

Estes not indicted

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — A federal grand jury investigating Billie Sol Estes will reconvene in Abilene in April after returning no indictments Monday against the convicted West Texas swindler.

The grand jury returned five indictments not related to the Estes case in its six-hour session before recessing Monday.

The grand jury had subpoenaed Estes-related records from the Texas attorney general's office. A spokesman for Attorney General John Hill said Monday the office supplied the necessary documents but that no personnel were to appear.

Hill had said earlier he would supply information obtained in the state's investigation of Estes by his economic crime unit.

The Internal Revenue Service, the FBI and Postal Service are reportedly interested in Estes' alleged business dealings since his parole from federal prison. Estes now lives in Abilene.

Terms of his parole prohibit the one-time West Texas wheeler-dealer, who used phantom fertilizer tanks as collateral for multimillion dollar loans until he was caught in 1962, from engaging in any self-employed or promotional type activities.

He was sentenced in 1963 to 15 years in prison and was paroled in 1971 after serving six years.

The grand jury also investigated records of Ray Horton, a Midland businessman and longtime friend of Estes, and J.R. Patterson, a Houston real estate salesman and former Abilene businessman.

(AP WIREPHOTO) HOSTAGE FLEES — David Kerr, right, a Fullerton, Calif., real estate agent, flees past police after being released by a gunman who was holding Kerr and two other real estate agents hostage in the Sizemore Realty office in Fullerton. The last hostage was released several hours later and the gunman surrendered to police.

Americans split Carter breaks vows?

NEW YORK (AP) — Half the American people say President Carter has broken his promise to appoint U.S. attorneys and judges without regard for political considerations, an Associated Press-NBC News poll shows.

Carter's firing of Republican David Marston as U.S. attorney in Philadelphia appears to have been a major factor in shaping the public perception that Carter has failed to live up to his campaign pledge.

Fifty-two percent of those interviewed last week said Carter had not kept his promise. Only 20 percent said the president has kept his word, with 28 percent uncertain.

Even among members of his own party, Carter is viewed as having failed to live up to his word by a 44-29 percent margin.

Carter's pledge was outlined in a campaign position paper that said: "All federal judges and prosecutors should be appointed strictly on the basis of merit, without any consideration of political aspect or influence."

Carter says he has kept his campaign promise.

Asked if they had heard or read about the firing of Marston, 53 percent of the 1,600 adults questioned by telephone said they were familiar with the case. Forty-seven percent said they had not heard or read about it.

By a 3-to-1 margin, those who knew about Marston agreed with a statement that Carter mishandled the situation. Of those who were familiar with Marston's case, 62 percent agree Carter mishandled the case, 21 percent disagreed and 17 percent were unsure.

Marston's firing has played a significant role in the public view of Carter and his promise, but it is not the only factor involved.

Of those who agreed Carter mishandled the Marston affair, two-thirds said he failed to keep his promise. Only 13 percent of those who said he mishandled the affair think he kept his word.

Even among those who did not think that Carter mishandled the Marston affair, slightly more thought he had broken his campaign promise than thought he had kept his word.

But, looking at those who said they had not heard or read about Marston, the split was 45 to 23 percent, with the majority feeling Carter has failed to keep his promise.

Examining the other side, half of those who said Carter had kept his promise had not heard of the Marston case.

Carter says he saw nothing wrong with the way Marston was fired.

Carter said that when a decision was made to replace Marston as U.S. attorney in Philadelphia, he did not know Marston was investigating two Democratic congressmen from Pennsylvania, Joshua Eilberg and Daniel Flood.

Carter did say Eilberg called him in November and asked him to speed up Marston's replacement.

Carter then called Attorney General Griffin Bell and told him to expedite the process.

Marston left the federal post after meeting with Bell, who told him he would be replaced.

Tentative Roloff
 settlement

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — A tentative, out-of-court settlement has been reached in a $4.2 million damage suit brought against evangelist Lester Roloff by a former resident of one of his South Texas children's homes.

"We haven't reduced it (settlement) to writing yet, but I think it's fair to both sides," Tony Pletcher, one of Roloff's attorneys, said after State District Judge Jack R. Blackmon dismissed the jury for the trial of the suit.

Pletcher said he doubted if the terms of the settlement would ever be made public.

Roloff scurried from the courtroom before reporters could interview him.

The suit was brought by Robert Grimley, 19, who was injured in a diving accident in July 1976. The suit alleges that Roloff Enterprises was negligent in not providing a qualified water safety supervisor or adequate first aid.

Grimley was a resident of Roloff's Lighthouse home for boys. The accident occurred in a dormitory, which was a renovated barge anchored in Laguna Madre in Kleburg County, south of Corpus Christi.

He is paralyzed from the neck down and lives in a hospital room at the Memorial Medical Center.

He asked for damages for his pain and mental anguish and for loss of his physical powers.

The Nueces County Hospital District has paid the largest share of Grimley's medical expenses to date. A records clerk testified at an earlier trial, which ended in a mistrial, that the youth's bill totaled $177,861 since October 1977.

As of late June, Roloff Enterprises had paid about $11,000 and Medicaid had contributed about $4,800.

The voice with the smile. That was the name given the early Southwestern Bell telephone operators.

And Hazel Lamar was certainly an excellent example of "the voice with the smile." When the Rebekahs were honoring her the other night for her 50 years of work with the lodge, I realized she was worthy of a whole column just on her years as an early telephone operator.

She went to work for the telephone company in 1929 and retired in 1975. Among her early memories the night she was working by herself when the switchboard began to rock in the summer of 1933. She later learned that residents of the Settles tumbled down the stairwell in their nightclothes and gathered in the lobby. It was apparently the town's only earthquake that they ever had.

She said that when it hit, she was handling a call of a train crew list for Rufus Tuckness when he shouted that the T&P building was coming apart. He took off and Hazel wanted to, but stayed.

In those days, the numbers were simple ones like 230 or 562 and she soon knew almost everybody's number.

That's when telephones were always answered by a voice that seemed to really care whether you got your call through or not.

She handled numerous emergency calls. One night, a caller simply told her in a weak voice, "Get Ruth."

Hazel looked at the number, knew who it was, knew that Ruth was the daughter, knew which doctor they used and summoned the doctor to get there and then called the daughter. She saved a

It makes you think, because you could pick up a phone nowadays and mutter "Get Ruth" but all you'd get would be a dial tone.

She recalled that she was working the switchboard by herself one night when she heard an intruder coming up the fire escape. "I could hear every step," she recalled. She summoned Marshal J. M. Choate, grandfather of Mayor Wade Choate. The intruder rattled the fire escape door, then went down and did not return, with Choate keeping an eye on the building the rest of the night.

Experiences revealed at meeting Gardener challenged West Texas

The American Association of University Women heard Johnny Johansen speak on "Your Spring Garden" at their recent meeting.

He spoke about his early professional career in Big Spring, and described his early experiences as including "a challenge for plants to grow in West Texas." The speaker then went on to tell members what they might consider planting in their yards, and answered members' questions about plants. He concluded his talk with the quote, "Working in the yard is a way to be creative; a way of getting back to nature; and a way to open minds to a child-like curiosity."

Rhonda Rothell, president, introduced Liz Rannefeld and Sylvia Newman, District 3 consultants for AAUW. Ms. Rannefeld spoke on the need for members to evaluate their chapter in order to ascertain branch needs and community needs which could be related to AAUW.

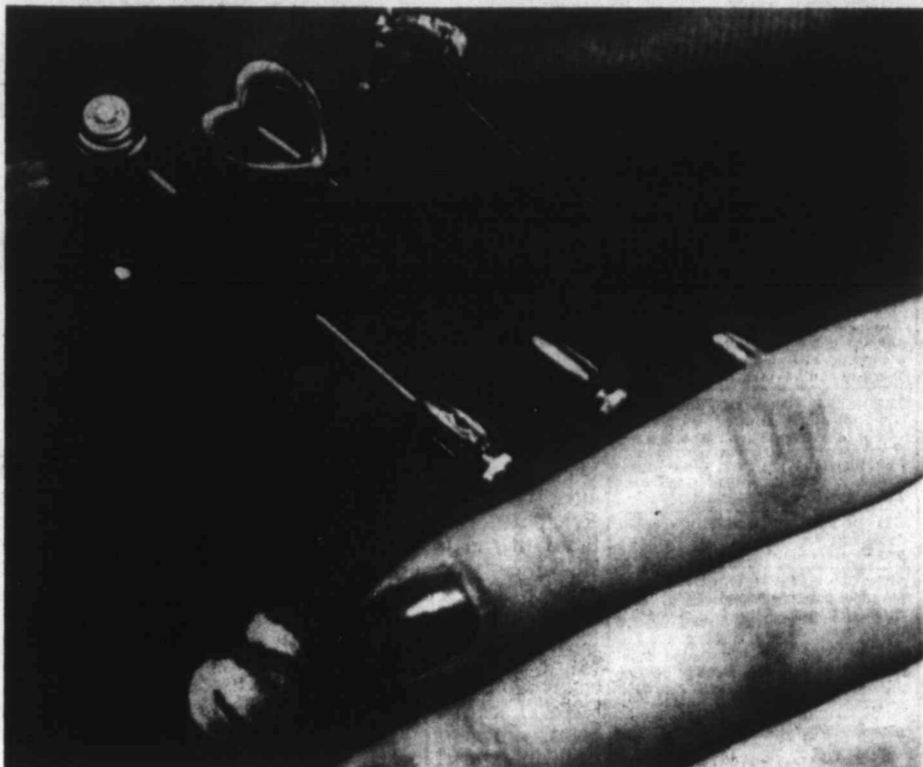

Ms. Newman, chairman of the president's council, spoke on members participating in division activities and conferences. She announced that there would be a Southwest Conference in Fort Worth the first week in April and encouraged members to attend. She also announced a leadership conference to be held this summer on the Mary-Hardin Baylor campus at Belton.

Ms. Newman stressed membership campaigns and urged members to decide on what kind of branch in which they would like to participate.

Francis Wheat announced that there are still three more children's movies scheduled.

Olat Robertson, Lavelle Hill and Evelyn Hymman were hosts of the salad supper. The table decorations carried out a patriotic theme, and the next meeting will be Mar. 20 and the topic will "Hyper-tension? Change!!" presented by a member of the American Heart Association. Hostesses will be Thelma Carlisle, Fran Riley and Mary Crawford.

STICKPINS ARE IN — A salesperson at Tiffany's in New York displays stickpins recently. Once an ornament reserved for securing a cravat, the currently hot jewelry item is fast replacing the chain as the big trend-setting accessory for the fashion conscious.

Renewed interest in shawls leads to 'stickpin mania'

They're popping up all over the place. On collars, on suits, on coats. And they're destined to be as big a fashion hit this year as they were last year. Stickpins are in.

Once an ornament reserved for securing a cravat, the currently hot jewelry item is fast replacing the chain as the big trend-setting accessory for the fashion conscious.

Observers of the ever-changing fashion scene say the stickpin owes its re-emergence to a renewed popularity in shawls and scarves. And what better way to secure these often immense garments than with an elegant pin.

Cartier has several new stickpin designs planned for the future, according to gold buyer Jeanne Schaffer. "We're definitely in the stickpin business, but we want to do more important and more exclusive items," she said. "There are too many people in the market. Our clients are special and we want to do something a little bit different."

One plan calls for converting already popular Cartier diamond pendants to stickpins. The oval, teardrop and round diamond designs range from $1,500 to $3,000. Clusters of diamonds, rubies, emeralds and sapphires set in 18k gold will run from $650 to $1,200.

The 1977 annual business survey of the Retail Jewelers of America, which represents 11,000 stores around the nation, reports that last year was indeed the year of the stickpin. Stores in Iowa, for example, reported that "factories couldn't supply them fast enough."

Georgia stores said stickpins "led fashion."

Forecasts for 1978 seem to indicate that the fashion world will have a long way to go before it can unstickpin itself.

His Marriage Not A Life Sentence

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married for three months and we just had our first big fight. It all started when I mentioned to him that I had read that the longest marriage on record was 86 years! My husband then replied that 25 years is our limit—and no more.

Abby, I got married for life and I hoped that he did, too, so this really got me upset.

Then he said, "You should be pleased with a guarantee of 25 years."

What do you say, Abby?

V.V.

DEAR B: Nobody has a "guarantee" that he'll wake up tomorrow morning, so your husband's "guarantee" of a 25-year-long marriage doesn't mean much.

Live your life one day at a time, and if your husband tells you after 25 years that your "guarantee" has run out, write again, and if I'm still around (and I hope I am), I'll help you deal with it.

DEAR ABBY: I have a boyfriend who has three favorite sayings: "I'm starved," "I'm tired" and "I'm broke." I can't see why he should always be starved. He lives at home. And he shouldn't be tired since he sleeps every chance he gets. And he shouldn't be broke either since he has a job.

He comes over every Friday night, and when I ask him to take me to a movie, he says he's broke. When I suggest going somewhere else, he says he's too tired. I don't understand why I want to marry him, but I do. What's wrong with him?

SUZIE Q.

DEAR SUZIE Q: He needs someone who will feed him, give him an allowance, and tuck him in every night. (A mother.) He's for ADOPTING—not MARRYING.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 45-year-old widow in love with a 47-year-old widower I'll call Bill.

Bill's wife died four years ago and left him with a daughter who is now 12. (I'll call her Betsy.) The problem is the way Betsy feels about me. She's insanely jealous. Bill once kissed the back of my neck while helping me on with my coat and Betsy became hysterical. She yelled and screamed and cursed me, saying, "You will NEVER take my mother's place!" It took Bill an hour to calm her down.

Whenever we three drive anywhere, Betsy has to sit between us. When we three are together, Betsy sulks and looks at me with hate in her eyes. Until recently, Betsy slept with her father, but I told him I thought it was very unhealthy so he stopped it.

Bill is begging me to marry him. He says Betsy will outgrow her jealousy after we're married, and she will learn to love me, but I'm afraid to take a chance. I really love Bill and don't want to give him up. Please help me.

NEEDS HELP

DEAR NEEDS: Tell Bill that unless (and until) he gets Betsy to a psychotherapist for some counseling, and her sick attitude changes, marriage between you would be a disaster. (He could also use some therapy.) Under no circumstances should you marry Bill with the situation that now exists. If he doesn't agree to getting help for Betsy, say goodbye. And don't look back.

DEAR ABBY: We are a group of office employees with a problem that desperately needs to be solved. There is a certain salesman in our company who always wears an overpowering cologne. The smell is so overpowering that it actually nauseates some of us. After he has left the room, the smell of his cologne lingers for hours.

We've tried joking with him about it, but he takes it as a compliment and continues to use the cologne.

Before we consider gas masks, please tell us how to get our message across.

NAUSEATED

DEAR NAUSEATED: Quit "joking" with him, and tell him in all seriousness that his fragrance disagrees with many in the office, and to please either use less or none at all!

Problems? Tell them to Abby. For a personal, unpublished reply, write Abby: Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The local Rotary Club will hold its Golden Anniversary tonight in the Big Spring Country Club.

The hospitality hour begins at 6:30 p.m. followed by a dinner honoring the local club and their ladies.

Dr. Jim Cowan is chairman of the event. Duke Martin district governor of Rotary District 573, will be on hand for the special occasion, along with other Rotary dignitaries.

The program will include a history of the local club and the district. Acknowledgments of appreciation for the district history goes to L.E. (Pat) Patterson and to Otto Peters Sr., who compiled the local club history in the early years and Curt Mullins who updated it.

Mrs. Nila Allen furnished history of Boy Scout Troop 1 sponsored by the club and Walton Morrison also assisted with the history.

Others who helped compile the history were Riley Foster, Joe Pickle, Mrs. Gerri Atwell, and Oliver Cofer.

Current officers of the organization include E. Ray Tatum, president; Charles Beil, vice president; Riley Foster, secretary; Hal Boyd, treasurer; and directors including Eugene Bear, W.T. McRee, A.J. Prager and R.D. Williams.

Film Festival set annually

With the aid of the fledgling Greater Big Spring Rotary Club, the Big Spring Rotary Club started what is hoped to become an Annual Film Festival.

The first year, $2500 was guaranteed to the producers of the show, a substantial amount, but both clubs still made a substantial profit on the affair.

Much of the credit for the success of the presentation can be shared by two club members. Charles Beil, who chaired the committee that worked on the film festival, and Lowell Jones, who sold more tickets than the combined sales of the next 10 Rotarians.

Unique test conducted to help solve problems

The Rotarians feel that respect and understanding between fellow-men are the only factors that will aid in solving world problems. Thus, they have adopted a four-way test of all that they say and do, to determine if their motives are right and just.

The test originated by Chicago Rotarian Herbert J. Taylor in 1932, after he had been assigned by the Creditors of the Club Aluminum Company, to save the company from being closed out as a bankrupt organization.

Believing that "In right, there is might," a group headed by Taylor (who was also president of the company) formulated four short questions to determine if advertisements and company literature were ethical.

The questions were:
-Is it the truth?
-Is it fair to all concerned?
-Will it build good will and better friendships?
-Will it be beneficial to all concerned?

By honestly abiding by those guides the company image was changed. Elimination of unproved statements and superlatives such as best, greatest, and finest from advertisements, good will and friendship between the firm and its personnel as well as the public, resulted in confidence in the company.

Relationships with competitors improved when the test influenced the Club

Aluminum Company to remove all detrimental and adverse comments about competitors from advertisements. When opportunity came to praise competitors, the Club Company did so, and the result was confidence and friendship with competitors and consumers alike.

OBJECT OF ROTARY

The object of Rotary is to encourage and foster the ideal of service as a basis of worthy enterprise and, in particular, to encourage and foster:

First. The development of acquaintance as an opportunity for service;

Second. High ethical standards in business and professions; the recognition of the worthiness of all useful occupations; and the dignifying by each Rotarian of his occupation as an opportunity to serve society;

Third. The application of the ideal of service by every Rotarian to his personal, business, and community life;

Fourth. The advancement of international understanding, good will, and peace through a world fellowship of business and professional men united in the ideal of service.

City of Dallas pioneered movement in Rotary

Although Rotary did not arrive in Big Spring until 1928, the years from 1911 on were hectic. Dallas became the first club in Texas in 1911, followed by Houston and San Antonio in 1912; Austin, Beaumont, Cleburne, Fort Worth, Galveston, Palestine, and Waco joined in 1913; 1914 brought Corpus Christi and El Paso, followed in 1915 by Paris, Wichita Falls and Port Arthur.

After the 1915 Convention, Texas was divided up into districts. Before that, the state was divided up into divisions, each under the jurisdiction of a vice president of the International organization. During these three years preceding the establishment of Rotary Districts, the Texas Clubs were grouped with those of Arkansas, Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Wyoming in the "Western Division".

When in 1915 Rotary Districts were first organized to be administered by "District Governors", the Rotary Clubs of Texas and Louisiana District 12 of the International Association of Rotary Clubs. These two states shared the District until the start of the 1917-18 Rotary year when the club of Louisiana were transferred to another District and the nineteen Texas clubs formed District 12.

District governor's duties keep him busy

The Big Spring Rotarians have had two of their members to serve as District Governors for District 183. The duties of the post are many, including publication of a newsletter, financial reports for Rotary International, and work to improve attendance of meetings.

The club literature describes the District governors as being harrassed by R.I. overfed, overworked, talk too long, and never have enough time . . . When their year has come to an end, they cannot believe how much they left undone, how many true friends they have made, and how much Rotary has now become to them."

Elmo Wasson served as district governor for the Rotary year 1949-1950, and it was at his conference that the "Presentation of the Flags of All Nations," a feature still part of all District conferences, was first observed.

Ralph McLaughlin was the 18th Rotarian to serve as governor of District 573. The annual conference during his 1975-1976 term attracted a record number of 642 Rotarians and their wives. The special feature of the conference was the "Olympics" for which a

Widows will be special guests

Widows of Rotarians still living in Big Spring, will be special guests at the 50th Anniversary event.

They include Mrs. Curtis Driver, Mrs. Fred Keating, Mrs. Elmo Wasson, Mrs. Sam Anderson, Mrs. Ellington, Mrs. Harold Homan, Mrs. Robert Currie, Mrs. Leroy Hollingshead and Mrs. Leony Kinney. Wasson was also one of two Big Spring Rotarians who ever served as district governor.

Governors are nominated by a committee within the district. The choice of the committee, which was appointed by the current governor, is submitted for approval at the next district conference.

Once approved by the clubs present at the conference, the candidate earns the title "District Governor Nominee," by which title he is called until his election. During the intervening period, the DGN assists the district governor and signs an oath that he will attend the International Assembly preceding his term of office.

The assembly is an intensive eight-day training session on every aspect of Rotary including the constitution and by-laws, worthwhile projects, and Rotary Foundation.

Attendance at the assembly is required before a Rotarian can serve as district governor, and even one missed session mandates that the Board of R.I. look to past district governors within the district to serve the appointed year.

Following the assembly, the International Convention is held, and the DGN's name is then submitted to the vote of the qualified delegates for election to the office of governor.

If elected, the governor serves for one year as an officer of R.I. and officially visits each club within his district to begin his year in office.

Ex-president invited here

A former president of Rotary International has been invited to the 50th Anniversary of the Big Spring Rotary Club tonight.

He is J. Edd McLaughlin, of Ralls, uncle of Ralph McLaughlin, who is a former district governor of Rotary and active in the local club.

The elder McLaughlin attended the session here when the second club, the Greater Big Spring Rotary Club was chartered.

This club included Scott McLaughlin, as a charter member, making a third generation of McLaughlin's in Rotary.

Scout unit sponsored by Rotary

One of the leading responsibilities of the Big Spring Rotary Club has been the sponsorship of the Boy Scouts of America Troop I. Two names appear frequently in the long history of and mutually rewarding relationship between the club and Troop I.

The troop was born when in 1910, Mrs. B. Reagan read an article in the "Ladies Home Journal" about a new movement for young boys known as the Boy Scouts of America. Thinking it would be a good idea for her two boys, Horace and Paul, she wrote for information.

The first meeting of Troop I was held in C.S. Holmes' front yard. Holmes was later to become the first Scout Master of the troop.

Sharing his wife's enthusiasm, Mr. Reagan gave substantial help in financing the newly-formed group of about 20 Scouts. He served the Boy Scout movement for over 40 years and was awarded the Silver Beaver and a Scout Statue for his services.

Outstanding citizens recognized by Rotary

Big Spring Rotary Club president in 1964-1965, Jerry Worthy, and previous president Adolph Swartz tackled the problem of how to recognize citizens who made outstanding contributions to the community during the past year.

The result was the annual award "for outstanding leadership in the upbuilding of his-her community," which is given to the Big Spring citizen — who does not have to be a Rotarian — chosen by a Rotary Club committee.

Swartz was appointed chairman of the committee that year, and every succeeding year except 1965-1966.

In that year, president Donald Hungerford conveniently forgot to place Swartz's name on the committee, thus removing any dissenting vote in the year that Swartz himself was the most qualified candidate for the award.

Magazines Area's condensed history reach many told in Rotary program

The Rotarian is the official magazine of Rotary International. It and its Spanish language counterpart Revista Rotaria are the flagships of Rotary's world press. They are supplemented by 22 other regional publications, which are printed in 17 languages, reaching an audience of 855,000 Rotarians, family members and other leaders. Each Big Spring Rotarian receives the magazine monthly.

Willmon L. White, editor of this prestigious publication, is a former resident of Big Spring and has extended his personal congratulations to the club for the golden event of celebrating its fiftieth year of Rotary service. White graduated from Big Spring High School in 1949. His father was a Methodist minister here for two years.

The Big Spring Rotary Club includes a history of the Big Spring itself in its official program tonight, honoring the local club on its 50th anniversary.

The condensed history of the local area follows:

Recent archeological finds indicate that Indians were hunting elephant and buffalo in the "big spring" area as long ago as 13,000 B.C. Their tools and utensils are still found in great numbers throughout the country. A walk through their campsites yields knives, punches and arrowheads made of flint. Large quantities of flaked flint, discarded while these artifacts were being chipped and fashioned into implements, are prevalent.

Spanish Conquistadores left their benchmarks when they surveyed the country from atop Scenic Mountain. On a clear day, one can see for 40 miles from this unique landmark just a short distance from the "big spring."

The first recorded history of the "big spring" is from the journal of Captain R. B. Marcy, who was ordered by the U.S. Army to escort and protect immigrants moving to new territories in the west. He was also commissioned to ascertain and establish the best route from Fort Smith, Arkansas to New Mexico and California. Captain Marcy, later to become General, began his march April 4, 1849 from Fort Smith with a company of ninety men with orders to proceed to Santa Fe, New Mexico. His accounts of the trip report the discovery of the Comanche trail leading to Chihuahua,

Mexico and the Spanish explorers.

Marcy kept a detailed and well-written journal. An instrument called a viameter was used by Marcy to measure distance. This device measured the revolutions of a wagon wheel, since it also accounted for the irregularities of the ground it traveled, its accuracy left a lot to be desired. On Marcy's return trip to Arkansas, he used a chain to measure the miles as he approached the "big spring" from the west. His journal reads:

"October 3, 1849. Leaving the Salt Lake this morning our bearing was N. 71 degree E. for eight miles where we reached the border of the high plain, and descended an easy slope of about fifty feet to a bench below; here we could see two low bluffs in the direction we were marching, near which our guide informed us we could find a fine spring of water. Fourteen and a half miles travel over a beautiful road brought us to the spring, which we found flowing from a deep chasm in the limestone rocks into an immense reservoir of some fifty feet in depth.

Prexys' list is imposing

Local Rotary Club presidents since 1949 include an imposing list of civic leaders.

The list includes Walton Morrison, Manley Cook, Stormy Thompson, Dr. Frank Dillon, Adolph Swartz, Bill Crook, Dan Krausse, Jim Fryar and Charles Weeg.

Others are Champ Rainwater, P. D. O'Brien, W. C. Blankenship, Ralph McLaughlin, Ben Johnson, E. P. Driver, Jerry Worthy, Donald Hungerford, Dick Ream, Bill Coleman, Joe Price and Lowell Jones.

Also, Curt Mullins, Friend Talbott, Malcolm Patterson, A. J. Statser, Ralph Gossett, Jimmy Taylor, Frank Hardesty, Jimmy Anderson and the current president, E. Ray Tatum. Charles Beil is president-elect.

Cornelison is Rotary notable

As an Honorary Member of the Big Spring Rotary Club, Roy Cornelison enjoys a privilege afforded to few.

Club policy dictates that only the outstanding citizens who have distinguished themselves in public life should be offered such an honor. And today Cornelison is only one Honorary Member of the club.

City three times host

Big Spring has three times served as host city for district conferences, handling Rotarians who flocked from across District 573 to attend the gala affair.

In 1939, Rotary International (R.I.) had grown to approximately 200,000 members in almost 5,000 clubs in 63 countries around the world. J. T. Brooks was club president and Linton H. Estes was serving the district, known as 127, as governor. Governor Estes was a paper products wholesaler of Wichita Falls, 460 Rotarians and 304 Rotarians came to Big Spring for the Conference on May 7-9. The Rotary International Representative was International Director Frank C. Barnes of Manistee, Michigan. The conference endorsed the candidacy of J. Edd McLaughlin (Ralls) for director of Rotary International. The international convention was to be in Cleveland, Ohio that year.

The year 1948 again brought Rotarians to Big Spring. The club had grown to 325,000 members in almost 7,000 clubs across 66 countries.

Club president that year was Otto Peters Sr. (District 127 was a farm operator from Stamford, J. F. McCulloch). March 28-30 saw 334 Rotarians and 157 Rotarians attending the district conference. Past R. I. director Fred L. Haas of Omaha, Nebraska was the first to bring the designation of "Presidents Representative" to our district. The board of directors of R. I. had determined that District 127 should be cut approximately in half.

After expressing regret at the loss of direct fellowship which would result from this action, the conference approved the board's action as being in the best interest of Rotary. Further action directed that the bonds contained in the District Fund be cashed and the proceeds be equitably divided between the two new districts.

Another resolution was passed, stating, "Whereas Past District Governor Harris Cook of Canyon, Texas was undoubtedly a casualty of the District and whereas although he suffered a collapse before his year as governor was over, he nevertheless came back and completed his year only to suffer another stroke from which he has not recovered," and directed that the surplus of funds remaining after conference expenses had been paid be sent to Harris, "in appreciation of his great contribution to Rotary." Heretofore these funds had been refunded to the clubs in the district.

Two District Governor-Nominees were elected at this conference, Ira E. Woods to serve the restricted District 127, and W. B. Todd of Fort Worth to serve the eastern portion of the former 127 which would now be known as District 127. The host city for the International Convention was to be Rio de Janeiro.

By 1966, Rotary had grown to 125 countries with a membership of over 600,000 in some 12,500 clubs. The club president this year was the Rev. Donald Hungerford, and the conference provided Big Spring with the distinction of hosting the only governor to ever serve this district a second time.

Foundation enriches many lives

If Rotary had not made another single contribution to the world, the Rotary Foundation alone would serve as more than ample justification for its existence.

From a meager beginning when Arch Klumph first presented the idea to the Rotary International Convention in Atlanta, Georgia (1917), the foundation has enriched the lives of more than 10,000 young men and women.

Today, the foundation has seven programs: graduate fellowships, undergraduate fellowships, technical training, teachers of the handicapped, special grants, group study exchange and the new journalism award.

Each of the programs adhere to the objective of the furthering of International Understanding and friendly relations among peoples of different nations by offering the awardees an opportunity to travel and study in a country other than their own.

Caylor painting now in museum

Sometime around the 1930s, the Big Spring Rotary Club took up a collection to purchase an original H.W. Caylor painting entitled "The Last Buffalo."

One of the early works of the famous local artist, the painting was loaned to the Heritage Museum of Big Spring with the stipulation that the nameplate of the Big Spring Rotary Club would always remain on the frame. Also, should the painting not be displayed, it will be returned to the Big Spring Rotary Club to be displayed elsewhere.

Two local men served

In the list of district governors since 1949 who were governors over the local club, the late Elmo Wasson and Ralph McLaughlin have been the two from Big Spring.

Others have included Lloyd A. Wicks, Ralls; Percy Bridgewater, Midland; Alton Chapman, Floydada; Herschel Coffee, Canyon; Jerry Davenport, Odessa; Rigdon Edwards, Sweetwater; and Rex Webster, Lubbock.

Others have included Morris Highley, Childress; Burnett Roberts, Levelland; Floyd Hemphill, Amarillo; Bruce M. Pemper, Slaton;

Edwin Patterson Jr., Midland; Floyd Stark, Seminole; James Wilson Jr., Floydada; H. Hicks Allen, Snyder; James Wilson Jr., Floydada; H. Hicks Allen, Snyder; James Wilson Jr., Floydada; Earl Wilbur, Dalhart and R. Gaylon Mills, Amarillo.

Others include Jack Rodgers, Odessa; Charles Reynolds, Amarillo; W.W. Pyeatt, Sweetwater; T. Paige Carruth, Canyon; Farris Oden, Amarillo; Marshall Formby, Plainview; Emil Prohl, Tahoka; John Tyler, Midland; A.B. Martin of Amarillo and Dr. Louis Rochester, Odessa.

Local club has 50th anniversary

Rotary originated in 1905

Rotary was begun in 1905 and 23 years later, the Big Spring Club became part of the Rotary movement.

The Big Spring Club is actually celebrating their 50th anniversary before Rotary celebrates its 75th.

From the first Rotary Club in the world to the first Big Spring club, the history follows:

A young attorney in Chicago found his professional life in metropolitan Chicago a lonely pursuit in his early years of practice. It was a vastly different world than the one he had known in his native Vermont where neighbor knew neighbor and frequently visited about the happenings of the week. With the object of fellowship, and initially without any purpose of service, he interested a young mining engineer, Gus Loehr, to host a meeting to discuss this idea with a few friends. The date was February 23, 1905 and the meeting place was Loehr's office in the Unity building on Dearborn Street in Chicago.

It was a typical business office of the day, the office of a mining engineer. Gus Loehr had just welcomed a visitor — a merchant tailor named Hiram Shorey. They began to talk — first, casual conversation about the usual topics, but their talk soon drifted to the idea which a lawyer friend had been discussing for several months. The lawyer's name was Paul Harris, and he had an idea about a new kind of club. They would discuss it again tonight, for Gus and Hiram were waiting for two more visitors— Silvester Schiele, a coal dealer, and Paul Harris himself.

Presently, these two men entered the room. They remarked that they had just eaten an excellent dinner at an Italian restaurant, Madame Galli's. They talked about one or two amusing experiences, and then Paul began to unfold his idea for a new club. He explained that it would be a good thing if a group of business men could get together periodically to get better acquainted, and perhaps to help each other obtain more business. The new club would be started on the basis of only one man from each business or profession, so there would be no competition. Keenly aware of the business rivalry of their time, they agreed that in this way there might be less chance for dissension within the new club.

Shorey thought that it might be a good idea to make a lot of new friends who presumably would be working overtime to persuade their friends to have their clothes made at his place. Silvester Schiele also approved the idea. "Each one of us," he said, "would be having some thought for the welfare of the other fellow." Thus Rotary was born.

From the facile brain and lonely heart of Paul Harris an idea had come — an idea which stimulated the imagination of the three men who gathered around him that evening. Within a few days other friends and acquaintances had been drawn into the circle of Gus Loehr, Hiram Shorey, Silvester Schiele and Paul Harris. The first meetings were informal and held in each others office on a rotating basis, thence came the name Rotary. From the modest beginning came the Rotary Club of Chicago (now known as No. 1 in the Rotary world, even though the practice of assigning numbers to Rotary Clubs discontinued after World War II).

By 1916, Rotary has spread to Canada, England, Ireland, Northern Ireland, Scotland, and Cuba and had truly become international with almost 25,000 members. Guy C. Saunders of Amarillo wrote, "When in July 1916 President Cunningham, then president of the Rotary Club in Dallas, explained Rotary to me, I was very anxious to get a club started in Amarillo.

Debt to Sweetwater is repaid 4 times over

The Big Spring Rotary Club has repaid four times over the debt to Sweetwater for its organizational efforts in helping to get the local club started.

First, the Big Spring club sponsored the Lamesa Club which was admitted to Rotary International on March 19, 1937. The very next year, the local organization sponsored the newly-formed Odessa club on March 9.

Next, the Big Spring club introduced Rotary to Stanton, which joined Rotary International on Nov. 9, 1953.

The club was formed almost singlehandedly by Charles Beil, and its first organizational meeting of January of 1977 was attended by only three people, Beil, PDG Ralph McLaughlin and Edsel McCrea.
