China, Japan sign friendship treaty

TOKYO (AP) — China and Japan signed a treaty pledging peace and friendship Saturday, and agreeing to oppose "hegemony," or establishment of international spheres of influence, by any nation or group of nations.

The Soviet Union immediately denounced the treaty, especially the anti-hegemony clause, as being openly anti-Soviet, and called it a Japanese capitulation to Peking.

The Soviets had warned the Japanese against signing the pact, saying it could seriously harm Japanese-Soviet relations.

The 10-year, five-article treaty, signed by the two countries' foreign ministers in Peking, specifies that it will not affect the relations of either country with third countries, a clause inserted at Japan's request to soften the effect of the treaty on the Russians.

But the Soviets dismissed the effect of the clause.

"Japan, which yielded to Peking's dictate and agreed to sign the treaty on (Peking's) terms has placed itself in a position from which it may be involved in China's hegemonic policy," the Soviet news agency Tass said.

Russia's relationship with China has declined steadily since the early 1960s over ideological issues and border squabbles.

Many Japanese politicians opposed the treaty, fearing it would drag Japan into the Chinese-Soviet split. The treaty is to be presented for ratification to the Japanese Diet, or Parliament, next month. Ratification is considered almost a certainty but could be made more difficult by the volatile reaction from Moscow.

Japan's Kyodo news service, quoting Chinese government sources, said China may break its 30-year friendship treaty with the Soviets in 1979, a year before it is to expire.

The agency quoted Chinese officials as describing the Chinese-Soviet treaty as "existing in name but dead in reality."

Possible retaliation by Moscow for Japan's signing the friendship treaty with China could include suspension of fishing agreements between the Soviet Union and Japan or a tougher Soviet stand against Japanese claims to four Soviet-held northern islands.

Moscow argues that the anti-hegemony clause bars them from Asia while Chinese influence there spreads.

Japanese leaders are discussing sending a special delegation to Moscow to try to smooth over the dispute with the Kremlin.

The treaty, under discussion since China and Japan normalized relations in 1972, was signed by Chinese Foreign Minister Huang Hua and Japanese Foreign Minister Sunao Sonoda.

It calls for further development of trade and cultural relations. It does not touch on a Sino-Soviet treaty that names Japan as the common enemy of China and the Soviet Union, or on conflicting territorial claims of Japan and China to the Senkaku islands in the East China Sea.

By insurance salesmen

Elderly victims of scare tactics

WASHINGTON (AP) — Elderly Americans who buy insurance to fill the gaps in Medicare coverage are subject to insurance salesmen's scare tactics, a Federal Trade Commission staff report says.

The report says 12.6 million Americans have the additional insurance and nearly one-fourth of them wound up with unnecessary and expensive duplication of coverage.

"Medicare supplement policies often fail to cover the most important gaps in Medicare. None covers physician's charges above the level Medicare determines to be reasonable. None covers the items and services Medicare will never pay for, such as routine physicals, eyeglasses and medical appliances," said the report, officially released Sunday.

"Like the rest of the population, few older people have insurance coverage for prescription drugs or dental care

— two important gaps in Medicare," it said.

When asked for comment about the report, Kenneth W. White, vice president of the Health Insurance Institute, an industry group, said:

"The leaders of our business have spoken out repeatedly and forcefully against the marketing of supplementary health insurance that is not designed to be in the best interests of those who purchase it. We do not condone any situation in which our citizens may be confused by policies they have bought or have been misled into buying more health insurance than they actually need."

The FTC staff report pointed to these abuses:

—"Goose lists," circulated among agents that give the names and addresses of ill or mentally confused senior citizens who will "buy any insurance policies offered them."

—"Rolling over" policies, the practice of convincing older persons to replace their insurance with a new policy. Agents get a commission of about 65 percent of the first year's premium for a new policy. "Some agents try to 'roll over' their entire clientele each year," the report said.

—Using scare tactics, including the fear of cancer, to sell mail-order policies.

The report said some insurance companies make a special appeal to elderly women with low incomes.

Escaped killer eludes authorities in Arizona

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. (AP) — Hundreds of air and ground searchers continued to comb the rugged desert near here Saturday looking for escaped inmate Gary Tison, convicted of one murder and charged with the brutal slayings of three other persons.

A honeymooning, Amarillo, Texas, couple remained missing. Tison, his three sons and another escapee were in the couple's van when it crashed near Casa Grande.

Tison is believed to have escaped into the desert, carrying two guns, after the crash early Friday morning. Searchers continued to watch homes and water holes in the area. They do not think Tison had any food with him, but said the Saturday morning rains may have given the 42-year-old, 250-pound man access to water.

Lawmen spent much of Saturday checking out cases of mistaken identity. A California man fitting Tison's description was stopped after he sold a handgun to a service station attendant near the search area.

Randy Greenawalt, 28, serving life for murder, and Tison brothers Ricky, 18, and Raymond, 19, were captured after the crash of the van. The driver, Donald Tison, 20, died of a gunshot wound as he tried to ram the van through a roadblock. The men surrendered without further shooting although they were armed.

Several hours after Friday's capture Yuma County authorities located the body of 15-year-old Teresa Tyson of Las Vegas, Nev., who had been thought a hostage. The Tisons and Greenawalt are charged with murder in the shotgun slaying of her aunt and uncle and their 22-month son.

Marine Sgt. John Lyon; his wife, Donna, and their son Christopher were found slain last Sunday; their bodies were in a car traced to the Tisons.

The honeymooners, Mr. and Mrs. James Judge Jr., of Amarillo, Texas, were last seen when they checked into a motel in a mountainous area of Colorado Thursday.

Bible fund at $6,245

Donations to the Bible Fund have closed to within $4,000 of the $10,000 objective. Judging from past campaigns, that could be the hardest part to raise.

Gifts for the 24-hour period ending at noon Saturday totaled $775, including $300 from a friend who prefers to remain anonymous.

The latest additions brings the total to $6,245.64.

Checks should be made out to The Bible Fund and forwarded either to Dr. Kenneth Patrick, pastor, First Baptist Church, Big Spring or to The Herald, Box 1431, Big Spring 79720.

READY TO GO — The balloon 'Double Eagle' slowly fills with helium Friday evening in preparation for a night-time launch. Thousands of people watched as aeronauts Ben Abruzzo, Maxie Anderson, and Larry Newman, all of Albuquerque, N.M., lifted off in the dark from a field outside of Presque Isle, Maine, in hopes of being the first balloonists to cross the Atlantic Ocean.

The wards and the enclaves dividing the great cities are each an entity, working not unlike an anteb or a beehive.

The lawless breed is apt to establish its lines of demarcation one way, political lackies another and those people who cater to the public's vices another. Each cell lives by its own code, each is a law unto itself.

For instance, there exists a kingdom within the city of Cairo, ruled by a worthy who may be one of Egypt's richest men, yet who is almost totally unknown by the populace.

Some of the most feared men in Egypt hold exalted positions in his ministry. They are amateur surgeons who are skilled at creating deformities for the alms-seekers. One of the cripple-makers reportedly became so deaf he could make a beggar's eyes appear sightless while preserving vision.

The organization is so tightly controlled, not even the police morals division knows the identity of the beggar's honcho or his conspiracy of workers.

The cripple makers are not as active as they once were, mainly because the beggars have become more proficient at feigning deformities.

In eight years, the ranks of the Cairo beggars have grown by 10,000.

Striking policemen face possible firing

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Striking policemen in Tennessee's largest city on Saturday were given the choice of returning to work at midnight or turning in their badges as thousands of Elvis Presley fans pour into the city for the first anniversary of the rock 'n' roll singer's death.

Memphis Police Association president David Baker said he didn't know whether his 1,100 members would obey the injunction issued Saturday morning by Chancellor George T. Lewis Jr.

"I can't predict what they'll do," Baker said after the hearing as Mayor Wyeth Chandler met in the judge's chambers with city and union lawyers.

Meanwhile, supervisory officers and Shelby County sheriff's deputies patrolled the city of 650,000 residents. About 600 National Guardsmen, called out shortly after the strike began late Thursday night, were camped near the Liberty Bowl Memorial Stadium in the event the temporary police force needed assistance.

Police officials said an 8 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew imposed on Friday kept crime and disturbance calls below normal during the night. Sheriff's deputies said they had little trouble keeping order at Presley's Graceland mansion where fans had lined up for a brief visit to his grave. Presley died on Aug. 16.

"This strike is unlawful," Lewis said as he ruled on the city's petition for a temporary injunction ending the walkout.

Lewis had on Friday afternoon issued a restraining order banning a police strike, but stopping short of ordering the policemen back to their beats.

City Attorney Clifford Pierce told the court that union members had defied the restraining order by blocking entrances to police precincts and fire stations as well. He said some pickets had laid down in the driveway of fire stations to block fire equipment, and he said some Fire Department ambulance tires had been cut.

Officials representing the protesting officers were not immediately available for comment.

The police strike came five weeks after the firefighters struck for three days. Both walkouts involved wage demands that remain unresolved.

Thursday, the officers rejected by a 2-1 margin a city offer that would have raised the monthly pay of a veteran patrolman from $1,148 to $1,244 immediately, then provided two additional raises in the next 15 months.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Game park

Q. Is Wildlife Safari operating in the Dallas-Fort Worth area this summer?

A. Not under that name and under new management. The game park, located immediately south of the Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport, is now known as Texas Safari and Game Farm. Rick Tomlinson, business manager for the facility, says that, in some cases, animals are being shipped back to their homelands because their native populations have been depleted by poachers and the encroachment of rapidly expanding civilization in under-developed countries. The farm embraces 350 acres and is a drive-through animal reserve where more than 100 species of wild animals roam freely in the natural Texas countryside. The exact location of the farm? Situated in Grand Prairie, it's just north of I-30 at the Belt Line-Grand Prairie exit. There are animal shows, elephant rides, safari river rides and paddle boats available.

Weather Hot, dry weather on tap in Texas

By the Associated Press

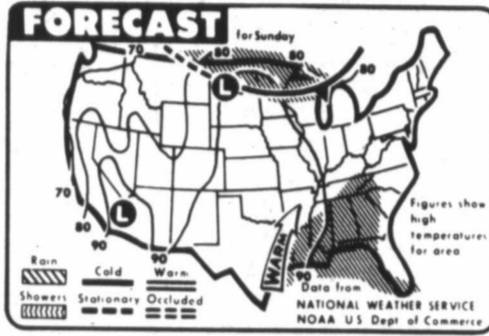

Hot, dry August weather was on tap today for most Texans although forecasters called for widely scattered showers and thunderstorms over the southern half of the state.

The shower and thunderstorm activity was expected during the afternoon and evening hours and was to be widely scattered.

Most of the state expected clear to partly cloudy skies and continued warm temperatures. Highs were to be in the 90s with the possibility of some readings reaching the 100-degree mark in North Central Texas.

Some widely scattered showers dropped apparently light amounts of rainfall during the night between Del Rio and Laredo, but the showers ended long before daybreak.

Early morning temperatures were mostly in the 70s with extremes ranging from 62 at Marfa in Southwest Texas to 82 at Brownsville, Galveston and Palacios.

WEATHER FORECAST — Rain is forecast today for part of the Great Lakes stretching west to the edge of Montana. Rain also is expected along the Gulf Coast, reaching up to southern Kentucky.

LAST MINUTE GRIPE — On the eve of his recall election, Cleveland mayor Dennis Kucinich complained of unfair press portrayal of the city's problems. He also predicted at this informal Saturday news conference that he would win today's recall election.

Court begins deliberation — The California Supreme Court has begun deliberating the fate of Proposition 13 despite anonymous threats against its members. The seven justices, four of whom are up for reelection in November, heard three hours of argument Friday on three lawsuits challenging the validity of the amendment to the state constitution that requires a $7 billion reduction in property taxes.

Justice delays busing plan — U.S. Supreme Court Justice William H. Rehnquist delayed a busing plan for the Columbus school system, suggesting that lower courts may have failed to follow principles on desegregation set forth by the high court.

Rehnquist, who wrote the June 1977 opinion overturning an integration order involving the Dayton, Ohio, school system, said Friday that he was delaying the Columbus order because four justices probably would vote to review the plan. That is the number needed for full court action.

Van Houten given life term — Leslie Van Houten, tried three times for her role in the Tate-LaBianca murders, has been sentenced to life in prison despite her plea that she has changed in the nine years since the crimes.

Miss Van Houten was 19 when she and other followers of Charles Manson brutally murdered Leno and Rosemary LaBianca in 1969. She also conspired in the slayings one night earlier of actress Sharon Tate and four others.

Preservative causes cancer? — The preservative that helps cure ham in a hurry and gives hot dogs and bacon their appetizing color appears to cause cancer, but the government says it doesn't know yet what to do about it. The verdict against nitrite, a longtime target of consumer groups, was announced late Friday by the Food and Drug Administration and the U.S. Department of Agriculture which share jurisdiction over the many processed foods containing nitrite — the nation's most widely used preservative.

Tax appraisal office budget to be offered

The presentation of the revised budget for the joint tax appraisal office will be made at Howard County commissioners court Monday morning by Mrs. Zarah Bednar, tax assessor-collector.

Other items on the agenda include opening bids on a new typewriter for the county judge and an adding machine for the tax office.

They will accept bids on an adding machine for the adult probation department. The meeting opens at 9 a.m.

The commissioners will discuss needed repairs to the filing system in the office of the district clerk, seek permission for a Vocational Office Education student to start in the office of the county agent; ask per-

GRADY — Classes begin in the Grady schools at 8:30 a.m., Monday, August 28.

The school system will observe holidays Labor Day, Sept. 4; Thanksgiving, Nov. 22 through Nov. 26; Christmas, Dec. 23 through Jan. 1; the spring break, Feb. 23 through March 4; and Easter, April 13 through April 17.

School will be dismissed at 2 p.m., on days preceding the holidays and breaks. The school term will end May 25.

A list of supplies the students will need will be available the first day of school. Buses will operate at the regular times.

Billy B. Baker is superintendent of schools at Grady.

RUSSELL BURCHETT
Burchett named to Who's Who

Russell Burchett, senior at Big Spring High, has been selected for National Who's Who in Music among American High School students for 1978.

Russell made All State Choir in both his junior and senior year and was one of two students to be inducted into Big Spring High School Hall of Fame while still attending school.

He was vice president of the Meistersingers and was in choir productions, "The Sound of Music," and "The Music Man."

He also made first division in Tri-State solo and ensemble, was in the Howard County Honors Band, Big Spring High Honors band, was lead guitarist in the stage band, and one of the students designated among best marchers for three years. He also performed in four Campus Review productions. He is the son of Mrs. Martha Burchett.

Deaths Cody Neill

STANTON — Terry and Nancy Neill were to go to El Paso today to be at the bedside of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Stephens of Fort Stockton, seriously injured in a car-truck-train crash in New Mexico Thursday.

The Neills' young son, Cody, 5, was killed in the crash as was the cattle truck driver, Charles E. Flippin, Valentine.

The Stephens were stopped at a railroad crossing 4 mile north of the New Mexico line on Highway 285. Cody was a passenger in their car.

The truck crashed into the Stephens car, knocking it into the next-to-the-last train car and the truck then struck the caboose, knocking it loose from the train.

Dance slated for ill child

A benefit dance will be held in the Howard County Fairbairn Friday night, with all proceeds going into a fund to help pay the medical expenses of 13-year-old Lisa Gamba, a cancer victim.

Lisa, ever optimistic and ever smiling, must return to the M.D. Anderson Hospital in Houston Wednesday for additional treatment.

Lisa has already lost an arm to the ravages of the disease and has only recently recovered from burns associated with medical treatment.

Music for the dance will be furnished by a local band, which will donate its fees to the girl. Admission charge will be $5 a couple.

Lisa, Big Spring born, now resides with her mother, Vicky Galindo, at 2667 E. 11th Street in Odessa. Her father, Elias Gamba Jr., is a resident of San Francisco. Paternal grandparents of the girl are Mr. and Mrs. Elias Gamba Sr., Big Spring.

Lisa has been very active athletically much of her life and only recently expressed a desire to take up tennis. She will be an eighth grader this fall.

DENVER PETTITT
...master craftsman

Violin makers live here Share a rare talent

By MARJ CARPENTER
Big Spring is fortunate enough to have two of the top violin makers in the state. And they are getting ready to share their knowledge in a unique course at Howard College called Violin and Guitar Building and Repair. It will be offered under the continuing and adult education program beginning Sept. 5. Classes will be held Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 6-9 p.m. in the Practical Arts Building lasting until Dec. 21. This is a long continuing education course, but it takes hours to teach the fundamentals in building and repairing stringed musical instruments. Denver Pettitt, who is the senior instructor, is recognized all over the world as a master violin maker. He is only one of about 20 in the United States to hold this type of recognition. For over 50 years, he has made and repaired musical instruments and is featured annually in the Texas Fine Arts Festival.

Ed Shrum
...now an expert

His latest recognition came at the World Show last summer in Phoenix where he was in the top three violin makers honored for their excellence. Pettitt, who also did such things in Big Spring as help build the giant hangar now being demolished at the former Webb AFB, has also whittled out some beautiful artistic works at St. Mary's Episcopal Church. Pettitt studied violin making for three years under Fredques Johannes of Austria, whose father and grandfather were violin makers before him. In fact, they in turn had been students of Bergunzi, who was a protegee of Stravivaris, the world's greatest violin maker.

Pettitt's instruments have won major prizes in state, national and international competition. He has taught Ed Shrum since 1972. Shrum will assist in instructing the class.

Shrum was honored with the designation of being one of the top 15 violin makers in the nation at the Phoenix show last summer. He has sold over 14 instruments, including a delcimar which is an ancient string instrument being revived today by some rock bands. One of the leading stringed musical instrument repairmen in Texas, Shrum is in heavy demand by symphonies, music companies, schools and individuals.

Pre-registration for the class is necessary to enable ordering needed materials. Sign-up can be made at the

Sherriff says story untrue

MIDLAND — Midland county sheriff Dallas Smith said Friday he had been unable to find any basis for a published report that his office is under investigation by El Paso FBI agents for civil violations.

A spokesman for the El Paso bureau had been quoted earlier as saying three cases involving civil rights complaints filed against Midland area lawmen were being probed by agents. Smith said he had checked personally with the El Paso bureau to see if there was substance to the rumors and had been told they were not true. Smith said he was angered because of the possible damage to the department's image in the community.

Area's largest graphic art show set Dec. 8-10

For the third straight year, the Heritage Museum will present the largest signed graphic art show in West Texas on dates scheduled for Dec. 8-10. This showing will again be presented by the Folger Art Gallery of Midland. The museum officials also expressed appreciation this week to Security State Bank, who donated their second place rodeo parade prize money to the museum. Among the groups visiting the museum recently have been groups from the Jack and Jill school, the library summer reading club, the West Side Community Center and the Salvation Army. Tourists from 37 Texas towns, 18 states, Ireland and the Panama Canal Zone have also visited. The ramp entrance to the museum for wheelchairs, was completed with guard rails to make it safer for everyone and especially the handicapped.

New and renewal members recently have included Dr. and Mrs. Floyd Mays, Mrs. Allene Rollins, Austin; Mrs. Katie Kernodie, Mrs. Hazel Lawrence and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Irons.

Wildcat entry noted in Borden County

A wildcat entry has been scheduled in Borden County and a Borden field gained a confirmer. Amoco Production Co. will attempt to re-open Ellenburger production in the Myrtle, West field of Borden County with the re-entry and the deepening to 8,600 feet at its (formerly Midwest Oil Corp.) No. 4 Joe H. Scott, former Strawn producer, 12 miles northeast of Gail. Location is 1,980 feet from the north and 660 feet from the west lines of 413-97-H&TC.

Corp., Wichita Falls, No. 2 B. J. Belew, 15 miles northeast of Gail, to pump 22 barrels of 42 gravity oil. Production was natural through perforations at 7,818-26 feet. Drilled to 8,053 feet, with 4 1/2-inch casing set at 8,050 feet, it is plugged back to 8,005 feet. Location is 2,200 feet from the south and 660 feet from the west lines of 380-97-H&TC.

The discovery, Midwest Oil Corp. No. 1 Hunnicut, a former Strawn producer, was recompleted June 30, 1958 for 121 barrels of oil through a 15-64-inch choke and perforations at 8,383-387 feet. The Myrtle, North (Wolfcamp) field of Borden County gained its third producer and a 1,500-foot north extension with completion of Cobra Oil & Gas

Commissioners meet Monday

LAMESA — The Dawson County commissioners will hear a request for backing a resolution on "Jobs for Texans." This resolution has already been approved by the chamber and the city council.

The commissioners, when they meet Monday morning, will also hear a report from Jim Trulove, juvenile officer.

The commissioners are also expected to make a decision on hospital insurance for county employees for the year beginning Sept. 1.

college registration office by completing pre-registration information between Aug. 14-24. Enrollment will be limited to 12 persons and there must be at least ten to offer the class. Cost of the course, which carries three semester hours of credit, is $275. This includes 96 hours of instruction, basic wood for the instrument the student chooses to make which he may keep and miscellaneous materials. The student will end up with three hours credit and a handmade string instrument. The student will be required to furnish his own keys and trim out. The student can either furnish his own tools or use college equipment. The course has a lot to offer to the person who wants to learn a new trade or to one who simply wants to construct an instrument for personal pleasure. The demand for musical instrument repairmen far outstrips the supply of qualified repairmen. By the end of the course, a student should have basic repair skills. For additional information, call 263-6711, Ext. 31.

Certificate awarded to medical facility

Malone-Hogan Hospital Inc. has been awarded a certificate indicating its participation in the State and National attack on rising health care costs. Upon issuing the certificate, O. Ray Hurst, president, Texas Hospital Association, (THA) Austin, said, "we are pleased to recognize another THA member hospital for its dedication to help hold down the rising cost of health care. Although hospital costs in Texas are 20 per cent below the national average, hospitals across the state are joining in the voluntary effort to help reach a national industry goal of two per cent per year reduction in the rate of increase for two years." Those that comply get one of these certificates, according to Norman Knox, administrator at Malone-Hogan. "Failure to continue the rate of reduction will mean that the certificates will be withdrawn," he said. Knox was named in May to the State committee which will review the exceptions, as claimed by hospitals that do not reach the two per cent reduction goal. Participating in the Texas voluntary effort together with hospitals are physicians, nurses, pharmacists and other health care groups. Over 20 health, business and state government groups, including the Governor's Office have organized to effectively deal with the problem of rising health care costs.

Kiwanis holds family picnic

The Kiwanis Club held its annual family picnic Thursday night with approximately 30 members and their families, a total of near 75 in attendance. The picnic, which took place this year on the pavilion on Scenic Mountain, is a project of Kiwanis International to emphasize the importance of the family. Fried chicken, potato salad, ice cream, and other types of picnic fare were served.

Money woes may slow overseas travel

There was a time when it seemed half the nation was making plans to spend the summer in the south of France or climbing the Alps in Switzerland.

Overseas travel was the 'in' thing. It was considered very fashionable to visit a quaint place like Japan, especially because it was such a bargain.

THE SITUATION has turned around, though. The dollar has fallen into such low estate, people are finding it very difficult to accumulate enough money to make a trip of any consequence to the storied places of the Old World and the Far East.

The cost of living in a number of the more cosmopolitan centers is shocking, compared to that at home, according to Business International, which annually surveys the world scene in order to advise firms doing business abroad.

Toyko, the greatest city in a country that is fast becoming recognized as the no. one industry giant, has assumed the dubious honor of the most expensive city in the world with average living costs 56.6 per cent higher than that in New York.

It's hard to believe that a good steak in a top-flight restaurant in Japan can cost $100 or more in Yankee dollars, that a room in a first class hotel can run that much and more — yet those are the stories being brought back by American tourists.

A TOTAL of 59 cities were surveyed by Business International. The check showed that Europe's costliest cities are now Geneva and Zurich, both in Switzerland. Stockholm, Sweden, and Oslo, Norway, are not far behind. Portugal is still a good bargain for the American tourist, Spain is not bad but the situation is going to get worse there by 1979 because prices are going to experience a sharp rise.

Living costs in Buenos Aires,

Argentina, are about half of what they are in New York. The traveler pays accordingly.

For a long time, the phrase, "See America First," was fashionable and it likely will become popular again, if rates keep going up overseas.

Unless and until the American dollar firms up, and it won't unless our balance of payments becomes more favorable, the fashion of seeing the world just might become passe.

After all, who wants to find himself stranded in some foreign land and be told he has to pay usurious rates even to get his money exchanged? Let's spend it at home, where at least the dollar is more appreciated.

They're so 'rat'

Around the rim

Walt Finley

Bertina DeLeon, Herald word chaser and known in newspaper circles as the Little General, insists: "Two heads are better than one unless they're on the same shoulders."

Ex-Alpine cowboy, Jay Sanders, had some thoughts while observing wildlife. If it loses its mate, does a porcupine?

Is an owl the only thing that gives a hoot anymore?

DR. LEE EVANS and his beautiful wife Betty read the item in my rim about rat population in New York and argued whether "eraticate" was an error or intentional. Betty said it was intentional.

That's rat. A Big Spring mother, worried that her daughter, who now has her own apartment, wasn't eating right, went to the freezer and extracted a foil-wrapped package.

"Here's a steak I can't use," she said. The daughter took the package home, put a potato in the oven to bake, fixed a salad and looked forward eagerly to a steak dinner.

Shortly before the potato was done, she opened the package and found what her mother had given her by mistake.

A frozen dog bone. Are you reading this Moon-Child?

Would you say the American dollar is a little dippy?

JIMMY THE GREEK keeps saying Oral Roberts University in Tulsa is being investigated by the NCAA leading ORU sports publicist Satch Furman to comment:

"He's one for 10 on his Super Bowl picks. How's that for accuracy?"

My priceless cousin, Price Everett of Bridgeport, was in the heart of the Illinois farmland recently. "What beautiful tomatoes," he commented to a grocer.

"Yes," he said, "we get them from Texas."

The joke of the day is about the lost balloonist who hollered: "Ahoj below, where am I?"

Started farmer: "Heh, heh, ya can't fool me, by gum. Yer up there in that little basket!"

The really old-timers keep referring to the terrible temperatures of the 1930s. They can't even give the modern age credit for having a first-class heat wave.

A NOTICE in the bulletin of the Graham, Tex., Rotary Club said: Bees that remain away from their hives for more than three or four days lose their "hive odor" and are killed by the guards when they return.

Rotary is like that. Remain away too long and you lose the "Rotary odor."

Attend Rotary regularly and smell like the rest of us.

A student in a New York City school wrote a letter to the editor:

"The lunches at P.S. 123 are simply terrible. The potatoes taste like castor oil, the chicken is greasy. The hamburgers taste nasty and the meatloaf is nasty."

"The Board of Education needs to improve the food because a lot of children are just going home."

THE INFLATION we're all experiencing triggered a memory for my ice-cream aunt, Fannie Everett, who recalled a story that made the rounds during the Great Depression.

One of the four persons employed in those days was having problems with creditors who were forever annoying him with nasty communications with a sense of urgency about them.

So the fellow sent all of them a form letter which read:

"I am a man who likes to live well. Consequently, as a means of catering to my tastes, it is inevitable that I contact a rather large number of debts."

"Naturally, I receive many bills and here is how I deal with them. I place all of them in my homburg hat, stir well and cast the lot of them toward the ceiling. Those who stick to the ceiling I pay. Those that do not must wait their turn the following month."

"In conclusion, I must advise you that if I receive any more nasty letters from you, it will necessitate my removing your bills from any future raffles."

That traveling man, Kenneth Hart, reports a reported comment on Wall Street:

"(Not) Be doing in the stock markets? Well, last week my headache split two for one."

Plan backfires

Jack Anderson,

WASHINGTON — The Carter administration has once again alienated key congressional leaders in an effort to defuse a politically sensitive issue.

Last year the White House proposed and carefully nurtured a bill to grant amnesty to an estimated 765,000 illegal aliens who came into the United States before 1970. But a subsequent push to make these aliens eligible for welfare and disability benefits has caused the whole plan to backfire.

THE NEW SCHEME, cooked up by over-anxious bureaucrats at the Health, Education and Welfare Department, predictably ruffled some feathers on Capitol Hill. The powerful Sen. James Eastland, D-Miss., who had originally agreed to sponsor the Carter amnesty proposal, joined with Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., in expressing their displeasure.

The senators complained in a private letter to HEW Secretary Joseph Califano that it is "clear that Congress intended to exclude illegal aliens" from taxpayer-supported welfare benefits. "When Congress is ready to provide... benefits to illegal aliens, we will do so."

Eastland and Percy added pointedly: "We are especially dismayed that HEW thus appears to be acting in blatant disregard of the intent of Congress... Policy decisions such as this (should) be decided by Congress, not by bureaucratic decree that flies in the face of what Congress has decided."

They declared, "There is practically no possibility" that Congress will pass the illegal alien bill this year. Some five million aliens, therefore, will remain in legal limbo indefinitely. The legislation apparently will be buried, along with a growing list of Carter's domestic proposals, in the congressional graveyard.

Footnote: An HEW spokesman said the proposed benefits would ease the plight of thousands of impoverished aliens who have been living in this country for many years.

SHELTON REVISITED: The U.S. ambassador to Nicaragua from 1970 to 1975 was Turner B. Shelton. Commencing in 1973, we did a series of articles critical of the ambassador. We have concluded that, to be totally fair to Ambassador Shelton, the following should be added to the record.

Our criticism of Ambassador Shelton was based upon his close relationship with President Somoza, but in light of additional facts we are now convinced he was merely carrying out the Nixon administration's policy in Nicaragua. On Dec. 22, 1972, a devastating earthquake struck Nicaragua. We reported that the Sheltons were primarily concerned with their own personal problems.

We are now persuaded that the ambassador and his wife were deeply concerned about the devastation. The ambassador worked tirelessly for six days and nights with little more than a few hours sleep and refused to let a broken arm slow him down.

For their efforts, the embassy received a special commendation from the State Department and White House. He also received from President Somoza the highest award of Nicaragua.

AFTER LEAVING Nicaragua, Shelton became diplomat-in-residence at the Naval War College in Newport, R.I. He retired on March 31, 1977. He is now a successful international consultant representing the interests of U.S. firms abroad.

We did not agree with the Nixon administration's policy toward Nicaragua. Perhaps this influenced our attitude toward Shelton. His 30 years with the government included notable achievements and the Distinguished Service award. He played a leading role in negotiating the first U.S.-Russian cultural exchange program.

NAZI NERVE GAS: Adolf Hitler came terrifyingly close to ordering the use of a lethal nerve gas that could have exterminated the populations of Washington, London and Moscow and won World War II. Only the erroneous belief that the Allies possessed the same gas and would retaliate prevented the Nazi leader from employing the dread weapon in the closing days of the war.

This is but one of a series of disclosures outlined in a new book, "The Crime and Punishment of I.G. Farben," by Joseph Borkin. It recounts how Farben, the monster German chemical combine, helped Hitler's war effort and then escaped any serious penalty at the Nuremberg war crimes trials.

Borkin reveals that as early as May, 1943, three of the Fuhrer's henchmen urged him to use the I.G. Farben nerve gas, Tabun, against Russian troops. A drop of Tabun on a person's skin resulted in death within minutes. Hitler dropped the idea only after being told that the Allies had access to the same chemical formula for producing the gas.

Tax revolt limits

Evans, Novak,

RICHLAND, Mich. — While the tax revolt soars out of control and President Carter's standing keeps dropping in this middle-class Midwestern community, a veteran Republican congressman is threatened with a battle for survival.

Our interviews in Precinct No. 1 of Richland Township in southern Michigan west of Kalamazoo, conducted with help from Pat Caddell's Cambridge Survey Research, point up Republican difficulty in making major congressional gains. If six-term Rep. Garry Brown has trouble retaining his seat here, Republican chances for unseating many Democratic incumbents are bleak indeed.

THESE INTERVIEWS suggest that Brown faces another tight race against Democratic challenger Howard Wolpe, barely edged out by Brown in 1974. The unmistakable conclusion is: first, the Carter political fiasco is not hurting Wolpe; second, Brown is not helped by the tax revolt.

Questioning 69 registered and probable voters in Precinct No. 1, which was selected by Caddell as a barometer of the 3rd Congressional District, shows Mr. Carter losing a net nine voters to Michigan favorite son Gerald Ford since the 1976 election. These voters now divide 47 for Ford, 18 for Carter, 4 undecided. The president's job rating is 34 per cent.

Simultaneously, middle-income voters here (mean salary: $17,100), mainly white-collar and skilled crafts, have tax-cut fever. They favor both President Carter's tax reduction and the deeper Republican Kemp-Roth cut, both by more than 2-to-1.

More significantly, they divide 4-to-1 for the Tisch amendment, a proposed sharp cutback in state property taxes on the November ballot roughly similar to California's Proposition 13 and similarly opposed by leaders of both parties. Although many voters expressed hesitancy because of reductions in government services, three out of four Tisch supporters conceded that such services probably would be cut back.

With inflation overwhelmingly picked as the nation's most important problem, these voters are desperate for relief. "Too much money is wasted in the government," a 20-year-old community relations worker told us. The 39-year-old wife of a small businessman proclaimed the tax revolt's slogan: "Things are getting out of hand."

The anti-Carter, anti-tax mood would seem ideal for 54-year-old conservative Republican Brown (a sponsor of Kemp-Roth) against 38-year-old liberal Democrat Wolpe (until recently a field representative for Sen. Don Riegle). Yet our interviews show that the liberal National Committee for an Effective Congress (NCEC) is realistic in putting Brown on its conservative hit list.

Brown carried Precinct No. 1 with 50.9 per cent in 1976, while winning the district with 51 per cent. Our 69 interviews (comprising about one-tenth of the precinct's 1976 voters) split 33-to-29 for Brown with 7 undecided — much too close to call.

What's more, these interviews tend to confirm the NCEC strategy placing personality over taxes. As to which candidate is "too political," Brown leads Wolpe 5-to-1; Wolpe is viewed by a substantial majority as closer to them and a warmer, more decent person.

A 66-YEAR-OLD retired salesman who voted for Mr. Carter last time would not now because "Carter's too wishy-washy." While supporting the Tisch amendment and Kemp-Roth, this voter favored Wolpe "because Brown's not concerned enough on the issues."

Similarly, a 48-year-old office secretary, a self-styled conservative, calls Mr. Carter "a disaster," and backs the Tisch amendment as "the only way to accomplish anything."

Sjogren's: Problem of over-50 women

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have a clipping from your column of many years ago dealing with tic douloureux, severe pain of the face and head. I wonder if you could write about any newer treatment of this? — B.E.

Since writing that column (more than 10 years ago) there have been improvements in treatment of this painful nerve condition. In modern medicine 10 years can be an eternity.

One improvement was introduction of the drug Tegreto (carbamazepine) which gives rather prompt relief. It is taken by mouth. It is not like an analgesic (pain reliever) but must be taken continuously. One disadvantage is its potential effect on the blood system, both on red and white blood cells. So the blood is monitored during treatment. It can cause sleepiness and skin eruptions. If tolerated, it is effective in about 80 per cent of cases of tic douloureux.

Various nerve-related surgical procedures have been tried, and there have been improvements in techniques to avoid loss of sensation in the face or facial paralysis common in the past. A neurologist would fill you in on these and advise you as to the drug therapy.

Many readers collect my columns for scrap books, so occasionally I am called to account for something written many years ago that may run counter to a more recent discussion. So many changes have occurred in treatment of various diseases (gout, shingles and tic douloureux are a few examples) that apparent inconsistencies are to be expected occasionally. For this reason doctors must continually attend medical meetings and monitor professional journals to keep up.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: During the past year my fingernails have been separating in layers near the tips. I am 66 years old and took blood tests and they put me on potassium tablets. Will this help the nails? I have been taking water pills. Can you say what is causing this nail condition? — Mrs. M.J.

Most problems with nails begin on the outside. By that I mean exposure to strong detergents, soaps, fungus infections, or even from even having the nails too long. Internal causes are poor nutrition (particularly low protein intake), anemia, as from an iron deficiency, or hypothyroidism (low gland activity). Also, nail plates tend to become brittle with age.

There are hardeners you can use, but be sure you get one from a reliable cosmetic counter. I suspect your potassium supplements were to counter the loss of that mineral from the diuretic use. I doubt it will help your nails. Read my booklet, "Solving Your Nail Problems." Send 35 cents and a stamped self-addressed envelope to me care of the Big Spring Herald.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I was having abdominal pain, so had exploratory surgery of the common bile duct. The doctor told me I had Crohn's disease. He didn't explain it. Would you? How does it affect a person? I never heard of it. — F.K.

You may have heard of it as "regional enteritis," a stubborn inflammation of the ileum, the second portion of the small intestine. It is featured by abdominal pain, fever, loss of appetite and weight loss. X-rays of the small bowel will show any intestinal defects.

Treatment is by drugs to reduce bowel activity, along with a bland diet and bulk producers to keep the stool soft. Surgery may be needed if the condition doesn't respond to this conservative treatment.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been told to cut down on sugar intake. Can I use honey or maple syrup as a substitute? — Mrs. B.K.

These are both high in sugar content and would defeat the purpose of the sugar restriction diet. If you need sweeteners, sugar substitutes are available.

Do you often have a "stomach ache"? If so, your stomach may not be the real trouble spot. Dr. Thosteson's new booklet, "Stomach and Other Abdominal Pains: A Checklist" tells you why. For your copy, write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 35 cents.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I would like to know your definition of a Christian. — N.A.

DEAR N.A.: I believe the important thing is not my own opinion, but what the Bible itself says. The term "Christian" occurs three times in the New Testament, and I think these give us a good idea about the real meaning. Perhaps the clearest reference is in Acts 11:26. "And the disciples were called Christians first in Antioch."

What is a Christian, then? A Christian is a disciple of Jesus Christ. But what is a disciple? A disciple of Jesus Christ is a person who has committed himself (or herself) to Jesus Christ as Lord of life and is trusting Christ alone for salvation. Such a person has renounced sin and is seeking to live for Christ.

Another way to look at this is to see what the Bible says about the human race, and about what God has done to save us. The Bible says the human race has a crucial problem — sin. We have rebelled against God, even though He created us and continues to take care of us and provide for our needs. But the amazing thing is that God loves us — even when we do not love Him. The proof of His love is the fact that He sent His Son to take away our sin. I don't believe we can fully grasp the wonder of God's love because our minds are too limited. But the Bible tells us that Jesus Christ died on the Cross for us. We deserved to die as punishment for our sins, but Christ died for us.

How can we become disciples of Jesus Christ? By a simple act of commitment and faith. We must believe that Jesus Christ died for us and can take away our sins. And we must repent of our sins and accept Christ as Lord of our lives. "If thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved" (Romans 10:9).

I invite you to become a Christian — a disciple of Jesus Christ. You can do it right now by a simple prayer of trust and faith. "For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved" (Romans 10:13).

Dale Evans, the deeply religious Texas girl who married Cowboy Roy Rogers, expresses concern over the direction the women's liberation movement in this country is taking, says it is encouraging the breakup of the home.

Dale also frowns on the growing use of day-care centers by working mothers. "Children have to be taught ideals and truths, and the day-care centers can't teach them that," says Mrs. Rogers.

Dale's first son, Tom Fox, now 50, is the person who inspired Mrs. Rogers to commit her life to Jesus Christ. Dale's first husband deserted her. Fox, a product of that marriage, is now minister of music at Near Baptist Church near Sacramento.

Jackie Cowan, the San Angelo Standard-Times sports editor, formerly with the Herald, has declined several offers to move into the 'hard news' division of the paper. He much prefers the athletic beat.

Ron Fairly has been in big league baseball so long they say his first roommates were two guys named Lewis and Clark.

Fairly got his first three hits off Robin Roberts, no mean feat in those days. That was in 1958, when he wore Dodger flannels.

When asked to pick his all-time team, players he had played with and against, Ron opted for Bill Mazerowski (Pittsburgh) over Cincinnati's Joe Morgan at second. He thinks Morgan could have made the double play a little better.

Fairly's contemporaries say that he had been able to heel-and-toe it down to first base a little faster, he might have been ranked with the all-time greats. As it was, Fairly had to apologize to no one for his hitting.

Water need stoutly defended

Hearing resumes Wednesday

Special To The Herald

The Texas Water Commission's hearing on the application of the Colorado River Municipal Water District to impound a 554,000-acre-foot lake on the Colorado River near Stacy inched along last week in Austin with CRMWD witnesses stoutly defending a need for the project.

Hearings will resume at 10 a.m. Wednesday in Austin with S. W. Freese, the district's consulting engineer, still testifying as to demands for water in West Texas. CRMWD officials are hopeful he may also be able to complete his testimony as to channel losses between the proposed lake and downstream Lake Buchanan (first of the chain of Highland Lakes operated by the opposing Lower Colorado River Authority), and on a suggested plan of operation of the Highland Lakes as to minimize any effect of a reservoir at Stacy.

The hearings began July 8 with questioning of O. H. Ivie, CRMWD general manager, consuming two weeks and will be going into their fourth week with prospects of possibly going through September.

There appeared no change in the basic strategy of opponents during the past week in questioning of Wallace Case, manager of engineering services for Texas Utilities Services, Inc., which wants to build a 3,000 megawatt plant at the lake if it is constructed, and of Freese. Case repeatedly refuted the suggestion that the proposed lake was purely a TUSI project, and that the CRMWD's application was a cover-up for this.

"Why don't you build the lake yourself?" asked Fred Werkenhain, chief counsel for LCRA. Commissioner Joe Carroll wryly observed that "this has a familiar ring." The same issue came up recently when LCRA negotiated a contract by which it would derive millions of dollars for water it sells to the South Texas Nuclear Power Plant.

When Thomas George, attorney for opposing Travis Property Owners Association, suggested that TUSI ought to build the plant in East Texas where there was both fuel (lignite) and water, Case replied this was both impractical and shortsighted. Lignite plants in East Texas are geared to the life of the supply of this fuel, and to add more plants would simply deplete fuel reserves before the plants paid out, he said. Coal from huge reserves TUSI has acquired in New Mexico would cost approximately fifteen million dollars a year more to haul to East Texas than to the Stacy reservoir.

"Stacy is the most practical and economic site," added Case, noting that a plant will have to be built to meet rising demands for power in the West Texas area. TUSI has been studying a plant "because it takes about 10 years of planning and construction before one kilowatt of power ever comes from a plant," and when CRMWD approached TUSI as a possible customer, it struck a ready response.

Case also interjected that an acre-foot of water can produce 1,000 times more kilowatt hours in a modern steam generating plant than can be produced hydro electrically through the facilities owned by LCRA. (LCRA discharges large volumes of water to generate hydro electrical power.) He told Jack Cox, the attorney representing public interests, that the Stacy plant would be a much more efficient utilization of water.

Werkenhain wanted to know why Freese had relied only on the Texas Department of Water Resources population estimates in arriving at his demand estimates. Freese said it was "because they are the best and most accurate available." These figures, he continued, reflect a 12,580-acre-foot water deficit by 1990 in the CRMWD service area, which he described as lying between the Stacy Reservoir and the Cap Rock.

By the year 2030, this disparity would reach 101,000 acre-feet per annum despite all management efforts and development of limited ground water (well) supplies. Responding to a question of why he didn't consider ground water in Winkler County, Freese said the District didn't own the rights, that the supplies, whatever volume, were significant only in power savings in meeting periods of peak demand.

Over objections of Werkenhain, he identified a map which showed that the Colorado watershed above the Stacy Reservoir has 40.2 per cent of the entire basin's population but gets only 17.3 per cent of the total runoff. Werkenhain argued a line drawn anywhere would show this and asked the purpose of the map.

"It shows that 'they' (West Texas) get very little water," said Jim Wilson, one of the CRMWD lawyers, "and they ought to get to keep what they get."

Freese testified about numerous studies and statements from various district's bond prospectuses and told Frank Booth, CRMWD attorney, that "each one of these studies and reports are very consistent if you take into consideration changes in periods of critical drought and siltation." Nevertheless, Werkenhain hammered long and hard at what he contended were discrepancies in estimates in supplies. When he intimated Ward County ground water had been left

Dr. Cebik named assistant dean for research at UT

Dr. LeRoy J. Cebik, professor of philosophy at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville, has been named assistant dean for research at UTK.

Cebik, a former resident of Big Spring and a graduate of Howard College, is married to the former Mary Helen Yater, daughter of Clifton and Opal Yater also of Big Spring.

Dr. L. Evans, UTK vice chancellor for graduate studies and research, announced the appointment and said the new position was created to offer more support in contract writing and grantsmanship for all academic departments.

"Program development and the steadily increasing complexity of administrative regulations concerning proposals, grants and contracts make it necessary to expand the assistance from the Office of Graduate Studies and Research," Roth said.

"A special effort has been made to diversify the disciplinary backgrounds in our office so that additional support will be available to the arts, humanities and social sciences."

Five UTK colleges now have associate deans for research and Dr. Carl Thomas, dean for research, and Cebik will be working with these units to determine funding priorities and help secure contracts, Roth said.

Cebik has been on the UTK faculty since 1973 and was previously an assistant professor of philosophy at the University of Georgia. He received undergraduate degrees in philosophy and English from Texas Technological College, the masters and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Nebraska.

Newspaper strike said 'serious'

Labor talks to be renewed

NEW YORK (AP) — Renewed negotiations in the three-day-old strike by printing pressmen against the city's three major dailies were set to resume Monday.

In scheduling the talks, a spokesman for the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service called the strike "very serious."

"We want to do everything we can to get that message across and try to get the people back to hammering out some kind of agreement," said Kenneth E. Moffett.

Following the mediator's call Friday for further bargaining, 10 newspaper craft unions called the situation a "publishers' lockout" by the morning newspapers, the News and the Times, and the afternoon Post.

The unions urged a quick end to the "lockout," warning that unless the publishers took appropriate action, eight unions not under contract could prolong the shutdown indefinitely.

"This could escalate into a domino situation," said George E. McDonald, president of the Allied Printing Trades Council. He said member unions of the council had reaffirmed their support of the strikers, members of Printing Pressmen's Union No. 2.

The 1,550 printing pressmen walked out after the three publishers carried out a threat to post new work rules in the absence of a contract agreement. Among other things, the new rules call for personnel cuts which the pressmen say the will not stand for.

Meanwhile, some of the top editorial employees of the struck dailies have been working for an interim daily called "City News," to be published daily for the duration of the strike. It will sell for 25 cents.

The tabloid-sized paper, started by Christopher Hagedorn of Hagedorn Communications Inc., will make its first appearance Wednesday.

"There will be a strong emphasis on local news," Hagedorn said, adding that the paper will carry stock tables, race results, television listings and a crossword puzzle.

While Hagedorn was announcing creation of a new newspaper, existing suburban and smaller city papers rushed to fill the city's news void.

Newspapers in suburban Long Island, Westchester and New Jersey increased their press runs in some instances to meet demand, but said they were not selling outside their usual locations.

Some surprised subscribers who usually have the Times home-delivered found a copy of the Philadelphia Inquirer in their doorsteps instead.

Officials of that paper said they ran off 60,000 extra copies because of "demand by our distributors and dealers in south Jersey and the Trenton area. ... I would guess they are making arrangements with dealers in the New York area."

Besides the Philadelphia Inquirer, the afternoon Philadelphia Bulletin said it increased its press run by 50,000 copies.

Clayton happy with session's outcome

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — House Speaker Bill Clayton had his political problems in the special tax relief session but said Saturday he was glad it was held and is pleased with the outcome. "If we had to do it again and knew we would come up with a package like the session produced, I'd say the grief of the session was worth it," Clayton said. His problems during the session came from supporters for Rep. Buddy Temple, D-Diboll, for speaker and from the "Sam Houston Caucus" of representatives complaining about his leadership. Clayton was interviewed on "State Capitol Dateline," a production of the Wendell Mayes Stations. "I think the end product is a balanced product," Clayton said, even though it left out some provisions he had sought. He said the proposed constitutional amendments submitted to the voters at the close of the session will provide Texans some reduction in their property taxes. Homestead exemptions included in the proposal "work out to a considerable saving," he said. The proposal exempts

$5,000 of the market value of homesteads from school taxes and allows the Legislature to exempt up to $10,000 more if the owners are disabled or 65 and older. Old persons getting the additional exemption also would enjoy a freeze on their property taxes as long as they owned their homes. "The freeze is going to be of considerable interest to elderly persons on fixed incomes," Clayton said. A "truth in taxation" provision is important, he said, because it will force taxing jurisdictions to inform the public before taking advantage of the "windfall profit" from revaluations. "I think with the truth in taxation, once and for all this sort of thing will be eliminated," he said, because there would be an automatic decrease in the rate unless notice and hearings are given. Clayton said the proposal also should help pass property tax "reform" legislation next session by eliminating fears of statewide property appraisal and tax collecting. The constitutional amendments package specifies there will be no statewide property appraisals and requires appeals to originate at the local level. "People have begun to realize the time has come that if you going to use ad valorem property tax as the basis for funding governmental entities, then certainly we're going to have to find some ways to see that it is done equally and uniformly. That certainly is not the case now," he said.

SIGNING CONTRACTS — Troy Fraser, president of Bilt Rite Pallet, Inc. signs contracts for the lease of Building 615 at the Big Spring Industrial Park. Big Spring Mayor Wade Choate is also signing the contracts as Jack Redding, of the president of the Big Spring Industrial Team looks on. The firm presently employs 60 workers, but plans to expand to 100 in the next year. It outgrew its previous facilities, and plans to add two new operations, a re-saw or recycling of lumber operation and a remanufacture of the firms waste product into drilling mud to be used in the oilfields.

Two Sterling County projects announced

Sterling County gained a pair of projects this week. The Deck (Cosco) pool is the location of the projects which will be drilled by Ike Lovelady Inc. of Midland. No. 2 Bailey will be drilled from the south and east lines of Section 23, Block 2, T&P Survey and 19 miles southwest of Sterling City. In Andrews County, Exxon Corp. has announced completion of a pair of wells in the Three Bar (Yates) area 18 miles southwest of Andrews. No. 87-2 J.E. Parker firmed for a calculated, absolute open flow potential of 205,000 cubic feet of gas per day, from open hole at 2,844 feet; where 5 1/2 inch pipe is set; and total depth of 1,920 feet. The pay was fractured with 18,000 gallons. Location is 975 feet from the south and 950 feet from the west lines of Section 1, Block A-54 PSL Survey. Exxon No. 8-9 J.E. Parker was completed for a calculated, absolute open flow of 239,000 cubic feet of gas per day, from open hole at 2,865 feet, where 5 1/2 inch casing was set and total depth of 2,866 feet. The pay was fractured with 18,000 gallons. Location is 1,700 feet from north and east lines of Section 2, Block A-54, PSL Survey.

Films of Spain will be screened Monday

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Nowadays it's as hard to get into UCLA and USC film schools as it is to enter Harvard Medical School, and no wonder. Film schools are the largest source of new movie makers. Colin Higgins is the latest to join Francis Coppola, George Lucas, John Milius, Hal Barwood, Matthew Robbins and others who have graduated from filming 8mm shorts on campus to spending millions on wide-screen features. For his master's thesis at UCLA, Higgins wrote the script of "Harold and Maude," and that would have been enough to ensure his fame. Last year's surprise smash, "Silver Streak," was written by Higgins.

FIRST EVER — The 1978-79 Coahoma High School band will, for the first time, have a marching flag corp to provide a little more color to the band's activities. Members of the corp are being assisted by Chris Baudoin, left, who is from the University of Southwest Louisiana at

CHS band reports for work

Members of the Coahoma High School band have begun summer rehearsals, as the twirlers started first on July 31, working with National Baton Twirlers Association two-year champ Melody Roden, feature twirler from Eastern Texas State University.

The Flag Corp, a first for the Coahoma band, began working Aug. 7, as did the percussion section.

The remainder of the band begins rehearsals Monday, with practice from 8 a.m. to noon and 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. daily under the direction of band director Pam Hansen.

The Coahoma School District has employed a new junior high band director, Brian Gilman, of Fort Worth. Gilman, a 1976 graduate of Eastern Texas State University, held a previous teaching position at Lamar High School in Houston.

Coahoma Band Boosters will meet at 7:30 p.m. Aug. 21 at the Coahoma High School band hall and will have their annual membership drive Aug. 31 at 7 p.m. also at the band hall.

BEGAN EARLY — Members of the Coahoma High School band in the percussion section, like Flag Corp members, had to meet a week earlier than the rest of the band. The two groups began practice Aug. 7, with the remainder of the band to assemble Monday, Aug.

14. Percussionists include, left to right, Eddie Williams, Kisa Pettitt, Alicia Thompson, Ricky Martin, Jeff Murphee, Billy Rorick, Becky Page and Alisa Scott.

College board meets Tuesday

The Howard College budget will be considered at the regular meeting of the board of trustees at 12:30 p.m. Tuesday in the board room of the Dora Roberts Student Union Building.

The board will also discuss personnel considerations, several bids and hear regular reports.

Of 'them against us syndrome'

Byrd warns legislators

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Majority Leader Robert Byrd said Saturday he cautioned the president and congressional leaders not to fall into a "them-against-us syndrome" where one side blames the other for failures to agree on policy.

"The fact that the Congress doesn't follow through and act as a rubber stamp and give the administration what it wants in every jot and tittle doesn't mean we aren't cooperating," he told reporters at a weekly news conference.

Byrd said he expressed this view at a congressional leadership breakfast with the president on Tuesday. Some key White House aides also attended.

Some members of Congress have complained of personal slights and the repeated failure of administration figures to consult with Congress before making legislative proposals.

The most recent flareup was when Speaker of the House Thomas P. O'Neill was not informed beforehand that one of his friends was to be fired from a key position in the General Services Administration.

O'Neill has been a staunch ally of the president in the House. But O'Neill was so upset at the way the matter was handled that he refused for a time to allow the White House congressional liaison aide, Frank Moore, in his office.

The administration hastily found another job for O'Neill's friend, Robert T. Griffin — a $50,000 a year post as special assistant to Robert Strauss, presidential trade negotiator and inflation-control expert.

The senator said he deals directly with Carter or talks with the liaison aide or Cabinet heads when problems arise.

Effects of Tropical Storm Amelia devastating

Gentle river, spurred by rains, turns into dreaded killer force

BANDERA, Texas (AP) — It's the river — the ice-clear Medina, canopied by ancient cypress trees and gurgling gently through the ruggedly beautiful Hill Country — that pumps millions of tourist dollars into scenic Bandera County each year.

But the river — suddenly transformed before dawn Aug. 2 into a snarling, muddy, 50-foot wall of water — turned on Bandera during the lucrative tourist season, snapping those huge cypress canopies like matchsticks and slicing a deadly, multi-million dollar path.

The frothing Medina, spurred by torrential rains from Tropical Storm Amelia which came ashore between Corpus Christi and Brownsville, rampaged at 4 a.m. through the riverfront Camp Bandera homes, built by those who had retired to the solitude of the river. Eight persons, most of them elderly retirees, died there. More than 100 children escaped injury at the church camp only a few yards away. It ripped through the Peaceful Valley Dude Ranch, which was filled to a festive summer capacity. Almost everything but the buildings' concrete foundations was washed away. Pieces of the ranch airplane were left twisted in a tree downstream.

Four sleeping Peaceful Valley guests were killed and three others disappeared beneath the churning water. About 20 staff members and guests survived by clinging to trees or rooftops for a terrifying six hours.

In neighboring Kendall and Kerr counties, the usually placid Guadalupe River, also swelled by the 30-inch rains, came out of the limestone hills and killed 10 other persons in Center Point and Comfort.

The next day, tropical rains from the same storm system bore down on the small West Texas ranching town of Albany, about 30 miles northeast of Abilene. The excessive rainfall and bulging Hubbard Creek caused sudden floods that washed away 10 homes, damaged hundreds of others and killed at least five persons.

To the northeast, one county over, the Brazos rose from its banks and inundated the west side of Graham, a town of 8,000.

By the time the rivers returned to their banks a week later, at least 29 persons had died and another 10 or so were missing.

More than a week later, authorities in Albany still were searching for the bodies of four other victims believed swept away and drowned. Sheriff Ben Jack Riley said they may never be found.

"Sides of the creek caved in in several places. They could be buried under 20 feet," he said.

The flood in Albany hit hardest in the city's poorest residential section, a neighborhood known as the "the Flat." Those living in the run-down frame homes located only a few feet from Hubbard Creek who survived got out early or spent the night in trees, praying and watching boiling flood currents destroy their homes.

Fortunately no one was killed in Graham as residents had time to evacuate with a few belongings. The flood waters inundated the city's water pumping station and sewage treatment plant, making daily living uncomfortable for all residents a week after the flood. The muddy waters rushed into many houses and businesses, severely damaging more than 250 in the city limits alone.

"Terrible, terrible," remarked Gov. Dolph Briscoe as he toured Graham late last week with his wife, Janey.

"It's a shame," Mrs. Briscoe said.

Although Graham and Albany were hard hit, it was Bandera, a onetime Texas Ranger frontier outpost and a picturesque resort and ranching town of 1,100, that bore the brunt of the flooding, the area's most deadly and destructive.

Even a week later, searchers still combed the debris for the bodies of the missing victims. The remains of the once-proud cypress trees were tangled along the water's path, tattered clothing and household goods swaying from their torn limbs. Refrigerators, stoves, bricks and twisted automobiles and trucks littered the flooded areas. In some places, the stench from the rotting carcasses of dead livestock hung in the air like the buzzards circling over them.

"It's a mess, a real mess," said Dave Soltz of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, who estimates it will take several months to clean up the debris.

But Bandera was attempting last week to return to normal. Road and telephone repair crews dotted the area and restaurants and businesses were re-opened.

More than 300 flood victims had applied for federal disaster relief and the first of more than 200 federally-owned mobile homes began arriving for the homeless. The junior high school cafeteria, used as a morgue after the flood, was a bustling Red Cross emergency center.

The electricity has been restored and the city's water supply was not affected by the filthy, germ-laden flood waters.

And most of the National Guardsmen, forced last weekend to keep out looters and curiosity seekers, had departed by last Wednesday.

All but a few of Bandera's numerous dude ranches escaped serious flood damage and were half-heartedly operating last week, filled with flood-curious tourists or faithful guests who have been coming to this area for several years.

"That river was worth millions of dollars to us. We had a beautiful riverfront. It will take a while to clean it up," said Frank Anderwald, owner of the Twin Elms Guest Ranch.

"It's taken years to build

up our businesses, but it'll all be back. It'll be in full swing next year," he predicted.

Tourists who have visited Art Kitzman's Peaceful Valley ranch for more than 25 years have donated money and offered to spend their vacations helping to rebuild the popular dude ranch.

"We just don't know if we can afford to rebuild. I think we'll be back. Our guests have called, asking us to rebuild and some have offered their vacations to help," said Kitzman, who estimates his loss at $250,000. He escaped from Peaceful Valley with only the clothes he was wearing, as did vacationing Kim Tomes of Houston, Miss USA of 1977.

"I know that if I do rebuild, I'll be better prepared for another flood," he added. "We might lose some property next time, but I'm going to make sure there's no loss of life."

Local officials in the eight counties declared disaster areas have estimated flood damage to homes and businesses alone at more than $60 million. Three were in the Hill Country — Bandera, Kerr and Kendall — and five in North Central Texas — Shackelford, Young, Haskell, Stephens and Throckmorton.

Some 700 homes and more than 50 businesses were severely damaged or destroyed. The floods also affected municipal facilities like water and sewage plants, roads and bridges. Equipment belonging to utility companies and oil fields suffered.

A spokesman for the Texas Department of Public Safety's Emergency Operations Center said damage from the floods throughout the state — including crop damage, drowned animals and other agricultural setbacks — may be about $500 million.

Ridin' fence

The window

with Marj Carpenter

The new interior decorating shop and luncheon restaurant called Fenestra is attracting a lot of attention over on Gregg Street.

But no matter what type of fancy name they give the house, meaning window, most people in town will probably still refer to it as the window.

The picture above is the residence as it was before being restored.

And nearly everyone that would drive by the home would think that they were the only ones who noticed the beautiful window in the rundown structure.

I have had people from Midland, Odessa, Andrews, Lamesa, and Snyder through the years ask, "Have you ever noticed that beautiful window in the old home on Gregg Street? Do you think she might sell it?"

Mrs. Guy Cravens, who resided in that home for 66 years until her death, was not about to sell that window. It was a source of great pride to her. The house was mostly known through the years as the Cravens House.

But back in the beginning, it was built in 1881 by a Mr. Pobenbach who worked for Texas and Pacific Railroad.

It was one of the earliest homes as far south from the railroad as its location at Fifth and Gregg.

It is now owned and operated by Mrs. JoAnn Kaufmann and Mrs. Katie Kernodle.

The home at one time was briefly owned by Dr. G. T. Hall but he never did live at that address.

Mrs. Craven's grandmother, known to early members of the community as Grandmother Zinn, lived there for many years. She lived to be 101 years old and was quite active in the Methodist Church here.

THE CRAVENS HOME...before restoration

Her early years in Big Spring were somewhat of a trial to her and she deplored sandstorms, as do many new arrivals today.

Many of her family members said that Grandmother Zinn never did get where she liked them, but she tolerated them.

She was particularly proud of the window in the front of the home, and told friends that it had been brought from "overseas" and then to Big Spring on the train.

Mrs. Cravens was a long-time resident and married here in Big Spring — but not in this house. She married at the home of an aunt, who was married to Sheriff J. A. Baggett and resided at 600 Main. That house is gone, but at one time held an artist (Caylor), and at one time an admiral.

The Cravens got married at 5 a.m. so they could catch the train to Fort Worth for their honeymoon.

The window is thought to have come from France since it had a fleur de lis pattern.

Mrs. Kaufmann said she originally stopped to look at the window and decided she just had to have the whole house.

Most people who had stopped had only wanted to purchase the window.

I'm glad that somebody purchased the entire thing and left the window where it has been for 97 years.

It's really pretty and we wish them luck in their venture — at Fenestra — or the window — out where I ride fence.

Australian hospital is acquired

A Hospital Corporation of America subsidiary has acquired its first facility in Australia, a 200-bed acute care hospital in Sydney, Malone-Hogan's administrator Norman Knox announced Saturday. Malone-Hogan Hospital is an affiliate of the Nashville-based corporation.

The announcement came from the company president, Dr. Thomas F. Frist, Jr., M.D., as he outlined plans for a major expansion program in Australia, and said that several acquisitions were in various stages of negotiations.

The acquired hospital is Baulkham Hills, the largest proprietary hospital in Australia. The acquisition was made with cash and notes, Dr. Frist explained, and the total cost was approximately $10,000,000.

Dr. Frist said the hospital is quite similar to Park View Hospital in Nashville, the Company's first acquisition in the United States. He said it would serve as a base for further expansion in Australia and as a model for the type of high quality care to which the Company is committed.

By the end of 1978, Dr. Frist stated, Hospital Corporation Australia, Pty, Ltd., the Company's Australian subsidiary, expects to complete additional acquisitions and begin new construction projects.

HCA is the world's leading hospital management company, with more than 100 hospitals and 16,000 beds in 24 states and three foreign countries. The Company's common stock is listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

Hull family has reunion

STANTON — An estimated 90 people attended the S. L. Hull family reunion here last weekend, held in the Community Center.

The reunion got its start in Howard County in the early 20s and has been held in Martin County the past four years.

People registered from Fort Worth, Seguin, San Angelo, Monahans and Odessa as well as Martin and Howard counties.

Three of the 11 children born to the Hull union were present. They were Earl Hull, Floyd Hull, and Leona Baugh, all of Howard County. A fourth survivor, H. A. Hull, now 86, is confined to a rest home in Hobbs, N.M. His condition has worsened in recent weeks.

Mrs. Hull, whose given name was Gussie, died in 1936 at the age of 64. Mr. Hull succumbed in 1945 at the age of 81.

Eight sons and three daughters were born to the couple.

Seventeen of the 26 grandchildren were present for the reunion, in addition to 17 great-grandchildren and 12 great-great-grandchildren.

A meal was served at noon and visitation continued until about 3 p.m.

Two from here on honor roll

Dr. Miles Anderson, vice president for academic affairs at North Texas State University in Denton, has released the spring semester honor roll which list 1,305 NTSU students.

Of the 15,990 students enrolled at NTSU in the spring semester, some 312 were listed on the 4.0 (or all "A") honor roll and 993 were named to the 3.5 listing, which includes those students whose grade average was midway between "A" and a "B."

Big Spring students named to the 3.5 honor roll at NTSU were: Joseph A. Langford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Langford, 1605 Sycamore; and David McCoy Morton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus, P. Morton, 2303 Austin.

READY FOR THE REUNION are, from left, Tony Di Mercurio, St. Louis, Missouri, Mollie Nichols, Exeter, Rhode Island, Virginia Klick Hagerstown, Md., Mrs. Ralph Berrie and Ralph Berrie, Malo, Wa., Mrs. Carl Dryer and Carl Dryer, Bradford, Pa., and Al Lloyd, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. The Ramada Inn has served as headquarters for the weekend reunion which 50 to 60 couples were to attend.

HOSTING THIS YEAR'S reunion for the 472nd Engineer Maintenance Company from World War II are Kit and Jim Moody, standing at the bottom of the stairs. Behind them are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Burgess, Mr. and Mrs. Al Lloyd and Mr. and Mrs. John Price.

Big Spring reunion site for maintenance group

By CAROL HART
Approximately 50 to 60 people are in Big Spring this weekend to uphold tradition and remember a little bit of the past.

Members of the 472nd Engineer Maintenance Company from World War II and their wives and families converged on Big Spring for a reunion not unlike those they have had every three years since 1952. Jim Moody, a member of the squad, and his wife, Kit, both of 5 Glenwood Cove, are the host couple for the event, which began with a registration period Friday at the Ramada Inn.

States represented at the reunion include Missouri, Rhode Island, Washington, Pennsylvania, Florida and Iowa. Also, North Carolina, Mississippi, California, New York and Maryland are claimed as home by some of the representatives.

The 472nd Engineer Maintenance Company was formed at Camp Shelby, Mississippi, in April, 1942, Mrs. Moody said. It was a group of technicians specializing in heavy equipment, and was to be only one of three such squads in the army. The group received overseas orders in August of 1942, and operated out of the South Pacific.

The group "decided to meet 10 years after they had formed the company," Mrs. Moody said. "The first one was in Davenport Iowa." The host couple that year was Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Misfeldt, who are in Big Spring for this year's reunion. The Misfeldts handle the newsletter for the company now.

Since the 1952 reunion, the group has convened in the states of Iowa, Texas, Rhode Island, Indiana, Missouri, California, and New York.

One of the special guests at the reunion is Ret. Col. Burton Pinkham, the company's commander. Pinkham planned to attend from Las Vegas, Nev., and makes all the reunions, Mrs. Moody said.

"All but two of the ex-host couples" were expected to attend, Mrs. Moody said. The Moodys job this year is to make reservations and arrangements for the reunion. The Moodys had originally set up the reunion in Midland, where they resided. Moody is employed with Halliburton, and the couple transferred to Big Spring last summer. Mrs. Moody canceled the Midland reservations and preceded to prepare for the reunion in Big Spring. The Ramada Inn is headquarters for the reunion.

The event included a lot of remembering and good times, Mrs. Moody said. "We remember the ones who have died," she added. "There is just a minute of remembering the ones who are deceased."

Mrs. Moody said a hospitality room was set up at the Ramada Inn Friday night. A banquet followed by a dance was slated Saturday at the Country Club. Slated to play were "The Texas Plainsmen" out of Odessa.

Today, the group plans a swimming party and barbecue at the Country Club.

"The rest of the time will be spent visiting and enjoying the company of people we see only every three years," Mrs. Moody said.

HANDLING REGISTRATION and pointing out places of interest in Big Spring are Roberta Nichols, Exeter, R.I., and Tonya Ellzey, Tupelo, Mississippi. Both are members of families of the men from the World War II Engineering Company. Others pictured are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hamilton, Henderson, N.C., and Mr. and Mrs. Ira West.

FAMILIES ENJOY the reunion also, as evidenced by those pictured above. At left is Mr. and Mrs. Mel Misfeldt, Davenport, Iowa, and their granddaughter, Jodee Bass. Mr. and Mrs. Tony Di Mercurio, St. Louis, Missouri, and their daughter, Peggy Lanzafame, and her children, Eric and Michele, traveled from St. Louis to attend the event.

Brass Nail banquet area

Ms. Weeks, Green take over new duties

By CAROL HART
Beverly Weeks and Johnnie Green are two key employees for the Brass Nail now that the club has opened the Nail Room, a banquet area that can accommodate 300 people.

Ms. Weeks is banquet coordinator for the club. She describes her job as being responsible for booking all functions for the Brass Nail such as rehearsal dinners. The position of banquet coordinator is a new one for the club, Ms. Weeks said. In addition to the Nail Room, the Brass Nail has other rooms which can seat another 400 people, she said. Ms. Weeks has been in the restaurant, food and wine business "about 25 years," she said. "Basically, I have worked with country clubs, hotels and motels." "I was born and raised in Big Spring," she said. "This is home. All of my family is here." Ms. Weeks is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wilson.

Although she is a native Big Springer, Ms. Weeks has been out of the town almost 22 years. She has worked in Louisiana, Ohio, Missouri and points in Texas in her field. She has been at the Brass Nail about two weeks preparing for the opening of the Nail Room.

Mrs. Weeks has been busy with preparing decorations, setting up menus, and preparing costumes for waiters and waitresses as part of her duties here. She also is responsible for catering outside functions through the Brass Nail. She and other employees are now preparing for a private party with a luau theme which will include 450 people.

When she is not working, Ms. Weeks enjoys macramé, crocheting, knitting and decoupage. She is a past officer of the Hotel-Motel Managers Association, and is a charter member of the Amarillo American Business Women's Association, and was active in the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce. She plans to join the Big Spring Chamber.

Johnnie Green has been with the Brass Nail since it opened. He is a chef for the restaurant, and will continue in that position with the added duties of preparing meals for banquets in the Nail Room.

Green has been a chef for 22 years. He worked for the Phillips 66 Cafe, and was with the Brandin' Iron Restaurant for five and a half years. While at the Brandin' Iron, Green began baking fresh bread for the restaurant. Breads and pastries are his specialties. Green is a native of Big Spring. He and his wife, Charles V., have four sons and a daughter. The family belongs to the Church of Christ, and Green is active in his spare time as a coach for the Little League Super Save Cubs.

Darla Holcombe selected to represent district

Martin County was represented by six 4-H'ers at the 4-H District Dress Revue at Alpine on Aug. 3. The competition was held on the Sul Ross State University campus.

While there, the girls and their parents viewed the mysterious Marfa Lights and joined other district 4-H'ers for a luncheon provided by West Texas Utilities.

In competition, the junior girls were judged by three judges on garment construction, fit, selection of fabric, and accessories. The score was added to a recordbook score judged by county extension agents.

Martin County winners were Julie Davis, 9, who took a blue ribbon in the Mini-Miss Division; Julie Todd, 10, blue ribbon, Junior Miss; and Brenna Hale, blue ribbon, Young Miss.

Marsha Campbell, 12, won a red ribbon in the Pre-teen Division and a blue ribbon was awarded to Miss Teen winner Jill Simpson.

The girls judged each other in the Senior Division and their recordbooks were judged by a panel of three judges. Darla Holcombe was one of three senior contestants chosen to compete in the state competition where she'll represent District 6.

The competition takes place Sept. 14-16 at the Driskill Hotel, Austin. Sponsoring Miss Holcombe will be County Extension Agent Kathryn Burch.

Miss Jenkins weds Robb in evening church rite

The First United Methodist Church was the setting Saturday evening for the wedding of Sharon Kay Jenkins and James Yuill Robb III. The Rev. Weldon Butler officiated.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Jerry G. Jenkins, Wilmington, N.C., formerly of Big Spring, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Y. Robb, 4 Highland Cove.

The bridal aisle was lined with colonial bouquets and lead to the altar which was accented with palms of emerald foliage and baskets of mixed white flowers. Cathedral tapers were held by spiral and seven branched candelabrum.

Charles Parham was organist. Mrs. Don Newsom was vocalist.

The bride wore a formal gown designed by House of Bianchi of Boston. It was made of white silk organza with a Queen Anne neckline and long fitted sleeves. The bodice was heavily appliqued with re-embroidered lace encrusted with pearls. The gown fell to a chapel-length train with a deep border of Alencon lace and pearls. Her headpiece was a cathedral-length veil of matching lace.

The bride carried a cascade of butterfly orchids, stephanotis, white sweetheart roses and baby's breath.

Karen Jenkins, sister of the bride, Austin, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Sherry Jenkins, sister of the bride, Wilmington, N.C. Kathy Meek, Dallas, Kathy Perry, and Ann Worthy, both of Big Spring, and Dubravka Hrgovic, Houston.

The bridal attendants carried bouquets of mixed pastel flowers and baby's breath tied with yellow satin.

The father of the groom, J. Y. Robb, was his son's best man. Groomsman were Bennett Robb, brother of the groom, Dallas, Scott Robb, brother of the groom, Big Spring, Andrew Swartz, Big Spring, Ken House, Austin, and Bill Schwarzenbach, Lubbock.

MRS. JAMES YUILL ROBB III

Following a wedding trip to Freeport in the Bahamas, the couple will reside in Austin.

The bride and groom are both graduates of Big Spring High School. The bride will graduate from the University of Texas at Austin in December. She is a member of Alpha Chi Omega sorority.

The groom is a 1976 graduate of Southern Methodist University with a degree in accounting. He is currently attending the University of Texas School of Law, and will graduate in May.

Forsan report

Washes return home from mountains

FORSAN — Mr. and Mrs. C.V. Wash and their son, Dan Wash and his family of Waco, have returned from a trip to Colorado Springs, Colorado.

A reception honoring the couple was held in the home of the groom's parents following the ceremony. The bride's cake had four tiers and was decorated with wild smilax and mixed pastel flowers. The bride's table had arrangements of mixed pastel flowers and string smilax held in a silver epergne.

The groom's cake was German chocolate and was decorated with fresh strawberries. A brass candleholder draped with English ivy adorned the table, as did other brass appointments.

While there, they saw Pikes Peak, Seven Falls, Santa Claus Town, Denver, and Estes Park. They stayed at their mountain home in Lake Vallecita, Colo., four days. Mr. and Mrs. C.V. Wash went to Brady to the Crumley Reunion recently.

Mrs. L.B. McElrath had her grandson Buster White, and his wife, visiting recently. Mrs. McElrath's daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Al White, Austin, also spent the night.

Mr. and Mrs. J.L. Overton, Wesley, Crystal and Cansy were in Ruidoso recently. Mr. and Mrs. I. D. Parker were recent guests of Mrs. Parkers' parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. McCall. McCall had eye surgery Friday morning.

Mrs. Nola Story and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Frances Stockton, Sand Springs, drove to Colorado City Wednesday with Mrs. Story's brother and wife, Mr.

Westbrook news

Postmaster retires

WESTBROOK — Mrs. Price Hendrix retired as postmaster of the Westbrook office after being employed 20 years in the office, first as clerk, then as postmaster.

A service award certificate was presented to her on behalf of the United Postal Service, in appreciation for dedicated service during her career.

Mr. and Mrs. Hendrix have been residents of Westbrook for 28 years, and plan to continue living in Westbrook. He is a retired stock farmer.

The couple has a son, Howard, and a granddaughter.

Mrs. Hendrix is a member of the Dunn chapter, Order of the Eastern Star. She is an active member of the Westbrook United Methodist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Anderson and daughter Lisa spent the weekend in Austin with his brother, P. L. Anderson and family. Lisa will remain for the week. Her parents returned home.

Haneys meet for reunion

Descendants of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Haney enjoyed their annual reunion Aug. 5-6 at the Kentwood Senior Citizens Center.

In attendance were 11 Haney children and their families from the local area, San Antonio, Brownwood, Mertzon, Balmorhea, Lamesa, Baird, Cross Plains, Carlsbad, N.M., and Claremore, Okla. Coming the farthest distance was the C. J. Johnson family of Ashtabula, Ohio.

Also attending were eight cousins of the Haney children. They were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sells, Mr. and Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Jimmy Vandergriff of Dock Teague, and Mrs. Ernest Zachary and Mrs. J. E. Zachary of Fort Worth.

Events included Saturday evening ice cream supper followed by slides shown by Stanley Haney and narrated by his wife, Sandra. Scenes were of the Holy Land toured by the couple several years ago.

The group was entertained with piano renditions of some old-time favorites by Les White of Mertzon and Alan Johnson of Ashtabula, Ohio.

Sunday activities included a mid-day meal following by round-table discussions, visiting, horse-shoe pitching and viewing old-time pictures. Music was offered by pianists Les White, Shelle Peterson and J. O. Haney Jr., followed by a round of picture taking with as many as six cameras clicking at one time.

The affair was attended by 62 family members.

Newcomer's Club meet in home

The Newcomers Handicraft club met at the home of Becky Mathews, 600 W. 16th, on Aug. 9.

The group worked on ceramic watering cans and will finish their projects at the next meeting, on Aug. 16, at Mrs. Mathew's home.

Attending as a guest was Gretchen Hatcher.

President Theresa Lewis encourages all newcomers interested in joining the club to call her at 263-6085.

Mr. and Mrs. Amado De La Pena, Garden City announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Maricela De La Pena, to Raymond D. Subia. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Juan Subia, 602 N.W. 7th. The couple plan to be married Aug. 26 at the Sacred Heart Catholic Church with Father Delaney officiating.

Wedding vows were exchanged between Jamie Dennise Thomas and James Connell in an 11 a.m. ceremony, Aug. 5, at the First Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Bill Hennings, pastor of the church, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.O. Thomas, 1509 Kentucky Way, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L.F. Connell, Denton.

The bride is the daughter of English ivy, baby blue daisies and white spider mums. Two-tiered canelabrams decorated each side of the aisle. A memory candle completed the scene.

Wedding music was provided by Charice and Craig Felty of Lubbock, who sang and played guitar, and pianist Adell Hale of Lubbock.

The bride chose a white satin gown embellished with Venetian lace. It featured lace-trimmed cap sleeves, a fitted bodice and a high neckline.

She wore a chapel-length veil of illusion and her great-grandmother's diamond pendant. Her bouquet was of small baby blue carnations, white roses and pepperoni ivy.

Maid of honor was Laura Thomas, sister of the bride, of Houston. Shelly Thomas, sister of the bride, of Big Spring served as the bridesmaid.

The best man was Fred

Dear Abby

Must Bride Pay For Her Mistake?

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is getting married next week. Several months ago she ordered dresses for her four attendants. The girls are close friends and agreed to pay for their own gowns, which were rather expensive. The dresses came in two weeks ago, and three of the four didn't fit because my daughter advised her friends to order a size smaller than they usually wore. She said she heard those dresses always ran large. The dresses were special orders and couldn't be returned, so my daughter found three other girls who could wear them, and they agreed to be her bridesmaids. My question: Who should pay for the dresses? The girls who originally ordered the dresses but can't wear them? Or the girls who agreed to be in the wedding as a favor to my daughter? Or should the bride pay for them?

MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Since your daughter had-guessed the dress sizes for her original attendants, I think she's stuck for the second team.

DEAR ABBY: Very interesting, your explanation of what makes boys and what makes girls. You said, "When a child is conceived, the male's sperm, which contains either a 'Y' chromosome or an 'X' chromosome for sex determination, fertilizes the female's egg, which contains only the 'X' sex chromosome. Each partner contributes one sex chromosome, but the female's is always an 'X.' Therefore, if the father's 'Y' chromosome fertilizes the egg, the baby will be a boy, but if the father's 'X' chromosome connects, the baby will be a girl."

I wonder what the hierarchy of the Roman Catholic Church thinks about this? For if we believe in the Immaculate Conception, then Jesus should have been a girl!

MRS. G. C. MILLERTON, N.Y.

DEAR MRS. C: The genetic rules that apply to us mortal beings did not apply to the Christ child, who according to the Bible was the Son of God.

But may I point out a common misconception—(no pun intended)—that the Immaculate Conception is the same as the Virgin Birth. Not so!

Mary—not Jesus—was the Immaculate Conception! The Bible tells us that Mary was born without original sin on her soul because she was destined to be the Mother of Christ.

DEAR ABBY: When I married Leo he knew that I HATED to get up in the morning. I have always worked the 4 p.m. to midnight shift, and now I can't suddenly change my sleeping habits even though I don't work anymore. Leo has to be on his job at 8 a.m., so he expects me to get up at 6:45 a.m. to fix his breakfast. I tried to a couple of times, but I spilled the coffee, dropped things and burned myself. I am a total zombie in the morning! Leo can't understand why—and it is ruining our marriage. He says I'm lazy, sleeping late is a habit, and I could retrain myself if I really wanted to. If you tell me to try, I will, but I honestly think he is expecting the impossible.

NIGHT PERSON

DEAR NIGHT PERSON: It's true. Studies have shown that some people (called "night people" or "owls") function much better at night, while others ("day people" or "larks") function better during the daytime. Your "zombie-like" behavior in the early morning hours can't be attributed entirely to laziness. However, habits can be "unlearned" and if one is properly motivated, it's possible to retrain oneself.

Oregon wedding unites Susan Kelley, Rodgers

Susan Dawn Kelley and Johnnie W. Rodgers exchanged wedding vows in Eugene, Ore. on June 24.

Parents of the couple are the Rev. and Mrs. B. L. Kelley, Eugene, Ore., and Mr. and Mrs. John F. Rodgers, Gail Route.

The father of the bride and T. L. Forester, grandfather of the bride, officiated in the ceremony, which took place in the North Eugene Church of God.

The bride was attired in a gown tailored by the bride's mother. It was formed of bridal satin covered with a silk organza. It had an empire waist and high old-fashioned neckline with a yoke of bridal lace matching the cathedral-length train, which flowed from the empire waist. The gown was highlighted by appliques of lace and seed pearls and featured full-length, double sleeves with wide lace cuffs. The veil was elbow length with the headpiece appliqued with roses and pearls.

The bride carried a Bible covered with an arrangement of silk white roses and daisies, mixed with pastel blue silk carnations.

Maid of honor was Marcy Roberts. Bridesmaids were Connie Hall, Laura Hodges, Elaine Roger and Mariene Mayhugh.

Best man was Lennie Hodges. Groomsmen were Jack Powell, Jerry Gail, Brian Cloyes and Patrick Kelley, brother of the bride.

Ringbearer was Ryan Gray. Flower girl was Holly Forester. Miniature bride and groom were Stephanie Olds and Eric Lindamood.

Jim Forester, uncle of the bride, Lucy Helton and Shirley Forester, aunt of the bride, provided special music.

The couple will reside in Eugene, Ore. The bride is a secretary and the groom is a water bed technician.

Out-of-town guests included the groom's mother, Mrs. J. F. Rodgers; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hodges, Fresno, Calif.; The Rev. and Mrs. T. L. Forester, Daytona Beach, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Kelley, Mrs. Wanda Gooden and Mr. and Mrs. Dearmon Kelley, all of Flint, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Forester and Holly, Rossville, Ga.; Kay Homfeld, Odessa, and Lucy Helton, Fresno, Calif.

Teens disagree

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D

Melody of Modesto, Calif., has a concern and Darleen Tompkins, 13, of Galesburg, Ill., and Richard Hayes, 13, of Colorado Springs, Colo., will give their thoughts. Interestingly, both teens differ from my ideas on this unusual "case."

Dr. Wallace: My father works from midnight until 8 a.m., then sleeps from about 9 until 4 in the afternoon.

Lately, when Mom needs a little extra money, she sneaks into the bedroom and goes through Dad's pants, taking what she needs. She has told me not to say anything to Dad about her escapades.

I told Mom that it was wrong to take money from Dad when he is sleeping but she said that when people are married they are considered as one, therefore it's really her money as much as it is Dad's. Should I tell my dad what is happening?—Melody

Melody: When a couple marries, they are considered as one, but what Mother is doing is wrong, and by telling you not to tell Dad, she knows it. Say nothing to Dad, but learn from your mother's mistake.—Dr. Wallace

Hi, Melody: I think your mother is stealing money from your dad and if this happened in our home, I would tell my dad that Mother was "ripping him off" while he was sleeping. I think you should also.—Darleen

Hello, Melody: Yes, I would tell your dad the situation, but first I would give her one warning. If she didn't heed this warning, I'd tell your dad.

I wonder why your mother just doesn't ask for money if she needs it? Everytime my mother wants extra money, she "sweet talks" my dad. It always works at our house.—Richard

Newlyweds tour Texas after Saturday ceremony

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Wiginton are on a trip to San Antonio, Corpus Christi, the Padre Islands and other points of interest in South Texas following their marriage Saturday.

The former Heddy Danford and Wiginton were wed at the First Baptist Church with the Rev. Jim Mosley officiating. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Danford of Long Beach, Miss., and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wiginton, Ackerly.

MRS. LYNN WIGINTON

Altar decorations included two brass stands with arrangements of yellow daisies, white gladiolas, baby's breath and carnations. Two brass candelabrum and an arch candelabrum with a yellow and white daisy arrangement completed the scene.

Buddy Dyer sang "The Twelfth of Never" and "The Wedding Song." Other wedding music was provided by pianist Mrs. Bill Hambrick and organist Mrs. Jerry Hall.

Ushers Shayne Wiginton, brother of the groom, and Harold Danford, brother of the bride, escorted guests to pews marked with lace bows and yellow and white daisies.

The bride was attired in a princess-style, floor-length gown of white silk organza. The fitted bodice was scattered with floral patterned Venice lace appliques accented with tiny seed pearls. Cluny and Venice lace edged the full bishop sleeves, cuffs, and the bottom of the A-line skirt. Attached to the dress was a chapel-length train, edged in cluny lace.

Her full-length mantilla veil of illusion was also edged in cluny lace. She carried a silk arrangement of aqua mums, white daisies, lily of the valley and baby's breath.

Maid of honor was Janice Danford, sister of the bride, of Long Beach, Miss. The best man was Stevie Bodine, Ackerly.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Chris Danford, sister-in-law of the bride, of Lubbock and Mrs. Tim Blackshear. They wore aqua polyester dresses featuring ruffle-trimmed round yokes and empire waistlines. Each carried a fireside basket of yellow daisies.

Groomsman were Bobby Wiginton and Bill Wiginton, brothers of the groom.

Flower girl was Heddy Danford, niece of the bride, of Lubbock. She was dressed in a white, floor-length dress of silk organza featuring a three-tiered skirt. Each tier was embellished with chantilly lace. Yellow rose petals were carried in a white lace basket.

The rings were carried on a yellow bearer's cushion by Chris Carlile of Big Spring.

Following the ceremony, the couple was feted with a reception.

The bride's table offered a three-tiered cake topped with wedding bells. Table decorations included a floor-length white lace cloth, an arrangement of yellow and aqua flowers, traditional wedding candles and crystal appointments.

The groom's table featured a chocolate cake and rice roses in the bride's chosen colors of yellow and

'Football 1978'

Haven't been in this spot much recently. Been encased in 'Football 1978', the Herald Sport section's special tabloid which will be winging your way Aug. 31.

Unbelievable as it seems, that little jewel is rolling right along on schedule (knock on wood). I say "little." It's not much larger than last year's rookie section, there should be something in it for everyone from good ol' Mrs. Miller to your typical parakeet.

"Herald Country", a term coined somewhere in that dark basement where they keep all the advertising people, will be represented with stories and team pictures of what I like to call the "Big 13" — Big Spring, Borden County, Coahoma, Colorado City, Forsan, Garden City, Grady, Ira, Klondike, Lamesa, Sands, Snyder and Stanton.

Also, exclusive interviews with Putt Choate, Tom Sorley and Ron Logback. As a sneak preview, here's an excerpt from the in-depth talk with the Steer's new head coach:

"We're not going to look back at the past. These kids don't have to play in the past. Their future lies ahead of them right now. The old cliché is... 'We haven't lost a ballgame yet this year.' We've said that several years, but in turn, I think that we're going to throw away all the crutches that you people have been giving us to lean back on.

RON LOGBACK Ready to Win

"You can go ahead and print if you want that we're too small to play, we're not as big a school, we don't have as many people. You print that! We're not going to tell our kids that! And if they believe us or they believe you... well, we'll just leave that decision up them."

That guy doesn't mince words, does he? And that's nothing. Wait! I'll see what else he has to say.

In addition, there'll be a timely feature from Walt Finley (Oklahoma '06), and a story by Carla Walker about the courageous comeback of Kenneth Chandler, the Garden City athlete who was paralyzed while playing football in 1972.

Ex-sports exec Tommy Hart is trying to track down All-Pro Charlie West. The former Steer great recently walked out of the Detroit Lions' training camp, and we'll try to have the story for you on what he's going to do next.

There'll also be every football schedule in the world in this thing. Well, maybe not "every", but damn near.

And advertising is going great guns. I hope no one gets squeezed out in that department.

My favorite section of the tab (but perhaps my Waterloo) is yours truly's one-man poll of all the teams in Districts 5-AAAA, 3-AAA, 6-AA, 5-A, 3-B (North), 3-B (South), 3-B (Six-man) and 2-B (Six-man). All members of the "Big 13" are included in those eight districts.

And there's other stuff too, lots of it. I'd rather be surprised about that, however.

Before I dive back into that Tab, perhaps I could find the time for a few "Remarkabilities."

REMARKABILITIES

"I was almost the first 23-year-old ever to pitch in an old-timers' game." — DAVID CLYDE, Cleveland Indians pitcher (former Ranger), on his sudden success after almost quitting for suspected lack of talent.

"If their IQs were five points lower, they'd be geraniums." — RUSS FRANCIS, New England Patriots' tight end, on the intelligence of defensive linemen.

"The Chicago Cub fans are the greatest fans in baseball. They've got to be." — HERMAN FRANKS, Cub manager.

"The ultimate to me is not to be the highest-paid player. The ultimate is to stay healthy. If you stay healthy, you can make the records and the money." — JIM RICE, of the Boston Red Sox.

"We have a rule against cursing by Arkansas players. The Lord allows only so much profanity per team and I use up our entire quota." — LOU HOLTZ, Arkansas coach.

"I tell it like it is. Cosell tells it like Roone Arledge (his ABC boss) wants it told." — HARRY CARAY, voice of the Chicago White Sox.

STILL THE LEADER — Mark Hayes appears to pat himself on the back as he walked off the 18th green at Pleasant Valley Country Club golf course in Sutton Saturday after he took the third round lead in the Pleasant Valley Golf Classic by scoring a birdie-4 on the hole. Hayes ended his round with a 2-under-par 69 to give him an 11-under-par 202 for the three rounds. John Mahaffey and Gil Morgan finished one stroke behind Hayes at 10-under-par 203. See story on p. 3B.

Wanna make it 3 out of 5 Denver?

DENVER (AP) — Tony Hill and Mike Hegman, battling for starting jobs with the Dallas Cowboys, saw their stock soar Saturday in a rematch of last January's Super Bowl teams.

Hill, who along with Hegman played insignificant roles in Super Bowl XII, caught touchdown passes of 16 and 29 yards in the Cowboy's 21-14 National Football League preseason victory over the Denver Broncos.

"Look, I'm trying to get a job, I've got to catch the ball," said Hill, a second-year pro from Stanford who caught only two passes all last season. "I want to play. I think I deserve the opportunity."

Hegman, who returned an interception 66 yards for the Cowboys' other score, was asked if he thought his performance might enable him to break into the starting lineup.

"I just hope I can make the team," he said. Hegman said he "set up" Denver quarterback Norris Weese on the interception.

"I think he (Weese) thought I was beat. He waited too long, so I trailed the tight end a couple of yards. I read it all the way. Really, it was too easy, but I did kind of rob it a little."

Dallas Coach Tom Landry said there was "no comparison" between this game and the Super Bowl. "Our guys aren't ready yet," Landry said. "We've got a ways to go. Our guys have been in training camp and they're tired."

Denver Coach Red Miller said a major difference from the Super Bowl was that "our offensive line handled their defensive line better than last time."

"Up until that interception, we were with them all the way," added Miller. "Given more time, I think we could have caught them."

The triumph boosted the Cowboys' exhibition record to 2-0 and dropped Denver to 1-1.

Hegman's interception, the Cowboy's second such theft for a score in as many games, produced a 21-7 lead early in the fourth quarter. The third-year pro from Tennessee State darted in front of a Denver receiver, grabbed Norris Weese's aerial and ran untouched down the left sideline.

But the Broncos refused to quit. Weese hit Haven Moses on passes of 23, 13 and 18 yards, helping set up rookie Dave Preston's 8-yard scoring run around the left side with 3:32 left.

The Cowboys then ran out the clock, with reserve running back Doug Dennison picking up a pair of key first downs.

Hill snared a 16-yard scoring pass from Roger Staubach in the second quarter, and added a 29-yard reception from Danny White in the third quarter.

The Broncos made the game's first serious scoring threat, marching to Dallas' 23-yard line early in the second quarter. But the drive stalled and usually reliable Jim Turner missed a 41-yard field goal attempt.

The only turnover of the first half led to the game's initial score. Rookie fullback Todd Christensen took a shovel pass from Staubach and fumbled when hit by Denver's Paul Smith. Linebacker Larry Evans recovered.

and the Broncos had possession at the Cowboy's 29. Four plays later, Weese hit tight end Riley Odoms on a 14-yard scoring play with 2:52 left in the half.

Dallas wasted little time getting even. Staubach and Golden Richards hooked up on a 25-yard pass play to move deep into Denver territory, and Staubach's TD pass to Hill came with 44 seconds left in the half.

Denver threatened early in the third quarter after linebacker John Huddlestone made a diving interception off White at the Cowboy 37. But Turner's 37-yard field goal try was blocked.

Six minutes later, White threaded a pass through two Denver defenders and Hill made the catch at the goal line to give Dallas a 14-7 lead.

The game, played in 90-degree temperatures, saw the Broncos wear their old road uniforms because the team's new orange pants, which the players intended to wear for this game, didn't fit properly.

Washington State star wants 'samoa' records

NEW YORK (AP) — Decisions, decisions. Jack Thompson knows all about them, whether it's deciding what play to call or pitting a lucrative pro football contract against one more year of college eligibility. Thompson, a 6-foot-3, 215-pound quarterback for Washington State University, is within reach of NCAA and Pacific-10 Conference passing and total offense records.

But having been red-shirted during his freshman season, he was eligible for the recent National Football League draft and it took a serious talk with his father to convince him that money isn't everything. "There were a lot of variables I had to consider," the Samoan-born Thompson explained at the start of the annual NCAA-ABC college football country promotion tour.

"The main reason I would have chosen to turn pro was to realize financial stability for my family, something I've always wanted to do." Thompson's parents work for Boeing Aircraft in Seattle. His father is a machinist — "a typical blue-collar worker" — his mother a machine shop clerk, and Thompson has a brother and three sisters. "But that aspect was alleviated when my father

Unlucky rookie keeps the faith

KENT, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland Browns rookie running back Larry Collins has been besieged by problems since the day he set foot in the club's preseason training camp at Kent State University. But the 5-foot-11, 189-pounder from Texas A&I has managed to keep his chin up, despite a series of obstacles that would leave most Association player, except for Dallas' Tony Dorsett, to rush for 1,000 yards or more in four consecutive college seasons. He gained 5,300 yards with a 7.4 career average. "One agent made a public statement before the draft that I was a contract breaker and a lot of pro teams avoided me," said the third round draft selection. After Collins arrived in camp, he said he had trouble adjusting from the simplified veer offense of his college days to the new, more complex offense introduced by Browns Coach through Washington State's revolving-door coaching situation, playing under Jim Sweeney as a freshman, Jackie Sherrill as a sophomore and Powers last year. When Powers left for Missouri, Walden, a member of last year's staff, was elevated to the head job. "Going from Sherrill to Powers was a real big change," Thompson said. "We went from a hard-core passing team to half-and-half. I have no argument with that because I'm in favor of a balanced attack. But Powers' resignation was kind of a traumatic experience. "Here I was waiting for my senior year and wondering if they were gonna bring in a Wishbone coach, or what. But going from

Arthur Ashe advances

DUBLIN, Ohio (AP) — Third-seeded Arthur Ashe defeated Eliot Teltscher 7-6, 6-2 Saturday in the semifinals of a $75,000 professional tennis tournament at Muirfield Village. Ashe advances to the finals against the winner of Saturday night's match between top-seeded Brian Gottfried and fifth-seeded Bob Lutz. In doubles play, Australians Colin Dibley and Bob Giltinan defeated the third-seeded Tim and Tom Gullikson 5-7, 6-3, 6-3.

Jets shrink Giants

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — Richard Todd threw three touchdown passes, the last one an 18-yarder to Wesley Walker with 84 seconds remaining in the game, to lift the New York Jets to a 27-23 victory over the New York Giants in a National Football League preseason game Saturday night. It was the 10th game in the series between the two intricately rivals which began in 1969 and the fourth victory for the Jets, who have lost five. The Giants were nursing a 23-20 lead with under two minutes to play when Todd moved the Jets to their winning touchdown.

Cardinals stop Bears

CHICAGO (AP) — Carl Allen returned an intercepted pass 85 yards for a touchdown and veteran Jim Bakken booted four field goals Saturday night to lead the St. Louis Cardinals to a 26-14 victory over the Chicago Bears in a National Football League exhibition game.

Browns burn Bills

ORCHARD PARK, N.Y. (AP) — Cleveland quarterbacks Brian Sipe and Mark Miller threw a touchdown pass each and Don Cockroft booted two field goals Saturday night as the Browns defeated the Buffalo Bills 20-10 in a National Football League exhibition game. Sipe directed the Browns to the only score of the first half, capping a late drive with a 12-yard toss to wide receiver Dave Logan. Cockroft, who missed on a 35-yard attempt in the first quarter, made good on three-pointers of 47 and 33 yards in the third period. Cleveland put the game away with Cockroft's next boot and a 25-yard scoring pass from Miller, a rookie, to Keith Wright, Logan's backup.

Trevino wins sudden death

YORK, England (AP) — American Lee Trevino won on the fourth hole in a tense playoff Saturday to take the $19,000 top prize in an international golf tournament at Fulford.

Trevino, victim of two sudden-death defeats this year, beat Britain's Neil Coles and Australian Noel Ratcliffe after all three had finished with 10-under-par four-round totals of 274.

Trevino won the play-off after Coles cut his drive into the trees. Ratcliffe had 3-putted on the first, leaving the more experienced pair to battle it out.

Trevino lost a sudden death confrontation with Andy Bean in June, and a marathon eight hole play-off with Lee Elder in Milwaukee.

Trevino had a brilliant round of 66 — 5-under-par — and played the shot of the tournament at the fourth hole Saturday, when from 200 yards he holed a 1-iron for an eagle-2.

Ratcliffe also grabbed an eagle, at the ninth, but lost his way after the turn, while defending champion Severiano Ballesteros and local favorite Nick Faldo — the third round leaders — both fell narrowly short.

Both failed to get the needed birdie at the last hole to join the play-off.

Nyad swims Sunday

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — Diana Nyad said on Saturday she will begin her often-delayed swim from Cuba to Florida on Sunday, adding that only a hurricane would stop her.

"It seems that the weather is very good, the best we will get. If I start this swim, I'm not going to get out for anything except another hurricane," Miss Nyad said.

The 28-year-old author and marathon swimmer has delayed her swim several times during the last month because of problems with fund-raising, bureaucracy and weather.

"It's not easy to have all this waiting," she said. "I've gone through hell getting this swim organized."

Miss Nyad plans to make the swim in a specially designed shark cage being towed behind a boat.

The precise starting point has not been decided, but Miss Nyad said it would be somewhere near Bahia Honda, 50 miles west of Havana.

The 100-mile plus swim, which she expects to take 60 hours, would be the longest open water swim on record.

Walter Poesch, a 65-year-old flume swimmer, claims to have made the Cuba-to-Florida swim on July 13. But that claim is in dispute, and no official swimming organization has recognized it.

Brewers buy Mueller

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Brewers purchased the contract Saturday of Willie Mueller, a right-handed relief pitcher from nearby West Bend, Wis., from the Brewers farm team in Holyoke, Mass.

The Brewers said Mueller would immediately join the team, which is playing a weekend series with the Red Sox at Boston.

Mueller, 21, has a 7-5 record and 2.90 earned run average with 16 saves at Holyoke this season following his 15-7 record and 3.85 ERA with Burlington of the Midwest League last year.

The Brewers made room on the roster by sending reserve first baseman Tony Muser to the Spokane farm team. Muser, 31, has batted .115 in 12 games for Milwaukee this season.

Connors-Orantes match halted

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — p.m.

Darkness forced a halt to play between top-seeded Jimmy Connors and defending champion Manuel Orantes in their semifinal match at the U.S. Open Clay Courts Tennis championships Saturday night.

Connors had won the first set 7-5 and led 2-0 in the second set before play was called for the night.

The tournament schedule was interrupted twice by rain. The matches got underway 90 minutes late and the second shower halted play for nearly four hours.

Spain's Jose Higueras and Italy's Corrado Barazzutti were playing their semifinal match on the Stadium Court, which is the only lighted court at the Indianapolis Racquet Club.

The two Europeans played an hour and 50 minutes before Higueras scored a 7-6 victory in the first set, taking the tie-breaker 7-4. The match featured 10 service breaks, five by each player.

The women's championship match between Viviana Gonzalez of Argentina and Dana Gilbert of Piedmont, Calif., was scheduled to follow the Higueras-Barazzutti match.

Texan wins Bangor Open

BANGOR, Maine (AP) — Touring pro Rocky Thompson of Brookston, Texas, won the $12,500 Greater Bangor Open golf tournament Saturday when he shot a par four on the first extra hole in sudden-death play against Charles Smith of Woonsocket, R.I.

Thompson, 37, had fired a par 70 in the final round at the Bangor Municipal Course to give him a 54-hole total of 213 and a tie with Smith, who shot a 71.

Thompson, making a detour to Maine after he failed to make the cut at the Pleasant Valley Classic in Sutton, Mass., won the top prize of $2,500 when Smith bogeyed the extra hole by missing an eight-foot putt.

Manhasset leads LPGA covey

MANHASSET, N.Y. (AP) — Judy Rankin, the leading money-winner in 1976 and 1977, shot a 3-under-par 70 Saturday afternoon for a 9-under 210 to retain first place in a $100,000 Ladies Professional Golf Association tournament.

Debbie Massey, Rookie of the Year in 1977, moved from a tie for ninth place after two rounds to the runner-up spot by shooting a 67 on the par-73, 6,143-yard course to put her at 212, seven under par.

Sally Little of South Africa, who was one stroke behind Rankin at the midway point, dropped to third with a 5-under 214 by shooting a 73. Jane Blalock and Pam Higgins are tied for fifth at 215. Blalock matched par after two consecutive rounds of 71 while Higgins registered a 72.

Nancy Lopez, the current sensation of the tour with eight victories and a one-year earnings record of $153,097, carded a 69 for the second best round Saturday at the North Hills Country Club. However, she is 2-over at 221 because of a disastrous 79 on Thursday.

"The only thing I can salvage the rest of this year is a couple of wins," smiled Rankin, winless after scoring five victories in 1977.

Massey, who won the Japan Classic for her only triumph — she won $46,962 for the year — admitted to playing while ill.

"It sounds funny, but I could have done better out there today," said Massey, who had seven birdies and only one bogie.

"I have a stomach virus, but this was a fun day. I haven't had one like this in a long time. I missed two makeable putts for birdies on the eighth and the ninth, but I came out to play golf and that's exactly what I did."

Wynegar's fourth homer of the year

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — Butch Wynegar's two-run homer in the fifth inning helped the Twins add two runs in the fifth of A's starter Steve Renko, 6-7. Rod Carew singled with one out, then Dan Ford singled to right. Carew, running on the pitch, scored from first when right fielder Dell Alton let Ford's ball get by him.

Rangers pale Indians

CLEVELAND (AP) — Doyle Alexander and Len Barker combined for a 10-hitter and Kurt Bevacqua unloaded a three-run homer to lead the Texas Rangers to a 6-1 victory over Cleveland Saturday afternoon.

Alexander, 7-8, allowed seven singles in his seven innings. He fanned four and allowed no walks.

The Rangers took the lead for good with a run in the first inning off loser David Clyde, 5-7.

Mike Hargrove walked, took second on a single by Juan Beniquez, reached third on a fly out and scored on Al Oliver's ground out.

In the fourth inning, Oliver singled and went to second on a ground out by Bobby Bonds. Clyde then intentionally walked Richie Zisk and Bevacqua followed with a home run, his third of the season.

The Rangers added two more runs in the fifth inning to knock Clyde out of the game.

In the fifth inning, Hargrove singled, went to second on a wild pitch, took third on a sacrifice and scored on Jim Sundberg's single. Don Hood replaced Clyde and served up a single to Oliver and a sacrifice fly

Astros defeat Braves

HOUSTON (AP) — Bob Watson's two-run triple highlighted Houston's four-run third inning and J.R. Richard fired a four-hitter and struck out 13 as the Astros defeated Phil Niekro and the Braves 5-2 Saturday night in a matchup of the National League's strikeout leaders.

Watson's hit followed singles by Terry Puhl and Julio Gonzalez and an RBI single by Enos Cabell as the Astros moved to within one-half game of the fifth-place Braves in the NL West.

Art Howe, playing his first game since suffering head injuries against San Francisco on July 31, drove in the Astros' final run of the inning with a single off Niekro, 14-12.

Richard, 12-10, has 229 strikeouts for the season. Niekro struck out five in seven innings for a total of 182.

Blue Jays stop KC

TORONTO (AP) — Bob Bailor had four hits, including a third-inning triple that delivered the winning run, and Otto Velez and Rick Cerone belted solo homers as the Toronto Blue Jays beat the Kansas City Royals 5-2 Saturday night.

In addition to his triple, Bailor had singles in the first, fourth and sixth innings in support of Jim Clancy, 9-9, who scattered eight hits.

The Blue Jays had three runs in the bottom of the second inning off Paul Splitteroff, 13-10. Cerone tripled to score Al Woods, who had singled, and then came home on Luis Gomez' sacrifice fly. Rick Bosetti walked and scored on Bailor's triple. Velez led off the third with his fifth home run of the season.

Boston sweeps Brewers

BOSTON (AP) — Jim Rice pounded out four hits, including a two-run homer, and Rick Burleson and Dwight Evans each drove home two runs Saturday as the Boston Red Sox crushed the Milwaukee Brewers 11-4 to complete a sweep of a day-night doubleheader.

Boston won the first game 3-1 behind the six-hit pitching of Jim Wright, 7-2, and Carlton Fisk's home run.

Burleson, who tripled home two runs on one of his two hits, ran his personal hitting streak to 17 games. George Scott had three hits and scored twice as the Red Sox increased their lead in the American League East.

The Red Sox scored four runs off Milwaukee starter Mike Caldwell, 14-7, in the first inning on four hits.

Bob Stanley, 9-1, allowed just three hits over the first five innings.

In the afternoon game, Boston scored a run in each of the first three innings of loser Bill Travers, 7-7.

Texans take track medals

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two young Texas athletes won first-place medals Saturday in the 14th Annual Jesse Owens Track and Field Games at UCLA's Drake Stadium.

Tony Mitchell of Dallas won the 220-yard dash in 24.8 seconds in the boys' 12-13 age group, and Robert Lee Haynes of Houston won the boys' 10-11 50-yard dash in 6.2 seconds.

They were among 504 boys and girls from playgrounds in 14 cities who took part in national finals in three age divisions. Gold, silver and bronze medals were presented to the 1-2-3 finishers in each event by Owens, winner of four gold medals at the 1986 Olympic Games.

There were eight winners from Los Angeles, five winners from Chicago and four from Pittsburgh.

Robert Lockett of Boston won the boys' 14-15 age group 100-yard dash in 10.3 seconds, and Kenneth Frazier of San Francisco won the boys' 14-15 long jump with 21 feet, 5 inches.

The boys' 12-13 baseball throw was won by Jeff Studer of Fairbanks, Alaska with 269 feet, 7 inches. Teresa Barrow of Chicago won the girls' 10-11 50-yard dash in 6.4 seconds.

The competition is sponsored by Atlantic Richfield Co.

Phillies sink Pirates

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Larry Bowa, despite tightly taped ribs that ached with every move, doubled, tripled, drove in one run and scored two as the Philadelphia Phillies beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 10-1 Saturday for their fourth straight victory.

The 32-year-old shortstop, central figure in an argument earlier in the week with a baseball writer, received a standing ovation from the crowd of 30,110 after his sixth-inning triple.

Bowa now has hit in 22 of the last 27 games, 41-for-106, an average of .387 and made just five errors all season at shortstop — one Saturday on a bad throw to first.

Randy Lerch, 7-7, allowed three hits in eight innings. Warren Bruslarf pitched the ninth. Pirates starter Jim Bibby is 6-7.

Cardinals get Mets

NEW YORK (AP) — John Denny pitched no-hit baseball for six innings before John Stearns beat out an infield single to second base for the Mets' only hit as the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the New York Mets 5-1 Saturday.

The only run scored off Denny, 9-8, was unearned and resulted from a throwing error by St. Louis shortstop Garry Templeton in the fourth inning.

Roy Thomas pitched the last two innings for St. Louis. Mets starter Kevin Kobel is 2-3.

Oakland double-taked

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — Butch Wynegar's two-run homer and a solo blast by Roy Smalley lifted Minnesota Twins to a 6-3 victory over the Oakland A's Saturday.

Stan Perzanowski, 2-3, called up from Toledo in July, hurled 8 2-3 innings before being replaced by relief ace Mike Marshall.

The Twins staked Perzanowski to a 2-0 lead in the fourth when Wynegar delivered his two-run homer over the right-field fence. Mike Cabbage had singled in front of

Hayes leads Pleasant Valley Golf pack

SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — Mark Hayes reacted to pressure with a closing birdie to take a one-stroke lead over John Mahaffey and Gil Morgan after 54 holes Saturday in the $225,000 Pleasant Valley Golf Classic.

Starting two strokes up on the field, Hayes was caught first by Mahaffey and then by Morgan, but regained sole possession of the lead with a 12-foot birdie putt on the 18th green.

A clutch putt gave him a third-round 69, 2-under-par and a 54-hole total of 202 — 11 under regulation equalling the PGA course record for the distance.

Mahaffey, the newly crowned PGA champion, started the day three strokes back, but picked up ground with a 4-under-par 67, which included birdies on his first four holes.

Morgan moved into contention with a sizzling 5-under-par 66 despite bogeys on his first two holes.

Morgan moved into a share of the lead with a birdie on the 54th hole and a three-round score of 203. However, Hayes, trailing in the next threesome, finished his round with the birdie putt to regain the lead.

Australia's Graham Marsh shot a third-round 68 for a 204 score, just two strokes back heading into the windup of the 72-hole fight Sunday for first prize money of $45,000.

Defending champion Ray Floyd dropped to fourth place despite his 12th consecutive sub-par round at Pleasant Valley's 7,119-yard course since his first visit in 1965. Floyd had a 70 for a 54-hole total of 205.

Don Bies had a 67 for 206 while Miller Barber was another stroke back at 207, after shooting a 70 on a rain-soaked layout.

Houston Coogs out of hospitals now

HOUSTON (AP) — Bill Yeoman might have been more qualified to coach the University of Houston football team last season if he had been a doctor.

Quarterback Danny Davis, the architect of Houston's 1976 Southwest Conference championship, went out for the year with a shoulder separation in the second game.

Super linebacker David Hodge quit the team and an epidemic of injuries followed that would have made the Cougar story a good episode for the General Hospital television series.

With many of those refugees from the hospital wards healed, plus the reappearance of Hodge, "Dr." Yeoman says the vital signs appear good — outstanding spring training, fat athletes are slimmer, slower ones are faster and the attitude is good.

There's just one part of the examination lacking before

Yeoman can make a definite prognosis.

"Wait and see how we cover the first kickoff of the season and then ask me how we're going to do," Yeoman said. "Everything looks good but you never know what's going to happen until the battle starts."

"You can analyze it, read tea leaves or whatever, but you still won't know," Yeoman says being physically ready is not all that is necessary.

"I thought Texas was a physically outstanding team in 1976 but apparently something wasn't there mentally," Yeoman said. "You can tell a lot about being physically ready but as far as frame of mind, people can fool you sometimes."

The return of Hodge alone would be enough to give any coach a feeling of security.

"He may not only be the best linebacker around but he gives us that leadership quality," Yeoman said of Hodge, who was named to one All-American team last season without playing a game. "And he's got his enthusiasm back."

Davis, who contributed 1,768 yards in total offense and 15 touchdowns in 1976, appears ready to take up where he left off.

"If we had a game tomorrow, Delrick Brown would start but we don't have a game tomorrow so we'll see what happens," Yeoman said. "Danny's going to have to get the rust off. I know he can play but I have to find out if he can come back from an injury and play."

Davis has been working out on the UH campus and clocked a 9.9 100 yard dash recently. A friend noted

Davis' trimmed down physique and told him he looked skinny.

"Yeah, but I'm real quick," said Davis, never a loss for words.

Yeoman shudders at the thought of repeating last year's injury woes. One week before the season opener against UCLA, starting noseguard Robert Oglesby and his backup Harry Wright went out with injuries forcing Yeoman to draft linebacker Bobby Harrison into the position.

"Can you imagine putting a linebacker down at noseguard one week before you play UCLA?" Yeoman asked.

Defensive end also was heavily hit by injuries last season. At one point six defensive ends were hobbled.

Oglesby and Wright are healthy once again and other battles will start up again this fall at right cornerback and strong safety.

Kenny Hatfield, the team's kicking specialist, and Earl Chumchal are trying to get the starting right cornerback's job.

"Hatfield is too good of an athlete to just kick," Yeoman said. "But right now Chumchal is the starter. Earl is not you classic athlete but look at spring films and he did pretty good."

Harold Fields is the starter going into fall practice but Tommy Ebner, a junior transfer from North Carolina State, will provide stiff competition. Ebner started two years at NC State.

SLIPPIN' AWAY — Green Bay's Aundra Thompson, 43, fumbles a kick-off return in early action of the Redskins-Packers game in Washington Friday. Tackling Thompson is Washington's Don Harris, 26. Washington won, 20-12.

Eagles use Texas artillery

HOUSTON (AP) — Philadelphia Coach Dick Vermeil hopes his Eagles will be able to fly against the Houston Oilers in a National Football League exhibition game Monday night with a pair of former Texas collegiate stars at the running back positions.

Former Baylor great Cleveland Franklin will start at fullback and Wilbert Montgomery, who set a collegiate record 37 touchdowns his freshman year at Abilene Christian, will be the running back.

Philadelphia is 1-1 in exhibition play with a 17-3 victory over Miami in the Hall of Fame game at Canton, Ohio and a 14-7 loss to New Orleans last week in Mexico City. Houston lost its opener to the Denver Broncos 17-12.

"I believe he's going to be a class football player," Vermeil said of Montgomery, who led the National Football Conference in kickoff returns last year as a rookie. "I have a tendency to get too high on people I coach. "But right now everybody on the field is impressed with Montgomery including the defensive people who have to tackle him. He's picked up our system. Now there's less thinking and more reacting."

Franklin, an eighth round draft choice last season, carried the ball only once but as displaced starter Mike Hogan as the starting fullback.

"Cleveland Franklin will be tough to get out of the fullback spot," Vermeil said. "Hogan has a lot of ability but holy mackerel, everything Cleveland does is 100 per cent. He hasn't embarrassed himself yet."

Vermeil and Oiler offensive line coach Joe Bugel both spent last week solidifying their lines.

Vermeil has installed Dennis Franks as the starting center ahead of Guy Morris (See 'Oilers' P-4B) placed right guard Woody Peoples ahead of Jerry Sizemore and put Sizemore into the starting right tackle job ahead of Ed George.

Bugel expects his offensive line to contribute more than it did in the opener, when the Oilers gained only 150 yards in total offense and got only two first downs in the first half.

Bugel said the offensive line wants to provide more running room for rookie Earl Campbell, who gained only 29 yards on 12 carries in his pro debut against the Broncos.

The Oilers will open with Carl Mauck at center, George Rheiner and Morris Towns at guards and Greg Sampson and Conway Hayman at tackles. The Oilers traded Elbert Drungo to Buffalo and cut 1978 draftee Bobby Simon last week.

Kickoff is at 7:30 p.m. CDT.

Record-searching popular

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

Pete Rose's exciting if abortive pursuit of Joe DiMaggio's 56-game baseball hitting streak has revived a once popular parlor pastime — record searching.

Once Babe Ruth's sacred home run marks of 60 a season and 714 a lifetime were erased — by Roger Maris and Hank Aaron, respectively — diamond buffs began looking around for other achievements that appeared to be inviolate.

Knocking out the "iron man" feats of baseball's cradle days when an indefatigable machine named Charles "Ole Hoss" Radbourne pitched 60 victories in a single season and the Cincinnati Red Stockings won 130 games without interruption, the most learned baseball professors chose these records as least likely ever to be duplicated.

1. DiMag's 56-game hitting string.

2. Lou Gehrig's longevity of not missing a day's work in 14 years — 2,130 consecutive games in Yankee uniform.

Rose's dramatic challenge to DiMaggio indicated that this record perhaps is not as unreachably as everyone suspected although a case may be made that Rose's miss by 12 games is proof enough of its sanctity.

When in our national pastime will another man come that close? Maybe never.

Although baseball seems rooted in tradition and sustained by statistics, other sports have had their Mt. Everests, one of the tallest the 100 points scored by basketball's Wilt Chamberlain in 1962. Who in the NBA will ever top it?

Don Weiss, Commissioner Pete Rozelle's astute deputy over at the National Football League, cites a couple of passing records of the 1950s and 1960s as the most apt to stand up under the ravages of time.

"Johnny Unitas' feat of throwing a touchdown pass in 47 consecutive games is one of the most fantastic marks in our record book," Weiss says. "It covered a period of five seasons — 1956 through 1960. The closest any

Ali's 'Watchdog' likely to muffle his bark

DEER LAKE, PA. — Muhammad Ali insists he lost to Leon Spinks for two reasons, maybe three. He wasn't in shape. He gave Spinks the first six rounds. Spinks' cornermen "kept giving him stimulants." None of these will happen again, says the man who would be king again.

"Everybody saw that little black bottle they kept giving him in the corner," said Ali. "I had him reeling. I gave him the first six, then I won the eighth, ninth, 10th, 11th and 12th. I had him ready to take out and they gave him a little juice, and he came back faster."

That Wasn't Tomato Juice

The first thing I heard about the bottle was from some Mets' ballplayers in spring training. I had gone to Florida from Vegas following the shocker. Nobody there said anything about Spinks' corner feeding him a bottle. All the talk was about Spinks' ribs, and how he had fought with a pain-killer, and how Spinks' next fight was going to be in Lower Slobovia.

When I got to Florida, the ballplayers were excited about the fight. They were shadow-boxing in the clubhouse, demonstrating what Ali should have done, or what Spinks had done.

"What about the red juice?" one of them said to me.

"What red juice?" I said.

"They were giving Spinks something around the eighth round," he said. "Red juice it's called. Liquid greenies. At least that's what it looked like. His handlers kept saying 'You gotta take it' when Leon said he didn't want it."

I figured it was one of those wild things that get around after every big upset in the fight racket. The fight racket is a sitting duck for such stories. But one thing about it bothered me. The guy in the Met clubhouse who was most persistent about it is not a flake. He is somebody who has been around a long time, someone whose judgment I respect.

And now the story about the bottle is revving up again. The Ali people evidently are taking precautions for the rematch.

"How do you intend to prevent it?" Ali was asked.

"Butch Lewis has arranged for two sealed water bottles to be brought to the corners," said Ali. "And I'm gonna do more. I'm gonna have somebody watching them in the corner."

Butch Lewis is vice-president of Top Rank, the Arum organization. Bob Arum is the promoter of this fight. There's only one thing wrong about having Butch Lewis see that everything is okay with the drinking bottles the night of the fight; he works for the organization that wants to see Leon Spinks win.

Top Rank, Butch Lewis v.p., has Leon Spinks under contract for two more title defenses, with an option for three more. Butch Lewis is a conscientious man, and an automobile dealer, so you just know he is honest, but if I were Ali, I'd get somebody else to watch the water bottles.

Should Ali win, he would (a) retire, or (b) fight Larry Holmes. Most likely (b). In either event, Top Rank would lose its tight grip on the heavyweight crown, or on the half Spinks possesses. Bob Arum then would be forced to bid against Don King, who happens to have Larry Holmes under tight contract.

An Ali victory on Sept. 15 in New Orleans would put Don King and his new Madison Square Garden partners back on top of the boxing heap. Should Ali win and retire, Don King would have the lone remaining heavyweight champ, Larry Holmes. Should Ali win and not retire, Don King would have a lock on the next biggie, Ali-Holmes.

Ali can win if he wants to pay the price. The price is torture, self-inflicted. He must get up every sky-black morning for the next five weeks and run till his lungs burn. He must do situps and pushups till his gut grabs and his arms fall off. He must spar and spar and spar till he can dance 15 rounds the way a hungry young fighter named Cassius Clay once did. Then he, at 37, will beat the amateur he made champion of the world.

"I'm doing it," he swore yesterday. He had just boxed three rounds with a mosquito who was all over him, a middleweight named Fred Redd, imported from Chicago for speed drills.

Ali lay on the couch in the small room, wrapped in a white terrycloth robe. He talked of the bottle, and how hard he is training this time, and how people who call him Fatsos are going to be fooled, and how this was absolutely his last fight.

Now for 15 or 20 Million ...

Somebody said that if he won, he would have to fight Holmes to clear up the two-corner situation. "You just know you'll do that," he was told.

"It's a possibility," said Ali. "But I'd want to rest for six months. After I rest, let me see. If somebody from Venezuela comes up and offers me 15 or 20 million to determine the real champ ..."

His eyes became light bulbs. "Man, me and Holmes! That would be The Match of the Century!" said the Ali of old.

Fans yelling 'Boo Reggie! Boo, boo, boooooooo!

NEW YORK (AP) — "Boo! Boo-o-o-o! Boo-o-o-o-o!"

"Reggie! Reggie! Reggie!"

Reggie Jackson's ears have to be stinging. He must feel he is carrying an iron ball of pain in his belly. One minute he's a hero, the next minute he's a bum.

It's enough to drive a man to paranoia. Four months ago they were still hailing his World Series heroics and showering Yankee Stadium with "Reggie" candy bars.

"I just don't like it when it gets ugly."

Unfortunately, it has grown ugly in the case of Jackson, who has been made the villain in the bizarre sequence of events that has seen Martin tearfully resign as manager of the Yankees after blasting both Jackson and Steinbrenner only to recant and be rehired, effective in 1980.

It was all Reggie's fault, Martin continues to insist.

The fans, who find a kindred spirit in Billy the Kid's street fighter instincts and open defiance of the boss, quickly lined up with the contentious little skipper, treating him to a six-minute standing ovation at the innately fickleness of baseball fans.

"I don't mind ordinary boos, whether they're aimed at me, my ball club or my players," he said. "What I can't stand are fans who boo in hate."

"People who bring hate feelings into the ballpark are ignorant. In this case, they are ignorant of the facts concerning the Billy Martin-Reggie Jackson episode. They are a minority. In my opinion, they have no place in sports."

"They don't represent the general run of fans. Everybody knows that fans are fickle. It's their nature. It's their right. There's never been a ball player who ever lived who hasn't been booed. That includes Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Joe DiMaggio, Ted Williams, Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris."

Cheers faded into jeers for Jackson, who hit three home runs in the clinching game against the Dodgers last October and who rapped another in his first time at bat in the Stadium this year, triggering a rain of "Reggie" bars.

The fickleness of the fans was demonstrated in Wednesday night's game against the Milwaukee Brewers, won by the Yankees 8-7 on a five-run ninth-inning rally.

"Boo! Boo!" belted the fans every time Reggie went to the bat rack earlier in the game. In the ninth, he came up with the bases loaded. This was a Jackson situation. This was raw drama. The crowd's disposition underwent a Fish laws can bite!

LUBBOCK — Both an imported South American piranha and the harmful fish law have teeth as a Lubbock retail fish dealer found out last month.

The local fish dealer was arrested and placed in the Lubbock County jail after investigations by Texas Parks and Wildlife Department game wardens found him in violation of selling and transporting the potentially harmful fish.

The fish dealer pleaded guilty to the charges and was fined $220 by a Lubbock judge.

Ten piranhas are on this list along with eleven other fish including: the bony-tongue group; electric eel; electric catfish; gar-pike, from Belize; carp group (Cyprinus); snakehead group; chichlid group; oreochromis; parasitic S.A. catfish group; freshwater stringray; and walking catfish group.

Individuals holding a current P&WD permit for harmful fish or fish eggs issued prior to Jan. 1, 1974, remarkable change.

"Reggie!" "Reggie!" they screamed — 1977 all over again. He refused to duck a fastball and kept the rally alive when he was hit by the pitch.

Roger Maris was booed because he was going after one of Babe Ruth's cherished home run records. Ted Williams carried on a feud with spectators. The outbursts against Jackson stem directly from the Martin case.

"I have tried to impress on Reggie how important he is to our ballclub," Steinbrenner said. "We have no intention of getting rid of him — unless he insists."

"As for the boos, we will ride them out. If they want to boo me and tell me how much they love Billy, okay. I like for the Yankees to be a symbol of the city where it's an all-day battle to survive, the hecticness of it. I just don't like for it to get vulgar or vile."

1978 dove regulations can be very confusing

AUSTIN — The three most-asked questions about the upcoming dove hunting season in Texas are:

- If I'm hunting in the South Zone, can I take a limit of mourning doves and whitewings on the same day?
- Why is the season split into the two segments in both the North and South Zones?
- Why does it always rain on opening day?

Striped bass dominant

Striped bass catches continued to dominate the reports from Lake E. V. Spence fishermen, but there were some black bass, channel catfish and yellow catfish were brought in.

The Lubbock Bass Club held a tournament at the lake with Larry Sides setting the pace with 9 lbs., 14 oz. on two fish; Bob Haynie second with two for 5 lbs., 1 oz., and George Seal third with one 4-pounder. Among other participants were Ron Denney, Robert Reagan, John Flewharty, Ken Hilliard, Ronnie Wright, Tony Nichols, Jerry Noble, Burl Hubbard, and Nick Nicholas.

The largest striper of the week was 13 3/4 lbs., landed by H. L. Spears, Winters, a quarter of a pound more than one by Bill Huston, Snyder.

Reports included: Paint Creek Marina — Johnny Claxton, Roby, 6 3/4-lb. striper; Bobby Cupp, Odessa, three stripers to 9 lbs.; R. D. Penny, Colorado City a 2 3/4-lb. yellow catfish, Carol Arnold, Odessa, a 1 1/2-lb. striper; Melvin Arnold, Odessa, 8-lb. striper.

This year, rain on opening weekend might almost be welcomed since most of the state is parched and dry.

Dry weather is a plus for dove hunters who can expect fast shooting action around the available water sources in the mornings and evenings. Wet weather tends to scatter the birds, making hunting difficult.

And doves prefer dry weather, being ground foragers. Their food is much easier to find on dry ground, and they will fly past muddy fields even if food is available there, according to Jim Dunks, the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's dove program leader.

But back to the first two questions. Dunks said a hunter can legally shoot 20 doves per day — 10 whitewings and 10 mourning doves — during the four-day whitewing season Sept. 2-3 and 9-10, in the 16 counties which have a whitewing season.

However, the hunter must leave one fully feathered wing attached to each bird for identification during those four days — whether he's hunting in the North or South Zone.

However, the hunter must leave one fully feathered wing attached to each bird for identification during those four days — whether he's hunting in the North or South Zone. Furthermore, in the entire South Zone, hunters must leave a fully feathered wing on every bird killed for the entire season — not just the four-day whitewing season.

The North Zone counties which have a whitewing season are El Paso, Hudspeth, Culberson, Jeff Davis, Presidio, Brewster, Terrell, Val Verde, and Kinney. The South Zone counties are Maverick, Webb, Zapata, Starr, Hidalgo, Willacy and Cameron.

The split seasons in both zones are an effort by the department to satisfy the greatest number of hunters.

The split season in the North Zone this year represents a compromise — it allows a reasonably long (51-day) early segment, but allows a nine-day late segment which encompasses two weekends.

FAT CAT — Lelan Warren, 16, of Big Spring yanked this 47-pound yellow catfish out of Comanche Trail Lake earlier this week, on an old unbaited three-week old trot-line. The cat was 3 1/2-feet long and vivid yellow, according to witnesses. The fish had evidently become entangled in one of the empty hooks and thrashed about until it had embedded itself into three separate hooks. Warren had to cut the trotline to pull the hawg out of the lake. In recent years, the young angler has caught a 4 1/2-pound white (trophy size) and 6 1/2-pound black bass at the local lake, in addition to several crappie.

Know how to handle 'em

LUBBOCK — A Texas angler may catch several fish while trying to hook on a number of lakes and a few of these fish may be less than the legal size or not up to the angler's standards for a keeper.

One of the most important skills of fishing is the proper handling of fish for the skillet or returning them to the water. Studies have shown that mortality during the first several days after release are caused by deep hooking or injury to the internal organs of the fish when the body cavity has been squeezed.

More fish die from external bacterial infections resulting from the removal of the fish's protective body slime from handling with dry hands or allowing the fish to remain out of the water too long.

Fish without sharp teeth may be grasped by the lower jaw with only the head out of the water while removing the hook. Fish with teeth should be grasped across the gill covers with a wet hand while removing the hook.

Don't keep a fish on a stringer in the water or in a bucket if it is to be released. When there is a limit, don't throw back the smaller fish when you catch larger ones. Leave a few for the next angler.

Sunfish should not be returned to the water, since they tend to overpopulate. They are good to eat and leaving them on the bank causes litter and odor problems for the next angler if the decision is made not to take them home.

If the angler follows all of the proper handling techniques and still the fish appears to be dying, consider the fish as part of your limit and do not release it back into the water to eventually float to shore.

The actual landing of a large fish such as a striper can be hazardous if the fish is still "green" or not tired from the fight. Pulling one of these lurkers into a boat with an open tackle box is asking for trouble and maybe an impaled angler from flying hooks, lures or gaff will be the final "catch."

Common sense is the best guide when handling fish and your boat. The small fish you put back today may be a record catch later.

Dear Outdoor Editor: For more than seven decades the sportsmen of this nation have been the leaders in a constant effort to conserve our national resources, wildlife and wild places. They have traditionally been the first to stand up for the cause of clean air and water and a better environment for both man and wildlife.

Through their organizations and through individual action, hunters and fishermen have formed the foundation for practical conservation work on the local level. Their efforts have preserved thousands of acres of wetlands and forests and have resulted in the improvement of countless lakes, streams and waterways.

To finance their far-sighted conservation programs and activities, hunters and fishermen asked that license fees be established and that special taxes be levied on hunting and fishing equipment to support land acquisitions, research and habitat management for fish and wildlife. To date, sportsmen have provided some $5 billion for conservation.

It is largely because of these efforts that the conservation movement in America is succeeding and hunting and fishing remain worthwhile and acceptable activities in our modern society. Properly regulated by state and federal agencies, hunting and fishing are an integral part of the system of modern wildlife management that has proven so successful in America.

In recognition of this important public service, it is most fitting for us all to applaud the nation's sportsmen by designating a special National Hunting and Fishing Day on Saturday, September 23, 1978. On this day, America's sportsmen, through their clubs and organizations and through individual effort, will organize activities to promote further the conservation effort and to enlist public support for conservation activities on local, state and national levels.

I would like to take this opportunity to commend the leadership of the nation's sportsmen in conservation and to call upon all Americans to join with hunters and fishermen in promoting the wise use of our natural resources and in ensuring their protection for the benefit of future generations. — Jimmy Carter President

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SUNDAY, AUGUST 13, 1978

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Decide the philosophy under which you want to live and expand during the days ahead. Also good for communicating with those at a distance to better understand what they expect of you and the best means for a more successful association.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You get good ideas as to how to get ahead faster in the future and should make concrete plans in such direction. Meet the individuals who can help you in this also.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Get together with allies and try to understand their views better. Make plans for the future.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Know what your associates are expecting in the future. Doing community work can be helpful to you as well as to others.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Good day to show appreciation to others for loyalty and other favors extended to you in the past. Plan activities ahead of time so they work out more effectively.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Visit with friends and make new ones as well. Spend some time on creative ideas.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Spend with kin so that you get all in fine order here. Bring more happiness into their lives as well as your own.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Think about more spiritual things and make your life more ideal. Visit persons you admire and be happy with them. Take no chances in driving.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Be practical in terms of money and add to present abundance via right plans. Talk to an expert who is at leisure today.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Be with as many fine friends as you can and have a delightful time. Use that fine quality you possess.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You need to think and understand better your private affairs you may be involved in. Spend more times with loved ones.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Join at gatherings in your generous Aquarian way and make avoid after private aims.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Stop being such a lone eagle and go out into the world of activity. Join with others at worthwhile community activities.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will have an answer for everything, so teach early to think first and then to talk and avoid getting into trouble with others. Add foreign language to curricula since there can be much success in foreign countries, especially in fields of imports and exports, other foreign interests.

The Stars impel, they do not compel. "What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!"

Bates stars in second Hardy venture on PBS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A sizzled laborer auctions off his wife and baby daughter at a county fair. Eighteen years later, he's the rich, feared mayor of an English town — until the selles come calling.

"It's one of the best stories I ever read and one of the best parts I ever had," says Alan Bates, the British actor who won Jill Clayburgh's heart in the recent film "An Unmarried Woman."

In the family-sale matter, Bates was referring to his role as the laborer-turned-mayor in a seven-part TV version of Thomas Hardy's

"The Mayor of Casterbridge."

The show, a co-production of Time-Life Television and the BBC, will start Sunday, Sept. 3, as the lead-off piece in the new season of public TV's "Masterpiece Theater" series.

It's not Bates' first job as a Hardy character. In 1967, he starred in the movie version of the writer's "Far From the Madding Crowd."

Bates, 44, was praised by critics for that, also for "The Fixer," "Georgy Girl," "Women In Love," and his stage work in such plays as "Butley" and John Osborne's "Look Back In Anger."

It's happening again because of "Unmarried Woman," even though he, as a pixy-humor painter romancing a freshly divorced lady in New York, isn't seen in the film until it's half over.

Yet Bates seems unaccustomed to all the goodies of success. When interviewed in the luxurious, fern-bedecked dining room of the Bel Air Hotel here, he cased the joint in the marvelling manner of a tyke visiting the Garden of Eden for the first time.

A short, gentle man with a soft voice, he hails from Derbyshire, 200 miles north of London. His father was a cellist, his mother a pianist, he said. He decided to be an actor at age 11.

"Don't know why," he said. "I'd always been almost paranoid about not wanting to stand out, of avoiding any kind of spotlight at all. But one day, I just thought, 'I want to be an actor.'"

It's generally agreed among actors that their careers tend to resemble a roller-coaster ride — ups and downs and ascents again.

Bates agrees the ride is pretty good now, what with "Unmarried Woman," the "Mayor" mini-series on PBS, and a just-finished new film, "The Rose," in which he co-stars with singer Bette Midler.

Inquiries were made as to how Bates keeps success, fame and all that in perspective, knowing that failure, no fame and worst, no work, are part of the actor's life, too.

"I think it's because I've never really made the absolute pitch for that type of fame," he mused after a moment of thought. He had no reference to being what fan magazines call a superstar.

ALAN BATES AS "THE MAYOR OF CASTERBRIDGE" — Alan Bates, right, plays the "Mayor of Casterbridge," and Anne Stallybrass the woman he marries on Masterpiece Theatre, a Public Broadcast Service seven-part dramatization of a Thomas Hardy story. Bates starred as another Hardy character in the 1967 movie "Far From the Madding Crowd."

Municipal League sets legislative record

AUSTIN — The Texas Municipal League set a world's legislative speed record during the legislative special session.

In less than 24 hours, the league got a proposed constitutional amendment introduced, passed by both House and Senate and placed on the November ballot for voter consideration.

Few legislators had heard of the proposal before they were asked to vote on it. Few understand it still.

The proposal, if approved by voters, allows Texas cities to issue incremental bonds.

Those bonds are used to finance capital projects in blighted areas or in recently annexed open land.

The bond payments come from taxes collected on the difference in the value of the land before any improvements and after improvements.

It sounds complicated and the city and the person wishing to improve the area cut a deal.

The city agrees to put in streets, lights, sewers and other city capital projects. The developer agrees to build apartments, houses, commercial areas and make improvements which will increase the value of the property.

The assessed value for ad valorem tax purposes is frozen at the pre-development level for taxes which go into the city's general fund.

The taxes on the difference in value between pre and post-development go into a special fund to pay off the bonds used to finance the city's capital projects there.

Those who don't own property in the area are free from any financial obligation for the capital projects.

But since taxes paid to the general fund on property in the area are frozen, owners there pay a disproportionately low share of the cost of regular city police, fire and other services.

Radio recalls Elvis memories

Commemorating the first anniversary of the death of Elvis Presley, KBST radio will feature a three-hour special entitled "Elvis Memories." The program will feature interviews with Priscilla Presley, and other friends and performers. The show will also recall most of Presley's biggest hits. It begins at 3 p.m.

Film school elite form bigtime core

A free travel program featuring films in Spain, sponsored by the Big Spring Herald, will be offered in the Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas Co., at 7:30 p.m., Monday.

No tickets are required for admission to the show, which is being held in conjunction with the Herald's charter touring of Spain scheduled Sept. 26-Oct. 4.

The films will focus on Madrid, the castles of Spain and the Costa del Sol — the southern coast. Representatives of the Herald, Skipper Travel and Capitol

Airways will be present to answer questions about the tour.

A Capitol Airways DC-8 will be used for the charter flight between the Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Air Terminal and Spain. Price of the tour is $698 and includes round-trip air fare, first class hotels, continental breakfast daily plus one dinner and one lunch, sightseeing tours of Seville, Madrid and Cordoba, and baggage handling.

Side trips can be arranged if desired.

Summer reading over; a few read a hundred

By ANNE SMART
Children's Librarian

The 1978 Howard County Library Summer Reading Club came to an end this week. The reading club is sponsored by the Texas State Library in Austin. This year's theme was "Come to Chimera," which focused on fantasy.

This is the fourth year that the Howard County Library has participated in the state-wide program. The 1978 enrollment was the largest so far, 390 signed up compared to the 218 who signed up in 1975. In 1977, 225 read the minimum of 12 books required for a certificate and a prize. In 1978, 175 qualified for a certificate and a ribbon and 15 received certificates for reading 10 or 11 books.

Many members read far more than the required 12 books. Four read over 100 books. They are: Vance Self, 124 books; David Dominguez, 123 books; Eric Cisneros, 107 books; and Jamey Moss, 103 books. Ten members read between 60 and 99 books. They are: Duncan Hamlin, 97 books; Kevin Hamlin, 90 books; Charlene Dominguez, 85 books; Sonnet Summers, 75 books; Nadine Marquez 72 books; Scott Ferguson, 67 books; Susan Self, 65 books; Kathy Watson, 62 books; and Kim Schaffer 61 books. Eight read between 40 and 59 books. They are: Leigh Ann McKendree and Rhonda Vorheis 50 books; Erika Castleman and Rebecca Vorheis, 47 books; Bryan Blegrave 46 books; Mark Barkley, Ike Vorheis and Missy Wilson, 45 books; and Dawn De Los Santos, Luz De Los Santos, Holly Mott and Delia Ortiz, 42 books.

Reading certificates and monsters may be picked up at the library. After August 31 the certificate will be sent to the members' schools. Every Wednesday the members attended an hour long program at the library. They participated in such diverse activities as field trips to the Pottin House and to the telephone company, films and popcorn, arts and crafts and a presentation by two members of the Big Spring Prospector's Club. This year's attendance was the highest ever, a total of 471 attended the 9 programs, an average of over 50 members per session.

We are looking forward to a bigger and better program next year. The reading logs, bookmarks, and certificates have already been ordered. The theme in 1979 will be "In Search of Texas Treasures" which will focus on the past, present and future of Texas.

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Farmers and ranchers in parts of South and West Texas are cleaning up in the wake of tropical storm Amelia, and some are finding silver lining to the destructive rains in moisture benefits to crops, ranges and pastures, says Dr. Daniel C. Pfanstiel, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.
 Bandera County Extension Agent Werner Lindig said, "This was the most destructive flooding of an area I have ever seen. Losses in human lives, homes, businesses, livestock and crops are almost overwhelming."
 In Kerr County, Extension Agent Dwight Harkey estimated about 85 percent of the barley and corn crops were lost in the flooding from nearly 25 inches of rain.

Heavy rains a 'blessing in disguise' for farmers

ROLLING PLAINS: Throckmorton, Haskell, Shackelford and Young counties have been declared flood disaster areas. Other counties received from a half to 4 inches of rain. Except for flooded areas, most counties experienced very little runoff and livestock water remains low. Livestock are in good shape. Cotton is growing well, but sorghum was too dry to benefit from rain. New soil moisture should improve fall seeding of small grains.

NORTH CENTRAL: Soil moisture is still short. Ranges and pastures remain and livestock are receiving supplementary feed. Hay yields are low. Wheat and oats harvests show fair to good yields, while grain sorghum yields are low. Drought-retarded cotton is opening. Insects are increasing. Cattle prices are stable though drought-related marketing continues.

NORTHEAST: Hay cutting has been light and corn badly damaged by drought and grasshoppers. Sweet potatoes in rain areas are growing, peach size is improving and there is a good pecan set. Field peas are being harvested. Livestock are fair to good and prices remain steady on a strong market.

FAR WEST: Loving, Ector, Winkler and Andrews counties remain dry. In wetter areas grass is growing and livestock are fair. Most dryland crops were past help, but irrigated crops are growing well. Insects are bad in cotton, and cantaloupe harvesting is slowing. Other vegetable and fruit crops are growing well.

WEST CENTRAL: Gillespie County experienced heavy flooding, and Menard County reported that the San Saba River crested at 17.5 feet. Mason County has excellent peanut stands. Pastures and ranges are improving, and heavy cattle marketing is expected to slow. Fixing water gaps is a major activity.

SOUTH PLAINS: Most of the district is still dry. Ranges are poor and cattle fair. Potatoes, onions, cucumbers, cabbage, peppers and peaches are being harvested. Sugarbeets are progressing. Irrigated cotton is growing well, but dryland fields need rain and there is a bollworm problem. Corn is in the blister stage and grain sorghum is maturing.

CENTRAL: Rains up to 6 inches brought welcome relief from 100-plus temperatures and have improved the peanut and forage outlook. Cotton is opening, and harvest has started in Hill County. More hay production is expected. More rains could mean a good peanut crop. Sorghum is almost in. Pecan prospects are only fair. Ranges and pastures are expected to recover and livestock are fair.

EAST: Most of the area is dry, but some pastures are growing after rain. Livestock are fair. Heavy marketing continues. Hay production is low, early cotton bolls are opening and the corn crop is short. Peanuts are dry. Sorghum, melons and peaches are being harvested. The pecan crop is light.

SOUTHWEST: Major concerns in this flood stricken area are the search for dead and missing livestock, and the repair of roads, fences and farm ponds. About 85 percent of the Kerr County barley and corn crops were flooded out. But the Winter Garden region received only light showers.

COASTAL BEND: Soil moisture is adequate after Amelia. Corn is 90 percent in, but cotton harvesting is delayed by wet fields. Sorghum is 99 percent in with yields of 2,500 to 3,000 pounds per acre. Peanuts are about 25 percent in with good yields, and rice is about 15 percent harvested. Pecan outlook is poor. Ranges are below average, but rains will help. A second hay cutting is expected. Livestock are fair and marketing steady.

SOUTH: Southern Rio Grande Valley counties remain dry, but up to six inches of rain from Amelia will help. Grain sorghum is 95 percent in, and cotton 50 percent in. Pastures and cattle are improving in northern counties. In dry areas, sorghum stubble is being fed as supplemental hay.
