SMASHING CLIMAX TO DOMINO TOURNAMENT — The intricate designs Bob Speca created to prove the domino theory can have a practical application are shown before the University of Pennsylvania student triggered the big fall in the high school gymnasium Saturday night.

The act proved a fitting climax to the first annual World's Championship Texas-Style Domino Tournament. It took Speca 15 hours to arrange the designs, only seven minutes for all the dominoes to fall.

Carter unveils insurance plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter unveiled 10 principles Saturday that he said would guide the development of a national health insurance plan. The plan won't begin to be implemented for at least four years and probably couldn't be in full operation before 1990.

But even before the president's general objectives were announced, his plan was in serious jeopardy.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy and numerous traditional supporters of comprehensive health coverage publicly broke with Carter and said they could not support his cautious approach, contingent as it appeared to be on future economic conditions.

The principles themselves, presented at a news conference by Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr., provided little that Carter hadn't already promised when he said during his campaign that he favored a universal, comprehensive and mandatory program.

He did add that he would reserve some "significant" but still unspecified role for private health insurance companies and that the program would be financed in part by employer and employee "contributions," which might or might not be in the form of new payroll taxes like those for Social Security.

But the emphasis was on developing some way of paying the nation's rising health bills without adding inflationary pressures.

"The American people would not accept, and I will not propose, any health care plan which is inflationary," Carter said in his statement.

He added that he has instructed Califano to come up with a plan in which any additional expenditures "will be substantially offset by savings from greater efficiency in the health care system."

The principles won cautious praise from the private insurance industry, which traditionally has opposed Kennedy's health legislation because it would put the government in the health insurance business and take the industry out.

Both Califano and presidential domestic affairs adviser Stuart Eizenstat said Carter wants to find a new way of implementing domestic programs to guard against the explosive cost overruns that historically have occurred with other social legislation.

"For social programs of this magnitude, we need a new approach," Eizenstat said. "We are committed to finding more intelligent ways of phasing in social programs so that their expenditures do not always exceed our initial projections."

Simon says U. S.

would back games

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — The U.S. Olympic Committee, in order to "allay the fears" and "quell the emotional arguments," is ready to assume financial responsibility for the conduct of the 1984 Olympic Games in Los Angeles, William Simon, USOC treasurer, said Saturday.

Simon, former U.S. Secretary of the Treasury, and USOC President Robert Kane said they would present a plan to Los Angeles Mayor Tom Bradley Sunday which would absolve Los Angeles of financial responsibility as the host city for the Games.

Domino tourney won by Taylor, Harbin

By CARLA WALKER

Four thousand dollars in prize money, and twelve trophies were awarded Saturday to the tune of Jana Jae and 20,000 toppling dominoes.

The top 12 winners of the first annual National Texas-Style Domino Tournament were awarded their trophies and the top five took home money prizes in between the performances of Jana Jae, fiddler on "Hee Haw" and famed domino topper Robert Speca.

Tournament champions Lowell C. Taylor and Dale Harbin of Kermit earned themselves $1000 each and handsome trophies for well over 20 hours of domino playing.

Second place went to the Snyder team of W.N. Suttle and Ronnie Lewis. The honor merited a trophy and a $500 check for each member of the team.

Third place winners Hobart Douglas and James Morris, Fort Worth, won $250 each with their trophies, while H. Frank Bell and L.W. Dorbandt of Abilene took fourth place and $125.

Consolation winner was the team of Bob Murray and Cecil Johnson, San Angelo, who earned $125 each for their winning efforts.

Paul Meek, president of American Petrofina, the company which sponsored the tournament, presented the checks and trophies.

Miss Jae performed a wide array of country music songs prior to the awards ceremony. Jana has appeared on a number of television shows and is primarily recognized for her role as a female fiddler and humorist on "Hee Haw."

Among the songs were Bob Willis tunes, blue grass style, Cajun music, and, of course, the "Orange Blossom Special." Between takes on that song, Miss Jae showed her musical versatility by playing short but recognizable bars from "Fiddler on the Roof" and other popular pieces from country, pop and classical fields. She imitated bird calls, much to the enjoyment of the audience, in the middle of playing "Listen to the Mockingbird."

After the awards ceremony, Robert Speca of Broomall, Penn. toppled a line of 20,000 dominoes to set a "West of the Mississippi" record in the feat.

It required Speca some 15 hours to set up the dominoes, including the time to reset approximately 3,000 dominoes which included a series of ramps, the outline of the words "Texas-Style World Domino Tournament," "Carol," a map of Texas, and ended with a bang as the last domino toppled taking with it a pin to pop a strategically placed balloon.

Age of ripoff

With Tommy Hart

This truly has to be the age of the ripoff, when it is fashionable to 'do it to others before they do it to you.'

You'd jolly well better ask about the price of a service call in advance, otherwise you're sometimes at the mercy of people who have nervous pencils. Even then, hidden equipment costs will cause the final bill to pyramid.

Those smoothies who merely let you benefit from their advice can think of a half dozen reasons for exacting fees that never occurred to you. Some proponents of the big swindle keep their thumb on the scale.

A prime example of the shuffle is the way the city of New Orleans is preparing to gull the yeomanry during the September brauhaha between Leon Spinks, the champion of South Philadelphia and maybe Trenton, and Muhammad Ali, whose non-stop record for talking will surely salvage a place for him in the Guinness Book of Records.

The New Orleans Tourist and Convention Commission cluck-clucks that it doesn't approve but the hotels and the motels are going up as much as 200 per cent on their rooms during the week of the fight.

Furthermore, they plan to require customers to rent the space for a minimum of four nights.

One inkeeper who ordinarily gets $28 a night for his stalls and goes to $45 during Madri Gras will tap his customers' pocketbooks for $100 a night during holdup week.

You think the pigeons are blinking over the banditry? Think again. They're expecting 80,000 to crowd into the Superbowl for the Spinks-Ali waltz and some of those will have to take rooms as far away as Baton Rouge.

Bible Fund appeal made

The Howard County Ministerial Alliance and The Herald will once again cooperate in appealing for donations to support courses in the Holy Bible at three Howard County high schools — those in Big Spring, Coahoma and Forsan.

Thanks to the generosity of people, such programs have been taught here for years. In tax-supported institutions, the law forbids money being appropriated for such a course, so the courses are wholly dependent upon donations.

Objective is $10,000 and checks can be forwarded either to Dr. Kenneth Patrick, who coordinates the campaign for the ministerial alliance, or The Bible Fund, c-o The Herald, Box 1431, Big Spring 79720.

Time will shortly become critical, since school starts in less than a month.

Patrick said personal appeals to those who supported the drive last year are going into the mails, along with self-addressed envelopes.

Patrick said he was supremely confident that the public would get behind the campaign and insure the continuance of the courses.

Barbara Harris is named JP

LAMESA — Barbara Harris has been sworn in as the new Dawson County justice of peace.

She succeeds Richard Nelson, who was suspended without pay pending the outcome of four indictments returned against him by the grand jury.

Mrs. Harris, 37, is married to David Harris, a farmer.

Theron Lee new campus director

LAMESA — Theron Lee of Big Spring has been named director of the Lamesa Campus of Howard College.

Lee said that almost every type of course offered on the main campus at Big Spring would be offered here. Lee has been at Howard College seven years.

The Lamesa Industrial Foundation has pledged full support of the Lamesa HC campus and has undertaken a drive to raise a $10,000 annual sustaining fund to match funds to provide a director and a secretary for the campus.

OFF THE OVERPASS — This car, carrying George Accadian and his wife, Jeanie, of Odessa, apparently left IS-20 onto the Salem road in a rather unorthodox manner. Accadian was treated and released at Malone-Hogan emergency room, while Mrs. Accadian was admitted to the hospital and is listed in fair condition. The Accadian vehicle had apparently pulled in to the left lane to pass and Accadian lost control of the vehicle, which went into the median, knocked down a fence, and rolled to the bottom of the overpass.

Action/reaction: Two bands due

Q. I've heard two military bands will perform here later this year. Anything to it?

A. You're right. They'll be in Big Spring within a week of each other. The USAF Band out of Fort McPherson, Ga., will offer a 90-minute performance the night of Monday, Sept. 25, in the municipal auditorium. The USAF Academy band will pop in Friday, Sept. 29, for a performance at the same place. No charge for either one. Thank you Cultural Affairs Committee of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce, particularly Mel Prather, for the double treat.

Calendar: Reading Club

WEDNESDAY

The members of the Howard County Library Summer Reading Club will tour the Pottin House from 10:30 a.m. until 11:30 a.m. Parents are welcome to come along.

Offbeat: $499,424 water bill

ALOHA, Ore. (AP) — William Buskirk knew water rates might be going up, but he was surprised when he got his bill. The bill for two months' service said he had used 99 million gallons of water and came to $499,424.

Wolf Creek Highway Water District officials attributed the error to a computer and billed Buskirk his usual $11.

Tops on TV: Movie

The 8 o'clock movie on ABC is given four stars, and few such films sold to TV rate that highly. It's "The Friend of Eddie Coyle" about a small-time mobster who alternates between aiding his criminal friends and informing on them to the police. It stars Robert Mitchum and Peter Boyle. Sports fans might like to look at the 12:30 p.m., baseball game between the Chicago White Sox and Texas Rangers, over Channel 2. Lovers of the Nova program can tune in on PBS at 9 o'clock when "Bamiki Bandula: Children of the Forest" starts. It's about a tribe of pygmies untouched by civilization for thousands of years.

Outside: Not so warm

Not quite so warm today and Monday, high around 90 and low tonight about 70. Scattered showers are likely in parts of West Texas but Big Spring and environs should remain dry at least until August arrives. With the junior rodeo over, we may have to wait until the Howard County Fair before it rains again.

Clayton confident of vote

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Speaker Bill Clayton says he is confident the House will cast the necessary 100 votes Monday for a property tax relief package that also would ban a state income tax.

But he raised doubts that representatives will pass Rep. Wayne Peveto's property tax uniformity bill when they return to work Monday.

The calendar will include both Peveto's bill (HB37) and, ahead of it, the tax relief proposal (HJR1) that won preliminary approval Friday, 99-42.

A roll call showed Clayton's forces had succeeded in mustering the 100 votes needed to send the package to the Senate, which already has approved its own version of a tax relief proposal.

But a name-by-name verification dropped the "ayes" to 99 when Rep. Betty Denton, D-Waco, could not be found. Mrs. Denton refused to answer when asked later where she was.

To place a package of tax relief constitutional amendments on the Nov. 7 general election ballot, the House and Senate must agree on a single measure and approve it by a two-thirds vote in each chamber.

A joint conference committee ultimately will write a compromise proposal for an up-or-down vote by the two houses.

Key provisions of the House joint resolution would:

- Require the Legislature to exempt up to $10,000 of a home's value from school taxes, with another $10,000 exemption for the elderly and disabled. Lawmakers would have to vote money to replace at least a part of the taxes school districts would lose because of the exemption.
- Mandate lawmakers to pass legislation taxing agricultural land on its income-producing ability, not its market value. Corporate farms and forests could receive the exemption, but timber land still would be taxed at least at its 1978 level.
- Prohibit a state personal or corporation income tax.
- Allow local referenda to enable voters to repeal property tax increases.
- Limit state spending increases to the percentage increase in Texans' personal income. The ceiling would not apply, however, to appropriations designed to replace cuts in local school taxes.
- Require an absolute majority of the Legislature, not just those voting, to pass any tax increase or repeal exemptions.
- Exempt one car per family from property taxes.

The Senate's version, approved Thursday, includes a $5,000 homestead exemption, plus $10,000 more for the elderly and a property tax freeze for those over 65.

It lacks the House provisions enabling voters to roll back property tax increases and requiring a majority of the Legislature to pass tax bills. Clayton said this weakens it in Gov. Dolph Briscoe's eyes.

But the House version was found defective by a number of liberals, conservatives and representatives who actively worked in Attorney General John Hill's campaign against Briscoe for governor.

Rep. Luther Jones, D-El Paso, an early supporter of Hill, called the measure "a sop to a defeated governor. Governor Briscoe has had six years to do something about rising spending and taxes. The people have rejected his leadership."

A liberal opponent of the ban on a corporate income tax, Rep. Ron Waters, D-Houston, said, "We talk about tax relief for business in the billions, but for citizens in pennies, in peanuts."

Clayton said after the House vote Friday that Briscoe told him "he was pleased with the action of the House."

He said there should be no problem getting 100 votes because three or four supporters of the measure were absent Friday but planned to be on hand Monday.

While still voicing optimism the special session can end this week, Clayton also said that, realistically, he "wouldn't be surprised" if it lasted until Aug. 8, the mandatory adjournment date.

It might take the pressure of adjournment to swing the necessary votes in the House and Senate for final approval of the tax relief constitutional amendments, he acknowledged.

He said he personally was willing to accept the Senate package, "with changes."

He would not say what changes because "I don't want the Senate leadership to get bent out of shape by reading something in the press."

To give meaning to any constitutional amendments that might be submitted, the Legislature might want to approve bills implementing them, such as property tax exemptions and productivity values for rural land.

Briscoe "wants implementing legislation, I'm sure," Clayton said, but "I'm not sure we have the time."

He predicted Peveto, D-Orange, will have difficulty passing his bill to consolidate property tax appraisals at the county level, with a state agency setting appraisal standards.

"I hear a lot of talk back and forth, conservatives and liberals both. It's going to be a hard bill to pass. I keep hearing more and more talk, people wondering what's in it and scared of it," he said of the 149-page measure.

WORK UNDER WAY TO TRANSFORM COKER'S RESTAURANT INTO K-BOB'S
 New operators are shooting for Sept. 15 opening day

K-Bob Steak House being readied Plans for September opening

A link in a fast-growing restaurant chain, K-Bob, will open about Sept. 15 at Fourth and Benton Streets in the building formerly housing Coker's restaurant.

Partners in the venture are Paul Petterson and Don Cox, both of Hobbs, N.M. Petterson, former Big Spring resident, is now in the mortuary business while Cox is an attorney.

Manager of the firm will be Randy Cox, who at one time was employed by Wyatt's Cafeteria in Lubbock.

Associated in an advisory capacity with K-Bob's will be Leonard and Lonnie Coker, who have been in the restaurant trade half a hundred years.

In announcing the opening of the business, Petterson said the owners hoped to blend K-Bob policy with the Cokers' heritage.

The Cokers started in the restaurant business with a small hamburger diner in Chillicothe, Tex. They later opened the Twins' Cafe in Quanah.

When they heard that Big Spring was a prime spot for a quality restaurant, they liked what they saw upon a visit here and in 1934 opened Twins' Cafe in the Harold Homan Building on West Third Street between Gregg and Scurry.

They also operated the old

LNONNIE AND LEONARD COKER
 In restaurant business 50 years

Post Office Cafe during the latter part of WW II and in 1948 opened the Douglass Coffee Shop. Six years later, they took up operation of the Permian Coffee Shop. They built their own Twins Cafe at Fourth and Benton in 1957, operating it until they decided to sell their interest several years ago.

The new owners, Bob Spears and Richard Townsend, talked the Cokers into staying in an advisory capacity and helping out occasionally.

Two of the Cokers' most faithful employees down through the years were Ruby Anderson, a waitress, and Jack Wilson, dish washer. Each served the firm 21 years.

The Cokers were two of nine children born to Mr. and Mrs. M.D. Coker of Vernon. Five of the children are still alive and four reside in Big Spring. In addition to the twins, Mrs. E.A. Turner and Pam Hamill reside in Big Spring. Another sister, Mrs.

Nell Baxter, lives in Vernon. Petterson is Lonnie's son-in-law. His wife's name is Gloria. They have two children, Cort, age 4, and Dane, 2.

The first K-Bob was opened in Hereford in 1970. Since that time, 50 such establishments have been opened in the Southwest and 30 more are being built.

The building here will undergo a marked change in that it will boast an open-faced grill with a kitchen in the middle. The establishment will have a large salad bar under a covered wagon. The firm will specialize in quality steaks in the medium priced range. The restaurant will operate Mondays through Saturdays from 11 a. m. to 10 p. m., remaining closed on Sundays.

PAUL PETTERSON

Tax problems are ticklish

LUBBOCK — Members of the Lubbock Property Owners Association, angered over the decision of the city council to limit the amount of property tax reductions, are threatening to take a harder line.

Spokesman for the association said at a meeting here Friday night that they would use any legal means possible to achieve their goals.

The legal means discussed include the recall of council members and a suit to freeze the city tax roll to prevent the city from collecting taxes.

This was the third meeting held by the property owners and attracted only about 500 people but those who did show up were vocal.

Association director Bob Greene said the councilmen had not taken the association seriously.

 If the murder of former Italian prime minister Aldo Moro earlier this year served no other purpose, it riveted attention not only on the Red Brigade, which carried out the execution, but other extremist groups operating around the world.
 All too often, terrorists anywhere—whether they be Palestinians or soldiers in the IRA—are viewed in isolation, as if they were all separate, distinct and independent entities.
 The fact is that, without direct aid from the outside, usually from the Communist world but sometimes—in the case of the IRA, from the United States—such terrorism would hardly be as effective and professional as it has been.
 Without aid from a number of other states where extremism is preached, like Libya and Algeria, it would have been most difficult to conduct some of the international terrorist acts (like the Munich massacre of Israeli athletes) which have startled and saddened the world.

Howard Cosell is an articulate man but he's not quite as erudite as ABC would have you believe.
 He has a little voice whispering to him in his ear, often providing questions he asks his microphone guest. He has a prodigious memory but a lot of those facts he rolls off his tongue during lapses in play appear before him on a prompter or are fed to him through that same earplug.
 If he is invariably insufferable, he is never dull and maybe the average TV fan needs him more than he realizes.

Eddie Gill, the former Ackerly football player and coach, is now employed at a boys' correctional institute in Brownwood. He's keeping his hand in sports by officiating football and basketball. He's also the president of the Brownwood sports officials group.

Boxer Joe Louis, who made money as if he had his own private mint and then lost it in a most unspectacular way (through ill-advised investments and to hangers-on who professed to adore), was moved to remark recently: "I don't like money, actually, but it quiets my nerves."

Bishop Augustinos of Florida reasons Jehovah is upset with mankind in general but the people of Salonika in particular.
 After recent earthquakes rearranged the area's scenery, the bishop, referring to the 300,000 abortions carried out in Greece each year, was moved to remark: "Our sins have provoked the anger of God. We must not be surprised. We should, in fact, wonder why the Lord does not shake up the entire world. If we don't repent, greater evils await us."
 Make of that what you will.

There has to be a happy medium between the reverence we reserve for lawyers, who exact their fees from every endeavor outside of breathing, and the manner in which they're treated in Burma.

In that country, just about everybody but a lawyer can become a judge. Furthermore, the Burmese barrister is in a precarious position. He can be convicted for defending the wrong party.

A three-man panel recently sentenced a Bur-nese lawyer to six months in jail after the client he was representing drew a three-months' term in prison.

The Quarry brothers, Jerry and Mike, are through with the ring. For years, Jerry was a punching bag for heavyweights. He staged a comeback of sorts several months ago and scored a lucky knockout of a palooka named Lorenzo Fanon.

More recently, brother Mike wound up on dream street in a brawl with a journeyman fighter named Tommy Evans. As it turned out, Evans, green as grass but powerful, did the younger Quarry a favor. Mike retreated to lick his wounds and said he was hanging up his gloves.

At least Jerry departed with a winning streak of one. CBS didn't pick up his option to help with the fight telecasts so he decided to devote full time to a job with Anthony Walters and Company, management consultants to the oil and gas industry.

Missionaries who go to Japan, if indeed there are such people anymore, find they have a monumental task in delivering Holy Script upon the masses.
 Seventeen of every 20 people in Japan subscribe to no kind of formal religion. In a poll conducted there recently, the majority said they didn't even believe in a supreme being.

 Prosperity may be the villain. Invariably in situations where times are good, and the Japanese are prospering as never before, the tendency is to give more credit to your own initiative and determination and less to the power theologians are prone to praise.
 When in low estate, man is more prone to concede the presence of God in the scheme of things.

There's a lady in Spain named Ana de Las Angeles who is bringing some of the jaded bullfight aficionados back to the arena.
 She's only 21, brown-haired and brown-eyed. She's fighting far more calves than adult animals and she likely has a long way to go before she achieves her goals in Spain, the cradle of bullfighting.

Her real name is Honey Haskin and no way you pronounce that can you give it a Spanish ring. Four years ago, she graduated from Santa Monica High School in California. She's not the only woman bullfighter in Spain, there are nine others, but she's the only American waving a cape at the bulls.

She came by her professional name by twisting her real middle handle, Anne, then adding the name of her home town, Los Angeles.

She became addicted to bullfighting because her parents liked the sport. They often drove to Tijuana to see the fights there.
 Ana fought a few times in Mexico but faults the fans because, she says, they just won't take women fighters seriously.

At the turn of the century, women bullfights were so popular in Spain that one man, Agustin Rodriguez, took to dressing like a woman to cash in on the popularity. In 1908, the government banned women from the ring because they "constituted an improper spectacle and were contrary to culture and all delicate feeling."

An ancient woman who saw Ana dispatch a bull in Poland, after experiencing some difficulty, was heard to exclaim "That a nice stew she can have tonight."

'Everybody' watching events in San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — San Antonio's policemen, fire fighters, street sweepers and probably even the City Hall secretaries were watching to see if the garbage men could win their strike over wages.

And City Manager Tom Huebner says that's exactly what he crushed the illegal strike last week by firing more than 170 garbage men, dog catchers and airport maintenance workers who had walked off their jobs.

"I knew they were all watching this one," said Huebner. "I think that if the garbage men had gone ahead and succeeded in forcing a major concession, we would have then had a whole series of strikes by anybody and everybody who thought they had a lever on the city."

"But everybody ought to take notice. They threatened the hell out of us and it didn't work."

More than half of the city's 313 garbage men went on strike July 22 after the city council approved a 6 percent wage increase for all city employees. The San Antonio Refuse Collectors Association had wanted 9.3 percent for its members.

Within hours, Huebner fired 106 trash collectors. He fired about 35 others who refused to work last Monday and later dismissed 37 striking SARCA dog catchers and airport maintenance workers.

And when sporadic violence erupted Tuesday, Huebner called in a special 60-man, 60-car police task force — complete with a helicopter — and obtained a 10-day temporary restraining order against the strikers.

The trash trucks, some of them manned by about 85 new garbage men hired Monday and all shadowed by police squad cars, rolled peacefully the remainder of the week. City officials say it will be another two or three weeks before trash collection returns to normal.

"Nothing in this thing was a matter of luck. We were very, very concerned on Tuesday. It was escalating fast," said Huebner. "I called a meeting and I told them, 'By God, I want a firm stand.' They went to work and by Wednesday, they had that thing shut down tight. There was no doubt in anybody's mind that we meant business."

"It was an example of a municipal government getting its act together."

The SARCA garbage men had staged a three-day walkout in May over wages and working conditions. A day later, the SARCA dog catchers walked off their job and sat under a nearby tree. The strikes ended when the City Council agreed to ease working conditions for both groups and give the trash collectors priority on the city budget.

Meanwhile, Huebner circulated a memo to all 5,000 city employees, informing them that work stoppages by city employees are illegal under state law and that anyone engaging in them automatically loses his job and all rights associated with it.

Park rangers talked about a June "sick-out" because they wanted to be reclassified to a higher pay level. And most of the city's 90 lifeguards staged a holiday "sick-out" on July 4, closing all but one of the public pools.

Saying "We are clearly out of patience," Huebner fired two lifeguards and suspended six.

"We showed general compassion in May. We could have fired the garbage men then," said Huebner. "Our reward was that the animal control workers went out and sat under a damn tree. Then the lifeguards went out on the Fourth of July."

"We tried the soft approach in May and it backfired on us," he added. "I hope they understand now that we mean business."

Huebner established a review board to hear the appeals of the predominantly Mexican-American ex-workers. Six were reinstated Wednesday after the board determined they refused to work because of threats from strikers.

The board will review all of the cases, but city officials say privately they expect fewer than half of the fired workers to be reinstated. There are now 64 job openings in the sanitation department. Officials said jobs would be found for anyone who deserved reinstatement.

Comes home to film domino tournament TV producer knows the territory

By CAROL HART

Gary James Tidwell, producer of the syndicated program, "The Eyes of Texas," shown in this area over KMID-TV, Channel 2, on Saturday evenings at 6:30 p.m., was in Big Spring this weekend filming segments of the domino tournament for airing later in the season.

Tidwell was born in this city and attended Big Spring schools. He is married to the former Helen (Punkie) Boyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doug Boyd, 1303 Runnels. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Tidwell, 1510 Main.

Tidwell's name appears as Gary James on credits for the show. He explained that the station requested that he call himself Gary James during a three-month probation period during his first year with the station in 1961. He has used the name professionally ever since.

"The Eyes of Texas" is a syndicated program produced under the auspices of KPRC-TV in Houston, where Tidwell and his family reside. The crew consists of Tidwell and Bill Springer, contributing editor, Ray Miller, vice president of the KPRC, is moderator of the show and one of its creators.

Tidwell is usually on the road Monday and Tuesday gathering information for the show. Springer is on the road Thursday and Fridays.

The program started in 1969 for the Houston audience.

"I was a documentary photographer at the time," Tidwell said. The show was created to show a bit of history and the people and places making up Texas.

"It was a summer replacement," Tidwell said of the beginnings of the show. "(The station) got complaints when we took it off the air."

It was decided that the show would continue. Those involved with it began looking for material away from the Houston area. Through research for the show, the station received requests about the program, and it became better known. Other TV stations expressed interest in airing the program.

This show is now aired weekly in San Antonio, Austin, Midland, Corpus Christi, Victoria and Houston," Tidwell said.

"It is one of the few really successful locally produced news oriented shows," he added.

"A lot of stations are starting programs like this. We like to think we were the first."

Tidwell got his beginnings in broadcasting at KBST in Big Spring, as a radio announcer. It wasn't until his senior year at the University of Texas, Austin, that he decided that he wanted to enter the news broadcasting field as a full-time profession.

He has worked in Austin for several news stations, including radio station KVET as a news man, and was radio news director at a station in Beaumont.

In 1961, he joined the Houston KPRC station as a radio newscaster. He said his break into television came when he covered Hurricane Carla in his third month at the station, during his probation.

Tidwell won several awards as a result of his coverage of the hurricane. As a result, "I was offered the TV job, and I jumped at it."

Tidwell paid his dues in television, also. In 1966, he covered the Candice Mossler murder trial where "a rich man was killed," he explained. "That was the turning point. I started being able to do what I wanted to do."

This led to documentaries.

Tidwell and the KPRC station were the recipients of the Peabody award, the highest awards a journalist can receive, as the result of a documentary entitled "The Right Man," about Dr. Robert Hayes, a black man who put himself through college by serving as a janitor of the college, and today is president of the college, Wiley, in Marshall. Tidwell is "happy to finally have reached West Texas," through the show, he said. Since the show is being aired through KMID-TV, "we are getting feedback" on programs. "We are trying to devote time to this part of the state."

Tidwell flew into the area Tuesday in preparation for the domino tourney. He filmed scenes at the Potten House for further airing. "Both will be on the air during the 1978-79 season." He earlier filmed a segment on the Record Shop and its owner, Oscar Glickman.

Fans who relay story ideas are an important part of the "Eyes of Texas" production, Tidwell said. Many of the stories originate as ideas from fans across the state.

Outline of Carter's national health insurance principles

WASHINGTON (AP) — At a glance, here are the 10 principles announced Saturday by President Carter as the basis for his national health insurance plan.

1. "The plan should assure that all Americans have comprehensive health care coverage, including protection against catastrophic medical expenses."
2. Quality health care should be available to all.
3. Americans should have "freedom of choice in the selection of physicians, hospitals and health delivery systems."
4. Unnecessary health care spending must be reduced with aggressive cost containment and strengthening of "competitive forces in the health care sector."
5. Added public and private expenditures should be "substantially offset by savings from greater efficiency."
6. There is to be no additional federal spending until fiscal 1983, and "the plan should be phased in gradually" with consideration given to economic and administrative experience as the plan moves from phase to phase. "The experience of other government programs, in which expenditure far exceeded initial projections, must not be repeated."
7. The plan would be financed through government funding and contributions from employers and employees with consideration to the "ability of many consumers to share a moderate portion of the cost of their care."
8. "A significant role" would be reserved for the private insurance industry under government regulation.
9. The plan should promote "ambulatory and preventive services, attracting personnel to underserved rural and urban areas and encouraging the use of pre-paid health plans."
10. "The plan should assure consumer representation throughout its operation."

Administration explores choices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Faced with a rapidly worsening inflation rate, the Carter administration is exploring a wide range of alternatives to put new clout into its anti-inflation program, administration officials say.

While the administration has not yet focused on any single new measure, those receiving careful consideration include:

- Tax incentive programs to reward industries whose wage and price increases are kept within a certain range.
- Labor-management councils in which key industries could draw up voluntary wage and price guidelines aimed at gradually reducing the growth of wages and prices.
- Further curbing of federal spending through such measures as a temporary hiring freeze by the federal government.

Although inflation has worsened, wage and price controls still are out in nearly everybody's speculation, and the administration continues to disavow them in the strongest possible terms.

Of the measures that are being discussed, it is understood that none has gone to the president's desk yet because no firm conclusions have been reached about any of them, even at lower levels of the administration.

But the fact that alternatives are being considered indicates an admission that the administration's current anti-inflation program, which stresses voluntary wage and price restraint by business and labor, is falling short of expectations.

Both wages and prices continue to rise at a pace exceeding administration goals, and officials concede there is little prospect of winning voluntary cooperation the way things are going.

Unions aren't listening and neither are businesses, officials say. G. William Miller, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, complained Friday that while some businesses initially said they would cooperate, most are now backing off.

None of the several union contracts settled since the program was initiated earlier this year, with the possible exception of the yet-unratified postal workers agreement, has heeded the administration's plea to keep wage increases below the levels of the past two years.

The problem with the administration program in the opinion of some officials is that no one thinks it will work and business and labor leaders don't want to commit themselves in advance to behavior they could not follow if inflation continues out of control.

Friday's report showing consumer prices increased 0.9 percent for the third consecutive month in June was a major blow, officials conceded, because June was the month when things were supposed to begin getting better.

With price increases of 5.1 percent during the first six months of the year — a 10.4 percent rate for the first six months of the year — an annual rate of 10.4 percent — one official conceded it is unlikely the administration can keep inflation this year at the 7.2 percent target it only recently set.

FLOATING SKY SCULPTURE — Helium-filled polyethylene tubes which are tethered to the ground on the Mall in Washington compose part of the floating sky sculptures show that is going on in the nation's capitol this weekend. The sculpture shown in this picture is airborne between 100 and 200 feet in the air. The show along with a unique laser light sculpture is being sponsored by the Smithsonian Institute and the National Park Service.

Clements wants debate

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Republican gubernatorial candidate Bill Clements wants to debate Democratic nominee John Hill, and several non-partisan groups are anxious to set up such a debate, Clements' deputy campaign manager said Saturday.

David Dean wrote Hill's campaign manager, John Rogers, reminding him that Clements had first challenged Hill to a debate July 14.

Dean said neither Clements' business office nor his campaign headquarters has received a response.

"I am sure you will agree," Dean wrote, "that such a meeting will permit the voters to fully understand the broad philosophical differences between the two candidates."

"Several non-partisan organizations have already contacted our campaign office, anxious to set up a debate between the two gubernatorial candidates," Dean added.

He said he would work with Rogers "in any way possible to schedule a public debate at a mutually agreeable time, following a format satisfactory to both gentlemen."

Remarkabilities

Today, my favorite part of the column has been expanded to include the entire surface of this corner. "Remarkabilities" may not be a real word, but it seems to do the job. (That's for all you purists out there). Without further ado.

REMARKABILITIES
"I dunno, my eyes were closed." —TOM BOGGS, Atlanta pitcher, when asked what kind of a pitch he had hit for a homerun.

"I felt like a maple tree on the last day of March — all tapped out." —CARLTON FISK, Red Sox catcher, after a game in which he hit a three-run homer, leaped three rows into the box seats to catch a foul ball, and slid head first into a wall to catch another foul.

"We aren't playing to see who is the smartest." —ABE LEMONS, when quizzed on the scholastic requirements of his cagers.

"I think I have an obligation to do it the way I think is right. If you start bending like a willow tree, like everyone else has done around here, I'll be like everyone else around here. Gone." —MONTE CLARK, Detroit Lions new general manager-coach concerning his pre-training camp em-broilment with Big Spring's Charlie West. (Note: West left camp and the Lions, supposedly for good).

"I've worked harder than the average guy because I've had to. I take twice as many ground balls as anybody before a game. I go out and I work and I work and I work, and it amazes me how kids who are trying to make the team come up and ask me what I'm doing working out there like that. It amazes me they can't figure it out."

—PETE ROSE, on how he overcame his no-run, no-throw, no-hit rep as a rookie.

REMARKABILITIES
It's not what you say... it's how you say it!

"It's almost like playing a double-header. I told our players not to bother to shower after SMU." —LOU HOLTZ, Arkansas football coach last year after playing SMU and Texas Tech within a span of five days.

"Since the schedule is extremely strong, you can't take anything for granted. Yet, personally, I feel this can be a better team than last year. That doesn't always mean you'll have a better record. But we're going to be very competitive." —ROGER STAUBACH, predicting a good year for the Cowboys.

"You know what's in this trash bag? I'll tell you. Roger Staubach is in the bag and we're going to keep him there all year." —GEORGE ALLEN, Rams' coach, after dragging around a trash bag tied at the top during preseason camp.

"That would cause me to miss 350 football games on T.V." —TONY CURTIS, actor, on stopping smoking because the doctors said it would shorten his life by eight years.

"I thought I was Duran's friend, until recently. When I saw him in Las Vegas I put out my hand, like this, and he does not shake. He says, 'I am going to kill you.' I speak nothing. I am going to stay from the ring." —ALEXIS ARGUELLO, on possible bout between him and fighter Robertson Duran.

"(Then, it was suggested to Arguello that Duran could tire himself out in a gym trying to get down to 135 pounds. To which Arguello responded: "That's his problem. He's the one who is going to kill me.")"

"Today's batter gets mad at the first pitch that comes near him. He's ready to fight. When I was playing, they threw at you right away to see what kind of man you were." —LOU BOURDREAU.

"I really don't care to run after money. I don't have to be a millionaire." —RON GUIDRY, Yankee pitcher, who just made a paltry $38,500 this year. (He has signed a $200,000 annual pact for the next three years, however.)

"And in the world of baseball: The Los Angeles Dodgers lead the San Francisco Giants 3-3 after 11 innings. (Pause) I've got two words for this report... impossible." —JIM BAUM, freckling this very minute.

Rose has another

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Reds third baseman Pete Rose singled three times against Philadelphia on Saturday to extend his consecutive game hitting streak to 42, a mark exceeded by only two players in major league baseball history.

Only Joe DiMaggio — with the all-time mark of 56 games in 1941 — has a longer streak since 1900.

Rose's performance left him tied with Bill Dahlen, who had a 42-game streak in 1894. Willie Keeler had a 44-game string with Baltimore in 1897.

Rose's performance Saturday left George Sisler's 41-game streak in 1922 in his wake.

Rose's hits in the first, second and fourth innings, marked the sixth time during the streak, which began June 14, that he has hit safely three times in one game.

Billy rebounds for '80

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill Martin will rejoin the New York Yankees as manager in 1980, according to a bombshell announcement that was made Saturday in the emotional setting of the club's annual Old Timers' Day.

With such Yankee legends as Joe DiMaggio and Mickey Mantle on hand, public address announcer Bob Sheppard first stunned the large crowd when he announced that Bob Lemon would remain as manager through 1979 and then become general manager.

The fans booted, but Sheppard turned those boos to cheers when he added that "the manager in 1980 and hopefully for many seasons after that will be No. 1... Billy Martin."

Martin trotted onto the field and received a prolonged standing ovation. In was a true Hollywood twist for the stormy career of baseball's Dead-End Kid. "I called George and apologized for what I said," Martin said at a news conference after the Old Timers' Day.

game. "I did say it. I don't know why I said it."

Martin tearfully announced his resignation as Yankee manager last Monday in Kansas City, the day after he blasted owner George Steinbrenner and outfielder Reggie Jackson, who has figured prominently in the "Soap Opera" relationship of Martin and Steinbrenner over past three years.

Sunday night, at O'Hare Airport in Chicago, Martin was waiting to board a plane for Kansas City when he told two reporters, "They (Jackson and Steinbrenner) deserve each other. One's a born liar and the other's convicted."

Steinbrenner's immediate reaction was, "It's hard to believe he said those things. My only question is, had he been drinking?"

In his heartfelt resignation announcement on Monday, Martin had denied making the statement.

At Saturday's news conference, Steinbrenner said: "I was convicted. It's part of life and I have to live with it." In 1974, Steinbrenner pleaded guilty to a $25,000 contribution to President Nixon's reelection campaign and of coercing employees to do the same.

As for Martin, Steinbrenner said, "He will attack both challenges, and we'll be with him. In 1980, hopefully, he will get clearance with us."

Since no questions were allowed at the news conference, one of the challenges Steinbrenner apparently referred to is Martin's health.

Martin reportedly has a spot on his liver.

The other could be his emotions, which have gotten him in trouble throughout his playing career, mostly as a Yankee, and as a manager with four different teams.

Steinbrenner said Martin's contract, which was good through 1979 at reportedly $80,000 to $90,000 a year despite his resignation, was being extended two years.

Eagles top 'Dolphins, 17-3

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Wally Henry's 72-yard punt return provided the clinching touchdown for Philadelphia in the Eagles' 17-3 victory over the Miami Dolphins Saturday in the opening National Football League exhibition game this season.

Henry, a second-year pro from UCLA, darted up the middle and then simply outran the Dolphins' defenders with less than 10 minutes remaining in the annual Hall of Fame game.

Prior to the nationally-televised contest, Weeb Ewbank, Lance Alworth, Ray Nitschke, Larry Wilson and Tuffy Leemans were inducted into the sport's shrine.

Philadelphia, trying to rebound from a 5-9 record in 1977, scored the go-ahead touchdown on a 19-yard pass from John Walton to Vince Papale, a former track star at St. Joseph's, Pa.

It was the first time the Dolphins, 10-4 in 1977, had failed to score a touchdown in 37 exhibition games dating back to 1971.

Miami used a quartet of quarterbacks with little success, opening with veteran regular Bob Griese. He threw a pair of interceptions, ending the two drives in which he appeared. He completed six of nine passes for 66 yards.

Miami Coach Don Shula also called on quarterbacks Don Strock, Guy Benjamin and Bill Kenney. Philadelphia used regular Ron Jaworski the entire first half and substituted Mike Cordova and Walton during the second half before more than 19,000 in Fawcett Stadium.

The two teams traded field goals in the first half. Nick Mick-Meyer booted an 18-yarder to give the Eagles a 3-0 lead midway through the first quarter. Miami veteran Garo Yepremian matched it with a 22-yarder late in the first half.

Linebacker Jerry Dandridge's pass interception set up the winning Philadelphia touchdown. Dandridge, a second year man out of Memphis State picked off Benjamin's pass at the Miami 33 and returned it 14 yards to set up Walton's clinching pass to Papale.

The victory gave the National Football Conference a 6-2 lead over the American Football Conference in the annual exhibition opener.

AFC Alworth named

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — The moment was too much for Lance Alworth.

The first American Football League player ever enshrined in the Pro Football Hall of Fame bit his lip, paused and told the audience at Saturday's induction ceremonies, "I feel an emotion inside of me I wish I could share with all of you."

"Today I feel very humble, very awed, very proud to be included in this group of athletes. It's an experience I'll never forget," said the former San Diego Chargers wide receiver who caught a touchdown in all 96 AFL games he played.

Alworth's fellow 1978 enshrinees were Weeb Ewbank, Ray Nitschke, Larry Wilson and Alphonse Emil "Tuffy" Leemans.

Alworth, seven times an all-AFL selection, broke down twice more in thanking his parents and his wife for their parts in his illustrious career.

Ewbank, the only man to coach champions in both the National Football League and the AFL, joined Hunt and Alworth as the only enshrinees with strong AFL backgrounds.

"It's the most thrilling honor I have ever had. This is the epitome of football," said the coach of the NFL champion Baltimore Colts in 1958-59, and the AFL-winning New York Jets in 1968.

San Diego contract, presented the gifted receiver. Colts Hall of Famer Art Donovan served as Ewbank's presenter.

Donovan told his old coach in front of a crowd ringing the steps of the shrine: "Weeb, from the bottom of our hearts we thank you 100 million times.

Saturday baseball

Rangers top White Sox

CHICAGO (AP) — Jorge Orta slugged a two-run homer and a pair of doubles and Lamar Johnson drove in three runs Saturday to lead Steve Stone and the Chicago White Sox to a 6-2 victory over the Texas Rangers.

Orta hit his 13th homer in the first inning after Thad Bosley singled and Johnson drove in a run in the second with a sacrifice fly after Bob Molinaro had doubled and taken third on an infield out.

The Sox knocked out Ferguson Jenkins, 9-7, with a three-run spurge in the fourth inning on a walk, a single by Claudell Washington, a two-run double by Johnson and a single by Bosley.

Stone, 9-7, had a four-hit shutout going into the eighth when Mike Hargrove singled and Al Oliver hit his 10th homer. Jim Willoughby finished up.

Reds still Rosy

CINCINNATI (AP) — Pete Rose extended his modern National League record hitting streak to 42 games with a first-inning single and Paul Moskau knocked a three-run homer and combined on a seven-hitter as the Cincinnati Reds beat the Philadelphia Phillies 6-2 in a nationally televised baseball game Saturday.

Rose, whose leadoff single came off Phillies starter Jim Lonborg, 7-9, had three singles to extend the streak. He tied Bill Dahlen, who hit in 42 straight in 1894, and trails only Willie Keeler, who hit in 44 consecutive games in 1897, and Joe DiMaggio, whose 56-game streak in 1941 is the major league record.

Moskau, 2-2, retired 13 consecutive batters between Bob Boone's single in the second and Mike Schmidt's single in the seventh. Doug Bair took over in the ninth to preserve the victory.

Lonborg, 8-8, was knocked out in the second inning after giving up five runs.

Bo Sox turn tables

BOSTON (AP) — Rookie Jim Wright fashioned his third shutout and the Boston Red Sox snapped a four-game losing string with a 1-0 victory over the Kansas City Royals Saturday, despite a four-hitter by Dennis Leonard.

The Red Sox, who had lost nine of 10 previous starts, boosted their American League East lead to 5½ games over Milwaukee, with the help of an unearned run off Leonard in the fourth.

With one out in the fourth, Leonard, 12-12, lost his control momentarily, walking Jim Rice and Carlton Fisk. Fred Lynn then hit what appeared to be an in-ning-ending double play grounder. But the sharp shot bounced off shortstop Fred Patek's glove and rolled into shallow left-center, permitting Rice to score.

Wright, 6-2, allowed only six hits, all singles, in his third complete game of the season. The 27-year old right-hander struck out three and didn't walk a batter.

Tigers slash Seattle

DETROIT (AP) — Rookie Kip Young pitched a four-hitter in his second major league start and Aurelio Rodriguez drove in three runs with a single and double as the Detroit Tigers beat the Seattle Mariners 9-1 Saturday.

The 24-year-old Young, 2-1, walked two and struck out two.

Rodriguez' two-run single off loser Rick Honeycutt, 4-6, capped a four-run first inning for the Tigers. Jason Thompson produced the first run of the frame with a single, extending his hitting streak to 14 games. Steve Kemp followed with a double, driving in Detroit's second run.

Cubs claw Giants

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Ed Putman's two-run single capped a three-run rally in the top of the eighth and carried the Chicago Cubs to a 5-3 victory over the San Francisco Giants Saturday.

The Giants had taken a 3-2 lead in the seventh on Jim Dwyer's single. Roger Metzger's sacrifice and John Tarnango's single before the Cubs broke through in the eighth off loser Gary Lavelle, 9-8.

Successive singles by Greg Gross, Bobby Murcer and Larry Biittner loaded the bases with no outs and Randy Moffitt replaced Lavelle. Manny Trillo fled to right and Gross scored when catcher Tarnango dropped Jack Clark's one-hop throw from right for an error. Putman followed with a single to left for the final two runs.

Yanks martini Twins

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees, celebrating the surprise return of Billy Martin, jumped on four Minnesota pitchers for 13 hits and defeated the Twins 7-3 Saturday.

Martin, who tearfully resigned as Yankee manager just five days ago, will return to the New York helm beginning with the 1980 season, it was announced prior to the game. Until then, Martin will be a consultant for the defending World Champions and will evaluate talent in the Yankee organization.

New York belted Minnesota starter Darrell Jackson, 3-4, for four runs in the first two innings, highlighted by Mickey Rivers' run-scoring double in the second. The Yanks added two more in the fourth off reliever Gary Serum and a single run off Jeff Holly in the sixth. Ken Clay, 3-2, worked the first six innings to get the victory.

Braves topple Expos

ATLANTA (AP) — Rookie Bob Horner smashed two home runs for the second straight night and Jeff Burroughs added a two-run shot to power the Atlanta Braves to a 9-6 comeback victory over the Montreal Expos Saturday night.

It was the sixth victory in seven games for Atlanta and the eighth setback in nine outings for the Expos, who wasted a 5-0 lead.

Horner started the Atlanta comeback with a two-run blast in the second inning following a walk to Burroughs. He came back with a solo homer, his ninth of the year, in the seventh inning. Horner also hit two homers Friday night in first game of a double-header against Montreal.

Angels rise above Orioles

BALTIMORE (AP) — Joe Rudi's single to left drove in Don Baylor with the winning run in the ninth inning as the California Angels defeated the Baltimore Orioles 2-1 Saturday night.

Rudi's single was set up when Baltimore failed to convert a double play, and Baylor stole second and went to third on a throwing error by catcher Elrod Hendricks.

It was only the fifth loss in the last 17 starts for the thirdplace Orioles, but it dropped them 7½ games behind Eastern Division leading Boston.

The California victory enabled the Angels to close the gap between themselves and Western Division pacesetter Kansas City to three games.

Blue Jays wing Brewers

TORONTO (AP) — Alan Ashby scored from third on shortstop Robin Yount's error and Rick Bosetti added a run-scoring single as the Toronto Blue Jays struck for a pair of seventh-inning runs to defeat the Milwaukee Brewers 4-3 Saturday.

Ashby started the rally with a one-out single and took third on Dave McKay's hit. Yount then booted pinch-hitter Sam Ewing's grounder and Bosetti followed with the third hit of the inning.

Dave Lemaczkyk, 4-12, survived an eighth-inning solo home run by Dave May, his second of the year, after his throwing error helped for the Brewers pull into a 2-2 tie in the seventh. He gave up nine hits before giving way to Victor Cruz with two out and one on in the eighth.

Bradley's out fishin'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mayor Tom Bradley says some efforts have been made to lure another National Football League team to the Los Angeles Coliseum after the Rams' move to Anaheim in 1980, but he would not disclose what teams have been approached.

"In all candor, I can tell you that some effort has been made, not directly but indirectly, to talk to potential clients for the Coliseum," Bradley said Friday after meeting with state and local leaders. "If the Rams want to make that move and the National Football League permits them to do so, so be it. We wish them luck."

"We just want what we think we deserve, and that is another professional team to take the place of the Rams."

Rams' President Carroll Rosenbloom announced Tuesday that a letter of intent had been signed to move the team to Anaheim in 1980. The Rams' lease with the Coliseum expires after the 1979 season.

Festival results

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. — Olympic champion Arnie Robinson fought off stiff winds and a strong field to win the long jump in the opening of the track and field competition at the National Sports Festival with a leap of 26 feet, 7 3/4 inches.

Among the other men's winners during the first day of the three-day track and field competition were: Emmitt Berry of Texas-El Paso in the hammer throw with a toss of 210-4; Stan Vinson of the Chicago Track Club in the 400 meter dash in 45.47 seconds; Bob Roggy of Southern Illinois University in the javelin at 288-1 1/2; John Gregorio, former University of Colorado runner who was a last minute replacement for the injured Ric Rojas, in the 10,000 meters in 30:07.78; and Neal Pike of the Sequoia Track Club in the 20-kilometer walk in 1 hour, 36 minutes, 57 seconds.

The women's winners in the nine-event, all-finals program were: Paula Griven of D.C. International in the high jump at 6-0; Ruth Caldwell of Citrus Junior College in the 800 in 2:05.42; and Karen Hawkins of Texas Southern University in the 100 in 11.45.

Louisville upsets

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Topseeded Brian Gottfried and No. 3-seeded Manuel Orantes were upset in the quarterfinals of the $175,000, ninth annual Louisville International Tennis Classic.

Gottfried lost to seventh-seeded Wojtek Fibak, 7-6, 6-1, while Orantes was ousted by fifth-seeded Harold Solomon, 2-6, 6-4, 6-4.

Dutch Open continues

HILVERSUM, Netherlands — Balasz Taroczy of Hungary and Corrado Barazzutti of Italy posted quarter-final victories in the Dutch Open Tennis Championships.

Taroczy defeated Uli Pinner of West Germany 6-1, 6-2 and Barazzutti beat Davis Carter of Australia 6-3, 3-6, 6-0.

Nicklaus' game heats up return to roots this week

OAKMONT, Pa. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, coming off one of his greatest triumphs, returns to the site of his first one this week in the PGA national championship.

It was at storied, historic Oakmont, smack dab in the middle of Palmer country, that the youthful, chubby, crewcut Nicklaus scored his first official tour triumph—a playoff victory over Arnold Palmer in the 1962 U.S. Open.

He reaffirmed his position as the premier player in the game—there had been some doubts, some whispers, some speculation—with an emotional victory in the British Open a couple of weeks ago at St. Andrews, Scotland.

It was his third British Open title and made him the only man to win all of the game's Big Four titles three times apiece. Only three other men have won them all in a lifetime, and none of them more than once apiece. The British Open title also snapped a streak of almost three years since Nicklaus' last Big Four victory and pushed his total in the major professional championships to 15.

This is the last one of the year. And Nicklaus, who scored his third American triumph of the season a week ago in Philadelphia, is again the man to beat, the favorite, the one towering figure.

Not only are his credentials all in order, he said in Scotland he was playing the best golf of his life—an awesome statement in view of his accomplishments.

He admitted he didn't want to play in Philadelphia—it was a Designated Tournament and he was required to compete—but he went ahead and won anyhow. Whether participation in that tournament will effect his PGA preparations is an unanswered question.

Arrayed against him in the 150-man field are the usual band of challengers headed by Tom Watson, who last year threatened to supplant Nicklaus in his long-time role as the game's best.

A three-time winner this season, Watson tied for second in the Masters and had the lead through 54 holes of the British Open. But Watson, winner of two of the Big Four titles last year, has been shut out in the majors this season.

There also are the elite corps that always must be considered major challengers in any important tournament: South African Gary Player, Lee Trevino, Hale Irwin, Hubert Green, Ray Floyd, Tom Weiskopf, Ben Crenshaw.

Then there are the younger men who are exerting their own influence on the game: U.S. Open champ Andy North, Canadian Open winner Bruce Lietzke, former American national champion Jerry Pate and, of course, hulking Andy Bean, a three-time winner this season.

The tournament also serves as a testing ground for a couple of slump-ridden players—defending title-holder Lanny Wadkins and Johnny Miller.

Also on hand are the legendary Palmer, who has made his presence felt in several recent events, and 66-year-old Sam Snead.

ABC-TV will provide national television coverage of the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday.

Twitty shoots five under to tie Hancock

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP) — Howard Twitty fired a 5-under-par 66 Saturday for a 54-hole total of 196 to tie Phil Hancock for the lead after three rounds of the $210,000 Sammy Davis Jr.-Greater Hartford Open.

Twitty shot birdies on the 14th, 16th and 17th holes at the 6,534-yard Wethersfield

Country Club to secure the tie. The 199 total is 14 strokes under par.

Hancock, the co-leader after the first round and sole leader at the halfway point, could do no better than match par 71 to remain at the 14-under-par level he reached Friday. Hancock had set a tournament record with two consecutive rounds of 7-under-par 64.

In third place was veteran Rod Funseth, whose 10-foot birdie on the 18th hole gave him a three-round total of 200.

Hancock had an opportunity on the 18th hole Saturday to maintain his lead, but his putt stayed on the high side and didn't drop.

Twitty attributed his success at the GHO to positive thinking. His best finish this year was third place at the Tucson Open in January. The 29-year-old Phoenix, Ariz., native had never been in the lead after three rounds in a PGA tourney.

Hancock, who held a 2-stroke lead at the beginning of the day, said the course was tougher Saturday because of the wind. "I got a little careless and didn't take my time on the short putts."

Hancock bogeyed the first—his first of the tourney—and then three-putted the 16th hole for another bogey.

"I'm disappointed," the 24-year-old Pensacola, Fla., resident said. "I had a chance to build a lead and I didn't. I'll be more careful tomorrow."

There were six players at 201, 12 under par. They were Mitch Adcock, Lee Elder, Mark Hayes, Stan Lee, first round co-leader Larry Nelson and Bobby Walzel.

Nelson and Hayes missed birdie puts on the 18th green, leaving them 2 strokes behind the leaders. Nelson carded a 70, while Hayes had a 71.

Adcock, in his first year on the PGA tour, shot a 65, as did Walzel.

Defending champion Bill Kratzert shot a 69 Saturday, giving him a 202 total, 3 strokes back. The low round for the day was shot by Vic Regalado, a 64, giving him a 54-hole total of 204.

Several of the top names on the tour aren't competing in the GHO. Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer, Gary Player and U.S. Open winner Andy North did not enter, and the tour's top money winner, Andy Bean, withdrew after one round because of illness.

Clipper thinks Rose can

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe DiMaggio, who holds the major leagues' all-time hitting streak of 56 games, hedged Saturday when asked whether he was pulling for Pete Rose to break his record.

Rose, the Cincinnati Reds third baseman who broke Tommy Holmes' modern National League record of 37 games on Tuesday night, singled in the first inning of Saturday's game against Philadelphia to extend his streak to 42 games.

DiMaggio, who established his streak in 1941, was in town Saturday for the New York Yankees' Old Timers Day.

Asked if he was pulling for Rose to break his record, the Yankee Clipper said, "Well ... he's got the bat and he's going to have to do it. But it's like saying, 'Does a fish like to be out of water?' I have nothing but admiration for this man. If he does it, I'll have more admiration for him. Anyway, I've enjoyed the streak for all these years. I know it'll be broken by somebody some day."

DiMaggio said his greatest thrill was breaking Wee Willie Keeler's 44-game hitting streak established 1897. He added, "There was still pressure, though, because I wanted to keep going. After the streak ended, I hit in the next 16 games because there was no pressure on me then."

He recalled that at first, baseball statisticians had told him he was shooting for George Sisler's 41-game streak. "But some writer found that Keeler had the record of 44," said DiMaggio. "So there was added pressure to keep going."

After breaking Keeler's mark, DiMaggio said, "It was free sailing, so to speak. Well, not exactly free sailing because I wanted the streak to continue. I felt terrible when it ended, like I lost my best friend. I just sat on the bench after the streak ended. Two great plays by Kenny Keltner (Cleveland third baseman) helped end it."

When Rose broke Holmes' record, DiMaggio said the sent the Cincinnati star a wire of congratulations and wished him luck. "I just wished he wouldn't find so many holes," DiMaggio said with a laugh.

While Rose has bunted safely to keep his streak alive, DiMaggio said he never did. "No, I never bunted, but that's not to take anything away from Rose."

Doubleheader to decide Big Spring's Teenage fate

Big Spring Hardware, city Teenage League champs, beat Odessa Friday night in district competition to remain in the running for the state contest Tuesday in Brownwood.

Charlie Vernon went the distance for the 11-6 win over the same team that beat Big Spring Thursday night. Leading hitters for the locals were Johnny Mize with a homer and a double, and Larry Smith and Denny Fowler with home runs.

Coch Coach Cotton Mize expressed his satisfaction with the win, pointing out that the team they beat was actually composed of the best of both Midland's and Odessa's ballplayers.

"If we can sweep a doubleheader against Sweetwater Saturday night, we are in the state competition," added Mize.

Parsons wins

LONG POND, Pa. (AP) — Benny Parsons, driving the same car that won this event last year, broke the qualifying speed record at the Pocono International Raceway Saturday and won the pole position for Sunday's $154,000 Grand National stock car race.

Parsons, from Ellerbe, N.C., drove his Oldsmobile to a record 149.236 miles per hour on the second of his two qualifying laps, slashing the previous mark of 147.865 m.p.h. set by Cale Yarborough in 1976.

A former taxi cab driver from Detroit, Parsons was the third of four drivers to better the old record Saturday. David Pearson's Mercury was the first to set a new standard, his first lap recorded at 148.938 m.p.h.

Just minutes later, defending Grand National champion Cale Yarborough of Timmonsville, S.C., pushed his Olds to a speed of 149.182 m.p.h.

Darrell Waltrip of Franklin, Tenn., who won the pole position here last year, drove a Chevrolet and had a speed of 148.750, earning him the fourth starting spot.

Cowboys approach season start

By DOUG TODD
Public Relations Director

The World Champion Dallas Cowboys have just one week to prepare for the opening of the 1978 pre-season as two-a-day workouts continue at the club's training site in Thousand Oaks, Calif., on the campus of California Lutheran College.

With 47 veterans in camp, only regular kicker Efen Herrera is among the missing. Herrera elected not to report along with other veterans July 20 and is facing a $500 a day fine when (or if) he does report.

Herrera, who is in the option year of his contract, is seeking to renegotiate. At present, rookie free agent Jay Sherrill from North Carolina State and Ove Johansson, a 30-year-old free agent who played two games with the Eagles last year, are competing for Herrera's vacant spot.

Coach Tom Landry repeated during his weekly press conference the top priorities he and his coaching staff have this camp. Landry said the retirement of former All-Pro Mel Renfro at cornerback and Ralph Neely at offensive tackle have left voids that must be adequately filled for the Cowboys to defend their Super Bowl championship.

Renfro was a valuable hand as an extra defensive back in prevent defenses. His departure leaves the club with veteran Mark Washington and starters Aaron Kyle and Benny Barnes, the latter two coming off post-Super Bowl surgery, as the only experienced cornerbacks.

Others who are competing at cornerback as training camp swings into its third week are rookie defensive backs Dennis Thurman, Kenny Randle and Ron Bush — all graduates of USC — and Devon Ford from Appalachian State.

Thurman, a converted All-America safety who is just-5-11, 170-pounds, appears to have the best shot at the moment although Randle, recently converted from wide receiver, has caught the coaches' attention with his 4.5 speed. Randle was a sprint champion in college track.

DALLAS COWBOYS

Neely was the Cowboys' starting left tackle in '77. For now, fourth-year man Pat Donovan has moved from right tackle to left to replace Neely, while veteran Rayfield Wright attempts to move back into his old starting spot at right tackle. Wright missed virtually all of last year with a knee injury.

Should Wright's comeback attempt short-circuit, second-year rookie Andy Frederick appears to be waiting in the wings. Another second-year man, Jim Eidson, who missed '77 with knee surgery, has had his comeback attempt slowed by a jammed neck.

Other young tackle possibilities are free agent Scott Martin from North Dakota and second-year man Jim Cooper, who worked at center through much of rookie camp.

Competition will be fierce at three crucial areas — running back, wide receiver and along the defensive line.

Seven veteran running backs, including '77 knee victim Charles Young, are battling for six or seven spots, depending upon how many ball carriers Landry keeps. The coach has indicated he may want seven runners this year because of the longer regular season schedule.

No. 2 draft pick Todd Christensen from Brigham Young will make Young's comeback attempt difficult, based on the former's performances in rookie scrimmages. Christensen also will battle with veterans Scott Laidlaw and Larry Brinson for a berth behind starting fullback

Robert Newhouse.

Tailbacks Tony Dorsett, a 1,000-yard rusher and the NFL's Offensive Rookie of the Year last year, Preston Pearson and Doug Dennison appear to be set, although No. 4 draft choice Alois Blackwell from Houston and free agent Barrett Paige from Central State are hopefuls.

At wide receiver, last year's corps of Drew Pearson at flanker, messengers Golden Richards and Butch Johnson at split end, along with flashy youngster Tony Hill behind them, returns intact. Free agent Gene Washington from Georgia, a seventh round choice by San Diego a year ago, has a 4.4 speed for 40 yards and has shown some flashes of brilliance.

Free agent flanker Votton Dixon of San Diego State also has looked good, and No. 8 draft pick Homer Butler of UCLA now is working at wide receiver after a brief look at cornerback.

A heartiest competition at the receiving spots probably will come as Hill applies pressure to start ahead of the competent pair of Richards and Johnson.

Two members of the wide receiver group likely will double as punt returners.

One minor problem cropped up among Cowboys receivers last Saturday when Pro Bowl tight end Billy Joe DuPree suffered a cracked left thumb. He did not miss any practice, however, and should be ready for pre-season play. Meanwhile, special teams Capt. Jay Saldi is a capable backup.

The battle for survival along the defensive line exists because starters Ed (Too Tall) Jones, Jethro Pugh, Randy White and Harvey Martin return left to right and are looking to better their league-leading 53 traps of 1977. In addition, backups Bill Gregory, Larry Cole and Dave Stalls return.

Add to that group rugged tackle Greg Schaum, disabled in '77 following knee surgery but looking good again this summer, along with No. 1 draft choice Larry Bethea from Michigan State, and one can see an impending logjam. Bethea has missed more than a week of practices with an ankle injury.

Another question needing answered in the coming weeks is the health status of starting linebacker Thomas Henderson, who contracted hepatitis in late May. Team doctors will check Henderson's liver a couple times weekly.

They cleared him last Friday for one workout daily and the fourth-year player has gained back much of the weight he lost during his illness. He presently looks capable of rounding into form — slowly. "Thomas' recovery will be a long, slow process but he's the starter at strongside linebacker and we're hoping he'll be ready," said Landry.

Following the annual inter-squad scrimmage in California Lutheran's football stadium Sat., July 29, the Cowboys will practice once daily until returning to Dallas Fri., Aug. 4, one day before the first pre-season game.

That contest is the Salesmanship Club Charity game vs. the San Francisco 49ers at Texas Stadium. Kickoff for the Aug. 5 contest is set for 8 p.m.

UH...Pete who!?

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Of the 2,000 athletes in town this week for the National Sports Festival, the one who most thoroughly dominates his chosen sport is a 36-year-old electrician from Reading, Pa.

Like Pete Rose, he has an impressive streak going of his own. With a 9-2 victory Thursday over Seattle, Ty Stofflet, a left-handed hurler in fast-pitch softball, boosted his record streak to 62-0.

That's 62 victories in 62 starts. It wasn't surprising that he won Thursday, but that he got scored against. Since he began pitching in organized fast-pitch leagues at the age of 21, the 5-foot-11, 170-pound Stofflet has recorded 48 no-hitters and 19 perfect games.

Heading into Festival competition this week, his season record read 26-0, with 16 shutouts. In 177 innings, he had struck out 349 batters and compiled an almost nonexistent earned run average — 0.440.

In other words, opponents of the Billard Barbells are averaging less than half a run a game when Stofflet takes the mound.

Stripe record busted

A new record for striped bass at Lake Spence was reported during the week when Ricky Gipson, Big Spring, brought in a 25-lb. 10-oz. specimen with rod and reel.

This easily surpassed the previous record of Midland who landed a 24-pounder with rod and reel on March 6. (The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologist netted a 27-lb. 12-oz. striped and a 30-lb. whopper while taking a census netting in April, but the Gipson fish is the largest by a sportsman.)

Reports from Lake Spence were exclusively strippers for the past week. Among those from the concession points were:

Paint Creek Marina — W.H. Cox, El Paso, 10-lb. 6-oz. striped; Allen and Lois Sherrard, Bronte, four strippers to 7½ lbs.; Larry Reese, Odessa, 6¼-lb. striped; Sharon Tyler, Odessa, 7-lb. 6-oz. striped; Charlie White, Lubbock, 10-lb. striped; Ricky Gipson, Big Spring, 25-lb. 10-oz. striped; Rex Rainey, Big Spring, two strippers to 7½ lbs.; Bruce Felts, Jimmy Felts and James Felts, Big Spring, nine strippers to 12 lbs.; Tom Wilmet, Midland, a 10-lb. striped.

Triangle Grocery — Tony Pharr, Abilene, a 12-lb. striped.

Wildcat Fish-A-Rama — Mr. and Mrs. Harry London, Winters, four strippers to 4 lbs.; Bull Ellis, Snyder, two strippers to 11½ lbs.; Carl Wyrick and J.R. McMurray, Big Spring, six strippers to 11 lbs.

Rookie hurler has nervous night

Rangers jump early, top Sox 9-5

CHICAGO (AP) — Paul Mirabella confessed to a case of rookie jitters. But having a five-run lead before throwing a pitch can do wonders for a hurler's growling stomach.

"I feel great. That's what it's all about. If you're a professional ballplayer, this is the place to be," said Mirabella, who didn't expect to be with Texas until September.

Hey guys!! We'll host the Olympics

Now that the sportspeople who run Los Angeles have lost their enthusiasm for hosting the 1984 Olympic Games just because they fear a dollar deficit that would make the Red Sea look like a local stream, that doesn't mean the Games won't be welcome elsewhere in the United States.

better." So is Al Oliver, who banged out three doubles and a single, scored three runs, and drove in two. He raised his batting average eight points to .313 and is hitting .357 in his last 46 games.

Boston blanked; Royals look hotter

Rich Gale, the Kansas City Royals' hot rookie pitcher, looked even better than usual Friday night in Boston — which didn't surprise Red Sox Manager Don Zimmer one bit.

"I didn't think this slump could happen," said Carlton Fisk of the Red Sox. "It's tough to play a red-hot team like the Royals when you're as cold as we are."

Boston's American League East lead over Milwaukee remained at 4½ games nicked Mirabella for a run in the bottom of the inning and threatened, but did not score, in the second. The rookie faced only 16 batters in the next five innings, one over the minimum. But he tired in the eighth.

because the Brewers were beaten by Toronto 3-2 in 11 innings. Kansas City, meanwhile, opened a five-game AL West edge over California, which lost 5-4 to Baltimore.

While the Royals were winning for the 13th time in 14 games, Gale was picking up his fifth straight victory and sixth in his last seven decisions, raising his record to 12-3 and lowering his earned-run average to 2.62.

Blue Jays 3, Brewers 2 Milwaukee had a victory in the bag until Dave McKay of the game. "He was moving the ball around, changing speeds real well, going in and out," Johnson said of Mirabella. Mirabella struck out eight and said the fastball was his best pitch.

Toronto led off the bottom of the ninth inning with a homer. Then Paul Molitor, whose triple had led to the Brewers' go-ahead run in the sixth inning, gave the Blue Jays with the game, throwing away Rick Bosetti's 11th-inning grounder. John Mayberry drew a walk from Bill Castro to lead off the inning then pinch-runner Willie Upshaw was bunted to second before Molitor made his error.

California pounced on Jim Palmer for four runs in the fourth inning, three on Brian Downing's bases-loaded double. So the Orioles returned the favor by scoring four runs in the seventh.

Rose bunts aboard Friday; shoots for 84-year old mark

Pete Rose of the Cincinnati Reds will go after the 84-year-old record of Bill Dahlen today, despite what he calls his "luckless streak."

Rose hit in his 40th and 41st consecutive games Friday in Cincinnati's double-header against the Philadelphia Phillies, passing the streak that Ty Cobb had in 1911 and equalling George Sisler's 1922 string. Dahlen, playing with the pre-1900 Chicago Cubs, hit in 42 consecutive games in 1894.

"I said to myself, 'I'm hitting the ball good and they're catching it, so I'll try something different,'" Rose said.

"I really wanted to get a hit in the sixth inning," Rose said. "I could visualize not getting another at-bat in the game."

The nightcap of the doubleheader, which the Reds won 2-1, was a pitchers' duel between Reds' ace Tom Seaver and Phils' left-hander Steve Carlton. Carlton had held Rose hitless in 13 at-bats this season before his bunt single.

Seaver, 10-9, went 82-3 innings, giving up seven hits and a ninth-inning run before relief ace Doug Bair finished up. Carlton, 9-10, went the distance, yielding seven hits. Reds' catcher Johnny Bench homered in the sixth, his 13th of the season and 301st of his career, for the first run of the game, and Cincinnati added a run in the seventh on Dave Concepcion's bases-loaded single.

The Phils won the first game 12-2. Greg Luzinski homered twice, retaking the National League lead with 25, and drove in five runs, while Mike Schmidt drove in four runs with a homer and single.

Randy Lerch, 5-6, won the opener with a complete game, scattering nine hits, including a third-inning double by Rose. Fred Norman, 9-5, gave up seven runs in 32-3 innings for the loss.

Today, Rose and the Reds face Philadelphia's Jim Lonborg, 7-8, in a day game (2:45 p.m. EDT).

Before Rose broke the record Tuesday, the modern National League record of 37 games was held by Tommy Holmes. The string of 44 games in 1897 by Willie Keeler, a National League player, is not generally recognized by modern record keepers. If he keeps going, however, Rose could tie Keeler's string Sunday against Philadelphia's Larry Christenson.

In other NL games Friday, Montreal and Atlanta split a pair, Atlanta winning the opener 6-4 and Montreal taking the nightcap 4-1; San Francisco finished up a suspended game with Chicago, winning 9-8, then lost 1-0 in the regularly scheduled game. Houston nipped New York 4-3 in 10 innings; San Diego clobbered St. Louis 8-3, and Los Angeles downed Pittsburgh 7-3.

Tigers 4, Mariners 3 Dave Rozema pitched a five-hitter against Seattle and Lou Whitaker hit his first major league homer, a two-out, two-run shot in the bottom of the ninth as Detroit beat Seattle.

Ron LeFlore's single preceded Whitaker's blast into the upper deck in right field off Enrique Romo. Jason Thompson also homered for Detroit. All of Seattle's runs came in the seventh inning when Leon Roberts' bases-loaded grounder to third bounced off Aurelio Rodriguez's glove and rolled down the left field line for a three-run error.

Hooked on baseball, he's analyzed its reason for success

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Did Babe Ruth actually point toward center field before he hit the famous "called shot" home run? He did, a university professor and life-long baseball fan says, because we want to believe that he did.

"Baseball," says James Carothers of the University of Kansas, "exists because it provides heroes and humor. There is controversy over whether Ruth really intended to point to center field. But because we want to believe that he did, the story becomes more important than whatever Ruth thought he did."

Carothers got hooked on baseball as a youth 31 years ago. He grew up to become a professor of English. Still fascinated with the game, he learned he could apply the same scholarly approach to baseball stories as to classical drama. Blending the two, he teaches a most unconventional course, "The Literature of Baseball."

His students delve into baseball's richly textured lore and legend, learning how such literary giants as John Dos Passos, Ernest Hemingway and Thomas Wolfe wove the game into the fabric of much of their work.

The sweep of the course takes in novelists such as Ring Lardner and Philip Roth, the stories of Roger Angell and Roger Kahn, plus "a great deal of baseball journalism."

"Baseball literature is anything that contains baseball," Carothers says. "We also read biographies and even the Baseball Encyclopedia."

As in Ruth's called shot home run, Carothers has discovered a strange marriage of baseball fact and fiction.

"The subject of baseball cuts across the usual divisions in literature," he says. "Usually we distinguish very clearly between fact and fiction. Yet in baseball it all seems to run together.

"Everything that actually happens on a baseball field, the distinguished and memorable, has a counterpart in folklore and myth, in baseball fiction. By the same token, all events in baseball novels can be traced to something that happened on a baseball field. It is all one great body of story."

Whether real or imagined, the pinch-hitter who clubs a home run in the bottom of the ninth and the outfielder who crashes into the wall making a game-saving catch have counterparts in most classical literature, Carothers says.

"They are like the soldier in the epic novel who sacrifices himself for the sake of his army. It is that kind of pattern of significant action on the baseball field that follows patterns of what we like to view as serious literature."

Baseball, more than any other team sport, lends itself to story and legend, Carothers believes. And in his view the unique nature of the game is the prime reason it will never enjoy the television success of football or basketball.

Judge gives Heinsohn $100 BIG ones

BOSTON (AP) — Tom Heinsohn will get $100,000 but it's still not clear which National Basketball Association team must honor his coaching contract.

A U.S. District Court judge ruled Thursday that the former Boston Celtics star, fired in January, doesn't have to coach the new San Diego NBA team to be paid.

However, Judge Andrew Caffrey also dismissed Heinsohn's request for a restraining order that would have delayed the hiring of a coach for the San Diego team.

Caffrey ruled, in effect, that it is up to the Celtics and the San Diego club to settle on which team will pay Heinsohn. Irv Levin, the former Celtics owner, swapped NBA clubs July 7 with John Y. Brown, who owned the Buffalo Braves. Levin then moved the Buffalo franchise to San Diego and offered Heinsohn a coaching job for $100,000.

The sum is the exact amount owed Heinsohn for the remainder of his Celtics contract. Heinsohn was fired by the Celtics in the middle of a two-year pact.

Heinsohn was negotiating with Levin when, he alleged, the San Diego owner told him this week to accept the $100,000 or possibly lose the money he is owed. Heinsohn then sued Levin.

When Levin swapped teams with Brown, the former Celtics owner apparently agreed to pay off the remainder of Heinsohn's contract with Boston.

Levin now is free to hire a coach and Heinsohn must decide whether to negotiate. Heinsohn said he is satisfied because "Now I know more about my rights. I slowed down the paper transactions, I'm not under the gun."

As for his prospects of bargaining with Levin for the San Diego post, Heinsohn said, "I don't know if we can have a relationship after some of the things that have been said...But I'm not ruling anything out."

However, the former Celtics coach also said his next step is to "wait til Nov. 1," when he is due to be paid

Gulag series continues at library

By JOHN W. DEATS, County Librarian

The third volume of a landmark work, "The Gulag Archipelago: an Experiment in Literary Investigation," has just recently been published. Readers of the first two books of the series know that "Gulag" refers to the chain of Soviet prison camps used to hold political prisoners from the time of the Stalin regime to the present, and that their author is one of the few survivors of internment who is equipped with the courage and the eloquence to tell of it.

Aleksandr I. Solzhenitsyn writes of the struggle for freedom and the resistance to the Soviet system which culminated in the takeover of a camp, Kengir, in the months of May and June, 1954. Reminiscent of the revolt and its ultimate suppression in Hungary in 1956, the Kengir incident differs in the important respect that here, Soviet citizens were involved. The joy they must have experienced during their short reprieve is recorded in sharp contrast to the terror of mass murder and retaliation exacted when the authorities restored "order" with their troops and tanks. Speaking in the larger context of post-Revolution resistance, Solzhenitsyn states that "the secret of this struggle is kept by the Soviet regime even more zealously than that of the torments and annihilation it inflicted upon millions of its victims."

Among these victims were courageous Russians who had been captured during the early victories of the Nazis. It seems that Stalin decided that it was not worth the effort to try to distinguish between captured heroes and defectors when the Red Army was recapturing territory lost to the Germans. Instead, the Russian prisoners in German camps suffered execution, or at least internment in, ironically, Soviet camps. Solzhenitsyn even offers a defense for the defectors to the Germans, as some were acting in protest of Stalin's cruelty, not realizing that they were merely trading one inhuman master for another.

The body of writing by this ardent spokesman for human liberty has grown dramatically since his enforced exile from his country. Much of it was written in secret while the author was still in Russia, if not on paper, yet in the heart and mind. Part of its strength is in its reliance on detail and documentation of the experiences of real people caught in a battle for moral, as well as physical, survival. "One Day in the Life of Ivan Denisovich" catapulted Solzhenitsyn to fame, winning for him the Nobel Prize for literature. It is written from the point of view of a typical "zek," or prisoner, who encounters one problem after another in order to survive one more day in camp. "August 1914" is an epic historical novel which reconstructs the first two weeks of the Russian involvement in World War I, culminating in the Czar's defeat at Tannenberg. This battle assured the ultimate defeat of the Russian Army, in turn helping to insure the success of the Bolshevik Revolution. "Warning to the West" is a concise collection of speeches delivered to American and British audiences in the year after Solzhenitsyn's expulsion from the Soviet Union. He appeals to our common sense as he asks that we "stop giving foreign aid at a lower interest level than what American workers can get for their home mortgages" to a country which boasts of the "rot" of the Western system. He reminds us of a Russian proverb: "Dwell on the past and you'll lose an eye . . . forget the past and you'll lose both eyes."

In Clear Lake, Iowa

Buddy Holly style remembered

CLEAR LAKE, Iowa (AP) — He came rockin' and rollin' out of Lubbock, Texas, to live and die a legend.

His songs soared up the charts to help shape the music of a generation.

Then, on Feb. 3, 1959, a midnight charter flight plunged into a snow-covered farm field five miles from here and Charles H. "Buddy" Holly, just 22, was dead.

If — as the song says — that was the day the music died, people's capacity to remember hasn't.

The Globe-Gazette newspaper in nearby Mason City still gets requests for reprints of its front page story on the crash. A movie gently telling Holly's life story has been released. And the singer lives vividly in the memories of those who packed Clear Lake's Surf Ballroom the night of Feb. 2 for what was to be Buddy Holly's last performance.

"The crowd just wouldn't let him off the stage that night. It was terrific," recalls Carroll Anderson, then manager of the Surf. "Buddy was a terrific young man.

"I made it a point to get to know the young men and try to make them feel at home. "I didn't have too much of a chance to talk with Buddy — it was a big show that night. We also had Ritchie Valens, Dion and the Belmonts and, of course, the Big Bopper. Oh, he was a fantastic young man."

The bodies of Valens, who sang "Donna," and J.P. Richardson, the booming-voiced "Big Bopper," were found near the wreckage of the plane they had shared with Holly. The crash also claimed the life of the 21-year-old local pilot, Roger Peterson.

But there was music the night before the crash. Music and life.

"They came from 70 miles around," Anderson said. "They always came to the Surf."

"They were bundled against the cold as they lined up along North Shore Drive, waiting to pay the admission fee that Anderson remembers was '$1.50, I think."

"That was the thing then," said Tom Gilles, one of those who bought a ticket. "You'd go down to the Surf, dance up a storm, then go home at midnight. But most of the time they didn't have this kind of name."

had songs that were right up at the top then."

Once inside, they crammed into the tables and booths that surrounded the 90-by-120-foot wooden ballroom floor. They jammed under the arched blue ceiling, those in the back straining to see the stage.

"We had a real good crowd," Anderson said. "We had 1,200, 1,300 paid admissions besides the parents we always invited free. I'd guess we had 1,500 people in there."

"The crowd is one of the biggest things in my memory," added Marlys Katuin, then a 13-year-old junior high school student, now a resident of nearby Mason City.

"I also remember that I went because we were supposed to go the week before, but got in an accident. The car had slid off the road."

"When we got there, it was neat. The crowds. It was packed. There were a lot of people in there."

It was the Winter Dance Party tour that had brought Holly and the others to play the Surf Ballroom, one of five under the same ownership, Anderson said.

PBS offers painless opera

NEW YORK (AP) — For all those who think they'd just as soon stare at a test pattern as watch an opera on television, PBS has a two-word answer: "Albert Herring."

Benjamin Britten's three-act comic masterpiece about a shy young man's break from his mother's apron strings so overflows with melody, satire and high spirits that only a Scrooge would fail to find it delightful.

What's more, the version to be seen on many Public Broadcasting Service stations on Aug. 7 avoids opera-on-the-tube's chief pitfall: a static quality that results when a production meant for the vast stage is transferred unaltered to the small home screen.

This "Albert" is not only good opera, it's good television.

Credit for this is due in large measure to director Brian Large of the British Broadcasting Corp. and producer David Griffiths of WNET in New York, who adapted a production staged earlier this year by the Opera Theater of St. Louis. Appropriately for television, they lean heavily on closeups to move from singer to singer during ensembles, to show Albert listening to other characters singing, and generally to add a sense of intimacy.

But even more important, they have filled the musical interludes between scenes with shots that amplify in rich detail the atmosphere of the small English town where the action takes place in 1900.

Success found in 'Saloon'

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — It took a song about a saloon to transform the Oak Ridge Boys from gospel music rebels to country music dynamos.

The quartet's recording "Y'all Come Back Saloon" a year ago propelled the group into the mainstream of country music and was the first of three straight No. 1 songs on the country music charts. The other two were "You're the One" and "I'll Be True to You," which was No. 1 this summer.

The group has been called the Bee Gees of country music and there is speculation that the flashy foursome will be named group of the year in October by the Country Music Association, displacing the Statler Brothers who have won the award six straight years.

"We do country with a rock 'n' roll approach," says Richard Sterban, who once sang with the Stamps Quartet backing Elvis Presley. "It's a very progressive approach."

"I see other people doing things like we do," he says. "People are looking to us as trend-setters. We're definitely not a traditional group."

Before leaving gospel for country more than a year ago, they were not a traditional gospel group, either. They wore bell-bottom trousers and turtleneck sweaters, prompting some traditional gospel promoters to refuse to book them. They also kept beer on their touring bus, raising eyebrows like biscuits in a hot oven.

"Most of us go to the cooler after the show," Sterban says. "We have very few rules and regulations. But nobody would go on stage drunk or anything like that."

Actually, their professionalism and stage presence have pushed them to the top of their field. They own two publishing companies and a recording studio, have a fancy smoke machine for their shows as well as a 14-member road entourage, and refuse to label themselves as "backup musicians," a standard industry calling card.

Their philosophy is "keep it happy, keep it exciting," and their fast-paced, spirited shows almost always force crowds to their feet.

But it took "Y'all Come Back Saloon," a hand-clapping number that's an addictive singalong, to catapult the stylish foursome into the mainstream of country music.

Ridin' fence

Go ask Josie

with Marj Carpenter

Mrs. T.W. McSpadden has always been a storehouse of information about Dawson County.

Among the things she recalled in an interview earlier this year was the fact that she at one time lived in the only painted house in town.

She was born the second oldest daughter of nine children on March 15, 1889 in Glen Rose. In 1891 her father, Wiley E. Gaines, moved to Matador.

Well, at least she lived nearby. She walked two and a half miles to school. She remembered that one time she was being followed and turned to find a coyote licking his chops over the smell of food from her lunch bucket. She swung the bucket at him and he took off.

In 1903, her father moved to Dawson County. He claimed four adjoining sections of land under the homestead act, filing the claim in Big Spring.

They moved the first piano to Dawson County on the back of a wagon. Their home

PART OF JOSIE'S FAMILY
the W.E. Gaines home in the early days in Lamesa became known as the "Painted House" because it was the only one in town with a coat of paint on it. They lived in Painted House seven months during school and lived on the homestead land in the summer to work the land.

Gaines helped organize the election in which it was decided to make Lamesa the county seat rather than the little upstart town full of saloons called Chicago. Lamesa won by five votes.

The election included the provision that the losing community would move their buildings to the winning community. So Lamesa's one-room school house became a two-room school.

Mrs. McSpadden later taught one of her little brothers there.

She graduated from college in Denton in 1914 becoming the second person from Dawson County to get a college degree. She came back as a single teacher. She recalled a proposal of marriage where she would have to support him while he went to college.

She recalled, "I told him I got my degree the hard way and he could get his the same way."

She married T.W. McSpadden Nov. 3, 1915. He operated McSpadden Tool Service. They were married before a county judge while sitting in a buggy. "Being married from your buggy was the thing in those days if you could afford a buggy," she recalled.

Whenever students or adults or anybody wanted to know any early Dawson history, the thing to do for many years was simply to "go ask Josie."

But Josie Gaines McSpadden did go on — in Dawson County, in her late years making pin cushions, quilts and other needlework.

Long the storehouse of Dawson County history, it was the usual thing — to go ask Josie McSpadden — out in Dawson County where I always enjoy ridin' fence.

SAN ANGELO — Allan Construction Company of San Antonio has begun work on State Highway 137 in Glasscock County from the Midland County line to State Highway 158.

The project will be to reconstruct grading, structures, base and surfacing the 11.6 miles of highway according to District Engineer D.R. Watson of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation (DHT).

"The contractor will rebuild the highway in four-mile segments," said Gerald G. Lackey, Supervising Resident Engineer for the DHT.

Yesterday's cars are valued history today

By EILEEN McGUIRE
Family News Editor

As you watch your new car depreciate, cheer up. In 20 years, providing it's in good shape and has outlasted most of the other models of its kind, its value will gradually begin to increase, according to the Big Spring Antique Auto Club.

And in 25 years, when it officially crosses the line from old to antique, it'll be worth more than it was when you bought it.

Jerry Turney, owner of a 1929 Chevrolet, estimates that his car is now worth 10 times more than its original sale price. At the end of the roaring 20's, his Chevy sold for $600 brand new.

His car will be displayed along with about 80 other makes and models from 1900 to 1960 at the 16th annual "Grand Ole Tour" next weekend. Hosting the tour, which is rotated each year among participating West Texas clubs, is the Big Spring club.

Cars are expected to arrive Thursday, some driven and some towed, from Abilene, Lubbock, Midland and San Angelo clubs. Other antique car enthusiasts are expected from all over Texas, New Mexico and Louisiana.

In addition to Turney's 1929 Chevrolet, antiques from the local area will include Ezell Brewster's 1931 Franklin, Dick Bott's 1928 Ford sedan, Don Brashear's 1929 Ford coupe, Wayne Rhyne's 1931 Chevrolet, and Jim Archer's 1931 Ford Model A.

The cars will leave from tour headquarters at the Holiday Inn at 9 a.m., Friday for a drive to Stanton via Andrews Highway. According to Dick Bott, parade chairman, this gives the visitors a chance to see a bit of our part of the country.

The local club will host a barbecue for guest clubs at the community center at Stanton.

Upon return, the cars will be assembled in the parking area of the Howard College coliseum for display and judging. This event begins at 4 p.m. and is open, free of charge, to the public.

A dinner banquet and style show of old-time fashions will follow in the evening at the student union building of Howard College.

The public may attend by purchasing $4-per-person tickets during registration from 12 noon to 7 p.m., Thursday, at the Holiday Inn. The last chance to purchase tickets will be at 9 a.m., Friday at the Holiday Inn.

Free to the public are the Saturday morning driving events which begin at 9 a.m. at the Howard College coliseum parking area. At that time, the public will get a chance to see the antiques in motion as the drivers participate in games.

One of the games described by the Ezell and Evelyn Brewster is a potato race. Each driver will be accompanied by a "stabber" who will attack a potato. The object is to be the first car to cross the finish line with a potato.

Another game will test each owner's ability to crank his or her car faster than other contestants.

A parade through the streets of Big Spring and past each of the nursing homes is slated for 2 p.m., Saturday. It will begin at the College Park parking lot.

An awards banquet will be held at the Howard College student union building Saturday evening. Tickets to the public are $6 per person and may be purchased on Thursday during registration at the Holiday Inn or at 9 a.m., Saturday at the Holiday Inn. Tickets will not be available at the door.

To help take viewers back to the time periods their cars represent, owners will be attired in clothing to compliment the vehicles during driving events. Some will wear clothes actually worn during time period of their automobiles; others will wear reproductions.

"Clothes are about as hard to find now as the cars are," Evelyn said. "Occasionally you'll still find them at garage sales but mostly that's a thing of the past. Sometimes, you'll find them at antique stores."

Members of Antique Car clubs hold swap meets in which one era of clothing is traded for another until each member has an outfit suited to the automobile. The weekend's tour will afford them such an opportunity.

One of the most unusual cars featured will be the Brewsters' custom-made 1931 Franklin.

ONE OF THE RAREST — The couple on the right are Ezell and Evelyn Brewster, owners of this 1931 Franklin. What makes the car so special is the custom-made body. Their friends on the left, dressed for earlier eras, are Don Brashear, Doris Banks and, seated on the fender, Nancy Grantham.

bodies in the United States."

Franklins, according to Ezell, were made between 1902 and 1934. All were designed with air-cool engines, which are actually airplane engines, and were made to cruise at 70 miles per hour.

Despite its age, the Brewsters frequently drive their Franklin.

"It's as dependable as anything you can drive now," Ezell said.

"They really don't make cars the way they used to," Evelyn added. "Just like anything you buy now, the quality was better back then."

"In those days, they used a heavier metal and better quality material which is why these old cars are still in such good shape," Ezell explained. "Of course, they didn't have the technology for the motor that we do now. 50 to 70 mph is the best the antiques can do."

"But they were built to last. If they'd had better roads back then, there'd probably be more of these old cars still around."

According to Jerry Turney, as the number of antique car collectors increase, it's becoming harder to find the antique cars that do still exist.

"You used to be able to come across them out in the country while you were riding around," he said, "but not any more. About the only place you can find them now is at auctions."

Another reason that they are hard to find is that there just aren't too many left.

"A lot of pre-war cars were scrapped for metal during the war efforts," Ezell said. "We sent them to Japan and they shot them back at us." Owners of pre-war cars are quickly accepted into any chapter of the Antique Automobile Club of America.

There are also specialty clubs such as the Model A, Veterans Motor Car, Ford T's, and Horseless Carriage clubs.

The purpose of all antique car clubs is to preserve early and unusual automobiles and accessories in the name of history. By banding together, knowledge and experience is pooled, making the clubs accurate and technical sources of information for the benefit of members as well as the general public.

The Big Spring Region chapter of AACA welcomes any person of driving age who is interested in antique cars, whether they own one or not, to join them by contacting any club member.

Club meetings afford car owners to enjoy their relics of yesteryear. Once a month, the club meets by driving their cars to different places for picnics, ice cream socials and other family-oriented activities.

"We kind of have to band together to keep from looking like we're crazy," Turney laughed. "A lot of people question why we pick such an expensive hobby. But it's really no more expensive than fishing after you get

Section C

People, places,

done buying all of your equipment. And most of us got into it when it wasn't expensive.

"These cars are also an investment. Like all antiques, values will continue to increase."

According to all three antique buffs, the one requirement of the hobby is that you have to really like cars.

"There's a lot of time and work involved," Ezell said. "A lot of upkeep, polishing, petting and rubbing."

"That's where the real test is. If you're really made for this kind of hobby, you won't consider it work. You'll do it because you love it."

RUMBLING AROUND — Picture, if you can, two fragile creatures riding in a rumble seat down a bumpy unpaved road in the year 1931 and you'll know how the rumble seat got its name. What Ginny Archer, left, and Doris Banks had trouble figuring out was how a lady gracefully climbed into one in the first place. The car is a 1931 Model A Ford owned by Doris and her husband, James.

ANYONE WANNA DRAG? This group of Big Spring Antique Auto Club members created quite a bit of curiosity at Comanche Trail Park last week. Even more of a stir will be caused Thursday as about 80 antique cars from throughout Texas, New Mexico and Louisiana are expected to be driven and towed into Big Spring for a car show. Here, from front to back, are Doris Grantham and Don Brashears, James and Doris Banks, and Jim James and Ginny Archer. All are standing in front of 1931 Model A Fords. The fourth couple is Ezell and Evelyn Brewster with their 1931 Franklin. Behind them are Richard and Anne Bott with their children, Charlie and Stacey, and their 1928 Model A Ford. The last car is the Brewster's 1939 Plymouth. The oldest cars owned by members of this club are the Botts' Ford and a 1928 Buick, not shown, owned by club president Art Feinsod of Snyder.

"I THOUGHT YOU SAID they don't make them the way they used to, Dad." Ann Bott and Jay Turney rib Jay's dad, Jerry, as he looks for the trouble in his almost infallible 1929 Chevrolet. Jerry remains unshaken, however, in his conviction that Chevys are better than Fords. That, too, gets him a lot of ribbing since most of the cars owned by members of the Big Spring Antique Car Club are Fords.

Guard against heatstroke

By JANET ROGERS, COUNTY EXTENSION AGENT
Guard against heat exhaustion, heatstroke or sunstroke during the hot Texas summer. The combined effects of sun, exercise, heat and excessive perspiration which result in loss of fluids and salts can produce a serious condition.

The body's normal reaction to high temperatures is to pool blood near the surface of the skin so that sweat is formed and then evaporated into the air releasing heat.

This can cause a lack of sufficient blood in the vessels deep in the body if a person is

Miss Simpson gains degree

Nannette Dilliard Simpson, Dallas, a former resident of Big Spring, graduated from Southern Methodist University with a master's degree in liberal arts recently.

Mrs. Simpson graduated cum laude. She is a writer, and just returned from Paris, where she was gathering information for articles. While there, she interviewed Arie Zan Selm, a Dutch abstract impressionist. The article appeared in the July issue of Southwest Art.

She also writes an entertainment article for Fashion Retailer. She is a contributor for Texas Monthly, as well as being an instructor in creative writing at Richland College.

exposed to high temperatures — especially combined with a high humidity — for a long period of time.

Some symptoms of heat exhaustion include muscle cramps and weakness, and although the victim's temperature may be near normal, the pulse is often very weak. The skin is usually cool but very pale and moist.

Treatment consists of getting the person out of the sun immediately. Slowly sipping cool — not cold — water will help to cool down the body.

Heatstroke, or sunstroke, is more serious than heat exhaustion. It's often a medical emergency.

A breakdown of the cooling system of the body which causes the body temperature to rise uncontrollably causes heatstroke. Because the sweating mechanism is not working, there is very little perspiration.

One symptom of heatstroke is dry, red, hot skin and a fast, strong pulse. The victim may also be nauseated and have a headache. There is also a possibility of the person collapsing.

As in the case of heat exhaustion, the important thing is to get the victim out of the sun and to lower the temperature.

Sponge the person with water, especially around the head. Avoid giving the victim stimulants such as tea or coffee because of the possibility of complications such as increased blood pressure. If the person is unconscious, give no fluids at all.

To prevent sunstroke or heatstroke, avoid being in the sun and heat for a long period of time, drink a sufficient amount of liquids and wear loose-fitting clothing such as cotton T-shirts which help to retain perspiration and keep the body cool.

Doctor Got Him Smoking Again

DEAR ABBY: My husband (I'll call him Max) spent six weeks in the hospital with a coronary and emphysema, but thank God he is going to be all right. His doctor told him he had to lose 45 pounds and give up cigarettes. Max lost 26 pounds while in the hospital and he didn't have one cigarette, which isn't easy for a three-pack-a-day man.

When I was at the hospital to take Max home, his doctor walked into the room smoking a cigarette! Max kidding asked the doctor for a cigarette, and would you believe, the doctor gave him one! (I could have strangled that doctor!)

Max has been home for three weeks and he's smoking again. I just know if that doctor hadn't given him a cigarette Max would have quit for good.

When I told the doctor what I thought of him he said, "I didn't think one would hurt him. Besides, I knew how much he wanted one because I can't quit either."

What do you think of that, Abby? If I hadn't witnessed this, I never would have believed it.

DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: So what else is new? That doctor used inexcusably poor judgment, but if all the doctors who are hooked on nicotine were laid end to end, they would reach the Salk Institute in San Diego—which isn't a bad idea.

DEAR ABBY: It disgusts me to read the letters in your column that begin, "While straightening my daughter's room, I came across one of her letters (or her diary), and after reading it, I was horrified. Where have I failed?"

Perhaps these mothers should begin by looking at their own code of ethics. It is important for children, especially teenagers come to feel that they are individuals with privacy and rights of their own. Having a mother who comes snooping around reading personal mail and examining private possessions will surely force a child to become deceptive, secretive and constantly on the defensive, rather than to feel free to discuss personal problems and share private experiences with her mother.

If a mother feels it is necessary for her to know everything that happens in her child's life, she should teach the child early to trust her and come to her and share her feelings openly. This way the mother can express feelings of her own, and perhaps point the child in the right direction without promoting the kind of mistrust and tension that develops between mother and daughter when the daughter finds she has no privacy and the mother finds her only link with her daughter is through whatever tidbit she can find "while straightening the room."

The more I read about such mothers, the more I appreciate my own.

GLAD I'M ME IN ATLANTA

DEAR ABBY: Every day my husband picks up your column and says, "Well, let's see what Abby has to say to those nuts who write to a newspaper psychiatrist!" He would never admit that HE could use some help.

My husband is a good provider and generally a good husband, but he is a very poor father to our five children, who range in age from 2 to 10. He never pays them the slightest attention unless it's to punish them.

When a male friend comes over, the children compete for his attention and the man can't get the little ones off his lap. I am worried about how this will affect my children's lives. Will my girls be so hungry for male affection and approval that they'll become pregnant at 16? And will my sons grow up to be mama's boys? What can I do before it's too late? Or am I being silly?

SAL IN SAN FRANCISCO

DEAR SAL: It's sad that a couple who have spent almost a dozen years together have so little communication between them. Why can't you tell your husband these things? You seem to be an intelligent woman, and your complaints make sense.

If you aren't able to get through to your husband, find someone who can. He desperately needs to get this important message.

If you put off writing letters because you don't know what to say, get Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters For All Occasions." Send $1 and a long, stamped (25 cents) envelope to Abby: 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

The bride, who was presented in marriage by her father, was dressed in silk organza enhanced with peau d'ange lace. The empire bodice featured a portrait neckline and long full bishop sleeves with matching lace cuffs. Lace traced the neckline and front panel, and small cording traced the waistline. The A-line skirt was trimmed in a wide band of lace down each side of the front. The chapel-length train was decorated in a lace panel and attached at the waist under a Dior bow.

Her mantilla veil of illusion edged with identical lace fell from a lace camelot headpiece and extended over the length of the train.

Easy Recipe for Pie

For an Easy Lime Pie, drain an eight-ounce can of crushed pineapple (in unsweetened juice), reserving juice. Combine juice and enough water to make one and one-fourth cups of liquid; heat to boiling. Dissolve a three-ounce package of lime flavored gelatin in boiling liquid. Gradually add one pint of vanilla ice cream, stirring until melted. Chill until thickened, not set, about 20 minutes. Fold in crushed pineapple. Pour mixture into a nine-inch chocolate crust. Chill until firm, about 30 minutes.
