

Unemployment rate declines

WASHINGTON (AP) — A big increase in new manufacturing jobs helped push the nation's jobless rate down to 6.1 percent in February, the fourth straight monthly decline in unemployment and the lowest since October 1974, the government reported today.

The unemployment rate in January was 6.3 percent.

The best unemployment gains in February were for blacks and other minority workers, whose jobless rate declined to 11.8 percent, down from 12.7 percent in January and the lowest in more than three years.

The February report said the effects of the long coal strike either had not yet shown up or not yet had an impact on overall employment, although it noted that the strike has taken 160,000 miners temporarily out of the labor force.

Aside from the miners themselves, the Labor Department reported Thursday that 25,500 factory workers had been laid off in the week of Feb. 26 as a direct result of coal and electricity shortages in the 11 Midwestern and mid-Atlantic states most affected by the strike.

The agency said nearly half of the lay-offs were in Indiana. Other significant lay-offs were reported in Pennsylvania, Illinois, Maryland and Ohio.

Administration officials agree that if the strike continues into April, the impact on jobs will mount at an alarming pace.

Energy Secretary James R. Schlesinger said Thursday that the number of unemployed workers would exceed 1 million by the end of March and 3.5 million in April, while several million more workers would have reduced working hours.

The Labor Department said 93 million Americans had jobs in February, up from 92.9 million in January, while 6.1 million were unemployed, down from 6.2 million a month earlier.

Reflecting the steady improvement in the nation's economy, the February unemployment rate of 6.1 percent was the lowest since a 5.9 percent rate during the recession in October 1974.

The Labor Department said overall employment last month was 3.7 million higher than in February 1977, the first full month of President Carter's term in office.

If unemployment remains at the February level for the rest of 1978, it means the Carter administration already has achieved its goal for the year of reducing the nation's jobless rate to near 6 percent.

But a Labor Department analyst cautioned that the coal strike could seriously complicate the jobs outlook in months ahead unless it is ended soon.

"Generally speaking it is a good report, but we have to be uncertain about the future of the coal strike and what effect it will have if it continues," he said.

The Labor Department gave the following unemployment rates in February for various categories of the labor force:

- Adult men 4.5 percent, down from 4.7 percent in January.
- Adult women 5.7 percent, down from 6.1 percent.
- Teen-agers 17.4 percent, up from 16 percent in January.

- White 5.3 percent, down from 5.5 percent.
- Blacks and others 11.8 percent, down from 12.7 percent.
- Full-time workers 5.7 percent, down from 5.8 percent.
- White-collar workers 3.5 percent, down from 3.6 percent.
- Blue-collar workers 7.1 percent, unchanged.

Joblessness among blacks was the lowest since an 11.6 percent rate in November 1974, an indication that special government efforts to find jobs for minority workers may be showing results.

The Labor Department said the major improvement in the overall jobs picture in February was an increase of 120,000 jobs in manufacturing, with most of the gains in so-called durable-goods industries, including furniture, primary and fabricated metals, machinery and electrical and transportation equipment.

The department said total manufacturing employment stood at 20.1 million in February, the highest total since September 1974, early in the recession.

The improvement in unemployment was not uniform across the country, however, as some states, such as California and New York, showed a worsening in joblessness.

JOBBS — A big increase in new manufacturing jobs helped push the nation's jobless rate down to 6.1 per cent in February, the fourth straight monthly decline in unemployment and the lowest since October 1974, the government reported Friday. The unemployment rate in January was 6.3 per cent.

Air Canada refuses hijackers passage

NEW YORK (AP) — Six American fugitives who were to have flown home to surrender on air piracy charges were left in Havana after Air Canada refused to fly them out because it was not satisfied with security arrangements.

Airline security officials had traveled to Havana Thursday morning, "looked into the situation and decided not to grant the men passage," said Marie-Josée Bourgeois, an airline public relations representative in Montreal.

"The airline was not given any more information except that they were called expatriates," said Ed

Johnson, an Air Canada security official. "You can call them what you like. We're caught in the middle of this one."

Sources said it was still possible the surrender would be worked out — possibly sometime today.

The fugitives, wanted in connection with hijackings between 1969 and 1971, were to have flown from Havana to Mirabel Airport, 35 miles northwest of Montreal, on a regularly scheduled Air Canada DC-10 with 170 other passengers.

There, U.S. Marshals were to board the aircraft, which was to depart as a special charter to Kennedy Airport where the expatriates would be arrested.

But when the plane arrived in Canada Thursday night, the men were not aboard. Air Canada did not announce its decision to refuse passage until after the plane had landed.

FBI official J. Wallace LaPrade said the agency had only tentative identifications on the fugitives because there are arrest warrants for more than 80 persons known to have hijacked airliners to Cuba.

Arrangements for the repatriation were made through the "interest sections" the United States and Cuba have set up at foreign embassies in each other's capitals, officials said.

The FBI tentatively identified the six returnees as:

- Garland Grant of Milwaukee, Wis., who allegedly hijacked a Northwest Airlines jet to Cuba on Jan. 28, 1971.
- Nobel Mason and Larry Brooks, wanted for the hijacking of an Eastern Airlines flight bound for Miami on Jan. 28, 1969.
- Angel Cassado, wanted for the hijacking of an American Airlines flight on Oct. 25, 1971, as it headed for Puerto Rico.
- Rudolph Rios, wanted for the hijacking of Pan American Flight 299 on Aug. 8, 1970.
- Richard Witt, wanted for the hijacking of Allegheny Airlines Flight 703 on Sept. 19, 1971.

Two oil workers rescued after being trapped in sub

LERWICK, Shetland Islands (AP) — Two oil workers were rescued unharmed from the icy depths of the North Sea today after being trapped 355 feet down for nearly 24 hours in a mini-submarine.

The sub, the PC9, was stranded on the sea floor Thursday by a half-inch wire cable that fouled its propeller while its two crewmen were working on an oil wellhead in a British Petroleum Co. field 80 miles east of the Shetland Islands.

It was cut free this morning by divers taken down by another mini-sub. The PC9 maneuvered to the surface under its own power and was hoisted aboard its mother ship, its owner, the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Co., reported.

The P. and O. at first identified the two trapped men only as an Englishman and a Scotsman. Today it said they were James Jones and his copilot Bill Cornwall, two experienced sub men in their early 30s.

Two men in a diving bell tried to free the propeller before dawn today but failed, and the bell was hauled back up. Then a mini-sub from another company, the Intersub III, was sent down with two divers who did the job.

A P. and O. spokesman said Jones and Cornwall had not been in danger and took their plight "rather philosophically."

"They have enough air and food for seven or eight days," he reported Thursday night. "They are making regular radio checks with their mother ship on the surface every half-hour. They've shut down all non-essential equipment to conserve power."

Oil industry sources had predicted little difficulty freeing the men if the weather stayed calm. But rising winds were forecast, with a chance of gales by Saturday.

Since the North Sea oil boom began a decade ago, 36 divers have died in the North Sea and there has been one mini-sub mishap.

All in the Clone family 'Max, Sparrow and Darwin'

NEW YORK (AP) — "Max" is the millionaire father, "Sparrow" the surrogate mother and "Darwin" the doctor who created a genetic duplicate of the father, according to a copy of an unpublished book on the first human clone.

But the book, "In His Image: The Cloning of Man" by David Rorvik, is short on details of how "Darwin" made possible what has been viewed as impossible.

Rorvik refers to various "refinements" and "adjustments" to techniques described in known experiments with lower forms of life but gives no substantive details of anything novel.

J. B. Lippincott Co., the publisher, has declined to make available either the author or his book, but The Associated Press obtained a copy of the still unpublished book from a source in the publishing industry.

Reports about "In His Image" have caused respected geneticists to question its authenticity. Scientists contend that the cloning of a human being — exactly reproducing a man or a woman from a single body cell without using the genetic material of a sexual partner — is for now impossible.

Rorvik concedes in the book that he doesn't expect anyone to believe him. He says documentation will come someday.

To protect their privacy, Rorvik says, he had to conceal or change details about the principals in the experiment.

They were "Max," who wanted to create an heir; the purported clone, born in December 1976; "Sparrow," the woman in whose womb the clone grew; "Darwin"; a female assistant doctor named "Mary"; and "Paul," an assertedly brilliant Ph.D. who also was in on the secret.

Rorvik writes that body cells from Max were put in a centrifuge and spun in a substance which extracts nuclei. Eggs were removed from female ovaries and kept alive for five hours in

The nuclei from Max were combined with the eggs, minus their nuclei. A microscopic embryo developed and was implanted in the uterus of "Sparrow," says the book.

In an afterword, Rorvik writes that Max, Sparrow and the cloned child were together and well.

Lippincott says it doesn't know whether the book's story is authentic. Simon & Schuster said in a statement that it declined to publish it a year ago because the author would offer no proof.

Two spacemen return to Earth

MOSCOW (AP) — A Soviet and a Czechoslovak cosmonaut returned to earth today from the Soviet Salyut 6 space station, leaving two other Soviet cosmonauts aboard, the Tass news agency reported.

Soviet flight commander Alexei Gubarev and Czechoslovak spaceman Vladimir Remek had spent seven days in space in the first mission to include a non-Soviet, non-American astronaut.

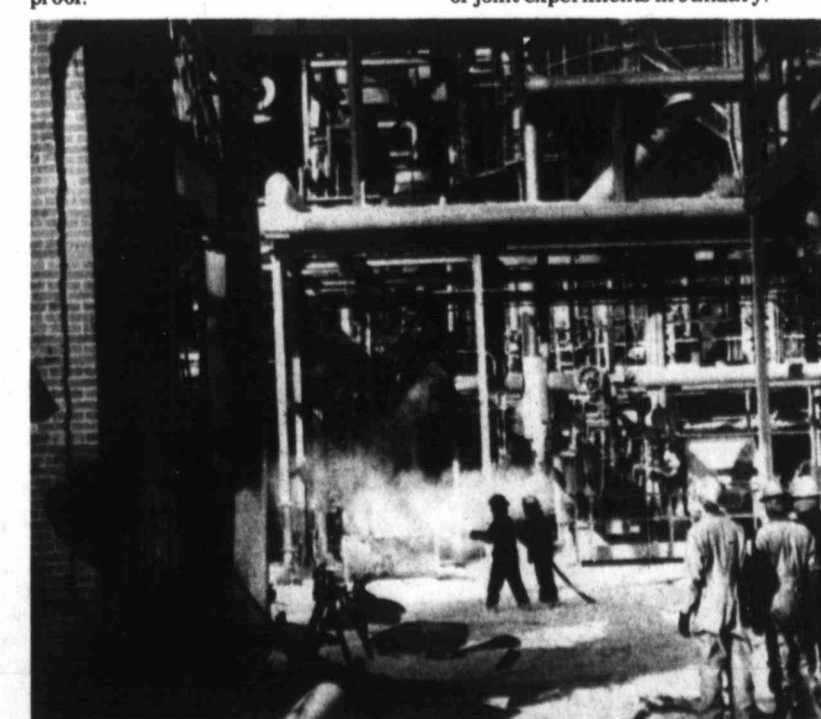

Tass said Georgy Grechko and Yuri Romanenko were continuing their work aboard the space station after more than 12 weeks in space. They are expected to return to earth in the next week or two, having broken the world space endurance record of 84 days set four years ago by a U.S. Skylab crew.

During their week in space, Gubarev and Remek engaged in joint scientific experiments, photography of the earth and in television broadcasts. They also brought supplies to the space station.

Tass announced during the flight that other East bloc spacemen, from Poland and East Germany, will also be orbited before the year is out.

Among the experiments carried out during the past week by the four cosmonauts were cardiovascular tests using an airtight suit, microbiology procedures, optics experiments, star observation and study of natural resources on earth, according to Soviet announcements.

Gubarev and Remek are the second crew to visit Romanenko and Grechko aboard Salyut 6. Soviet cosmonauts Vladimir Dzhanibekov and Oleg Makarov flew up for a five-day series of joint experiments in January.

Q. Is it legal for a driver to cross the street in the middle of the block to park on the other side?

"According to the city ordinance, it is illegal to turn a vehicle so that it is pointed in the opposite direction on a street in the business district," said Police Capt. Sherrill Farmer. "That would include U-turns and crossing the street to park going the other way. Outside of the business district, U-turns are allowed only at an intersection," he added.

Offbeat: Unique instruments

DALLAS (AP) — To the nameless physician with the trusty pocketknife and ballpoint, J. Wesley Ingram says, "Thanks Doc."

Ingram, 29, of the Fort Worth suburb of Bedford, was out driving Sunday when police said his sports car was hit by another vehicle, forcing it off the highway and into a steel light pole.

Sheriff's deputies saw the wreck and attempted to help but Ingram was jammed in the seat. It was then they noticed the engineer was not breathing. Their efforts to open his mouth and clear an airway failed.

Seconds later, a doctor stopped to render aid. Seeing the problem, he crawled into the wrecked auto, borrowed a deputy's pocketknife and made a small incision in Ingram's windpipe.

Quickly, he borrowed a ballpoint pen from one of the officers, stripped off the plastic hull and inserted it into the incision. After a few quick breaths down the tube, Ingram began to breathe on his own.

A deputy and the doctor, who asked to remain anonymous, accompanied Ingram in the ambulance.

He was listed in serious condition this morning, but he was alive.

Death wish perished

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Melvin Gordon was dead only a few minutes before his body was found, but in those few minutes the purpose in his death perished as well. His widow says it was a wish to give his kidneys to his ailing sister in Michigan that led him to take his own life Wednesday night while sitting in his car outside a hospital emergency room.

Gordon had told his wife he would do almost anything to restore his sister's health. "He loved all of his family very much," she said.

He also was apparently depressed about a seasonal furlough from his job as a boilermaker, said Mrs. Gordon.

Gordon, 38, put a rifle muzzle to his head and fired one shot. His body was found moments later, but kidneys for transplants must be taken from a body at the moment of death and kept filled with flowing blood to avoid tissue deterioration, said G. Michael Heinrich, a Sacred Heart Medical Center spokesman.

However, Gordon was carrying a donor's card. His corneas were taken for use by a local eye bank. "Get my kidney with (sic) one hour," said a note pinned to the dead man's shirt.

Also in the note were the names and addresses of his wife, Delores, 35, and his sister, Bertha Overly, 42, of Muskegon, Mich. Mrs. Overly's name was circled in black ink, underlined and accompanied by the word "sister."

Seven years ago Mrs. Overly received a kidney from another brother, but that kidney began to fail last year, Mrs. Gordon, fighting back tears, said Thursday.

And the world's largest producers, Brazil and Colombia, are not represented.

The company's Evans 1-7 well in Wheeler County, Texas, tested gas from two separate zones. On a test from perforations between 14,951 and 14,960 feet, the well flowed at a stabilized rate of 3,977 Mcf per day on 9-64" choke, with a flowing tubing pressure of 4,000 pounds. Odds 50-50 Flynt may never walk

ATLANTA (AP) — Hustler magazine owner Larry Flynt has less than a 50 percent chance of ever walking again, say doctors who have operated on him.

"There are no reflexes in the lower extremities and there is a loss of sensation from his mid-thighs down," Dr. George Tindall, Emory University Hospital's chief neurosurgeon, said Thursday after a 2 1/2-hour operation to remove a bullet from Flynt's lower back.

It will take six months to a year to know the full extent of the damage, Tindall said. Flynt, 34, and one of his attorneys, Gene Reeves Jr., 47, were shot Monday outside the Gwinnett County courthouse, where Flynt was being tried on obscenity charges.

Guards stood at the operating room doors where Flynt underwent his third operation since the shooting. His wife, Althea, was with him in the recovery room.

Tindall said he removed bullet fragments and bone chips from Flynt's spinal canal at the third lumbar vertebra during the operation.

Thief suspect is arrested

Sheriff's deputies are holding a 30-year-old man who claims to be from Tampa, Fla. today after an apparent auto theft attempt.

According to reports, R. V. Thomas, 2504 Carol, picked up a hitchhiker Thursday morning west of Fairview. After offering the man a cigarette, Thomas said he was assaulted and thrown from the pickup. The man was stopped shortly afterward driving the pickup north on 87 a half mile from the Fairview Gin.

The Floridian was arrested at 10:30 a.m. Thursday. He is being held without bail in the Howard County jail.

Textbook is criticized

By BOB BURTON
Parents disagreeing with the selection of the Big Spring School District Textbook Committee for an eighth grade literature text appeared at the Thursday afternoon meeting to air their views.

Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Wolfe, 2604 Cactus, told the board that they were concerned with the content of the choice of the Textbook Committee. The book questioned, called Projection in Literature, according to the Wolfe's "portrays the worst in man, failure and frustration."

The Wolfe's cited problems of youth today, and asked that the board reconsider in favor of another book, called Counterpoints in Literature, which "contains the best in man."

Superintendent Lynn Hise told the board that the controversial book was the first choice of the teachers who made up the committee, while the suggested alternate was the third choice. Hise noted that teachers may pick and choose from among the stories in the book, not necessarily dwelling on those with a darker side. He also pointed out to the board that he felt parents who took an active interest in their children were to be commended, but that when "they try to tell the district what to do in regard to education, they are out of their balliwick."

The board agreed to table the book recommendation until their second meeting this month, and allow the Textbook Committee to re-examine the choices.

In an executive session, the board met with school district attorney Richard Milstead to discuss the district's status with the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. Board President Roy Watkins indicated that the relative positions of the two regarding minority makeup in Big Spring schools remain essentially unchanged, and that no further talks are slated.

In the same executive session, the board discussed the renewal of teachers' contracts, and approved the renewal without exception.

Assistant Superintendent for Business Don Crockett told the board that the state is meeting its obligations to the school district unusually fast this year, and would complete its payments in May rather than July. Crockett said, however, that the record excess cash-in-hand had been invested as best possible, and was working for the district.

The board also approved a suggestion from Assistant Superintendent Harold Bentley to compile the goals for the school district suggested by the Goals Committee, and to distribute 1,500 of the questionnaires to the community to serve as "a kind of a vote" on goals for the district.

In other action, the board approved an $1,800 expense requested by the Marcy School PTA for paving an additional playground. They approved a request by Howard County Commissioner Jack Buchanan for leasing the Gay Hill gym and cafeteria for use as a community center. Buchanan told the board the county would pay liability insurance and utilities on the structure.

The board also purchased a lawn mower, accepting a bid of $4,850 from Colonial Motors, Dallas. The other bid was $5,758 from Goldthwaite, Ft. Worth.

Finally, the board approved a school calendar for the 78-79 school year. The calendar, the most popular choice of the school personnel, includes a week break in March prior to April's Easter weekend.

10 MARCH 10

Don't wait too long to tackle chore

Although she attacks the chore with more sophisticated tools, a ritual that hasn't changed in decades for the housewife is spring housecleaning.

It's not a particularly joyful event for her or other members of the household, but it is a very necessary one. Over the wintertime, there are a lot of things that are left undone that must be accomplished when the warmer weather comes on.

Spring housecleaning becomes less a terrible drudgery if planning goes into it and it is approached in a systematic and scientific way — and it invariably can be done with greater ease if the husband and the children pitch in to help.

One begins by throwing away things that should, in all probability, have been disposed of last fall. That includes disposable receipts (for groceries, haberdashery and etc.), old medicines and other household chemicals of questionable age or strength.

Most Americans, let it be said, are like pack rats, in a sense. They cling to things long after there is no value to them — even empty perfume and cologne bottles.

Saving things "just in case" is a common practice but, in situations where there are small children running about the house, that can be dangerous. That is especially true if adults are prone to pour liquids into bottles with incorrect labeling.

Spring cleaning, of course, means making sure that vacuum cleaners, brooms and mops are in working order. It's amazing how the cobwebs can accumulate in remote corners over the winter.

A house is apt to become so cluttered with unnecessary junk from October through March, one finds it difficult to move around without one-way signs in evidence.

It's amazing how much bigger a house can seem after excess household goods and furniture is moved out in the direction of the garbage dump.

The timing of spring cleaning is important. Don't wait too long. One runs the danger of being infected by spring fever, where the will to get things done diminishes as the temperatures rise. There comes a time, especially with males, when such plans become inoperable, when it is futile to try to get them to help in any way.

Letter from Ford

Around the rim

Bob Burton

I got a letter from Gerry Ford today. The last I heard of him, he was trying to birdie the 18th at Pebble Beach. But here was a letter from him anyway, bearing the confident letterhead "Gerald R. Ford, Washington, D.C."

I voted for Ford for president in '76. The only reason to mention the fact is that I intend to criticize this letter I got, and I want you all to know that I don't hate Republicans on principle, nor am I a charter Democrat.

between South Korea and "security in the North Pacific."

He follows that with the usual "what if?" bogeymen, like what if Russia is tunnelling insidiously under the Atlantic towards Skokie, Illinois right this very minute?

Then comes the hooker: enclosed with this letter is a critical issues survey, sponsored by the RNC, for me to fill in and return. The questions recap the issues raised by Gerry and, boy, I was foaming at the mouth, so eager was I to return this survey and let myself be heard.

SO HERE WAS this letter. At first I was surprised, I mean, how did he know? I didn't write to tell him I had voted for him. I didn't have Gerry Ford stickers on my car or anything, and he never came to Big Spring where he would notice me, a rare Republican ruffling Democratic feathers in a Democratic state. My wife said, "You got a letter from Gerry Ford" so calmly I didn't think anything of it for just a second.

The meaning only got brighter after I looked at the letterhead a second time. 310 First Street, Southeast Washington. Ah, I thought, Republican National Committee Headquarters. They want money.

I was right, but what is disconcerting about the whole thing is not that they asked, but the method of asking.

First, Gerry comes on the screen, addressing me as Mr. Burton (which they do with a handy-dandy computer that types magazine subscription lists in the twinkling of an eye) and saying modestly that he has restrained from criticizing President Carter to these many months because of professional ethics.

"But," he says, getting down to the nitty-gritty (so you think), "I cannot give my support to President Carter when major and sudden policy changes occur that, in my opinion, might seriously weaken our national defense, our economy, or our foreign policy."

He goes on to cite defense cuts, the B-1 bomber, cancellation of Minuteman missiles, increasing government control over "our personal and business lives", lack of Carter stimulation of oil and gas production, the instant voter registration bill, relations between America and Cuba, relations between Cuba and Africa, relations between the U.S. and South Korea, relations

THEN I CAUGHT this line: "To (give Americans a chance to express their views through this survey) the National Committee must raise a minimum of $375,000 in the next 25 days to expand this discussion."

In the lower left hand corner of the survey is a box, telling Gerry that I strongly oppose the direction the Carter administration is taking America in various areas and here is my "maximum" contribution to 1) help launch a debate, and 2) help Republican candidates get the facts about the dangerous and irresponsible programs of the Democrats to the voters next election.

Now, you Democrats are going to get plenty of the same garbage before the next election, and if this tells us anything, it is that the Republicans are hungrier than the Democrats, which is probably good since the Demos are now definitely the ruling party in this country.

I guess I'm not much on political parties. It is disillusioning for me to know that Gerry is saving par in California while these letters go out. And the approach that I must contribute or else the American people will be deprived of vital information at the polls moves me very little.

The thing that bothers me is that they ask for a blanket stamp. The same generalization they apply to "Democratic programs" they would have me apply to them, and I can't do the Democrats that disservice, nor give the Republicans that favoritism. I wish for a one-man, one-party system; or for something where I can endorse a candidate without getting tangled up in block voting, and without the alignment that goes along.

The only other thing I wish is that Gerry would break par.

Sizzler on hill

Jack Anderson,

WASHINGTON — There is nothing that produces as much exhilaration as a protracted, bitter, ugly political vendetta. Such a feud is now raging in the backrooms of Washington between the nation's top two housing authorities, Patricia Harris and Oakley Hunter.

The stakes are high: control over the $30 billion, government-supported mortgage market.

The feisty Harris has sent a sizzling, secret memo to the White House, setting forth 54 pages of charges against Hunter. She wants him fired as head of the Federal National Mortgage Association, popularly known as Fannie Mae.

For openers, the memo accuses him of impeding "the administration of the national housing policy, the condition of the nation's great urban centers, race relations and even the state of national economy."

authority to adopt a policy for Fannie Mae on (various) matters" without consulting the board "may be considered a breach of duty warranting his removal," the memo contends.

— Hunter allegedly withheld from the board, among other things, correspondence between himself and Harris. These letters showed the depth of their disagreement over mortgage policy. Yet he allegedly "proceeded on his own responsibility to adopt a Fannie Mae policy" on each of the disputed issues.

— Hunter also tried to sell off $500 million in mortgages, it is alleged, without consulting the board. "Fannie Mae directors expressed much criticism of Mr. Hunter's failure to consult the board on the proposal," the memo charges.

— THE MEMO ALSO claims that he violated conflict of interest rules by voting on matters affecting himself. He voted to reject a request for his resignation. He also voted to accept an audit report exonerating him from alleged improprieties, involving his use of Fannie Mae automobiles. His failure to heed the conflict-of-interest directives, states the memo, "constitutes good cause for his removal."

— Hunter allegedly defied Harris' authority over Fannie Mae's conventional mortgage programs. Charges the memo: "Until there was intervention by the Fannie Mae board, Mr. Hunter's intransigent refusal to recognize the Secretary's authority delayed implementation of a needed program. Such rigidity, in a relationship as critical to Fannie Mae as that between its chief executive officer and the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development is good cause for Mr. Hunter's removal."

— An underlying theme of the memo is that Hunter has neglected his duties by showing more concern over earning profits than improving housing conditions. He obstructed efforts, for example, to combat racial redlining, the memo charges.

Our associate Gary Cohn went to Hunter's office to seek his response. On advice of counsel, Hunter refused to discuss the memorandum. He insisted that he had no animosity toward Harris and he plans to resign. On the contrary, he has a responsibility to stay on the job to assure Fannie Mae's independence, he said. He insisted that Fannie Mae has made tremendous strides in advancing social programs under his leadership.

Footnote: A Washington mystery has developed around the secret memo detailing the case against Hunter. Last December, there was a Watergate-style burglary of the government safe that had contained the memo. But the memo was removed shortly before the burglary occurred. The thieves have never been caught, and their motive can only be guessed. But nothing was stolen from the safe; only some papers were rearranged.

Jimmy in Carolina

Evans, Novak

RALEIGH, N.C. — When a distressed Gov. Jim Hunt of North Carolina visited the White House Feb. 28, he warned Jimmy Carter how low the President's stock had fallen here — an appraisal with origins and implications going well beyond the borders of North Carolina.

Hunt's polite warning only suggests the blunt assessment here. "If Carter were running against Jerry Ford right today," one veteran Democratic politician told us, "there is no way he could carry North Carolina." More immediate is widespread Democratic fear that the Carter connection could reflect conservative Republican Sen. Jesse Helms and unseat three Democratic Congressmen in 1978.

SPECIFIC REASONS are the federal government's unrelated drives to curb tobacco smoking and force further — and highly questionable — racial integration at the respected University of North Carolina. Thus has the Carter administration joined together two disparate lobbies in this state: tobacco and the university. Behind this lies President Carter's failure to remember one campaign pledge and his too-faithful fulfillment of another.

The remembered pledge promised cabinet government without White House interference. The anti-smoking campaign and, to a lesser extent, the university integration push are creatures of Secretary Joseph Califano, who runs the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) without much presidential supervision. But in giving Califano his head, the President has acquiesced in more federal interference in the affairs of local government and individuals — not less, as promised.

That is the sad conclusion of Hunt who, unlike many Southern governors, likes and admires Mr. Carter. An early Carter-for-President backer, Hunt told us the President has talked to him of the terrible burden of foreign affairs. "With all that on his mind," Hunt said, "I think the President has gotten away from some of the things he started with."

The governor, no state's rights Dixiecrat, is a moderate liberal with national aspirations. Nevertheless, he believes the troubles in his state reveal the federal government's obsession for a centrally-directed statist society. If being for smoking and against integration were not politically reprehensible, Hunt might take his case to the nation.

Hunt has tried dealing directly with Califano — cornering him for 15 minutes at a fund-raising dinner at Atlanta plus several telephone conversations. Super-bureaucrat Califano cooed his understanding of the governor's problems. But nothing changed. Matters had to be taken up with the President.

So Hunt (in Washington for the winter governors' conference) and Sen. Robert Morgan visited the President Feb. 28. Carter was sympathetic to the tobacco-university problem, and the governor returned here voicing optimism; the rhetoric from Washington would soon change, he promised.

In truth, most everybody else involved is pessimistic that anything will change. Nobody at the White House has been able to control Califano, who is perceived there as a grandstander. But Vice President Walter Mondale — Califano's friend, ex-neighbor and political patron for the cabinet — interjected to say he would handle the unpleasant task.

RELYING ON the Vice President to curb a cabinet member running counter to the President's stated philosophy suggests the administration is malfunctioning. At this writing, nearly a week after Mondale's promise, the "no smoking" campaign is still lit up at HEW.

If that continues, Democrats will try to salvage the 1978 North Carolina election by pinning big brotherism on Califano while isolating Mr. Carter.

"GETTIN' COLD IN HERE AGAIN... THROW ANOTHER CONTRACT ON THE FIRE."

Tendinitis season nearly upon us

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is tendinitis? What causes it? Can it be cured, and, if so, how? — W.C.F.

The outdoor "tedinitis" season is nearly upon us, so I may as well discuss it here and now.

You will see it spelled two ways — "tendinitis" or "tendonitis." However you spell it, it is inflammation of a tendon, and it is mighty painful.

The most common site is the tendon of the shoulder or wrist joint. A tendon is a tough tissue that connects a muscle to a bone. It permits joint movement as muscles contract. More of this "anatomy lesson" later.

It's difficult to pinpoint the precise cause of tendon pain, but injury from overuse of a joint is the most common one. Pain results usually from a pinching of the inflamed tendon as the arm is raised to shoulder level. This pinching effect can be felt by placing a hand on a shoulder while raising that arm.

Most cases can be treated conservatively. Rest of the joint, heat application and, if necessary, ultrasound or diathermy allow recovery of movement without pain. A sling is usually required for the shoulder, a splint for the wrist.

If pain persists long after the injury, X-ray of the joints is needed to find out why. Sometimes, if there has been considerable irritation, calcium can form in the tendon, aggravating things. A very complex network of nerves and tissues are involved in the shoulder construction. For example, a bursa may become inflamed (bursitis). A bursa is a little fluid-filled sac that serves as a buffer between joint ends. If irritated, it may enlarge and cause further pressures.

Rarely — and when conservative measures have failed — surgery may be necessary to remove calcium deposits, empty bursas, or correct bone structure.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: If one chews his food 35 or 50 times before swallowing, is this good for the digestive system? — O.W.L.

Well, thinking positively, you are not eating rapidly so you won't be swallowing air like the food gulpers do. And chewing certainly is making digestion a little easier.

On the other hand, you may be overdoing things a bit. Fifty chews might be fine for a piece of meat, but it's not going to help much with a spoonful of gelatin. Common sense should rule.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a 16-year-old girl and I think I'm pregnant. I haven't had any sexual intercourse, but I'm getting a lot of those little veins that pregnant women get on their feet, legs, and thighs. I don't want to go to a doctor, and I haven't had my period yet. I think it is not far off because my bust swells and hurts a little. Does this mean my period will come soon? Do you think I am pregnant? I'm going crazy trying to figure out what's wrong with me. — Worried.

By the time you read this, you may have your answer. It won't be that you are pregnant. You tell me you have never had sexual intercourse. The average age for menarche (beginning of menstrual cycles) is from 12 to 15 years. You may have just turned 16, but a few months either way is not significant.

Young girls at puberty often experience crazy sensations, such as your vein changes. It's nothing to be alarmed over. That goes for breast symptoms, too. Whoever was responsible for your sex education up to this point should stand in a corner. To settle matters, and ease your mind, you should be seen by a doctor. It's appropriate anyway at this time in your life.

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: What do you think Paul meant in I Corinthians 12:2 when he talked about being "caught" up to the third heaven? — P. A.

DEAR P. A.: Paul was describing a special vision or revelation that God gave him. It seems to have been an awesome revelation of heavenly things, and was an event that apparently only happened to him this one time. The term "third heaven," many Bible scholars feel, is simply another term for heaven, the dwelling place of God. The first heaven was the atmosphere with its clouds; the second heaven was the universe with its stars and planets; the third heaven was the dwelling place of God. Clearly Paul believed he had been given a glimpse of the highest, most glorious spiritual realm. He received a glimpse of the glory of God, not unlike the vision that Isaiah had (Isaiah 6:1-8).

What is the importance of this passage for us today? Nowhere are we promised visions such as Paul had. However, we should remember that heaven, which Paul glimpsed, is the final destiny of all who put their trust in Christ as their Lord and Saviour. Paul says that he "heard things so astounding that they are beyond men's powers to describe or put in words" (II Corinthians 12:4, Living Bible). What a wonderful hope for the believer! As the Bible says, "Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him" (I Corinthians 2:9).

Yes, someday all the problems and cares of this life will be over and "we shall see him as he is" (I John 3:2). Are you ready for that glorious day? Trust Christ now, so you too can know the hope of eternal life in heaven with God.

Tainted marijuana warning

WASHINGTON (AP) — A toxic herbicide sprayed on Mexican marijuana plants under a U.S.-financed program has been found in marijuana seized in this country in concentrations 4.5 times greater than previously believed possible, sources say.

Congressional sources, who declined to be identified, said the Department of Health, Education and Welfare was ready to issue a new warning today about the danger of marijuana laced with the herbicide paraquat.

These sources said Thursday that the most recent government tests found contamination 4.5 times greater than the 500 parts per million the government said was possible three months ago.

These sources said Thursday that the most recent government tests found contamination 4.5 times greater than the 500 parts per million the government said was possible three months ago.

They also said the tests showed that prolonged exposure to smoke of the tainted marijuana "may seriously impair the ability of the lungs to handle oxygen."

member of the Senate subcommittee on investigations, first asked Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance about possible dangers in a letter 10 months ago. Questions had been raised originally in the underground press.

Since 1973, the United States has provided $40 million for the spraying program, designed to halt the flow of illegal drugs into this country, with much of the money going to purchase 76 U.S. airplanes and helicopters.

Government sources said the State Department was worried about potential criticism of the Mexican government from leftists there if the program were perceived as dominated by the U.S. government.

After a steady stream of queries from Percy, the White House drug abuse office called a meeting on May 27, 1977, of eight federal agencies to discuss the problem. According to one participant, several federal officials objected to tests because marijuana was illegal.

But, Peter Bourne, director of the White House drug abuse office, objected that any intake of paraquat-tainted marijuana in this country would be a direct result of the U.S.-supplied spraying operation and ordered the study by the National Institute of Drug Abuse, this participant said.

Paraquat is supposed to turn marijuana plants into a fine powder in three days of direct exposure to sunlight. The herbicide itself decomposes when it comes in contact with soil.

But the government says in some cases the marijuana has been harvested the same day it was sprayed and packed into bricks away from sunlight.

One swallow of concentrated paraquat can kill. There is no known antidote. Inhaling spray mist can cause nose bleeds, mouth and respiratory tract inflammation, chest pain, asthmatic attacks, vomiting and wrinkled fingernails.

Congressional sources said government scientists are aware of about 100 paraquat-related deaths in this country.

On Dec. 9, the drug abuse office said that at a contamination rate of 500 parts per million, a person would have to eat one pound of marijuana in a few hours to be killed. This they said would be roughly equal to 32 pounds of marijuana brownies — the form in which marijuana is most frequently eaten.

The study authorized by Bourne attempted to determine if paraquat remained in the smoke from tainted marijuana or produced other toxic gases. The congressional sources said these tests had found the paraquat transmitted in the smoke and the possibility of lung impairment from prolonged exposure.

Some critics of the Warren Texas GOP chief to skip Baker event

HOUSTON (AP) — Texas Republican Party chief Ray Barnhart says he won't attend a national party fund raising dinner here if Sen. Howard Baker, R-Tenn. is the keynote speaker as now scheduled.

Barnhart said Thursday he had lobbied against the selection of Baker as a speaker at the April 9 dinner because of Baker's support of the Panama Canal treaties.

Instead, Barnhart said, he will attend a similar $500-a-person dinner in Dallas which will feature Rep. Jack Kemp, R-N.Y. He said he learned Thursday that invitations listing Baker as the Houston dinner speaker were in the mail.

Barnhart said he had been led to believe a substitution had been made.

A Baker aide in Washington told the Houston Post no one has spoken to the senator to suggest he not attend the Houston event.

Farm Parity first, politics second

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A group of striking farmers came to talk parity, not politics, with Gov. Dolph Briscoe and Attorney General John Hill Thursday, and came away with Briscoe's offer to contact other governors on their behalf.

The visits came after Hill had been accused of using the jailing of farmers at a Hidalgo County protest for political purposes in his gubernatorial race against Briscoe.

"We're not talking politics," said farmer Billy McMeans of Jayton, after the farmers dined on a lunch of chili and beans at the Governor's Mansion.

Earlier, the farmers visited Hill's office to thank him for what they called his role as a "mediator" in arranging for release of 200 farmers jailed in the Hidalgo incident.

Briscoe left the noon meeting without making a statement, but his press secretary, Bob Bain, said the governor promised to contact other governors about supporting the Dole-Bentsen bill in Congress.

The bill would give farmers 100 percent of parity if they take half their land out of production, Bain said. Full parity means farm prices would be adjusted each year to keep pace with the things farmers must buy.

The bill adjusts parity levels according to the amount of land farmed.

Bain also said that during the meeting he left the room briefly and had his Washington office draft a telegram to President Carter urging presidential action to "alleviate the crisis situation facing American agriculture."

The farmers stressed their aim is not political influence at the ballot box and said they invited Hill to Hidalgo County last week.

"We asked him (Hill) to come, since he is the top law officer in the state," said Craig Bryant, an Elgin rancher. "He was very instrumental in the negotiations that took place."

Bryant was among the farmers jailed after they gathered on the International Bridge to protest imports of Mexican farm products.

Briscoe was fed inaccurate information about the incident by McAllen Mayor Othal Brand, Bryant said. The governor came to McAllen the day after the farmers were released from jail.

TEXAS' FIRST LADY SERVES STRIKING FARMERS — Janey Briscoe, wife of the Texas governor, assists in serving a group of striking farm workers who called on Gov. Set-aside pay plan not enough

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Farm Bureau Federation says the Carter administration's program to cut grain acreage this year doesn't go far enough and wants the government to make it more attractive to farmers by paying them for idling some of their crop acres.

Allan Grant, federation president, said Thursday that the organization's board of directors in a meeting here this week approved the concept of new emergency farm legislation introduced by Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., and more than a dozen others.

"Unless we have additional set-aside, we won't get the kind of participation we need and we won't cut it back enough," Grant told a news conference.

On Tuesday, the federation's board called for "per acre payments for set-aside acres" and also "additional land diversion (idled acres) with performance payments to bring production in line with demand."

A day later, on Wednesday, Talmadge's bill was introduced. But it calls for payments only on the additional acres taken from production, not for the mandatory set-aside acres.

In response to questions, Grant said the board's earlier statement calling for the payments on all land taken from production was made in hopes of prodding the House and Senate agriculture committees into action.

Grant said the board's endorsement of "the concept" of the Talmadge bill was not a departure from its earlier statement. Other federation officials later said that efforts will be made to get payments extended to the required set-aside land.

"There'll have to be adjustments there," Grant said. "I don't know how they'll adjust it."

On the subject of the protest by American Agriculture, the Colorado-based farm group, Grant said the use of the word strike is inappropriate. American Agriculture has asked farmers to cut production 50 percent this year to trigger higher prices.

"It could happen but I don't see evidence of it, because people have to meet mortgage payments, interest payments and have money to live on," Grant said.

Recent efforts by some American Agriculture farmers to halt trucks carrying food to stores were rejected by Grant. "We're opposed to any effort to minimize the movement of goods to market in any way," he said.

Grant said Farm Bureau membership has not been affected appreciably and that in one state checked specifically his organization's membership has dropped only 147.

The Talmadge bill, also supported by Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., provides that farmers can receive government payments for signing up more land in the set-aside program than required under the existing 1978 program.

For example, to be eligible for federal price support and income benefits wheat farmers will have to set aside from production land equal to 20 percent of the wheat they plan to have for harvest this year.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A team of U.S. beef experts will be in Tokyo next week as part of a bilateral effort to expand trade with Japan.

February of last year, according to the Agriculture Department.

February production was slightly more than 9.34 billion pounds, against less than that figure a year earlier, the department said Thursday.

The two-month total for this year was about 19.33 billion pounds, compared with 19.25 billion during January and February of 1977.

The department's Crop Reporting Board said milk production last month averaged 856 pounds, an increase of nine pounds from a year ago. But the February average was a drop of 58 pounds per cow from January of this year.

The report said there were an estimated 10.91 million milk cows on farms during February, a 1 percent decline from the same month of last year.

The visit by the beef team was announced Thursday by Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland and Robert S. Strauss, special representative for trade negotiations.

Bergland said the team will meet with Japanese officials to discuss implementation of Japan's expanding import program for high-quality beef.

In a related development, the U.S. Meat Export Federation officially opened an office Thursday in Tokyo to represent American livestock and meat producers in the Japanese market.

The federation operates under an agreement with USDA as a market development coordinator with the department's Foreign Agricultural Service.

The official opening ceremony was attended by Alan R. Middaugh, president of the federation, which has its headquarters in Denver.

Digging deep for arrowheads

By CARLA WALKER
"I was sitting on my horse on a sand hill in about 1922, when I saw an unusual looking point on the ground below, and that's the arrowhead that started me collecting," remembered Jeff Davis, oldest living resident born in Sterling County.

"I had seen arrowheads all my life, and just picked them up to look at, then threw them down, but that unusual one was the first one I kept," Davis related, standing in the center of a one-room house he built to have room to keep all the Indian artifacts.

"See that frame there?" he asked, motioning to a framed board that contained mounted arrowheads and looked to be about 18 by 36 inches. "That holds 442 arrowheads."

Davis built the one-room house in 1965, when his collection outgrew the space in his own house. Now, three walls of the house — probably about 20 by 30 feet or slightly larger — are completely hidden by frames of mounted artifacts hanging one after another.

Davis, who has been a rancher all his life, says that he has found flint points, knives and scrapers while working, and while "loafing."

"Every day I didn't have to work or take care of something else, I was out walking and hunting," Davis said. "Some of my pieces were given to me by people I knew, and others I got from digging at old Indian campsites and sifting the dirt."

"When I'd walk, I'd look for a lot of burned rock, and that would mean I'd found a campsite. Sometimes the Indians would have camped there so long that I could dig ten feet down and still find layers of burned rock."

Davis would search through the dirt of the campsite by screening out flint and rocks.

"I use a wire screen set in a wooden frame with legs to sift the dirt. I put a shovel-full of dirt on the sifter, and rub over it wearing gloves to protect my hands, letting the dirt fall through. That's the only way to find a lot of the smaller points."

He also says that beads and ceremonial pieces can be found where graves near the Concho River have been washed up, or in caves in the cliffs above the river.

A scrap pile outside the house contains flint pieces that were worked on by the Indians, or points and scrapers that have been broken during the years they have lain on the West Texas hills. Davis, his wife, the former Gladie McKnight, and their family were written up recently in "Milling Round Sterling County," a history of the families who settled the area.

Mrs. Davis was born in Mason County, and her father just "kept moving west." On that journey, she met Mr. Davis, and they were married in Sterling City in 1919. Her father kept moving west, however, and finally settled in Odessa.

Davis, on the other hand, was born in Sterling County about four miles from his present home. He has lived in the county almost all his life except for the years he spent in France during WWI.

According to a newspaper clipping published after the birth of the Davises' youngest child, the couple had a "full house — three queens and two jacks."

The queens, Nell Ann Campbell, Mary Elizabeth Hurt, and Jenny Ruth Dorsey have all moved out of Sterling County and are living in Grandview, Arlington, and Euless, respectively.

Of the two jacks, Tom Dee Davis is principal of Permian High School, and Jim Davis is ranching and the only one of the children living in Sterling County.

It has been a little too cold to hunt arrowheads in the past few weeks, but Davis still adds to his collection anyway. A friend recently found the head of a tomahawk in an irrigation ditch several miles from Davis' home, and gave the piece to the collector.

At 84, Davis enjoys his collections, and enjoys showing it to people who are interested in looking at the tools and weapons of a different age, and a different people who inhabited Texas long before the white man came.

Clad in grape-colored cocktail pajamas, she proved it Thursday night when some 1,000 Republican Party faithful paid the price for a glimpse of the movie star in her role as a politician's wife.

Woman given life sentence

DALLAS (AP) — A Dallas woman who said she had died "999 times" since her daughter's drowning last November was given a life sentence Thursday after she was found guilty of murdering the nine-year-old girl.

Carrie Christene Marsh was convicted of beating the girl with a bottle and leaving her body in a nearby lake.

During the punishment phase of the trial, Mrs. Marsh testified she should serve whatever sentence the jury decided.

She had testified that her daughter fell, hit her head and drowned while walking with her mother along the shore of Lake Ray Hubbard.

Prosecutors said the victim, Barbara Marsh, drowned in 10 inches of water after being beaten by her mother.

Another Ford in Ford future?

DETROIT (AP) — Is there another Ford in Ford Motor Co.'s future?

Henry Ford II, chairman of the nation's No. 2 automaker, has said "somebody called Ford" should always head the firm.

Quoting unnamed industry sources, the Detroit News reported Thursday that Henry's brother, William Clay Ford, 52, will go from vice president to vice chairman, thus moving into the line of succession for the top job.

The next step would be for William, owner of the Detroit Lions, to become chairman if Henry, 60, retires as scheduled in 1982.

Council meets tonight, workshops tomorrow Future Homemakers convene

By DUSTY RICHARD
The Area II Future Homemakers of America Convention, which will be hosted by the Big Spring High School FHA Chapter, will get under way tonight and continue Saturday with many interesting and fun workshops for participants.

Area II comprises about 130 chapters with 4,500 members and encompasses 42 counties from Sweetwater to El Paso.

FHA is sponsored by the U.S. Office of Education and American Home Economics Association. It is made up of students who are presently or who have been enrolled in homemaking or home economics. Some students in home ec programs go to school half a day and work the other half in a home economics-related job.

Studied in homemaking and home economics are child development, consumer education, foods and nutrition, clothing and textiles, home and family living and home management.

Tonight the group will hold their executive council meeting, a talent show to select students to compete in the State FHA Talent Show and Area II Choir rehearsal. Saturday the conclave will meet at 8 a.m. to register in the foyer of Big Spring High School.

At 9:30 a.m. the morning session will begin with a prelude given by Katrina Sanders of O'Donnell. Pattie Jackson of O'Donnell, Area II FHA president, will call the meeting to order.

Lisa Dominguez, Pecos, will give the invocation, after which the Big Spring Boy Scouts will present the colors. Darlene Clark of Sweetwater will lead the Pledge of Allegiance and National Anthem.

Miss Jackson will introduce guests, including Lynn Hise, Big Spring, superintendent of Big Spring Independent School District, and John Bagnall, Big Spring, vocational director of Big Spring I.S.D. These guests will welcome the group to Big Spring.

Stefanie Ausmus, Big Spring, will give greetings to the students, to which Sherry Clark, Loop, will respond.

After an audience break conducted by Miss Clark, Kim Rice and Tracy Lee of Wilson will introduce 1977-78 FHA officers.

The president's address will be given by Miss Jackson, and the talent winner will be presented by Laura Laija, Ysleta.

Lisa Rich, Sterling City, will conduct the encounter presentation, and announcements will be made by Deanya Wood, Tahoka, after which Star Light, Roscoe, will make workshop assignments.

Workshops, to be conducted in two separate sessions, one at 11 a.m. and the other at 12:15 p.m., will include "Caution, Contents Under Pressure," which deals with teenage tensions; "Parental Concerns," about teen-parent relations, delving into the subject of divorce; "Coping with Teenage Marriages," in which a panel of young marrieds will share experiences with participants; "Lookin' Good" which will help members with tips on makeup, posture, hair, nails and grooming; and "Exchange of Practices," for advisors only, in which they may share ideas.

Included in the second session of workshops will be "The Ugly Subject," about the mistreatment of children through abuse, neglect, exploitation and abandonment; "Fancy, Fame and Fortune," in which members will learn about themselves and others; "What after High School?," a workshop in which participants, by means of a survey, will get ideas of career highlights that suit them; "Hobbies: Leisure Time vs. Unused Time," in which members will find out how to fulfill leisure time; "Living With Change," dealing with the changes of the past 20 years that have created the generation gap; "Let's Communicate," helping participants learn how to communicate and showing them that communication can be fun; and "Future Fashions" in which students will explore the careers in fashion and how to get into them.

The FHA Convention afternoon session will begin at 1:45 p.m. after everyone has eaten lunch.

Miss Light will preside and Tammy Kahlich, Wilson, will call roll.

The speaker, Dan McBride of Jacksonville, will be introduced by Jackie Dissekkoen, Eastwood, Ysleta, and after his speech, Robert Smith, Big Spring, will give the House of Delegate's Report.

The HERO presentation will be made by Beverly Turner, Lamesa, and Miss

Clark will conduct another audience relaxer.

The National Meeting Report will be given by Bitzy Conroy, Eastwood, Ysleta, after which the Area II Choir will perform.

After the installation of the 1977-78 FHA officers, the closing ceremony will be conducted by the new president.

Discrimination costs school federal funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — A school that believes two teachers are having an affair could lose federal funds if only one of them is punished, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare says.

Because of such a case, HEW started action Tuesday to cut off the more than $100,000 in federal funds going annually to the Bowling Green, Ohio, school district.

A teacher there, Joyce Rucker, filed a complaint under Title 9 of the 1972 education law banning sex discrimination in education.

She said she was demoted from being a high school teacher of college preparatory English to teaching junior high students because of rumors she was having an affair with a male teacher — something she denies. The male teacher, who is not identified by HEW, was promoted to an administrative job, HEW says.

HEW said it was not judging the validity of the allegations or disputing the school's right to administer punishment. But HEW said it is unfair to discipline only one of the teachers.

School officials, according to HEW files, claim the right to assign teachers and deny that reassignment from a high school to a junior high is a demotion. They told HEW it was "simpler" to resolve the controversy by transferring the woman.

In another sex-discrimination case, HEW moved this week to cut off federal funds for a Georgia public school system that pays a salary bonus to shop teachers, but not to home economics teachers.

Dear Abby

Boss's Wife Asks Same Dumb Question

DEAR ABBY: I am the secretary for a businessman whose wife is getting on my nerves. When she phones him at the office, and I tell her that her husband is talking on the phone, she always asks, "How long do you think he will be?"

Abby, how do I know how long he will be? He could say goodbye in three seconds, or he could talk for half an hour. Please print this for a lot of other dummies who ask that question: a million secretaries will love you for it.

SOMEBODY'S SECRETARY

DEAR SECRETARY: Everybody can use a little more love, but I confess that on occasion I've been one of those "dummies."

DEAR ABBY: Do you think it is all right to speak to my mother in the same tone she uses when she speaks to me? When she yells at me or gets sarcastic, and I answer her back in the same tone, she slaps me right in front of my friends. They're all afraid of her.

Before my friends come over, they ask if my mother is in a bad mood today.

Please tell me how to get along with a person everybody is afraid of? I have four more years to go before I'm old enough to leave home, and I can hardly wait.

MOTHER TROUBLE

DEAR TROUBLE: It's NOT all right to speak to your mother in the same tone she uses to speak to you. Mothers have problems children know nothing of, and they sometimes take out their frustrations on those who are nearest and dearest to them. When mother is in a "bad mood," try being especially patient and understanding, because that's when she needs it the most.

DEAR ABBY: I am 5 feet 11 and weigh 230 pounds. That's not all, I'm black, female, 22 and very lonely. I guess you can see why.

I try to lose weight, but I get upset about something and start eating again. Nothing seems to help. I sit around feeling sorry for myself, then I force myself to go out and meet people, but they always turn out to be the wrong kind of people.

If you know anyone who wants a big, tall, black girl to love, please let me know, because without love, there's no point in living.

LONELY IN GA.

DEAR LONELY: I don't put people in touch with people through my column, but perhaps I can help you. Being overweight is only part of your problem. I don't know if there's an Overeaters Anonymous chapter in your town, but if there isn't, it would be worth taking a trip to the nearest city that has one. And if you're not sure whether life is worth living, please call your Suicide Prevention hot line.

Write to me again and let me know if you've followed these leads. I care.

A lot of times, they simply call it Spade. However, the springs on the ranch were named for a young soldier named Capt. Renderbrook who was killed by Indians near that location.

And the springs are still beautiful. In the spring of 1976, an invitational art exhibit, sale and barbecue was held at the ranch with the chuck wagon supper down by the springs. There was art on display in the barn and in the rock ranch home. The Charros and Rondallas from San Antonio performed on horseback.

There was also a community called Spade which the ranch touched the edge of and it was one of the four original voting places to determine that Mitchell County officially became a county.

A fellow named D. K. Arnett was an early rancher in the area. He managed the Renderbrook Ranch during the '80s when it was owned by the Snyder Brothers of Georgetown.

Later, when the famous Spade Ranch was owned by the I. L. Ellwood family, it became even more famous. Some of the early cowboys on the ranch were Otto and Fred Jones. The man who invented barbed wire lived on the Renderbrook-Spade Ranch.

The patriarch of one of the early families that lived in that area was L. L. Welch. They moved from Ingram to an area in between the Spade and the Wulfgen Ranches. The family built a small home and moved in. Grandmother Welch died of pneumonia, he was injured while clearing brush and then his daughter was bitten by a rattlesnake, but the Welches finally settled down and had a good cotton crop.

There was a school at Spade and it was organized in 1908 when some of the parents decided their children were walking too

Delia Gonzalez signed names of bricklayers

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Two bricklayers testified Thursday they never authorized Mrs. Delia Gonzalez to sign their names to a form stating a job offer for a Mexican national.

A handwriting expert said she had signed the names to the form.

Mrs. Gonzalez, a Del Rio notary public and former delegate to the Democratic National Convention, is on trial on charges she aided submission of falsified forms to U.S. consular officials in Monterrey, Mexico.

far to the Liberty School. There was a two-story building which had been intended for a lodge. The first teacher out there had a very colorful name. His name was Rex Outlaw and he taught in 1908. T. E. Halbert was the second teacher. Then the Liberty School disbanded and all the children came to the Spade schools.

There was also a Spade Post Office, which was first called Herbert Post Office and later changed. At that time there was a cotton gin there owned by H. Crump. There was a blacksmith shop run by Ben Morgan.

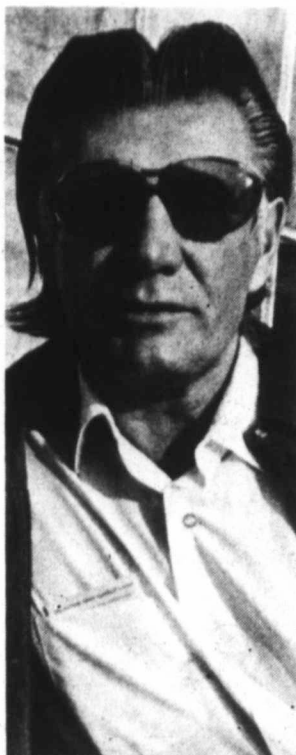

There was a stagecoach line, operated by L. L. Welch, which ran from Sterling City to Colorado City with one of the stops at Spade. Welch drove that stagecoach over two years.

There were Methodist and Baptist churches in that little community and one of the first Baptist preachers remembered was named George Washington White.

Don't tell the environmentalists, but the farmers in the Spade area used to have rabbit drives — similar to our rattlesnake drives.

The would walk hand in hand and shoulder to shoulder through the fields killing rabbits because they were eating up their crops.

The Spade community was interesting but the Renderbrook-Spade Ranch is both interesting and beautiful. But one of these days that's going to be an entire separate story — out where I ride fence.

DA hit with contempt citation

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — Potter County District Attorney Tom Curtis was free on $100 bond today after a judge slapped him with a contempt citation Thursday when Curtis called the judge biased.

Poff handed Curtis a 10-day jail sentence, but Curtis posted the bond.

The contempt case will be heard by a judge other than Poff at a later date.

State District Judge Bryan Poff cited Curtis during a pretrial hearing concerning suspended Potter County Commissioner Bob Hicks, scheduled to go on trial Monday on theft and official misconduct charges.

Poff told Curtis, "Tom, I ruled against you one time, and you're acting like a spoiled child. I've been trying to get along with you for three years. It's very sad. I think it's time someone protected a man's rights around the courthouse. You indicted a man on five counts you conceded were beyond statute of limitations."

Poff had quashed five of the 15 counts against Hicks.

Curtis had said, "I think you're acting like a biased judge trying to help this defendant beat a darn good case."

Sancap will control the tough broadleaf weeds that escape your preplant.

Preplant herbicides are great for controlling grasses.

But the fact is, they just can't control the stubborn broadleaf weeds that are breaking through cotton here in the South High Plains.

So, if you grow cotton on sandy soils, spray an overlay of Sancap® herbicide at planting.

Because Sancap is strong on broadleaf weeds. Strong enough to stop the tough ones that escape your preplant.

The Chemistry of Character

There is no precise formula. But there are certain elements usually found in significant measure in persons of character.

One is belief. And not just belief in one's self. The men and women we most admire generally have strong convictions which influence their daily lives.

Another is commitment. Far beyond mere involvement. Those who stir our admiration devote their time and talents unselfishly to worthwhile causes. And there's usually a third element; but it's never boasted of or paraded about. That's sacrifice. People of character are always willing to deny themselves something to achieve something greater.

Nearby are plenty of "laboratories" where belief, commitment and sacrifice combine to produce Christian character. They're called CHURCHES.

CHRISTIANS, AVOID ISRAEL'S MISTAKES
For I do not want you to be unaware, brethren, that our fathers were all under the cloud, and all passed through the sea;
and all were baptized into Moses in the cloud and in the sea;
and all ate the same spiritual food;
and all drank the same spiritual drink, for they were drinking from a spiritual rock which followed them; and the rock was Christ.
Nevertheless, with most of them God was not well-pleased; for they were laid low in the wilderness.
Now these things happened as examples for us, that we should not crave evil things, as they also craved.
And do not be idolaters, as some of them were; as it is written, "The people sat down to eat and drink, and stood up to play."
Nor let us act immorally, as some of them did, and twenty-three thousand fell in one day.
Nor let us try the Lord, as some of them did, and were destroyed by the serpents.
Nor grumble, as some of them did, and were destroyed by the destroyer.
Now these things happened to them as an example, and they were written for our instruction, upon whom the ends of the ages have come.
Therefore let him who thinks he stands take heed lest he fall. —1 Cor. 10:1-12 (NAS)

God Can't Be A Grandfather!
GOD WILL NEVER HAVE ANY GRANDBABIES!
What do I mean by that? I mean simply that you are not a Christian — you are not saved and heaven-bound just because your parents are! Our relationship to God and His Son Jesus must be firsthand and personal. You can't just take down the old family Bible, trace your heritage, and assume you're a Christian by virtue of a family tree. God has no grandchildren! Christianity is not inherited from our parents.
"...work out your salvation with fear and trembling" (Phil. 2:12). "...each one of us shall give account of himself to God" (Rom. 14:12).
"Repent, and let each of you be baptized in the name of Jesus Christ for the forgiveness of your sins..." (Acts 2:38).

Did police 'plant' gun near victim?

HOUSTON (AP) — Police Chief Harry Caldwell says he is attempting to determine how a revolver got out of the police property room and was found nine years later near the body of a youth shot to death by a policeman. Caldwell confirmed Thursday the pistol found near the body of Randall

Webster, 17, of Shreveport, La., did come from the police property room. The shooting now is the subject of an investigation by the U.S. attorney's office. Randall was killed Feb. 8, 1977, after he wrecked a van he was driving during a high-speed chase with police. Officer D.H. Mays, 31, said he shot Webster after the youth pointed a pistol at him. A Harris County grand jury took no action against Mays last year. The foreman of the grand jury, however, said earlier this week he is dissatisfied with his panel's investigation. Caldwell said handwritten property room records show the revolver was marked on May 24, 1968, as having been destroyed.

whether he believes the gun might have been a so-called "throwdown" weapon — a weapon left by officers near the body of a person slain by police. Caldwell said he is attempting to determine who might have been responsible for the records of destruction and how the gun could have gotten out of the property room and turned up nine years later. He said property room procedures have been tightened considerably since then. A report recently released by the Harris County medical examiner said the gun was used in a 1964 suicide of a Houston man and later confiscated by police. Caldwell said he would consider disciplinary action

50-year prison sentence upheld

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Curtis Lee Jones' murder conviction and 50-year prison sentence in the 1973 death of a Dallas secretary was upheld today by the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals. The court denied grounds of error in the case, including arguments that a change of venue should have been granted and that the defendants' confession should not have been admitted as testimony. Another defendant in the case, Mark Milton Moore, was sentenced to death. The victim's body was found in the trunk of a car partially submerged in the Elm Fork of the Trinity River. She had been raped and shot three times with a shotgun. She had left her photo finishing office at 5:30 p.m. the previous evening but returned later to catch up on paper work. An inspection of the office showed that $50 was missing from the petty cash fund.

Female trucker sues ETMF for booby-trapping her equipment

EMERYVILLE, Calif. (AP) — A former saleswoman turned truck driver is suing her employer for $2 million, claiming company brass vandalized two of her cars, booby-trapped her equipment and fired her twice for no good reason.

"It's not easy to get a job in this industry because there's a lot of prejudice against women. Well, now that I've got it, I'm hanging onto it," said trucker Alma Howard, 33, who quit her job behind a department store sales counter a few years ago to get behind the wheel of the big rigs.

The suit against the East Texas Motor Freight Co. was filed in Alameda County Superior Court. The company is headquartered in Dallas but has a terminal in Emeryville. The suit claimed ETMF officials conspired to try to force Mrs. Howard to resign from the $34,000-a-year job. She claims she was discriminated against because she's a woman and because her husband, also a trucker, is black. She's been fired twice, but was reinstated after she filed grievances with the Teamsters Union, according to the suit. ETMF officials in Emeryville and Dallas had no comment on her suit, which seeks $2 million in general and punitive damages.

According to the suit, her troubles began in September, 1977, when she applied for the ETMF job, after driving trucks part time for two years. The suit alleges that her road test was far more grueling than that given to men. It also claims she sprained her ankle stepping onto a tractor because the steps had been greased and that her personal van was broken into in the company parking lot and dirt was put in the engine oil and gas tank — causing the engine to blow up.

A second car also was vandalized, the suit said, so Mrs. Howard could be fired for being tardy a second time. Mrs. Howard said her complaint was against company officials, not male truck drivers, whom she said have "treated me just like a lady."

Danny Reagan
Heyump, youcainsee!

Ron Douglas Cowling, KBST's version of me, only not as good-looking, is having trouble finding umpers for the Big Spring Umpire's Association.

There will be 100's of games played in Big Spring this spring and summer, maybe 1,000's. I don't know the exact amount, but it always seems like a trainload.

Talking to a few of the old-timers around town, you know, like Cowling himself, I've found that the umpiring business can be quite profitable. "On a good three-day weekend, I made almost $100," said one blind-as-a-batter.

Of course, some of those games last almost to midnight, but the money is there folks. Little Leaguers, Church Leaguers, Slow Pitch Leaguers, Fast Pitch Leaguers, all your leaguers here, need umpires.

There'll be another meeting soon. It's easy work, if you don't mind getting yelled at a lot.

Speaking of being yelled at a lot (no, not you favorite spotter), major league baseball umpers draw from $16,500 a year to more than $40,000 and get $50 a day for hotels, taxis and meals. They are constantly evaluated by the supervisor of umpires, who arrives at games unannounced.

By the way local men in black, Cowling does not make these unscheduled appearances.

By the way (part II), pro basketball officials grab between $20,000 and $45,000 bucks a year, depending on seniority. Like baseball umpers, they are constantly evaluated and rated. So are pro hockey officials, who are now paid from $11,500 to $40,000.

In the "That sounds more like my pay" Department, the umpires and linesmen at Forest Hills last year received $13 a day.

"OLD MEMO" (CHAPTER V)

You may notice a small item on this page about the "Puppy Relays" at Coahoma tomorrow. They'll be using their new track, the one that is, how you say, ALL-WEATHER!! for the first time.

What if it rains Saturday? "Oh no!" a Big Springer might say, "That would ruin the whole track meet."

"No sweat," say the people in Bulldog-land now. They have a modern track, one like the people in Forsan, Grady, Greenwood and Klondike have now. Like the one just about everyone in the free world has but Big Spring.

Speaking of Coahoma, Nancy Howell was named to the first team All-District 6-AA girls' basketball squad named recently. Angela Dykes was a brided second team honors, and Melissa Brown and Linda Ward were named to the Honorable Mention team.

Watch 'em win district next year.

EDGAR ALLEN POTPOURRI

A troupe of groupies following Johnny Bench wore T-shirts with "Bench Warmers" written across the front... Bob Murphy, San Jose State athletic director, is campaigning to change the names of positions in rugby, now that women are playing it. He's particularly opposed to the position of "hooker." (What about "tight end" in football?)

Marvin Johnson's New Mexico Coach Norm Ellenberger, fearing that Texas El Paso Coach Don Haskins would have his defense-oriented team hold the ball against his No. 1 offense earlier this season went to the bench. That is, he had an Albuquerque district judge draw up a secret search warrant for him to take to El Paso. The article missing... a basketball. The warrant wasn't needed. New Mexico won, 84-57.

On his television show recently, Tulane Coach Roy Danforth read a letter from a student newspaper writer asking if he was pretending to be a basketball coach until he perfected his act as a standup comedian. "Nope," Danforth replied. "I'm pretending to be a standup comedian until I perfect my act as a basketball coach."

REMARKABILITIES

"Basketball crowds are divided into thirds. One third is for you no matter what crazy things you do. Another third is against you no matter what sane things you do. The other third is just waiting to see which way to go." — JIM BARNETT.

"Well, I guess the Lord doesn't want us to get too cocky." — JIM KING, Tulsa coach after the paper boy failed to deliver his morning paper following one of his team's few victories.

UT enters NIT action tonight

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — It's a long road — literally — to the National Invitational Tournament basketball semifinals for the Temple Owls.

Should the unranked Owls upset 16th-ranked Texas tonight in a first-round game at the Super Drum, then Temple would have to travel to Nebraska for the next game. Nebraska nipped Utah State 67-66 Wednesday.

However, a Texas victory would assure a Nebraska-Texas quarterfinal matchup for Texas' 16,231-seat facility which is expected to be filled when the Longhorns host the Owls.

Temple is no stranger to the NIT. The Owls won the tournament in 1969. They have been invited eight times. Texas lost to New York University in the first round in 1948 in its only NIT bid.

Both Texas and Temple have something in common — heartbreak. Texas lost an NCAA playoff berth by two points to Houston last Saturday in the finals of the Southwest Conference Tournament. Temple lost by a point to LaSalle in the finals of the East Coast Conference Tournament which also determines an NCAA berth.

Temple, although 24-4, is unranked despite road victories over Auburn, Pittsburgh, Penn State and Navy.

"We have played in tough gymnasiums before," said Coach Don Casey. "But I can see why they (The NIT) want to play the game here. We only can seat about 4,500 at our place. And just look at the seating capacity here."

SWC teams are no stranger to the NIT — Houston lost in the finals last year — but they are something of a mystery to Casey.

"I haven't seen many Southwest Conference teams play, but I know their programs are getting better," Casey said.

Which is one reason why some of the Texas players wanted to get into the NIT Classic.

"If we can do well in the tournament, it will help the prestige of the conference," said Texas' leading scorer, Jim Krivacs.

For the first time in its history, the SWC has two teams in the NCAA playoffs, Houston and Arkansas. Texas' participation in the NIT gives the league three playoff teams — another first.

Veteran Texas Coach Abe Lemons has been to the NIT twice, in 1959 and 1967 when he was at Oklahoma City.

He's best known by New Yorkers, however, for a stunt he pulled in Madison Square Garden when his OCU team was badly outclassed in a game. He simply had them scrimmage shirts and skins at halftime instead of receiving a pep talk.

Temple and Texas had to work out at nearby, antiquated Gregory Gym Thursday, because of a state schoolgirl tournament.

Top teams open against each other in tourney

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — Veteran Kansas basketball coach Ted Owens says he isn't sure why his ninth-ranked Jayhawks were matched against second-ranked UCLA in Saturday's opening round of the 32-team NCAA tournament.

He also wonders why two other at-large berths in the powerpacked Western Regional went to seventh-ranked Arkansas and 11th-ranked North Carolina.

"I don't quite understand the reasoning behind having so many nationally ranked

Spinks is suspended

NEW YORK (AP) — Leon Spinks is commission-officially hurt. Regardless, he won't fight until September. And he won't fight in Bophuthatswana.

That's the heavyweight story... at least for today.

When the new champion does fight, it looks like his opponent will be Muhammad Ali, but Bob Arum, who has a promotional rope around Spinks, says Ken Norton still is a possible opponent.

Meanwhile, the World Boxing Association has given a green light to a Spinks-Ali rematch even though in its latest rankings it rates Ali No. 3 challenger behind Norton and Jimmy Young.

The rival World Boxing Council, which has ruled Spinks must sign by April 7 to fight Norton by July 7 or be stripped of the title recognition, ranks Ali No. 2 behind Norton.

The Nevada State Athletic Commission announced Thursday that effective Wednesday night Spinks has been suspended for 90 days because of a rib injury three Las Vegas physicians say he suffered before the Ali fight.

At almost the same time, Arum said that because of outside pressure Spinks will not fight in the new African nation of Bophuthatswana.

Johnny Mangiaracina, executive officer of the Nevada commission, a member of the World Boxing Council, said the 90-day suspension was due to a cartilage injury to a rib on Spinks' lower left side.

The injury was scooped at by supporters of a Spinks-Norton fight.

Mangiaracina said Dr. Donald Romeo, head physician for the Nevada commission, checked with Dr. A.H. Rudnick, one of three doctors who examined Spinks before the Ali fight and said that the fighter had a rib injury. One of the other doctors, Elias Ghaneim, called it a nuisance injury.

"Dr. Romeo acted in saying he cannot fight for 90 days and he has to clear with this commission before he can fight again," Mangiaracina said.

The 90-day suspension would not affect the WBC edict for a Spinks-Norton fight by July 7. But Arum, who has promotional rights to Spinks' next three fights, said the new champion will not fight again until September.

As for the disappearance of Bophuthatswana from the fight scene, Arum also said: "As a result of discussion with representatives of the Organization of African Unity at the United Nations and with officials of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Top Rank will not hold between Leon Spinks and Muhammad Ali in Bophuthatswana."

DOESN'T LOOK LIKE A FOOTBALL — Tony Dorsett of the Dallas Cowboys plays with what is now New York City's snafu Thursday before a luncheon with representatives of the Converse sporting company, to promote his new shoe line. Dorsett helped develop the all purpose shoe called TD's, for youth in the 6-12 year age group for baseball, football, soccer etc.

teams in the same region," Owens said a few minutes after his team arrived Thursday night to begin preparation for its Saturday showdown with the Bruins.

Five of the top 11 ranked teams in the country are among the eight competing in the Western Regional.

"I don't know the thinking behind the committee's selections," Owens said. "It seems to me they'd at least talked about trying to balance the brackets."

The showdown between UCLA, 24-2, and Kansas, 24-4, two perennial college cage powers, is the premier contest in this weekend's field of 16 games. The contest, to be part of a nationally televised tripleheader, will be preceded in Eugene by a game between Arkansas and Big Sky champion Weber State.

The Weber State-Arkansas contest starts at 11:10 a.m.

Steers fall to Hillcrest

GRAND PRAIRIE — The Big Spring Steers gave up five unearned runs on five errors, and managed only two hits against Dallas Hillcrest, as they dropped their opening round contest, 6-0, Thursday in the South Grand Prairie Invitational Baseball Tournament.

"Their pitcher was just average," said Heach Coach Tommy Collins this morning, "but we just couldn't hit the ball solid. We dribbled it here and dribbled it there, but that was all."

Catcher Tony Mann and right fielder Larry Smith were the only locals to hit safely. They each tagged a one-bagger.

Senior Tony Jacobo, who went the distance, was the losing pitcher, as he allowed six runs (only one earned), on six hits, struck out five and walked the same number.

"We committed five physical errors," said Collins, "and made that many crucial mental mistakes. We let three balls fall that should've been caught. We just weren't in the ballgame all day."

The Steer coach also indicated that the loss may have taken some pressure off his club. "We haven't really played a real good game yet," he added. "And we knew if we didn't improve, our mistakes were going to beat us sooner or later."

At noon today, in the consolation bracket, the Steers played Irving, 3-1 losers yesterday to defending tourney champ Kimbell.

If the locals won today, they would play again at 11 a.m. Saturday. A win there would put them into the 3 p.m. consolation finals that same day.

A loss today would send the Steers back to Big Spring.

"I don't look for us to lose today," Collins said in closing.

Puppy relays Saturday

COAHOMA — Athletic Director Roy Winters announced today that Coahoma will be the site of the annual "Puppy Relays" this Saturday for area junior high track teams.

"This will be our first meet on the new resolute, all-weather track," said Winters.

The meet, which begins at 9 a.m. with the field events will see teams from Coahoma, Post, Ozona, Colorado City, Roscoe, Big Lake, Midland Christian, Merkel and Jayton competing for four divisional trophies.

Divisions will be open to 7th grade boys, 7th grade girls, 8th grade girls and 8th grade boys.

Finals should begin at 3 p.m. Saturday.

Next Saturday, March 18, Coahoma will host the "Bulldog Relays", a two divisional track meet featuring teams from Coahoma, Colorado City, Stanton, Coahoma, Crane, Hamlin and Andrews.

The UCLA-Kansas matchup follows at 1:15 p.m. The games will be played on the University of Oregon campus at venerable McArthur Court, which was built in 1926 and is known as "The Pit."

The winners will advance, along with the two victors of games played in Tempe, Ariz., to the Western Regional semifinals and will play each other next Thursday night in Albuquerque, N.M.

The Jayhawks never figured to be in Oregon this week. They had stormed through the Big-8 season losing only one game, but were upset by Kansas State in the conference tournament.

"We could have maybe made it to the final four without leaving our home state," said Owens, explaining that the Midwest regionals are to be held in Wichita this weekend and

Lawrence next weekend. "It was a very disappointing loss, but it's done and we're just looking forward to playing UCLA. It boosted our morale to know we'd be playing such a respected team."

Both Owens and UCLA Coach Gary Cunningham see their teams as mirror images in style. Both rely heavily on the scoring of one forward and two guards.

"We're a running and pressing team like they are," Owens said, adding that he plans no changes in style.

The Jayhawks' scorers are led by freshman guard Darnell Valentine, who is averaging 13.6 points per game and senior guard John Douglas at 2.6 points per game. Ken Koenigs, a 6-foot-10 senior forward, is averaging 11.3 points and 6 rebounds per game.

The fourth Kansas player averaging in double figures (10.8) is 6-9 senior Donnie Von Moore, who also leads the team in rebounding at 8.3 per game.

The Bruins, whose only two losses have been to Notre Dame, are paced in scoring by forward David Greenwood at 17.6 points per game. Guards Roy Hailton (16.9) and Raymond Townsend (14.9) are the other two UCLA players averaging in double figures.

Kansas is the No. 1 team in the country for allowing the lowest field goal percentage by an opponent. UCLA is No. 4 in that statistic. Both teams are allowing other teams to shoot at slightly better than a 40 percent clip.

Arkansas will be a big favorite to knock off unranked Weber State in the opener Saturday. The Razorbacks, 28-3, tied for the Southwest Conference crown PRETZEL — Laura Pretzel tees off on the 10th hole during the Ladies Professional Golf Association tournament, Sunstar Classic, Thursday in Los Angeles. Baugh carded a 75 in first round play.

Tennis teens strong

DALLAS (AP) — American junior tennis is showing its strength in a $100,000 professional women's tennis tournament here.

Girls' tourney
Austin, Texas (AP) — Defending champions Canyon and Nazareth made a strong bid for another state girls' basketball title Thursday with sensational shooting performances in semifinal victories.

Six teams advanced to the finals in the first day of the state tournament. Semifinals were scheduled today in Class A and 4A, with fans getting their first look at high scoring Dallas South Oak Cliff, the other defending champion in the tournament.

Canyon, 36-0, breezed past Georgetown, 77-52, in 3A with Merry Johnson scoring 32 points and Glenda Williams 28, even though she played with broken fingers on her left hand taped together.

Canyon has won 65 straight over two seasons and has a chance to win its fifth title in a record 10 consecutive tournament appearances.

The Eagles shot 71.4 percent from the field, with Williams hitting 12 of 14. Denise Babicki tallied 27 for outclassed Georgetown, which had 33 turnovers that led to 34 points for Canyon.

Red Sox set starting lineup already

By the Associated Press
As usual, the pitchers are ahead of the hitters at this stage of spring training. That's a tired baseball axiom.

But when you have your starting lineup already fixed for Opening Day by March 9... well, that's news.

Don Zimmer appears to be in that lucky position with the Boston Red Sox.

"That's my opening day lineup, barring any complications," the Red Sox manager said as he put his starters on the field at Winter Haven, Fla., for an exhibition game with the Detroit Tigers Thursday. The lineup had Jerry Remy playing second base

"Wade through that a little while," Zimmer said. "How would you like to be an opposing pitcher?"

In the same context, opposing hitters wouldn't especially enjoy facing the likes of pitchers Luis Tiant and Reggie Cleveland. They were in mid-season form Thursday, hurling the Red Sox to a five-inning, rain-shortened 6-0 victory over the Tigers.

California's Frank Tanana also got off to a good start Thursday, pitching three perfect innings as the Angels defeated the Oakland A's 4-1. Ron Jackson and Carney Lansford hit home runs to support strong pitching by the Angels' staff, which allowed but five hits.

Elsewhere, catcher Dave Roberts' line single in the 12th inning scored Paul O'Neill from third base, leading the San Diego Padres to a 4-3 victory over the Seattle Mariners.

Rookie first baseman Wayne Cagle singled home a pair of runs in Cleveland's four-run eighth inning, then doubled and scored the winning run in the 10th as the Indians opened their Cactus League exhibition season with a 5-4 victory over the San Francisco Giants.

Jerry Augustine and Mike Caldwell both pitched one hit, shutout ball in three-inning stints and Jim Wolford's sixthinning RBI single broke a 2-2 tie, leading the Milwaukee Brewers to a 4-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs in both teams' opener.

Two games were rained out — the New York Yankees vs. the Texas Rangers at Pompano Beach, Fla., and the Houston Astros against the Atlanta Braves at Palm Beach, Fla.

In off-the-field action, the Pittsburgh Pirates announced that Manager Chuck Tanner has signed a second two-year contract, extending his agreement with the National League team through the 1980 season.

Rains pound Doral

MIAMI (AP) — Another day was lost to rain — the fifth time in 10 weeks this year such a thing has happened — but PGA tour officials were counting their blessings.

"It could have been much worse," said Jack Tuthill, the man in charge of the day to day field operations for the tour.

"Actually, we're lucky. We could have lost two or three tournaments."

Mass U moving up in world

AMHERST, Mass. (AP) — Moving up from Division II, the University of Massachusetts at Amherst is joining the National Collegiate Athletic Association's new football Division I-A.

Better opportunity for "a national championship, postseason play and television exposure" prompted the decision, President Franklin Patters, said in an announcement Thursday night.

January's NCAA restructuring split Division I, setting off major powerhouse schools in Division I-A. Schools have until March 14 to choose a division.

US takes World Cup lead

NEW HAVEN — The United States took a 1-0 lead in World Cup Tennis when Brian Gottfried outdueled Australian John Alexander for a 7-5, 6-4 victory that was won on sharply angled volleys.

The United States-Australia tournament continues Friday with two singles contests — American Jimmy Connors against John Newcombe and Roscoe Tanner of the United States against Tony Roche.

Austin leads Sunstar pack

LOS ANGELES — Debbie Austin, a winner of six Ladies Professional Golf Association tournaments in just over 10 months, fired a 4-under-par 68 to take a 2-stroke lead after one round of the $100,000 Sunstar Classic.

Tied for second at 70 were Jane Blalock, Betty Burfeindt and Joyce Kazmierski.

Europe, LA deadlocked

MADRID — Mark Cox of Britain and Ivan Molina of Columbia scored victories as Europe and Latin America were deadlocked 1-1 after the opening singles matches of the first $175,000 Intercontinental Tennis tournament.

Cox beat Thomas Koch of Brazil 6-3, 6-0 and Molina beat Italy's Adriano Panatta 6-4, 7-5.

Wheatley offenders honored

HOUSTON (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe was to attend ceremonies honoring the Class 4A champion Wheatley High School basketball team today although five team members have admitted stealing money and jewelry last week in Austin.

Billy Reagan, Houston Independent School District superintendent, said the method of punishing the five members will not be made public. School officials also declined to identify the players.

He said federal legislation protecting the privacy of students prohibited him from revealing planned disciplinary measures or the names of the students which numbered five by the time an investigation was concluded.

Reagan would not specify how many of the players participated in the theft of $150 from a cafeteria or the shoplifting of more than a dozen necklaces from a gift shop during the three days the team was in Austin for a basketball tournament in which Wheatley won the state title.

No charges will be filed by owners of the establishments, officials said.

Reagan said discipline, which will begin Monday, will be "appropriate for the offenses." He said the students will be held responsible for making monetary restitutions.

"This certainly is a regrettable incident," he said, "but this in no way should take away from the efforts of hundreds of individuals who worked for the benefit of this high school."

Girls' team in 3rd place

After first day play in the Big Spring Girls' Invitational Golf Tournament, Howard Stewart's local charges are in third place among the 15 teams entered.

Big Spring's Jackie Roach carded a 95 at Comanche Trail Golf Course to pace the Steer fens. Other local scores included Mitzi Sanderson with 100, Tammie Tonn (104), Shawna Henry (111) and Laurie Wooten (110). That makes for a total of 409. Kate Guthrie carded a 106 for the second team.

Amarillo High leads the tourney with a 355. Low scorer for the day was Odessa Permian's Jackie Dias with a two-over 77.

The second and concluding round of the tournament began this morning at the Big Spring Country Club Golf Course.

Marshals face coal facts

BEST BY TEST — Tom Thompson (left), 11, a fifth grader, won the right to represent Washington Elementary School in the March 22 County Spelling Bee by correctly spelling the word "addiction." Taught by Mrs. Polly Adams, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Thompson, Sterling City Route. Mindy Beth Vassar (right) is Washington's first alternate. A ten-year-old fifth grader, Mindy Beth is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duffy Vassar of 3201 Drexel. Her teacher is Clarence Hawkins.

WASHINGTON (AP) — As contract talks resume in the 95-day coal strike, federal marshals are fanning out into the coalfields with a court order telling miners to go back to work.

There were few indications, however, that many of the 160,000 striking miners planned to halt their protracted walkout, although President Carter said Thursday he believes "a substantial portion of them... will comply with the law."

Meanwhile, union and coal industry negotiators planned to meet today at the United Mine Workers headquarters to search for a settlement of their bitter dispute, which has forced electric utilities to curtail power and industries to lay off thousands of workers.

Sources said UMW President Arnold Miller and his bargaining team were to meet with three officials from the Bituminous Coal Operators Association without the presence of federal mediators.

The two sides have not bargained on a new national contract since the industry agreed to union contract demands two weeks ago under the threat of presidential intervention. The contract was rejected by the rank-and-file by a 2-1 margin last weekend.

Immediately after U.S. District Judge Aubrey E. Robinson Jr. issued his temporary back-to-work order Thursday under the Taft-Hartley Act, U.S.

marshals began distributing copies of the order and supporting documents to 1,451 defendants that included the UMW, its local unions, mine construction workers and mine operators.

The judge issued the order after agreeing with the Carter administration — represented by Attorney General Griffin Bell in a rare court appearance — that the strike's continuation would "imperil the national health or safety."

The judge's order directed coal operators to reopen their mines and the strikers to end their walkout as of 7 a.m. local time today.

However, the judge gave marshals until 4:30 p.m. EST next Monday to serve copies of the order to all defendants, and Justice Department officials acknowledged that it would be difficult to force compliance with the order until Monday.

The judge, who also directed bargainers to resume "collective bargaining in good faith," said that while he was ordering the strike to a temporary end, no individual miner could be forced back to work against his will.

Because of that exclusion, many UMW officials and rank-and-file members have predicted that while most local leaders would obey the law by ordering a stop to the strike, the order will be widely ignored by the members.

The order, which requires miners to work for the same wages and benefits they received under their old contract, expires at 6 p.m. EST on March 17, when the judge has scheduled a hearing on a government request for an 80-day injunction.

The president instructed the attorney general to go to court Thursday after a fact-finding board Carter created under Taft-Hartley reported back to him that the impact of the strike had "reached alarming proportions" and that negotiators were at a "critical impasse."

Later Thursday, while Bell was arguing the government's case before Judge Robinson, Carter told a nationally televised and broadcast news conference: "The welfare of our nation requires this difficult step, and I expect that all parties will obey the law."

Red Brigades kill policeman in Turin

TURIN, Italy (AP) — Assassins gunned down an anti-terrorist policeman on a Turin street today and an anonymous caller claimed responsibility for the Red Brigades urban guerrilla gang whose members are on trial here. Later the trial was postponed for a day after all four defense attorneys claimed to be ill.

Two or three gunmen killed policeman Rosario Berardi, 55, in a hail of bullets as he was about to board a steetcar. They then escaped in a car that witnesses said was driven by a woman.

The Turin office of ANSA, the Italian news agency, got a call a short time later saying: "This is the Red Brigades. We have hit Rosario Berardi. A communique will follow."

Berardi was a veteran of Turin's anti-terrorism squad and recently had been transferred to head a police station.

He was killed less than 24 hours after 15 guerrilla suspects, led by bearded Renato Curcio, went on trial for the third time in two years, facing 20-year terms for anti-government terrorism. Their two previous trials were postponed after a district attorney, a lawyer and two bodyguards were killed.

The four defense attorneys did not show up for today's session, saying they were ill. The Red Brigades refuse legal defense. New attorneys will be appointed by the court.

demands two weeks ago under the threat of presidential intervention. The contract was rejected by the rank-and-file by a 2-1 margin last weekend.

Immediately after U.S. District Judge Aubrey E. Robinson Jr. issued his temporary back-to-work order Thursday under the Taft-Hartley Act, U.S.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, MARCH 11, 1978

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Avoid hasty action whereby arguments, trouble could follow. Later, you are able to put into effect whatever new course of action appeals to you. Your mind is working overtime and you can make interesting new decisions.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Be objective and handle whatever comes up intelligently. Later take time for social fun with congenials. Take no chances with your health.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You have to be prepared if you are to accomplish what you want now. Later, go after good advice from a real expert. Come to a better understanding with loved ones.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You may find it difficult to gain your aims early but later all works out as you wish. Being very social is your best bet for getting ahead now. Don't take risks where reputation is concerned.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Take care of a pending affair now and later get into some civic work that is just your cup of tea. Handle credit accurately and your affairs work out much better.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Settle a matter with one whose background is different from your own. Socialize and make new acquaintances.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Be conscientious in keeping promises you have made to others, and clear the slate for bigger things ahead. Save recreation with congenials for later.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Get together with partners and relieve tensions now existing between you. Reconcile with one who has been acting rather strangely.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Instead of going off on a tangent, get busy at all the work that faces you and accomplish a good deal. Take treatments you need to improved health.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Do those necessary chores early and then you can have a fine time with kin, friends. Look into a project that interests you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Try not to argue with those at home and spoil friendly relations. Look into a new project that interests you and could be profitable.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You are thinking very clearly now and can plan the future more intelligently. Talk over with partners how best to expand it. Relax and be with loved ones.

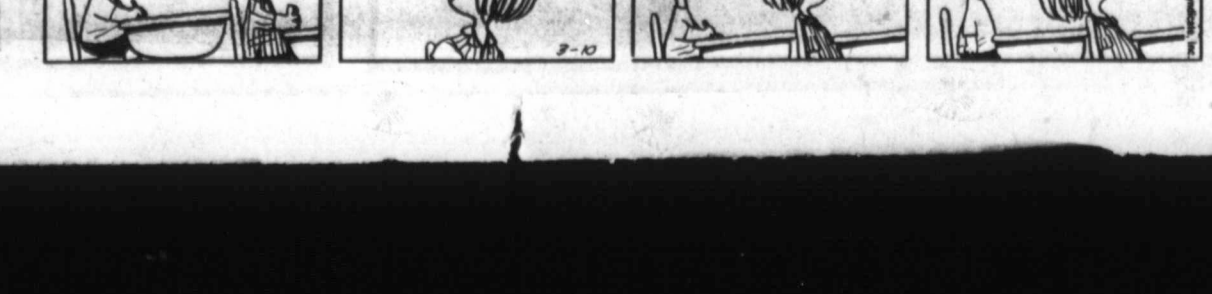

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Instead of investing heavily now, get busy and improve present financial structure. Compliment a bigwig you know and gain support you need, good advice also.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she seems to be born in divine discontent and must be taught early not to fight for every little thing asked for but to ask politely for it and then this becomes a successful life. The mind is good and many an inventive idea is in it.

Sex agents 'deviation' of policy

SEATTLE (AP) — Bruce McLean's job was to kiss and tell.

As a citizen vice agent, he paid for sex with taxpayer money then reported every detail of what happened to the police.

"She asked me to get undressed and to give her $30, which I did," he said of a Sept. 20, 1977, encounter at the Supreme Sauna.

McLean said that after being given a shower, he asked the woman what she charged. "She replied she usually got $30 for intercourse," he said in an affidavit filed by the county prosecutor's office to prove his case against the massage parlor.

The money was provided by a King County detective, McLean said.

An affidavit filed by one agent said he reported to vice detectives on having sex for pay at least 27 times.

Such use of such civilian agents, as well as county police officers, ended this week with an order by King County Executive John Spellman. He said use of agents engaging in sex acts was "a deviation" of policy.

The agents' acts were performed in conjunction with a civil lawsuit filed by Prosecutor Christopher Bayley to close three massage parlors — Supreme Sauna, the Skandia Massage Studio in downtown Seattle and the Little Skandia Massage Studio in Mercer Island.

Bayley's office said it has evidence of 53 sexual encounters gathered over a period of three years. Typically, civilian vice agents were given $40 to $80 to pay for the sexual favors, as well as $10 "spending money."

Seattle and Mercer Island police offices also used agents to build cases for prosecution.

A spokesperson for Seattle Mayor Charles Royer, who was out of town on business, said agents were used prior to Royer's taking office in January and "it won't happen under the Royer administration."

However, Mercer Island City Manager Larry Rose said he would support further use of civilian agents "if this was the only way evidence could be gathered."

Bayley and Seattle Police Chief Robert Hanson both said such activity was offensive, but was the only way to combat prostitution in massage parlors.

Veta Spears is candidate

Veta Spears, a Coahoma housewife, is the only woman seeking a position on the school board. She ran once two years ago, was defeated and decided to give it another try.

Mrs. Billy Spears has four children in the Coahoma schools. She said, "My children spend most of their time in school or at school activities and I want the best education possible in the best learning atmosphere possible. I want them to be influenced by teachers who care about them as a person and I want them to have the best learning tools available."

She added, "I think teachers, administrators, school board members and parents should all want one thing for the children — a good education."

Henry Winkler is Andy Schmidt, who is sure he's the One and Only. Trouble is, nobody else realizes it except Kim Darby, the love of his life. Even she begins to wonder when, after failing as a Broadway actor, Andy turns to pro wrestling and hangs out with an assortment of freaks and hustlers. One of them is Milton, a lascivious midget who suffers a lot of short jokes; he is portrayed with (presumably heartfelt) sympathy by 3'11" Herve Villechaise. Bea Arthur's actor-director husband Gene Saks adds some nice New York wisecracking as a tough promoter. And for all its sweetly poignant story line, this Carl Reiner film is hilarious, and Winkler, as a swish superstar in blond wig and pink tights, is wonderful. (PG)

Refund proposals vary State treasuries bulging

By the Associated Press
 From Maine to California, state treasuries are bulging, in sharp contrast to the deficits of two years ago, and lawmakers are debating ways to give some of the money back to the taxpayers.

A spot check by The Associated Press and a survey by the Tax Foundation Inc. found that 31 states expect to have a surplus at the end of the current one- or two-year fiscal period.

The surpluses are not confined to any particular area of the country, making it hard to pinpoint the reason for financial health. They can be found in industrial states like New York and Illinois, as well as in more rural areas like Kansas and Wisconsin. Proposals for refunding some of the money vary from state to state and, often, among officials within a state.

In Wisconsin, for example, there are three conflicting plans for election-year tax cuts to divvy up a $400 million to $425 million surplus. In Colorado there are no less than a dozen schemes.

The amount of the surpluses also vary widely.

California expects to have $3.21 billion left when the current fiscal year ends June 30; South Dakota officials expect a $4.9 million surplus July 1 and a $5.3 million surplus by July 1, 1979.

It is equally difficult to characterize states with deficits.

Among those in or near the red, for example, are Pennsylvania, with a $64 million deficit, and Hawaii, which the Tax Foundation says will go from a $35.2 million surplus in fiscal 1977 (which ended last June 30) to a $3.5 million deficit in fiscal 1979.

Overall totals for surpluses are difficult to calculate because states use a variety of financial calendars and fiscal systems.

In a study released Wednesday, the Tax Foundation, a nonprofit research group, said state and local governments reported a $13.3 billion surplus on general accounts in calendar year 1977, up by nearly $10 billion from the previous year.

They said the surpluses "reflect strong growth in receipts, coupled with apparent expenditure restraints. In both 1976 and 1977, receipts rose by 11 to 12 percent annually, while expenditure growth was in the 7 to 8 percent range."

The situation today contrasts with that a little over two years ago, when the nation was still suffering from recession and inflation. The Commerce Department said that at the end of the third quarter of 1975, state governments had deficits of WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court didn't know what it was doing when it ruled that the anti-busing law was unconstitutional. The court's decision was a "relief" for the nation's school districts, which had been fighting the law for years.
