Son of former White House press secretary arrested Austin teacher shot, killed

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The 13-year-old son of former White House press secretary George Christian walked into his junior high English classroom today and fatally shot the teacher, police said.

Lt. Fred Maxwell, chief of public affairs, identified the boy as John Christian, who was taken into custody and brought to the police station for questioning.

George Christian, who served as press secretary for President Lyndon Johnson and recently handled public relations for Gov. Dolph Briscoe's losing Democratic primary campaign, arrived at the police station at 10:45 a.m., visibly shaken.

The slain teacher was identified as Wilbur Rod Grayson, 29.

About 30 children from the class were brought to police headquarters to give information about what they saw.

Maxwell said Grayson was shot three times — beneath the right arm, in the right arm and in the right side of the head with a semi-automatic .22-caliber rifle.

Maxwell, after leaving the homicide division offices, said he understood the boy arrived after the first-period English class had begun. Parents described the class as a special one for gifted and talented youngsters who had been tested not only for academic achievement but for creativity.

"The teacher was sitting on a stool, conducting class. He (the boy) just walked in the door and pointed the rifle at him. The teacher didn't take it real seriously. He said something, and the boy just shot him," Maxwell said.

Maxwell said he understood the youth, an honor roll student, was upset over an incident the previous day when a substitute teacher was present.

"The boy was leading a discussion and didn't get a very good response," Maxwell said.

Jean Olson, mother of a pupil in the class, described Grayson as "fabulous. He has done tremendous things."

"These kids are energetic, far out creative minds," she said.

Grayson taught seventh and eighth grades at the northwest Austin school and had been teaching only a year, said Charles Sansom, director of administrative services for the Austin Independent School District.

"He had been employed in other capacities as a school driver and as a school monitor," Sansom said.

Sansom said this was the first fatal classroom attack on an Austin teacher.

U. S. minimum security institute is possibility

A three-man team from the Federal Bureau of Prisons, headed by Gary Mote of Washington, assistant director, met with members of the Big Spring City Council and the Big Spring Steering Committee at 11 a.m. today to discuss the possibility of locating a minimum security correctional facility at Webb AFB.

Accompanying Mote here were James H. Webster, Washington, chief of Facilities Development and Operations; and Charles Benson, Dallas, Regional Director of the South Central Region for the Federal Prison System.

A Big Spring delegation will be flown to similar facilities at Seagoville, Tex., and Florida within a week to study operations.

Such an operation, embracing three acres around what was formerly the Airmen's Barracks at Webb AFB, would not dictate the guards of armed guards. It would mean an estimated $2.5 million would be poured into the local economy, most of it in payroll. A total of about 100 would be employed.

Persons guilty of "white collar" crimes, like embezzlement and income tax invasion, would be confined here.

FORMER PRESIDENTIAL PRESS SECRETARY AND SONS — George Christian (center), former press secretary to President Lyndon B. Johnson, flanked by two of his sons, are shown in a police station elevator today as they went to the side of another son, whom police say fatally shot his junior high school English teacher in the classroom this morning.

RALPH ABLANEDO

DAVID LEE POWELL

Officer slain, man held

AUSTIN (AP) — An Austin policeman was shot to death early today after stopping a car on a routine traffic violation. Police later arrested and charged a man following an all-night search and an earlier gunfight in which a heavily armed man tossed a grenade at officers.

Municipal Judge Mark Schreiber accepted charges of capital murder against David Lee Powell, 27, in the slaying of Patrolman Ralph Allen Ablanedo, 26. He was held without bond.

Police said Powell offered no resistance when he was found in a wooded area behind a South Austin high school. Police used dogs and a helicopter from the Department of Public Safety to aid in the search.

Police said Ablanedo stopped a car containing a man and a woman companion on a traffic violation. When Ablanedo walked up to the car, police said, he was shot twice in the chest and once in the arm.

Police said Powell was not armed when taken into custody and they would not comment on whether any weapons were found at the scene.

Ablanedo was shot at 12:50 a.m. and Powell was arrested at 6:32 a.m., police said.

Ablanedo called for a warrant check after stopping the vehicle and found that Powell was wanted on a warrant charge misdemeanor theft.

He called for a backup unit and when other officers arrived, they found the dying Ablanedo and exchanged gunfire with the suspect.

Troops hope to rescue Yanks

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Six Belgian military planes took off for Zaire today, vanguard of a joint Western airborne mission to rescue more than 2,500 Europeans and 14 Americans trapped behind rebel lines in Shaba Province, Belgian airport sources said.

The two Boeing 727s and four Hercules C-130 transports carried ammunition, food, drugs and other equipment, as well as supply personnel, to support at least one battalion of crack Belgian paratroopers expected to follow, the sources said.

Belgium's premier, Leo Tindemans, told his nation time was running short for the evacuation of the civilians, most of them Belgians, stranded in the area of the copper mining town of Kolwezi.

"Fighting is taking place in the streets of Kolwezi, and whites are the main targets," he told reporters in Brussels.

Diplomatic sources in London said the preparations were begun with the approval of President Carter and the leaders of France and Britain, as well as Belgium.

The United States will not supply troops or planes for the mission but may provide lesser logistical support of some kind, said a State Department official who asked not to be identified.

There had been reports earlier that U.S. planes might transport Belgian or other paratroopers to the Central African nation.

You're right, it's hot in Big Spring

Big Spring was treated to another steam bath Wednesday as temperatures soared to 102 degrees, setting a mark for a record high temperature. The old high water mark was at 100 degrees in 1927.

Temperatures have remained over the century mark since Monday, when the record of 103 was tied. Tuesday saw the mark of 101 set in 1976 almost equalled with a 100 degree reading.

Weather experts forecast a cooling trend, with high temperatures supposed to remain in the low 90s or upper 80s, but most people here are taking the attitude that they'll believe it when they feel it, or rather, don't feel it.

Davis faces high stakes divorce case

Texas Tycoon having problems

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — T. Cullen Davis — the Texas millionaire tycoon acquitted last fall in this state's longest, costliest and perhaps most arduous murder trial — faces later this summer what may be the state's most complex, high stakes divorce case.

Davis has spent considerably more money on lawyers in the past 18 months than most Americans could hope to earn in a lifetime — more than $3 million.

He may spend millions more defending himself against yet another murder charge and two charges of attempted murder that are still pending. This in addition to a heavyweight divorce suit in which his estranged wife, Priscilla, 36, seeks a substantial chunk of his financial empire. She is the current occupant of the couple's opulent $6 million hilltop mansion while Davis shares the middle-class suburban home of longtime girlfriend, Karen Master, 29.

"We live our lives just one day at a time," Mrs. Master said. "Cullen goes about his business just like anybody else. What else can you do? We rarely talk about it."

"It" refers to a horror-house of problems that have dogged Davis since he moved out of the mansion a few years ago. A bitter divorce suit followed. Last autumn he was acquitted of shooting to death Mrs. Davis' 12-year-old daughter, Andrea Wilborn. The child was found shot to death in the mansion basement Aug. 2, 1976.

Mrs. Davis and her live-in lover, a 6-foot-7 giant named Stan Farr, arrived home around midnight to find bloody handprints, the girl's body and "a man dressed all in black" lurking behind a door. Mrs. Davis was seriously wounded; Farr, 31, was shot to death, and a family friend, Gus Gavrel, 23, was paralyzed by a gunshot.

With a gaping bullet hole in her chest, Mrs. Davis said she raced across the moonlight-bathed estate to a neighbor's house where she sought help and accused Davis of being the man in black wearing a woman's wig who shot her.

A few hours later, Davis was arrested at the home of Mrs. Master, the blonde divorcee with whom he had been living. She later served as a key defense witness, providing Davis with the alibi that he was asleep in her bed when the killings occurred across town.

In a lurid, front-page murder trial conducted in Amartillo last year, famed Houston criminal lawyer Richard "Racehorse" Haynes led Davis' high-powered panel of lawyers who successfully showed the jury there was a reasonable doubt that Davis was the killer. Haynes paraded before the jury a battery of witnesses who suggested the shootings were the outgrowth of a drug traffickers' dispute. Other witnesses described the Davis mansion as a palace of exotic drugs and sex parties peopled by members of a shadowy night culture.

Davis has not yet been tried on charges of murdering Farr, and wounding Mrs. Davis and Gavrel. His many-times-delayed-divorce suit is scheduled for trial Aug. 14.

Tarrant County Assistant District

Attorney Joe Shannon said no decision has been reached on when or if to prosecute Davis on the other charges.

"Certainly, cost is a consideration," he said. "It's a factor but it's peripheral. We wouldn't want to do it if you couldn't win."

He said prosecutors are anxious to sit in on the divorce case to learn of any new evidence that could be helpful in the criminal cases. "We're still getting dribbles of information," he said.

Davis is presently free under $500,000 bond. He was jailed without bond from the time of a pre-trial hearing shortly after his arrest until end of the trial.

"We talk about the future," said Mrs. Master, whose two small children share the home with she and Davis. "No, Cullen doesn't sit around biting his nails. He brings his work home, spreads it out here on the table, and opens his mail."

Davis, 44, is co-czar of KenDavis Industries, a conglomerate umbrella of diverse companies whose business takes him around the globe in a private jet. Mrs. Master, an eye-catching blonde with a penchant for chic clothes and Cadillacs, makes no effort to hide the iceberg-diamond ring she wears. "We wanted to buy some furniture but it just costs so much these days. And Cullen has the divorce coming up. We decided to wait," she said.

Davis is slightly built with black hair and finely chisled features — like a Chinese warlord his inscrutable countenance and thin smile reveal nothing of emotion.

Davis and Mrs. Master recently attended the Colonial National Invitational Golf tournament at Colonial Country Club here.

Sculpted young women circled Davis like a ring of flowers, and he said "hello" to them and others quietly as he mingled with Fort Worth's well-to-do.

"It wouldn't be a Colonial (golf tourney), without old Cullen here," proposed one cocktailer.

faces murder and attempted murder charges. Amid this, his wife, Priscilla, center, has filed divorce proceedings against him. At right is Davis' girlfriend, Karen Master.

Offbeat: A game to remember

WALLINGFORD, Conn. (AP) — The board measured 100 feet by 100 feet; the dice were two-foot-square and the playing pieces were a real wheelbarrow, a painted, upside-down garbage can and an oversized shoe.

It was giant-sized Monopoly, and when Larry Hart of Choate's class of 1932 landed on Boardwalk without enough cash to pay the rent, Choate-Rosemary Hall students Bill Joes and Peter Catapano claimed the championship.

The two-day event, which ended Sunday, drew 400 spectators each day and raised $15,000 for scholarships at the private prep school, an alumni association official said.

Joe Cabrera, who organized the tournament and nine other students built the board, believed to be the largest indoor Monopoly board in the world.

Alumni sponsored the different sections of the board. Hart, of Pebble Beach, Calif., paid $5,000 to sponsor Boardwalk, Cabrera said.

Torres appeal vowed

Houston (AP) — The U.S. Justice Department says it will appeal a federal judge's refusal to reconsider sentences he assessed three former Houston police officers convicted of violating the civil rights of Joe Campos Torres.

The U.S. attorney's office here confirmed Wednesday it had received authorization from the Solicitor General to appeal U.S. District Judge Ross N. Sterling's denial of a government motion.

The U.S. attorney's office claimed in its April 5 motion that suspension of a 10-year prison sentence, probated for five years, was illegal under federal law and therefore should be corrected.

Sterling denied the motion April 17 and called it "entirely unprecedented."

In the motion, Mary Sinderson, chief of the U.S. attorney's civil rights division, argued that the sentence was illegal because the law excludes probation and suspension for an offense carrying a possible life term.

Defense attorneys for Terry Wayne Denson, Stephen Orlando and Joseph Janish argued that probation was within the scope of the court's discretion because a term of years was also possible and no life sentence was assessed.

Bob Bennett, Denson's lawyer, argued that only an offense carrying mandatory life or death sentences excludes suspension or probation.

Corpus church rampage

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — Authorities were baffled today as to why a man apparently went on a rampage and tore through Corpus Christi Cathedral, smashing statues and desecrating the sanctuary.

Damages were estimated at $50,000 to the cathedral, which had undergone extensive renovations two months ago.

The man was swinging from a crucifix suspended in the 30-foot-high marble altar when police arrived.

Police said he refused to give them his name and carried no identification.

Shattered candle glass, fragments of Carrera marble statues, scattered vestments and torn pages from religious books were strewn around the sanctuary, the most sacred part of the church where the altar is located.

Police said figurines around the pulpit were smashed on the floor. An American flag had been taken down and hurled towards the rear of the cathedral.

Two large statues, sculpted in Italy and valued at about $9,000 each, were pushed from atop side altars and were smashed.

Three brass tabernacles, including one covered with relief work of angels, were forced open.

The Rev. Richard Shirley, pastor of the cathedral, said the man had approached him Sunday to complain of being denied the sacrament of Holy Communion.

Deaths

H.M. Haygood

Homer M. Haygood, 86, died at 2:45 a.m. today in a local hospital after a long illness.

Services will be at 3:30 p.m. Saturday in Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel with burial at the Colorado City Cemetery.

Born June 9, 1891 at Walker City, Mr. Haygood served in the army in WWI. He married Cauty Berry May 6, 1923, at Seagraves. He later lived at Lamesa, and they came to Big Spring in 1951, having lived in Colorado City and Loraine prior to that date.

Mr. Haygood sold Watkins products in Mitchell County for 16 years. He retired from Civil Service after working nine years at Webb Air Force Base and five years at the Veterans Administration Hospital. He was active in all veteran organizations and was a member of the I.O.O.F. Lodge.

Peter, Paul and Mary map 17-city tour
NEW YORK (AP) — The rich harmonies and message-filled lyrics of Peter, Paul and Mary will be heard in concert this summer for the first time since 1971.

The trio, perhaps the most popular folk music group of the 1960s, announced at a news conference Wednesday that it will reunite for a 17-city tour and also produce two record albums.

Lamesa resident shot in shoulder at Stanton home
STANTON — A shooting in Stanton at the home of West Morgan on South St. Peter's Street Tuesday night resulted in a Lamesa man being hospitalized with a wound in his right shoulder.

David Wayne Henderson, 43, a Lamesa farmer, was shot while standing on the front porch of the Morgan home. Apparently, he had been ordered off the porch as a result of a domestic quarrel, according to Sheriff Dan Saunders.

Billie Morgan, the estranged wife of the Stanton car dealer, was sitting in the Henderson pickup in front of the house and witnessed the shooting, according to the sheriff's office.

No official charges have been filed but details of the shooting have been referred to District Attorney Rick Hamby and will be taken to the next session of the Martin County grand jury.

The shot fired was from a .38 caliber pistol, according to Sheriff Saunders. Morgan, 47, operates a car dealership in Stanton. The shooting occurred at 8:05 p.m.

Outstanding older Texans

Three honored here

By MARJ CARPENTER
Three Big Spring citizens were honored as outstanding older Texans when the monthly luncheon and annual awards event at the First Presbyterian Church at noon Wednesday.

The three men honored were Wiley Oliver Cline, Beneficio Salazar and Elder T.O. McGee.

Wiley Oliver Cline, 89, came to Big Spring with his parents at the age of 15. Upon arrival, he found no roads and no watering tanks — just cow trails.

He has farmed around Big Spring for 74 years. He still does volunteer work at the State Hospital, visits the nursing homes and uses his influence to help improve the Senior Citizen Center.

He is a member of Trinity Baptist Church. At the senior citizen center at the Presbyterian Church, he helps with news for the new letters, setting up tables and other duties.

Beneficio Salazar, 71, was born in El Paso and moved to Toyah as a small boy serving as a water boy for Texas and Pacific Railroad.

In 1935, he moved to Big Spring and worked at the Texas and Pacific Round House. He excelled in his work and was promoted to a machinist inspector, inspecting all trains which came into Big Spring. He also helped to build some of the streets, including Main Street and 1st and 2nd streets, some of the oldest in the city.

He worked 11 years as janitor at Big Spring High School, four years as janitor of the Church of the Nazarene, and at present is the janitor of the 5th Street Mexican Baptist Church, working two or three days a week.

He is the father of 11 children, all living in Big Spring, except one who presently resides in Germany.

Elder T.O. McGee came to Big Spring in April 1935 as the pastor of the Church of God in Christ. The Church was located on NW 2nd and Dundee. The area was dense with trees and bushes. McGee grubbed the brush and made a path to the church and school. The city then sent graders to help him out and grade over that area.

He also built the Methodist Church on the north side of town and did building for other people. He later purchased the land where the present Church of God in Christ is now located and has continued as pastor of the church. He has been a great help in shaping the community on the north side.

The presentations were made by Mrs. Ventura Williams, assisted by Mrs. Janet Rogers.

Police beat Theft seen by others

Two men were seen stealing hubcaps in the parking lot of Malone-Hogan Hospital, 9:35 a.m. Wednesday.

Witnesses watched as two men stole a hubcap from a car belonging to Janice Holley, 1009 Scurry, and two hubcaps from a car belonging to Rosa Lopez, 508 N.W. 6th. The single hubcap was valued at $20, while the lost pair was valued at $100.

Burglars hit the home of Ernest Herrera, 1208 Mesquite, sometime Wednesday afternoon. Stolen were a color television set and a .357 magnum revolver. Loss was estimated at $539.

Police suspect that two women broke a window and door, and tore several screens at the home of Lydia Juarez, 406 N.W. 6th, around 1:30 a.m. Wednesday. Damage was estimated at $30.

Vandals also slashed a tire on a car belonging to Terry Casey, Gail Route, while the auto was parked in the lot of the Long John Silver Restaurant. The tire was valued at $35.

Five mishaps were reported Wednesday. Vehicles driven by Brenda L. Parnell, 807 Lorilla, and Thomas T. Kohl, 615 Colgate, collided at W. 15th and S. Gregg, 11:08 p.m.

Vehicles driven by Dorothy Kerby, Route 1, and Roy Echols, Coahoma, collided at IS 20 and Highway 87, 3:12 p.m.

Vehicles driven by Norman W. Staker, Lamesa, and Urena Loya, 711 N. Aylford, collided at 400 N. Gregg, 8:24 a.m.

Vehicles driven by Virginia T. McMillian, Box 1869, and James R. Watson, 2401 Marcy, collided on the 2600 block of Gregg, 10:30 a.m.

Vehicles driven by Shelton, E. Castle, 3307 Drexel, and Emma E. Rios, Uvalde, collided on the 500 block of W. 3rd, 12:22 a.m.

Three fail to post bail

Ruben Torres, Richard Medley, and Leonard Arnold are in custody in the Howard County jail on a variety of charges.

Torres, 31, Midland, is under a total of $7,500 bond on charges of burglary of a habitation. The charges were filed Wednesday in Justice of the Peace Bob West's office, in connection with the May 10 burglary of a habitation belonging to Lola Gomez.

Richard Medley, 35, Midland, and Leonard Arnold, 47, 2505 W. 80, are in custody under $15,000 bond each on charges of aggravated robbery. The charges were filed Wednesday in West's office in connection with the Tuesday robbery and beating of Willie Wooten.

They were on a month's vacation to North Carolina and Virginia when the accident occurred.

Criminal mischief
Vic L. Zachary, 30, Southland Apts., has posted bond after being arrested at 10:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Southland Apartments on a felony criminal mischief warrant. Detective Tony Lujan collared Zachary on suspicion of breaking eight windows in the Southland Apartments around 2 p.m. May 6, resulting in $450 damage.

The suspect is now under custody in the Howard County Jail. Bond was set at $5,000 by Justice of the Peace Bob West, who also accepted charges filed Wednesday.

Scurry won't have recount
SNYDER — Buck Woolever, runnerup in the May 6 primary election for County Commissioner in Precinct 2, has decided to drop his request for a recount, according to Hilton Lambert, County Democratic Party chairman.

Incumbent Earl "Hassie" Sneed received 252 votes, while Woolever received 169 and Ernest Shifflett received 168.

Texas 'blue laws' --- Helping promote confusion

EDITOR'S NOTE — In the minds of many, the Sunday, or Saturday, closing laws ranks in the Top Ten of Texas "yuks," the No. 1 yuk being the 55 mile per hour speed limit. The so-called "blue laws" are often cussed and discussed but rarely understood. This article sheds absolutely no new light on the controversy.

By MIKE COCHRAN
Associated Press Writer

DALLAS (AP) — Before surrendering his bachelorhood recently, a Dallas Rogue named Randy awoke one Sunday morning with a fierce urge for pancakes.

Not just any old pancakes. Randy wanted homemade pancakes. Shuffling off the local market, he secured the pancake mix, a bowl and a spatula, then moved hungrily on to the checkout counter.

"Sorry," said the clerk, pointing to the bowl and spatula. "I can't sell you these."

"Why not?" demanded Randy.

"It's against the law."

"What law?"

"The blue law."

"What's that?"

"I'm not sure."

After obtaining a somewhat vague interpretation of the Texas Sunday closing statutes, or blue laws, Randy convinced the clerk he was an emergency humanitarian purchase.

"I told her the bowl was for my dog and that I intended to use the spatula to mix the dog food," explained Randy.

"We couldn't let my dog go hungry, could we?"

An acquaintance, his curiosity aroused by Randy's yarn, related the tale to Bob Gieb in the civil section of the district attorney's office in Fort Worth. "I don't think," chuckled Gieb, "that was really valid under the law."

He said he thought the Sunday closing statutes once contained an emergency provision, but no longer. And he doubted Randy's dog would have qualified anyway.

The point is, however, that few seem to understand the controversial law. And fewer still approve of it.

A pretty blonde secretary in Gieb's office grumped: "It's ridiculous. It's stupid. And it should never have been enacted."

"Because if I can't get to the grocery store on Saturday, I have to go on Sunday, and they won't let me buy what I need. It's ridiculous—but I said that, didn't I?"

Indeed. But she's not alone.

No lesser authority than former Texas Supreme Court Justice Robert Calvert, sounding off in a minority opinion, wrote:

"The law is an arbitrary exercise of the police power and should be declared unconstitutional."

Texas Methodist, the weekly newspaper of the United Methodist Church in Texas, once characterized the law as a "legal Frankenstein, culturally incongruent and theologically unsound."

The Rev. Spurgeon Dunn III attacked the blue laws as "inadequate, if not intolerable, whether they are considered from a legal, a cultural or a theological perspective."

The target of all this abuse is a legislative act of 1961 that prohibited the sale of certain goods on a consecutive Saturday and Sunday.

"If the people don't want it," sighed Gieb, "they can get off their behinds and tell the legislature they don't want it."

A Fort Worth housewife who once dismissed the closing law as "stupid" since has reconsidered, explaining:

"I realized that without such laws, some people would not get a day off, and people need a day off. Without that law, the pace of living would increase."

"Sunday would be like any other day — part of the rat race."

Gieb acknowledged that while the blue laws stemmed from religious concerns, they have been upheld in the courts largely on the basis of providing employees time off.

"I think they're afraid that if we didn't have such laws everyone would open up seven days a week for everything," he said.

Although many merchants favor the closing statutes, most are reluctant to involve their stores in the issue. "Why not let a sleeping dog lie?" suggested one.

"Besides, it's not a Sunday closing law. It's a Saturday-Sunday closing law... I don't want to stay open seven days a week. We were all for it because we think it's a fair way to operate."

"It's not a matter of religion with us, and it never was. It is just not economically sound to stay open seven days a week."

As spelled out in the 1961 Texas law, "any person, on both the two (2) consecutive days of Saturday and Sunday, who sells or offers for sale or shall compel, force or oblige his employees to sell (certain items) shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Those items: clothing; wearing apparel; footwear; kitchenware; home, business, office or outdoor furniture; kitchen utensils; china; home appliances; stoves; refrigerators; air conditioners, electric fans; radios; television sets; washing machines; dryers; cameras; hardware; tools, excluding non-power driven hand tools.

Also, jewelry; precious or semi-precious stones; silverware; watches; clocks; luggage; motor vehicles; musical instruments; recordings; toys, excluding items customarily sold as novelties and souvenirs; mattresses; bed coverings; household linens; floor coverings; lamps; draperies; blinds; curtains; mirrors; lawn mowers or cloth piece goods.

You can, however, purchase any or all of those items for funeral, burial or charitable purposes, none of which readily applies to Randy's dog.

First offenders face fines up to $100. Should one persist in such skulduggery, he flirts with fines up to $500 and jail for six months.

The article notes that "the purpose of this act (is) to promote the health, recreation and welfare of the people of this state..."

Offenders will be prosecuted as "public nuisances," it disclosed.

Krueger tickles Grover backers

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Democratic nominee Bob Krueger grinned today and said he just might encourage his supporters to sign Henry Grover's petitions to run for U. S. senator as an independent.

The New Braunfels congressman was asked at a news conference if he was encouraging his friends to sign Grover's petitions.

"I haven't," he said, "but that doesn't mean I might not."

Grover could be expected to woo a certain number of conservative votes from U. S. Sen. John Tower, who angered some Republicans by supporting Gerald Ford over Ronald Reagan for the Arguing against the law before the state's high tribunal, Corpus Christi lawyer William H. Block said:

"The question is whether the operation of a legitimate merchandising business is a public nuisance to be grouped with other acts declared by the Legislature as nuisances such as selling intoxicating beverages to a minor or operating a house of prostitution.

"I submit that if a legitimate merchandising business is not a nuisance on six days of the week, it is not on any magic seventh day."

The Texas Supreme Court nonetheless declared the law constitutional in 1969.

And Justice Calvert, in his dissenting opinion, said he was unable "to conjure up a reasonable relationship in my own mind" between the sale or nonsale of particular items on consecutive days and the public health, morals, recreation or welfare.

It was then that he attacked the law as an "arbitrary exercise of the police power."

But it certainly could be worse.

The original blue laws, adopted by the Puritan colonists of New Haven, Conn., in 1650, included the following rules:

— "No one shall cross a river on Sunday but an authorized clergyman.

— "No one shall run on the Sabbath day or walk in his garden, except reverently to and from meeting.

— "No woman shall kiss her child on the Sabbath of fasting day.

— "No one shall travel, cook victuals, make beds, sweep houses, cut hair or shave on the Sabbath day.

— "No one shall read common prayer, keep Christmas or saint days, make minced pies, dance, play cards, or play on any instrument of music, except the drum, trumpet and Jew's harp."

There was no mention of pancakes or Randy's dog.

Shot by CIA
Flynt claims

CINCINNATI (AP) — Hustler magazine publisher Larry Flynt says he was shot by the Central Intelligence Agency during his trial in Georgia on pornography charges.

Flynt, who has refused to be questioned by Georgia authorities since the shooting that left him paralyzed below the waist, said Tuesday night in a television interview from his hospital in Columbus, Ohio:

"I knew who did it even before I was shot. The CIA did it, the same people who assassinated President Kennedy, his brother Bobby, Martin Luther King Jr., Malcolm X...."

Flynt whose publications have been investigating the assassination of President John F. Kennedy said the shooting hadn't changed his life "because I knew it was going to happen sooner or later. I just thank God my life was spared."

Flynt added that he plans to make a complete recovery. "I mean to walk out of here," he said.

Voter not easy to understand

It's not always easy to understand the voter. Years ago Texans elevated a man to the highest position in the state who offered pie in the sky he couldn't possibly deliver and who claimed to write folksy music but who, in fact, pirated works of some of his subalterns and had the songs copyrighted under his own name.

This particular individual became so adroit at gulling the yeomanry he later was elevated to national office, where his performance never improved and might have gotten worse.

The electorate has always said it wanted less government and no new taxes. Dolph Briscoe gave Texas less government than anyone in recent memory. He was rarely seen in Austin, although he did make a few entrances onto center stage for dramatic impact.

HE THOUGHT he had John Hill nailed by classifying him as a man who advocated an income tax (Hill didn't, but he found it difficult to refute such charges). Briscoe's camp had campaign buttons printed which read "Briscoe for Texas, Hill for Texas."

Neutral observers said Briscoe was fighting a most effective campaign by tagging his opponent as a man who would promote higher taxes just to placate a lot of the professions which would benefit from the revenue it generated. The Briscoe camp got so revved up during the campaign its people were predicting victory without a runoff. What happened? Hill won without a runoff, something he hadn't dared to predict or even hope for.

So Texans proved once again May 6 that they're a bunch of mavericks when it comes to balloting. They did the unexpected.

Briscoe thus becomes the fifth incumbent governor Texans have shown the door in this century.

THE ATTORNEY general attributed his victory to the voters' rejection of the governor's bid for ten years in office. He could be right. Voters like change, even though they may not fall for the sales pitch a challenger might be making. Quite probably, they have a dislike for politics and politicians in general and don't like for any candidate to get too complacent about their support.

Hill, assuming he can take Bill Clements over the hurdles in November, will, no doubt, stay more visible than his predecessor. If he hasn't over-committed himself to some groups which supported him, he could become one of the more effective governors we've had in recent years.

Time will tell.

The bad news

Around the rim

Bob Burton

We're just past tax time, and in a while each of us breadwinners will be starting to make something for ourselves rather than Uncle Sam. That's why I was so depressed to browse through the May issue of Esquire. Titled "The Squeezing of Americans", it deals with the bogymen they don't teach you about in school: taxes, inflation, budgeting. One item hit me particularly hard. Some of you working men older than I might wish they had it all to do over again at today's wages. Well, get this...

ACCORDING TO a Citibank economist, if I and my wife decide to have three kids over the next nine years, putting her out of circulation; and if I further set myself to increase my hypothetical salary to $42,000 by 1987 from its paltry hypothetical $17,700 now...

If we succeed, and acquire a house into the bargain, the three kids, and I make $42,600.

It sounds like I've got it made. But read on...

"Now for the bad news. In that time period, if Carter's proposed tax package goes through, you will be in a bracket where your income taxes will have risen 247 per cent. And your Social Security taxes will have leaped 187 per cent. So your after tax income will have grown by only 9.3 per cent. Now here's where it really hurts — you still have to factor inflation. If that beast continues to grow at 7 per cent, the value of your after tax income — that is, what it really buys — will have risen by a paltry two per cent a year. If inflation is higher, the real gain will have been very small, or even non-existent. You have watched your annual income jump by $24,900, but like Sisyphus, you haven't made any progress."

So speaks the doomsday article. There follows a series of financial bandaids trying to advise me how to perform open-heart surgery on my budget. They include buying a house, borrowing money at five per cent (if it becomes worthless at seven per cent how can I lose?), and trimming the expenses.

But you and I already know all about that.

The article details the Jarvis

Amendment, a California revolution which appears to be the oasis we've been looking for. Howard Jarvis, a 75-year-old battleaxe, has gotten an amendment up for the next state election which has the government boys running scared. The amendment would cut property taxes in California by 57 per cent, or to one per cent of the 1975 assessed value of the property. It would also require tax increases to be approved by two-thirds of the populace.

WHAT HAPPENED when Jarvis gathered his 1,264,000 signatures to get the amendment on the ballot? Just about every organized constituency in the state screams that he's a danger to the republic.

But the keynote of the article is again depressing. State election experts predict the bill's defeat because enough persons are directly or indirectly dependent on the state for their income that they will be able to block the vote.

Think about that. The state government in California has more people who depend on it for the green stuff than who can vote against its excesses. That is my definition of a juggernaut out of control.

The third Esquire article is only half tongue-in-cheek. Titled "Getting By On $100,000 a Year" the article traces the plight of an investment banker ($105,000), a big-city commuter ($90,000), a real estate developer ($125,000), and a movie executive ($72,000).

THEY ALL GET by, and they get by very well. But when they total up their expenses for a year, to live in the manner they choose puts them all (read that ALL) in debt by as much as $11,000.

Sure, we don't feel so sorry for them. But consider. If you had $100,000 per year, wouldn't you feel you deserved something extra for your success? That's supposed to be what it's all about.

According to the author of the article, Andrew Tobias, "The real bottom line is... You can live well if you're rich and you can live well if you're poor. But if you're poor, it's much cheaper."

Otherwise, why bother?

Percival the Playboy

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — If inflation keeps rising the way it is now, this is the kind of story we can expect to read on our society pages by 1981:

"Percival Flagstone, scion of the Flagstone chewing gum fortune and noted playboy, checked into Peppermint Hospital yesterday for a gall bladder operation. In keeping with his reputation for free-spending Percival demanded a private room. He told reporters laughingly, 'I'm going to stay for two weeks and I may blow half my trust fund, but what the hell, I might as well go first class. When asked what his operation would cost, Percival just chuckled and said, 'If you have to ask what an operation will cost, you can't afford one.'

"The young millionaire has been noted for spending money like water. Last month he took a movie actress to dinner and they both had T-bone steaks. When the papers got wind of it, Percival was indignant and said, 'It's my money and I can do anything I want with it. Just because most people can't afford T-bone steaks is no reason why I can't eat one if I feel like it.'

"PERCIVAL WAS left a fortune of $20 million which his bankers estimate is now down to five. One of the trustees told this reporter, 'The man has no idea that if he keeps spending at the present rate he won't have anything left in two years. He had strawberries for dessert three nights in a row, and he bought two pairs of shoes this year. No matter how much a person has, he can't keep up that pace and not use up all his principal.'

"But Percival has no intention of slowing down. He told this reporter, 'There are no strings attached to my inheritance and I'm even thinking of buying a new tuxedo this year. My theory about money is that if you've got it, flaunt it.'

"I was terribly criticized when I bought a new azalea bush for my house last year," Percival told this reporter, 'but I happen to like azaleas, and although there are only about 100 people in this country who can still afford them we are giving work to greenhouses and florists, and it angers me when the papers make such a big deal of it.'

"PERCIVAL JUST bought a two-bedroom split-level brick house on a quarter-acre of land in Washington, D.C., that is estimated to have cost him $5 million. The estate, which once was owned by a conductor on the Penn Central Railroad, has two bathrooms, one on the top floor and one in the basement. It also has a dining room. 'They say I went wild when I bought it. But I consider it a very good investment. In two years the house will be worth $7 million, and then I wonder how many people will say I threw away my money.'

"Is it true you're buying a four-door Toyota?" I asked him.

"I haven't made up my mind yet, but someone has offered me one at a very good price and I might get it. Ever since I was a kid I've wanted a car, and I may sell the AT&T bonds my grandmother left me if I can break the trust. No one said anything when the Rockefellers bought a VW last summer for $2 million, yet when they hear I put in a bid for a Toyota it's a front-page story."

"Perhaps," I said, "it's because you do everything with a flair. Is it true that after your operation you are thinking of going to London on Laker Airways?"

"YES, I am. But it's not just for pleasure. I hope to visit our plant in Manchester while I'm there. Everyone thinks I fly Laker just for pleasure, but many times I use it for business."

"Percival is known for the lavish gifts he gives the women he is seen with around town."

Women more subject to Graves' disease

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My family doctor told me I have hypothyroidism and Graves' disease. I had a series of tests and X-rays. He did not go into much detail in explaining this and I am a little confused. He did say it was something that could be controlled with medication. I am taking 50 milligrams of propylthiouracil three times a day. I had some hair loss on four pills a day. Will I always have to take this? — Mrs. C. W. S.

I am sure you meant to say you have "hyperthyroidism," which is overactivity of the thyroid gland. In Graves' disease, the gland overproduces hormones that control body function. Hyperthyroidism is the opposite of hypothyroidism. Symptoms include nervousness, fast pulse, weight loss, and tremor. There may be bulging of eyeballs and a noticeable enlargement of the gland (which is in the front of the neck). These latter symptoms may not be present, however.

In any event, it is relatively easy to detect and, as your doctor told you, you can be controlled with medicine. The drug you mention suppresses the gland's hormone production, but if a patient is sensitive to it reactions can occur, such as hair loss. Dosages are then adjusted.

At this point no one can say how long you will have to take the medicine. It is not always necessary to take it for life. In fact, it is important to return for frequent examinations to determine its effectiveness so that it can be discontinued at the appropriate time. Graves' disease is more common in women than men (6-to-1).

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Five months ago I dislocated my right kneecap. This has happened to both knees before, but not in many years. This is not due to an injury but to shallow sockets and slightly bowed legs. I was told to exercise both legs with sandbags to strengthen the muscles. I have done this and have no further trouble with the dislocation. But I do have a question: when bending the knees there is a grainy or sandy grinding as if something is rubbing or grinding. It doesn't hurt, but gives me an uneasy feeling. Can you tell what this is and if it is dangerous? — B. L. A.

The patella (kneecap) is a moveable triangular bone that fits over the ends of the two large leg bones. The sound you hear is actually a rubbing of the kneecap either against adjacent bones or tendons. I suspect you have inefficient bursas in this general area. Bursas are tiny fluid-filled sacs which serve as cushions between such "moving parts."

The condition isn't dangerous, but it is an eerie sound. So long as you have no pain on movement you can continue to do your exercise. It might well strengthen the joints, which may have been congenitally weak or been weakened by your previous injuries. Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been having a cracking and scraping of the neck bone at the base of the skull when I turn my head left or right or backward and forward. This has not worsened and it is entirely without pain. Is this condition common at my age? I am 68. Would corrective diet, medicine, or a visit to a chiropractor help eliminate the problem? — A. R. B.

You probably have mild osteoarthritic changes in the neck vertebrae. This is common at your age. None of the measures you suggest — diet, medicine or chiropractic — will help. In fact, forced manipulation of the neck can be harmful. You may mention it to your doctor the next time you see him, but I doubt anything need be done.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have heard the poinsettia plant is poisonous. True? — G. G.

True, more so for some folks than others, as with most irritants. The juice of the leaves, stem, and flowers are toxic. Touching the eyes after handling the plant may cause great irritation. Internally, it can produce diarrhea and cramping.

Your thyroid plays a critical health role for you — in everything from eyesight to fertility.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband (who is 40) has been in good health always, but has begun complaining about shoulder pain after he does any manual labor. Is this calcium deposits? What can be done for this? Mrs. G. A.

Shoulder pain after exertion is very common after age 35. It is usually a result of strain which responds to rest and heat therapy. In some, the irritation on tendons and muscles can lead to calcium buildup, which can be seen by X-ray. If that happens, cortisone may help, or, in severe and chronic cases, surgical removal of the deposits. However, because pain on exertion can represent more than mere mechanical problems, it is best to have it diagnosed. Shoulder pain

Is angina pectoris dangerous? Is there a cure? If you would like to learn more about this heart condition, write to Dr. Thosteson, in care of The Big Spring Herald, for a copy of his booklet, "How to Handle Angina Pectoris." Enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents.

Dr. Thosteson explains this important, and misunderstood, gland in his book, "Your Thyroid: How It Works for You." To get a copy, enclose 50 cents and a long, stamped and self-addressed envelope to him in care of The Big Spring Herald.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: When I pray it always seems as though no one is listening. Can you please advise me what to do? — C. P.

DEAR C. P.: I wonder if you have ever analyzed exactly why you feel this way. Is it because you think you should have some special feeling when you pray, the feeling that God is present? Is it because you think you never have your prayers answered? Whatever the reason, you should examine it in the light of the Bible to see where you are wrong.

Let me suggest several things about prayer. The Bible tells us first of all that God has promised only to hear the prayers of those who are His children. From your letter I wonder if you have ever really given your heart to Christ by faith. When we come to Christ, we have a personal relationship with God Himself, and because of that we can pray with confidence. If you have never clearly yielded your life to Christ, I urge you to do that right now.

Also, true prayer demands a certain level of faith on our part. The Bible says, "And without faith it is impossible to please God, because anyone who comes to him must believe that he exists and that he rewards those who earnestly seek him" (Hebrews 11:6, New International Version). You may feel like the father who brought his son to Jesus: "Lord, I believe; help though mine unbelief" (Mark 9:24). But God will still hear you; He has promised to hear you.

You also should examine carefully the things for which you have been praying. Many people think prayer is a gimmick whereby we ask God for anything that we selfishly want. But that is not so. We are told above all to seek the will of God. Ask yourself if your prayers have been concerned for God's glory or just for yourself. Then seek always to have the Lord's will be done as you pray. That will mean, incidentally, that God will sometimes answer our prayers in the negative, because we have not prayed in accordance with His will. "And this is the confidence that we have in him, if we ask any thing according to his will, he will hear us" (1 John 5:14).

Qaddafi surprises

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — Terrorist activity around the world has been traced to Libya, whose austere leader Muammar Qaddafi looks upon himself as a world revolutionary. He is an international Don Quixote, with his own peculiar Muslim-Marxist philosophy and a confused notion that he heads a new world order.

Qaddafi is widely regarded as one of the world's most dangerous and irresponsible leaders. Without much thought for the consequences, he has organized, trained, funded and armed an international network of terrorists. Most of them are anarchists who pay lip service to his strange ideology as long as he is handing out free weapons.

Yet despite his long history of senseless terrorist acts, the mercurial Qaddafi appears to be developing a cozy relationship with some American political, business and academic leaders.

THE COMMERCE DEPARTMENT, for example, is close to approving the sale of 400 heavy-duty trucks to Libya. Competent sources claim these could be used as tank transports.

The Federal Aviation Administration has agreed to train 18 Libyans as navigational aides at its Oklahoma City training academy. The 32-week schooling will begin June 1. An additional 10 Libyans will take a 24-week course in technical aviation skills at the FAA academy.

The State Department has also approved the sale of an executive jet liner, with a 7,000-mile range, to Qaddafi. But the department has had second thoughts about allowing Lockheed to deliver eight C-130 transport planes that Qaddafi has already paid for. The department has also blocked the export of spare parts for C-130s that have already reached Libya, called home an American maintenance team servicing the C-130s in Libya, and disapproved the sale of two giant 777 jets to Qaddafi.

Our sources say that Libya, meanwhile, has been able to procure U.S. arms through the back door. These include 110 Smith and Wesson night sights smuggled out of France for Libya's tank force, as well as several Boeing-Virtol Chinook helicopters sold to the Libyans by an Italian subsidiary.

To enhance his influence, Qaddafi has pledged to contribute $750,000 to Georgetown University's respected foreign service school, which graduates more U.S. foreign service officers than any other university. The giant would promote Arab studies, and the first $150,000 installment already has been paid.

This has provoked a stiff protest from Rabbi Stephen Listfield who wrote privately to Dean Peter Krogh at Georgetown: "I surely don't need to tell you that the government of Libya gives financial, physical and moral support to some of the world's most brutal terrorists. The government of Libya has harbored some of the world's most vicious hijackers." In a return letter, Krogh not only defended Qaddafi's grant but actually praised his regime. "I went to Libya," he wrote, "spent better than a week there and came away with the impression that the government there was providing humanely for its people and doing the best it could with limited traditions and knowledge of government."

"In the process, they have been trying to evolve a form of government not unlike the system of New England town meetings, which is where our country began when it had a population about the size of Libya."

DOLEFUL DOLE: A conscientious Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., seeking information about human rights violations in communist countries, established a committee of ethnic experts last year to give guidance on events behind the Iron Curtain.

ONE OF THE UNPAID advisors Dole appointed was an aging refugee name Jozef A. Mikus who now lives in this country. We have discovered that Mikus was formerly the chief of protocol for Adolf Hitler's Slovak stooge, Joseph Tiso.

These facts are undisputed: Mikus became a key diplomatic official for Tiso when the latter was installed as Hitler's Slovak puppet during the Holocaust days of the Nazi conquest. Mikus was posted as secretary of the Slovak embassy in Rome and as charge d'affaires in Madrid before being promoted to Tiso's chief of protocol from September 1944, to March 1945.

Reliable historians report that the Tisco cat's paw regime relentlessly persecuted Slovak Jews and other unfortunates. In 1942, an estimated 65,000 Jews were transported to Germany, most of them marked for the gas chambers.

There is no evidence that Mikus was directly involved in any of the genocides of his government. But to this day, he staunchly defends Tiso who has hanged as a war criminal when the communists took over Czechoslovakia.

"To say that Tiso was a Nazi collaborator is nonsense," Mikus expostulated during a two-hour interview at his Washington home with our associate Gary Cohn. He described the former Slovak dictator as "a great hero" who was unaware that the Jews being shipped to Germany were being exterminated. Upon discovering this, Tiso ordered a halt to the deportation, Mikus avowed.

Cohn asked the former college professor if he regretted serving the Hitler-imposed government in his homeland. "I don't regret it," he replied with a note of pride. "I worked for the better future of my country, and I don't have anything to regret."

Our sources informed us that Dole was totally unwitting of Mikus's background when naming him to the advisory ethnic council and that the Slovak exile attended the group's first meeting on March 30, 1977. Soon thereafter, Dole's office received a phone call warning of Mikus's troubled past, and he was never invited to further meetings of the panel.

'Mailbox Improvement Week' starts May 22

In the spring clean-up tradition, the U.S. Postal Service has announced that May 22-27 will be "Mailbox Improvement Week."

Big Spring Postal Superintendent John Gee pointed out that the old practice of using nailed-up coffee cans, cigar boxes, and other substandard mail containers is still noted by mail carriers.

Big Spring area residents are urged to repair, repaint, and make other improvements to their mailboxes, particularly those located along rural, city delivery curb-line and highway contract routes.

Boxes located beside doorways on city door-to-door routes are usually protected by a porch overhang. Those along other routes, however, are exposed to the elements, and must provide adequate protection to the mail, as well as easy access for the carrier. This helps speed up collection and delivery of the mail, besides adding to the general appearance of the community.

Across America, rural carriers travel approximately 2.2 million miles each day to serve 14.3 million families along 33,600 regular and auxiliary routes. Approximately 1,700 families in the Big Spring-Coahoma-Garden City area are served by two rural mail routes and five highway contract routes.

When rural mail service began in 1896, most mailboxes were of the makeshift sort — tin cans nailed to trees.

Postal history reflects that a Kansas resident, Ira F. Collins, was among the first customers to show an interest in improving the appearance and security of the mailbox.

On April 29, 1903, Collins filed a patent application for his invention of a new and improved mail box described as follows: "This invention relates to improvements in mail boxes particularly adapted for use on rural mail routes; and an object of the invention is to provide a mailbox of simple construction and inexpensive and so arranged as to protect the deposited mail-matter from rain and snow and which can be quickly opened and closed, resulting in a great saving of time in the collection and delivery of mail."

His metal, cylindrical receptacle had two basic parts: a mail-receiving unit shaped like a scoop, which slid in and out of a protective outer casing. A flag, attached to the outer unit, could be raised to indicate when mail was to be collected. By grasping a handle, a person could release the inner unit, containing the mail, from the outer casing. The latter offered protection of the mail from the weather. The mail box could be attached in a vertical position to a post or any suitable support.

Today, a variety of approved commercial mailbox designs are provided for use with decorative posts. Customers who prefer custom-made mailboxes may check with the Big Spring Post Office.

Hustler owner agrees to talk

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ga. (AP) — Hustler magazine owner Larry Flynt has agreed to allow Georgia investigators to interview him about the shooting that has left him paralyzed, a police official says.

Gwinnett County Police Chief John Crunkleton had said previously that Flynt's refusal to be questioned was hampering his investigation into the shooting, which occurred on March 6 during Flynt's trial on obscenity charges.

Revenues gain, so do losses

Siboney Corporation's revenues of $2,153,000 in the first quarter of 1978 represent a slight increase over revenues of $2,095,000 in the first quarter of 1977, while the loss before FIT benefit in the three months of 1978 was $578,000 compared to $532,000 in the same period last year.

The net loss for 1978 was $578,000 and does not include any FIT benefit since the loss carryback was fully utilized in 1977. The 1977 net loss of $282,000 was net of a $250,000 FIT benefit.

The first quarter of the year is generally unprofitable for Siboney Corporation because of the low volume of business done in the winter months by its subsidiary engaged in the asphalt emulsion business and because of reduced spending in that period for the products of its subsidiaries engaged in the sale of educational equipment and supplies.

The Gamco firm of Big Spring is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Siboney Corp.

Industrial prospects good

Boosts in tourism sought

Collection of $2,732 in delinquent Chamber memberships was one of several topics discussed at the Wednesday meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors.

The money represents 40 delinquent accounts, John Arrick, membership committee, said.

The $2,000 plus figure "affects cash flow" for the Chamber according to Bill Albright, director of the Chamber. It was agreed that members of the board would contact delinquent account holders in an attempt to erase the deficit.

Albright urged area residents to attend the June 7 meeting of the Texas Water Quality Control Board in Austin. Board members will discuss the Stacy Reservoir, which "is important to West Texas," Albright said.

The board noted the death of Wilfrid 'Cal' Calnan, and recognized his work for the chamber as chairman of the Health and Safety committee. A new chairman will be appointed at a later date.

The $47 million tourist industry in Big Spring was discussed. The board discussed ways to improve offerings for tourists. One suggestion was a "code-a-phone" which, when a certain number is dialed, will advise tourists about what Big Spring and the area has to offer on any certain day.

Hiring a manager for the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum was another topic of business. It was suggested that a manager be hired to attract conventions and handle details such as motels and food.

Jack Redding, industrial development committee chairman reported that several "excellent" industrial prospects are considering moving into the industrial park site.

Several suggestions made by the committee included conducting of a labor survey, and use of the information in a file containing data to be used in making proposals to inquiring industries. Redding also suggested that more people — area residents, chamber members, or industrial team

CHARLES PERRY

Perry named TES officer

Charles R. Perry of Odessa was elected to the board of directors of Texas Electric Service Co. today at the company's annual stockholders meeting in Fort Worth.

Perry, 48, is president and chairman of the board of Perry Gas Companies, Inc. of Odessa, as well as chairman of the company's five subsidiaries.

He also serves as a director of State National Bank and Home Savings and Loan Association, both of Odessa, and was recently elected to the board of the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

He is a registered professional engineer in Texas and is a member of the American Institute of Chemical Engineering, Texas Society of Professional Engineers and Natural Gas Men of the Permian Basin.

Perry fills the seat on TESCO's board vacated by the death of J.L. Rhoades in February.

members — become qualified to show Big Spring's assets to visiting industrial interests. One way of working toward that goal would be attendance of the upcoming seminar on industrial development to be held in Austin, which will be attended by several industrial teams and Chamber industrial committee members.

A Clean-up campaign will kick-off Saturday at the big spring lake site. The chamber voted to give $50 to $100 for hot dogs for workers

In other business, Daryl Hohertz showed the board a report compiled by architecture students at Texas Tech. The report "Big Spring Background Study for Planning and Urban Design" is an overview of the area, Hohertz said.

The report could be "a handy tool for us," Hohertz said. He said it was a comprehensive background study for future development.

Directors also approved increasing insurance coverage for Christmas decorations to $30,000. They also approved $600 budgeted for the purchase of tables and chairs for the Chamber office. Tables and chairs have had to be borrowed in the past.

Albright told Chamber directors that Ken Perry and Charles Beil had been named to the West Texas Chamber Board.

Chamber retreat was set for Aug. 25-26. Place will be announced later.

The next Chamber board meeting was set for June 20.

Paul Newman lands UN role

WASHINGTON (AP) — Paul Newman, whose movie roles have ranged from a cowboy to a hockey player, is getting a role at the United Nations.

Newman was one of five representatives President Carter designated Wednesday to attend the U.N. session on disarmament.

In a statement, the White House said the president would also nominate: U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young, former Ambassador Averill Harriman, Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., and Rep. Charles W. Whalen, R-Ohio.

Head Start program funded

Routine approval of the Big Spring Head Start program was handed down at the Permian Basin Regional Planning Council Wednesday at their monthly meeting at Terminal.

No opposition has ever been offered at the council to any Head Start program grants.

However, some of the grants considered Wednesday did receive close scrutiny and some opposition, although they were approved.

A number of questions and some opposition were given an area development assistance planning grant request and an Ector-Midland County Elderly Nutrition project before approval was given.

Head start grants from both Midland and Big Spring received routine approval as did a request from the Pecos County Water Control and Improvement District No. 1 of Fort Stockton and the Elliot Engineering Company of Balmorhea.

This was the biggest grant of the day and was a preapplication to the Farmers Home Administration for a water supply and distribution system. Total cost of the project will be $1,570,000 with federal government furnishing $1,500,000 through loan and grant and the applicant projecting $70,000. Estimated project starting date is Oct. 1.

The Big Spring Head Start program, a continuing program totals $220,678.

Student stabbed to death on school bus during night

MALLEN, Texas (AP)—Investigators in this Rio Grande Valley city say the Wednesday school bus stabbing death of a high school sophomore was apparently the result of a premeditated attack.

A 16-year-old youth who had recently been denied admission to the local schools was being held in the death of Wally Garza, also 16.

"It's all pointed towards that it was planned, maybe not to kill him, but to hurt him," McAllen Police juvenile officer Arnulfo Esqueda said.

The scuffle, involving as many as 15 youths, broke out on the back of a school bus that had been the scene of an argument the day before, according to school and police officials.

"A cousin of the suspect said Tuesday that he was going to come back with some friends," Esqueda said.

Eugene Garza, brother of the stabbed student, was involved in the Wednesday fight. He said he was unsure how the melee began.

"There was this fight and all of a sudden these guys jumped on us," he said, adding that he was pushed out the rear exit of the bus and saw his bloodied brother also fall from that door.

"The only problem was that they hated us," the elder Garza said of the assailants. He said he was hit on the back with a chain during the fight. Garza also said he saw the butcher knife that had pierced his brother's heart.

"I chased the guy who did it but he got out of my sight," he said.

The 10-inch knife was found about three blocks from the bus, Esqueda said. School officials called for an ambulance and students and faculty members tried to help the wounded student. But Garza died while being transferred to a local hospital.

The bus had stopped at Travis Junior High School in the south side of town when the fight apparently started. There were 65-70 students from various district schools on board at the time, school officials said.

McAllen ISD Supt. Dr. Rodney Cathey said he was unsure where or how the non-student got on the bus.

"I have an idea he got on with another group of students. The driver must have thought he was a student," Cathey said, adding that he had instructed the driver to talk to only the police about the incident.

One-man art show nears

The dead student's mother said she blamed the bus driver for allowing the non-student to board.

Martina Garza said her son had not mentioned any trouble on the bus Tuesday. She also said she did not know the youth being held in the killing.

A one-man art show, featuring Scott Tucker, young Texas artist from Duncannon, will be a two-day attraction at the Heritage Museum May 20-21. The event is sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Gray of Big Spring and the museum

Pari-mutuel betting nixed by Republicans

AUSTIN, Texas (AP)—Republicans defeated pari-mutuel betting in a non-binding referendum May 6, while not all Democratic votes have been reported, according to each party's state executive committee.

Horse race betting enthusiasts Tuesday were mulling how to block announcement of the Democratic vote until results can be double-checked.

"We are going to court to obtain a temporary restraining order to allow us time to go county by county, box by box, and attempt to determine the truth," said Al Poujol of Houston, immediate past president of the Texas Horse Racing Association.

William T. Hall, an attorney retained by the racing association, said Tuesday he had not decided what legal avenue to pursue to stop announcement of the results.

The State Republican Executive Committee Tuesday tabulated figures twice before certifying that GOP voters turned down horse race betting, 74,281 to 69,638.

The Texas Election Bureau had reported the issue passed GOP voters.

"There were 30,000 votes out when they (the Texas Election Bureau) made those announcements," said Ray Barnhart, state GOP chairman.

The Democrats did not issue results Tuesday because party headquarters only had enough time to satisfy legal requirements of certifying winners in races for state offices.

Calvin Guest, party chairman, said the results would be issued later, possibly before the June 13 meeting of the SDEC.

Poujol said the racing association wants no announcement made until it can obtain what it considers an accurate count.

The final Texas Election Bureau report showed the pari-mutuel issue failed in the Democratic primary, 729,560 to 676,126.

Poujol said some ballots reversed the required order of the referenda on horse racing and small loan interest rates, and election judges often called in results only by proposition number.

This, he said, had the effect of inflating the "no" votes on horse racing and the "yes" votes for the unpopular interest rate issue.

"In Dallas County, two precincts were reported as actually having carried high interest rates," he said.

Statewide, the switching of the two issues' places on the ballot cost horse race betting 30,000 votes, Poujol estimated.

Warning: Living can be hazardous to your health

... And even if you stay in bed it doesn't help

By the Associated Press
Warning: Living can be hazardous to your health. Or so it seems. If you believe everything you read and hear, it is hard to imagine how anyone survives. Consider just a few of the dangers lurking in a typical day. Wake up with a cup of coffee. But too much caffeine is bad for you. It causes birth defects in animals, says the Center for Science in the Public Interest. And who can afford coffee anyway? Take a vitamin. Careful.

More than 4,000 cases of vitamin poisoning are reported every year, according to the National Clearinghouse for Poison Control Centers of the Food and Drug Administration. Bacon and eggs for breakfast? Do not take safety for granted. The government wants to sharply reduce the amount of sodium nitrite used to cure bacon because nitrite can combine with other substances to form cancer-causing agents. "Bacon," says Michael Jacobson, of the Center for Science in the Public Interest, "is nothing but little strips of fat laced with nitrosamines. The fat promotes heart disease, America's No. 1 health problem. The nitrosamines promote cancer, the No. 2 health problem." Just eggs, then. Wait. Egg yolks contain cholesterol and high levels of cholesterol are bad for your heart. A quick cigarette before showering? Remember the cancer warnings! OK, there is nothing wrong with cleanliness, is there? Only sometimes. The FDA wants warning labels on bubble baths because, it says, some who use them get rashes and itching. Be careful stepping into the tub. Twenty-one million Americans are injured in home accidents every year, says the Consumer Product Safety Commission. And if the water is too hot, you may waste energy. Back in the bedroom to dress. Stop before you spray. Aerosol products containing chlorofluorocarbons may be damaging the earth's atmosphere and the government has taken steps to ban them.

Nervous? Try chewing gum. Not with sugar; that can cause cavities. Lunch time. Skip the three martinis. President Carter does not approve. Anyway, lots of alcohol, over a long time, can damage the liver, brain and heart, says the National Center on Drug Abuse. Fast-food, then. Wait a minute. Just this week, it was suggested that certain methods of cooking hamburger may — just MAY, mind you — be dangerous. Four Canadian doctors say some people may be allergic to one ingredient in McDonald's sauce, although McDonald's says there is no evidence the ingredient is "either dangerous or harmful." Perhaps a salad. Perhaps.

Residues of a pesticide, DBCP, sometimes found on carrots, radishes, cabbage and cucumbers are "an unreasonable risk," claims the Environmental Protection Agency. That is one way to reduce. Another, the liquid protein diet, may be dangerous, FDA says. It is checking. Watch artificially sweetened soft drinks. Large doses of saccharin cause bladder cancer in male rats. A stroll in the sun should take your mind off your stomach. Careful! Ultraviolet radiation from the sun is the main cause of skin cancer.

There is no refuge at the beauty parlor. Preliminary data shows that two chemicals in permanent hair dyes "are positive cancer-causing agents in rats and mice," says the National Cancer Institute. You might as well go home. More than half our time is spent there, says the Household Pollutants Guide published by the Center for Science in the Public Interest. Some of the dangers: aerosol sprays, cleaners, insect killers and repellents, paints and solvents, inks, spot removers and on and on. Need a tranquilizer? Or at least an aspirin? Each year, some 300,000 Americans are hospitalized with severe drug reactions. Time for dinner. Use the microwave oven. Unless it has been found to be leaking excessive radiation. Give up and go to bed. As you drift off, ponder one more statistic. It may cheer you: In 1900, when we knew of none of these dangers, the average life expectancy in the United States was 47.3 years, according to the Census Bureau. Today, it is more like 70 years.

Perhaps you are female. On the pill. Read the required warning label that tells you excess doses of estrogen can cause cancer. Off to work. Careful of that automobile. Does it pollute? Is your seat belt fastened? Drive carefully. The National Safety Council says 72.3 percent of all fatal accidents happen within 25 miles of home. Safe at the office. Safe? Nearly 1 million Americans may be exposed to cancer-causing substances where they work, according to the National Institute of Occupational Safety and Health. An additional 20 million workers face possible dangers from everything from asbestos to noise and other pollutants. Between 1,500 and 2,000 chemicals are known or suspected as cancer-causing agents.

He knows how snake feels

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Leon Selbe saved a snake. He found the 15-inch garter snake stretched out on his front porch earlier this past winter, apparently on the verge of freezing to death. He picked it up, took it into his home, placed it in a bucket and put it near the fire. "And in less than half an hour, it was moving around, striking at the side of the bucket and trying to get out," he said. Selbe said he couldn't help but have some compassion for the slithery creature. "I'm disabled with a heart condition and the cold air really bothers me," he said. "I know just how that snake was feeling out there in that snowstorm."

CUTE UGLY DUCKLING — "Once Upon A Time", the theme for Farrar Private School's dance revue, which takes place tonight, will feature tap, ballet, toe and acrobatic dance versions of favorite fairytales. No admission will be charged and the public is invited to attend. The performance begins at 7:30 at the Municipal Auditorium. Above warming up for the "Ugly Duckling" routine, are, from left, four-year-olds Angie Nichols and Lee Patterson, Jenny Moore, 5, and Robin Cave, 4.

Healthy snacks are great for munchies

Americans have increased their consumption of popular packaged snack foods at a faster rate than the population has grown, according to a 30-year federal government survey. The Household Food Consumption Survey confirms the popularity of snacking. Is it bad?

"The foods we label snack foods — cupcakes, cookies, potato chips — have given snacking a bad name," Dairy Council, Inc. nutrition consultants say. "Snacking on nutritious foods over a lifetime can add up to improved nutritional health."

Young children, active teenagers, fussy eaters, and busy adults often depend on between-meal eating to supplement regular meals. Sometimes all the incentive people need to snack nutritiously is to know there's nothing to prepare. Nutritionists suggest keeping cubed cheese on a covered plate in the refrigerator, or cut and store a variety of sandwiches in small quarters. Sliced raw vegetables and fresh fruits are other snack ideas.

For meal skippers or late arrivals, consider converting leftovers into an assortment of ready-to-eat or ready-to-heat mini-meals. Knowing what kinds of foods snackers are not getting enough of is one key to nutritional snacking. USDA's four food group system can help take the guesswork out of checking a diet for missing foods. The four food groups are milk, meat, vegetables and fruits, and breads and cereals. Proper daily selections from each group meet the Recommended Dietary Allowances established by the Food and Nutrition Board of the National Academy of Sciences.

HEALTHIER CHOCOLATE CHIP COOKIES

- 1/2 cup butter
- 1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 1 egg
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla flavoring
- 1/2 cup whole wheat flour
- 1/2 cup chopped peanuts
- 1/2 cup wheat germ
- 2 tablespoons nonfat dry milk powder
- 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
- 1 pkg. (6 oz.) semisweet chocolate morsels

Measure butter and sugar into large mixing bowl. Mix until thoroughly combined. Add egg and vanilla. Beat well. Stir in whole wheat flour, wheat germ, dry milk powder and soda. Mix well. Stir in chocolate morsels, sunflower seeds and peanuts. Portion about two inches apart onto greased baking sheet. Bake in oven at 350 degrees F. 10 to 12 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool on wire racks. Yield: 3 dozen.

 - 2 teaspoons sugar
 - 1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
 - 1/4 teaspoon ground ginger
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
- Prepare pudding mix according to package directions, using nonfat milk. Stir in remaining ingredients. Pour into dessert dishes or serving bowl. Cover. Chill.

Dear Abby

Boss Picks Up Tab For Flower Fiasco

DEAR ABBY: For the past six years my husband's boss, who lives out of state, sends me a huge bouquet of roses on Mother's Day. The box they come in bears the name of a local florist, and their truck delivers them, so it's not as though these flowers have been shipped any great distance. Well, I have never seen sorrier flowers in all my life! It is getting to be an annual joke around here. They aren't even worth putting into a vase. I just open the box and carry the flowers right out to the trash. Then I sit down and write a "thank-you" note for the "beautiful" flowers. I told my husband this year that I think we should tell his boss what kind of flowers he has been paying for. My husband says we should be quiet. What do you say?

CHEATED IN TAMPA

DEAR CHEATED: I say a rose by any other name would smell. And so would the deal you've been getting from your florist. By all means let the sender know the kind of flowers you have been receiving. He would appreciate it.

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem that concerns not only me, but all the other kids who ride my school bus. It's our bus driver (she's a woman). First of all, she drives a little too fast; and second, when she has to put on her brakes because the car in front puts on his brakes, she waits until she is only about a foot away from the car. How can I tell her she does these things without hurting her feelings? She is really a very nice lady! I am surprised we haven't had an accident yet, but some of the kids have black and blue marks all over when she slammed on her brakes and everybody went flying. Thank you.

SIGN ME "SCARED"

DEAR SCARED: First, tell the woman bus driver what you've told me. If that doesn't slow her up, tell your mother. Getting married? Whether you want a formal church wedding or a simple do-your-own-thing ceremony, get Abby's new booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding." 80,000 served at Kentucky Derby

Mint julep is nostalgic drink

In Kentucky, the first part of May is a period of unending celebration and hospitality, capped by the world famous Kentucky Derby. Tradition is an important part of the festivities, including that Derby Day delight, the mint julep. Known for its refreshing flavor, the mint julep was an established favorite by the time of the first Kentucky Derby in 1875. The two are united in tradition because the mint julep remains the very symbol of Southern hospitality, while Derby Day is visitors' day in Kentucky — an occasion for bringing out the best silver, the best service, the best food and drink.

To savor the full flavor of the Kentucky Derby, it is necessary to taste "the zenith of man's pleasure," as the mint julep has been called by one of a multitude of admirers.

At Churchill Downs last year, 80,000 mint juleps were served, solid testimony to the fact that Kentucky's visitors today are just as thirsty for refined refreshment as were the early Kentuckians. Vendors of the Harry M. Stevens Company, concessionaire for the famous Kentucky track, used 150 bushels of fresh mint, 100,000 pounds of shaved ice, and 1,875 gallons of Kentucky Tavern, the only bourbon used in the official mint juleps served at the Downs.

It is not only at the track, however, that mint juleps are sipped on Derby Day. A traditional Derby Breakfast menu includes a round of juleps along with the country ham and biscuits. And at hundreds of Derby parties across the nation, people gather to watch the race on television and enjoy other Derby traditions.

In 1826, "every man, woman, child, slave and Indian," in this new country consumed spirits at the rate of 10 gallons annually, while fresh, free wild mint grew everywhere. Not surprisingly, forms of mint julep using different types of spirits — everything from to appear in the South almost as fast as people could drink them. After the Civil War, however, home produced whiskey was the most readily available. Kentucky's corn mixed with good Scots distilling expertise, plus a few native refinements, yielded a mellow bourbon whiskey which, when blended with mint, seemed the perfect marriage. The bourbon julep was recorded in the first bar guide, published in 1862: "How to Mix Drinks; or the Bon-Vivant's Companion." The Rev. Andrew Reed, an English traveler who first encountered the julep at a Kentucky tavern in 1834, indicated in his writings that its popularity already was overwhelming, its mystique full-blown.

Actually, the ingredients are simple, the proportions a matter of personal taste. As any Kentuckian can tell you, a mint julep must have fresh mint, cracked or shaved ice, sugar, water and good Kentucky bourbon, and there is plentiful advice not to stint on the latter. It is the method of preparing the drink around which most of the mystique has grown. As R. B. Harwell wrote in his 1975 book about the drink, "The julep is part ceremony, tradition and regional nostalgia, part flavor, taste and aroma; and only by definition liquor, simply syrup, mint and ice."

The receptacle, the stirring instrument, the quality of water and bourbon, the method of crushing, bruising, or muddling the mint, the gentility of the hands preparing it, are among the subjects of lengthy advice to those who would create a perfect mint julep. For instance, Irvin S. Cobb, Kentucky writer and character of note, called for crushing the mint with a wooden pestle and using a pewter tankard. He saluted his creation by proclaiming, "Who has not tasted one has lived in vain!"

Then there was Henry Watterson, for 50 years editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, who sang the praises of the mint julep in print. But legend has him

ROMANCE? — Rock singer Mick Jagger, center, and his Nicaraguan-born wife Bianca, right, have begun divorce proceedings in London. The breakup on the marriage follows reports that Jagger has a new companion, Texas model Jerry Hall, left.

Lady luck played big part in kidnap caper

WACO, Texas (AP) — Odell Singleton and Lady Luck are an item, no doubt about it.

The 52-year-old Southwestern Bell supervisor's guardian angel was working overtime Wednesday when he was abducted by two men from a San Antonio parking lot, forced to drive them to this Central Texas city and then released unharmed.

Singleton's abductors are believed to be the same two who broke out of the Calhoun County Jail at Port Lavaca Tuesday night. They were still at large late Wednesday.

The escapees are identified as Terry Dean McBride, 19, and Eulalio Rubio Jr. 22. McBride is charged with felony theft and Rubio faces burglary charges and parole violation.

Singleton told police here he was backing out of a restaurant in the Alamo City about 5 a.m. when a man with a goatee appeared and shoved a gun against his head. He said a second man joined the first and the trio took on their 185-mile journey with a frightened Singleton at the wheel.

"He had a gun and he was looking me right in the eye," Singleton said of one of the men. "I followed instructions."

Once in Waco, Singleton said he was ordered to lie on the floor of the car while the two gunmen escaped on foot. He said one of the men took his car keys.

Mike Douglas Hollywood bound

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "The Mike Douglas Show," now in its 17th year, is moving to Hollywood to get closer to the action.

"The move to Hollywood will broaden Douglas' appeal by expanding the star availabilities for the show," David E. Salzman, chairman of Group W productions, said Wednesday.

The talk and variety show, now syndicated to 120 television stations, has been produced in Philadelphia since 1965.

Farm

Three from area attend meeting

James Sterling, representing Howard County Soil Conservation District; Bill Wilson Jr., representing the Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District and Ken Dawson of the local SCS office all attended the statewide public meeting held in Stephenville this week concerning the Resources Conservation Act of 1977.

The public hearings are being held so that the public can have input in regard to their wishes and needs in the development of future soil and water conservation programs.

At the hearing in Stephenville, four points were stressed by the group attending.

The first was that conservations districts have assisted land owners for over 40 years with voluntary conservation programs for farms and ranches. Persons attending the meeting stressed that no other approach should be taken and that the welfare of the landowners should be served and any conservation programs developed should be acceptable to them. They liked the voluntary approach.

The second point made was that "Even though federal money is spent on private property to control erosion, the rights of the landowners should be maintained, in regard to trespassing and other rights.

In the third point, the group pointed out that there needs to be more technical assistance and that there might need to be more Soil Conservation Service people and financial assistance available to carry out the long range projects.

The final point made at the hearing was that the new Farm Program approved in Washington is forcing farmers to put marginal land into cultivation to maintain a cropland base.

For the past 20 years, the Soil Conservation Service has been giving landowners money to put marginal land back into grass as a good conservation practice.

The current regulations by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service actually urges the landowners to slow that grassland back up in order to maintain that larger cropland base.

Persons at the hearing thought the ASCS and SCS should together insure that farm production and taking care of conservation resources could work together.

NEW YORK (AP) — Cotton futures No. 2 were lower in midday dealings today.

The average price for strict low middling 1 1/4 inch spot cotton advanced 135 points to 59.28 cents a pound Wednesday for the 10 leading markets, according to the New York Cotton Exchange.

Midday afternoon prices were $1.90 to $2.55 a bale lower than the previous close. Jul 61.90, Oct 63.90, and Dec 65.04.

Texas model is Jagger's companion

LONDON (AP) — Saying they no longer find satisfaction in their seven-year marriage, rock singer Mick Jagger and his wife, Bianca, have begun divorce proceedings.

The breakup of one of the world's most publicized marriages follows reports that Jagger, lead singer of the Rolling Stones, has a new companion — Texas model Jerry Hall.

Bianca, 33, is in the United States. She filed suit in the London divorce court through her London attorneys, who initiated proceedings on Monday. If Jagger decides not to defend the case, it could be heard before August.

The Jagers were married in St. Tropez, France, in 1971. They have a 6-year-old daughter, Jade.

London gossip columnist Nigel Dempster recently reported that Jagger has amassed a $7.28 million fortune and now has homes in New York, France, London and Berkshire in the English countryside.

PLANT CERTIFIED

For Higher Cotton Yields

Yields from certified cotton planting seed were up to 18 percent higher than yields from caught or non-certified seed according to research by Dr. L. L. Ray at the South Plains Research and Extension Center in Lubbock, Texas. Certified seed has not undergone genetic deterioration in the field. Volunteer plants and undesirable cross-pollination are eliminated. And certified seed from Pioneer is free from pests and weeds which often accompany non-certified varieties. See your ginner or Pioneer brand seed dealer for these certified varieties.

Dependable even in dry country!

Certified LX571*

You can't control the weather. So, you need a hedge against drought... and that's where the Lankart variety LX571 fits in. It consistently produces top yields of high quality cotton... even under tough, dry conditions. And you don't have to give up anything to get this outstanding drought tolerance, either.

LX571 produces fairly long, strong fiber... with micronaire normally in the premium range. And storm resistant bolls strip well in one pass through the field. Add up all the good things about LX571... then it's easy to see why this is one of the most planted cotton varieties in the Rolling Plains, Central Texas and Southwestern Oklahoma.

*LX571 is a U.S. protected variety (Plant Variety Protection Certificate No. 7200018). Unauthorized propagation and unauthorized seed multiplication prohibited by law. LX571 cotton planting seed can be sold by variety name only as a class of certified seed. It is unlawful to sell non-certified seed of this variety.

Long-time favorite.

Cotton growers in Texas, Oklahoma and Eastern New Mexico have relied on certified Lankart 57 for consistently high yields for years. This variety has vigorous plants with short main stems and short fruiting branches. Leaves are large and dense. And this medium-early maturity cotton has storm-proof bolls. Lankart 57 is a good stripper cotton, too... well-adapted to Texas and Oklahoma dryland production.

Certified LANKART 57

High yielding, early variety.

This cotton variety was developed for the early maturity needs of dryland farming... especially in the Blackland and Rolling Plains of Texas and Southwestern Oklahoma. Vigorous plants with short main stems and close fruiting branches produce large bolls of high quality lint. A good stripper cotton for the Southern High Plains on well-free soil.

Certified LANKART 611

Certified LANKART® and LOCKETT® brand cotton planting seed is available from your ginner or Pioneer® brand seed dealer.

Stenholm, Rhodes battle boils

Evans, Riordan swap verbal jabs

Howard County Democratic Chairman Evan Evans' decision to join the campaign camp of A. L. (Dusty) Rhodes has attracted flak from Cecil V. Riordan, who served as county Democratic chairman from 1967 until 1972.

By WALT FINLEY
Staff Writer

Big Spring is a major battle zone in the 17th Congressional District Democratic runoff between Charles Stenholm and Rhodes, one-two finishers in a seven-way May 6 primary fight. Verbal shots are expected to fly hot and heavy in this area until the Democratic nomination is made June 3.

Bill Fisher was unopposed in the Republican primary and will face the Democratic nominee in the November general election.

Fearful of being charged with slanting the news, the Herald is printing statements of Riordan and Evans word for word.

Riordan's statement: "Being an ex-Democratic Chairman of the Howard County Democratic Executive Committee and having worked in the Democratic Party in Howard County for more than 20 years I have had many telephone calls from fellow Democrats of Howard County and some from friends and fellow Democrats from other parts of the district all concerned why Chairman Evan Evans would endorse any candidate in the middle of the process of nominating a nominee, especially one that carries the label of Independent Democrat."

"Of course, I do not know, but the first thought comes to mind is he went with the highest bidder, but later he gave three reasons, all phony in my judgment, but the one he stressed most was qualifications, which does not make sense because less than 10 days prior to making the statement he was working very hard for my friend Jim Baum whose qualifications does not coincide with the qualifications he mentioned for the Independent Democrat Candidate, so it makes me wonder why the Chairman's criterion for establishing a qualification would change so suddenly."

"The Chairman mentioned he had known the Independent Democratic candidate for nine months and some kind of friendship had developed and come close to saying this friendship might exceed good representation. This also makes me wonder."

"Now I have known the Independent Democratic candidate's opponent not for nine months but for nine years. I have worked with him on scores of Democratic project, and I can assure you he is a Democrat and will support the nominee regardless of who it is, and will go to Washington with the interest of Howard County at heart just as if no endorsement had been made.

"I want to say there is nothing wrong with being an Independent Democrat, except it carries no degree of loyalty to any political party, politically they are not dependable, except when they run for office they will run on a Democratic ticket, you can count on that, but when it comes November they reserve the right, and most of them do, vote for candidates of other parties. I challenge Chairman Evans and the Independent Democrat candidate to dispute that definition."

"Now, fellow Democrats, I urge you to not let this endorsement discourage you. Help me to not let it be detrimental to voter participation (which might have the motive). Your efforts were never more justified, and you vote for the Democratic candidate Charlie Stenholm was never more necessary for Howard County and the 17th Congressional District. Again I urge you to vote June 3, if you need transportation to the polls call 263-6202."

Evans' statement: "I certainly respect Mr. Riordan's viewpoint... he has one view on the Congressional race and the Democratic Party's 'rules of etiquette'. I have another. If anything, healthy disagreement is part of our party's tradition."

"Still, I would like to point out that I am not the first County Chairman to endorse candidates for office. Charles Stenholm's campaign manager is a County Chairman, one of his campaign workers in Jack County also serves in that capacity. Previous Howard County Democratic Chairmen have exercised this option.

"At the heart of the matter, though, is my strong personal feeling about this race, serving as a supporter of Jim Baum's. After working for nine months on the issue of who can best represent Howard County and the 17th Congressional District, after getting to know the candidates and what they stand for, I made the decision to support Dusty Rhodes. My conscience is more clear, having 'said my piece,' than having remained silent."

D. A. Brazel delivered to me Wednesday the resolutions approved by Howard County Democrats during the Saturday night convention. I don't understand all the measures - yet! I'll try to condense and publish them by Sunday.

Dead animals found in area of leaking gas well

ATHENS, Texas (AP) — Dead animals have been found in the area of a leaking East Texas gas well, but the owners of the well said Wednesday the situation is stable and efforts are under way to cap the well.

Sulfide fumes apparently caused the deaths of chickens, cats and dogs in the area 12 miles north of this city. Department of Public Safety troopers found the animals Wednesday. DPS Spokesman Jim Robinson said officers believe the animals may have been killed Monday when the well blew out again and spewed out the poisonous gas. The well began leaking seriously last Thursday, and escaping gas is being burned off.

Property tax repeal asked

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The state asked a district judge Wednesday to reject a suit to repeal the 10-cent state property tax and let the 1979 Legislature address the issue.

Rep. Wayne Peveto, D-Orange, and other lawyers filed suit in April asking that the tax be declared unconstitutional.

By repealing the tax, he said, Texas taxpayers would be saved over $550 million in property taxes over the next decade.

The tax, authorized by a 1965 constitutional amendment, is used to finance new construction on 17 college campuses.

The state's response, filed late Tuesday, said in part: "Although plaintiffs cannot successfully enjoin the assessment and collection of the tax in question statewide, the presence of this suit, and its broad pleadings and request for injunctive relief, will have the impact of denying the state colleges and universities that depend on the revenues of the tax the right to issue bonds or notes payable from the revenues of the tax and, thereby, seriously impair the programs of those colleges and universities for the acquisition, construction and initial equipping of buildings or other permanent improvements."

The state response by Attorney General John Hill asked that the suit be abated or that the plaintiffs get nothing.

Local delegate offers talk on rail annuities

Garland Morrison of the Big Spring chapter of the National Association of Retired and Veteran Railway Employees recently returned from a national NARVRE convention in Des Moines, Iowa. While there, he delivered a talk on a bill now before congress which deals with annuities.

GARLAND MORRISON

The bill, HR 11824, seeks to amend the Railroad Retirement Act of 1974 with respect to annuities for widows and widowers of certain railroad employees.

Supporters of the bill want to see annuities for widows or widowers raised to an amount equal to the amount of annuity that would have been payable to the deceased employee.

According to Morrison, there are 193,000 widows and widowers now receiving annuities. The average annuity for the retired worker is $266 a month. Average annuity for spouses is $133 a month.

The convention delegates also decided to support proposed elimination of forced retirement at any age except for disability or inability to perform safely.

Delegates also stated "we are in favor of labor law reform within its bounds." Delegates questioned some labor union tactics concerning such things as strikes.

The delegates also agreed to support an effort to overcome inflation.

Approximately 250 members and delegates attended the Des Moines convention.

Morrison will speak at the local NARVRE meeting at 7 p.m. today in the Kentwood Older Adults Center.

Water district officials meet

Directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District will meet at 10 a.m. Tuesday at the headquarters office building in Big Spring.

Discussions of some water sources will be initiated by O. H. Ivie, general manager, and there will be action on transfer of the new Contingency-Improvement Fund from the First National Bank in Fort Worth to the First National in Big Spring. This is a fund that was set up under the resolution which authorized the refunding issue last December.

There will be minor actions on a request to drill a water well on district property, also to amend the Employee Pension Trust and Retirement Fund. This will be the last meeting of the board prior to presentation of its application for the Stacy Reservoir permit before the Texas Water Commission June 7 in Austin.

answer, but that carries with it terrific fixed costs. For instance insurance and base utilities (power charges are tied to former Webb AFB peak demand rates) could cost $17,000 a month, whereas current returns on 40 rented facilities is only $13,000 a month — and General Services Administration skims off 60 per cent of that.

Still, the potentiality of 287 facilities should not be downplayed, he said, adding that several bright prospects are in the wind, one of which might bring an early announcement.

Loss of the Lockheed modification project hurt, he declared, but it is not disastrous. Some other prospects could prove better in the long run because they are not tied to government contracts. He admitted that one major tenant could solve a lot of problems. Meantime, one accomplishment has been community unity of effort, and "it must be working for business seems better than ever."

Wednesday was the last day for Harold Raines, who is being transferred by Texas Electric Service to be its engineering manager at Arlington. A guest was Beverly Carlile, the club's queen. Members were urged to turnout Saturday 7:30 p.m. for the Steer Black-Gold spring football game.

It's hard to get grip on properties at Webb

Getting a fix on the former Webb AFB properties is like dealing with a hungry ghost. You can't get a grip on it, and in the meantime, it may eat you up.

This was the feeling Harry Spannaus, director of the Big Spring Industrial Park — the former Air Force base properties — conveyed to the Downtown Lions Club at its Wednesday meeting at Cactus Room, Howard College.

But, he said, make no mistake — it is a great asset. The only thing is that it can cost a lot of money. For instance, relocating T hangers on the Howard County Airport carries with it a $200,000 plus price tag. Rehabilitating and maintaining the runways (in bad shape because the Air Force had not resealed as required during the past two years) means another half million.

So far federal and state aviation agencies have been of no help.

Spannaus described the leasing process of facilities at the former base "like eating soup with a fork." He traced the chain of correspondence through channels to the top and back, with the result "we finally rent a building with the only thing gained being weeks or months of delay and thousands of dollars expense." Total conveyance of the properties is the ultimate

Rangers creeping up on A's... Sundberg style

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Nice guys occasionally finish first, but Texas Ranger catcher Jim Sundberg is making a habit of it these days.

"It couldn't happen to a nicer fella," said the boss,

Ranger Manager Bill Hunter, after Sundberg knocked in the game-winning run in a 4-3 victory over Western Division-leading Oakland Wednesday night. "I wish some of my other nice fellas would do the same...and I'm sure they will." The win pulled Texas to within 4½ games of the A's.

Sundberg already had a couple of hits when he came up in the eighth with Al Oliver at second and Richie Zisk at first on an intentional walk. He ripped the first pitch into left field to plate Oliver and break up a tight, 3-3 tie. Along the way, Sundberg ran his hitting streak to 16, longest in the American League and only one short of the club record. "It all worked out fine," Sundberg said. Asked if he was miffed when Zisk was given a free ride to bring him up, Sundberg said, "I'd have done it, too." The hit streak was a natural topic, but the hot-hitting catcher tried to put it down. "It's very much something I'm aware of...but it's getting to be somewhat of a pain." Hunter looked back to the A's fifth when Sundberg caught Oakland's Gary Thomasson too far off first and nailed him with a perfect peg to Mike Hargrove. "That was the ballgame," Hunter said. "Mr. Matlack can thank him (Sundberg) for the win, both offensively and defensively." Thomasson had singled after Jim Essian's leadoff double.

Jon Matlack worked his way out of the jam and ran his record to 3-4 in a nine-inning effort. John Johnson took his first loss against three wins, although Sundberg's game-winning single came off reliever Elias Sosa.

"The strategy to walk Zisk and bring Sosa in has worked every time...except this time," said A's Manager Bobby Winkles.

"The slider didn't break sharply enough," Sosa said. "I didn't know Sundberg...but he sure showed tonight he's a good hitter."

Matlack and Johnson survived shaky starts, with Oakland jumping to a quick, 1-0 lead in the first on a single by Mitchell Page and a triple by Mario Guerrero.

The Rangers got three in their half of the first on a double by Bert Campaneris, a single by Oliver, a walk to Zisk, Sundberg's first single and Juan Beniquez's sacrifice fly.

But Oakland tied it at three on Wayne Gross' towering homer run with Gary Alkxander aboard in the second.

That was all the scoring until Sundberg's parting shot.

L.A. gets 1984 games

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — The International Olympic Committee today provisionally awarded the 1984 Olympic Games to Los Angeles and the Winter Games to Sarajevo, Yugoslavia.

The IOC made its ruling conditional, saying Los Angeles must agree to a contract within the framework of the IOC rules by July 31.

If such a contract is not agreed to, the provisional award of the Games will be withdrawn.

Lord Killanin, president of the IOC, made the announcement at an Athens Hotel and said 75 members of the IOC had voted unanimously.

He also read a statement drawn up by the 26 international federations which control the Olympics urging the IOC to assure that the Games charter is fully observed before it grants the Olympics to Los Angeles or to any other city. Sarajevo, Yugoslavia won the 1984 Winter Games by a mere three votes from Sapporo, the Japanese city which hosted the Winter Games in 1972. The vote was 39 for Sarajevo and 36 for Sapporo.

Sapporo led on the first ballot with 33 votes against Sarajevo's 31. The third candidate city, Goteborg, Sweden, received only 10 votes and was eliminated. A second ballot followed between the two leaders with Sarajevo winning.

Killanin did not say what the IOC's next step would be if Los Angeles failed to meet the required conditions by July 31. But Montreal, Munich, Mexico City and New York City are all reported interested in taking over the Games.

Included in Los Angeles' bid for the Games is a plan to insure the city against financial loss.

Maltbie ready for Memorial

DUBLIN, Ohio (AP) — Professional sports free agents are creeping into the men's golf tour.

Roger Maltbie, for one, is playing out his option.

But the carefree California bachelor differs from his brethren in baseball, football, basketball and hockey.

Embittered over his original contract with a group of San Jose, Calif., physicians, Maltbie will not sign with another team or sponsor, in his case, after 1979.

"I'm going to be my own man," said Maltbie, the 1976 winner of the $250,000 Memorial Tournament that began today at Muirfield Village.

"For damned sure," said Maltbie as he smacked a practice shot Wednesday, "I will not be with those clowns. When one of them called me a racehorse, that's when it got me."

Maltbie's career has skidded since winning the $40,000 first prize at the Memorial two years ago. He went on to win $117,736 and rank 18th in money winnings that year.

In 1977, he slipped to $51,727 and ranked 59th. And he is doing even worse in the first five months of 1978. Maltbie is 107th on the money list, with official earnings of $8,056.

In 13 tournaments, his best showings were a tie for 23rd and $2,568 in the Hawaiian Open and a tie for 19th and $2,352 at Greensboro, N.C.

No one likes a pay cut. Maltbie greets it with mixed emotions — still showing the traces of a long hassle with his sponsors.

His current sponsors reap 50 percent of his gross on and off the course. Asked to assess his chances of winning on this demanding 72-hole layout that will play much longer than 7,101 yards because of five straight days of rain until Wednesday's practice round, the 26-year-old Maltbie said with a laugh: "I was waiting for that one. I knew it had to be in there somewhere. My scores will answer that, especially since I haven't been playing well."

So who in this select international field of 105 should win?

"The fellow who has the capacity to hit the ball high. Obviously, the good putter. The smart player. The big blond guy," answered Maltbie.

He was referring to Jack Nicklaus, the defending champion who created this $8 million course five years ago.

The field may be the strongest yet this year, with all but three of the 56 leading money winners seeking the $50,000 first prize.

It includes three-time winners Gary Player and Tom Watson and double winners Hubert Green and Nicklaus. Of the 1978 titleholders, only Lee Trevino and Severiano Ballesteros of Spain are absent.

Portions of the last two rounds Saturday and Sunday will be carried by CBS-TV.

DEFENSE: — Somewhere in that tangle is Steer junior letterman Dennis Morrison, trying to squeeze through a formidable defense during spring training scrimmage. The locals have two more days of practice remaining before Saturday's "Black and Gold" game at Memorial Stadium. Gametime is 7:30 p.m., tickets are $1 per person, and local fans are urged to attend, as funds will be used to clear debts incurred by the Big Spring Quarterback Club's sponsorship of banquets for all high school athletes.

'TV switching' irked baseball fans

NBC gave viewers a tantalizing glimpse of a no-hitter in progress last Saturday, serving up brief slices of Detroit pitcher Dave Rozema's bid for glory against Oakland.

But the network switched back to its main game — Boston vs. Minnesota — before the no-hit bid ended in the seventh inning, leaving viewers hanging. Why didn't they stay with the no-hitter? How could they do that?

Television, powerful and visible, gets blamed for all kinds of things these days, but this one wasn't NBC's fault.

The Boston-Minnesota game went to most parts of the country Saturday with Oakland-Detroit being shown in sections of the Midwest, southwest and west coast. NBC's contract with baseball prohibits the network from showing a game in the home markets of the teams involved unless the home team requests the game and baseball approves. This is to protect local TV contracts.

As it happens, NBC had permission to show the A's-Tigers game in Oakland but not in Detroit. Hence, the network was limited to three "inserts" of two minutes duration each. That meant the Boston-Minnesota audience could only drop in on the Oakland-Detroit game briefly.

"We try to tell the story without ruining either pickup," says Doug Skene, director of operations for NBC Sports. "We don't switch to another game just for the sake of it, but if there's a story there, we'll switch."

NBC switched over twice to check up on Rozema, then switched again when the no-hitter was over. That was all the network could do under its agreement with baseball.

CBS, currently trying to concentrate on live sports programming as opposed to the pre-packaged variety, has added the Daytona 500 auto race to its arsenal of events. ABC had it this year but CBS will have it for the next five years.

CLOSE CALL — Houston Astros first baseman Bob Watson (27) kneels on the ground after fumbling the ball hit by Phillies right fielder Bake McBride (22) and barely making the toss to Astros pitcher Joaquin Andujar (47) at first base during the third inning of action. First base umpire Dick Stello watches the play during the game at Houston Wednesday night in which Houston won 2-1.

Only two U.S. boxers left

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Light flyweight Richard Sandoval of Pomona, Calif. and Roosevelt Green, a welterweight from Montgomery, Ala., were the only Americans remaining as the World Amateur Boxing Championships entered the semifinal stage today.

The 22 semifinal bouts were to be held in two sessions.

Entering the semifinals, Cuba led the way with eight boxers, followed by Yugoslavia with seven, the Soviet Union with six, East Germany with five, Poland and Venezuela with three each, West Germany and Bulgaria with two apiece, and South Korea, France, Kenya, Nigeria, Finland and Japan with one each.

At least six Cubans were expected to make it into the finals.

When the championships opened May 6, there were 219 boxers representing 41 countries.

For some of the losers, the most disappointing aspect of the championships has been the judging. At least three of the decisions on Wednesday night's program could easily have gone the other way.

Johnson's three-point play for an 83-66 advantage with 4:36 left in the period. The closest Denver got the rest of the way was 13 points.

"Seattle is playing with a great deal of confidence," said Denver Coach Larry Brown. "If they play as well against Washington as they have against us, it should be a very interesting series."

"I'm sorry we couldn't have played better in this game," Brown continued. "I really feel our inexperience showed."

For the fifth time in the six games between the two teams, Seattle guard Dennis Johnson did a fine defensive job on Denver's high-scoring guard, David Thompson. Thompson led the Nuggets with 21 points, but scored just four in Denver's 18-point third period, which ended with Seattle ahead 93-72.

"I didn't see David play as well as he is capable of playing in the series," said Brown. "But you can't get yourself in a spot where you depend on one guy, especially a guard. We're gonna have to do something to correct that."

Said Thompson: "The difference was me. I was getting easy shots and didn't make them. I didn't take as many shots as I'm used to."

Thompson, who shot only 39 per cent from the field in first four games, regained his touch in the Nuggets' victory last Sunday in Denver, hitting 16 of 27 shots for a game-high 35 points. But Denver's leading scorer and pro basketball's highest-paid player hit just seven of 17 shots Wednesday night.

"I was surprised at how consistent they (Sonics) were able to play," said Thompson. "They really didn't have a bad game all series."

"That's been our trouble all year. They're playing with confidence and positive thoughts produce positive action on the court."

The Sonics, who won the rebound battle 57-45, were paced by Fred Brown's 26 points and Gus Williams' 24. Dennis Johnson added 16 points and rookie Jack Sikma 14. Rookie Anthony Roberts followed Thompson for Denver with 19 points and a game-high 16 rebounds for Denver.

Seattle Coach Lenny Wilkens, who took the reins last Nov. 30 when the team was mired in the Pacific Division cellar with a 5-17 record, was elated.

Marvin was ready to play. Bye, bye Nugs

IT'S ALL OVER — Denver's Larry Brown watches his team go down to defeat Wednesday in their NBA game against Seattle. Seattle won their 20th game in a row at home and took home the series 4-2. Seattle will face Washington Sunday in Seattle.

SEATTLE (AP) — For the story on how the West was won, let's get a word from Paul Silas:

"Marvin Webster was just ready to play tonight. That says it in a nutshell."

Silas somehow made himself heard in the noisy Seattle locker room after the SuperSonics had polished off the Denver Nuggets 123-108 Wednesday night to win the National Basketball Association's Western Conference championship.

Webster, the 7-foot-1 center who came to Seattle with Silas from Denver in an offseason trade that sent guard Bobby Wilkerson to the Nuggets, ruled the middle at both ends of the court, scoring 18 points and grabbing 13 rebounds.

"When Marvin's ready to play, no one is going to do anything on him," said Silas, who matched Webster's rebound total.

The triumph before a Coliseum sellout crowd of 14,098 gave the Sonics a 4-2 edge in the best-of-seven semifinal series with the Nuggets and sent them into the NBA championship series for the first time in their 11-year history.

Seattle plays host to the Washington Bullets, the Eastern Conference champions, in Game 1 of the best-of-seven NBA title series Sunday.

"This is the highlight of my life," said Sam Schulman, Sonics owner and president, who watched from courtside as his club won its 20th straight game at home, including eight in the playoffs.

"This is the most extraordinary, special year for any sports team ever," Schulman continued. "Way down deep I have felt this is our year."

Webster said the key was that Seattle played "with intensity the whole game. Tonight our strong point was our rebounding and our defense. We controlled the boards, and there's no question about that."

"I think it was meant to be. I think Seattle beating Denver was meant to be."

The Nuggets fell victim to Seattle's fast break early and never were able to climb out of the hole. They trailed 62-54 at halftime and closed to within six points twice early in the third period, the last time at 66-60 on a pair of Dan Issel baskets.

But the Sonics ran off a 17-4 spurt capped by John

District Cinderellas will compete in state pageant for scholarships

By EILEEN McGUIRE
"Big Spring exists" will be the message taken to Baton Rouge, La., when Cinderella Girl State Pageant winners go on to the International Cinderella Girl Pageant in the fall.

About 300 Texas girls, including 15 from Big Spring, will compete in the state competition June 28 at North Texas State in Denton. Winners of that pageant will take souvenirs from their hometowns to the international pageant which will be held in a castle built especially for the Cinderella Girls in Baton Rouge.

Winners of both the state and international competitions will receive scholarships. The pageant system is sponsored by the American Business Women's Association which also furnishes the scholarships.

In order to qualify for the week-long state pageant in Denton, contestants must first win either an area or district pageant. The Big Spring Cinderella Girl Pageant, held March 4 at the Howard College Auditorium, qualified 15 local girls to go to the state competition. The District II Cinderella Girl Pageant, which took place Saturday at the Howard College Auditorium added 12 more state contestants. Preliminaries began at 9 a.m. with the final staging at 7:30 p.m.

The pageant was divided into four categories according to age: Cinderella Tot, 3-6; Cinderella Miniature Miss, 7-10; Cinderella Miss, 10-12; and Cinderella Teen, 13-17.

Competition included a parade of beauty and the modeling of party dresses and sportswear by contestants in all divisions plus a talent competition in the Cinderella Miniature Miss, Miss and Teen Divisions.

Judging the contestants were Carl Rogers of KOSA-TV, Odessa, and co-owners of a modeling school in Lamesa, Jan Chiles and Sandy Wilson.

In addition to Big Spring girls, girls from Kermit, Odessa, Midland and Pecos entered the District II Pageant which covers an area extending from El Paso to Abilene and from Lubbock to the Rio Grande.

The pageant formally opened with Keith Loftin singing the Cinderella Girl Song. The audience was welcomed by Mrs. R. V. Colclazer, pageant director and member of the Cactus Chapter of A.B.W.A., and the judges were introduced by Vonna Lee Cederberg, pageant co-director and Cactus Chapter member.

Sandy Sandlin, Master of Ceremonies, introduced pageant contestants and events. Special guests were the 1978 winners of the Big Spring Cinderella Girl Pageant: Kimberly Gee, Cinderella Tot; Jerena Wright, Cinderella Miniature Miss; Diane Boothe, Cinderella Miss and Felicia Ford, Cinderella Teen.

Winning the title of District II Cinderella Tot at the Saturday pageant was Stacy Mauldin, 4, who was sponsored by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russ Mauldin.

Sisters took the titles of Cinderella Miniature Miss and Cinderella Miss. Ginger Brooks, 8, and Tymy Kaye Brooks, 11, are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Brooks and were sponsored by The Design Place.

Rhonda Griffin, 15, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stan Griffin, is the District II Cinderella Teen. Her sponsor was Coahoma State Bank.

Cinderella Tot Alternates are first, Charlesane Gardner, 6, daughter of and sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gardner; second, Sonya Lindsey, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lindsey and sponsored by A.J. Pirkie Insurance, and third, Angela James, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. James and sponsored by Rose Quality Cleaners.

Cinderella Miss Alternates are first, Terri Miears, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Miears and sponsored by Montgomery Ward; second, Tonya Sneed, 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Boyce Sneed and sponsored by Quitas Hair Fashions, and third, Mary Jane Salazar, 11, daughter of and sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morphis. Miss Salazar was also named the talent winner of her division.

First alternate and talent winner of the Cinderella Teen division is Shana Hohertz, 14, sponsored by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daryle Hohertz.

Second alternate is Sheila Greer, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Greer and sponsored by K.M.A. Pipe Co. of Kermit. Third alternate is Kerry Boothe, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Boothe and sponsored by A. E. Computer Co.

Voted Miss Congeniality was Cinderella Miss first alternate Terri Miears for which she was presented a trophy.

DOUBLE WINNER — Terri Miears, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Miears, walked away with two trophies at Saturday's Cinderella Girl Pageant. Voted Miss Congeniality, Miss Miears was also named first alternate in the Cinderella Miss division. She has been invited to compete in the state pageant which takes place at North Texas State in Denton, June 28.

You're too young for marriage now

Dr. Wallace: I'm a 15-year-old sophomore. My boyfriend is 19 and an orderly at a hospital. We have been going together since I was 10. At that time it was "puppy love" but gradually it became mature love. Today, our love is deep and devoted.

We had planned to marry after I finished school, but now we feel there is no reason to wait. Our parents gave their blessing when we showed them that we are financially stable and that I would finish school.

We have all our furniture and appliances and we even signed a contract on a house we are buying. Please give me your opinion on this subject. I hope you print this so I can clip out your answer and keep it. — Jacque, Columbus, Ohio

Dear Jacque: You sound like a very mature young lady of 15, and your boyfriend seems ambitious, stable and sensible, but I do feel that you are too young to have to accept the responsibility of marriage. I know you plan to finish school but ... I really wonder about your finances.

How much money does he earn a month? The expenses will be tremendous — food, medical, automobile, insurance, — need I go on? Remember I didn't say that you couldn't make it with marriage. I just think it

Learn-to-swim Y program opens June 5

The Big Spring Summer and Outdoor Program will get under way with the Learn-to-Swim program beginning June 5. The Outdoor program will begin June 12.

The program, designed to provide fun, learning, and fitness for youth, are sponsored by the city of Big Spring, the school district, and the Big Spring YMCA.

Lesson times for Learn-to-Swim are: 10:00, 10:30, 11:00, and 11:30 a.m. The lessons are for non-swimmers six years old and up. Registration must be completed by May 31, and a parent must accompany a child at registration time. Swim lessons are for five days from June 5 through June 9. Register early and be able to choose lesson time. Registration fee is $1.

Outdoor recreation fee is also $1 to defray cost of arts and crafts materials. Youngsters may participate at Comanche Trail Park or at the Lakeview Branch YMCA where arts and crafts, games, and outdoor sports will be featured. Those who choose the Lakeview Program should register at Lakeview YMCA, and all other should register at the Central YMCA or at Comanche Trail Park if they register after the program has started.

No child will be refused the program for lack of fee.

When the recreation program begins on June 12, parents should bring their children for participation at 9:00 a.m. and pick them up at noon. This morning program will run through August 11, but will not meet on July 4.

In case of inclement weather at the park, the group will not meet. In case of rain, they will shelter in the pavilion. Program activities will be conducted by qualified YMCA leadership under the supervision of Don Hise; and at Lakeview by Sam Dawson, program director of Lakeview YMCA.

Sen. Kennedy will not run for president?

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Sen. Edward Kennedy will not run for president in 1980 and will not separate from his wife, says his sister, Eunice Kennedy Shriver.

Mrs. Shriver, who arrived in the Colombian capital Tuesday for a three-day sports event for retarded children, said she had been told by her brother's wife, Joan, that the couple would not separate.

"There is no separation and there will be no separation," she said at a news conference. "I talked to Joan this morning on the telephone before coming here and she told me that."

There have been reports recently that the Kennedy marriage was foundering. Mrs. Kennedy has moved into an apartment in Boston, and the senator has been linked to skier Suzy Chaffee. All of the parties have denied the rumors of a Kennedy-Chaffee romance.

Bee Gees donating

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The Bee Gees, who soared to the top of the pop record world with their "Saturday Night Fever" album, are donating a song to the United Nations Children's Fund.

"We hope this is only the beginning," said Bee Gee Robin Gibb, who joined brothers Maurice and Barry at a Tuesday news conference jammed with about 300 squealing teen-age fans.

The Australian group's contribution is the first to a new project called "Music for Unicef," which will be launched officially in January when the International Year of the Child begins. The Bee Gees also will participate in an internationally televised concert in January to benefit UNICEF.

Briscoe names Texans feel cheated, Hill tells Carter

AUSTIN, Texas (AP)—Gov. Dolph Briscoe announced the appointment Wednesday of Raul Gonzalez of Brownsville as judge of the 103rd Judicial District, Cameron and Willacy Counties.

Gonzalez is replacing William Scanlan of Brownsville, who resigned. Gonzalez served as U.S. Attorney in the Southern District of Texas.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter got a look at the Texas governor's office from two perspectives Wednesday. Democratic nominee John Hill talked to him like he was the governor, and the man Hill defeated in the primary, Gov. Dolph Briscoe, talked about personal matters. Hill warned Carter that Texans feel "cheated" by the administration energy policy. "I told him that meant trouble for us and trouble for him," Hill said. Briscoe and his wife were in Washington in connection with the National Governor's Conference, and they described their White House visit as "strictly personal." Asked if he had been offered or was seeking an administration appointment, Briscoe said, "No, No. I have no plans beyond next January when my term ends."

Hill pushed the energy subject hard with Carter. "We just aren't receiving fairness and equity in certain areas and particularly in the imposition of new controls which we have never had over our intrastate gas market and the threat of mandatory allocation or the diversion of our gas outside our state against our will."

are unhappy with farm policies and "use of urban renewal policy formula to distribute more money to northeastern cities than to our cities where we also have people in need." Hill said Carter promised to look into the matters and reassess them. Since Hill and Briscoe were both in town, events in Texas also got a turn in front of the Washington media.

"JUST SMILE AT HER, JOEY... THEN SHE'LL THINK SOMETHIN'S FISHY AND GO AWAY."

JUMBLE THAT SCRAMBLED WORD GAME by Henri Arnold and Bob Lee

Unscramble these four Jumbles, one letter to each square, to form four ordinary words.

GREBA

PARPEA

Now arrange the circled letters to form the surprise answer, as suggested by the above cartoon.

Answer here: "PUMPS"

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, MAY 19, 1978

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Get in touch with whoever you have any contact and make sure you come to a better understanding with them by showing that you are aware of their interests. By aiding them to obtain their aims, they help you get yours.

ARIES (March 21 to Apr. 19) Meeting with an associate and coming to a fine meeting of minds is wise now. Get into a civic project that can also bring you real benefits.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Ideal time to handle jobs that require precision and neatness and get good results. Come to a better understanding with friends, fellow workers. Enjoy light entertainment in evening.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Make appointments of a social nature early so that later you have a fine time together. Stop feeling so sorry for yourself.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) If you cooperate more with kin, your home life can become more ideal, harmonious. Do some entertaining at home that can alleviate tensions. Pick guests carefully.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Do whatever will gain you the cooperation of associates where joint projects are concerned. Talk over how to be more productive in the future. Relegate evening to the social side of life.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Study your monetary status well since the planets are favorable for your improving it. Use more orthodox business methods. Gain the advice of experts which can be most helpful to you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Push those personal desires now so that you gain them with relative ease. Become part of a group affair that is both pleasurable and beneficial. Avoid one who is jealous of you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Listen to advice given you by a trusted adviser and improve your position in life. You get needed information now that has been difficult before this. Go after it early.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Join a group of friends where you can get much accomplished, have much camaraderie. You can gain your desires with relative ease. Be wary of gossips who talk too much.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Find the right project through which to operate now and gain the advice, support of bigwigs, too. Work on a civic matter that can be fine for advancement.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Use those good ideas so you can pull yourself out of that rut and make your life more meaningful. Planning a trip to a new place is wise. Much good can come of this.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Follow your hunches and you know which path to follow now that is right for you. Fine evening for enjoyment with kin. Show you are a charming and thoughtful person.

ABILENE — Lila Jean Chafey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Turner of 707 W. 14th St., Big Spring, is among Hardin-Simmons University spring graduates who will receive degrees May 7 in Commencement exercises.

The commencement will be held in Behrens Chapel Auditorium at 3 p.m. Commencement speaker will be Dr. Russell Dilday, president-elect of the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth, Texas.

I think that's a good song. Or it used to be, I think. But sometimes when you watch Little League parents', you kind of wonder. This sometimes even applies to Teen-age League parents.

In the first place, there always appear to be more kids participating than there are parents willing to help. But parents who like to give advice — now that is something else again.

Fortunately my Little League years are over. I got an early dose of them as I was growing up, because my Dad worked with Little League, and Pony League and American Legion League and Babe Ruth leagues in the valley. His year of biggest triumph, was the year he was district chairman and sponsored and allowed a Reynosa Little League team to come across the boundary of the Rio Grande and be included in the Valley District. They got all the way to the international finals where they were defeated by a team from Tokyo.

He didn't gain many points for his efforts because the fans were either mad because Dad had backed the Mexican team and they were winning, or mad because he didn't do more for them. Mother was running their car parts store at the time, and trying to kick baseball bats out of the way and climb over stacks of uniforms and catcher's mits to get to the merchandise. But we were all proud of those little boys from Reynosa and I've always hoped that later life treated them as well. They were a great bunch of boys.

But by the time my own son got started in Little League, I was writing sports and I tried to avoid as much contact with Little League parents as was possible. We ran results of all the games.

But what many of the parents wanted was star billing for their sons and especially pictures and I was photographer at the time. My own son was playing in the Pee Wee league in Pecos on a team called the Pelicans and they were league champions. They played on the very two nights I had to work late at the paper and so I saw few games. I always took Jim Bob and one of his sisters, Carolyn, to the game. She kept an eye on him and did the family yelling and I picked them up when the game was over.

One night a storm hit while they were out there. I ran out of the paper office and started driving across town to the ball park. There was baseball sized hail falling, electricity went out all over town and there was complete darkness. Rain fell in sheets and the streets were quickly flooded.

I thought as I drove as quickly as I could to the park, "Surely some of his teammates' parents picked up those two kids because they all know I work on game nights."

They had not. I suppose they might have been beaten to death by hail except for Carolyn. She kicked the door to the concessions' stand open and they were huddled inside that rickety little building.

To say I was upset was putting it mildly. I didn't say anything until the following day when the mother of one of the Vols, which was the opposing team came in the newspaper.

The Vols had won for five years straight. The night before the Pelicans had beaten them right before the storm. The Mother who came into the paper complained, "I think they ought to play that game over. Our boys were nervous because of the storm, and we always win."

Now just for starters, she was one of four women that my daughter told me she had clutched at and asked for a ride out of the storm. She had shrugged her off without an answer.

I will not tell you here what I said to her that day. Let it suffice to say that it was not nice. And her answer was "Well you just don't understand. I was upset because we lost. Obviously you don't care about victory."

I do recall that at that point I didn't say any more at all. But she's right that I thought it was more important that those kids be taken out of the storm than that either team win the game.

Last year here in Big Spring, Jim Bob had occasion to remember the incident. He was a lifeguard at the city pool when the season opened. A school group was having a party and a hail storm hit. Parents came after all but two young boys rather quickly. He asked the teacher about those two and she said, "Oh they live way across town, and she drove off."

He told the two boys to get in his car. One of them echoed, "We live way across town." And Jim Bob, with the memory of breaking into that concession stand answered, "I don't care if you live in Lamesa. Get in the car." And he took them home.

I don't know why I told this old winding tale, except that Little League season is starting again. And it's good. And it can be fun.

But parents, please keep your perspective. There aren't too many life and death decisions made out there. Unless you have a heart attack when your child is called out...out by the Little League fence.

Tax evasion nets Pampa man term in prison

DALLAS (AP) — A Pampa man has been sentenced to prison and a Denton man awaits sentencing after one pleaded guilty to income tax evasion and the other was convicted of similar charges, the Internal Revenue Service said today.

Lawrence Paronto of Pampa, after pleading guilty in federal court in Amarillo, was sentenced by U.S. District Judge Halbert O. Woodward to nine months in prison and fined $7,500.

In Dallas, a federal jury found James H. Normile, doing business as Barney's Auto Service in Denton, guilty of trying to evade his and his wife's personal income tax for 1972 by failing to report tax due of $33,978. He was acquitted in U.S. District Judge Wayne Justice's court of similar charges for 1973 and 1974.

Normile could receive up to five years in prison and $10,000 fine. No date was set for sentencing.

Paronto pleaded guilty to one count of evasion following an investigation by special IRS agents stationed in Lubbock. He waived indictment.

Kavanagh is permanent MHMR commissioner

AUSTIN — John J. Kavanagh, M.D., has been appointed as the permanent commissioner of the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation.

Dr. Kavanagh has been serving as acting commissioner since March 1 when Kenneth D. Gaver, M.D., resigned the post to enter private practice.

The appointment was announced at a special meeting of the Texas Board of Mental Health and Mental Retardation.

"We are extremely pleased over Dr. Kavanagh's decision to accept the appointment," said Edwin R. VanZandt of Rusk, chairman of the board. "The department is fortunate to have a man with the ability, experience and proven leadership of Dr. Kavanagh to take over as commissioner.

"He has done an outstanding job as acting commissioner. We are confident he will continue to perform in the manner which will bring unity throughout the system and renewed efforts to provide the best of care for the mentally ill and mentally retarded citizens of Texas."

VanZandt said Dr. Kavanagh's initial duties will be to recommend to the board his choices for positions of deputy commissioners for mental health and mental retardation services.

The position of deputy commissioner for mental health services has been vacant since March 1 when Dr. Kavanagh vacated that post to serve as the acting commissioner. James E. Craft, Ed. D., resigned the position of deputy commissioner for mental retardation services April 30.

Dr. Kavanagh was serving as a psychiatrist and director of residential services at San Antonio State Hospital when he was appointed deputy commissioner for mental health services last Jan. 3.

The 59-year-old Kavanagh had been on the staff at San Antonio State Hospital since September 1974 when he retired from the U.S. Air Force as a colonel.

After receiving his medical degree from Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, Penn., in January 1944, Dr. Kavanagh entered the U.S. Army as a captain, attending the school of military psychiatry, Mason General Hospital, Long Island, N.Y., and serving as a psychiatrist at a convalescent hospital.

In July 1950 Dr. Kavanagh transferred to the U.S. Air Force and he spent more than 13 of his 30 years of military service in Texas.

Dr. Kavanagh and his wife have two sons, John Joseph Kavanagh Jr., M.D., who is completing his residence in internal medicine at the University of South Carolina, Charleston, S.C., and James Kavanagh, who is a premedical student at San Diego State University.

Two firms get certificates

The Disabled American Veterans presented certificates of appreciation to Price Construction Co., Big Spring, and Halliburton Construction of Snyder when they met Thursday night.

Jo Ann Jeter accepted the Price certificate presented by Tom Babb, Joe Fowler and Don Odell Williams, both of Snyder, also received certificates.

The certificates were given in appreciation for assistance with material for wheel chair ramps constructed by the D.A.V. at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post Home.
