Soviets send weapons over NATO air space

NAPLES, Italy (AP) — Senior NATO officials charge that the Soviet Union is pouring arms for Ethiopia through the sea and air space of NATO member Turkey.

Adm. Harold E. Shear, commander in chief of allied forces in southern Europe, said the Russians are hiding "lots of material" in Soviet merchant ships that sail from the Black Sea through Turkey's Bosphorus, Marmara Sea and Dardanelles.

The Soviet ships also sail through Egypt's Suez Canal to reach the Ethiopian ports on the Red Sea, the admiral said in an interview with The Associated Press.

Another high-ranking official of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization who asked to remain anonymous reported that the massive Soviet airlift of arms to Ethiopia is being flown by Soviet commercial aircraft traveling through Turkish airspace.

The source said NATO doesn't know if the Soviet government informs Egypt, which is backing the other side in Ethiopia's Ogaden War, and Turkey of the arms shipment.

"Whatever happens there is critically important to NATO," said the admiral, pointing out that Soviet dominance of the entrance to the Red Sea would enable the Russians to threaten the shipping lanes for Persian Gulf oil to Western Europe.

Protest rally to be held on courthouse square

Police officers, sheriff's deputies and highway patrolmen will be on hand for the protest rally scheduled for Saturday afternoon in Big Spring by the Brown Berets.

The rally will begin in Odessa in the morning hours and will proceed to Big Spring by car, gathering at the Sacred Heart Church on North Aylford for a march to the east side of the county courthouse where the rally will be held.

The gathering at the church is scheduled to begin at 1 p.m., and a 45-minute program is planned for the courthouse.

According to the Berets, the march is in protest of recent deaths of Juan Galaviz and Larry Lozano. Galaviz was killed by a Big Spring police officer attempting to take the 18-year-old Mexican-American into custody following an alleged attempted abduction in the Howard College parking lot.

Lozano died while in the custody of the Ector County jail.

Both deaths are currently under investigation by the Howard and Ector County District Attorney's offices.

The gathering, referred to as a "workshop" by Beret Benito Hilario, will last "about two to three hours."

Hilario said that there would be numerous speakers, including Ruben Sandoval, attorney for the family of Larry Lozano.

"He will answer questions from the community concerning problems or questions they may have," said Hilario.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Unmarked crossroads

Q. Why are there so many intersections in town without any kind of yield or stop sign? Does an accident have to occur before a sign is put up? Who has the right of way at unmarked intersections?

A. According to Sherrill Farmer of the Big Spring Police Department, signs are placed at intersections as the need arises and funds are made available. A need for a sign is based in part on the accident history of a particular intersection, but he said the city is not going to put a sign at every intersection. Right of way at an unmarked intersection depends on what kind of intersection it is. For example, a paved street has the right of way over an unpaved street, a four-lane street over a two-lane, a street turning into a dead-end street over the dead-end street, and at an intersection where streets are equal, the driver on the right has the right of way.

Calendar: Jim Baum to be honored

TODAY
Today through Sunday is the Heart Association's Door to Door Campaign. Welcome volunteers when they call. Even a penny will help.

Presentation of a one-act play, "Monsters," at the Howard College auditorium, 7:30 p.m., no admission charge.

SATURDAY
Free Blood Pressure Screenings sponsored by the Howard County Heart Association at the following locations: Highland Mall, 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m.; Northside Fire Station, 2:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m.; Barcelona Apartments Club House, 2:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. Perform a death-defying act. Have your blood pressure checked.

Meeting of the American Agriculture Movement, Ackerly School, 7:30 p.m., featuring Bill Yokum, Dimmitt, as principal speaker.

Big Spring Art Association's annual membership show. Paintings will be on display from 1 to 5 p.m. at the Anthony Hunt Library at Howard College.

The Howard County Library will show three films from 1:30 until 2:30 p.m. They are: "The Strange Story of the Frog Who Became a Prince," "Brats," and "Frankenstein Meets the Wolf Man."

Appreciation Dinner for Jim Baum, congressional candidate, 7 p.m., high school auditorium, Ray Stone will be principal speaker, tickets available at the door.

Brown Berets protest march and rally begins at 1 p.m. Sacred Heart Youth Center, 508 N. Aylford. Participants will march to the east side of the courthouse square, where speakers will be provided at the rally.

TV's best: New show

It had to happen. There either had to be a cross between All My Children and Monday Night Football, or between Star Wars and Happy Days. Here comes the latter: Quark, starring Richard Benjamin, a space-comedy concerning the enigmatic Source and the evil Gorgons, premieres tonight at 7 p.m. on NBC.

Inside: Baseball bat murders

THE RICHARD ROWES were living what seemed to be an American dream — a family of five in an $80,000 home in an upper middle-class Brooklyn neighborhood. The dream turned into a nightmare when Mary Rowe and the three children were beaten to death with a baseball bat allegedly wielded by a distraught Richard Rowe. See p. 12A.

FREDDIE PITTS and Wilbur Lee spent 12 years, 48 days in prison waiting for someone to prove they were innocent of murder. Pardoned 2½ years ago, they were waiting again — this time for legislation that would give them $75,000 apiece for their time behind bars. See p. 11A.

Outside: Balmly

Balmly weather is expected to continue through Saturday, according to the National Weather Service. High temperatures today and Saturday are predicted in the mid 70s, low tonight in the upper 30s. Winds will be from the southwest at 10 to 20 miles-per-hour and gusty today, shifting into the northwest tonight.

For end to coal strike

Carter puts on pressure

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter intensified pressure to end the 81-day coal strike today by summoning the industry's top executives to the White House amid reports that a settlement was near.

The White House meeting came as optimism was expressed in the administration and Congress that the industry was on the verge of agreeing to terms sought by the striking miners.

Summoned to the meeting were executives of U.S.

Steel Corp., Continental Oil, Bethlehem Steel Corp., National Steel Co. and Pittston Coal. The oil and steel firms or their coal-mining subsidiaries are major members of the Bituminous Coal Operators Association, the main industry bargaining arm.

Afterward, Edgar Speer, chairman of U.S. Steel, the country's sixth largest coal company, told reporters that Carter had asked for the meeting to "find out where negotiations were."

Asked if a settlement were likely by this weekend,

Speer replied: "I would hope so."

George A. Stinson, chairman of National Steel, said: "The president asked us to do nothing except to do what we've been doing — which is press for a settlement."

Stinson said negotiations were "too fluid and sensitive" to say whether the two sides were getting closer.

However, he called it "a very constructive meeting with the president."

Number of mail routes decreased

Big Spring residents may have noticed a change in their mail deliveries, and for some, the change has meant up to a three-hour later delivery.

"We were instructed by postal authorities, because of the withdrawal of Webb, to cut our number of mail routes to economize; but the predicted drop in deliveries wasn't as pronounced as expected," said John Gee, Big Spring Post Office superintendent.

"Actually, the action is not anything out of the ordinary," said Postmaster Frank Hardesty, "since we examine our routes about twice a year to determine ways to economize and still retain each route at eight hours."

In this change, the routes were decreased from 20 eight-hour routes plus three overtime hours of delivery, to 19 routes, but that could be changed again. In spite of Webb's closure, there are as many, if not more, possible deliveries to be made in Big Spring.

"We will re-evaluate the situation March 6, and decide whether or not to make additional changes," Gee said. "Of course, they won't be as drastic as this time, but we could add some hours to the schedule if we find it causing too much overtime."

Most of the drastic changes were in the routes covering the older part of town. The North side routes were almost unchanged, with the area east of Birdwell Lane and the area south of FM 700 and west of Gregg changed only by minor additions to present routes.

One route in the older section of town was dropped entirely and split between the other routes, and the saving of tax money will be about $16,000 per year — the average cost of salary and equipment upkeep necessary for each route.

"It will make a slight inconvenience for some people in town, and we sincerely regret that," said Gee. "As much as we dislike it, someone has to be last, and we don't want anyone to feel that we are intentionally picking on them. We have received a number of calls from persons whose delivery now is later than it was, and all we can do is explain the circumstances and ask them to be patient."

Gee added that delivery time will pick up as route men get used to their new deliveries. "The postal carriers will be able to deliver the mail some earlier as they get accustomed to the routes and make faster time," Gee said.

"The point of the change was to realign our delivery patterns to make more efficient utilization of our manpower and mechanical equipment in order to economize," Gee concluded.

But lakes caught less water

Cloud seeding increases rainfall

(Special to the Herald)

Rainfall gains within the target area of the Colorado River Municipal Water District's target area have been greater in a seven-year period of cloud seeding than in the surrounding area.

Curiously, says John Girdzuz, the CRMWD's meteorologist, runoff into Lake J.B. Thomas and E. V. Spence, the district's major reservoirs, has not increased correspondingly, but cotton production has.

These are some of the observations made by Girdzuz in the annual report of the project in which the Texas Department of Water Resources and the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation are now sharing.

The target area is principally in the upper Colorado River watershed which contributes runoff into Lakes Thomas and Spence and embraces most of Borden and Mitchell counties, and parts of Howard, Coke, Scurry, Dawson and Sterling counties. (Specifically, the target area begins on U.S. 87 highway at the north Dawson County line, continues east on the Dawson-Scurry line to U.S. 87, then southeast to Roscoe, south to Maryneal, southwest to U.S. 87 about 10 miles north of Sterling City, thence on U.S. 87 to point of beginning.) To collect data which may be related to the cloud seeding, the district operates a network of 69 recording rain gauges at 10 kilometer spacing, and over 80 "fence post" gauges at three-mile spacing.

Originally the project was designed to enhance precipitation and thus augment runoff, but in 1973 TDWR joined to consider the socio-economic and agro-economic effects. Two years ago the Bureau of Reclamation made Big Spring one of its HIPLEX (High Plains Experiment) sites for research into the technology of weather modification.

The primary goal of HIPLEX is the reduction of scientific uncertainties associated with seeded and unseeded summertime convective clouds developing over the Great Plains. Texas A and M and Texas Tech Universities also have joined to consider cloud mesoscale models and satellite imagery in an effort to more effectively understand the atmospheric changes occurring during convective periods.

In each of the seven years of cloud seeding, starting in 1971, maximum rainfall measurements in the region have all occurred within the target, but this is not necessarily true during the historical period 1936-70. Rainfall increase within the target area for the seven seeded years was 45 per cent above normal, whereas for the control (nearby unseeded) areas the gain was 25 per cent. This translates to about 4.70 inches more rainfall during the May-September period for the seeded area as compared to 2.15 more inches for the unseeded territory. In dry years, the variance in favor of the target area is much more dramatic.

That part of the target area that had 14 inches of rainfall during the operational period, which is coincidental with the growing season, showed a 55 per cent increase in cotton yields compared to 17 per cent in the control area west of the target. Interestingly, contiguous counties upwind and downwind from the seeded areas showed equally significant gains. Girdzuz concluded that the statistical advantage for the target and adjacent areas in the direction of cloud movement from the target was at least 25 per cent greater. Productivity rose sharply in the sectors where 14 to 16 inches occurred, suggesting there may be a benefit not only from additional rainfall, but in greater utilization of soil nutrients because of the additional moisture.

The report also addresses itself to the contradiction of less runoff during the seven-year interval when there was substantially more rainfall in the target area. Prior to the start of cloud seeding, Lakes Thomas and Spence averaged catching approximately 50,000 and 90,000 acre feet of water respectively. Since that time the average has been 32,000 and 52,000. Although there has been a significant increase in terraces and stock pounds, most of this has occurred in Howard County and other parts of the watershed which ordinarily have the least effect on runoff. Girdzuz therefore concluded that possibility of cloud characteristics (size of cloud and intensity of rainfall) may not have been typical during the last seven years, hence less runoff. He conceded other factors may have had a bearing.

During the first two years of the program, CRMWD seeded all promising convective clouds. With the support of TDWR, there ensued a study with the aid of Meteorological Research Inc. in which 25 per cent of the clouds, selected at random and unknown to the CRMWD, were treated with dummy flares instead of those containing silver iodide particles. With the entry of the HIPLEX program, the technological aspects of the research have been expanded considerably.

In 1977, Girdzuz reported, there were 51 flights, 41 of them resulting in seeding, and covering 63 hours flying time. The research operation in 1978 will be redefined further and will necessitate the use of another airplane by the CRMWD to permit in-cloud and on-top cloud seeding in contrast to the previous pattern of seeding at the base and depending on updrafts to draw silver iodide nuclei up into the clouds around which raindrops build. The CRMWD has been loaned an array of vastly more sophisticated meteorological and radar equipment at the former Webb AFB, where operations now will be based.

Behind the wall at Goree

Inmates sing 'Hallelujah' after stern start

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the second in a series of three articles of how it is behind the walls of three of the prisons in the Texas Department of Corrections system when a Baptist youth choir goes inside for a special program.

By MARJ CARPENTER

Once a person steps inside the front doorway of Goree, the state women's prison at Huntsville, the person is definitely inside the prison.

Unlike Mountain View, which has an outdoor campus and the concept of going in and outdoors, Goree has almost the entire facility housed in one large building.

When a visitor enters, he passes through a clearance area similar to that in airports. However, it is quickly discovered that the search is a little more strict than that.

When a visitor or an inmate passes through that main doorway, it clangs shut. And it leaves a distinct impression of "You're in, sister."

Everywhere you look there are iron bars. They are happily disguised as grillwork, but they're iron bars.

A glance to the left may let you view the visitor's room where, since it's Sunday, the inmates are talking through the thick glass to visitors who have come from home.

Their allotted visiting period is judged by miles, as well as time and includes a possible two-hour visit every other week; or for people who must come farther, four hours once a month.

There are thinly disguised iron bars around the office area and again around the patio. Looking beyond, tall fences stand firm in the patio corners.

Going down a long, wide corridor, the visitor can see iron bars painted ivory, and in other pastel shades, that fail to hide their grimness.

It's 7:30 a.m. Sixteen high school- and college-age students, who sing in a group from Big Spring's First Baptist Church, who call themselves "His Children," are trying to feel awake.

A singer really has to want to sing some place to make an appearance for a concert at 8 a.m. But when Joe Whitten, choir director, contacted the warden of the unit, he was told that "The only possible time we could have them would be at chapel at 8 a.m. Sunday."

He had the feeling that there might be an unexpressed hope that they weren't going to come, but he said quickly, "We'll be there." This meant driving from Gatesville late Saturday, after the group had sung at the State Boy's School.

It meant eating supper late at night and getting up at 6 a.m. They went, not knowing whether any inmate would come hear a Baptist youth choir at 8 a.m. The group had been told that a professional group called the Renaissance, who appeared often on the Carol Burnett program, had drawn a group of 109 the previous week.

One of the original 17 singers had become ill on the trip. Two had to cancel right before they left home. But the youths were operating under the premise that "This is what God wants us to do" and they gathered quietly together prior to the concerts to try to get the feeling of the program.

The Goree chapel is the smallest one of the three units of the Department of Corrections which they visited last weekend.

The singers got settled up front and quietly watched the women begin to file into the chapel. They wore starched (See inmates, p. 2A, col. 3)

SOMALI WOMEN ARMY RECRUITS — Women recruits of the Somali Army undergo physical training Tuesday at Halane Camp near Mogadishu. On Wednesday, Somalia's president repeated his statements that regular Somalia forces were not fighting in Ethiopia's Ogaden Region. He said that U.S. calls for Somali forces to be withdrawn from the Ogaden were unfair and misinformed.

Most favor intervention

NEW YORK (AP) — By better than a 2-to-1 margin, Americans support invoking the Taft-Hartley Act to put at least a temporary end to the strike in the nation's coalfields, an Associated Press-NBC News poll shows.

Obtaining a court injunction ordering miners back to work is one option under consideration by President Carter to end the strike by 160,000 members of the United Mineworkers Union.

In telephone interviews Tuesday and Wednesday, 65 percent said Carter should seek the back-to-work injunction.

About 28 percent said Carter should not seek the remedies allowed by the law. Seven percent said they were not certain what Carter should do.

The back-to-work thrust of the Taft-Hartley Act was described briefly to each of the 1,600 adults interviewed by telephone. They were then asked if they thought Carter should invoke the act.

Carter said Thursday he would not intervene further in coal strike at this time.

Under the Taft-Hartley Act, Carter can establish a fact-finding panel to determine if the strike constitutes a national emergency. If the board finds there is a national emergency, Carter can seek a court order sending the miners back to work for an 90-day cooling-off period.

Liz Ray sends her best

NEW YORK (AP) — Elizabeth Ray, whose liaison with former Rep. Wayne L. Hays contributed to his resignation from Congress in 1976, sends Hays her best in his quest for a seat in the Ohio Legislature.

"I would have to say that in my opinion, he is highly qualified and that I wish him success," Ms. Ray said Thursday in a telephone interview.

Hays, 67, plans to enter the June Democratic primary for the 99th District seat now held by Rep. A. G. Lancione, who announced plans to retire at age 72. After learning of Hays' plans, Lancione initially said he might consider his decision to retire, but later he said he would not change his mind.

Ms. Ray, who is studying acting in New York and preparing a nightclub act, said she had not talked to Hays "in a long time."

Hays resigned from his 14th term in Congress after acknowledging he had an affair with Ms. Ray.

She said at the time that she could not even type and was on Hays' House Administration Committee payroll only because she provided him sexual favors. Hays denied this.

El Paso Sheriff, chief aid indicted

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — El Paso County Sheriff Mike Sullivan and his chief aide face official misconduct indictments returned against them by an El Paso County grand jury.

The charges against Sullivan, who has been sheriff here for 13 years, and the charges against Chief Deputy Stuart Palos stemmed from a three-month grand jury investigation spurred by a series of articles in the El Paso Times concerning a federally funded job training program.

Both were named in two county accusing them of official misconduct. A third sheriff's department official, Capt. Everett Riley was named in four counts accusing him of theft over $200.

Also indicted by the same grand jury were two corporations, one naming Industrial Hardware and Supply and another against Thomas Paints of El Paso. They are accused of theft over $200.

Sheriff Sullivan, Palos and Riley were released by State District Court Judge Jerry Woodward after they posted $5,000 bond on each count.

The indictments against the corporations were not delivered Thursday, according to Capt. Mac Stout, chief of the sheriff's criminal division.

Although the specifics of the indictments against Sullivan and his employees were not immediately made public, the El Paso newspaper earlier alleged in a series of stories that grantees from a federally funded job training program performed work on homes owned by the law enforcement officers.

Ronald Reagan's fuel remarks cheered

By TOMMY HART
ABILENE — Congressional candidate Bill Fisher wisely yielded the floor to his fellow Republican, Ronald Reagan, at Thursday's $50-a-plate fund-raising luncheon held in the Civic Center here.

FISHER REAGAN

An estimated 300 persons from throughout the 17th Congressional District, including upwards to a dozen from Big Spring, were on hand to hear Reagan raise his voice against the outrages being committed by the Washington establishment upon the business community.

Without mentioning the incumbent president by name, Reagan faulted the administration for its inability to negotiate the coal strike (he would have invoked the Taft-Hartley Act "day before yesterday").

Reagan apparently has modified his stand somewhat on the proposed Panama Canal Treaty (he once said if he were in a position of authority, he would not show much patience with a "tin-horn dictator") but he continues to insist the proposed pacts were a "disaster."

He added he was concerned over the fact that neither the treaty, timed to take effect on the first day of the next century, nor any protocol to that treaty, contains the word "guarantee."

The absence of the term, Reagan pointed out, was deliberate because Panama wants no guarantor of the canal's operation, meaning the United States.

Reagan, who went from a radio announcer's job in Nebraska to considerable fame as a film actor, has not lost any of the charisma that served him so well as leader of his party in California. He knew he was the man they came to see and talk with here Thursday. He has a most ingratiating way of greeting people, shaking their hands and making them feel their problems are his problems.

Conservative Texans, and they number in the hundreds of thousands, think Reagan should have been the party's presidential nominee in 1976 and there isn't much doubt that he'll loom very big in the next national convention, even though native son John Connally would be very much in evidence.

Reagan wasn't about to say Thursday that the fuel crisis which occurred earlier this decade was manipulated but he received thunderous applause when he remarked "we don't have a shortage of fuel, we have a surplus of government."

"Government," he added, "is not the answer to problems; government is the cause of most of the problems."

The one-time Democrat expressed great concern over the failure of his party to maintain a position in naming 'men like Bill Fisher' to the Congress if the two-party system was going to be maintained.

Reagan reminded his listeners that the Democrats had been the majority party in Congress at the beginning of every decade since 1930 and had to bear the responsibility of gerrymandering congressional seats to the party's advantage at ten-year intervals.

"By such gerrymandering," Reagan said, "Republicans are crowded into as few districts as possible."

The former California governor also expressed grave concern over the unfunded deficit of the Social Security program. He said he would propose that a task force be established to set up a sound program to replace it, while operating to protect the interests on those depending on such income.

Among those in the audience were Mr. and Mrs. Winston Wrinkle, Polly Mays, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Mack Sheppard, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Peurifoy, Mrs. Bill Edwards and Jane Thomas, all of Big Spring.

Mrs. Mays carried with her a sign proclaiming "Big Spring Loves Ronald Reagan," which she managed to elevate behind Mr. Reagan during a picture-taking session.

Reagan reportedly was brought into West Texas to transfuse enthusiasm into the campaign of Republican candidates in two Congressional races — Fisher in the 17th and Jack Burgess of Waco in the 11th. There was no doubt that he made points for both.

Ernest Angelo, mayor of Midland and State Republican Chairman, exceed the Abilene program. Also in the audience was the former Odessa mayor, Jim Reese, who is seeking to replace George Mahon as the Congressman from the 19th District.

Baum to be honored Saturday

Hopefuls hunt money

By WALT FINLEY
Now is the time when congressional election campaigns are waged for money, then votes.

And in the 17th Congressional District campaigns, the one most closely watched is for "banquet" money — followed by energy industry funds.

Broadcaster Jim Baum, one of seven Democrats contending for the nomination to succeed Rep. Omar Burleson, will be honored at an appreciation dinner at 7 p.m. Saturday in the Big Spring High School cafeteria.

Joe Pickle, retired editor of the Big Spring Herald, will be emcee. Sportscaster Ray Stone of the radio program "Dallas Cowboy Report," will be featured speaker.

Ticket prices for the "hometown" event are $10 each, considerably lower than the $50-a-plate meal for Republican Bill Fisher in Abilene. It was estimated by one Big Spring diner that the chicken and green beans affair raised about $10,000 for Fisher, who faces no GOP opponent in his May 6 primary.

Ronald Reagan, a former "good guy" in the movies and presently the "darling" of conservatives, lured more than 275 cheering persons to Abilene to drum up backing and money for Fisher, a 34-year-old Abilene attorney.

Optimism runs high in the tense 17th District race. Candidates, their aides and supporters will be paying close attention to the size and enthusiasm of the crowd at Baum's fund-raising dinner.

Charles Stenholm, a Stamford farmer, also is mapping a fund-raiser in Dallas. Friends from college days at Texas Tech, people who served on the State Democratic Executive Committee with Stenholm and some backers of the eastern third of the district are expected to attend.

Other Democrats vying for the May nomination are attorney A.L. "Dusty" Rhodes of Abilene, James R. Snowden, who served as mayor of Tye for 10 years, and is currently on the city council, L. Fike Godfrey of Abilene, Jim Sharp of Big Spring, former doorkeeper in the U.S. House of Representatives and late bloomer Crews McCulloch, a Weatherford attorney.

All the candidates are listing energy, agriculture, inflation and bureaucracy as the most pressing problems facing Americans today.

With 71 days remaining for politicians to bundle political hay, Rhodes is the big spender, Stenholm is big with billboards and Baum is leading the "bunion" derby.

Police beat Velvet seats stolen

Burglars struck at the Auto Supermarket, 905 W. 4th, sometime Wednesday night.

The intruders broke into a van on the lot of the business, and ripped off two high-back, crushed velvet, beige bucket seats. The plush seats were valued at $200.

Vandals broke out two large windows at the Culligan Water Conditioning Store, 503 E. 6th, sometime Wednesday night. The damage was estimated at $300.

A wheel and tire were stolen from a pickup belonging to Russell Feltz, 1421 Tucson, sometime Wednesday. Loss was estimated at $85.

Four graduate from academy

One Coahoma and three Big Spring Police Officers were scheduled to graduate from the Permian Basin Law Enforcement Academy, 3:30 p.m. today.

All are already serving with their departments. Big Spring graduates are Lonnie Smith, David Morren and Paul Carson.

Bennie Fishback is the Coahoma graduate.

Three Big Springers were injured, none seriously though, in three different auto accidents Wednesday.

In a one-car accident, an auto driven by Roland A. King, Sterling City Route, went out of control while traveling north on FM 700. According to reports, the car skidded across the roadway, jumped a ditch, hit an embankment and rolled over three times.

The accident occurred 7:20 p.m. King was treated and released from Malone-Hogan Hospital.

In another mishap, cars driven by Margarito V. Gutierrez, 205 N.W. 7th, and Delia G. Aguilar, 1201 Lamar, collided at 6th and McEwen, 3:18 p.m. Ms. Aguilar was admitted to Malone-Hogan Hospital where she is listed in good condition.

Suit naming Swinney axed

A civil suit filed in October, and naming Coahoma mayor Joe Swinney as defendant for $7,510 was dismissed Monday by District Judge Ralph Caton.

The suit was brought by the Big Spring Education Employees Federal Credit Union in connection with a loan of $7,510 which they claimed was unpaid. The suit was filed by attorney Wayne Basden October 7, 1977.

The suit was dismissed at the request of the Credit Union. The request for dismissal was signed by Billy S. Schaffner, and the suit was dismissed with prejudice, which means it cannot be brought up again over the same matter.

Firm offers $500 reward

The Jack Lewis Buick and Cadillac Dealership, 403 Scurry, has offered a $500 reward for information about the culprit who has stolen auto accessories from the dealership on several occasions.

The most recent theft occurred Tuesday when four wire wheel covers valued at $381 were stolen from a car on the lot.

Information must lead to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible for the crimes. Those having such information should call 263-8311, ext. 51.

Deaths

ELIZA HARDEN

He was a member of the First Christian Church. Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Roy (Florine) Longshore, Big Spring; three grandsons, Melvin Guinn, Las Vegas, Nev., Paul Guinn, Brownwood, and Lepold Guinn, Homer, La.; and five great-grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by two children, Velma and Walter Douglas.

Surviving are two sons, Henry Douglas, Tulsa, and Arthur Douglas, Teague; two daughters, Mrs. Versie Bows, Hubbard, and Mrs. Alene Medlock, Mart; a stepdaughter, Mrs. James (Annie) LaBrew, 10 grandchildren; and a number of great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers will be George E. Floyd, Willie Miles, Willie Caton, Percy D. Hearsley, Nathan Green, and LeRoy Perry.

Iris Grubbs

Mrs. Gilbert (Iris) Grubbs, 49, former Big Spring resident, died at 9:30 a.m. today in a Lubbock hospital.

Services are pending at Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

She was born March 16, 1928. Mrs. Grubbs lived in Big Spring until a few years ago, when she moved to Lubbock.

M. Thomasson

ABILENE — An 18-year-old Abilene Cooper High School senior, Mark Slayden Thomasson, died here Thursday, possibly as the result of inhaling automobile exhaust fumes. He had been working on his car.

He was found unconscious underneath his car by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Thomasson. The youth was working in an enclosed area of a partially open carport.

Services will be at 2 p.m. Saturday in Pioneer Driver Baptist Church. Burial will follow in Elmwood Cemetery.

Henry Douglas

Services for Henry Douglas, 82, who died at 5:09 a.m. Thursday in a local hospital, will be at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Mt. Bethel Baptist Church with Elder T. O. McGee, Church of God in Christ minister, and Rev. Freddie Nelson, Mt. Bethel Baptist Church pastor, officiating.

Burial will be in Mount Olive Memorial Park under direction of River-Welch Funeral Home.

Mr. Douglas was born March 25, 1895 in Bryan and grew up in Corsicana. He came to Big Spring in 1941 from Mart, and married Ida Mae Jones here during the same year.

He was a Baptist and a retired restaurant employee, having recently lived with his step-daughter, Mrs. James LaBrew, in Big Spring.

George Hall

George C. Hall, 90, died at 8 a.m. today in a local nursing home after a short illness. Services are set for 2 p.m. Saturday in Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel with Rev. William H. Smythe, First Christian Church pastor, officiating.

Burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park.

Born Feb. 22, 1888 in Blair, Neb., Mr. Hall was married to Nora Pearson, who preceded him in death in 1960.

Mr. Hall was a switchman for Illinois Central Railroad, retiring a number of years ago. He had lived in Big Spring since 1955, coming from Centralia, Ill.

Inmates sing along with group

white uniforms, with short skirts. At least two of the inmates were obviously pregnant.

Goree is currently involved in a program where an infant can be born outside the walls and then turned over to members of the family as the mother returns to prison. This is to avoid the stigma of being born inside a prison.

The women were quiet. Like other Texas prisons, the percentage is 56 per cent black, 31 per cent Anglo, 13 per cent Mexican-American.

The room is small and the inmates sit closely together, scrubbed clean and smelling of Texas Department of Corrections soap.

Many of their faces show anger. Some show lack of any feeling at all. One elderly black woman went to the side of the hall, picked up a chair and put it in the middle front row.

It was acknowledged that she is the unofficial leader of the inmates. She sat down and frowned.

This was the cue for everyone in the hall to look stern. But as the music began to a room filled surprisingly with close to 150 inmates, a few of them began to unconsciously keep time to the music.

After the first couple songs, Whitten turned to the group and said, "We don't care if you clap your hands or sing along. Or if you'd rather, you can just sit there and frown."

The woman in the aisle gave a big smile. She erased it rather quickly but she never looked quite as stern again. On the next song, part of the group began to clap. They had a new cue.

When the group sang a song with the old words of "Jesus Loves Me," one woman sang the words lightly in the background.

By the time Whitten sang his solo number, which was Andre Crouch's "My Tribute," they were all with it when he came down on the phrase, "To God be the Glory." Loud applause followed.

Next the group sang, "Hallelujah, Brother," and the entire audience was participating. The leader explained that on the following song, that it was a song he had first heard on a previous trip to Goree and that he had hunted for it ever since.

The song was "Going Home" and the words are especially poignant to inmates. They are, "Count the years as months, count the weeks as days..." Tears appeared in many eyes. A moment of silence followed the dying phrase, "we'll be going home." Roaring applause followed.

They wanted more. The group added a duet of "The Lord's Prayer." They ran out of stereo tape accompaniment and had Larry Wheat play the piano while they sang, "How Great Thou Art."

The time was gone. The chaplain suggested singing "Hallelujah Brother" and change it to "Hallelujah Sister" as they left. It was the only way to get them to willingly leave.

They filed out singing. When the warden spotted his inmates going down the halls singing "Hallelujah" and clapping their hands, he came in and requested, "Can you stay for the next chapel?"

This was the same warden who hadn't been too anxious for them to come. He doesn't allow many groups inside.

All of the Huntsville units are very particular since the Carrasco incident.

It was explained that the tight schedule had the singing group back at Mountain View at noon and there was no time.

Hutchison in hospital

B.J. Hutchison of Sweetwater, a retired T&P engineer and former resident of Big Spring, is at Scott and White Hospital in Temple.

Hutchison is undergoing treatments and surgery. He is in Room 463.

Big Spring's newest nightclub, Bogart's, opens at 8 o'clock this evening.

A spokeswoman for the discotheque said Thursday reservations for opening night had already passed the 400 mark.

The club is owned by Jimmy Wilson and Roger Terry, who say they have plans to bring in live entertainment periodically. A $30,000 refurbishing job was recently completed on the building, which is located at the site of the old NCO club at Webb AFB.

Applications for memberships are still being accepted by the club, according to Wilson. Bogart's named for a movie club hero (Humphrey Bogart), is not a supper club but snacks will be served.

Some states acting to reduce litter

It's distressing to note that beer and soft drink manufacturers are doing little to rectify a problem.

The General Accounting Office estimates we could save as much as 80,000 barrels of oil a day simply by mandating that every drink bottle require a deposit that will be repaid when it is returned to the place of purchase.

Every year more than 60 billion beer and soft drink bottles and cans are manufactured in the United States. We then proceed to throw away more than eight million tons annually. It is a waste of materials and energy we can ill afford.

The Resource Conservation Committee has reported to Congress that mandatory deposits would save substantial amounts of energy and materials. The RCC also reminds that such deposits would sharply reduce litter, which could be the biggest impact left by the era we're going through.

Four states — Maine, Michigan, Oregon and Vermont — have all passed mandatory deposit laws. Iowa and Connecticut may follow suit soon. A mandatory deposit bill was introduced in the United States Congress five years ago and should have been passed. Industry and labor, however, have fought an effective war against having it become law, insisting it would cost jobs.

To counteract the threat of such legislation, industry and labor have shepherded a Keep America Beautiful campaign. The idea is to persuade the public not to litter.

When Yosemite National Park in California began to require a nickel deposit on each bottle, more than 70 per cent of the empties were returned.

It's a fact that Americans pay two to four cents more for a beer or soft drink in a throwaway than the same drink costs in a returnable container.

The tax bill for cleaning up litter in this nation is awesome — up to half a billion dollars annually. (That money could be put to far better use. Big as it is, the sum is paltry compared to the great waste in energy in a country which annually uses a third of all the energy fuels the world can supply.)

A mandatory deposit bill will shortly be taken up again by the U.S. Senate. The House will delay hearings until well into spring.

Meanwhile, the energy waste goes on, all because Americans prefer to discard containers after they are used.

The places to be

Around the rim

Bob Burton

Apparently, at last someone is going to plug in the West Texas sun and get some good out of it.

Oh, yes, I hear you all glorying in the long brilliant days ahead, and the sun is crucial for the farmers as well as the sunbater set, but the best use of all is being considered for Lubbock.

It is called the Crosbyton Solar Energy project, and it will include the construction of a 65-foot mirrored dish to collect some of that marvelous stuff that soaks into the soil here each day.

ACCORDING TO THE Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, the dish will be used to typify conditions that could be expected on a full-size 200-foot dish.

The Crosbyton project, one of the nation's largest solar energy research undertakings, is costing the feds a million dollars a year in an effort to bring solar energy to rural West Texas to meet rising energy costs. If the small bowl proves able to withstand the rigors of the Texas weather, five silver bowls, 200 feet across, will be built near Crosbyton.

The sunbowl's work on a very simple principle, the same one school kids everywhere use with a magnifying glass and a sheet of paper. The sun's light is concentrated, heating water to steam, and turning a steam turbine to produce electric power.

If all goes as expected, the solar units would provide about five megawatts of electricity to the town, enough to irrigate 25 to 30 sections of farmland.

The prototype 65-footer may be located on the Texas Tech campus, but the final results of the project will extend far beyond academia. Where now oil and gas are found in plenty, and wealth comes from the ground, soon, another resource from may be recognized, and the harshness of the West Texas sun becomes the saving grace after all the oil is gone.

INDUSTRY IS flocking to the Sun Belt, they say. The fastest growing states are those in the south with the moderate climate, and even the garden paradise of California lost people to New Mexico, Texas, and Arizona last year. The energy resources of this country are changing from oil and gas use to coal use, and should another viable energy source be found, all the experts agree there is a great market.

Sun power is not yet a technical feasibility. The sun is free, true enough, but the materials and technology required to translate great energy return into electric power are still expensive enough to make the energy return negligible. Our knowledge of how to efficiently translate light into heat or electricity is also not yet adequate, although remarkable steps have been made.

In short, the Crosbyton project is well worth the millions invested in it. If it pays off, the result could be another reason (as if it were necessary) that the southwest and West Texas are the places to be in the United States.

Coal and canal

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — The confusion among the President's men when the national coal strike unexpectedly landed in their laps can be traced to neglect of a foresighted warning voiced over lunch in the White House Mess 10 months earlier.

Presidential aide Landon Butler told a luncheon companion in April that severe labor troubles would face the nation's coalfields by early winter; therefore, we must have advance contingency planning to handle it. That was the last word about coal at the White House until the strike came Dec. 6. While in charge of labor problems at the White House, the hard-working Butler has been almost totally occupied trying to get the Panama Canal treaties ratified.

SO INTENSE WAS White House preoccupation with the canal that no thought of what a prolonged coal strike could do to the country penetrated the presidential consciousness. So concerned were the Carter men with the political catastrophe of losing the canal treaties in the Senate that they totally ignored the political opportunity offered by the coal strike.

While failing to make long-term contingency plans for the predictable coal emergency, the Carter White House also seemed crippled over moving quickly for short-term gains. Until Mr. Carter finally bared his teeth last Monday to force the coal mine owners to the Oval Office, his conduct betrayed a costly lack of appreciation of presidential power and an unseemly fear of failure. Herein lies much of what ails Jimmy Carter's presidency.

Having provided no advance planning on coal, the White House had no ready answer for pleas from coal state members of Congress as the strike dragged on. Sen. Jennings Randolph of West Virginia, a courtly Senate veteran of two decades, tried in his polite but persistent way to convince the President of the necessity for intervention.

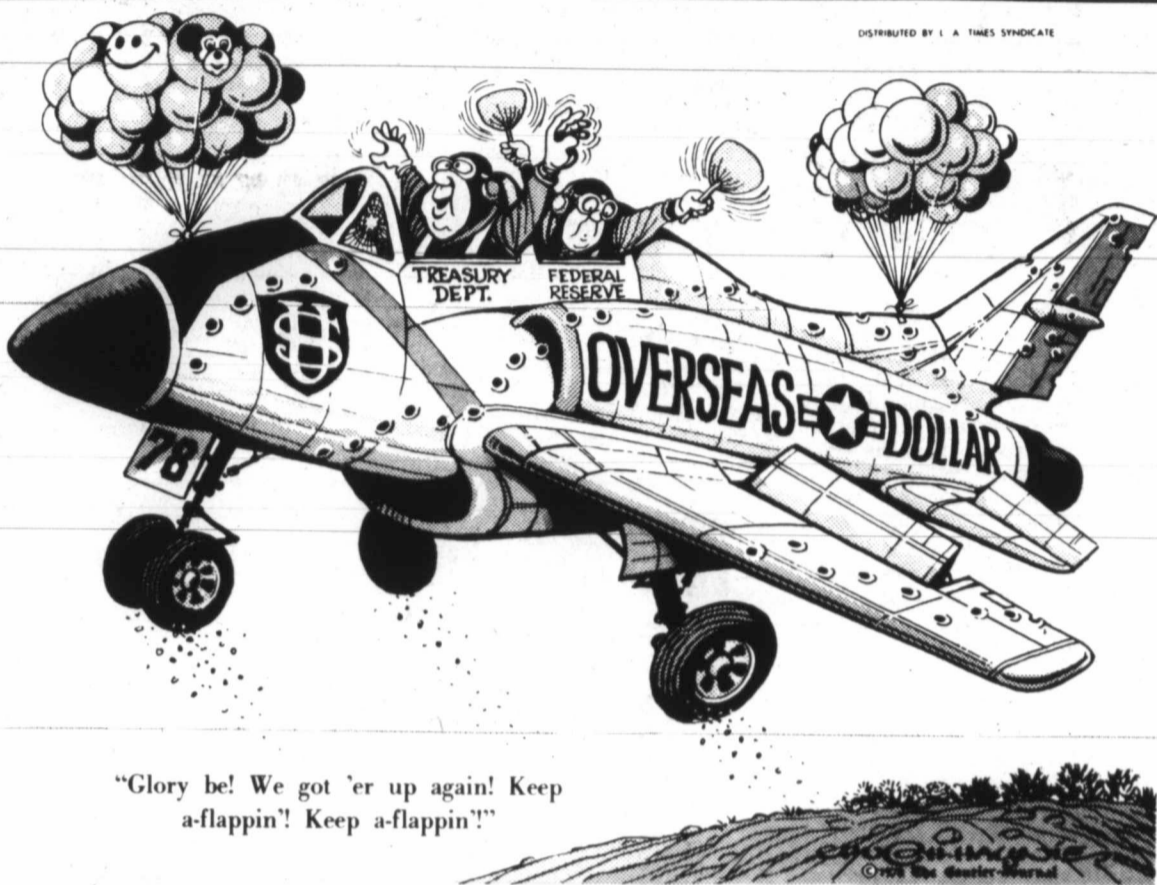

But Randolph and other coal state lawmakers found the White House focused on Panama, far from the coalfields. "Why not?" one presidential adviser asked us. "If we lose the treaty, we're down the drain — finished. We have been spending all our time on Panama, and rightly so. The whole administration is at stake."

MOREOVER, THE White House was relying for advice primarily on Secretary of Labor Ray Marshall, a University of Texas professor just one year ago with no experience in big-time labor negotiations. Marshall not only urged the President to stay out but warned that coal miners probably would not obey a Taft-Hartley back-to-work order from Mr. Carter. The Carter team, after recent setbacks measurably less self-confident than a year ago, wanted no test of Marshall's prediction.

This was followed by an ostrich-like period of pretending the crisis was not brewing. Pressure escalated from Congress, including two formal letters to the President from the Ohio delegation begging for intervention.

On Feb. 10, as it became apparent that the bargaining council of the United Mine Workers (UMW) would reject the negotiated settlement, Marshall tried to justify his position to the Senate-House Economic Committee by contending "you have to demonstrate national emergency" to invoke Taft-Hartley. "Turning out the lights in Ohio...?" asked Rep. Clarence J. Brown of Ohio. "That is not a national emergency," shot back Marshall. In response to Brown's question about Wright-Patterson Air Base in Dayton, Marshall said that too was "a local question."

BUT WHEN THE UMW's bargaining council overwhelmingly rejected the settlement Feb. 12, even Marshall conceded the President must act. Landon Butler and his boss, top presidential aide Hamilton Jordan, momentarily put Panama aside and devised a call from Mr. Carter for bargaining at the White House.

Throat muscles cause problems

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have this thing when drinking water or any liquid. A swallow hangs up somehow, and it seems to cut off my air. Everything gets dim and it seems I'm going to pass out. Is this a hernia? Or what? —R.C.

Your letter, while it is longer than the part I printed, does not give me important details — your age, for example, or past history which might bear on this condition.

I can only list a few possibilities worth investigating.

One possibility is called "DISH," which stands for a tongue-twisting phrase — disseminated idiopathic skeletal hypertrophy. Translated, this means an exaggerated curving of the neck spine — a condition that can impinge on the throat and interfere with swallowing.

Another is a weakness of the muscles of the throat, a condition called crico-pharyngeal achalasia. It may be found in persons who have had minor strokes.

In any event X rays involving the swallowing of barium is in order. This will show any physical obstruction.

The hernia you are referring to is probably hiatal hernia. This occurs at the lower end of the gullet, but it should not affect your swallowing of water. A more likely hernia would be an outpouching of the esophagus wall. That's called a Zenker's diverticulum. It occurs high in the gullet and may cause swallowing problems.

Because of the fainting episodes you mention (if for no other reason) you should have a thorough examination to rule out or confirm any of the possible problems I mention above.

"Nerves," which I did not include in my list of possibilities, can also be involved. Tense people sometimes experience swallowing difficulties.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: A long time ago you ran a letter from a mother who was using a nutrient which her daughter took that resulted in a relief of fever blisters. It was an acid, I think. I would like to know the name of the nutrient she mentioned. —B.L.P.

The substance discussed was, I'm sure, pantothenic acid, one of the B-complex vitamins. While I'm at it, I may as well repeat what I very likely told the former letter writer. Pantothenic acid is present in a wide variety of foods. A true deficiency is rare, even though some may be lost in heat processing of foods.

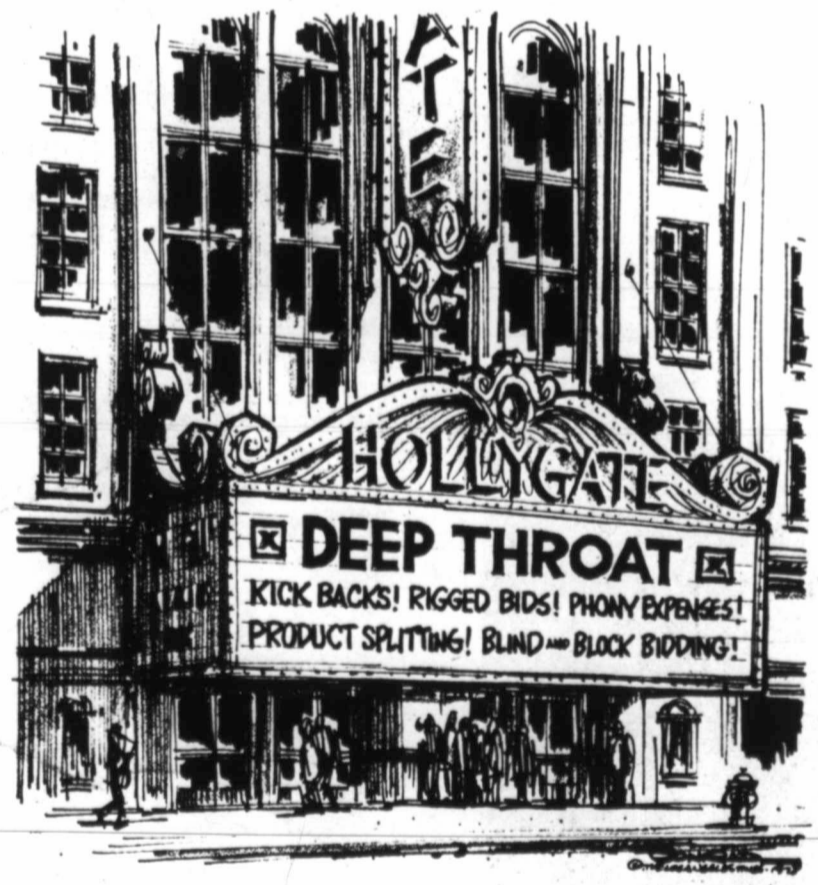

We do not know a great deal about its role in nutrition. If you need supplements you probably lack other vitamins as well. This slightly expanded answer anticipates other questions that always come among readers whenever a vitamin is mentioned as a "cure" for a specific complaint.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 5 feet, 3 inches, and weigh 110 pounds, and am 46. My question is this: Are you supposed to feel your heart beating? I am worried that mine might be too weak. I cannot hear it too well. I also would like to know if blood pressure of 140 over 70 is all right. —Mrs. M.W.

Everybody should have your "problems." Most of my mail about hearts is from people who panic when they can hear them. In your case, with your excellent weight and blood pressure, consider "no news" as "good news." At your age, 140 over 70 is fine.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: My parents always criticized me so much that I wonder if I am really much good for anything. Do you really think God can use me in any way? —G.B.

DEAR G. B.: You need to begin seeing yourself the way God sees you, not just the way others have seen you or how you see yourself. One of the things for which Paul prayed to God was that Christians "may see things as it were, from his point of view by being given spiritual insight and understanding" (Colossians 1:9, Phillips Translation). You need this kind of insight into everything, including yourself and God's will for your life.

It is unfortunate that your parents did not balance their corrections of you with a strong, clear-cut attitude of love. Sometimes parents are so eager for a child to do right that they unconsciously forget to show real affection. This can hurt a child, even though the parents may really deeply love the child. The Bible says to parents, "Don't keep on scolding and nagging your children, making them angry and resentful. Rather, bring them up with the loving discipline the Lord himself approves, with suggestions and godly advice" (Ephesians 6:4, Living Bible).

However, all that is behind you now, and you should be thankful for all that your parents did for you in a positive way. But most of all, realize that God loves you very, very much. He created you, and He did not make a mistake by creating you — He has a plan for your life. I suggest that you begin to read through one of the Gospels (John, for example) and see how Jesus loved people of all kinds.

Also, you need to see that God loves you just as you are. Perhaps you are afraid to try anything for God, because you think you will fail. But God loves you even when you fail. Also, by His Holy Spirit, He can give you a new power to live.

Begin to saturate your mind with the Scripture. As you see God's love for you, it will give you a new confidence to serve Him.

More as memorial

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — F. Edward Hebert, the Louisiana curmudgeon who once presided over the House Armed Services Committee, was retired by the voters in 1976. He is gone, but not forgotten.

A lavish monument, the F. Edward Hebert Naval Hospital, has been erected in his honor in New Orleans. It is a classic example of how the brass hats routinely cave in to powerful congressmen who want to immortalize themselves at the public's expense.

The medical complex was initially planned as a 100-bed facility that would cost $11.7 million. But, like a snowball rolling downhill, the project kept getting bigger and bigger.

IN 1974, AN ADDITIONAL $3.4 million was appropriated for the facility. Another $3.7 million was added a year later. By the time the Hebert hospital opened in 1977, its total cost had skyrocketed to over $21 million. And it costs the taxpayers $7.7 million annually to run it.

Rep. Bob Carr, D-Mich., and two investigators for Rep. Thomas Downey, D-N.Y., paid a surprise visit to the hospital in January. On the day before the Super Bowl game, they found the facility virtually empty.

A tiny percentage of the hospital's total capacity, they found, is currently being used. Less than five patients per day have been admitted since the medical center opened.

"It is a beautiful, expensive and shamefully under-utilized medical facility," wrote Carr and Downey in a letter to Navy Secretary Graham Claytor. "Those who toured Hebert were astounded by the silence and the open space; the unused floors and the untouched rooms; the acres of unfilled parking spaces and the pristine emptiness of the entire facility." It appears, wrote the congressmen, that the Navy was "incredibly inept in its planning projections."

The Hebert hospital, congressional sources told us, "represents both a flaw in the congressional authorization-appropriations process and an extreme lack of judgment by the Navy Department."

Footnote: The commanding officer of the Hebert complex, Capt. F.C. Gregg, acknowledged to us that many beds at his facility are empty. But he insisted the installation was "very busy" with its extensive "out-patient services." A Navy spokesman added that a projected transfer of naval personnel to New Orleans never came about; therefore, "the hospital is not now fully utilized."

BYINGTON BOWS OUT: John Byington, the Republican chairman of the Consumer Product Safety Commission, has grudgingly agreed to resign, effective this June. In a Nixon-like swan song, he blamed liberals and the media for hounding him out of office.

Byington cited our columns as an example of the "political harassment" that drove him from office. Since we were the only journalists he cited by name, his charges deserve a response.

WE REPORTED last October that the gregarious Byington awarded $17,000 in consulting contracts to Terzian Associates, a firm which instructs politicians in public relations techniques. Shortly thereafter, company president Carl Terzian began arranging speeches and media interviews for Byington personally.

Terzian insisted there was no connection between his government contract and the personal work he did for Byington. Terzian said he was helping the chairman "on a volunteer basis, purely out of friendship for John." But the Justice Department is investigating whether Terzian's work for Byington influenced the contract.

In the same column, we reported that Byington temporarily hired two members of his former law firm for top positions. He hired another crony to fill a job that was still legally open to other applicants.

The Civil Service Commission recently confirmed our findings and charged that Byington improperly hired at least 30 people. The voluble safety chief, appointed by President Ford, then lashed out at Civil Service, declaring that he was unaware that anyone had been improperly hired.

BUT NOW WE have learned that Byington was specifically warned by his own personnel chief that many of Byington's hand-picked consultants were unqualified and should be fired.

Early last September, the director of personnel, David Dunn, told Byington and his top aides that at least five consultants were in the wrong jobs and should be let go. Dunn handed Byington a memo saying, of three consultants, that they "would not be considered an expert if the field they are working in, nor do they meet the definition of a consultant." Of the group of five consultants, the memo flatly declared: "No alternative exists than to recommend termination of these appointments."

A heated discussion ensued over where to place Byington's minions. They were eventually reshuffled and Byington now claims this exemplified good management. "It was never raised that they weren't qualified, or were illegally hired, or that they should be terminated," he told our associate Howie Kurtz. "They were good, aggressive people and they expanded their scope. We had to reward their assignments."

Byington also charges that Civil Service was trying to harass him with unproven allegations. This prompted personnel chief Dunn, who resigned for personal reasons, to fire off a confidential letter to Sen. Wendell Ford, D-Ky. "Until now I've preferred to make no comment," he wrote. But, "this constant use of my former employees and myself as scapegoats must be ended."

Footnote: During his tenure, Byington dragged his feet on consumer product safety, largely ignoring such dangerous products as flammable furniture, asbestos and unsafe home insulation.

Appeal may block Nazi marches

SKOKIE, Ill. (AP) — This predominantly Jewish community will appeal a federal judge's ruling striking down the last legal barrier to a march by swastika-bearing Nazis.

U.S. District Judge Bernard M. Decker ruled Thursday that three village ordinances aimed at preventing Nazi marches were unconstitutional.

The ruling paved the way for a "white power" demonstration by the National Socialist Party of America, a small group of neo-Nazis, unless the appeal is successful.

"We are morally, ethically and legally bound to take every recourse at our disposal to have Judge Decker's decision reversed," Mayor Albert J. Smith said. "We will appeal. To do less would mean that the village's government is not representing the views and feelings of virtually every Skokie resident, Catholic, Protestant and Jew alike."

He said the village would ask that Decker's ruling be stayed pending appeal.

The Nazis, represented by the American Civil Liberties Union, have sought to march in Skokie for nearly a year.

Some 5,000 to 7,000 Skokie residents are Jewish survivors of World War II Nazi concentration camps, and an estimated 40,500 of the village's 70,000 residents are Jewish.

The Nazis tentatively plan to march April 20, the 89th anniversary of Adolf Hitler's birthday. As of Thursday, the Nazis had not sought a parade permit.

Gov. James R. Thompson urged Jewish leaders to stage a countermarch if the Nazis do march and he promised to participate.

"We have got to show that we cannot demonstrate with our moral blessing even if they have the legal right," he said.

In a 55-page opinion, Decker said "it is better to allow those who preach radical hate to expend their venom in rhetoric rather than to be panicked into embarking on a dangerous course of permitting the government to decide what its citizens may say and hear."

Eagles win Grammys

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Last year was one of the biggest ever for Grammy Awards to newcomers in music, but it was mostly the familiar faces that picked up the top prizes in this year's show.

Debbie Boone, who made her debut in 1977 with one of the biggest hits of all time, "You Light Up My Life," was swamped by pop music's mainstream regulars in Thursday night's presentation of the 20th annual show.

Barbra Streisand, who had not won a Grammy in a dozen years, was the surprise female pop singer of the year for her "Evergreen," the theme from "A Star is Born."

Miss Streisand, also shared the songwriter's Grammy for song of the year for "Evergreen," with co-writer Paul Williams. In a tie vote, Joe Brooks also won a Grammy for song of the year for "You Light Up My Life."

In another surprise, the Eagles won record of the year for "Hotel California," again edging "You Light Up My Life."

The Eagles also won a Grammy for the arrangement on their "New Kid in Town," which took the award for best arrangement for voices.

Miss Boone said she was disappointed that "You Light Up My Life" did not win record of the year, but there was consolation for the daughter of singer Pat Boone — she took a Grammy as the best new artist of the year.

The Grammys are voted on by members of the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences, including writers, performers and technicians nationwide. The surprises, one disgruntled loser said, suggest that the 4,000 voting members "are out of touch."

The salient feature of this year's Grammys was the absence of the pop industry's giant, Stevie Wonder, who usually takes home a batch of Grammys. He had no record last year, thus opening up the field, and there were none of the usual sweeps.

Another familiar name, James Taylor, won his second Grammy, for best male pop artist with "Handy Man."

There was one big winner that no one grumbled about — John Williams, Composer Williams took home three Grammys for his outer space opus, "Star Wars." The tune won best pop instrumental, best instrumental, best score position for a motion picture.

The Bee Gees, who have been practicing the art of pop since 1968, won their first Grammy, being named best pop group.

BOONE FAMILY — Singer Debbie Boone, center, is congratulated by her father Pat and mother Shirley during the Grammy Awards Thursday. Debbie Boone won her Grammy for Best New Artist.

Richard Leigh. Miss Gayle, country superstar Loretta Lynn's little sister, took home a Grammy after being named best country female artist.

The best country group was the Kendalls, for their "Heaven's Just a Sin Away." For instrumentals in country, Hargis "Pig" Robbins won a statue.

The blockbuster classical recording, "Concert of the Century," won album of the year Grammys for Leonard Bernstein, Vladimir Horowitz, Isaac Stern, Mstislav Rostropovich, Dietrich Fischer-Dieskau, Yehudi Menuhin and Lyndon Woodside. Thomas Frost produced the album.

In jazz, Count Basie scored his sixth Grammy, winning in a new category, best jazz performance by a big band. Best jazz soloist was Oscar Peterson for "The Giants," and the best jazz group was the Phil Woods Six for their "Live From the Showboat." Al Jarreau won a Grammy for best vocal performance for "Look to the Rainbow."

Davis divorce 'dirty' deal

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Lawyers for Priscilla Davis say her estranged husband, millionaire Cullen Davis, is trying to use his wealth to "control and manipulate the courts of Texas."

Davis' lawyers are seeking a new judge to hear the case, contending that District Court Judge Joe Eidson, who has been hearing the case, testified for the prosecution at Davis' murder trial in Amarillo where Davis was found innocent in the shooting death of his stepdaughter.

Davis' lawyers said Eidson is in an "awkward position" now because of his testimony.

Meanwhile, Tarrant County District Attorney Tim Curry said he will delay his decision on whether to prosecute Davis on three felony charges until after the divorce proceedings, which are due to start in April.

Davis still faces a capital murder charge in the death of Stan Farr and two attempted murder charges, all stemming from the shootings at the Davis mansion on an August night in 1976.

Sancap will control the tough broadleaf weeds that escape your preplant.

Preplant herbicides are great for controlling grasses. But the fact is, they just can't control the stubborn broadleaf weeds that are breaking through cotton here in the South High Plains. So, if you grow cotton on sandy soils, spray an overlay of Sancap® herbicide at planting. Because Sancap is strong on broadleaf weeds. Strong enough to stop the tough ones that escape your preplant. # Farm Rural women tackle isolation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some wear fur coats and carry Gucci tote bags. Others, jeans, and T-shirts. But, rural women all, they are meeting to exchange ways of overcoming their common problem: isolation.

"The farm becomes the woman's whole world," says Joyce Dukes of Knoxville, Tenn. "Problems of transportation, communications and small incomes only enforce that isolation."

More than 150 women are attending Washington's first leadership conference for rural women. They are sharing experiences, swapping ideas and learning that country women have the same problems as their big city sisters and more, especially the seclusion of the farm.

"The problems are no different from those of urban America, but there is a special depth to our concerns," said Jane Threatt, who organized the conference.

"Rural women have never been identified before and they've never had a voice in Washington. This is an opportunity to develop strategies for such issues like health services, jobs, education, energy and environment," Ms. Threatt said Thursday.

"The woman works as an equal partner all her life to her husband, but she is not treated as a wage-earner by the Internal Revenue Service," said Margie Chapman, an attorney from Little Rock, Ark.

"So when her husband dies, she has to pay taxes for what is rightfully hers and is often forced to sell the farm — the only life she has ever known," she said.

"I'd like to learn how to paint but I can't drive 130 miles every day to Bismarck for a course," said Bea Peterson, who farms wheat on 4,000 acres of land near Dickinson, N.D. "Couldn't art teachers come to us?"

"Rural women have fewer options," said Dr. Carolyn Carr of Huntington, W.Va., who is concerned about the problems of battered farm wives. "The law does not always go back into the hills."

Marie Cirillo, a former nun, said she came to the conference from Clairfield, Tenn., "not because of particular women's problems but because of rural problems that maybe women can solve because obviously men can't."

Susan Braine, a member of the Assiniboine tribe in Lame Deer, Mont., said Indian women face even more problems than other rural women "because we live on reservations and have to deal with the federal government instead of county or state governments."

Other women, farm wives, talked about agriculture policies that they say make it impossible to earn a basic living from farming.

"... no one realizes how deeply we love the land and when there is an economic disaster, we are so afraid we will lose that land," said Mary Anne Vrusehoss, who raises sheep and poultry in Watkins, Minn. "My husband and I both work away from the farm so we can afford to stay on the farm."

Despite all the problems, however, she spoke lyrically about farm life: "I am nourished by the land and the air. There is a tranquility that is wholesome and good. I would like to encourage farm women to celebrate their importance. I am not a farmer's wife. I am a farmer."

Land fraud jury picked

SAN DIEGO (AP) — A federal court jury of four women and eight men has been chosen to hear testimony in an Arizona land fraud trial involving an alleged $18 million swindle.

U.S. District Judge Walter Craig impaneled the jury Wednesday and turned down a series of defense motions in a series of formalities. Among them were defense attempts to toss out evidence on the basis of the legality of a search warrant.

On trial are Robert Gunnison, 35, and Alvin McCollum, 57, both of Phoenix, William Nathan, 41, of Houston and Emanuel Singer, 52, of Mission Viejo, Calif.

Arizona Ned Warren, 64, recently pleaded guilty to mail fraud in the case and was sentenced to five years in federal prison.

The trial, expected to last more than a month, was moved here from Phoenix because of extensive news coverage in Arizona.

Farmers to block span

MACON, Ga. (AP) — Georgia farmers plan to block a bridge on the United States-Mexican border and then return home to barricade state highways as they adopt a more militant policy to draw attention to their crusade for higher farm prices, strike leaders say.

"We're going to have some disruptions now. We're going to make an international incident," state strike leader Tommy Kersey said Thursday.

"We're going to hold the Mexican border as long as we can. We think we can hold it at least a day."

Kersey said 50 farmers plan to be on a bridge over the Rio Grande March 1. A spokesman for striking Texas farmers said they had no plans to join in the border demonstration.

When Georgia farmers return from Texas, they will begin demonstrations to block traffic on state highways, Kersey told 150 striking farmers who gathered in the lobby of the Georgia Farm Bureau building to demand the resignation of its president, Emmett Reynolds.

The farm bureau board voted in a closed meeting not to ask Reynolds to resign and refused to call a special meeting of the bureau's voting members to consider ousting him.

Strike leaders have accused Reynolds of being unsympathetic to the protesting farmers. Reynolds said in an interview Thursday such accusations were "being made solely without basic justification."

The farm bureau president also told reporters in Macon that he had been threatened because of the strike controversy.

"My wife was told earlier that if I didn't cooperate, I would pay, the farm bureau would pay or my family would pay," he said.

"My wife was called five times in one night by an anonymous caller which says we can't get to Emmett, but we can get to you and we are going to," Reynolds added.

Reynolds, who vowed he does not intend to resign, said one of the farmers at Thursday's meeting told him he would "spend a lot of sleepless nights between now and November" if he stayed in office.

Kersey told the picketing farmers, who greeted the board's vote with a splashing of eggs, that meat and vegetables being brought across the Mexican border are hurting the American Agriculture movement, which is sponsoring a nationwide farmers' strike.

He said shutting down the border would draw attention to the strike.

Kersey, the southeastern coordinator for the strike effort, said possible brushes with the law would not dissuade farmers from blocking the U.S.-Mexican border.

He said he expects to "run into some trouble with the law" over the planned border demonstration. But he said farmers would take advantage of jurisdictional problems on the border to avoid arrest.

"I think we've learned how to leave just before they arrest us," he said.

However Kersey, a Unadilla farmer, refused to be specific about demonstrations in Georgia "because it might give them (authorities) too much time to think about it and be ready."

Developing political savvy

WASHINGTON (AP) — American Agriculture, which has relied heavily on the politics of confrontation, is showing signs of developing political savvy of a traditional kind.

Although it still is loosely-knit and reclaims itself without formal leadership, some insiders admit privately that "we're catching on" to how things are done in Congress.

These involve a relative handful of group members who have remained in Washington to see how Congress, the Agriculture Department and the Carter administration react to its demands.

Some of the farmers admit that the incident involving a few of their fellows throwing snowballs and eggs at Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland when he was in Amarillo, Texas, earlier this week has hurt their public image.

But as one farmer said Thursday, the group generally has refrained from physical violence in making itself felt in Washington. At House and Senate committee hearings on farm issues, farmers often are vocal, but they have not resorted to eggs or snowballs to make their points.

Some of the farmers admit that the incident involving a few of their fellows throwing snowballs and eggs at Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland when he was in Amarillo, Texas, earlier this week has hurt their public image.

Further evidence that some in American Agriculture are doing their homework involves what the farmer described as the political realities of getting legislation through a Democratic-controlled Congress and accepted by a Democratic president.

The average price for strict low middling 11-16 inch spot cotton declined 28 points to $2.79 cents a pound Thursday for the 10 leading markets, according to the New York Cotton Exchange.

Midday afternoon prices were $1.10 to $1.75 a bale higher than the previous close. Mar 55.40, May 57.05, and July 58.10.

Foreign meat imports rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Foreign countries shipped slightly more meat to the United States last year than they did in 1976 but not quite as much as they were permitted to do under a 1964 import quota law.

The Agriculture Department said Thursday that imports of quota-type meat totaled about 1.25 billion pounds last year. That was an increase of about 18 million pounds, or 1.5 percent — from 1976 imports.

But the formula worked out under the law would have permitted more than 1.28 billion pounds, some 31.7 million pounds more than actually was imported last year.

The law covers fresh, chilled and frozen beef, veal, mutton and goat meat from 15 countries qualified to ship the meat into the U.S. market. Most is lower-grade beef used to make hamburger and other processed food.

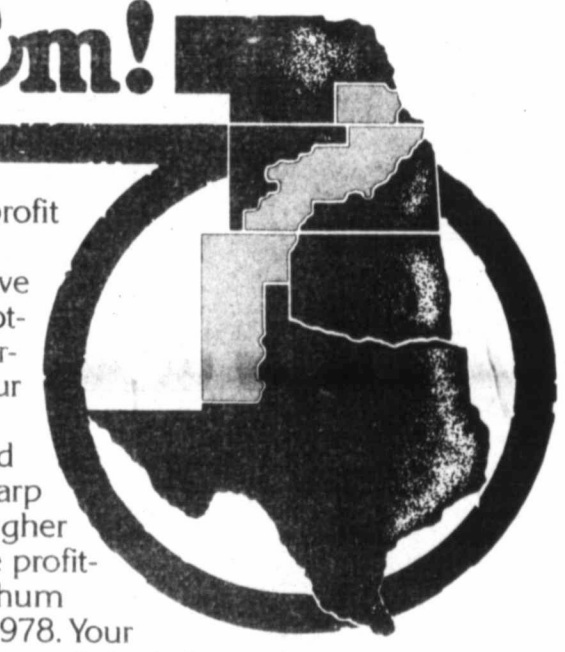

Most of the meat comes from Australia and New Zealand, which together accounted for about 919 million pounds, or 74 percent, of last year's total imports.

The Trail Boss Took on the Competition... And Beat 'Em!

There's never been a showdown like it! In over 100 Asgrow Sorghum Trail rounds in 1977 through Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas and Nebraska, the Asgrow Trail Boss corralled top Asgrow sorghum varieties and major competitive hybrids for the area. Side-by-side. Growing under typical cultural practices. And, in large blocks for harvest with yields adjusted to 14% moisture.

Time after time Asgrow proved to have the fastest draw on higher yields compared to the other big sorghum guns in the territory. In fact, Asgrow Bug-Off outyielded E59+ in 19 locations by an average of 5.9 bushels per acre.

You can profit from this competitive yield shootout by corraling your Asgrow dealer and taking sharp aim on higher and more profitable sorghum yields in 1978. Your dealer has all the information on Sorghum Trail yields and knows the hybrids that will do the best for you.

Cancer pros to boycott meeting

WASHINGTON (AP) — Upset by what is seen as political repression of Argentinian scientists, some of the United States' most prominent cancer researchers plan to join hundreds of other scientists in boycotting the world's largest meeting of their peers.

The unprecedented move to protest the location of the October meeting — Buenos Aires — has been quickly debated within the scientific community for months. More than 500 American scientists have signed a petition saying they would not attend the meeting unless it were held elsewhere. Some 250 scientists in France and Belgium endorsed similar petitions.

Dr. Henry Rappaport of the City of Hope Medical Center in Duarte, Calif., a leader of the protest, said on Thursday that conference organizers acknowledged receiving the petitions. He was not, however, optimistic about a change of location. "We have made our point and there is nothing else we can do," Rappaport said in an interview. "I don't think

Wrongful death suit seeking $1.3 million

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) — The brother of a man killed last May while working on a water project for the city of Nashville is seeking more than $1.3 million in damages from a company involved in the job.

David Lane of Keller, Texas, has filed suit against Hix Smith Jr. and Smith Ready Mix Inc. of Nashville in U.S. District Court here on behalf of the estate of Joel Lee Lane.

David Lane contends his brother died as the result of negligence on the part of the company.

On May 12, 1977, Joel Lee Lane, 24, a Nashville city employee, was working on a water project on the Little Missouri River near Murfreesboro when workmen in a well shaft were overcome by carbon monoxide from a gasoline-powered water pump.

anyone who signed the petition will be going." Proponents of the protest say it is a question of human rights. Others say it is a matter of politics, which should be kept out of science.

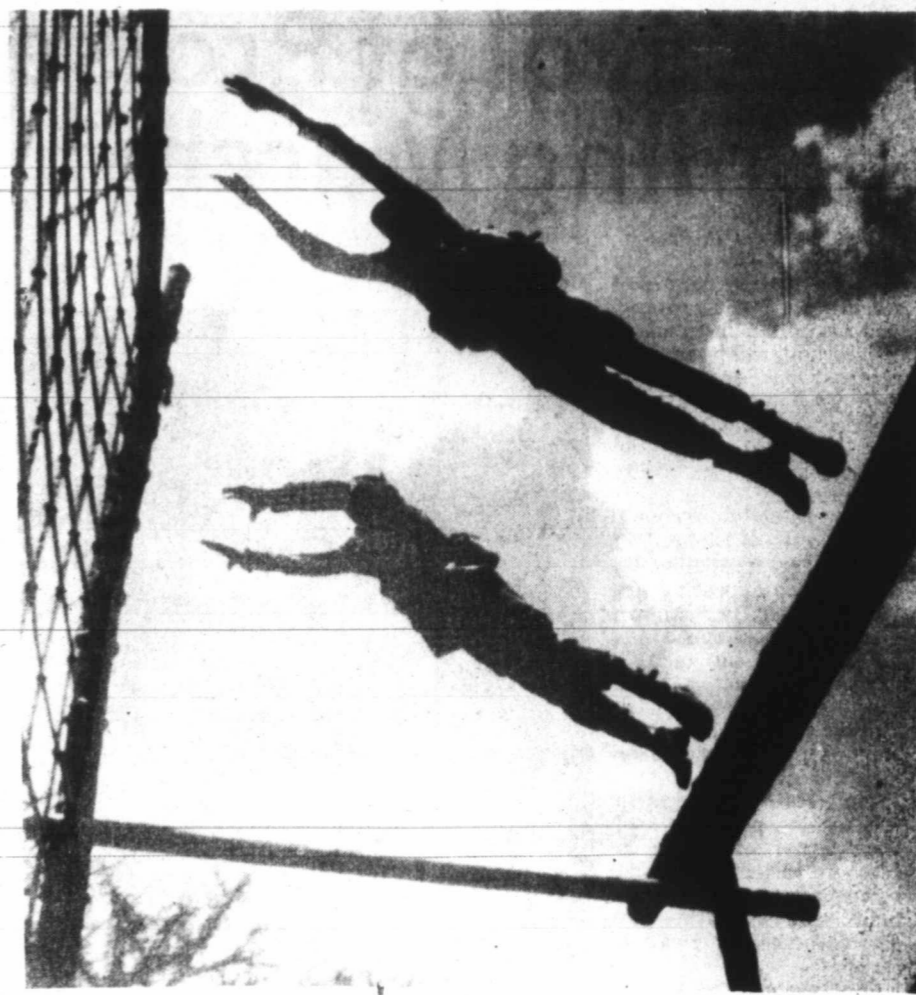

Dr. Gregory O'Connor, the National Cancer Institute's associate director for international affairs, said the agency is not supporting the boycott, leaving the decision on attendance to individual government scientist.

"This is clearly the largest meeting related to cancer held and the only one that embraces all aspects of cancer — from research to social consequences," O'Connor said. "If some of our best scientists decide not to go, then it will be a definite loss to the conference."

The International Cancer Congress is held every three years under the auspices of the International Union Against Cancer, a nongovernmental, voluntary organization of 180 groups.

At the last cancer congress held in Florence, Italy, the international union accepted a bid from Argentine voluntary cancer agencies to host the upcoming meeting, the first in Latin America in 26 years.

In March 1976, a military government took over Argentina. Reports of political imprisonment, torture and killings ensued. Scientists and other professionals are said to be particularly vulnerable.

Pancakes galore come St. Pat's Day

The Kiwanis Club set St. Patrick's Day, March 17, as the date for their annual Pancake Supper.

The annual event will again be held at Howard College cafeteria with tickets selling for $2.

All members of the club are selling tickets for the all-you-can-eat affair. Tickets will also be sold at the door.

The menu again includes pancakes, bacon, sausage, milk and coffee.

At the meeting this week, the club also heard a talk by Carl McGlothlin on the changes in the Social Security System.

McGlothlin had heard Mrs. Frances Perkins, Secretary of Labor during the '30s when the system was set up, speak several years later.

Mrs. Perkins, the early female cabinet member, said that President Roosevelt called her in and told her to get the system started and that she knew absolutely nothing about such things. She had to call in experts to help with the origination of the Social Security system.

McGlothlin also discussed the recent increases in the system and conducted a question and answer period.

Festival of Praise coming March 6

The "Festival of Praise" choir, produced by nationally recognized conductor Thurlow Spurr, and under the direction of Bob Pickett, will present the musical of praise and worship, "Festival of Praise," recently released on LIGHT Records, on March 6 at 7:30 p.m. at city auditorium.

The 50-voice national touring choir is made up of adult singers from all walks of life. Also appearing are the nationally known Spurrrows whose music is as up to date as today's newspaper and yet as timeless as the Word of God. The choir and the Spurrrows will be supported by the nine piece Concert Brass.

Tom Russell, executive director, is a popular gospel tenor whose vocal success reveals a varied background having appeared numerous times with symphony orchestras across America and Europe.

The program is reported to be an evening of choral and solo music specifically organized to "praise God for His gifts to man." The program is divided into six sections . . . praising God for God, for Jesus Christ, for the Holy Spirit, for the Church, for the Word of God, and for the Second Coming of Christ. Each section includes songs that are traditional, contemporary and well known along with some new selections arranged by Terry Winch.

The festival has been in concert in many of the large churches across America and has been featured on the television programs of the 700 Club and the PTL Club. They have appeared at the Christian Artists Music

The barbecue will feature beef, pork ribs and chicken with red beans and potato salad. Plates are $2.50 or barbecue by the pound is $2.75.

OUR GOAL: TRUE FREEDOM — THE CHARACTER OF CHRIST

For you were called to freedom, brethren; only do not turn your freedom into an opportunity for the flesh, but through love serve one another.

For the whole Law is fulfilled in one word, in the statement, "You shall love your neighbor as yourself."

But if you bite and devour one another, take care lest you be consumed by one another.

But I say, walk by the Spirit, and you will not carry out the desire of the flesh.

...the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness, self-control; against such things there is no law.

Methodists set March specials

A series of seminars in christian education, called the March Specials at First United Methodist Church, will begin March 5th in Fellowship Hall at 6 p.m.

The mini-courses will cover some topics normally outside the regular curriculum of study, but considered vital to total Christianity.

"These March Specials give us an opportunity to bring in top lecturers, enable us to utilize special tools of education such as filmstrips and copywritten slide presentations, and allows the membership new fellowship in the pursuit of mutual interests and study," Ralph Henderson, Chairman of the event announced.

Six study seminars, covering as many topics, will be offered to the membership and community: Preparing for the Mature Years, John Wesley and Today's Methodist, The Christian and Prayer, God's World as Reflected in Art Through the Ages, Edward Bauman's Life of Jesus Film Study, and current Book Reviews.

The three sessions on Preparing for the Mature Years will begin Sunday March 5th with an Estate Planning Seminar that will continue Monday with two additional slide presentation sessions. The second session on March 12th will deal with the Emotional Concerns of Aging, taught by Dr. DeWitt Seago, Hereford, Texas. The last session in the series will present the considerations of entering a nursing home or its alternative: Home Health Care. Rev. Billy Hendrix, Mountain View Nursing Home, and Rosalyn Louder, R.N. will lead this class.

The sessions on Art as Reflected through the Ages will deal with the art and theology of pyramids and palaces, rulers and conquerors, romantic, revival, and revolutionary art in old and new worlds, and the last session will present simple exaggerated and detailed art side by side, as artists escape, magnify, or react to their environment, thereby

Phillips Baptists host meet March 1-8

The Phillips Memorial Baptist Church will hold a revival March 1-8 at 7:30 p.m. each evening.

Dr. O. Byron Richardson will lead the revival. He has been in the evangelism division of the church work since 1960. Prior to that he pastored churches more than 20 years.

A native Texan, he received his degrees from Baylor and the University of Houston and did work at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary. His D.D. degree is from Howard Payne.

Day of Prayer slated Friday

The World Day of Prayer will be held March 4 and it will be celebrated in 140 countries and 33 islands on that day by Christian women united in study, liturgy and prayer.

The Big Spring service this year will be at 10 a.m. at the Salvation Army with guest speaker to be Mrs. Lt. Col. Harlan Cleveland, Dallas.

The first World Day of Prayer was held over 90 years ago, and the first offering was taken in 1920.

Church Women United's Intercontinental Mission program, enabled by World Day of Prayer offerings, shows a consistency of concern.

Annual grants are made to Christian Colleges for Women in Asia and the Committee on Christian Literature for Women and Children.

Short-term grants go to migrant ministries, native migrant self-help projects, programs for women in prison, for community development and for ministry to the aging.

This year on the first Friday in March, millions of women on every continent will be thinking about the high incidence of loneliness and alienation in modern life. The theme is "Community Spirit in Modern Living."

Each year, the International Committee chooses one nation to write the service. This year, the women of Canada explore the conflicts, tensions and compromises of today's living.

All interested women are invited to attend the local service.

direction, the division of evangelism seeks to lead Texas Baptist churches to have two local church revivals each year.

Also, he has trained 50 pastors and education directors in this field. He also stresses the importance of the Sunday School work.

The public is invited to attend all sessions at their church at 5th and State Streets by the Rev. Dan Sanford, pastor.

Leading the music will be Lynn Garrett.

Jack and Jill dedication slated

The official ribbon cutting ceremonies will be held at the Jack and Jill kindergarten, first grade and day care center Sunday at 3 p.m.

The facility has already undergone a groundbreaking and special first day services for students and the service Sunday is for the purpose of dedication.

The Rev. V. Ward Jackson, former pastor of the First Church of God here, now in Milwaukee, Wis. will give the dedicatory address.

He was here ten years prior to leaving for Pennsylvania. He was active in the city events and his wife was a kindergarten teacher for Jack and Jill, which was a part of the church program.

Miss Arah Phillips, principal, will give the welcome after the ribbon cutting. The school was founded in 1963 by her and includes a nursery school kindergarten and primary grades.

She has long been on the education scene around Big Spring, teaching at Moore and later at Howard College. After she retired, a group of church people helped her raise enough money to open the center. She has had 42 years teaching experience including three at the college.

REV. JACKSON

Tax rules puzzle churches on business

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—A United Methodist fiscal official, James M. Walton, says some churches unaware of it may be liable for federal income taxes on unrelated business income, and should check out that possibility.

Although churches generally are exempt from income taxes, he notes that in 1970 they became subject to taxes on income from owned businesses not related to religion, and adds:

"The determination whether or not your church is subject to the tax... is the specific and individual responsibility of your church."

Board members for the new facility and school are Richard Reatan, Truett Thomas, J.E. Parker, R.E. Hickson and A.L. Holley.

Truett Thomas, president of the board will preside at the ribbon cutting conducted by the Ambassador's Club headed by Richard Atkins.

Mrs. Johnnie Lou Avery, assistant to the president at Howard College, will unveil the builder's plaque.

The response following the welcome will be given by Mrs. Esther K. Bauer of Anderson, Ind.

Following the dedication, special music, "Bless This House" will be furnished by the Rev. and Mrs. George Golden of Odessa with Roy Cline, vice president of Gulf Coast Bible College in Houston giving the dedicatory prayer.

Mini-tours and refreshments follow.

Lenten series set Wednesday

The Lenten Series continues at St. Mary's Episcopal Church Wednesday evening, March 1, with evening prayer at 6:30 p.m. followed by dinner and the film, "The Supper."

Set in the badlands of Montana, the movie is very high suspense. The public is invited and those attending need to bring something for "pot-luck."

Jake Glickman will be guest speaker for the Episcopal Young Churchmen on Sunday evening at 5 p.m.

For those interested in learning more about the Episcopal Church, St. Mary's will begin an Inquirer's Class on Sunday evening, March 5, at 6 p.m.

First Baptists host Colonel

First Baptist Church will welcome Col. Heath Bottomly to speak Sunday in both worship services. "Col. Bottomly has an outstanding testimony and exciting experiences to share," according to Rev. Kenneth Patrick, pastor.

Col. Bottomly is an associate staff member of the military ministry of Campus Crusade for Christ International. He was born in Chinook, Montana on September 30, 1919.

He graduated from the University of Montana, from the United States Military Academy at West Point and received a master's degree in International Relations from George Washington University in 1963.

During World War II, Col. Bottomly flew a P-38 combat tour in the Southwest Pacific. He commanded the first jet squadron in the Far East at Yokota, Japan in 1946, in time to take part in the first jet flight across the Atlantic Ocean. Col. Bottomly served with the joint chiefs of staff during the Korean War.

He was a special intelligence observer during the Arab-Israeli war and later directed operations of the nuclear alert force of the 81st Tactical Fighter Wing in Europe and North Africa. He served as secretary to the joint chiefs of staff in 1961. There he recorded the emergency meetings during the Gulf of Tonkin incident

He served three years in Southeast Asia—the final year as commander of the 355th Tactical Fighter Wing at Takhli, Thailand. He retired from the Air Force in August, 1974.

He has also won the Air Medal 17 times, the Joint Services Commendation Medal, the Air Force Commendation Medal, the Outstanding Unit Award twice and the Presidential Unit Citation three times.

First Baptist cordially invites the public to hear Col. Bottomly. He will speak Sunday morning in the 10:55 worship service and 6 p.m.

Blind singer to appear here

Blind singer Tom Shill will be appearing in person at the Highland Church of God, 6th and Settles, Sat., Feb. 25, at 7:30 p.m.

Shill will be sharing his "vision of Christ through music". At the age of 12 he began attending church through the bus ministry in his home town. Through encouragement from church friends, he began to develop his spiritual and musical talents.

Shill is a student at Warner Southern College in Lake Wales, Florida. He has sung in many churches across the nation and has made two recordings.

The Highland Church of God invites the public, especially young people, to hear Shill sing.

WHY IS THIS AD TWICE AS LARGE AS BEFORE?

Previously, our ad has been only half this size. One of our younger members said, "Our ad should be bigger! More people need to see it! Make it as large as you want, and I'll pay for it!"

Now, that's an example of the spirit of this excited congregation.

We're a non-denominational body of born-again believers in Jesus Christ. We're not the only Christians, but we're Christians only!

We offer Bible classes for every age, a clean nursery staffed by experienced mothers, simple and meaningful worship, and warm fellowship and hospitality. When you study and worship with us, you'll hear what God has to say!

Not a Worry in the World

That's how Grandma captioned this snapshot of Penny in the family album. Yet is Penny really immune from anxiety in her infancy? It is TRUST that softens anxiety during the tender years. Knowing you are loved having those you can count on.

The Church's educational program is an extension of the Home in cultivating that sense of trust. Religious training awakens and cultivates a growing CONFIDENCE in God.

As Penny's spiritual growth continues, she and her family will see trust and confidence mature into FAITH.

That doesn't mean not a worry in the world . . .

It means knowing you are loved. Having One above all others you can count on!

FUTURE FAMILIAR SIGHT? — Six railroad cars loaded with dismantled Navy A-7 attack planes were on the siding at the T&P Railroad here this week. They may foretell things to come. If Big Spring gets a Lockheed

(PHOTO BY DANNY VALDES) plant at the former Webb AFB, F-4C fighters may arrive in similar condition. There was no information available as to the destination of these fighter bombers.

'The state committed crime'

MIAMI (AP) — Freddie Pitts and Wilbert Lee spent 12 years and 48 days in prison waiting to be proved innocent of murder. Pardoned 2½ years ago, they are again waiting — this time for legislation that would award them $75,000 apiece for their time behind bars.

"They can't pay me and Pitts for the time we spent in prison," says Lee, a child care worker at Dade County's detention center. "But they can give us something to get a start."

Sponsors of the legislation recall the racial tension created by the slayings in Port St. Joe, a small town in the Florida panhandle, and admit its prospects are uncertain. But there are signs opposition is softening.

"I've grown older and wiser," says Senate President Lew Brantley, who refused to let claims bills for Pitts and Lee reach the Senate floor when he served as rules chairman in 1976. Brantley says he will now accept the guidance of the hearing officer.

the Mo-Jo service station who refused to let some black women use a rest room marked "White Ladies Only."

Hours later, the attendants, Jesse Burkett, 54, and Grover Floyd Jr., 28, were found shot to death. Pitts and Lee were arrested, and they told a jury they were guilty. They were sentenced to die.

They later recanted, saying they confessed because they were beaten. Two Army sergeants who visited Pitts — then a soldier — reported he looked as if he had been severely beaten.

Appeals delayed their execution, and in December 1966, Curtis Adams, who was in jail on another murder charge, told his lawyer that he killed Burkett and Floyd during a robbery.

A lie detector test verified Adams' statement, but he withdrew it, only to confess again.

However, the ordeal was not over for Pitts and Lee. They were convicted in a second trial ordered by the Florida Supreme Court in 1972 after Attorney General Robert Shevin admitted the state withheld evidence at the original trial. The U.S. Supreme Court later halted their execution.

In 1974, Adams confessed a third time and Gov. Rubin Askew pardoned Pitts and Lee, saying: "I am persuaded that the ends of justice require me to seek freedom and full pardon for these two men." They were freed Sept. 19, 1975.

Now 42, Lee discusses the case with little rancor. "We didn't commit a crime," he says. "The state committed a crime. But you can't survive by being bitter."

Energy

Mining might be hamstrung

TYLER, Texas (AP) — The federal government's newest conservation watchdog has some energy-minded Texans concerned that lignite coal mining operations might be hamstrung by bureaucratic guidelines.

Power company representatives and state political figures gathered here today for the second round of discussions dealing with new energy developments and how they will affect Texas communities.

Thursday's opening session was highlighted by some rousing rhetoric from Mack Wallace, chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission, and a warning of sorts from Roger Heine, director of the new federal Office of Surface Mining (OSM).

Wallace capsulized Texas' contributions to the nation's energy scene and charged his audience with meeting new challenges in the search to find replacements for fossil fuels.

Heine's remarks followed with a brief overview of OSM and what it promises to do.

"The need for a federally coordinated surface mining reclamation effort had become obvious by the time the remedial legislation passed Congress," he said. "Many groups were practicing reclamation, others planned to, but too many were still debating it."

"Most reclamation programs were not sufficiently broad in scope.

Furthermore, until recent years only a few states directly regulated surface mining and no guidelines existed to balance reclamation with mining."

Regulatory activity, Heine said, will be carried out by the states under programs approved by the Secretary of the Interior.

Uranium venture remains mystery

DALLAS (AP) — Uranium ore from Utah's Black Mesa area figures prominently in the plans of two Dallas-based energy companies, but there is some question whether it will be used to fuel U.S. nuclear power plants.

Hunt Oil Co. has put up $1.4 million to help Energy Resources Corp. mine and process raw uranium from southeastern Utah.

In return, Hunt will get 50 per cent of the action, with an option to fund another $1.3 million for 50 percent of the yield in remaining acreage.

"The potential profit for this uranium is from $10 to $20 per pound," Energy Resources head Merlin Schwenk said Thursday. He estimated that the Black Mesa area could yield from 300,000 to 500,000 pounds of the precious ore per year.

Uranium is a necessary ingredient for nuclear power plants. Hunt Co. funds will finance construction of an on-site ore processing plant through a solution and recovery method.

Swiss firms have also contracted to build processing plants for raw ore within two to three miles of the exploration site. Should the Utah operation prove more adaptable to strip mining, the Swiss plants could provide a processing alternative.

Ore processed by Swiss plants would be destined for Swiss use.

Schwenk admitted that ore mined by Energy Resources would go to the best market, be it foreign or domestic.

He pointed out that Iran, an oil-producing nation, gives indications that it would like to be an exporter of electricity rather than fossil fuel.

"There is an extreme presence of foreign buyers in the nuclear fuel market," Schwenk said.

And he acknowledged the possibility exists that an oil-producing country might buy his company's uranium output, all the while maintaining its oil dominance and also becoming a major purchaser of uranium mined in the United States.

In response to a question about the possibility of nationalizing uranium ore deposits in the U.S., Schwenk said he didn't think it was very likely.

Electricity 'recycled'

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Public Utility Commission approved an agreement Thursday under which steam used in firing an electric generator also will be "recycled" for manufacturing.

The commission said the "cogeneration" agreement between Southwestern Public Service Co. and the Celanese Corp. plant in Gray County was the first of its kind to be approved.

Celanese will provide coal and a boiler while Southwestern will provide a turbine generator. After the steam has passed through the turbine, Celanese will use it in its manufacturing process.

Southwestern will pay Celanese 1.4 cents per kilowatt hour for steam and services.

After Celanese gets its share of the electricity produced, Southwestern will have about 4,000 kilowatts to sell to other customers.

"Not only is it a unique and forward-looking 'cogeneration' arrangement, but it is also a coal facility which will relieve the company of the corresponding need for natural gas and enable it to decrease its future purchases of natural gas," commission member Al Erwin said.

Tuition aids faces Senate battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — An election year battle awaits a proposal by the Senate Finance Committee to give a direct tax credit to parents of college and private school students.

The committee on Thursday approved the measure to aid middle-income parents and those with children in parochial schools. But the Carter administration instead wants expanded government grants based on need.

The Senate panel acted only hours after the Senate Human Resources subcommittee on education approved the expanded grant program, much as President Carter had proposed.

The two plans have three major differences: —The tax credits would be available to rich, poor and middle-income groups alike; the grants would go only to families earning $25,000 or less.

—The tax credits would require no special application; the grants would require an application and a show of need.

—The tax credits could be used to offset tuition costs at the college, high school or grammar school level; the grants would cover only college costs.

Two sponsors of the tax credit, Sens. William V. Roth, R-Del., and Bob Packwood, R-Ore., hailed the finance committee vote as a message to Carter and the House that the credit is the proper way to provide low- and middle-income Americans some relief from rising education costs.

Under the tax credit bill, a self-supporting, full-time vocational or college undergraduate student could reduce his 1978 federal income tax by 50 percent of the first $500 of tuition and fees paid for the 1978-1979 school year. The credit would go to the parents if they support the student.

On Aug. 1, 1980, the credit would rise to half the first $1,000 of tuition and fees and

O'Donnell School OKed

O'DONNELL — Voters approved a $1.2 million bond issue to rebuild the high school in a resounding three-to-one vote.

The bond election passed with 284 for it and 82 against the issue.

The 51-year-old structure will be torn down saving salvagable items and a new high school, gymnasium and auditorium constructed with remodeling at the junior high and enclosing and remodeling parts of the elementary schools.

Work is expected to begin by May 1 with elementary school work first since it is outside work. When school is dismissed, the work on the high school will begin.

become available to offset tuition payments to elementary and secondary schools. On Aug. 1, 1981, the credit would be extended to graduate and part-time students.

The credit also would be available to those students or families who are so poor that they owe no income tax.

Because it seeks to aid parents of parochial school pupils, the proposed tax credit almost certainly would face a court test should it become law.

Past efforts to enact a tuition tax credit have been blocked by House Democrats viewing the system as complicated and wasteful because it is not based on need.

Carter's alternative, as approved in subcommittee, would tailor grants more closely to need. For example, the student from a typical four-member $15,000 family would get $1,020 while a student from a $25,000 family would get only $250.

Four beaten to death With baseball bat

NEW YORK (AP) — On the outside, the Robert Rowes' home was a stately example of the American dream — a white shingled, split level $80,000 house with manicured lawn. Inside, neighbors say, it was a cauldron of conflict, where the spectre of failure haunted everything.

The neighbors heard nothing early Wednesday morning when Mary Rowe, 46, and her three children — Robert Jr., 14, Christopher, 12, and Jennifer, 7, — were beaten to death with a baseball bat allegedly wielded by Robert Rowe, 48.

Police found him sitting by the kitchen stove with the gas running after neighbors reported the odor of gas. Officers took Rowe to a hospital where he was expected to remain until his arraignment on murder charges. He was reported in fair condition.

According to neighbors, Rowe, a lawyer, had been unemployed for some time. Several years ago he was hospitalized after suffering a nervous collapse. He found himself unable to hang onto jobs, working for an insurance company and as a cab driver before he and his wife decided that he should run the house and she should go to work.

"This was a tragic case of role reversal. Bob was from the old school. He hated being home while Mary worked. He was not living up to his self image," said Lisa Shaw, a neighbor and co-owner of the fuel oil company where Mrs. Rowe worked as a secretary.

Robert Jr. suffered from a debilitating hip ailment. Christopher was born retarded, deaf, mute and blind from a genetic birth defect. The youngest child, Jennifer, was adopted because the Rowes feared having another impaired child.

The Rowes were determined to raise Christopher themselves, even though he required round-the-clock care. They were regarded as model parents and sometimes lectured on handling the handicapped.

Several years ago, while trying to determine whether Christopher's ailment was genetic, Rowe learned from his mother that she had given birth to a son who had to be institutionalized from birth.

Rowe and his mother had a bitter argument, and she cut him out of her will shortly before her death about two years ago.

Police say Rowe slipped into the children's bedrooms before they awoke Wednesday.

Robert Jr. was found in his bed, covered with a comforter, with his face and forehead bashed in.

Christopher and Jennifer, who shared a room, were found dead in their beds. Blood was splattered over the bedclothes, headboards, furniture and walls.

Mrs. Rowe probably never knew her children were dead, officers said. She was found on the living room floor dressed as though she had been on her way to work.

Mrs. Shaw said Rowe called her Wednesday morning to say his wife would not be in that day. "He asked me not to bother her during the day," she said.

More on 'Old Memo'

Like a speeding olive pit screaming forth from one of Werrill's martinis, a thought hit me a couple of weeks ago which gave a glimmer of hope for the renovation of the track at Memorial Stadium.

As in most speeding olive pits, however, once this thought hit the wall, it didn't bounce very far.

You see, I thought perhaps some of the $4.3 million in Economic Development Administration funds that the city is getting to negate the effects of the Webb closure could be allotted for the crumbling facility.

That's what I get for thinking. That money is going mainly to remodel the facilities at the base, and to upgrade the water-sewage thing-a-majigs throughout the city.

City Manager Harry Nagel assured me that the city has nothing to do with the stadium.

The stadium belongs to the school district, even though it limps around on the campus of Howard College. A remodeling of the ancient structure would benefit both.

Howard College is just about to complete (knock on wood) one of the nicest-looking coliseums in West Texas. Don't look to the east of it, however.

CREAK! CREAK!
No change since this '44 pic

"Oh George," I can hear a visitor from out-of-town saying right now, "isn't that a lovely, lovely coliseum?"

"Yeah," her husband answers, "but you better not sit in that stadium over there, you'll get a butt full of splinters."

Splinters, I can live with. The local athletes are not going to be able to live with the track surface, however... especially if there's a spring shower. And the 5-4A district tracksters sure aren't going to be able to see when the 1979 track meet continues into the darkness of night.

I don't know why Cruz Rodriguez didn't get "Man of the Year." He's a miracle-worker keeping that place in as good a shape as humanly possible.

I can just imagine what kind of job the caretaker could do if he had something to work out of there. It'd give me a nervous breakdown, especially if the skies clouded up the day before a meet.

Jerry Foresyth, assistant city manager, Big Spring Quarterback Club co-captain and all-around local sports supporter, admitted that the number one priority in "fixing up" the stadium would be the track. Improving the lights is number two.

Since there isn't any money available from philanthropic trust funds (they've given plenty already, folks), and since a city bond election would go over like a blimp full of old Edsels, the remaining solution may be the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation.

According to Foresyth, the school district could get a 50-50 grant. They raise half of the money needed for the improvements and the feds would hand over the other half.

"We haven't figured out how to do that yet," said Foresyth. The School Board hasn't been approached with this idea yet, the matter of funding, that is, but Foresyth hinted that various clubs and organizations throughout the city could offer help.

We're talking about approximately $50,000 here. Don't ask me how to raise it. I have trouble enough finding empty coke bottles under the sink.

I'm just the squeaky wheel. Grease me. Grease me. (To be continued.)

BATTILING THE WEATHER

Ex-Steer pitcher Dick Battle and his team of Lubbock Christian Chaparrals finally played their home opener Thursday afternoon.

The Chaps had already lost eight games due to the frosty weather conditions, and Coach Larry Hays says "we're about as ready to play as the man in the moon."

Battle will start on the mound Saturday against the University of Texas. The former local mound-master and his pitching compadres have been luckier than the rest of the team. He's been able to use a dirt mound so far and his coach figures his arm strength should be okay.

The rest of the team has been doing everything else indoors. Battle and his LCC mates have a battle in store for them with the Longhorns. UT is currently 5-1 and has bombed Texas Wesleyan 7-0 and 6-3.

By the way, one of Battle's pitching colleagues is a freshman named Richard Nixon. Hmmm. Hope all the athletic "tape" doesn't disappear.

REMARKABILITIES

"I remember one time I was playing defensive back and was out of position. But I intercepted a pass and ran it back for a touchdown. All Landry would say to me was, 'You were out of position.' The next year they moved me to offense." — FRANK GIFFORD, of days with the New York Giants when Tom Landry was defensive aide.

"The guy (Washington) is a criminal...and he belongs behind bars. If he did to me what he did to Rudy, I'd go out and get the biggest gun possible and shoot him." — MIKE NEWLIN, Houston Rocket on Kermit Washington's injury to teammate Rudy Tomjanovich.

Jacobs tops Stones' mark

NEW YORK (AP) — Just like young Leon Spinks did to Muhammad Ali, young Franklin Jacobs took away Dwight Stones' title.

And just like Spinks praised Ali after dethroning the longtime heavyweight champion, Jacobs has not lost sight of the impact Stones has had on track and field, and the high jump, in particular.

"He's the Muhammad Ali of track," Jacobs said of Stones, as he prepared for tonight's National AAU Indoor Track and Field Championships. "He's good for the sport because he has brought public attention to the high jump."

"He's been on top for six years," added Jacobs, the Fairleigh Dickinson University sophomore who set the indoor high jump record last month with a leap of 7 feet, 7 1/2 inches. "It's tough to stay on top for that long, and I admire him for that."

After Jacobs broke the mark, Stones severely criticized his "Jacobs Slope" style of jumping, contending it was unorthodox. But since then, the 6-5 Stones, who towers over the 5-8 Jacobs, has softened his approach to his No. 1 rival.

"The media have been trying to build up a feud between Franklin and me,"

Forsan enters Region tourney

FORSAN — Bi-district champions Forsan, 26-2 on the season, will meet Ropesville, 22-7, tonight at 9 o'clock in the Texas Dome on the campus of South Plains College in Levelland.

If Forsan wins, they will play a second round game at 11 a.m. Saturday. Both the Buffs and Ropesville will be members of District-5-A next season.

Queens win first championship

SNYDER — "It's a beautiful day isn't it?" Hawk Queen Coach Don Stevens announced over the telephone this morning Stevens had every reason to be full of spring in February, because his crew of superlative athletes "won the big one" Thursday night, a 71-61 decision over arch-rival Western Texas.

The Queens held a scant 28-26 lead at halftime, and according to Stevens, the contest was extremely close until the final 10 minutes of play.

That's when Stevens gambled on a press that the WTC feds hadn't seen before from the Queens. "They panicked," said Stevens, "and we outscored them 31-21 from then on."

In that final flurry, sophomore Tami Edwards (30 total points) hit 14 points, and the Queens as a team sunk eight of 10 free throws. Edwards (4 of 4) and Jan Phillips (6 of 6) were perfect from the gratis stripe.

The win gave Howard College its first-ever women's basketball championship, and ended regular season play for the Queens with a 25-5 yearly slate and an unmatched 10-2 record in conference. South Plains finished second to HC with a 9-3 record, and Western Texas ended in third position with an 8-4 accounting.

"Last September, we set the championship as our goal," said Stevens.

The Queens now enter the Region V tournament to be held in Abilene. Seeded number one, the locals open competition Monday at 4 p.m. against 8th-seeded Ranger.

"There are six teams that could win that tournament," Stevens explained. "Amarillo, Western Texas, South Plains, Clarendon, McClellan and us. Anything can happen in a tournament."

Stevens went on to say that the Queens were ready for the tourney:

"I feel very good about the tournament, because we are a tournament team," he said. "We played very well in the Houston and Angelo tourneys and we're just a tournament-playing team. Some teams are, some aren't. We are."

If the locals survive the eight-team field in Abilene, they will advance to the Women's National Basketball Tournament to be held March 13-18 in Overland Park, Kansas.

SECTION B

Hawks bombed, 115-84

By DANNY REAGAN

SNYDER — Snyder is a nice place to visit, but I wouldn't want to spend a second half there.

That could well be the sentiments of the Howard College Hawks today after a 115-84 beating at the hands of Western Texas Thursday night, all of which took place in the second half.

"After the game I told our guys I was proud of the way they played," said Head Coach Harold Wilder. "They won the game they had to, and last night's defeat doesn't detract from the way they've played recently."

The Hawks had won four out of four games prior to Thursday night, and had clinched a playoff berth. With the Clarendon loss to Amarillo, HC captured sole possession of fifth place in the close-knit Western Junior College Athletic Conference.

The fifth place finish sets up a most-probable meeting with Ranger College or ex-Hawk mentor Buddy Travis' Grayson crew to decide which team travels to next week's Region V tournament in Abilene. The "power point" situation favors Ranger. Both teams are tied at 7-6 with one game to go.

The winner of that game would meet the Northern Junior College Athletic Conference champion in opening round action of Region V. HC has drawn the NJCAC champion the past two years for their initial Regional V battles, and this year would be the third.

Thursday night, both teams enjoyed a well-played first half. The score was knotted at the end of the first frame, and at intermission stood at 47-47.

The second half was a different story. Western Texas took the lead right out of the chute and never relinquished it.

"They were really keeping the pressure on us," said Wilder. "We were working hard to get back on the fast break, and they just finally wore us down." Blessed with extreme depth, the Westerners substituted freely and stayed fresher than an HC squad that had already played two tough ballgames this week.

Russell Sublet led the Hawks with 23 points, Joe "El Jaws" Cooper followed with 19 and flashy Tennessee freshman Robby Randolph added 18 more. Sophomore Johnny James was a demon on the backboards.

The date of HC's playoff game with Ranger or Grayson is undetermined as yet. Wilder is hoping for a Monday meeting, however.

UCLA wins Pac-8

By the Associated Press

In the Pacific-8 Conference, nobody does it better than the UCLA Bruins.

Since the early 1960s, the Bruins have been the evergreens of that Far West league and Thursday night, another Pac-8 basketball race came to the end of the trail with the inevitable conclusion.

A 96-58 rout of flu-stricken Oregon State provided the mighty Bruins with their 12th straight conference title and their 15th in the last 16 years. The only time they have missed was in the 1965-66 season.

"I'm very, very elated to win the Pac-8 title," said UCLA's Gary Cunningham, a protege of the legendary John Wooden and a winner in his first season as head coach. "We played an excellent game and had a lot of respect for OSU. I'm sure the flu hurt them."

David Greenwood's 23 points and a blinding fast break were obvious pluses for the Bruins, but Cunningham underscored defense as the key for his team.

Sands Fillies win district

LAMESA — The Sands girls team surprised quite a few folks Thursday night when they defeated Klondike, 53-47, to take the District 9-B crown. The Fillies, finishing 12-1 in district and 31-3 on the year, will now meet the Forsan Queens Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Lamesa's Middle gym in their bi-district clash.

Susan Martin paced the Fillies with 24 points. She was followed by Jill Floyd with 22 and Jodie Kemper with seven. Jeanine Bradford and Paige Echols hit 23 and 12, respectively, for Klondike.

Sands guards Susie Brasher, Tami Nichols and Leslie Guitlar had superlative defensive efforts, according to Coach Stan Pulliam, and reserve Jana Long performed excellently when Brasher and Nichols fouled out.

Klondike finished the 1978 season with a 26-6 overall reading and an 11-2 record in district. In the past two seasons, the Sands feds have only lost five games in 68 starts.

McEachern reinjures knee

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas quarterback Randy McEachern reinjured his knee in non-contact spring warmups Wednesday.

"Randy's knee buckled when he dropped back to pass," said Coach Fred Akers. "It's a shame. He was just getting over an ankle he hurt in a (charity) basketball game."

McEachern, who will be a fifth-year senior in the fall, hurt the same knee in the Houston game last year. He guided Texas to an 11-1 record and high national ranking after starting the 1977 season as the No. 3 quarterback. Injuries cut down Texas' top two quarterbacks in the Oklahoma game and McEachern moved up.

Texas still has six quarterbacks out for spring practice.

Lemons gives team rest

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Coach Abe Lemons of Texas has rewarded his players for winning a share of the Southwest Conference basketball title by giving them four days off from practice.

Texas, ranked No. 14 in the nation, defeated Southern Methodist, 82-74, Tuesday night to tie Arkansas for the SWC championship. Both have 14-2 conference records.

The victory gave Texas an automatic spot in the SWC tournament finals at Houston March 4.

While his players rest, Lemons will be recruiting. Texas won 22 and lost 4 during the season, averaging 83.7 points a game, the highest single season scoring average in school history.

UT thinclads reffaced

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Longhorns, embarrassed by their poor showing at the recent Southwest Conference indoor track and field meet, open their outdoor season Saturday in a three-way meet here with North Texas State and Texas Christian.

Olympic sprinter Johnny "Lam" Jones is still recovering from a leg injury sustained in the Jan. 2 Cotton Bowl, however, and will not run.

Texas garnered only 38 points at the SWC meet in Fort Worth and finished sixth. Houston won the meet with 93 points.

"We were embarrassed," said Coach Cleburne Price.

'Stop! I'm a marathoner!'

NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP) — The man shouted at them to stop, but the two youngsters carrying stereo equipment from an apartment ignored the order and ran. They didn't know the futility of their dash.

The man screaming at them was Amby Burfoot, winner of the 1968 Boston Marathon.

The 31-year-old Burfoot was watching his baby while his wife jogged with the family dog. He heard a noise in the vacant apartment downstairs and gave chase when he saw the youngsters.

Speeding through snowdrifts and back yards and over fences, Burfoot caught one youngster who showed police the way to two others.

"I kept screaming I'd catch them," said Burfoot. "Fortunately, he was more scared than I was."

Teenage boxer dies

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A 16-year-old boxer in Memphis's Golden Gloves championships collapsed in the ring Thursday night and died while doctors worked to revive him.

Michael Flynn was in the final round of his three-round bout when his arms dropped to his sides and he fell over backwards, fight officials said.

"If the kid had any medical problem, he kept it to himself," Rod Cardone, timekeeper of the fights at the Mid-South Fairgrounds, said. "If you've got the chance to fight for the Golden Gloves and it's what you've been training for, most of these kids wouldn't say a thing about being sick. He was a gutsy kid."

"He was winning the fight," Cardone added.

Jones leads pack in $250,000 Gleason classic

LAUDERHILL, Fla. (AP) — Grier Jones says he's just beginning to find the winning touch at the Jackie Gleason Invitational Classic. Unfortunately for Jones, Jack Nicklaus says the same thing.

Jones shot a 5-under-par 67 Thursday in the opening round of the $250,000 Gleason Classic to take a 2-stroke lead over a group of eight that included Fuzzy Zoeller, Bob Shearer, Danny Edwards, Andy Bean, Kermit Zarley, Hale Irwin, Gibby Gilbert and Steve Melnyk.

Nicklaus, who won the $50,000 first prize here last year, heads a group of 11 that were 3 strokes behind at 71. The others were Barry Jaeckel, Lynn Lott, Dave Eichelberger, Don January, Pat McGowan, Bob Gilder, Tom Jenkins, Gary Wintz and Tim Simpson.

"It's been cold and I haven't had much touch," said Jones, whose highest finish in five tournaments this year was a tie for sixth in the San Diego Open. "But I have been playing pretty well."

Jones, who makes his home in Wichita, Kan., spent December with his wife, Jane and five children who range in age from 9 down to 2.

"The last few years, I haven't gotten out of Kansas soon enough," he said. "When my children were real young, they traveled with us and I used to play real well in California. Now Christmas time is tough for me to leave. The tournaments start the 4th or 5th of January and I've been a month and a half without playing at all."

"I just don't have much touch around the green," he continued. "I'm scoring well, like making a 72 but it should have been a 68. Or you shoot a 75 and it should have been a 72."

Nicklaus shot a 36-34-70 round and called it awful. "I never seemed to get the ball very close to the hole," he said. "I seemed to struggle most of the way. I played too many bad shots. I was fortunate to hole a couple of long putts to stay in the ballgame, you might say."

The cut was to be made after today's round with the low 70 and ties going on to play Saturday and Sunday.

"It's been cold and I haven't had much touch," said Jones, whose highest finish in five tournaments this year was a tie for sixth in the San Diego Open. "But I have been playing pretty well."

Jones, who makes his home in Wichita, Kan., spent December with his wife, Jane and five children who range in age from 9 down to 2.

Ali's destiny to retire champ?

By the Associated Press

Muhammad Ali is one man on the public stage, another in the ring and still another when he closes the door and enters his own privacy, insists one of the deposed champion's closest aides.

"It's the private Ali I know best," says Gene Kilroy, who has been an advisor in the Ali camp since 1970. "It's the Ali few really know — shy, humble, sincere, a person who loves all people, black or white, rich or poor, especially the little people, the 'down-and-out' and the 'have-nots.'"

"He has so much dignity. A man like this is not made; he is born."

Kilroy said he has been disturbed by recurring rumors after Ali's recent loss to Leon Spinks that Ali was financially broke, had lost all his skills and never would dare fight again.

SWC will choose radio network

DALLAS (AP) — The Texas State Network has had its day in court and its chance to pitch the Southwest Conference for football broadcast rights. Now the conference will decide between TSN and the Mutual Broadcasting System.

TSN had obtained a temporary restraining order against the conference, which had announced tentative agreement with Mutual. The Texas network had claimed it was denied an equal opportunity to present a proposal to all nine SWC faculty representatives.

Last Friday the representatives heard the TSN bid, and the Texas network asked Wednesday that the restraining order against the conference be lifted.

That move clears the way for the conference to sign a contract with either TSN or Mutual.

Most observers report that the TSN offer includes more money than Mutual, but that Mutual's strong point is the fact that it can offer national exposure to the conference.

Faculty athletic representatives will meet in Houston next week, and it's likely they will announce their broadcast rights decision then.

"He will fight again," Kilroy predicted. "He will fight Spinks, become the first heavyweight to win the title three times and then will retire. It is his destiny to retire as champion."

At the suggestion that Ali had led $25 to $40 million slip through his fingers and didn't know where his next nickel was coming from Kilroy scoffed:

"Broke? How ridiculous! How could he be broke? He's the only man I know who can pick up $5 million just like that by signing a piece of paper. He has made more millionaires than anybody who ever lived — promoters, fighters, managers. Every time he fights he stirs the country's economy."

Kilroy, a bushy-haired 35-year-old bachelor out of Mahanoy, Pa., once the marketing "boy genius" of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, met Ali in New York's Stage Deli when Ali was appearing on Broadway in "Good Time Buck White." Ali asked Gene to join him. Since then he has been sort of the ex-champion's choreographer — traveling the world with him, setting up public appearances and counseling on some ventures.

Kilroy is white. "People say Ali dislikes the white man," Kilroy says. "What about me?"

Kilroy quoted Shakespeare to say that, to Muhammad,

"all the world is a stage and all the men and women merely players."

"When he attacks an opponent before a big fight, when he gets loud and bombastic, he is selling tickets," Kilroy said.

(AP WIREPHOTO) ADVISOR SAYS ALI WILL FIGHT AGAIN! — Gene Kilroy, who has been an advisor in the Ali camp since 1970, is shown with Muhammad Ali recently. Kilroy predicts that Ali will fight again: "He will fight Spinks, become the first heavyweight to win the title three times and then will retire," Kilroy says, adding: "It is his destiny to retire as champion."

NCAA enforcement practices to be eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The public congressional hearings into intercollegiate athletics beginning next week will center on the enforcement practices of the National Collegiate Athletic Association but most likely will expand to include a probe of the entire organization.

The House subcommittee on oversight and investigation, under the chairmanship of Rep. John Moss, D-Calif., began its study last fall shortly after the University of Nevada-Las Vegas, was penalized by the NCAA for alleged illegal practices.

The public hearings are expected to continue through March and April as the committee attempts to decide whether the NCAA violates antitrust laws, whether penalties assessed against member colleges — and their coaches and athletes — are fair and whether the association provides due process in its investigations and penalties.

The NCAA, the major governing body of intercollegiate athletics, grew out of a meeting in 1905 between a small group of colleges and President Theodore Roosevelt for the purpose of reforming the rules of football.

The NCAA has 844 members, of which 736 are educational institutions, including 718 four-year colleges or universities. Most of the others are athletic colleges.

NCAA member institutions own athletic facilities valued at more than $5 billion, according to projected published figures. They employ tens of thousands of coaches, administrators and other athletic department personnel.

The NCAA policy is formulated by a number of committees that meet throughout the year. Legislation is enacted at the annual convention, generally held in January — the last was held a month ago in Atlanta. A number of ongoing services in support of the goals voted by the members are provided by a full-time NCAA staff of about 65, headquartered in Shawnee Mission, Kan., with Walter Byers as executive director.

The governing body and final authority of the NCAA is its annual convention, at which each of the 718 active members and 67 allied members are entitled to one voting delegate.

The 18-member NCAA Council, elected at the convention, is responsible for general policy between conventions.

Among its various duties, the NCAA is responsible for interpretation and enforcement of legislation enacted by the membership.

Thirty years ago, the membership passed a "sanity code" and six years later created what now is the enforcement division, responsible for enforcing NCAA rules and regulations, investigating possible violations and prosecuting alleged violators before the committee on infractions and the NCAA Council, the adjudicating and appellate bodies.

The enforcement staff of 12 now includes eight full-time enforcement representatives. Six have been added since 1974 in an effort to beef up and speed up the enforcement process, and see that it is applied evenly.

"It's conceivable that some violations previously were not investigated until they became so old it didn't seem productive to investigate," said Tom Hansen, an NCAA assistant executive director. "Now, I think everyone feels the manpower is there and doing the job."

The staff makes preliminary investigation of all suspected infractions culled from tips, reports by individuals and institutions, newspaper and magazine articles, spinoffs from other investigations and various other sources. If it decides an official inquiry is warranted, the institution involved is notified and asked to cooperate in a full investigation.

The staff investigates and prosecutes during a hearing before the five-man Committee on Infractions, which rules on each charge and imposes the sanctions it deems appropriate. The NCAA Council hears appeals and may accept the committee's findings and penalties or alter either or both.

In most cases the council upholds the Committee on Infractions, which currently includes chairman Arthur Reynolds, dean of the graduate school at the University of Northern Colorado; Dr. John Sawyer, professor of mathematics and computer science at Wake Forest University; Henry Frost, professor at law at the University of Texas; William Matthews Jr., professor of law at the University of Kentucky and Charles Alan Wright, professor of law at the University of Texas.

The NCAA has been taken to court numerous times — sometimes by individuals, other times by member institutions — in cases arising from recruiting and eligibility infractions. It has lost frequently in local courts, but never has lost in the final determination of a case involving recruiting violations or illegal payments to athletes — a record the NCAA is extremely proud of and which it displayed on page one of its convention newsletter last month.

UN salaries raised

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The United States doesn't like it, and neither does the Soviet Union, but soon 75 officials of the United Nations will be making more than $75,000 a year. That's more than the salaries of Vice President Walter Mondale or Chief Justice Warren Burger.

Ignoring demands for belt-tightening from the United States, which pays more of the U.N. costs than any other member, the world organization has promoted six assistant secretaries-general to the rank of undersecretary-general. Their new titles carry raises of $10,000, making their annual salaries about $86,000.

In addition, a new "super" undersecretary-general will be named in a few weeks to oversee all the economic problems of the world. His salary: $99,350. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim gets $110,650, not counting benefits and other allowances.

The latest round of "reclassifications" brings to 35 the number of U.N. officials making more than $85,000 a year and to 75 those making over $75,000. Among the 75 are nine Americans — five assistant secretaries-general, three undersecretaries-general and one head of a specialized agency.

By contrast, U.S. cabinet chiefs make $60,000. But their stay in government is usually a temporary interlude and is often preceded and followed by much more lucrative employment in the business world.

Among the professional politicians, West German cabinet ministers are the highest paid in the world at $73,300 a year. France pays its government ministers $52,250.

The United States, which foots 25 percent of the U.N. budget, has consistently opposed enlargement of the upper echelons of the U.N. civil service. Rep. Lester L. Wolff of New York, a Democratic member of the House Committee on International Relations, has warned that the United States might consider voting against future U.N. budgets unless salaries are kept "in line."

Yury E. Fokine, a minister in charge of financial affairs in the Soviet Mission, agrees that U.N. salaries are "unjustifiably high."

"These reclassifications do not mean the high officials have acquired new functions or responsibilities," he said. "They are just promotions for the sake of promotions — higher positions and more money."

The Soviet Union is the second biggest U.N. contributor, paying 13.5 percent of the budget.

A principle inherited from the League of Nations states that to attract qualified people, U.N. officials should make as much as the highest paid civil servants in the world, the Americans.

A U.S. official said while salaries at the middle and lower level of U.N. officialdom correspond roughly to the U.S. government's scale, those at the upper levels are "way out of line."

They call it Patricia

with Marj Carpenter

They call it Patricia because they didn't want to call it Natalie. Now that makes sense, doesn't it?

Patricia is located in southwest Dawson County 13 miles out of Lamesa headed toward Andrews.

You turn right there suddenly, almost at a right angle, and take off in another direction. It was established in 1923 as headquarters for the Birge-Forbes Land Company.

The company had eight leagues of land and were selling it off to farmers in small tracts. The old book of weights and measurements says that three land miles is a league.

A. C. Latson operated a post office and a general store. Before they were assigned the post office, Latson picked up the mail for the community in Lamesa and brought it out to the new community which was originally named Natalie, but nobody can remember why.

When they suggested the name of Natalie to the Post Office Department it was denied, because there was already a Natalie.

So Patricia was accepted. It was actually named for Patricia Hopkins, who never lived there, but instead lived over in Sherman (Texas — not Georgia).

Patricia Hopkins was the granddaughter of Nat Birge, who originally owned the land. Which was a sufficient reason to name the town for her. But who was Natalie?

Some of the early purchasers of that land included the late M.M. Brown, the late Uncle Tom Applegate and the Bruces — S.P., Earl and Sid.

Once upon a time, according to the memory of Iris Gandy — who moved to the area about 1936, there were four grocery stores, a motel owned by Latson, and a rooming house. The motel later burned.

There was a school which consolidated with Klondike around 1937. There are still two large cotton gins, and a blacksmith shop belonging to Wren Beam. On down the road are Newcomer's Butane and a service station.

Donnell Echols is living proof that no matter how small the town, you can become well known in your field. I don't mean that as a pun because he works in cotton "fields" and also runs one of the gins.

But he is on the National Cotton Council and is known nationwide for his knowledge of cotton. This sometimes causes him to have to spend a lot of time at meetings from the local to the national level.

And when it gets into severe cotton problems, I don't know that he's that happy over being knowledgeable.

Even without a school or church, the settlement of Patricia has survived a little better than many of the outlying "used-to-be" locations.

The reason is that for years and years, there have been good cotton gins in Patricia — and whenever there are cotton gins in a heavy growing area, there will remain some type of settlement.

And so it is — out at Patricia — that used to be Natalie — at the bend of the road, where you turn while out ridin' fence.

Park money for five Texas towns approved

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe announced Thursday that park projects have been approved for Georgetown, Mulleshoe, Missouri City, Seabrook and Clear Lake in Harris County.

The projects include: —$261,000 to buy two acres and develop the Georgetown Swimming Pool Site. —$22,360 for developing three city parks in Mulleshoe —$147,400 to acquire one acre for the Missouri City Park.

—$321,000 to buy 3.6 acres to develop Baybrook Park and to develop Missouri City and Mulleshoe parks in Seabrook. —$601,000 to buy 100 acres for the Clear Lake Park.

Home insurance rates debated

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — State Insurance Board Chairman Hugh Yantis says he isn't satisfied with a staff recommendation that homeowners' rates should rise 13.1 percent.

Yantis made the remark Thursday following the conclusion of the board's two-day hearing on property insurance matters.

He also announced that he was dropping his suggestion, made Wednesday, that the board conduct informal "seminars" around the state to get "grassroots" opinion on home insurance rates.

Yantis said there were legal complications under the state's administrative procedures act.

More than that, he said, "given the emotional nature of it (home insurance costs), the complex nature of it, it would probably be unwise to start with this issue."

The chairman was known to have said privately that he also felt it would be wise to avoid "grassroots" hearings at this time because he "didn't want it to get tied up in politics."

Former chairman Joe Christie, a U. S. Senate candidate, already has asserted the board should suspend consideration of property insurance rates indefinitely.

Yantis said, however, he remains convinced that the board should get out of Austin to obtain public sentiment on various insurance matters.

The chairman said that before the board votes on home insurance rates, "I want the staff to seek a recommendation that means for a smaller increase."

"I think there are more judgment decisions in it than the staff realizes or has educated us on," he said.

"I'd like to pick the lowest number we can pick," Yantis added.

Yantis, an engineer, said he believed he understood mathematics well enough to make intelligent judgments on the formulas and methods used by board actuaries in making rate recommendations.

He also said the board probably would take its time in evaluating a proposal by insurance agents that the board approve coverage that would pay the full replacement cost of household items lost in fires and other catastrophes.

Such items currently are depreciated — often heavily — before insurance companies will pay for their loss.

Agents say the additional cost of full replacement coverage averages $15 to $20 a year in states where it is authorized.

Yantis said insurance companies opposed the recommendation.

"There is some considerable indecision as to whether it is wise. I don't think that is one that will be scheduled for quick approval," he said.

Suspended Potter County Attorney returns to work

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — Suspended Potter County Attorney Kerry Knorpp, who faces felony theft charges, has returned to work while the location of his upcoming theft trial remains uncertain.

State District Judge Arthur Tipps of Wichita Falls recessed a change of venue hearing Wednesday and said he hoped to hear today from State District Judge John McFall of Lubbock on whether the trial could be held there.

Knorpp was reinstated in his job Thursday following a four-month suspension with pay. The reinstatement came after Tipps denied a motion here Wednesday for a new trial of a civil suit to remove Knorpp.

A civil jury here cleared Knorpp in January of 24 allegations of misapplication of county money. But he still faces criminal trial in connection with similar allegations.

The prosecution has been attempting to get the trial moved to another town. Tipps said he would resume the hearing here if no Lubbock judge would agree to hold the trial.

Knorpp does not want a change of venue, but his lawyers, who live in Lubbock, said they would not oppose a move if it is to Lubbock.

America's cities must do more to clean up air

WASHINGTON (AP) — America's cities must do more to clean up the air around them because most of them still do not meet national air pollution standards, the Environmental Protection Agency says.

The EPA said in a report Thursday that although the air residents of the country's major urban areas breathe is cleaner than it was eight years ago, it still does not meet federal guidelines.

EPA Administrator Douglas Costle said the agency would allow states "all the flexibility the law allows in meeting their clean air goals."

He added, however, that urban centers "must develop new strategies for continuing their progress towards meeting national air pollution standards."

The EPA report said three major metropolitan areas — Chicago-Northwest Indiana, Los Angeles-Long Beach in California, and Aurora-Elgin in Illinois — failed to meet federal standards on all five pollutants tested.

Among metropolitan areas, only Honolulu, Hawaii was not found in violation of any of the federal standards.

The EPA findings were based on a survey of five individual pollutants measured to determine air quality. The five are: photochemical oxidants (smog), particulates (dust, soot, sand and smoke), sulphur dioxide, carbon monoxide and nitrogen dioxide. Smog and carbon monoxide are pollutants caused primarily by automobiles.

If you grow sorghum on sandy soils, it's time you tried Igran.

Because Igran® is the sorghum herbicide that really fits the sandy soil conditions in the South High Plains and South Rolling Plains.

And because it fits, Igran is easier to use. There's no guesswork or experimenting with rates. Just follow the label directions.

Then watch your sorghum come through clean and healthy. Because Igran controls those tough broadleaf weeds like carelessweed and annual morning glory. Controls them early, before they have a chance to rob your crop of vital soil moisture and nutrients.

Igran. Once you try it, you'll keep on using it. Because now you've got a sorghum herbicide that really fits your sandy soil conditions.

BRUSH TIPPER — Arlys Scott holds up the watercolor painting which won her the "Tipping of Brush" honor at the Big Spring Art Association's last meeting. Behind her, on display at Westex Printing where she is employed, are other examples of her work. She and fellow association members will be holding their yearly membership show, open to the public, this weekend.

Art Association displays work at membership show

By EILEEN McGUIRE
Arlys Scott, three-year member of the Big Spring Art Association, won the "Tipping of the Brush" award at the association's Feb. 21 meeting.

Carol Strong's watercolor "Windmill in Winter" and Ruth Sweet's oil painting of "The Potton House" tied for runner-up.

According to Mrs. Scott's artist husband, Al, to receive the award is quite an honor because it's a vote of confidence from fellow artists.

She will be entering her painting, a watercolor landscape, in the Art Association's yearly membership show which will be open to the public tomorrow, from 1 to 5 p.m., and Sunday from 1 to 4:30 p.m., at the Hunt Library at Howard College.

The purpose of the show is part of the association's overall goal "to advance interest in art in Big Spring and vicinity and to promote public recognition and appreciation of art in the community."

Up to three entries per member at $2 per entry will be received at the library from 2 to 5 p.m. today. Judging will be done Saturday morning by Snyder artist Rosa Lee McGlaun and ribbons will be awarded in all categories which includes watercolor, oil, acrylic, pastel, graphics and mixed media in both professional and non-professional divisions.

All entries must be picked up between 4:30 and 5 p.m. Sunday.

The public is invited to come out to the show, enjoy the displays and meet the artists who created them.

Mrs. Scott is typical of those who find painting a great way to relax. She works full-time at Westex Printing yet still finds time for her favorite pastime.

"If you really want to do something, you find the time for it," she said. "My husband and I do it at night, on weekends, and we take painting vacations. Someday, I'd like to retire and be free to paint whenever the urge hits me." She's sold some of her work, but like all true artists, Mrs. Scott's greatest reward is the feeling of creative satisfaction her painting gives her. Being chosen for the "Tipping of the Brush" honor gave her that same feeling because she was chosen by her peers.

"It's quite a compliment," she said, "because I was chosen by a group of people, fellow artists, and artists are usually the best art critics."

With renewed confidence, Mrs. Scott continues her creative endeavors in the world of oil, watercolor and acrylic. Come and see her work and the work of association members this weekend.

Thinks Wife Unfit To Raise Their Son

DEAR ABBY: After being married for 19 years to the only woman I ever loved, God took her from me. We had always wanted a child, but she couldn't have any.

A year later I married a girl to give her child a name. Goldie was 18 and I was 41. She never tried to fool me. She told me right away that she was carrying another man's child. She was sweet, very shy and beautiful in my eyes, and I learned to love her.

I was looking forward to being a father but God didn't will it because the baby was born dead.

To make a long story short, I found out that the baby I had wanted so much belonged to her own father! That's not all, Abby. That was the SECOND baby she had had by him. (She gave the first one away.)

Here's the problem. Goldie and I now have a healthy baby boy of our own who means the world to me, but since I found out about the two babies she had by her own father I can't stand the sight of her!

If I kick her out, she'll take my son with her, and I'd rather see him dead than raised by a slut like her.

Please tell me what to do. I'm too ashamed to talk to my priest.

BROKENHEARTED

DEAR BROKENHEARTED: It's unfair to blame Goldie for having been impregnated by her father. She was the victim, not the guilty party. Talk to your priest and get some professional counseling. You need to sort out your thoughts in order to view the situation fairly and objectively.

There is no reason to give up your son or your marriage. I recommend counseling for Goldie, too. The poor woman has obviously suffered a great deal. She needs compassion—not condemnation. Please try to save your marriage. And write again to let me know your decision. I care.

DEAR ABBY: Should a teen-age girl accept a blind date with a fellow who calls her up and says he has "seen her somewhere," but she doesn't know anything about him? How about when someone she knows calls and asks her to accept a date with a third party? He could be real neat, but he could also be a creep. Is there some rule a girl can go by?

TROUBLED TEEN

DEAR TEEN: If a boy calls and says he has "seen" you, unless you can check him out with a mutual friend, skip him. If someone you know calls, wanting to arrange a blind date, consider the go-between. If he's a solid citizen, say yes. (It's only a date, not a year's contract.) Don't put him through the third degree asking, "How tall is he, and what color eyes does he have?" Chances are the guy is standing right by the phone listening to every word you say, so play it cool and you'll make points for being a good sport.

DEAR ABBY: We want very much to get married. He's 70 and I am 68. We each have property in our own names and we don't want to change the ownership. We also don't want to change our property deeds.

I want everything I leave after I die to go to my children, and he wants everything he has to go to his. We are both financially well off, so there is no problem there.

If we have to go to a nursing home, each wants to be responsible for his own keep there or at a hospital. We each have our own insurance.

Each wants to keep the interest from his money, and each wants to keep his own Social Security.

Is this possible if we marry? If so, how? There is too much red tape to make the usual name changes on property, deeds, insurance, etc.

Our children agree with us. Can you help us?

IOWA PROBLEM

DEAR PROBLEM: Retain a lawyer and explain exactly what you want—and don't want—and let him (or her) handle it.

Problems? Tell them to Abby. For a personal, unpublished reply, write Abby: Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Sexual revolution reaches Russians

MOSCOW (AP) — The Moscow city government has adopted a decree calling for sex education courses in schools, showing one more sign of a quiet sexual revolution that is bringing far-reaching social changes throughout the Soviet Union.

Under the decree, adopted last month, selected secondary schools will begin an experimental program in "hygiene and sex education" this fall, after which the courses will spread throughout the city school system.

Sex is a subject Soviet officials shied away from in the past, and although sex education has been discussed, no comprehensive programs have yet been instituted.

However, writing recently in the weekly government newspaper Nedelya, the chief of the Moscow Department of Education, G. Aseyev, said: "The question is no longer whether or not schools should deal with the subject. The question is, how do you start to deal with it."

The recognition of a need for sex education is also an indication that changing sexual habits have raised problems that officials realize they must handle.

The lack of sex education or books on sex along with strict codes of dress and behavior reflect an outwardly conservative attitude in the Soviet Union.

Titillating books and movies are officially forbidden, and the sexiest thing on Soviet television is women's gymnastics.

But a revolution in morals among both the young and the middle aged has emphatically arrived, and is beginning to make itself felt in a loosening of official strictures.

One of the latest film hits here, a Western called "Armed and Extremely Dangerous," contains a lingering look at a woman's bare breast, technically a violation of the cinema code.

When asked about the attitude of film officials toward the scene, the movie's director, Vladimir Vainstok, only smiled and told The Associated Press, "They left it in, didn't they."

Soviet media in recent months have also been making public some statistics that illustrate the effect of the sexual revolution.

A recent Leningrad survey showed that 53 per cent of men had had sex before the age of 18, and 65 per cent of women before the age of 21.

Another survey found about 400,000 illegitimate births per year in the U.S.S.R., or about 10 per 100 births. In the United States, the rate is 9.7 per 100.

Widow runs yacht restaurant

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mary Smalley's job is the stuff of dreams. She spends her days and nights touring picturesque San Francisco Bay at the helm of her own yacht, serving elegant dinner parties.

Ms. Smalley runs a yacht charter service, renting the 68-foot twin-diesel Mariner II for four hours at a time, usually to big corporations.

"What is amazing to me is that every corporate executive who comes aboard Mariner II asks endless questions about the operational side of my business and finally admits he'd like to resign his position and spend the rest of his life as a charter board skipper," she said in a recent interview.

"They view it as pure escape. Believe me, it isn't, although I can't think of anything else I'd rather be doing right now."

When her airline executive husband died of a heart attack four years ago, Ms. Smalley used the estate settlement to buy the 1969 model vessel and spruce it up.

"When I told my banker about my boat scheme, he laughed, and my attorney said I was out of my tree," she said with a chuckle. "But, somehow, I knew I had to do it."

She installed oriental rugs, a bar, television, stereo, and a galley to whip up gourmet meals. "We have several menus but visitors prefer the seafood to the ethnic dinners we offer," she said.

After securing Coast Guard certification to get liability insurance, she hired seven persons to help her prepare the meals and serve the guests as the yacht cruises past Alcatraz, Angel Island and the Oakland estuary.

Meals cost $20 a person and usually include such delicacies as cracked crab, oysters on the half-shell, ginger chicken and sauteed scallops. An open bar costs $10 per person and the rental of the vessel is $125 an hour, with a four-hour minimum.

"Having a party for 30 people, using that menu, would run around $1,400, including taxes and tip," she said. "It would run about the same at any first-rate restaurant, without the scenery and the invigorating salt air."

Casting an eye to the orange-tinted Golden Gate

Bridge, Ms. Smalley mused. "We never go outside the Golden Gate because it can get too rough, and there is so much to see inside the Gate."

In two years of operation, she said she has averaged four parties a week. "I don't know if I'd want more than that because I get peeped out," she said.

Hall makes Dean's List

Linda Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Olson, 1805 Settles, made the Texas Tech University's Dean's List her fall semester.

She is a Junior, enrolled in secondary education in business. After graduation in May, 1979, she plans to teach vocational office education.

Ms. Hall is a 1968 graduate of Big Spring High School and a 1970 graduate of Howard College. She also attended the University of Texas of the Permian Basin during the summer of 1977 and was employed by the Texas Education Agency for six years prior to moving to Lubbock to complete her education.

Club sees drug skit

The Airport Home Demonstration Club met Feb. 21 at the home of Mrs. J. C. Thames, 601 W. 16th.

Eight members were present to answer roll call. The devotional from Titus was delivered by Mrs. Thames.

A speech and skit on over-the-counter drugs was presented by guests Mrs. J. R. and Inez Petty.

An announcement was made of a style show to take place March 14 at the Kentwood Older Adult Center, hosted by the Creative Home Makers.

The next meeting will be March 7 at the home of Mrs. V. Viger, 1612 Avion.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1978

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Consider the wishes and desires of all with whom you have any contact. Let them know you are willing to cooperate in any project between you and them. Use precision in work duties.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You are able to clear up touchy matters with associates quietly now. Many situations arise that give you a clear picture of what your true position is with others. Be careful in driving.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Be precise in whatever you do today and gain the support of others. Take no chances where money is concerned.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Plan recreation carefully and get good results. Your creativity is high and you can express yourself ideally. Watch reputation.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) There is much to be done at home so that you improve conditions and add harmony there. Avoid gossip.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Show special thought for those you want to be associated with in the future and gain their goodwill. Get information you need so that you get work done more efficiently in the future.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Take care of money problems with others now so that you need not worry so much in the future. Get possessions in better order also.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Improve personality and health so that you make better impression on others. Go out socially and add to your roster of good friends.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Give deep thought to what has been puzzling you lately and get the right answers. Reach greater accord with loved one, too. Avoid one who can be detrimental to your best interests.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Showing more devotion to a loved one is wise now. Have a good time with fine friends, also. Pay more attention to financial affairs and feel more secure.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Do whatever will give you a more enviable position in your community. Take care of credit matters wisely.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Plan how you can get ahead in life. Meeting persons with backgrounds different from yours can yield you fine benefits, knowledge.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Take care of mental tasks before you consider recreation of any sort. Avoid one who can be detrimental to your best interests.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will do anything to get along well with others and establish harmony everywhere. Give as fine an education as you can and slant it toward the humanities.

White Sands logical shuttle landing site
LAS CRUCES (AP) - The nation's space shuttle program probably will use the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's White Sands facility as its alternate site and top alternate site, a NASA official said.
 Dr. Christopher Kraft Jr., who made the prediction Thursday, heads the Lyndon B. Johnson Space Center in Houston, Texas, which administers the White Sands facility.
 The facility also is testing engines for the space shuttle program, Kraft said, and a worldwide tracking system is under construction there.
 The federal government already has approved money for four space shuttles, he said, and is expected to pay for a fifth. He said there eventually should be 12 shuttles as the program becomes operational.
 Kraft, who has been with federal space programs since 1945, said he expects larger budgets for NASA beginning in 1980.

Carter discovers Kremlin playing hard ball in Africa

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gradually the administration is shifting the U.S. policy on Africa somewhat away from idealism toward a more practical approach with some "cold war" echoes. Carter seems to have come to the realization that the Soviet Union is playing hard ball in Africa.

troubled Horn of Africa the Russians intend to capitalize on the Ethiopia-Somalia conflict and cannot be counted on to support a peaceful settlement.

A year ago, Carter and his men were imbued with an idealism that led them, for example, to take a stand against white minority rule because it was the morally right thing to do.

The initial, upbeat mood was best exemplified by United Nations Ambassador

AP news analysis

Andrew Young, to whom Carter gave special responsibility for Africa.

Communism, Young said, was not the threat to Africa it had seemed to be — but racism was.

"Don't get all paranoid about a few Communists, not even a few thousand Communists," Young advised.

As the conflict deepened between Ethiopia and Somalia, the United States adopted a hands-off policy. The administration hoped for a negotiated settlement through the Organization of African Unity and looked to Moscow to rein in Ethiopia, its new-found client.

Instead the Russians and the Cubans continued their buildup, providing Ethiopia with military might.

In Rhodesia, "Meanwhile, the administration is now hinting it is ready to join Britain in supporting an agreement reached by Prime Minister Ian Smith with Bishop Abel Muzorewa and other moderate black leaders, at least as a first

Fire leaves Armstrong family homeless

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Armstrong were left homeless Thursday after their mobile home was destroyed by fire around 11 p.m. Wednesday.

The Armstrongs and their four children, ranging in ages from 9 to 19 escaped from the blazing home, but nothing was saved in the fire.

The family had just paid off the home and the insurance had not been taken out on the residence, so it was a complete loss.

Part of the family is staying with the Ted Lancasters, who are relatives and some are with friends until they can locate a new home.

The home was located on Lendemon Road off Moss Creek Road. The Sand Springs volunteer fought the blaze which apparently began in the area where the furnace and hot water heater are located.

Somalia. Burned, the administration set the withdrawal of Cuban troops as the price for further progress on normalizing its relationship with Havana.

The administration slowed down negotiations with the Russians over demilitarizing the Indian Ocean to make a political point.

 STRUCTURAL STANDARDS BOARD
 Owner or owners, lessors, occupants and lienholders of record of the below named real properties, all located in the City of Big Spring, are hereby notified of a public hearing to consider demolition, order a reduction in occupancy load or vacation of structures and premises at each of these locations. Hearings will be held before the Structural Standards Board in and for the City of Big Spring, in the City Council chamber of the Big Spring City Hall, Fourth and Nolan Streets, on Tuesday, March 7, 1978, commencing at 9:00 o'clock A.M., local time. These are public hearings. The administrator shall present evidence of the substandard condition of these structures and as owner, lessor, occupant, lienholder, or any interested person may present evidence on relevant issues. After hearing evidence from each interested person present the Board will make its findings and issue appropriate orders in each case. These findings may result in determination that the structures are not substandard; that a variance should be granted in order to avoid imposition of an unreasonable hardship; that an exception may be granted to a provision or provisions of this chapter; that the structure is substandard and order repair or other suitable remedy within a specified period of time, and demolition of the structure if the repair or other suitable remedy is not timely effected; or that the structure be ordered demolished within a specified period of time.
