OFFICIAL DEDICATION — The Ambassadors made it all look official Sunday afternoon, even though they didn't have a ribbon to cut at the opening of the Big Spring Industrial Park and Airport. Shown with the Ambassadors are Mayor Wade Choate, Judge Bill Tune and others.

AND THE CROWD CAME — Back behind the rope for safety while the aerobatic pilots did their act at the new Big Spring Municipal Airport, the crowd watches as Don Jones of Denton goes by upside down. Around 2,000 persons attended the event.

Bean salad blamed

Clovis botulism figures revised

CLOVIS, N.M. (AP) — State health officials trying to determine the cause of a botulism outbreak here revised the number of cases downward to 30 today, saying two previously reported cases were not severe.

And an official of the Food and Drug Administration's district office in Dallas, Texas, said tests were being conducted on a commercially sold bean salad, a salad prepared at the restaurant where all the victims ate and some pickled peppers in an attempt to track down the source of the poison.

Theodore Rotto, director of investigations for the FDA's district office in Dallas, said three FDA investigators visited the Midwest packaging plant Saturday night where the commercial bean salad was prepared.

Rotto declined to name the plant or give its location, saying, "It's still too premature."

But he said if the cause turns out to be the commercial product, believed sold throughout the country, "It's a very serious matter. Then we've got to get it off the shelves."

Dr. Jonathan Mann, state public health officer, said two persons who showed symptoms of the poisoning Sunday have only light illnesses. He said officials are counting only strong cases.

He said no new cases had been reported in 48 hours, and he was hopeful the outbreak may be coming to an end.

"We're getting optimistic," he said. However, health officers said they are prepared if more cases arise.

Those stricken were among 800 persons who ate at the fashionable Colonial Park Country Club

Restaurant in Clovis between April 9 and last Thursday, but officials said the source of the disease is not yet known.

Mann said all the victims ate vegetables and a bean salad from the salad bar.

"What we fear is the source of the poisoning is possibly a commercially sold food product, which could mean others in the country will get hold of it also," he said.

Mann said no cases have been reported by people who ate at the restaurant Friday.

Sunday was a critical period because it would have been the first day persons infected Friday would have begun showing symptoms, said officials. Cases confirmed Sunday came from persons who had eaten at the Clovis restaurant prior to Friday.

Baum reception set in Abilene

Abilene residents will host a reception and meeting of the Abilene "Baum Squad" today at 8 p.m. in the Gold Room of the First State Bank for native Abilenian Jim Baum, candidate for United States Congressman, 17th District.

According to Mrs. Russell McClure, a long-time friend of Baum's, "Jim has always been a leader and achiever. In his efforts to capture the 17th District seat, he has shown the diligence and determination it takes to win. We want to show our support of a man we've all known for a long time and will do our utmost to aid him in his efforts. We need Jim Baum in Washington."

Dr. W. A. Hunt of Abilene, president emeritus of Howard College, is Taylor County coordinator for Baum, a front-runner in the 17th District race.

By candidates speaking here

Common goals are shared

By MARJ CARPENTER

"Nine little, eight little, seven little Indians"... is an old song sung when you were children.

Seven of the eight Congressional candidates told a crowd of around 80 persons at an open forum at Bogart's Sunday afternoon, why they should be the last "Indian" in the race.

The race will narrow down on May 6 to either one or two Democrats and a possible runoff, and one Republican in the two primaries in the district.

The Republican candidate, Bill Fisher of Abilene, said that he plans to come down heavy on his campaign after the Primaries, but the six Democrats who spoke at the forum, are already working hard, trying to at least be one of the two in the runoff.

Speaking here Sunday were Jim Baum of Big Spring; Bill Fisher, Abilene; Crews McCulloch, Weatherford; Dusty Rhoades, Abilene; Charles Stenholm, Stamford; Jim Sharp, Big Spring and Jim Snowden, Tye. Fike Godfrey of Abilene, was unable to attend.

Each candidate introduced himself and briefly outlined their background with prepared questions following.

A lot of beliefs that came through in the discussion were similar, with all seven taking a West Texas stand for the deregulation of gas, backing the farmer, and for the Right to Work Law.

Baum stressed that he has made a mighty effort to get out and meet the people in the sprawling district and came down on inflation as a major issue in talking to people all over the area.

Stenholm also hit hard at inflation, stressed that farmers needed a fair price for their product, and pointed to his background of experience in his introduction talk.

McCulloch hit hard at a strong national defense, inflation, and pointed to himself as a person with leadership capabilities.

Rhoades commended his fellow candidates and local candidate, Jim Baum, but said, "I think I am the better man for the job." He also pledged an area office in Big Spring to serve Big Spring, Snyder and Colorado City if elected.

Fisher said that he got into the race because he looked at his daughters one day and decided that their freedoms are gradually being taken away from them by Big Government. "Government infringes in every aspect of our life." He stressed a change of direction.

Sharp indicated that he thought the district needed a young man such as himself to become Congressman and build up years of valuable experience for the area. He said the Constitutional Fathers knew what they were doing when they included the age to serve as low as 25.

Snowden hit heavily at corruption and dishonesty in government and promised that he would not sell out to anyone.

The group differed on their approach to putting a ceiling on government spending but agreed on attempting to halt it. They also varied in their response to a question as to whether forced bussing was child abuse but all were against forced bussing.

On the constitutional ceiling on spending, Stenholm indicated he would support it and Baum said he would if there was an emergency clause in it in the event of a war.

Rhoades was asked an individual question on the amount of money spent on his campaign and he answered that "Part of our free enterprise system is that backers of candidates contribute on their part in trying to select the candidate of their choice.

Baum was asked an individual question as to whether he still thought there should be a time limit on attempting to get the Equal Rights Amendment. He said, "In traveling around the district, I find many women against the ERA. There has been 14 months of attempting to get it ratified. I don't think it should be 14 years."

All of the group came out against food stamps for persons on strike and expressed similarities on other issues.

The event was sponsored by the Governmental Affairs Committee of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. Carol Hunter was chairman and also chaired a reception following. Carl McMillan of KBST radio, served as moderator.

HOPEFULS — Crews McCulloch, Weatherford; Jim Baum, Big Spring; Charles Stenholm, Stamford; Dusty Rhoades, Abilene; Jim Snowden, Tye; Jim Sharp, Big Spring and Bill Fisher, Abilene, are seven of the eight candidates for Congressman of the sprawling 17th Congressional District.

Crowd protests assaults

By JAMES WERRELL

The assault on five local Mexican-Americans at the Howard County Fairgrounds sparked a protest by a crowd estimated to have swelled to 200 Sunday afternoon.

The assault reportedly took place, 12:30 a.m. Sunday, at the State Fair Carnival which had been set up at the fairgrounds since Wednesday. Eight carnival workers were arrested, 5:30 p.m. Sunday in connection with the incident.

According to Detective George Quintero, the incident was sparked by a "drunk carry" who taunted two Mexican-American youths as they walked through the midway just as the carnival began to close down. At this point, 17-year-old Adam Valencia, 600 N.E. 10th, became involved in the incident.

Words were exchanged, tempers flared, and Valencia and the carry began to fight. Then, according to the victims, other carry workers, perhaps as many as 15, joined the fracas.

The fighting spread to include 21-year-old Mary Talamantez, 107 N.E. 8th, and three juveniles. Valencia claimed to have been hit and held down while his assailants cut him and burned his face with cigarettes.

He was later treated and released from Hall Bennett Hospital.

Ms. Talamantez claimed to have been held and struck with fists and a hammer. One of the juveniles required three stitches to close a cut above the right eye, while the other juveniles "were just shoved around," according to Quintero.

A witness claimed to have seen a knife drawn by one of the victims during the fight.

Following the incident, the victims reported to the Big Spring Police Department where, according to Quintero, they at first refused medical attention and refused to file complaints.

"We needed to get something down on paper before we could do anything," said Quintero. "After they settled down, and got medical attention on their own, we got complaints filed and Justice of the Peace (Bob) West issued warrants."

Local police arrived at the carnival, 5:30 p.m. Sunday, and arrested eight carry workers for suspicion of assault. The carnival was closed immediately.

Following the arrest, a large, milling crowd gathered to protest the alleged assault by the carnival workers. The protesters included local Mexican-Americans and uniformed Brown Berets, some carrying placards.

"We were protesting against the carries who took our people's money and then beat them," said Juan Arguello, Brown Beret reporter. "We understood that some local radical militants had planned a confrontation, and were prepared to go against the police. We met and agreed to help to calm the situation and try to avoid hysteria," he added.

The protest remained peaceful until approximately 7:30 p.m. when, according to Quintero, it began to get out of hand with a few rocks and bottles sailing over the fairground fence.

Patrolmen at the area switched on the red lights of their cars, and with the cooperation of Brown Beret members, dispersed the crowd without incident.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Branding

Q: How do most ranchers do their cattle branding now?

A: Without making a comprehensive study, there isn't any way to answer the question as worded. There are three methods — freeze branding with dry ice, acid burning, and the old-time hot iron method. None is painless, but to avoid cattle thefts, some type of identification is needed. Ear tags — large, brightly colored earrings of sorts — have been used, but the tags pull off in brush grazing land, and are easily removed by thieves.

Meeting of the Presbyterian Women of Tres Rios Presbytery, 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., First Presbyterian Church, Big Spring.

Offbeat: Close encounters

WAUKESHA, Wis. (AP) — After two reported sightings of unidentified hopping creatures, Wisconsin Humane Society officials confess they're still on a "wild kangaroo chase."

There aren't any missing kangaroo reports on file, nor any records of kangaroo ownership in the area, except for the ones at the nearby Milwaukee County Zoo.

But that doesn't help Jill Haeselich, who would like more proof that what she saw in her back yard Wednesday was really what she saw. "It was pretty quick. It was hopping. We knew it had to be a kangaroo," she said.

Waukesha police said last week that a woman reported seeing a car strike one of two kangaroos crossing an intersection about 10 miles from the Haeselich home. The woman said the animal that was hit was able to hop away.

"We're on a wild kangaroo chase at the moment," said Albert P. Keller, manager of the Humane Society.

Tops on TV: 'Holocaust,' baseball

If you're into the continuing series, "Holocaust," you won't want to miss tonight's episode scheduled for 8 p.m., on NBC and Channel 2. For the baseball buffs, three regional games are on tap over ABC at 7:30 p.m. — Cincinnati at Los Angeles, Baltimore at New York and Philadelphia at Pittsburgh.

DISCUSSING THE "HOLOCAUST"

Erna Gans gestures at her home in Skokie, Sunday, during a discussion on the television portrayal of the holocaust. Gans, now an American, saw the terror of the Nazi nightmare she left 35 years ago come back in full force Sunday night — and she is glad the long silence is over.

Chaplin's widow knows?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Charlie Chaplin's body was stolen from its Swiss grave last month not for ransom but because he was Jewish — and his widow was promptly told where the body had been taken, the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner reported today.

Bacon said he did not know what Mrs. Chaplin had done with the body. She could not be reached for comment.

Bacon said the unidentified source said non-Jewish families whose relatives were buried in the cemetery at Corsier-Sur-Vevey opposed the presence of Chaplin's body and removed it. Chaplin, who was born a Jew, died Christmas Day at age 88.

But Fernand Violet, mayor of Corsier-Sur-Vevey, said today there are no restrictions on who can be buried at the cemetery and that several other Jews have been buried there.

According to Bacon's Swiss source, Oona Chaplin was notified of the body's location within 24 hours after it disappeared. No ransom has been demanded for the body, although Chaplin's estate has been estimated to be as high as $100 million.

The reporter's source was quoted as saying Mrs. Chaplin, daughter of American playwright Eugene O'Neill, was humiliated because "she knows she can never re-bury it (the body) in the little cemetery near the home they both loved for more than a quarter-century." The Chaplins lived on a 38-acre estate overlooking Lake Geneva.

Three kidnapers arrested

KIEL, West Germany (AP) — A grandson of the late King Victor Emmanuel III of Italy was kidnapped by three armed men early today but was freed unharmed by police an hour later, authorities announced. The three kidnapers were arrested.

The victim was Prince Moritz von Hessen, 51, the Interior Ministry of Schleswig-Holstein said. Police were questioning him about his ordeal.

A spokesman said the three kidnapers surrendered and put up no resistance.

Softer mideast policy?

JERUSALEM (AP) — The Israeli cabinet has reaffirmed its support for U.N. resolution 242 as the basis for all Middle East peace negotiations but refused to say what this means for the future of the occupied West Bank of the Jordan River.

The statement, issued after Sunday's cabinet meeting, appeared designed to help patch a rift with Washington, which wants Prime Minister Menachem Begin to endorse the previous Labor government's acceptance of withdrawal from the West Bank.

Communists keep cool

ROME (AP) — Italy's ruling Christian Democratic Party has indicated it might modify its refusal to negotiate for the life of former Premier Aldo Moro, kidnapped by terrorists a month ago, but the Communists urged the government to remain firm.

Christian Democratic leaders met for three hours Sunday to discuss the announcement from the Red Brigades terrorist organization that a "people's court" had sentenced Moro to death. Moro was kidnapped March 16.

Hope to improve record

CAMP DAVID, Md. (AP) — President Carter and more than two dozen aides and Cabinet officials, secluded on a chilly, wooded mountaintop, are looking for ways to improve their record after 15 months in office.

They planned to sit down this morning, as they would in Washington most Monday mornings, for a Cabinet meeting after spending Sunday relaxing in the rustic atmosphere of the presidential resort.

Now, there's Sun Day---Hurrah!

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

It's less confusing than it sounds.
A diverse coalition of activists — some of whom worked on the environmental and nutritional "days" of the past — is sponsoring programs across the nation on May 3 to call attention to and draw backing for solar energy. Supporters include consumer groups, union officials and businessmen.

backers plan a week-long program to highlight different aspects of solar energy. On Sun-Agriculture Day, for example, the focus will be on a large farmers' market; Sun-Economics Day will feature a forum on jobs; and Sun-Transportation Day will include a bicycle tour of renewable energy sites.

Among the programs planned elsewhere, according to organizers, are: a sunrise celebration on Cadillac Mountain in Maine where the sun's rays first hit the United States each day; dedication of a greenhouse to serve as a vegetable garden for inner-city residents of Chicago; and the opening of a permanent solar exhibit at the Los Angeles Museum of Science and Technology.

"It's hoped Sun Day will both create a political constituency and a network of people who are interested in solar energy and will educate the general potential market," said Allison Freeman, media coordinator for Sun Day.

The official sponsor of the event is Solar Action Inc., a nonprofit, tax-exempt public interest institution set up in Washington, D.C. Ms. Freeman said the group is spending about $150,000 on the project, with most of the money coming from individual contributors.

Supporters of solar power got some encouragement recently from a report by the Council on Environmental Quality which said prospects for increasing use of systems based on the sun's energy "are brighter than most imagine." The council said: "For the period beyond the turn of the century, it is now possible to speak realistically of the United States becoming a solar society."

Unlike the now-discontinued Earth and Food Days, which were annual events, Sun Day is planned as a one-time occurrence only, Ms. Freeman said. She said organizers hope the activities will encourage federal officials and agencies to boost support for research and development of solar alternatives to traditional energy sources.

Kathleen O'Reilly, executive director of the Consumer Federation of America and a member of the board of directors of the Sun Day group, said the program "presents an opportunity for dynamic consumer education in an area where technological advancements have outpaced consumer awareness."

Philadelphia Sun Day Squaw Valley ski lift accident

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — A cable went slack, then popped from a pulley. As dozens of skiers hurtled through a snowstorm in a runaway cable car, the loose cable sliced into the car like a cheese-cutter, crushing three men and a woman to the floor.

They died. Some 30 others were injured in the Saturday accident, which occurred on Emigrant Mountain at Squaw Valley Ski Area in sub-freezing temperatures, heavy snow and howling winds.

A second car with about 70 passengers, traveling up the mountain, jolted to a halt and dangled helplessly 150 feet above the ground.

It took seven hours to remove everyone from the two cars. Rescuers crawled along cables in subzero temperatures and lowered the passengers through winds gusting to 60 mph in a sling which one man said looked like "a big pair of gym trunks."

Some in the second car suffered frostbite but reported no serious injuries.

Metallurgists and engineers will inspect the cars and cables to try to determine the cause of the accident, said Terrence Ford, the resort's attorney. Nobody was allowed on the mountain Sunday because of continuing blizzard-like conditions, he said.

Jim Mott, head of operations at the ski center, was among the first to reach the wrecked car.

"There was some screaming. I knew we were in for a lot of trouble. One-fourth of the car collapsed onto 10 or 12 people. Three of those people were dead," he said.

"Finally, what seemed like an eternity, we came to a stop," skier Carol Mulrooney, 31, of Modesto recalled later. "There were people on top of me and on the sides and underneath, plus skis and boots. Legs all over each other. The two men next to me were dead."

Gregory Anderson, 26, of San Jose said that when the car started falling, "I thought that was it, that the thing was going straight to

PROMOTES 17TH DISTRICT FOR INDUSTRIAL POTENTIAL

Big industrial firms are looking to the Sun Belt as possible expansion sites and the 17th Congressional District of Texas offers numerous places for such growth, Democratic candidate A. L. (Dusty) Rhoades (above) said on a flying visit here this morning. Rhoades said congressmen have an obligation to work for such goals. Rhoades added he would assign two members of his staff to work with local governments to promote and develop industrial opportunities. Pictured with Dusty here is his wife, Nancy.

Gov. Apodaca still prefers kissing babies to running

BOSTON (AP) — Jogging. It just might replace hand-shaking and kissing babies as the best way for politicians to get votes.

To the people of New Mexico, for example, it seems like Governor Jerry Apodaca hasn't stopped running since he campaigned for his present job in 1974, beating five fellow Democrats in the primary.

He was jogging with his two sons in his campaign television commercials. He was sprinting in the picture on his campaign buttons. He was kicking up dust in the newspaper ads, too.

And today the 43-year-old governor is running in the Boston Marathon. Apodaca has been running since 1967 when he noticed he was putting some extra pounds on his 5 ft. 8 in. frame.

He always had been active in athletics — he played football for the University of New Mexico. But the only track he ever ran was the high school hurdles.

Apodaca ran a few miles a day the first couple of months, gradually increasing his daily jaunt. He built up to about 60 or 70 miles a week to train for the 26-mile, 385 yard Boston Marathon.

Why the Boston marathon? "Once you get into running, it's something you want to do."

"Hopefully, I'll finish respectably," he said in an interview Sunday night.

He plans to participate in the Boston marathon every April and the Honolulu marathon every December. He wants to run in a third even in another part of the country in the interim.

Each fall, Apodaca holds a special 13-mile marathon for the "Governor's Cup," and he enters relays across New Mexico all year.

He says he was in a barber shop getting a hair cut the other day when a woman walked up and announced her husband had passed him in a local relay.

"She didn't say, 'Oh, you're the governor.' She talked about how her husband beat me instead," he said.

Apodaca, whose term expires this year, said he is considering a run for the U.S. Senate in 1982 since the state constitution prevents him from seeking another term.

Will running help his next campaign?

The father of five responded: "I still prefer kissing babies."

Carter's problems are discussed by Woodruff

Judy Woodruff, NBC news correspondent, talked about the problems President Carter is having with the public and press at the Texas Press Women's meeting in Amarillo over the weekend.

Miss Woodruff was one of several speakers at the event and has followed President Carter since he was governor of Georgia as a correspondent.

Other main speakers included Nike Scott who has a syndicated column called Working Woman which appears in 166 newspapers; Dr. Don Beck, professor at North Texas State University in the area of Communication Research and Training; and Dr. Jody Potts, instructor in the Master of Liberal Arts program at SMU.

Sarah McClendon, longtime Texan in the White House Press Corp, was named woman of achievements in Texas.

Tricia Shelton, well-known in this area as a former news director at KMDI-TV in Midland, was named state secretary.

Marj. Carpenter, area

editor of the Big Spring Herald won three places in the Communications contest. The columns entered for Ridin' Fence, which won second in the state for the second year in a row, including Atom Bomb column of Dec. 7, 1976; the Anniversary of Estes column of March 29, 1977 and the Iatan Cemetery of March 30, 1977. Two of the entries must be consecutive.

In the interview, which placed third for Mrs. Carpenter, her interview with Hayden Braun, blind pianist son of Coach and Mrs. Garland Braun.

In technical articles in science, petroleum and medicine, the competition has no breakdown of categories and the competition is between both small and large newspapers in the state.

The third place for Mrs. Carpenter was for three articles on petroleum including one on the Problems of the Refinery; one on new drilling rigs in the area and one on Dave Duncan the Old Wildcatter.

Horticulturist named to serve West Texas

COLLEGE STATION — The Texas Agricultural Extension Service has named a horticulturist to serve the Trans-Pecos and Far West Texas regions. He is Vernon R. Sikes, who assumed the position on April 1, with headquarters at the Extension District 6 Office in Fort Stockton.

Sikes fills the position vacated by Dr. Williams S. Peavy who transferred to El Paso as county extension horticulturist.

"Mr. Sikes has an extensive background in the commercial vegetable business and comes well-equipped to carry on effective educational programs in vegetable production," said Dr. Daniel C. Pfannstiel, Extension Service director, in announcing the appointment.

In addition to working with commercial vegetable growers, Sikes will also be conducting educational programs for homeowners related to both vegetable gardening and landscaping.

He will be coordinating his efforts through county extension agents, county program building committees, and industry leaders and organizations.

Since June, 1975 Sikes has been production manager with Sluis and Groot of America, Inc., of Salinas, Calif. His work included budgeting, contracting, field supervision and milling of vegetable seed as well as strict evaluation and seed stock production. He was also employed with Agrow Seed Co. for about six years and with Burpee Seed Co. for a year and a half. Before entering the seed business he managed a greenhouse tomato operation in Terrell for several years. Sikes was an assistant county extension agent in Brown County for a short time following completion of his graduate work at Texas A&M University.

Impeachment of Carter suggested

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP) — American Agriculture movement leaders in Kansas say they're going to ask all agriculture states to work for the impeachment of President Carter.

"We no longer have a government by the people and for the people," said Lysle Davidson, a strike movement leader from Johnson, Kan.

Horticulturist named to serve West Texas

COLLEGE STATION — The Texas Agricultural Extension Service has named a horticulturist to serve the Trans-Pecos and Far West Texas regions. He is Vernon R. Sikes, who assumed the position on April 1, with headquarters at the Extension District 6 Office in Fort Stockton.

Sikes fills the position vacated by Dr. Williams S. Peavy who transferred to El Paso as county extension horticulturist.

"Mr. Sikes has an extensive background in the commercial vegetable business and comes well-equipped to carry on effective educational programs in vegetable production," said Dr. Daniel C. Pfannstiel, Extension Service director, in announcing the appointment.

In addition to working with commercial vegetable growers, Sikes will also be conducting educational programs for homeowners related to both vegetable gardening and landscaping.

He will be coordinating his efforts through county extension agents, county program building committees, and industry leaders and organizations.

Canal debate ends Tuesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the Senate one day away from its last vote on the Panama Canal treaties, its leaders were still searching for resolution to the controversy over U.S. rights to intervene in Panama.

Both sides say Tuesday's vote will be extremely close. Minority Leader Howard Baker, R-Tenn., said Sunday he thinks the second treaty will pass "with a vote or two on the plus side."

Other supporters say privately they are optimistic they can gather the 67 votes necessary for approval of the agreement to gradually turn the canal over to Panama by the year 2000.

Elsewhere on Capitol Hill, the House Ways and Means Committee was beginning work today on President Carter's proposed $25 billion tax cut. The committee, expected to spend at least a month drafting legislation to put before the full House, is starting with itemized deductions.

The first treaty, guaranteeing the waterway's perpetual neutrality, was approved with one vote to spare, 68-32, on March 16.

Since then, a provision attached to that treaty permitting the United States to use military forces to keep the canal open has triggered hints that Panama might reject such wording.

On Sunday, Panamanian ambassador Gabriel Lewis met with Sens. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and Paul Sarbanes, D-Md., the treaties' floor managers, and Senate Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd, D-W. Va.

Church said they met to "explain clearly to Lewis the situation in the Senate" and to hear his description of "the political problems the Panamanian government faces" over the treaties.

The controversy over the provision, which would allow U.S. intervention if the canal were threatened by internal labor troubles, has thrown the Senate into an uproar and jeopardized approval of the second agreement.

For several days, the provision's author, Sen. Dennis DeConcini, D-Ariz., met with Carter administration officials in an effort to soften its impact in Panama and in the Senate itself.

Last week, Senate Majority Leader Robert Byrd intervened. By Friday he and DeConcini were near agreement on a second treaty reservation declaring that the United States has no intention of intervening in Panama's affairs, a reservation that will probably be voted on shortly before the final treaty vote Tuesday.

In other congressional action:

The Senate is scheduled to vote later in the week on a proposal to ease government regulation of air transportation. The bill would allow airlines to raise fares by 5 percent or lower them by as much as 50 percent without first obtaining approval from the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Leaders of a House-Senate conference committee considering President Carter's energy bill said they are hopeful of reaching agreement on a compromise natural gas pricing plan.

The natural gas issue has prevented passage of an energy bill for months, but agreement could be reached by Thursday, a year to the day after Carter sent his energy program to Congress.

Edith Willkie dies at 87

RUSHVILLE, Ind. (AP) — Edith Willkie, who shared the American political spotlight with her late husband, Wendell, died Sunday. She was 87.

Mrs. Willkie, who was active in civic affairs most of her life, helped guide a national campaign when her husband made this quiet, rural community his headquarters for the race against Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Early voting is under way

Absentee voting began today according to Margaret Ray, Howard County Clerk, and will end May 2.

Some 16 Democratic and 15 Republican tickets have been mailed out. The office will be open April 29 from 2 p.m. until 8 p.m. for absentee voters.

Lake Champion claims life

COLORADO CITY — Richard Alcorta, 22, Lubbock, drowned in Lake Champion near here at 12:30 p.m. Sunday while on a family outing.

Alcorta was pronounced dead at the scene by Justice of Peace Mary Lee Moore at 3:30 p.m.

The victim was one of 12 people who arrived at the lake about 2:30 a.m., Sunday to begin fishing.

Alcorta attempted to swim across a neck of water where his father, Louis Alcorta, was fishing. He swam about 50 yards then turned, apparently attempting to return. He sank in about eight feet of water.

Alcorta's body was found by Game Warden Ronnie Astin, Mitchell County Deputy Ron Keith and Toby Green.

The body was taken to Kiker-Seale Funeral Home in Colorado City.

Pang lectures here Tuesday

Dr. Peter Pang, Associate Professor of Pharmacology at Texas Tech University School of Medicine, will lecture at the V.A. Hospital at 11 a.m., Tuesday, in room 216. His topic will be "Models in the Study of Renin-Angiotensin System."

All area medical personnel are welcome to attend this lecture.

Auto damaged

Howard County sheriff's deputies investigated a hit and run accident in the Brass Nail parking lot which left a car belonging to Buster Terrill, of Clovis, N.M. with some $600 damage.

PREDICTION — Senate Minority Leader Howard Baker, R-Tenn., shown prior to his appearance on CBS's "Face the Nation" Sunday, predicted the Senate will pass the second Panama Canal treaty Tuesday "with a vote or two on the plus side."

When looking for new home Only fraction of blacks receive equal treatment

WASHINGTON — A new government investigation shows that, despite the Fair Housing Act enacted 10 years ago, only a fraction of the nation's blacks receive equal treatment when looking for a new home.

The confidential $1 million probe, in which hundreds of government investigators posed as housing customers in 40 cities, was unveiled today by the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Although the findings have yet to be fully analyzed, they are almost certain to fuel demands for accelerated enforcement of the law.

Tourism No. Three

By Bill Albright
 Executive Vice President,
 Big Spring Area Ch. of Commerce
 Industrial Growth and Development

If petroleum and agriculture are the top two industries in the great State of Texas, what do you think ranks number three? Wrong, if you answered anything other than travel.

Travel in the State of Texas in 1977 was a six billion dollar industry. Travel is synonymous with conventions, visitors, tourism, and probably several other related activities but regardless of the name of the business it is big business. Out of state visitors alone accounted for more than four billion dollars of travel expenditures in 1977. And a point to be noted here — that four billion dollars was money earned outside of our state and brought into and spent in Texas.

The 1977 report on the Texas Visitors Industry shows that 82 per cent of those out of state visitors traveled by car. Almost 95 per cent of them stayed an average of 6.8 days, included 2.57 persons per party and spent more than $20.00 (twenty) dollars per person per day.

It's interesting to note that the travel dollar was spent as follows: food got 25.6 per cent; lodging 25.3 per cent; auto expenses amounted to 20.8 per cent; entertainment was 9.9 per cent and the other was 18.6 per cent.

This information is provided to serve as the punch line, actually as background for the punch line, to this article — so lets get to the point. Another study done for the State of Texas reported that Howard County ranks 20th in the state in travel income.

In 1975 our Howard County travel dollars amounted to 40 million in 1976 those travel dollars increased to 47 million.

By comparison, Lubbock County showed 90 million. But the important fact here is that Howard County ranked ahead of Midland, Ector and Tom Green Counties. Or in other words, Big Spring nosed out Midland, Odessa and San Angelo for the travel dollar. We could be proud of that except for one thing.

Those three communities recognized the tremendous potential in the visitor industry and now have assembled appropriate staff people to sell conventions and promote visitors to their areas.

Legionnaires to gather in Lubbock Saturday

Legionnaires and Auxiliary members of The American Legion 19th District, comprised of 20 counties in far West Texas from Big Spring, north to Muleshoe, will assemble in Lubbock Saturday and Sunday, April 22-23, for their annual Spring Convention, 19th District Commander, Morris J. Moyers of Lubbock, has announced.

Activities for the two day convention will take place in American Legion Post No. 808 located at 61st and Olive Streets, with registration to begin at 1:00 p.m. Saturday. Vaughn Killian of Lubbock, will conduct a Veterans Rehabilitation program at 3:00 p.m. Saturday.

Saturday events also include a Commander's Reception at 5:00 p.m. and the Joint Legion and Auxiliary Banquet at 7:00 p.m. with State Vice Commander, Mike Mireles of San Antonio, addressing the convention delegates and guests. The annual Convention Dance will begin at 9:00 p.m. in the Post Home.

Sunday registration will continue in the Post Home at 8:30 a.m. and a Memorial Service will be conducted at 10:00 a.m. Following Memorial Services, the Legion and Auxiliary will convene in separate business sessions and Commander Mireles will preside over the Legion District Business.

Convention delegates will adopt committee reports and elect delegates and alternates to the national convention to be held in New Orleans, Louisiana in August.

Moyers will present citations to Posts that have attained their quota this year. Posts and their Commanders are: Abernathy 500, Dan Z. Ward; Floydada 118, Edmond A. Williams; Hale Center 203, Lacy O. Findley; Lockney 141, Bill Strickland; Lubbock 575, Walter R. Elkins; Lubbock 808, Harry Bunton; Plains 585, Tommie Warren, III; Slaton 438, Charles E. Waugh and Whiteface 534, John W. Word.

Citation of Most Distinguished Service for enrolling a 1978 membership equal to or greater than its previous year's membership prior to Nov. 11, 1977, will be awarded to Crosbyton 188, Floydada 118, O'Donnell 386, Post 270 and Whiteface 534.

Cold front pushing into western area

Low clouds, occasionally accompanied by light drizzle and fog, covered much of Texas today.

Southerly winds occasionally gusting to about 30 miles carried the clouds northward on a line generally along a line from Gainesville to Graham to San Angelo to Del Rio.

A cold front was pushing into the western sections at 4 a.m. As daybreak approached, the front was in a general north to south orientation near the Texas-Mexico border and extended southward into the Davis Mountains.

Morning readings in the 60s were common throughout the state, and several communities had readings in the 70s.

Thunderstorms were predicted to develop today over portions of Central Texas and East Texas. As the cold front reached into Central Texas this afternoon, the forecasts were for the possible development of some severe thunderstorms.

Voters confronted with problem again

The fate of the proposal to legalize pari-mutuel horse racing in Texas will be in the hands of the voter in the May 6 primaries.

"It's true that should the electorate bless the proposal, the legislature would still have to act on it. However, a favorable vote would no doubt, be regarded by the legislators as a mandate. The issue will be on both the Democratic and Republican ballots.

Texas voters have rejected the idea of pari-mutuel betting three times in the past, but the issue keeps coming back. Advocates of the proposal don't give up easily.

Even if the legislature decides to approve it, the law would be so written that it would be only on a local option basis. In other words, if San Antonio wanted it as a tourist attraction but neighboring counties didn't, it would remain illegal in neighboring counties.

Proponents of pari-mutuel betting say it's an idea whose time has come, that hundreds of thousands of dollars in Texas money is being drained off by neighboring states. Track betting is already legal in New Mexico, Arkansas and Louisiana and some Oklahomans are trying to rally support for such a law in their state.

In addition, pari-mutuel wagering is not only legal but encouraged in Old Mexico, where the people still have a great appreciation for the Yankee dollar.

Those neighboring states which have authorized on-track betting, of course, reap the tax dividends but benefit from the tourist money, as well. Before the out-of-state visitors ever show up at the track, they have to invest in things like motel and hotel rooms, food and fuel and each item is heavily taxed by the states and, more often than not, by the communities.

It is acknowledged that, even should a dozen Texas cities wind up with horse tracks where pari-mutuel betting is authorized, the wagering done by Texans on football each year (none of which is taxed) would be overwhelmingly greater than that wagered at the racing ovals.

The critics' argument that betting attracts organized crime isn't too convincing. Organized crime has its tentacles in a lot more than gambling and the gambling it does foster is not policed. The criminal element controls a lot of industry by manipulating the people it hires to front for it.

Texas is experiencing tremendous growth. Organized crime is coming with that growth, much as we would like to keep it out.

If Texans are ever to gain a measure of relief from its burdensome property tax, perhaps it is high time we looked to other sources of revenue and let the visitors who patronize race tracks help share the tax burden.

Big help

Around the rim

Carla Waiker

The Scout Explorer Post, sponsored by the Big Spring Police Department, has really been doing an outstanding job.

During the Howard College Rodeo last week, the Explorers provided security for the cars parked at the rodeo, and ran off a number of would-be auto burglars.

Normally, cars parked there are considered "high risk," because of the fact that the parking lot at the rodeo grounds is unlighted, providing a haven for auto thieves. In addition, the large number of CBs and other "target" items usually draws a crowd of unsavories who regularly burglarize vehicles around Big Spring.

But, the presence of the Explorers, with their radios and uniforms seemed to make burglars a little less confident. A number of known burglars were spotted circling the parking area time after time during the three nights of the rodeo performance, but no auto break-ins were reported.

THE GROUP OF youths spotted several people at the Happy Time Camping trailer sales located adjacent to the rodeo bowl, and scared the suspicious-looking individuals away, apparently before they could do any damage.

Last year, the group apprehended a man burglarizing a car at the Howard College rodeo, and because of the good record established by the group, they were asked by the college to patrol the area again this year.

One fight was broken up by the Explorers, who converged on the fighters and managed to show enough group spirit to convince the troublemakers to leave rather than stick around and wait for possible reinforcements.

In addition to the rodeo, the group of Explorers have provided security and parked cars at various community activities including the Little League games, the Arts and Crafts Festival, and others.

If any organization wishes to use the Explorer troupe to provide security or traffic control in parking lots, they can contact Ed Kissingler, Dave Spillman, or Dusty Choate at the Big Spring Police Department.

"THE KIDS are really doing a dynamite job, and they are learning about law enforcement as well," said Spillman. "The fact that they helped the college by watching cars is only a small part of the good, since they probably averted several burglaries, and made less work for the police department in filing and investigating theft complaints."

The Explorers are also planning to co-sponsor an "All-Youth Day" at Comanche Trail Park sometime around the weekend of June 10. The Big Spring Police Association plans to help with the event, which will include a full day of contests and the opportunity for all city youth organizations to set up displays and recruit members.

Thanks to the 17 Explorers and three members of the Big Spring Police Department who volunteer their time as advisors, a lot of potential burglaries have been avoided, and youth organizations in the city can look forward to enjoying "All-Youth Day."

It is a sign of a good program when the members can learn about something as important as law enforcement, have a good time, and serve the community.

Nuclear 'Sputnik'

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — Partially obscured behind the shock waves of President Carter's neutron "bomb" decision, a crisis on nuclear power is building in the Western alliance over the creeping U.S. embargo against export of raw material for nuclear power plants with the Soviet Union benefiting directly.

This limit on exporting U.S.-produced enriched uranium comes out of the new nuclear non-proliferation act, with this unintended result: Soviet nuclear power becomes preeminent. Since breeder reactor technology is regarded by oil-starved Europe as vital to future energy needs, our European allies may turn eastward for their enriched uranium and technology exchange.

EVEN WITHOUT the new act, the President's abhorrence of the breeder reactor points to Soviet domination — as was pointed out in a confidential letter delivered to Mr. Carter April 4 from Rep. John W. Wydler of New York. The senior Republican on the House Science Committee, Wydler warned the President that "it is frightening to speculate on the degree of control of the world market (for breeder-produced nuclear power) that the Soviet Union might achieve by implementing" its fast-moving nuclear power program.

Economic and political stakes in the rush for nuclear energy by the Western democracies and Japan are awesome. Considering this, the Carter administration's nuclear non-policy could contribute to another global victory for the expansive masters of the Kremlin.

The nuclear non-proliferation act, signed into law March 10 by Mr. Carter, adds to the danger. It gives the nine Western European countries who belong to EURATOM 30 days to start negotiations with the U.S. The law bans U.S. exports of enriched uranium to Western Europe unless EURATOM agrees to U.S. control over spent fuel manufactured in European plants.

This is vitally important, giving Washington veto power over reprocessing spent fuel and, hence, over Europe's power to build breeder nuclear power plants. The breeder, making its own fuel as it manufactures power, is nearly indispensable to Europe's future power needs.

THIS UNILATERAL change in existing agreements dating back to the mid-60s infuriated the European nations. Forced to play the high-stakes nuclear power game in the Washington way, their first reaction was symbolic retaliation. With the French taking the lead, they simply ignored the provision in the new U.S. law giving them 30 days to start negotiations for new licenses to import enriched uranium.

The EURATOM nations will surely agree, probably soon, to negotiate new enriched uranium contracts. But thumbing their noses at starting the talks within the 30 days is a symbol of their anger.

President Carter's deeply-rooted fear is that reprocessed fuel — which is weapons-grade fuel — could be turned illegally into bombs. That is understandable when considered in a political vacuum. Unfortunately, however, the Soviet Union has no parallel concerns. The Soviets are far ahead of the breeder-reactor curve today and picking up ever more speed.

Rep. Wydler drafted his warning to the President after talks with the International Atomic Energy Agency in Vienna, the French atomic energy commission, and finally with the Russians in Moscow last month. A congressional expert on nuclear power, Wydler predicted to Mr. Carter we are "on the verge of an atomic sputnik" — a sudden Soviet advance.

Sports physicals more than gestures

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Our son, 16, had a physical for athletics at school and didn't pass because his blood pressure was 170-100. Our oldest son, 19, had his checked by a self-service machine in a store. It was 161-98. We are concerned, as we didn't think teenagers would or could have high blood pressure. We both have normal readings. — Mr. and Mrs. M.G.

Hypertension in young persons is not common, but it is one of the chief reasons for having the pre-sports examination. A common cause of hypertension at this age is a significant defect (a narrowing) of the upper portion of the aorta — the large artery leaving the heart. It is called coarctation, a kind of tightening of the structure. It causes a rise in blood pressure of the upper extremities (arms) and a lowering of pressure in the legs.

The exact cause is not known, but it is one of the more common of birth defects. My source indicates it may occur in from 10 to 15 per cent of patients with congenital (birth-related) heart disease. It is found twice as often in males as in females. It is not usual to find this in two brothers, but it was a relatively common reason for rejection of recruits for military service in World War II.

Other causes of such elevated pressure can be kidney disease or possibly adrenal-gland disturbance. You have enough warning to take action, and the boys should be seen by a doctor promptly. At the examination have the pressure taken in both arms and legs. Kidney studies should be done.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a college student, 17, and on an athletic scholarship. In a recent physical a heart murmur was found. Also, my blood pressure was 160-100. During workouts it reached 204-100. Should I continue my athletic career? — A.H.A.

I am surprised you have been allowed to continue your vigorous activity. The murmur could be related to your hypertension. See the above letter and answer.

To find out what causes high blood pressure and what can be done to treat it, send for a copy of "Controlling Your Blood Pressure (Hypertension)" by Dr. Thosteson. Write him in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

WANTED

BY THE FBI

"And what was so wrong about arresting that liber-type troublemaker?"

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I am a teenager and my problem is that I have sticky fingers. I mean, I often go into a store and steal little things that I don't even need. I have tried to stop, but I can't. Do you have any suggestions? — S.A.

DEAR S.A.: This can be a serious thing, not only because eventually you probably will be caught and prosecuted, but also because this will distort your personality and affect you for the rest of your life. More than that, of course, it is a direct contradiction to one of the Ten Commandments: "Thou shalt not steal" (Exodus 20:15). This is stressed again in the New Testament: "Let him that stole steal no more; but rather let him labour, working with his hands the thing which is good, that he may have to give to him that needeth" (Ephesians 4:28).

It is difficult for me to tell from your letter just how serious this matter is for you. There may be some factors in your background — such as your family situation or your friends — that predispose you to this kind of behavior. You may find it helpful to talk with a trained Christian psychologist about this. Your pastor can recommend one.

Whatever the reasons causing your behavior, however, it is important for you to quit; you are responsible for your actions. Your letter does not indicate if you have really become a born-again Christian. If you have never given your life to Jesus Christ, I urge you to do that right now. You cannot fight this thing on your own, but God can help you by giving you strength and a whole new reason for living.

There also may be some practical steps to take. For example, you should stay away from situations that you know will tempt you and cause you to yield. If you have to go into a store, go with friends who would disapprove of your stealing.

Too accurate

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — Apparently the old television series, "Mission Impossible," was all too accurate about the practice of government leaders ordering unlawful missions and disowning their underlings if caught.

There is reason to believe, for example, that past presidents knew more than the record discloses about the dirty doings of the Central Intelligence Agency. Now we have obtained secret evidence that the late J. Edgar Hoover played the same game.

Some of his former officials today face prosecution for illegal break-ins, bag jobs and buggings that the powerful FBI chief may have ordered secretly. The evidence indicates he carefully covered his own tracks to avoid personal embarrassment if his agents were caught.

ONE THE RECORD, Hoover placed in the official files memos and ordered ostentatiously taking a firm stand against unlawful tactics. On Jan. 6, 1967, he notified two of his top aides that he would not approve requests for illegal planting of listening devices on private premises.

"I have previously indicated that I do not intend to approve any such requests in the future," he declared emphatically, "and, consequently, no such recommendations should be submitted for approval of such matters. This practice, which includes also surreptitious entrances of any kind, will not meet with my approval in the future."

Obviously, this was intended to persuade future historians that Hoover scrupulously obeyed the laws he was supposed to enforce. Any evidence to the contrary naturally would not be left lying around. But this much is known:

— Under pressure from then-President Richard Nixon to disrupt leftwing extremists, the FBI continued its criminal trespassing and eavesdropping until Hoover's death in 1972.

— Virtually nothing went on in the close-knit FBI that escaped Hoover's notice. Even veteran colleagues feared to take any major action without his being informed. Almost every paper clip had to be accounted for.

— The late William C. Sullivan, a member of Hoover's inner sanctum, told a federal grand jury that in 1970 he relayed instructions from the FBI director to field agents that they should employ "any means necessary" to bring the extremists groups to book. He said Hoover cautiously avoided directly mentioning wiretapping, electronic listening and other forbidden acts. But Sullivan said, within the context of the discussion, the tactic approval was so clear "it needed no interpretation from me." Sullivan resigned in 1972 in a bitter break with Hoover and died recently in a hunting accident.

— Although interdepartmental documents attest to Hoover's disavowal of unlawful practices, an intriguing internal report was circulated after Hoover met with then-CIA chief Richard Helms and other intelligence officials. The memo admitted that the FBI was conducting "microphone surveillance" of 13 extremists, including the home of Black Panther leader Huey Newton. It is virtually impossible to plant a microphone in someone's home without trespassing.

— Following Hoover's death, the Justice Department disclosed to a closed-door Senate investigation that 14 "subversive targets were the subject of at least 238 entries" by the FBI continuing until April 1968. This would have been more than a year after Hoover's final disavowal. Our sources are emphatic that none of these would have been initiated without Hoover's sanction.

WHEN THE Watergate gang came up with a proposal to crack down on Nixon's political enemies by violating their basic rights, Hoover was credited with opposing the nefarious campaign. But a memo to Attorney General John Mitchell from the FBI chief pledged cooperation.

"Despite my clearcut and specific opposition," Hoover wrote, "the FBI is prepared to implement the instructions of the White House at your direction. Of course, we would continue to seek your specific authorization, where appropriate, to utilize the various sensitive investigation techniques involved in individual cases."

— We disclosed last year that the FBI not only planted microphones in an effort to discredit the late Martin Luther King Jr., but considered an illicit break-in and bugging to trap King's convicted assassin, James Earl Ray, in 1968. The mike was supposed to be planted on the premises of Ray's kinfolk. The FBI plotters acknowledged in a secret memo that someone would have to install "the devices by trespass." But the memo added that "the government of the United States should surely be willing to pick up the tab for any judgment against those who installed the microphones." At the bottom, the bulldog Hoover scrawled "OK" and an imperious initial "H."

— Under closed-door questioning at the Senate, an FBI official that another "black bag job" had taken place in April 1968, and that approval would have had to come from above, meaning Hoover.

— Under closed-door questioning at the Senate, an FBI official that another "black bag job" had taken place in April 1968, and that approval would have had to come from above, meaning Hoover.

END OF DAY

—by Julie Broaddus

Well, another day
has come and gone
And all the birds
have stopped their song.
The trees, still swaying in the breeze
As I struggle, in darkness to find my keys.
The cricket has started his familiar 'click'
While evening turns,
to darkness, thick.
But then the stars
come out to peek and Mr. Moon
lights up the street.
There's the key
for which I seek,
Thank you, moon,
for lighting the street.
Once again, I look up,
and gaze,
Thanking Him
for another day!

Sorority elects Laura Erhardt Woman of Year

Laura Erhardt was elected "Woman of the Year" by the Texas Delta Delta Chapter of Phi Sigma Alpha when they met April 11.

The group assembled at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Betty Warden. The meeting was called to order by Callie Jo Mason, president.

After discussion of business, Mrs. Erhardt was presented to her peers as the woman of the year for 1978-79. A member of the First Baptist Church, she has lived in Big Spring for the past 23 years and has been a Delta Delta member for the past five.

She was married to the late Marvin Erhardt and worked as an Electroencephalogram technician at the Big Spring State Hospital for 14 years preceding her retirement Nov. 1976.

Currently, she is serving as historian for her sorority chapter and is also a member of the Cactus Chapter of the American Business Women's Association.

Mrs. Erhardt presented the program, entitled, "Would You Believe It?", for the Tuesday night meeting. Johnnie Winham was elected to represent Delta Delta at an area assembly for discussion of by-laws.

Helen Dorias was a special guest at the meeting which was followed by refreshments and socializing after the closing prayer.

The next meeting will be at 7:30 p.m., May 9, at the home of Jean Cantrell.

LAURA ERHARDT

Mother of Six Faces Dilemma

DEAR ABBY: Recently you said in your column that you don't recommend withholding sex from a mate, so of course, my husband waved the paper in my face.

Abby, we have six children. We would have had 10, but two were stillborn, and I had two miscarriages. Each pregnancy was very hard on me, yet my husband refuses to use any kind of birth control, and he won't let me use anything. But that doesn't stop him from wanting sex.

After my last pregnancy, I wanted so much to have my tubes tied, but my husband wouldn't let me "do that" to myself.

I'm only 31 and he's 33. Can you imagine how many more kids I could have? I'm so worn out with these six kids, and I honestly don't want any more, so I finally told my husband that from now on he can just stay away from me. Now he's mean and surly, but I don't care. What else can I do?

TIRED
DEAR TIRED: Ask your doctor or clergyman to try to talk some sense into your husband's head. In view of your medical history, some kind of birth control (or sterilization for you—or him) should be considered. You are both too young to deny yourselves sex until menopause makes reproduction impossible.

DEAR ABBY: Re the woman whose husband gave her the silent treatment: Here's what I did when my husband pulled that on me.

I stood it for one week, then I decided that if he wouldn't talk to me, I would get on the phone and talk to someone who would. I didn't bother with local calls; instead, I telephoned friends and relatives in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Indiana. And I didn't watch the clock either; some of my conversations lasted an hour. I caught up with all the news and had a ball. I never once hinted that my husband wasn't speaking to me.

Needless to say, as soon as my husband got the telephone bill, the silence was broken. No way could he refuse to pay it or have the phone disconnected, because the telephone was in the name of his company.

I told him why I had made all those calls, and that was the last time he gave me the silent treatment.

FOUND A CURE IN ALBANY, ORE.
DEAR ABBY: I wouldn't recommend that "cure" for everyone. More than silence could be broken in some homes.

DEAR ABBY: A guy at school likes me, but I don't like him. There's nothing wrong with him—he's just not my type. He calls me for dates months ahead, knowing I couldn't possibly have a date for that night. What should I tell him?

If I say I'm busy on Friday night, he asks me for the next Friday night, and the next, and the next, and so on. I hate to hurt his feelings, but I hate going out with him even more. Please help me.

SOFTHEARTED
DEAR SOFT: Do him a favor and tell him that you like him as a friend, so if he's looking for a "girlfriend," you don't qualify. It's not as unkind as it sounds. At least you're turning him loose to ask someone who might be more his type.

Projects worked on

The Sew and Chatter Club met April 12 at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Robinson. The 14 members present worked on individual needlework projects.

Mrs. S. R. Nobles, Mrs. H. V. Cracker and Bernice Lightfoot were the April birthday honorees.

Refreshments were served from a table featuring an arrangement of spring flowers.

A quilt will be completed at the next meeting which will be April 26 at the home of Mrs. Lee Porter, 1919 Parkwood.

At Lake Brownwood

Center is tribute to 4-H'ers

The $1.4 million Texas 4-H Center, located on the banks of Lake Brownwood in central Texas, stands as a tribute to 4-H members and dedicated Texas residents who made this dream become a reality.

The Texas 4-H Foundation provided key leadership in planning and financing this facility. Funds came from individuals, industries, organizations and the 4-H Club members themselves.

More than 1,000 adult and teen leaders benefitted from intensive training programs conducted at the center during 1977. At least 8,000 participated in other educational experiences there from April 1976 through August 1977.

4-H youth and adult leaders, extension staff members and other groups outside the extension staff used the facilities for educational activities, such as weekend workshops, seminars, forums and camps.

The main point about the Texas 4-H center is that it provides an opportunity for leaders to work together to improve the experiences youth have in 4-H.

The 4-H Center is a source of strength, knowledge and inspiration for all. It is a tribute to 4-H members and leaders. It stands there because people believe in youth and in the work of 4-H leaders. It also stands as a vivid reminder that youth work is never complete.

UTU honors birthday girl

The United Transportation Union met Friday at 2:30 p.m. at Kentwood Center for a regular meeting with Margaret Barnett, president, in charge.

The first quarterly report was read and accepted, and several members were reported sick.

Following the meeting, a birthday party was held for Mrs. B. N. Ralph, who is celebrating her 90th birthday. Refreshments were served which carried out the birthday theme. Mrs. Ralph was presented a gift from the auxiliary.

Mrs. Frank Powell and Mrs. N. R. Smith were hostesses.

The next meeting will be at 2:30 p.m. May 14 at the K.O.A.C.

Youth work grows and adapts, reshaping itself as times change. The Texas 4-H Center provides an opportunity to keep pace with a change and to equip people for new challenges in working with youth. That's why it's there.

For information about upcoming events at the center, contact the County Extension Office (located in the basement of the courthouse) or call 267-6671 or 267-8469.

Dunagan is named to Dean's List

Baylor University named 762 students to its full 1977 Dean's Academic Honor List and Dean's Distinguished Academic Honor List.

The Dean's List included 318 students and 444 students were named to the Dean's Distinguished List.

To be named to the Dean's List, one must be an undergraduate or post-baccalaureate student with a grade point average between 3.6 and 3.79 (on a 4.0 scale) achieved during the semester.

Those named to the Dean's Distinguished List have a grade point average of 3.8 to 4.0.

Jeneva D. Dunagan, sophomore, 1606 E. 17th was named to the Dean's Distinguished Academic Honor List.

Ridin' fence — Kentuckian in the area

with Marj Carpenter

Larry Winders blew into Colorado City like the wind not too long ago to look at the possibility of taking the chamber of commerce membership, which he wasn't sure he really wanted.

He had retired once as a chamber manager in Kentucky and then suddenly found himself bored to death with all of his spare time.

He decided to look around a little bit. He had several letters. What intrigued him about Colorado City's was that even though they offered a smaller salary they spoke of it as an opportunity.

"I kind of liked the sound of a community that considered themselves an opportunity so I came out. And I walked around town and talked to people before I told the chamber officials I was here. And I liked the people," Winders added.

He said, "We intend to continue the many good projects that the chamber already sponsors and seek ways to add and improve."

Winders was in the army and later the Air Force. He was at Clark Field, Manila early in World War II and later served with the Paratroopers of the 82nd Airborne, going down behind

NEW CHAMBER MANAGER Larry Winders

Omaha Beach and breaking an ankle.

At one time, he also served as athletic director for the Air Defense Command in Munich and Frankfurt.

He's had quite an interesting life. At one time, when living in Colorado, he decided he liked western wear and began to wear cowboy boots. In Kentucky, when he was chamber manager at Paducah and Mayfield, he was a real oddity stomping around in cowboy boots.

"Nobody pays too much attention to me wearing them out here in West Texas," he added and then said, "I just like them."

During the few months he took early retirement, he enjoyed fishing and rock hunting and traveling. "However, I had barely broken in a new car before I decided I wanted to go back to work," the chamber manager admitted.

The chamber manager said that thus far, "I am most impressed with the friendly Colorado City people. They are enthusiastic, hopeful, optimistic, and all of the things a community needs to grow."

In the meantime, Winders and his wife are getting the feel of the community. "And we'll sit down sometime soon and make a master plan of where we think we're going.

I don't think Colorado City has ever had one," the chamber exec continued.

He's certainly enthused. And he says everybody else is, so realms of enthusiasm may be blowing forth from Coo City in the very near future.

"That's all right with me — because it's a community I like — out where I sometimes ride fence."

UTPB maps reception

Individuals interested in continuing their education at an upper level university are invited to a reception Wednesday 9:45 a.m. at the Tumbleweed Room in the Howard College SUB.

Dr. V.R. Cardozier, president of the University of Texas Permian Basin, will be present when a brief slide presentation on UTPB is given. He will be available to answer questions. While the reception was planned primarily for second-year students at Howard College, anyone who would like to know more about earning a degree or continuing studies at UTPB is invited. The affair is scheduled during activity period at the college.

Monday morning good for selling leeches

CHICAGO (AP) — They're wiggly, squiggly blood-suckers with three razor-sharp teeth.

They were important to physicians for thousands of years. And you might remember Humphry Bogart was covered with them in "African Queen."

Bloodletting — either by cutting or by attaching leeches to the body — nearly died out as a medical treatment in the late 1800s. But not entirely. Hirudo Medicinalis — medicinal leeches — are still sold by the hundreds at an old-time drugstore in Chicago's Loop.

"Nine out of 10 people who come in to get leeches are buying them to withdraw blood from black eyes. Monday morning is a good morning — after the weekend fights," said Harvey Snitman, manager of Sargent's Drugstore on Wabash Avenue.

He said others, who come from as far away as New York for the leeches, claim they help relieve migraine headaches, phlebitis, and the swelling of bruises.

"We're the only retail outlet in the country for live medicinal leeches," he said, adding that the store sells 500 to 600 a year.

Snitman, wearing a white pharmacist's coat, took what looked like a big pickle jar from the store's front window, reached in and drew from the water a thin, blackish-brown worm that squiggled in his palm, trying to sink tiny teeth into his flesh.

"It attaches itself to whatever you want it to. It gets to look like a little sausage, and then it drops off. Then the swelling goes down; it's dead blood in there that causes the swelling," he said.

Does it hurt? "No, he's got teeth sharp as a razor."

"Years ago every drugstore had them; 50 cents apiece. Now they're $6," the pharmacist said.

He emphasized that the store does not prescribe the use of leeches and he will not recommend their use. But sales are legal and he's just passing along what his customers tell him, he said.

The medicinal leeches, he said, come from a London supplier, who imports them from Russia, Poland and Hungary.

Dr. Lester S. King, a professor at the Center for the Study of the History of Science and Medicine at the University of Chicago, said in a separate interview that the use of one or two leeches does no harm at all.

Demolition of 9 more structures is ordered

A total of 31 dilapidated structures in Big Spring have been demolished thanks to the local Structural Standards Board.

The board has reviewed 58 cases since its creation in September. Of these, 49 involved structures that were ordered demolished, with 31 already demolished and the rest under way.

During its April 4 meeting, the board ordered the demolition of nine more structures in the city. These structures are located at: 406 Donley; 506 Austin, 2312 Austin; 201 N. Nolan, 209 N. Nolan, 809 N. Nolan; 207 N.E. 6th; 1503 W. 1st; and 3305 Airport.

In other actions, board members:

— Allowed Robert Lepard 60 days to repair or demolish property at 305 State.

— Passed taking action on property at 406 N. Bell because the owner, J. H. Garcia had not been notified.

— Allowed Encarnacion Alcaron 60 to 90 days to bring repair to a structure at 607 W. 7th so that it complies with the city ordinance.

— Allowed a 30-day extension to reevaluate property at 1201 W. 5th, owned by Joe Torres.

— Allowed 60 days for demolition at 1315 Utah of a structure owned by James Brumley.

— Allowed Noel D. Marsalis 60 days to renovate or move a building at 1307 Mobile.

Russian wants $100,000 to tell secrets

NEW YORK (AP) — Arkady Shevchenko, the Soviet diplomat who last week refused to return to Russia, reportedly wants $100,000 a year to reveal which U.S. agencies were fed false information by the KGB, Time magazine says.

According to Time, Shevchenko had been talking secretly to U.S. intelligence officers for two years before he walked out of his United Nations post last Monday over "differences with his government."

As undersecretary-general for political and Security Council Affairs, Shevchenko was the highest ranking Soviet citizen employed by the United Nations.

Time said Shevchenko, who has been hiding somewhere in New York State since his April 10 disappearance, defected to the West to win top dollar for his information and possibly to give similar information to five other nations whose secret services have been in touch with him.

Last week, informed sources were quoted as saying that Shevchenko wants the money he has paid toward the U.N. pension fund for which he is not yet eligible, a lump sum for the two remaining years of his contract for his $76,000-a-year job and assurances he can remain in the United States.

"I have my own ideas about smoking."

"I know what I like out of life. And one of the things I like is smoking. But there's no getting away from the stories I keep hearing about cigarettes and high tar.

"There's also no getting away from why I smoke. I smoke for the pleasure of it. For the taste. And for enjoying a cigarette after my long day as a teacher.

"Then at night when I work my other job — as a drummer — I enjoy lighting up between sets. It's part of the way I live.

"For me, the dilemma was how to find a cigarette that could give me taste without high tar. And that was quite a dilemma.

"Which is why I appreciate Vantage as much as I do. It's the only low-tar cigarette I've found (and I've tried several other brands) that really gives me cigarette taste and satisfaction.

"And the Vantage filter is especially neat because it's firm yet easy drawing.

"As far as Vantage goes, my mind is made up. And that's just the way I like it."

Homer Rice changes from Owl to Bengal

CINCINNATI (AP) — Homer Rice, head coach and athletic director at Rice University the past two years, will join the Cincinnati Bengals May 1 as quarterback coach of the National Football League team.

Bengals' General Manager Paul Brown confirmed the hiring of Rice in today's edition of The Cincinnati Enquirer.

Brown said Rice's "history is that of being an outstanding technician in the quarterback phase of the game. His teams have always been high scoring and high in the rankings as far as passing is concerned."

Rice, 50, was head coach at the University of Cincinnati in 1967 and 1968. He developed record-setting quarterbacks in Greg Cook at Cincinnati and Tommy Kramer at Rice. Cook was the Bengals' No. 1 draft choice in 1969 after leading the nation with a 335.8-yard average per game. Kramer, now with the Minnesota Vikings, led the nation in total offense in 1976 with the second-highest total in NCAA history.

The move is the Bengals' latest to rejuvenate their offense, which has slipped in recent seasons. Cincinnati's touchdown totals have dropped from 45 in 1975, to 42 in 1976 to 26 in 1977. During that time the Bengals went from 11-3, to 10-4 to 8-6.

"Homer has had several other opportunities with professional teams, and we're happy he's coming with us. We feel he'll strengthen us," said Brown. He added that Rice would assist in the "overall offensive strategy."

Rice takes over the quarterback job from Boyd Dowler, who held the dual role as quarterback-receiver coach for the past two years. Dowler will remain with the club as receiver coach.

Earlier this winter, the Bengals hired George Sefcik, offensive backfield coach of the Cleveland Browns.

Rice, a native of Ft. Thomas, Ky., was added after Jack Donaldson, former backfield coach, resigned to take a similar post with the Buffalo Bills.

Dixon talks to himself and Astros win

HOUSTON (AP) — It took him 10 days but Houston reliever Tom Dixon finally got his second chance Sunday, and the result was a 4-3 victory over the Cincinnati Reds in a 13-inning marathon.

"I really talked to myself before I went out there and told myself that I could do it," said Dixon, who had not pitched since an opening day loss to the Reds. "I told myself there was no reason to get hyped up, that I could do the job."

Dixon's conversation with himself helped him subdue the Reds' bats in the 12th and 13th innings and make possible the game-winning single by Enos Cabell with two out in the bottom of the 13th. He allowed but one hit and retired the side in the 13th.

It was a satisfying improvement from his first relief appearance against the Reds when he yielded three hits, two runs and walked one without retiring a single batter.

The victory gave the Astros a 2-1 edge over the Reds and Los Angeles Dodgers in successive three-game series in the Astrodome, and, according to Cabell, gives the Astros some respect.

"People know now that we can play with these teams," Cabell said. "Most of the guys knew it all ready but this doesn't hurt any."

The Astros were cruising along with a 3-1 lead going into the ninth inning. Houston's J.R. Richard was in control with a two-hitter when disaster struck.

Richard yielded a leadoff single to Dan Driessen and then departed after walking Johnny Bench and Dave Concepcion to load the bases. Pinch hitter Don Werner's single scored Bench and a bases-loaded walk by reliever Joe Sambito brought home Concepcion with the tying run.

The Astros threatened in each of the overtime innings but couldn't get the winning run across until the 13th. Shortstop Jimmy Sexton started the inning with a

Player comebacks becoming weekly occurrence

CARLSBAD, Calif. (AP) — There was a brief conversation between Gary Player and Jack Nicklaus as they walked up the 10th fairway during the final round of golf's Tournament of Champions.

"Well, Gary," said Jack, "you've made up the seven shots in just nine holes."

"Yes, Jack," replied Gary, "but now I have to be concerned that someone doesn't make up seven on me on the next nine. There's always that possibility, you know."

But it didn't happen. Didn't even come close. Player simply pulled further ahead of golf's strongest field. And, for the second week in a row, the little South African secured a victory from seven strokes off the pace.

In many respects, his triumph Sunday closely resembled his victory a week earlier in the Masters. He started the final round seven shots back. He played about a half-hour in front of the other contenders. He put his final round — this time a 5-under-par 67 — on the board and had to wait and watch while a collection of the world's best players took a shot at it.

In the Masters, three men had a chance to tie or better his score. This time no one got within two shots. It completed one of the game's great comebacks. There are no records to indicate consecutive come-from-behind superlatives. Last year, however, the best come-from-behind on the PGA Tour was six shots. Player now has done better than that in consecutive weeks.

And the self-styled "eternal optimist" was completely unsurprised.

"After 25 years as a pro, there is nothing in golf that surprises me," he said after collecting $45,000 from the total purse of $225,000 on his winning total of 281, 7 shots below par on the 6,889-yard La Costa Country Club course.

It pushed his earnings for two weeks to $90,000, marked the 20th victory of his American career, 113 around the world and made him the first man in more than a year to win consecutive American titles.

Lee Trevino and Andy North tied for second at 283. North after a 69 in the cool, windy, sunny weather, and Trevino shot a 71.

Nicklaus, the defending champion and Player's partner over the final 18 holes, never really got into it. He shot a 77, including 42 over the back nine, and finished at 291. U.S. Open champion Hubert Green was 76-293. British Open king Tom Watson shot 76-288 and PGA champ Lanny Wadkins 78-293.

Hobson's bat sinks Rangers, 8-6

BOSTON (AP) — Mark Fidrych, the ace of the Detroit Tigers' pitching staff, said it all last month after facing the Boston Red Sox in a Florida exhibition game.

"I don't want to pitch against that team very often, not with a 30-home run hitter like Butch Hobson batting ninth," Fidrych said.

Add Manager Billy Hunter and his Texas Rangers as believers.

With Hobson drilling two singles, including a shot off the wall in left center to drive in the tie-breaking run in the sixth inning, the Red Sox defeated the Rangers 8-6 Sunday for a sweep of a three-game series.

"He's got to be the best No. 9 hitter in baseball," Hunter said in praising Hobson, who was 8-for-33, with two homers, six runs batted in and four runs scored in the series.

Hobson and the Red Sox wrecked Texas pitching to the tune of 43 hits and 25 runs, delighting Manager Don Zimmer and boosting the team's record to 5-3.

"Mr. Zimmer and his troops weren't too gracious," Hunter said. "We did score two more runs than we did Saturday and we gave up three less, so I guess you could say we're improving."

And, Gervin's clutch shooting at the end of the game threw water on a Washington rally.

Washington Coach Dick Motta saw Sunday's game this way:

"We let them (San Antonio) get away in the third period. Gervin got them going and we just Hobson, fielding like Brooks Robinson of yesterday with dives to his right and left, had a ball against the Rangers, although playing in pain with chips floating around in his right elbow.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The Washington Bullets seem to bring out the best in George Gervin, the 6-foot-7 San Antonio guard who led the National Basketball Association scoring this season.

The "Iceman," as he is nicknamed for his cool court demeanor, went on a second-half binge Sunday, scoring 25 points to finish with 35 and rally the Spurs to a 114-103 NBA playoff victory over the Bullets.

The victory gave San Antonio a 1-0 advantage over Washington in their best-of-seven, second-round playoff series. The Bullets try to even the series here Tuesday night.

"Gervin was going to his jumper and hitting it. You can't stop him when that's happening," said Kevin Grevey, the Washington guard who defended Gervin.

Grevey, who averaged 29 points in the Bullets' two-game mini-series playoff against Atlanta last week, was held to 14 by Gervin.

Gervin, who averaged 30 points per game against the Bullets in four regular season contests, hit eight of 10 shots in the third period as San Antonio battled back from a 49-48 halftime deficit to an 82-76 lead over the Bullets.

Washington Coach Dick Motta saw Sunday's game this way:

"We let them (San Antonio) get away in the third period. Gervin got them going and we just couldn't stop him."

However, the rugged third baseman learned to play with pain as a starting quarterback for the University of Alabama three years ago. He just has his elbow taped heavily and goes out there.

"Yes, it hurts, but I can live with it," Hobson said in his quiet, dignified manner. "I'm afraid it will be this way all season. It hurts to throw the ball and even when I swing, but I'm here to play."

'Iceman' no cube, melts Bullets with 35

Motta was confident Washington could still win when the Bullets cut a 16-point San Antonio lead to 105-101 with 55 seconds left in the game.

"But then we fouled Gervin and he sank both free throws," he said. "It was pretty much over then. Every man on their team can score. The only way to beat San Antonio is to play super defense all the time."

Coach Doug Moe of San Antonio said the Spurs' sluggish start was due to a weeklong layoff the team had after its last regular season game on April 9. San Antonio, the Central Division champion, had a bye in the first playoff round.

"After the first quarter was over, our defense was almost unbelievable. We did a much better job rebounding in the second half. I thought we were just a little tight at the start," Moe said.

Gervin, who had 10 points in the first half, said San Antonio began to play its running-passing game more after intermission and he found himself open.

"I took a lot of shots because of that and because I was in good range," said the Iceman.

Larry Kenon, who keyed San Antonio's defense with nine rebounds, had eight points in the third period rally and finished with 22 in the game. Mike Gale had 13 for the Spurs, Mark Olberding 11 and Coby Dietrick 10.

Elvin Hayes, who grabbed 15 rebounds for the Bullets, led Washington's scoring with 26 points, followed by Mitch Kupchak's 19 and Tom Henderson's 16 points.

HOMER RICE
From namesake to Cincinnati

YOU'RE OUT! — Houston Astros' Jose Cruz (25) shouts at umpire Jerry Dale after being called out at home plate in the 12th inning of Sunday's game in Houston. Cincinnati Reds' catcher Johnny Bench (5) walks away after making the tag. Cruz failed on an attempt to score from second base on a hit by teammate Art Howe. Houston won the game after 13 innings, 4-3.

JV action winding down

The BSHS junior varsity baseball team travels to Midland Tuesday to play the Midland High subs, and complete their 1978 season in the same city Thursday through Saturday, competing in the Midland JV Tournament.

The Shortorns, coached by Howell Martin, lost to Abilene 4-3 in five innings Saturday, and gave the Eunice, N.M. varsity fits before finally dropping a 5-1 decision Friday.

"These guys have been playing very well recently," said Martin, "and they've made tremendous improvement since the start of the season." Proving that point, the locals lost to Eunice the first time around, 16-3, and dropped a 19-2 decision to the Abilene JV during first half action.

The locals were hampered against Eunice by the lights in their first night game of the season. Mark Warren, Greg Henry and Freddie Martinez (double) were the only Shortorns who hit safely during that contest.

In the Abilene loss, Warren, Jim Brown (single and homer), Rusty Hayworth, Joe Monje and Tommy Rodriguez all hit safely, before the 1½ hour time limit halted the game.

"I've been real encouraged with the things that have been happening in the last couple of weeks," said Martin. "About our only problem is that we need pitching in the late innings. We start tough, but these kids are young and not as strong as they will be next year."

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Get into the detail of plans you have decided to put in motion. Gain the goodwill of associates by showing that you are exact, particular and meticulous.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You accomplish a great deal of things you need during spare time. Show you are an active, happy person.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Take time out for necessary grooming and improve appearance. Then handle business affairs and get good results.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You have many domestic chores to do so take care of them early. Consider new appliances to make home more functional, charming.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Study data you need in order to carry through with work you have committed yourself to. Get the cooperation of a good friend for a plan you have in mind. Be successful with it.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Get busy making collections and paying bills and forget those big plans for the time being. Study property and make necessary repairs.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Plan time to get current interests improved so that you feel happy with them. Be with trusted friends and have a good time.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have some personal chores to handle that will give you free time later for pursuing greater happiness. Be with loved ones more.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Come to a better understanding with a good friend so that the relationship continues for a long time to come. Have a good time with special friends.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Tackle small tasks that seem trivial but together are most important. Contact a bigwig and gain the favor you need.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Make proper arrangements, correspond with those you want to see before you make that trip. Study a new plan you have in mind also.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Get busy with your own affairs and forget problems of others. Try to be more cooperative with loved one later.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Meeting with associates and exchanging views can bring fine results now. An irksome civic matter can bring good results. Handle it with intelligence.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be able to comprehend detailed plans and should have a fine education to make the most of this unusual ability. Sports are important to your child who will have an excellent physique. Give proper kind of discipline early. "The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

On the eighth green, I looked at the scoreboard and saw how far behind the leaders I was," said Jaeckel, whose best finish this year was a fourth in Los Angeles. "I figured I was looking at a third place check, at best."

The 29-year-old Jaeckel picked up 5 strokes on the first five holes of the back nine with 4 birdies and an eagle and then tied Lietzke on the 18th hole with a birdie after Lietzke suffered a bogey.

In the streak, he holed out a 45-yard chip shot on No. 10 for a birdie, sank a 15-foot putt on No. 11 for another birdie and then parred No. 12 after burying the ball in a bunker and having to blast out to eight feet.

Boston run today

HOPKINTON, Mass. (AP) — The cream of the world's top distance runners led a record pack off the starting mark today in the 82nd Boston Athletic Association Marathon.

Pre-race favorites included former Olympic champion Frank Shorter, top-ranked Bill Rodgers, and the 1977 winner, Jerome Drayton of Canada.

It was the first Boston duel for the Americans, Shorter and Rodgers.

More than 4,000 official entrants were seeded in blocks of 500 in this small town, 26 miles, 385 yards from the finish line in Boston.

About 4,700 men and women had qualified for the race and an unknown number of unofficial entrants also planned to try the grueling, hilly course.

Race officials said nearly 500 reporters, representing the world's major news media, sought credentials.

Qualifying time for the athletes — three hours for men and 3 1/2 hours for women — barely stemmed the flood of applications from runners who have

In the playoff, Jaeckel said he was concerned because he had not been able to master the first hole all week, making only one par and three bogeys in the four rounds.

"I didn't have too much confidence this week," said Lietzke. "And it came out when I was under pressure. When I was in the role of the leader, I just didn't have the confidence to perform."
