

Peacekeeping force waiting to move into Lebanon

Israel declares cease-fire

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Israel declared a cease-fire in southern Lebanon today effective at 6 p.m. — 11 a.m. EST.

"The minister of defense has instructed the chief of the general staff to effect a cease-fire along the entire front in Lebanon as of 1800 hours today," said the brief army spokesman's announcement. "As from that hour the Israeli defense forces will maintain a ceasefire."

The announcement came after a day of scattered shooting between Israeli forces and Palestinian guerrillas around Tyre. But the shooting had died down from previous days.

Seven days ago Israel launched an air, land and sea attack to clear Palestinian guerrillas from the area along its northern border. The operation followed a Palestinian terrorist attack in Israel which killed 35 Israelis.

The Israeli announcement came as Prime Minister Menachem Begin was meeting with President Carter in Washington and as the United Nations tried to work out details of a U.N. peacekeeping force to go into southern Lebanon.

There was no immediate indication if Israel had taken a unilateral action in announcing the cease-fire and whether the Palestine Liberation Organization would go along with an end to hostilities.

The Israeli army claimed to control all of southern Lebanon up to the Litani River, except for a small area around the port city of Tyre.

A token U.N. peacekeeping force was waiting to move in when fighting stopped, but U.N. officials in New York said it could be "weeks or months" before Israel heeded the Security Council's demand to withdraw its troops from Lebanese territory.

Defense Minister Ezer Weizman told a news conference fighting died down late Monday, but independent observers on the scene reported Israeli artillery and planes were attacking guerrilla holdouts.

Weizman said Israel decided not to occupy Tyre, the Palestinians' chief supply port 12 miles north of the Israeli-Lebanese border, "for reasons of population and to avoid more destruction."

Associated Press correspondent Aly Mahmoud reported from Tyre that the guerrillas remained in tenuous control of a nine-mile coastal strip, stretching from the Rashidieh refugee camp south of Tyre to the Litani, 15 miles north of the border.

"We don't have the weapons they have. We are outnumbered," Mahmoud Labadi of the Palestine

Liberation Organization said. "But we are fighting in the best fashion possible under the circumstances."

Israel's military chief of staff, Lt. Gen. Mordechai Gur, said the escape corridor to the north and the Kasmiya Bridge over the river were left open "so the people of Tyre won't feel encircled."

The Israeli Cabinet declared Israel would not withdraw from southern Lebanon until it received assurances that the area "will no longer serve as a base for the terrorists and their murderous attacks." Gur said that to be effective, the U.N. peacekeeping unit must keep guerrillas away from the Litani River, Tyre and the border areas.

Large crowd likely for AFA banquet

More than 130 tickets have been sold for the Air Force Association Permian Basin Chapter banquet, which will be held at 8 o'clock this evening in the Big Spring Country Club. A cocktail hour gets under way at 7 o'clock.

Tickets for the event, which was planned to rally renewed support for the AFA, sell for $7 each and can be obtained from any AFA member.

Principal speaker of the evening will be Maj. Gen. Evan W. Rosencrans, vice-commander of the Air Training Command, headquartered at Randolph Field, San Antonio.

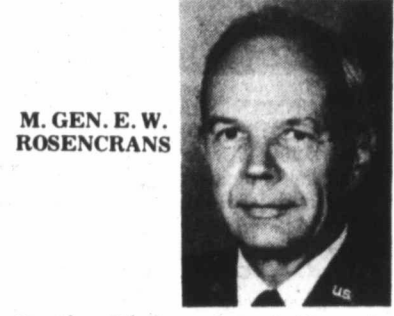

Rosencrans is substituting for Gen. John Roberts, who had to beg off due to a commitment in the Pentagon.

Rosencrans will discuss the role West Texas plays and what it has at stake in the nation's defense. He will be introduced by Winston Wrinkle.

Gen. Rosencrans is rated as a command pilot with 4,500 flying hours. He has served at military installations around the world and flew 132 combat missions during the Vietnam war. He accumulated more than 500 combat hours in the F-100 Super Sabre alone.

Among his military decorations are the Legion of Merit, the DFC, Air Medal, Joint Service Commendation Medal, Presidential Citation, Republic of Vietnam Medal of Honor, First Class, and RVN Air Service Medal.

Rosencrans is married to the former Wilma Buchholz of Brisbane, Australia. He has three daughters, Karen, Linda, and Cynthia; and a son,

M. GEN. E. W. ROSECRANS

Douglas. His home town is Towanda, Penn.

Brig. Gen. Ed White of Midland is president of the local AFA chapter. Several AFA members from the Midland and Odessa area will likely be on hand for the banquet tonight.

Col. Harry Spannaus (ret.), former wing commander at Webb AFB, helped make the arrangements for the appearance of Rosencrans and took the lead in selling tickets for the banquet.

When Webb was active here, upwards to 200 persons were members of the local AFA chapter. Efforts are under way to rebuild the membership toward that figure.

Raul Garza draws 15-year prison term for murder

The bullet-riddled body of Dimas Garcia, 23, was found September 16, 1977 under a sheet of galvanized tin in Glasscock County, five days after his abduction from Big Spring. An anonymous telephone tip led police officers to the body.

Monday, his murderer pleaded guilty to a grand jury indictment for murder, and was sentenced to 15 years in prison.

Raul Garza, 22, 1906 Runnels, who surrendered to the Howard County Sheriff's office one day after the body was located, was sentenced by District Judge Ralph Caton to the term in the Texas Department of Corrections. Garza was indicted on the murder charge by the February Glasscock County grand jury. Garcia, who reportedly had six bullet wounds in his back when located, had been abducted from Comanche Trail Park in Big Spring by an acquaintance who forced him into a pickup Sunday, Sept. 11.

Police officers, who were working the case as a simple missing persons, quickened their pace after learning during the week that Garza (who had reportedly been shot in the jaw by Garcia in July) had left town after collecting his paycheck.

The body was found near an empty house in the northwest corner of Glasscock County about 19 miles southeast of Big Spring off FM 461 south of Lee's Corners.

When the celebration died down, Vasquez explained that his car had a California dealer's permit, and did not require plates, which much relieved the junior officer.

Road to be closed for 'Kiddieland' Jaycees tackle project

The Big Spring Junior Chamber of Commerce (Jaycees), have undertaken a project to upgrade the playground equipment in Big Spring's Comanche Trail Park.

The plan will require approval by the Big Spring City Council, since the land for the proposed "Kiddieland" will have to be designated for the park by the city.

The playground, if approved, will be located between the softball field and the Old Settler's Reunion Pavilion, and will require closing of the road which divides the area.

At a minimum of 150 feet by 800 feet plus parking area, the area will have the latest in stationary playground equipment, a concession stand, and rest rooms.

The major piece of equipment will be a $14,000 unit called the Mark IV. It can handle up to 200 children at a time, and has slides, ladders, tunnel slides, a crow's nest, and other features, and will require a minimum of upkeep, since it is made of heavy-duty metal.

Additional equipment will include swings, slides, see-saws, carousels, a jungle gym, pre-school swings, slides, and a sandbox, benches, and trash cans.

Total estimated cost of Kiddieland is approximately $200,000, but actual cash outlay is not expected to exceed $60,000, the actual cost of the playground equipment.

The other portion of the cost is hoped to be covered by donated manpower, equipment, and some materials. Equipment needed will include a backhoe, dozer, grader, dump trucks, and other heavy equipment, and Jaycees hope the city of Big Spring as well as private business will help meet these needs.

Interested parties can contact the Big Spring Jaycees at their listed telephone number. According to project chairman Mike Faulkner, the Jaycees hope to raise $20,000 through projects, and $40,000 through cash donations. Accounts will be set up at each financial institution in Big Spring that wishes to participate, in order that making donations will be convenient.

Funds will be borrowed from a Big Spring lender for the Mark IV equipment, with each additional piece of equipment to be installed as funds become available.

If approved, the Jaycees intend to install the Mark IV and have it operational by June 1, in order that Big Spring citizens will see that the group is moving ahead on the project, and hopefully, donate to the proposal.

Rent subsidy program nixed in Lamesa

LAMESA — The City of Lamesa voted, 3-2, to deny a rent subsidy program and see if that affects its chances of obtaining Community Development Funds with the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The council tied, 2-2, in the vote of whether to set up a rent subsidy program when they met Monday night. Ricky Smith and Rudy Arrendondo balloted in favor of the program and Nelson Hogg and Art Bizzell against. Mary Cline then broke the tie and voted against the rent subsidy program.

In other action, the council gave the second reading of the budget approval without granting Lamesa fire fighters a raise. This was in spite of the fact that 23 firemen appeared at the council meeting asking that their pay equal that of city police.

Action on this matter was tabled. The council approved a resolution endorsing fair housing as required by the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974. They approved making a pre-application for Community Development funds three-year funding for $1.5 million.

Approving the pre-application was again on a split vote with Smith and Arrendondo voting to apply and Hogg and Bizzell voting no. On this vote, Mayor Cline sided with Smith and Arrendondo to break the tie.

The council also discussed approval of a low income area for street improvements with the HUD funds and agreed to allow paving of 30 feet streets. An old ordinance required 40 feet in width, but in some of the areas discussed, this was not possible.

The council also approved retaining Parkhill, Smith and Cooper, Lubbock engineers, for projects in 1978.

A public hearing was held on the request of O. J. Winborn to amend zoning ordinance on first reading to change zoning on lot 7, block 2 from 1/2-2 to C-1 for a beauty parlor behind the residence and a request by Tom Branon to amend zoning ordinance on first reading to change zoning on lots 10 through 12, block 4 (N. Third and Main) from C-1 to I-1 for a double garage, warehouse and mini-warehouses as approved by the zoning commission.

Both requests were granted. Dee Casillas Jr. was approved and was to be contacted to serve on the Zoning Board of Adjustment replacing Charles Baldwin.

A. P. Dollar was named to the Electric Advisory Board replacing Robbie Hankins. John Hegi, Bob Crawley and Bill Gerber were named to the planning and zoning commission.

Daily prizes of $25 will be awarded to the winner of each day's competition.

The goal for this year's drive is 150 to 200 new members, which will push the active membership to over 1,000. The drive will continue through Friday, with high-point winner receiving a trip for two to Acapulco, Mexico.

Lethal dose denied

SANTA CLARA, Calif. (AP) — His demands for a lethal dose of morphine unanswered and his hostages gone, a 24-year-old man surrendered to police and ended a tense seven-hour standoff in a suburban bank.

In custody today for investigation of kidnapping and false imprisonment was an unemployed truck driver identified by police as Robert C. Foster.

Shaken but safe were two bank employees — one Foster's estranged wife, Janie, 24, and Phyllis Matthews, 37, assistant manager at the Wells Fargo Bank branch in a Santa Clara shopping center.

They had ducked out a side door Monday night shortly before Foster gave up, police said.

Lt. Bernard Dolshel said a third woman, Valerie Kaufman, was found by officers hidden and unharmed in an upstairs room of the bank after Foster surrendered. He said the gunman was never aware the woman was there.

Estes' daughter chastized

Pam Tedford and six others were denied their motions to quash subpoenas requiring them to testify in the aggravated kidnapping trial of Estes' accuser, 40-year-old Don Trull.

As Mrs. Tedford finished testifying during the hearing to quash her subpoena, she left the stand and muttered "son-of-a-bitch" at Trull and his attorney.

State District Judge Glenn Phillips told Estes' daughter he hopes she enjoys her stay in Smith County, but that if she persisted in such comments, she would enjoy her stay in the Smith County Jail.

Don Trull, 40, is charged with holding Billy Mays, an employee of Tyler financier Billy Pyron, hostage last August in Pyron's office at the Heritage National Bank.

Trull is accused of threatening to burn the office unless he received a car, $10,000 in cash and Pyron's signature on a $775,000 promissory note.

Trull said his actions in the bank resulted from his being swindled by Pyron and Estes, and that he was trying to get his money back. He also denies he held Mays against his will.

Potholes do more than jar passing cars: They cost taxpayers

By the Associated Press
Potholes in the streets and highways of the northern sections of Texas do more than jar passing vehicles. They also cost money. State and municipal street and highway officials in affected areas are busily studying budgets to find ways to pay for repairing the damage done this past winter. The potholes were caused by freezes and thaws that swelled and then contracted the surfaces of the roadways. Potholes, the most visible reminder of a harsh winter, would not have been so bad if temperatures had hovered on one side or the other of the freezing mark. Mark Goode, in charge of Texas Highway Department operations, said, "The roadway system in the south was not as severely affected as the north. Dallas was as severe if not worse than anything I recall," he said. "All of the north was quite severe." Hard-pressed Dallas street maintenance supervisor John Murphy, who estimated the cost of pothole repairs at $600,000, said all of the axle-jarring holes should be at least temporarily filled within the next few weeks. "The problem that really caught the Dallas area was an intense increased number of freeze-thaw cycles. It tore us up," he said. "I've got a gut feeling we had about 30 freeze-thaw cycles."

Ray Carr, an assistant superintendent in Fort Worth, estimated the city has already spent $225,000 for temporary repairs, with work slated to continue into the summer. "We've got some money set up for repairs such as this. Whether that will cover all of it or not, we haven't determined yet," Carr said.

DRY AS THE PLAYA — It has been a dry year, as this waterhole on the dry Playa Lake bed seems to show. The flat, salty bed, which is located between Big Spring and Stanton, has not been full within anyone's memory, but the farmers who watch their topsoil blow away in the March winds wish there was a little more water to hold down the land.

Energy Lone Star must refund $90,000 to customers

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The railroad commission Monday directed Lone Star Gas Co. to refund approximately $90,000 to customers due to errors the company made in billings. The errors were made in collecting $900,000 that the commission decided Lone Star owed LoVaca Gathering Co. Lone Star was allowed to impose a surcharge of one cent per thousand cubic feet of natural gas during July, August and September of 1976 to make up the money it owed LoVaca. In addition to the refund, the commission ordered Lone Star to collect nearly $40,000 from seven industrial accounts which were not billed the surcharge. The firms include Andy Cordell Brick, Houston Brick and Tile, Charter International, Intratex, Dow Chemical, Entex and LoVaca. In other action, the commission: —Granted Lone Star permission to raise gas rates in Eastland by $16,859, or nearly $13,000 less than Lone Star sought. —Suspended a request by Lone Star to impose a surcharge of four cents per thousand cubic feet on 119 customers in unincorporated areas near Wichita Falls. A study will be made of the request.

Third place in show won by local artist

Two Big Spring artists had winning entries in the seventh annual Snyder Art Show. Some 354 entries were exhibited in two divisions, painting and sculpting. James Campbell of Big Spring took $50 and a third place honor for his painting "Root Cellar," and also received a merit award in the painting division for "Charlie." Albert Von Rosenberg of Big Spring exhibited his painting "Late Show," and also was given a merit award. Other top winners in the show included Polly Pitzer of Breckenridge, who received a $500 purchase award and the sweepstakes winner designation for her painting, "Making Medicine." First place painting and $200 cash went to Myrtle Joiner of Snyder for her "Indian Pots" painting, while second place and $100 was awarded to Virginia Jones of Lubbock for her painting of Farrah Faucet Majors. In the sculpture division, first place and $200 cash went to Dub Tubb of Snyder for his sculpture, "Traveling Light." Dr. Robert Taylor of Stephenville was awarded second place and $100 for the sculpture he named "Master of Escape." Third place was awarded to Burl Cole of Levelland and "Market Day," and Cole received a $50 cash award. Approximately 45 merit awards were given in the show, which was judged by Harold A. Roney of San Antonio.

Weather Showers roaming Northeast Texas

By the Associated Press
Heavy thundershowers roamed across Northeast Texas during the night, but most of the activity had moved eastward out of the state by dawn today. Golf ball size hail was reported near Weatherford during the late afternoon Monday. On several occasions during the night and the early morning, the National Weather Service issued severe thundershowers warnings for portions of North and Northeast Texas. Rainfall, however, was reported light in most areas. Other activity reported during the early morning hours included some rain at Texarkana and the activity around Longview and Carthage. Elsewhere around the state, fog developed along the Texas coast, reducing visibility to about one mile for the entire length of the coast from Beaumont to Brownsville.

Public has to share burden of guilt

Americans obviously hold Las Vegas, Nev., dear to their hearts. Why else would they pour billions into the city's economy? The first class gambling casinos hire super-star entertainment to lure the yeomanry from around the country but it's obvious a lot of people would go there even if show business declared a moratorium on the place.

The gambling halls in the state, or more properly the syndicates which own them, were the big winners in the bidding for the gambling dollar last year, not the individuals who played the tables. The casinos accepted $1.5 billion dollars in taxable gross revenue. That represents a whopping gain of 20.3 per cent over the 1976 take. Either the average American has come to conclude that the American dollar is eventually not going to be worth anything or he is hopelessly hooked on gambling.

Nevada officials, no doubt, are rejoicing over the bonanza because the state's share amounted to a hefty $80 million. The rest of the country has every reason to feel some concern. Money spent within the confines of Nevada on the various gambling devices is money that can never be poured into local economies, be it automobiles, real estate or toward payment of doctor bills.

Moral judgments are unpopular these days. Stories emanate from Las Vegas and other Nevada cities, however, that organized crime has a hammer lock on the gambling industry, that the vicelords are capable of making the officials jump through hoops.

New Jersey is not long away from the time when gambling casinos will be going full time there. Its infant casino industry is scheduled to start accepting business sometime this year.

Like Nevada, New Jersey will reap a fortune in tax dollars. The gambling tables may succeed in Jersey City where all other kinds of transfusions have failed in recent years.

Problems will come with the opening of the gambling halls, however, not as single spies but as battalions. Jersey City politicians have issued blunt warnings to organized crime to keep hands off the operation. Who is naive enough to believe that the mobs will heed the warning? In the new gambling centers, crime related to gambling will become a fact of daily life.

Why blame organized crime? Its barons know a good thing when they see it. The people, in the end, must bear the burden of guilt for authorizing the casinos in the first place. Racketeering flourishes when the public compromises its morals.

Thurmond's black hope

Evans, Novak

COLUMBIA, S.C. — By tenaciously courting South Carolina's increasingly important black vote, Republican Sen. Strom Thurmond is a slight early favorite for reelection over Democrat Charles (Pug) Ravenel — causing Ravenel's operatives to dredge up Thurmond's old Dixiecrat rhetoric.

Thurmond has gently dulled his sharp conservative edges to run against the telegenic Ravenel; his American Conservative Union rating declined from 100 per cent in 1976 to 82 per cent last year. But his courting of South Carolina's blacks — who will be casting about 27 per cent of the 1978 vote — does not rest on any ideological transformation. Rather, it rests on personal contact, a form of Old South politics that Thurmond, 75, has now proved he can play as well with black as with white voters.

TO COUNTER this, the Ravenel campaign points to harsh segregationist statements by Thurmond in 1948, when he carried four states against Harry Truman as presidential candidates of the States Rights Democratic Party (Dixiecrat). But the past may not be able to obliterate the present. "No one, but no one, can deliver like the Senator can," one South Carolina black leader told us.

Thurmond's vestigial influence in the vast federal bureaucracy extends to regional offices in Atlanta still staffed with Republicans from the Nixon-Ford era. This often gives him a unique advantage in announcing those federal grants and bird-dogging those federal projects of particular interest to black voters.

Thurmond's fastidious attention to black constituents he once spurned probably will at least double the 8 per cent vote he achieved in 1972. White votes were plenty then for his 64 per cent runaway third-term election.

No runaway is in prospect this year against Ravenel, the 40-year-old Charleston blueblood who came from nowhere in 1974 to win the Democratic nomination for governor. Ravenel's brilliant use of television made him a cinch for election until forced off the ballot by a non-residence technicality.

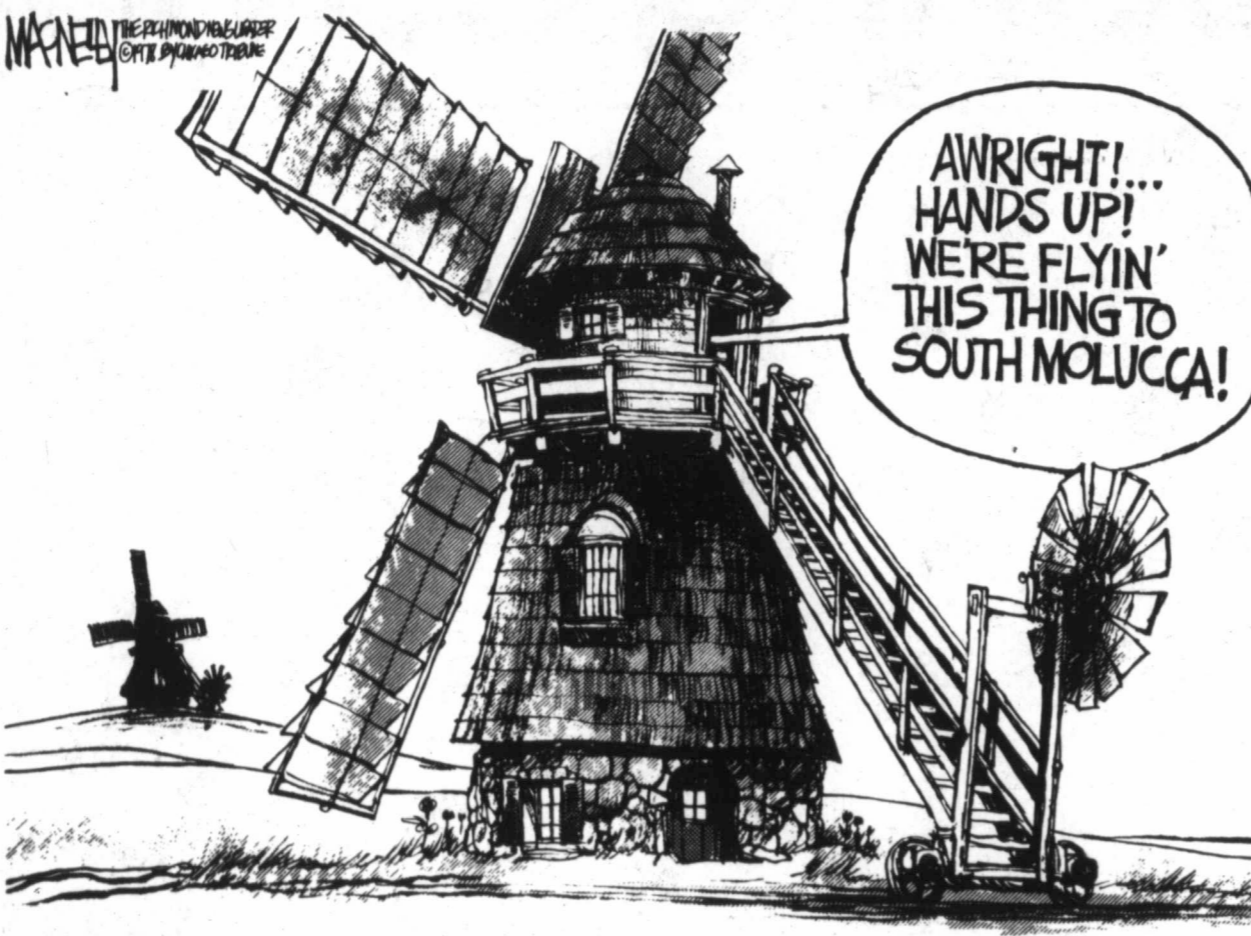

THUS, THURMOND'S chances may turn on whether he can double or triple that 8 per cent black vote, a possibility that disturbs Ravenel's campaign managers. Going back 30 years, they have constructed a record of anti-black, anti-civil rights statements by Thurmond that reads like a page from the South's Jim Crow past.

As Dixiecrat candidate in 1948, Thurmond said, "There are not enough troops in the Army to force Southern people to admit Negroes into our theaters, swimming pools and homes." In 1965, after becoming a Republican, he attacked civil rights demonstrators as "Communist led and inspired."

Although Ravenel told us he personally would have nothing to do with circulating this record to black voting precincts, one campaign aide said it would be "available" to anyone who asks. However, Thurmond's arduous wowing of blacks the past seven years could cause an anti-Thurmond campaign to backfire against Ravenel.

"We don't care what the Senator did in the '40s and '50s," Isaac (Ike) Williams, head of the state NAACP told us, "but how he is representing us in 1978." Williams, while uncommitted, said that, if voters "just try to punish a politician for the sins of the past, what does it profit him to improve?"

Considering where he started, Thurmond's improvement is indisputable. He has established scholarships for black students at four South Carolina colleges with religious affiliations, nailing down political contacts that reach deep into the state's black Baptists and Methodists.

Elderly's 'time clock' may be late

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I occasionally see a complaint from an elderly person about not being able to sleep well at night. Isn't it possible that these people have nothing wrong with them, but that they require less sleep? Do we need less sleep the older we get? — G.A.

That's generally true. This does account for some cases of so-called "insomnia." It is difficult to break habits of a lifetime and many older people think something is wrong if they cannot get the eight or ten hours a night they were accustomed to.

I hear this complaint often from retired persons. It is little wonder that after suddenly cutting themselves off from their previously busy waking schedules they find time hanging heavy. So they become tossers and turners. These people need to experiment with new sleep schedules to fit their lessened activities. Too often retirement brings a terrible boredom to some people. Some even resort to sleep as a "nastime" and the "insomnia" problem is compounded.

Often the only problem is that the "biological clock" is running more slowly than the one on the wall. Get the two synchronized and insomnia may vanish.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can anemia lower a person's blood pressure? — Mrs. O.Y.

Yes, by generally reducing all body functions, causing a sluggishness. On the other hand, anemia may occur along with hypertension, so you can't make a general rule about the matter. Other peculiarities of blood pressure are covered in my booklet on the subject, which answers most questions readers have asked over the years. For a copy, send 50 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me care of the Big Spring Herald.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My 5-year-old son has granuloma annulare on his foot. The dermatologist says this is not serious and no treatment is required. Do you agree? Is this condition rare? The boy also has a Baker's cyst on his knee. Please explain this. — A.L.

The two conditions are unrelated, so we'll take them separately.

First, the granuloma annulare. These are harmless nodules, usually yellowish or skin-colored. The feet, legs, hands, or fingers are favorite spots for it. It can occur in children or adults. One source indicates that there has been some statistical connection with diabetes mellitus when it occurs in adulthood. Otherwise, it is of no significance and no treatment is required. It usually disappears on its own, and this process may be hastened in some with use of corticosteroid applications.

Baker's cyst (the second part of your letter) is a swelling behind the knee. There are several tendons and bursae in this area. A Baker's cyst is a herniation or bulging of one of these bursae. The cause is not clear. There may be mild discomfort. The extent of the swelling can be determined by ultra sound. Injection of corticosteroids may help. If not, surgical removal is done. Has nothing to do with working in a bakery, which was one reader's concern.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am interested in a bit more information about the Kegel exercises to help improve urinary continence. What muscles are involved? When is the best time to do these exercises during the day? — Mrs. J.D.

These exercises are quite handy because they can be done at just about any time and while sitting, standing, or lying. The object, as you know, is to strengthen the muscles involved. These are the ones about the perineum (at the vaginal opening or rectum).

You should do them before getting out of bed, after meals, and at bedtime. Six sessions a day is sufficient. Alternate contracting and relaxing of the muscles (as if to stop urination) constitutes the exercise. Improvement is noted normally after several weeks.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Do you recommend vitamin E for help in leg cramps? — Mrs. P.Z.

I have recommended this because it apparently has helped some people. There are no guarantees.

How to get rid of leg cramps and foot pains? The answer may be simple — write to Dr. Thosteson, in care of the Big Spring Herald for a copy of his booklet, "How to Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is the normal number of times a day a person should urinate? — L.

Most people urinate four to six times a day.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Big Spring Herald Mailbag

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: If I could be a good athlete I would be the happiest guy in the world, but when I pray about this, God just seems to ignore me. I have asked Jesus into my life, but it seems He does not want me. What can I do? — K.I.

DEAR K.I.: Your problem is that you only want God's will for your life as long as it agrees with your will for your life. But that's not how we should think. Let me rephrase what you have written so that it reads like this: "If I could know God's plan for my life I would be the happiest guy in the world. I have asked Jesus into my life and I know that He has come to me because He promised to do so, and He cannot break His Word."

Now compare that with what you have written and see if my statement does not make more sense. If you are going to be a Christian, it means you are going to hand your life over to God. It is no good asking Jesus into your life and then telling Him what you want Him to do, as if He were your servant. No, we are His servants, and He tells us what He wants to do with our lives.

The secret of happiness is knowing that God has a special plan for each one of his children. To discover God's plan for your life is life's greatest joy. Only then do you know you are doing something worthwhile with your life. Your reason for wanting athletic ability may actually be very selfish, perhaps you want others to admire you. But now that you belong to Christ, you must learn to exalt Him, not yourself. God may or may not choose to give you athletic abilities, but the important thing is that you use every ability and gift He does give you for His glory and His purposes.

Ask God to bring His plan for your life before you very clearly, whatever it may be and without laying down any conditions. He will lead you day by day to know what that plan is. "But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you" (Matthew 6:33).

Over-exploitation

Around the rim

Dusty Richard

I'm sick and tired of inane TV commercials and the things that Madison Avenue ad men are trying to sell Americans today.

First on my list of stupid commercials are those that have to do with smells. It seems as though any smell that is natural is being made to appear unnatural by the ad men who feed on the insecurities that the public has about "offending" anyone.

Advertising agencies have taken every orifice of the human body and exploited it to some degree. Those orifices which have normal smells are especially hard-hit, but mark my word, the ear is next. "And for those of you who have earotitis — you know, bad-smelling ears — here's a new product to solve that problem you may have without even knowing it. It's called Earoma, and comes in roll-on or spray. Remember, people may be talking behind your back about your smelly ears, so buy Earoma today!"

And there are people who would actually start worrying about how their ears smell and rush out and buy that ridiculous product.

WE ARE BEING brainwashed to believe that we must disguise the normal scents of our breaths, underarms, feet, genitals, clothing, hair and houses. We are told that to be "accepted" we must use sprays and soaps and gargles and shampoos and powders, because if we don't, people will think that we stink. Well, I think that this advertising campaign against people smelling like people stinks!

A person who bathes every day and washes his clothes after wearing them need not feel as though he or she smells bad. There is nothing wrong with the smell of clean human skin, and it does not have to be clogged up all the time with anti-perspirants and deodorants.

That is not to say that I am against the use of these products — clothing, if worn over and over again without washing will accumulate body odors and smell bad. A person who does not bathe often will accumulate dried perspiration and also smell bad (or at least will smell what we have been conditioned to think of as bad).

A person who does not brush his teeth often will have "bad breath." Tooth decay and infected tonsils, among other things, will also give a person bad breath. But a healthy person who has a clean mouth does not need to go around gargling Scope and Listerine or chewing on Certs all the time.

Hair that is clean has no offensive odor. It may not smell like a rose garden, but it will smell like clean hair.

Clean genitals do not smell bad. Some women, in order not to "offend" (there's some of that ad man lingo again) spend time and money putting chemicals into very delicate tissues. There is no need to do this, because, while clean genitals do not smell like strawberry shortcakes, they do smell like normal human tissues.

My clothes may never have that "springtime fresh" aroma that is so loudly lauded in the world of TV and as for my home — if "Snoopy Sniffer" even so much as sniffles in the direction of my kitchen cabinets, pointing out that germs can breed there and so cause odors, she will be shown to the door in short order.

Personally, I believe, and I think that the majority of people believe, that a home that is comfortable to live in is a lot more important than a home that makes one afraid of breathing in it for fear of spreading germs and odors.

And I don't care how many millions of people each day help keep themselves dry the Sure way, I'll take my jacket off anywhere I please, and so can my friends. Can you imagine the reactions of the ad men? "Your underarms are wet! That means you're a human and sweat! My gosh, what is the world coming to?" Stick it in your ear, Madison Avenue!!!

SECOND ON MY list is the so-called "feminine hygiene product" commercial. It wouldn't be so bad if the models selling these products would come right out and state what they are selling, but no, they bat their eyelashes and say, "I use this product before, during and after." Before, during and after what? They never come right out and say that this product is used to relieve menstrual cramps. Another popular phrase that is coyly used is "for that particular discomfort you may experience around that time." Around what time? They never say "around the time of your menstrual period."

Then there is that real winner. I cringe every time it is shown on TV. This is the commercial about the two girl reporters. Girl No. 1 giggles, "I need roller skates to keep up with you!" and Girl No. 2 says, "Well, you said you wanted the active life of a reporter. Oh, and by the way, I just happened to be carrying a whole box of the product I'm selling! You ought to try it. It's made just for busy reporters like us," and she displays the brand of sanitary napkin she is selling, as if that is all a girl reporter needs to get an interview.

In a newsroom survey of Eileen McGuire, Carla Walker, and myself, all "girl reporters," we agreed that the brand of "feminine protection" that we use has nothing whatsoever to do with being a reporter, active or otherwise.

Last but not least on my list is the "put your money where your mouth is" commercial. For the enlightenment of anyone who hasn't seen this ad, it involves two boys, one of whom is a real stud because he uses Close Up toothpaste and another who can't "get any" because he doesn't use Close Up. Boy No. 2 decides to buy a new car in the hope that it will help him score.

This has been proven to be a good factor in being successful with a date. But his mentor, hoping I suppose to try to help the guy save some money, speaks those profound words, "Forget the car. Put your money . . . etc., and buy Close Up." He then flashes his pearly brights at the camera. It is interesting to note that Close Up probably had little to do with his bright white and straight teeth — a $2,000 dental bill did. Nevertheless, Boy No. 2 takes his advice and brushes with Close Up, and the next thing we know, he is smiling like the cat who ate the canary, telling us "This loser's a lover now," the implication being, of course, that anyone having problems getting dates, or more cooperative dates, as the case may be, needs only to buy this toothpaste, and voila! Problem solved.

It is unfortunate that in reality, problems cannot be solved by simply switching brands of toothpaste or using a more reliable anti-perspirant. And that reporters must rely on more than a good "feminine hygiene" product to write a good article.

Human rights, Soviets

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — Contrary to the advice President Carter has been getting from the State Department, there's no reason for him to soften his stand on human rights abuses in the Soviet Union. Sparing Soviet feelings should have little effect on detente and disarmament.

These are the conclusions of the National Security Council, which conducted a secret study for the president last year. The study, summarized in Presidential Review Memorandum No. 28, declares flatly: "There is no evidence that the U.S. human rights policy has affected Soviet bargaining positions in important negotiations, even if the atmosphere surrounding negotiations is tense."

THE CLASSIFIED REPORT suggests that the Soviet agitation over Carter's human rights campaign is mostly bluff and bluster. "Their objective appears to be to bring about a significant decrease in our public advocacy of human rights, thus reducing its most embarrassing aspects for them," states the memo.

The Soviets have also struck back with their own campaign against the U.S. neutron bomb, which they claim kills people and leaves property intact. Apparently, the Kremlin regards the human rights and neutron bomb rhetoric as propaganda warfare, having little to do with substantive negotiations.

Carter was told that the Soviet leaders are too realistic to abandon the advantages they could gain through a disarmament treaty, cooperative ventures in trade and scientific exchange. Comments the report: "Our substantive position on arms control has and likely will continue to determine the Soviet response on this critical issue."

"Similarly, we believe that the Soviet Union will continue to pursue its perceived interests in arms control, trade, scientific and cultural exchanges and other areas of our bilateral relations, regardless of our advocacy of human rights."

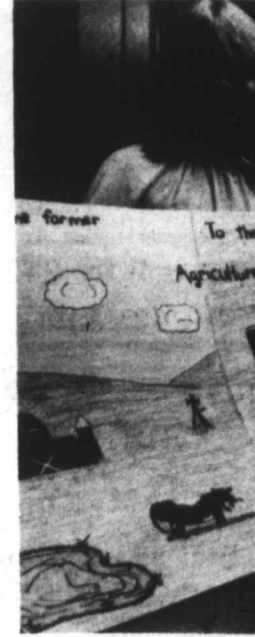

"THE INEVITABLE STRAIN of a massive arms race, the need to take increasing consumer demands into account and the potential for unrest in Eastern Europe mean the Soviet Union cannot easily pull away from . . . negotiations, technological transfer agreements or commercial credit agreements."

The White House document notes that the Soviets have continued to cooperate with U.S. diplomats and businessmen, despite the congressional restriction which withholds favored nation trade status as long as the Soviets refuse to allow Jews the right to emigrate.

Summarizes the memo: "The Kremlin may implicitly recognize that Soviet economic concerns will make it difficult to delay forward bilateral movement for long periods at time because of U.S. human rights involvement."

"UNDER PROPER management, our security interests and human rights concerns both can be accommodated in our relations with the Soviet Union. In fact, failure to execute an appropriate human rights strategy with proper balance will detract from the political value of our human rights policy elsewhere in the world."

Footnote: In a future column, we will quote further from the secret document, which also argues that the human rights crusade should not interfere with our relations with China or Cuba.

Jim Snowden dedicated to defeat of John Hill

Jim Snowden, Democratic candidate for the office of Congressman from the 17th District of Texas, said here Monday he would be willing to give up any chance he has for winning the election to see that John Hill doesn't win the governor's chair.

Snowden, a former mayor of Tye, says of Hill: "He's nothing but a cheap politician."

Snowden was the most vocal member of a grand jury investigating the Alcoholic Beverage Commission in Taylor County for failure to properly administer the liquor laws in the county.

According to Snowden, Hill was aware of the corruption that existed in Taylor County at least a year and a half before the grand jury investigation was initiated, yet did nothing about it.

"Local people informed him of the failure to administer the Liquor Control Act in Taylor County by the TABC," Snowden said. "The complaint was referred to Hill's Crime Division but no action was ever taken. As far as I'm concerned, he violated his oath of office."

"Hill's trip to the Texas Valley to visit the farmers who were jailed there recently after demonstration on the International Bridge was just a political stunt aimed at gaining the striking farmers' vote."

"If John Hill had been willing to do his job as Attorney General the grand jury would not have had to spend three to four thousand dollars of county money to investigate the corruption," Snowden added. "There is

The poster contest was one educational method used by the Cowbells to circulate more information about the cattle industry.

A 1,000-pound steer yields approximately 432 pounds of beef, with the remainder of the weight used for by-products ranging from cosmetics and clothing to foods and pharmaceuticals.

Edible by-products include oleo stock and oil, gelatin, marshmallows, canned meat, candies, and natural sausage casings.

Inedible by-products are numerous, including leather, sports equipment, surgical sutures, soap, cosmetics, buttons, china, photographic film, sandpaper, violin strings, "camel hair" brushes, and explosives.

The medical application by-products are many, with new applications discovered periodically. Among them are Renet, epinephrine, thrombin, insulin, heparin, TSH, ACTH, cholesterol, estrogen, thyroid extract, and many more.

Use of these drugs range from diagnostic to treatment of blood diseases, indigestion, diabetes, glandular failure, respiratory problems, and stimulation of the heart under crisis conditions.

All the by-products help to keep the price of beef lower than it might otherwise be, since packers can make some profit on sale of the non-meat portions of a slaughter beef.

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Soviet anthropologists were at the University of Kansas here recently, laying the groundwork for an information exchange program between the Soviet Union and the United States.

The program would allow aging and longevity researchers in both countries to coordinate their efforts and to standardize methods of measurement and investigation.

The Soviet research team, composed of about 40 investigators, has already received funding for the project from its government. The U.S. team has still to obtain a grant from an institute of aging before the program can start.

Former AG Mitchell faces quiz

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Attorney General John N. Mitchell is scheduled to tell congressmen what he knew of alleged South Korean influence buying in Congress and what he did about it.

Mitchell's scheduled public questioning by a House international relations subcommittee today is his first since he was sent to prison last year for his role in the Watergate coverup.

The subcommittee is also wants to hear testimony from former Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

Rep. Donald M. Fraser, D-Minn., chairman of the subcommittee, said last week that unnamed Nixon cabinet officers had detailed intelligence reports by 1971 on South Korean lobbying plans but took no effective action to stop them.

The subcommittee released a lengthy report Mitchell got June 8, 1971, on South Korean financing of Radio Free Asia that refers to Tongsun Park as a "middleman" influence peddler and lobbyist.

The report to Mitchell said: "We know for a fact that Park offered to contribute to the campaign funds of several congressmen — coincidentally just before (a foreign aid appropriation bill) was submitted to the Hill — and have suspicions that he has been involved in many other irregularities as a lobbyist."

Mitchell had the FBI investigate but it found no grounds for action against Radio Free Asia.

Drill bits bandit hits

CHICKASHA, Okla. (AP) — Two shotgun-wielding bandits robbed an oilfield crew early Monday of 12 drill bits valued at an estimated $25,000, an officer said.

R.D. Cottrell, Grady County deputy sheriff, said the skinned men held the four-man crew at gunpoint while loading the bits onto a pickup truck belonging to one of the crew members.

He said the stolen pickup was found abandoned about five hours later three miles from the robbery scene.

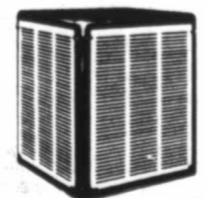

Tire tracks indicated the drill bits had been reloaded into one or possibly two waiting vehicles, Cottrell said.

Carterites to speak out against pay, price hikes

WASHINGTON (AP) — As part of its new anti-inflation program, the Carter administration plans to speak out against wage and price increases it believes are unjustified, says the administration's chief inflation fighter.

"Private decisions are not completely private when it comes to wages and prices. ... The government has to be prepared to step in," Barry Bosworth, director of the Council on Wage and Price Stability, said in an interview Monday.

While the council can't force wage and price rollbacks, Bosworth said it will use all the powers it does have, including public hearings and subpoenas of wage and price information.

Bosworth said the inflationary cycle can be broken only if the government takes a more aggressive public role in wage and price decisions. He said the administration's antiinflation policy "will not be credible if we're not willing to speak up."

Bosworth, 35, was a senior economist at the Brookings Institution here before Carter named him to the council post.

He acknowledged the program already has a credibility problem because nothing has been done to put it into operation. "On the basis of what they've seen so far, I agree with them (the public) that the program is going to fail."

Bosworth said the president "needs to play a far more visible role than he's been playing," but has been diverted by other problems. He said Carter may make a major speech on inflation soon.

The framework of the program was announced by Carter in January. It is voluntary and aims to reduce the rate of inflation by 0.5 percent a year by convincing unions and companies to hold new wage and price increases to levels at least 1 percent below increases of the last two years.

When the program is in operation, possibly in another two weeks, the administration plans to call in leaders of major industries to press them to restrain price increases. A similar push with unions is planned next year.

Water production costs increase

Slightly higher revenues and considerably higher operating expenses featured the February financial statement of the Colorado River Municipal Water District. This translates simply into costing more to produce less water sales.

For the first two months of the year, revenues aggregated $1,049,542, compared with $1,011,550 for the same period a year ago. Revenues from municipal customers were up $77,000, but sales to oil companies and industrial users were off sharply.

Operating expenses for the two months stood at $485,218, up $107,000, almost the same amount as the increase in energy costs for producing water. The net of $564,324 after expenses was down by $68,000 over a year ago. Most of this excess of revenue over expenditures goes to debt service.

During the initial two months, water sales to cities were based on 1,600,005,000 gallons, up 127,000,000 from the first two months of 1977. On the other hand, deliveries to oil companies were down 307,321,000 gallons.

Most of this loss was attributed to a reduction of one half from Lake J.B. Thomas as a conservation measure. For the first two months, pumping from this source was down 378,000,000 gallons.

Advice: care for self

By JANET ROGERS
CEA
"Take care of yourself" is becoming serious advice. At present, the U.S. medical-care system is not able to serve all who need it. Experts are encouraging each person to assume more responsibility for his own health and that of his community, because present medical-care demands cannot be met. Each person makes choices that influence health — physical and emotional — and some of the most important choices involve the individual's lifestyle.

Lifestyle is often linked to the diseases which now are taking the greatest toll in lives and suffering. We may decide our own link to those diseases by how we eat, drink, smoke and exercise — and how we handle stress, anger and other emotions.

Some choices an individual can make to ensure health start with five "take care of yourself" guidelines, many of which focus on lifestyle. The guidelines recommend the following:

- Establish sound health habits, such as balanced nutrition, regular exercise and careful dental hygiene.
- Recognize early warning signs and symptoms of disease and take action to prevent extreme consequences of the disease.
- When necessary, use the health-care system efficiently by carefully selecting qualified physicians, by seeking diagnosis early and by following through on recommended treatment.
- Use health care products effectively.

That includes following label instructions on over-the-counter drugs and the physician's instructions on prescription drugs.

• Learn and apply correct health-care procedures, such as cardiopulmonary resuscitation, in cases of emergency and illness.

Miami bridge championship draws 4,000 participants

HOUSTON (AP) — Mike Passell of Dallas and Robert Levin of Miami won the Open Pair North American title here Sunday in the final day of the Spring North American Bridge championship tournament of the American Contract Bridge League.

Passell and Levin scored 983.58 in two days of competition, finishing well ahead of Marty Arndt and Thomas Peters, both of Houston, who scored 961.68.

A team led by Nancy Gruver of Ellicott City, Md., took first place in the women's team competition Sunday. Members of the new women's team champions are Nancy Gruver, Carol Sanders, Nashville, Tenn., Betty Kennedy, Shreveport, La., Evelyn Levitt, Wilmington, Del., Nancy Alpaugh, New Orleans, and Kerri Shuman, Los Angeles. The runners-up are Florine Walters of Northbrook, Ill., Sue Halpersin of Skokie, Ill., Cheri Bjerkan, Roselle, Ill., and Beverly Nelson, Rockford, Ill.

Passell, 29, was the individual with the greatest success in this tournament. He was a member of the Vanderbilt Championship Team, at this tournament, and a member of a Central States Open Swiss Team champion team here.

American Contract Bridge League officials reported the ten days of play had filled 9,388 tables with bridge players, for 37,552 individual participations by more than 4,000 persons from throughout the U.S., Canada, and Mexico. Visitors from other nations included New Zealand and the Netherlands.

1905 Hyperions host club member program

The 1905 Hyperion Club met at the Cactus Room of Howard College recently, serving as hostess to the city's other six Hyperion Clubs.

Mrs. Cecil McDonald, program chairman, presented the program moderator, Mrs. Clyde Angel.

As an introduction to her program, "Why Am I A Club Member?", Mrs. Angel said that to be a member of a club gives one strength in four great channels of life — the home, family, church and the world. It demands that you feed your family mentally, physically and spiritually.

Representing the 1930 Hyperion Club, Mrs. R.B.G. Cowper gave some history of her club. The organization was organized by the daughters of the 1905 Hyperion Club who banded together to stimulate interest in better education, better homes, better churches and an opportunity to enjoy the fellowship of other women.

Representing the 1953 Hyperion Club, Mrs. Stallings said that her club was centered around the family and included past programs on self-defense, safety and wills.

The 1955 Hyperion Club was represented by Mrs. James R. Cave, president, who described the function of her club as giving the members an opportunity to work for the good of the community and to enjoy fellowship with friends.

Mrs. John Latham, president of the 1970 Hyperion Club, told of some of the interesting programs her club has had, including "Conquering Inner Space" and the "Trial of Christ." As

Wrong to Exclude These Wedding Guests

DEAR ABBY: A month ago we received an invitation to a wedding in England. (We live in Maryland.) The groom has been a guest in our home on several occasions and we are friendly with his parents.

Yesterday we received word from the groom's mother saying that we would not be included in the very small family wedding group, but were expected at the reception, and she hopes that we will "understand."

We were terribly hurt and do NOT "understand." We are on a retirement income, and would not consider making such a costly trip for a "reception" only. But if we were invited to the wedding, we would gladly go.

I have already written to tell them that "something has developed" that may prevent us from making the trip, in order to leave it open for the moment.

Are we wrong to feel as we do? What would you do? FRUSTRATED

DEAR FRUSTRATED: I would write to the groom (leave his mother out of it) and tell him that it is customary to invite out-of-town guests to the ceremony, and unless you are included, you must decline. Period.

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem that you or one of your readers may be able to help me with. I own several ranches in the Wyoming-Colorado area, and when I meet a city person for the first time and he learns that I'm in ranching, he invariably asks, "How many acres do you have?"

Abby, I consider this a very personal question. It would be like asking someone, "What is your net worth?" or, "How much is in your bank account?"

I realize that they mean no harm, and are just trying to make conversation, but I also feel that how many acres I have is none of their business.

Can you (or one of your readers) suggest an answer that wouldn't hurt their feelings, and at the same time wouldn't give them any information about the size of my operation? RANCHER

DEAR RANCHER: Any evasive response will do, provided it's given in a friendly, good-humored tone. (a) "Too many." (b) "Not enough." (c) "All I can handle."

DEAR ABBY: I have three healthy, wonderful daughters, ages 7, 5 and 3, and they are all beautiful in my eyes. However, the eldest is an exceptionally attractive child with a head full of golden curls, enormous brown eyes and long dark lashes. I know she's pretty, and so does she, and so do her sisters, who happen to be very plain.

My problem, Abby, is the well-meaning idiot who stops me in the supermarket when I am with all three and says, "My, what a GORGEOUS child! She should be in the movies!" Or, "Wow, what a heartbreaker that blonde will be when she grows up!" (She is 7, and she's already asking me when she is going to start breaking hearts!)

Please comment about people who fuss over one child in the presence of brothers and sisters. It makes it so hard on the others.

Any suggestions on how to handle these idiots? I'm sure other mothers have to deal with it, too. MIDWEST MOM

DEAR MOM: There is no help for the idiot. You can only try to shut him up by signaling with your face or hand — or your foot, if necessary. But I'll print this in the hope that well-meaning but thoughtless strangers who are overwhelmed by the beauty of a child will think twice before they speak.

DEAR ABBY: May I speak on behalf of a group of people who sometimes have difficulty speaking for themselves? The group I'm speaking of (and for) is usually sensitive, shy, insecure and gentle. Their problem? They are QUIET. They simply find it difficult to speak up in a crowd or to make small talk.

I just returned from a class I joined as part of my continuing battle to overcome this problem. While in class, someone embarrassed me by saying, "Gee, you're quiet!" I am aware of that fact, and commenting on it publicly is just as rude as saying to someone, "Gee, you talk a lot!"

Abby, please tell your readers that many quiet people have deeply rooted problems that they are trying hard to overcome. If people really want to help a quiet person, they should ask him a question, thus giving him a chance to talk. But never make an issue of his quietness. SUFFERING (QUIETLY)

DEAR SUFFERING: Thanks for taking the time and trouble to speak out for the quiet ones.

Stanton charges to stand Protests are unlikely

By BOB BURTON
STANTON — Five marijuana cases, filed here incorrectly, will probably stand, leaving four juveniles and one man with "attempting to possess marijuana" charges on their records.

City Judge Arthur Wilson said today "there will be no more of that" after learning of case precedent against the "attempting to possess" charge.

But the law prevents anyone except the defendants in the five cases from filing an appeal to overturn the original judgments, and by filing such an appeal they would make themselves subject to refiling in county court, with much stiffer sentences. Knowing this, any protest by the defendants seems unlikely.

Jim Hutcheson, chief counsel with the Texas Judicial Council, and Roy Greenwood, with the state prosecuting attorney's office, both agreed that case law provides that the "attempt" statute does not apply to the controlled substances act.

"But," said Greenwood, "everybody's tried it. We've heard of cases from Houston and Austin. There are quite a number of cases dealing with it."

One of the cities trying it was Midland, which until two months ago was regularly filing "attempt to possess marijuana" charges in its city court.

"We haven't had any of that prosecution recently," attested Brian Martin of City Attorney Joe Nuessle's office.

Jim Gregg, Big Spring City Attorney, said that all marijuana charges here are filed in county court or above, making the attempt statute non-existent in Big Spring.

"We've never done anything like that," said Gregg. "Ever since I was teaching at Howard College I have been under the impression that the Title 4 Act does not apply to the controlled substances act."

Gregg who also serves as advisor to Stanton's city judge, was not approached about the legitimacy of the "attempt" filings. Judge Wilson, who has held the Stanton bench for a year and one-half, said he did not check with the county attorney before accepting the charges, either.

Patrolman Jerry Register explained that it "is not our policy to check out every charge we file." Register said that the decision to file the "attempt" charges came after studying a paperback copy of the Texas Penal Codes, in which there is nothing prohibiting the application of the attempt statute to the controlled substances act.

The most recent case involves a man who was found with 66 small marijuana plants in his residence. The case came to trial in Stanton February 3, 1978, and the man forfeited his bond to pay a $200 fine.

"He was glad to get out of it with that," said Stanton patrolman Robert Harbut, who made the arrest.

The "attempt" section of the Texas Penal Code states that applying the "attempt" statute to a criminal charge drops the offense for that charge one level. Thus, the Class B misdemeanor possession of marijuana was supposedly dropped to a Class C misdemeanor and handed in city court.

New storm threatens to break open tanker

BREST, France (AP) — New storms threaten to break open the wrecked American supertanker Amoco Cadiz and spill the 29 million or more gallons of oil still aboard along the polluted Brittany coast.

More heavy weather was predicted as gale winds and high seas swept the vessel Monday, delaying a survey for underwater rocks so that a smaller tanker can get alongside to pump out the remaining oil.

Capt. Claude Phillips, marine transport manager for Amoco, said the operation is "completely subject to the weather. We cannot risk lives or ships out there."

Environmental experts said the rough weather could have a beneficial effect by moving the oil away from the coastline and helping to emulsify it, thus reducing the concentration, as has happened in some past spills.

The 1,067-foot tanker carried 67.6 million gallons of oil in 15 tanks when it ran on the rocks and broke in two in a storm Friday. Harry Rinkema, Amoco vice president for marine transport, said he was told there was "a huge slick, eight miles long and a mile wide, containing perhaps 50,000 to 60,000 tons of oil, floating out to sea in the English Channel."

That would be 14.7 million to 17.6 million gallons, or about 20 to 25 percent of the total aboard. Millions of gallons more have fouled the coastal fishing beds and some 80 miles of beaches along the Brittany peninsula.

Hundreds of fishermen kept ashore by the pollution of the lobster beds and fishing grounds handed in their licenses to reinforce their demands for immediate government compensation.

Local mayors prepared damage inventories for the government in Paris.

Five British ships experienced in treating oil slicks were en route to join 11 French navy ships spreading dispersants, detergents, chalk and absorbent plastic balls. Experts from the U.S. Oceanographic and Atmospheric Administration arrived to give assistance.

Child burned Mom could not pay her electric bill

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A distraught mother said today her 9-year-old boy was in the hospital with serious burns because she could not pay her electric bill.

Michael Gray remained in serious condition in the intensive care division of Brackenridge Hospital from burns received in a Sunday night apartment fire.

Fire investigator Lt. Mike Noe said a candle used for illumination fell from a night-stand near the door to Michael's bedroom and ignited the rug.

Michael's brother, Jim, awoke and tried to awake his brother before he ran from the room. Michael finally came through the flames after Jim stood in the hall shouting to wake him.

The boys' mother, Dee Dee Howell, dining room manager at an Austin restaurant, said the candle was being used because she could not afford to pay $86 a month for electricity. She said electricity for the apartment was turned off for the third time Friday.

Gutman Phillips, manager of the city utility services, said Mrs. Howell failed to pay even one bill since last July when she signed up for electric service. He said that city servicemen have twice found meter boxes at the apartment had been tampered with to provide the apartment with unbilled electricity.

Homosexual rights leader claiming victory for gays

HOUSTON (AP) — Homosexual rights leader Gary Van Ooteghem is claiming a victory for gays after a federal judge ordered Harris County Treasurer Hartsell Gray to reinstate and give back pay to Ooteghem, fired in 1975 from his job as county comptroller of the treasury.

U.S. Dist. Judge Ross Sterling ruled Monday that Gray violated Van Ooteghem's First Amendment rights by ordering him to remain in his office during working hours to prevent him from making a speech in support of homosexual rights.

Van Ooteghem said he was "tickled" because the ruling has "a tremendous bearing on the gay rights movement. There is no reason why we can't be openly gay."

Van Ooteghem, 36, was fired from his $26,000 per year job after he refused to sign a letter that required him to be in his office from 8 a.m. until noon and from 1 p.m. until 5 p.m. and to restrict his political activities to his own time.

Sterling's order said that based on Van Ooteghem's working record, there was no justification for his being fired. He was "performing well and there was no evidence to indicate that his job performance would have suffered in the future," the order said.

The order also said Gray sent the letter three days after Van Ooteghem had informed Gray he was a homosexual and intended to make the speech.

"I don't like being treated like a second class citizen," Van Ooteghem said. "I'd fight it again, if it came up again."

Van Ooteghem said he doesn't know if he will return to work but will consult his attorney.

Gray said he fired Van Ooteghem because he was insubordinate and not because he was a homosexual.

Track record improves

"At the beginning of the year, I told these guys, 'If you stick with me, we can get third place in the District Meet.' They looked at me like I was crazy. But I still believe we can get third, because they have stuck with me, and I think they now believe they can do it too."

Big Spring Steer Head Track Coach Jerry Carter speaking there.

What's all this fuss about third in the District 5-4A Track Meet? What's all this fuss, indeed! What would be the big deal about balancing the national debt, you might ask?

Both would be considered miracles along the line of parting the Red Sea (or Zeller's hair).

The local thinclads have been emulating the Denver Broncos this season in the "Make Those Miracles Happen" department. They have conditioned themselves into a contender's role, when, in the past two years, they couldn't even buy a ticket to the fight.

Okay, here's the big deal about third place in the meet. In 1978, the Steers totalled exactly "0" points in the conference biggie. That's a big goose egg... the gooseiest. 1977 was only 4 points better, and that was only because other teams were disqualified.

And this year, against the big, the speedy, the bullies of all the other league schools, the Steers have a realistic, that's REALISTIC, chance of nailing down perhaps 60 points in the meet. That would probably be good enough for third, and that would undoubtedly be cause for championship rejoicing, regardless of who wins the meet.

Let's take a ferriance on this local "Cinder" fella story: The 440 (Sprint Medley) Relay team of Kenneth Coffey, Eugene Boadle, Eddie Puga and Bobby Huff. Blurred movement, that's all.

That group of speedsters ran a 42.3 at the Canyon Reef Relays in Snyder last Saturday. That's up from their previous weekly showing of 43.8. Not only is that time the tops, by far, in District 5-4A, it's second only to Richardson's 42.2 in the state, as far as I can tell. (Still don't have any results from the Houston area).

The locals improved in six events from the previous week, and senior Kenneth Coffey was entered in five of those events. Coffey improved his high jump mark from 6'2" to 6'4" (in only his second week of competition in that particular event).

Carter stopped Coffey at 6'2" the first week, because he wanted to bring Coffey along slowly. (The senior athlete missed a couple of times at 6'8" in Snyder.) "His jumps are good enough to clear 6'8" by District Meet time," said Carter. "All we have to work on now are some timing techniques."

Coffey also improved from 41.6 to 39.9 in the 330 intermediate hurdles; from 21 1/2" to 21'9" in the long jump; and helped the sprint medley relay team improve, as well as the mile relay jump from 3:31.3 to 3:29.0.

Carter also believes that Coffey can clear 24' by district meet time, as he was making 23' easily in Snyder but was foot fouling. Sophomore Joe Willie Jones set a new sophomore record in Snyder by leaping 21'7". His previous best was 19'7".

In the other big improvements for the locals, Eddie Puga bettered his time in the 440-yard dash from 52.4 to 50.6. Jones, again showing his weekly improvement of fleet-feet, surged to a 51.5 timing in that event.

Here are the current Big Spring bests: So, everything's coming up roses, right? Knocking on wood, right! Carter envisions a sprint medley relay team that can get into the "high 41's" by district time. "This group can run," he said. "The confidence factor just keeps building."

And taking into consideration the fact that all the other league squads will be improving (although maybe not as strikingly) along with the locals, my deductions still show that the Steers can pick up at least one first, three seconds, two thirds, a fourth and two fifths in the District Meet.

That's about 60 points, maybe more. For sure, it's more than getting skunked. "When I took this job, I promised myself that there would be no way that we would get blanked in District," Carter finished.

From all indications, it's someone else's time to worry about getting skunked.

P.S. According to the U.S. Experiment Station, Big Spring has had .08 of an inch of rain in the month of March. Wouldn't you know it, the long range forecast shows chance of scattered showers Saturday, the date for the ABC Relays. Anyone know a good "Rain Postponement" Dance. In the meantime, the American Business Club of Big Spring would appreciate all the dry vibes it can get from local sports fans.

Shell-shocked expert predicts Wildcat win

DALLAS (AP) — Since Sonny Allen is 0-5 against three of the final four in the NCAA basketball playoffs in St. Louis, the Southern Methodist basketball coach qualifies as something of a shell-shocked expert on the possible winner.

Joking stops when NIT finals tip off tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — Texas Coach Abe Lemons may be the king of the college basketball jokers, but everyone knows the kidding stops at the opening tipoff.

It'll be no different tonight when the jovial coach sends his Longhorns into the National Invitation Tournament final against North Carolina State.

Lemons spent part of Monday entertaining the media at the NIT luncheon, bemoaning New York prices, poking fun of his coaching ability and absolutely refusing to pay attention — outwardly, anyway — to the Longhorns' bid for the title of the 41st NIT. "I just came from breakfast and I had a couple of eggs that cost $4.95," said Lemons. "I asked to see the chicken. Where I come from, I never saw a chicken that could lay eggs worth $4.95."

"That's more amazing than this game." Yes, just another game for Lemon and his 25-5 Longhorns. He doesn't know what to expect from the 21-9 Wolfpack and doesn't seem to care much.

"I never scout an opponent," he said. "How smart can I be? I've never written a book."

The Wolfpack enters the final showdown still talking about the last-second 40-foot shot that Clyde Austin sank in overtime to give North Carolina State its dramatic 86-85 triumph over Georgetown in the semifinals Sunday.

"When that shot went in, I tore up my notes," said Lemons, who admitted in the next sentence that he really hadn't kept any on the Hoyas and it wouldn't have mattered if he had.

"Very frankly," he said, "coaches don't contribute that much to a team's success. If you've got self-motivated people that are talented, that's all you need."

If it's any comfort to Lemons, the season will be over by this time tomorrow. The NIT title will have been decided — not by one-liners, but by action.

And the Wolfpack presents a very real threat. North

Robertson's luck may have changed

By the Associated Press

Now that Bob Robertson is with Seattle, the Mariners better make sure their medical insurance is paid up.

"My main objective this year is to stay healthy for a change," Robertson says. "I haven't been too successful at that ever since I first put on a uniform."

Robertson came to the majors with the Pittsburgh Pirates late in 1967 but missed the entire 1968 season due to a kidney operation. He underwent surgery on both knees following the 1974 campaign and went under the knife again for an operation on his right knee in October 1975.

The Pirates released him following spring training a year ago and last June he had back surgery to correct a disc problem, so 1977 was another washout.

Along the way, Robertson's bat also showed signs of a terminal illness — including a 1-for-14 start this spring with the Mariners, who signed him as a free agent last November. But the lumber came to life Monday.

The 31-year-old first baseman, owner of 106 major league home runs, rapped out four hits, including a tie-breaking two-run homer, an RBI double and a run-scoring single as the Mariners shelled the Milwaukee Brewers 10-2 in an exhibition game.

Elsewhere: —Roy White and Cliff Johnson homered as the New York Yankees defeated the Atlanta Braves 8-3.

—Reggie Smith, Dusty Baker, Rick Monday and Myron White homered and Don Sutton hurled six strong innings, leading the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 14-1 rout of the Texas Rangers.

—Randy Jones also hurled six impressive innings and rookie sensation Ossie Smith delivered a two-run double as the San Diego Padres downed the San Francisco Giants 5-2.

—Dave Rozema worked three perfect innings to help the Detroit Tigers defeat the Cincinnati Reds 6-1 and the Baltimore Orioles whipped the Kansas City Royals 7-1 as Eddie Murray, Ken Singleton and Larry Harlow drove in two runs apiece.

—Bob Molinaro's two-run single sparked a Chicago rally that lifted the White Sox past the New York Mets 9-8 and Jose Morales' three-run homer powered the Montreal Expos over the Minnesota Twins 5-3.

—Dave Parker hit a three-run homer in the Pittsburgh Pirates' 5-4 victory over the Boston Red Sox and the Toronto Blue Jays ended a six-game losing streak by downing the St. Louis Cardinals 4-2.

Foreman said he would use boxing to get peoples' attention and then tell them about Jesus. "God has not ordained me, but He did give me some bait to catch fish with," Foreman said. "Ever since I came out of the ring I've been using George Foreman for Jesus and I'm going to continue to use George Foreman for Jesus."

Foreman called former champion Muhammad Ali's Muslim religion watermelon food. "They eat watermelon food, just like any false religion," Foreman said. "You get your belly full of watermelon, you feel real good, you walk around the corner and (relieve yourself) and you're empty again. Well, that's what all this Muslim religion stuff is, watermelon food."

Foreman said he hasn't seen any boxing since he left the ring. "I don't read the papers," Foreman said. "But I pick up more out of the wind. You'd be surprised. When the last guy I fought, Jimmy Young, fought the top contender, I think it was Ken Norton, it was almost a month before I found out."

Texas Electric Service Company

Look for this sign. It can help you save on energy costs in a big way.

Whether you're going to buy a new home or build one, you should know about E-OK. It means that the home has been thoroughly checked and certified as energy efficient by Texas Electric.

An E-OK home has more insulation, sealed windows, weather-stripped doors, and more efficient heating and cooling equipment. Living in an E-OK home means lower energy bills year round. And with the extra insulation, it's quieter, too.

Should you later decide to move, the lower energy bills from an E-OK home could help sell the home faster. Potential home buyers are increasingly concerned about what your bills have been.

Ask your builder about the added features of an E-OK home, or get your free E-OK booklet from Texas Electric. Just call us, or ask for the book on the comment section of your electric bill.

OUR FRIENDS & NEIGHBORS

SERVING YOU FOR A BETTER HOWARD COUNTY

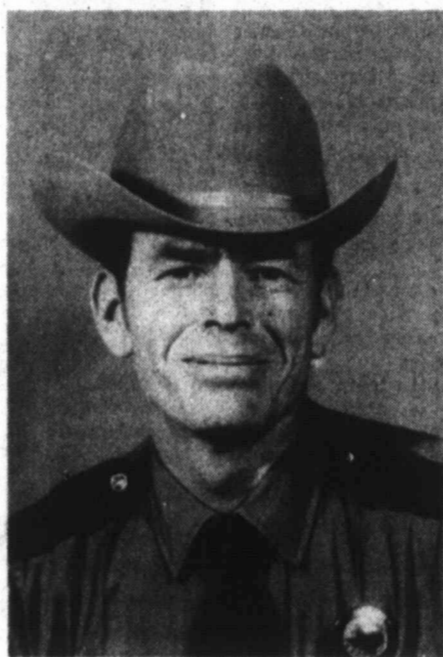

Allen Parish has been with the Big Spring Police Department for over three years.

Born in Baird, he attended Sweetwater schools. He is a Vietnam veteran, having served with the Army 101st Airborne Division.

He has also worked as a crane operator and welder. He entered law enforcement as a career "to help folks and understand their needs."

He, his wife Pat, sons Ronny and Todd, and daughter Kim attend the Church of Christ. His hobbies are hunting, fishing, water-skiing, baseball and football.

Big Spring has recently acquired a new Highway Patrolman. Glen Redmon will be new to the highways of Howard County, but he comes here with seven years of experience under his belt.

Redmon, a West Texas native, has had experience in Odessa and on the Dallas-Ft. Worth Expressway before being transferred to Big Spring.

He, his wife Brenda, and their two daughters Cendy and Wendy are evidently intent on settling here, as Redmon has been at work only since the first of the month but has already purchased a home.

He was born and raised in Monahans, graduated from Monahans High School, and has worked toward his degree in law enforcement with Texas Tech, Odessa College, and will hopefully complete his degree at Howard College.

Redmon started in the Highway Patrol after a neighbor in Odessa let him ride with him a few times. "It looked interesting," he said.

He also has seven and one-half years military experience.

Officer Catherine Hatzel came to the Big Spring Police Department from Whiting, Ind. and a stint in the Air Force.

She was born and attended schools in Whiting before joining the Air Force. She has also attended Howard College here.

"I became interested in taking up law enforcement as a career in order to meet the public and help where help is needed. I wanted to make a future in a needed career," she said.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hatzel, her parents, and her brother Michael reside in Whiting. Officer Hatzel attends the Immaculate Heart Of Mary Church here.

Ridin' fence - She saves seashells

She saves seashells by the seashore. And she brings them to Big Spring. I'm writing about Mrs. Mike (Jo Nell) Kelly, a secretary for the credit manager at Cosden. Jo Nell fills the office with seashells and pictures of the coastal area. "I'm a seashore nut," she laughs. "I like sea breezes, seashells, seafood and seagulls," she laughs.

JO NELL KELLY ...likes seashells brought her a couple of shells from the Florida area and she picked up a couple of shells on the seashore of the Pacific, but hers is primarily a Gulf Coast collection.

Born in Gonzalez, she graduated from high school in Medina and attended Shreiner at Kerrville for two years of college. She met her future husband when they both worked for a detective agency in San Antonio.

"We had a four-wheel vehicle and we would drive down Padre Island to the Fort Mansfield area and look for the shells," Jo Nell stated.

In her collection, she has conch shells, star fish, sand dollars, sea biscuits and seabeans as well as many of the smaller shells.

"Each seashell is a little bit different," she said, "and I think they're all beautiful." Her boss, Tom Ivey,

She laughed and said, "Well there's a lot of sand out here in West Texas but no ocean. And I sometimes long for the ocean."

Jo Nell is one of those people who likes to fish, likes to sail, likes to eat seafood, and even likes to stand and look at the water.

"I never have minded the sand or any of the things that people who live around the ocean sometimes complain about," Jo Nell stated.

So to cut down on nostalgia, she keeps seashells around the office. She also has pictures of the ocean.

"You can pick up a seashell and listen to the ocean roar inside. It's amazing how those shells capture the roar of the ocean," she added.

Seashell collections around the coast are rather common, and some people make jewelry out of some of the smaller shells. But out in West Texas where it's a long way between seashells, seashells are a rarity.

But not to Jo Nell. She saves seashell a long way from the seashore - out where I ride fence.

Range fires scar Wichita Falls area

By the Associated Press Firemen at Wichita Falls were hoping for the best today but expecting the worst.

They were joined by firefighters from four other fire departments Monday in battling a range fire that spread along U.S. 277 and U.S. 287 for eight miles from the northern edge of Wichita Falls.

"The weather bureau says the wind should change northerly with a 40 percent humidity, and a very high danger of fire tomorrow," an observer at Wichita Falls said Monday night.

Range fires also plagued several areas of East Texas Monday.

Four businesses were destroyed in a downtown section of Willsboro, in East Texas, in a fire that began about 8:30 a.m. and raged for two hours.

Two fires broke out within a half hour early Monday at the 50-unit Cove Apartments in the Pleasant Grove section of Dallas. Damage was assessed at $170,000.

Two classes in ceramics will be offered at the YMCA beginning April 3. Mrs. Gloria Arroyo will teach an advanced class on Monday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m., and the beginners class will meet on Tuesday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m. starting April 4.

The classes will meet in the crafts room at the YMCA. Fees are $10 for a Y member, and $15 for a non-member. A supply list is available at the front desk of the YMCA.

The belly dancing class at the YMCA has six openings left. Mrs. Jimmie Hogan from the YMCA in Odessa is the instructor. The class meets from 6 to 7 p.m. on Mondays until April 17. Ms. Hogan suggests loose clothing be worn. Fees are: $15 for a Y member, and $20 for a non-member.

Monday's grass fires in Wichita Falls broke out about noon and were declared under control at 2:30 p.m. Charred railroad ties and rangeland still were smoldering into the night.

A thunderstorm developed Monday over Wichita Falls but spread to the south and east without dropping any moisture over Wichita Falls.

A lot of residential lots were burned, but no damage was reported to residences.

Fire departments from Iowa Park, Burk Burnett, Cameron Gardens and Sheppard Air Force Base helped fight the range fires.

Farm

Protesting is expensive

WASHINGTON (AP) — Estimating the number of farmers who have come to Washington since last fall to demonstrate for higher prices is like trying to count the number of cattle in a stampede.

American Agriculture, the farmers' strike group, says its about 200,000, but no one's keeping an accurate count.

One thing is certain: the cost of protesting is expensive. Hotels where many of the farmers stay have rooms going for $42 a day and up. With meals, it costs about $75 a day to stay in Washington.

And that doesn't include transportation to and from the farmers' home states.

Jerry Wright, an American Agriculture spokesman, said Monday at the group's national office in Springfield, Colo., that the farmers are paying for the Washington trips out of their own pockets, although some neighbors and communities have helped raise money to send delegates here.

At the Agriculture Department, officials said that a recent count of letters sent to Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland included about 4,400 in support of the protesting farmers and 26 who challenged American Agriculture's goals and its methods for gaining 100 percent of parity for farm commodity prices.

Mrs. Kenny Kilichowski, of Ardoch, N.D., said in one of the letters that she and her husband have been farming for eight years and she's disturbed because "we have to pay the same prices as any other consumer, yet we do not get a 'cost-of-living' raise increase" as many non-farm workers do.

"We won't make it with old and outdated equipment, either, if something isn't done," she said.

Mrs. Cecil Brown, Dumas, Texas, chided Bergland for "your inaction and procrastination" which she said is deplorable. "You were appointed to represent the American farmer, not the consumer."

Bergland has mentioned a number of times that federal checks totaling $1.7 billion are being mailed to wheat and other grain farmers for 1977 crops to help make up the difference between reduced market prices and "target" prices.

Larry Dittrich, Meadow Grove, Neb., wrote to Bergland: "Big deal; $1.7 billion will be paid back to farmers. That's not even one damn airplane."

From Hamer, S.C., Gurnie Rowell expressed a feeling of many farmers in the Southeast who were hit by drought losses last year along with falling commodity prices.

"We know unless we get relief we cannot survive much longer," Rowell said.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Barnard from Spring Valley in Bergland's home state of Minnesota offered one of the letters disagreeing with the farmers. They said that government guaranteed parity prices would be "too expensive" and would lead to too many federal controls on farmers, a view the secretary has maintained.

"Farmers should also be taught management of the farm and farm income, rather than be given hand-outs," the Barnards said.

Hunt for Moro, Violent crime rate on upswing

Red Brigades drawing blanks

ROME (AP) — The hunt for political leader Aldo Moro and the Red Brigades terrorists who kidnapped him five days ago concentrated on the Tuscan hills below Florence today, but an anti-terrorist officer admitted: "We still stand at point zero."

Investigators said they still believed the five-time premier was being held in Rome. But about 400 officers combed the Amiata Mountains 50 miles south of Florence after police were tipped that some members of the Red Brigades were hiding in a cave there.

The cave was empty when the police arrived, but on the wall was painted the terrorist gang's name and the five-point star that is its symbol.

The only suspect arrested was freed over the weekend with apologies. The police have also found three cars used by the kidnappers abandoned on different days in the same street, and some newspaper speculated that the cars were abandoned in that way to mock the police.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite a 1 percent increase in acts of violence, the nation's overall rate of serious crime dropped 4 percent last year compared to 1976, according to FBI statistics.

The improvement in the overall rate was the first since an equal dip in 1972, prompting Attorney General Griffin B. Bell to call the annual report "an incentive to both law enforcement officers and the American public."

But neither he nor the FBI said why the overall rate declined and the violent crime rate increased.

Increases were reported in three of the seven types of crimes that comprise the FBI index. Rape was up 10 percent, aggravated assault

5 percent and murder 1 percent.

Robbery was the only violent type of crime to decline, by 4 percent.

Among the three property — or nonviolent — crimes, larceny-theft showed a 7 percent decline, the largest drop of any offense, while burglary was down 2 percent and motor vehicle theft remained at the same level.

The figures reflect only the crimes actually reported to law enforcement agencies.

Cities with more than 25,000 residents recorded a 5 percent decrease in serious crime. Suburban areas showed a 4 percent decline, while rural areas dropped 1 percent.

All geographic regions showed an overall decrease, with the North Central states leading the way with a 7 percent drop. The Northeast was down 6 percent, the South 3 percent and the West 2 percent.

Bible comes in 1,631 languages

NEW YORK (AP) — At least one book of the Bible had been published in 1,631 of the world's languages and distinct dialects by the end of 1977, according to the American Bible Society.

The society's annual Scripture language count indicates that the Bible is now available in 266 languages, the New Testament in 420 and portions of Scripture in 945.

Emergency legislation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is taking a day out of its Panama Canal debate to discuss and vote on emergency legislation to aid grain, cotton and soybean farmers.

Although some provisions would benefit many more farmers, growers of those crops would be the main beneficiaries of the measures on tap today.

Equally important, since President Carter has veto power, the Cabinet's economic policy council also has scheduled a meeting on farm policy today.

It could decide whether to soften the administration's months-old stand against taking any further measures to boost farm prices.

Both branches of government are under pressure because of springtime planting decisions and the scores of protesting farmers who have been here demanding aid since mid-January.

The thrust of two pieces of Senate legislation is to reduce this year's production enough to raise market prices by eating away at surpluses.

Either measure would mean that growers of wheat, feed grains, soybeans and cotton could finish the 1978-79 season with net returns between $7.5 billion and $5.7 billion, instead of losing $411 million, the Agriculture Department says.

If either became law, the public that now faces a 4 to 6 percent overall increase in food prices this year and 6 percent next year could expect to pay another 1 to 3 percent, the USDA and Congressional Budget Office say.

Meat and other goods from animals fed with corn would be the focus of the hikes at supermarkets.

Dawson yields top ranking

LAMESA — Dawson County lost its position as first in the nation in cotton production after last year's harvest.

Lubbock County moved back into first place, a position it had held previously.

Texas is the top cotton-producing state. Lubbock ginned 337,953 bales of cotton last year. Second was Hockley County with 266,012 and Gaines County had 258,736. Dawson County was fourth with 247,940 bales and Lynn County was fifth with 239,994.

Official crop production figures will be released by the Crop Reporting Service sometime in the next few weeks and it is considered the standard by which the rankings have been formulated in past years.

Ex-AF members get invitation

Big Spring Chapter 1001 of the Air Force Sergeants Association invites former Air Force enlisted personnel to attend the chapter's regular monthly meeting at the American Legion Post at 7:30 p.m., Thursday.

The special invitation to ex-Air Force enlisted personnel is being made in support of the 1978 AFSA recruiting drive.

The association offers regular memberships only to enlisted personnel of the Air Force or former enlisted members. Total memberships already exceed 100,000 with a national goal of 150,000 set for June 30.

Chapter President Jerry White encourages all former Air Force enlisted personnel to attend the meeting and learn just what the Air Force Sergeants Association has done and will be doing for its members.

Farm Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Cotton futures No. 2 were mixed in midday dealings today.

The average price for strict low middling 1 1/8 inch spot cotton advanced 7 points to 55.76 cents a pound Monday for the 10 leading markets, according to the New York Cotton Exchange.

Midday afternoon prices were 40 cents a bale lower to $1.25 higher than the previous close. May 28.53, Jul 29.77, and Sep 31.25.

Gospel concert is postponed

Wednesday's concert by the gospel singing group "The Overcomers" has been postponed.
