28, her infant son and a 9-year-old daughter were critically wounded when shooting broke out Tuesday.

"All indications are that Sue Barber was responsible for the shooting and then turned the gun on herself," said Bud Cook, assistant Monterey County sheriff. "From the information we have, she was solely responsible."

Cook said Mrs. Barber has been despondent because of her recent separation from her husband, Guy.

Chicago Daily News to fold

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Daily News, the city's only afternoon newspaper, will stop publication permanently March 4, its publisher announced Wednesday.

In a statement, the management of the newspaper, which has reported losses of $11 million in the last year, said:

"The board of directors of Field Enterprises, Inc., with deep regret, voted today to cease permanently the publication of the Chicago Daily News effective with the last edition Saturday, March 4, 1978."

Publisher Marshall Field had announced Feb. 3 that he was "contemplating" an end to publication of the paper. But he said a formal decision would be postponed to notify unions representing the paper's employees and give them an opportunity to devise a plan to save the paper.

Circulation fell during that period from 397,598 to 329,078.

Cyprus, Egypt sparring with words

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — President Anwar Sadat said today he no longer recognizes Spyros Kyprianou as president of Cyprus, a move tantamount to a complete break in relations following the bloody Larnaca airport battle between Egyptian commandos and Cypriot forces.

"There is no room for us to deal with dwarfs such as these," Sadat said in an emotional speech to the Egyptian parliament when he tried to seize two terrorists holding hostages on a plane at the airport Sunday.

"Our recognition of him as president of the republic, and he hears me now, is withdrawn as of today," Sadat told troops gathered at the War Ministry after the funeral of 15 commandos killed by Cypriot national guardsmen.

The Cyprus government declined immediate comment on Sadat's speech. The government announced earlier that Kyprianou had suspended Deputy Police Chief Paylos Stokkos for "communicating false information regarding the events at Larnaca airport."

An hour later, an Egyptian C-130 transport plane got permission to land and taxied to a stop about 800 yards from the terrorists' plane.

"Even though we did not take Cyprus' permission," Sadat said the Cypriots should not have acted the way they did.

"We contacted Cyprus and they were told the plane carried some of our sons to help the Cypriot government to face this aggression and crime."

Sadat said the fact his commands were not able to arrest the killers of Sebael "raises the question was there collusion or not?"

The Egyptian president said it was his decision to use force to capture the terrorists, rather than the personal initiative of Brig. Nabil Shukry, the leader of the commandos. "It was not his decision, but it was my decision."

"He was following what went on between the control tower and the killers and it became apparent to him and to us here in Egypt also ... that Cyprus was preparing two passports for the killers so they could leave Cyprus, as if they had not committed a crime."

At that point, he said, Shukry decided to storm the plane and carry out his orders to return with the hostages and the terrorists.

Hearing on the application of the Colorado River Municipal Water District for a new lake on the upper Colorado River has been set for March 28 in Austin.

The Water Development Board of the Texas Department of Water Resources announced the date Tuesday. The application had been filed Oct. 11, 1977 and asked for the right to impound a lake which would contain 554,000 acre-feet of water when filled. This is 1.3 times as large as the District's Lake E.V. Spence.

The proposed lake is between the Leaday and Stacy communities and straddles the Coleman-Concho Counties line 19 miles northeast of Eden. Plans call for the construction of a dam 135 feet at its maximum height and containing five controlled spillway gates in the center. At capacity the lake would cover slightly more than 19,000 surface acres and back water up the channel for 15 miles, which includes the Concho as well as the Colorado River.

Initial cost of land, reservoir and related facilities has been estimated at $46,000,000, and a 104-mile pipeline, required to lift water nearly 1,500 feet to the Midland-Odessa area, would run the outlay to twice that figure. O.H. Ivie, general manager of CRMWD, said that virtually all preliminary engineering associated with the filing had been completed and that the District is ready to present its case.

The recovery was the second involving coins taken in the Cisco theft.

Confusion at Larnaca

CONFUSION AT LARNACA — An abortive Egyptian attempt to seize a hijacked plane at Larnaca Airport Sunday ended after a battle between the Egyptian commandos and the Cypriot National Guard. Events began when an Egyptian C-130 transport got permission to land. A jeep-led Egyptian force charged from the Hercules to the hijacked plane and, as they began firing on the DC-8 the Cypriots opened fire cutting down the raiding party. A shell destroyed the Egyptian plane and the remaining commandos took cover in the plane in background and later surrendered to the Cypriots.

Oil firms ecstatic over ruling

NEW YORK (AP) — "Fantastic," said one oil industry spokesman. "Are you putting me on?" asked another. "Oh, terrific," said a third.

Normally cool and collected, they were reacting to news Tuesday that the U.S. Supreme Court had ended a three-year legal battle by clearing the way for oil and gas drilling in the Atlantic Ocean off the East Coast.

Within three weeks, drilling rigs are expected to be at work in the Atlantic Ocean for the first time, searching for oil or natural gas within 60 miles of the densely populated coastline.

But environmentalists and some local officials Tuesday promised to keep close watch over the operation and to bring the oil firms back to court if federal environmental-protection regulations are disobeyed.

"Oil companies have admitted there will be a considerable quantity of leakage from this kind of operation," said Richard Johnson, spokesman for Concerned Citizens of Montauk, an environmental group which participated in the Supreme Court appeal. "This is a direct and real threat..."

Sara Chasis of the National Resources Defense Council, which dropped out of the case before the last appeal was filed, said: "We will be monitoring the environmental regulations and making sure they are enforced. We're talking about potential operations for the next 20 years and we're going to be there every step of the way."

But despite the warnings and the estimated one-in-five chance of finding commercial quantities of oil or gas in the so-called Baltimore Canyon area, the oil firms were ecstatic.

"This welcomed action clears the way for exploratory drilling in the Baltimore Canyon area," said Exxon Corp. "Our goal remains the same: To determine whether or not significant petroleum can be found in that area. To the extent the industry discovers significant reserves, it will be to that extent that the nation benefits by reducing its dependence on foreign oil."

Weather Mercury plunges to record lows

By the Associated Press

Early morning temperatures plunged to record lows across the Lone Star state today as a high pressure system, clear skies and cold Canadian air teamed together to turn most of the state into a huge refrigerator.

But, forecasters said a warming trend was expected later in the day.

At Houston, the mercury plunged to a record low reading of 22 degrees even before the coldest time of the early morning and long before the sun

Drillers get green light

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first drilling operations to explore the Atlantic Ocean floor for oil and natural gas could begin off the densely populated Northeast within three weeks now that the Supreme Court has given a final go-ahead.

The court on Tuesday turned down an appeal aimed at delaying the start of exploratory drilling off New York, New Jersey and Delaware in a part of the Outer Continental Shelf called the Baltimore Canyon.

Their last legal moves stymied, environmentalists said they were worried about the drilling effect on Atlantic fishing areas and beaches and pledged they will keep close watch on the operations.

"We're talking about potential operations for the next 20 years and we're going to be there every step of the way," said an official of the Natural Resources Defense Council.

The court's action cleared the way for the initial entry into an area some experts believe contains as much as 1.4 billion barrels of oil and 9.4 trillion cubic feet of natural gas.

The government two years ago sold leases for $1.4 billion to 39 companies, and last November issued permits to six — Shell, Mobil, Texaco, Gulf, Exxon and Houston Oil and Gas — to begin operations.

In a separate action Tuesday, the nation's highest court agreed to decide whether the government must impose higher tariffs on electronic products imported from Japan to offset what U.S. manufac-

Punitive damages drawing look

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Nobody knows for sure, but Texans might be paying more for their car insurance because it covers not only out-of-pocket losses but punitive damages as well.

The insurance industry asked the State Insurance Board Tuesday to eliminate coverage for punitive damages awarded by juries to punish serious negligence.

Board chairman Hugh

Yantis suggested such an act by the board should be accompanied by some reduction in auto liability premiums.

The board said it wanted two or three weeks to read the numerous court cases cited by insurance industry spokesman David Irons before making its decision.

Irons represented the Texas Automobile Insurance Service Office.

Yantis said the insurance companies were asking the board to act "in a vacuum" since they had not proposed a rate cut to go with their request.

A 1972 court decision, upheld by the Texas Supreme Court, said the standard automobile liability policy covers not only out-of-pocket losses of accident victims but punitive damages as well.

Irons said Texas was unique in setting a state policy, by board action, that punitive damages are covered by car insurance policies.

"Punitive damages should not be insured against... It (the act that is punished) has got to be a willful and wanton misconduct," he said.

At any rate, negligent drivers — not insurance companies — are the ones whom juries seek to punish with punitive damages, he said.

Yantis wondered out loud why Irons had not presented any insurance rate consequences of the proposed order.

Stout hearted woman's $10,000 tab torn up

NEW YORK (AP) — Stouthearted Genovese Camlin, who made it to her neighborhood bar during a blizzard when even the Postal Service couldn't get there, will celebrate her 94th birthday by watching her $10,000 barroom tab get torn up.

Miss Camlin has been visiting the No-Name bar in Greenwich Village every day for 10 years. Each day she has a bottle of Guinness stout and puts it on the tab.

"Guinness to her is like a vitamin pill," said saloonkeeper Danny Lettieri, who keeps the "No-Name open seven days a week. "During the blizzard

$1 million damage suit hits psychiatrist

A $1 million damage suit has been filed by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cochran of Laredo in 118th District Court here against Dr. R.H. Eisaman of Big Spring and formerly of San Angelo.

The Cochrans are alleging that Dr. Eisaman became emotionally involved with Mrs. Cochran in San Angelo during the summer of 1974, during which time Cochran was suffering from an inoperable heart condition after Cochran's physician had referred him to the defendant, a psychiatrist, for treatment of his malady by hypnosis.

Divorce proceedings were ultimately initiated by Mrs. Cochran against her husband at the behest of the defendant, the suit alleges,

Pneumonia fight looks promising

There have been times when pneumonia and the flu have threatened to wipe out sizeable portions of the earth's population. It probably isn't generally known that half to three-quarters of all normal people's mouths or throats contain germs all the time that could bring on lobar pneumonia. One attack renders a second more likely.

Drunkards and persons over 60 years of age are most likely to die from the disease. In short, it is one of mankind's oldest scourges.

Once one of the leading causes of death among both young and old, pneumonia began yielding to the sulpha drugs four decades ago. Then along came penicillin, terramycin and other antibiotics, all of which did much to neutralize the effects of the disease.

There are numerous strains of pneumonia bacteria — pneumococci — and they continue to exact a heavy toll every year. There have also been unsettling reports from South Africa of the appearance of pneumococcal bacteria almost totally resistant to antibiotics.

For that reason, it is heartening to learn of the successful testing by medical scientists at the University of California of a vaccine against the bacterium which is the most common cause of pneumonia throughout the world. The vaccine is said to be equally effective in the fight against meningitis and an ear infection that can cause deafness.

It is possible that vaccination against the pneumonia germ could someday be added to the list of shots which are customarily given to children before they enter school. However, much more research remains to be done on the effects of the vaccine on young children over a period of years.

It's enheartening to think, however, the family physician may soon be handed a potent new weapon in the battle against this ancient enemy.

Now, if we could just come up with a remedy for the common cold.

Are you sane?

Around the rim

Dusty Richard

Well it's 3:30 and I have to write a rim and I don't know what to write about. So forget it.

Okay okay, Tommy, I'll write something but I don't see why you can't make Jack Anderson longer.

Do any of you out there who are reading this rim (assuming that someone out there is, but if no one did I wouldn't be writing this) ever take those little quizzes in magazines that are supposed to tell you things like if you are happily married, know how to survive in the wilderness, know how to Get A Man, can speak intelligibly on the subject of sports, and the like?

- 7) You have never read
 - a. War and Peace
 - b. The Kama Sutra
- 8) If you had your choice, you would rather
 - a. Get drunk and boogie
 - b. Swing on a star, and carrying moonbeams home in a jar
 - 9) You like to eat
 - a. Chicken curry and bananas foster
 - b. Chicken fried steak and German chocolate cake
 - 10) You are going to
 - a. Finish reading this rim
 - b. Turn to the comics section (traitor!)

HERE IS another one that you can take to find out if you are sane. Choose a or b.

- 1) Given the choice, would you subscribe to
 - a. Hustler
 - b. Bowler's Digest
- 2) If your rich uncle died and left you one billion dollars, would you
 - a. Spend it on a Maserati, a chateau on the French Riviera, gilt-edged stocks and a divorce
 - b. Give it to the first person you meet without shoes
- 3) As a pet, you'd rather have
 - a. A moose
 - b. An iguana
- 4) Which name would you pick for your firstborn son?
 - a. Vedanta Ali
 - b. Stanley
- 5) If you were stranded on a desert island, you would want to have with you
 - a. Carlos Casteneda
 - b. Leon Spinks
- 6) Your favorite T.V. show is
 - a. Saturday Night Live
 - b. Eight is Enough

NOW, GIVE yourself one point for each "a" answer and none for each "b" answer. Add up your points. If you have more than 10 or less than zero you cheated and must start over.

Score yourself according to this chart: 9-10 points — Congratulations! You are definitely sane enough to survive the 20th Century, and maybe more. 7-8 points — You are only a little weird and with intense psychanalysis you should be able to lead a meaningful existence. 5-6 points — Alas, you are merely adequate to the problems of living in the Atomic Age. Reread the questions to find out what you may be doing wrong. 3-4 points — You have some severe problems. If you are under the age of 12, don't worry — you'll get over them. However, if you're older, you may consider moving to New York City for at least a year, then taking this test again to see if you have improved. 0-2 points — I'm afraid there is no hope for you; you are totally insane and shouldn't be out in public. How did you get a hold of this quiz anyway?

House Message

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — When Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill scolded his floor leaders last week for insufficient support of administration programs, they responded with an unexpectedly harsh retort that spells deep trouble for President Carter in the House of Representatives.

As filtered to uncomprehending ears at the White House, the message from Capitol Hill amounted to the same old complaints about not getting telephone calls returned from presidential aide Hamilton Jordan. In fact, that is barely the tip of the iceberg. What really bothers Democratic House members is the President's insensitivity in sending them legislation that runs counter to the mood of Congress and of the people.

WHILE O'NEILL complained about Democratic non-support for Mr. Carter's bill creating a consumer protection agency, the Democratic Congressmen complained over having to vote on an unpopular bill. Their mood is reflected in these words to O'Neill by one senior House member, long noted for liberalism and party loyalty: "I'm tired of getting my brains kicked out on these issues. What has Jimmy Carter ever done for us? Pretty soon the members are going to start running against Carter, and that's trouble for him."

Such emotions were detonated following defeat of the consumer protection bill by 38 votes in the House Feb. 8 when 101 Democrats (out of 283 voting) opposed the President. Revolt in the ranks reached into the non-commissioned officers. Deputy, at-large and regional whips noted only 19 to 16 for the bill.

Tip O'Neill, his Boston sense of party regularity violated, was upset when the party whips held their weekly meeting Feb. 9. Calling Mr. Carter "a helluva President," the Speaker complained about lack of party discipline in not supporting Mr. Carter. "The Congressmen," said O'Neill, "should not think so much of themselves but seek a higher purpose."

THAT SET off the explosion. Rep. Jim Lloyd, who in the Watergate election of 1974 won a conservative southern California seat previously held by Republicans (including Richard M. Nixon), protested shabby treatment when he approached administration officials with constituent problems. Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) Secretary Joseph Califano ignored his calls. Secretary of the Navy W. Graham Clayton dodged a meeting with Lloyd until the Congressman threatened to confront him in open hearing.

Then Lloyd got to the substance. "Some of these tired old Democratic programs have seen their day," he said. "We'd better get off that big government kick." Pointing out that candidate Carter had pledged less government, Lloyd criticized him for scrapping the B-1 bomber and proposing a new government agency. "And you say to me," the two-term Congressman told O'Neill, "that I have to come down the line for the President's programs. I say politics are not the same in West Covina as in Boston."

Lloyd was supported by one House member after another: Bill Alexander of Arkansas (one of three deputy whips), Sam Stratton of New York, Tom Beville of Alabama. Complaints varied between irritation that the consumer bill was brought up in the face of certain defeat ("putting us through the agony for nothing") to kicking Hamilton Jordan around ("he couldn't run somebody's district office").

THEN REP. ROBERT GIAIMO of Connecticut, a powerful figure as a chairman of the House Budget Committee, fired the heavy artillery: "These things are not necessary. Why bring them up? It's just another layer of more government. The members are starting to find that people back home say 'No!'"

Experience overcomes minuses

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a woman over 60 years of age who has held a responsible position in the academic world for 30 years. Recently, I noticed that my memory is not as reliable as it should be, and I occasionally mispronounce a word. A word I wish to use will not come to mind, or a word will come out not as I intended.

I wonder if I should be concerned about the possibility of hardening of the arteries? Is there a test for this condition? My general health is good, and my blood pressure is 140 over 80. —Mrs. M.T.

By age 60, most people have some degree of arterial hardening, but most by that age have learned enough tricks of their "trade," whatever it is, to more than make up for any slight disadvantage.

I assume you are near retirement, or at least lessening your activities. You can't be expected to be as mentally sharp as during the years of responsibility and greater demands on your mental capacities.

So many older persons write me in a state of semi-panic about this matter. It is not unusual for older persons to grope for a word or a name on the spot. It comes to them eventually. One trick is to find an alternative way of expressing what you want to say, one that doesn't require use of that specific word. A thoughtful pause often does the trick.

Arteriosclerosis (artery hardening) can indeed affect various organs to varying degrees. There is no specific test for it, none that is entirely satisfactory. The actual hardening can be detected by examination of the inner eye, by leg cramping, as well as by the quality of the pulse at the wrist. Whatever the result, there's nothing you can do about it physically.

I once saw a slogan posted on the wall of a Salvation Army home for the elderly. It read, "Don't begrudge old age; many are denied it!"

The more you worry about it, the greater the problem it becomes. Dear Dr. Thosteson: What do you recommend for the daily cleansing of acne and oily skin? I am in my early 20s and have been plagued with this skin problem for about eight years. I have tried various products, and recently came upon a detergent soap for acne and oily skin. It contains "sulfated surfactant." What is that? I also would appreciate your opinion about using facial hot packs, astringents, and acne lotions. —N.L.

Sulfur is an old standby in the treatment of acne. A surfactant is a substance that is active on surfaces, in this case the surface of your skin. A detergent is a surfactant. It would remove the skin oils. You must be careful, though, about over-treatment with locally applied lotions and medications for acne. Frequent washing with ordinary soap followed by thorough rinsing with warm, then cold water should be sufficient. The cold rinse has an astringent effect. You might even try ice water. Hot packs don't seem necessary.

Have you seen a dermatologist? I suggest you do for two reasons. It is always wise to have acne properly diagnosed. Many skin blemishes do not represent acne. Secondly, acne of long standing can be helped by low doses of antibiotic taken by mouth. Your emotional state should be evaluated. That can be a factor in acne at your age. Try to keep your hands out of the picture.

Diet-wise, be wary of iodine-containing foods and medicines. Avoid things such as iodized salt, seafoods, or vitamin preparations containing iodine. Consistent and careful hygiene is one of the most effective ways of controlling acne to the extent it can be controlled.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Even though I am only 15, I have dark, ugly circles under my eyes. I get between 7 and 10 hours of sleep a day. What are these caused by? What should I do to get rid of them? My mom refuses to take me to a doctor. Also, my sister is a diabetic. Can I have it also? Does it have anything to do with the circles? —Miss N.H.

The skin of the lids is thinner than elsewhere. The circles are due to normal pigment showing through to the surface. It is more prominent in brunettes. Also, a deeper contour of cheekbones can accentuate circles.

If your sister has diabetes you should be checked once or twice a year with an after-meal blood-sugar test. I'm sure your mother is aware of the possibility that you, too, might have developed diabetes. In any event it has nothing to do with the circles. Find a suitable make-up.

Acne is a terrible problem for anyone growing up. If you are afflicted with it, or have children who are, write to Dr. Thosteson, in care of the Big Spring Herald, for a copy of his booklet, "Controlling Acne, Blackheads and Pimples." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Big Spring Herald Mailbag

Dear Editor: A recent Evans and Novak column inaccurately described rules proposed by the Council on Environmental Quality for assessing the environmental impacts of projects undertaken by federal agencies in foreign countries. In particular, the column suggests that CEQ's proposal lacks legal justification, and would impose U.S. environmental standards on other nations, thus making "Uncle Sam the environmental policeman of the world."

This is flatly not true. Because your readers' taxes finance so many U.S. projects abroad, it seems to me they have a right to better information.

Let's start at the beginning. Within our borders and beyond them we have seen, again and again, the indirect environmental effects of well-intended projects create havoc with a nation's food supplies and its people's health. We have seen, for example:

—In the Ryukyu Islands, the spread of dysentery and of trachoma, an eye disease, following the U.S. introduction of piped, potable water.

—In Indonesia, the destruction of a vital protein source when a pesticide used by farmers to control rice pests also killed fish in the paddies; and —In Egypt, a ten-fold surge in the incidence of schistosomiasis — a debilitating, sometimes fatal, disease — following completion of the Russian-financed Aswan Dam.

The underdeveloped nations to whom the bulk of our non-military assistance goes have a right to know when a project they want might get them into serious health, safety and environmental trouble. And our own pragmatic self-interest dictates that, when our government engages in activities abroad, we should help other nations look before they — or we — leap.

CEQ believes that such a look is required not merely as a matter of prudence but also as a matter of law. The National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) requires all federal agencies to assess the potential environmental impacts of their actions "significantly affecting the quality of the human environment." Several federal agencies, committees of Congress, and others support CEQ's view that NEPA protects the global environment and not simply the government of the U.S.

This duty to prepare environmental assessments does not impose U.S. environmental standards on other countries. Foreign governments are free to proceed with any project they choose no matter how bad environmentally, and U.S. agencies are free to help them if economic or foreign policy considerations so require.

Moreover, CEQ's proposal recognizes that diplomatic and other considerations can limit the amount of information provided in the assessments and can impose a need for confidentiality. We also recognize the need to take into account the unique competitive, environment in which the U.S. Export-Import Bank must operate. In short, CEQ's proposal charts a middle course between imposing the rigorous environmental assessment requirements which apply at home and doing nothing about a worsening problem.

It's natural that federal agencies with major activities abroad should at first resist the new responsibilities proposed by CEQ. But past mistakes associated with projects overseas indicate the need for a deeper U.S. concern for the global environment; the CEQ proposal is a reasonable way to respond.

Disintegration

William F. Buckley, Jr.

When last April the Department of Justice brought in an indictment against former FBI agent John Kearney, for using allegedly illegal tactics in attempting during the early 70's to penetrate and frustrate the terrorist Weathermen, a few observers became convinced that we had entered the lunatic phase of our campaign to purify ourselves, and a committee was born. It is called the Citizens' Legal Defense Fund for the FBI, its address is Suite 808, 95 Madison Avenue, New York, and its chairmen are Clare Boothe Luce, former Secretary of the Treasury William Simon, and former Senator James L. Buckley.

The initial resolution of the committee was to raise funds to give John Kearney a proper defense, and the result was electric. Contributions came in even from the ranks of the best-known recent purifiers, Leon Jaworski, for instance, the point-man in the Watergate prosecutions. Enough money to hire Edward Bennett Williams, who had expressed sympathy for the victimization of Kearney. So the defense is ready, when the Attorney General strikes.

BUT THE committee did not then go out of business. It is inundated with requests for help from other former agents of the FBI who are being harassed by civil suits. And last week, William Simon sent out an appeal for funds enclosing a document which is a chiller and which everyone concerned with the mad demobilization of our internal security apparatus should read — and can do so by asking the committee for a copy.

It is a very long letter, from an FBI agent whose identity is protected. It tells us things we ought to know about domestic security, things that harmonize with the worrisome analysis recently given nationally by Time and Newsweek to the related problem of the CIA, and external security.

William Simon reminds us that the New York Times star foreign correspondent C.L. Sulzberger wrote, "It is believed Moscow has found a way to paralyze the U.S. by striking at its principal security services. As a consequence of such operations (attributed in part to the KGB's

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I have become fascinated with the subject of reincarnation. Why are people like you so opposed to this idea? —I.F.

DEAR I.F.: As a Christian I take my stand on what God has revealed about life after death in the Bible. I therefore reject reincarnation, because it is clearly rejected by the Bible, God's Word.

What does the Bible teach? It tells us that we have been created by God, and He has placed us on this earth. It also tells us we only have one life, and after this life is over there will never be a second chance to prepare ourselves for eternal life. Instead, we will be brought before God for judgment. The Bible says, "And as it is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment" (Hebrews 9:27). God told Adam and Eve, "For dust thou art, and unto dust shalt thou return" (Genesis 3:19). There is not one passage of Scripture that gives any support to the idea of reincarnation.

I wonder if you have asked yourself why you are fascinated by this subject. Perhaps it is because down inside you have a deep yearning for eternal life and yet you know that you are not perfect and do not deserve it. You somehow hope that in other lives you will gradually get nearer to God. Whatever the reason, I have good news for you. God loves you, and He wants you to be His child and live with Him throughout eternity. He loves you so much that His Son died in your place, so you could be saved. Christ "gave himself for our sins, that he might deliver us from his present evil world, according to the will of God and our Father" (Galatians 1:4). I invite you to give yourself to Him, so "you will receive a rich welcome into the eternal kingdom of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ" (2 Peter 1:11, New International Version).

PBB trial costs $1.25 million

CADILLAC, Mich. (AP) — The trial stemming from the PBB disaster of contaminated feed and poisoned cattle has started its second year. "It's a little like being snowed in," says the judge. "Once you realize you're not going anywhere else, you get philosophical."

The trial, the longest in Michigan history, has to date cost the parties involved about $1.25 million, attorneys estimate. Forty-seven witnesses have testified, and the transcript fills 19,764 pages.

Circuit Judge William Peterson originally scheduled the trial for six weeks.

When legal motions first began on Feb. 21, 1977, spectators thronged the Westford County Courthouse. When testimony started, the 200-seat spectator section was almost full and a dozen reporters attended. But only 13 persons were in the courtroom Tuesday, the trial's first anniversary: the judge, eight lawyers, the court reporter, a female spectator, one reporter and plaintiff Roy Tacoma, a Missaukee County farmer.

Tacoma and his wife, Marilyn, are seeking $250,000 in actual damages and up to $1 million in punitive damages for the loss of more than 100 dairy cattle. The Tacomas say the cattle had to be destroyed after they ate feed tainted with polybrominated biphenyl, a toxic fire retardant.

Among the six defendants named in the suit are Michigan Chemical Co., which made PBB, and Michigan Farm Bureau Services, which distributed the tainted feed.

So far, Michigan Chemical and Farm Bureau Services have paid almost $40 million to settle nearly 700 claims stemming from the 1973 contamination. At least 135 other claims are awaiting trial.

Chicago veterinary pathologist, spent almost an hour Tuesday describing 11 microscope slides containing tissue samples from the kidneys of 16 calves fed PBB.

Robl was the 47th witness. Attorneys for Michigan Chemical and Farm Bureau Services said they expect to call another seven or eight witnesses before the trial ends.

"There's nothing I can do except listen," said Peterson, when asked if the non-jury trial can be expedited. "The ideal is that every case should be given as much time as it merits...I can only say that I want these people to have the same kind of hearing you would want to have."

Peterson said the case is unusual because much of the research on PBB is new and lawyers knew little about how the feed mix-up occurred before the trial began.

Gary Shenk, an attorney for the Tacomas, and Roger Clark, an attorney for Michigan Chemical, both agreed that future PBB trials might go faster as the subject matter becomes more familiar.

Dr. Kavanagh promoted

AUSTIN — John J. Kavanagh, M.D., deputy commissioner for mental health services, today was named acting commissioner of the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation.

He will assume his new duties March 1 when the current commissioner, Kenneth D. Gaver, M.D., steps down to enter private practice.

Dr. Kavanagh will serve as the acting commissioner until the Texas Board of Mental Health and Mental Retardation fills the position permanently.

In naming Dr. Kavanagh to the post, the board also appointed a four-member advisory committee to assist him in direction of the department and preparation of budgets for consideration by the legislature.

Named to the committee were Joseph Schoolar,

Ph.D., M.D., director of the Texas Research Institute of Mental Sciences, Houston; Frankie E. Williams, M.D., superintendent of Vernon Center; L.W. (Bill) Cain, superintendent of Abilene State School; and Ward R. Burke of Diboll, chairman of the board of trustees for the Deep East Texas Regional MHMR Services, Lufkin.

Assisting the committee and Dr. Kavanagh will be the board's executive committee, composed of Edwin R. VanZandt of Rusk, chairman of the board; Lynn Darden of Wichita Falls; Olin B. Guber, M.D., of Temple; Mrs. Howard E. Butt Sr. of Corpus Christi; and Menton J. Murray of Harlingen.

"The advisory committee," noted VanZandt, "is composed of administrators or executive of the four major service categories making up the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation."

"We believe the advice and counsel these executives have to offer will give Dr. Kavanagh strength and support in meeting the needs of our research and training institute, our state hospitals, our state schools and the community mental health and mental retardation centers."

VanZandt again expressed regret at Dr. Gaver's decision to resign, praising him for his administration during his 42 months as commissioner since Sept. 1, 1974.

The chairman said, "Dr. Kavanagh's administrative background and years of service in the field of psychiatry will be a vital link in the department's operations while the search continues for a full-time commissioner."

Coliseum construction woes aired

By MARJ CARPENTER

The Howard College board of trustees have given up on there ever being a completion date for the coliseum.

After discussing the many problems in the final days of the project, the board agreed not to schedule any events in the facility until it is complete.

Plans for a top-notch speaker for graduation on May 12 were scrubbed because they were not even sure the coliseum would be ready by that date.

Dr. Charles Hays, college president said, "We didn't have a penalty clause. We have already missed many events including the Gala, had to cancel the District Lions Convention and a couple of other events and I don't think we should schedule any others until it is done."

The architect and the contractor were at the meeting and heard the board point out that they consider the contractor to be four months and 21 days behind schedule.

They also pointed out that Midland College's coliseum was scheduled for 540 days instead of 660 days and will be ready by June 1. They pointed out that weather in the two communities is similar.

They asked for careful correction of current problems including a few locations where the floor is uneven for pro-turf, three risers that are not even or square, leakage problems and an easier access to storage areas on the west end.

Other details were discussed and problems aired. The contractor pointed out the special problems revolving around obtaining the type of glass needed in the project, and said the contractor of the new Sweetwater courthouse was having similar problems.

In other business, the board approved the faculty for the coming year. Division heads include Reva Adams, business; Theron Lee, technical-professional; John Freeman Jr., industrial-technical; Gary Grant, communications; Kenneth Sprinkle, fine arts; Jerry Dudley, health and physical education; Robert J. Seyse, science and math and E. Leslie Kelley, social and behavioral sciences.

Other faculty members approved include Pam Ausmus, Mary Bailey, Anita Booth, Robert Bradberry, Mary Dudley, Jack Dunn, John Gordon, E.L. Kelley, David King, Susan King, John Marder, Charles McCamant, Billie Nunley, Ronnie Phillips, Larry Reese, Wanda Reese, Bobby Smith, Don Stevens, Kathleen Weber, and Mary Deats.

Others include Doris Hubregtse, Jim Rackley, Ralph Smith, Johnnie Amos, Diane Austin, Charlotte Greene, Ramona Harris, Lettie Lee, Mary McClelland, John Massey, Kathy Molpus, Steve Clark, Al Long and Brad Mosher. Bob Harbin will be employed depending upon funding from a grant in the Paramedic Program.

The board also approved House Bill 243 which allows out of state students to be listed as in state students if they purchase property and pay ad valorem taxes locally.

The board postponed bids on a floor machine due to new information received.

The college president also told the board about some $20,000 worth of trees and shrubs to be planted on campus with funds donated to the college for landscaping.

He also told of maps being prepared by the drafting department to be put on stands made by the maintenance crew and placed on the campus.

A report was given on a student ski trip to Ruidoso with Terry Newman stating that it is a success. It will be an annual winter activity of students.

Dr. Charles Warren presided, with board members present including Harold Davis, Jimmy Taylor, Don McKinney and James Barr. Two board members, Dr. P.W. Malone and K.H. McGibbon were unable to attend.

252 criminal cases pend in district court

January was a quiet month for the county and district courts, giving some relief from the hectic year-end activity of 1977.

In the district court, only three criminal cases were filed during the month. In contrast, 12 were disposed of, leaving 242 pending at the end of the month. Five of those disposals were dismissals, four were guilty pleas, two were transfers, and one was a jury verdict.

Civil cases in district court gained by 30 cases during the month. Sixty-seven cases were filed, 37 disposed of, leaving 1,468 pending at the beginning of February. Of the dispositions, 23 were divorces.

In county court, 51 criminal cases were filed and 34 disposed of, leaving 541 cases pending at the beginning of the month. Of the dispositions, 21 were dismissals.

In civil county court, six cases were filed and two disposed of, leaving 224 on the docket for February.

District Clerk Peggy Crittenden also released year-end figures on district court. A total of 231 criminal cases were pending at the beginning of 1978, the most numerous being burglary and drugs other than marijuana. A total of 145 cases were filed during the year and 128 disposed of, leaving 251 still on the docket for 1978.

In civil action for the year, 1,412 cases were pending, 913 filed, 887 disposed of, leaving 1,438 pending.

Sugar-coated kiddie ads on TV new target of FTC

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission is about to consider four sealed indictments

COLORADO CITY — Ten felony indictments, including four sealed indictments for suspects not in custody, were returned Tuesday by the Mitchell County grand jury.

Raymond Gonzales, 31, Colorado City, was indicted for murder in connection with the shooting of Malva Rene Forbes, 39, last Jan. 28.

Mrs. Forbes was killed with a .22 caliber magnum pistol at her home northeast of Colorado City.

Ray Garcia, 38, Colorado City, was charged with aggravated assault on a police officer. Garcia is alleged to have bitten patrolman Kenneth Abbott last Jan. 20.

Gary Ruben Glanzman and James Thomas Monroe, both of Indiana, were indicted for armed robbery with firearms. The two allegedly held up a Colorado City motel Jan. 21.

Eloy Gutierrez Jr., 27, and Steven Hernandez Garcia, 30, both of Colorado City, were charged in unrelated indictments with driving while intoxicated, second offenses.

several proposals to severely cut television advertising aimed at children, an FTC official says.

Tracy A. Westen, who headed the team of FTC employees that spent months developing the proposals, outlined them in an interview Tuesday. They include:

—Banning such advertising on television programs with substantial audiences of children aged 6 or under.

—Prohibiting television ads for highly sugared foods aimed at older children, perhaps 7 to 12 years old, by limiting such ads to after 9 p.m.

—Requiring advertisers of other products designed to appeal to 7-to-12-year-olds to buy extra time for "counteradvertising" to present health, safety or nutritional information about such products.

Westen, deputy director of the commission's bureau of consumer protection, said the staff recommendations will be formally announced Monday, the day before they are presented to the commission.

The staff recommendations would have to be approved by the commission before becoming effective. Commission Chairman Michael Pertschuk, in an earlier interview, said he was "convinced some action has to be taken" to guard young children against television ads for products with large sugar concentrations.

Manufacturers of sugar-coated cereals have cited studies, however, that they say show no relationship between cereals containing sugar and tooth decay.

Cereal and candy manufacturers have been mobilizing to counter any FTC move to restrict their products' advertising. One possible attack on the FTC under discussion among industry groups is a legal challenge claiming that such regulations violate advertisers' freedom of speech.

Some cereal manufacturers have embarked on a newspaper advertising campaign to rebut the poor-nutrition charges made against sugary cereals and are including in their television ads a disclaimer that their products are only "one part of a nutritious breakfast."

The FTC scrutiny of children's advertising began after it received petitions from Action for Television's Children and the Center for Science in the Public Interest.

The two groups contended that such ads may destroy a child's view of a good diet and can lead to cavities. For more than a decade, parent groups and consumer activists have campaigned to restrain what they see as hucksterism aimed at the young, particularly ads for sugary foods. In some cereals, sugar makes up half the product's content.

INS expects to hire at least 450 agents

U.S. Civil Service is accepting applications for federal law enforcement careers as Border Patrol agents and Customs Patrol officers through March 14.

Applications from women are particularly encouraged. Those selected will be hired at GS-5 ($9,959 per year) and with training and experience may advance to GS-9 ($15,000 per year).

Border Patrol agents are employed by the Immigration and Naturalization Service to detect and apprehend aliens who enter the United States illegally. INS expects to hire between 450 and 575 men and women as new agents in the next year. Because Border Patrol work requires the ability to speak and read Spanish as well as English, all new agents will receive Spanish language instruction as part of their initial job training.

Custom Patrol officers work for the U.S. Customs Service in detecting and preventing the smuggling or illegal entry of narcotics and other contraband into the United States. The Customs Service expects to hire 100 men and women as new officers in 1978.

Applicants for written tests should submit CSC Form 5000-B, "Application for Written Test," to the U.S. Civil Service Commission, San Antonio Area Office, 643 E. Durango Blvd., San Antonio, Tex., 78205.

Ridin' fence

Why so young?

with Marj Carpenter

Very rarely do I repeat a column. And I don't intend to completely repeat this one. But back in May 1974 when a youth named Mark Eldred was electrocuted the day that he would have graduated from high school in Pecos, I wrote a column that received a lot of sympathetic calls from parents who had lost children in tragedies.

It went like this: "There's something especially sad about young people and fatal accidents. Whether it be a car wreck, motorcycle accident, bicycle, airplane, horse, a drowning, an illness or whatever, it's sad when life is snuffed out early."

"Somehow we can easier adjust to the death of the elderly, although we are never ready to give up our own, with the words, 'He's has a good life.' "But the young. How tragic."

Then I told about Mark. But today, I'm talking about four youths whose lives were snuffed out Monday in a plane crash in Lubbock.

They were all 21 or 22 years old. All four of them spent the weekend of the Texas-Texas Tech football game in the home of my son, Jim Bob, at Austin last fall.

They were having their old friendly Texas-Tech rivalry. Two of them were Andrews youths who had grown up with my son. Two of them were their friends whom they knew would be welcome. A fifth youth, Dale Hayes, also from Andrews, accompanied the foursome. Dale has attended both colleges, but is currently at Tech. When Texas played at Tech, Jim Bob and Dale stayed with Pete and Kelvin. When Tech played at Texas, they returned the favor.

They had kidded Jim Bob unmercifully when Tech beat the Longhorns in 1976. So Jim Bob was especially enjoying Texas beating the Raiders in 1977.

He drove down the drag in his pickup following the game with the back end loaded with Raider fans and ended up in what was almost a bad fight between some of his Texas friends and his Tech friends.

But they all laughed about it later, and again not too many weeks ago, when Kelvin and Pete came back to visit in Austin.

Pete left a shirt on a chair when he left. Kelvin left a pair of blue jeans. They were typical forgetful youths.

Pete was lanky and happy-go-lucky, and serious underneath. Kelvin, half Japanese, was as American as apple pie and full of humor.

The four youths had recently gotten enthused about flying. One of them had a pilot's license. One of the others was hoping to get one soon.

They were typical well-loved, outgoing, happy-go-lucky, young men. They accomplished no great deeds in their short life other than to be very special to many people.

One cannot measure how many lives they in turn touched.

I now return to my column of May 1974:

"My heart aches for all families who lose the young. It is a difficult scripture to live by but sometimes necessary to cling to:

"All things work together for good to them that love God. (Romans 8:21.)"

Charges may be filed

Bald eagle wounded

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Two eagles have been killed and another wounded in Arkansas so far this year, despite stiff penalties for anyone convicted of shooting one of the big birds, a federal official said.

One of the three, a young bald eagle with gunshot wounds in the neck and shoulder, is to be flown today to Auburn University in Alabama for special veterinary treatment, agent Andrew Pursley of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service said.

Arkansas Game and Fish Commission officer Vol Cowgur said Tuesday the investigation of the shooting "looks very favorable" and that charges may be filed soon in the case.

The maximum federal penalty for killing a bald eagle is a $5,000 fine and one year in prison. The penalty is doubled on the second offense.

The government offers a reward of half the fine, up to $2,500, for information leading to the conviction of someone who shoots one of the birds.

Agents also are investigating the shooting deaths of two eagles three weeks ago at Norfolk Lake, Pursley said.

He estimated the statewide bald and golden eagle population at about 140, eighteen of which have been killed or wounded in Arkansas within the past year. "They arrive the first of October and leave about March, although some remain in the state," Pursley said.

The wounded eagle was sighted Monday about a mile west of Pea Ridge National Military Park in northwestern Arkansas, Pursley said.

Cowgur said the wounded bird was turned over to him by Kinley Miller, who discovered the grounded eagle on the Miller farm.

"He was shot in the shoulder and wing," Cowgur said. "He can hold his head up and walk around, but he doesn't have the use of his right wing."

"He's an immature bald eagle — his head won't turn white until he is 4 years old,"

Cowgur said. Auburn University and released at Greers Ferry Lake.

Pursley said the young eagle apparently was wounded by a rifle slug. The bird wore a numbered band on one of its legs, Pursley said, and the number was sent to a lab in Laurel, Md., for identification.

"The number will identify the bander, location, date, age and maybe the sex of the bird," Pursley said.

Federal agents band eagles while they are still in the nest, he explained.

Pursley called banding "a pretty risky business. Some of the nests weigh a ton. Guys climb up there and band them to try and better identify the species."

Banding is performed in several states, but Arkansas is not among them, Pursley continued.

The wounded eagle spent Tuesday night in a heated building at the Cowgur residence in Centererton. "I've been trying to feed and water him. I think he ate a little hamburger this morning," Cowgur said Tuesday.

A bald eagle wounded in Arkansas last October was successfully treated at

Kansas State rape trial

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP) — A jury has been selected in the trial of three men charged with the rape of a woman at the Kansas State University athletic dormitory last spring.

Before jury selection began Tuesday, however, a fourth defendant in the trial, Kirk Boykin, 20, of Houston, pleaded guilty to a lesser charge of conspiracy to commit rape.

Riley County District Court Judge Ronald Innes ordered a pre-sentence investigation for Boykin.

The other three defendants, Nate Jones of Chicago, Ken Lovely of Dallas and Michael Woodfin of Topeka, Kan., are charged with raping a university coed March 30. Jones and Lovely are members of the KSU football team; Woodfin is a former member.

Another former member, Jerome Hotiwell of Manhattan, was originally charged with rape but was granted immunity in exchange for testimony against the others.

More about Marvin

For the second week in a row, ex-Hawk Marvin Johnson has made the national sports scene — this time in Sports Illustrated.

The article in that magazine finally clears up the question Walt "Boomer" Finley has been asking about the former Howard College star: "Why didn't he go to Tulsa?"

That particular time in Marvin's life was very hectic and non-storybookish. Only keen-eyed Harold Wilder and then-assistant Leroy McLendon sought out the Louisiana one-year letterman. In fact, he may be the most highly-regarded, least-recruited college basketball player drumming the hardwoods at this time.

After his first year at Howard College, he returned to his home state and enrolled at Southwestern Louisiana. Luckily for the local school, though, he returned to HC without playing a single game for SLU.

MARVIN JOHNSON Looking sharp at Howard College

Following his all-WJCAC sophomore year at HC, Marvin came whisker-close to signing with Washington State when he decided "the vibes weren't right." Instead, he inked a letter of intent with New Mexico State, changed his mind again and tentatively agreed to go to Tulsa of the same conference.

Marvin worked in Tulsa during the summer of '76, then suddenly returned home. "I knew I wanted to play somewhere, but I didn't know where," Marvin told the SI reporter. "I was afraid of becoming an outlaw."

New Mexico University assistant John Whisenant followed Marvin back to Louisiana, and persuaded him to return with him. After flying to New Mexico in Whisenant's plane, Johnson enrolled in the school and practiced with the Lobos even though Washington State and Tulsa were begging him to play for them.

Marvin still didn't suit out for the first game at NMU. "People were really messing my mind about the problems that had gone on here at New Mexico," said Marvin, explaining his indecision. "And I didn't know if I should commit myself by playing. That's why I didn't dress for the first game last year."

"But then the other guys on the team convinced me to stay, and I'm glad I did. Everything has worked out the way I hoped it would."

New Mexico currently leads the nation in scoring, and Marvin is the Lobos' leading scorer (23.4), rebounder (6.5) and free-throw shooter (75 per cent), and he set a school record with 46 points against Kentucky State.

Coach Norm Ellenberger is perhaps the biggest reason (other than Marvin) that NMU is doing so well. If you remember, two years ago, six black players criticized his coaching and left the team. Last season 3,000 fans signed a petition demanding he be fired. Wait, there's more.

Two players left during preseason, and of course Marvin refused to suit up for the first game. Instead of shacking Johnson and one of those two players for their mid insurgence, which most coaches would have done, Ellenberger made them co-captains — a move which instantly solved any leadership problems.

New Mexico also has a nation-leading nine junior college transfers, and if Ellenberger is smart, he might look right in Marvin's Big Spring back door for a few more next season.

SHE 'REALLY' LIKED HIS PLAY

Speaking of Hawks, Monday night when numerous fans and well-wishers were congratulating the locals on their play after the game, sophomore Eugene Williams found a note of appreciation that was more than a handshake or autograph.

One shortcake fan, a girl about two-years-old, was so impressed with Eugene, that during the accolades of her mother for the towering sophomore, she gazed up towards the giant, raised her tiny little fist, clutching about 15 or 20 cents and said, "Here, you can have all my money."

Though his performance was worth a 1,000 times that, Williams grinned and declined the offer. The little girl evidently felt she had gotten her money's worth and more from Monday's game. Amen.

ALI THE EVANGELIST?

Muhammad Ali has recently confirmed the reports that former champion George Foreman is exerting pressure on him to convert back to his Christian beliefs. The mother of Leon Spinks is also backing George up in this endeavor.

"I see all those men on television every Sunday — Robert Schuller and Rex Humbard," Ali told AP's Will Grimsley. "I say I'd like to have an hour show like that, a lot of singing, maybe some dancing and then some serious talk. I would be good at that."

Lord help us all. As a boxer, he was the greatest. But as a money-wrecker, using a Bible...uh-uh.

Speaking of boxing, Joe Frazier, Ken Norton, Jimmy Young, Earnie Shavers and even Foreman feel certain they can knock out the new champ. If Ali wants the shot, however, he'll probably be the first one to fight Spinks.

REMARKABILITIES

"Boxing never has had a man who can take a punch to his mouth and to his pride with greater grace." — WILL GRIMSLEY, on Muhammad Ali.

"It's the one where the player pitches the ball back to the official after scoring a touchdown." — BEAR BRYANT, describing his favorite play.

"If they'd played the whole season like they played the last three games, they'd be undefeated right now." — FAVORITE SPOTTER, following Monday night's pleasing thrilling Hawk victory.

Texas' guardian angel

By the Associated Press

Abe Lemons called it his "guardian angel." Eddie Sutton called it "dodging the bullet." But no matter what anybody calls it, the Texas Longhorns earned themselves an 11-day vacation Tuesday night as the curtain closed on the Southwest Conference regular basketball season.

Texas, ranked No. 14, and Arkansas, No. 4 ranked, will share the championship with 14-2 records but it's the surprising Longhorns who will sit back and rest while the other eight SWC clubs joust in the postseason tournament.

Lemons' longshot Longhorns clinched the bye with an 82-74 victory over Southern Methodist, prompting the Austin philosopher-in-residence to exude: "If we had to flip a coin (with Arkansas) we would have won that, too. This is our lucky year."

Lemons added "I think we've got a guardian angel."

Hawks beat Clarendon, clinch playoffs

CLARENDON — The Howard College Hawks won their fourth game in a row by defeating Clarendon 84-83 Tuesday night. The win also marked the fifth consecutive in which HC sophomore Russell Sublet has broken the 30-point total.

The game was a nail-biter all the way. The Hawks took their biggest lead of the night, an eight-point margin, shortly after the second half began, but Clarendon slowly chipped away at the lead.

In the final three minutes of play, Clarendon made their move, and by the time the scoreboard clock read :40 seconds to play, the hosts had a three-point lead over the Hawks.

Sublet cut the margin to one with 30 seconds left with a jumper, and then the locals went into a frantic press. The play was effective, and a rattled Clarendon crew threw the ball out-of-bounds.

HC worked for the good shot, after the turnover, and with three seconds left, Allen Bonds penetrated a sticky man-on-man Clarendon defense and hit a "nice touch" bucket to give the locals the win.

As in the Amarillo game, one that HC also won by one point, one second was again put on the clock. Clarendon's last-ditch effort from mid-court failed, however.

In addition to Sublet's 30 points, Robby Randolph scored 18 and Joe Cooper hit 16. Eugene Williams also doubled with 10 markers.

Before the contest, HC Coach Harold Wilder and Clarendon mentor Gene Davis extrapolated the "Power Points" accumulated by both teams.

"Power Points" are used to determine which team advances to the playoffs in case of ties.

The way it appears now, with the win over Clarendon, the Hawks have assured themselves a playoff game with one of the northern schools. If the Hawks beat Western Texas Thursday and Clarendon beats Amarillo, the locals would finish in undisputed fourth place and would meet the fifth place team in the Northern conference.

The winner of that game would gain a berth in the Region V tournament.

Even if HC should lose to WTC, and Clarendon wins, the "Power Point" system would still give the fifth place playoff game to the Hawks. The locals would then face the Northern league's fourth place team for the tourney berth.

The Hawks will probably play Grayson either Saturday or Monday to determine which team advances to the Region tourney which begins a week from Thursday.

Teammates Allen Bonds (31) and Robby Randolph watch the fine defensive effort. Tuesday, the Hawks earned the right to fight for a Region V tourney berth with an 84-83 win over Clarendon.

Queens earn tie for first

CLARENDON — The Howard College Hawk Queens defeated a stubborn Clarendon College women's team Tuesday night, 68-61, and in the process, clinched at least a tie for first place in the Western Junior College Athletic Conference.

The locals, down 40-38 at halftime, were led by Tami Edwards and Linda Batla with 26 and 16 points, respectively.

"Tami came through for us in the first half," said Head Coach Don Stevens, "and Linda was the key in the second." After Edwards scored 18 points in the first half, Clarendon came back after intermission covering her like a blanket.

According to Stevens, that's when Batla hit four straight long jumpers and went on to score 12 in the second half.

"We had our inside and outside game going very well," Stevens added. "Clarendon came on strong in the second half of conference play, and they're as good as anyone now."

The Queens held one of the top conference scorers, Denise Ashby, to only 16 points all night. Stevens indicated that that fact was a major key to the win.

The Queens, 9-2 in league play and 24-5 on the year, round out regular season.

EAGLES WIN BI-DISTRICT

STEPHENVILLE — The Abilene High Eagles, winners of the District 5-4A basketball title, downed Hurst Bell, 72-63, Tuesday night in a Class 4A bi-district game.

Abilene, sporting a 32-4 record, advances to the Class 4A Region II tournament to be held this weekend on the campus of Abilene Christian University. The Eagles play El Paso Eastwood Friday at 8 p.m. in their first game.

David Little and Byron Roberts led the Eagles with 22 points each in the Hurst victory, and Cisco Smith added 14 more.

Embarrassment to motivate the Reds

CINCINNATI (AP) — Embarrassment will motivate this year's Cincinnati Reds, according to Manager Sparky Anderson.

"A lot of guys sat in front of their TV sets and watched the World Series last fall when they knew in their hearts they should be playing in it. It was where everybody expected us to be after winning World Championships in 1975 and 1976. But we were on the outside looking in," Anderson said Tuesday in his pre-season look at his baseball team.

The Reds finished 10 games in back of Los Angeles in the National League West Division race last season after falling badly behind in the early going. The team's pitching was sharply criticized although the staff was buoyed by the acquisition in June of All-Star Tom Seaver from the New York Mets.

"There's no doubt in my mind that everybody will be going to spring training with a different attitude, ready to prove 1977 was a fluke year. I know we're going to be doing things different this year, right from the start."

Anderson said he now believed it was important to win a lot of games during the pre-season in Florida.

"I'm going to make sure the pitchers who will come North with us do most of the pitching in Florida," Anderson said. "I want the regulars to play in a lot of games. We've got to get together again, get close, get used to each other on the field."

The Reds manager said that there would be no criticism this year about the Reds' pitching.

"The addition of Bill Bonham and having Seaver around for the full season really gives us stability," Anderson said. "Our problems last year were painful, but they did give some of our young pitchers a chance to get some valuable experience."

"It looks like our starting rotation will include Seaver, Bonham, Fred Norman and Doug Capilla, but in the early part of the season, with so many offdays, I will probably go with just three or four starters."

NEW YORK (AP) — Dave and Denise Romansky, believed to be the first father and daughter combination to compete in the National AAU Indoor Track and Field Championships, will participate in this year's meet, Friday night at Madison Square Garden.

Dave, a winner of 11 AAU walking titles at various distances, will compete in the men's two-mile walk. His 14-year-old daughter will be in the women's mile walk.

Amritraj attaching Strings

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Vijay Amritraj is returning to the Los Angeles Strings.

Amritraj, the top-ranked tennis player in India, has signed a multi-year contract to perform for the World Team Tennis club, it was announced Tuesday. Terms of the pact were not revealed.

Amritraj and Bob Lutz teamed with the Strings two years ago to become the second-best doubles combination in the professional circuit. They won 14 of 18 sets and set a team record with seven straight victories.

The 24-year-old Amritraj, voted the most popular of the Strings in 1976, is expected to team with Ilie Nastase in doubles this season.

The Strings also have signed Amritraj's 20-year-old brother, Ashok, to the squad for 1978.

Muser approaching freedom

BALTIMORE (AP) — Hoping to grant the first baseman his unconditional release, the Baltimore Orioles asked waivers on veteran Tony Muser Tuesday.

Muser, 30, had asked to be traded at the end of the 1977 season, after he came to the plate only 118 times. He appeared in 120 games, mostly as a late-inning defensive replacement at first base.

Muser, who came to the Orioles from the Chicago White Sox in a trade in June 1975, batted .229 last season and drove in seven runs.

If no other club claims Muser's contract by next Monday, he will be free to negotiate his own deal with any team.

WAITING — Members of the Forsan Queens basketball team wait and watch for the beginning of Monday night's practice game with Midland Lee. . . a game which they easily won, 50-37. The Forsan fems are also waiting to play either Klondike or Sands in their bi-district game.

Lakers are making their move

By The Associated Press

Watch out for the Los Angeles Lakers.

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar & Co. posted their fifth straight road victory and their 14th triumph in the last 17 games, beating the Chicago Bulls 106-104 Tuesday night as Lou Hudson hit a 30-foot jumper with nine seconds to play for the winning margin.

"I think the guys have made up their minds that they want to win," said Lakers Coach Jerry West, whose club is now 31-27 and climbing after a disastrous start marred by Abdul-Jabbar's broken hand and the suspension of Kermit Washington for punching Rudy Tomjanovich.

The mid-season trades that brought Adrian Dantley and Charlie Scott to the Lakers have given the club added firepower.

Hudson had the hot hand against the Bulls, hitting for 29 points, while Dantley scored 24 and Abdul-Jabbar 19.

Chicago trailed by 13 in the third period but took a 104-103 lead on two free throws by ex-Laker Cedric Russell with 39 seconds left. Don Ford got the rebound of a missed shot by Abdul-Jabbar and fed Hudson for his winning basket.

In other NBA games, the Portland Trail Blazers edged the San Antonio Spurs 118-114 in overtime, the New York Knicks nipped the Seattle SuperSonics 122-120, the Houston Rockets beat the Boston Celtics 111-96, the Phoenix Suns trimmed the Buffalo Braves 114-111 and the Philadelphia 76ers defeated the Cleveland Cavaliers 127-114.

Blazers 118, Spurs 114 — San Antonio lost a golden opportunity to knock off the defending champions when George Gervin missed an 18-footer with five seconds left in regulation play. Portland's Bill Walton took command in overtime, scoring six of his game-high 34 points in the extra session. Knicks 122, Sonics 120 — New York trailed by 19 early in the fourth period before storming back to win with 42 points in the final 12 minutes. Bob McAdoo scored 37 points and Butch Beard 20 for New York and teamed with rookies Ray Williams, Glen Gondrezick and Toby Knight to turn the game back around.

Rockets 111, Celtics 96 — Houston got 32 points from Calvin Murphy and 23 from backcourt mate John Lucas in beating the undermanned Celtics. Boston's Kermit Washington was withheld from the game to avert a possible incident in Houston, site of his knockout of the Rockets' Rudy Tomjanovich earlier this season.

76ers 127, Cavaliers 114 — George McGinnis scored 26 points and Doug Collins 24

as Philadelphia moved in front by 25 points in the third period and coasted to its sixth straight victory. The Sixers played so well that Julius Erving, who missed six games because of a leg injury, was needed for only brief duty and scored just 10 points.

Suns 114, Braves 111 — Walter Davis scored 32 points and Paul Westphal 29, but the big play for Phoenix came from forward Gar Heard, who intercepted an inbound pass and scored on a stuff shot with 4:01 left. That made it 102-101 and Phoenix never trailed after that.

Rockets together now

HOUSTON (AP) — After struggling through two-thirds of their National Basketball Association season, the Houston Rockets may finally be putting their game together.

Led by Calvin Murphy's game-high 32 points, the Rockets raced past the Boston Celtics 111-96 Tuesday night to move within 3 1/2 games of the final playoff spot in the NBA's Eastern Conference.

The Celtics, playing without Dave Cowens (sore back), Curtis Rowe (knee), and Kermit Washington, were unable to contain the Rockets' running game as Houston took its seventh victory in its last 11 games.

"We have to stop talking and start doing something about it," said Houston's John Lucas of the Rockets' playoff chances.

"I like to play against the Celtics. We were able to run on them and take advantage of them being short-handed," he said.

The Rockets, bolstered by Murphy's hot shooting, vaulted into a 14-point first quarter lead and were never headed.

Boston moved to within seven points, 57-50, early in the second half, but Murphy closed the door on the Celtics' rally by leading Houston on a 13-3 spurt which put the game out of reach.

"We knew we could run on them and we were able to," Murphy said.

Sidney Wicks and Kevin Stacom led the Celtics with 22 and 21 points, respectively, as Boston's record fell to 3-4 on its current 11-game road trip.

"They're not a running team, but they were able to run on us tonight and tire us out," said Wicks. "Murphy had the hot hand. He has us playing catch up all the way."

Seniors offer heart program

February is Heart Month in Howard County. Why is that important? Because heart disease is a top killer in Texas. We are fortunate that a decline in the death rate from heart attacks has continued for the third straight year. We need to continue to educate ourselves with knowledge about heart problems. The Howard County Senior Citizens Center and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service are sponsoring a program on heart disease. It will be held Feb. 23 at 1:30 p.m. in the First Presbyterian Church fellowship hall. Conducting the program will be Keith Thomas, Emergency Medical Technician. The purpose of the program is to acquaint people with the warning signs of a heart attack or stroke and provide information on high blood pressure. Emphasis will be placed on early detection, treatment, and preventive medicine.

Boredom may be cause of so-called insomnia

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Each night thousands of people who are convinced they have insomnia count sheep and pop pills in search of sleep the don't need. They're simply trying to block out life's blahs, says Dr. Joseph Mendels, head of a newly formed insomnia clinic at the University of Pennsylvania Hospital.

"From a physiological point of view these people are getting enough sleep, they just don't think they are," Mendels said in a recent interview. "There has been a dramatic increase in free time in our society and people are becoming very bored."

"How many times can you watch the ninth rerun of 'I Love Lucy?' At 9 o'clock these people say, 'I think I'll go to bed,' and they can't. They want to get away from the emptiness and boredom in their life."

Mendels, a medical doctor and a professor of psychiatry at Penn., said that about 30 of every 100 people who say they couldn't sleep would fall into the pseudo-insomnia category.

Another 20 per cent, he said, would have a treatable illness like depression that was causing sleeplessness.

Of the rest, he said, 25 per cent would be experiencing sleep difficulties because they had built up a resistance to medication, 20 per cent would have undiagnosable sleep problems, and 5 per cent or less would suffer from a rare syndrome in which they stop breathing when they fall asleep, causing them to jerk awake immediately.

He said it's true that as people get older they need less sleep. And, he said, counting sheep really does help people doze off.

Telephone Addict Wearing Her Out

DEAR ABBY: Please, in the interest of preserving my sanity, tell me how to get rid of a telephone pest. This woman is a non-stop talker. She can go on for two hours at a stretch. Once I actually left the line for about five minutes and when I came back she was still talking! Another time I said, "Excuse me, I've got to go. I just cut myself and I am bleeding badly," and she said, "But this will only take a minute and it's interesting." (It wasn't.) She is the biggest bore I know.

Telling her that I am too busy to talk won't work. Please help me. I don't mind in the least if I lose her friendship.

GOING NUTS.

DEAR GOING: Your last sentence makes my suggested solution very simple. The next time she phones, tell her that you are too busy to visit with her, say goodbye, and then hang up. Repeat this routine as often as is necessary until your "friendship" dissolves.

DEAR ABBY: Joe is 53 and I'm 49. We've been married for 31 years and Joe has always traveled for a living. I never suspected him of playing around until about six months ago when I unpacked his suitcase and found some hair (reddish) on his bathrobe. (I'm a brunette.) He said he couldn't help it if the motels had poor housekeeping. The next time he came home, his overcoat reeked with perfume. He said the coat must have been hanging next to a lady's wrap in some restaurant. I suppose that's possible. Yesterday while riding in his car I found a cigarette butt with lipstick on it in the ashtray. (I don't smoke.) He said he had no idea how it got there.

He doesn't act any different toward me. He's still the same sweet loving man, but all this evidence has made me suspicious.

If he were YOUR husband, what would YOU do?

SUSPICIOUS IN CHICAGO

DEAR SUSPICIOUS: I'd be the same sweet loving woman. I'd also keep my eyes open.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter and I just had an argument and I want you to settle it. Mary is married to a nice fellow. They have two sons, 11 and 8. My son-in-law has a poker game at the house once a week, and he lets the boys watch them play. The boys love to play cards, too. (They learned from watching their father.)

I told Mary I didn't think it was good for the boys to watch their father gamble, and she got very angry with me and said she saw nothing wrong with it.

Abby, don't you think this will influence the children to gamble? I say this because whenever the boys come to our house they want to play cards with my husband and me for money. We tell them we will play with them—but not for money.

What do you think?

CONCERNED GRANDMA

DEAR CONCERNED: I agree with you. Children should not gamble for money, but playing cards sharpens the wits and exercises one's mathematical ability. But you're expressed your views—now cool it, Granny.

Getting married? Whether you want a formal church wedding or a simple do-your-own-thing ceremony, get Abby's new booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding." Send $1 and a long, stamped (24 cents) self-addressed envelope to Abby: 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

HER PARENTS' CORNEAS — Dr. Peter R. Laibson, director of cornea service at Wills Eye Hospital in Philadelphia, peers into the eye of Eileen Billington Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Billington, 27, received a corneal transplant last Sunday using a cornea from her father who died Saturday. Two years ago, she received a corneal transplant to her left eye using a cornea taken from her dead mother's eye.

TWEEN 12 AND 20 Snake in grass better forgotten

By ROBERT WALLACE, Ed.D.
Copley News Service

he is too old for you and finally, he is a "snake in the grass."

Dr. Wallace:
I am a 17-year-old girl who is confused.
A few weeks ago, I met this 24-year-old guy who is married. I really enjoyed his company. He made me feel happy, but I knew it wouldn't last because I knew my parents wouldn't understand. So I told him that it wasn't fair to his wife or my parents and I wasn't going to see him again, but he said there was no love between his wife and him. I told him I didn't care and he left.

Dr. Wallace:
I'm 13 and I have a sister, 8, who has Down's syndrome (mongolism). Ever since my sister was born, she has gotten all the attention. If she does something wrong I get blamed for it. In my parents' eyes, my sister can do no wrong because she is retarded.
I'm sick and tired of being second lump. What should I do?

Leslie, Goshen, Ind.

Now I feel very sad because I feel that I took away the happiness we could have had. I think of him constantly. Do you think I did the right thing?

G. S., Columbus, Ohio

Dear G. S.:
You didn't do the right thing, you did the only thing. Under no circumstances should you see this guy again. First, he is married; second,

L.E.A. 151 gets visit

Ladies Encampment Auxiliary No. 151 met at 6:30 p.m. Friday in the I.O.O.F. Hall at 9th and San Antonio. Chief Matriarch, Shirley Lee, presided over the meeting.

Highlight of the evening was an official visit by Mrs. Clearcy Shoemaker of Navarro Lodge No. 44. Mrs. Shoemaker is Grand Matriarch of Grand Ladies Encampment Auxiliary of Texas.

Because the Big Spring auxiliary has only been instituted since April, 1977, Mrs. Shoemaker's visit here was primarily to aid members in carrying on the work of this branch of Odd Fellowship.

Accompanying and assisting Mrs. Shoemaker was Mrs. Earney Fincher, also of Navarro Lodge, Deputy Grand Matriarch of Grand Ladies Encampment of Texas.

Mrs. Shoemaker compliments the local auxiliary on their efficiency and the method with which they are accomplishing the work of this order.

Mrs. Shoemaker pinned the Past Chief Matriarch's Jewel on the newly installed past chief matriarch, Sarah Griffith.

The ten members present, and their guests, enjoyed a potluck supper.

Gold Stars gain LaLonde

The Big Spring Chapter of American Gold Star Mothers met the morning of Feb. 6 in the home of Mrs. Truett

Thomas, 1608 Osage, for their regular monthly meeting.

Morning coffee and fellowship were enjoyed prior to the opening of the meeting.

A new member, Mrs. Ralph LaLonde, was given her obligation on becoming a member of the chapter by Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. S. R. Nobles acting as sergeant at arms and presenting Mrs. LaLonde her official membership card.

Mrs. Lucille Jacobs presented Mrs. LaLonde with an official Gold Star pin.

Mrs. Smith reported that 71 veterans were served refreshments at the VA Hospital on the morning of Feb. 15.

Mrs. Huey Rogers presented a new project that the VA Hospital has underway — buying a bus for patients' outings. All patriotic organizations and volunteers at the hospital are participating in this and any other donations will be appreciated.

Plans were presented by Mrs. Roger, State of Texas Department President, for the state convention to be held here Apr. 7 and 8.

The next meeting will be March 9 at the home of Mrs. S. R. Nobles.

D.A.V. fetes Gladys Miller

Members of the Disabled American Veterans and Auxiliary met Monday evening for a dinner party in the V.F.W. Hall honoring Region No. 1 Commander, Gladys Miller, and Chapter Region No. 1 Commander, Gene Roberts.

Mrs. Miller and Roberts were making their official visit to Unit No. 47, Big Spring.

Mrs. Miller spoke on some of her activities as region commander, and Margaret Caldwell, unit adjutant, presented her with a lead crystal hand-hedged bowl trimmed in gold.

Katie Spivey, local unit commander, welcomed guests and members.

Guests were present from Alpine, Odessa and El Paso. Nelda Burkhardt, Gertrude McCann and Clara Lewis served coffee and cake to 90 patients at the V.A. Hospital Feb. 11.

The next meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. Mar. 20. All members are urged to attend.

REGIONAL NICKNAMES — This map shows regions of Texas and their nicknames. The study of the detailed regions was conducted by North Texas State University.

Regional nicknames 'BIG' in Texas
DENTON, Texas (AP) — Residents of Texas can get much more specific than residents of other states when asked where they're from.

Much more detailed, even than an answer such as "West Texas" or "South Texas." Why say West Texas when you can pin it down more accurately with something like the Panhandle, South Plains, Permian Basin, Trans-Pecos, Big Bend or Sun Country?

Or — according to a study completed recently at North Texas State University — the Piney Woods, the Hill Country, Texoma Land or the Big Thicket? Or even Tornado Alley or The Dust Bowl?

Dr. Terry Jordan, chairman of the NTSU geography department, has compiled a study based on information gathered from 3,860 students at 30 Texas colleges and universities.

The results are scheduled to be published next summer by the American Geographical Society in its magazine, "Geographical Review."

Jordan uncovered 28 major perceptual regions in Texas, so called because of history, physical environment, culture, political borders or Chamber of Commerce-type boosterism.

"When I think of a golden spread, I tend to think of margarine," Jordan said.

Farm Beer drinkers rescue barley
WASHINGTON (AP) — Barley has had a new lease on life as a major U.S. grain crop because Americans are drinking more beer these days.

The Agriculture Department says that the major domestic use of barley is still as livestock and poultry feed. But that use has declined sharply, from about 254 million bushels in 1960 to about 190 million bushels in 1975.

"In contrast, the production of malting barley — the major grain used in making alcoholic beverages — increased from 82 million to 127 million bushels in the same period," the department said Tuesday.

Beer production, meanwhile, increased from 90 million barrels — each equaling 31 gallons — to a record of almost 157.9 million barrels in the same period. Per capita beer drinking also rose, from 14.9 gallons to 21.4 gallons.

The role of barley as a grain crop and its importance to the nation's brewers was outlined in a report published by the department's Economics, Statistics and Cooperatives Service.

Further, the experts said that demand for malting barley is expected to continue to increase along with Americans' thirst for beer.

By 1980, according to the report, brewers will need about 140.7 million bushels of malting barley; 158 million by 1985; 175.2 million by 1990; 192.5 million by 1995; and 209.7 million by the year 2000 if the trend continues.

"North Dakota, California and Montana account for 50 percent of the nation's barley," the report said. "Idaho and Minnesota produce another 21 percent. Of these top five producers, all except California increased the percentage of acreage used to malting barley between 1970 and 1975."

About 97 percent of the barley grown in North Dakota is of the malting variety; 98 percent in Minnesota; 61 percent in Montana; and 50 percent in Idaho, officials said. But about 99 percent of California's barley is grown as animal feed.

Barley, however, is widely grown in other states and in other countries. It is one of the four major U.S. livestock feed grains, which also include corn, oats and sorghum.

One of civilization's oldest cultivated crops, barley was brought to North America and probably planted for the first time in 1602 on Martha's Vineyard and Elizabeth Islands in New England, the report said. During its early

Soybeans sold to Russians
WASHINGTON (AP) — The first U.S. soybean sale of the season to the Soviet Union has been announced by the Agriculture Department.

Officials said Tuesday that Russia has bought 200,000 metric tons of soybeans, the first in the current soybean marketing year which began last Sept. 1.

During the 1976-77 year, the Soviets bought 889,300 tons of U.S. soybeans. A metric ton is 2,205 pounds and is equal to 36.7 bushels of soybeans.

As is customary, the department did not disclose the U.S. firms involved in the sale nor the prices in the transaction.

Soybeans are not included in a long-term grain agreement under which Russia is committed to buy at least six million tons of U.S. wheat and corn annually.

Grain sales under the agreement so far this year total about 9.9 million tons, including 6.4 million tons of corn and 3.5 million of wheat, for delivery to Russia through Sept. 30.

Farmers produced a record soybean harvest last year of more than 1.7 billion bushels — 46.7 million tons. Exports to all countries this season are expected to total 16.6 million tons.

Pain reigns among hens
WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's hens produced about 5.7 billion eggs last month, up 5 percent from January of last year, according to the Agriculture Department.

The department's Crop Reporting Board said Tuesday that as of Feb. 1, about 282.7 million hens were in the nation's egg-laying flock, up 2 percent from 276.8 million a year ago.

The hens' rate of lay of Feb. 1 averaged 64 eggs per 100 birds, compared with 62.7 a year ago.
