PETE'S SNAKE, NO SNAKE — Ronny Little uses a snake-handling tool to pass garden hose past a likely-looking hole to Robby Robertson. Despite all attempts to drive the snakes out with gas in an upper hole, nothing appeared.

But, undaunted, Robertson and Culwell will still be taking part in Rattlesnake Roundup. Snake purchasing begins today, paying $2.75 per pound.

Shake, rattle and roll hissssssstory

Snake stories spice search

By BOB BURTON

Rattlesnake Roundup. For most people, it begins Saturday at 10 a.m. The snakes will be rounded up, panned, skinned, tamed, fried, tanned, and handled. Most people will walk through the show, admiring the number of snakes in the pen, counting the ounces of venom collected, and gasping at the poundage brought in by the snake hunters.

Visitors will eat snake meat, milk a rattler, applaud the show, peek at the skinning, examine the skins. From 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and again from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday, the Big Spring Jaycees will put the snakes on display at the 16th annual Big Spring Rattlesnake Roundup.

But for a few others, the action began today, when at 10 a.m. the Jaycees started paying $2.75 per pound for live rattlers. The snakes are brought from across West Texas, but the majority are hunted in Howard County. The Jaycees sponsor competition for the largest snake, smallest snake, and most poundage, and the hunters take the competition seriously. The Roundup averages 4,000 pounds of snake each year, and the Howard County snake resources have shown few signs of diminishing.

"There are two snake-hunting families in particular," said Robbie Robertson Wednesday as he loaded snake poles, hose, and catch box into a pickup. "They compete every year. They have dens out in the county they won't tell anyone about. They only do a little bit of gassing, so the dens have snakes year after year. It's like having a little old snake farm."

Robertson, Perry Culwell, and Ronnie Little were going out after a den. Little had noticed a snake while moto-crossing in a ravine northeast of Big Spring. He said he had not disturbed the den and it looked like "good ground."

"I've never had a farmer tell me not to hunt snakes on his land," continued Robertson on the drive out to the ravine. "A rancher loses stock to snakes every year."

Culwell agreed. "I've had to pay insurance claims on stock killed by snake bite. It sure happens."

"But let me tell you. I believe the Audubon Society. We don't try to torture any snakes. When they came down on us we put water in the pens with them, but they don't drink."

Snake stories abound on a snake hunt. Culwell continued, "I heard about one local man who wanted to know just how long a snake could go without food or water. He tied the snake up in a tow sack and left it in the corner of his house for two years. Then he brought it in to the Roundup. I heard it was dehydrated, but it was still alive."

Another tale concerns the Yankee who came to the Roundup and ate several pieces of snake. "Say fellas," he was reported to have asked, "this sure is good, but how come I'm only getting necks?"

The ravine was limestone, twenty feet deep, eaten out into snaky-looking holes. After a ten-minute walk, Robertson and Culwell found signs under one cliff near where Little had spotted the snake. They poured a cup of gas into a garden hose, one end inserted into a high snake hole. Robertson blew the gas down into the hole and they waited, nervously, but nothing crawled out.

"The best time to have the Roundup is just before they all leave their dens," said Culwell. "Then you can pull anywhere from five to 300 snakes out of one place, depending on the size of the den. But once you've gassed it, the snakes won't use it for about another three years."

This year, they agreed, the Roundup will be light because of the erratic weather last month. Warm weather brings the snakes out to sun for a few days before they crawl off for a solitary summer. But the sudden cold of a few weeks ago might have driven some back into their winter dens.

Wearin' O' the green

A lot of Irish people and their friends were wearing green in Big Spring today, in honor St. Patrick's Day.

But very few of the trees or shrubs are showing off in green leaves yet this year. Spring appears to be late and even the foolish fruit trees are slow budding out.

The wise old mesquites don't even look as though they think winter will ever end. The mesquite, which is known as the spring weather sage in West Texas, is not showing one sign of a green leaf anytime soon.

Begorra and there may be an Easter spell coming next week.

Grand Jury to consider Galaviz data March 28

An investigation into the shooting death of Juan Galaviz will be taken up by a Howard County grand jury convening March 28, according to District Attorney Rick Hamby.

The item will be included with a normal quota of cases for a grand jury, although Hamby said he expects over 40 witnesses to file before the jury in relation to the Galaviz deliberations.

"They are all relevant witnesses who we believe have something to add," said Hamby. "And once again I want to ask publicly that if any person has information which might affect the deliberations of the grand jury, he or she contact my office."

Galaviz was shot Dec. 6, 1977 by ex-Big Spring police officer Leroy Spires. Spires, who resigned from the police force Wednesday due to harassment of his family, allegedly fired the fatal shot as Galaviz was reaching for something in his pocket. A knife was found in the 18-year-old's pocket.

The shooting followed an attempted abduction of a woman from the Howard College parking lot by

Italy opens 'war' on kidnapers

ROME (AP) — Police said today they found the second car used in the escape of the terrorists who kidnaped political leader Aldo Moro, increasing their belief that they were hiding him in northwest Rome.

The car was parked on the same street where the first one was found Thursday afternoon, several miles from the site of the kidnapping in the Trionfale section of the city, a spokesman said.

He said there were blood stains on and in the first car. Tests were being made to determine whether it was the blood of the 61-year-old Moro, president of Italy's dominant Christian Democratic Party.

However, police have expressed the belief that Moro was unhurt in the abduction in which his five police bodyguards were killed. They said one of the officers got off three shots, probably wounding one of the terrorists.

As 50,000 troops and police spread a dragnet across the country for Moro, news media continued to get anonymous telephone calls purporting to come from the kidnapers.

One caller identified himself as a member of West Germany's Baader-Meinhof Gang and said, "Moro is with us." The police said they considered that one a hoax. But they said they had no way of knowing if some of the others were genuine.

A phoner in Turin said Moro would be killed within 48 hours unless the government released the 15 leaders of the guerrilla Red Brigades on trial there along with five other terrorists in prison.

A message in Naples Thursday night said the five-time premier had been "executed."

A caller told a Milan newspaper early today Moro was in a "people's jail" outside Rome and that photographs of him there would be delivered to the papers.

A number of calls starting soon after the kidnapping Thursday morning said it was the work of the Red Brigades, Italy's most feared urban guerrilla gang.

A dozen terrorists ambushed Moro's limousine as he was on his way to a session of Parliament, killed all five of his police bodyguards with a barrage of pistol and submachine-gun fire, and took him away in another car.

Carter speaks out Soviet Union, Cuba warned

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — President Carter today coupled a call for a strong defense program with a warning to the Soviet Union and Cuba that military restraint is a two-way street.

In his first major defense policy address since taking office, Carter said the United States stands ready to cooperate with the Soviets on social, scientific and economical programs. Then he added a caution:

"But if they fail to demonstrate restraint in missile programs and other force levels and in the projection of Soviet or proxy forces into other lands and continents, then popular support in the United States for such cooperation will erode."

Carter made no direct mention of Soviet and Cuban forces in Africa, but his meaning was clear.

The president's statement, in a campus appearance at Wake Forest University, was the latest in a series suggesting a link between restraint by the Soviet Union, in particular, and progress toward goals sought by Moscow.

About 2,000 persons turned out to hear Carter, although the campus chapel where he spoke was not completely filled. The audience applauded frequently during the address.

As Carter began to speak, an unidentified man in the crowd shouted out that he had a First Amendment right to be heard and that he had a paper to present to the president. Carter cut the incident short by directing a staff aide to go to the man and collect what he had to offer.

Reporters were unable to hear all that the man said to the president.

While promising to press ahead with negotiations for a new strategic arms limitation treaty, Carter said:

"... Before I sign a SALT agreement on behalf of the United States, I will make sure that it preserves the strategic balance, that we can independently verify Soviet compliance, and that we will be at least as strong relative to the Soviet Union as we would be without an agreement."

Canal neutrality pact is approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders are confident the second Panama Canal treaty ratification fight will be won more easily than the first.

But opponents say the battle has just begun.

The Senate's close 68-32 vote ratifying the neutrality treaty Thursday — 67 votes were needed — saved President Carter from a major political defeat.

Carter had put his prestige as a world leader and the political strength of his presidency on the line. Senate Majority Leader Robert Byrd said he believes those were the two biggest factors in assuring approval.

The treaty approved Thursday in the crowded and hushed Senate chamber guarantees the neutrality of the canal after the year 2000, when the United States will surrender control of the 64-year-old waterway, provided the second treaty wins Senate approval.

Asked if that pact would be ratified, Byrd said, "We have established good momentum."

The second agreement, to actually give the canal to Panama in steps over the next 22 years, will be taken up after the Senate returns from its 10-day Easter recess.

Assistant Democratic Leader Alan Cranston of California said of his fellow treaty supporters, "In the long run, we will have the votes we will need."

A. The clubs had an option to close down temporarily or pay a fine. The Lamplighter paid $150 dollars daily fine for 15 days in Austin, according to the Alcoholic Beverage Commission.

Offbeat: Beware of crowds

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — It was an offer they had to refuse.

About 25 Minneapolis area vice officers met at a suburban hotel Tuesday night to discuss prostitution problems.

When the discussion broke up, according to Minneapolis Vice Supervisor Lance Zentzis, a woman sauntered up to the group in the lobby and said she had a proposition.

Zentzis said she turned to him, said, "You look like the spokesman for the group," and offered to "take care of" seven of the plainclothes officers for $225.

Zentzis said he and a couple of others arranged to meet the woman in a hotel room, where they arrested her.

'A flock' of indictments

MUSKOGEE, Okla. (AP) — "A flock" of additional indictments is expected today when a federal grand jury probing southeastern Oklahoma marijuana dealings returns its final report, said U.S. Attorney Julian K. Fite.

The panel has also been investigating a separate, multistate marijuana ring with alleged Arizona connections, Fite said.

Wednesday, the panel returned a sealed indictment naming 37 persons, mostly from McCurtain County, in an alleged three-state marijuana smuggling ring.

Law officers swept through the county Wednesday arresting persons named in the indictment. By Thursday, 19 of them had made initial appearances before U.S. Magistrate James Payne. Arraignments are scheduled March 22.

Meanwhile Thursday, McCurtain County Sheriff Paul Stewart spent 45 minutes before the panel answering questions concerning allegations that he had knowledge of marijuana operations in that county. He was not indicted Thursday.

Stewart, 47, had been the target of an ouster action by a McCurtain County panel concerning alleged connections with marijuana dealings. He is also facing several counts in a county jury indictment.

In a sealed indictment opened Thursday, the federal panel revealed that it has been investigating allegations Stewart was destined to share in the proceeds of the southeastern Oklahoma marijuana operation.

Strong diplomatic language

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has told Israel in unusually strong diplomatic language to withdraw its troops from the "Fatahland" of southern Lebanon, saying the only real solution to its security problems is a comprehensive settlement of the Arab-Israeli conflict.

The call was issued at the directive of President Carter as the Israelis strengthened their control of the staging area of Palestinian terrorist bases along the Israeli border. It gave no timetable, while saying in stern diplomatic language, "we expect Israel to withdraw and we have made our views in this respect known to the Israeli government."

For the short run, the U.S. administration said late Thursday it had begun "urgent exchanges" with parties in the Middle East on possibly stationing a United Nations peacekeeping unit along the Israeli border.

The U.S. statement deplored both the "tragic killings" in Israel last Saturday, without specifically mentioning the Palestinian terrorists, and the loss of innocent civilian lives in Lebanon as a result of Israeli raids.

Arson runs unchecked

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Arson has reached epidemic proportions in Texas and will run unchecked unless it becomes unprofitable, President Jerry Johns of Southwestern Insurance Information Service said today.

He said it has been estimated that 50 percent of all fires of undetermined origin are the result of arson.

"Many insurance companies across the country are increasingly resisting payment of claims where there is mounting evidence that fraud was committed or strong facts pointing to arson for profit," Johns said in a statement. "This is one method of taking the profit motive out of arson."

"Many people express apathy over the arson situation thinking that it is an insurance industry problem not realizing they are the ones helping to pay for this crime through increased insurance premiums and higher taxes," he added.

Bentson, Tower split on treaty

WASHINGTON (AP) — Depending on the senator you choose to agree with, passage of the Panama canal treaties either assures continued stability in the canal zone or invites disastrous disruption.

Texans of either persuasion have their man in Washington: Democrat Lloyd Bentson agrees with the amended version of the controversial treaties while Republican John Tower vociferously opposes them.

The Bentsons scored a narrow victory Thursday with the ratification of one of the treaties. The Towers said they had lost a battle but not the war.

As a standing-room-only crowd watched, the Senate dramatically ratified the controversial treaty by a 68-32 margin, one vote more than needed.

The treaty spells out the rights of the United States to defend and use the canal once it is turned over to Panama. The second treaty — which makes the canal Panamanian property — will be considered later.

Bentson noted that the attachment of two amendments to the treaties had assured his "yea" vote.

Bentson said the two amendments make it possible for the U.S. "to intervene unilaterally, militarily forever, to protect the neutrality of the canal and that our ships will be allowed to go to the head of the line in case of an emergency. Those two amendments have been attached to the treaties and without them, I would not have voted for it. With them, I'll vote for it."

"It's an ambiguous and weak document," countered Tower. "It'll be extremely difficult, if not impossible, for the United States to act should the neutrality pact be violated in the future. This agreement fails to recognize that the most serious threat to the canal's security could well be instability within the country of Panama itself."

"Far stronger assurances of U.S. intervention rights are necessary. There is no guarantee that the U.S. will be able to maintain any military presence in Panama after the year 2000," Tower continued.

"I think the majority of my colleagues have overlooked the fact that with the absence of continued U.S. military presence in the canal zone there will be an insufficient deterrent to instability in Panama which could easily disrupt the future operation of the canal."

Thursday's vote was seen as a crucial test for the Carter Administration.

Bentson called the vote a "win for the President, but not a major win...it would have been a major loss. He was expected to win it."

Tower said that while the President has won round one, the fight is far from finished.

"I do not believe the vote today will necessarily be repeated when the roll is called on the second round," Tower said. "So while I'm disappointed in the action of the senate here today, I'm not totally convinced the same vote will occur when we conclude our deliberations on the Panama Canal treaty itself."

When asked if the White House lobbying had been lacking on the canal issue, Bentson replied: "I don't think so. They've done everything they could. It's a tough, controversial, emotional issue and I think senators are going to make up their own minds...it would be a rare situation where the White House will be able to seriously influence a vote."

Bentson added that despite "all the rumors I've heard, I don't know of any deals being offered and I assure you no deal has been offered and I requested no deal. I can't imagine anything they could offer me that would influence a vote of such magnitude."

Responding to reports that the speaker of the Texas House, Bill Clayton, had said ratification of the treaties will cost Texans jobs, Bentson said: "I talked to people in Panama and had them develop for me figures as to how much trade went to Texas ports (via the canal) but the key to it is seeing that the canal is accessible. That's what we all want. I believe if the treaties are defeated, we'll have problems insofar as passage. I think you'll see riots and you'll see problems with passage through the canal. I think one of the surest ways to have access to that canal for Texas industry and Texas agriculture is to have the Panamanians have an interest in it."

"Then who's hurt the most if the traffic is stopped? It'll be the Panamanians because they'll be losing revenue that is critical to them. I think passage of the treaties helps insure access to the canal...then we have a 22-year transition period to train the Panamanians before we pass the authority on to them."

Woodstock repackaged into California jam Flower festivals antique?

By PETER J. BOYER
LOS ANGELES (AP) — A decade ago, portions of the population put flowers in their hair and spent weekends at places like Woodstock, Altamont and Watkins Glen.

Little today compares with the spontaneous craziness of the rock festivals of the 1960s when young people threw Frisbees, played in the mud and, weather permitting, shed their blue jeans and work shirts to commune with nature.

Two rock promoters are trying to recapture some of the feeling Saturday with a carefully planned show called "California Jam II."

But they say their rock festival is different — more carefully planned and, presumably, milder.

It is a true late '70s event — pre-packaged, planned to the last detail — including projections as to how many hot dogs the celebrants will eat, how much water they will drink and how many Port-O-Leths they will need after the hot dogs and water.

Most of all it is supposed to be safe.

A thousand collegiate jocktypes, not the Hell's Angels that roughed crowds at Altamont, will provide security at Ontario 40 miles from here when 200,000 or so people gather for California Jam II.

QUICK COUNTERS — Youngsters in sixth grade mathematics class use fingers as teacher Neil Castaldo fires away figures in rapid succession. By the time Castaldo pronounces the last figure, the youngsters have finished adding, and have the correct answer. The computations were done easily by using Chisanbop — a method of calculating by using the fingers.

Fingers fly in Chisanbop count

MOUNT VERNON, N.Y. (AP) — Seven pairs of tiny hands spring from the table. Seventy fingers slice the air. Neil Castaldo's sixth grade math class is counting with Chisanbop.

"OK, let's do double digits. Get ready to press your fingers," says Castaldo to part of his class. He fires away in rapid succession: 88, 51, 95, 65.

Just as quickly, the children's fingers skim the table top, playing a silent symphony of numbers, stopping only briefly to jot carry-over figures.

By the time Castaldo pronounces the last number, the youngsters have finished adding and have the correct answer. Their computations are done quickly and easily with Chisanbop — a method of calculating mathematical problems using the fingers.

The technique is so new in this country that the Mount Vernon school system is the only one in the nation using Chisanbop as a supplement to its regular math program. Pilot programs elsewhere are expected to begin later this year.

Based on the decimal system, Chisanbop is almost a direct extension of the ancient Oriental abacus. It was introduced here by a Korean teacher, Hang Young Pai. He adopted it from a more complex technique developed by his father 20 years ago in Korea.

In Chisanbop, the fingers of the right hand have the numerical value of one, two, three and four from the index finger to the little finger. The thumb is five. The left hand represents the tens. Those corresponding fingers are 10, 20, 30 and 40.

Weather in Dublin cool

St. Patrick's Day

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — Irish men and women marched in St. Patrick's Day parades throughout the Republic today in honor of Ireland's patron saint. But Prime Minister Jack Lynch used the occasion to focus on the eight-year sectarian war in Northern Ireland.

"I know that Irish people and their friends throughout the world will share our hope for a lasting solution to the problems in Northern Ireland," Lynch said in a St. Patrick's Day statement.

"I am confident that, given the help of all concerned, a permanent solution that will promote harmony and unity between the majority and minority traditions in Ireland will ultimately be found."

ONE, FIVE, TEN — Chart diagrams values assigned the fingers under the Chisanbop technique — a kind of abacus-like method of calculating math problems by using fingers. Based on the decimal system, the Chisanbop method was introduced in this nation by a Korean teacher Hang Young Pai.

The left thumb is 50.

Calculations — adding, subtracting, multiplying, dividing and finding unknowns — are made by moving and exchanging the fingers from one hand to the next. For figures over 99, pencil and paper are needed to note carry-overs.

"I'm shocked at the accuracy level it produces," Castaldo says.

"I can teach these children how to read numbers and go beyond sixth grade math," he says. "These kids are able to solve tax problems and can compute the mortgage on a house with Chisanbop."

Because the very essence of Chisanbop is finger counting, it is a difficult concept to sell to traditionalists — that is, until they see it in action, says Edwin Lieberthal, president of Chisanbop Enterprises.

"We had a demonstration for the New York City Board of Education," he says. "They had a 20-minute appointment set up for us. Two and one-half hours later, they stood up and applauded."

A former newspaper editor and a corporate marketing executive, Lieberthal began his love affair with Chisanbop two years ago after he and his wife adopted two Korean orphans, Aimee and Joy.

Seth Lachterman, supervisor of mathematics and evaluation for the Mount Vernon schools, says that in a 70-day testing period, hundreds of thousands more watching at home on television.

Misuse of funds raps stagnating

EDINBURG, Texas (AP) — Charges against eight persons, including three anti-poverty officials and the mayors of two South Texas towns, will likely "die a natural death," according to a state judge who says he is calling off his court of inquiry.

Canoeists vanish while seeking new waterway

STEVENSON, Wash. (AP) — For a full year they planned their trip. They studied maps of every inch of the 5,000 miles of rivers and lakes that stretch from Astoria, Ore., to the mouth of Maine's Kennebec River. Canoeists Peter Macridis, 25, and Tim Black, 23, wanted to forge a national cross-country waterway and hoped their trip would spur the necessary legislation. "Like an Appalachian Trail for hikers," said Macridis the night before the two headed up the Columbia River on March 1. But the adventure ended about 150 miles from Astoria, on a treacherous stretch of the Columbia Gorge named Wind Mountain. "I don't believe there is any hope whatsoever for the pair's survival," Macridis' father, Roy Macridis, said Thursday, five days after their equipment was found washed up on the river's bank.

A ground party supported by aircraft searched the river east of Stevenson the first days after the green, 16-foot canoe and the equipment, including paddles and life jackets, were found. But only an occasional Civil Air Patrol flight patrolled late in the week, looking for anything that would be material," said a Skamania County deputy. Macridis, of Belmont, Mass., and Black, of Contoosook, N.H., had years of canoeing experience. They had spent recent summers guiding teenagers on canoe trips into the wilderness of Maine and Canada. They had some of the best equipment available, much of it donated by sporting goods manufacturers and outfitters. The trip was sponsored by the Young Men's Christian Association. Macridis and Black were last seen about noon last Saturday. Their equipment was found on the shore at 4 p.m.

Police beat Two victimized by car burglar

Local police spent another relatively slow day Thursday. Two were victimized by a car burglar. A box full of 22 eight-track tapes was stolen from a car belonging to Robert Creelman, 3223 Drexel, while he was inside the Ritz Theatre. The tapes were valued at $100. Also stolen from the car was a shoulder bag belonging to Debbie Burks, 1502 State Park. The bag contained $30 in cash, bringing the total loss to $40. Two men were arrested after trying to dodge a two-night bill at the Holiday Inn. The bill came to $63.36. Thieves rolled off a 1974 Yamaha motorcycle belonging to Dale Worthan, 2908 Cactus, sometime Wednesday night. The bike was valued at $400. Four mishaps were reported Thursday. A parked vehicle belonging to Wayne Lister, 2405 Alabama, was struck by a vehicle that left the scene at FM 700 and Birdwell, 10:45 p.m. Vehicles driven by William Burchell, 1703 Morrison, and Mary Engelson, Sterling City Route, collided in the lot of the Big Spring Post Office, 5:29 p.m. Vehicles driven by Kevin Michael, Sterling City Route, and Jimmy Jones, 1415 Tucson, collided in the parking lot of the Sonic Drive-In, 6:14 p.m. Vehicles driven by Leon Burns, 311 Main, and Phyllis Davies, 1002 Baylor, collided on the 300 block of Highway 87, 8:05 a.m.

Weather Pleasant weekend in state likely

By the Associated Press
Pleasant weekend weather appeared to be on tap for most Texans as forecasters predicted clear skies and warming temperatures for the entire state. The trend was expected to continue through the early part of the coming week, forecasters said. Highs were expected to reach the 60s and 70s statewide with a few readings possibly climbing into the lower 80s in the Big Bend country of Southwest Texas. Early morning temperature extremes under clear skies statewide ranged from a chilly 20 at Marfa in the mountains of Southwest Texas to a pleasant 51 at McAllen in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Other temperatures 32 at Amarillo, 35 at Wichita Falls, 37 at Texarkana, 40 at Dallas-Fort Worth, 46 at Austin, 33 at Lufkin, 34 at Houston, 40 at Corpus Christi, 49 at Brownsville, 45 at Del Rio, 34 at El Paso and 41 at Lubbock.

WEATHER FORECAST — Rain is forecast today for the Pacific Northwest coast. Snow is forecast for the northern Rockies and adjacent Plains. Snow is also forecast for New England. Most of the country is expected to have sunny skies with mild weather but most of the East will be cold.

State District Judge Joe Cisneros said Thursday that he's ending his investigation into alleged misuse of federal Manpower program funds because District Attorney Oscar McInnis would not present evidence from the court to a state grand jury. Cisneros had convened the court of inquiry to investigate the activities of the Associated City-County Economic Development Corp., an anti-poverty agency, and the Hidalgo County Manpower Program.

He issued arrest warrants against eight persons, including the three anti-poverty agency officials who had already been indicted on theft charges resulting from a similar court of inquiry in neighboring Cameron County. "If there is no prosecution before July 1 this year, under the speedy trial act those so-called arrest warrants will die a natural death," Cisneros told reporters. "There is no need for a state grand jury to consider those matters if the district attorney is not going to be interested to take them before the grand jury and seek indictments."

Sorority suspended

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The University of Texas has suspended Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority until Dec. 20, following an investigation prompted by published reports that pledges had been beaten. David McClintock, assistant dean of students, did not mention beatings in his statement about the investigation. He said, however, that school policies against hazing had been violated. McClintock said pledge meetings had been conducted off-campus on Feb. 19 and 26 and March 5. "Activities at the meetings have included requiring pledges to ingest unpleasant food, to recite sorority history and other information excessively and under duress and to do physical exercises for failure to perform expected tasks. During the pledge period, the pledges have also been required to perform personal errands and tasks for members. These activities are violations of hazing policies," he said.

McInnis, who had counseled against the court of inquiry from the beginning, said he felt the investigation fell under federal jurisdiction and that the government had better resources to conduct an investigation. The district attorney said he felt the state investigation would duplicate federal efforts. A federal grand jury in Brownsville is already looking into the two Hidalgo County agencies and the Greater South Texas Economic Programs (STEP) of Hebbronville. Cisneros' court was prompted by a State District Judge Darrell Hester's court of inquiry into the Manpower program in Cameron County. Cisneros' arrest warrants had been issued against: —Eliseo Sandoval, former executive director of the AC-CEDC, 10 counts of misapplication of funds. —Nick Ramirez, director of the Hidalgo County Manpower Program, six

Even liberated couples show jealousy

In this age of permissiveness and open marriages, the results of a study conducted by Gregory Lewis White, assistant professor of psychology at the University of Maryland prove interesting.

White, a 27 year old who regarded himself as a "modern husband," (whatever that means), spent a year studying 150 young couples and found that they had problems with jealousy. More specifically, he discovered that the person more deeply involved in the relationship was likely to get jealous if the one less involved took up with someone else.

When White began advertising for 150 couples to participate in his research project, he did not specify that it would deal with jealousy. By chance, about a third of the couples who responded said they were having problems with the green-eyed monster, according to White.

White chose Berkeley, Calif., as the place for his study because he felt that couples there would be more liberal sexually and more likely to enjoy an equal balance of power in their relationships.

White asked couples to write their responses to such questions as "Have you ever tried to get your partner jealous over your relationship with someone else?" "How often do you get jealous?" "How nervous or anxious do you get over your partner's relationships with others?" "Do you agree to be truly in love is to be in love forever?"

White discovered some extreme cases of jealousy among the cases he studied and, judging from the details, the jealous parties had every right to take umbrage.

White concluded that "romantic jealousy is one consequence of an imbalance of power in the romantic relationship." He wrote in a paper presented to the American Psychological Association convention: "There is a strong relationship between the level of involvement and jealousy, even among those people who are not faced with an actual rival."

White says women are not prone to be more jealous than men, but are thought so because they "have occupied the more dependant or less powerful position in relationships while males have occupied the more powerful position."

White's paper suggests that "developing counterpower within the context of the relationship or of the larger society may be a more useful way to deal with jealousy than understanding the personality-based or sex-based roots of one's jealousy." That's like saying Othello would have been happier had he gotten himself a hobby.

Crime and punishment

Around the rim

Bob Burton

A gap has always existed between the law and the real world. For all their efforts, the police have not caught every criminal, not every innocent man has escaped accusation of a crime, and not every guilty man has been punished.

Charles McCabe, who writes a column for the San Francisco Chronicle, recently put forth an idea he says he has been promoting for eight years which would ease the burden on the police, and reduce to understandable levels the complex definitions of crimes and their punishments.

McCABE QUOTED a British jurist, Lord Denning, who told the California Bar, "Man must distinguish between sin, for which he is accountable to God, and crime, for which he is accountable to society."

The gist of McCabe's opinion is this: many things presently classified as crimes under our penal code are actually MORAL offenses, or sins. He says, "These are things which don't damage us physically or financially, but which we disapprove of on moral grounds. Sins are the concerns of preachers and priests, not of cops. Crimes are the concern of cops, not of preachers and priests."

If he had his way, there would only be two real crimes, theft and assault, left on the books in varying degrees. Drunkenness, gambling, whoring, book-making all would be legal (if not very palatable to residents of the community) and could be pursued with a healthy abandon.

One California Superior Court judge added this: "The public is going to have to decide sooner or later whether they want the courts to adjudicate disputes and to punish crime, or whether they want us to be Big Daddy to everybody.

"If we are going to be the latter, we don't have to be the former."

"I DON'T KNOW when we will ever get this lesson through, but until we do, we are so damn busy making people account for sins that we have become inefficient in making people account for crimes."

While this appears to be a solution of sorts, in Texas the problem is closer to hand than most people are prepared to admit. In June, the 120-day trial law goes into effect, and if you think the system has had problems with offenders now, wait until then. While no one would encourage sin (whatever your handy definition of that old devil might include), perhaps the old line in the western movies, "Name yer poison!" might well be applied here. With all the furor over the pleasure man seeks and has sought, the cops might find their job eased if they didn't have to clean up after the drunks, and instead left the job to society as a whole.

THE ARGUMENT that you can't legislate morality has always made some sense, especially to those who argue for the sanctity of the home (or, No One Knows What Goes On Behind Closed Doors).

As McCabe says, the only solution to the problem of sin is that it should go private. The other solution (the preacher's stock-in-trade), that we should eliminate it from our lives altogether, says the columnist, is about as practical as getting all men to love each other.

Marston upheld

Jack Anderson,

WASHINGTON — Evidence turned up in an FBI bugging verifies former U.S. Attorney David Marston's charge that Pennsylvania politicians routinely squash investigations of their own official conduct.

There has never been any real doubt that Marston's claim is true. Numerous probes of official corruption in the Keystone State have been dropped under suspicious circumstances in recent years.

In 1972, an extensive investigation begun by State Attorney General J. Shane Creamer spluttered to a stop when it appeared that suspects knew in advance every move the investigators were contemplating. Later it was discovered that a motel room where investigators were conducting interviews was bugged by the state police. The confidential information they obtained was apparently funneled to the targets of the probe.

A FEDERALLY FUNDED special prosecutor, Walter Phillips, resigned in 1974 when his investigations ran into roadblocks. Fumed former Watergate Committee counselor Sam Dash: "This is an open assault on justice." And Phillips' successor, Bernard Siegel, was forced out of business when the state legislature voted down funds to continue the project.

During a recent investigation of their own, Marston and his associates unearthed evidence that explains why so many probes of public officials die aborning.

As part of their investigation into the activities of powerful state senator Henry "Buddy" Cianfrani, the FBI secretly recorded conversations between two Cianfrani associates, Martin Abrams and Phil Gagliardi. Abrams was allegedly a bagman who carried payoffs to the senator from parents who wanted to get their children into medical school.

According to a transcript of the conversation, the two Cianfrani associates were convinced the probe of their boss would be squelched.

"It's going to be over soon," crowed Abrams. "They'll put guys in (the U.S. Attorney's office) who are favorable. Just like they did with Walter Phillips, you know they threw him the — out."

How could he be so sure? asked Gagliardi.

"If a new president's elected," said Abrams, "they're going to revise the whole . . . ing Justice Department." Powerful Pennsylvania pols, including a top aide to Philadelphia

Mayor Frank Rizzo, would visit Washington, continued Abrams. "And then they, they'll say, okay Lieberman, you're done with."

Al Lieberman was a Marston assistant who helped investigate Cianfrani. Even though the Carter administration eventually fired Marston, it was of little help to Cianfrani. He was convicted of 104 counts of obstruction of justice, racketeering, mail fraud and bribery.

Footnote: FBI officials describe Abrams and Gagliardi as "two hood who do a lot of talking just to impress each other."

BUREAUCRATIC BLUNDER: For more than two years, a former active Army Reserve officer has been adrift in a Kafkaesque limbo of joblessness because the paper pushers at the Pentagon failed to give him the proper form at the time of his release. As a result, he is being denied unemployment compensation.

The reservist has asked that he not be identified, but here is his story of the missing DD 214.

"DD 214" sounds like just another government form that the bureaucracy mindlessly grinds out. Unfortunately for the man who came to us, it is the form that a reservist must have upon release from active duty in order to file for jobless payments. He said he had been unable to find work after his separation from the military because of certain circumstances surrounding his release.

BUT WHEN HE filed for unemployment compensation, he couldn't collect because of the missing DD 214. The former officer phoned dozens of Army offices about his plight. He was told there was "some question" whether he had been formally released — even though he wasn't receiving paychecks.

We fired on our own to check out his status as a non-person. We began with the Office of the Chief of Army Reserve. The buck was passed to seven additional offices before a spokesman finally said he'd get back to us.

Three days later, we got our reply: yes, the man in question had been released more than two years earlier. It was also true that Army records contained "no indication that a DD 214 was issued." No, the spokesman couldn't say why not. His only explanation: "the Army's a big organization."

Meanwhile, the Army Inspector General's office has promised to investigate the case of the missing form.

No Change on F-15s

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — The Carter administration will in no way change its plan to sell 60 F-15 fighter aircraft to Saudi Arabia despite claims by Israel and the pro-Israel congressional bloc that last week's bloody Palestinian assault on Israel creates a new situation.

Moreover, the administration will not be deterred from its "package" sale of aircraft to Israel, Egypt and Saudi Arabia — all three sales to stand or fall together in Congress. This tells much about President Carter's inner determination. Not only will it further anger Israel's Prime Minister Menachem Begin; it also portends more trouble in the new confrontation between two old friends — Israel and the U.S.

THE WHITE HOUSE mood on the eve of Begin's visit here could hardly be more different from the jittery desire to please that animated the Carter administration when the Israeli leader first came to Washington last summer. Begin, then the upset Israeli election winner, was praised by Mr. Carter for having helped lay the "groundwork" for peace.

Begin now is regarded in the White House as an adversary whose word is suspect ("He lied to us on the settlements issue," a top administration official charges). The administration believes Begin still has not given President Anwar Sadat of Egypt the proper response due for the Egyptian's Jerusalem trip.

Thus, the sweetness and light of last July's Carter-Begin talks is gone. No effort will be made next week, as it was last summer, to pretend major differences between the two countries do not exist. Rather, Mr. Carter "will conceal nothing about the underlying contradictions as to basic political facts in the Middle East as viewed by us and by Israel," another key Carter advisor told us.

Those contradictions start with Israel's military power. Here is the reason Jimmy Carter is showing unaccustomed tenacity in not letting last week's terrorist tragedy be used to scuttle F-15 aircraft for Saudi Arabia.

ALTHOUGH NOT advertised by White House spokesman Jody Powell, Mr. Carter has been steeping himself in studies of relative military strength in the Middle East, particularly airpower. Mr. Carter's conclusion: Israel now is at the point where it could wage total warfare on all fronts simultaneously without needing supplies from the U.S. Particularly impressive to the President was the exhaustive analysis of Israel's military power, published last October by the authoritative Armed Forces Journal. The author, Anthony Cordesman, was chief civilian assistant to then Deputy Secretary of Defense Robert Ellsworth in the Ford administration.

Entitled "How Much Is Too Much?" the article supports the U.S. connection with Israel on the basis of "morality, history and domestic politics." But it raises critical questions about Begin and dangers to U.S. policy posed by a Begin-governed Israel freed from U.S. military restraints by the huge weapons buildup following the 1973 war.

According to Cordesman, Begin "has made it clear he intends to abuse the U.S.-Israel alliance to permanently seize control of West Bank towns and territory that have no desire to be part of Israel. While Begin may or may not destroy Israel's first real hopes for peace in the process, he has already begun to seriously damage U.S. interests."

THE PRESIDENT is also impressed by similar warnings from the Pentagon about Israel's military might; that power could be used without seeking prior approval from Washington and without considering its effect on U.S. interests in the Arab world.

I HAVE LUSTED AFTER WOMEN IN MY HEART, BUT, JIMMY FORGIVES ME. — HAMILTON JORDAN

Let'em eat cake -- but

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: We wish you would devote a portion of your column to the subject of sweets for small children. I don't mean candy or rich desserts. How soon can a small child be fed a plain cookie, or a small piece of cake as a dessert after his meal? Are there any benefits from withholding all these small treats? — Mrs. B.B.

Dessert is a legitimate course that doesn't have to be discarded in our concern over obesity. The problem is that, as your letter implies, there is a tendency to equate dessert with richness and heavy sweetness.

As far as small children are concerned, the goal is not to eliminate all sweet foods, but to put them into perspective with the entire meal. As soon as the child is big enough to join in the social atmosphere of the family mealtime, he should be allowed to participate to the fullest, including the dessert. Many youngsters develop the habit of sitting down with the object of reaching the dessert course by the shortest possible and least complicated route. This usually means waiting over an untouched plate of protein, minerals, etc., for arrival of the carbohydrate-rich sweets he knows always come at the end.

This must be discouraged. The lesson learned will be that the "good stuff" is not a reward for eating the "not-so-good stuff," but that the whole package is what good nutrition is all about. No reason dessert cannot occasionally consist of fruit, even cheese.

There is another good reason for not withholding all goodies entirely from youngsters. It is that once they get on their own, their appetite for the denied substances will usually be even greater, leading to lifelong bad nutrition.

So the rule is "let'em eat cake," but keep it in perspective. Also, avoid letting dessert time stretch out into between-meal hours with continuous snacking on sweets. Brush teeth after a sweet dessert.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can you tell me about septicemia, how one gets it, and what the damaging effects of it are? — L.D.B.

It will be more familiar to you as "blood poisoning," the common term for it. It is also known as "bacteremia."

Whatever term is used, it means some organism has invaded the blood stream, where it doesn't belong. The severity of poisoning depends on the type of "bug" involved. The staph or strep germ can be quiet troublesome.

Milder types can occur with other infections, tonsillitis or pneumonia, for examples. This transient type can also occur with a tooth extraction, the lancing of a boil, or from childbirth.

In serious cases, infection can spread to valves of the heart or to the kidneys. Or it may spread throughout the body and cause multiple abscesses.

The milder kinds of infection usually correct themselves without treatment. There may, in fact, be no dramatic signs. Fever, red streaks in the arms or legs, or multiple abscesses are signs of serious poisoning that requires treatment. The doctor identifies the organism by blood culture (sometimes several are needed). Appropriate antibiotics are then used, often for prolonged periods. To assure maximum effect, the treatment is usually continued for a time after symptoms subside.

Arthritis suffers can be helped. Dr. Thosteson's booklet discusses many types of arthritis and related joint diseases as well as effective treatments and medications. For a copy of "How You Can Control Arthritis," write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I am very confused about all the various religions, especially some of the new ones that seem popular in the United States. How can we tell what is true and what is false about these? — P. B.

DEAR P. B.: I believe there is only one infallible standard — the Bible, God's Word. In it God has revealed all we need to know and all we can know about Himself. Any faith that is based on the Word of God is therefore true, while a faith that is based only on the ideas of men is not reliable. That is why it is so important for Christians to know the Bible and what it teaches, because, as you say, there are many false ideas and religions in the world today.

The Bible warns that Satan sometimes "is transformed into an angel of light" (II Corinthians 11:14) or to deceive people by notions that sound good, but are counterfeits of God's truth. We should know the Bible's truth, "That we henceforth be no more children, tossed to and fro, and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the sleight of men, and cunning craftiness, whereby they lie in wait to deceive" (Ephesians 4:14).

Why is it that people become involved in these various religions? Sometimes, I am afraid, it is because we who are Christians have not been faithful in presenting Christ to others. We have settled for something less than God's full blessing in our lives, and our lives are cold and indifferent as a result. We need to be more faithful in our lives and witness for Christ.

Also, people today are spiritually hungry. Many who had thought they would find happiness and satisfaction in material possessions or money or other things, later found that these do not meet their deepest longing — their longing for God. In their spiritual hunger they turn to the first thing that promises fulfillment.

I believe that only Jesus Christ can forgive us and give us true joy, because He alone is the Savior. He said, "I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly" (John 10:10).

Dear Editor:

I have often wondered why Easter sometimes comes in March and sometimes comes in April.

According to "Man," Easter occurs on the first Sunday after the full moon that occurs on or next after March 21. If we are going to celebrate Easter as the resurrection of Christ, it should be on the same day all the time.

If someone is born on August 5, their birthday is always on August 5.

Let's ask ourselves why was Christ in Jerusalem at the time he was crucified? We find in Luke 22:1 that the days of unleavened bread was drawing nigh, which is the Passover. In verse 8, Jesus tells Peter and John "Go and prepare us the Passover that we may eat." So Jesus was at Jerusalem to celebrate the feast of the Passover. As we read on in Luke, chapters 22 and 23 we find where

Farm Angry farmers interrupt meeting

WASHINGTON (AP) — When angry farmers crashed past security guards at the Agriculture Department on Thursday, they interrupted a meeting which would have given dairy producers in their midst a fat government pay increase.

The increase, still to be put into effect, probably means that consumers will pay more for milk this year.

Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland had convened a regular meeting of the Commodity Credit Corporation board, but abruptly adjourned it after about 50 farmers forced their way through a street entrance into the building where the meeting was being held.

Bergland was hustled out of the building by security guards, and the farmers were evicted about half an hour later by federal riot police.

One of the items on the meeting's agenda was consideration of raising milk price supports 43 cents or 4.8 percent from their present level of $9 per 100 pounds, effective April 1.

The meeting will be rescheduled and the boost in milk supports approved. Bergland announced at a congressional hearing two weeks ago that the support would be increased to $9.43 per 100 pounds.

Under law, the milk support must be adjusted every six months, if needed, to take into account increases in farm production costs.

A year ago, effective April 1, the support was raised to $9 per hundredweight, a 74-cent or 9 percent boost from the $8.26 which had been in effect. The $9 rate was continued last Oct. 1 through this month.

According to USDA economic studies, the April 1 increase will mean a hike of about 3.7 cents a gallon for store milk bought by consumers if the government raise is passed along fully.

Milk production has been increasing for the past two years, partly as a result of higher support prices. Another factor is that grain used to feed dairy cows costs less in relation to milk prices than it did a few years ago.

In 1975, for example, milk production was about 115.3 billion pounds and rose to 120.3 billion in 1976. Last year output climbed to more than 122.9 billion pounds, and a further moderate increase is expected this year.

Inventory of sheep, lambs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The inventory of sheep and lambs being fed for the slaughter market in key producing states is down from a year ago, according to the Agriculture Department.

The department said that as of March 1 in five states some 576,000 head were being fed, a decline of 3 percent from a year ago.

The five-state inventory included: California, 85,000 head, up 2 percent from a year ago; Colorado, 220,000, down 8 percent; Iowa, 76,000, down 5 percent; Nebraska, 55,000, down 8 percent; and Texas, 140,000, up 9 percent. The department said that in Arizona 33,000 sheep and lambs were being fed for slaughter March 1, and in Wyoming 50,000 were being fed. However, no comparisons with a year ago were made because surveys were not made then.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cattle scabies, an infectious disease caused by tiny mites, is now appearing in areas where the problem has not been a major concern before, says the Agriculture Department.

Glen O. Schubert of USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service said that scabies "is now appearing in Midwest and South Central Plains States" instead of in relatively small areas of the Southwest where the disease has been a problem for many years.

Schubert said that 226 cases of scabies have been confirmed since Oct. 1, compared with 82 in the same period a year earlier. He attributed the increase to movements of exposed and improperly dipped cattle into new areas.

During February, 60 outbreaks were reported in 12 states: Colorado 14; Nebraska and New Mexico 8 each; Iowa 7; Oklahoma 6; South Dakota 5; Kansas 4; Wyoming 3; Texas 2; and Arizona, California and Utah 1 each.

Chamber directors pushing for members, industries

The Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce membership drive, scheduled for March 20-24, was the first topic of discussion at Wednesday's regular monthly board meeting.

Under the direction of the Membership Committee and the Ambassadors, the plans for the drive include advertising in news media, letters, and personal visits to prospective members.

The board approved a change in next month's meeting from the normal third Wednesday, to Tuesday, April 18. Also approved, was a suggestion that the chamber executive offer the chamber office as a clearing point for the Industrial Foundation Team, should the group wish to use the services.

The Economic Development Committee has sent off a proposal for a zirconium reduction plant to locate at Webb Industrial Park. The plant, which would refine the metal used in fuel rods at nuclear energy plants, would employ 100 to 150 persons initially, and up to 600 or more later, with construction costs for the plant ranging near $100 million.

The site was shown to plant officials some two weeks, and they requested a proposal by last Tuesday. The committee felt rushed in preparing the statement, but indicated that they considered it a good proposal.

The possible creation of a community emblem and slogan to be used in town promotion was suggested by the Transportation Committee. The Tourism Committee has also considered the possibility, so the board took no official action, but gave their approval for either of the committees, or both, to continue to study the project and bring a total package back to be presented to the board at a later date.

Bill Albright, executive vice president of the chamber, reported on the Annual West Texas Chamber of Commerce Washington reception, held earlier this month in Washington, D.C.

"Of the Texas Delegation, 14

congressmen and both senators attended the evening reception," said Albright. "They, and additional Washington congressmen and senators were given a brochure expressing the goals of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce, and pointing out some problems that we felt needed congressional attention, including things such as deficit spending and the current problems of agriculture."

Albright also added that the office was going to begin composing a written notice to the board that will cover the activities of the office during the month, and list the day to day business conducted there.

Adventures in Scouting to be displayed Saturday

Adventures in Scouting will be on display after 1 p.m. Saturday at Highland Mall.

The occasion will be the annual Scout Exposition, and there will be exhibits by Cubs, Scouts and Explorers. At least 15 units are pledged for displays, said Wm. J. (Bill) Priebe, general chairman. Boys have been selling tickets for the event, and 40 per cent of the proceeds will go to their units. Also, top salesmen will receive special prizes, and in the Buffalo Trail Council the leading salesman will get a trip to a Dallas Cowboy game next autumn. Prizes will be given on the hour starting at 2 p.m. to spectators. Among them is a CB radio. Exhibits will close at 5 p.m.

Cubs, Scouts, Explorers and leaders may begin installing their displays at 10 a.m. Saturday, said Priebe. Spaces will be marked off by that time.

Boys will have their booths in place by 1 p.m. when the initial judging will take place. Other judges will rate the displays during the afternoon and blue, red and yellow ribbons will be given the various units.

An extra treat at 3 p.m. will be the colorful demonstration of Indian dances by the Order of Arrow dancers from LaToka lodge at Odessa. Another feature will be a layout of scores of Scouting patches gathered by Lee Criswell, Odessa, from all over the world.

Clement Jones, Lone Star district chairman, urged the public to take advantage of seeing in action various Scouting skills and activities.

Among the units and their displays will be:

Outrageous puns expected to make comeback on TV

NEW YORK (AP) — A giant firm...In changing times...Gave up...That name...On roadside rhymes...Burma-Shave.

But a smaller firm...Fond of...Doggerel...May be planning...A new inaugural...For Burma-Shave.

From the 1920s through the early 1960s, along America's roads, the monotony of a 40 mph drive could be broken by a series of six red signs, up to 50 yards apart, with a line of doggerel on each.

They made up ditties, often with outrageous puns. They amused or promoted safe driving or war bonds — and always sold shaving cream.

The last sign always read: "Burma-Shave." For example:

Ben...Met Anna...Made a hit...Neglected beard...Ben-Anna split...Burma-Shave.

Some 35,000 individual signs eventually peppered roads in most every state. Millions remember them, even though the signs came down 14 years ago and the shaving cream has not been on the general market for years.

But now — if only on television — the ditties may be coming back.

Philip Morris Co. last month gave up rights to the name, and the American Safety Razor Co., a former Philip Morris subsidiary that once marketed Burma-Shave, is applying for the trademark.

But the story of Burma-Shave itself is less the story of a shaving cream than of the genius of those who sold it.

In the mid-1920s, Clinton Odell of Minneapolis turned from a failing liniment venture to brushless shaving cream, then a new idea. He had a hard time with that, too, until his son Allan thought up the signs.

They captured attention — and people's imaginations. And the company grew. Radio stars Bob Hope and Fibber McGee used them as a source of humor.

Then times changed: super highways brought faster travel and limits on billboards. Television was the new advertising medium.

American business changed, too. Philip Morris Inc., the tobacco firm, diversified and in 1963 bought the Burma-Vita Co., merging it into the American Safety Razor Co., which it acquired in 1960.

The signs came down in 1964, and American Safety Razor closed the plant in 1967. From then on, Burma-Shave was sold only when made for special orders by an outside supplier.

It had to be two Irish cowboys. Especially since this is St. Patrick's Day. But the old story goes around Klondike that two cowboys — at least one of whom had to be part Irish, were out one night in that area working cattle. There was very little wood around and the campfires had been of cowchips. It was a very cold morning. One of the two said, "They've been wondering what to call this town out here. Gawd, it's got to be as cold as it is in the Klondike."

And it became Klondike. Klondike never had a post office. So it's amazing that it has survived where some of the other small rural areas have gone under.

But Klondike has quite a fine school system. Like Forsan — who survived because of their school, Klondike has apparently done the same thing.

There were people living around Klondike as early as 1906 according to Carolina Kliefer, who was formerly a Busterbaum — one of the very early families.

They had one of the very first brick rural school buildings back in the 30s. However, we know that a brick building is not enough to hold a school to a town because early Sparenburg also had a brick building and later consolidated with Klondike.

Klondike also had one of the first gymnasiums out in the country. They just completed a beautiful auditorium.

They also have an all-weather track, air conditioning in the schools and many other fine improvements.

Their girls basketball team has an outstanding record. They won state in 1969 and have won district seven out of the past 11 years. They came close again this year. They have been down to the state playoffs four times.

Their telephone exchange and their mail goes to Patricia, which is five miles away. But Patricia comes to Klondike to school.

Gaming stocks good bet

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — If you had invested $1,000 in stocks of major gambling firms in December 1974, when the Dow Jones industrial average was at a modern low, your investment would be worth nearly $3,000 today.

The tripling in value among eight major publicly traded gaming stocks compares with a leisure industry growth of about 92 percent, and a Dow Jones industrial average increase of 33 percent.

"Most investors figure they're doing good if they double their investment in five to seven years," says Jake Noel, chief of the Economic Research and Securities Division of the Nevada Gaming Control Board. "The gaming stocks have almost tripled in value in just over three years."

Though no figures are compiled, Noel estimates that investments in casino-related stocks is in excess of $1 billion.

The increase in value for gaming stock has not gone unnoticed. When stock offerings are made by major gaming-related firms, the securities are snapped up quickly.

As an example of the popularity of such stocks, Noel notes that a $25 million public offering by Caesars World last December was sold within two days.

The growth is good news for the casino industry, which had to look for new revenue sources after passage of a 1975 federal law restricting loans from the Teamsters Union's Central States, Southeast & Southwest Areas Pension Fund.

The pension fund, which was considered the industry's main financial backer, had more than $210 million in loans and loan commitments to casinos when the law passed.

Main gaming stocks include Bally Manufacturing Corp., Caesars World,

Mrs. Kliefer recalls that she used to walk around 1 1/2 miles to school "but others walked further."

Klondike still has a Baptist Church. There used to be two. There are teacherage homes at the school although some of the teachers live in Lamesa.

The Dawson County community has a lot of pride. The students go to Flower Grove at an elementary level. This was part of a consolidation agreement in recent years.

In high school, they attend Klondike.

Noel's growth chart compared the casino-related stocks to about 20 leisure industry stocks ranging from Disney Productions to sporting goods and bathing suit companies and even fast-food chains. The chart also included all stocks used in the Dow Jones 65-stock average.

Holy Week set at 1st Presbyterian

Dr. Andrew Edington, President Emeritus of Schreiner College at Kerrville, will be the pre-Easter speaker at First Presbyterian Church. Each year, as the church prepares for Easter during Holy Week, special services and other activities fill the calendar. On Palm Sunday, Edington will speak at morning worship at 11 a.m. and at an evening service at 7:30 p.m. Both services will be held in the sanctuary.

Each morning during the week, Monday through Friday, there will be a breakfast service at 7:00 a.m. in the church's fellowship hall. At 10:00 each morning, Monday through Thursday, the guest speaker will lead a Bible study in the church parlor.

At 7:30 each evening, Monday through Thursday, there will be a service of worship in the chapel. Dr. Edington will speak on Monday through Wednesday nights, and the service on Thursday, will be a service of Holy Communion.

Traditionally, on the Thursday before Easter, often called "Maundy Thursday," Christians celebrate the sacrament of communion. It was on this night of the week of his crucifixion that Jesus shared the Last Supper with his disciples and the word "maundy" comes from the Latin "mandare" which means "command," and refers to Jesus' words "a new commandment I give to you that you love one another." The guest speaker for the week is well known as an educator, speaker, and Bible teacher.

A native of Alabama, Dr. Edington coached athletics before entering educational administration. He served as president of Schreiner from 1959 to 1970. He's the author of several books, including three volumes called "The Word" Made Fresh. This is a contemporary rendering of the entire Bible.

Edington is an elder in the Kerrville Presbyterian Church, a director of the First National Bank there, and chairman of the board of the Al and Charlie Peterson Foundation. He is a former Moderator of the Presbyterian Synod of Texas.

At noon on Good Friday there will be a service of prayer and meditation upon scripture recalling the Friday of Christ's crucifixion. This will conclude the Presbyterians' observance of Holy Week in preparation for the joyous celebration of Easter.

The entire community is welcome to attend any of these services. Child care will be provided in the church's nursery during the mid-morning and evening services.

Catholics talk unity

INSTANBUL, Turkey (AP) — Patriarch Demetrius I, spiritual leader of about 250 million Orthodox Christians, says ties with the Roman Catholic Church are "at a most satisfying phase" despite the lack of dramatic events marking recent advances in relations.

"The common wish is that for the preliminary work to be molded into a concrete form of dialogue," the patriarch said in response to written questions.

He reported crucial progress toward staging a great synod of all Orthodox churches — something that had long been pursued by the late Patriarch Athenagoras, his predecessor who imposed a dramatic turn to efforts to heal more than 900 years of College Baptists host Friendship concert here

A Friendship Ministries Family Night Concert will be held Sunday, March 19 at College Baptist Church.

The internationally traveled touring group with headquarters in Colorado Springs, Colorado is composed of 15 Christian college-age young people from six states and two provinces of Canada. They tour 11 months out of the year and travel more than 50,000 miles each year with a ministry that reaches schools, colleges, military bases, youth homes and churches.

ON HACKING THE HAM ...

The new husband watched his wife prepare her first ham for the oven. He noticed that she cut off a few inches from one end. When he asked why she did that, she replied that her mother always did it that way. They then called mother, and while she admitted she had always cut off a few inches of a ham before putting it in the oven, she could give no reason except that her mother had always done it that way. Finally, they called Grandma, who said, "Oh, I always had to trim one end of the ham because my pan was too small."

Modern day events cause many to question, what will happen next? Bible prophecy accurately reveals the answer, according to one local congregation. Beginning Sunday, March 19 and continuing through Friday March 24, Rev. Hobart Casteel of Montclair, Calif. will be conducting a prophetic seminar at the Evangel Temple Assembly of God Church, where the Rev. Terry Wilson is pastor. The church is located at 2205 Goliad.

Rev. Casteel will be sharing with the people of Evangel Temple some of what he calls the amazing prophecies of the Word of God, which are being fulfilled now, and other prophecies which will soon take place.

Rev. Casteel teaches from a large 5 1/2' by 30' artistic chart which depicts the dispensational truths of the Bible. Every evening time will be allotted for the asking of questions. The public is invited to attend. There is no registration or tuition fee for this seminar.

Rev. Casteel is an ordained minister of the Assemblies of God. He received his Bible training at the Shiloh Bible Institute in Zion, Illinois. He is well known in several of the leading Pentecostal organizations. He has ministered throughout the United States.

Service time is 6:30 p.m. Sunday and 7 p.m. weeknights.

Apostolic Faith schedules singers

The Overcomers will appear here Wednesday night, March 22 at 7:30 p.m. at the Apostolic Faith Chapel, 1307 S. Goliad.

The singers are from the Apostolic Faith Bible College in Baxter Springs, Kan.

The Rev. Whitely, supervisor of the group and superintendent of the Bible College, invites the public to hear the concert.

He was a pastor here in and his wife, Yvonne, is a graduate of Big Spring High School.

believers share in Christ's redemption only as they acknowledge their part in his death.

The Oberammergau play has been presented every 10 years since 1634 when it first was performed to fulfill a vow made during a plague epidemic. Now a tourist attraction, it drew 500,000 from 113 countries in 1970.

The Rev. James Routh and his wife, Jo, just recently moved to Big Spring Jan. 6 coming from Arkansas. She is the former Miss Jo Christenson of Oklahoma.

Both are former Bible College graduates and he was director of men at Teen Challenge of Arkansas in Little Rock.

Passion plays appear in each Easter season

NEW YORK (AP) — Even since medieval times, Christians have been putting on "passion plays" — in churches, outdoor arenas, seminaries and public halls — about the crucifixion and resurrection of Christ, some of them sound, others simplistic, distorted and vilifying Jews.

But that anti-Semitic twist has been removed, religious leaders say, from the biggest attraction of them all — the passion play produced in the little Bavarian village of Oberammergau, Germany. It has been a kind of world archetype of the genre.

Although drawing thousands from around the world, the play for years has been criticized by many Bible scholars and theologians, both Jews and Christians, as falsifying fact and doctrine by blaming Jews collectively for the crucifixion of Jesus, himself a Jew.

The substantial elimination of that element by the village's recent decision to substitute a different script was praised by U.S. Christian and Jewish representatives as a broadly influential step, setting a truer, fairer pattern for passion plays.

The newly chosen presentation "centers the responsibility for Christ's death where it should be — in the sin of all humanity," says Bible scholar Eugene Fisher, head of the U.S. Catholic Bishops' Office of Catholic-Jewish Relationships.

He says the change gets rid of an internationally attended portrayal that for years has been a "purveyor of prejudice and injustice." He notes that the classic Christian concept is that

World Council of Churches may move its headquarters

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — Because of rising costs of operating in Switzerland due to depleting currency exchange rates, the World Council of Churches is considering moving its headquarters to some other country.

This was disclosed following a recent executive committee meeting at which it was noted that the WCC stands to lose about $2 million in exchange rates deficits because of the decline in value of the U.S. dollar and German mark.

WCC general secretary Philip Potter was directed to explore with Swiss authorities whether any relief can be granted the WC to cope with the problem before further consideration

Churches send wheat to Vietnamese hungry

A shipload of American wheat was to leave for Vietnam late this week, a gesture by U.S. Christians to do what the U.S. government declines to do — help the war-ravaged country get back to normal.

The aid cargo is the first ship to head for Vietnam from this country since the end of the war in 1975.

It is "an act of minimal decency on the part of people still committed to a moral world," says the Rev. Dr. William Sloan Coffin, pastor of New York City's interdenominational Riverside Church.

He told a dedication ceremony last Saturday in Houston, where 110 box cars of wheat that had rolled into that port city were being loaded on a freighter, that the gift of wheat not only would help food-short Vietnam, but could do even more for the "souls of Americans" in facing up to their responsibilities.

The 10,000 tons of wheat, much of it contributed by Midwestern farmers, was collected under auspices of Church World Service, relief arm of the National Council of Churches, a cooperative body of most major Protestant and Eastern Orthodox denominations.

Only contributions of funds and grain made specifically for Vietnam aid were used in the $2 million project, including shipping costs of about $700,000. The government, which has a trade embargo against Vietnam,

Christ's Fellowship plans services

Christ's Fellowship Center will host a special meeting March 21 through March 23 on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights. Dalrymple claims that his ministry "is to help and encourage Christians in all denominations come to a supernatural encounter with Christ through the aid of the Holy Spirit."

He is a minister from Conroe and has been actively involved in the charismatic movement during the past few years.

He travels extensively throughout the United States, speaking in churches, seminars, prayer groups and other locations. He lays down a claim of healing at some of his services. The public is invited to attend the services here and for additional information may call Phil Thurmond, minister of the Christ's Fellowship Center in Big Spring.

DALLAS — Billy T. Smith, a bookkeeping service owner, Big Spring, has been elected to a board position in the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

Smith will serve as a trustee of Mary Hardin-Baylor College in Belton. The Texas Baptist Convention owns and operates eight colleges and universities, two academies, eight hospitals and four children's homes.

More than 4,000 churches and missions with two million members related to the convention support these ministries through their Cooperative Program. The state convention also contributes to the work of more than 5,000 Southern Baptist missionaries in 90 countries.

Monkey Business In the Carport

DEAR ABBY: I am 64 and Norman is 68. We have two married sons. Everything was fine until about five months ago when I noticed that Norman was spending a lot of time in the carport, even when it was pouring rain!

I started to watch him from the window, and I saw him making hand signals and waving to the lady across the street. I noticed, too, that when Norman walked the dog, he would stand in front of this lady's house and stare into her window. Then she'd come to the window and the hand signals and waving would start.

The woman is older than I am. I notice that this monkey business between her and Norman goes on only when her husband is at work—never on weekends or in the evening. I finally couldn't take it anymore, so I called our two sons over and asked them to talk to their father about this outrageous flirting. They told him to stay out of the carport and to walk the dog in the other direction, which he did for two days. Then he went back to his old tricks, claiming there was nothing to it.

Abby, I'm sick about this and am losing weight. What can I do? I can no longer trust my husband of 44 years. UPSET AND JEALOUS

DEAR JEALOUS: I think you're making something out of nothing. What harm is there in a little waving and a few hand signals? It's certainly not important enough to worry about. Please try to see the humor of it, dear. It IS comical! If two aging flirts get a "thrill" out of waving at each other, let them have their fun. Laugh about it. And when Norman realizes that you think it's funny, he'll probably quit.

DEAR ABBY: My mother, who is 70, has struck up an unusual friendship with a young woman in her early 20s. The two of them make the bars on weekends, strike up friendships with the musicians, and sometimes bring them home for a jam session until the wee hours. It seems strange that this young lady has no friends her own age. My mother tries to look younger by wearing her hair shoulder length. She even wears false eyelashes and clothes that are definitely not for a woman her age. She looks ridiculous. Please put this in your column. It might do her good to see it.

CONCERNED DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: If you mother looks "ridiculous," she's the one who will pay the price. For my part, if she's happy, I fail to see whom she's hurting.

DEAR ABBY: I am only 14, but I learned a lesson I will never forget.

When my parent used to tell me they "worried" when I didn't come home when I said I would, I thought they were silly. Well, now that I got a taste of my own medicine, I don't think they're so silly anymore.

Last Saturday night my folks went out and said they'd be home around midnight. Well, it got to be one o'clock in the morning, then two, then three and they still weren't home, and I nearly went out of my mind imagining they were both dead in a ditch somewhere with the car on top of them.

Finally, at 4 a.m., they came home. They said they ran into some old friends and were just sitting around their apartment talking over old times. They didn't bother to call me because they didn't think I'd worry.

Believe me, I will NEVER give them the kind of night they gave me.

REVEL ROUSERS — Discussing Sunday's Royal Revel, an enrollment event for business women interested in joining the ranks of ABWA, are, from left, Cactus Chapter's newest member Margaret Wise, chapter vice president Frances Swann, tea chairman

Jan Forsyth, chapter president Ruth Manuel, membership drive chairman Helen McDonald, recording secretary Essie Jackson and corresponding secretary Margaret Wiles. Nelda Colclazer, not shown, is Cactus Chapter's treasurer.

Local ABWA chapters increase membership with Royal Revels

By EILEEN McGUIRE Business women in the Big Spring area, interested in improving their professional capacities and promoting women's place in business, are invited to find out more about two local chapters of a national organization geared for their goals.

The Cactus Chapter and Scenic Chapter of the American Business Women's Association are both seeking new members, women employed in the business world who would like to help themselves and other women in business advance through education, increased competence, and upgrading of professional skills and business attitudes.

Founded in Kansas City, Mo., in 1949, ABWA has more than 96,000 members. Last year, chapters throughout the United States and Puerto Rico awarded more than one million dollars in scholarships to women students and an additional $180,000 in scholarships was awarded through ABWA's national scholarship fund, SBMEF.

This school year, the Cactus Chapter awarded local scholarships to six local recipients. The chapter meets the third Monday of each month at a site selected by the program chairman. Programs pertaining to business interest and various civic topics are arranged for each meeting.

Each of the two local chapters will hold enrollment teas Sunday using a "Royal Revel" theme, suggesting good luck and good fortune.

The Royal Revels will highlight spring enrollment events held semi-annually to introduce ABWA and local chapters to business women in the area. Similar events will be held across the country by more than 1,500 other ABWA chapters.

The Cactus Chapter's Royal Revel will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday at the Dora Robert's Community Center Blue Room. Business women interested in membership in the Cactus Chapter may contact Helen McDonald, 267-7628, Ruth Manuel, 267-2654 or Jan Forsyth, 263-3532.

Simultaneously, the Scenic Chapter will greet new members from 2 to 4 p.m. at the home of Marie McDonald. Membership is by invitation only. Interested business women may contact Kay Winn, 267-3153, or Geraldine Dietz, 267-8863.

The Scenic Chapter meets the first Tuesday of each month and has awarded two local scholarships during the current club year.

TWEEN 12 AND 20 Lose weight and gain confidence

Dr. Wallace: I'm 15 and confined to a wheelchair and I need advice about getting a date.

I'm a little overweight, but that's not my problem. My mother tells me that because I'm in a wheelchair that I'm self-conscious. Do you think she is right, that I'm self-conscious because I can't walk or do you think I'm just going through a phase? I just feel scared to ask a girl for a date.

Jeff, York, Pa.

Dear Jeff: For most boys 15, it is difficult to ask a girl for a date so don't feel alone. Actually your being a little overweight is a problem or you wouldn't have mentioned it. Lose all of that excess weight and when you're down to your "fighting weight" you'll have more confidence. Then go ahead and ask that special girl for a date. The worst thing that can happen is that she will say no and you will have no date. But that is exactly where you are now, so get with it!

Dr. Wallace: I am a senior in high school and my history teacher has tried several times to make passes at me.

I am not interested in him, at all, but I do enjoy his class. Should I stay in the class and put up with him or should I report him?

I really don't want to get him in trouble, but I don't know what to do. Mari, San Diego, Calif.

Dear Mari: You don't clarify what the passes were. If your teacher asked you for a date, it is your responsibility to notify school authorities.

In any case, see your counselor and transfer from his class — immediately.

Braniff maps non-stops

DALLAS (AP) — Braniff International today announced the daily non-stop 747 flight between Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport and London will begin Saturday following joint U.S. and British government approval of Braniff's lower fares, including a standby fare.

"We are extremely pleased that the negotiations between the two governments have resulted in approval of the Braniff fares, which is a victory for the consumer both in the southwestern United States and in the United Kingdom and Europe," said Braniff board chairman Harding L. Lawrence.

The first of the scheduled daily non-stops from DFW to London, delayed by fare disputes since March 1, will depart at 7 p.m. central standard time Saturday and arrive at 10:30 a.m. British Summer Time the next day.

The first westbound scheduled flight will depart London at 12:45 p.m. BST Sunday and arrive at DFW at 3:05 p.m. local time.

Lou Garcia, Braniff spokesman, said the airline issued its statement after receiving word of the approved flights from Washington.

City of Faith 'killed'

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — The Oklahoma Health Systems Agency Thursday decided against a rehearing on Oral Roberts University's City of Faith medical complex application, and published reports claim ORU has requested a federal probe into the application process.

An ORU spokesman expressed "deep disappointment" in the OHSA decision.

OHSA chairman Ken Caughman, of Tahlequah, had announced Tuesday morning changes in the hospital plans qualified it for a reconsideration by the agency.

But the full OHSA board voted against reconsideration 12-7 with two members abstaining.

ORU's medical school director, Dr. James Winslow, said he was disappointed in the decision, and even felt it went against the official rules and procedures of the agency.

Winslow said he feels one reason for the problems the $100 million project has encountered is the inadequacy of the state's hospital review process.

Dr. Winslow said ORU officials are not giving up their efforts to open the City of Faith, because, "God has directed us to build this hospital and if they turn down this application, we will have another one on their desk before the doors close."

Late Thursday, The Daily Oklahoman, reported in its early Friday editions sources have confirmed ORU has requested a federal probe of OHSA's handling of the City of Faith application.

The newspaper article says a request for the probe was made through the office of state Welfare Director Lloyd Rader. According to the story, Rader forwarded the request to federal health officials in Washington with a recommendation the probe be launched.

Unless the investigation reportedly sought by ORU interrupts the approval process, the application will go before the Oklahoma Health Planning Commission with a disapproval recommendation from OHSA.

If you grow sorghum on sandy soils, it's time you tried Igran.

Because Igran® is the sorghum herbicide that really fits the sandy soil conditions in the South High Plains and South Rolling Plains.

And because it fits, Igran is easier to use. There's no guesswork or experimenting with rates. Just follow the label directions.

Then watch your sorghum come through clean and healthy. Because Igran controls those tough broadleaf weeds like carelessness and annual morningglory. Controls them early, before they have a chance to rob your crop of vital soil moisture and nutrients.

Igran. Once you try it, you'll keep on using it. Because now you've got a sorghum herbicide that really fits your sandy soil conditions.

Prison profit rumors flying

EDINBURG, Texas (AP) — Reports that a Rio Grande Valley corporation will turn a $4 million profit from land sold to the state for a new prison unit are "absolutely false," according to corporation spokesman Frank Westerman.

The land in question is the Monte Cristo Ranch, sold to Big Five Farms Corp. Jan. 17. Westerman said the original owner, Wallace Groves, who he described as a resident of The Bahamas with quarters in London, sold the 14,500-acre estate to the group of local businessmen after lengthy negotiations.

The Texas Board of Prisons recently voted to buy 6,741 acres of the ranch for $8 million, with an option to buy the remaining acreage for $6 million.

However, the board must still get approval from Gov. Dolph Briscoe. Representatives of the Texas Land Commissioner's office are currently appraising the property, said Westerman.

Westerman said earlier reports apparently confused former owner Wallace Groves with a member of the corporation, Sidney Groves, formerly of Arkansas and now an Edinburg resident.

Records in the Hidalgo County tax assessor-collector's office show the corporation closed the deal on the ranch for $10 million. However, Westerman said the figure was not the total purchase price.

"There was a substantial down payment," he said. "We're really making a modest profit off of this."

Mars spacecraft project faces fast death

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Space agency officials plan to shut down the still-producing spacecraft on Mars next February and at the same time put out of business the two spacecraft in orbit around the planet.

R. Thomas Young, director of planetary programs at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Washington, reported the plans here Thursday.

Limited funds and money that can be better spent in other areas were cited as the reasons. These were the same ones given last year when working instruments on the moon were cut off.

"There comes a point, when it becomes a matter of priorities," Young said. "It becomes a matter of whether we can more effectively use these funds for other science."

Young, attending the Ninth Lunar and Planetary Science Conference at the Johnson Space Center, also discussed the planetary program for which the agency has money to study.

The two orbiters will be nearly out of the gas that is used to control them at the time picked to turn them off, he said.

The landers, powered by small nuclear generators, have been at work on Mars since the summer of 1976.

They are still operating meteorological stations which take the temperature, pressure and wind velocity.

One of two seismometers is still working, photographs are still being taken and the soil sampler still works.

He said programs which have top priority include one to send spacecraft to Venus to make radar pictures of the surface. He said consideration also is being given to sending spacecraft to Saturn. The project would include one spacecraft to orbit the ringed planet and another to probe its central body.

He said another project under consideration is continued exploration of Mars. He said three plans are being studied, an orbiter to completely map the planet, the sending of a roving spacecraft to its surface and a spacecraft that would pick up a sample of Martian soil and return it to earth.

Young, discussing the Viking landers on Mars, says there is a little mystery going on concerning "rocks" that the lander picks up.

"The arm reaches out and grabs them up," he said. "Then it comes back, turns over and empties the scoop."

but we don't get any rocks."

Ground controllers can see what appears to be small rocks in the Viking photos that are well within reach of the spacecraft's retractable arm, he said. The command is given and the arm grabs the "rocks" and dumps the into the analyzer—but what ends up in the analyzer is Martian dirt.

He speculates the rock-looking things in the photos probably are lightly compacted balls of Martian soil which breaks up when they are dumped.

CRMWD's report reflects operations

The annual progress report of the Colorado River Municipal Water District this year is somewhat like a point of beginning again. Because of a refunding issue last year, the indentured funds under the original bond agreements were liquidated and transferred to new accounts.

Thus the report reflects a review of operations and payments from 1959 through 1977. For instance, revenues for that period aggregated $77,367,867, of which $35,213,288 went for operating and maintaining the system and recreational facilities. Transfers to the indentured funds, including $36,569,163 to the interest and sinking fund to retire semi-annual installments on original issues of $61,500,000 revenue bonds, amounted to $51,820,896.

The refunding issue of $37,155,000 on Dec. 20, 1977 retired $35,045,000 bonds outstanding, and despite the disparity, more favorable amortization tables will mean an ultimate saving for the district. More importantly, it now operates under a more flexible resolution which will facilitate financing of a proposed new reservoir on the Colorado River near Stacy. The district now has assets of $106,200,971, which includes $37,113,700 escrowed in the bond retirement fund and $2,369,000 in the new contingency and improvement fund, as well as capital improvements.

Cannibal Draw reunion shaping

A date and place has been set for the Cannibal Draw reunion — a gathering of men who lived in the east part of town 50 years or more ago.

The get-together will be at 7 p.m., Thursday April 6, at the north room of the Brandin' Iron, according to H. M. (Mack) Underwood, who has taken the lead in organizing the reunion. It will be a dutch treat with each ordering from the menu. This is a stag event, but if there is sufficient interest in some subsequent gathering, one might be planned to include the wives, said Underwood.

He has obtained a list of some two score names, but undoubtedly there are those who may not be listed. "I want them to know they are just as welcome as someone whose name may have been put on the list," said Underwood. "Please call me at 7-8913 if you are one of them, or if you know of someone who has been missed in notification."

Among those he has been able to find addresses on are:

J. W. Coots, George C. Coots, T. F. Horton, J. C. Eudy, Horace Smith, Raymond Andrews, Fred Coleman, E. H. Sanders, J. D. Cauble, D. P. Thompson, DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Kentucky is big, but not bad, in the words of Coach Joe B. Hall.

What he means is they are physical, but not too physical.

"I don't understand why people keep saying we are a physical team," Hall said. "Sure, we're big, sure, we're strong, but this is a game for athletes, not ballet dancers."

"We have big people and play hard, but to refer to us as physical is an attempt to undermine our game with the officials."

Physical was one way to describe Kentucky's 91-69 victory Thursday over Miami of Ohio in the NCAA Mideast Regional basketball tournament.

The top-ranked Wildcats will meet Michigan State in Saturday's regional finals after the fourth-ranked Spartans coasted past Western Kentucky 90-69 in Thursday's other game.

Miami Coach Darrell Hedric had several ways to describe the Kentucky club which ran off strings of eight and 11 points at various times in the first half. "They're awesome," Hedric said, shaking his head. "They have a lot of smart personnel and their power is unlimited."

One source of that power came from 6-foot-10 senior center Mike Phillips. Phillips scored 14 points in the second half when he tallied five of his team's first seven baskets, and finished with 24 points.

As a team, the Wildcats finished the game shooting 62 per cent from the field and showed no signs of the first half dol-drum which had plagued them in their first tournament game against Florida State.

"We were ready to play and we took advantage of the opportunities that came to us," Phillips said. "We just kept going to the basket."

Miami could not reproduce last Saturday's 94-81 overtime upset of Marquette, which had brought them into Thursday's game.

Miami's career leading scorer, Archie Aldridge, scored the second basket of the game but then was held without a point until eight minutes into the second half.

After Michigan State's victory, the talk was not about strength but about the Spartans' speed and the skill of freshman sensation Earvin Johnson, who had 14 assists to go with his 13 points.

"Our team is cook," Johnson said. "Being tight is something I never worry about. I really was disappointed with my shooting tonight but it really didn't matter, I just passed the ball even more."

Michigan State's primary shooting came from forward Greg Kelsey, who scored 23

The Spartans attacked Western Kentucky in spurts, hitting nine in a row early in the game to open a 21-6 lead. Then, in the second half, Michigan State outscored the Hilltoppers 11-2 to pull ahead 64-48.

For Western Kentucky Coach Jim Richards it was a particularly difficult way to say goodbye. He announced at mid-season that he would not return as coach next season.

"I shook hands with each player in the locker room and thanked each one of them for the effort," said the coach who had complained earlier this year at the undisciplined ways of today's youth.

Seven tied for Players tourney lead

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — For many years, Jack Nicklaus geared his game around the Masters, carefully nursing his talents to a peak for the annual spring classic in Augusta, Ga.

But, with the advent of the Tournament Players Golf Championship, he's made a slight alteration.

"It's the most significant event we have on the regular tour," Nicklaus said. "Since it has come into being, I like to get better a little quicker."

There seems to be no doubt he's right on schedule. Nicklaus, who has finished second, first and second in his last three appearances, chipped close on the final hole for a birdie that put him in a massive jam of seven men tied for the first-round lead in the $342,000 event.

It is an event billed as the annual championship of the touring players and ambitiously hopes for a ranking equal to that enjoyed by the game's Big Four tournaments.

"It wasn't that easy out there," Nicklaus said of his trek through wind and rain over the 7,174-yard Sawgrass course that yielded only 11 subpar scores to the strongest field of the year and left some of the game's great players muttering in frustration.

He shared the top spot with Ben Crenshaw, Gibby Gilbert, John Schroeder, Victor Regalado, Gary Groh and Bobby Wadkins, the younger brother of PGA champion Lanny Wadkins.

A stroke back at 71 were Lou Graham, Larry Nelson, Joe Inman and Artie McNickle.

Tom Weiskopf, who held off Nicklaus' charge and won the Doral Open last week, and defending title-holder

Mark Hayes had 73s in the gusty winds and occasional drizzling rain. Arnold Palmer and Gary Player shot 74s. Lee Trevino and Hale Irwin were at 75. Tom Watson matched his worst score of the year, 76, and was tied with Jerry Pate and U.S. Open champ Hubert Green. Ray Floyd and Johnny Miller had 77s.

Blue wants gold

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Vida Blue was told in the early hours of the morning that the Oakland A's had traded him to the San Francisco Giants. Almost before the sun had risen, he was talking money.

"I want to find out how much gold Mr. Lurie really has," Blue said Thursday, shortly after the trade was announced. "He's not going to get a player worth gold for some tin foil."

The left-hander, who was both the American League's Cy Young Award winner and Most Valuable Player in 1971, said he intended to take some time off to "get his head together," and then was going to talk with Giants co chairman of the board Bob Lurie about renegotiating his contract.

Blue was swapped to the Giants in exchange for seven players, including outfielder Gary Thomasson, and cash estimated at $390,000. The deal was finalized minutes before the midnight inter-league trading deadline Wednesday.

Although he intends to try to renegotiate his contract — worth an estimated $180,000 a year and in effect for two more years — Blue said he was happy finally to have severed his ties with A's owner Charles Finley.

"It's like a weight off my shoulders," said Blue, who had a rocky relationship with Finley during his eight years with the A's.

Finley twice attempted to sell him, first to the Yankees in 1976, and to the Cincinnati Reds last winter. Both times, however, baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn stopped the sale.

Blue still has a lawsuit pending against Finley over his latest contract, asking that he be declared a free agent and awarded $1.5 million.

Tony Dorsett arrested, released

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas Cowboys running back sensation Tony Dorsett was arrested early today on a disorderly conduct charge.

Dorsett, who sparked the World Champion Cowboys to their second Super Bowl crown last year, was riding in a car that was stopped on the city's east side about 2:30 a.m.

Police described it as a "routine traffic investigation."

"We were in an unmarked police unit when this car passed us going about 10 miles per hour over the speed limit," said Lt. Michael Hibbs. "The driver was weaving in traffic and at one time crossed over into the other lane so we decided to stop and see if he was intoxicated."

Police said another man was driving. Dorsett and a young woman were in the back seat.

During the questioning, Hibbs said Dorsett "kept getting in the way."

"He (Dorsett) started using profanity so we placed him under arrest for disorderly conduct," said Hibbs.

The former Heisman Trophy winner was taken to city jail where he posted a $65 bond and was released.

Red Sox clean Astros linen

COCOA, Fla. (AP) — The Boston Red Sox, paced by the hitting of leftfielder Jim Rice, defeated the Houston Astros, 6-4, Thursday in a major league exhibition game.

Rice drove in three runs with a 430-foot, two-run homer, and a run scoring single.

George Scott also hit a home run for Boston to snap a 4-4 tie.

Houston scored runs in the first on singles by Cesar Cedeno and Jesus Alou and tied it a 4-4 in the second on a single by Bob Sperry and a double by Enos Cabell.

After Scott's homer in the fifth broke the tie, Ramon Airles' single in the eighth produced the final Red Sox run.

Men's Juco semis tonight

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP) — An unbeaten streak and a defending championship — both will be on the line tonight as the National Men's Junior College Basketball Tournament enters semifinal action.

Niagara N.Y. will be trying to stretch its season record to 28-0 against Anderson S.C., 27-5, in a 6:30 p.m. contest.

And 1977 titlist Independence (Kan.), 26-7, meets Three Rivers (Mo.), 28-10, for the other championship game berth at 8:15 p.m.

Niagara shot 69 percent from the field Thursday night to hold off Columbia State (Tenn.), 74-70, in a quarterfinal action.

Women's Jucos hold 'em too

OVERLAND PARK, Kan. (AP) — What can Jessie Brown do for an encore?

That's one question that should be answered tonight when East Mississippi squares off against Seminole Okla. in semifinal action of the National Women's Junior College Basketball Tournament.

In the other semifinal clash, defending champion Panola Texas meets Ft. Leavelle Valley Mont.

Brown, a 6-foot-2 center, gunned in 34 points and snared 18 rebounds Thursday night to spark East Mississippi to an 84-64 victory over Luzerne County Pa., just two nights after rattling in a record 40 points against Spartanburg Methodist (S.C.)

In other quarterfinal play, Panola demolished Roxbury (Mass.), 91-57, while Seminole routed Central Arizona, 92-70, and Ft. Leavelle Valley (Mont.) took an 87-74 decision from Clarendon (Texas).

Worst tanker spill on record?

BREST, France (AP) — The American supertanker Amoco Cadiz, carrying 63 million gallons of oil, broke in two this morning on rocks off France's Brittany coast and was pouring oil onto beaches and fishing grounds.

The wreck has the potential to be the worst tanker spill on record — if all tanks are ruptured and it discharges its full load. But forecasts could not yet predict the size of the spill.

Even before the 233,690-ton ship broke up three miles offshore, leaking oil had reached more than a mile of coastline.

Authorities at this French Atlantic port ordered a full pollution alert in a bid to save the lobster-rich coastline, but navy ships loaded with chalk and detergent were unable to move in between the supertanker and the shore because of rocky obstructions in the water.

It was the fourth time the Brittany coast has been polluted by a tanker since 1967, when the Torrey Canyon broke up off southwest England.

Helicopters took 41 persons, including a woman, off the 1,067-foot Amoco Cadiz during the night, leaving only captain and first officer on board the unit vessel.

It was not known immediately if they were in serious danger.

Maritime authorities reported that the front section of the ship, listing heavily, was drifting towards rocks in the direction of the summer resort port of Pornic. Officials who flew over the wreckage said it was surrounded by oil extending out for about two miles.

The ship ran aground three miles offshore on the Port

Howell, golf pro, dismissed

Bobby Howell, golf pro at the Big Spring Municipal Golf Course, was asked to resign his position Wednesday.

The reason given by City Manager Harry Nagel for the dismissal was that Howell "violated the personnel policy of the city."

Howell declined comment until a later date.

Israeli commandos blow up sea base

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — rocketing two carloads of Israeli commandos swept into Lebanon in helicopters and boats today, blowing up a seacoast base of the guerrilla camp at Adloun, 22 miles north of the Israeli border and between Tyre and Sidon, was carried out under cover of a missile bombardment from four Israeli navy gunboats, one observer said. The helicopter-borne paratroopers reportedly fought hand-to-hand with the guerrillas of George Habash's radical Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine.

Guerrillas said 10 hours earlier in the same area, they found the tail of an Israeli rocket lying near two wrecked autos where the bodies of men, women and children were so mangled it could not be determined how many there were. One unconfirmed report spoke of 20 dead. The guerrillas said that raid was carried out by seaborne Israeli commandos.

The Israeli military command in Tel Aviv refused to comment on the reports of commando raids. A PFLP statement in Beirut acknowledged the Israeli landing at its camp, but claimed guerrilla defenders beat back the assault, suffering one dead and two wounded.

Hutchison married

DALLAS (AP) — Kay Bailey, acting chairman of the National Trans-officially climbed on the Ray Hutchison gubernatorial band wagon — for better or worse.

The couple was married in a secluded ceremony at Hutchison's lavish Dallas home Thursday.

"No honeymoon for me," said Hutchison, one of three Republicans bidding to unseat Democratic incumbent Dolph Briscoe. "My schedule has me speaking to a group in Corpus Christi at 10 a.m. (today). I didn't even know about it until I read it in the papers."

The new Mrs. Hutchison, 35, plans to give up her national post April 7 to campaign for her husband.

Working together will be nothing new for either one. They served side by side as Republican state legislators from 1972 to 1976 when Hutchison was elected state GOP chairman and Ms. Bailey, chosen Outstanding Young Woman of Texas, was named to her transportation job.

Open house winners

First Federal Savings and Loan thanked the public today for their attendance at the big open house Thursday which had hundreds of persons pour through the doors to meet a Dallas Cowboy, two Cowgirls and view the new facilities.

Winners of savings accounts, which totaled $1,000 included Porter L. Motley of Knott, Jimmie Knight of O'Donnell and Joan Ritchey, Sam Wrinkle, Gerald Bullard, Jean Williams, Mrs. E. B. Martin, Janette Bentley, Zebbe Boite, Willie Lane, Mrs. E. J. Thomas, Mrs. Alton Ditto, Mrs. C. R. Moad, Mrs. Charles Wash, Mrs. W. L. Wood Sr., Faustino Rios Jr. and J. S. Owens.

The original assault followed last Saturday's Palestinian attack north of Tel Aviv, in which 35 Israelis were killed and for which Yasser Arafat's Al Fatah support Security Council consideration of a proposal to put a U.N. peacekeeping force in the zone. Government sources said Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin hoped instead to negotiate a pact with the Lebanese government and the Syrian peacekeeping forces in Lebanon to keep the guerrillas from returning to the zone.

Guerrilla chief Yasser Arafat told Moslem leaders in Beirut; "We shall never allow such agreements and never submit to them."
