Big Spring's pluses will lure industry from North

By WALT FINLEY

The huge Douglas Aircraft Co. bomber plant, idle since late in 1945, has been recalled from surplus property disposal listing by the Army and indications are the building will soon be put to use, possibly aircraft manufacturing.

This story was headlined and dominated the front page of the Tulsa World nearly 30 years ago—Feb. 6, 1948—to be precise.

The building was put to use by Douglas. The California-headquartered firm merged with McDonnell Aircraft and skyrocketed to Tulsa's largest employer with jobs hovering around the 7,000 mark.

I WITNESSED and wrote about the growth and prosperity of the McDonnell-Douglas firm for five years while employed as business editor of the Tulsa World.

And now the firm has snatched a $10 million annual payroll "plum" from Big Spring and Lockheed Aircraft by winning a government contract to build F-4C fighter planes.

But modern-day Big Springers are searching for industry the way wildcatters explored for oil shortly after the turn of the century—with single-minded aggressiveness and it is hoped surprising success.

million dollar operation that has been a key factor in the sudden and widespread shift of Americans to the South and Southwest.

As industry moves Southwest, leaving rows of abandoned factories in the Philadelphia and Akron of the North, it is creating quiet prosperity in cities such as Tulsa, Dallas and the most successful of them all, Houston.

Big Spring will share its share of growth. It was a sleepy little West Texas town early in the 1900s when it rode a gusher into the 20th Century.

That earlier growth foreshadowed the role that oil was to play in the era of the automobile, heavy industry, petrochemicals and finally energy crisis. The new growth demonstrates a trend that is changing where Americans live and work.

The seven "slow-growing" states include such industrial citadels as New York, Ohio, Connecticut, Illinois, and Massachusetts.

Energy-related firms are still important to Big Spring, but lately it has become the home of established manufacturing companies that have relocated or expanded.

"WE'RE NOT PIRATES, but we're very aggressive," says one local civil leader. The term "pirates" is commonly used by northerners to describe successful business recruiting by other parts of the country.

Though community details differ, the Sun Belt qualities that attract a firm whose traditional ties are in the North are typified in Big Spring.

—Big Spring is attractive, modern, fiscally sound, fairly well located. In contrast, many cities in the Northern industrial tier are aging and fiscally unstable.

—Geography and geology. "Two things set Texas and Big Spring apart — its location and availability of energy," says an economic development official in Washington. "It is one of the few states that can still guarantee natural gas to new industry."

—WAGES ARE LOWER in Big Spring than in the North and a higher percentage of jobs are non-union. (This claimed advantage remains debatable).

—Big Spring's extensive vocational education program trains high school students for available jobs. In some cases, the companies supply the equipment and the instructor.

Economic development officials agree that it is also critical that a city offer new residents a good lifestyle if it is to thrive.

BIG SPRING, though not quite a cultural mecca, offers surprising diversity, a museum, private clubs, and frequent touring shows — from rock-and-roll concerts to theater.

"It's not very exciting here," admits an engineer who moved to Big Spring from the North, "but it's exciting enough."

The some 28,000 people who live here seem to agree, although some say it is boring.

"Big Spring wakes up new every morning," says Dorra Mayor, a refugee from Brooklyn who works as a waitress.

Big Spring is kept reasonably clean. The architecture is mixed and some call it appealing. The air is invigorating. The people are friendly.

THERE IS POVERTY, but not much, and it does not leave numerous physical marks found in many cities. Unemployment is a growing worry, but still far below the national average.

Climate is terrific — except for some dust storms.

City government is about to get into a bit of a financial bind. Officials are trying to figure out how to finance expensive construction such as streets, drainage, water, sewers and other improvements needed by new families and factories.

But all in all, pluses in Big Spring will attract new industry.

After Lockheed loses in bid

New challenges are eyed

By TOMMY HART

Big Spring civic leaders turned to new prospects today after learning Wednesday afternoon that McDonnell-Douglas Aircraft Company of Tulsa, Okla., rather than Lockheed Aircraft Service Co., had been awarded the contract to modify F-4C planes by the Air Force.

Winston Winkle, a member of the Big Spring Industrial Team, made the announcement to an estimated 25 persons at the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce office at 3:30 p.m., after he and other members of the industrial team had officially been notified of the Air Force decision.

Those attending the meeting also heard a tape made by Charles Thum, president of Lockheed Aircraft Service, in which Thum lauded the spirit of the Big Spring community. Thum expressed disappointment over the news but said the enthusiasm generated within Big Spring for the project was infective and bound to bear results in future negotiations for industry.

The Air Force contract extends for 4½ years and would have meant an estimated $10 million in extra payroll for the area.

Short speeches by Clyde McMahon Jr., and Jack Redding were also given at Wednesday's chamber meeting. McMahon said he began to get discouraging feedbacks from Washington early in the morning, although members of the Texas congressional delegation continued to deny that any final decision on the matter had been made.

Redding, new president of the Industrial Foundation, said that organization is already involved in talks with another major industry which has expressed interest in locating a plant here and which, in time, could offer employment to more people than Lockheed would have.

Dismantling work on the old Hangar No. One at Webb AFB is continuing, Col. Harry Spannaus (ret.), manager of the Big Spring Airport, said. At the present time, the city is being paid $100 a day for salvage by the dismantling crew.

Should the firm mentioned by Redding decide to locate here, a hangar built to the specifications suggested by Lockheed would be needed in its operation.

So the Air Force dropped the other shoe on Big Spring Wednesday. The Air Force closed Webb AFB last year, after operating the facility 25 years as a jet training base. At one time, an estimated 3,000 military and civilian personnel were employed at the facility.

Big Spring has also had to absorb the news in recent months that Odessa rather than this city would be the recipient of the Texas Tech University Medical Center.

If local leaders were stunned by the latest news, they tried not to show it. "Our facilities in the Big Spring Industrial Park are too good not to be used by someone," said Redding.

The withdrawal of Lockheed means that more than 20 buildings at Webb will immediately become available for lease.

"I'm still bullish on Big Spring," Winkle said before yielding the podium to McMahon. His stance is pretty much the same adopted by all those attending the session and by the community in general.

SURVIVES 29 STORY PLUNGE — A man identified as Harold Brown, 22, address unknown, is pictured after police said he plunged 29 stories down a ventilation shaft in the pyramid-shaped Transamerica Building in San Francisco on Wednesday night. He was taken to Mission Emergency Hospital where a nurse described his condition as "very guarded."

Two lads, aged 13 and 14, charged in contract killing

NEW YORK (AP) — Two boys, aged 13 and 14, have been arrested and charged with accepting a $500 "contract" from a numbers collector to kill another reputed numbers dealer because of a territorial dispute.

Police said the victim, Elijah Smith, 36, was slain by a blast from a sawed-off shotgun in the back of the head at about 1 a.m. Wednesday in the first floor hallway of his apartment building in the Bronx. The shotgun was found nearby.

Police said the boys, who knew Smith, had hidden in a vacant first-floor apartment, waiting for him to come home. When he entered the hallway the boys shot him, police said. At about 5 p.m. Wednesday, a detective from the Ninth Homicide Zone arrested the 13-year-old at his home. The 14-year-old was arrested at his home a few hours later. Their identities were withheld by police because of their ages.

Both boys were charged with homicide and held at the Spofford Youth House.

Police said Wednesday night they were seeking the unidentified numbers operator who wanted Smith killed because he believed Smith was cutting into his business. Police said Smith handled about $10,000 a week in numbers.

Police said the man who ordered the killing gave each boy a $50 "deposit," the rest of the $500 to be paid when Smith had been killed.

Judge blocks Billie Sol's testimony

TYLER, Texas (AP) — A district court judge this morning prevented testimony by paroled swindler Billie Sol Estes in the kidnap trial of Mississippi promoter Don Trull, but left the door open to further defense attempts to pull Estes into the case.

Estes, considered the defense's star witness, was on the stand only 10 minutes when State District Judge Glenn Phillips sustained a state objection that Estes' testimony was not relevant to the charge against Trull.

The defense then asked to question Estes outside the presence of the jury at a future time in an attempt to convince Phillips that the testimony should be heard in open court. Phillips agreed.

Shortly before Estes, 52, was released from the stand, he told the court he was present when Tyler millionaire Billy Pyron signed over his power of attorney to him and his associate, Sue Goolsby, at a Dallas office.

Earlier, Pyron, the state's final witness, angrily reacted to defense questions. At one point, Phillips threatened Pyron with contempt because of his responses.

Trull, a 40-year-old acknowledged gambler, is charged with dousing Pyron's Tyler office with gasoline, then threatening to ignite it while holding Bill May, a Pyron employee, hostage during a tense four-hour standoff with police on Aug. 9, 1977.

During the standoff, Trull claimed Pyron and Estes had bilked him out of $1.5 million on a land deal.

Pyron's questions were aimed at discrediting Pyron's testimony. At one point, he produced a document purporting to show Pyron's power of attorney signed over to Sue Goolsby, an Estes business associate.

Pyron said he did not recall signing the document, which bore his name and authorized Ms. Goolsby to use his financial backing for a series of Abilene-based companies in which Pyron had an interest.

Later, when questioned by Smith County District Attorney A.D. Clark III, Pyron flatly denied signing it.

The document is considered important by the defense. Trull claims his actions concerning on Aug. 9 were prompted by a desperate attempt to retrieve his $1.5 million investment in several now-defunct companies listed on it.

Trull blames Estes and Pyron for his involvement in the ventures.

During taped telephone negotiations with Pyron and authorities, Trull repeatedly said, "All I want is my money." He settled for $10,000 in cash, a promissory note from Pyron for half of his alleged missing investment, a silver Cadillac and, finally, a jail cell.

Phillips allowed the power of attorney document admitted into evidence only after Irwin quizzed Pyron about an interview with The Dallas Times Herald.

"Didn't you tell... the Times Herald the only thing you ever signed to Mr. Estes was a $78,000 check to an Abilene bank," Irwin asked.

Pyron agreed.

INDICTED — Shlomo Tal, 31, a free spending diamond cutter, was indicted by a Manhattan grand jury today, following a six-month investigation into the murder of diamond dealer Pinchos Jaroslavic. Also indicted was Pini Balabin, another diamond cutter.

Grand jury winds up probe of Juan Galaviz death

The Howard County grand jury which concluded Wednesday its investigation into the death of Juan Galaviz came back into session today with 25 cases remaining on the docket.

According to Assistant District Attorney Don Richard, indications are that the grand jury will finish its considerations late today rather than reconvening Friday.

Voting on all indictments is the final action of the grand jury, so no action has yet been taken on any case.

Galaviz, whose death became the focalpoint of this grand jury's activity, was shot and killed by Big Spring police sergeant Leroy Spires after a high-speed chase by law officers. The chase was precipitated by Galaviz's alleged assault on Mrs. Delnor Poss after a Howard County basketball game.

The fatal shot was allegedly fired after Galaviz did not respond to commands to surrender himself, but reached for a pocket of his coat. A knife was later found in the youth's possession.

Spires resigned the force several weeks after the incident, citing harassment of him and his family as the reason.

Baum schedules news conferences

Jim Baum has called a news conference at 1 p.m. Friday at the Chamber of Commerce building to talk about the farm issues in the 17th District Congressional race.

Baum, one of eight candidates for the position being vacated by Rep. Omar Burleson, Anson Democrat, will also talk to reporters at 9:30 a.m. Friday in the press room at Abilene Municipal Airport and at 11 a.m. Friday in the Lubbock Airport.

Following the press confab here, Baum will board a plane for Abilene where he plans to continue his door-to-door campaign.

Action/reaction: Lights gone

Q. What happened to the lights on the old viaduct? They were beautiful landmarks, but they just seem to have disappeared. Did the city take them down and sell them, or were they stolen or broken by vandals?

A. According to Johnny Shortes, electrical superintendent for the city, the lamps were taken down by the city and stored in the city warehouse. "Vandals were constantly breaking the globes, and we were having to replace them almost weekly," said Shortes. "The globes were getting hard to find, so we took down the lamps before they could be totally destroyed. They are being stored, and it is my understanding that the city is keeping them for possible use in the future."

Offbeat: Baptist with gun

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Sheriff Raymond Frank has hired a Baptist minister as a deputy to patrol the Lake Travis area, and the minister says there "is no conflict with God in firing" a gun.

"Ecclesiastes says there is a time to kill and there may be a time when I will need to draw," said James Ham, 39. "I don't want to ever have to (shoot) but I may to protect someone else's life or property."

Ham has been the minister at the South Jonestown Baptist Church for eight years.

"The congregation," he said, "felt it was a good opportunity for me to meet people."

Ham will work a 40-hour week and probably have Sundays off.

"If he has a funeral, he can take part of his annual leave," said Frank.

BLACK TIDE CLEAN UP — High school students from the nearby town of Lannon help clean up the oil-drenched beach at St. Michel-En-Grave Wednesday. The resort town on the Brittany coastline is polluted from the "black tide" oil spill from the wrecked supertanker Amoco Cadiz, some 40 miles away.

Postal Service inquiry

WICHITA FALLS, Texas (AP) — Postmaster Eugene J. Broussard has been placed on administrative leave pending an investigation into "alleged irregular procedures," the U.S. Postal Service said Wednesday.

Officials declined to elaborate on the nature of the accusations against Broussard, who has been postmaster at Wichita Falls since August 1973.

"Mr. Broussard was placed on administrative leave Monday pending an investigation by the Postal Service and a complaint of alleged irregular procedures," said Gus Saul, manager of public affairs for the U.S. Postal Service said Wednesday here.

Morris Purcell, assistant inspector in the Fort Worth division of the postal inspection service, said Wednesday the investigation should be completed by the weekend. Local postal officials said the complaint against Broussard apparently was made last week.

Broussard has not been at his office for a week and a half.

Contacted at his home, Broussard said Tuesday night he has been on vacation and denied knowledge of any irregularities.

"These allegations are a union thing," he said.

Demand from kidnapers

ROME (AP) — Officials think a letter the government received from political leader Aldo Moro is a preliminary to a demand from his kidnapers to exchange him for the terrorist leaders of the Red Brigades on trial in Turin.

Police said the letter was received Wednesday and was written by the president of the Christian Democratic Party, a five-time premier who was kidnapped by terrorists March 16.

Among other things, Moro recalled an exchange of political prisoners by the Chilean junta and the Soviet government.

YARBROUGH AFTER SENTENCING — Former Texas Supreme Court Justice Donald Yarbrough, left, accompanied by attorney Waggoner Carr, leave Travis County Courthouse this morning after Yarbrough was sentenced from two to five years for aggravated perjury.

Yarbrough sentenced

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — State District Judge Mace Thurman today sentenced former Supreme Court Justice Don Yarbrough to two to five years in prison on a conviction of aggravated perjury.

Defense lawyer Waggoner Carr immediately gave notice of appeal.

Thurman's action carried out the verdict of the jury that convicted Yarbrough in January of lying to the Travis County grand jury, which later also indicted him on a forgery charge.

Yarbrough, wearing a powder blue suit, declined when Thurman asked if he had anything to say before sentencing and also refused to talk with reporters.

Carr said Yarbrough's case probably won't be taken to the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals before the end of the year. He figured it would cost about $2,000, not counting attorney fees, and listed a pauper's oath as one route the former jurist could take in paying for it.

Yarbrough served only 6 1/2 months on the high court, resigning July 15 in the opening minutes of legislative proceedings to remove him from office.

Since then, he has surrendered his law license rather than face disbarment proceedings. Carr said Yarbrough was unemployed and seeking work.

"Mrs. Yarbrough is still trying to sell real estate," Carr said.

Carr, a former attorney general who successfully weathered a downfall and court battles of his own following the Sharpstown scandal of 1971, said Yarbrough did not get a fair trial.

He cited Thurman's granting the prosecution permission to introduce into evidence tapes made clandestinely by former Yarbrough associate Bill Rothkopf of a conversation the pair had.

The conversation dealt with forgery of an auto title, and depicts Yarbrough swearing, using obscenities, cursing, sniggering, and even discussing the possible killing of a former associate.

The grand jury also indicted Yarbrough on a forgery charge.

"Where he was denied a fair trial was where they put into the record all the conversations and the other activities that took place in the meeting (with Rothkopf) — all of which was calculated to inflame the jury," Carr said.

Farm

Carter unfurls alternate plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration, vowing to veto an emergency farm bill now before Congress, is ordering an alternate plan into effect that it says will boost farm incomes without accelerating the increase in consumer food prices.

Vice President Walter F. Mondale and Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland announced the plan Wednesday.

It does not require congressional approval, and Bergland said instructions on its implementation are now going to Agriculture Department field offices.

The program will not stop consumer food prices from increasing. But Bergland said it should not cause prices to climb more than the 6 percent to 8 percent increase already projected for this year.

He said the package "will not change the food price factor at all," although the program for cotton farmers might add about 10 cents to the cost of a cotton shirt.

The announcement came after months of pressure by militant farmers, who complain that rising production costs and low crop prices are forcing them out of business.

The most vocal protests have come from the American Agriculture group, which declared a farm strike last year and has staged frequent demonstrations to push its demands for increased government action.

In announcing the program, both Mondale and Bergland said the emergency farm bill passed by the Senate last week faces a certain veto if approved in its present form. The bill now is in a conference committee with the House.

"The administration cannot and will not accept legislation which resembles the hastily constructed farm bill recently passed by the Senate," Mondale told a news conference.

"That bill would ruin the structure of our farm programs, subject farmers to excess government regulation and, over the long term, destroy the export markets on which we rely for a major share of our farm income," he said.

Mondale said the bill would add $2 billion to $3 billion to "a budget that is already in deep deficit" and would trigger another spiral of wages and prices like the nation experienced in 1972-73.

An administration analysis said the bill in Congress would "reverse the recovery in the livestock industry and increase retail food prices an additional 2 to 3 percent."

The new plan calls for payments to corn, feed grain and cotton farmers for taking land out of production, coupled with higher support payments — in effect, minimum prices for farmers who choose to participate — for soybean farmers.

Officials estimated that if farmers who grow the crops take full advantage of the revised programs, they can add $3 billion to $4 billion to their gross earnings this year.

Included in the administration package are: —Payments to corn and other feed grain farmers for idling land beyond the 10 percent they already must set aside to qualify for federal supports.

—Payments to cotton farmers for idling 10 percent of their land. There was no previous acreage-idling requirement for cotton.

—Permission for wheat farmers to take advantage of the land-idling payment while letting livestock graze on 40 percent of their land, to a maximum of 50 acres, instead of growing grain on it. Payments will be made on the basis of grain they otherwise would have harvested.

—Soybean loans of $4.50 a bushel, up from $3.50 last year. This is the amount farmers can borrow from the government by using their crop as collateral. If the market price is below the loan price, the crop is taken by the government at the higher loan price.

The bill in Congress that Mondale said faces a veto includes payments for idling additional land, higher supports for grain and cotton and a "flexible parity" feature, which would provide price guarantees for those who idle up to 55 percent of their grain and cotton land.

NEW YORK (AP) — Cotton futures No. 2 were lower in midday dealings today.

The average price for strict low middling 11-16 inch spot cotton declined 4 points to 55.22 cents a pound Wednesday for the 10 leading markets, according to the New York Cotton Exchange.

Midday afternoon prices were $1.75 to $2.00 a bale lower than the previous close, May 27.30, Jul 28.35, and Oct 26.30.

Referendum vote slated on sale

BAIRD — The Baird city council has decided to put the proposed sale of the municipal electric system to West Texas Utilities to a referendum vote.

The election will take place Aug. 12. Tuesday's hearings about the matter attracted a large crowd.

The offer being considered by the council was for $249,209. Opponents of the plan said the equipment alone was worth $600,000.

Oil millionaire testifies

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston oil millionaire Ash Robinson has testified his grandson, Robert Hill, "is a sweet boy in spite of some of the things he's done."

Robinson, 79, testified in probate court Wednesday that Robert, 17, "can have everything his grandmother and I own" when he reaches age 35.

The testimony came during the trial contesting the validity of a 1968 will purported to be that of Robert's natural mother, Joan Robinson Hill. Robert contends the document which left her entire estate to Robinson, her father, is a forgery.

Robinson said by the time Robert is 35 he "will realize more things that he doesn't realize now."

alleging Robinson masterminded the slaying of the plastic surgeon. A state district court jury exonerated the oilman of the wrongful death charges last year.

"Didn't you give the major asset of Joan Robinson Hill's estate to your mistress as opposed to preserving it for your grandson, Robert Ashton Hill?" Davidson asked.

Joan Robinson Hill died in 1969, and Robert's father, Dr. John Hill, a plastic surgeon, was charged with murder by medical neglect. A 1972 trial ended in a mistrial, and Hill was shot to death while awaiting a second trial.

Robert Hill, his paternal grandmother, Myra Hill, and Hill's third wife, Connie, later filed a damage suit.

A community with a spirit that will not die

The bird Phenix of ancient Egypt, according to popular belief, periodically consumed itself by fire, and a new Phenix sprang from the ashes.

It was therefore considered an emblem of immortality and resurrection.

Perhaps, in view of what has happened during the past year and particularly during the last few years, Big Spring should adopt the Phenix as its symbol.

Our community has absorbed enough depressing news during the past 12 months to kill the spirit of many cities. The announcement came through that Webb AFB was to be dismantled. The offer of a medical facility was dangled before local officials by Texas Tech University and then jerked away. Then came the news earlier this week that the Air Force has decided to go with McDonnell-Douglas Aircraft Company rather than Lockheed as the firm to modify its F-4C airplanes.

McDonnell-Douglas maintains such facilities in Tulsa, Okla. Lockheed, an Ontario, Calif., based company, had opted to use Big Spring as the site for its modification plant.

The Air Force, upon making its decision, then announced that it would not be prepared to offer a debriefing on the decision for about two weeks. It is to be assumed that the Air Force will have hoped that the situation will have cooled by that time, that the congressmen interested in hearing the rationale of the military will have, by circumstance, turned to other and more pertinent matters.

Whatever the reason for the Air Force's decision to pick Tulsa over Big Spring, the plain truth is that the military works in mysterious ways and is not always candid in its opinions.

One can hear just about anything and everything about the Air Force decision. There was even a story making the rounds that Tulsa, one of the world's most prosperous communities, was chosen over Big Spring because it has more unemployment. (It also has over 16 times as many people).

There is no doubt but that Big Spring has taken a body blow with the announcement. Local leaders like to project Big Spring as a community with a spirit that will not die, however. They've already turned to other options. They are even now concentrating on the future, secure in the knowledge that this decision is behind us and no amount of wailing and teeth-gnashing will change it.

In Big Spring's case, the difficult we do right now, the impossible takes a little while. And the image of the new Phenix is already taking shape.

Santa never comes

James Werrell

Around the rim

Well, Big Spring gets it up the hind-quarters one more time!

The city is like the little kid with the best equipped stables in town, who waits every Christmas for the pony that never comes. And this is the third Christmas in a row.

First Webb Air Force Base is closed after blatantly political considerations obfuscate all logic and reason. All is smokescreened in a ton of paper and military lingo and the crooked smiles of Pentagon power-mongers.

AFTER GETTING knocked down, the city eases itself up, a little stiffly at first, and dusts off its clothes. "How can we turn this liability into an asset?" the city asks itself.

We find out that Texas Tech University wants a facility for its new medical training center. What could be more ideal than a $2 million hospital, six sister hospitals, sophisticated equipment, an ideal outpatient care system, a city with open, welcoming arms.

"Kick 'em in the groin and rub their faces in it," is again the reply of the special interests that do their best to suck the life from cities like ours.

And now the Lockheed news: Those working for Big Spring do everything within reason to open their arms to new industry, and again there is the shot to the groin.

The key word is "reason." Industrial prospectors can climb only part way up the side of the mountain before they begin to enter the rarified atmosphere of high politics where reason and logic are abandoned.

IT HAS HAPPENED three times and we have begun to learn. Sure we have the best facilities around, but in the netherworld where the special interest groups and politicians reign supreme, this is meaningless.

What's a bigger lie than "Urban Encroachment" in Big Spring, last bloody ditch in Big Spring or getting a fair shake in Big Spring (at least for the forces that be in Washington)? Not much, unless it's that the moon is made of green cheese.

It is discouraging, but it makes the city tougher. We will hear a lot of "It's not so bad," and "Let's get out and hustle," speeches in the next few weeks, and most of them will probably fall on deaf ears.

People know that it's grim determination, people continuing to do their jobs and a refusal to quit opening our arms in welcome that will someday result in the triumph of our city.

Whither energy bill

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — Congress has just passed a law moving up the date of mandatory retirement from 65 to 70. Excluded from mandatory retirement is Congress itself, and representatives and senators can serve as long as they can get elected.

A friend of mine, who worked on the retirement bill, explained why the congressional waiver was inserted into the law.

"It was mostly done," he said, "to accommodate the members of the Joint Congressional Compromise Committee on Energy who are trying to work out a mutually agreeable solution on the energy bill."

"I don't follow you."

"WELL, WE don't expect the House and Senate to reach a compromise for years. Many of the conferees are in their 40s and 50s now, and it would be a pity to make them quit working on the compromise when they reach 70."

"You figure it's going to take that long for Congress to produce an energy bill?"

"It might be shorter or it might be longer. You can't pass something this complicated in one Administration. Right now we have 17 senators and 25 House members meeting every day to work out the gas deregulation problems. We're hoping they'll reach an agreement by 1990."

"But it's President Carter's energy bill. He might not be President by the time it's sent to the White House."

"I'm sure who ever is President will invite him back to witness the signing of the bill," my friend told me.

"Is 1990 the cutoff date on a gas deregulation compromise?"

"THERE IS NO cutoff date on an agreement about gas deregulation. We're just hoping that if men of goodwill work from now until then, they will come up with a solution which will satisfy everybody. If they don't, the Compromise Committee may still be in session when we enter the 21st century."

"Many of the conferees will be quite old by then," I said.

"That's true, but it would be unfair to force them into retirement when they've lived with the bill so long. You don't want to bring new faces to the committee who are not familiar with the issues."

"What happens if a senator or congressman on the Compromise Committee decides not to run?"

"Then he will have to be replaced. But most of the committee members enjoy the give and take on gas deregulation so much that it's doubtful they would give up a chance to play such an important role in the energy future of the century."

"As they grow older won't the debate on gas deregulation take its toll physically on the members?"

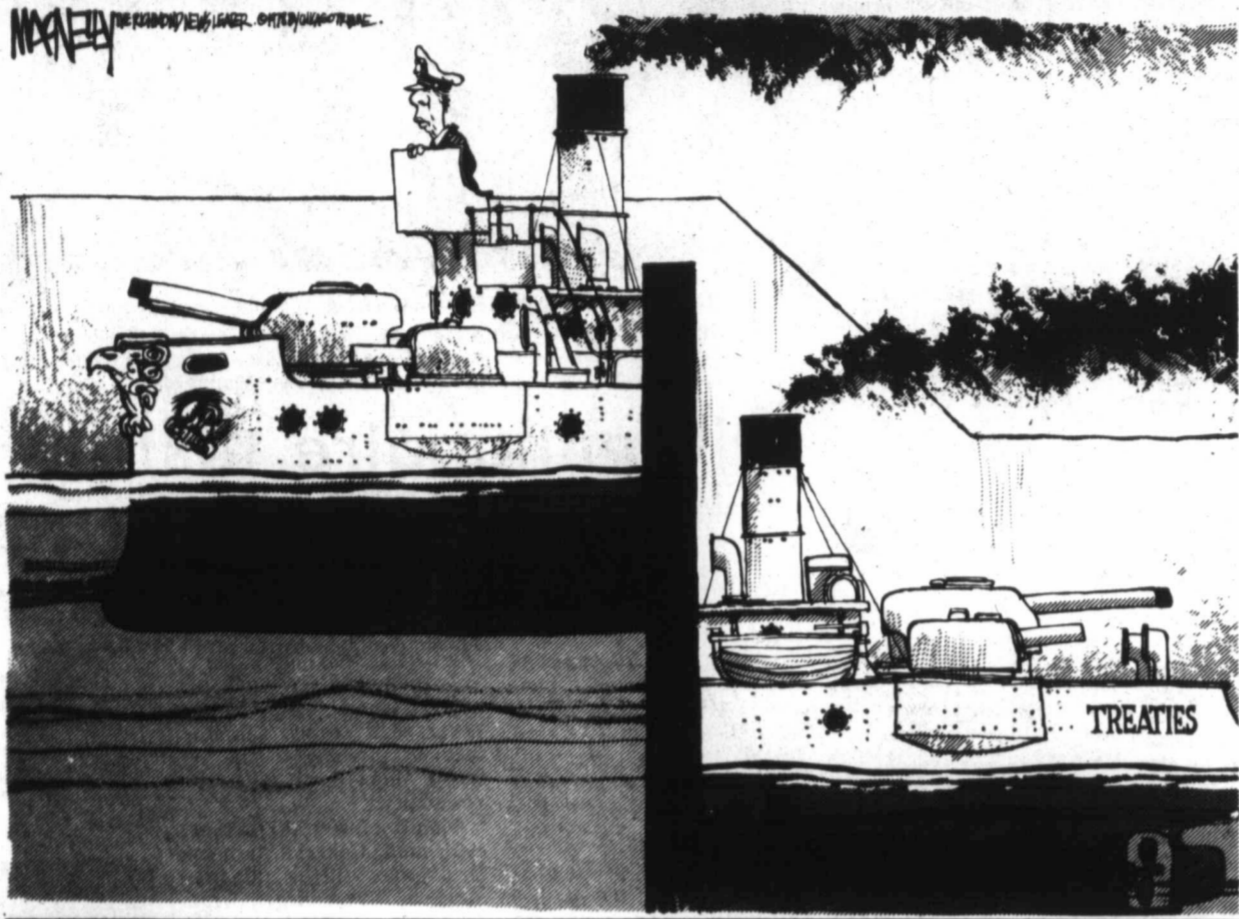

"OH, THERE may be a few who would become hard of hearing. But we don't worry about this because they've heard the arguments on both sides so many times that it won't matter if they don't hear them again. By their late 80s, even if they doze off they won't be missing much."

"Let's be optimistic for a moment," I said, "and suppose they reach a compromise by 1985. What will these people do then?"

He laughed. "I doubt if there is any chance of that. Even if they reach a compromise on gas deregulation by 1985, the energy bill will then have to go to the House-Senate Compromise Committee on Oil Taxation. Many of the same people will move over to that committee."

"I forgot about the Compromise Committee on Oil Taxation," I admitted.

"Most people have, and that's why they expect an energy bill overnight."

Unexplained pain can mean disease

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please explain what perthes or leg perthes disease is. What causes it and what is the cure? My 7-year-old grandson has it, and I know it has something to do with the hip. I am so anxious for your answer.

—R.T.
It's spelled Legg-Perthes, and it is a disorder of the long bone of the thigh. For reasons that are not clear there is a disturbance in blood circulation in the area which causes a deformity of the bone at its upper end. It most common in youngsters between 4 and 10 years, and in boys more than girls.

The onset may be as early as two years, and the chief sign is a limp with or without pain. The limp may disappear for periods and return. The earlier the treatment, the better. The prospect seems to be better for boys.

Untreated, there is a deformity of the hip. Taking the weight off it and use of a cast, usually a walking cast, help allow the bone to repair itself. In some cases, surgery may shorten the period of immobility. It is difficult for both parents and youngsters because children are usually full of vim and vitality at these ages. X-rays help distinguish L-P disease from tuberculosis of the bone, with which it can be confused. L-P youngsters tend to be generally quite healthy.

You may find references to this condition under "osteochondritis of the hip," should you want further reading. The outlook is uncertain, depending on the degree of involvement of the epiphysis (the growing end) of the bone.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I get along great on my weight-loss diet as far as the meals are concerned. What ruins me are the between-meals snacks. Any suggestions on how to beat that?

—J.D.
Well, if you have to snack, make it the least expensive (calorie-wise) you can. On page 33 of the booklet on reducing you ask for, you'll find a list of 15 or so low-calorie snack foods you can try. For a copy, send 50 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me care of the Big Spring Herald. Problem with snacks is illustrated by the famous cracker nibbler. A cracker alone contains only from 10 to 20 calories, not enough to ruin any diet. But who stops at one or two? The half dozen eaten by the snacker adds up to more than 100 calories. There goes the diet. I think you'll find some other helpful ideas on successful dieting. The booklet's called "Lost Secrets of Reducing."

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I think you will be afraid to print this letter because you'd be afraid of losing your job. You really have no knowledge of the good that vitamins and minerals can do. You are always knocking them... I dare you to print this. —Anonymous.

I have shortened your letter considerably. I wonder why some folks get so evangelistic about such things as vitamins, which need little defense. We all agree they are vital, and in fact, the very name implies that.

Well, the point is that I am not afraid of printing your letter or of losing my job, as you say. The fact is that I love vitamins. I don't appreciate some of the wild claims made by folks whose chief interest is selling them, though. That's the difference. I am even attempting to put together a new booklet extolling the virtues of the humble vitamin (A, B, C, D, E, or what have you). It's not available yet.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Mailbag

Dear Editor:

As an interested party in the candidates for the Big Spring City Council, I would like to express my appreciation to the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce for providing the candidates for the City Council and the Big Spring School Board the opportunity to express their viewpoints and submit themselves to questions by those in attendance, at the political forum on March 28th at Howard College.

It should be pointed out, however, that neither of the incumbents seeking re-election to the City Council, Harold Hall nor Ralph McLaughlin, saw fit to attend such public forum, and thereby submit their views and themselves to questions by the audience.

This is especially puzzling to me in light of the fact that both incumbents appear to be "running on their record", and should be, or claim to be much better informed upon the various issues because of their many years in office. It would have been of interest, at the best, and a matter of simple courtesy, at the least, if they had made their appearance.

In any event, when elected officials no longer feel inclined to give the people they serve the opportunity to meet them and get their viewpoints on matters of public interest, it is indeed a sad day for such officials and

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I live in a fairly small town, and for years it seemed like a nice, decent place to live. But now even children can go into the supermarkets and buy all kinds of filth and pornography. What can be done? —L.S.

DEAR L. S.: My mail contains scores of letters like yours; this has become a critical problem in recent years. I deplore pornography, and I believe the increased availability of such filth will have a disastrous effect on our nation if it continues.

The torrent of pornography and near-pornography has been caused by many factors. There has been a general slackening in morality in recent years, resulting in a moral relativism and permissiveness that has become rampant. I disagree with citizens alike.

Jack Watkins

Dear Editor:

I would like to comment on the March 22 editorial "We Should All Have It So Good." The article states that Congress, civil servants, and military personnel want no part of Social Security.

For your information, starting with 1957, basic pay received while on active duty (or active duty for training) in the military service counts toward social security protection. This is not a "freebie" — military personnel must pay for this social security protection based on their annual salary.

The article also states the amount of retirement pay received by a lieutenant colonel with 20 years of service. I feel this is misleading because the average military retiree is not a lt. colonel and the average pay for all military retirees is nowhere near the dollar amount reflected in your editorial. If, as you suggest, the military retirement is "so good" then I can't understand why our recruiters are having to work so hard to man our all volunteer force. Certainly the retirement system is a major incentive for remaining in the service.

some of the court decisions that seem to protect the rights of a few while opening the floodgates to moral corruption and filth. But I believe another problem has been widespread — an inexcusable apathy on the part of many, who say, "I don't care" or "I can't do anything anyway."

I think it is time for decent people to protest to local, county and state authorities. You should even write the stores that sell the pornography, and let them know of your disapproval. When you see a film or TV program that is off-color, write to the station. I know it may seem that such things are fruitless, but if enough people protest, I believe something can and will be done about pornography. Above all, let us be examples to others, especially our young people, by living pure lives.

Scandal goes on

Jack Anderson,

WASHINGTON — A four-year-old scandal, involving an estimated $63 million worth of bootleg aviation fuel, has been gathering dust in the Energy Department. Meanwhile, the official who blew the whistle faces dismissal, and the associate who was implicated in the scandal has been promoted.

We got wind of the scandal a year ago. We reported on Feb. 1, 1977, that foreign airlines had siphoned off U.S. Fuel during the Arab oil embargo. Federal energy officials allegedly had accepted gifts from the foreign carriers in exchange for the illicit fuel.

Korean Air Lines, for example, had tripled its allocation from 12,866,844 gallons to 41,362,658 gallons. The Dutch airline, KLM, had received eight million gallons more than should have been allocated. Japan Airlines, Lufthansa and Swissair had obtained about 15,630,000 gallons of excess fuel for "flight training."

BECAUSE THE United States had frozen fuel prices lower than the world level, the foreign airlines had tankered the cheaper U.S. fuel for use on their other flights. This had worked a hardship on U.S. airlines, which were expected to keep up their flight schedules with less fuel.

The hero of the story is Ralph Rohweder, who worked in the aviation fuels office. He discovered what was happening and dutifully reported it to his superiors. As his reward, he is now losing his job. Energy Department officials solemnly swear his whistle blowing had nothing to do with his firing.

The culprit in the drama is William Zale, who ran the foreign carrier desk. Federal investigators traced the over-allocations directly to him. Yet he not only is still allocating aviation fuel but has been promoted.

Now we have learned that the investigators recommended Zale be fired. We've obtained a confidential dismissal letter, spelling out the evidence against him. The letter, dated Dec. 19, 1975, apparently was never sent. At least Zale told us he never received it.

The letter charged that Zale was "unsuitable for continued federal employment" and served notice of a "proposal to remove you from your official position."

The letter condemned Zale in hot language, declaring: "You have over-allocated fuel adjustment for foreign air carriers because of failure to work up in-depth analyses and keep pace with refinements in regulations."

On one occasion, Zale was offered "free air fare and a tour" of the Samoan islands by an airline which mysteriously received a 785,000-gallon fuel allotment. Yet "neither (the) request, workpapers nor checklist can be found in the file," the letter reported.

Zale also flew down to the Virgin Islands for more sun, sand and sea. Not long afterward, he allegedly "adjusted the annual base period volume of aviation gasoline allocated for the Skyways Flight Center, St. Croix, Virgin Islands

...without any documentation to indicate an analysis was performed of the requested adjustment."

The letter also accused Zale of lying about his background. He swore that he had left a previous job with a ski resort voluntarily. But investigators found "four former corporate officials" who were ready to testify that "you were fired."

HE WAS DISMISSED, the letter alleged, because he "required subordinates...to make checks payable personally to you rather than the company name when ordering ski outfits." These checks allegedly were "deposited in a bank account in your name."

Investigators also discovered, contrary to Zale's sworn statements, that he had a police record. He was arrested "on November 2, 1963, and again on May 11, 1964, for alleged offenses of destroying private property and trespassing."

His neighbors called the police and accused him of harassment — "throwing things in their yard, parking autos on their property, tossing pebbles on their roofs and awnings, directing the beam of a flashlight into their bedroom at night, squirting water into their automobile."

He also allegedly pulled out 21 fence posts the neighbors had installed in wet cement. When one of the neighbors was condescending from a heart attack, Zale allegedly "mimicked him by grasping your chest and falling to the ground as though having a heart attack."

The dismissal of Zale was called off, according to a confidential memorandum, because the "incidents occurred in and previous to 1974" and the question was raised "of timeliness in relation to proposing an adverse action."

"For this reason and because we question whether charges based on these incidents would be sustained on appeal, we feel it pointless for the agency to propose an adverse action."

Instead, Rohweder is about to be fired and Zale has been promoted.

Footnote: Zale told us he was "shocked and dumbfounded" by the dismissal letter. "I fell out of my chair when I saw the letter," he said. "I take pride in my work." All the allegations, he added, were "totally untrue." His superior, George Hall, said he also had not seen the letter. He had been told that the evidence against Zale was "insufficient," he said. He described Zale as "innocent."

PENTAGON PIPELINE: Defense Secretary Harold Brown has reported to President Carter that the key congressional committees are "less hostile than expected" toward the military budget. Brown has been working with the Pacific Command to withdraw U.S. troops from Korea. Brown told the president that the resignation of German Defense Minister George Leber was a "severe loss." Carter got a similar report from his national security adviser, Zbigniew Brzezinski.

PEN PRESENTED — Clarence Brown, truck and farm tire salesman for Firestone, received a 15-year pen for his service to the firm. The pen was presented at the local store, located at 507 E. 3rd, by Danny Kirkpatrick, local manager, and D.K. Hall, Dallas District Sales Manager. Brown lives with his wife, Patsy, at 801 Ohio. They have six children.

Muse resigns as Southwest Airlines exec

DALLAS (AP) — The president and chief executive officer of Dallas-based Southwest Airlines has resigned at a special meeting of the board of directors.

M. Lamar Muse cited personal reasons, and the board accepted his resignation Tuesday.

"He didn't discuss any of it with me," said Southwest spokeswoman Camille Keith. "His things are still here, but he's not in the office."

Muse joined Southwest in 1971 after working as an investment consultant. Southwest started out flying only among Dallas, Houston and San Antonio.

The company fought heated battles with other airlines to remain at close-in airports in Dallas and Houston and was allowed to maintain service at Houston's Hobby Airport and Dallas' Love Field.

It has since expanded its service to several other Texas cities.

Muse told The Associated Press in an interview six months ago that Southwest was exploring the possibility of spinning off another corporation to serve routes in the Midwest, probably flying out of the Chicago area.

Lawyer Herbert Kelleher of San Antonio was elected chairman, president and chief executive officer until a successor to Muse can be found. Kelleher has served as director and secretary of the company, and was one of its founders.

VFW to meet here Tuesday

The Veterans of Foreign Wars local post will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the post home on Driver Road.

A program called "Old Glory Talking" will be presented. Following this, new officers will be elected for the coming year.

LEGAL NOTICE

General Telephone Company of the Southwest has filed tariffs with the Public Utility Commission of Texas to implement the Federal Communications Commission's telephone equipment registration program (FCC Docket 19528). The tariffs have an effective date of April 15, 1978. The proposed changes will reduce rates for extension telephones and 25 foot long cords; will restructure one-time charges for service connection, moves and changes, increasing some and reducing others; and will offer reduced monthly rates for one-party business and residence customers who provide their own primary telephone instrument. The proposed changes in rates, with some increasing and others decreasing, will reduce General's gross revenues from its Texas operations by $2,565,000.

Tower fall victim named

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The observation deck of the San Antonio's famed Tower of the Americas was closed to visitors today as city officials studied the possibility of increased security in the wake of a spectacular suicide leap by a former mental patient.

Police said 29-year-old Harold E. Davis Jr. of San Antonio leaped over the observation deck's security barrier and plunged 560 feet to his death shortly before noon Wednesday.

Davis had been released Tuesday from the San Antonio state mental hospital, records showed. His death was ruled a suicide by the Bexar County medical examiner's office.

Davis' plunge was the third suicide from the tower since it was completed as the symbol of the 1968 HemisFair. Other men jumped to their deaths in 1970 and 1974.

The observation deck and a revolving restaurant are part of a saucer-shaped structure perched atop the cylindrical tower. The tower is a landmark of San Antonio's skyline.

A tower security guard, Saul Palacios, said about 20 people were on the observation deck when Davis jumped.

"I called to him, but he was too fast. He jumped over the bars like he was an acrobat," said Palacios.

The two bars are part of a 10-foot-tall concrete and spiked steel barrier which encircles the observation deck.

Davis landed in a puddle of water in the partially-filled reflecting pool at the tower's base. Police said Davis left no suicide note and there was nothing in his belongings to indicate why he jumped.

Dr. Robert Inglis, chief administrator of the San Antonio State Hospital, said Davis was admitted March 2 on a court order for protective custody.

Davis was released from the hospital Tuesday afternoon for follow-up care at the Bexar County Mental Health-Mental Retardation Center, according to hospital records.

Inglis said records showed Davis had been admitted to the state mental hospital three times previously for psychiatric evaluation.

Colorado City man charged in robbery

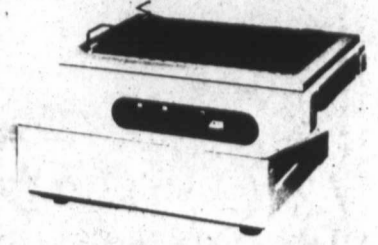

SWEETWATER — John Edward Miles, 21, of Colorado City was one of two men arrested in Fort Worth Tuesday in connection with the March 18 robbery of a food store in Sweetwater.

Miles and Ira Jones, 22, of Sweetwater were returned to the Nolan County jail Wednesday afternoon after they were apprehended in a Fort Worth residence by police. The two were charged with aggravated robbery and held in jail in lieu of $50,000 bond each.

In the robbery, store clerk Dewayne Funk was shot in the chest when two men came into the store shortly before noon and took an undetermined amount of money.

Clubhouse

Forum explores school trends

Mrs. Cass Hill presided at the March 24 meeting of the Modern Women's Forum at the home of Mrs. C.R. Moad. She announced that the Western District Convention of Texas Federation of Women's Clubs will be held April 7 and 8 in Midland with headquarters at the Midland Hilton. Several members of the local organization are planning to attend.

Cookies were brought to be taken to the state hospital. The guest speaker, Frankie Boyd, asked members to support her as a candidate for County Judge on May 6.

Mrs. Frank Yardell spoke on "More Blacks in Colleges" as a segment of the program "Dreams of a Better Education For All."

She told members that the federal drive toward racial balance in education is now being extended to include state colleges and universities in addition to elementary and high schools.

This latest integration order was issued by the U.S. Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare on July 5, 1977 under directions from a U.S. District Court in Washington D.C.

According to Mrs. Yardell, many fear that the effect of this order will be the weakening and perhaps destruction of the traditionally black schools that educate most of the southern blacks who go to college. Many blacks want to preserve the black colleges, believing they serve a special need.

Mrs. Hill spoke on "Why Protestant Schools Are Booming". When Horace Mann founded the nation's public school system, she told members, he saw religion as an integral part of the curriculum which turned out to be a generalized Protestant style of religion.

That inspired the growing Catholic populace to start parochial schools in self-defense. So powerful did public schools become, she said, that in 1925 the U.S. Supreme Court had to guarantee the right to form private schools by striking down an Oregon law that required students to attend public school.

A generation later, the same court outlawed mandatory non-sectarian prayer and Bible reading in tax-supported schools. To many parents, this was translated as "taking God out of the schools" and there is little doubt that the ruling helped to produce an anxiety about the climate in public schools that is currently boosting the popularity of Protestant schools.

Many parents have become concerned about declining academic standards, textbook controversies and lack of discipline in public schools, and have chosen Protestant schools as an alternative.

The program was followed by refreshments and a social hour. The forum will meet again April 14 with Dorothy Hull serving as hostess.

Officers elected

Members of the Mu Zeta met March 27 at the home of Cheryl Harris for an election of officers and business meeting.

New officers include: Maria Falkner, president; Cheryl Harris, vice president; Sandra Haney, secretary; Debbie Wegman, treasurer, and Kathy Caudill, City Council representative.

Mu Zeta will be responsible for programs for the Founder's Day Banquet April 27 during which Mrs. Falkner will read a "Message from Bill Ross", founder of Beta Sigma Phi. "Birth of Big Spring" was the program delivered by Ms. Haney. Her telling of interesting facts of the settling of Big Spring was followed by a program on Dora Roberts rendered by Linda Fraser. Ms. Fraser outlined the life of this unique woman who gave so much to Big Spring.

Cub scouts have derby

A Pinewood Derby highlighted the March meeting of Cub Scout Pack No. 100.

Derby winners were Guy Modgling, first place; Guy Mitchell, second; Bradley Hodnett, third; Thad Thomas, fourth, and Tony Jackman, fifth.

The meeting ended with the candlelighting ceremony.

Tornado tips presented

Mrs. Howard Awtry's home served as a meeting place for the March 21, 2 p.m. meeting of the Fairview Home Demonstration Club. Presiding was Mrs. C.A. Smauley, president.

A program entitled "Tornadoes, What To Do" was presented by Ethel Simmons.

It was announced that the Spring Home Demonstration Convention will meet April 6 in Fort Stockton. Refreshments were served to the six members present and one guest, Anne Walker.

The next meeting will be April 4 at the home of Mrs. B. Bigony.

Crooker speaks to After Five

The After Five Garden Club met in the home of Eva Greenwood Tuesday. Pauline Porch served as co-hostess.

Bill Crooker and Mr. G's Garden Center provided an informative program on lawns and lawn care. He told about different types of grass — Bermuda, St. Augustine, Texas Turf, and Kentucky 31. The latter is a new type of grass that stays green year-round.

St. Augustine, said Crooker, is a grass that does well under shade trees and Texas Turf is a drought-resistant variety that does better and looks nicer than Bermuda. Crooker explained that a lawn needs a complete fertilizer and stressed that a lawn needs one pound of nitrogen per 1000 square feet of lawn.

A high alkaline soil causes chlorosis, or yellow spots. To correct it, sulfur or copper content should be added to the soil through fertilizer.

The principal lawn diseases are caused by grub worms and Burmuda mites. Crooker explained that a lawn should not be cut too low and that it needs thorough irrigation.

Mrs. Greenwood, club president, presided at the business meeting. The club plans to furnish cookies for the Big Spring State Hospital later this month.

New officers for the coming year will be Rudelle Rogers, president; Fannie Clark, vice president; Libby Dirks, recording secretary;

Roberta; Roberta Shive, treasurer; and Adele Smith, corresponding secretary.

The April meeting will be in the home of Marie Hughes, who lives on the Gail Road.

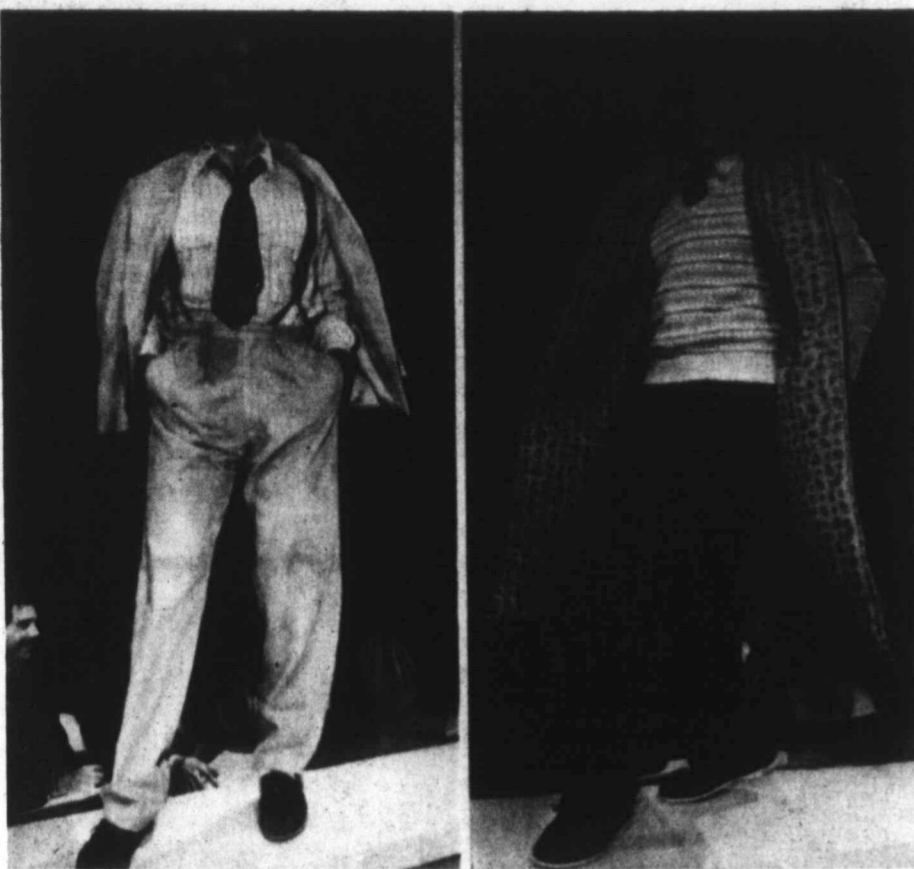

Convention plans made

The Downtown Lions Auxiliary served a covered dish luncheon recently in the home of Mrs. D.C. Riley. Billie Harris, a member of the Evening Lions Auxiliary, and Ella Morrison were guests.

Plans were made for the District Lions Convention to be held the last weekend in April. Mrs. Dan Conley, chairman of the decorations committee, set a work day for preparation of floral arrangements.

Mrs. Harris noted that Calls Mae Perkins, also of the Evening Lions Auxiliary, had arranged for a style show by Swartz Ladies Wear and a book review by Mrs. Clyde Angel.

Dear Abby

Let Your Guests Decide the Gift

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I will celebrate our golden wedding anniversary in five months—if one of us doesn't kill the other, that is. I'm only kidding, Abby, but right now we are having a big battle about something we hope you'll settle for us.

Everyone knows that after 50 years of marriage, very few couples "need" anything. In fact, most people our age have moved out of their large homes and into smaller quarters and are glad to get rid of most of their "things."

We are planning a party for our friends and family, and I want to put "No gifts, please" on the invitations. My wife says it is improper to mention "gifts" in an invitation. Our children think we should put "money tree" on the invitations. I am totally against that idea as it is like asking for money. What do you say?

ARIZONA READER

DEAR READER: I vote with your wife. If friends or relatives want to get together and give one gift—money—it's up to them. But I certainly wouldn't engineer it.

DEAR ABBY: I'm 22 and have a 7-year-old daughter who was born out of wedlock. (I'll call her "Terry.") Terry and I have always lived with my parents, and I work. In the last five years I have dated four very fine men. All wanted to marry me, but no matter who I brought home, Terry didn't like him.

When I ask her if she wouldn't like to have a "Daddy," she says she already has one. (She has always called my father "Daddy," although she knows that he is really her grandfather.)

I want to get married, but I don't want to marry anyone Terry doesn't like. What should I do?

TERRY'S MUMMY

DEAR MUMMY: Don't be a dummy. When you meet the man you want to marry, introduce him to Terry as your future husband—and leave the word "Daddy" out of it. Terry has known only one "Daddy" (your father), so she can't be blamed for rejecting any man she thinks will replace him.

Concentrate more on getting a husband for yourself and less on providing Terry with a new "Daddy," or she'll get married before you do.

DEAR ABBY: I am buying a house from a friend of mine for $95,000. He asked me if I would do him a favor and state the price of the house as $75,000 in the agreement of the sale, and give him the balance in cash.

He said he didn't want his wife to know how much he was actually getting for the house because she's the kind who spends a thousand if she thinks they have a hundred.

Would there be anything wrong with my doing this for him as a favor?

NEEDS TO KNOW

DEAR NEEDS: Yes. Plenty. Don't falsify the price of the house on the agreement unless you want to be a party to a fraud. Tell your friend he'll have to work out the problem of an extravagant wife some other way.

DEAR ABBY: Our Social Issues class is having a discussion on today's problems and I have been appointed to ask you what you think is the greatest danger in the world today.

NANCY C., ALBANY, N.Y.

DEAR NANCY: Indifference! The bystander who doesn't want to get involved helps the criminal.

Anniversary celebrated

The Social Order of the Beauceant met at 7:30 p.m., March 27 at the Masonic Hall to celebrate the 18th anniversary of the Big Spring Assembly No. 211. The Assembly was constituted March 19, 1960.

An anniversary dinner, honoring members and Sir Knights in the banquet hall preceded the business meeting. Those attending were entertained by the telling of various earlier happenings by assembly members.

Mrs. Steve Baker, mistress of ceremonies, introduced charter members and past presidents. Speeches were delivered by Mrs. M.A. Parsons, president, and Dave Faulkenberry, commander of Big Spring Assembly No. 31.

In the regular business session, Mrs. Mark A. Stuphen and Mrs. Eugene L. Smith were initiated into the order.

Mrs. Parsons announced that members would meet at 10 a.m., April 5, at the Masonic Hall to consider changes in the Book of Instruction. All members are urged to attend as the changes will then be sent to the Supreme Assembly for consideration.

The next regular meeting will be April 10.

Begin capable of negotiating peace pact, Carter says

BRASILIA, Brazil (AP) — President Carter declared today that he is confident the government of Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin "is completely capable" of negotiating a peace settlement in the Middle East.

At a news conference in the capital of Brazil, Carter flatly denied that any responsible official of his administration had insinuated that Begin should be replaced in favor of a more flexible Israeli leader.

"I think that Prime Minister Begin and his government are able to negotiate in an adequately flexible way to reach an agreement with Egypt and later Jordan and other countries," Carter said. "We have not given up on the possibility of a negotiated settlement in the Middle East."

But Carter acknowledged that he has no clear solution yet on steps to surmount the impasse over the Israeli government's refusal to commit itself to withdraw from the occupied West Bank of the Jordan River.

Carter flatly denied that his administration would like to see Begin replaced. "I can say unequivocally that no one in any position of responsibility in the United States administration has ever insinuated that Prime Minister Begin is not qualified to be prime minister or that he should be replaced," Carter said.

He said the Middle East issues are sharply drawn and that key differences are clear, chief among them the Begin government's unwillingness to concede that Israel is committed to withdrawal from occupied Arab territory.

In a news conference broadcast and televised in the United States, Carter said that shared concerns and friendship far transcend differences between the United States and Brazil over human rights and nuclear power development. Carter said that violation of human rights is an international problem, and one on which all countries, including the United States, must look to their own practices.

"Great progress has been made in your country," Carter said of the human rights issue, which has led Brazil to break U.S. military ties.

The president's Brazilian agenda included meetings with two Roman Catholic leaders who have been critical of the military government there. Carter said he wants to meet not only with government leaders abroad, but with people from other walks of life. He said he reserves the right to confer with whomever he chooses.

"In a society as diverse as yours, it is important for me to meet with as many leaders as possible," he said. "I'm not here to tell you how to form your government," Carter told a Brazilian newsmen who asked his view about Brazil's system of selecting its national leaders.

Discussing differences with Brazil over nuclear power and proliferation, Carter said the United States intends to persist in its effort to discourage the spread of materials that can be converted into weapons.

But he conceded the United States has no authority over a 1975 agreement in which West Germany is to supply Brazil with power installations. The administration has objected to that deal on grounds the electric power production facilities could be converted to weapons production.

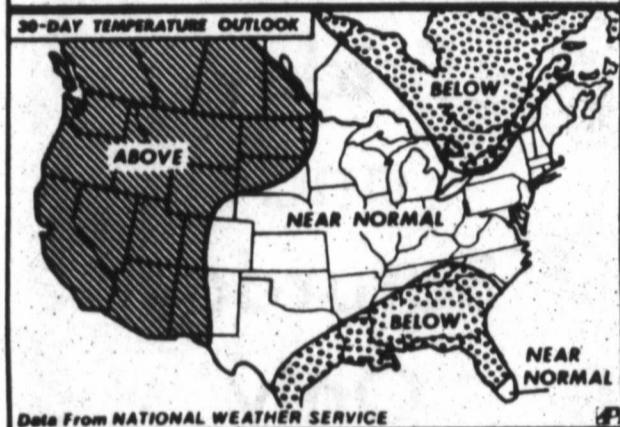

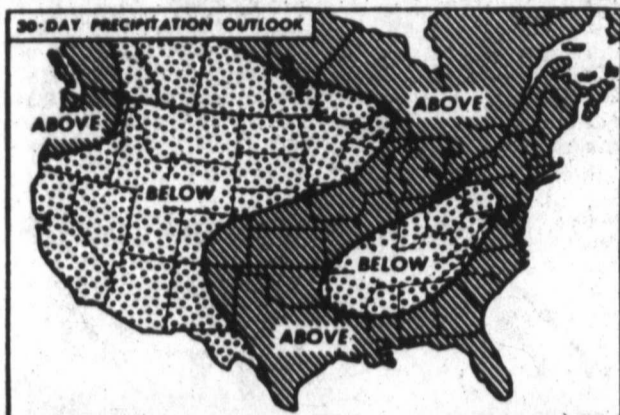

Carter also sharply criticized steel price increases posted Wednesday by major U.S. producers. He said the $10.50 a ton increase by U.S. Steel Corp. and Wheeling Pittsburgh Steel Corp. were excessive.

The president said the hike "fits in very poorly" with the administration's effort to curb inflation. He said the increases would be a serious blow to the anti-inflation program, and added that they are far greater than would be warranted by the increased costs produced by the coal strike settlement.

At a timed-for-television news conference in Brazil's capital city, the president said "there has not ever been any inclination on my part or the part of my administration to underestimate the importance of Brazil as a major world power."

Responding to a Brazilian correspondent, Carter said he knows well the importance of Brazil as a partner and friend of the United States.

McCulloch: top bidder shouldn't win seat

WEATHERFORD — "The position of Congressman should not be on sale to the highest bidder," Crews McCulloch, Weatherford candidate for Congress in the 17th District, declared Tuesday as he formally opened his campaign headquarters in Weatherford.

The Army veteran, now in business after starting out as a farmer said, "When I first told my friends I was considering becoming a candidate for the Democratic nomination I was told it would take $250,000 to get the job."

"I don't think that is what the people in this district want. I don't think they want a man to campaign for a year. I don't think they want a man to spend $200,000 to $250,000 for a job that's going to pay him $115,000 for the term that he's there."

What the people in this district want is good, honest representation. They want a man who is sent to Congress by the people and when he gets there he will be of the people and not the representative of the special interests that provide the money in an attempt to buy the job for him.

"I can guarantee that many times in my life, I have risen up and charged against overwhelming odds and I have the scars to prove it. And so I am doing it again and I can assure you, the people in the 17th Congressional District, that if I'm elected that when I go to Washington I'll be your representative. I'll be sent there by you and when I get there I'll be for you."

The candidate pointed out he is a Texan by choice, not by birth because he and his family chose to live in the 17th District because "I like the people and I like the land."

ABC dominates 'ratings war'

NEW YORK (AP) — ABC continued its domination in the ratings war with CBS and NBC during the week ending March 26, claiming seven of the nine most-watched shows — including three reruns, A.C. Nielsen Co. figures show.

For ABC, it was the 26th time in first place in 29 weeks this season, and the 10th week in a row in the top spot.

The network's rating for the week was 20.2, followed by CBS at 18 and NBC at 16.2. The networks say that means in an average prime time minute during the week, 20.2 percent of the homes in the country with television were watching ABC.

A rerun of ABC's "Three's Company" was the week's most watched show, followed by a new installment of "Laverne and Shirley" and reruns of "M-A-S-H" on CBS and "Charlie's Angels" on ABC.

Nielsen says the rating of 30 for "Three's Company"

McCulloch family is at home in Texas because his great uncles General Henry McCulloch and General Ben McCulloch were pioneers in Texas and that McCulloch County was named after Ben. He also mentioned that Mrs. McCulloch's family were settlers in Erath and Eastland counties as far back as 1876.

Discussing agriculture McCulloch said, "I know the problems of farming from first-hand experience. I grew up on a farm and later I owned and operated 6,500 acres in cotton, grain and cattle. As a realtor I have had daily dealings with farmers and ranchers in West Texas and I can see and understand their problems."

"Agriculture is important to a greater part of the 17th Congressional District. I support 100 per cent parity in the market place. When I say parity I'm talking about a return of production cost — plus a reasonable profit. I feel that agriculture should have a return on investment that will be equal to industry or any commercial business. I think the reason we haven't had it is because we have been out-bargained in our foreign trade agreements."

In discussing the energy situation the candidate said: "It does not make sense to me that we pipe our gas to New York City and then have to sell it for less than we pay for it here. It does not make sense to me that we pay producers in foreign countries more for oil than we pay our domestic producers. I support de-regulation as that is the only way to go."

"By selling more agricultural products abroad and by de-regulation of gas and oil on a phased basis we could do much to solve inflation. By cutting down on oil imports and boosting farm exports we can cut down on inflation."

meant that of all the homes in the country with television, 30 percent watched at least part of the show.

NBC's top show of the week was a repeat installment of "Little House on the Prairie," No. 6 in the ratings. And a rerun on CBS of the highly acclaimed Judy Garland film, "The Wizard of Oz," was No. 13.

The "Happy Days Fourth Anniversary Show" suffered in the ratings, apparently from a shift from its normal time slot. The show, generally near the top in the ratings on Tuesday evenings, was aired Thursday night during the latest week checked. It finished No. 19.

CBS and NBC divided the shows at the lower level of the ratings. CBS' "Shields and Yarnell Show" and "The Return of Captain Nemo" were No. 61 and 62, "Chuck Barris Rah Rah" on NBC was 63rd, a rerun of "Kojak" on CBS No. 64 and an NBC Movie, "All You Need is Cash," No. 65.

By DANNY REAGAN
Ordinarily, cooks featured on this page do not interview themselves.

But being the only one who knows of what I speak most of the time, I thought I better handle the task myself.

And not only that, I wanted to make it very clear that I am making no pretentious claims of being a full-time, qualified, know-how-many-ounces-in-a-cup cook. I just enjoy messing up the kitchen from time to time.

Right up front, I'll tell you, these are quick recipes. Many of you ladies may have also heard of the "Reago Lime Pie" in various forms throughout the years. (I can't believe I'm talking to ladies today and not sports fans.)

The speedy cooking that I'm famous for in a 1/2 block region of southern Big Spring stems from my experience at college. Working for McDonald's in Lubbock, I would get off work at 1 o'clock, scarf down a couple of hamburgers and try to get to class by 1:25.

I could down two Big Macs in 67 seconds, in addition to a small order of fries and a large coke. As a matter of reference, my only other "professional" cooking experience was head cook at a restaurant in East Lubbock. That lasted for five days, and ended precisely at the moment my dishwasher got shot outside the back door.

The point is, eating quickly has become a habit. And since I eat so quickly, I hate to spend any length of time at all on preparing the stuff that will only sit on my plate for a brief flash in the continuum of time and space.

I've offered four eats today that make up a pretty good meal. I like to call it "A Keenly Alive and Easily-Prepared, Quick-to-Make Meal for Young Married Couples... or Just a Couple of Good Friends" (Meaningful Relationships not Mandatory).

QUICK SNACK — Sports Editor Danny Reagan demonstrates here, in the break room of the Herald, a quickly-prepared mid-afternoon snack for the working man or woman with little time on his or her hands. "Take a bag of sunflower seeds, open them, pour 'em in a plate and eat 'em up," says Reagan. Today, in a more serious vein, Reagan offers "A Keenly Alive and Easily-Prepared Quick-to-Make Meal for Young Married Couples... or Just a Couple of Good Friends."

Those of you who have been cooking for years need not read the following. And I don't blame you for being a snob about it either. It's rookie cooking at best. It's good though.

BBQ SAUCE de bon AUGURE, a la PAPILLON (Auspicious BBQ sauce with butterfly chops)

2 large butterfly pork chops
1-3rd cup favorite commercial BBQ sauce
1-3rd cup beer or wine
1/2 jigger liquid smoke
4 tablespoons brown sugar
1/2-dozen shakes each of dry BBQ seasoning, lemon-pepper seasoning, garlic salt, Cavender's all-purpose Greek seasoning.

1 pinch minced garlic
2 pinches minced onion
juice of 1/2 lemon
Salt to taste

Mix all ingredients in a 6x6x2 square pan. Sauce tastes best when is allowed to marinate for about three hours around a couple of inch-thick butterfly pork chops. Also good for poultry and beef. When cooking the butterfly chops on an open grill, turn frequently while liberally spreading BBQ Sauce de bon Augure on chops. After a half dozen or so turnings, two or three minutes apart, chops are ready.

SUPER BOWL OF MUSHROOMS

1/2 lb. fresh mushrooms
1 jigger white wine
8-oz. butter or margarine
Juice of 1/2 lemon
6 shakes lemon-pepper seasoning
6 shakes Cavender's all-purpose Greek seasoning
2 pinches minced garlic
Melt butter at low heat in medium size pan then add all ingredients, mushrooms last. Cook at medium heat for 15-20 minutes.

REAGO LIME PIE

1 can Eagle Brand Milk
2 eggs
3 limes
1 lemon
Graham cracker pie crust
1 jigger rum
Beat the hell out of the can of milk and the whites of the two eggs. 15 minutes if you can stand it. While that's going on, squeeze the limes heat. Blend with 1/2 cup cheese and cooked spaghetti in 3-quart casserole; top with remaining cheese. Bake in a 350 degree F. oven 30 minutes or until bubbling.

CHICKEN A LA KING

1/4 cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons butter
1 can condensed cream of chicken or mushroom soup
1-3rd to 1/2 cup milk
1 1/2 cups cubed cooked chicken, ham or turkey
2 tablespoons diced pimiento
Dash of pepper
Cook onion and green pepper until tender. Blend in soup and milk; add chicken, pimiento, and pepper. Heat slowly, stirring often. Serve over toast.

TUNA LOAF

2 cans (6 1/2 or 7 oz. each) tuna, drained and flaked
1 cup soft bread crumbs
1 egg
1/2 cup skim milk
1 medium onion, chopped
1/4 cup minced parsley
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon each pepper and thyme
1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce
Mix all ingredients except sauce. Bake in 8x4x2-inch loaf pan, slightly greased, 350 degree F. oven for 30 minutes or until firm. Cool in pan for 10 minutes, then turn out on platter and slice. Heat sauce. Serve with loaf.

MEAT LOAF

1 1/2 lb. ground beef
3/4 cup uncooked oatmeal
1 egg, beaten
1 cup tomato juice
1/4 cup chopped onion
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
Combine all ingredients thoroughly and pack firmly into loaf pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degree F.) for 1 hour and 10 minutes. Let stand a few minutes before slicing.

SPAGHETTI CASSEROLE

1 lb. ground beef
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/4 cup chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons butter
1 can condensed cream of mushroom soup
1 can condensed tomato soup
1 soup can water
1 clover garlic, minced
1 cup sharp processed cheese, shredded
1/2 lb. spaghetti, cooked and drained
Cook beef, onion, and green pepper in butter until meat is lightly browned and vegetables are tender; stir to separate meat particles. Add soups, water, and garlic; and lemons into a small bowl and add rum and egg yolks. Mix up by hand until it doesn't look so bad. After milk and whites have fluffed up a bit, quickly add yolk mixture and beat for maybe 10 more seconds until mixed. (You might add a drop or two of green cake coloring to have the thing look as incredibly good as it tastes.) Dump into graham-covered pie pan and freeze for at least three hours.

A working wife is not stressful to marriage

COLLEGE STATION — A wife's employment has little effect on the marriage relationship after spouses go through a short adjustment period, according to a study by Dr. Alan Booth of the University of Nebraska.

Booth's study was done following previous research that reported greater stress for husbands of employed women than for husbands whose spouses were housewives, Debby Johnson, a family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, says.

PUCKER SPINACH
Enough fresh spinach for two people
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 pinches minced garlic
4 shakes lemon-pepper seasoning
2 jiggers red wine
Juice 1/2 lemon
Garlic salt to taste

Boil spinach to own personal consistency. Drain and add mixture of ingredients to Popeye's fave. Eat 'em up!

The previous research indicated that husbands of women who worked outside the home face more stress, were in poorer physical health, and were less satisfied with their marriage than husbands of housewives, Miss Johnson explains.

However, Booth's more recent findings show that the problem which stem from a wife's employment tend to decrease within one year, Miss Johnson adds.

Booth reports that couples generally go through a period of adjustment immediately after the wife enters the labor force.

TWEEN 12 AND 20 Get high on love; leave 'coke' alone

Doctor Wallace, I have been dating this guy who is into drugs quite heavily. Until I met him I had only smoked a little pot and taken a few "downers." But since I have been seeing him, I have dropped acid and would like to experiment with cocaine.

The only thing holding me back is that I have heard that "coke" is addicting. And I don't want to become an addict.

When I talked to my boyfriend, he said that he has been on "coke" for over two years and that while he enjoys it, it's not addicting. Please help!

Fran, Lodi, Calif.

Dear Fran, Only you can help — all I can do is hope that soon you will get "high" on love, peace and happiness, not drugs.

But to answer your question, cocaine is definitely an addicting drug!

Doctor Wallace, I really need your help. My mother and I don't see eye to eye regarding my best girlfriend. My mother thinks she is a bad influence on me. Whenever I ask to go to her house I have to beg. When my girlfriend comes to my house, my mother is very rude to her and this makes me sad. When I'm with my friend, we have a great time.

How can I get mother straightened out?
Karen, St. Petersburg, Fla.

Dear Karen, Mothers have a way of being very protective concerning their daughters so you may never get mother to completely "straighten out."

There must be a reason mother thinks the way she does. Find out why. Then ask mother if you can invite your girlfriend over to discuss the problem and possibly end it.

If that isn't agreeable to your mother, talk to your friend's mom, explain to her the problem and have your friend's mom call and talk to your mother.

But remember, before you start the ball rolling, make sure your girlfriend isn't being a bad influence on you.

Doctor Wallace, I am in the process of buying my first car. I'm definitely going to buy a compact for two reasons — saving money on gas and saving on energy by using less gas.

Now here is the problem. I want the convenience of an automatic transmission, but my dad says that if I buy a stick shift instead, I will save over 25 per cent in gasoline consumption. For that kind of savings I may forgo the convenience.

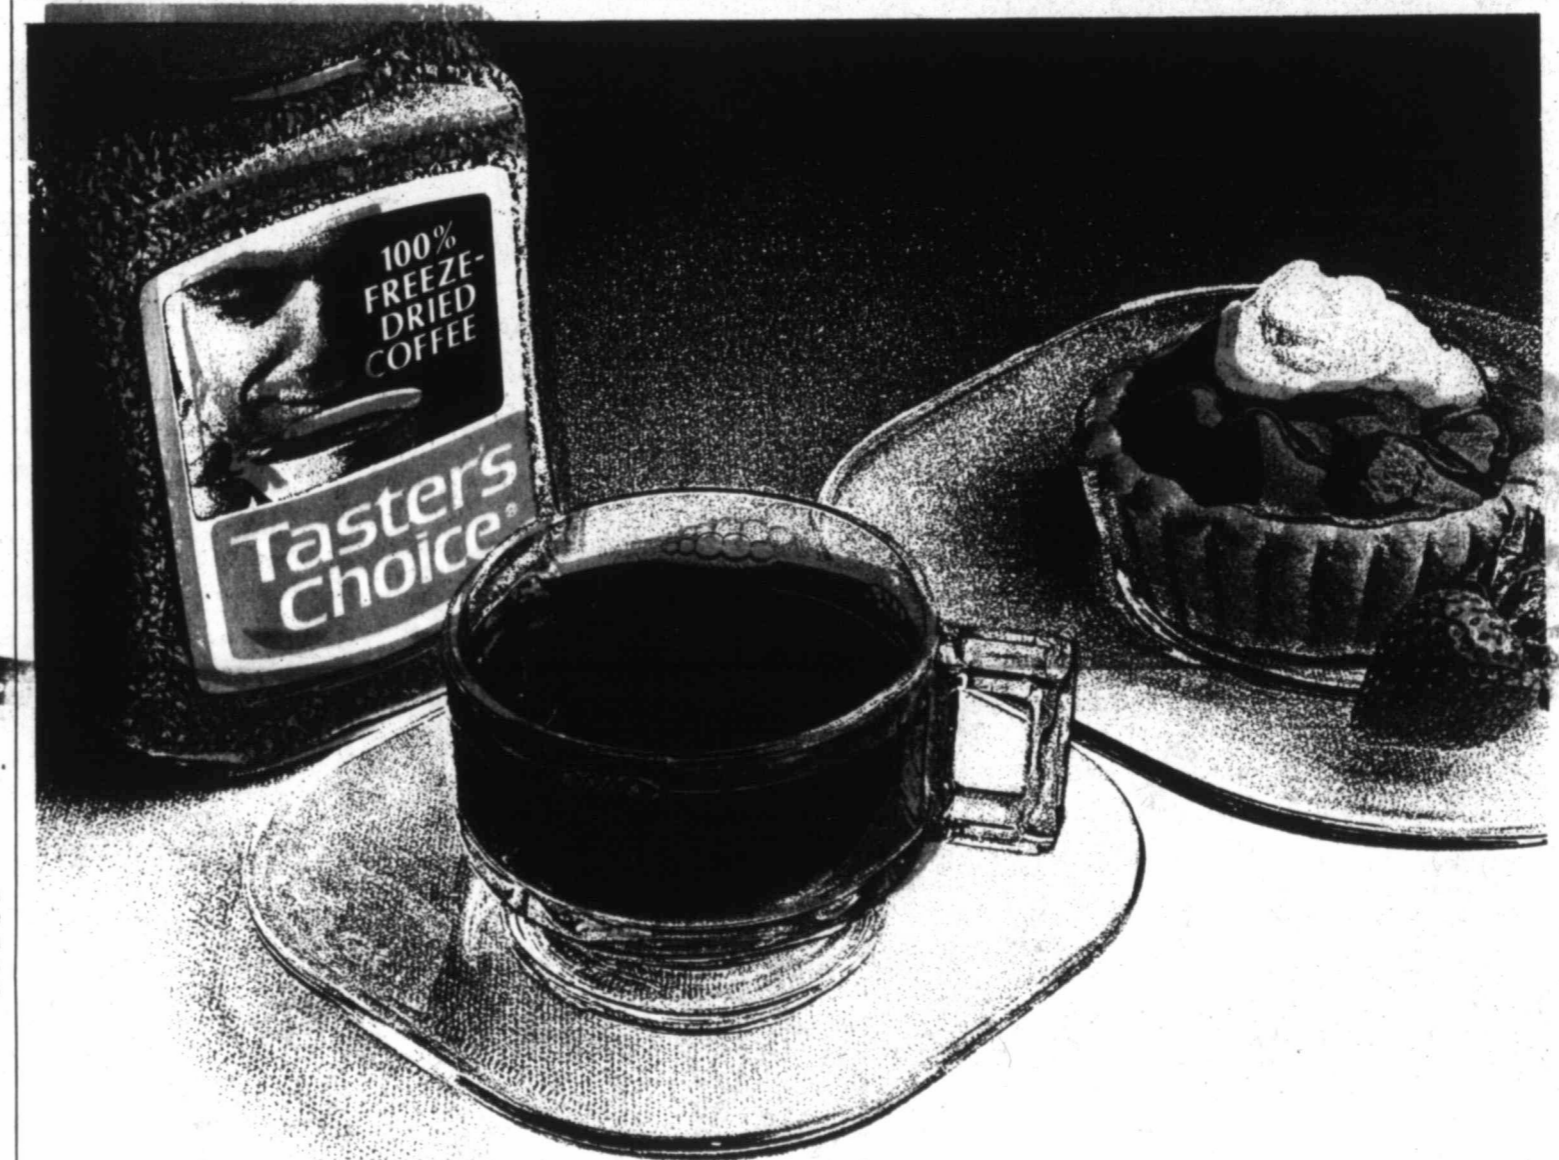

Is a 25 per cent savings a reality?

Bonnie, Wenatchee, Wash.

Dear Bonnie, It depends on whether you are talking about city or highway driving. Since the gasoline savings comes because a stick shift doesn't use as much fuel when a car is idling, there is almost no savings when highway driving. In city driving, you can expect about 8 per cent fuel savings if you have a stick shift transmission.

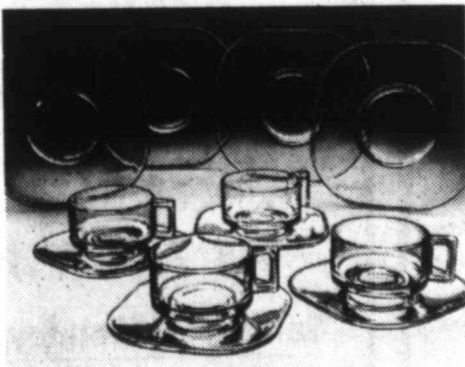

It looks like you are going to have your convenience after all.

Colombia chief cocaine supplier

WASHINGTON (AP) — Colombia is now the chief supplier of marijuana and cocaine to the United States, in part because of police and court corruption, government auditors say.

The illegal traffic flowing into this country rakes in $6 billion a year on American streets, the General Accounting Office said in a report released Wednesday.

Corruption in Colombia, the report charged, "is present at various levels and places in the government, including the judiciary and the police." The study did not detail alleged corruption in any other South American nation.

It said a drug control program financed chiefly by the United States for the last five years in most of South America "has had a minimal effect on the flow of narcotics."

According to the report, U.S. officials believe "the real key to program success is a stronger commitment by South American governments to control the drug flow."

"However, such a possibility is limited by corruption within many South American countries, particularly Colombia, and a lack of host government resources that can be allocated to drug enforcement."

The report said nearly all the cocaine smuggled into the United States is grown as a coca plant in Peru and Bolivia, and then processed into cocaine in Colombia.

The report also said the federal Drug Enforcement Administration "now estimates that Colombia has surpassed Mexico as the principal supplier of (marijuana) to the United States."

The study said the DEA estimates U.S. retail sales of marijuana and cocaine grown or processed in Colombia total $6 billion annually, and that illegal drug trafficking returns $1 billion to the Colombian economy annually.

According to other earlier estimates, Colombia's cocaine exports equal the country's coffee earnings.

DR. G. T. HALL
...a Big Spring pioneer

Belleuve Hospital in New York.

Dr. Hall and his partner, Dr. M. H. Bennett built the first building constructed for the purpose of being a hospital when they built Big Spring Hospital Corporation in 1921 at 9th and Goliad.

There was a major addition in 1948. It is now called the Hall-Bennett Hospital.

The only earlier hospital was the Wright Sanitarium at 401 E. 2nd "built sometime between 1911 and 1920." At one time there was also a pest house for contagious diseases located at 8th and Goliad.

Today is national Doctor's Day and the local medical auxiliary who join the Southern Association in sponsoring the event requested a doctor story on some old-time doctor here:

The first known doctor in Big Spring was a Dr. John Anglin who had an upper lip scarred from an Indian arrow. Other early doctors included Dr. D. W. McIntyre, Dr. J. C. Utter (who doctored the Earl of Aylesford); Dr. J. W. Barnett (who helped a legislative committee select the granite for the state capitol), a Dr. J. C. Hurt (who doctored for the T&P from Baird to Toyah); Dr. W. C. (Will) Barnett and Dr. George True.

And then there was Dr. G. T. Hall who immediately followed Dr. T. M. Collins, who was one of Big Spring's longest practicing surgeons and physicians.

Dr. Hall came home from the Medical School of the University of Texas in 1908 and began practicing. "Granville" Hall doctored here 57 years, dying of a heart attack in January 1965.

Born Nov. 22, 1882 in Cleburne, he and his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Hall moved to Big Spring when he was a child. He did his internship at John Sealy Hospital in Galveston and postgraduate work at Free in Dallas in 1931. She and their daughter, Miss Marie Hall, still reside in Big Spring.

The idea of having a doctor's day to honor those early doctors originally came from a physician's wife, Mrs. Charles Almond of Winders, Georgia. The National Medical Auxiliary has adopted the red carnation as its symbol and a poem called the physician's prayer.

Two verses of that poem are especially applicable to Big Spring's early doctors: "Give to mine eyes the power to see. The hidden source of Ill, Give to my hand the healing touch, The throb of pain to still.

"Grant that mine ears be swift to hear, The cry of those in pain; Give to my tongue the words that bring comfort and strength again."

To all doctors, and to the early doctors like Dr. Hall, there must be days that it doesn't seem like it, but the gratitude of your patients is there.

To those who spent years learning so they could help, we're glad you're here in Big Spring — out where I ride fence.

That was back in the days when drug store shelves were filled with glass-stoppered bottles and jars marked with gold-bordered labels written in Latin, as the prescriptions themselves were written.

Dr. Hall also loved the soil. He loved to farm and acquired extensive farm, ranching and oil interests. He also loved to hunt.

He was ahead of his time in some fields of surgery, knowledge of drugs, and knowledge of soil conservation, knowledge of early irrigation and knowledge of so many other things.

And among his early patients, you can hear Dr. Hall stories all day long. Dr. Hall married Miss Florence

He was practicing in the days before fancy equipment and wonder drugs and carried his stethoscope, an instrument for taking blood pressure, a thermometer and a stock of splints.

Battle history

Ex-Steer Dick Battle became a part of Lubbock Christian College history Tuesday as he pitched a four-hit 6-2 victory over the Kearney State nine from Nebraska.

The sophomore from Big Spring was understandably nervous before the game, as the Chaps were going after a school-record 21 victories in a row. Battle came through like a trooper though in that nightcap game.

He had a no-hitter going into the fifth frame, and went the distance, striking out three and walking none. The absence of base on balls was the first time this season that an LCC hillmaster has accomplished that feat.

Battle now sports a 3-2 record and his team has a brilliant 24-9 season slate.

HICKERY DOCKERY SPRING TRAINING
More than 50 scholarship athletes are gathering in Jones Stadium today in Lubbock for the opening of Red Raider spring football.

First-year head coach Rex Dockery has announced that the Techs will hold workouts Tuesday through Saturday each week through April 26. Spring training will culminate with the annual Red-White game April 27 at 7:30 p.m.

The Red Raiders are losing more than 20 seniors from last season's squad, and Dockery's task of rebuilding is not going to be an easy one.

First of all, the entire offensive backfield is one big double-T question mark. Three of the top four running backs are gone, not to mention the quarterback.

Juniors Mark Johnson and Tres Adams have their feet in the QB door so far, but a couple of freshmen will also be eyed quite a bit before this fall.

Overall, eight starters are gone from the offense, including running back Billy Taylor, quarterback Rodney Allison and split end Sammy Williams, three of the best offensive names in Texas Tech history.

Brian Nelson at flanker, tackle Ken Walter and guard Larry Martin return to the offensive unit.

Six gridgers were lost from the defensive club, including All-Southwest Conference Mike Mock, Richard Arledge and Eric Felton. The returning starters on defense include Andy Thomas, tackle Curtis Reed, Don Kelly Willie Stephens and Larry Flowers.

Linebackers and secondary men will be the main concern for the Red Riders in 1978.

Here's hoping they get it all together by then, because they open the season Sept. 9 in Los Angeles against USC.

INDISCRIMINATELY SPEAKING
—The Braves, whose 40-man roster averages 25.78 years of age per man, say they have the youngest National League squad in baseball. Appropriately, Bobby Cox, the Braves' new manager, who is 36, is the youngest manager in the N.L.

—At long last, White Sox Coach Minnie Minoso has decided to become a United States citizen. "I'll get my papers when we are back in Chicago," said the 55-year-old native of Cuba.

—The Royals announced early this year that they would become the 13th American League club to wear uniforms bearing the players' names. That left the Angels as the only abstainers and California club officials now have indicated they will fall into line.

REMARKABILITIES

"After three or four turndowns on submitted names for a race horse of mine, I sent in the following sequence: 'No Name-I Will-Try-Again-One More Time-That's All-I Give Up.' Would you believe I got the last name, 'I Give Up.'"

—HOWARD CROW, Chico, Calif. (Editor's note: He lost the horse in a claiming at Hollywood Park after winning its first race. He gave up and quit racing after that.)

"You think he can say anything I want to hear? His ideas and ideals are all white middle class. He can't tell the nothing I want to hear. He's a middle-class honky."

—AN ATLANTA UNIVERSITY BLACK STUDENT, on Arthur Ashe, after hearing the tennis star announce in a speech that blacks lack discipline to get to work on time and they expect "easy work and high pay" without having to really prove themselves. (Editor's note: Ashe is black, and is being touted for a New York political office, perhaps congressman.)

Biff boffs Rangers

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Biff Pocoroba didn't think he'd be there, and the Texas Rangers wished he hadn't been.

"I didn't think I'd be back. I figured I'd be traded, I really did," the catcher said after his second hit, a seventh-inning double, pushed Atlanta into a 2-2 tie with the Rangers in an exhibition game Wednesday.

Jerry Royster's single and a sacrifice fly by Rowland Office in the eighth won it for Atlanta, 4-2.

Pocoroba is hitting .419 this spring.

"Biff has the best swing in camp," said Braves Manager Bobby Cox. "It's a picture swing. He can hit flat."

The picture was almost on somebody else's wall when Pocoroba and the Braves got into a money dispute in the offseason and the Californian demanded to be traded.

"I gave 'em a list of three clubs, all on the West Coast. I figured if I was gonna be traded, I might as well try to get back home," Pocoroba said.

The Braves said they couldn't swing a fair trade and, after some more squabbling, they and Pocoroba settled their differences.

Feminine 'mystaque' clearer now

HOUSTON (AP) — Linda Williams said so many members of the news media looking on made her nervous.

Williams, 18, the first girl in the history of the University Interscholastic League to play on a boys baseball team, had a rough time in her first game Wednesday night.

She struck out, grounded out and walked in three plate appearances for the Wheatley Wildcats and was charged with an error that allowed four first inning runs to score for Houston Sterling. Sterling went on to defeat the Wildcats, 7-0, in the District 20-4A contest.

The error occurred when Miss Williams, playing right field, misjudged a line drive which went to the right field fence and allowed the four Sterling runs to score.

"I just missed it," she said. "I guess I wasn't concentrating. I guess I let them (her teammates) down. But I wasn't the only one to commit an error."

She later gloved a routine fly ball and handled a grounder without any trouble.

Williams and her coach, Lu-Gene Jones, agreed that the large amount of newsmen on hand made her nervous.

"She was under incredible pressure," Jones said. "She was so nervous that she couldn't even swing the bat. The whole team was nervous. I hope this is all behind us now. Hopefully, we'll be able to get back to the business of playing baseball again."

At least 22 representatives of the news media were on hand for the game which was witnessed by about 300.

"With all them (media) here, it was harder playing baseball," Williams said.

Williams worked out with the boys team until March when the UIL ruled that she was ineligible to play on the boys team because she was a girl. The UIL provides boys and girls programs but there is no girls softball or baseball team at Wheatley.

U.S. District Judge Woodrow Seals Monday issued an injunction which forced the UIL and Houston Independent School District to reinstate Miss Williams to the team.

Ruben Mercado, who started the first 12 games in right field before Williams arrived, said he feels he can beat her out.

"I feel they put her out there because you people (the media) were here," he said. "I know I'm better than she is."

All East should be three-horse race again

By The Associated Press
The New York Yankees, Boston Red Sox and Baltimore Orioles waged an exciting down-to-the-wire race in the American League East last year and all three managers are optimistic heading into 1978.

Billy Martin, Yankees: "I feel good about the 1978 Yankees and once again I see us taking it all."

Don Zimmer, Red Sox: "Last year at this time I said we would be in the pennant race right to the finish, and that's what happened. I feel the same way again this year."

Earl Weaver, Orioles: "We think we will be solid contenders again this year. Even though we did not sign any big names from the re-entry draft, we think we can improve on our 97 wins."

Those 97 wins were enough to tie the Orioles and Red Sox 2 1/2 games behind the Yankees.

Despite losing Mike Torrez to Boston, the Yankees have no shortage of pitchers, a good thing because Catfish Hunter must prove he can still be a consistent winner, injury-prone Don Gullett has been sidelined with a sore shoulder and Andy Messersmith will miss a couple of months with a shoulder separation.

New York probably will open with a rotation of Ron Guidry, Ed Figueroa, Hunter, reliable Dick Tidrow and possibly 6-foot-6 rookie Jim Beattie. Rich Gossage and Rawly Eastwick join Cy Young Award winner Sparky Lyle in what Martin says "might be the best bullpen in the history of baseball."

The rest of the club will be the same as last year. As usual, the free-swinging, power-laden Red Sox will go as far as the pitching can take them. The starters are Torrez, Luis Tiant, Bill Lee and Mike Paxton, but Tiant will miss the start of the season with a finger injury. Ace fireman Bill Campbell will have help from Jim Willoughby, Dick Drago and Tom Burgmeier.

Bob Stanley, Reggie Cleveland and Rick Wise will be swing men.

The rest of the lineup is impressive. Catcher Carlton Fisk is one of the best, and speedy second baseman Jerry Remy, late of California, has been added to an infield that includes George Scott at first, Rick Burleson at short and Butch Hobson at third. Three outfielders and a DH will come from among Carl Yastrzemski, Jim Rice, Fred Lynn, Dwight Evans and Bernie Carbo.

People laughed a year ago when Weaver insisted the Orioles were contenders. No one's laughing this time. They picked up Don Stanhouse and Joe Kerrigan, who will join Tippy Martinez and Nelson Briles in the bullpen.

Jim Palmer, seven times a 20-game winner, is the pitching ace, but he was hampered by arm trouble during the spring. The rest of the rotation includes Mike Flanagan, Dennis Martinez and Scott McGregor.

Catcher Dave Skaggs hit a surprising .287 after Rick Dempsey was injured last summer. Both are back. Baltimore led the league in fielding and double plays and third baseman Doug DeCinces, shortstop Mark Belanger and second basemen Billy Smith (glove) and Rich Dauer (bat) return. However, first baseman Lee May becomes the DH, with DH Eddie Murray, the 1977 Rookie of the Year, taking over in the field.

The outfield two fine hitters, Ken Singleton, coming off elbow surgery, in right and Al Bumbry in center. The third spot will go to Andres Mora, Pat Kelly or Carlos Lopez, possibly a platoon.

The Detroit Tigers may be a team to keep an eye on. Mark Fidrych, the rookie pitching sensation of 1976, returns from an injury-plagued summer and his spring showing indicated he was all the way back.

First baseman Jason Thompson, left fielder Steve Kemp and pitcher Dave Rozema emerged last year and this season the team is looking to a new double play combination in shortstop Alan Trammell and second baseman Sweet Lou Whitaker. Catcher Lance Parrish promises to be a good one, too, although Milt May still looms as the No. 1 backstop.

Rusty Staub is the DH with Tim Corcoran and Charlie

Spikes in right field. The brilliant Ron LeFlore is in center, super glove Aurelio Rodriguez at third.

The Tigers acquired a starting pitcher from Milwaukee in Jim Slaton, but Jack Morris, counted on as the fourth starter, has developed arm problems.

The bullpen is manned by Steve Foucault, John Hiller and Jim Crawford.

Jeff Torborg starts his first full season as manager of the Cleveland Indians. He gets outfielders Rick Manning and Johnny Grubb back from the injury list but hard-throwing pitcher Jim Bibby has left via the free agent route.

The third outfield spot probably will go to Paul

Dade. The infield has Andre Thornton at first, Duane Kuiper at second, Buddy Bell at third and either Larvell Blanks or Tom Verzyer at short. Willie Horton is the DH.

Fred Kendall and Ron Pruitt are capable catchers. The staff they'll be handling starts with sometimes brilliant Dennis Eckersley and Wayne Garland, again battling arm trouble. Jim Kern is one of the league's top short relievers but the rest of the corps must prove itself.

The Milwaukee Brewers dipped into the free-agent market for Larry Hise, the AL's RBI king, but the real problems were on the mound so they hired Baltimore pitching coach George Bamberger as manager.

With Bill Travers on the disabled list, the starters include youngsters Jerry Augustine, Moose Haas, Lary Sorensen and Gary Beare, with Bill Castro, Ed Rodriguez, Bob McClure and Mike Caldwell in the bullpen.

Experienced catcher Ray Fosse is also disabled. Sixto Lezcano, Ben Oglivie and Von Joshua join Hise in the outfield but the Brewers' strength is an infield of Cecil Cooper at first, Robin Yount at short, Don Money or Lenn Sakata at second and Money or Sal Bando at third. Either Money, Bando or Oglivie will be the DH.

$305,000 Winners Circle begins today

RANCHO MIRAGE, Calif. (AP) — Nancy Lopez, who is 21 years old and joined the ladies' tour less than a year ago, could be the golfer all the others are watching in the $305,000 Dinah Shore Winners Circle.

Despite her brief time on the tour, Lopez ranks as one of the players to beat in the tournament, richest on the Ladies Professional Golf Association circuit.

She has already won two events this year and has been one of the most consistent players on the tour, leading the 1978 earnings list with $46,000. That includes a $14,600 runnerup check in the recent Kathryn Crosby tournament.

But she faces a top field in the seventh edition of the Winners Circle, a 72-hole affair that begins today and wraps up Sunday at the 6,302-yard, par-72 Mission Hills Country Club course.

All the past winners of the tournament — Jane Blalock, Mickey Wright, JoAnn Prentice, Sandra Palmer, Judy Rankin and Kathy Whitworth — will be on hand. But none of those golfers has thus far been able to repeat in the Winners Circle.

Debbie Massey, the 1977 LPGA rookie of the year, could also be among the top challengers for the $36,000 first prize in the Winners Circle. Massey won $46,962 last year and will be competing in this rich tournament for the first time.

Debbie Austin rates as a top contender in the event. After a long winless period, she posted five victories and won $86,000 in 1977. So far this year, Austin has collected $20,000 in prize money.

The winner of the Crosby tournament, Sally Little, appears near the top of her game and could provide a surprise in the Winners Circle.

The final two rounds of the event, sponsored by the Colgate-Palmolive Co., will be nationally televised by NBC.

Geiberger expects no Greensboro miracles

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Al Geiberger expects no miracles in his return to pro golf tour action.

"I really don't know what to expect. I'm just glad to be playing again," the popular, soft-spoken Geiberger said before teeing off today in the first round of the $240,000 Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament.

"I feel like a rookie out here," the 40-year-old Geiberger said as player after player streamed by his locker to shake his hand and welcome him back to action. He's been out of action all year following major surgery.

"I haven't played much and, really, I haven't practiced all that much. I did do some cross-country skiing, and it's amazing how good that is for getting you in condition."

Geiberger admitted, however, he's dropped some 7.8 pounds from an already-skinny frame and has not regained full strength.

"We'll just have to see what happens," said Geiberger, a former Greensboro champion and the only man to shoot 59 in pro golf tour competition.

Despite his health problems and lack of competition, he ranked as one of the key figures in a weak field that was chasing a $48,000 first prize over the 6,984-yard, par-72 Forest Oaks Country Club course.

David Clyde's alive

By The Associated Press
"Come on David. Loosen up. You're aiming the ball. Let it out." Manager Jeff Torborg was urging from the Cleveland Indians' dugout — and young David Clyde was responding.

He fired six scoreless innings Wednesday in the Indians' 6-2 exhibition victory over the San Francisco Giants bringing back memories of when he was a teen-age sensation for the Texas Rangers in 1973.

Since then, his career — plagued by an entrapped nerve in his left pitching shoulder that resulted in surgery in 1976 — has gone downhill.

The Rangers gave up on him this spring, trading him to the Indians. The new environment apparently has benefited the 22-year-old Clyde.

"I've learned how to relax," Clyde said after allowing four hits, walking four and striking out one against the Giants.

While the Indians had to be encouraged by Clyde's performance, the Giants had to be concerned over the condition of Ed Halicki.

Halicki, scheduled to be San Francisco's opening day pitcher, suffered a slight muscle pull in his left side and left the game in the seventh inning.

In addition to Clyde, several other pitchers were standouts in Wednesday's exhibitions. California's Frank Tanana went seven scoreless innings in the Angels' 10-4 rout over the San Diego Padres.

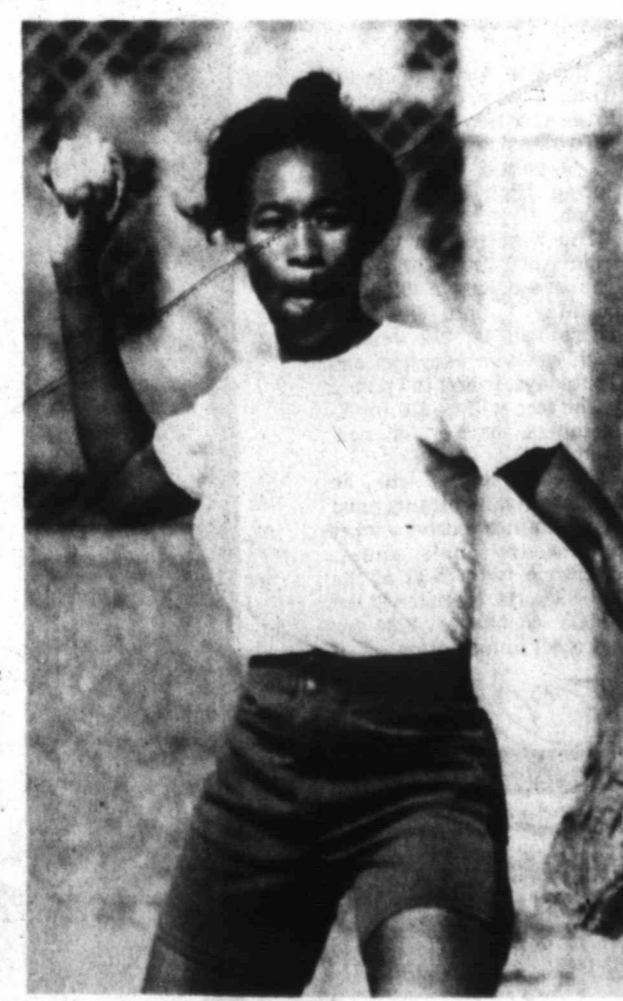

Rick Wise tossed seven shutout innings as the Boston Red Sox blanked the Pittsburgh Pirates 6-0. Kansas City's Dennis Leonard allowed only three singles, one a bunt and another a bloop, in eight innings as the Royals dropped a 3-2 decision to the Chicago White Sox.

Like in Brooklyn, Dodgers still laughing

VERO BEACH, FLA. — The Dodgers were playing catch in front of the dugout, the way everybody does before a game, when Ron Cey yelled, "Hey, baby!" at Tommy Lasorda, and pointed to a pile of criss-crossed bats and other paraphernalia lying nearby. Now everybody knows that a man who hits 30 homers and knocks in 110 runs makes much more money than the man who manages the ballclub, but I never heard him order him to pick up the bats.

Lasorda looked down the bench a few seats, past the newsmen, past Al Campanis, to a thin, swarthy young man in uniform. "Hey Bobby, pick up those bats before somebody gets hurt, will you?"

Bob Castillo jumped off the bench and began scooping up the debris.

Dodgers Have Always Been Happy

"Hey, he could be our star reliever this year," said Al Campanis, the general manager.

"What's wrong with picking up a few bats?" said Lasorda.

"Yeah," said Cey, grinning between tosses, "why don't you help him?" He was talking to the general manager.

I never have been able to figure out whether a team wins because it is happy, or a team is happy because it wins. In my lifetime, the Dodgers have always been winners, or close to it, and for the most part, they seem to have a camaraderie, a gaiety that permeates the bench and clubhouse like no other. It began in Brooklyn, in the Pee Wee Reese days, and it has been transfused to Los Angeles.

Other teams kid around, needle, shout like little boys, but the Dodgers laugh. All the time, laugh. And now they are led by the man who seems made for them, Tom Lasorda, a comic. He has stolen more jokes than Milton Berle and, like Berle, he drops them in just the right spot.

"Tell him about the footnote," said Rick Monday, strolling by. He was addressing Lasorda, who was talking to a newsmen.

"Oh, yeah," said Lasorda. He told about being interviewed and being asked whether the Dodgers are do $20 million, which is big, even allowing for inflation.

"Frank Capra junior told me Tommy's a natural-born actor," says Al Campanis.

Not a bad manager, either. The Dodgers ran away and hid from the NL in his first try, dethroning the Reds by 10 lengths. Winning, says Lasorda, is a Dodger tradition that he intends not to violate. He has warned his players that the other clubs will be trying harder to knock them off, now that the Dodgers are NL champs.

"Uneasy lies the man that wears the crown," Lasorda told the newsmen on the bench. "That's what I told them."

"Uneasy lies the head," corrected Al Campanis, pedantically adding, "And those who sleep on the floor don't fall out of bed."

Wanted to Spend 30 Days in N.Y.

"Hell, I didn't go to college," Lasorda said to Campanis, an old NYU man.

Lasorda was a left-handed pitcher trying to make the Brooklyn Dodgers when it was tough. "We had guys who wanted just to be one of the three extras to come north with the club, to spend 30 days in the big before outtown date," said Lasorda, "guys like Don Hoak, Chuck Connors, Bobby Morgan, Ed Roebuck, Ken Lehman, myself."

That's how it was in those days. The club could carry 28 men till one month after opening day. The rookies would play themselves off the club.

"In 1964," remembered Lasorda, "I make it north. I walk into the clubhouse on opening day. We're playing Pittsburgh. I feel like a million dollars. Jake Pitler was one of our coaches. He walks over to me and says, 'Don't get an apartment, kid.'"

Not really. Lasorda is so good with the chatter, he set a record for banquet demands this winter. One of the hit industrial movies making the rounds of sales conventions stars Thomas Charles Lasorda, BFI, a subsidiary of CBS, made it and borrowed the title: "You Gotta Believe." n't growing a bit old, with men like Vic Davalillo and Manny Mota. Lasorda's reply was that he keeps the old players because he is a connoisseur of antiques.

"I had dropped that line on him not two minutes earlier," said Monday, himself 32.

"I need writers like you," said Lasorda, laughing. "I use a lot of material."

"You need somebody to deliver the lines, too," Monday shouted over his shoulder.

IOC furious with Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Los Angeles has been the only bidder for the 1984 Summer Olympics up to now, but the city's desire to stage the Games at no cost to local taxpayers has the International Olympic Committee in a furor.

So much so, in fact, that many IOC members reportedly are ready to throw out Los Angeles' bid and invite applications from other cities.

There appeared to be no problem as far as Los Angeles' bid for the 1984 Games is concerned until the IOC received the city's answers to a questionnaire, the Associated Press learned. IOC members are bristling over the tone of the answers.

IOC members say the answers were arrogant, even insulting. Particularly resented was the city's open avowal that it will be responsible for television rights and will basically receive all television revenue. This is in defiance of IOC rules.

Los Angeles is scheduled to present its bid for the 1984 Summer Games to the IOC at Athens in May. IOC members said at least five cities would be ready to take over the Games if asked.

Possibilities mentioned were Montreal, Mexico City, Moscow, Munich and Tokyo.

DANIEL FLOOD
Congressman

has pneumonia?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tests are being conducted to determine if Rep. Daniel J. Flood, D-Pa., has pneumonia. Flood's physician, Dr. Melvin Small, said Wednesday that the 74-year-old congressman entered Georgetown University Hospital for an annual examination on March 20, and apparently caught the disease there.

"Congressman Flood has a long medical history and could well do without this probable complication," Small said. Flood has been examined annually since it was diagnosed that he had cancer of the throat.

The U.S. attorney's office in Philadelphia and the House Ethics Committee have been investigating bribery allegations against Flood. He has denied the allegations.

Rape case conviction is upheld

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals today upheld the rape conviction and 99-year prison sentence assessed Henry Edward James in a sexual assault on a young Galveston woman.

According to case records, the woman was grabbed from behind by a man on the night of Dec. 22, 1974, as she and her 4-year-old daughter were leaving her car at the apartment complex where they lived.

The victim was forced to lock the child in the car and was taken to a small room behind the apartment building, struck on the head with a pistol and raped twice.

James was charged after police searched him and found the victim's Texas City High School class ring.

A search of James's home also turned up a pistol bearing blood stains consistent with the victim's blood type, and James signed a written statement about the crime.

Plan to strike after cooling it

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Pilots for Northwest Airlines say they will strike on April 29 when a 30-day "cooling off" period ends.

Northwest rejected an offer by the National Mediation Board for binding arbitration to settle their contract dispute. The 1,550 pilots, represented by the Air Line Pilots Association, had accepted the offer. Capt. Thomas Beedem, chairman of the association's executive council, announced the planned strike on Wednesday.

Boy will die without drugs?

HINGHAM, Mass. (AP) — The parents of a 2-year-old boy suffering from leukemia may treat their son by foods instead of drugs, a district court judge has ruled.

Diane and Jerry Green, parents of Chad Green, have said they want to treat their son with organic foods, distilled water and vitamins. They claim that drugs normally used in cancer treatment do no good for Chad. The boy's physician, Dr. John Truman, says the boy will die without drug treatments.

JAYNE MANSFIELD
Jayne's hefty estate fades

LOS ANGELES (AP) — About $8,500 is all that remains of Jayne Mansfield's estate, estimated at about $516,000 when she died in a traffic accident 11 years ago.
Payments to creditors and administrative costs have reduced the size of the estate. Miss Mansfield died without a will, and her estate is to be shared by three children.
Earlier this week, Los Angeles County Superior Court Judge Jack Swink ordered that about $11,000 be paid to the estate's attorney, administrator and accountant.

Two men die when oil rig boat sinks

PORT ARTHUR, Texas (AP) — Coast Guard officials began investigating today the Wednesday sinking of a oil rig supply boat that officials said capsized after nearly colliding with a 35,000-ton tanker in the Intracoastal Waterway.

The two crewmen aboard the 65-foot, steel-hulled "Miss Brazosport" were drowned.

The ship capsized after the tanker "Zapata Ranger," swerved to avoid a collision about 4 a.m., said a spokesman at Coast Guard search and rescue headquarters in New Orleans.

Divers equipped with deepsea diving equipment recovered the bodies about 10 hours after the incident.

The ship sank in about 17 feet of water, closing for several hours the waterway that provides inland access from the Gulf of Mexico. Officials said the current was too strong for divers to use scuba gear.

The victims were identified as Robert Eugene Brooks, 38, of Freeport, and Bill Chedister, whose hometown and age were not immediately available. Brooks was captain of the vessel.

The "Miss Brazosport" was owned by Freeport Party Boats in Freeport, and spokeswoman Donna Krumnow said the boat was headed to Sabine. The two crewmen were the only persons aboard, she added.

The Southeast Texas waterway was reopened Wednesday afternoon, although the location of the sunken vessel remained marked.

Fire units are extended praise

Johnny and Louise Moore have expressed appreciation to the Jonesboro and Sand Springs Fire Department for their quick response and efforts in trying to save their mobile home during a fire Thursday afternoon.

The home was a total loss, at its location on Oasis Road. The family dog ran to the neighbors and barked until they came out and saw the flames, summoning the fire departments. The Moores lost their home and all its contents, but pointed out that the volunteer fire department did everything possible to help them.

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, MARCH 31, 1978

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Something of a surprise nature occurs that makes it possible for you to have unexpected assistance, so be alert at all times. Strive to put your affairs on a more secure structure.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) A situation arises that can spoil what you think is an opportunity, but don't fret, since it could turn out to your advantage later.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Go ahead with original plans instead of making any changes for best results. Don't let a civic affair disturb you at this time.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Make sure you do your work correctly now or you could get in trouble with a higher-up. Take no risks while in motion today.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Find a better way to handle monetary matters instead of worrying so much about them. Think constructively.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) A co-worker is not being as cooperative as you wish but this is because you are too forceful. Tone down and be happier.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Don't take so many risks and you find your life will be more satisfying. Losing your temper will accomplish nothing now.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Don't permit the ill humor of a close tie to cause an argument at home. Accept the right kind of criticism and benefit from it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have to be very careful in motion today if you are to avoid trouble. Your creative ideas are good at this time.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You must use care in handling money and property affairs today or you could end up being very disappointed.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You have to use more tact now in order to put your ideas across to others. Go out of your way to avoid arguments with others.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Listen to what one who admires you has to say, but use your own good judgment. Sidestep one who gossips.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Go after your aims but don't be too demanding of others for best results. Take health treatments and improve your appearance.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will easily comprehend what others think and how they act, and should have a good education that will teach to be more objective, and then this can become a fine and successful life. Sports are fine in this chart.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

MOORMAN'S IGR MINERALS
"There's nothing else like it."
"Fly control with IGR costs about a cent-and-a-half per day for a cow. Total cost, including minerals, is about 3c per head daily."
"With IGR Minerals, around-the-clock horn-fly control on 100 cows costs about $1.50 per day."
"Compare the cost of roundup, spray, weight loss and spraying time for 100 cows each 18 days to the $15 it'll cost to control flies with IGR."
"Even if you spray every 10 days, new horn flies keep hatching out of the untreated manure. It's a never-ending cycle."
"With IGR, you don't have to worry about when to spray or that a rain will wash off the spray."
"Spraying for horn flies temporarily removes the symptoms. It isn't a 'cure'. Feeding IGR relieves the symptoms by providing the 'cure'."
"It works."
"No need to worry about horn flies all season. That's peace of mind."
"IGR isn't a poison. It is a totally new concept in the control of horn flies without harming beneficial insects, wildlife or the environment."
"The active ingredient 'tricks' the horn-fly pupa into remaining a pupa until it dies without poison."

John Wayne faces tests

BOSTON (AP) — Movie star John Wayne flew into Boston Wednesday for a series of tests at Massachusetts General Hospital for respiratory problems.

The 70-year-old "Duke" has been under treatment recently for chest pains and a respiratory condition. During the past few days, he has spent nights in Hogue Hospital in Newport Beach, Calif., and the days at his home a few miles away.

A hospital spokesman said Wayne is staying at the hospital's Phillips House for examinations. He denied that Wayne is being treated for a recurrence of cancer, which cost him most of a lung years ago.

Interviewed by telephone earlier this week by a Boston radio station, Wayne said he was not being treated for cancer.

"No, pneumonia," he replied. "Hell, I got rid of that cancer 14 years ago."

Earlier in the week, the movie star had to cancel a planned appearance in San Antonio where he was to attend a convention and take part in a news conference with former Texas Gov. John Connally.

Hospital officials did not say how serious Wayne's condition is or how long he would be staying.

Wayne, who has starred in more than 200 movies in 50 years, used to smoke five packs of cigarettes a day before his bout with cancer.

CLONING BOOK AUTHOR — David Rovrik, right, author of "In his image, The Cloning of Man," appeared on the NBC "Today" show early Wednesday morning with host Tom Brokaw. Rovrik said that he probably cannot produce the kind of evidence the scientific community would require to accept his claim that he arranged for a cloning of a son for a California millionaire.

Administration slaps steel price increases

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Steelmakers are checking balance sheets to see if they'll follow two of the industry leaders in boosting prices after the winter-long coal strike, increases the Carter administration says are more than double what could be justified by the miners' walkout.

U.S. Steel Corp., the nation's largest producer, and Wheeling-Pittsburgh Steel Corp., the ninth largest, announced increases of $10.50 a ton Wednesday. The increases are expected to mean higher prices for new appliances and an estimated $9 to $10 increase in the cost of an average American car. Autos are being reduced in size to save gasoline and require a bit less than a ton of steel, industry sources say.

The new prices are to go into effect Saturday. They apply to sheet steels, structural shapes, plates, tin plate and tube products.

"The cost of the new coal contract began immediately...when the miners returned to work," U.S. Steel argued, noting that workers who went back to the mines Monday received a $100 bonus.

Steel production costs by about $4 a ton over the coal contract's three-year life. The council termed the steel price increase inflationary.

"Such inflationary price increases seriously endanger the continuation" of the industry's recovery from the beating it had been taking recently from foreign competition, the wage and price council said.

President Carter successfully persuaded steel producers into pulling back on price increases when they announced 6.8 percent to 8.8 percent boosts in flat rolled sheets and bar products last May.

Supreme Court agrees with El Paso Sheriff

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court agrees with El Paso Sheriff Michael Sullivan Jr. that an out-of-county judge should be assigned to hear a petition to suspend him from office.

The law governing the issue is "clear and unambiguous," Chief Justice Joe Greenhill said Wednesday in announcing the court's ruling.

The petition to suspend Sullivan temporarily was filed after he was indicted in February for allegedly using county employees to build a turtle cage and to paint windows at his house.

State District Judge Edwin Berliner of El Paso rejected Sullivan's motion to have the presiding judge of the administrative judicial district assign an out-of-county judge. Berliner also ruled that he would hear the suspension case himself.

Greenhill asked twice if there was a lawyer present to argue Berliner's position. No one appeared.

Charles Mallin, a lawyer for Sullivan, said Berliner's view was that an out-of-county judge only had to be named for a final hearing on the merits of the suit.

Mallin said the intent of the law is to require an out-of-county judge to be appointed "to take the burden off a local judge whether he is politically for or against (the defendant)."

The high court, minus two of its nine members, recessed only a few minutes before making its ruling.

Greenhill said, however, the court had studied the case at length when the application was filed for a hearing.

He said he assumed Berliner would voluntarily abide by the court ruling and, if not, the court would order him to do so.
