

Labeled savior, devil, reformer, bigot and buffoon

George Wallace ending political career

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — George Corley Wallace, once a feisty symbol of segregationist resistance and four times a candidate for president, has ended his political career with a surprise announcement that he will not run for the U.S. Senate.

On Tuesday night in Mobile, after days of reflection at the gubernatorial retreat at nearby Gulf Shores, the Alabama governor told the Alabama League of Municipalities: "Having thought all day yesterday, and last night and today ... I want to make this announcement to you. I've decided ... I will not be a candidate for the United States Senate.

"Although I feel I could win the U.S. Senate seat, my conclusion in the last few days is to retire," he concluded.

His stunned audience stood and applauded. The governor smiled slightly as he shook hands with well-wishers.

The announcement shocked even some of his closest aides for the 59-year-old Wallace had been considered the Democratic frontrunner in the race for the seat being vacated by Sen. John Sparkman.

The decision, assistant press aide Elvin Stanton said, means Wallace will retire from the political wars when his current term as chief executive ends next January. By law, he cannot succeed himself as governor a third straight time.

However, one person who refused to write his political obituary was his second wife, Cornelia, divorced from Wallace last year after a widely publicized marital dispute.

Mrs. Wallace said Tuesday night that her former husband was not "the George Wallace of old." But she added:

"Let's face it. This is a man who likes the roar of the crowd."

During 16 years in state and national politics, Wallace was called savior, devil, reformer, bigot and buffoon. But he was never ignored.

Wallace burst onto the national political scene in 1963. In January he stood on the steps of the state Capitol to give his inaugural address, crying, "Segregation now! Segregation tomorrow! Segregation forever!"

In June, he stood in a schoolhouse door to block two black students from entering the University of Alabama.

He parlayed that defiance of a federal desegregation order into three terms as governor and runs for the presidency in 1984, 1988, 1992 and 1976. He became a symbol of Dixie-styled conservatism.

Wallace made his impact on the national political scene — he once campaigned on a vow to "shake the eye-teeth" of the bureaucrats in Washington — as a symbol of defiance: his own defiance of big government, the troubled parent's defiance of court-ordered school busing, the conservative voter's defiance of promises made by the two major political parties.

In 1968, running under the banner of the American Independent Party, he carried five states and won 46 electoral votes. He captured 13.5 percent of the popular vote, the largest showing by a third party candidate since 1924.

But while campaigning in 1972 at a Laurel, Md., shopping center, Wallace was cut down by a fusillade of bullets fired by Arthur Bremer. His wounds left him partially paralyzed and in constant pain.

It was the assassination attempt — "the shooting," as Wallace now calls it — that numbered his days as a factor in presidential politics.

Body of Chaplin recovered, two alleged thieves nabbed

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) — The body of Charlie Chaplin, stolen from his village grave the night of March 2, has been recovered and police have arrested the two alleged thieves, a Pole and a Bulgarian, authorities said today.

The two men were arrested Tuesday after allegedly calling police demanding a ransom for the return of the comedian's remains, said Examining Magistrate Jean-Daniel Enthorey.

He said the body was found near Villeneuve, a small town at the eastern tip of Lake Geneva about 10 miles east of Corsier-sur-Vevey, where Chaplin spent the last 25 years of his life and where he was buried last Dec. 27.

Enthorey said the body was recovered early Wednesday morning. He said more than 50 police investigators took part in the final phase of the search. He did not say immediately whether other suspects were being sought.

Chaplin's oak coffin weighed 325 pounds, and detectives said it would have taken at least three strong men to drag it some 50 feet from its gravesite in the cemetery overlooking Lake Geneva before loading it into a small van.

There was no immediate comment from Chaplin's widow, Oona, and the family's Swiss lawyer, Jean-Felix Paschoud, refused to talk to reporters.

Enthorey and the family had received a series of anonymous phone calls after the theft of the body, but police said virtually all of them were from people who obviously were not connected with the crime.

"Let's just say that among all the false demands we received, this one was serious and was taken seriously," Enthorey said.

Until today, there had been no word of any firm clues to the whereabouts of the body of the famed comedian who died on Christmas Day at the age of 88, or to the identity of the thieves.

Investigators had leaned to the theory that the body was stolen for ransom. Chaplin's wealth has not been officially reported but British newspapers have valued his estate as high as $100 million.

Social Security taxes rollback plan rejected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee today voted to retain the higher Social Security taxes enacted last year, rejecting an effort to roll back part of the tax increase.

The 21-16 committee vote reversed a tentative decision of the panel last week when it voted 19-18 to recommend a $14.5-billion reduction in the scheduled tax increases that Congress had enacted only last December.

Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., chairman of the committee, joined in the panel's flip-flop. He voted last week for the rollback but today urged that the higher taxes be preserved.

Ullman said he considers the rollback issue dead for the year. However, Ullman promised to take up the matter again if any member can get a consensus on an alternative way of reducing Social Security taxes.

Ullman told his colleagues today that he had "decided that I cannot live with a vote on my part to" rollback the tax increase.

He said he had favored the reduction last week because the House Democratic Caucus had instructed the committee to develop a plan for cutting Social Security taxes. The caucus has not changed its recommendation since last week.

Ullman, explaining his switch, said the committee has a responsibility to the Democratic caucus, but he also has a duty to follow his conscience in voting for what he considers right for the country.

The drive to reduce the higher taxes that were enacted last December arose out of what many members of Congress considered a flood of mail from constituents complaining about a much smaller tax increase that went into effect on Jan. 1.

The December increases are to take effect starting next Jan. 1, and will be followed by periodic increases over the next several decades.

At least for the time being, the committee's decision indicates that those increases are likely to take effect as scheduled.

'I didn't think I was speeding'

It all turned out well

By CAROL HART

"I was scared for a minute. I didn't think I was speeding, unless my speedometer was wrong."

Those were the first thoughts of Carl Roberson, St. Louis, Missouri, who with his wife, Anna, were the first travelers of the season to be pulled over by a Texas Highway Patrol car in which Bill Albright, director of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, had something other than a traffic ticket for the travelers.

Following a hail-down by highway patrolman Ben Lockhart, Albright and Rose Thomas, of the Chamber's convention and visitors bureau, told the Robersons they would be treated to a free night's lodging, supper, a tour of Big Spring, and free gifts from several Big Spring merchants.

The Robersons are on their way to stops in Las Vegas, Tucson, and Phoenix. "We were trying to kill time," Mrs. Roberson said. She explained that their granddaughter will graduate from high school in Flagstaff, Arizona, on May 24, and the couple plans to be in town for the ceremonies.

"We were trying to think of someplace to spend another day or two," Mrs. Roberson said. The couple has been on the road "over three weeks" Roberson said. "We were just trying to make up our minds where to stop for the night," Mrs. Roberson added.

Roberson is a retired employee of Anheuser-Busch. Mrs. Roberson is a homemaker. "We're not in a hurry," the couple said. "We just take off and stop where we want."

The hospitality offer "sounds good" said the Robersons.

The hospitality "hold-up" program was begun last summer by the Chamber of Commerce. Two families were stopped at that time, and Mrs. Thomas dubbed the program successful.

The chamber now plans to stop two families a month in an effort to show that Big Spring is a nice place to stop over and stay awhile.

Contributing to the Tuesday Hold-up were the Ramada Inn, Water Hole No. 3 Steakhouse in Coahoma, Little Sooper Market in Coahoma, Gibson's, Walls, T-Shirt Factree, Jane's Flowers, Coca Cola, Bob Brock Ford, Big Spring Herald, Kent Brown's Service Center, Ike Robb, Kent Morgan, and Baskin-Robbins.

HOLD UP — Carl Roberson, St. Louis, Missouri, and his wife Anna pull-over after a hail-down by the highway patrol only to find that Big Spring Chamber of Commerce director Bill Albright had a hospitality visit in Big Spring planned, rather than a traffic ticket. Officer who drove the patrol car on the "hold-up" was Ben Lockhart. (Related picture on 2-A).

College tax rate will remain same

By MARJ CARPENTER

The Howard College tax rate was set at the same as last year for .70 on a $100 valuation with .56 to go to the maintenance budget and .14 to the sinking fund.

Assessed value for the district is $128,550,600. This is expected to climb during the coming year due to increase in both oil properties and local property.

Ray Ebling, tax representative for Cosden, requested the board to consider again granting a three percent discount for early payment of taxes. The board discussed the matter and agreed to take it under advisement and study it further. Mike Bruner, business manager, pointed out that there was a possibility that receiving early payment from oil companies might bring more interest which would balance out the discount for early payment.

The board of trustees managed to hold the increase in the budget to a minimum by deleting some positions due to attrition and combining other positions.

The total budget for the coming year is $2,812,945 compared to $2,727,679 the previous year. It was covered by an increase in valuation in the county properties, thus avoiding a tax increase.

"Education in general," a section in the budget, jumped from $2,190,110 to $2,281,485. "This is not a large increase when considering increases in social security benefits and inflationary costs," the business manager told the board.

In other action, the board approved some changes in the faculty handbook. They included an item that each staff member must give an hour each day when their office is open to the public. The previous item had said five hours a week, but they could all be in one day.

Another change was that surgery for employees must receive prior approval, except in emergencies. This was so that an operation not necessary at a certain time could be carried out during the summer rather than during a school term.

The board also approved a bid for $3,600 on a four sided goal for basketball practice and physical education classes in the coliseum. The low bid was awarded.

The board also took the low bid from Greyhound Food for new ovens in the cafeteria. The cost will be $1,624. Cafeteria workers had been warned not to use the old ovens which were considered dangerous.

The board again selected Hollingsworth, Wilson, Lee and Reynolds as their auditor.

Board members turned down the appraisal contract until they could get additional information. They requested that Earl Dean attend the next meeting of the group.

All board members were present with Don McKinney presiding. Others include Dr. P.W. Malone, Jimmy Taylor, K.H. McGibbon, Harold Davis, James Barr, and Dr. Charles Warren. Dr. Charles Hays, college president, and other administrators attended the event.

Phone executive kidnapped by jail escapees in Waco

WACO, Texas (AP) — A telephone company executive was abducted early today in San Antonio and taken by gunpoint to Waco by two men believed to be jail escapees.

Odell Singleton, 52-year-old manager for Southwestern Bell, called Waco police after his abductors abandoned him and his car near Interstate 35 and fled on foot.

Singleton told police he had gotten in his car after leaving a restaurant about 5 a.m. today and was backing out when he felt a gun pressed to his head.

He said a bearded man sitting in the back seat ordered him to drive to the rear of the restaurant where another man got into the car.

The trio then drove 185 miles north on Interstate 35 to Waco, with Singleton at the wheel.

Descriptions of the pair of abductors match those of two men who escaped from the Calhoun County Jail at Port Lavaca Tuesday night. Port Lavaca is 130 miles from San Antonio. Singleton said nothing was spoken during the trip except orders from the gunman to "keep it to 55."

Illegal acts alleged in Hill crime sleuthing

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe's Criminal Justice Division has accused Attorney General John Hill's organized crime task force of illegal sleuthing and pistol-packing.

Release of the CJD audit Tuesday surprised observers because of its potential for damaging Hill's chances of defeating Republican Bill Clements for governor.

After Hill took the Democratic nomination from Briscoe in the May 6 primary, the governor pledged his support to his former adversary.

When asked to comment on the audit, task force chief Tim James said, "I gave it to the boss (Hill). He is on the way to Washington and will read it on the way. I don't think it takes an expert to tell you how ridiculous it is."

Conceivably, the CJD could use the audit as a basis for taking away the $300,000 federal grant that funds the task force. It is awaiting Hill's response before acting, a spokesman said.

Offbeat: $4.97 hat caper

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The arrest of a West Texan for allegedly stealing a $4.97 hat in 1974 cost Gibson's Discount Center, Inc., $10,000 today.

The Texas Supreme Court affirmed a $10,000 judgment for Guadalupe Cruz, who sued Gibson's for false imprisonment and malicious prosecution.

Court records show that Cruz, supervisor of maintenance for the Andrews County golf course, had taken his mother and sister grocery shopping at Gibson's in Odessa.

Security agents stopped Cruz as he was leaving the store and questioned him about the gold hat with a blue feather that was wearing. He was charged with a misdemeanor and spent the night in jail.

He had to post bond of $102 and agreed to pay a $1,000 attorney's fee.

A jury acquitted Cruz of the shoplifting charge.

Later he won the $10,000 judgment, which the El Paso Court of Civil Appeals affirmed.

The appeals court said Cruz was able at both trials to produce a cash register tape from Gibson's that apparently was for an October 1974 purchase which by its code number and price reflected the purchase of the hat Cruz wore out of the store a month later.

Nevertheless, the appeals court said, Gibson employees never acknowledged that they might have made an honest mistake or that they should have investigated further before filing charges.

But a great movie, "The Lavender Hill Mob," with Alec Guinness and Stanley Holloway, runs uninterrupted at 11 p.m. on PBS.

Utility decision

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Large multi-county electric power systems are not required to provide separate data for each city where they apply for rate increases, the Texas Supreme Court ruled today.

The court's 6-2 decision said it is up to the cities to separate from system-wide records the information they need to make local rate decisions.

Cities can recover the cost of such data collection from the power companies, the court said. It upheld a Texas Public Utility Commission order requiring a surcharge on customers to recover the expense to the companies.

The court's precedent-making decision came in an appeal by Corpus Christi and other cities from the commission's refusal to force Central Power & Light Co. to provide separate data for each city where it sought rate increases.

Municipalities have first shot at proposed rate increases. In this case, Corpus Christi and 31 cities refused CP&L's request for an increase. CP&L appealed to the commission, which granted increases totaling $23 million on Feb. 25, 1977.

Army halts vote count

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The Dominican army stepped in and halted the vote count in the presidential election early today but denied rumors it had seized control of this Caribbean island nation. The army intervened in the electoral process after challenger Antonio Guzman took a big lead over incumbent President Joaquin Balaguer.

A military communique, broadcast by Dominican radio, said rumors of a coup were false and added, "the armed forces respect the constitution and order." The radio said it was issued by Lt. Gen. Juan Beauchamps Javier, who was identified as secretary of the armed forces. The army gave no reason for its intervention, however.

Labor bill filibuster

WASHINGTON (AP) — They shook hands in the Senate and came out talking on the labor revision bill.

"They're likely to be at it for quite a while. "We intend to fight this bill and fight it to the last," said Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina as he and other Republicans launched their filibuster Tuesday in hopes of talking organized labor's favorite bill to death.

Lobbyists for the AFL-CIO, other labor unions and the Carter administration say they have the votes to prevail — sometime. But they concede it may take weeks, perhaps months, to steer the bill through the Senate.

Backers have not yet said when they will make their first attempt to choke off debate. But it is expected to come next week, and is expected to fail. Even when they succeed, the bill's opponents have promised to counter by demanding votes on hundreds of amendments to stall a final vote.

First-day speakers, talking mainly from prepared texts, outlined the points they intend to discuss in minute detail as the debate unfolds.

"This bill is strongly tilted to unions," said Thurmond, who spoke for 23 minutes on the first day of what senators like to call "extended debate."

"This bill is designed mainly to unionize the South in pushbutton fashion," said Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., who spoke for 15 minutes. He said the issue would be "fully explored" in the weeks ahead.

"This bill is going to attack every basic fiber of the free enterprise system," said Sen. Orrin Hatch, R-Utah, who claimed the first-day prize for the longest speech, 90 minutes.

There were a few moments of parliamentary maneuvering as the Senate began consideration of the bill.

Then several senators gathered around one desk, a few shook hands and the debate was on.

Backers of the bill, led by Sens. Harrison J. Williams, D-N.J., and Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., say it is designed to streamline the nation's labor law and make it easier for workers to exercise their right to join labor unions.

The legislation sets deadlines for union representation elections and calls for 1 1/2 times back pay for workers fired illegally during organizing drives. It also requires businessmen to pay workers for wages lost during illegal bargaining delays on first contracts.

In addition, it could mean that firms repeatedly violating labor laws could be barred from federal contract work.

Danny Lockhart hurt in wreck

Danny Lockhart, 25-year-old former Big Spring resident, was critically injured in an automobile accident in Amherst about three weeks ago, when the vehicle he was driving struck a tree.

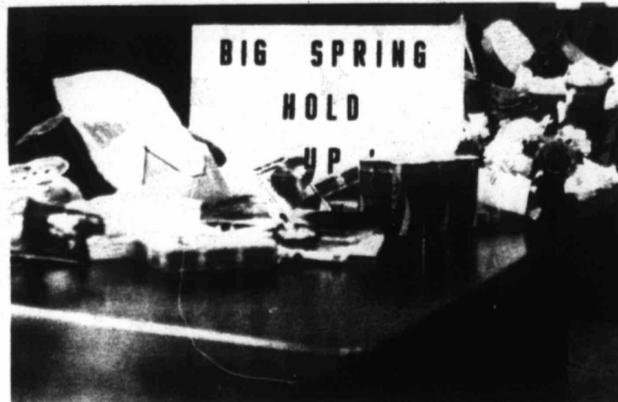

He is presently in the Lubbock Methodist Hospital in the intensive care unit. He has been removed from the critical list following surgery on Monday to remove one crushed vertebrae from his back.

Lubbock doctors have indicated that he will be in the hospital for an indefinite period of time, and will possibly be paralyzed from the chest down as a result of the back injury.

A fund to assist Lockhart has been established at First National Bank here. Danny was raised in Big Spring, going to school here through his sophomore year.

His sisters, Jana O'Brien and Patty Heckler still live here and his mother, Mrs. Jim (Elizabeth) Jones.

Friends wishing to send cards to Lockhart may send them to the Lubbock Methodist Hospital.

GIFTS FOR TRAVELERS — A few of the items offered to the Carl Robertsons following their "hold-up" are pictured here. Area merchants made the hold-up successful by donating various items to the out-of-state couple, stopped by representatives of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce and members of the Texas Highway Patrol Tuesday and offered a "night on the town."

TOTAL LOSS — The old Gandy's Dairy building at 10th and Lamesa was leveled by flames 11:09 p.m. Tuesday. The building had been owned by Emmett Grantham, and was being torn down at the time it caught fire. This was just one of five blazes fought in the city within a seven hour-period, Tuesday and today.

Firemen battle several blazes; arson suspected

Local firefighters battled blazes in the city from 11:09 p.m. Tuesday until early this morning.

A total of 21 firefighters, four pumper trucks and two boosters were kept busy throughout the night fighting five different fires in the city. Arson is a possibility in all of the fires, according to Jim Ryals, local fire marshal.

The first call came at 11:09 p.m. Tuesday. The Gandy's Dairy building at 10th and Lamesa Highway had gone up in flames and was totally destroyed before the blaze could be brought under control.

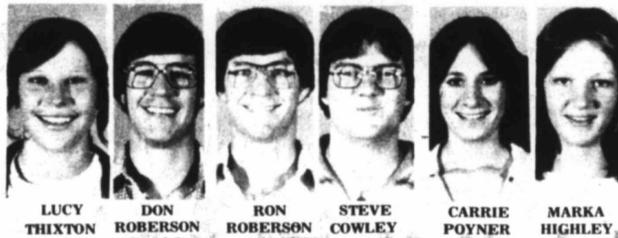

The next call brought firemen to a vacant home located at 209 N.E. 9th. The building was also a total loss, and its flames licked the home of Elihue Magers next door, causing extensive damage to the east side of the residence.

The next house fire did not come until 4:58 a.m. today, but two grass fires were reported the meantime. A grass fire behind the Southern Ice Company at Second and Nolan, and another east of the Northcrest Apartments were both reported around 3 a.m. today.

A third vacant house was destroyed, 4:58 p.m., at East Sixth and North Goliad.

"There is a possibility of arson in all of these fires. We smelled gasoline or kerosene at the Sixth and Goliad fire," said Ryals.

He and Ricky Womack, local fire inspector, will investigate further beginning today.

At Forsan High School Many honored in ritual

By MARJ CARPENTER

A moment of high emotion brought Forsan fans to their feet and tears to the eyes of more than one Tuesday night at the annual awards ceremonies in the Forsan gymnasium.

A plaque in memory of Lisa Thixton was presented to be placed in the school Hall of Fame from the girls on the track and basketball team who had been her "friends, classmates and teammates."

The presentations to the girl athletes had just been completed. Both the girl's basketball team and track team won district this year and Lucy Thixton, sister of the deceased girl, had set a new state record in the 220 after setting a state record in the 100 last year.

The highly emotional moment passed when Jack Woodley, principal, stepped forward and completed the presentation when Coach Joe Cushing was overcome with emotion.

Awards followed awards at the presentations with the new student council officers and new cheerleaders presented at the end of the program. Vance Stephens was elected new student body president with Cheryl Welandar, vice president; Beth Boeker, secretary and Dayton Robertson, treasurer.

The new cheerleaders include Julie Poyner, Valerie Adams, Valerie Stephens, Joni Poyner and Sonya Freeland.

At the beginning of the program following a barbecue attended by 600 people, Dr. Charles Hays presented Howard College honor awards to Steve Cowley, Ernie Morgan and Ron and Don Robertson. They also presented Julie Underwood as one of five incoming freshmen selected to be in the President's Classics.

Coaches then began to file to the microphone and present awards for Forsan's highly successful year. They began with girl's golf which won first in district and third in regional, with Annette Cregar the district medalist.

They went on to girl's track and basketball with both teams winning district and one of the tracksters breaking a state record.

They went on to introduce the tennis team, most of whom made it to regional and the boy's golf team who collected second in district and third in regional with Mike Bailey as district medalist and Vance Stephens third in the region.

They went on to boy's track with a second in district and many boys making it to regional. Presentations continued into the literary field where Forsan won the district crown for total points.

Students who advanced as far as state in literary events included Ron and Don Robertson, Steve Cowley, Carrie Poyner, Ernie Morgan, Lucy Thixton and Marka Highley.

Boy's basketball was presented next and their outstanding players commended. The band had a good year with a large number of band students qualifying for all-regional band and also winning first divisions in solo and ensemble competition. The band also won a first division in Concert and sightreading.

The football team, with nine boys on all-district, Gary Martin, the Brad Stephens award winner and Alan Hollandsworth, who won all district, All West Texas, All West Texas Super Team and will play in the state game this summer at coaching school, were presented.

The new Industrial Arts Club also went to their state competition and brought home numerous honors. The table near the door was full of trophies, all won during the 1977-78 school year. Forsan had done it again, finishing no lower than second in any sport and wiping out literary, musical and industrial events as well.

Vote recount being sought

SNYDER — The runnerup in the Snyder Democratic primary election for nomination as county commissioner in Precinct No. 2, Buck Woolever, has asked for a recount, according to County Democratic Chairman Hilton Lambert.

The final count gave incumbent Earl "Hassie" Sneed a total of 252 votes, while Woolever received 169 and Ernest Shifflett, third candidate in the race, received 68 votes, giving Sneed a 15 vote majority.

Lambert said Woolever filed the request for the recount and had put up $50 to pay for recounting the ballots.

Involved are ballots from elections boxes of Northwest Snyder, Union and Fluvanna, and the absentee box.

Lambert said he asked the Secretary of State for a clarification of regulations covering recounts. There seems to be some confusion as to whether rules authorized recounts if the difference between the top candidate and all others is less than five percent, or whether it provides for a recount if the difference between the top candidates is less than five percent.

Lambert said he expected to hear from the Secretary of State within two days.

Aliens publicity triggers torture, murder

WASHINGTON (AP) — The "mass publicity" given to the illegal alien problem has spawned incidents of torture and murder, claim hispanic leaders.

"I can't help but believe that the visibility of this issue may have something to do with the mass rage of police brutality in Texas which has resulted to date in the deaths of more than ten Mexican-Americans while in police custody," said A. Miguel Romo, former director of the National Congress of Hispanic American Citizens.

"Evidence exists in Douglas, Ariz., where three undocumented workers were tortured by local ranchers and the defendants went free.

"There have been reported beatings and killings of undocumented workers in the United States as a result of the prejudice and discrimination enhanced by mass publicity of this issue," he said in reference to the administration-backed Illegal Alien Reform and Employment Act that is currently being considered by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Romo, who testified before the committee Tuesday, also introduced for the record a two-page document entitled "Mexicans tortured outside of Douglas" that featured the picture of three men identified as Mexican nationals who had been "kidnapped at gunpoint by anglo ranchers."

The document said the trio had been stripped naked, kicked and beaten with rifle butts and dragged through the "baking desert sand." The document also stated that two of the men had been peppered with birdshot from shotgun blasts and the third had been "hung by the neck but managed to escape strangulation."

The Arizona ranchers charged in the case were acquitted by "the racist, all-white jury," according to the document.

A Justice Department spokesman said Tuesday that the Arizona incident is currently under investigation. John Wilson also said that the civil rights division is currently investigating "about 90" cases in Texas alone.

Romo was accompanied by Corpus Christi lawyer Ruben Bonilla, president of the Texas League of United Latin American Citizens (LULAC), who told the committee that LULAC contends "President Carter's plan to deal with the undocumented worker is inconsistent with the President's global emphasis on human rights.

Bonilla said the United States' actions toward illegal aliens have been marked by "inconsistent policies" of "recruitment and repression."

America sought illegal aliens during the world wars to become American citizens and thus serve in her armies, but initiated mass deportation campaigns during times of economic depression, said Bonilla.

Lawyers for Carlos Hernandez and the other children on whose behalf the suit was filed said in their appeal they were legally admitted to the United States but had overstayed.

They said the Justice Department and the U. S. Immigration and Naturalization Service "has known about these specific petitioners for almost two years and has made no move to deport them."

Children, they said, have no control over where they live but go where their parents go.

In one case, they said, children who are parties in the case live with a sister and her children. The sister's children go to public school "but these children, living in the same home, cannot," they said.

The court's decision upheld a 1975 state law that allows tuition-free education to citizens and legally admitted aliens but no others.

Club planning garage sale

Joe Moore of MorRocCo in Midland spoke to the regular meeting of the Prospectors Club Thursday evening on "The Rockese of Geology," illustrating the language with rock examples and simplified definitions.

Reports were made on the field trip to Woodward Ranch near Alpine and on the preparations for the 1979 Gem & Mineral Show. Nora Nixon and Reta Faught were chosen as new directors.

A garage sale was scheduled for June 1, 2, and 3 at the club building, 606 E. 3rd. A guest, Anne Smart, from the Howard County Library asked for speakers for the summer children's program. Several members volunteered.

Teery Weedin of Alpine will be guest speaker for the June program of artifacts. Ms. Weedin is SCFMS artifacts chairman.

Nancy Martin was a new member. Door prizes were won by Nora Nixon and Chester Faught. Refreshments were served by Edwina Welch and Mary Leek.

Plea bargaining ban successful in Alaska

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — When plea bargaining was outlawed in Alaska three years ago, doomsayers predicted chaos and crowded courtrooms. Instead, cases are being tried more quickly and judges are passing stiffer sentences, says a study.

AVRUM GROSS

State Attorney General Avrum Gross, who ordered the ban during the crime increase that occurred during the trans-Alaska pipeline construction boom, said he did not "know whether it would work in California or New York but it worked here."

Plea bargaining involves trading concessions such as reduced or suspended sentences for guilty pleas or help in furthering criminal investigations. Its proponents say courts would be overwhelmed if all criminal cases had to go to trial.

The results of the study of the ban were "directly contrary to expectations," said Mike Rubenstein, who heads the Alaska Judicial Council.

Teresa White, who directed the study, said the length of prison terms for violent crimes had increased 50 percent; terms for felony sentences rose 200 percent for white-collar crimes and 300 percent for drug violations.

Anita Daniels named to post

Mrs. Anita Daniels was recently elected to fill one of five seats on the Advisory Council of the West Texas Library System headquartered at Lubbock.

Some 25 area public libraries, including Howard County Library, participate in library system programs funded by the state and federal governments.

Members of the Advisory Council play an active role in assisting library directors to set priorities for future programs.

Also, John W. Deats, Howard County Librarian, was elected president of the West Texas Library Film Circuit during the annual meeting on May 4th and 5th.

The Circuit is composed of 11 member libraries over a wide area of the state, including Temple, San Angelo, Howard County, and Monahans.

The membership selects 16mm films to add to the central collection in Abilene.

Packets are sent on a rotating basis to the individual libraries for the use of local organizations, clubs and schools. Over 2,400 patrons of Howard County Library viewed circuit films during 83 showings in February and March of this year.

Get ready for metric system

You might as well get ready for it, it's coming. We're referring to the metric system.

There are already signs that change is under way. The First National Bank here, on its outside message board, uses Celsius as well as Fahrenheit in listing the temperature. Metric distances are being recorded in some big league baseball parks.

Celsius degrees will become considerably more than academic interest in 1979 because, starting in June next year, the National Weather Service hopes to begin relating national temperature readings to newspapers and broadcasters in Celsius as well as the established Fahrenheit. Within three months, Fahrenheit will be dropped and we'll be depending on Celsius readings only.

THE CHANGEOVER, still in the tentative stage, could be the public's broadest and most meaningful exposure yet to the metric system, toward which the United States has been progressing by the past several years.

According to present plans, subsequent steps toward fully metric weather reporting will be snowfall predictions in centimeter instead of inches (we'll take some by buckets, if only we could get moisture), and windspeed in kilometers rather than miles per hour.

By June of 1980, barometric pressures will be offered in kilopascals instead of inches of mercury (which will be all right with most people because they pay little heed to barometric readings anyway).

By that time, the surge toward use of the metric system should be more apparent in several other areas of public note. Standardized metric sizes — six, in all, starting with 1.75 liters — will replace pints, fifths and the like in liquor packaging as of Jan. 1, 1980, that by Treasury decree.

With the 1980 model year, the Department of Transportation has decreed that auto speedometers will show both miles and kilometers. An earlier move to convert highway distance signs to kilometers have been shelved. Occasional signs seen around the nation, however, betray the fact that some public agencies have already accepted the inevitable.

IN JULY OF this year, the first step will be taken to bring the 50 separate state measurement codes into metric agreement. The National Council of Weights and Measures, representing state regulatory agencies, is working on a model metric code to be submitted by state-by-state adoption.

A surprising thing is that with all the official involvement, metric is not yet official U.S. policy. Congress reasons conversion may be a sound idea but has held back from making it compulsory, obviously wary of voter reaction.

The legislative bodies did authorize the creation of a U.S. Metric Board in 1975 to "coordinate the voluntary conversion to the metric system. That board, eventually to consist of 17 representatives of various public interests, is just now in the process of being selected by President and confirmed by the Senate.

Once in being, the board will coordinate the multitude of specialized conversions plans now blossoming. One of its first evaluations is likely to be of the National Weather Service's plans for phasing in metric measurements.

Meanwhile, if you see a Celsius reading of 60 degrees, you'll know it's hot. That would be 140 degrees Fahrenheit.

Terminally ill

Around the rim

Eileen McGuire

The American family is a critically, perhaps terminally ill institution.

That's the diagnosis experts gave the Senate Subcommittee on Children and Youth five years ago. A rising divorce rate and the decline of the extended family, symptoms of the real problem, would drive the family unit into extinction if the illness went untreated, according to the experts.

The cause was linked, in part, to the growing number of working mothers and women's demands for sexual equality. Barely off the ground, the Equal Rights Amendment was already identified as a homewrecker.

Another study, conducted this year, disagrees with the diagnosis given by the experts of 1973. The new diagnosis, the result of a survey of 1,230 families with children, is that family life in the United States is holding up pretty well.

OF THE PARENTS surveyed, 57 percent were classified as "traditionalists". Somewhat older than the other 43 percent, this group is holding to traditional values in raising their children, stressing the importance of marriage, religion, hard work, saving money and financial security.

It's the younger 43 percent, a new breed of parents who grew up during the Sixties, that are making it difficult for the experts to predict what the future holds for the American family. Surprisingly, these parents are opting to teach their children traditional values while they themselves embody the new values of the last decade. Premarital sex, for example, may be condoned by these parents for themselves, but it's the "save yourself for marriage" view that they are teaching their children.

The most significant finding of the survey is a new approach to child rearing which is prescribed to by both groups of parents. "Do your own thing", the cry of the Sixties, has changed the outward appearance of the family unit while traditional American values remain intact.

In contrast to the American tradition of parents sacrificing everything for their children's success, today's parents, though hopeful that their children will be successes, are seeking success for themselves. They value their children, but choose to live their own lives rather than live through their children. The focus of the family is no longer on the children, but on self-fulfillment for all family members.

THE AMERICAN FAMILY still exists, but it's taking on a new look. Marriage is delayed while individuals establish careers, experiment with lifestyles and enjoy their youth.

Most Americans will marry, but they make take detours along the way, experimenting with alternatives to marriage. After they marry, because the focus of marriage has changed from the children to self-fulfillment, there is less likelihood that a couple will stay together "for the sake of the children".

The divorce rate in America is the highest in the world, indicating a deterioration in the family unit. But the remarriage rate is almost as high as the divorce rate indicating that the family unit is still valued as a desirable way to live. And most of these second marriages do endure.

This decade, more than any other, is marked by a drive for self-fulfillment. Women are seeking fulfillment by moving into areas previously reserved for men only while marital partners are choosing self-fulfillment over permanent, but unsatisfying relationships.

Rather than the women's liberation movement being responsible for deterioration of the family unit, it appears that changes in both woman's role and the institution of the family are the after-effects of an era that went before.

Whether these changes are considered to be progress is debatable, depending on which side of the fence you happen to be sitting on. But progress or not, these changes are a natural part of a chain of events.

Watch signals

Jack Anderson,

WASHINGTON — The Health, Education and Welfare Department will spend $30 million this year on a campaign to persuade people to stop smoking. Down the street, the Agriculture Department will spend 20 times more to subsidize tobacco crops and to promote tobacco sales.

HEW Secretary Joseph Califano, who kicked a three-pack-a-day habit himself, will focus his anti-smoking campaign on young people. He will spend most of the $30 million on educational programs to warn teenagers about the risks of cancer, heart disease and other impairments caused by cigarettes.

At the same time, the cigarette companies will spend millions to convince adolescents that smoking is glamorous. They use macho Marlboro men and seductive Virginia Slims women, who convey the impression that smoking is sexy.

AS EVIDENCE that the advertising campaign has been effective, surveys show a dramatic increase in smoking among 11-to-15-year-olds. The increase is especially noticeable among young girls, who now smoke as much as the boys.

Alarmed, the House Investigation Subcommittee has called upon the seven major cigarette companies and their 20 advertising agencies for the marketing data they use to design their commercials.

In a confidential letter, the subcommittee demanded a description of all "marketing, advertising or consumer surveys" involving "consumers' attitudes, beliefs, perceptions or behavior relating to cigarettes or cigarette smoking."

The letter, which we obtained from one of the companies involved, also requested a list of all advertising data since 1971 that might "influence the present or future purchase decisions of . . . persons under the age of 18."

But the subcommittee's chairman, John Moss, D-Calif., will probably have to resort to a congressional subpoena to get the answers out of the big tobacco firms. They have successfully resisted a similar request from the Federal Trade Commission, which has been locked in a bitter court struggle with the tobacco tycoons for three years.

The commission is troubled over the advertising appeals that lure young people into the tobacco habit. States a staff report: "The association established between attractive lifestyles and cigarette smoking is one influence leading teenagers to smoke cigarettes."

More than half the teen-agers in a recent survey said the characters depicted in cigarette ads were "attractive," "enjoying themselves," "well-dressed," "sexy," "young" and "healthy." Only five percent found them unattractive.

The tobacco interests, meanwhile, are not only fighting in the courts for the inalienable right to seduce the younger generation; they are also pulling powerful strings on Capitol Hill. They want Congress to prohibit HEW from spending the entire $30 million on the anti-smoking campaign.

LEADING THE tobacco forces is Rep. William Natcher, D-Ky., who champions the ripe Kentucky leaf with all the righteous fervor of George Washington at Valley Forge. On the other side, Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., is fighting to require stronger warning labels on cigarette packages. He also wants to impose higher taxes on cigarette brands with higher levels of tar and nicotine, and may propose maximum ceilings on these substances.

Footnote: A spokesman from the Tobacco Institute told us the industry "is not in favor of having HEW use taxpayers' money for its propaganda campaign." He said that anti-smoking programs don't work and that teenagers are already aware of the health hazards of cigarettes. "There's no scientific evidence," he contended, "that cigarette advertising has any influence on smoking among young people."

SHEVCHENKO SUICIDE: Veteran Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin, who for 19 years has been the main link between Washington officialdom and the Kremlin, may have dirtied his hands in the Shevchenko case.

Arkady Shevchenko has been the chief Soviet diplomat at the United Nations. Then last month, he mysteriously abandoned his post and requested asylum in the United States.

His wife Leongina and their teenage daughter Anna were hustled out of the country. Last week, Leongina took an overdose of sleeping pills and hid in a large wardrobe in her Moscow apartment. The family acknowledged it was a suicide.

Now we've learned that Shevchenko's wife and daughter were held incommunicado at the Soviet mission in New York City for two days before their abrupt departure from the country. Shevchenko was unable to get through to them.

Reportedly they were personally escorted to the airport on April 9 by a Soviet delegation headed by Dobrynin. The Soviet Ambassador is known as "Smiling Mike," because of his ready diplomatic smile. But it was a grin, unsmiling Dobrynin who saw Leongina and Anna Shevchenko off to Moscow.

The story is all the more intriguing because Shevchenko had a reputation at the United Nations as a doctrinaire communist. Apparently, the Kremlin had ordered him back to Moscow. But no one inside the grim little Soviet clique knows why the Kremlin tried to recall him or why he chose to defect.

The story was leaked out that he was having an extramarital love affair. But this is the sort of smear job that the Soviets customarily use to discredit defectors. According to our sources, it was the Soviets who kept Shevchenko from his family, not Shevchenko who deserted his family. Now he has appealed for the return of his daughter to him.

Simon revelations

William F. Buckley Jr.

Mr. William Schlamm, long since departed these shores to return to his native Europe, once remarked in disgust, "The trouble with socialism is socialism. The trouble with capitalism is capitalists." Although a wholehearted believer, Mr. William Simon, former Secretary of the Treasury, lets go in his extraordinary book, "A Time for Truth", at American capitalists for their predatory use of government to secure their own interests. The book teems with facts and analysis which would motivate wholesome disgust, and reform; but are not likely to. There would be too many victims.

The capitalists who are guilty of myriad offenses include, Mr. Simon disarmingly informs us, himself. Why Simon? Because as an expert trader in municipal bonds, and even as Secretary of the Treasury, he simply did not know the inside story of the necessary causes of New York City's imminent bankruptcy. And when he tried to do something about it, he ran into a coalition of forces — business, labor, political — which undermined the prospects for strategic solutions.

AS WE SIT here, the Congress is preparing to go yet another round with New York, whose untamed municipal unions decline to effect reforms. They are confident that the myths surrounding New York City will save it one more time. Principal of these myths, Mr. Simon points out in his chapter on New York, is that the city endures a special burden looking after the poor; that its failures are the failures of a generous spirit.

Crap. "The New York welfare burden is not larger proportionately than that of other cities despite the entrenched myth to the contrary. According to the National Center for Social Statistics for 1975, 10.9 per cent of New York's population received aid to families with dependent children. But this was less than the 12.6 per cent in Newark, 13.9 per cent in Philadelphia, 14 per cent in Washington, 14.5 per cent in Baltimore and 15.8 per cent in St. Louis."

Here were the relevant figures discovered by Mr. Simon during the throes of New York's agony in 1975, figures New York's press should have ventilated earlier, figures New York's businessmen should have hung around the necks of New York's politicians.

New York, in 1973, was spending three times more per capita than any city with a population of more than one million. Only Boston and Baltimore were remotely comparable, and New York's expenses were 50 per cent higher.

From 1963 to 1973, per capita municipal expenses of other major cities increased 2.2 times on an average. During the same period New York's increased 3.5 times.

New York's expenses were increasing at a rate of 15 per cent per year. Its revenues, notwithstanding outrageous rates of taxation, at only 8 per cent per year.

New York employed 49 employees per 1000 residents. The payrolls of other major cities ranged from 30 to 32 employees per 1000.

A few illustrative examples of 1973 wages: A subway changemaker, not required to change anything higher than a $10 bill, earned $212 per week. A teller in a commercial bank earned $150 per week. A city porter earned $203. In the private sector, a New York X-ray technician earned $187.

BUT THE wages, though high, were only a part of the problem. In 1961 the city paid $261 million per year in retirement and social security benefits.

Nerve inflammation can be treated

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have a condition called neuritis. It is causing pain in my legs and difficulty in walking. There is also some atrophy in one calf. I am told there is no treatment for it, but that in time nature may help. Do you have an opinion on this? — E. K.

I can't quite agree that there is no treatment, but the cause of the nerve inflammation (neuritis) has to be determined. There are many — pressure on a nerve root, diabetes or gout, a vitamin deficiency (notably of the B group), or whatever. Alcoholism can be a cause.

Muscle atrophy (a wasting) probably means the neuritis has been present for some time. I doubt that you want to wait for nature to take its course. Unfortunately, the course it takes is often an unpleasant one. You need a complete examination and perhaps a second opinion.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a girl of 14 going on 15. I have a mustache on my upper lip and it seems to be getting darker. How do you suggest getting rid of it? — H. C.

Probably your best bet is to try bleaching. One bleaching solution recommended by the American Medical Association consists of one (1) ounce of hydrogen peroxide mixed with six (6) drops of household ammonia. You can dab some on the hairs about every two to four days.

I doubt that you want to get involved in electrolysis, which is a method of permanent hair removal. It is a long and tedious procedure because only a few hair follicles can be treated at a time. But if all else fails you can ask your doctor to recommend a registered electrologist in your area.

Another reader, Mrs. S. R., asks whether it is common for women after menopause to grow hair on the upper lip. It is and it results from a declining production of the female hormone (estrogen) and a relative increase in the amount of male hormone (androgen).

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have diverticulosis very bad. My doctor tells me to eat soft food, but it is too constipating and I am having trouble with my bowels. I take stool softeners and laxatives but I have spells when my bowels seem to freeze up. I also take a bulk-producing medicine, but that makes me hemorrhage. I would appreciate any advice you can give me. — L.M.B.

The hemorrhaging suggests diverticulitis, which is inflammation of those diverticula (intestinal pouches). I suspect you are not following your doctor's advice. Soft food is needed with intestinal inflammation. Bulk producer and softeners should do the rest. Give the program a chance. My booklet on diverticulosis will help you understand the situation better. For a copy, send 35 cents and a large stamped, self-addressed envelope to me in care of The Big Spring Herald.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What about intercourse for someone with angina pectoris? — Mrs. D. L. R.

Depends on whether or not it produces pain with the exertion. If it does, a nitroglycerine tablet may be taken under the tongue before the event.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have arthritis, also ulcers, which show on X-rays. I have been bothered with burning in the stomach and spitting up after eating. At night I take lots of aspirin for my arthritis and I wondered if these large doses of aspirin could cause ulcers. — J. L.

Large and continuous doses of aspirin can cause peptic ulcers. The burning was probably due to excessive stomach acidity, which can be a forerunner of ulcer.

I don't know what you mean by "large doses" of aspirin. One of the mistakes some people make is in timing of aspirin doses. Smaller doses taken more frequently are best. Try taking them with meals. Some aspirins are especially coated to make them less irritating.

Get dosage instructions from the doctor. Taking massive doses at night before retiring can be especially aggravating to an ulcer condition. Incidentally, you may need diet instructions for that also.

Dear Editor:

I noticed during the primary election campaigning, a candidate was stressing the fact that she was a lawyer and, therefore, was more qualified for the position of County Judge.

My understanding is that the position of County Judge is primarily an administrative position.

I also understand that most, if not all, of the legal business conducted by the County is handled by the County Attorney and the District Attorney.

Our present County Judge has an excellent record as an administrator. Our taxes have been lowered and a budget surplus exists. A business-like approach to County matters has been accomplished by the incumbent, Bill Tune.

I think when a public position is filled by a competent person, continued support is necessary to maintain good representation.

Let's give our support and thanks to Bill Tune for a job well done and keep him in office.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I have given my life to Jesus but am still confused about many aspects of the Christian life. I have read book after book and still do not know what it means to deny oneself. Can you help me? V. L. E.

DEAR V. L. E.: I believe the real answer to our spiritual problems will always be found in the Bible. Other books may help point us to some truth in the Bible we have not seen before, but ultimately the Word of God has everything you need.

Let me suggest that you spend the next few months reading the Bible; set aside any other books for the time being. Read the Bible every day in a modern translation, especially the New Testament. Pray every time you open the Bible that the Holy Spirit will make it plain to you and show you its application to your life. Pray for the experience Lydia had, "Whose heart the Lord opened, that she attended unto the things which were spoken" (Acts 16:14). Notice that it was the Lord who gave her understanding. God will also open your heart to respond to what He is saying to you.

Remember that we grow spiritually. Just as physical growth takes many years, just as we do not suddenly become mature all at once, so spiritual growth is a process. Do not try to solve all your problems at once, but let God teach you the things you really need to know right now. "But the Counselor, the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in my name, will teach you all things" (John 14:26, New International Version).

Also you should recall that many of the things you seek to know about the Christian life will become clear as you study the life of Jesus Christ. For example, when you consider what it means to deny yourself and follow Christ, you should study the example of Christ, who denied Himself and became a servant (see Philippians 2:5-11). God has given us His Word — study it and obey it.

Mobutu's paratroopers trying to dislodge rebs

KINSHASA, Zaire (AP) — President Mobutu Sese Seko rushed paratroopers and other reinforcements into southern Zaire to try to dislodge invading rebels from the copper mining capital of Kolwezi, but information on the military situation was sketchy.

Government officials said air force C-130 transports dropped paratroopers Monday night to try to retake Kolwezi from the rebels. It was not known how many men were dropped, but the French-trained paratroopers are considered Mobutu's only effective fighting force.

Informed sources reported Air Zaire was ferrying troops to join the defense of Shaba province, invaded last week by an estimated 4,000 exiled Lunda tribesmen from Angola who crossed northern Zambia and in two days grabbed Kolwezi, 25 miles from the Zambian border.

The United States and Belgium alerted paratroop units for possible movement to Zaire if needed to rescue American and Belgian civilians caught up in the fighting.

The Pentagon readied elements of the 82nd Airborne Division at Fort Bragg, N.C., and Military Airlift Command planes, but a spokesman said no deployment has been ordered. Sources in Brussels said a company of Belgian paratroops was alerted but no decision had been made to move them out.

President Carter told congressional leaders he would welcome legislation easing restrictions on presidential power to send U.S. military aid abroad. House minority leader John Rhodes, R-Ariz., said Carter did not specifically request relaxation of the controls but indicated such a proposal would be made.

Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance told reporters attempts are being made to speed up delivery of military supplies already designated for the Zaire government.

Diplomats in Kinshasa reported at least nine Europeans — eight Belgians and an Italian — had been killed in the fighting near Kolwezi, a city of 100,000 people 840 miles southeast of Kinshasa. About 2,800 Belgians live in the area, center of Zaire's vital copper-mining industry.

Some sources said the Europeans were killed by rebels, some said they died during random bombing by government planes, and others said they were killed by pillaging soldiers of the Zaire army.

Reports reaching Brussels said several Europeans were being held by rebels as hostages.

The Johannesburg Star, a South African newspaper, reported from Zambia that all able-bodied white men in rebel-held territory had been placed in protective custody.

Other reports said a large group of Europeans had taken refuge in Jean XXIII College, a Catholic school in Kolwezi.

The U.S. State Department said 76 Americans are in the Kolwezi area and a few missionaries live in other parts of the province. Most of the Americans are employees of the Morrison-Knudsen firm of Boise, Idaho, which is working on a power project, and their families. There are also about 400 French.

Police trial arguments

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — Opposing lawyers in a civil rights suit alleging police brutality each said the same thing in closing arguments Tuesday — that their clients had not been the ones who inflicted the blows in a fight but rather had been beaten.

The suit was brought by Rogelio C. Salazar, 28, of Alice, who wants $800,000 in damages for what he claims was violation of his civil rights. Salazar claims an Alice police officer and a former Alice officer administered a "brutal beating" to him June 22, 1975, while he was in custody at the Jim Wells County Jail awaiting a breathalyzer test.

He testified that the former officer Bernabe Ramirez tried to entice him into a fight and then struck him.

Ramirez and fellow officer James Huffman told the court that Salazar made the first move by lunging across a table for Ramirez.

The pair responded "with reasonable cause," said their lawyer, Lev Hunt.

In closing arguments Hunt said Salazar "failed to show the required degree of harm" done to him to warrant such a case in court.

U.S. District Judge Owen Cox is hearing the case without a jury.

Other defendants include Jim Wells County Sheriff Monroe Whitman, Alice Mayor Ron Reid, City Manager Roel Valadez.

Presbyterians momentarily sidestepping hottest issue

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Momentarily sidestepping their hottest issue, United Presbyterians have elected as presiding officer a Texas clergyman who has stayed neutral about whether the church should ordain avowed homosexuals.

But there was a possible straw in the wind about the highly volatile question in the voting Tuesday night for the post of moderator at the denomination's 190th general assembly.

The Rev. William P. Lytle, 54, of San Antonio, who has remained uncommitted on the matter, won on a third ballot, but his two closest contenders in a six-way race had openly opposed allowing homosexuals in the ministry.

Lytle, a thanking representative of the 2.6 million-member church for their "trust and confidence," voiced prayers that "we deliberate and do the thing that is right and good."

He got 396 votes to 199 for the Rev. James G. Emerson Jr. of Denver and 40 for the Rev. Vahe H. Simonian of Pasadena, Calif., the two runners-up. Simonian, who had vigorously fought the proposal for ordaining acknowledged homosexuals, polled higher on earlier ballots.

majority has recommended that the church allow ordination of avowed homosexuals, has helpfully "brought the subject into the open."

"We have witnessed a good deal of emotion," he added, "some latent fears have surfaced along with anger." He said that whatever decision the assembly makes, there will be some hurting and the need for healing afterward.

If the task force majority's recommendations are approved, the denomination would be the first Christian body in history officially to open its ministry to declared homosexuals.

Sharp debate about the matter has swirled throughout the church, with some warning that approval of the move would cause widespread defections.

A decision is not scheduled until Monday at this 11-day assembly which opened Tuesday.

Lytle, in a statement prior to his election, said: "I rejoice that we are bold enough to deal with difficult questions in an open forum. Our greatest danger is not in conflict, but in failure to listen and learn."

He said two years of work by a task force, whose recommendations are approved, the denomination would be the first Christian body in history officially to open its ministry to declared homosexuals.

Sign-up date is extended

The Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service recently notified county offices throughout the nation that the sign-up date for producer planting intentions has been extended to June 1.

Tim Hall, Howard County ASCS representative, said that the purpose of the sign-up is to obtain crop planting estimates for each commodity.

Any producer who has not signed up should do so by the June 1 date. Producers who grow grain sorghum, wheat, or barley are eliminated from any program benefits that may become available at a later date, if they fail to sign up before the deadline. Disaster payments or loans are included in those program benefits.

Although cotton producers who plant only cotton are not required to sign up, the local ASCS is advising those producers to do so anyway.

Railroad grosses nearly $1 million per mile

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — On a clear day, Western Railroad Vice President John M. Mills can see his company's entire operation — all 1.9 miles of main track. "We like to think we can see everything from our second floor office," Mills said.

Last year, the New Braunfels-based line carried 1.3 million tons of crushed stone and rock and took in $2.1 million in gross revenue. That translates into close to $1 million per mile of cross ties and crossties.

The Western Railroad is one of Texas' several so-called shortline railroads where a little mileage goes a long way at the bank.

The New Braunfels company, which actually runs between Stonetown and Solms, is one of the younger such operations with its beginnings in 1974. The Roscoe, Snyder and Pacific dates back to 1906.

Their common denominator for success usually includes a unique function, a large amount of freight originating on their lines and a low ratio of operating expenses to operating revenues.

Parker Bros. of Houston, a building materials supply company, started a rock quarry near New Braunfels in the 1960s. There were no railroad connections at the time between the quarry and other mail lines. In 1974, the railroad was formed with William M. Parker Jr. of Houston president and B.K. Parker Jr. the largest stockholder.

According to reports filed with the Texas Railroad Commission, the company experienced a 31.6 percent ratio of expense to revenues, which one railroad accounting observer says is unheard of among larger companies.

"It's typical for a major carrier like Southern Pacific to run a 78 percent ratio," said Bruce Whittle, an outside consultant to the railroad commission. "That means for every dollar in revenue brought in, they spend 78 cents on expenses."

"When the Penn Central was going broke, it was up to 35 and 90 percent. Sixty percent would be almost unheard of," he said.

Although shortlines carry freight short distances, they divide revenues from the freight's entire run with larger railroads. The division of revenues is negotiated secretly and is not based on a strict percentage.

"The key is to have a high City could lose KWAB

Big Spring's only TV station, KWAB, may be taken off the air by the Federal Communications Commission next fall if an investigation triggered by Midland Telecasting Company is successful.

The case is being heard September 19 before administrative law judge Thomas Fitzpatrick. According to William Kean, FCC lawyer handling the investigation, KWAB as well as LKKB-TV, KCOM-TV and KTXS-TV (Lubbock, Monahan's, and Sweetwater) are being investigated for complaints of "clipping" (overrunning commercials), falsified program logs, and inserting local commercial in network time.

All four of the stations are owned by Grayson Enterprises, Inc. of Lubbock. Grayson Enterprises vice president William de Tournillon was unavailable for comment on the suit.

KWAB is a satellite station in the Grayson chain. No local camera work on programming originates in Big Spring. The station here serves as a relay for the local area.

YMCA ceramics course nears

Morning Ceramics classes will begin at the YMCA June 6. They will meet each Tuesday for six weeks.

This will be a Summer session taught by Mrs. Gloria Arroyo who will again conduct beginners and advanced students in the art of pouring and glazing. The YMCA has molds available now and materials lists can be picked up at the YMCA front desk.

degree of traffic originate and terminate on your line," Whittle said.

Another carrier of crushed rock, the Georgetown Railroad of Georgetown, last year had a 38.1 percent operating ratio and moved 4.8 million tons of crushed limestone 7.9 miles for $4.6 million in gross revenues.

The Georgetown operation formed in 1958 when local citizens purchased track from the Missouri Pacific, which wanted to abandon the line.

The Roscoe, Snyder and Pacific began when local entrepreneurs envisioned a new company stretching to the West Coast. The vision shortened to 31 miles of track, which connects with other lines, coast-to-coast.

It remains unique in Texas, perhaps the country, as the only regional company with several out-of-state sales offices in California, Florida, Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Dallas.

"Personal service" allows the Roscoe, Snyder and Pacific to compete with the majors, says President Mickey Nunley. Whittle agrees.

"It's always fascinated me, by God, that a company's got four or five offices on a seven-mile line and they know the territory," he said. "With a network spread

Smilak will lecture here

Dr. Jerry Smilak of the Southwestern Medical School in Dallas, Texas, will visit the V.A. Hospital Thursday to lecture on "Antibiotics, 1978" at 1:30 p.m. in Room 219. This presentation has been arranged in conjunction with Roerig Pharmaceuticals.

Dr. Smilak is presently Clinical Instructor in Infectious Diseases at the University of Texas Health Science Center at the Southwestern Medical School in Dallas, Texas. He is also a consultant in Infectious Diseases at St. Paul's Hospital in Dallas, Texas and at the Medical City Hospital in Dallas.

All area medical personnel are welcome to attend the lecture.

across thousands of miles, the management simply doesn't know what's going on. There's no substitute for personal knowledge."

The current shortage of railroad cars and equipment, being scooped up for coal shipments, allows the smaller firms to make handsome profits from renting equipment. The Georgetown, with 450 cars, last year took in $1.8 million in rents.

These little giants continue to draw admiration from national counterparts, both for their profit margins and for helping improve the railroad industry's sagging reputation of late.

Georgetown President W.P. Ludwig Jr. joined the local operation 10 years after working for several major carriers.

"A lot of my peers said I was crazy," he said, "but it's been great."

Pat Nixon admitted to hospital

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Former first lady Pat Nixon has been admitted to Long Beach Memorial Hospital for treatment of a lung infection, a hospital spokeswoman said.

Susan Pescar said Monday that Mrs. Nixon's condition was good and that she was "resting comfortably." Her physician, Dr. John Lundgren, said Mrs. Nixon, 66, probably will stay in the hospital until the end of the week.

Although no members of her family were present when Mrs. Nixon arrived at 2:20 p.m., her husband, former President Richard Nixon, visited her in the evening.

The hospital is the same one in which Nixon underwent surgery for phlebitis. Mrs. Nixon was admitted to the facility in July 1976 after suffering a stroke that temporarily paralyzed parts of her left arm and leg. She has made few public appearances since then.

The couple has lived in San Clemente since 1974, when Nixon resigned the presidency.

Dear Abby Applied Psychology In the Right Place

DEAR ABBY: I have a 6-year-old daughter I'll call Mary. My neighbor has a 6-year-old daughter I'll call Lisa. Well, we took our daughters to the doctor for their shots. First my neighbor took Lisa in, and she screamed and hollered as if the doctor was cutting off her arm, so Lisa's mother said, "I won't let that mean old doctor hurt you. If you stop crying I'll buy you a new doll on the way home." So Lisa turned off the tears like you would turn off a faucet.

When it was my daughter's turn for her shot, I took her in and she started yelling and carrying on just like Lisa did. I said, "Wait a minute, Doctor." Then I took Mary and she tore up her little bottom. Then I said, "You let the doctor give you the shot so you won't get sick and die, and I don't want to see any more scenes." After that, she behaved herself and didn't shed a tear.

When we got home, Mary said, "Mama, don't you love me?" And I said, "Sure I do, with all my heart." And then she said, "How come you didn't get me a doll like Lisa's?" Abby, should I have gotten my little girl a doll, too? SOFT-HEARTED MAMA

DEAR MAMA: No. If you had, you would have taught her two things: (1) If she wants something, all she has to do is scream for it. (2) A child is entitled to something just because a friend has one.

DEAR ABBY: I am a single woman, 43, going with a man of 56. Sidney is a widower with three grown children. He is very attractive and represents the kind of security a woman my age rarely finds. He was happily married for 30 years, and now he wants to marry me.

The trouble is my mother. We have lived together since Dad died 10 years ago, and ever since I told her I want to marry Sidney, she has cried and carried on like you wouldn't believe. She says he's too old for me and it will never work out. I've told her she could live with us, but she refuses to move to the city where we would live. (She and I presently live in a suburb.)

When her friends try to tell her that she should be happy that I'll have someone to look after me when she's gone, she says HE is only 11 years younger than SHE is, and he won't last that much longer.

Abby, I could be very happy with Sidney if it weren't for my mother. What should I do? MOTHER TROUBLE

DEAR TROUBLE: Marry Sidney. And ask him if he has a friend for your mother.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is dead and I have two enlarged pictures of him nicely framed; I keep them in my living room. The other day a neighbor came in and saw them, and she said personal pictures do not belong in the living room.

Abby, I haven't had much education, and I would appreciate it if you would tell me if I am wrong to keep his pictures there.

I get a lot of pleasure out of looking at his pictures in the living room, but if they really don't belong there, I suppose I could put them somewhere else. Thank you. DON'T KNOW

DEAR DON'T: Personal pictures should be enjoyed. And they "belong" wherever they afford the most pleasure.

Farm Soil quacks reap cash

CHICAGO (AP) — A new-style medicine man is peddling his worthless wares through the Corn Belt. But instead of human patients, the new quacks claim to treat the soil with additives that will produce better crops.

One soil expert says Illinois farmers may have spent up to $500,000 last year for just one such useless compound.

A Lee County, Ill., farmer says he has his doubts, too.

The farmer, who declined to be identified, signed on last year to become a dealer in "Genesis Two," a blue-green algae soil additive produced in Athens, Texas. But before selling the additive to his neighbors, he tried it out on his own fields. The results were negative. Now he is attempting to get his money back.

Dr. Robert Hoelt, associate professor of soil fertility at the University of Illinois, who made the estimate of losses to Illinois farmers, said today's soil quacks have much in common with the old salesmen of medical nostrums.

They almost invariably peddle door to door and make exaggerated claims for their product's effectiveness, he said.

Hoelt said the questionable

"cure-alls" fall into five major categories — organic additives, microbial additives, mineral additives, wetting agents and low-volume additives.

The organic additives are the most common. They include various seaweed composts and a number of "humic acid" compounds, which usually are nothing more than ordinary coal dust.

Deadline nears for sign-ups

The Howard County Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service office reminds these producers who have not signed for the 30 day additional emergency livestock feed assistance to do so as soon as possible.

Producers who signed up in December are eligible to do so again in May.

Producers who never signed up originally, and have lost feed or pasture due to the drought may sign up in June if they meet eligibility requirements. A list of the requirements can be obtained from the local ASCS office.

Microbial additives include blue-green algae compounds such as "Genesis Two," which also has been sold as "Agri-Life." With the exception of rhizobium, long used on leguminous plants such as peas, beans and alfalfa, all microbial additives have been found useless.

Also proven useless in the Midwest are such mineral additives as crushed gypsum and bentonite clay.

Hoelt said wetting agents are useful in conjunction with pesticides and certain fertilizers, but they cannot ease soil drainage problems, a claim made by the soil quacks.

The low-volume additives, according to Hoelt, represent the most insidious form of quackery. He said the quacks take accepted fertilizers and soil additives, change their brand names and sell them to economy-minded farmers as special high-potency concentrates.

Hoelt said most of the worthless additives are being sold at prices that would run from $5 to $15 per acre. "Less than that," he said, "and everyone would know the stuff was worthless. More than that and you might check it out before buying it."

As in the case of medical quackery, though, the price of the additives does not reflect the full cost to the farmer. The real sting comes through the quack's assurance that his product is so good nothing else is needed.

A farmer who believes that spiel actually may wind up cutting his corn yield by as much as 100 bushels per acre, Hoelt said.

Blagraves wins two awards

Stan Blagraves won the National Foundation Award in agriculture mechanics proficiency at the Area II Future Farmers of America regional convention in Alpine over the weekend.

The Sands High FFA student was one of several honorees they collected at the regional meet.

Blagraves also won second in crop production. Steve Parker and Van Gaskins had their record books approved toward the Lone Star Farmer degree which they are eligible to receive at the state convention this summer.

Scott Robinson representing the Sands FFA and the El Rancho District was one of the runners up for Star Greenhand. Gaskins was a runner up for public speaking honors.

Dennis Martin and Scott Robinson were voting delegates at the meet and Susan Martin was retiring district sweetheart.

Accompanying the group to the area meeting were Mr. and Mrs. G.W. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Burwood Blagrave and Mr. and Mrs. Lon McDonald.

Few clouds, but planes take off

The Colorado River Municipal Water District marked the beginning of one phase of its weather modification contract with the Texas Department of Water Resources by seeding a few clouds Monday. It was one of the rare occasions this season that there has been clouds to seed.

Here in connection with the contract, which is part of a larger HIPLEX program of the Bureau of Reclamation, was John Carr, head of the Texas Water agency's technology division.

Monday's effort was inconclusive owing to the relatively modest amount of moisture available. There were, however, scattered showers north and east of Big Spring, none very intense.

While here, Carr talked about the beginning on June 1 of the intensive part of the HIPLEX research program for this summer. All participants, including officials from the Bureau of Reclamation, will be here to review plans for the season, said Carr. Part of the program will be the use of a jet aircraft for a period of approximately a month. The CRMWD also has two aircraft to be used for cloud-base seeding and cloud-top or cloud-penetration seeding.

Grain traders getting edgy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many farmers and grain traders are getting edgy about rains holding up corn planting this spring, but a week of clear and warm weather could change things quickly.

The Agriculture Department says that on May 14 only about 40 percent of the corn in 16 key states had been planted. Last year at this time 79 percent of the crop was planted as farmers got off to a fast start.

Normally in the 16 states about 61 percent of the corn is planted by mid-May. The 16 states account for about 94 percent of U.S. corn production.

James J. Naive, a grain specialist in the department's Economics, Statistics and Cooperatives Service, said Tuesday that there is "a reason to be looking" at the slower pace of corn planting this spring. But he said farmers could make up much of the delay if the weather improves soon.

"We can plant corn like crazy if the weather opens up," Naive told a reporter. "But we do have a couple of critical weeks coming up."

As a rule of thumb — although it is not exact — yields in the Corn Belt decline about one-half to one bushel an acre for each day corn planting is delayed after May 15.

As others have said, Naive explained that many farmers who are forced to wait on fields to dry out will be tempted to plant more soybeans and reduce their corn acreage. Soybeans can be planted later than corn and still do well.

Assuming that the weather does improve quickly, the heavy spring rainfall will assure ample soil moisture in many parts of the major corn areas to help act as a reserve in case of brief dry spells this summer.

But there is always a chance of another year like 1974 when spring rains also delayed planting. That was followed by severe drought during the summer which shriveled yields further. Then, before much of the crop was mature enough for harvest in the fall, early freezes did further damage.

The 1974 corn harvest dropped to less than 4.7 billion bushels from more than 5.6 billion in 1973. The 1974 yield averaged 71.4 bushels an acre, down from 91.2 the year before.

A late spring delayed farmers again the following year but the weather cleared after mid-May and by the end of the month 97 percent of the 1975 corn crop planted.

The crop last year rebounded sharply from 1974, yielding a then-record of almost 5.8 billion bushels, an average of 86.2 bushels an acre.

The 1976 crop produced another record of almost 6.27 billion bushels of corn and last year's harvest edged to another record of about 6.36 billion bushels.

Food donation programs eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department is reviewing its practice of providing aid to schools to determine the impact of possibly phasing out the government's food donation programs and shift entirely to cash payments.

Congress authorized the study in updating child nutrition programs. Most schools now get USDA-donated commodities in addition to cash payments.

Assistant Secretary Carol Tucker Foreman said Tuesday that the study involves schools participating in federally subsidized lunch and breakfast programs plus those in summer feeding programs.

The study has two parts. One will compare information from Kansas, the only state currently getting cash payments instead of commodities, with Colorado where USDA-donated commodities are donated to schools to help with their meal programs.

Overall, cash payments of $2.1 billion this fiscal year make up most of the federal help to school food program. Donations of commodities account for about $578 million this year.

In addition, school meals are supported by about $1.3

billion in what children pay for them plus about $970 million in state, local and other contributions to operate the programs.

Ms. Foreman said that USDA began collecting information from the eight school districts participating in the study on May 8 and that beginning July 1 those will no longer receive their usual shipments of donated food. Instead, they will get cash payments for the entire 1978-79 school year, she said.

School District, Chipley, Fla.; Riceville Community Schools, Riceville, Iowa; and Jonesboro Public Schools, Jonesboro, Ark.

In addition to the statewide information to be gathered from Kansas and Colorado, local information will be obtained from school districts in Hutchinson, Kan., and Greeley, Colo., Ms. Foreman said.

The eight school districts selected to participate in the study include Oakland Unified School District, Oakland, Calif.; Independent School District of Boise City, Boise, Idaho; St. Louis Public Schools, St. Louis, Mo.; Dayton Public Schools, Dayton, Ohio; Williamsville public school district, Williamsville, N.Y.

Farm Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Cotton futures No. 2 were higher in midday dealings today.

The average price for strict low middling 1-1/16 inch spot cotton declined 54 points to 27.15 cents a pound Tuesday for the 10 leading markets, according to the New York Cotton Exchange.

Midday afternoon prices were $3.10 to $3.90 a bale higher than the previous close. Jul 41.55, Oct 43.50, and Dec 44.72.

Cranberry growers to vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cranberry growers in 10 states will vote next month on amending a federal marketing order program which regulates cranberry production.

Assistant Secretary P. R. (Bobby) Smith said Tuesday that the mail referendum will be conducted June 2 through June 12 among growers in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New Jersey, Wisconsin, Michigan, Minnesota, Oregon, Washington, and Long Island, N.Y.

Smith said that one proposed change would allow revision of allotment bases for cranberry producers now in the program and provide for the entry of new producers. Another would authorize a public member in the Cranberry Marketing Committee which oversees the program.

The committee investigates supply and demand for cranberries each season and recommends to USDA the total quantity it considers for marketing.

Mansion to be refurbished

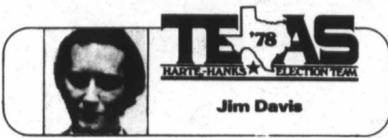

AUSTIN — The elegant but time-scarred Governor's Mansion will be spruced for the family moving in next year.

The Board of Control will take bids next month for a paint-and-repair job on the 12-year-old structure.

Robert Jenkins, director of the board's building and property services division, estimates the project will cost $75,000.

The Board has enough money to cover that. If bids come in higher, the board will have to wait and to seek more money from the legislature next year.

Jenkins said part of the mansion was painted five years ago and another part, three years ago. But in some places the paint peeled and the bare wood shows.

After hearing assurances that underground water supplies will be protected, the Texas Water Commission approved two more injection wells for radioactive waste in South Texas.

US Steel-NM Uranium, Inc., sought the permits for injection wells at its uranium mining operation in Live Oak County.

The waste will be injected at a maximum rate of 200 gallons a minute into permeable sands as deep as 4,500 feet.

These will be the fourth and fifth such wells in the area.

Phillip J. Paine, hearings examiner for the commission, said the disposal zone is below all known aquifers tapped for water. The zone is covered by shale that should hold the radioactive waste in place, according to evidence presented to the commission.

Secretary of State Steve Oaks learned a practical lesson during a recent meeting on problems the handicapped incur when they vote.

Oaks' the state's chief elections officer, is appointed a task force to study these problems and to recommend solutions.

He held a meeting to plan the task force's work recently. A blind person, a deaf person and a paraplegic attended.

The blind person couldn't read any of the materials involved; the deaf person couldn't hear Oaks' explanations.

The paraplegic knew sign language for the deaf and was able to help translate for Oaks. He also told about physical barriers persons in wheelchairs find when they try to vote — or do just about anything.

Republicans will be holding a Texas Winner's Conference in Austin June 9-11.

The session's goal is to prepare the party's candidates and workers for the November election.

The Texas Republican County Chairman's Association proposed the conference, and the state party agreed to be a cosponsor.

City sales tax rebate drops $23,000 in year

Big Spring's sales tax rebate for April dropped over $20,000 from the payment for the same month last year.

The net payment for this period was $24,069.93, compared to $47,167.67 for April of 1977. This represents the first drop in payments so far this year when compared to 1977 totals.

Because of the $23,097.74 difference, total payments for the year-to-date also dipped below last year's for the first time. Net payments so far this year come to $273,088.57, compared to $280,647.05 for 1977.

A sampling of cities shows that the trend also affected much of the area along with Big Spring. Coahoma received nothing, compared with $538.47 for April of 1977; Colorado City, $3,245.55, compared with $6,025.38; Lamesa, $10,196.90, compared to $13,714.67; Snyder, $13,228.89, compared to $22,395.21; and Stanton, $1,057.25, compared to $1,228.72.

Garner Armstrong understands why his dad stripped his power

DALLAS, Texas (AP) — Garner Ted Armstrong said he understands why his father stripped him of his power in the World Church of God and cancelled his television show, "but that doesn't make it hurt any less."

In a telephone interview with the Dallas Times Herald, the media evangelist said he is "hurt, bewildered and embarrassed." He said he is leaving for three or four days with "some old fishing buddies" to try to sort things out and let the dust settle.

Armstrong played down speculation that a power struggle is under way for control of the 80,000 member church and college, which collects more than $60 million annually.

"There is nothing more sinister in it than that a man at the age of 86, once again wants to take over complete control of what he started," the younger Armstrong said.

Herbert W. Armstrong founded the World Church of God more than 40 years ago.

Garner Ted Armstrong said what hurt the most was that his father did it all without consulting him. "I guess he felt that I would try to come on strong and urge him to change his mind. He was determined to do it, and he just didn't want to have to go through an hour-long discussion with me about it."

The media evangelist, who says he has not talked to his father since the announcements, said he has lost 10 pounds in the past week. He also said he will not tape any of his "The World Tomorrow" radio broadcasts for at least several days, until he is rested and in better spirits.

Channeled UH Funds aided brokerage firm

HOUSTON (AP) — A petition filed by the State Securities Board and the Texas attorney general's office alleges former University of Houston financial analyst Samuel A. Harwell channeled UH funds through a local brokerage firm to benefit himself and others.

The brokerage firm, Covington Knox, Inc. (CKI) was placed in receivership by State District Judge Wyatt Heard. He appointed attorney Percy D. Williams as receiver.

Harwell, 36, who was fired from the university last November was indicted Monday by a federal grand jury on charges of conspiracy and fraud. The panel also indicted Harwell's half-brother, Patrick D. Sullivan, 48, of Brea, Calif.

Each was named in four counts alleging conspiracy and mail and wire fraud against the university and the San Jose, Calif. branch of the Japan-California of Los Angeles.

The indictment alleged Harwell placed about $5 million in university funds in the bank and then gave the bank a letter authorizing Sullivan to use the funds as collateral for loans.

According to the petition for receivership of the brokerage firm, the state sought the receivership action in order to protect the assets of the company for the benefit of customers and potential claimants, particularly the university.

"The petition was brought because we believe our investigation has revealed certain fraudulent practices were conducted by Mr. Harwell in connection with the sale and purchase of securities by the University of Houston," said Gerald Siegmyer, assistant director of enforcement for the state securities board.

The brokerage firm is owned by Aubrey Melvin Covington, Roger K. Knox and Sullivan.

Neither Harwell nor Sullivan was named as a defendant.

"This petition is only a civil action and no criminal charges have been made in connection with the receivership," said Robin Gibbs, an attorney for the firm.

"The receiver was appointed not on the basis of any financial problems or insolvency. The company remains in good financial condition."

Neither Harwell nor Sullivan was available for comment.

Riled Sonics have something else to prove tonight

SEATTLE (AP) — The Seattle SuperSonics have something to prove tonight when they meet the Denver Nuggets in a National Basketball Association semifinal playoff game. They want to show that Lenny Wilkens is the best coach in the league. The Sonics are riled because Wilkens, who turned the Sonics from stumbling losers to championship contenders, was not named Coach of the Year by the media voting for the award. For the Nuggets, a victory tonight is a must. The Sonics lead the best-of-seven series 3-2. A Denver victory would tie the series and force a seventh game Friday night. A Seattle victory would end the series and send the Sonics into the championship series against Washington. The Sonics never have reached the final round in their 11-year history. The championship series begins Sunday at the home of the Western Conference winner.

The Sonics have a home court streak of 19 victories. The game is a sellout. The teams split the first two games in Denver and the Sonics won both games at Seattle. Denver, down 3-1 in the series, then won at home Sunday, 123-114. But only two teams in NBA playoff history have overcome 3-1 deficits.

The 1968 Boston Celtics did it against Philadelphia in the Eastern Division final, while the 1970 Los Angeles Lakers won their opening round series against Phoenix after dropping three of the first four. Sonics President Sam Schulman was angry that Wilkens, who took over as coach when the team's record was 5-17, placed second in the Coach of the Year balloting behind Atlanta's Hubie Brown. "No one in history has stepped in when a team was in the depths, the second-worst team, and done what he's done," scoffed Schulman.

Rain delays Memorial

DUBLIN, Ohio (AP) — There's this one little item Jack Nicklaus couldn't control at the Memorial Tournament. He's done everything else. He created the tournament. Then he won it. He designed and built the golf course. He shaped the format. He arranged the financing and the tournament dates. He's supervised every detail — selecting the type of sand for the bunkers, the placement of trees and mounds, the moving of hundreds of tons of earth, even selected the type of sandwiches sold during the four days of the ambitious event that begins Thursday. But even Nicklaus — the game's greatest player, the man who promotes silence from rowdy pros when he enters a locker room, who is held in awe by his fellow touring pros — even he couldn't handle the weather. His pro-am tournament got rained out.

With former President Gerald Ford and Bob Hope ready to play, tournament officials announced Tuesday that the pro-am was off. A night-long rain made unplayable Nicklaus' pride and joy, his dream course, the tough, 7,101-yard, par 72 Muirfield Village Golf Club layout.

The weather, however, was expected to improve. Clearing was forecast for today's practice round for the select, invitational field of 102 pros who will be chasing about $225,000 in total prizes with further improvement for the Thursday-through-Sunday tournament dates.

And, even though he is vitally concerned and somewhat distracted by the myriad details of conducting a tournament, Nicklaus remains the favorite.

He kept his mind on the game well enough to win the second Memorial last year.

He's won twice this year and ranks second on the money-winning list.

The other leading contenders for the title are Tom Watson, Gary Player and Hubert Green. Those three, plus Nicklaus, have won more than half the tournaments this year. They have a combined total of 10 victories — three each by Watson and Player, two each by Green and Watson — in the 19 events that have been played.

Clyde's best times back

By the Associated Press
Tuesday's crowd of 3,737 in Cleveland was almost 32,000 less than the one that witnessed his heralded major league debut in Texas five years ago, but they saw another bonny performance by David Clyde.

Clyde was only 18 years old, the nation's No. 1 draft choice and less than a month out of Houston's Westchester High School when he took the mound for the Texas Rangers against the Minnesota Twins on June 27, 1973.

The ballyhooed bonus baby walked the first two batters he faced but fanned the next three, went five innings, allowed one hit — a two-run homer — and emerged a 4-3 winner in a game that has been voted the big moment in Rangers' history.

That was the best of times. After that, things deteriorated to the worst of times and Clyde spent the last three years in the minors, undergoing shoulder surgery two years ago to relieve an entrapped nerve.

The Rangers finally gave up and traded him and his 7-18 major league record to Cleveland this spring, where he became the personal reclamation project of Manager Jeff Torborg and pitching coach Harvey Haddix.

On Tuesday, Clyde made his first 1978 start after three solid relief appearances and 7-18 became 8-18 when the left-hander fired a four-hitter and struck out seven as the Indians turned back the Oakland A's 3-2.

Astros through wallowing

HOUSTON (AP) — After his team wallowed in mediocrity the first six weeks of the season, Houston manager Bill Virdon believes the Astros are starting to play better baseball.

Terry Puhl extended his hitting streak to eight games with a triple and a home run as the Astros recorded their fourth straight victory with a 6-1 decision over the Philadelphia Phillies Tuesday night.

"I keep saying we've got a good baseball," said Virdon. "We may not have the best, but you can't get down when things don't go right for you over a short period of time." The Astros jumped on losing pitcher Steve Carlton, 4-4, for three runs in the first inning off Puhl's triple, run-scoring singles by Enos Cabell and Bob Watson and Art Howe's sacrifice fly.

The Phillies came back with a run in the fourth off Houston starter Mark Lemongello, 3-4, on a walk to Richie Hebner, a passed ball by Astro catcher Joe Ferguson and Tim McCarver's two-out single to right.

Lemongello pitched out of numerous jams early in the game as Philadelphia put 12 runners on base the first six innings, but managed to score only one run.

Brewers edged Rangers

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Lary Sorensen's complete-game victory Tuesday night over Texas couldn't have come at a better time, says Milwaukee Manager George Bamberger.

"Every time you lose a game like we did Monday night and come back and win a game like this, it gives new life to the ballclub," Bamberger said after the 22-year-old Sorensen shut the Rangers down on seven hits in a 4-3 Milwaukee victory.

Texas had battered the Brewers for 13 hits and eight runs in Monday night's 8-6 win over Milwaukee.

"He (Sorensen) was great," said Bamberger. "He showed a lot of heart out there. The kid has kept us in every game he's pitched. He's only been playing professional ball since the middle of 1976."

Sorensen went the distance, allowing six singles and John Lowenstein's RBI double in a two-run Texas fifth inning. Jim Sundberg tapped him for a sacrifice fly for the other Texas run in the fifth.

The Rangers nicked him for a run on four consecutive singles in the third inning, with three of them bounding off the gloves of Milwaukee infielders.

Seaver may have 'unslumped'

By the Associated Press
To Tom Seaver, it looked like the same old story. Three batters, three singles, "and I started thinking that maybe the roof was falling in again."

The building in which Seaver fashioned his second victory of the season is still standing, however.

After giving up a run in the first inning on three consecutive singles, the Cincinnati Reds "ace" held the Montreal Expos scoreless on seven hits, one walk and 13 strikeouts for his first complete game in nine starts and a 5-1 victory Tuesday night.

"It's a step in the right direction," said Seaver, who's now 2-4. "I've had a history of having trouble in the first inning. No matter how long I warm up, I have trouble."

Joe Morgan drove in four of Cincinnati's runs with a three-run homer in the fifth and an RBI double in the first. Ken Griffey drove in Seaver, who had walked to lead off the fifth, with the other Reds' run. Pete Rose had three hits — two of them doubles — and scored twice.

In other National League contests, Houston beat Philadelphia 6-1, San Francisco nipped Chicago 4-3, San Diego downed St. Louis 7-5 and Los Angeles edged Pittsburgh 3-2. Atlanta at New York was rained out.

Glans 4, Cubs 3
Larry Herndon drove home the winning run in the eighth inning with a bloop double, and Bob Knepper, 6-1, scattered six hits as Western Division-leading San Francisco won its sixth straight.

Cubs outfielder Dave Kingman had tied the game in the top of the eighth with a booming home run, his fifth in three games.

Padres 7, Cards 5
Gene Tenace drove in three runs with a triple and a bases-loaded walk off reliever Mark Littell to pace San Diego. The Padres scored four runs in the first, highlighted by Tenace's two-run triple off the left field fence. Left-hander Bob Ojchinko, 3-2, got the win while John Urrea, 2-5, took the loss.

Dodgers 3, Pirates 2
Don Sutton, 3-4, got his first victory in three weeks, and Los Angeles scored all its runs in the first inning to beat Pittsburgh.

One of the Dodgers' runs scored on a bases-loaded balk by Pirates starter John Candelaria, 2-6. The others came home on Steve Garvey's ground out and Dusty Baker's single.

Sutton gave up five hits before getting relief help from Terry Forster in the ninth.

'LET'S TRY...' — Senior Quarterback Ricky Myers (center) gives his teammates the next play in the huddle during a recent scrimmage at Blankenship Field, while Ricky Cluck, left, and Dennis Morrison, far right, listen. All three lettermen are expected to see considerable action in next fall's Steer football campaign. Spring training for the locals winds up this Saturday at 7:30 p.m. in Memorial Stadium in the annual "Black and Gold" game, sponsored by the Big Spring Quarterback Club. Tickets are $1 per person.

Rangers still tradin' for World series

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — The horsetradin' Texas Rangers have swapped off a large chunk of their future for Bobby Bonds — a soon-to-be free agent they are counting on as the key to this year's World Series.

The Rangers traded 23-year-old outfielder Claudell Washington, already a four-year major league veteran who is tagged as a "can't miss" star, minor leaguer Rusty Torres and a player to be named later to the Chicago White Sox on Tuesday night for the much-traveled Bonds.

"We're getting a 32-year-old superstar and we're giving up a 23-year-old budding star," Rangers owner Brad Corbett said Tuesday night.

"I felt it was in the best interest this year for Texas to get Bobby Bonds, who is a legitimate superstar. Claudell will be a great player."

Bonds, the only major leaguer ever to compile 30 home runs and 30 stolen bases in four different seasons, was traded to Chicago in the offseason from California.

He is playing out his option and will become a free agent — most likely a very expensive free agent — at the end of the season.

"I think that we will try as hard as we can to sign Bonds," said Corbett, who has shelled out nearly $6 million for free agents Doyle Alexander, Bert Campaneris, Richie Zisk and Doc Medich.

"I can't say tonight that we're confident we'll sign him, but we are confident he'll help Texas win a championship this season," added Corbett.

In Chicago, Bonds appeared to be in a state of shock. "I was happy here. My rent's paid through July. I wouldn't want to speculate that I was traded because I haven't signed a contract."

"If we had gotten off to a good start we would have considered talking to Bobby later about a contract. We're getting a young outfielder who is signed through 1979. I gambled on Bonds but now I'm hedging my bet," said White Sox owner Bill Veeck.

Washington has been hampered by an offseason ankle injury this season and has been crowded out of the outfield by the likes of Juan Beniquez, Al Oliver and Zisk. He has appeared in only 12 games and is hitting .167 with two RBI.

But Washington hit .308 in 1975 as a regular for the Oakland A's and batted .284 after being traded to Texas last season. He has a .285 lifetime batting average.

Bonds, who had a lifetime average of .271 with 265 home runs and 364 stolen bases before 1978, is hitting .278 with two home runs and eight RBI for the White Sox this season.

'Deceitful' NFL charged

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The National Football League used "deliberate, deceitful" tactics last year to fool the NFL Players Association into thinking its new collective bargaining agreement was better than the old Rozelle Rule, attorney Edward Glennon charged Tuesday.

"Defraud was committed by the NFL on Judge Earl Larson," said Glennon. "Judge Larson did not have before him all the facts. It was a deliberate, deceitful force of action by the NFL."

Glennon, representing the NFLPA, spoke before the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals and asked that the agreement be sent back to U.S. District Judge Larson for further investigation.

By not informing the court of its interpretation of Article XV, Glennon said, the owners and league tricked the NFLPA into accepting an agreement "worse than the Rozelle Rule. And that's the deceit," Glennon added.

Article XV gives NFL teams the "Right of First Refusal," which means a club can bind a player who plays out his option and receives another offer by matching the offer, or paying that player 110 percent of his previous salary, whichever is higher.

1984 L.A. bid termed OK

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Los Angeles' big day in the Olympic chase may be at hand.

A delegation led by Mayor Tom Bradley presented its bid for the 1984 Olympic games, believing it now had a formula for success.

After a dispute with the International Olympic Committee lasting for weeks, Bradley met IOC president Lord Killanin Tuesday night and claimed later there had been "a major breakthrough."

"There are no essential differences between us," the mayor said. "There were misunderstandings which required clarification."

"The city, the Southern California Olympic Committee and the IOC all want the 1984 Games to go on in Los Angeles."

But nobody would say how the breakthrough had been made, and Los Angeles still had to get past 80 IOC members, many of them old men, steeped in tradition, who have their own ideas about the way the Games should be run. They are due to vote on Los Angeles' bid Thursday.

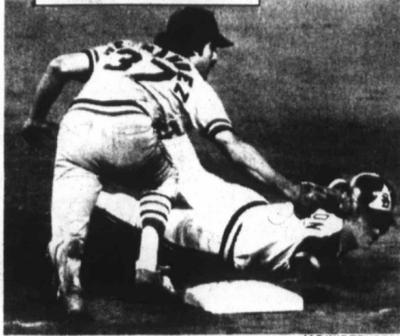

'Termite' saws through guard

HOUSTON (AP) — Texas lightweight champion Maurice "Termite" Watkins of Houston scored a seventh round knockout over Joe Medrano of San Antonio Tuesday night in a feature match of a boxing card at the Summit.

The highly ranked Watkins may have earned a shot at world champion Roberto Duran with the victory which gave him a record of 38-2-1 record.

In other bouts, Melvin Dennis of Houston retained his Texas middleweight title with an 11-round knockout over Deryl Blumley of Cut 'n Shoot, Texas; Raul Aguirre of San Antonio successfully defended his Texas middleweight crown with a third round knockout of Manuel Torres of Houston; Armando Coronado of Uvalde, Texas won a six round split decision over Terry Strappel of Houston in a battle of lightweights; and light heavyweight Eddie Gonzales of Houston scored a first round knockout over Bruce Kaposta of Houston.

HEADS

PICKED OFF AT FIRST BASE — Cardinals' Keith Hernandez sticks the tag on Bill Almon of San Diego Padres in sixth inning Tuesday night after a pickoff throw from John Urrea nailed the San Diego baserunner off first base. Cards couldn't capitalize, though, and dumped their sixth straight game, 7-5.

TAILS

BACK IN TIME — Houston Astros' third baseman, Enos Cabell (23), dives back into first under the tag of Philadelphia Phillies first baseman, Richie Hebner (18), in the first inning of the National League game at Houston Tuesday night. Houston took the game 6-1.

Hawk Queens ink four more

By DANNY REAGAN
Sports Editor

Howard College Hawk Queen Coach Don Stevens announced Tuesday afternoon the signing of four new players for the 1978-79 season.

Two more signees will be announced shortly, and that will bring to 12 the total number of Hawk Queens for next season.

The four most recent signees are Shawn Smith, a 5-11 All-Stater from Clayton, N.M.; Karen Schulte, a 5-8 All-State forward for Texas State Champion Nazareth; Jayne Ann Jones, 5-9, from Cypress-Fairbanks High School; and Cathey Meyer, a 5-10 All-District guard from Churchill in San Antonio.

Previously signed were Susan Martin from Ackerly, Loretta Young from Stanton and Robbie Freeman from Trent. With the two announced signees (and one another All-Stater) and the three sophomores returning from last year — Beverly Strickland, Sherrie Coals and Jan Phillips — the recruiting season is complete, according to Stevens.

"I'm tickled to death to have signed all of these girls," said Stevens. "It's by far the best group I've ever seen, and I haven't even taken them onto the floor yet."

Stevens indicated that next year's schedule will be "basically the same, but maybe a little tougher. You never can tell, though," Stevens said. "We don't know how everyone else is doing (recruiting)."

The Hawk Queen coach also launched kudos towards his newest signees. "In a recent try-out camp conducted in Big Spring, I was tremendously impressed by Shawn Smith's abilities and all-around play," he said. "I feel that she has the potential to become one of the outstanding players of our conference. She gives us some much-needed size under the basket."

Shawn averaged 19 points a game in her high school career, and 12 rebounds an outing. She also averages 75 percent from the free throw line, and was also a member of the National Honor Society, Vice-President of the Student Council, Senior Class Most Attractive Girl and Who's Who Among American High School Students.

Karen Schulte was instrumental in Nazareth repeating as Class B champion two years in a row. Playing the outside position on a post-dominated offense, she provided the balance to the offense by scoring 20 points per game.

As a junior, Karen was all-district, All-State Tournament and All-State second team. Her senior year honors included All-District, All-State First Team, East-West All-Star game, and Most Valuable Forward in that game. She shot 74 percent from the free throw line her senior year, and 52 percent from the floor.

"Karen was very highly recruited for obvious reasons. In observing her play over the past two years I have been impressed with her competitive spirit. I am very pleased that the Hawk Queens will be benefiting from her leadership qualities and her playing talents," said Stevens.

Cathey Meyer was an All-District guard for Churchill her sophomore and junior years, and switched to forward her senior year to average 22.3 points per game with a 55.4 shooting percentage. That earned her All-District honors this year as well.

"Cathey will not only score points for us," said Stevens, "of the girl who once scored 40 points in one game," but she could be the premier rebounder in the league."

Jayne Ann Jones is a prolific scorer, as her 3,017 high school career points will attest. She averaged 27 points her freshman year; 29 sophomore; 35, junior; and 32 in her senior year.

As a freshman she once scored 51 points, and topped that output her junior year against Klein with 52. She shot 76 percent from the free throw line and 58 percent from the floor during her senior year.

She was selected the most valuable forward of District 16-AAAA and first team All-District; named American High School Athlete and won numerous all-tournament awards.

Jones also holds the school record in both the shot (39-8) and discus (129-9) and advanced to state where she placed sixth this year. She finished in the top 15 percent of her class.

"I am very impressed by Jayne Ann's credentials, and she, with the other fine athletes we have signed, will provide us the firepower for another great year," Stevens concluded.

High tar smokers report low tar MERIT delivers flavor of leading high tar brands

Are the toughest "critics" of low tar cigarettes satisfied with the taste of MERIT vs. leading high tar brands?

Read the results from a new nationwide research effort.

Results Confirm Breakthrough

Confirmed: Majority of high tar smokers rate MERIT taste equal to—or better than—leading high tar cigarettes tested! Cigarettes having up to twice the tar.

Confirmed: Majority of high tar smokers confirm taste satisfaction of low tar MERIT.

And in detailed interviews conducted among current MERIT smokers?

Confirmed: 85% of MERIT smokers say it was an "easy switch" from high tar brands.

Confirmed: Overwhelming majority of MERIT smokers say their former high tar brands weren't missed!

Confirmed: 9 out of 10 MERIT smokers not considering other brands.

First Major Alternative To High Tar Smoking

MERIT has proven conclusively that it not only delivers the flavor of high tar brands—but continues to satisfy.

This ability to satisfy over long periods of time could be the most important evidence to date that MERIT is what it claims to be: The first major alternative for high tar smokers.

Kings: 8 mg "tar," 0.6 mg nicotine av. per cigarette, FTC Report Aug. 77 100's: 11 mg "tar," 0.8 mg nicotine av. per cigarette by FTC Method.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, MAY 18, 1978

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Partners are apt to buck where your ideas are concerned, so use diplomacy and they soon come around to your way of thinking. A situation arises that will need some time to straighten out. Don't act hastily.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Get at all that work ahead of you and don't be dependent on others and you accomplish a good deal. Remain poised so that you do not ruin your nervous system. Take it easy.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Do not indulge in recreation that is too expensive for your pocketbook and show you are wise. Be more willing to cooperate with loved ones. Make life together more ideal.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Avoid a tendency to argue at home and try to establish greater harmony instead. Get rid of tension. Plan a trip that can bring good results, whether of a personal or business nature.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Use much care in driving, walking, since both you and others are apt to make mistakes. Use care in speaking also, since tempers incline to be short.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Be careful in handling financial affairs since you could make serious errors otherwise. Make improvements to real estate and other holdings so that you feel more secure.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You feel dissatisfied and want to make new connections, change your way of living. Wait for a better day before getting started. Analyze financial position well.

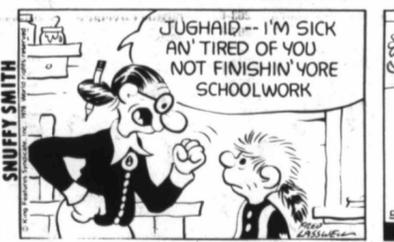

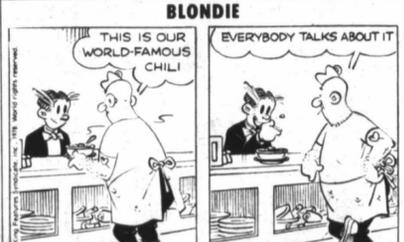

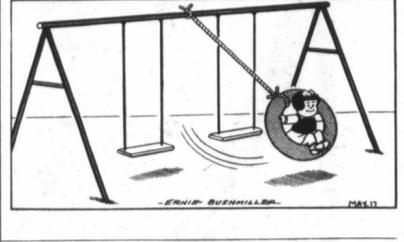

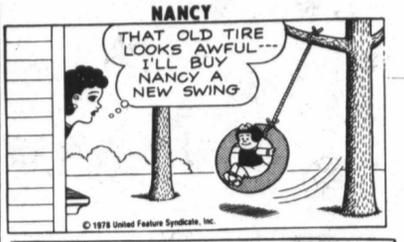

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Be careful in making loans or giving other favors, since they might not all be bona fide. Listen to advice given you by an intelligent friend.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Not a good day to see friends since they are preoccupied with their own affairs. Study fondest aims and how to best gain them. Have a plan for living.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) This is not a good day to get much done where credit matters are concerned, so postpone until tomorrow. Be alert to any changes within your community. Go along with the best of these.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You want to make radical changes, but think them over carefully before you take action. Get your work done in a more up-to-date fashion instead and get good results.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Do what others expect of you and don't waste time foolishly. Try to please good friends more. Evening fine for personal happiness with loved ones.

Jurors to review complaints against ex-police official

HOUSTON (AP) - After a two-hour preliminary hearing Tuesday, U.S. Magistrate Lingo Platter ruled there was sufficient cause to send to a grand jury complaints against a former Houston police official accusing him of obstruction of justice in an alleged extortion plot.

The charges were filed in April against Carol M. Lynn, once the Houston police chief, director of the police academy, and an assistant police chief.

He was fired April 20, 10 days after his arrest.

Lynn, 45, the highest ranking Houston police officer ever accused in federal court, remained free under a $50,000 bond.

Earlier Tuesday, U.S. District Court Judge Carl Bue turned down a defense request that he reconsider a motion to dismiss all charges against Lynn.

Only two witnesses appeared during the preliminary hearing, John McGauley, the FBI agent in charge of the Lynn investigation, and Gerald Birnberg, a Houston attorney.

Defense attorneys attempted to bring U.S. Attorney J.A. "Tony" Canales to the stand, but Platter blocked the move, stating, "This is a preliminary hearing, not a trial."

Lynn is accused of telling former Houston oilman John Vincent Holden that for $45,000 he could "fix" an investigation involving violations of federal securities regulations and mail fraud.

The defense also had asked that Holden testify at the hearing, but Platter rejected that request.

McGauley said Tuesday the FBI had a recording of a conversation between Holden and Lynn. The agent said Lynn told Holden he should deny before a grand jury any knowledge of a payoff to fix his case. The tape, McGauley said, also revealed that Lynn had suggested Birnberg retract any statements he had made before the grand jury.

Birnberg was the attorney for Holden in the securities case. He was shot in the hand on the night of April 3 as he entered his home. No one has been arrested in the shooting.

Birnberg's testimony concerned only the fact that he had met with several assistant U.S. attorneys in recent months.

The FBI affidavit accused

Energy - Serious oil shortage is expected by 1985

SAN FRANCISCO - The present excess of crude oil productive capacity in the free world has reached its peak, and a serious oil shortage is likely by 1985, assuming Saudi Arabia maintains its current 8.5 million barrels-per-day production ceiling.

This is the conclusion of a study of worldwide oil supply and demand by the Economics Department of Standard Oil Company of California. Standard said it plans to release the study in the near future.

According to the analysis, the current surplus of productive capacity in the free world - now at a peak of about 8 million barrels a day - will decline rapidly in the early 1980s. Should Saudi Arabia not expand its productive capacity, a deficit of 5 million barrels per day will occur in 1985.

Commenting on the findings, board chairman Harold J. Haynes of Standard said "it is increasingly apparent that Saudi Arabia is the only source with the reserves capability of meeting the demand growth foreseen for the free world in the 1980s."

"Moreover," he emphasized, "our findings make it plain that the U.S. should not be complacent about future supplies because of the present, highly-publicized oil surplus."

"It is simply imperative that we accelerate development of domestic energy supplies, and that includes sharply improving incentives to encourage exploration and development of our own oil and natural gas."

Anderson, Jaquier are named to Grace posts

NEW YORK - W. R. Grace & Co. announced that its board of directors, in action taken after the company's annual shareholders meeting here recently, has elected Robert A. Anderson and Lloyd L. Jaquier executive vice presidents of the company.

In addition, Anderson becomes group executive, heading a new Grace operating unit, the Retail Group, which consists of Herman's Shop of Sporting Goods, Shoppers western wear, Pix of America footwear, and Handy City and Channel home improvement centers. It is planned that the group will also include such future acquisitions as the company may make in retailing.

The new Grace officer served with Sears, Roebuck & Co. for 36 years until 1975, rising to head all of Sears'

LLOYD L. JAQUIER national retail merchandise management as a vice president. He developed and directed Sears' total marketing plans and national advertising campaigns.

Build Your Own

with Marj Carpenter

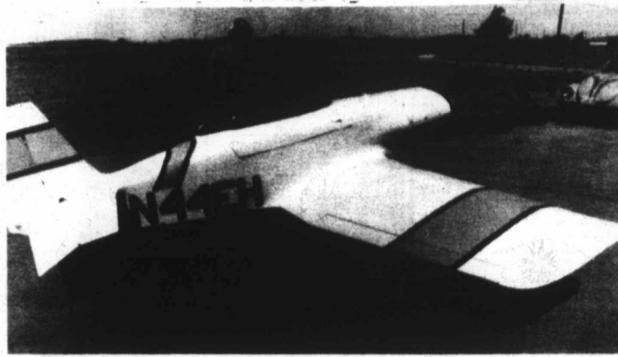

If you don't have an airplane, build one. Only you better be sure you know what you are doing. Your life could be at stake.

Ed Hart knows what he's doing. He just built an airplane that flies. His wife hates it, but Ed has been enjoying the small plane.

He's qualified to build one because he has a lot of knowledge of airplanes and he's been overhauling planes for years.

He built the small plane in his spare time and it ended in April up taking three years and ten months of his time.

The Big Spring Herald ran a story about him when he started and showed him with what looked like a big piece of styrofoam when he was beginning the project.

ED HART built own airplane

The plane is 17 feet long with a wing span of 17 feet, but of course, it isn't square. There's an airplane in between.

Those are simply the measurements from wingtip to wingtip and from nose to tail or prop to rudder or whatever the tailend of the plane is called.

He flew it first two days before the last local air show. "I was smart enough not to have a big audience for the first flight," he recalled. "And sure enough, I never got off the ground. It quit four times. The engine wasn't running fast enough to get the fuel into the lines. I had to make a few minor adjustments."

But the next day, he took off into the wild blue yonder. And in this small plane, you are along with the airplane like Lindberg used to be when he would say "We" meaning the plane and himself.

Hart, who works for Cosden's labs, said the plane will go up as high as 10,000-12,000 feet. It has a 65 Horsepower motor, about the same as is in a two-place Piper Cub or Taylor Craft.

Hart built a lot of the plane at home in his garage and then took it out to the airport. He received his registration number and got the one he selected. The N designates a United States registration. He just liked number four and selected 44 and the EH are his own initials, Ed Hart.

For the first 20 hours in the plane, the pilot is required to stay within 20 hours of the home airport. "This is in case there are any bugs in the homemade plane. They really advise sticking close around for 40 hours," he added.

Records of water district examined

Attorneys for opponents of the Colorado River Municipal Water District's application for a permit to impound a reservoir on the Colorado River at the Concho-Coleman county line, have completed examining the District's records.

"We opened our files to them," said O.H. Ivie, General Manager of CR-MWD. "This was part of the discovery process prior to the June 7 hearing before the Texas Water Commission, but we have tried to be open about our intentions all along."

Copies of all documents and correspondence selected in two days of examination have been made and delivered to the attorneys representing the Lower Colorado River Authority, the City of Austin, and irrigation companies downstream from Austin.

"We wanted to put all the material they requested in their hands immediately in order to enable them to reexamine the material prior to the hearing date."

explained the general manager. "We trust this will expedite the hearing on the merits of the application."

The opposing attorneys also have obtained requested information from Freese and Nichols, the CR-MWD's consulting engineers, and have taken depositions both from the engineers and from Ivie.

"The district would be negligent in its efforts if it failed to do all in its power to obtain an adequate water supply to meet the future water requirements, based on the projected population of the area the District serves. There is no question in anyone's mind as to the fact the Stacy Reservoir will be vitally needed well before the turn of the century," said Ivie.

In making the district's records available to those opposing its efforts, the manager said, "We have nothing to hide. We can demonstrate clearly the need for the additional water. We made available to the attorneys copies of the proposed contract with Texas Utilities Services, Inc., which proposes to build a power plant at the lake site and purchase me water from us. Energy is almost as important as water, and we feel this is making a double utilization of the water to be impounded."
