Farmers blockade bridge

HIDALGO, Texas (AP) — Striking farmers briefly blockaded the International Bridge leading to Mexico here today and then retreated to wait for a produce truck to cross into the United States. About 300 farmers, who had lined the bridge spanning the Rio Grande, headed back for their hotels when McAllen Mayor Othal Brand told them that ususally no trucks cross until noon.

They said they would return in the afternoon. The farmers are protesting the importation of Mexican beef and vegetables.

McAllen is about five miles north of the bridge. The farmers began their blockade at 8:30 a.m. and were there only about a half hour. They formed a human wall across the bridge and stopped all traffic for five minutes. Strike leaders then instructed the demonstrators to move to the curb on the bridge.

About 100 helmeted law enforcement officers, some armed with tear gas and billy clubs, stood patiently nearby.

As the farmers waited, Hidalgo County Sheriff Brig Marmolejo radioed to the Mexican side of the truck to cross into the United States to appease the your thing, get it over with and leave," Marmolejo told the farmers. "I think you've got enough news coverage.'

Prior to the demonstration the sheriff said officials and farmers had agreed that the demonstrators would leave the bridge after talking with newsmen.

The sheriff was asked how long he thought would be reasonable for the demonstration.

"Anyone who talks for more than five minutes is not a farmer - he's a politician," the sheriff said, quickly adding with a laugh, "I didn't say that." Farm spokesman Joe Flannigan of Corsicana, however, said no such agreement had been made. He also said the protesters wouldn't be satisfied to stop just one truck. He said he hoped to get produce samples from the truck to be analyzed for

When they first arrived, farm leaders were suprised at the show of force by law enforcement

'Why can't we have a damn demonstration?" Flannigan asked. "Why do they have all this law down here for?' About 200 farmers from several states met last night in McAllen to select the site for their protest. Mayor Brand told them he was sympathetic to their cause because he. too, is a farmer. Brand owns 40,000 acres of vegetable producing land in the Rio Grande Valley and imports produce from Mexico. He told the protesters the crops he imports are those out of season in the United States. He also denied allegations that chemicals banned in the United States are used on Mexican crops. At a meeting around their hotel swimming pool the farmers were split about whether to wait until 1 p.m. to return to the bridge or to go back im-

Make sure you can vote

By WALT FINLEY

If you want to vote in the April 1 city and school elections and you're on the "struck" list it might be wise to start thinking about movin' on down to the County Assessor-Collector's office.

The best time to do something about it is before the 5 p.m. Thursday deadline.

If no move is made by then a voter faces the following procedure at the polls, said Mrs. Dorothy Moore, chief deputy, Howard County Tax Assessor-

1. Swearing out an affidavit that he is an eligible voter.

2. Filling out a new voter registration form.

3. Being forced to return to his former precinct box to vote, rather than his current one.

If you don't have a yellow registration card, you're probably on the "struck" list. How did this happen?

If you've moved since you last registered to vote, chances are great

There's another voter registration on the horizon. That's April 6 for the May 6 primary. If those on the 'struck'' list don't act by that date, then they must go through the affidavit and application routine when they go to cast ballots May 6.

Braniff flight canceled

LONDON (AP) - Braniff International's inaugural flight from London to Dallas-Fort Worth was canceled today as the United States and Britain squabbled over cheap trans-Atlantic fares.

Braniff was to use an orange Boeing 747 to begin a daily service between London's Gatwick Airport and Dallas-Fort Worth. Officials said the jumbo jet will remain at Gatwick at least until Friday

The U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board and the British Department of Trade have been unable to agree on the price of the tickets. Britain has refused to accept the low fares agreed to between Braniff and the CAB, and the CAB/has refused to allow Braniff to charge the higher fares which Britain

"There is outrage in the U.S.," Braniff chairman Harding Lawrence told reporters at the airport. "Our Congress has expressed great displeasure to the British Embassy. They supported Concorde and now we are being discriminated against.

'We have 60,000 other passengers booked on this route. In terms of revenue the loss will be considerable

Meanwhile British Airways and British Caledonian Airways, the two British airlines that serve the United States, were concerned by reports from Washington that the Carter administration is considering banning a British service to an American city in retaliation for the Braniff action

"As far as we are concerned, under the new Bermuda Air Agreement it would be illegal if the Americans stopped our service," a spokesman for British Caledonian said.

British Caledonian has direct Boeing 707 flights between Gatwick and Houston and is said to head the list of possible targets should any action be taken. Early today, a pre-inagural Braniff flight of 250 airline executives and Texas civic leaders arrived for a three-day publicity campaign. Because it was carrying non-paying guests, this flight was not affected by

Q. What is the minimum wage and when is it due to go up again?

A. The minimum wage advanced to $2.65 an hour the past Jan. 1, up 35 cents. It will not change again until next Jan. 1, when it will go to $2.90 an hour. By Jan. 1, 1980, it must be at least $3.10 an hour. That figures out to only $124 for a 40-hour week.

NEW YORK (AP) — More than a third of U.S. families interviewed in a study on the impact of inflation and recession said they had decided to lower their standard of living and had lost faith in the American dream because of economic problems. The study, conducted by David Caplovitz, a professor of sociology at the Graduate School of the City University of New York, also found that more than a fifth of those surveyed — 22 percent — said they were less interested than they used to be in owning expensive things.

Thirty-five percent said they were going to lower their living standard and an equal number indicated lost faith in the American dream — which was not defined. Caplovitz's study, "Making Ends Meet: How Families Cope with Inflation and Recession," was based on in-terviews in May and June 1976 with 1,982 people in the metropolitan areas of New York, Atlanta, San Francisco and Detroit.

Incidence of violence getting worse

More accidents take place in the American home than anywhere else. More violence, too.

As a matter of fact, the home has become one of the most turbulent areas in America today, according to a national survey taken recently.

The study, prepared for a House of Representatives subcommittee, reported that there were 1.2 million children whose parents had at some time attacked them with a lethal weapon; that more than 1.8 million wives are beaten by the husbands every year; that 2.3 million children had used a knife or a gun on a member of the family.

IS THE AVERAGE American home

the breakdown in the family as a unit as some psychologists predicted it would be? Is it, as some want to believe, an indication that the permissiveness in our society is creating monumental problems no tribal member can surmount?

Divorce rates are skyrocketing. Marriage is regarded by some as nothing more than a contractural arrangement - an arrangement held in contempt by many people who are

The situation often becomes more strained where both husband and wife work, where children are left to grow up on their own. Under such conditions, the kids are prone to leave home as soon as possible, even though they may be poorly prepared to fend for themselves.

The shaky structure of the family may be a factor but the problem of violence goes deeper. More serious is the fact that man has developed a basic disregard for his fellow man, be

IT'S A SAD indictment of our times that man is more easily enflamed to take action against another person than at any time in recent history. He can develop a homicidal urge if he lusts for money, for companionship he thinks is being deprived from him by another individual, even if the music from a record player is too loud to suit

Violence in the home in the majority of cases comes from passion — the hatreds and the insecurities a man feels. Arguments all too often get out of hand and violence results. If rebuffed for indolence, drunkenness or greed, a person is apt to lash out with the handiest object near, be it a kitchen knife, frying pan or beer

Many children are born to violence and grow up with it if, indeed, they are allowed to grow up at all. They see it on television, even on the family-type shows. The theme of life seems to be that true peace can only come after violence has either been threatened or

"Behind a very successful man, there's a good woman pushing him " I don't know who said that, but I'll bet it was a woman. I prefer to think that a man or a woman can be successful on their own, because of, or in spite of their mates. Nevertheless, here's a few cases where a woman did help boost a man to success.

If you've read "Cheaper By the Dozen", you're already familiar with Lillian Gilbreth, the mother of a dozen children and business partner to her husband, both of whom were industrial engineers. After his death in 1924, both the household and business continued to prosper under her

By the time of her death in 1972, she had invented the foot-pedal trash can and storage shelves in refrigerator doors as well as become an internationally known management consultant. Go ahead and laugh, but she's the reason you can find your mustard and catsup before the hotdog

THE POWER-PUSHER behind Winston Churchill was his mother, Jennie Jerome Churchill, who made up for neglecting her son as a child by leaving no stone unturned in helping him achieve the office of prime minister of Britain. Just as he was known for his cigars, Churchill's mother had a trademark of her own a snake tattooed on her left wrist.

William Randolph Hearst and the University of California both got a boost from Hearst's mother, Phoebe Hearst. She made Hearst a gift of 7.5 million dollars to expand his father's newspaper properties and generously donated to the construction of the University of California who named her their first woman regent.

Incidentally, it was a woman, Julia Morgan, who designed Hearst's San Simeon Castle, one of the most extravagant architectural designs in the

Expanding the "successful man" theory to "Behind every great nation there's a few good women pushing it along," here are some American "firsts

In the air, Amelia Earhart was the first woman to receive a pilot's license and Jeannette Piccard, balloonist, became the first woman to reach the stratosphere in 1934.

On the ground, in politics, Clare Boothe Luce delivered the first keynote speech by a woman at a national convention in 1944. Under President Eisenhower, she became the first woman named to a major U.S. embassy

Barbara Jordan was the first black woman to serve as a Texas state senator and Jeannette Rankin was the first woman ever to serve in Congress. A pacifist, Rankin voted against entry into WW I in 1917 and held the only dissenting vote against declaring war on Japan after Pearl Harbor. At the age of 87, she led the Jeannette Rankin Brigade of 5,000 women on Washington to protest the Vietnam War. Six years before women were voting nationwide, Montana women

Frances Perkins was appointed Secretary of Labor in 1933, becoming the first woman to serve in the cabinet. Despite her initial unpopularity among labor union leaders, she bettered the worker's lot by helping to shape New Deal laws.

IN 1879, BELVA Lockwood became the first woman to practice law before the U.S. Supreme Court. It took her two years to find a law school that would accept her and when her diploma was withheld upon graduation, she had to petition the school's president, who happened to be the U.S. President Ulysses S. Grant, for her diploma. And before she could bring a case before the federal court, she had to persuade Congress to pass a special bill giving women lawyers the right to plead a case before any U.S. federal court.

In the grind, Barbara Walters, who began her career as a secretary, was at the height of her career the highest paid TV news personality in history, earning $1 million a year.

Catherine Graham who took over as publisher of the Washington Post after her husband's death, was acclaimed 'the most powerful woman in America" when she allowed her reporters Carl Bernstein and Bob Woodward to pursue their investigation of a burglary at Watergate, toppling the President of the United States.

Mary Wells Lawrence, chairman of Wells, Rich, Greene, Inc., an advertising agency founded by her and creator of the Benson & Hedges 100's 'Cigarette Break' is the highest paid woman executive in America, reaping over $350,000 a year.

AND DID YOU know that the 'Battle Hymn of the Republic' was written by a woman? Julia Ward Howe, author of the American words to the old English tune, after 20 years of marriage, wrote in her diary, "I have never known my husband to approve of any act of mine which I myself valued.

The first and only American born saint was Elizabeth Ann Seton. The mother of five, she converted to the Catholic faith and became a nun after the death of her husband and was cannonized in 1975 for miracles attributed to her

Out of 75 Nobel prizes given in literature, only six of them went to Americans. Pearl Buck was one of the recipients, becoming the first and only American woman writer to win in

The Christian Science faith was founded by a woman, Mary Baker Eddy, and Annie Smith Peck was the first of men and women to climb Peru's Mt. Huascaran, then believed to be the highest mountain in the western hemisphere, in 1907, at the age of 57. She later planted a "Votes for Women" pennant at the summit of Peru's Mt. Coropuna. Her goal in life was to stand where no man had previously stood, which she achieved several times

Another New York firm, called Cresmond Industries, offered to purchase the sleepwear but refused to say where it would be shipped. Helena Fabrics of New York City would not buy Tris-treated garments but would

What is unfit for American children, apparently, can be sold to foreign children.

Footnote: Cohn made another telephone call to each company listed in this story and identified himself as a reporter. A Cresmond Industries official conceded he had made inquiries about selling Tris-treated garments to Central Africa, but had never actually made any sales. A representative of Intercontinental Cyvours, Inc., also said that his company hadn't sent any Tris-treated garments overseas. At Helena Fabrics, an official accused us of deceptive tactics, refused to answer our questions, told us to "go drop dead" and slammed down the phone.

Rep. Henry Waxman, D-Calif., will introduce legislation prohibiting the export of products banned from the U.S. market. BEHIND CLOSED DOORS: What happens behind closed White House doors is often more newsworthy than the public announcements. Here are some news items from confidential White House minutes:

 PRESIDENT CARTER told subordinates that he "is interested in keeping in close touch with the military in various ways, including frequent meetings with the Joint Chiefs and visits on aircraft, nuclear submarines" and other military craft. The president boasted that he "has generated a compatibility among the strategic planners of our government unknown in former administrations."

- Jimmy Carter is eager to scratch congressional backs and win more friends on Capitol Hill, Congressmen complain to him, he informed the Cabinet, that they aren't notified about federal grants to their districts. They like to issue the announcements and take credit with the voters for bringing federal money into their community

WASHINGTON - When Republican Rep. Tom Railsback of Illinois was told by his secretary last week that "Mr. Vance" was calling, he was running into a grimly determined effort to avert yet another Carter administration defeat in Congress on the B-1 bomber Railsback was flabbergasted. The only "Mr. Vance" he had heard of was Secretary of State Cyrus Vance. but he had never met or talked to him. Why would Vance call? To lobby Railsback on the B-1 bomber vote. scheduled to come up in the House within a couple of hours.

Railsback voted for the B-1 bomber anyway. But extraordinary lobbying efforts by President Carter and Secretary Vance turned the tide to kill the super-bomber and produce a victory desperately needed by the White House

THAT POLITICAL motive transcended military factors in the heavy push against the B-1. When lobbyists for all government departments met at their weekly White House con-ference before the B-1 vote, they were told a win was essential after months of stalemate on the energy bill and the defeat of Mr. Carter's consumer protection bill. The shocking consumer setback was cited as reason to demonstrate but the House was not running out of control

The President himself placed private telephone calls to about a dozen swing Congressmen who could have gone either way. "We gave him a pretty rough list," according in a White House aide, but Mr. Carter did "a lot better" than he had on the consumer product safety bill (when five or six lobbied Congressmen turned him down).

More unusual was the recruitment of Vance, arranged by chief White House lobbyist Frank Moore. Vance's message to House members: the U.S. does not need the B-1; the new strategic arms agreement (SALT) with the Russians would give this nation all the latitude it needs to arm the aging fleet of B-52s with cruise missiles (a highly debatable conclusion); therefore, would the Congressman please vote againsts building the last two of five B-1s originally programmed for research

THE ENTIRE administration pitched in. A high official at the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) called Republican Rep. John Buchanan of Alabama, reminding him that funding EPA projects in his district was tied up in the big money bill that had been stalled in Congress for months because of the B-1. Buchanan voted for the bomber, but other Congressmen presumably were moved by such tactics.

The high-pressure campaign included one unusual 55-minute briefing by Secretary of Defense Harold Brown of a bi-partisan group of undecided Congressmen. The President personally nailed down one of those undecideds: Rep. Mel Price of Illinois, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee.

But Mr. Carter would still have lost the B-1 vote if defense-oriented Congressmen had not joined administration forces for reasons of economy. They felt the money to be spent on those last two prototypes at least $200 million - would be money down the drain. That explains the pro-Carter, anti-B-1 vote of Republican Jack Edwards of Alabama, Democrat Dale Milford of Texas and other defense stalwarts.

GOODBYE, BELLA Joy reigned on the floor of the House

Feb. 15 - particularly among her fellow Democrats - over news that Bella Abzug, victim of a stunning upset the previous day in New York City's special congressional election, would not be coming back.

Blood test will reveal attack

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Several weeks ago I had a blood profile test and the only report I got back was that my "L.D.H." was up considerably. I can't get a satisfactory answer. It may not be anything, but I would like to know what it means. I am 73 and in good health for my age. - Mrs. N.J. I can tell you what the letters stand for and what such a test result could mean, but it's up to you to get together with your doctor and discuss it with

"L.D.H." is medical shorthand for found in body tissue, including heart muscle. One reason for a high level of this in the blood is recent damage to the heart.

In fact, it is one of the enzymes looked for in determining if a heart attack has occurred. In the post-heart attack period, the level will remain elevated for two or three weeks, then revert to normal.

A word of caution. Blood profiles are not always 100 per cent reliable, so a single reading need not be relied upon. The test should be repeated if doubt exists. Perhaps by this time only a careful ECG analysis will confirm whether or not there has been recent damage to your heart.

Your letter was stingy with information. It would be important to know, for example, why you had the test in the first place. If a heart attack was suspected, the reading would have confirmed that. In this event, your next logical step is to learn what you have to take to prevent another.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: For the past four years I have been having severe headaches following the intake of alcoholic beverages. The amount can be very little - one or two beers or a couple of mixed drinks. What causes this? I am 29, male, in good health. My drinking has never been more than moderate. — A.B.

This sounds very much like a 'cluster' or 'histamine' headache. It can result from dilation of arteries in the brain. Alcohol, as you may know, is a mild dilator of vessels and you are apparently unusually sensitive to it. My advice is to quit even the moderate drinking. If I'm correct, you should note some improvement.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My 15-year-old daughter suffers from migraine. She also has numbness of the limbs, blurred vision, and vomiting. She is taking an ergot preparation, but it doesn't seem to help. She is also on hormone pills because of severe bleeding and irregular menstrual periods. She has had the headaches for about seven years. All the tests, including brain scans, have been

Dear Editor We would like to express our appreciation to the Big Spring Herald, the Chamber of Commerce, and every individual who has contributed in any way to the American Agriculture

Movement. A lot of time and effort has been given to a cause we feel is vital to every individual and every industry We cannot survive without the help of each other.

It has been our purpose to present facts concerning agriculture and its relation to other industries and to the economy of our county

I realize that it is sometimes difficult to keep up with the news in and around Big Spring, but I feel that the outstanding young people should be recognized, especially when this youth, J. Wray Warren, represented our town so well as a state officer in YMCA Youth in Government.

I feel like this achievement warranted a front page article from the Big Spring Herald.

I also know that the picture of J. Wray shaking the governor's hand did appear in the Herald only because his father, Dr. Loren Warren, ask that the picture be printed.

I know there are many people that feel the same as I do, not about this particular situation, but any which involves our young people.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I have read so much lately about "born again Christians." Can you tell me how I can accept Jesus into my life? - B. N. B.

DEAR B. N. B: Our greatest need is to be born again — to be given a new spiritual life by God. The Bible teaches us that God wants to give us this new beginning. If we do not get it, it will not be because God is unable or unwilling to give it to us, but because we have been unwilling to receive it. How can you be born again? First, realize that God loves you and has made it possible for you to come into a right relationship with Him. He sent His Son into the world to die in your place on the cross. You deserved to die for your sins, but Christ died for you. Read John 3:16, and substitute your own name for "world" and 'whosoever": "For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life.'

Second, repent of your sins and confess them to God. Tell Him that you are sorry for your sins and that you want to live for Him from now on. Jesus said, "Repent ye, and believe the gospel" (Mark 1:15) Next, commit yourself to Christ in faith and trust. Simply tell God that you want Christ to live in your heart by faith. Salvation is a gift from God, and like all gifts, you must accept it or receive it. The Bible promises, "But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name" (John 1:12).

When you do this, God accepts you and adopts you as His child. He forgives you, and you become part of His family. You have been born again! "Whosoever believeth that Jesus is the Christ is born of God" (I

To Child Abuse

DEAR ABBY: For several years I've served as a paramedic on a volunteer basis with the county ambulance service. I enjoy it, but I'm thinking of giving it up. I can handle accident victims, drownings, coronaries, but I'm just not up to facing one more abused child. Last night I held a beautiful 5-year-old child in my arms who had been beaten so badly she looked as though she had been in a wreck. With her tiny hand clutched tightly around my forefinger, she managed to whisper, "I was bad," before she died. (The parents didn't realize they were "hurting" her that much-they were only trying to teach her a lesson!)

I would love to adopt a child, and even went through all the red tape single people must go through in applying for a child. I love children and I know I'd be a good mother, but I'm gay and if the adoption agency found out, that would be

DEAR ABBY: I recently borrowed a glass flower vase from a friend. When I went to her house to return it, she wasn't home, but her next-door neighbor volunteered to see that she got it, so I left it with her.

Well, the neighbor's little boy accidentally broke the vase. It can be replaced, but it is rather expensive, so I told this neighbor that I thought she should pay half and I would pay half. But she said she was only trying to do me a favor and she didn't see why she should pay anything. Who is responsible in this case?

DEAR CHICAGO: You are.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 9-year-old girl who has juvenile rheumatoid arthritis. To treat my symptoms I take a heavy daily dose of cortisone. Until my illness I was a normal kid in size and appearance, but the medicine I take has made me "moonfaced" and very heavy.

Ex-Steer pitcher Dick Battle may be keeping the family name alive up on the caprock, hurling for Lubbock Christian College, but last season's stellar-fellers Frankie Rubio and Arthur Olague are doing Big Spring proud

Both are playing for Texas Southmost College way down yonder in Brownsville, and as freshmen, both are starters. Olague, All-district 5-4A third baseman last season, is filling in for the Scorpions at that position this year.

Two weeks ago, Rubio, who was a member of the alldistrict squad in 1977, and Most Valuable Player as well, opened against Bee County. Despite giving up six runs early, which allowed his team to fall behind 6-0, he went on to give up just five hits while striking out 10 batters, leading his team to an eventual 7-6 win.

The Brownsville Herald reporter covering the game stated: "Rubio seemingly became stronger as the game progressed. In the last four frames, he gave up only one hit and retired the Cougars in order three of the four in-

This past Friday, Rubio upped his seasonal mark to 2-0 with a 12-inning display of smoke against New Orleans. He garnered a 1-0 shutout during that marathon mound duty and proved that he not only has speed, but endurance.

Most local baseball followers will remember that Rubio was the district's leading pitcher last year with a 7-2 record and 70 strike-outs. He only gave up 12 earned runs in nine games (55 innings) for an exceptional 1.60 ERA, and hit .349 in league action, with an additional 11 RBI's. Olague, impressive with his infield ball handling, rolled along with a .296 average and seven RBI's as a senior.
IN BLACK AND WHITE

Many black players can be found in pro baseball and football, but a recent survey indicates that the percentage is greatest in pro basketball.

There are 22 teams and approximately 255 players in the National Basketball Association. Of these, 179 are black, about 70 per cent. In the recent NBA All-Star game. 14 of the 22 (63.6 per cent) were black.

The Milwaukee Bucks, according to the survey, are the only NBA club with more whites than blacks (6-5). Rick Barry is the lone white player on the Golden State Warriors. The following clubs have two whites apiece: Buffalo, New Jersey, New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Washington and Indiana.

While baseball has had just one black manager, and the National Football League never has had a black head coach, five of 22 NBA head coaches are black. REMARKABILITIES

The Steers, 17-7 last season, return only four starters, and enter today's game rested from a grueling Saturday scrimmage with Ranger Jr. College.

"We played and played," said Head Coach Tommy Collins of the scrimmage. "We turned the lights on and practiced some more."

Collins indicated that his squad looked much better against Ranger than in the opening scrimmage against Odessa Ector. "Our pitching was much better than I expected," said Collins. The Steers utilized all five local pitchers in the scrimmage, and each hurled for at least three innings each.

"We didn't bruise the ball any," said Collins of the less than spectacular Steer hitting, "but Tony Jacobo was

Tuesday afternoon's game against the GCC Vikings was a gray affair for the locals until six minutes left in the continued his first half. Trailing by seven, superlative showing with 32 33-26, the Hawks went into their kamikaze act and proceeded to outscore the Vikes 14-2 in the next 41/2

Hawk Queens move to tourney finals

ABILENE — The Howard College Hawk Queens are just one win away from a trip to the National Tournament today, after a determined 58-51 win over Weatherford in the semi-finals of the Region V Women's Tournament.

"The game turned out just like we thought it would," said Head Coach Don Stevens. "They were tough and we knew it. We didn't shoot real well, but we did what we had to do."

Freshman Jan Phillips carried the Queens in the first half, garnering all of her 18-point total during that time. When Phillips was doubled-teamed the second half, sophomore Tami Edwards came through with 12 points (19 total). Stevens also praised the steady play of Beverly Strickland, and the relief duties of Sherrie Coalson.

The Queens will meet Clarendon at 8 o'clock tonight in the tourney's finals. Clarendon, a team the locals have beaten twice already this season, including a 68-61 decision a week ago, earned their finals berth with a 56-50 upset win over South Plains.

"Clarendon is really the cinderella team of this tournament," said Stevens. "They've really been playing good basketball lately, and have been at an emotional peak for two weeks now.

A win tonight would give the locals a trip to Overland Park, Kan., March 13-18, for the National tourney. The game will be carried live on local radio station KBST-

Tom recovers, frets over '78 schedule

DALLAS (AP) — Tom Landry, fully recovered now from a back in jury he suffered on the ski slopes, is fretting over the schedule his National Football League champions have drawn for the 1978 season.

"It's the toughest we have had in the '70s," said Landry. who was honored Tuesday night with the Field Scovell Award at the Dallas All Sports Banquet.

The World Champion Cowboys get Baltimore, Minnesota. New England and New Orleans at home and Green Bay, Los Angeles, Mia mi and the New York Jets on the road besides their regular divisional foes of Washington, New York Giants, St. Louis and Philadelphia

Only New Orleans and the Jets can be considered patsies on the schedule.

"You can't say Green Bay is a gimmie," said Landry "We haven't been able to beat them. I'd say this schedule has more contenders than any we've ever had.'

Landry said the NFL schedule, which has been extended to 16 games, will "put a severe test on our depth." In fact, Landry has a suggestion for the NFL rulemakers: Suit up more players for the games.

"I would be in favor of 45 players suiting up for the 1978 regular season," said Landry.
The NFL went with 43 players last year with two on the

"I think those extra two players will be needed," said Landry

Landry said he didn't expect the owners to go beyond 45 "because I understand that expenses are getting high. But I think 45 would be reasonable. It just stands to reason that there will be more injuries when you have to play two more games all out without giving your rookies ex-

He added "There is a lot of wear and tear when you play with intensity.

Landry said the NFL's new automatic cross-scheduling of strong teams against strong teams and weak teams against weak teams "certainly equalizes things. If our schedule is two games tougher it sure can make a difference over the course of the season.

"I'm in favor of the draft but I'm not sure I'm in favor of this kind of thing (the schedule).

Sands edges Forsan

LAMESA — With just four neither team breathed easy seconds remaining in Tuesday night's bi-district meeting here between the Forsan and Sands girls, sure-shot Susan Martin of the Fillies tossed in a pair of free throws to seal a 61-58 victory for the Ackerly distaffers

The win earned the Sands squad a spot in the Regional Tournament that begins this weekend at the Texan Dome on the campus of South Plains College in Levelland. The Fillies will open action Friday at 7 p.m. against

Tuesday night's game was razor close throughout, and Forsan until Martin's clinching gimme shots. Sands' Jill Floyd led all scorers with 25 points, Martin followed with 21 and Jodie Kemper added

Jaylene Saunders paced the Forsan Queens with 20 points, Julie Poynor popped in 18 and Valerie Stevens Forsan ends a highlysuccessful season with a 26-7 record, and Sands raised its mark to 32-3 with the triumph.

Brawl forces 'no contest'

GREENCASTLE, Ind. - Referees halted a college basketball game between St. Joseph's and DePauw with 10 minutes to go after a giant brawl erupted among players on the floor.

"Conditions were such that we could not continue the game," said referee Bob Showalter. "Which players would you allow to continue?'

St. Joseph's was leading 71-60 at the time, but the referees ruled the game "no contest."

The fight, involving up to eight of the 10 players on the floor, began after a missed DePauw shot and a scramble for the loose ball.

Showalter and referee Eric Harmon, who also work Big Ten and Mid-American Conference games, said the fight was apparently spontaneous and they could not fix the blame on either team.

Good chance for 7th ref

DALLAS (AP) - National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle said Tuesday night he felt there was a good chance a seventh referee would be added for 1978 regular season games.

Rozelle said the matter would be decided next month at a meeting of NFL officials, but he was optimistic about an additional referee being added.

The NFL came under fire last year because of numerous controversial calls in key games. One suggestion was the addition of referees and the other was the use of video taped replays. Rozelle said the replay question had been under scrutiny and would also be discussed at the league meeting. However, he said there were so many problems presented by the taped replay that he did not

CANYON, Texas (AP) - West Texas State began searching for a new basketball coach today after Tuesday's firing of Ron Ekker, WTSU's coach for five seasons and Missouri Valley Conference Coach of the Year two years ago

Ekker, 43, guided the Buffaloes to an 8-19 record this season, losing to Indiana State 90-71 Monday night in the first round of the MVC post-season tournament.

"We are entering a new era at West Texas State with a major effort toward a unified athletic program. I feel there is a need for a change in our basketball program," Dietl said Tuesday in announcing that Ekker's contract, which expires Aug. 31, will not be

"Ron Ekker, in five years, did an excellent job of bringing the basketball program along financially and to a respectable position in the Missouri Valley Conference and he is to be commended for those efforts," added Dietl.

Ekker was unavailable for comment about his sudden dismissal.

Ekker posted a 65-70 record at West Texas during his fivevear stint.

WTSU went 19-7 in 1975-76 when Ekker reaped coach of the year honors and was 18-12 last season while on NCAA probation.

Ekker's teams were 11-15 and 9-17 in his first two season at West Texas.

A native of Spring Grove, Minn., Ekker coached for two years at Hillsdale College in Michigan, where he posted a 44-17 record, before coming to WTSU.

Sugar Ray cut and drawn

SEATTLE (AP) — Sugar Ray Seales of Tacoma, a ranked middleweight, had to share honors with unheralded Willie Warren of Corpus Christi, Texas, Tuesday night.

Seales cut both of Warren's eyes in the fight, but Warren time-and-again slipped inside the 6-foot-1 Seales' defense and knocked him to the canvas late in the eighth round.

The judges declared the 10-rounder a draw. In two other 10-round events, light-heavyweight Dale Grant of Tacoma stopped Stan "The Animal" Johnson of Seattle with four seconds remaining while Tommy Howard of Spokane stopped Leon McCullum of Houston at 2:53 of the eighth round of a middleweight
