Priorities for city improvement outlined

Industrial, cultural, rapid transit needs stressed

By JAMES WERRELL.
A total of 60 citizens, a fifth of them city officials, gathered to discuss the future of Big Spring at a public forum, 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

With the city council seated before them on a stage at the Dora Roberts Community Center, Big Springers were asked to step forward and give their priorities for city improvement.

"Some of the suggestions will fall within the city's budget already, and others would require more tax monies to be implemented. But we are not here to discuss whether or not to have a bond election. We (the council) want to get input from the people on what the city needs to do to move ahead," said Mayor Wade Choate.

The first to speak was Robert Hurt, representing the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce. Hurt suggested that large trash containers be placed in alleys throughout the city for easier pickup, and that those homes without alleys should have front-yard pickup.

Hurt was followed by Dan Wilkins, local stock broker who asked that more money be spent to improve equipment for the Big Spring Fire Department.

"I know that three of the city's pumper trucks are over 20 years old, and some of the boosters were purchased in 1963. The equipment really needs to be upgraded," cited Wilkins.

Winston Wrinkle, representing the Big Spring Industrial Foundation, then stepped to the microphone to plead for continued development of former Webb AFB property as an industrial park. Noting that the properties represent $37 million in fixed assets for the city, Wrinkle said, "The city must continue to improve and develop the park in order to attract industry to Big Spring."

Clyde McMahon, also speaking for the Industrial Foundation, later echoed Wrinkle's sentiments.

"We need to build fences and improve the railroad spurs at the park.

Our choice is to either stand still or move forward as a city," he said. "We are now in the process of trying to attract businesses that will mean 1,000 new employees for Big Spring. One business alone will bring in 800 employees. But these improvements have to be made for us to be able to attract industry," he added.

Frank Wentz, representing the Big Spring Cultural Affairs Committee, requested that funds be allocated for improvements of the amphitheatre at Comanche Trail Park. Saying that the amphitheatre "is already a better facility than most cities have," Wentz called for funding of dressing rooms, stage renovation, lighting and sound facilities and construction of a concession stand at the amphitheatre.

Local Comprehensive Employment Training Act Program Director Nabor Martinez called for the development of a rapid transit within Big Spring and between here and area cities.

"This is something that has really been neglected here. The city should look into developing a rapid transit system between here and Midland," said Martinez.

Martinez was followed by John Hilario, representing the Big Spring Chapter of the Brown Berets. Hilario asked that the city fund improvements to a variety of sites on the north side of the city and several areas on the city's west side.

"We know that federal funds have been designated for demolition and relocation of buildings, but more should be done. That includes repaving streets, cleaning up the area in and around One Mile Lake, getting rid of mosquitoes there, and more frequent garbage pickups on the northside," said Hilario.

The Brown Beret also discussed the need for in-service training for local police in an attempt to improve relations between the department and minority groups in the community.

Another plea for further allocations for local police came from Reserve Officer Ronnie Smith.

"I could talk for 35 minutes about the need for more officers and higher pay, but I am mainly concerned with the overcrowded conditions of the Police Department building itself," he said. "In-service training may be a good idea, but right now there isn't even a classroom area in the building," he added.

Adolph Swartz, another member of the Big Spring Industrial Team, though citing no specific projects, gave an impassioned plea for spending for growth of the city.

"Because we sit on our rears, we lost an airline service and several industrial prospects. The city has been asleep, and we need to wake up," said Swartz.

He also cited the loss of Big Spring's television station, and allowing businesses such as the "Levi Strauss Company to 'get away because we didn't make that extra effort."

The lone dissenting voice of the evening was that of Jack Watkins, former councilman, who said that he represented "the city corporations and the stockholders therein." Watkins said that he had not intended to speak, but felt moved to, following Swartz' remarks.

"What I want to know is, if this bond election passes, how much is it going to cost?" he asked. "We have known that we had this problem (the need for sewer plant improvements) for a long time, but no funds were set aside to take care of it," he added.

Saying that there will be no money for suggested projects "as long as the water and sewer department continues to spend more than it takes in," Watkins presented a plan in which monies from a water rate increase, and transferred from the city's general fund would be used to finance water plant improvements.

Following Watkins' remarks, Mayor Wade Choate noted that he had received several phone calls from people who were unable to attend the forum requesting street improvements in the city. Council member Polly Mays supported this, and added that many people had asked that she suggest further development of Moss Lake as a tourist attraction.

When no one else came forward to speak, the Mayor said, "We will have plenty of public hearings on all of these issues. I want to remind you that anything the council puts up for a bond election, the people can vote on. You have the final say in the matter." He then adjourned the meeting.

DRESSED FOR ACTION — Although she's a little too young to play, 22-month-old Sandra Washburn is all decked out like a starter at the United Girls Softball Association State Tournament in progress at the Roy Anderson Softball Complex. The girl and her mother, Mrs. R.R. Washburn, of Odessa, were rooting for Odessa West before Sandra fell asleep during a morning game today. Games in the double elimination tournament, which is for Class AA, Divisions I and II (West Texas) are scheduled Friday and Saturday with finals to begin at 1:30 p.m. Sunday on field two.

Raises for all city employees in budget

Police pay boosts proposed

The proposed city budget for 1978-79 will include across the board pay raises for all city employees, said City Manager Harry Nagel today.

If approved by the city council, the budget will include a four percent salary increase on Oct. 1, and a three percent increase on March 1 for all city employees other than public safety officers.

All certified Big Spring Police Officers will receive a $50-a-month pay boost on both Oct. 1 and March 1. The salary of local firefighters will be raised to that of local police, and will also increase by $50 a month on Oct. 1 and March 1.

"Frankly, I am not sure whether I will receive a pay raise, but everyone below me will," said City Manager Harry Nagel. A pay raise for Nagel must be initiated by the council, he explained. Proposed budget allocations for the city's general fund, its water and sewer fund and its airport fund are all over these for this year. But the increase is less in terms of percentage than that for the year before.

Proposed allocations for the general fund total $3,465,461.40, as compared to an estimated $3,535,869.81 for the 1977-78 fiscal year. Allocations in 1977-78 totalled $3,064,419.80.

Proposed allocations for the water and sewer fund for the coming year came to $2,082,264.46, as compared to an estimated $2,049,159.30 for this year. The actual budget for the previous year was $1,958,474.88.

The proposed total for the airport and industrial park fund came to $239,378. The fund was instituted during the 1977-78 fiscal year, and its estimated total for its first year is $186,278.

"That proposal for the airport fund is really just a rough guess. It is very hard to estimate what will be required in that area," said Nagel.

Usselson named superintendent of schools at Colorado City

COLORADO CITY (SC) — At Thursday night's called meeting of the Colorado Independent School Board, Charlie Lee Usselson was named as the new superintendent of schools to replace Lloyd McKee, who submitted his resignation to the board in June.

The 41-year-old Usselson has been the superintendent of schools at Blooming Grove. He will assume his Colorado City duties Aug. 1 under a two-year contract calling for a salary of $30,500 annually plus travel allowance and an automobile.

Usselson and his wife have three children, all of whom will be Colorado High School students in the fall.

Board president Tom Rees noted that a number of qualified applicants were among the 60 who applied for the superintendent's position. However, Usselson was selected because of his record of expanding educational programs in the Blooming Grove system.

Usselson will assume his Colorado City duties Aug. 1.

The Colorado school board also approved a former student in the system, Bobby Lemons, as the new principal at Kelley Elementary School. Lemons was a 1959 graduate of a grand jury indictment, Slusche said, the commission may suspend a judge with or without pay.

"In the case of indictment, the judge could be tried in a criminal court," he said. The commission then would await the trial court ruling before making its decision.

The indictments stem from the June 26 arrest of Nelson by city and county law enforcement officials in connection with the theft of more than $5,000 worth of merchandise from Amos Supply.

The 33-year-old Lamesa native has been indicted on one count of "official misconduct" in connection with a March 16 incident when, according to the indictment, Nelson did "intentionally and knowingly misapply a thing of value belonging to the government...public funds, to wit, U.S. currency that had come into his possession by virtue of his employment."

The grand jury also indicted Nelson on one count of burglary of a residence. Nelson is charged with the June 27 burglary of the Dick Amos residence.

The other indictments charge that Nelson did "enter and commit theft" two separate times at the Amos Supply Store. The incidents reportedly occurred April 20 and June 27.

Following his June 26 arrest, Nelson was arraigned before Dawson County Judge Leslie Pratt and released on $2,000 bond.

However, the grand jury set bond at $2,000 for each indictment, bringing the total bond to $8,000. Nelson is at liberty on bond.

A decision by the commission in the Nelson case will reportedly be the first test of a change in the state constitution made Nov. 8, 1977.

The change gave the commission the authority to "suspend with or without pay any state judge indicted in state or federal court pending the outcome of these indictments."

Nelson continues to serve as justice of the peace.

Fair scheduled Saturday at HC

Jobs ranging from artists to truck drivers available

Jobs ranging from truck drivers to artists will be available at the day-long Big Spring Job Matching Fair Saturday.

The event will provide 48 area employers with the opportunity to fill more than 430 available positions.

Applicants from throughout Texas are expected to be on hand from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Howard College Cafeteria to apply for the openings. "This fair is an excellent chance for anyone to find a job," said Bill Albright, executive vice president of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce. "People are still calling in jobs and adding a tremendous variety to our list of positions."

Some examples are news director, bank teller, doctor, mechanic, printer, carpenters, speech editor, plumbers, psychologist, secretaries, nurses and pharmacist.

Working locally with the Texas Industrial Commission to promote the fair are the Texas Association of Commerce, Texas Association of Business, Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, and the Howard-Glasscock Human Resource Center.

Commission proceedings to remain confidential

By BETH FRERKING

AUSTIN — Richard Don Nelson, Dawson County justice of peace, appears today before the State Commission on Judicial Conduct, but proceedings will remain confidential unless the case goes to the Supreme Court.

A Dawson grand jury indicted Nelson July 13 on charges of stealing furniture. "The constitution provides that all of the paper and the hearing and everything else remain confidential until a case is filed with the Supreme Court," Max Slusche, assistant attorney general said.

The commission receives a complaint against a judge and notifies the judge of preliminary investigation if the charges are serious.

"That gives the judge the opportunity to respond to the commission," Slusche said.

If the judge's defense doesn't satisfy the commissioners, they issue notice of formal proceedings. The Supreme Court appoints a judge to hear evidence and report facts to the commission.

Slusche said the commission may do one of four things:

Dismiss the charge; issue a private reprimand to the judge; issue a public reprimand (made available to the press); or recommend to the Supreme Court that the judge be removed from office.

"Only the Supreme Court has authority to remove a judge," Slusche said.

Action/reaction: Park or dump?

Q. Is Birdwell Park a park or a garbage dump? I've never seen it looking worse, with all kinds of debris, including broken bottles by the dozens, all over the area. Some of the playground equipment is down. The picnic tables, even though made of concrete, are broken up. The concentration of trash is especially noticeable on the north end. Can't we at least make an effort to clean up the park occasionally?

A. "This is a losing battle, and without the cooperation of the citizens it will always be that way," said Jerry Foresyth, assistant city manager in charge of Big Spring's parks. "We were forced to remove the restrooms from Birdwell Park because they were so badly damaged. The tables are destroyed three times faster than we can replace them. Within the last two years we have put a minimum of 20 garbage cans in the park, and most of them were stolen."

Foresyth explained that crews are sent to the park at least two times a week to mow, rake and clean the grounds. After a big rain, such as in early July, the area is often too wet to mow, and trash is washed into the park, but this is infrequent.

Offbeat: Sexy hiring practices

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Irvin Good, a corporation president, has been presented a "Susie Sextop" doll by a feminist group claiming he only hires young, pretty and single secretaries. "Baloney," says the boss.

The doll, a frilly four-footer, was presented by the Interfaith Project on Working Women during the lunch hour Tuesday in the lobby of a downtown office building.

Good, 55-year-old president of Philadelphia Port Corp., stood silently, hands across his chest, a pinched smile across his face, as he was roasted by 35 women.

Even cries of "Cat got your tongue, Mr. Good?" failed to coax words out from him.

The Interfaith Project on Working Women has filed a complaint with the Philadelphia Human Relations Commission charging Good with discriminating against married women.

"My wife thought that was funny," Good said later.

Tops on TV: 'The Comedy Company'

Jack Albertson portrays an ex-comedian who fights to keep a nightclub workshop for aspiring young comedians alive in "The Comedy Company," which co-stars Abe Vigoda. It should offer a few laughs along with the plot of the show, premiering at 8 p.m. on CBS channel seven.

Beautiful books to be displayed at HC July 30 to Aug. 12

Books from the 25th annual Southern Books Competition will be displayed in the Anthony Hunt Library at Howard College July 30 to Aug. 12. Publishers from 17 Southern states and the District of Columbia entered 126 of their best books in the 1976 competition, from which number 23 were selected as outstanding, and awards went to their publishers.

The purpose of the competition is to foster excellence in bookmaking and to recognize designers, publishers, manufacturers, printers and binders for their contribution to high standards in the book arts. Publishers who entered the Competition included private presses, trade publishers, university presses, institutional publishers and specialty and private publishers.

Award-winning books are publicized and exhibited at various places around the country through the efforts of Project Director Frank J. Anderson of Wofford College, South Carolina.

Area residents are invited to come in and examine these beautiful books. The Anthony Hunt Library on Howard College Campus observes summer hours of 8 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Demos support recall

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cuyahoga County Democratic Party has voted overwhelmingly to support the recall of Mayor Dennis J. Kucinich after a debate in which none of its members sided with the beleaguered mayor.

The closest thing to support for Kucinich came from some party members who argued at Thursday night's meeting that a recall would be divisive.

The mayor, who has stirred controversy with, among other things, his dismissal of a police chief and statements during a strike by city police, did not appear at the meeting, nor did he send a representative.

Instead, Kucinich, in a letter to party Chairman Timothy F. Hagan, said the party should not take a position.

"The recall election is not partisan," wrote Kucinich, who has attacked the Democratic organization in the past. "There are no candidates as such. No political party has a legitimate reason to become involved in the recall."

Court upholds claim

ATLANTA (AP) — The Georgia Supreme Court has upheld for the second time Sen. Herman Talmadge's claim to $756,000 in profits from land put in his former wife's name prior to their divorce.

The justices, lining up on the same sides they had taken in the previous ruling, voted 4-3 to deny reconsideration.

The Georgia Democrat was divorced last year from his wife of 35 years, Betty, but the property settlement is still in court.

In appealing the Georgia high court's decision to award the senator the proceeds from a 1972 stock sale that had been put in his wife's personal account, Mrs. Talmadge's lawyers cited a similar case in which the same court ruled that properties placed in a woman's name were legally hers.

But the Supreme Court found that, unlike the case cited by the lawyers, Mrs. Talmadge "at least acquiesced" to hold the property in trust for her husband.

Bush still secretive

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (AP) — Former CIA Director George Bush isn't saying whether he'll run for president, but adds, "I'm certainly doing everything I should be doing if I intend to run."

At a news conference Thursday before addressing the Idaho State Bar Association convention, Bush said he will announce next year whether he will seek the Republican presidential nomination.

On other matters, Bush criticized the Carter administration for "confused signals" in foreign affairs and "cabinet level bickering."

Police beat $1,495 gold watch stolen

Police spent a relatively slow Thursday that a man had knocked him down a week earlier and stolen his gold nugget-studded watch. According to reports, the assault and robbery took place 9:30 a.m. July 13 in Allen's Cafe, 211 E. 2nd.

NO SERIOUS INJURIES — Four people riding in the car were lucky to have received no serious injuries when the car, driven by Yolanda Arista Renteria, 1305 Colby, collided with a pickup driven by Brad Wayne Dugan, 1408 Lancaster. The collision occurred at 4:39 p.m. Thursday at 120th and Gregg. The driver of the vehicle, as well as passengers Robert, Melinda and Alicia Porras all of 511 NW 11th, were treated and released from Malone-Hogan Hospital. Dugan was uninjured.

The watch was valued at $1,495. Several windshields were broken in the city. Vandals threw two rocks through the windshield of a pickup, and dented an attached trailer belonging to Robert Brown, 1408 Stadium.

The incident is thought to have occurred around midnight Wednesday. Damage was estimated at $175.

Vandals also broke the windshield and snapped off the antenna of a car belonging to Richard Calloway, 2307 Alledale, sometime Wednesday night. Damage was estimated at $125.

The vent window of a pickup belonging to Dero V. Shaw, 1417 Stadium, was broken while the truck was parked in the lot of Bogart's Club, sometime between 12:30 and 2 a.m. today. Damage was estimated at $35.

Burglars broke into the South 87 Shamrock Service Station, 2600 S. Gregg, Wednesday night, and lifted a black-and-white TV set and two cases of Coca-Cola. Total loss was estimated at $134.

The driver and three passenger in a car were all treated and released from the hospital.

Dale Delores Johnson, 21, entered a guilty plea in 118th District Court to felony charges of possession of marijuana over four ounces. Judge Ralph Caton assessed a $1,500 fine and a 10-year probation sentence.

Energy Geothermal rigs will be used to tap steam in Phillipines

HOUSTON — The first of three geothermal drilling rigs ordered by the Philippine National Oil Company will be delivered in August by Houston-based National Supply Company, division of Armo Inc.

The units will be used in the Republic of the Philippines to tap underground steam for driving turbine-electric generators. Typically, a generating station is built near each geothermal field, and several steam wells are drilled to support each station.

The rig contract, valued at $9 million, calls for National Supply Company to provide all major drilling equipment and machinery. The rigs will be assembled in the Philippines.

The geothermal rigs are slightly modified versions of National Supply's 610 model oil rig package which is designed for drilling to depths of 6,000 to 10,000 feet. They have special drilling heads to control steam kickbacks and a system for cooling the recirculating drilling fluid.

National Supply Company, world's largest manufacturer of oilfield drilling and production equipment, is the major component of Armo's oilfield equipment and production line of business.

Mobile home industry 'boom' due to continue

The U.S. Department of Commerce has predicted that the mobile home industry will achieve the highest growth rate of all U.S. industries during the five-year period from 1977 through 1982.

In "U.S. Industrial Outlook: 1978" the USDC publication, officials predict a compound annual growth rate of 11.2 percent in manufactured housing production. So far, the forecast has been correct for the first four months of 1978, but the Texas manufactured housing industry has outpaced all other states.

The Texas increase in production and shipment is just under 30 percent with Texas leading in the number of mobile homes produced, and ranked slightly behind California in the number of homes shipped to dealers through April of 1978.

Part of the credit for the growth rate is due to the improved construction of mobile homes and higher safety standards all rolled into a cost which is lower than comparably built site homes.

Barbecue to aid Lockhart family

A donation barbecue will be held at noon Friday at the H&M Grocery at Lutger to aid Danny Lockhart and his family.

Lockhart was critically injured in an automobile accident in late April and requires extensive medical attention. The 25-year-old former Big Spring resident received severe back injuries in the accident.

Friends have also established a fund at the First National Bank in Big Spring to assist with medical expenses.

In addition to the higher quality of new mobile homes, organizations such as the Texas Manufactured Housing Association have worked to make the buying public more aware of the desirability, affordability and quality of manufactured housing.

Several businesses in Big Spring are involved in aspects of the mobile home industry, ranging from construction to delivery and sale of units, and together they have organized an active Big Spring chapter of the TMHA.

Big Spring teacher 'living in France'

SHERMAN — Nancy Koger, a Big Spring High School French teacher from Big Spring, is currently living in France on the campus of Austin College in Sherman.

Mrs. Koger is attending Austin College's first Seminar on Contemporary France, scheduled from July 14 to Aug. 4. The French seminar is being held concurrently with the college's six-year-old Seminar on Contemporary America, which this year has attracted approximately 40 French citizens and 180 West German nationals.

The seminar is designed to improve each participant's knowledge of the language and the land with lectures and discussions about the country today.

In addition to classes, language teachers from throughout the United States will have the opportunity to room with and to interact with the European visitors in order to form more accurate ideas and attitude about each country's current cultural and political situations.

Terry Smith, who has participated in past seminars on modern Germany and who is now assistant director of the Austin College Summer Programs for Foreign Languages, explained, "Each group serves as a resource for the other, providing a rich environment for cultural exchange."

"I participated in the seminar in 1972 and 1975," he recalled, "and, through the atmosphere created by concurrent seminars, I was able to visit Germany without leaving Texas."

Austin college is a 129-year-old liberal arts college related by covenant to the Presbyterian Church, U.S.

Commissioners plan to open boiler bids

The Howard County Commissioners will take up a number of items in a special called meeting Monday beginning at 9 a.m. Items to be considered include approval of a right-of-way for Pioneer Natural Gas Company and approval of the appointment of John Arrick to the Veteran's Land Board.

Bids will be opened on replacement of the boiler in the Howard County Library and on Lektrevier files for the County Clerk's office. Commissioners will also consider a request for bids on a typewriter for the office of the county Judge and an adding machine for the Tax Assessor-Collector's office. The Commission will also open bids on vehicles for sale by the county.

Emergency permission for replacement of air-conditioners at the Howard County Fairbarn has been requested, as well as a request for shelving to be used in renovation of the basement of the Howard County Library. Commissioners also plan to confer with Dale Wortham on a request to use of the fairgrounds Aug. 14-19.

Abilene residents buying booze at Impact for big celebration?

ABILENE — Liquor sales in the neighboring community of Impact have not diminished even though Precinct 1 in Abilene has been certified as "wet" by Taylor County commissioners.

Managers of two liquor stores in Impact said that, if anything, sales in their establishments have picked up. One suggested Abilene residents might be buying liquor for a celebration.

Meanwhile, an attorney for an anti-liquor group calling itself Citizens for a Better Community, said litigation would continue in the matter, even though the group has elected not to fight the results of the June 17 wet-dry election. He did not elaborate.

An appeal made by several Abilene ministers to accept the results of the election calmed the waters in Abilene, at least for the time being. District Judge Don AUSTIN — The University of Texas awarded 421 bachelor's degrees from the College of Natural Science at the end of the 1978 Spring Semester.

The list, announced by Dan A.R. Schrank, includes Herbert John Ward, 700 E. 13th St., Big Spring, who was awarded a BS degree in Physics. He graduated with honors.

Softball game planned to help obtain funds for injured man

The second is scheduled for Aug. 1 starting at 7 p.m. All proceeds from this game will go to improve the Lions' Club Park.

Now is the time to check grass for white grubs

Now is the time to check turf grass areas for white grub infestations. The adult beetles have been emerging from the soil in turf grass areas since the last of the month of May. Adult female beetles lay eggs for about 30 days. Eggs hatch in 3 to 4 weeks.

The insect passes through 3 larval stages. Stages 1 and 2 require about 3 weeks for development. The 3rd stage is in the soil the rest of the year.

Check turf grass for white grubs to determine if the turf grass is infested. For effective control of the white grubs with insecticides treatments should be applied when the grubs are in stage 1 or 2 (less than 1/2 inch in body length) and are near the soil surface.

Check the label on the insecticide container for instructions on dosage rates, on mixing and on applying the material.

Check turf grass for white grubs by cutting a 1 square foot section of sod to a depth of 4 inches. Remove the cut sod section and closely examine the roots and soil for small white grubs. After examination, soil and sod should be put back in place, pressed down and watered.

Due to the bunched behavior of adult female beetles at time of egg laying, white grub infestations often are "clumped" in turf grass areas. Therefore, take an average of 3 to 4 samples per 1000 square feet of turf grass. An insecticide treatment is justified when more than 4 grubs per square foot of sod

HEAR THE WORD OF THE LORD

...Thus says the Lord God, "Woe, shepherds of Israel who have been feeding themselves! Should not the shepherds feed the flock?"

3 "You eat the fat and clothe yourselves with the wool, you slaughter the fat sheep without feeding the flock.

4 "Those who are sickly you have not strengthened, the diseased you have not healed, the broken you have not bound up, the scattered you have not brought back, nor have you sought for the lost; but with force and with severity you have dominated them.

5 "And they were scattered for lack of a shepherd, and they became food for every beast of the field and were scattered.

6 "My flock wandered through all the mountains and on every high hill, and My flock was scattered over all the surface of the earth; and there was no one to search or seek for them."

7 Therefore, you shepherds, hear the word of the Lord:

8 "As I live," declares the Lord GOD, "surely because My flock has become a prey, My flock has even become food for all the beasts of the field for lack of a shepherd, and My shepherds did not search for My flock, but rather the shepherds fed themselves and did not feed My flock;

9 therefore, you shepherds, hear the word of the LORD:

10 "Thus says the Lord GOD, "Behold, I am against the shepherds, and I shall demand My sheep from them and make them cease from feeding sheep. So the shepherds will not feed themselves any more, but I shall deliver My flock from their mouth, that they may not be food for them."

Carter not inclined to order attorney general to investigate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mexican-American leaders from Texas appear to have President Carter's sympathy in their eleventh hour quest to have the Justice Department enter the Santos Rodriguez case, yet Carter says he is not inclined to order the attorney general to prosecute.

Rodriguez was 12 years old when he was shot to death by a police officer while handcuffed in a police car.

State Rep. Ben Reyes, D-Houston, who was scheduled to meet with other Hispanic leaders and Justice Department officials today, said Carter called him Thursday and "apologized," claiming he was "very embarrassed" by the Justice Department's decision last Friday not to intervene in the five-year-old case.

The statute of limitations for federal intervention expires Monday.

"He just kept apologizing over and over and said he was very embarrassed by the decision," Reyes said.

The President was asked during an evening news conference Thursday if he had apologized to Reyes. He avoided the question and launched into a lengthy explanation of how he had asked Attorney General Griffin Bell to look into the case, but had no executive authority to order such a probe.

"It was my impression that he called because of what he told us in Houston," said Reyes. "He didn't offer any explanation or excuse for what the Justice Department had done. I am concerned that it was allowed to go through the bureaucratic machinery in Washington and some bureaucrat made the decision without any communication with the President."

Carter was in Houston last month and was shown pictures of young Santos Rodriguez slumped over dead in the back seat of a Dallas patrol car. Carter referred to the photos as "one of the most horrifying things" he had ever seen.

Dallas patrolman Darrel Cain was sentenced to five years in prison for the 1973 slaying. At the news conference, Carter referred to the sentence as "relatively low."

The Dallas-Times Herald said a White House spokesman confirmed Carter telephoned Reyes, but said he did not hear the conversation.

"The President was not happy with that (Bell's) decision at all," said the spokesman. "When he heard it, his exact words were, 'That's a serious mistake.'"

"He frankly felt he had made his concern evident enough that they (the Justice Department) would have gotten the message on the thing."

The spokesman's words would appear to carry considerable weight where a second presidential bid by the Georgian is concerned. Carter carried Texas by 51 percent during the 1976 race.

Mexican-American leaders claim their South Texas

Bill could give free reign or tighten hold

WASHINGTON (AP) — Depending on whose version you accept, Congress either is getting a handle on the size and cost of the White House staff, or granting President Carter a license to stock it with high-priced aides.

Carter pledged to cut the staff by one-third. Democrats say he has kept that promise. Republicans argue that the administration has simply moved some bodies onto different government payrolls, to make it appear that the staff is smaller.

Either way, a bill that soon will be going to Carter will grant him authority to sharply increase the number of high paid aides on his personal staff. The White House would have virtually unlimited authority to hire consultants, and to borrow staff members from other executive agencies.

Hugh Carter Jr., the president's assistant for administration, has said there is no intention of adding more than a couple people to the staff. But he said the White House wants flexibility to hire more help "in the event of an emergency like World War III or something like that."

World War II, incidentally, didn't require a very drastic expansion of the White House roster. The staff numbered 179 when the war began, 215 when it ended.

The bill now awaiting final congressional clearance is an authorization, which means that it sets ceilings and says what can be done with funds to be appropriated in a separate measure.

Republican critics complain that the ceilings on personnel are so high as to be meaningless, and note that in some instances, the bill simply approves whatever the president deems necessary.

There hasn't been a clear congressional authorization for personnel and operating costs at the White House since 1939, when President Franklin D. Roosevelt was authorized 14 staff assistants. The entire staff numbered 157.

In theory, the limit of 14 presidential assistants has applied ever since, but in fact, Congress has simply appropriated about what each president said he needed to run the White House.

The new bill would permit the White House to hire up to 100 presidential aides at top salaries: 25 at $57,500 a year, 25 at $52,500, and 50 at $47,500.

There are now 55 White House aides in those pay echelons.

The bill also would authorize unlimited appointments to the presidential staff at salaries below $42,423 a year.

"Frankly, it does not sound like Congress is exerting much control," said Sen. Bob Dole, R-Kan.

It also authorizes the use of employees from other federal payrolls, but it requires the president to report to Congress on borrowed staff members who stay for more than 30 days, and to shift them to the White House payroll if they are there for six months.

Most holidays have lost their meaning

Apparently we've reached the point where we think every day is a holiday or else we've decided there is nothing worth celebrating.

The last Fourth of July was a good example. A sizeable number of stores closed to give their employees a day of freedom. A few of the more fiercely patriotic people took the time to display flags outside their homes or businesses.

Some communities had picnics. Others advertised rodeos. There isn't much effort going into parades anymore, although Big Spring did feature a neighborhood march.

OTHER HOLIDAYS don't rally much enthusiasm, either. New Year's Day is noted for its round-the-clock football bowl games but only those who have survived the parties that go on the night before have much appetite for them.

The government has so fouled up the timing on Lincoln's and Washington's birthday that no one knows when they occur anymore. Half a hundred years ago, the best in community oratory was saved for great men's birthdays and most schools could be counted upon to offer little skits honoring the Father of Our Country and the Great Emancipator.

Christians are hesitant about mentioning Easter any more, certainly in our public schools. The occasion offers limited opportunities for family reunions, the chance to show off Easter finery and precious little else.

Time was when May Day had a special significance, especially for the tadpoles who danced around the May Pole, but Russia has claimed the day as its very own and uses the occasion to show off its military muscle.

May 30 and Armistice Day called for special planning a few years ago, but no more. Nowadays, many people look to see if there are any baseball doubleheaders booked on the former and will consult the calendar to see if Armistice Day should fall on a Football Friday or Football Saturday.

THE CHURCHES TRY valiantly to make something of union services around Thanksgiving Day but, from all indications, many people apparently think they can offer thanks for bountiful times just as well as home as a community gathering place. Besides that, they don't have to come out of their tennis shoes.

Christmas is, of course, the holiest of all seasons but the period is so highly commercialized now few appreciate its significance anymore.

Gift-swapping becomes prevalent among the masses, and if one spends more for the presents he's giving than he reasons he'll be getting his spirit can go right up the chimney.

Our hedonistic approach to all holidays may serve to spoil those occasions for us. The holidays, when ever they fall, should mean more than opening a six-pack and a chance to avoid seeing the boss all day.

Getting involved

Around the rim

Carol Hart

As my father has been known to say in this spot, one thing and another:

Being female and brought up where I encountered very little discrimination because of it, I have spent most of my time on the outside looking in on the women's movement and the fight for equal treatment. It hasn't been until the last year that I became more conscious of the problems faced by women and men alike in society.

I FINALLY HAD an argument, or something more along the lines of a full-scale war, with a friend over the phone one night. We began talking about the story and women's rights in general, and he suddenly slipped and revealed himself as a full-fledged male chauvinist. According to him, women weren't equal in any sense of the word, and of course I knew that, he said. Thus the fight began, and we traced history back to prehistoric man and fought the battle up to the 70s, comparing our sides. I may not have done much for the cause, but I convinced him women could yell and scream as loudly as his side could.

While a friend Barbara Dirks and I were sitting in my car at a red traffic light the other day, my car received its first major dent. In my family, we really got attached to automobiles, and I took the dent personally.

Barbara and I heard the tires of the other car squealing just prior to the crash. It seemed like an eternity between the squeal and the crash, though it had to be just an instant. I had pictured in my mind the back end completely demolished, but the damage wasn't nearly so much of a shock as my vision of it as I sat in the car afraid to get out and look.

Barbara went to call the police while the other driver and I stared each other down. When the police came, I was impressed at how quickly they handled the accident. The police were very understanding. The principals in the mishap were all acting a little confused. I appreciated the help of the officers.

The bad news

William F.

When is it okay to publish information which, if not officially classified, is, more accurately, officially suppressed? Or even better still, unofficially unventilated? A young man of high technical skills and experience who is more concerned about the survival of the United States than the incumbent President writes in to pose the question.

"Suppose I read in articles in publications that Soviet production of Backfire bombers is 35 to 50 per year. Suppose I know that the actual production rate is over 100 per year. Suppose I feel that the Administration has a vested interest (the SALT talks, etc.) in not informing the public of the true bombers? Is my obligation still to protect the information? Or is it rather to inform the public of a real threat posed by what now must be (by my calculation) over 240 bombers fresh off the line, and superior to any bomber we now have in service?"

ON THE same day, one reads a dispatch from Drew Middleton in the New York Times referring to "disquiet among defense specialists in Congress and civilian experts." That disquiet is motivated by two concerns, one technical, the second political. At the technical level we are, quite simply, falling behind the Soviet Union not merely in the sense that our capacity to look after ourselves is diminished in redundancy; we may well be falling back to the point of critical technological inferiority. The second has to do with the dogmatic reluctance of the President, who single-handedly destroyed the B-1 program and the neutron bomb, to take compensatory action.

Mr. Middleton cites an "authoritative" study published last year in the Congressional Record concluding that "by 1980 or 1981, depending on Soviet warhead yield, 12 to 60 per cent of land-based Soviet warheads could destroy at least 75 per cent, or 700, of the American missile silos, leaving thousands of Soviet warheads to be delivered to other targets. It is also concluded that if 4,285 American warheads, or 100 per cent of the U.S. land-based and sea-based ballistic missiles were fired against the Soviet silos, some 200 of 1300 Soviet silos would be destroyed." What all of this means is that the Soviet procurement blitzkrieg is quickly giving it a first force capability. Translated, that means the Soviet Union could knock out our principal defense deterrent leaving us only with a petulant retaliatory resource in our submarines.

Several weeks ago, my informant reminds me, Aviation Week called attention to two fraudulent reports, traceable to the Administration, and tending to demonstrate that our Minuteman missile system is in fact not vulnerable to the Soviets and won't be for the foreseeable future. One of those reports was got out by a panel of unilateralists, and is intended to abort any movement to build and deploy the MX missile. Neither report takes into account the accuracy of the SS-18 which is estimated at .1 nautical miles. That is 600 feet, and the net meaning of this is that our 1000 Minuteman silos are probably already vulnerable to a Soviet first strike.

IF, HOWEVER, WE were to proceed with MX, we would have 150 to 300 new missiles. Their capability would make possible deploying them variably in 5000 silos. The Soviet Union would never know, at any given moment, in which of the 5000 caravansaries our missiles were passing the night. They would need, therefore — in order to achieve a first strike capability — 6000 IBM's. They couldn't procure that many without giving up vodka, and that would be too much to ask, even in the name of world revolution.

Vertigo or dizziness? Important difference

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My ears started hurting several months ago. After going to four regular doctors, I was sent to an ear specialist. He said I have benign positional vertigo. My ears still hurt, and I have dizziness and nausea. Off and on I get temperatures of 101 or 102. The doctor has not given me any antibiotics. Shouldn't this have cleared up by now? Do you have any suggestions? — D.M.C.

Vertigo is the sensation of a room spinning about you or of you seemingly revolving in space. It is important to distinguish this from simple dizziness, which is more of a sensation of faintness and disorientation.

If you have vertigo, it means there is something wrong in the balance mechanism, which lies in the inner ear. It consists of three semi-circular canals, liquid-filled structures which lie at different angles. As the position of the head changes so, of course, do the canals, and the liquid shifts with them, rather like the liquid in a carpenter's level. In this sense the structure acts to keep you "level," no matter what your position. The sensation is controlled by a network of nerves leading to the brain.

Positional vertigo is caused by a disturbance of this mechanism, either by disease, deposits in the canals or damage to blood vessels or nerves serving them. The term "benign" means, in your case, that the central nerve (the vestibular) is not involved.

Unfortunately, there is no treatment. I had a purpose in going into the anatomy of the balance mechanism. You can see that the canals are very complex themselves, and they are in a veritable maze of other tiny ear structures, inaccessible and remote. My best advice is to understand what is involved and learn to avoid the positions of the head that bring on attacks. If obstruction of a vessel serving the area is suspected, dilating drugs can be tried. I cannot account for your periodic fevers and pain except as symptoms of infection elsewhere, which might be contributing to your problem.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it possible for a woman to give birth to identical twins and have one of each sex? Is the second born of twins more likely to be stillborn? — J.E.

Identical twins are the result of fertilization of a single ovum (egg). They are of necessity the same sex. Fraternal twins may be of different sexes because they result from separate fertilization of two eggs. One twin may be stillborn due to difficulties the mother might have in blood supply to the placenta. Such difficulties arise more often in the second born of the twins, but doctors have been able to overcome these problems to a large degree.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can an ovarian tumor cause excessive hair? If so, can anything be done about it? — Mrs. O.J.

It might cause it. Such tumors are called "masculinizing ovarian tumors." Removal of the tumor might correct matters. Adrenal tumors may also be factors in the presence of hair in places where it isn't normally found. However, hairiness of any kind is most often a matter of heredity than of glandular disorders, so you shouldn't go around assuming you have tumors here or there just because your legs may be a bit hairier than you'd like. True glandular problems can be detected rather easily by an endocrinologist.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: You mentioned that athlete's foot fungus can be transferred to the hands by contact. How about transferring it to the scrotum area? — J.A.

The fungus can be transferred to any area of the body where it is made "welcome," that is where a suitable environment for it exists. That would include the scrotal area.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I had a swelling deep under my tongue the size of a small pea. My doctor said it was a plugged gland, and to do nothing about it. It did go down the next day, but after all this time it is still sore. Can you tell me why, and why it swelled in the first place? — Mrs. A.P.

This is usually caused by an obstruction of a duct leading from a salivary gland. It is usually easily released (the swelling subsides) by eating something sour. There may be a tiny stone or inflammation. Have it checked.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: We have just placed my mother in a nursing home because we cannot provide for her in our own home. I find myself feeling guilty over this. Should I? — G.R.

DEAR G.R.: Only you know the full situation. If you love your mother — and I assume you do — you want what is best for her. That, after all, should be your primary concern. If you have looked carefully at the alternatives and have decided that the best thing for her is this particular nursing home, then there is no reason for you to feel guilty. She should get good care there, and she will also be around other people.

The decision you have faced is a very difficult one, and when a Christian faces a decision like this he will want to pray repeatedly about it. Sometimes an older person is better off in the home of a son or daughter. At other times, this is simply not practical, especially if there are health problems that require special care. The tragic thing is that the other people themselves are sometimes not consulted in these matters, but are callously uprooted from familiar surroundings and sent to a nursing home simply to get them out of the way. If there is any one guideline, it is that we should seek what is really best for the older person.

Remember that one of the greatest problems some older people face is loneliness. I hope you will make it a habit to visit your mother with great frequency. She has, after all, been a great blessing to you throughout your life, and now you should do everything you can to be a blessing to her. Always keep before you the Biblical command: "Honour thy father and thy mother: that thy days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee" (Exodus 20:12). You honor your mother as you seek to give her what is best for her in these latter years of her life.

Trapped by Young

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — Congressmen have been scrambling to throw the first stones at United Nations Ambassador Andrew Young Rep. Larry McDonald, D-Ga., who led the attempt to impeach Young, is more in need of impeachment himself. No one in Washington has been more irresponsible.

The man in the eye of the hurricane, meanwhile, does not appear to be the foot-in-mouth bungler his critics would make him out to be. Confidential Cabinet minutes portray Young as a solid, steady, straight-spoken presidential adviser.

His remark in a Paris newspaper interview that there are "hundreds, maybe even thousands of people I would call political prisoners" in the United States was a blunder. Coming as it did when President Carter was decrying the rigged Soviet dissident trials, the crack undermined the president.

YET THE Cabinet minutes show that Young has been effective behind the scenes in strengthening U.S. ties to the Third World, defusing African tensions and preventing a black-white racial catastrophe in Rhodesia. At one session, Carter took pains to praise Young for his part in the "slow, steady, consistent effort to generate the trust of the Africans."

Another time, Carter also lauded the United Nations ambassador for "a good job" in assailing Cuban interference in Angola and elsewhere in Africa.

But even behind closed doors, Young has a reputation for speaking his mind. At a recent secret session, he complained sharply that either he or Secretary of State Vance were being told what the Central Intelligence Agency is doing in Africa. Neither of them, he said, knew whether the CIA was involved in covert activities on the continent.

Examination of the full quote the ambassador gave his French interviewer also shows he was in no way condoning the Soviet kangaroo trials. On the contrary, he was trying to make the point that dissenters, whatever their treatment now, will have impact on the Soviet future.

"I THINK THE current Soviet dissidents could well be the salvation of the Soviet Union," he said after recalling his own arrest during the civil rights struggle in this country. "They are a natural development of the Soviet society, but the leadership has not yet realized it."

The congressman who initiated the impeachment resolution against Young is one of the most notorious rightwing blowhards in Congress.

Trouble? Turn to loved ones

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Doctor Wallace: I hope that you will please print my letter because the problem I had concerns many other teenagers in this world. My boyfriend and I are both in our teens. We both mean a lot to each other. Well, not long ago, we thought I was pregnant. We weren't sure and we didn't know what to do. We thought of many alternatives like getting married, running away, abortion and many more. Our other problem was that we didn't know how to go about finding out if I was pregnant or not. Finally, after two months, I broke down and told my mother my problem. Of course, it hurt her deeply but it was the best thing to do. With her help we found out that I wasn't pregnant after all.

Through all of this, I learned one thing; when you have a problem turn to the people whom you love and who love you. My mother and my boyfriend helped the most because I love them and they love me. In the long run, the problem brought my mother and me closer together. — Nancy, West Covina, Calif.

 Nancy: It's really wonderful to receive letters like yours. Believe me, it's teens like you that make my "job" the best in the world! Dr. Wallace: I know a boy who just graduated from high school. He is 18 and I really think he is great. My father always teased me about him and because I'm 13, mother thinks it's puppy love. Maybe it is but I do like him and I want to somehow tell him that I do admire him a lot. How should I tell him? Please hurry as he will be going to college in August. — Pam, Newton, N.J.
 Pam: If you know him well, send him a nice card and tell him you like him as a friend and admire his qualities. If you don't know him that well, keep on admiring him, but don't share it with him. For Dr. Wallace's teen booklet, "Happiness or Despair," please send $1 and a 23-cent stamped large self-addressed envelope to Dr. R. Wallace, in care of this newspaper.

Home brew, charity, rocking chairs
Miss Lillian tells thoughts

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter's mother drank three bottles of home brew a day while nursing youngest son Billy, has no use for organized charity and doesn't intend to "rot" in a rocking chair. These diverse and wide-ranging comments peppered 79-year-old Miss Lillian Carter's remarks on Thursday at an informal meeting of members of Congress interested in the problems of hunger and population planning. From the talk, here is a Miss Lillian sampler. —To her audience: "This is going to be a fun thing. If you think you're going to be bored, you can get up and walk out right now. It won't hurt my feelings because I get bored myself." —On nursing her four children: "I had had three babies and I nursed them all but when Billy was born I kind of gave out of milk. And then my father had a solution. Home brew. We couldn't get beer. And I drank three bottles of home brew every day. Believe me, Billy got plenty of milk. I'm not plugging Billy beer, hear. It was home brew that I drank." —On charity: "I never give a penny to organized charities because I'm disillusioned. Because I've always heard and know to be a fact that very little of the money that we give to these agencies gets to the poor. . . . I give my money to direct charities. I give it to groups which are feeding the hungry."

Janet Frisby given shower

Corsages were presented to the honoree and her mother and mother-in-law, Mrs. Darayl Frisby of San Antonio and Mrs. Phil Wickline. Accompanying Mrs. Frisby were her daughters, Carolyn and Cynthia. The hostesses' gift to Miss Frisby was a serving bowl from her pottery selection. The serving table was centered with an arrangement of blue and white daisies. Miss Frisby will wed Wickline on Aug. 19.

Peggy Collins, LeVeta Speck and Mary Ella Wise attended as guest. Mrs. Collins became a new member. The guest speaker was Dearl Pittman, district manager for Pioneer Natural Gas Co. Dear Abby

In His Arms, But Not on His Mind

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married for 20 years, and our problem is our sex life. What's a "turn on" for him is definitely a "turn off" for me. He insists on talking about other women when he's making love. I'm hurt because it's never ME he is making love to—it's always a friend, or a stranger, or a movie actress. I don't want anyone else, and never have. Oh, sure, I've wondered what it would be like with Burt Reynolds, but what woman hasn't? I could never talk about other men during lovemaking. My husband says fantasizing would help us both, and there is nothing wrong with it. Is he right, or am I?

I long for those days early in our marriage when he let me know that he was glad I was the girl in his arms, and he didn't need all these fantasies. He thinks I'm square. Is this a common problem?

TURNED OFF IN TORRENCE

DEAR TURNED OFF: Yes, it's a very common problem. There are no "rules" in lovemaking, save one: "Whatever is pleasing to both parties is OK." Since sex is your problem, I suggest that you consult a qualified sex therapist (they usually work in teams, a man and a woman to counsel the couple). Most universities now have a human sexuality program in their medical schools. Or perhaps your physician or clergyman can recommend a therapist.

DEAR ABBY: Do you believe in love at first sight?
 RHONDA

DEAR RHONDA: No. But I do believe in taking a second look!

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I are ordinary people (now retired). We're trying to get along on Social Security, so we must draw on our savings, which of course are limited. We have four children, all adults and married with children of their own, up to college age. From time to time, in order to help them out, we have lent our children money, interest-free. They promised to pay us back in installments. After two or three installments, they quit paying, although they seem to have money for pleasure trips, expensive luxuries, etc. "There is honor among thieves," it is said. What has happened to our kids? Where have we failed?

FORGOTTEN IN MANKATO

DEAR FORGOTTEN: Don't assume that because your children have not honored their commitments YOU have failed. THEY have failed. You can lend some people to a fountain of integrity, but you can't make them drink from it. (P.S. Silence implies agreement. Speak up!)

CONFIDENTIAL TO BUBBA IN CHICAGO: You may be able to dodge your responsibilities, but you can't dodge the consequences of dodging your responsibilities. Think about it.

If you put off writing letters because you don't know what to say, get Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters For All Occasions." Send $1 and a long, stamped (23 cents) envelope to Abby: 132 Laskey Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

THE LIGHT TOUCH
 By Sherry Wegner

The person who says youth is a state of mind invariably has more state-of-mind than youth. Husband, looking at budget, to wife: "If we cut out our second cup of coffee in the morning, we can afford a new car." A computer is an electronic wonder that performs complex mathematical calculations and intricate accounting tabulations in one millionth of a second—and then mails out statements 10 days late. Funny how people who snore always fall asleep first. The real pessimist is the guy who paints "Help" on the back of his boat—upside down. Crestview sets Passover flim

"The Passover," a new color film, will be shown at Crestview Baptist Church on Sunday, July 23, at 6 p.m.

The film is a unique and different film presentation that is designed to introduce Gentiles to the festival meal that occurs on the first night of the Passover portraying in Jewish rituals the truths of Christianity that are inherent in the Old Testament.

This new and different kind of film attempts to bring understanding between Jew and Gentile, making each aware of their ties with each other.

Three generations of a family are portrayed in "The Passover." The grandfather and grandmother are East European-Slavic Jews. The father, mother and children are considered modern American Jews. In the film the old speaks to the new. One generation teaches, making the next generation aware of its heritage.

Filmed in Dallas, in a home designated for historical preservation, the film has a timeless feeling that both Jew and Gentile will not only find helpful but enjoy.

"The Passover" is a late release by Gospel Films, Inc. of Muskegon, Michigan.

Russian Christians are jailed by secret police

In actions reminiscent of Hitler's Gestapo, the Russian KGB (secret police) in the city of Rostov-on-the-Don, has threatened to shoot Christian believers (Baptists) or send them to Siberian uranium mines, according to information received through underground church sources.

KGB officials were also quoted as saying that they "regret they cannot burn them or turn them into soap like Hitler did."

The information was contained in the most recent copy of the "Bulletin of the Unregistered Baptists" which was just smuggled out of Russia and received by the European office of Jesus to the Communist World, a Glendale, Calif.-based center for information about religious persecution in Communist countries.

Michael Wurmbbrand, a general director of JCW, said that the Bulletin has appeared without interruption and has been distributed through the underground in the Soviet Union for the past 18 years.

In commenting further on the information received, Wurmbbrand noted that "The Russian authorities accused the Baptists of killing a local policeman and then they closed down the local church and imprisoned 108 church members."

"The Baptists in Rostov sent a note through the Underground Bulletin," Wurmbbrand added, "which said that the KGB stated they 'received permission to make an experiment to see if they could kill the Baptist influence in this town.'"

The Bulletin specifically named some of those imprisoned which included "a woman named Olshavskaja along with her three children and an 18-year-old Piotr Ovschenikov, who was severely beaten by the secret police," Wurmbbrand added.

JCW receives a continuous flow of information of this type from underground sources in Communist countries through secret couriers. This information is used to expose religious persecution and to assist the victims and their families in any way possible.

Thirty volumes are published

NEW YORK (AP)—Specialists individually render their translations of the books.

Gradually, one by one, the volumes roll out, 30 of them so far, with 30 more to go, in one of the longest, most comprehensive publishing ventures on the Bible ever undertaken.

The library-sized volume, called "The Anchor Bible," blazed an ecumenical trail at its outset 22 years ago that since has become a common pattern.

Unlike most of the modern surge of Bible translations produced by groups of scholars, the Anchor

DA claims no questions on preference

DALLAS (AP)—Dallas County District Attorney Henry Wade says it's illegal for the Dallas school board to question prospective superintendents about their religious preferences.

Wade said Tuesday that would be a criminal violation of state law.

The statute is "pretty straight," Wade said when asked his opinion. "That article forbids the school board or anyone else from inquiring into the religious affiliation of an applicant other than asking if he believes in a Supreme Being."

Dallas news media have reported that the six candidates for Superintendent Nolen Estes' job were questioned about their religious beliefs.

Candidate James Adams, 42, superintendent of the Winston Salem, N.C., school district, said he "expressed concerns about the questions" to the board members when he was interviewed.

A school official present during the interviews said candidates were asked about church membership, frequency of church attendance, positions of leadership in the church and the church-going status of family members.

Bible school starts Monday

Vacation Church School begins Monday at St. Mary's Episcopal Church.

It is offered for children age four through the sixth grade. It will last through Friday, July 28.

The school is traditionally held in mid-summer rather than early summer when children are still tired of school.

Anyone interested in their child attending should contact the church office.

Baptists study literature series

GLORIETA, N.M.—Ordering Sunday School literature, reaching and teaching people and identifying the responsibilities of the Sunday School were among the myriad of questions that surfaced among 2,000 persons attending the second of three Sunday School leadership weeks.

Which line of Sunday School literature to order for October was a question on the minds of youth and adults workers and leaders responsible for ordering literature for their churches.

Feud with Russia off again

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter's off-again, on-again feud with the Soviet Union is off again.

"I have not embarked on a vendetta against the Soviet Union," the president declared Thursday night at the first prime-time nationally broadcast news conference of his 18-month administration.

Carter, whose spokesman announced only one day earlier that he was imposing trade reprisals against the Russians, reported that "we would like even to enhance trade with the Soviet Union."

The president, in his 35th news conference, also apparently stepped away from an earlier threat to veto a proposal to cut back the capital gains tax, saying that he will wait until such a measure reaches his desk before deciding about a veto.

He said the proposals — to reduce the maximum 49 percent levy on profits from sales of such assets as stocks and real estate to 25 percent or 35 percent — would violate some principles of his tax revision plan.

Carter said the worrisome rate of inflation — now running at an annual pace of 10 percent — should "top off" later this year and that his anti-inflation program is building momentum.

"Someone has got to control it," he said. "I'm doing all I can."

Carter said he disagreed with the statement by U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young that there are "hundreds, perhaps thousands" of political prisoners in the United States and declared: "I know Andy regrets having made that statement, which was embarrassing to me. I don't believe he will do it again." Carter reprimanded the envoy on Saturday for the statement.

The president's comments on the Soviet Union were the latest in a series he has made to define the U.S.-Soviet relationship.

He said that he had no more plans to cut off trade with Moscow after his administration's announcement Wednesday that it would not allow Tass, the Soviet news agency, to purchase a Sperry Univac computer. Carter said the equipment far exceeded Tass' stated needs for use during the 1980 Olympics in Moscow.

Earlier Thursday, Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland said Carter had no intention of halting U.S. grain sales to the Soviet Union to retaliate against Moscow's human rights policies.

The Wednesday trade announcement, made with as little fanfare as possible, responded to congressional pressure to maintain a hard line in the wake of the latest Soviet crackdown on dissidents while doing as little damage as possible to Carter's goal of negotiating a Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty that can win Senate approval.

Economic growth good, but inflation continues

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's economy grew by the largest amount in more than two years during the spring, but inflation during the second quarter of this year was the worst in three years, the Commerce Department said today.

The department said consumers in the spring made the purchases they postponed during the severe winter.

The inflation rate during the second quarter was 10 percent, the worst performance since a 10.7 percent inflation rate in the first quarter of 1975.

The combined output of goods and services — the Gross National Product — grew at an annual rate of 7.4 percent in the second quarter after adjustment for inflation, the department said. The annual rate averages the figures over an entire year.

Weather Dallas area has some relief from high heat

By the Associated Press

The National Weather Service said the temperature failed to reach 100 degrees in Dallas-Fort Worth Thursday — the first time in 19 days — but it was still hotter than Hell.

The general consensus of opinion at the Damn Site Inn in Hell, Mich. Thursday night was that the day's high hit 92. The mercury in the Dallas-Fort Worth Metroplex climbed to a "cool" 99 at Dallas-Fort Worth Airport where the official NWS reading is taken. However, it eased into the century column at Dallas' Love Field.

"We've heard about the heat down there," said Jerry McCall, co-owner of the bar. "Yeah, it's hot up here, but we don't want any of what you've got."

Despite the slightly cooler readings, the death toll in parched North Texas continued to climb. Three more deaths were reported Thursday outside the Metroplex, raising the count to 24.

Dallas and Fort Worth have accounted for 21 of the heat-related victims.

The latest casualties included an 84-year-old Waco man, a 57-year-old Paris man and a 1-month-old Lubbock girl.

Thursday's state high of 107 was reported at Presidio in the Big Bend area of Far West Texas. Galveston registered the day's low of 87.

Moscow has called such criticism interference in internal Soviet affairs, and Carter volunteered that "we cannot interfere in the internal affairs of the Soviet Union."

But he reminded Moscow that Soviet officials voluntarily signed the Helsinki agreement guaranteeing that the principles of human rights would be observed and said he was concerned about Russian efforts "to punish dissidents for monitoring compliance with the Helsinki agreements."

The spring economy growth was not as strong as the 8 percent to 9 percent gain some economists were expecting. However, it was the biggest quarter since winter 1976, when the economy grew by 9.3 percent near the end of the recession.

Many economists say a slower growth rate will be needed for the rest of the year if inflation is to be brought under control. The government is forecasting a growth rate for the entire year of about 4 percent, just enough to keep people with enough jobs to prevent the economy from falling.

The report showed that final sales to businesses and consumers increased at an annual rate of 7.2 percent, one of the largest increases on record. Sales had fallen off 1.6 percent in the first quarter as winter storms kept people home from stores and their jobs.

The figures are adjusted to account for seasonal variations, but the winter was a bigger drag on business than usual.

The 7.4 percent increase in the second quarter followed a decline of 0.1 percent in the first quarter and a 3.2 percent increase in the fourth quarter of last year.

In the entire first half, the nation's output grew at a rate of 3.5 percent, smaller than the 4.5 percent in the second half of last year, the department said.

The department said the coal strike and the severe weather depressed output in the first quarter of 1978.

"In the second quarter, a rebound added to output," the department said. "If the effects of the coal strike and severe weather are set aside, the increase in real GNP would have been about 3 percent in each quarter."

The combined output of goods and services surpassed an annual rate of $2 trillion for the first time. The total gross national product was $2,769 trillion.

Barry Bosworth, President Carter's director of the Council on Wage and Price Stability, said Thursday that overall productivity is slipping badly.

Voters should be able to tell their sides

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Voters should get a chance to tell the Legislature whether they would accept a one-cent sales tax increase if the money would be given back as property tax relief, a House committee says.

Approval of the non-binding referendum bill by the House Constitutional Amendments Committee came quickly Thursday, but major issues of the special session remained stalled.

The House and Senate committee work also halted until then.

Constitutional amendments took up their own draft embodying the "tax relief" items they indicated in a straw vote they would be willing to approve.

These are:

- Taxation of farm and ranch land on its ability to generate crops — and income — not its value on the real estate market. The Legislature also could add timber land if it wished.
- A $10,000 homestead exemption from school taxes — plus another $10,000 for the elderly — deducted from market value, not assessed valuation as recommended by Gov. Dolph Briscoe. The state would have a four-year commitment to make up revenue the exemption would cost school districts.
- A requirement that a majority of the total membership of the House and Senate, not just a majority of those voting, approve tax bills. Briscoe had wanted a two-thirds vote requirement.
- A "truth in taxing" provision requiring notice and hearings before property taxes can be raised, and a provision allowing voters to roll back increases by referendum.

The committee sent to the House floor, with action expected next week, a bill by Rep. Bob Hendricks, D-McKinney, setting up a non-binding referendum Nov. 7 on a penny per dollar sales tax increase. The money would be passed on to school districts for property tax reductions.

The House Ways and Means Committee also quit until Monday after hearing Rep. Wayne Peveto, D-Orange, offer some compromises to get his uniform tax appraisal bill to the floor.

Peveto said he was willing to drop his insistence on a 5 percent annual limit to local property tax increases. But he wants to keep a provision requiring notice and hearings before taxes can be raised and allowing rollback referenda.

"Take off the (tax increase) cap, leave in truth in taxation and initiative and referendum — that would be fine with me," he said.

Briscoe gave the lawmakers two more jobs to do. He opened the session to bills giving the Gatesville State School system the authority to clarify that state payments of Social Security contributions should not be treated as employee income.

Suspected terrorist jailed

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Kristina Berster, a suspected member of the West German Baader-Meinhof terrorist gang, is jailed here on $500,000 bond, charged with trying to walk into the United States from Canada using a bogus passport, the FBI said.

Although West German authorities would not comment on the case, an official in the Karlsruhe, West Germany, prosecutor's office, which has an arrest warrant out for Miss Berster, said she was too minor a figure to bother with an extradition request.

However a spokesman for the federal prosecutor's office said that a new arrest warrant was being sought today just in case the Bonn government decided to ask for it. A state official, who asked not to be identified, said Miss Berster had spent seven months in "investigatory custody" in 1971, a suspect in a conspiracy to set off explosive. He said she had been a member of the Socialist Patients Collective, a leftist-anarchist group that preceded the Baader-Meinhof gang.

Miss Berster, 27, was stopped Sunday as she and the other three tried to cross the border in the sparsely populated area near Alburg, Vt., according to U.S. Attorney William Gray.

FBI agents said Miss Berster showed immigration officials an Iranian passport identifying herself as Shahrzad Nobari. She was taken into administrative custody and finally identified Wednesday through fingerprints supplied by West German authorities.

Officials refused to comment on what provoked their suspicion. FBI agents said they did not know how long Miss Berster had been in Canada or why she was there.

The three companions were released because their identification documents appeared to be valid, immigration officials said.

An FBI spokesman in Washington, Homer Boynton, said he believed it was the first time a member of the Baader-Meinhof gang had attempted to enter the United States.

Miss Berster is wanted in West Germany on 1973 charges of criminal conspiracy involving a series of terrorist bombings and the forgery of identity documents. She is also charged with belonging to an illegal organization.

The short, red-haired woman was officially charged with a violation of U.S. passport law Thursday in federal magistrate's court in Burlington, Vt.

"I am not guilty of these things," she said at her arraignment.

Miss Berster was transferred to the Albany County jail late Thursday. Officials at the jail said tight security had been imposed by U.S. marshals.

U.S. District Judge James Foley has ordered Miss

Berster to reappear in federal court for a probable cause hearing a week from today. Conviction on the passport law violation could bring a maximum sentence of 20 years in prison and a $15,000 fine, Foley said.

The Baader-Meinhof gang terrorized West Germany through the 1960s and early 1970s, claiming responsibility for bombings, bank robberies and kidnappings.

"...AND SAID, VERILY I SAY UNTO YOU, EXCEPT YE BE CONVERTED, AND BECOME AS LITTLE CHILDREN, YE SHALL NOT ENTER INTO THE KINGDOM OF HEAVEN, WHOSOEVER THEREFORE SHALL HUMBLE HIMSELF AS THIS LITTLE CHILD, THE SAME IS GREATEST IN THE KINGDOM OF HEAVEN." MATTHEW 18:3-4.

Texas 4-H Congress attracts local youths

More than 40 businesses of the Fort Worth area opened their doors to tours and visits of some 500 4-H members and 50 adult sponsors during the sixth annual Texas 4-H Congress, July 18-21, in Fort Worth.

Representing Howard County at the statewide youth educational event were 4-H members Danny Feugh, Paul Ray, Jana Wegner, David Hall, Scott Robinson and Lyle Grantham.

Theme for the 1978 4-H Congress is "Our Western Heritage and Horizons." The conference will be headquartered in the Fort Worth-Sheraton Hotel.

Tours of the Fort Worth area businesses should enable 4-H members to better understand the heritage of our western culture, and also afford them new opportunities and horizons for future careers and employment.

This year's 4-H Congress featured a variety of cultural events, including a Fort Hood cavalry unit

District LL semis tonight

The Big Spring Texas League All-Stars dropped out of the Texas District III Little League Tournament underway here Thursday night, as their opponent, Midland Eastern rushed to 10 runs in the first three innings and held off a late Texas rally to take a 15-6 decision.

In the other quarter-final match-up played Thursday night, the Lamesa All-Stars nipped Midland Mid-City 4-3. In the bottom of the sixth, Blake McKinney popped a single to get on base. The Mid-City batter then walked the next three batters to send McKinney home for the winning run.

Other Lamesa hitters included, Gilbert Arrendo, Richard Cabellero and Oscar Castaneda, all with singles.

For the Big Spring Texas League, David Renteria took the loss from the hill after giving up six hits and striking out two in three innings. Locals garnering hits were: Eddie Flores, double; Freddie Rubio, single and home run; David Renteria, double; Michael DeLeon and Lupe Ramirez with singles.

Tonight's twinbill will see the surprise team of the tourney, the Big Spring International League All-Stars after that Cinderella slipper against a strong Midland Eastern squad. That game will be played at 8 p.m. in the National League Park.

The other game will feature a hotly-fought contest between the Big Spring American League All-Stars and the Lamesa club. That game, also slated for 8 p.m., will be played in the American League Park.

The two victors tonight will advance to the tournament finals, to be held in the National League Park, Saturday night at 8 o'clock. The winner there would then gain a bi-district berth July 29th in Big Spring against the District IV winner.

Logback names two coaches

By DANNY REAGAN
Sports Editor

Big Spring Head Coach Ron Logback announced today the hiring of two more assistants for the coming season, leaving only one vacancy to be filled on the high school football level.

Ronnie White will be coming to Big Spring from Kermit, 7-AA bi-district champs who compiled a 12-1 record last year. White will be a defensive secondary and offensive receiver and backs coach on the varsity.

White, who was also a varsity head baseball coach at Kermit, originally came from Pampa after helping turn that program around from a 2-8 season to a 8-2 record the following year. He is married and has two children.

David Davis joins the Steers from Alice, Texas. Logback indicated that Davis will be an offensive and defensive line coach on the junior varsity program. He's been coaching for the past 11 years, and his wife's name is Sylvia.

Two women coaches at Goliad were also hired recently. They are Linda Jones and Nancy Pribyla.

There are now five coaching vacancies to be filled, three in high school and two in junior high. Still needed is an assistant football coach for the freshman program, a football coach for the 7th grade at Goliad, high school girls' track and volleyball coaches and a girls' coach at Runnels.

The Steer football program will go with four varsity, three junior varsity and three freshman coaches this season. The four varsity coaches are: Ron Logback, Terry Brewster, Tom Koger and Ronnie White. Ben Neel will head up the JV program with Larry Helton and David Davis, and Howell Martin and Jerry Carter will join a yet-to-be named coach in the freshman program.

Eight local football coaches, as well as basketball coaches Tommy Collins and Mike Randle, will leave Big Spring Monday for the 46th annual Texas High School Coaches Association Coaching School, billed as the largest of its kind in the world.

Logback is hopeful that the school, under way all next week in Houston, will provide the additional coaches needed in the local system.

Royals' rally in 8th sends Rangers home crowned

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — It's no consolation to Doyle Alexander, but Steve Braun says the ninth-inning single he beat him with Thursday night "was probably the most important hit I've ever gotten."

Alexander, the Texas Ranger righthander who hadn't won since June 23, shut out Kansas City through seven innings. He was nursing a 1-0 lead over Dennis Leonard when the Royals finally broke through on George Brett's triple and Hal McRae's sacrifice fly in the eighth.

The Royals won it 2-1.

In the Rangers ninth, Leonard retired big-hitters Bobby Bonds and Richie Zisk to strand Al Oliver at third. Then with two out in the Royals ninth, Clint Hurdle singled and pinch-runner Willie Wilson, the fastest man in the major leagues, raced to third on Tom Poquette's single.

Up came Braun, who came to the Royals in May from Seattle after spending an entire career with non-winning clubs, to pinch hit and play occasionally. He punched Alexander's pitch into left field, just out of Oliver's reach, only the ninth hit Alexander had yielded, but just enough to allow Wilson to prance across the plate.

"I have nothing to say," commented the dejected Alexander, now 6-6.

But for Braun, it was a night for celebration. "I was really afraid he was going to catch it," said the left-handed-hitting utility man. "It's a tremendous feeling to be on a contending ball club. This second half is going to be the most exciting few months in my life as a player."

Braun's role with the Royals has been clearly defined — he will pinch-hit and play occasionally. "Obviously, I'm not satisfied with not playing every day," he said. "I hope I never get satisfied with being a part-time player. But when you're with a contender, every game, every inning, means something. That was probably the most important hit I've ever gotten."

Leonard evened his record at 11-11 with his most overpowering performance of the year. The Rangers managed only six hits and scored in the third on a slow roller to third base. Burt Campaneris, who had doubled leading off and gone to third on a fly ball, came home when third base umpire Nick Bremigan ruled the ball fair.

Guidry feeling needed now

By the Associated Press

Ron Guidry says it's a nice feeling being needed. And, oh boy, do the New York Yankees need him.

Without Guidry's glittering 14-1 record, the defending world champs would feel like the world chumps.

"It's a privilege to know that they are depending on me so much and I can come through for them," said Guidry after fashioning his latest victory, a 4-0, four-hit beauty over the Minnesota Twins Thursday night.

Even with the triumph, the Yankees are still floundering in the middle of the American League East, 13 games behind the front-running Boston Red Sox. They would be even lower than fourth place without Guidry's 13-game credit.

"When Guidry's right, it's a mismatch against everyone," noted Yankee Manager Billy Martin, who has witnessed the collapse of most of his heralded pitching staff this season.

Guidry doesn't see himself as Atlas holding up the world, though.

"When I retire," he said, "everyone will remember who Catfish Hunter was and who Don Gullett was. I just want them to remember that I pitched for the Yankees, too."

In other American League action, the Milwaukee Brewers beat the Boston Red Sox 8-6 and the Kansas City Royals edged the Texas Rangers 2-1. The Chicago-

Baltimore game was postponed by rain.

Guidry became the major league's first 14-game winner with his shutout over the Twins. The left-hander, who won 13 straight games at the start of the season before losing to Milwaukee on July 7, struck out eight and walked three.

The Yankees scored two runs in the first inning, one on an RBI single by Thurman Munson and the other on a balk by loser Darrell Jackson, 2-3, for all the runs they needed.

Brewers 8, Red Sox 6
Charlie Moore's solo homer in the third inning and two-run single in a four-run fourth and strong relief pitching by Ed Rodriguez led Milwaukee over Boston.

Rodriguez, 2-3, earned the victory after taking over in the second inning.

Montreal Expos have cyclist

By the Associated Press

Chris Speier didn't want to steal Pete Rose's headlines — so he made his own in Montreal.

Speier had the best night of his seven-year career, hitting for the cycle (single, double, triple, homer) and driving in six runs Thursday night as the Montreal Expos posted a 7-3 victory over the Atlanta Braves — and he didn't even know he'd achieved the rare feat.

"Cycle? I had no idea, not even after I did it," Speier said. "I didn't realize it until I went out in the infield and I thought about my at-bats."

Speier tripled home a pair of runs in the second inning, singled in the fourth, blasted a three-run homer in the sixth and completed the cycle with an RBI double in the eighth.

And was he impressed? "I don't know if I took Rose's headlines," Speier said. "Not in Cincinnati I won't. He's been in the headlines for 33 days now."

Thirty-three games would be more exact. The Cincinnati Reds captain moved within four games of Tommy Holmes' National League record 37-game hitting streak with a two-out infield single in the fifth inning of the Reds' 8-6 loss to the Philadelphia Phillies.

In the rest of the NL, Pittsburgh edged Los Angeles 7-6 in 10 innings, St. Louis nipped San Diego 3-2. New York swept a double-header from Houston 7-4 and 5-4 and San Francisco's game at Chicago was suspended by darkness in the eighth inning with the Giants leading 9-8. The game will be finished next Friday.

Rose's hit extended his hitting streak to 33 games, tying Hall of Famer Rogers Hornsby for the second-best ever in NL history.

Rose said he's been thinking about the hitting streak — but isn't overly worried about it. "Thinking about it and worrying about it are two different things. I know it's going to end, but right now I'm swinging good."

"As long as I'm swinging good, the hits will come.... If I don't get the record, it'll be nice to be second."

Greg Luzinski and Richie Hebner drove in two runs apiece as Philadelphia moved 3½ games in front of Chicago in the East. Joe Morgan and Ken Henderson had two RBI each for the Reds, who fell 2½ games behind San Francisco in the West.

Expos 7, Braves 3
Woody Fryman was the beneficiary of Speier's 4-for-4 performance, although he needed ninth inning relief from Mike Garman.

Speier's cycle was only the second in Expos' history and the six RBI were the most for him in one game.

Pitcher Jamie Easterly brought in the Braves' first run with a bases-loaded walk and Jerry Royster added a two-run single as Atlanta scored three times with two out in the second inning.

Pirates 7, Dodgers 6
Frank Taveras, booed by Pittsburgh fans after making a third-inning error, singled in the 10th and Los Angeles reliever Terry Forster committed a throwing error on the play to give the Pirates their victory over the Dodgers.

Cardinals 3, Padres 2
Pinch-hitter Tony Scott and George Hendrick drilled runcoring singles off slumping San Diego reliever Rollie Fingers, 4-11, in the seventh inning, lifting St. Louis past the Padres and snapping the Cardinals' four-game losing streak.

Giants 9, Cubs 8
Suspended Game
Jack Clark, who earlier hit a two-run homer, drilled a tiebreaking single in the eighth. It gave San Francisco a lead only moments before darkness halted play in the game that had already been halted three times by rain.

Herrera faces fine

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — Dallas Cowboy kicker Efrén Herrera is facing a $500-a-day fine for failing to appear at the team's first meeting here Thursday night.

Herrera has been embroiled in a contract dispute with the world champion team. Cowboy spokesman Doug Todd said, however, that Preston Pearson was at the meeting. There was some speculation that Pearson, who was unhappy about his lack of playing time last season, might not show.

Cowboy General Manager Tex Schramm said there was nothing new to report in the negotiations with Herrera.

The diminutive Mexico native was seen at training camp about noon Thursday where he conversed with club officials, but he left before the 7:30 p.m. meeting. "It's a decision he's made," said Schramm. "He's under contract. We have several other players in the same situation who are in camp."

"Herrera's not reporting is a situation we've faced before. I'm disappointed anytime someone who I like and respect doesn't report."

Schramm said Cowboy officials have not talked to any other National Football League team about getting a replacement "because until tonight, we had a kicker."

Most Oiler vets report

SAN ANGELO, Texas (AP) — All but three veterans have reported to the Houston Oiler training camp at Angelo State University here in preparation for workouts Saturday for the Aug. 5 preseason opener in the Astrodome against the Denver Broncos.

The rookies went through another day of practice Thursday.

Commenting on three interceptions thrown by rookie quarterback Gifford Nielsen of Brigham Young that contributed to the Oiler rookies' 9-0 loss to Kansas City Tuesday, Oiler Coach O.A. "Bum" Phillips he'd rather Nielsen throw the passes now and learn what he can't do.

"Interceptions cost us the game, and that's gonna make an impression on him. If he waits for the regular season to do his learning, we're all in trouble," Phillips said.

Victor Shavers wants fight

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP) — Having recorded his 53rd knockout in 62 bouts, veteran heavyweight Earnie Shavers of Warren, Ohio, says he'd like to line up a match this fall with either Ken Norton or Jimmy Young.

The 33-year-old Shavers, ranked sixth in the heavyweight division with a 55-6-1 record, needed just one round Thursday night to dispose of 26-year-old Harry Terrell of Birmingham, Ala., who hadn't been knocked out in 14 previous professional fights.

Terrell, who weighed 198 to 221 for Shavers, failed to answer the bell for the second round after being knocked down twice in the first three minutes.

Terrell, now 114 for his career, was helped to his corner by his handlers at the end of the first round, then refused to come out when the second round bell rang.

Detroit wants '84 Games

DETROIT (AP) — The mayors of this city and its Canadian neighbor say they'll submit a joint bid to host the 1984 Summer Olympic Games.

Detroit Mayor Coleman Young and Windsor, Ontario, Mayor Bert Weeks discussed the plan Thursday and agreed to assign staff members to make cost estimates and inventories of existing sports arenas.

"When I heard that Los Angeles was on the verge of bowing out, and that Montreal and Munich were the only other two cities that seemed interested, it just seemed to click to me," Weeks said Thursday.

"I think the facilities currently available in Detroit and Windsor... offer some interesting possibilities."

Young agreed, calling the plan "an intriguing idea and one worth pursuing."

However, a U.S. Olympic Committee official noted that Los Angeles has not yet officially withdrawn from the running, and said he felt a two-city sponsorship might be "against the rules."

Connors reaches quarters

WASHINGTON — Jimmy Connors crushed Australian John Alexander 6-1, 6-0 to reach the quarter-finals of the Washington Star International men's tournament.

In another match, Harold Solomon beat Arthur Ashe 6-3, 6-4.

Two Chileans, Jaime Fillol and Hans Gildemeister, also moved into the quarter-finals. Fillol beat Nick Saviano 7-5, 5-7, 6-3 and Gildemeister upset seventh-seeded Dick Stockton 6-2, 6-2.

Wojtek Fibak of Poland beat Phil Dent of Australia 6-4, 3-6, 7-6; and Spain's Manuel Orantes beat John McEnroe 6-7, 6-1, 7-5.

Spinks at it again

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — Traffic incidents continue to plague World Boxing Association heavyweight champion Leon Spinks.

The 24-year-old Spinks, who has been arrested five times since March for traffic violations, was involved in a minor auto accident Wednesday, according to security officers at the Palmetto Dunes resort.

However, the accident was not Spinks' fault, said Phil Phillips, resort security chief. No one was injured and no charges were filed.

The officer said a tourist unfamiliar with the island rolled through a stop sign and collided with a 1978 Cadillac driven by Spinks, causing about $200 damage to each car, the officer said.

Spinks was at Hilton Head Island training for his Sept. 15 rematch in New Orleans with Muhammad Ali, whom he defeated last February.

Solomon beats Ashe, transforms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harold Solomon has gained the quarter-finals at the $175,000 Washington Star International Men's Tennis Tournament and in the process has brought another convert to Erhard Seminar Training.

Solomon beat Arthur Ashe 6-3, 6-4 Thursday and said he's found new mental serenity on the court since he took a $300 two-weekend EST course earlier this month.

"My life's been transformed," said Solomon, whose parents, family and girlfriends are all enthusiastic EST graduates.

EST, as described by Solomon, sounds a good deal like what another generation knew as "the power of positive thinking" in the book by Norman Vincent Peale.

"I never heard of Norman Vincent Peale," Solomon said when asked for a comparison.

OUT OF THE SAND — Rookie sensation Nancy Lopez hits out of a sand trap in Thursday's opening round of the U.S. Women's Open golf championship at the Country Club of Indianapolis. Miss Lopez hit the shot long and doesn't look happy (right) at the prospects of a par on the hole. The winner of seven L.P.G.A. tournaments this year parred the hole and the course for the first round.

Green works, leads 'Philly'

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Hubert Green says that golf comes easy to a lot of players, but he has to work hard to maintain his reputation as one of the game's best players.

"Normally I get lax mentally," Green explained Thursday after shooting a six-under-par 65 for the first-round lead in the $250,000 Philadelphia Golf Classic by one stroke over Jack Nicklaus.

"I have to work on my game. I'm not like some players who just go out there and play," Green said following his round of an eagle, five birdies and just one bogey.

"Take putting," said Green. "I've just worked hard on it. With my stance and swing I have to work on it. I don't have the natural swing of some of the other players."

Green said he was playing pretty well and expressed confidence that he could continue his performance through the final three days of this designated tournament.

"I should play well the next two or three weeks," predicted Green, who claims he never makes predictions. Green has a stock answer when asked if his record score of 271 over the Whitemarsh Valley Country Club will be broken this year.

"I leave predictions for weathermen and radio announcers," says the winner of 12 tour events since turning pro in 1970.

The odds are that Green's 17-under-par triumph at Whitemarsh in 1974 will be shattered. He already is six under, and this is a designated field, meaning that all the stars — except South African Gary Player, who was excused — are playing.

In addition, Nicklaus, who won the British Open last week for the third time, seems to be at the top of his game.

Another factor is that the field of 156 is finding the 6,615-yard course an easy target.

Going into today's second round, eight players were at 67, 11 at 68, 12 at 69, 24 at 70 — a total of 57 breaking par. There were 19 at par 71.

It is an understatement to say the course took a beating Thursday.

Both Green and Nicklaus said the rough was short and the greens soft, perfect conditions for low scores.

Ben Crenshaw, who tied for second in the British Open, two strokes behind Nicklaus, led the group at 67. Also at that figure were Bill Rogers, Hale Irwin, Dave Graham, Bruce Lietzke and rookie Jim Nelford, a switch-hitter from British Columbia.

Andy Bean, the tour's leading money winner and a three-time winner this year, was at 68, while Tom Watson, another triple winner and second on the money list, was at 69, along with Lee Trevino.

three-game winning streak. That's a feat they hadn't accomplished since late in May.

Someone wondered whether it was as long a day as it seemed.

"It had a chance to be a lot longer if we lost," Torre muttered.

Joel Youngblood, pinch-hitting for winning reliever Dale Murray, drove in the winning run in the second game. With one out, Willie Montanez singled off Joe Sambito, 36, and Youngblood followed with a double into the left field corner.

"I knew my time was coming sooner or later," said Youngblood. "Sambito's a good pitcher. I faced him three other times this year and I made out three times."

"I'm just glad to get this day over with so I can go home and get some rest."

Murray, 5-4, worked the final three innings, shutting out the Astros on one hit. Houston managed only six hits off three Mets pitchers — rookie starter Dwight Gooden, Kevin Kobel and Murray — while the Mets pounded out 18 and stranded 13 runners.

The Mets scored two runs in the fourth on doubles by Steve Henderson, Bruce Boicislar and Doug Flynn, got one in the sixth on pinch-hitter Ed Kranepool's RBI grounder and sent the game into extra innings with Montanez's RBI single in the eighth. Art Howe homered twice for the Astros, his fifth and sixth of the year, and rookie catcher Bruce Bochy got his first major league homer in the seventh.

In the opener, John Stearns drove in four runs with a bunt single and a bases-loaded double and Montanez hit a two-run homer, his 13th. Mike Bruhert, 2-5, went six innings for the victory and Skip Lockwood got his 12th save with three innings of scoreless relief.

Young leads, Lopez waits

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Donna Caponi Young had the lead and some high hopes. Helios Stacy was bugged by a bee. And remarkable Nancy Lopez had herself in position and was simply waiting for the putts to start falling.

"I'm really hitting the ball well and I'm rolling the putts really well. I'm sure they'll be falling tomorrow," said Lopez after a 71 had left her three shots off the veteran Young's record-matching pace Thursday in the first round of the U.S. Women's Open Golf Championship.

"That was a good score," Lopez said after matching par over the hot, humid hills of the 6,115-yard Country Club of Indianapolis course.

"Now I can improve. If you have a bad first round, you have to fight just to get back in the tournament. If you have a really low score, it's hard to improve and that can bother you mentally."

"I'm in good position. And I expect to improve."

The improvement could come in the putting, often the strong part of Lopez's game. The largest gallery of the day watched her miss a pair of par-saving five-foot putts and fall again on a seven-footer for a birdie.

The 21-year-old Lopez has captured the fancy of the nation's golfing millions with her spectacular exploits that have produced seven victories — including a record five in a row, in her rookie season that ends this week.

"This tournament is something special to me," Lopez said. "It's very important to me to win it."

Young, playing late in the hazy day with the heat and humidity reaching toward the mid-90's, birdied her last hole for a three-under-par 68 that put her two strokes ahead of the field, tied the best first-round score ever in the women's Open and set a course record.

She admitted to being tired coming in — "really running out of steam," she said — and bogeyed the 17th with a drive into the rough. She got the shot back with a flip up the hill to the elevated green on the 18th and ran in a six-foot birdie putt that again set her advantage at two.

"People are trying to take all the fun out of the game," says the 6-foot-2 first baseman. "We're overlooking the right things — like the people, the sport itself."

Not incidentally, Chicago will host the beleaguered Yankees in front of the White Sox' passionately devoted fans starting tonight.

It would seem to be more than a match between a winning and a losing team. The different philosophies are not just evident, but obvious.

Comparisons are odious, but if baseball were like war, the Yankees would be the hawks and the White Sox the doves.

"I think that unity equals good baseball," says White Sox utility outfielder Wayne Nordhagen, "and that's something the Yankees don't seem to have."

Besieged by in-fighting this season, baseball's defending champions are struggling along in fourth place in the American League East, 13 games behind the front-running Boston Red Sox.

"It's hard to play good ball when the other guy's looking over your shoulder" to make sure you deserve your salary," says Johnson.

"That was a good score," Lopez said after matching par over the hot, humid hills of the 6,115-yard Country Club of Indianapolis course.

"Now I can improve. If you have a bad first round, you have to fight just to get back in the tournament. If you have a really low score, it's hard to improve and that can bother you mentally."

"I'm in good position. And I expect to improve."

The improvement could come in the putting, often the strong part of Lopez's game. The largest gallery of the day watched her miss a pair of par-saving five-foot putts and fall again on a seven-footer for a birdie.

'I'LL TAKE THAT!' — Zane Rutledge of Midland, left, and Mike Kessler of Lake Jackson, center, prepare to wrestle the basketball away from Walter Hall of Cleveland, Miss., during "Camp of Champ" action at Howard College this week. Hall, who attended the same high school as former Hawks Archie Myers and Eugene Williams, was visiting Big Spring as a potential Hawk signee. The 6-3 guard may sign with HC next week. One interesting note: Rutledge is 10 years old and 4-6, while Kessler is only 14 years old and already 6-6 1/2.

Army general and aide shot down in Madrid

MADRID, Spain (AP) — A man and a woman shot and killed an army general and his aide at point-blank range in a car in downtown Madrid today, and an anonymous caller said a little-known leftist gang called the Proletarian Armed Group was responsible. Three policemen were wounded in other parts of the country.

A high government official said the slaying of Brig. Gen. Juan Sanchez Ramos, a 64-year-old artillery officer, and Lt. Col. Juan Perez Rodriguez, appeared to be an attempt to provoke the army into taking over the civilian government of Premier Adolfo Suarez.

But no motive for the slaying was given by a man who telephoned the Madrid news magazine Cambio 16 and said the killers belonged to the Proletarian Armed Group, the magazine said.

Sanchez Ramos was the highest ranking Spaniard assassinated since Premier Luis Carrero Blanco was killed by a bomb in December 1973.

Witnesses described the general's killers as a young man with a mustache and a young woman in a green dress.

They said they got out of a taxi, and approached the general's army car outside his home as his chauffeur was unfolding the one-star flag denoting the rank of brigadier general.

They said the pair fired 11 shots with their pistols at point-blank range through the car window, and that two of them hit the general in the head.

Police said the killers fled in the taxi but that a police sergeant opened fire on them, possibly hitting one. The taxi, with a flat tire and blood stains and two hand grenades inside, apparently had been stolen and was found abandoned at a railroad station for north-bound trains. They said the killers forced a motorist to drive them toward a freeway outside Madrid and left him there unharmed.

Meanwhile, terrorists with submachine guns wounded three national policemen in northern San Sebastian, and police said they suspected Basque separatists. In the southern city of Seville, two men with shotguns wounded a municipal policeman. No group claimed responsibility for that attack.

The assassination of the general was the first by terrorists of an army man. A number of policemen have been ambushed and killed during the past year by antigovernment guerrillas.

The general's assassination followed a familiar pattern by terrorists in Spain — picking a victim with a regular routine.

Five years ago, Carrero Blanco was killed by terrorists who put a bomb under a Madrid street where the premier passed daily on his way to mass. The explosion blew Carrero Blanco's car six stories into the air, killing him, his bodyguard and his chauffeur.

Last year, terrorists kidnapped Gen. Emilio Villacescus, head of the army supreme court, as he got ready to enter his official car to go to work.

Four weeks ago, Basque separatists assassinated Spanish journalist Jose Maria Portell as he entered his car to go to work.

The news agency Europa Press said several top military men had reported recently to their commanding officers that they had been followed by persons appearing to map their routes to work.
