

Woman charged with murder

Missing five slain

WINNIE, Texas (AP) — Southeast Texas authorities charged a woman with capital murder today in the disappearance and deaths of five family members from Winnie.

Linda Mae Burnett, 30, was arrested at her home in Nederland and charged before State District

Judge Jack Cravey.

Family members disappeared from their blood-spattered rural home July 1, touching off an extensive search by authorities that ended Sunday night with the discovery of their graves.

A former in-law directed authorities to the gravesite in a wooded area in neighboring Jefferson County. Joe Dugas, 31, of Port Acres, had been charged in connection with the family's disappearance and was being held in Chambers County Jail in Anahuac in lieu of $500,000 bond.

A prepared statement from the Chambers County sheriff's office said, "Positive identification was established as members of the Phillips family missing from their residence in Winnie, Texas, since July 3."

Dead are Bishop Phillips, 64; his wife Ester, 66; a son Elmer, 31; his wife Martha; and their 4-year-old son Jason. Dugas was once married to a daughter of the elder Phillips.

Justice of the Peace Jack Cravey, who conducted a graveside inquest, said all of the bodies were close together. "The shallowest (grave) was 18 inches and the deepest was four to five feet."

Dugas pointed out the site after 6 p.m., Cravey said, but the bodies were not unearthed until about 9:45 p.m.

Autopsies were ordered by Cravey, and Jefferson County pathologists took custody of the bodies.

Cravey said authorities were still not certain what motivated the killings.

Chambers County Sheriff Doil Pounds said the investigation was continuing.

Dugas' brother, Richard Lee, has said in a sworn statement to authorities that the suspect told him on July 4 that he had kidnapped the family at gunpoint July 1 and had taken them to a "prepared gravesite."

In the statement, he said his brother told him he had "gone to the residence of Bishop Noel Phillips on July 1, bound the occupants of the residence, struck one of the occupants with a pistol, and in the company of an unknown female, transported Bishop Noel Phillips and the occupants of the residence...to a prepared gravesite."

Dugas had denied he had anything to do with the family's disappearance.

One of the Phillips' sons returned from a weekend trip to Houston to find the blood-spattered house vacant but the stove and television on.

Man with grenade holding four hostages in NY tower

NEW YORK (AP) — A man threatening to detonate 80 pounds of dynamite with a hand grenade and claiming to speak only Polish was holding four persons hostage — including a judge — in the World Trade Center today, authorities said.

Members of the police hostage negotiating team were talking to the man via telephone through a Polish interpreter, according to police.

Authorities said the man apparently was a disgruntled workmen's compensation claimant.

Several thousand persons were evacuated from five floors of the center's Tower Two, according to a spokeswoman for the state Workmen's Compensation Board. The board has offices on the 35th through 37th floors.

The 33rd and 34th floors also were evacuated. Two persons leaving those floors told a reporter they had been told the man was holding a grenade.

Special legislative session opens

Briscoe details tax relief ideas

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe told Texas legislators meeting in special session today they would be writing tax-relief history in the state.

"You have been called to participate in one of the most important special sessions in our history," Briscoe said in a speech for a joint session shortly after the noon session opening.

"While reduction of various kinds have occurred in the past, never before has a legislature been asked to accomplish a tax relief program of the magnitude to be placed before you."

Briscoe said that the fact that the state may have a tax revenue surplus of about $3 billion for the next three years shows that it is "money taken from the people in excess of the needs of the state. The people are demanding that a significant portion of that money be returned to them. This is a legitimate demand, I know that you and I will respond."

Briscoe detailed his program, as he had done earlier in calling the session, and said "it is now for you to act upon this agenda. In my opinion the taxpayers of this state will not be satisfied with half measures or tokenism from elected officials. They want and deserve a substantial legislative product."

To hear Speaker Bill Clayton tell it, Briscoe was riding by himself on his vast South Texas ranch when he began to get serious about tax relief.

Texas, however, already ranks near the bottom in taxes as a percentage of personal income.

Briscoe has recommended $1.6 billion in tax cuts over the next three years.

Clayton says if the governor does not get a substantial part of his proposals approved, he "wouldn't be surprised" to see the governor hold lawmakers in session throughout August.

Briscoe first mentioned a special session after Californians approved the tax-limitation proposal known as Proposition 13, Clayton said.

Briscoe tried out the idea on a few reporters, Clayton said, and "a crescendo of rumors and speculation" triggered a surge of mail that made Briscoe sense the importance of a session.

Some fear, however, it may do more harm than good. Newspaper editorials have pleaded for caution. Others have noted that Texas taxes are not nearly as high as those in California.

Briscoe critics claim the governor called the session to satisfy his ego after voters rejected his bid for reelection by nominating Attorney General John Hill as the Democratic gubernatorial candidate. Additionally, they say, Briscoe does not want to leave a large financial surplus for Hill to carry out ambitious legislative programs in 1979 if Hill should defeat Republican Bill Clements in the November election.

Briscoe's recommendations, according to some tax experts, would wipe out any projected surplus for 1980-81.

Clayton has said "if we go above $1 billion in tax relief, we're asking for trouble."

Briscoe waited until Saturday afternoon — 44 hours before the session — to release the agenda for the special session. He urged the Legislature to approve these measures:

—A constitutional amendment requiring a two-thirds vote of the House and Senate to raise taxes or enact a new tax.

—A constitutional amendment allowing Texans to order the reduction or increase of taxes.

—Repeal of the 4 percent sales tax on residential utility bills, with a provision that cities can also abolish the one-cent city sales tax on utilities by a majority vote.

—A constitutional amendment establishing limits on taxing and spending by local governments.

—Increasing the state inheritance tax exemption of each estate from $25,000 to $200,000.

—A constitutional amendment requiring the Legislature to provide for taxing agricultural and timber lands on the basis of productivity, rather than market value, with the state to replace the loss in revenue to school districts.

—A constitutional amendment increasing the residential homestead exemption to $10,000, or $20,000 for those 65 and older, for school tax purposes, with the state making up losses to the districts.

The talk of "Hill-Briscoe" votes has surfaced in recent days. An aide to a Hill supporter in the House said a vote count of the constitutional amendments committee showed that the local taxing and spending limitation and the two-thirds proposal will not get out of committee.

There is always pressure, however, to favor tax reductions.

"I personally think it's a bad time to be against tax relief and tax limitation," says Clayton.

Mailboxes are mowed down

Howard County deputies are investigating the hit-and-run destruction of 16 mailboxes early Sunday morning along Wasson Road.

According to reports, at 1:15 a.m. Sunday a car mowed down the mailboxes on Wasson near Debra Lane and sped off into the night.

Chief Deputy Bill Whitton commented that he didn't believe the incident was vandalism.

"It was done with a car," he said, "and the car must be pretty badly banged up. I don't think anybody'd do that on purpose."

Two dissidents on trial despite vigorous protests

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union put two of its most prominent dissidents on trial today despite vigorous protests from the United States. Both pleaded innocent to the charges against them.

Anatoly Shcharansky, 30, a key member of the Jewish emigration movement here, denied allegations that he had spied for the CIA, systematically feeding "state secrets" to known intelligence agents, a representative of the Soviet Supreme Court reported.

Shcharansky is charged with high treason. The maximum sentence is death, but he is expected to get a long term in a labor camp if convicted.

A court official said Shcharansky was accused of supplying agents with state secrets "including information about the locations of a number of defense enterprises which are secret."

Alexander Ginzburg, 41, an associate of exiled author Alexander Solzhenitsyn, went before a court in Kaluga, 100 miles south of Moscow, on the lesser charge of "anti-Soviet agitation and propaganda," and pleaded innocent at the opening of his trial.

Western reporters were barred from both courtrooms.

Ginzburg's wife, Irina, who saw her husband for the first time since his arrest 17 months ago, told Western reporters, "He refused to testify but made this refusal conditional on what witnesses said."

Officials of the three-judge court, in a pink and yellow former mansion, said Ginzburg told the court he might revise his plea if his guilt is proved.

ANY LAWNS NEED WATERING — This water spout at 3rd and Galveston was the result of a split pipe which spurted water high into the air for over 40 minutes beginning around 1 a.m. Sunday. Some 9,000 gallons of water were lost before city employees could valve off the leak. "It was a relatively small leak," said Assistant City Manager Bill Brown, "but the way the pipe split caused quite a spectacle as water shot pretty high until the line could be closed."

Charles Manson claims he was forced to kill

VACAVILLE, Calif. (AP) — Convicted mass murderer Charles Manson says he went to prison "for cutting people, for shooting people," but in a rare prison interview claims he didn't want to kill.

In a copyright story Sunday in the Vacaville Reporter, Manson said he murdered, "not because I wanted to, but because I was forced to."

"That's part of the game of being an outlaw and I've always been an outlaw," said the 44-year-old Manson, who is serving a life term for masterminding the 1969 murders of actress Sharon Tate and four persons at her home and Leno and Rosemarie La Bianca at their home.

The leader of the so-called "Manson family" normally turns down requests for interviews, prison officials said, but agreed to meet with reporter Chris Weinstein because of a recommendation from another inmate.

As for the "family," many also behind bars for crimes ranging from the Tate-La Bianca killings to the attempted murder of former President Gerald Ford, Manson said, "This thing just happened... this person had no place to stay and this person was lost and had no place to stay, and I didn't have no place to stay."

"They were nobody and I was nobody. They were out in the streets kicked out of their houses and I was kicked out of my house. (It) just happened, and another thing happened."

Manson would not elaborate on what specifically happened, saying he's saving that information for a new trial he hopes to get.

CHARLES MANSON

He also was critical of suggestions that he had any hypnotic power over Manson family women.

"Charlie's girls — Charlie never had no girls. All Charlie's girls belonged to themselves."

Manson is a high security inmate at Vacaville Medical Facility, a California prison about 50 miles east of San Francisco. Under state law, he becomes eligible for parole consideration later this year.

Ms. Weinstein said Manson appeared for the three-hour interview with a bandana tied loosely around his neck. He had turned up the collar of his neatly pressed shirt. He sports a well-trimmed goatee beard and moustache and a casually combed full head of hair.

MARCHERS GET COOL — Two unidentified ERA marchers take a dip in a fountain along the parade route Sunday in Washington as the temperature rose to 90-degrees on the group who marched to the U.S. Capitol to rally for the Equal Rights Amendment. Police estimated the crowd from 50,000 to 100,000.

ERA backers asking deadline extension

WASHINGTON (AP) — Backers of the Equal Rights Amendment, who marched by the tens of thousands Sunday in support of the proposal, were lobbying members of Congress today to extend the March deadline for ratifying the measure.

The National Organization for Women and more than 300 other groups staged the march and a rally on the steps of the Capitol to dramatize their stand that, even if the proposal dies next spring, the issue will not fade away.

The extension is in serious trouble in the House Judiciary Committee, where supporters have delayed its consideration, presumably because they don't have the votes to pass it.

Officer faces murder charges

LAREDO, Texas (AP) — A Laredo police officer who faces murder charges in the weekend shotgun slaying of a Mexican national claims he stopped the man and his companions near the Rio Grande while investigating a robbery that occurred two blocks away.

Officer Antonio L. Elizalde Jr., 32, a five-year veteran of the city's police force, has been suspended from duty and held without bond in Webb County Jail since he turned himself in shortly after the shooting early Saturday in this South Texas border town.

He was scheduled to be brought before Justice of the Peace J.P. Vela this morning.

Police Capt. Joe C. Davila said the victim, 32-year-old Benito C. Martinez of Carrollton, was traveling in a van with his two brothers and another man about 3 a.m. Saturday when Elizalde pulled the vehicle over on a road near the Rio Grande. The Martinez brothers said they were looking for the International Bridge on their way to Monterrey, Mexico, when they took a wrong turn and got lost.

Elizalde, who lives near the scene of the shooting, was off duty and was returning from a friend's house when he said he saw a man leave the rear of a gas station in the area about 2:45 a.m. He stopped the four on suspicion of robbery a few minutes later, according to Police Sgt. G.A. Guerrero.

But police claim there was no gas station robbery.

Martinez' brothers and the illegal alien, identified as Anastasio Cannizales, 34, told police Elizalde identified himself as a police officer and held a 12-gauge shotgun to Martinez' head with his right hand while he searched Cannizales with his left.

The men claimed the weapon discharged during the search, killing Martinez and wounding his 37-year-old brother Carlos.

Guerrero said the officer apparently panicked after the shooting and ordered Cannizales and Martinez' other brother, Esteban, to lie face down on the driver's side of the van as he fled the scene in his car.

"He turned himself in about 20 to 25 minutes after the shooting occurred," Guerrero said. "He told one of the other officers that he went to his father's home. He told them what he had done, got his lawyer and then came down to city police headquarters."

After Elizalde fled the scene, the victim's brothers and Cannizales took the bleeding Martinez to the Webb County Jail, where he died about 3:10 a.m. Saturday.

Guerrero said, "The killing surprised us all. He (Elizalde) wasn't the violent type. In fact, he was always trying to be a happy-go-lucky guy. I don't know why he did it."

Elizalde has been reprimanded only once before, Guerrero said, for being late.

The Martinez brothers reportedly had work permits and were in the United States legally, though Cannizales was not.

Guerrero said the area where the van was stopped is "a popular area where illegal aliens cross and where a lot of contraband is pushed."

But he said, a search of the van apparently revealed no contraband.

The Martinez brothers told police it was possible the officer's gun fired accidentally.

"They said they were complying 100 percent with Elizalde, that they didn't understand why the shot was fired," Guerrero said. "The two thought the shot went off without intent."

Miss Texas: 'I don't have steady boyfriend'

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Sandi Miller has been watching the Miss America Pageant since she was a toddler.

Now, at 20, the five-foot, 10½-inch Mesquite model is headed for that pageant herself.

Miss Miller was chosen Saturday night to represent the Lone Star State in the national pageant in Atlantic City next fall.

And it was no accident that she was chosen.

Her determination to win the state title led her to enter four local pageants before she was selected the first Miss Red Bird Area, enabling her to compete for the Miss Texas crown.

Saturday night, the young woman who beat her in her first three attempts at a local crown were among the 10 semifinalists, but Miss Miller said she was still hopeful she would win.

"Everybody was on an equal basis when we got to the top ten," she said. "I wasn't discouraged."

First runner-up in Saturday night's competition was 23-year-old Margie Hooper, who edged out Miss Miller to win the Miss Hurst-Eules-Bedford pageant. Bobbie Candler, who bested Miss Miller for the Miss Haltom-Richland title, was named second runner-up Saturday night.

And Peggy Oliver, Miss White Settlement, was the Airplane crashes claim six lives

Weekend airplane crashes claimed six lives, including a solo pilot trying to set a world record, and injured 12 others in a mishap that marred a skydiving competition.

The most deadly crash was Sunday night about a half-mile from the Westerly, R.I. airport. Four persons were killed when their single-engine craft crashed after takeoff in fog.

"I've never seen anything like this in my life," said Westerly police Chief James Gulluscio. He said victims were dismembered and wreckage was strewn over the rural crash scene.

The pilot was identified as Rod Whittaker of Kingston, N.Y. Other victims were F. Warren Nissen, 48, of Shokan, N.Y.; Linda Yerry, 29, and Ilene Gilman, 30, both of Kingston, police said. Their ill-fated flight was bound for Poughkeepsie, N.Y., authorities said.

Montana authorities on Sunday reached the wreckage of a light plane piloted by a Port Angeles, Wash., man who had set out from his hometown the previous day trying to get into aviation record books. Authorities identified him as Dr. Rodney Thomas H. Nixon, 49, a bone specialist.

A fellow pilot and friend of Nixon's, David Andre of Port Angeles, said Nixon was making his fourth try at a world light-plane record. He said the record sought was for distance flying in a single-engine plane weighing less than 2,200 pounds. The flight originated in Port Angeles and was scheduled to proceed to Los Angeles before stops in New Mexico and Montana, and then back to Port Angeles.

Billings authorities said Nixon was between Cody, Wyo., and Havre, Mont., when he crashed. A helicopter pilot spotted the wreckage about 10 miles northwest of Billings.

In separate crashes in Indiana, the solo pilot of a single-engine, experimental plane was killed and 12 parachutists were injured in the crash of a DC-3.

$36 billion shopping list eyed by Senators

WASHINGTON (AP) — A shopping list of $36 billion worth of weapons and research programs for the Pentagon is awaiting Senate action as Congress returns today from a 10-day holiday.

The Senate's agenda calls for action this week on the weapons authorization bill, a $4 billion military construction measure and a proposal to extend a law protecting endangered species of animals and plants.

The House on Tuesday takes up legislation authorizing $10.3 billion for educational programs, primarily those for disadvantaged children. Then it begins debate on a bill authorizing some $13 billion in energy programs, including the Clinch River, Tenn., breeder reactor program. President Carter wants the project killed, but Congress is trying to keep it alive.

Later in the week, a Senate debate is scheduled on extending the five-year-old Endangered Species Act. Last month's Supreme Court ruling halting work on the Tellico Dam in Tennessee to protect the tiny Snail Darter has prompted calls for more flexibility in the law.

Congressional aides say the Senate is likely to vote for a federal commission that could grant exemptions under the act if the benefits of a project clearly outweigh those of preserving a species.

The Carter administration opposes altering the legislation.

The weapons authorization bill before the Senate calls for spending $613 million above the administration's request but $1.8 billion less than the House authorized recently.

Changes endorsed by the Senate Armed Services Committee in the Navy's shipbuilding program accounted for a net boost of $890 million in proposed spending on ships.

The committee also proposed major increases in construction programs for the Navy's F-14 and F-18 fighters. Sen. Gary Hart, D-Colo., plans to lead a Senate fight to end the $982 million program for the F-18, a plane not held in high esteem by the Navy but popular with some members of Congress.

The committee recommended spending $1.9 billion for a 1,000-foot-long nuclear-powered aircraft carrier Carter opposes.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, JULY 11, 1978

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The early part of the day is great for working out important details of any plan of action you have. Eliminate any confusion, misunderstanding with other persons during evening hours.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Get into the details of work ahead of you before you and associates have a meeting and then you know how to proceed. Take any needed health treatments early in the day. Improve diet.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Make those appointments for recreational purposes and then get right down to the work ahead of you. Show loved one your true affection and come to a finer understanding.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Take the initiative and bring more accord at home. Your creativity is high and you can accomplish a good deal. Be happy.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Good time to get the information you need to improve your routine work, make it more profitable. Shop early. Handle fundamental affairs intelligently. Be an expediter.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) A good time for handling monetary matters, and getting into agreements with right persons. Plan repairs to property. Iron out petty disagreements you may have with others.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Tend to health and appearance problems you may have. Put in economy measures so you build up a reserve. Set up a social appointment for tomorrow.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Get together with a good adviser and then get busy at improving your affairs. A special thought for a loved one brings fine response.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Talk your plans over with good friends and then delve right into the work ahead of you and get it done. Go after a personal aim and get it.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Make a good impression on bigwigs and take care of a community matter early. Do whatever will improve your career before you take time to visit with friends.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Study a new interest from every angle before you commit yourself to it. Get help from an expert for other problems you may be having.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Come to a better understanding with a loved one. Make new plans for great success and happiness in the future.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Talk over with an associate how to improve operations and then get right down to specific duties. Some benefits accrue but see that you use them wisely.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will need to be taught early the finest moral and religious precepts. Slant education along lines of work in laboratories of whatever is of an investigative nature for best results. Make sure the diet is good in order to develop the rather delicate body.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY Farm

'Local-need' labeling OKed to fight menace

AUSTIN — To control the severe grasshopper infestation in the state, the Texas Department of Agriculture has approved a "local-need" labeling for a Toxaphene bait preparation, Commissioner Reagan V. Brown has announced.

The Tide Products, Inc., Toxaphene preparation also contains bran, water, and blackstrap molasses. It has been approved for use on roadsides, ditch banks, field margins, and idle areas bordering fields, Brown said.

"This preparation will aid in preventing reinfestation once the fields have been treated with an approved pesticide such as malathion or Sevin."

Grasshopper infestations have become so severe in Ochiltree and Hansford counties that aerial spraying to rangeland under a cooperative program has been approved. The minimum count for institution of the program is 8 grasshoppers per square yard. Inspectors found forty to fifty per square yard in these Panhandle counties.

Early reports showed damage done to new crops in Wilson County and parts of Central Texas, Brown said. Many reports of losses in home gardens have been received.

"As with any chemical, the Department cautions users to conform to standards for proper use and storage of the bait, and to observe requirements for safe disposal of excess bait and packaging," Brown added.

Higher grain prices clip food for poor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Higher grain prices that began last fall continue to take its toll of wheat allocations to needy countries under the government's Food for Peace program.

The program for fiscal 1978 fiscal, which began Oct. 1, was earmarked for a maximum $800 million under its Title I provisions, which allow qualified foreign countries to buy certain U.S. farm commodities and pay for the goods over time at low interest rates.

Also called Public Law 480, the program allows a recipient country to take up to 40 years to pay for the commodities, including a 10-year initial grace period during which only a 2 percent annual interest charge is assessed.

Last Dec. 31, the Agriculture Department — which handles the Title I portion of the program calling for concessional sales — allocated $741.4 million of its budget to 30 countries for the fiscal year, leaving an unallocated surplus of $58.6 million.

Wheat makes up the largest share of Title I commodities, with the remainder including rice, feed grains, vegetable oil, cotton and tobacco.

Last fall, when the Dec. 31 allocation was put together, wheat prices were significantly less than they are now. At that time the department computed that 4,046,000 metric tons of wheat — almost 80 percent of the total tonnage in the Title I commodity program — could be available for the 1977-78 year.

But now, because grain prices have risen, USDA says total wheat available to participating countries this year will be 3,778,000 tons, 6.6 percent less than was initially allocated.

By law, USDA must allocate at least 75 percent of the program money for food aid to countries that have incomes at or below the poverty criterion set by the International Development Association. Currently, this is a per capita income of $550 a year.

Although there has been considerable juggling of allocations since Dec. 31, the amount of wheat still earmarked for the neediest countries on the list has actually been increased slightly, from 2,856,000 tons to 2,880,000 tons.

But that has been possible because USDA has dipped into the reserve fund, which last Dec. 31 totaled $8.6 million, including potentially 384,000 additional tons of wheat. Now, after allowing for higher grain prices, the reserve is $13.4 million, including 109,000 tons of wheat.

Six months ago there were 21 countries listed in the

More farm promotion needed, says Brown

AUSTIN — Farmers are going to have to strengthen their own organizations to develop solutions to marketing problems, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown stated here today in a meeting with commodity representatives.

The Texas Department of Agriculture has an ongoing program of foreign and domestic promotion of farm products, "but it is ultimately the producers themselves who can best direct their marketing efforts."

Bill Nelson, executive vice-president of the Texas Wheat Producers Association; Elbert Harp, executive director of the Grain Sorghum Producers Association; and Bervin Tilson, vice-president of the Texas Soybean Producers Association, met with Brown to discuss new directions for commodity groups in Texas.

Later meetings are scheduled with the other commodity organization leadership.

In recent years, the number of contributing members to some commodity organizations has decreased, mainly because of poor economic conditions.

Texas law provides for such organizations to vote assessments on sales of farm commodities. These funds are then used for research, promotion, education, and marketing projects designated by the membership. Payment of assessments is voluntary.

The Department administers programs for nine commodity groups: producers of grain sorghum, peanuts, pecans, pork, soybeans, turkey, mohair, soybeans and wheat.

Brown believes that the future holds all types of innovations in marketing for these organizations, such as trading through computer systems and extending control over prices by processing food, feed, or fiber beyond the harvesting

Bright future for soybeans

WASHINGTON (AP) — A government report said today that U.S. soybean exports to Latin America have picked up and could have a bright future despite rapid growth in production of the oilseed by Brazil and some other South American countries.

The Foreign Agricultural Service, an agency of the Agriculture Department, said that Latin America's rapid population growth "together with chronic protein deficits" and rising incomes are stimulating meat production in much of the region.

The report, included in a weekly issue of "Foreign Agriculture" published by the agency, quoted Dr. Don H. Bushman of the American Soybean Association's office in Mexico City as projecting that shipments of soybeans to Latin America could rise 50 percent in the next five years.

Brazil, Argentina and Paraguay are the three largest soybean exporters on the world market after the United States, Bushman said. However, he said, those nations often "cannot deliver products within the region as cheaply as the United States can."

Considering Latin American population growth and a rising demand for food, "I think we'll see eventually ... demand beginning to grow faster than supply," thus leading to larger U.S. exports, Bushman said.

Carriers, to the head of the Class!

Big Spring Herald

IT'S SMART to be a newspaper carrier!

We always knew it. A new study of our schools now tells you why.

It's not that computers are in schools. It's not that they don't. It's not that every child who likes to read is a newspaper carrier.

That is the conclusion of the National Assessment of Educational Progress after a massive study of schools. It is the problem every parent must take seriously. But under the parent of a newspaper carrier.

Learn on Route
A carrier applies the knowledge and skills he or she gains from the classroom every day on the route.

The carrier who makes change and keeps records and does the bookkeeping for the morning edition which a newspaper carrier can be known how to use arithmetic.

And a carrier makes practical use of other classroom studies. Writing orders, communicating with customers, reading news items from the office. Which are the basis for the conclusion of another survey we have seen. Newspaper carriers do better.

Learn Business Methods
Your carrier has another advantage. The young person gets guidance from the staff of the newspaper's circulation department and the benefits of their knowledge and help. It's about a course in business practice. Which can be useful all through life wherever the carrier is.

Almost nowhere else we know of except in managing a newspaper route is such an opportunity for training with profit which can be used for college (not available for a youngster today. It makes today's career brighter. And during a career. A newspaper carrier who works on International Newspaper Carrier Day.

Laughing it up in the poet's corner

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Special Correspondent
RIDGEFIELD, Conn. (AP) — Since 1585 the Oxford University Press has watched over literary tastes and the mother tongue with the fastidious concern of track stewards maintaining proper dress and decorum in the roval enclosure at Ascot.

Fancy my shock then, the other day, when opening at random a volume of poetry from this prestigious house, the last bulwark against vulgarity, and finding a poem with the opening line: "A Lesbian girl of Khartoum..."

And right next to it another that began: "A vice most obscene and unsavoury Holds the Bishop of Balham in slavery..."

Even that refined British spelling of unsavoury could not contain my utter disbelief at the source of such ribaldry, until I realized that this was the "New Oxford Book of English Light Verse," chosen and edited by Kingsley Amis, a learned and witty gentleman who writes mystery stories on the sly.

There is Lewis Carroll's devastating parody of Longfellow's "Hiawatha," with the hapless brave portrayed as a photographer taking a family picture in that sing-song meter: "From his shoulder Hiawatha Took the camera of rosewood..."

But strangely, erroneously, another deft knock at Longfellow is entitled "After Emerson": "Lives of great men all remind us As we'er their pages turn That we too may leave behind us Letters that we ought to burn."

The 50 lines of John Keats' "Ode on a Grecian Urn" have been nimbly summarized by Desmond Skirrow to: "Gods chase Round vase. What say? What play? Don't know. Nice, though."

There'll always be an England and an English literature as long as the Oxford University Press can wrinkle its high brows into a grin configuration and allow the poets to discourse learnedly on the besetting sin of the Bishop of Balham.

Ridin' fence

I fell off the gangplank

with Marj Carpenter

Last week, in one of the "Around the Rim's", there was a column about the editorial departmental, which it said included five men, who are married, and five women, who are not.

This is correct, unless we count Cuban Flash Danny Valdes, who is also a very important part of the editorial department, which makes the score six men who are married and five women who are not.

But then the column went into the fact saying that the women, "several times a week, two or three or more of us gather together to review the world of dating."

Now count me out on that score. This old gal has been engaged, married, had three children, and buried a husband.

I am neither reviewing dating, hunting a date, discussing dating, or setting up rules for dating.

Somehow, I'm lucky enough to have a bunch of friends who welcome me in spite of the fact that I am not a couple, and I have a really wonderful time.

As I told one of my good friends who asked me if I didn't want a guy "to hold me up in my old age" — "No thank you. I already had one that I often had to prop up hold up and sometimes pick up."

I am of the firm conviction that the entire world does not have to be like the gangplank to Noah's Ark where everything goes in by twos.

The column led to the discussion that women yearn for wine and roses. Back in the days when I was dating — oh long years ago — I leaned toward fun whether it was wine and roses, beer and pretzels, ham and eggs or corned beef and cabbage — but I deny being in any such discussion recently.

About my own life-style, I am so lucky. I have three grown children whom I like and who all like me and they like each other. We enjoy doing things together when they can visit.

I have many good friends — ranging in age from teenagers to one centenarian. And I enjoy so many of them. They are wonderful enough to share many fun occasions, with me.

I have friends — whom I consider their kids like my own, and friends who are like sisters, some like brothers, and some like extra children in the family.

I take part in a great variety of things to do, and enjoy darned near all of them. I like sporting events, parties, dances, church events, times of visiting and small talk, picnics, swimming, boating, traveling, plays, musicals, operas, square dances, old settlers reunions, and teen-aged parties.

HANDLING DELIVERIES — Jim Courtney, supervisor in charge of distribution for Southwestern Bell, holds up a copy of the phone book which is being delivered in Big Spring. Residential areas were to receive their books Friday with business deliveries set for today. 16,000 books were to have been delivered Friday, and 3,800 Monday. The cover is "Sunrise at High Island" by artist Harry J. Ahysen.

signaling) into the wrong lane? Yep, some folks think it's OK to make a right turn into the left lane or a left turn into the right lane — taint so! Matter of fact that's illegal too and it's downright discourteous and on top of all that — it's dangerous.

Oh, one other area of concern is the growing tendency to speed through town. A speed limit of 30 mph is really adequate to get around this community and 45 mph in a 30 mile zone is just inviting trouble.

All these potential hazards are going to catch up with us somewhere down the line. It may be today or next week and it may be you or me or some innocent person who just happens to get in the way. But, the point is, bad driving habits just keep getting worse until they result in disaster.

And finally, if newcomers or visitors judge us by our driving habits, we may not rate too high. Courtesy on the road speaks well for any community and it sure pays off in avoiding accidents. So, let's extend our hospitality and good will thru a courteous application of safe driving practices — all the while showing a proper appreciation for HUSTLE!!! HUSTLE!!! HUSTLE!!!

COLLEGE STATION — Eight students from the Big Spring area have earned "Distinguished Student" ranking at Texas A&M University.

The undergraduate honor is awarded to students who excel academically at Texas A&M, the state's land-grant and sea-grant institution responsible for providing not only excellence in academic programs but extension and research in agriculture, engineering and other practical needs throughout the state.

Recipients of the Distinguished Student honor must earn at least a 3.25 grade point ratio, out of a possible 4.0, during the most recent grading period.

The students are: Terry D. Allison, engineering technology; Charles W. Brown, electrical engineering; Silvia A. Holguin, political science; Forsan; Marianne McLaughlin, horticulture; Randy C. Schreengost, physical education; David S. Sullivan, applied mathematical science; and Brenda K. Willbanks, chemical engineering.

Also included is Hayes F. Stripling III, chemical engineering.

Sadat to mothball his peace plan if...

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Secretary of State Cyrus Vance. The official agenda is to consist of the Egyptian peace plan and an Israeli plan that Egypt vetoed last December, leading to the breakdown in direct talks the following month. Peres' spokesman, Yossi Beilin, did not specify how far Sadat would be willing to let the Egyptian delegation depart from his proposals in London.

Sadat told a news conference before he met with Peres that a "dangerous situation" could arise if the London talks fail. But he said he was counting on the United States as a "full partner" in negotiations to "use its efforts to ease the situation" if the impasse continues.

Sadat's proposals call for Israel to return East Jerusalem to Arab control and to turn over the occupied West Bank to Jordan and the Gaza Strip to Egypt for an interim five-year period.
