Judge sentences man on federal fraud charges

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — U.S. District Judge Terry L. Shell sentenced a 59-year-old Houston man to 16 months in prison Tuesday on a federal fraud charge stemming from a plan to remove silver from ore.

Walter L. Ward also received a three-year suspended sentence on seven other fraud charges arising from the same scheme. Authorities said during Ward's trial that $57,000 was invested by Arkansas residents in the scheme in 1975.

Shell ordered the 16-month prison term run consecutively with a 13-month federal term imposed in Oklahoma. Ward was convicted there on a charge stemming from a loan secured for the silver removal process. Ward has appealed the Oklahoma conviction.

Rhodes quizzed on TV call-in Democratic congressional candidate A. L. (Dusty) Rhodes answered more than two dozen questions on a television call-in show aired recently over an Abilene station.

The questions ranged from his stand on gun control to employment. Rhodes took to the air one day after a program proposed by Rhodes, which would have pitted him in a debate with his opponent, Charles Stenholm, would have been carried by the station.

Rhodes said that Stenholm declined an invitation to appear on the program.

When asked by the moderator of the program why he decided to offer for congress, Rhodes replied: "I really felt I could extend my years of service. I have just always felt that there would be a time to do something that might be significant for this country that I love."

"I just want to try to express to everyone listening tonight that I may be of service. I've practiced law 20 years. I've tried to help people that needed me. I believe that our country has come to the point where we need someone to sit down and think seriously about the problems we have."

Houston police 'flea-infested'

HOUSTON (AP) — When Houston Police Chief Harry Caldwell recently said his department could use a good housekeeping, he was probably speaking figuratively about scandals that have rocked the department in recent years.

But after learning that the building where officers do their practice shooting is flea-infested, Caldwell said he was "delighted to see that my main problem this time is fleas."

Police officers were warned Tuesday to avoid the range until the pests are eradicated.

"They can shoot they want to fight the fleas," said officer Tom Hrobar, who is in charge of the firing range.

Commodity prices rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Led by further gains for livestock, prices that farmers get for commodities overall rose another 3 percent last month to near record levels and are keeping up the pressure on consumer food costs.

The Agriculture Department said Wednesday that after eight consecutive months of increases, its farm price index stood at 215 percent of a 1967 base used as a standard. That was topped only by the record index of 221 percent in August 1973.

Higher prices for hogs, soybeans and apples also contributed to the May increase, the department's Crop Reporting Board said. Prices that farmers pay to meet expenses, meanwhile, rose 1.5 percent in May and averaged 7 percent higher than a year ago.

One reason is that less beef and pork will be produced this year than department experts had anticipated last winter. Also, foreign demand for U.S. grain is brisk, and farmers have been storing substantial quantities of surplus wheat and feed grains off the cash market in order to boost prices.

The report Wednesday said that vegetable prices as a group dropped 5 percent from April but still average 38 percent above May of last year. Fruit prices rose 14 percent from April and in May were 35 percent above a year ago.

But cattle prices have been a major reason for the boost in recent months. Since January, when they averaged $37.20 per 100 pounds, beef cattle prices rose 35.2 percent to an average of $50.30 per hundredweight in May, according to the preliminary figures.

REVERSE OSMOSIS — Fresh water from the sea is produced by the Du Pont Company's reverse osmosis "Permasep" permeators. They use semipermeable hollow-fiber membranes to remove 98.5 percent of the salts in seawater. Rise in meat price the cause

Beef imports may rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — With steak, roast, and hamburger prices shooting up 6.6 percent, the Carter administration says it may raise import quotas on less expensive foreign beef to ease the burden for grocery shoppers.

"There are a lot of things being considered with respect to that," chief Carter inflation fighter Robert Strauss told reporters at the White House on Wednesday, after a meeting with representatives of the beef industry.

Under the law the importation of foreign meat is restricted but those restrictions may be eased by the administration if it feels market conditions merit the move. "It's obvious that raising the import quotas is one of the alternatives that's available, and may be appropriate. We can't live with the kind of increase we've had this past month (April)," Strauss said. He said he and President Carter are both keenly aware that cattlemen have come through "a tough several years." Many have lost money because of depressed prices. "But these costs have gone up too fast and too far. And we can't go on like this," Strauss said.

But a spokesman for the Beef Industry Council in Chicago said the price increase is only restoring profitability to the cattle business. "There is no profiteering going on. It's the natural phenomenon of supply and demand at work," said the council's John L. Huston.

Strauss said he would not urge consumers to boycott beef. "That's not my job or the government's job," he said. "I would say this though. I would urge... that when the consumer goes to the grocery store, instead of looking at T-bone steaks — and there are not but about 15 or 20 of them or less on a cow — that they look at those cheaper cuts, that are good cheaper cuts of beef. And while they're up, they're not up anywhere in proportion like the more expensive cuts are."

expect inflation for the entire year to be 6.5 percent to 7 percent. Prices rose 6.9 percent last year.

Bill Brock, chairman of the Republican National Committee, called the price report "staggering news" and called on Carter to give up his proposal for a tax on domestic crude oil and to back a cut in recently enacted Social Security taxes.

Strauss admitted that both the crude oil tax and the increase in Social Security withholding would push up prices.

Agreement on nuclear limits still eluding negotiators

NEW YORK (AP) — A new U.S.-Soviet treaty to limit strategic nuclear weapons remains elusive despite intensive negotiations between Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

At the end of a wearying five-hour meeting Wednesday at the U.S. mission to the United Nations, prospects for early completion of an agreement appeared dim.

Gromyko told reporters crowded into the mission lobby that there was no point in denying the U.S.-Soviet dispute over Africa and declining superpower relations entered into his discussions with Vance. Asked to describe those relations, the veteran diplomat, his face glistening with perspiration, replied: "I would like to see them better than they are at this point."

Vance too acknowledged that "the relationships between our two countries are in a state of tension. There's no question about that."

Asked whether any of the key issues in dispute had been settled with Gromyko, he replied quickly: "No. All I can say is that we examined in depth the two principal remaining issues, which are very tough issues, and we've still got more work to do."

These two issues concern efforts to impose constraints on the development of new missile systems and a dispute over the Soviet bomber known to the West as the Backfire. The Carter administration, partly in response to Congressional pressures, is trying to impose restrictions while the Russians say the Backfire is not really a strategic weapon.

Vance and Gromyko will hold another round of talks after, as Vance put it, "checking our respective calendars." Now that they have met successively in Moscow and Washington, as well as New York, the likely site is Geneva.

President Carter had hoped to see the treaty imposing ceilings on long-range bombers and intercontinental ballistic missiles wrapped up by summer, preferably at a summit meeting with Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev.

However, while the negotiations have slowed down along with declining relations, reservations to the treaty in the Senate have appeared to increase. The administration has all but abandoned the possibility of submitting the treaty to the Senate before next year.

Strangle alliance making Texas pro groups jittery

AUSTIN — Sen. Lloyd Doggett and Rep. Bill Ceverha have little in common, but they have joined a strange alliance that has some organized professional groups as nervous as a politician on election night.

Doggett is a young-looking, liberal democrat from Austin who counts idealistic University of Texas students among his most loyal following.

Ceverha is a solemn-faced, no-nonsense Republican representing the conservative elements of his Dallas County district.

Doggett and Ceverha have little in common except their service on the Sunset Advisory Commission and their determination to shatter the hold some professional groups have on small segments of Texas government.

They, another Republican and two Liberals make a five-vote majority on the eight-member commission. Last week this group served notice on the state's regulatory boards that the sunny days of running things their own way are over.

More than 30 professions are regulated through state agencies. In every case, the agency is dominated by a board made up of members of the profession.

Some boards have established their own fiefdoms, and used their state-sanctioned powers in ways that have shocked some commission members.

Some tests seem designed to make entering the profession overly difficult. At least one board made oral questions part of the test for licensing, making possible a grading on appearance or attitudes.

Doggett is a relentless questioner of board members on possible conflicts of interest. In a hearing last week he criticized a member of the nursing home administrators' board about receiving consultant fees from a private nursing home association.

Ceverha constantly questions witnesses about why the state should be regulating their profession. He wants to know why the free enterprise system can't do the job.

Ceverha admits that the alliance between the liberals and Republicans on the commission is strange. He says probably the liberals tend to see the regulatory situation as business plotting against the public.

"That's not my view," he says. He just wants the state to get out of unnecessary regulation.

Doggett says that's his view, too.

He cites the separate agencies for almost all professions that want them as "the very kind of over-government people are concerned about today."

District court continues deliberations

CLOVIS, N.M. (AP) — A district court jury continued deliberations today in the trial of a 23-year-old Clovis woman accused of contributing to the delinquency of a minor by having sexual intercourse with a 15-year-old boy.

The trial went to the six-woman, six-man jury in Clovis Wednesday afternoon, but the jury was sent home late Wednesday night after it was unable to reach a decision.

The accused, Ernestine Favela, took the witness stand Wednesday and said she never had sexual intercourse with Robert Urioste, now 16.

She also said she had never furnished beer or liquor to juveniles and she had telephoned police three times in an effort to disperse youths who were smoking marijuana and sniffing paint in the backyard and garage of her home.

Mrs. Favela, accused on a fourth degree felony charge which carries a sentence of one to five years in prison, went on trial Tuesday.

The trial opened with Urioste testifying he had sexual relations with Mrs. Favela in February 1977.

The state Supreme Court earlier this year reversed a Court of Appeals decision that Mrs. Favela could not be charged in the alleged incident because the state Children's Code defines a delinquent act as one "committed by a child which would be designated as a crime under the law if committed by an adult."

The case caused a furor because of a comment by Appeals Court Judge Lewis Sutin in a concurring opinion in which he said sexual intercourse between a teenage boy and an adult woman was "nothing more than sex education" for the boy.

The state Supreme Court, reviewing the case on its own motion, said sexual intercourse by an adult woman with a teenage boy can contribute to his delinquency.

Hill charges peanut farmers with price fixing

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Attorney General John Hill alleges in a suit that three peanut seed companies have been holding country club meetings since at least 1969 to fix the price of peanut planting seed.

Hill identified the companies in a suit filed Wednesday as Birdsong Corp., De Leon Peanut Co. and Gold Kist, Inc.

Hill's suit alleges that in annual country club meetings in Eastland, Comanche and Erath counties — the main peanut-producing areas of Texas — the defendants agreed to sell peanut seed at fixed prices.

The volume of such sales is substantial, according to Hill's petition. In 1976, for example, approximately 11,000 Texas peanut farmers planted 310,000 acres, which yielded 463 million pounds of peanuts.

Hill's suit alleges that "combinations and conspiracies" have been in effect since at least Jan. 1, 1969, to the "great detriment of the peanut farmers of Texas," who have paid the fixed prices.

Hill said in a statement the state is seeking the maximum civil penalty of $1,500 a day for each day of violation.

The case caused a furor because of a comment by Appeals Court Judge Lewis Sutin in a concurring opinion in which he said sexual intercourse between a teenage boy and an adult woman was "nothing more than sex education" for the boy.

The state Supreme Court, reviewing the case on its own motion, said sexual intercourse by an adult woman with a teenage boy can contribute to his delinquency.

Let's talk about Leadership in Congress

There are only 14 farmers in the U.S. Congress. Charles Stenholm would be No. 15.

There are 213 lawyers in the House.

When important bills on agriculture come up, Congressmen will automatically turn to their farmer colleagues for expert opinion and, more important, informal advice.

As a working farmer in Congress, Charles Stenholm can be a leader in agriculture right away. This can automatically lead to leadership in other areas.

STENHOLM CAN MAKE A DIFFERENCE.

And that's important to the 17th District and everywhere else in America where people eat.

Here's what JUDGE JIM LANGDON says about JOHN POERNER

candidate for the remaining term vacated by Judge Langdon on the Texas Railroad Commission:

"I wholeheartedly endorse John Poerner in the June 3 run-off primary. He is serving by appointment as my replacement on the commission and is running for the remaining two years of my term. I know him as an honest, hard-working and capable official. He has an excellent background in private business and in public office. I will vote for him on June 3 and urge all my friends to do likewise. The importance of the work of the Railroad Commission makes it vital that we nominate the best possible man. John Poerner is that man."

Defeat, job offers cause 3 vacancies

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Job offers from President Carter's administration and the defeat of Gov. Dolph Briscoe have caused three vacancies in the Democratic National Committee from Texas.

The successors to three prominent Texas Democrats who resigned were to be named today a special meeting of the State Democratic Executive Committee.

The three elected will go to a June 9 meeting of the national committee, where delegate selection procedures for the 1980 Democratic presidential nomination will be decided by vote.

The three will serve until new national committee members from Texas are named at the state Democratic convention, Sept. 15-16, in Fort Worth.

The retiring national committee members are Jess Hay, Dallas, a staunch supporter and money raiser for Gov. Dolph Briscoe; Joe Bernal, San Antonio, who was appointed regional head of the federal agency ACTION; and Alicia Chacon, El Paso, who was appointed to a position with the Small Business Administration.

Weak rafter blamed for roof collapse

GARLAND, Texas (AP) — A weak pine rafter has been blamed for the collapse of a church roof in this Dallas suburb that killed a 9-year-old girl and injured 57 worshippers during Sunday morning services at the Walnut Village Church of Christ May 21.

City of Garland building inspectors concluded their investigation Wednesday. City spokesman Dwain Howard said in a statement that building inspectors found no fault in the construction or design of the church building but only in the performance of one of the laminated pine rafters supporting the building's roof.

The roof collapse killed Shannon Smith and injured 57 other members of the congregation who were showered with lumber, tar and water during their worship services.

"It is our conclusion that the collapse of the roof was caused by a deficiency in the beam," the statement by Howard said.

A city building inspector declined to elaborate on the statement.

Consulting engineers, the general contractor who built the church and the rafter manufacturer, Koppers Co. Inc. of Pittsburgh, also have been investigating the accident.

A spokesman for Koppers said the company would have no comment on the city's investigation.

Meanwhile, an insurance specialist has concluded the church has no grounds to claim insurance coverage for the roof collapse.

Michael McKinnis, a policy analyst for the Consumers Adjustment Bureau, was asked to conduct the study by Delbert Duncan, a member of the Church of Christ who manages an insurance adjustment firm.

"Mr. McKinnis, at this time, has found no grounds or conditions for coverage of the collapse by the church's insurance company," Duncan said Wednesday.

Duncan said the church is covered by a basic, state-approved, multi-peril policy that states specific conditions under which damage to the church would be covered. That includes, basically, fire, lightning and theft, Duncan said. He said the analysis showed collapse of the building was not part of the basic coverage purchased by the church.

Texas Supreme Court rules

Pre-nuptial pact stands

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court ruled 6-3 Wednesday a pre-nuptial property agreement can supersede the state constitution's guarantee of a widow's homestead.

It said Mildred Disch Williams had signed away her constitutional right to the house where she and her husband lived.

Williams died a few months later and left all his property to his children, William Wesley Williams Jr. and Geneva W. Cannon.

When her late husband's children claimed the Williams house and furnishings, Mrs. Williams resisted. She relied on the constitutional provision granting a surviving spouse a lifetime homestead right.

Summer arriveth

with Marj Carpenter

The official first day of summer is June 21, but everybody in Texas knows that when the first of June arrives, it's already hot summertime.

Memorial Day weekend, which we just endured, is traditionally the kickoff date for summer in Texas just like Labor Day weekend is the end of it.

As has now been my practice for many months, around the first of the month, I vary from my habit of writing about one thing or one person in my daily column and throw in a bunch of trivia that has been collecting on top of my desk and in the recesses of my mind.

For instance, Margie Maddox up at Lamesa, who is the only teacher retiring there this year, said something I have never heard before. "She said I never went to work a day in my life unwillingly, or that I wasn't happy about it." Not many of us can make that statement.

Another small little item I've had tucked away in the recesses of my mind is that former assistant football coach here — Bob Glover, won his district in baseball at Marble Falls. It was his very first time ever to coach baseball. Let's go out to the ballgame, Bob.

Right now, while I was typing, our courthouse reporter, Bob Burton turned to James Werrell, his fellow Ohioan and said, "Who should I ask about the bond?"

Now with the Ohio accent, I thought he said bomb and I quickly ask "Who set a bomb?" Danny Reagan, good old West Texas sports editor, said "I thought he said they arrested Jim Baum." Walt Finley said "Who did they embalm?"

Now that's how rumors get started. But Burton finally found out, with his Ohio accent, about the bond.

Speaking of Ohio (and every now and then we have to), a woman from Ohio recently sent us an interesting article. Well, she didn't really send it to us. Her friend in San Francisco sent it to this lady in Ohio because she used to live in Big Spring. And the woman in Ohio mailed the article to Gerri Atwell, our local museum curator, who brought it to me.

The article was about our new publisher, Tom Watson, in his final day on the San Francisco Progress. And it told of many awards and honors that he had won that he had not told us about here at the Herald. You can't hide your past, even if it's good.

Another item I thought was interesting this week was about our other leader, Tommy Hart. Tommy for years was the best known sports writer in Texas, both famous and infamous among Texas coaches.

This week, Gordon Wood, the five-times state championship winning coach from Brownwood, was in town campaigning for Charles Stenholm, who played on one of Wood's high school state championship football teams

Campers never knew about flood alert

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — Campers in Palo Duro Canyon never knew about a National Weather Service flood alert because the radio equipment for the state park was locked in the home of the park superintendent who was away on a short vacation.

Four deaths have been attributed to the flooding but none occurred in the state park area.

Barbara McKain, meteorologist in charge of the National Weather Service Amarillo office, said Wednesday a park ranger was finally contacted at 11:39 p.m. to check on the amount of rainfall, but by that time, high water prevented many campers from leaving the canyon.

"The weather bureau has a two-way radio hookup with Palo Duro State Park," the meteorologist said. "The radio is kept in Ranger Elton Baker's home. Mr. Baker was away from home on a short vacation and no one had access to the radio."

Baker told the Amarillo Globe-News he had "no comment on the situation." He added, however, that the weather service installed the radio in his home and "do you allow someone access to your home when you're not there?"

NBC wins weekly prime show battle

NEW YORK (AP) — NBC claimed only three of the week's 10 most-watched programs, but fared well in the ratings from then on and won the networks' weekly battle for the prime time television viewer. NBC's best for the week ending May 28 was a new episode of "Police Story," No. 5 in the A.C. Nielsen Co.'s ratings. A consistent NBC hit, "Little House on the Prairie," was No. 9 for the week, and a third NBC show, "Class of '65," tied for tenth. Three of the four most-watched shows were on ABC. A new installment of "Laverne and Shirley" was ranked No. 1 in a week marked by at least two dozen reruns. A rerun of another ABC comedy, "Three's Company," was second. CBS scored with "The Dain Curse," a three-part production of the Dashiell Hammett novel. The first episode Monday evening was No. 3 in the week's ratings. Part III was tied for tenth and Part II 13th. But it wasn't enough to pull CBS out of third place in the network standings for the week. NBC's relatively strong start contributed to a rating for the week of 15.1, ABC was at 14.6 and CBS at 14.4. The networks say that means in an average prime time minute, 15.1 percent of the homes in the country with TV were tuned to NBC. The rating for "Laverne and Shirley" was 24.3.

Black minister receives 5-minute standing ovation

HOUSTON (AP) — The president of a small, black college in Marshall, Texas, acknowledged a five-minute standing ovation from the Texas Methodist Conference and said the last six months had been "the nearest thing to hell on earth." Federal officials last week cleared the Rev. Robert E. Hayes Sr. and two other Wiley College officials of federal charges of embezzling school funds for personal use. "There is no bitterness in my heart, but the whole thing is puzzling to me," Hayes said Tuesday. "Basically I think it was the result of the Department of Justice not seeking counsel with HEW (Department of Health, Education and Welfare)." The robbing Peter to pay Paul system was, according to Hayes, a means of providing necessary financial assistance to low-income students.

Wheat farmer in Vietnam

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — A Kansas wheat farmer turned goodwill ambassador who went to Vietnam with a "reconciliation gift" of wheat from the United States says he hopes it will open the door to a resumption of trade with the Asian country.

Harvey Schmidt was part of a seven-member American delegation which visited Hanoi and Ho Chi Minh City, formerly Saigon, from May 13-27. His role was to help present the Vietnamese 10,000 tons of wheat donated by Church World Service from his and other farms in the U.S. wheat belt. "What we hope it will do is show the government that the people of America are interested in Vietnam and would like to establish a trading relation with Vietnam," Schmidt said Wednesday upon his return to Kansas. "For me the highlight was seeing the ship come in," said Schmidt, who gathered with the others in Ho Chi Minh City harbor May 20 when the Greek vessel Antiochia delivered the wheat from Houston. "It hadn't been anchored more than 10 minutes before we were on the ship, and I was the first one to go in to sample the wheat, to see if it was in good shape. "That was my biggest concern, because of all the exporting the United States has done and reports we'd heard of poor quality wheat going to foreign countries, this was all on my mind. I thought, 'just so this won't be some of that poor quality wheat.' But it was in good shape." During a meal two days later, his hosts said they were eating bread made with flour from the U.S. wheat. Schmidt's elation over the trip was tempered when he returned to his farm and found that two hail storms had wiped out almost all of his 500 acres of wheat and damaged some of his corn during the two weeks he was gone. Schmidt said 73-year-old Premier Pham Van Dong told him last week in Hanoi that if he ever visits the United States he would like to visit Schmidt's farm at Goessel, Kan. "I told him I'd be thrilled and the honor would be all mine if he would come over," said Schmidt. He said that while touring areas of Vietnam where American bombs had struck during the war, he was saddened by the government's refusal to assist in the shipment of the wheat. "I was uncomfortable, because really there were a lot of Americans who could never understand why the United States was out there in the first place and then to see all this damage and not having the U.S. government even be willing to even pay the freight on this ship, it was really discouraging," he said. A Mennonite who says he never held strong feelings about American involvement in the Vietnam war, Schmidt said he believes the Vietnamese do not regard Americans as enemies and are willing to trade.

Courts to decide its future Lo-Vaca 'paying' for broken promises

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — "Fuel adjustment cost" is a familiar — and hated — phrase in Texas households. Just ask customers of Lo-Vaca Gathering Co.

Lo-Vaca's 5,400-mile natural gas system serves approximately one out of four Texans, including virtually every town in central and South Texas.

Since the fall of 1973, monthly gas bills have gone up, although many Lo-Vaca customers are using less gas. Rising even faster have been bills for electricity from generators fueled by Lo-Vaca gas.

The increases started with the approval of the Texas Railroad Commission, which only recently has tried dramatically to halt them or to punish Lo-Vaca for renegeing on lower-priced contracts.

Now, it appears the courts, not the commission, will determine Lo-Vaca's future.

It was in 1962 that Oscar Wyatt of Coastal States Gas Corp., promising cheap gas for years, convinced Austin, San Antonio, Corpus Christi, the Lower Colorado River Authority and others to sign gas contracts. The contracts were assigned to Lo-Vaca after the Coastal subsidiary was created.

The contracts guaranteed gas at a cost as low as 20.2 cents per thousand cubic feet (mcf) for 20 years.

In 1972 Lo-Vaca began gas curtailments after it had gotten into a squeeze where gas was costing the company more than it had agreed to sell it for.

The curtailments became so critical in the winter of 1972-73 that the University of Texas shut down for a week. Only emergency fuel oil deliveries kept Austin from shutting off power to portions of the city.

Lo-Vaca was placed under court supervision in July 1973, and on Sept. 27, 1973, the commission adopted a "temporary" order that touched off the gas price increases.

The order allowed Lo-Vaca to ignore its contracts and to pass on to customers 100 percent of its gas costs, plus five cents per mcf in operating expenses.

A newspaper editorial referred to Coastal-Lo-Vaca as the "biggest welfare case in Texas history."

In retrospect, the commission says Lo-Vaca sold low-cost reserves to industrial customers even after it had begun curtailing supplies to the cities. Lo-Vaca had sought short-term profits, the commission says, with the knowledge since at least 1967 that it was faced with steadily declining gas supplies.

In 1974-75 Lo-Vaca customers began filing lawsuits against Coastal-Lo-Vaca for breach of contract. Alleged damages totaled more than $1.6 billion.

In 1975-76 lawyers began talks to settle the suits out-of-court, but it was not until after December 12, 1977, that there was a rush toward a settlement.

It was on that day that the commission voted 2-1 to order Coastal-Lo-Vaca to refund the alleged $1.6 billion in over-charges and to revert to the old contract prices in the future.

The companies said such action could bankrupt them.

"This commission should not and will not place itself in the position of rewarding a public utility which pursues profits at any cost in deliberate disregard of its contractual and public utility obligations," the commission said.

This was a startling reversal in the manner in which the three-member commission had dealt with Lo-Vaca. The commission had changed.

Jon Newton, a former Beeville legislator, had joined Mack Wallace on the agency, and they formed a majority against Jim Langdon.

Langdon, too, was leaving and would be replaced by John Poerner from Gov. Dolph Briscoe's staff.

Sources at the commission say the agency for years had felt it had a duty to guarantee a company a profit in order to maintain a gas supply for Texans.

That philosophy changed, with the new members, who believe if a company gets itself in a jam through mismanagement, it is not necessarily the commission's obligation to bail it out.

The commissioner, however, agreed to listen to testimony on whether the proposed settlement would be better for the public than what might result from the Dec. 12 order.

The hearing lasted for 14 days in April. There were 3,800 pages of testimony.

Deputies raid massage parlors, arrest 24

HOUSTON (AP) — Sheriff's deputies raided 28 massage parlors in Harris County Wednesday night after a federal court judge struck down a county ordinance prohibiting employees from plying their trade on members of the opposite sex but upheld other provisions of the regulation.

Authorities say 24 persons were arrested for allegedly operating the parlors or working as masseuses without licenses.

"I gave orders to move as fast as possible to close those places up, because I believe they are houses of prostitution," Sheriff Jack Heard said.

In a Wednesday ruling U.S. District Judge Carl O. Bue said he struck down the regulation governing who could massage whom because the Texas Legislature had not empowered county governments to enact such a regulation.

Attorneys for 22 massage parlor owners in the county claimed the whole ordinance was unconstitutional.

County officials spoke in favor of the action although County Judge John Lindsay said the parlors would probably be set up again under other forms which would require new regulations.

Lindsay said some parlors were already changing their names to avoid prosecution. He said the county does not have local ordinance-making powers and cannot control the forms of business the establishments may take next.

"They must have known this was coming," he said. "We will have to wait and see what develops, and by the next legislative session come up with some new ordinance."

The ordinance retains these requirements:

- Massage rooms must be unlocked and open to view.
- Employees have to complete a one-year college level course in human anatomy or physiology.
- Names, ages, and addresses of customers must be kept in a bound register in the parlor.
- Employees must wear white opaque clothing that does not expose more than six inches of leg above the knee.
- Massages shall be done on tables, not beds or waterbeds.
- Persons convicted within the past five years of a crime involving moral turpitude cannot be licensed to work in a massage parlor.

The regulation exempts physical therapists, athletic trainers, cosmetologists, barbers, doctors and chiropractors.

Commission upholds firings

HOUSTON (AP) — The City Civil Service Commission has upheld the firings of three former policemen involved in the alleged planting of a "throw-down" gun at the scene of a 1975 killing of a teenager by police.

The three-man commission was unanimous in its decision that Police Chief Harry Caldwell had just cause to fire Sgt. Walter Plaster and Officers John S. White and C.M. Burkett.

Caldwell fired the three after an internal investigation of the July 11, 1975 fatal shooting of Billy Keith Joyvies, 18, after a high-speed chase with police following reports of the theft of a tool box from a truck.

None of the three was involved in the actual shooting but a television news cameraman testified before the commission he saw Plaster place the alleged throw-down gun at the scene after it was supplied by White.

The commission accepted an argument submitted by the city attorney that the officers had engaged in an ongoing conspiracy to cover up the incident and that the conspiracy continued through April 1978.

Art linked to ethnic identity, says NEA

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Federal funding of Hispanic and black arts programs is now a major priority as the National Endowment of the Arts attempts to provide a more uniquely American view of art, the head of Nea said Saturday.

"Ethnic identity is a national concern," said NEA Chairman Livingston Biddle Jr. "We feel there is a strong relationship in ethnic arts and the quest for identity. That uniqueness in ethnic arts needs to be developed, to provide a more American view of art."

Biddle, a novelist who was named chairman of the NEA six months ago, was in San Antonio to address the Fourth International Congress on Religion, the Arts, Architecture and the Environment. The five-day congress opened Friday.

Ethnic arts have largely been ignored financially in the past, Biddle said. "NEA needs to be more receptive to ethnic needs. Rhetoric is not enough. Action is needed."

The NEA's interest in ethnic arts programs, Biddle said, led to the appointment of Dr. Jacinto Quirarte, dean of fine arts at the University of Texas-San Antonio, to head the NEA's Task Force on Hispanic-American Arts. The new emphasis on ethnic arts, Biddle added, is also part of the Nea's new thrust at making arts more available to the general public.

"NEA must look at how it can serve the country as a whole," he said. "The great institutions — museums, symphonies and ballet companies — should and must be maintained. But we also want to bring arts into areas that have been deprived."

"Making the arts more available makes for more excellent art," he continued. "We've broken away from the idea that art is only for the elite."

Money, of course, is a stumbling block. "If we had the ability to meet all artistic needs in this country, we would need $600 million. As it stands, we can only fund about one-fourth of the requests we receive," said the NEA chairman.

Congress has provided the NEA with a $150 million budget.

"I have created a committee of the Council on the Arts to prepare a five-year plan to help provide an orderly manner to determine who gets what," said Biddle, who added that NEA grants are seed money that help generate private funding.

Mate's Girlfriend Was Not Too Tired

DEAR ABBY: Boy, do I ever have a solution for TOO TIRED, whose husband was ready to jump into bed at the drop of a hat, raindrop or snowflake. She went on to describe her daily routine of household chores, taking care of five children, running errands and helping her in-laws. I'd like to say this to her and to other wives in the same boat.

DEAR TOO TIRED: I had the same complaints some years back. I had four kids, and worked full time outside my home, and I still managed to attend the kids' baseball games, dancing lessons, etc. I was also pooped at 9 p.m.

Then my husband started "working late"—even on weekends! I found out that while I was either "too busy" or "too tired," he had found himself a girlfriend. She had her own business, and she'd just lock the place up and hang a CLOSED sign on the door just to be with him. Should a wife do less than that?

Hire some help for your children and teach them to do for themselves. Take a nap if you're tired, and learn to let some things go, but NEVER let your husband go. If you're alive in bed, he won't notice what's under it!

WON HIM BACK

DEAR WON: You make it sound so easy, but winning is the name of the game, so I won't argue with success.

DEAR ABBY: You had a letter from a loving husband whose only complaint was a wife of 32 years who had a habit of saving everything for a rainy day. He said he had bought her some beautiful nightgowns, but she never wore any of them. (Some were still in their original boxes after 20 years!)

You wisely reminded us, "Enjoy today—for it's later than you think."

Thank you for that timely reminder, Abby. Tomorrow I'll be 60, and I have put off treating myself to things like vacation trips, a brand new car, or even a really good suit of clothes. I never married because there always seemed to be a member of my family who needed money for something, and I never said no to any of them.

Your column was exactly what I needed. Now, life for me will begin at 60. Thanks for listening.

NEW MAN IN MUNCIE, IND.

DEAR NEW MAN: What a coincidence! Today I received a lovely poem from an 84-year-old gentleman who expressed my sentiments perfectly—only more eloquently. And here it is:

"COME LET US LIVE TODAY
Bright ribbons she packed away,
Pretty things, high upon a shelf;
She guarded all the brightness
And even robbed herself.

Carefully she hoarded gifts—
Refused to eat her daily bread,
Saved pennies for a rainy day
And left life's scroll unread.

All these things she guarded
Miserly, day by day,
And one dull morning in her mirror
Found her hair had turned to gray."

Time use study reveals women still do most of house chores

CLEVELAND (AP) — Women's liberation has not brought women as far as some may think.

A study on how Americans use their time shows that about 80 percent of all housework and child care is still women's work.

The study by Dr. John P. Robinson, professor and director of communications research at Cleveland State University, indicates that whether women are employed outside their homes or not, they apparently are satisfied with doing most of the housework and child care.

"Relatively few women — 23 per cent — said they wanted their husbands to help more with the household chores," the report noted, "and the demand was not that much greater than employed women than among housewives."

Robinson divided his study on the uses of time into two categories — the obligatory uses of time and free time.

The obligatory uses, things that have to be done by everyone, included time spent at work, in child care, doing housework, personal needs and travel.

Free time included socializing and recreation, organizational and adult education and time devoted to using the mass media.

Although women do most of the housework and child care, the study indicated they work outside the home and travel only two-thirds as much as men.

In the area of personal needs it showed men and women came out even, with everyone giving about 10 hours a day to this.

"The major amount of the 10 hours," the study report noted, "is given to the proverbial eight hours of sleep."

After the necessities, the study indicates Americans have 20 per cent of their time, about 34 hours a week, for free time. Social classes determine how they use this time.

"The less affluent watch more television and rest more," it states. "The more affluent are involved more in adult education courses, formal organizations, reading and going to places of entertainment."

Even with free time, the individual's sex has an important role.

Men with employed wives or large families, the report notes, have about two more hours each week of free time than single men or men with unemployed wives or small families.

Women who are employed or who have large families, it claims, have two hours less free time each week.

The study indicates Americans give about one half of all free time to the mass media — radio, television, newspapers and magazines. Television gets more of this time than all others combined.

"Television has caused the greatest change in American daily life in the past 100 years," the study states.

The time usage study was done by combining five different surveys conducted by Robinson and other researchers.

"Time is the most equally distributed human resource available," Robinson said. "Inequalities arise from different energy levels people invest and the productivity they derive from these constant amounts of time."

Tween 12 and 20 Marijuana users risk lung disease

Dr. Wallace: Man, I can't believe how down you are on marijuana. Every time you mention pot you stress lies and myths about the harmful effects of pot.

Why don't you get with it and mention how wonder-ful being loaded is. It's people like you who are stopping marijuana from being legalized.

Smoke that in your pipe. — P.R., Delphos, Ohio

P.R.: Dr. Donald Toshkin of the UCLA School of Medicine told the annual meeting of the American Lung Association recently that smoking marijuana regularly may prove to be as bad for lungs as moderate-to-heavy tobacco smoking.

The doctor's comments were based on the test results of 74 regular marijuana smokers solicited and paid to be part of this study. He said the 74 averaged five joints per week over a five-year period. He stated that "people who do smoke pot over a long period of time are at risk of developing chronic lung disease."

Dr. Wallace: When I was 13, I ran away with a guy 15. We got caught and I wasn't permitted to see him anymore.

Well, we did see each other but we had to sneak to do it. I'm now 17 and I'm pregnant and he wants to marry me. We love each other very much but my dad doesn't realize who the baby's father is. He doesn't know I've been seeing this boy.

I want to get married but my parents want me to give the baby up for adoption. Please tell me what to do — hurry. — C.K., Fullerton, Calif.

C.K.: In this case you are no longer a child. You must decide what is best for you.

I would advise you to marry the boy if you are both in love and he is responsible.

Dr. Wallace: I really need your help so please print this so my mother can read it. I'm almost 13 and mom treats me like a baby.

I can't go to a movie unless it's rated "G." I already know everything there is to know about sex so why does she treat me like this?

It really upsets me when she forbids me to do things I want to do. She makes me so self-conscious that it causes me to get bad grades.

Please help! I've got at least 65 years of my life to live and I don't want it messed up more than it is. — Sherry, Tullahoma, Tenn.

Sherry: You sound like a very determined young lady. I'm sure you are very intelligent but there are a few things in life that can only be learned through experiences. You are trying to grow up too fast.

I know mothers sometimes treat kids like babies but sometimes kids act like babies. I hope you do have 65 more beautiful years ahead. Don't try to push too hard. Take them one year at a time.

Write to Dr. Robert Wallace, TWEEN 12 and 20, in care of this newspaper. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Emancipator criticized

MOM'S DRUG EDUCATION — Mrs. Keith Schuchard — Keith is her middle name — learned about drugs at her daughter's 12th birthday party. That was two years ago and now her effective work fighting teen-age drug abuse has won national praise. Mrs. Schuchard addressed an Atlanta drug conference Friday.

Woven woods disguise decorating problems

Shades and draperies fashioned from woven woods not only make handsome coverings for bare windows. They also can disguise problem walls, hide unsightly views and storage areas, form instant room dividers, and even be incorporated into furniture.

These are but a few of the decorating possibilities suggested by Marianne Gilbert, decorating consultant at the Sherwin-Williams Decorating Center at 1608 Gregg Street in Big Spring.

"Woven woods are ideal decorating choices for problem walls and windows," Ms. Gilbert says. "They provide privacy and light control and can be customized to fit any shape. Even slanted cathedral ceilings and arched dormer windows are no longer obstacles to the home decorator."

Such window treatments also can help you save energy. Gilbert points out that wood is a natural insulator that can help keep a room cozy or cool, depending on the season. "Wood is made up of hollow cells containing millions of tiny airpockets," she says. "These airspaces form a protective barrier against heat transfer. The effect on your home is very similar to wearing several thin layers of clothing to keep warm in the winter, or loose garments to keep cool in the summer."

Gilbert suggests using woven wood blinds or draperies across an entire wall to make small windows look larger, to balance windows of unequal size, or to tie-in windows with adjacent patio doors. "Such a wall treatment carries out the natural trend in home decorating," she says. "A woven wood wall makes a dramatic, textured background for plants and macramé hangings."

Woven wood shades also can transform open bookcases or shelves into attractive storage cabinets, or convert an unused window lined with glass shelves into a handy bar.

To "scale down" a large living room or family room into separate areas for dining, study, television viewing, sewing or guest sleeping arrangements, Gilbert suggests a woven wood divider that can be opened quickly when the entire space is needed for entertaining. Sherwin-Williams carries an exclusive line called the Perfect Touch "Collection," which can be formed into folding doors and dividers with magnetic catches and built-in handles.

Included in this line are 30 patterns, which are available in either walnut, pecan or ivory stained woods and reeds, and 23 color combinations of yarn. Of particular interest, Gilbert says, is a circular "Sun God" pattern in which walnut woven woods form a sunburst design around a carved "face." She suggests using this pattern to make a dramatic wall hanging above a fireplace or in an entry hall. Another creative idea is to mount the pattern under glass to form a cocktail or dining table. The design is available in diameters of 30 or 40 inches.

For an unused headboard, Gilbert suggests hanging a woven wood shade directly above the bed — either in a wooden frame attached to the wall, or extending to a woven wood canopy valance the width of the bed and trimmed with decorative "finials" or knobs. To complete the look, try flanking the bed with fabric draperies matching the bedspread or adjoining walls.

For more free advice and ideas on decorating with woven woods, stop in and talk to Gilbert at the Sherwin-Williams Decorating Center anytime between 8 a.m. and 5:45 p.m., Monday thru Saturday.

Rose Kennedy views White House portraits

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rose Kennedy visited the White House on Saturday and said the portraits of her son, the late President John F. Kennedy, and his wife Jacqueline, were too serious.

After meeting President Carter and his wife Rosalynn for the first time, the 88-year-old matriarch of the Kennedy family viewed the portraits in the Executive Mansion.

Mrs. Kennedy said it was the first time she has seen the original portraits that are on public display, although she had seen photographs of them.

She said she liked the pictures "fairly well," but added, "They are a little too sober for me. I would rather have something with some animation."

Both John Kennedy, whose portrait hangs in the main entrance to the White House, and Jacqueline, are depicted in serious poses.

Jacqueline's portrait is near the diplomatic entrance, which the Carter family as well as guest at state dinners use as their main entrance.

Mrs. Kennedy, who wore a large red hat and dark blue suit, arrived while President Carter was discussing strategic arms limitations with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

During an interlude in the talks, Mrs. Kennedy met Carter and Gromyko, who was "delightful and very complimentary to our family," she reported later.

Mrs. Kennedy said she could not recall the last time she visited the White House.

But Mary Hoyt, press secretary to Rosalynn Carter, said the wife of the late Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy attended a White House reception last year with her son, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

Mrs. Carter learned late Friday night that Mrs. Kennedy was scheduled to visit the president.

"As she is a great admirer of the Kennedys she decided to go pay her respects," Mrs. Hoyt said.

Mrs. Kennedy is staying with her daughter, Eunice Shriver, in suburban Rockville, Md., until Tuesday. She greeted tourists as she left the White House, and shook a few hands, Mrs. Hoyt said.

Mrs. Kennedy said she planned to attend a 25th anniversary party Saturday night for Eunice and Sargent Shriver.

10,000 contestants, viewers expected
Lufkin hosts Seventh Annual Hushpuppy Olympics

By EILEEN MCGUIRE
Hushpuppies, a traditional Southern delicacy, have prompted another tradition in Texas known as the Southern Hushpuppy Olympics, held annually at Lufkin.

This year's cookoff, the seventh, takes place June 17 at Lufkin's Ellen Trout Park and is expected to attract over 10,000 contestants and viewers. Officials say that contestants as far away as Connecticut will vie for the chance to win $1,000 as the Hushpuppy Cooking Champion.

Jerry Clower, a nationally known recording artist, country performer and comedian, is scheduled to perform for 20-minute intervals throughout the day-long event.

Emcee for the cookoff will be a former ABC news commentator, Murphy Martin of Lufkin, and one of the judges is George Dolan of Fort Worth, front page columnist for the Fort Worth Star Telegram.

Olympic officials say they are also working on plans for the first hot air balloon race ever staged in East Texas. If plans materialize, the race will take place June 18.

To compete for the $1,000 cash award, made available through the Angelina County Chamber of Commerce through Olympic proceeds, write for entry forms and information to that organization, P.O. Box 1606, Lufkin, Tex., 75901. The entry fee is $25 per contestant and according to the rules, each contestant should represent an established public-service organization such as a civic club or sportsman's club.

In addition to the cash prize, Olympic-style medallions, originated this year, will be awarded first, second, and third place winners in each cookoff preliminary.

For those who wish to make a weekend of the event, there will be a "Hee Haw, Hushpuppy Style" show, produced by the Lufkin Pilot Club, at 8 p.m., June 16, at the Lufkin Civic Center. The production will be repeated at 8 p.m., June 17. Tickets are available at $1 per person by writing the Angelina County Chambers of Commerce.

How many ways can you prepare hushpuppies? According to past champions, the possibilities are limited only by the imagination. Expand your collection of hushpuppy recipes by trying the following recipes of past champs. They're worth $1,000 each.

Cecil Davis, 1972 Wichita Falls
1 cup all-purpose flour
1/4 cup yellow cornmeal
1 1/2 tablespoons baking powder
1 tablespoon salt
1 well-beaten egg
3/4 cup milk
4 small chopped jalapeno peppers with seeds

4 tablespoons dried chili meat
1/4 cup chopped onions
Several chopped boiled shrimp
Mix dry ingredients, add liquid, then seasonings. Mix well. Drop from tablespoon into hot fat (about 350 degrees) and fry until golden brown. (Davis dries his own chili meat, and since this item may be difficult to secure, you may substitute dried bacon bits or crisp ground beef crumbles).

Virgil Tallos, 1973 & 1974 Longview
Slightly less than 2 cups of cornmeal
2 tablespoons flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1 slightly beaten egg
1 cup buttermilk
1/4 cup finely chopped young onion blades
1 finely chopped clove garlic
1 finely chopped jalapeno pepper

The Kadlecek Family 1977 New Braunfels
3/4 cup yellow cornmeal
1/4 cup flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
1 whole egg
1 cup whole milk

'Three C's of credit' determines lending

Consumers applying for credit are judged by the "three C's of credit" — character, capacity and capital, says a family resource management specialist.

Character represents the borrower's willingness to repay. Capacity is the financial ability to repay, she adds.

Dr. Carolyn McKinney with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, explains, "Capital reflects the overall financial strength to repay as represented by the resources or collateral available to secure the loan, she adds.

Advantages of compounded income

NEW YORK (AP) — Would you prefer to work for someone else at the rate of $1,000 a day for 35 days, or for yourself at an income beginning with 1 cent the first day and doubling on each succeeding day?

Wherever he goes Mark Oliver Haroldsen asks that question. Most people choose the $35,000 that comes with the first option, never realizing that the second would endow them with nearly $340 million.

He uses the illustration to prove the power of compounding, and how it works in real estate. While it's unlikely that anyone will double his money daily, he says, many people can do it by the year.

An example: An income property is bought for $50,000 with $5,000 down. Its value appreciates $5,000 to $55,000 in the first year, a 100 percent gain. True, there are expenses, but there is income also.

Like himself, he says, many ordinary people can become millionaires by following his simple formula of buying income property, fixing it up, refinancing, and managing it wisely or selling at an opportune time.

The tremendous compounding comes from the leverage of using borrowed money, since some properties can be acquired for very little down, and in some instances for nothing at all.

Says Haroldsen, there aren't enough days in a year or years in a lifetime for most people to become millionaires while working for others. On their own they can do it in remarkably short order.

Seven years ago the 34-year-old Salt Lake City resident owed $7,000. Recently he estimated his worth at $5.5 million, but that was before he bought an apartment house, he says, for $600,000 less than its value.

Haroldsen, a clean-cut, disarmingly direct and enthusiastic motivator, a Mormon, now seeks to arouse the dormant financial instincts in millions of Americans. And he hopes to make more millions doing so.

Billion-dollar investment turns into money-loser

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Postal Service's investment of almost $1 billion in automated package-handling machinery may turn into a money-loser.

The government is projecting the latest parcel rate increase will plummet volume below the system's break-even point.

When the automated system's 21 facilities opened in 1976, the Postal Service said 300 million parcels would have to move through them a year to make its investment worthwhile.

Last month, however, the independent Postal Rate Commission projected that the 35 percent raise in parcel rates which took effect Monday will drive annual volume to under that figure for the first time ever.

Yearly parcel volume, although remaining above 300 million pieces, has been falling in recent years as more Postal Service users turn to private parcel services.

Parcel volume, once more than a billion pieces a year, has not topped 400 million since the system began operating. Meanwhile, the private United Parcel Service, which had a fraction of the parcel business several decades ago, has continued to expand.

This trend will be escalated by the latest parcel increases, according to the Postal Rate Commission, which studies the probable effect of proposed Postal Service rate increases.

The rate commission projected the rate increases will cut Postal Service parcel volume to 279 million pieces a year. Postal experts foresee UPS, the largest private bulk mail handler, picking up most of the lost business.

To send a 10-pound parcel from Washington to Los Angeles costs $3.72 via United Parcel, but $5.34 under the new postal rate.

The bulk mail system, the Postal Service's largest investment since it was created in 1971, was designed to increase efficiency by concentrating parcel sorting in huge buildings around the country.

Commission rejects Arkla bid

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The railroad commission has rejected a request by Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. (Arkla) to implement proposed higher rates in 27 northeast Texas cities and has ordered a hearing.

Arkla sought to raise rates earlier this year, and the cities turned down the request.

Arkla appealed to the commission on March 31 to raise rates and in April asked to be allowed to charge a higher interim rate while the appeal was pending.

The commission Tuesday said Arkla should have first asked the cities for the interim rate.

In other action Tuesday, the commission:

- Suspended for 120 days a proposal by Lone Star Gas Co. to raise gas rates near Brownwood and Lampasas.

Libel suits plague all, writer says

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — A writer's problems are only beginning when he comes up with an idea for a book and begins to write it, according to Thomas Thompson, author of the best-seller, "Blood and Money."

The next major hurdle can be the judicial system and the "national epidemic" of libel suits that has cropped up in the last three or four years, he said.

Thompson's book, dealing with the intrigue surrounding the death of Houston socialite Joan Robinson Hill and her husband's subsequent trial in connection with her death, has already involved him in three lawsuits, he said.

The suits will cost him at least $50,000 in legal fees whether he wins or loses, he told a group attending a criminal justice workers conference at Sam Houston State University Wednesday.

"It costs just as much to defend yourself as it does one that has merit," he said, adding that royalties from the book's sale have also been frozen pending outcome of the suits.

Publishers are extremely careful about tackling controversial material, and in his case, his publisher is not helping in his legal battles.

Poverty agency owes government

EDINBURG, Texas (AP) — A Hidalgo County anti-poverty agency that has provided a variety of services for the poor now owes about $1 million to federal agencies and local businesses.

The Associated City-County Economic Development Corp. has been in increasing financial difficulty since local and federal officials began looking into the agency's use of federal funds.

Former director Eliseo Sandoval has been named in state and federal indictments alleging misuse of federal funds.

In an effort to stave off the money problems, the agency has been funneling federal funds into unauthorized ventures. But Richard Cortez, who audits the agency's books, said most of the ventures had failed and ACCEDC must now pay back the federal funds.

The agency owes about $33,000 to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, $378,000 to the Community Services Administration and $150,000 to the Department of Labor.

The labor department recently cut off most of its funds to ACCEDC.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, JUNE 1, 1978

GENERAL TENDENCIES: An unusually good time to put in motion new plans and ideas. Think out a course of action that appeals to you and then lose no time in putting it into effect.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Know what it is you want from others and then use direct and positive methods to attain your aims. Plan time for social get-togethers that you truly enjoy. Pick friends, guests wisely.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You are able to gain a secret desire if you go after it quietly and positively. Take time for a few quiet moments with one of whom you are very fond. Keep active and you feel fine.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Plan to be with good friends after your work is done. Don't be forceful with anyone and maintain your composure.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Make a good impression on a bigwig and find the right expression for your finest talents. Become involved in public affairs. Improve your position in life as well as that of others.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You have inspiring ideas that you should follow up since they can be profitable. Make new contacts and gain knowledge and assistance.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Organize your work so that you go through it efficiently. Show more thought for loved ones.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Meet with partners and come to a fine understanding with them for the future. A good time to get into civic work. Use your most persuasive manner.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Be more cooperative with fellow workers and gain their confidence. Consider only light entertainment this evening.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Come to a better understanding with loved one. Plan more charming entertainment for the days ahead. Make sure business affairs are in good order.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Come to a better understanding with family and gain their aid for a project you are interested in. Set aside some time for relaxation.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) A good time to make visits whether for business or personal reasons. Being of help to those in trouble is wise also. But don't be fooled by moochers. Be active.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Improve money matters so that you can realize greater security in the future. You need to have a more flexible budget also.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be able to make novel plans that are worthwhile and should have as fine an education as possible. Teach early to complete whatever has once been started for best results throughout the lifetime. Sports are a must for your robust progeny. Some musical talent also apparent here. Teach to work with hands early.

New National Smoker Study:

Important News For 100's Smokers:

Smokers rate taste of MERIT 100's equal to —or better than—leading high tar 100's.

Can low tar MERIT 100's—packed with 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco—measure up to the taste expectations of high tar 100's smokers?

Read the results from a new, nationwide research effort involving smokers who actually taste-tested MERIT 100's against leading high tar 100's.

Results Endorse MERIT Breakthrough

Confirmed: Majority of 100's smokers rate MERIT 100's taste equal to—or better than—leading high tar 100's tested! Cigarettes having up to 70% more tar.

Confirmed: Majority of 100's smokers confirm taste satisfaction of low tar MERIT 100's.

Detailed interviews were also conducted with current MERIT 100's smokers.

Confirmed: 85% of MERIT 100's smokers say it was an "easy switch" from high tar brands.

Confirmed: Overwhelming majority of MERIT 100's smokers say their former high tar brands weren't missed!

Confirmed: 9 out of 10 MERIT 100's smokers not considering other brands.

First Major Alternative To High Tar Smoking

MERIT 100's has proven conclusively that it not only delivers the flavor of high tar brands—but continues to satisfy!

This ability to satisfy over long periods of time could be the most important evidence to date that MERIT 100's is what it claims to be: The first major alternative to high tar smoking.

Kings: 8 mg "tar," 0.6 mg nicotine av. per cigarette, FTC Report Aug. 77
100's: 11 mg "tar," 0.8 mg nicotine av. per cigarette by FTC Method.

Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined That Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous to Your Health.
