GRIEF FOR SOME—PRAYER FOR OTHERS — Mrs. Jean Smith (left) cries out in grief as she is comforted by her husband, Terry, after learning that her daughter Shannon, 9, had died Sunday when a church roof in Garland, Tex., collapsed on top of a praying congregation.

At right, a visibly shaken and dripping wet Chris Blackshear prays just moments after he escaped from the church. Behind the young boy is his mother, Judy Blackshear. Besides the one death, 57 others were injured, five critically.

Church roof collapses

GARLAND, Texas (AP) — Services at the Walnut Village Church of Christ had barely begun. Worshipers had their heads bowed in prayer when disaster struck.

"I just had a feeling something was going to happen," Mike Cain, 18, said Sunday. "I looked toward the ceiling. Then there was this explosion and the ceiling fell. It was like being under a waterfall."

The pinewood roof and heavy beams crashed into the sanctuary under the weight of water collected from an overnight rain of almost 2 inches.

Some 200 members of the congregation screamed. Nine-year-old Shannon Smith was killed. Fifty-seven other people were injured, five critically.

Gene Griffin, a church elder who was leading the prayer, said: "It had rained a lot, but apparently the flat roof was not strong enough to support the weight. The drain apparently wasn't working properly."

The roof fell at 10:35 a.m. Ten minutes earlier the sanctuary was empty.

"Thank God my parents were late getting here," said Cain, who was narrowly missed by a falling beam.

The roof of the sanctuary looked like it had been bombed. Debris was piled high on church pews.

Bill Allen, who was sitting just four rows from the back, was knocked into

Female deputies' suit under way

Many of the Howard County officials were in Abilene today where the lawsuit filed by female deputies in federal court was due to start trial at 9:30 a.m.

The case involves two local deputies, Bernice Nail and Rachel Schaffer, and is filed against Howard County, the county judge and the county commissioner's court.

All of the commissioners, the county judge, county attorney, county judge's secretary, the sheriff and the two deputies involved all were in Abilene today.

Judge Leo Brewster is presiding over the civil dispute which revolves around the salaries of the female deputies being less than salaries of male deputies.

Council to discuss tax office merger

Big Spring City Council members may consider combining the city's tax office with Howard County's tax office during the Council meeting at 9 a.m. Tuesday in the City Council room.

The topic was tabled from an earlier meeting.

In other business, council members will consider a request for additional help in the district attorney's office, and will discuss appointments to the Electrical and Traffic Commission boards. A resolution to name the water plant is also included on the agenda.

Other items on the agenda include: —consideration of approval of minutes for a special meeting of May 18, 1978.

—consideration of claim for damages—Tom Passmore

—consideration of claim for damages—Leonard Smith

—consideration of request for temporary permit to place a mobile home at 3808 Calvin — Mrs. Miles Moore

—consideration of approval of final plat for Jerry Worthy subdivision

—consideration of acceptance of Steering Committee meeting of May 9

—consideration of awarding bids for 2½ ton trucks, and 2 one ton trucks

—consideration of awarding bids for property at 15th and Gregg

—consideration of permission to advertise for bids for chemicals: Activated Carbon, Liquid Chlorine, Hydrated Lime, Liquid Aluminum Sulfate —consideration of second and final reading of ordinance changing building permit fees

—consideration of acceptance of parks and Recreation Board minutes for meeting of May 15, 1978

Despite agitations by rebs

No holdups in landings

NARITA, Japan (AP) — After a night of violent protest demonstrators, Japan's new international airport handled its first 23 incoming flights without a major hitch Sunday while airport foes rallied outside its barbed-wire gates.

Japan Airlines President Shizuo Asada greeted the captain and crew of the first passenger plane to land on the single runway of the embattled Narita airport, 41 miles from Tokyo. The crew and passengers were given special certificates and free champagne.

Departures from Narita are to begin Monday.

Outside, 2,500 radicals who oppose the airport snake-danced and shouted anti-government slogans while an equal number of riot police watched from behind trenches and steel fences.

The airport opening had been postponed 11 times in seven years because of opposition from environmentalists, radical political groups and local farmers who engaged in bloody clashes with police. Opponents say farmers were forced to sell their land to make way for the airport and that the facility will pollute the environment.

Ceremonies honoring the $1-billion airport's opening were held Saturday, guarded by 13,000 riot police.

That evening 19 policemen were injured, two of them seriously, when 150 radicals attacked one of the airport's barricaded gates with firebombs and bottles filled with a nauseating chemical.

Opponents stuck to their positions Sunday at 35 barricaded strongholds outside the airport grounds.

"We aim to have Narita closed down," said a nurse at one of the field hospitals run by the demonstrators. "The landing of a couple of planes is no reason for the government to shout 'Banzai' long life."

Sunday evening, an unidentified woman called a government office in Tokyo, saying she had thrown bacteria in the water works that serves the airport and 4,500 nearby homes.

Water processing was shut down for at least five hours while officials checked the water, but police said a full day's supply of drinkable water was in reserve.

Jack Little, attorney representing the college and Gerald Fugit, representing the plaintiff were apparently notified by letter from the federal court.

Ms. Skalicky sued the college in regard to what she claimed was unfair promotions in the Fine Arts Department, discriminating against her as a female employee.

The judgment will be rendered in federal court following the completion of two other cases being tried in that court.

Jack Little, attorney representing the college and Gerald Fugit, representing the plaintiff were apparently notified by letter from the federal court.

Ms. Skalicky sued the college in regard to what she claimed was unfair promotions in the Fine Arts Department, discriminating against her as a female employee.

Supreme Court won't intervene

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today refused to intervene in an unusual libel lawsuit — one in which a television news producer sued a nuclear power firm.

The justices turned down an appeal by Pacific Gas and Electric Co. and one of its engineers aimed at blocking a second trial on charges filed by Donald Widener, formerly a producer for KNBC-TV in Los Angeles.

The original jury trial ended in a $7.7 million award for Widener, but a new trial was ordered last November by the California Court of Appeal.

Bradley leaving band post

Bill Bradley, veteran high school band director with a long line of first division ratings and 11 years of sponsoring Campus Review, requested the administration to reassign him as the Runnels Junior High Band director next year.

Supt. Lynn Hise said, "The transfer was granted with deep appreciation for Bradley's service to the school and community and for his excellent band program."

Bradley's reason for requesting the change was twofold, "I really like working with junior high band members and have done so extensively at band camps. I also would like to be out of the pressure spot after 12 years here and six in other school systems under constant pressure of the high school band program."

Bradley said, "I will do my best to build the program at the junior high level and I expect to have a lot of fun doing it."

The Campus Review, an outstanding band program which is considered one of the best in Texas and which performed at numerous state student council conventions, will probably be cancelled.

"The program takes tremendous effort and takes a lot out of the directors and the kids. It is increasingly expensive and the margin of profit slim," Bradley pointed out.

Big Spring has the memory of 11 years of outstanding performances.

Bradley added, "I love Big Spring and definitely wanted to stay in Big Spring and appreciate the opportunity to serve at the junior level."

Supt. Hise said, "His replacement has not yet been named and we are delighted to have Bradley working with the band program anywhere in the system."

College favored in suit ruling

Attorneys in the case of Mary Skalicky vs. Howard College, the board of trustees and Dean Ben Johnson, have received word from Judge Leo Brewster in Abilene that findings will favor the defendants.

The judgment will be rendered in federal court following the completion of two other cases being tried in that court.

Jack Little, attorney representing the college and Gerald Fugit, representing the plaintiff were apparently notified by letter from the federal court.

Ms. Skalicky sued the college in regard to what she claimed was unfair promotions in the Fine Arts Department, discriminating against her as a female employee.

Small device is exploded

WASHINGTON (AP) — A small explosive device blew up today on the sidewalk near the Justice Department's headquarters, causing little damage. No injuries were reported.

District of Columbia police spokesman J.C. Gentile said bomb squad experts were attempting to determine what kind of device was used and who placed it on the ground under a sign reading "Department of Justice."

Hedda Polanski, a public information officer with the department, said the device was a pipebomb.

Police roped off the Constitution Avenue side of the Justice Department and police squads using specially trained dogs searched the area for other bombs.

Gentile said there were no immediate indication of who was responsible.

Virtually the only sign of the explosion was a shiny metal shard about eight inches long on the sidewalk in front of the building.

HELP ON THE WAY — A young woman in Kolwezi, Zaire, waves as French paratroops descend on the town May 13 to save Europeans trapped in Shaba province after rebels invaded the area from Angola.

Zaire death toll reported at 170

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Rebels went on a rampage of murder and rape during their "hunt for the white man" in the Kolwezi fighting, survivors said on arrival from Zaire's copper-mining capital where 170 whites were reported killed. Some accused Zairean troops of looting.

About 1,700 of the 2,500 Europeans and Americans trapped during the May 13-20 siege had been flown to Europe by this morning as French and Belgian paratroopers mopped up rebel resistance in Shaba Province.

The French Defense Ministry in Paris said rebel forces armed with Soviet-made weapons remained concentrated in a six-mile radius around Kolwezi and were still within small arms range of its airport.

Olivier Stirn, France's Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, told a radio interviewer in Paris that at least 170 whites had been killed in the Kolwezi area. Scores of others, including 50 French citizens, are missing and may be held hostage by the rebels, Stirn said.

Following reports of Belgian-French differences over the combined paratroop operation the office of French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing said Belgian Prime Minister Leo Tindemans telephoned the president today to express thanks "for French efforts to ensure the security of Belgian citizens in Kolwezi."

A Belgian refugee arriving in Brussels who identified himself only as Dupont, an engineer for Zaire's state-owned Gecamines company, said 120 white deaths were confirmed.

He said the last whites, mostly doctors and Gecamines managers, were evacuated from Kolwezi Sunday night.

Claude Mercury, a French survivor arriving here, said he feared 170-180 whites had died. Sotiris Casar, a Briton married to an Italian, said on reaching Rome that he believed 200 whites were killed.

Previous reports from the paratroops who chased the rebels from Kolwezi over the weekend said the rebels killed at least 100 whites, 150 Zaireans and suffered 200 dead of their own.

"It was if the hunting season had been opened in Kolwezi. The hunt was a hunt for the white man," a mining engineer among the survivors who arrived in Brussels said Sunday.

He said four of his neighbors went to their garden gates to find out what was going on in the pre-dawn hours of May 13 and were killed by bursts of rebel machine-gun fire.

Another survivor said the rebels "kept on firing useless volleys in all direction with no reason," and that ragged armed boys were "looting and shooting those refusing to hand over their watches or money while rebels looked on or took part."

One woman said she fled to a private club in Kolwezi "where I knew there were some food preserves. The Zaire army city headquarters was nearby. Some Zaire army soldiers came and said they would protect us. They emptied all the ladies' handbags and pocketed their contents. One lady had a box with money. They took the box away from her."

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Confusion

Q: If the state passes ad valorem tax on savings accounts, will they also tax the retirement funds of servicemen, teachers, and civil servants?

A: According to the several persons we talked to, there is some confusion here. The state is not presently taxing cash income. Neither are the city or the county. Neither are they considering the idea, according to our sources. If they do, the proposed bill would have to be examined to see what effect it would have.

House working on tax bill Senate debates labor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators pick up this week what they left off on Friday, caught up in a filibuster on proposed labor law revision that may drag on for weeks.

House members, meanwhile, are preparing to vote later in the week on a tax proposal President Carter doesn't like.

And key congressmen working on the president's stalled energy plan say this may be the week they win approval in a House-Senate conference committee for a long-sought compromise on natural gas deregulation.

Opponents of the proposed overhaul of labor laws began their filibuster Tuesday. Senate Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd announced two days after he will allow the talkathon to go on uninterrupted at least until early June.

By Stenholm here Headquarters opened

By MARJ CARPENTER
Charles Stenholm, candidate for Representative of the 17th District in the June 3 runoff, officially opened his headquarters here this morning.

The headquarters are located at the office of one of his coordinators, M. R. Koger, 107 W. 4th. Koger and Clyde McMahon are spearheading a steering committee of 30 persons directing his campaign efforts here.

Stenholm and a group from Stamford were going door-to-door and visiting key community leaders here today.

In his brief speech at the ribbon cutting ceremonies this morning, the candidate again thanked Big Springers and persons from Howard County for helping him in his effort to represent the district.

Stenholm's main concerns on lessening of government regulations and interference in the lives of individual citizens, his concerns about inflation, energy, agriculture and senior citizens.

He backs the deregulation of oil, is for the Right to Work law and all laws that protect the individual's rights, and for farmers receiving more stable markets and a fair return on their investments.

BURROUGHS DIES — Former New Mexico Gov. John Burroughs is shown in 1975 with then Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter. Burroughs died Sunday in Dallas, at the age of 71. He was admitted to the Granville C. Morton Hospital last Sunday for treatment of a lung infection, which was complicated by pneumonia. The Democrat, who lived in Portales, served as governor of New Mexico in 1959-60.

Rewards are posted

ATLANTA (AP) — Full-page ads offering a $100,000 reward for information leading to the conviction of the gunman who wounded Hustler magazine owner Larry Flynt ran in the Atlanta Journal-Constitution and the Gwinnett Daily News of Lawrenceville.

The Sunday ads, which said Flynt's wife Althea is offering the reward, directed responses to the Gwinnett County Police Department.

Flynt was shot in March during a break in his trial in Lawrenceville on charges of distributing obscene materials. A mistrial was declared. Flynt, paralyzed from the hips down since the shooting, is being treated at University Hospital in Columbus, Ohio.

'They expect return'

PRINCESS ANNE, Md. (AP) — United Nations Ambassador Andrew Young told graduates of the University of Maryland-Eastern Shore that taxpayers have invested in them and "we expect a return."

"All education in the nation, public and private, is half subsidized by taxes and endowment," he said at commencement exercises Sunday. "So, in a sense, society has made an investment in you and we expect a return on that investment."

Young suggested that the graduates take time to travel or perhaps join the Peace Corps.

To lead crusade

NEW YORK (AP) — The Rev. William Sloane Coffin Jr. says his Riverside Church is hiring his old anti-war colleague, Cora Weiss, to organize a series of conferences promoting worldwide disarmament.

"The arms race must not be stabilized, it must be reversed," Coffin said from the pulpit Sunday. He claimed that current efforts at arms control cannot guarantee nuclear weapons will not be used.

Mrs. Weiss, whom Coffin called "one of the best organizers in the country," was in Vietnam Sunday to help deliver American wheat donated by a campaign she organized for Church World Services.

In 1972 Mrs. Weiss, Coffin and several other peace movement figures went to Hanoi to escort home three American prisoners of war whom the North Vietnamese had released to the anti-war movement.

Quite a following

NEW YORK (AP) — Vice President Walter Mondale, in Brooklyn to take part in a parade marking Norway's Independence Day, quipped after meeting Norway's ambassador to the United States, Christian Sommerfeld, that "I represent more Norwegians than the ambassador does."

Mondale referred to the sizeable population of Norwegian descendants in his home state of Minnesota.

The parade on Sunday was part of a weekend tour on behalf of Democratic candidates in Minnesota, Illinois, New Jersey and New York.

Weather Texas Panhandle has hail, wind

Hail, wind and heavy rain buffeted the Texas Panhandle last night and early today. Several counties were under severe thunderstorm warnings.

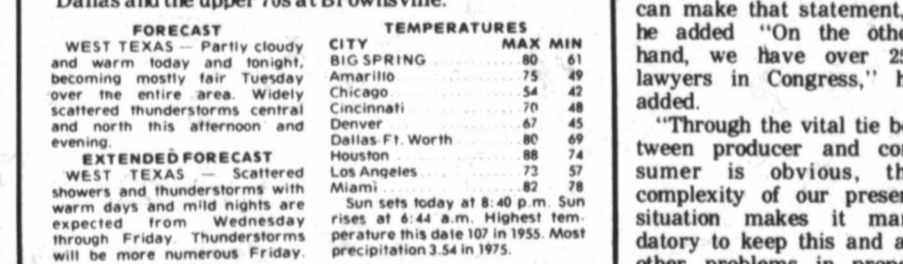

Hail the size of golf balls fell in the Amarillo area around midnight. Amarillo reported receiving .98 of an inch of rain, and streets in the city flooded briefly.

Skies were mostly cloudy over the state with only a few amounts of rain reported. Daltart reported .21 of an inch and Waco received .08. Some thunderstorms remained after midnight over portions of western and northeastern Texas but decreased rapidly.

Early morning temperatures ranged from the lower 50s in the Panhandle to the lower 70s around Dallas and the upper 70s at Brownsville.

FORECAST
WEST TEXAS — Partly cloudy and warm today and tonight, becoming mostly fair Tuesday over the entire area. Widely scattered thunderstorms central and north this afternoon and evening.

EXTENDED FORECAST
WEST TEXAS — Scattered showers and thunderstorms with warm days and mild nights are expected from Wednesday through Friday. Thunderstorms will be more numerous Friday.

WEATHER FORECAST — Showers are forecast Monday for the Northwest and from eastern Texas and the central Mississippi Valley to the southern regions of the upper Great Lakes.

Colleges combining learning, leisure

A growing number of U.S. colleges and universities are offering summer programs designed to combine learning and leisure for the entire family and to offer a relatively low-cost alternative to traditional vacations.

Most of the programs are sponsored by alumni associations, but are open to nonalumni as well, sometimes at a slightly higher cost. Participants generally spend the morning in classes. Afternoons are devoted to cultural events, sports and travel. Separate programs for youngsters are geared to age and offer a mix of activities. Families eat and live on campus, usually in dormitories.

The setting of the vacation college can provide a free bonus: families attending American University in Washington, D.C., for example, can sightsee in the nation's capital; participants in the summer Alumni College at Dartmouth College at Hanover, N.H., get a chance to enjoy the New England scenery.

One of the oldest programs in the country is Cornell University's vacation college, now in its 11th year.

Police beat Woman is shot here Sunday

Linda Juarez, 1503 Wood Apt. B was shot in the thigh at 6:45 p.m. Sunday near the Comanche Trail Park Amphitheater. She was treated and released from Malone-Hogan Emergency Room for the injury to her right leg. Charges may be filed in the incident, pending further investigation.

James Hicks, 2911 W. 80 Apt. 59, reported to police that a subject he escorted out of the Tap Room Bar around 10:20 p.m. Saturday turned on him, pulling a knife. Hicks received a minor cut to the arm, and he filed aggravated assault charges on the subject. An arrest was made by police minutes later.

Police were called to the Ebony Lounge around 9:21 p.m. Saturday, where a pistol had been discharged. A female subject was arrested and charged with unlawfully carrying a firearm on premises licensed for the sale of alcohol.

Edna Smith, 105 W. 8th, reported that she was assaulted while at Betty Lou's Lounge around 12 a.m. Saturday. Charges have not been filed in the incident.

Two juveniles were arrested around 4:20 p.m. Saturday after a patrol car stopped to investigate an improperly parked car. The two juveniles in the car were arrested for possession of alcoholic beverages and possession of a yellow powder believed to be a controlled substance.

Tony Guzman, 707 E. 6th, reported that the side window of his car was shot out by vandals using a pellet gun around 12:30 a.m. today. Value of the damage was set at $35.

Two windows were broken out of the J&R Chevron, 910 Lamesa, between 6 p.m. Saturday and 7 a.m. Monday in an burglary attempt. The subjects apparently attempted but were unable to enter a locked office area, and the only loss suffered was the $22 to replace the two windows.

Lois McElreath, 2502 Broadway, reported that vandals cut two window screens at her home, causing $50 damage between 3 p.m. and 7 p.m. Sunday.

An accident at the intersection of Aylford and W. 5th at 6:08 p.m. Sunday sent Hughston L. McKendree, 607 W. 8th, to the Malone-Hogan emergency room where he was treated and released for minor injuries. McKendree was the driver of the one vehicle, and Carroll L. Wells, 1451 Muir, driver of the other vehicle, was uninjured.

Three fender benders were investigated by police Sunday, only one of the six drivers involved being a Big Spring resident.

Vehicles driven by Carol Ann Adams, Ackerly, and Donna Glasscock, Box 2023, collided at the intersection of 15th and Nolan at 5:40 p.m. Sunday.

At 7:47 p.m. Sunday, vehicles driven by Otis Duane Hearn, Brownfield, and Robert Casey, St. Charles, Mo., collided on Lamesa drive, just north of the I-20 north service road.

Vehicles driven by Richard Thomas Hanson, Port Arthur, and Willie Eugene Byrd, Stanton, collided at 10:15 p.m. Sunday in the 2700 block of Gregg.

visit Tuesday

Bob Dickenson, Democratic candidate for the 11th Court of Civil Appeals, plans to campaign in Big Spring Tuesday.

He will attend a Rotary Club meeting as a guest of Big Spring attorney Bob Miller. Dickenson's wife Joan, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Dickenson of Sweetwater, will also be here.

In the May 6 election, Dickenson won 15 of the 23 counties that comprise the 11th Court and received over 26,000 votes.

"It's always a pleasure for us to visit Big Spring," said Dickenson. "We appreciate the wonderful support the citizens of Big Spring and Howard County have given us."

Dickenson graduated with honors from Texas Tech in 1954 and attended Southern Methodist University Law School on an academic scholarship, graduating in 1957. He was assistant professor of law at Baylor, and has had a full time general civil law practice in Abilene since 1960.

"I want to serve on the Court of Civil Appeals because my academic background and my experience in general civil law practice have prepared me to make a contribution to our system of justice," said the candidate for the 11th Court of Civil Appeals.

NEAR FALL — Farrell Hettig, a member of the famous "Great Wallendas" high wire act, loses his balance and nearly falls during a performance Sunday in Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum. Mario Bogino looks on. The performance was billed as a "Daredevil Spectacular" with the high wire suspended 33 1/2 feet above the coliseum floor. Hettig recovered and the show went on.

Bonilla re-elected Energy president Soldiers still cleaning

LAREDO, Texas (AP) — Fresh from re-election as state director of the League of United Latin American Citizens, Ruben Bonilla said Sunday that the Carter administration human rights program is a "farce" as far as Mexican-Americans are concerned.

"It's protecting those abroad, but ignoring Mexican-Americans at home," Bonilla said. "We have not seen him (Carter) since the campaign."

LULAC finished its state convention at Laredo Sunday by re-electing Bonilla and installing Ray Ramirez of San Antonio as deputy director.

Bonilla said 2,500 persons attended the convention, making it the largest in the organization's history.

Delegates heard from several politicians, including a heated exchange between Bob Krueger, Democratic nominee for the U.S. senate, and his November opponent, Sen. John Tower.

While Democratic gubernatorial nominee John Hill was on hand, his Republican opponent, Bill Clements, was not.

"He (Clements) sent a Mailgram," Bonilla said. "We were very disappointed."

Bonilla said he was also disappointed with remarks by a keynote speaker, U.S. Immigration Commissioner Leonel Castillo.

"He didn't say he agreed with the sum of our argument on the dilemma of the undocumented worker," Bonilla said. "He's cautious and not overly assertive on the administration's program in that area."

"I think it fair to say we were slightly disappointed in the talk by Castillo, but we admire him greatly. We recognize the difficulty of his position. We hold the president accountable."

Bonilla said a private talk with Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, indicated it would be tough to pass the kind of illegal alien legislation desired by LULAC this year.

Bonilla said he probably would be on hand Tuesday for a meeting in Dallas among heads of several Mexican-American groups. The aim of that meeting is to press for a solution to what the groups call police abuse of minority citizens.

"There is a new social and political consciousness now," Bonilla said. "It's important that those in office and those seeking office recognize the political sophistication of Mexican-Americans."

Besides LULAC, other organizations expected at the Tuesday meeting were the G.I. Forum, IMAGE and the Mexican-American Legal Defense and Educational Fund (MALDEF).

Other individuals expected to be on hand were Jose Angel Gutierrez of Crystal City, cofounder of La Ra Unita party; Reyes Lopez Tijerina, leader of a group that has fought for land grants in New Mexico.

BREST, France (AP) — Two months after the world's worst oil spill, 6,000 French soldiers are still cleaning thick black tar foot by foot from the beaches, rocks and bays of northern Brittany.

"A month ago, two weeks ago, I was optimistic. Now I'm frankly pessimistic," said Lt. Col. Jean Croguennec, senior Civil Defense officer at pollution clean-up headquarters.

"We clean a beach and 24 hours later, its covered again with tar balls the sea has washed up. We've cleaned some beaches six times now," he said.

More than 219,000 tons of crude oil — the equivalent of about 65 million gallons — were spilled into the sea when the American-owned but Liberian-registered supertanker Amoco Cadiz was wrecked March 17 on the Porsalot rocks north of Brest and less than two miles offshore.

Today fish from the oil-soaked inshore waters remain tainted, France's richest oyster beds will not be productive for months to come and the fast-approaching season in France's second largest tourist region has been severely threatened.

"All the big mechanical work is over, pumping oil from the waterline and scraping beaches with bulldozers," Croguennec said. "Now it's a job of picking up tar balls one by one, shoveling oil-soaked sand from between the rocks, washing down the rocks. It's a Herculean task and it seems endless."

Thousands of volunteers came to Brittany shortly after the spill to help clean up the area but created such difficulties of organization and lodging they were gently encouraged to leave.

In the past two months, the clean-up has produced 32,000 tons of waste liquids, most being treated at recovery stations, some 60,000 tons of bulk solid waste, and a further 242,000 small plastic sacks of solids that will be treated and used as road-fill.

The soldiers work two-week spells on the clean-up, rotating from bases all over France. "We always send them to a different beach when they come back, it's better for morale," Croguennec said.

A squad of 26 men from a mechanized infantry division was at work on the 100-yard beach at Pors-Mer near Plouescat, filling plastic sacks with tar, sand and seaweed.

"We shifted 30 tons one day," said the squad's lieutenant, "but twice a day, with each tide, the stuff comes in again."

The latest technique is to hose down the rocks with near-boiling fresh water from high pressure pumps. After much scientific debate, dispersants are finally being used to clean tourist spots in carefully selected coastal spots. "It's a trade-off we have to make against possible environmental damage," Croguennec said.

Authorities seeking for escapees

BUTLER, Ala. (AP) — Alabama and Mississippi authorities are on the lookout for two Oklahoma prison escapees who, according to authorities, are suspects in several murders in Southeastern states.

The search for the suspects centered on this Choctaw County community last Friday when a car believed to have been used in shooting attacks on a Butler policeman was found abandoned in a wooded area.

A second car believed to have been used in an attack on a state trooper last Wednesday in Sumter County was found Sunday.

Later Sunday the search was scaled down here, but Mississippi authorities were placed on alert for the suspects, who were identified as escapees from the Oklahoma State Penitentiary in McAlester, Oklahoma.

Mississippi Highway Patrol investigator Walter Tucker identified the escapees as Claude Eugene Dennis, 35, serving 50 years for manslaughter, and Michael Lancaster, 25, serving 25 years for armed robbery.

Alabama trooper spokesman Lt. Roy Smith said the suspects "are believed to have been involved in several other murders" in Southeastern states. He said the suspects are "heavily armed and dangerous."

Farm Meat scraps a benefit?

WASHINGTON (AP) — A proposal under consideration that would let processors salvage meat scraps now discarded with carcass bones of cattle and hogs probably would benefit consumers at the expense of farmers, according to a new study.

The study involves a plan which has bounced around the Agriculture Department for more than two years to let processors grind up ribs, neckbones and other parts of an animal's carcass and salvage the untrimable meat by forcing the mixture through sieves.

Called MDM — for mechanically deboned meat — by the industry, the salvaged mixture contains finely ground bits of bone about the size of table pepper which pass through the sieves with the meat.

Initial plans for approving the process were thwarted by a U.S. District Court order after several consumer groups filed petitions against the department for not following proper administrative procedures. Last Oct. 5 the USDA again proposed to allow processors to use mechanical deboning.

A final decision on the proposal has been pending for weeks but officials say it may be settled by the end of this month.

Meanwhile, the department's Economics, Statistics and Cooperatives Service has worked out, using computers, some possible financial results using different sets of rules if the process is allowed.

Colorado City honoree at Lubbock reception

COLORADO CITY — Charles C. Thompson, for whom a professorship has been endowed at Texas Tech, will be honored at a reception Wednesday at the Lubbock Club in Lubbock.

The invitation-only reception will be held from 5:30-7 p.m. and will be hosted by Tech President Dr. Cecil Mackey and the board of regents.

The $250,000 professorship in agricultural finance is the first of its kind in Texas.

The money will be used for research and to enhance a professor's state salary. Thompson served on the Tech board of regents from 1937 to 1957 and was chairman of the board from 1944 to 1956. Tech awarded him an honorary doctorate of law and named a new camp dormitory in his honor.

Born in 1896 in Erath County, Thompson has spent his life in West Texas. He and Mrs. Thompson now live on a farm and ranch near Colorado City and he remains active as a senior partner in the law firm of Thompson and Butler.

In 1927, Thompson was one of the first ranchers to join the Colorado City National Farm Loan Association. In 1932, he helped organize the Although racial segregation practices have ceased in 16 Southern city governments studied, it will be more than 50 years before blacks and women are fully represented in upper-level jobs and salaries, the Southern Regional Council reported.

Blacks and women in overwhelming proportions hold low-status, low-paying jobs, while white men hold jobs with status and responsibility, said the study, which was released Sunday.

"Even 50 years is an optimistic estimate," said Steve Suitts, executive director of the SRC.

"Unless there is a greater commitment to affirmative action, blacks and women may never participate fully in the Southern city governments that they now fully support with their tax dollars," he said in a statement.

Using 1975 data from 16 cities, the study revealed that white men held nine out of 10 high-level positions, with classifications of professional, protective service worker or technician, the study shows.

Grouped together, blacks, other minorities and women held only one in 10 of all administrative positions, the SRC said.

Hustle 3 It calls for work

By Bill Albright Executive Vice President, Big Spring Area Ch. of Commerce Industrial Growth and Development

By this time, most of us have noted the economic indicator that reflected a lower registration in sales tax receipts for the month of April. While this is not surprising, and many other communities in the state showed a similar loss, we in the Big Spring area must be especially tuned to these trends.

Our economy will continue to be strong and healthy just as long as you and I work to keep it that way, and there are a number of things that we can do to continue our prosperity.

The first and probably most important thing is to think positive and to work to maintain the momentum that we have already established. At this point in time, we are the envy of every community that has closed a governmental installation, simply because our prosperity and economic base has increased instead of the usual severe depression noted by other similar communities.

Our merchants are especially to be congratulated because they have maintained their inventories and provided service in the face of an impending market decline. They must continue this positive measure if we, as a community, expect to grow and expand our population base and our trade area.

More people are coming to shop in the Big Spring area than ever before, and of course, we the consuming public have an obligation to our community. Remember, every dollar spent out of our Big Spring area is a help to those other cities and their population. But that's not the only disadvantage.

Those dollars that are spent by us away from home, actually hurt the Big Spring area. Because, those dollars spent represent a tax loss to our city. That means that you and I have to pay additional taxes to make up for that loss. So think twice, or even three times, before you go on a shopping trip away from the Big Spring area. Collectively, it can mean a world of difference for our immediate economic future.

Here is an example of a positive action to help keep our dollars working for us here at home. Acknowledging that there are times and circumstances that will take us out of town, be sure to fill your gas tank at our local stations before you go and if you don't have enough to make it all the way back to Big Spring — resist the urge to say "fill it up."

By only enough gas at that out-of-town station to get back home. This is just one example of helping our economy moving upward. You probably have some other good ideas along the same line. Share them with us and together we can do a lot to help build a Bigger...Better...Big Spring Area. Of course, it always helps to add an extra measure of HUSTLE!

Study makes Southwest look good

The young man or woman who aspires to become a business executive no longer has to look beyond the Southwest for opportunities, if indeed he or she ever did.

Demand for such people rose 43 per cent in the Southwest Region during the first quarter of 1978 over the last quarter in 1977, which means the five-state area embracing Arkansas, Louisiana, New Mexico and Oklahoma as well as Texas shares the runner-up spot with the Southeast Region.

THE NORTHEAST REGION, consisting of a ten-state area that includes Connecticut, Delaware, Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island and Vermont, showed a 52 per cent increase in the need for business executives.

The reports are included in the Executive Demand Index released by Arthur Young & Company.

Among executive functions in the Southwest, the largest gain was for financial executives, up 107 per cent during the first quarter of the year over the preceding 90-day period.

Operations executives positions rose 44 per cent with marketing and sales executive positions following with a 40 per cent climb in demand during the same period.

Compared to the same quarter in 1977, 1978 results reflected a 190 per cent boost in demand for financial executives. Demand, however, for engineering and science executives dropped 22 per cent.

Among industry groupings in the Southwest, non-manufacturing companies increased their demand for executives by 77 per cent and manufacturing companies' demand soared 43 per cent. Compared to the same period in 1977, first quarter demands for executives by manufacturing were up 67 per cent.

Financial service companies followed with a 50 per cent rise in demand and non-manufacturing companies with a 21 per cent boost.

THE INDEX, published quarterly, is limited to profit-oriented businesses and includes the demand of all top-and-middle-management positions analyzed by executive function, industrial grouping and geographical region. The index is based upon a systematic sample of advertisements for business executives in major U.S. business publications.

Nationally, the index reflected the fact that the demand for business executives rose by 26 per cent during the first 90 days of 1978 compared to the last quarter of '77. For the first time in three years, every geographical region of the country showed gains during the latest quarter.

Those who complain that America is no longer the land of opportunity probably didn't hear the knock on the door.

Stern coach

Around the rim

May baseball season never end! (I stand corrected — softball)

I enjoy work, racketball is fun, photography is my favorite hobby, but the coach better not throw me off the softball team. (That isn't a threat, Jay, it just came out that way).

I grew up in a family that was big on baseball. My father played a lot in high school — I even think he was a letterman player for Big Spring High — then played on the fast-pitch softball team as he got older.

when he watches my games, the other players think I've got a mad critic in the stands.

Actually, both he and I understand that he is just giving me tips that will help my playing, so that I won't make the same error twice. I make enough first time errors, and I repeat them quite often, but if Daddy is in the stands, I at least know why I did what I did wrong the second (third, or 20th) time I do it. (I think that makes sense, but I'm afraid I'll get confused if I try to proofread it to see!)

Lively fossil

Evans, Novak

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio — Rising at 6 a.m., Gov. James A. Rhodes took a private plane from the state capital to this languishing steel center to pursue the newest twist in his 35-year struggle for political survival: an assault against the federal government.

He blamed hard times in Youngstown on federal regulations imposed by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA). "Somewhere, somehow, someday, somebody has to stand up to the federal EPA," Rhodes declaimed in his high-pitched Buckeye twang. "If they had not set five years for cleaning up the Mahoning Valley, we would not have lost steel in Youngstown."

That is how Rhodes, up to now always the candidate of good times, handles the spotty business decline under his administration. He attacks Uncle Sam, never liked much by Ohioans anyway. Showing such dexterity, Republican Rhodes is narrowly favored to win an unprecedented fourth term as governor of this increasingly Democratic state.

RHODES IS sole survivor of the 1964 Cleveland death dance of the elephants when Republican governors tried to stop Barry Goldwater's presidential nomination. Scranton, Romney, Rockefeller — all the rest — are gone. Rhodes at age 68 survives, a highly invigorated fossil. By virtue of this feat, Jim Rhodes may have a lesson for the Republican party nationally.

Unlike conservative Republicans, he avoids such succulent social issues as busing, abortion, school prayer and gun control. "Jim would rather choke than give a straight opinion on gun control," one state party leader told us. Unlike liberal Republicans, he avoids high-tax governmental problem-solving.

What he does is ingratiate himself with the non-Republican majority — labor, the aged and blacks. Besides naming two blacks to his cabinet (including all-time Ohio State football great Bill Willis), Rhodes plays footsy with key black Democrats. He has a warm relationship, for instance, with Cleveland city council president George Forbes. He aims this year for 25 per cent of the black vote.

HIS FERTILE imagination conceived a non-partisan Golden Buckeye Club for senior citizens under state government auspices. The 637,826 oldsters have free club membership cards (each signed by James A. Rhodes) qualifying them for discounts in 20,632 Ohio stores.

This throwback to the famed Tammany Hall Christmas basket reflects his non-ideological, non-programmatic approach. Within minutes of scanning the morning's headlines for the latest fire, factory closing or natural disaster, he is flying to the scene for televised condolences and promises of help.

State Rep. Charles Kurfess, making a long-shot challenge against Rhodes in the June 6 Republican primary, is campaigning on the fact that Plain Jim is also Rich Jim. A millionaire thanks to fortuitous investments in Wendy's International hamburger chain, Rhodes has a posh condominium in Florida where he shoots golf in the 70s. But Democrats know from experience there is nothing to be gained from anti-Rhodes campaigns alleging either corruption or conspicuous consumption.

INSTEAD, strategists for his Democratic foe, Lt. Gov. Richard Celeste, plan to attack Rhodes' emphasis on new heavy industry for Ohio (most recently Ford and Honda plants) as out of date. When Youngstown Sheet and Tube announced last Sept. 19 it was closing down, Rhodes was in Youngstown for the next plant shift, promising workers to do everything he could.

MACEDONIA THE RICHMOND NEWS LEADER ON THE 14th APRIL 1978

Undernourishment can mean disease

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please tell me about celiac disease. What causes this in a little boy? We have been told to take him on wheat and rye products because he is allergic to them, but this is what causes his rundown condition. He just has not progressed physically. Are there other things that he should avoid? Could he be allergic to other substances? Can he ever get over this? — Mr. and Mrs. L.L.

You may have seen this referred to as "non-tropical sprue." It is the same disorder. Celiac disease comes from the Greek work for "belly," where the symptoms appear. Although it isn't a very common disorder, it's worth investigating in cases of unexplained lack of growth or nourishment in youngsters.

It is not strictly speaking an allergy, but an intolerance to the products you mention, one that is usually detected rather early in life. For reasons that are not clear, the small intestine cannot accept the presence of gluten in certain grains, specifically in wheat, oats, rye, barley, buckwheat, and malt. As a result the tiny nipple-like projections that line the inside of the small intestine are damaged. These "villi" are essential for the absorption of the nutrients in all food and this explains the lad's lack of nourishment. Eventually, most nutrients — fats, vitamins, minerals, even water are poorly absorbed. Other symptoms include chronic diarrhea, swollen stomach, and abdominal cramps.

On a glut-free diet the recovery is usually quite prompt, perhaps within a few weeks. The results of the diet are sufficiently pronounced so that diagnosis can be made or confirmed this way. When adhered to carefully the celiac disease patient can live a normal life, but will always have the problem.

The diet is difficult, but can be managed. Flours from rice, soy, corn and potatoes can be substituted. It is important to be aware of some unsuspected sources of gluten. I am thinking of such products as hot dogs, cold cuts, salad dressings, ice cream, and others to which grain fillers may be added. Milk may also have to be eliminated because a similar reaction to milk sugar may appear simultaneously with celiac disease.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have had fatty tumors in my body — on the arms, legs, and stomach — for years. Recently, the new doctor I have (in the town where I moved recently) surprised me by saying he wanted to have "a closer look" at them. I think he means a biopsy. Does this mean hospitalization? Are they possibly malignant? — Mrs. A.P.

If they have not changed in appearance over the years they probably are innocent fatty tumors (subcutaneous lipoma). It is not uncommon for fat persons to have them. They can be moved about freely under the skin, which means they are not attached to neighboring tissue.

The biopsy suggestions should not alarm you, a statement I know is easier to make than to be accepted. Your doctor has not had the opportunity to watch these growths over the years as did your former physician. The biopsy will determine the exact make-up of the lumps. The biopsy can be done in the doctor's office if he is set up for this. It is a simple procedure since the deposits are just under the skin.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Do you recommend use of the contraceptive pill for a woman who is breastfeeding a baby? — Mrs. G.J.

It's not advisable unless there is an overriding need to insure against another pregnancy at that time. As to the breastfeeding itself, there is some evidence that small amounts of the hormones may appear in the milk. How significant this is is not clear. The general rule is to avoid any unnecessary medication during breastfeeding. I suggest another type of contraceptive.

Dear Doctor: Does eating only the white of an egg for breakfast provide enough protein to be worthwhile? I mean for a person on a low-cholesterol diet who must forgo the egg yolk. Does the boiling change the cholesterol content of the egg at all? — E.P.

The white is quite wholesome. In fact, the white of one egg contains approximately four grams of protein compared to only three grams for the yolk. The boiling does not alter the cholesterol in the yolk.

Although cholesterol has been implicated in heart attacks and other circulatory troubles, it is also vital to human life. For this reason Dr. Thosteson has entitled his booklet, "Control Your Cholesterol Sensibly." For a copy write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Dear Editor: This letter is in reference to the upcoming county judge run-off election.

Judge Tune's opponent seems to think the only qualification needed to be county judge is a law degree. If this were so, I believe it would be required by law.

I would like to commend our present county judge, Bill Tune, on a job well done. He has conducted the county's business in a quiet, efficient manner. I understand our county now has a surplus of funds, and this cannot have been an easy accomplishment.

He conducts his court fairly and impartially and is always willing to listen.

I urge the voters of Howard County to support Bill Tune and re-elect him as our county judge. He deserves a second term.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Is it possible to be a Christian and yet also have a bad temper? I am thinking of one person in particular who flares up at the least thing, and yet he claims to be a Christian. — A.R.

DEAR A. R.: Becoming a Christian does not automatically make you perfect. In fact, we will never reach perfection this side of heaven. Yes, it is possible to be a Christian and still have particular sins that plague us and harm our witness. Your friend may well be a Christian, and yet he still has problems with this area of his life. However, I hope he is aware of the problem and is seeking to work on it.

I find that anger often is a difficult sin for some people to overcome. And yet it can do great harm, and our temper needs to be mastered by God. The Bible says, "Wrath is cruel, and anger is outrageous" (Proverbs 27:4). If allowed to go unchecked, anger can open the door to all sorts of temptations and sins. "In your anger do not sin: Do not let the sun go down while you are still angry, and do not give the devil a foothold" (Ephesians 4:26-27, New International Version).

Anger often comes because we want something to happen, and then we get angry when things don't go the way we want. As we grow closer to Christ, we become less concerned about ourselves and our plans. Many of the things that irritate us now will fade into insignificance when we are seeking God's will instead of our own.

Sin must never be excused, whether it is something obvious like a bad temper of something hidden like evil thoughts. But as we yield to Christ and seek the power of the Holy Spirit, we can begin to conquer sin. Our goal should be that of Paul: "Not that I have already obtained all this, or have already been made perfect, but I press on...toward the goal to win the prize for which God has called me heavenward in Christ Jesus" (Philippians 3:12, 14, NIV).

Here are facts

Jack Anderson,

WASHINGTON — Rosalynn Carter spoke to her husband recently about a problem that is upsetting their former neighbors in Georgia. Across the state, small family farms were devastated last year by drought, insects, alfatoxins, high fertilizer costs and low grain prices. Now an international investment firm is quietly buying up the distressed farms and converting them into corporate operations.

It's part of a national trend that we have been investigating for months. Foreign speculators, their pockets bulging with devalued dollars, are shopping for choice American acreage. By all accounts, they have already acquired a large piece of America. An estimated 21 per cent of all U.S. farm sales last year involved foreign purchasers, many of them dealing through dummy corporations.

THE FIRST LADY got word that Transatlantic Consultants, Inc., a West German corporation, was taking over family farms in Georgia. After talking it over with the president, she presented her information to White House counsel Robert Lipshutz. He promised the First Lady that he would investigate.

We can save him the trouble. We have traced the sale of at least 17,000 acres of fertile Georgia farmland to Transatlantic Consultants, which is based in Munich, Germany. The company is controlled by Christian Wolfner of Germany and Ferdinand Seefried of Austria.

Their contact in Georgia is a retired Air Force colonel named Philip Beegle. He has set up Southern Farm Services, Ltd., to manage the scattered farm properties of foreign investors.

When we reached Beegle on the telephone, he swore that he had nothing to do with Transatlantic Consultants. But we have confirmed that he is president of its subsidiary, Transatlantic Management Company of Atlanta, Ga.

Beegle does not approve of our investigation of the buying of American. "People are trying to blow this whole thing out of proportion," he snorted, "as if we were going to sell the whole country to the Arabs, and we all know that's not going to happen."

He demanded to know how we obtained land deeds documenting his purchases. When we refused to tell him, he refused to continue the discussion.

SO, IF you happen to be at the Comanche Trail softball park on a Friday evening, and you see some players in green uniforms on the field, with an over-40 man dressed in work jeans and shirt telling one of the players to "move in so you can field the ball," or "watch that hole between you and the second baseman," or "don't swing at balls THAT low," have no fear. He's not mad or irate — it's just my dad helping me out.

THE COMPANY also has German, Swiss and Dutch clients — but no Arab oil sheiks — who wish to invest in U.S. farmland, Seefried said. Extensive land purchases already have been made in Georgia, Florida, North Carolina, Texas and Virginia.

Beegle's lucrative association with Transatlantic began four years ago when he closed a Georgia farm deal for Seefried. Over the past few years, they have developed a complex but effective method for purchasing choice Georgia farm tracts with foreign capital.

Beegle places notices in local newspapers advertising that "out-of-state investors are willing to pay above-market prices" for Georgia farmland. He is often the first to know, therefore, when good acreage is available.

Many Georgia farmers, down on their luck and deeply in debt, were wiped out by last year's crop failures. Some managed to finance this year's crop with federal disaster loans. But others have sold out to Beegle and his foreign backers.

Jimmy Jackson, a farmer who took up Beegle's offer, told us: "I have no resentment since it was a big relief to sell the land at above-market prices."

BUT ANOTHER GEORGIA farmer, Tommy Kasey, rejected Beegle's approaches. Kasey said the middle man cautioned him "to keep the deal quiet because we got a lot of foreign investors behind this." The independent Georgia farmer kept his debt-ridden tract and joined the Farm Strike movement.

We were able to document the existence of at least seven different Transatlantic front corporations. One called Southeastern Cotton Industries, Inc., bought up 1,291 acres in Johnson County. Another called Soybean Hill purchased 1,100 acres in Jefferson County.

Deeds in our possession reveal that Beegle personally signed for 3,757 acres of farmland. The deeds don't indicate whose capital he used to make these particular purchases. Beegle profits from both the sale and management of the farms that are held by Transatlantic and its fronts.

PANDA BEARS MATE — Kang Kang, rear, 7½, and Lan Lan, 9½-year-old female Panda bear, rest in their cage Thursday morning after Ueno Zoo officials said the two Pandas successfully mated. The bears are gifts from the late Chinese Premier Chou En-Lai and until now only the Chinese have bred Pandas in captivity. Thursday's mating raised hope for offspring which will take approximately 150 days.

Retirement of counselor observed with luncheon

WESTBROOK — Preston C. Lightfoot, retiring counselor of Westbrook High School, was honored May 15 with a retirement luncheon in the Westbrook School Cafeteria.

PRESTON C. LIGHTFOOT

The school personnel presented him with a gold watch for his dedicated service. Thirty-three guests attended the event, including Mrs. Lightfoot. During the Westbrook School Awards Banquet held May 12 in the Civic Center, Lightfoot was presented a 20-year service pin. He was presented a silver engraved tray at the Westbrook School Commencement on May 16 in the school auditorium.

After graduating from Abilene High School, Lightfoot attended McMurry College where he received his B.A. degree. He began his teaching career as principal at North Park Junior High School, located just a few blocks north of Hardin-Simmons University.

Double graduation held for Westbrook students

Simmons' subject was the "Four Cs". He challenged the graduating seniors to fulfill the first "C" and continue their education. He identified the second "C" as confidence and encouraged them to have confidence in their school work and fellow man.

Graduating seniors were Gerald Colber, Ronnie Daise, Ray Geiger, Pansy Hale, Julie King, John Lightfoot, Alice Lopez, Bobby Moody, Miss Parsons, Erlinda Reyes, Gary Don Rich, Janice Ritchey and Richard Shurtell.

He stressed the importance of the third "C", competence, by encouraging them to work at acquiring the ability to do their lives' work well. The most important "C" he said, was caring for oneself, loved ones

Bowling team awards Does

Big Spring Drove No. 61 of the Benevolent Patriotic Order of Does of the U.S.A. met at 8 p.m., May 16, at the Elks Lodge Hall with Shirley Shirley Bodin presiding. A plaque was presented the Drove by the Drove-sponsored bowling team of the Pin Poppers League. The team won second place in the 1977-78 season. Members of the team are Marie Nichols, Kaye Davidson, Rosie Posey and Florence Bair.

Special awards were presented by Supt. Dawson. The coveted American Legion awards went to Pat Harris and Darren Henderson.

Following the presentation, the following reports were made. Kareni Mason made 15 dozen cookies and delivered them to the Big Spring State Hospital.

Perfect attendance awards were presented to Debbie King, Lisa Anderson, John Daniels, Phillip Vigil, Francisco Fuentes, Cherri Lentz, Julie Gonzales, Rosie Vigil, Don Ray, Beth Geizer and Jason Morris.

Mrs. Bodin, Ann Carson and Kay Williams served coffee and doughnuts to V.A. Hospital patients May 15. Alma George is in Room 210 at Hall-Bennett Hospital. The winner of Phase II give-away was Jerry Mason. Jane Cole's name was drawn for the attendance prize. The next meeting will be at 8 p.m., June 20, at the Elks Lodge Hall.

Ushers for graduation night were Allen Dockrey, Judy Holman, Mike Petty, Daryl Rich, Clark Sweatt, Warren Zant, and Tracy Brookover.

Following the singing of the school song by the audience, a reception was held in the cafeteria with Mrs. Ather Ellis and the homemaking class serving punch, cookies, nuts and mints.

Ruth Manuel voted woman of year by ABWA chapter

By EILEEN McGUIRE
Ruth Manuel, president of the Cactus Chapter of the American Business Women's Association, was elected "Woman of the Year" by her chapter when it met May 15.

RUTH MANUEL

The meeting took place at 7 p.m. at Furr's Cafeteria and was presided over by the honoree. Following the invocation, Marshalleene Read introduced the guest speaker, Dr. Wayne Bonner, counselor at Howard College, who gave a talk on the value of education.

Education is an investment," Bonner said, "and doesn't stop when you get a degree. It's an investment that can be continually improved and the better education one has, the more employable that person is."

He said that two of the benefits of continuing one's education is that it makes life more zestful and a person trained at a specialty will make more money than those employed in white collar jobs. He encouraged the women to take advantage of continuing education programs and to receive training in more than one trade.

Mrs. Read, the vocational speaker, described to the group what her own career is like. As Bonner suggested, she is trained in several fields. She has a local recording agent's license, a real estate broker's license and a Group I and Group II life insurance license. And she has successfully combined the three fields. While owning and operating the Coahoma Insurance Agency, she also sells real estate and life insurance on her own.

Her interest in insurance came from her father who was employed as a ranch manager for a leading Abilene insurance agency. Before she was 18, she had begun her own career by landing a position in that agency's claims department.

Following the vocational talk, Mrs. Manuel was presented to her peers as the "Woman of the Year."

Employed as the Senior Distribution Office Clerk of Pioneer Natural Gas Company, Mrs. Manuel's career with the company began eight years ago when she moved to Big Spring from Lamesa.

She is a graduate of Lamesa High School and the wife of Kenneth Manuel who is retired from a career in building contracting. She has three children, Mrs. H. D. (Sandra) McElrath and Charlotte Tippie and Syble Horn. Members voted to pay a $25 membership fee to the Alliance of Women's Club and they elected a committee to nominate the slate of officers for 1978. Committee members are Lee Hans, chairman, Bea Bonner and Helen Stuart.

Chairman of the committee that elected Mrs. Manuel was Lucille Brown.

Friends honor mother-to-be

COLORADO CITY — Mrs. Kenneth Golden was the honoree of a baby shower given May 9 at 7:30 p.m. in the fellowship hall of Calvary Baptist Church, Colorado City. She is the former Linda Ranne of Westbrook.

The table was covered with a beige lace-trimmed cloth and centered with an ivy arrangement adorned with a red and white checked ribbon. The white cake was decorated with red rosette flowers and served with red punch.

Mrs. Golden was presented a corsage of pink carnations and baby's breath. The hostesses also gave a hostess gift.

Hosting the affair were Jaynee Grayson, Sandy Catik, Elaine Byrd, June Prescott, Evelyn Wiggins, Hazel Sheen and Georgie Griffith.

Twenty-five guests registered including the honoree's mother, Mrs. Charles Ranne of Westbrook, and her mother-in-law, Mrs. R. B. Golden Jr., of Colorado City.

Shower fetes Miss Loftis

A bridal shower honored Corinne Loftis, bride-elect of Erick D. Nilson on May 18 at the home of Mrs. Homer Pettv.

Other hostesses were Kaye McDaniel, Hattie B. Boland, Corynne Cunningham, Kay Roberts, Melba Sutton, Elizabeth Beck, Terry Vigus and Lona Hood.

Miscellaneous gifts were presented to the honoree. A bouquet of coral and yellow flowers was centered on the refreshment table which was covered with a lace cloth. Orange punch and heart shaped cookies were served.

Eighteen guests attended.

Fatties Bounced From University

DEAR ABBY: Now I've heard everything! My niece, who happens to be a very good student, claims that she was suspended from Oral Roberts University in Tulsa, Okla., because she is overweight. Can you believe that? She said that she and three others were kicked out of the university because they failed to lose at least one pound a week, in accordance with a pledge they signed when they entered the university.

I can't for the life of me understand what a person's weight has to do with his scholastic record, and I find it hard to believe that a school with the fine reputation enjoyed by Oral Roberts University would ever make such a rule.

My niece has always been a fairly good student, but it's possible that she flunked out and just made up that story to save face.

Will you please look into this and let me know if this kind of putting me on or if such a rule really exists?
STEAMED IN OKLAHOMA

DEAR STEAMED: It's true. It seems that your niece ate herself out of the university. But I'm told that every student at O.R.U. pledges that he (or she) will make every effort to keep physically fit, and the university provides a diet and exercise program to help. Furthermore, I have it orally from Oral himself that this rule includes the faculty, too!

DEAR ABBY: Our 28-year-old daughter has been self-supporting since she graduated from college, and we have always been very proud of her. (She's in fashion.) Yesterday she came over for dinner and her father and I nearly fainted when we saw her. She looked as though she had given herself a cheap home perm and didn't bother to set it!

It looked terrible and we told her so. She said we would get used to it because it is the latest thing.

Abby, her beautiful blond head was just a frizzy mop, with no shape or style. I can't for the life of me understand why any fashion-conscious young woman would want to go around looking that way.

I am 47—not exactly a relic—and I appreciate up-to-date fashions and hairstyles, but I can't understand this new hideous hairstyle, can you?
HORRIFIED IN HOUSTON

DEAR HORRIFIED: No. But cheer up. This too shall pass.

DEAR ABBY: When my son was living at home he was so fussy about his shirts that if there was a little wrinkle in the collar, he'd throw the shirt back in the hamper for me to do over.

Well, he's married now, and you should see what he's putting up with. His wife never washes anything unless everything is dirty and they need something clean. I've seen her wash one shirt out in the kitchen sink, and then press it on the kitchen table, right over eggshells and bread crumbs!

Believe me, my son wasn't raised that way, and it kills me to see it. He never complains, and you never hear a cross word between them.

Can a man forget his early training so soon? How can I teach this sloppy girl to keep house properly?
PERTURBED IN PUEBLO

DEAR PERTURBED: If she asks you to teach her, teach her. But don't volunteer. As long as your son is happy, close your eyes and let your mouth follow suit.

Don't judge boy by sins of family

It's guest writer time and I'd like to introduce Debbie Lynn, 17, from Seattle Wash., and Robert Brian, 17, from York, Pa.

Dr. Wallace: The boy I date, comes from a "rough" family. His mother is an alcoholic, his dad never works and his brother is on hard drugs.

I'm been dating Richard for a month and my mom wants me to break up with him. She says that she is upset by the "talk" she has been hearing around the neighborhood. She thinks my reputation will be blemished if I continue to see this boy.

I think mom is old-fashioned and told her so. She suggested that I write to you for your answer. I'm 15 years old.

Ottilla: Mother won't like my answer. Judge the boy by his actions alone, not that of his family.

Hi Ottilla: Your mother sounds like

Pancho Gonzales turned 50 last week. Gary Player is 40. George Blanda played football until he was almost 49. Gordie Howe is still playing hockey at 50. Walt Finley is... how'd he get in here?

My point is, maybe there's hope for me and people like me who are only days away from middle age (30). Those guys mentioned above are still great athletes, and they are seriously challenging the past and current assumptions revolving around the limiting factors of age and youth on athletic performance.

Most people believe that an athlete has to be in his 20's to attain the pinnacle of his sport. Swimmers and gymnasts are, of course, the exception that makes that rule. Rarely do you see a top dog in those fields past the teenage years.

But, in all other sports, it's thought that only a handful of highly-gifted athletes can play beyond their mid-30's. Mental deterioration may stop athletes quicker than physical losses, however. According to the latest studies, few athletes can maintain their concentration as they get older, and even fewer are willing to punish themselves to keep in shape.

Those who are dedicated to the game, (and with that dedication comes the concentration), are capable of playing well past the time when most of their colleagues have gone into private business.

In conclusion, take the case of Torben Ulrich, a 50-year-old tennis player. He has the body of a man half his age, because he goes through a rigorous conditioning program, which sometimes includes as much as 75 miles of running a week.

Some who have seen him play recently even say that he is a better player now than when he was 20. (Experience). There is still hope for you children of the 50's. It's called sports. Find yours today. Maybe 30 isn't so bad after all. Maybe 30 isn't so bad after all. Maybe 30 isn't... where am I?

WHO'S ON THIRD?

This situation has occurred before, so, local umpires, here's the call if it happens to you this summer around town.

Runners on first and second. Batter hits grounder to shortstop. He throws the ball over the head of the first baseman and the guy on second goes to third and stops. The runner on first also goes to third and both players are standing on the base. The ball comes to the third baseman and he tags both runners.

Question: Who's out? Answer: That's right, Ron, the runner who originally was on first is out. By rule, the base always belongs to the preceding runner, unless a force is on.

REMARKABILITIES

Rangers eke one out

SEATTLE (AP) — Texas Manager Billy Hunter said his Rangers were lucky to get out with a split after they rallied to beat the Seattle Mariners 5-4 Sunday and earn two victories in the teams' four-game series.

"How can they be 0-7 against Oakland?" Hunter said of the Mariners.

Hunter turned to pinch runners twice in the final two innings. First, Bobby Thompson was on the front end of a double steal with John Lowenstein to tie the game 4-4. Then Toby Harrah stole second and wound up scoring the game winner in the ninth on Al Oliver's two-out bloop double.

Braun resigns

Garland Braun, varsity assistant football coach, officially resigned his position at Big Spring High School today.

Braun plans to get out of coaching and will work for Alamo Athletics in the Houston area. The family plans to move to an area north of Houston.

Their plans for moving are still indefinite. His wife, Sandra, has been employed locally by First United Methodist Church during their years in Big Spring.

Snevas cover head and tail

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Like a convoy on the highway, the Sneva brothers, Tom and Jerry, will have the front and back doors covered and A.J. Foyt will be in the rocking chair for the start of Sunday's $1 million Indianapolis 500.

After a weekend of qualifying action that was bizarre even by extraordinary Indy standards, Tom Sneva smashed his own track records, Foyt made a frustrating mistake that cost him a chance at the pole position, and Jerry Sneva survived a mini-eternity as the man on the bubble.

And somewhere in there, there was time for orneriness Jim Hurtubise to stage a sit-down protest against alleged discrimination against his weird roadster and run out on the track while a car was qualifying.

Foyt, four-time winner and defending champion, finds himself bottle-necked behind six rows of slower cars because he made his engine settings wrong before trying to knock Sneva off the pole in time trials Saturday.

Foyt ultimately qualified at 200.122 mph Sunday, tying Danny Ongais for second fastest speed overall, but earning only 21st position behind all the first-day out bloop double. The Mariners had taken a 4-3 lead on a pair of home runs by catcher Bob Stinson. Stinson ripped a three-run shot in the second and added a solo homer, his third of the season, in the fifth.

Texas right-hander Doyle Alexander, 4-2, scattered six hits and got the victory with ninthinning relief help from Reggie Cleveland.

"Cleveland's been super," Hunter said. "That's four saves and a victory."

The Rangers purchased Cleveland for $150,000 from the Boston Red Sox two weeks into the season. Thompson ran for Richie Zisk after Zisk walked with two outs in the eighth. He scooted to third on Lowenstein's single. He raced home when Lowenstein took off for second, drawing the throw from Stinson.

"At that stage, we were playing for the tie," Hunter said. "Thompson was stationary and yet he had a good lead."

"As soon as the ball went by the catcher's ear, I was gone," said Thompson. He slid easily under the return throw from Seattle shortstop Craig Reynolds.

Harrah replaced Mike Hargrove after the latter

UGHHH.....OOOOUCH.....OOOFFFFF! — Eddie Puga (28) of the Big Spring Steer's Black team finds the going tough as first Gold defender Mike Terry (28) hits him from the side, then Mark Law (35) catches him from behind, and the two are joined by Edward Vela (30) to finish off the job. The Gold defenders, however, didn't manage to contain Puga before he had gained 20 yards on this play. The Black team managed to come out on top in the 14-8 game, which was principally a battle of defenses.

Bruins go wide open

BOSTON (AP) — It was a game with more emotional twists than a week of afternoon soap operas, more blood and guts than a war movie, and more suspense than highlights of "The Perils of Pauline."

Most of all, it was a game of lessons. The Boston Bruins had learned theirs at the Montreal Forum last Tuesday, and the Canadiens learned theirs Sunday night.

"We played defensively in overtime and ended up losing Tuesday night," said Boston center Gregg Sheppard, "so we decided to go wide open with them this time and see what happened."

What happened was the 20-foot shot by right wing Bobby Schmautz at 6:22 of overtime that gave the Bruins a 4-3 triumph Sunday night and pulled Boston even at 2-2 with Montreal in the best-of-seven National Hockey League championship playoff series.

The Bruins rallied from a 2-1 deficit for a 3-2 third-period lead, survived Guy Lafleur's tying goal with just 33 seconds left in regulation time.

Oliver drove in two other runs with a sacrifice fly and a solo homer, his fourth of the season. Zisk also hit a solo homer, his 10th of the year.

Hunter said Alexander got behind Stinson with two balls and no strikes and two runners on in the third.

"We thought he might be bunting," Hunter said. "Alexander threw a belt-high fastball. On the second, he hung a curve."

also walked with two outs in the ninth. Seattle left-hander Shane Rawley appeared to have Harrah picked off first, but Seattle first baseman Juan Bernhardt threw high to second and Harrah beat the throw. Harrah easily scored on Oliver's looping double to short left. Enrique Romo, 3-1, was the loser.

"Too many mistakes," Seattle Manager Darrell Johnson said. "I gave the sign. Stinson didn't look."

Johnson said he "wanted to have him fake the throw to second and then throw to third" to prevent Thompson from scoring. Johnson also pointed to Bernhardt's high throw and Reynolds' sloppy base running which resulted in him getting doubled off second in the eighth after Leon Roberts lined out.

Oliver drove in two other runs with a sacrifice fly and a solo homer, his fourth of the season. Zisk also hit a solo homer, his 10th of the year.

skyward after his clinching 21-foot putt at No. 18, Simons showed none of the nervousness he would reveal moments later.

third with 70-287. Nicklaus, a triple bogey at 4 and a double bogey at 17 ruining his challenge, settled for a fourth-place tie at 288 with Ed Sneed and Masters champion Gary Player. Sneed had a final 71 and Player a 74.

Those six players were the only ones in the original international field of 105 that equaled or bettered par over the water-logged layout. Simons uncovered a masterful short game. The Wake Forest College product had nine 1-putt greens in the closing round. He needed just 56 putts the last two days.

Five of Simon's 1-putters came in the last 7 holes.

Brown explodes Bullets

SEATTLE (AP) — Dick Motta knew it was going to happen, but there was nothing he could do to stop it.

"We figured Freddie would do some of that. He was getting his shots," said Motta, the Washington Bullets coach. "He's probably the purest shooter in the league."

The subject of Motta's praise was Seattle's veteran guard, Fred Brown. Brown victimized the Bullets for 16 of his gamehigh 30 points in the final 9½ minutes Sunday, and the Super-Sonics fashioned a hair-raising comeback to beat Washington 106-102 in the opening game of the National Basketball Association championship series.

Game 2 of the best-of-seven series will be Thursday night at Landover, Md.

"He (Brown) can miss his first 20 shots and still win the game for you. He doesn't get discouraged. His shots are going to be in the hole from an unlimited range," said Motta of the 6-foot-3 Brown, who took 30 shots Sunday and made just 13.

But Brown's baskets came when the Sonics needed them most.

"We got us in a wonderful, fine mess," said Brown of the Sonics, who trailed by 19 points late in the third period. "I told them (his teammates) we had made our bed and we had to get out of it."

Brown, the Sonics' No. 1 draft pick from Iowa seven seasons ago, ignited the comeback with a short jumper that began a run of 12 consecutive points and brought Seattle back into the game.

"I got rhythm from them (teammates)," said Brown, who gave Seattle its first lead of the game, 93-91, on a breakaway with 5:07 to go.

"We're not going to die. This ball club isn't going to quit. We've done this all year," said Brown.

"I thought it was a super comeback," said Seattle Coach Lenny Wilkens, whose club won its 21st straight game at home, including nine in the playoffs.

final runs. Niekro, who allowed 12 hits over 7 1/3 innings, ran into trouble in the eighth.

Singles by Jose Cruz and Walling, Howe's second run-scoring double of the game and a two-run single by Joe Ferguson pushed home three Astro runs the eighth, but Adrian Devine retired the next two batters and hurled a scoreless ninth inning after surrendering Ferguson's single to pick up his second save of the season.

"He (Mathews) has been out for over a month and he's still leading the club in home runs," said Cox, the youngest manager in the major leagues. "He's swinging the bat as well as he did before he was hurt, but we still need some more offense."

"I've been hitting the ball well since I came back. It's like spring training because you have to start all over again."

Mathews' home run, a first inning solo shot off losing pitcher Mark Lemongello, 3-5, broke a streak of 21 consecutive scoreless innings for the Braves.

Houston tied the game in the second inning on a single and stolen base by Dennis Walling and Art Howe's double to the left-field wall off winning pitcher Phil Niekro, 4-6.

Jerry Royster's two-run triple keyed a four-run Atlanta uprising in the fourth inning. Niekro's sacrifice fly and Howe's throwing error accounted for the Braves' other two runs in the inning as Atlanta sent the Astros down to only their second loss in their last nine games.

A sixth-inning double by Niekro, a walk to Royster, Brian Asseltine's single and Matthews' sacrifice fly accounted for the Braves'

GOING TO THE BASKET — Seattle's Marvin Webster moves to the basket as Washington's Mitch Kupchak applies the defensive pressure during their NBA playoff game Sunday in Seattle. Seattle won the opening round 106-102. Next game is Thursday in Washington.

Pan Am ousted

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — First baseman Tim Weisheim's fourth hit keyed a two-run Mississippi State outburst in the 11th inning Sunday night and the Bulldogs eliminated Pan American from the NCAA South Central Regional baseball tournament with a marathon 7-5 victory.

Baylor defeated Pan American 3-2 in 10 innings earlier Sunday to remain unbeaten in the double-elimination tournament.

Mississippi State, which was defeated 3-0 by Baylor Friday night faces the Bears at 6 p.m. Monday. Should the Bulldogs win, a second game will be played immediately after the first contest.

Pan American rallied for three runs in the bottom of the ninth inning to tie the game 5-4. Bulldog left-fielder Dale Bender dropped a fly ball to allow two runs to score with two outs.

OUT OF REACH — Boston Red Sox first baseman Carl Yastrzemski reaches for a hit by Detroit Tiger Milt May in the fourth inning Sunday during the second game of a doubleheader.

Barrera steamed at Cauthen

Upset because Cauthen didn't meet with him for a pre-Preakness strategy talk, Barrera said Sunday: "I'm mad at Cauthen as I would be with my own son if he did something wrong."

Cauthen, the 18-year-old wonder boy who was the top jockey last year in winners and earnings (more than $6 million), had been riding at Aqueduct last week and didn't arrive at Pimlico until Saturday morning.

Displaying an empty soft-drink can, Barrera said, "This was my breakfast and my lunch yesterday. I was here (in the barn area) all morning, working and waiting for him to come talk with me. But I had nobody to talk to but my groom."

WTSU topped

MACOMB, Ill. (AP) — Southern Illinois won its fourth straight Missouri Valley Conference track championship, outdistancing runner-up West Texas State 182 points to 125.

The Salukis were led by sprinter Mike Kee who swept the 100- and 200-meter dashes for the third consecutive year. The junior from Boston won the 100 in 10.35 and the 200 in 21.24, both times being wind aided. The only other double winner was West Texas State's Joseph Kemei who won the 1,500-meter run in 3:49.83 and the 5,000 in 14:50.22.

RALLY FOR SOVIET JEWRY — Marchers attired in prison uniforms carry mock bars with them as they march down a New York street Sunday during rally in support of Soviet Jewry. The demonstration was marked by the attendance of Governor Hugh Carey and Senator Patrick Moynihan.

Deadly diseases resisting drugs

ATLANTA (AP) — Forty years of using "wonder drugs" has convinced Americans many deadly diseases are dead themselves. But they are only sleeping, and sometimes waking up stronger, say federal scientists.

Bacteria that cause pneumonia, meningitis, tuberculosis and gonorrhea show increasing signs of resistance to antibiotics, says Dr. Joel Ward of the national Center for Disease Control. The same problem is showing up in less-dangerous diseases.

That does not mean a killer germ with no cure is right around the corner, "but at the rate bacteria are developing resistance, I'm not sure our technology can keep up," Ward said.

Americans have grown accustomed to low incidence of such diseases as tuberculosis, "but the bacteria are not gone; they've just been under control," Ward said. Keeping them under control "is a worsening problem," he said. "You can conjure up all sorts of nightmares, even a throwback to the pre-antibiotic era" before the 1930s.

Overuse, underuse and just plain careless use of antibiotics are probable culprits, he said. Strict control and common sense are the solution.

Ward got a close-up look at the problem last year when he represented the Atlanta-based center in working with the South African government on a particularly scary case in that nation.

Ridin' fence From Sands to sand

with Marj Carpenter

"I think I can, I think I can" was an old childhood story about the little engine that could.

Somebody in the Class of 1978 at Sands High School must have read that story.

Small schools and small classes have an advantage over larger classes in larger schools. They can plan senior trips and accomplish their goals.

But this class was really ambitious. They were real close and for some strange reason, known only to Ackerly, all got along and liked each other.

They decided when they were freshmen that they wanted to go to Hawaii. The parents laughed because they knew that bunch was crazy. They said they couldn't even spell Hawaii. But school officials threw up their hands in horror and told them "That will be an impossible project."

These dozen seniors didn't believe it. They went to work and started a savings account.

They stripped cotton, using their father's strippers and trailers furnished by the Paymaster Gin and Dan Brasher.

The boys stripped and the girls tromped the cotton while some of them hauled it to the gin.

They held auctions at two different Halloween Carnivals and auctioned everything from paintings to pillows to puppies to tools and also sold ginning tickets.

Bond sales hit 26 per cent

April sales of Series E and H United States Savings Bonds in Howard County were reported today by County Bond Chairman Jimmy Taylor. Sales for the fourth-month period totaled $187,470 for 26 per cent of the 1978 sales goal of $725,000.

Dallas millionaire faces divorce battle

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Texas tycoon T. Cullen Davis spent more money on lawyers in the past 18 months than most Americans could hope to earn in a lifetime — more than $3 million. He'll be spending more.

The millions won Davis acquittal last fall in this state's longest, costliest and perhaps most lurid murder trial. Another murder charge and two of attempted murder are pending, and late this summer Davis faces a complex, high stakes divorce case.

Davis, 44, is a partner in KenDavis Industries, a conglomerate whose business takes him around the globe in a private jet. The largest company in the group is Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Supply.

Seeking a substantial chunk of Davis' financial empire is his estranged wife, Priscilla, 36, who has claimed Davis killed her daughter and her live-in lover and wounded her in August 1976. He was acquitted of the child's murder.

Mrs. Davis, married to the millionaire for eight years, filed for divorce in the summer of 1974 after Davis moved out of their $6 million hilltop mansion.

Mrs. Davis lives in the mansion. Davis, free on $650,000 bond, shares the middle-class suburban home of longtime companion Karen Master, 29.

"We talk about the future," said Mrs. Master, a divorcee whose two young children live with her and Davis. "No, Cullen doesn't sit around biting his nails. He brings his work home, spreads it out here on the table, and opens his mail."

"We live our lives just one day at a time," Mrs. Master said. "Cullen goes about his business just like anybody else. What else can you do? We rarely talk about it."

"It" refers to the nightmare of Aug. 2, 1976, when 12-year-old Andrea Wilborn, Mrs. Davis' daughter, was found shot to death in the basement of the mansion.

Mrs. Davis and her lover, Stan Farr, 31, arrived home at midnight to find bloody handprints on walls, the girl's body and "a man dressed all in black" and wearing a woman's wig lurking behind a door.

Mrs. Davis accused her husband of being the man in black.

Three men spend day under water

PORT O'CONNOR, Texas (AP) — A scuba-diving expedition by three Dallas men turned into a survival-at-sea lesson over the weekend when they were pulled away from their boat by strong currents and forced to spend more than a day in the water waiting for help.

Harold Sauls, Joe Marshall and Norman Gin headed into Matagorda Bay aboard Sauls' boat, the Linda Lou.

They were diving 23 miles offshore around a sunken Liberty ship, sent to the bottom years ago to create an artificial reef.

Strong currents pulled them away from a tag line strung from the sunken vessel to the Linda Lou.

"Gin was the first to realize we couldn't make it back to our boat," Sauls said.

Fortunately, crewmen of the fishing boat Trophy I were watching the men dive and alerted the Coast Guard when the men failed to appear after three hours.

Crewmen of the tanker Euros spotted Sauls, and a Coast Guard cutter was dispatched to rescue him. After 26 hours in the water, he was in remarkably good shape and was allowed to pilot the Linda Lou back to harbor.

THERE'S AN OCEAN ... out there somewhere

Bruce Hill, Kent Robinson, Jackie McDonald, Susan Martin, Terry Grantham, Jodie Kemper, Carla Mulanax, Randle Moore, Cindy Barraza and Martin Nichols.

Sponsors include Mr. and Mrs. Doug Blagrove and Mrs. Thelma Murphy.

This group had a dream and nobody could tell them that they couldn't make it work.

So the Sands High School seniors will be flying off into the wild blue at the end of the month to find that ocean and the golden shores of Hawaii.

Aloha, Sands spirited seniors of '78. You did it — out where I often ride fence.

'Why I choose to smoke'

"Why kid anyone? I smoke because I enjoy it. I'm the kind of guy who gets pleasure out of a cigarette. But I'm not deaf to what's being said about tar.

"So I searched out a cigarette that would give me taste with low tar. And two years ago I found it in Vantage. Vantage has all the taste I enjoy yet, surprisingly, much less tar than my old brand.

"Why did I choose Vantage? Because I like it."
