City dads approve steering committee actions

Welcome mat out for federal prison

By JAMES WERRELL
In a whirlwind special meeting, the Big Spring City Council authorized Mayor Wade Choate to welcome the establishment of a minimum security federal prison on Industrial Park property.

Called at 9 a.m., the meeting was over at 9:05 a.m. today. The council also approved several actions by the Big Spring Steering Committee and a new contract will increase revenues to enter into a care and custody contract with the Army Corps of Engineers.

The resolution to put out the welcome mat for a prison here was passed on an emergency reading, dispensing with the customary two meetings of the council needed to pass such a measure. Upon the recommendation of City Manager Harry Nagel, a paragraph was added to the resolution before passage asking for help from the General Services Administration.

"We should definitely add a paragraph (to the resolution) stating that the GSA should give us the 'buy-package' on the base to make up for the loss of revenue-producing property," said Nagel.

According to Nagel, a gift from the GSA of properties at the park which would have originally been sold (the buy-package) would help to balance the loss of prison property as a revenue producing area.

All-in-all the prison will comprise 10 buildings and two softball fields at the industrial park. It will be approximately two blocks wide and four blocks long, according to Nagel.

Buildings to be used include a former base security building; an airman's dining hall and cold storage locker; two new airman's quarters; three foreign officers quarters; a commissary (to be used for vocational training for prisoners); a gymnasium; and a recreation center.

"This area will be completely fenced, 'not to keep prisoners in, but to keep visitors out," said Nagel.

The council also authorized the mayor to enter into a new care and custody contract with the Corps of Engineers. According to Choate, the new contract will increase revenues to the city by $8,000 a month.

"Our cost for maintenance at the park will still cost the city quite a bit. Even with the new contract we can't expect a break-even situation for a few years," said Choate.

In a meeting of the Big Spring

Steering Committee, members voted to approve the rental of Building 49 to Sam Pendergrast, publisher of "Oeste Magazine."

Members also discussed the possibility of renting the former Lockheed facilities to Vought Corporation. Vought will reportedly make its decision on the proposal by August.

Truck containing liquid oxygen flips

'Firecracker' fails to explode

EXPLOSION AVERTED — While a tank truck containing 4,000 gallons of liquid oxygen lay on its side to the south of I-20 (top), traffic was diverted to the north service road by police and Highway Patrol (bottom). The emergency situation demanded smooth coordination between fire, police, and Highway Patrol personnel.

By BOB BURTON
An overturned tank truck filled with 4,000 gallons of liquid oxygen — potentially a massive firecracker — diverted traffic for several hours along I-20 Tuesday afternoon.

The truck, owned by Arco Industrial Gas of Houston, lay on its side between the interstate and FM 700 east of Big Spring for five hours before it was righted and the danger of a major explosion averted.

According to police, the accident occurred when the truck was driven too swiftly through the lane from FM 700 north onto the south service road. The trailer apparently caught a median and bounced over onto its side at 1:30 p.m.

Driver Bythel Butler Staton, 57, Conroe, and Robert Griffin, 60, Conroe, who was asleep in the cab when the truck flipped, received minor injuries. The men were examined at Malone-Hogan Hospital and released.

Police, firemen, and sheriff's deputies and highway patrolmen responded to the scene, at first just blocking the service road and FM 700, but about 2:30 p.m. extending the barricade to send interstate traffic along the north service road past the wreck, protected from possible calamity by the dirt embankment along the highway.

Chief Stanley Bogard, Fire Chief Alvie Harrison, Sgt. Mike Pearson, Highway Patrolman Bill Jennings, and other officers worked smoothly to clear the endangered area.

Phone calls to Houston eventually identified another truck with pressure valves which could be connected to the overturned tanker, draining off the liquid oxygen and allowing the tanker to be righted safely.

A truck from Big Three Industries in Odessa arrived at the scene at 5:30 p.m. and drained half the load. Then a crane righted tanker without further incident.

According to Ted Parsons, chemical engineer with Big Three Industries, the truck would have been safe as long as there were no leaks in the pressurized tank until the pressure reached 40 pounds. A rupture plate in the rear of the tank truck would blow under pressure, spraying the area with flammable substance but preventing a major explosion.

After sitting in the sun for several hours, however, the internal pressure had risen to only 12 pounds per square inch (psi) from the 10 normally carried.

Liquid oxygen has several heavy industrial uses, ranging from welding to rocket fuel. The liquid is the same substance as the gas, except cooled to minus 325 degrees Fahrenheit and kept under pressure.

Water is not 'valuable mineral'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Water is not a "valuable mineral" as defined by federal law and therefore may not legally be retrieved from public lands, the Supreme Court ruled unanimously today.

The justices reversed a lower court's ruling that the Interior Department had claimed would "unsettle the law of water rights throughout the Western states, drawing into question the validity of private rights long thought to be established."

A group of water-short states in the West and upper Midwest had sided with the federal government. The states included Alaska, Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oregon, South Dakota, Washington and Wyoming.

Federal mining law provides that "all valuable mineral deposits in lands belonging to the United States" are "free and open to exploration and purchase."

Today, the Supreme Court said the law doesn't apply to water.

At issue was an interpretation of an 1872 act which allows individuals or businesses to mine "valuable minerals" on public lands. The 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals had ruled that water must be included within the act's definition of "valuable mineral."

Sixth person dies from explosion

TEXAS CITY, Texas (AP) — A sixth person died today from burns received in Tuesday's multiple explosions at a refinery. Two other persons lay critically burned as officials tried to discover what touched off the chain-reaction blasts.

Monroe Huebner died in John Sealy Hospital in Galveston at 3:45 a.m., less than 24 hours after the first of the explosions in this Gulf Coast town.

Joyce Taylor and Noel Nelson were in intensive care at the same hospital.

Recovered from the burning Texas City Refining, Inc., plant were the bodies of employees Carl K. Cope, 34, and Joseph M. Bertrand, 59, and security guard Aaron A. Browning, 46.

Two other employees, Daniel R. Dore, 23, and Roxanne Johnican, 37, died later in the day from burns.

By late Tuesday firefighters had subdued the last small pockets of flames from the fire that had lit the darkness at 2 a.m. like a noonday sun. A plant official said the storage tanks still burning contained kerosene and fuel. He said there were no chemicals involved in the fire.

Fire officials allowed some 1,400 persons to return to their homes late Tuesday after an 80-block area around the refinery had been evacuated.

Texas City lies south of Houston on Galveston Bay in an area said to house the highest concentration of petrochemical industries in the world.

In April 1947 it was the scene of the nation's greatest industrial disaster when 561 persons died and more than 3,000 were injured following an explosion in the harbor of a ship carrying ammonium nitrate fertilizer. The blast set fire to Texas City's industrial waterfront.

Rick Sherman, manager of industrial and public relations for the plant, said about 15 persons were working at the plant when the explosions — numbering anywhere from nine to 12, depending upon whom you talked to — began early Tuesday.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Why not Big Spring?

Q. Why can't we have Home Box Office on Cable TV? It is all around us in Midland, Odessa, even little Colorado City. Why not Big Spring?

A. "We would have to have from 500 to 1,000 customers willing to pay the additional $8 to $10 per month in order to break even on offering Home Box Office or a similar service," said Jim Lancaster of Big Spring Cable TV, explaining that different services and different program packages vary in content and in cost. "It gets complicated when you consider that we have to sign a contract with a company offering box office movies and non-network programs for three to five years, and have to decide exactly which program packet would sell best here. If it has R rated movies, will our customers buy it?" On the basis of a previous survey that only turned up 200 potential subscribers, Big Spring Cable TV has no immediate plans of offering the service, but hasn't scrapped the idea completely. "The ones who want it are very vocal, and I can't blame them. We want to offer the service, and are still considering doing so when we can be assured that we won't be losing money on it," Lancaster said.

Offbeat: He waited, she passed

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — You would have a tough time trying to convince James G. Rimmer that the harder you pursue something the more rewarding is its attainment.

For two years, Rimmer, 22, of Peru, Ind., has been trying to get a date with 19-year-old Debra Rush of Frankfort, Ind. Rimmer's perseverance finally paid off and, to impress his date, he drove her 90 miles to Sunday's running of the Indianapolis 500 auto race.

However, during the national anthem, as he and Miss Rush stood in the infield, she passed out from the intense heat.

"She keeled over like a sack of potatoes," Rimmer said during his race-long wait in the track. "She didn't even thump."

"I've been trying for two years to get a date with her. I've had better first dates," he added.

Rise in beef prices forces consumer prices to rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — A record increase in beef prices forced consumer prices up 0.9 percent in April, the largest rise in more than a year, the Labor Department said today.

The latest increase meant the annual rate of inflation for the past three months was 10 percent, the department said.

Beef prices jumped 6.6 percent in April, accounting for more than one-third of the 2.4 percent in grocery prices.

The 0.9 percent increase in the Consumer Price Index was the largest since February 1977, when prices rose by the same amount. The increase in beef prices surpassed the record 6.5 percent rise in May 1975.

Food prices have climbed steadily since the start of the year, but the latest report showed they were accelerating even faster.

Prices for all foods and beverages were up 1.8 percent in April after rising about 1.2 percent in each of the three previous months.

Prices for fresh vegetables, which declined in March, rose 9.7 percent in April, led by an increase for lettuce. Since then, lettuce prices have started coming down, however.

Prices of pork, poultry, dairy products, sugar, candy and vegetable oils all increased more in April than in March or February. Prices turned downward for eggs, fresh fruit and coffee.

Another big contributor to inflation during April was rising housing expenses, which were up 0.7 percent. Costs of home financing, taxes and insurance advanced 1.7 percent, while home maintenance and repair services rose 1.4 percent.

Home-purchase prices increased 0.5 percent and rent was up 0.7 percent.

Charges for natural gas and electricity each rose 1.5 percent in April, the third straight month of big increases.

Also showing sharp rises were furniture and bedding, up 1.1 percent; clothing, 1 percent; medical care, 0.7 percent; and dental fees, 0.6 percent.

The price of new and used cars went up 0.3 percent, and gasoline prices edged up slightly, the Labor Department said.

All figures are adjusted for normal seasonal variations in prices.

The gloomy April report followed an Agriculture Department estimate Tuesday that consumer food prices will rise 8 percent to 10 percent this year, up from an earlier forecast of 6 percent to 8 percent.

563 absentee votes recorded in county

A satisfying turnout of 218 voters streamed through the County Clerk's office on the last day of absentee balloting Tuesday. Total number of ballots cast, according to County Clerk Margaret Ray, was 563 cast with 75 mailouts still to be received.

PEACEFUL — Heavy rains Friday night caused a flash flood in Palo Duro State Park, but just outside the entrance to the park the glistening water in a field created a different kind of picture. With the tops of fence posts just barely sticking out of the water and a windmill on the hillside, there was a scene of peaceful tranquility.

Author portrays Pancho Villa as 'half man and half animal'

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — He did not lead the raid and a 1934 movie, "Viva Villa" depicted him in Casas Grandes when the event took place.

Braddy said the evidence shows Villa was in Columbus, and left behind battlefield documents showing he had decided three months earlier to provoke the Americans in intervening in the Mexican Revolution.

"It further appears," he said, "that the Germans may have intimidated him that if he could force the Yankees to intervene in Mexico, the overthrow of Carranza would automatically establish Villa as the head of a popular government."

Braddy says George Carothers, a special agent of President Woodrow Wilson who was in Columbus the day of the attack, examined papers that were in two wallets Villa lost on the battlefield. He quotes Carothers as saying the papers connected Villa with the San Isabel massacre of a group of Americans in

Russians indicted for espionage

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Two Russians who work at their country's United Nations mission were indicted by a federal grand jury Tuesday on charges of obtaining U.S. defense secrets and conspiring to pass them to the Soviet Union.

They face possible life imprisonment, if convicted.

Rudolf Petrovich Chernayev, 43, a personnel officer at the U.N. Secretariat, and Valdik Aleksandrovich Enger, 39, an assistant to the U.N. under-secretary general, were charged in a three-count indictment handed down about an hour before they were to face a federal magistrate for a preliminary hearing on the charges.

Their appearance was canceled because of the indictment and they remained in custody at the Metropolitan Corrections Center in Manhattan in lieu of $2 million bail.

If convicted, they face a maximum sentence of life in prison on conspiracy charges. On each of two counts of obtaining information, they could get 10 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Vladimir Petrovich Zinyakin, third secretary of the Soviet Mission to the United Nations, was named as an unindicted co-conspirator, but not a defendant because he has diplomatic immunity. He left the country about a week ago.

All three were accused of trying to induce a commissioned Navy officer, who was not identified, to provide them with several classified documents in exchange for $20,000, the indictment said.

They were arrested May 20 in Woodbridge near the Garden State Parkway.

Bank executive visits Hanoi

HONG KONG (AP) — A Paris-based Chase Manhattan Bank executive made a secret trip to Hanoi last month and met with top Vietnamese officials to discuss normalization of relations with the United States, a well-informed Western source said Tuesday.

The source said Ridgway Brewster Knight, a former American diplomat and now Chase Manhattan's director of international relations in Europe, spent a week in Vietnam and returned with a personal message for President Carter.

The message reportedly contained several suggestions for relaxing of U.S. trade restrictions against Vietnam, an intermediate step leading to resumption of relations between the two countries, at war until the North Vietnamese conquest of South Vietnam on April 30, 1975.

In New York, a bank spokesman confirmed that Knight made a trip to Hanoi late last month, but described it as "exploratory, and on bank business." The spokesman said he could comment no further.

Weather San Angelo area has downpour

A four-inch downpour inundated the community of Wall, just east of San Angelo, last night and the weatherman said the severe weather may pay a revisit tonight to the rain-weary Texas Panhandle.

Much of West Texas and part of South Texas can expect thunderstorms tonight, said the National Weather Service.

Several storms, some of them heavy, were scattered last night over the southern half of the state. Most ended before midnight.

Lack of funds threatens fight

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Cattle raisers depend on government efforts to control screwworm flies, whose larvae infect cattle.

Sterilization of male screwworm flies is the chief method used to eradicate the pest. However, the U.S. Department of Agriculture plans to close its screwworm control facility in Mission in the next 18 months.

"We must not be complacent with the success of the program," said R.H. Richardson of the University's genetics institute. "You never win in fighting a pest. The best you can do is to stay one step ahead of it."

WASHINGTON (AP) — DeLoach, who then was FBI assistant director. They discussed the bureau's attitude toward King, the Post report said.

DeLoach, now a business executive in New York, said in a memo written Nov. 27, 1964, that the meeting ended with Wilkins promising to "tell King that he can't win in a battle with the FBI and that the best thing for him to do is to retire from public life."

FBI official J.A. Sizoo wrote the Dec. 1 follow-up memo and suggested further action against King.

The Sizoo memo was obtained under the Freedom of Information Act by the nonprofit Center for National Security Studies.

Found one year later Child's body stirs memories

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP) — men searching for salvageable flood debris. Eight others are still missing from last year's flood.

Daise Heslop, a 95-year-old survivor of the 1989 flood, called the deluge last July the most frightening of three floods she lived through.

"I never saw such lightning and rain in my life. We thought it was the end of the world," she said.

Mrs. Heslop recalled that as a 6-year-old in that first disaster, "My father called us to the window and he said, 'Look over there.' All the water was coming from the dam."

She said she stood on a piece of furniture and watched her grandmother float out a third-floor window of the family's home and perish. Her father also died.

Tonight, Mrs. Heslop will be among some 20 survivors expected to gather at a banquet to share memories of the swirling waters released when the South Fork Dam burst.

Mrs. Heslop survived other floods, including the 1936 St. Patrick's Day disaster that killed 17 people and prompted extensive flood-prevention projects. She sat out the last two on high ground.

The discovery of a child's body in the debris from last year's disastrous flood stirred dark memories for Johnstown residents, especially the elderly ones preparing to commemorate an even more tragic flood that has haunted them for 89 years.

The latest flood victim — 8-year-old Cynthia Louise Gibson — was identified Tuesday, on the eve of the 89th anniversary of the day when 2,209 people lost their lives under a wall of water that made this town's name synonymous with watery disaster.

The Gibson girl's body was found Monday by several

Clear Lake City attorneys will appeal ruling

HOUSTON (AP) — An attorney for residents of Clear Lake City and Houston who oppose annexation of the suburban community says he will probably appeal a state judge's ruling that the Houston City Council does not have to respond to a petition from opponents.

Judge Wyatt Heard Tuesday said, in effect, that the council can decide whether to take action on petitions such as one bearing 55,000 signatures gathered by opponents of annexation.

David Webb said the city charter requires the council to act on one or the other of the alternatives presented in the petition which requested that the council either rescind the annexation or put the issue before Houston voters.

Cousin of Queen to marry Roman Catholic divorcee

LONDON (AP) — Prince Michael of Kent, a first cousin of Queen Elizabeth II and 16th in line to the throne, is going to marry a Roman Catholic divorcee, the Press Association reports.

The British news agency's court correspondent, quoting "reliable sources," said the Duke of Kent's 35-year-old brother, an army major, and 33-year-old, German-born Baroness Marie-Christine von Reibnitz will announce their engagement later this week and will marry in July in Austria, where her family has an estate.

Buckingham Palace said an announcement concerning the prince will be made within a few days, but a spokesman declined to confirm or deny the PA report.

It is the second time this year that the royal family has been affected by divorce, a sensitive issue since the queen is head of the Church of England and it does not sanction divorce. But the divorce last week of Princess Margaret, the queen's sister, and Lord Snowdon caused little adverse reactions.

Marriage to the baroness, a London interior designer, will force the prince to give up his right of succession because anyone in line for the throne is forbidden to marry a Catholic. They also cannot be married in the Church of England because it will not marry a divorced person as long as the other spouse is alive.

Importance of Howard County vote stressed by Stenholm

By MARJ CARPENTER
 Charles Stenholm, front-running candidate in the Democrat primary for Representative of the 17th Congressional District, was back in Big Spring Tuesday, again emphasizing the importance of the Howard County vote in the runoff Saturday.

"Big Spring is singularly important in the runoff since 75 percent of the vote, or over 4,800 votes here went for their favorite son candidate, Jim Baum," Stenholm pointed out.

"I have made a real effort during these few short weeks since the primary to meet as many Big Springers as possible and to pledge to them my sincerity in wanting to make a good Congressman for the district and represent it as well as possible throughout the sprawling 33 county area," Stenholm added.

"It has been wonderful to get to know so many Big Springers and to find out the high quality of people in this highly diversified community."

"Nowhere else in this district is there such a variety of oil industry persons, refinery personnel, farmers, ranchers, educators including college educators at the Big Spring State Hospital, medical personnel in some extremely fine facilities, businessmen, bankers and financiers, nurses, teachers, industrial personnel, law enforcement people, and many others," the candidate stressed.

"There is a vast store of information here in Big Spring among a large number of senior citizens and veterans, but there is also an underlying enthusiasm among the young and middle-aged businessmen and among the many college-aged youth of the community," Stenholm related.

Then he added, "It has been rewarding to me to meet some of you and I hope to see you many times again in serving you as your Congressman."

"The issues have almost been lost during recent weeks as the campaign

CHARLES STENHOLM ...at local headquarters

turned a little bit ugly. Some of my volunteer workers have received threatening telephone calls. There have been annoyance calls to our home in the middle of the night. In recent days, it has been intimated that I have been involved in or endorsed deplorable acts including obscenities and eggs splashed on a campaign headquarters," he said.

Stenholm concluded, "This is embarrassing to me and my family; insulting to the people of the 17th District and such statements have no part in a political campaign."

He added, "I want to serve you to the best of my ability on a two-year contract representing you in Washington. Please vote on Saturday."

Stenholm also released a list of members of the steering committee who have been actively working on the campaign here during the weeks since the initial primary.

The Congressional candidate expressed appreciation to the members of the committee and "to the many others of you who have indicated your support."

The steering committee includes Clyde McMahon Sr., Frog Koger, Lee Porter; Dr. W.A. (Tony) Hunt, a former resident; Clyde McMahon Jr., Edgar Phillips, R.H. Weaver, K.H. McGibbon, Roy Lee, James (Buddy) Barr, Jack Redding, Cecil Riordan, Delbert Donaldson, Dale Glenn, Rafoord Dunagan, Roscoe L. Gillean, H.V. Crocker, Malinda Blackburn, Mrs. Lona Crocker, Wayne Burns, and John R. Rains.

Others include Charlie Merritt, Novis W. Womack, Roscoe Cone, Mrs. H.W. Smith, Dale Worthan, John L. Taylor, Bill Pollard, George McAlister, Don Grantham, John Arrick, Roger Tucker, John Burgess, D.A. Brazel, Dorothy Humphreys, Robert Nichols, Robert H. Moore III and the Rev. Harold Birdwell, and Morris Robertson.

Stenholm added, "I would like to thank this group and others supporting me here and again pledge that I will sincerely try to serve you well."

Weekend death toll highest since 1974

CHICAGO (AP) — The Memorial Day weekend death toll of 528 — the highest toll for this holiday period since the 55 mph speed limit went into effect in 1974 — has the National Safety Council shocked, alarmed and looking for the cause.

The substantial increase of deaths on the nation's roads surprised the council. It had estimated that 400 to 500 people would die during The Associated Press count running from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Monday, local time.

Vincent Tofany, council president, said the death toll "rivals those before the energy shortage and the 55 mph limit. But the number of day-by-day traffic deaths generally is staying about the same."

"There are many factors contributing to the total, including the number of persons traveling, weather conditions, observance of the speed limit and safety belt use," Tofany said. "These kinds of things will tend to have an effect on the total."

"Until we can analyze the data," he said, "we cannot accurately identify to what extent these various factors contributed to the startling increase in highway deaths."

The previous highest Memorial Day death toll since 1974 was 442 in 1976. Last year it was 432. Since 1974, the greatest toll for any holiday has been 553 during Independence Day holiday last year.

The worst three-day Memorial Day weekend toll was 597 in 1969.

The jump in the Memorial Day traffic deaths came despite a pledge by state troopers in 44 states to participate in a program called Combination Accident Reduction Effort, in which more patrols and radar were used to enforce more rigidly the 55 mph limit and spot other moving violations.

Other postal services go up besides letters

WASHINGTON (AP) — While the public's attention was focused this week on the two penny increase in the cost of a first-class letter, there was less attention paid to the cost of many other postal services which also became more expensive.

One significant change increases the rent for lockboxes by an average of 38 percent. Millions of Americans, primarily in rural areas, receive their mail through the boxes at their local post offices.

Under the changes that took effect Monday, the six-month charge for the smallest box in the smallest post office went from $1 to $1.50. In the largest cities, the rental for the smallest box went from $12.50 to $14.

In another change, postal money orders now carry a charge of at least 55 cents, up from a 50-cent minimum. The new fee is more than is charged by most banks and other money order dealers.

Other increases for special services that are added to normal postal rates are:

- Certified mail, up from 60 cents to 80 cents. Certified mail provides a receipt to the sender that constitutes proof the mailing was received.
- Registered mail, up from a minimum of $2.10 to $3. This service safeguards mail by requiring that everyone who handles it must sign for it.
- Special delivery, up from a minimum of $1.25 to $2. Under this service, letters or other types of mail are delivered as soon as possible, instead of waiting for the next scheduled delivery.
- Special handling, up from 50 cents to 70 cents. This service is used primarily in mailing parcels that require special attention, such as fruit or live animals.
- Insured mail, from a minimum of 40 cents to 50 cents. The insurance is used mainly on the contents of packages sent through the mail.
- C.O.D., from a minimum of 85 cents to $1.10. Under C.O.D. service, the postal carrier collects the price for merchandise that he is delivering and returns the money to the sender. C.O.D. has declined in recent years because of increases in credit purchases.
- Charges for some other services are unchanged. These include express mail, address correction notifications and international air mail.

House voting machine to get replacement

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The House's cranky but venerable mechanical voting machine is about to get a $191,350 computerized replacement.

Daktronics, Inc., of Brookings, S.D., was low bidder on the new machine and promises to install it by Nov. 1.

The new system will preserve the name board at the front of the chamber with red, green and white lights to show each member's vote. It also will retain the use of individual keys to activate voting consoles on representatives' desks.

A more sophisticated $929,000 system was considered when Price Daniel Jr. was speaker in 1973. Nothing was signed, though, and the system was turned down when Bill Clayton became speaker in 1975.

Jim Reynolds, chief of the House's legislative services division, is enthusiastic about the new device.

"I think it is going to be an improvement, a good machine, but not science fiction. It will be a 1978 version of the same reliable system we have been using for years," he said.

The old metal voting buttons will be removed from members' desks.

Votes will be stored on magnetic tape so they can be re-run if necessary.

Two undersea earthquakes hit Central America

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — Two strong undersea earthquakes seconds apart shook most of Central America Tuesday night.

They caused some panic, broken walls and window panes and power blackouts in Nicaragua and Costa Rica but no casualties or serious damage was reported, officials reported.

The quakes struck at 9:05 p.m. EDT and registered 5 and 5.5 on the Richter scale. The epicenter was about 60 miles under the Pacific off the coast of the Nicaraguan port of Corinto, 106 miles northwest of Managua, the Nicaraguan Seismographic Institute said.

California taxpayers revolting

SEPULVEDA, Calif. (AP)

—On a platform in a roped-off suburban street on a sweltering hot night, a heavyset man with slicked-back hair and sagging jowls grips a microphone with one hand, waves the other hand in the air and bellows, "It's either them or us, and we're for us."

This is the face of California's property tax revolt.

The speaker is Howard Jarvis, a 75-year-old former newspaper publisher, now head of a landlords' association and sponsor of a $7 billion property tax cut proposal, Proposition 13 on the June 6 state ballot.

Polsters in California predict adoption of Jarvis' proposal, which would cut property taxes by an average of 57 percent. Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. opposes the plan but is drafting plans to cut back government services.

In the cheering crowd is a middle-aged woman whose husband is a city surveyor. Her home has just been reassessed from $32,000 to $63,000. She plans to express her anger by voting for Proposition 13.

"They're scaring the people by saying they'll cut back on the fire department and police," said the woman, who refused to give her name. "I don't believe it. Everybody has to do without something. Now government will have to do without something."

Her husband said his department will be cut 30 percent if 13 passes, but he's voting for it anyway. "So I'll cut my throat," he said. "I'll get another job, go somewhere else."

"People like these are the backbone of Jarvis' movement. They live in suburbs, where property assessments, fueled by inflation and a tight housing market, have exploded.

Governor leading election

Arkansas Gov. David Pryor held a razor-thin lead today over two congressmen in a race to fill two runoff slots for the Democratic nomination to the U.S. Senate seat once held by John McClellan, who died last November at age 81.

A runoff in North Carolina was more conclusive, handing the Democratic senatorial nomination to state Insurance Commissioner John Ingram, a surprise victor over favored Luther Hodges Jr., the son of a former governor. Pryor nursed a lead of less than 8,000 votes while U.S. Rep. Ray Thornton and U.S. Rep. Jim Guy Tucker saw-sawed for second, Tucker trailing by less than 2,000 votes. The two-candidate runoff is June 13.

With about 460,000 votes tallied in 81 percent of the precincts, the unofficial count showed Pryor with 35 percent and Thornton and Tucker each with about 32 percent.

A fourth candidate, political novice A.C. Grignon, had 2 percent.

Pryor lost in a 1972 attempt to upset Democrat McClellan after serving three terms each in the Arkansas House and Congress, from the south Arkansas district Thornton now represents. In 1974, Pryor bounced back to win the governorship and was re-elected in 1976.

When Pryor ran against McClellan, Thornton won Pryor's congressional job. Thornton had served one term as attorney general.

Tucker was prosecuting attorney at Little Rock and served two terms as attorney general. In 1976 he won the House seat given up by Wilbur Mills when Mills retired after the Fannie Mae affair.

North Carolina winner Ingram said he would use the same populist campaign issues in his battle against Republican Sen. Jesse Helms, a staunch conservative, as he did to take the nomination from Hodges.

"We think we have the people's support and that's all we need," Ingram said at an early victory celebration Tuesday.

DISCOMANIA? — Throughout the decades, parents have named their children for idols and causes that mark their generations. As far as we know, the infant pictured above is the first to be named after a discotheque. Ironically, the disco he's named after was named after a 1940's idol, Humphrey Bogart. The baby is Jeremy Bogart Hamilton, born April 21 at Malone-Hogan hospital. The choice in name prompted Bogart's owner Beverly Weeks, left, to present a check for $50 to the baby's mother, Theresa Hamilton, right. A corner in the office at Bogart's, where Mrs. Hamilton works, has been turned into a nursery for Jeremy, "the 'First Bogart's Baby'."

Lovesick Caller Is Put on Hold

DEAR ABBY: A co-worker told me that a 23-year-old Philadelphia woman got such a wild crush on a 44-year-old guy who works as a guard at the Montgomery County Prison, that she called him on the phone 1,400 times in three months! She was supposed to have called him at his home 400 times in one week. Then he changed his phone number and she started calling him at the prison! Can you believe this, Abby?

This co-worker says that the guard actually filed a formal complaint against the woman. The judge fined her $300 and put her on probation for three months.

Will you please check this out and see if it's true, or is my co-worker just putting me on?

PENNA. PUT-ON

DEAR PENNA.: It's no put-on. It actually happened. The judge warned the lovesick young woman with telephonicitis that if she didn't quit calling the guard, she'd be sent to prison—but NOT to the one where that guard was employed.

DEAR ABBY: The daughter of a friend of mine was planning a large August wedding. However, those plans were quickly changed when the bride-to-be discovered she was pregnant.

So now the family has sent out announcements stating that their daughter was married in April—so the big wedding is off.

Under these circumstances, is a wedding gift in order? JUST ASKING

DEAR JUST: If your wedding gift means, "This is in repayment for your wedding invitation," then, of course, no gift is in order. But if it means, "Accept this gift along with our best wishes for your future happiness," then a gift is in order.

DEAR ABBY: BOILING MAD IN PA. made me so mad I am seeing red, and I'm still "seeing red" (in debt) after paying for three daughters' weddings that ran over $2,000 each!

I say if the groom's family wants a part in the planning of the wedding, let them put up some cash; otherwise, it's the bride's day, and she and her family can have the full say over all the wedding plans.

I am now looking forward to my son's wedding, and I don't want a bloomin' thing to do with the plans as long as the bride's family foots the bill.

SEEING RED IN SEATTLE

DEAR SEEING: Personally, I would like to see the wedding become a joint effort, shared equally by both sides.

DEAR ABBY: For those people who constantly say, "Oh, my God," or "Jesus Christ," to express anything from surprise to anger:

If you call on God too often when you don't need Him, He may not be listening when you do need Him!

Following notice of status change

Father ends wait for MIA son

MUSCATINE, Iowa (AP) — For nine years, Charles King has worn a nickel bracelet bearing the name of his son, Staff Sgt. Charles King, and the numbers "12-25-68."

But the band will come off after Monday's memorial service for the young King, whose military status has been changed from "Missing in Action" to "Killed in Action."

"How do we know?" King asked as he sipped coffee at his Muscatine cafe. A sticker on the door reads, "1,300 Servicemen Disappeared — We Think It's Important."

"We don't know he's alive and we don't know he's dead. But we might as well go ahead with the memorial service. What else is there?"

Charles Douglas King, 22, a member of an Air Force rescue team, joined the list of MIAs in Southeast Asia on Christmas Day 1968, after he reported by radio that he had been shot during a helicopter rescue effort.

For 9½ years, the 56-year-old King waited for some word on his son's fate.

Then, on May 5, the Air Force declared the King's son dead.

"I think everybody has pretty much got their notice of status change," he said. "I could have protested if I'd had any new information, but how am I gonna get information?"

"The most you could do is delay it three or four months, 'cause the government wants to change the status. They wanna get it done," he said.

King has been active in the National League of Families and Iowans Care, two groups which have tried to get information about missing relatives.

"But things have kind of quieted down. It's hard to keep the public's interest up. Iowans Care is pretty much inactive. We had our last meeting two months ago, and we decided to send our

Officers will be elected

Members of post 355 of the American Legion will hold an election of officers at 8 p.m., Thursday. The election will be in the post home.

Guest tells about trip

South America was the topic of discussion when the Big Spring Altrusa Club met at Coker's Restaurant at noon, May 25.

Presiding over the business meeting was Kaye McDaniel, president. After sick members were reported on, the meeting was turned over to Brookie Martin who introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Harold Talbot.

Mrs. Talbot spoke on a recent trip she made to South America, highlighting her talk with descriptions of costumes and reports on the country's economy. Other countries she visited included France, Italy, Japan, the Scandinavian countries, Africa, Peru and Ecuador.

savings to the National League of Families," he said.

Monday's service at the First Baptist Church and Greenwood Cemetery will be a military one.

"The Air Force is sending a chaplain, a rifle squad, a color guard and a flag-bearer. Just before they changed his status, they promoted him. So chief master sergeant is his final rank."

After the service, King said, he will remove the POW-MIA bracelet.

"There's no reason, really. I'm just ready to quit wearing it."

Extended warranties make sense sometimes

COLLEGE STATION — Before purchasing an appliance service contract, consider whether the appliance will be subjected to "unusual wear" and how the appliance performed during the warranty period, says Dr. Carolyn McKinney, a family resource management specialist.

Several weeks or months prior to the original warranty expiration, manufacturers or dealers provide several options for consumer purchase of extended service contracts on major appliances and TV's, she explains.

Son's birth announced

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dan Roland of Carrollton have announced the birth of a new son, Todd Nicolas, born at 5:54 a.m., May 29. He weighed 8 pounds, 9½ ounces and was 21 inches long at birth.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Alden Ryan, Gail Rt., and the paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Roland of Los Cruces, N.M.

Todd will be welcomed home by his brother, Bradley, 4.

The baby's mother is the former Jane Ryan of Big Spring.

ABC installs officers, awards three members

The American Business Club met for its annual Installation Banquet May 20 at the Poco Loco Room at KC Steak House.

Master of ceremonies was Bill Bradford, a past president. New officers were installed by Bill Sneed, District Governor.

Installed as the new president was Ray Alexander, first vice president, Dr. John Key, second vice president, Calvin Davis, and third vice president, Kent Olson.

Installed as the Board of Directors were Don Anderson, Mike McKinney, Bill Bradford, Tom Reed, Oakie Hagood and Don Brooks.

Outgoing president Mike McKinney was presented the Past President's Plaque by incoming president Bill Sneed. Sneed was presented the Past Governor's Plaque.

Mrs. McKinney was presented a gift for her understanding and support of her husband during the past year.

RAY ALEXANDER

Special projects awards were presented to Ken Olson and Don Brooks.

The final award of the evening was presented to Ray Alexander, AMBUC of the year. The award is given for participation in club projects, attendance, and outstanding contribution to the American Business Club.

Alexander is an ABC life member and a member of the Big Hat Club. He is employed as Accountant and Office Manager at Robinson Drilling of Texas, Inc.

Bergland hoping for new agreement

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland says he is optimistic that a new International Wheat Agreement can be shaped up in the next few weeks.

Bergland also predicted Tuesday that the Soviet Union will sign the new agreement after it is negotiated among wheat exporting and importing countries.

"I believe we are on our way in getting an agreement, at least in principle, agreed to informally by all parties by the first of July or thereabouts," he told reporters.

The agreement would provide that participating countries share in world wheat supplies when grain is scarce and "accept certain disciplines" for managing reserve stockpiles when large surpluses exist.

"The Soviets are going to be a party to that agreement, I am convinced of that," he said.

Bergland returned last weekend from a 3-week trip abroad which included the Soviet Union and several other Eastern European countries.

The Soviet Union, as with the other Eastern European countries he visited, including Poland, Hungary and Rumania, appears firmly committed to increasing production of livestock to put more meat, poultry and dairy products on consumer tables, Bergland said.

But he said the Soviet Union is limited by its northern climate and short growing season in producing enough corn and other feed grains for livestock.

The Agriculture Department said Tuesday that as of May 26, more than 335.1 million bushels of wheat had been committed to the three-year reserve. Also, farmers had signed up to store about 64 million bushels of corn, 33.8 million bushels of oats, 23 million bushels of barley, and 6.5 million bushels of sorghum.

The grain will be stored by farmers for up to three years or until prices go up enough to trigger their release.

Two area 4-H leaders to be honored June 7

COLLEGE STATION — Two area 4-H leaders will be among 28 in Texas to be honored at the State 4-H Roundup at Texas A&M University June 7.

They are Mrs. Lois Rhoton of Gail Rt., Big Spring, and Jim Pool of Rt. 1, Odessa.

The two leaders will be recognized at a special luncheon as the top adult volunteer leaders in District 6 of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the parent organization of 4-H. Each will receive a special plaque provided by the Texas 4-H Foundation, the service organization of 4-H in the state.

Mrs. Rhoton has been a leader of the Gayhill 4-H Club for some eight years. She has been active in all home economics project areas, including foods and nutrition, clothing, child care and home environment. She has also given leadership to an Arts and Crafts Fair and a 4-H Rodeo.

The 4-H leader has been active in recruiting new members as well as adult leaders. She gives freely of her time and energy to train youth to be leaders and encourages them to take part in various programs and activities.

'Gestapo agent' claims unfair trial

CHICAGO (AP) — A retired factory worker stripped of his citizenship by a federal judge who ruled he was once a teenage Gestapo agent says he did not get a fair trial.

Frank Walus, 55, did not attend Tuesday's court session where the ruling was made by U.S. District Judge Julius Hoffman.

But at his home, Walus said he felt his trial was "one-sided ... all on one side."

He said it did not matter that the prosecution in the civil proceeding presented 11 witnesses who identified him as a Gestapo agent they saw in Jewish ghettos in Poland during World War II.

"It doesn't matter," he said. "I had people who identified me, too. People who knew me and what I was doing."

Walus' lawyer, Robert Korenkiewicz, contended during the proceedings that Walus was working as a farm laborer during the time he was accused of being involved with the Gestapo.

After Hoffman's ruling, Korenkiewicz said he was not sure whether Walus would appeal.

Under Tuesday's order, Walus must surrender his certificate of naturalization to Justice Department attorneys by June 9.

Immigration officials could begin deportation proceedings against Walus. However, David Vandersall, regional INS director, said no decision had been made to do so.

An immigration judge would decide in administrative hearings whether to deport Walus. Any deportation order could be appealed through the federal courts, government officials said.

Walus' wife, Celina, and his 13-year-old son were present for Hoffman's ruling. Afterward Mrs. Walus said, "One thing I can say: It's a terrible conspiracy. I don't have anything else to say. Eleven Jewish witnesses lying like hell — they got money. What proof do you have he is guilty? We will appeal. Absolutely. Absolutely."

Korenkiewicz said Walus did not attend because of the emotional nature of the trial and concern for Walus' safety.

He found that Walus failed to inform immigration officials of his background as a Gestapo agent during naturalization proceedings.

Mrs. Rhoton is active in the Howard County 4-H Leaders Association and the 4-H Finance Committee, 4-H Junior Rodeo Committee, 4-H Arts and Crafts Show Committee, and 4-H Fair Committee. In 1974 she was presented the outstanding county 4-H leader award.

Mrs. Rhoton also assists with the Howard County Fair and church and community activities.

Pool, employed with Mobil Oil Co., serves as organization leader for all 4-H clubs in Ector County. He has been an adult leader for more than 10 years and has provided special training for programs related to horse projects, horse judging, method demonstrations, public speaking, beef cattle, and small engines and electricity.

Pool is a staunch believer and supporter of adult leader organizations. He was a driving force in the organization of the District 6 4-H Adult Leaders Association and has served as treasurer. He has participated in the State 4-H Adult Leaders Forum for the past two years, and was the key leader in organizing for the 1973 State 4-H Horse Show held in Odessa.

Pool serves on the board of the Ector County 4-H and FFA Livestock Show, and is a member of the Governor's Committee and the Northside Baptist Church.

"They are never going to be able to feed these animals with homegrown feed stuffs in the quantities which I think they are building up to," Bergland said.

Thus, he said, Russia will continue to be an important grain market for American farmers.

Bergland said that an important objective of the trip was to impress the Soviet Union and the other countries of the necessity of providing information on long-range grain requirements so that the United States can shape its agricultural policy and production to help meet foreign needs.

Bergland said that agricultural officials in each of the countries "promised to do their best, without getting specific" on food statistics.

Soviet Union changing, secret NATO report says

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union probably will be a profoundly different nation socially, economically, politically — even militarily — within the next ten years or so, says a secret NATO analysis under study by 15 world leaders meeting here.

The portrait, drawn by a special international task force, follows a proposal written by President Carter a year ago. The document is being scrutinized by the heads of state of the NATO countries meeting in a two-day summit that ends today.

Allied diplomats who are familiar with the document, but who would not be named, said it examines the transforming population makeup of the Soviet nation, uncertain energy supplies in the 1980s; a slowdown in economic growth; an ever-increasing arms burden; complications posed by China's developing capabilities; and the nature of the leadership likely to succeed the country's present hierarchy.

At one point, the analysis stresses, the Soviets are unlikely to unleash a major war of aggression despite a military spending program increasing at an annual rate of 5 percent. Soviet military spending now consumes between 11 percent and 13 percent of the gross national product, the nation's total annual output.

The western officials disclosed some of the document's dramatic content.

On the Soviets' changing population structure: —The birth rate of the 150 million Soviet citizens living in the Russian Republic has declined to 15 per 1,000, below the national average of 18.2.

—In contrast, the birth rate in the Asian and Transcaucasian republics has climbed rapidly to between 30 and 40 per 1,000.

—By the year 2000, one of four Soviet citizens, therefore, will be of Moslem origin, nearly doubling the 1970 ratio. The role of Islam on Soviet policy, especially in the Mideast, could become increasingly significant. The Asian population still observes some Moslem traditions and lives in the country's southern tier, near coreligionists in Turkey, Iran, Afghanistan and China.

—Until now the Asians of the Soviet Union have remained in rural areas. New industries in their territories have been manned at top levels mainly by Russians. But as Russian manpower resources decline, the country's work force will become more dependent on Asians who will need new skills. The same would be true of the Soviet armed forces, which are becoming technologically more sophisticated.

Crackdown on Soviets stirs anti-Communism

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S.-Soviet tensions are escalating to new heights as the Carter administration tries to cope with rising Soviet pressures in Africa, an internal crackdown on dissidents and a Red military buildup in Eastern Europe.

The tougher U.S. tone has parts of this capital approaching the anti-communist fervor that marked the Cold War of the late 1940s and the 1950s.

The administration's aim is to get Russia to reverse itself while satisfying this country's voters — heading toward the fall congressional elections — that the government is alert to the continuing Soviet tests of U.S. resolve.

The rhetoric is mostly that of Zbigniew Brzezinski, the national security adviser who has successfully counseled President Carter to publicize the criticism and to put more "bite" in its statements.

Once thought to favor easing the Cold War, Brzezinski has evolved into a leading skeptic of Soviet intentions. He was recently quoted as explaining, "Anybody who maintains that one has to be constant in one's views in every respect for decades is a jerk."

Why the administration is publicizing its concerns now is not entirely clear.

For instance, there is concern, particularly at the State Department, that the partially completed treaty with

Programs produce low scores Cuba attacks Carter policy

HOUSTON (AP) — Inferior programs offered to minority students produce low achievement scores, according to a study of the Houston Independent School District which the Houston Urban League will release next week.

"The educational programs in minority schools are inherently inferior compared to other schools," said J. Don Boney Jr., who heads the League's education department and did the 90-day study.

"We found the problems are much more critical than anyone imagined. Looking at the district statistically, we found too much positive correlation between race and the quality of education offered those students," he said.

Boney said the League was concerned over what he termed "the critical difference" between standard achievement test scores in predominantly white schools and those in minority schools.

Average results show white schools scoring in the top half in the nation while minority school results show up in the bottom half.

"The difference is evident in the teacher quality, teacher experience, facilities and programs," Boney said. "I feel the district is going to be upset by our study, but it is perpetuating educational inferiority."

A tri-ethnic commission assigned by a federal judge to monitor desegregation in the Houston Independent School District has indicated the proportion of minority students in district schools is growing each year. The judge has called on the HISD to make plans to redress the number of "one race" schools the district.

A federal court-established ratio that sets the racial percentage of teachers in each school to reflect the racial balance districtwide comes in for specific criticism in the study.

Boney said the so-called Singleton ratio has resulted in the assigning of inexperienced, white teachers to black schools while veteran black teachers have been transferred to white schools.

He said the League plans to petition the HISD to ask that the court alter the ratio so it more closely reflects the racial makeup of schools.

Young is silent

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Andrew Young is counseling silence to Cuba's attack on President Carter's African policy, contending a sharp reply would take attention away from the General Assembly's special disarmament debate, diplomatic sources say.

Young, who has taken a more benign view of Cuban involvement in Africa than the White House and the Pentagon, did not use the 15-minute rebuttal time he was entitled to Tuesday after Cuban Vice President Carlos Rafael Rodriguez told the assembly Carter's charge that Cuba trained and equipped rebel invaders of southern Zaire was "ANTHROPOMORPHIC LIES."

However, an American official said the White House or the State Department might comment on the Cuban attack today.

Rodriguez followed up his assembly speech with a nationwide TV interview in which he told Barbara Walters of ABC that

Last officer buried today in Oklahoma

The last of three Oklahoma Highway Patrol troopers killed in gun battles May 26 was to be buried this afternoon.

Law enforcement officers and other mourners were expected to gather at 1 p.m. Woodward's high school for a funeral service for Trooper Billy G. Young, 50.

Tuesday, Trooper Houston F. "Pappy" Summers, 62, of Enid, was buried, and on Monday, a funeral service was performed for Lt. Pat Grimes, 36, of Moore.

The three highway patrolmen were killed in southern Oklahoma gun battles with prison escapees Claude Eugene Dennis and Michael Lancaster. The escapees were both killed.

Rev. James F. Matheny, pastor of Enid Bible Church, Tuesday eulogized Summers and "those brave men killed and wounded at the same time as Pappy."

Patients move to special unit

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — Three persons still hospitalized at Bernalillo County Medical Center after a botulism outbreak in Clovis last month were moved to a special sub-unit created for them at the hospital.

The three, Warner and Carolyn Wilson of Clovis and Howard Cowper of Albuquerque, are among seven victims of the outbreak who remain hospitalized in Albuquerque and west Texas hospitals.

Doctors said the Wilsons and Cowper were moved from the intensive care unit Tuesday to a corner of BCMC's special acute care unit. Some 150 hours of special training in the care of botulism victims has been given to special acute care staff and other staffers who work in the unit, they said.

The three were moved so they could be placed in a more quieter environment than intensive care but still be where they could be watched for any problems.

ONLY WAY TO SEE OKLAHOMA

Big Spring High School Track Coach Jerry Carter took eight local boys to Oklahoma almost two weeks ago for the 11th Annual Okie Relays.

The OR is a four-man relay race across the state of Oklahoma from the Kansas line at Elkhart to the Texas line in Texoma, 40 miles along the route of highway 95. (That's in the "Cimarron Strip.")

Forever-Okie Walt Finley (class of '06) once participated in the race, but took a wrong turn at Guyman, Okla., and spent two weeks running from an angry mob of Eli Guinn's relatives. (Naw.)

But seriously, the local squad of Craig Neighbors, Brad Glaser, James Martin and Dirk Davis, completed the distance in 4 hours, and 57 seconds. That was good enough for third place among the 37 teams entered in the high school division.

The number two team from BSHS, Johnny Petty, Gary Jewell, Kevin Wolf and Steve Trevino turned in a 4:11.2 for fifth place, and all members ran 10.3 miles each. The winning time in the high school division was run by Meadow City Track Club out of Las Vegas, N.M. — a 3:51.37.

Carter indicated that his charges saw an ad about the Relays in "Runners World" magazine and sent off for more information. They paid their own way to the event that has national sanction attached for the states of Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico and Colorado.

A total of 248 runners participated in the Relays, and the local third place finishers received trophies. All but two of the eight locals will return for District 5-4A competition in the cross-country and track programs next year. Craig Neighbors and James Martin graduated this year. The rest will be back, giving Big Spring the early nod for fave in long-distance running meets.

NO RESPECT AGAIN

ABC recently released its complete September schedule of NCAA football telecasts for next season. Of the 18 games on tap both nationally and regionally, on five Saturdays in that month, only one contest featuring a Southwest Conference team will be broadcast. That's the Sept. 16 showing of the Baylor and Georgia clash.

Local fans of Tom Sorely, the ex-Steer field general and starter next year at quarterback for the Cornhuskers, will be pleased to know that Nebraska will be on the tube twice that month — the season opener against Alabama, Sept. 2, to be nationally televised, and the Sept. 30 clambake against Indiana.

REMARKABILITIES

"My next step is commissioner." — BILLY MARTIN, who has been fired as manager by the Minnesota Twins, Detroit Tigers and Texas Rangers, on what he'd do if the New York Yankees fired him.

"Do the Rams think fans will not attend games unless an erotic element is added?" — GLORIA ALLRED, coordinator of the National Organization for Women, denouncing the Los Angeles Rams cheerleader tryouts as "a classic show of sexism on the sidelines."

"Leon Spinks is contemplating plastic surgery for scar tissue above his eyes. I can just hear Ali saying: 'Look at me! I been fighting 15 years and I'm still beautiful. He's fighting two years and he needs his face lifted!'" — DICK YOUNG.

Sizzling Giants fizzle Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — After seven victories in his first nine decisions, San Francisco's Bob Knepper is just starting to feel comfortable on the mound.

"I wasn't throwing the ball as hard as I should be until tonight," said Knepper, following the Giants 1-0 conquest of the Houston Astros Tuesday night.

"Tonight I had my best fastball, my best curveball and my best control of the season."

Knepper tossed a five-hitter for his second shutout of the season and drove in the only run of the game with a seventeenth sacrifice fly as the streaking Giants took their 15th victory in their last 18 games.

Losing pitcher J.R. Richard, 45, allowed only three hits, but uncorked three wild pitches in seventh inning to tie a National League record which helped the Giants score their only run.

Larry Herndon led off the inning by striking out but was safe at first when Richard delivered his first wild pitch on the third strike. Herndon was safe at second and Vic Harris at first when Richard fielded Harris' attempted sacrifice and threw too late to second base in an attempt to force Herndon.

After Mike Sadek flew out, Richard unleashed his second wild pitch, sending Herndon to third. Knepper followed with his sacrifice fly to right as the Giants took their fifth straight triumph over Houston this season.

"I think Bob is the best left-handed starter in the league right now," said Bill Madlock, who collected two of the three hits off Richard. "Knepper is more of a pitcher and Vida (Blue) is more of a thrower."

The victory widened San Francisco's lead over second-place Cincinnati to 12 games in the National League's West Division, their largest lead of the season. Madlock, however, says the season is far from over and nothing is a certainty.

UTEPer is track fave

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — James Munyala, a small, quiet, unimpressive Kenyan attending Texas-El Paso, can make NCAA track history this week in the national collegiate outdoor meet.

Munyala has won the 3,000-meter steeplechase in each of the last three NCAA meets, and if he wins again Saturday, the final day of the three-day meet beginning Thursday at the University of Oregon, he would equal the mark of four victories in the same event — or its equivalent — attained by only one other runner, the late Steve Prefontaine, in this annual outdoor extravaganza.

"I hope he can pull it off," said Jim Bowden, athletic director at Texas-El Paso.

Prefontaine, a former star at Oregon, won the three-mile in 1970, 1971 and 1973, and the 5,000 meters in 1972, an Olympic year, when all races in this meet were contested in meters in preparation for the Summer Games at Munich.

However, for Munyala to match Prefontaine's performance, he likely will have to beat the world record holder in the steeplechase, sophomore Henry Rono, a fellow Kenyan from Washington State.

Rono set the mark of 8 minutes, 05.4 seconds April 22 at Seattle.

However, Rono has been suffering from a slight heel injury recently, and running the obstacle-plagued steeplechase course might be too painful for him. Instead, he might double in the 5,000, in which he also set the world record this year (13:08.4) and the 10,000, in which his Washington State teammate and fellow Kenyan, Samson Kimombwa, set the world record (27:30.5) last year.

Misunderstanding settled, Carroll is City Champ

By DANNY REAGAN Sports Editor

Big Spring High School golfing sensation Bruce Carroll scorched the Comanche Trail Golf Course over the Memorial Day weekend for a three-round total of 212.

That was seven strokes better than the closest competitor in the annual City Championship Golf Tournament sponsored by the Big Spring Golf Association. That should have given him the title of City Champion.

For a while, however, it didn't. Why? Another case of misunderstanding the University Interscholastic League rulebook.

"They told me that if I entered the tournament I wouldn't be able to win anything, but I thought they just meant merchandise," said Carroll Tuesday. "But I paid my $12.50 entry fee and it's crazy to think that if I won the tournament I couldn't be declared champion."

Carroll, who suggested that few considered him a true contender at the young age of 16, remarked: "As far as I'm concerned, I'm the city champion."

Don Minary, tournament chairman of the championship event, and Don Osborne, who was briefly crowned City Champ, echoed those sentiments.

"It was just a misunderstanding," said Minary. "We were under the impression that Bruce couldn't accept the title."

But after Minary was informed of a Tuesday morning conversation between Big Spring Athletic Director Don Robbins and the new State Athletic Director of the UIL, Bill Fourney, in which Fourney assured Robbins that Carroll could accept the title and recognition but no monetary compensation, Minary officially announced Tuesday afternoon that Carroll "is the City Champion and will be the defending City Champion until next year."

Most of the principles involved had read the UIL rulebook and felt they understood that Carroll couldn't accept even the recognition if he were to keep his UIL eligibility intact. But after talking to Fourney, Robbins was assured that Carroll wasn't breaking any of the rules by being declared City Champion.

"The rules are constantly changing," said Robbins,

"and reading the rules myself, I thought that he couldn't accept anything and could only play. It was just a matter of interpretation. We were mainly concerned, though, with Bruce not ruining his opportunity to play for his school next year."

Osborne, who is at Lake Conroe today for a practice round in the Texas State Amateur Tournament, expressed great admiration for Carroll. "He's a terrific kid, and I told Minary that I didn't care who was named City Champion. The important thing was to make sure that this didn't hurt his eligibility or cost him a scholarship."

In reference to Fourney's blessing, Osborne said, "Get it in writing. Those UIL rules can be wicked."

"I know how he (Carroll) feels," observed Osborne, who once blew the City Championship when he was only 15 by sending three straight out-of-bounds balls off the tee on number 16, while leading on the final round of play.

"He beat everyone's brains out, he deserves to win," Osborne concluded. "I've won a lot of tournaments, and I'll win a lot more. Bruce just played super."

The confusion that surrounded the event was exemplified by Osborne's remarks to BSHS girl's golf coach Howard Stewart as the pair walked down the fairway on their first Sunday death playoff hole. "What are we playing for Howard?" the former Steer asked. "For money, the championship or second place? What?"

Apparently, the confusion is over. Bruce Carroll is the City Champion, he has not damaged his eligibility with the UIL, Don Osborne is a gracious runner-up and one sports-writer is trying to understand the rationale behind the UIL rule which allows his school rodeo riders to collect up to $200, while the golfers wind up in sandtraps.

Oh well, if it were easy, everyone could understand it.

Big lead blues spoils Sonics' bid

SEATTLE (AP) — Whether you're rooting for the Washington Bullets or the Seattle Super-Sonics, big leads spell big trouble for your team.

"I really don't think big leads are that important," said Bullets Coach Dick Motta, who watched his players dig themselves out of a 15-point thirdquarter hole and climb past the Sonics 120-116 in overtime Tuesday night in Game 4 of the National Basketball Association championship series.

"I said it earlier in the series, it's difficult to keep a 15-point lead. That 24-second clock dictates that you have to keep playing," added Motta, whose Bullets learned that lesson the hard way in Game 1 when they saw a 19-point third-period lead evaporate into a four-point Seattle victory.

Tuesday night's game, which had a record crowd of 39,457 in the Kingdome on the edge of their seats throughout the final frantic minutes, evened the best-of-seven title series at two games apiece. Game 5 is set for Friday night in the Seattle Center Coliseum.

The Sonics appeared headed for a runaway victory after rookie forward Jack Sikma's three-point play gave them a 85-70 lead with 2:22 left in the third quarter. But suddenly, the Sonics stopped running, began taking bad shots and the big lead slowly began to dwindle into a big disappointment.

"We played the last quarter and a half like we had played the last playoff series against Philadelphia," said Motta, referring to the Bullets' upset of the Philadelphia 76ers in the semifinals.

"We'll come back and play harder Friday and we'll win," said Seattle guard Dennis Johnson, who scored a career-high 33 points and blocked a Bobby Dandridge shot in the final moments that assured an overtime session.

"We let them off the hook," said Sonics Coach Lenny Wilkens. "We had it and we just weren't patient. We didn't execute down the stretch."

Down the stretch is where Washington played its best. The Bullets tied the game midway through the final period, in which they outscored Seattle 28-19, and led 106-104 after forward Bobby Dandridge hit a three-point play with 20 seconds to go.

But clutch-shooting guard Fred Brown sent the game into overtime with a jumper from the right corner with 14 seconds on the clock.

"I thought we had it won in regulation," said Motta. "but Seattle executed that play to Freddie very well, and then DJ (Dennis Johnson) came out of nowhere, like he has all series, to block Bobby's shot."

Guard Charles Johnson, who had scored just eight points in regulation time, took command in overtime for the Bullets, scoring the first basket on a fast-break layup, then beating Seattle's defense downcourt for a jumper that made it 110-106 with 3:35 to go.

The Bullets led the rest of the way.

"At last I can do all the work I need to get ready to pitch," he said. "That pain that was going down my back is gone."

Marshall and Zahn combined for a seven-hit 2-0 shutout of the Rangers in their last outing with Zahn going 7 2/3 innings and Marshall getting the save.

"I don't really have any secret about the Rangers," said Zahn, who boosted his record to 5-2. "I do feel I'm stronger this year and I'm throwing my change up over the plate."

Texas starter Ferguson Jenkins held the Twins to one hit through the first four innings until back to back singles by Hosken Powell and Glenn Adams and Rich Chiles' grounder produced a run in the fifth.

Jenkins, 5-3, left in the eighth after serving up a run-scoring single to Mike Cubbage.

The Twins threatened again in the eighth when they loaded the bases against two Ranger relievers. Roger Moret yielded a double to Butch Wynegar and single to Roy Smalley and Reggie Cleveland then walked Bombo Rivera to load the bases.

Texas first baseman Mike Hargrove nipped one runner at the plate for the first out and third baseman Toby Harrah grabbed a grounder by Chiles, forced a runner at third and threw home to end the inning on a double play.

Meanwhile, Rangers Manager Bill Hunter offered an obvious explanation for his teams' loss: "No hits, no hits," he said.

TRYING OUT FOR BEN-GALS — Mary Brooks, 21, of Cincinnati dances before the judges during Sunday's tryouts for the Cincinnati Ben-Gals cheerleading squad. A record 224 women, including a deputy sheriff, two exotic dancers, and a circus aerialist sought the 24 spots.

It ain't funny, guys!

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Minnesota Twins relief pitcher Mike Marshall has his sense of humor back but none of the Texas Rangers are laughing.

"It's hard to have a sense of humor when you're hurting so bad," Marshall, who helped axe the Rangers 2-0 Tuesday night, cleaning up the ninth inning for starter Geoff Zahn.

"My wife said she has noticed my sense of humor has improved since the operation," Marshall said. "She used to complain that I didn't play with the kids enough. I had trouble standing up."

Marshall said his fast start this season is the result of feeling no pain when he plays. He had surgery prior to last season to correct chronic back pains and it's beginning to pay off this season.

"At last I can do all the work I need to get ready to pitch," he said. "That pain that was going down my back is gone."

New rule hikes life expectancy of quarterback

HARVEY MARTIN isn't going to like this. The men who make the pro football rules have found new ways to keep him from crunching the quarterback. No defensive lineman likes to be deprived of such basic enjoyment, such pursuit of happiness.

Earlier this week, all 28 NFL head coaches convened at the New York Hilton to digest rules changes adopted by the NFL Competition Committee. The coaches will now go back home and teach the appropriate techniques involved to their troops. Basically, the new rules are designed to increase scoring and extend the life of quarterbacks.

This is to be achieved in two parts. The offensive linemen may use open hands and fully extended arms to push off the charging defenders. This liberty also applies to pass-blocking backs. The pass-blocker may shove and straight-arm with locked elbows. Previously, the elbows had to be flexed.

Springing Pass Receiver
The second part involves springing the pass receiver into the clear, five yards beyond the line of scrimmage. Once he reaches that promised land, no defender may lay a hand on him, regardless of whether the passer has released the ball.

Till now, the bump-and-run tactic was supreme. It was a device developed in the old AFL and infused into the NFL at merger time. The defensive linemen and backs could bump a pass receiver as he left the line, and bang him around almost at will until the pass was thrown. They would pass him around from cornerback to safety, disrupting his pass-pattern and often leaving him stretched on the ground. Those who saw Dave Casper manhandled in the playoffs know what I'm talking about. It was the double-team mashing taken by Oakland's tight end that accelerated this legislation against the bump-and-run.

Now, a defender may hit a pass-receiver only once. If he can maintain contact, body-to-body, it is legal for five yards. Once, however, the receiver bounces away, that defender may not again touch him. Another way, another defender may pick him up for a second shot, but it must be done within five yards of the scrimmage.

YOUNG IDEAS
By DICK YOUNG

Once the receiver clears five yards, he is free to pursue his pass route, unimpeded.

This rule is worded as though designed to protect the receiver, and it does, but it is an even bigger boon to the quarterback. It will enable him to release the pass sooner. He need not wait for his primary receiver to recover from multiple pummelings in the secondary. The receiver will be quickly along his pass route, the ball will be released, and the quarterback will be spared a sack.

It is interesting to note that two NFL players attended the meetings of the Competition Committee last March in Phoenix, where the outlines were formulated. Gene Upshaw and Gene Washington were there. Gene Upshaw is an offensive guard for Oakland. Gene Washington is a wide receiver with the 49ers. It might be wondered why the committee did not seek input from say Lemar Parrish, Cincinnati's crackjack bump-and-run cornerback, or from Jack Youngblood, the Rams' renowned bounty hunter on quarterbacks.

Most coaches seem to favor the new rules. Even Tom Landry, whose Super Bowl champs have made the pass-rush an art form, "thinks it's a good idea. He also has a valuable property named Staubach.

Schedule Increase Hurts
"With the schedule increased from 14 to 16 games" said Landry the other day, "the quarterbacks will get beat up quite a bit. It's almost imperative that each club have three quarterbacks now."

I have never been in favor of pampering quarterbacks. I don't wish to see them maimed, but if they insist on running with the ball as often as they do, taunting the defensive Lennies that lumber after them, then they are inviting a good shot. The "quarterback cocoon" syndrome just seems to be too one-sided a trend. If the Competition Committee really wants to protect the quarterbacks, let it work on some sort of rule prohibiting them from running with the ball.

The Committee has taken steps to eliminate another form of taunting. The Jean Fugett who delights in waving the ball under a pursing man's nose as he runs across the goal, or spiking it at a defender's feet, will be hit with a 15-yard penalty for unsportsmanlike conduct. Hallelujah! Now, maybe, they can work on a way to ban the John Travoltas who get that Sunday Afternoon Fever scoring a TD.

WATCHING THE BIRDIE — Nancy Lopez watches her ball as she makes a birdie putt in her first Golden Lights tournament. The young golfer, in her first year on the Ladies Professional Golf tour, has now won the last three tournaments she has entered, and has five wins overall this season.

Bengals want Pritchard to return

CINCINNATI (AP) — Veteran linebacker Ron Pritchard, surprised that the Cincinnati Bengals want him to return, has turned his nose at their latest contract offer. "I'm not going to sign anything," Pritchard said from his home in northern California. "I'm just going to sit back and let this thing take care of itself."

The Bengals, under the National Football League collective bargaining agreement, had until June 1 to notify free agents whether they wanted them back. One of those free agents, veteran defensive tackle Ron Carpenter, who underwent spinal surgery last October, was released by the team. But Pritchard, who has had knee surgery three times since 1976, was offered a contract by the Bengals after it was determined that his injuries have healed. "In fact, his injured knee was found to be tighter than his non-injured knee," said Mike Brown, Bengals assistant general manager. Pritchard, however, wants to go to the Oakland Raiders or the San Francisco 49ers. "We tried," Brown said. "Both teams told us if they had any interest in him, they'd get back to us. Neither of them did. Pritchard knows all this."

"I'm not satisfied being there. It's crazy, I don't know what they want," said Pritchard, who has played eight of his nine NFL seasons in Cincinnati. He also conceded his salary is in the $80,000-90,000 category.

"If Pritchard is healthy and if he's in the spirit of playing, he's a fine football player," Brown said. "But if he isn't, we don't have much."

Top names at Kemper

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Jerry Heard, winner of the Atlanta Classic Sunday after bouncing back from injuries that had taken him off the pro golf tour for months at a time, has history behind him in gunning for two victories in a row at the Kemper Open this week.

Shooting for a $60,000 first prize in the $300,000 tournament that runs Thursday through Sunday at Quail Hollow Country Club, Heard joins a field that features all but about a dozen of the top 100 money winners this year.

Ranger Jucos smoking in baseball tourney

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. (AP) — Led by the hot bat of designated hitter Johnny Rogers, Ranger of Texas takes an unblemished tournament record into today's round of the National Junior College World Series.

Heard, noted for his wisecracking nature and for whistling on the golf course as he works, has played well in the Kemper. He is the fifth leading money winner in the tournament, with $51,172.12, and has four finishes in the top dozen, including a second and a fourth.

After winning at Atlanta, he said he wants another victory so he can qualify for the World Series of Golf.

Defending champion Weiskopf is put at the top of the list of Kemper players because he has captured first place three times during the Kemper's 10 previous contests. He won it in 1971, 1973 and last year, and the fluid-swinging Ohioan has picked up $159,221 in nine Kemper appearances.

Missing when the tournament begins Thursday morning will be Jack Nicklaus, who has played the Kemper on only two occasions. Also absent will be Tom Watson, Hubert Green and Mac McLendon.

Ranger meets Meremac of St. Louis, Mo., after blanking defending champion Yavapai of Prescott, Ariz., 12-0 Tuesday night in a game shortened to five innings due to the 10-run rule.

It was the first loss in the double-elimination tournament for Yavapai, who faces once-beaten Columbia State of Tennessee.

In an earlier game Tuesday, Columbia State defeated Miami-Dade South 17-7 and eliminated the Florida team from the tournament. That game was shortened to seven innings.

Rogers, a sophomore from New York City, has nine hits in 11 trips to the plate and 10 RBIs in the tournament. He contributed a two-run single in the first inning against Yavapai and came back with a two-run homer in the third inning.

Pitcher Jay Huffman limited the Arizona batters to three hits. Kenny Cox, a 6-4, 270-pound first baseman, hit a first-inning grand-slam home run to ignite Columbia State's victory over Miami-Dade.

Mike Norment added a home run and triple and freshman Mike Taylor chipped in with four hits in five at-bats. Tony Barquin and Ron Faria had two hits each for Miami-Dade.

Tennis tourney begins Saturday

The Big Spring local tournament of the fourth Equitable Family Tennis Challenge will begin on Saturday at the Figure 7 Tennis Center.

With more than 140,000 competitors nationwide, this is the largest amateur tournament in the world.

In all, 256 cities throughout the country are hosting local tournaments in the unique event, which presents its championship playoffs at the U.S. Open in September. Sixty-four teams will compete in the finals for four national titles at the new United States Tennis Association Center in Flushing Meadows, N.Y.

Last year more than 100,000 entered the tournament, but the event was expanded this year to include teams of mothers and daughters as well as fathers and sons in addition to mother-son and father-daughter tandems. A championship will be determined for each family combination.

Families may still enter at participating facilities by completing coupons available at these clubs on posters or counter-cards, or by obtaining coupons at the Tennis Center. For further information, contact Capital Sports, Inc., 280 Park Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10017.

Local winners in each of the four family combinations will advance to 128 district tournaments (scheduled for July 10-17), with those victors moving on to 16 sectional events (scheduled for July 24-August 2). Sectional winners receive an all-expense paid trip to the finals, Sept. 6-9.

Americans advance in Paris

PARIS — Defending champion Guillermo Vilas of Argentina, Brian Gottfried of the United States and Italy's Adriano Panatta gained easy first-round victories in the $400,000 French Open tennis tournament.

Vilas, the No. 2 seed behind Sweden's Bjorn Borg, played with little finesse but still beat New Zealand's Onny Parun 6-0, 6-4, 6-0.

Gottfried, last year's runnerup at Roland Garros Stadium, had little trouble ousting fellow American Bill Scanlon 6-2, 6-2, 6-0 in the second straight day of spring heat.

Panatta combined artful ground strokes and swift coverage of the clay court to roll to a 3-6, 6-2, 6-3, 6-1 victory over Czechoslovakia's Jiri Granat.

Americans Harold Solomon and Arthur Ashe also notched first-round victories along with countryman Billy Martin.

Maddox, Palmer are PoW's

NEW YORK — Garry Maddox of the Philadelphia Phillies was named National League player of the week.

The award came after Maddox collected 15 hits in 24 at bats, a .625 pace. Included were two doubles, two home runs and six runs batted in. Maddox also stole six bases in six tries, including four in a single game against Pittsburgh Monday night.

NEW YORK — Jim Palmer, who fired successive shutouts for the Baltimore Orioles last week, has been named American League player of the week.

Palmer allowed 14 hits in the two games, beating Detroit 3-0 and Cleveland 1-0, and pushing his career victory total to 200. The two shutouts gave him 48 for his career, 16th on the all-time list.

Lopez taking a week off

TORONTO (AP) — Five prominent players, including leading money winner Nancy Lopez, will miss the $100,000 Ladies Professional Golfers Association Toronto tournament that gets underway Thursday at St. George's Golf and Country Club.

A tournament spokesman said a variety of injuries will sideline Sandra Palmer, Sally Little, Carol Mann and Pat Bradley for the 72-hole event.

Lopez, who has won the last three LPGA tournaments, is taking the week off.

Celebs will enter tourney

MASON, Ohio (AP) — Joey Bishop and Dinah Shore will be among the entertainers who will play in a Ladies Professional Golf Association pro-amateur competition here on June 7.

The 18-hole event will precede the $150,000 LPGA Championship June 8-11.

Other celebrities who will participate in the pro-am include singers Vic Damone and Smokey Robinson. Shore will also be tapping her variety talk show from the nearby Kings Island family entertainment center.

Condominium market recovers, but not becoming dominant

NEW YORK (AP) — The condominium market is recovering, but don't believe those forecasts of it becoming the dominant form of housing ownership in the future, says the National Association of Realtors.

Prices for condos are now rising at a rate comparable to those of detached single-family units, after lagging for several years because of massive overbuilding in many areas, the Realtors say.

Three years ago, for example, prices in many areas were appreciating at a rate less than one-half that of detached homes, and prices in some locales declined substantially.

Owners seeking to sell their units faced competition not only from other resales but from a glut of unsold new units. Condo promoters went broke and entire buildings stood nearly empty for months.

According to a Realtor survey, a "more reasonable" construction picture prevails this year. It finds "Both builders and lenders now are doing their homework before plunging into the market."

While prices are said to be improving and demand, it is claimed, is up over a year ago, the Realtors seek to disabuse people of the notion that condominiums are going to replace traditional detached homes.

In 80 percent of markets, the association observes, condos account for less than 10 percent of sales. In small and medium-size towns, mainly in the Midwest and South, they have never gained much acceptance.

About 67 percent of American families now live in their own homes, and for the most part, it seems, they prefer a detached unit on its own plot of ground, rather than sharing facilities or structures.

Isn't that what most people believe that firemen do? They just sit around and play dominoes. Ask nearly any citizen.

Once a year down in Austin in May, there is a special memorial service and tribute to Texas firemen. One of the monuments on the capitol yard bears the names of firemen killed in fires in Texas. And it is built where names are added each year.

The fireman has a weird kind of job. He has to sit around until there's a fire. And you only need him when there's a fire. But, oh my goodness how you need him then.

Big Spring is lucky in having a well-trained fire department. Out in the county, they depend upon volunteers to put out the fires. And thank the good Lord for the volunteers. They are people who get up in the night and fight a fire all night long and then have to go to work the next day. They spend many Sundays during dry season battling grass fires. That's their day off.

For over 30 years, one of the news stories that I have often covered have been fires.

I was thinking this week about some of those firemen I have seen through the years and some of the things I have seen them do.

I've seen a fireman rush back into a small frame house burning because a child was missing. He carried out a small child passed out from smoke who was hiding in the closet.

I've seen a fireman rush up to a gasoline-filled truck and pull an unconscious driver from the cab and drag him away right before the truck blew.

I've seen a fireman rush in to help extinguish a tank battery when there was danger from nearby storage tanks.

I've seen a fireman rush into heavy smoke and battle the fires in the tall grass around homes on the north side the day the compass was burning.

I've seen firemen climb on burning roofs, put on gas masks and plunge into heavily filled smoke areas and help people to safety.

I've even seen them go in and rescue people's pets.

Man helps 30 escape fire

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Fire department officials credit Luis Cabellero with enabling more than 30 of his sleeping neighbors to escape an early-morning apartment house fire and averting what might have been this city's second tragic fire in 24 hours.

Officials said Cabellero, 24, was awakened by smoke about 2 a.m. Tuesday and spotted flames in the wooden, two-story apartment house.

He led his wife and two infant children to safety and then began knocking on the doors of other apartments to awaken his sleeping neighbors. After everyone had fled, Cabellero grabbed a garden hose and battled the blaze until firemen arrived. The blaze came only 24 hours after an explosion and fire engulfed a low-income housing project apartment about 3 a.m. Monday, killing four young children. The mother of the victims and her three other children escaped with minor injuries.

Officials said the fatal fire was caused by arson, but said an accident caused Tuesday's fire in the large frame house that had been divided into apartments. The members of five families, including several children, all escaped unharmed from Cabellero's apartment house.

Architect designs structure

Town without vehicles?

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Take a moment to picture your hometown of the future as it lives in the sketches, models and mind of futuristic architect Paolo Soleri.

It would be a self-contained, 25-story crescent structure of shops, residences, industries, schools and businesses, built atop sloping terraces of greenhouses covered by a hundreds of square yards of glass or plastic.

Much of the city's food would be grown in the greenhouses, which would also capture solar energy to provide most of the city's heat and power.

It would be designed to capture the stingiest of winter's rays of sunlight, but shield residents from the harsh summer sun.

There would be no traffic jams because there would be no need for autos — the whole thing would take up only 16 acres. But it would be home for about 5,000 persons in spacious 2,000-square-foot dwellings.

It's called "Arcosanti," Soleri's prototype of what he calls "Arcology," and it's slowly being built in central Arizona.

"If you came to me as a client and told me you were very concerned about conserving reserves, especially energy, or very concerned about pollution, waste, preservation of land, preservation of farmland... this is the way to go," said Soleri, who spoke this week at the Fourth International Congress of Religion, the Arts, Architecture and the Environment.

Soleri preaches the gospel of "miniaturization" and sees the world's sprawling cities as monuments to wastefulness.

His "Arcology," which symbolizes Soleri's complex theory connecting architecture and ecology, is designed to save a polluted world crowding itself out of energy reserves, land and food.

The diminutive, intense 57-year-old architect sees cities like Arcosanti as the final evolution of the city, "a societal framework that can give a higher quality to humankind's physical, psychological and aesthetic well-being."

Arcosanti began taking shape on an 860-acre tract of land in Arizona in 1970.

On June 3, Texas voters will elect one of two men as the Democratic candidate for Railroad Commissioner:

Jerry Sadler, 70, is a twice-defeated former Land Commissioner. Here's what three of the state's leading newspapers have to say about him:

The Austin American-Statesman: "Voters deserve to know whom they will be choosing between in the runoff June 3. Poerner is not a household name; Sadler is. But Sadler has a sorry record in state government. He is the only person ever censured by the Texas House of Representatives (for failure to cooperate with an investigation). He became notorious for attempting to choke then-State Rep. Jake Johnson. He was defeated at the polls in 1970 and lost to Jon Newton in a race for Railroad Commissioner in 1976. And now he's back again."

The Dallas Times Herald: "Sadler has made Texas government a universal target of ridicule and derision."

The San Angelo Standard Times: "Under Sadler, the Railroad Commission just might become the laughing stock he once made of the General Land Office."

IS THERE REALLY ANY CHOICE?

The Railroad Commission regulates the oil, gas and transportation industries in Texas. Our energy and utility rate problems demand vigorous and responsible leadership. We need John Poerner to fight for Texas and protect what is rightfully ours.

John Poerner, 45, is a respected businessman and rancher. John Poerner was elected to three successive terms in the Texas House before being named Executive Director of the Governor's Committee on Aging and Director, Education Resources of Texas.

His honors include being named "Citizen of the Year" in his hometown of Hondo, receiving a "Distinguished Legislator" award from the Vocational Agriculture Teachers Association, and being named to the "Agriculture Hall of Fame" at Southwest Texas State University.

He was recently appointed to the Railroad Commission by the Governor.

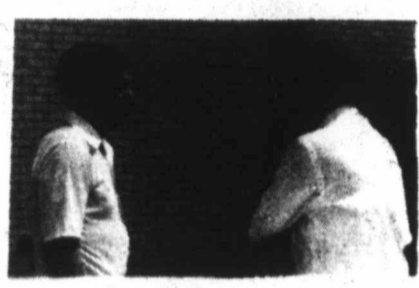

"Poerner is a solid, competent individual with a record of 10 years of dedicated public service," says the Houston Chronicle. "(We urge) his election."

Defense attorneys pledge to appeal

HOUSTON (AP) — If an appeals court does not uphold federal sentences handed down to three former Houston police officers in the death of a prisoner, there will be an appeal, according to defense attorneys.

U.S. District Judge Ross Sterling gave Stephen Orlando, Terry Denson and Joseph Janish suspended sentences March 28 in their felony conviction of conspiring to violate the civil rights of Joe Campos Torres, resulting in the Mexican-American's death while in police custody. The three received one year sentences on a misdemeanor beating charge.

Leaking and lobbying — Washington's passtime

WASHINGTON (AP) — The recent claims that an oil lobbyist got advance drafts of regulations and sometimes influenced them could hardly surprise anyone who has worked in Washington.

Leaking and lobbying are two of the most popular games in town, next to tennis.

But the claims sent a spasm of soul-searching through the Department of Energy.

"This had better not be true," growled spokesman James Bishop Jr., on behalf of Secretary James R. Schlesinger.

Keep the cooking in the kitchen Restaurants are for eating

WASHINGTON (AP) — Waiter, roll that fiery chuck chariot, that flaming chuck wagon, back into the kitchen. The flambe course is not for me.

As one who has spent all his formative years and a good portion of his married life eating in the kitchen, I do not yearn to have the scene and the smells recreated for me at the table when I dip into my credit card purse to dine in the poshest of places.

Do the necessary with the steak Diane and le canard flambeau out of my sight and as far as possible from my queasy sense of smell. Never mind flashing those gleaming copper skillets and polish silver cooking urns with a spirit lamp flickering underneath. The hiss of burning fat, the sizzle of scorched suet provide nothing short of a complete turn-off for my taste buds.

The reek of garlic, the gestation aromas of sauce Bernaise, the acrid smell of onions browning in hot butter invest my nostrils with a nostalgic revulsion for the old company mess hall at Fort Dix, where the mess sergeant ladled out greasy portions of corned beef hash from the steaming steam table, while little rivulets of perspiration ran down his bare chest and under his dog tags.

Why do I always think of that when the maitre d' is standing there in his cut

'Competitive bids' battle flares anew

AUSTIN — U.S. District Judge Jack Roberts ordered the Texas State Board of Public Accountancy to allow accountants to give cost estimates to potential clients.

Roberts said the board should be "required to cancel those provisions of its rules of professional conduct which have as their purpose or effect the suppression or elimination of price competition."

The board plans to appeal the case to the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals. Attorney General John Hill, representing the board, last week asked Roberts to delay enforcement of the order during the appeal process.

The federal government is expected to reply to Hill's request before any further court action.

Roberts ruled against the board May 5 as the result of a 1976 suit by the U.S. Justice Department. The department said a board rule prohibiting "competitive bids" was a violation of antitrust laws and a restraint of trade.

"Competitive bids," as defined by the board, include any estimate of the cost of accounting services made to potential clients.

Hill told Roberts that regulation of accounting in Texas would be "thrown in to a state of chaos" if the judge's order was enforced during the appeal process.

"The effect of this... is to substantially change the status quo," Hill said. According to the order, accountants could make competitive bids and violate other provisions of the board's code of professional conduct which might be considered as restraints of price competition, Hill said.

Other board rules which may be affected by the order are prohibitions of advertising and soliciting

Deputy clerk named to interim position

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — William G. Putnicki, chief deputy federal clerk for more than three years, was named interim clerk Tuesday for the huge Western District of Texas, which stretches from San Antonio to El Paso.

Putnicki, 30, succeeds Dan W. Benedict, who died last week after serving in the position for 10 years.

U.S. Dist. Judge Adrian Spears, who made the appointment, said the interim choice was agreed to by all five federal judges in the massive district.
