Princess, Lord Snowden will divorce

LONDON (AP) — Princess Margaret and her husband Lord Snowden have agreed to a divorce, Buckingham Palace announced today.

An official statement announcing the impending end of the stormy marriage said:

"Her royal highness, the Princess Margaret, Countess of Snowden, and the Earl of Snowden after two years of separation have now agreed that their marriage should formally be ended. Accordingly her royal highness will start the necessary legal proceedings."

Margaret, sister of Queen Elizabeth II, separated from her photographer husband March 16, 1976, after 16 years of marriage.

The 47-year-old princess and Lord Snowden, 48, have two children — David Viscount Linley, 16, and Lady Sarah Armstrong-Jones, 14.

A spokesman at Kensington Palace, Margaret's home, said the Princess had "no plans for re-marriage."

Margaret has drawn criticism in recent months for her friendship with 30-year-old socialite Roddy Llewellyn.

She is currently in King Edward VII Hospital in London suffering from suspected gastroenteritis. The Kensington Palace spokesman said Margaret was "making progress...."

The result of tests taken by the doctors will not be known until Friday."

He said he had no knowledge of Lord Snowden's plans. "We are not in a position to comment about Lord Snowden."

The last member of the British royal family to be involved in divorce proceedings was the Earl of Harewood, the queen's cousin, who divorced 11 years ago.

The spokesman said the divorce proceedings were already under way and the princess will be represented by the queen's lawyer, Matthew Farrer.

The queen has been kept informed of the situation but her constitutional consent is not necessary.

"The princess is suing for divorce. This is a technicality, one party has to start the proceedings," the spokesman said. "The marriage has broken down and the couple have lived apart for two years. These are obviously the grounds for divorce."

The 1960 marriage of the effervescent 29-year-old princess and globe-trotting photographer Antony Armstrong-Jones — raised to the peerage as the Earl of Snowden in 1961 — was a glamorous match that caught the fancy of romantics throughout the world.

But as the years passed, it became clear the relationship was wearing thin. Even before their formal split in 1976, she began to be seen with Llewellyn, a brewery heir who aspires to become a nightclub singer.

The two took frequent vacations together on the Caribbean island of Mustique and often spent weekends together on Llewellyn's Wiltshire farm. Critics, including Church of England clerics, said the affair was damaging to the image of the royal family, and some said Llewellyn was distracting Margaret from her royal duties.

WILL END THEIR MARRIAGE — Princess Margaret and her husband Lord Snowden have agreed to a divorce, Buckingham Palace announced today. An official statement said that the Queen's sister will start the necessary legal proceedings after 18 years of marriage. The couple have been separated since March 1976. They are shown here in an official 1974 portrait.

Wife of Soviet diplomat kills self

MOSCOW (AP) — Leongina Shevchenko, the wife of the Soviet U.N. diplomat who refused to return home from the United States, committed suicide, her son said today.

Gennady Shevchenko told Western reporters by telephone from the family's Moscow apartment he could give no details about his mother's death Monday "but I confirm that she committed suicide."

Earlier the son, like his father a diplomat in the Soviet Foreign Service, told reporters who telephoned him his mother had died of a heart attack.

"I just did not want to say immediately that she had committed suicide," he said in a subsequent call.

Soviet sources with good official contacts made the first disclosure of the suicide, saying Mrs. Shevchenko died from an overdose of sleeping pills and that her body was found in a closet of the family apartment where she had been living with her 16-year-old daughter since her return from New York in April.

Arkady Shevchenko, the top-ranking Soviet citizen on the staff of the United Nations, left his post as undersecretary-general for political and security council affairs on April 5 because of "differences with his government," a U.N. spokesman said.

Informed sources said he refused to obey an order from the Soviet government to return home, and his wife went without him, taking their daughter.

FIRST — David Cook, 37, wings his way out to sea to make aviation history Tuesday as the first man to cross the English Channel in a home-made powered hang glider. He had taken off from the beach below Walmer Castle, near Deal, and touched down at Calais, France, just over an hour later. The glider has a nine-horsepower go-kart type engine.

Italians mourn death of Moro

ROME (AP) — Four terrorists shot a Milan industrial executive in the legs today, keeping up the war on the Italian establishment despite nationwide revulsion at the Red Brigades' murder of Aldo Moro.

Police said three men and a woman made the attack on Franco Giacomazzi, an executive of the state-owned Montedison chemical industry. Such attacks, known as kneecapping, are a favorite tactic of the Red Brigades.

The ultra-leftist terrorists were expected to follow up the murder of Moro with attacks on more political leaders, and the newspaper Corriere della Sera said police protection of likely targets had been intensified.

The murder also strengthened the alliance between Moro's Christian Democratic Party and the Communists and promised election gains to the government party.

In a spontaneous burst of emotion, millions of Italians poured out of factories, shops, offices and schools Tuesday to demonstrate against terrorism after Moro's body — chained and riddled with 11 bullets — was found in a parked car in the heart of Rome.

More than 100,000 people crowded Milan's Piazza del Duomo. More than 30,000 marched around the Colosseum in Rome, carrying hastily-fashioned white banners for the Christian Democrats and red for the Communists along with black-framed portraits of the 61-year-old former premier.

The nation's unions called a two-hour general strike today so workers could attend mass meetings against terrorism. Student demonstrations also were scheduled, and some student groups "excommunicated" the Red Brigades from the anti-government movement.

The massive display of unity gave new support to Premier Giulio Andreotti's Christian Democratic government and to the alliance Moro forged to include the Communists in the government's parliamentary majority for the first time in 31 years.

"The Red Brigades have pushed the Communist Party and their labor unions toward a policy of law and order," commented Luigi Barzini, author of the best-selling book "The Italians."

"They have moved the Christian Democrats closer to the Communists. The murder of Aldo Moro is worse than a crime; it is a mistake on the part of the Red Brigades."

But repeatedly after their gunmen kidnapped Moro on March 16 and killed his five bodyguards, the ultra-leftist revolutionaries said in their "communiques" that the abduction was only one phase of their open war against Italian society.

"Let it be clear that we do not intend to finish the game at this point," they vowed in their first message.

"The capture of Aldo Moro is merely an illuminating moment of the class struggle," said another. "The prime objective is the attack on the imperialist state and the liquidation of the filthy and corrupt Christian Democratic regime."

In addition to a steady stream of attacks on political and business leaders and lesser figures, the Red Brigades are expected to release tape recordings they extracted from the president of the Christian Democratic Party during the "people's trial" at which they said he was sentenced to death for his leading part in Italy's governments for more than 20 years.

In one communique, the gang said Moro's "testimony" would be released to the clandestine terrorist press. Government officials are concerned that Moro was forced to disclose secrets he acquired while serving as premier five times between 1963 and 1976, as foreign minister and as president of the party which has dominated Italian politics since World War II.

Lease one-sided in favor of U.S., says Spannaus

The city does not like some provisions of its interim lease of Webb AFB and has sent the Corps of Engineers a list of revisions.

According to Harry Spannaus (Col., Ret.), industrial park manager, the lease is very one-sided in favor of the government.

"This lease is of little benefit to the city, and all the beans are in the federal pot. All expenses for maintenance, care, custody, fire protection and security would come from the city's pocket," he stated in a memo to city officials.

According to estimates, the rental revenue from properties at the park will come to about $26,000. Considering employ costs, general maintenance of facilities and grounds, security and fire protection, utilities and insurance costs operations will result in a large deficit.

Proposed revisions to the lease include:

—All rent paid to the Corps of Engineers during May will be returned in full to the city, and deposited into a Big Spring Industrial Park fund.

—The city will be required to guarantee insurance on only those structures which are occupied. —All existing supplies and equipment will be retained for exclusive use by the city for custody, care and maintenance of industrial park properties.

—The city will not be obligated to pay for utilities when such utilities are based upon peak demand rates of previous months.

Hovila execution stay is expected

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A spokesman for Gov. Dolph Briscoe said today the governor probably will grant a 30-day stay of execution for William David Hovila, scheduled to be put to death early Monday morning.

Jay Floyd, the head of the governor's clemency office, said the Hovila reprieve is under consideration and will be presented to Briscoe, "as soon as we get a chance to talk with him."

He said the governor was expected to make a quick decision.

Hovila, 30, of Dallas twice was convicted of the 1973 capital murder of Dallas lawyer Henry J. McCluskey Jr. who was robbed and shot twice in the back.

Floyd noted that it has been traditional for Texas governors to grant such 30-day stays after all apparent court appeals have failed.

He said in researching all death cases from 1950, when the governor was first given the authority, to 1964, the last execution, all requests for reprieves were granted.

The 30-day delay can be granted by the governor without recommendation by any other person or body. After that reprieve, an unlimited number of stays may be granted upon recommendation of the board of pardons and paroles and the governor's approval, Floyd said.

The Texas Department of Corrections was making preparations for its first use of a drug as a means of putting a man to death.

BIG SPRING LEGEND — Tom Castle, local fiddler, is somewhat of a Big Spring legend and makes many appearances in the area. He and his group fiddled up a song Tuesday night at the Night of Music. They also will play in early August at the Old Settlers Reunion. (Related story and pictures on 2-A).

Congressional recount in works

Officials discovered two 14,600-vote swings — apparently caused by a mis-programmed computer — and announced Tuesday night that two Dallas County "losers" in Saturday's Democratic primary had actually won.

And a recount was in the works in the 6th Congressional District, where three Democratic candidates were separated by razor-thin margins.

Chet Edwards, the apparent third place finisher in the congressional race, called for the recount after a canvass showed him only 100 votes behind the runner-up out of 82,000 votes cast. Edwards, 26, is a former aide to U.S. Rep. Olin Teague, who is retiring after 32 years in Washington.

Edwards' tabulation of votes from the 11 counties in the district — stretching from Bryan to the Dallas-Fort Worth area — showed him with 22,145 votes; Phil Gramm, 36, former Texas A&M economics professor, with 22,257 votes; and Ron Godbey, 42, an attorney and former television weathercaster, with 23,489 votes.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: How long?

Q. How long have automobile license plates been required in the state?
A. The first uniform plates were sold in 1917, and then to only 19,472 who owned vehicles. They were round, with white numbers on a red background and sold for $7.50 each. During the ten years previous to that, each county had its own numbering system and charged 50 cents to register a car. Between 10 and 11 million are now issued in the state and some (for tractor trucks) can cost $800.

Offbeat: Dead man elected

ROCKPORT, Texas (AP) — It's always disheartening to lose an election, but Pepe Zambrano thinks his case is so unique somebody ought to make a movie out of it.

Aransas County voters reelected the late incumbent Lawrence Miller by an almost 3-1 margin over Zambrano in a race for a justice of the peace seat in Saturday's Democratic primary.

The elderly Miller died several weeks ago but his name was left on the ballot as required by state law, since he died after the 45-day deadline to remove a candidate's name from the slate.

"Somebody ought to come down here and make a movie out of this," Zambrano said. "They could call it 'Pepe and the Dead Man.' You can't imagine how hard it is to campaign against an opponent with that kind of popular sympathy. There isn't a lot you can say campaigning."

Zambrano said he thinks he probably would've beaten Miller had the incumbent lived.

"After he died, a group of people who called themselves 'concerned citizens' ran an advertising campaign in the papers to elect Miller," Zambrano said. "What they wanted was for him to win, meaning no one had won, so the Democratic committee could pick their own candidate. And now that's just what's going to happen."

Zambrano said under Texas law, if a primary fails to select a candidate for the general election, the party's county executive committee selects one.

There were no Republican candidates for the position.

Anarchists dance

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Supporters of the anarchist group MOVE danced in the street and filled the night air with rhythmic hand clapping as police dismantled the final bit of a barricade that for two months had shut off the sect's west Philadelphia compound from food and water.

Even critics of the mop-haired radicals said they were glad to see the barricade and massive police presence depart Tuesday night from the Powelton Village neighborhood near Drexel University and the University of Pennsylvania.

Earlier Tuesday, MOVE members surrendered a shotgun, two rifles and four revolvers to police as part of the final phase of a negotiated truce ending the siege at MOVE's ramshackle headquarters.

'Perfect landing' in bay

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Federal officials have begun their investigation to learn why a National Airlines jetliner — in no apparent trouble — made a "perfect landing" into Escambia Bay, instead of on the runway three miles ahead.

Flight 183 crashed into the fog-shrouded waters late Monday with 58 persons aboard. Three of the 52 passengers drowned.

Investigators say they have no immediate indication why the three-engine jet wasn't at the prescribed altitude of 1,250 feet when it hit the water.

Postal Service cash-starved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The staff at Sen. Edward Zorinsky's office doesn't have a monopoly on the practice of re-using uncanceled postage stamps to save money.

The cash-starved Postal Service says it's losing $25 million to $75 million a year because of the widespread practice, which happens to be a federal crime.

A Zorinsky aide said that since the stamps apparently missed the Postal Service's cancellation machinery, they can be legally re-used. The Postal Service doesn't agree, but admits enforcement of the statute is difficult.

Floating minefield

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thousands of icebergs may fall off an Alaska glacier this summer, creating a floating minefield for 200,000-ton oil supertankers, government scientists say.

And if something isn't done to contain the ice, the alternative might be to close the sea route to oil-laden tankers leaving the Valdez terminal in Alaska for the West Coast.

One proposed solution would use nylon ropes 10-inches in diameter and 2½ miles long to hold the icebergs back from shipping lanes until the ice melted, according to a Coast Guard study.

Police beat Arson is suspected

What appears to be another case of arson resulted in $2,000 damage to a vacant storeroom belonging to Jack Alexander, 8 Highland.

The garage storeroom behind a vacant home at 622 Ridgelea went up in flames, 9:15 p.m. Tuesday. Firefighters were at the scene only three minutes later, but damage was listed as heavy to the empty building.

The exact cause of the blaze is unknown, but investigators speculate that it could have been intentionally started in a brush pile next to the building. Detective Mike Kelly will look into the matter today.

After an argument over a girl two shots were fired at Lindsay Craters, Bartlett, who was staying at 1410 Robin early this morning.

According to reports, Craters was on his way home from the Fallout Lounge around midnight Tuesday when he was accosted by a man who threatened him. An argument over a girl followed, and Craters left the scene.

Then, 15 minutes later, two shots were fired at him as he stood at the front door of the Robin Street residence. One shot went through a front window, while the other passed through the door, approximately four inches from the floor.

No one was hurt, but damage to the house was estimated at $70.

Burglars broke into the residence of Cory Beevers, Southland Apartments, sometime between 9 a.m. and 7 p.m. Tuesday. Stolen was a jar containing $50 in change.

A Ford Bronco belonging to Larry Greenfield, 610 E. 14th, was stolen from his driveway sometime between 4 and 5 p.m. Sunday. According to reports, the $400 auto was not running at the time.

Burglars also broke into the home of Helen Hill, 1009 E. 16th, sometime between 7:30 and 9:50 p.m. Tuesday. The only item stolen was a jewelry box containing costume jewelry valued at $20.50.

Vandals stuck a knife in four tires of a car belonging to Mike Blalack, Route 2, while he was inside Bogart's Lounge, between 10:30 and 11:15 p.m. Tuesday. Damage was estimated at $190.

Vandals also tossed a rock through the window of a brand new, 1978 Chevrolet Camaro that was being shipped on a T&P Railroad car at First and Main. Damage was estimated at $200.

Funds voted for center

The West Side Community Center voted at its Monday night board meeting to set aside $60,000 for renovations and improvements of the former youth center at Webb AFB, now the Big Spring Industrial Park.

The improvements will be handled by Johnston Construction. In addition to renovations, the board plans to install kitchen equipment, and put up fencing and add to the playground.

The center already has a waiting list for 58 children to be served at the new facility.

The board approved $53,464 in matching funds in its annual budget to federal funds received. Some of this is in the form of rent, utilities and other items.

Mrs. W.N. Norred presided over the center board meeting. President of the Day Care Center board is Dr. C.T. Moore.

The Community Center board also approved allowing the 13 members of their Boy Scout troop to paint the inside of the West Side Community Center to raise needed funds to attend camp June 25.

Hiram Garcia reported that the boys recently won first place at a Camporee in Andrews for their camping skills.

The board approved purchasing a pool table and a bumper pool table. They also set plans to have a booth at the Howard County Fair.

Bond denied killer suspect

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals today denied bond for Gregory Arthur Ott, who is charged with capital murder in the death of Texas Ranger Bobby Doherty.

Doherty was killed Feb. 20 during a marijuana raid on a house near Argyle in Denton County, Ott, a North Texas State University graduate student, has been held without bond in the Denton County jail since the shooting.

The Texas Constitution says all prisoners are entitled to bail except those charged with a capital offense. Even in capital cases, the prosecution must furnish ample proof that the defendant will be convicted and sentenced to death before bail can be denied, the appeals court said.

In 'Night of Music' Fifth graders are hit

By MARJ CARPENTER

It reminded you of the old band concerts in the park. Lawn chairs scraped, children ran around playing tag and musical groups sang from the courthouse steps on the east side of the courthouse Tuesday night.

What the Big Spring Music Club hopes will become the first annual Night of Music was held.

The Rev. Bill Henning, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, tied it all together as master of ceremonies.

A howling success were the fifth graders who sang "This Land is My Land" and "God Bless America" in ringing tones. A dog named Walter joined the group from the car where he was being kept captive.

Tom Castle and his old-fiddlers played several of the old tunes including a 40-year-old waltz.

The band played three Sousa marches, including the "Stars and Stripes Forever" which was directed by David Trim, former member of the band. Bill Bradley is band director.

A lot of the band members were attending the All Sports

Banquet at the high school. So were some of the choir, but a portion of the Meistersingers sang selections from "Show Boat." Jack Bowers is director.

The Ladies Ensemble from the First Baptist Church sang religious songs using six hand microphones for real clarity.

Mrs. Londa Henry also had to sing and then leave for the banquet where she and her husband are captains of the booster club along with the Jerry Foreys.

Kim K-Watrous, musical therapist at Big Spring State Hospital, played folk songs including "The Marvelous Toy." She accompanied herself on the guitar and sang.

The Music Club ensemble sang the hymn of the month and the entire crowd ended singing "America."

Expansion is under way Business is booming

Mid Continent Inn was one year old May 8. The employees held a little informal celebration, recalling that an opening night they had four customers.

One year later, they were 120 per cent full with 73 persons staying there.

Mrs. Alton Taylor said, "That's the reason we are currently building an addition of 32 more rooms. We have been overflowing for months. We also already have reservations for the domino tournament in July."

The improvements and additions are being handled by the original contractor, Bill Averitt and Dan Love of Lubbock.

"Things have been booming so that we have turned away people in the past few months and we don't like to do that," Mrs. Taylor added.

Then she said, "We have noticed nothing but booming days here in Big Spring."

Mid Continent Inn is just east of Rip Griffin's Truck Stop at the intersection of IS 20 and Highway 87. It features The Pump Club.

On Monday on the anniversary, the employees surprised the managers with an impromptu party. The group includes Mr. and Mrs. Alton Taylor who manage the Inn.

Frances Dowdy is night auditor and Babe Fogus is head housekeeper. Ila Davis is desk clerk on one shift with Beryl Richardson on another. Eloise Correa is assistant housekeeper.

Coincidentally, Dr. and Mrs. Wayne Walker from Monday happened to be guests on the first anniversary. They were also the very first guests to check into the motel last year. They were special guests of honor at the anniversary.

GOING UP — An addition of 32 rooms at Mid Continent Inn will make room for more customers for the one-year-old motel which is usually full and running over.

Many old air bases in Texas live on today in new ways

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — When Adrian Atwater gazed across the mostly barren plains outside Childress, Texas, the first thing he wondered was: "Where the devil did all those trees come from?"

He jogged his memory backwards...10 years...20 years...30 years...stopping in 1943, when the Childress Army Air Field occupied the grassy fields now before him.

Atwater studied one of the many photographs he'd made while training at the airfield. In some of them were little 5-foot elm trees braced against the Texas wind.

The little trees had been planted when the base was under construction. Atwater hadn't given them much notice then. Now, big elms undulated in the afternoon breeze.

Childress, a town of 5,400 rooted at the edge of the Caprock that rises to become the High Plains, was one of dozens of towns across Texas where plowboys and city slickers earned their wings as pilots, gunners, navigators and bombardiers during World War II.

Today, as Atwater discovered on his odyssey back to Childress, many of the old military airstrips are hardly recognizable. Some are nearly deserted and, like Childress Army Air Field, are being slowly reclaimed by nature as Johnson grass shoots through cracks in the old paved runways. Other air bases have found new life as city airports, industrial parks or job training centers.

In Laredo, on the Rio Grande border with Mexico, Laredo Air Force Base finally closed permanently in September 1973. But retired Col. Gaillard R. Peck, who was wing commander at the base from 1963 to 1965, now works as a civilian in the same office from which he issued orders more than a dozen years ago.

"I've even got the same desk and the same secretary as when I was wing commander," Peck said in a telephone interview recently. He is now aviation advisor for the city of Laredo and director of Laredo International Airport.

The Air Force turned the Laredo base over to the General Services Administration which turned it over to the city. Last year, the city completed the move of its airport facility to the old air base.

"We've probably got the biggest airport in the nation for a city of our size," said Gaillard. He also supervises commercial development on the property.

Vying with Laredo for biggest airport in a small city is Big Spring, which is taking over Webb Air Force Base later this year. Col. Harry Spannaus, who retired Jan. 1 this year as wing commander at Webb, is now the Big Spring airport manager.

Spannaus and his office already have attracted 10 companies to locate in vacant military buildings that are becoming part of an industrial park around the soon-to-be city airport.

Big Spring will close its Howard County Airport later this year when it moves to Webb, which only a few years ago still had 1,500 active military personnel on base. Now only a caretaker force is there and it will leave later this year. The companies now in the new industrial park will hire about 120 civilians.

When the Air Force said it would close the Laredo base, there was much worry over what it would do to the local economy. But Gaillard said the effect of the closing was offset by the discovery of oil and natural gas in the area. The petroleum find brought in new jobs and businesses that blunted the economic loss of the base closing.

Even Childress Army Air Field, changed as it is, still plays an active role in the local economy. The city took over the land after the war and in 1969, Lancer Homes opened a plant on the old base property and today employs about 325 workers to build mobile and modular homes. A few of the surviving buildings are still in use by the Federal Aviation Administration and the Rock Island Railroad.

But Childress itself is much the same today as it was during the heyday of its nearby air training field.

"It hasn't changed a bit. There were a few new buildings and old ones were there, some doing business and others vacant," observed Atwater, now chief photographer for the Nevada State Highway Department in Carson City.

But Atwater needed an aerial photo of the Childress air field to find his way among the base's remains. He found only the foundations of his barracks, orderly room, day room and squadron latrine.

Atwater's old mess hall was reduced "to a giant slab of broken cement and a pile of bricks that was the chimney." Only a foundation existed where the base headquarters building once stood.

"It was a good base and served its purpose well," he said.

Atwater, who came to Childress from a farm outside Bennett, Colo., chuckled at some of his memories. The Eastern boys, he recalled, "complained bitterly about the flat desolate area and nothing in Texas would ever compare to one square inch of Brooklyn."

Childress, during those years, reaped the benefits of GI paydays, when the soldiers hadn't already lost their earnings in one of the frequent latrine dice games.

Atwater and some of his buddies would hitchhike to nearby Quanah, Paducah, Wellington or Memphis. Or, they skipped across the border into Oklahoma, where they could buy beer. Much of Texas was "dry" then.

"There was no surplus of soldiers in those other towns and plenty of girls to go around," he remembered.

In early 1944, Atwater was transferred to gunnery school at Harlingen Air Field

Lubbock. The Eagle Pass base is still used for instrument flight training.

Some airfields closed after World War II but were reactivated for the Korean War, and again for the Vietnam War. Laredo was one of these.

In Amarillo, the air base became part of the municipal airport which had adjoined it. The Midland field is now a regional airport for Midland and Odessa.

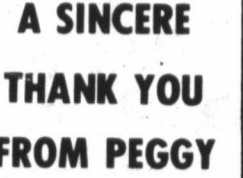

The Harlingen field is home for the Marine Military Academy. Gary Field at San Marcos is the site of the Gary Job Corps Center.

"Rattlesnake Air Base" was the nickname given Pyote Army Air Field west of Monahan by the pilots who learned to fly the big B-17 "Flying Fortress" bombers there during World War II. The nickname's source should be apparent. After the war, the Air Force mothballed some of its bomber fleet at Pyote, including the famous Enola Gay, the B-29 that dropped the first atomic bomb on Japan in 1945. But the bombers are gone today and the West Texas Children's Home occupies the base area.

Many old air bases haven't really died. Like caterpillars that become butterflies, they live on today in new ways.

Tentative date of a hearing before the State Banking Board was set for Sept. 11.

Insulation firm to pay $10,000

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A Fort Worth-based insulation company agreed Tuesday to pay $10,000 in civil penalties in connection with allegations that the company misled customers.

Attorney General John Hill had filed suit charging Indstex Inc. with using deceptive trade practices. The company signed a permanent injunction against further allegedly deceptive business practices.

Consumers in Lubbock, Brownwood, Dallas and Fort Worth had complained the company misled them about contract costs and induced them to sign home improvement certificates before the work was done.

It doesn't pay to take chances

Oldtimers should ever be alert. Newcomers can stand advised.

Be wary of nature this time of year. The snakes are out and they're not in too good a humor. They've gone long periods without food and they just might sharpen their skills by striking at you.

Warm weather is the snakebite season. The state has already recorded its first fatality from a snake bite this year. A college student in Victoria died as a result of snake bite late in April.

SNAKES IN West Texas are often difficult to see because they have natural camouflage. Their skins blend right into the landscape.

People who like to hike down natural trails should exercise great care. Heavy boots offer some protection though a coiled snake, once he strikes, will often go for a hand or a spot above the boot top.

Most bites, however, occur on the ankle and lower legs. The hiker who wears shorts and perhaps sandals usually is most vulnerable.

The danger of snakebite should consistently be pointed out to children because the serpents are often prone to come into the yard and wind up in flower beds. Children should not become terrified of snakes but instead taught how to react when they see one. The best defense is to retreat. The range of a snake's striking power should be learned and respected.

Many snakebites occur when a person tries teasing it or makes an effort at catching it. Any such confrontation is a life-and-death matter for a snake and the snake realizes it. They don't go looking for fights but they certainly will fight with every fiber in their body if they're cornered.

A GOOD tourniquet should be allied above the stricken area if a snakebite does occur. An incision can help but usually is not necessary. The tourniquet serves to stop the venom from advancing into the bloodstream but it should not be too tight and be left on too long.

One of the old methods for treating snakebites - packing wounds in ice - is no longer used or recommended. The method has been known to aid in the setting of gangrene in some cases.

The best anti-toxin for snakebite is not to be bitten at all. If you watch out for them, there should be no trouble because they always keep a wary eye out for their mortal enemy, man, and they'll beat into the brush if the opportunity presents itself.

Beetles now being sent to Germany

Recent news about the Volkswagen was that West Germany is discontinuing production of the long-familiar Beetle.

Latest news is that Beetles - new models - are continuing to be sold, in West Germany and elsewhere.

An item in the Christian Science Monitor informs that Beetles produced in a Mexican plant, one of the many Volkswagen plants scattered around the globe, are being exported for sale in the West German home market. Move over, coals to Newcastle.

Exploitation

Around the rim

Eileen McGuire

An Associated Press story last week told how seven towns in Utah have been closed and one more is about to be closed in the name of Big Business.

Kennecott Copper Corporation wants to expand so homeowners in one of the towns, Lark City, are being offered $7,000 for homes valued at $59,000. The corporation can do that because it owns the land that the homes and towns are built on.

The ecological balance has already been upset in Lark City - first, the larks for which the town was named left and, now, the people who live there are about to be evacuated.

or their children. When a corporation did buy land, it paid no more than 26½ cents to five dollars per acre.

In return, coalminers were able to recover 5,000 to 20,000 tons of coal per acre with simple machinery. Thousands of tons underground plus oil, gas and other minerals were later extracted with more complicated equipment.

The exploitation continued when the corporations entered into the business of real estate. Houses, deserted by miners, were sold to the mountaineers still working the mines. After the last house payment was made, the miner was discharged from his service.

The fine print on the contracts, however, reserved the right of the seller to begin drilling whenever he desired. The underlying minerals were company-owned and could be removed any way the company saw fit.

Whatever trees remained on the plateau after World War II, were cut down and hauled away by the corporations. The men who'd been brought in to cut the trees were paid according to the amount they cut, whether the timber was good enough to haul away or not.

Every tree capable of producing one good plank, even those measuring 12 to 14-inches or less in diameter, were cut down until by 1948, thousands of acres had been cleared of all vegetation.

What was left was dry, inflammable waste. Resulting fires left acres without even one little seedling. And the worse scarred was Leslie County, owned and managed by Fordson Coal Company, a subsidiary of Ford Motor Company.

TODAY, THERE'S nothing left on the plateau but old people and a second growth of half-rate trees. Generations are born and die on welfare. There is no income to tax for the support of schools.

The young and strong who are lucky enough to get any education at all, leave the plateau as soon as diplomas from the few government-supported schools are passed out. Poor as the schools are, the plateau is educating its children almost entirely for other and wealthier parts of the nation.

Big Business took advantage of the mountaineers' ignorance and left the nation with half a million people living in poverty on some 10,000 square miles of wasted land in Kentucky and Virginia.

The exploitation of the Cumberland Plateau's land and resources is an extreme case, but it's a good example of what can happen when profit becomes more important than people. And that's exactly what's happening right now in Lark City.

Authentic Carter

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON - Ronald Reagan's unsuccessful 1976 ploy in naming his vice presidential choice before the Republican convention met is coming back to haunt his plans for another presidential try in 1980.

In 1976, underdog Reagan, attempting to force President Gerald R. Ford to reveal his choice for Vice President before the Kansas City convention, announced his own astonishing choice: liberal Sen. Richard Schweiker of Pennsylvania. In 1980, would prospective front-runner Reagan have to prove his consistency by naming his running mate in advance again?

The tentative answer by Reagan advisers: yes. But that raises another question. Would the choice again have to be Schweiker?

SCHWEIKER IS still distrusted by the Republican right, which blames Reagan's convention defeat by Ford on the Schweiker ploy, devised by campaign manager John Sears. But the friendship between Schweiker and Reagan has flourished; Schweiker has moved toward the right, lowering his liberal rating and even voting against the Panama Canal treaties.

However, Reagan will be 69 years old in 1980. Fellow Republicans see him as a one-term possibility. Thus, his running mate will be viewed as heir-apparent. Reagan insiders seriously doubt whether Schweiker is strong enough to fill that role.

A footnote: An escape route might be Anne Armstrong, former ambassador to Great Britain, who as Vice President would not be considered heir-apparent. This option became more fascinating to Reagan insiders recently when poll results indicated a woman on the ticket is far more acceptable to the public today than in 1976.

BLAST FROM BURNS Dr. Arthur Burns, still the weightiest economic voice in town a month after leaving his post as Federal Reserve chairman, had no malice in his heart when he bluntly advised President Carter to take a salary cut as a symbol of his inflation battle.

In fact, Burns arrived at a Chamber of Commerce dinner here to pick up a distinguished service award (a crystal ball) with no speech. He had no intention of talking and no plan to criticize Jimmy Carter - who decided against his reappointment as chairman on the Fed last winter.

BUT WHEN he accepted his award, the 74-year-old Burns was moved to warn against rising inflation and the importance of Mr. Carter's anti-inflation effort. One Burns-ism: "To emphasize federal leadership in unwinding the inflation, the President should cut his own salary ($200,000), say about 10 per cent, and call upon all presidential appointees and members of Congress to do likewise."

At that point, Burns was interrupted by cheers. He continued: "The President should call on top corporate executives to refrain entirely from any increase in salaries for two years. Again, this time surprisingly, his audience of high-paid businessmen applauded. 'Well, you see, I misjudged this audience,' he quipped.

IN THE OLD DAYS, such explosive anti-inflation proposals might have been modified by political requirements. But now that Burns, with his uncommon dignity, is a former government official, he can say what he wants - whatever Jimmy Carter, members of Congress and industry moguls think.

TO GET, GIVE Rep. Ed Derwinski, *senior Republican on the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee, has struck a bargain of sorts with President Carter, offering his help to pass the Civil Service reform bill but getting an administration go-slow on Hatch Act reform.

Positive thinking prescribed for ulcers

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a 15-year-old girl with an ulcer which I've known about for six months. It is in my upper stomach. My doctor has me on a special diet that consists mostly of foods I hate.

My problem is I can't stay on the diet. I am always being tempted to eat things that aren't on my diet. And when I do, which is most of the time, I vomit. Is there any other way out? My nerves caused my ulcer, and I'll never get better the way I'm going. - M.L.H.

I think you need a strong dose of positive thinking about this matter. And there's much about which to be positive. For one thing, your ulcer was discovered surprisingly early and you can be thankful to your parents and doctors for that. Many adult ulcer sufferers are found to have had the problem as youngsters. In fact, ulcers are being found in young people frequently these days.

The distress you have after eating your forbidden foods should be sufficient punishment to steer you away from them, but I know how difficult it is for a young woman to turn down the cola drink everyone else is having. Again, positive thinking. You will cure your ulcer by avoiding the no-no's.

I suggest a more mature attitude on your part. Nerves certainly do play a role in ulcer formation. No doubt about that. Your tendency toward ulcer formation is what you have to live with all your life (not the ulcers). Your ulcer diet needn't be as grim as you portray it. I can send you material on that if you need it. The idea is to reduce stomach acid formation, as you probably know. Besides diet, there are medicines other than the antacid tablets you can use. One of them is cimetidine (Tagamet).

See if you can't get yourself back on the ball and cure this ulcer of yours while your youth is in your favor. If not, you may end up without a stomach.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is "bottle mouth"? I have been told that this can result from letting an infant nurse a bottle too long. What is too long? - Mrs. O.M.

There has been an increase in this reported, especially in one-to-five year olds. The bottle mouth syndrome is another term for it. Overlong nurse-ing on bottles can prompt overproduction of certain body chemicals that attack tooth enamel.

According to those concerned with this it is not a problem with milk alone. Fruit juice when sucked for long periods can be harmful. The tongue and nipple tend to protect the lower teeth, so the damage is usually noted in the upper ones.

Parents shouldn't allow a nursing bottle to become a pacifier long after an infant has satisfied its needs. It's best to arrange a schedule for bottle use and remove it from the scene afterward. If the bottle-as-pacifier habit has become ingrained, use plain water. A pacifier, even thumbsucking itself, may be preferable to the sugared bottle.

CONFIDENTIAL TO H.H. - The child should yield on this. Restricting the puppy to a couple of rooms in the house is impractical. Besides, it is quite possible the child himself is allergic to the danger since both parents are. Not worth the risk. Get him a bicycle instead.

CONFIDENTIAL TO J.G. - Removal of the prostate is a matter between you and your doctor. Nodules on the gland rise suspicions of malignancy. This can be confirmed by an acid-phosphatase blood test, which should be done.

To learn the major categories of prostate trouble - symptoms, treatment, how to speed recovery - read Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "The Pesky Prostate." For a copy write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Why do you think Jesus healed people so much during His ministry? - Mrs. A.F.

DEAR MRS. F.: There are several reasons why Jesus healed so much during His ministry. One of the most important reasons is that His healings (and other miracles) were signs showing that the power and blessing of God were with Him.

When the disciples of John the Baptist came to Jesus after John had been placed in prison, they asked Jesus if He was the expected Messiah or if they were to look for someone else. Jesus' reply was that the miracles He had performed were clear signs to those who had eyes to see that He was the Messiah. "Go and shew John again those things which ye do hear and see: The blind receive their sight, and lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, and the deaf hear, the dead are raised up, and the poor have the gospel preached to them" (Matthew 11:4-5). The early Christians, after the resurrection and ascension of Jesus, also pointed to the miracles of Jesus as proof that Jesus was the Son of God, "a man approved of God among you by miracles and

If you supported Charlie before, I hope you will continue to do so, and if your support went to one of the other candidates I hope you will weigh all the facts and can see your way to back Charlie in the runoff.

His strong support at home is evidence that with people who know him, Charlie should be the next congressman.

Jack Anderson,

WASHINGTON - "The Khmer Rouge are inhuman. They have killed and killed without stopping." This was written by 27-year-old So Chantho about the communist rulers of his native Cambodia. It is one of hundreds of testimonies we have accumulated from those who have fled to freedom from the terroristic regime.

To give human dimension to the suffering of the Cambodian people, we have selected at random the personal, handwritten account of So Chantho. It was written after he reached a refugee camp in Thailand last year.

The Thais have given him temporary refuge, but no one has offered him a permanent home. Yet he cannot go back to Cambodia. If he does, he will be executed. His crimes: he once attended college, served in the former army, worked for the post office and wanted to become a doctor.

SO CHANTHO IS one of an estimated $15,000 Cambodians who have escaped from the despotic Khmer Rouge reign, which in three years has rivaled Hitler's Nazi Germany for genocidal ruthlessness. In recent columns, we have detailed how the Pol Pot government has exterminated hundreds of thousands, perhaps as many as 2.5 million, Cambodians in a planned Holocaust while the rest of the so-called civilized world has ignored the bloodbath.

So Chantho is guilty of belonging to the old social order, which the Khmer Rouge clearly is trying to exterminate. Apparently, the only survivors are those who have succeeded in concealing their past.

So Chantho grew up in Phnom Penh and, after high school, entered pre-med school. After money ran out, he took a job as a post office employee. He subsequently served three years in the army, emerging as a lieutenant, and then completed his college degree as an English major.

He was separated from his family, seeking a teaching job, when Cambodia fell to the communists on April 17, 1975. Rounded up with thousands of others by the Khmer Rouge, the young Cambodian had the presence of mind to lie about his background. He said he was a bread seller, or he would have been marked for execution. Instead, he became another faceless cipher in a land of terror.

He was among the millions who were force-marched by brutal Khmer Rouge troops into the hinterlands. He was deposited at a heavily guarded jungle village and was compelled to labor in the fields as a "cultivator." The aged and the infirm died en route, and those suspected of having favored the overthrown Lon Nol government were put to death.

At the camp, conditions worsened. Children were separated from their families and brainwashed at indoctrination centers. Then the executions began of any found with good educational backgrounds or previous government association. Even those too feeble or undernourished to work up to 18 hours a day were "sent to the Higher Organization, that is to say, they were killed."

In painstaking English, So Chantho wrote of his people's ordeal: "A lot of people were dead from starvation and sorrow because they couldn't meet their family. Some people became insane and others died from diseases such as malaria that the Khmer Rouge brought from the forest."

The captive citizens in So Chantho's village were kept on a near-starvation diet to supplement their diets with fish or fruit from nearby streams and woods. Expectant mothers were forced to work into their ninth month of pregnancy, and many died in childbirth because of no medical attention.

So Chantho told of death being meted out to workers who broke or damaged any of the primitive equipment they toiled with. He wrote that the Khmer Rouge accused anyone breaking a basket used for carrying soil or accidentally damaging a ploughshare of "being the enemy."

HE RECOUNTED, "those accused of being the enemy must be sent to the Angka Leu. Angka Leu is invisible. Once you were sent to Angka Leu, you just disappeared and weren't heard from again." As incredibly harsh as this may sound, it is confirmed by thousands of other accounts.

Even marriage in the village camps became a police state nightmare. Once a month, So Chantho related, eligible marriage partners were brought together for a mass wedding. Highlight of the ceremony was an ominous speech by a Khmer Rouge commissar. He warned that adultery and even quarreling would mean death.

If an unmarried woman refused to accept a marriage offer from a man, she was banned from marrying anyone until the spurned suitor found a bride. The Re commissar told the marriage parties that "if one of them betrayed the other, the answer would be the gun and they'd be killed." The day after the mass marriages, of course, the newly wedded couples were back laboring in the fields under the watchful eye of gun-happy guards.

Indictments name eight South Texans

Texas Manpower scandal growing

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — The federal government has added its part to the growing Texas Manpower scandal with 11 indictments charging eight South Texans with alleged misuse of federal anti-poverty funds.

The indictments, handed down Tuesday by a federal grand jury in Brownsville, came on the heels of a Travis County grand jury's indictment of two persons less than two weeks ago in the state's probe of the alleged misapplication of funds.

A Cameron County (Brownsville) grand jury has also indicted 19 persons resulting from its local probe.

Tony Canales, U.S. Attorney for the southern district of Texas, said the federal indictments contained 86 counts of fraud against the government, conspiracy and providing false information to banks.

Among those named Tuesday were Don and Clarence Gray, free on bond in the state case. Don Gray is the business manager and financial secretary of Plumbers and Pipefitters Local Union No. 823. He was named in six federal indictments alleging 68 counts of wrongdoing. His brother Clarence, who headed South Texas Building Trades Educational Service Inc., was named in 57 counts in five indictments.

Clarence Gray's secretary, Cruz Z. Castillo, was named in three indictments, 46 counts, for alleged misapplication of various amounts of Title I training funds.

The earlier indictments had alleged the Grays conspired to steal more than $10,000 from the state. The brothers also face indictments from a state court of inquiry's investigation, conducted by State District Judge Darrell Hester of Brownsville.

Euseo Sandoval, former executive director of the Associated City-County Economic Development Corp. of Hidalgo County, was named in eight federal indictments, 40 counts.

Nicolas Ramirez Jr.,

former director of the Hidalgo County Manpower program, was named in five indictments, 19 counts.

Sandoval and Ramirez also were among the 19 indicted by the Cameron County grand jury. They were accused of using their private business to launder kickbacks from the Grays.

Also named Tuesday were Fernando "Tony" Salinas, director of Greater South Texas Economic programs in Hebbronville; A.M. Fernandez, executive director of South Texas Enterprises in Hebbronville; and Eduardo Romero, a McAllen CPA.

The indictments against Salinas and Fernandez stem from a $7,000 loan made from their programs to Sandoval and Ramirez, who own a private janitorial firm, officials said.

Romeros is accused of preparing phony financial statements in attempts to get bank loans. In behalf of a loan application, he is reported to have said a company had among its assets a quantity of stock it did not have.

After the state indictments were returned April 27, the investigator heading the task force for Travis County District Attorney Ronald Earle said the job-training contract was written between Local 823 and the Texas Department of Community Affairs "but the union didn't authorize the Grays to contract on their behalf and never received any money."

While the state indictment alleged conspiracy to steal more than $10,000, investigator Steve Brittain said "it was really $129,000."

He said the money, in state checks, was deposited in the bank account of South Texas Building Trades Education Services, Inc., rather than that of the union local. Brittain said the Grays had 25 bank accounts, and that money passed through them after initially being deposited to the trade school.

Last year, the Grays had the Manpower training contract with the TDCA changed from the union local to South Texas Building Trades.

Mayor considers sunset curfew in Houston area

HOUSTON (AP) — Authorities charged 25 persons Tuesday night in connection with two nights of violence in a predominantly Mexican-American neighborhood.

No incidents were reported Tuesday night in Moody Park where violent outbreaks the two previous nights left several persons, including four policemen and two newsmen, injured.

Meanwhile, Mayor Jim McConn said he is considering a sunset curfew in the northside area and will close the park this weekend if there are more disturbances.

Seventeen persons were arrested during rioting late Sunday and early Monday in the park area were charged with felony offenses. Eight others were charged with misdemeanors.

Bonds set for the 25 ranged from $1,000 to $50,000 on the felony charges and from $1,000 to $5,000 on the misdemeanors.

Sixteen adults were arrested late Monday and early Tuesday in the same area. The district attorney's office said charges were pending against those. In addition, a number of juveniles were arrested both nights.

The charges included aggravated assault on a police officer, arson and starting a riot.

Police Chief Harry Caldwell said police would conduct regular patrols in the area and maintain a low profile but would be ready if violence erupted.

The rioting began Sunday afternoon during the celebration of a Mexican holiday. Fifteen persons were injured and several cars and buildings were damaged.

About 100 youths threw rocks and bricks at officers Monday night and tossed several fire bombs at a department store, police said.

Travis Morales, leader of an organization called "People United to Fight Police Brutality," has denied his group provoked the crowd to riot.

However, he said, "The police got a little bit of justice they deserve. The people will never forget nor forgive what happened to Joe Campos Torres." Morales announced plans for a march by his group at the scene Saturday.

Three former policemen, convicted of civil rights violations in the death of Torres, a young prisoner in their custody, were recently assessed a one year prison sentence and 10 years probation.

McConn vowed to end rioters' damage to property in the area, saying he would not tolerate "anarchy in the city of Houston."

"We are not after wholesale arrests, but a curfew would be addressed primarily to the young people who could be influenced by older rabble rousers," the mayor said.

The plans are not a reaction to scheduled demonstrations this weekend at the park, McConn said, adding the protesters usually number only a handful.

The head of a prominent Mexican-American group met with McConn Tuesday and said unrest on Houston's north side will continue until authorities take steps to improve relations with residents.

Security methods said necessary

Beginning Saturday, entry to Malone-Hogan Hospital after visiting hours at 9 p.m. in the evening, will be determined by two sources, and by two doors only.

Electric locks, which can be deactivated with the push of a button, and thereby facilitating quick entry when needed, have been installed on both front and back entrances to the hospital. All other doors will remain locked.

Telephones, with directions on how to call for entry, have been placed in the vestibules between the double doors of both main entrances to the hospital. Should the weather be bad, visitors will not be exposed, as they alert inside personnel of their needs for entering.

At the ambulance entry, emergency room personnel will respond to the call for entry. In the event that they are occupied, PBX telephone operators will answer that door, as well as the front entry door.

Hospital administrator Norman Knox explained the new security measures as necessary ones. "We don't like to have to do this, but recent acts of vandalism and theft, coupled with some rather scary instances of nocturnal wanderings and violence here in Big Spring, have made our night shift in nursing service rather uneasy," he said.

"The writing is on the wall," said Hector Garcia, chairman of the Political Association of Spanish-Speaking Organizations.

"There must be some significant efforts on the part of the city administration and people in authority to show the community they are concerned and they actively working with programs to deal with the unrest."

He said McConn and Caldwell have shown a willingness to improve the situation, although "constructive programs have not yet begun."

He said he hoped violence in Moody Park has ended, "but I do not cancel the possibility of more. I think we just began something Sunday."

Garcia said there was no single factor which led to the disturbances.

"The measures have been taken to give these employees a sense of security that they need to take care of the patients, he added.

Annual Awards program is scheduled by BSSH

The eleventh annual awards program for Big Spring State Hospital employees will be held Friday, at 7:30 p.m. in the Allied Building on the hospital campus.

Master of ceremonies will be Ray Tatum, Th.D., director of Standards and Compliance, BSSH.

Welcoming hospital employees, retirees, award winners and guests will be Adolph Supak, M.H.A., acting superintendent. Others on the program will be Priscilla Diffie-Couch, Ed.D., assistant personnel director; Cliff Stovall, plant engineer and Lee Butler, Th.D., BSSH Chaplain.

This year's program, dedicated to Woody Mann, unit administrator of the Multiple Disabilities program and staff, will feature Rex Kyker, Ph.D. of Abilene as guest speaker. Dr. Kyker, well-known after-dinner speaker, is chairman of the Department of Speech and Communication at Abilene Christian College.

Theme of his speech will be "Accentuate the Positive." Service awards will be presented to employees with five to 30 years of service. Five employees, selected from nominations from their co-workers, will be honored with Commendation Awards and "Friend of the Hospital" awards will be presented to five people not employed by the hospital, but who have contributed time or services to benefit BSSH patients. The second annual Charles McCall Award will be given for outstanding service in the field of rehabilitation.

Entertainment is being coordinated by Kip Watrous, music therapist and the decorations are being prepared by Rehabilitation Services staff.

Farm Globe girdling farmer

NEW YORK (AP) — Harvey Schmidt rose at 5 a.m. on his farm at Goessel, Kan., as he had almost every morning in his 56 years. He rounded up the dairy herd grazing outside his farmhouse and ran them through the milking machine, six at a time. But instead of heading for the wheatfields in the back 40, another daily chore, Schmidt on Tuesday climbed out of his dungarees and into brown trousers and a new jacket. He was driven across the broad green fields to Wichita, 50 miles south, and boarded a plane for New York, a city he had never before visited.

But Schmidt's journey was only beginning. By evening this conservative farmer, who had rarely strayed from Kansas, was flying to London and would be in Moscow before his long day was over. The dust from his farm might still be on his shoes Friday when he lands in Hanoi, the capital of Vietnam, 13,000 miles from his farm in Goessel and still not the end of his journey. The Kansas' final destination will be the old South Vietnamese capital of Saigon where he will help officially welcome a shipload of American wheat that set sail from Houston, Texas, last month, its gift cargo including grain from Schmidt's own crop. Schmidt was chosen for the Vietnam mission because he helped the Church World Service gather the 10,000 tons of wheat shipped from Houston. "McPherson County where I live is one of the biggest contributors to food aid programs," Schmidt said. "We do it voluntarily. I personally believe the foods we grow should be eaten and not plowed under. Or when harvested I don't think they should be stockpiled, but given away instead to the needy."

The Kansas farmer said his Mennonite forefathers settled his area of Kansas in the 1870s after migrating from Russia. His 1,200-acre farm "is one of the largest in the district," and his two sons help him work it. One married daughter farms eight miles away. A registered Republican, the Kansas farmer said he never entertained strong views about the Vietnam war. "But historically we are pacifists, and no Mennonite youths that I know of within 20 miles served in Vietnam," he said.

"This is already pretty different from Kansas," said Schmidt, hugging his battered briefcase Tuesday night as he sought the Pan American terminal in the maze of New York's Kennedy Airport. "How much different is it going to be over there?"

Schmidt said he was "apprehensive" when first invited to visit Vietnam with a seven-member delegation that includes television actor and humorist John Henry Faulk from Madisonville, Texas; Dr. Robert Browne, an economist from Teaneck, N.J.; Dr. Paul McCleary, executive director of the Church World Service; Chris Cunningham, director of the Austin, Tex., YWCA; Dr. Alfred Bartholomew, from Lancaster, Pa., of the United Church of Christ; and Cora Weiss, consultant to the Church World Service. "I felt it was too big a job for me, but then my family talked me into it," said Schmidt.

AGRICULTURE HONORARY — Kirk M. McKnight, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kermit D. McKnight, Big Spring, was recently initiated into Gamma Sigma Delta, a national honor society of agriculture at Texas A&M. McKnight was selected from 1,500 seniors in the College of Agriculture based on his four-year scholastic achievement at A&M.

Lloyd Cline reelected prexy of cotton group

LUBBOCK — Lloyd Cline of Lamesa was reelected recently for a second one-year term as president of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. at a meeting of Directors in Lubbock. Incumbent Joe D. Unfred of New Home, Vice President, and Gary Ivey of Ralls, secretary-treasurer, were also re-elected. The board meeting and election followed the 25-county cotton producer organization's annual meeting where an estimated 400 farmers and cotton-related business people heard international cotton marketing specialist John McNutt and Dawson County farmer Donnell Echols speak on the potential for increasing exports of High Plains cotton.

McNutt, vice president of International Marketing for Cotton Incorporated, told the group that significantly more cotton can be sold to open-end spinning plants in Western Europe if the High Plains will produce more of the high strength varieties required by the open-end spinning system. He said producers might do well to consider planting 20 percent of their 1978 acreage to cotton types that normally produce lint with at least 90,000 pounds per share inch pressley strength.

Echols, a PGC past president who took part in a Western European Export Seminar in January, confirmed that open-end spinners are interested in high strength cottons from the Plains and cited an example of one such mill which was highly pleased with its first trial run of High Plains cotton this year. However, he cautioned producers against planting varieties without full knowledge of their yield potential on specific soils and under specific climatic conditions.

President Cline, in his annual report, reviewed PGC activities for the past year including the continuation of open-end spinning research at the Texas Tech Textile Research Center. Concerning this work he blamed a lack of adequate funding for "moving too slow" to take maximum advantage of the opportunities "to enhance both volume and profitability of our sales of cotton to be used on the open-end spinning system." He emphasized this point by saying "PCG is your vehicle, so to speak, and it will take you where you want to go at whatever speed you and your elected directors have the skill to drive it. But it can't take you anywhere unless you keep gas in the tank."

Farm Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Cotton futures No. 2 were lower in midday dealings today. The average price for strict low middling 11-16 inch spot cotton advanced 40 points to 57.15 cents a pound Tuesday for the 10 leading markets, according to the New York Cotton Exchange. Midday afternoon prices were $1.25 to $1.40 a bale lower than the previous close. Jul 59.77, Oct 61.70, and Dec 62.85.

Winter wheat estimate sags

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers soon will be harvesting the smallest crop of winter wheat in five years, according to the latest government estimate.

The Agriculture Department said Tuesday that 1978 production, based on surveys May 3, is expected to total slightly more than 1.28 billion bushels, down 16 percent from last year's harvest of 1.53 billion. It was the first winter wheat production estimate by USDA since last December, when the crop was initially forecast at 1.32 billion bushels. Farmers will have about 39.6 million acres for harvest this year, compared with 48.4 million in 1977, the department's Crop Reporting Board said. At 1.28 billion bushels, the crop would be the smallest winter wheat harvest since about 1.27 billion bushels were produced in 1973, the year before federal acreage wraps were removed entirely to help replenish dwindling grain reserves.

Routine items to be studied

COAHOMA — Members of the Coahoma City Council will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the City Hall.

Council members will discuss the police department, monthly bills, Howard County Water District, alleys for foster subdivision and the water department. Other items to be discussed include the cemetery, Rancier Avenue, the Little League ball park, the dump ground, the Texas Department of Water Resources, Ramsey Street and Wood Street.

Clubhouse

HD club tours funeral home

The Fairview Home Demonstration Club met May 2 in the home of Mrs. Trell Smauley and went in a group to tour Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Bill Meyers gave the group some interesting information on funerals, and distributed literature about this subject to each member.

After the tour, members returned to the home of Mrs. Smauley for the remainder of the meeting.

The devotional was given by Mrs. Smauley, and roll call was answered by each member showing "a picture of an attractive flower arrangement."

Sarah Griffith reported on the Expansion Membership meeting which took place at the First Methodist Church May 8 in the youth activity room. Each member was to bring something she had made, along with a friend.

Members were reminded to send in their reservation cards to tour the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center before May 11.

The door prize was won by Bernice Micallef, and the next meeting will be in the home of Bessie Bigoney Tuesday.

5 C's studied by Elbow group

Mrs. R.B. Covington Jr. was hostess for the Elbow Home Demonstration Club meeting Thursday at which the 5 C's of Crises program was presented.

Ruth Morton was in charge of the program, in which the different phases of family crises were discussed. These phases are critique, contend, communicate, cope and conquer. She urged members to cope with a crisis and conquer the problem.

Questionnaires were filled out by members on stress and events which cause stress.

Relief from stress comes when one knows that one has done all that one can about a crisis and that one is finding a way to live on with a purpose. Relax and stay that way, Mrs. Morton encouraged members.

Joyce Soles gave the devotional from Psalms 103.

Beauceants make plans

The Social Order of the Beauceant met Monday at the Masonic Hall with Mrs. M.A. Parsons presiding.

Cookies were taken to Big Spring State Hospital for parties.

After the meeting, refreshments were served to members and Sir Knights by Mrs. Ervin Daniels assisted by Mrs. R.L. Lee.

The next meeting will be May 22.

Doris Guy gave a report on the meeting of the Council of Garden Clubs, and Lavell Hill reported that the Council of Garden Clubs Flower Show was a lovely show and that the violet club received several awards.

New officers installed by Mrs. C.R. Moad were Mrs. W.R. Rogers, president; Mrs. C.Y. Clinkscales, vice president; Mrs. Guy, secretary; and Reba Baker, treasurer.

Mrs. Moore, the outgoing president, presented each member with an African violet.

The next meeting will be at the Dora Roberts Community Center with Mrs. Hill as hostess.

Dear Abby

Old-Timer Has Faith in Abby

DEAR ABBY: I am a retired coal miner, now 82, and believe it or not, I can still read without eyeglasses. I don't remember when I first started to read DEAR ABBY, but it has now become a very important part of my life.

Will you please do me a favor and settle a lengthy and heated disagreement I have been having with a good friend of mine named Curly. Curly says that you do not personally write your own column or answer your mail. He claims you have assistants and secretaries do it for you. I say that you do all your own writing. Anyway, we have a $10 wager, so please let me know who is right.

GARY AURITT, STONINGTON, CONN.

DEAR GARY: You are. I have a staff of devoted secretaries who are expert typists (I'm not). They do the research and handle referrals, but every line published under my name is written by me!

Collect the $10 from Curly, but be careful how you spend it, Gary, because I don't want to be responsible for contributing to the delinquency of a miner.

DEAR ABBY: When my son was married 12 years ago, I gave him my wedding ring to give to his bride. She wore it for 10 years, then she put it away because my son gave her a beautiful set of rings with diamonds for her 10th wedding anniversary.

Three months ago, my son and his wife started divorce proceedings, and I asked my son to get my wedding ring back. He told me he had already asked his wife for it but she wouldn't give it up. She said it was HERS—regardless of where it came from. Finally I called and told her there was a lot of sentiment attached to that ring and I wanted it back.

She then had the nerve to say that she also attached a lot of sentiment to the ring and refused to part with it. How can I get it back and what should I do now?

BOILING POINT

DEAR BOILING: Your son GAVE the wedding ring to her, therefore it's hers. And I see no way for you to get it back if she doesn't want to part with it. The word from here is, simmer down and give up.

DEAR ABBY: My 13-year-old sister has this crazy thing about germs. If someone coughs or sneezes near her, she holds her breath or runs out of the room.

If someone touches her food, she won't eat it. She sterilizes her toothbrush every time she uses it. She won't use a towel if anyone else has touched it. When we go anywhere, she won't touch doorknobs or railings with her bare hands because they're "germy."

Our whole family is disgusted with her fussiness and over-cleanliness. What's wrong with her? And do you think she'll grow out of it?

WORRIED SISTR

DEAR WORRIED: Your sister has an obsessive "phobia" (fear) about germs. It is not uncommon, but her chances of "outgrowing it" are slim. Please urge your parents to take her to a psychiatrist. With treatment, her phobia can be removed.

Getting married? Whether you want a formal church wedding or a simple do-your-own-thing ceremony, get Abby's new booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding." Send $1 and a long, stamped (24 cents) self-addressed envelope to Abby: 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Rep. White raps Carter-backed measure

Aliens bill rewards lawbreakers?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration-backed illegal alien bill "rewards the lawbreaker while flaunting the law abider," claims a Texas congressman whose district shares a 352-mile border with Mexico.

Rep. Richard C. White, a Democrat from El Paso, voiced "total opposition to the so-called amnesty provisions" of the bill in testimony Tuesday before a Senate subcommittee.

Spokesmen for farmers, conservationists and farmworkers joined White in objecting to certain segments of the controversial bill.

The administration bill, sponsored in the Senate by James Eastland, D-Miss.; Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas; Dennis DeConcini, D-Ariz.; and Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., calls for amnesty to illegals in this country since 1970 and up to Jan. 1, 1977.

"How is it logically going to be possible to sort out from the millions of illegal entries we all agree are among us those who have been here since 1970, and those who have been here since before January of 1977?" asked White. "There is a basic unfairness and poor principle to reward the lawbreaker while flaunting the law abider. The promise of amnesty has brought a flood of would-be entrants to the border, overburdening the border facilities."

White said he agreed with the bill's provision to penalize employers that hire illegal aliens but added, "I think, however, that a tough administrative fining procedure would be preferable to civil penalties."

Recalling the situation that developed last summer in Presidio, Texas, when the president intervened to allow Texas farmers to hire laborers from across the border, White stressed that a "Bracero-like program" should be included in any illegal alien legislation. The Bracero program allowed Mexican laborers to work in this country legally and return to Mexico after their jobs were finished.

"We are already going through the same traumatic experience again this year in Presidio," continued White. "Domestic labor is not available...and President Carter clearly indicated last year that he would not intervene again, so we are frantically trying to devise another miracle solution."

The Presidio "situation" was used as an example of American farmers who "would welcome an excuse not to hire U.S. farmworkers" by Thomas Jones, a spokesman for the National Association of Farmworker Organizations.

"Last year in Presidio, over 800 foreign workers were imported to pick onions country to do the work," countered C.H. Fields, a spokesman for the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Fields said his group favored the amnesty proposal but added, "It seems to us that it should be the responsibility of the Social Security Administration to make sure that social security cards are valid. We realize that it will be expensive to initiate a new and responsible procedure for the issuance of social security cards, but if HEW could manage to reduce the $7 billion in fraudulent benefits now paid out under various public assistance programs, perhaps some of the savings could be devoted to carrying out the law with regard to the proper issuance of social security cards."

Fields also said the bill's provision calling for civil penalties against employers who hire illegals should be clarified. But Anthony Wayne Smith, president of the National Parks and Conservation Association, said that portion of the bill should be strengthened to include penalties calling for imprisonment, not "merely fines."

Conservationists wish to stem the flow of illegal aliens, expressed Smith, because "it is the illegal alien who may well defeat all our efforts at the solution of our environmental problems in America."

Fighting 69th plans reunion August 13-20

The Fighting 69th Infantry Division Association has announced that its 31st annual reunion will be held this year Aug. 13-20, at the Marriott Inn, Pittsburgh, Pa.

The organization is made up of World War II veterans all over the country who served in the 69th Infantry Division or its attached units, the 661st Tank Destroyer Battalion and the 777th Tank Battalion. Activated at Camp Shelby, Miss., in 1943, the 69th distinguished itself overseas in spearheading the First Army drive across Germany from the Rhine to the Elbe.

Chairman in charge of this year's reunion is Earl Witzleb, Jr., of Acme, Pa. He has prepared a schedule of events that include business and social meetings of the association and its board of directors and ladies auxiliary, tours to scenic attractions, a Saturday night (Aug. 19) banquet and dance, and a memorial ceremony traditionally honoring departed comrades. Something new has been added this year — our Early Bird Dinner Thursday night, Aug. 17, while on a three-hour cruise of the rivers surrounding Pittsburgh.

Individual unit dinners and get-togethers in specially reserved hospitality rooms will be sponsored by the 269th Engineers, the 661st T.D.'s., and various other units.

Earl has also announced that the association's Scholarship Committee will award one or more scholarships at this reunion. This is an annual award of $500 or more to a deserving son or daughter of a member of the Fighting 69th.

PLANS VISIT HERE. — Jim Lacy, Republican candidate for the Texas Railroad Commission, will visit Big Spring next Tuesday on behalf of his candidacy. Now a resident of Midland, Lacy was born in Bowie, Tex., and educated at Roswell, N.M., High School and Texas Tech, where he received a B.S. degree in Petroleum Engineering.

Energy Marquardt heads research foundation

Bill Marquardt, president of Texas Electric Service Co., has been elected president of the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation at their meeting in Corpus Christi.

Also elected at the annual meeting were three vice presidents of the foundation, Durwood Chalker of West Texas Utilities Co., E.R. Wall of El Paso Electric Co. and J.F. Skelton of Texas Power & Light.

Howard R. Drew of Texas Utilities was re-elected executive vice president and secretary of the foundation.

The foundation was formed by investor-owned electric utilities in 1957 as a non-profit organization to promote the development of energy resources, particularly nuclear energy, through scientific and educational activities. Since its formation, the foundation has supported a research program to harness nuclear fusion reactions for the production of electric power.

"Through nuclear fusion research the tremendous energy of the sun and stars may eventually be harnessed to produce electricity," Marquardt said. "However, many obstacles remain to be overcome in developing this new technology."

Marquardt explained that a fusion reaction involves "fusing" nuclei of light elements such as hydrogen or deuterium to create a new nucleus, accompanied by the release of energy.

"Meeting Texas' steadily growing requirements for reliable electric service at a reasonable cost demands long-range planning and a willingness to investigate future potential energy resources like nuclear fusion," Marquardt said.

The foundation's fusion research program is conducted through The University of Texas Fusion Research Center in Austin. The center is one of the largest university experimental fusion programs in the world and its group of researchers ranks among the best.

One of the most popular projects sponsored by the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation is the four-day nuclear science symposium which is held on The University of Texas campus.

The annual affair, now in its 18th year, attracts over 500 outstanding high school science students and teachers from throughout the state. Lectures are provided on subjects in the forefront of energy research and students are given an opportunity to visit the various laboratories on campus and visit with faculty members.

"In this way, the foundation has sought to enhance the knowledge of energy in Texas. The programs have also communicated to our young people important scientific and engineering knowledge to assist them in their future careers," Marquardt said.

Newspaper takeover conducted by women

AMHERST, Mass. (AP) — It could be a dormitory, with clothing, guitars and books lying around, but the 50 women in the four rooms are a force of occupation, not residence.

For 10 days, the women have barricaded themselves in the basement office of the Daily Collegian, the 20,000-circulation student newspaper of the University of Massachusetts, protesting what they claim is a lack of women's news.

Their barricade is made of desks, chairs and couches, which double as beds.

They take sponge baths in two adjacent bathrooms, using soap, towels, toothbrushes and toothpaste smuggled in by sympathizers. Supporters have also brought in food and hot plates.

"It's been very encouraging," said one sophomore demonstrator. "The spirit is very high. I personally knew almost none of the women here and I've gotten very close to all of them."

The object of their ire, the "male-dominated" staff of the Collegian, continues to publish, but in abbreviated editions put together in temporary quarters about a five-minute walk from the barricaded office in the Campus Center Complex. A security guard sits outside the new office.

Final exams begin in less than two weeks and the paper is scheduled to shut down next week for summer vacation. Some of the protesters leave briefly each day to attend classes, but they say they will stay in the office into the summer to press their demands.

Those demands are for one full page of women's news each day, with its content edited independently of the rest of the newspaper, and a women's department editor selected by the campus women's community, not the newspaper staff.

Associate editor Beth Segers opposes the protest: "If the women had looked at who actually puts out the paper each night they'd see that 50 percent of the news editors are women, all of the copy editors are women and three out of five issue editors are women."

CELEBRATION AFTER DEFEAT — "You'd never know gay rights had been defeated," said Robert Lewis, third from left, describing the festive mood in a Wichita, Kan., gay club Tuesday night despite an overwhelming defeat of the city's gay rights ordinance earlier in the day. Gays were celebrating, he said, because the campaign had boosted their self-image.

Sentence of former Duval Judge Carrillo is upheld

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals today upheld the theft conviction and four-year prison sentence assessed O. P. Carrillo, whom the Senate removed as Duval County district judge in 1976.

Carrillo, who also has been disbarred and is serving a federal prison sentence on a tax evasion conviction, was convicted of stealing from the Duval County Conservation and Reclamation District.

According to testimony and evidence at Carrillo's trial in Edinburg, the transaction worked this way:

Carrillo bought a station wagon in November 1971 for $5,631, obtaining a 60-day bank loan and paying for the vehicle with a personal check.

Two months later, the water district paid four invoices totaling $5,625 to Benavides Implement and Hardware, in which Carrillo was a "silent partner." Carrillo's father was president of the district board at the time. Rodolfo Couling, who operated Benavides Implement and Hardware, said the store had neither performed services nor sold goods to the county.

New Stacy Lake would serve area, says Ivie

A permit to impound a reservoir on the Colorado River near Stacy Lake is being looked upon as a means of area water supply, O.H. Ivie, general manager of the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

"The time when one locality developed a water supply without regard of its neighbors is past in Texas," he said. "Water, being the precious resource that it is, must be used so that it will afford the greatest essential benefits for the most people where that water is needed."

The Texas Water Commission has set June 7 as the hearing date on an application by CRMWD to impound a lake on the Colorado River near the Concho-Coleman County line.

The area or regional supply concept has been part of the evolving plan for the proposed reservoir, he added, "because we are committed to serve an area of the state that soon will be in deficit supply without this new source. Communities looking to us for all or part of their water requirements lie in the heart of that part of the state which Harvey Davis, executive director of the Texas Water Resources Department, described as "a water shortage area."

While the primary region of service is bounded roughly by Coleman-Ballinger, Sweetwater, Midland-Odessa, and San Angelo, consideration certainly will

Danny Reagan Springtime for feet

Sore throats and teenage baseball seems to be bugging Steer Coach Don Robbins and the spring training session these days.

Seems like six players have already dropped out because of conflicts between football and baseball practices. According to Robbins, the baseball coaches say their players have to show up for practice, spring training or no spring training.

"This really disappoints me," said Robbins Tuesday afternoon. "This is a school function. It is set up so that it doesn't interfere with the school track or baseball programs, and I thought Teenage baseball was a summer sport."

"This just disturbs me very much. It should be organized where the kids aren't put in this situation of having to make a decision," Robbins continued. "But we have very little choice. Every other conference school is going through spring training right now, and we have to as well."

Recruits from the Steer baseball team showed up Monday and are now in the process of getting caught up with the rest of the guys. Numerous sessions of individual group work fill up most of the time now, as teamwork convocations will begin in earnest next week.

In addition to battling the weakening effects of the throat version of the "creeping crud," Robbins is concerned about replenishing the defensive secondary. Everyone but the official graduated back there: Kenneth Coffey, Del Poss, Kent Rice, Rusty Braun and Bobby Huff.

"We're working very hard right now to find replacements," explained Robbins. "It's very critical that that position is filled properly. One mistake back there means six points."

The Steers are also destined to be more of a running team next season. Not much option stuff, mind you, but beaucoups of power sweeps, traps, isolation plays and "straightatyou" groundwork.

MEANWHILE, OVER IN 'EXTERMINATOR' LAND
Stanton fan Terry Neill avers that next season is the year for the Buffs. Since the Forsan Buffaloes are joining District 5-A next year (along with newcomers Ropesville and Anton), Neill went on to clarify...the Stanton Buffs.

Coach David Thompson's crew will be returning 13 letterman, five on offense and six on defense, in addition to one Keith Hull, currently being billed by Neill as the "top junior in the world."

KEITH HULL
Wherever he wants to play

Hull is a 5-11, 180 (plus) pound offensive guard and linebacker who transferred from Midland Lee last year. The UIL transfer rule was the only factor in the world that kept him from starting as a sophomore last season.

One Stanton assistant coach said that Hull, "could play any place he wanted to," and according to everyone I've talked to, he has All-everything written all over him. Stanton will also have a number of highly-experienced seniors returning to the fold. Kendel Blocker, Ben Bowlin, Mitch Elmore, Tommy Morrow, Russell Oglesby, Gabriel Romero, Todd Smith, Ralph Tarango and Miles Tollison are just a few of the names, mostly starters, who will be playing in their final season for the Big Red.

Richard Perez, Tom Dill, Gary Douglas, Ernie Byrd, Norberto Arguello, Paul Sparks and David Luna should also be coming up from the ranks to fill in as starters from time to time.

Of special interest to area fans: Coahoma and Stanton will butt heads in a pre-season game, the second of the year, and the "Battle of the Buffs" (Forsan and Stanton) will be the final game on each of those teams' agendas.

Bulldog and Stanton fans will remember the action-packed scrimmage between their respective teams before regular season last year. With real points and digits in the respective W-L columns on the line, you can bet next year's duel will be a fur-flyer too.

REMARKABILITIES

"It's going to be simple, and it's going to be big. There are nine grandkids already and there will be more. I want them to have plenty of room when they come to see me. The main thing is to have a house that is full of love and a roof that doesn't leak." — ANN CAMPBELL, regarding the house that son Earl is going to build her with his big pro bucks.

"The complexion of this club has changed. The more adversity they face, the better they get. If they were going to lose, they would've already done that. They had enough excuses to fall back on with losing people to injuries. If they happen to get beat, it'll be because that's the way the game goes. They've proven to me that they can win against pressure, and I'm their toughest critic." — TOMMY COLLINS, Steer baseball coach, prior to Saturday's game with San Angelo.

Borg stymies Stockton in WCT

DALLAS (AP) — If Dick Stockton had been forced to face any more of Bjorn Borg's blistering shots Tuesday night, he says he might have walked on the court with a baseball catcher's mask and mitt instead of a tennis racket.

Borg, seeking his second World Championship of Tennis title, diffused Stockton's powerful serve-and-volley game with an array of rumbling winners from the baseline Tuesday night for an easy 4-6, 6-2, 6-1, 6-0 quarter-final victory.

"I felt like he (Borg) was hitting harder and harder as the match went on. If it had gone four of seven (sets), I might have had to get my catcher's gear," quipped Stockton. "I was being pushed back to the fence."

"There's no way to prepare for a guy like this. What do you tell your practice partner? Play like Bjorn?" he added.

The 21-year-old Swede dropped the first set, but totally dominated Stockton the remainder of the match. He broke eight of Stockton's last nine serves and reeled off 12 consecutive victories to end the match.

"He got tired and I got stronger and stronger," said Borg. "I hit the ball deeper and with more confidence. I think the turning point of the match came when I broke Dickie early in the second set. From there on, my concentration was very good."

Borg won the WCT crown in 1976 after two straight years as runner-up. He didn't return last year to defend his championship, becoming embroiled in a bitter contract dispute with the WCT after choosing to play Grand Prix events.

Full house on hand as spring athletes honored

By DANNY REAGAN

Almost 500 athletes and supporters of local sports programs showed up Tuesday night in the high school cafeteria for the annual spring Sports Banquet.

The near-capacity crowd listened to Rev. Kenneth Patrick deliver a brief and well-received message on pride in individual efforts for the benefit of the team.

Attitude, direction, character, potential, personnel and provisions were also topics of discussion. "Leave something behind for future generations," said Patric. "Yell, get enthusiastic!"

The local fan and pastor of the First Baptist Church encouraged parents to "support the coaching staff, administration, and the boys and girls." He offered: "Don't criticize the Indian until you've walked in his moccasins for two moons."

Awarding of special trophies highlighted the evening. Baseball Coach Tommy Collins presented the outstanding baseball award to Tony Mann, and the basketball award to Kenneth Perry.

Coach Carole Bartasek, with New York accent almost completely gone, presented the girls' basketball award to Becky Ragan, and the Coaches Award in that sport to Nora Billalba.

Tanga Cain received the top girls' award in golf, and Bruce Carroll received the similar presentation for boys. Those trophies were presented by Coaches Howard Stewart and John Stiles. Coach Harlan Smith presented the swimming awards. For the second year in a row, Laura Robbins captured the girls' trophy, and Kirk Nelson took the boys' honor.

Alyssa Burns and Wasi Syed received the two top tennis awards presented by Coaches Deanna Adams and Wendell Sadler. In girls' track, Donna Diliberto, a freshman, received the cross-country award from Coach Jeannie Hester. Connie Jackson took the track award, and Jackson, Tammy Woodard and Doris Mitchell were all winners in the Coaches Award for track. Head Track Coach Jerry Carter delivered a motivational message in praising his charges' efforts this past year, and speedster Bobby Huff received the top award from him.

Del Poss and Irene Little received their respective "Huddle" and "Cuddle" awards received from the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, presented by Craig Fischer, Don Childs, Nancy Deason and Nancy Hayes Stripling.

The top two awards of the night, for all-around best athletes, went to Becky Ragan and Kenneth Coffey. Ragan received the memorial "Wanda Ferguson Award" from Coach Nancy Deason, and Coffey accepted the equally prestigious "Obie Bristow Award" from the late Bristow's son Keith. Ragan and Coffey were both three-sport letterpersons, and seniors this year.

Master of ceremonies Cotton Mize, and Craig Fischer offered entertainment for the highly-receptive crowd.

Jenkins, 'O' lead Rangers

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Sal Bando never got to first base while angrily pleading his case with the umpires Tuesday night, and Ferguson Jenkins made sure very few other Milwaukee Brewers got there, either.

Jenkins, Texas' veteran righthander, pitched a seven inning and allowed only an infield single by Sixto Lezcano and a bunt single by Gorman Thomas over the last 6-1-3 innings. Al Oliver backed Jenkins with a three run home run and an RBI single as the Rangers whipped the Brewers 7-1.

Jenkins (3-1) allowed a second inning homer by Lezcano, his fourth, and got out of a two on, two out jam in the third when center fielder Juan Beniquez made an over the shoulder catch of Ben Oglivie's liner which a stiff wind was carrying toward the wall. However, Jenkins retired 17 of the last 19 batters.

"I had eight days rest and I had to throw about 10 minutes of batting practice each day to stay sharp," Jenkins said. "I had a little problem with my rhythm in the early innings and made a few mistakes, like the ball Lezcano hit. And if Beniquez hadn't caught up with that ball Oglivie hit, it might have been a different game."

But the Rangers led 6-1 by the time Bando, leading off the Brewer eighth, hit a ball which he claimed he had fouled off his left foot before it rolled to Toby Harrah at third. Bando, hobbling in apparent pain in front of the batter's box, was called out as Harrah fielded the ball and threw it first.

Bando ran to first base umpire Jerry Neudecker and ripped off his shoe and sock, claiming the ball had bruised his foot. When the umpires insisted they had not seen the ball hit his foot, Bando had to be restrained by Frank Howard, the Brewers' 6-foot-7, 300 pound coach, from charging Neudecker.

Bando was ejected, as was George Bamberger — a first for Bamberger in his 26 games as Brewer manager and in his 10 previous years as Baltimore pitching coach.

"The only way we were going to beat Jenkins tonight was to pitch a shutout, but that call didn't help," Bamberger said.

76ers need win tonight...or else

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Julius Erving thinks it's time the Philadelphia 76ers quit coddling his teammates. The Sixers should stick with their best, win or lose, and Dr. J feels he figures prominently.

The 76ers trail the Washington Bullets 3-1 in their best-of-seven National Basketball Association Eastern playoff final. To survive, Philadelphia has to win three straight, including one on Washington's home court.

But this doesn't appear to perturb Erving. Not even the chance that the team's playoff hopes could be crushed tonight in bitter disappointment when they face the Bullets in Game 5.

"I think it's time to forget trying to pacify everybody and do what's best for the team," said Erving. "We have to go with our key players, win or lose it that way."

Thus far, the Bullets have played inspired basketball, led by Elvin "Big E" Hayes, who is averaging 26.3 points, 16 rebounds and 3.3 blocked shots a game.

Hayes is being aided by Bob Dandridge who is scoring 24.3 points per game with 5.5 assists. He's shooting 52.4 percent from the field. The Bullets are averaging 117 points.

Philadelphia's key players are Erving, George McGinnis, Doug Collins, Henry Bibby and Caldwell Jones.

Erving, who has been taking about 16 shots a game, indicated he plans to take at least 25 tonight and in future games if there are any. He'll shoot more if necessary.

Skiing better now than winter

TAOS, N.M. (AP) — Taos Ski Valley officials say skiing at the resort is as good or better than it was all winter.

Resort operator Ernie Blake said the ski area is preparing for the Taos "Racing In The Sun" ski and racing school planned to start Saturday.

Blake said there is well over 100 inches of snow at Kachina Basin. He said more than 30 inches was received during last week's storm. He said the ski valley is not open to the public but will open for the one-week ski and racing school if enough people register by Wednesday.

The school is for very advanced skiers only.

Amherst comes through again

AMHERST, Mass. (AP) — They are telling a joke at tiny Amherst College: the elite institution has become a football factory.

Two players from last year's squad were drafted last week by National Football League teams — outdoing the entire Ivy League, which had one draftee, and powerful Boston College, which had none.

Since 1970, in fact, Amherst has produced three first-rate NFL players from a college football program regarded as one of the most sophisticated in the NCAA's Division III. The coach, Jim Ostendard, played for the New York Giants in the 1950s.

Last week's were linebacker Sean Clancy, in the eighth round by the Miami Dolphins, and tight end Bill Swiacki, drafted in the ninth round by the Giants.

Davis named Rookie of Year

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Forward Walter Davis of the Phoenix Suns says when the past season started his goal was "to make the team and contribute."

And that he certainly did, capped Tuesday by his selection as Rookie of the Year in the National Basketball Association.

Davis, the only rookie selected for the NBA All-Star game in February, scored in double figures in all 81 regular-season games.

"I had no personal goals for myself," Davis told a new conference as he accepted the rookie award. "I just wanted to make the team and contribute."

The Dallas Braves?

DALLAS (AP) — Can a National Basketball Association team with an image of something less than a winner find happiness in this football crazy home of the National Football League champion Dallas Cowboys?

That question is apparently foremost in the mind of the owner of the Buffalo Braves today after he made a whirlwind tour of Dallas in his search for a new home for the Buffalo franchise.

"The only question I have is whether civic leadership feels it's important to have a pro basketball team," said John Brown after a day of looking over the city and what it would offer in the way of facilities.

Noting the success of the Cowboys, Brown said "Dallas is one of the dynamic cities in the country. It's a winner. I like that image of a city."

"Any team coming in here realizes the Dallas Cowboys are king, along with college football. The thing to find about is whether there's a large enough base of fans to get behind a pro basketball team."

Norm Sonju, club president, was also in Dallas Tuesday.

The eight-year-old franchise would cancel its lease for the city of Buffalo for Memorial Auditorium, Sonju had announced Monday. He said Birmingham, Louisville and possibly Toronto are possible new sites for the franchise if it moves from Buffalo.

"Our announcement was a very traumatic thing," Sonju said. "Buffalo is a very fine place. I moved there with the idea of living there a long time. I just built a $20,000 addition on my house. The sad thing now is there's not a person in Buffalo who doesn't think we are going to go."

Astros win

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies had won nine out of their last 11 ball games and were cruising along with one of the best team batting averages in the National League until they ran into the sleepless giant.

That would be J. R. Richard, the Houston Astros' hard throwing right-hander, who used his fastball and a wicked breaking ball Tuesday night in pitching a four-hitter while striking out 11. The Astros, using Cesar Cedeno's first-inning home run and a four-run explosion in the seventh, defeated the Phillies 5-1.

"I didn't sleep last night, but I pitch better when I'm tired," said Richard, now 2-3. "I don't try to over throw."

Richard explained his sleepless night by saying he had a lot on his mind.

"I know we needed to win a ball game. I watched TV, listened to the radio, tried to get into my favorite sleeping position."

Handball tourney starts Friday

The first of what is to be an annual presentation of the "Arenecibia-Hardisty Invitational" handball tournament is only days away, and teams from all over the state of Texas, as well as Arizona and New Mexico have already started arriving in Big Spring.

The four events offered in the large tourney are Masters Doubles and A, B and C singles. Trophies for first, second and consolation in all divisions will be presented, as well as unique T-shirts for all contestants. There will also be a drawing for a free pair of gloves.

All matches will be held at the Big Spring YMCA and refreshments will be provided throughout the tourney.

A Saturday luncheon for players and guests, plus a major party event that night is also scheduled.

For further information, contact Herb Shipp at the YMCA.

YOUNG SIGNS — Loretta Young, a 5-5 star for the Stanton girls' basketball team, signed a letter on intent Tuesday to play for Howard College next season. Loretta averaged 23 points a game her senior year, and posted field goal and free throw percentages of 44.7 and 62.1, respectively. The gifted athlete also qualified for the Regional track meet this year in five events. She went to state in two events. She has been a three-year starter on the hardwoods and is a two-time all-district player. Witnessing the inking is Hawk Queen Coach Don Stevens, and Loretta's mother, Rosie Young.

Duffers offered $3 mil tourney

NEW YORK — A tournament offering non-professional golfers an unprecedented opportunity to play for some $3 million in cash prizes has been unveiled by the new World Golf Association.

WGA Commissioner Wes Parker, former Los Angeles Dodgers first baseman, announced the concept of the tourney and plans for the golfing organization to be headquartered in Newport Beach, Calif.

Various factors give Lee a Colonial edge

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — A variety of factors combine to make Lee Trevino a strong candidate for the title this week in the $200,000 Colonial National Invitation Golf Tournament.

"I played good enough to win in Dallas. Maybe this week," said Trevino, whose pounding, last-round challenge to Tom Watson fell short by a single stroke last weekend in the Byron Nelson Classic.

That performance made obvious the fact that Trevino is playing extremely well. He led at one point in the Masters, was second in the Tournament of Champions, led one round at New Orleans, then had another runner-up finish.

"And we're getting into the part of the schedule I like," said Trevino, whose only Texas triumph came in this tournament two years ago. "We're playing a lot of good, hard courses where you don't have to shoot 700 under par to win."

"We're getting into the hot weather, too. And that helps. I'm a hot-weather player. It can't get too hot for me. I just can't handle that cold."

That, at least, should not be a problem on the 7,190-yard, par-70 Colonial Country Club course. This event, which draws an invitational field of only 102, often is subjected to some of the hottest weather on the tour.

And the course is to Trevino's liking, too. It's one of the most difficult the touring pros encounter all year. Over-par figures have been good enough to win. And it's even tougher this year.

The green on the par-3 13th has been redesigned and now is on two levels. "If you get the ball on the wrong level," said tournament chairman Bill Speer, "it's going to be almost impossible to two-putt."

Only two men who have won 1978 tour titles — Jack Nicklaus and Miller Barber — are missing from the field that begins the 72-hole chase Thursday.

The leading contenders for the $40,000 first prize are South African Gary Player, who reeled off a string of three consecutive victories; U.S. Open champ Hubert Green, winner of two titles this year, and 1977 Player of the Year Tom Watson, who collected his third victory of the year last week, became a golfing millionaire and moved into this year's leading money-winning spot.

Tips for young baseball players

RUNNING (Conclusion)
Don't let anyone tell you it is the catcher you steal on. In most cases, it is actually the pitcher, or rather, the pitcher's move. All the catchers in the big leagues are good throwers.

When Joe Morgan, who has stolen over 50 bases five straight years, is trying to advance from first on a hit, as I reach second, he looks toward third for a hand signal that will tell him whether to come around or hold up.

Of course, a good runner always has to know who is throwing the ball out there in the outfield. It depends on his arm and where the ball is hit. If the ball is hit ahead of him into left field, the chances are he will hold up at second.

If it is hit to right, he can go for third; but there are outfielders who can catch you trying to go for the extra base. So you have to judge the throwing arm against you and be alert for a signal from the third base coach.

There are wrong ways to run the bases just as there are right ways. Since speed is so essential, the baserunner should always try to save ground unless, of course, he is trying to elude a tag. Then he's got to know how to swing around in a hook slide.

But when you're running around the bases, the important thing to remember is to get inside of the base and not circle it. That way you're bound to lose precious steps, and in many cases it's the difference between being safe or out.

Jr. Bowlers awarded prizes

Awards were presented this past weekend to the winners in the American Junior Bowling Congress City Tournament held recently in Big Spring.

In the Bantam division, comprised of four teams, eight doubles and 16 singles competitors, the Cowboys took the top trophy with 1,893. Four-of-a-kind and Red Devils were 2nd and 3rd, respectively, with 1,492 and 1,459, respectively.

In the Pinbusters Division (jr. and sr.), comprised of six teams, 24 singles and 12 doubles, the Sneaky Strikers was the winner with 2,426. Brand X and Mixed Ups were second and After three full weeks of play, Big Spring Savings and Loan was out front with a 3-0 record. Francisco's was just behind with a 2-0 record.

In last week's games, it was Big Spring Savings and Loan over Albertos 16 to 6, and Cosden over Big Spring

Coahoma banquet draws large crowd

(Photo by Bob Burton)

By BOB BURTON
COAHOMA — The Bulldog athletic program drew an enthusiastic 330 people to honor 136 athletes Tuesday night in the Coahoma Gym.

Featured speaker for the occasion was Eddie Nicholson, the "Armchair Philosopher", sponsored by the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. Nicholson refreshed the crowd after the hearty meal catered by Al's Barbeque. The burly man in overalls told the assembled students and parents to "take a bigger bite out of life", spicing his self-betterment pitch with anecdotes from his boyhood in the Tennessee hills.

The banquet specially honored the Coahoma cheerleaders and the work they put in to rally support at Bulldog events. Varsity cheerleaders are Mickie Schafer, Becci Rowden, Donna Witt, Cindy McMahan, Stacy Hodnett, and Teresa Sneed. Junior varsity cheerleaders are Kerri Read, Connie Brown, and Ronna Tyler. Freshman cheerleaders are Sharie Shaw, Lori Phinney, and Cheryl Powers.

The first presentation, made by Athletic Director Roy Winters, as the presentation of senior blankets, marking exceptional athletic participation and success by seniors. Blankets were presented to Melissa Brown, Terry Don Roberts, Mickie Schafer, Dusty Douglass, Billy Higgins, Bobby Dunn, Steve Spears, Kerry Swann, Kay Rinard, Randy Bennett, and Tim Greenfield. Presentation of letters followed, going to fortunate participants in girl's and boy's tennis, track, basketball, and football.

These awards were followed by the Outstanding Athlete Awards, presented in each sport to the crucial athlete. Winners in boy's sports were: Terry Don Roberts, football; Mike Ritchey, basketball; Billy Higgins, track; and David Barbee, tennis. Girl's sports outstanding athletes were Melissa Brown, basketball; Judy Cox, track; and Kerry Swann, tennis.

Most Valuable Athlete awards were presented to the best senior boy and girl athlete. Tim Greenfield and Nancy Howell won those honors.

The banquet was sponsored by the Coahoma Boosters and engineered by co-captains Raymond Phillips and Carl Frazier. The most active Booster award went to Dennis Greenfield.

Okie ignored, will try anyway

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — All-American safety Zac Henderson said Tuesday he will try to make the roster of the Miami Dolphins of the National Football League as a free agent.

The 6-foot, 185-pounder from Burkburnett, Texas, was passed over in the recent pro football draft.

Henderson tied a school record with seven interceptions this past season and was chosen by the New York Athletic Club as the nation's top defensive back.

Oklahoma coaches expressed astonishment when Henderson was not selected in last week's pro football draft, saying Henderson had been contacted by several NFL teams who seemed interested in his talents.

Henderson said Tuesday he thinks he was not drafted because several teams had incorrect information about him, specifically about his speed.

Henderson said the Dolphins were his favorite professional team as he grew up.

He said he talked with coach Don Shula during Senior Bowl workouts and recently talked with the team's player personnel manager.

"I have to concentrate now on getting into the best shape I have ever been in my life and staying free of injuries," he said during a telephone interview from his Norman apartment, where he was studying for the last of his final exams.

Henderson said Miami coaches are talking about giving him a shot at a position as safety.

Outstanding athletes honored at Grady

GRADY — A packed-house of approximately 200 athletes, parents, friends and supporters of the Grady High School athletic department filled the gym Tuesday night to hear Midland College Athletic Director deliver a most appropriate message, and to watch as numerous local athletes were honored with awards presentations.

The Best All-Around Boy Athlete award went to Alex Perez this year, and the similar award for girls was shared by co-winners Wendy Tunnell and Faye Welch.

Ruben Gutierrez captured the "Fightingest Wildcat" football award for his determination on the field of play.

A new award, the "Gold, Black and White" was presented to four girls for dedication and outstanding endeavors in their respective sports. Belinda Martin was the winner in volleyball, DeeAnn Williams took the track honor, Tamra Williams won for basketball and Debbie Romine captured the tennis award.

Special presentations were presented to outstanding posters of the Wildcats, Mr. and Mrs. "Pop" Gibson, parents of Coach Richard Gibson, were honored for their uninterrupted attendance at every athletic event, home or away. Mr. and Mrs. Leandro Gonzalez were also presented a similar award.

The Wildcat Booster Club presented retiring Board member Butch Howard with a token of their appreciation, and the boy's athletic department recognized trainer and manager Don Blake for his tremendous efforts in both junior and senior high.

Poss, Big Spring School Board member and past president of the Southwest Basketball Officials Association, espoused the dedication and maximum participation needed for an athlete from a small school.

Poss reminded the assemblage that in larger schools, athletes, industrial arts students, science students and others are segregated into their respective groups. In a school the size of Grady, all students must participate in various activities for the good of the school, the Athletic Director offered.

The banquet was termed a huge success by those attending.

$40.6 million rate hike called 'grossly inadequate'

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Texas Power & Light Co. officials termed "grossly inadequate" a $40.6 million rate hike granted Monday by the Public Utility Commission.

The company's 615,000 customers in 50 counties would pay an average of 10 percent more for electricity under the rate increase. The utility had asked for a $118 million, or 18.4 percent, hike.

TP&L President R.K. Campbell said the company must reassess plans to convert plant fuels from natural gas to lignite and nuclear power.

"On the one hand the commission encourages us to lower the customer's total bill, which we have been doing by increasing our use of lignite coal for generating purposes," Campbell said in a statement.

"On the other hand, the commission, on two occasions now, has failed to grant us a proper return on the tremendous investment required to allow us to continue our conversion program as scheduled," he said.

The company has not decided whether to appeal the commission's order in court.

The company has 15 days to file a revised rate structure with the commission.

Tax appraisal board to meet

The Howard County Tax Appraisal Board will meet today at 3 p.m. in the county courtroom. The proposed agenda looks innocuous, but recent debate by member agencies on the proposed $140,000 budget may trigger some discussion.

The board's budget has been presented and accepted by the city, and by several Coahoma and Pecos agencies. It has been presented to the Commissioner's Court, but not yet accepted. It has not been presented to the school district or the junior college.

A financial statement for three-quarters of the fiscal year, which ends Sept. 1, will be presented by Tax Appraiser Earl Dean. The statement shows disbursements thus far of $51,006.39 and receipts of $38,638.88. With cash on hand, the deficit is $2,178.67. Budgeted expenditures for the year should total $61,950. For April, receipts total $8,743.96 while expenditures total $15,581.99.

Center to take CETA requests

On Saturday, May 20, the Howard-Glasscock Human Resource Center will be taking applications for its CETA (Comprehensive Employment and Training Act of 1973) summer youth program.

Applications will be taken from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Dora Roberts Community Center in Comanche Trail Park next to the Figure 7 Tennis Center.

In order to qualify, you must be between the ages of 14-21, low income, unemployed over seven days and economically disadvantaged.

If you feel you are qualified, go by the Texas Employment Commission and pick up a referral card.

Bring this card, your social security number, and the amount of your family's income for the past year when you come to fill out an application on May 20. If you are under 18 years of age, you will need to have one of your parents sign your application, according to Nabar Martinez, program director.

If you have any questions concerning the summer program, you may call the Human Resource Center Office at 263-8373 between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Coahoma High School Rodeo set Thursday

For fun, good rodeo action, and a look at some of the cowboys and cowgirls who will soon be competing in collegiate rodeo, area residents can go to the Coahoma High School Rodeo at 2:30 p.m. Thursday in the Coahoma arena.

Sponsored by the CHS rodeo club, the rodeo will feature tie down, ribbon, and break-away roping, bull and bareback riding, barrels, poles, flags, a rescue race, and chute dogging.

The rescue race and chute dogging should provide both laughs and excitement. For those who don't attend high school rodeos, the rescue race is just that - a rider "rescues" a stranded man at the far end of the arena and races back against the clock. The laughs come in when horses not used to carrying double decide to try and desert both riders in the middle of the arena.

Chute dogging is similar to steer wrestling, except that the contestant comes out of a bucking chute holding onto his steer, rather than jumping from a moving horse.

CHS students winning the events will receive belts, buckles, and saddle blankets donated by Coahoma and Big Spring Merchants.

The Howard College Rodeo team is assisting the CHS rodeo club in organizing, planning, and presenting the rodeo. Mac Altizer, David McGuire, and Guy Miller have been especially active

One night apart

with Marj Carpenter

Usually I don't worry about such things as wedding anniversaries in this column. But there really aren't too many couples around here that have been married 55 years and both of them were born in Big Spring.

But that is the case with John and Maymie Schwarzenbach, who were married in Big Spring May 10, 1923.

He was born in Big Spring Feb. 17, 1895. She was born in Big Spring Oct. 18, 1898. That's hard to top.

But I believe this tops it. They have only spent one night apart in their entire 55 years of married life. One night, John went fishing and fished all night.

That's it. Top it if you can. Her parents were Joseph Wier Barnett Jr. and Lily Seals.

They also got married in Big Spring Sept. 5, 1894. He was the son of Dr. J.W. Barnett, one of the earliest doctors in the county.

One of the many items that the Heritage Museum has in their archives is a letter from Col. C.C. Slaughter to Maymie's father, J.W. Barnett Jr. when he was a ranch foreman on the great Slaughter Ranch.

The biggest ranch in the area, it spread all the way from Big Spring to Lubbock and lapped over into many counties.

The letter was written in 1892 and was instructing Barnett to cut out the two

Reclaim land order issued

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The railroad commission has ordered Eugene Shirley Co. of Oklahoma City to reclaim within 90 days 12 acres of land at a mining site near Sulphur Springs in Hopkins County.

The commission said work began at the Shirley surface mine in March 1976 and lasted for nine months.

Remaining on the site, the commission said, is an excavated pit 400 feet long, 150 feet wide and 50 feet deep.

Examiner Carmen Raos told the commission Monday that there has been serious erosion, mine spoil has flowed onto adjoining property and runoff is entering creek tributaries.

The commission order requires Shirley to complete reclamation within 90 days, except for a vegetative cover, which may take longer.

Carter not about to warm bench

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite his slumping average in the polls, Jimmy Carter is not going to warm the political bench during the campaign season. Not unless he wants it that way.

There are and will be more requests for Carter's campaign assistance than the chairman of the House Agriculture Committee didn't always agree with the administration on farm policy. That's putting it mildly.

The national political leader who really wants to help will be for or against the candidate, whichever does the most good.

There probably will be a few Democrats who find it advantageous to issue dramatic declarations of independence, and to announce that they don't want Carter in their territory this fall.

Carter said in Portland, Ore., that no members of Congress had been around to tell him he was a liability and should stay away from their districts.

Short of war, Watergate or economic catastrophe, campaigning politicians almost always are in the market for an assist from the president.

And for all his troubles in the public opinion polls, President Carter is not likely to be an exception to that rule. Whatever the voters may think of the job he is doing, they agree overwhelmingly that he is honest and hard working. He lived in a home which is right where Carlos Restaurant is located at this time.

Most of the early railroaders in Big Spring lived north of the railroad tracks. "That was the most scenic view of the area from up on those hills," one old-timer recalls. Still a place that you can see all over Big Spring is at Bauer Elementary.

The Schwarzenbachs never had children. Right now, other than each other, the favorite at their house is a pet dog named Monkey.

Both John and Howard Schwarzenbach have lived there their entire lives. Their brother Roland moved to East Texas.

They also have no idea that they're going to be featured in today's column. Happy anniversary, John and Maymie. I believe you hold the record for putting up with each other — out where I ride fence.

Oil allowable

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas' average calendar day oil allowable as of May 1 was 3,546,164 barrels, a decrease of 10,652 from April 15, the railroad commission reported Tuesday.

The commission said 179,876 wells were on the allowable schedule May 1, 523 fewer than in mid-April.

Rookie's odds of success thin

LOS ANGELES (AP) — So you've an original drama for family viewing, but don't know where to send it? Don't expect miracles, but NBC's "Hallmark Hall of Fame" may be the place. Be warned, though, that:

For legal reasons, you need an agent or producer to proffer your goods. Without same, you're just wasting your postage.

Because "Hall" averages but five shows a season and hopeful authors are competing with experienced pros, a rookie's odds of success are so thin they'd be marked absent if turned sideways.

All this comes from executive producer Ron Hobin. He studies all potential scripts at his office in Chicago, at Foote, Cone & Belding, an ad agency that's represented Hallmark for years.

Though he works mainly with the top teleplayers of Hollywood and New York, he says "we are always open to new writers if they're aiming at the same kind of quality programs that we have."

And, he says, "the fact someone hasn't been done before wouldn't stop us from doing a show if we like the material."

Why the unusual receptiveness to rookie TV dramatists?

Hobin explains it this way: In TV's so-called Golden Age of the 1950s, there were many young writers "particularly interested in doing good, original drama for television" as opposed to routine series scripts.

"But a lot have gone on to movies. And there doesn't seem to be a developing pool of that kind of writer these days."

Another woe: "Hall," he said, once could draw from those wet T-shirts.

They also have no idea that they're going to be featured in today's column. Happy anniversary, John and Maymie. I believe you hold the record for putting up with each other — out where I ride fence.
